U.S. Destroyer In Blockade Action

Red Chinese Move Deeper Into India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A 10,000-man Red Chinese invasion force was reported driving down a jeep trail from Towang Saturday in a possible effort to break through the eastern Himalayas into India's thickly populated plains of Assam.

Outnumbered and outgunned Indian troops were putting up stiffer resistance after a week of heavy fighting, a Defense Ministry spokesman said, but two more Indian positions were overwhelmed.

Prime Minister Nehru, whose government has proclaimed a state of national emergency, told a delegation of 45 members of his Congress party, India is making arrangements to match Communist firepower with arms from abroad.

He said he had written to all nations, except South Africa and Portugal with whom India has no diplomatic relations, explaining his refusal to enter cease-fire negotiations with the Red Chinese unless they pull back to their positions of Sept. 6.

One such letter went to the Soviet Union. Premier Khrushchev is believed here to have prompted the Red Chinese to propose ceasefire talks and a 12½-mile pullback by both sides from present positions.

Nehru declined to name the nations from which India expects weapons aid. He said India was making no distinction between East and West. But it was assumed here that the United States and Britain would be the chief suppliers.

The Chinese were advancing along a jeep trail southeastward toward Tezpur, a tea planters town of 30,000 population, 10 miles airline from Towang. Tezpur, on the Brahmaputra River, is the military administrative center of the region.

DELAYING STAND

Authoritative sources indicated two Indian battalions of about 1,000 men were trying to make a delaying stand against 10,000 Chinese at the 13,940-foot high Ce Pass, 14 miles southeast of Towang.

If the Chinese break through to Tezpur they would be in the midst of the broad Assam plains, which never have been in dispute between India and China.

So far the fighting has been in a 32,000-square-mile Himalayan border land which China claims and which India administers as the North East Frontier Agency.

Large transport planes have been arriving and departing from Boca Chica, bringing more and more men for the swiftly expanding Key West garrison.

Guard mounts are assembled at points being used for military purposes throughout Key West. Army trucks ferry the guard details to and from their posts on a 24-hour basis.

OTHER BASES

The military buildup is not limited to Key West, but is in evidence throughout South Florida.

MacDill Air Force Base at Tampa is in a tight security atmosphere throughout the week. Several hundred Air Force enlisted men and officers arrived at MacDill in a single day. Planes patrol overhead.

Patrick Air Force base near Cape Canaveral had its F106 and F104 fighter interceptors bolstered by more jets. A portion of this interceptor force is aloft at all times, on airborne alert.

Homestead AFB, a Strategic Air Command post south of Miami, buzzed with activity.

United Fund Hits 72 Pct. Of Goal

Helped by steady, though not sensational, reporting, the United Fund climbed up another notch Saturday and hit 72 per cent of its goal.

Meanwhile, the final two divisions of the community-wide fund appeal which finances more than a dozen agencies, will launch their drive Monday. A host of housewives will begin the residential canvass, while workers in the areas outside of Big Spring will launch their appeals in all communities.

Saturday morning United Fund headquarters reported $74,229.25 had been raised toward the $103,000 goal. The increase for the day came from modest reports— but reports from virtually every division.

Dr. Lee Rogers, campaign chairman, once more appealed to all helpers in the fund appeal to make their contacts as promptly as possible, and to report results to the UF headquarters.

On the Webb Air Base front, eight units needed a bit of a boost to go over the 100 per cent mark. The base was at 82.5 per cent of goal.

Four of the 12 reporting units have completed their portion of the drive with Rescue Detachment maintaining a 186 per cent subscription.

Others who hit 100 per cent or better were Weather Detachment with 111 per cent, Wing Headquarters 101 per cent and Communications Detachment 100 per cent.

Other units closing in on their goal were Students at 99 per cent, 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron at 90 per cent, and Pilot Training Group at 88 per cent.

While prospects of cleaning up the United Fund campaign in October dimmed considerably with only three days remaining, Dr. Rogers said that concerted effort in this period could put the fund on the homestretch.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Our United Fund campaign is in good shape; it just needs a little push on all fronts. Saturday the amount raised reached 72 per cent of the goal. If the tempo can be increased just a little (and it can if all workers will simply make their contacts and report), we can be knocking at the door within a week or 10 days.

Contract for constructing the structures, grading and base on the east half of the IS 20 loop around the north edge of town is due to go to M. C. Winters, Inc. of Johnson City. Their firm had the lowest proposal ($2,443,119.50) of eight submitted to the State Highway Department. Work will start soon, and contract on the west half will be held in December.

Mrs. Rosa Hernandez was sent to the hospital last week with six bullet wounds. She and a witness contended this resulted from a single bullet discharged as she toyed with a pistol. That's what we'd call maximum efficiency.

Well sir, our football team continues to convince skeptics that they aren't going to play dead for anyone. We don't seem to have any stars, but we have an entire squad that comes for four quarters of 100 per cent effort.

Helen Fichot, writing from France to Mrs. Ethel Austin, Pampa, who lost a son there in World War I, asks about "a paper man (who) managed a Big Spring paper. Big Herald or something. Three organized labor groups of Local 826, IUOE, at Cosden Refinery, have reported full participation in the current United Fund effort. They are salvagers, metalworkers and packaging and loading. Shown reporting are, left to right, Frank Parker, and captains C. E. Gressett and Keith Watts. Organized labor has to date accounted for $4,314.40 in the campaign.

Light Showers Over The Area

An early morning shower, which began shortly before dawn Saturday, dampened the countryside and left .02 inch of moisture in Big Spring rain gauges.

Light mist, not strong enough to wet anything, fell intermittently for a time early Saturday.

Cloudy skies hung on throughout the day.

The .02 inch rain brought the total for October to near an inch, the U.S. Experiment Station records show.

The rain was not welcomed by farmers. Nor did they like the cloudy sky which cut out the rays of the sun. They want hot and dry weather to hasten the ripening of their belated cotton. Dampness slows the process and offers the prospect of downgrading of the lint due to discoloration.

Farmers are remembering, with considerable alarm, that in 1961 the first freezing weather of the fall occurred Nov. 2. And the first cold weather with "killing power" began Nov. 14.

They would like to see the chill stay away until much later in the month this year.

Mishap At Rig Kills 2 Men

MONAHANS, Tex. (AP)—Two men were killed Saturday in an industrial accident near this West Texas city.

They were identified as George Duffield, 63, and Jefferson Meers, 62, both of Kermit.

Investigators said the men, both employees of the Todd Aaron Well Servicing Co. of Monahans, were rigging a pulling unit six miles north of Monahans when part of the rigging touched a 7,500 volt power line.

Duffield was electrocuted and Meers burned to death in a butane fire that resulted from the electrical contact.

Temple Votes For School Buildings

TEMPLE (AP)—Voters in the Temple Independent School District approved Saturday by a 5-1 margin a $4 million bond issue for new school construction.

The bonds include $2.5 million for a new high school plant and athletic facilities and $1.5 million for elementary and junior high school improvements.

The vote on the high school issue was 2,758 for to 592 against. For the elementary-junior high school program the vote was 2,871 for to 487 against.

Florida Sees Vast Buildup Of Military

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Anti-aircraft missiles have sprouted along a Key West beach, climaxing a week-long influx of military elements at this island city 90 miles from Cuba.

Army details hastily arranged mobile radar equipment and cushioned rocket launchers.

A heavily traveled boulevard adjacent to the missile site allowed the public a clear view of the proceedings.

A baseball park was leased to the Army this week by the Key West City Commission, to be used as a motor pool parking area.

Units set up at the missile site arrived this week by truck convoy from a Florida rail line where a troop train had unloaded them.

Missile Sites Must Go Before We'll Talk—JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Kennedy told Soviet Premier Khrushchev Saturday night he believes the United States and Russia could negotiate a solution to the Cuban crisis but said again the possibility depends on prompt dismantling of Soviet missile sites in Cuba.

The White House made public a letter from Kennedy to Khrushchev which termed proposals made by the Soviet leader Friday "generally acceptable."

These proposals, White House sources advised, did not include the deal set forth by Khrushchev Saturday in which Russia would withdraw its offensive arms from Cuba and the United States would do the same in Turkey.

This new development on the diplomatic front followed hard on the heels of an announcement by the Pentagon that a U.S. military plane helping to keep watch over the Communist missile buildup in Cuba is missing and presumed lost.

The Havana radio had boasted a few hours earlier that Cuban anti-aircraft batteries had driven off invading planes.

In his letter, Kennedy summed up Khrushchev's previous suggestions as requiring Russia to remove offensive weapons from Cuba under U.N. observation and stop sending weapons to the Castro regime, while the United States would—with U.N. safeguards—halt its weapons blockade of Cuba and pledge not to invade Cuba.

UNDER GUARANTEES

But Kennedy insisted that Russia must first stop work on missile sites in Cuba and render offensive weapons there incapable of operation "under effective international guarantees."

Khrushchev's letter of Friday did not contain any reference to the deal the Soviet Premier proposed in a separate message broadcast Saturday morning by Moscow under which Russia said it would take offensive weapons out of Cuba if the United States pulled missiles out of Turkey.

Kennedy said he regarded these points the principal elements of the Khrushchev's proposals:

PROPOSALS

1. Russia "would agree to remove these weapons systems from Cuba under appropriate U.N. observation and supervision and undertake, with suitable safeguards, to halt the further introduction of such weapons systems into Cuba."

2. The United States "would agree—upon the establishment of adequate arrangements through the United Nations to insure the carrying out and the continuation of these commitments—(a) to remove promptly the quarantine measures now in effect and (b) to give assurances against an invasion of Cuba. I am confident that other nations of the Western Hemisphere would be prepared to do likewise."

"COUPLE OF DAYS"

If Khrushchev would instruct his representatives at the United Nations to attempt to negotiate a solution, Kennedy said, "There is no reason why we should not be able to complete these arrangements and announce them to the world within a couple of days."

The tone of Kennedy's reply had been foreshadowed earlier Saturday when the White House issued

Anti-Polio Immunization In Martin County Today

STANTON—If all goes as anticipated, 4,000 Stanton and Martin County residents, of all ages, will be given Sabin oral vaccine against polio this afternoon.

Dr. J. M. Shy, of the Physicians Hospital and Clinic, sponsor of the project, said that starting at 1 p.m. a staff of doctors and nurses will administer the No. 1 Sabin vaccine to applicants.

The task is to continue through 6 p.m. The place will be the high school and an urgent appeal to all Martin County residents who have not been protected against polio was sounded.

Dr. Shy said that insofar as he can, discover from other medical men, the No. 1 vaccine is the most important. Later, he said, a plan by which the No. 3 Sabin vaccine will be administered will be worked out.

The important thing, he warned, is for the No. 1 vaccine to be as widely used as possible.

He said that the plan is to apply three drops of the solution to a

They were identified as George Duffield, 63, and Jefferson Meers, 62, both of Kermit.

Investigators said the men, both employees of the Todd Aaron Well Servicing Co. of Monahans, were rigging a pulling unit six miles north of Monahans when part of the rigging touched a 7,500 volt power line.

Duffield was electrocuted and Meers burned to death in a butane fire that resulted from the electrical contact.

Temple Votes For School Buildings

TEMPLE (AP)—Voters in the Temple Independent School District approved Saturday by a 5-1 margin a $4 million bond issue for new school construction.

The bonds include $2.5 million for a new high school plant and athletic facilities and $1.5 million for elementary and junior high school improvements.

The vote on the high school issue was 2,758 for to 592 against

Plenty Of Food To Meet Emergency

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. food stocks are so large now that Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman feels only a widespread conflict like World War II would require all-out farm production.

Freeman told reporters Saturday there would be no need to change any of the country's present farm production policies in the event the Soviet-Cuban crisis should lead to a limited, Korean-type engagement.

A re-evaluation would be needed, he said, if nuclear war should come "because no one knows what such a war would do."

The nation now has adequate stocks of food and fiber to meet needs such as were involved in the Korean engagement, he said. Present foodstocks are more than 50 per cent larger than when the Korean war began in 1950.

The population increased from 151 million to 179 million during the 10-year interval between 1950 and 1960.

Freeman met for more than three hours Friday with the Agriculture Department's civil defense board. He told reporters that the department's defense machinery is in a very advanced state of readiness.

Freeman said, "We know the location of every commodity and its volume. And we know the best means of transporting commodities to any area."

If war should come, Freeman said, his department is ready to take control of all food and agricultural supplies. A master plan for this was worked out more than a year ago.

The secretary said his department has detected "no real scare-buying of any kind" since the Cuban crisis developed.

Parker Faces Another Test

Plans Saturday called for local officers to take Jessie Lee Parker, 21, to Midland Monday to take a lie detector test in connection with any part he might have had in the Aug. 26 slaying of Stanley Williams, 90.

The young Negro compress worker is being held in jail without bond on a charge of murder with malice. The charge was filed when statements he made to investigating officers indicated he had a guilty knowledge of the crime.

Since that time, he has been questioned under the influence of truth serum and also has been subjected to a lie detector examination. Under the serum, officers said his answers supported their theory the defendant had a part in the Stanley murder.

The lie detector test Thursday night was too soon after the serum examination, according to the polygraph operator. The answers were incoherent and reactions insufficient to base an opinion. That is the reason, it was said, he is to be returned to Midland Monday to be given another polygraph test.

NULLIFYING THE CROSS

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80
P. O. Box 1282

"Could it be that you are making the cross of Christ of none effect by your baptism?" I am asked in the letter.

My stand on baptism is, that it is a necessary condition to salvation, just as faith and repentance are; that salvation is by grace, but is conditional; that these conditions have no merit in them; that it is a matter of obedience; that it is a matter of being saved by an active faith rather than by a dead faith. See such Scriptures as: Mark 16: 16; Acts 2: 28; Eph. 2: 8-10; Acts 10: 35; Matt. 7: 21; Jas. 2: 21-24. How could this nullify the cross of Christ?

We glory in the cross; and we keep alive in our memory the cross of Christ by coming to the Communion table on every first day of the week; also we are careful to make all of our sermons "the preaching of the cross."

You are invited to be with us today at 9:30, 10:30 and 7. Tonight's sermon is, "The World At Its Worst Needs the Church At Its Best."

Also you are invited to attend our fall revival each evening this week, 7:30. Austin Sibert of Midland will preach Monday night on "Christ and the Last," and Tuesday night on "The Misunderstood Christ."

Man Charged As Ticket Scalper

AUSTIN (AP)—Authorities charged drug store operator Clarence Faulkner with scalping tickets to the sell-out Texas-Rice game Saturday. He went free on $300 bond.

Vice squad officers said they bought two $4 tickets for $12.50 each.

Commended

Big Spring Traffic Patrolman Sam Fuller, left, receives letter of commendation from Mayor George Zachariah in recognition, by the city, for his work in organizing and training school safety patrols. In upper photograph Fuller's latest patrol, at Bauer Elementary school, began its work Wednesday. With Fuller in the upper photo are, from left to right, on back row, Lt. Belinda Marin, Fuller, Capt. Richard Vera, and Sgt. Landa Chavarria. Fuller was recommended for the commendation by Police Traffic Lieut. Stanley Bogard.

Estes Becomes Spectator To A Tense Legal Battle

TYLER (AP)—Billie Sol Estes, a bankrupt ex-millionaire, sits in the courtroom and looks vaguely around at times.

Those admitting fixed opinions about Estes have been excused. The first week of these legal maneuvers saw 27 of the necessary 32 jury panelists accepted. Once the other five are qualified, each side is allowed 10 peremptory challenges. The 12 remaining will be the jury.

All but three of the tentatively seated jurors have been asked their church affiliations, possibly because Estes is a lay preacher in the Church of Christ.

Nine said they are members of the Baptist Church, seven Methodist, two Roman Catholic and one Church of the Nazarene. Most considered for jury service have told the court they know little or nothing about the charges on which Estes is being tried here. He is accused in an indictment returned at his hometown of Pecos of swindling, theft and theft by bailer.

MORTGAGE DEAL
The prosecution claims Estes conned a West Texan, farmer T. J. Wilson, into signing a $94,500 mortgage with anhydrous ammonia (liquid fertilizer) tanks listed as collateral. The state contends the listed tanks do not exist.

Defense lawyers have told prospective jurors they expect to prove Estes merely borrowed the credit of Wilson, paying Wilson $7,500 for the privilege, and there was no violation of the law.

Gilbert To Return And Face Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Financier Edward Gilbert, who fled to Brazil when shortages of nearly $2 million turned up in his firm, will return to the United States Monday to face federal and state charges, his attorney said today.

The lawyer, Arnold Bauman, has made several trips to Rio de Janeiro to confer with Gilbert. He said the former president of E. L. Bruce Co., Inc., will end his self-imposed exile in a country from which he could not be extradited.

Bauman said Gilbert will surrender to federal authorities on charges of making unauthorized withdrawals from the Bruce firm, the nation's leading maker of hardwood flooring.

Gilbert resigned the Bruce presidency June 12 when the firm's board of directors learned of his action. He fled to Brazil that same day.

Later, in Rio, the fugitive New York financier told newsmen he had taken the funds solely to help Bruce gain control of Celotex Corp., a manufacturer of building materials.

He explained that he had put up all his Bruce and Celotex holdings as collateral on Celotex stock. When the stock market collapsed, he said, he had to put up money to satisfy his creditors and so delivered into the Bruce funds.

Federal and state grand juries returned indictments against Gilbert after he fled the country. The federal charges alone provide up to 74 years in prison and fines totaling $82,000.

He is accused of misappropriating Bruce funds, and using the mails and wires for fraudulent purposes.

6,000 Due At Baptist Meet

FORT WORTH (AP)—More than 6,000 Baptists are expected at the annual Baptist General Convention of Texas meeting here Tuesday through Thursday.

Most will arrive Monday to attend two other Baptist conventions, the Texas Baptist Brotherhood convention and the Texas Baptist Woman's Missionary Union Convention, both on Monday and Tuesday.

The General Convention theme will be "God's Word for God's World," and will feature preaching by some of the top Baptists of the nation, said Dr. James H. Lanes of Wichita Falls, president of the convention.

Business items for the convention include a record $14,876,807 missions budget for 1963, election of more than 300 trustees for 26 Texas Baptist institutions, and consideration of establishing three new Texas Baptist institutions.

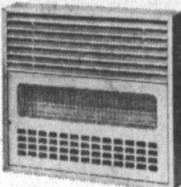

Proposals will be presented recommending that the Baptist Convention assume ownership and operation of a proposed $5 million hospital to be built in Amarillo in the next few years. Another proposal would transfer ownership of Mexican Baptist Bible Institute in San Antonio and Valley Baptist Academy in Harlingen from local-ly-owned schools to state-wide Baptist educational institutions, primarily to train future Latin American preachers.

Conservation Amendment Favored

AUSTIN (AP)—Joe Carter, chairman of the Texas Water Commission, said Saturday that adoption of the proposed water conservation amendment "would put the state in a position effectively to assert its rights and assume its responsibilities in this vital field."

The amendment, one of several on the Nov. 6 general election ballot, would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to purchase water conservation storage space in dams built by other governmental agencies.

FROM LUXEMBOURG Grand Duchess To Delay U.S. Visit

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—You may see her driving a Volkswagen through the village of Colmar-Berg. Or you may see her being chauffeured in a royal limousine.

She is Grand Duchess Charlotte, ruler of one of the smallest countries in the world, the 1,000-square-mile grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

She was to have visited the United States next week, but President Kennedy asked her to postpone the state visit until tensions surrounding the blockade of Cuba have eased.

Luxembourg, a member of NATO and the European Economic Community, has been independent since 1839 but was occupied by the Nazis in World War II.

Charlotte had to flee and spent several years in the United States in recalling that, she says her trip this time "will be a pilgrimage of gratitude."

The grand duchy suffered dramatically from the Nazi occupation. For about four years, the Germans tried to mold the country and its citizens into a part of Germany. Scores died, thousands of houses were crushed to ruins but the Germans failed utterly. Throughout the occupation, portraits of the Grand Duchess were cherished and coins with her likeness were made into label pins.

When she returned to her liberated country, the premier, Pierre DuPong, spoke a sentence which has become a national motto: "Madame, we love you."

Such is the popularity of the 66-year-old Grand Duchess that recently her government discreetly prevented her from abdicating in favor of her son, Prince Jean, when she wanted to withdraw from public life. Jean, 41, became lieutenant-Grand Duke, her delegate in daily affairs of the country.

Charlotte has dignity and moderation and only $20,000 Luxembourgishers to love her. The one who does not is hard to find.

Her favorite pastime, is her garden. She is a rose expert. She likes classical music, with a preference for Chopin, Brahms and Mozart.

She is extremely slim and rather tall. She spends most of her time at home but has an estate on the French Riviera and another in Bavaria. She still swims, goes fishing, and last year did some water skiing.

Grass Fights Losing Battle With Pesky Mesquites

By SAM BLACKBURN
Records left by the earliest visitors to this part of Texas agree on two things: There was a luxuriant grass covering the grass, as the popular phrase of the time had it, was high as the stirrup on a tall horse.

There was little timber of any kind. Indeed, brush and trees were so scarce that campfires were a problem. About the only fuel, the old timers recall, was the traditional cowchips.

CHANGED
Times have changed. Today, one finds no sea of stirrup-high grass waving in the breeze. Instead, the grass is skimpy, the growth low and many areas have no cover at all.

Instead of a scarcity of brush and trees for fuel, thousands of acres of land are densely covered with mesquite and "cedar." (Experts say there is no real cedar in this country; actually, the brush which bears that commonly applied name is a species of juniper.)

If campfires were still needed, no problem of wood for fuel would be met. However, if travel was still as it used to be—via horse and wagon—there might be a problem of adequate pasture for the stock.

A writer recently observed that southwestern ranchers wage wars every day, despite the fact that few of them still wear six-shooters or set fire to their neighbors' houses.

NEW ENEMY
The enemy today is the mesquite tree (and to some extent, the juniper.) The mesquite is a stealer of land; killer of range grasses, and more prolific than jackrabbits. Howard County ranchers are sadly familiar with this problem.

This county has a total of 375,546 acres of pasture land. Of this total, 150,870 acres are classified as open range. This is modified to read "free to lightly infested with brush." This leaves nearly two-thirds of the county's rangeland—206,674 acres—heavily covered with mesquite and juniper.

Charles Mickelson, conservationist with the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, says that in general, ranchers fight a losing battle in their struggle to control the mesquite. At best, he says, it is an endless battle.

"If you chop a mesquite down," he observes, "a dozen or more may spring up in its place."

"If you burn it, it has a system of 'adventitious roots' which are safe below the ground and will send up a spray of new trees. If you kill the top growth with chemicals, the underground roots are still there."

TRUE STORIES
Mickelson says that stories the old timers tell of a day when the country was relatively free of brush are true. The seas of stirrup-high grass were here too, he says.

These things were the lure which brought the early-day cattlemen to this country. The rich pasture lands were subjected to heavy grazing. There seemed to be no end to the grass. The first settlers believed, sincerely, that the luxuriant growth would live for ever. They were wrong.

When the grass had been eaten down to ground level, the brush began to rally. Cattle, no longer adequately fed on grass, ate the beans of the mesquite and wandered off. Since no damage is done to the ripe beans by passing through the digestive system of an animal, straying herds planted hundreds of acres of new mesquite.

As the mesquite flourished, the grass died. The mesquite has a vast network of roots—under the ground seeking out and absorbing every precious drop of water for many yards around the base of each tree. It takes three times as much moisture out of the soil to produce a pound of mesquite as it takes to produce a pound of grass.

LOSING BATTLE
The grass, with the cattle keeping it gnawed to ground level and with brush robbing it of scarce water, fights a losing battle. The mesquite and the juniper (it also has these iniquitous adventitious buds) continue to spread.

In more modern days, ranchmen have sought to cope with the problem and the Soil Conservation Service works with them in their efforts.

"Annually," say men who keep up with the problem, "the mesquite steals thousands and thousands of additional acres of West Texas land."

"We bulldoze 'em, chain 'em and root-plow 'em out," one rancher commented. "We spray them by airplane, by ground rig and by hand. Sometimes we burn 'em." Still they continue to grow.

NO SINGLE PUNCH
Mickelson reluctantly observes: "There is no single knock-out punch in the mesquite control battle." The adventitious buds, he points out, are found some 14 inches below ground level.

"If you use root-plowing in your effort to oust the mesquite or juniper," he says, "your plow must cut down 14 inches or deeper."

Further, root-plowing, he warns, does extensive damage to the natural grasses on the land. And it is a most expensive procedure—the cost runs as much as $12 to $14 per acre.

Airplanes can be used effectively on mesquite thickets with a chance that as much as 20 per cent of the trees will be permanently killed. The poison works its way through the tree system and kills the roots—including the adventitious buds. However, this leaves 80 per cent in which the upper part of the tree may die but the roots will sprout new trees in relatively short time. The work, then, is to be done all over again.

LOW COST
The best feature of aerial spraying rests in its relatively low cost as compared with the other methods. The cost is about $2.50 an acre. A good example of effective aerial poisoning of mesquite has been accomplished on the ranch of Lorin McDowell, in Glasscock County.

Soil conservation experts say the most effective destroyer of mesquites is basal kerosene. O. E. Hamlin, whose ranch is in the north part of this county, used basal kerosene on 6,000 acres of his mesquite infested land and the result has been an almost 100 per cent kill. The joker is in the cost and in the heavy labor element in this form of treatment.

"The basal kerosene (which is ordinary kerosene) has to be applied directly to each individual tree," Mickelson pointed out. "The spray must be applied around the trunk about 12 inches above the ground. Usually a rancher using this method employs a long nozzleled pressure spray which permits placing the kerosene under the low growing trees."

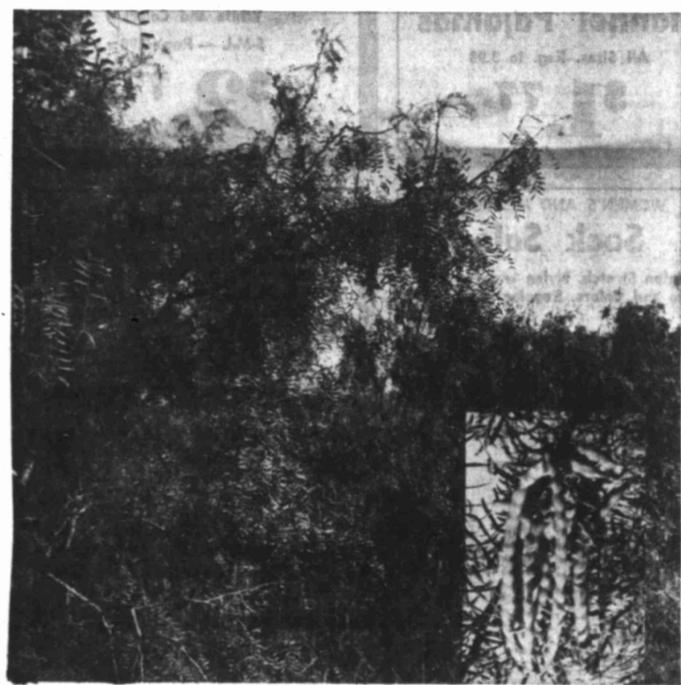

DIFFICULT TASK
"It is a difficult and tedious task—particularly where the lands are heavily infested with mesquite. And it is costly—the expense can run as much as $20 an acre."

"The benefit is that the mesquite so treated is finished. The dead trunk has no impact on the range—it can be bulldozed down if the rancher desires—but its presence does not hamper the growth of the grass."

"We believe this is about the nearest answer we have found to stopping the spread of these parasites."

In general, ranchers and government men have found the most workable method is to slow the spread of mesquite. They kill all the trees in a certain area. Then they wait. Soon, new little mesquites pop up and these, too, are killed. The process, repeated long enough on any given spot will ultimately free that spot of mesquite.

Free it, that is, until the next time an animal or a bird happens to drop mesquite bean there.

Ranchers' Ancient Enemy Flourishes
Mesquite trees have enjoyed good season this summer and have covered hundreds of additional acres of precious grass land. Insert to right shows typical cluster of mesquite beans which helped to spread pest to wider areas.

Witnesses Due In Hoffa Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Teamster boss James R. Hoffa was off on a flying tour of key-locals today while his lawyers labored over his defense in a $1-million conspiracy trial.

The government calls its first witness Monday. The entire first week of the federal court trial was spent on a struggle over seating a jury, arguing motions and making opening statements.

Dist. Judge William E. Miller overruled a motion for postponement.

In opening, Charles Shaffer, a partner of Justice lawyer from Washington, told the jury Hoffa violated the Taft-Hartley Act by using his union influence to obtain a concealed payoff.

The defense said the federal case was based only on suspicion, insinuation and innuendo.

The indictment centers on a trucking venture, Test Fleet Corp., chartered here in 1945. Stock was listed in the maiden names of Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Owen Brennan.

Brennan, a teamster vice president named as a co-conspirator, died last year.

Shaffer said the company was operated free of charge for Hoffa by Commercial Carriers, Inc., as a payoff for labor peace.

When the proceedings ended Hoffa took off on a flight to Detroit.

Tax Collector Seeks 80 Cents
NEW YORK (AP)—It's only an 80-cent penalty, but the state tax commission is all set to collect it from Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Thomas of Manhattan.

The Department of Taxation and Finance filed a warrant last week in the New York County Clerk's office asking the amount, which arises from the Thomas' 1955 state income tax, from the Thomases. The warrant permits the state to levy against any assets possessed by the couple.

DEAR ABBY Don't Worry About Past

DEAR ABBY: I work in a store and became friendly with a customer who used to confide in me. One day he told me he was in love with a beautiful, wonderful girl and was going to marry her. When he brought her into the store for me to meet, I was dumbfounded. She was beautiful, but far from wonderful. I had known this girl for years and she had a terrible past. Thinking she might have changed, I offered my best wishes and said nothing. He married her and she had not changed. My friend discovered it too late and he took his own life. I feel that I am responsible because had I told him the truth he might not have married her. I failed him, Abby, and my heart is heavy with guilt.

DEAR ABBY: I think our postal service is disgusting. My father has ordered several things through the mail and when they arrive they are either bent, broken or cracked. Several people in our neighborhood have the same complaint.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Don't blame the postal system. Packages must be properly WRAPPED in order to be delivered in good condition.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

It's Perfect Fall Weather
By The Associated Press
Texas enjoyed mild, almost perfect early-fall weather Saturday while other parts of the nation shivered under blankets because of an unseasonable cold spell.

Texas skies were partly cloudy to cloudy with some patches of clearness.

The mercury readings were mild with a gradual warming trend during the day.

It is expected to be a little cooler in northwest sections of the state Sunday with some showers continuing in the west and South Texas and spreading into north central and northeastern sections Sunday.

West Berliners Toughened By Long Series Of Crises

BERLIN (AP)—During the bombing of World War II Berliners crouching in their cellars quipped:

"You think this is bad—well, wait till you see the peace."

In 17 years of cold war, the Berliners have been through: Soviet rape and looting, a Communist blockade, mass unemployment, backbreaking work for prosperity and finally the cruel wall which brutally bars them from relatives and friends in their own city.

Living day after day under threat of being gobbled up by the East, surrounded by pitiless men with guns in their hands—this has toughened the Berliners.

"We have callouses on our nerves," they explain. They face Communist threats with wisecracks on their lips—to hide the secret, queasy feeling inside.

"The bravest of men would be daunted by the possible consequences of a Red take-over. So the West Berliner needs constant reassurance, never tires of hearing pledges of support from the West.

"President Kennedy could issue a daily promise on Berlin and every day it would be a banner headline," said a Berlin editor.

With the sharp wit of a city-dweller, the Berliner is aggressively outspoken and a fierce local patriot.

These are not qualities that endear him to fellow Germans in the Western Federal Republic. They often find the Berliner brusque and self-centered with little awareness of other people's problems.

This is an old complaint. During Germany's brief history as a united country there was always coolness between the Prussians and the more easy-going people of the Rhineland and Bavaria.

Wally Brack, a handsome widow who runs a real estate agency, says: "We just say straight out what we think. Sometimes people don't like it, but it can't be helped. We're tough. We have to be, sitting on a powder keg for 17 years."

How do you live under the constant pressure of the cold war? Wolfgang Stresemann, son of the Weimar Republic's foreign minister, is director general of the famed Berlin Philharmonic.

"You can't shiver forever. You have to get used to this sort of life and get on with your work. It is defeatist to put off doing things just because of what might happen politically," Stresemann says.

Berliners like doing things in big crowds. They love fairs and circuses. They pack theaters, operas, concerts, prize fights, bicycle races, trotting tracks and exhibitions of all kinds.

As many international exhibitions as possible are staged in Berlin to support the city. Starved of outside contacts, Berliners crowd around the foreign stands.

"We like foreigners here," said Felix, bartender in a small nightclub. "So long as they can visit us we know we're safe."

You can live and work in West Berlin without ever seeing the wall, although its existence is always felt, like a nagging tooth. (One in four West Berliners has relatives in East Germany).

Instructors, Hospital Officials Pleased With Nurse Trainees

By JOE BEYER
With less than two weeks of training left for the first student nurse class at the Big Spring State Hospital, the program here has been unanimously declared a success.

The students took to the hospital quickly, although for many it was their first close contact with mental patients. Hospital personnel and patients agree that they will miss the 17 visitors when their training is over.

The pupils are in their second year of training at the Odessa Junior College. They commute by bus each Tuesday and Thursday. Lecture sessions are conducted each morning by instructors who accompany the students here. Afternoons are spent on the wards with patients.

LOCALS IN GROUP
Included in the group are a couple of former Big Springers. Raymond Tanis, who now lives in Odessa, is a former employee of the hospital. He was a technician here and is now continuing his studies in the field of medicine to become a registered nurse.

The other local person is Celia Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Harris, 406 Washington.

"The girls were apprehensive at first, and I think all of us were because this is the first time we have had student nurses training here," Mrs. Ottilie Jolley, director of nursing at the hospital, said. "But everything went well."

"Only one of the students had previous contact with patients, that being Tanis, the only man in the group.

"The girls plagued me with questions before we came here, but I think many of them are far ahead of me now," he said.

ADJUST PROMPTLY
The young women became accustomed to the new surroundings rapidly. Preliminary training in psychiatric nursing made the transition easy.

"Many of the students can hardly believe the nine-week period is almost over. They have asked if other portions of their training can be done at this hospital so they can spend more time with patients," Mrs. Florence Pyles, one of the instructors, said.

Work on the wards takes many forms, some of it looking more like play than work. But, all the time, the students are keeping a sharp eye on their work. They have worked on wards 1, 2, 4 and 6. Other classes which will follow may eventually work on every ward at the hospital.

As much as possible, each works with a single patient and keeps a history of contact with the person. This allows the student to follow a patient through much of his or her treatment at the hospital.

PATIENTS RESPOND
The effect of the student nurses on the patients has been almost dramatic in instances, Mrs. Jolley said. A few patients, who had not shown interest in anything for years, suddenly perked up and look forward to visits by the young nurses. They improved their dress habits and spruced up for the regular visits.

"I just wish we could have classes of student nurses on the wards every day," Mrs. Jolley said. In turn nurses had only compliments for the hospital staff members who assisted them through orientation and instruction.

They have received lectures here in almost every phase of treatment of mental illness, including physiochemical therapy, psychological therapies, volunteer work, alcoholism and vocational rehabilitation. Last class period is Nov. 8.

CLASS MEMBERS
Instructors accompanying the students are Beatrice Carruth and Mrs. Pyles.

Other students are Mrs. Barbara Bates, Andrews; Mrs. Janice Carter and Mrs. Margaret Pape, both of Midland; and Mrs. Peggy Abel, Mrs. Frankie Brown, Mrs. Jean Clay, Mrs. Thelma Conally, Mrs. Geneva DeShazo, Mrs. Patricia Looper, Mrs. Mildred Mead, Mrs. Audie Reba Meason, Mrs. Mary Millett, Mrs. Doris Russell, Maudie Rains, Mrs. Frances Steinberg and Mrs. Christine Wood, all of Odessa.

Another Nuclear Test Scheduled

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States has switched signals and apparently in place of a low-yield shot will detonate another submegaton nuclear device above the Pacific.

The high altitude nuclear blast is scheduled Tuesday night or Wednesday morning near Johnston Island. Probably an Army Nike-Hercules rocket will boost the nuclear warhead—with a power equal to 20,000 to one million tons of TNT—to its firing height.

Joint Task Force 8's announcement of the submegaton shot—just 10 hours after a similar device was exploded above the Pacific—came as a surprise.

One spokesman made it clear the low-yield try had not been cancelled. "It could be held later," he said. But there were indications the next try would be the last.

The low-yield shot originally was scheduled for Sunday and was expected to end the long Operation Dominic series which started last April.

Friday morning's test was the third success of the 1962 high altitude Pacific program. A Thor missile, blamed for all four failures in the series, performed perfectly on its guided flight from Johnston Island to the detonation point.

The explosion briefly lit mid-Pacific skies with a display of red, green and blue-gray. The colorful show lasted only five seconds in Hawaii, 750 miles northwest of Johnston Island.

An Air Force man suffered eye burns.

A spokesman for Joint Task Force said in announcing the injury. "There appears to be some impairment to his eyesight."

The noncom, on assignment to Joint Task Force 8, was flown to Honolulu, for tests to determine the extent of damage.

Circumstances of the burns were not disclosed.

The man's name was withheld pending notification of kin.

Webb Cited For Improvement Suggestions

For the second straight year, Webb Air Force Base was lauded for its participation in the Air Force's Management - Improvement Suggestion Program.

Webb's civilian personnel officer, Warren Farrow, said the base reported 247 suggestions during the fiscal year with 46 adopted.

Estimated first year's savings to the government as a result of the Webb's adopted ideas was charted at $15,000.

A letter which accompanied the citation read, "The participation rate of 30.53 per cent attained by Webb Air Force Base made a major contribution to the Air Training Command rate of 25.74 per cent for the fiscal year."

Farrow and T. K. Price, assistant chairman of Webb's Suggestion Program, presented the certificate to Wing Commander Col. Wilson H. Banks in the commander's office.

District Off Pace In U.S. Bond Sales

This district (No. 5) is running slightly off the pace needed to reach its goal in United States Savings Bonds.

Through September, the district had sold $1,163,728 in E & H bonds, or 67.3 per cent of the $1,730,000 objective for the year. This was almost the same as the state per cent of goal — 67.7 — achieved during the first nine months.

Sales in the district amounted to $110,057 for the month, almost half of it coming from Howard County.

Martin County, with sale of $5,474 in September, has purchases of $86,474 for the year, or an impressive 216.4 per cent of quota. James Jones, Stanton, is the county bond chairman.

Other counties are near or on the pace except for Andrews ($36.6) and Seury (41.7).

These are the sales records for September, the first nine months, and the percentage of quota, as announced through Larson Lloyd, district chairman:

Dawson, $6,477, $69,107 and 62.8; Gaines $18,774, $134,617 and 112.2; Howard $51,970, $545,045 and 73.8; Martin $5,474, $86,474 and 216.2; Mitchell $9,432, $195,399 and 72.4; Seury $15,288, $154,167 and 41.7; total $110,057, $1,163,728 and 67.3. States sales amounted to $13,247,099 in September.

5 Days Remain For Absentee Balloting

With only five days remaining in which absentee votes can be cast in the Nov. 6 general election, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that interest in such balloting is at a remarkably low ebb.

Normally, this form of voting is popular with Howard County electors. This year, less than 65 votes have been cast so far and if any rush for such ballots is to develop it will have to make itself evident before close of business Nov. 2. That is the deadline for absentee voting.

Mrs. Petty said she is making ready to prepare the ballot boxes and voting equipment which will be used in the general election.

Ballots have been on hand for some time. Supplies for the election precinct officials are also ready.

There will be 16 voting places in the county for the election. Seven of these voting places are in Big Spring.

The voting places in the city, their location and the officials are: No. 1, Northside School, Rufus Davidson, judge; Mrs. Eck McClure, Mrs. Rufus Davidson and Mrs. Andrew C. Tucker, assistants.

No. 2, Washington Place school, Mrs. Buel G. Fox, judge; Mrs. W. B. Younger, Mrs. Kyle Cauble, Loy Acuff, Mrs. J. H. Burnett Jr., assistants.

No. 3, Main Street Fire station, George Melear, judge, Dan Conley, Mrs. C. E. Shive, Mrs. W. E. Jones and Ralph McLaughlin, assistants.

No. 4, City Hall Fire Station, S. P. Jones, judge; Jess Thornton, G. G. Morehead, and Mrs. Billie Smith, assistants.

No. 5, Cedarcrest School, L. R. Mundt, judge; Mrs. L. R. Mundt and Mrs. Perry Peterson, assistants.

No. 6, Park Hill School, M. R. Koger, judge; John Currie, Mrs. H. C. Stupp and Mrs. Clyde Angel, assistants.

Boxes outside of Big Spring are: No. 5, Vincent, Baptist Church Administration building, Mrs. Forrest Appleton, judge; Mrs. L. Appleton, assistant.

No. 9, Coahoma, City Hall building, Mrs. A. D. Shive, judge; Hez-zie N. Read Jr., W. H. Fishback and Mrs. J. R. Swann, assistants.

No. 10, Forsan school building, Mrs. John Kubecka, judge; Mrs. D. L. Knight, Mrs. Henry Park and Mrs. H. J. Cardwell, assistants.

No. 11, Center Point school building, E. L. Bynum, judge, A. A. McKinney, Lloyd B. Murphy and Alden Ryan, assistants.

No. 12, Prairie View Baptist Church building, Edgar Phillips, judge; L. M. Newton and B. T. Bigony, assistants.

No. 13, Knott school building, J. D. McGregor, judge, John McGregor and Mrs. Robert McClain, assistants.

No. 14, Vealmoor School building, Robert Merrick, judge, J. S. Jackson and Roy Anderson, assistants.

The special canvassing board, which will count the absentee votes is headed up by George Elliott as judge. His assistants are Roy Reeder and L. Z. Shafer. The potential number of votes for the 16 voting boxes is 9,567—the number of current poll tax receipts and exemption certificates in circulation. No one anticipates any such turn out of voters. However, Mrs. Petty said that she is supplying each box with an adequate supply of votes to meet any contingency which could arise.

Connally, Cox Prepare For Final Week Of Campaigning

Democrat John Connally and Republican Jack Cox plan to spend Sunday in their hometowns resting for the last week of campaigning for governor.

This week's final surge of campaigning will climax more than 10 months of vying for voters' support—the most drawn-out and expensive gubernatorial campaign in Texas history. An estimated 1 to 1.5 million voters will choose the governor Nov. 6.

While their candidate rested and completed campaign films in Fort Worth, Connally's workers wrestled with final plans for a "campaignathon," two days of plane-hopping beginning Thursday night.

Cox' plans for the week call for more of his "teleshows" in Amarillo Wednesday and in Port Arthur Friday. During the telecasts, hearers are invited to telephone questions to the studio.

Jack Carswell, Constitution Party candidate, went to Houston after stumping in several South Texas cities Saturday.

All three candidates are to appear in a program broadcast Sunday by 15 TV stations.

CANDIDATE SCHEDULE

Where to find the candidates for governor:

Sunday: John Connally—Fort Worth, Jack Cox—Breckenridge.

Monday: Connally—Dallas for handshaking tour at office buildings, Democratic noon luncheon, receptions; Graham and Jacksboro for evening barbecue - rally.

Cox Monday—Brownwood for morning coffee, San Angelo for lunch with supporters, Uvalde for rally, San Antonio for evening telecast.

Connally's workers said the program will mark the first time any candidate has sponsored appearances of his opponents.

Connally closed out the week Saturday at the Newton homecoming and a Tyler evening rally. He won endorsement from the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Cox spent Saturday handshaking with shoppers in Dallas and spoke at an evening dinner in Midland.

Connally's workers called his "campaignathon" air trip "the most rigorous campaign trip ever seen in Texas."

They said the trip will allow Connally to visit many cities and towns that he otherwise would have to by-pass. For Monday, he plans handshaking tours of Dallas business offices, several Dallas receptions, and an evening barbecue-rally at Jacksboro.

Cox will begin the week Monday at Brownwood, San Angelo, Uvalde and San Antonio, where he will make an evening telecast.

His campaign trip will go from San Antonio to Fort Worth, west to Lubbock, north to Amarillo and back across the state to Port Arthur.

Prayers In Patriotism; Cuba Creates No Panic

EDITOR'S NOTE - Patriotism ran high across the nation this week in the wake of President Kennedy's dramatic speech on the Cuban crisis. But an Associated Press survey reveals that there were more hymns than rousing martial music, more prayers than boasts. And America as you might expect, didn't lose its sense of humor.

By SAUL PETT AT Newsfeatures Writer

In a Montana bar called the Capri Lounge, on a Helena street called "Last Chance Gulch," all the customers, all the help, even the two-man combo, fell silent.

Nobody stopped drinking. Everybody stopped talking. The President of the United States was on television announcing a blockade of Cuba.

The speech ended and some customers polished off their drinks and got up to go.

Now suddenly, on this Monday night, Oct. 22, 1962, in Helena, Mont., and in Rye, N.Y., in San Francisco, Calif., and in Key West, Fla., in Boston, Mass., and in Oxford, Miss., the simple everyday word, goodbye, grew to the size of a huge boulder in the road, to be walked around, climbed over or laughed at nervously in the hope its new shading would go away.

"Just for the heck of it," said the man in Long Island, turning off the TV set he had watched all evening, "I think I'll call the beevings."

TALK TO DAUGHTER

And he called his daughter at college and he tried to let the talk skip lightly over the roller coaster of her love life and she asked if there would be a nuclear war and he tried to convince her and himself there wouldn't be and when there was finally nothing else to say, he started to say goodbye, and thought better of it and said, "Well, see you Thanksgiving."

And he hung up and left unsaid in his mind the "if" that had been there tiny and unused all the years of the cold war but now on this night had grown to fill his brain.

All across the country this week, Americans tried to deal with the word, goodbye, and the word, if, in a variety of ways. There was no panic. Nobody ran screaming in the streets. But there was deep, dark anxiety expressed in a variety of ways, large and small, obvious and subtle.

In Portland, Ore., an 11-year-old girl got up from the TV set and quietly left the living room. Her mother found her later, alone in her room, on her knees, praying no harm would come to her home in this crisis she could not understand.

In Key West, 90 miles from Cuba, and in Los Angeles, 3,000 miles from Cuba, and in many other places in America flags appeared in house windows and store fronts. In Jacksonville, Fla., for the first time in anyone's memory, the audience at a symphony concert broke out spontaneously in the singing of the national anthem.

Patriotism ran high. We put out our flags, if not our chests. If this was to be war, we'd march off, but not at any oldtime swagger. There were more hymns sung in America this week than rousing martial tunes. We weren't thirsting for anybody's blood, theirs or ours.

At the White Sands missile range in New Mexico, where Army brass was collected for the firing of a new missile, a cheer went up when it was announced that Russian ships in the Caribbean had altered course. So far, so good. No shooting. But we held our breath from coast to coast.

QUESTIONS

Across the country, civil defense offices were swamped with calls. Do I stay in the house or evacuate? Are there public shelters? Where are the shelters? Have you stocked them with food?

Everywhere, civil defense booklets, which last week couldn't be given away with a set of dishes, were being gobbled up. In Salt Lake City, an elevator operator ran his elevator with one hand and read air raid instructions with the other.

In Des Moines, the state civil defense director, Ray Stiles, said, "Iowa is not ready for a nuclear attack." Coupled with the fact was the hope Iowa wouldn't need to be ready. As fact or wish it could be echoed across the country. In Washington, Defense Department officials said 60 million shelter spaces around the nation were scheduled to be stocked with supplies. Scheduled? Yes, scheduled. As of now, the officials said, only enough shelters for several hundred thousand people were stocked.

JOKES

While we're waiting for schedules to be met, let's make jokes, the grimmer the better.

Weather forecast, Columbus, Ohio: "Low today, 48; high 4,800."

In Dallas, they said over their martinis: "Let's go down there and whip the 'R' out of Cuba." ... get it, Charlie? Kennedy pronounces it "Cubar."

Almost everywhere, there were big boffs in the contagion of nervous humor. And everywhere there was prayer and everywhere there were people hanging on the news, phoning papers and wire services, staring at television and riding commuter trains or walking in the street carrying small transistor radios.

And in Boston and Cheyenne and Fort Worth and hundreds of other places we heard the unfamiliar, calypso accent of the delegate of Ghana and the anti-septic Russian translator at the United Nations and the familiar voice of Adlai E. Stevenson, who at long last seemed to have a big majority of Americans behind him.

In Atlanta, a cop directed traffic with one hand and held a radio to his ear with the other, informing passing drivers, "No, they haven't met the Russian ships yet."

"SURVIVAL" KITS

In many places around the country people were buying extra canned goods, bottled water, flashlights, ammunition, first aid kits and various kinds of "survival" kits. In Los Angeles, one avid woman preparing for nuclear armageddon bought a lot of food for her bomb shelter, including two whole cases of Metrecal.

In many places, familiar sounds brought unfamiliar reactions. Jet contrails in the sky were followed with intensity. The occasional sonic boom produced more than the occasional jolt to the heart. In Phoenix, New York, Bridgeport and Los Angeles, tests of air raid sirens were canceled and people were told the next sirens to be heard would be the real thing.

Campaign Suddenly Becomes Full Of Non-Partisan Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The congressional election campaign is heading into its final 10 days in an atmosphere of enforced non-partisanship not paralleled since the Korean War days of 1950.

With the knowledge that almost anything can happen in the Cuban crisis at any time, candidates who were quarrelling over domestic issues a week ago now are spending most of their time telling the voters how solidly they stand behind President Kennedy.

The President's decision to quarantine offensive arms shipments to Cuba and his assertion that further action will be justified if missile bases are not dismantled put all hands on notice that additional military action could come before Election Day.

The nonpartisan line, of course, was not a solid one. The Republican congressional campaign committee, for example, contended that the timing of Kennedy's actions suggested he was more concerned with votes on Nov. 6 than the threat of Cuban missiles.

Individual GOP candidates, however, did not appear to be going along with this guideline. While some of them grumbled about what they called tardiness in the President's action on Cuba, most of them made it clear they are supporting the President now that the decision has been made.

Politicians generally are wary of assessing the political impact of the President's moves.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, for example, said it is too early to tell how the voters will react. He said developments before Election Day may affect their decision. Deputy Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said that the do-something-in-Cuba issue which many Republican candidates — including Dirksen — were pounding "not only has been removed but liquidated." He added that any candidate who tries to make political capital out of the situation would find himself embarrassed.

Ordinarily a national crisis is supposed to strengthen the power that controls the White House. But it didn't happen that way in 1950. In the election that year, four months after President Harry S. Truman had ordered the Korean action, the Democrats lost 5 seats in the Senate and 27 in the House. Any result this Nov. 6 which paralleled the outcome 12 years ago still would leave the Democrats with strong numerical control of both houses. There now

Rites Said For Kellum Infant

Graveside rites for Archie Kellum Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kellum, 410 E. 18th, were held at 4 p.m. Saturday at Trinity Memorial Park.

Chaplain A. J. Blasingame of Webb AFB officiated and Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The child died early Saturday morning in a local hospital. He was born Oct. 25.

The family has lived in Big Spring for six years, coming here from Amarillo. The father is an airman stationed at Webb.

Survivors in addition to the mother and father are four sisters, Taryna, Lesa, Missie and Louann, all of the home address; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lucille Dlumley, Wichita, Kans., and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kellum, Weenas, Va.

Kennedy's Cuba Action Draws Teacher Support

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas State Teachers Association commended Saturday President Kennedy's handling of the Cuban crisis.

The 800-member house of delegates, representing 82,000 members, approved a resolution commending Kennedy's "firm seven-point program to cope with the Cuban situation," which was offered by James Nobles of Fort Worth.

The group also endorsed present methods of textbook selection employed by the State Board of Education.

A legislative program was approved. It seeks a minimum sick leave program of five days a year, regional film centers and improvement in the teacher retirement program.

The group also certified the new state officers, who will take office Dec. 1. They are Supt. C. O. Chandler of Victoria, president; and Mrs. Elizabeth Little of Corpus Christi, vice president.

Council Chairman

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — James A. Byron, news director of station WBAP and WBAP-TV, Fort Worth, was named chairman Saturday of the Journalism Advisory Council at Texas A&M College.

Last Call To Beat State To The Draw

Wade Choate, district court clerk, has received notice from the state treasurer's office that suit will be filed immediately to take possession of $691.47 in impounded funds which Choate's office has on hand. The state is taking the money under provisions of the new state escheat law.

Choate said that he is empowered to refund the money to its rightful owners if they apply to him before the state's suit is lodged in court.

He had 12 funds involved in his original report to the state. Four owners have appeared and claimed their money. The remaining eight are in danger of losing title if they do not act promptly.

Originally, the total funds in the clerk's hands which were claimed by the state totalled $1,685. The four claimants who appeared absorbed nearly $1,000 of the total. The funds on hand and the persons identified in the records as having claim to the money (with the year the funds were impounded in parenthesis):

M. B. Ball, (1952) $75.30; C. J. Clark, (1953) $55.96; W. T. Mason, (1952) $58.17; Mattie Fyburn, (1944) $12.90; Rusko County Lumber Co., (1952) $70.84; Ray Sawyer, (1953) $64.57; E. W. Womack, (1953) $88.84; and Griffin Estate (1953) $264.77.

CUBA MAY BE EXPENSIVE

K's Timetable Upset

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Special Correspondent
Cuba has become an expensive and dangerous toy for the Kremlin.

on the trigger, the United States has told the Russians they, as present-day bosses of the Cuban nation, are responsible for any aggressive action from that direction against any Western Hemisphere area.

Cuba has been the center of hopeful Soviet planning since 1960. Khrushchev, under fire from Red Chinese and even from quarters within his home party for delays in advancing the world revolution, probably found the Cuba buildup idea to have attractive points. It might even permit him to back the United States into an untenable position in the Berlin quarrel.

and the regime in Cuba itself might feel the sting. The recent events possibly could signal the beginning of the end for Prime Minister Fidel Castro, even as the figurehead ruler of Cuba, although breaking the Communist grip short of invasion seems unlikely.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro offered Saturday night to stop construction of major military facilities in Cuba if the United States lifts its blockade.

Castro's proposal was made in a message to U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant in which Castro also invited Thant to go to Cuba for "direct discussions on the present crisis."

THE WEEK

Barbecue, etc. The man's name was Will Hayden. Mme. Ficht will be grieved to know that Will Hayden, who edited the Weekly Herald and later the Weekly News, went to his reward a decade ago.

Among the hundreds of recipes submitted to the Herald in its Tastes O' Texas contest just completed, came this formula for a Forever Wedding Cake: 1 rounded cup of tru love; 1 heaping cup of perfect trust and confidence; a pinch of usefulness; a sprinkle of interest in all he does.

County 4-H and FFA entries in the State Fair livestock show did right, no better than Linda Foster of Coahoma. She had the champion medium wool lamb of the show which attracts one of the largest fields in the state.

A score of operators in the Sharon Ridge field have a problem, they told directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Under orders of the railroad commission to cease pit digging of salt water by Dec. 7 or shut down, they wanted to know how to get rid of the brine.

Texas Electric Service Company had its 15th annual Quarter Century Club meeting here last week. It's difficult to realize that the TESCO family has grown from a small group to more than 250 who turned out here last week.

Jay-Cees completed their community attitude survey last week and concluded that one of the most pressing needs was for a better informed public. Quite true, but how are you going to make the horse drink water once you've put it before him?

Howard County ranchers are seeking ways to raise an additional $2,000 to meet a quota of contribution toward the screw worm control. This may sound like a fair chunk of money, but it will only take about 20 yearlings lost to flies to equal it.

City Commissioners gave the green light last week to a second phase of the continuing assessment paving program. Approved for paving, contingent upon required signups, were some 40 blocks.

Most of the oil interest centered around a couple of Dawson County ventures. Standard O'Brien pumped 91 barrels of new oil and a substantial volume of water as Davison & Pembroke decided to re-enter their No. 1 Shofner near Sparenburg. The depleted 9,600-foot well will be carried to the Ellenburger. In northeast Martin County, a wildcat gave up on being a Sprenbury discovery.

at a statement saying that Russia would have to defuse the Cuban nuclear threat before there could be sensible negotiation toward a peaceful settlement of the nation-threatening crisis.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy's letter dealt with both Khrushchev messages—those of Friday night and Saturday.

Only indirectly, however, did Kennedy formally respond to Khrushchev's suggestion for a Cuba-Turkey arrangement.

After mentioning the possibility of an early agreement, Kennedy said: "The effect of such a settlement on easing world tensions would enable us to work toward a more general arrangement regarding other armaments as proposed in your second letter which you made public."

Kennedy reiterated that the United States is interested in halting the arms race.

Nowhere in the letter did Kennedy set a deadline. He was quite prepared to consider with your allies any useful proposals," he said.

Emphasizing his insistence on dismantling of Soviet installations in Cuba, Kennedy also said: "The continuation of this threat, or a prolonging of this discussion concerning Cuba by linking these problems to the broader questions of European and world security, would surely lead to an intensification of the Cuban crisis and a grave risk to the peace of the world."

Rocket Fired For A Study Of Radiation

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Explorer XV satellite rocketed into apparently successful orbit Saturday night to survey an artificial radiation belt created by a U.S. high-altitude nuclear explosion last summer.

Belated Howard Cotton Crop Lags In Slow Area Harvest

Howard County continues to lag far behind its neighbors in the cotton harvest. The Texas Employment Commission survey for last week shows that only 1,311 bales of 1962 cotton have been ginned in this county—the smallest number of bales for any county in this district. Nor is the prospect bright for any major change in the picture. Bulk of the cotton in the county is late. Much of it will not be harvested until a freeze, and the later this freeze comes the happier the farmers will be. Meantime, TEC still stands on its estimate of 36,800 bales. However, some observers are inclined to believe that it is too high.

DAMP WEATHER
Damp weather as the week ended added to the unhappiness of the farmers who count on bright sunshine to help pull them out of the critical situation. While the county is lagging in ginnings, other counties in the area are not too well off. Martin County has ginned only 11,249 of its estimated 46,000 bale crop.

GLASSCOCK COUNTY, with a crop of 9,200 bales, is nearer to the finale of its harvest than any of its neighbors. It had ginned 5,136 bales through Friday of last week.

DAWSON COUNTY, the giant cotton producer of this immediate area, with a crop estimate at 140,000 bales, has ginned 24,000 bales. The four counties served by the TEC office in Sweetwater were remarkably in line as the week ended. The week's and total ginnings, were close for all four counties.

MUCH ALIKE
Fisher County, where half the crop is now ready to harvest, had ginned 5,283 bales through Friday with 1,161 for the week. Scurry County, where 40 per cent of the crop is ready to pick, had ginned 5,642 bales and 1,114 of these handled last week.

Mitchell County has ginned 6,744 of its crop which is now estimated 40 per cent ready for picking. The gins turned out 1,264 bales last week.

Nolan County has more than half of its crop already open—54 per cent—and has 29 per cent of it picked. Total bales ginned this season stood at 5,580 last week with the gins whipping out 1,765 for the week.

Traffic Toll
AUSTIN (AP)—State police said Saturday 1,841 persons have died this year in traffic accidents in Texas, compared to 1,766 last year.

American Writer In Moscow Encounters 'Wall Of Fear'

EDITOR'S NOTE: J. A. Livingston, who writes a financial column for The Herald, has been in Europe to study the Common Market. His journey took him to Moscow, hence he reports a new facet of the Cuban crisis.

By J. A. LIVINGSTON
MOSCOW — An American in Moscow feels it:
A wall of fear, anxiety and sometimes hate has risen around us in the tense days since President Kennedy's announcement of the Cuban quarantine.

It isn't exactly hatred of Americans as individuals, or as a people. It's fear of war—hatred of war.

Mr. Kennedy's action fertilized anxieties already planted by propaganda suggesting that the United States Government—and not the American people—wants war.

"We're disappointed in President Kennedy," an Intourist guide told Mrs. Livingston and me. "We thought he'd be more clever than Eisenhower."

"It's ridiculous that the big United States is afraid of an attack by tiny Cuba. President Kennedy has brought on the United States the laughter of the world."

ONLY EXTRACTS
"Have you read the full text of President Kennedy's statement?" I asked.

"Only extracts," the guide replied. "That's all our papers published."

"If you saw the entire text," Mrs. Livingston said softly, "you might get a different impression. Would you like to see it?"

"Do you have a copy?" the guide asked.

"Yes, but not here. We can show it to you later."

We did, but there was no sign that the guide's attitude was changed. And not even a handful of Russians ever will have a chance to read the full text.

DEMONSTRATIONS
The demonstrations in front of the United States Embassy were a positive indication of antipathy, even though they were rather mild.

And it seems to me that the persons in the Intourist office who assist travelers, traditionally regarded by the Russians as guests, are less cooperative, and more reserved.

Perhaps I only imagine this, but Mrs. Livingston had the same reaction.

At the New York City Ballet performance in the resplendent Kremlin Court of the Stars the young Russian woman next to me kept her hands folded during the entire show. Not once did she applaud.

Before coming here six days ago I had informed the Soviet ambassador in Washington that my purpose was to study the Common Market and obtain first-hand reactions from Soviet economists and planners. So the proper persons in the Soviet hierarchy knew of my plans.

DATES CANCELED
At a cocktail party, before the Cuba quarantine was announced, I met a professor of economics at Moscow University who also is interested in the Common Market, and we set up a luncheon date.

It was canceled after the Kremlin denunciation of Mr. Kennedy's action.

Two economists whom I had entertained at my home in Philadelphia were unavailable when I called. One was reported "out of town," the other "ill."

A woman concerned with cultural relations between Russia and the United States whom I had met at the University of Pennsylvania and again in The Philadelphia Bulletin office did not return my calls.

NOT INTERESTED
The state committee which specializes in arranging appointments for scientific and cultural discussions curtly informed me that no person was available who could usefully discuss the special subject of my concern.

I could be reading my own feelings into those of Soviet officials and guides. It could be that the Soviet government just isn't interested in the Common Market.

In view of Premier Khrushchev's statements that Russia is willing to have trade relations with economic blocs as well as individual nations, I think that's unlikely.

There's a wall—a wall of fear!

Rescue Unit Wins Praise For Article

The Rescue Detachment at Webb AFB received another pat-on-the-back for performance and leadership in its field when it was lauded by Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Cunningham, Air Force Rescue Service commander.

General Cunningham sent a letter to Capt. Thomas Seebo, Webb's detachment commander, and praised the unit for the recent article in Kaman Rotor Tips, a monthly magazine published by the Kaman Aircraft Corp., of Bloomfield, Conn.

The article was on "night fire suppression" with the use of a helicopter.

General Cunningham's letter, read in part: "Your article on night fire suppression which appeared in Kaman Rotor Tips was called to my attention and I read it with great interest. I strongly approve of the initiative and foresight displayed and getting it published. Night fire suppression is a fascinating and important subject and you have performed an invaluable service in pointing out problem areas and possible solutions in this field."

Detachment crew members are 1st Lts. James L. Butera and William F. Glover, T. Sgt. Dan W. Long and Captain Seebo.

Steers Take Top Spot In League

By TOMMY HART
ABILENE — Coach Don Robbins got the birthday present he probably most wanted here Friday night when he watched his Big Spring Steers rip apart the Abilene Cooper Cougar, 26-0, before a sparse turnout of the faithful. Robbins overran his 20th birthday Saturday.

His scintillating performance served to push the reved-up Steers into a tie for first place in 2-AAAA standings with Odessa High School. Each team now owns a 2-0-1 won-lost-tied record within the conference.

The Steer line, which gave Fierro tremendous protection on his passing, also did a jam-up job of quelling the Cougar attack. Cooper managed to get a few good drives going but bogged down when it really counted. Boys like Buster Barnes, Walter Minter, Thurman Randle, Tim Smith, Ricca Flores, Robert Wilson and Dick Irons simply weren't in a mood to yield much ground.

Eli Rally To Tie Colgate, 14-14

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Aroused Yale tallied twice in a fiery final period and tied alert Colgate 14-14 in a football thriller that probably created a modern fumbling record for the Yale Bowl.

Yale's second touchdown came with only 23 seconds left to play, but the Elis had to make good on a two-point conversion to gain the equalizer.

Between them the rivals were guilty of nine fumbles in the 43-degree temperature and sunny weather, with Colgate recovering four. The last one accounted for a touchdown.

Last Half Surge Pays Off As Coahoma Wins

By JOE BEYER

TUSCOLA—The Coahoma Bulldogs staged a dramatic rally in the second half of Friday's gridiron match here to defeat the Jim Ned Indians by a score of 22-20.

The Bulldogs came from behind twice, once to tie the score at 14-14 and then to go ahead with the winning touchdown with only minutes remaining to play. Throughout most of the game they trailed the Indians.

The Indian defense was almost impenetrable during the first half and the Bulldogs, who have wracked up big yardage on the ground in most of their games, were limited to 89 yards total for the first half. Ronald McMillon, a star for the Indians who has been seen only limited play this year because of injuries, was in time and again on defense from his linebacker slot and the defensive line let nothing get past them.

It was a game of sparkling defensive work on both sides. Weldon Self played his usual brilliant game defensively for the Bulldogs and he received plenty of assistance from Eddie McHugh, Ted Cearley, Ronnie Burgess and Bill Steagald.

Jim Ned jumped to an early lead when Gary Aldridge intercepted a Coahoma pass on the Bulldog 33 yard line and raced into the end zone for the score. Ronald McMillon carried over for the two extra points. About midway in the second period McMillon snared a 34-yard pass from quarterback Greg McAdams for the second score. His attempt to convert was no good. The second touchdown too was set up by heads-up defensive work on the part of McMillon, who pounced on a Bulldog fumble on the Bulldog 19-yard line.

Coahoma came out to win in the second half. D. Allen took the kickoff at the start of the third quarter and ran 85 yards with it for the first Bulldog score. Buddy Anderson, 155-pound guard, threw the last key block to spring Allen loose on the long haul. Eddie McHugh carried the ball over for the extra points.

Coahoma knotted the score at 14-14 late in the third quarter when Bill Turner drove nine yards off right tackle on the final play to cap a 63-yard march downfield. The Indians, however, were quick to retaliate as they went 36 yards in 11 plays with McMillon going over. He added the extra Tornadoes whirled for three touchdowns in succession in the second half to overcome Snyder's half-time lead and uproot the scrappy Tigers, 36-23, for a District 3-AAA victory Friday night.

Snyder's 15-14 halftime edge was its only lead of the game. The Tornadoes erased that 40 seconds deep in the third period by turning a Tiger fumble into a 22-15 advantage.

The Tornadoes scored on each of their first two possessions of the game and retained the ball for almost the entire first quarter. The Tigers made like us of the second period, during which time they monopolized possession and took over their slim lead.

The Tornadoes took a commanding lead in the third period when two successive TD's broke the game wide open. Another midway in the fourth cinched the victory with a 36-15 lead. The Tigers came back to score late in the fourth and boosted their output to 23.

Lamesa majored in options from a single wing formation. Quarterback Sherrell Kidd swept ends and pitched to wingbacks Leroy Walker or Jay White when trouble arose. Quick slices through the line added variety and went for good yardage.

The first Tornado tally went 71 yards after the opening kickoff. The play consumed 18 plays and all but 5:25 of the period. Steady ground work prevailed, and the only large gains were twin 11-yard trips by White. White scored from the three and James Anderson booted the conversion.

Snyder's initial possession fell victim to a fumble. Jimmy Lightfoot, 200-pound Lamesa tackle, pounced on it at the visitor's 31. Kidd pitched 15 yards to Anderson prior to White's eight-yard scoring dive. Anderson's boot made it 14-0 with 2:20 remaining in the period.

The Tigers unmoored for 69 yards in 10 plays for their initial score. They displayed their best offensive performance of the night as Danny Aycock, Leslie Brown and Jimmy Wilson shattered the Tornadoes line for good gains. Quarterback Wilson, who earlier carried for 12 and 10-yard pickups, scored from the one. Brown ran the extra point across to bring the score 14-8.

Midway in the second frame the Tigers clawed their way 52 yards behind Wilson's passing. The 152-pound junior flipped to Brown on successive screen passes for gains of 31 and 15 yards. Brown scored from the three. Peter Greene's boot put them ahead, 15-14.

Snyder's second costly fumble came on the first play of the second half, and was snatched at the 31 by Kent Clark. With only 40 seconds of the period gone Lamesa's first play went the distance. Kidd ran the option around left end and pitched to halfback Walker, who scooted the 31 yards to paydirt.

Lamesa's next score came two minutes later on a dazzling 75-yard punt return by White. White gathered in Greene's towering 55-yard boot and tiptoed down the sidelines behind excellent blocking. Aycock's conversion kick made it 29-15.

Lamesa climaxed its scoring midway in the fourth with a 76-yard drive consuming six plays. Big gains were 11 yards by Kidd, 23 by White and Walker's 33-yarder to the end zone. Walker held as White split the uprights for the Golden Tornadoes' final point.

With 1:40 left in the game Snyder delivered its final thrust. The move utilized six plays to cover 68 yards. Anderson made the tally from eight yards away and Wilson's toss to Tom Kincaid added two.

The drive was kept alive when, on a fourth and five situation on its own 38, Snyder coach Horace Bostick sent in a fake punt play. Brown feinted a punt and tore around the left corner for 54 yards before being hauled down from behind by Robert Hollmann.

Jay White (above), star fullback of the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, rushed for gains totaling 185 yards in 15 carries against Snyder Friday night. White scored three touchdowns in Lamesa's 36-23 District 3-AAA victory. One of his tallies came on a 75-yard punt return. (Photo by Lee Bernard).

Minnesota Clubs Michigan, 17-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Minnesota balked Michigan with an overwhelming defense Saturday and capitalized on a series of opportunities for a 17-0 victory in the traditional battle for the Little Brown Jug.

Sputtering themselves on offense, the Gophers turned an errant Michigan center snap and a pass interception into 10 points in the second quarter before 65,484 fans in Michigan Stadium.

Minnesota, posting its fourth shutout in five games this season, turned back Michigan's only two serious threats in the 47th game for the famed jug and the 53rd meeting between the old rivals.

The heavy rushing Gopher line, spearheaded by tackles Carl Eller and Bobby Bell, threw Michigan's ball carriers for huge losses time after time. So overpowering was the Minnesota rush that the Wolverines had minus nine yards rushing in the first half and were pushed back on almost every running play in the second half.

Stopped, But Not In Time

Lamesa end Woodie Scott (85) is stopped by Snyder's Jimmy Taylor (40) after taking a conversion pass from Sherrell Kidd in the opening minutes of the third period in the football game played Friday night in Lamesa. The two points gave the Tornadoes a 22-15 lead. Lamesa went on to win, 36-23. (Photo by Lee Bernard)

COLORADO CITY—The Brownfield Cubs played the role of spoiler at Colorado City's homecoming Friday night, drubbing the Wolves 27-0, in the season opener for both teams.

Colorado City's best effort came in the opening minutes of the third quarter when they drove to the Cub 20, but Brownfield held and the Cubs were never pressed again—in fact, Brownfield didn't have to punt during the last 22 minutes of the game.

The first Cub TD was set up when a low pass from center went to fullback Charles Houston on a punting try. The ball squiggled along the grass and Houston picked it up and attempted to kick — with Brownfield players pouring in on him.

The ball slithered off the side of his foot and Brownfield took over on the Colorado City 18 and drove to the three, where the Wolves held and kicked short to the 36. The Cubs scored in five plays, with Fullback David Auburg scoring from the nine on a sweep at left end. QB Archie Jennings toed the ball in for the EP.

In the second quarter, LHB Bobby Davis swept wide, cut back in the secondary and scampered 57 yards for the score.

In the fourth, Auburg scored on a 9 yard run and on a pass from QB Teddy Howell, the pass ran good for 75 yards.

The Buffaloes were never in the ball game. The first time the Mustangs got the ball on the Buffs 37, they marched for a score, with the fleetfooted Don Kinder making the first of his four TD's from five yards out.

Dragons Down Cats, 31-22

WATER VALLEY — Using climax plays for long distance, the Flower Grove Dragons bombed Water Valley's Wildcats, 31-22, here Friday night.

This Friday Flower Grove goes to Mertzon for another 3 six-man district game. Friday's victory left the Dragons with an impressive 6-1-1 record.

Flower Grove hit Water Valley with a pair of TDs in the first quarter and added one in each of the remaining periods. Water Valley got out of the mat in the second and scored 13 points, but there was no denying the Dragons. The other Water Valley TD came in the third and Jones trapped Roman for a safety in the fourth.

Glenn Caughman broke the Wildcats' back with touchdown runs of 35 and 55 yards, and Lee Roman broke away 35 for one of his and bulldozed over from the seven for his other. James Howard snagged a pass and scampered to the double stripes from 45 yards out. Dave Cave added Flower Grove's only extra point in the third.

Jones ran 40 yards for one of the Water Valley tallies and two yards for another. Woods punched over from three yards for the other and Jones pitched to him for two extra points. Roman yielded the safety in the fourth as a precaution.

Scrappy Buffs Defeat Grandfalls, 24 To 0 with a 3-3 won-lost record for the season.

The Cowboys took the opening kick-off but couldn't make a first down. They kicked to the Buffs, who went down the field, in four plays, for a touchdown. Two passes, one for 16 and the second for 22, ushered Jimmy Flynn over the goal line for the first touchdown. Harry King took another for the extra points.

Following the kickoff Grandfalls was again forced to punt. Before the quarter ended Kenny Soles passed to Dannie Gooch, who carried 38 yards for the second touchdown and then took the ball over for the two points.

The second half went scoreless, with both teams unable to make much ground. Grandfalls was able to rack up four first downs compared to none in the first half but the rushing and passing did not move the ball far enough to get close to the goal line.

The game became more competitive in the third quarter, but the Cowboys were never able to get across the goal line, even though one pass from Matthews to Brandenburg was good for 41 yards. The ball went over on downs and Soles' pass to Bardwell was good for 11 yards, and then another came for 35 yards. Soles took the ball over for the touchdown and H. K. Elrod made two more points on a running play.

Both teams went to the air in the fourth quarter but neither could gain the ground required to count. King intercepted a Cowboy pass on his own 18-yard line and took it out of danger. The Buffs made it to scoring position late in the quarter but fumbled after the goal line was crossed and the Cowboys recovered for a touch-

In the waning seconds of the game Soles intercepted a Cowboy pass and no more threats were made.

Danny Wash, 160-pound Forsan tackle, was out of the game Friday night. He suffered an injury in last week's game which resulted in a ruptured blood vessel in his knee. He said he hoped to be ready for the Garden City game Nov. 9.

Starters for Forsan were Dannie Gooch and Hubert Bardwell, ends, Bobby Huestis and Jim Alexander, guards, Tom Evans, center, Harry King, Kenny Soles, and Jimmy Flynn, backs. Starters for Grandfalls-Royalty were W. T. Brandenburg and R. W. Tipton, ends, P. H. Goldsberry and J. T. Witcher, guards, W. H. Browning, center, B. C. Matthews, Raydell Cooper, and W. R. Cox, backs.

Garden City Cats Batter Imperial

IMPERIAL — The resurgent Garden City Bearcats spotted Imperial a touchdown here Friday evening, then mopped up the earth with the home owners. When it was over, Garden City owned a 46-12 victory.

Paced by a bruising ground game, the Bearcats piled up 373 total offense to 180 for Imperial. Included were touchdown runs of 27, 37 and 60 yards. Garden City had 13 first downs; Imperial 10. Richard Robinson, left end, and Riley Chandler, right end, along with Vernon Newsom, Guard, were outstanding on defense for the Bearcats. Gary Pagan helped stifle the Imperial ground game with his sharp defensive work from halfback.

Imperial opened the scoring in the first quarter with a 22-yard scoring run by Johnny Dominguez. Garden City quickly retaliated when Gary Pagan sailed around end for 37 yards and Hugh Schafer added two points to put the Bearcats ahead to stay.

Gambling on his own 40 with fourth down and four yards to go, Schafer broke up the middle on the draw and raced 60 yards to a score. Richie Reynolds sprung him loose with a crisp block in the line.

Dennis Seidenberger sneaked over from one yard in the second quarter and then he hit Gary Pagan for 11 yards and another TD for the 26-6 halftime lead.

The Bearcats ground out yardage to the two in the third quarter and Seidenberger slipped over. Pagan added another in this canto with a 42-yard sally around end. Imperial rallied momentarily when Dean Evans climaxed a drive by punching over from the one. Seidenberger concluded the scoring with a two yard sneak in the fourth, then passed to Robinson for two points.

Garden City entertains Sterling City Friday night in a 6-B conference game.

Weather Checks Farm Activities

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas farm activities slowed last week when a cold front dropped more rain and lowered temperatures.

John Hutchison, Texas Agricultural Extension Service director, said no major damage was reported to crops. Open, warm weather is needed to complete the cotton and grain sorghum harvests.

Rain interrupted harvesting in the Panhandle. Moisture was generally adequate. The shipment of contract cattle is on. Livestock and range conditions are generally good. Some wheat in the upper Panhandle is furnishing grazing.

General rains fell over the entire South Plains and stopped all farm activities. Very little damage was done to crops. More than two-thirds of the sorghum has been harvested. The condition of ranges and livestock is good.

The Rolling Plains received rain from showers up to 1.50 inches. The cotton harvest and grain seeding were delayed. Cotton leafworms defoliated several thousand acres of cotton in one county. Grain grazing is available in a few counties.

Farmers in North Central Texas are still trying to complete the cotton harvest. Spotted showers and heavy rains forced further delays in some areas. Some grain acreage is still to be planted. Early plantings are making good growth but some worm damage is reported. A good hay crop has been harvested. Pastures and livestock are in the best condition in eight years.

Moisture is adequate in Northeast Texas and the cotton harvest is near completion. Oats are coming up to good stands, corn and sorghum harvesting are still active and pastures are above average. Livestock are in good condition. The pecan crop will be short.

General rains, light to heavy, improved soil moisture in far West Texas. Fall grasses are beginning to grow in lower Edwards Plateau. Wet weather also slowed the cotton harvest. Range and livestock conditions are poor to good with an increase in screwworm cases.

Spotted rains improved things in West Central Texas. Moisture will be especially beneficial to seeded and growing small grains, but the cotton harvest has been delayed by the rain and heavy dews. Livestock are in good condition but screwworms are increasing.

Except for southeast counties in Central Texas, moisture is adequate. The cotton harvest is complete in the east and down to scrapping in west. Early grain is furnishing light grazing. The pecan harvest is about half complete with fair yields. Plowing and seeding of grains are major activities. The harvest of a light pecan crop has started. Pastures are improving and livestock are in normal condition.

Moisture is short in East Texas where pastures and ranges are average to below and cattle are in fair condition. Cover crops are being planted, and 144 cases of screwworms were reported for the week. Armyworms are causing severe damage to pastures in South Central Texas. Rain is needed to revive ranges and for flax planting. Livestock is in fair to good condition. A slight increase in screwworm cases was noted.

Moisture in the southeast and upper Gulf coastal district is mostly adequate and harvesting is in the clean-up stage. Peanut yields are low but vegetables are improving as planting continues. Most cattle are in good condition but some stock tanks are low on water and a good general rain would be beneficial.

Scattered showers, ranging up to 3 inches, fell in the Lower Rio Grande Valley but general rains are still badly needed over all of the South Texas District. Many ranchmen are feeding their livestock and some are burning prickly pear. Armyworms are damaging oats and improved pastures. Vegetables look good though weeds are a problem.

Landowners Oppose Dam

AUSTIN (AP) — Nine landowners opposing a proposed multi-million dollar dam on the Navasota River made preparations Saturday for a suit against the Texas Water Commission and the Brazos River Authority.

Judge Jack Roberts overruled Friday requests of the attorney general's office which contended the court does not have jurisdiction in the case.

Also overruled was a motion by the landowners seeking to keep College Station, Bryan and Navasota from entering the suit. The landowners live in the area to be covered by the proposed Millican dam and reservoir.

Proceedings before Roberts Friday were preliminary and did not actually start the trial. Still to be considered is a request by the Brazos River Authority attempting to move the trial to Waco, home office of the authority.

Barber Resigns Position With Fire Department

Donald Barber, who has been with the Big Spring Fire Department since January 1957, has submitted his resignation to Chief H. V. Crocker, effective Oct. 31. Barber served with the 49th Armored Division of the National Guard, during its recent call-up, but returned to the fire department when he was released.

"I have been offered other employment which I feel will be more advantageous to me," he said in his letter to Crocker.

"My relationship with my employers while working for the fire department has been pleasant and it is possible that, in the future, I may find it desirable to seek re-employment with this department."

Chief Crocker said that the resignation was referred to City Manager Larry Crow and that it was accepted with regret.

"We do not feel that we should want to hold a man back if, by taking other employment, he can better himself," Crocker said.

Community Plans Festival

GARDEN CITY (SC) — The traditional Fall Festival of the St. Lawrence community in southern Glasscock County has been announced for Nov. 4, according to H. E. Seidenberger, in charge of arrangements.

Sponsored by residents of the cotton and grain settlement, the festival will be held in the St. Lawrence Community Hall.

Festivities will begin at 11:30 a.m. with dinner featuring German sausage and barbecued beef. During the afternoon there will be games and other entertainment, plus an auction sale. The festival supper is set for 5:30 p.m., and activities will be climaxed with the festival ball.

St. Lawrence was carved out of ranch country 15 years ago and has become an important center for cotton and grain production. Much of the land in that sector is irrigated and quite productive.

The public is invited to take part in the festival, said Seidenberger.

THE WITCH'S BREW is carefully blended and cooked ever so long in readiness for Halloween festivities in the neighborhood of 1608 Vines. Mrs. Warden Mayes, the attractive witch, will serve on the lawn at the Mayes' residence, just as she has in the past. Her sons, Brian and Rex, as well as other neighborhood goblins will make up the party.

ALL FOR CROP, Christian Rural Overseas Program, Helena Wozencraft (below) will be among the young people from the various churches participating in tricks or treat Halloween night. Instead of fruit, candy and cookies, they will be asking for nickels, dimes and quarters, all in the interest of CROP. Helena, daughter of the C. M. Wozencrafts, plans to be costumed for the event just as most of the other young people.

GREMLINS, GOBLINS, skeletons and ghosts—even the galloping kind—will fill the classrooms at Immaculate Heart of Mary School on Wednesday. This is when the Mothers Club will have homeroom parties. Wayne Basden, son of the Wayne Basdens, and Kerry Hanigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip F. Hanigan, practice their apple bobbing in preparation for the Halloween event.

HER PALMS CROSSED with silver, Mrs. Joe D. Merrick tells all to Cathlynn Carlile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carlile, and to her son, Kenneth Merrick. Fortune telling was only part of the fun last night at the College Heights School carnival, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

Hallowmas

By Kathleen Dozier

Antedating Christianity, Halloween or All Hallow's Eve is the name given to Oct. 31 as the vigil of Hallowmas or All Saints' Day, the Christian festival. This is the explanation of our October holiday as given by historians and reference books.

Our day for the gremlins, goblins and ghosts is somewhat different from the original celebration.

This week the small fry will be bobbing for apples, dunking their heads into tubs of water; their torches will be battery powered; and some of those "wicked souls" will be haunting the homes, seeking help in overseas relief. The latter will be sponsored by the local churches and somewhere amid masks, caps and capes there will be CROP identification. Each CROP representative will have an ice cream container banded with a CROP tape and slotted for contributions to the cause.

Today's witches appear as Mrs. Warden Mayes who, clad in cape and cap, stirs up a concoction of hot, spiced apple juice, which is cooked in a black kettle over an open fire on the front lawn at her home on Vines Street. This, a familiar sight, is looked forward to by the neighborhood children next Wednesday night. They will receive ample portions of the brew, ladled by Mrs. Mayes.

The Mothers' Club of Immaculate Heart of Mary School is sponsoring parties Wednesday in each of the school rooms. Entertainment will include the ancient practice of apple bobbing, along with fortune telling and games for the small fry.

Then there are the young adults and the senior members of our society who observe the day. It is a time for masquerading and antics for the young in heart, the gay and the giddy, the prank planners and all other fun-loving people.

THE GHOULISH GHOST peering from behind the lamp post is Lt. Edward Jacob; the flapper, Mrs. Lew Martin, and the wiggled siren, Lt. Jacob's wife. In bow tie and straw hat is Lt. Martin, and the scene, the Jacobs' party last night at their home, 509

E. 13th. The party was given primarily for those of Class 63-E of the 3561st Student Squadron, Webb AFB. Mrs. Jacob is chairman of the Student Squadron Wives.

SECTION C

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1962

Quite A Collection

Second Lt. and Mrs. Robert C. Polk choose music to relax by after his day's training ends at Webb Air Force Base. The Polks are making their home at the Carlton House while he is stationed at Webb as a member of Class 64-C. Both enjoy good music and have a large collection of LP recordings.

Warm Welcome 'Nice'; A Surprise To Couple

Second Lt. and Mrs. Robert C. Polk can look from their apartment window in the Carlton House and see a typical West Texas landscape. They admit it is entirely different from the terrain in their native Virginia.

In fact, when his wife, Paula, stopped for a cup of coffee when traveling through Big Spring a year ago, she didn't suspect it would one day be their home.

The Polks already feel at home, however.

They enjoy being Big Springers while Lt. Polk is stationed at Webb Air Force Base as a member of Class 64-C.

Their former home was in Norfolk, Va., where both taught in the Princess Anne County school system.

Originally from Portland, Ore., Mrs. Polk attended Stephens Jr. College in Columbia, Mo. She earned a BS degree at the University of N. Carolina at Chapel Hill, majoring in social studies and elementary education.

Lt. Polk graduated from Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va., receiving his BA degree with a major in history.

Adjusting to their new way of life has been easy for Lt. and Mrs. Polk who believe that the Air Force holds unlimited possibilities for them in several ways.

Both like to travel and do not mind moving their home when necessary.

"It was a pleasant surprise to be made to feel so welcome here," said Lt. Polk. "Accustomed to southern hospitality, they were still amazed to find strangers going out of their way to be friendly.

One of Lt. Polk's hobbies before entering service was flying. He had logged flight time while working on a private license in Virginia. In the sports field, he prefers tennis.

Mrs. Polk would like to work with the Gray Ladies organization. She plans to participate in the next training session of this kind offered at Webb.

Recreational activities she enjoys are golf, tennis, water and snow skiing and bridge.

Lt. and Mrs. Polk plan to attend the Episcopal church while making their home in Big Spring.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE.

That first Christmas card has arrived already. CAPT. ALLEN ROBINSON, as usual, has his Christmas mailing done very early from his station in Tokyo or Bangkok (he uses both cities) probably doesn't even know what state he's in. Anyway, he is farther ahead than the others of us. By Christmas he will be getting out his Fourth of July fireworks.

MRS. JOHN HUGH KING II who now makes her home in Slaton, will undergo surgery at the Mercy Hospital in Slaton Monday morning. The Kings are former residents of Big Spring and of Robert Lee. They have moved to Slaton in the past few months where they publish a newspaper.

MR. and MRS. LESS WHITAKER and their daughter, MRS. BILL McCARTY of Amarillo and MRS. H. R. PICKLE of Lubbock arrived Friday afternoon for a visit with relatives here. They planned to return to their homes today.

Homecomings at Tech and Baylor have attracted some of our hometown folk. MR. and MRS. JOHN COFFEE and MISS NELL BROWN were in Waco for the activities at Baylor Friday, Saturday and part of today. Miss Brown never misses the big occasion and the Coffees try not to.

MRS. MALCOLM PATTERSON was in Lubbock for the big doings at Tech and DIANNE McEWEN was invited to the festivities by ALF COBB who is a second year student at the Lubbock school.

MRS. L. B. EDWARDS and MRS. LEON MOFFETT are in Houston taking care of the three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Lawrence Jr., while the couple is away on a trip. Mrs. Edwards is the grandmother and Mrs. Moffett the great-grandmother of the little boys.

MRS. BILL EARLEY has been informed that her son, BILLY EARLEY, has been made head of the area American Radio Relay League at San Augustine. Ham radio operating has become an interesting hobby to Earley who is with the Soil Conservation Service in San Augustine where his wife is country home demonstration agent.

The purpose of the relay league is to set up communications with other ham operators and hold drills for procedure in event of an emergency.

Traveling here and there during the past week were MR. and MRS. DAN CONLEY who were in Houston for him to attend an insurance meeting. They also were in Beaumont one night to visit former residents, MR. and MRS. J. C. BOUNDS. . . MRS. E. HOGAN and MRS. BILL BRIGMAN spent several days in Dallas. . . MRS. FRED STITZELL and MARTHA ANN have been in Dallas.

MRS. LUCY BRITTON accompanied by MRS. WAYNE SMITH of Lamesa left today for Houston where she is undergoing treatments at M. D. Anderson Clinic. Mrs. Britton is staying at the Palm Manor Motel, 5015 St. Jacinto, and will be taking treatments for five weeks. She had been in Houston the past week and with her were a sister, MRS. JACK ARCHER of Ackerly, and Mrs. Smith.

MRS. E. B. HATCH and MISS NELL HATCH left this morning for Dallas where they will attend a number of pre-nuptial parties for their great-niece, SUSAN COOK, the daughter of MR. and MRS. HUBERT MARTIN COOK (she the former Mable Robb). Miss Cook will be married on Nov. 3 at the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas to WILLIAM EDWARD NETTLE JR. She is the granddaughter of MRS. HAROLD ROBB of Dallas.

Legend Of 'Lil' Told Following Death In Sydney

SYDNEY — Mrs. Eleanor Sophie Wood was a mystery. In the kitchens and cubbyholes of the hotel where she lived they called her "Diamond Lil."

Her diamonds were great rocks. She held her stocking up with string (this on the word of her former chauffeur who says he had seen the string below her knees as he helped her from her auto).

Mrs. Wood was a widow, aging, yet sprightly, one who liked to tell her friends, naughty stories (again on the word of the chauffeur).

She survived three husbands, the second a rich jute merchant in India named Donaldson (on the word of friends).

She was always a perfect lady (on the word of Bert, the hotel carpenter).

In August "Diamond Lil" died. Weeks passed, then the word came out (from her solicitors): She was 91. She had left $224 to Bert the carpenter "who has always been a kind friend to me," the same amount to a former bookkeeper at the hotel, $240 to chauffeur Nefken, and the rest of her estate $1,844,350 to the University of Sydney.

"It's a bolt from the blue," said Prof. S. H. Roberts, Vice-Chancellor of the university.

Year's Plans Reviewed By ESA Chapter

Each new officer reviewed their plans for the year when the Alpha Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held a model meeting Thursday evening. The hostess was Mrs. Frank Perry, 1204 E. 18th and cohostess, Mrs. Ken McGowan.

Mrs. W. Glyn Mitchell presided. She announced that the group will decorate the main Christmas tree at the Veteran's Administration Hospital, an annual project.

An installation service and jewel pin ceremony is scheduled for 7 p.m., Nov. 1 at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Mrs. Robert Hamilton's program, "Presenting ESA," was based on the space theme of rushing into orbit.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a black cloth, using silver appointments. Pumpkin and candle decorations carried out the Halloween theme.

Guests were Mrs. C. N. Steen and Mrs. Gordan Gentry.

Baptist Juniors Are Party Guests

The Junior II Department of the East 4th Baptist Church were entertained by Mrs. Robert Wilson, 1300 11th Place, at a Halloween party in her home Thursday evening.

Teachers and superintendents who assisted Mrs. Wilson were Miss Jeanette Mansfield, Mrs. Bill Rudd, Mrs. G. C. Ragsdale, Mrs. Walter Trim, Lee Knuckles and Phil Rankin.

Games and songs were directed by James Kinman.

The Halloween theme was carried out in decorations throughout the house. A large witch surrounded by pumpkins and black cats centered the serving table.

Refreshments were served to the 34 guests.

Sew And Chatter Meeting Is Held

Meeting in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, 602 E. 17th St., 14 members of the Sew and Chatter Club observed the birthday of Mrs. Lorine Blum Wednesday afternoon.

The hostess served refreshments during the social gathering. Mrs. L. C. Murdock, 606 E. 17th, will be hostess when the club meets on Nov. 14.

Home Safety Program Is Launched

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents is launching its first "home safety training year."

Brigadier R. F. E. Stoney, the society's director, general, listed eight ground rules to cut accidents in the home.

1. Keep the house clean and tidy. Many falls are caused by a wrinkled mat or a patch of grease on the kitchen floor.
2. Study the safe use of home fuels and new appliances so that you are fully aware of any dangers.
3. Keep all drugs, even aspirin, locked away and safely out of the reach of children.
4. Never hang a mirror over a fireplace. It may attract a child whose clothing is likely to catch fire.
5. Choose night clothes made of flame-resistant fabrics, especially for children.
6. Never put cooking pots on the stove with handle sticking out over the edge.
7. Never attempt do-it-yourself repairs to electrical fittings unless you are certain you have the necessary skill and knowledge.
8. Always keep a watchful eye on the very young and the very old. They are most likely to become home front casualties.

Carnival Is Planned

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a Halloween carnival Tuesday evening at the elementary school gymnasium.

Beginning at 6:30, snacks and drinks will be sold in the cafeteria. Cakes, pies and candy will be sold whole or by the piece. Costumes will be judged and prizes awarded in several categories.

All proceeds will be used for P-TA projects.

New Crop American Young People Noted

Has anyone really looked lately at the typical American teen-ager? That's a question from pretty Suzie Willett 17, of Wilmington, Del., a freshman at Russell Sage College in Troy, N. Y.

She says what they would see is a new crop of American young people dedicated to helping others, "not the juvenile delinquent that is portrayed constantly in magazines, movies and on television."

Suzie is tall, blonde, hazel-eyed, the national chairman of TAP (Teen-Age Program) of the 1963 March of Dimes. Her travels and experiences with her own friends reveals that young people everywhere are giving time and energy to people who need their help, she says.

"It doesn't take a calamity to get them interested, either," she says. "Young people are more aware of the times than they were a few years ago. They read newspapers and good literature. They are more interested in cultural things. The image of a teen-ager bending over a record player is passe. The boys who are big men on campus must succeed academically, even the football players. Men like Dr. Jonas Salk who developed the polio vaccine are the new heroes of teen-agers."

QUITE DIFFERENT
This is all quite different from a few years ago, Suzie admits. Those who missed the chance, like her sister now 22, regret that the sparks to help others didn't fly when they were teen-agers, she says.

"There are young people who volunteer at hospitals, others who clean slum areas or help the poor in other ways, still others give themselves to any civic cause where they are needed. And just look at the response to the Peace Corp," she points out.

Their children are Kimberly Ann, 7, and Mark Richard, one year. WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLIE HARTZOG

The Webb Windsock usually stirs gently with the zephyrs of social doings, but this week it has been turned right side about. Everyone feels the chill of the international situation and our respect continues to grow for the wives of the 31st whose men have been called away—it brought the whole thing so much closer to our everyday life. The 31st wives plan to get together more now and to keep as busy as possible. The current schedule included a Hall and Farewell coffee on Thursday featuring a skit humorizing all the possible errors in the day of a student pilot. This was performed by wives of Class 64-A while we desperately tried to take pictures with a borrowed camera and several paragraphs of instructions.

Also during the week was a farewell party given by Mrs. Charles-Head and Mrs. B. F. Yeargin for Mrs. Ross Simpson at the Officers Club. Among the hostess gifts for the honoree were gold earrings and items of clothing trimmed with bits of mink suitable for the extreme cold in Fairbanks, Alaska to which Maj. Simpson has been assigned.

Friday there was a reception for the newest class to arrive at Webb, Class 64-C, and the beginning of the Antique Fair week-end in Odessa. On Saturday, we noted a promotion party given by the newly promoted captains, preceded by a buffet dinner and followed by dancing at the Officers Club. This was attended by most of the officers at Webb.

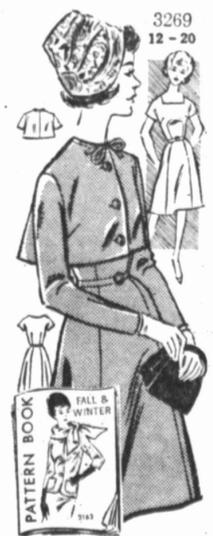

BOARD MEETING
The monthly board meeting of the OWC will be Monday, Oct. 29, at the Officers Club. Tuesday noon is the deadline for making or canceling luncheon reservations with Mrs. A. G. Boughton and Mrs. J. Price. The luncheon will be held Nov. 1 at 12:30 noon, and the chairmen, M. and S. and C. E. wives, have planned an Arthur Worry Dancing Party for those of us who survive the glee of little ones celebrating Halloween. The menu will include roast turkey. The green thumbs among the civilians and dependents at Webb will be getting ready for the flower show Saturday, Nov. 3 at the Big Spring Country Club. The theme of the show will be in honor of aviation, and the different types of artistic arrangements will be titled with names pertinent to the theme. The class open to Webb personnel considers only fresh-cut material as opposed to dried arrangements.

BRIDGE PARTIES
Among the bridge parties at Webb this week was the medical wives group at Dr. J. J. Schuber's, with Mrs. L. E. Healy winning high. Also enjoying bridge, in conjunction with pumpkin chiffon ice cream pie, was Mrs. F. D. Parent who won high score at the home of Mrs. John Greaud. We are waiting for a recipe for that pie and its hot maple sauce. Perhaps it would help our bridge playing also.

Mrs. G. P. Bracke was hostess for a coffee given honoring a visitor to Webb, Mrs. Robert Davison, mother of Mrs. Bill Huss. Mrs. Davison was presented with a corsage of carnations for the occasion which was eagerly awaited by her granddaughter, Laurie, who had her wishful eye upon the corsage.

Mrs. A. E. Erickson took over the reins in the McCallum home last week to allow Mrs. W. S. McCallum, her daughter, to vacation in San Francisco. Mrs. McCallum, visited with her sister, a stewardess for American Airlines and returned to Webb filled with enthusiasm for the Golden Gate city. Mrs. Erickson journeyed from Galveston after hearing all about the vacation trip she enjoyed visiting with her daughter's family here before returning to that city.

Stanley-Hester Vows Solemnized In Evening

Marriage vows were solemnized Saturday evening, uniting Miss Marilyn Hester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayless Milton Hester III, Wichita Falls, and Terry O'Neal Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McKinney, Ruidoso, N. M., and Big Spring.

The double ring service was performed at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Wichita Falls, by Dr. Claud A. Beesley, Episcopal rector.

Gold altar vases were filled with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pompons, forming a background for the wedding. Completing the altar scene were cascades of jade foliage, tall trees of vigil lights and the white satin bride dieu which marked the center of the altar.

Mrs. Broyles Hall, organist, and Mrs. David Langford, soloist, provided a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory French silk peau de soie. It was designed with fitted bodice of Alencon lace, beaded in pearls and iridescent sequins, featuring a scalloped neckline with abbreviated sleeves. The Victorian bodice buttoned down the back with small self covered buttons and featured a petite bow with attached streamers. The bouffant skirt extended into a chapel train.

A fingertip veil of ivory French illusion cascaded from a tiara of seed pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a diamond drop, a gift from the bridegroom.

She carried a prayer book with a shower arrangement of white Phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

MRS. TERRY O'NEAL STANLEY

The bride's sister, Miss Josephine Hester, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elaine Hester, another sister, Miss Harla Harvey, Miss Anne Frandsen, all of Wichita Falls, Miss Jan Jordan, El Paso, Miss Katy Bess Morgan, Big Spring, Miss Mary Marjorie Putney, St. Louis, Mo., Miss Stanley Livingston, Denver, Colo., and bridesmatron, Mrs. Pat Rooney, Ruidoso, sister of the bridegroom.

Their dresses were of emerald green velvet fashioned with molded bodices, wide oval necklines and elbow length sleeves. The bell shaped skirts of unpressed pleats were ballerina length. Their hats were formed of emerald green satin leaves and each carried a stylized bouquet of yellow fugu chrysanthemums with loops of yellow velvet.

James Frederick Terry Big Spring, served as best man to his nephew. Groomsman were John Patrick Stanley, Ruidoso, a brother; Pat Hull Rooney, Ruidoso, a brother-in-law; Joe Cook, Ackerly; Emmett Kent Morgan, Franklin Williamson, James Stephenson, Charles Green, Eddie Kinney and Benny McCrary, all of Big Spring.

Also, Al Nahmad, Panama Canal Zone, Riley M. Hough Jr., Fort Morgan, Colo.; Frank Harvey and Glen Habern, both of Wichita Falls; John Hall, Gary Glodgett and David McCall served as acolytes.

RECEPTION
 A reception was held afterward at the Wichita Falls Country Club where the receiving line stood before tall, tiered trees of huckleberry foliage entwined with yellow pompons. This decoration was duplicated along the walls and bandstand of the ballroom.

The bride's table, draped in gold lame, featured garlands of green grapes extending from a gold tiered epergne that was filled with yellow fugu chrysanthemums and yellow roses in garlands of gold oak leaves. These extended to the gold punch bowl and the three-tiered gold wedding cake placed on a gold tray. Gold oak leaves were also arranged in a tall epergne on the register table.

Music for dancing was played by Pete Martinez and his orchestra.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. F. S. Powe, Mrs. Carl Mangum, Mrs. Walt Frandsen, Mrs. C. V. Hamilton, Mrs. Sad Griggs, Mrs. Renny Nee, Mrs. Grover Habern, Mrs. Nina Ruth Habern, Mrs. Benton Ross, Mrs. Charles Harbaugh, Mrs. Carter McGregor, Mrs. Bert Ripley, Mrs. Francis Harvey, Mrs. Rouben Knight, Mrs. F. M. Farrier, Mrs. M. F. Lodnier and Mrs. E. B. Clark Jr.

Also Misses Cynthia Harvey, Sara Harvey, Bernice Hindman, Carol Henderson, Lynn Rowe and Gail Rancier.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS
 Among the out of town guests attending were Mrs. J. L. Terry, the bridegroom's grandmother, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Rick McKinney, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Jordan, the bride's grandparents from Houston; and Mr. and Mrs. Kent Morgan, Big Spring.

WEDDING TRIP
 For their wedding trip, the bride chose a navy blue wool suit and white mink hat. The couple will make residence in Ruidoso.

A graduate of the Wichita Falls High School, the bride attended Tulane University, and presently is a fine arts major at the University of New Mexico. She was presented as a debutant by the Junior Forum.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard County Junior College. He is now a student at the University of New Mexico and a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

A Halloween carnival, sponsored by the Boydston Elementary School Parent-Teacher's Association, will begin at the school at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

A fortune telling booth, weight guessers, fish pond game and a cakewalk will be features of the fund-raising project.

Mrs. E. C. Bell, in charge of the kitchen, says that supper will be available at the school. The menu includes beans, chili, hot dogs, pie, coffee and soft drinks.

Team mothers and parents will assist Mrs. Dwight McCann, carnival chairman, in staging the event. Proceeds will go into the PTA project fund.

Dash Of The Masculine Is Catnip

NEW YORK (AP)—The long suffering family man who has watched parts of his wardrobe disappear from time to time into the closets of his wife or daughter will understand what designer Bill Blass means.

A dash of masculine fashion is catnip to a woman, because it points up her femininity by contrast.

But, Blass told fashion writers attending New York Couture Group press week showings, his clothes for Maurice Rentner are anything but mannish although they involve men.

This involvement crops up in the use of menswear fabric, in the classic cut of a man's Chesterfield, in a gray worsted suit with a fisher collar, in a camel-colored little boy vest worn with long-sleeved white blouse and black skirt. There's a T-shirt look in a belted black satin dinner dress.

Blass thinks a suit looks undressed unaccompanied by a beret and scarf or stole. He predicts dresses worn with a stole, preferably fur-lined, will take the place of a suit on chilly days. Around the throat of his walking suits he ties a jaunty, matching scarf. Longer-jacketed walking suits, by the way, are being shown by most designers now, but they all neglect to say where, in this day of limited pedestrian travel, one Pat Blair, new member of the "Rifleman" series of ABC-TV, tells about dieting and her special way of relaxing while bathing. She prefers bathing to a shower when she has time. Pat isn't a believer in crash diets.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Pat Blair Talks Of Crash Diets, Health

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—"Because a reducing diet agrees with one person's metabolism does not mean that it will agree with yours," Pat Blair declared. "I was following a crash diet to lose weight, but I stayed on it too long and almost lost my health."
"I have learned the hard way that you are inviting trouble if you don't think about nutrition. I didn't have any energy and I felt as though I was going to black out. When I went to the doctor, he told me my blood sugar was low and he made me eat eight times a day until I was able to get back to normal. I didn't have full meals, and I was not allowed any white flour or white sugar or anything fried."
"Now I feel fine again. I'm taking vitamins and I try to see that I have plenty of protein and milk products every day. It is one thing to want to be thin, but you won't be attractive if you go about it the wrong way and ruin your health."
Pat has been signed as a regular for the new season of "Rifleman" shows on ABC-TV, and we talked of her role as we were having tea with honey and whole-grain toast at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Then we discussed the nutritious value of honey.

"I think most restaurants will serve honey if you ask them," Pat said. "It's a wonderful form of energy and certainly better for you than white sugar."
We talked of relaxation and Pat said she preferred bathing to a shower when she has time.
"I have a favorite oil that I put in the water. It softens my skin and makes me smell lovely for hours. But if I don't have time for the tub, I spread a special scented before-showering cream all over my body. It is water soluble, but you are not robbing your skin of its supply of oils. This cream is especially nice before going out in the evening because your back and arms look so nice and smooth."

Millinery Course To Begin At HCJC Tuesday

A five-session course in basic millinery will be offered at Howard County Junior College as an adult education service.

Enrollment will begin Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the old Student Union Building on the campus. Mrs. Thomas C. Seebö, who will be the instructor, will conduct a question and answer period at this meeting. She also will present a list of supplies available at local stores.

The initial two-hour class session is scheduled for Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. and will be held thereafter at the convenience of most members until the course is completed.

Here are some of the things to be covered in the course:

How to select your styles for maximum effectiveness or flattery; construction of frames; covering frames with fabric; how to choose fabrics; lining construction; trims; packing hats for storage.

Hats of flowers, feathers, straw and felt will be taught depending on the readiness of the students.

Each student should be able to make five hats, working at home and in class, during the course, Mrs. Seebö said. The enrollment fee for the course is $10, HCJC announced.

Several other adult education courses are underway, among them one in accelerated reading; two in oil painting; one organized by labor groups for background in history of labor and its various relations. Courses in Bronze and gold mums, stock and clusters of green grapes formed an off-center arrangement for the coffee table Friday morning when a party was given in honor of Mrs. Harris D. Wilhoite.

Table appointments were of silver. Hostess for the party at the Officers Club was Mrs. Charles Smith.

Mrs. Wilhoite, dressed in a light wool sheath, wore a corsage of Frenched carnations in keeping with the table arrangement. Mrs. Smith presented her with a serving piece in her silver pattern.

Decor throughout the room featured pumpkins, corn stalks, witches and other Halloween symbols. Overhead were black and

Health Is Forum Topic

The awareness of better health was stressed at the Modern Woman Forum's meeting Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan, 1600 Tucson.

Extra Wives Are Wasteful Expense

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Congressional candidate M. G. Snyder has charged the federal government with providing funds to Kenya for the purchase of extra wives for government officials.

That was among 66 items of "wasteful," wild spending," listed Thursday in a campaign document by Snyder, ultraconservative Republican nominee in the 3rd District. He said he compiled the list from congressional hearings and from statements by the president of the World Bank and the Department of Agriculture.

Other items listed: "The National Aeronautics and Space Administration awarded an $80,700 one-year contract for research on dolphin talk to try to establish communications between dolphins and mankind."

"Funds spent for troughs for camels."
"Funds spent for suits for Greek undertakers."

"Chester Bowles, President Kennedy's roving ambassador, spent $600,000 on an 18-day jaunt around the world meeting ambassadors and their wives."

Lumped as a single item were 27 research projects of the National Institutes of Health, including "initiation and support of a colony of baboons." Snyder said he was not opposed to "research as such" but said some of the projects involved wasteful spending.

Snyder opposes the re-election bid of Democrat Rep. Frank Burke.

You Want And Deserve To Know

FAR, FAR MORE...

You need to know far more than the simple fact that another nuclear blast has been set off, or that there is a dispute in the United Nations, or that a building will be torn down in your city.

You want . . . and deserve to know far, far more than a flash fact. And that's the responsibility of your newspaper.

Who set off the nuclear blast? Why?

What is the cause of the U.N. dispute? What countries does it affect and how?

Is that condemned building part of an urban renewal plan? Or is it just a firetrap?

Newspapers answer those questions. They bring you continuing and detailed news coverage — not just oversimplified, factual statements, but background information and diverse opinions of competent observers.

Family Gets Education

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP)—A dream has come true for Queen Esther Patton, a Dothan woman whose grit and determination paid off in college degrees for herself and four children.

Mrs. Patton, wife of a packing house employe, launched her drive for higher education in 1947. "I had finished high school but I had never had any college work," she says. "I was advised to go back to school and renew myself, because I had been out for 13 years."

FIFTH WINS DEGREE
The superintendent of the city school system obtained an emergency teaching certificate for Mrs. Patton and she started the grueling process of winning a degree, teaching school and sending three daughters and a son through college.

"It was hard," she admits, "but I was determined to see my dream come true, to see my children finish school."

That dream materialized this summer when the fifth member of the family, Mildred Patton, 20, won a degree in laboratory technology at Tennessee A&I State University at Nashville. She became the first Negro to join the staff of the Metropolitan Hospital in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Patton received a B. S. degree in elementary education from Alabama State Teachers College in August, 1957, after nine exhaustive years of summer work and extension courses.

Now that the long-sought goal has been achieved, Mrs. Patton plans to ease up a bit. But with the opening of school this fall, she was back at the head of her sixth grade class at Stringer Elementary School.

Carnival On Slate At Sands

By MARIE GRAHAM

The main event on campus this week is the Halloween carnival which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 30. Every class is working hard to make their candidate the queen. Candidates and their escorts are Joyce Merrick and Ronnie Ebell, seniors; Doris Martin and Jackie Flinn, juniors; Connie Bowlin and Ray Long, sophomores; Dona Ray and Mike Grigg, freshmen; Linda Shaw and Linda Shaw and Larry Grigg, eighth grade; Sheryl Jones and Alvis Jeffcoat, seventh grade.

Grades one through six from Ackery elementary will have a costume contest with honors going to the most original costume, funniest costume, and spookiest costume. Booths were also chosen by the classes with the seniors choosing the auction and football throw; juniors—food booth; sophomores—cake walk; freshmen—basketball throw. Knott elementary has their carnival on Monday, Oct. 29, with grades one through six also competing in a costume contest.

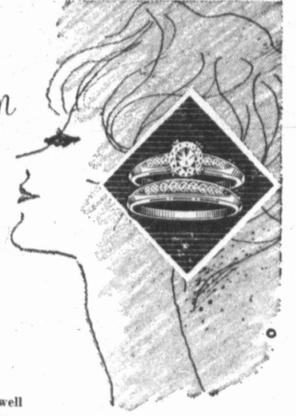

The Varsity football team traveled to Ropes Friday night to compete in their second district game of the season.

The library club decided on new books to be ordered and new rules to be set up at a meeting Monday. The third Monday night in each month will be the regular date for meetings and every member is urged to attend. Coach John Turner carried his basketball girls to Garden City Thursday night to win in 35-24 victory. Robbie Brown scored 19 points with Connie Bowlin taking the rebound against the Bearcats 12 times. It was the first game of the season for the team. Dedication of the new gymnasium, with the girls playing Forsan and the boys playing Klondike, will be held Nov. 20. Open house will follow the games.

VA AIR CONDITIONING

Ceilings Are Down, Units Are Going Up

Ceilings and walls are coming down at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital as two new 335-ton air-conditioning units

One Final Turn

R. L. Burchfield, Odessa, pipefitter working on the air conditioning installation at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, tightens up the supports for pipes installed on the seventh floor of the hospital. Two 10-inch risers are being installed from the first floor and will eventually join the two shown here. They will contain cold water for cooling.

in next year. Fred Bell Contracting Co., San Antonio, is prime contractor on the job.

Sixteen men are now engaged in installing two 10-inch pipes which will carry chilled water to every floor of the hospital. Smaller pipes will tap the main lines at each floor.

"The project is running about 3-4 per cent behind schedule," according to Homer D. White, resident engineer. "Much of the equipment has not been ordered, and once it arrives and is approved, the lost time can be made up."

Part of the delay has been caused by unexpected deviations from blueprints where alterations or work done later by the hospital staff are not shown.

The unit will be automatically controlled and will tie in with the existing heating unit. It will be a high pressure refrigerated unit with two 335-ton compressors providing the cooling.

Much of the existing ductwork will either have to be altered or replaced, White said. This will require removal of ceilings in many places. Extra precautions must be taken to prevent discomfort to patients and not to interfere with hospital operation.

"The men have done an excellent job in keeping the work area clean," James Kilgore, administrative assistant to the chief of staff, said.

The ceiling is now out on the first floor and a part of the sixth floor. A separate power source has been strung to each floor so use of power can be metered separately from hospital use.

How To Catch Snakes - By Air

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Student pilot John Smiley, 32, has found a new way to catch rattlesnakes — with an airplane.

Smiley was bringing his plane in for a landing when he spied the snake on the runway.

"Rattlesnake sighted on final approach," Smiley radioed the airfield tower. He landed and taxied the plane over the serpent, pinning it to the concrete with one wheel.

School District Draws On Educational Films

By JOE BEYER

Films as aids to education are becoming more important, according to Sebron B. Williams, assistant superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District.

"It is a way to tap another learning area—the visual," he said. "Visual aids were used successfully during World War II and they have been used more extensively since."

The Big Spring system has two film sources on which it can draw locally. It owns 280 films for use in every grade in school. The library housed at the Administrative Building contains films on art, social studies, business, guidance, health and physical education, home economics, language arts, mathematics, music and science.

SCIENCE LIBRARY

The school is joint owner, with five other schools, of a large science and physics film library housed at Howard County Junior College. It is primarily for use in secondary schools. Other partners in the library are HCJC, Coahoma, Ackerly, Forsan and Garden City.

There are 332 films in this group. In addition, films can be rented from the various producing companies.

"Keeping track of the films is no easy task," Curtis Kelley, who handles the operation, said. "Sometimes up to 40 films are out at one time and during a month about 500 are moved."

Kelley dispenses the films and then takes care of them when they are returned. This is the first year that the program has been on an efficiently coordinated basis. Requests must be made in advance. Kelley then checks his schedule for a film and notifies the school if it will be available on the date requested.

IMPORTANT

Having visual aids in the classroom at the appointed time is important, Williams said. Teachers try to work them in as a part of the normal instruction process and if a film is not on hand according to plan, a part of a class period may be wasted. Often if a film is shown late, it is not an effective aid.

Each time a film is used, it is out of circulation to others for three days. One day is needed to get the film to the proper classroom and another for its return. Then Kelley checks the film for breaks or other damage, makes the necessary repairs and gets it ready for showing by the next teacher who may request it.

The films are carried through the regular inter-school mail service. Films in the library at HCJC are scheduled before school begins. They must be used when they will be at the school or not at all. This system has worked very well to date, Williams said.

IN ADVANCE

As the libraries grow and teachers become better acquainted with them, they are learning to make their requests as far in advance as possible, Kelley said. Films are distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis and second requests are given priority.

The growth is gradual and most has taken place during the past four years. This year just over $100,000 is allocated for visual aids. However, this includes cost of projectors and other equipment and only about 40 new films will be added.

Each 15-minute strip costs about $45. Color costs twice as much. Rental fees are, about half as much as purchase, but this sometimes proves economical, especially if the film becomes obsolete quickly. Only 16 millimeter film is used here, although in other schools eight millimeter is gaining in popularity because projectors and films can be obtained cheaper.

There are many agencies which now produce educational films. The best work is done in the fields of science and social studies, Williams said. Each year coordinators at the schools screen the catalogs for films they would like to have. These are then ordered and previewed. Only those films which are still desired, or which can be bought because of financial reasons, are kept and others returned.

Many films are available free, such as those produced by oil companies.

FORMAL OPENING OF COORDINATED COLLEGE PARK SHOPPING CENTER PLANNED
Million-dollar facility has additional tenants since initial operations were begun in August

College Park Shopping Center To Hold Formal Opening This Week

Less than a year from the time plans were announced for it, the College Park Shopping Center is observing its formal opening this week.

Actually, many of the stores and shops in the giant center at East Fourth and Birdwell Lane have been in operation since Aug. 7. Activities are being coordinated this week to include the original businesses as well as those which have subsequently opened their doors, according to John M. Little Jr., vice president of College Park Shopping Center, Inc.

OBSERVANCE

Ten establishments are joining in the observance which has been set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They are Safeway Store, Lewis 5 & 10, W. T. Grant Department Store, Pittsburgh Paint Center, Dr. Cauley & Dr. Smith, Optometrists, College Park Barber Shop, College Park Cleaners, College Park Drugs, Modesta's Gift Shop, and the new Phillips Petroleum Company super-service station.

This million-dollar project is the city's only master plan shopping facility, having been designed for its specific purposes from the start by Latham White & Associates of Dallas. Actually, planning began many years ago when Forest & Cotton, engineers, developed a master plan for the development of the College Park subdivision in eastern Big Spring.

Included in the coordinated shopping facility are 104,000 square feet of floor space. The entire project is spread over 15 1/2 acres, including expanses of paved parking area.

1,000 CARS

When fully developed, the parking areas will accommodate 777 customer automobiles. At the rear, another 191 employee and operator cars may be parked, running the total parking allotment to approximately a thousand cars.

At the rear of the building is a tremendous amount of 8-inch concrete driveway for store servicing. At least two stores have docks for packet loading and unloading.

Basic design of the center is in L shape with the long portion of the L lying on an east-west axis in the south portion of the tract. Anchoring the west end is the Safeway Store, the biggest single unit in the building. At the east end and serving as the pivot to the other portion of the L is a covered mall, a haven for shoppers who want to relax and rest.

The front of the entire project has a canopy set on 10-foot centers, with every other one of the supports serving as a downspout. Recessed light in the canopy is slightly less candlepower than the store lights, permitting a clear and glareless view into stores and yet affording a feeling of already being in the store. Sidewalks are of ramp type, and there is never more than one step, from pavement to curb, to reach the walkway.

SERVICE CENTER

At the northwest corner of the development is located the new automobile service center, which faces on both Birdwell and on Fourth (US 80). Presiding over the center is a huge neon sign. All the parking area has easy access to the streets.

With the exception of the cleaning and pressing shop, the facilities have central heating and refrigerated air conditioning. There is a sprinkler system for fire protection, and several of the firms have automatic doors. Construction is of steel and brick, backed by concrete block. The entire area has been landscaped to add to its attractiveness.

"We planned for permanency and for attractiveness," noted Little at the outset of the project, "and nothing has been stinted."

A few remaining store spaces are still under negotiation, he said.

ABC Club Members Told Of Dangers Of Narcotics

Members of the American Business Club witnessed a film concerning the dangers of narcotics addiction and heard a talk on the subject delivered by Sgt. Stan Troschka of the City Police Department at the regular luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel.

Leo Hull, assistant chief of police, and patrolman Sam Fuller were other guests of the club. The trio brought with them a display case of drugs used by addicts complete with instruments for using them.

The police officers were introduced to the group by Max Green, who had charge of the day's program.

Garland Nystel of Lubbock, district governor of the ABC, was present and gave a progress report on ABC activities in his area and revealed that efforts were starting anew to revitalize the Fort Worth club.

Nystel applauded the efforts of the Dallas affiliation of the ABC in helping Fort Worth renew its drive toward full-fledged membership with the organization.

The membership campaign party will be given at the Big Spring

Country Club starting at 8 p.m. Nov. 8, it was announced.

The team which finished in first place at the end of the membership drive will be treated to the party by other members. As of now, the group captained by Max Green has a comfortable lead in the contest which ends next Friday.

The party will be "tacky" in that everyone attending will dress in old clothes. Other activities associated with the social will be kept secret until the membership and wives arrive.

Admission fee will be $3 per couple, it was announced.

Tom Van Hoose was announced as winner of the door prize, which in actuality is an award for his wife.

Guests included Carroll Davidson, Howard Milburn, Kenneth Pace and Jim Smith.

The standings in the attendance campaign, as reported Friday, included:

Max Green's team, 251 points; Dr. Harold Smith, 208; Bill Emerson, 177; Morris Robertson, 169; Richard Hughes, 164; Guy Chapman, 121; Charles Hughes, 119; and Doyle Thomas, 87.

ONE OF NEW CYCLE MODELS ON DISPLAY
The Harley-Davidson Duo-Glide

New H-D Models On Display Here

The 1963 line of Harley-Davidson motorcycles and motor scooters features eight pleasure models, ranging in size from the Topper-H motor scooter to the Duo-Glide motorcycle with a two-cylinder, 74-cubic inch engine. Two models are on display at Cecil Thuston Motorcycle and Bicycle Shop, 908 W. Third.

Harley-Davidson's two 10-cubic inch two-stroke single-cylinder motorcycles, the Pacer and the Scat, have a new "Glide-Ride" swinging arm rear suspension. The pivoted fork of this suspension maintains proper chain adjustment throughout its travel and is controlled by two coil springs. Other changes in these two lightweight models include redesigned saddles and larger chain guards and rear fenders, plus new style handlebars.

Harley-Davidson, for 1963, again has two 15-cubic inch single-cylinder motorcycles, made at the company's plant in Italy—the Sprint and the Sprint-H. Internal improvements on the Sprint include a "beefed up" lower end bearing, lightweight racing tappets, improved oil filter, larger capacity oil pump, provision for tachometer drive, and redesigned shifter spring.

Two 55-cubic inch two-cylinder motorcycles, the Sportster H and Sportster CH, have a new third gear ratio for 1963, which gives them a closer interval between third and fourth gears for smoother, faster shifting. Both Sportsters have new kick starter pedals for 1963.

The largest, most luxurious model in the Harley-Davidson line, the 74-cubic inch Duo-Glide, has a new rear brake. The linings in the new unit are 1 1/4 inches wide and provide 40 per cent more contact area. To go with the increase in contact area, the rear wheel brake cylinder has been redesigned so that less pedal pressure is required to operate the rear brake. The rear chain guard on the Duo-Glide is larger than on previous models. There is also a new rear chain oiler.

The Topper H motor scooter retains the 165-c.c. two-stroke engine, "Scootaway" automatic transmission, fiberglass body and 12-inch wheels.

All models in the 1963 Harley-Davidson line, except the two Sprints, are available in a variety of colors.

Bar Approves Trial Amendment

AUSTIN (AP)—State Bar Association members have approved the controversial "trial de novo" constitutional amendment which will appear on the Nov. 6 ballot.

In a statewide referendum the proposed amendment was backed 4,783 to 3,932.

The amendment would allow a new trial on appeals from administrative bodies.

A Devotional For The Day

Thou givest them drink from the river of thy delights.
For with thee is the fountain of life. (Psalms 36:9-10.)
RSV.)
PRAYER: O God, grant us the strength and courage to walk in Thy way and find refreshment from the fountain of life as we go. In the Master's name we ask these things. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Does The Spoils System Work Here?

"Say," fellow said to us the other day. "About this two-party system in Texas. Most everybody says it's a good thing. 'I'm not saying it's not. Just got to wondering about one angle. Maybe you could tell me."
"Say the Republicans won the state races and took over the administrative power. Wouldn't they be expected to see that some of their staunch supporters got put in places of position? The political law of spoils hasn't been repealed, has it?"
"Could it be possible that a man like DeWitt Greer, State Highway Engineer, could be forced out by political expediency? Greer, you know, is a man who has dedicated virtually his whole professional life to the highway system in Texas and the state has built some 40,000 miles without the slightest hint of scandal. There's not many public engineers in the nation any better? What happens to him under the so-called two-party condition?"

"Take Homer Garrison. Not a highly regarded state law enforcement officer in the country. He has served under the one-party system, with political appointments responsible for his job. Would somebody who wanted to be chief of the Department of Public Safety push Garrison out?"
"Dr. J. W. Edgar, a reputable man in the Department of Education; John Winters, directing the Department of Public Welfare—would workers for the new regime have to be rewarded with these jobs? Is this necessarily a good thing?"
"What do you think would happen to outstanding public servants like these? Can you tell me what would happen under this two-party arrangement?"
We couldn't tell him.

Out Of Bounds

There is a thin, nebulous line between what is said to be "arty" or daring and what is downright sensual and pornographic. What is one man's cup may be another man's poison, and what is one person's protection may be censorship of another.

Yet when publications become so deliberately provocative, so manifestly obscene and vulgar, so crudely designed to inflame sexual desires, then that nebulous line has clearly been crossed.

While we shy from censorship, we hold no brief for publications and other graphic matter which is undeniably created to titillate the libido of the young or the warped. There is no more defense for such material than there is for indecent exposure or vulgar public displays.

Police have picked up from some stands in the city copies of magazines which would pass for a bawdy house yearbook. Besides all manner of erotic poses, these contain pitches for special books on such subjects as sexual sadism, sexual masochism, transvestition, and masochism. If nothing else, parents ought to be aware of what some people will offer for sale. Being aware, we have no doubt that most will let their feelings be known in no uncertain terms. Public opinion is still a powerful weapon.

Marquis Childs Drama In Reaching A Decision

WASHINGTON — The drama of the final hours leading up to President Kennedy's address to the nation on Monday evening was of an order such as comes only rarely when a nation and its people and its leaders are put through a supreme ordeal.

For six days the decision to be taken had been debated in the closest secrecy among the President's most trusted advisers. At times were nine or 10 men around the table, sometimes 11 or 12. The President's brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, present at almost every session, was one of the most vigorous debaters.

DURING THIS intense discussion, as one of the participants put it, everybody at one time or another disagreed with everyone else. Should the case for a blockade be taken to the United Nations and the Organization of American States before it was imposed? There were those who felt strongly that this was the proper procedure.

Others, who carried the day, argued in the language of chess that the U. N. move was already blocked and it could end only in futility and a waste of precious time. It was known that a large number of Communist bloc ships were en route to Cuba with further material for the offensive buildup that the President was prepared to document in declaring a blockade.

BUT INTENSIVE and even heated though the debate was, reports of a sharp break between hard-line and soft-line advocates is baseless, according to the participants. Such reports have been circulated, aligning the President's adviser for security affairs, McGeorge Bundy, against Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Both men say this is entirely without foundation.

As the decision for an immediate naval blockade was at last approved by the President the drama moved into another phase—ratification. On Monday afternoon first the National Security Council, then the Cabinet, and finally at 5 p. m. the Congressional leaders filed in and out of the Cabinet room.

FROM EVERY corner of the country, most of them from the rough and tumble of the hustings at the climax of a political campaign, they had been summoned to Washington. So well had the secret been kept that without exception they had no knowledge of the decision the President had taken, with all its incalculable consequences, and which two hours later he was to announce to the world.

Both Republicans and Democrats received the President's statement with quiet acceptance. Contrary to published reports, the members of the Republican opposition did not respond with a demand for even more drastic measures such as an immediate invasion of Cuba. Representative Charles Halleck, minority leader of the House, spoke up at once to tell the President he would have full support in the decision he had taken. Republicans put aside, at any rate in the hushed and foreboding atmosphere of the Cabinet room, the "I told you so" temptation.

FOR ONE of the 16 men so hastily brought to Washington this confrontation had a special element of drama. Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had been about to dedicate a fish farm experiment station at Stuttgart, Arkansas, one of the pleasant chores of a political campaign. The transition brought about by three and a half hours in an Air Force jet plane was jolting.

Cuba had been injected into Fulbright's campaign for re-election by his Republican opponent, Dr. Kenneth Jones, an orthopedic surgeon. Jones, backed in his campaign by the generous wealth of Winthrop Rockefeller, charges that it was Fulbright's advice that resulted in curtailing the Bay of Pigs operation and that this in turn led to the fiasco of April, 1961.

RIT, AS BOTH the President and the Senator sitting across from him understood, Fulbright had warned well in advance of the almost-certain failure of the Bay of Pigs operation since it would not rally the support of the Cuban people. That warning, in the form of a memorandum summarizing the Cuban situation, was handed to the President at least 10 days before the decision was reached to give the invasion limited support. While it had impressed the President and he had invited Fulbright to the final conference, the weight of the Central Intelligence Agency and the military on the other side was overwhelming.

THE FULBRIGHT memorandum might have resulted in calling off the attempt or it might have persuaded the President to give all-out American support to an invasion which could never under the circumstances have produced an internal uprising. In either event, the course of the Cuban tragedy would have been different.

In the solemn atmosphere of the Cabinet room, needless to say, these melancholy might-have-beens were unspoken. But with a new and uncertain chapter opening on Cuba they could hardly have been absent from the reflection of at least two of the participants.

Report From Moscow

Russians Concerned Over Clash With The U.S.

By PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP)—For the first time in a good many months people here were genuinely worried this week about the danger of a clash with America over Cuba.

Concern eased a little, however, when Premier Khrushchev snapped up the proposal of the philosopher Bertrand Russell and suggested talks with Kennedy.

FOR THE SOVIETS to be worried is not an unusual thing but normally their worries are mostly domestic. That has been true this year. Their food supplies have been bad and are getting worse. The cost of living jumped sharply upward in midsummer.

They never know fully what is going on outside their country. They are told what the government wants them to know. They have never been told in any kind of detail what the Western position is on Berlin, and with Cuba it was even worse.

TO THIS HOUR the people are dangerous for them to spout off—began suddenly voicing their worries. Why was America taking such drastic actions?

Some began to feel they were not getting the whole story.

But now the pressure is off. There will be talking instead of banging—or so it seems. And the man who changed that was Premier Khrushchev—or so it seems.

AS THE WEEK drew toward a close, that was the prevailing mood. The worry was still there, but somehow Khrushchev was in control again. Or so it seemed to the Soviets.

Despite propaganda, Premier Khrushchev was demonstrating that he continued friendly toward Americans, even if not especially toward America. He went to the Bolshoi to hear the Metropolitan basso, Jerome Hines, singing a favorite Russian song, "Boris Godunov." He had a long talk with an American businessman, William E. Knox, of Westinghouse Electric.

But a new factor is developing. The Soviet propaganda machine has been turned on full-blast against America. It always is pointed at America to some degree but there was little else this week.

AMERICANS in the embassy were told to stay off the streets so far as possible, lest some misguided Soviet create an incident.

The results of the propaganda were spotty. An American newspaperman, visiting here, found all his appointments abruptly canceled. But resident correspondents found the Soviets they knew were acting just as before, always a little reserved, and friendly. American diplomats found it the same way.

SOVIETS DON'T necessarily like Americans better than other people. They do like the way Americans live—automobiles, refrigerators, good shoes and fountain pens that work. They try to imitate Americans more than any others.

A part of the average Soviet's worry is that trouble may delay the time when he, too, can have what Americans have.

Pope John Inaugurating Fifth Year Of His Reign

By BENNET M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXII tomorrow begins the fifth year of his reign, still bidding a new image of the Papacy.

Angelo Cardinal Roncalli gave his first pontifical blessing four years ago, just after his election as the 261st Pope. Few in the world then dreamed of the changes ahead for the traditional chair of Peter and the Roman Catholic Church itself.

POPE JOHN, a short and stocky man with the robust look of his native northern Italy, plans a quiet observance for Sunday's anniversary. First of three milestones within a month. The anniversary of his coronation is a week away on Nov. 4. His 81st birthday is Nov. 25.

Since that brisk autumn day in 1958 when his fellow Cardinals chose him, Pope John has:

—Raised the number of Cardinals above the traditional 70 and thrice replenished the Sacred College until it reached 87 members.

—Issued nine encyclical letters to the world's 500 million Catholics including the monumental "Mater et Magistra" (mother and teacher) which refocused his church's social teaching.

—PSYCHOLOGICALLY prepared both Catholics and non-Catholics for a new Vatican spirit of Christian brotherhood that has already started melting an age-old icy barrier on the path to unity.

—Thrown off Papal confinement within the Vatican's walls by his ardent love of travel, whether by foot and car along Rome's rough cobblestones or by train on a historic journey across Italy.

—Called together an Ecumenical Council, first for Catholicism in 192 years, to search out and restore the pure lines of the early church.

—REVEALED a highly individual approach to the Papacy that has wiped out aloofness and caused a leading Protestant churchman to describe Pope John as "the world's No. 1 public relations man."

Pope John's human qualities, perhaps more than anything else, have endeared him to his faithful and attracted a warmth of enthusiasm from the non-Catholic world.

To Your Good Health

Many People Are Allergic To Metals

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have worn earrings for a number of years without difficulty. However now the backs of my ears break out, water, then scab over.

It is very irritating and while it will heal in a few days with a salve, the trouble repeats itself as soon as I wear earrings again. Several friends have the same trouble. —M. J. S.

This is not at all unusual. Many people are—or belatedly become— allergic to various metals, including those used for jewelry. You may be sensitive to one metal and not to another. Some experimenting may show what you can and cannot wear. Nickel, chrome plating and some other metals cause much trouble; silver and gold may cause less.

Another possible answer—aside from not wearing jewelry—is to have it lacquered so the metal can't touch you. I don't guarantee results, but sometimes this works.

Dear Dr. Molner: Enclosed is an ad for a "bunion bandage." At my age (56) I have had bunions as long as I can remember. Would this contrivance gradually restore my big toe to normal position? —D. K.

I'd say that perhaps the gadget could "restore your big toe to normal position" in another fifty years.

It is futile to expect some patent gadget to correct, quickly, a trouble that has been developing for decades. The best way to get relief is to go to a specialist, accept his judgment as to what is and isn't possible at this stage of the bunion, and follow his advice. His reputation depends on the number of people for whom he can give real help. He may have to charge you as much for an examination as you would spend for some gadget or other. You may have to go to him for a number of visits.

He may (in the case of bunions) tell you to get special shoes, or he may say foot surgery is the easiest and surest way to solve a problem that has been bothering you for years.

But he wants to get results! And you want results. So go to (or have your regular doctor refer you to) an orthopedic specialist or a podiatrist. For you, the cheapest advice will be the most skilled advice.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking cortisone for arthritis but such as heart trouble and softening of the bones. I don't know how I could get along without it. Please give your advice. —Mrs. W. C.

Continue as long as you have good results and your doctor approves—for I'm sure you are taking it under your physician's instructions.

Cortisone, like any strong medication, can sometimes have bad effects as well as good ones. I do not know of any reason to think it causes heart disease. It can in some cases interfere with heart disease which already existed. It can, occasionally, cause a brittleness of bones but not a softening of them. Let your doctor do the worrying for you. Just tell him of unusual circumstances (if any) and keep on using cortisone as long as he knows it isn't doing you any harm.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Around The Rim

You Can Put It In Color

If a country boy made a trip to the city, he might work out his report by means of a coloring book.
"This is the automobile which we drive to the big city. See its size! When you drive it slowly it uses gasoline. When you drive it faster, it uses more gasoline. Color the automobile thirsty."

NOW LOOK at the long stretch of road in front of the car. We call this a highway. Much of it we call a four-lane highway, which means that you have more room to dodge from the automobiles coming toward you. Sometimes we even call it a freeway, which means you have to be careful and not be struck from behind. Color the highway inviting, but not too inviting.

You must peer real carefully, behind that culvert. See the little box? It is called a radar, and it will tell a policeman down the highway that you have been driving your automobile faster than you should. You would have slowed down, but you did not see the box. Color the box phosphorescent red, so you can see it better next time.

THE MAN in the uniform is called a highway patrolman. He is the one who tells you what the box said. He also writes a ticket which must go to another man called a judge. Better color the patrolman nice, but you may color the ticket ugly!
Now we are approaching the city. See the tall buildings? The one you are trying to get to is a hotel. It is on the wrong side of the street, or else you are going in the wrong direction on the right street, or the right direction on the wrong street.

SEE ALL the other automobiles? They are on the same street. Before you can get to the hotel, you have to dodge the other automobiles. It may not look like it, but these other automobiles have drivers. Color these drivers crazy.
"This great big room is the hotel lobby. Those people packing it like sardines are football fans. That place in the far corner is the registration desk of the hotel. This is something you cannot get to for six more hours. The people who are missing are the bellboys who you thought would handle your luggage. Color the whole scene frustrating.

NOW WE ARE going to a nice restaurant for our dinner in the city. Those people lined up in front of it are also football fans, or perhaps the same ones you saw before. All football fans tend to do the same things at the same time. If you do get into the door of the restaurant, notice the young woman who handles the ropes to keep you from getting any farther. Notice that she is not very interested whether you get in to dinner or not. Color her haughty.

NOW WE ARE TRYING to get to the stadium. All those people are football fans, and all those automobiles are being driven by football fans. They are all trying to get to the same parking lots at the same time. Color this view impossible!

But here is the football game! The little figures "way down there on the grass are the football players. All the people in the stadium seats are football fans. The reason the players look so small is that they are so far away. Color the Texas players orange, and the Oklahoma players red, but before the game is over they will all be mixed up anyway. You can color the fans maniacs, but color your own seat in the stadium sky blue, it is that far up.

THE GAME IS over, and those people who are trying to knock each other down in getting out of the stadium first are the same fans. Color half of them happy, half of them plumb wore out.
The trip to the city ends, and we are back at home. Color it real welcome and comfortable, with a touch of why-did-I-ever-leave?
—BOB WHIPKEY

Blockade Alone Is Not Enough

WASHINGTON—The United States cannot afford to wait indefinitely and may feel compelled as a matter of self-protection to bomb and destroy in the next few days all the missile bases in Cuba. A blockade alone is not sufficient.

There is no justification, it is felt here in many quarters, for taking chances with the security of the American people. Fidel Castro is a reckless and irresponsible man. He has the weapons to threaten many cities in this country. The United States already has at hand near Cuba the means of dismantling those bases. Such action can be taken in self-defense. President Kennedy said in his speech last Monday night:

"WE NO LONGER live in a world where only the actual firing of weapons represents a sufficient challenge to a nation's security to constitute maximum peril. Nuclear weapons are so destructive and ballistic missiles are so swift, that any substantially increased possibility of their use or any sudden change in their deployment may well be regarded as a definite threat to peace."

"I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventualities, and I trust that in the interest of both the Cuban people and the Soviet technicians at the sites, the hazards to all concerned of continuing this threat will be recognized."

IF ANY BOMBING occurs, the lives of the Soviet technicians may be endangered. It would be better, therefore, to warn them to withdraw, immediately. This calls for an explicit ultimatum. If, within a certain specified number of days all the missile sites are not voluntarily destroyed, the bombers of the U.S. Air Force could be ordered to do the job. It would take less than an hour's time.

The charter of the United Nations recognizes the right of any member to resist armed attack. This implies the right also to thwart an armed attack. While the United States, therefore, is going through the normal procedure of demanding preventive action by the Security Council, a veto there by the Soviets has been anticipated. This could result in independent action by the United States with or without any of its Latin-American allies. Such steps are authorized by Article 51 of the U.N. charter, which reads as follows:

"NOTHING in the present charter shall impair the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense, if an armed attack occurs against a member of the organization, until the Security Council has taken the measures necessary in order to maintain or restore international peace and security."

THE SECURITY COUNCIL can hardly take action in advance that would tie the hands of any country under attack or threatened with attack. The Council can, of course, set up machinery for mediation or for the preservation of the status quo after hostilities have been commenced.

So the United States has a right to wipe out the missile bases and to destroy the bomber aircraft in Cuba, and can then cooperate with a commission of the United Nations to determine the responsibility for the original deposit of Soviet weapons and nuclear bombs in Cuba and the erection of missile bases equipped for offensive action.

THE SITUATION cannot be allowed to drift. Action by the United States may be expected if Cuba doesn't voluntarily dismantle the bases immediately and allow observers from the U.N. to inspect and decide for themselves if the threat to peace has actually been removed.

WASHINGTON—Three of us who recently reported our findings at Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba came away with these impressions from the base commander, Rear Admiral O'Donnell and his officers—impressions that are pertinent to President Kennedy's national broadcast of October 22nd:

1. When the 2500 military dependents, wives and children of the Marine Corps personnel, are evacuated—that will be the signal of warlike action.

2. WHEN THE President decides to reinforce the very small garrison at Gitmo, numbering hardly 4,000 effectives against at least three times that number of surrounding Reds—that will indicate the President's fighting determination which, up to that time, has been wholly unknown and therefore suspect.

We three traveled to Cuba on a Marine transport, lived together in a vacant house, pooled our ideas and returned together to the American mainland, so that I feel I am giving a consensus of other opinions as well as my own. Admiral O'Donnell was more than circumspect, as were his officers; but the two above-cited points could not be mistaken as the salient ones. Now that President Kennedy has ordered both the evacuation and the re-enforcement, war in Cuba seems a logical imperative. That is what the Marines and other Navy forces are now there for.

NEXT, THERE IS the tactical imperative of widening our cramped, 41 square miles of beachhead in Cuba. It is militarily necessary for the American forces to break out of this potential death-trap, where every object is known to the enemy, where there is no depth to maneuver, no elevation from which to mount artillery. Gitmo faces the sea, but its back is just about bare to enemy assaults.

PERHAPS BEFORE this article sees print, the President will have done—should have done—his duty by the Marine garrison and by the nation. By not later than Election Day, since that is a convenient date in American minds, the President should have given his country its first taste of victory in oh so many years, and our forces should be in effective control of the area of Oriente Province, which leans upon, and threatens, the Naval base.

Holmes Alexander

A Decision On Cuba

Some other day will do to question the timing and the insufficiency of the President's October 22nd broadcast. It followed a week in which he and his State Department spokesmen shamelessly tranquilized 400 visiting newsmen and editors about the Cuban Crisis, and sought to divert their attention to Berlin. The panic button was pushed while the President was away from his desk, and had been intermittently away, on the campaign trails.

THE INFORMATION Mr. Kennedy gave in his broadcast had been available for some time. It is inconceivable that the new CIA Director, John McCone, did not know for two days before the President spoke that there are at least six "offensive" missile sites in Cuba, not to mention the other deadly weapons and preparations.

Regrettably, Mr. Kennedy still has the habit of leaving his country's life in the careless hands of Fate or the murderous hands of our enemies. He did this in his broadcast when he warned Khrushchev that a missile from Cuba will be treated as if it were a missile from Russia. What this does, of course, is to make it possible for a nuclear accident in the Caribbean, or some irrational missile play by a fearless madman, to set off a world war.

THE WAY FOR the American Commander-in-Chief to prevent such deadly mishaps or pranks in the Western Hemisphere is to be the "take-charge" guy himself. Shaking a finger at Castro, and calling upon Khrushchev to make Castro be good, is not what Americans have a right to expect of their President.

At the White House recently, while waiting for a non-presidential appointment, I heard one passing aide to say to another, "We've got to get this Kennedy moving again." Well, here's his hoping.

Returning Films Spark Interest In Movie Week

Greater Love Hath No Greek

One of the world's legends, that of two men whose lives immortalize the word "friendship," is brought to life on the screen in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release, "Damon and Pythias."

Guy Williams, Don Burnett and two Italian actresses, Maria Occhini and Lianna Orfei, play the leading roles in the picture, filmed in color on a wide range of locations in Italy.

Swordplay, intrigue, a game of hide-and-seek between hunted and hunter, treachery and spectacle (1,500 extras alone were used in the film's big climactic scene) all play a part in the story of "Damon and Pythias."

The setting is the state-city of Syracuse on the island of Sicily, ruled in the year 400 B.C. by Dionysius. Both Damon and Pythias have cause to fear this tyrant and his Stoeran Guardsmen—Damon because he is a robber; Pythias because he has come to Syracuse to help the philosopher Arcanos escape to Greece.

Because Arcanos teaches the philosophy that all men are brothers, no matter how born, Dionysius is determined to put him to death.

After Pythias has spared Damon's life, the two become steel-bonded friends and share a series of adventures before Pythias is caught by the Stoeran Guard and sentenced to be executed as a sacrifice to the gods.

It is now that Damon asks Dionysius to permit Pythias to return to Greece to see his wife, who is expecting a child. If he does not return to Syracuse within two months, he, Damon, will willingly die in his place.

Damon ends up hanging by his thumbs from a post set up in a huge, crowd-filled square awaiting death at the hands of a squad of archers.

In filming "Damon and Pythias," producer Sam Jaffe and director Curtis Bernhardt used locations suggesting antiquity. Among them are the famous Roman Baths of Caracalla, used as a prison set; the Grotte di Salone, ancient caves situated 30 miles from Rome; and seaside locations at Gaeta and Terracina, near Naples, used for a scene showing Pythias landing in Syracuse from Greece and a later sequence in which he is shown diving from a cliff into the sea to escape pursuing soldiers.

Miss Occhini portrays Damon's sweetheart and Miss Orfei is cast as Pythias' wife, with other leading roles played by Marina Berti as Merea, Arnoldo Foa as Dionysius, Carlo Giustino as Carlo, commander of the Stoeran Guard, and Andrea Bosic as Arcanos.

War Against The Gringos

The exploits of Joaquin Murietta, outlaw hero of California's early Spanish-speaking settlers, are the basis of 20th Century-Fox's upcoming action-drama "The Firebrand," which is due Thursday at the State Theatre.

A character in the Robin Hood tradition, Murietta actually lived during the time of California's great Gold Rush. When treasure-seeking hordes poured west into California and dispossessed its Spanish-speaking inhabitants, Murietta rose to lead his people in retaliation.

In a lawless territory the only effective defense was terror, and Murietta instituted a reign of "anti-gringo" terror that made him both the hero of the downtrodden and the most feared outlaw of his time.

The role of Murietta is played by Hollywood newcomer Valentin de Vargas, a young television actor whose physical resemblance to the famed Rudolph Valentino led to his discovery for "The Firebrand."

Screen veteran Kent Taylor portrays the head of the California Rangers, a group whose ruthless tactics equaled those of Murietta's outlaw band. Young Peruvian actress Lisa Montell plays Murietta's beautiful sweetheart and Chubby Johnson fills the role of an old sourdough whose lack of will power triggers the picture's violent climax.

They Went Where The Boys Were

A large cast of youthful new screen faces in a story combining romance, comedy and action, set against a backdrop of one of America's gayest vacation spots is the menu for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Where the Boys Are."

Where the boys are, there are the girls, and that's what this picture is about. Based on Glendon Swarthout's novel, its action revolves about the flock of college students who descend on resort colonies—in this instance, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.—during their

Quite A Pigeon

Easter vacations in search of fun, relaxation and romance. Playing lead roles are Dolores Hart as Merritt, George Hamilton as Ryder, Yvette Mimieux as Melanie, Jim Hutton as TV Thompson, Barbara Nichols as Lola, Paula Prentiss as Tuggie, and Connie Francis as Angie. Both Miss Prentiss, a tall, attractive brunette discovered on the campus of Northwestern University, and Miss Francis, one of America's top recording stars, are making their film debuts.

The action centers on Merritt, Melanie, Tuggie and Angie, who share a hotel room and who, with the exception of studious Merritt, are united in their resolve to track down male companionship. It doesn't take them long to make connections. Melanie, over-eager for her first fling at life, becomes involved with a group of supposed Yale boys.

Tuggie, eager to meet someone who can match her height, finds him in TV Thompson. Angie winds up with Basil (Frank Gorshin), who heads a group of "dialectic jazz" musicians. And even Merritt finds she cannot hold out when she meets Brown University senior Ryder Smith, who sweeps her off her feet with his sophisticated personality—plus his family's palatial villa and a luxurious cabin cruiser.

Tuggie and TV get to know each other better on the beach over potato chips and hot dogs. Merritt and Ryder share romantic interludes on ocean cruises; Angie is a rapt audience for Basil's music in some of Fort Lauderdale's night clubs. And it is at a swank restaurant that one of the hilarious episodes of the story takes place, when a high-spirited TV, fully clothed, jumps into a tank to join voluptuous Lola, star of an underwater act.

Of the girls, it is only the naive Melanie who has picked the wrong guy—a situation which comes close to tragedy. However, all turns out well by the story's end, when the boys and girls have to return to college, and for most of the young ladies it proved a good idea to go—"Where the Boys Are."

Producer Joe Pasternak and director Henry Levin took their company to Fort Lauderdale for location sequences of the CinemaScope and color picture, marking the first time a motion picture unit has filmed on the famous beach.

The picture's musical highlights include two songs by Miss Francis, "Turn on the Sunshine," and the title song, plus "Have You Met Miss Fandango?" sung by Miss Nichols.

Brando Classic Coming Back

Actor Marlon Brando and director Marlon Brando make a "team" in "One-Eyed Jacks," the Technicolor-VistaVision romantic adventure drama that returns Saturday at the Jet Theatre. The self-directed star guides his cast through an assortment of smoldering passions and explosive hatreds, set first in a sun-baked valley and later against the wild Pacific coastline near Monterey, Calif.

Brando stars in the role of Rio, a man who knows little of life beyond his private world of tension and sudden death. Karl Malden also is starred as the traitorous Dad Longworth, who causes Rio to spend five years in prison, building up a lust for revenge. When Rio escapes, he sets out to find Dad—and to kill him.

But the discovery that Dad now has a wife and a beautiful step-daughter widens his plans for vengeance and leads to the inevitable showdown, nearly consumed by the fury of their loathing.

Katy Jurado co-stars as Dad's wife Maria. Pina Pellicer, in her first film role, is the step-daughter, Louisa. The supporting cast includes Ben Johnson, Slim Pickens, Sam Gilman and Timothy Carey, with debut performances from Larry Duran and Miriam Colon.

Brando's fascination with "off-beat" types results in a peppery collection of cameo characterizations, all of which help make "One-Eyed Jacks" unique. It is a Paramount release.

One of our most popular card-based phrases is "passing the buck." In pioneer times, the dealer of a hand of poker was chosen by having a knife placed on the table in front of him. He therefore had "the buck" because knife handles were made of buckhorn. If the man preferred not to deal, he was allowed to "pass the buck" to the player at the left.

"Carte blanche" originated in the 15th Century French game of piquet, in which a hand dealt without picture cards was called "carte blanche" and scored heavily for the holder. The connotation of extra power has become the main meaning of the phrase.

But He Was No Streetcar

Miss Pellicer, 22, was an unknown actress before she played the title role in "The Diary of Anne Frank" on television in her native Mexico City.

Frank P. Rosenberg, producer of "One-Eyed Jacks," was in the Mexican capital on a talent hunt, and the film clip of Pina that he sent to Brando did the trick. The newcomer was flown to Hollywood and signed.

At first the young actress was terrified of Brando, expecting him to be a reincarnation of the ogre he played in "A Streetcar Named Desire," but after a few reassuring meetings with the star—during which he indulged in some well-timed horseplay to gain her confidence—Pina relaxed.

In her role, Pina unwittingly comes between her lover and her step-father, and creates the spark that provides the fatal explosion of spiteful vengeance between the two enemies. The story requires her to progress from innocent girlhood to sudden maturity, a difficult development for a newcomer.

A three-quarter view of George Washington will be on the new 5-cent stamp, which will be issued early next year when first-class rates increase from 4 to 5 cents. This modern, clean-lined likeness, as well as the ornate 3-cent Washington stamp issued in 1851, is based on the bust sculptured in 1785 by French artist Jean Houdon. Washington's friends said the bust was the best likeness of the first President, although Gilbert Stuart's painting is better known.

The Minkus New American Stamp Catalog, 1963 edition, is now off the press. There are over 1,700 illustrations; over 10,000 entries covering all commemora-

Strauss Regrets Dropping Bomb

HOUSTON (AP) — Seventeen years after it happened, Adm. Lewis Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, says that he still regrets the United States dropping an atomic bomb on Japan.

The admiral said if nuclear weapons had not been introduced into warfare then, perhaps atomic power never would have been considered for military purposes. "Before we dropped the bomb," the Japanese were already suing for peace, a fact we knew by intercepting messages they were sending to Russia seeking that country's intervention," Strauss asserted.

Farm Bureau Convention Set

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — An estimated 2,000 Texas farmers are expected at the Texas Farm Bureau convention here Nov. 11-14. The resolutions committee met Nov. 7 to draft tentative resolutions by the 750 voting delegates. Speakers will include Sen. John Tower, R - Tex.; Wayne Tyler, manager of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Agricultural Marketing Association; and Roger Fleming, secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Several Counties Request Mapping

Several counties in this area are included in the list of requests for mapping by the U. S. Geological Survey. The topographic maps are necessary for planning water resource projects, highways, utilities municipal developments, soil conservation work and numerous other purposes.

The Texas Mapping Advisory Committee met last week in Austin to recommend priorities to the USGS for mapping. When topographic mapping now in progress is completed, Texas will be one-half mapped, said Roland Moore, Denver, Colo., regional engineer for USGS. In contrast, he said, Russia and Siberia are completely mapped, and Yugoslavia was completely mapped as long ago as 1928. Mapping in the U. S. and in Texas is due to be gradually accelerated.

The Texas committee requested 100 new quadrangles in first priority (the Colorado River Municipal Water District had asked for two quadrangles in Coke County near Robert Lee in connection with studies for a dam site). In second priority were 103 quadrangles and in third priority were 107 quadrangles. A quadrangle is approximately 63 square miles.

According to a map released by the Texas committee, one of the quadrangles asked for Coke County is shown to be mapped and the other is not shown. There is an area on the upper reaches of the Brazos in Garza, Stonewall and Kent Counties in which the CRMWD is interested and which was given first priority in mapping.

A portion of Reagan, Glasscock and Upton Counties was given second and third priority. Quadrangles in Martin, Midland, Andrews and Howard County were assigned third priority as was one in Nolan County. Territory south of Abilene and in north Coleman County are included in 1963 fiscal year mapping plans. Other regional counties with assigned priorities include Gaines, Dawson, Sterling and Tom Green. Each year priorities are reviewed, and there is no assured progression through priority levels.
