SOME USE BOOTHS, SOME SIT AT THE TABLE
 . . . as early reports indicated a good turnout in the general election today

County Voting Starts Light, But Heavy Rush Expected Later

Voting in the seven Big Spring election precincts Tuesday morning, while generally described by judges as light, indicated the total vote for the general election would be close to 5,000.

The vote through 11:30 a.m. in the seven town boxes tallied 1,062. The potential vote in these same seven boxes, as shown by the active poll tax receipts and exemption certificates is 8,145.

Judges in the boxes anticipated a heavy rush of voters during the noon hour when workers are free from their jobs. They also expect a heavy turnout of voters after 5 p.m.

Work On Cuba Bombers Halts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed sources report the Soviet Union was still assembling jet bombers in Cuba last week but that there is evidence the work stopped after a tough U.S. warning.

Within a day or so U.S. surveillance flights are expected to show whether the Russians are withdrawing the IL-28 bombers which are capable of carrying nuclear warheads and have a 750-mile range.

The Pentagon was maintaining an almost complete blackout of news dealing with surveillance results.

Washington sources said there was some indication the work of uncrating the bombers has stopped. They said further surveillance will be necessary to show whether the Russians are withdrawing the planes under Soviet Premier Khrushchev's agreement to remove all offensive weapons from Cuba.

develop later will be the result of the last minute rush which may hit the polls after 5 p.m.

No incidents of importance had marred the election. Observers from the Republican headquarters were on duty in most of the boxes but were finding nothing to protest, according to the judges.

One minor clash developed at Park Hill School (Precinct No. 16) during the morning. D. A. Brazzel, a voter protested to M. R. Koger, the judge, when a man and his wife conferred on how to vote the ballots before them. He also objected that the booths were not used to insure a secret ballot.

Koger replied that he was responsible for the conduct of the voters. Koger said that voting in the box had been light.

Total votes in the seven city boxes at 11:30 a.m.:

- Precinct 1, North Side Fire Station, 38. Rated as light. Potential, 800.
- Precinct 2, Washington Place School, 176. Rated as light. Potential, 1,262.
- Precinct 3, Main Street Fire Station, 216. Rated as fair. Potential, 1,300.
- Precinct 4, Central Fire Station, 253. Rated as fairly heavy. Potential, 2,014.
- Precinct 8, Cedar Crest school, 118. Called a light vote. Potential 848.
- Precinct 15, Runnels Junior High School, 94. Very light. Potential, 819.
- Precinct 16, Park Hill School, 167. Fairly light. Potential, 982.

Raymond W. River Dies Here Monday

Raymond Wesley River, 59, retired funeral director and civic leader, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Monday at 8:25 p.m.

He was stricken at his home at 1509 Eleventh Place and was rushed to the Howard County Hospital where he died a short time later.

Mr. River had been in semiretirement since Jan. 1, 1959 when he disposed of part of his interest in the funeral home which bears his name and gave up its management.

He had suffered a severe heart attack in 1955 and in recent years his health had not been the best, although he did make a campaign last summer for county commissioner.

Most of his adult life had been spent as an operator of funeral homes in Missouri, New Mexico and Texas, and he owned for a short time a radio station. He was an avid sportsman, taking interest in football, baseball and raising racing stock.

UNITED FUND
 One of his keenest interests was the United Fund, which he served not only as campaign chairman but as president. Despite his years of work on the fund, he was working as hard as ever in this year's appeal.

Raymond River was born Oct. 19, 1903 in Truxton, Mo., and attended Central Wesley College in Warrenton, Mo., and embalming school at Kansas City. It was on April 13, 1924 that he was married to Miss Martha Robertson in Warrenton. She survives him as do two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Tucker, Raytown, Mo., and Mrs. Walter Howell Jr., Clovis N. M.; and three grandchildren.

Mr. River owned a funeral home at Bellflower, Mo., from 1926-33.

Large Shipment Of Polio Vaccine To Arrive Today

Sabin oral vaccine—hundreds of thousands of doses of it—was due to arrive in West Texas today, to be held under proper refrigeration until distribution Sunday, when the "Victory Over Polio" day calls for persons throughout the area to take it.

Howard and Glasscock Counties will be joining with nearly a score of other counties for the mass immunization program, designed to help prevent the spread of certain types of poliomyelitis.

Made by Wyeth Laboratories at Marietta, Penn., the vaccine was due to come into Terminal by special plane. Then proper amounts will be distributed to the various towns.

The vaccine is kept safe in dry ice, and delivered to various immunization "clinics" just a few minutes before dosages are given.

It is hoped that some 40,000 people—everyone above six weeks of age—will take the Type I vaccine Sunday.

Ten clinics will be operating from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. A doctor and registered nurse will be on hand, and the vaccine will be administered by a pharmacist.

There is no charge, and everyone is urged to take the vaccine. Donations will be accepted to help defray cost of the program.

Big Spring Jaycees are handling all non-medical portions of the program, and will have volunteers at each clinic. Members of many other clubs also will be helping.

The local National Guard unit will have men at the local clinics to help handle traffic. The American Business Club will provide free transportation to the vaccine centers for those who need it. Such persons may call the Herald office, AM 4-4331, and a car will be dispatched.

Because of surgery, Mrs. R. L. Beale will be unable to fill her duties as director of registered nurse activities in the Nov. 11 polio immunization campaign. Her place will be taken by Mrs. Fred Hyer, who already is arranging for the Sunday program. Mrs. Hyer's appointment was announced by Dr. B. Broadrick, general chairman of the program.

One important item in the immunization is being stressed by doctors. This is that an authorization card must be signed by the head of each family for all members of that family.

In order to save time at the clinics Sunday afternoon, copies of this card will be published in The Herald at the end of the week, and copies also will be distributed through the public schools. Persons are urged to complete the forms, and have them ready to present as they appear at the clinics Sunday.

Heavy Turnout In U. S. Elections

Amendments, Political Races Draw Out Texans

By The Associated Press

Generally mild weather greeted Texas voters Tuesday as they turned out in droves to cast ballots for governor and other state officers and decide the fate of 14 constitutional amendments.

A few showers fell in South Central Texas, but elsewhere the weather was dry and mild.

One of the first to vote was John Connally, Democratic candidate for governor. He was first in line at his Fort Worth precinct. He planned to fly to Austin later to await election returns.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jack Cox planned to vote during the morning in his hometown of Breckenridge.

In Dallas, long lines of voters were on hand when polling places opened at 7 a.m. In one Northeast Dallas precinct they were lined up for half a block.

Beaumont election judges reported early morning voting ran from very slowly in some boxes to heavy in others. During the first hour, 1,786 votes had been cast in Beaumont's 28 precincts. County Clerk Fred Hill said he considered this good.

Hill said that since the election fell on a work day "we can expect a good deal of voting early and late, especially after people get off from work."

The American - Statesman at Austin reported heaviest early voting ever in an off-year election. A number of boxes had voters standing in line when the polls opened. County Clerk Emile Limberg predicted a record turnout of 45,000 of the 60,238 eligible voters in Austin and Travis County.

From Alice came reports that early voting was slightly above average for an off-year election. Election judges were checking one incident at a polling place in San Diego, Duval County. Two Republican supervisors reportedly were denied the privilege of carrying out their assigned duties.

One of the bitter local races in Duval County is between Republican E. E. Dunlap and Democratic incumbent Archer Parr for county judge. Archer Parr is a nephew of George Parr, longtime political boss of Duval County.

Upon petition of the Republicans, ballots of both Duval and Jim Wells counties are to be impounded after the polling places close at 7 p.m. The Duval County ballots will be taken to the vault of a Corpus Christi bank and those of Jim Wells to the county jail.

Normal to heavy voting was reported in Fort Worth, John Connally's home. An election judge at one precinct said the turnout was about 50 per cent ahead of other recent elections.

From Houston came reports of a heavy turnout of voters in popular Harris County.

Election judges said most of the voters were having little trouble with the long general ballot that, in Houston, included a school board election and a special referendum on a proposed zoning ordinance.

Harris County Clerk R. E. Turentine predicted a turnout of 165,000, but other officials thought this estimate might be conservative.

Heavy voting was reported at Tyler, in East Texas. Smith County reported more than 1,000 absentee ballots, five times above normal.

Corpus Christi reported steady voting in Nueces County. Officials said that by 10 a.m. more than 10 per cent of the county's 50,000 eligible voters had voted.

Voting was reported brisk at San Angelo.

Governors, Congress On Scales

WASHINGTON (AP)—American voters turned out in heavy numbers in key states today to cast ballots in elections deciding the make up of Congress for the next two years and picking governors in 35 states.

The balloting through the forenoon indicated advance predictions of a record off-year total of more than 50 million votes would be realized. With few exceptions, the weather was good countrywide.

India Planning To Return Units Now With U.N.

NEW DELHI (AP)—India plans to bring home its U.N. forces to battle the Chinese Communist invaders, a Foreign Office spokesman announced today.

Indian villagers will also be laught to shoot in the government's hard-pressed efforts to stem a Chinese drive that has overrun 2,000 square miles of borderland and thrust one spearhead into undisputed Indian territory.

India has troops with U.N. forces in both the Congo and the Middle East.

The spokesman indicated that withdrawal of India's well-seasoned brigade of 5,700 men from the U.N. Congo force may still be some time in the future, however.

He said India hopes to pull out this contingent as soon as an agreement is reached between the Congolese central government and secessionist Katanga Province. The two sides still seem far apart on Congo unity.

The spokesman did not say how soon the 1,250-man force serving in Gaza would come home.

He said plans for the withdrawal of the Indians, the largest contingents in both U.N. forces, had been brought to the attention of Acting U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

Griding for grass-roots resistance, Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said rifle training will be given to every able bodied person in mountain areas facing Red China. Later they will be equipped with small arms.

Usually reliable sources reported the Chinese have occupied an abandoned Indian military base that controls northern Ladakh, endangering the entire Indian position on the western front.

This meant that for the first time in the border conflict, the Chinese have established their army in a part of India which the Peiping government did not claim previously.

United Fund Is Still Far Behind

A few workers continued to report their cards at United Fund headquarters, but the campaign was still far behind this morning. The latest count indicated $88,459 now in hand, some $15,000 short of the goal.

Jack Y. Smith, campaign co-chairman, urged workers to work and report their cards.

"Time is running out," he reminded this morning. "We would like to have reports on every outstanding card by Friday. If these cards are not in by then, chances are we will not make our budget."

Smith pointed out that the 13 welfare and youth guidance agencies must have their allotted budgets if they are to operate at full efficiency during the coming year. "These agencies are depending on the volunteers who agreed to make contacts," he said. "Let's not let them down."

There was also a brighter side to the UF report today. The School Division, headed by Sam Anderson, was the first division to meet its quota. This division includes the teachers and instructors in the public schools and Howard County Junior College. The count this morning had this division more than $100 above its quota and there were still some cards to be reported.

The Webb AFB Division is still pushing toward its goal which this morning's report indicated is not far away. All divisions, except the Organized Labor Division, has passed the 50 per cent mark and several are just a breath away from success.

Leaders are encouraging workers to wrap up the campaign by Friday.

Despite varying efforts here and there to develop such issues as the "New Frontier" and Cuba, voter interest appeared to be focused more on personalities than issues. There were such questions as these wrapped up in the ballot counting still ahead:

Could Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York win re-election and do it by a margin sufficient to enhance his luster as a potential Republican Presidential nominee? He was opposed by Democrat Robert M. Morgenthau.

How about George M. Romney's bid to become the first Republican governor of Michigan in 14 years. Could he make it against Gov. John B. Swainson, Democrat?

Would Richard M. Nixon, the former Republican vice president, succeed in ousting Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown as governor of California?

Could William Scranton regain Pennsylvania for the Republicans in a contest with Richardson Dilworth for governor?

HIGH IN STABLE
 Republican winners in any of these contests would be high in their party's stable of presidential possibilities come 1964.

Among Senate races of exceptional national interest were the

First Over The Top
 The School Division of the United Fund campaign was the first to reach its goal Monday. Here, Sam Anderson turns in his report to Joy Kinsey, headquarters secretary, while Campaign Chairman Lee O. Rogers congratulates Anderson on the performance of his division. Although one of the last divisions to begin its drive, public school teachers and instructors at Howard County Junior College were the first to more than match the quota they accepted to lead help to 13 local welfare organizations.

HOLLYWOOD — "Singers are usually healthier than other people because they have learned the value of breath," Carla Alberghetti declared. "When you don't use your lungs properly, you can't get your share of oxygen. Some people go full day after day without taking a full, deep breath. Like this," Carla said, expanding her ribcage several inches and exhaling slowly.

Trying To Convince

The kind letter of criticism continues, "In answering the tract, I am not necessarily trying to convince you that what you believe is wrong. I am merely saying that I do not believe all that I read in the tract that you sent me. I do not personally know that you believe all that is contained in the tract, but assume that you do since you sent it."

Party Is Held For Rathbone

A supper party was held last evening by Dr. and Mrs. Ed Swift at their home, 603 Edwards Blvd. The informal buffet supper, honoring Basil Rathbone, followed his performance at the city auditorium. Also, it was for the purpose of introducing him to the invited guests, members of the Concert Association board, patrons and their wives.

Parties Are Concluded For The Ross Simpsons

Concluding a series of parties in honor of Maj. and Mrs. Ross Simpson, three were given during the weekend. At Webb Air Force Base, Friday evening, a pizza party, was given by Dr. and Mrs. Jerry Wisinger at their home, 32-B Albrook.

Also at Webb, the Air Base Group was host to the Simpsons Saturday night, when a dinner party was held in the drawing room of the Officers Club. Wives of Air Base Group presented a Texas charm, encased in a snowball, to Mrs. Simpson. The evening was completed with after-dinner dancing in the ballroom.

'ROUND TOWN With LUCILLE PICKLE

Friendly people have more fun than anyone and certainly get a great more out of living than those who are not turned that way and have no inclination to change.

One of Big Spring's most amicable residents and biggest boosters for her adopted town is MRS. E. H. WILSON who with her husband makes a home at 1209 Johnson Street and have been in business in Big Spring since 1934.

They have as their guest for the past week a friend, MRS. MARION VANNOY, who returned to her home in Pensacola, Fla., Sunday morning.

During Mrs. Vannoy's visit she also was the luncheon guest of other friends, the C. E. SHIVES. While she was visiting the Shives, Mrs. Vannoy was finishing up some work at the business and came across a couple, one of whom had become stuck on a piece of chewing gum. She sympathized with the unfortunate victim and fell into conversation with them. She learned they were MR. and MRS. HAROLD LEWIS of Cottesloe, W. Australia, one of the Australian towns who turned on their lights for Astro-naut John Glenn the couple was making a bus tour of the United States, something which they have looked forward to since the end of WW II. A teacher, Mr. Lewis had received a six months leave of absence from his duties and the couple set out to see what they could see. Coming here from "Waco," (Waco) they had stopped at a local hotel which had neither "telly" or wireless which was disappointing; nevertheless they were going in search of a good "bullet," that's steak in Texas which is what they wanted.

Friendly Mrs. Wilson decided they weren't going to see much of the town whose name so captivated them, and as she had planned to take Mrs. Vannoy on a tour of the city and surrounding area which she hadn't seen for 21 years, she invited the Australians to join her.

They were delighted, and I suppose somewhat surprised at such outright kindness, and promptly joined the party. That was only the beginning for when they got to the Shives' home they were invited in for a taste of good old Texas style cooked black-eye peas with a side dish of chow chow. During the tour they saw the site of the original Big Spring, and when they expressed a desire to see a real ranch and cowboy, Mrs. Wilson couldn't come up with that on the spur of the moment but on the drive out Wason road they did see a pint-sized Tex as cowboy dressed to the hilt in his play regalia. So he was pointed out to the tourists who were told that they had now seen a Texas cowboy, but they didn't need to mention that particular one hadn't got much over three feet tall.

It's not likely the Lewises will forget Mrs. Wilson or Big Spring, and the remembrances are bound to be pleasant ones.

MR. and MRS. DON GREEN and son, Donnie, spent the week-end in Austin as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Blount. They also attended the Texas-SMU football game.

MR. and MRS. JACK I. DAVIS, 1610 Osage, and his mother, Mrs. A. J. Davis who is visiting here from Houston, spent the weekend in Ruidoso, N. M.

The unveiling of the historical marker Saturday seemed like a small version of the Howard County Old Settlers Reunion. Just to name a few of the many on hand: Mrs. E. H. HAPPEL, MR. and MRS. MORGAN MARTIN, MRS. W. E. CARNRIKE, MRS. G. E. FLEEMAN, JOE HAYDEN, MR. and MRS. HUBERT STIPP, MR. and MRS. BART WILKINSON, MRS. DOROTHY EDWARDS, EARL READ, ALBERT RUTHERFORD, LOUIS SKALICKY, WATT EASON, A. M. RIPPES, RUFUS MILLER, JESS SLAUGHTER, KATHERINE HOGAN, MRS. HAROLD HOGAN, and many others.

It takes someone with the fine reading ability of a BASIL RATHBONE to make me want to bring out the Shakespeare volume and have another go at his sonnets and try again to get through the plays in their entirety. Of course, even an unartistic soul could read to himself Elizabeth Browning's sonnet read by Mr. Rathbone last night and feel pretty much the only one in someone's life.

At the after-the-show buffet hosted by DR. and MRS. E. V. SWIFT in their home, all were glad to know Mr. Rathbone and he was charm itself. One of the delights of his evening was in partaking of the delicious homebaked bread that no one makes like Mrs. Swift. He told me that it was a treat he didn't often come by.

From MRS. FRED LANCASTER comes word that Mr. Lancaster has come through his lung surgery successfully Monday. The surgery was more extensive than was anticipated. He is at Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

DR. and MRS. H. M. JARRATT have returned from the General Baptist Convention in Fort Worth. He is president of District 8, State Brotherhood, and was re-elected to the executive board. Mrs. Jarratt, president of the Baptist Temple WMU, attended the WMU sessions prior to the convention, the Jarratts attended the Baylor University homecoming at Waco.

ABWA PROGRAM 'Rights Of Women' Is Talk By Judge Caton

"Rights of Women," advantages and disadvantages, was the topic discussed Monday evening when the Scenic Chapter of American Business Women's Association met.

Thirty-eight members and guests attended the dinner meeting held at the Wagon Wheel.

Featuring a Thanksgiving theme, the U-shaped table was centered with a large turkey-shaped arrangement of bronze mums. The bronze mums also formed holders for yellow tapers, flanking the centerpiece. Autumn leaves, pumpkins, ornamental gourds and partially shucked corn completed the table decorations.

A report of the ABWA National convention in Houston was made. It was stated that Scenic Chapter had received a scroll of excellence from national headquarters.

Mrs. Doris Carr presided. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, program chairman.

Concluding the evening, an installation was conducted by Mrs. Eitzen, past president, for Mrs. Milton Lewis, Mrs. Clarence Daves and Mrs. Tom Slaughter. Sponsors were Mrs. Lambert Misk, past president, and Mrs. Carr.

Mrs. Misk and Mrs. Eitzen were told that they had received diamonds for their pins as membership drive awards.

Also, it was for the purpose of introducing him to the invited guests, members of the Concert Association board, patrons and their wives.

Mr. Rathbone's one night appearance was the second in the Concert Association series. The next date is Feb. 15, when the First Piano Quartet will be heard.

Mrs. Bagwell Is Honoree For A Tea

An afternoon tea was given as a farewell gesture, honoring Mrs. J. C. Bagwell who will leave soon to make her home in Goodman, Mo., with her son and daughter-in-law, the Don Bagwells.

Held in the home of Mrs. Jack Reed, 1305 Nolan, Sunday, the tea was given with Mrs. A. E. Reed, Mrs. J. M. Peurifoy and Mrs. J. W. Shaw, cohostesses.

Thirty-three guests were served from a damask covered table, appointed with crystal and centered with a pastel arrangement of flowers. Mrs. A. E. Reed presided at the punch bowl.

During the afternoon gifts were presented to the honoree.

Bishop's Life Is Topic Of Talk For Guild

A story of Bishop Peter Trimble Roe, first Episcopal bishop to Alaska, was told by Mrs. Bill Currie in presenting the program for St. Mary's Episcopal Guild, Monday at the Parish House.

The meeting was opened with the Prayer of Women of the Church, by Mrs. Ray Boren, and a devotion on "Faith," by Mrs. Jess Wilbanks.

In telling of Bishop Roe, Mrs. Currie said that he went to Alaska in the year 1855. The hardships he endured and the rugged country were described; she told of his ministering to the Indians, Eskimos and the prospectors, telling them of the Gospel. In Alaska for 42 years, Bishop Roe died in 1942.

After the closing prayer by the Rev. Donald Hungerford, Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow served refreshments to 17 members.

Legislation Subject For Talk

Judge Ed Carpenter was the guest speaker for the Texas Association of Accredited Beauty Culturists, Unit 24, Monday night at Childer's Beauty School.

Carpenter read proposed legislation regarding the Texas Beauty Culture Law and explained how it would effect members of the profession. According to Mrs. S. B. Faulkenberry, Carpenter will represent the local group in Austin when the bill is presented before the legislature.

New officers were elected as follows: Jerry Lee, president; Tyson Dees, vice president; Mrs. Raymond Early, second vice president; Mrs. Glynn Gibson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Fred McGowan, director; Mrs. S. B. Faulkenberry, historian; and Mrs. John Polone, style director.

HD Club Sees Film On Food

Mrs. James Eiland, Home Demonstration agent, showed films explaining basic food needs in the Lees Home Demonstration Club Monday afternoon.

Roll call was answered with Bible quotations using the word, "thanks." Christmas gifts that could be made at home were suggested by each member.

Mrs. A. J. Overton will be hostess for the Christmas party at the club house on December 3.

Behind Each Candidate Are Female Relatives

NEW YORK (AP) — Behind every man who wins election today—for that matter, behind every candidate who loses—stand more than just a steady spouse and assorted loyal female relatives.

In his behalf dozens, often hundreds, of public-spirited women spent their last ounce of energy ringing doorbells, telephoning vast lists of voters, stuffing envelopes, haranguing groups of all sizes, sexes and sympathies.

Each election apparently brings out more women volunteers than the last. Why this burgeoning interest in behind-the-scenes service?

"Everything that happens locally or nationally is a woman," says Mae G. vice chairman of New York State Democratic Committee. "Anything to do with budgets, schools, children, unemployment affect her and her family. She volunteers from a practical need."

Husbands have less time for active work," is the explanation of Mrs. John Brittain Pendergrast Jr. in Atlanta, "so the responsibility falls on women."

Mrs. Pendergrast, president of her county branch of the Republican State Club, adds a personal reason: "I have seven children and, therefore, quite a stake in the future. I want things as good as can be for them."

With a good-natured swat at the male politico, Mrs. Darcie L. Cage, vice chairman of the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee, says:

"In general women are more idealistic than men. Women enter politics more unselfishly. When a man gets active it's usually to run for the central committee, raise money or help the organization, often with an eye to getting himself elected to some office. Women are more interested in good government."

Although the majority of women volunteer when the excitement is running high before an election, there are ever-larger groups who work the year-round, conducting

Seven States May Tip Off Vote Results

By The Associated Press
Because of their political history and their early vote-counting, seven states may provide an early tipoff tonight on which way the election is going.

Those seeking early trends will be keeping close watch on gubernatorial contests in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania; U.S. Senate races in Connecticut and Maryland, and key House tests in Connecticut, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Kansas, North Carolina, Massachusetts and New York.

A GOP family spat in normally Republican New Hampshire has given Democrats there a chance for the governorship. Their nominee, John W. King, is running with the backing of Republican Gov. Wesley Powell, who lost to John Pillsbury in his primary bid for the GOP nomination.

OUSTER SOUGHT
Rhode Island Republicans hope to oust a Democrat from the statehouse. John H. Chafee is the Republican candidate against Gov. John A. Notte.

In three big states Republicans are locked in tight races for governors' chairs now held by Democrats.

In Michigan George Romney, former auto manufacturer and a newcomer to politics, challenged John B. Swanson.

In Pennsylvania Rep. William W. Scranton quit Congress to oppose Richardson Dilworth, former mayor of Philadelphia.

In Ohio State Auditor James A. Rhodes battled Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

Victories by Scranton and Romney might project them into the 1964 Republican presidential nomination picture.

Senate victories in Connecticut and Maryland could strengthen the Democrats' control of the Senate.

Daniel B. Brewster, Democratic representative, and Edward T. Miller, Republican ex-representative, are jousting for the Maryland seat being vacated by John Marshall Butler, Republican.

CONTENDERS
Retirement of another Republican senator—Prescott Bush—has spurred Democrats' hopes in Connecticut. The contenders are Abraham Ribicoff, Democrat and former secretary of welfare, and Horace Seely-Brown Jr., Republican House veteran.

Five of the six House seats in Connecticut were decided by less than 5 per cent of the vote in 1960. Republicans are counting on a gain or two, and so are the Democrats, who now hold four of the seats.

Redistricting has tossed incumbent Democrats and Republicans at each other's throats in the West Virginia 1st, the Pennsylvania 6th, the Illinois 20th, Kansas 1st, North Carolina 8th, Massachusetts 5th, and New York 24th.

53 Candidates Are Shoo-Ins: No Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The elections posed no problems today for 53 candidates—two running for governor, one for the U.S. Senate and 50 for the House of Representatives. All Democrats except one, they are without opposition.

In addition, the Democrats apparently are assured of at least six more House seats, five in Alabama and one in Tennessee. Their candidate for governor in Alabama has only minor party opposition.

In Alabama, eight incumbent Democrats and three nominated Republicans are contesting in a statewide race for eight House seats. All are running at large because of a redistricting problem. The Republicans have suggested five write-ins to round out their ticket.

In Tennessee, two Democrats who battled to an inconclusive result in the primary have squared off for another try, with no Republican in the field.

The only Republican among the 53 unopposed candidates is Rep. Eugene Siler of Kentucky. He has represented the mountainous, southeast Kentucky area for four House terms and the Democrats are not contesting his re-election. The governorships the Democrats can claim without contest are in Georgia and South Carolina, where Carl E. Sanders and Donald Russell, respectively, are the only candidates. In Alabama, Democrat George C. Wallace is opposed by an independent, Frank P. Walls.

The lone senator without opposition in his bid for re-election is Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia.

Will The Voters Lodge Kennedy In The Senate?

BOSTON (AP)—More than two million Massachusetts voters, a record for a non-presidential year, are expected to turn out today to answer a hot political question:

Should Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, 30, be sent to Washington to give advice and consent to his older brother, President John F. Kennedy, from a seat in the U.S. Senate?

Indications are the answer will be yes.

Ted is a heavy favorite to defeat Republican George Cabot Lodge in the race for the Senate seat that has been held by either a Kennedy or a Lodge for 45 of the last 69 years.

The winner will serve the remaining two years of a term begun in 1959 by the President, who wrested the seat in 1962 from George's father, former U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

President Kennedy flew into Boston Monday night to cast a vote for his brother—and, by his presence, give a psychological lift to Ted and the rest of the Democratic state ticket.

The President planned to depart for Washington shortly after voting in the basement of the Joy

Breezeway window goes down—Mercury sales go up...up!

WHY DOES THIS BREEZEWAY REAR WINDOW help sell so many Mercury Montereys? This is styling that works! The recessed rear window stays clearer in rain or snow. It opens for controlled Flo-Thru ventilation. More wind, traffic noise and weather are shut out because the side windows can stay closed. The rear-window angle cuts glare, aids rear visibility. The extended Breezeway roof adds rear-seat headroom, shades passengers from the sun. See how practical elegance can be!

Now that general election day is past, perhaps we can direct full attention to the business of pushing our United Fund campaign to its goal.

Around The Rim When Reason Went Out The Window

Election day reminds me of a sordid spectacle I once sat through, keenly aware of its gross violation of human rights and yet utterly helpless to intervene.

a scheduled date to make certain their registrations were "valid." A list of the registrants concerned was published. The bulk of these were Negroes; the others were notoriously outspoken anti-Kluxers.

It was in the time when that horrible movement known as the Ku Klux Klan was in its heyday. The county where I lived was completely dominated by the Klan. Indeed, you could not even find a job, very often, unless you were able to show your prospective employer a current, paid-up membership card in the Klan.

ON THE DAY OF the hearing, the "judge" took his seat on the bench. A staff of Ku Klux dominated officials, ranging from the sheriff down to the bailiff of the court, was on hand.

I DON'T SUPPOSE the Klan got as firm a grip on all counties as it did where I happened to live. I do know that the luckless residents of that county were shocked when they found just how their indifference had robbed them of their constitutional privileges.

The court room was filled. Bulk of those in attendance were known Klansmen; a few were defiant opponents of the Klan and there were even a handful of Negroes jammed at the back of the room.

It was getting around toward election time. The registration system was used in the qualification of voters—all an elector had to do was appear before a precinct registrar, prove his age, his tenure of residence in the county, state and precinct and he was enrolled as an eligible voter.

When the day ended two or three thousand citizens of the county had been deprived of their right to vote. The whole situation statewide was so corrupt there was nothing those of us opposed to the crime could do.

THERE HAD BEEN a mild undercurrent of resentment toward the Klan in many development and a considerable number of residents had managed to register themselves. A lot of these were Negroes. The county had a sizeable Negro population, and the Negroes had been the target for much Klan intimidation and persecution.

THAT ELECTION, of course, went to the Klan candidates.

The Klan leaders became afraid that these anti-Kluxers might poll a dangerous vote on election day. Something had to be done.

But later there was another election and the people had regained their common sense. And the Klan office holders were thrown out.

A special "judge" was appointed and a formal sounding notice issued that certain registered electors must appear on

It is an interesting sidelight to add that a year or two later, the same fellow who had sat as a judge over the citizenship rights of his fellows was revealed as an alien in this country illegally.

Inez Robb So, A Computer Can Read Women?

Virginia, you want to know what length skirts will be next spring? Fred, you like to find out what damfino thing your wife will be wearing, come summer?

plained the other day during a flying trip to New York in a maroon Rolls Royce. First, you get together enough data to choke a tractor—data about the colors, styles, fabrics and other fashion caprices that women have favored (i. e., bought like crazy) during the current season.

YES, VIRGINIA, there are electronic brains in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that are now in the business of fashion forecasting, and never mind Givenchy, Mollie Parnis, Mainbocher, Vera Maxwell, Estevez, Pauline Trigere or Bill Blass.

Next, all this data is fed into IBM machines, where it goes round and round and comes out a fashion forecast. The machines have already told Pomerantz that women during the coming season will favor (i. e., buy like crazy) dresses with frank sex appeal, more definite fit, more curves, sleeves, lower necklines, subdued glitter, the long look, military touches such as sailor collars and brass buttons, stoles, scarves, jackets, dresses, and more knitted fabrics.

There is this optimist, Fred Pomerantz, in Wilkes-Barre. Eighteen years ago he started the Leslie Fay Company, one of the largest manufacturers of medium-priced clothes for women, with headquarters in Wilkes-Barre.

Such is Pomerantz's faith in the oracular power of his Delphic machines that his factories are now going full tilt in the manufacture of spring clothes to the above specifications. Even the garment industry's long-held conviction that the color green is fashion poison does not shake Pomerantz's belief in his electronic sibyls.

Then the egg broke about a month later. The United States discovered the Russians were building Cuban missile bases which weren't defensive. President Kennedy warned the Russians to break up the bases and get the missiles out, and the Russians, who had lied about the missiles right up to the last, backed down in the face of a possible American attack on Cuba and began demolishing the bases.

If it should develop that Pomerantz has made via his automated forecasts, the garment industry could become one of the world's biggest customers of electronic brains. Seventh Avenue is watching this contest between men and machines.

All of which brings the story back—in very ominous fashion—to what looked on Sept. 13 like a very decent Soviet gesture in offering to delay a Berlin settlement until after Election Day.

BUT IT OUGHT to keep its eye on women vs. machines. There is nothing like a dame. It only takes one chic woman to launch a few fashion and throw Seventh Avenue into turmoil. A gorilla can still lick the best man alive. And deponent is convinced that any woman can still make a monkey out of a machine.

BY DELAYING the showdown until sometime later in November or December — provided Cuban bases hadn't been discovered—the Russians would have had time to get their missiles in place and cocked toward America.

There are two reasons. The President now has proved that in a duel of nerves he can force Big K to back away. But for more important, as the State Department sees it, is the opinion that the overthrow of Khrushchev would bring a more war-minded leader to power.

Then, in a showdown on Berlin later this year if the United States still balked at a settlement, Premier Khrushchev could have unveiled the plot he had been cooking up with missiles right against the American temple.

Holmes Alexander After The Crisis

WASHINGTON — However today's elections turn out, there is one politician President Kennedy hopes will remain in office—that's Nikita Khrushchev.

Strangely, Mr. Kennedy, in scowling Khrushchev into a diplomatic retreat, and scoring a welcome win for our side, still has not subdued the lesser figure of Fidel Castro and has not improved the American position from what it became with the Bay of Pigs. Into this office during the tensest moments of the Kennedy-Khrushchev confrontation came a phone call from Puerto Rico, where a Cuban refugee was urging me to blow a bugle for invasion of Cuba.

There are two reasons. The President now has proved that in a duel of nerves he can force Big K to back away. But for more important, as the State Department sees it, is the opinion that the overthrow of Khrushchev would bring a more war-minded leader to power.

THE UNITED STATES must not wait even another 15 days," declared my caller, a food broker who travels continuously around the Caribbean. "The President now has every Latin American leader and practically all the Latin American people cheering for him. But if he doesn't invade, he will let them down. There may never come a better chance to throw communism out of the Western Hemisphere."

CUBA MAY NOT mean much to Soviet Russia as a piece of real estate, but the symbol of Cuba, the memory of the big back-down there, does great damage to Russia's image throughout the Communist and neutral worlds. Were Khrushchev to be toppled from power, his successor would almost certainly try to repair the damage by staging a Russian success. As matters stand today, Khrushchev has not only been transformed into JFK's favorite punching bag, but into a peacemaker. Mr. Kennedy hopes he won't go away.

For several glorious days, John F. Kennedy has been what he never was before, and what every American President should be—the undisputed Free World leader and the most powerful personality on earth. De Gaulle has diminished, Adenauer and Macmillan have been overshadowed, and the Mr. K. who straddles the world now lives at the White House instead of the Kremlin.

THOSE WHO may go away, with little lamentation, are Mr. Kennedy's aides, who steered him wrong on Cuba and almost put us on the reefs by procrastination and pacifism. The talk is that Secretary of State Rusk, who hasn't the nerve to say boo to a Communist goose, will soon depart. If past performance means anything, Mr. Kennedy may do as he did after the Bay of Pigs disaster when he demoted Chester Bowles, replaced Allen Dulles and, in time, revamped the entire membership of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

BUT NOW LONG can the President maintain this mighty stature with unflinched business in our own side yard? Castro must go. Cuba must be occupied and reconstituted, much as we did for the Philippines. With the President's new power, comes renewed responsibility.

As to bras, again no harm. We may think it doesn't make much sense but the teen-agers want to act grown up. If your daughter can stand it, let it go at that. (Some don't wear them early enough.)

There is a good deal of internecine jealousy among White House advisers. This might be an additional reason for Arthur Schlesinger Jr. to depart. He isn't liked by JFK's intimates. The other day, one of the President's closest and oldest associates snapped at George Ball, Under Secretary of State: "When are you going to take out your American citizenship papers?" If pro-Americanism becomes a

To Your Good Health Blood Pressure Can Vary And Yet Be Normal

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: Can low blood pressure affect a person's mentality or memory? Do people who have it live longer than those with high blood pressure? — M. A. F.

Low blood pressure isn't a disease. It is just a physical finding, such as the color of your skin, your weight, or temperature.

But these are quite different from cases in which the blood pressure is low but within normal ranges.

Low blood pressure isn't a disease. It is just a physical finding, such as the color of your skin, your weight, or temperature. Too often people imply or fear that if it is a cause of this, or that another complaint.

Yes, persons with pressure in the lower normal ranges tend to live longer with excessively high pressure—although not necessarily longer than those with higher readings which remain within normal ranges.

As to bras, again no harm. We may think it doesn't make much sense but the teen-agers want to act grown up. If your daughter can stand it, let it go at that. (Some don't wear them early enough.)

Blood pressure can vary rather widely and still be normal. We can (and do) find an average for a given age level, but everybody can't be average, some are higher and others lower—yet normal.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 18, has Bell's Palsy. We have never heard of this before. He is making good progress with therapy. Are there aftereffects? — Mrs. M. E.

Bell's Palsy is the name applied to neuritis in a branch of the nerve in the face. Causes vary from infection to exposure to drafts to injury, to various forms of intoxication.

Temperament can affect it. An easy-going, phlegmatic, perhaps slightly-built person will be on the low side; a nervous active person on the high side.

Dear Dr. Molner: Don't you think some of the teen-agers dress fads can be really harmful? Aren't the youngsters inviting future trouble by the shoes they insist upon wearing? Also is it advisable for girls to wear bras all the time? My daughter certainly does not need support and I can't understand why she doesn't welcome a chance to get out of restraining clothing as soon as she gets home from school. — M. Y.

As long as the young man is making good progress, complete regeneration of the nerve without after effects, is quite likely.

True, unduly low pressure can reflect certain disease states: Infection, debilitating ailments, low thyroid or adrenal activity. There is also a condition known as orthostatic hypotension, in which the pressure drops to a low level when the person stands. Such individuals are subject to dizziness or light-headedness. The same thing can at times occur with Most teen-age clothing fads are an excellent sign, however.

GOP Aiming At State Level For Comeback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans counted on capturing capitals of at least a half-dozen major states today to build a solid beachhead for a comeback drive for the presidency in 1964.

With the voters picking governors in 35 states, Democrats seemed destined to lose some of the 34-16 edge in their political control of statehouses across the land. The outcome will also help point to the most likely foe against President Kennedy for the White House two years hence.

Attention focused on such populous states as California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan where GOP contenders have been battling furiously to dislodge Democrats as the spearhead for a political breakthrough.

The Democrats campaigned right down to the wire to keep their political fortunes high and try to pick up additional gubernatorial prizes in such states as Massachusetts, New Mexico, Minnesota and Hawaii.

CLOSE ENOUGH

The races were close enough in a dozen or more states so that such unfathomable factors as whim and weather could mean the nod may go either way.

In Pennsylvania, No. 3 state in the nation where Republican Rep. William W. Scranton was given a shade over former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, the nationwide position of the Democrats was put on local terms by Rep. William J. Green, D-Pa.

"If we lose the governorship the shift in state patronage may well mean the loss of the state and the presidency by Kennedy in 1964," Green said.

California had the top political battle of the year—with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon trying to oust Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Nixon carried the state narrowly in his 1960 presidential bid but has had an uphill fight in a boiling race against the governor, with each side accusing the other at the windup of smear tactics.

ROCKY IS CHOICE

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was practically every picker's choice for re-election in New York by a wide margin. The Republican governor's unrelenting campaigning among mobs of voters in the streets of New York City seemed to be aimed at keeping him in practice for a 1964 presidential try.

In Ohio, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, Democrat, was in a neck-and-neck race for re-election against State Auditor James A. Rhodes after narrowing the lead the Republican Rhodes had piled up earlier. This still was rated a prime GOP prospect.

Republican George Romney, the former automaker, had been favored for some time to defeat Gov. John B. Swainson's bid for a second term, but a Detroit News poll showed Swainson had substantially cut down his opponent's lead. Romney, as a winner, would be a possible contender for the next GOP presidential nomination.

Texas had another major contest. Republicans have been making inroads in this traditionally Democratic state and Jack Cox hoped to capitalize on them to beat former Secretary of the Navy John Connally. Democrat Connally banked on a big Democratic turnout to win.

GOOD CHANCE

Democrats figure they have a good chance to elect Jack M. Campbell in New Mexico over veteran GOP Gov. Edwin L. Mechem. But they may lose in North Dakota, where Gov. William L. Guy, a surprise winner in 1960, faces a determined bid by Mark Andrews, Republican national committeeman.

Minnesota has a close one with Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, Democrat, challenging Gov. Elmer L. Andersen. In Hawaii, Gov. William F. Quinn, Republican, has a serious test against labor-backed John A. Burns, Democrat.

Republicans are making real threats to capture political control from Democrats in Colorado, Connecticut, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Democrats got an unexpected boost in New Hampshire, traditionally safe GOP territory. Gov. Wesley Powell, Republican, on losing renomination to state Rep. John Pillsbury, endorsed the Democratic contender, John W. King.

The Democrats counted on sure victories in five Southern states, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee, and expected also to keep the governorships, too, in Nevada, Alaska, Rhode Island and Maryland.

MAY RETURN

Republicans expected to re-elect incumbent governors in Maine, Vermont, South Dakota and Idaho, and put over their candidates in Iowa, Kansas, Arizona and Oregon.

In Massachusetts, where Democratic fortunes are running high, with a native son in the White House, Democrat Edicott Peabody made a race out of it against Gov. John A. Volpe.

Demos May Hold Edge In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—A jury of some 50 million Americans passes judgment today on President Kennedy's claim that he needs more Democrats in Congress.

The people elect 39 senators to serve with 61 holdovers—and an entire House of 435 representatives.

Even before the vote count started, political experts took it for granted the Democrats would retain their control of the Senate and probably would continue their numerical margin of superiority in the House despite some expected losses.

As usual, the predictions of national political party leaders were optimistic.

"Substantial" gains were forecast for Republicans by William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

John M. Bailey, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, expressed confidence the voters would favor "moving forward" with the Democrats.

HISTORICAL FACTOR
On the side of the Republicans was the historical fact that in 11 of the 12 mid-term congressional elections starting with 1914, the political party occupying the White House lost seats in Congress.

The exception was in 1934, midway in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term, when Democrats gained 10 Senate and 9 House seats.

Cold statistics favored the Democrats today.

Of the 61 Senate seats not at stake, 43 are held by Democrats and 18 by Republicans. Of the 39 seats up for grabs, 21 now are occupied by Democrats and 18 by Republicans.

It takes only 51 to control the Senate. Democrats expect to elect far more than the 8 needed to insure a bare majority. Some Democratic leaders believe their party may widen its present edge of 64 to 36 over the Republicans.

Republicans must chalk up a net gain of 4 seats to wrest control of the House from the Democrats. The present lineup is 261 Democrats and 174 Republicans, with two Democratic seats vacant.

For a House majority in the new Congress, 218 seats are needed.

SHAKY DISTRICTS
Hard-nosed Democratic politicians expect some losses in the House, anywhere from three to 15 seats. Others believe their party might actually gain several places. The Democrats start out with 49 uncontested seats against only one unchallenged for the Republicans.

Republican political realists claim 13 "sure gains" and "excellent" chances for as many as 25.

Because of late vote-counting in Far Western areas, it may not be until late Wednesday that the final make-up of the 88th Congress is known.

If the outcome is close the political complexion of California's 38-member House delegation could be the deciding factor.

From the administration's point of view, the result of the fight for House control is of major importance.

Even with their present numerical edge, Democrats did not always have control of the House. Some of the President's major legislative defeats came in the House this year and last year. On many domestic issues, a conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats called the shots.

Only a nominal GOP gain could result in restoration of the House

Rocky's Road Could Be Made Easier Today

By JACK BELL
An AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wins re-election today by a substantial margin, his campaign for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination apparently will get under way quickly.

Politicians expect the New York governor to go after the nomination hammer and tongs with the hope that within 18 months he can tie it down as securely as former Vice President Richard M. Nixon did before the 1960 party convention.

Rockefeller learned the hard way in 1959 that you don't just announce your availability for the nomination and sit back to await supporters to storm your doors.

This time he seems ready to supervise the grinding state-by-state work necessary to line up convention delegations.

HELPFUL FACTORS
The New York governor has several factors going for him in this endeavor. He can call on Leonard W. Hall, former GOP national chairman, for the kind of field work that gave Nixon a strangle hold on the 1960 nomination.

There will be no question about the availability of finances for this operation. Most presidential aspirants have to scrounge for donations to meet the costs of building the kind of headquarters staff Rockefeller already has in operation.

Although he undoubtedly will have rivals for the nomination among GOP governors elected today, Rockefeller will have the jump on them. The New York governor has his state job well in hand. Newly elected governors will have a year at most to get on top of theirs before they can do much effective work toward the national nomination.

CONFIDENT
Rockefeller, whose state has 43 of the nation's 535 electoral votes, has never given any indication he shares the view of some GOP strategists that President Kennedy will be unbeatable two years from now.

Neither is he caught in the net of the series of predictions made by Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP national chairman, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and others that the 1964 nomination wouldn't be worth a plugged nickel if the Republicans didn't make substantial gains in Congress.

Rockefeller's chief liability is that the party conservatives don't like him. They think he is too far to the left.

DEAR ABBY

Halloween Is For Young Ones

DEAR ABBY: To what ages should the Halloween custom of going from door to door for Tricks or Treats be limited? We welcome little ones in costume (some accompanied by their parents) early in the evening. But what about "kiddies" up to 18 years old who go from door to door with sacks, baskets and pillow cases asking for a "treat"? This annual event has provoked considerable discussion. What is your opinion?

TRICKS OR TREATS
DEAR T.O.T.: Halloween should be left to the little ones who still believe in witches, goblins and ghosts. It's the responsibility of parents to control their children who are too old for such fantasies. There is something pitifully childish about a 15-year-old "begging" candy or a taffy apple.

DEAR ABBY: Is it all right to use a nickname on an engraved wedding invitation? My fiance has been called "Buddy" all his life. If someone called him "Bertram" he wouldn't even turn around. My mother says we have to use "Bertram" on our wedding invitations. Could I put "Bertam (Buddy) Finklehoffe" on the invitation and be correct? ENGAGED

DEAR ENGAGED: Sorry—only full given names are used on a formal wedding invitation.

DEAR ABBY: One of your readers signed "STUMPED" asks, "Can a dog be trained to sleep days instead of nights?" The answer is yes. And this training will work on almost any dog within 24 hours. It is a common practice to feed a dog once a day. After eating, the dog will lie down and go to sleep. It is obvious that "Stumped" feeds her dog in the evening. If she feeds her dog in the morning he will sleep during the day and stay awake all night.

CORNISH
DEAR ABBY: You be the judge. If a fellow called you up and told you straight out that he had just broken up with his steady girl and was not going to take her to the Prom but he would like to take you if you were not doing anything that night, would you go? Or would you refuse?

"LET ME BE NAMELESS"
DEAR LET: If I had nothing else to do that night and wanted to go to the Prom, I'd say, "Thank you, I'd be delighted."

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newswriters

The European office of the United Nations in Geneva plans to open a philatelic museum located in the Palace of Nations. Here will be displayed a complete collection of all service stamps ever issued by the League of Nations, the International Labor Office and the United Nations and their specialized agencies. To mark this event, Switzerland has issued four service stamps which will be valid for prepaying postage on United Nations mail, reports the Swiss Philatelic Agency in America. The 10 centimes green and red, and the 50c blue and vermilion, feature as the central design a globe with the U. N. Emblem. The 30c red and blue, and the 60c brown and green, show a winged figure which appears in the United Nations building in Geneva.

Israel has issued a new stamp and a souvenir sheet honoring El Al, Israel's national airlines, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. The airline, a major factor in the economic development of the new country, was established in 1948, shortly after the proclamation of the state.

The Falkland Islands commemorates the 50th anniversary of its radio communications with the issuance of three postage stamps. All three stamps include the An-nigoni portrait of Queen Elizabeth and the St. Edward's Crown. The 6 pence crimson and orange shows a Morse key; the 1 shilling dark green and olive green depicts a receiver; the 2 shilling violet and ultramarine pictures a rotary spark transmitter.

Belgium has issued a set of six semipostal stamps depicting various exercises for the rehabilitation of the handicapped. The additional values on these stamps will go to the benefit of institutions for handicapped children.

Work Begins On IS 20 Loop

Initial work on the east part of the Interstate 20 loop began Monday.

Employees of M. C. Winters, Inc. of Johnson City, contractors for the $2,443,119.50 job, began erecting barricades and grubbing and clearing the roadway for the big loop. Joe Smoot, resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department, said that a pre-construction conference has been set up for 10 a.m. at the highway building on NE 12th Street. At that time contractor representatives will present tentative schedules of work. Highway department representatives, members of the city police department, sheriff's office, highway patrol and others will be present to check means of promoting public convenience and safety during progress of the job.

Reduced Rail Rates on COTTON

From Texas High Plains to Corpus Christi

It is now more profitable than ever to ship Texas High Plains cotton destined for foreign markets or domestic trade to the Port of Corpus Christi.

Reduced Railroad Rates have been in effect since October 17, 1962, which, coupled with Corpus Christi's superb shipping facilities makes this modern South Texas deep water Port the most logical one for West Texans to increasingly use.

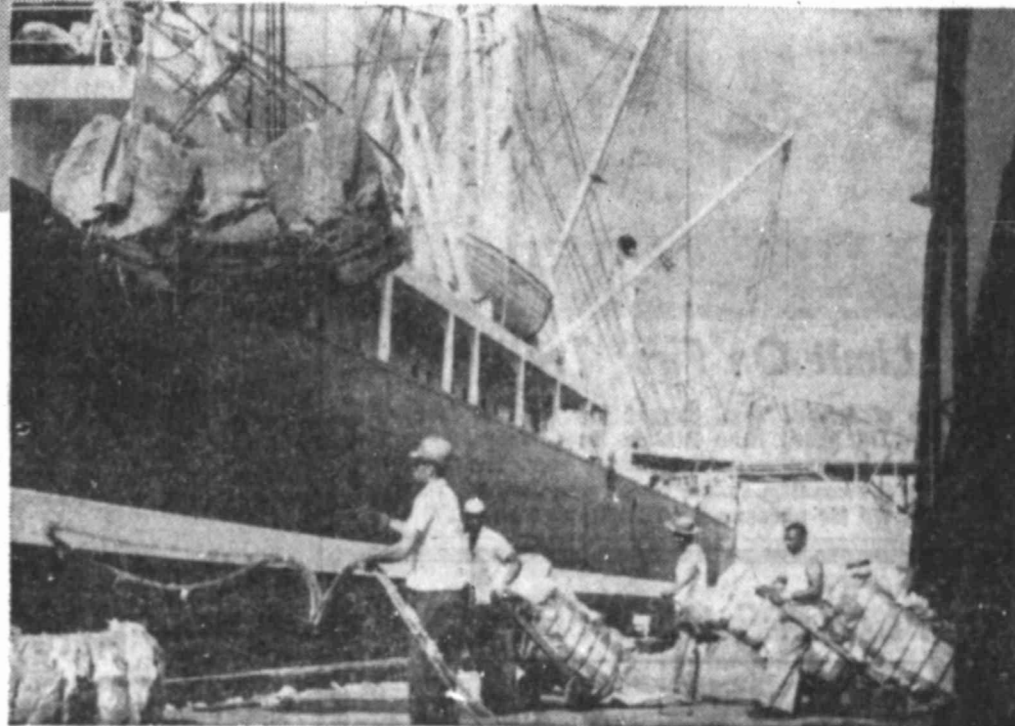

Your local railroad freight agent can supply all facts on the rate reductions on Cotton. For further information write or call J. F. JAMISON, JR., Traffic Manager, P. O. Box 1541, Corpus Christi, Texas. The phone number is TULIP 2-5633.

With over One-Half Million square feet of ship side covered warehouse space available, the Port of Corpus Christi always has room for cotton. 137 dry cargo carriers offer service to principal world markets. Rail shipment unloaded direct to covered warehouses without time loss.

Could Cuban Hassle Be A Turning Point?

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fifth and last article in the series on the Cuban crisis.

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — During their conference in Vienna last year, an odd but serious exchange took place over the luncheon table between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

It concerned the Bay of Pigs, scene of the star-crossed Cuban invasion, April 17, 1961.

"The Bay of Pigs was a mistake," Kennedy said, candidly. "But in the American system, we can publicly admit our mistakes."

"So can we," Khrushchev retorted. "We have publicly admitted Stalin's mistakes."

"Yes," said the President, gesturing. "But your own mistakes—"

The question hung in the air and went unanswered. After a moment of silence, Khrushchev changed the subject.

When Khrushchev announced,

Local Students Take Honors

Big Spring students of government took many of the honors Saturday at a pre-legislative meeting of the West Central Division held in Abilene.

Robert Mahoney, Big Spring's gubernatorial nominee, was chosen district candidate for that post during Youth in Government in December. The local committee hearing team was voted outstanding and all eight bills presented by the local group were selected to be presented again in Austin.

This is the first time for Big Spring to have a candidate for governor, although it had candidates for lieutenant governor and attorney general. Mahoney will compete with nominees from other districts Dec. 27-29.

On the committee hearing team are Karen Kee, Freddie White and Wade Choate.

Big Spring's delegation at the Abilene meeting was made up of 54 students and 10 adults. About 400 persons were present. About 15 persons are expected to journey to Austin for Youth in Government.

Elections At A Glance

By The Associated Press
More than 1,000 candidates are seeking election today to 39 seats in the U.S. Senate, 435 in the House, and 35 governorships. A record mid-term vote of 50 million or better is forecast.

Democrats are expected to retain majorities in all three categories. Republicans predict gains at all levels, but are not expected to win control of the House, the only category where they have a chance. They need a net gain of 44 seats to do that and the experts say this is not in the cards.

Democrats have controlled the last four Congresses, including the last three under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. They now outnumber the Republicans 64 to 36 in the Senate, 263 to 174 in the House (counting two vacant seats formerly held by Democrats), and 34 to 16 in statehouses.

Republicans expect some important gains in governorships.

Eligible voters are estimated at 83 million, with estimates of the vote ranging from 47 to 54 million.

Chaplain Service

The Big Spring Pastor's Association, at a meeting Wednesday at the First Methodist Church, will consider forming a volunteer chaplain service for local hospitals. Administrators of local hospitals will be on hand at the 7:30 a.m. meeting to give their assistance.

Sunday, Oct. 28, that he was withdrawing the Russian missiles from Cuba, he did not acknowledge a mistake. He said the action was taken "in the interests of peace."

ORIGINAL REACTION
But the original Soviet reaction to Kennedy's proclamation of the quarantine of shipments of offensive weapons to Cuba was a rejection and warning.

Moscow radio broadcast a note which said: "The Soviet government resolutely rejects such claims (the U.S. right to blockade Cuba). The arrogant actions of American imperialism could lead to disastrous consequences to all mankind."

Then, little by little, the Soviet line appeared to be changing, easing off.

Khrushchev replied to a message from the British philosopher, Bertrand Russell, saying he would take no "rash action." On Wednesday, Oct. 24, it was reported that some Soviet-bloc ships had changed course, avoiding the blockade zone. On Friday, Khrushchev said he would not send any more ships into the blockade area for the time being.

MIGHT AGREE
A still unpublished message from Khrushchev on Friday "hinted" that he might agree to removing the missiles from Cuba. In another note, however, Khrushchev suggested a horse-trade, taking Russian missiles out of Cuba in exchange for the dismantling of U.S. bases in Turkey. Kennedy said in reply, "preliminary to consideration of any proposals, work on the Cuban bases must stop, offensive weapons must be rendered inoperable."

On the same day, a White House official told this correspondent, "The situation is very hairy (dangerous). It looks as though it will get worse before it gets better."

At the Pentagon, some correspondents thought an invasion of Cuba might start over the weekend, or on Monday.

The atmosphere in Washington was eerie, with a sense of foreboding.

REDS GAVE IN
Then, shortly after 4 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 28, came the electrifying announcement from Moscow—Khrushchev agreed to dismantle the missile sites on Cuba, have the weapons crates and returned to the Soviet Union. His message referred to "previous instructions" to stop work on the nuclear bases.

Kennedy received this information from news agency teleprinter machines. At the Pentagon, officers tore the story from the machines, paragraph by paragraph, and rushed it to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. In the immediate aftermath, there was no gloating at the White House, nor has there been any since.

Officials soberly waited for the next step, to see whether the Soviet promises would be kept. Attention turned toward the United Nations, where the next step would be taken. The prevailing attitude in Washington appeared to be wait and see.

IMPORTANT POINTS
In evaluating the whole powder-keg incident, officials make these points:

1. The Soviet objective in Cuba was to present the United States with a fait accompli. The work on the missile bases was pushed so feverishly that the objective might have been reached in another few days. The Cuban bases, in themselves, did not change the balance of nuclear striking power between the United States and the Soviet Union. But, as a top official put it, "they were setting up eight or 10 sites for 30 or 40 missiles. If they were allowed to proceed, why not 10 more sites? That could very well have made a difference."

2. The consequences, in official thinking, would have been to encourage the Soviet Union to take a stronger line on Berlin and in all Latin America.

3. For over a year, in spite of the Vienna conferences between Kennedy and Khrushchev, qualified observers have said they did not believe the Russians were convinced the United States would fight, if necessary, over these super-important areas in the world.

4. In his reply to Khrushchev's message about removing the missiles from Cuba and dismantling the sites, Kennedy said, "I agree with you that we must devote urgent attention to the problem of disarmament as it relates to the whole world and also to critical areas. Perhaps now, as we step back from danger, we can together make real progress in this vital field."

SOLUTION AHEAD?
Is it possible that the Cuban episode might lead to a gradual turn-around in the whole pattern of the cold war, a solution to disputes that now seem insoluble?

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan touched on this point in a statement in the House of Commons, Oct. 30. He pointed out that Khrushchev agreed to international verification to determine that the Soviet missile bases in Cuba were de-fanged.

Having accepted the principle there, he said, the Russians may be able to accept it in other areas, such as disarmament.

"The world has had a shock," Macmillan said. "We have been very near the edge."

HEADACHES

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Headaches that persist or recur frequently are danger signals that something is amiss. Masking the pain with aspirin or pain killers may seem an easy way for relief. However, if the trouble is not corrected, related symptoms begin to appear. Usually the headaches that used to present themselves in different areas begin to localize in one area on one side of the head, and the patient's illness is diagnosed as migraine. After extensive examination for tumors, past fractures and what have you, the patient begins to believe that they just have to live with it. Don't believe it. If more people knew the effectiveness of Chiropractic, I believe they would have to start making hair tonic or paint. Don't ever forget that for every effect there must be a cause. Remove that cause and you have no headaches.

The local woman came to our office at the request of her sister whom we had helped earlier.

The woman suffered severe headaches — associated with constipation — stomach disorders and a multitude of distressing symptoms stemming from a nervous disorder. We examined her and since she had been to very competent medical doctors we felt that only some spinal condition was left to be examined for and found (if present). X-ray examination of the woman's spine showed very little at fault but in examining along the course of some of the nerves — irritation and faulty transmission was suspected. Treatment was begun and in a relatively short time the headaches were drastically reduced, thereby reducing her nervousness in turn, and this reduced many of the minor physical ailments. No. 1349.

If you are receiving relief or correction of your headaches, you don't particularly need us. If you are still suffering in spite of treatment — we suggest that you have your spine and spinal nerves examined as they might be the cause of your distresses. The Hansen Chiropractic Clinic is open each evening until 6:30, located across from Piggly Wiggly. Call AM 3-3324 for an appointment.

Efficiency is Important When Moving

Moving? The first thing to consider, whether a family is moving across town, across the nation, or to a foreign country, is the efficiency of the movers doing the job. Byron's Transfer and Storage is the first consideration. The firm has men trained in packing, handling, loading, and storing furniture and all kinds of household goods or office equipment. Byron is also local agent for United Van Lines, with connections and affiliations with all major movers in the nation. Byron's Transfer and Storage men can walk into a home, after phone call, and start packing dishes, glassware, ornaments, picture, and all other items needing special attention. The men know it is done in the shortest time and in the safest manner. The housewife doesn't need to pick up anything except the clothing and toilet articles needed between one home and the next. She can feel satisfied that everything will arrive when she wants it in her new home, and can just pack the family in the car and drive off. Vans suitable for carrying all furnishings from the smallest apartments to the largest homes are available. Cartons of packed items, furniture, and kitchen equipment, along with yard and garden tools, will be placed in the vans for moving without damage. Heavy, quilted, padding is used to prevent furniture and boxes from "rubbing" together to damage each other. Dividers are used to separate items, including fragile pieces which might be damaged under the slightest pressure. A telephone call to Byron's Transfer and Storage will bring a man who can give the moving family information necessary to insure a safe move. If storage is needed while househunting in a new location it can be arranged at Byron's facilities. Telephone AM 4-4351 for bonded movers for safe transportation anywhere.

Wagon Wheel Drive-Ins Located For Convenience

Three Wagon Wheel Drive-ins have been provided in Big Spring for the convenience of those wanting to eat out, have lunches pre-

Unexpected company doesn't mean that Big Spring families have to go to a lot of trouble to prepare home-cooked meals on short notice. A telephone call to any of the Wagon Wheel Drive-ins will suffice to enable housewives to pick up hot meals prepared as they wish to take home and feed hungry mouths.

lunches prepared may spare the home work and still have what they like to eat. Just phone a Wagon Wheel and order what you like.

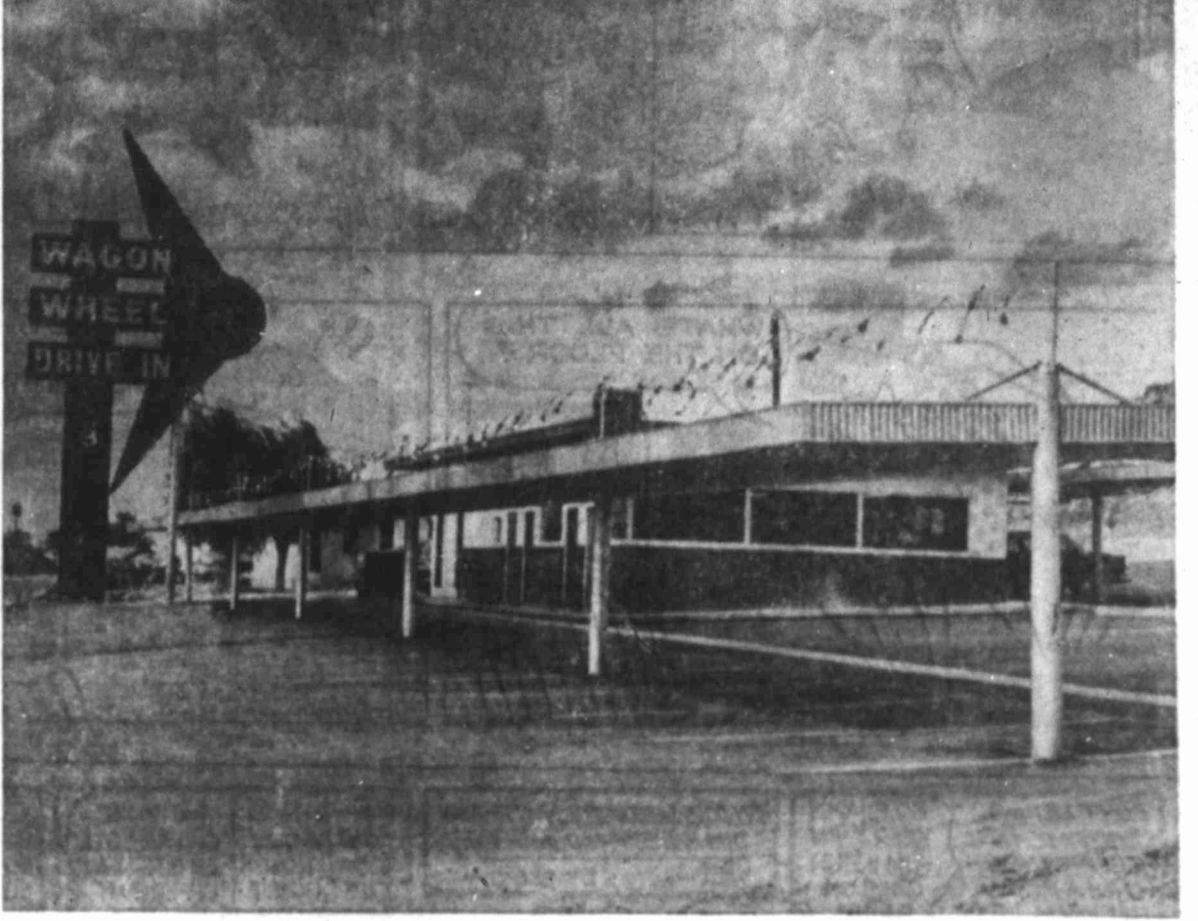

Cecil Thixton Has Both New Sprints

Cecil Thixton, Harley-Davidson dealer in Big Spring, has one of the new 1963 Sprint H motorcycles on his floor. There are two Sprints for 1963 and both are 15-cubic inch, single-cylinder motorcycles. Internal improvements include a "beefed up" lower end bearing, lightweight racing tappets, improved oil filter, larger capacity oil pump, provision for tachometer drive, and a redesigned shifter spring. Both are made at the company's factory in Italy.

Those who work and need

Some of the specialties prepared by Wagon Wheel chefs include steak fingers, chicken, fish, shrimp, hamburgers, all kinds of sandwiches, including pizza or barbecue beef. They also serve iced drinks, "floats," banana splits, and many others.

All the drive-ins, operated by the Rainbolts are accessible from two streets and cars may be parked almost all around them. Awnings are up to keep motorists out of the sun or out of wet weather while they eat at the drive-ins. Hostesses are on hand at all three places to take orders for those driving up in their cars. One of the best-liked features of eating at drive-ins is "no need to dress up." Those wanting a sandwich, cold drink, cup of coffee, or a meal, may come as they are. They may have the kids dressed for bed and ready for a pleasant night when they drive in.

Good Eatin' Available At Wagon Wheels
Wagon Wheel Drive-ins are located in Big Spring at East Fourth and Birdwell Lane, 2105 W. Third, and 2011 Gregg. The three are conveniently located to all areas of the city and provide "out of the sun or rain" canopies for car patrons.

Solved - Carpet Cleaning Problem
Science finally has the answer to carpet cleaning. Blue Lustre, a new development, is mixed with water and brushed into carpet or upholstery. It's amazing the way forgotten colors spring out. The nap is left open and lofty. It's easy to apply. One-half gallon of Blue Lustre cleans three 9x12 rugs. Available at Big Spring Hardware, 115 Main St.

BUZ SAWYER

PEPITO! BIEN VENIDOS... GRACIAS A DIOS QUE YA ESTAN AQUI.

LOOKING VERY FORLORN, IS A LITTLE GIRL OF 7, ALONE.

TU DEBES SER CHIQUITA LOPEZ, AUNT CHRISTY SAWYER.

IT IS NOT NECESSARY YOU SPEAK SPANISH, AUNT CHRISTY.

I SPEAK ENGLISH MUY BIEN.

CUBAN REFUGEES ARRIVE IN MIAMI, MET BY CROWDS OF RELATIVES AND FRIENDS WHO HAVE PRECEDED THEM. GREETINGS, EMBRACES, TEARS OF JOY.

GASOLINE ALLEY

Wilmer, I know you're busy but I'd like to talk to you a minute.

If it's about Sweezy and his crew you're wasting your time and mine!

They walked out and they're through! I don't need them! Perit got a couple of the best mechanics in the state! I've got things numming!

You've been on this valve job an hour, boys. How's it coming?

Kinda slow, Wilmer.

We're havin' a little trouble gettin' the hood open.

DON'T LET NO DOGPATCH GAL SCARIFY YOU! ONLY A INDIAN GAL KIN MARRY YOU!

SO SIMPLY KEEP AWAY FUM INJUN GALS, ON SADIE HAWKINS DAY!!

WHY DOES SADIE HAWKINS DAY TERRIFY THIS 15-YEAR-OLD BACHELOR?

Well--here's the story--

PAPPY--AH IS 30 YEARS OLD, TODAY. HOW COME AH HAIN'T MARRIED UP?

PATIENCE, CHILE!! YOU'LL BE GETTIN' A OFFER ANY DAY, NOW--NO DOUBT!!

Fifteen years later--

PAPPY--AH HAIN'T GOT A OFFER YET!! YOU GOTTA GIT ME A HUSBIN OR YOU HAVE ME ON YORE HANDS FO TH REST O YORE NATHERAL LIFE!!

THAT SHORE WOULD BE AWFUL!! AH'LL GIT YORE A HUSBIN, TOMORRY!! AH GOT A PLAN!!

Sadie Hawkins was the daughter of early Dogpatch settler, Hekzebiel Hawkins. She was the homeliest gal in the hills!!

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD WAKE UP... QUICK

I JUST DREAMED YOU BOUGHT ME A MINK COAT!

THEN, QUICK, DEAR-- GO BACK TO SLEEP AT ONCE

MAYBE YOU CAN DREAM UP A WAY TO PAY FOR IT

ORPHAN ANNIE

OH, J.P. WE KNEW YOU'D COME!

AH! HE'S COMING AROUND NOW!

HOW DID HE HAPPEN TO GET SO BADDY BURNED?

A BUNCH O' KIDS GOT TRAPPED IN A BURNIN' SIDE SHOW TENT! IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR ELWOOD THEY'D ALL HAVE BEEN KILLED!

AS IT WAS, HE WAS THE ONLY ONE WHO GOT BURNED!

HEY! LOOK WHAT ELWOOD'S TRYIN' TO GIVE YOU!

MY MOUNTAIN PEN! I DIDN'T KNOW I'D 'LOST' IT! Y'KNOW, I THINK ELWOOD'S GOING TO BE ALL RIGHT!

SNUFFY SMITH

LONZO!! HOW DID YE GIT THAT BIG KNOT ON YORE PUNKIN' HAIR?

I WUZ PLAYIN' CARDS ALL NIGHT LONG, SNUFFY--

WHEN I COME HOME THIS MORNIN' MY WIFE--MATE-- GIVE ME SOME BLACK-EVED PEAS

I NEVER HEERED TELL OF PEAS, EVED PEAS, RAISIN' BUMPS

THEY WUZ STILL IN TH' POT

KERRY DRAKE

THIS IS DR. MORGAN... MAY I SPEAK WITH MISS POOLE, PLEASE?

I'M SORRY DOCTOR, BUT MISS POOLE IS NOT HERE!

WHEN DO YOU EXPECT HERE?

I DON'T KNOW! I BELIEVE SHE'S LEFT TOWN FOR A FEW DAYS!

IF THIS IS ABOUT THE SAME OLD SUBJECT--IT'S NO USE, MOTHER!

I HAD A NOTE FROM THE HEAD OF MY SORORITY, MIDGE--ASKING IF YOU PLANNED TO REGISTER FOR THE SECOND SEMESTER!

I CAN GIVE YOU A TWO-LETTER ANSWER!--NO!

IT JUST ISN'T RIGHT--FOR A BRIGHT, PRETTY GIRL-- WITH EVERY ADVANTAGE-- TO FINISH HIGH SCHOOL AND--SIMPLY DO NOTHING!

I'M LEARNING TO BE A GOOD HOME-MAKER, MOTHER!--TO ME THAT'S NOT A CAREER TO BE ASHAMED OF!

COME HERE, MIDGE!--WHAT HAVE YOU DONE TO YOUR FACE?

REX MORGAN

HI, JOHNNY! WHAT BRINGS YOU HERE? YOU ON THE ARSON SQUAD NOW?

I LIVE HERE, WALT! THAT'S MY APARTMENT--THE SECOND WINDOW ON THE LEFT!

MAYBE THE FLAMES HAVEN'T REACHED IT YET... I'M GOING INTO THAT INFERNO!

NOT EVEN YOUR BADGE WILL PASS YOU INTO THAT INFERNO!

Rain Expected To Dampen Parts Of State

By The Associated Press
 Rain and cooler temperatures are forecast for South Central and Southeast Texas Wednesday with the precipitation moving eastward throughout the day.
 Skies were cloudy to partly cloudy in Texas as voters went to the polls early in the day. Rain fell at San Antonio and Corpus Christi, however. Elsewhere temperatures were mild and skies partly cloudy.
 Forecasts call for showers to spread eastward over South Central Southeast Texas and move northward into the south portions of North Central and Northeast Texas Tuesday night and Wednesday.
 Temperatures are to turn cooler over portions of Northwest and North Central Texas Tuesday night.

This Wasn't On The Program

Actor Kirk Douglas, the 137th film star to put footprints and handprints into concrete at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood, gives the spectators additional entertainment in this bit of horseplay. At right Douglas puts his hands in the wet concrete, while keeping an eye on actor Ken Murray, who had brought along a personal movie camera. Suddenly, Douglas claps his concrete-smear hands on the cheeks of a surprised Murray—much to the amusement of the crowd. The man behind Douglas at right is George Jessel.

Basil Rathbone Is Featured On Concert Assn. Program

Apparently, there is a large number of citizens who cannot abide the old style of acting and dramatic reading which once was the rule on American and European stages, and still influences Shakespearean theatre.
 Basil Rathbone, a veteran stage and screen actor and one of the recognized interpreters of the Bard, started out with a fairly good house Monday evening in a Concert Association program at the city auditorium. Many left at intermission, leaving the wings, balcony and the area under the balcony practically bereft of listeners.
 Judging from the applause, a major portion of those who stayed liked Rathbone's performance, although not a few applauded prematurely and started toward the exits before the actor had taken his final bow.

 What it boils down to is that Rathbone's old-fashioned technique is lost on most of our present generation, accustomed as we are to realism and method acting in our entertainment; and that Rathbone was not at his peak Monday evening.
 Overall, Rathbone's performance was creditable. His minor sins were what sounded like a pseudo-English accent (actually, he is English), some degree of pomposity, too many meaningless dramatic flourishes, and an enunciation that was not up to par. However, all these factors except the latter are part of the "old" tradition, making Rathbone's performance not so much one of lousy acting as one of not adapting to the expectations of modern audiences.
 Moreover, stage readings simply are not as popular as, say, Broadway musicals. Not even the master of them all, Charles Laughton, could draw as much interest by reading poetry as would a gay, professional version of "Oklahoma."

 Rathbone's performance would be better suited to an intimate gathering in a non-public place with the coffee pot perking. Under such circumstances, he would be heard more easily (the auditorium's acoustics didn't help him any Monday night), and his audience contact would be better.
 Rathbone's program was divided into several segments, including personal and professional reminiscences. He also made introductory remarks and comments about the poems included were selections from the "neglected men of letters," poets whose works either are not well known but are deserving, or old classics that are now practically forgotten; a series of love sonnets; and dramatic readings from Shakespeare.

Nixon-Brown Contest At Heated Climax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Upwards of five million California voters were expected to troop out today to settle the long, quarrelsome contest for governor between Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Republican Richard M. Nixon.
 The battle reached a climax with an election eve clash that echoed familiar charges and counter-charges.
 Nixon, his political future at stake, told a statewide television audience from Los Angeles that he has been the victim of a malicious smear unlike anything ever seen in American politics. He characterized his opposition as panicky.
 Brown replied that his opponent "ascribed to me charges I have never made." He called the broadcast "just a tattered rerun" of Nixon's campaign. Democratic spokesmen said Nixon, trailing in polls, was desperate.

BIG TURNOUT
 An estimated 70 to 75 per cent of the 7½ million voters will make their choice for the $40,000-a-year state job and its built-in national prestige.
 In a 30-minute broadcast with his wife and two teen-age daughters at his side, Nixon declared he had scrapped a review of state issues to fight back against last-minute attacks against him.
 He said he had been accused of being anti-Negro, anti-Semitic, anti-Catholic; that his foes were trying to frighten needy aged and blind into thinking their pensions will be cut if he's elected and state workers will lose their jobs. "Absolutely false," he said.
 Nixon, introduced by actor Dick Powell, denied he sought the governorship with the White House in mind. He pledged again he would not seek national office in 1964.

REPEATS DENIAL
 Finally, the former vice president denied once more that he had anything to do with the $205,000 loan by a defense contractor, Hughes Tool Co., to his brother and mother six years ago.
 Nixon said Brown acted like a "whipped dog" when he challenged the governor, at a face to face meeting before an editors' meeting last month, to put up or shut up on the Hughes loan.
 Nixon said that three days later Brown stirred up the issue again through press agents, "by the newspaper fraternity, by those he controlled or thought he controlled by favors he had done for them."
 Brown said during the campaign that he would not charge his opponent with misconduct unless he had the evidence, and "I have no such evidence."
 In his reply to the Nixon broadcast, Brown said "the tone of the whole performance was set by the allegation that I controlled members of the newspaper fraternity through favors."
NEWS ISSUE
 "Mr. Nixon apparently feels that anybody who dares to question his activities or motives, including the members of the press, is treating him unfairly. He just does not understand the responsibility of a public official to answer the honest questions of newspapermen," Brown said.
 The governor said that "in the whole half hour he (Nixon) didn't say anything new or informative or helpful to the people of California."
 "The voters of California have no intention of letting Mr. Nixon use this state to further what again and again he reveals as his ultimate ambition... the Presidency."

Big Margin For Rocky Is GOP Goal

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Re-election of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller by a margin that would carry a nationwide impact—800,000 to 1,000,000 votes or more—was the goal of New York state Republican leaders in today's election.
 They were looking beyond today's halting to 1964, when Rockefeller is expected to bid for the Republican nomination for president. A runaway victory today would strengthen the governor's hand.
 As New York voters went to the polls the 54-year-old governor was expected to win re-election, with the chief question the size of his plurality.

 But Rockefeller's Democratic opponent, Robert M. Morgenthau, 43, former federal prosecutor, insisted the tide had turned in the closing days of the campaign and he would win.
 The campaign ended formally Monday night with television appeals from both sides. The Republican program was broadcast statewide; the Democratic presentation was shown only on a New York City station.
 U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, a Republican, also was expected to defeat his Democratic opponent, James B. Donovan, a New York City lawyer. Donovan spent much of the campaign in his job of chief negotiator for the release of Cuban invaders held prisoner by the Fidel Castro government.

Choir To Sing For Organists

The Howard County Junior College Choir, under the direction of Ira Schantz, will present a concert to the West Texas Chapter of The American Guild of Organists tonight. The program will be at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 10th and Goliad, and will begin at 8:15 p.m. The public is invited.
 The Big Spring Motet Singers will also be on the program. This group consists of Joyce Bradley, soprano; Ira Schantz, counter-tenor; Tom McDaniel, tenor; and Mel Ivey, bass.
 One of the numbers will be a Ralph Vaughan Williams arrangement of the Old Hundredth Psalm Tune with trumpet obligato by Lonnie Webb and Ted James. The concert will be accompanied by Jack Hendrix, head of the Music Department at HCJC.
 The American Guild of Organists is a group of Church musicians dedicated to the improvement of the quality of Church music. All organists and choir directors are invited to attend the meeting.

Active Duty

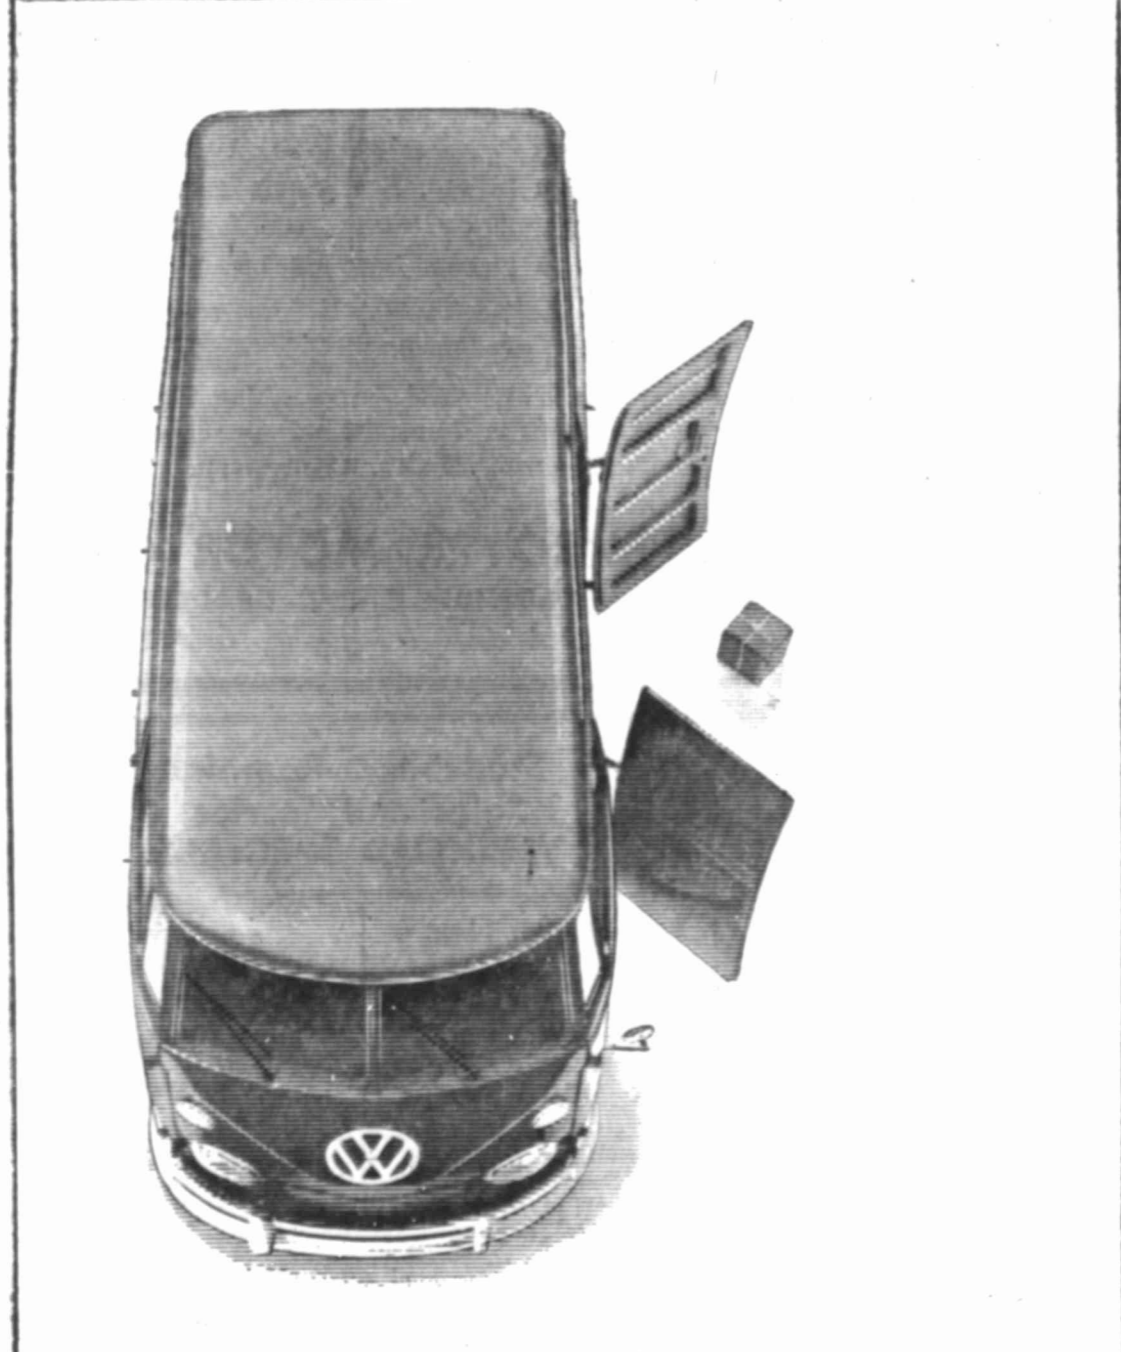

Army Reserve Specialist Four Jimmy Damron, son of Mr. Aaron Damron, 1608 Donley, is undergoing two weeks of active duty training at Headquarters VIII U.S. Army Corps, Austin. A graduate of West Texas State College with a BS degree, Specialist Damron entered the Army Reserve in November, 1959 and served two years on active duty at the Granite City, Ill. Engineer Depot. He is employed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Dallas.

Rogers Talks On UF Drive

Dr. Lee Rogers, campaign chairman for the United Fund, addressed the Evening Lions Club at its Monday meeting in Wesley Methodist Fellowship Hall.
 Pointing to the agencies which are supported by the United Fund, Dr. Rogers said that they could not function without curtailing or crippling their programs when the United Fund budget is not met. He appealed to individuals who still have cards to work or gifts to make to act at once in order for the community to reach its $103,324 goal. Gene Turner was program chairman.
 The problem of disposing of 10 cases of candy remaining on the club's hands was discussed. The club also talked about an entry in the district queen's contest and named John Smith chairman of a selection committee, to be assisted by C. W. Tanner, Gilbert Ritchey, T. A. Stevenson and Loy Landrum. The club also is considering setting up some highway signs.

Webb Nurse Wins Award Certificate

Dorothy M. Kilgore, of the Webb Hospital Nursing Service, has been awarded the Incentive Award Certificate for her suggestions for use of plastic containers in which medical supplies are received.
 Prior to Miss Kilgore's suggestion the containers had been discarded when emptied. The presentation was made by Capt. Dorothy Fleming.

How to deliver next to nothing and still make a profit.

Some people feel they'll lose money if they don't load their delivery truck to the gunnels every trip.
 Heh heh heh.
 If you can make a dime on a sale in your shop, you can send it a mile in a Volkswagen and still clear about a nickel.
 It is all you need for gas, oil, tire wear and maintenance. For the round trip. Two miles, not just the one.
 Of course, this figure's an average. Special conditions will save you quite a bit more. On door-to-door routes, a VW may run 74 a mile, conventional trucks about 14¢.
 In 10,000 miles, you save some $700.
 For one thing, almost all VW owners get over 20 miles a gallon. A few even do 30.
 For another, you almost never need oil between changes. And never need anti-freeze at all.
 Tires last about 35,000 miles. About 3 years for the average user.
 Even maintenance will generally run only half as high as the bills you pay now.
 The logic of it all shines with a simple beauty.
 If one little order will pay your VW's way, you can send another little order along free.
 (Only a very greedy man would ever send out a full Volkswagen.)
