PRO-CASTRO SABOTEUR BAND CAPTURED

Mexicans Smash Plot To Blow Up Rio Grande Border Bridge

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — A U.S. Immigration Service official said today Mexican authorities stopped a plot to dynamite the international bridge between Brownsville and Matamoros, Mexico. Dudley Underwood of Brownsville said authorities arrested 10 men Monday night in Matamoros. Mexican army officials confirmed the report and said the men were held in the Matamoros garrison. Authorities told Ray Kasper, news director of Radio Station KBOR here, that the men had 50 sticks of dynamite along with plans to bomb both the new gateway bridge and the old one. Both span the Rio Grande. Kasper quoted Mexican army authorities as saying the plans also called for the destruction of the Mexican Palace in Matamoros, the military garrison, the telephone company office and the municipal building.

Matamoros is just across the river from this gateway city on the far southern tip of Texas.

The city of about 50,000 is in Tamaulipas State, which is one of the great oil producing areas of the world.

Informed sources said two of the arrested men are known to be pro-Castro Cubans living in Mexico, Kasper said.

Fidel Offers To Give Up 30 Soviet Bombers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro informed the United Nations today that he is prepared to give up some 30 Soviet bombers now in Cuba. The offer was expected to be discussed by Soviet and U.S. negotiators later in the day.

Top-level representatives of the big powers were invited to a working luncheon by Acting Secretary-General U. Thant and authoritative sources said it could be assumed the bomber issue would be the main subject.

Those on the luncheon list on the U.S. side were Ambassadors Adlai E. Stevenson and Charles W. Yost and John J. McCloy, chairman of President Kennedy's Cuban coordinating committee. Representing the Soviet Union were Deputy Foreign Ministers Vasily V. Kuznetsov and Valerian A. Zorin and Ambassador Platon D. Morozov.

CLEARING WAY

The offer by Castro was seen in U.N. circles as clearing the way for Soviet agreement on the withdrawal of the IL28 bombers and thus removing one of the major obstacles now holding up negotiations on the Cuban problem.

Castro said that if the Soviet government "considers it convenient for the good development of negotiations and a resolution of the crisis to withdraw such airplanes, the revolutionary government of Cuba will not block that decision."

Havana radio reported that Castro, in a letter to acting U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant said the IL28 bombers were old and slow and the Soviet Union could take them back if it wanted to.

Continued presence of the bombers in Cuba is the biggest unresolved issue in the Cuban dispute between the United States and the Soviet Union. President Kennedy classed them as offensive weapons because they have a range of 750 miles and can carry nuclear bombs.

U.S. authorities estimate 30 or more of the bombers were delivered to Cuba. The Soviet Union said Premier Khrushchev could not order them out, as he had some 40 Soviet missiles, because the bombers had been turned over to Castro and were no longer under Soviet control.

Despite his concession on the bombers, Castro in his letter to Thant repeated his refusal to permit foreign inspection of Cuban arms. He also repeated his threat to shoot down any war plane violating his nation's air space, a reference to U.S. reconnaissance planes which have continued aerial surveillance of Cuba to insure that the dismantled missile bases are not reactivated.

Castro charged that the U.S. insistence on removal of the Soviet jet bombers from Cuba "is a pretext to maintain tension, prolong the crisis and sustain its policy of force."

"However," he continued, "if the Soviet government considers it advisable to withdraw these planes for the benefit of negotiations and for the solution of the crisis, the revolutionary government of Cuba will not be an obstacle to this decision."

Castro insisted that the bombers had been sent to Cuba "for the defense of our country against aggression." As he did earlier with the Soviet missiles already withdrawn from Cuba, he described the planes as "property of the Soviet government."

Referring to violations of Cuban air space, Castro "reiterated that Cuba has the indisputable right to defend its territory against such violations. As far as our anti-aircraft weapons can reach, every war plane which invades Cuban air space will do so at the risk of being destroyed."

He complained the United States had declared "that American military planes will continue to violate Cuban air space. These aggressive acts are in flagrant contradiction to international law and to the United Nations charter."

Fresh Snow Blankets Area Of S.W. Texas

By The Associated Press

Fresh snow blanketed most of extreme Southwest Texas and light rain or drizzle fell over much of the rest of the state Tuesday. Skies were clear, however, in the Texas Panhandle, permitting the mercury to dive well below freezing.

Travelers estimated up to 6 inches of snow covered the countryside near Fort Stockton before the fall stopped in early morning. Elsewhere in the same usually dry area there was about 3 inches on the ground from Van Horn to Alpine and Marathon. Trainers encountered slow going in places but all highways were reported open.

Dense fog cloaked the El Paso vicinity before dawn. A belt of gentle rain stretched from East and Central Texas westward as far as Midland, and a misty drizzle fell in parts of South Texas and along the lower Texas coast.

Points receiving rain included Abilene, San Angelo, Junction, Mineral Wells, Breckenridge, San Antonio, Cotulla, McAllen, Brownsville, Corpus Christi and Palacios.

Skies cleared and temperatures dropped in the Panhandle-Plains sector on the heels of a weekend snowstorm. The white coverlet in that area finished melting Monday.

The Weather Bureau predicted drizzling rain would spread slowly eastward, ending in Central Texas by Tuesday night and in East Texas by Wednesday. All sections of the state were expected to warm Wednesday.

Top temperatures Monday afternoon varied from 38 degrees at Amarillo to 63 at Brownsville. Readings early Tuesday ranged down to 26 at Dalhart, 29 at Amarillo and Lubbock, 31 at Childress and El Paso.

Battered Indians Brace For Assault

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today named a new army chief of staff and told Parliament the battered Indian army is ready for a desperate stand against Chinese Communist warriors rushing toward the rich plains of Assam. Nehru also declared the Chinese "have sent many suggestions (for talks) but we are not going to accept any one of them. We shall continue the war until we win."

Gen. Joyanto Natch Chaudhuri, 54, commander of the Indian troops that seized Portuguese Goa last December in lightning conquest, was named to succeed Gen. P. N. Thapar.

Nehru said Thapar was relieved for health reasons and is going on a long leave. Like Thapar, the new commander is a graduate of Britain's famed Sandhurst military school and a veteran of World War II. Nehru said the Chinese are advancing from captured Bomdila, only 80 road miles from the plains, along a road which leaves the mountains and runs through a strip of jungle before emerging onto rich rice fields and tea estates.

"Defensive positions have been prepared in front of them and our troops will give battle there," Nehru said.

He said the Chinese were "a few miles beyond Bomdila." Between Bomdila and the plains there is one last mountain pass, 9,300-foot Eagle's Nest, that would offer a good defensive position.

The whole area, though south of the McMahon line and long under India's flag, is part of 51,000 miles of frontier territory claimed by the Chinese. They covet the North East Frontier Agency plus at least the northern section of Assam.

The American consul general in Calcutta, William Baxter, recommended that dependents of Americans on the north bank of the Brahmaputra River in Assam be evacuated. The Chinese are less than 50 air miles north of the river.

Baxter also recommended that Americans on the south bank urgently consider evacuation. There are about 100 Americans known to be living in Assam, mostly Baptist missionaries.

About 1,500 British tea planters and their families in Assam are considering evacuation.

The populous plains of Assam, which produce much of India's tea, rice and oil, were also threatened by a second Chinese drive bursting southward across India's northeast frontier district.

This column moved toward Assam down the Lohit River valley, near the Burma border, 300 miles to the east of Bomdila.

Nehru announced that in the Ladakh theater, 859 miles to the west, the Chinese have captured three more outposts guarding the vital Indian airfield at Chushul. He said the airfield, last main Indian base in the mountain passes of Ladakh, "remains firmly in our hands."

As bad news continued to pour in from the Himalayan battlefronts, informed sources said the Indian government may ask the United States and Britain for fighter planes.

Nehru sent an urgent personal plea Monday to President Kennedy for helicopters and transport planes. The Indian government is also reported to be in close contact with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

In a radio speech to the nation, Nehru called the fighting "a matter of survival for us" and said India was grateful "for the speedy help that came to us from friendly countries abroad, more especially from the United States and the United Kingdom."

Most Offices, Businesses Will Close Down For Holiday

Most Big Springers will be excused from work Thursday for the traditional Thanksgiving holiday.

City, county, state and federal offices will observe the holiday and most business houses will follow suit. Only emergency service will be provided by the utilities and Western Union will offer service on a broken schedule.

Thursday will be a holiday for city employees, except those required to be on duty in the event of emergency. Friday will be a regular day.

Police will work their regular schedules, but the offices will be closed, Chief Jay Banks said. The force will be stepped up a bit to handle the extra holiday traffic.

He said prisoners this year would receive a special treat of chicken and dressing, giblet gravy, hot biscuits and other trimmings for Thanksgiving dinner. Last year they were served venison and dressing.

COURT HOUSE

Howard County Court House employees will have off Thursday, but will be in business Friday as usual. Howard County Commissioners Monday discussed the holiday schedule and decided that a four-day holiday at Christmas will be more advantageous to workers. Offices will close Dec. 21 and will not reopen until the day after Christmas.

Sheriff Miller Harris said he has instructed Frank Glasscock, jailer, to prepare a special dinner for the county jail inmates Thursday. Glasscock said he would serve either chicken or turkey. He said there were 17 in jail Monday and that it is likely around 20 will be on hand for the Thanksgiving Day dinner. Harris said his office will operate Thursday and will be open as usual.

SCHOOL IS OUT

A four-day respite from school is in store for students in the Big Spring Independent School District for Thanksgiving, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent. Classes will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday and will not resume until Monday. Business offices of the school will also be closed.

The special Thanksgiving menu for the schools was served today. Included on the menu was sliced turkey over dressing, sweet pota-

THANKSGIVING SERVICE SET

Time of service for the Union Thanksgiving worship Thursday morning will be 10 o'clock, officials of the Big Spring Pastors Association said today.

The First Church of God, 2009 Main, will be the host church and its choir will supply the special music. The Rev. Donald Hungerford, rector of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church, will bring the message of thanksgiving.

Officials of the association were meeting Tuesday morning to make the final draft of the program. The offering at this traditional service will go to supplement funds for the high school Bible course.

toes, pineapple casserole, English peas, cranberry sauce, mince-meat squares, hot rolls and milk.

The Big Spring State Hospital will work only a skeleton crew and offices will be closed. However, special activities include a Thanksgiving service by Chaplain Max Maguire at 10:30 a.m. on Ward 8. Turkey and dressing is slated to top the usual Thanksgiving menu. Offices will be open as usual Friday.

FEDERAL

The Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, along with all other federal employees, will observe an official holiday Thursday with a regular work schedule planned Friday. At the hospital a crew will be on hand to care for patients and emergency work, but others will be off.

Turkey and all the trimmings will be served in the patient's dining room and bedfast patients will be served a Thanksgiving meal in trays. The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary will decorate the tables with special centerpieces, napkins and favors. A special evening program is planned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary from Lubbock.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company offices will be closed on the holiday and no installation service will be provided. Operators, however, will be prepared for a heavy holiday load of telephone calls. The office will resume the regular schedule Friday.

The main office of Western Union will be open from 9 a.m. to noon Thursday and the agency will work from 8-9 a.m. and from noon until 10 p.m. that day. Friday will be a regular workday.

ny and Pioneer Natural Gas will have only emergency personnel on duty Thursday. Offices will be closed. Friday will be a normal business day.

No mail will be delivered Thursday by the Post Office. A few persons will be on duty behind locked doors to work city and outgoing mail, but carriers will have a holiday. Special delivery will be the only mail available to citizens.

Webb Air Force Base will have a skeleton crew on normal stand-by holiday status and there will probably be no flying. Friday will be a normal workday.

Service men will be treated to a special Thanksgiving menu, which will be repeated at Christmas. Included are roast turkey, Virginia baked ham, Hawaiian sauce, giblet gravy, celery dressing, cranberry sauce, snowflake potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, buttered green peas, lettuce and tomato salad with piquante dressing, cole slaw with French dressing, mince-meat pie, pumpkin pie, nuts, fruit cake and other trimmings.

MOST TO CLOSE

Thanksgiving is an official city holiday for businessmen and only a few will not observe it. Most business houses will be closed Thursday and will resume regular schedules Friday. Cosden's downtown and refinery offices will close.

A meeting of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday to work out a final schedule for closing. At present it is still an individual decision, but most will apparently follow tradition and close for business.

Winter Fails To Invade Area

Winter failed to make its expected invasion of this area Monday night. Ominous and bone-chilling promises of biting cold, along with possible snow showers were on tap as Monday had come to an end. Everything looked like the predictions would come off.

Then the trigger jammed or something. Instead of getting colder and nastier, it warmed up. Instead of snow showers, light drizzles of non-freezing rain pattered down in the early morning hours. Officially, the total was rated as a trace.

The temperature, instead of dropping down to the 25 degree mark as had been indicated, was hard pushed to lower itself to 34 degrees. Heavy overcast greeted early risers and the misty drizzle which had pattered down intermittently during the early morning hours was still around as late as 9 a.m.

Then the sun rallied and pushed through the clouds. It began burning away the overcast, mopping up the dampness left by the drizzle, and restoring weather conditions to somewhat like they were before the recent cold front invaded the high plains country to the north last weekend.

Light overcoats and raincoats which had been much in evidence as the business day began, disappeared as the sun peeped through.

Indians, Soviets To Increase Trade

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and India have agreed to increase the number of ships plying between their ports, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced today.

It said an agreement on the matter has been signed in New Delhi. The agreement was viewed here as having diplomatic significance. Since the start of the fighting between India and Red China, every Soviet move in connection with either country has been subject to intense scrutiny.

It was the third friendly gesture toward India in recent days.

Another Trial For McClelland

HOUSTON (AP) — Another trial on a charge of converting estate funds to personal use has been set for Dec. 4 for Clem McClelland, former Harris County probate judge.

FROM U.S. Nehru Pleads For Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru has sent an urgent personal plea to President Kennedy for helicopters and transport planes.

The request was made in a letter delivered to the President on Monday by India's Ambassador B. K. Nehru, a cousin of the prime minister. Indian defenses were crumbling at the time as Red Chinese battalions advanced toward the populous plains of Assam.

The ambassador said he gave the President a report on the military situation and India's urgent defense needs in the border war.

Red troops stormed on Monday over the 13,756-foot Se Pass sector on the Himalayan front—which Indian troops had considered impregnable—and approached Assam, a state producing much tea, rice and oil.

India also sent requests to the U.S. State Department for more arms and equipment to supplement the $5 million worth already delivered. Engaged along a 1,500-mile frontier with Red China, India has a major problem in supply and equipment for its troops.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said the United States views seriously the large-scale Chinese attacks.

The Red offensive will grow, according to a Peking radio report. It said Red China's Premier Chou En-lai sent letters last Thursday to heads of 24 African and Asian nations saying U.S. arms aid to India would enlarge the conflict.

The radio report said Chou asked the African and Asian leaders to help promote a peaceful settlement.

U.S. officials here are concerned that Pakistan may agree to a nonaggression pact with Red China. This would open the way for Chinese troops to go through the Chumbri Valley 40 miles to Darjeeling and snap the narrow Indian corridor to Assam.

Pakistani officials say that current negotiations with Red China are "merely to insure that there is no border trouble between the two nations such as now exists between China and India."

Chavez' Body Lies In State

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — The body of Sen. Dennis Chavez lay in state today in the New Mexico state senate chambers, where an army of friends paid their last respects.

Chavez died in a Washington hospital Sunday at the age of 74. Vice President Lyndon Johnson is to attend funeral services at the head of a 10-man congressional group.

Advised To Leave

United Fund In Big Push For Final $3,000 Required

The United Fund for 1962-63 was so tantalizingly close to its requirement today that the old faithful group among volunteer workers were giving more time to seek out the areas of poor response, to work cards that were never completed, and to make a final pre-Thanksgiving appeal to close out this major civic responsibility.

The Fund today tabulated $100,221, just $3,103 short of the established goal.

And, it was the same old story: "If we could just get the prospect cards worked, and everyone would respond with his bit, it would be all over—and with success."

A tremendous push will be given to wind up the campaign this week. It is already a week past schedule.

A major report was handed today to Vice Chairman Jack Y. Smith by D. A. Brazel, who has directed the organized labor divisions of the solicitation.

Brazel pointed out that he had some groups who had participated in splendid fashion, others which have not yet done what they had indicated they would do.

Among those groups singled out for appreciation are the Communications workers, which group was 100 per cent, with gifts averaging $21 per person; the Col-Tex Pipeline group, 100 per cent with a $15.80 average; and the Cosden Pipeline Division, with a $12.50 average.

Brazel said that out of the whole Cosden wage division, there remained 151 individual cards unreported. A total of $3,836.42 has come from 447 contributors.

Workers at the Texas & Pacific Railway Company—207 of them—had accounted for $1,407.

Other reports from Brazel: Safeway employees, $44; Piggly-Wigly employees $65; Barbers, $115; Texas Coca-Cola employees, $187.50.

Brazel said there has not yet been a report from the building trades groups. "I feel sure that many of these workers will have a share in supporting the health, welfare and youth guidance organizations in our city which are dependent upon the United Fund," said the chairman.

"It's just that some people who said they would lend a hand haven't gotten around to it. I am appealing to all the volunteers in my group to finish the job, right now."

Scientists Whomp Up Grandfatherless Turkeys

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just in time for the Thanksgiving season, government scientists have mid-wifed a new batch of grandfatherless turkeys.

The little gobblers are much too young—and much too stupid—to start worrying about a holiday chopping block.

Eight or nine of them were hatched Monday at the Agriculture Department's poultry research center at nearby Beltsville Md. They're all doing fine, Dr. Marlow W. Olsen reported proudly.

Olsen made headlines eight years ago as the developer of the world's first known fatherless turkeys.

The fatherless birds—including 40 who are still scratching around in their pens at Beltsville—were born by the process of parthenogenesis.

They all developed spontaneously from eggs of virgin females without fertilization by male sperm. Parthenogenesis is common in insects and worms, but Olsen was the first scientist to observe it in poultry.

In recent years Olsen and his associates went a step further. They produced other turkeys by taking sperm from some of the dad-less birds, which are all males, and artificially inseminating ordinary turkey hens which had both a mom and a pop.

"In other words, you've been producing 'grandfatherless turkeys,'" suggested a reporter.

"I never thought of it that way," grinned Olsen, "but that's just what they are—grandfatherless on their father's side."

"And now that we're on the subject, we've also done something else in a few cases—produced turkeys without a grandfather on either side of the family by mating a daughter of a fatherless turkey with the son of a fatherless turkey."

Olsen reported that possibly several hundred gobblers without a grandpop have been born at Beltsville.

It's just possible that a number of them have wound up on dinner tables in some welfare institutions.

"We dispose of them from here as part of our surplus birds, and it's possible that some have been given to institutions for eating," said Olsen. "They wouldn't be placed on the market in commercial competition."

Olsen said there's no reason why the grandfatherless birds wouldn't make good eating, because they're from the same stock as Beltsville's famed "Beltsville small white" turkey—long on the market.

The same goes, he said, for the pioneering fatherless birds—though none of these prizes have ever been released from their Beltsville bailiwick, and none of the researchers have sampled them.

Of the 40 fatherless turkeys still alive, one is five years old. The biggest weighs 26 pounds, and, in general, they are as healthy and spry as any run-of-the-barnyard turkey, Olsen said.

They share still another characteristic with normal turkeys.

"They're stupid, just like all turkeys," says Olsen, "but even more so."

Hansford Dam, Reservoir OK

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Water Commission has approved the construction of a $3.5 million dam and reservoir in Hansford County in the Panhandle.

The Palo Duro River Authority is proposing the project to supply surface water to Perryton, Spearman and Gruver.

Hearing was held on the application in late October, with several persons testifying the project is not needed.

The primary opposition to the project came from oil companies with wells in the area and Ochiltree County Judge Gene Stegall.

The dam, as proposed, would impound 52,000 acre feet of water. An acre foot is 325,851 gallons. The dam would be on Palo Duro Creek.

Storms Hit N'West Areas

By The Associated Press

Stormy weather hit areas in the Northwest and rain and cloudy skies were reported in most of the eastern half of the nation today.

Rain, driven by winds as high as hurricane force, swept inland across Washington and Oregon to Wyoming and Montana Monday. Rain and stiff winds continued during the night.

Wind gusts up to 97 m.p.h. were clocked officially at Livingston, Mont., north of Yellowstone Park. Gusts up to 125 m.p.h. were recorded unofficially at Mt. Baldy, north of Cut Bank, Mont. The power-packed winds stirred up a dust storm across Montana from East Glacier to Glasgow. Telephone service was disrupted in several communities.

Rain damped areas from the Southern Plains through Tennessee into the Middle Atlantic States. Snow mixed with rain fell in mountain areas of Virginia. Light snow was reported in Lower Michigan.

The strong winds in the Northwest warmed air over the region. The 61 reading in Sheridan, Wyo., compared to 20 degrees at midnight Sunday.

DON'T DIVORCE A SICK WIFE!

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Get her well! When I read the divorce notices in the newspapers, I recall the many, many times I have seen a sick and distraught wife in the menopause period of their lives have appealed for help and understanding. I think, too, of the husband, himself perhaps in that dangerous, proud age, who has never been taught the lessons of life concerning his own or his wife's physical transformations during the age approaching forty and after.

When a wife enters the menopause period, many glands and organs must go to work to change her from a productive to a non-productive status.

Coordination of glands and organs, as they perform their miracles, is of vital dependence upon the conductivity of the nerve lines. If her nervous system cannot properly carry messages from the glands appealing for help to and from the brain control centers, she will be in serious trouble.

Her entire personality may change and she may become querulous, sharp, suspicious and quick tempered or neurotic, despondent, crying, imaginative and fearful, or may even become mentally unbalanced if nerve interference prevents full utilization of reparative forces in her body.

If you can't get along with her — get her well and her old sweet self will bring happiness to you both.

The following case is a very good example of what happens and what can be done about it.

A forty-year-old woman came to our office over two years ago with the complaints of severe and extreme headaches — tension in the neck and shoulders — extreme nervousness, crying and despondency — edema (water in the tissue) and nervous exzema. Not to mention the digestive disturbances and trouble with the kidneys and elimination. Examination both physically, spinally and radiologically disclosed the spinal disturbances in imbalances which prevented her from going through a normal physiological function with a minimum of trouble. Chiropractic reduced the nerve interferences and the offending vertebrae were corrected and today after two years — the awful feeling and symptoms are still gone and she is a relatively well woman. No. 746.

Take it from this experience, it is difficult to be a good wife and mother when sick. Good health is a wonderful feeling. Try for it! Hansen Chiropractic Clinic—Across from Piggly Wiggly — AM 3-3324. —Adv.

FREE FROM SIN

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2908 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1283

"Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness? But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed the doctrine which was delivered you. Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness" (Rom. 6:16-18).

Note that men are servants of sin because they "obey sin unto death;" and not because they inherit Adam's sin.

Note again that these people were the servants of sin until they became obedient; then they were made free from sin. Freedom from sin did not come by faith only.

Again note that the exact thing they obeyed was the "form of doctrine" the gospel. Now, the gospel is analyzed by Paul to be the death, burial and resurrection of Christ (I Cor. 15:1-4). Hence, the form of doctrine, which we obey to be made free from sin, is baptism. Man is "baptized into His death," buried with Him by baptism into death, that like as Christ was raised... we also should walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:3, 4).

Borger Man Has 521 Transfusions

DALLAS (AP) — Jerry Ward, 31, of Borger flew home Monday after 86 days in the Baylor University Medical Center, three operations and 521 blood transfusions — a probable record.

Still stretcher-bound, he left aboard a Texas Air National Guard C-47, smiling and asking that his thanks be relayed to "the people of Dallas."

His praise for those who cared for him throughout the long ordeal was echoed by his mother, Mrs. L. T. Ward.

"We came as strangers and we leave with a lot of friends... and please thank the blood donors for us," she said.

Attendants said Ward's medical care, but for the fact it was cost free, would have amounted to $38,523.55 even with 267 replacement pints of blood.

Ward is a victim of hemophilia. Even the slightest cut is dangerous.

Four days after he was flown to Dallas, doctors commented he might be the first case where a person "has stayed alive this far with what we suspect he has."

An operation confirmed their suspicion of a bleeding ulcer. A second was performed to correct further stomach bleeding. In a third operation, on Oct. 22, they severed the vagus nerves in hope of preventing more ulcers from forming. The vagus nerves stimulate acid secretion in the stomach.

Doctors struggled with other problems. The massive transfusions expanded his blood volume, and leakage into body tissue resulted. His body began to swell. This had to be overcome, they said, since "edema (swelling) acts just like heart failure."

An experimental drug — Fraction I, costly and obtained only after long and involved processing — was brought into his care. It contains important clotting factors.

This drug costs $55 a gram and for a long while doctors were giving him 12 and 14 grams daily. His total hospital bill was $25,403.55.

The Wadley Research Institute and Blood Bank, despite 267 pints of blood replaced by donors, needs 428 more pints or the equivalent of $12,840 to replace what Ward used, a spokesman said.

Another major worry was how to get him home. His doctor said he couldn't survive the trip by car.

Lt. Col. Nowell Didear, commander of the 136 Air Defense Wing of the Texas Air National Guard, erased that worry.

Tenth Nuclear Sub A Success

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The Navy's 10th nuclear-powered Polaris missile submarine, the USS Thomas Jefferson, has satisfactorily completed her first sea trials.

Vice Adm. H. G. Rickover, who directed the trials, says the performances of the vessel's skipper and crew were particularly outstanding. The submarine was commanded by Capt. L. R. Rathbun Jr. of East Aurora, N.Y.

Sues For Divorce

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. William G. Giesse of suburban Mayfield Heights, who won the Mrs. America title in 1958, is seeking a divorce. Her husband blames pressures of a modern life for their breakup.

Mrs. Giesse, 38, gave incompatibility as her grounds for divorce in a suit filed Saturday in Common Pleas Court by her attorneys.

Mrs. Giesse and her husband, who were married in 1945, said they still were friends and respected each other, but that divorce was the only answer to their personal problems.

The couple has three children.

U. S. In Viet Nam Learns What Frontiersmen Knew

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Americans in South Viet Nam are learning some lessons their forefathers knew by heart when the Indian and white man clashed for control of the North American continent.

Dotting the remote, jungle-covered highlands of central Viet Nam are hundreds of small forts and outposts, where Vietnamese troops and their American advisors base operations.

These operations are not intended to kill. They are to make friends and influence people.

Outside the posts are dark-skinned tribesmen, who dress in brilliant, hand-woven fabrics or loin clothes. They are silent, simple people, who hunt with spears and cross bows. Their arrows sometimes are tipped with deadly strychnine-based poisons extracted from native plants.

TRIBES SPLIT
Some are fighting on the side of the Saigon forces. Some are fighting for the Vietnamese Communist rebels. Most are content to be left alone by all outsiders.

There are 700,000 of these highland mountaineers, divided into about 34 main tribal groups and dozens of sub-groups. Few of the tribes speak common languages. Only a minority speaks Vietnamese, the national language.

Yet they are the dominant inhabitants of a sparsely populated area making up about two-thirds of South Viet Nam's land area.

As such, they are key elements in the deadly war between the Viet Cong and the government, whether they like it or not.

The problem for the government is to win their allegiance and persuade them to help strangle the Communist enemy working among them.

LITTLE CONTACT
For many years, outsiders—including the Vietnamese—have had little contact with the Montagnards, as they are called. Any contact was rarely cordial. Merchants from the lowlands selling the Montagnards cheap trinkets and beads often left cheated and embittered tribesmen behind.

In French colonial days, which ended only eight years ago, Montagnard workers often were exploited by highland plantations.

As in the early days of the American Indian, liquor plays an important role in community relations, and outsiders have to get used to the idea. A common greeting in the highlands is "Nam lu," meaning "Let's get drunk together."

In recent months, the pressure of war and blandishments in the lowlands have pushed more than 100,000 of these tribesmen away from their ancestral homes toward areas controlled by the government. The movement has created an enormous feeding problem for the government, but it is regarded as progress toward eventual victory in the highlands.

SLOW WORK
Saigon forces and U.S. advisors with them are cutting into Viet Cong influence, but the work goes slowly.

The Viet Cong, realizing years ago the importance of Montagnard support in their highland campaign, has been working hard among the tribes, sometimes marrying into them to strengthen ties.

Saigon forces are still trying to overcome the tendency to refer to the Montagnards as "Moi." That means savage and the tribesmen don't like the word.

Americans and Vietnamese are learning side by side how to avoid violating important taboos. One does not enter certain parts of houses, and one does not cut wood in certain places. The spirits inhabiting certain streams must not be offended by dumping refuse into the water.

BIG RISK
The anti-Communist forces have taken a big risk, but so far it seems to be paying off. They are arming many of the more reliable Montagnards with weapons better than arrows—rifles and tommy guns. It is a vote of confidence in the tribesmen, and it apparently is appreciated.

The bitter memories of the Indochina war still are reminders that the Montagnard can be a deadly enemy if he is not on your side.

The soft-spoken hunters played an important role supporting Viet Minh forces in North Viet Nam, especially in the closing months of the war at the battle of Dien Bien Phu.

Now the West is trying to avoid making the same mistake a second time.

DEAR ABBY

Thanks For Parents!

DEAR ABBY: I am 17, unmarried and am expecting a baby. Pete (not his real name) says he isn't ready for marriage and I should find somebody else. He is 20. My parents are standing by me and I feel terrible because they tried so hard to guide me right. Pete's father is dead, and his mother is sick and elderly, so my parents met with Pete and his older sister, who is 23 and married. Every time my father asked Pete a question, his sister answered for him. He acted like he didn't care a thing about me and, Abby, he said he loved me when we went together. All I want is a name for my baby. How can I get him to marry me? My father told him not to come around unless he had marriage in mind.

HEARTSICK AND BLUE
DEAR HEARTSICK: If Pete did marry you just to give your baby a name, his chances of being a good husband and father would be poor. Make your plans without him, and thank God for your loyal parents. You are young and can still make a good life for your self. If you want help in finding a home for unwed mothers near you, let me know. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee with a year-old daughter. I am planning to be married again in the near future. If I shortened my original wedding gown and dyed it a pastel, do you think it would be appropriate to wear for my second wedding? MADGE

DEAR MADGE: No. Start your new married life with a new dress. And better luck this time!

DEAR ABBY: You are wrong. It's NOT the wife's place to see that her husband looks presentable. If a man doesn't care how he looks, his wife should let him go around looking like a bum and pretend she's not with him. I have eight children to dress, and I can't dress them and my husband, too. If I could drive the car, I'd leave him home. HOMER'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: Will you please devote a little space to telling your readers what you think of people who would steal the flowers from an infant's grave? If you think this problem does not concern a great number of people, you are mistaken.

ANGRY FATHER
DEAR ANGRY: Such thievery is beneath contempt, of course. The only solution is better policing of cemeteries.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Calm Prevails In Mexico, Newsmen Told

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Presidential secretary Humberto Romero held a rare news conference Monday to assure foreign newsmen that calm prevails in Mexico.

He said the purpose was to give correspondents an accurate appraisal of scattered incidents involving violence during the weekend.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' secretary said there was no evidence of any organized uprising.

Events which occurred during the weekend included:

- About 300 armed men attacked a small army post at Huajuaplan de Leon, 150 miles southeast of Mexico City, and have been arrested.
- Seven incendiary bombs were tossed into the grounds and an office of the Soviet Embassy.
- The Cuban embassy reported finding five dynamite bombs inside its main building.
- A gang attacked the city hall at Ciudad Hidalgo, Michoacan state, and killed the mayor.
- An explosion in the Ciudad Pemex, Tabasco, oil refinery laboratory, killed an undetermined number of persons. Newspapers reported 20 died in the blast.

Observers report special precautions are being taken by the United States embassy here, either because of the Soviet bombing or because of an increase in Communist activity in the wake of the Cuban crisis.

The attack at Huajuaplan, in the state of Oaxaca, had nothing to do with any revolutionary attempt, Romero said, and could not be blamed on any political party. He blamed farm laborers angered because their petitions for land had not been promptly taken care of.

Bottles Asea Take Friendly Notes To Cuba

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Some Mobile children have dispatched letters of friendship to Cuba—in bottles via ocean waves.

The project came to light after a red, white and blue bottle washed ashore at Pompano Beach Fla. It contained an American flag and a note written on stationery from St. Paul's Episcopal church in Mobile.

The church said the note and 50 others like it were drafted by children during summer Bible classes. The bottled letters were given to a steamship captain, who dropped them in the Gulf of Mexico.

"The letters were to show our Cuban friends that Christian love still continues in spite of our differences," said the Rev. William S. Mann.

A Devotional For The Day

It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High. (Psalms 92:1.)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for our Savior, Jesus Christ — the best of all Thy gifts. Give us grace humbly to ascribe all glory and praise to Thee, the giver of every good and perfect gift. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

More Critical Times Ahead

If it has not already come, the Cuban situation is approaching another of its showdown stages. The United States has properly insisted that jet bombers, furnished by the Russians, must go from the island as did the missiles. To plead that they were sold to Cuba and therefore are no concern of the Russians is silly. So, one way or another the security of this country demands that they must be removed, and this has explosive potentialities.

Meanwhile, the U. S. is continuing its aerial surveillance of Cuba. Castro has shouted defiance and threatened to fire upon our planes. If he does, this will undoubtedly bring reciprocal action either in rockets or bombs upon anti-aircraft installations. Here again are explosive potentialities.

The Cubans, with the Russians parroting the line, have demanded that the United States give up its naval base at Guantanamo. We are there by right of treaty and with a history of non-aggressive action for half a century. Any effort to blast us out of that position would unleash a withering curtain of fire. Moreover, it would likely convert Guantanamo from its status of a base supply into a springboard. Despite Castro's forerunners, Cuba is not apt to consider any overt acts against Guantanamo.

Hints that Russia may have other offensive weapons such as submerged missiles which may be anchored, then aimed and fired by remote control add further complications. This indeed would be offensive and a reckless offensive gesture. From the point of stark realism, it is difficult to credit these rumors, for the presence of such weapons would mean one of two things: Russia would be making a direct offensive threat (as with the first missiles not removed, or she would be turning over to Cuba the power to trigger an universal holocaust. Russia is not likely to put its own destiny or survival in the hands of a hothead like Castro.

Wanton Vandalism

One of the things which has always been beyond our comprehension is wanton vandalism. Of late, we have had some examples of this in our city, and it is a disturbing matter.

For example, a house—being moved—was left beside a highway at the edge of town. Someone got into it and broke out every window pane. In addition, window and door frames which had been removed and put in the floor for safety were stomped. Just for good measure, the bathroom fixtures were torn loose and beaten.

The other night two young men, barred from a business establishment, reportedly began slashing tires on a new car and trailer until all the tires were ruined.

There have been reports in times past of ice picks being used on car tires for no apparent reason. There also have been reports of window breaking (what about the former home of the crippled children's center where vandals have smashed every window and torn up some of the electric and plumbing fixtures?) and of utter destruction without any seeming motive or purpose.

Much of this may be laid to juveniles bent on senseless mischief, but not all of it. We will admit that it is difficult to get at the bottom of this, but it is not always impossible. Where those responsible for such wanton destruction can be brought to the bar of justice, we feel that the sternest punishment within the province of the court should be considered seriously.

program for the expansion of laboratories and test facilities is well along.

THE MANNED SPACECRAFT Center has been moved from Langley, Va., to Houston, and expanded to perform its job of providing the spacecraft for manned space flight, and training the astronauts. Houston facilities are under construction.

NASA's Launch Operations Center has been formed to handle its activities at Cape Canaveral. A vast tract of land north of present Canaveral sites has been obtained to establish an extensive base for launching huge space vehicles. This will be NASA's moon port.

UNMANNED PROBES are being launched with scientific instruments to learn more about the lunar region and space about us. Their findings will help make manned space travel safer and easier.

As you can see, much planning and preparation have been done for the lunar journey. Much remains to be done. A concentrated, sustained effort will be needed for several years to reach our goal.

Government, education, and industry are marshaling their strength for the joint investigation of space. We must continue to press forward as rapidly as the advancement of technology permits. The rewards that accompany success make failure intolerable.

LANDING A MAN on the moon is just one of the goals of a broad program of space exploration being conducted by NASA, but it is an important one. Its achievement will buttress our position as world leader in the continuing struggle for freedom and peace. But this is primarily a scientific search for new knowledge of the universe. The surface of the moon and its internal structure may provide clues to the history of the solar system and to the birth of the planets. There we may find clues to the origin of the universe.

LET'S NOT overlook the significance of developing the technology that will make a lunar landing possible. Learning how to build all the equipment necessary to get to the moon may be even more important than the lunar landing itself. New scientific knowledge spurs the advancement of technology, and a growing technology feeds the economy. New and better products and more jobs are the result.

Although the total space program is costing billions of dollars a year, the cost per individual in the United States is less than 25 cents a day. This is less than the quarter you give your child each morning for lunch at school.

Both are sound investments in that child's future.

Kennedy Press Relations Getting Sticky

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's relations with the press are getting sticky. News-men don't like the way his administration has handled them or information.

He faces questions about this evening at his first news conference since Sept. 13. But he's had the idea of some restraint on news stories in a critical period, like this one with Cuba, since early in his administration.

His administration's ideas about this, and newsmen's ideas about it, came into conflict after the Cuban crisis erupted because of what his administration said and did.

AS A RESULT of newsmen's criticism, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said his House Government Operations subcommittee would look into the situation. The 10-week gap in his news conferences is understandable to some extent because Cuba became a critical problem since his last meeting with reporters. Actually he has held more news conferences this year than last.

He Lives His Life

NEW YORK (AP)—"When I wake up each morning," said director John Huston, "I think it offers more possibilities than any day I've ever known before."

"I don't live very much in the past. I don't prefer anything that ever happened to me over what might happen today or tomorrow."

Tall and spare at 56, Huston, son of the late actor, Walter Huston, has long been known as one of Hollywood's blither spirits and most versatile geniuses.

John has ruffled grayish hair, and a crinkled face.

He has operated on the theory that life is something to live as you go along. He has been a boxer, actor, member of the Mexican cavalry, newspaper reporter, magazine writer, painter, U.S. soldier, script writer and film producer.

"The mistake most people make in living is taking the wrong things too seriously, such as giving a false importance to passing events that don't deserve it," Huston said as he sat, hunched in an old dressing robe in his hotel room, breakfasting on a big bowl of middy Manhattan clam chowder.

"People worry more about their economic security than their lives."

They are more afraid of losing their jobs than of having the atomic bomb go off.

"I never worry about having a job—and I've been broke a number of times. In fact I'm always broke."

"Once I had a brief unhappy period of solvency a number of years ago. But by a desperate effort I got out of it. I even had a bank balance, but I got rid of it."

One of the ways he avoids solvency is to maintain a 100-acre estate in County Galway—"any cottage of more than three rooms in Ireland is a castle"—where he rides to the hounds and keeps 22 horses and ponies. He tries to spend half of each year there.

"The things that are important to me," he said, "are my kids, my wife, my friends, my work and having a good time. A good time to me is doing the things I like to do."

"I like to go fox hunting or on safari, to visit art galleries and collect primitive art."

"When I was 50 years old, I decided I'd have a shot glass of bourbon on awaking every morning as a little reward for good clean living. But I haven't been able to live up to it. Like with most good resolutions, you keep forgetting."

To Your Good Health

Heel Spurs Caused By Calcification

Questions occasionally arrive in streaks, with a lot of people suddenly asking about the same thing. This has happened on heel spurs. Here's a typical inquiry:

"I suffer from a spur on my heel and nothing I can do seems to help it. What causes this and what can I do?"—M.P."

A "spur" is a calcification of a tendon in the heel. As you know, calcification is part of the natural process of healing a wound, injury or inflamed area. Calcium is a necessary ingredient of "scar tissue" of all kinds.

Unfortunately sometimes the lumpy scar area may be in a place where it is painful. It is, in principle, something like a corn or callus. It forms to protect us; it can be a nuisance, though.

Principal causes of heel spurs are excessive pressure, injury from a blow, or infection in the area, of which bursitis is an example. The tendon is damaged and then heals.

Some spurs cause no discomfort, any more than scars elsewhere. They show up when the foot is X-rayed. If they don't bother you, forget about them.

If the calcification is so located that it is painful when you walk, that's time enough to take action. Fortunately, in most cases cushioning of the heel is effective. This must be designed to support your weight and yet not let the pressure force the hardened, calcified area against sensitive tissues.

For that reason I suggest that the best and quickest, and perhaps even the least expensive way, is to consult a specialist in foot ailments to get cushioning that will really do the job. X-ray showing the calcified spur will of course help him solve the problem.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a swing shift worker. As a result, is my life expectancy longer or shorter than average?—W.D.

To the best of my knowledge there is no difference in longevity or general health, provided you adjust your eating, sleeping and recreational habits to your working hours.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 15 years old, 4 feet 11 inches tall, and weigh 100 pounds. I was fat or chubby until I went on a diet last year and lost 30 pounds.

My menstrual cycle is all mixed up. It started and then after I lost 10 pounds it stopped and I didn't have a period for four months. It was normal, but then I missed again. Is there any way I can have regular periods without putting on weight? My diet permits 1,000 to 1,500 calories a day. Should I eat more? I feel perfectly healthy and strong.—P.C.

Such irregularity is not in the least unusual for girls your age. The number of calories is not a factor. (In fact, being overweight often contributes to irregularity.) If your weight remains at a standard level, you don't need to eat more. However, you must watch out for one thing: Be sure to get enough protein—lean meat, fish, eggs, cheese. All teen-agers need adequate protein for their bodies to develop.

It is possible that some thyroid imbalance could be present and should be looked for, but other than that I think you will find that your cycle will regulate itself presently.

"Don't Quit Because of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim

How The Oklahoma Capital Was Stolen

I have met and talked with a number of prominent men who openly boasted of the part they had in one of the boldest thefts in modern history.

They helped to steal a state capital from one city and move it to another. The 58th anniversary of statehood for Oklahoma, which fell last Saturday, reminded me of these men and of the deed they perpetrated.

When Oklahoma Territory was opened to settlers in 1889 the first town staked out and recognized as the capital of the new land was Guthrie. Guthrie was near the center of the territory. It had a running start over other towns.

DURING THE YEARS from 1889 to 1907, Guthrie continued in its role as capital. However, another settlement had developed just a few miles away—Oklahoma City. This new town was sort of an upstart place. In no time at all, it had grown to match the size of Guthrie and then it outdistanced its older sister. It began to have ambitions.

Why, its people demanded, was the capital of the territory in Guthrie—it should be in Oklahoma City?

Time rolled on and Oklahoma was added to the states when President Theodore Roosevelt signed the proclamation in 1907. Guthrie, happy in its new role as one of the nation's capital cities, placidly went along in the even tenor of its ways.

THERE WAS DIRTY WORK being developed at the cross-roads, though.

A number of high officials in capitol building were openly in favor of moving the capital to Oklahoma City. Guthrie boosters fought every effort to make the change in ordinary ways. They thought Guthrieites were lulled into the belief they had the situation under control. In 1910, things reached a sort of climax.

The anti-Guthrie element decided it was time to do something.

That's where my friends entered the picture.

LATE ONE NIGHT, a curtained survey pulled up at the rear of the state capitol building. There was a bit of bustle about, mostly in the dark. The survey was quickly loaded down with mysterious parcels.

One in particular was handled with great care. It was placed on the spring seat beside the driver. Several men on horseback joined the survey as it passed out of Guthrie on the road to Oklahoma City. The drive took some time but eventually the vehicle and his mysterious cargo was hurriedly unloaded and carried into rooms already reserved in an Oklahoma City Hotel.

The special package was carefully unpacked and placed on a desk in one of the rooms.

The horsemen shook hands with one another and departed.

A BEARDED GENT with all of the traditional earmarks of a professional politician took his seat at the desk.

"Gentlemen," said the bearded man, "I hereby proclaim Oklahoma City as the official capital of the grand and sovereign state of Oklahoma."

He picked up the mysterious object which had been accorded preferential treatment on the midnight journey.

"I hereby officially place the great seal of this state on the proclamation," said the bearded gent.

And that's how a state capital was stolen from one town and established in another.

Stand-Up Mink Is IN!

One of the most phenomenal successes in the newspaper biz in recent years is the emergence and vast popularity of a new type of advice column—not the old-type agony column full of kiss-and-tell (and what other nation so devoted to free public education produces so many females who learn too late the HE is already married and has three kids?) but a new-type column on household advice.

THE HOUSEHOLD problems of others turn out to be almost as fascinating as the emotional trials of girls who, after winning honors in zoology, can't tell a wolf from a weasel.

Since these household columns began I have learned how to make pineapple jelly jell, how to make an electric blanket into just a plain blanket (turn it off), how to keep a dog from jumping on the best furniture (restrict him to the garage) and what to do about spots on old diamonds (throw them away and start all over).

BUT I OFFER a new and profound problem today, one really worthy of the Delphic talents of the household prophetesses. Indeed, this is a problem which would never have come my way if I had not been trapped at a large and lush fashion show recently.

Just to level with the audience, I was the commentator at the show, a worthy affair to raise money to aid retarded children. But the truth is that I am the most unlikely commentator of fashion shows this side of Gravel Gerty or, perhaps, Tugboat Annie.

THE PROOF of this is that I have been worrying ever since about the problem of the underprivileged woman who can't afford to buy a new mink coat annually, and especially this season. The problem for this woman, and it is a very serious one, is how to scare the bejambers out of her mink wrap.

Traditionally, fright is supposed to raise the hackles and the hair on any animal, including the human. And the fashionable look in mink this season, contrary to past seasons, is the stand-up or scared-hair look. This new look was carefully and earnestly explained to me by the furrier, so I, in turn, could explain it to the audience, largely wrapped in old or lie-down mink.

"THE NEW LOOK for dressy mink" and I am quoting the designer verbatim, "is the new hair-up look, not the hair-down look of the past. This is achieved by hanging the mink skin by the tail instead of by the head, as in other seasons."

"This upside-down treatment of the skins makes the hair or fur fall forward (I hope you're following me, or him?). This gives mink, if the skins are from the very best male animals, a rich, deep look, like sable."

"IN OTHER WORDS," I said, trying to get the new look through my beaver bonnet, "mink coats in the past have been made on the same pattern as the animal—the fur has run down mildly" back as it did originally on the mink.

"Yes," said the furrier patiently, "but this year on dressy mink coats we are reversing the natural trend of the fur. It achieves a particularly plush look in black mink."

"When is mink not dressy?" I asked, and humbly, too.

"WHEN IT'S FOR sport, for football, for driving the convertible," he said. "For that you can use the female skins which don't lend themselves to the reverse look."

"But the male animal, worked with the hair up, not only looks lusher and plusher, but banishes that shiny look of mink which is now so old hat," he added.

SO NOW YOU KNOW? The new look in mink is not only ugly-daisy but that a greasy kid stuff is also out. "OUT" It is obvious that if the old mink and its owners are to be saved from the ultimate humiliation, some way must be found to scare the old coat until every hair on it is a candidate for Harpo's wig.

The Administration And The Press

WASHINGTON — With rare exceptions no President has failed sooner or later, and usually sooner, to come into conflict with the press. For all his shrewd and informed understanding of mass communication and the communicators, President Kennedy has reached that phase of the exercise in lone authority which is the lot of every Chief Executive choosing to use the authority that is his.

ON THE DAY the Cuban crisis began—the day the President received the first hard intelligence on the bases—he spoke to a background meeting of press and broadcasters. Following a routine exposition of foreign policy, he said he was reminded of a poem. He recited the following by Domingo Ortega, "A Bullfight," as translated by the poet Robert Graves:

"Bullfight critics ranked in rows
Crowd the enormous plaza full;
But only one is there who KNOWS
And he's the man who fights
The bull."

It was a clue to his mood. Late Sunday, 24 hours before his historic broadcast, the White House heard that news of the impending blockade had leaked. The President believed premature publication would jeopardize his whole strategy, giving the Soviets a chance to act first. But whether he himself would go so far in such a situation as to ask that the news be held back is conjecture.

SINCE THEN several incidents have increased the resentment within the White House and in the Administration. The press in turn, darkly suspicious, has pushed in to defend the right to know and to print in a free society.

Is this right threatened? Is the national security endangered when, in the cold war, secret information is printed as news that might not otherwise be known to a powerful adversary? Does the government have a right to expect the news media to impose self-restraints?

THESE QUESTIONS are being widely discussed in Washington today. The following appraisal of both points of view is based on talks with the highest officials in the Departments of State and Defense, with aides who work closely with the President and with editors and others long concerned with press freedom.

Within the Administration the feeling is strong that the cold war, with Cuba as a supreme instance, does call for restraints. The President will himself make no move in this direction. But he feels keenly that the press should impose its own discipline.

A REMARK by Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester about the generation of news as a tool in a cold-war crisis touched off a furor. Why Sylvester actually said was the generation of news by action of the government was a weapon, this last being a practice almost as old as government itself. These remarks coincided with an order by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that seemed to put a damper on news out of the Pentagon.

THE PRESIDENT 18 months ago invited a committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to the White House. He showed them top-secret documents, and the news stories that had somehow been based on these documents together with the damage he believed had been done as a result. In effect, he was saying to the editors: What do you propose to do?

Their answer was that, short of actual shooting and war-time censorship, nothing could be done. Any self-imposed restraints would not cover the reporting of foreign correspondents in America. They would be free to send what they chose to their papers, since there would be no control over the wires or the mails. The news would then bounce back here.

THAT IS WHERE the situation stands today, the grim ordeal of Cuba having modified it little, if at all.

Packing Our Bags For The Moon Trip

By DR. WERNER VON BRAUN
(Director of NASA Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Alabama)
Guest Columnist

The goal of reaching the moon by the end of this decade is at the same time an inspiring challenge and a staggering task.

It has become one of America's national objectives, openly expressed by the President in precisely defined and easily understood terms. All the world knows of our hopes and ambitions for this phase of our space exploration program.

THE ROLE OF performing this herculean task has been given to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, headed by James E. Webb. All of us in NASA have accepted the role eagerly but solemnly, and are determined not to violate the trust that has been given us.

Each of you has a stake in our task, and we are grateful for the keen interest you have shown in our efforts. You share the pride of each success, the disappointment of any failure—and you help to pay the bill for both. Congress has earmarked 3.8 billion dollars of the taxpayers' money for NASA for the current fiscal year.

THE LUNAR LANDING project is part of the manned space flight program, directed by D. Brainerd Holmes. Reporting directly to him are three of NASA's centers primarily engaged in the program: The Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, The Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, and The Launch Operations Center at Cape Canaveral.

What has NASA done during the 18 months since the President has called for full steam ahead in our space program? Here are a few highlights of the progress made in packing our bags for a trip to the moon.

PROJECTS GEMINI, involving a two-man spacecraft, and Apollo, with a crew of three astronauts, have been approved for the extension of manned space flight after the conclusion of Project Mercury.

The lunar orbit rendezvous method has been selected as the mode for the first lunar landing attempt.

The advanced Saturn C-5 has been chosen as the lunar launch vehicle, and its development assigned to The Marshall Center. The Michoud plant in New Orleans has been acquired for the manufacture of Saturn boosters, and the Mississippi test facility is under construction nearby. The Marshall Center construction

Decision Due In Cotton Case

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP)—A board of review is expected to complete today its hearing on a $24,939.52 penalty assessed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture against Pecos County farmer William Ramsey.

The department contends the cotton acreage allotment transfers were illegal, Ramsey said he never owned the land but was leasing it and the penalty should be nullified.

Should the review board nullify the penalty, its decision is final. Should it uphold the penalty Ramsey may appeal.

Dr. Harold Lindley of Pecos testified Monday he subdivided his 400-acre tract of land in the Cayonsa area of Pecos County and sold it to eight individuals in March, 1961. He said he leased back the land for a five year period and then subleased it to Ramsey on a percentage basis to farm with the use of cotton allotments which had been transferred to the land, mostly from Limestone and Freestone counties in Central Texas.

Jack Browder of Pecos, who negotiated the sales of the eight tracts, testified they were sold to persons who had lost their lands under condemnation proceedings to the federal government.

The law provides that farmers who lose their land under such conditions may transfer their cotton acreage allotments to any land they purchase.

Ex-Aide Quotes Ike: Nixon Wasn't Presidential Timber

NEW YORK (AP)—After they had served four years together, Dwight D. Eisenhower did not regard Richard M. Nixon as "presidential timber," the former president is quoted as saying in a magazine article by a longtime aide.

In the current issue of Look, Emmet John Hughes, then a campaign assistant and speech writer for Eisenhower, quoted him as saying of his vice president in 1956: "The fact is, of course, that I've watched Dick a long time and he just hasn't grown. So I just haven't honestly been able to believe that he is presidential timber."

An aide of Eisenhower, who now lives in Gettysburg, Pa., said the former president would not comment on Hughes' article, entitled "The Eisenhower I Knew."

Hughes wrote that his quoted conversation with Eisenhower took place in August 1956. On Aug. 22 that year, the Republican National Convention renominated the Eisenhower-Nixon team.

Eisenhower's words, as he opened the Republican campaign three weeks later, on Sept. 12, he believed the misgivings Hughes said the former president had expressed.

"There is no man in the history of America," Eisenhower said then, "who has had such a careful preparation as has Vice President Nixon for carrying out the duties of the president if that duty should ever fall upon him."

The question of succession to the presidency was a major issue in the 1956 campaign. Eisenhower had been sidelined for months by a heart attack the year before, and was stricken in mid-1956 by an attack of leitis.

Hughes wrote that Eisenhower had encouraged the effort by Harold E. Stassen, then his adviser on disarmament, to get the GOP convention to drop Nixon from the 1956 ticket.

The writer quoted Eisenhower as saying: "I told Harold he should feel entirely free, so long as he did not purport to speak in my name, and I meant it."

Earlier in 1956, Hughes wrote, Eisenhower had urged Nixon to leave the national ticket and take a Cabinet post, where the president felt "he could get some executive and administrative experience."

After Nixon had chosen to run again for the vice presidency, according to Hughes, Eisenhower said: "The thing Dick may have figured was that 1960 (the year of the following presidential election) didn't matter too much, and in the event of my disablement, he'd take over and at least have the presidency for that long."

Two youngsters, one 13 and the other 15 were taken before Ed Carpenter, juvenile judge, Monday afternoon for car theft.

The boys, both in the eighth grade, told the court they walked to the bowling arena east of town, prowled among the parked cars until they found one in which the keys were still in the switch. They drove the car to Colorado City. One tire, one of the youths said, was damaged on the trip.

The court, after hearing the report on the youths from Bob Darland, juvenile officer, and Wayne Burns, county attorney, ordered them probation to their parents.

They were told one more misstep and they would be on their way to the State Training School for Boys at Gatesville.

Walker Aides Open Attack

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Attorneys for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker opened their attack today on a court-ordered mental test in the federal government's suit charging him with seditious conspiracy and inciting insurrection.

While Walker sat expressionless in the small court room, his attorneys argued that the mental examination should "not be permitted to pollute the records of this court."

The attorneys contended the examination was a violation of Walker's constitutional rights. They maintained there was no reason for such an examination because he had not been indicted by a federal grand jury, nor had a U.S. attorney presented a bill of information.

The hearing is before U.S. Dist. Judge Claude Clayton.

Walker was arrested in Oxford in connection with a desegregation riot at the University of Mississippi. He was freed on $50,000 bond six days later, with the stipulation he undergo psychiatric examination.

Two men died and scores of persons were injured in the Sept. 30 violence that raged across the college campus in protest of the arrival of Negro James H. Meredith.

In their motion, Walker's attorneys contended the controversial Army officer's constitutional rights were violated and asked that all mention of a court-ordered mental test be stricken from the record. The federal government said Walker wants to show he submitted to tests voluntarily.

Walker was examined by psychiatrists at Dallas, his home, more than a week ago. Results of the tests have not been revealed.

The drillstem test was taken from 9,154-67 feet with gas to the surface in four minutes. It died in 10 minutes and oil surfaced in 10 minutes, flowing at the rate of 25 barrels per hour. The flow was through a half-inch choke and the oil was 45 degrees gravity. Gas-oil ratio was 450-1. In all, the test made 65 barrels of oil and no water. The flowing pressure was between 690 and 1,410 pounds. The shut-in pressure after 66 minutes was 3,658 pounds and after two hours, 3,475 pounds.

The No. 9 TXL pumped 68 barrels of 35.5-gravity oil, with 24 per cent water, on initial potential from perforations between 1,528-31 feet. The gas-oil ratio was 170-1 and pay was fraced with 2,000 gallons. It was topped at 1,528 feet, from elevation KB 2,521 feet, and 5/8 inch casing was set at 2,446 feet. # 'Too Early' To Tell Cuban Offer Value

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today it is too early to know just what value to put on an offer by Fidel Castro to give up the Soviet jet bombers now in Cuba.

Rusk took that attitude after an early morning meeting at the White House with President Kennedy and other high officials.

Castro was reported by Havana radio to have written Acting U.S. Secretary-General U Thant of his willingness to have the bombers removed from Cuba, implying that he made his move because they are old and slow.

Receipt of the message was confirmed at the United Nations in New York.

Removal of the bombers has been a key issue in the stalled U.S.-Soviet negotiations on a Cuban settlement. Kennedy holds Soviet Premier Khrushchev responsible for withdrawing offensive weapons and puts the bombers in the past but attached conditions not acceptable to the United States.

In any case, U.S. authorities made clear, this country is holding the Soviet Union responsible for removal of the bombers as well as the missiles.

Kennedy is to hold an eagerly awaited news conference at 6 p.m. EST today at which he is expected to give an up-to-date report.

The news conference, Kennedy's first since the start of the Cuban crisis, is to be nationally broadcast and televised. It also will be broadcast throughout the world by the Voice of America.

Without any explanation, Kennedy's meeting today with the executive committee of the National Security Council was put off from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

PROVIDE TIME

Whether that is the purpose or not, the shift would provide time for an evaluation, just before the news conference, of any Soviet follow-up to Castro's move.

U.S. authorities made it clear that what Kennedy says tonight or lack of word—from the Soviets during the day about removal of the bombers.

Without setting up a definite timetable that would give the proposition one of the major elements of an ultimatum, U.S. negotiators nevertheless have emphasized to the Soviets at the United Nations that they were in a hurry for a satisfactory response on the point. The schedule for the Kennedy broadcast provided an implied time marker.

"OUTDATED"

Soviet negotiators are reported to have contended so far that the planes are outdated, implying the United States should not be so insistent on their removal. The Cubans have sought to give the impression the planes belong to them.

Castro's declaration that he is willing to give up the craft because they are out of date would appear to be a face-saving solution for the Cuban leader.

Havana radio renewed Castro's threat to draw U.S. reconnaissance planes that are still flying in the absence of the U.S.-specified inspection inside Cuba to see that Soviet missiles and other offensive weapons are actually removed, and restated his rejection of on-the-spot verification by outsiders.

Khrushchev has offered to withdraw the bombers in the past but only on such terms that the United States would not agree. Among other things, the Soviets have been backing Castro demands including withdrawal of the United States from its big naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.

WILL WE GIVE IN?

If the bombers do depart from Cuba, Kennedy is expected to give consideration to carrying out some part of the commitments of his deal with Khrushchev. Kennedy has told Khrushchev that upon withdrawal of offensive weapons from Cuba and establishment of international safeguards to insure Cuba is free of such weapons, the United States would lift its blockade of Cuba and pledge not to invade the island.

There had been no concrete indication that Kennedy would be able to report further progress on the Cuban situation when he goes before newsmen at 6 p.m. EST for the news conference to be carried by major radio and television networks.

But there had been optimism among administration officials in recent days that some arrangement with withdrawal of the bombers from Cuba would be worked out prior to the President's meeting with newsmen—his first in 10 weeks.

TOO MANY STRINGS

Authoritative sources reported last Thursday that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had offered to withdraw the bombers, but had attached so many conditions that the proposal was unacceptable to Washington.

Therefore, any new offer by

Castro would get close scrutiny for attached "ifs."

The prime minister was quoted as saying again today that he would never consent to on-site inspection for the removal of offensive weapons.

Once again, according to the broadcast, he declared he would stop aerial reconnaissance of the island by U.S. planes. Washington authorities have made it clear that any attempt to interfere with the reconnaissance planes would be met by force.

President Kennedy has never before allowed 10 weeks to lapse without meeting with newsmen. Since the Cuban crisis boiled up last month, the administration has kept a damper on news of the situation.

On Oct. 22, Kennedy declared that the Soviet Union was building offensive missile bases in Cuba and was bringing in jet bombers.

He threw an offensive arms blockade around the island and told Moscow to pull back its missiles and bombers.

On Nov. 2 in a brief broadcast, Kennedy reported the dismantling of the Soviet rockets and said "progress is now being made towards the restoration of peace in the Caribbean." He promised to "continue to keep the American people informed on this matter."

A break in the crisis had come with an Oct. 27-28 exchange between Kennedy and Khrushchev. Not all of the messages were made public. In those that were, Khrushchev said he had ordered withdrawal of offensive weapons. Kennedy said he would lift the arms blockade and give a no-invasion pledge upon the establishment of international safeguards to assure Khrushchev carried out his commitment and offensive weapons would not re-enter Cuba.

No progress had been reported from U.S.-Soviet negotiations which have been under way in New York for more than two weeks on the Cuban situation.

'FROG' MISSILES COULD HIT GUANTANAMO BASE

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States has learned that tactical missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads have been hidden inside Cuba and the missiles are capable of reaching into Guantanamo naval base, the New York Herald Tribune reported today.

Known as "Frogs," these ground-to-ground mobile missiles have a range of about 25 miles, the newspaper said in a Washington dispatch from its Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, Marguerite Higgins.

She wrote that administration officials were unwilling to explain how they obtained "clear evidence" that the missiles were hidden inside Cuba.

"Frog"—Firing Range Over Ground—missiles are capable of using both conventional explosives and atomic warheads.

In effect, they amount to long-range artillery weapons of a kind that could be crucial in a push against the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Welcome TO

BIG SPRING WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 64-D

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 64-D. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

A
"HOSPITALITY GIFT"
For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK

Tim Smith, Bill Turner Among Grid Repeaters

Among area football players who distinguished themselves in games last week were Tim Smith, Big Spring's stellar lineman who did much to foul up Abilene's passing and running game last week: Coahoma's fullback, Bill Turner and Jim Alexander, a converted guard who helped Forsan nail down the District 6-B eight-man football championship.

T. SMITH B. TURNER

All qualified for the Daily Herald's Player of the Week certificates, as did several other athletes. The nominees: BIG SPRING LINEMAN—Tim Smith. This was a hairline decision because of the excellence of play by half dozen or others on the line. However, Tim came through with key tackles and key blocks at critical moments and set a pattern of leadership for the line. He practically killed the quick pitch-out threat Buster Barnes and Walter Minter did outstanding jobs, and Barnes' downfield blocking was tremendous. Minter did an outstanding job on defense and kept pressure on the passer. Ricca Flores, Robert Wilson and Thurman Randle turned in the best job of play at guard for the season. Mike Houston and Dick Irons were great, particularly on defense. Irons turned in some chiling tactics at key moments. Eddy Nelson, DeRoby Gartman and Jack Roden sparkled at end. BACK — Bert Hernandez. Here again it was almost impossible to single out one person, but it was Bert's brilliant run early in the first quarter which in reality broke open the ball game and put Big Spring ahead to stay. He also came up with an interception on the three-yard line in the second period to kill an Abilene threat. Wally Bullington, Abilene coach, said this was the turning point of the game. Albert Fierro, running and blocking as he had never done before and throwing almost perfectly, was only a whisker behind. Eric Nichols rose to the heights, particularly in the last quarter, pick up first downs and keep the Steers in possession. His punting also was excellent. Charley West rose to a peak. Dick Spier, of course, was indispensable on defense and his masterful quick kick broke Abilene's back. Other backs did outstanding work both offensively and defensively. STANTON BACK—Dewey Anderson, senior fullback. Although Stanton suffered a loss at the hands of Sonora, Anderson's thrusts into the line kept the Buffaloes in contention to the very end. It usually took more than one player to bring him down. LINEMAN—Teddy Stewart, end. Teddy had won the honor as a back in a previous game (against Merkel). He has been playing end for the past two weeks in place of the injured Bob Stephenson. He was especially tough on defense against Sonora. COAHOMA BACK—Bill Turner, senior fullback. Receiving the honor is no new experience for Bill, who has won the honor three times previously this season. Coach Jimmy Spann said Bill made the "tough yardage" for the Bulldogs, when it counted most. This is Turner's fourth year to letter and he had much to do with Coahoma's 6-4 win-loss record, which was a vast improvement over last season.

Against Wylie, Turner scored once and played a whole of a game on defense, at which time he takes over at tackle. LINEMAN — Ronnie (Yogi) Cunningham, 205 - pound senior guard. Yogi spent most of the evening in the Wylie game "hitting folks." He seemed to relish the idea of tackling Wylie ball carriers. Spann says his Bulldogs played as good a ball game as they have all season and Yogi was one of the big reasons for the Coahomans' impressive 33-6 win.

SANDS BACK — Bill Smith, 145-pound senior halfback. Bill gained 95 yards against Meadow last week and was tremendous on defense. Sands absorbed a 20-6 loss but Bill never eased up in applying pressure to the visitors. LINEMAN — Ronnie Ebell, 150-pound senior guard. This is the second time in three weeks for Ebell to capture the honor. He was excellent at blocking and pulling on the traps. Ebell was equally tough on defense.

FORSPAN PLAYER OF THE WEEK—Jim Alexander, full back, moved from a guard position when Jimmy Flynn was injured. Big Jim scored a touchdown and two extra points in helping the Buffs defeat Sterling City, 22-14. His coaches, Oscar Boeker and James Blake, said he played the game to the hilt in all phases.

GARDEN CITY PLAYER OF THE WEEK—Richard Robinson, 133-pound senior, who plays left end on both defense and offense. Richard caught one pass for nine yards against Grandfalls - Royalty. He was especially effective on defense, where he blunted Grandfalls' thrusts time and again. His downfield blocking was superb, too.

MOST TICKETS GOBBLED UP

Only 200 of the 2,160 adult reserve tickets sent here for the San Angelo-Big Spring football game Friday night remained unsold at 10 a.m. today and Don Crockett of the School Business Office predicted that those would be gone long before nightfall.

An estimated 1,000 student tickets were made available to the local schools and Crockett said about half of those had been sold.

San Angelo officials are predicting a crowd approaching 15,000 for the game.

The tickets here are priced at $1.50 for adults and 30 cents for students. They are available at the School Business Office, 602 E. 13th.

Proceeds will be used to pay for a movie camera the QBC is ordering for the use of the school's athletic department. Coach Jimmy Spann has two lettermen back from last season. They are Butch Fraser and Hayden Norris. The latter stands 6-foot-4, as does Ray Gaines, who is expected to be a starter. The Bulldogs open their season against high school competition in Forsan Nov. 27 and play Stanton here Nov. 30.

Bi-District Game Slated At Forsan

FORSPAN—The Forsan field will be the scene at 2:30 p.m. Thursday of a bi-district eight-man championship game between the Forsan Buffaloes and the Jayton Jaybirds. The winner plays Oklahoma in the regional finals next week. Admission prices for the Thursday attraction will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students. Jayton brings a 9-1 record here, having lost only to Three Way. The Jaybirds, coached by Sonny Arthur, defeated Sterling City in an early season practice game, 36-34. Forsan earned the 6-B championship by topping the same team last week, 22-14, in a game played at Sterling City last week. Officials of the two schools met at a restaurant in Snyder Monday afternoon to decide the site of the game and Arthur failed to call the toss of the coin. Forsan's only losses this year have been to Gail and Big Spring B, the latter in an eleven-man game. Donnie Gooch, starting left end for Forsan, cracked a finger in last week's game with Sterling but will play Thursday. Jayton will send its 45-piece band here, along with a large number of fans. Last year, Wellman defeated Jayton in the regional finals, 14-12. Jayton will probably start a lineup composed of Woody Byrd, 155, left end; G. L. Hamilton, 170, left guard; Don Rucker, 204, center; Kenneth Davis, 138, right guard; Richard Kyle, 141, right end; William Smith, 135, quarterback; Harold Murrell, 200, halfback; and Bill Stanaland, 176, halfback. Forsan will probably use Gooch 140, at left end; Jim Alexander, 170, left guard; Tom Evans, 165, center; Danny Wash, 165, or Bobby Huestis, 185, right guard; H. K. Elrod, 180, right end; Kenneth Soles, 170, quarterback; David Roberson, 165, left halfback; and Harry King, 145, right halfback. Jimmy Flynn, star linebacker of the Buffs, is a doubtful starter. Jayton will bring a squad of about 20 boys here. Forsan will suit out 15 or 16. Forsan worked out Monday in the chill but coach Oscar Boeker says the club didn't accomplish much.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue: JOHNNY JAMES, San Antonio sports writer: "It's sad to see the Southwest Conference, once the home of wide-open, thrilling football, return to the dark ages of football — hit the middle three times (twice if you are deep in your own territory), punt and then hope for a fumble." WALLY LEMM, coach of the St. Louis NFL Cardinals: "I see a bright future for our offensive line. They really did a job for the second week in a row against Pittsburgh, even though we lost. It was the first time this year in which we didn't lose a single yard attempting to pass, and they blocked very good on running plays, too. I see a lot of fine years ahead for these boys, including Ken Gray, Irv Goode, Ernie McMillan, Bob DeMarco and Mike McGee."

WALTER PORPE, who films games for both the San Francisco 49ers and the San Francisco Giants: "In football, the moves are everything. All the coaches and the players gather 'round on Mondays and they study formations, blocks, tackles, idiosyncracies, everything. No rookie is too young and no veteran too old to be criticized. The language isn't always the politest, believe me. Players analyze and criticize each other. They pick up opponents' tricks and they combine the information. Baseball is something else. You take pictures only on request. A pitcher might wonder about his delivery, or a batter about his swing. A coach or a manager will ask for the pictures. The player will look at the pictures. It's rare, really, when any suggestion will be offered. In the main, the players must decide for himself what he is doing wrong. Football is an interlocking game, you might say. Players depend on each other in close contact. Baseball is more individual than team sport. Batters go into slumps and come out of slumps all the time. To tamper with their swings or stance is dangerous. Willie Mays, for example, takes his slumps as part of his style. Tell Willie you think he is wrong and he'll turn his hearing off."

GENE FULLMER, former middleweight boxing champion: "Every player in any sport has a bad night. I feel I had one of those nights against Dick Tiger when I lost my crown. I wasn't nearly what I had been in other fights—strengthwise. Nothing went according to plan. I honestly feel I can beat Tiger, and I'll never feel at ease until I prove I can. I'm not taking anything away from him. He was definitely the better man in the fight. My wife is not in favor of a re-match but she'll go along because she knows that's what I want to do. If I lose, I quit."

MRS. MARY RICHTER, mother of Pat Richter, Wisconsin University's All-America football end (6-foot-5 and 225 pounds): "He still lazes around the house. He doesn't change much. He's still my little boy with big feet."

A. J. LEIBLING, well known literary figure: "Sonny Liston is a very good fighter who might be hard to beat. He's faster than I thought. No, Liston won't ruin boxing. He is a brand snatched from the burning by boxing—a proof of the regenerative power of the manly art."

HERB CAEN, California scribe: "If you like to bet on sure things, you may now safely lay a few bucks that Oakland's pro football team, the Raiders, will play elsewhere next season."

Southern Cal Leader In AP Football Poll

Southern California rushed in today where angels fear to tread and took over the jinx-loaded No. 1 spot in The Associated Press major college football rankings in a tight finish with Mississippi, another unbeaten power.

The fall of Alabama, last week's leader, after its upset by Georgia Tech, opened the door for Southern California, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Texas and Minnesota to rush past the Crimson Tide which dropped to the No. 6 rung.

Southern California's unbeaten Trojans, who just did get past Navy 12-6, drew 20 first-place votes to 15 for Mississippi, a 19-6 winner over Tennessee. The remainder of the 48 votes from the guest panel of sports writers and sportscasters participating in the weekly Associated Press poll were spread over four teams with Wisconsin, No. 3, getting seven firsts, Penn State three, Texas two and Minnesota one.

On a point score with 10 for a first place ballot, nine for second and so on down, Southern California had a 439-403 margin over Mississippi. Missouri, beaten by Oklahoma 13-0, and Northwestern, a 31-7 loser to Michigan State, dropped out of the top ten. Penn State, a romping 46-20 winner over Holy Cross, and Oklahoma, moved in.

The top ten with first place votes in parentheses: 1. Southern California (20) 439; 2. Mississippi (15) 403; 3. Wisconsin (7) 384; 4. Texas (2) 326; 5. Minnesota (1) 232; 6. Alabama 235; 7. Arkansas 209; 8. Louisiana State 140; 9. Penn State (3) 94; 10. Oklahoma 43. Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Arizona State, Dartmouth, Duke, Florida, Georgia Tech, Michigan State, Missouri, Nebraska, Northwestern, Ohio State, Washington.

Groat Is Traded To Red Birds

ST LOUIS Mo. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals long-time search for an experienced, good hitting shortstop has ended with the acquisition of veteran Dick Groat from the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Cardinals, the tradingest team so far in the off-season, obtained Groat Monday in their second major swap since the 1962 season. Groat and relief pitcher Diomedes Olivo, 42, came to the Cards with right-hander Don Cardwell and young shortstop Julio Gotay going to Pittsburgh. The deal came just 48 hours before the start Wednesday of baseball's annual 3-week inter-league trading period. The Cardinals have long had their eyes on Groat, 31, former Duke All-America cage star.

ACKERLY—Sands High School's new basketball gym will be dedicated here this evening, at which time both boys' and girls' teams will see action. The Sands girls clash with the Forsan fems at 7 o'clock. Shortly thereafter, the Sands boys will oppose the Klondike boys. Admission prices for the two contests will be 25 and 50 cents. The new buildings at the Sands, including the gym, cost about $225,000. Seating capacity in the fieldhouse itself, which comes equipped with pullout bleachers, totals about 650. The architect, contractor and a couple of members of the school board will probably make short talks during the dedication ceremonies. M. B. Maxwell Jr. coaches the Sands' boys team while John Turner tutors the girls.

Jimmy Lee Sundry (left) and Arthur M. Sundry, both of Big Spring, held up an eight-point buck they killed on a weekend hunting trip on Simpson's ranch in Sutton County. The animal dressed out at about 90 pounds.

Tornadoes Open Campaign Against 'Dogs Tuesday

LAMESA (SC) — Head basketball coach O. W. Polli has announced the 1962-63 court schedule for the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes. The slate includes eight non-conference games and three tournaments plus a double round-robin in District 3-AAA series. Earnie Repluch will assist Polli this year, replacing Leon Manley, who resigned at the end of the last school term. Since the District 3-AAA alignment has only six teams, the LHS mentor has had trouble scheduling games for Jan. 8-11 because other districts are already in district competition. Games are being sought for the two dates.

Enrollment Down Again

Enrollment in Big Spring public schools took one of the largest drops of the current year Friday with the count falling to 7,457 pupils, down 14 from the previous week.

Most of the loss was registered in elementary schools, where the total of 4,393 was down 10. Second-grade schools, at 2,913 pupils, were down three and special education, with 156 enrolled, was down one. However, the count is still 259 above the same time a year ago. At the high school, the figures at the end of last week were: Airport 457, up one; Bauer 513, down three; Byrdston 509, no change; Cedarcrest 306, no change; College Heights, 528, down two; Kate Morrison 269, no change; Marcy 545, no change; Park Hill 296, down one; Washington 764, down two; Field 915, down two; Lakeview Junior High 75, up one; Runnels 18, up one; and Senior High 195, down three.

Who Lost It?

The mystery of this key remained unsolved at Webb AFB today. It was found near the MARS station on Scenic Mountain by Burl Cramer, park superintendent. Jack Gully, Cosden pilot, said it is a key to the door on an AT-11, a twin-engine Beechcraft used at the old bombardier school during World War II.

Police Collecting On Appeal Cases

Capias pro fines on appealed cases, returned to court because of faulty bonds, were still being worked out at the police station this week. Warrant Officer Sheriff Farmer said 101 warrants for delinquent traffic tickets were being issued and served today.

"We expect to serve them as fast as we can locate the subjects," he said, "and get our books cleared of the delinquent cases." Farmer said issuing capias is a slow process but that they were being served about as fast as issued, and that some persons were coming in voluntarily to pay their fines before they were served.

"We can't tell exactly how many there will be when we get through, but there will be a big bunch," he said.

Steel Loses Top Place In Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has told his country's Communist leaders that steel is no longer the prime index of a nation's industrial strength.

In his marathon report Monday to the Communist party Central Committee, he demanded a speed-up in the development of the Soviet Union's chemical industry to produce synthetic materials that take the place of steel. The report, which Khrushchev took more than six hours to read, was published today.

Khrushchev's sharp departure from traditional Communist emphasis on steel production as the basis of industrialization startled Western observers here.

The Soviet leader coupled his repudiation of the primacy of steel with a bitter attack on conservative members of the nation's leading planning organs. He accused them of neglecting the chemical industry.

Khrushchev said that although the Soviet Union is exceeding its steel production goals, its targets for the production of synthetic materials are not being met.

He said that if steel production plans were met and targets for synthetic materials overfulfilled, "We would be considerably richer."

"But it is difficult to do this because there are people who hold back those who want to rationally change the work quotas for steel production in favor of synthetic materials," he said.

Khrushchev's remarks contrasted sharply with recent Soviet claims over reports of having produced more steel than the United States in the third quarter of this year—18.9 million metric tons of steel to the United States' 18.6 million metric tons.

The Russians ignored the fact that American steel production was less than 50 per cent of capacity. They also failed to point out that their own production was behind this year's annual production schedule.

Police To Crack Down On Violators

Drivers stopping in "No Parking" zones, and in cross walks at Big Spring schools to let children out or pick them up are due some traffic tickets.

"In spite of our continuing safety education program some parents insist on stopping in the "No Parking" zones at the schools to load or unload their children. Some even stop in the crosswalks," Jay Banks, police chief, said.

"Such actions are not only violations of the law but are endangering the lives of school children and hampering the work of the school safety patrols.

"No Parking" zones are marked in red on curbs, and the school crosswalks are white stripes on the pavement.

Banks said one child, injured because of such violations, would be a high price to pay for allowing violations to continue.

Dr. Ruilman To Speak To Doctors

Dr. C. J. Ruilman, state director of mental health and hospitals, Austin, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Permian Basin Medical Society Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The Big Spring State Hospital will host the society for the regular meeting, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent. It will be held in the Ward 8 dining room.

The society and Women's Auxiliary will have dinner together and will then hold separate business meetings. The auxiliary will meet in an adjoining room.

All doctors and their wives from the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital and Webb Air Force Base have been invited.

Youths Ordered To State Prison

Two 16-year-old youths who have been at liberty on probation sentences for felony convictions were ordered Monday afternoon to the state penitentiary to serve the original time assessed against them.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, who had granted the youths probation when they pleaded guilty to felony indictments, held they had violated the terms of their probation.

Sheriff Miller Harris said he would take Horace L. Atkinson, two years for theft, and Paul Stewart, two years for burglary, to Huntsville probably Friday of this week.

Tri-Hi-Y Club Elects Officers

Officers for the current year were selected by the Tri-Hi-Y at a meeting Saturday according to Francis Flint, general secretary of the YMCA.

They will hold office until the end of the current school year. New officers are Betsy Clark, president; Sharon Hughes, vice president; Julia Fallon, secretary; Pat Billings, treasurer; Linda Cathy, reporter; and Carol Clark, chaplain. Sponsors are Marie Lee Dodds and Alice Coker. Members also voted to pay dues of five cents each week.

Police Check 3 Burglaries

Three burglaries and a theft were investigated by Big Spring police Monday.

Bobby McDonald, 608 Washington, told police that someone had taken an "RPM" gauge from his car while parked at the high school Monday between 9:45 and 11:45 a.m. He said wires to the gauge were cut and the instrument removed from the steering post.

John J. Shea reported a tire and a wheel, a coat, and a pair of shoes, taken from the trunk of his car while parked at his residence, 503 Johnson. He said the lid of the trunk had been pried open.

Ralph L. Fox told police that a man who had bought an amplifier control for an electric guitar, to be put on layaway, had come in and walked off with the control after paying only $3 of the $10 owed.

A woman called police at 7:40 p.m. and reported someone in the old Crippled Children's Center building at Eighth and Owens. Patrolmen Ed Kenner and J. D. Carter found the man in a closet when they investigated. He told them there were some things in the building he could use. He was placed in the city jail for investigation on a burglary charge.

Ping Pong Tourney Slated At YMCA

A ping pong tournament for all members of the YMCA Friday will highlight special activities at the Y for Thanksgiving. The Y will close all day Thursday for the holiday.

The tournament will be held in two classifications, according to Francis Flint, general secretary. Participants will be divided into age groups of 12 years and under and 12 years and over. Y youth members were urged to sign up. They may do so until 10 a.m. Friday. There is no entrance fee and awards will be made to winners.

Friday's morning schedule has free gym and swim for all members from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1-4 p.m. The regular evening schedule will begin at 4 p.m.

Distraction Is Blamed In Airliner Mishap

WASHINGTON (AP)—A distraction caused by a trickle of rain water on a pilot's arm at takeoff resulted in the crash of a million-dollar airliner at Amarillo, Tex., last July 8, the Civil Aeronautics Board said today.

All 13 passengers, including three infants, and the three crew members escaped injury. But the Continental Airlines propjet plane was destroyed by fire.

The CAB report said that immediately after the plane's normal liftoff and landing gear retraction, Lawrence Lauratis, 43, the captain, "was momentarily distracted by rain water from the window channel falling on his left shirt sleeve."

The board said the pilot "inadvertently allowed the aircraft to settle" to the point where two of the four propellers of the Vickers-Armstrongs Viscount struck the runway.

Shuddering from engine and propeller damage, the plane struggled forward and upward, its right wing and engines trailing smoke and fire.

The plane climbed to an altitude estimated at 150 to 400 feet. Then, one propeller feathered, it landed wheels up in a wheat field almost 7,000 feet beyond the end of the runway.

The pilot said he did not remember the plane settling to the runway after the sleeve-soaking distraction.

The CAB quoted him as saying he first sensed trouble because of severe vibration and overheating of the two inboard engines. At his instructions the co-pilot feathered the left inboard propeller. With control of the plane becoming more difficult, Lauratis elected to make a belly landing in the open field.

The board said that within 90 seconds after the plane slid to a stop, all occupants had successfully vacated the cockpit and cabin.

The CAB said its investigation showed that maintenance of the plane had been satisfactory and there was no evidence of any operational failure before the initial contact with the runway. Nor was the weather a factor, the board said.

"This accident had its inception during the moment of the captain's distraction," the CAB said. "This crash can be attributed to the improper operation of the aircraft."

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio claimed today a Cuban merchant ship sailing in international waters southwest of Bermuda was attacked Monday afternoon by a "North American plane."

There have been no reports on the alleged incident from other sources.

In Washington, a Pentagon spokesman said no U.S. plane was involved in the reported bombing attempt on the Cuban ship.
