Breaks Sale Record

Price For Hamlin Bull Breaks Record

The record price paid for a single animal was shattered in the 19th annual Howard County South Plains Hereford Association sale here Saturday. Criswell Ranches of Graham paid $2,225 for Golden Superior 3rd, a May 1961 bull bred by Fred B. Moore, Hamlin. This not only surpassed the $1,965 which J. C. Sale of Stanton paid in 1961 for CC Major Mischief 540, bred by Charles Creighton, but it also topped the previous high for a single animal, the $2,000 paid in December 1959 by Dr. G. T. Hall, Big Spring, for Miss Domino, an S. F. Buchanan heifer.

Saturday's sale also established a new record for gross, returning $36,825 for 58 bulls and five cows.

Kennedy Sees Nuclear Space Craft Project

NEWS BRIEFS

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said Saturday Red China wants to keep civil police posts at two points in north-east India after its troops withdraw. These are the Himalayan villages of Dhola and Longju, about 120 miles apart.

Nehru did not say in a report to Parliament what he was going to do about these claims, and members were not permitted to question him about his intentions, but his government made clear its rejection of Peking's bid for a far greater prize in Ladakh, in the west.

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—Rescue workers recovered the body of one coal miner Saturday, then pushed restlessly ahead to ward 36 others trapped in a mammoth explosion more than two days ago.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans called on President Kennedy Saturday for action toward the "complete elimination" of Communist military power in Cuba and the overthrow of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

In one of a series of resolutions adopted unanimously at a windup session of a two-day conference, the Republican National Committee accused the Democratic administration of deceiving the American people about the presence of missiles in Cuba at a time it said GOP spokesmen had exposed their presence there.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—South Viet Nam claimed Saturday its forces killed 18 Viet Cong and captured 44 others in the first three days of a new operation in the deep south.

No Major Freeze Seen

A great mass of cold, Canadian air tumbled down into Texas Saturday from the eastern slopes of the Rockies, bringing with it expectations of temperatures near 30 tonight.

The extremely cold temperatures are not expected to hit Big Spring today, with a moderate 60 degrees forecast. The thermometer is expected to creep up about five degrees to a high of 65 Monday.

The weather bureau said the cold air should bring a freeze during the night to most of North and West Texas. The Panhandle was due for a hard freeze with snow flurries in the north.

High level clouds moved across northern sections of Texas in advance of the norther. Forecasts called for temperatures down to 22 degrees in the upper Panhandle, where the mercury dipped to 23 at dawn Saturday at Dalhart.

'Hands-Off Cuba' Policy Is Claimed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Miami News said Saturday night the Kennedy administration has adopted a "hands-off Cuba" policy in exercising a tight censorship on radio broadcasts to that country.

Commentators broadcasting to Cuba from the United States have been ordered to make no disparaging remarks about Fidel Castro, the News reported, and a ban has been placed on any material designed to raise the hope of freedom inside Cuba.

The News said heavy restrictions had been placed on broadcasters through the Voice of America during the Cuban crisis and this policy had been relaxed only slightly since the easing of the crisis.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Voice of America said, "The idea of trying to tell commentators what they can say is ridiculous. It's silly."

"The Voice of America is completely factual, and being the official radio of the government, it reflects U.S. policy. There has been no change in the tone of the VOA broadcasts since the crisis."

CHEER FUND OVERLOOKED?

People too busy with their own Christmas preparations? Might be that they are so engrossed that they are forgetting that many underprivileged youngsters long for Yuletide joy, too. The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND slackened off some, although three gifts are gratefully acknowledged.

If you want to help poor kiddies have usable toys and some goodies, if you want to help feed those that are in hunger, you can make a small gift to the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, and enjoy your own Christmas more.

Do it today! Write to: Send gifts to The Herald, make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

Newest helpers are Helen Shelly, $5; Mr. and Mrs. John Balch, $5; and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McKinney, $5. That makes a Fund total of $391.41.

FFA Unit 4th In State Meet

Greenhands of the Big Spring Future Farmers of America organization captured fourth place in the 31st annual State FFA Leadership Contest held Saturday at Huntsville.

Taking top honors, in the order in which they placed, were teams from Corpus Christi's Mary Carol, Garland, Lovelady and Big Spring.

President's Impressions Could Influence Budget

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—President Kennedy toured the nation's historic nuclear testing grounds Saturday, manipulated a radioactive fragment with a mechanical hand and heard that a manned flight to Mars will be possible after the first moon trip by nuclear rocket.

He appeared interested and impressed when told that nuclear rockets will make it practical, once man reaches the moon, to fly to Mars and return.

The trip would take a year, including 42 days on the planet Mars, the President was told by briefers who included Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

With his budget proposals due in Congress next month, Kennedy completed a series of visits to defense and atomic installations in the West by inspecting the Nevada wasteland where secret nuclear devices for war and peace are tested. Government officials said the impressions received by Kennedy on the trip conceivably could influence budgetary decisions involving nuclear propulsion and other atomic questions.

On his tour by air and ground, Kennedy didn't see any tests. But no President ever has seen the things he did see Saturday.

From behind the safety of a six-foot-thick window, the President manipulated a mechanical hand to pick up and examine a radioactive bit of the core of a forerunner of a nuclear engine which may reach the moon with a man.

This weekend, the chief executive put in the better part of two days making spot checks of defense and nuclear installations. He stopped off at the headquarters of the Strategic Air Command at Omaha, Neb., on the way to nuclear age activities at Los Alamos and Albuquerque, N.M.

Then Saturday morning he took off for Indian Springs, in southern Nevada, changed to a helicopter and made an aerial survey of the 1,100-square-mile Nevada test site.

The British tested a nuclear device at the site Friday.

The President got an eagle's look at depressions caused by the collapse of earth over spots where nuclear blasts have been set off underground.

The President's jet-powered helicopter spun him down into "Area 400," where the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission are teaming up on testing for Project Rover. This is the effort to develop a nuclear-powered engine for exploration of outer space.

Six prototype reactors—they call them Kiwis—already have been tested. The last test was on Nov. 30. It was a piece of Kiwi the mechanical hand. He was curious, too, about the window through which he peered to see how the reactor was being taken apart bit by bit so all the components could be examined.

Kennedy was driven around to key outposts. He went inside the building where the Kiwi was being disassembled. He saw at another place the cell where it was tested, and then the control center two miles away which handles the testing at long range. He shook hands with dozens of employees at the site.

And at his final stop he stared up at a 106-foot tower, still not finished, where more advanced nuclear-powered engines for space will be test fired in the future.

It probably will be 1966 or 1967 before a nuclear-engine rocket can be tested in flight.

From the test site at Jackass Flats, Kennedy went by chopper back to Indian Springs and by jet for Palm Springs.

Algerians, Frenchmen Clash; 6 People Die

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—Five Frenchmen and an Algerian were killed in three violent incidents in Orleansville on Saturday, resulting in a vigorous diplomatic protest by France to Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's government.

The incidents came only four days after the French government reported it would keep a sharp eye on Ben Bella's ability to maintain order in his country. This is a primary French condition for future foreign aid.

The French Embassy said in a statement that the dead Moslem was a uniformed soldier of Wilaya (military zone) No. 4, which has not yet been brought under control of the Algerian government's official army. It said the Moslem was shot by a French sentry while trying to penetrate into a military camp in the pre-dawn darkness.

Wilaya 4, the Moslem combat unit in the area during the revolution, is reported still to hold the dominating position despite the presence of elements of Ben Bella's national "people's army," which spent the war outside the Algerian frontiers.

The second incident occurred about noon when a band of Algerian soldiers killed three French gendarmes assigned to guard a busload of French school children. Two children were wounded.

French sources said the bus stopped so that one of the gendarmes could go into a shop. He was killed at point-blank range by the soldiers, apparently of Wilaya 4, who opened fire on the bus.

Shortly afterward, a jeep carrying two French soldiers near a helicopter base on the outskirts of town was stopped by a roadblock. Both soldiers were killed from close range.

The gendarmes and soldiers remained in Orleansville to protect the estimated 300 Europeans left out of a former European community of about 30,000.

An Algerian government statement said Ben Bella and Foreign Minister Mohammed Khemisti have launched an investigation of the incidents.

The French protest requested that "all measures demanded by the situation" be urgently taken.

Smog Deaths Reach 136

LONDON (AP)—Hospitals reported Sunday night 136 cases of sudden death since last Monday night, when smog spread a choking four-day pall over London.

Most were due to the smog's effect on people with lung and heart diseases. Some dropped dead in the streets.

The smog lifted Friday. If the pattern of the great killer smog of 1952 is followed, many more people will die from bronchitis and its side effects over the next few weeks.

Accidental Gunshot Wound Proves Fatal To Bob Flowers

Robert O. C. (Bob) Flowers, 47, a member of a long-time Big Spring family and a former professional football player, met his death on a farm five miles north of here Saturday afternoon when struck with a bullet from a .22 caliber pistol, he was carrying.

Flowers had descended from his pickup truck and was in the act of opening a gate in a wire fence, pistol in hand, when he apparently was thrown off balance. The firearm discharged and he fell face down after being struck in the heart.

Investigating officers theorized the shooting occurred about 3 p.m. The body was found by Russell Stringfellow about 5:30 p.m. The motor of the truck was still running when Stringfellow happened on the scene.

Walter Grice, justice of peace, entered a verdict of "accidental death." The body was taken to River Funeral Home, where rites are pending.

In recent years, Flowers had been in the ranching and farming business with his sister, Mrs. George White, Big Spring. He previously had been an automobile salesman for the Truman Jones Motor Company.

BOB FLOWERS
Regarded as one of the greatest defensive football players in the history of Big Spring High School, Bob spent a short time at Texas Tech before moving on to professional football with the Green Bay Packers. He spent half a dozen seasons with the Packers, playing under coach Curly Lambeau and was well known in the National Football League for his aggressive play.

Bob was one of four brothers who served as captains of the Big Spring football team. The others were the late Jack (Tiger) Flowers, who died several years ago in Tyler; Bill Flowers, who went on to become a backfield star at Tulane University; and Sam Flowers.

Bob Flowers was born in Big Spring Aug. 7, 1915, to the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Flowers and spent practically all his life in Big Spring, with the exception of his tenure with the Green Bay football team.

At the time of his death, he was making his home in the Park Hill Apartments.

Survivors include his wife, Patricia, Big Spring; a daughter, Mrs. Glenn Teply, and a granddaughter, Stacy, both of Lubbock; two brothers, Maj. Bill Flowers, who is with the U.S. Air Force somewhere in France, and Sam Flowers, Houston; and two sisters, Mrs. George White, Big Spring, and Mrs. Forrest Underwood, Midland.

Arctic Lights Play Hob With Radar System

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Nature's northern lights are playing hob with the nation's giant new missile detector radar at nearby Clear, Alaska.

And the situation is likely to get worse, not better.

Dr. Victor Hessler, professor of geophysics at the University of Alaska, told newsmen touring Air Force facilities in Alaska: "The disturbances in the earth's magnetic field which caused the auroras also cause blips on the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System—BMEWS—screen at Clear."

"This is quite confusing at times and the problem is only partly solved. From our studies of the auroras we can tell the Air Force when these disturbances are likely to occur, but we can't tell them how to distinguish between the magnetic disturbances and missile attacks."

The spectacular northern lights apparently result from bursts of energy from the sun known as solar flares. These flares, which can be severe enough to interrupt radio communications, come in cycles with a peak of intensity every 11 years.

The last peak was in 1958. Since then the activity has been falling slowly toward a low expected in 1963-64. After that, the intensity should increase again, hitting another peak in 1969.

This means that the 400-165-foot radar antenna recently built at Clear and the sister BMEWS screen at Thule, Greenland, are likely to become increasingly confused during the next seven years.

If a massive missile attack were launched during the period of intense solar activity, U.S. technicians could lose several precious minutes trying to decide whether to send the alarm for a retaliatory blow.

Dr. Hessler said electrons from solar flares are trapped in the earth's magnetic field, helping to form the so-called Van Allen belt of radiation.

During intense solar activity these electrons form in layers dense enough to reflect radar, sent out by the BMEWS antenna. The result is a blip, so far indistinguishable from radar reflection from missiles.

Band Earns Top Honor

Big Spring school bands improved over last year's performance at the University Interscholastic League Marching Contest for Region 8 and this year marched away with one first division and two second division ratings.

The senior high school band won the top honors, Goliad and Rannels junior high bands placed second, in achieving its rating, the senior high band demonstrated a precision drill similar to those it has performed at halftime for football games during the season just ended.

About 30 bands from schools in most of the West Texas area were in competition at W. J. Barrett Stadium in Odessa.

Last year the senior high band placed second and the other two schools scored in the third division.

Sweetwater Man Is Convicted Of Raping Waitress

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—An 89th District Court jury of six men and six women deliberated 5 hours and 45 minutes Saturday before finding Archie Dean May, 21-year-old Sweetwater man, guilty of rape in an assault on a Sweetwater waitress and fixed his sentence at 12 years.

Several of the jurors indicated some displeasure following the trial after Wichita County Dist. Atty. Stanley Kirk told them the defendant could be free in about two years.

May is the first of five defendants to be tried for the alleged attack on Mrs. Cora B. Brooks, 32, Sweetwater, on a county road near Blackwell, Tex., in June 1961.

The state alleged the man took turns attacking the woman during a six-hour period.

Others charged in case are Alford Richard May, 34; Jimmy Wayne Rogers, 24; Ronnie Dyan Houston, 20; and Jackie Lee Scarborough, 18, all of Sweetwater. The two May brothers, Rogers and Houston, were convicted in September 1961 by a Mitchell County jury and received 15 years. This was reversed by the State Court of Criminal Appeals and a new trial ordered. A change of venue subsequently was granted.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

In this season of good cheer, don't forget to spread a little. Just send or bring your gift to the Christmas Cheer fund, and it will warm your heart to know that you have brightened the outlook for some poor kid.

Up in Lubbock an organization has served as a clearing house for distributing Christmas trees that otherwise would be unused on Christmas Day. Many organizations, stores and schools have trees which might be given Christmas Eve to a needy family if only someone would take over on the job of handling calls. Anyone volunteer?

Loop Seen As Business Aid By Many C-City Leaders

COLORADO CITY — Cars and trucks are streaming around the northern fringe of this city today, and residents keep telling themselves it's a good thing.

Despite severe adjustments for some businesses, the loop will be one of the best things ever to happen, Herb C. Petry, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, told a large crowd at a Civic House luncheon here Friday. A similar thing happened at his home town of Carrizo Springs, he related and "it was one of the best things that ever happened to us."

Not all shared this outlook Friday as several hundred people braced against a brisk north wind that swept two overpasses on the Snyder highway interchange. As the high school band concluded its spirited concert, one old timer dolefully complained: "This is the first time I ever saw a band play at a funeral."

Mayor Pro Tem Buzzy Majors and other civic leaders didn't embrace this view at all.

"Welcome to the newest shopping center in West Texas," said Majors. "One mile of this loop is within the city limits, and if we are smart salesmen, good merchandisers and are energetic enough to meet the challenge, we face a great future."

Pointing out that Colorado City is on a national defense highway in IS 20, Petry predicted that this would prove a key to growth and expansion of Colorado City. Most of the economic development in Texas is going to take place along the interstate (and similarly improved routes).

"Wherever such roads have been built near a community, it has been highly beneficial," he reported.

And if Colorado Citizens think he is helping them whistle Dixie, he added, every prediction that the highway department has made about highways and traffic in the past 20 years has been proven way over on the conservative side.

Some development already has begun. Bob Moser has opened a Standard station at the Snyder-IS 20 interchange. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bassett have erected a new motel. Another is slated for the east end of the loop. Signs are spotted along the right of way advertising new industrial sites.

Colorado City also has plans for signs and lights to remind travelers that Colorado City will be their best bet for a stop.

The project, which takes off from the US 80 route three miles west of Colorado City and re-enters three miles to the east of town, cost $3,100,000. But this is not the end of it, for J. C. Roberts, Abilene, district highway engineer, said that a lot of money will be spent yet in developing access roads, signs, lights, etc. He introduced several highway department staff members who aided in the job, among them George J. Smith, Wade Crawford, Willard H. Shaw, M. C. Key, E. W. Couch, Ben Wilkinson and Joe Smoot.

The affair drew many out of town representatives, among them Beeman Fisher, Fort Worth, president of Texas Electric Service; E. V. Spence, Big Spring, manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District; Fred Husbands, Abilene, executive vice president of West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. George Mahon, wife of the district's congressman. They and many others, including County Judge Elmer Martin in the

Dr. Grollman To Hold Sessions For Local Doctors

Dr. Arthur Grollman, chairman of the department of Experimental Medicine at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, will spend three days in Big Spring as a consultant for the Veterans Administration Hospital. He will conduct a physician-in-residence session starting Wednesday.

Dr. Grollman will deliver lectures twice each day during the three-day program. His topics will include "Acute Renal Failure," "Kidney Stones: Pathogenesis," and "Digitalis and Quinidine." The final period will be a question and answer session.

Physicians from Webb Air Force Base, the Big Spring State Hospital and local private hospitals have been invited. An invitation has also been extended to the Midland, San Angelo and Abilene medical societies.

commissioners court, were welcomed by District Judge Eldon Mahon, who presided at the luncheon. Arrangements were handled by Ralph Lee, George Riley and G. D. Foster.

One blessing on which everyone was agreed was that the loop has relieved the downtown of the roar of heavy transport trucks.

Teaching Young Drivers Costs, But Pays In Safety, Money

By JOE BEYER
Driver education in our public schools is big business. It costs money and takes time out of other classroom hours. But it pays big dividends.

In Texas alone, during the coming year it will mean a savings of almost a half-million dollars to drivers under the age of 25, and the monetary value of lives, strictly saved by the training cannot be computed.

No figures are available on the number of students who have successfully completed the course offered by the Big Spring Independent School District since it was initiated here, but in the last seven years 2,201 pupils have taken it, according to records of C. W. Tanner, who heads the local training.

The course is offered only in the ninth grade for one-half credit. Students must be at least 14 years old and be able to acquire a beginner's permit before they can enroll.

"We try to hold the classes to about 35 students," Tanner said. "This has not always been possible, but at least we have not had to turn any students down because of a lack of facilities."

The lecture portions of the course are offered at the end of each school year. Driving is then completed during the summer. Immediately before school resumes, the lecture phase is again offered and students who complete it finish their driver training during the school year.

The lecture classes are offered again once or twice each school term, as needed, Tanner said. Driving instruction continues all year. There is an additional charge of $25 for the instruction whenever it must be given during summer or outside normal school hours.

To meet the minimum requirements for the course, each student must take at least 30 hours of classroom study in driver and pedestrian behavior, the automobile and preventive maintenance, traffic controls and laws, driving procedures and physical laws governing movement of automobiles.

When this has been completed, a minimum of six hours of driving by each student is required.

The driving phase comes in steps so the students can acquire proficiency in driving before tackling heavy traffic and difficult maneuvers. Initially they take up driving in forward and reverse gears, adding speed gradually. Then they move to residential areas for turns before going into the downtown area. Eventually they take up highway driving and parallel parking.

"When the students complete the training, they should know the fundamentals of good driving. A grade of 80 is required," Tanner said. Successful completion does not automatically entitle a student to a driver's license. He must still pass requirements of the Department of Public Safety. However, if a student can complete the stiff driving and study requirements, he can be virtually assured of passing the state tests.

Frank Sabbato, local underwriter, translated the insurance premium savings for boys under 25 years into dollars and cents for the individual. For most, it will mean a savings of $15-$20 a year if they own the car. If they are drivers of a family car the savings may not be as great but is substantial.

Liability, which normally costs about $65 a year, goes down about $8.50. Collision insurance drops from about $96 a year (for $30 deductible) to about $86.

Girls, unfortunately, do not move into a lower rate group by taking the course. All they gain is the added safety which comes from knowing the fundamentals of good driving.

Although there can be little doubt of the value of driver education, there is a hazard connected with it, Tanner pointed out. Some persons think that the boys and girls automatically become good, qualified drivers by completing the course.

"This is not true," he said. "A youngster 15 years old may know the fundamentals of good driving but is not mature enough to be entrusted with a car of his own. He needs more seasoning at the wheel under the watchful eye of an adult."

There are currently three instructors of the course at the school. They are Tanner, William H. Hallmark and Dan Bustamante. Bustamante also doubles as a coach.

A glance at the school budget shows that this school enterprise is not cheap. Teaching and office supplies, automobile rental, insurance, gasoline and other supplies will cost about $2,500. Salaries of the three instructors total $16,501.

Cotton Referendum Slated For Four Points On Tuesday

The 1963 cotton referendum has been set for Tuesday at four points in Howard County, John G. Hammack Jr., manager for the Howard County Agricultural and Stabilization office, reminded Saturday.

Balotting will be accomplished between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. at Farmers Co-op Gin, Knott; Planters Gin, Luther; Howard ASC County Office at 403 Lancaster in Big Spring; and Acuff Gin, Coahoma.

Purpose of the referendum is to determine whether quotas for 1963 cotton will be in effect. In order for the marketing quotas to be in effect, at least two-thirds of the persons voting must approve. The referendum is not on acreage allotments, because the allotments are due to remain in effect regardless.

If producers approve the imposition of quotas, then those who over-plant acreage to cotton will be penalized. Farms within allotments are due to remain in effect supports at a level between 85 per cent and 90 per cent of parity.

In event quotas are not approved, no penalties will be involved. Farms planting within allotments will be eligible for price support at 50 per cent of parity. Over-planted farms will not be eligible for price supports.

Producers and landlords and their spouses are eligible to cast ballots in Tuesday's referendum.

State Legislators To Be At Meetings

ABILENE—West Texas' delegation in the State Legislature will be guests at a series of five legislative luncheon meetings announced today by Don Wooten, chairman of the state affair committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The first luncheon session will be held in Odessa on Friday, and the others will be at Amarillo on Dec. 17, Lubbock on Dec. 18, Fort Worth on Dec. 19 and at San Angelo on Dec. 20.

Included among the topics for discussion will be taxation, higher education, state parks, water resources including salt water pollution, oil and gas problems, loan shark regulation and municipal annexation.

Named On Panel

C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma, has been appointed a member of the National Cotton Council's Committee on Sales Promotion. The committee will convene in El Paso, Jan. 25-26, to review programs and make recommendations for the coming year. Its report will be submitted during general sessions of the Silver Anniversary meeting of the council two days later in El Paso.

Poinsettia Ready For Christmas

This poinsettia plant at the R. V. Jones home, 1012 Nolan, is all ready for Christmas, and if the unseasonably mild weather holds then it will be full array for the occasion. Several years ago Mr. and Mrs. Jones received the plant as a potted gift. He put it in the flower bed on the south side of the house and it has sprung up again each year to flourish. Here Mrs. Jones looks at a few of the 19 blossoms the plant now has.

Medical Words Being Studied

A course in medical terminology is now at the midway point at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital. The two-week course is being presented by Mrs. Fred Pace, chief of Ward and Services Section, in conjunction with staff members of the hospital who lecture on various phases of medicine.

The first week of training entails an introduction to the medical dictionary, study of prefixes, suffixes and roots of words used frequently in medical reports, and films on medicine. During the coming week, doctors at the hospital will discuss ailments such as fractures, back diseases, cancer and mental illness.

Included in the group of 28 persons taking the course are representatives from the Big Spring State Hospital, Webb Air Force Base Hospital, Cowper Clinic and Hospital, the Howard County Foundation Hospital and the VA Hospital.

This is the second year persons outside the VA Hospital have been invited to attend the class.

Remotivation Awards Are Made

Another class of remotivation students has completed training at the Big Spring State Hospital, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent.

Dr. Harrison and Dr. Charles F. Abney spoke to the class members at their final training session Thursday. Certificates of completion of the course were distributed by Mrs. Lorna Baum, R. N., instructor.

Purpose of the training is to make the students better able to interest a patient in his surroundings and in other persons. Widening of the field of interest of mentally ill persons is an important part of their treatment and cure. Receiving their certificates were Mrs. Bonnie Haley, R. N., Mrs. Frances McQueen, Mrs. Mary Sneed, Mrs. Ethel Overly, Mrs. Shelby Parnell, Mrs. Cecil Wade, Mrs. Ray Francis, Eugen Starling and Robert Garcia.

Volunteers Finish Christmas Planning

Christmas plans were completed last week at a meeting of the Veterans Administration Volunteer Service Council, and V. J. Belda, director of the local VA Hospital, reported on allocation of funds for new equipment.

Christmas trees will go up Dec. 17 in the various areas of the hospital. The local chapter of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority will decorate the tree in the main lobby. Gold Star Mothers will put up the tree in the recreation hall and the World War I Auxiliary will decorate other trees. The Airport Home Demonstration Club will help patients decorate a tree on Ward 6.

Mrs. H. D. Bruton, representative from the American Legion Auxiliary, said the Christmas Gift shop will be in operation Dec. 10-14 in the patients' TV room on the second floor. A special Christmas program is scheduled for the evening of Dec. 20. Ed Fisher will be master of ceremonies. Gifts will be distributed the next evening.

Belda told the 25 persons attending that $52,000 has been allocated to the hospital to use during the fiscal year 1963 to replace equipment. This is a program instituted throughout the VA system to keep equipment modern by replacing it as soon as it becomes obsolete.

The new X-ray machine installed this year and now in operation will be purchased through this allocation. It cost about $18,000. Other equipment will be chairs and tables for the dining rooms, heated and refrigerated tray trucks to carry food to wards, ceiling surgical lights, an instrument sterilizer, new carpet for the chapel, a mobile X-ray machine, a dental operating unit and other miscellaneous items.

Belda said the old surgical lights will be used to convert two other rooms of the surgical suite into emergency surgery rooms.

Attempts to get a greenhouse for the hospital are being abandoned, Belda said. The American Legion in Midland has been solicited for the project, but so far not enough interest has been shown.

Six new representatives to the council were introduced. They are Mrs. Bernard Fisher and Mrs. Wilfred Greenberg, representative and alternate, respectively, for the National Jewish Welfare Board; Garland Fort and F. C. Cutrell, representative and alternate for the UPW; and Mrs. Kathleen Swindell and Mrs. Fannie Mae Eaker, representative and alternate for the National Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of World War I from Lamesa.

Next meeting of the VAWS council will be at 3 p.m., Feb. 7, 1963.

A. N. Standard Is Named As Chief Deputy

A. N. Standard has been named chief deputy on the staff of Sheriff Miller Harris.

The appointment will be effective Jan. 1.

Standard, who has headed the department's check division since its establishment at the beginning of this year, will be succeeded by Mrs. Kathryn Hise, who has been a member of the tax collector-assessor's staff for the past two years.

Harris said Saturday that Standard's experience with the office and administrative details as well as a background in law enforcement work made him a logical choice for the chief deputy's spot being vacated by Fern Cox. Effective Jan. 1, Cox is to become district clerk, succeeding Wade Choate, who was named by District Judge Ralph Caton to become county auditor.

Standard has been in the sheriff's department for several years, and prior to that he was a member of the Big Spring Police Department. The hot check division, which he supervised in establishment and operation, has experienced an unusual degree of success.

Abstract Art Is Out In Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Minister of Culture Ekaterina Furtseva has endorsed Premier Khrushchev's indictment of abstract art in the Soviet Union.

She told newsmen who attended a reception at the Finnish embassy recently that there will be no exposition of abstract art in this country.

Khrushchev attended an exhibit of modern art last week, called it the work of sick people and said it has no place in Soviet life.

DEAR ABBY

It's Not So Important

DEAR ABBY: Why must one's age be printed on one's passport for all the world to see? This is a free country, isn't it? The year of my birth is my private business, so why should I be forced to have it revealed to every hotel clerk, customs officer and nosy person who want to know how old I am? I don't like to lie about my age, and I never do. I just never tell anybody. Could you please give me one good reason why AGE is important on a document of this kind? Who cares if you are a 22-year-old citizen or a 68-year-old citizen as long as you are a citizen?

OVER TWENTY-ONE

DEAR OVER: One's "age" is necessary on a passport because it is a "vital" statistic which helps to identify the carrier. You would be terribly deflated if you knew how few people really cared (or noticed) "age" on a passport.

DEAR ABBY: Is it proper for a lady to ask a man to dance? My wife broke her leg two months ago, so she isn't able to dance. But she enjoys going to our club on Saturday night to watch the other people dance. A few women at the club have come over and asked me to dance with them. They have husbands, but they are wandering all over asking other women to dance. My wife says it is rude of me to refuse a lady when she asks me to dance, but I would feel like a fool dancing while my wife sat with her leg in a cast. I'd like your thinking.

CANT DECIDE

DEAR CANT: Only when it's "ladies' choice" is it proper for a woman to ask a man to dance. Even if your wife insists she doesn't mind, unless YOU really

Panel Urges Poll Tax Be Junked

AUSTIN (AP) — A special election law study group recommended Saturday that Texas junk its poll tax voting requirement in favor of a free registration system.

Declaration of party ties still would not be required until a voter casts a ballot, Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, chairman, reported.

The committee reached no agreement on another controversial election law change proposal — moving party primaries back to late summer or early fall. Under the so-called "Lyndon Johnson Law" the first primary election dates were changed in 1959 from July to May. The change allowed the vice president to gain renomination as U.S. senator early enough to devote full time later to his unsuccessful Johnson-for-president campaign.

"The committee strongly feels that the dates of primary elections should be brought closer to the date of the general election," Creighton said, "but present convention procedures, national and otherwise, present a complex problem of specifying a date."

"A change to late summer or early fall requires major substantive changes in convention procedures. The committee believes this merits further study and consideration."

The committee also refused to recommend to the legislature a much-discussed earlier committee proposal that all newspapers, radio and television stations would submit financial statements to the secretary of state to show how much political candidates spent on advertising. The proposal was opposed by the Texas Press Association.

Texas is one of the few states which require a poll tax. The poll tax in Texas is $1.75 with each county getting a small part for collecting the tax.

Under the recommendation from the 25-member legislator-citizen committee, the poll tax would be replaced by an annual registration requirement that would cost nothing. There would be no more exemption certificates for those under and over the voting age. Party designation would not be stamped on the registration certificate until the person votes in a party primary. After once voting as a member of a political party, a voter could not vote in another party's primary the same year. Party designation would not affect voting in a general election.

Tech's Largest Single Building Contract Let

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech's board of directors Saturday awarded the largest single construction contract in Tech history.

It authorized two studies of possible academic development.

H. A. Lott, Inc. of Houston received a $6.3 million contract for construction of two new residence halls—one to house approximately 1,000 men and the other more than 800 women.

The board asked the administration to gather details for a proposed law school with the proposal to be submitted to the Texas Commission on Higher Education when feasible.

The administration was also asked to study the possibility of adding other schools or departments, such as schools of education, nursing and pharmacy. Tech already has an education department but not a full school of education.

In other action the board authorized:

The awarding of an honorary degree to Cal Farley of Amarillo, Boys Ranch founder. It will be conferred at the spring commencement.

An annual water conference to seek new ways to utilize that resource. The first conference will be held Feb. 1.

A new research study of ground water recharge.

The requesting of new bids on revised plans for the Kilgore Beef Cattle Research Center to be located on the Tech Research Farm near Amarillo. All bids taken at the first opening Oct. 24 had been rejected previously.

In one of a series of informational reports at board meetings, Athletic Director Polk Robison pointed out that Tech's intercollegiate athletic program is on a sound and self-supporting foundation. He forecast an improved football team as well as a well-rounded program "without any questionable practices."

Banker Due Hearing Monday

LAREDO (AP) — Dist. Judge James Kazen has set a hearing for Monday on a defense motion to determine if Zapata banker Manuel Medina should be given a jury trial in his second court appearance Dec. 17.

Medina, 52, president of the defunct Bank of Zapata, in a jury trial last August was given a five-year suspended sentence for accepting deposits when he knew his privately-owned bank was insolvent.

The defendant testified the bank in the small nearby town closed July 17, 1961, because it "ran out of money." He said he used up to $70,000 of the bank's money in grain speculation.

Medina faces trial Dec. 17 on two charges similar to those on which he was convicted Aug. 10: the remaining charges bear names of other depositors.

Testimony in the August trial revealed that accounts of the Medina family were overdrawn by more than $231,000 at the time the bank closed.

First Operational Titan In Its Silo

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The nation's first operational Titan II missile was lowered into its launching silo about 25 miles west of Tucson Saturday.

The original Titan must be raised out of the ground before being fired. The Titan II is fired from an underground silo.

The nuclear warhead which the missile may someday carry was not at the site Saturday.

Beginning Of Life Dated Three Billion Years Ago

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence that there was life on earth nearly three billion years ago—almost two billion years earlier than previously estimated—was reported Saturday by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The evidence suggests the living things consisted of one-celled green plants called algae—primitive ancestors of those still commonly found as scum on mill ponds. These are the same type plants which might some day be used to furnish food and oxygen for astronauts on long voyages in space.

Dr. Caryl P. Haskins of Carnegie told about it in the institution's annual report. He credited the achievement to Dr. T. C. Hoering of the institute's geophysical laboratory.

Hoering came up with the evidence during a study of ancient rocks, including some limestone from Southern Rhodesia estimated to be at least 2.7 billion years old. This and other age estimates are based on the recently evolved radioactive dating methods.

Hoering used delicate techniques to measure the amounts of different isotopic forms of carbon found in the rocks. And he found clues indicating that algae, which contain carbon, were living at the time the rocks solidified.

Hoering told a reporter that recent previous estimates of the length of time primitive life has existed on the earth ranged only from 500 million to a billion years.

Anthropologists say that apes, the animal closest to man, lived at least 25 million years ago. The earliest known human beings existed less than two million years ago, anthropologists say, although famed British anthropologist L. S. B. Leakey says there is evidence that creatures having characteristics "heading in the direction of what eventually became man" existed 14 million years ago.

Claims Brutality In Ole Miss Riots

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Melvin Bruce of Decatur, Ga., free on $25,000 bond after being charged with inciting riot at the University of Mississippi, said Saturday U.S. marshals dealt brutally with him.

He said he and others were denied food, water and toilet privileges while held in a lyceum "dungeon" about 15 hours.

Bruce denied he took part in "any rioting or anything" while at Ole Miss when the federal government forced admission of James Meredith, a Negro, in September.

He said he was arraigned Monday night and finally released on bond Friday.

Woman Hurt As Car Leaves Road

Mrs. Peggy Butler Howell, wife of Police Patrolman Graydon Howell, Big Spring, was taken to Cowper Hospital and Clinic shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday with injuries suffered in a one-car accident. The mishap occurred 18.2 miles north of Big Spring on the Gail highway.

Mrs. Howell's injuries were not believed to be serious, although she suffered cuts and bruises.

Highway Patrolman Jimmy Parks, who investigated the accident, said Mrs. Howell lost control of her compact car, which left the highway and turned over in a pasture. Mrs. Howell was alone and en route to Post, where her parents live. A Nalley-Pickle ambulance brought her to the hospital.

Martin Is Said Connally Choice

DALLAS (AP) — The Times Herald said Saturday that govt-elect John Connally's choice for secretary of state will be Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro.

Information on Connally's plans for his administration is closely guarded. Private conferences have been going on for several weeks on steps to be taken at the inauguration Jan. 15, the dispatch from Austin said.

Appointment of the secretary of state is, customarily, the governor's first official act.

Pontiff Closes First Phase Of Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, pale and weary, closed the first phase of his Ecumenical Council Saturday and expressed strong hope it could end its work a year from now.

His words to the 2,200 council fathers — cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and abbots from around the world—were clear notice that the assembly's nine-month recess would not be a rest period.

"There is much yet to be done. A heavy responsibility rests upon your shoulders," the pontiff told the delegates. He added that his talk was intended "to stir up your enthusiasm."

The prelates were in session for the last time until next Sept. 8. They did no council work but assembled in St. Peter's for a solemn Pontifical Mass that closed the council's first phase.

Pope John walked into the church after the Mass. The 81-year-old pontiff has been fighting a stomach ailment, possibly an ulcer, and severe anemia for two weeks. He looked wan and his usually slow steps were even slower as he mounted his throne.

But his voice was firm. Speaking Latin, he told the prelates the council had made a good beginning since it opened Oct. 11. He said the pace of work was necessarily slow at the start and that there was "good reason for sharply divergent views" as the council fathers became acquainted.

Then he told them what he wanted done during the recess: a restudy of proposals by the council commissions, a restudy he expects to speed up the council's work.

For the first time, he mentioned a target date—Christmas 1963—for the council's conclusion. Many had expected it to last for years.

And he told the prelates their work would not end with the council. When it is finished, he said, there will remain the most important phase of implementing its decrees, "preaching sound doctrine and applying the laws."

He indicated anew his anticipation that the council would be beneficial to the cause for Christian unity. He referred to "hopes for our brethren who treasure the name of Christian."

In a red-draped tribunal near the Pope were diplomats assigned to the Vatican, Italian princes and nobility, and papal guards of honor with swords and flowing medieval capes. The 40 non-Catholic observers who have attended the council sessions day after day sat nearest the Pope in a long row close to the cardinals.

Pope John called the initial two-month period of the council "a low and solemn introduction to the great work." He said it was understandable that there was not immediate agreement among the bishops because it was necessary for them first to "make each other's closer acquaintance (and) look at each other squarely in order to understand each other's heart."

Eight Sign Up For Boy Scouts

C. M. Bentley, left, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 3, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, signs up James Crowell as a recruit Saturday morning.

Looking on are Scout Shelton Ashley and Tommy Williams, assistant Scoutmaster. Twelve boys and their Scoutmaster camped out on the southeast corner of the courthouse square Friday night in the recruiting drive, and stayed until 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Eight recruits were signed during the drive.

Hamlet Pulls Uncle's Nose, Garners Fame

MOUND CITY, S.D. (AP)—If you blinked at the wrong time, you could drive through town and never know you've been here.

Mound City is that small. But in recent days, this tiny north-central South Dakota farming community of about 150 people has put itself on the map—by tweaking Uncle Sam's nose.

The government last week threatened to send in U.S. marshals to retrieve the records. The fight between Mound City, named after Indian mounds located in the area, and the federal government is over refusal of this town to release records belonging to the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The federal government wants the records moved to the new Campbell County ASCS office located at Herreid, Mound City's larger (population 767) and more prosperous neighbor about nine miles north.

Mound Cityans are fighting to keep the ASCS office in Mound City. The government last week threatened to send in U.S. marshals to retrieve the records. The people of Mound City said they would meet force with force.

The threatened invasion by marshals, however, produced only scores of newsmen and television cameras.

An uneasy truce now prevails as efforts continue to settle the matter peacefully.

Two attempts to move the ASCS records out of Mound City earlier this year met determined resistance.

The first time, Mound City women sat down on the office desks so movers couldn't get them.

The second time, the State ASCS Committee sent a pickup truck here early in the morning before the office opened and loaded part of the records. Before the job could be completed, however, someone blew the town fire whistle and the truck sped away.

Since then, the front of the ASCS office has been sandbagged to prevent entry.

The fight actually started almost two years ago when the State ASCS Committee insisted on more modern facilities for its Campbell County office. The Mound City office then leaked, among other things, indoor toilets.

The county committee signed a lease to set up shop in new office building at Herreid but Mound City whipped up its own $50,000 office. Townspeople and area farmers had chipped in the money.

The county committee then canceled the Herreid contract. But the state committee fired the county committee.

Farmers in Campbell County have twice elected new county committees since the dispute started. Each time, the new county committee favored Mound City, which is the county seat, as the ASCS site.

The controversy, climaxing a long rivalry between Mound City and Herreid, has left bitterness in its wake and split Campbell County wide open.

Mound Cityans have boycotted Herreid almost completely—and vice versa.

Mound City children, who used to attend the Herreid High School, now travel about a dozen miles further north to go to school at Pollock even though the Herreid school is recognized as the better of the two.

A half-dozen churches at Herreid changed congregations almost overnight when the fight started. Mound City people now go to Sunday services elsewhere although Herreid ministers continually preached "brotherly love."

Mound City people do their buying at Pollock and other communities instead of at Herreid. And relatives living in Mound City and Herreid no longer speak to each other.

Mound City people have pulled their savings out of the only bank in Herreid and deposited the money elsewhere.

And the closing of the ASCS office until the dispute is resolved also is having its side effects.

There are 91 soil bank payments that can't be made for the year, at least 300 commodity loans outstanding and several farm facility loans on which the government can't collect.

The people hereabouts claim the dispute is just another chapter in a long-standing battle of pride with Herreid.

Herreid, they say, always has coveted the courthouse at Mound

City. And once the ASCS office is removed, they add, the courthouse will be next.

What's fair is fair, replies Herreid.

"Herreid agreed to let Mound City keep its courthouse if we got the ASCS office," said Mrs. Senfner.

This town may have to swallow its pride in the face of federal orders and for the sake of its pocketbooks.

But it has served notice that it is not going down without a fight, even if the only weapons are words.

Bribe Charges For Welfare Case Figure

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph McD. Mitchell, the Newburgh, N.Y., city manager who gained nationwide prominence by applying stringent welfare rules there, was arrested Friday on bribery charges.

"I am confident that the facts will conclusively establish my innocence of all the charges that have been made against me," Mitchell, 40, said in a statement preceding his appearance in Manhattan Criminal Court today.

Mitchell was arrested in Newburgh Friday by detectives from Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office. He was accused of asking $20,000 from two Monticello, N. Y., real estate men—brothers—to rezone property they owned in Newburgh.

Also arrested in the case was Lawrence J. DeMasi Jr., 42, of Hillsdale, N. J., accused by Hogan of being the go-between in accepting the money.

DeMasi, who runs a real estate and insurance agency in Hillsdale, was picked up by Hogan's men Friday in a midtown Manhattan hotel after he purportedly took the $20,000 there from twin brothers, Stephen and Joseph Wahrhaftig.

Mitchell, after his arrest at Newburgh's city hall, was brought to New York where he and DeMasi were booked Friday night on charges of asking, receiving or agreeing to accept a bribe, taking unlawful fees—both felonies—and conspiracy, a misdemeanor.

Mitchell was released in $10,000 bail.

"A GOD"

By T. H. Tarbet, Prescher Church of Christ, 2800 West Highway 40, P. O. Box 1386

Today when we meet to worship the Father, Son and Holy Spirit, will it be idolatry? Is Jesus Christ merely a god, as the Watchtower tract under review claims; and as their private translation, "The New World Translation," declares? Their translation makes John 1:1 say that Christ the Word was "a god." In searching through the hundreds of translations available, it seems these people have found only three more translations that say "a god" in John 1:1; each of which is a one-man translation, and one of these is admitted to be by a Unitarian.

The Appendix to their translation (1950 ed.) says that Acts 28: 6, where the heathens considered Paul "a god," is an exact parallel to John 1:1, and thus Jesus is "a god." If this be so, to call Christ "a god" is to call him a heathen god. Then the worship of Christ is idolatry, and the early disciples were idolaters in worshipping Him (Matt. 14:33; 28:9; Jno. 20:28; etc.). Believe it if you can!

"The Death of Christ" and "Bible Arithmetic" will be the sermons today at 10:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. You are cordially invited to our services, where Christ is always upheld.

Noted Opera Singer Dies

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Kirsten Flagstad, a Wagnerian soprano who thrilled music lovers around the world and starred for six years in New York's Metropolitan Opera, died Friday night. She was 67.

Friends of the family said death was caused by a bone ailment. Miss Flagstad became bedfast with hip trouble after returning home in January 1960 from a visit to the United States.

Energetic and superbly gifted, Miss Flagstad was a flaxen-haired woman of 39 when she made her Metropolitan Opera debut as Sieglinde in 1935. She was the mainstay of the Met in the late years of the depression. She drew sporadic criticism later in her career by her decision to spend World War II in Norway, her Nazi-occupied homeland.

Miss Flagstad had been a patient for several months in the government-run Oslo hospital, Rikshospitalet.

"Her death is a great loss for us," said Supt. Gunnar Brunvoll of the Norwegian Opera. "We loved her both as our first chief and as a human being."

Miss Flagstad became the first chief of Norway's fledgling opera Feb. 3, 1958. She served until Aug. 1, 1960, when months of illness had taken their toll.

Brunvoll said the opera, by her request, would do nothing special to honor her memory.

By her wish also, the funeral will be simple. Details were not made public.

The tall, striking daughter of a musical family, Miss Flagstad found her operatic triumphs shadowed in postwar years by the fact she chose in 1941 to return from the United States to her German-held homeland to be with her second husband, Henry Johansen, a wealthy lumberman. She had divorced her first husband, Sigurd Hall.

Johansen died of a lung ailment June 25, 1945, while facing charges of being a member of Vidkun Quisling's National Samling party and of profiteering illegally during the occupation by selling lumber to the Germans.

He denied the accusations.

Pickets met Miss Flagstad on her return to the United States in 1947 for a concert tour. They paraded outside halls in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia, protesting her conduct.

Stench bombs and boos mingled with applause at her appearance in Philadelphia's Academy of Music.

Miss Flagstad said she was "newly with the Germans." She declared she had no dealings with the Nazis and did not support them in any way. She said the only singing she had done during the war was in Sweden and Switzerland, both neutrals.

Standing by her, the Norwegian Society of Musical Artists made her an honorary member. Its president said she could not be criticized from any patriotic point of view.

Miss Flagstad made other post-war appearances at the Metropolitan and at New York's Carnegie Hall. In a farewell performance at the Metropolitan in 1953 in the title role of Gluck's opera

All Eyes On Santa

Serena Gauthier, 3½-year-old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. L. A. Gauthier, 191 B. Hunter, stood in awe for a brief, thrilling moment Friday as she talked with Santa. She and an estimated 2,500-3,000 other children made the trip to the east side of the courthouse to see their idol. For Serena this was her first visit with Santa in Big Spring.

Youngsters Get To Tell Santa What They Want

The line formed early Friday, well in advance of the arrival of Santa Claus for his annual visit with Big Spring boys and girls. And they paid him tribute as an estimated 2,500-3,000 turned out to whisper their Christmas wishes into his willing ear.

The line was long by 2:30 p.m., the arrival time. Kenneth Pace, assistant Chamber of Commerce manager, said, and when school was dismissed it grew even longer. "It extended almost to the south door of the courthouse along the sidewalk," he said. "Santa finished about 6 p.m."

Hoffa's Scared To Go On With Conspiracy Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, says he is too scared to continue his conspiracy trial here because of an air gun attack on him.

Hoffa made the claim in an affidavit filed along with a formal motion asking U.S. District Judge William E. Miller to declare a mistrial in the $1 million case.

Hoffa's statement said he "is apprehensive of his own safety if this case should proceed further at this time."

The attack came Wednesday when Warren Swanson, a Washington, D.C., laborer and former mental patient, whipped out the air pistol and fired at Hoffa in the courtroom. The pellets bounced harmlessly off Hoffa's body and Swanson was quickly subdued.

The day after the attack, Miller ordered marshals to search everyone entering the courtroom from now on and directed that the jury be locked up for the duration of the trial. Then he recessed the trial until Monday after a four-hour closed session on which neither the judge nor attorneys for either side would comment.

High Winds Delay Balloon Launching

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—Persistent winds forced scientists to postpone Saturday the scheduled balloon evaluation flight in Princeton University's astronomy project. It was the fourth delay in a row.

If the gusty winds recede, the balloon will be launched at 4 p.m. Sunday, officials said.

The tandem balloon system, part of a project known as Stratoscope II, will fly at 80,000 feet after launch. It will carry a three-ton dummy package aloft.

Recovery is expected in Southern Louisiana. The test will be the first major launch from the new national scientific balloon flight station in Palestine. Officials have said a successful flight will be a major step toward the first Mars scientific flight next spring.

The complaints were filed Friday with the prosecutor's office.

Wilhelmina's Funeral Held

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—Queen Wilhelmina today received the all-white funeral she requested as a symbol of her faith that death is the beginning of life.

Eight white-bedecked horses drew the white hearse along the seven-mile route from The Hague to the royal mausoleum at Delft. Holland's ruling monarch, Queen Juliana, and the four royal princesses were all dressed in white as they followed in white carriages. Prince Bernhard, Juliana's husband, wore a general's uniform.

Among white wreaths carried on all-white carriages were floral tributes from President Kennedy, Emperor Hirohito of Japan, European royalty, Latin-American presidents, and French President Charles de Gaulle.

Wilhelmina died Nov. 28 at the age of 82.

After The Ceremonies

In the picture above, two proud winners pose with John R. Alison, speaker for the Webb AFB graduating class. They are Capt. Leonard F. Reynolds, at left, who was awarded membership in the Order of Daedalians, and Capt. Maury A. Franklin, at right, who was honor graduate and, in addition, holds the commander's trophy. Social activities followed the graduation ceremonies, and in the two photos at left, two second lieutenants symbolize the friendly atmosphere. Mrs. E. F. Bigham rewards her husband with a peck on the cheek, while Richard Jaffe chats with District Judge and Mrs. Ralph Caton.

Another Double Winner For Webb Graduating Class

Webb AFB produced another double winner Friday as Class 63-C was graduated.

Capt. Maury A. Franklin not only was the honor graduate of the class and winner of the commander's trophy, but he also was named the outstanding graduate of the Air Training Command for classes 63-C.

John R. Alison, major general in the USAF reserves and vice president of Northrop Corporation's Norair division, reassured the graduates of the power of the free world.

"You are an important part of that power," he said, "and I hope you will not underrate that importance."

As Air Force pilots, graduates not only have a common interest in flying, he added, but also in the defense of this nation. He called on them to practice positive, realistic thinking in the tense time of today's world.

In ceremonies at the base chapel, Col. A. F. Breckenridge, deputy chief of staff for materiel, ATC, presented the certificate of membership in the Order of Daedalians to Capt. Leonard F. Reynolds. The Daedalians, founded originally by pilots of World War I, now confer membership on outstanding graduates of USAF pilot training schools. (The name comes from Daedalus, character in Greek mythology, who observed that his captor Midas controlled land and sea but not the air, and said "I will try that way.")

Col. Wilson H. Banks, wing commander, made the presentation of the Commander's Trophy to Capt. Franklin and announced that he had topped all the graduates in the Air Training Command.

Col. Harold C. Collins, commander of the Pilot Training Group, presented diplomas to graduates. Wings were presented by the instructors. Prayers were offered by Chaplain James R. Plummer and the organ music was supplied by Mrs. James L. Manes. After the ceremonies, graduates and their families were honored at a reception at the officers club.

Capt. Franklin is a graduate of the University of Nebraska; and he is married to the former Billy Upham of Waco. They have two children, Kevin, and Kirk.

Captain Reynolds is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Reynolds of Missoula, Mont. He is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy, and entered the pilot training program at Webb in October of 1961. He is married to the former Marilyn Moore of Kalispell, Mont. They have one son, Thomas.

Col. Alison, speaker for the Webb AFB graduating class, presented the trophy to Capt. Leonard F. Reynolds, at left, who was awarded membership in the Order of Daedalians, and Capt. Maury A. Franklin, at right, who was honor graduate and, in addition, holds the commander's trophy. Social activities followed the graduation ceremonies, and in the two photos at left, two second lieutenants symbolize the friendly atmosphere. Mrs. E. F. Sitter Arrested For Kidnaping BELTON (AP) — FBI Agents arrested Friday a young baby sitter they said was charged with kidnaping a child from a Long Beach, Calif., home.

The woman, Carolyn Lee Gibson, 20, was placed in jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

The FBI said Miss Gibson is charged with the recent kidnaping of Marla Carol Lovelace, 2. The child was found unharmed when the arrest was made in a rural area near here.

Segregation Law May Be Ruled Invalid

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas News said Saturday in a story from its Austin bureau that the referendum law requirement for desegregating Texas public schools likely will be ruled illegal next week.

The newspaper said Atty. Gen. Will Wilson is expected to issue Monday or Tuesday an opinion holding the 3-year-old law unconstitutional.

"There's no way around it," the News quoted an unnamed lawyer it said was assisting in preparing the opinion.

Commenting on the report, Wilson said his department will have an opinion on the subject soon.

"I'm almost certain it will be the first part of next week," the attorney general said. "I cannot say what the opinion will be because we have not finished processing it."

He said he had no further comment on the published story.

"We'll do whatever the attorney general directs," the News quoted Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, as saying.

Texas Education Agency currently is withholding funds from the Benavides Independent School District in Duval County because the state auditor found it had admitted two Negro children to an elementary school previously operated for whites only.

The legislature in 1957 passed a law ordering public schools to remain racially segregated until each district's voters approve desegregation. No election was held in the Benavides district.

The attorney general previously held that the state can continue paying its funds to local districts where a court orders segregation abolished, regardless of the election law provision.

Boots Figure In Texas Death

PECOS (AP) — Western heritage that a man dies with his boots on figures in a full-scale investigation of a Texas death.

Two hunters stumbled Friday onto the decomposed body of a man clad in Western clothes and stockings.

His high-heeled cowboy boots—obviously slashed from his feet—were found a considerable distance from the body on the bank of historic Pecos River.

A name was found stenciled into part of the clothing. Sheriff A. B. Nail withheld the name from the public until he could investigate further.

The sheriff said foul play was involved.

Suspects Go To U.S. Custody

In the prelim Del Mar cinched third place with a 106-84 win over LaTourneau Tech. Walter Carter led the Jayhawk effort with 18 points, while Lou Balenton tossed in 11. The Hawks held a three-point lead through most of the final period, but exchanged baskets whittled it to one point at times.

The Hawks played good ball, however, missing only five free-throws. Thompson and Lacy each threw in eight centers. Bill Sinchew and Wilburn five.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin found the going easy in its first home basketball game of the 1962-63 season Saturday and set down Texas Western 73-59.

Wisconsin led at the half 34-27.

Syracuse Straps Uclans, 12 To 7

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Syracuse, frustrated for three periods, came from behind in the final quarter Saturday when John Mackay returned a punt 40 yards for a touchdown to defeat UCLA 12-7 in a nationally televised football game.

A crowd of 14,485 in the Memorial Coliseum watched Syracuse dominate the game but lose the ball several times on fumbles and interceptions to stymie scoring drives.

In the fourth quarter, with the Bruins leading 7-6, UCLA's Tom Bennett punted from the end zone. Mackay, the powerful Syracuse halfback who was converted from end a few weeks ago, took the ball on the 40-yard line and was hit immediately by Joe Bauens. But he shook away and eluded two more Bruins as he ran for the sidelines. He threaded his way untouched into the end zone.

The victory gave Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's men, who outweighted the Bruins a dozen pounds per man, a season record of 5-5. Coach Bill Barnes' gallant but outmanned Bruins, also finishing their season on this overcast afternoon, wound up 4-6 for the season.

Buffalo Bills Turn Back New York Titans, 20-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Cookie Gilchrist, who starred for nine years in the Canadian League, became the first American Football League player ever to roll up 1,000 yards in a season and in the process scored all of Buffalo's points in a 20-3 victory over the New York Titans.

Gilchrist, in his first AFL season, finished the 1962 campaign with 1,096 yards, rolling up 143 against the Titans. Two big gulps came on touchdown runs of 42 and 30 yards in the second half after he got only 26 yards in the first half.

However, he chipped in with a pair of 42 and 27-yard field goals, and also kicked both extra points. The victory assured Buffalo of a third place finish in the Eastern Division as the Bills ended their season with a 7-6-1 record.

Bill Shockley's 23-yard field goal that tied the score in the first period was all the scoring the Titans could muster.

Gilchrist, a 6-foot-2, 243-pound rumbler, broke the 1,000 yard mark on his 42-yard scoring jaunt in the third period. He added the 30-yard run early in the last period. He broke Billy Cannon's single season record of 948 last week.

McKay Named Coach Of '62

NEW YORK (AP) — John McKay, who guided Southern California to an undefeated season and top spot in The Associated Press poll, has been named coach of the year by the Football Writers' Association of America.

The one-time star back from Oregon, who led the Webfoots into the 1949 Cotton Bowl as a player, now is sending the Trojans into the Rose Bowl game against Wisconsin Jan. 1.

McKay has been a head coach only three seasons and this is his first as a winner. The first two produced a 8-11-1 record. The last time Southern Cal won every game was 1932, although the 1939 and 1942 teams were 8-0-2.

A native of Everettville, W. Va. the 39-year-old McKay served in the Air Force, was graduated from Oregon in 1950 and was an assistant coach there until 1959 when he became an assistant at Southern California.

The voting by the 1,100 members of the football writers produced a two-man race. The runner-up was Milt Bruem, coach of the surprising Wisconsin team which won the Big Ten title and also will play in the Rose Bowl.

Borger Fights Back Cats To Win, 21-13

BORGER, Tex. (AP) — Borger marched 82 yards to a fourth-quarter touchdown Saturday to ice a 21-13 victory over San Angelo in the Class AAAA schoolboy football quarter-finals.

Until the surge, which produced a score with 2:38 left, it was a nip-and-tuck battle for the right to meet Lufkin next week in the semifinals.

San Angelo scored first on a 65-yard drive in the opening period. Jimmy Bihl, the game's leader, got the touchdown with 118 yards, got the touchdown with a smash from the 1. Sammy Ray kicked the extra point.

In the second period Borger scored on a 1-yard plunge by Wayne Rape. Then three plays later David Walton intercepted a pass on the San Angelo 38 and Lee Johnson climaxed the drive by going over from the 3-yard line. Ray again converted.

San Angelo scored just before the half on a 19-yard pass from Ronnie Henson to Kemper Aylor. Borger stopped the try for the 2-point conversion and Borger led 14-13 at the half.

San Angelo moved to tie the Borger 26 and again to tie the 18 in serious marches in the last half but the Bulldogs held.

The Bulldogs took over on their own 18 with 11:38 left and scored in 23 plays. Rape made the touchdown with a 5-yard run. He kicked the extra point.

A crowd of 7,154 — largest in Borger history — saw the game.

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — An aroused Dumas scored 21 points in the first eight minutes of the third period to wipe out a 10-0 Brownwood lead and coast to a 36-18 victory over the Lions Saturday in a Class AAA quarter-finals schoolboy football game.

Dumas will play Jacksonville in the semifinals next Saturday at Wichita Falls at 2 p.m.

Brownwood recovered a fumble on the Dumas 16-yard line and pushed to a touchdown in the first period. James Crow plunged over from the 2 and Doug Young kicked the extra point.

With three seconds left in the first half Young kicked a 30-yard field goal to make it 10-0.

Dumas smashed 49 yards for its first score in the third period, with Joe Parsons going over from the one and Joe Ballard kicking his first of four extra points.

Benefit Go Set Friday

The Big Spring Police—331st FIS benefit football game, slated for 7:30 p.m. Friday night, will feature two well-manned and conditioned squads. The contest will benefit the Big Spring Crippled Children's Fund. The Law Enforcers, with a 34-man squad, have been holding regular practice sessions from 6 until 10 p.m. each evening at the old stadium. The 331st's 20-man offensive and 21-man defensive squads have been drilling each night for two weeks on a Webb AFB gridiron. The Fighter-Interceptor Squadron's coaches are led by head coach Bob Hancock. Others include Arthur Andress and Tom Curran. Frank Costello is the team trainer. Offensive and defensive team captains, respectively, are Bob O'Leary and Bill Leach. Eleven of the police squads are former Big Spring Steer footballers. They are Dub Day, Jimmie (Tiny) Ellison, Bob Broughton, Tommy McAdams, Bobby Suggs, Jerry Barron, Jackie Milam, John Birdwell, Don Washburn, Wayne Tollett and Pat Lamb. Guard Chuck Condray acts as team captain. The lawmen's game jerseys were furnished by Coahoma High School. The 331st's are donated by Sweetwater and Ozona Air Force Stations. Steers, Tigers Start Training Anew For Tilt

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl teams, Texas and Louisiana State, hit the practice field Monday to start preparations for their Jan. 1 clash. They will work until Dec. 22, take out for Christmas, and return to their fields at Austin and Baton Rouge Dec. 26. As the two teams put on the moleskins once more, the fans will be somewhat amazed at their similarity. The statistics bear out statements of coaches whose teams played them both. Coach Jess Neely of Rice and Coach Hank Feldberg of Texas A&M said they figured it would be an evenly matched affair. In winning nine games and tying one to take the Southwest Conference championship and host spot in the Cotton Bowl, Texas rolled up 2,860 yards—an average of 286 yards per game. LSU, in compiling an 8-1-1 record, ran and passed to 2,673 yards—an average of 267.3. That's a difference of 18.7 yards—just about as much as Jerry Stovall, the LSU All-American, might make on one of his runs. Defensively, Texas allowed 211.0 yards per game, while LSU gave up 206.2. That's a difference of 4.8—just about as much as Johnny Treadwell, the Texas All-American guard, might throw Stovall for a loss. Top runner of LSU is Stovall, who racked up 368 yards on 89 runs. Ray Poage, the Texas full-back, leads the Longhorns with 452 yards on 141 carries while Tommy Ford is close behind with 424 yards. Texas, however, as a team has only 3 yards more on the ground than LSU. Tommy Wade led Texas passers with 434 yards on 33 completions. Lynn Amadeo of LSU connected on 24 for 457 yards. Both teams ran more than twice as much they passed. While Texas has a bulge in offense and LSU a margin in defense the difference isn't enough to indicate superiority for either team. Reckon they'll play to a tie?

Bovines Lose In Tourney

PLAINVIEW—The crippled Big Spring Steers lost two straight games in the Plainview Invitational Basketball tournament here, yielding to Midland Lee, 62-53, in consolation after dropping a 69-42 verdict to Waship McAdoo in the championship round Friday. The Steers matched strides with Lee in Saturday morning's game until Albert Fierro fouled out with four minutes left in the contest. At one time, the Longhorns led the Rebels by three points. Deeroby Gartman led the Steers in scoring with 22 points while Fierro tossed in 13 in the game against Lee. Bobby Smith paced the Lee club with 19 points. McAdoo simply had too many deadeyes and was too fast for the Steers Friday. The Steers trailed by 20 points at half time. Gartman again led the Longhorns in scoring with 18 points, the same number, tossed in by Morris of the Eagles. The Steers, now 3-2 on the season, return to competition in Big Spring Tuesday night, at which time they host Brownfield. Next weekend, the Longhorns play in the Snyder tournament.

Bobcats Earned Right To Title

District 1-AAAA champion San Angelo didn't take the area crown by any fluke—as evidenced by the Bobcats' season statistics which gave them a respectable edge over the field in rushing yardage. The Bobcats' 2,855 yards gained on the ground also earned them the top notch in the first down department with 178. Big Spring's Steers copied all honors in the passing category with 74 completions for 1,217 yards. The Steers' yardage pick-

Phil Hayden waxed warm for the 3561st PTS in the second contest, ripping the cords for 16 points. Claude Cox tossed in 17 for the 3560th PTW. The Students and the 3560th ABG are now tied for the lead in the circuit, each with a 2-0 won-loss record.

Albany Wins Over Clifton

BRECKENRIDGE—The Albany Lions, behind the passing of Johnnie Woodward and the running of Jim Wood, defeated the Clifton Cubs, 28-21, to move into the Class A semifinals in a game Friday night. After Clifton had taken a 7-0 lead the Lions started a march that gave it a 8-7 lead it never lost. Paydirt came when Woodward passed 14 yards to Wood for the touchdown. The same two teamed up to get the two point conversion with 3:45 left in the half. Unruffled Albany added two more touchdowns to its total before the half ended. The first came on a 47-yard pass to substitute end Mike Coulter from Woodward and the second occurred on a pass to Gary Hise which covered eight yards. Hise had made the second one possible on an intercepted pass. Clifton, following the second half kickoff, got back in the game. After the kickoff the Cubs scored the 72-yard drive to make the score 21-13. Bart Townsend scored the TD on a keeper. The Cubs got another break when they recovered a Wood fumble at the Clifton two. The Cubs took advantage of the break by marching for a touchdown which came when David Ketter crashed over from five yards out. Townsend passed to Jerry Alen for the two points. The Lions countered with a score which it turned out they didn't need. Hise counted the insurance points from three yards out.

Winters Humbles Mustangs, 21-12

MIDLAND — The Winters Blizzardards, behind the running of Steve Grissom, gained the Class AA state semifinals by handing the Denver City Mustangs their third loss in 53 games, 21-12, here Friday night. Neither team could break into the scoring column in the first period but in the second Winters took a 7-0 lead. The Blizzardards' Mike Patterson punted a 42-yard kick to the Denver City three. The Mustangs immediately punted out to the Denver City 41 from where Winters started its drive. In seven plays the Blizzardards scored the TD when Denny Aldridge went over from the one. The key gainer was a 19-yard pass from Tommy Alfrey to Aldridge that carried to the 17. Alvis Jackson kicked the extra point with 9:02 left in the period. Following the kickoff Denver City started a march that put it within one point of the Blizzardards. The score came with 3:33 left in the half when Pat Hubbard ran over from seven yards out. Big plays in the drive were a 16-yard run by Hubbard and a 21-yard sprint by Don Kinder. The extra point run was stopped and Winters still led, 7-6. Denver City went out front with 1:57 left in the third period. Because of a roughing-the-kicker penalty Denver City got a first down on the 50 Kinder ran to the 37 on the first play and another key run by Kinder gave the Mustangs the ball on the four. Hubbard finally went over from the one and the Mustangs led, 12-7. With 8:53 left in the game the Blizzardards took a lead which they never lost. On the first play after a Mustang punt Grissom went through the middle and 73 yards for the score. Alfrey passed to Tommy Young for the conversion to make the score 15-12. Winters picked up an insurance TD when Grissom went over from the two to end a 60 yard drive in the last 15 seconds of play.

Two Leagues Agree On Intent Letter

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — The Southwest Conference announced Saturday it had reached an agreement with the Big Eight Conference under which there will be a mutual recognition of letters of intent in order to better control recruiting of football players. Under this agreement an athlete signing at one of the 16 schools of the two conferences would be ineligible to transfer to another without loss of his freshman and sophomore years of competition. The agreement was reached by telephone between the Southwest Conference, meeting here, and the Big Eight, meeting in Kansas City. The date on which athletes may be signed was set as the first Tuesday preceding Feb. 15. Next year, when the agreement goes into effect, the date will be Feb. 12. The boy will sign what is termed a pre-enrollment application, with no financial aid mentioned. When he has finished his high school eligibility he then will be given financial aid. The two conferences agreed there would be no limit on the number of pre-enrollment applications. The Southwest had been limiting it to 22 in football plus three junior college transfers and three regular transfers. The Southwest Conference has a limit on the number of football athletic scholarships a school can give. However, no school is going to sign that many pre-enrollment applications anyway. The agreement applies only to football. Other sports will operate as they have in the past. The two conferences agreed that there would have to be a 72-hour period from the signing date before an institution or the alumni of the institution could pay the expenses of the athlete to visit the campus. This is to prevent a school "hiding out" an athlete. The pre-enrollment agreement must be filed within one week after it is signed. If the boy gets a notice within two weeks that it has not been filed, he becomes eligible to sign at another school. The agreement brought about a change in the spring training rule. The conference now will permit spring training of 20 days in a period of 36 calendar days instead of 30. It had been specified that spring training must be completed by April 1 except in the case of Arkansas and Texas Tech, who were given later dates because of weather conditions. Now the spring training period has been extended to April 7. The agreement is not retroactive and does not apply to mid-term graduates. Only the high school boys graduating in May or June come under the rule. The agreement applies only to move arguments that might arise over a school in one conference taking an athlete from a school in the other conference, and therefore cut down on the competition for athletes. It helps the boy, Grubbs pointed out, because it removes the pressure. The athlete no longer will be courted over a period of months and can apply himself to his studies in high school. "He now can get some sleep," said the conference secretary. The agreement was reached by telephone between the Southwest Conference, meeting here, and the Big Eight, meeting in Kansas City. Bobo Nemsom, (above) the roly-poly nomad who changed uniforms 26 times during a flamboyant 25-year baseball career in which he ultimately wound up a loser, died Friday in Orlando, Fla., at 55, less than 10 years after he pitched in his last major league game.

Herron Guides Rotan To Win

LUBBOCK—With Steve Herron passing for four touchdowns the Rotan Yellowhammers crushed the Sunray Bobcats, 35-0, to gain the Class A semifinals in a game here Friday night. All-Stater Herron accounted for the only scoring done in the first half. It came in the first period to end a 75-yard drive which took only four plays. On the third play of the drive Dennis Polnac raced 25 yards to the Bobcat 31. Herron went off right tackle and 31 yards for the six points. The extra point failed and Rotan led with 44 seconds left in the quarter. With 5:25 left in the third period Rotan scored again when Herron passed 19 yards to Eddie Mac Lag for the score. Herron carried for the two points and a 14-0 lead. Early in the final period Herron passed to Lang for another TD. Lang caught the perfect pass from Herron without breaking stride and went all the way for the touchdown to complete a 70-yard pass and run play. Bill Ashton kicked the conversion and the runaway was on. Howard Van Loon intercepted a Bobcat pass and ran it back 15 yards to the Sunray 23. Two plays later Herron passed a eight yarder to Pete Garcia for the score. Ashton again converted to make the score 28-0 with 10:33 left in the game. The last Rotan TD came on a 62-yard march, which ended with a 26-yard pass from Herron to Garcia. Joe Garcia added the conversion to end the rout. Sunray failed to get as far as the Yellowhammers 20 and to add to its humiliation Rotan intercepted three Bobcat passes. In the game Herron had 421 yards total offense and his one touchdown run gave him 38 for the year with his four TD tosses giving him a total of 29 for the season in that department.

Oilers, Patriots Continue Chase

By The Associated Press
The Houston Oilers and the Boston Patriots continue their game of chase Sunday in the race for the Eastern Division title of the American Football League. Championship still won't be decided until next week's final games.

Packers Near Third Divisional Crown

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Green Bay Packers can nail down a tie for their third straight crown in the National Football League's Western Conference Sunday with a victory over the San Francisco 49ers or they can win the title outright if the second-place Detroit Lions should unaccountably fall before the Minnesota Vikings.

One unhappy alternative faces the Packers, who had threatened to make a shambles of the western race only three weeks ago. A loss to the 49ers and a Detroit victory would tie the two for the lead, each with one game left. Green Bay winds up against the Los Angeles Rams and the Lions face the Chicago Bears next week.

Eight Men Inducted Into 25-Year Club

Eight veteran employes of Cosden Petroleum Corp. formally joined the ranks of the Cosden 25-Year Club Friday evening at a dinner party in their honor at Cosden Country Club.

A. C. Wilkerson, Bert D. Shive, A. Walker Reed, C. E. Milam, L. D. Gilbert, James Howard Sheats, Howard W. Nell and Odie Grady Milam were inducted. They have a combined record of 204 years of service to the company.

Reminiscences were in order as R. L. Tollett, president, read brief biographical sketches of the honorees. Each received a check for a month's vacation and either a ring or lapel pin designed with diamond-studded 25-year emblem. George Grimes, president of the 25-year Club, presented membership cards to the inductees who shared the spotlight with their wives.

Following the dinner, members and their guests danced to the music of Henry King and his Orchestra. About 250 persons attended.

Organized in 1959, the quarter century club has sponsored a social event for the incoming members annually. Its roster now includes 63 employes, four of whom are retired and four deceased. In addition, R. W. Whiskey, Herald publisher, is an honorary member.

The eight newcomers received as place favors framed family photographs and decorated folders containing lengthy biographical sketches and first issues of the current Cosden Copper, in which they are featured.

Decor included arrangements of white carnations and guided leathered foliage centered with gold Christmas balls. The balls were also used to ornament silver oil derricks bearing the 25-Year wreath and based in magnolia leaves. Patio lamps encircled with pine cones and gold balls lighted the dining tables.

Brief biographical sketches of each of the men follow.

WILL AMERICA
The lead a nation holds may be here today and gone tomorrow. We must raise our sights if we are to hit the target in science, business and world affairs.

But the education that trained our leaders yesterday is not adequate for tomorrow. Colleges are in a squeeze. Some face shortages, and in less than 10 years applicants will double.

If we value leadership, we must see that our higher institutions have well-equipped laboratories, enough modern classrooms and, above all, a steady supply of competent teachers.

IOCC Reviews Oil And Gas Conservation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Interstate Oil Compact Commission meets Sunday for its annual four-day review of oil and gas conservation programs.

No controversial item is on the agenda for the 33-state advisory body. Some states, however, may attempt to revive an old squabble over equitable sharing of domestic crude production by the states.

The commission may take its first formal stand on the Federal Power Commission's (FPC) area formula for controlling wellhead prices of natural gas.

Eight governors are to attend the Tuesday and Wednesday general sessions which follow two days of committee meetings.

The compact authorizing the commission to serve as a forum for interstate cooperation to prevent avoidable waste of oil and gas received its original approval from Congress in 1953. The commission can make recommendations but each member state can accept or reject.

Another request for a four-year extension of the compact is to be placed before Congress next year. A subcommittee on equitable sharing of crude production was abolished a year ago after Wyoming, Montana and Utah charged other states, particularly Texas, with trying to dictate how much crude they could produce.

The 11-state executive committee was instructed to take over the work of the subcommittee and merely compile a statistical report on production trends in the individual states.

Texas officials have been among the leaders in the fight for a study on equitable sharing. They contend Texas has held back its crude production during the current world surplus of oil but that other states have not done so.

Independents Pleased With Import Revisions

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for independent oil producers says he's pleased and encouraged by revisions in the oil import program proclaimed by President Kennedy last week.

Minor Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, added in an interview that revisions are a step in the right direction but aren't the final answer.

He and Harold Decker, president of the IPAA, say further action to improve the oil import program will be necessary to assure adequate supplies for consumers and for national security.

The revised program approved by Kennedy in the first major policy decision of his administration on the problem, bases import quotas for the area east of the Rocky Mountains on domestic production rather than demand.

It is expected by the White House to guarantee U.S. producers a fair share of petroleum sales in this country. It will limit crude oil and products other than residual fuel oil to 12.2 per cent of domestic production during an earlier six month period.

Jameson said it would make little change in the amount of licensed imports during the first half of next year.

But he said the fact the administration moved in the direction of strengthening the import program from the standpoint of the domestic producer was a "highly significant development which should have long-range implications to the benefit of the industry."

The administration, he added, is now even more committed than in the past to a program of "restoring a healthy producing industry in the United States."

"I am encouraged that if further action should be needed it will be taken," he said. "Our problem has been recognized and action taken in the direction of further tightening of restrictions."

"Still further improvements are needed, however, and we will continue efforts to get to a point where there are signs that the domestic oil industry is recovering and in a healthy condition. It is not in such a condition today."

Jameson said that in the light of oil import program revisions, it would be contradictory on the administration's part should it back a bigger tax bite of the oil industry.

He referred principally to unsuccessful efforts in Congress to reduce or eliminate the 27½ per cent depletion allowance permitted oil and gas operators in income tax returns.

With the administration expected to ask Congress to cut income taxes, some oil officials believe proponents of a depletion allowance cut again will urge it as a tax loophole closing measure.

Odessa To Get Plastics Plant
ODESSA (P)—Odessa will add another plant to its multi-million dollar petrochemical industry late next year or in early 1964.

The new facility will produce tough, lightweight, rigid plastic labeled "Polypropylene."

No announcement was made on cost of construction of the new plant or number of employes which will be needed.

The official announcement was made by Ralph M. Knight, president of Rexall Chemical Co., and C. L. Moore, vice president and general manager of El Paso Natural Gas Products Co.

Odessa businessmen have just returned from a visit to Rexall's Southern California offices as part of an appreciation tour of industries in that area. The trip was made as a thank-you gesture to companies already operating branches here and as a get-acquainted move with other firms.

Contractor for the new Odessa plant will be Fish Engineering and Construction Inc. of Houston. Work is expected to begin early in 1963.

meet the SENIORS of the Cosden family...

CLIFTON C. HARRISON

This is the 13th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and varied services of these employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

Clifton C. Harrison was operating a service station in his home town of Terral, Okla., when he decided to sell out and move to Big Spring. His twin brother, Clinton H., had been with Cosden for five years; "Cliff" started with the company as a yardman on Oct. 6, 1947.

For brief intervals he was a rickman and truck driver before entering the carpentry shop. It was during the eight-year span as a carpenter's helper that he helped pour the foundations for No. 2 Crude Unit, where he is currently a topping helper.

While in Terral, Harrison played semi-pro baseball. His love for the game prompted him to help organize Little League baseball in Big Spring and the Pony League, which is now the Teenage League. He coached here until three years ago, when he was persuaded to assist in organizing Little League in Coahoma and coach a team there.

Harrison attended grade school at Terral and high school in Coahoma, where his folks settled. Ten years ago he moved back to Coahoma with his own family. He and his wife, the former Pat Lindsey of Forsan, whom he married April 26, 1949, have two children, Eddie Dean, 12, is a seventh grader at Coahoma Junior High and played football this year. Gaylan Lynn, 10 and a fifth grader, is a Little Leaguer. They live at 503 College.

In Harrison's record is a 3½-year service in the Army's tank corps; about half of the time was spent in the Pacific Theatre.

The Harrisons belong to Cosden Country Club, and are consistent sports fans. All of them vote for fishing. Harrison is a former member of the executive board of Local 826, IUOE.

Harvest Delayed In Westex Area

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Rains have caused further delays in the High and Low Plains cotton harvest but improved grain and pasture prospects in most areas of Texas, an agricultural official says.

John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said in his weekly report that the cooler weather along with clearing skies brought hopes of better weather in sections where most of the cotton crop still is in the field.

The mild temperatures and moisture have been good for grain and when fields dry, grazing will increase. This will cut back the need for feeding.

Moisture is generally adequate in the lower Panhandle but is short in some northern counties. Lack of moisture has hampered wheat grazing. Cattle generally are in good condition.

Slow drizzle and fog have stopped the South Plains cotton harvest for 10 days but harvesting in some areas was resumed Tuesday. Wheat, livestock and ranges were in good condition.

Moisture is adequate over the Rolling Plains where rains varying from one to five inches fell. The cotton harvest dropped further behind schedule. Farmers in some counties awaited a killing frost to defoliate for strippers. Cattle have been moved from some wheat fields because of the rains.

North central counties have a surplus of moisture and fields are too wet for grain grazing. Some feeding has been necessary because of the boggy fields. Grains, winter grasses and legumes are making good growth. Pastures are in excellent condition.

Moisture was general over Northeast Texas and fully adequate. The cotton and corn harvests are complete. Wheat and oats are providing grazing. Pastures were described as average, with some frost damage. Livestock was in good condition.

Light rains in far West Texas have started winter grass and weeds and livestock are in fair condition. Some feeding is necessary in the spotted dry areas. Irrigated small grains are making good growth and the cotton harvest is continuing. Onions are making good growth.

Light rain, drizzle and moderate temperatures have helped grains, weeds and grass and the green fields are now providing some grazing in West Central Texas. Livestock are in fair to good condition but feeding is increasing. The cotton harvest has been slowed by the weather.

General rains over Central Texas have left fields too wet to work but have restored moisture to the adequate stage. Oats are making good progress and grazing will increase when fields dry, he said. Winter grasses and weeds are coming on. Livestock conditions are normal with some feeding. The peanut harvest was slowed by the rains but is nearing completion.

Rains in East Texas brought soil moisture back to adequate. Pastures were average or below. Livestock were in fair to good condition with some weight losses. Winter fields are not providing adequate grazing.

Last week's rains gave a boost to South Central Texas prospects. Oats, flax and range vegetation will benefit greatly from the moisture. More flax will be planted. Livestock conditions are fair to good except in the southwest corner of the district where conditions are poor.

Rains in the upper Gulf Coast area brought water to a standstill. Oats and winter legumes are making good growth and furnishing good grazing.

Soviets Spent Billion In Cuban Gamble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The educated guess in this capital is that the Soviet Union invested something more than the equivalent of a billion American dollars in the Cuban gamble which didn't pay off.

On the other hand, preliminary calculations—which officials agree are very rough and made while the duration of the crisis was uncertain—is that this country's cost might run about $100 million. This would be expenditure beyond the normal operating and maintenance costs of the Navy, Air Force, Marines and Army.

This estimate conceivably could be boosted as detailed tally is made of the vast scope of deployment and operation by ships, planes, men and weapons.

As an example, President Kennedy was told Friday at headquarters of the Strategic Air Command in Omaha, Neb., that SAC planes flew 20 million miles during the month in which massive airborne alert was maintained.

The estimate of a $1-billion cost to Russia is based essentially on the installation of Russian "hardware" and personnel in Cuba, without including such items as shipping costs and associated factors.

Nursing Students Receive Pins At HCJC Ceremonies

Thirteen vocational nursing students from Howard County Junior College received their pins and certificates of completion of training in ceremonies Friday night at the college auditorium. This was the fourth class to graduate.

Ceremonies included an opening procession with music provided by Mrs. Anna E. Smith, Anne Keller, soloist, and Dorothy Downey, accompanist, also were on the program.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC, congratulated the class Jackie Holt, Andrea Justice, Maxine Kenner, Frances Pitts, Beverly Roney, Daloise Record and Johnnie Speaker. They will take their state board examination in March, 1963, to become licensed members on their accomplishment and Dr. Melvin Crawford, who heads the adult vocational program, presented certificates.

Completing the training were Vernell Conner, Maxine Fuller, Bernide Herrera, Dora Griffith, Nina Holland, Frances Holt, vocational nurses.

Died Four Times?

Mrs. Cora Landau stands behind her husband, Dr. Lev Landau, last month in a Moscow hospital where he is recuperating from automobile accident injuries received last January 7, according to caption of picture from Soviet agency Tass. The current issue of Medical World News says the scientist, winner of the Nobel Prize in physics this year, died and was brought back to life four times in the days following the accident and for seven weeks a pump kept him breathing. Last month, the magazine says, Dr. Landau sat up in bed and acknowledged the news that he had won the Nobel Prize. (AP Wirephoto)

300 Negroes In N'Orleans Schools

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Nearly three months after this city began its biggest desegregation experiment, 300 Negroes attend 54 Roman Catholic and public schools without incident.

Public demonstrations by irate, sign-carrying parents have ended. Attendance is down slightly at a number of the schools. Our Lady of Good Harbour Catholic School in Buras—80 miles south of here—opens its doors daily but no pupil has shown up since Sept. 15.

Most white students at the school—in the political area ruled by segregation leader Leander Perez Sr.—have transferred to nearby public schools.

Attendance in the Catholic schools throughout the 11 civil parishes (counties) is down about 3 per cent from 1961-62, says archdiocesan headquarters. About 190 Negroes are believed attending the 34 desegregated Catholic schools.

At the desegregated schools, attendance rose from 13,656 on Sept. 7 to 15,775 on Oct. 1. A Catholic spokesman says the Oct. 1 figures remain substantially correct although they may differ by about 100.

A few Negroes are reported to have dropped out of St. Joseph the Worker School in the New Orleans suburb of Marrero.

The last public school attendance figures, for Oct. 22, showed that attendance had dropped by 426 pupils out of more than 10,000 at 20 desegregated public schools and Gentilly Terrace School, where the only Negro registered failed to appear.

The better-than-95 per cent attendance at the schools marked a sharp contrast with 1966, when almost all of the white pupils boycotted the first two schools to be desegregated—McDonogh No. 19 and William Frantz.

Negro attendance at the 20 public schools has held steady at 107 since the opening of school. Last year, 12 Negroes attended six formerly all-white schools.

Although the sidewalk demonstrators have vanished, opposition to integration remains strong. One evidence is construction of a number of private, cooperative schools. Students who attend can get $2 a day in state grants to meet the cost.

Protest meetings against desegregation are still taking place. The fiery Perez, excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church for his segregation stand, has done little public speaking lately, possibly because of the illness of his wife.

Mrs. B. J. Gaillet Jr. and Jackson Ricau, who also were excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church for his segregation appearances at protest meetings. "None has tried to get back into the church's good graces, although Mrs. Gaillet has written a number of letters to Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel and John P. Cody and to Pope John XXIII asking that the reasons for her excommunication be spelled out.

Another indication of public sentiment was the tight school board election Nov. 6 in which two moderate incumbents, Louis G. Riecke Sr. and Lloyd Rittiner, barely attained a majority. Their principal opponents, James Earhart and Rayon Stevens, were backed by the segregationist Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans.

Riecke and Stevens were accused of working with the federal courts to speed up desegregation.

However, school Supt. O. Perry Wheeler says desegregation is following exactly what the court ordered—"no more, no less."

Three grades in public schools are desegregated this year, one completely and the other two on a token basis. The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has directed the school board to eliminate racial school districts in two grades next year and completely desegregate five grades by the following year.

Club Sees Film On Paintings

A film dealing with paintings depicting the life of Jesus Christ, painted by the old masters, and screened over network television last year, was shown to members of the American Business Club at their regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

Volunteers were accepted with the club to man Salvation Army Christmas kettles next Friday in downtown Big Spring. In all, 24 men accepted assignments to work the kettles and appeal to the public for donations in four-man shifts, each to work one hour.

Club members also voted to provide funds for purchasing Christmas trees for patients at the VA Hospital, an annual undertaking of the club.

Tickets are still being sold for the ABC's annual Christmas party, which will be held at the Big Spring Country Club Saturday night, Dec. 15. Dinner will be served after which those attending will dance to the music of an orchestra.

Morris Robertson is in charge of the ticket sales for the dinner. He said the ducats would be available throughout this week.

Joe Ward and Mike Musgrove were introduced as new members of the club.

Concho Hereford Sale Scheduled

The Concho Hereford Association will hold its 16th annual auction sale of registered bulls in San Angelo, Dec. 20, according to Dawson Coleman, association president. There will be 90 bulls offered in the sale, including 10 pens of three bulls. All are described as of good ages and in good breeding condition. They are consigned by leading breeders of West Texas, and are of high quality and popular bloodlines.

Jack Turner, Hereford breeder of Fort Worth, will judge the bulls at 9 a. m. and Walter Britten, auctioneer, will start the sale at 1 p. m.

Store To Be Turned Over To Patients

About 250 patients from the Big Spring State Hospital will have Woolworth's all to their own Monday night during special shopping hours. The store will be open to patients only from 7 p. m. until they have concluded their Christmas shopping.

A few employees and volunteers will help show merchandise to the patients and serve coffee and donuts during the shopping tour, according to Herman Bauer, manager. This is the first time for this program to be carried out locally, although it has been practiced in other Woolworth stores in many parts of the country.

Buses from Howard County Junior College will help carry patients to the store.

Legislature Faces Issues On Colleges

By ERNEST STROMBERGER

AUSTIN (AP)—The biennial tug-of-war between educators and politicians begins next month.

When the legislature opens Jan. 8, members will begin choosing sides on these issues pertaining to state colleges:

1. The Commission on Higher Education's recommendation that tuition be doubled to $100 a semester.

2. Whether to bring five new colleges in the 20-school system.

3. Whether to increase heavy state spending for the colleges by 55 per cent to a record $162 million.

College appropriation figures must enter in the give-and-take with other state agencies over division of available funds.

But on the two other issues, legislators will have clear-cut choices—and some already have made their decisions.

An Associated Press poll of the next legislature shows that proponents of more state schools will have stiff opposition. The same is true for the proposed tuition hike.

Sixty per cent of the lawmakers who replied to the poll ranked both items as being in the top 10 in priority. Past legislatures also have found the subjects important—the 55th doubled tuition to $50, the 56th elevated Midwestern and Tarleton to four-year, state-supported status, and the last legislature added the University of Houston.

None of these measures passed without hot debate. Tarleton and Midwestern were elevated despite disapproval of the Higher Education Commission—a body the legislature created to keep politics out of state educational policies.

Tuition increases were defeated by the 56th and 57th legislatures, also over the commission's disapproval. Bills to elevate San Angelo and Pan American Colleges, as recommended by the commission, failed in the final hours of the January special session after filibustering by Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan.

Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo said a San Angelo College bill will be introduced in January. Some Valley legislators plan to submit another Pan American College bill. Other bills to elevate San Antonio, Odessa and Laredo Junior Colleges may be introduced after the commission takes action on the three in January.

A majority of replying legislators said they plan to oppose more four-year colleges.

"We need fewer and better four-year schools and more community colleges," said Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston said he will support such measures and added: "College level education is now comparable in cost and requirement to high school education a decade ago."

On the tuition issue, a majority said in the poll they will oppose an increase.

Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity expressed "unaltered and violent opposition" to a tuition boost. Rep. John Allen of Longview agreed. "Poor people have to go to school too," Allen said.

Several lawmakers said they might consider a tuition increase when money bills blocked by low funds could pass with $31 million from a tuition raise.

Nesmith Wins Cowboy Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tom Nesmith won the 1962 all-around championship cowboy title Saturday night in the fifth go-round of the National Finals Rodeo.

Nesmith, of Bethel, Okla., clinched the title when his closest competitor, Dean Oliver of Boise, Idaho, failed to place in calf roping.

Nesmith also ran out of the money in his two events, but Oliver cannot top Nesmith's earnings with money yet to be won in the cowboy classic.

Nesmith, 27, has now earned $31,565 in calf roping and steer wrestling at rodeos this year. Oliver, who already holds the calf-roping title, has won $29,403.

World titles are determined on the basis of money won during the rodeo season, and the all-around title is given only to cowboys who compete in more than one event.

It's the first world championship for Nesmith, a husky cowboy who has been competing professionally since 1953. He came into the national finals with a solid lead over Oliver, who won $514 in the first five go-rounds here.

Nesmith is the first cowboy since 1941 to win the all-around crown, competing only in timed events.

Building Hits High Mark Again

Big Spring building permits, issued during 1962, are running above the $5 million mark for the fifth time in the past 10 years.

The high was $5,773,690 in 1952. Three hundred eighty new residence permits issued so far have accounted for $3,879,171. New business permits total $273,170.

The new Social Security building, the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building, the First National Bank building, plus some new service stations and grocery stores, have helped to up the year's business for Building Inspector Tom Newton.

Additions to the First Presbyterian Church, and to Marcy school, plus the rebuilding of the New-Som grocery have accounted for over $361,000.

The November total for all types of building, moving, or demolition was $400,840. So far in December permits have been issued for $138,265, which includes 11 new residences.

HERE'S ONE BIG REASON WHY YOU SHOULD BUY A '63 DODGE!!!

ALL DODGE CARS AND TRUCKS CARRY A 50,000 MILE, 5 YEAR WARRANTY

THE BEST WAY TO FIND OUT ABOUT A DODGE AND ITS WARRANTY IS TO DRIVE THE CAR AND READ THE WARRANTY!!!

DO THIS TODAY SEEING IS BELIEVING!!

TRUE FACTS ABOUT THE DODGE 50,000 MILE, 5-YEAR WARRANTY!!

- *The Warranty Coverage for 12 months or 12,000 miles of operation, applies to the entire vehicle, except the tires, spark plugs, condensers, ignition points, filters, etc. These items of course are considered normal owner maintenance.
- *The 5 year, 50,000 mile warranty is an additional coverage to go with your certified car care warranty of 1 year or 12,000 miles.
- *This warranty covers both Dodge cars and trucks.
- *The 3 year, 30,000 warranty covers the entire engine block, head and all internal engine parts. The transmission case and all internal parts. The torque converter, drive shaft and universal joints. Rear axle and differential and rear wheel bearings.
- *This warranty is transferable with resale of the car, thus increasing the resale value of the car.
- *If you're traveling or moved to a new location, any authorized Dodge dealer will perform your warranty work.
- *An authorized Dodge dealer is the best place to have your Dodge serviced, but you do not have to do so to be covered by your warranty.
- *Under your Dodge 5 year, 50,000 mile warranty, you have to do no more than your New Dodge in the way of preventative maintenance than any new car owner should.
- *You don't have to lubricate your new Dodge but every 32,000 miles.
- *All New Dodges have self adjusting brakes.

202-204 SCURRY

MAGNIFICENTLY EMBOSSED with jeweled ornaments are Christmas stockings being made by Mrs. E. B. McCormick for Christmas 1962. Almost traditional is the scissor art and beading done by Mrs. McCormick. Beginning a number of years ago, she made stockings of felt, appliqued with peasant designs. Similar stockings were noted on the work table along with the lovely velvet ones.

PROFESSIONAL PROFICIENCY marks the candy-making and packaging done each year by Miss Rosa Timmerman whose Christmas gifts to friends are in the making. An anesthetist by profession, Miss Timmerman began in October, using her time off from work, to prepare for the holidays. Hundreds of pounds of ingredients have gone into the making of chocolate covered nuts, creams, caramels, nut rolls, kisses, etc. Upon completion, approximately 175 pounds of candy will be made, packaged and sent for Christmas gifts. This Christmas marks the project's 11th year.

In The Spirit Of CHRISTMAS

CLUSTERED CANDLES, grapes and evergreen are worked into an arrangement for the breakfast table in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert

Stripling, 903 Mountain Park. Such arrangements and other holiday decorations have been made by many of the garden club members the past week. Some have been used for decorating hospitals, while others were made for use in the individual homes. Mrs. Stripling chose a red and green motif to blend with the wrought iron candelabra.

GIVING OF HER TALENTS, Mrs. J. F. Skalicky is conducting pre-Christmas workshops in gift wrapping. Her skill is noted in the ribbon rosette and carnation corsages, swirls, fluted bows, satin coils and the sequined snowman for package decor. Wrapping paper can be anything from newspaper sprayed gold to the glossy, washable shelf liner variety. Devil's claws and feathers make for frivolous ornaments, and the lace doily lends elegance.

Plans For January

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill R. Creighton, 208 Washington Blvd., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Sharron Elizabeth Creighton, to Sam G. Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Terry of Tulsa, Okla. The wedding is planned for Jan. 26, 1963 at the First Baptist Church, Big Spring. A graduate of Baylor University, the bride-elect is presently teaching in Rosemont School, Dallas, Tex., also a graduate of Baylor U., holds a scholarship at Florida State University where he is working on his master's degree.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

HALEY HODNETT, son of MR. and MRS. M. F. HODNETT, has had many interesting experiences since he took the job of underseas cameraman on the research vessel R. V. Argo but his biggest reception came on Armistice Day this year. In a recent letter to his parents he told of his ship, one of the SIO Expedition Lusad which was then on the Indian Ocean docking on Kerzuelen Island on Nov. 11 just as the Frenchmen who man the weather station there, were sitting down to their holiday feed. The crew was the first people to land there in 11 months and the first Americans to land on the island since 1902. According to Haley the crew of the ship was treated like returning patriots and joined the weathermen for a sumptuous meal. On the menu were buttered snails, crisp salad, baked sucking pig, sea food of all kinds, mounds of cheeses he had never heard of before and hot French bread.

Haley finished high school here in 1954 and studied architecture three years at Tech. He has recently studied at California State College, San Francisco, a branch of the University of California which is connected with the Scripps Institute of Oceanography. The Hodnetts expect Haley home in January although the expedition continues until May. The crew members sign on for only six months at a time. Since he has been in Tokyo, Bangkok, Calcutta and Bombay. His last letter was mailed from Fremantle, Australia, where the ship had made an unscheduled stop to take a crew member who was critically ill. The letter was mailed on Wednesday, Nov. 28, and delivered here on Dec. 1.

Christmas Tree Shoppers Informed On How To Select An Evergreen

Everyone's busy getting ready to observe the year's climactic event — shopping, baking, entertaining, mailing packages and greeting cards of good will, planning surprises, and participating in activities of the church and community.

But Christmas really won't be here, at least in the eyes of eager children, until the light-spangled Yuletide tree is in place, towering over gayly wrapped gifts.

Fragrant Christmas trees, still fresh from the forest, bring nostalgic memories of Christmases past, for most of us.

Future generations will have similar memories, though few will recall the happy occasion of selecting the family tree from the "back 40," and the exhilarating hazards of wax candles amid the inflammable boughs. Those days are gone.

SHAPELY SPECIMENS

But folks who have the job of raising Christmas trees are providing plenty of shapely specimens, many carefully graded for quality by USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. Wholesale prices vary greatly, depending on quality and species selected and distance from growing areas.

There are three main grade classifications. U.S. Premium designates the very finest. Other grades are U.S. No. 1 or U.S. Choice, and U.S. No. 2 or U.S. Standard.

Use of these standards is voluntary with folks in the trade, so you may or may not notice the grade designation on the tree you buy.

TYPICAL CHARACTERISTICS

But if you buy a U. S. Premium tree, AMS graders will have determined that it possesses characteristics typical of the species. It will be fresh, clean, healthy, well-trimmed, of not less than medium density. And it will have a normal taper, with each of the four faces free from damage by any cause.

A tree graded U.S. No. 1 or U.S. Choice also is a high quality tree. It will have at least three faces free from damage. Specifications for U.S. No. 2 or U.S. Standard trees will be fresh, fairly clean, healthy, well trimmed, of light or better density, candlestick, normal or flaring taper, and with two adjacent faces free from damage by any cause.

"Culls" consist of individual trees which fail to meet the requirements of No. 2 or Standard. GRADED ON FRESHNESS Freshness means much in grading Christmas trees. You want a tree that has pliable needles, gen-

C. H. DeVaney Attends Convention In Atlanta

COAHOMA (SC) C. H. DeVaney has been in Atlanta, Ga., attending conferences pertaining to resolutions to be passed on at the National TB Convention which begins Monday.

Bill Tinner and Fred York have returned from the Masonic Grand Lodge meeting in Waco. Ralph Cathy of Fresno, Calif., has been a guest of the F. M. Holyeys.

The Coahoma Bridge Club met in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Wolf for a covered dish luncheon and a day of bridge. Mrs. Aubra Darden was high score winner and Mrs. Val Best low score winner. The club will meet next week in the home of Mrs. Donald Lees for a Christmas party.

Judge Ed Carpenter and Bill Reid, president of the Coahoma

State Bank were in Lubbock to attend the meeting of the Association of State Chartered Banks of Texas at the Pioneer Hotel.

John A. Wolf, father of Lloyd Wolf is in the Malone and Hogan Hospital for a series of tests. Phil Corcoran underwent a series of tests in the Big Spring Hospital Wednesday.

McCanns Have Company Dinner

Employees of the T. H. McCann Butane Co. were entertained Friday evening with a Christmas dinner at Coker's Restaurant. Following the dinner, dessert and coffee were served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCann, 702 Highland.

Twenty-two attended, including out-of-town employees. They were Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bingham and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mock from Seminole. Mr. and Mrs. Don McBeth, Andrews; and G. M. Arreguy of Pecos. Special guests, not associated with the company, were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Allen.

The Christmas motif was carried out in decorations throughout the home. A red lace cloth covered the serving table, which was centered with an arrangement of red candles and silvered holly.

Garage Gives Living Space

For a family in need of extra living space, an attached garage can be a distinct advantage. Most of the expensive structural work has already been done, so it's simply a matter of closing off the garage door, providing for adequate heating and lighting, and finishing off the interior.

An attractive family room was once filled to the brim with rusty garden tools, worn out tires, discarded porch furniture, and assorted boxes of long forgotten junk. A thorough housecleaning and a lot of do-it-yourself ingenuity turned it into an ideal spot for hobbies, reading and entertaining. The room makes use of an attached storage shed at the rear which serves as a convenient study bay. The walls are finished in natural wood paneling and the floor is asbestos tile. A patterned cushioned ceiling overhead helps keep noise to a minimum and lends an attractive decorative note to the interior.

New Members At Mother's Club

Four new members were welcomed into the Howard County A&M Mother's Club Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Buel Fox.

They were Mrs. Guy Mitchell, Mrs. D. P. Thompson, Mrs. G. M. Minks and Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach.

The hostess served refreshments from a table centered with a miniature Christmas tree covered with flowers, and used napkins with a holiday motif.

The next meeting of the club will be on Feb. 7 in the home of Mrs. Lee Porter.

Meet Madame President

MRS. DALE RIGGS

Mrs. Dale A. Riggs is president of the Opti-Mrs. Club. Also she is vice president of the newly formed club, the Flamettes; is a member of Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi; and belongs to Wesley Methodist Church. Originally from Carthage, Mo., Mrs. Riggs graduated from Montebrey High School in Lubbock. After her marriage she and her husband moved to Odessa. They now have a daughter, Cheryl Lynn, aged two, and the family resides at 3203 Eleventh Place. Mrs. Riggs is employed as a secretary for Household Finance Corp.

Colorado City with its by-pass opening celebration Friday, a group of young high school girls who call themselves the Seven-Teens furnished delightful musical entertainment with their orchestra. The talented misses are very fortunate in having MRS. JIMMY PAYNE, mother of their drummer, as their arranger. Mrs. Payne majored in music at SMU and until a few years ago taught music. The girls make prettier music than most of the combos who are playing for pay.

Colorado City women helped to make the special end of the day a success. MRS. CHARLES THOMPSON, MRS. J. RALPH LEE, MRS. BILL RANDALL, MRS. ELDON MAHON and many others were right on target with the hospitalities.

We visited briefly with MRS. DORIS ANN ALLEN, former Big Spring, who lives with her mother, MRS. M. F. STEPHENS, and is employed by the Colorado City Record.

MR. and MRS. LESS WHITAKER and MR. and MRS. LLOYD WHITAKER have been the weekend guests of the A. W. MOODYS and DR. and MRS. C. W. DEATS. They plan to return to their homes in Amarillo today.

MISS SHARRON CREIGHTON whose engagement is announced today was pictured in the Dallas Times Herald's magazine section last Sunday. An art teacher in a Dallas elementary school, Miss Creighton was shown with one of her pupils. Also her pupils were those shown on the magazine cover page.

COL. and MRS. WILSON BANKS have as their guest, her father, PAUL STARK SMITH of Santa Rosa, Calif., who plans to spend the holidays here with the Banks family.

erally firmly attached. Ordinarily, the "handle" length should be about one-twelfth of the tree's height.

Growing and selling Christmas trees is an important industry in this country. In 1960, domestic production was estimated at about 31 million. In addition, 11 million were imported, mostly from Canada. The total provides enough for one tree for every household in the nation.

Bulk of the trees produced are balsam fir, black spruce, Douglas fir, red cedar, Scotch pine and white spruce, although all evergreen species do the job nicely.

E. Fishers Hosts For Evening

Employees of the Social Security office with their husbands and wives were guests for a Christmas party at the home of the district manager and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Erven Fisher, 2410 E. 24th.

A salad supper was served from a table laid with a white cloth and centered with blue candles, cedar and Christmas balls. A blue and white motif was carried out. Gifts were exchanged from a lighted tree, and games provided evening entertainment. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Compton.

Club Donates To Hospital Fund

A donation to the Big Spring State Hospital Christmas fund was made by the Mary Jane Club of Coahoma, meeting in the home of Mrs. Ray Foster Thursday afternoon.

Glad To Be Home

Lt. Col. Rowland D. Wolfe, his wife and daughter, however it gave them a greater appreciation of Suzanne, appreciated their residency in Turkey; their homeland.

The Wonder Of It All Is Taken For Granted

By KATHLEEN DOZIER
The American Way of Life—the wonder of it all—is sometimes taken for granted. The many luxuries afforded to most families in this country are realized only when they are denied.

Those returning from other parts of the world are quick to say that they are happy to be back where they can have good, pure, running water; where they can have radio and television programs; where food is variable and plentiful; and where they can resume their accustomed manner of living.

Lt. Col. Rowland D. Wolfe, his wife, Edna, and their daughter, Suzanne, have experienced limited luxuries during the past two and one-half years. They were stationed at Ankara, the capitol of Turkey, until their recent arrival in Big Spring. Col. Rowland is now stationed at Webb Air Force Base where the family quarters are located at 72 East.

Arriving in Ankara May 26, 1960, the Wolfes awakened on May 27 to the sounds of guns firing and tanks rumbolling through the streets. Learning from the hotel window, Mrs. Wolfe was suddenly jerked back from the view of downtown streets and the range of gunfire. Her husband recognized the sounds of battle. Thus, the Wolfes were welcomed into the land of mosques and Moslems, then in the throes of a revolution.

Establishing themselves amongst the townspeople, the Wolfes came to know their neighbors and their way of life. They gained a better insight into their problems, friendships developing in the process.

A vast American colony in Ankara appeared their occasional desire to be back at home in the States. Also, there was an American school for Suzanne who is now 11, and is in the sixth grade at Marcy School.

Since her arrival here, Suzanne has been busy engaged in making up six weeks of school. This hasn't been easy with neighborhood girls the same age to make friends with and becoming acquainted with the world of television.

Souvenirs of the sojourn in Turkey are to be seen in the home, including "worry" or prayer beads, elegant brass pieces made in that country; teakwood screens; oil paintings; pipes for smoking; slippers; and toys.

These were shipped, but the Wolfes traveled via jet airliner to Rome and on to Naples where they boarded an ocean liner for New York and home.

Originally from Columbus, Ohio, the family served a tour of duty in the Philippines at Clark Field, where they were friends of Col. and Mrs. Wilson Banks. They were pleasantly surprised to find that Col. Banks is in command at their new station.

Many are planning for the guests that will be arriving soon to spend the holiday season in Big Spring.

Saturday night the members of Class 64-B and their guests held an informal Christmas party at the VFW Club. The students of the class did the planning for the party, and the wives of the class spent the day decorating the hall for the event.

All Student Squadron wives should take note that the monthly meeting of the 3561st Student Squadron wives will be at 2 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 13, at the Officers' Open Mess. The board for the 3561st Student Squadron wives will meet at 1:45 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 10, at the Officers' Open Mess.

Community Loses Active Family As Lt. Col. Einstein Gets Transfer

City Loses Busy Family

Soon after the holidays, Big Spring will lose one of its most active families—the Leonard Einsteins. Lt. Col. Einstein is being reassigned to Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls. He's been active in the concert association, Toastmasters, Kiwanis and many other organizations. His wife Margo has been similarly busy with P-T-A, Toastmistresses, and assorted cultural and civic affairs. Jill and Peter are all wrapped up in Scouting, music and other things.

Lt. Col. Leonard R. Einstein, executive officer and former commander of the 3560th Maintenance Supply Group at Webb AFB during the past four and a half years, has received orders assigning him to Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls. He is to report there by next Jan. 15.

The colonel's orders mean the removal of a family that has been most prominently identified in many civilian activities in Big Spring, as well as in base programs. Mrs. Einstein has a record of outstanding civic work, and their children, Peter 13, and Jill, 10, have been leaders in children's projects.

While stationed at Webb, Col. Einstein has been active in many cultural and community activities and boy's work has taken much of his time. He has been chairman of the Webb Boy Scout Troop Committee, member of the "Order of the Arrow," member of the Lone Star District Council of the Boy Scouts, past president of the Officers' Club, past president of the Toastmaster's Club, member of the Kiwanis Board of Directors, member of the Chamber of Commerce Cultural Activities Committee, and a member of the board of directors of the Big Spring Concert Association.

Mrs. Einstein, the former Margo Lowell, also has taken an active part in local as well as base-community affairs. She was the originator of the Marcy School Volunteer Creative Arts Program where children were given the opportunity of participating in elementary school dancing, painting, sculpturing, music-rhythms, arts and crafts; the program utilized the services and talents of more than 200 Big Spring and Webb women.

Mrs. Einstein authored the article "Talents Unlimited" in the magazine "U.S. Lady," helped to start Webb Cub Pack No. 46, and with Mrs. Clara Butler she organized one of the three original Cub Dens at Webb. She became a Registered Girl Scout Leader and with Mrs. Ed Holcomb led Brownie Troop No. 422.

She was one of the three judges at the Air Training Command Art Contest at Webb, is past president of the Tall Talkers' Toastmistress Club, and was the founder of the Toastmistress Club at the Big Spring State Hospital, now coordinated by Mrs. Frank Meacham. Mrs. Einstein was program chairman of the Officers' Wives Club when that organization wrote, produced and directed, "From Plains to Planes"—acted by HCJC drama classes and narrated by Bruce Frazier, local radio newscaster.

Mrs. Einstein is currently serving as parliamentarian of the Temple Israel Sisterhood. Col. Einstein came to Webb in August, 1958, from a tour of duty in Korea, where he served as director of personnel. He also served as Air Force representative on the Joint Civil Affairs Committee of the United Nations Command.

He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, BA, 1931; and of New York University, MA, 1956. He completed the Applied Personnel Management Course in 1943, the Air University's Academic Instructor's Course in 1951, and the Space Systems Orientation Course in 1960.

The colonel was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Reserve on graduation from the University of Wisconsin in 1931, and was called to active duty in December, 1941. He holds numerous decorations.

Col. Einstein was named to succeed Col. Donald W. Pendergrast as commander of the 3560th M&S Group in December 1961, when Col. Pendergrast was named Deputy Commander of Webb. He returned to his desk as executive officer of the Group pending reassignment on the arrival of Col. George E. Franks in July, 1962.

TUESDAY EVENING

College Choir To Give Christmas Musicales

The music department of Howard County Junior College will present a Christmas musicale featuring the college choir Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The program at the HCJC auditorium is open to the public without charge.

Ira Schantz, vocal instructor at the college, will direct the choir in the presentation. In addition, there will be vocal and instrumental solos as well as choir numbers which make use of special instrumental obligatos.

Instrumentalists to be featured with the choir are Ted James and Lonnie Webb, trumpets; Sonnet

Johnson, violin; and Jackie Hipp, drum. James and Webb will play the two-part trumpet obligato to "The Old Hundredth Psalm Tune" arranged by Ralph Vaughan Williams for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in Westminster Abbey in 1953. James is minister of music at the First Methodist Church and Webb is an HCJC student and college choir member.

Johnson, violin, and Jackie Hipp, drum, will be instrumentalists in a number to be sung by the choir, "Pat-a-pan," arranged by Katherine K. Davis. Both Sonnet and Jackie are HCJC students.

Two HCJC Choir members will be presented in single movements of concertos. Webb will play the final movement of the Concerto for trumpet in E Flat by Joseph Haydn, and Johnson will play the first movement of the Concerto No. 5 in D for violin and piano by Friedrich Seitz.

Vocal students Anne Keller and Dorothy Downey, sopranos, will be presented in a short group of vocal solos. Miss Keller will sing "Nachtviolen" by Franz Schubert and "Bescheidene Liebe" by Hugo Wolf. Miss Downey will sing "Velvet Shoes" by Randall Thompson. Pianist for the choir and also for all soloists appearing on the program will be Jack Hendrix, chairman of the department of music at HCJC and one of the best known musicians and teachers in West Texas.

Earlier this fall the choir sang for the Big Spring Music Study Club, the West Texas Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, the American Business Club, the Webb AFB Officers Wives Club and the Forsan Study Club. On Dec. 18 the choir will present a program for the local Rotary Club and on Dec. 19 will appear on the annual Christmas assembly at the college.

Bad Check Department Exceeds Expectations

Merchants are being warned by Sheriff Miller Harris and his worthless check department that December is likely to be a month when a great many bad checks will be circulated.

He suggested that business establishments exercise more than usual caution in accepting checks from persons whose appearance is questionable and that efforts to establish clearly the identification of writers be made.

Meantime, the new check department in the sheriff's office will round out its first full year of operation this month. It was activated in January, 1962. At that time, it was optimistically predicted the department would be instrumental in collecting as much as $10,000 during its first year.

The department was modeled after one in the sheriff's office in Wichita County and it was against the record of that successful operation the guess of $10,000 in collections was made.

How far afield this guess turned out to be was shown in the report the department made for November. The department has collected $39,156.81 from writers of worthless checks in the first 11 months of its operation and will probably push the total well above $43,000 by the time the year ends. In November, the department recovered $3,222.71 from hot checkers and repaid that amount to merchants.

The report shows there were 325 worthless checks processed by the department during the month, which is just about par for an average month. The department has handled 3,500 checks in the 11 months it has been operating.

Of the 325 bad checks turned over to the department for handling in November, 141 were paid off. This represents 43.4 per cent, which is a little under the total collections, percentage-wise, achieved for the 11 months—$1.6 per cent.

During the year, 494 merchants and individuals have turned over bad checks to the department for processing. In the 11 months, 943 check writers have paid off worthless checks.

Where the writer of a worthless check responds to notice and acts promptly to square his record, that is usually the end of the matter. All the department requires is that the writer refund the face of the bad check. This money, in turn, goes back to the merchant who took the check.

However, if the writer fails to cooperate, the department proceeds with prosecution. So far this year, the department has lodged 134 worthless check cases in county court and forty-four complaints have been filed in district court. These were forgery cases or cases where the checks were in excess of $50 and no repayment made.

In the 11 months, 64 defendants have been tried before the county court for misdemeanor worthless check charges and 30 before the district court for felony offenses. The department has a nearly 100 per cent record for convictions where prosecution has been pushed.

School Trustees To Meet Tuesday

The regular December meeting of trustees for the Big Spring Independent School District will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the school administration building, 100 E. 10th.

It has been re-scheduled from the usual meeting date of the second Tuesday of each month because of conflicts for many of the board members.

At present, the agenda is short and the meeting is expected to be brief. It includes appointment of a member to the juvenile board, selection of a local textbook committee and various other appointments. There will also be routine reports on school activities.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner in the Gold Room at the Big Spring Country Club. Board members will be guests of Sam M. Anderson, superintendent, and Mrs. Anderson.

Censored Foles At World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—A slightly censored edition of the Foles Bergere will be one of the attractions of the $10-million French exhibit at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair.

A spokesman for the fair's French Pavilion said last week the foles will be housed in an egg-shaped building seating 1,500. The 50 dancing girls, he said, will not be as "obvious" in New York as in the Paris show.

Fire Marshal Urges Caution With Christmas Decorations

A Merry Christmas can depend on fire safety according to Fire Marshal A. D. Meador, who listed ways of insuring safety in Christmas trees, decorations, lighting, gifts and wrapping, and yard lighting.

"When using a natural tree," Meador says, "pick a fresh-looking firm-needled tree no bigger than you need. Support the tree firmly and keep it away from sources of heat and don't place it where it will block escape in case of fire. Don't operate electrical, fueled, or mechanical toys under the tree because it might lead to an upset tree and possibly a fire.

"Chemical coatings or solutions to 'flameproof' trees are not always reliable and none is completely effective," Meador said. Remove the tree as soon as gifts are taken away, or as soon as possible thereafter.

"Metal trees are not fire hazards but may be shock hazards when coming in contact with electrical wiring or appliances. Indirect lighting only should be used on metal trees."

When it comes to wrappings and decorations, noncombustible materials should be used, the marshal said.

"Don't use polystyrene foam for candle holders, or for table or mantle decorations where wax candles are also used. Dispose of wrapping promptly and safely by placing them in metal-covered trash containers. The fire-place is not a safe place to burn them. And don't allow smoking near the tree, decorations and wrappings."

The National Fire Protection Association, a technical and educational clearing house of fire safety information, says fire precautions should be doubled at Christmas time.

"Many of our traditional Christmas customs such as trees, colored lights, and decorations, add to fire hazards in homes," the association said. "Sometimes a combination of active children, and preoccupied parents, allows the one moment of carelessness which is all that fire needs.

"Christmas is a time for happiness, and no time to be heedless of fire dangers."

More suggestions for handling gifts at Christmas include a warning to avoid pyroxylin plastic toys and dolls, toys operated by alcohol, kerosene or gasoline, and frayed electrical wiring.

"Home isn't the only place where dangerous Christmas fire hazards need attention either," Meador continued. "Schools, churches, hospitals, and other public buildings should have only noncombustible and safe trees and decorations.

"In children's plays and church processions, use safe, battery-operated electric candles instead of hazardous, lighted wax candles. Christmas crowds, in public buildings, may easily lead to panic in case of fire, so all exits should be kept free and clearly marked."

BEFORE HAVING GLASSES FITTED...

Ask yourself these 3 questions!

1. Where can I go and be sure my priceless eyes are thoroughly and scientifically examined by a competent Doctor of Optometry?
2. Where can I go and be sure of the exact prescription my eyes require for clear, comfortable vision... be sure that nothing will be left out for the sake of "cutting cost"?
3. Where can I go and be sure of a reasonable price for dependable Optometric service... not just so-called "bargain" glasses, where quality is a secondary consideration.

what happened to the

funnies

Now there's a little man who knows what he wants! He wants the pretty funny papers. You might say, "He has a mind of his own..." That's correct, of course. Every child is endowed by his creator with a will and a mind; not developed, but it's there. Yet, how that child is trained from his earliest years, will mold his character, develop his mind and strengthen his will.

Children should have good example, then. And the best example that parents can give is to go to church. The Church is for you and your family. It is the hope of your children. It is the means of bringing God's bountiful blessings to all.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
