MINUTEMEN MISSILES IN SILOS, READY

Nation Officially Enters Era Of Push-Button War

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—The Minuteman missile, a test vehicle for 22 months, officially becomes part of the nation's war-time bombing power today—and the first of the true push-button capacity.

Each missile is programmed for a specific target and has its own guidance system to take it there. Before 1965, after an estimated 10-year expenditure of more than $3 billion, the United States is expected to have more than 800 of these three-stage rockets on station.

and can be fired in less than 15 seconds. This compares with up to 30 minutes for the Atlas and Titan which require time-consuming liquid fuel loading prior to launch.

1961. This was a month after the first test launch and flight down the Atlantic missile range, and four years after solid fuel for such a missile was developed.

Judge Writes Warrants For Those Named

LONGVIEW (AP)—The Gregg County grand jury, pressing its investigation into slanted oil well drilling in the East Texas field, returned 209 indictments today on charges growing out of the scandal.

Miss Bessie Stewart, district clerk of Gregg County, said the indictments were returned shortly before noon and followed several days of consideration by the grand jury.

She said Dist. Judge Sam Hall began at once preparing warrants for those named.

She said she did not know how many persons were actually involved.

Among those indicted were former Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp; Dist. Judge David C. Moore; Longview oilman Bob Car-gill; and Tom Cook Jr., of Longview.

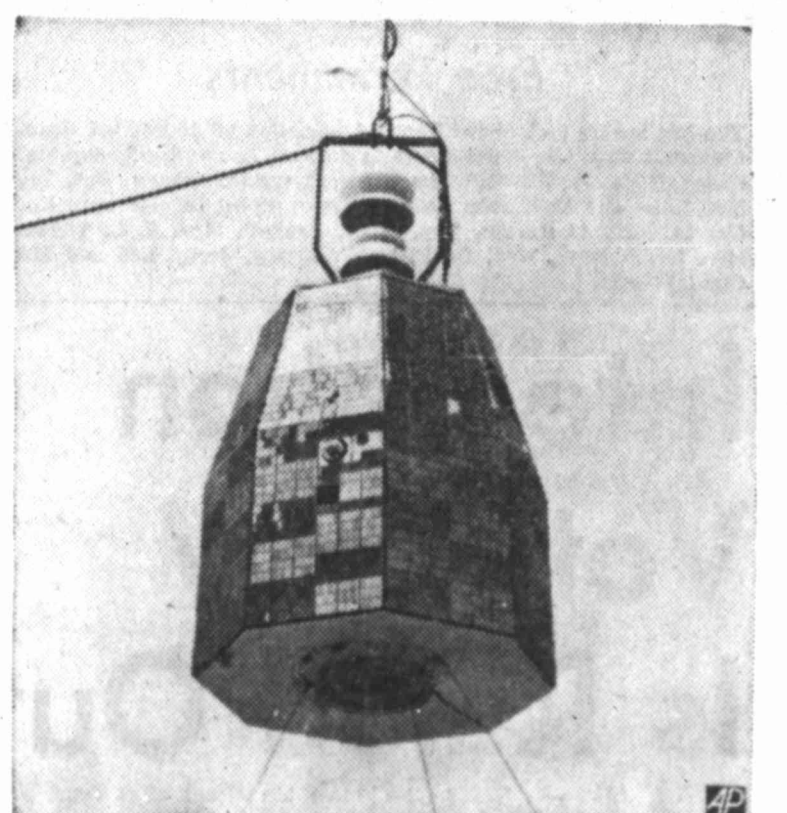

Most of those indicted have been named in previous actions here and elsewhere.

In October another grand jury here returned 71 indictments against 17 persons, most of them prominent in oil circles. Other East Texas counties followed suit.

A Railroad Commission spokesman said today the total of crooked hole oil wells found in Texas stood at 243 in 9 fields.

The scandal first came to light last spring.

Testimony at hearings showed that as much as $1 billion in oil may have been stolen over 12 years through wells angled to drain crude from beneath neighboring leases.

Relay Satellite

The Relay communications satellite is hoisted atop the Thor-Delta rocket which is scheduled to blast off from Cape Canaveral Dec. 13. Relay, similar to Telstar, is designed for communications experiments which would link three continents—North and South America and Europe.

Telstar Kin Up Thursday

NEW YORK (AP)—A communications satellite scheduled to be launched into orbit Thursday will be used to relay a Dec. 19 television show to both sides of the Atlantic with pickups from two continents.

The 30-minute program will feature a Christmas theme and is expected to begin at 8:45 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The NBC, CBS and ABC networks will produce the American segment of the show, with televised events in Washington, D.C., and in Rockefeller Center, St. Patrick's Cathedral and Riverside Church in New York City.

European segments are expected to be picked up and retransmitted from locations in eight countries: Belgium, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain and West Germany.

The communications satellite is the second to be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It was designed and built by Radio Corp. of America.

One network spokesman said the satellite, Relay 1, can relay programs over a longer period of time than its predecessor, Telstar, because it will be orbiting at a greater altitude. Telstar was launched last July.

MONTREAL (AP)—Dr. John R. Pierce, one of the developers of the Telstar communications satellite, says a failure in the U.S. satellite's command circuit last week may force postponement of a similar project scheduled for next year.

The breakdown in the command circuit, which controls the other electronic equipment aboard the satellite, has still not been diagnosed, he told a meeting of engineers and scientists Monday night.

"There were plans to launch another Telstar next year," said Pierce, executive director of the communications systems division of the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill, N.J.

"But until we're pretty sure what went wrong, we certainly won't be shooting another one off. The exact trouble has not been diagnosed. However, we will be trying various experiments to see if we can reactivate it."

Republican Aide's Name Is Injected Into Adlai Issue

NEW YORK (AP)—The name of McGeorge Bundy, special presidential assistant for national security affairs, has been injected into the controversy over a magazine article dealing with Adlai E. Stevenson's position in the Cuban crisis.

The Columbia Broadcasting System said Monday night that Bundy supplied two Saturday Evening Post writers with information for last week's magazine article.

The broadcast report also said President Kennedy personally cleared the way for writers Charles Bartlett and Stewart Alsop to get the information about Cuban crisis deliberations in a National Security Council meeting attended by U.N. Ambassador Stevenson.

That latter assertion also was reported Monday by Time and Newsweek magazines, one day after Life magazine said the same thing. The Life report was termed "absolutely and completely without foundation" by the White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger.

Bundy could not be reached immediately in Washington for comment on the CBS report.

Time and Newsweek—as Life had done—challenged the Saturday Evening Post article which indicated that Stevenson favored a policy of appeasement in the Cuban crisis. The U.N. ambassador and the White House have denied that he supported that approach.

The three magazines said that contrary to the Post account, Stevenson favored a strong U.S. stand.

After the Post article appeared, published speculation arose that Kennedy was trying to ease Stevenson out of his job for allegedly taking a Cuban position contrary to the President's.

Speculation has continued as to how the Post writers obtained information about the secret deliberations.

Pierpont added: "The President allowed others among his advisors to discuss Cuba with reporters, including CIA (Central Intelligence Agency) Director John McCone, presidential assistant Ted Sorenson, and Dean Acheson.

"But most of the material for the (Post) article, which hurt Stevenson, came from McGeorge Bundy.

"Although Bundy himself denies having said anything about Stevenson's specific role in the Cuban crisis, it is well known in Washington that Bundy—a Republican—is no friend of Stevenson's. In fact, (Bundy) supported Eisenhower against Stevenson in two presidential campaigns."

Firemen Save Burning House

A house, owned by D. L. Doring and occupied by Curtis Lee Allen, was heavily damaged by fire shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday at Lee's Corner. The Big Spring fire department saved most of the house, which is 15 miles out on the Garden City Highway.

Firemen said the fire, which started from a floor furnace in the living room, went up a wall between the kitchen and bath room. Kitchen cabinets were damaged. A hole, cut in the roof by firemen before the blaze got outside in the high wind, aided in extinguishing the fire.

The frame house, with asbestos siding, is in Glasscock County, and Big Spring firemen had the blaze out when the Garden City fire truck arrived.

SCOUTS HELP FUND AGAIN

Thanks to those Cub Scouts of Den 2, Pack 137, to some Sunday School classes, and to some warm-hearted individuals, the CHRISTMAS CHEER made a nice gain today.

The Cubs, who already had made one donation of money and toys, went to work again last Saturday, gathered up discarded playthings, and sold beverage bottles. Result for the CHEER FUND—$17.61. A hearty salute to hard-working Scouts!

The Fund, of course, needs more help, and you are invited to join in a real Christmas gesture. The money repairs toys for needy youngsters, and it is available to help those actually in hunger (handed by school teachers and public health officials). If you'll help, please do so right away. Just send your gift to the CHEER FUND—$17.61. A hearty salute to hard-working Scouts!

Night Sessions May Be Held In Herring Trial

BEAUMONT (AP)—Night sessions may be held in the Kiss-and-kill slaying trial of John Mack Herring of Odessa.

Dist. Judge Owen Lord mentioned the possibility as he recessed court for the night Monday.

The state unexpectedly rested its case after calling only three witnesses and three defense witnesses had testified.

away at the theme that the girl begged Herring, and at least one of his friends, on several occasions to kill her.

An Odessa detective, Bob McAlpine, testified that Herring first confessed the slaying, went with him and other officers to the pond and recovered the body, and then repudiated his oral statement.

The case is being tried in Beaumont on a change of venue from Winkler County in West Texas.

It took more than a week to select a jury here. The panel was not completed until Monday.

First Really Cold Blast Chills City

Winter's first really cold blast struck Big Spring shortly after 3 a.m. Tuesday and sent official temperatures skidding to 28 degrees by 8 a.m. The thermometer at the First National Bank registered 27 degrees at 8:30 and was still holding that reading at 10 a.m.

The cold wave struck with high winds from the northeast but skies remained clear for most of the morning, with no indication of snow clouds, reportedly covering a large portion of the Texas Panhandle and promising to descend on Howard County.

The Midland Weather Bureau's forecast for Big Spring listed a low of 18 degrees for the area tonight and a hard freeze.

An indication of the cold weather was emphasized at the College Park Shopping Center where water was freezing as it flowed from sprinklers along east Fifth Street. Ice glistened in the sun as it froze on grass blades.

Temperatures dropped to the lowest for the year and promised to get much lower. The lowest on record for any Dec. 11 was 14 degrees in 1917.

Hard freeze warnings for this area were issued for tonight and Wednesday with temperatures running from 18 to 22 degrees. High forecast for Tuesday was around 35 and for Wednesday, between 35 and 40 degrees. Winds, from the northeast at 15 to 25 miles per hour Tuesday, are supposed to diminish tonight.

Integration Vote Law Is Ruled Out

AUSTIN (AP)—A Texas law requiring an election before a public school district integrates is unconstitutional, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said Monday.

Wilson wrote in a formal opinion that the law conflicts with the U.S. Supreme Court's interpretation of the Constitution in the original 1954 desegregation decision.

The law was first invoked recently to withhold funds after the Benavides Independent School District in Duval County integrated without an election.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said enforcement of the law would have cost the school district about $28,000 in state money.

"We will follow the opinion and I assume that it means that the Benavides district will be entitled to receive the state money," Edgar said.

About 50 Texas districts have voted to desegregate since the act was passed in 1957. Several others voted against such a change.

An attorney general's opinion is merely advisory and does not have the effect of a court decision. However, such opinions usually are followed by state officials.

Wilson cited a ruling by the U.S. Court of Appeals in 1960 involving the Dallas Independent School District. It stated:

"We agree with the district court that the holding of an election to be made a condition of a plan of desegregation. It goes without saying that recognition and enforcement of constitutional rights cannot be made contingent upon the result of any election."

Successful Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Pershing missile of the type to be sent to NATO troops early in 1963 scored a successful test launch Monday night at the missile center.

The short-range missile raced 200 miles for its 37th success in 42 firings.

NAMED BY KENNEDY

Panel To Look At Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has set up a bipartisan committee to take a hard, new look at the $4-billion-a-year foreign aid program and see if it's filling the bill.

To head the blue-ribbon group Kennedy named retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who for eight critical months was the President's representative in West Berlin.

One obvious aim of the study was to shape a program which will gain congressional and public approval in 1963.

The White House said Monday the group—named the Committee to Strengthen the Security of the Free World—"will undertake an immediate review of our military and economic assistance to determine whether the level and distribution of these programs is contributing materially to the security of the United States and is directed to specific and attainable goals of economic and political stability in the free world."

Last month, Fowler Hamilton resigned as administrator of the foreign aid agency, the Agency for International Development, after only one year in the job.

Some officials had criticized him for shaking up the organization.

When he stepped out, Hamilton advised the establishment of a permanent committee to examine the program's content and administration and recommend changes. A White House source said formation of the committee followed along the lines of Hamilton's suggestion.

To succeed Hamilton, Kennedy named Budget Director David E. Bell.

Named with Clay to serve on the committee are former defense secretary Robert A. Lovett; AFL-CIO President George Meany; Harvard economist Edward S. Mason; Eugene Black, retiring president of the World Bank; Robert A. Anderson, secretary of the treasury in the Eisenhower administration; L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil; Herman Phleger, San Francisco lawyer and former State Department legal adviser, and Clifford Harden, chancellor of the University of Nebraska.

Kennedy, it was learned, personally asked each of the men to serve on the committee when he formed it last week.

White House officials said the members, who will serve without pay, will convene in January.

HIS HUMILIATION

By T. H. Tarkel, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2008 West Highway 90

The Watchtower tract introduced some of the Scriptures which speak of a position held by Jesus which is lower than that of the Father in heaven; how Jesus did only what the Father taught Him (Jno. 8: 28); how He said the Father was His God (Jno. 20:17); and like verses. Other Scriptures clearly state that Jesus is God; but verses like these present problems to some. However, they are explained by the humiliation of Christ.

While the Son is God from eternity, when He came to the earth He voluntarily took a place of humility, for He became man. As man He was subject to God.

This is clearly taught in Phil. 2:5-7: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God; but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of man."

So He was "in the form of God" and "equal with God;" yet He humiliated Himself and "was made in the likeness of man;" and there are certain Scriptures which emphasize His humanity; but they are not a denial of His Deity.

Freezing Weather Reaches As Far South As Florida

By The Associated Press
Snow closed schools and stranded motorists in the North today while freezing air threatened Florida's multi-million dollar crops today.

The icy one-two punch of wintry weather was the second to hit many areas in the eastern half of the nation since last Thursday.

Millions felt the sting of the cold, blustery weather. The heavy, blowing snow inconvenienced other millions.

Schools closed, travel slowed, and Christmas shoppers delayed buying tours.

Storm-related deaths soared past the 50 mark.

Weather forecasters held no hope of any immediate general relief. Even colder weather was the unhappy forecast in many areas. And the winter season does not start officially until Dec. 22.

HUGE DRIFTS

Midwinter scenes were general along the southeast shores of the Great Lakes region, in sections of New York State, and other eastern areas. Huge drifts piled high as snow squalls persisted, adding more snow atop the heavy amounts left by last week's storms. Cleanup operations were slowed — and halted in some places.

Most of the Southland shivered in the season's coldest weather.

Florida temperatures dropped to 15 degrees below seasonal levels.

Farmers and grove owners worked through the night as heavy frost and freezing temperatures hit every section of the state except the Keys. Smudge fires were started to protect tender vegetable crops. Workers sprayed fields with water, dampening the soil so it would hold the heat better.

CITRUS THREAT

The unseasonably cold weather threatened the multi-million dollar Florida citrus and vegetable crops, now near their peak of harvest.

It was below freezing in northern sections of Florida, with readings of 26 in Tallahassee and Gainesville. Miami's low was a frosty 40. Key West, in the extreme south, was 55—far below normal.

A wind-driven snowstorm forced the closing of the New York State Thruway from Lackawanna, near Buffalo, to the Pennsylvania line.

More than 150 persons were forced to abandon autos and trucks along the Thruway and were stranded overnight at a Thruway rest area. About 150 other persons, aided by snow plows and state police, joined in a convoy for a 2½ hour, 15-mile trip from Angola to Buffalo, where the weather was clear.

FRESH SNOW

About 18 inches of fresh snow whirled through the New York region, hitting the area which had been buried by as much as 30 inches of snow last weekend. Winds of 35 m.p.h. whipped the heavy snow into huge drifts. Earlier, more than a foot of snow was dumped across northern New York sections.

Scores of schools remained closed in the snow-stricken sections of northeast Ohio, including all in Cleveland. Up to two feet of fresh snow added to the highway problems. Strong winds continued to pile snow into huge drifts, and more snow was expected during the day. Amounts measured up to 30 inches in some areas.

Two villages near Fremont, between Cleveland and Toledo, were isolated Monday by mountainous drifts blocking roads. Residents reported shortages of food.

A 25-by-60 foot section of a roof of a fairground exhibition arena in Berea, a suburb of Cleveland, collapsed under four tons of snow piled on it.

In Indiana, schools were expected to reopen in South Bend, but rural schools were to remain closed.

Blustery, northwesterly winds swept across the Midwest prairies and the Great Lakes region, carrying the cold air east and southward.

It was 14 below zero in International Falls, Minn.; —13 in Minnet and Dickinson, N.D.; —12 in Duluth, Minn.; and —4 in Minneapolis, Minn.

Chicago's lowest reading since last winter was near zero—with lower marks tonight.

Morton May Take GOP Campaign Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some significant changes in the political activities of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee may be in order if Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., takes over direction of the group from Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Although Goldwater's successor will not be chosen officially until Senate GOP members caucus early next month, Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said in an interview he thinks there is general agreement on Morton, Goldwater is stepping out because he is a potential candidate for re-election in 1964.

"Sen. Morton is well qualified for the job and I think all factions could agree on him," Scott said. The major objective of the committee and its chairman is to try to win back Senate control from the Democrats.

Morton is understood to be willing to take it if that step would avert a fight between the party's conservatives and liberals.

In Morton, the committee would have a middle-of-the-road chairman.

In its pre-election evaluation of the voting records of senators, the conservative Americans for Constitutional Action found Morton had voted 67 per cent to its liking. Goldwater's record was 99 per cent.

As chief spokesman for the party's conservatives, Goldwater has gone from one end of the South to the other and is credited with formulating the theory that the Republicans can win national elections by tying Dixie support with Midwest and Rocky Mountain backing.

Morton, who won re-election last month in the border state of Kentucky, has no intention of writing off the South. But he belongs to the school of Republicans who think there are greener fields of party endeavor.

The new committee chairman will have to concern himself with getting nine Republican members re-elected in 1964. They are Sens. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii, Goldwater, Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, Kenneth B. Keating of New York, Winston L. Prouty of Vermont, Scott, John J. Williams of

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Tues., Dec. 11, 1962 3-A

Delaware and Edwin L. Mechem of New Mexico.

State Deficit

But the chairman's prime job will be to help dig up Republican candidates to oppose the 24 Democrats whose terms are ending. Of these 24, all but five are in states outside the South.

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' general revenue fund deficit stood at $34.1 million Friday, a $9 million drop from Nov. 23, state Treasurer Jesse James said Monday.

Riding High In Cotton The Look Of The West

The Western look rides high, becoming the second big influence in cotton separates. The separates come in traditional colors, conventional fabrics and tailored styling.

The pants story reflects two basic themes—the man-tailored look interpreted in cotton twill, wide-wale corduroy and smooth cotton sude, and the Western look of hip-riding pants styled along jean lines. In sturdy denim these are often saddle stitched in white.

Down to earth colors of grey, camel and brown are favored for man-tailored pants ensembles with bright contrasting broadcloth shirts and jewel-toned velveteen jackets in slim double or single breasted styles. Riding jackets that curve in gently at the waistline and are made in smooth cotton sude are also favorites this season.

The slick hipslung pants are worn with long tail shirts in gay calico, handanna print and tattersall checks, or with rip-sport-in "cowgirl" shirts in gingham featuring yoke detailing and string ties. Brief weskits or frontier jackets in the same fabric, as the pants can be added to achieve full "cowpoke" effect.

Skirts this season are definitely on the move with A-line shapes, matching seaming, dirndls and easy flares taking the lead. Running a close second are pleated styles ranging from a single deep pleat in front to box and side panel pleating. The accordion pleated skirt, returned this season, looks especially smart in wide-wale corduroy.

Westward Ho!

Cotton plays a mating game in the jacket, pants, skirt and shirt separates having that Western look.

Duplicate Session Reported

The regular Sunday session of the Duplicate Club was held at the Big Spring Country Club with seven tables in play.

Those placing for north-south were Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rogers Heffley, first; Mrs. Ty Allen and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, second; and tied for third were Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. Elvis McCrary and Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. Jack Irons.

East-west winners were Mrs. Glen Riley and Mrs. Joe Herbert, first; Mrs. Ayra McGann and Mrs. Myrtle Lee, second; and Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. Ben McCullough, third.

J. Garrisons Hosts For A Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John Garrison were host and hostess for the annual Christmas dinner of the Wesleyan Service Guild, Wesley Methodist Church, Monday evening at their home. Members and their families numbered 26 persons.

An invocation was given by the Rev. Royce Womack, and the devotion was offered by the Rev. R. O. Browder.

The dinner table was decorated with a red satin streamer extending the length of the table. Upon the streamer were placed sprigs of cedar and Christmas candles.

Mrs. Richard E. Mitchell sang "O Holy Night" and "Christmas Symphony," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Womack. Afterward the group sang Christmas carols.

Mrs. Mitchell and her husband were special guests.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. John Appleton, Jan. 14.

The Lottie Moon Christmas offering will be finished the last of this month.

Pattern Fitting Session Held

The Gay Hill 4-H Club's clothing group featured pattern fitting when members met in the home of Betty Lou Little Monday afternoon. Mrs. F. Zant directed the session with seven members participating.

Visitors were Mrs. V. Little and Mrs. G. W. Murphy.

Kentwood Class At Christmas Dinner

Twenty-five attended the Christmas dinner held in the home of Mrs. Clifford Hale Jr. Monday evening for the Hi-Neighbor Sunday school class of the Kentwood Methodist Church. The group presented a poinsettia to Mrs. Hale, who is the class teacher.

Guests were seated at tables covered with white cloths and centered with Christmas candles in brandy snifters. A pink net tree and a table manger scene were placed in the living room. Games were played following the dinner.

'ROUND TOWN With LUCILLE PICKLE

One never knows just the right procedure on decorating for the Christmas season out of doors—whether to proceed early, before the cold winds sweep the countryside or to wait until the week before the holiday and have the pretties still intact during Christmas week.

All about the city we see beautifully decorated doorways, shimmering in metallic-type paper with gorgeous arrangements of ornaments attached. Lighting on them for the night hours makes them particularly gay. Now we are having some windy weather which is probably going to undo some painstaking work.

Which reminds me of the Christmas CHOC JONES spent so much time in preparing an arrangement of frosted tumbleweeds complete with lights in his front yard. He enjoyed the admiring glances of passersby and was very proud of his endeavor but he lost heart when, after one glorious night of showing off his handiwork, a big wind came down E. 17th Street and all he had left was a strung-out string of lights.

We were delighted to hear that MR. and MRS. EARL EZZELL have moved here to make their permanent home. Although they have visited here many times, they have made their home in Austin. Both had lived here prior to the marriage. They are now at home in Apt. 105 at the Carlton House.

MRS. ODELL WOMACK has returned from Archer City where she has been with her father who has been critically ill. His condition was much improved when she came home the past weekend.

MR. and MRS. H. R. PICKLE and TOM PICKLE were down from Lubbock Sunday to visit J. C. PICKLE who is convalescing from surgery. They also visited Mrs. ARTHUR PICKLE and us.

Be looking forward to the Christmas carol presentation at the FRANK RICE home, 1739 Purdue, during the nights the outdoor decorations are being judged. For several years the Rices have placed their organ in their picture window and spotlighted it while their daughter and other organ students play carols which are amplified for those out of doors to hear.

Gift Certificate Won By Mrs. Tow

Mrs. Dorothy Tow was winner of a gift certificate given by the Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y Monday night at their meeting in the YMCA. Proceeds from the ticket sales amounted to $102, which will be given to world service and other projects.

Wirtz Mediates Today In Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz meets today with representatives of New York publishers and their striking printers in an effort to get the presses rolling at the city's nine major dailies. The newspaper blackout is in its third day.

Wirtz attends the meeting, a closed-door affair, with William E. Simkin, head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and negotiators for the Publishers Association of New York and International Typographical Union Local 6.

The labor secretary, credited with settling another strike against the New York Daily News a few weeks ago, stepped into the work stoppage by 3,000 ITU printers Monday night, following futile peace talks during the day.

Both sides in the printers-publishers dispute predicted a long strike, raising the memory of the 19-day blackout of the same newspapers at the same time of year in 1958 caused by a strike of deliverers.

Election Law Revision Among Top State Items

By JERRY PILLARD
AUSTIN (AP)—A topic coming up in the legislature will be dear to every politician's heart—possible revision of the election laws in Texas.

An Associated Press survey asked the legislators how important election law revision, including elimination of the poll tax and limiting a governor to two terms, will be in the legislative session beginning Jan. 8.

Over two-thirds of those answering the questions placed the three items among the top five issues. Ninety per cent of those answering placed them in the top seven issues.

In a Democratic House and Senate, some feel the efforts made by the Republican party this year in Texas may give revision a partisan edge.

Dallas County will send six GOP members to the House, Midland is sending another. No Republicans are in the Texas Senate.

Over a dozen lawmakers urged the abolishment of the poll tax.

"The legislature has a mandate to abolish the poll tax," Rep. Fritz Thompson of Borger said. He referred to a referendum issue favored by voters in this year's party primaries that called for elimination of the poll tax as a requirement for voting.

Many legislators said the poll tax should be abolished and a new voter registration law enacted.

"We should repeal the poll tax, substituting therefore a registration law including party registration or an indication that the voter is an independent," Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston said. "Such law should not require any payment as a qualification for voting or any test."

Reps. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi and Red Berry of San Antonio said they will introduce legislation to ban the poll tax.

Rep. John Allen of Longview said he favored repealing the poll tax "if money is on hand to put in the permanent school fund."

Most money from the poll tax goes into this fund.

Rep. Rayford Price of Frankston said the poll tax should be banned and the date of the primary election moved closer to the general election. The first primary is held in May and the general election in November.

Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth said he will introduce legislation to move the primary date from May to August and allow voters to check the candidate of their choice, instead of crossing out those he opposes.

A new senator, Walter Richter of Gonzales, said he wanted the poll tax repealed and a primary election closer to the November election.

Thompson, a freshman lawmaker, said there should be a limit on the number of terms as governor can serve.

Allen agreed with Thompson. Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville is against limiting a governor to two terms. Richter took a different approach and said he leaned toward one four-year term, rather than two two-year terms.

An interim election law study committee made numerous recommendations for election code reform in a recent report. About 30 witnesses were heard last week at hearings by the committee—most of them favoring voter registration law, repeal of the poll tax, and moving the primary election dates.

Included in the interim report was a recommendation that special elections to fill vacancies in the Texas House and Senate require a majority vote.

Two Republicans won election to the House last year on plurality votes with several Democrats in the race. GOP opposition to passage of such a bill is expected.

'Peace Bomb' Cavern Open To Newsmen

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP)— On the first anniversary of the first nuclear "peace bomb" explosion the Atomic Energy Commission looked forward to another and larger detonation in the same area.

One year ago Monday the AEC detonated a three-kiloton "peace bomb" in a salt formation 1,200 feet beneath the rolling plains of southeastern New Mexico.

The AEC Monday opened the Project Gnome cavern to a group of U.S. newsmen and photographers in the first public inspection of the cavity.

At a briefing Sunday night, the AEC explained details of Project Coach which, it is hoped, will exploit the isotopes research started in Gnome. A date for the Coach explosion has not been set.

Multiple neutron capture processes will be studied in Project Coach, the AEC said. New isotopes, possibly including some beyond element 103, will be sought.

"The basic idea of Plowshare is that the nuclear explosive is a very large source of energy," said John S. Kelly, director of the AEC's peaceful nuclear explosives division in Washington.

Both Gnome and Coach are part of the AEC's Plowshare program, designed to find peaceful uses for nuclear explosives.

Gnome did not cause any damage to nearby potash mines or to the Carlsbad Caverns National Park, 36 miles to the west.

British Troops Clean Up Rebels In Borneo

ANDUKI AIRPORT, Brunei (AP)—British troops recaptured most of the Brunei oilfield town of Seria today, then closed in on the police station where 50 disarmed rebels were holding nine Europeans as hostages.

The nationality of the hostages was not known, but Brig. A. G. Patterson, British commander of the Seria operation, said no women or children were among them. Army officers said a number of Europeans, mostly British employees of the Shell Oil Co., were liberated in Seria and at least six rebels were killed and more than a dozen captured. No British casualties were reported.

It was the first major counter-attack since the revolt broke out Saturday. The rebels say they want to create an independent country on the north coast of Borneo out of the Brunei Sultanate and the neighboring British colonies of North Borneo and Sarawak.

There were no reports of damage to the oil fields at Seria. The rebels had threatened to sabotage them if they were attacked. Kuala Belait, another oil field seven miles to the west, was still believed to be in rebel hands. Shell's administrative center is there. A flight over the area showed no damage, and smoke curled peacefully from one industrial plant.

The total killed in the four-day rebellion is believed to be more than 40, including 26 rebels. The British assault on Seria began Monday when Gurkas and the Queen's Own Highlanders were airlifted to Anduki airport, on the eastern outskirts, and to a swampy field west of the town. Four rebels were killed in the recapture of the Penaga police station west of Seria. All was reported quiet in Brunei Town, the capital, except for sporadic sniping from surrounding hills. Estimates of rebel strength ranged from a few hundred to several thousand. The rebel force fought mostly

Cliff Harris Rites Are Held

Funeral services for Clifton Sanford (Cliff) Harris Sr., 62 of Gail, were held from the Nalley-Pickle chapel at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, with the Rev. Arthur Thomas, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Gail, officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. Robert Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Big Spring. Burial was in Gail Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Harris was born May 7, 1900 at Dothan. He married Miss Lillie Cantrell, Sept. 22, 1925, at Gail. He was a member and deacon of the First Baptist Church of Gail, was affiliated with Masonic Lodge No. 909, Lamesa, and had been a resident of Gail since 1925.

A school teacher in West Texas for 37 years, Mr. Harris also served as Borden County judge and ex-officio judge; served as Borden County superintendent from 1947 to 1953, and was appointed county auditor in 1959. He held the last position until he became ill Nov. 11, 1962 and was hospitalized. He was a graduate of West Texas State College, Canyon.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Lillie Harris, Gail; two sons, Clifton Sanford Harris Jr., College Station, and Bob Harris, El Paso; a brother, V. A. Harris, Brownwood, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were by Byron Pierce, J. W. Lefler, Kooty Iund, Mickey McMeans, Carl Mangum, Roland Hamilton, and George Sealy.

Evening Lions To Skip 2 Meetings

The Evening Lions Club is fast drawing to a conclusion of its scheduled meetings of the year. Because the last two meeting dates of the year fall on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve, the club will not meet Dec. 24 or 31.

Monday evening will be given over to the Ladies Night program, and David Yater will be in charge this event. The club will also help with the Big Spring State Hospital party, helping patients on ward 9-B observe the occasion.

At the Monday evening meeting, Joe Burchfield, director of the Rannels High Band, presented a small brass ensemble billed as the "Sour Krauts." After a few polkas, the group swung into several Dixieland tunes. Program chairman was Irven Fenley.

Police Officers Present Program

Capt. Walter Eubanks spoke and showed slides on narcotics addiction for the Youth Council of Wesley Methodist Church Sunday night.

He and Sam Fuller will appear before the Optimist Club Wednesday morning, and they also have a date with the Sands Parent-Teacher Association Jan. 7. The men have made about 15 appearances before clubs and groups since school started in September.

New Fine Record

LAMESA (SC) — Corporation court fines for traffic violations have already set a new annual record. Traffic fines in 1962 total $11,529 compared to the previous mark of $10,455 in 1958. There were 1,470 tickets issued in 1958 and only 1,276 so far this year. A total of 17,909 parking tickets have netted $4,134 and offense fines amount to $21,657—also a new record here.

with shotguns, knives and a few rifles and automatic weapons, captured from overrun police posts.

A rebel attack failed to develop at Miri, an oil port just inside the Sarawak border, where a Gurkha unit was dug in behind sandbags.

Insurgents were believed to have the upper hand at the Sarawak border village of Limbang and at Sibutu and Niah, farther inside Sarawak.

In Manila, the British Embassy announced that it was withdrawing the passport of Sheikh A. M. Azahari, the absentee leader of the revolt. His political party has been banned in Brunei.

Azahari has been in Manila since last week. He applied to the American Embassy for a U.S. visa so he could fly to New York to appeal for United Nations intervention. The British action was designed to block his travel plans.

Rep. Bob Eckhart of Houston said the merchant who handles mainly goods under 25 cents should be exempted, but the food exemption should not be removed.

Rep. John Allen of Longview said he is against increasing or expanding the sales tax. "Leave it like it is except for reporting changes. I am against increases or other new taxes. We must live within our means," Allen said.

Rep. Don Hefton of Sherman said "No new taxes" and that the sales tax should be placed on all goods and reduced to 1 per cent. "There are many inequities to be eliminated," said Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville.

"I favor eliminating inequities and ridiculous reporting systems in the present tax," Rep. Chet Brooks of Houston said. "But I will certainly work to retain exemptions on food and drugs."

The Argentine news agency Telpress reported from Cordoba that Brig. Gen. Cayo Antonio Alsina had set up headquarters in central Argentina to defy his removal. There was no confirmation of the report here.

The ouster of Alsina and his combat commander came as a surprise amid a flurry of rumors of coup plots among military leaders to overthrow the shaky Guido government.

Guido has been riding rough seas and even shifting his own alliances in trying to quiet the struggle for power within the military since taking over after the armed forces chiefs ousted and imprisoned President Arturo Frondizi in a bloodless coup last March.

Frondizi was kicked out for allowing followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron to run in parliamentary and provincial elections—and many won.

Guido nullified these elections and has been ruling by decree since assuming power.

Legislature's Main Topic Will Be Sales Tax Change

AUSTIN (AP)—When the legislature meets next month, the main topic will be the sales tax.

Texas senators and representatives answering a poll by The Associated Press said the sales tax is in for some revision.

Top ranking for sales tax changes and new taxes was given by 75 per cent of the answering legislators. More than 90 per cent of the replies listed the sales tax and new taxes in the top five issues facing them Jan. 8.

The sales tax will be two years old next Sept. 1. The first year of its operation and campaigning by all 150 House members and 31 senators made the legislators aware of a need for revision.

Proposals include taking out present exemptions such as groceries, farm machinery and outer clothing costing less than $10; reducing the tax to less than the present 2 per cent if the number of tax-free goods is reduced; exempting merchants who handle a majority of goods costing less than 25 cents; and putting auto sales under the tax.

Auto sales are currently taxed at 1.5 per cent under a separate tax statute.

A new House member, Rep. Fritz Thompson of Borger, said "simply the sales tax by broadening the base and reducing the levy."

Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity, who wrote a sales tax bill in the last session, said he "favors a clean-up, but no basic changes."

Rep. Reed Quilliam of Lubbock said he would favor "eliminating the clothing exemption from the sales tax, making clear that the tax on sales under 25 cents need not be remitted."

Another new member, Rep. David Haines of Bryan, said "I am for the elimination of exemptions in the present sales tax. He said he is opposed to any new taxes, as did several other lawmakers.

A new senator, Walter Richter of Gonzales, said some changes are needed, "including some clarifications, but I can't see an across-the-board tax. He predicted a vote for some new taxes.

Rep. Bob Eckhart of Houston said the merchant who handles mainly goods under 25 cents should be exempted, but the food exemption should not be removed.

Ethiopians Are Blamed In Red Cross Deaths

GENEVA (AP)—An international commission of inquiry has found that Ethiopian troops killed three International Red Cross workers slain in the Congo last December, usually reliable sources said today.

However, the United Nations, with whose forces the Ethiopians were serving, is understood to have rejected the findings on the ground that conclusive proof was lacking.

Sources said U.N. Secretary-General U Thant has agreed to pay compensation to the victims' families. The amount of the compensation was not stated.

The commission's findings were reported to have been kept secret at the request of the United Nations.

Informants, however, said the report placed the blame for the killings squarely on the Ethiopian troops who at that time were part of a U.N. task force trying to root out white men serving with the Katanga gendarmerie.

The victims were an International Red Cross delegate, Georges Olivet, 34, a Swiss; a Dutch ambulance driver, Sijste Smeding, 25; and a Belgian hospital orderly, Mrs. Nicole Vroonen, 35. They were found dead beside their burned ambulance on Christmas Eve 1961.

Rep. John Allen of Longview said he is against increasing or expanding the sales tax. "Leave it like it is except for reporting changes. I am against increases or other new taxes. We must live within our means," Allen said.

Rep. Don Hefton of Sherman said "No new taxes" and that the sales tax should be placed on all goods and reduced to 1 per cent. "There are many inequities to be eliminated," said Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville.

India Awaits Red Reaction

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indians awaited today Red China's reaction to Prime Minister Nehru's rejection of Peking's terms for settling their Himalayan border conflict.

In a broadcast today, the Chinese said they suspected India of "deliberately sabotaging" Peking's one-sided cease-fire "and creating a tense situation on the border."

The broadcast charged that Indian military planes flew reconnaissance missions Monday over captive Tibet and over Chinese-held territory on the eastern end of the disputed border.

Nehru told Indian soldiers in a broadcast Monday night the war might be long and hard but India would emerge victorious by freeing its territory of Chinese invaders.

He said India had welcomed the Chinese proclamation of a cease-fire Nov. 22 after 32 days of warfare.

But the Chinese should withdraw completely from India, Nehru said, instead of making proposals that would leave them in the Ladakh area of northwestern India. "It appeared these proposals might be a cover for further attacks," Nehru said. "Therefore we have to be fully prepared."

Nehru declared earlier in Parliament: "At present there is no meeting ground between us."

Indian Finance Minister Morarji Desai said the defense budget per cent of the national income devoted to defense against the Chinese.

One of China's aims was to disrupt India's economy, Desai told a public meeting.

Both New Delhi and Peking kept an eye on Ceylon, where six nonaligned nations are meeting in an effort to find a solution to the conflict. The nations are the United Arab Republic, Ghana, Indonesia, Cambodia, Burma and Ceylon.

Cotton Farmers Vote On Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cotton farmers voted today in a referendum to decide whether marketing quotas will continue in effect for the 1963 crop.

With surplus stocks of cotton rising, the program is expected to receive far in excess of the necessary two-thirds affirmative vote to put it into operation.

The department estimated the 1962 cotton crop Monday at 14,723,000 bales. This was 405,000 bales more than was grown in 1961.

Stock Market Trading Is Active

NEW YORK (AP)—Steeels, motors, and selected issues stemmed their retreat and began to advance early this afternoon but the over-all stock market still showed a loss. Trading was active.

There was a hodge-podge of gains and losses running from fractions to about a point.

Chemicals, airlines, drugs, utilities, farm implements, and mail order-retail issues were lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .6 at 238.7 with industrials off .9, rails off .7, and utilities off .1.

Hams Hold Annual Christmas Party

Members of the Big Spring Amateur Radio Club held their annual Christmas party Monday night at the club house on US 87 south with 42 present. Children exchanged gifts, and coffee, cakes, and cookies were served. Special guests were Sgt. and Mrs. Van Houten and daughter, Debbie. The sergeant is with the Military Affiliates Radio Service at Webb AFB.

The club meets each Monday in the building adjacent to the east entrance to the city park. Everyone interested in short wave and amateur radio is eligible to attend. George Shipley is president of the club and Weldon Lowe is publicity chairman.

The subject to be discussed at the Dec. 17 meeting, led by Lee Young, will be "The Difference in Variable Frequency Oscillators and Beat Frequency Oscillators."

Defendant Wins Damage Suit Here

The jury found for Helen C. Earley, 704 State, defendant in a damage suit filed in 118th District Court by Bill Motley. The case was concluded Monday.

The suit arose out of a collision which occurred at the intersection of Fifteenth and State Sept. 28, 1961. Motley was asking $578 in damages.

Two other cases settled out of court were Del Roy Buchanan vs. West Texas Compress and Warehouse Co., damage suit, and Robert S. Bible vs. Standard Accident Insurance Co., compensation.

The contested divorce suit of Dorothy Holland vs. Earnest G. Holland goes to trial at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Construction High

LAMESA (SC) — Construction in Lamesa, on the upsurge since 1956, continued at a good pace here during 1962.

Permits for new residences amounted to $1,739,712 in 1962, $191,511 was for new churches and new commercial building permits aggregate $171,250.

Argentina's Air Force Chief Is Fired

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's air force chief was fired today by President Jose Mario Guido, who rushed to Cordoba—long known as the "seat of revolutions."

The Argentine news agency Telpress reported from Cordoba that Brig. Gen. Cayo Antonio Alsina had set up headquarters in central Argentina to defy his removal. There was no confirmation of the report here.

The ouster of Alsina and his combat commander came as a surprise amid a flurry of rumors of coup plots among military leaders to overthrow the shaky Guido government.

Guido has been riding rough seas and even shifting his own alliances in trying to quiet the struggle for power within the military since taking over after the armed forces chiefs ousted and imprisoned President Arturo Frondizi in a bloodless coup last March.

Frondizi was kicked out for allowing followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron to run in parliamentary and provincial elections—and many won.

Guido nullified these elections and has been ruling by decree since assuming power.

Testimony Heard In Sanity Case

HOUSTON (AP)—More testimony was heard today in the sanity hearing of condemned killer Leslie Douglas Ashley.

Ashley was sentenced to death in the slaying of real estate man Fred Tones. Carolyn Ann Lima, 20, also was given the death penalty in the case.

School Trustees Meet Wednesday

A short agenda has been prepared for a meeting of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Wednesday at 8 p.m. The meeting will follow a 6 p.m. gathering at which trustees will be guests of Superintendent and Mrs. Sam M. Anderson at the Big Spring Country Club.

J. R. Rapier, Odessa, will appear before the board to negotiate renewal of a contract with the school district for appraisal services. He is representing Pritchard and Abbott Co.

Other business includes routine school reports, appointment of a member of the board to the Juvenile Board and appointment of a person as Census Taker. The local textbook committee will also be selected.

Wednesday was selected for the meeting date instead of the usual second Tuesday of the month because of conflicts which would have prevented attendance today by several trustees.

Trade Boycott

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. Thant, U.N. secretary-general, appeared ready today to seek a trade boycott to end Katanga's secession.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express to our many friends our heartfelt thanks for the tokens of sympathy tendered us during our recent bereavement.

Our special thanks to Dr. Broadrick during the illness and passing of our father.

The Sign Of Service

This sign, at the corner of Gregg and Fifteenth, signifies the friendly and efficient service available inside the building over which it rises—Security State Bank.

1963 Harley-Davidson Sprint

The new Sprint, a single-cylinder motorcycle, has a "beefed up" lower end bearing, lightweight racing tappets, improved oil filter, larger capacity oil pump, and re-designed shifter spring. It also has new, higher, rubber-mounted handlebars carrying ball-end control levers, and a wider, softer saddle. See the new 1963 Harley-Davidsons at Cecil Thixton's, 908 W. 3rd.

Invisible Killer

No-Roach, the invisible killer for cockroaches, can be brushed on shelves, tables, chairs, sinks, drainboards, in corners or wherever roaches run. The germ-carriers can't and won't stay around where No-Roach is spread. It kills ants, too, and mildew's kitchen or pantry is always free from pests when company comes.

Security Offers Service

Service is made a convenience at Security State Bank where customer parking, drive-in windows, and night depository are reached off the street. There is no heavy traffic to delay customers.

Located on Gregg street, at Fifteenth, the bank has modern facilities inside and out. The "air conditioned in the summer and heated in the winter" lobby provides comfort.

Above all, friendly smiles greet those coming into the lobby for whatever reason.

The tellers' counter is located conveniently for the drive-in windows and lobby customers. Offices are adjoining the lobby and provide privacy when transacting business.

Right now, bank patrons may be interested in financing something for the home for Christmas, and Security State Bank welcomes the opportunity to serve those with established credit, or who may establish it.

New homes may be financed, or new cars bought, through the friendly service of Security State. Larson Lloyd, executive vice president, and Chester C. Cathey, cashier, have years of experience in the banking business and stand ready to advise customers in business and financing. Many problems have been solved, before they arose, in consultations with these men who know the community and its progress.

Depositors may secure the new type checks on which photographs are printed and on which the customer's code number is watermarked to forestall forgery. These checks are available and the customer may take in his own photograph or have it made at the bank.

Security State Bank personnel invites you to try the service and to acquaint yourself with the slogan "It's easy to do business with Security."

Only Harmful To Pests It Will Destroy

Johnston Laboratories worked for years to perfect an invisible killer for cockroaches that works effectively — yet is not harmful to pets and children. The latest discovery was a success and has been bottled for home owners, apartment dwellers and business houses. It is called Johnston's No-Roach.

This new product is super strength, invisible, clean to use and easy to apply. Anyone can apply No-Roach. Just dip a sponge or paint brush into the liquid and wipe it anywhere that roaches frequent, such as under drainboards, cellar walls, closets, kitchen cabinets. No Roach does not leave an odor, nor does it stain. The best part about this product is that, by pouring some into an old plastic squeeze bottle, it can be squirted into crevices and cracks and those little places where the drain pipes go through the floor.

A fastidious housekeeper has always been ashamed of a cockroach whether it was in her kitchen, bath or bedroom. Now Johnston has come up with an answer for her. It's quick, acting, easy to use and clean. It never leaves "signs" as pills and powders do. Cockroaches are a menace to humans. They carry disease and germs. These are spread when the different types of roaches crawl over dishes and food and boxes of condiments in kitchen cabinets. They are unsanitary. Apply No-Roach inside cabinet doors, shelves and pan racks, and other places to kill roaches. Once a crawling insect crawls across this invisible film with its residual action—he will die within a few hours. The residue lasts for months.

No-Roach is within every housewife's budget. Johnston Company kept this fact in mind when they concocted it. It comes in 8-oz. or pint size bottles, available at your drug store or supermarket.

Blue Lustre Is Choice Of Housewives

Again and again, housewives everywhere are making Blue Lustre their first choice when selecting a carpet or upholstery cleaner. Women always enjoy discovering new and better ways, to keep the home bright and cheerful—and Blue Lustre has been an exciting revelation.

This amazing foam cleaner is a gentle odorless concentrate that makes possible excellent carpet cleaning at very little cost. Blue Lustre can be used in any type of rug shampoo applicator or applied with an inexpensive long handled brush.

Because Blue Lustre foam does the actual cleaning of the rug fibers, it's only a matter of personal preference as to the type of applicator used. Actually what happens is that the Blue Lustre foam penetrates instantly to the carpet soil and its unique action holds dirt particles in suspension for easy removal by vacuuming. Since all carpet soil and cleaning agent is removed, there is no oily or gummy residue left in the carpet to trap soil. Consequently rugs and carpets stay cleaner longer.

Blue Lustre is non-flammable. It is safe and convenient to keep around the house so that prompt attention can be given to soiled traffic paths as they appear, or for other soiled spots on either rugs or upholstery that may need attention.

Blue Lustre is economical to use since it takes only one half gallon to clean three 9 x 12 rugs. It's also available in quarts and gallons at Big Spring Hardware.

Cuba Withdrawal Called Too Slow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet troops are being withdrawn from Cuba at a very slow rate, U.S. officials said today. And although the United States is not pressing Russia on the issue it is expected to do so if the withdrawals are not speeded up fairly soon.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Monday that the role of Soviet combat units in Cuba "is of great concern to us and something we will follow very carefully."

"Certainly we in this hemisphere could not accept as a normal situation any Soviet military presence in Cuba," he said.

The number of Soviet officers and men stationed on the Caribbean island is estimated at 9,000 to possibly 15,000—some organized, Rusk said, "into what appeared to be Soviet combat units."

He described the scale of Soviet power in Cuba as "modest... but well armed."

"Whether these (troops) were there for the protection of certain sites, missile sites or otherwise, or for some other purpose is something that is being, of course, watched very carefully."

Rusk held his first regular news conference since last July a few hours before flying to Paris for the annual December Cabinet-level meeting of the 15-nation North Atlantic Council.

Rusk planned individual meetings there with Allied foreign ministers and said much of the discussion in the council sessions, opening Thursday, would be concerned with "the world situation," which includes Cuba, the India-Red China conflict and the crisis in relations between Red China and Russia.

In response to questions, Rusk appeared to take issue with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who said recently that Britain had ceased to be a world power and had not yet found a new role. Rusk called Britain "one of the really great powers in this Atlantic community."

He also said indirectly that criticisms of independent African nations voiced during an African tour last week by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., had created problems for the State Department.

Ellender questioned African nations' capacity to rule themselves, but later said his comments had been reported out of context. Rusk said Ellender's later statement had clarified and greatly improved the effect of his earlier remarks.

At the outset of the news conference, Rusk discounted the possibility of any significant developments at the NATO meeting.

He said the United States would argue in Paris for bringing NATO's European strength up to full goal of 30 divisions. He said ways would also be discussed for improving consultations among the 15 member governments on worldwide issues.

Further consideration of the problems of sharing responsibility for nuclear weapons strategy among the alliance members is another topic, Rusk added.

As for Cuba, Rusk said that the U.S. government was informed that Soviet forces in Cuba for the protection of nuclear weapon bases would be withdrawn in due course.

This pledge—which was disclosed by President Kennedy at a news conference Nov. 20—was made by Premier Khrushchev in a letter to Kennedy that day.

Officials say that the promise was put in general rather than precise terms and it was not yet known here just how large the Soviet withdrawal would be.

At the moment, the troop issue is not a focal point of U.S.-Soviet negotiations, officials reported. The emphasis in the negotiations is on trying to find a formula by which the United States and Russia can get the Cuban problem removed from the U.N. Security Council agenda.

Four Persons Die In Headon Crash

LOGAN, Utah (AP)—Wives of three Thiokol Chemical Corp. executives were among four persons killed as two cars collided on an icy canyon highway Monday.

Their automobile and one driven by a college student crashed on U.S. 90 about 10 miles south of here in Northern Utah. The student, Robert Hamilton, 21, of Utah State University, died several hours later.

The women, en route from Brigham City to Logan for a meeting, were:

Mrs. Edward Nauman, 46, wife of the general manager of Thiokol's Wasatch Division and mother of three children;

Mrs. John Wallen, 32, wife of the manager of production and operations at Thiokol-Air Force Plant 78 and mother of a son.

Mrs. Coleman Whitlock, 37, wife of a Thiokol rocket scientist and mother of three daughters.

Nauman and Wallen formerly were with Thiokol's Longhorn Division at Marshall, Tex.

Internationalism Is New Vogue With Businessmen

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There's an excited new vogue among many American businessmen: Internationalism.

Interviews with executives across the country repeatedly turned up the opinion that prospects of increased international business was the single most inviting economic challenge at the moment.

This enthusiasm reflects what these businessmen themselves admit is a turnaround from the days when tariffs and other protectionist methods were the pillars of American business thought.

While protectionism persists in many quarters and its voice will continue to be heard, the extent of the switch was indicated by the passage this year with relative ease of the Trade Expansion Act empowering the President to slash U.S. tariffs broadly in exchange for foreign cuts.

What brought the change? "When a camera made in Japan on Monday is selling on a counter here the next Monday," said Chicago businessman Charles Percy. "It's impossible to believe protectionism is the prudent course."

Much of it, too, is the alluring prospect that there are millions of potential customers near the point where they will want to buy American consumer goods . . . if only U.S. goods can get to them.

The development of Europe's common market, linking Italy, France, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg into an America-like mass market, offers the brightest example of this sort of thing.

"It's like opening up the West,"

El Paso Loses Plea To FPC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission Monday denied applications for rehearing of its Oct. 19 order requiring El Paso Natural Gas Co. to make immediate refunds of nearly $85 million, plus interest.

The order also requires El Paso to reduce its wholesale gas rates to utility customers, principally in California.

El Paso, the State of California, and the California Public Utilities Commission filed requests for a rehearing.

Commissioners Harold Woodward and Lawrence O'Connor Jr., who dissented from the October opinion, voted in favor of a rehearing.

ICBM Explodes

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile exploded in a ball of fire a few seconds after launch Monday.

It was the second straight failure in attempts to launch one of the so-called "second generation" ICBMs from this West Coast base.

The Air Force did not disclose the nature of the malfunction. Minuteman is a three-stage, solid-fuel rocket which can be fired on seconds' notice from an armored hole. It is smaller, faster, cheaper and simpler than the larger, liquid-fuel Atlas and Titan intercontinental rockets.

Murray Says Some States Shirk Part In Oil Curbs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Texas official said today some oil states have not assumed their fair share of the burden of restricting oil production to market demand.

William J. Murray, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, said his state held 46.7 per cent of the nation's crude oil reserves last year but supplied only 35.7 per cent of domestic production.

He said Texas production has decreased 200,000 barrels daily in 10 years while total production from other oil states has increased 1.2 million barrels a day.

In a speech to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, Murray hinted the Texas Legislature may take action.

"There now seems to be evidence the legislature, influenced by the view of the electorate, will not permit Texas to continue much longer its disproportionate share of the burden of curtailment to market demand," he said.

Murray made no direct reference to equitable sharing proposals that set off a sharp controversy in the 33-state compact last year. An equitable sharing subcommittee was abolished after Montana, Wyoming, and Utah charged Texas and other states with attempting to tell them how much oil they could produce.

Under the congressional act creating the compact commission as an oil and gas conservation forum, the commission can only make recommendations to member states.

Murray said he was not criticizing other states or suggesting a course of action for them. He said the state regulatory body he heads is required by statute to limit production to market demand.

"Thus Texas has attempted to balance production with market demand only to find its historical markets displaced with imports and production from other states," he said.

He said oil imports have increased a million barrels daily in 10 years.

A Louisiana official told the compact a regulatory directive adopted in 1960 has stimulated wildcat drilling operations in his state.

Rolf McCokster, attorney for the Louisiana Department of Conservation, said 700 wildcats were drilled in unproved areas last year, compared with 513 in 1959.

He said the 1960 order was designed to encourage wider spacing of wells and eliminate the drilling of wells which are not needed for efficient operation of a reservoir.

McCokster said other factors also contributed to the increase in wildcat operations but the 1960 order created additional incentive.

A group of West Texas and New Mexico producers asked the compact Monday to urge Congress to remove the Federal Power Commission's authority to regulate wellhead prices of natural gas.

The Permian Basin Petroleum Association said in a telegram that uncertainties created by FPC efforts to apply the area pricing formula adopted in 1960 are harming the economy of that vast producing area in West Texas and New Mexico.

The compact's area pricing study committee is to submit its recommendations at Wednesday's final session of the four-day meeting.

Estes Ordered To Trial On 16 Charges

EL PASO (AP)—A federal judge has ordered Billie Sol Estes to trial March 11 on 16 counts of a 29-count criminal indictment against the former West Texas farmer financier.

U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomson at the same time said Estes could be tried on the remaining 13 counts in his home town of Pecos, at a date to be set later.

The judge granted three co-defendants of Estes a delay until Sept. 1, 1963, to surrender and start their prison terms. He has directed them to be available as witnesses in the trials for Estes.

The indictment charges mail fraud, interstate transportation of securities taken by fraud and conspiracy.

Judge Thomson denied motions to dismiss the charges and to move the entire trial to Pecos. A definite date for the trial had been asked by defense lawyer John Cofer.

"The case may never be tried, but maybe the court should set a date and we can see when we start how hard it is to get a jury," Cofer said.

Cofer commented that all but two of 100 prospective jurors in the recent Estes trial at Tyler had heard about the case although some said they could be impartial.

Expressing doubt they were impartial, Cofer said: "I believe more time is necessary."

The co-defendants all pleaded guilty earlier to five of the counts and were sentenced. They had been told to report Jan. 7 to start their prison terms.

While ordering the delay, Judge Thomson—at the request of the defense, did not rule on a motion to reduce their sentences by one-half.

The three are Coleman McSpadden of Lubbock and Harold Orr of Amarillo, both sentenced to 10 years, and Ruel Alexander, also Amarillo, six years.

Judge Thomson also denied a petition to sever the trial of Estes' co-defendants in the case, denied a defense motion for bills of particulars detailing the basis for specific counts, and ordered the government to produce all records and papers in its possession which were taken from Estes.

Mine Search Ends; 37 Bodies Found

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP)—The search is all over for 37 miners entombed in a shattering explosion last Thursday in a soft coal mine. Grim rescue crews, after almost a five-day search, found the last of the bodies Monday night.

State mine officials blamed the explosion on methane gas and coal dust. All were killed instantly.

The blast occurred at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in U.S. Steel Corporation's Robena No. 3 mine, one of the world's largest mechanized operations, 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh.

U.S. Steel said the entire area—650 feet underground—had been explored and there was no sign of life.

Many bodies remained to be identified.

Forty-four other miners working in another part of the mine shaft at the time of the blast escaped unhurt.

Joe Seper of Ronco, whose brother, Charles J., 57, was killed in the blast, vowed:

"I quit the coal mines, even if I have to go on relief."

There was no immediate indication if and when the mine will reopen.

The last body was sighted shortly after 11 p.m. Monday night, ending a five-day vigil maintained by friends and relatives.

The first body was recovered Saturday. Six bodies were recovered Sunday, and the rest were sighted Monday. They were strung out 4,000 feet from the working face of the mine to the face itself. Most were within 1,000 feet of the face of the coal vein.

Coroner Frank Behm of Greene County said the force of the explosion caused the deaths.

One of the miners' widows, Mrs. Paul Zvolenski, said she and her husband had laid away some Christmas presents for their seven children.

"I guess I'll still have to have some Christmas for the children," she said dejectedly. Her husband's burial was today.

The fatal explosion, the second in the 16-year history of the entire Robena complex, occurred on the 55th anniversary of the worst mine disaster in the United States. A total of 261 persons were killed Dec. 6, 1907 in Monongah, W.Va.

Cold Winds Cut Across The State

By The Associated Press

Occasional snow flurries flew in the Texas Panhandle and knife-edged winds sent a bitter blast of winter hurrying southward across the state Tuesday.

Cold wave warnings were posted for most of the north half of Texas during the night as a giant mass of arctic air billowed down from the nation's numbed Northern Plains.

The norther, whipping along at 30 miles per hour, pushed into the state well before daybreak and sent the mercury nosediving.

By 3 a.m. the forward edge of the new cold front lay along a line linking Texarkana, Corsicana, Abilene, Big Spring and Lamesa.

At Amarillo, the thermometer dipped to 20 degrees shortly after 5 a.m. Dalhart, where intermittent snow fluttered down, recorded 26, Childress 28, Wichita Falls 31 and Lubbock and Wink 32. Readings elsewhere ranged up to 64 at Brownsville on the state's southern tip.

Temperatures weren't expected to get above freezing at many points in the northern part of Texas during the day.

Forecasts promised marks early Wednesday as low as 18 above zero in the northwest, northeast and southwest sections of the state, 20 in the north central and 26 in the south central portions and 28 in the southeast.

The Weather Bureau said this meant a hard freeze for most of the Texas interior and the biting cold would linger through Wednesday.

Dr. Landes President Of H-SU

ABILENE (AP)—Dr. James H. Landes of Wichita Falls was elected president Monday of Hardin-Simmons University.

Trustees of the Baptist school here unanimously elected the Wichita Falls pastor.

Dr. Landes, 50, has been pastor of the 6,400-member First Baptist Church of Wichita Falls for 17 years. He is immediate past president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Dr. W. B. Irvin of Dallas, chairman of the Hardin-Simmons board, said Dr. Landes had not yet announced his acceptance of the post. He implied, however, that the pastor had given the board some encouragement that he would accept.

Dr. Landes' election came on the unanimous recommendation of the trustees' nominating committee.

Hardin-Simmons, with a fall enrollment of 1,750, has been without a president since March when Dr. Evan Allard Reiff died.

Wayne Evans of Fort Worth, chairman of the Hardin-Simmons screening committee which looked over applicants and recommendations for the presidency, told the board 92 persons had been recommended for the job.

If he accepts, Dr. Landes will become the 11th president of the second largest Southern Baptist college in Texas. Hardin-Simmons was founded in 1891.

Dr. Landes previously was pastor of College Avenue Baptist Church in Bryan, 1941-1945, and pastor of Eagle Lake Baptist Church, 1940-41.

Orr's Defense Argues Statute Of Limitations

TYLER (AP)—Defense lawyers say Pan American Petroleum Corp. knew long before it brought a $981,385 suit that B. B. Orr's wells were probably deviated, and thus the statute of limitations applies.

The defense for Orr and W. R. Henderson, both of Longview, opened its presentation Monday. Pan American contends the oilmen fraudulently concealed that the wells on Orr's lease were deviated.

Phillip Fowler of Tyler, the first defense witness, spent three hours on the stand. An independent geologist, he testified that he made a study of the Hawkins Field, where the wells are located, based on information available to the public between 1948 and 1960.

He said on the basis of his inquiry that Orr's wells could not have produced the amount of oil shown on Texas Railroad Commission record if they had been drilled vertically.

Liquor Charges

Charges of illegal possession and sale of beer and liquor were filed in Howard County Court Monday against Jessie Flores, 708 NW 10th. The incident was alleged to have occurred Sunday at 305 1/2 NW 4th. Flores was arrested Sunday and placed in county jail. He was released after posting two bonds of $500 each.

Academic Unexcellence

The ways of college football fans are sometimes wondrous to contemplate. Let there be offered in evidence the recent behavior of those who holler on autumn Saturdays for the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers.

These rooters have been enchanted this season by their team's considerable success after lean times. They attribute the change to Coach Bob Devaney. They are so anxious to keep him around that they have given him a $200,000 life insurance policy, which will be revoked if he leaves the Nebraska coaching job before 1968.

This is a touching demonstration of gratitude — though it makes one wonder der what the fans might have done to Devaney if his team had lost seven games instead of winning them. The gift has practical value, too. Annual premiums on the policy are reported to be $9,000, which makes a pleasant addition to Devaney's $17,000 salary.

It is a fair guess that this $9,000 bonus amounts to more than the annual salary of quite a few University faculty members. It is interesting to speculate as to what some of them thought when they read about the coach's good fortune. Oh, well, next year no doubt the alumni will buy a $200,000 policy for some deserving professor who has advanced knowledge a bit. No doubt.

Others Have Troubles, Too

Sometimes we are so preoccupied with or overwhelmed by our own problems that we fail to realize that we do not have a monopoly on trouble. Indeed, the Communists, despite their propaganda as the inevitable inheritors of the earth, are having an ample portion of difficulty. And it is quite likely to increase.

A number of astute observers see in Red China's attack on India a bid for leadership in world communism. At the same time, there are other signs of rifts within the Soviet bloc, and even Khrushchev has been reduced to recommending (or reporting) to the Soviet congress that certain capitalist procedures would be embraced in an effort to stimulate sluggish performance. Another sign of the times is the visit of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia to Russia, obviously at the invitation of Russia because of a need to patch up things in the European sphere. Tito had been the target of Russian wrath for several years, and even now the Chinese refer to him as the running dog of capitalism.

Rebuffs in African adventures, the back-down in Cuba and other difficulties have made it abundantly clear that communism not only had feet of clay, but a thousand feet of clay. This being the case, a policy of firm, positive action on our part and that of the free world is indicated. With enlightened action, we can be the ones to drive some wedges. While constant vigilance is necessary it is vastly less likely to fall into monolithic Communist structure. On the contrary, it seems to be definitely shaping toward a diversity of character and camps.

Holmes Alexander

What Makes A Modern Nation?

PRETORIA, South Africa—There stood Hamlet, the crucifix handle of his great battle sword nursed pensively to his chin, and over his left shoulder the ghost of introspection, whispering to him the counsel of delay. There danced a polished hardwood Salome with a human head at her breast. A magnificent concept of modern war in stainless steel was depicted by two dead, embattled stags, their antlers locked in mutual destruction, victor and victim indistinguishable. A recumbent marble corpse sprang to new life in a glittering steel figure that rose from the wounded heart, representing a nation in the process of resurrection after a military defeat.

THESE WONDERFULLY imaginative creations, as remembered from a Sunday afternoon visit, hardly begin to tell of what the visitor sees at the spectacular mountainside home and workshop of South Africa's great sculptor, Coert Steynberg. He works in marble and granite, iron and steel, wood and stained glass. He sculpts bigger-than-life equestrian statues of Boer generals, delicate heads of his beautiful daughter from infancy to womanhood, Vulcan and Prometheus, other gods and other mortals.

HIS GREAT unfinished work shows a famous rescue scene by a brave farmer on horseback who rode into the surf and dragged fourteen shipwrecked persons to shore and who was finally pulled down to his own death when the ship broke apart. In years to come this magnificent piece, five times larger than life, will be mounted in the sea off Cape Town, where the historic episode occurred. It will stand with the waves breaking over it.

SOME OF THE SPIRIT of this embattled, faraway, misunderstood, fierce and defiant nation called South Africa, I think, is found in the works of Steynberg, a tall, gray, lion-headed, informal and jolly artist. He works with no staff, except his talented and lovely wife, who surrounds his thatched-roofed modern home with an artistic garden of riotous-colored tropical flowers. Steynberg is in his studio as soon as the sunlight fills it, and stays until it fades. On a glass skylight, monkeys descend from the mountain and imitate him as he swings the mallet against the chisel. He had to screen his windows because, he says, the monkeys would come in and use his tools in competition.

FAR FROM THIS scene of the solitary artist, high on another mountain side called Krugersdorp, stands the "Big Dish" or, more technically, the Deep Space Instrumentation Facility for Tracking Lunar and Interplanetary Probes. When I was there the 250-ton, 85-foot-diameter reflector antenna was crackling with signals that originated in the Venusbound Mariner II spacecraft, something like 20 million miles away. It was the transmitting equipment of this Big Dish which "ordered" Mariner II, after the spacecraft was well launched, to turn on its own navigation and signaling devices.

THE KRUGERSDORP station was chosen by our National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for a special set of reasons. Geographically, South Africa lies in the longitude which completes the three-station satellite tracking system. The other two stations are at Goldstone, California and Woomera, Australia. But any country—Rhodesia or Italy, for example—which lies in the approximate longitude would have been as suitably located for Deep Space tracking, although South Africa has the advantage of lying down-range in the South Atlantic for vehicles launched at Cape Canaveral. But the chief eligibility of South Africa was that this country was able to supply the 30-member, scientifically capable staff of running the station after NASA installed it. The operating agency here is the National Institute of Telecommunications Research (NITR) of the host country. One lone American, Paul Jones, representative of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in California, stands by. The rest are all South Africans.

STILL A THIRD complex institution, along with the artist and the space tracker, tells the traveler much about the personality of this country. Some 50 miles outside Johannesburg, other scientists and technicians are busy at manufacturing just about the only indispensable natural resource which this country does not have—petroleum.

LIKE BRITAIN, South Africa sits upon a foundation of coal, so the idea is to squeeze the coal for oil. The plant which does this is actually two plants. Up to the 1950's, the process for the work was an American device. But the South Africans, leaving nothing to chance and fearing that the Korean War might cut them off from the U.S.A., installed a German device, employing a different system. Today the American and German systems, side by side, continue to wring oil from coal, as these people drive to make themselves self-sufficient in a very hostile world.

Arts, science and industry, I came away believing, are the makings of a modern country.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Everybody knows that the baby's bottle must be warmed to body temperature before serving. That's what Grandma says. That's what Dr. Spock says. You warm the bottle in a pan of water at 2 a.m. this can be trying, but you do it anyway because that is what the book says), splash a bit of the contents on an exposed arm and if it doesn't scald, administer it to the little beast, hoping to high heaven he will go back to sleep like an angel.

Everybody knows this except the good doctors and nurses at the premature baby unit at Bellevue Hospital, New York City. There, 20 nurses and almost as many pediatricians have been studying 358 babies for two years, serving them hot bottles and cold bottles until they were sure of their point, which is that so far as the babies are concerned, it doesn't make any difference.

What they want is food—now. They'll drink it hot. They'll drink it cold—right out of the ice box, in fact. And hot or cold, they'll go right on growing and complaining until they get big enough to demand pork chops and crepes Suzettes and prime ribs of beef with mashed potatoes. When we think of the hours we wasted warming the bottle, we could go right back to bed and cry for, maybe three minutes.

TRYING TO COVER THE LUMP

Just What Did Go On Behind The Scenes?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Still unsettled, like a lingering sore, is the question: Who revealed what went on when President Kennedy decided on a showdown with Russia over its missiles in Cuba?

He acted after getting the views of his National Security Council in a highly secret session. The council members are among the most important men in government.

This week, the Columbia Broadcasting System and Life, Time and Newsweek magazines said Kennedy himself threw open government files to two Saturday Evening Post reporters, one of them a close, personal friend, to prepare a chronology on what happened. It was quite a chronology.

LAST WEEK the Post came out with a story on what happened and who said what. It was too well documented, too full of direct and indirect quotes, to have been dreamed up.

The most super-secret outfit in the government is the Central Intelligence Agency. The Post even quoted CIA men, directly and indirectly, including a telephone conversation with McGeorge Bundy, Kennedy's special assistant. And Monday night a CBS correspondent said Bundy supplied much of the material for the Post article.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the Life story pointing the finger at the President is "absolutely and completely without foundation."

BUT THERE has been no indication from the White House that Kennedy has ordered an investigation of the leak or intends to do anything about it. And meanwhile the Washington Evening

Star backs up the Life story. It said Monday:

"Competent sources told the Star that Mr. Kennedy did tell his advisers to cooperate (with the Post reporters) and that some of them refused to do so."

The Star said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was one who refused.

The President will be asked about all this at his news conference Wednesday. Unless he discloses more than the White House has been willing to do so far, the whole subject will remain a sore.

THIS BASIC issue—who talked to reporters about what happened at the secret council meeting—got lost sight of for awhile in the uproar caused by what the Post said was Adlai Stevenson's role in the council session.

The Post quoted a "non-admiring official" as saying Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, "wanted a Munich" by making concessions to the Russians instead of insisting on a showdown.

If left unanswered, this statement would seem to undercut Stevenson's position in the Kennedy administration and at the United Nations. Stevenson promptly and repeatedly denied the Post account. He said his view was the opposite.

Kennedy finally, but after some days, let it be known that Stevenson had backed his decision to have a showdown. But at no time has Kennedy either criticized the Post story or denied its accuracy.

KENNEDY DID not say that Stevenson had not first proposed concessions to Russia. That Stevenson supported Kennedy's decision, once it was made, can be taken for granted. His usefulness would be ended if he didn't.

Kennedy called on his council to get the members' advice. It has to be assumed that each would give his most honest advice, even if it disagreed with that of everyone else in the room. It is out of the different opinions, and the conflict of opinions, that the President could reach a decision.

Even if Stevenson at first had advised concessions, this should hardly justify the public belittling inflicted upon him by the "non-admiring official" in the Post article.

What To Do About Prostate Trouble

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
The danger of postponing treatment for prostate trouble can't be emphasized too much.

Neither can we over emphasize the comfort that comes from having proper treatment. With it men begin to get a full night's sleep again. Many are happily astonished at the restoration of energy which was being subtly sapped by prostate infection.

But while simple enlargement of the prostate gland occurs mostly in men past 45 or 50, acute prostatitis can occur at any age. Remember that the painless symptoms are reason enough to start treatment. If you wait for the condition to become painful, you've probably wasted some valuable time, not to mention letting yourself in for unnecessary annoyance.

Is surgery always necessary? Not by any means. Infections can be subdued. Partial closing of the urethra can be reopened. Massage often helps reduce swelling.

In acute cases, hot sitz baths may make the patient more comfortable and can help restore urinary flow. Bed rest, bland diet, reduction in fluid intake may at times be prescribed, and the avoidance of alcohol and sexual excitement prevent aggravating the condition.

Where there is suspicion of cancer, surgical removal is the best, quickest and surest course. True, some patients may not be in condition to tolerate surgery, in which event other methods must be used. However, men in their 70's and 80's are having such surgery and recovering very nicely.

A word or two about diagnostic methods: analysis of urine; enlargement of the gland can be detected by touch; visual examination by cystoscopy; special X-ray techniques.

One frequent question asked is "what effect does such surgery have on sexual activity?" Many patients are astonished to be told that the right answer is "none." Oh, it is quite reasonable that there will be some temporary interference but it passes away, and the patient returns to his usual vigor in most cases.

The glandular secretion of the prostate, you see, is not essential to sexual activity. Rather, the secretion, known as "prostatic fluid," serves as a preservative for the male sperm cell. This is helpful, to be sure, in encouraging conception but it is an adjunct, not a necessity.

Greater understanding of the facts can go a long way toward encouraging men to have immediate treatment and thus avoid the nagging, continuing discomforts that arise from neglecting the trouble as soon as it is detected or suspected.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl, 19, and have had a yellowish-white vaginal discharge for a long time. There is no other discomfort. Could this be gonorrhea? Could the use of tampons be a source of infection?—R. R.

Well, it could be gonorrhea, and that should be suspected if there has been an exposure. But it also could be from any of a variety of other causes. Consult your doctor. Then he can tell you to treat it. (No, tampons as a rule do not cause any infection.)

P. L. G.: No, there is nothing in orange juice which will cause or encourage the formation of gall stones.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Age Of Disenchantment

Regular readers will know something is wrong. This is Mr. Blackburn's day to write The Rim.

His nose isn't out of joint—but his finger is. My shoulder was lapped probably because Sam and I seem to have a couple of things in common besides the ability to type. In the first place, we have pretty good memories, and in the second (he'll forgive me) we are both ancient enough to have a lot to remember.

A FEW MONTHS BACK when those athletic gyrations resembling a fertility dance were the rage, daughter Becky, suddenly tired of the same, tame old routine, made the daring suggestion that she attend a midnight "twist" contest. After recovering from the breeze of an emphatic "No!" her hurt reply was that she didn't intend to participate—just watch. "After all, Mother," she said, "there isn't much an 11-year-old girl can do in this world but watch."

Like Sam, nostalgia had its way with me. Ruefully realizing that under this bleached blond head there probably lurks a nice little gray-haired lady, suddenly I was 11 years old again. What did I "watch?"

THE TIME was the late depression years. My father, with six daughters to raise alone, had bought a fruit farm in Eastern Louisiana. Our two-year stay in the country began and the things to watch were countless. The animals, for one thing. Besides the usual barnyard breeds, there were guineas, ducks and a couple of white goats with tempers evil enough to get a gal over the fence in record time. I gathered eggs, watching and wondering how so many chicks could disappear under one small hen. I looked at and felt the coarseness of small red pigs and was sorry each time one ended up on a hook in the smokehouse.

ENTERTAINMENT was strictly do-it-yourself. Our town not only didn't boast a theater, it probably would have been a little ashamed if it had one. Social activity centered around the Baptist church where countless cardboard fans, held in the plump hands of perspiring women, stirred up a soft summer breeze on humid nights. In winter, the cold was dispelled by the fiery oratory of Brother Stockton. (I sometimes suspected he hated liquor more than God did.)

Every country child that grew where trees did, had one of their own, I suppose. My tree not only hid me—it fed me, too; big, purple mulberries that kept my fingers stained as long as the berries lasted. If I sat still, sometimes the feast was shared with a cardinal of bluejay.

BY DROPPING a few feet, I could land on the smokehouse roof. From there I could see the Satsuma orange grove and the pecan trees beyond. The pond, where ducks kept up-ending themselves in search of food, was on one side. Piny woods began at the edge of the yard and, as far as I could tell, grew all the way to the sunset. Some things really are too good to last. Mrs. Pollard, the hired man's wife, was letting me feel the black curls of the new baby as it nursed, when we heard the shouts. From her window, I saw the roof of our big, white house in flames.

THE LOGICAL WAY to wrap this up would be to claim that I became aware of some of life's basic truths at this time. That's doubtful. At 11, the truth might not set you free but you were still advised to tell it. Childhood idols were still 20 feet tall—far above reproach, and growing old was much easier than growing up. We didn't rebuild and that chapter ended, but for me the eleventh year was the best of all.

Disenchantment? That didn't begin till the ripe old age of twelve—but I'm still fighting it. I'm not sure any more if the good guys are going to win.

Poor Reporting And Editing

L'Affaire Adlai Stevenson and his role in the Cuban crisis, an issue sparked and fanned by an article in the Dec. 8 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, has been assayed and dissected in many ways.

It has been examined as an unconscionable political-power play, a White House-directed attempt at political assassination, a hatchet job inspired and carried out by an anti-Stevenson cabal, as a palace intrigue of which all Kennedys are innocent, and as a Byzantine conspiracy.

No one will ever convince old pros in the business that the sole purpose of the article, "In Time of Crisis" by Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, was other than a crude hatchet job on the American representative at the United Nations. Whether the hatchet job was inspired from the White House is not of half so much interest to professional writers as the fact that Post writers and editors did not present the Stevenson case before charging him with being "soft" and wanting "a Munich" in the midst of the Cuban crisis.

THE SOLE BASIS for the charge that Stevenson wanted "a Munich," a phrase charged with the most-damaging associations, is the word of an anonymous "official," described as inimical of the "official" is that he dislikes the man he libels.

That any editor would allow an accusation of such seriousness, made by an anonymous and acknowledged enemy of an honorable man, to go unchallenged is unthinkable. It is doubly astounding that anyone who has ever written for the Post where—at least in the past—every statement was questioned and proof demanded, and where every comma and semi-colon was suspect by a swarm of editors and researchers.

STEVENSON has roundly denounced the article and exposed its falsity with regard to himself. But the truth is that a devoted public servant has been gravely damaged and no amount of "Dear Adlai" letters from the White House will repair the injury done by Bartlett, known as one of President Kennedy's closest personal friends and confidants, and Alsop, who also has the run of the White House.

At no point in the "Dear Adlai" letters or statements by Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger, purportedly speaking for Mr. Kennedy, has the President repudiated either of his pen pals or so much as administered a slight slap on the wrist.

THE PRESIDENT has no power to fire Alsop or Bartlett. But because of Mr. Kennedy's close personal relationship with Bartlett the suspicion will never die that the White House "inspired" the Stevenson attack unless and until the President fires whoever blabbed the deliberations of the super-secret meetings of the National Security Council to Alsop and Bartlett. The names of the two men, both Stevenson haters, who talked to the Post team are certainly no secret to the writing fraternity in Washington.

THERE ARE charitable members of the Washington press who believe Bartlett was not so much a sledgehammer as a sucker who was conned into co-authoring the piece because his close relationship with the President would give the article the look of White House sanction. But whether he was, in fact, used by the White House or by Alsop and the Post, he cuts a sorry figure in the affair.

Vice Presidential Fight In Senate

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
(For Marquis Childs, who is on vacation)

WASHINGTON—In the new Congress opening next month, the United States Senate will become an active arena for Republican Vice Presidential possibilities for 1964 much as it was for Democratic Presidential possibilities in 1960.

This old chamber saw a quiet but intense struggle three years ago between Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri for the Democratic Presidential nomination.

NOW, WELL BEFORE the opening of the new Senate, people are talking, as the saying goes, about two Republican Senators—Thomas Kuchel of California and Thurston Morton of Kentucky—for the 1964 G. O. P. Vice Presidential designation.

In politics, there is speculation and there is speculation. Always it is lousy and sometimes it is also merely idle. In this case, however, it is in no sense idle, nor is it touched with more than an irreducible minimum of idleness. Kuchel and Morton have won the right to serious consideration, the inevitability of favorable mention, by the most decisive and objective of all tests—the test of success in last month's elections.

KUCHEL SWEEPED to re-election in giant California by an enormous plurality of some 700,000 votes while his fellow Republican, Richard Nixon, was losing for the governorship to the Democratic incumbent, Edmund Brown. It was, in fact, the most impressive victory, in voting margin, turned in by any Republican in the country.

Morton was returned from Kentucky against what had been supposed to be a very heavy Democratic challenge. Kuchel was always favored to win; what makes him a new factor in the Republican party was the great scope of his triumph. Morton was billed to lose; what elevates him now is that instead of obliging the forecasters, he managed to turn in a solid, if unspectacular, victory.

EACH, MOREOVER, is well within that broad store of political moderation, or middleliness, from which the G. O. P. in recent years has never always chosen its Vice Presidential candidates. And neither is exactly hurt by the fact that he is quiet and unassuming fellow in a place, the Senate, which will cut down prima donnas wherever it can for the odd reason that nearly everybody there is himself a prima donna at heart.

From this point onward, however, Kuchel and Morton are two very different men. Morton's basic strength is within organized, regular Republicanism because he has been to his party an outstandingly good soldier always. As a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, he knows intimately the sources of convention power.

KUCHEL IS NOT too close to regular Republicanism, but his perhaps the higher strength of geography. His state, California, is about to become the first in the nation in population and in electoral power. Moreover, as assistant Republican leader of the Senate he is in a hierarchical position within the party, as Morton is not. This means a larger and readier access to national publicity and a greater opportunity to identify himself closely with the party's national record.

FINALLY, there is the factor that the Senate has become what it never used to be—a good stand-in ground for the growth of Presidential and Vice Presidential timber. John F. Kennedy broke an old truism that the Senate was a great place to become famous in but not to become President from. The 1960 Presidential ticket for the first time in history carried the names of two Senate men, his and that of Lyndon Johnson.

The sum of it is that a good deal of Vice Presidential politics will surely be involved in the new Senate, regardless of the reserve that may be shown in the matter by both Kuchel and Morton.

Exciting Film Of Escape To Freedom

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An exciting film showing the digging of a Berlin escape tunnel and the actual escape of refugees was shown by NBC Monday night. It was "The Tunnel," the controversial documentary program that caused a flurry of alarm in West Germany and was diplomatically postponed at the height of the Cuba crisis.

German officials feared for the safety of people connected with the project and the outcome of other escapes. The objections were overcome by NBC. Only the backs of some volunteer diggers were shown. Faces of some refugees were carefully blacked out on the film.

All in all, it was a program in which television showed its power, particularly when the camera focused on the refugees, mud-covered, wet, disheveled and often hysterical with relief, as they crawled through the tunnel. Great, too, were shots taken of the actual digging in the three-foot-square tunnel.

The program was splendid when dealing with these stark realities. It was weaker early in the program when the producers tried to reconstruct the early planning and digging stages, necessary because the tunnel was well started when NBC bought permission to take its cameras into the underground/escape route.

They used the real leaders of the project, young engineering students, for the re-enactment, but as amateur actors they were stilted and self-conscious. It could have been told better by the narrator.

But all together it was a gripping and horrifying story of an ordeal by real people in today's world, even if it did have a happy ending—for a few lucky, brave ones who made it under the wall.

Gene Rayburn, who lost out to Robert Q. Lewis in on-the-air tryouts for a host of "Play Your Hunch," will get his own show after all — "Match Game." It starts on NBC — another word-game show—Dec. 31.

CBS is expected to start programming an occasional show in color with the Feb. 13 special tour of Monaco with Princess Grace as guide. The network, which changed its mind about colorcasting after it lost some sponsors to NBC because it had color, now expects to go into the area cautiously. That means only upon request of sponsors—and by charging them extra, like $4,000 more per half hour.

The Grace Kelly show, incidentally, will be seen in glorious hue only by four outlets—New York, Chicago, St. Louis and Los Angeles. The rest of the nation will see her ex-movie queen only in black and white.

The word is that NBC now plans to battle CBS' strong comedy lineup on Monday nights with feature movies of strong masculine appeal.

The network will fill two hours with feature films and the emphasis will be on war stories, action-adventure and westerns.

It's the ladies, it seems, who go strongest for those warm family-situation comedy shows.

So what's going on here? Are the networks trying to start family fights?

Recommended tonight: "Dick Powell Show," NBC, 9:30-10:30 EST—"The Court Martial of Captain Wycliff," a courtroom drama with Powell, Robert Webber and Dina Merrill.

Pickets Protest As Killers Hang

TORONTO (AP)—Two convicted murderers were hanged back to back today while 50 pickets outside the jail bowed their heads in silent protest.

Arthur Lucas, 54, a Detroit Negro, was executed for the slaying of a Toronto man and a woman in a narcotics case.

Ronald Turpin, 29, of Toronto, died for the murder of a policeman in a gun battle following a minor robbery.

The execution was the first double hanging in Canada in 10 years and the 14th death sentence carried out since Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's conservative government took power in 1957.

In the same period, 49 death sentences have been commuted.

White House Given Famed Early Paintings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has announced employees of a mail order store have presented the executive mansion five of Charles Bird King's earliest Indian portraits.

Jacqueline Kennedy, honorary chairman of the Fine Arts Committee, and James W. Fosburg, chairman of the Special Paintings Committee, said the paintings were delivered to the First Lady by Crowds Baker, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

King painted the portraits in 1821 in his Washington studio. In his lifetime, King completed nearly 200 portraits of Indian chiefs.

Those presented to the White House are of Shuaritist, or Long Hair, described as wicked chief of the great Pawnee tribe; Petalsharoo, Generous Chief, of the Pawnee tribe; Monchousia, White Plume, of the Kanza Tribe; Shaumonekuse, an Oto half-chief, and Hayne Hudjihini, the Eagle of Delight, wife of Shaumonekuse.

The paintings, purchased by Sears employees, had been on exhibit in a New York gallery.

ATLANTA (AP) — American Farm Bureau Federation convention platform drafters called today for a meat-cleaver attack on the federal budget. They backed this with an offer to seek a big slash in farm aid outlays.

Nobel Prize To Scientists Who Bared Secret Of Life

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Five scientists—four Britons and an American — who have pried open the door to life's innermost secrets received 1962 Nobel Prize gold and honor here Monday. A sixth scientist got his prize 700 miles away in a Moscow hospital room.

The "Cambridge Clan" took the lion's share of awards this year. The venerable British university, at which three of the Britons and the American did their important research work, this year shut out the usually dominant California institutions.

But California had its great moment at the traditionally glittering ceremony, where Sweden's King Gustaf VI Adolf, just turned 80, distributed the awards for the 15th time.

John Steinbeck, California's author, went forward to receive the literature prize, a diploma, a medal and a check for $49,656.

Sharing the prizes in medicine were Cambridge researchers Drs. Maurice Wilkins and Francis Crick, together with this year's youngest laureate, 34-year-old

James D. Watson of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass. Watson worked also in England on the revolutionary discovery of the vital nucleic acid molecules called DNA which direct the pattern of animal life.

Dr. John Cowdrey Kendrew and Dr. Max Ferdinand Perutz, biochemists working at Cambridge, England, shared the chemistry prize for their work on mystifying elements in human blood and muscles of certain animals, such as whales and seals.

Soviet scientist Lev Landau was presented the prize for physics in a Moscow hospital, where he is recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident that left him in a coma for months.

WHY BE SICK?

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Dale Carnegie says the first basic desire that every normal adult wants is Health and Preservation of Life — and both are yours practically for the asking. It certainly isn't natural to be sick, and if you are sick, something is interfering with natural function.

Health is the result of all the body organs doing their work at the right time and in the right manner. Within the human body, as in all forms of life, there is an invisible force which directs the functions of all of life's multitudinous actions. Only this force—which fashioned our bodies in the beginning, developed our bodies to maturity and shall maintain it until death — has the ability to heal. This force is commonly referred to as "Nature" and we shall call it "Innate Intelligence" here.

The brain is the home of this life-wisdom with you and by virtue of its Innate Intelligence it orders all parts of the body to do their work properly. It knows when the organs should work and when they should rest. It knows when and how to replace any tissue or organ that may be worn out, diseased or in need of any repair. This life-wisdom flows from the brain out through the spinal nervous system — a vast network of communication lines that belittles the world's intricate telephone system.

Every cell, tissue, muscle and organ receives just the right amount of nerve energy in this wonderful body of man. A continuous, uninterrupted nerve supply is necessary for a normal, healthy body. The nervous system should

STAR PERFORMER at any advertising task—that's the daily newspaper.

Want to clear slow-moving merchandise? Retailers and other local advertisers traditionally do the job with newspaper advertising. Want to build an "image" with the quality shoppers? Newspapers are especially effective in reaching the people who buy the most and set the trends. For instance, 95% of households with incomes of $7,500 a year or more read a newspaper on an average day.*

For down-to-earth selling or out-of-this-world image-building, you can count on a star performance from the daily newspaper.

Skirting The End

Steve Tidwell, representing the Park Hill Gra-Y team, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tidwell, goes around the end in Saturday's Gra-Y All-star game. His efforts, however, were for a losing cause. His team, the South League, was defeated by a score of 46-14. Trying to cut him off is Johnny Waggoner, who scored three touchdowns for the North League.

Picadors Tip Hawks, 80-71

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech's powerful freshmen came on strong in the second half to topple a dead-tired Howard County Junior College basketball club here Monday evening, 80-71.

The defeat was the second of the year for the Hawks, compared to nine wins. HCJC returns to action in Big Spring Friday night, at which time it opposes the strong McMurry B team. The Hawks also play at home Saturday night, hosting Henderson County JC.

HCJC led the Picadors by as much as seven points in the first half but the Techs kept fighting back. The Hawks hit 51 per cent of their shots from the field the first half, compared to 42 for Tech.

The Big Spring missed numerous free shots during the first half of play that would have padded their lead. The Picadors had gone out in front by half time, however, 36-35.

In the last 20 minutes, the Hawks connected with only 26 per cent of their shots from the floor, compared to Tech's 53 per cent.

Lou Balenton did a splendid job of rebounding for HCJC.

Walter Carter scored 23 points to lead HCJC, the same number hit by Tech's Dubby Malaise.

Three other Hawks hit in double figures, Bill Thompson scoring 17, Ernest Turner 15 and Balenton 10.

Steers Seek Fourth Win Here Tonight

The Big Spring Steers will try to improve upon a 3-2 won-lost record in an 8 o'clock basketball game with the Brownfield Cubs here this evening.

Delnor Pass' boys have defeated Colorado C twice and an Angelo Lake View on one occasion. They have lost to McAdoo and Midland Lee. Both defeats came in the Plainview tournament last weekend.

This will be the Steers' second home game. They play only one more here before Christmas, entertaining Lubbock High next Tuesday.

Poss takes his boys to the Snyder tournament this weekend and they are entered in the Del Rio meet, where they are defending titlists, Dec. 21-22.

Brownfield is of unknown strength. The Cubs may be a little rusty, however, having gotten a late start due to the fact that their football season ran overtime. Elroy Payne coaches the Bruins.

The two teams were to have played in Brownfield last week but that contest was called off.

Probable starters for Big Spring

tonight will be a lone senior, Jeff Brown, and four juniors, Deeb-Roby Gartman, Ronnie Banks, Charley West and Albert Fierro. The Steers have averaged 57.4

Sands Triumphs In Two Games

ACKERLY—Junior high school basketball teams representing Sands defeated Westbrook clubs in both ends of a doubleheader here Monday evening, the boys prevailing, 38-13, after the girls had won, 32-18.

Claude Fryer tossed in ten points for Sands in the boys' game. John Calvio, Kynn Maxwell and Taylor each had four for the winners.

Coach Arlen White of Sands played a total of 35 boys in the game.

In the girls' contest, Kay Samples tossed in nine points for Sands while Cheryl Williams had six and Brenda Foster six.

The Sands boys now have a 2-1 won-lost record while the girls are 1-1.

points a game in their five starts, compared to 47.6 for the opposition.

B teams of the two schools clash at 6:15 p.m.

Gartman, Fierro and Banks have been pacing the Steers in games to date. The locals are still operating without their star rebounder, Eddy Nelson, who is favoring an injury he suffered in football.

Nelson may rejoin the locals next week but another regular, junior Richard Bethell, is probably out until the latter part of January. He suffered a broken wrist in the Steers' opening game.

Cokes Knocks Out Foe In Second

DALLAS (AP)—It was another knockout Monday night for Curtis Cokes, the Dallas bank messenger who is rated No. 2 among the world's welterweights.

Cokes, who is making it a routine to win in the first or second round, knocked out Puno Deoro in 1:05 of the second.

Pascual Gets League Honor

BOSTON (AP)—Southpaw Hank Aguirre of Detroit and right-handers Ralph Terry of the New York Yankees and Camilo Pascual of Minnesota shared honors among American League pitchers the official 1962 records released today revealed.

Aguirre, who became a full-fledged starting pitcher last season, won the earned run title with a 2.21 average. He yielded 53 earned runs in 216 innings while posting a 16-8 record.

Terry won the most games, 23, and was the circuit's workhorse with 299 innings pitched. He also yielded the most home runs, 40.

Pascual, who won 20 games, was the pace-setter in strikeouts, 206, and complete games, 18. He also shared the lead in shutouts with teammate Jim Kaat and Cleveland's Dick Donovan. Each had five.

Aguirre, who did not make his initial 1962 start until May 26, was primarily a reliever in each of his seven previous big league campaigns with Cleveland and Detroit. Last season, he posted two shutouts while capturing the ERA crown by a sizable margin.

Robin Roberts, the veteran righty who made a fine comeback with Baltimore, was runner-up to Aguirre with a 2.78 average.

Bears' Back Flips For Rams Passer

A flip flop through the air is the price Chicago Bears back Joe Fortunato (31) paid for attempt to break through to Los Angeles Rams quarterback Roman Gabriel (18) who holds ball as he looks for a pass receiver. Fortunato was blocked by Rams back Jon Arnett (26). Gabriel was tackled by other Bears rushing from his left before he could get pass off in second quarter in Chicago. The Bears won 30-14. LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Sports dialogue:
MIKE DOWDLE, linebacker for the Dallas Cowboys:
"The most important thing any rookie has to learn is to learn every move, every single little thing he has to do. Don't worry or think about what somebody else has got to do. Believe me it's all a rookie can do to learn his own job. Then after you know your own job, you can help someone else."

DUTCH HARRISON

JACK GARDNER, University of Utah basketball coach:
"The Chicago Zephyrs have missed my boy, Bill (The Hill) McGill. They've had him in the game for a minute or two and when he doesn't score, they yank him out. Here's the second highest scorer in the history of basketball and he doesn't get a chance to work at a strange position for him, forward. When you have a fellow who can score like McGill, you stay with him. I hope he's traded to the Warriors or the Lakers."

CURT GOWDY, play-by-play announcer for a television network:
"Football is the toughest sport to call. It demands so much concentration and mental arithmetic. Basketball is the easiest to call and not just because I played it. And there's a paradox for you — the fastest moving sports are the easiest to broadcast, so long as you follow the ball."

FRANK GIFFORD, star back for the New York Giants of the NFL:
"I had to get to know Y. A. Tittle. But he also had to become familiar with me. My moves are different from Del Shofner's, for instance, and it took some time for us to click. Chuck Conery used to let the ball go and lead you more. It was a soft pass. Tittle will hold onto it longer and then bang it at you. The ball is heavier and a little hard to handle."

PHIL WRIGLEY, owner of the Chicago Cubs, replying to a request by the National League to review his thinking on lighting up Wrigley Field for night baseball:
"We don't need lights in Wrigley Field, we need a contender. Several teams reported drops in attendance last season, including the Milwaukee Braves, who play night baseball. Walter O'Malley (of Los Angeles) has a lot of players sitting around who aren't doing anything. It Mr. O'Malley wants to part with some of his players perhaps we can see the light in the National league race."

DUTCH HARRISON, veteran pro golfer:
"Ben Hogan is the finest player I ever knew, but my buddy, Jimmy Demaret, could have been the greatest if he had worked harder. Hogan was one of the finest drivers and he hit more greens than anybody. He worked harder and was more determined than any other player. Demaret was something like me; he enjoyed himself out there. Of course, we both worked harder than it looked we were, but Demaret had every shot in the books... There's such a thing as thinking too much out there. Ralph Guldahl was the slowest player who ever lived and he didn't last long in pro golf. Dr. Cary Middlecoff should be in his prime right now, but he played so slow, and thought so much, that he didn't stay on top. Arnold Palmer is the best in the game right now, but this boy Nicklaus is a real gunner. Even with those small hands, Nicklaus can be the top man in two years if he learns to play a little faster — or he could think himself right out of the game."

CHESTER SMITH, Pittsburgh writer:
"The Phils' Bob Carpenter is sold on the baseball future of John Herreinstein, an outfielder who was a whale of a fullback at Michigan. And don't get the idea that football muscles may hold him back. I once sent three scouts to Purdue to look at an infielder who was also a football player. Carpenter adds, 'They all turned him down. Said Bill Skowron was musclebound.'"

Queens Grab 70-21 Win

HCJ's Jayhawk Queens made a smashing basketball debut here Monday night, turning back Odessa College by a score of 70-21. The Queens led at half time, 42-6.

Laura June Whitworth and Marie Putman each counted 15 points for HCJ while Brenda Cook had 14, Marilyn McCreavy 13 and Pat Saunders ten.

Baggerman tossed in seven for Odessa and Cheryl Moss six.

Starting guard for HCJ were Brenda Cook, Junction; Laura Whitworth, Rockspurs; and Marie Putman, Westbrook, forwards; and Pat Saunders, Garden City; Sue Parker, Garden City; and Janice Hudson, Monahan.

Marilyn McCreavy, Big Lake; Anita Thompson, Snyder; Anita Rees, Westbrook; Tanya Boatright, Westbrook; and Elaine Patterson, Andrews, also played for HCJ.

The Queens travel to Abilene Friday night to play the H-SU Cowgirls.

Valley Teams Riding High

By The Associated Press
Missouri Valley teams swept four games Monday night, dropping three teams from the unbeaten ranks and improved the conference's winning percentage to an amazing .920 in inter-sectional basketball competition.

The Valley scored the sweep although two of its best teams, top-ranked Cincinnati and Wichita, were idle. The league now has won 23 of 25 games against outside teams.

Drake's speed and backboard command was too much for Iowa State in a 74-52 victory. The passing and shooting of little Billy Hahn of Drake was a major factor. He had 13 points and Ray Quinn led with 16.

Bill Kusieka scored 26 points and James King 21 for Tulsa in its 85-79 victory over Florida, which had lost only one game.

St. Louis made it three victories in four games by taking control midway through the second half for a 65-58 victory over Iowa. Donnell Reid had 18 points for the Billikens. The Valley now has a 4-1 record against Big Ten foes.

Bradley had trouble but got by Murray State of Kentucky 79-78. Murray State, Iowa and Iowa State took their first defeats of the season. Bradley, Tulsa and Drake remained undefeated.

Cincy Retains Hold On Lead In AP Poll

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio State's flashy Buckeyes jumped right into the thick of contention for college basketball honors but Cincinnati's defending champions easily maintained their lofty station as the nation's No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll today.

As a matter of fact, it was a breeze for the unbeaten Bearcats, who received all but one of the votes cast by a panel of 45 sports writers and sportscasters. The lone first-place vote not garnered by Cincinnati went to the Duke Blue Devils, who were placed second for the second straight week.

Cincinnati gathered 449 out of a possible 450 points on a 10-9-9-7 basis with 44 firsts and one second. Duke piled up a sufficient number of second-place votes to beat out Ohio State for second place with 365 points to the Buckeyes' 212.

Ohio State, which rolled up its fourth straight victory Saturday with a 76-67 whipping of high-ranked West Virginia, was one of three newcomers to the top ten. The others were Colorado, the defending Big Eight champion, which burst into eighth place and Illinois of the Big Ten, which moved into tenth.

High-scoring Loyola of Chicago clung to its fourth place spot and Mississippi State, preseason co-favorite with Kentucky for the Southeastern Conference crown, remained fifth. West Virginia fell three pegs from third to sixth, Wisconsin skidded a notch to seventh and Oregon State fell two places to ninth.

Indiana, Kentucky and Wichita, which held the last three places in last week's top ten, fell out of the elite group altogether.

Cincinnati, with the same team that won the NCAA crown last year except for Paul Hogue, rolled over George Washington 86-59 Saturday for its fourth victory. Duke remained unbeaten, posting its third victory with a 92-56 rout of Maryland.

Mississippi State also boosted its record to 3-0 Saturday in a 79-56 romp over Northeast Louisiana. Wisconsin rebounded from its loss to Arizona last week with a 73-59 triumph over Texas Western. The Badgers are playing without 6-foot-6 Pat Richter, who is the ace end on Wisconsin's Rose Bowl-bound football team.

Oregon State, playing without Heisman Trophy winner Terry Baker, subdued Washington 57-45 Saturday and somewhat atoned for a 60-58 loss to Seattle the night before.

The records include games played Saturday, Dec. 8.

Runnels Quintets Sweep Twin Bill At S. Angelo

SAN ANGELO—Runnels ninth graders of Big Spring gathered steam in the second half to fall San Angelo Lee, 46-31, for their third straight victory here Monday evening.

Lee led at the end of the opening period, 14-9, but the Yearlings had pulled into a tie by half time, at 19-19.

Fine rebounding by Bobby

Baker and Joe Jaure helped turn the tide Big Spring's way.

Tony Saracho led the Big Spring scorers with 17 points while Jaure had 14 and Bobby Griffin ten.

Dennis Bowling tallied 12 for San Angelo.

Big Spring also won the eighth grade game, 32-31. The game was decided in overtime, Gary Rogers hitting three points in the extra period for the Yearlings, who are also unbeaten after three starts.

Rogers' final two points came on a field goal with 15 seconds to play, enabling the Yearling to come from behind.

Rogers also hit a free toss with ten seconds left in the regulation game to send the battle into overtime.

Ronnie Anderson paced the Big Spring scorers with 414 points. The same four teams meet in Big Spring Thursday evening.

Ninth graders:
BS RUNNELS (32)—Anderson 44-14; Rogers 3-9; Carver 2-3; Moore 6-3-1; Clifton 0-1; Totals 53-22.

Gotham Teams Agree To Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Nebraska and Miami were planning today to go ahead with the Gotham Bowl football game here next Saturday, even though all they are sure of getting out of it at this stage is the time of day.

Problems over financial arrangements for the teams, the lack of a television tie-up and a newspaper strike in New York that may doom the game to be played without a publicity buildup, cast a cloud over it.

Bob Curran, director of the game, refused comment on the financial problems, but said he had rented Yankee Stadium and ordered 125 wrist watches for the officials and players.

Nebraska Athletic Director Tippy Dye said he is confident the Bowl will meet its financial commitments and the game will go on.

It is planned for 11 a.m., EST. Curran's estimated attendance of 30,000 may be optimistic.

Last year's inaugural game between Utah State and Baylor drew less than 15,000.

Miami Athletic Director Jack Harding said he had been assured that a check for "approximately $30,000 would be placed in escrow by Wednesday, according to our agreement."

Dye has asked for a $35,000 deposit "because that's what our expenses will be."

Miami, as it has all year, will depend heavily on the passing of All-American George Mira, the flashy junior quarterback who led the team to a 7-3 mark.

Nebraska had an 8-2 season.

Stallard, Green Traded To Mets

BOSTON (AP)—Trade of pitcher Tracy Stallard and infielder Pumpkin Green to the New York Mets of the National League in exchange for utility player Felix Mantilla was announced today by the Red Sox.

Mantilla last year played both infield and outfield. He was obtained a year ago by the Mets in the draft to make up the New York team.

Prior to that he was with the Milwaukee Braves from 1956 through 1961.

Stallard was farmed out at the start of last season to the Red Sox major farm team, Seattle, and did not pitch for the Red Sox at all.

Green principally was used last season as a pinch hitter. His batting average was .231. He made eight hits in 35 times at bat as a pinch hitter.

Water Rate Is Clarified

COAHOMA — A rate quoted in a story about Coahoma's improved water situation has caused some confusion here.

The rate for Coahoma, Sand Springs and other customers of the Howard County Water and Improvement Control District No. 1 is $5 M per month minimum with all water in excess of 4,000 gallons going at 75 cents per thousand.

In the story, reference was made to a rate of $8.50 minimum, but this applies only to customers outside of the water district. The higher rate to customers outside of the district takes into consideration that residents inside the district pay an ad valorem tax in addition to their water charges.

Coahoma and Sand Springs first got relief from a tight water situation Dec. 3, 1955 when a 6-inch line from Big Spring to Coahoma was put into service. As the two communities grew rapidly this line became inadequate. Hence this year a parallel line, graduated from 12 to 10 to 8-in., was installed. In addition, a 250,000-gallon reservoir was supplied to take care of Coahoma during periods of peak demands. This supplemented an overhead 50,000-gallon reservoir already in use but which had become inadequate in times of heavy demand.

Forsan Students Tour Hospital

Thirteen English students from Forsan High School toured the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital today to get material for an essay on physically handicapped persons and their place in the community. Accompanying the group of eleventh graders was their teacher, Mrs. Ronnie Gandy.

V. J. Belda, hospital director, addressed the students on their arrival. He was assisted by Conrad Alexander, a personnel management specialist. They gave the students a history of employment of the handicapped and efforts now under way to educate communities and employers of the advantages of hiring handicapped persons.

The students were taken on a tour of the hospital after the discussion. Special emphasis was placed on therapies in the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service.

Chamber To Name New Directors

STANTON (SC) — The Martin County Chamber of Commerce will elect directors and select holidays for 1963 in an election Thursday.

Nominees for the board include Delbert Franklin, Jim Fryar, Bob Cain, O. C. Turner, Jimmy Wheeler and Paige Eiland. Three are to be elected.

Members will vote on closing for holidays, making selections from this list: New Year's Day, Jan. 1; Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12; Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22; Memorial Day, May 30; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, Sept. 2; Columbus Day, Oct. 14; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Christmas Day, Dec. 25.

Water Record

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesans have already used a record amount of water for a year and still have one more month to go. Consumption for 1962 is 655,081,000 gallons, well ahead of the record pace of 632,609,000 gallons set in 1906.

UF Meeting

Trustees of the United Fund were to meet at 5 p.m. today in the Chamber of Commerce offices to hear the final report on the annual campaign effort. Other business of the United Fund is also scheduled.

Rep. Mahon Requests Views On Cotton Program Changes

There are strong indications that some important changes may be made in the cotton program, and the most likely bet at the moment is that a trade incentive plan has the inside track.

This is the view expressed by Rep. George Mahon in a letter to his constituents. He said he was interested in the thinking of the people on cotton, also on feed grain. He said that he planned to meet with various farmers and farm groups to discuss farm problems before his return to Washington.

ACREAGE REDUCTION
The announced reduction of cotton acreage from about 18 million acres to around 16 million has disturbed cotton producers, he said. Rep. Mahon said he could not predict at this time whether the reduction would stand.

He enumerated factors which influence the view that some substantial change in the cotton legislation is in the offing. Among them is the increased percentage of the fiber market going to synthetic fibers, especially in the wake of an increase in the sup-

JESS SMITH'S RADISH Sixteen inches long, 5 1/4 pounds

Giant Radishes Are Firm, Hot

Jess Smith, who has a small place near Vealmoor, grows 'em big.

This week, he pulled up a mess of radishes from his garden that looked more like tree roots. Although most of them averaged about a foot long, one of the giants measured 16 inches and weighed 5 1/4 pounds.

"They're firm radishes," Smith said, "and hot." The radishes (which he calls "winter radishes") were planted last spring.

It isn't the first time he has had an unusually large crop.

Several years ago, he had a sweet potato that tipped the scales at 12 pounds, 12 ounces.

Smith has been a farmer all his life, but his "big" crops have come from the garden near his house.

Smith is one of the pioneer residents of this area. He came to Borden County with his family before the county was organized, in the fall of 1888. His father, C. P. Smith, helped survey and organize the county. In recent years, he has lived in Howard County, near Vealmoor.

Ramps Asked Again At Sand Springs

The Howard County Commissioners Court has again called upon highway officials (state and federal) for the construction of exit ramps off IS 20 at Sand Springs.

This facility has been requested several times, and has been given the endorsement of the District Highway Engineer at Abilene, J. C. Roberts, and sanctioned by the State Highway Department.

A letter, signed by all members of the Commissioners Court has just gone to Roberts, who said he will see that it is advanced through the proper channels. The letter reads:

"We would like to make another request for ramps to be constructed on the viaduct at Sand Springs, Howard County, Texas, on Interstate 20. We feel these ramps are needed due to the growth of the community. There is much inconvenience by not having such ramps and this is hindering the economy and progress of Sand Springs.

"In traveling Interstate 20, as far as we find, from here to Abilene and as far east as Fort Worth this is the only viaduct that does not have exits. We feel that Sand Springs is a growing and prosperous little city and because of this viaduct not having exits, that the people of this community as well as Howard County are being discriminated against.

"We will appreciate your doing what you can to remedy this situation as soon as possible."

Mrs. Stroud Dies Monday

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Lena Mae Stroud, 68, resident of Martin County since 1926, died at 11:20 a.m. Monday in a Stanton Hospital.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday from the Stanton Church of Christ with the minister, Tommy Williams, officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery under the direction of Arrington Funeral Home.

Mrs. Stroud was born June 5, 1894 at Cottontale. She was married to J. Penny Stroud at Springtown July 17, 1910.

Survivors include the husband; four sons, Weldon Stroud, Martin, Donald Stroud, Odessa, Wayne Stroud, Houston, Elmer Lee Stroud, Midland; five daughters, Mrs. Bonita Hart, Pecos, Mrs. Madge Daitwiler, Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Mary Ann, Williams, Denver City, Mrs. Ruth Holloway, Houston, Sue Stroud, Stanton; 13 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren; two brothers, John Fitzgerald and Jack Fitzgerald, Tip-top, Okla.

Statistics Dip

LAMESA (SC)—Vital statistics in Dawson County dipped sharply here in November after a couple of record-breaking months. Only 42 births and 17 deaths were logged last month, far behind the top mark of 84 and 16 for October.

Police Have Few Reports

Big Spring police logged a slim activity sheet during the past 24 hours.

Mrs. Harold Hicks, 1701 Scurry, told police her car had been side-swiped. Driver of the other car involved was not known. Inman Peterson Newsom, Vealmoor Rd., driver of one car, and a parked car owned by William Soliday Talbot, 703 W. 16th, were in collision at Seventeenth and Gregg. W. N. Myers, Texas and Pacific maintenance foreman, reported the theft of an engineer's transit, two steel tapes, and a snakebite kit from a truck on railroad property some time Monday. The glass to one door was broken and items taken from the seat of the truck and from the glove compartment.

Ronald Morrison, Webb AFB, reported the theft of a Christmas package from his car while parked in the 200 block of Runnels Monday afternoon. The package contained one roll of 35 mm color film.

Two tires were punctured on a car belonging to Joe Lerma, 307 N. Gregg, while it was parked at the L&M Cafe, 410 N. Bell.

To Help Organize Chaplain Service

Chaplain Clark O. Hitt, with the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, will go to Pecos Wednesday to assist with organization of a volunteer chaplain service in the County Hospital there.

He was asked by the Pecos Pastors Association to lend his assistance. Chaplain Hitt was one of the persons responsible for formation of a volunteer chaplain service at the four Big Spring private hospitals.

This will be the third time within the past year that Chaplain Hitt has been called upon to lead in this type of endeavor. Several months ago he assisted the Monahan Pastors Association with a similar project by stimulating interest through a talk entitled "The Doctor - Pastor Relationship."

School Choir Sets Concert Thursday

Members of the Senior High School Concert Choir will present their fall concert Thursday at 8 p.m. at the HCJC auditorium. The program carries no charge and the public is invited.

There will be three sections to the program, the first a series of religious numbers. The second is taken from the Romantic period and will feature Beethoven's "Egery," a little-known but striking work. The third section will be given over to a lighter type of music involving contemporary composers.

The program here will mark the beginning of a busy pre-holiday schedule for the choir, under the direction of Mel Ivry.

Services Held

DEAR ABBY

Reveal Fantasy
When It's Time

DEAR ABBY: At what age do you think a child should be told the truth about Santa Claus and the Easter bunny?

Our son is 8 and gets so much fun out of believing in these things, I hate to spoil the holidays for him by telling him the truth. My husband says we should tell him, and the sooner the better.

This became a problem when our son came home crying. He had told a playmate that "Santa" brought him his wagon, and his playmate made fun of him. We would like your opinion, and the opinion of others who have had to face this problem. Our son is an only child and came into our lives after we had been married 16 years and had given up all hope of having a child, so his happiness means the world to us.

BELIEVER'S MOTHER: Fairy tales should be identified as such and explained as soon as a child is wise enough to question their validity. Don't confuse your son by trying to preserve a fantasy which will be revealed later for what it is.

DEAR ABBY: How does one gracefully refuse an unwanted gift? I have received perfume, which I detest; cosmetics, which I do not use; and jewelry, which I never wear. It is almost as though people are mocking me. Year after year I get these stupid gifts and I would like to know how to tell people in advance that I would prefer cash.

FRANK AND HONEST DEAR FRANK: You CANNOT tell people that you "prefer" cash without being extremely rude. Gracefully accept whatever you receive, then give it to someone who will appreciate it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BARB: A lady is a woman who makes a man behave like a gentleman.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Continuance Is Granted In Banker's Case

LAREDO (AP) — Dist. Judge James Kazen granted a continuance Monday in the trial of bankrupt Zapata banker Manuel Medina, slated to make his second court appearance Dec. 17.

The delay was granted on a joint motion by defense and prosecution lawyers who said two members of the Medina family could not appear in court because of illness.

Kazen re-set the trial for the March term.

Medina, whose property was sold at public auction Saturday for $150,460, is accused of accepting deposits when he knew his private-owned bank was insolvent.

A jury convicted him last August on a similar charge and he was given a five-year suspended sentence.

The defendant testified the bank in the small South Texas community closed July 17, 1961, because it "ran out of money." He said he used up to $70,000 of the bank's money in grain speculation.

Other testimony disclosed that accounts of the Medina family were overdrawn by more than $231,000 at the time the bank closed.

Money from Saturday's auction will be used to pay creditors of the bank who lost an estimated $757,884. Sold were several tracts of land and gas and oil mineral leases belonging to Medina.

Film Preview

Donald D. Futrell, Commander of The American Legion in Midland, announces arrangements are complete for a preview showing of Columbia Picture's new documentary entitled, "We'll Bury You." The preview is to be at the Yucca Theatre in Midland Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. Civic, patriotic and service organizations are invited to have not more than three representatives at this free showing.

Powell Cancels

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor-director Dick Powell, under treatment for cancer of the throat and lymph gland, has canceled his television appearances for the rest of the 1962-63 season on his doctor's orders.

'Wine And Roses' Powerful Movie

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Despite its cherry title, "Wine and Roses" is anything but merry entertainment for the holiday season.

It is the screen's strongest temperance tract since "The Wet Parade" (MGM-1932). Yes, even stronger than "The Lost Weekend," which at least had some sober moments and a sprinkling of laughs.

"Wine and Roses" is an unrelenting downward slide of a modern couple ensnared in a purposeless existence. There is hope for one of them at the close, but the other seems unable to climb out of the bottle.

"We're a threesome," says Jack Lemmon to his wife, played by Lee Remick. "You, me and booze."

That just about sums up the plot.

GREAT ACTING

Then what makes the movie notable? The performances.

"Wine and Roses" may well supply the starring Oscar that has eluded Lemmon these past two years. He won as a supporting actor for "Mister Roberts" in 1955, but ran out of the money as star in "Some Like It Hot" and "The Apartment."

He is overdue. No American actor is more of a delight to watch; none is more versatile. In this film he is again the rising young executive, at odds with business morality, but he abandons any comedic tricks for sheer dramatics.

His descent into alcoholism is horrendous. He has the screaming D.T.'s in a violent ward. He writes strapped to a table in a drying-out room. But the most memorable scene in the film—and in recent times—is when he wrecks a hothouse full of flowers in search of a secreted bottle.

NO TRICKS

Not far behind Lemmon in the acting honors is Lee Remick, an accomplished, naturalistic actress who uses no tricks of personality. She is perfectly believable as the non-drinking girl who gets married and decides it is easier to drink along with her imbibing husband.

She is not given as many startling scenes and her motivations are poorly defined, but their degradation is starkly effective nonetheless.

What keeps "Wine and Roses" from achieving greatness is a lack of definition and over-all intent. Is it merely a tract? Then it succeeds. But if its creators were aiming at a commentary on modern morals, they accomplish this only fitfully.

Lemmon, a public relations man, grumbles about procuring party girls for a visiting potentate. Remick, his bored and neglected wife, complains that life up close looks dirty; she prefers a distant, wine-filtered view.

NO REAL POINT

But no real point is put across—except that heavy drinkers can help themselves if they will subscribe to the Alcoholics Anonymous theory of admitting that they are alcoholics.

Blake Edwards' direction lacks his usual sure hand in some sequences. Individual scenes are effective, but continuity is often jumpy. Henry Mancini supplies a properly muted score.

The title? It's from Ernest Dowson: "They are not long, the days of wine and roses, out of a misty dream our path emerges for a while, then closes within a dream."

Thief's Seen

DETROIT (AP)—Car 280, calling Car 280. Where are you? Policemen at Detroit's 2nd Precinct were asking this question today.

It seems Car 280, an unmarked vehicle, was stolen from the garage connected to the station house.

Two patrolmen said they saw a man in plain clothes drive the car out Sunday night.

"We thought he was an officer," they said.

Superman

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Bryan Johnson, 28, was dusting a pepper field when the engine of his plane failed.

The plane crashed into a row of pine trees, fell 40 feet and landed on its nose, pushing the engine into the cabin. Johnson was pinned against twisted metal.
