Fie On You, Nikita

Jack, the Mexican burro at the Baltimore zoo, takes a critical look at his first attempt at abstract art. Zoo Director Arthur Watson gave Jack his chance after Khrushchev said that one isn't able to tell if abstract painting is drawn by man or "smeared by the tail of a donkey." The painting, called "Black Whisk," was shown to art instructor Wilson Binchrik, who praised the painting. Watson plans more tail paintings for Jack after the summer fly season returns.

Nikita Hints U. S. 'Pledge' In Cuba, Sounds Warning

Will Continue Castro Support

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared today that if American pledges on Cuba are not fulfilled, "we will be compelled to take such actions as the situation requires of us."

He was speaking to the Supreme Soviet. The statement was made at the end of an hour of speaking in the great Kremlin hall during which the premier said the Soviet Union had demonstrated it could preserve peace.

"We will never leave revolutionary Cuba in trouble," Khrushchev said.

"We will defend the right of the Cuban people to pursue their bright future."

He paid credit to President Kennedy as having an interest in preserving peace in the Caribbean and said both were negotiating so that pledges on both sides would be kept.

It was then that he thundered out his warning that the pledges must be kept.

Khrushchev, referring to what he apparently meant by President Kennedy's "pledge," said the United States had promised "not to attack the republic of Cuba and to restrain its allies from doing so."

But despite the implied threat, the Khrushchev speech appeared to have a defensive tone. He remarked that there was no question of who won in the Cuban crisis, saying that "sanity and the cause of peace" were the winners.

Khrushchev's warning came after he had claimed the Soviet Union had prevented an attack on Cuba by "aggressive circles" of the United States to avert "the direct threat of a thermonuclear world war."

The Soviet leader, in a major foreign policy speech, called for "renunciation of war" among states as a means of settling international disputes (and) their solution through negotiations.

Khrushchev called the solution of the Caribbean crisis "a major victory for the policy of peace," but he repeatedly attacked "the aggressive circles of imperialism."

And in an obvious retort to the Chinese Communists, who critic the Soviet backdown in Cuba, Khrushchev asserted:

"Events have confirmed that the peace forces are able to overcome the most dangerous interna-

Bitter Weather Grips Huge Area Of Nation

By The Associated Press
Bitter, subzero cold gripped a huge area of the United States today and more snow fell over the Northeast.

Weather records for the date fell like ten pins. Winter officially is 10 days away.

And on this day of odd weather happenings in the creek in Hell, Mich., froze over.

The coldest reported reading was -23 at Mt. Pisgah, in the North Carolina Smoky Mountains. Mt. Mitchell, N.C., had -19. International Falls, Minn., and Huron, S.D., -18.

Hundreds of schools were closed because of cold or snow.

Insufferable travelers were marooned because of heavy snow in the Northeast and sections of the Midwest.

Snow fell in Jacksonville, Fla., and the Pensacola Naval Air Station had a low of 19 degrees. Freezing readings were common throughout Florida. South Miami had a low of 36 and Miami 45.

There was damage to winter vegetables in Florida, but the citrus crop appeared safe on this second day of freezing temperatures in the state.

In Columbus, Ohio a water main broke in the downtown section and businesses, stores, eating places and homes were without water for hours. Many schools were closed in the -1 temperature.

In the northeastern section of Ohio, an overnight snowfall of from 8 to 16 inches brought new frosts to hundreds of thousands of residents.

Temperature Here Is 18

The temperature dropped to a low of 18 degrees this morning, the coldest reading so far this winter as the cold blast hung on a second day.

The U. S. Experiment Station recorded the low mark and reported the temperature still stood at 20 degrees at 8 a.m. Forecast for today was a high reading of 43 degrees. The high mark Tuesday was 37.

Another hard freeze is expected tonight with a low of 22 degrees. A warming trend is predicted with a high reading Thursday of 53 degrees.

"We had no problems with city mains and pipes." Director of Public Works Bruce Dunn said Wednesday morning. "We were out for a couple of hours looking things over and found nothing. We thought we had a break at East Fourth and State but some water was coming from a sewer stoppage which was quickly remedied, although the overflow water froze on the pavement."

Office Economy Helps United Fund Reach Goal

For practical purposes, the 1962 United Fund has reached its goal. Although cash in pledges in hand ran $287 under the $103,324 goal, office economies had under-cut expenses by more than twice that amount.

Thus, trustees in a Tuesday evening meeting at the Chamber of Commerce conference room, applauded Dr. Lee O. Rogers and Jack Y. Smith, campaign chairman, and Andy Glenn, office manager, for a successful campaign.

All agencies will be paid in full on their budgeted amounts. Trustees made this one of the first orders of business.

Formal resolutions were adopted thanking Dr. Rogers, Smith and Glenn, together with others in key places, for their parts in the effort.

Dr. Rogers expressed appreciation to all who worked in the campaign. He had special praise for Smith, his co-chairman.

"Jack has really carried the load in this campaign," he declared. Smith made the final report and pointed out that savings in operation of the campaign office had more than offset the narrow margin by which the goal had been missed.

Trustees paused to pay their respects to a devoted worker for many years, the late Raymond River. A resolution was adopted memorializing his unstinted service in the United Fund ranks. The fact that the past year's campaign pledge shrinkage was attributed in a large part to his diligence in off-season collections. Marvin Miller, United Fund president, said that the annual meeting would be held probably late in February. He named a nominating committee headed by Douglas Orme to submit suggestions for 27 new trustees and for a slate of officers. Miller thanked the campaign leadership and the community, and he commended Webb AFB for an outstanding job.

CARL ROUNTREE

Carl Rountree, Ex-Solon, Dies

LAMESA (SC)—Carl Rountree, 69, prominent Lamesa attorney, businessman, and former member of the Texas legislature, died suddenly in a Lamesa hospital at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday. He had not been ill before going to the hospital about an hour before death.

Rountree was known as the "Dean of the Dawson County Bar." He was graduated of Cumberland Law School, Lebanon, Tenn. in 1913, and practiced law in Fort Worth before moving to Lamesa in 1924.

He was elected to the Texas legislature as representative in 1928; served on the board of directors of the Texas State Bar, and of the American Bar Association; authored a book, "Texas Law Simplified," in 1929; was a member of the Southwest Collection

Committee of the West Texas Museum Association of Texas Tech; chairman of the board of the Lamesa National Bank until about a year ago; former president of the Lamesa Federal Savings and Loan Association, and was secretary to the board; president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce for six consecutive terms, beginning in 1926, and was an active member of the Chamber of Commerce for 40 years, until his death; was charter president of the Lamesa Rotary Club and active member until his death; and was a trustee of the First Methodist Church.

Survivors include his widow, and one daughter, Mrs. Don Pierce, Duncan, Okla.

Funeral services are pending at Higginbotham Funeral Home.

Low Bid Tabulated For IS 20 Bypass

Low bid of $2,692,070 for the 4.3 miles of the west leg of the Interstate 20 bypass in Howard County was tabulated in Austin Tuesday by the Highway Commission. It was part of bids totaling $12,490,665 on various projects in Texas.

Low bidder on the Howard County work was by Parker and Parker, Odessa, and E. M. Bailey, Abilene, for work on IS 20 from two miles west of Big Spring to 4 mile east of US 87. This includes grading, structures, flexible base, paving and improvement to buildings and grounds. About $30,000-$40,000 of the bid is expected to go into two new residences for the US Department of Agriculture and for addition to the rear of the existing USDA office building.

An exact breakdown of the bid will not be available for about another week according to Joe Smoot, resident engineer here. Smoot said work on the bypass should begin in about 30-45 days. The bid calls for 400 working days on the project and it should be completed in the late summer or early fall of 1964.

Other projects on which low bids were tabulated, by county, included: Cooke-Interstate 35 from California St. in Gainesville to Denton County, 13.5 miles, signing and delineation, Highway Signs Inc., Norman, Okla., $76,855.

Jefferson-Interstate 10 from 4 miles east of US 69, 96 and 287 to west and south to College St. in Beaumont, 2.6 miles, roadway illumination system, cancelled.

Wirtz Calls For Help To Jobless

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz called today for greater federal efforts to provide productive jobs for those who, because of technological advances, are unemployed.

"If this smacks of some dark design to regulate the manpower structure, it should not," he said. Wirtz urged further legislation to meet this problem in a talk prepared for today's session of the American Farm Bureau Federation convention.

The labor official told the big farm organization that he was disturbed by statements made by Bureau President Charles B. Shuman in a speech Monday suggesting that organized labor is antagonistic to the interests of agriculture.

"My own strong impression is to the contrary," Wirtz said. "Surely those interests which unite American agriculture and American labor are much stronger than those which divide them."

Arguments Set On Oil Ruling

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Jack Roberts scheduled arguments today on his temporary restraining order stopping the Railroad Commission from enforcing its new statewide straight-hole well Rule 4.

Roberts issued the order Monday after the commission had given Tidewater Oil Co. permission to run a directional survey on a well of the L. & G. Oil Co. in Gregg County.

Tidewater sought permission to run the survey to determine where the well is bottomed.

In authorizing the Tidewater survey, the commission said the company would have to pay the entire cost of operation, including full liability for any damages which might result to the well. Also, a $25,000 bond was required.

Tidewater, in requesting the test, alleged that an inclination survey indicates that the bottom hole location from vertical could be 384.5 feet; that the surface location of the well was shown to be 331 feet from the west lease line; and that an old-undiscovered directional survey showed the bottom of the hole location to be six feet from the lease line.

Katanga Squeeze

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant calls on the United States, Britain and Belgium today to start applying an economic squeeze to the Congo's breakaway province of Katanga.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Militant women were expected to pack the House caucus' room again today at a hearing on Women Strike for Peace, a pacifist group.

SCIENTISTS GROW EXCITED AS MARINER NEARS VENUS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — As the weekend approaches, and with it Mariner II's Friday date to fly by the planet Venus, the builders of the spacecraft are not unlike youngsters anxiously awaiting Christmas.

Reason for the scientific anxiety is the possibility of new discoveries, coupled with the slight chance that Mariner still might fall from overheating.

Dr. William H. Pickering of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at nearby Pasadena, where Mariner II was built, told a Los Angeles news conference Tuesday that it may upset present concepts of what Venus is like.

If all goes well, the instrumented vehicle will speed past Venus at noon on Friday and will report back the planet's temperature, surface measurements and, if possible, data on the surface.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Mariner II today was 34,021,772 miles from the earth and 709,444 miles from Venus.

The radio signal is good.

Testimony Nears End In Herring Murder Trial

BEAUMONT (AP) — Lawyers indicated today that testimony in the kiss-and-kill murder trial of former high school football player John Mack Herring might end by tonight.

The Odessa teen-ager is on trial for the March 21, 1961, shotgun slaying of his schoolmate, Elizabeth Jean Williams, 17. He has admitted the slaying.

Both his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Herring, testified Tuesday. The youth shed tears for the first time during the trial as they testified.

The note named the defendant as the friend.

"I take upon myself all blame for there it lies, on me alone." It was dated March 20, 1961, the night before the shooting, and signed by the dead girl.

After objection by the state, the letter was admitted into evidence. Teachers, students, a neighbor and a psychiatrist also testified Tuesday that Herring was very popular and well liked.

The psychiatrist, Dr. Marvin Grace of Odessa, said Herring was definitely insane at the time of the shooting.

He said the youth was suffering from "gross stress reaction" brought on by the Williams girl's repeated plea for death.

Mike Ware, a former schoolmate of Herring, told the court the girl had repeatedly asked him to shoot her. He also quoted the girl as saying:

"Why...why?"

"Here's something for what it might be worth," the father quoted the boy as saying. He gave his father an open letter from the girl that was in young Herring's possession.

"I said: 'Rather than admit defeat, I'm going to beat a quick retreat into the no man's land of death. As I have only the will and not the fortitude necessary. A friend of mine, seeing how great is my torment, has graciously consented to look after the details.'

Oil Import Restriction Plea Is Seen

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Interstate Oil Compact Commission was expected to ask President Kennedy today to make further restrictions on oil imports.

A resolution on imports went before the final session of the annual meeting of the 33-state oil and gas conservation group.

Kennedy announced Nov. 30 a new imports control program for the first half of 1963.

The resolution is expected to commend the changes made but call for new provisions designed to stabilize the economy of the domestic petroleum industry.

Several of the changes in the 1963 order were in line with previous recommendations by the compact. Its officials have indicated, however, the new order needs strengthening in such areas as residual or heavy fuel oils. Current import quotas and the 1963 order do not apply to residuals.

Heads Oil Group

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Gov. Matthew Welsh, D-Ind., was elected chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission today.

Texas, National Votes For Quotas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas cotton farmers joined growers throughout the nation Tuesday in voting to keep the present marketing quota and price support program for the 1963 upland cotton crop.

Reds On Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. attorneys plan to call an FBI informer and a New York newsman today in the trial of the Communist party for refusing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

No Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., predicted today Congress will turn down President Kennedy's proposed 1963 tax cut unless it is accompanied by a promised reduction in spending.

GROUP GIFTS, AND ONE FROM OKINAWA, BOOST CHEER FUND

THE CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND moved along nicely today, thanks to some remembrances from old friends who are on the list every year, and to some unusual gestures by individuals and organizations.

The 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron Officers' Wives pitched in with a fine gift. So did another Sunday School class, and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Letter Carriers.

And from far-off Okinawa came another remembrance from Col. and Mrs. Charles H. Pierce, in memory of their late son, Bob, who finished high school here and who had regarded Big Spring as "home." The young man later met death in an automobile accident.

Col. Pierce was commander of the Pilot Training Group at Webb in 1956-58, and now commands a Base Wing on Okinawa.

The CHEER FUND means toys for poor children at Christmas, and its reserves are used to feed hungry kids during the year, when school teachers and public health officials report real need. You'd be surprised to know how great this need is. If you want to get into the real spirit of Christmas, send along your gift to The Herald — without delay. Make checks payable to the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

New Army Game Has 'Em Hung

LONDON (AP)—Britain's legal authorities admitted today that the new army game—getting out of the armed services by running for political office—had them momentarily stopped.
 The big question is how to halt legally the stampede.
 So far, 245 persons have registered as candidates for two vacant seats in the House of Commons. The vast majority are servicemen.
 Someone discovered that by running for Commons, a serviceman is automatically excused from further duty.
 The government decided to rush through a new law that would dam the deluge of armed forces candidates. But drafting the law isn't as easy as it sounded.
 The government has encountered legal complications. Some of its best legal brains have yet to find a solution to safeguard the interests of all.

Midlander Heads Baptist Board

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. L. L. Morriss, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Midland, is the new chairman of the Texas Baptist Executive Board.
 He was elected by acclamation as the 192-member board met here Tuesday.
 Dr. Morriss succeeds Dr. Owen White of Houston. Dr. White was elected recently as president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.
 Dr. J. Carroll Chadwick of Center was elected vice chairman.
 Those elected to vacancies included Rev. Ray Burchette Jr. of Hamilton and Rev. Henry Garber of Denison.

Oil Production Shows Net Gain

TULSA (AP)—An increase in Oklahoma and other states more than offset a decline in Texas to give U.S. oil production a net gain last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reports.
 Production last week averaged 7,333,450 barrels a day, up 12,475 from the previous week.
 Oklahoma output was up 25,200 barrels to 544,300 daily. New Mexico was up 2,000 to 301,800.
 Texas production declined 27,825 barrels a day to an average of 2,496,500, a drop due to continuation of an 8-day production pattern.
 Arkansas produced 75,000, Colorado 113,800 and Louisiana 1,370,700.

UNITY OF THE GODHEAD

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
 Church of Christ, 2906 West Highway 88
 Most of the verses used by those who deny the deity of Christ, simply declare either (1) his state of voluntary humiliation in being "made in the likeness of man" or (2) the unity of the Godhead (how Jesus acted and spake in accordance with the deeds and words of the Father). Having already noticed his humiliation, I refer to verses in the Watchtower tract which declare the unity of the Godhead, but which are wrongly used to disprove the deity of Christ:
 Jno. 12:44, 45, 49, 50; 13:16; 20:21, how the Father had sent him; Jno. 8:49, how he honored the Father; Jno. 5:25, 26, how the Father gave him authority over death; Jno. 8:28, how he did nothing without the Father, and spake only the words of the Father; Jno. 6:38, 39; 4:34; how he did not his own will but the will of the Father.

 Certainly, the Son was not God independent of the Father.
 Men seek to disprove the deity of Christ by proving his humanity and the unity of the Godhead. This is the best they can do.
 Welcome to our mid-week service tonight, 7:30. Bob Cates will preach on "The Christian Race."

Skybolt Scrapping Strains Alliance Of U.S., Britain

LONDON (AP) — The British-American alliance was put to one of its heaviest strains today by tentative plans of the U.S. Defense Department to scrap the Skybolt missile.

Britain has made plain that junking of the projected missile could lead to a reappraisal of British defense commitments, including the use of Holy Loch in Scotland for a U.S. Polaris submarine base, British informants said.

Reports from the conference Tuesday between U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and British Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft said a tough, blunt argument took place. The Daily Sketch described the meeting as one of the stormiest between ministers of the two governments.

"Mr. McNamara is under no illusions as to the British reaction to any cancellation of Skybolt," a British defense spokesman said.

The Laborite Daily Herald said Thorneycroft warned that abandoning the missile would threaten the British-American alliance as well as Britain's entire defense policy.

McNamara and Thorneycroft adjourned their conference to attend the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris opening Thursday.

President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan presumably will have to make the final decision about the Skybolt at their meeting in the Bahamas Dec. 19-20.

The Skybolt is an air-to-ground missile that has cost $650 million and had an unbroken string of failures in its first five test firings. It is designed for firing by a bomber standing off 1,000 miles from its target.

The Skybolt is the missile on which Britain counted to deliver British nuclear warheads from the mid-1960s on. Its abandonment would leave Britain's subsonic bombers without a nuclear weapon to deliver from a distance safe from supersonic enemy fighters.

Britain abandoned her own development of a Blue Streak missile because of the cost and agreed nearly three years ago to buy the Skybolt if the United States developed it. The agreement between Macmillan and Dwight D. Eisenhower, then president, included location of the Polaris base at Holy Loch.

The Skybolt originally was intended to extend the useful life of U.S. B52 and British Vulcan bombers until the family of intercontinental missiles is ready to take over the task of defense.

U.S. defense planners tentatively have decided to drop the Sky-

Tax Cut Not An Economic Cure-All

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
 AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Getting America going again, say many businessmen, is not nearly so easy a matter as merely cutting taxes.

Some, while they feel it must be done, doubt that it would pep things up much.

Others, while they feel it would indeed pep things up, question whether current budgets could stand it.

Interviews with businessmen and business economists across the nation found little agreement on the administration's reported plans to try to reduce taxes on personal and corporate incomes by $10 billion in 1963.

The Kennedy administration thesis is that cutting taxes will generate enough additional business activity to produce enough new tax revenue to replace cuts.

"I can't get it through my head," said H. O. Bercher, president of International Harvester in Chicago, "how you can get more money by cutting revenue."

There's general agreement in principle, however, that taxes are too high in relation to business activity.

Harvard economist John Lintner says, "present tax rates were fine for the days of the immediate post-war era when pent-up demand threatened to overheat the economy. Then, restraint was needed."

"The economy today," he adds, "is not characterized by excess money."

The case for cutting taxes in the lower brackets is less a matter of incentives and more a matter of expanding basic purchasing power. This is the area cited by the administration and most economists as offering the best lever for moving the economy.

"The great bulk of the people," said Howard M. Packard of A. C. Johnson and Co. of Racine, Wis., "have to scramble to make ends meet."

A Dallas banker said there is little doubt in his mind but that these people would spend almost every additional cent they would retain through tax reductions.

The Post economist William H. Shaw estimates, however, that only about half the money freed would be spent in 1963. Also, he said, higher social security taxes taking effect Jan. 1 would tend to mask much of the increase in available spending money. Thus, he doubts there would be a big immediate impact on the economy.

On the issue of cutting corporate income taxes, there is broad disagreement how the extra mon-

ABBY DALTON

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Little Gelatin Goes Long Way On Nails

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—"I think anyone can grow nails if they take enough gelatin," Abby Dalton declared. "I buy it by the pound from a health-food store, and I use four ounces of it every day to supplement my diet. When I was a model I used to carry gelatin capsules around with me and I think they kept me from getting tired."

Abby, who is a regular member of "The New Joey Bishop Show" on NBC-TV, weighs 115 pounds and is five-foot-six. According to weight charts she should weigh 130, but stays at 115 for photographic reasons.

"I don't go on crash diets any more. I value my health now that I almost lost it by dieting too strenuously. My big secret of weight control is eating large, well-balanced breakfasts. The food you eat in the morning won't make you fat because you have all day to burn up the calories."

"What did you eat this morning?" I asked as we chatted on the set.

"A large glass of grapefruit juice with a tablespoon of gelatin, four patties of sausage that can be cooked in water to remove the fat, one egg, whole-grained buttered toast and hot chocolate."

"Lunch will probably be steak, green salad and a piece of fresh fruit, but my dinner will be very light—maybe some homemade soup, cheese and rye crackers. I find it very good advice to eat like a king for breakfast, a prince for lunch and a pauper for dinner."

SENSIBLE DIET
Like Abby Dalton, Shirley Jones almost ruined her health with extreme dieting. She hopes to prevent others from making the same mistake and so she's offering her own leaflet—M-61, "Easy-to-Follow Sensible Diet," to Hollywood Beauty readers. For your copy send 10 cents and a self-addressed envelope to Lydia Lane, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California.

Nostalgic And So Nice The Pomander Ball

Remember the old-fashioned pomander balls? There is no nicer gift for the giving than a fanciful, fragrant globe of pomander.

Tedious to make, perhaps, but worth every minute of the time and trouble spent, for the pomander ball lasts for years. Too, it has a deliciously spicy scent to both clothes and linen closets. It can be ribboned for hanging on clothes hangers or suspending from hooks.

POMANDER BALL
1 thin-skinned orange
1 to 2 boxes whole cloves
3 tsp. cinnamon
3 tsp. powdered arrowroot or acacia
1 sheet saran, about 18 in. sq. Ribbon or gold cord for bow.
Wash orange and dry. Start at the stem end and insert row after row of whole cloves, putting them as close together as you can until the orange is completely covered (you may make holes for them with a toothpick—it's a little easier).

Then roll in the cinnamon and arrowroot or acacia, which have been mixed together. Wrap in saran and let stand two weeks, dust off the powder and then tie up with ribbon or that elegant gold cord as a package, leaving a loop to hang it by.

DEAR ABBY

They Probably Were Led On

DEAR ABBY: I am an elderly widow. My brother (37) recently lost his fine wife, so I am keeping house for him and his two children. My brother is young enough to find another good woman to be his wife and raise his children. The problem: The married women in this town don't leave him alone. Supposedly respectable married women, living with their husbands, have called him up at two in the morning and begged him to meet them somewhere. I couldn't believe it until he had me listen in on the extension. Four of them are on his trail. How can a decent man find a decent single woman when the married ones throw themselves at him?

CONCERNED SISTER

DEAR CONCERNED: No woman will call a man at two in the morning and beg him to meet her somewhere unless she has had some encouragement. (One might, but not four!) There are plenty of decent widows and single women around. Your brother hasn't been looking in the right places.

DEAR ABBY: In the first place, when I call my doctor for an appointment, his office girl has to know it all. I realize she must know how much time to save for the appointment. But I have a ten-party line and do you think I want the whole neighborhood knowing my trouble? When I went to his office, the nurse gave me a shot and a bill for $9.50. I never even got to see the doctor. Are nurses doctors now?

DEAR DISGUSTED: Nurses are not doctors. They only follow the doctor's instructions. Some nurses are more expert at giving shots than doctors because they get more practice. Next time, if you want to see the doctor, speak up in his office. Don't needle him behind his back.

DEAR ABBY: After a seven-year courtship, the girl I love has told me she would like to be "friends." Her reason is that she doesn't think she is in love with me. Abby, I practically supported that girl. I paid a dentist $800 to fix her teeth. (She needed dentures.) I paid I don't know how many bills for her. I got her father out of jail and set her brother up in business. I proved my love for this girl in a thousand ways, and now she offers me her "friendship." Doesn't she owe me marriage? How can I get her to change her mind?

DEAR RON: You can't. And don't try too hard or you might succeed. A fellow who has to get down on his knees and beg a girl to marry him is lucky if he gets turned down. She owes you plenty but marriage as a "pay off" would be bad for both of you.

DEAR ABBY: With holiday time drawing near, please warn your readers to be careful when buying Christmas cards. Last year I bought fifty pretty, colorful little Christmas cards and mailed them to my friends. I later discovered the verse inside read:

"This little card has come to say
A gift from me is on the way!
Best Wishes,
"HORRIFIED"

DEAR ABBY: My husband swears all the time. I have scolded, begged, shamed and nagged, but he still swears. Our children are getting to an age where they imitate him. Any suggestions will be appreciated.

VAN'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Put a "swear box" in your kitchen, and every time your husband swears, make him put a quarter in the box. Or suggest that he substitute the name of a flower for every swear word he uses. Such as, "Where is that rhododendron dahlia newspaper?" Or, "Oh, hyacinth. Man! He struck out again!" If it can work in a sorority house, it can work in yours.

Multi-Level Streets Okayed

DALLAS (AP) — City councilmen have sanctioned the idea of streets over and under the Dallas business district.

They approved an agreement to let the Dallas, Texas Corp., a downtown development group, use overhead and underground public space for trafficways in a six-block area.

The broad concept of the plan, developed at Columbia University and announced last spring, would create pedestrian walkways above the present street level and a landscape one-acre central plaza.

At street level, light vehicle traffic, including cabs and city buses, would be permitted.

At the first underground level, big parking plazas would be created; and the lowest sub-surface level would accommodate the delivery trucks and heavy vehicles ordinarily restricted to downtown alleys.

The pilot downtown area to be developed by the group is bounded by Elm, Lamar, Commerce, Murphy and Field. It contains about 10 acres.

Students Protest Play's Closing

WACO (AP) — Baylor's student congress has taken exception to the shutting down of the Baylor Theater's production of a "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

The production was stopped on orders from university president Abner McCall, who said he received many complaints from people on and off the Baptist school campus.

"It is felt the language of the play is not in keeping with the university's ideals," McCall said. The Baylor Student Congress went on record 27-4 as "objecting strenuously to what we consider unjustified interference in the educational process."

The resolution said the closing of the Eugene O'Neill play had embarrassed the student body and "raised a storm of protest from virtually every quarter in the student world at Baylor."

Polite Bandit

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A finance company manager told police he was robbed at gun point by two bandits, one of whom politely removed a cigar from the manager's mouth after tying him up.

Wayne Graham, the manager, said he had a cigar in his mouth as he lay on the floor. At his request, one of the bandits removed the cigar.

Graham said the men fled with about $100.

BIG SPRING HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR TO PRESENT CONCERT THURSDAY Singers will premiere Beethoven's eloquent "Elegy" in this area

Parkway To Be Maintained

Shrubs and trees in the parkway on Washington Blvd. will not be eliminated, City Manager Larry Crow told the city commission Tuesday night. "We are considering plans to eliminate weeds and simplify maintenance," he pointed out. "but we will discuss such plans before anything is done."

Students To Stage Beethoven Work

In 1814 Ludwig von Beethoven composed a brief choral in memory of the wife of an intimate friend, Pasqualati. An eloquent work, Elegy has been overshadowed by the grandiose creations of Beethoven and overlooked even by most professional musicians.

Enforcement To Be Increased

A plan for increased traffic enforcement was approved by the city commission Tuesday night and Police Chief Jay Banks was authorized to purchase a new radar unit to implement the program.

County Jury Docket Down By 10 Cases

Ten cases were erased from the Howard County Criminal Court docket Tuesday and only one involved a jury trial.

County Farmers Vote For Price Supports

Thirteen per cent of Howard County's producers and landlords turned out in Tuesday's cotton referendum and approved cotton quotas for 1963, according to John G. Hammack Jr., manager for the Howard County Agricultural and Stabilization office.

With approval of quotas, farms within the allotments are eligible for price supports at a level between 65 per cent and 90 per cent of parity. Farmers who overplant acreage to cotton will be penalized.

support at 50 per cent of parity and over-planted farms would not have been eligible for supports. Producers, landlords and their spouses were eligible to cast ballots. No breakdown was available on the number of spouses casting their votes or on the percentage of Howard County acreage represented by the votes.

Bids Accepted On Two Fire Trucks, New Radio Network

The Big Spring City Commission purchased two new booster fire trucks during the meeting Tuesday night and approved a bid on a radio network for the public works department.

The two truck chassis, to support equipment for 750-gallon capacity, will be purchased from Driver Truck and Implement Co. of Big Spring for $11,338. The two booster apparatus will come from Howe Fire Apparatus Co., Amario, at a cost of $13,472.

A new radio network for the public works department was approved and bids accepted, subject to two conditions. The Motorola Corp. was low bidder. Price of the new station, including base station, two office consoles, antenna, and eight mobile units, with trades-in of eight old mobile units, was $4,691.

Ducats On Sale For Ball Game

Tickets for the benefit football game, to be played Friday night at Memorial Stadium, are on sale at the police department, Wagon Wheel Restaurant, 66 Cafe, all Toby's Drive-in Grocery stores, by all police personnel, and by members of the Fighter Interceptor Squadron of Webb Air Force Base.

Howard County will pay $5,000 of the cost, to secure 750-gallon boosters instead of 500-gallon. The larger sizes will provide better out-of-city fire protection.

The FCC has ordered the public works department separated from the law enforcement radio network and the city commission feels that approval of the new station will come soon.

Ford Merritt Named Manager At C-City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Ford Merritt, 59, veteran city employee was appointed city manager by the Colorado City Council Monday night at the council's regular meeting.

Merritt is a native of Colorado City and a graduate of Colorado City schools. He has been a city employee 25 years, has served as city finance director 12 years, and has been acting city manager for the past two months, following the resignation of Earl Keaton.

His salary was set at $7,200 per year, plus an automobile expense account of $600 per year.

In other action, the council, discussed the possible opening of the 2200 block of Vine and paving the 2200 block of Austin. Both blocks adjoin property owned by the Fifth and Elm Street Church of Christ, the proposed site of a new building. Merritt and councilmen who had visited the site reported that opening the 2200 block of Vine would form a channel for water from Interstate 20 to the residential area bordered by 22nd Street and recommended further study before opening the block. The 2200 block of Austin is already a channel for runoff water from the area of the big bypass, Merritt reported.

The council voted to donate next week's parking meter receipts to the United Fund.

The possibility of changing parallel parking on downtown Second Street to angle parking was talked. With highway traffic shifted from Second Street to the bypass around Colorado City, businessmen feel that angle parking might be feasible and would make it easier for downtown shoppers.

Councils voted to continue patrolman E. L. Latham at full salary for 30 days. Latham suffered a heart attack several weeks ago, but will be able to return to duty in about a month.

The total deviated wells, by field, is: East Texas, 214; Hawkins, 22, and one each in Coke, Danville, Manziel, Quitman, Hobson, Ganado and Yarborough-Al-

Complexion Of Texas Delegation Has Changed

By CLAYTON HICKERSON DALLAS (AP)—When the 88th Congress convenes Jan. 8, Speaker John McCormack (D-Mass.) will look on the floor and see little new from Texas to make him happy.

Neither of the two new members from Texas will do much to push some administration bills through the House of Representatives.

One is a Republican, Ed Foreman of Odessa, from the West Texas oil fields.

The other is a new Democratic congressman-at-large, Joe Pool, Dallas lawyer-manufacturer and veteran—though often losing—campaigner. He says he is a "constructive conservative."

Foreman, who looks like and acts like a Rotary Club leader and Chamber of Commerce pusher and is both, defeated Rep. J. T. Rutherford.

Pool whipped Desmond Barry, Houston Republican who ran in the GOP primary as an anti-labor man and worked labor in the general election. Pool won by nearly 200,000 votes although losing his home county of Dallas.

CONSERVATISM

Foreman won after tardy disclosure of a Billie Sol Estes campaign gift to Rutherford, but he maintains this was not his chief reason for election.

"It was a clear cut victory of conservatism over New frontierism," said Foreman. "The defeated incumbent voted to pack the House Rules Committee and switched his vote to favor the administration's compromise farm bill."

"We had a winning campaign going a long time before Billie Sol Estes was known outside Pecos or Washington."

Foreman said 1,000 persons from all walks of life volunteered time and money for his campaign.

Campaigning in everything from a Model T Ford to a helicopter, Foreman stuck to straight Republicanism and ran as a member of the GOP making no effort to hide his party affiliation in strongly Democratic Texas.

GOP PICTURES

His literature used a picture in which he posed with House Republican leaders Charles Halleck and Leslie Arends.

His platform called for preservation of states' rights, a firm foreign policy, federal economy including reduced foreign aid, powerful national security, reduction of the national debt, right-to-work laws which forbid closed shops, free competition under private enterprise, local medical care and what he called a "market-controlled economy" for the farmer.

The young Odessa oilman campaigned in all 19 counties of his 18th Congressional District. He even made a speech at Mentone, population 110 and county seat of Loving County which has a total population of 226. He lost Loving County 36 to 38, but won the district to unseat Rutherford 44,085 to 37,821.

So administration leaders can expect little or no help from Foreman, named Odessa's outstanding young man in 1960. He has said he will work for a law to curb imports of petroleum products and elimination of many federal controls over the oil and gas industry.

ROCKY ROAD

The road to Congress was a long and rocky one for Pool, 51, who lived nearly all his life in Dallas.

Pool served in the Texas Legislature from 1952 to 1956. He was co-author of the Trinity River Authority bill, had a large hand in the state's corporation code, authored a bill that outlawed and horror comic books and co-sponsored several insurance law reforms.

After three terms in the legislature, Pool twice lost races for Congress—once in the Democratic primary to Barefoot Sanders, now U.S. attorney for North Texas, again in the general election to incumbent Bruce Alger, Dallas Republican. Then he ran for the Dallas City Council, and again lost.

He won the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large in a runoff over El Paso County Judge Woodrow Bean, Bean, who called himself a "Democrat in the Rayburn tradition" and ran as an outright liberal, became embroiled with the Internal Revenue Service during the campaign for not having filed income tax reports for 10 years. Pool won handily.

FINALLY CAUGHT ON

He used less than $5,000 in his statewide campaign against Republican Barry, was a three-time loser and lost his home county. But somehow his stolid plugging for votes, calm personality and "constructive conservative" platform caught on with Texas voters.

"It was the happiest moment of my life," Pool said in jubilant tones a few nights after the election. "But I thought all along I could win."

At least some Dallas leaders who failed to go all out for Pool in the campaign now seek to claim him as the county's "second congressman" along with Republican Alger. Pool is agreeable, to a certain extent. But he also has been traveling over the state and getting the views and hearing the problems of other areas since his election.

"I will cooperate with the congressmen who are against giving American foreign aid to any country that is even nice to the Russians," he said.

"I will cooperate with congressmen from every district of Texas, whether they are Democrats or Republicans, in matters vital to the best interest of their districts and Texas as a whole."

FEDERAL CENTER

Pool also has assured the Dallas leaders that he will work hard for their long delayed federal center, that "I will cooperate and give my utmost in pushing the Trinity (River canalization) project" and will do all he can for Big D, despite the fact his home town voted against him.

The federal center is a $26 million project which long has been authorized but for which Congress has appropriated no funds. Alger contends that Democrat-controlled Congresses blocked funds as political reprisal against him, even though the Budget Bureau in the Eisenhower administration recommended appropriation of the money.

Now Alger says: "The Democrats have been saying for years that they could get the job done if they could get rid of me. Now they've got Joe Pool coming up here, and he's going to have a chance to carry out their promises."

"I'm going to let him take over leadership in the fight for some of these Dallas projects, such as the federal building, to see what he can do. I don't think President Kennedy is going to deal with a conservative Democrat."

POOL'S ANSWER

And Pool says: "I'm probably more conservative than liberal, but I'll support the Kennedy administration when I think they're right. I'll be against 'em when I think they're wrong."

On medicare, the new congressman-elect said: "I used to be against social security, but I've changed my mind. It does provide for many who otherwise would be in a bad situation, and so I hope we can come up with something to prevent financial hardships on those who face serious and prolonged sickness in their old age."

Neighbors Aid Stricken Family

LUMBERTON, Miss. (AP)—Bob and Elaine Alford and their four small grandchildren have a new home today—thanks to the kindness of their neighbors.

Last week, one of the children threw a lighted match into a wastebasket, and the Alford house burned to the ground. Residents of Lumberton pitched in Saturday to build and furnish the new home for Alford, a crippled Negro who formerly worked in a sawmill.

Lyndon Sees Big Growth From Space Technology

FORT WORTH (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson predicted today that the region from Georgia's east coast to the west edge of Arizona will get most of the growth stemming from space age technology.

He said Texas will emerge within 50 years as one of the world's major centers of industrial, economic and social leadership.

Johnson, ending a two-day visit in North Texas, appeared at Arlington State College. He spoke Tuesday night at a Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce dinner.

"The first Americans to reach the moon will, when they return to earth, land at Houston," he told Arlington State students.

Johnson asserted that the Peace Corps provided one of the great satisfactions of his public life.

Side trips by helicopter also are on the schedule before Johnson and his wife return in mid-afternoon to Austin. There they will attend a dinner in honor of retiring Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel tonight.

"We can believe, at this moment in history, that the revolution of freedom which began in this land is the tide of the future—a tide still running, a tide which will bring the ultimate triumph of freedom everywhere before this century comes to an end," he told his dinner audience of 1,000 Tuesday night.

"Where the Communist bloc is surrounded by enemies, we of the United States can count as our blessing that we are surrounded by friends."

Johnson said he did not know what the meaning of recent events will ultimately be but the Cuban crisis marked a turning point in the destiny of this republic.

"Recent events," he said, "leave no doubt about two crucial points:

"First, there is no doubt that the assumptions of Communist strategy—about the eventual collapse of the ability or will in the West—have been proved failures.

"Secondly, at the same time, the concept, purposes, and conduct of the policies of the West—initiated by the United States—have been proved correct."

Kennedy To Hold News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 4 p.m. EST today, his first session with reporters since Nov. 20.

The White House said Tuesday two television networks, the American Broadcasting Co. and the National Broadcasting Co., plan to carry the conference live. It will be carried live on radio by ABC, NBC, the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Mutual Broadcasting System.

CBS plans to televise a filmed recording of the conference at 3 p.m. EST.

NORRIS C. CAMPBELL

Nurses To Hear Dr. Campbell

Nurses at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital will hear Dr. Norris C. Campbell, director of counselor preparation at Abilene Christian College, during an in-service educational session Thursday.

Dr. Campbell will speak on "Two Aspects of Love," a topic which is directly associated with counseling. The training session will be held at 3 p.m. in the recreation hall on the second floor of the hospital.

Dr. Campbell was born March 6, 1920 at Lohn and received a bachelor and master's degree from Abilene Christian College. He received his doctorate in education counseling and guidance from the University of Colorado in 1959.

He has been a minister for various Churches of Christ, both full-time and part-time, before joining the ACC staff. Dr. Campbell will return to Big Spring next year as guest speaker during an in-service training session for administrative personnel.

Red Scientist Held As Spy

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has charged that British and American intelligence services have wormed their way into its central science administration. A Russian scientific worker has been arrested on charges of selling secret material.

The Russian, O. V. Penkovsky, had been working for British and American intelligence since last year. Tass news agency said Tuesday night, and had an elaborate set of spy equipment in his possession when Soviet security agents seized him.

Diplomatic sources said Penkovsky was head of the foreign department of the Soviet State Committee on Coordination of Scientific Research.

Y Club To Get Official Charter

The Big Spring Y's Men's Club will be the first such organization in West Texas to be chartered, according to Francis Flint, general secretary of the YMCA.

Membership now stands at 22. A minimum of 20 is required to be chartered by the national association. The Amarillo Y's Men's Club will be the sponsor for the local group.

Chartering will take place some time during YMCA Week, Jan. 20-27, 1963. The club meets regularly at 6:30 p.m. each Thursday.

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Banking Board chartered banks in Harris County and Denton and denied charter applications by Plano and Breckenridge groups Tuesday.

A Devotional For The Day

Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end. (Isaiah 9:7.)
PRAYER: Eternal Lord, help us to sense Thy redeeming love for the whole of mankind. In our hearts instill understanding and goodwill toward those about us. Rid us of rancor, intolerance, and pettiness that through our lives Thy name may be glorified and Thy kingdom of love reach its fulfillment. We ask in Jesus' name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

A Good Starting Point

The Gregg County grand jury Tuesday returned 209 indictments growing out of charges of slant well drilling in East Texas. These were in addition to 71 returned in October.
 The complete list of those named in the indictments was not available immediately, but several of them were among 17 indicted a couple of months ago.
 The Texas Railroad Commission reported that so far it has four 243 slanted holes in the fields. By some estimates, as much as a billion dollars in oil has been thus stolen out from under the land and leases of rightful owners within the past 12 years.
 The returning of indictments does not necessarily mean that convictions will result. The first trials may be slow and tedious to establish a legal pattern. Then if convictions are obtained, a bevy of guilty pleas may follow. If not, there will be a lot of cases fit fodder for dismissal.

But there has to be a starting point in this repugnant business, and the indictments constitute the logical point. The Gregg County Grand Jury is to be commended on tackling its job in a forthright manner and working hard so that justice will at least have a chance to prevail.

Strange Brand Of Truth

Attending Columbia University in New York is so expensive that one student eats nothing but gruel. Another begs for pennies by selling magazines.
 This is the picture concerning the cost of higher education as given to readers of the newspaper Trud (truth) of Moscow by its Tass correspondent, V. Pogashev.
 He quoted the director of Columbia news as saying that a majority of Columbia students worked during their school days. He pegged tuition in engineering and medicine at $1,700 per year, and in architecture and journalism at $1,650 (without saying they were graduate programs or how many students had scholarships). Many had loans from the federal government which had to be repaid with interest after they graduate (but he neglected to cite the low rate of interest and repayment which do not start for several years). Regarding the report that a student ate nothing but gruel, he said "some one" told him of "begging for pennies" by selling magazines (not that some people don't reap pretty good dividends as real go-getters in selling magazines).

 It all adds up to a fair example of the type of distorted and slanted news which is dished up to Russians as the truth. It would be laughable if perversion of the truth weren't so repulsive.

'Equal Rights' Under The Tax Laws

WASHINGTON — "Equal rights for all" probably would get the highest percentage of public approval ever recorded in any Gallup Poll because theoretically everybody is for the principle. But, actually, nobody connected with government today really believes in the idea when dealing with the tax life of the nation.

If, for instance, you are efficient, resourceful and enterprising, you pay considerably more taxes than if you are incompetent, inefficient and lazy.

IF YOU GIVE away your money when you are still living, you can avoid heavy taxes that otherwise your estate would have to pay when you die.

If you entertain someone at lunch who may buy goods or services from you, a deduction from taxes is authorized, but if you take a man out to lunch who might be able to help you locate a job, or even give you one, this isn't a business expense at all in the eyes of present-day law.

IF YOU TRAVEL for your company on business, the company is entitled to tax deductions for your expenses, but if you travel every day 50 miles to and from your home in the suburbs and your office in the city, you do this at your own expense and get no tax deductions for it.

Nobody is justified in cheating the government by violating the tax laws, but there's a difference between evasion and avoidance. You can legally avoid taxes but you can't legally evade them.

IT MIGHT BE thought that equality can be achieved merely by assuming that everybody is honest and by assuming, too, that the Treasury Department also is always honest when it writes tax regulations interpreting the law—though the courts for years have been struggling to find out when a regulation is really a fair interpretation of what congress wrote into law.

But what is a fair tax law? Books galore have been written on the subject and many legislators have conscientiously struggled with the dilemma for decades. It may come as a surprise to the younger generation of today, but before 1913 it wasn't constitutional to levy any federal income tax at all. Yet the nation made wonderful strides in the 137 years between 1776 and 1913.

YET THE present system of taxation—federal, state and city—is inequitable and unfair to many people, and everyone who knows taxation concedes it. "Equal rights for all" seems to disappear when you consider that, by living in one state, you avoid certain taxes which you would have to pay in another.

"Discrimination!" is the accusation flung these days at any violation of "equal rights," as in housing or in the use of public facilities. Much is heard

What's Happened To Santa Claus?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here's President Kennedy, getting set for his Florida holidays and may be hoping Santa Claus will be nice to him, when up pop Rep. Wilbur Mills and Sen. Harry Byrd, both of them anti-Santa Claus.

JUST A FEW months ago Kennedy promised a 1963 tax cut for people and corporations to perk up the economy. This week Mills said he can't see any excuse for it and doesn't think the economy has been deteriorating.

For Mills to say this was almost like shooting the old gentleman in the red suit just as he got one foot down the chimney. It also created a problem for Kennedy which he didn't solve in 1962 and may not solve next year.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat, is chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee which originates all tax legislation.

It WAS THIS group, where Democrats outnumber Republicans 15 to 10, which this year bottled up Kennedy's program of medical care for the aged. Mills was against it. He, more than any man, frustrated Kennedy on this one.

And Byrd, Virginia Democrat

and chairman of the Senate's Finance Committee, says he is against a tax cut so long as government spending exceeds its income. A tax cut might make the deficit greater, at least for a while.

Byrd, who didn't support Kennedy in the 1960 presidential campaign, has opposed many of his programs. Because of his position as chairman of the Finance Committee he is a formidable opponent.

YET, KENNEDY has treated both Mills and Byrd very gently. His gentleness, however, has not been particularly persuasive, although Mills did help him out on other programs.

Kennedy has received a lot of support for his tax-cut proposal, inside and outside his administration. He was backed quickly by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and Walter Heller, chairman of his Council of Economic Advisers.

The AFL-CIO wants a tax cut next year, just as it did this year. And the highly conservative U.S. Chamber of Commerce wants a cut. So did Kennedy's Labor-Management Advisory Committee.

Kennedy, unless he decides on an entirely new political strategy, will probably handle Mills and Byrd next year just as he did in the past: no visible arm-twisting, no name-calling.

THIS ALL seems to fit in with either the President's way of life or his idea of running the presidency: Avoid making individual enemies or group enemies, if at all possible.

There is a limit to how much this nice and delicate approach to politics will pay off if pursued indefinitely. Kennedy, from all appearances, plans to run for reelection in 1964.

He's going to have to go to the voters with some solid legislative performances, particularly those he made the most to do about, like medical care and a tax cut.

IF HE gets neither before the 1964 elections he can't complain to the voters that the Republicans blocked him. His Democrats so outnumber the Republicans in Congress they could push anything through if they stuck together.

BUT THEY haven't stuck together. Mills and Byrd are prime examples of that.

A Cat At Christmastide

NEW YORK (AP)—They say Christmas is for kids.

But it is also a great time for cats.

In our house the cat we belong to seems to get more downright enjoyment out of Christmas than people.

During most of the year I have a secret guilty feeling that our cat, Lady Dottie, is somewhat cheated by life. She spends her time, except for a brief stroll in the corridor early in the morning and late at night, cooped up in our apartment.

It is a big deal for her when a daring, high-flying sparrow lights on the window ledge of our eighth-floor apartment, and flirts its wings saucily. Then Lady Dottie is suddenly transformed from a sedate old maid into a maddened beatnik.

She loses all her ordinary poise and alights and beats at the window wildly until the sparrow shrugs its feathers as if to say—"Well, it takes all kinds to make a world"—and flies away.

Outside of these occasional adventures with sparrows, Lady Dottie derives her greatest thrill from Christmas.

It turns her from a cool, plush sophisticate into a gawky, wide-eyed kitten.

Like a child at Christmas, she won't let you hide anything from her. She is into everything.

She races to the door when the mailman or delivery man comes. She snoops and sniffs at every package. She tried to undo the strings with busy paws.

"Why don't you grow up, Lady Dottie?" I tell her. "After all, you're getting along in years. Why don't you act your age?"

Lady Dottie pays no attention at all. Christmas makes her feel young, and she has an idea that the whole worldwide yuletide pageant is put on exclusively for her benefit.

One of her great joys when we open a box. She leaps into it, bats the crinkly paper around to hear the sound, then lies down and turns on the inside motor of her delight and emits a mighty purr.

But her happiness reaches a zenith when we put up our two Christmas trees, and turn on the lights. We usually decorate two trees, a tall live one green with needles, and a small artificial tree with aluminum branches that someone gave us years ago.

Lady Dottie watches gravely as we put each ornament into place, interrupting us now and then to nibble tentatively at a green branch or an aluminum needle.

When the job is finally completed and the children down the hall come in to inspect it, Lady Dottie leads them on proud feet from one tree to the other, as if to say:

"See what I did?"

At the end of the season, as I take down the decorations, Lady Dottie watches me with sad, reproachful eyes, and I have the weird feeling that I am in some way hurting the idealism of a small child.

Diet Not Cure For High Blood Pressure

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
 Dear Dr. Molner: What food should be avoided by a person with high blood pressure?—Mrs. M. F.

Food doesn't cause high blood pressure. Changing your diet won't prevent or correct it.

There may be special instances in which some change is helpful. The doctor may urge that you cut down on salt, because it encourages the undesirable accumulation of fluid in the body.

Or if the action of the kidneys is impaired, as sometimes occurs with the condition, it may be wise to reduce the amount of protein. The damaged kidneys have trouble removing nitrogen wastes.

If overweight, then a low calorie diet, simply for the purpose of reducing, is advisable.

None of these—except a reducing diet if necessary—will prevent high blood pressure.

I say this because so many people are likely to jump to the erroneous conclusion that treatment to correct or control an ailment will, if used early, also prevent it.

"Reading is a skill like music," she says. "Unless you practice it, you don't accomplish much. . . . Starting with nursery rhymes which you can read to the 1 or 2-year-old, every home should have a few well-chosen books."

doesn't take it, she aches in the arms and shoulders.—Mrs. H. M. This is a pain-relieving combination of aspirin, caffeine and an antihistamine. It is effective in relieving early symptoms of colds and in other aches and pains. I am not aware of any ill effects from prolonged use, but in the case you cite, wouldn't it be wise to determine what is causing the pain? Perhaps permanent relief is possible.

Dear Dr. Molner: Thirty years ago I was treated for syphilis and supposedly cured. Recently other tests have been made and the V.D.R.L. test was weakly reactive, Kline test reactive, Kolmer reactive plus 3.

My doctor said not to worry but I wonder if I shouldn't have treatment? Should I have a spinal tap?—E. G.

These newer tests are increasingly sensitive. There is another, the TPI (treponema immobilization test) which could be made and is considered as the ultimate, but it is not performed routinely.

A spinal tap also is important; if it comes out negative, then you can put your mind at ease.

Without reflecting on the extreme usefulness of the older tests, the newer ones can reveal very faint traces indeed. It is not unusual with syphilis for enough to linger so tests detect it, yet the traces can be so small by the patient is not ill and does not actually have the disease, nor is he infectious.

Dear Dr. Molner: How can I get rid of the water in my body? It causes me to swell and feel bloated. I am nursing my baby. The doctor doesn't want to give me pills because they could effect my milk.—Mrs. E. M.

He could put the baby on a bottle and give you drugs for ridding the body of water. However, I'd accept his dictum.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Those Precious Rights

Come Sunday, it will be 171 years since the Bill of Rights was added to our Constitution.

The matter of individual rights was so touchy that it was largely omitted from the Constitution as adopted. Some sources say that the Constitution could not have gained approval by the various states had it contained an enumeration of various rights about which there was dispute. Others say that the first 10 amendments were drafted with a promise of passage because it became apparent that the states would not adopt the Constitution without these guarantees for all citizens of all states.

BE THAT AS IT MAY, the amendments were shaped—and they shaped the history of this country and of the world. Never had there been a more complete and far-reaching enumeration of the rights to protect the dignity, property and freedom of men.

For one thing, the amendments spelled out the security of one's person and property. No one, not even the government, could barge in and search unless fortified by a sworn warrant, or take property without proper legal procedure and just compensation.

For another, the right of an individual in relation to the law and to the courts was made clear. There would be none of this business of holding people without specific charges, nor calling one to trial for felonious crimes without first being indicted by a grand jury.

MOREOVER, THOSE CHARGED or indicted would have the right to counsel, to trial by jury, to be confronted by their accusers, to have the right to compel witnesses to appear for the defense. They could not be made to testify against themselves, nor if convicted could they have cruel and unusual treatment assessed or excessive bail or fines fixed.

Other rights included those to bear arms, to ban quartering of soldiers in private homes during peace time. Two of the amendments specified that failure to enumerate rights did not mean at all that they were denied to the people, and that those not spelled out were reserved to the states and the people.

BUT THE HEART of all the rights were those which guaranteed freedom of expression, freedom of religion, speech, of the press, and as assembly peaceable and to petition the government for redress. The right of freedom in these matters provided the open forum so vital to the perpetuation of all other rights.

Fortunately, early in the history of our nation laws to abridge these met with such protest they died, and persons imprisoned for speaking out were freed. Since then courts have held strongly for these freedoms, sometime officials have suspended rights in an over-zealous interpretation of their duty, but they have been brought to account.

NOW AND THEN individuals and groups will abuse their freedoms, but it is wiser and safer to err on the side of abuse than it is to succumb to the temptation to restrict and deprive any individual of his inalienable rights.

—JOE PICKLE

Inez Robb

For Reason And Negotiation

The crucial point in L'Affaire Adlai Stevenson is not whether Stevenson remains as United States spokesman in the United Nations but whether there is a place for reason and reasonable men in councils of state in the nation's capital.

As the controversial article in the Saturday Evening Post of Dec. 8 made clear, this country is on the verge of entering an era of "Blinksmanship" vs. the Blinksmanship policy that was the child of the late John Foster Dulles.

BLINKSMANSHIP is an even chancier game than Blinksmanship. Blinksmanship, as described in the Post article, is attributed to Dean Rusk, Secretary of State. During the crux of the Cuban crisis Rusk is reported as saying, vis-a-vis the U. S.-Russian position, "We're eyeball to eyeball and I think the other fellow just blinked."

It does not take much imagination to deduce that Blinksmanship is the ultimate. One could at least draw back from the brink. There scarcely seems that much room for maneuver in Blinksmanship.

IF THE ROLE of reason and honorable negotiation is to be ruled out of Blinksmanship in a highly dangerous world, then national policy has indeed abdicated to the sterile solution of all international controversy by nuclear war.

After reading the Post article, "In Time of Crisis," in which Stevenson is accused of wanting "a Munich" because "he preferred political negotiation to the alternative of military action" (and the possibility of nuclear war), it is obvious that there is a hard-posed war party in Washington that prefers to reach for the rockets first.

IT IS EQUALLY obvious that the hard-nosed boys are out to get anyone who urges reason and negotiation before losing the ICMBs.

The fact that through reason and tough negotiation the United States won a smashing victory in the Cuban affair, forced a humiliating backtrack on Khrushchev, cut Castro down to size, gained the support of the Western Hemisphere and reinforced our political and diplomatic position all over the world apparently cuts no ice with the hard-nosed who want to try our rockets for size, no matter what the dread consequence.

THE TIME may come, God forbid, when we shall have to resort to the nuclear arsenal. But not until after reason and negotiation have failed. Missiles should be a last, not a first, resort.

If honest men who advocate reason and negotiation in super-secret government councils are to be pilloried publicly, to be disgraced by the false charge that they advocate "a Munich," then the voice of reason will be silenced in Washington and the jingoists will take over. Indeed, the jingoists would appear already to have a firm base there from which to launch a despicable attack on anyone they dislike.

AMERICANS ARE prejudiced in favor of fair play. It is an interesting by-product of the Post attack on Stevenson that men who differ from him politically and who have never found much merit in him before have rushed to his defense.

The nation does not forget in the darkest days of the Cuban crisis that it was Stevenson who electrified the country when he told the Russian representative in the U. S. Security Council that he, Stevenson, was prepared to wait "till hell freezes over" for the Russian to explain the clandestine installation of missile bases in Cuba.

HERE WAS the kind of tough talk to the Russians that Americans had been longing to hear for years. Yet this is the man whom the hard-nosed are conspiring to push out of government because he advocated what eventually became national policy—the Cuban crisis: reason and negotiation.

Alexander Guest Column
Features Of The New Trade Act

By REP. THOMAS B. CURTIS (R-Mo.)

With a final fanfare flourish, President Kennedy, on October 11th, signed into law the Trade Expansion Act of 1962. Although important, the Act is not, as hailed, a great victory for free trade and a blow at protectionism. It can become this, or the converse, depending upon how the President uses it.

As proposed by the Administration, the trade bill contained nothing very new. It was the last step that remained to be taken in lowering to practically nothing the high tariff rates contained in the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act of 1930. The United States has been and still is the lowest tariff country among the major trading nations. The bill which emerged from the Congress, however, has some new bold and imaginative provisions which, if properly implemented, can result in a new trade policy.

These important innovations are: 1. The establishment of status and power in the United States trade negotiating team by creating the position of Chief Trade Negotiator, which shall be filled by the President and carry the rank of Ambassador Plenipotentiary. Rather than a faceless, anonymous group of negotiators who must report to the bureaucracy in Washington for approval of their daily decisions, our trade negotiating team will now be on a par with those of foreign nations.

2. The creation of an Inter-agency Trade Organization, chaired by the Chief Trade Negotiator, where all interested parties can establish the truth of alleged unfair domestic and foreign trade practices, both private and governmental. When violations are established, the Act gives the President the power to apply appropriate remedies, including the withdrawal of trade concessions. Industry in the past has had the escape clause procedure for relief from misguided concessions made by trade agreement, but now, for the first time, unfair trade practices apart from contractual concessions can be eliminated through this 'fair trade' machinery.

Except for these two provisions, the trade bill is not new, but is simply a final extension and refinement of previous authority granted to the President to lower tariffs.

In spite of what has been claimed, the trade adjustment features of the bill are not innovations. Rather, they are redundant and will cause confusion and damage to our present programs for relief for the unemployed and for business. The same objectives sought in the trade adjustment provisions are attainable under existing unemployment insurance, manpower training, small business and area and rural redevelopment acts.

It is still an open question as to what kind of a trade policy President Kennedy will shape with this new trade instrument. The failure of the Administration this year to repeal Section 201 of the Agriculture Act, coupled with its actions in increasing its scope by amendment, raises a question as to whether the Administration actually intends to move toward a freer trade policy. This Section, almost unutilized until this year, permits the President to enter into international cartel agreements in respect to agricultural products or products manufactured from them.

In addition to the two new provisions, the Act wisely retains the escape clause and the national security clause and improves the renegotiating procedures of the expiring legislation. American agriculture, business and labor have never needed, nor really asked for protection from foreign imports. What they have asked for was the assurance of fair and reciprocal competition. In a large measure the new trade Act provides the machinery. We must wait and see how well the President utilizes his new tools.

Red Sox Remain Busy In Trading Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The new-look Boston Red Sox hierarchy has stepped into the center of baseball's bustling trade mart again and peddled a pair of players who apparently fell into disfavor at Beantown - infielder Pumpsie Green and pitcher Tracy Stallard.

Green, the first Negro to play for the Red Sox, and Stallard, the man on the mound when Roger Maris hit home run No. 61 in 1961, were sent to the New York Mets Tuesday in a 3-for-1 trade that brought utilityman Felix Mantilla to Boston.

The Red Sox also will deliver a third player—a minor leaguer—to the Mets at a later date.

In another transaction Tuesday, the Philadelphia Phillies acquired catcher Earl Averill from the Los Angeles Angels for outfielder Jack Davis. The trades were the ninth and 10th of the inter-league trading period, which ends at midnight Saturday.

When Boston owner Tom Yawkey made Mike Higgins vice president and installed Johnny Pesky as manager he promised, "we are ready to make every intelligent move we can to improve the Red Sox." The Red Sox have been out in the market place ever since.

The trade for Mantilla, who played all infield positions for the Mets except first base and batted .275 in 141 games, was the third of the inter-league session for the Red Sox, who have been the most active team in the dealings between American and National league clubs.

The Mets, meanwhile, continued to play their game of giving up one valuable player for two or three promising youngsters who for some reason or other have outlived their usefulness elsewhere.

"I don't think we have to apologize to anyone for any of the moves we've made to date," said Mets President George Weiss. "We have come up with seven major league prospects, all of them young, in exchange for a pitcher Bob Miller to the Dodgers and an infielder Mantilla who didn't figure in Manager Casey Stengel's plans for 1963."

The Mets earlier acquired first baseman Tim Lincecum and second baseman Larry Burdette in the trade with the Dodgers. They drafted second baseman Ted Schroeder from Seattle and purchased infielder Ron Hunt from Austin.

The trade followed two other major moves made by the Red Sox. In the first, they sent pitcher Don Schwall and catcher Jim Pagliaroni to Pittsburgh for first baseman Dick Stuart and pitcher Jack Lamabe. They then traded American League batting champion Pete Runnels to Houston for outfielder Roman Mejias.

Steers Turn Back Brownfield, 53-42

Delnor Poss' Big Spring Steers cooled off after a fast start but hung on to defeat the Brownfield Cubs, 53-42, in a basketball game here Tuesday night.

The Longhorns, now 4-2 on the year, meet Seminole in the first round of the Snyder tournament at 1 p.m. Friday.

Big Spring dominated play in the first half against the Cubs but the visitors fairly well took charge after the intermission when the Steers' shooting fell off to 25 per cent from the field.

The Steers were never in any danger of losing the decision and coach Poss made liberal use of his substitutes in the late stages of the contest.

In the first half, the Longhorns hit 41 per cent of their shots from the field.

Big Spring easily won the B game, 52-34, after leading by a score of 41-19 at one stage.

Mike Peters paced the Steers in that one with 12 points. In all, ten Big Springers got into the scoring act.

Ray Brown kept the game from being a runaway by hitting for 14 points for Brownfield.

DeeRoby Gartman again stepped out to lead the Steers in scoring with 17 points while Albert Fiervo, who distinguished himself with his play under both baskets, tallied 13 before he fouled out in the fourth period, with three minutes to play.

Fiervo grabbed off 12 rebounds while Ronnie Banks and Gartman each had five for Big Spring.

Brownfield was led by Gary Nunn, with 14 points, and James Ivey, who wound up with 13.

The Steers built up a 34-15 advantage at half time. By the end of the third quarter, it was 41-24.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With TOMMY HART

Few football players anywhere have had as illustrious and successful a career on the gridiron as has Felix (Doc) Blanchard, who comes here Thursday night to serve as principal speaker at the Lions' Club banquet honoring the 1962 Steers.

Three times an All-American at West Point, Never played for a losing Army team. One of the highest scorers in the nation. A devastating blocker who cleared the way for the equally celebrated Glenn Davis when he wasn't carrying the ball.

The 1945 Army team is generally regarded as the greatest Cadet team in history and Doc was one of five West Point players to rate the AP's All-America team that year. The other Cadets named were Davis, guard Johnny Green and tackles Dewitt Coulter and Albert Nemetz.

West Point slaughtered Notre Dame, a storied rival, in 1944 by the score of 59-0 - first time in 13 years the soldiers had been able to turn the trick.

Blanchard, who already had a reputation as a pile-driving fullback, was used principally as a decoy in the game against the Irish but a block he threw in the third period to spring loose Max Minor (of Tahoka, Texas) on the 61-yard touchdown run is still talked about around West Point.

Col. Earl Blaik's soldiers climaxed a great season that fall by flattening Navy, 23-7. The Cadets rushed the ball for 210 yards (to Navy's 87) and Blanchard scored one of the TDs on a nine-yard carry.

Army took the lead in the AP poll after an 83-0 rout of Villanova that year and held it all the way. Against Penn that season, Doc played one of his best games - blocking to perfection, scoring two touchdowns and excelling on defense. The 62-7 victory the Cadets registered over the Quakers in 1944 was extra sweet, because it marked the first time Army had beaten Penn since 1901.

Davis and Blanchard proved to be such devastating backs in 1945 that Blaik saw fit to keep them on the bench much of the time.

In Army's 54-0 win over Villanova that year, Doc played only 11 minutes of the game but scored two touchdowns. In a 61-0 sweep over Penn in '45, Blanchard galloped for three touchdowns and had two others called back.

Wake Forest found the South Carolina native next to impossible to stop that fall. Army gained 452 yards on the way to a 54-0 win over the Deacons and Blanchard personally accounted for 179 of those.

The Cadets that year also beat the Melville Raiders (a strong service team), 55-13; Duke, 58-12; Villanova, 54-0; Notre Dame, 48-0 (at which time Blanchard scored two touchdowns); Michigan, 28-7; and climaxed a tremendous year by humbling Navy before 102,000 at Philadelphia, 32-13. In that one, Blanchard crossed the goal line three times and Davis twice.

A 0-0 deadlock with Notre Dame and a hard-fought game with Navy cost the Cadets the national championship in 1946 but West Point again went undefeated.

The scoreless tie with the Irish ended an Army win skein that had extended through 25 games. The 28th victory was by a 19-0 margin over West Virginia and Blanchard helped seal the win with a 46-yard TD run.

Navy gave the Cadets, who had been hit hard by graduation in the line, all it could handle in 1946 but three points-after-touchdown by a Texan named Jack Ray insured a 21-18 victory over Army.

Blanchard, as usual, did more than his part against the Midies. He ran 52 yards for one score and accepted a 27-yard pass from Davis for another.

In those days, West Point cadets were being graduated after three years, so neither Blanchard nor Davis were around when the Pointers began the 1947 season. Had they played, it was freely conceded each would have rated All-America honors four straight years.

Blanchard decided to make the Air Force a career. Davis departed the service and later played pro ball. Doc had many a tempting offer from the pros but passed them up.

Any time the writers start talking about all-time All-Americans, they include Blanchard and Davis in their discussions. They came along during the war years, but they would have been sensational in any era.

Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside. They'll be remembered as long as football is played at the Point.

Green Bay Places 10 Men On NFL's All-Star Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Green Bay already has locked up 10 positions on the 22-man National Football League All-Star team selected for The Associated Press although the Packers still have not clinched the Western Conference title.

The New York Giants, who meet the Western winners for the league championship, Dec. 30 at Yankee Stadium, put four men on the club selected by a committee of sports writers and broadcasters from the 14 league cities. Detroit, trailing the Packers by one game with one to play, also placed four men on the team.

Green Bay wound up with fullback Jim Taylor, right end Ron Kramer, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer and center Jim Ringo from its offensive unit on the All-Star team. The Packers' defensive group contributed end Willie Davis, tackle Henry Jordan, linebackers Dan Currie and Bill Forester and corner back Herb Adderley.

Y. A. Tittle, the Giants' quarterback, and Del Shofner, his favorite passing target, made the offensive team along with big Roscoe Brown at tackle, Jimmy Patton, veteran safety man, was named on defense.

As befits a club that leads the league on defense, Detroit placed four men on that unit, led by 296-pound Roger Brown at tackle, middle linebacker Joe Schmidt, corner back Dick (Night Train) Lane and safety Yale Lary. Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's full-

ON THE SHELF

THE AGE OF OVER-KILL. By Max Lerner. Simon & Schuster, $5.35. By The Associated Press

In these long days and longer night of The Great Anxiety many voices have been raised to herald the War.

The trouble is that there are many dilemmas and so many alternatives in meeting them. The citizen-traveler through the modern nuclear minefield is confused by a multiplicity of signposts directed toward every point of the compass—and straight up, or straight down.

This book is a comprehensive, rational and unemotional survey of all the potentialities, problems and possible solutions of our critical period. It is written in the realm of world politics. Its initial promise is that the age of classical world politics is dead—slain in the scientific transition from the old balance of power concept to what Churchill called the balance of terror.

We have had many books, many debates and many prophecies about the new dragons that beset us—weaponry, deterrence, emerging nations, disarmament, fallout, neutralism, etc.—described by many dragon reporters—Lapp, Teller, Oppenheimer, Snow, Fromm, Russell, Hook, Kahn, Waskow, Cousins, to name only some.

Lerner's contribution to our understanding is that he hears the many voices and is not distracted by them. Instead of crying halloo over a single dragon, he analyzes calmly the nature, instincts and habits of our many dragons, calling out their differences in size and shape, their varying ancestries, danger points and weaknesses. He is a pipe-smoking chairman of the St. George Society, in multi.

He begins by identifying five major forces in the new world pattern—"a lethal nuclear spiral," the emergence of two world power clusters, a "heightening of revolutionary nationalism," a "world political war" and "The emergence of the United Nations."

He defines the goal of world peace in this way: "... that of collective world security through a code of world law which is backed by world force. To achieve this kind of world law is to move beyond power but not leave power behind; it is to move beyond an isolated morality, but not to dispense with it; it is to move beyond the nation-state but not to do away with it; it is to move beyond the national interest but to serve the national interest in a new way because of the new circumstances."

He prescribes these ways and means: "The war against war has to be a simultaneous three-front affair. One is the disarmament dialogue, carried on mainly between the two big nuclear camps. The second is political negotiation at every level, especially at the crucial trouble points. The third is the building of personnel and precedent for collective action to police aggression."

Is there a way out of the dragon-filled woods? Lerner is a practical pessimist looking wide-eyed for the main chance. Man's problem now, he says, "is not to destroy his weapons, but to localize their use as power instruments in the hands of a group who will use them for collective power through world law. If this be thought an incredibly creative leap, there have been other leaps in man's history. . . . The new element is that of collective will."

Lerner is a learned man, familiar with the celebrations of hundreds of intellectuals from Machiavelli to Marx and Freud. His book demands that the reader bring to it plenty of intellectual spunk, for it is no pap-filled primer; it is food for the inquiring mind; in the long night of The Great Anxiety it speaks cogent words for the future day of deliverance.

She Outlived A Century, Now She's Gone

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Josephina Encarnazon, a tiny woman, who loved cigars and children almost equally, during a lifetime that spanned more than a century, is dead.

She was either 112, 114 or 115 years old. No one knew for sure, not even Mrs. Encarnazon.

"Too many years have gone by for me to remember," she once said.

Mrs. Encarnazon was a small woman—about 4 feet 10 and 80 pounds. In her native Puerto Rico she reared about 30 adopted children, swearing by "spicy food, a good cigar and a good drink of strong rum" as the sustaining forces in her healthy life.

She died in a nursing home where she had lived since April. "Probably pneumonia," her doctor said.

The doctor said he had no doubt she was more than 100 years old. He could offer no reason for her long life.

"Just a superior organic system that would better withstand the ravages of time," he said.

Until she stopped eating and took to her bed about 10 days ago, Mrs. Encarnazon was agile and spry.

"She always wanted to help," said Miss Mary Patricia McMullen, day supervisor at the nursing home. "In the dining room she would pick up the trays, gather up the pop bottles, clean the table with a napkin. She spoke no English, but no one could have been more polite and lovable."

Mrs. Encarnazon lived most of her life in Mameyes, a little Puerto Rican town no longer even on the map.

She was married once, decades ago, but never liked to talk about it.

"She had one child," said a woman who knew her. "The child fell down a stairway and was killed. She picked it up and ran away and never went back to her husband again."

A small white bandana always on her head, rosary beads always around her neck, she was the delight of the nursing home.

"Until the day she went to bed sick, she smoked cigars, big Coronas," said Miss McMullen. "Her relatives would bring her rum and she would sip that."

Most Red Troops Remain In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. sources estimated today that between 2,000 and 3,000 Soviet troops have left Cuba during the past few weeks.

This withdrawal leaves in Cuba the bulk of Soviet military personnel sent there for missileery and other activities.

Estimates on the number still there range from 9,000 to 15,000. The estimates on the withdrawals also range widely because of difficulty in figuring how many men may be aboard outbound ships.

U.S. officials view the withdrawal as moving at a disappointingly slow pace.

This continuing Soviet military presence in Cuba has been one of the factors keeping the U.S.-Soviet dispute lingering on after the removal of Soviet missiles and bombers.

Premier Khrushchev has written President Kennedy that Soviet units associated with the offensive weapons will be withdrawn in due course.

But this left a lot to be pinned down. Among other things, it is not known here whether the Kremlin considered the short-range antiaircraft missiles in Cuba to be protection for the longer range offensive weapons—and therefore now intends to withdraw them.

Originally, the administration expressed the view that the Soviet military personnel entering Cuba were advisers and technicians, not troops.

Kennedy said on Aug. 28 that "we have no evidence of troops" in Cuba, and on Sept. 15, at his last news conference before the crisis. He was still referring to technicians.

The prevailing opinion in the administration was that the Cuban buildup was defensive. The antiaircraft and other weapons had been identified as similar to those the Russians had sent to Indonesia. The Indonesian shipments were accompanied by technicians skilled in matters like training and maintenance, but not Soviet combat troops, it was stated.

The Washington assessment changed fast with the discovery of the offensive weapons in Cuba. The Russians themselves were found to be setting up the missile sites, and presumably they would man the missiles.

Soon afterward, a number of Soviet ground combat units were reported found to have arrived in Cuba. These, it was presumed here, were for protection of the offensive weapons. Nonetheless, they were definitely troops in the terminology used by U.S. authorities.

Some reports indicate that the personnel originally sent to Cuba as rocket experts have been reformed into regular army units now that their offensive weapons have been withdrawn.

Some officials feel that there was nothing surprising about this—that it's a routine military procedure for personnel under such circumstances and does not indicate the missilemen will be kept in Cuba as ground combat troops.
