One Died In One-Car Accident

Chief Warrant Officer Ellis J. McKnight, 331st FIS, Webb AFB, died about two and a half hours after his car crashed into a culvert on Wason Road near the Christian Day School. He was alone in the car, and was taken to the Webb AFB hospital.

Warrant Officer Is Year's 10th Traffic Death In County

Chief Warrant Officer Ellis J. McKnight, 46, weapons control system's officer of the 331st FIS at Webb AFB, died at 2:40 a.m. Sunday in the base hospital following a one-car accident. His car crashed into a culvert on Wason Road near the Christian Day School shortly after midnight Saturday. An autopsy, performed Sunday at the hospital, revealed that death resulted from internal injuries and hemorrhaging. It also revealed that he had a severe heart condition. The possibility that the accident may have been caused by a heart attack has not been ruled out, pending a pathology report from Lackland AFB hospital.

C.W.O. McKnight completed 20 years of service last Feb. 28. He spent three years overseas in Europe and came to Webb early in 1962. He was born in South Wayne, Wis. He was graduated from Colorado Springs, Colo., High School in 1934 and attended Colorado Agricultural College one year. His family now resides at 1126 N. Cooper Drive, Colorado Springs. He was married to Frances M. Louderback there. Funeral arrangements are pending at River Funeral Home. Survivors include the widow; five daughters, Mrs. Betsy Demler, Mrs. Patricia Zimmerman, Irene R. McKnight, Rose M. McKnight, Lois McKnight, four sons, Samuel W. McKnight, William R. McKnight, Joseph R. McKnight, and Francis McKnight, all of Colorado Springs. The accident caused the tenth traffic death in Howard County for 1962, the fifth inside the Big Spring city limits. The ninth county traffic fatality occurred Saturday night when Mrs. Lula Parrott, Midland, died in a car-truck accident about four miles west of Big Spring on US 80.

Mac, JFK Plan Strategy Parleys

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left today for talks in the Bahamas with President Kennedy, expressing confidence that "we will find a way through our difficulties" over the Skybolt missile. "At this moment after Cuba," Macmillan told newsmen, "we have to try to make a reassessment of the position between East and West. Can the position be turned to our advantage? Is there a chance of getting ahead with some of these questions—nuclear tests, disarmament and other matters?"

NEW PROBLEMS He said the troubles in Asia, particularly between Red China and India, have raised a whole new set of problems. "Our chief purpose is to talk over what has happened since our last meeting," Macmillan said. Fresh from a Paris conference with French President Charles de Gaulle at which "close agreement" on defense views was announced, Macmillan is to meet with U.S. officials who plainly frown on the development of national nuclear deterrents.

While Britain and France have pressed forward with their nuclear programs, the United States has urged a multi-national type force under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a buildup in the non-nuclear side of the European military forces.

DEBATE TO PEAK The controversy over the U.S.-developed Skybolt missile, which looms as the major subject of the Bahamas talks, may bring this debate to a peak. The United States says it may scrap the air-launched missile because of a string of test failures and the cost, although Britain has been counting on it to insure its national deterrent role. President Kennedy has described the Skybolt, which is fired from a plane at targets 1,000 miles away, as a very sophisticated missile whose development may require $2.5 billion in addition to the half billion already spent by his country. Without the Skybolt or a substitute, Britain would have no modern, independent nuclear deterrent of its own.

NEW LEASE ON LIFE Skybolt, due for delivery around 1964, was to have been fitted to Britain's force of aging jet bombers, giving them a new lease on life by increasing their hitting range by 1,000 miles.

U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who held preliminary talks with the British on the Skybolt issue last week, also is going to Nassau, McNamara reported to Kennedy Sunday on his talks. The Skybolt affair also kicked up a storm in Washington, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said

Sunday the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, is 2 to 1 against dropping the missile and "I understand the joint chiefs of staff also oppose any cutback."

In a television interview (ABC-Issues and Answers), Symington said the Armed Services Committee will want to hear from the joint chiefs on Skybolt plans after Congress reconvenes in January.

MORE FAILURES Symington said there were more failures in developing the Atlas, Titan and Polaris missiles than there have been in efforts to perfect the Skybolt, and that the Skybolt is less expensive than the Polaris was.

When Macmillan and Kennedy arranged their Dec. 19-20 Bahamas meeting, the purpose was to review East-West relations in the wake of the Cuban crisis and the Chinese invasion of India.

These issues are now expected to take second place to the immediate problem of Britain's role in Western nuclear defense strategy.

Cuban Prisoner Release Begins To Warm Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Loan of a ship to the Red Cross and reports of activity in the Baltimore port have stirred speculation that negotiations for release of 1,200 Cuban prisoners may be nearing a climax. The speculation was heightened by these developments Sunday: The Red Cross said the African Pilot had been made available to it for use if necessary, to ship medicines and supplies to Cuba as barter for the captives.

The Baltimore Sun said the African Pilot was raising steam and had signed most of her crew for a sailing time of noon today for Port Everglades, Fla., to pick up the cargo. The wife of James B. Donovan, New York lawyer who has been negotiating with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro for the prisoners' release said Sunday night he had left New York, possibly for Washington. The prisoners were captured in the ill-starred attempt to invade Cuba at the Bay of Pigs in April 1961. Donovan has been negotiating with Castro since August and at one point reportedly was close to an agreement: the prisoners in exchange for medicine and other non-military items in short supply on the Communist island. Castro had asked a ransom of $62 million. Roy Johnson of the American Red Cross said the African Pilot has been loaned by the Farrell Lines. But he said he had no information about the prisoner negotiations. The Sun said the ship apparently would not be unloaded in Cuba until the prisoners were en route by air to the United States, probably Miami. Donovan, who negotiated the swap of Russian spy Rudolph Abel for American U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, said he is representing the prisoners' families in the negotiations. There have been published reports the administration has taken an active behind-the-scenes role.

U.S. Communist Party Case Ready For Jury

NATO Needs Time, Patience

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk reports to President Kennedy today that America's Atlantic allies need more time, patience and persuasion to comply with the U.S. request that they contribute more to Europe's defense.

This was the impression Rusk apparently brought Sunday night from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's Paris meeting, where U.S. proposals were reportedly greeted with something less than warmth.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara arrived back in the capital earlier Sunday and submitted his report to the President. The U.S. delegation, headed by Rusk, McNamara, and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, went to Paris determined to persuade the 15-nation defense organization that it must make greater commitments on NATO's vital central front.

The U.S. argument got a chilly reception, reports from Paris indicated. Although the communiqué issued by the ministers expressed agreement that it was necessary "to increase the effectiveness of conventional forces," it also instructed NATO's permanent council "to review procedures in order to secure a closer coordination of armed force plans."

This wording, sources explained, was a compromise. While the communiqué paid lip service to the U.S. request by accepting the necessity to increase conventional forces, it also adopted the opposing position, championed by Peter Thornycroft, Britain's defense secretary, who was reported as having told the conference that NATO has to live with what the member countries can place at its disposal.

Rusk, talking briefly to reporters on his arrival in Washington, said U.S. thinking remained unchanged and that the manpower "target is still 30 divisions." This target was set several years ago, but NATO has only 23 to 24 divisions on the central sector, a force U.S. officials believe is too small to convince Moscow that a Cuba-like adventure in Berlin or elsewhere in Europe would not work. Washington believes all three major allies—Britain, France and West Germany—could do more than they are doing. And Rusk and McNamara tried to prove the point with statistics. The United States, they explained, is spending a greater percentage of its gross national product on defense than any of its allies, and is holding a greater percentage of its manpower in arms.

According to the statistics, the United States is spending nearly 10 per cent of its gross national product on defense, compared with less than 5 per cent in Germany—the prime target of an attack—and about 7 per cent in Britain and France.

ACT NOW FOR CHEER FUND

Three more nice gifts put the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND within approaching distance of the $800 mark today. If you are going to have a part in this program, which means toys for children in destitute families, and means food for youngsters who frequently have to go hungry, please send along your gift. Just about another week, and the books will be closed. Send your gift to The Herald for acknowledgment, and make checks to the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND. Gifts today were from the BPO Elks, No. 1386, $25; Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stanley, $5; and an anonymous friend, $3. This brings the Fund's total to $772.45.

Pope Names Commission To Re-Draft Council Issues

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII named members of a special commission today to coordinate redrafting of proposals before the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council.

When the council began a nine-month recess Dec. 8, the Pope told its 12 drafting commissions to use the recess to condense and consolidate proposals.

He said a special commission would coordinate the work of the 12 commissions. Today he named six cardinals and six prelates to this important coordinating body.

The nominees: Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York; Achille Cardinal Lienart, bishop of Lille, France; Julius Cardinal Döpfner, archbishop of Munich, Germany; Leo Jozef Cardinal Suenens, archbishop of Malines-Brussels, Belgium; Carlo Cardinal Confalonieri, secretary of the Consistorial Congregation, and Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, patriarch of Venice, Italy.

The six prelates are Archbishop Pericle Felici, secretary of the Vatican Ecumenical Council; and the five undersecretaries of the council.

The five undersecretaries are: Archbishop John Joseph Krol of Philadelphia, Pa.; Archbishop Pierre Veillot, auxiliary of Paris; Bishop Wilhelm Kempf of Limburg, Germany; Archbishop Casimiro Morcillo Gonzalez of Zaragoza, Spain; and Archbishop Philippe Nabaa of Beirut of the Melchites.

Vatican circles said all council elements — progressives, conservatives and moderates—appear to be represented. The other council bodies will

Morse Assails Norstad As Space Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., assailed today a reported plan to put Gen. Lauris Norstad at the head of the projected new space satellite communications system.

Morse, in a statement, said the appointment of Norstad or any other military man, active or retired, "is not in the public interest."

His statement grew out of a published report that Norstad had been persuaded by Philip Graham, president of the Washington Post, to accept the chairmanship of the executive committee of the new system. Graham heads the board named by President Kennedy to set up the system.

Norstad retires in January as supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, a post in which he will be succeeded by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

Morse was one of the leaders in the bitter, unsuccessful fight against Senate passage this year of a bill to create a government-regulated, but privately owned corporation to operate the U.S. part of a global communications satellite system. He and others charged it amounted to a "gigantic giveaway" of resources belonging to the taxpayers.

In his statement today, Morse said he has been warning that "an attempt was being made to turn over the administration of the space communications system to a military man about to be retired."

Jet-Airliner Near-Crash Is Reported

DALLAS (AP)—American Airlines said Sunday night one of its pilots reported swerving a 707 jetliner sharply over Arizona because of four F100 jet fighters "coming up to the left."

This account was given after one of about 70 passengers reported in San Diego that the craft took a 30-second dive Saturday in "quite an abrupt and violent maneuver."

The incident occurred as the airliner, flying west from Dallas to Los Angeles, was 15 to 20 miles outside Tucson, Ariz., at 26,000 feet, its assigned altitude, a company spokesman said.

Pilot J. H. Mangham, of Smithfield, Tex., was unavailable for comment. The airlines spokesman said Mangham spiked his plane's sharp turn to the right as a precaution and not a near collision, adding that the pilot did not regard the incident as calling for a report to federal aviation authorities. He said the pilot did not mention a dive.

M. G. Lamb of La Mesa, Calif., an aircraft company sales representative and a marine flight technician in World War II, said he and other passengers kept their seats but a stewardess was thrown into a corner. Lamb said he was advised there were five jets but he didn't see them.

Two Die When Car Overturns

EAGLE PASS, Tex. (AP)—Two persons were killed and a third was seriously injured when their car overturned east of here near the Mexican Border Sunday night. Killed in the crash were Robert H. Morgan, 37, of Wheeling, Ill., and R. D. Joske, 45, of San Antonio, Tex.

In serious condition at an Eagle Pass hospital is Mrs. Virginia Webb, 35, of San Antonio.

Registration Act At Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The attorney for the Communist party said in argument to a federal jury today that the party was acting in an American tradition when it failed to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Argument was completed and the case, involving a charge of violation of the Subversive Activities Control Act, was ready to go to the jury after a charge by Judge Alexander Holtzoff.

The defense attorney, John J. Abt, did not dispute government evidence that Gus Hall, general secretary of the party, had announced he would not be a stool pigeon and informer and supply the party's membership list to the Justice Department.

"Throughout history," Abt told the jury in his closing defense statement, "the role of the informer has been an odious one and a despised one. There is a long tradition in our country of minority organizations refusing to give the names of their members and betraying their confidence."

The U.S. attorney, F. Kirk Maddrix, told jurors that the Communist party deliberately failed to register with the Justice Department and so violated the Subversive Activities Control Act.

"There has been ample time for them to determine what they wanted to do," Maddrix said. "It was a deliberate act."

The party, if convicted, could be fined $10,000 for each day of violation.

11-DAY PERIOD The indictment specifically covers only an 11-day period, involving a possible penalty of $110,000, plus another $10,000 on a count charging failure to file another form.

The government contends that another indictment covering a different and longer period would be possible.

Both the Justice Department and attorneys for the party acknowledge the facts of the case developed in brief testimony last week in U.S. District Court. The jury will decide what the facts mean—whether the party actually fulfilled the requirements of the law.

Before recessing last Thursday, Holtzoff denied a motion by defense attorneys Abt and Joseph Forer for a directed acquittal. The jury was absent while Abt and Forer argued their motion, but Holtzoff said he had no objection.

Rail Workers Want Oil Truck Halt At Crossings

AUSTIN (AP)—A spokesman for Texas railroad employees said today the Legislature will be asked again to make oil trucks stop at railroad crossings.

Similar proposals have been made unsuccessfully to Texas legislatures since 1945, said a statement by Herbert O. Paul, representing the Texas Joint Railway Labor Legislative Board.

The statement was presented last Friday at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing in Tyler on the Nov. 23 grade crossing accident on the Cotton Belt Railroad at Chandler. Three railroad employees died in the collision between the train and a truck transporting 6,000 gallons of crude oil. Paul said present Texas law requires only that highway carriers of explosive substances or flammable liquids slow down to 20 miles an hour at least 200 feet from the crossing. He said the Legislature will be asked to require that such vehicles must come to a complete stop at least 15 feet before the rails, as is required of passenger and school buses.

Paul said his group also is asking an accelerated program of grade crossing separation and of installing protective devices at crossings as means of reducing such accidents.

Where Nine Died

A portion of the fuselage and part of the tail assembly of a Constellation cargo airliner lie smashed to the earth against a North Hollywood, Calif., home as investigators probe through the wreckage. The Flying Tiger Lines plane brought death to five men and four women when it crashed in fog while trying to land at Lockheed Air Terminal.

Just Change
The Dates

DEAR ABBY: For the past 24 years of our marriage we have spent Thanksgiving and Christmas with my husband's mother, who lives 40 miles away. She is now 80, and for the last 24 years we have felt it might be her last because she has not been feeling well. I used to make a big Thanksgiving dinner for the entire family. We had all my husband's brothers and sisters and their children, and it was fun. But for five years now, after all the plans were made, I'd get a call the day before that Mother didn't feel up to the confusion, and we ended up taking her to the hotel for dinner—minus the children. The children are growing up and I want the whole family together at my home at holiday time. What can I do? The holidays have been ruined for so many years. I am sick of hearing "it may be Mother's last."

he was married we gave him his piano. It was a fine piano and he got great enjoyment from it. Well, they moved into a new home and his wife sold the piano to strangers for $200. She claimed she didn't have room for it. (She had room for a seven-foot bar in her den, though.) Now they are making their basement into a recreation room and she suddenly decided they needed a piano. She has been hinting right and left that we should buy them one. Would you if you were us?

THE OLD FOLKS
DEAR OLD FOLKS: Why punish your son? He has enough problems. If anyone needs the relaxation and tranquility playing the piano provides, your son does. If you intend to give him a gift, buy him a piano—with no strings!

DEAR ABBY: For you and that bewildered Mr. Tucker, who wanted to find out where the expression "all tuckered out" came from: It dates back to the old English dialect. It originated from "tucked up"—which means cramped for space. It finally came to mean "all worn out" or "all tuckered out." I don't know why you got so tuckered out trying to get this information. I got it from the English Department at the University of Minnesota in less than an hour.

And celebrate Christmas Eve with your family at home—and Christmas Day with Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Our son recently came home from Korea. His first week home he just sat around the house enjoying the luxury of being home. He also taught our parakeet to swear. It is very embarrassing to us, but our son seems to think it is a big joke. What should we do?

Barnett-Kennedy
'Deal' Reported

NEW YORK (AP) — Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett—despite public vows of defiance—had made a secret deal with U.S. Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to enroll Negro's James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi, an article in the current issue of Look magazine says.

The article says Barnett conferred by telephone with Kennedy through the four days preceding the Sept. 30 riot at the university and proposed a plan that would allow Meredith to enter Ole Miss.

Reached by telephone for comment on the article, Barnett said: "I haven't seen it. I don't know anything about it, and I have no comment."

Look reported:
The plan called for Barnett and

(Lt. Gov. Paul) Johnson to stand at the university's gate, backed up by unarmed state patrolmen. Kennedy was to have Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane and 25 to 30 marshals bring Meredith to the gate.

"Barnett would refuse to let Meredith in. At this point, McShane would draw his gun, and the other marshals would slap their hands on their holsters. Barnett would then step aside and allow Meredith to register. The Mississippi highway patrol would maintain law and order.

"In his talk with Kennedy, the governor worried about how the scene would look to 'a big crowd.' If only one man drew his gun, Barnett felt that he could not back down. So Kennedy reluctantly agreed to have all the marshals draw their guns. Under federal guns, Ross Barnett could surrender to prevent bloodshed."

The article said that on Sept. 30 Barnett telephoned the attorney general and suggested a new plan. The next morning, according to the plan, Barnett "would wait at the university gate backed by a phalanx of state troopers, who would be backed by sheriffs, who would be backed by citizens and students."

"Meredith should arrive with a large Army force," the article went on. "The governor would read a proclamation barring him from Ole Miss. Then, Kennedy's men should draw their guns. Barnett would, he said, step aside."

The attorney general was incensed, said the article, and warned that "unless Barnett cooperated and helped maintain law and order while Meredith went on campus, the President would go on television and tell the country that Barnett had broken his word. To prove it, the President would tell all about the behind-scenes dickering."

The article continued: "This had a devastating effect. The governor's resistance seemed to melt away. Again and again, Barnett asked that the President say nothing on television that would unveil the nature of the secret phone calls."

Florida
Citrus Ban

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — After 6 p.m., today, no fresh citrus fruit can be shipped out of Florida for 10 days.

The Florida Citrus Commission, in an emergency session Sunday, imposed the 10-day embargo to keep off the market citrus fruit that was damaged by last week's record cold spell.

The embargo will continue until 6 p.m., Dec. 27. At that time a new 14-day ban on the shipment of freeze-damaged citrus will begin, to run until 6 p.m., Jan. 10.

During the second embargo, fruit that can pass inspection by the state will be allowed to move out of Florida.

THE SON OF GOD

By T. H. Yarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2900 West Highway 89

To believe that Jesus is the Son of God is essential to salvation (I Jno. 5:10-13); so the New Testament emphasizes the fact He is the Son of God. The Watchtower tract under review twists the Scriptures to make this appear that Jesus is not God. They call Him "merely the Son of God" (p. 28). It makes Him the Son of God in the sense that Christians are sons of God (p. 52). It ignores the fact that He is not referred to in Scripture as "a son of God," but as "the Son of God." The Bible uses the term "Son of God" to exalt Him above us; the tract uses it to demote Him to our level as a mere son.

A careful study of John 10:30-39 will show that because He called Himself the Son of God, the Jewish leaders considered that He being a man made Himself God. In reply, He did not deny that He claimed to be God. Read the passage. The tract uses this passage to weaken belief in His Deity. It was given for the opposite purpose.

A careful study of Jno. 20:28-31 will show that to recognize Him as Lord and God is to believe He is the Christ, the Son of God. These terms mean the same thing.

Officer's Wives Club Holds Party At Base

Festooned with tinsel, evergreen and other holiday decorations, the main lounge at the Officers Club, Webb Air Force Base, was the scene for a party given Saturday evening by the Officers Wives Club.

Some 450 persons, including husbands and other members of the Officers Club, were served from gaily decorated tables. The punch table, appointed with ornate silver, was spread with a white skirted cloth having an over-cloth of holly red and resplendent with red satin balls suspended from the pointed drops. Silver candelabra holding lighted tapers flanked a star studded ming tree in the centerpiece.

Mrs. Hendrick Mol, who soon will rendezvous with the stork, wore a self-designed formal fashioned with floor length skirt of red and overblouse of white chiffon with no trim other than a large red rose. Mrs. Bob Chepolis was elegantly attired in velvet of a shade bordering on the burgundy tone and matching slippers; Mrs. L. E. Healy, also in velvet, styled as a sheath with low cut back ending in a large tailored bow.

Mrs. H. H. Heath was festive in a white sequined jacket worn with a white silk sheath; and among the many who wore red was Mrs. Niles Carter whose dress was a lace sheath having an overblouse of red lace.

Red brocade silk with rhinestone jewelry was chosen for the evening affair by Mrs. Paul Lee; Mrs. Rex Fryer, a gold lame knit; Mrs. Leonard Tovee, in all white sheath and jacket; Capt. Dorothy Fleming, in black chiffon styled with draped bodice and detailed with a large white rose.

Mrs. W. E. Harris wore a white chiffon designed as a sheath and belted in pastel tinted flowers; Mrs. Bob Sander, also in white chiffon dress, the bodice of which was mesh metallic; Mrs. M. E. Frantz, fashionably attired in

Mrs. McConkey Wed To Lt. Arthur L. Warren

Mrs. Mary G. McConkey became the bride of 1st Lt. Arthur L. Warren in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Roy Jones, minister of the First Methodist Church, Burnet, Texas, Friday at noon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Robbins, former residents of Big Spring, who now reside at Buchanan Dam. Mr. and Mrs. William H. Warren, of Angola, Indiana, are parents of the bridegroom.

The wedding was performed in the lake home of the bride's parents where arrangements of autumn leaves surrounded the fireplace and a gilded madonna. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a rust color suit of wool featuring mink trim with a champagne-colored veil. She used brown alligator accessories. A white orchid formed her corsage.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Eil McComb of Big Spring, 1st Lt. Kurt W. Roeloffs of Webb Air Force Base served as best man. The ring bearer was Mark McConkey, son of the bride.

A reception was held in the home immediately following the ceremony, where refreshments were served from a table covered with a green linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of candy-striped carnations. The white tiered cake was topped with white roses. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Kurt Roeloffs and Eil McComb, both of Big Spring.

After a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico, the couple will make their home at 411 Edwards Blvd., Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Texas Christian University and Arizona State University. She was employed at Webb for over six years.

The bridegroom graduated from Angola High School and attended Tri-State College at Angola, Ind. He is an instructor pilot assigned to the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron at Webb, and has resided in Big Spring since 1960.

Dance Club Festivity

Approximately 150 members and guests of the Couples Dance Club danced to the music of the Starlighters at a Christmas affair in the Settles Ballroom Friday evening from 9 until 1 p.m.

Club officers, acting as hosts, greeted arriving guests. They were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stitzell, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hayden and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boren.

Seasonal decorations included a snowman and snowwoman made of cotton and placed at the entryway. Red candle arrangements on the tables had a base of green cedar and pine cones. The false ceiling of the ballroom was of red crepe paper covered with paper snowflakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Larson Lloyd Host Holiday Affair

Host and hostess for open house Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Larson Lloyd at their home on Roberts. The holiday affair was attended by approximately 175 persons received at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd, who were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haralson.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. and Mrs. Haralson served at the table which was appointed with silver and spread with a red felt cloth, appliqued with small red felt poinsettias and bordered in a band of gold sequins. The centerpiece was spires of gold topped with crystal globes and burning candles. Evergreen and poinsettias were arrangements noted elsewhere in the room while in the living room was an arrangement of holly and berries and the lighted Christmas tree.

Those serving at the register table, which was spread with a holiday cloth of red felt and overlay of net, were Mrs. W. C. Ragsdale and Mrs. E. W. Dozier. Members of the houseparty wore Christmas corsages. The hostess was attired in a white sequined sheath, styled with scooped neckline. At the punch bowl, Mrs. Haralson wore an after-five dress of black chiffon fashioned with low cut neckline in the back and straight skirt ending in softly flared ruffles; Mrs. Jimmy Beale, in blue off-shoulder princess dress; Mrs. George Peacock, tall and stately in an ivory silk cocktail dress with matching fur trimmed sweater.

Also fur-trimmed was the tan velvet princess dress worn by Mrs. Wilson Banks; Mrs. Leonard Einstein was there wearing a mandarin sheath of silver blue metallic. Something of the Oriental was noted in the coral silk sheath worn in contrast to Mrs. Ed Swift's brunette beauty.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas was in Christmas green silk; Mrs. Tom Marr, in a black silk cocktail dress and rhinestone jewelry. Mrs. Ragsdale in beige satin brocade and Mrs. Clifton Bray, lovely in printed silk having trim and jacket of velvet.

Coffee Held Honoring Bride-Elect

A coffee honoring Miss Barbara Stalzer, bride-elect of Donald P. Newell, was given Saturday morning by Mrs. Dale Smith at her home, 2705 Crestline.

Mrs. R. T. Newell and Mrs. A. J. Stalzer, mothers of the engaged couple, were among the guests.

The coffee table was all white, having a white stoneware centerpiece filled with white carnations. Christmas decorations were used in rooms where guests were assembled. Pine, with gold ornaments, was predominant in various arrangements.

Guests were served from 10 until 12 o'clock. The honoree's sister, Miss Tricia Stalzer, assisted at the coffee table.

The bride-elect received a hostess gift and a gilded corsage.

Hannah SS Class Holds Party

A Friday night Christmas party was held by the Hannah Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church. A Christmas motif in red and white was used for decoration.

Mrs. B. H. Tingle gave the devotion on "God's Unspeakable Gift," and prayer was led by Mrs. Lucille Stall. Mrs. Omar Williams, teacher, gave the Christmas story.

A Little Moon offering of $20 was made by the class, which also planned for a Christmas basket to be given to a family.

Santa Claus Visits Flame Room Party

Santa Claus gave stockings and gifts to the children of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. employees when the families met for a Christmas party in the Flame Room Friday evening.

Red punch, coffee and cookies were served from a table spread with a red and green cloth. Decorated gaslights were placed at each end of the refreshment table.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dale Riggs, Mrs. D. Pitman, and Mrs. Archie Secrest. Approximately 60 attended.

Officers Installed

From left, Mrs. Aubrey Russell, Lubbock, district extension agent who installed Mrs. Francis Wina, Council chairman; Mrs. J. D. Gibson, vice chairman; Mrs. Raymond Wheeler, secretary; Mrs. Lester Webb, treasurer, and Mrs. Don Blasingsame, THDA chairman. The installation took place at the Mitchell County HD Council luncheon

Thursday, at Colorado City's Civic House. The Rev. H. W. Bartlett was principal speaker. About 70 persons were served, with Mrs. Earl Brown in charge of table decoration. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Logsdon, County Judge and Mrs. Elmer Martin and county commissioners and their wives.

Students' Festivities Include Yule Party

A Christmas dance, with Sara King and Judy Hinds, hostesses, was held Saturday night from 8 until 11 o'clock in the Teen Room of the Cosden Country Club.

Chaperones for the 30 couples attending were Mr. and Mrs. L. T. King and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Hinds, parents of the hostesses.

Crystal appointments were used for the punch table where white and red poinsettias were used with red candles forming a centerpiece for the red linen covered table. Also in the room, a white Christmas tree with red and green balls was the focal point in decorations. At the refreshment bar hurricane lamps and Christmas foliage were used.

Mrs. Philips Hostess At Home Party

Mrs. Shine Philips was hostess to employees of Cunningham-Phillips Drug Store Friday evening at her home, 1304 Scurry.

Bonus checks were distributed by Joe Hedleston, and gifts were exchanged among the guests. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ezell who have recently moved here from Austin. Mrs. Ezell and Mrs. Philips are sisters. Mrs. Hedleston and their daughter, Nancy, were also present.

Appointed with silver, the refreshment table was centered with a tiered arrangement of Christmas balls and a red candle on a crystal tray. The house was decorated throughout in keeping with the Christmas holiday.

Pecan Stuffing

Toasted pecans add interesting texture to poultry stuffing. Crisp the pecans in a preheated oven at 400 degrees F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Use about 1 1/2 cups of chopped pecans to 5 cups of stuffing. Season the stuffing with 1/2 cup each of chopped celery, melted butter and chopped parsley. Add a teaspoon of salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika and a dash of poultry seasoning of desired.

Dance Hostesses

AAUW DINNER TONIGHT

The American Association of University Women will have its Christmas dinner, a covered dish affair, tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Company Building. Hostesses will be Mrs. Carlos Humphrey, Miss Ann Ratliff and Mrs. Dale Vaughn.

Mrs. Smith Gives Dorcas Program

A question and answer period concerning the Bible was a part of the Christmas program presented by Mrs. O. R. Smith for the Dorcas Sunday school class of the East Fourth Baptist Church. The holiday party was held Friday afternoon at the church.

Mrs. B. D. Rice led the opening prayer and the devotion was given by Mrs. H. Reeves. Scrapbook pictures were taken as the group exchanged gifts.

Green, white and red were the colors used in decorations on the refreshment table. Hostesses were Mrs. W. O. Leonard, Mrs. B. D. Rice and Mrs. S. A. Callihan.

There were 18 present, including one visitor, Mrs. C. E. Suggs.

Vital Battle
In Education

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

CHAMPAIGN - URBANA, Ill. (AP)—On the 26th day of his first year in school, Geoffrey, 6, sat in a tight little circle of pupils at the front of his classroom.

He watched as Miss Hyde, his teacher, wrote two letters on the blackboard, "a" and "l." He listened as she said: "Now children, we know how these letters sound. Let's push the sounds together and hear what they say."

Geoffrey looked at the letters again. "A-l," he said. "A-l, at, AT!—Teacher, I know it, I know it—it's 'at.'"

Geoffrey had learned to read and the world was a wonderful place to be.

ANOTHER SCENE

In another classroom two miles away, Marian, 6, on her 26th day in the first grade opened "My Little Green Story Book" to page 25 and began to read for her teacher, Miss Sadoris:

"Mother said, 'Stop here, father. I see something here.'"

"I see something for dinner." "Can I stop here?" "I can get something here."

Marian had not yet learned the word "at," but she could read at least 30 other words, and a happier, prouder little girl it would be hard to find.

Geoffrey and Marian have this in common: they are bright youngsters, fascinated with the idea of reading, and apparently well on the way to becoming fast and efficient at it.

By circumstance of geography, however, they are following different paths toward their common goal.

BITTER FIGHT

Geoffrey lives in Champaign and Marian lives in Urbana. Wright Street, the zig-zagging, traffic-cluttered thoroughfare which divides these sister cities, also marks a boundary line in education's most bitter battle—the phonetic approach to reading versus "whole-word recognition," or "look-say."

Briefly, phonics is the science of sound as it applies to reading. Children are taught to read phonetically and learn to attack new words by the way the letters sound as in Champaign. With look-say, on the other hand, children memorize whole words by the way they look, as in Urbana.

Urbana's look-say system is the more traditional method, although it has undergone recent modifications.

Urbana uses reading materials and a program typical of the whole-word recognition approach found in most public elementary schools.

BASIC BOOK

Champaign uses a basic book "Phonetic Keys to Reading." It differs from most phonics methods in that it is designed as a complete reading program, not as a supplement to a series of look-say readers.

Both reading programs teach phonics, and both are "sight-words," which are memorized as units by their length and configuration. The difference—and it is a vast difference—is the emphasis given these two components.

The Urbana study series presents a first-grade reading vocabulary of 326 words, most of them sight-words. The Champaign series has a first-grade reading vocabulary of 440 words, including only 47 taught as sight-words.

But many children in both cities will learn ahead of their books. It must have been a big day, indeed, for Marian when her teacher passed out the first primers, "My Little Red Story Book."

FIND THE WORD

"Let's look at the name of the first story," Miss Sadoris said, and placed her hand under the word "Tom" at the bottom of page 3. "Will someone read this name for me? Now, who can take this word and find a word in our book just like it?"

The children looked at the word on the card she was holding, looked at the word on the bottom of page 3 of their book.

Suddenly, and easily, they had learned to read the word "Tom."

As the story continued, they learned new words and repeated old ones they had already learned.

After 10 illustrated pages, the Urbana reading series had presented five words. Each word is repeated over and over until the child has only to look at it to have the meaning pop into his mind.

STARTS WITH LETTERS

It was a very different story at Colonel Wolfe Elementary School in Champaign, where Geoffrey opened his pre-primer, "Tag," to page 2 and didn't find a word to be learned, as Marian had. Instead he saw a capital "O" and a small "o," and pictures of a home, road, boat and coat. At the bottom of the page were the printed words: load, nose, soap, rose and toast.

Miss Hyde, his teacher, said: "This is a picture of a big 'O' and a little 'o.' Do you know what an 'o' is? It is a letter. Words are made of letters, and if we know the sounds of letters, it will help us learn to read. The first sound we learn will be an easy one. It is 'o,' and that is the name of the letter."

It was on the day Geoffrey learned the letter "T" that he made the glorious discovery that he could analyze and read the word at. He immediately tackled and conquered the other words on the page: tea, tie, ate, it and toe.

Rings Stolen

Apparently, Kennedy Sees Rocky As Foe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy apparently has reached the conclusion — if he had any doubts—that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will be his 1964 opponent for the presidency.

This was the explanation in political circles for Kennedy's aiming a series of barbs at the Republican governor in his Friday night speech to the Economic Club in New York.

Because New York will be one of the principal battlegrounds in the 1964 presidential contest, politicians busied themselves comparing the positions of the two men on major issues. They found them far apart on New York matters but remarkably close on some national economic problems.

Kennedy told the Economic Club the rate of insured unemployment in New York has been persistently higher than the national average.

JOBLESS RATE
In his latest pronouncement on national issues — before the National Association of Manufacturers on Dec. 5—Rockefeller said the state's unemployment rate "has been less than the national rate for 23 of the last 28 months."

Presumably both men could be right. Kennedy was talking about the number drawing unemployment compensation. Rockefeller was talking about the number of jobless.

Kennedy went on to say that the "increase in personal income and employment have both been slower here (in New York state) than in the nation as a whole."

Rockefeller said that while the rate of increase in "the real personal income" of the people of New York, had lagged behind the national average during the prior state democratic administration, "in the past four years it has been increasing more rapidly than the national rate."

FASTER IN STATE
Kennedy said expenditures in state government in New York "have risen in recent years at the rate of roughly 10 per cent a year." He said in nine years civilian expenditures in the federal government have increased an average of 7.5 per cent a year.

Rockefeller offered no comparable figures. But he said state aid to public schools had been increased 60 per cent in four years, aid to higher education by 260 per cent and highway construction mileage had been tripled.

He said in four years his administration had "restored fiscal integrity by cutting unnecessary expenditures, instituting rigid economies, raising personal income tax withholdings."

"The result is we have a balanced budget and a surplus each year and have reduced the tax-aided state debt by $85 million," he said.

Kennedy could make no such claim for the federal government. But he promised that domestic expenditures in the new year would be held to approximately present levels.

SEEM AGREE
There were a number of things on which the potential 1964 rivals seemed agreed.

Both expressed concern about the balance of international payments. Both opposed inflationary actions. Both said profit margins must be improved. Both rejected deficit spending as a cure for the lagging economy.

Kennedy said the country could stand a temporary deficit brought about by a tax cut aimed at expanding the incentives for private investment. Rockefeller called taxes on incomes and corporations the highest among 15 leading commercial nations of the free world.

1st Armored Coming Home

BEAUMONT (AP) — The 1st Armored Division will be back at Ft. Hood by Thursday after an absence of almost two months during the Cuban crisis.

Elements of the division made an amphibious landing here Sunday. Some men left immediately by bus for Ft. Hood.

Col. William Jones of San Antonio said unloading of the division's 82 tracked vehicles from landing ships would continue through the night. Sixty railroad flat cars will move them to the post. Wheeled vehicles will move to the base in a convoy.

The soldiers left Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., last Wednesday. While in Florida the division made several practice assaults on Edgemont, a small key where troops trained for the Normandy invasion.

Two days before President Kennedy's nationwide speech on Cuba, the division was alerted for duty. Within two weeks it was assembled at Ft. Stewart, Ga.

Lobby Law Action Due A Rough Time

AUSTIN (AP) — Advocates of tightening lobby control laws appear headed for a rough time in the Texas Legislature.

There are two major reasons:

1. The primary force behind lobby control legislation in the past several sessions, Gov. Price Daniel, will be gone.
2. Most lawmakers appear to have little interest in such bills and many who are interested seem to have little hope of their passage.

Gov.-elect John Connally has shown little interest in lobby control legislation in his campaign speeches and subsequent talks. He said his staff currently is studying the possible need for tightening controls on lobbyists, but that no conclusion has been reached.

He added that he did not think "this is going to be one of those major, overriding issues in the next session."

A big majority, 91.6 per cent, of the legislators answering an Associated Press poll indicated they thought lobby control would not be among the list of major topics in the legislature.

Only about 4 per cent said they thought the issue would be among the top five in the session.

Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston said that "though lobby control is important, it is extremely difficult to accomplish without limiting the constitutional right to petition the government."

Rep. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi said, "Apparently there is little way to control the lobby, but if there can be a way to put teeth into a lobby bill, then I'll certainly be there to be for it."

Rep. Reed Quilliam of Lubbock said, "I do not think any lobby control bill that would be enforceable has been offered. Such a bill tends to penalize the honest lobbyists."

Sen.-elect Walter Richter of Gonzales said he would favor forcing all legislators to file annual sworn statements of all sources of income. Included in the minority who thought the issue would remain alive through the session was Rep. Red Berry of San Antonio who said such legislation is "a must."

Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity said, "I strongly favor tightening the law" and requiring not only expense reporting but to whom a contribution is made.

Turkish Newsman Sees Cuban Ferment

NEW YORK (AP) — A Turkish newspaperman just back from Havana says at least 90 per cent of the Cuban people — and probably more — are against the Communists and against Castro, too.

Goksin Sipahioğlu, a free-lance reporter from Istanbul, said in an interview that there are resistance organizations, but the organizations cannot get together.

The newsman was in Cuba from mid-October until early December. He said Cubans told him: "The peasants, who were major supporters of Fidel Castro's revolution, angrily but passively are resisting the Communists. The peasants are angry because Castro collectivized the farm lands instead of distributing them among the peasants, as he promised."

Probably 9,000 peasants have been jailed for refusing to work in the fields. They refused because, even if paid, there was nothing to buy.

The skimpy food ration list for one person includes five eggs a month, three-fourths of a pound of a meat a month, one banana a week, oranges only for the sick, a pound of potatoes a week and six pounds of rice per month.

On the virtually nonexistent list are cheese, milk, bacon, many kinds of vegetables, soap, wools and linens. Medicines are in very short supply.

Sipahioğlu said he was told the Russians have two major camps in Cuba, one near Holguin in Oriente Province, and one in central Cuba near Ciego de Avila. Cubans are barred from the areas.

Castro rarely is seen in public. He spends most of his time at Havana University, arguing with the students who have been among the chief supporters of his regime. He denounces Soviet Premier Khrushchev violently.

The students are reported highly critical of the revolutionary government.

The newsman said he believes Castro is supported now only by those working for the regime, young men who like to carry guns and people who were misfits before the revolution.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

A Dog's Life

Bone-chilling cold held much of the nation in its grip and these chickens decided to do something about it at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Valenti at Beaver Falls, Pa. They just moved in on the Valenti's pet dog "Russy" and roosted in the warmth of his dog house. And from the looks of things, "Russy" isn't too happy about the whole situation.

U.S. Weather Is Generally Fair

By The Associated Press
There were some wet spots in the West and Northeast, but generally dry and fairly seasonable weather was the rule in the major part of the nation today.
The major wet belt was along an almost stationary Pacific frontal zone from the northern Rockies southwestward across central California. Rainfall was light in most areas. Light snow powdered mountain sections.
Show also fell in areas south and east of the Great Lakes region, but amounts were not heavy in the region, which was hit by snowstorms for several days last week.
Temperatures were below freezing this morning from the central part of the Midwest eastward to the Atlantic Ocean and in the central Rocky Mountain region. Lowest readings, some below zero, were reported in parts of New England.
Record high temperatures were reported Sunday in the Great Plains as fairly pleasant weather extended over broad sections of the country. Record marks for Dec. 16 included 73 in North Platte, Neb.; 66 in Concordia, Kan., and 57 in Fargo, N.D.
A warmer trend continued in the Southeast after last week's freezing weather, and temperatures were near normal levels. The mercury reached the 70s in southeast Florida. Readings this morning ranged from around freezing in Tennessee and mountain areas of northern Georgia and Alabama to the 50s in Florida and coastal areas.

Christmas Fairs Show Berlin Split

BERLIN (AP)—The Christmas lights were burning bright. The East German border guard took careful aim at the moving figure and squeezed the rifle's trigger.
"A hit," shouted his uniformed companion, clapping him on the shoulder.
It was not another border incident.
The target was a cardboard cut-out moving jerkily along a wire. The soldier was trying his skill in a shooting gallery at East Berlin's Christmas fair.
Soldiers who guard the Red wall dividing Berlin flock to the fair when off duty.
Such fairs are an old German tradition. They are like U.S. county fairs with Christmas accents.
Berliners used to have only one in the three weeks before Christmas. It was set up in the Lustgarten.
Since the war the division of the city has given Berlin two of almost everything, one in the Communist-ruled part and the other in West Berlin.

The fairs illustrate the differences between the two parts of the city.
The West Berlin fair is in eight well-heated halls of exposition buildings. The first thing you see in the entrance is a large manger. Figures show the adoration of Jesus by the Magi.
The East Berlin fair is outdoors, on chilly, windswept Karl Marx Allee.
The materialistic theme is set by a giant model of a space rocket. Two dummy spacemen invite figures from German fairy tales to take a trip to the moon.
"Ach, they promise us trips to the moon. But they won't let us cross the street to West Berlin," growled a middle-aged Berliner.
In the West, exhibits show how Christmas is celebrated around the world. There are mouth-watering displays of traditional Christmas dinners. Christmas ornaments and toys peculiar to the different countries are displayed amid Christmas greetings and lines from favorite carols.
The place swarms with Santa Clauses. They laugh and hand out gifts to children.
There are fewer Kris Kingleys in the East. For several years the Red regime tried to popularize the Russian substitute, Father Frost, but that didn't catch on.
Just a few barkers on stands put on red cloaks to look like Santa.
The Young Pioneers, the Communist youth movement, demonstrate the making of Christmas presents at home. They are working on models of Soviet tanks, guns and rockets.
Over the numerous shooting galleries is the exhortation: "Be prepared to defend the homeland and peace."
There are shooting galleries in the West fair, too, but nobody suggests they are for anything but fun.
You don't see military uniforms in the West fair.
In the West the kids ride carousels with seats made up to simulate street cars, buses, sailboats, helicopters and even old-fashioned horses.
In the East the merry-go-rounds have numerous rockets the kids pretend to be steering to the moon.
The West stalls are loaded with good things to buy and delicacies to eat.
In the East you can buy appetizing blood sausage, potato puffs or taffy apples. There are no oranges, dates, bananas or figs.

Fierce Storm Rakes Europe

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe recovered today from a ferocious winter storm that ripped a wide path of death and destruction.
More than 30 were dead in the wake of hurricane-strength winds that lashed Europe Sunday.
The biggest toll was at sea—at least 23 in the German freighter Nautilus which went down off the Dutch coast. A French fisherman was washed overboard in the English Channel.
In Britain at least eight persons were killed, mostly by falling trees or buildings.
Inland winds topped 100 miles an hour in Britain at times. In Scotland a 117-m.p.h. gust was registered. Houses toppled, great trees were uprooted, roads were blocked and telephone and power lines were torn down.
Britain was fanned by a mild, light breeze today.
In France there were avalanches and floods.
The gales blew down a house in southern Italy, killing a 4-year-old girl and injuring seven other persons. A local whirlwind in Rome's northern suburbs unroofed a number of houses.
Norway lay beneath a deep covering of snow. The wind still blew in southern Norway, but weathermen said it soon would die there, too.

Christmas Cheer At Halfway House

Open house and a Christmas party were held Sunday afternoon at Halfway House, 411 Lancaster. Mrs. Ernest Nelson, Midland, served as hostess, assisted by a number of Big Spring volunteers in distributing gifts and serving refreshments. Several visitors called during the afternoon. Pictured are, standing, Mrs. Hilda Weathers, Herman Bauer, Edith Gay, D. M. McKinney, immediate past president of the volunteer council; Mrs. Nelson, Nelle Brown, Roy McElmurry; seated: James Brown, Dick Kercheville, Joe Pat Green, Norbert C. Haeister Jr., Horace Connell, and Don Smith.

Rites For Mrs. Parrott

MIDLAND — Funeral services for Mrs. Lula Parrott, 70, who died in a car-truck collision on U.S. 80 four miles west of Big Spring Saturday night, were set for 2 p.m. today from the Newmie Ellis Funeral Home chapel in Midland. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park. She was with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ener, in a car being driven by Mr. Ener, when the crash occurred. They were en route to the Abilene home of the Eners. W. W. Treadway, Roscoe, driver of the truck for the J. H. Vinson Trucking Co., was treated and released from Cowper Hospital after the accident. Mr. and Mrs. Ener were also treated and released from Cowper's. Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Ira Holder, 3110 County Club Drive, Midland, with whom she was living, and Mrs. Ener; two sons, Glenn Parrott, Sierra Blanca, and Donald Parrott, Beaumont; five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, a sister, and three brothers.

Church Exhibits New Plant Model

A scale model of the proposed new church plant for the First Baptist Church is now on exhibit in the southwest church vestibule. The model, which encompasses the master plan of development, was prepared by Gary & Hohertz, architects. The display is oriented as it will be on the former County Club tract facing Marcy Drive and the sanctuary in the northwest corner, the educational unit as the south wing, and the fellowship hall and chapel on the east. The church is anxious for all who are interested to inspect the model.

Patients To Stage Christmas Pageant

Patients at the Big Spring State Hospital are working diligently to get the props in order for tonight's Christmas Pageant. The production, which features an all-patient cast, begins at 8 p.m. It will be staged twice, once tonight and again Tuesday night. Sets are going up in the park in front of the hospital's Administration Building. Live animals are being furnished by Pat Patterson. Domesticated sheep, however, have not yet been found.

L. B. Bell Dies Today

Lloyd Basil Bell, 65, 1603 Runnels, died early this morning in a San Antonio hospital following an illness of several years. Mr. Bell operated a grocery store here from 1931-35, when he opened a drug store. He later operated a cafe here until his retirement in 1941. He came here in 1922 from Owensboro, Ky., where he was born April 21, 1897. He was a member of the Macedonia Baptist Church in Kentucky.

Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle.

Pallbearers will be Albert Davis, Dee Davis Jr., Maurice R. Koger, Ike Robb, Harvey Clay and Robert Stripling.

Tree Seedlings Now Available

COLLEGE STATION—An ample supply of tree seedlings is available from the Texas Forest Service for planting this winter. Pine seedling shipments will begin about Dec. 18 from the Indian Mound Nursery near Alto. Windbreaks will be shipped beginning about mid-February. Seedlings will not be sold for ornamental or landscaping purposes. Persons interested in setting out trees for forestation or windbreak purposes should place their order right away, said Bill Smith, extension forester.

Pine applications are available from county agents, soil conservation districts, ASCS offices, or district offices of the Texas Forest Service. Forms for ordering windbreaks are available from West Texas county agents and some soil conservation district offices. Either of the forms may be secured by writing to the Director, Texas Forest Service, College Station, or the Indian Mound Nursery, P.O. Box 337, Alto. Some 15 tree species for windbreak purposes are available to Texans.

Rotary Wives To Be Guests

Rotarians will have wives as guests at Tuesday's meeting. It will be the last meeting until Jan. 8 since the two following Tuesdays fall on Christmas and New Year's Day.

Members are requested to bring gifts to be turned over to the Salvation Army Christmas distribution center. Members whose names run from A to M will bring gifts for boys and those from N to Z, for girls.

Shows Improvement

J. C. Pickle, who recently underwent surgery, is showing some improvement at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. He returned to the hospital last week when complications developed.

Screwworm Barrier Up

MISSION — Sterile screwworm flies are currently being dispersed in 73,000 square miles of Texas, 7,000 square miles of New Mexico and 10,000 square miles along the international border in Mexico. Last week, 77,576,450 flies were distributed, of which about half were males.

The flies are reared in a huge "fly factory" built here with funds collected from individual livestock producers. They are sexually sterilized by being subjected to cobalt-60, a radioactive material, and are then dispersed by air-drop.

Program officials are already making plans to extend the barrier of sterile flies that will stretch along the international border from below Brownsville to the New Mexico-Arizona state line. If weather permits, officials expect the entire barrier to be in place by Feb. 15, 1963. This barrier is designed to prevent native screwworms from entering areas where screwworms have already been eradicated. It is anticipated that nearly 50 million sterile flies per week will be needed for the barrier.

The small number of screwworm specimens being sent in to the Mission laboratory for identification indicates that cold weather is taking a large toll of screwworms in the state. Only 492 specimens were submitted and 879 cases reported without samples last week. Only a few weeks ago, several thousand cases were being reported weekly.

Program officials urge farmers and ranchers to continue to keep close watch over their livestock and treat any wounds and screwworm infestations that may be observed. Producers should also keep sending samples and reporting cases to Mission so that those in charge of the program will know where screwworms still exist and in what numbers.

The law does not mention by name any particular religious group.

The Supreme Court majority, presumably in an 8-1 division, dismissed the challenge of the law with a simple order saying no substantial federal question was presented.

But Justice Douglas filed a dissent saying the clause in the law about observing a Sabbath other than Sunday plainly made it "an aid to all organized religions."

U. S. Supreme Court Again Has Church-State Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over a sharp dissent from Justice Douglas, the Supreme Court dismissed today a challenge of the constitutionality of Kentucky's Sunday closing law.

But in another case touching on the religion vs. state powers issue, the high court agreed to rule on the question of whether the rights of a member of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church were violated when she was denied employment compensation after refusing to work on Saturdays. This case comes from South Carolina.

And, in an action of major importance in an era when many manufacturing plants are moved because of tax inducements or other reasons, the high court declined to review and thus let stand a lower court ruling that employees have no vested right to jobs when a plant is moved from one state to another.

The actions were the highlights of the Supreme Court's last opinion day before a Christmas-New Year's recess. It will next hand down opinions on Jan. 7.

Kentucky's law differs from the no-work-on-Sunday laws in other states in that it contains a clause reading as follows:

"Persons who are members of a religious society which observes as a Sabbath any other day in the week than Sunday shall not be liable (to a penalty) if they observe as a Sabbath one day in each seven."

The law does not mention by name any particular religious group.

The Supreme Court majority, presumably in an 8-1 division, dismissed the challenge of the law with a simple order saying no substantial federal question was presented.

But Justice Douglas filed a dissent saying the clause in the law about observing a Sabbath other than Sunday plainly made it "an aid to all organized religions."

The case the court agreed to hear is an appeal by Adell H. Sheberst, 57, who said she was employed for 35 years in the Besoumont plant of Spartan Mills in Spartanburg, S.C.

In 1957, she said, she joined the Seventh-Day Adventist Church and later was discharged for refusal to work on Saturday, her Sabbath. South Carolina's Employment Security Commission denied her unemployment benefits, citing a state law requiring applicants for compensation must be available for work. The law also provides for disqualification of an applicant if the worker fails to accept available jobs without good cause.

The appeal said Adell Sheberst applied to other mills for work but they were on a six-day basis and she was unwilling to work on her Sabbath. The appeal cited the First Amendment's protection against impairment of free exercise of religion.

PLANT MOVEMENT
The workers-jobs case involved the movement of a plant workers Gear & Sons Co. Inc. from Detroit to Lebanon, Tenn. The plant employed 700.

The United Auto Workers tried to get company agreement that the workers laid off in Detroit should have seniority for jobs at Lebanon. It said the company refused, saying the city of Lebanon had offered certain inducements for the plant move and that the company in turn had agreed to hire its work force in the Lebanon area.

The union brought litigation, advancing the vested right contention. The U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati—in the decision which the Supreme Court let stand—held however, that there was no vested right that whether workers were entitled to jobs under such circumstances was a contractual matter. The contract, in this instance, did not entitle the workers to the jobs, the court said.

WORKERS UPHELD
In an earlier case, involving the closing of a Durkee Famous Foods plant at Elmhurst, N.Y., and the opening of another at Bethlehem, Pa., the U.S. Circuit Court in New York had held the contract entitled the Elmhurst workers to claim jobs at Bethlehem on a seniority basis.

The high court's refusal to consider the challenge to the Kenucky blue law leaves standing a state court decision.

The decision, by the Kentucky Court of Appeals, declared the law valid under the Kentucky and U.S. Constitutions.

Arlan's Department Store of Louisville, Inc., and Evans Furniture Co., were fined $30 each for employing persons on Sunday. The stores appealed to the high tribunal, contending terms of the Kentucky law disclosed an intent to aid religion in violation of the U.S. Constitution.

Collection Is Running Ahead

Collections for the Salvation Army Christmas Fund are running slightly ahead of last year, according to Major Robert L. Short.

If the weather remains nice, donations should meet this year's needs. Through Sunday, collections totaled $1,564.91. Donations received from the kettles have totaled $599.64, up about $25 over last year, and letters and other sources have brought in $965.27.

Last year at this time, donations totaled $1,116.71, Maj. Short said. However, he pointed out that last year the fund ended the season about $500 in the red.

Just over 300 persons have applied for Christmas food baskets, about the same number as in 1961. The applications received close scrutiny when they were made and the selection process is still going on. Preparation is being made for last-minute emergency applications.

Food has been ordered for 200 baskets, but more may be needed. About 3,000 cans of food were donated by school children to alleviate a part of the expense.

Funeral Today For Youngster

Gravestone services were to be held 2 p.m. today at City Cemetery for Carolyn Ann Irwin, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowery Irwin, Gail Rt. The Rev. Jack Strickland, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist Church, will officiate. Arrangements are in charge of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors are the parents, one brother, Bobby Irwin; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jones Jr., and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Irwin.

Two Alcatraz Inmates Exit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two bank robbers sawed their way out of Alcatraz, the forbidding island prison in San Francisco Bay, Sunday night but were retaken alive after losing a battle with the icy water.

One swam only about 100 yards before quitting. The other made it three miles with the help of homemade water wings and became the first escapee known to reach the mainland after breaking from the maximum security institution.

John Paul Scott, 35, from Leitchfield, Ky., made it to shore but the swim proved too much for him. When spotted by two children on a rocky shore he appeared to be dead.

Doctors at the Army's nearby Letterman General Hospital, where Scott was taken, said his body temperature was down to 94 degrees. Waters in the bay average 54 degrees.

Bank robber-kidnaper Darl Dee Parker, 31, of Canton, Ohio, quit sooner because of the cold waters. He made a dash of about 100 yards to a pointed rock off Alcatraz' western end.

Parker just sat waiting on what is known as "Little Alcatraz" as a searching prison boat spotted him.

Both men were returned to Alcatraz.

Vietnamese Hit Red Resistance

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese forces slammed into the Mekong River delta province of Kien Hoa today under heavy air cover and met fairly heavy Communist resistance.

Reports of ground action were delayed one of the U.S. Army escort helicopters participating in the assault was hit. There were no casualties and the craft was able to continue with the mission.

Ross Harrison Dies Here Sunday

Ross M. Harrison, 56, long time employe of the Big Spring State Hospital, died in a local hospital at 10:30 p.m. Sunday following a year's illness. He was born in Ector County April 4, 1906.

Funeral services will be held from the River chapel at 3 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in City Cemetery under the direction of River Funeral Home.

Survivors include the widow, Methyl Bell Harrison, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Donald E. Smith, Big Spring, and Mrs. Thomas Kelley Gail Rt., Big Spring; a son, Jimmy Ross Harrison, Oak Harbor, Wash.; a step-son, Edward Vaughn, Poteau, Okla.; 11 grandchildren; two brothers, Bill Harrison, Big Spring, and Clint Harrison.

Firemen Getting Good Response

"We don't have many dolls left to be dressed." Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said Monday morning. "We had a good response to the call for dressers over the weekend."

Toys have come in well, with the exception of bicycles, which are most needed, Crocker said. Firemen have kept up repairing and repainting toys and are ready for more during the week.

Repairable toys of all kinds are welcome, Crocker said, but several children are in need of bicycles as the only means of transportation.

Stock Market Moves Unevenly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away from an early rise and moved unevenly early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

President Kennedy's tax reduction speech Friday night struck Wall Street as indefinite as to details and the effective date, brokers said, so it did not provide as big a stimulus as some expected.

The market was up on balance at the start but there was nothing unanimous about it and, after a spell, price softened a little and the list was irregular.

Airlines, drug, electrical equipments, and utilities had a slight bulge to the upside. Steels were mostly lower. Motors, oils, chemicals, aerospace issues, and non-ferrous metals were mixed.

Oil Report

Area Picks Up A Pair Of Shallow Prospectors

A 177-acre lease about six miles west of Patricia.

K. K. Amini, Midland, has staked two shallow projects in the Post (Giorita) field in Garza County. Both are in section 11B-5, H&G survey, on a 480-acre lease about five miles northeast of Justiceburg.

No. 2 W. V. Roy spots 1,980 feet from the north and 320 feet from the west lines of the section. The No. 3 W. V. Roy is 660 feet from the north and 1,430 feet from the west lines.

Daily Drilling

BORDEN
Abel and Bancroft No. 1 Clayton, C 2nd SW, 42-24, T&P survey, swabbed in making hole in lime and shale below 6,380 feet.

DOLL OIL PROPERTIES No. 1 Frank Miller is drilling in lime below 844 feet. Location is 2 1/2 miles from the south and 1,300 feet from the west lines of section 33-28-4, J. R. Gorman survey.

Mallard No. 1. Contract in digging below 5,842 feet in lime. Drillsite is 2,500 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section 79-25, H&TC survey.

DAWSON
Standard No. 1 O F. Shuler, spotting C 2W NE section 10-35-40, T&P survey, is bottomed at 11,500 feet and the operator is preparing to plug and abandon. Two-hour drilling test of the Fuselman, between 11,200-500 feet, had a strong flow which decreased to weak. Recovery was a 1,000-foot water column and 10,000 feet of salt sulphur water. Operator also cored the Pennsylvanian, between 6,720-73 feet and recovered 28 feet of shale with no shows on the way down. No results have been reported from an unreported section in the SW 1/4.

GLASSCOCK
Honey No. 1 Clark Estate, C 2W NE section 43-24, T&P survey, swabbed 170 barrels of lead oil from the Spraberry. There remain 1,907 barrels to recover. The project is now shut in.

MARTIN
Craw County Land Co. No. 1 Kingsbird, C 2W SE section 233, Ward CSL survey, is drilling below 11,709 feet in lime and shale.

Completions

BORDEN
William D. McRee No. 4 L. B. Conrad et al. drilled 316 barrels of 43.3-gravity oil with a gas-oil ratio of 1,384, through a 16-64 inch choke on initial potential. Tubing pressure was 430 pounds and casing pressure was 30 pounds. Perforations between 6,734-82 feet were acidized with 100 gallons. Elevation is 2,270 feet. Total depth is 6,740 feet. Pay was topped at 6,728 feet and 4 1/2 inch casing is set at 6,700 feet. The 6 1/2 inch casing is set 1,000 feet from the south and 2,367 feet from the west line of section 5-25, H&TC survey, on a 160-acre lease about 30 miles southeast of Gail.

HOWARD
Caden Petroleum Corp. No. 1 R. T. Shaffer, a Pennsylvanian and Clear Fork test in the Vincent, West (1st) has been plugged and abandoned at 7,722 feet. The hole spots C 2W NE, section 12-25, H&TC survey. It was a southwest offset to the No. 1 Burtin, which recently extended the field to the west.

MITCHELL
L. M. Melton No. 1 A Lynn Halbert, a Turner-Gregory (Clear Fork) attempt about seven miles northeast of West-Cowen has been plugged and abandoned at a total depth of 2,300 feet. The hole is 407 feet from the south and 5,173 feet from the west lines of section 23-39-11.

Mobil No. 24 (U) Mary Foster, spotting 600 feet from the south and 2,096 feet from the east lines of section 7-29, T&P survey, pumped 300 barrels of 30.4-gravity oil with 27 per cent water on initial potential in the late-East Howard field. It is 3,800 gallons and 1,242 feet. Total depth is 2,250 feet. Pay was topped at 1,927 feet and seven-inch casing is set at 2,413 feet. Perforations are at five intervals between 1,943-2,345 feet.

Mail Volume Is Showing Increase

The volume of mail being handled by the Big Spring Post Office is up about one per cent over last year, according to Elmer C. Boatler, postmaster.

Through Sunday, the Post Office has handled 1,501,765 pieces of mail compared to 1,489,887 pieces through the same date in 1961. Boatler said. Despite the increased workload, by working overtime the regular force has been able to take care of the mailing. Last year six extra persons were employed.

"I believe the people are getting their letters, cards and parcels out earlier this year. That is probably one reason for the increase," Boatler said.

He noted that last year the workload dropped to almost normal on Dec. 22. It is still too early to tell exactly what is the reason for the increase.

Leaders Honor Price Daniel

The Star The Shepherds Followed

Symbolic of the Star of Bethlehem, this star, atop the flagpole at Trinity Memorial Park, shines brightly at night giving motorists who pass on US 87 South the impression that it is in the sky. The fountain in the pool at the Park center, is lighted by colored bulbs.

A nativity scene near the office, colored lights and a brilliant white cross on the Mausoleum, and tree lights along the driveways give a restful feeling to those visiting the park at night.

State National Bank Has Helped Area Grow

The State National Bank has seen Big Spring and Howard County grow and has been one of the contributing factors in financing much of the growth.

Through dry years and wet years, through lean years and good years, State National has been able, with financial assistance and counseling, to see the steady, continuing growth of this part of West Texas.

With assets of more than $13½ million, State National understands the needs of business men, farmers, and ranchmen, and stands ready to consult with them on improvements and expansions.

As time for getting land ready for another crop year nears, farmers are invited to come by State National and discuss any needed financing with competent, understanding business men in the bank.

They are understanding because one man is kept in the rural areas most of the time to keep abreast of farming and ranching problems faced by men operating both. He talks with farmers and ranchers and hears their problems and the ever-increasing controls over crop production, their labor troubles, and farming methods.

A personal touch is available for personalized checking through State National Imprinted names and photographs on the checks, make positive identification when writing checks at home or away from home.

A competent staff is always ready to listen and discuss with patrons all plans for the future. Keeping abreast of world, national, state, and local conditions is a daily part of the bank's responsibilities to its customers.

You might say that State National Bank has grown up with the land and is "Time Tried and Proven." It is home owned and operated and doesn't have to wait for decisions.

Blue Lustre can be used in any type rug shampooer or applied with a long handled brush and its gentle action provides top level cleaning efficiency with assured safety to even the most expensive oriental rugs. This premium foam cleaner is a wise selection for your carpet cleaning needs.

Cut Inventories

Since there is an increasing emphasis of merchants and manufacturers on cutting down their investment in inventories, enabling them to use those funds for other purposes, fast and more efficient deliveries to replenish stocks are imperative. Texas and Pacific's piggyback service is particularly helpful where speed is a prime factor since switching time of conventional rail shipments at origin and destination is cut down.

Different Plans

Just as there are variations in the types of piggyback operations, so there are different plans, approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, governing these operations which are available to shippers. Currently, the Texas and Pacific Railway participates in five piggyback methods.

For shippers and consignees, on rail sidings and whose warehousing practices require fast and dependable delivery of merchandise in smaller quantities than car-load lots, Texas and Pacific's TOFC and Truck-Rail piggyback services are ideal.

New Satellite
Now In Orbit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new U.S. satellite whirrs in orbit a few hundred miles above the earth today while Mariner 2—still flashing signals—speeds millions of miles from earth toward eternal orbit around the sun.

But a third satellite, Relay, which was to take the place of the now silent Telstar, wasn't performing properly.
The new satellite, dubbed Explorer XVI, sped aloft Sunday from the Wallops Island, Va., test station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Space agency officials said it reached an orbit varying from 466 to 733 miles above earth and its "telemetry and experiments appear to be operating satisfactorily."

Main mission of Explorer XVI is to find out more about what meteoroids—tiny bits of solid matter that whiz through space—do to space vehicles and solar cells.
Mariner 2, which took a 42-minute electronic look at Venus Friday, was still faithfully reporting Sunday as it headed into orbit around the sun. The U.S. spacecraft journeyed 109 days through space to give earthbound scientists their closest contact with Venus.

Mariner 2 passed within 21,100 miles of Venus Friday. It was 650,000 miles beyond Venus and 37 million miles from earth Sunday.
Attempts to get the partially crippled Relay's equipment working Saturday failed. Scientists hope Relay's solar cells eventually will build up enough power to enable it to operate as planned.

The meteoroids which Explorer XVI was sent to examine may be remnants of exploded planets which revolve around the sun.
These minute bits of space material can hit a satellite with velocities of 7 to 45 miles per second.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Wives of 20 Mexican army generals Sunday honored Mrs. Elvira Sanchez de Bolanos, who grabbed a rifle and helped her husband repel a rebel assault at Huajuapam, Oaxaca.
She is the wife of Capt. Jorge Bolanos, who was in command at the isolated army post Nov. 18 when about 200 men attacked.
The small garrison, surprised while sleeping at early dawn, had trouble mustering a resistance.
At length, however, the determined fire of Bolanos and his wife forced the rebels to flee.
"It was a nightmarish night," young Mrs. Bolanos said. "But then do you know of any woman who would not come to help her husband and defend her children in case of danger?"
Bolanos and his wife have been married 18 months and have a 3-month old baby.

U. N. Has Heaviest Stakes In Congo

LONDON (AP) — The stakes in the Congo's present trial of strength are very high, but the United Nations is threatened with the most devastating loss. It could lose its prestige in the eyes of 240 million Africans.

President Moise Tshombe of Katanga is playing for $40 million a year in royalties, taxes and dividends from the mining colossus, Union Miniere.

Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Central Congo government is playing for the life of his government, a chance to bring stability and peace to the Congo, and a part of the $40 million.

The United Nations has laid on the table its prestige as a guarantor of world peace and the integrity of the 29 new and struggling nations of Africa.

In more than two years of independence, the political leaders of the Congo have been able to make few constructive moves toward improving the condition of the poverty-stricken Congolese.

All the energies, all the inadequate talents of the Congo's leaders have been devoted to one goal—bringing Katanga, the richest slice of the country, back into the Congo.

The Congo has slipped deeper into inflation and impoverishment. Only the United Nations and Western financial aid have held the old Belgian colony together — without Katanga.

Even in Katanga, where Tshombe has poured Union Miniere revenue into guns and an army of 18,000 men, inflation has taken hold. Commercial life has edged toward a standstill. Shoes and shirts, new cars and luxuries have disappeared from the stores. Katanga's currency has cheapened.

Tshombe has staked everything on humbling the United Nations, forcing its withdrawal from Katanga and maintaining his rich economic empire intact.

What power exists in the Congo is tightly held by a group which includes Gen. Joseph Mobutu, commander of the army; security chief Victor Nendaka, who controls the police; Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko; and Adoula.

If the Adoula government should be voted out by parliament, Mobutu and Nendaka would still hold controlling power — the army and the police. Both have worked closely with the United Nations in the past.

Mobutu ordered the Communist diplomatic missions out of the Congo in 1960. They are back now and increasingly active, but it is doubtful the Communists ever could get a hold on a Congolese government as firm as they held on Lumumba.

It is difficult to conceive of what Congolese politicians might do in such an emergency as the fall of the Adoula government.

Whatever the outcome of this power struggle, the United Nations could not withdraw from the Congo without a damaging loss of prestige. It is committed by its mandate to the maintenance of order, the prevention of civil war and the maintenance of the Congo's original borders which include Katanga.

Any Congolese government which forced the withdrawal of U. N. forces would be committing the nation to anarchy.

Heavy Fog Covers Big Part Of State

Blinding fog that slowed all modes of transportation—land, water and air — enveloped big chunks of East and South Texas early Monday.

A number of crashes were reported. Three highway accidents in the Marshall area of East Texas sent 10 persons to hospitals. The crashes, which involved four trucks and eight cars, occurred within an hour on U.S. 80 between Marshall and Longview.

Houston's International Airport shutdown at 8 p.m. Sunday because of zero visibility. Traffic on the Houston Ship Channel also was halted.

Elsewhere over Texas skies generally were clear.

Temperatures remained mild at all but one or two spots Monday, but there were forecasts for a cooling trend across the north part of the state by mid-week.

Fog hovered across much of South Texas in early morning. It was partly cloudy in West Texas and fair in other sections.

Points in the fog belt included Beaumont, College Station, Lufkin, Houston, Galveston and Brownsville.

The Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy skies and little change in temperatures all over Texas through Tuesday.

Top readings Sunday afternoon ranged from 85 degrees at Laredo down to 58 at Galveston.

A 31-degree mark made Junction the only point with freezing weather early Monday. Temperatures elsewhere ranged up to 56 at Brownsville.

JFK Reviews Term Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy reviews his first two years in the White House tonight in an unusual hour-long television interview.

The program, called "After Two Years—A Conversation with the President," will be carried by the Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co. television networks at 6:30 p.m. EST and the National Broadcasting Co. television network at 8:30 p.m.

Kennedy returned to the White House Saturday from an overnight stay in New York. After attending church Sunday morning, he sat down with television newsmen Sander Vanocur of NBC, William H. Lawrence of ABC and George Herman of CBS to tape the interview.

It began an active week for Kennedy. He meets with the National Security Council executive committee today and also hears a report from Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's ministerial council in Paris.

Rusk, who returned Sunday night, is expected to tell Kennedy the United States has a major task on its hands to persuade its NATO allies to contribute more conventional forces to the defense of Europe.

Dust Conditions Can Be Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dust storm conditions on the Great Plains can now be predicted with about 85 per cent accuracy seven months in advance of the calendar year in which the storms will occur.

The Agriculture Department said that by using a new wind erosion climatic index developed by the Agricultural Research Service in cooperation with the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, scientists can forecast in May the number of dust storms likely to occur in a 12-month period beginning the next January.

Accurate estimates of the number of dust storms in the season ahead would help Great Plains farmers to decide whether special protective measures are needed.

A Devotional For The Day

The light shines in darkness, a darkness which was not able to master it. (John 1:5, Knox.)
PRAYER: O loving Father, we pray that the light which we have seen in Jesus Christ may shine in our hearts. Then help us to let that same light shine through us that we may bring it to many a weary soul. We pray in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

(From The "Upper Room")

Looking At A Problem

The trustees of Howard County Junior College may stir up a hornet's nest, particularly among their contemporary colleges with ambitions, by a proposal to halt establishment of new colleges until some sense and system can be applied. They take a more or less dispassionate view in that the present ambition of HCJC is to be a strong two-year college. Thus, the trustees have contended that there should be a better way to govern the creation of public colleges, either two or four years, than by hit or miss methods, local campaigns, political pressures, and so on. They have proposed that the legislature set up a qualified commission to survey the situation and make recommendations based on all the pertinent factors which will best serve the most people in keeping with soundest economic and convenience.

There undoubtedly is and will be a need for more four-year colleges in the state. Conversion of existing two-year colleges into senior colleges may be part of the answer, but it may not be all the answer. Some authorities see merit in adding branches of major state institutions of higher learning at key points, possibly in conjunction with existing two-year colleges. There may be other ways. Whether the approach proposed is the proper one is subject to a divergence of views, but developments which would tend to encourage stability or to reduce a rash of bids for senior status would improve the position of junior colleges with harried legislators.

Making It On Their Own

When awards for outstanding performance were handed out last week at the annual Lions football banquet, they were shared by five stalwart young Americans. Ethnically, there were included young men with Anglo, Latin and Negro backgrounds, but Americans all. Each time the announcement was made, fellow squad members stood and cheered in salute. They did so because they knew better than anyone else that their teammates had made it on their own. Working shoulder to shoulder on the gridiron where you get only what you can earn, they had developed a wholesome appreciation that a man is entitled to prove what he can do and is entitled to the credit for doing it. This attitude, this spirit, this pride in the accomplishment of the team is what made the squad one of the best beloved in the school's history.

Holmes Alexander A Final Analysis Of South Africa

JOHANNESBURG. South Africa—Veron J. Veritas, the old truth-teller, was submitting to a plane interview as he departed from a country which he liked very much—and yet:

Had Mr. Veritas seen the slightest evidence that the white man's government oppresses or brutalizes the black and colored peoples?

"NARY A SIGN of that," averred Veritas. "There are fewer uniformed policemen in all Pretoria and Johannesburg than you'd find on Capitol Hill and Times Square. But this raises the question of how many secret police are moving around in plain clothes. South African officials are pretty vague about that."

But you witnessed no ill-will between the races which you saw walking the streets of the cities and working side by side in factories and mines?

"NO VISIBLE ill-will," agreed Veritas, who cannot tell a lie. "But, then, I didn't see much affection or ordinary companionship between the races either. Apartheid may be the best or only way of co-existence under our peculiar circumstances, but there's a remoteness among your people. Every man's an Island, more so than in other countries, I believe."

"IN THE RURAL areas, yes. The Bantu is the pastoral type. As a farmer and grazier, he lives the tribal life and likes it. But it's a different story in the cities. The Bantu, like the Oriental, is a mimic of the white man."

Well, did Mr. Veritas have a considered opinion on whether or not White Supremacy in South Africa would work out in the long run?

"YES, I HAVE an opinion that it will work out, but not quite in the way it's being officially presented. I don't mean by this that the Verwoerd Government is insincere. But the Verwoerd Government, like all governments, is responsive to the realities of life. Ten years from now, barring an invasion from the North or subversion from within by communism, South Africa seems likely to be a dual state not so much Black and White, as agricultural and industrial. I look for the Bantu to remain largely farmers on their homelands, with light industry along the borders. But the big cities, surrounded by heavy industry, will be mixed.

"YOU SEEM to find us full of contradictions. I do," said Veritas. "So many contradictions that I hardly know where to start naming them. For example, there's little doubt that a plebiscite of rural Bantu would give a large affirmative vote in endorsement of the government's policy of retrenching the native homelands. Why doesn't the government hold such a plebiscite? I'm told the Verwoerd officials are confident of winning, but to hold a vote would be to admit that the Bantu are capable of making decisions for themselves. It seems contradictory for a government with a successful and popular experiment in agriculture (which is a headache to most countries) wouldn't prove it by a referendum?"

"TO GET AWAY from racial subjects, which is hard to do in your country," said Veritas, "there's the matter of free enterprise. Everybody talks about it. Everybody's in favor of it. Yet steel production here is almost wholly nationalized. I know this is a holdover from Commonwealth days when only the state had the money to invest in big enterprises. I know, too, that the steel plants are not run by bureaucrats or civil servants, but by businessmen, just as if the whole business were a corporation owned by private shareholders. But any nationalized industry is at the mercy of a change of administration."

Well, that could happen. We're a free enterprise people by nature and preference.

"YOU ARE, indeed," agreed Veritas. "Yet this is a planned economy. Your economists tell me that they don't want to expand any faster than your consumer demands and your population increases require. It's a highly mechanized country, and becoming more so. Your planners tell me that machines are far more efficient than human workers, and that unemployment is inevitable as automation increases. You accept the curse of unemployment. In America we try to upgrade workers so that they get more spendable, and buy more consumer goods. We refuse to accept unemployment as inevitable. We don't put a ceiling on production. Which, then, is free enterprise? Your way or ours? The same definition can't be applied to both, but maybe it's just a matter of semantics."

DO YOU HAVE any suggestions about our two countries?

"Yes," said Veron J. Veritas, whose truth-telling is compulsive. "We have a common problem—race. We have a common enemy—communism. We have a common ideal—free enterprise. We ought to realize that our similarities are a lot more important than our differences." (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

WHAT OTHERS SAY

FOLLOWING the dramatic fracture of the recent space communications bill filibuster, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) declared that the historic vote will rise to plague the Senate "for decades to come."

Be that as it may, the vote, and what led up to it, has opened a rift in the Democratic Party that may take years, if not decades, to close.

For in their angry opposition to the administration's stand for private operation of the new system, the leaders of the "Professional liberal" wing made statements President Kennedy and his lieutenants will find impossible to forgive or forget.

Senators Morse and Kefauver boldly accused the supporters of the bill, including the President, of a "giveaway" of the people's money to private interests.

Sen. Douglas of Illinois took another tack. He accused his party leadership, in effect, of cynical double-dealing—of going along hand-in-hand with the liberals at election time, but (a different line in the Senate). He called Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma the "uncrowned king of the Senate." This was clearly a slap at Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and—interestingly—at deputy leader Hubert Humphrey, whose credentials in the liberal bloc have not heretofore been challenged.

So it appears quite definite that the ultra-liberal handful—Morse and Douglas and Gore and Neuberger and a few more—have thrown down the gauntlet. Will the President pick it up? He is not the kind of young man to let such a direct challenge to his leadership go unmet.

And yet much of the platform on which Mr. Kennedy was elected was, as Douglas suggests, well over on the liberal side. There will, of course, be manifold efforts, at breach-closing, especially with the congressional elections in the offing. But the liberals' explosion in the Senate indicates the fuse has been burning for a long time, and that the fire will not easily be extinguished, if at all.

THE TIE THAT DOESN'T BIND

James Marlow Again, A Topsy-Turvy Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Things look upside down and wrong side up as 1962 slithers toward a close in this dizzy world where mankind has been its own worst enemy.

Soviet troops in Cuba may be more help than danger, at least temporarily. Gigantic Russia's relations with her gigantic Red Chinese ally never looked worse.

And U.S. allies may be worried because American-Russian relations suddenly seem better but for the worst reasons.

RUSSIA, in addition to medium and intermediate range missiles which she meekly withdrew under American pressure, gave Fidel Castro other weapons.

The Russian troops sticking around, perhaps to handle those other weapons in the very unlikely case of an American invasion, may be serving another purpose which benefits the United States. They may be also keeping the Soviet weapons out of the hands of Castro's unpredictables, particularly if they're the kind which could be used against the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

AN ATTACK on that base would really put the fat in the fire for then the United States would probably feel compelled to invade. And if that happened Premier Khrushchev would probably feel compelled to go to Cuba's assistance—unless he washed his hands of Castro altogether—and then all the fat there is would be in the fire.

It was Khrushchev's withdrawal of his missiles that set the Red Chinese loose in their worst burst of vituperation against the Russians. Khrushchev has replied in kind.

AT THIS moment no one seems to know, and this includes the Russians and Chinese, whether the Red allies will split and thus split the Communist world or somehow continue to do business while leashing each other in political. For sheer hypocrisy and deceit, nothing since World War II matched the Soviet attempt to put missiles in Cuba, aimed at the United States, while insisting they were strictly defensive.

Once the scheme was discovered and Khrushchev backed down, relations between the United States and Russia became, if not downright cordial, at least amazingly non-hostile.

LAST WEEK before the Soviet parliament the Russian leaders, from Khrushchev down, were so pleasant about the United States that in Paris the speech of Foreign Secretary Andrei Gromyko was regarded as "virtually pro-American."

It's too soon to say whether the purgation of the spirit which in the Cuban crisis has created an era of new and better relations between the United States and Russia. But Sunday French officials said they understood President De Gaulle, at his meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan, expressed concern about the possibility a special American-Soviet relationship might be developing.

This may seem an odd reaction since De Gaulle has hoped for a new and better relationship between Russia and the West to assure a long period of peace for Europe.

THE MOST dramatic sign of a Washington-Moscow understanding, as De Gaulle was said to see it, lay in the plan, endorsed by President Kennedy, for a so-called hot line between the White House and the Kremlin.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will taking a tablespoon of vegetable oil every day improve the skin and hair? Will it cause facial hair to grow? —Miss J. O.

No to both questions. The average person doubtless gets more vegetable oil than that in salad dressing and other foods anyway.

To Your Good Health Difference Between Cyst And Tumor

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. Dear Dr. Molner: I had a vaginal cyst removed and am concerned about it. Will it return, and what caused it? Can cancer develop? What is the difference between a cyst and a tumor? CONCERNED

We get so wrapped up these days in the new "wonders of science" that we don't have time to discuss some of the older items of knowledge that aren't so mysterious. How many people DO know the difference between a cyst and a tumor?

The body is equipped with thousands of glands—a few big ones such as the thyroid, ovarian, pituitary, adrenal and others, and a vast number of tiny ones, particularly in the skin and mucous surfaces.

The purpose of these glands is to produce one material or another. As an example, take the sebaceous, or oily, glands of the skin. When a gland becomes clogged, it keeps on producing but its material can't get out. As material accumulates, the gland becomes stretched, like a balloon blown up too far, and a lump forms.

The pressure builds up again. That's why we have long known that this is no cure for a cyst, or clogged gland. The only permanent solution is to remove the whole gland.

Vaginal cysts are very common. Unless they are painful or otherwise cause trouble, the best rule is to let them alone. They rarely become cancerous. It is possible for a cyst, like any other tissue in the body, to become cancerous, but there's no reason to expect it to do so, any more than we expect an ingrown toenail, or a broken leg, or a cut finger, or an abscess tooth to turn into cancer. So "Concerned" should quit being worried about a cyst that has been removed.

Unlike a cyst, a tumor is a growth. The most familiar form is a wart. Cells in some form of tissue begin to multiply faster than is necessary to replace cells that are dying off—which goes on constantly.

Fatty tumors on the skin, which may grow to considerable size, are a common example. Tumors can occur just about anywhere, unlike cysts which occur only in glands or other enclosed places which become clogged and gradually fill up.

Around The Rim Meet The Invisible Friend Lopo

Talk about Harvey and his invisible rabbit, we've got a mythical beast who has the run of the Hart household.

He's part wolf and part dog, whichever strikes the fancy of the No. Two daughter, Phyllis (age three), and he's endearingly called "Lopo," after a predatory quadruped created in a Walt Disney movie. The heiress was privileged to see the film and simply decided to bring him home with her. Judging from her conversation, he's her constant companion. The fact that she takes liberties with the pronunciation of the animal's name lessens her enthusiasm for their new friendship not one whit.

THIS LOPO is apt to be curled up in a chair you might want to occupy, lounging across Mama's best bedspread or standing behind you sniffing at you suspiciously. Only Phyllis can see him, it seems.

You can feel free to pet him but I wouldn't recommend it, unless he gets a command from his mistress to muzzle his hostility—which is likely to come if you cop a plea of feeling insecure.

Lopo has shared attentions of late with Christmas, the prospect of a visit from Saint Nick (he'll have to come in the front door—we have no fireplace) and the Yule tree.

THE OTHER NIGHT, Phyllis was inspecting the tree and its gaudy ornaments minutely and in a manner that could hardly be called dainty. The investigation was becoming so exhaustive and so reckless that I became fearful she was going to bring the whole thing crashing about her ears.

"Come over here with me, dear," I called out, without exactly suggesting that she was on the verge of capsizing the decorated sapling.

"NO, I CAN'T," she retorted, somewhat waspishly. "I'm bothering this tree."

Not long ago, she was leaning against a window, elbows propped against the sill, with her face cupped in her hands, when the musical notes of a bird that had paused in passing reached her ears.

"Listen!" she exclaimed, to no one in particular, "he's singing my song."

HER OLDER SISTER, Carol (age six) is not quite certain how long Phyllis will be in growing up.

Not many days back, Carol inquired of her mother: "Mama, will I be married by the time Phyllis starts to school?"

THE TWO GET along as well as kids can be expected to most of the time and I think a contributing reason is that the older one usually shows some regard for the feelings and respects the opinions of her confederate in sisterhood. Like the time when she asked the No. Two daughter: "Do you want to be a boy cowboy or a girl cowboy?"

Cubans Haven't Invaded Florida

MIAMI BEACH — "For heaven's sake, tell the rest of the country that there is no barred-wire on the benches and no tank traps in the streets!"

This piteous plea for justice, truth and fair play came from one of the editors of Miami's largest newspaper.

"TELL THEM that there are no land mines under the palm trees and no barbed-wires on the boulevards," he continued. "Tell them that even at the height of the Cuban crisis I never saw more than five soldiers on the streets of this community in any given 24-hour period."

"And make clear that we citizens do not carry side arms or fear that Castro is about to invade."

Then this earnest man, pleading for the salvation of the tourist season, made a gesture so noble I am still shaken by it.

"TELL 'EM THE truth, tell 'em it's cold as hell at the moment, but tell 'em we are not on a war footing down here and that they have nothing to fear from Cuba—ah-h-h—Cuba."

Woman and girl, I have been coming to Florida off and on for 30 years. But this is the first time any native son has ever admitted even the remote possibility that the weather reading at Miami Beach is anything but "Fair and warmer."

BUT EVEN the cold spell, which has wrought such havoc among the citrus groves and the truck farms, is — for the first time in Miami history — a temporary annoyance if only trippers and tourists can get it out of their heads that Miami and Miami Beach are in a state of siege.

Truth to tell, there is no barred-wire on the beaches. But if there were, it would be difficult for the casual tourist to glimpse. There is a report that on the other side of all the vast, shimmering hotels and luxe co-op apartment houses towering over Collins Avenue is the Atlantic Ocean.

PERSONAL investigation proves the report true. The Atlantic does lap this golden strand and it can be glimpsed if one has influence and can get on the shore front of these great caravansaries, or if one knows a cunning native who is willing to guide him to the few places where a free glimpse of the Atlantic is available.

However, a stunning curtain of glass, steel and concrete effectively blots out the ocean for miles along the beach.

ANY INVADING force will have to take this formidable barricade, and its guerrilla army of beach-and-bellboys, toughened by long years of contact with the tourist trade, before it can hope to get even as far as Indian Creek, much less Hialeah. (That will give the rest of the nation ample time to prepare.)

Despite all the brave whistling in the teeth of the coldest weather in the tourist season has gotten off to a slow start. Every Floridian is convinced that the Cuban crisis is to blame. Citizens believe a large percentage of tourists who would ordinarily be heading South at this season are just plain chicken.

"THEY THINK this is a war zone," snorted an old friend. "Why, there hasn't been a shot fired in anger in these parts since we got rid of Capone!"

Even Republicans in Florida feel grateful to President Kennedy. "He's planning to spend Christmas in Florida, isn't he?" demanded a member of the Grand Old Party. "He wouldn't let his parents come to Florida if he thought it was dangerous, would he? He wouldn't let his wife and Caroline and John come if we were at war, would he?"

"NO, HE'S COMING because he knows that Florida is the greatest winter vacation land in the nation!" declared this true native son. "He's coming because he knows it's safe as a church and because he also knows that the sun always shines here — eventually." (Copyright, 1962, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Khushchev's Contradictions

WASHINGTON — Premier Khrushchev has just made a speech to the "Supreme Soviet"—or Russian Parliament—which attempts to explain, publicly for the first time why the Soviet Union sent missiles and planes into Cuba. It is, however, the most flagrant example of deliberate deception by the head of a government that has been given to the world since the days of Adolf Hitler.

THE INFLUENCE of Nikita Khrushchev will inevitably suffer. For, while he insists that he sent missiles and planes to Cuba to counter the alleged threat of aggression by the United States, the chronology of events actually shows that the missiles were enplaned and the planes were shipped to Cuba long before there was any crisis in the relations between Cuba and the United States. Due to censorship, this discrepancy in dates will not be revealed to the Soviet people.

THOUGH ARGUING for the right of a nation to deal with its own internal affairs, Mr. Khrushchev contradicted himself in his speech when he said the Soviet Union felt it desirable not only to take control of certain important programs inside Cuba but also to maintain a Soviet military organization there under direct command of the Soviet defense ministry instead of under the Cuban government. He said: "It is true that, at the request of the Cuban government, we sent arms there. But what motives guided us in doing this? Surely humane ones. Cuba needed arms as a means of deterring aggressors, not as a means of attack. Cuba was, indeed, under a real threat of invasion."

The Soviet Premier added: "A VERY ALARMING situation had arisen. Everything showed that the United States was preparing to carry out an attack on the Cuban Republic using its own armed forces."

But in the very next paragraph, the Soviet Premier insisted that none of his weapons sent to Cuba could be used for offense. In recent weeks, however, he has removed some of these same weapons because the United States characterized them as offensive. Everybody knows that the missiles were capable of nuclear attack on cities in the United States and that the planes were able to carry atom bombs and drop them on cities in certain sections of this country.

IT IS DIFFICULT to understand just why the defense of Cuba suddenly became so important to the Soviet Union that it was willing to spend a billion dollars and send weapons which were capable of actually carrying on an attack against the United States, with which country the Soviet Union had professed to be on friendly terms.

The Soviet Premier weakly explained the dilemma in this way:

"Rockets were placed there so that the American imperialists, if they really decided on invasion, should feel that the war which they were threatening stood off their own frontier, and so that they should have a more realistic idea of the danger of thermonuclear war . . ."

BUT WHAT Mr. Khrushchev, despite all his conflicting statements, did not explain is why, if he wished to aid Cuba, it was necessary to send any missiles there at all. If, as an ally of the Cuban government, he wished to protect Cuba, he could have threatened to send his missiles from Soviet territory.

He now claims that the United States "gave before the whole world a public undertaking not to attack the Cuban Republic and to restrain their allies from doing so." But nowhere does he reveal that verification of the removal of the missiles and planes is still being denied to the United States and that a "no invasion" pledge by the United States is related directly to the establishment of a system of international inspection on the ground in Cuba.

"WHOSE SIDE has triumphed?" asks Mr. Khrushchev. "Who has won?" It can be said here that it is reason that has won—the cause of peace and people's security has won."

But the difficulty is not in deciding which side has "triumphed." For the speech delivered by Nikita Khrushchev shows conclusively that the Soviet Union planned an aggression against the United States and used her stooge—the Castro government—for the purpose of threatening and perhaps even of making a surprise attack on this country. LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Someone on the Lubbock paper needs to re-read Dale Carnegie's book, "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

The writer fashioned a prejudiced article following HCJC's unsuccessful basketball invasion of Texas Tech last week.

"The Hawks, who apparently came to fight," the article stated, "as much as to play basketball — and succeeded only in convincing fans that a checkerboard lineup isn't conducive to good relations—fell behind before the half and stayed there."

"Coach Buddy Travis, who spent much of his time the first half on the side of the court yelling at officials, saw the score change hands seven times in the first half. He also saw his Hawks blow the lead as (Dub) Malaise and Company stayed with the elbow-throwing Hawks."

The fellow who wrote the article (who failed to use his byline) must have been shaken up by the contest, because he later referred to HCJC as San Angelo.

By the word "checkerboard," I assume he had reference to the fact that HCJC is an integrated school and makes use of Negro talent.

The writer, and other Lubbock residents, might as well get used to the idea of opposing teams with Negro players. Southwest Conference teams are going to integrate and that time is not very far removed.

Gene Gibson, coach of the Raiders, has told intimates he'd jump at the chance of taking a Negro if the boy were an outstanding player.

As for the elbow-swinging incidents, the fouls in the game were evenly distributed. A total of 23 were called against each team.

HCJC could probably measure the Picadors handsily anywhere but in Lubbock. Out-of-town varsity teams have always found it hard to win there, too.

Felix (Doc) Blanchard, the former West Point All-American who visited here the other night to break bread with the high school gridders, seemed genuinely surprised and pleased to receive the golf bag the Lions Club gave him.

Blanchard said he only recently had purchased a set of clubs to get out on the golf course whenever possible. He shoots in the low 90's now.

Doc said he was sorely tempted to take one of the offers extended him by the pros when he completed his required military duty. The best one apparently came from the Pittsburgh Steelers. He says it was good enough that it would have just about solved his financial needs for life.

Blanchard rarely sees Glenn Davis, his old running mate at the Academy. The last time the two met was about two years ago. Glenn is now in public relations with the Los Angeles Times. Davis stayed in pro ball only two years after leaving the Army.

Doc scouts part of the time for the varsity team at the Air Force Academy. He charted strategy against SMU after watching the Ponies against Maryland the past season.

Darrell Royal, the University of Texas football coach, has produced five bowl teams in his six years as mentor there.

Jim Pittman, the University of Texas coaching aide, visited here last week to check on a few boys in the area.

Ronnie Banks, the junior guard playing with the Big Spring Steers, stands only 5-feet-10 but can jump and touch the basketball hoop with either hand.

Borger, Rotan Are Playoff Favorites

By The Associated Press
Borger, Dumas, Jacksboro and Rotan will be favored to bring the Texas schoolboy football campaign to a crashing close with championships this week, but don't bet on it.

Form has gone out the window in this upsetting campaign, which finds only two pre-season choices around for the finals.

Borger, one of two undefeated and untied teams left, faces San Antonio's miracle Eagles of Brackenridge for the championship of Class AAAA at Abilene Saturday afternoon.

Dumas, the mighty defending champion, squares off with surprising Pharr-San Juan-Alamo for the Class AAA title at Fort Worth, also Saturday afternoon.

Jacksboro, unbeaten, untied and highest scoring team in the state, collides with unheralded Rockdale at Arlington Friday night for the Class AA crown.

Rotan, a veteran outfit that has averaged 37.2 points, meets Ingleside, conquerer of powerful New London, for the Class A championship. They tangle at Temple Saturday afternoon.

Only Dumas and Rotan were pre-season favorites to reach the finals. In fact, six of the eight teams will be in the title games for the first time.

Old heads in the state playoffs are Dumas and Brackenridge, which won the championship back in 1947 and had done little since until this season.

Brackenridge is most unusual. It lost to Harlandale, Kingsville and Corpus Christi Miller in early season. But in the last six games the Eagles have romped to 266 points.

Brackenridge may not win the title but it has been a sensation and it has one of the top passers of schoolboy history in Victor Castillo.

Dumas has played the kind of football expected of it all season. Its only loss was 13-0 to Borger, which takes no glamor off the Demons. Borger is in a higher class and is a very strong team, as was demonstrated Saturday when the Bulldogs crushed Lufkin 28-0 in the semifinals.

Pharr-San Juan-Alamo is a team that came from nowhere into the stretch. It lost to Edinburg 14-8 and was tied 0-0 by San Benito, indicating early that it wasn't going anywhere. But the Bears disproved this when they started conference play.

Jacksboro has rolled up 550 points in 14 games, an average of 39.2. But the going has been rougher in recent weeks. Last Saturday the Jack Rabbits had to resort to field goals to beat Winters 6-0.

Rockdale's only loss was to Hearne 6-0. It has had to struggle in practically every game, but it's tough and glories in a close fight.

Rotan's only loss was the first game of the season, to Class AA Hamlin 12-10. Since then it has gathered strength with each week.

Forsan Teams Sweep Top Honors In Own Tourney

FORSAN — Forsan swept top honors in its invitational basketball tournament here Saturday evening, the Forsan boys nipping Big Spring B, 49-46, and the Forsan girls beating Coahoma, 53-41, in the championship finals.

Just to gild the lily, the Forsan B girls won consolation honors by beating Lakeview, 40-25, while Garden City edged Barnhart, 41-39, for consolation honors in the boys' division.

The boys' final turned out to be a cliff-hanger, with Forsan coming from behind with deadly accuracy from the free throw line. The Buffs erased a 31-23 half-time deficit, pulled within one point at the end of the third and then went ahead. The Buffs were outshot, 23-16, from the field but made good on 17 free throws while Big Spring could hit but four.

All-tournament selections for the boys included Mike Peters, Big Spring, most valuable player; Hayden Norris, Coahoma; Gary Pagan, Garden City; Kenneth Soles and Hubert Bardwell, Forsan, and Keith Bristow, Big Spring.

For the girls, all-tournament honors went to Betty Conger, Forsan, most valuable player; Judy Hirt, Garden City; Jodie Dodd and Bonnie Simpson of Forsan; Sandy Clanton and Shirlene Richers, Coahoma; and Judy Hughes, Forsan.

This is the way the tournament went:

Tony Lema Wins Mexican Open

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tony Lema, of San Leandro, Calif., won the Mexican open for the second straight year by four strokes over the par-72 Hacienda Club course Sunday for his fourth tournament victory.

Lema posted a 72-hole total of 281 for the $3,000 first prize.

Jayhawks, Decatur Draw Byes In Meet Pairings

Top seeded HCJC and Decatur Baptist College have been given first round byes in the 11th annual Howard County Junior College Christmas Basketball tournament, which will be played here Dec. 28-29.

HCJC defeated Decatur in the finals of last year's tournament, 86-73.

Stanton QBC Honors Buffs At 7 O'Clock

STANTON—Jack Thomas, head football coach at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, will deliver the principal address at the Quarterback Club's football banquet honoring the Stanton High School football team this evening.

The party gets under way in the REA Co-Op building at 7 p.m. Tickets are available to the general public at $2 a plate.

Winners of the Big Spring Daily Herald's Lineman of the Year and Back of the Year certificates will also be announced.

Thomas is leading a football comeback at H-SU. He is in his first year as coach at the Abilene school, which threatened to drop football last year. Officials, however, later vowed to build up the school's program and brought in Thomas to lead the program.

Stanton moved into a new conference (7-AA) the past season and wound up with an overall record of 4-6. In 7-AA play, the Buffs were 1-3.

The Buffaloes scored a total of 142 points, compared to 191 for the opposition.

Thomas serves H-SU in the dual role of athletic director and head football coach. He previously coached in Louisiana and Mississippi, as well as in other areas of Texas.

Thomas is 37 and a native of South Texas. He's been coaching for 15 seasons. During that time he has been associated with teams that won 93 games in 149 starts.

His background includes high school, college and professional playing and coaching in high school, college and service ball.

The H-SU mentor is a graduate of Luling High School (1942) and played one season at Baylor before transferring to Tulsa University. He made the change because Baylor abandoned the sport temporarily during the war.

At Tulsa, he was on teams that played in three consecutive major bowl games and during his four seasons there the Hurricanes won 25, lost seven and tied one.

After graduating from Tulsa in 1947 with a BBA degree, Coach Thomas played the following season with the Los Angeles Rams and then returned to Texas to coach at Seguin High School in 1948, 1949 and 1950 where his teams won 22 of 30 decisions. He was player-coach of the Brooke Army Medical Center in 1951 where his team ranked second nationally for service teams and beat Camp LeJeune in the post-season Cigar Bowl.

Thomas served as an assistant at Trinity university in 1952 and 1953 and the San Antonio school won the Gulf Coast title his second year there. He received his Master's Degree from Trinity in 1954.

Cabin Fleur Wins Sunland Feature

EL PASO—J. H. Nail's Cabin Fleur, a dainty filly with a compelling desire to run, shattered a track record at Sunland Park Sunday to win the coveted Texas Derby and became the undisputed ruler of the three-year-old division. Prince Papule was second, Zip Now finished third.

The chestnut daughter of First Cain-En Fleur turned the Sunland oval in a blistering 1:35.4 to score by seven lengths and eased up at the wire.

It was a true Texas victory, although owner J. H. Nail of Albany, Texas, did not see his filly in her finest hour.

According to her rider, Arthur Anderson, who handled her flawlessly, she could have won the race wire to wire although he was content to let Johns Pick and Soles-Darlin duel for the lead around the first turn.

At the top of the far turn, Cabin Fleur was running smoothly and opened up three lengths without undue effort as the field swung into the stretch. Prince Papule made a bid but the winner appeared to become stronger with every stride. An eighth of a mile from the wire it was a race for second and third as Cabin Fleur was all by herself. Prince Papule grabbed the place by a neck over

Johnson Helps Shatter Passing Record In NFL

Charley Johnson of Big Spring had another big day Sunday when he guided the St. Louis Cardinals to a 45-35 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in the final NFL game for both teams.

Johnson, in his second year with the Cards, hit for two touchdown passes and gained 386 yards by completing 18 of 33 aeriels.

Sonny Jurgensen of the Eagles tossed five long touchdown heaves, three to Tommy McDonald, and gained 419 yards by completing 15 of 34 bombs.

The two passers' combined yardage of 805 easily broke the NFL single game record of 748 yards, set by the Cardinals and the Chicago Bears in 1949.

The victory gave the Cardinals a 4-1 record and shoved the Eagles into the Eastern Conference cellar with a 3-9-1 record.

Johnson's scoring passes were to Sonny Randle for 77 yards and to John David Crow for 11 yards.

The Big Spring native also ran six yards for a touchdown.

Johnson has now thrown 16 touchdown passes and has completed 151 of 309 aeriels for 2,430 yards.

St. Louis led by a score of 31-28 at half time after a wild first half in which the two teams practically abandoned defense to charge up and down the field. McDonald took three passes from Jurgensen for touchdowns, Johnson hit Randle with the 77-yard bomb and Crow with one good for 16 yards.

A crowd of 14,889 witnessed the game.

Accused Of Spying

Rodney W. Carlson, 30, of Alcester, S.D., carries daughter Ingrid as his wife carries their other daughter, Karen, at Kastrup Airport, Copenhagen, Denmark. Carlson, assistant agricultural attaché in Moscow, was accused by the Soviets of spying. He and his daughters made the trip from Moscow.

His wife, Patricia, who had been on a holiday in Paris, met them in Copenhagen. Karen was born seven weeks ago in Moscow. The Soviet government had not demanded Carlson's departure but he left the country voluntarily.

Charles Laughton, 63, Dies Of Spinal Cancer

By JAMES BACON
AP Radio - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A giant of the movies, Charles Laughton, who rambled through memorable films like a rambunctious elephant, is dead of cancer at 63.

Laughton died Saturday night at his home of cancer of the spine, a few weeks after ending a four-month hospital stay.

When the British-born actor left Cedars of Lebanon on Nov. 30, a friend confided:

"Charles knows he is going to die and, bluster as ever, says he's going to die in his own bed."

With him when he died were actress Elsa Lanchester, his one and only wife, and his younger brother Frank, retired from the family hotel business.

Mrs. Laughton, who married the actor in 1929 and became an American citizen with him in 1950, took the death very hard, Laughton's brother said.

"She has been with him every day through it all—for almost a year," said the brother.

High spots of a career that made Laughton the movies' top character actor for 30 years.

The sadistic Captain Bligh of the original "Mutiny on the Bounty"; the lecherous Henry VIII—the 1933 best actor Academy Award performance—or the lovable English butler reciting the Gettysburg address in a frontier saloon for "Ruggles of Red Gap."

The late Lou Costello once apologetically asked Laughton to play Captain Kidd in "Abbott and Costello meet Captain Kidd."

"I was afraid to ask this great actor to do some of the hokum we had in the movie but after the first day, he was showing me how to hoke up the slapstick for more belly laughs," Costello once said.

Before he came to Hollywood, Laughton had won critical acclaim for his realistic portrayal of an American gangster in a London play.

His last movie role was that of Sen. Seah Cooley, a Southerner, in "Advise and Consent."

Little was known about Laughton's private life. He loved art—and had a collection of Renoirs.

New, Enlightened Changes In Mental Health Field

EDITOR'S NOTE — New and enlightening treatments for the mentally ill today are replacing the centuries-old idea of hiding victims behind asylum walls. Here, in the first of five special reports, is a look at what's being done to help those who run into emotional buzz saws.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Just before midnight one December evening, his emotional pain became too intense.

And so a middle-aged man exploded into a shouting volcano of rage, then surrendered to helpless sobbing.

By taxi, his wife took him to a new kind of hospital clinic offering emergency first aid—24 hours a day—for emotional injury, a kind of mental accident ward.

Across the city, worried parents discussed their son, a bright boy of 12 who was inexplicably failing in school, and decided to take him to a mental health clinic.

In a suburb, a family doctor arranged for a young mother to enter a nearby general hospital, where her mental illness would be treated as readily as the hospital treated physical sickness.

The man, the boy and the woman had two things in common. Each had run into an emotional buzz saw, and it hurt.

AN ADVANTAGE
But each lived in communities offering new or expanding facilities to treat, cure or prevent mental and emotional illnesses.

At the emergency clinic, the man of 50 was given a tranquilizer, and he talked with a psychiatrist, learning that his feelings of frustration and depression were not uncommon, taking the first step toward understanding and dealing with his problems.

At the mental health clinic, specialists began helping the boy and his parents understand their own attitudes and family relationships which were prompting the boy into rebellion because he felt he was being treated unfairly.

At the general hospital, the young mother began treatment to overcome the deepening depression shattering her life. Having her family nearby would also aid her quicker return home.

These are a few of the elements in a heartening change of climate regarding mental illness, the nation's No. 1 disease in number of victims.

BIG CHANGE
The change is sweeping through state mental hospitals. Once they were mainly dour, lock-away jails for "the insane." Today, the best hospitals are sending the vast majority of newly admitted patients back to home and health.

Generating the winds of change are drugs; intensive psychotherapy; increased hospital staffs; earlier treatment; a variety of new community facilities and more enlightened public understanding and interest. Now there are sound prospects for preventing much mental illness.

Pioneers are marking the way. But across the land, the record is spotty, with many states, counties, and cities lagging behind.

The challenges are enormous and a crisis looms unless far more widespread action is taken, Philip E. Ryan, executive director of the National Association for Mental Health warns.

Mental patients fill half the nation's hospital beds. One in 10

Americans is mentally ill in mild to severe degree.

FOUR OUT OF FIVE
One survey indicates four out of five city dwellers have some symptoms of emotional disturbances, and the rate could be as high in rural areas. Ten per cent of public school children are estimated to be emotionally disturbed, in need of help.

The temp and stresses of modern life may play a role.

What goes wrong?
Dr. William Menninger of the renowned Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kan., puts it this way:

Everyone sooner or later runs into some emotional buzz saw. And it's painful.

The trouble may involve job, marriage, family, school, a tragedy, approaching retirement, failure to achieve goals, something arousing fear, anxieties, doubts, anger, depression or other deep emotional reactions.

Many of us manage to handle these problems, adapting and maintaining balance.

But millions become upset, seeing the world slightly out of focus.

Many get ulcers or other physical pains and disease.

Many turn to drink, to drugs, to bizarre behavior, to angers, to circular worrying over the same old problems.

Other millions break down completely, retreating into some private world, with severe illness.

NO SINGLE CAUSE
There is no single cause of mental illness, authorities agree.

"None of us is always perfectly healthy mentally," Dr. Menninger says. "Each of us has emotional quirks and problems. We can only approach mental health, and then we run against a buzz saw, we aren't quite as mentally healthy as we were, and may again become."

Of all illnesses, says Dr. Menninger, mental illness has the highest recovery rate, with a big if—if the person receives prompt, skilled care.

Where once there was a pervading sense of hopelessness concerning mental illness, now there is a ferment and eagerness that the problems can be solved, says Dr. Robert H. Felix, director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

"I feel that perhaps the sun has come up and we are in the very early morning hours, at least."

Houston Negroes Asked To Endure Freedom Pains

HOUSTON (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has asked Houston Negroes to endure what he called the pains of birth in a "pregnant South" that an infant called freedom can be born.

Speaking to a near-capacity audience in the City Auditorium Sunday night, King said too many Negroes want to enjoy the fruits of integration but are not willing to challenge segregation.

King is president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Video Getting Deeper And Deeper In Medical Themes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio - TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television entertainment these days is getting deeper and deeper in medical themes.

Sunday night, even good old "Bonanza" had a hero who was a dedicated frontier doctor. We watched him pour, in the classic manner, ether in a cone and have his brow mopped as he did a little lung surgery on one of the Ponderosa boys. The hangman's rope awaited him outside the surgery but his hand was as steady as a rock—that's dedication.

This was followed immediately on NBC by "The Ordeal of Doctor Shannon." I never read the A. J. Cronin novel from which it was allegedly adopted, but the Television's Doctor Shannon was a dedicated research man raging in an epidemic around him.

Rod Taylor, as the doctor, fussed around with test tubes and microscopes while carrying on with a dedicated Scottish lass who wanted to be a missionary doctor. He finally made his big vaccine breakthrough—only to learn someone else had beat him to it first.

The rather fuzzy point of the shapeless and wandering story seemed to be that too much deication to vaccine interferes with romance—something I already had picked up from Drs. Casey and Kildare.

"I'm sorry to say I'm getting a little tired of doctor shows, and that includes the mandatory spoof of "Ben Casey" by a comic on every variety show every week."

Irving Gittlin, the NBC producer whose "White Papers" on controversial subjects have been noticeably missing from this season's schedules, is planning an off-beat special, probably for March. He'll film an hour's show about comedian Shelley Berman, using the documentary technique tried with his "Fire Rescue Squad" and "Emergency Ward." In other words, he'll show a comedian's life rather than record his act.

Dinah Shore has Bing Crosby for her guest star on her Feb. 17 show. Incidentally, Alan Handley, who produced those 15-minute Dinah Shore shows in the good old days before Dinah expanded to an hour, will produce the Jan. 20 program. Guest stars are Liberace and Peter Nero, both pianists but quite different in their approaches to the instrument.

John Larkin, the hero in the CBS soap opera, "Edge of Night" for five years, and the good, gray city editor in NBC's current but cancelled "Saints and Sinners," is going to upset his fans, who are legion. He'll be the villain who actually shoots Marshal Dillon in the Jan. 5 episode of "Gunsmoke." (He played the killer once in a "Perry Mason" episode, which must have confused some people, because he was the voice of radio's "Perry Mason" for seven years.)

Recommended tonight: "Ben Casey," ABC, 10-11 (EST)—Burgess Meredith is the guest star.

of a new day in the field of the mentally ill," he declares. There are solid foundations for optimism. Next: New thinking, and new action.

MEN PAST 40

Troubled with GETTING UP NIGHTS
Pains in BACK, HIPS, LEGS
Tiredness, LOSS OF VIGOR

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular Inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that merely give temporary relief cannot be expected to remove the causes of your troubles.

Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility and to incurable conditions.

The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated here at Excelsior Springs. They have found soothing relief and improved health.

The Excelsior Medical Clinic, devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to older men, has a New FREE BOOK that tells how these troubles may be corrected by proven NON-SURGICAL TREATMENTS. This book may prove of utmost importance in your life. No obligation.

REDUCIBLE HERNIA
Is also amenable to a mild Non-Surgical treatment available here.
RECTAL-COLON DISORDERS
Are often associated with Glandular Inflammation. Either of these disorders may be treated at the same time you are receiving treatment for Glandular Inflammation.
