Crippled Children's Center Receives Dora Roberts Gift

To Combine With Health Unit Under Foundation Fund

A gift of $165,000 toward a health and rehabilitation center in Big Spring has been announced by the Dora Roberts Foundation. This is part of the distribution from the Foundation following a meeting of the board of directors here Thursday evening. Others included in the $245,000 gift were Home of St. Marks, an adoption center in Houston, $30,000; Methodist Hospital, Houston, $50,000.

The facility which will be made possible by the grant here will be known as the Dora Roberts Health and Rehabilitation Center. It is planned to accommodate both the Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children's) Center and the Big Spring-Howard County Public Health Unit. They will each be housed in separate wings but will have use of the same general mechanical facilities, joint public reception rooms, etc.

Preliminary plans have been prepared by Gary & Hohertz, Big Spring architects, but nothing has been firm concerning the plan as yet. It is likely that a special committee from the city, county and rehabilitation board will consult with Foundation representatives. The site is yet to be determined. Horace Garrett, member of the Foundation board and a grandson of the late Mrs. Dora Roberts who established the foundation, said that he was hopeful that it will be possible to secure a place where people will be served most conveniently.

PRESENT SITE
At the present time the rehabilitation center is operating at 302 Edwards Blvd. in a residential structure. It was obliged to move from a building raised by spontaneous public subscription but which was condemned structurally when it settled drastically on an earthen fill. The health unit has been located for a number of years in the Read Hotel Building on East 2nd Street. Increasing demands upon it have made it inadequate in space and other details for a long time.

The distribution announced Wednesday was the sixth made by the Foundation. The initial gift announced in 1948 when the fund was established amounted to one million dollars, divided equally among McMurry College and Texas Wesleyan College. In order to make this gift, the Foundation's increment was pledged for a period of years and late in 1956 the commitments were satisfied.

SECOND GIFT
The second benefice was announced in the amount of $430,000 with $300,000 of it going to Howard County Junior College for construction of the Dora Roberts Student Union Building. Others included the Salvation Army for a transient dormitory, $10,000 for rehabilitation of a playground area, for the Howard County Free Library (the Dora Roberts residence had been given but $40,000 was supplied for remodeling it into a home for the library), and the YMCA building fund.

Another gift in the aggregate of $117,500 was announced on Jan. 10, 1961 and included $22,500 for an addition to the YMCA, funds for reconditioning the Salvation Army citadel, funds for remodeling the First Methodist Church, aid to the Wesley Methodist Church in conversion of its old sanctuary into an educational plant, $10,000 to the H.C.J.C. Student Loan Fund, and $30,000 to Home of St. Marks.

Another distribution in the aggregate of $89,000 was announced Nov. 2, 1961. This included funds for Scott & White Hospital Foundation at Temple, Home of St. Marks, the Lakeview YMCA, and $5,000 for the Crippled Children's building fund.

Gifts from the foundation, exclusive of the value of the Roberts residence, have aggregated $1,871,500.

State Supreme Court To Hear Impact Case
AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court today agreed to hear arguments Jan. 16 in a case testing the validity of incorporation of the tiny town of Impact near Abilene.

The high court granted a hearing on two points on which Impact Mayor Dallas G. Perkins said the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals erred.

The Eastland court reversed Sept. 21 the decision of an Abilene trial court, which had upheld the incorporation. The appeals court said impact is not a city because "the incorporation was by illegal methods . . . by the whim and caprice of Mr. Perkins."

The state, acting for some 30 realtors and the City of Abilene, has contended that the suit is merely a second attempt to thwart the will of Impact voters. In earlier litigation, Perkins won a decision from the high court overruling an Abilene judge who had revoked the incorporation election 48 hours before the vote was to be taken.

The state also contended that the boundaries of the impact had been arbitrarily fixed to exclude portions of a settled area of which the state contended impact was a part.

The complicated court battle hinges on the 47-acre town's decision to allow consumption of alcoholic beverages. Soon after the town voted 27-0 to incorporate two years ago, the town voted wet 18 to 2.

Perkins alleged the appeals court erred in holding that impact "was not lawfully incorporated" and also in "failing to hold that the incorporation of the town . . . had been validated by legislative action." The writ was granted on these two points.

HAVANA (AP)—Hope mounted today that 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners may be freed from Fidel Castro's prisons by Christmas in exchange for U.S. food and medicines.

New York attorney James B. Donovan led a team of negotiators into a new round of talks with Castro Tuesday night.

Large stores of donated drugs and food were being assembled near Miami, Fla., in case the exchange goes through.

Donovan, who arranged the trade of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Russian spy Rudolph Abel early this year, arrived Tuesday on a third trip to Havana in his effort to effect the release of the Cubans captured in the invasion of April 1961.

With him were Alvaro Sanchez and Mrs. Virginia Betancourt, officials of the Cuban Families Committee, composed of prisoners' relatives.

They went to the home of Mrs. Berta Barreto, another negotiator and soon after Castro summoned them.

Mrs. Barreto said the prisoners may be freed soon — "God willing."

Sources close to the negotiators said the prisoners, if freed, probably will be flown to Miami in chartered planes.

Castro demanded $62 million for their liberty but agreed later to take food and medicine instead of cash.

Havana relatives of the prisoners perked up on hearing reports from the United States of the shipment of tons of these supplies to Opa-Locha airfield near Miami.

The reports included these details:

Castro demanded $23 million worth of drugs, $6 million in equipment, $9.5 million in powdered milk and $14.5 million in baby foods. He supplied long lists of the drugs wanted. This totals

Sheriff Happy Over Solution

"A real Christmas present," Dan Saunders, sheriff of Martin County, beamed today when murder charges were filed in the Travis Hicks murder case.

"I've never had a case in all my years as a peace officer that I wanted to see solved as much as this one," said Saunders.

"It was a personal thing with me—I wanted to demonstrate somehow to lawbreakers they couldn't commit murder, dump their victims in my county and get away with it."

The sheriff, who was ill at the time the body of the slain electrician was found in a field in Martin

SAUNDERS

County, has worked almost around the clock since Sept. 1 on the case.

"I'll never be able to pay the debt I owe to officers in this area, in this state and in other states for the help they have given me," he said.

"I'm particularly grateful to Bobby West—he has worked just as hard as I have. He has made long trips, worked many nights and has never become discouraged despite the many times we seemed to be up against dead ends."

He also said that the investigation was helped by Sheriff Miller Harris and his staff of deputies, by John Wood, Texas Ranger sergeant, Wayne Merritt, DPS chemist at Midland, and peace officers in Grand Junction, Colo., Hermosa Beach, Calif., and in Marietta, Okla.

"We are really indebted to another body, too," said Saunders. "He is Burl Reed, DPS polygraph operator. Without his help I do not think we would have ever been able to solve the case."

He added that he was grateful to all who had lent a hand and to his fellow countians for their continued support and cooperation.

"There's another fellow I sure don't want to forget—my deputy Clarence Airhart. He has been a tremendous help to me and to all of us in this work," the Sheriff said.

NEWS BRIEFS

GENEVA (AP)—The United States rejected today the Soviet proposal for using robot seismic stations—black boxes—to control a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Dr. Albert Schweitzer called today for the United Nations to pull its troops out of Katanga and for the United States to keep hands off.

DAKAR, Senegal (AP)—Clearly in commendation, President Leopold Senghor convened Parliament today to map the future of this West African nation he has kept closely aligned with France.

Sources said deposed Premier Mamadou Dia would be tried on charges of high treason for attempting to gain control in a struggle with Senghor over economic policies.

NEW YORK (AP)—The woman with the world's most famous smile—the Mona Lisa—arrived here today to a royal welcome amid security precautions befitting the queen of the art world.

Shortly afterward, the Leonardo da Vinci painting was placed in a small, black, air-conditioned van, heavily escorted, for the trip to Washington, D.C. There, she is to be exhibited at the National Gallery of Art. President Kennedy will officiate at the opening Jan. 8.

FORT WORTH (AP)—A leak in an acid tank released fumes of nitrous oxide—laughing gas—in the assembly bay at the General Dynamics plant today, causing officials to evacuate several hundred persons.

Stock Trading Is Moderate
NEW YORK (AP)—A flurry of demand for motors and selected issues highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional, some going to a point or so.

Typical year-end transactions were becoming more frequent, some large blocks representing switches by big investors. The market as a whole was described by brokers as going through both a consolidation of the six-week post-Cuban crisis rally and the cross currents prompted by end-of-year tax considerations.

Some of the blue chip oils, chemicals, and utilities met investment demand but it was a highly selective market. The trend was lower among aerospace issues, some taking fairly sharp losses.

Crop Disaster
HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Floods, heavy rains and frosts destroyed one-fifth of Finland's crops this year in an agricultural disaster described as the worst in 60 years. Soldiers were thrown into emergency work in the fields but even the crops that were saved were poor.

BIG GIFTS FOR FUND

Substantial gifts gave the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND a substantial boost today, although the Fund still runs behind what it was a year ago.

The Big Spring Wholesale Beer Distributors Assn., donors each year, sent in a gift of $100. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Garrett were donors of $50, and the Sew and Chatter Sewing Club gave $5. These bring the Fund's total today to $947.45.

Time is growing short to carry on this Yuletide program, which means toys for poor youngsters, and also provides an emergency backlog to feed such children when they are in absolute hunger.

You are urged to send your gift in right away. Send to The Herald for grateful acknowledgment, and make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

'Equal Time' Sought After JFK Interview

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee plans to ask the radio and television networks for a "comparable" forum to offset President Kennedy's national rocking chair interview.

But whom the Republicans would put on the airways to speak for the GOP—assuming the forum is granted—is uncertain.

The Republican most frequently mentioned by members of his party is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. But Eisenhower worked hard for the GOP in the recent campaign, and there is some reluctance to ask him to assume a big new task.

Republican reaction to Kennedy's taped Monday night radio and television interview perhaps is best summarized by Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, a veteran of 24 years in Congress.

"It was the cleverest piece of political public relations I have ever seen," Brown said. "The President handled himself very ably."

However, Brown added, "Many of the President's statements could be subject to further discussion."

The Republican National Committee laid the groundwork for a comparable forum with a statement issued Tuesday by its public relations director, William B. Sprague Jr.

A formal demand for "equal time" might raise legal issues because federal law requires this only in the case of political candidates. Officially, at least, Kennedy was speaking as chief executive. He has not announced his 1964 candidacy, although no one doubts he will run again.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said that if the GOP is given time to answer Kennedy, Eisenhower and Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., should be presented.

Powell In Pain; Cancer May Be Spreading
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor-producer Dick Powell is in severe pain from a cancer that apparently has spread to his lower back, his physician says.

Dr. John C. Sharpe said Tuesday that Powell, 57, is under almost continuous sedation.

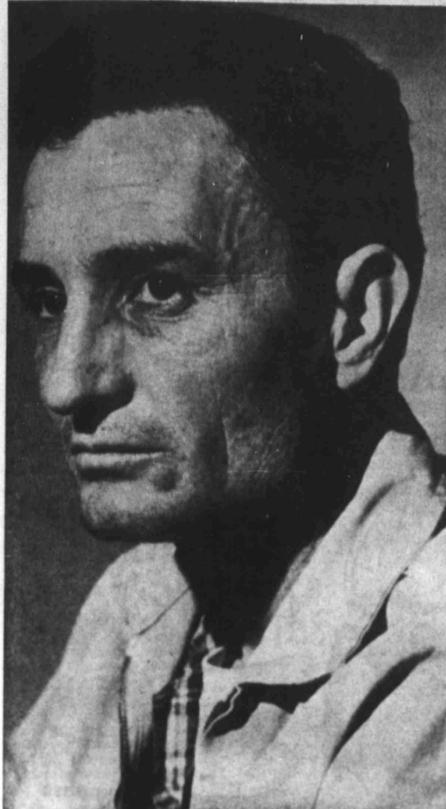

Dr. Sharpe said the malignancy, although not detectable by X-ray, apparently has spread to Powell's lower back.

The physician said cobalt treatments have practically cleared up cancer in Powell's lymph glands and upper right chest cavity, where it was first discovered.

Powell entered a hospital Nov. 27 for treatment of what was then believed to be a muscle spasm resulting from a heavy cold.

Powell revealed last October that he was suffering from cancer.

He and his wife, actress June Allyson, and their two children, recently sold their Beverly Hills home. They moved into an apartment this week.

JAMES MONROE STEWARD Admits shooting Travis R. Hicks

Convict Admits Hicks Slaying

By SAM BLACKBURN
Travis R. Hicks, 37-year-old electrician, whose body was found Sept. 1 in a lonely Martin County field, was shot to death in a Big Spring motel cabin on or about Dec. 1, 1961.

A 37-year-old convict, James Monroe Steward, a native of Westbrook, has confessed to the shooting.

The confession, obtained last Thursday night, brings to an end one of the most remarkable and persistent investigations of a crime in the history of the area. It climaxes the achievement of four months of round-the-clock work by peace officers of this area and of other cities.

Dan Saunders, sheriff of Martin County, and Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office, headed up the investigation.

FILED TODAY
Gil Jones, district attorney, pointed out that the filing of the complaint against Steward this morning in the office of Justice of the Peace M. L. Gibson, Stanton, marked an investigation "unique in the complete absence of clues in the beginnings and achieved by a high degree of cooperation between investigating officers from many agencies and in several states."

Jones said that the charge against Steward is murder with malice and that he will not be allowed bond because he is a convict serving a sentence for a burglary committed in Palestine, Tex. He has been held for some weeks in the Howard County jail, having been transferred here from Huntsville, but will be kept in the Martin County jail from now until Jan. 7 when the grand jury convenes.

BODY FOUND
The investigation was launched when Roy Lyon of Stanton, cutting feed on a tract of land just across the Howard County line, investigated what appeared to be a stack of old clothing back of some tall weeds. That was Sept. 1, 1962.

The moldering bones of a human being was found. The skull, nearly fleshless, had an ominous hole just over the right eye. When it was handled, a rattling was heard inside the brain pan. The cause of the rattle was disclosed to be a battered .22 calibre slug. Officers at the scene, including Wayne Merritt, DPS chemist at Midland; Clarence Airhart, Martin County deputy sheriff; West and others estimated the victim had been dead for perhaps a year.

Identification was established by a serial number on an upper dental plate found near the body. It was established the skeleton was that of Travis R. Hicks, 37, who claimed Denver City as his home. At the time he was last seen alive—the last week in November, 1961—he was rooming at 110 Nolan.

Guiding Star Satellite Up

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP) — Transit 5A, the guiding star satellite which rocketed skyward with a brilliance visible for hundreds of miles, gave out a steady signal from its polar orbit today.

The signal will help ships and submarines determine their positions more accurately.

Study Clues In Death Of Stewardess

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Officers sought links today between several suspects and the slaying of an airline stewardess, once voted the most beautiful girl in her high school.

A Negro motel waiter was held for investigation in the strangulation of blonde Donna Kimmey, 22, of Huntington, Texas.

The waiter, who served her last meal at her motel room, was detained on the basis of a lie detector test.

Sheriff John Fitzgerald said investigators had a number of suspects.

The body of the Trans-Texas Airways stewardess was found Monday partly submerged in a bathtub at a motel near the New Orleans International Airport. She wore a nightgown.

AT STATE HOSPITAL

Civic Organizations To Sponsor Holiday Parties

More than a score of volunteer and civic organizations will join hands Thursday night to sponsor a dozen Christmas parties for patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

A separate party will be conducted on each ward. And Santa will get around to every ward with great bundles of gifts for everyone.

Each patient will receive at least two gifts at the parties. The Volunteer Council has invested $1,000 in presents to insure this. In addition, party sponsors and other donors have added to the stacks of gifts awaiting distribution.

Merriment is in store for every ward as patients and sponsors join hands and voices in the festivities. Music will be played, refreshments will be served.

"We are all ready for the parties," Mrs. Hila Weathers, volunteer coordinator, said. "Volunteers and staff members have been wrapping gifts for months."

The festivities begin at 7 p.m.

A FATAL ADMISSION

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2004 West Highway 80

The Watchtower tract makes an admission which is fatal to its doctrine of only one person in the Godhead. The tract admits the disciples are to be one among themselves in the way which the Father and Son are one; and it also admits that the disciples are one family group (page 34, par. 15). These two admissions taken together mean that the Father and Son are one in essence or substance, as surely as the disciples are all one in essence or substance. If not, why not? So in trying to destroy the teaching of others, the tract has destroyed its own doctrine.

The Bible does teach that the disciples should be one as the Son launch at 5:26 p.m. (PST) Tuesday, the colorful trial of the satellite's rocket booster reflected the setting sun's rays like colored skywriting.

It was seen by hundreds from San Diego to San Francisco, Calif., and one observer 900 miles away said he saw a glow in the sky at launch time.

The 140-pound satellite was launched atop the four-stage, solid-fuel Blue Scout rocket by the Air Force for the Navy. It went into orbit an hour and a half later.

It was the first of two space vehicles launched from here within hours. A space probe, also utilizing a Blue Scout unit, was launched Tuesday night.

The Air Force did not reveal the payload of the second or the nature of its mission.

Transit 5A is the first of a four-satellite network which by the end of 1963 should enable ships anywhere in the world to fix their positions quickly, in any kind of weather.

Such information is particularly vital to Polaris-launching submarines which must know their positions precisely before firing their missiles.

Current celestial navigation techniques require clear skies.

A brilliant fireball lit up the sky as the setting sun's rays bounced off the rocket while its third stage was ignited at 330,000 feet.

Police and newspaper office switchboards in cities within a 350-mile radius were deluged with calls from persons who saw the fireball and the sunset-tinged rose, green and white rocket exhaust which followed.

Trans World Airlines pilot Joe Nichols, approaching Albuquerque said he saw the fireball linger on the western horizon.

In Long Beach, Calif., a father persuaded his children it was Santa Claus and his reindeer.

Seven other Transit satellites have been launched previously as test vehicles from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The solar-powered Transit 5A is designed to broadcast its position every two minutes. A ship or submarine receiving the information would measure the distance to the satellite by radar and from this compute its position at sea.

Two Local Groups Invited To Show

The Big Spring High School Band and the Big Spring Mounted Patrol have both received invitations to participate in the opening day parade of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth. The parade is set for 2 p.m. Jan. 25 to kick off the 10-day exposition.

Officials of the mounted patrol said they had not yet voted to accept the invitation but that another meeting would be held before Jan. 25.

Doug Wiebe, high school band director, said that because of other plans for the band later in the year, the invitation could not be accepted.

Vengeful Argentine Guards Shoot Up Riot-Torn Prison

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Mutinous prison guards bent on revenge for the slaying of their comrades went gunning for rioting convicts and kept crowded Villa de Voto penitentiary in a murderous uproar until 4 a.m. today.

Police sources said 10 guards were killed and four critically injured when 400 convicts tried to break jail and riot for 10 hours. After the convicts surrendered, more than 100 guards went on a rampage and killed or seriously wounded 19 prisoners, unofficial police sources said. The 15 hours of rioting and gunfire in Villa de Voto's dark, damp cells and corridors finally ended about two hours after 100 guards, believed to have been most active in the vengeful retaliation, sped through the prison gates.

The rioting at Villa de Voto, where 2,100 transient prisoners and convicted criminals were being held, erupted at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday when six prisoners made a break for freedom. They were armed with revolvers and pistols crudely assembled from smuggled parts. They moved quickly, firing on guards and seizing 20 hostages, including a prison chaplain. The leaders were joined by the 400 inmates in two cell blocks and they barricaded themselves there. Hernando Beiro, a hostage in one cell block, said the rioters told two captive guards to eat their supper and then shot them in the back.

A hostage in the other cell block said one ringleader wanted to shoot hostages but was restrained by other prisoners. City Judge Leopoldo Insaurralde, sent to talk to prisoners at their request, returned after 15 minutes and reported the rioters were in an ugly mood and vowed to fight to the end. He said the hostages were in grave danger.

Wild shooting continued into the night, until Col. Miguel Paiva, director of penal institutes, announced at 10:20 p.m. that the hostages had been freed and "the mutiny is over." He ordered the guards to take the ringleaders back to their cells unharmed. It was then, reports from the prison said, that the guards rebelled against their orders and went on a manhunt. Crying "We are the judges," and "We will kill them all," they invaded the cell blocks. At least four ringleaders were reported killed by a machine-gun burst. Intermittent gunfire continued for more than four hours. Director Paiva announced his resignation because his orders had been disobeyed. Despite the confusion, officials said no prisoners escaped.

Like Christmas, But Without The Punishment

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—For "Peewee," 7, and "Fatty," 9, it was like Christmas.

They spent 11 hours alone in a closed department store—a store with lots of toys, cameras, shoes, watches—even a soda fountain. During their escapade—they said they were locked in the store Saturday night—the kids sampled practically everything edible in the store, and each chose an expensive camera and a wrist watch. "Fatty" was clomping around in size 10 shoes and "Peewee" had a fountain pen.

Judge M. Edward Viola of Juvenile Court let them off with a reprimand, but frowning police reminded the marauding pair: "Wait until your fathers get hold of you." "Peewee" and "Fatty" began crying.

Tree To Grace U.S. Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in modern history, a lighted Christmas tree will greet visitors to the Capitol during the holiday season. At the direction of Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., a 6-foot tree from the botanic gardens will be placed in Statuary Hall, just outside the House chamber. McCormack said he believed it would be "most appropriate that a Christmas tree be placed in the Capitol, which is the heart of legislative activity of our country."

Carol Singing Set Saturday

The Big Spring Baptist Association youth rally, held each month, will feature carol singing Saturday evening at the court house square.

Representatives from the various Baptist churches in the association are asked to gather at 7 p.m. on the east side of the court house. Jackie Hippe will direct the carol singing. Afterwards, there will be a fellowship hour at East Fourth Baptist Church.

IRINA DEMICH

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY French Model's Ideas On Food And Fashion

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When Irina Demich speaks, her whole face lights up with a radiance and her beauty becomes alive, so it's easy to understand why Darryl Zanuck chose her as the only female in "The Longest Day." Irina speaks no English, but when she discovered I spoke her language, she was soon relaxed and chatting merrily away in French.

"Americans have two misconceptions," she said. "They consider French fashions extreme and French cooking fancy."

"Out of several hundred beautiful and wearable clothes in a collection, there are only a few that get the publicity and give a false idea."

Miss Demich was a model for Givenchy. She knows the fashion world and has studied to be a designer.

"As for French cooking—what one finds on the menu in a famous restaurant and what one eats at home are vastly different. The French woman is conscious of her figure and only indulges for special occasions," Irina explained.

"I eat raw vegetables, fresh salads, broiled meats—very much like you do here. I think rich food is bad for the intestines, and if your digestive system is not working properly, you can't expect to be healthy."

"We talked about the Paris fashion of wiring in false hair pieces. "One of my pet peeves is exaggerated hairdressing," she revealed. "I think hair should be soft and natural and a frame for the face. There are few women who are flattered by a coiffure that is extreme and heavily lacquered. It doesn't look real."

In parting I asked Miss Demich for her favorite beauty recipe.

"Grated raw carrots help my skin. You know they are high in vitamins. I don't use them as often as I did when I was in school, but I believed that rubbing raw carrots on my face would keep me from having blemishes and it worked."

With LUCILLE PICKLE

There will not be very many halls decked with holly here in Big Spring over the Christmas holidays, but from the looks of things there will be many a home filled with family.

GARRETT IRWIN, Cheryl and John of Odessa.

If you are going to have guests for the holidays or are planning to visit away from Big Spring, give us a ring at 3-2542, so we will know what's going on 'Round Town.

Friends can get out the birthday cards for CLOVIS E. McDANIEL, for that time of the year rolls around Saturday. He qualifies as one of the old timers in these parts, having come here in 1903 from Dickens (City) with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDaniel. His father operated a grocery store at the lower end of Main Street, next to the old Horn Cafe, for a number of years, and for a time he was in business with his father. Together they operated a store just east of what was then the First National Bank but now is the Walker Drug store. Later he had stores at Lomax and now one on West Highway 80.

Drugs Play Increasingly Vital Role In Treatment Of Mental Illness

EDITOR'S NOTE: Drugs have proven useful treatments for various mental illnesses. Here are some reports on their effectiveness and on the controversial evidence that much mental illness may stem from faulty body chemistry and not traumatic psychological situations. Third in a series of five special reports on mental health.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"The devil still talks to me," she said, "but I don't bother to holler back."

Thus did a tranquilizer drug bring one woman a ticket back toward mental health. From then on, she could cooperate with psychiatrists to work out an understanding of her emotional illness.

The "mood drugs," such as tranquilizers to calm excited minds and psychic stimulants to combat depression, are part of an exciting chemical era in mental illness. There are two great objectives.

One is to develop far more effective drugs for various types of mental illness.

BODY CHEMISTRY

The other is increasing, if controversial, evidence that much mental illness may stem from faulty body chemistry.

If specific chemical errors could be pinpointed, they probably could be corrected to prevent or cure mental ills, such as vitamin C combats scurvy.

Psychiatrists are divided over prospects of such chemical controls.

Tranquilizers, coming on the scene about eight years ago, and antidepressants, are having tremendous impact. Men and women sick for months or years have described the mental effects as the lifting of a curtain or cloud, or brightening of a dark room. Drugs have provided a bridge to home for many thousands of men and women. Many continue taking them.

EARLY USE

With early, prompt use of drugs, through clinics or private physicians, many persons would never have to go to mental hospitals in the first place, declares Dr. Nathan S. Kline, director of research at Rockland State Hospital, New York.

Other psychiatrists are less convinced of the value of drugs—some 30 different tranquilizers and more than a dozen antidepressants are available now. Some say equally good or better results are obtained with intensive psychiatric treatment of patients, but admit to the shortage of psychiatrists.

The National Institute of Mental Health has set up the Psychopharmacology Service Center to speed the screening and testing of new compounds.

DEFINITE EFFECT

To many researchers, a great, encouraging fact is that mood drugs do affect the brain, even though the mechanisms are not fully understood.

And certain other drugs, such as mescaline and LSD, actually produce hallucinations or other symptoms of severe mental illness in healthy persons—more reason to suspect that faulty body chemistry could be the reason for at least some types of mental illness.

In another sign, scientists have found abnormal chemicals, or abnormal amounts of regular body chemicals, in the blood and urine of schizophrenic patients. Whether these are the result or, possibly, the cause of mental illness is not yet known.

INHERITANCE

A few conditions now are known in which an inherited chemical defect or dietary deficiency causes mental retardation in children. Damage is avoided if the trouble is detected in time.

And studies of twins indicate some people may inherit a vulnerability to schizophrenia, the flight from reality which constitutes the major type of serious mental illness.

In the traditional view, mental illness is born from breakdown in human relationships, or from extreme emotional stress. The wounded mind may withdraw, or turn to behavior relieving its stress and pain. Some scientists believe mental illness is a result of both environmental reactions and faulty chemistry.

SOME PUZZLES

Psychotherapy presents puzzles. It is a method of listening to patients and helping them discover reasons for their behavior, and new insights. There are many approaches.

But psychiatrists do not understand how it works, or why one method helps some patients, but not others. It is difficult to prove conclusively that psychotherapy works at all.

Yet thousands of persons obviously are relieved of their distress, and manage to resume useful lives. Psychotherapy itself is a target of research to determine which methods are best for what types of patients, and when.

OTHER QUESTIONS

Researchers are exploring other questions:

What goes wrong in our ways of rearing children that so many become emotionally ill? What special stresses do adolescents undergo, and how can they be handled? What are the full causes of juvenile delinquency? Can a predisposition to schizophrenia be detected, and preventive measures started?

Research dollars are increasing. This year about $75 million is being spent in research by the institute, the National Association for Mental Health, state governments, universities and other organizations.

In 10 years, says the institute's Dr. Robert H. Felix, we can expect to have the basic knowledge for far more effective action against mental illness.

Wells To Get Identification

MIDLAND—Many crude oil producers in West Texas are faced with a "hurry-up" sign painting job on their leases prior to Jan. 1, if they are to get their production run after that date.

A recent order of the Railroad Commission of Texas, which changed the regulations on reports to be filed by both producers and purchasers, also carried a provision which states:

"No gatherer, transporter, and/or handler of crude oil shall remove—(after Jan. 1)—crude oil from any oil property unless such property is posted with a sign written in the English language, which sign shall state the name of the owner of said property; the number of acres contained in the name by which such property is commonly known and identified, and the Railroad Commission lease number."

A member of the Permian Basin Crude Oil Representatives Association said in Midland there are thousands of producing leases in the territory which do not have such identifying signs.

Enrollment Drops Again

Enrollment in Big Spring public schools took one of the largest dips of the current semester on the last weekend report, dropping by 15 to 7,461 pupils.

The loss was shared about equally with elementary grades losing seven for a total of 4,397 pupils and secondary schools dropping eight to a total of 2,900. Special education, with 164 students, showed no change.

Enrollments and changes at the various schools are: Airport 448, down three; Bauer 514, down two; Boydston 514, up three; Cedar Crest 306, down five; College Heights 528, down two; Kate Morrison 275, no change; Lakeview 201, down one; Marcy 545, up four; Park Hill 296, down one; Washington 772, no change; Gold 911, down four; Lakeview Junior High 74, no change; Runnels 731, no change; and Senior High 1,184, down four.

Scouts Present Space Film At State Tonight

Tonight at the State Theatre, Sea Scouts of Ship 111 are presenting the film, "Conquest of Space," one of the classics of science-fiction. Tickets will be sold at the boxoffice and proceeds will go to the scouts. "Conquest of Space" in color is the creation of George Pal, producer of "Destination Moon," "War of the Worlds," "Time Machine," and "Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm."

There will be six showings today with the last around 10 p.m. The movie goer is offered a peek into the future of interplanetary travel via rocket ship and of life aboard a space station 1,100 miles above the earth. It shows how survival is possible on a man-made satellite spinning around the world once every two hours.

Frankly, We're Still Confused

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—It probably was confusing for any guest at the Carnevale birthday party who was not either a member of the family or a close friend. The special guests were Frank Carnevale, Frank Carnevale, Frank Carnevale and Frank Carnevale.

Specifically, Frank Carnevale was celebrating his 90th birthday, and his great-grandson, Frank, was celebrating his first. Also attending as special guests were the elder Carnevale's son, Frank and grandson, Frank.

Smirk Reveals Counterfeit Bill

LEBANON, Pa. (AP)—The face of Alexander Hamilton on a $10 bill seemed to be smirking, so a variety store clerk called police.

Lt. John Feather of the Lebanon police confirmed that the bill was indeed phony, "one of the poorest counterfeiting jobs in circulation." Four of them have been passed here.

Feather said the bills were printed with faded green ink on cheap paper.

The Negro robbers, two with guns and one with a knife, got about $600 in cash and $300 in jewelry from Dr. Thomas H. Amos, his nurse, the receptionist and the patients in the physician's Harlem office.

Youth Visits Here From Boys Ranch

James Hale, a former Big Spring boy who makes his home at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo, is a visitor for the Christmas holidays here. He is one of the 300 boys from all over the nation who are being cared for, trained and educated at the Ranch.

All of the boys are permitted to leave once each year at Christmas time to return to their home towns for a visit with relatives and friends. The boys represent 38 states of the nation.

Before leaving on vacations, the boys held the annual Christmas party in the Boys Ranch Dining Hall and special services were held in the non-sectarian chapel with most of the services conducted by the boys themselves.

Although all boys may leave at Christmas, many of them prefer to remain at the Ranch, while for others, the ranch is the only home they have. Those who stay have special privileges, like sleeping late and having their chores taken over by adult members of the Ranch staff.

Boys Ranch is located 36 miles northwest of Amarillo, and was founded 23 years ago by Cal Farley, former athlete and Amarillo businessman. More than 1,400 homeless and so-called delinquent boys have called the Ranch home since that time.

Hardesty Has
Demo Victory
Dinner Ducats

Frank Hardesty, chairman of the Howard County Democratic Committee, has 10 tickets to the Democratic Victory Dinner, set for Jan. 14, in Austin.

"I had 12 assigned to me," said the chairman, "but I have already sold two. I hope to sell the others and perhaps obtain still more."

He explained that the dinner is a move to help the party financially. The tickets are awarded to each citizen who donated $25 to the State Democratic Committee fund.

Hardesty pointed out that Howard County Democratic Committee has a quota of $600 a year toward support of the executive committee and that under this dinner plan, each $25 donation cuts the quota total by that amount. It is an easy way, Hardesty said, to meet the county committee financial obligation to the state committee.

Tickets for the dinner are on sale at his drugstore and he urged Democrats to buy promptly.

The two State Democratic Committee members from the 24th District, Mrs. James G. Stoton, Sweetwater, and J. E. Connally, Abilene, have the ticket distribution responsibility for the district. The $25 a plate dinner will precede the formal inaugural ceremonies Jan. 15. It is emphasized that none of the funds will go to retire the campaign deficit of any candidate.

Polaris A2
Test Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Polaris A2 submarine missile, modified to carry the guidance system for the advanced A3 model, was launched on a successful 1,500-mile test flight today.

The Navy said the missile, fired from a land pad, met all objectives on the early morning flight. The major goal was to check the sophisticated, lightweight Mark 2 guidance being developed for the follow-on missile.

Due Tiny Horses

NEW YORK (AP) — Live, 30-inch-high horses for Christmas are in store for the children of Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy and of Mrs. Kennedy's brother, George Skakel of Greenwich, Conn.

Three of the miniature steeds, each weighing about 100 pounds, arrived by plane at Idlewild Airport from Argentina.

After undergoing routine blood tests at the U.S. Agricultural Quarantine Station, they will be shipped to their owners.

Leaders Greeted With Sassy Verse

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — President Kennedy popped in at a cocktail party Tuesday night while Prime Minister Macmillan dropped in on a barbecue—and drank beer.

Nassau's reception for the two world leaders also included a calypso salute at the beach barbecue.

Kennedy wasn't there, but the British prime minister smiled and studied the printed lyrics as calypso singer Count Bernadino sang: "Welcome, welcome Macmillan and Kennedy."

"Your visit to Nassau will go down in history," Kennedy ventured forth first, making a handshaking circuit of the guests at a poolside cocktail party given for correspondents covering the conference. The President stayed about 10 minutes.

Macmillan turned up nearly two hours later at a barbecue on the white sands of the Emerald Beach Hotel, where many members of the official parties and newsmen are staying. He watched native dancers enact a couple of playlets called

"Stone Cold Dead in the Market" and "She Killed Nobody But Her Husband."

The climax came when Count Bernadino sang his special calypso:

"To Mr. Kennedy greetings and salutation
"For the way you handled the Cuban situation.
"As the President of the United States you've given the whole world aid.
"I hope some day you buy Castro a razor blade."

The count had these words for Macmillan: "We salute you and England and all your Cabinet, and wish you good luck with the Common Market."
"Nassau wishes you the best in every discussion you have."
"I am so happy you didn't bring Khrushchev."

Transfer Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—An application to transfer the license for KFMN (FM), Abilene, Tex., to Lowell G. and Earline Perry was approved Tuesday by the Communications Commission.

Bobby's Brazil
Trip Marks
U.S. Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's unheralded trip to Brazil has underlined sharp U.S. concern with that country's deep economic and political problems.

The attorney general returned to Washington Tuesday after conferring in Brasilia, Brazil's capital, with President Joao Goulart. It was believed he emphasized Washington's worry over the Goulart administration's failure to stem a ravaging tide of inflation.

President Kennedy has also signaled his concern over Brazil's problems—a key nation in South America because of its size and influence.

Within the past few weeks the President has had a series of conversations with such figures as Adhemar de Barros, newly elected governor of Sao Paulo; former president Juscelino Kubitschek, and the U.S. ambassador to Brazil, Lincoln Gordon.

The attorney general expanded a trip to Panama in order to make the 12-hour visit in Brazil. The communique which followed the 3 1/2-hour Kennedy-Goulart discussion was the usual diplomatic statement that the talks were "useful."

The attorney general was unavailable for comment on his return.

The major cause for the urgent U.S. concern is galloping inflation.

President Kennedy noted at his news conference last week that Brazil's inflation "eats up our aid" but he also remarked that "there is nothing, really, that the United States can do."

On the other side, Brazilians contend a definite improvement of the financial situation is in the works, through measures planned for after the Jan. 6 plebiscite, which is expected to return the country to the presidential system of government.

Then, Brazilian sources say, Goulart will have the necessary authority to carry out the reforms.

Wage Increase

BEAUMONT (AP)—Ratification sessions are scheduled Thursday on union acceptance of a 5 per cent general wage increase by Mobile Oil Co. at its refinery here.

Water Board Hears Protests To Sewage Disposal Systems

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Pollution Control Board heard protests Tuesday from two delegations opposing installation of sewage disposal systems.

A group from Hale and Swisher Counties protested the use of Running Water Creek for the sewage disposal. The town of Hart in Castro County seeks a permit to discharge treated sewage into the creek.

Another group protested an application by Miles, in Rannels County, to construct a sewage plant and dispose the discharge into Bottle Creek.

The board met again today to consider a Texas Water Commission report on Hubbard Creek Reservoir, in West Texas, and a report on a salt water pollution study in Yoakum County, in the Panhandle.

Plainview Chamber of Commerce president J. B. Wheeler said, in opposing the Hart project that 10 to 12 dams are planned on Running Water Creek from Hale County to Clovis, N.M.

The Hart application was supported by the Brazos River Authority, which is concerned with the watershed for the creek.

Hart Mayor Ed Harris told the board that Hart voters approved a bond issue for the $95,000 project by a 9-1 margin.

It was brought out that a $73,000 suit has been filed in Castro County Court by Clements Corp., the major owner affected by condemnation of land for the project.

Wheeler told the board that Plainview currently disposes of partially treated sewage in Running Water Creek, but added a $450,000 bond issue has been approved "to correct this situation."

Paul Kennedy, Hart school superintendent, said there are many cess pools on the grounds at the school.

"We dug three new ones last year and ran into two covered ones doing it," Kennedy said.

Both the Miles and Hart applications were taken under consideration by the board.

More Yule Stamps Arrive

Christmas card and letter mailers who have been disappointed they could not send Yuletide mail with the special Christmas 4-cent stamps, can now be supplied according to E. C. Boatler, postmaster.

The original shipment of 50,000 copies of the Christmas stamp received by the post office have long since been sold and an order has been on file for some time with the post office for additional stamps.

Yesterday, a shipment of 40,000 more of the attractive Christmas specials, reached the post office.

Boatler anticipates the quick disposal of these stamps despite the nearness of the Christmas holiday.

A lot of patrons have been asking for the Christmas stamps, he said. "We now have them and are eager to sell the lot before Dec. 24."

Seven Cases Are Dismissed

Seven cases on the Howard County Criminal Court docket have been dismissed. In three other cases the defendants entered guilty pleas and were assessed fines.

Margarito Rivera, Brownfield, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $50 and sentenced to three days in jail. Willie Miles, 107 NW 4th, and James Taylor Jr., Snyder, received fines of $100 each and court costs on charges of transporting.

Cases dismissed and charges were: Pedro Contreras, charged with illegally carrying arms; Eddie Reed, transporting; Wilbern Davis, sale of alcoholic beverages without a license in a wet area; Hal Mitten and Benito Lopez, possession of alcoholic beverages for sale without a license; and Octaviano T. Ramirez, two charges of illegally carrying arms.

LBJ Quietly But Deeply Digs Into The Government

EDITOR'S NOTE—Almost two years ago Lyndon B. Johnson stepped out of the limelight that focused on him as Senate leader and into the supporting cast as vice president in the Kennedy administration. What has he been doing? Jack Bell, chief of the AP Senate staff, analyzes the situation.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—In quiet contrast to the fanfare which marked his years as a Senate leader, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is digging deeper into government than any predecessor.

With the encouragement of President Kennedy, Johnson has branched out from the relative vacuity of his constitutional duty of presiding over the Senate to take a hand in major administrative fields.

By all appearances, Johnson, the one-time whip-cracker of the Senate, has become a cheerful lieutenant to the man he once thought was too inexperienced to be president.

Kennedy has gone out of the way to reciprocate by giving Johnson on-the-job training in the executive department far beyond that to which former Vice President Richard M. Nixon pointed in his unsuccessful bid for the presidency in 1960.

The restless energy which always has driven the rangy Texan spills out now in his work as a member of the "insiders" executive committee of the National Security Council, his statutory task of presiding over the Space Advisory Council, his chairmanship of the Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, his job as head of the Peace Corps' advisory council and his participation in Cabinet sessions.

Kennedy has sent Johnson as his representative to 22 foreign countries and tabbed him to preside over an international manpower conference.

In other days, it used to be something of a news story when a vice president was called to the White House to confer with his chief. Johnson is in and out of the place almost daily, participating in the high policy decisions.

Johnson, for example, knew almost as soon as Kennedy did that the Russians had shipped offensive missiles into Cuba. The vice president is represented as having stood for vigorous counteraction.

As chairman of the Space Council, Johnson sits in a spot former President Dwight D. Eisenhower insisted must be reserved for the chief executive. Kennedy got the law changed to make Johnson the head man.

The council includes the secretaries of state and defense, and the heads of the National Aeronautical and Space Administration, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Federal Aviation Agency.

The council's job is to recommend to the President the course to pursue in the space race.

As chairman of the Peace Corps' advisory council, Johnson was instrumental in getting the Peace Corps set up as a separate agency.

The vice president spends a great deal of time with the Committee on Equal Employment.

Strange activity for a man from Texas who used to vote against civil rights legislation in Congress? Not at all if you look at the new Lyndon Johnson.

The vice president has become an "equal rights" man. He says he is convinced that America's own image in this respect must be improved if this country is to lead the world toward individual freedom.

Johnson walks with careful steps on Capitol Hill. He is presiding officer but not a member of the Senate. He served in the House and Senate long enough to avoid the pitfalls of an outsider trying to tell members what they ought to do.

That, perhaps, is the key to the Johnson operation: Keep your balance sheet clean, take on any job you're asked to do, but don't get tagged with empire building. If things go right, the empire will come to you.

Expansion Set

BROWNWOOD (AP)—Plans for a $12 million expansion and improvement program have been detailed by officials of Southwest States Telephone Co. and its subsidiary, Four States Telephone Co.

DEAR ABBY

The Dust Is Flying!

DEAR ABBY: I have a different kind of mother-in-law problem. She isn't in my home five minutes when she drags out her vacuum sweeper, mop and dust cloth. Even when I explain that I have just given the place a thorough cleaning, she goes right ahead and pulls the house apart, moves the furniture and crawls under the beds looking for dirt. When I invite her for dinner she comes hours early and takes over the kitchen. I have had 14 years of homemaking experience and feel that I do a pretty good job. How can I let her know I do not need her help?

MAD
DEAR MAD: Your mother-in-law obviously hasn't enough to keep her busy at home and is merely flexing her domestic muscles at your place. Let her have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: Please set a couple of teen-agers straight as my advice is not wanted. They go steady and have decided to spend from $50 to $100 on each other for Christmas. They both work. Their wages are small and what is left weekly is $10 or less.

DEAR MOM: I think they are spending too much on a single gift, but if they have earned the money, it's their privilege.

DEAR ABBY: A 16-year-old neighbor girl babysat for us last Saturday night. She asked me beforehand if her boy friend could keep her company while she sat, and I didn't see any reason why he shouldn't. When we got home (about midnight) it was pitch dark in the house and the girl and her visitor appeared very rumped and disarranged. My husband said that we should not permit this girl to have company again while she sits for us. How can I refuse her if she asks again, without implying that I don't trust her?

THE LADY ON THE CORNER
DEAR CORNER: Whether she thinks you "trust" her is not as important as making sure that nothing regrettable happens in your home.

DEAR ABBY: I used to be a very heavy drinker. I had to have a shot of whisky first thing in the morning, so you know I was not exactly a "social drinker." I met a woman who said she would marry me if I quit drinking. I joined A. A. and haven't had a drop of whiskey since New Year's, 1961. Now this woman says she changed her mind and doesn't love me enough to marry me. I am ready to start drinking again. Do you think she has been fair to me, and how can I get her to keep her promise?

SOBER BUT WEAKENING
DEAR SOBER: Sobriety is your life-saver and this woman provided it. You owe her a lot, so thank her and say good-bye. Perhaps this is a test. If you stay sober through this crisis, she might marry you after all.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Last Dooley Hospital Is Still Going

By ANTOINE YARED
BAN HOUEI SAI, Laos (AP)—The last of the late Dr. Thomas Dooley's hospitals in Laos survives in this sleepy little Mekong River town—happily because of the lack of a doctor and the nearness of unfriendly territory.

Three young Americans are carrying on the work of the jungle doctor who died of cancer in January 1961 after founding small hospitals in this underdeveloped Southeast Asian kingdom.

Dooley's death and world politics may have combined to bring about a decline in the kind of medical missionary work once practiced here.

Of the three hospitals Dooley started in Laos, only this one survived the two-year civil war that raked the kingdom as leftist, rightist and neutralist factions vied for power.

Even Ban Houei Sai is doing its work on a shoestring.

The last doctor left in October; another may come next summer.

Miss Zola A. Watson of Portland, Ore., is director of nurses in the Dooley Foundation which runs the hospital.

"This is not an ideal setup until we get a doctor," she says.

Miss Watson's companions are Tim Ford, a 21-year-old former Army medic from Indianapolis, Ind., and Reginald F. Gordon, 25, a surgical technician from Schenectady, N.Y.

Miss Watson says several physicians have indicated they want to work in this remote corner of Laos after finishing their post-graduate studies next June.

About a dozen Laotians call at the clinic every day on an out-patient basis. An average of five to nine patients lie in the cramped hospital ward.

Treatment in most cases is for malaria and malnutrition. Difficult cases are sent to Chiengrai, across the river in Thailand.

The hospital consists of a wooden building—set on stilts in Southeast Asian style—nestled amidst trees on the top of a hill that overlooks the glistening river, at this point the border with Thailand.

It includes a 10-bed ward, a clinic and a poorly equipped operating room where a stretcher serves as the operating table.

"In a place like this you can't have everything," says Miss Watson. "What we have is enough for the type of operation we are running at the moment. Sometimes we go across the river to Thailand and buy urgently needed medical supplies lacking here."

She said 10 tons of medical supplies and equipment—the gift of an American company—will be shipped here soon from storage in Thailand. Among the gifts are a generator, a mobile X-ray unit, and a motor launch that will allow medical personnel here to move out into the countryside.

Field operations will be limited to an 18-mile radius. Outside that area lies territory controlled by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao. The Americans have been advised by right-wing garrison commanders here to stay out of the Communist zone.

Ban Houei Sai and part of the river bank are controlled by the rightists.

Inside the area the three Americans are active and whenever their battered jeep bounces along a rutted village road, children wave and shout in greeting.

Government officials also praise their work.

"As long as Ban Houei Sai is a free city I'm staying here unless the military tell us to leave for security reasons," Miss Watson says. "I am staying here until I get a doctor, and until then I am sending patients to doctors."

President's Father Is Reported Making Progress

PALM BEACH Fla. (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's father, who suffered a paralyzing stroke a year ago today, is reported making continuing gains in a slow rehabilitation process.

He may even be back in his self-appointed role of family airport greeter when the President arrives from the Bahamas Thursday for a Christmas family gathering.

It is a far happier atmosphere for the Kennedys than the days last year when the elder Kennedy lay stricken at St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach.

Medical sources, although reluctant to evaluate the 74-year-old Kennedy's condition, say he has made encouraging improvement. He is said to have regained some speech—though far from conversation—and can walk with the aid of a cane. Mostly, however, he gets about in a wheelchair.

Medically, the President's father is considered discharged. The problem remaining is one of relearning and strengthening weakened muscles, the experts say.

Those who have seen Joseph Kennedy since his return to this resort area on Dec. 6 say he looks a bit thinner, but well.

Six days a week, a physical therapist from the Palm Beach Rehabilitation center has an appointment with Kennedy, former ambassador to England, at his home.

He is finding diversion here with yachting and he enjoys motion pictures shown in his home and television.

Although there is no longer any medical problem, four nurses are on duty at the Kennedy home on a 24-hour basis.

He gets about some in his car, with Ann Gargan, his niece and secretary, often doing the driving. He was on hand last Friday evening, a half-hour ahead of time, when First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and grandchildren, Caroline and John Jr., arrived from Washington, D.C.

Loud Commercials Are Under Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Does it seem to you that the commercials come through louder than the regular television programs? Well, it seems that way to a lot of people, and the Federal Communications Commission has announced it is launching an inquiry on the subject of objectionable loudness of commercials.

The FCC said it has had many complaints from listeners, and they seem to increase as the Christmas "hard-sell" season approaches. It said there were 25 in October, 45 in November and 95 in the first 10 days of December.

The FCC said it has looked into such complaints in the past and found no violations of FCC rules. But it said loud commercials are contrary to the public interest, and also contrary to the self-interest of broadcasters and advertisers. It asked broadcasters to discontinue any such practices.

WORST PUN OF THE YEAR

STUTT GART, Ark. (AP)—Joe Karkur reported the theft of 1,000 teeth from his dental laboratory in Stuttgart.

Noting a similar burglary of 4,000 teeth at Augusta, Ga., recently, Karkur said: "I think it's a teething ring."

Rotary Has Music Program

Big Spring Rotarians, with their wives as guests, heard the Howard County Junior College choir, directed by Ira Schantz, in a Christmas music program Tuesday. They were accompanied by Jack Hendrix.

The five numbers, with the fourth in three sections, were: "Birth of Christ," "Sussex Carol," "Burgundian Christmas Carol" with drum and piccolo obbligato, and the group, including "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Away in a Manger," and "The Wassail Song."

Rotarians brought gifts Tuesday for the annual Salvation Army Christmas distribution of gifts and food baskets.

President Ben Johnson announced that there would be no Rotary meetings the next two weeks as meeting dates fall on Christmas and New Year's Days.

Johnson also presented Rotary pianist Ann Houser with a check to show the club's appreciation for her piano accompaniment each week.

President Plays Cupid

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy has played Cupid for a 19-year-old U.S. Marine and a 17-year-old Bronx girl.

The two are Lance Cpl. Bernard Richardson of Brooklyn, N.Y. who had been stationed at Guantanamo in Cuba, and Gloria Kassof.

Because of the Cuban crisis, Richardson had been unable to get leave to come home and marry Gloria this Saturday.

Miss Kassof said she wrote President Kennedy Dec. 3 asking his help.

She said Monday night she got a reply last week from Under Secretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr., stating that Richardson could be transferred from Guantanamo to Camp Lejeune, N.C., and would be allowed to go home to be married.

Richardson telephoned her from Camp Lejeune Sunday night that he would be home today.

The wedding is to be held Saturday.

Educator Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Raphael O'Hara Lanier, Negro educator and former diplomat who once was president of Texas Southern University, died Monday at the age of 62. For a number of years Lanier was director for the Phelps Stokes fund on a project to find and place talented Negroes.

U.S. Agriculture Has Mixed Blessing In Common Market

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is taking a hard look at the expanding European Common Market and what it sees is both good and bad for American agriculture.

Raymond A. Ioanes, head of the Foreign Agricultural Service, said it is a fluid situation where negotiations and "just plain day to day haggling" will take place in the years ahead between the United States and Common Market countries.

In a summary of the situation, Ioanes said U.S. thinking about the Common Market, formed by West Germany, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, has changed considerably from the time it was initiated.

He said the Common Market has amazed the world by achieving spectacular success within a relatively short time.

"The lion is growing in physical size as well as in economic strength," Ioanes said.

He noted that Greece recently became an associate member. Turkey, Austria, Sweden, Switzerland, and Spain are seeking some form of association, and the United Kingdom, Ireland, Denmark and Norway have applied for full membership.

A big threat by the Common Market countries is to U.S.-produced wheat, feed grains, rice and poultry and such. The fear is that U.S. exports of these commodities to the European Common Market will fall off.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman about a month ago bluntly warned the Common Market countries in a speech at Paris to maintain and expand their purchases of U.S. farm products or face economic reprisals.

Freemen urged these countries to exercise responsibility in imposition of tariffs against imports of U.S. farm products. The secretary's speech had the full backing of the White House and the State Department.

Ioanes said that when it comes to commodities which the Common Market either does not produce at all, or produces in small volume, the United States is in good shape in regard to exports.

On this list, he said, which account for about 70 per cent of U.S. exports to that area, are cotton, soybeans, tallow, hides and skins, certain fruits and vegetables, and some other farm products.

"We can expect our exports of these to the Common Market to expand as the trading area expands," Ioanes said.

But, he said, the outlook for the remaining 30 per cent of U.S. farm shipments to the area is less favorable.

"The biggest problem is the possibility that the Common Market, in formulating its common agricultural policy, will maintain high producer prices for wheat, feed grains, rice and poultry—prices which will be 'insulated' by variable import levies from the price effects of commodities produced in non-EEC countries," Ioanes said.

Not all the difficulties, he said trace to variable import fees. On tobacco, for example, the Common Market has established a duty that is not advantageous to higher-priced, higher-quality leaf grown in the United States, he said.

He said the Common Market has agreed that further negotiations on trade access for wheat, corn, grain sorghum and poultry are needed at an early date. He said the variable levy has not been put into effect so far on rice.

One thing in favor of the United States, he said, is the new Trade Expansion Act of 1962 which Congress enacted this fall. He said this gives the United States new authority to take to the bargaining table.

Ioanes said agricultural protectionism is not the answer.

"A period when economic development is taking place almost everywhere in the world, agricultural protectionism is an anachronism," he said.

A Devotional For The Day

Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you. (John 12:35.)
PRAYER: O God, whose beloved Son is the light of the world, enable us to walk in His light. By His guidance, bring us unharmed through the pitfalls of this world to our inheritance in light. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Reducing Competitive Field

A settlement even this week may not be sufficient to save one or more of New York's metropolitan newspapers which have been shut down when the typographical union (No. 6) struck four days. The others closed by agreement. At least three of the papers were on thin financial ice before the strike.

By bringing demands to a head in December, union strategy was based on the feeling that the papers could not stand to lose the pre-Christmas volume of business. It therefore might be expeditious to yield to demands for $18.45 a week (the present base now is $14 per week) increase rather than lose revenue on which some papers depended for their very lives.

The deduction may have been too accurate. The loss of this seasonal revenue, when some of the publishers are obliged to recoup some of their earlier operating losses, may be more than they can stand. It would not be surprising, regardless of a settlement, to see one paper close, possibly two.

Once the holiday business has been lost, publishers may well have a stiffened attitude toward resolving the problem. In the end the union may have to settle near the offered $8 per week package and at the same time see a lot of jobs go down the drain beside. In the end, more mergers may have to take place, further lessening the competitive field in the metropolitan area. And none of this takes into consideration the harm that has been done to the business community through the loss of the medium which best stimulates local retail sales. Thousands of families, only indirectly involved, will suffer in some degree for it.

We'd As Soon Not Know

A news dispatch says that dust storm conditions on the Great Plains can now be predicted with about 85 per cent accuracy seven months in advance of the calendar year in which the storms will occur. Scientists claim they can forecast in May the number of dust storms likely to occur in the 12 months period beginning the next January.

This is the result of an Agriculture Department wind erosion climatic index developed by the research service in cooperation with the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station.

In the Great Plains area, it was said, this advance information will help farmers to decide whether special protective measures are needed. We don't know if this latest peering into the future applies to the West Texas plains area, but if so, we have mixed emotions. In the absence of abundant moisture for cover crops, there's not now a lot that can be done unless more stubble is left (and cotton stubble won't help much). Somehow, we'd just as soon not know if it's going to be a miserable spring.

The Mystique Of Leadership

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia— "Lots of people overseas don't like Federation, but Sir Edgar Whitehead and his friends, are going to found a nation."

So sang a pretty vocalist in a Salisbury cabaret while half a dozen young European couples whirled in the Twist. Afterwards the singer told your reporter that the words were her own and that she chanted them every night to appreciative applause.

THIS IS NOT a good way to take an opinion poll on a political issue, so the reporter tried another one next day at the Salisbury Press club. Nobody there would allow the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland much chance of surviving past the first of the year. Already two of the three members Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia, had voted "nationalist," which is to say anti-Federation under white leadership. But this stubborn reporter, a believer in Carlyle's theory that strong men write their nation's history, was not separated from his own opinion that strong men somewhere, such as Sir Edgar Whitehead or Sir Roy Welensky—or somebody else—would manage to get unity one way or another.

CENTRAL AFRICA, black and white, is like a couple on the verge of divorce, their nerves frizzled with bickering, but their instincts telling them to patch up the marriage for the sake of the children and property considerations. The American foreign policy here, represented by Consul General Paul Green, a calm and keen native of Dallas, Texas, is in the nature of the family counselor who desires the marriage to go on, but has doctrinaire prescriptions for bringing that reconciliation about.

AMERICAN POLICY says that the Federation must turn as soon as possible from selective suffrage, based on education and wealth, to universal suffrage. This position puts the USA, willy-nilly, on the side of the opposition parties and against the Welensky-Whitehead plan for unification-through-gradualism. As Green states the American position, it is not a political one, but a philosophical principle of majority rule, the only tenable position which our country could possibly take. Given free democracy, the American thesis goes, the discordant groups will settle their grievances and see the wisdom of economic and political unity.

THE AMERICAN POLICY seems to say that a country is "ready" for democracy whenever its people demand it. The great gap in African readiness here appears to be in the lack of secondary, or high school, education. For example, Nyasaland, with almost three million people (including about 9,000 whites), had only 17 secondary schools in 1960 and today is graduating only 100 to 150 secondary school students a year. The demand in industry and government is for 15,000 such graduates annually. By providing more teachers, as our foreign aid and Peace Corps are doing, the advancement in education and political responsibility would go forward side by side. The whole difference of opinion lies in the matter of pace. When can a majority of Africans choose and maintain a stable government—now, later, much later?

WHITEHEAD AND Welensky could fail to hold the Federation intact, they might maneuver a strategic retreat into a much weaker form of confederation or a custodial union, but there is another possibility foreseen in the person of Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga. This astonishing man has been making mysterious visits around Central Africa, apparently patching up his quarrels with African leaders and meanwhile keeping the good relations he has always had with the white leaders.

Nobody knows how Tshombe does it, since nobody can quite explain the chemistry that goes into the make-up of magnetic leadership. Tshombe gets along with just about everybody. He has survived imprisonment, defeat and an organized chorus of foreign propaganda. If there is an African who can lead Africans, and still call upon the money and confidence of the white minority, Tshombe is the man.

OUT OF THIS situation, which is still murky and unresolved, rises an alternative to Federation of these former British colonies. Tshombe is said to be working toward a Common Market concept for the Central African mixture of republics, dictatorships, dependencies and tribes. To do this, he needs to be left alone by the UN forces and their overseas supporters, and to be left alone he may first have to make Katanga impregnable as a military stronghold.

IN SUM, there is a possibility that failure of the Rhodesian Federation may not be quite the disaster that is envisioned, because a larger coalition may take its place. The failure of white men to lead Africans may evolve into the unforeseen spectacle of an African, acceptable to the whites, leading both races. It is hard to imagine. But, the mystique of leadership being what it is, nothing around here is impossible.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

How many secrets the United States guards in its storehouses of secrets is itself a secret, but the current estimate is that the government holds around 3 billion classified documents. That works out to at least one secret for every person in the world, man, woman and babe in arms. There is something for everybody.

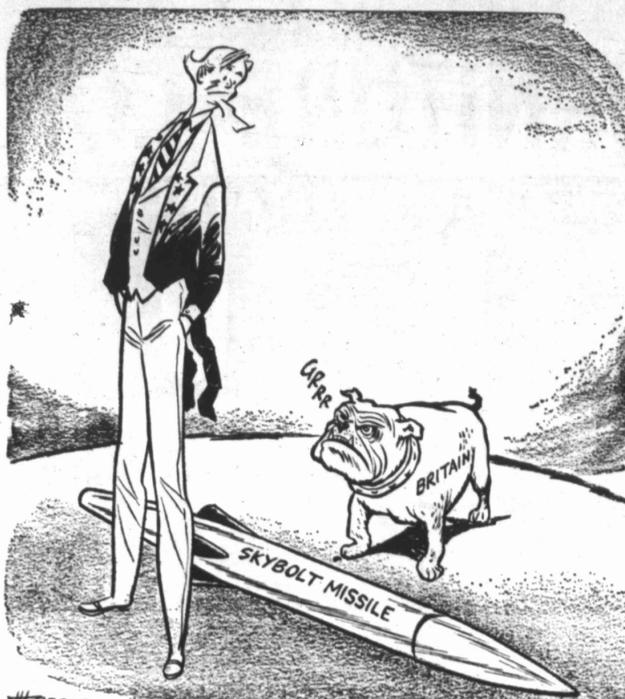

If there is a problem here (and there must be, because just storing all this hush-hush stuff costs around half a million dollars a year) the government might try solving it with some kind of Surplus Secrets Disposal Act. On the other hand, maybe the government ought not to try to share the burden. Most of us common folk have trouble keeping only one secret.

"I can only say thank God for television and radio for keeping the newspapers a little more honest. . . . You won't have Nixon to kick around any more. . . . I hope that what I have said today will at least make television, radio, the press first, recognize the great responsibility they have to report all the news and, second, recognize that they have a right and a responsibility, if they're against to say it."

It is never a happy occasion when a man we have respected and admired shows himself to be hag-ridden by an incubus that warps both personality and judgment. . . . Nor is it pleasant to admit past error in supporting such a man. We do admit error because Nixon's curtain speech gives us no choice.

A Better Kind Of News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's latest technique for getting his ideas across to the public—and himself as a leader—looks like his best.

This was his television-radio discussion with three reporters this week in his White House office. Until now he has relied mostly on speeches and news conferences with masses of reporters.

HIS MOST famous speech was his inaugural address Jan. 20, 1961. This was the one where he urged Americans not to ask what their country could do for them but what they could do for their country.

This speech, like a number of his others, was a highly manufactured product. It showed a literary self-consciousness with its overdone use of contrasts. No one could doubt it had been worked on hard.

Just because it did, the speech lacked that priceless and easy sense of communication which comes with informality. Except for masterpieces, this could be said about anyone's speeches.

KENNEDY'S news conferences have been far from total successes. They last 30 minutes. The very sight of reporters, swarms of them, hopping up and down to ask questions is distracting for anyone watching them on television.

Sometimes some of the questions look like deliberate needles. Some have started off with a "Mr. President, don't you think . . ." which indicates the questioner is not asking for information but confirmation.

And some of the questions have a special or regional interest which makes for dull listening.

IF HE MAKES a mistake, and in an off-moment he could commit a serious one, there's no time to correct it since the public is watching and listening as he answers.

These news conferences are a healthy force in American society. But they are far from smooth and the answers are often far from satisfactory.

He seemed more comfortable and responsive Monday night in his hour-long discussion with just three reporters sitting with him in the White House. He seemed to feel, with just three people questioning him only on matters of general interest, that he could take time and answer at length.

FROM A theatrical standpoint the discussion gave the impression of the President sitting in everybody's living room and talking frankly and freely about problems which concern him and everybody.

Moderation The Best Advice To Drinkers

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: How long does it take for alcohol to leave the system?

Who is more likely to become an alcoholic, the heavy drinker who loves the taste of whiskey, or the one who drinks to acquire the feeling derived from it?—T. H. H.

Alcohol's rate of elimination depends both on the amount consumed and the rate at which it is drunk.

Eight ounces of whiskey, imbibed in a sort of volley, may show measurable levels of alcohol in the blood for 12, 24 or even more hours.

The same amount consumed over a longer period may be eliminated quickly.

Alcohol is absorbed rapidly from the stomach, but after that it may remain for varying periods in other parts of the body, including the blood.

If we knew how to hasten the elimination, we could treat acute alcoholism much better. Lacking such a method, moderation is the best advice to drinkers. In fact, moderation is the best rule for health.

Your other question has no categorical answer. There are too many other factors involved: the frequency of drinking, the drinker's psychological make-up, his or her tolerance of alcohol, or the reasons for drinking.

In my experience there are precious few people who truly enjoy the taste of whiskey, but the heavy drinker, whether he has a taste for it or a yearning for its intoxicating effect, is a prime candidate for becoming an alcoholic. I repeat: moderation is the best rule; total abstinence is the only answer for some people.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a posterior myocardial infarction? It seems to be a clot, but in what part of the body?—Mrs. E. H.

No, not a clot, but the result of a clot or some other comparable interruption of circulation.

The infarction (or infarct) is a portion of an organ that has been damaged by having the blood supply shut off.

The word myocardial gives the location—the heart muscle (from myo for muscle and cardio for heart). Posterior means it is in the rear part of the muscle.

In short, a heart attack has occurred. This particular type is the most common, and it also carries the most favorable outlook for the patient. If you want fuller details, I suggest that you send 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." (Send requests to Dr. Molner, care of this newspaper.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Is too much coffee harmful? My brother sometimes drinks seven or eight cups,

What amount would you consider safe?—A. C.

It's impossible to suggest any set amount because people vary considerably in their reaction to coffee, or the caffeine in it. If your brother is nervous, jittery, has a fast heart rate or notices "skipping" of the organ, or if his blood pressure is elevated, then I'd say by all means to cut down on the coffee. But if he feels all right, has none of these symptoms and sleeps well, then let him alone.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would it be advisable for a woman of 46, in the skip-and-flood stage of menstruation, to be a blood donor?—D. M.

There's no reason why not, unless the "flooding" is causing some anemia. And this condition would be checked before the blood is drawn anyway.

Headaches? You can beat them. Write to Dr. Molner in care of Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner is interested in all of his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim

Artabanus And His Quest

The journey had been long and unwarding for Artabanus. He had jumped at the chance to join the caravan because he felt a sense of stagnation. The desert plains which stretched out from this city were no more barren than his general outlook on life. His circle was trapped in a sterile intellectualism, and even his close friends, a learned triumvirate, had lost touch with reality and speculated on great ethereal happenings. Thus, a change in scenery, minds and faces seemed a welcome relief.

ARTABANUS HAD plodded with the traders over the desert, across the wadis, up the mountains. The trail had led around the blue lake cupped far below Mt. Hermon and spilled into the river that wound to the wilderness sink. He had gone on down to Egypt and poked among the residues of a great culture, and now back up the rugged country inside the coastal plains. He had talked, he had probed, he had disputed. Yet he felt barren and cold. The clannish people in this province, like bankrupt aristocrats, seemed to be clinging to some past glory while dreaming of new ones.

He had felt impelled to leave the party and explore the villages on his own for a few days before rejoining the caravan in Jerusalem. Perhaps he had been moving in the wrong circles; perhaps if he could talk to the nameless people; perhaps—perhaps that gnawing emptiness could be satisfied.

AS HE PREPARED to leave the little town of Bethlehem, he was overwhelmed by a tide of people flowing into the city in response to some decree for census and taxation. It seemed futile to push against these rapids of humanity on narrow trails, so he decided to return to his quarters in the inn and wait a day or so.

Restless, he left his bleak room and made his way to the courtyard behind the inn. The night was still and dark, and stars twinkled with a crispness matching the air. Artabanus folded his arms and leaned on the top of the rock wall and peered into the distance in deep meditation.

SUDDENLY, HE was alert, cocking his head half to one side. He could have sworn that he heard voices, voices unlike anything he had ever before heard, voices that blended in some majestic chant such as had come from the temples of this strange land. It was as though something mysterious had touched his soul.

Across the valley and on the slope the embers of a shepherd's fire glowed dimly as if unattended. Odi mused Artabanus, for what possibly could induce shepherds to leave their flocks?

HE BECAME CONSCIOUS of the subdued sounds below. Straining, he leaned over the wall and could make out the silhouettes of men, some seemingly bowing, some kneeling. How he got into the stable, Artabanus did not rightly know, but he found himself in the midst of a band of shepherds and in the presence of an indescribable scene.

Lying in a crude manger on a wad of straw lay a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes. Nearby was such a young mother, and crouched beside them in awe and wonderment at the miracle of birth was the man.

YET IT WAS THE babe to whom the shepherds paid homage and to whom Artabanus felt inexplicably drawn. He tingled with the excitement of the moment, and a flood of joy filled his emptiness. Looking up, he beheld a star which he thought shone more brightly than the others, and he heard the voices in a tongue he never known but clearly understood: "Glory to God in the highest. . . ."

"I must," said Artabanus to himself, "return home and tell my three friends." —JOE PICKLE

What's So Bad About Peace?

If Benjamin Franklin were alive today, he might have a hard time explaining to some Congressional committee exactly what he really meant when he wrote to Josiah Quincy in 1773: "There never was a good war or a bad peace."

IN 1962 an American just doesn't go around knocking war and praising peace if he wants to stay out of trouble. In the bright lexicon of our time, peace has become an increasingly dirty word. It has gotten a bad reputation since World War II, and people who advocate it had best be prepared for trouble, and serious trouble.

Ever since the Communists, soon after that war, with mock piety took over peace as their particular propaganda dodge, peace has been in real trouble in this country. Peace is the victim of the general theory that anything the Communists are for, we're against.

LOOK AT THE smear job just done on Adlai Stevenson by his enemies via the Saturday Evening Post. (Please, don't try to tell me it was done by his ever-loving friends!) This conspiracy to destroy him and his usefulness in the United Nations was based primarily on the charge that he believed peaceful negotiations rather than a nuclear strike would and could (as they did) solve the Cuban crisis.

BECAUSE HE urged the peaceful policy which President Kennedy followed, Stevenson was pilloried, on the word of an anonymous enemy, as wanting "a Munich" and being, by inference, "soft" on communism. The hard-nose or war party in the national capital was able to libel Stevenson because he sought via peaceful means to solve the Cuban crisis and avert the impending threat and horrors of a nuclear war.

Thus peace, at the incitement of the jingoists, suffered further denigration and disgrace. But who can estimate, as a result of the Stevenson affair, how many other honorable men, who favor peace, have been silenced? Or how much stronger the jingoists are?

NOW WE HAVE the spectacle of a group of women, who have been working, walking and picketing for peace, up before a Congressional committee that seems to share the general Washington, D.C., distrust of peace or any effort made to achieve or strengthen it.

The committee may eventually prove that every man, woman and child favoring peace is a Communist agent, that peace is bad for us, that the very contemplation of a peaceful world undermines our will to fight and that the peacemakers are crackpots at best and traitors at the worst.

BUT GOD HELP US if the honest people who advocate peace, the control of nuclear weapons and even their abandonment are to be subjected to a Stevenson-smear or worse. There are some, dedicated Americans who believe that we have to be neither Red nor dead; that this is not the only alternative that faces mankind.

Can it be demonstrated that such persons, marching and picketing for peace, have done harm to the United States either at home or abroad? Can it be proved that all such activity is Communist-inspired? Can we, as a nation, allow peace to be outlawed and permit it to become the sole property of Russian diplomatic offensive?

WHAT IS SO attractive about war, particularly nuclear war, that the United States, once the most peaceful of powers, need be afraid of peace? Or its advocates?

At this season of the year, it is particularly apt to recall that "Blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God." (Copyright, 1962, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

The Continuing Federal Deficit

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy did not tell all of the story to the American people when he claimed in his speech before the Economic Club in New York City that "the economic health of this nation has been and is now fundamentally sound."

Even in the same speech later on Mr. Kennedy said exactly the opposite as follows:

"SURELY THE lesson of the last decade is that budget deficits are not caused by wild-eyed spenders but by slow economic growth and periodic recessions—and any new recession would break all deficit records."

The President endeavored, moreover, to give the impression that the rises in government expenditures which have unbalanced his budget have been due entirely to national defense and space projects or "to fight the recession we found in industry and agriculture."

REPRESENTATIVE Clarence Cannon of Missouri, Democrat, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, however, in a courageous speech on the day Congress adjourned in October, gave a different version. Unfortunately it didn't get the publicity a presidential address does. Mr. Cannon said:

"This year we added another year to the long string of years of living beyond national revenues—in 26 of the last 32 years we haven't balanced the budget. Not even in times of unprecedented national prosperity have we been willing to pay as we go along. We have yet to demonstrate any determination to do so."

MR. CANNON emphasized that "it is rising non-defense expenditures that have unbalanced the budgets and expanded the national debt." He proved his point as follows:

"In the eight years, fiscal 1954 through 1961, the level of national defense expenditures remained virtually unchanged but the non-defense budget in that time increased $13,470,000,000—and that does not include the highway program, erroneously labeled as a 'trust' fund and therefore no longer counted in general 'budget' totals.

"AGAIN WHEN fiscal year 1962 closed on June 30 last, budget expenditures had risen $6,153,000,000 above 1961—$3,575,000,000 for national defense and $2,578,000,000 for non-defense."

And who has been in power in Congress for practically all of the last 32 years? Who has been in the majority in Congress in the last eight years? In both cases it is the Democratic party. And who holds the purse strings? Not the President, but the Congress.

The President tried to shift the blame for the big deficits to the preceding administration, but Mr. Cannon's speech tells why this can't be so.

THE PRESIDENT expects the tax reduction to produce a boom in consumer spending. In his speech he revealed that "consumers are still spending between 92 and 94 per cent of their after-tax income, as they have every year since 1950." But he declares that the "after-tax income could and should be greater."

The illness of the American economy has been due largely to the failure of business to expand its plant and equipment. The main reason is the "profit squeeze." There cannot be any substantial expansion or stability of prices unless the government stops tampering with the law of supply and demand in price-making and opens its eyes to the labor-union monopoly that is choking the free-enterprise economy on the cost side.

POLITICS REALLY rules the day and, as long as the administration in power accepts big campaign funds from labor unions, special privilege will persist. The American businessman will see his tax reductions eaten up by higher wage costs while at the same time the government persecutes and prosecutes industry when it seeks to get a fair price and a fair profit. This ailment will not be cured by government spending and perennial deficits. All this can only bring inflation and a drop in the purchasing power of the dollar. American League Backfield

Here are members of the offensive backfield of the American Football League all-star team selected for The Associated Press by a committee of sports writers in the eight league cities.

They are fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo, quarterback Len Dawson of Dallas, flanker back Charles Hennigan of Houston and halfback Abner Haynes of Dallas. (AP Wirephoto).

Forsan Bisons Tip Dragons, 48 to 46

FLOWER GROVE—The Forsan Buffaloes came from three points back with 50 seconds to play to defeat the Flower Grove Dragons, 48-46, here Tuesday night.

The Forsan girls set the stage for the visitors' sweep by winning a 63-44 decision. The Buffalo Queens now have a 16-3 record and next see action against San Angelo Lake View in Forsan Jan. 8.

The Forsan boys have won eight of ten starts. They next take the court against Big Lake at 5 p.m. Jan. 2 in the first round of the Big Lake tournament.

Cookie Gilchrist Named Top AFL Player By AP

NEW YORK (AP)—Cookie Gilchrist, a traveling man who was the first player to run for 1,000 yards in the American Football League, is the Player-of-the-Year in the three-year-old pro loop.

An Associated Press committee of writers and broadcasters from the eight league cities named the 243-pound fullback of the Buffalo Bills Tuesday.

The Bills reportedly paid him $20,000, and got their money's worth. Saban said Gilchrist has not signed his 1963 contract, and the honor "only makes it more difficult."

Looking 'Em Over

With TOMMY HART

Eddy Nelson re-entered the Big Spring Steer lineup a little ahead of the time-table his doctors set for him and provided the team with a pick-up it had needed all year.

Nelson approached his coach, Delnor Poss, after the Steers had dropped a two-point decision to Seminole in the first round of the Snyder tournament last week and lamented the fact that he hadn't been sent in to play, adding he was convinced he could have swung the issue.

Oak Cliff Named To Play In Bowl

PHARR (AP)—The Oak Cliff Jets of Dallas will try to slow down the nation's winningest kid football team, McKeesport, Pa., in the Milk Bowl here Dec. 28.

The Jets, who boast 14 victories and one loss this season, were chosen Tuesday as host team in the small fry game.

Bob St. Clair, 265-Pound Tackle For San Francisco 49ers

Bob St. Clair, 265-pound tackle for the San Francisco 49ers, was awaiting a chance to drive his car clear of a traffic jam following a game when the three characters recognized him from the sidewalk and called him a dirty name.

St. Clair had his wife and mother-in-law with him at the time. Bob stepped out of the car and asked the man to repeat the remark. The trio charged him and that was a mistake. He decked two of the characters and the other retreated in a hurry.

Tiger Passing Game May Hurt Texas Jan. 1

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Louisiana State made most of its yardage on the ground this season, but University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal says it would be foolish to think the Tigers' passing game can't hurt.

"It's a real problem," he said. "They have two good passers and they throw to a lot of different receivers. A couple of teams held them on the ground but they got to them with the pass."

Defending this balanced offense, paced by All-America halfback Jerry Stovall, is one of the big problems facing Royal as he prepares the Longhorns for their Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl football game against LSU.

Faulkner Is Given Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Faulkner, an assistant to Sid Gillman for 13 years at Cincinnati, San Diego and Los Angeles, made good on his own with the Denver Broncos in 1962 and today was named Coach-of-the-Year in the American Football League.

Although the Broncos faltered in the stretch and lost five in a row after winning seven of their first nine games, Faulkner did a man-sized job in his first year at Denver.

Frank Tripucka's passing to Lionel Taylor and Bo Dickinson and the work of Gene Mingo, who led the league in scoring with 137 points, gave the Broncos a solid punch. They were the mid-season sensations until they lost to Boston in mid-November and then went into a tailspin that saw them drop two to Dallas and one each to Houston and New York, and wind up second in the Western Division.

No TV Of State Playoff Game

DALLAS (AP)—The state Class AAAA schoolboy championship football game at Abilene will not be telecast because of telephone company requirements, according to Rhea Williams, director of the Texas Interscholastic League.

This announcement brought expressions of regret today from officials of the competing schools, Borger and San Antonio Brackenridge.

Stram's Critics Go Quiet After Sweep

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Just about everybody wanted Hank Stram ousted as coach of the Dallas Texans last season when the Texans limped in with a 6-8 record after being a favorite for the American Football League championship.

Hunt said he wasn't blaming Stram for the team's poor showing because there had been a lot of injuries and also "I didn't get him the good players."

Liston Suggests A Round-Robin

TORONTO (AP)—Champion Sonny Liston, although he said he didn't think the best of them, would last two rounds with him, Tuesday night suggested a heavy-weight round-robin series involving himself, former champions Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson and brass Cassius Clay.

television, said the best idea would be for promoters to match him against Johansson and Patterson against Clay.

Lakeview's Y Again Wins

IN YMCA Industrial Basketball league competition here Tuesday night, the Lakeview YMCA won its third straight decision by thumping Tom Enloe Company, 58-43, while E. C. Smith Construction ran over Mid-West Insurance, 61-38.

The champion said he did not doubt that a $1 million offer by Johansson's advisor, Edwin Ahlquist, to meet the Swede in Stockholm was legitimate.

Packers Show Way In Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—The Green Bay Packers failed to lead the National Football League in either total offense or defense but dominated the final team statistics by finishing first in 11 offensive and four defensive categories.

San Angelo — San Angelo High School smashed Killeen, 56-49, in a basketball exhibition here Tuesday night.

Bobcats Vanquish Killeen, 56-49

Minton White led the Bobcats in scoring with 20 points while Richard Moya followed with 12. San Angelo currently has a 10-2 won-lost record.

A WORD TO THE WISE FORD OWNER

FROM SHASTA FORD SALES

DON'T BE MISLED BY "SO-CALLED" NEW CARS

The Ford Motor Company recently announced a new 24-month-24,000-mile warranty on Ford vehicles beginning with new 1963 models and which warranty is expressly from Ford Motor Company to its authorized dealers.

The Ford Dealer, on his own behalf, warrants to the owner each part of his Ford vehicle to be free, under normal use and service, from defects in material and workmanship for a period of 24 months from the date he delivers the vehicle to the original retail purchaser, or until it has been driven 24,000 miles, whichever comes first. This warranty shall be fulfilled by the dealer, or if the owner is traveling, or has become a resident of a different locality, by any authorized Ford dealer, replacing or repairing at his place of business, free of charge including related labor, any such defective part.

This Warranty Shall NOT Apply to:

1. Tires and tubes (appropriate adjustments for them being provided by their manufacturer).
2. To normal maintenance services (such as engine tune-up, fuel system cleaning and wheel, brake and clutch adjustments).
3. To normal replacement of service items (such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades and brake or clutch linings).
4. To deterioration of soft trim and appearance items due to normal use or exposure.

This warranty is expressly in lieu of any other express or implied warranty, including any implied warranty of merchant's ability or fitness, and of any other obligation on the part of the dealer.

In issuing the above warranty to all who purchase a new Ford vehicle from us, we, at Shasta Ford Sales, obligate ourselves to render the most efficient and cost-free service possible. We offer the finest service facilities with modern equipment, trained service personnel and a large stock of Genuine Ford Parts and Accessories.

The monetary value of this warranty and pledge of Service After The Sale is a substantial amount and can not be overlooked.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It is only fitting that Charles Laughton should come to final rest on American soil.

The latter years of the great British-born actor, who will be buried today at Forest Lawn, were marked by a love affair with his adopted land. The testament of this romance is included in a book published during his fatal illness, "The Fabulous Country."

Laughton selected his favorite writings about the United States, works of famous authors which he often read on his tours through the nation. He introduced each passage with a comment of his own.

Among his comments:
New York City — "one of the best things that can happen in New York is when friends come from England on their first trip to America—what excitement to show them their first real skyscraper, to take them to the Radio City Music Hall, particularly if it is Christmastime, for the audience there is a warm American family audience; to take them on the Staten Island ferry, to the best musical in town, to the wealth of restaurants and museums."

New England—"When Elsa and I were first in New York we visited New England several times. After the clangor of the city, New England gave us great comfort. We had not known in the Old World that the New World had 'antiques,' or that there were charming old houses. We both remember with great pleasure Farmington, which is near Hartford, Conn., and its graceful white-painted houses. Old wooden houses were a revelation to us, as were clams, clam chowder, Boston scrod, trilliums which carpet the woodlands in spring, mountain laurel and the blazing colors in fall."

The South—"I have many memories of the South—Chapel Hill in North Carolina where Thomas Wolfe was educated. It was spring and I have never seen such a burst of blossom. There was a backyard with cherry trees, and there were cardinal birds among the pink blossoms. I will never forget that."

Chicago—"Chicago has many memories for me, and the best was the first. Elsa and I had just come to America and we were in a play together in Chicago. We had a small apartment overlooking the lake in a hotel on Lake Shore Drive, and the weather was bitter cold."

California—"Elsa and I were in New York first and then Chicago and afterward in California. It was only in California that we began to look around. We got to the mountains, the lakes, the deserts and the sea, to San Francisco, the Monterey Peninsula, the old missions, and started to learn about the beasts, the birds, and the flowers of the prodigal West Coast."

The wilderness — "A wilderness was a new idea to me. It took some absorbing. There are no wildernesses in England. I did not see my first wilderness until I returned to America after my first visit. There were no houses and I kept on asking the Pullman porter if this was still New Mexico."
