U.S. Mission Chief Discusses Congo Needs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Louis Truman discussed with top U.N. aides of Secretary-General U. Thant today what kind of U.S. military equipment is needed to strengthen the U.N. force in the Congo.

Truman met Wednesday with Thant, then returned to U.N. headquarters for additional meetings with Robert K. A. Gardiner, who is Thant's chief officer in the Congo, and U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche, who has a big advisory role in Congo affairs.

Truman and other members of his eight-man military mission are expected to leave for Leopoldville this afternoon to make a survey of U.N. Congo force needs.

The Truman mission has been linked with reports, from Washington and President Kennedy's Nassau conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, that the United States is concerned over prospects of a new Soviet bid for influence in the Congo.

Truman told reporters Wednesday night, however, after meeting more than an hour with Secretary-General U. Thant, "my mission has nothing to do with that whatsoever."

He said the United States has "no plans that I know of" to send troops to the Congo and that his purpose is to see what useful military equipment "we can give to the Congo."

State Department officials said earlier the mission will assess the ability of the 18,000-man U.N. force to keep order.

BANDIT SOUGHT

Service Station Operator Shot

R. E. McClure, 32, owner of McClure's Service Station, East Fourth and Circle Drive, was shot through the chest at his station about 9:20 a.m. today.

He told Big Spring police that he was shot by a man who robbed the cash register of an undetermined amount of money. No arrests had been made at noon.

McClure was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation in a River Funeral Home ambulance where his condition was reported as serious.

He was alone when the assault took place. His employe, Albert Gonzalez, had gone to the bulk station to pick up some oil.

Police Chief Jay Banks said McClure, after he was shot, managed to get to the telephone and told the operator to call police.

"He had lost quite a bit of blood when officers and an ambulance arrived," Banks said.

McClure was wounded with a .38 calibre bullet, investigating officers said. The bullet struck him in the right side of the chest and passed through his body. It was found, along with the empty cartridge, on the floor of the station.

"We have no estimate yet of the amount of money taken from the cash register," Assistant Chief Leo Hull said. "Detectives Jack Jones and Aubrey Hurley are working on a few leads but have not been able to determine how much money was taken. McClure has not been able to help us much, but we did get some description of his assailant."

Officers called to the scene, including Sheriff Miller Harris, were receiving reports of men in blue overalls and a jumper from all parts of the area, and were checking out each report.

An area-wide bulletin was broadcast over police and Department of Public Safety radios.

The DPS Midland office said an armed robbery of a super market in Carlsbad, N. M. last night with between $20,000 and $30,000 taken was committed by a man fitting the same description as the service station holdup man here.

Today's armed robbery was the second time a shooting has occurred in a McClure Service Station in Big Spring. The other occurred Jan. 7, 1959 when the night attendant, Gerald Liner, 18, was shot and killed in the station at 701 W. 4th, which McClure operated at the time. McClure was not on duty or at the station then.

Andres Marquez, a juvenile, was arrested in Midland Jan. 16, 1959, and was given a life sentence following conviction for the murder of Liner.

Market Moves To New Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—With General Motors and Chrysler touching new highs, the stock market moved turbulently to a moderate gain on average early this afternoon.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional, some going to about a point.

Yearend cross currents were affecting the market earlier than usual, said brokers, because of the big plunge of last spring.

The ticker tape ran late repeatedly and first-hour volume was the heaviest this week, 1.34 million shares.

Gains by the motors were narrow, but the leading stocks in the group have advanced solidly in recent weeks. Steels were no better than mixed. Oils displayed a string of gains as they continued in investment favor.

Aerospace issues also went to the upside, some of the stocks making gains exceeding a point. The backdrop of business and economic news remained fairly reassuring.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 241.4 with industrials up 1.2, rails up .1, and utilities up .2.

Dr. Carl Marcum, chief surgeon at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital and a long time civic worker here, was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce for 1963, at a luncheon meeting of the board of directors today.

Jeff Brown, a past-president of the C-C's Ambassador's Club, was elected vice president and Clyde Hollingsworth was re-elected treasurer.

The nominating committee submitted the names of the three new officers to the board meeting and they were elected without opposition. Outgoing officers are Roy Reeder, president, and Ike Robb, vice president.

Dr. Marcum's elevation to president of the chamber climaxes more than five years of active service in the organization.

He has been a member of the chamber since coming to Big Spring in July, 1951 from Houston. He became an active worker, he recalls, some five years ago. He was elected vice president of the chamber in 1961.

Dr. Marcum is a native of Berea, Ky. He lives with his wife and three daughters at 1506 Dayton. He is a veteran of World War II in which he served in the medical corps.

In chamber work, Dr. Marcum has been active for the past year as chairman of the executive committee. He is a past member of the Big Spring Lions Club, formerly president of the Permian Basin Medical Society, and a past director of the Big Spring Country Club. Several years ago, he served as president of the Big Spring Knife and Fork Club.

He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a diplomat of the American Board of Surgery.

Brown is an accountant with Cosden Petroleum Corp. He has been with the company for the past seven years, coming to Big Spring from Snyder, where he was born.

Prior to joining Cosden, he was with the Texas Co.

He and his wife, with their two children, Bob, 17, and Ginger, 12, make their home at 1724 Purdue. They are members of the First Methodist Church.

He is presently secretary of the local Kiwanis Club—but is to reber this year and a past president of the Ambassador's Club—an organization in which he achieved outstanding note for his work. He is also a member of the Downtown Lions Club and currently a member of the club board.

This will be the third term R. Clyde Hollingsworth, public accountant, will be serving as treasurer of the chamber.

Hollingsworth, who came to Big Spring in January, 1956 from Kilgore and Longview, is treasurer of a number of other groups and organizations.

He is presently secretary of the local Kiwanis Club—but is to return to Havana today after representatives of U.S. government agencies, including immigration, health and state departments, prepared at Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami to receive the prisoners if they arrive.

James B. Donovan, the man who may have the answer, plans to return to Havana today after Donovan's plane from Havana sidestepped Miami International Airport and landed at a seldom-used air strip a mile distant. When reporters and photographers arrived, the plane's occupants had vanished.

Donovan had that analysis with him when he flew to Miami to obtain the latest list of additional contributions.

Castro has demanded the equivalent of about $33 million in supplies before he will release the prisoners.

U.N. Assembly Bears Down On Work Load

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly bore down today to close out the heaviest agenda in its history. It hoped to end its 17th session tonight.

With only two major issues left to act on, Hungary and the Palestine refugee question, delegates tried to ring down the curtain a day ahead of their target.

The Hungarian problem, in previous years a subject of long and bitter East-West debate, cleared the 110-nation special political committee Tuesday in 90 minutes.

The perennial question of Palestine's one million Arab refugees tied the special political committee up in three weeks of bitter debate. The committee finally approved a U.S. proposal to extend U.N. relief and education programs for Arab refugees for two more years. The resolution also calls on the Palestine Conciliation Commission—Turkey, France and the United States—to continue efforts to resolve the problem of the refugees displaced by the 1948-49 Palestine war.

GOOD PROGRESS

"There is no question that we are making good progress," Salinger said. "The agenda was just too great to be handled in two days."

Still to be discussed were such cold war matters as the aftermath of the Cuban crisis, the Chinese-Indian conflict, Moscow's ideological battle with the Red Chinese and the variety of puzzles it presents, Arab Middle East problems generated by the overthrow of the feudal monarchy in Yemen, and the European economy and the Common Market.

Nuclear problems, Skybolt and the prospects of a new Soviet-splashed crisis in the Congo grabbed up the two leaders' time Wednesday.

Is Recognized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has formally recognized the republican government of Yemen, formed in September after a revolutionary coup.

Dr. Carl Marcum, chief surgeon at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital and a long time civic worker here, was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce for 1963, at a luncheon meeting of the board of directors today.

If Castro Talks Bring Results

Heavy Agenda Extends Talks By JFK, Mac

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan waded today in a maze of complicated problems today in a determined effort to show the world that British-American friendship remains strong despite a wrangle over nuclear strategy.

The crust of their work forced them to prolong their talks an extra day.

The two were reported making progress toward a compromise on their divergent views of the value of the controversial Skybolt missile. The atmosphere in this sunbathed resort, seemed to be one of rising hope.

LONG LIST

The President and the prime minister were confronted by a long list of cold war problems as they got together at 10 a.m. at the hilltop mansion occupied by the U.S. chief executive on a breeze-swept hill overlooking the sea.

Top presidential aides advising Kennedy on cold war problems were standing by for the moment when the talks get into specific cold war areas. Aides included Phillip Talbot, assistant secretary of state for Near East and South Asian affairs; W. Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs; and J. Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India.

Kennedy and Macmillan added morning and afternoon sessions Friday to their schedule. The President planned to leave about 5 p.m. Friday for Palm Beach.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said a communique will be issued after the final session.

The reason for prolonging the conference, Salinger said, was "not just the Skybolt, but it is all of the NATO defense matters as well."

GOOD PROGRESS

"There is no question that we are making good progress," Salinger said. "The agenda was just too great to be handled in two days."

Still to be discussed were such cold war matters as the aftermath of the Cuban crisis, the Chinese-Indian conflict, Moscow's ideological battle with the Red Chinese and the variety of puzzles it presents, Arab Middle East problems generated by the overthrow of the feudal monarchy in Yemen, and the European economy and the Common Market.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The freighter African Pilot arrived today at Port Everglades to transport millions of dollars worth of medicines and foodstuffs to Cuba to buy the freedom of 1,113 invasion prisoners if a barter deal with Fidel Castro materializes.

The Coast Guard patrolled the area where the 10,000-ton vessel tied up at 9:30 a.m. after a trip from Baltimore, Md.

Available for immediate loading were 11 box cars of barter supplies transported to the port, 30 miles north of Miami by the Florida East Coast and Seaboard Air Line railroads.

Other materials were being stockpiled by the American Red Cross, sponsor of the prisoner exchange deal, at suburban Opa-Locka Airport.

Representatives of U.S. government agencies, including immigration, health and state departments, prepared at Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami to receive the prisoners if they arrive.

Rain Clouds, With Brilliant Display, Sweep Over County

Rains which seem to have averaged about half an inch swept over Howard County last night, accompanied by brilliant lightning and some thunder.

The rainfall appears to have been general over most of this part of the state. Heaviest rain reported in the area was on the Bigby Ranch, in the southwest corner of Glasscock County, where 1.20 inches were gauged.

In Big Spring, rain varied from .45 of an inch to .60 of an inch. The U. S. Experiment Station gauged .55 of an inch. There was a report of nearly an inch in one gauge in southwest Big Spring.

The Texas Electric Service Company switching plant reported .45 of an inch and its downtown plant had .60. Chalk, in the extreme southeast corner of the county, had .60. Elbow had .50 of an inch and Lomax about .60.

Vealmoor to the north had only .30 of an inch. Vincent, on the northeast edge of the county, had .50 of an inch and it was reported that the same sort of rain seemed to have covered the Coahoma area.

Farmers were not too happy to have the rain but did not think it would cause any grave damage. It will delay cotton harvest still further—even if the sun comes out bright at once and no more rain falls, it will be three or four days before the fields will be dry again—it is possible the moisture will stain the lint which means less money.

It will delay cotton harvest still further—even if the sun comes out bright at once and no more rain falls, it will be three or four days before the fields will be dry again—it is possible the moisture will stain the lint which means less money.

What the farmers insist they really need is more freezing weather. The belated freeze of a few days ago tended to hasten the time when stripping could be initiated in the fields but more frost is needed to bring still other bolls and continue the defoliation.

Meantime, the reports are that nearly all parts of this section of the state received rain.

Colorado City had .35 of an inch; Sweetwater .45, Eskota .17, and Snyder .20. TESCO said, Garden City had .85 of an inch.

The rains began around 11 p.m. They continued intermittently for some time.

25 CARS AND ONE PUP Dogpile On The Highway

AUSTIN (AP)—A little dog caused it all—five separate automobile crashes on the interregional highway in the northeast edge of Austin involving 25 automobiles.

Six persons were injured. The dog escaped with a cut leg.

Motorcycle policeman Delbert McCullough said it happened this way:

McCullough was riding his three-wheel motorcycle down the expressway at 7 a.m. in a drizzling rain. He saw the car in front of him swerve to avoid hitting the dog, then crash into the curb dividing the north and south lanes, hurling a woman passenger to the pavement. McCullough slowed to report the accident and put on his blinking red light. A car crashed into the motorcycle, and a third car hit that second car.

Before traffic could be rerouted in the heavy crowd, there was another chain-reaction crash involving five cars, still another involving four cars, and still two more pileups.

McCullough was treated for minor injuries. Miss Frances Wolff, a clerk in the police department, received treatment for head cuts. At least four others were taken to hospitals for first aid treatment.

This morning, wreckers, mechanics and insurance adjusters were still trying to clear the expressway of battered vehicles.

O. B. Sayers Jr., (above) has been named director of personnel for the Texas and Pacific Railway Company, with headquarters in Dallas. Sayers entered T&P service in 1938, and successively has been an agent-operator, extra train dispatcher and assistant chief dispatcher, prior to his appointment as assistant director of personnel in 1951. Sayers succeeds the late George R. French, who at one time served as division superintendent in Big Spring.

Hearing Set On Exemption

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission has set for Jan. 31 a hearing on an application by Southwestern Hydrocarbon Co. for exemption of requirements of the commission's new slant-hole drilling rules.

The company seeks exemption to the inclination survey requirements and report "insofar as it affects the Corsicana shale low field (Navarro County) as a whole to a total depth of 1,200 feet."

The month-old rule, adopted to prevent another slant-hole affair similar to the East Texas field, provides that inclination surveys must be run on all new wells drilled with rotary tools. The survey results must be included with other data reported to the commission.

The company also asks that the exception not apply in the case of any well that was drilled in violation of minimum distance spacing rules for the field.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Producer Joseph E. Levine says his company will make Henry Miller's controversial novel "Tropic of Cancer" into a $2-million movie.

Now, This Rancher Set A Fine Table

Telephone Talk, the mailer insert for all Southwestern Bell Telephone accounts, carries a story with a Big Spring setting. Entitled "An Early Texas Christmas Gift" and with an accompanying sketch, the story is this:

Cooking a Christmas turkey presents something of a culinary challenge to many modern housewives, but these challenges are nothing compared to those that faced the cooks of some early Texas holiday feasts.

We recently ran across an old story which tells of a Christmas feast prepared by Capt. Dick Ware, a former Texas Ranger and owner of the Cross C Ranch near Big Spring.

Back in 1901, the story relates, Captain Ware decided to remember his two brothers—one in Fort Worth, the other in Amarillo—with Christmas gifts.

About two weeks before Christmas he had his ranch hands prepare two large hogs weighing 300 pounds each, and two "runs" of only 150 pounds.

He stuffed each small hog with blue quail, plentiful on his ranch, then stuffed each large hog with one of the smaller hogs—sort of a pig within a pig.

The Christmas gifts traveled by buckboard to Big Spring, thence by express to his brothers in Amarillo and Fort Worth. Since there was a crisp winter bite in the air, the meat arrived in fine shape.

The story does not tell us the reaction of the two brothers when they received these unusual—but welcome gifts. Nor (and perhaps with good reason) are we told the reaction of the wives.

But we are given Captain Ware's comment, which was an understatement even by Texas standards. He said, "It's just a little thing but it shows I'm thinking of them."

Board Okays Sewage Plants

AUSTIN (AP)—The communities of Hart and Miles won Texas Water Pollution Board approval to begin Wednesday installing new sewage treatment plants.

The board acted after hearing opposition to both applications. Hart is in Castro County and Miles is in Runnels County.

The Miles project was opposed mainly by a landowner. Protests against the Hart application came from several Hal and Swisher County residents.

Opponents said the discharge of waste into Running Water Creek would disrupt plans to build about a dozen dams along the creek from Plainview to Clovis, N.M.

The board also: Heard Texas Water Commission employ Jerry Thornhill report that old and abandoned oil wells in the West Texas area to be covered by Hubbard Creek Reservoir need to be cleaned up.

Approved new sewage treatment plant at Woodboro and proposal that Lavaca Pipeline Co. of Fort Lavaca be allowed to dump salt water into the Gulf of Mexico.

Nativity Scene Depicts Holy Family As Negro

LEICESTER, England (AP)—A crib was unveiled outside the Methodist Church here with Joseph, Mary and Jesus depicted as colored people.

And the traditional three wise men were: An American getting out of a fur-lined car—to represent wealth. A Russian, arriving by rocket, to represent the benefits of science. A Nigerian, to represent tradition.

The crib was designed by Frederick Reeves, a nephew of the Rev. Ambrose Reeves, former bishop of Johannesburg who was forced to leave South Africa because of his stand against apartheid (segregation).

The Rev. Arthur Kirkby, press officer for the Leicester Free Church Council, commented: "This crib will shake people out of their cozy ideas about Christmas."

Golden Apples Are Awarded...

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dick Chamberlain and Connie Stevens picked up golden apples Tuesday as Hollywood's most cooperative actor and actress.

The Hollywood Women's Press Club, which sponsors the annual awards, named Doris Day and Warren Beatty the most uncooperative acting pair. Actress Barbara Stanwyck handed out the apples.

Chamberlain plays the title role in the "Dr. Kildare" television series. Miss Stevens formerly appeared in the "Hawaiian Eye" television series.

... But Some Are A Bit Sour

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Doris Day and Warren Beatty had the doubtful distinction today of being tabbed Hollywood's most uncooperative acting pair in 1962.

They were named winners of the Hollywood women's press club's sour apple awards Tuesday.

Winners of golden apples as most cooperative actor and actress were Dick Chamberlain, television's Dr. Kildare, and Connie Stevens, formerly star of the "Hawaiian Eye" TV series.

ONE GOD

By T. H. Tarbel, Preacher Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80

It is not a family of Gods—not three Gods in one—for which I contend.

The Lord our God is one Lord (Deut. 6:4). But, the one God is manifested in three persons, the Father, Son and Holy Spirit; neither of which would be God without consideration of the others, and each of which is God in consideration of the others.

And now the Lord God, and his Spirit, hath sent me. Thus saith the Lord, thy Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel (Isa. 48:16, 17).

Note the three Divine persons here: The Lord thy Redeemer (speaking), the Lord God and his Spirit. See also the connecting verses beginning with 12. Christians are not the only ones who see a plurality in unity in the word, God. Commenting on the word for God in Gen. 1:1 in the Hebrew Bible, an eminent Jewish rabbi, Simeon ben Joachi, in his comment on the sixth section of Leviticus, says, "Come and see the mystery of the word Elohim; there are three degrees, and each degree by itself alone, and yet notwithstanding they are all one, and joined together in one, and are not divided from each other." (Clark's Commentary on Gen. 1:1).

Two men were injured and one died of injuries when this 35,000-bushel grain elevator exploded and burned at Happy, Texas, about 35 miles south of Amarillo. Thirteen other grain storage bins nearby were damaged.

U. S. Active Behind Scenes In POW Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is playing a passive role on stage in the negotiations for the release of 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners, but it is moving with full force behind the scenes.

The involvement of the U.S. government in the negotiations can be demonstrated by any close check of the statements and activities of negotiators and government officials since negotiations began shortly after the abortive invasion of Cuba in April 1961.

Reports from Havana indicate the negotiators may be very close to securing the release of the Cubans captured in the U.S.-directed invasion. Fidel Castro, in exchange for $53-million worth of food, drugs and equipment, may send the men back to the United States before Christmas.

President Kennedy has tried to disassociate himself from the negotiating committee's efforts. "This is being done by the private committee," he said at his Dec. 12 news conference, "and I am very sympathetic to their efforts."

MORE NEEDED

But the committee, to stage the kind of operation the exchange involves, would need more than sympathy from the President.

The American Red Cross has

Bunny Girls Can Still Hop

NEW YORK (AP)—Those luscious bunny girls can continue hop-hop-hopping along at New York's new Playboy Club, but not to live music.

The city's license commissioner, Bernard J. O'Connell, says the bunnies are "scantily clad" to lure prospective customers, and he doesn't think the club deserves a cabaret license.

But his decision need not halt the flow of alcoholic beverages at the plush $3½-million club. It only prohibits entertainment.

The bunny girls, the trade mark of Playboy clubs, get their names from their costumes, featuring bunny ears and cottontail attachments.

The club, like others of its kind, is an offshoot of Playboy magazine, where the bunnies originated as Playmates.

Thanks, Ma'm, But Alcohol Will Melt Wax

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—World War I air ace Eddie Rickenbacker and Frank Luke flew into Phoenix from Los Angeles aboard a jet airliner.

Stewardess Sanda Redd of El Paso, Tex., blushed after offering the men a drink. The passengers were made of wax.

They were on their way to a Scottsdale, Ariz., wax museum from Josephine Toussard studios in London where they were created.

Luke, a native of Phoenix, died in combat in 1918.

Rickenbacker, America's top ace in the war, lives in New York.

reported that railroads, airlines and trucking firms are working round-the-clock to push the thousands of pounds of food and medicine into Florida for quick shipment to Cuba in case the deal is completed.

There have been reports that the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, is directing the government operation in support of the committee and its chief negotiator, lawyer James B. Donovan.

In New York, business sources said that Atty. Gen. Kennedy had made the requests for some of the food and drugs being readied for shipment to Cuba.

These sources said Kennedy described himself as acting as a private person, rather than as an administration official. Kennedy told the sources, they said, that the operation had the full support of the President but there were legal objections to his direct participation.

MIGHT RAISE ANTE

They said the attorney general also told them Castro might raise his price if he believed the government, rather than private parties, was supplying the food and drugs.

Edwin Guthman, public information officer for the Justice Department, acknowledged Wednesday night that it and the Internal Revenue Service made staff members available to advise lawyers working with Donovan on tax questions and similar matters.

"We have been expediting rulings and assisting it in an advisory way, but it is entirely a committee operation," he said.

Guthman was asked for comment after Dr. Arnold Beckman, president of Beckman Instrument Co. of Fullerton, Calif., said a Washington attorney called him from the Justice Department and asked for $60,000 worth of equipment.

BLACKMAIL

Beckman called the exchange "Castro blackmail—not in keeping with the dignity of the United States."

Guthman said private lawyers working on the exchange had used Justice Department phones, but that the committee would pay for the calls.

Beckman said some of the requested instruments have been considered of strategic importance and shouldn't be sent to a Communist country. Guthman commented that any goods that might be sent to Cuba would be cleared first by the Commerce Department.

Drug industry sources said in New York initial contacts on the exchange were made with individual companies in October by Donovan.

The question of whether the industry should take part in

Words Of Wisdom For A Young Man

LONDON (AP)—A magistrate gave this advice to a lovelorn young man who tried to jump out of a train:

"Never run after a moving bus or girl. There's always another one coming."

Derek Scurry, 22, admitted he tried to jump out of the train after his girl broke off their engagement. A brakeman stopped the train in time.

Along with the advice, Magistrate T. T. Davis fined Scurry $140.

New Rehabilitation Plant Construction On Schedule

Construction on a new rehabilitation building at the Big Spring State Hospital is staying about on schedule, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent.

"In some areas they are behind, but in many others the men are running ahead of schedule. For instance, they have finished installing the air conditioning, which was not scheduled for completion yet," he said.

Suggs Construction Co. is building the $346,999 unit. Completion is expected in April or May, depending on whether or not weather is favorable, with dedication tentatively set for the early part of June.

The building was assured about September, 1961 when the legislature appropriated $280,000 for it. An additional $66,999 was made available under the Hill-Burton Act. It will have 22,000 square feet of floor space and will house an auditorium, canteen, merchandising area and office space for occupational therapy and vocational rehabilitation sections.

Before the rehabilitation building is complete, work should be under way on another new building—a medical and surgical center. Final plans for the structure are now being drafted by the architect, Dr. Harrison said.

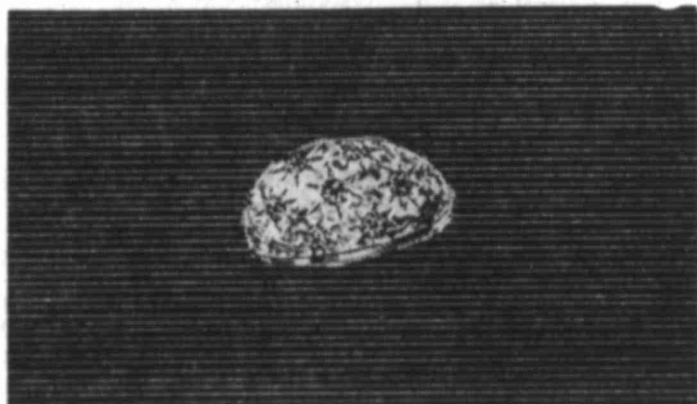

Ground for the rehabilitation building was broken July 22. It is going up in the quadrangle of hospital wards, directly behind the administrative building.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey, after a look at the Alliance for Progress in Action here, said he found Mexico determined to reach its goals of freedom and social progress.

Annual Fashion Show Held At Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC) — Members of the homemaking classes presented their annual show at the regular Parent-Teacher Association program Thursday evening in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Charles Maughon, class teacher, was in charge. Introducing the girls were Miss Donna Henderson and Miss Janie Putman, junior students.

Sandra Bryant, freshman student, wore a basic black cotton skirt, topped with black and white checked cotton.

June Ritchey wore a green shag, bark cotton dress with a pleated basic skirt, high neck and set-in sleeves. Her garment was trimmed with large gold buttons and gold accessories.

Faye Conaway modeled a black dressmaker suit. Her basic dress pattern featured high neck, roll collar, cut in sleeves and straight skirt. She wore a matching jacket with three-quarter length sleeves, beige accessories and a gold pin.

Others included Patty Rers' box jacket made of tapestry in lovely mingled colors, which has become very popular this winter. To bring out the gold she made a gold suede skirt. For accessories she chose brown.

Sue Hamrick modeled a box jacket in blue cotton, a straight skirt and accessories of white and black.

Vickie Jarratt made an all-ool suede suit in aqua color. She also chose the box jacket with no collar and set-in sleeves. Instead of a scarf, Vickie chose a white fur collar, and for trim, large gold buttons. Her skirt and jacket were lined with white.

Faye Ritchey wore a simple-to-make fashion with high neck, set-in sleeves and pleated skirt, and large gray buttons to bring out the gray tones in the material. She made the belt to snap on and wore black accessories.

In her brightly colored orange skirt and weskit, Joan Massingill was fashionably attired. Her skirt was made with fullness across the front rather than darts or pleats. The white blouse with a rolled collar gave her a very becoming garment.

Linda Sullivan was ready for Christmas festivities in her red cotton dress. Her dress was styled with the three-quarter length sleeves, ruffles and a boat neck. Black accessories completed the holiday attire.

Women Tell Likes And Dislikes In Gifts

For Christmas she wants money, lots more money—but only if it comes from a husband or a close relative. She also likes elegant clothing, luxurious wool sweaters, good perfume lingerie, books and magazines, gloves and candy.

She hates cheap perfume and "not her type" toilet articles, cheap and gaudy jewelry, unsuitable lingerie and pajamas, and the wrong kind of scarves, slippers, stockings, blouses and such things as pot holders, dish towels and maternity sets.

The statements are from American Fashion Views which carried out a survey among wives, students and career girls on the gifts they liked "most" and "least" last Christmas. Some of them sounded a bit like gold-diggers when they got into the realm of wishful thinkers, but most showed a heart of gold and held their likes and dislikes within bounds.

Thirty-six per cent of the women questioned listed real fine jewelry and watches as their first choice. Books and sweaters ran a dead heat at 31 per cent. Money and gift certificates were preferred by 23 per cent followed by clothing, furs, lingerie, handbags, good perfume, opera and theater tickets. One woman liked her new baby better than anything! Another went for a washing machine.

NEVER RECEIVED
In the dreams' department—gifts wanted but never received—14 per cent said they wanted a car. Ten per cent wanted fur coats, and 10 per cent wanted real diamonds and pearls. Others trips, and a painting by a famous artist. One woman wanted a new baby, another wanted a hostess gown, and one wanted a horse. One woman said she would like "no family arguments" better than anything.

The survey showed very plainly that a man should study the girl before buying her Christmas present—but don't ask her, she hates that. Ask a friend or drop a delicate hint. Otherwise you'll find her returning such things as clothing (wrong size), lingerie and pajamas (wrong size or color) and cheap perfume. Other things returned were a guitar and a pair of cowboy boots. One woman was livid because someone sent her a pair of sequined stockings.

Women find parents, friends, husband and sweethearts provide the best gifts in that order, and that in-laws provide the worst. And in that category they hate people who leave price tags on, who send cheap and gaudy presents, duplicate last year's present, and send gifts that are in bad taste. Some women said they were wild if they received gifts that were too practical.

GIFTS IGNORED
Thirteen per cent of the women said they liked everything they got, and 33 per cent said they would use everything they received. But in the list of things they said they would ignore was a china pot, an eggbeater, and the wrong kind of stationery.

They liked gifts with a personal touch—handcrafted wool sweaters, paintings, woodcuts, blankets, slippers, monogrammed ashtrays, photographs, pillowcases, and handkerchiefs. And one woman said one of the worst gift blunders was for an outsider (business bonuses excepted) to send money when he was not inside the family group. They also disliked expensive gifts given for the household without consultation, hobby gifts for a person who does not have hobby—such as a holder for a non-existent coin collection.

Farmers Are Raven Over Black Bird Pie

COLORADO CITY — Two facts emerged from a conference held here to consider an influx of crows.

One: They aren't crows; they're ring-necked ravens.

Two: They're a blamed nuisance.

While there was general agreement among county judges, county commissioners and county agents from Howard, Scurry, Nolan and Mitchell counties that the area would be better off without the black birds, there was some variance of how to do the deed.

The most generally accepted approach was blasting or detonating gravel-packed bombs. Other methods considered were poisoning, noise making, trapping and repellants.

P. B. Uzzell, Region I wildlife supervisor of the Game and Fish Commission, explained the various approaches to raven eradication. Those attending the conference agreed concerted action would be required. Royis Tucker and Roy Lynn, game wardens, spoke briefly and offered to help access the approximate damage and compile an estimate of the raven population in the four counties. Heaviest damage reported at the meeting has occurred in the China Grove area of Mitchell and Scurry counties where cotton, grain and other crops have suffered sharply.

The parley here was called by Elmer Martin, Mitchell County judge, and Buddy C. Logsdon, county agricultural agent.

District Needs 17 To Meet Its Goal

WANTED: Seventeen boys to become Boy Scout members within the next 10 days.

This is the number of Scouts needed for the Lone Star district to meet its membership goals for the year. Officials thought they had the goal in the bag, but a registering unit had 16 drops. R. L. Tollett, chairman, at once urged all unit leaders to redouble their recruiting efforts and to make sure all boys attending the meetings are given a chance to register before the end of the year.

Cubs had a goal of 660 boys and have 665 now on the roll. Explorers had a goal of 180 and have 182 registered. Scouts (ages 11-14) had a target of 865 and now have 848. The district has a good chance of being the first in the council to make its goal, or it could be the only one in the council to make it.

U.S. Gained

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back from a round-the-world trip, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said the United States gained tremendously in world opinion as a result of the Cuban crisis.

Spradling Describes Life At Farley's Boys Ranch

Life at the Cal Farley's Boys Ranch near Amarillo was described to the Downtown Lions Wednesday by a Howard County Junior College student who formerly lived there.

Doug Spradling told of the balanced program of living, schooling, religious training, physical fitness. There are, he reported, 300 boys at the ranch and

Gra-Y Sets World Service Giving Pattern

Gra-Y members have set a pattern for giving to World Service, the YMCA's equivalent for foreign missions.

At the Y board meeting Tuesday evening, Steve Tidwell, representing the Gra-Y clubs (the grade school Y program), told Dr. W. A. Hunt, YMCA president, that the $80 proceeds from the recent Gra-Y all star football game was to be the gift of the Y to helping YMCAs around the world. Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tidwell.

Dr. Hunt thanked him and the Gra-Y lads and noted that so far youth groups have raised $104 toward the cause. Board contributions have brought the total to $204 on a $550 objective, and the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y groups, which usually make this a major project, have not yet reported.

Arrangements for the annual meeting Jan. 29 when Dr. Walter Kerr will be the speaker were approved by the board. The tickets will be $2.50 for adults and $1 for students. Dr. Kerr is one of the most widely sought speakers in the country today for institutions majoring in youth work. The banquet is to be at the Dora Roberts SUB at Howard County Junior College.

Wade Choate, reporting for the youth committee, said that 21 delegates (12 girls and eight boys) will attend the Youth in Government project in Austin Dec. 27. This is a record number from Big Spring, and the group will be accompanied by half a dozen adult sponsors.

Mrs. Lee Rogers said the adult program committee was sponsoring a course in the "Fundamentals of Supervision" Feb. 11-15 in conjunction with the Texas A&M Extension Service.

The board authorized Francis Flint, general secretary, to accept an invitation to participate in a series of 10 sessions at the Big Spring State Hospital on counseling.

Twenty nominees have been selected for submission to the membership to fill 10 places on the board, reported S. M. Smith. Charlie Merritt reported on the progress of the Lakeview YMCA and said it now had 163 paid members. Jim Smith gave a financial report on the branch, reflecting operations within the budget. Plans for the observance of YMCA week Jan. 20-27 were approved by the board. Joe Pickle, membership enlistment chairman, reported on progress for plans for the annual enrollment, also set for the last of January.

Men, Be Glad This Isn't Legal

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Police say Anna Cardella, 40, considered Salvatore Sanmarco a likely husband for her daughter Anna.

Mrs. Cardella invited the 18-year old boy to her home, then locked him in a room with her 20-year old daughter for four days. She served them meals regularly.

Salvatore's parents notified the police when he didn't come home. The police located him and are now holding Mrs. Cardella and her daughter on a kidnaping charge.

they are housed in nine dormitories containing 36 boys and two staff parents. The 12-grade school is fully accredited and offers diplomas either in academic or vocational fields.

The religious program is non-denominational but is an integrated part of the schedule. Athletics include baseball, football, wrestling and basketball, and competition is on an intramural basis. Boys are given regular medical and dental service without charge by Amarillo physicians. One thing Doug forgot to mention—he was valedictorian of his graduating class last spring.

Missile Tested

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Titan 2, the United States' most powerful military missile, has recorded its sixth success in nine test launchings.

ed the board had voted to send West Texas Boys Ranch $100 for Christmas, $25 to the Cheer Fund, and to underwrite the Lions day on the Salvation Army Christmas kettles up to $100.

Maj. Bob Short urged members to be on hand at the state hospital at 7 p.m. Thursday (ward 9-B) to help with the Christmas party. George Melsar also asked for helpers to distribute Christmas goodies to children of the Kate Morrison School as the club has done for more than a quarter of a century.

Frosty Robison reported on the work being done by the Boy Scout troop (No. 7) and of its extensive camping program, which includes plans for a trip to Monterrey, Mexico, next year. Gifts were presented to Scoutmaster Bert Andries and his assistant, Nick Malarchuk. The club will have its regular meeting next Wednesday, the day after Christmas.

Pinball Machine Raids Carried Out

GALVESTON (AP)—Raids carried out as part of a nationwide crackdown netted federal agents 150 to 200 pinball machines Wednesday in Galveston County.

No arrests were made. The strikes centered on the downtown districts of Galveston and Texas City.

Some of the raiders traveled in moving vans. They seized the machines, many costing $250 to $1,000, from about 125 cafes, lounges and clubs because the devices did not bear the government's $250 gambling tax stamp.

Raids also were made at La Marque, Dickinson, League City, San Leon, Alta Loma, Hitchcock and Kemah.

Trucks hauled the multiple odds machines—so called because inserting additional coins raises the amounts a winner collects—to a warehouse in Houston. If the usual procedure is followed, court orders to destroy the devices will be asked.

R. L. Phinney, district director of the Internal Revenue Service at Austin, said operators of the machines could draw one year in prison or fines up to $10,000.

It was "the biggest crackdown against coin-operated gaming devices ever made in this district," Phinney said.

"The Galveston operation appears to be one of the largest seizures anywhere in the United States," said George Stephen, the district's intelligence chief.

Stephens said nearly all the special revenue agents in the Austin district joined in the Galveston County raids. They came from Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Beaumont.

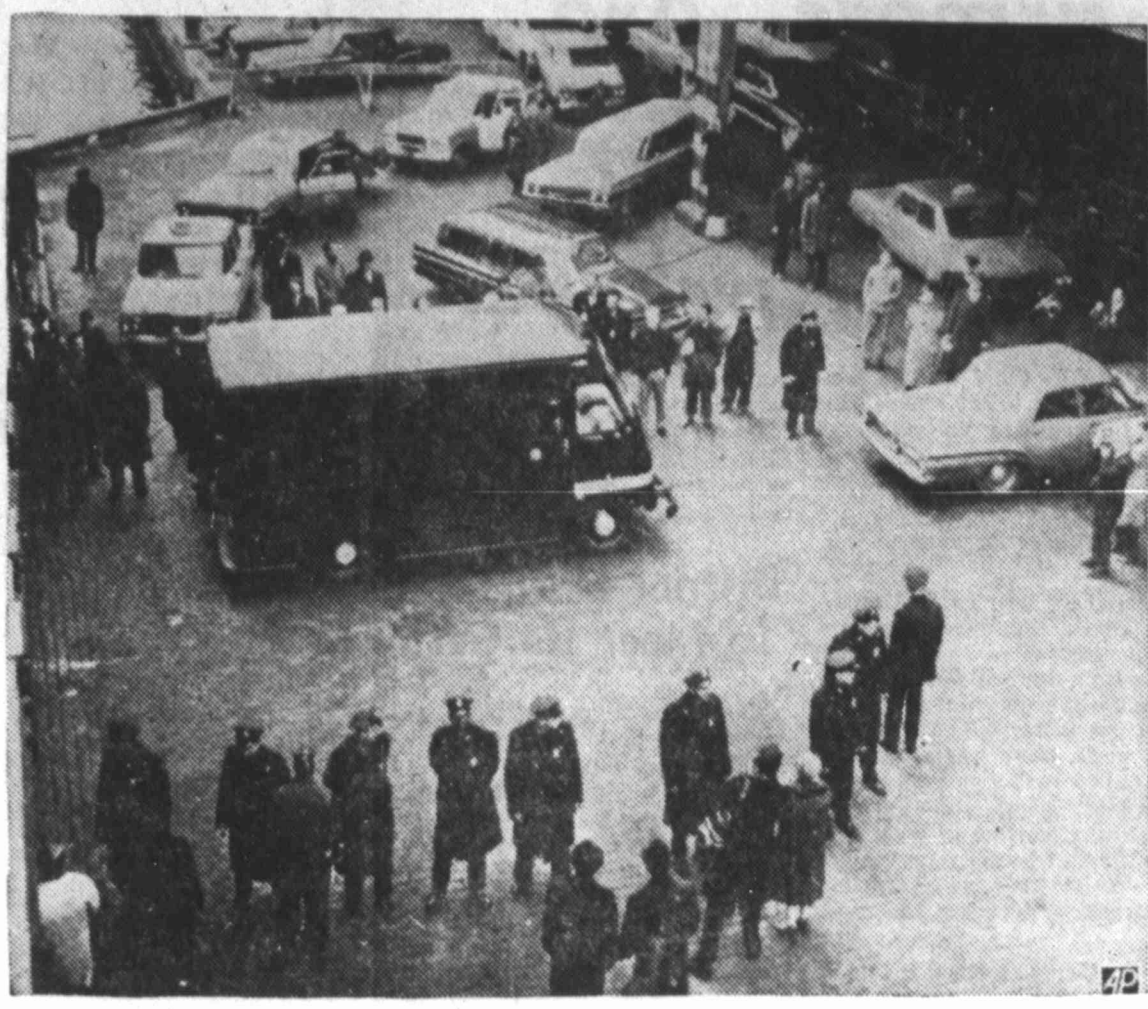

Phinney said Treasury agents will study each case and turn evidence over to the U.S. attorney for possible filing of criminal charges.

Parking Meter Receipts Down

The Tuesday count of receipts from Big Spring parking meters fell $387.03 below the same period for 1961, according to figures from City Secretary C. R. McClelleny's office.

The money taken from meters between Dec. 11 and Dec. 18 this year was $1,073.45. The same period last year showed $1,460.48.

Last year's count, however, included Saturday parking meter money while this year's figure does not, since free parking has been permitted every Saturday for three months.

Heavy Guard

Police form a protective cord around a special truck carrying the priceless painting, "Mona Lisa," on a pier in New York after arrival of the Leonardo Da Vinci masterpiece aboard the liner France. The painting, regarded as the most precious single work of art, is on loan from the Louvre in Paris to the National Gallery of Art in Washington where it will be displayed next month.

Mona Lisa Arrives For U. S. Exhibition

WASHINGTON (AP)—In Vault X of the National Gallery of Art, a celebrated lady rested today, waiting for somebody to turn her out of a box so she can turn her inscrutable smile on Americans.

Under security guard seldom accorded a queen, the Mona Lisa of Leonardo da Vinci, the world's most famous portrait, arrived Wednesday from the Paris Louvre.

An ambassador of good will, she will be unveiled Jan. 8 by President Kennedy before a throng of notables, including members of the new Congress.

After three weeks in Washington, the 450-year-old painting will move on to the Metropolitan Museum in New York, then possibly to other American cities, before going home to France.

The Mona Lisa made the Atlantic crossing on the liner France. At New York Wednesday, her aluminum and plastic box, airconditioned to duplicate the humidity and temperature of the Louvre, was loaded with ceremony into a small black van. In a seven-car caravan, the van sped to the capital. Eyes of Secret Service men, assigned by Kennedy, roved right and left. Soldiers turned out to guard the way. In every state en route, state police formed a motorcycle escort. Tunnels were closed to ordinary traffic.

The Mona Lisa is priceless, although one figure mentioned as her value is $100 million. No insurance was taken out for her trans-Atlantic passage—the rates would have been prohibitive.

In France, some art critics and others had raised protests against the painting's voyage to the New World. They thought of the storms at sea, of possible portrait pirates, and, above all, of changes in humidity that might flake the paint off the aged panel of poplar wood.

Why then, did the French permit the Mona Lisa to come?

Mainly, it is a gesture of amity. The French know, for example, that Jacqueline Kennedy has an insatiable yearning for art.

Oral History Kept Of U.N. Words

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—In air-conditioned vaults beneath a U.N. headquarters, a scholarly ex-journalist keeps an oral history of every word uttered in 16 years of major U.N. debates. Marjan Stopar-Babsek, archivist of the United Nations, also has kept vigil over a wide assortment of chattels—from machine guns used in the 1946 Greek civil war to a stock of sacramental wine donated by a New York rabbi in the name of peace.

The rebel machine guns, submitted as evidence of outside intervention, were returned later to the Greek government. The wine has been put to good use. But the vast store of audio-records continues to grow.

LOT OF TALK

"We now have about 100,000 double-faced 16-inch discs," said Stopar-Babsek. "To play the whole lot back would take seven years running 24 hours a day." Six recording machines in a basement sound room, connected with the Assembly hall and committee chambers, spin all day picking up English, French, Russian or whatever language the delegate on the floor happens to speak.

Speeches by such visiting notables as President Kennedy, Premier Khrushchev and Queen Elizabeth II also are etched onto the platters turning at 33 1/3 revolutions per minute.

The longest speech ever recorded was made by Fidel Castro in September 1960. The Cuban prime minister harangued the Assembly for 4 hours and 29 minutes, using up 10 discs.

SPACE PROBLEM

"Next year the verbatim of the Assembly and its committees will be switched from discs to tape to save space, which is becoming a crucial problem," said Stopar-Babsek.

Audio-records take up only one section of the vast archives which house a complete written file of U.N. proceedings on microfilm, as well as a partial file of the old League of Nations and the Nuremberg war crimes trial of 1946.

"Some of the league records were destroyed in Geneva in 1940 when it was feared that Hitler would invade Switzerland," said Stopar-Babsek.

Gifts to U.N. officials from heads of state or private admirers usually wind up in the archives, since it is against U.N. policy for them to keep such presents.

STORED AWAY

"From time to time we have received valuable sets of porcelain, ivory statues and oil paintings," said Stopar-Babsek. "They are all duly catalogued and stored away."

Many important papers are irreplaceable. Some articles such as the first U.N. flag used in Korea and the first draft of the Declaration of Human Rights have great historic value. Special measures have been taken to safeguard them.

At its present rate of growth, the archives will soon overflow their present quarters beneath the U.N. library.

Stopar-Babsek hopes for a special building by 1966.

The archivist was an editor in his native Yugoslavia before coming to the United Nations in 1946

'Loan Shark' Issue Coming Up Again For Next Legislature

By JERRY PILLARD

AUSTIN (AP)—Lawmakers coming to Austin Jan. 8 for the next legislature indicate they will eliminate "the loan shark evil." However, if past legislatures are any indication, defining "loan shark" is not easy for lawmakers.

The senators and representatives answering a survey by The Associated Press say loan industry regulation will be a hot topic. Of those answering, 88 per cent list loan regulation among the top five issues facing the 58th Legislature.

The past two legislatures, through two regular and several special called sessions could not agree exactly who should be regulated.

BILL KILLED
Last Feb. 1, the House passed and the Senate killed a bill to regulate loans under $800 to wind up the third called special session.

The controversy stems from different philosophies by legislators on whether to favor the multi-office loan firm or the small independent lender.

Legislators on the side of the larger companies contend the companies lending from $5 to $100 are the major violators of charging higher-than-legal interest rates on loans.

Legislators on the side of the small loan companies contend regulation will put the small lender out of business. It takes the same personnel and time to process the $50 loan as the $5,000 loan, those on the small company side contend.

INTEREST LIMIT

A constitutional amendment, on the books since 1891, limits the amount of interest which can be charged to 10 per cent. Voters gave the legislature permission in 1960 to regulate interest charges.

Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton called loan regulation "imperative."

Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville said "for most members this will be a number one must." He predicted some type of legislation will be passed.

Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio said most of the bill has been worked out "but the out-of-state vs. in-state issues remain."

"This will be one of the hot issues of the session, but I have my doubts as to whether any single measure can pass both houses," said Dick Cherry, an incoming House member from Waco.

Rep. John Allen of Longview said a registration system under the banking department should be enacted, without setting up a separate agency to regulate lenders.

Several legislators indicated they will support a bill similar to that sponsored by Rep. Criss Cole of Houston last session.

Cole and Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth both were elected to the 1963 Senate and both pushed the type of law which the previous Senate killed.

BILL DESCRIBED

The compromise bill briefly: Sets up a small loans commissioner; allowed interest rates of 3 per cent per month up to $100, 2 1/2 per cent from $100 to $200, and 2 per cent from $200 to $300; retained the 10 per cent constitutional interest limit for loans from $300 to $800; cut out other charges, such as credit life, health or accident insurance with chattel mortgages permitted only on loans over $200; lenders must be Texas residents or 51 per cent of the stock owned by Texas residents; and not more than 60 offices permitted for one company. Supporters of small loan companies fought for retention of the credit insurance and asked that a $4 monthly "handling charge" be allowed in addition to the interest rates on loans under $100.

Arabian Horse Has Just Done The Impossible

By BOB GRAY, EDITOR
The Texas Horseman Magazine
Written For The Associated Press

A Texas Arabian horse named Surf has just done what a lot of Arabian owners didn't think could be done: He has won the American High Score Award for Arabs the second year in a row.

This is roughly the same as Texas University whipping the Texas Aggies at football 10 years in a row. It's just not going to happen.

But in Surf's case it has. Arabian Breeder Douglas Marshall of Houston just got the official notification that his big dapple gray stallion beat out all other U. S. Arabs, point-wise, and it's the first time in the breed's American history that this has happened.

Mary Christmas

Santa Claus probably got the surprise of his life when Mary Christmas paid him a visit and hugged his neck. Mary, 19, is a sophomore at Texas Tech in Lubbock and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Christmas of Levelland.

NO ACCIDENT

It was certainly no accident. Marshall's trainer, Tom McNair, hauled Surf to 22 Arabian shows in 16 states during 1962. Tom, his wife Rita, and both Doug and his sons Doug Jr., and Hugh all rode the stallion in hundreds of classes. They were hoping for a second national championship—but could hardly believe it would really happen. The reasons go back to the fantastic manner in which Americans are buying and showing good horses.

"Even one-horse families are buying fine horses," said Rita McNair. "They are tough to beat at the shows. And more of the best trainers are going in for Arabians too."

This trend has already been noted throughout the Southwest in the Quarter Horse, Paint and Appaloosa fields. The Arabians currently being shown in this area—although representing fewer owners—are among the best quality animals in the horse world.

SAME PROBLEM

Marshall's Gleannloch Farms, in northern Harris County, therefore has the same problem most other Arab breeders face: It cannot meet the demand for purebred stock. Most Arabian breeders produce horses with great selectivity. They don't produce as many as they can. Rather, they put much emphasis on quality in every colt.

Surf was a horse clearly destined for championship status. His dam was a great mare of Spanish breeding named Jubilena. His sire was the late Sureyn, widely known throughout the Arabian breed. Surf stands 15.2, weighs 1,150 and is considered by the people at Gleannloch as being the most versatile horse they have ever seen.

VARIETY OF WAYS

He was shown in a fantastic variety of ways both in 1961 and 1962. In 1961, as a lively six-year-old, Surf was ridden in a few children's classes by trainer McNair's five-year-old boy, Dan. Surf also won in halter competition, to be sure, but what gave him the unprecedented national title was his winning of All-Arabian Championship Stakes in Western Pleasure, English Pleasure, Trailing Horse competition, three-gaited and native costume classes.

All this meant the horse had to be enormously gifted in disposition, action and speed since these classes put different demands on the animal.

Now that he's done what no other Arabian horse has done, Surf's value as well as the value of his sons and daughters will continue to climb. Gleannloch Farms expects his fourth colt crop next spring. If any of his progeny are for sale they'll likely bring upwards of $1,500 at weaning time.

LITTLE INTEREST

But this will be of little interest to Surf. Still a comparative youngster at seven, he'll be in some competition again in 1963... and when he's at home he also may have work to do, champion or not. Gleannloch Farms also raises Angus cattle. When necessary, Surf will find himself under stock saddle and—like any cowhorse—moving those cattle across a flat Texas pasture.

Explained Trainer McNair: "We don't want him to forget he's a horse."

Katanga Students Rip Down U. S. Flag

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—University students, shouting "Down with Kennedy!" and "Bash the consul's head in!" stormed into the grounds of the U.S. consulate today, ripped down the American flag and broke all the windows.

A small shack on the grounds was set afire and windows of Consul Jonathan Dean's parked car were broken by stones.

Dean and his staff watched the demonstration from a balcony but withdrew later to escape the rocks.

The students organized the demonstration after an announcement in New York that the United States will supply more military equipment to bolster the U.N. campaign to end Katanga's secession.

President Moise Tshombe's guards, called to the scene, dispersed the demonstrators. About 150 of the students, African and European, came back and broke through the police cordon again. They finally were scattered by a platoon of special police, but one of the demonstrators said, "There is not enough damage. We will be back."

The student attack came after anti-American blasts by Tshombe at a news conference at which he threatened again to "apply the scorched earth policy" in Katanga rather than give in to military pressure.

New Tax Rules After Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new tax rules curbing "expense account living," which were expected before Christmas, won't be out until late next week, the Internal Revenue Service said Wednesday.

The regulation takes effect on January 1. IRS Commissioner Mortimer Caplin told a New York audience Tuesday it would be issued by Christmas to help taxpayers adjust to the new record-keeping requirements.

But a spokesman said today that Caplin was too optimistic. The regulation now is expected, on or about Friday, Dec. 28, he said.

Coast Guard Due Increased Activity

PORT O'CONNOR — With the Matagorda Ship Channel scheduled for completion a few years hence, the Port O'Connor Coast Guard station is due an even more important role than it has played in the past.

But its staff of 15, headed by CWO J. R. Morton, has plenty to do in the meantime.

Let a shipmer working offshore get his hand caught in a winch, and the Coast Guard boat arrives in a hurry to take him from the slower shrimper and rush him ashore for medical attention.

If a shrimp boat breaks down, it's the Coast Guard to the rescue, and many a monotonous hour has been spent by Coast Guard crews towing a disabled boat to shore.

Coast Guard personnel also keep the lighthouse at Matagorda working. They help maintain the intricate system of buoys and channel markers that make navigation safer and they tend to almost any sort of chore no one else can be found to do.

Bank's 'Miss Cotton' Is 'Employee Of Year'

Miss Cotton is going to take a trip next week to visit her grandparents in California. She couldn't be more surprised.

When Lester Morton, president of First National Bank, began citing information Monday evening at the bank's Christmas party to make the first "employee of the year" award, Violet Lindley sat making mental notes about this person and that. Before she knew what was happening, Morton said: "Miss Cotton, stand up."

She has this nickname around the bank because she handles the cotton accounts. That's not all, by any means, for during the year there's hardly an area of the bank's customer relation program that she does not touch.

"As handy and as valuable as an utility infilder," observed Charles Dummag, cashier.

With the honor goes a plane trip to Lomax, Calif., near Fresno, and a chance to spend about a week with her grandparents, Joie, 15, and Steve, 11, sons of her own late son, Joe Lindley Butts, who died in 1954. Violet Lindley was one other son, J. Y. (Mickey) Butts, Overton, who also has a son.

This year Vi, as her friends call her, has attained her majority at the bank, for she went to work there in August of 1941. At first she was a secretary handling the correspondence for the late R. T. Piner, president. Over the years her, she has attained her majority at the bank, for she went to work there in August of 1941. At first she was a secretary handling the correspondence for the late R. T. Piner, president. Over the years she has been secretary for most of the bank's operating officers at one time or another.

A native of Durant, Okla., she came to Big Spring as a young girl and resided in Sterling City before moving here in 1932. She had been back to Durant to complete her training at Southeastern for teaching, but she took a secretarial job until a school contract began. The secretarial post paid more than teaching, and since she had two boys to support, she stayed with it. For a time she was with the Chamber of Commerce, then for five years in the tax assessor-collector's office before joining the bank.

Despite the tribulations of raising a family, she managed to buy a home here and eventually payed it out. In recent years she bought a 320 acre farm south of Lomax. Later she acquired a pair of 80-acre tracts and more recently 240 more. Her grandparents are just itching to visit here so they can be on the farm. They were to have come last summer but plans didn't pan out, so Violet Lindley is going to get to do the next best thing . . . go see them.

Soldiers Make Decision, Senegal Revolt Collapses

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Black soldiers decided that African blood should not be shed, and Premier Mamadou Dia's coup collapsed like a punctured balloon.

At daybreak on Tuesday, mutinous troops who had rallied to Dia in his effort to overthrow Senegal's National Assembly refused to fire on paratroopers loyal to President Leopold Senghor.

"No shooting," they shouted at the paratroopers from their positions in the government building where Dia sought refuge.

"No shooting between Africans," replied Senghor's paratroopers.

Soon the troops mixed together, slapping one another on the back, snapping fingers and dancing in the streets of Dakar.

Dia fled to the Moslem quarter where he was arrested the same day.

The diminutive Senghor, who wears gold-rimmed glasses and has written some of the most touching French verses about Africa, was master of the situation.

"Before, we were sad, now we are gay," said a gray-haired deputy outside the National Assembly building.

To Western diplomats, Senghor's victory meant that another African nation had a strong leader leaning toward the West.

The story of Dia's abortive coup still is shrouded in mystery.

It means a heartbreaking end to the long friendship of two men, Dia and Senghor, who had worked together for their country.

It was Senghor who awakened Dia politically, helping the taciturn Moslem economist and school teacher become one of Senegal's most prominent politicians.

He made Dia the nation's first premier and asked him to prepare a four-year plan as the guide to Senegal's economic future.

It was also Senghor who named Dia to the post of secretary general of the ruling Senegalese Progress Union.

But, according to sketchy indications, Dia was unhappy with the way Senghor envisaged Senegal's future.

Apparently, Dia wanted to impose on the nation a strong socialist-type regime and launch a series of reforms, and disapproved of Senghor's tendency to lean heavily toward France.

Dia miscalculated his forces. Senghor still is the hero of most of the three million Senegalese. A trial of the mutinous premier may shed some light on his motives.

Mail Still Posts Records

Volume of Christmas mail handled by the Big Spring post office dwindled only slightly as Dec. 19 passed into history.

The total mail, outgoing and incoming, hit 172,570 pieces yesterday which is about 5,000 under the volume for the day before but still nearly 14,000 pieces ahead of the total for the same date in 1961.

Total mail for December through Wednesday this year is at an all time high of 2,002,019 pieces compared with 1,903,937 for the same period in 1961.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said an official from the Dallas regional office was in Big Spring Wednesday and expressed astonishment at the big increase of the office here is showing over last year's record volume.

He told Boatler most of the post offices in the West Texas area are lagging behind their 1961 records. About the only office besides Big Spring with an increase is Lubbock, he said.

Community Leaders A Potential
Weapon Against Mental Illness

EDITOR'S NOTE — Doctors, clergymen, teachers and community workers are combining forces today to help those who suffer mental affliction and emotional distress. It's a far cry from former days when the mental patient was shunned as a social outcast. Here, in the fourth of five special articles, is the story of this joint attempt to prevent emotional trouble before it starts.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Along the highways to the Menninger Foundation are coming clergymen, businessmen, doctors, lawyers, teachers, community leaders.

They share a common goal — the prevention of mental illness with its incalculable human suffering.

"The exciting thing is to help people before they become ill," says Dr. William Menninger, a big, relaxed man who with his brother, Karl, is among the pioneers in psychiatric care who have helped change state mental hospitals from keepers of the ill to effective treatment centers.

Mental illness begins or is aggravated in the home, the school, on the job, in many situations. Life can begin going sour in hundreds of ways—for the woman feeling useless after her children leave home, the man falling of his dreams, the child feeling inadequate to parental expectations and demands.

NOT ENOUGH

There are not enough psychiatrists and psychologists for troubled persons to turn to. Many physicians give such aid, and half the people going to family doctors do so because of symptoms arising from psychological causes. Psychiatric education of the general physician is a major program of the American Psychiatric Association.

Community leaders could become a small army of men and women giving counsel to help solve emotional problems.

Some already know intuitively how to advise the emotionally troubled, says Dr. Joseph Satten, director of the Menninger Foundation's social psychiatry department, stressing research on prevention.

"Others can be given an understanding of some scientific principles, the ABC with which to recognize problems, to counsel people, to prevent situations from becoming worse, to suggest helpful courses of action in a useful way.

WORK PROBLEM

What happens to people at work can powerfully influence mental health, explains Dr. Harry Levinson. So, since 1956, top business executives have been coming to the foundation for special week-long seminars to "learn what makes people tick."

Why does a top salesman fail as a desk-bound executive? Why do seemingly successful men turn to alcoholism, or threaten suicide? What makes employees angry or frustrated?

By one estimate, 80 to 90 per cent of emotional problems seen on the job among employees arise in their home life.

The objective is to teach business leaders how to listen, to know how humans feel. Dr. Levinson adds. And, since top men have emotions also, how to maintain their own balance.

One survey finds that 42 per cent of people turn first to their ministers or pastors when emotional troubles begin to take a toll. Appropriate training for future clergymen is sponsored by the National Institute of Mental Health at Loyola University in Chicago, Yeshiva University in New York, and at Harvard Divinity School.

TROUBLED CHILDREN

Thousands of school children run into serious emotional problems. The nervous, tyrannical, and lackadaisical child can be reflecting emotional and family problems.

Dr. Edward Greenwood heads a program in which Topeka schools, teachers, psychiatrists and psychologists join hands in counseling to detect troubles, find causes and remedies. Invariably this involves voluntary consultations with parents, who may unwittingly be triggering the child's reactions.

"Being a good parent is one of the most difficult tasks of all," Dr. Greenwood remarks sympathetically. This teamwork approach for children reaches into elementary and junior high schools.

Growing old brings on other stresses, and a new retirement—and-geriatrics clinic under Dr. Prescott Thompson now is treating a small number of men and women in a study of their special problems.

DEPRESSION

Depression is very common among men unwilling or unprepared to retire, among women after menopause years, in the grandmother who feels useless, who tries to relieve her loneliness by telling her friends her troubles, only to find increasing loneliness as her friends shun her.

"Old age is often accompanied by feelings of anxiety and helplessness," Dr. Thompson says. "It is possible to relieve anxiety and regain a feeling of mastery through activities which may be different from what they have been doing all their lives."

Since lawyers often see people in trouble, lawyers have a chance to step in before attitudes become too rigid, and more difficult to change, Dr. Satten points out. Thus lawyers come here for knowledge of the psychological engines of human beings.

PREVENTION

In other steps, suicide prevention centers (where the distraught can call for help), improved training of more marriage counselors, and mental health courses in high schools and colleges, are being sponsored by the NIMH and National Association for Mental Health.

Preventive and social work gives the psychiatrist extra influence, Dr. Satten remarks.

In clinical practice, one psychiatrist treats only one patient at a time. By working in the courts, in schools, and other institutions, he spreads his influence to assist dozens to hundreds of people in emotional trouble.

Next: The emotional checkup.

Light Rain Dots West Texas, Other Areas Get Heavy Fog

By The Associated Press
Transport-crippling fog engulfed broad stretches of East, Central and South Texas again Thursday while light rain dotted North and West Texas.

A southbound cool front set off the showers and brought a promise of considerably lower temperatures by Friday. Except for overnight lows down to 25 degrees in the Panhandle, however, the Weather Bureau expected readings to stay well above freezing in most areas.

with fog at Dallas and Fort Worth in early morning, and conditions were similar at College Station.

Showers or rain fell at Marfa, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Texarkana and San Antonio.

During the night a series of showers moved northward through East, Central and North Texas into Oklahoma. There was moisture in or near Sulphur Springs, Tyler, Palestine, Hillsboro, Mount Pleasant, Austin, Waco, Dallas, Fort Worth, Denison, Paris, Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Breckenridge.

Forecasts called for rain or thundershowers through the day in all sections of the state except far West Texas, continuing Thursday in the central and east parts of the state and in the south and east Friday. Skies were expected to start clearing Friday in West Texas.

Temperatures were dropping in Northwest Texas. The Weather Bureau said it would get colder Thursday night in North Texas and Friday throughout the state.

Temperatures early Thursday ranged from 37 degrees at Daltart up to 71 at Laredo.

Last ICBM Unit Is Combat-Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has declared combat-ready its last planned squadron of Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles, bringing to 200 the number of U.S. ICBMs on the firing line.

The first phase of the U.S. missile build-up ended ahead of schedule with the activation of a 12-missile Atlas squadron at Plattsburg Air Force Base in northern New York state.

Qualified authorities estimate the Russians have perhaps 75 to 100 ICBMs.

The 556th Strategic Missile Squadron became combat-ready in a ceremony attended by high government and industry officials.

Air traffic was detoured, Christmas mail shipments piled up and seagoing vessels were unable to move because of blinding fog. The moist veil enveloped Houston for hours, lifted briefly and then descended once more Thursday night. A number of ships were tied up at Houston because of the fog blanketing its 50-mile channel to the Gulf of Mexico.

Eastern Airlines diverted flights from both Houston and San Antonio, where more than a ton of mail accumulated at the airport.

Flying conditions caused the Missouri football team to stay in Kansas City overnight, delaying a charter plane trip to Houston. Both the Missouri and Georgia Tech teams hoped the fog would lift so they could land in Houston and hold final workouts before Saturday's game in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Occasional light rain was mixed

Polio Vaccine Has Small Risk For Adults

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans are urged to use the Sabin oral vaccine against polio—but with a warning of a "very small risk" for adults.

The report came Wednesday from U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry and his special advisory committee on the vaccine which for months has been pondering the question of hazard.

Committee experts estimated the chances at a million to one that the vaccine's live viruses might cause paralytic polio in persons of all ages. The odds, they said, were only slightly higher for adults, especially for those over 30.

Terry and the committee urged communities to go on with planned vaccination programs with the three types of Sabin living viruses, with special emphasis on vaccination of children and young adults.

"In the oral (Sabin) and Salk (injected) vaccines we have two established weapons against polio, and we can, I believe, look forward to the day when polio is finally eliminated in this country," Terry said in a statement.

"With a total of around 650 cases reported this year, compared to almost 58,000 a decade ago (when vaccines were not available), it is clear we are well on our way," he said.

On Sept. 15 and again on Oct. 2, the special panel on the Sabin vaccine reported the problem that some cases of polio appeared to stem from use of the vaccine, specifically from Type III viruses, one of the triumvirate of polio virus types.

There were, they said, 11 cases of polio in question and there was sufficient evidence to indicate "that at least some of these cases have been caused by Type III vaccines."

In Wednesday's report, the panel said there were now 11 cases considered compatible—that is, 11 cases where the circumstantial evidence indicated the vaccine had caused some paralytic polio.

Dr. Joseph E. Smadel, a panel member associated with the U.S. Public Health Service, said paralytic polio was defined as cases where there was some muscular disorder after 60 days.

Of the 11 cases, eight were adults over 30 years old. There was no figure immediately available on the number of adults over 30 who received the vaccine. The report did say that 15 million persons of all ages had received the questionable Type III vaccine in non-epidemic areas in 1962. Most were children.

The committee released the data on the extremely slight risk, Dr. Smadel said, because persons volunteering to take the vaccine have a right to know of it and perhaps compare it with the risk of crossing a busy street.

In Cincinnati, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, the vaccine's developer, said he hoped that any community vaccination programs held up by the controversy "will start as soon as possible and in as many places as possible, before the next polio season begins."

"In these programs is our only hope for complete elimination of poliomyelitis."

Some communities had gone ahead with plans without waiting for the official report.

A Devotional For The Day

Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. (John 8:12.)
PRAYER: O Lord, our God, we pray for open minds and hearts. Into them let the light of the Holy Spirit shine, that our lives may be filled with the light of Christ. In our Redeemer's name we pray. Amen.

Filling A Great Community Need

The community is grateful to the directors of the Dora Roberts Foundation for the gift of $165,000 which will open the way to the establishment of a health and rehabilitation facility. Fittingly this is due to be known as the Dora Roberts Health and Rehabilitation Center.

There are few things more urgently needed than such an institution to round out the services of this area. Unfortunately, the Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children's) Center had to vacate its quarters due to structural failure of the building and is making out in temporary quarters. For several years it has been apparent that the health unit facilities were woefully inadequate.

Since they have an allied ministry, the two agencies can be ideally housed in the same center for a maximum efficiency and economy of operation. Relieved of the major burden of capital expenditures, perhaps the public will be able to more adequately provide for operational funds.

From the foundation established by the late Mrs. Dora Roberts, a pioneer ranch woman, whose property subsequently developed vast oil riches, have come gifts of nearly $1.9 millions. Outside of the first gifts totaling a million dollars to two denominational colleges, the big end of the gifts have been appropriately applied to half a dozen institutions in the town that was Mrs. Roberts' home.

By creating the foundation, Mrs. Roberts was able to shape the future of a portion of her wealth through institutions that contribute to the spiritual, educational, moral and physical well being of this community. We know that we speak for every individual in this city and county in expressing deep gratitude to each member of the board of directors of the foundation.

Diligent Work By Officials

There is a saying that murder will out, but unfortunately this is not always true. Sometimes it is possible for murder to go undetected, and when detected it is not always solved.

In recent months, however, at least two perplexing cases have been pursued until statements have been given to officials, indicating a solution to the mysteries.

This was the instance when Stanley Williams was fatally beaten. Ultimately a youth signed a confession in the case, although there were few slim leads to go on. The latest example was the statement of a man held in the Howard County Jail here concerning the fatal shooting of Travis R. Hicks, an intendant electrician whose decomposed body was found in a field just over in Martin County on Sept. 1, 1962. Sheriff Dan Saunders of Martin County has worked closely since then with local officers and the district attorney's department in checking every lead, however slim. Diligence has paid off in the obtaining of the statement and filing of charges. These are examples of good work by those entrusted with law enforcement.

Holmes Alexander Beginning At The Top

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia — Enthroned above this capital city on the highest ground—and this explains a lot—rests the University College of Rhodesia and Nyasaland (UCRN). The Queen Mother of England laid the foundation stone in 1953, and a graceful, harmonious, flower-brightened academic township of seemingly weightless stone and wood came to dominate the heights above the broad-streets of frontier town that is now a modest metropolis.

THESE WAS, happily, no attempt made to simulate the courts and cloisters of Oxford and Cambridge. As Tarkington wrote of a similar American midland scene: "That which does not pretend at all, has style enough." The striking feature of this University—and the up-from-colonialism intention of the struggling Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland—is aspiration.

The Rhodesian ideal differs from much else in Africa in that it essays to begin at the top. UCRN starts with the highest standards and intends to pull the population up to high educational levels. It is academically modeled on the University of London, so that its diplomas and degrees have world-wide acceptance. Its principal (president) is a tall, shock-haired, chuckling scholar, Dr. Walter Adams, whose field is 17th Century History and whose experience is in college administration.

WITH THESE credentials, the University began teaching full-time students in 1957, choosing to accept only the few who were genuinely qualified—about 70 of them—and putting it up to the Federation's school system to provide suitable student material, refusing to lower its standards as a means of achieving numbers.

But the college year just ended saw 330 students at the University; next year will see about 100 more. Starting with basic Arts and Science courses, the University's teaching range is also growing in quality. Next year the Medical School will open. In the mid-60's there will be schools of Law and Theology. The educational student body is now about two-thirds European and one-third non-European. Since the Federation population is heavily African, and over 80 per cent of African children here go to school, the University will gradually shade from white to black.

THIS PLAN of advancement by merit, by equality of opportunity for all races, is the Rhodesian ideal in politics, economics, as well as education. But the capstone of the ideal is the theory that a 20th Century society must be built from the top down. Southern Rhodesia, much "whiter" and wealthier than the other two Federation members, Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, has about a quarter of a million British-descended people amid about three million Africans and Asians. If the Federation is to succeed (Nyasaland is already on the way out), the Europeans will have to govern and dominate for another generation. By that time an English-speaking, democratic, multi-racial state will stand in Central Africa—a citadel, like the University, of enlightenment and progress.

BUT THE AFRICAN environment and world conditions are such that the Rhodesian ideal has to run a savage gauntlet, with enemies cutting and slashing from both sides. On Rhodesia's southern border, the Republic of South Africa is trying, with equal conviction and determination, to rule by a planned separation, instead of a planned sharing, of the races. If South Africa has a no-nonsense attitude toward race, Rhodesia has a no-fooling one. The Portuguese provinces, Angola and Mozambique, are trying to obliterate race by planned inter-breeding, which does not suit either South Africa or Southern Rhodesia.

THE REST OF Africa is almost uncompromisingly anti-white. It is dedicated to building, from the bottom upward, a pyramid of unlettered, unpropertied natives, topped in virtually every instance by a vengeful, racist dictator.

THE RHODESIAN ideal, aspiring to complete fairness and non-racism, does not delude itself with the illusion of immediate democracy. One-man, one-vote, is a long way off. Today, the voter in the Federation must be literate in English and must be a modest wage-earner or property owner. Political trouble-makers and non-conformists (two professors and one student among them) are "restricted" within three-mile limits, although this is a flexible arrangement. Political parties with a record of violence are banned. The policy of building from the top clearly favors the educated and propertied classes, just as the high standards of the University clearly favor the qualified students, but there is no humbering about this system. It honestly seeks to build a firm and eventually unprivileged society.

IT IS EASY to see why hot-eyed liberals and conniving demagogues, to say nothing of Communists, are doing all they can to discredit the Rhodesian ideal. It is harder for the Rhodesians themselves to see why the two mature democracies, the U.S. and the United Kingdom, both of which had to reach their present status by slow and painful building, cannot be more sympathetic. The century of "emergence" is also one of impatience.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Maybe it took place before, but ever since a cave-woman discovered she could avoid being pulled around by the hair by taking a club to her caveman's head, women have been seeking equal rights. Through the years they have become more and more equal until there virtually is nothing reserved solely for men. The latest feminine victory came when President Kennedy ordered that women be given equal opportunity in all federal jobs. Following that, the Post Office Department opened carrier jobs to women who can pass the civil service examinations.

Across the country 125 women are carrying 35-pound sacks on their backs delivering the daily mail. And though "neither rain, nor snow, nor heat nor gloom of night" stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds" there have been problems.

In Portland, Ore., a woman quit after six successful weeks because walking 13 miles a day on her route left her too tired to pitch for her championship softball team at night. And in New Jersey, a woman was fired after five months because she was unable to complete her route. Her complaint: "You can't expect a woman to do the same work as a man." In the battle of mail versus female, there is reason to take heart, men.

'WE HAVE TO GET THINGS MOVING AGAIN'

James Marlow Not One Of The Splendid Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—This was not one of the splendid years. Neither optimists nor pessimists had much to crow about. It had some horrible moments, some flashing ones.

It was a year of incredible stupidity — when the Russians thought they could get away with putting missiles in Cuba.

It was a year of at least one fierce and sturdy decision—when President Kennedy forced the Russians to remove the missiles.

IT WAS A savage and bloody year — after the November elections the number of Democrats and Republicans in office re-

It was a year racism wore one of its ugliest faces—when James H. Meredith, a Negro, got into political disaster—defeated Richard M. Nixon apparently passed into political oblivion.

It was a year of few brilliant moments—when astronauts, American and Russian, sailed the sky but Russia, with its space twins, stayed ahead.

But it was also a year of unforgettable clash—when Kennedy defied the steel industry to drop its price increase.

It was a year the stock market frightened the nation again — in May a one-day drop was the worst since 1929. Later the market straightened out.

It was the year when the summit slid into the valley—Premier Khrushchev talked it up, but this week Kennedy saw no use in a summit meeting soon.

IT WAS ALSO a year of one great possibility — that Russia, after its horrifying Cuban experience, may be easier to live with, Kennedy doesn't predict it.

Out of Cuba the Russians learned, at least, the United States can be tough to the point of war. This may make them more careful. It doesn't mean it changed them. They may be far tougher in a new crisis closer to home.

The United States couldn't claim much progress in saving, with men and supplies, Viet Nam from the Communists. But the Communists couldn't claim they had made much progress trying to gobble it up.

The Red Chinese invasion of India is still a mystery since they pulled back. It may have been a costly blunder. It would be if it drove India into the Western camp. That hasn't happened yet.

AS FOR THE Congo — the trouble that seemed to have quieted down by last year's end is bubbling up at this year's end. This can be real nasty. Russia let the heat on Berlin cool down in 1962. It's still fairly cool.

It's now 17 years since World War II. Russia and the West seem no nearer agreement on disarmament than they did then. As for a ban on nuclear testing — the two sides are still waltzing like a couple of flatfoots.

Hal Boyle Secret Of Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Some 12,000 to 14,000 new long-playing phonograph recordings are turned out each year in America.

"But only about 500 make any real money," said Enoch Light, the musical millionaire.

Light is managing director of one of 4,000 firms fighting in an overcrowded field for the privilege of reaching the American ear—and the American pocket-book.

A placid-looking, pipe-smoking man of middle age, Light has led a spectacular roller-coaster career in a business in which the unofficial slogan is: "Hold on to your hat at all times."

At 19 he left college to become the pit conductor for a Broadway show in 1926.

By 1940 he had become known as the "Ambassador of Jazz" in Europe, and he was leader of one of the big bands.

Then he was involved in an automobile accident that laid him up for a year and a half.

"When I finally recovered I found that the parade had passed me by. The heyday of the big bands was drawing to a close, and I realized I had to try something new."

Each entered the recording field and learned the business from the ground up.

There followed 10 lean, arduous years, then in 1954 Light founded his own firm, and in 1959 sold it for more than $2 million to ABC-Paramount, which retained him as directing head.

"It's all pretty crazy, isn't it?" he asked quietly, puffing on his pipe.

"After my accident came the desperate days—week after week when I earned nothing. From the time I was 35 until I was 44 I was in danger of starving."

"Then, in another five years or so, I was a millionaire. It is crazy!"

"But once you go through a bad period in life you never get over the fear. Today I still can't bear to waste money or food."

Light now feels his years of ordeal were well worth all the personal hardship he endured.

"They taught me to work hard and to respect work," he said.

"Success isn't a matter of being cute or clever. It's a matter of worry, integrity, responsibility and doing your very best. It sounds corny, but it's true."

"The only secret lies in believing in what you are trying to do, and then putting more time and effort into doing it than the other fellow does."

To Your Good Health Don't Be Guilty Of Guesswork Diagnosis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I think I have thyroid trouble. I have been reading a medical book on the subject.

There is a powder or tablet called "thyroid extract" and I wonder if I need a prescription or if I could buy it without one. I don't want to pay a doctor 10 or 15 dollars to tell me I am in good physical condition. —J. M.

Yes, a prescription is required for thyroid extract. There are several strengths involved, and fooling around with a medicine you don't understand could—and doubtless would—result in getting yourself fouled up in great shape.

Maybe you don't want to pay a doctor to tell you that you are in good physical condition, but if your guesswork self-diagnosis is correct and something is wrong with your thyroid, I'd highly recommend that you pay one to tell you that you AREN'T in good physical condition.

There's an old rule of medicine: "He who treats himself has a fool for a physician." This applies to doctors, too. But it applies doubly to people who try to diagnose themselves on the basis of whatever medical book they happen to lay hands on.

Even doctors are poor judges of their own condition. I'm a human nature! A smart doctor goes to a fellow physician when he needs diagnosis or treatment.

Dear Dr. Molner: We are having a dispute. What is the difference between dying from a heart attack and from suffocation? I say the cause of death can be determined. Others say both act as a heart attack. —Mrs. T. J. W.

Of course the heart stops in death, regardless of cause, but there is a distinct difference between suffocation and a heart attack. With suffocation, the victim dies because air cannot reach the lungs, and the blood, in turn, cannot rid itself of carbon dioxide and pick up fresh oxygen. The heart keeps on pumping as long as it can, but the victim turns blue because the blood is unable to clear away its waste products.

In a heart attack, there is plenty of air in the lungs but the heart is unable to pump the blood rapidly enough, or in some instances cannot operate at all. In this case, too, there will be some blueness, but it is because the blood does not move through the lungs rapidly enough.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a sensitive spot in the area of the breastbone. Six months ago the doctor told me it is a cyst. I am worried about cancer. Do cysts become cancerous? Is there any way other than surgery to find out what is making the bone so sensitive? —Mrs. H. I.

The doctor told you what it is: A cyst. Cysts rarely become malignant, but they keep on hurting and don't get better by themselves. Surgery is the only solution, and the sooner it's done, the sooner your discomfort ceases.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Times Have Changed—Or Have They?

Times haven't changed much since that first Christmas.

For instance, in a few days our highways will be jammed with automobiles as many folks make the annual pilgrimage to visit relatives. And as the roads fill up, numerous accidents will result and many people killed.

IT WAS PROBABLY much the same on the road to Bethlehem, almost 2,000 years ago. Joseph leading his donkey carrying Mary to Bethlehem was probably amidst what could be considered a traffic jam in those times, as everyone went to be taxed by imperial decree. And although not so dangerous, Josephus, the historian, noted that pack animals often went astray causing accidents along the roads of that time.

Our fire marshal has warned of the fire danger during the holidays, pointing out the danger of the tree catching blaze and the electrical hazards this time of year.

RECALL THAT Joseph and Mary bedded down in a stable, amidst straw. Nearby was an inn, with probably lantern and candle light, both fire dangers. From a fire standpoint, one can hardly imagine a more dangerous place.

Just as Joseph had a difficult time finding lodgings, many travelers this time of year will find it tough to find a place to stay. Late at night most motels and hotels will be filled, and some will be closed.

Also, restaurants remaining open will be few and far between, as they give their employees a holiday vacation.

OF COURSE, Joseph had gone to the City to David to be counted and taxed. Although we have a few months respite, tax-time is just around the corner and many will begin fussing with tax figures almost before the Christmas tree is taken down.

As the Magi followed a moving star in the sky, our scientists are keeping track of numerous heavenly bodies today, many of them man-made. Those with special radio equipment or extra strong telescopes can indulge in this pastime as well. And many do.

AND THE WISE MEN brought gifts to the infant, a tradition that we have amplified many times over. The economy of many businesses is today dependent on the practice of giving during this time of year.

A brighter side of this tradition are the many ways our society has found to help the unfortunate. This is illustrated locally by the Christmas Cheer Fund, the Salvation Army's kettles, the food baskets that are distributed, and the firemen's toy repair program.

On the surface, of course, times are different; but basically, things are about the same.

Let Women Musicians Doll Up!

Men and women are making beautiful music together in an increasing number of symphony orchestras across the land. (In brass bands, too. The next time you see a high-school or college band fast-stepping across your teevee screen, note the number of girls tooting among the 76 trombones and allied sections.)

THE MALE MONOPOLY on symphonic music has been broken in this generation. This is particularly true with regard to symphony orchestras where a lady harpist was once a daring innovation and the only member of her sex to be seen in the pit or on the stage.

Women have long been allowed full expression on the opera and concert stage. As long as they had the training, competence and talent, they could sing along with all the male Mitches or play any solo instrument in the concert halls.

BUT THEY HAVE had a tough time, no matter how skilled, in breaking the all-male tradition of the symphonic world. However, now that the ladies, through sheer competence, are increasingly recruited for orchestral positions, even into the timpani, they are sadly neglecting a prime obligation both as women and musicians.

The ladies, of all things! are neglecting their appearance. Here they are, at long last, cutting the mustard in the big league on the violin, cello, wood winds, drums and French horn. Most of them are young and pretty. But, sartorially, they can't hold a candle to the men, resplendent in white tie and tails.

THEY—THE WOMEN—come off a poor third in the fashion fugue. Not even second, third! The other evening when I went to Carnegie Hall to hear one of the nation's foremost symphonies, I rejoiced that there were 25 women in the ranks, or slightly more than one-quarter of the orchestra.

I rejoiced, that is, as long as I could

David Lawrence How Not To Act In A Crisis

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has unwittingly just given the American people an explanation of how an administration should not function in a crisis. He told of his experience with numerous advisers and conflicting opinions in connection with the Cuban crisis. But what he did not explain is why the government of the United States did not take action in Cuba when first reports came concerning the intervention of the Communist government in the island country.

MR. KENNEDY tells of how critical those "six days" in October were when his advisers gathered around him and there was fear that a mis-step might be made. But he doesn't give any satisfactory answer to the question of why the Cuban situation was allowed to drift as far as it did before those same six days of decision-making started.

The Cuban problem has not yet been solved, and it will take intensive investigation by congressional committees to find out why the American people were left unprotected from the time last August when first reports came in concerning the emplacement of Soviet missiles to the taking of action late in October.

THE PRESIDENT'S analysis of the way his administration reacted to the Cuban crisis indicates that he did not actually decide to take action against the Soviet government until he had some photographs showing the missiles were already in place. But many Americans had believed, from a reading of history, that the Monroe Doctrine was still a part of the foreign policy of the United States. They had assumed that the United States would act promptly to prevent the establishment of any European system in this hemisphere.

THE KENNEDY administration, however, allowed the Soviet government to get a stronger and stronger hold in Cuba. Indeed, when the so-called "invasion" was undertaken in the spring of 1961, the Kennedy administration at first agreed to help the Cuban exiles and then withdrew air cover. It was this blunder which led the Soviets to believe that they could take a chance and send missiles to Cuba and that nothing would be done until the missiles actually were in place. Then the missiles could be withdrawn as a part of a trading process, with Premier Khrushchev hoping perhaps he could get concessions from the United States in connection with the Berlin or other controversies.

THE DANGERS and risks in making foreign policy decisions by the method keep my eyes closed and enjoy the beautiful music these talented women were helping to produce. But every time I opened my eyes and got another good look at the women, I groaned mentally.

OBVIOUSLY, the women had been asked to wear a long black dress. Almost without exception, the ladies had interpreted this as a drab black skirt. With these skirts, the girls had—almost without exception—elected to wear what appeared to be a long-sleeved black pull-over, half-sweat shirt, half-jumper.

It was a combination that not even Greta Garbo could have overcome in her palmist days. They looked like sad-sack ravens amid the dazzling penguin appearance of the men in their snowy linen and tail coats. (Pants, too.)

THE LADIES weren't doing themselves, their sex or music justice in such improvised rigs. Goodness knows, a symphony orchestra shouldn't be the background for a fashion show. But neither should it be a refuge for poor, pitiful Pearl or Orphan Annie. And while I am about it, these women could, with benefit to all, pay a little more attention to their coiffures and a lot more to make-up under stage lighting.

THE FASHION industry ought to get with this problem. Indeed, designer Vera Maxwell made and gave costumes to the young women in the orchestra of the Juilliard School of Music when the orchestra went abroad for a series of engagements a few years ago. Her solution was a long, black, pleated skirt, to be worn by day with a black, wrap-around blouse, and by night with a white cap-sleeved wrap-around blouse. And pearl necklaces.

The Juilliard girls looked dandy. Now something must be done so that the women pioneering in the major symphonies look as good as they sound.

(Copyright, 1962, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

outlined by the President in his interview on television will give pause to those who have hitherto believed that the government of the United States would never allow any potential enemy to get as close as the Soviets did in Cuba. The fact that missiles were being shipped to Cuba was well known, and speeches were made, calling attention to this, on the floor of the Senate by Republican leaders as well as by some Democrats.

Mr. Kennedy in his interview tells of the fears of his advisers that the situation might be "escalated." The difficulty is that the situation was allowed to reach the brink of danger, anyway.

HITHERTO, American policy has been based upon established principles. There is no need for conferences among advisers, official or unofficial, to determine what the duty of the United States happens to be when a basic principle of national safety has been violated. It is as if the United States would argue whether or not it should retaliate when a blow is struck against its security. The fact that, when such a blow was struck in Cuba, it was the subject of six days of discussion before a determination was made to take forceful action, is an indication of how slow the process of decision-making has become.

Mr. Kennedy's explanation of the Russian attitude in connection with the missiles in Cuba is an interesting illustration of how little the United States was prepared to meet the different contingencies which arose. Instead of forestalling action, the problem was allowed to develop to a point where a real crisis emerged. Mr. Kennedy gives an interesting narrative of what happened. He says:

"I THINK, looking back on Cuba, what is of concern is the fact that both governments were so far out of contact, really. I don't think that we expected that he would put the missiles in Cuba, because it would have seemed such an imprudent action for him to take, as it was later proved. Now, he obviously must have thought that he could do it in secret and that the United States would accept it. So that he did not judge our intentions accurately."

The American people will still want to know why the United States did not do more about Soviet activities in Cuba during the years 1961 and 1962, especially when there was widespread knowledge that the Communists were militarily active in that country.

AFI Future Brighter, Says Foss

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—American Football League Commissioner Joe Foss, in league's first news conference since the New York franchise, said Wednesday the AFL "turned the corner this year."

"Everything will get better from here on," Foss predicted. "You can tell that from the rookies we are signing."

"We're not only getting some of the name players, but solid boys right down the list."

Foss admitted that he would like to settle quickly the ownership of the New York Titans, who became a league charge the last half of the season and currently are wallowing in debt and disinterest.

"There are several hot prospects," he said, "but if I were to tell you when the deal will be completed I would be only guessing."

Foss said he planned to leave New York on Friday for Houston to be on hand for the AFL's third championship game between the Dallas Texans and the Houston Oilers next Sunday.

"I'd like to settle the Titans situation before I leave," he said, "but I don't feel that I have to. There is no absolute deadline."

Foss said the problem of signing the New York draft choices, which include LSU's All-America half-back Jerry Stovall, has been taken care of. "We're covered," he said. "We're in good shape on that."

The AFL commissioner said that Titan owner Harry Wismer would be completely out of any new Titan ownership picture.

"The new people would own the club 100 per cent," Foss said. "They would keep it in New York, they are all New York people. The franchise has great potential."

The AFL commissioner said he did not think the league—which has been paying player salaries and travel expenses for weeks—would be forced to take over the club officially.

Foss said the AFL television ratings are climbing, and "our coverage in other media across the country is growing."

Haynes Can Hurt Us: Coach Ivy

HOUSTON (AP)—Pop Ivy, coach of the Houston Oilers, respects the talents of Len Dawson and Curtis McClellin of the Dallas Texans but says Abner Haynes is the man who can kill the Oilers' hopes for a third straight American Football League championship.

The Oilers and Texans place their identical 11-3 season records against each other Sunday in the AFL's showdown battle.

"Haynes is dangerous anytime he gets his hands on the ball," Ivy said today. "You have to do more than get a hand on him to get him down. You rarely see anyone get a good solid lick at him. He's always twisting and squirming."

Haynes was runnerup to Buffalo's Cookie Gilchrist as the AFL's leading ground gainer this season with 1,049 yards in 221 carries.

This gave him a three-year total of 2,765 yards. He won the rushing title as a rookie in 1960 with 875 yards but dropped behind third place last season behind Houston's Billy Cannon and New York's Bill Mathis with 841 yards.

"McClellin can run over you but Haynes is the most dangerous on any play," Ivy said.

Bowl Teams Fly To Game Site

HOUSTON (AP)—Missouri and Georgia Tech, weary permitting, were to fly to Houston today for Saturday's Bluebonnet bowl game.

A dense fog that has plagued Houston the past four days prevented Missouri from arriving Wednesday night. Coach Dan Devine decided not to risk the flight and held his team in Kansas City overnight.

Bluebonnet officials, brass bands, and alumni delegations were to greet the teams at the International Airport.

Devine and coach Bobby Dodd of Tech planned afternoon workouts at a practice field near the 70,000-seat Rice University Stadium.

A crowd of about 60,000 is expected for the football game that will be televised nationally except in the Houston area.

Georgia Tech received a jolt Wednesday when Jeff Davis, the No. 2 left halfback, injured a knee in a pass defense drill in the final Atlanta workout.

Dodd said Davis definitely will miss the Missouri game, Gerry Bussell moved into Davis' spot.

Dominicans Vote Today

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Dominicans voted today in their first free general elections in 38 years. Most of them hoped the result, expected to be known by Christmas Eve, would mean stable representative government after long years of dictatorship.

The closing campaign hours were marked Wednesday night by a brief outbreak of rioting in the capital. Riot police quickly restored order after three persons were injured by rocks.

Young agitators from the 14th of June Movement, a pro-Castro group, were in the middle of the rock-throwing, pistol-firing melee with followers of the conservative National Civic Union.

Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo, 67, of the Civic Union, and Juan Bosch, 53, of the left-of-center Dominican Revolutionary party, were leading candidates for president in a five-man contest.

Bosch was a narrow favorite. The chief question was whether his peasant followers had remained in his camp after a Jesuit priest made and retracted the charge that the party is Communist. Bosch dropped demands for a postponement of the election when the charge was withdrawn.

The voters also balloted for a vice president, a Congress of 74 deputies and 26 senators, and local and city officials.

The Congress will draft a new constitution.

Big Overhaul
For Ranger
Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The space agency started a major overhaul of its trouble-plagued Ranger moon rocket program today.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration acknowledged that the action might delay its vital lunar research program—preparation for manned landings on the moon—by several months.

But NASA said that the change should vastly improve the chances of success in obtaining the first close-at-hand television pictures of the moon, and of depositing on the moon instruments to measure moonquakes and to give clues of the moon's geology.

Information of this type is absolutely essential before the first man can dare venture onto the moon—hopefully by the end of the decade.

The space agency already has let contracts for construction of the three-man Apollo spacecraft that will orbit the moon, and the two-man capsules that will be detached to carry Apollo crews to the moon and back to their orbiting vehicles.

The agency has been increasingly concerned over the continued failure of the multimillion-dollar Ranger program.

Five Ranger vehicles have been launched.

The first two were engineering test vehicles that met with only limited success.

The three others were equipped to photograph the moon with television cameras and to send this data back to earth.

Only one of these hit the moon, and it failed to send back any information. Two others missed the moon and apparently went into orbit around the sun.

The failure to achieve Ranger test goals has been charged primarily to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, which has had major responsibility for this program.

Under the space agency's requirement that its key men produce or get out of positions of responsibility, the agency already has reassigned some of the jet lab scientists. Further changes of top personnel are considered in prospect.

Cafe, Hotel Men Protest Tax Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—Many restaurant and hotel operators are raising cries of anguish over the government's new expense account tax deductions rules.

Some claim they could be put out of business or badly hurt.

Others are taking a wait-and-see attitude until the Internal Revenue Service clarifies regulations under which the 1962 tax law will be enforced. A few expect to benefit. All are aware that IRS Commissioner Mortimer Caplin—the nation's income tax collector—has said: "I think expense account living is a thing of the past."

The government's intention is to stamp out what it considers illegitimate deductions for lavish expenditures.

In the face of a storm of objections, to some proposed regulations, Caplin promised at a hearing in Washington that the original stringent rules will be modified.

TO BE FAIR

He carried this theme a bit farther at a tax seminar in New York City this week, saying the final rules will be "fair and reasonable." He stressed that the government isn't telling businessmen what or how to spend but what can be deducted.

As for contentions that curtail-

HOW TO COPE WITH . . .
By Merrill Pollack. Bobbs Merrill. $2.75.

By The Associated Press

Civilization has had certain concomitants which make strong men weep and stronger men gnash their plastic teeth. Among these many irritants have been dunning letters, phoney advertisements, bait and infatigating entanglements in the paper work of larger corporations.

The author has carved out a sphere of combat between the householder and the modern boogie men of so-called civilized living. And in this sphere he has written a sometimes bitterly humorous commentary on our daily life.

Who has not fumed at waiters who disappear? Who has not erupted at the inane complexities of dealing with public utilities and other service organizations? Who has not become apoplectic at honey-voiced telephone salesmen and overbearing, supercilious employees of the department stores?

Pollack has taken the absurdities of all these eroding, nasty phenomena of civilization and has applied to them the most likely weapon possible—the brassy, counter-attacking evasion. He has prescribed the antidote which is most likely to succeed, the nifty, demanding screams of the outraged sucker.

Much of his book is concerned with the ways and means of defeating credit managers and bill collectors. In that respect, it degenerates into the devious methods of the four-flusher. But it also contains many suggestions for fighting brass with brass.

Pollack's book contains some labored humor, but it will serve as an outlet and purge for many a reader who is jolly well fed up with the nonsense we all live with.

Homemaker Has Flair With Food, Furniture

By MERRY JO BRIGHT

Mrs. Billy Carlile, 1110 Mt. Vernon, has a certain flair for a lot of things, not the least of which is food. Evidences of her home-making ability can be seen in every attractive room of the Early American style home, where she lives with her husband and two young sons.

Mrs. Carlile said, "I admit I'm a good cook—it runs in our family." She gives credit to an aunt, who is an excellent cook, for teaching her much about food preparation. She applies that knowledge, plus what she learned from home economics classes in school, in presenting her family with inviting and well-balanced meals.

by mixing meat with vegetables in the blender. Bill Carlile is employed in the billing department of Cosden Petroleum Corporation and often takes a lunch to work. To give him variety in the meals away from home, his wife sometimes makes pizza pie or tacos and wraps them in foil which can be heated over a hotplate at the plant. At home, Bill and son, Scotty, 7, do not agree on favorite foods, so she must often cook extra dishes to please them both.

The family enjoys Italian and Chinese food. When serving lasagna or the oriental dishes, Mrs. Carlile "starts from scratch," never using the canned or frozen sauces. This takes a great deal of time; but she feels it is worth the effort for improving the flavor.

The kitchen at the Carlile home is conveniently arranged around a magnificent electric stove. With burner top that can slide out of sight and two roomy ovens, the stove is set on a stained wood base which provides storage for utensils.

One of Mrs. Carlile's hobbies, which has added much to the beauty of her home, is that of refinishing furniture. Placed in the den is a game table and chairs which she turned into "distressed" pieces with the vigorous use of an instrument ordinarily used for tenderizing meat. Beautiful mahogany paneling and louvered closet doors in the master bedroom were finished and painted by Mrs. Carlile. Her creative ability has done much throughout the home to make it warm and inviting.

The Carliles are having an early Christmas dinner at home, since they will be out of town with relatives during the holiday. Here are some of the recipes she will use for the festive meal.

SPICY GOLDEN BREAD

Wonderfully Pungent Cherry Cherry Bread

At Christmas time, Grandmother's oven produced its most savory and taste-tempting creations. High on the list of Yuletide favorites were those wonderfully pungent, Holiday breads. This Cherry Cherry Christmas Bread combines white sugar icicles-glaze and red cherries into a warm golden bread—just perfect for Holiday breakfasts or coffee klatches. The filling is spicy, and brims with raisins and tart red cherries.

CHERRY CHERRY CHRISTMAS BREAD

- 1 No. 303 can tart red cherries
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 tsp. cornstarch
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- Dash salt
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1 tsp. butter
- 1-3 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 pkg. hot roll mix
- 1 egg
- 2 tsp. melted butter
- 1 tsp. sugar

Prepare cherry filling: Drain cherries thoroughly. Combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and salt; add drained cherries and raisins. Cook and stir until thick. Add butter and cool. Add chopped nuts.

Soften yeast in 1/4 cup warm water as directed on hot roll mix package. Stir in half of the roll mix. Beat in egg, butter and sugar. Stir in remaining roll mix. On lightly floured surface knead 2 to 3 minutes. Place in a lightly greased bowl; cover and let rise in a warm place until double in bulk; about 1 hour. Divide dough in half; roll each to 11x9-inch rectangle. Place on greased cookie sheets. Spread cooled cherry filling down the center, lengthwise. With scissors, cut 1" wide strips from sides toward filling. Lace strips over filling. Seal ends carefully. Cover; let rise in warm place til almost double, about 45 minutes. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 15 to 20 minutes. Cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar icing. Yield: 2 loaves.

How Much A Turkey Will Cost

How much will your Christmas turkey cost? According to reports all over the country indications are that prices will be slightly more than at the 1961 Christmas season, when farm prices dropped to the lowest since 1940.

On the local scene, grocers agree that turkey prices average about 10 cents a pound higher this year. The average market price now is 35 cents per pound for toms and 29 cents per pound for hens.

Reasons for the increase, according to food store operators, is that the bird crop is smaller and labor prices higher, thus the law of supply and demand applies.

Turkeys are available in various weights but the average size purchased by most homemakers weigh from 10 to 16 pounds. New quick freezing processes preserve texture and flavor of the birds and now make them available all year instead of just during the holiday seasons of Thanksgiving and Christmas. All birds are now government inspected to protect the customer from inferior quality.

Thrifty housewives, who do not want to eat turkey for a week after Thanksgiving, sometimes request market employees to halve the birds. In this way, one part may be kept in the freezer for use at Christmas. Liked by most adults and children alike, turkey is now the accepted meat course for festive and nourishing dinners.

Aerosol Kit Decorators On Market

Right now there's a revival of interest in Thoreau. Belts are back in the fashion picture. And wigs, last heard from in the days of George Washington, are making a strong comeback.

There's another revival just around the corner—literally, just around the corner, if that's where your grocery happens to be located. The revival? Cake decorating at home. What's spurring it? New aerosol Cake Decorators. Designed for people who are "all thumbs" with pastry tubes, cake decorators put fancy borders, flowery candleholders, written messages and such right at a novice's fingertips. In such pretty pastel shades, too-pink, green and yellow creamy icing—take your choice.

Take your choice of designs, as well—it's simple to enter change the four different decorating tips, just twist them on or off the dispenser nozzle. A touch at the nozzle dispenses a steady stream of icing, thanks to the new free piston pressure container. The icing neither foams nor sprays—it flows in the smooth stream necessary for decorating.

Where do you learn to handle the Decorators? It's so simple that the label contains all the directions necessary to start you on the road to pretty cakes. Pretty cookies, too. Or mints, petits fours, even Easter eggs!

Store the Decorators at normal room temperature—use them whenever the whim strikes. With no preparation or clean-up to think about—ever—that's likely to be often.

Sardines Are Food Insurance

Golfers, hunters, hikers, campers or outdoor sportsmen of any kind believe in food insurance. They know how hunger can stifle their day's efforts.

Even the confident fisherman, despite "digs" from friends, starts the day with a can or two of sardines and a couple slices of buttered bread, secretly stowed in the bottom of his creel. They'll come in handy whether fishing is good or poor.

But sardines are much more than insurance for an emergency. They're always handy, nutritious, tasty and economical, whether you're on an outdoor excursion, around a tea table or at a banquet.

In fact, the Maine sardine industry has more than 200 recipes—from appetizer, to snack, to main entree—that describes the many ways their product can fit into our regular eating plans.

Fishermen's "luck" has beamed on the coast of Maine, this summer and fall. They've caught silvery herring by the billions.

The 31 operating canneries have had their hands full, processing these small fish into the sardine delicacy we always can rely on. This year, they've packed about 210 million 4-ounce cans of sardines, enough to fill 2,100 freight cars. That's about three times as many as they put up last year, a poor season.

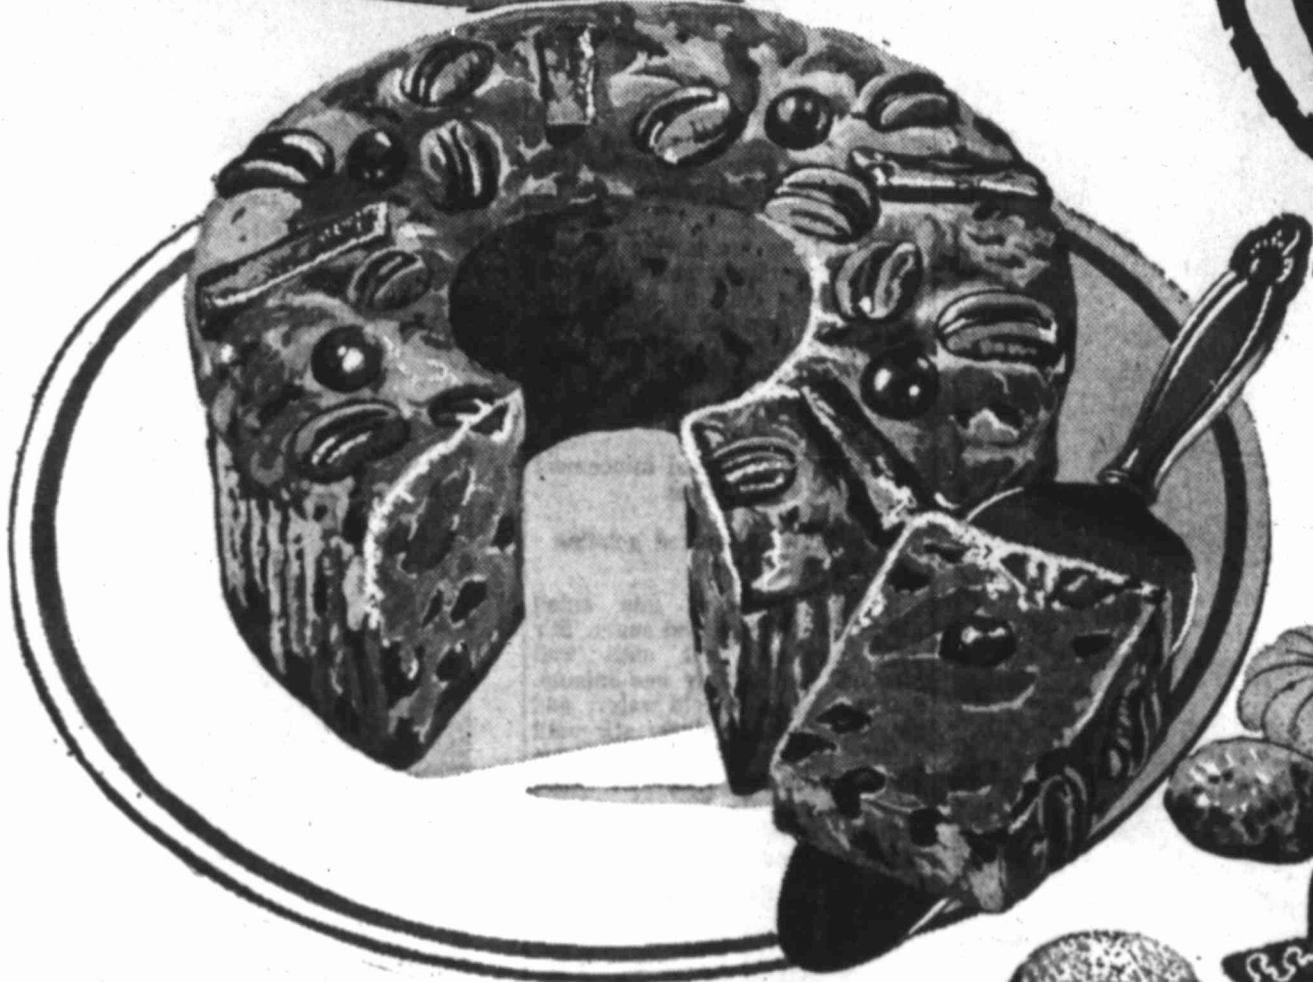

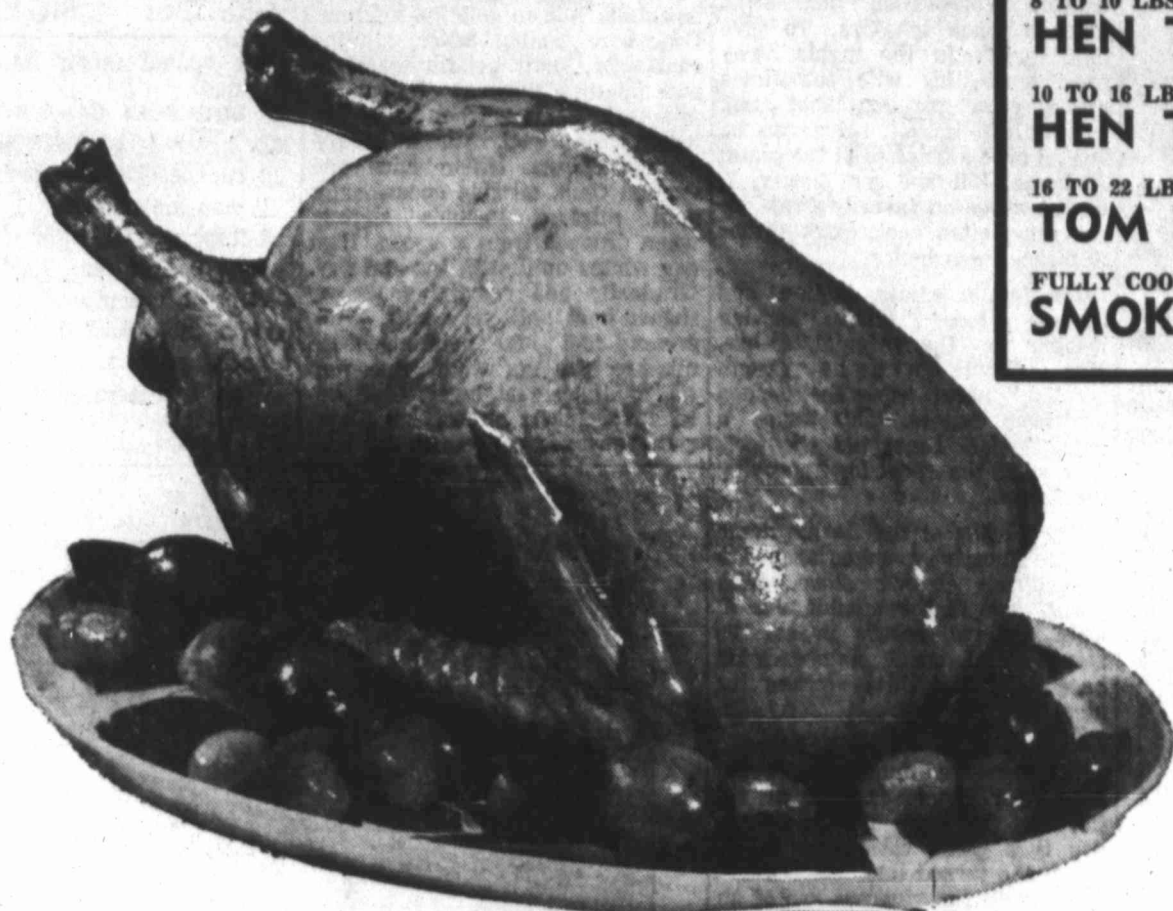

So Maine sardines, packed tightly, about 6 or 7 fish to a can, are one of the December plentiful foods, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service. Processors, distributors and retailers in every state are making it easy for consumers to enjoy the abundance at a fair price. They're out to win new friends for the Maine sardine.

Easy Way To Heat

Know how to heat a can of kippered herring the easy way? Open can and place in a skillet; add enough hot water to come about halfway up the sides of the can. Cover the skillet and allow the water to simmer for about 15 minutes; by that time the kippered should be thoroughly hot—if they aren't simmer a little longer.

Cool, Then Shape

If you've made up a batch of refrigerator cookie dough and it is too soft to shape into a roll, refrigerate the dough and then shape. Wrap the roll tightly and refrigerate until very firm before slicing and baking.

SOMETHING SPECIAL

Dips And Dunkers For Your Holiday Feasting

When the holidays roll around, the fun begins. From gay, informal get-togethers to elaborate dinner parties, the schedule is full. Everyone likes to entertain and to be entertained.

What to serve that's new and different . . . when the guests are coming to your house . . . often presents a problem. For something special . . . be it the appetizer to a dinner party or a simple late evening snack . . . a tasty dip with colorful crisp vegetable dunkers is most appropriate. Dips are so easy when you keep handy, economical, and flavorful canned onion dry soup mix on your pantry shelf. The soup mix needs only to be combined with dairy sour cream or cream cheese for a really tempting treat. Or you can be even fancier with the addition of other ingredients. Try this:

- ONION DIP DELUXE
1 pkg. (8 ozs.) cream cheese, softened
1 can (1 1/2 ozs.) onion dry soup mix
1/4 cup slivered almonds
1/4 cup chopped chutney
1/2 tsp. curry powder
1/4 tsp. prepared mustard
Blend cream cheese and milk until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Chill. Thin to desired consistency. Serve with celery, carrot, cucumber, or green pepper sticks. Makes about 1 2-3 cups dip.
- To sip along with this creamy dip . . . canned condensed beef-broth-on-the-rocks. Fill a roomy glass with ice cubes. Pour beef broth right from the can, over the cubes. A garnish of lime adds a colorful holiday touch. Include, too, a bowl of crisp crackers, chips and pretzels.
- For your New Year's Eve party serve this dip:
- CHEESE AND ONION DIP
1 can (1 1/2 ozs.) onion dry soup mix
2 cups (1 pint) dairy sour cream
1 cup shredded Edam
1/4 cup shredded carrot
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
Gently combine all ingredients. Chill. Serve with chips, crackers, pretzels or celery sticks. Makes 2 1/2 cups dip.

The Dried Foods Far From New

Many fine things are said these days about modern dehydrated foods. But Grandma had them, too. So did many generations before her.

One of the old standbys among dehydrated foods is dry beans—the ordinary, nutritious, economical kinds we have today in such abundance.

Season Is 'Nuttiest'

This is the "nuttiest" season of the year—at least, so far as tree nuts are concerned. Pecans, walnuts, almonds and filberts are in peak supply now, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service. But how short this supply is compared to recent years!

Both weather and insects have played havoc with 1962 domestic nut production. The largest of our domestic nut crops, pecans, has really been hard hit. A tropical hurricane lashed Gulf Coast orchards in late 1961, damaging trees. But this was only the beginning. Next came wet weather at blooming and pollination time followed by a heavy infestation of insects.

Then, in August, hot dry weather caused considerable shedding. As a result, pecan output dropped to slightly less than 80 million pounds. What a contrast to the 1961 record crop of nearly 247 million pounds!

With this drastic cut in production, you can see why pecans are much higher than last winter. Shellers are paying about 15 to 17 cents a pound more for native varieties than last year at this time, reports AMS.

Almonds and filberts have suffered a similar fate. Severe storms, followed by strong winds, rains and worm damage on the West Coast took their toll of California almonds and Washington and Oregon filberts. Outlook is for 28 per cent less almonds and around 33 per cent less filberts than last year.

Walnuts provide the only bright spot in the nut picture. Harvest on the West Coast was half complete when the storm hit, so output is expected to run 25 per cent above last year and 15 per cent above average.

All this adds up to fewer nuts and higher prices for the holiday season.

Florida Freeze Hurts Fresh Market Prices

By The Associated Press

Wholesale prices on a number of fresh fruits and vegetables reacted sharply to last week's severe Florida freeze, according to fruit and vegetable market news offices of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

As a result of the freeze, oranges, grapefruit and cabbage have been removed from AM's list of January plentiful foods, even though exact extent of damage has not been determined.

Prices noticeably higher at most Texas wholesale markets are beans, sweet corn, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, radishes, squash, tomatoes, grapefruit, oranges, tangelos and tangerines. Heavy shipments of these items have been coming from Florida. Also higher are cabbage and celery.

Avocados and iceberg lettuce prices took a downward turn. Fruits claiming best-bug honors this week, on the basis of supply and price, are apples, especially red Rome and Jonathans; bananas; plentiful cranberries; and grapes, especially Emperors.

Vegetables best buys include carrots, greens and green onions, lettuce, onions (especially yellow), potatoes, sweet potatoes and turnips.

Christmas supplies of peanuts and most tree nuts are ample, although pecan prices are higher. Kumquats are available in small volume, as are honeydews, cantaloupes, casabas and other fancy melons.

Demand for turkeys was heavy at Thanksgiving time, but they're plentiful and low-priced for Christmas dinner, too. Broiler-fryers continue available at extremely low prices. Maine sardines are plentiful. Supplies of most red meats are ample, with the price edge in favor of traditional economy cuts.

DEAR ABBY

Take Your Own Advice

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with Mr. D. for three years. We have both had unsuccessful marriages and agreed not to rush into anything. Until recently I thought I was the only woman in his life but was shocked to find a letter he had written and addressed, but not mailed. Naturally, I read it. (It was on his bureau.) The girl is a school teacher (probably young and innocent) and lives in a small town nearby. He wrote in his letter that he "loved" her and "missed" her and was very lonely because he was "on the road" a lot. (A lie!) Should I tell him I read the letter and ask him to explain it? Or should I wise up the girl so she won't be hurt the way he hurt me?

HURT AND CONFUSED
DEAR HURT: Don't "wise up" the girl. Your good intentions might be misunderstood. But by all means wise up Mr. D. Confess you read the letter (which you had no right to do) but don't bother to ask him to explain it. It explains itself. Then I suggest you wise up yourself and end the interlude with the devious Mr. D.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who thinks nothing of using a toothpick in public. He says that if they were not supposed to be used they would not be set out on the table in some of the finest restaurants. Please give me your opinion. EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: I don't care where toothpicks are "set out." They should not be used in public—ever.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. I have parent trouble. I am 14 and my boy friend is 19. He is wonderful in every way and I am crazy about him. He is the only person who makes me feel important and wanted and loved.

My parents say he is too old for me and I can't see him any more. I don't want to sneak out but I am so lonely without him and boys my age don't interest me. Do you think it is fair for my parents to make me stop seeing him? I feel so lost. LOST AND LONELY

DEAR LOST: I agree with your parents. You are much too young for this boy. Trust their judgment and don't sneak out. Furthermore, a 19-year-old boy who would PERMIT you to sneak out to see him is BAD NEWS.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that woman who offered a mature baby-sitter 25 cents an hour, she should hire a canary to baby-sit for her. And when she returns, the bird will say "cheap cheap." MILWAUKEE

Strike May Turn Future Of Publishing

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS

NEW YORK (AP)—The future of the newspaper industry — and other publishing ventures — could be shaped by the outcome of the strike which has shut nine New York daily newspapers since Dec. 8.

The strike is being led by Local 6 of the International Typographical Union. It has led to the belief in many quarters that the main goal of the strike is not just higher wages and other benefits but an effort by the ITU to make itself the dominant union in the rapidly changing newspaper industry.

For many years the ITU had this position, then lost it to the American Newspaper Guild — an organization of reporters, noncraft and clerical workers which the printers, by example and urging, had helped foster. In recent years it found itself following contract patterns set by the Guild.

If the strike is in fact a go-for-broke bid by the ITU, many publishers say it could tear the economic fabric of an industry which they claim is already under serious stress.

SPECIAL ATTENTION
The possible industrywide implications have drawn special attention to the strike, which, involving combined circulation of almost six million, is big enough in its own right.

The union struck the New York Times, the Daily News, the Journal-American and the World-Telegram & Sun. Then the Post, Mirror, Herald Tribune, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press shut as members of the New York Publishers' Association. The Long Island Press is continuing to publish its Long Island editions.

Nearly 20,000 people are out of work, lost wages amount to about $3 million a week and lost revenue during the rich pre-Christmas advertising season, is estimated by the industry at $7 million a week. The antagonists in the dispute are resolute.

Bertram Powers, 40, with brush-cropped, blond-gray hair, the president of Local 6, says "We're in this thing all the way."

ABSOLUTE LIMIT
Amory Bradford, 50, with salt-and-pepper hair and a hard-finished tweed suit, vice president of the Times and head of the publishers' negotiating committee, says "We are within a very short step of our absolute limit." For a decade now in New York, the ITU has found itself treading the footsteps of a union it helped bring into being in the 1930s. ITU men had told reporters, clerical workers and other noncraft workers that they would have to organize if they hoped to get the kind of money and contract protections ITU men enjoyed.

They took the advice and formed the Guild. But in the early 1960s, in part because of an accident of the calendar, Guild rather than ITU contracts began to set the industry pattern.

The ITU, dating to the middle of the last century, grew restive. Votes on ratifying what ITU men termed carbon copy agreements melted until they were razor thin. Powers talked of a more militant effort, and members rallied around him.

NOT BOUND
After he took over in 1961, he promised that things could be different. When the Guild agreed last month to a package increase of about $3-$9 per week per man over two years, and returned from a one-paper strike, the ITU warned it wouldn't be bound this time by that settlement.

When the clock ran out on negotiations, the ITU was asking $18.45 weekly in wage increases over the two years plus other benefits the publishers say would cost another $19 or more.

Industry observers, studying the size of the ITU demand and the mood in which it was presented, question whether this is merely a matter of a tactical problem in one city—as Powers says it is.

Is it instead, the observers ask, a far bigger issue with implications for every newspaper over the country employing union help? The ITU has fought to control the use of tape typesetting, in which perforated tape from a central point triggers linotype keyboards. The ITU also seeks to maintain control of processes that photographed copy, rather than metal type. This is called offset.

SAVINGS LOST
The publishers charge that protections against new processes all but wipe out savings. Unless money can be freed by such cost-cutting methods, these publishers say, there will be none to spread out as wage boosts. Competition from other media blocks higher advertising rates, they say. And Bradford says that the ITU's printers have made fewer advances in output per man-hour than any of the other nine unions on the Times.

If the ITU leadership and philosophy are embraced across the nation, publishers contend, many weak newspapers may be pushed into bankruptcy. Powers, who lost a linotype job when the newspaper PM closed in the late 1940s, says he and his membership faced this possibility when they made their strike decision.

In any case, he said, "We can't take the position of being a partner to the sick papers and the antagonist to the rich ones."

Court Refuses To Hear Case

An effort by an attorney to reopen the case of a teenager linked last year in the slaying of a former Big Spring woman at Cisco, has failed.

The teenager is Nathan Curry who was ordered committed to the state school at Gatesville for his alleged part in the slaying of Mrs. Florence Hussey, a church secretary.

Mrs. Hussey's body, pierced with many stab-wounds and bearing evidence of a terrific beating, was found in her home at Cisco June 29, 1961.

Technically, young Curry, then 15, was committed to the school as a delinquent for the burglary of Mrs. Hussey's home Aug. 9, 1961. Mrs. Hussey was an office secretary for the West Texas Sand and Gravel Co., while living in this city.

John Watts, the boy's attorney, sought a writ of mandamus to force the release of his young client from the Gatesville institution on the grounds that he had been imprisoned longer than allowed and should be released to his parent's custody.

The state Supreme Court refused the petition and declined to hear arguments.

Entertainment In Cuba Dims

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this article was an Associated Press correspondent in Havana for 29 months and was jailed there for three weeks under the Castro regime. He now is an AP roving correspondent in Latin America, and has been on special assignment in Key West.

By ROBERT BERELLEZ
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Under Castro automation, goes a Cuban witticism, the laboring man has been replaced by women.

Cuban radio and television programs monitored here tend to accentuate that observation.

Day in and out, the Cuban stations monotonously drone out the revolutionary achievements of "our women's brigades" and "our exemplary Cuban woman" toiling away "voluntarily" in coffee, cotton and sugar fields.

Starting next year some women will be carrying credentials as crew members on Cuban merchant ships.

Men work, of course, and they get their share of accolades. But to hear Havana radio tell it, Cuban workers spend large portions of their time attending meetings to "discuss production goals" or study "cultural draft projects."

PEEPHOLE

The radio-television broadcasts, easily seen and heard here, 80 miles from Havana, provide an excellent electronic peephole for a limited look at Cuba.

What is a radio-television view of Cuba like these days?

To one who had a Havana ringside seat on Castro and the post-revolution for 29 months, an immediate reaction is:

"Where is Fidel?"

Two years ago, it would have been rank heresy, if not counter-revolutionary, to leave Castro out of the picture if he were anywhere near a television program. But that was done recently when President Osvaldo Dorticos spoke at a funeral service, viewers got only the briefest look at Castro's back as he rushed away after the ceremony with only a brisk wave to Dorticos.

OTHER SIGNS

Two years ago, such an omission would have started speculation on Castro's health or his position in the hierarchy.

There are other signs the original revolutionaries are being edged from the spotlight by the new Marxist-Leninist set. There were no special radio or television programs to mark the anniversary of Castro's Dec. 2, 1956, invasion that led eventually to the overthrow of dictator Fulgencio Batista. Commentators handled the event in routine fashion, contrary to the hoopla of other years.

Once in a while, Havana television flashes back briefly to the top entertainment fare it used to offer. But the lavish sets are gone and so are the big name bands that internationally popularized such Afro-Cuban rhythms as the rumba, mambo and the cha-cha-cha.

GRAY THEMES

Live programs lean heavily toward gray revolutionary themes: the social and racial inequalities, mostly in other Latin American countries.

Television films offer a change of pace, but not by much. The westerns disappeared under a barrage of official criticism. Ingrid Bergman and Humphrey Bogart in "Casablanca" and Perry Mason still hold down the capitalist world's last foothold in the socialist camp. These films, and a few other Hollywood ancients, remained after American distributors pulled out of Cuba. They share time with Russian, Spanish and other foreign-made films.

On the sports scene, Russian-trained gymnasts are the big item. Yachting, which became popular among the masses after Castro confiscated marinas-full of luxury boats, also gets radio coverage.

Baseball, once the No. 1 sport featuring U.S. and Cuban major league talent, has been reduced to amateur basis.

MAIN THEME

Anti-Americanism remains the big hard-sell item on both radio and television. Anti-Castro Cuban raiders are always identified as "brutal CIA agents." Cubans felled by counter-revolutionaries were victims of "Yankee imperialist agents."

The way it comes over radio and television now, the revolutionary litany has a hollow mechanical ring; it lacks the old sound and fury of deep-down conviction.

Says a Cuban exile:

"They're tired and, besides that, they've used up the entire dictionary of scurrilous abuse. There's really nothing left to say."

Fireside Chat In New Version?

EDITOR'S NOTE—President Kennedy may have inaugurated a new technique for getting his views to the public, Douglas B. Cornell, who has covered the White House for the Associated Press since the early days of the New Deal, compares Kennedy's rocking chair interview with President Roosevelt's fireside chats.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP)— President Kennedy may have kindled a new version of the old fireside chat when he let the American people look in and listen to an interview he had Monday night in his White House office.

It was the late Franklin D. Roosevelt who came up with the idea of establishing direct communication with people by the millions. In the 1930s and 1940s his mellow voice and rolling phrases were heard periodically on radio — reports to the nation that became known as fireside chats.

There were some likenesses and differences in comparison with Kennedy's televised interview for three reporters Monday.

One similarity: FDR always used to sit at a desk and talk into microphones; Kennedy sat in a chair — a rocker — and an inconspicuous microphone hung around his neck.

But Roosevelt's addresses were one-man efforts, whereas a four-man was involved in Monday night's program. And television, of course, added the extra dimension of sight lacking in the days of FDR. The Kennedy interview was carried on radio as well.

Roosevelt always spoke from texts. Kennedy had no text whatever, and the White House said he was given no inkling of the specific questions to be put to him.

The fireside chats of Roosevelt enabled the President to talk to the people direct about a special problem at a special time.

Kennedy's session with network newsmen brought such widespread expressions of interest and approval that it seems likely the format may be used again, perhaps with variations.
