TWO-THIRDS PROTECTED Two youngsters finish second phase

More Turn Out For Type II

The second phase of the Howard and Glascock county drive against polio with Sabin oral vaccine drew more persons at the first round than did the first in November, 1962.

Type II vaccine was given to 23,964 residents of the area, 1,235 more than in the first go-round for Type I. Another 3,362 persons visited the make-up clinic to bring the total who took Type I vaccine to 26,091, or 63.2 per cent of the 1960 population of the two counties.

About 1,000-1,500 persons are expected to show up for their second doses at the make-up clinic next Sunday. The make-up will be at Runnels Junior High School from noon to 5 p.m. Other clinics, if any are needed, will be announced prior to Sunday.

Protection has now been given to almost two-thirds of the residents of Howard and Glascock counties against Types I and II polio. This protection is in addition to Salk vaccinations in that it will also prevent persons from becoming carriers of the disease. Persons who have not yet taken the vaccine are urged to do so to bring the population percentage to about 85 per cent. When this high ratio is protected, the immunization has been shown to spread effectively to almost the entire population.

Tshombe Ponders Surrender In Exchange For Place Of Power

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe apparently is being given a chance to invite a bloodless UN occupation of his war capital of Kolwezi and thus insure a place of power for himself in the reunified Congo.

Legislature Set To Open Wednesday

AUSTIN (AP)—Legislators moved into Austin today for the opening at noon Tuesday of the Legislature.

Actual lawmaking probably won't start until after John Connally is inaugurated governor next week.

Secretary of State Frank Lake will call the House to order. Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, president pro tempore and presiding officer of the Senate, will rap the gavel in the Senate.

There will be 60 new representatives in the 150-member House and 10 new senators in the 31-member Senate.

First order of business in the House will be election of a speaker for the session.

Rep. Byron Tunnell, three-term legislator from Tyler is the only active candidate for the job and is expected to be named on the first ballot, possibly by acclamation. Tunnell claims 125 pledges of support. Only 76 are needed.

The next president pro tempore of the Senate, who serves in the absence of the lieutenant governor, apparently will be Sen. Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin.

Dies and Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba, were equally in line for the honorary post but Dies won a toss of a coin. The selection, still subject to full Senate approval Tuesday, leaves Crump in line for the post during the next between-sessions interval.

Probably on Wednesday the 31 senators which half serves four years and which serves two years. Ordinarily only half of the Senate is up for re-election each two

Kennedy Plans Parleys With Leaders Of Parties

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy, after two days of legislative strategy conferences with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will confer in Washington Tuesday with congressional leaders of both parties.

The holiday White House announced today that Kennedy will meet with a bipartisan congressional delegation at 5.30 p.m.

Clifton Webb Has Surgery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Veteran screen star Clifton Webb underwent major surgery today to correct an abdominal aneurism, a bubble that forms at a weak spot in a blood vessel.

A hospital spokesman said first reports indicated "things were going well."

Russian Church Asks Peace At Christmas

MOSCOW (AP)—The head of the Russian Orthodox Church appealed for world peace today as the church observed its Christmas with solemn, candlelit services.

Alexei, 85, patriarch of Moscow and all Russia, called on all clergy and believers to pray for eternal peace.

He presided at midnight mass in Moscow cathedral. The cathedral was jammed with worshippers despite below freezing weather and intermittent snow.

The congregation was made up largely of women. Many were aged. A good number were younger women who grew up under Communism.

The Orthodox Church, following the old calendar, celebrates Christmas two weeks after other Christian denominations.

Services also were conducted throughout the night in other Moscow churches and in a limited number of churches elsewhere in the Soviet Union.

Despite the government attitude on religion, Tass, the official news agency, carried a report on the Orthodox observances and of Patriarch Alexei's holiday message.

Under communism the festive part of Christmas is observed largely on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. Families gather around Christmas trees in their homes and exchange gifts. Children's parties feature the appearance of Father Frost, the Russian version of Santa Claus.

Workers, students and political leaders are among the captives. Some are Communists but there also are members of a half-dozen other political parties.

Gen. Ricardo Perez Godoy, president of the ruling military junta, told political leaders the mass arrests were necessary to preserve order for national elections scheduled in June.

No Links Seen In 2 Deaths

BOSTON (AP)—Police today listed a mugging and an attempted robbery as the probable causes of the 9th and 10th strange slayings in the Boston area in the past six months.

Police said there appeared to be no connection between the slayings of Donna Ella Saunders, 16, of the Roxbury section of Boston, and Harold L. Carlman, 69, a variety store owner in near-by Salem, and the unsolved stranglings of eight women. Investigators have said they believe several of the eight women may have been victims of one slayer.

Edward W. Brooke, a Roxbury resident who will be the next attorney general of Massachusetts, told 500 persons at a meeting in the area Sunday night that he had asked Edmund L. McNamara, Boston police commissioner, for additional police protection for the district.

Medical Examiner Richard Ford, after examining the body of Miss Saunders, said in my opinion she was mugged. The injury on her neck is deep, it is consistent with a forearm squeezing the throat. There is no evidence of robbery." Ford said the girl had not been sexually abused.

Salem police said Carlman, found on a bed in his home above his store, was strangled by a gag used by robbers who entered his apartment.

Killed In Hotel Fire

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (AP)—Five men were killed today when fire roared through the 163-year-old Central Hotel.

Twenty other guests were in the three-story wooden building. Some fled in their night clothes. Some leaped to safety, others were carried from the building. Five were injured.

The dead were identified as Joseph Ivan, about 80; James Keating, 70; Paul Shyder, 65; Frank Hartman, 72, and Andrew Lennart, 58.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Leo Campos, the owner of the hotel, who also lived there with his mother, estimated the damage at about $100,000.

Three of the guests were admitted to Meriden Hospital—Thomas Clougherty, 20, of McKeesport, Pa.; Robert Maha, 26, of Dravosburg, Pa.; and Robert Taylor, 49, of Wallingford.

Negro Student Blames 'Present Circumstances'

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Negro James H. Meredith said today he will not attend the University of Mississippi next semester "under the present circumstances."

The 29-year-old Negro, first of his race ever knowingly admitted as a student at the university, didn't explain what he considered his circumstances.

But, since his enrollment under guard of federal bayonets Oct. 1, he has lived and attended classes under the protection of federal marshals and federal troops.

Meredith put it this way at a news conference in his dormitory:

"It should be noted that I have not made a decision to discontinue my effort to receive educational training at the university.

"Rather, my decision is not to attend the university next semester under the present circumstances."

He said he intended to remain at the university at least through the end of the semester, taking all of his final examinations.

He added: "When I combined the political and educational reality with my personal possibilities and probabilities, the results led me to the foregoing decision."

Asked about his future plans, he would say only: "I plan to remain in Mississippi."

Final examinations at the university are Jan. 18 through 22.

Almost from the start, rumors have persisted that Meredith, an Air Force veteran with some college work already behind him, was in trouble over his grades.

None of his grades—mid-semester tests, and the like—has been made public.

Students at the University of Mississippi must maintain at least a 2.0 average—a "D" average—or face probationary status. If they fail to make at least 1.0 average, they face almost automatic expulsion.

Meredith entered the university after a long court battle and a dramatic series of enrollment attempts blocked by Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr.

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans has held both Barnett and Johnson in civil contempt for their interference with Meredith, and now has criminal contempt charges pending against them.

Rioting broke out on the campus the night of Meredith's arrival Sept. 30. Two died and scores of persons—federal marshals, students and outsiders—were hurt before federal troops restored order.

In calling his news conference, Meredith asked reporters to come to his dormitory before classes today.

Meredith said Mississippi Negroes are engaged in a "bitter war for equality."

"The enemy is determined, resourceful and unprincipled," he said. "There are no rules of war for which he has respect. Some standard must be set."

Meredith said a "pattern must be established" so that those fighting for equality and "those fighting for the right to oppress" could clash without disaster falling on either group.

FREEDOM OF PRESS CITED

Supreme Court To Review $500,000 Libel Judgement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review a $500,000 libel judgment awarded a Montgomery, Ala., city official in a suit against the New York Times and four Negro ministers.

The Circuit Court of Montgomery County made the award to L. B. Sullivan, police commissioner of Montgomery. In addition to The Times, the judgment was against the Revs. Ralph Abernathy, Fred L. Shuttlesworth, S. S. Seay Jr., and J. E. Lowery.

Sullivan's complaint was based on an advertisement in The Times of March 29, 1960. The advertisement contained statements critical of the handling of racial demonstrations in Montgomery, was placed by an organization called "The Committee to Defend Martin Luther King and the Struggle for Freedom in the South."

The Times, in appealing to the Supreme Court, contended among other things that the judgment violated the Constitution's guarantee of freedom of press. A separate appeal by the four ministers said the record was devoid of evidence of any authorization or consent by them for publication of the advertisement or of any malice on their part.

The court also agreed to hear the separate appeal by the four ministers.

In its first business day of the new year, after a recess of three weeks, the high court handed down opinions in two cases.

These were:

A unanimous ruling that a Long Island, N.Y., fuel dealer is subject to the National Labor Relations Act although his only contact with interstate commerce is the purchase of oil that has moved across state lines.

Market Rally In 3rd Session

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rally continued into its third straight session despite sporadic profit taking early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains of key stocks were mostly fractional, some going to about a point. Losers were in the same range.

The market moved higher from the start, with trading heavy. First-hour volume was 13 million shares.

Reinvestment of funds by institutional investors and use of cash from dividend and interest payments continued a factor in the generally higher price level, brokers said.

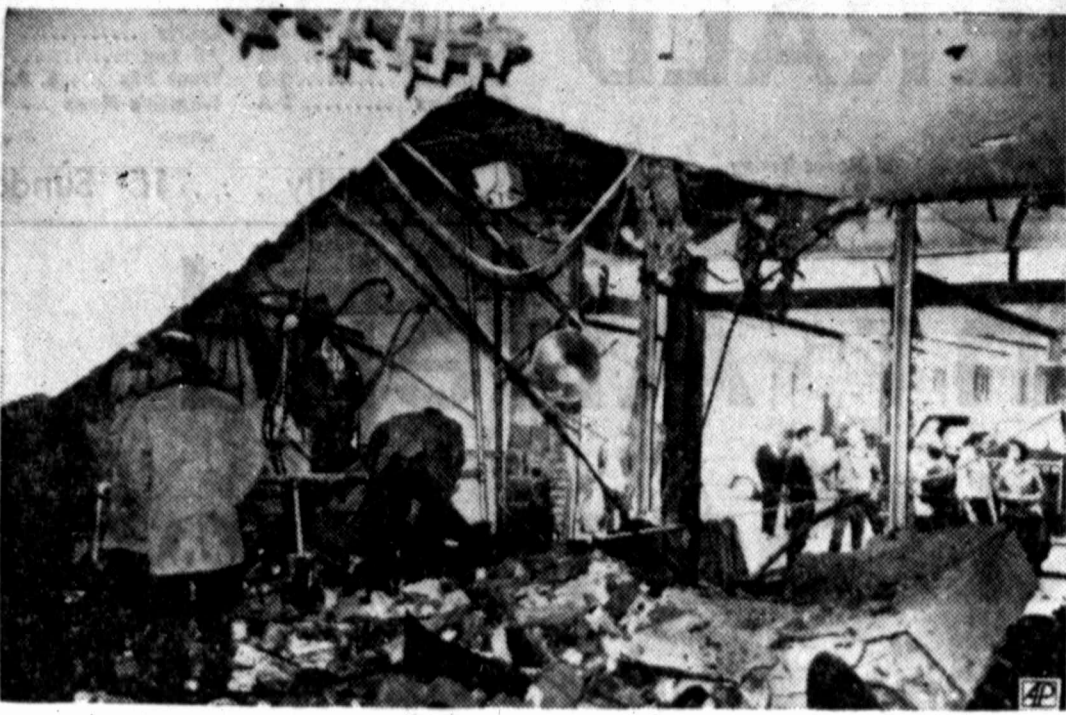

Nonferrous metals, steels, airlines, tobacco, drugs, rails and utilities showed a generally higher trend. Motors, chemicals, building materials, and electrical equipments were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 248.4 with industrials off 2, rails up 1, and utilities up 3.

Bomb Damages Casino

A time bomb caused this damage at the plush vapors night club and gambling casino at Hot Springs, Ark. Fire Chief Vera Smith said the bomb was placed in a rest room. It blew a hole 30 feet in diameter in the room and hurled twisted steel and concrete into the lounge and casino, where a school for gamblers was being conducted.

Board Studies Public Interest In N.Y. Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A "board of accountability" met today to study whether the public's interests "are being given due account" in the month-long newspaper strike.

The fact-finding panel is composed of three jurists. The board was appointed Sunday by Secretary of Labor W. Wirtz. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Rockefeller and Wagner, who asked that the board report by Friday "or earlier, if possible," said of the newspaper blackout: "The public has the right to know why this intolerable situation continues."

OIL REPORT

Two Oil Shows In Ellenburger

Drillstem tests on two sections of the Ellenburger returned oil of DOB Oil Properties No. 1 Frank Miller, Borden County explorer.

Operator tested a section between 8,602-615 feet with tool open 2 1/2 hours. Recovery was 450 feet of gas and 45 feet of oil and mud, no water. Pressures were not recorded.

Another test, between 8,601-37 feet, returned 1,750 feet of oil and 50 feet of oil, gas and mud. Tool was open 2 1/2 hours with initial flow pressure 300 pounds and final flow pressure 900 pounds. Thirty-minute shut-in pressure was 2,000 pounds.

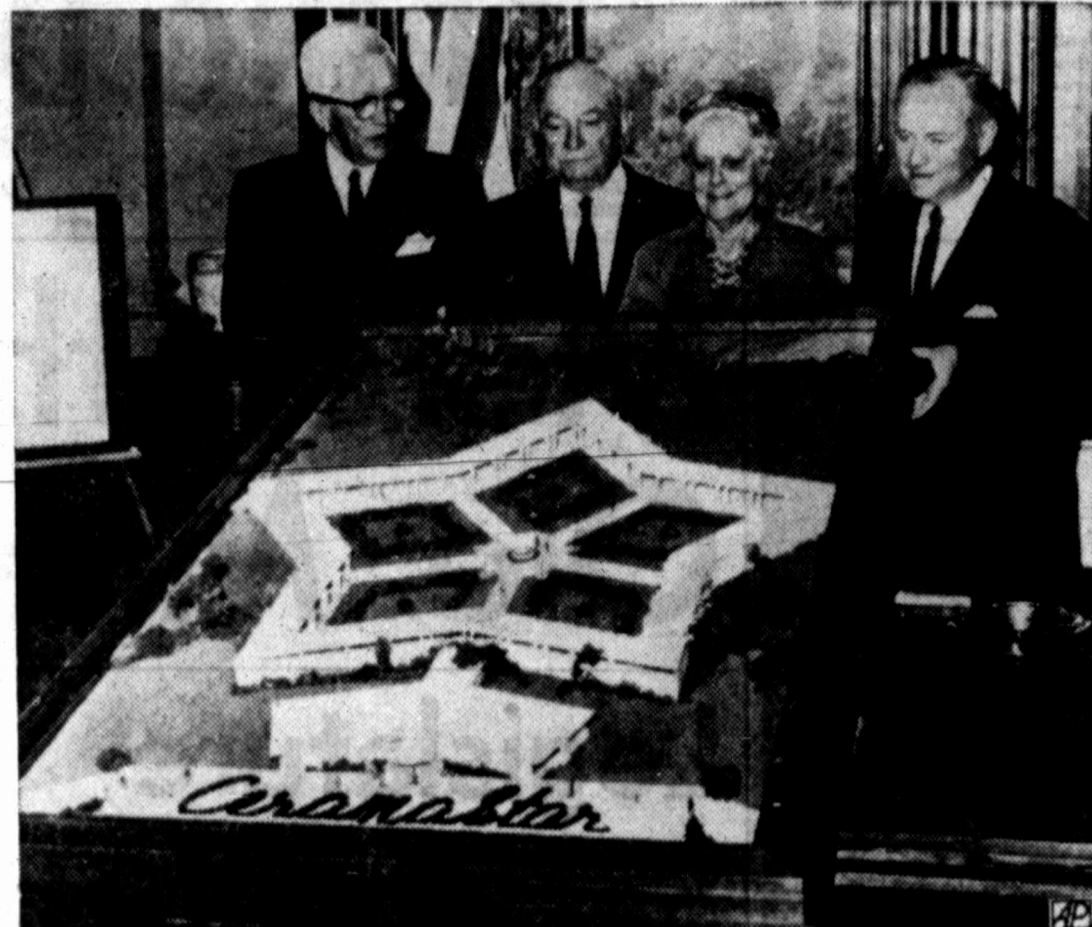

The Ellenburger was topped at 8,597 feet. Operator is now running 4 1/2 inch casing to an unreported depth. Location is 2,310 feet from the south and 1,500 feet from the west lines of section 35-30-6N, J. H. Gibson survey, about eight miles north of Gail and 1 1/2 miles northeast of the Romac field.

Federal Official Praises Negotiators In Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal official says the first face-to-face session of industry and union negotiators since five days before Maine-to-Texas dock strike began was "a credit to both sides."

James Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, said: "I urged upon them that in a real sense collective bargaining is under test at this time."

The conduct of the meeting was a credit to both sides and reflected a clear effort to clarify opinions.

Reynolds got the two sides together Sunday for the first such session since Dec. 18.

Contract talks continue today in efforts to settle the strike of 60,000 dock workers which has crippled shipping on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The negotiations are between the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and the New York Shipping Association, which represents 145 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Tors, Ponies Are Favored

LAMESA (SC) — Defending champion Sweetwater and the Lamesa Tornados appear to be the teams to beat in District 3-AAA basketball competition this year and it won't take long for the real contender to be identified.

The Mustangs take on the Golden Tornados in Lamesa on Jan. 18—the date the six-team loop opens the conference schedule.

Lamesa has by far the best record in the circuit with 13 wins and four losses. All of the defeats have been at the hands of Class AAAA teams.

Sweetwater has an unimpressive 4-10 record, but the Mustangs too have been beaten mainly by 4-A teams including a pair of losses each to Abilene Cooper, San Angelo, Abilene High and Brownwood.

Three starters return from last year's district championship team and the other two Mustang starters are lettermen.

Lake View of San Angelo and Snyder appear a shade better than Brownfield and Colorado City at this stage of the campaign.

The Cubs have played only seven games and now have a 2-5 won-lost mark. Snyder is 5-7 but pressed the Golden Tornados before losing in a recent turrey, 49-48.

Railroads Lose Injunction Plea In Strike Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three railroads serving Corpus Christi, Tex., were refused today a Supreme Court review of their efforts to get an injunction against a strike threatened by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The labor dispute developed from removal of a drawbridge at the mouth of the Corpus Christi harbor. The bridge was the means by which the T&N reached the city.

The three railroads asked lower federal courts for an injunction against a strike, pointing out the change in operations had been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Appealing to the Supreme Court, the railroads asked if the Interstate Commerce Act pre-empts, repeals, or must be accommodated with the Norris-LaGuardia Act under the circumstances.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The wedding party was in place—the bride and groom, a bridesmaid and the best man.

As Judge Allen Cornelius intoned the marriage rites Saturday, the groom suddenly said: "Let me have that back. I think I've changed my mind."

The stunned judge handed over the marriage license. The groom strode out, followed, in order, by the frowning bride, the frowning bridesmaid, the puzzled judge and the best man.

The judge said he knew only that the groom was a soldier from Ft. Campbell, Ky. who lived somewhere in New York State.

Greek Freighter Freed From Reef

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Greek freighter, the Ermoupolis, was freed from a coral reef Sunday, after crews worked nearly 12 hours to release the 10,000-ton vessel.

The Coast Guard said the freighter "apparently became lost and just ran aground" on Onga Reef about four miles off Elliott Key.

Crews emptied the ballast tanks of the vessel, lightening the ship, and Coast Guardsmen said the incoming tide assisted the rescue teams.

Seagulls Over Beaumont

Hundreds of seagulls were soaring over the city of Beaumont, an unusual sight for Beaumonters who are more accustomed to seeing the birds over the Gulf of Mexico. Oldtimers in the area say that it is most unusual to see the seagulls in such large numbers flying over the city. The birds do not land in the area.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newswriters

The Post Office released its newest design for a 5-cent stamp on Dec. 19 in Washington. The stamp pictures the 50-star flag unfurled, with the White House in the lower right and 5 cents in the lower left. No words, not even U.S. Postage, appear on the stamp. Apparently the stars and stripes are sufficiently indicative that this is a United States stamp.

West Germany has issued an other stamp in its Old Berlin series, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Featured is the town of Grunewald as it appeared in 1790. The Old Berlin series will be continued in 1963.

Australia will issue a new stamp in March to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Canberra as the capital city. The design of the new stamp will feature the coat of arms of Canberra plus a portrait of the late Walter Burley Griffin, American architect who planned the layout of the city.

Tanganyika has issued a special set of four stamps depicting various local scenes. The 30 cents green shows a group of local inhabitants watching groundbreaking activities. The 50 cents multi-color illustrates the raising of the flag on Mt. Kilimanjaro. The 1 shilling 30 features the presidential emblem and the 2 shilling 50 shows the beautiful Independence Monument.

Relaxed Pace For Nixon

By JOE LEWIS

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, looking tanned and fit, is living at a relaxed pace these days—playing golf and spending more time with his family—as he ponders his future.

But his future, apparently, is just as much a question mark to the former vice president as it is to everyone else.

Robert Finch, one of Nixon's inner circle, said the man who nearly became president in 1960 is mulling this basic decision:

"Shall I speak out on public affairs? Or should I stay completely out of the public arena?"

The answer isn't expected for months.

IN SECLUSION

Nixon has been in seclusion since Nov. 7, when his hopes for a political comeback were shattered in a losing bid to unseat Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. At a farewell news conference, he bitterly criticized the press and said he was quitting politics.

But associates say Nixon since has been getting thousands of letters, from throughout the nation encouraging him to speak out on public issues.

"He's had as many letters and cards this Christmas as he's had at any Christmas," says a former aide. As if in reply to an unasked question, he added: "If anyone doubts it, I'll open the closet and show it to him."

STATE OF MIND

The aide gave this description of Nixon's current state of mind:

"He's not moping around the house, second-guessing himself or blaming anyone. He's not mad at anybody."

"Financially speaking, losing the governorship was the best thing that happened to Dick. Now he's free to consider a lot of lucrative offers."

Nixon amassed a sizable financial nest-egg in recent years, chiefly from writing projects.

After the election, Nixon vacationed for three weeks in the Bahamas and Key West, Fla. He's been at home since, except for a three-day visit to New York—described by friends as a non-political trip to renew old acquaintances.

STOPS TRAFFIC

"In California," a Nixon source said, "he's regarded as the guy who got beat for the governorship. But he stopped traffic in New York."

He said Nixon made a window-shopping tour of Manhattan's Fifth Avenue at noon—and was besieged by well-wishers. The source denied reports that Nixon plans to move to the East.

Will he consider a job with a large corporation? "I don't think he's really interested in that," the source added, "but you can never turn your back on really big money."

However, Herbert G. Klein, former Nixon news secretary and once again editor of the San Diego Union, said he thinks Nixon will return to the Los Angeles law firm that he served as a consultant before he ran for governor. However, Klein added, nothing has been decided yet.

WEEKLY PROGRAM

There also is a possibility that Nixon might undertake a weekly television program devoted to analysis of world and national affairs.

"Of course," another source said, "it would have to be the right kind of format. He doesn't want to take a job where people will think he's running for office again. And he doesn't want to sell aspirin on TV."

"It would be a think-piece type show, part live, part filmed and part tape, with distinguished guests each week. And he would probably try to put issues in perspective rather than comment on day-to-day happenings in politics."

This source, too, emphasized that nothing has been decided yet.

"Meanwhile," he said, "Nixon's been on the golf course nearly every morning and he's shooting in the high 80s again. He catches up on correspondence at the law office in the afternoon and has friends over for dinner in the evening."

FAMILY REUNION

On Christmas Day the Nixons held a family reunion, including his mother, Hannah M. Nixon, and relatives of his wife, Patricia, in their rambling, modernistic, white mansion.

A big Christmas tree, that could be seen from the street, stood in the living room by a picture window, and Nixon himself played Christmas carols on the piano.

"I would say," said a friend, "that this has been a happy Christmas for Dick and his family."

LBJ Urges An End To Racial Bias

DETROIT (AP) — Racial discrimination must be removed, particularly in education, Vice President Lyndon Johnson said Sunday.

He came here to help Wayne State University open a year-long emancipation centennial.

Johnson unveiled a marker at the Second Baptist Church at the site of the first Michigan celebration of President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation on Jan. 6, 1863.

The church is the oldest Negro church in Michigan.

Johnson went next to a hotel for a brief address to labor leaders. United Auto Workers Union President Walter Reuther and Michigan AFL-CIO President Gus Scholle were among those present.

From there Johnson went to the Ford Auditorium and received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

He asserted in a speech that the economic cost of racial discrimination amounts to more than the total annual budget for the exploration of outer space.

Asked if he was in any way involved in politics while here, Johnson pointed to his crowded schedule and said: "You've seen my schedule—how could I?"

A number of prominent Michigan Democrats greeted him, including Sen. Philip Hart, re-elected Neil Staebler, former Gov. John Swainson and Lt. Gov. John Leinski.

GREATER THAN "TELSTAR"

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher
Church of Christ, 3000 West Highway 80

We marvel, and we rejoice; first at the launching of the communication satellite "Telstar," then at its being repaired from the earth so that television pictures are successfully transmitted across the Atlantic. But this is not to be compared with the importance of the soul's method of communicating with the throne of God—prayer.

"And this is the confidence that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us; and if we know that he hears us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desire of him" (1 Jno. 5:14, 15).

Prayers must meet certain conditions; and we must meet certain conditions to have the right to pray. Only the child of God has a right to address God as My Father; and that is the correct way to pray (Matt. 6:9; Jno. 3:3-5). Also, one must ask for things which accord with God's will (1 Jno. 5:14). He must be humble, sincere and penitent (Matt. 6:5-15). He must pray in the name of Christ (Col. 3:17). He must pray with faith (Jas. 1:5, 6).

Women Of Middle Age Waste Capabilities

NEW YORK (AP) — The way to turn cartwheels at 60 with the agility of a 10-year-old is not to stop turning them when you're 20, 30, 40 or 50.

That is actress Molly Picon's philosophy about growing older, and it applies not only to physical gymnastics but mental ones as well.

On the street, at her corner grocery, or at the stage door after matinees women old enough to have remembered Molly when she was a star of the Yiddish theater on the lower East Side 43 years ago ask admiringly, "How do you do it, Molly?"

While they refer to her gazelle-like leaps and tennis-wheel spins along the footlights of her current Broadway musical, they also survey enviously her ingenuite figure and her mobile face, young with animation.

If she has more time, and the occasion warrants it, ageless Molly will elaborate on the cartwheel answer. For the wasted capabilities of many women in their middle years is a subject close to her heart. With grown families and busy husbands they often become literally sick with loneliness and idleness, Molly knows. Some lose themselves to reality with the television sets. And many lose their figures via automobile and automatic household equipment.

"So why do you ask me to buy you a new TV and car?" jokes her husband, business manager playwright and producer Jacob Kalich.

"Yankees, you don't have to buy me a new body yet?" retorts petite Molly. Despite her calisthenics on stage, she walks the hour-long route to the theater each day, and on weekends at their country home takes part in some vigorous gardening activity.

"If your muscles stay used to it, they don't know they shouldn't just because they're older.

If your muscles get lazy, you should expect them to complain."

MENTAL EXERCISE
The same can be said for mental muscles, insists Molly. Of course, she's been lucky, "never bored a day of my life." And she admits that the average middle-aged woman does not have her good fortune of having a career to fill the gaps of being needed.

"But nobody should grow stale. If a woman's family is grown, maybe that's the time she should take on other people's. If she is feeling sorry for herself, all she has to do is volunteer for some welfare organizations and she'll find her own troubles are small compared to others.

"No matter how limited a woman's talents are, she can be useful, and she can feel fulfilled."

New Director Is Named For Elks' Duplicate Club

Grover Cunningham Jr. has been named new director for the Elks Duplicate Bridge Club, replacing Dr. J. H. Fish, retiring director.

Cunningham said that the club was organized primarily for the benefit of couples who wish to learn duplicate bridge and that all who wish to learn are invited to attend.

Games are scheduled each Saturday evening in the lodge hall at 7:30 o'clock. The club plans to start a new series soon and winners are eligible to participate in the regular winners games.

In the games played Saturday evening, winners in the North-South position were Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Harry Williamson, first; Mrs. Anne Hardy and George Pike, second.

East-West winners were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Riley, first; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Price, second.

Catholic Women Hold Monthly Webb Meeting

The Catholic Women of Webb Air Force Base met for a business session in the annex following mass and communion in the Base Chapel Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Chaplain James R. Plummer opened the meeting with prayer.

Presiding officer was Mrs. William Clair, who announced plans for a clothing drive to be held in the near future. The date will be set and committees named to head the collection of clothing to be used locally. Members were asked to save magazines and Catholic literature which will also be collected.

Mrs. Clair thanked all those who helped with the food shower for needy families and helped to make it a success.

A farewell tea honoring Mrs. John O'Brien will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Head, 7 Albrook Drive on Jan. 23, from 2 to 5 p.m. Mrs. O'Brien has been a constant worker for the group and all Catholic women of Webb are invited to attend. Welcomed as new members were Mrs. Hugh White, Mrs. Richard Durant and Mrs. F. Lastus. Guests were Mrs. C. B. Ritz and Mrs. Joseph Stubb. Hostesses for the month were Mrs. Berlin Fontenot and Mrs. William J. Herth.

DATE BOOK

The Past Matrons Club, O.E.S., will meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the Wag-on Wheel restaurant for dinner. The Big Spring City Council P-T-A will meet at the Goidard Junior High school cafeteria at 9:30 Tuesday morning.

West Texas Girl Scout Council Meets Tomorrow

The annual meeting of the West Texas Girl Scout Council will be held Tuesday, from 10:30 a.m. until noon at the Cosden Country Club. Top items on the agenda include the election of new members to the council's board of directors for 1963, the revision of the bylaws of the council, and amendments to the Articles of Incorporation of the council.

The annual meeting is open to the entire registered adult membership of the council and their guests. The delegates, who are the voting members of the council, represent the 353 girls and 383 adults now registered in the West Texas Council.

The speaker for the annual meeting will be Miss Patricia Twiss, a member of the National Field Staff of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Miss Twiss is the assistant director of Region IX of the Girl Scouts, which includes the states of Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. The regional office is in Dallas.

Besides the business during the annual meeting, there will be two meetings of the council's board of directors. The first meeting will be from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. preceding the annual meeting, attending this meeting will be the present members of the board. Those present at the second meeting of the board (from 1:20 to 2:30 p.m.) will be the 1963 members; this group will include those new members who are elected by the delegates during the annual meeting that morning.

The headquarters of the West Texas Girl Scout Council is in Abilene at 304 Mulberry St. The 16 counties in the council's jurisdiction are Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Glasscock, Sterling, and Coke. The president of the board of directors is Mr. Johnnie Ammons of Roby. The council's executive director is Mrs. J. R. Howard.

GIA SCALA

Beautiful Figure Is Matter Of Planning

By LYDIA LANE
NEW YORK — "I thought the less I ate the more I would lose, but it doesn't work that way," said Gia Scala after ordering broiled liver and a green salad for lunch. "Do you remember what a struggle I had with my weight? That was when I was under contract to Columbia and before I was married."

"It seemed to me the harder I tried to reduce the more difficult it was to lose. Lydia, I made my self unhappy, and I made many mistakes, and I want to talk about them so other girls won't have the same problem.

"I was living alone, and I never planned a meal. I thought, 'I am not eating much so I certainly can't gain,' but I was hungry all the time, and I ate the wrong things. A snack cart would come on the set and I would be starved. I tried to make a meal of candy bars, potato chips and soft drinks — everything that makes you fat. "It wasn't that I was eating so much, but the wrong kinds of foods. My studio bosses kept telling me I should lose weight, and when I told them I was dieting they didn't believe me.

"I wanted to please them, and I knew that the screen made me look heavier but I didn't know what to do. I became frustrated and resented criticism. I think all overweight people, who can't seem to lose, resent being nagged at. Sometimes you eat out of defiance. I know I did. And I almost ruined my health with crash diets when all I needed to be told was to lead a normal life. I found this out when I married Don (Burnett). I began preparing three meals a day for him. I ate regularly, wasn't hungry for snacks and the first thing I knew I was losing weight without even trying. I really was eating much more than I ever had, but this time it was the right kind of food.

"I felt so much better. I began to exercise and this helped me to lose inches. Then everyone began telling me how much thinner I was and wanted to know what I was doing. I don't think they believed me when I told them I was just being healthy and happy. "Gia and her husband just recently returned from Italy where the life is more leisurely paced than in America. "When I leave Rome, I find it difficult to do without a siesta," she confessed. "There is nothing that replaces an afternoon nap. It carries me through the day and far into the night. I have more energy and I sleep more relaxed if I break my tensions by lying stretched out — even if I don't sleep."

"I think it would be a great thing for this country if Congress would pass a law that all shops had to close at noon for two hours," Gia laughed. "People might hate it at first, but I'll bet you'd find fewer ulcers and no need for sleeping pills if everyone took a nap in the afternoon."

GIA SCALA'S DIET
For more energy and reducing without fatigue send for Gia Scala's "Vitality Diet." Leaflet M-105. Her diet consists of three well-planned meals a day. For your copy send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif.

Taylor Is Hyperion Speaker

John Taylor was the guest speaker at the 1930 Hyperion Club meeting Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Elmo Wasson, with Mrs. J. Y. Robb serving as co-hostess.

Taylor used the club's program topic, "Government at the Local Level" in explaining the different types of city governments used in the state of Texas. He specifically described the type used locally during a question and answer period following his talk.

Mrs. Bill Currie presided at the business session during which Mrs. Roland Schwarzenbach was elected to membership. Mrs. Currie appointed a nominating committee with Mrs. E. V. Spence as chairman and Mrs. J. Y. Robb and Mrs. Horace Garrett as members.

Refreshments were served to 22 members and Mr. Taylor.

Bridge Winners At Cosden Club

Nine tables were in play for the games held by the Cosden Duplicate Bridge Club Sunday afternoon at the club.

Winners in the North-South position were Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Anne Hardy, first; Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Rogers Hefley, second; Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. John Stone, third; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, fourth.

Scoring high in the East-West position were Mrs. Bill Emerson and Mrs. Dan Greenwood, first; Mrs. Joe Herbert and Mrs. Glenn Riley tied for third and fourth place with Mrs. Hudson Landers and Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr.; Mrs. Lloyd Nalls and Mrs. Fern Durham fourth.

DEAR ABBY Is Silence Really Golden?

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who gives me the silent treatment for weeks at a time. Sometimes I don't even know what he's mad at me for. His whole family is that way. They hold a grudge for years. We have been married for 33 years, and I think that out of every month he has been silent for two weeks. Our children are married and gone and it gets very lonesome around here. Is there some way I can make this man get over his snout and talk to me? LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: If your husband has been silent for two weeks out of every month, during your 33 years of marriage, he has accumulated a silencing record of more than 15 years! (I know a lot of women who would be overjoyed by such a blessing of peace and quiet.) If you can't find a way or humor him out of his mental hibernation, let him snout. A half a bear is better than none.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and think I should have the privacy of my own trouser pockets. Every night if I have over 25 cents my mother takes it to pay the paper boy or something. I earn my own money delivering groceries after school. How can I keep my mother out of my pockets? She never pays me back either. BROKE

DEAR BROKE: It's probably an old habit she acquired going through your father's pockets, but that doesn't make it right. If your mother needs your money, perhaps you ought to offer it to her so she won't have to help herself.

DEAR ABBY: We let our son have a fourteenth birthday party and he invited 10 of his schoolmates to the house for supper. We left the house for a few hours. When we returned the boys were weak from hysterical laughter. It seems one of them got the bright idea to make a long distance telephone call to the White House! They got through, too, but didn't get to talk to anyone of importance.

Perhaps I have no sense of humor, but I don't see anything funny in calls like that. As a punishment I have forbidden our son to use our telephone without permission for a month. My husband says I am being too strict. Do you think so? STRICT MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Nuisance telephone calls are not funny, and I think your punishment was justified. (P.S. Whom were they hoping to get? Caroline?)

DEAR ABBY: I am the kind of wife who tells her husband everything. And he is the kind of son who tells his mother everything. His mother is the kind of person who tells her friends everything. Now everyone in town knows all my business. How do you get a man to keep his mouth shut? Or should I tell his mother to keep hers shut? BLABBED ABOUT

DEAR BLABBED: Why don't you just keep YOURS shut?

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., for Abby's new booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Movies Show Life Again

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—That long-ailing giant, the movie industry, is at last showing signs of stirring from its sickbed.

No industrial illness has been so widely diagnosed. But while the causes are well-known—competition of television and other forms of amusement, flight of production abroad for cost and tax advantages, rising film industries in Europe—the cure has been elusive.

The movie bosses have concluded that there will be no dramatic solution to their problems, that they will survive only by better pictures, harder selling and sounder management.

Eric Johnston, the constant optimist, sees a rosy future for the industry which he heads. To support his view, the president of the Motion Picture Producers Association declares that the number of theaters in the world rose from 79,000 in 1947 to 134,900 in 1960.

Tough-minded movie maker Harold J. Mirisch ("Some Like It Hot," "The Apartment," "West Side Story"), also takes an optimistic view.

"The rest of the world, as well as the United States, is hungry for entertainment. Our business is going to flourish in the next six months and year."

Having made 16 films in the past five years, the Mirisch brothers have announced they will produce 20 in the next two years—class attractions budgeted for a total of $65-70 million.

The most encouraging news for Hollywood came when MCA entered into a consent decree with the Department of Justice, which had sued to prevent merger of the show business giant with Decca Records and its subsidiary, Universal Pictures.

With the announcement that the merger will be permitted, MCA disclosed a $10-million program for modernizing the Universal lot. It already has begun television filming by MCA's Revenue, the networks' young supplier, and the features of Universal. The tough, young-minded management of MCA is expected to bring new vigor to the film business, which has suffered from hardening of the executive arteries.

Hollywood also finds hope in the Century-Fox by its onetime founder, Darryl F. Zanuck.

Hollywood still faces a major problem in runaway production, which has been a hardship for labor. During one week, 15 features were being filmed in Hollywood while 21 American-sponsored movies were being shot overseas. The ratio would have been 10-1 in favor of Hollywood 10 years ago.

Some of the films were being shot abroad to use foreign locales which can't be duplicated here. But many were being made to take advantage of cheaper labor costs, tariff breaks and tax concessions for the talent.

Now the tax situation is changed. New regulations that become effective Jan. 1 make movie stars and other Americans who live overseas subject to U.S. income tax on money earned abroad. The law also increases taxes for many firms doing business overseas.

British Claim Our Defenses Leaky

LONDON (AP)—London newspapers claimed today that high-flying British jets got past U.S. defenses in a mock H-bomb attack on American cities. A spokesman for the North American Defense Command termed the reports "a lot of nonsense."

Four British papers said four 600-mile-an-hour Vulcan bombers made the "attack" about two months ago and reached targets in key cities including New York, Washington, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Vulcans were to have been used to carry the now-scrapped Skybolt. They will carry the improved Blue Streak standoff bomb, which is to be the basis of Britain's independent nuclear deterrent until it is equipped with Polaris missiles.

The Daily Express, Sketch, Telegraph and Herald all reported the strike.

"Had the attack been real, it would have wiped out several major American cities, including Los Angeles, Chicago and New York," the Herald said.

The Express said it understood the operation succeeded because the Delta-wing Vulcans were so fast and apparently flew at an altitude of about 12 miles.

It said some of the Vulcans were fitted with electronic countermeasures to keep American patrol

VanderKelen Stars Again, This Time In Hula Bowl

By The Associated Press

A tough, proud pro team and a quintet of college quarterback sensations share the spotlight today after another heavy weekend of post-season football activity.

The Detroit Lions retained their title as the National Football League's runner-up champion by beating the Pittsburgh Steelers 17-10 in a bruising Playoff Bowl battle at Miami Sunday.

The quarterback stars are: Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin—sparkplug of the North's rallying 20-13 victory in Honolulu's steaming hot Hula Bowl Sunday.

Glynn Griffing of Mississippi and Jerry Gross of Detroit—sharpshooters in Saturday's 14th annual Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., won by the South 33-27.

Lylyn Amadeo of Louisiana State—versatile leader in the West's 38-10 romp over the East in the Crusade Bowl at Baltimore Sunday.

Charley Furlow of Mississippi State—pacemaker as the National All-Stars whipped the Southwest Conference All-Stars 33-12 in the Challenge Bowl at Corpus Christi, Tex., Saturday.

The Lions, who proudly believe themselves the toughest defensive team in the league, needed all their ruggedness to down the Steelers, an outfit Detroit humbled 45-7 on opening day of the regular season.

On attack, Detroit quarterback Milt Plum was the key and was named the game's most valuable player. He passed for one touchdown set up Wayne Walker's 27-yard field goal with his pitching, and connected with Dan Lewis on a 54-yard pass play that led to Detroit's clinching touchdown. Ken Webb scored the two Lion touchdowns, on a 20-yard pass and a 2-yard run.

ington State added an insurance touchdown in the final moments. A free-wheeling attack by both sides and a magnificent goal-line stand turned the Senior Bowl into a real thriller. With Griffing zeroing in with three scoring passes, the Southerners romped off to a 33-6 lead before Gross' aerial artillery rallied the North.

The wiry 171-pounder passed for three touchdowns in the comeback and then engineered a last-gasp drive that carried to within the Rebel 2 before the aroused Southern defenders put up an impenetrable roadblock.

Amedeo showed his versatility in the Crusade Bowl by throwing a touchdown pass, scoring a touchdown, and kicking a 32-yard field goal and five conversions.

Furlow got the Nationals rolling in the Challenge Bowl with a pair of scoring strikes, connected on 20 passes for 261 yards, and was chosen the game's outstanding back.

Some kinks were due to be finally ironed out today. The game drew only 7,100 paid admissions and $32,000. This was about 5,000 admissions less than

Washington (AP)—Chicago Bears fullback Rick Casares and owner-coach George Halas may face questioning by Senate investigators in connection with a subcommittee study of gambling in professional and amateur sports.

That disclosure is the latest development in a long weekend for the National Football League, rocked by rumors of a scandal and the furor created by Casares' revelation that he had taken two lie detector tests.

Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, declined to give details but other sources said Sunday night that subcommittee agents will interview Casares, Halas and others in Chicago.

In Chicago, the Sun-Times said that McClellan denied that the investigators will question Casares or Halas. He added that the preliminary investigation now under way has not revealed sufficient information to warrant a public hearing.

"There may be such evidence tomorrow, but I don't know," the Sun-Times quoted McClellan as saying. "You can't tell what might develop in the morning or next week, or even next month. I can tell you that we are not sending any special Senate investigators to Chicago regarding the current rumors of a football scandal there."

NCAA Stand Is Due Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Emphasis in the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention swings back to the new sports federations today amid indications the official NCAA stand on President Kennedy's arbitration plea in the feud with the Amateur Athletic Union may come before the day is out.

The federal government has been sounding out the powerful NCAA on the chances of progress in settlement or mediation of the rating dispute over the administration of track and field in the United States.

The Associated Press learned there has been exchange of telegrams between the White House and the NCAA in the last two days. The NCAA is waiting only for release of the reply in Washington to state its position.

The AAU has agreed to mediate the dispute with the NCAA. The NCAA-supported U.S. Track and Federation has agreed to arbitrate with the AAU. The AAU says it will not enter into negotiations with the federation, which it considers a puppet organization of the NCAA.

The AAU has said it will not enter into arbitration individually, since it is only one of several charter members of the federation.

The battle of the alphabet has become so involved that the AAU has been suspending athletics who compete in federation-sanctioned meets and the NCAA has recommended that its member schools limit their competition and facilities to federation-approved events.

The NCAA has drafted legislation that would penalize a collegian a year's eligibility in the NCAA track and field championships if he competes in an AAU meet that isn't sanctioned by the federation.

With three days of preliminary meetings completed, the NCAA begins its official business schedule with a general round table emphasizing the colleges' part in new federations in track and field, gymnastics and basketball.

Danny Birdwell, who spent the past football season with the Oakland Raiders, visited here briefly last week en route back to Houston, where he'll continue his schooling.

Danny, up to 245 pounds now, needs about another year to qualify for a degree at the University of Houston. He hopes to play at about 260 pounds next fall.

Birdwell says the Oakland franchise will not be moved, despite reports to the contrary, and could prosper with a little luck in 1963. The Raiders didn't win a game until their final outing and then almost blew the Boston Patriots off the field.

The ex-Big Spring line star receiver is a $1,700 bonus for signing his contract and earned $9,000, in addition, in regular salary. He hopes to add to that income from qualifying as the No. One field goal and point-after-touchdown kicker for Oakland, too.

He'll prolong his football career, too, if he sharpens his kicking eye. Men who can apply the boot to the football on point after touchdowns and field goal tries are always in demand.

Dallas, of course, won the AFL championship by beating Houston in the playoffs but Danny respects the personnel of the Denver club more than any other team within the circuit.

He says that if he had to face that team every week he might something else as a means of livelihood.

Take away two boys who, between them, were averaging 31 rebounds a game and you can understand why the HCJC Jayhawks are hurting without Lou Balenton and Walter Carter in the lineup.

Balenton, who lost out on the HCJC campus because of a disciplinary problem, was pulling down 16 caroms a game, Carter 15. In addition, Carter was averaging a little over 19 points a game until he got hurt. Big Walt broke his hand in a scrap with an H-SU player during the recent HCJC tournament!

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Bob Milburn, the San Angelo scribe, has picked Big Spring's Eddy Nelson on his All-District 2-AAAA basketball pre-season team, along with Minton White, San Angelo; Charley Morton, Odessa Permian; Terry Trippett, Odessa; and David Wray, Abilene.

Milburn picked Big Spring to finish fourth in the race behind San Angelo, Odessa Permian and Cooper, followed by Abilene, Odessa High, Midland High and Midland Lee.

The San Angelo scribe, of course, made his picks before the league opened play Tuesday night. Midland, which gave the Bobcats a big, bad scare in San Angelo, probably will finish in the first division.

Walter is continuing to work out but using only one hand.

Jordan Oliver, coach of the Yale Bulldogs, spends only half the year in the East. The other six months he serves as personnel manager for an insurance company in Los Angeles. He's able to do that because Yale has no spring training.

Bearcats Stretch Long Victory String

By The Associated Press

If there is such a thing as a psychological barrier, the University of Cincinnati never has heard of it.

The Bearcats' basketball winning streak stands at 29 games and by the end of the week, it should reach 31. They have two fairly easy Missouri Valley Conference opponents as their next opposition—North Texas State Thursday and Tulsa Saturday.

Coach Ed Jucker's two-time NCAA champions polished off Wichita, 63-50, Saturday night for No. 29 in a row, No. 11 this season and No. 66 without a defeat on their home court.

The Shokers figured they might have a little edge if Cincinnati took a hard look at history. On Dec. 18, 1961, Cincinnati brought a 27-game winning streak to Wichita. The Shokers snapped it with a narrow 52-51 decision.

This time there never was any doubt as to the outcome. Cincinnati rushed into a 14-point lead in the second half. Wichita cut it to six points, but then the Bearcats, No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, got hot again.

George Wilson led them with 20 points. Wichita's high-scoring Dave Stallworth registered just 10 points.

In the Southeastern Conference, Texas and Texas A&M, traditional rivals in Southwest Conference sports, topped the league Monday as the circuit prepared for the week's schedule of eight championship tussles.

The Longhorns and the Aggies, each with two victories, held perfect records in the conference standings. Right on their heels were Arkansas, Rice, Texas Tech and Taylor with 1-1 records.

Southern Methodist and Texas Christian brought up the rear with 0-2 marks.

The firing starts anew Tuesday night with Texas A&M against Rice at College Station, Arkansas invading Fort Worth to take on Texas Christian, Baylor taking on Texas in Memorial Gym at Austin, and Texas Tech's Red Raiders visiting Dallas to play SMU.

As of this week, no Southwest Conference team has been counted out of the race. Pre-season favorites Texas and Southern Methodist but easily could be tied at week's end, especially so if the Methodist jump from a slump.

The teams meet in their second games of the week Saturday night. The Aggies invade Dallas to play SMU in what may be one of the week's headlines. Arkansas tries Rice at Houston, Baylor meets TCU at Fort Worth, and Texas takes on the Red Raiders at Lubbock.

Last week's results, which followed no pattern as far as previous play had gone, saw Texas A&M defeat Texas Tech 60-53. Texas took its first game 54-49 over Rice and then edged Arkansas 60-63. Those games established the leaders, at least temporarily.

In other games, Arkansas beat SMU 73-71, Texas Tech beat TCU 69-66, Baylor defeated SMU 62-58, and Rice chilled TCU 78-63.

Scoring regularly during the week for the Aggies, Bennie Lennox stayed atop the point-makers with 27 in 11 games. Rice's Ken dall Rhine held onto second place with 219 points but was tied by onrushing sophomore Winston Moore of Baylor.

The pace setter, with scores of 68-70 in the first two rounds, charged into command in a hectic third round Sunday with a 67 and a 54-hole total of 205.

As play continued four participants were only two strokes back of Wall, the Pocono Manor, Pa., Masters Champion of 1959.

They were ex-National Open Champion Ed Furgo, Johnny Pott, Paul Bondeson and Dub Holscher.

It's beginning to look as though perennial power Kentucky, going for its 21st league title, might be ready to be had. The Wildcats dropped their opener to Georgia Tech in a double-overtime thriller Saturday, 86-85, on two free throws each by Mike Tomaszewich and R. D. Craddock in the closing seconds.

The Yellow Jackets are undefeated (9-0) and could wind up fighting Mississippi State for the title. They held Cotton Nash, the SEC's leading scorer, to 9 points.

Mississippi State, co-champion with Kentucky last year, whipped Auburn, 62-53. That one knocked the Tigers from the unbeaten list.

In the Big Six, UCLA, which almost upset Cincinnati in the NCAA semifinals last year, is squarely behind the eight ball. The Uclans fell twice to Washington over the weekend, 62-61 Friday and 67-63 Saturday.

Poor relation California, which occupied the basement last year, turned back Southern California twice over the weekend, 72-65 and 78-69.

The case of the Big Ten could be settled right off tonight when Ohio State visits Illinois. Both are 9-1 for the season and 1-0 in the league. The Buckeyes had a gosh-awful time squeaking past Minnesota 78-76 in their opener Saturday.

Illinois rolled to an 85-76 decision over Iowa.

In the Southwest Conference all is confusion. Texas A&M and Texas lead with 2-0 records. The Aggies turned back Texas Tech 60-53 Saturday and Texas downed Arkansas 69-63. Southern Methodist, which had looked like a real toughie, is 0-2 after being whaled by lowly Baylor, 62-59.

Elsewhere, things appear fairly normal. Loyola of Chicago, No. 2 in the AP poll behind Cincinnati, crushed Loyola of New Orleans, 88-53, for its 13th victory without defeat.

Duke, ranked No. 7 in the country, turned back North Carolina State, 78-52, for its fifth straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory.

Colorado belted Kansas, its main rival for the Big Eight title, 73-57. West Virginia warmed up for its brush with Davidson Tuesday with a 104-71 triumph over hapless Furman.

Defending champion Yale beat Brown, 70-51, in the Ivy League headliner. Princeton, a co-favorite with Yale, fell before Penn, 65-62. Arizona State, fourth-ranked behind Illinois, ran its record to 12-1 by beating Texas Western 63-60.

Queens To Play Today

The Howard County Junior College Queens will meet the Abilene Christian College fems in a game set here today at 7:00 p.m.

The Jayhawk Queens coached by Anna Smith, have played two games and have won both at the expense of Odessa College and Hardin-Simmons University.

Girls playing for the Queens this year include: Pat Saunders (soph.) Garden City, roving guard; Brenda Cook (fresh.) Junction, roving forward; Marie Putman (fresh.) Westbrook, Laura June Whitworth (soph.) Rock Springs, forwards; Sue Parker (fresh.) Garden City, guard; Janice Hudson (fresh.) Monahan, guard.

Others include: Tanya Boatright (fresh.) Westbrook, guard; Anita Rees (fresh.) Westbrook, guard; Marilyn McReavy (fresh.) Big Lake, forward; and Ann Klepper (fresh.) Roscoe, manager.

The teams meet in their second games of the week Saturday night. The Aggies invade Dallas to play SMU in what may be one of the week's headlines. Arkansas tries Rice at Houston, Baylor meets TCU at Fort Worth, and Texas takes on the Red Raiders at Lubbock.

Steers, Hawks Play Tuesday

Both the Howard County Jayhawks and the Big Spring Hawks will see action here Tuesday evening. Games start at 8 o'clock in the HCJC field house and the BSHS gym.

Fresh from a 50-45 victory over the Texas Western Freshmen, the Hawks will seek to get back into the conference win column here against Lubbock Christian College.

Lubbock is playing San Angelo this evening. San Angelo measured Odessa JC by a 66-59 count Saturday evening for its third conference victory and no defeats.

For the season the Rams again led by Pete Welch had 17 and Charles Spieker 16 for the winners, but Kirby Pugh, Ram high scorer for the season, was held to four.

Lubbock now has a 10-7 record. Starters are due to be Stanley Lynch 6-4 soph., Ned Boaz 5-8, soph., Ronnie Davidson 6-4 freshman, Jerry Eldridge 5-7 freshman, and George Sanders 6-2 freshman.

The Hawks are adjusting to the loss of three key players. One of them, Walter Carter, is seeing extremely limited service with a broken hand.

Big Spring entertains Abilene Cooper and must win to entertain any hopes of being a contender for the crown. Both opening games were dropped by narrow margins.

The first to Midland Lee by four points and the second to Odessa on Saturday 33-31 as the buzzer sounded. Eddie Nelson, the Steers star runner, had fouled out three minutes earlier.

Jordan Oliver, coach of the Yale Bulldogs, spends only half the year in the East. The other six months he serves as personnel manager for an insurance company in Los Angeles. He's able to do that because Yale has no spring training.

Catalog Provides Huge Merchandise Selection

With more than 100,000 items of merchandise available, Montgomery Ward is the largest department store in Big Spring and area now. A J. Clark, manager of the local store, said today that the new Spring and Summer catalogues available this week at the store, feature many items never before offered in the area.

"There is the new, mobile indoor-outdoor compact refrigerator," he said. "You can use it in the kitchen as a built-in feature at cabinet height, or you can roll it out on the patio for summer eating. The unit is 34 1/2 inches high and has a functional formica top making it ideal for kitchen, patio, or den. A twin to the refrigerator, a freezer, comes in the same size. The casters for either, or both units, come extra to make it portable."

"Then, for the yard man, there is the new power vacuum sweeper for the lawn and yard. It is powered by a 3 horse-power engine and covers an area 31 inches wide," he continued. "It will save raking, and picking up. A man has a real fine-tooth comb for his yard, after mowing, or following the blowing trash which covers yards here often."

"The sweeper may be used in the home or garage for heavy cleaning, on the sidewalk, driveway, in a barn or factory. The floating sweeper head makes it ideal for parks, parking lots, theaters, super markets, and shopping centers. Trash is picked up and compressed in a king-size canvas bag making frequent emptying unnecessary. The sweeper rolls on semi-pneumatic tires and is easy to push. Montgomery Ward, through its

Equipment Adds Much To Offices

An old office can take on a new appearance when furnished with modern equipment. Colors can be made to match in desks, chairs, typewriters, and even down to the waste basket.

Thomas Office Supply, 101 Main, has a full line of all kinds of equipment, including the latest model Royal typewriters standard and portable, adding machines (hand operated and electric, cash registers, check writers, duplicators, desks, chairs, stenographer, executive and guest), file cabinets, transfiles, storage boxes, brief cases, and desk sets for all finishes.

The new Royal features such conveniences as automatic paper lock, line meter, visibility, magic margin, touch control, speed spacer, card writing fingers, natural ease keyboard, removable cylinder release lever, printing post scale, and writing line scale.

The top of the new machine lifts off to enable the user to clean the inside, or change the ribbon, with ease. The new Twin-Pak makes ribbon changing clean and easy in four steps. There is no more need for the messy-finger method of putting on new ribbons.

The new all-metal desks, made by Orna Metal, Inc., are sturdy, comfortable, easy-operating drawers, and eye-catching. Metal chairs, in both the executive and stenographer type, are upholstered in the finest material and may be ordered in colors to suit the taste of the purchaser. Foam rubber cushions are also available for that extra comfort, or to provide a little extra height to the seat.

The desks are available in executive or secretarial and in various sizes.

Items for use in office or home are available, including bookkeeping supplies in several sizes, and in-bound or loose leaf, desk sets, finders, blotters, lamps, ash trays, racks, and many other items.

The world globes, from small to large, are carried in stock for home, office, or school. Student dictionaries, note books, binders, staplers, inks, stencils, blackboards for home, school or office, duplicating machines, tapes, fasteners, rulers, lettering stencils, and many other items are found on the shelves.

Well known brands of bookkeeping supplies include binders and sheets by Wilson-Jones, Shaw's, and Standard, as are ruled sheets with multi-column spacing, columnar pads, and bound books. Side and end binding books are available from the smallest note book through the largest needed for office use.

Small home offices may be set up and furnished from Thomas Office Supply. Many of the chairs and other items carried in stock are also suitable for the home in the family room and on the patio.

A telephone call to AM 4-6621 will enable customers to get an estimate on the cost of furnishings and equipment needed.

The firm also maintains a repair department for typewriters, adding machines and other equipment.

Lamesa Banks Report Record

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa bank deposits set an all-time year-end record at the last count despite the lateness of the 1962 cotton crop and the expected dip in overall production. Loans showed a sharp rise from a year ago.

The two banks and savings institution recorded total deposits of $41,232,560, an increase of $967,160 over the previous record set at the end of 1961 when the county harvested its largest cotton crop in history.

Banking officials indicated that one reason why deposits held a high level was because farmers did not get cash out of the current crop quickly enough to spend it before the end of the year. It was also pointed out that the sharp decline in braconer use probably kept more money in the county.

Fast Delivery

Assured fast delivery is one of the advantages of piggy-back service. Most piggy-back loads are moved in fast "hotshot" freight trains. Following the trend which places more and more stress on high speed railroading just recently the Texas and Pacific established a new "high" in its freight service with the inauguration of an even speedier schedule for shipments to the West Coast. For example, piggy-back, as well as carload shipments, moving out of Dallas via rail on Monday arrive in Los Angeles on Wednesday. This expedited rail service is available every day of the week on the T&P.

Indian Arms Opposition Is Developing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Significant congressional opposition developed today to any program of furnishing modern arms to India in its border dispute with Communist China.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., announced that the Senate Armed Services Committee will explore in detail, as part of a scheduled full-scale review of the nation's defense posture, any commitments for delivery of weapons to India.

"I am not giving India any of our modern weapons for the principal reason that I think we would be just giving them to the Chinese Communists," Russell said in an interview.

"The Indians put on a disgraceful exhibition in permitting themselves to be driven out of what should have been impregnable strongholds in the border mountains. They seem incapable of fighting and if we supply them with weapons they will just fall into the hands of the Communists," Russell added.

The United States has agreed to supply India with an unstated amount of arms. Thus far most of those dispatched have been light infantry weapons, mortars and land mines. These are in addition to 12 Air Force transports flown to New Delhi.

Russell, who has criticized Prime Minister Nehru in the past as "a demagogue and a hypocrite," said the ousting of V. K. Krishna Menon as defense minister hasn't changed his view that India is an unreliable friend.

Russell said his committee's inquiry will cover the whole spectrum of U.S. weapons. He said that while there may be valid reasons for canceling of the Skybolt air-to-ground missile, he is not one of those who wants to phase out manned bombers speedily and put all dependence on intercontinental missiles.

Russell said that if the Skybolt program is not revived, he believes the RS70 reconnaissance plane should be pushed to the production stage. President Kennedy killed the Skybolt program and has held down expenditures on the RS70.

Congressmen Ready To Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the 88th Congress streamed into town today, ready for a double donnybrook that will get the new session off to a rousing start.

At the formal opening Wednesday, the legislators will run smack into rules fights on both sides of the Capitol that will divide them along lines more significant to legislation than party labels: liberal vs. conservative.

The outcome is apt to have a strong effect on President Kennedy's legislative program and on the 1964 presidential and congressional elections.

Technically, Democrats hold large voting margins in both the Senate and the House. In the Senate their advantage over the Republicans is 67 to 33, in the House 258 to 176, with one Democratic vacancy.

The Senate vacancy caused by the death of Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma was filled Sunday with the appointment of Democrat J. Howard Edmondson.

This wide Democratic edge may be illusory. In both branches Southern Democrats have a habit of not following their party leadership, of combining with conservative Republicans to thwart the Democratic administration.

Two years ago, in an attempt to prevent the House Rules Committee from delaying liberal legislation, the administration won a fight to expand it to 15 members.

By adding three members to the traditional 12, the group's complexion was tipped to the liberal side.

This committee enlargement died with the last Congress and the fight to expand it will be fought again. The showdown will come quickly. Members of both parties will caucus separately Tuesday, trying to agree on a position before the House takes up the issue Wednesday.

In openly taking sides in the rules committee fight, the President has said: "We are through if we lose."

Edmondson Is Appointed To Kerr's Post

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Howard Edmondson, a friend of President Kennedy, resigned Sunday as governor of Oklahoma and was appointed to the U.S. Senate, succeeding the late Robert S. Kerr.

George Nigh, 35, the lieutenant governor who moved up to the governor's office and appointed Edmondson, said President Kennedy told him he would be personally pleased by the appointment.

Nigh said he telephoned the President, who is vacationing at Palm Beach, Fla., before Edmondson resigned and told him Edmondson would be named to the Senate.

The administration can expect solid support from Edmondson, 37, a Democrat who backed Kennedy for the presidential nomination in 1960.

Nigh, also a Democrat, will be governor for only one week. Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma's first Republican governor, takes office next Monday.

Sources close to Edmondson said that when Kennedy came to Oklahoma City Friday for Kerr's funeral he urged the governor to take the Senate seat.

Kerr, a Democrat who was known as the uncrowned king of the Senate, died of a heart attack in Washington New Year's Day.

As Edmondson gathered his supporters at the governor's mansion to make the switch, Kerr's son, Robert S. Kerr Jr., announced he will run for the Senate in 1964.

Kerr said he thought Edmondson's appointment effective only until the 1964 general election, would slow down big water development projects launched by his father.

Edmondson, fiery reformer and accomplished orator, was elected governor at 33, youngest chief executive ever chosen by Oklahomans.

The former Tulsa County Attorney pushed through repeal of prohibition, making liquor legal in Oklahoma for the first time since statehood in 1907.

This, plus such reforms as a merit system for state employees, made him many enemies and he became one of the state's most controversial governors, feuding with both the legislature and his party's leadership.

Edmondson supported Kennedy for the presidential nomination when Kerr and others swung the state delegation behind Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. He made a seconding speech for Kennedy at the Democratic National Convention.

He reportedly had been offered a job in the administration. But until Kerr's death, he had planned to join a new law firm with offices in Washington and Oklahoma City. He was prohibited by the state constitution from seeking re-election as governor.

With Edmondson the Senate lineup will be 67 Democrats and 33 Republicans.

Edmondson is the second governor to resign and accept appointment to the Senate since the last general election. Edwin L. Mechem, 50, a Republican, resigned in November as governor of New Mexico and was named to succeed the late Sen. Dennis Chavez, a Democrat.

Cancer Panic In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cancer specialists say a mild panic among Southern California men resulted from the recent cancer deaths of four prominent actors.

Doctors at the Cancer Detection Clinic say the usual ratio of three women to every man requesting an examination has changed to nearly two men to every woman.

One physician said he had three times as many requests as normal for checkups.

Actors Charles Laughton, Thomas Mitchell, Jack Carson and Dick Powell died within 18 days of each other.

Dr. Sol Baker, president of the California division of the American Cancer Society, said Sunday that the first reaction of some people was to think an epidemic had begun.

Soviets, Chinese Continue Battle

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and Red China continued their ideological battle today, accusing each other of betraying the Communist cause and playing into the hands of imperialism.

The latest exchange came in editorials in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, and Red Flag, the Chinese Communist party's theoretical magazine.

As usual the Russians directed their fire at Albania, but it was clear the blast was meant for Peking. Red Flag did not mention Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the Soviet Communists by name, but it was also clear that they were the Chinese target.

Pravda asserted that the Soviet Union had averted world nuclear war in the Cuban crisis and accused those who quarrel with peaceful coexistence of following a policy that could lead to armed conflict.

The Albanian leaders are openly breaking with the Communist movement with Marxist-Leninism and are sinking deeper and deeper in the morass of dogmatism, sectarianism and vicious nationalism, and are making increasing use of personality cult methods, Pravda declared.

It accused the Albanian Com-

Cost Of Stamps Takes A Licking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher postal rates designed to cut into the Post Office Department's deficit went into effect today.

The major changes the first class letter rate goes from 4 to 5 cents an ounce, post cards from 3 to 4 cents and air mail letters from 7 to 8 cents an ounce.

Second, third and fourth class rates also are going up, with some of the increases spread over three years. Ultimately, the changes are expected to add $600 million to postal revenues.

The new first class rates are the highest since uniform rates were established in 1863. They are not the highest ever. Back in 1879, for instance, when first class rates were fixed, it cost 6 cents to send a letter up to 30 miles and 25 cents for more than 450 miles.

Boosters To Plan Concert

Plans for a winter concert will be made tonight at a meeting of the Band Boosters, making it important that as many members of the club attend as possible, according to Bob Bradbury, president.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the bandroom at the high school. Other business will include reports from committees and a progress report on the sale of fruitcakes.

munists of failing to support the Soviet effort to defend Fidel Castro's Cuba and "bar the road to the atomic maniacs."

"What is more, they actually helped the imperialist instigators to kindle the conflict, to set the U.S.S.R. and the United States at loggerheads, thereby pushing all the world into the abyss of war," said Pravda.

The editorial branded as false charges from Peking that the Soviet Union had capitulated over Cuba, it declared, is much stronger today, and "the beacon of freedom in the Western Hemisphere is burning still brighter."

Red Flag denounced Khrushchev's policies in an editorial on "Leninism and modern revisionism."

Modern revisionists deliberately lie to deceive the masses alleging that the dogmatists (Chinese) hope to push mankind to the brink of nuclear war," said Red Flag.

"Some persons (Khrushchev), indulging in sheer fabrication, say that the dogmatists want to demonstrate the superiority of socialism and communism over capitalism by means of war," it added.

"Socialist countries should rely on the just strength of the peoples and their own just policies and should not engage in nuclear gambles in the international area (Cuba)."

A Devotional For The Day

Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it; and Hezekiah went up into the house of the Lord, and spread it before the Lord. (II Kings 19:14.)

PRAYER: Show us, O Lord, that hate and enmity can lead only to violence. Fill our minds with thoughts of goodwill toward all men. Help us to know that we can find the answers to the vexing problems of life as we seek to know Thy will for us. In the name of Christ, our strength. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Fundamental Rights

The power of union officials to curtail members' democratic rights within the union has been vigorously called into question by a Minnesota federal court. The case arose because national officials of the Painters Union forbade a local union to pay attorneys' fees and expenses incurred by a group of dissidents within the local, even though members of the local had voted approval of the payment. Judge Earl Larson held that the national officials had no authority to negate the will of the local's membership in this matter. Judge Larson asserted that the national officials' order forbidding the payment because it contravened union policy was in violation of the Landrum-Griffin Law, and then asked rhetorically, "What will be the result if this policy pronouncement is allowed to stand?" His answer goes to the heart of the matter: "It seems patently clear that these petitioners—and perhaps others like them—will be slow to assert in the future the rights conferred upon them by Congress."

Judge Larson made these further significant points: "Freedom of speech within the union is a valuable right which will be zealously guarded by the courts. The point is not whether they (the dissidents) were right or wrong from an economic point of view. The point is that the right of these petitioners to dissent, to organize a state of candidates in opposition to the incumbent officers, and to argue vigorously for their views without fear of reprisal are rights of the highest order."

It has often been asserted that the courts cannot properly intervene in the internal affairs of unions. Judge Larson has made it clear that the courts will not hesitate to do so when fundamental rights are involved. That is as it should be.

Should Be Sauce For The Gander

Congress, like a good many individuals, is willing to reform anybody but itself. It insists that the executive departments show in detail how they spend their money. When their own expenditures are in question, some congressmen drop a curtain of secrecy. No one knows how much goes for junkies. No one knows how their expense allowances are used. Another evil has received new attention in a statement by Sen. Clifford P. Case, a New Jersey Republican. This is the practice of some senators and representatives of voting on bills affecting companies in which they hold stock.

Some are known to have large commercial interests, which should disqualify them from voting when matters affecting these interests come up, or which should be known before the vote is cast.

A few years ago a prominent senator was active in railroad legislation. Not by his own admission but by detective work of some newspapers, it came out that his law firm was retained by an important railroad.

Judges would be removed from the bench if they decided cases in which they had a financial interest. In the case of congressmen, while such a penalty might seem severe, publicly would probably do the trick. A congressman known to be voting according to his pocketbook would soon get his comeuppance from the voters.

David Lawrence U.N. Violation In Katanga

WASHINGTON — If the United Nations—as operated today—had been in existence in 1776 the thirteen colonies in America might never have been permitted to secede from Great Britain.

If the United Nations last year had wished it could have asserted a right to send troops to the University of Mississippi to see that James Meredith was enrolled as a student and to make sure that a sovereign state obeyed the orders of the federal government.

THESE TWO hypothetical statements illustrate the extent to which the United Nations today, in invading Katanga to prevent its secession from the Congo, has gone beyond established principles of international law. Disobedience of the decrees of a national government is an internal matter. The right of revolution has heretofore been regarded as indisputable. The right of self-determination by peoples everywhere has been supported by the United States for many decades.

During the last half-century—in which international organizations like the Hague tribunals, the League of Nations and the United Nations have been set up to apply basic rules of international law—there has never been a single encroachment comparable to what is happening right now in the Congo.

TO SECURE unity by mediation and avoid bloodshed is a commendable objective, but the means being used—military force inside a country as between its rival aspirants for power—is just another form of illegal aggression.

The press of Great Britain is almost unanimous in denouncing the U.N.'s tactics as illegal and as unsupported by any provision of the U.N. charter. The United States is being severely criticized, moreover, for furnishing the military equipment and vehicles to support the U.N. troops in the Congo.

CONGRESS, which is supposed to have the right to authorize the use of American military equipment, has never sanctioned the giving of aid to the war launched by the United Nations against Katanga.

The U.N. has every right to call on its members to take collective action against an aggressor nation which disturbs or threatens to disturb the peace. This was the case in 1950 when the North Korean government, aided by Moscow, sent its troops across the boundary line into South Korea in what became a three-year war. The United States, when called upon by the U.N., properly rendered military aid.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

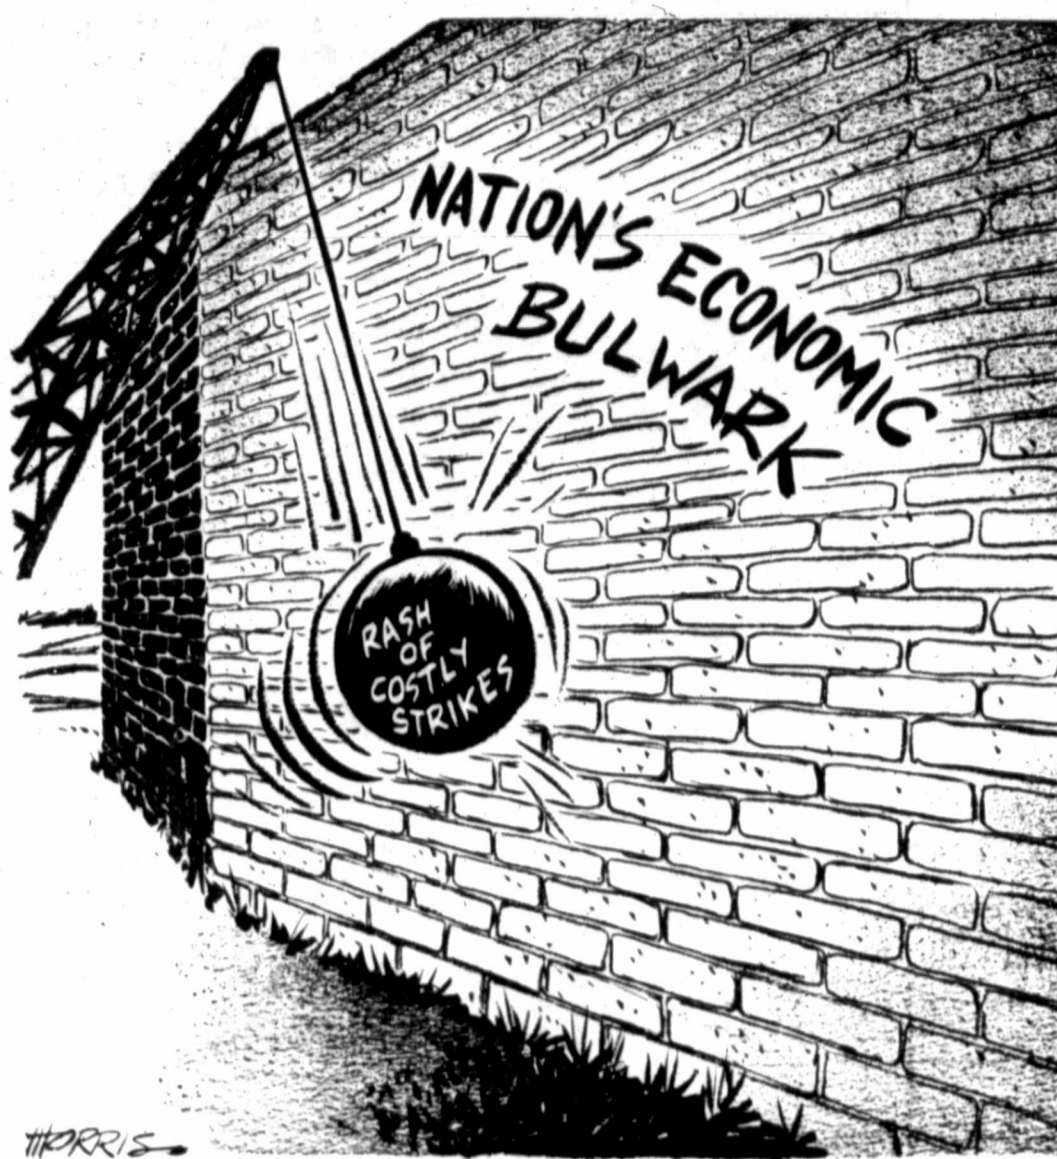

The TV watcher and hearer is almost without exception a person who believes two things with all his heart, mind and soul. He thinks TV commercials are far louder than the rest of the telecast and he is fairly convinced that trouble, neither work or otherwise, never develops while the "message" from the sponsor is on the air.

Newton H. Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, says he can tell a loud commercial, no matter what the engineers claim. A study made two years ago, that is to say, did not indicate any rise in volume during the advertising presentation. Mr. Minow said a few days ago that the engineers could be wrong, which is obviously true, and that the FCC is, anyhow, considering a rule that would limit the sound volume of the commercials to the sound and/or noise level of the "adjacent program."

The television stations and the network officials would be wise, we should think, to do what they can to disabuse the minds of their listeners of the idea that the volume is stepped up when the commercials come on.

The stations may be as pure as the driven snow on this one of course, but that does them no good unless the people think they are.

DURABLE, BUT NOT IMPREGNABLE

James Marlow New Congress No Ball Of Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new 88th Congress—opening Wednesday—will be no ball of fire.

There are two simple reasons: 1. Congress will stay conservative unless scorched by presidential heat or urgent necessity, like a bad economic slump. 2. President Kennedy won't apply the torch. He wants to be nice with Congress.

There will be the usual bickering and dickering. For instance, on whether to cut taxes and how much. There will be much solid work done, like last year, but of a routine, unsensational and noninflammatory nature.

THE PRESIDENT, as usual, will get pretty much what he wants in defense and foreign dealings, but not at home.

Anything very controversial at home—like medical care or public aid to education—seems out of his programs as Kennedy does this year.

Congress has been conservative without interruption, and this goes for both parties, since it passed the last piece of New Deal legislation, the Wage-Hour Law, in 1938. Since then it has moved in extraordinary and far-ranging ways in foreign affairs and defense. But it has only inched along on domestic problems.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of the prevailing conservative mood is the rumpus over the House Rules Committee. This group generally can keep the full House from voting a bill by simply not letting it out of the committee for House action.

However, a bill could be forced out of the Rules Committee if a majority of the House approved. Or under a little-used calendar Wednesday rule, committee chairmen could call up committee-approved bills on Wednesdays of each week without clearing through the rules group.

But since such moves are almost never made on controversial legislation, particularly of the liberal kind, it's fairly apparent the rest of the House shares the committee's conservatism.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

The dying wish of Kit Carson, famous frontiersman, was, "I'd like to have just one more dish of chili."

"No wonder" American women are so lovely. They spend about nine million hours a week in the nation's 110,000 beauty parlors.

To Your Good Health Social Drinking May Lead To Alcoholism

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I read an article recently that stated alcohol is not the cause of alcoholism. From my own unprofessional experience, I have seen too many alcoholics get sick and die from booze to accept this statement.

The writer didn't explain why all neurotics are not alcoholics. I also say it is true that sugar is not the cause of sugar diabetes. Many doctors believe, and so do I, that alcoholism is a physical allergy and some people can take it and others should leave it alone.

I wish some doctors would study the alcoholic physically while he is drinking, and make a scientific comparison between a social drinker and an alcoholic. I know a lot of alcoholics and have never met one who doesn't use the alibi system. Furthermore all the treatment for underlying emotional causes is not going to save the health of an alcoholic unless he stays off liquor. Personally I am a teetotaler—MRS. S.

Probably half of what you say is quite valid. But let's discuss the problem.

Yes, some people are allergic to alcohol, but an allergy doesn't make a victim crave more of what ails him. Does the hay fever victim go picking bouquets of ragweed?

Yet an alcoholic is the fellow who, after one drink, can't resist another, and goes on to disaster. That's not allergy.

As to studying alcoholics physically while they are drinking, this has been done. "Social drinking" may easily lead to alcoholism, and in many instances the line between the social drinker and the alcoholic is very fine.

You're right about your diabetes remark. When a person has diabetes he can't stand too much sugar, but sugar doesn't cause the disease. It is quite a different thing with the alcoholic. Nobody becomes an alcoholic until he places too much dependence on alcohol.

Alcoholics do have a penchant for alibis—so let's not give them another one that it's "all a matter of being allergic to alcohol."

And of course you are right that not all neurotics are addicted to alcohol. Many become addicted to something else instead, and I agree that psychiatric treatment won't cure an alcoholic unless he stops drinking, but if you help him with his emotional problems, you help him find the strength to throw away his alcoholic crutch.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 67, in good health and fairly active, but when I go to bed I get a nervous twitch in my leg and have to get up and walk about 300 paces before I can go back and not be bothered for the rest of the night. This happens every night. What can I do?—EDWARD V.

Well, sir, this sounds like a condition that has been named "jitter legs." We don't know the cause, but it occurs in older persons. It might be some circulatory disturbance. A short walk of 300 paces or more before you go to bed might end the problem, although I don't guarantee it. It may be that the trouble refuses to appear until after you have relaxed. Quinine in small doses at bed time may help. The condition is a nuisance but not particularly serious.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you think an eight-month-old baby is too young to take on a month's vacation to Florida? We would go by plane.—C. M.

No. Just keep the baby on his regular eating and sleeping schedule.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. Friendship, Then Scholarship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Australian student, Jeffrey G. Smith, will work toward a master's degree in civil engineering at Ohio State University because his home city of Perth turned on its lights to signal orbiting astronaut John Glenn.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee offered a scholarship through the International Road Federation to a highway engineering student in Perth in recognition of the city's flashing its lights during Glenn's space capsule passes in February.

IT IS DIFFICULT for us in the Northern Hemisphere to comprehend the geopolitical realities of southern and central Africa, where there are key countries and buffer states just as there are in Europe and Southeast Asia.

It would be just as intolerable for the European-run communities in the Rhodesian Federation and South Africa to see a hostile government in Katanga as it has always been for Britain to allow an enemy power to hold the Low Countries, and for the Free World to permit a Communist sweep through South Vietnam, where American troops are today engaged.

I HAVE FORMED these opinions from conversations with the Ministers of Defense in the Rhodesian Federation and in South Africa. I have kicked these ideas about with newspaper editors and reporters on the scenes there. Katanga and the Rhodesias lie in the so-called Copper Belt. They have a geological affinity as well as a common border. The capital cities of Katanga and Southern Rhodesia (Eisabethville and Salisbury), are only 500-odd miles over the roads. The Rhodesias are in the Central Congo (Eisabethville and Leopoldville), are separated by twice that overland distance. There is far more reason in geoeconomics and in tribal ties for Katanga to join the Rhodesias than to be sandbagged into joining the Central Congo.

THE U.N.'S military conquest of Katanga has no other excuse than a grab for material gain. This ought to shock the world's conscience as much as Red China's raid on India. There is no reason to believe that an unstable government as that of the Congo Government will spend its ill-gotten gain wisely, or that the appetite for conquest, under whatever aegis, is easily satisfied.

Southward from Katanga lie immense fields for plunder, all the way to Capetown. To this temptation to seize both a golden treasure trove and a going industrial complex is added the hatred which haven't peoples hold for the rich and the blood lust of racialism as memorably enacted by the Mau Mau in Kenya and by the celebrants of "independence" in the Congo. The Devil himself couldn't concoct a more fiendish trouble trap.

WILL THE FOUR to five million Europeans between Katanga and the Cape hold still as this menacing build-up increases? I am sure they will not and cannot. Tshombe, or his successor, can enlist "mercenaries" in the Rhodesias for the

Around The Rim Some Eat Big, Some Don't

Calory-conscious killjoys have just about ridged the world of its big eaters. It's probably just as well.

Developing one's table muscles might be great sport but trimming off the excess suet afterwards is pure torture.

It's very fashionable these days to venture into a restaurant and order a fat-free, starch-free meal, topped off by a sugarless dessert.

TIME STAGGERS ON, even if one does pause to have to take in his belt. It was only a few years ago a Pennsylvania miner named Phil Yazzdik put away 31 orders of fried chicken at one sitting.

Granted there's not much meat on a chicken's bones, that's still a lot of food. Just to show that feat didn't come after Lent, Phil applied himself and ate 75 pounds of food in one week—at the expense of a restaurant man who regarded marathon eating as a good publicity stunt, so long as he didn't have to supply the bicarb.

PHIL MADE a classic remark after he had put away everything but the table decorations.

"I'm hungry," he remarked. And how about a Seattle gent named

Dick Taylor, who in 1950 wolfed down 277 steamed clams in something like ten minutes. Or Joe Steele of Great Britain, who is just 5½ minutes gobbled down seven feet, ten inches of sausage.

MAX HINEL'S eating habits in Berlin have become legend. He is supposed to have shoveled 75 eggs down his gullet in less than 11 minutes.

Voltaire, the French writer, is supposed to have made a habit of drinking 50 cups of coffee a day while another well-known scribe, Dr. Samuel Johnson, swigged 18 cups of green tea at a single meal.

PSYCHIATRISTS will tell you that some people eat to excess to seek relief from anxiety, others just to gain attention.

"The people who overeat desperately need to have ultimate control over their environment," one authority stated. "Eating is the only way they can be absolute dictators."

The quickest way to become calory-conscious, methinks, is to watch the merry whirl of the cash register at the grocery store.

Culture Gains Despite Worry Warts

Worry warts we have always with us. Time was, and not so long ago, when the self-appointed guardians of culture with a capital "C" worried right around the clock because we Americans were crude customers (with a capital "C," too).

THEY WROTE BOOKS and filled magazines and Sunday supplements with laments that Boobus Americanus couldn't tell back beer from Johann Sebastian or his clavichord from a clavichord. There were laments that the limit of the national musical taste was "La Paloma" and any Sousa march and that its artistic grasp was bordered on the South by "September Morn'" and on the north by Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair."

Twenty years ago the self-anointed intelligentsia bemoaned the fact that you can lead a people to culture but you can't make it think. Today the guardians of the arts are wringing their hands not because they fear the current cultural explosion will engulf the nation but because they are terrified lest the masses engulf culture.

THERE IS AN unhappy conviction among the worry warts that somehow the masses, i.e., registered voters, are going to dilute culture. They fear that culture will not so much beef up the masses as water down culture until it is as impotent as an old, tired martini too long on the rocks.

Nonsense, say I. The cultural explosion now inundating this country has been in the making for at least two decades. When I was a child, I was lucky to make the acquaintance of good music on Red Seal records. Today there are thousands of symphony orchestras and chambermusic groups performing in communities that could scarcely support a player piano when Mama was a girl.

IT IS FRIGHTFULLY upsetting to a small, cultural elite that more Americans pay to listen to good music every year than attend baseball and/or football games. They see or pretend to see something blighting to the land in the thousands of little theatre groups that now perform in places that couldn't support a movie theatre not so long ago.

Innumerable opera clubs and advanced choral groups, in the eyes of this elite, are about to choke or smother or—somehow—do in culture with a capital "C." It doesn't seem to occur to this elite that individuals who start out by admiring Norman Rockwell may very well wind up with a crush on Picasso or Epstein or Miro. Or that the kid who begins his musical career by whistling "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" may eventually graduate to "Les Sacre du Printemps."

DOUBTLESS WHEN the cultural explosion hit Europe at the time of the Renaissance the cultural elite of that day feared the masses would dilute Botticelli, da Vinci, Fra Angelico, et al. But both they and the masses managed to survive very well, indeed.

So well, in fact, that cultured Europe has been looking down its nose at the uncultured New World for centuries. Now, at long last, we're catching up and it is my hunch that culture, despite its present popularity is safe. In addition, culture is a tough old bird that merely sharpens its beak on the masses. Pessimists to the contrary, they were made for each other.

Holmes Alexander Point Of Collision In Africa

WASHINGTON — The United Nations' blitzkrieg in Katanga seems likely to follow Newton's Law of equal reaction in the opposite direction and maybe the atomic fission law of uncontrolled chain reaction.

IT IS DIFFICULT for us in the Northern Hemisphere to comprehend the geopolitical realities of southern and central Africa, where there are key countries and buffer states just as there are in Europe and Southeast Asia.

It would be just as intolerable for the European-run communities in the Rhodesian Federation and South Africa to see a hostile government in Katanga as it has always been for Britain to allow an enemy power to hold the Low Countries, and for the Free World to permit a Communist sweep through South Vietnam, where American troops are today engaged.

They have a geological affinity as well as a common border. The capital cities of Katanga and Southern Rhodesia (Eisabethville and Salisbury), are only 500-odd miles over the roads. The Rhodesias are in the Central Congo (Eisabethville and Leopoldville), are separated by twice that overland distance. There is far more reason in geoeconomics and in tribal ties for Katanga to join the Rhodesias than to be sandbagged into joining the Central Congo.

THE U.N.'S military conquest of Katanga has no other excuse than a grab for material gain. This ought to shock the world's conscience as much as Red China's raid on India. There is no reason to believe that an unstable government as that of the Congo Government will spend its ill-gotten gain wisely, or that the appetite for conquest, under whatever aegis, is easily satisfied.

To this temptation to seize both a golden treasure trove and a going industrial complex is added the hatred which haven't peoples hold for the rich and the blood lust of racialism as memorably enacted by the Mau Mau in Kenya and by the celebrants of "independence" in the Congo. The Devil himself couldn't concoct a more fiendish trouble trap.

WILL THE FOUR to five million Europeans between Katanga and the Cape hold still as this menacing build-up increases? I am sure they will not and cannot. Tshombe, or his successor, can enlist "mercenaries" in the Rhodesias for the same reason that Britain obtained those 50 destroyers from the U.S.A. in 1940. People south of Katanga feel that Tshombe is fighting their battles for them. Tshombe draws for arms upon South Africa, he will find the arsenal of resistance to Pan-Africanism. In South Africa a new defense industry has sprung up to manufacture small arms and ammunition in large quantities, as well as sophisticated bomb-hurling missiles. South Africa is well-equipped with British-made Buccaneer bombers, supersonic in speed and designed for low-level attack, with French Mirage jet fighters and with Westmoorland heavy-duty helicopters for hauling troops and supplies. Should South Africa send an expeditionary force to the front, some of the most decorated officers and men of the Korean War would go into action, and they will not easily be beaten.

BOTH SOUTH AFRICA and the Rhodesias have recently made the kind of political decisions which foretell the will to fight. The New World Government is entrenched behind a strong mandate of confidence. A full-time Secretariat for home defense was established late in 1962. Southern Rhodesia, in an upset election last month, chose the Rhodesian Front, a white supremacy party much like Verwoerd's, to run the most-British of self-governing colonies. Sir Roy Welensky, Prime Minister of the Rhodesian Federation, and a firm friend of Tshombe, won't face an election for almost five years.

Thus, in Africa, the southward drive, spearheaded by the U.N. and bankrolled by the U.S.A., is about to reach a go-no-further sign, reading: Danger Ahead.

Dr. John Dunn of Pecos, one of the first to call the federal government's attention to the dealings of Billie Sol Estes, much-indicted and bankrupt promoter, was advised by Reeves County hospital officials that he has been removed from its staff. Dunn, 35, a native of Pecos, has been on the hospital staff since completion of his internship. Removal from the staff prevented Dunn from admitting his patients to the hospital.

Medic Says Crime Probes Caused Firing

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. John Dunn says he was ousted from the Reeves County Hospital at Pecos for his private investigation of crime in the West Texas town and not because he turned Billie Sol Estes in to the FBI.

The balding 35-year-old physician flew here from Pecos and held a news conference Sunday. His probe of criminal activities started while he was police surgeon in Pecos, Dunn said, and could result in charges being filed against a number of leading Pecos citizens.

He indicated the alleged wrongdoing involved narcotics violations but declined to elaborate, stating the evidence had been turned over to state and federal authorities and charges would be filed soon.

WANTS FILING SOON

Dunn said he hoped these authorities would file the charges before Thursday, when a district court hearing on his failure to be reappointed to the hospital staff will be held in Pecos.

The hearing was set after Dunn sought an injunction to prevent his use of the hospital, the only one in Reeves County.

Dunn said the fact that he tipped the FBI in 1960 about fertilizer tank mortgage transactions of Estes was not a major factor in the present squabble.

"Of all my enemies, Mr. Estes is the least offensive," he said. Dunn also said his membership in the John Birch Society, an ultra-conservative political group, was not a factor in his ouster from the staff of the county-owned hospital.

ESTES BACKERS

He said his most recent investigation into what he termed crime conditions in Reeves County did not concern Estes but it does "involve some of the people who had backed Estes."

Dunn said there had never been any complaints concerning his professional skill or conduct. He described his dismissal from the hospital staff as arbitrary, unfair and without justifiable reason.

While staff reappointments had always been handled at meetings of the doctors in previous years, Dunn said secret ballots were used last month and the ballots were turned over to the board of directors.

He said he understood the doctors voted 8-4 not to reappoint him and the board ousted him by a 5-1 vote.

Dunn said those who have opposed him in Pecos did so "long before Billie Sol Estes ever came to Pecos."

ANONYMOUS CALLS

He said he had received anonymous telephone calls threatening him and his four children. Some of his patients told him they had received anonymous phone calls offering to provide legal assistance if they would file malpractice suits against him, Dunn said.

The news conference was held at the home of Robert Morris, president of the Defenders of American Liberties.

Morris told newsmen his organization was interested only in civil rights aspects of the case. He said he felt the civil rights of Dunn and his patients had been violated in denying them use of the county-owned hospital.

Dunn said he would be represented at the Pecos hearing Thursday by former Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith and his son Mark Smith, Lubbock lawyers.

Ex-Professor Dies

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Stark Young, 81, a former University of Texas professor, died in a convalescent hospital Sunday. One of his novels, "So Red the Rose," published in 1934, was a best-seller in the mid-30s.

Gunman Held For Assault

DALLAS (AP) — A 100-pound gunman terrorized two airline stewardesses in their apartment, kidnaped one and raped her Sunday night.

He later surrendered to a night watchman, who turned him over to police.

The prisoner identified himself as Harold Hooker, 20, and told officers he is a jockey from Colorado. He was held without immediate charge. Detectives said Hooker and the stewardesses gave this account:

He went to the Northwest Dallas apartment of the young women, 25, and pointed a .22 caliber pistol to gain admittance after knocking at the door.

At his command, one of the stewardesses used scarfs to tie up the other and gagged her with a washcloth. In another room he was forcing one of his captives to disrobe when the other worked her gag free and started screaming.

Neighbors saw a gunman hurry the first woman, with hands still tied, to a car and flee. One witness tried to follow but, lost them in traffic.

They drove to a gravel pit northwest of the city, the captive stewardess fainted and the prisoner said he raped her. Police said a doctor's examination confirmed the assault.

After the young woman regained consciousness, her captor told her he would give up to police. He fired one shot into the side of the gravel pit and threw away his other cartridges.

As she re-entered Dallas he spotted a cruising private watchman, stopped and surrendered. Okla.

Ex-Con Escapes

QUANAH, Tex. (AP) — Ex-convict Zane Dallas, 28, held on a forgery charge, sawed free and escaped the Hardeman County jail Sunday. Police recaptured him two hours later at Altus, Okla.

Bracero Laborers Are Still Needed

LAMESA (SC) — Dawson County cotton farmers and Lamesa businessmen are divided in their opinions on how each fared with sharply reduced bracero labor and patronage since early last fall. Nearly all of them will admit, however, that the quality of work produced by the native laborer is highly unsatisfactory, and that bracero labor will be needed in a few capacities here for an indefinite period.

The Lamesa businessmen generally feel—with certain exceptions—that their profits weren't hurt by the loss of bracero customers. Some tight situations developed when the previous 22,000 bracero population was held to slightly more than 1,000 and the most urgent was the lack of irrigation hands.

Almost all irrigation farmers reported a need for watering hands, claiming they could not obtain native Latin Americans to do the work. Many found a shortage in tractor operators.

Ike Sees No Cuba Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba "wasn't any victory for us or a final settlement."

"We've still got Castro and communism," Eisenhower said in a copyright interview with U.S. News and World Report.

In forcing Soviet Premier Khrushchev to remove the missiles, the United States "was just telling this fellow, 'Don't push us any further. We're getting tired of it,'" Eisenhower added.

The former president, interviewed at his office in Gettysburg, Pa., before leaving on a California vacation, said he was delighted to see Khrushchev forced "to move back." The Communists, Eisenhower said, "will try anything, and if they see you are not going to resist, why, they'll just keep on pressing."

Second Half Construction Of Bypass Now Started

Construction work on the west leg of IS 20 loop has started and the contractors have set June 1964 as completion date, it was announced at a meeting in the office of Joe Smoot, resident highway department engineer, today.

Smoot had called the meeting, attended by contractors, city police department and city government officials, the highway patrol and others, to discuss plans for the handling of the mammoth road building job.

A similar meeting was held a few weeks ago when work on the east leg of the IS 20 loop was started.

The matter of proper police patrol in the area was discussed and the police, represented by Leo Hull, assistant chief, and Bruce Duan, public works director, Stanley Bogard, traffic officer, assured the contractor and the engineer of their cooperation.

The contractor for the west leg of the loop road is Parker & Parker Construction Co., Odessa. Contract for the structures to be built will be in the hands of E. M. Bailey, Abilene.

Dick Collier has contract to remove two buildings from the U.S. Experiment Station property and construct two new residences

Jump Expected In Ticket Sales

Ticket sales for the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet, now at 324, are expected to jump today as reservations are opened to the public. An estimated 650 persons are expected to attend the affair Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Goliad Junior High School gymnasium.

Police Have Routine Patrol

Except for routine calls, Big Spring police had a comparatively light weekend of activity. Two theft reports, three minor accidents, a reported fight, and drunkenness were on the activity sheets at the station.

A man was arrested late Saturday for shoplifting when he took a clock from Big Spring Hardware. He was apprehended after he left the store, when an employee notified police and gave a description of the man.

Two bicycles, owned by Tommy Henry, 509 Rannels, and Donnie Buchanan, Snyder Highway, were reported stolen from a downtown parking lot while the boys were at the show.

Locations of accidents, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: Northwest Third and Gregg, Sofia Ortega Alcantar, 407 NW 8th, and Francisco C. Flores, 702 NW 10th; 200 block North Gregg, Alexander H. Cevallos, 411 NW 8th, and three parked cars, owned by Cipriano G. Juarez, 506 NW 8th, Juan Garcia Santiago, 510 NW 11th, and Valentine Torres, Garden City; Third and North Gregg, Elois Stephens Palmer, 309 NE 2nd, and Eugene Thomas Sewell, 103 W. 1st.

A local hospital called police at 1:57 a.m. Sunday and said a man at the hospital appeared to have been in a fight. The man acknowledged being in a fight, but would give no further information and would file no charges.

Would Put 'Em To Work

To The Editor: Idle people are never happy, happy people are never idle. This is so true, so why doesn't our government make more people happy by making them work?

It looks wrong for a man to drive up in a new car and get relief money. Where can you find a man to dig post-holes or find a woman to come clean house or wait on the sick? They can get more money for unemployment than taxpayers are able to pay.

Our government is carrying half of the world on its shoulders and the taxpayers have to suffer for it.

E. W. Sawyer Rites Today

Earl W. Sawyer 79, a resident of Lamesa since 1949, died in a Big Spring hospital at 2:25 p.m. Sunday. He moved to Lamesa from Georgetown and was a retired farmer.

Funeral was slated for 3 p.m. today in Lamesa's First Baptist Church, with Rev. C. R. Mathis, Lamesa, officiating, assisted by Rev. M. B. Arbuckle, Lamesa Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Sawyer was born in Winters, Sept. 12, 1892. Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Edward Ainsworth, Midland, Mrs. Aubrey Williams, Heberville, Mrs. Wayne Vandever, O'Donnell, Mrs. Bailey Ellyson, Lamesa; three sons, Joe Sawyer, Lamesa, George Sawyer and Jimmie Sawyer, both of Lamesa; two brothers, Lee Sawyer, Fort Worth, Elmer Sawyer, Florence; nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Prison Population Reaches New High

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—The Texas prison population is at a record high of 12,105.

J. C. Roberts, chief of prison records, said 6,002 men and women were admitted to prisons in 1962. Of that total 494 had served previous terms. The number admitted was about 1,000 more than the number released.

The rise in the prison population has emphasized a housing shortage, said Dr. George Beto, general manager. He said some men live in the auditorium and other buildings designed for industrial use.

Some relief is expected this year when full use of the new Ellis Unit will be available to house 1,500 men.

Widow At Funeral

Mrs. Jack Carson, widow of the film actor who died of cancer, is in tears as she arrives on the arm of mortuary attendant Robert Richardson, at the Wye Kirk, O' The Heather Church in Forest Lawn Memorial Park at Glendale, Calif., for Carson's funeral services.

Carl Sandburg Is Honored On His 85th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—In Carl Sandburg's own words, it was "a beautifully tumultuous evening."

It was a brilliant literary dinner at the Waldorf Astoria, celebrating Sandburg's 85th birthday and the publication of his new book of 77 poems, titled "Honey and Salt." It was given by his publishers, Harcourt, Brace & World, with scores of celebrities in attendance.

When Sandburg dropped his short cigar to get up and read the title poem of the new book, he said the occasion was so rare and unforgettable that he could not express his feelings even in a poem.

But he declared the evening's fine remembrances "will help me live a little longer—perhaps a year or so."

He read in a voice that still remains deep and mellow. After an autographing session he remarked that "toward the end I felt like something the cat drug in."

A personal friend since 1927, William O. Douglas, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, made the first of many speeches and predicted that Sandburg will be remembered as long as Abra-

Rutherford Aide Gets New Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., has appointed Larry King of Midland his administrative assistant. King succeeds Dr. Paul Willis of Fort Worth who resigned King, 36, was administrative assistant to former Rep. J. T. Rutherford for 8 years. He had been a newspaper reporter in Midland and Odessa.

Cave-In Fatal

HOUSTON (AP)—A cave-in killed subcontractor Jimmy Dean Stephenson, 25, early today as he labored to finish a behind-schedule sewer laying job.

Head-On Crash Fatal To Three

HOUSTON (AP)—Three elderly women died and a fourth suffered grave injuries Sunday night in a collision of their car and a vehicle fleeing peace officers at high speed.

The head-on crash at the north edge of Houston killed Mrs. Marie Knight, 67, Mrs. Margaret Jackson, 70, and Mrs. Eloise Runnels, 72, all of Houston.

Mrs. Lillian North, 71, also of Houston, suffered internal injuries, a broken leg and numerous cuts.

The collision ended a chase in which Sheriff's Deputies J. N. Dechman and A. J. Randio told of firing several shots while traveling at speeds above 100 miles per hour.

They spotted the car, occupied by three teenage youths after police broadcast a description of juvenile suspects sought for three holdups netting a total of $5.

The deputies captured two 16-year-olds who suffered minor injuries in the crash. The third fled on foot across a field. Bloodhounds were taken to the scene and more than 100 officers searched for the fugitive.

The car was 40 to 50 feet in front of us," Dechman said. "Radio started shooting and I shot once, but you can't do much good at 115 miles per hour."

The deputies said the speeding auto swung into the path of the car in which the women were riding.

By The Associated Press
Texans noticed little effect Monday from a weak cool front which shoved across the state during the night, but a much stouter blast of winter was in prospect after midweek.

The dry norther dipped early morning temperatures into the 20s from the Panhandle to Texarkana and down to freezing as far south as Lufkin.

There were occasional patches of fog in Northeast Texas before dawn. Skies were partly cloudy over the southern part of the state and clear elsewhere.

No moisture was predicted until the latter part of the week when new long range forecasts promise much colder weather for all sections of Texas.

The Weather Bureau predicted light snow after Wednesday in the Panhandle, light snow or rain in North Central and Northeast Texas, and moderate to heavy rain in South Texas.
