Governor John Connally and his wife Nellie have big smiles as he takes the reins as Texas' 38th governor. Connally took the oath of office in Austin.

Connally Spells Out His Program For Greatness

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally let the legislature know today that he expects the state to take giant strides toward his goal of greatness.

"I am convinced that we stand at a critical crossroads today," Connally said in his speech for the 11 a.m. joint session of the 58th legislature.

Connally sketched a program that calls for 21 general recommendations to improve state operations.

For three other needs "of even greater importance."

For an eight point program of economy and efficiency in government.

Other than three of the emergency matters, Connally did not make specific money demands.

He said his office is still studying budget recommendations of former Gov. Price Daniel and he hopes to have his own recommendations soon.

He said he would suggest additional revenues for meeting them.

Connally said he would work with the legislature in an attempt to complete the program within the 140-day limit of a regular session.

Here are the high spots of Connally's 30-page speech:

Emergency measures:

1. Immediate hearings to determine how much the state should contribute to the screwworm eradication program this year.

2. Creation of a committee on education beyond high school with emergency appropriation of $50,000 to the governor's office to get the work started.

3. Emergency appropriation of $82,000 to the attorney general's office to complete investigation and prosecution of the slant hole scandal and the Billie Sol Estes case.

4. Emergency appropriation of $85,772 to reorganize the governor's staff, including abolishment of the Civil Defense and disaster relief coordinator and the traffic safety director.

5. Abolish the current Texas Industrial Commission and create an office of economic development with an annual appropriation of $200,000.

6. Establishment of a governor's committee on education beyond the high school; that the commission on higher education be reconstituted as the commission on excellence in higher education; enact a proposed constitutional change that would permit the governor to appoint at least one out-of-state resident on each state college board.

7. Abolish the Texas Aeronautical Commission.

8. Establish a commission on state government efficiency to study the executive branch.

GENERAL ITEMS

General recommendations included:

Authorize water development board to purchase water storage; additional funds for the Railroad Commission to prevent further slant hole drilling scandals; further study to determine if local authorities have proper guidance and equipment to fight crime; enactment of an effective small loan regulatory law; continuation of the governor's committee on aging and faster transfer of senile patients from state mental hospitals to nursing homes.

Encourage all social and welfare agencies to explore new ideas and techniques; support of enabling legislation for a Padre Island national seashore area with retention of rights to minerals under any state lands; submission of a proposed amendment to ban the poll tax, and enactment of a voter registration system; enactment of new laws to strengthen family sanctity including prohibition of future common law marriages; no remarriage by a divorced person within six months, and stronger requirements for child support; submission of a proposed constitutional change to provide equal legal rights for women; continue present highway program with State Highway Department given power to speed zone highways.

Construction of a legislative office building to provide offices for legislators; legislation to help preservation of historical landmarks at the local level; limit governor's term of office to two consecutive terms, effective with Connally's administration; thorough revision of the Constitution; legislation to regulate annexation of cities; increased study of job opportunities for persons over 40 years of age.

Legislature Asked For Action On Entire Spectrum Of The Law

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally asked the Texas Legislature today to pass legislation covering virtually the entire spectrum of law in the state.

Speaking at a joint legislative session less than 24 hours after his inauguration, Connally threw his weight behind what may be some of the most controversial proposals considered—eliminating sales tax inequities, passage of a loan shark bill, election law reform and women's rights.

A pre-session survey of legislators by The Associated Press showed tax revision, loan shark regulations and election law changes the likely top issues.

Connally did not tell the lawmakers how he proposes to pay increased costs resulting from his recommendations. He said he would submit his budget recommendations for the next biennium within a few weeks.

Connally's speech was the only item on the legislative agenda today.

The Senate convened at 10 a.m. and the House at 10:30 a.m. to allow introduction of routine resolutions and motions before meeting in the House chamber at 11 a.m. to hear Connally.

Connally and new Lt. Gov. Preston Smith had indicated that they will not hesitate to exert influence on the course of legislation when opportunity presents itself.

At a Monday night victory dinner, Connally said a prediction that he will have trouble with legislators because he doesn't understand or appreciate their importance in state government is not correct.

"Let me make myself clear on this point," he said. "I may have trouble with some members of the legislature—I hope not, but I may—but if I do, it will not be because I underestimated their importance."

Smith said in his inaugural address that "the lieutenant governor can and should be more than a parliamentary figurehead and an available substitute for the chief executive."

The House, already organized with committees named, began the business of lawmaking Monday.

day with drawing of bill numbers and introduction of several.

The Senate still must handle the important chore of committee appointments. Smith said he would have the committee assignments ready today or Thursday.

Aikin and Hazlewood are veteran senators and longtime friends of the lieutenant governor.

Smith named Sen. Bruce Reagan to Corpus Christi to head the Banking Committee.

The State Affairs Committee controls the action on passage of much of the Senate's important legislation, including tax bills and also possibly the loan shark bill.

The Finance Committee considers the all-important appropriations measure.

Unless there is a settlement, soon, the President will be required by the Taft-Hartley Act to report the situation to Congress along with any special legislative plans he might have to end the deadlock.

Kennedy ended a four-day dock strike last October by invoking the national emergency clauses of the Taft-Hartley Act. An 80-day cooling-off period was ordered, and the men went back to work. When the 80-day injunction expired without a contract agreement, the dockers resumed the strike Dec. 23.

Reynolds criticized both sides—the AFL International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) and the New York Shipping Association, which represents 145 shipping and stevedoring companies.

Reynolds said: "I think both positions are unrealistic under all the circumstances and must be modified substantially if we are to get a satisfactory settlement."

The new commission order allows a company to survey another firm's or individual's well after receiving commission approval and posting bond.

The order to Tidewater was the first granted under the new rule.

Harry G. Lewis Jr. of Longview, L&G owner, testified at the December hearing that the survey could ruin his $75,000-$100,000 well.

"I am making arrangements to get the facts on this matter to the attorney general for a policy decision at the earliest possible time," Wilson said.

This is just another project for The Women, who organized in 1961 because they thought the League of Women Voters too tame.

They campaigned successfully to end the outmoded job of county school superintendent in Jim Wells County. Later they made public the fact the superintendent had another job although he was still drawing salary from Jim Wells County.

Mrs. C. W. Hornbeck, one of the organizers of The Women, claims she found irregularities in 15 votes cast in the South Texas county.

Seven of them were marked by rest home patients in Premont, she said. Mrs. Hornbeck quotes a doctor as saying the voters were not capable of voting. The other eight ballots involved questions of residency, she said.

Smith Makes Appointments

AUSTIN (AP)—Lt. Gov. Preston Smith named Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris today to head the powerful Senate State Affairs Committee and Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo as chairman of the Finance Committee.

Smith waited only 10 minutes after taking the gavel to preside over the Senate before making his committee appointments.

Aikin and Hazlewood are veteran senators and longtime friends of the lieutenant governor.

Smith named Sen. Bruce Reagan to Corpus Christi to head the Banking Committee.

The State Affairs Committee controls the action on passage of much of the Senate's important legislation, including tax bills and also possibly the loan shark bill.

The Women kicked up a fuss. A grand jury was asked to investigate but took no action. Then The Women turned to the attorney general's office.

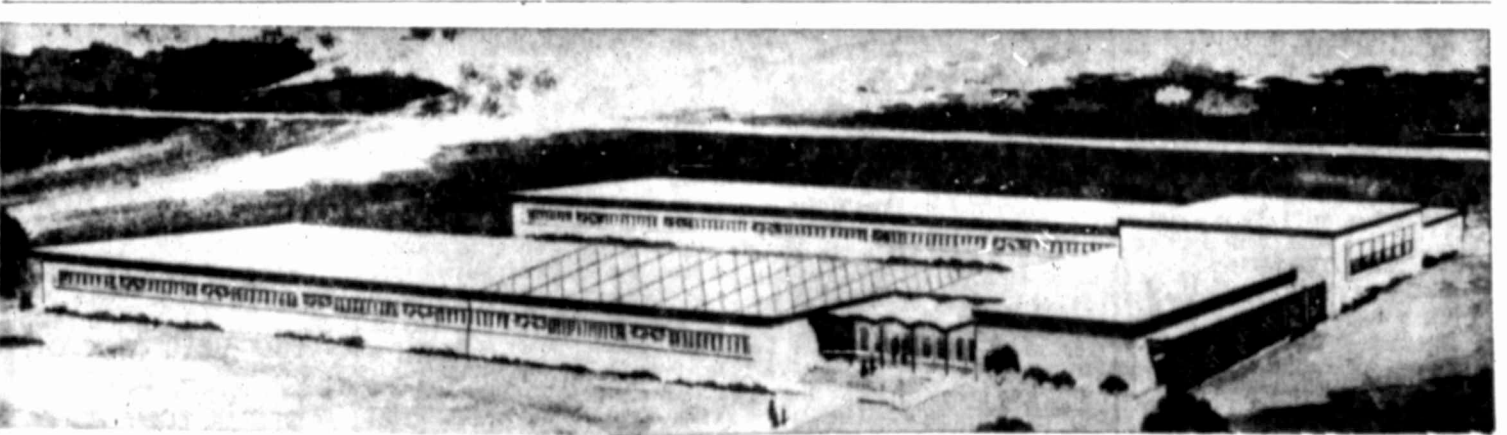

Mrs. W. W. Thomas and Mrs. Hornbeck, neighbors, got to chatting one day in early 1961. The Women developed from that chat.

"We thought of getting a League of Women Voters," said Mrs. Hornbeck. "But we decided that would be too tame."

The Women—the group now numbers 18—is a controversial organization in this town. Some people say the ladies should tend to their knitting or at least stay busy with household chores. Others back The Women.

"They're the only ones who have had any guts," one Alice resident said. "The politicians are afraid of these gals."

Mrs. Hornbeck said members of the group have been threatened. So have their families, she said.

Architectural plans for a new school at the Kentwood site were approved by trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Tuesday night and the date for opening of bids was set for 2 p.m., Feb. 12 at the Goliad Junior High School cafeteria. The segment

Bids To Be Opened On 5 Classrooms For Kentwood

Bids on construction of five classrooms at the Kentwood school site will be opened Feb. 12 at 2 p.m. in the Goliad Junior High School cafeteria.

Plans for the structure, drawn by the architectural firm of Atchison, Atkinson and Fox, were approved by trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The building will have about 7,320 square feet, leaving room for five classrooms, an office, restrooms and mechanical equipment. It will be of construction similar to that at the Marcy Elementary school. The classrooms will have asphalt tile floors, acoustical tile ceilings, fluorescent lighting and brick wainscot.

Start of construction will be Feb. 20 with 180 calendar days allowed for completion. Liquidated damages of $100 for each day over the contract period will be strictly enforced since the school system needs the building for the start of the 1963-64 school year.

This initial construction will be the first step in building a 24-classroom school at the site if a structure that large is needed in years ahead. Bids are being asked on a building which can be air conditioned later with an alternate on an air-conditioned building at the bid opening trustees will decide which bid to accept.

The school will be located on the northwest corner of the plot. The main entrance of this segment of the proposed school will front on Merry Drive. If the entire 24-classroom structure is eventually built, it will be of a U-shape, with the lower end of the U fronting on Ann Drive.

Trustees approved refunding two issues of bonds to save about $11,000 interest. Another money saver was reported by Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent business. He said that because of low losses in the past five years, the school was refunded $3,119.43 in insurance premiums and that a lower rate has been given for current insurance.

In a review of the benefits received by the school through Public Law 874, Sam M. Anderson, superintendent, pointed out that in the past four years $665,956 has been received. He urged continuation of section "b" of the law for another year. It expires June 30. If it is not continued the school stands to lose about $100,000 in revenue. During the 1962-63 school year the BSISD received $84,360 for students who live with parents residing on federal property and $105,335 for students whose parents are federally employed but live on privately-owned property.

Here's Your Deduction On The Sales Tax

AUSTIN — Texans can deduct from their federal income tax the amounts they paid on Texas sales taxes in 1962, the U.S. Internal Revenue Service has announced.

They can deduct the amounts if they itemize deductions as provided on Page 2 of income tax Form 1040.

The deductions are based on estimates of what the average person pays in the two per cent sales tax according to his income.

The following table shows the income levels and corresponding sales tax payments estimated by the revenue service:

Income	Sales Tax
Under $1,000	$5
$1,000-1,500	$10
1,500-2,000	13
2,000-2,500	16
2,500-3,000	19
3,000-3,500	22
3,500-4,000	24
4,000-4,500	27
4,500-5,000	30
5,000-5,500	32
5,500-6,000	34
6,000-6,500	36
6,500-7,000	38
7,000-7,500	40

The payments for the sales tax listed do not represent payments for the 1.5 per cent special motor vehicle resale tax, which would have to be computed separately by persons who paid it in 1962.

Persons who feel they have paid more sales tax than reflected by the estimates will have to substantiate their claims with receipts, the revenue office said.

Provisions for deducting the tax are on Page 2 of the income tax Form 1040, listed as "taxes state and local sales taxes."

Rain, Cold For Texas

Rain clouds built up across South Texas and freezing weather again nipped the northern two-thirds of the state Wednesday.

Pre-dawn temperatures in the cold belt nevertheless managed to stick a bit higher for the second day in a row.

Skies were clear over northern areas of Texas and at least partly cloudy elsewhere.

The Weather Bureau predicted occasional light rain or drizzle spreading northward in South Texas Wednesday night and Thursday. No change was expected in other sections.

A new set of long range forecasts promised another round of cold weather by the end of this week with occasional rain in most areas and possibly a little snow in or near the state's north edges.

Bond Denied For Roosevelt Carter

Walter Grice, justice of the peace, denied bond for Roosevelt Carter, 27-year-old Negro charged in the double slaying last Saturday night of Arthur Roland Williams, 26, and Jerry Lee Johnson, 19.

Charged with murder with malice, Carter was remanded to the county jail. His case will be laid before the Howard County grand jury which convened Jan. 28.

Williams and Johnson died of gunshot wounds Sunday night. Johnson was instantly killed and Williams died at the hospital.

Carter, a former Louisianan, has made a statement to police admitting that he fired the two shots which killed the two men.

Meeting Slated

An Explorer cabinet meeting has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the old Student Union Building of Howard County Junior College. All representatives and unit leaders are urged to attend this planning session.

TWO ADMISSIONS

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher, Church of Christ, 2806 West Highway 50

When people who want music in worship go to justify it, they tacitly admit two things: (1) That we need Bible authority for the things we do in Christian worship, and (2) That there is no New Testament authority for instrumental music in worship.

That is just what we have been saying all along. Christ has all authority (Matt. 28:18). We must speak only as the oracles of God, and not teach for doctrine the commandments of men (1 Pet. 4:11; Matt. 15:9). The Scriptures are our complete guide; nothing is lacking; and we must not add anything to them (II Tim. 3:16; Rev. 22:18). We need Bible

JFK Steers Clear Of Labor Troubles

By NORMAN WALKER, Associated Press Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is reported to be steering clear of proposing new methods for handling big labor strikes for fear of stirring up a hornet's nest which could delay his tax cut proposals.

Officials indicated today that is why the President's State of the Union message Monday touched only lightly on welfare and social plans. He wants to keep congressional attention focused on his chief 1963 legislative goal, a big tax cut.

Reopening the emotion-charged labor law issue, high administration sources said, could provide a diversion some congressmen could use to avoid coming to grips with the tax program.

Moreover, the current rash of strikes on the East-Gulf Coast waterfront, on newspapers in New York and Cleveland and in the Philadelphia city transit system has created an atmosphere not considered conducive to labor law revision.

However, Kennedy may be forced to introduce some specific legislation to deal with the 26-day dock strike.

Unless there is a sudden and unexpected settlement, the President is required under the Taft-Hartley law to report the situation to Congress with whatever special legislative plans he has to end it.

No President has ever had to do this in the 13-year Taft-Hartley law history. Early in 1960, when the record 116-day steel strike was about to resume, the threat of such special strike-ending legislation was enough to force a contract settlement.

The government's representative in the dock strike negotiations, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds, said that the White House probably would step in if today's session proved fruitless. He apparently meant Kennedy is ready to lower the boom in a Congressional message.

Sources familiar with both the docks and New York newspaper strikes consider that ambitions of the union leaders of both strikes are an important feature of the disputes.

Four Are Indicted In Ole Miss Probe

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A man described as a "professional agitator" and three others are under indictment as a federal grand jury delves deeper today into the University of Mississippi desegregation riot.

The jury—in its seventh day—has heard some testimony concerning six others, including former Army Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, who were arrested following the Sept. 30 riot which killed two and injured scores.

The four indicted Tuesday are Melvin Bruce, 35, of Decatur, Ga., a crippled truck contractor the jury called a professional agitator; Phillip Lloyd Miles and Kline Lamar May, both of Prichard, Ala.; and Richard Hays Hinton of Lucedale, Miss. All four are free on bond ranging from $25,000 to $5,000.

They were charged with interfering with a federal marshal performing duties and with attempting to obstruct or impede by threat or force the execution of court orders which directed admission of a Negro, James H. Meredith, to the university.

If convicted of the interference charge, the four could be sentenced to three years in jail and fined $5,000. The maximum penalty for the other offense is one year and a $1,000 fine.

They are scheduled to go on trial in May.

Two no true bills—failure to find sufficient grounds for indictment—were returned by the jury. The bills were not made public, however. Another grand jury could investigate the same cases later.

Walker during the outbreak in order to "break the back of the riot."

The newspaper said Love's statement was made in a documentary report prepared by the university at the direction of Chancellor J. D. Williams.

U.S. Atty. H. M. Ray of Oxford, said, "It is improper to comment at this time since the grand jury is still in session."

Court sources indicated the jury would continue dealing with the rioting for several days.

Walker, who appeared on the campus during the peak of the demonstration, was charged by the federal government with rebellion and insurrection, conspiracy to oppose the authority of the United States, interfering with federal officers in the performance of their duties and conspiracy to impede officers.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune reported that Dr. L. L. Love, dean of students at the university, had urged the arrest of

'Now Or Never' For Evangelism

DALLAS (AP)—"It is now or never with the vast multitudes in every part of the earth," a Baptist leader declared Tuesday night in an appeal for evangelistic crusades around the globe.

Dr. T. A. Patterson, executive secretary of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, voiced the plea at the convention's evangelism conference.

Heads Regime

LOME, Togo (AP)—After agreeing to head a new government, ex-Premier Nicholas Grunitsky took on today the burden of finding jobs for angry former soldiers who seized power Sunday and killed President Sylvanus Olympio.

Unemployment was expected to be Grunitsky's major task. Only 7 per cent of the 1.5 million people in this poverty-stricken West African state hold full-time jobs.

School Library Loses Novel

BAYTOWN (AP)—School trustees ordered the novel "Spirit Lake" removed from the high school library Monday. The book's Pulitzer Prize-winning author MacKinlay Kantor reacted caustically. Trustees said the book contained "objectional language." School officials were ordered to investigate other Kantor novels. Kantor, 58, said his "work doesn't need defending." He told the Houston Chronicle by telephone from his home in Sarasota, Fla. "I've written 35 books which have been published all over the world and translated into many languages. My work doesn't need defending. I'll say this though. I didn't write it for immature girls or immature adults but for mature readers." The novel is based on the massacre of white settlers around Spirit Lake in Iowa in 1857 by renegade Indians.

Bad Fashion Habit

Nancy Wickwire believes that the most destructive fashion habit is impulsive buying. "If you don't coordinate your wardrobe," she says, "you'll have a closet full of clothes and nothing to wear."

Impulse Buying Not Good Fashion Sense

By LYDIA LANE

NEW YORK—Nancy Wickwire's fashion life changed last summer when a sales girl was brutally frank and said: "Your dresses are much too frilly for a girl your height. You have ignored proportions."

"She went in search of a dress that would prove her point and it did. The moment I put on the dress she chose, I realized it was much more becoming than the red and white gingham I had picked out," Nancy told me.

"I am five-foot-eight without heels," Nancy revealed. "With a longer waistline my proportions are better. The dresses I had been wearing were too short-waisted, the neckline was cut in the wrong place, but the dress she chose had a lower neckline and I had to confess that I looked great."

Nancy is starring in "Seidman and Son" on Broadway. It is a comedy about the garment industry.

"When I was choosing my clothes for the play, I remembered what the sales girl said, and the deciding factor for every dress was proportions. It's funny that it took me all these years to find someone interested enough to help me find my type."

"Having an open mind toward suggestions is important, too," I told her. "A sense of fashion can be developed by observation, reading fashion magazines and having

DEAR ABBY

No Time To Cry 'Foul'

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend's coach is ruining my love life. He lined up all the boys on the basketball team and made them take a pledge. NO SMOKING. NO DRINKING AND NO GIRLS. Abby, does a coach have the right to do this?

I used to see Tom every night, but since he took the pledge I'm lucky to see him on Saturday night until midnight. Tom is a good athlete and I am proud of him, but I might just as well not have a boy friend as one who has to go to sleep with the chickens. What does a girl do in a case like that?

in-law may be an educated misanthrope. He has much to learn about manners. Warn your daughter that her husband's antisocial behavior could lead their happy marriage into a vacuum. And "genius" alone cannot overcome loneliness.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of a man and wife who send out Christmas cards from "Mr. and Mrs. So and So AND son." Their son is 49 years old!

DEAR GOT: It seems to me that the son is old enough to send his own. However — what's the difference either to you or me?

BASKETBALL WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: Tom sounds like a good egg even if he does go to sleep with the chickens. Be a good sport and see him when he's available. If you grumble, Tom might suggest a substitute who didn't make the team.

DEAR ABBY: Do a couple of million people a favor and ask them to get into their cars on a dark, rainy night and drive by their OWN homes to see if they can read their own house numbers. You wouldn't believe the number of houses that haven't a clue (that can be seen from the street) as to what the house number is.

CLAIRE

DEAR ABBY: My daughter has been married for three months to a man who doesn't say one word more to her father or me than he absolutely has to. If I say, "How are you?" he replies, "Fine." (Not even, "Fine, thank you, how are you?") He is not ignorant. He went through college on scholarships and is considered a mathematical genius. We are always friendly to him. He told my daughter he doesn't care about anyone else — only her. Do you call that intelligence? We are respectable people. What is the matter with him?

Budget Battle Is Shaping Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A thundering battle of the budget appears to be shaping up in Congress.

Its outcome may determine how much of President Kennedy's proposed tax cuts and welfare legislation will get through.

Kennedy will present to Congress Thursday a budget of around $99 billion. It will be accompanied by a Treasury estimate that the spending involved would add more than $10 billion to the deficit in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

No one in the administration regards it as a happy circumstance that the President will have to report so much projected red ink spending at a time he is asking Congress to slice about $6 billion off of tax receipts in the same year.

Snider Elected C-C President

Ted Snider, 34, former Big Spring radio station official, has been named president of the Chico, Calif. Chamber of Commerce.

He was elected a fortnight ago by the directors of the chamber at the same time approved a $28,163 budget for the year, a 5.5 per cent increase.

The reaction could affect his whole three-year, $13.5 billion-tax reduction program. It could spell painful progress for welfare proposals he said Monday in his State of the Union message "we cannot afford to postpone."

Budget balancing has been a highly touted but non-effective activity in Congress in the last few years when defense and space expenditures have been pushing through the roof.

There is clear evidence that the aid economy alliance of Republicans and conservative Democrats is being rewelded to oppose Kennedy domestic proposals such as those for establishment of a youth conservation corps, a domestic peace corps and large-scale aid to education.

Snider has been manager of radio station KPAY in Chico for the past two years since disposing of his interest in the Big Spring Broadcasting Company (KBST). He had served as manager of the Chico station for two years in the early 1960s. He is past president of the YMCA board in Chico, and is a member of the boards of the Salvation Army, the Butte County Cancer Society and the Rotary Club. He is married to the former Jane Julian of San Diego, Calif. and they have two children, a daughter, 10, and a son, 4. In Big Spring Snider was active in community and church affairs.

The President's program for Social Security-financed health care for the elderly falls into a somewhat different category. It would put an added tax take on individuals at a time when Kennedy is asking that their income taxes be lowered.

To Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, all of this adds up to a situation that seems to be made to order for them.

If Congress is going to cut taxes, they say, then why shouldn't they also clamp down on what they contend are costly programs that can wait a while? They have some solid backing for this position among conservative Democrats.

Kennedy has promised "a manageable budgetary deficit." He said this can be accomplished by "postponement of many desirable programs," absorption of federal pay raises by reducing personnel, termination of some installations and substitution of private for public credit in some instances.

European Peace Corps Is Urged

STRASBOURG, France (AP)—The Assembly of the Council of Europe recommended Tuesday night that the council set up an all-European peace corps in cooperation with the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Per Olaf Hanson of Sweden said the corps could coordinate the work of about 60 organizations already sending young volunteers to work in underdeveloped countries.

There is clear evidence that the aid economy alliance of Republicans and conservative Democrats is being rewelded to oppose Kennedy domestic proposals such as those for establishment of a youth conservation corps, a domestic peace corps and large-scale aid to education.

Khrushchev Asks Berlin Be Turned Over To U.N.

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev called today for establishment of West Berlin as a free city guaranteed by the United Nations with foreign troops remaining under the U.N. flag "for a certain time."

He urged the Western powers to "draw from the lesson of Cuba" in dealing with the problem of divided Berlin.

The Berlin issue must be solved, he added, "to ban the danger of war."

The Soviet premier, in address to 2,500 delegates and visitors at the East German Communist party's sixth congress, also called for conclusion of a German peace treaty which "will not bring gains to one side and losses to the other."

But Khrushchev again set no deadline for a peace treaty, saying that because of the Communist wall dividing Berlin the signing of a peace treaty is not the same pressing problem it was before Aug. 13, 1961—the date the wall started up.

Then, stressing his side of his bitter dispute with the Chinese Communists, Khrushchev said that all international problems "must be solved by negotiations only."

"The Socialist powers are for peaceful coexistence, settlement of disputes by negotiations," he declared. "We are interested in peace, not in war, because socialism will win."

Khrushchev assured the East German Communists that Germany will be unified and anti-Communist forces in West Germany "will be swept away."

Departing from his prepared text, he told the congress that the future of Germany belongs to Red East Germany. Waving his arm and grimacing admonishing Western newsmen to take down his words, he said the East Germans "will progress under the banner of Marxism."

NBA All-Stars Vie In Battle Tonight

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Professional basketball presents its showcase of jewels tonight in the annual East-West All-Star Classic but one of the coaches Fred Schaus of the West, was confronted with a problem.

The Los Angeles Lakers' pilot planned to start what he and most all cage observers believe would be perhaps the finest five in the history of the National Basketball Association attraction. Schaus named as his starting team Walt Bellamy of Chicago and Bob Pettit of St. Louis as forwards, Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco at center and Elgin Baylor and Jerry West of Los Angeles as guards.

It developed that Schaus' ideas met universal applause from all sides except the men who run the Eastern Division.

They contended Bellamy was named by the selectors as a center behind Wilt (The Stilt), that Baylor is a forward and should start there, and San Francisco's Guy Rodgers should open hostilities at his nominal position, a guard.

Schaus contends that once a squad is selected, he should be permitted to position his players as he pleases. He also thought the fans would appreciate seeing Baylor playing the backcourt against his opponent the number one Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals.

It could be also that Schaus feels that Baylor, who is still hampered by a trick knee, might be more valuable at guard than at forward.

The board of directors of the league were scheduled to make a ruling on the controversy sometime today.

The coach of the East, Red Auerback meanwhile, decided on his starters—forward Jack Teyman of Cincinnati and Tom Heinsohn of Boston, center Bill Russell of Boston and guards Bob Cousy of Boston and Robertson.

Game time is 8:35 p.m. (PST.) 11:35 p.m. (EST).

The host Lakers expected a sell-out crowd of about 15,000 in the Sports Arena.

The West is a slight favorite. If the West plays its talent as

Tom Pratt Hired As Texan Coach

HATTIESBURG, Miss (AP)—Tom Pratt, line coach at Southern Mississippi the past two years, said today he was resigning effective Feb. 1 to become defense line coach for the Dallas Texans of the American Football League.

School officials said Pratt would be replaced by P. W. Underwood, coach at East Tallahatchie High School last season Underwood, a 1956 graduate from Southern, played two years of professional football with the Hamilton club in the Canadian League.

Pratt, 28, is a graduate of Miami University where he played and coached four years.

Mike Love Named To All-America

NEW YORK (AP)—Five Texas high school football stars have been named to the 12th annual All American High School Football Team, selected by Scholastic Magazine, the national education publications.

They are backs Jim Helms of San Benito and Mike Love of Odessa, ends Kelly Baker of Dallas and Bill Sullivan of Houston, and tackle John Lagrone of Borger.

The 1962 squad was announced Tuesday. It is made up of players representing 39 states and the District of Columbia.

Good Weather May Result In Record Links Scores

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—If the current sunny weather holds up, the 1963 edition of Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf tournament starting Thursday could see some of the lowest scoring ever as Gary Player showed in preview.

The stocky pro from South Africa sizzled around the Monterey Peninsula Country Club layout in a 9-under par 63 Tuesday, a warm-up session two days after winning the San Diego Open.

Still when you talk about weather during the Crosby, the "if" is mighty big. Winds and rain aren't unusual and last year a snowstorm forced postponement of the final round.

Winds whipping off the ocean can play havoc with scores with Billy Casper's 277 in 1958 the lowest posted for this event at 72 holes. Last year Doug Ford and Joe Campbell posted matching tallies of 286 with the veteran Ford winning on the first playoff hole with a par.

After the blustery conditions of a year ago, all hopes are for continuation of the present pleasant weather.

Most of the pros were taking practice tours of the three courses played in the Crosby—Montrey Peninsula, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

Arnold Palmer, winner of the Los Angeles Open, played an exhibition at nearby Ft. Ord.

Schaus wants, the edge seems warranted. In league play such a combination averaged a fabulous 170 points per game.

But the East presents a formidable array of all-time stars of the NBA. Included are Cousy, who has played in every all-star game since it was inaugurated in 1951, and Robertson, the "Big-O," named the most valuable player in the 1961 contest at Syracuse.

It was a few hours later than High Noon, but down in the valley known as the Basketball Gardens, two quick-draw guys battled for shot. When it was all over, eighth-ranked Wichita had been knocked off by tenacious Tulsa.

That's the way it went Tuesday night as Wichita's Ernie Moore and Tulsa's Jim King sank key baskets time after time until the Hurricane sharpshooter hit the target twice in succession and dropped Wichita 85-83 in double overtime.

Moore connected for two foul shots with two seconds left in regulation time for a 67-67 tie, the first time Wichita had pulled even since the opening seconds. Tulsa built a four-point lead with 50 seconds left in the first overtime before Dave Stallworth and Moore evened it again.

In overtime No. 2, King connected on two layups that gave Tulsa a lead it never relinquished. King finished with 18 points while Moore had 15. The high scorer was Bill Kusleika of Tulsa with 27 and Stallworth with 25.

It was Wichita's second loss in the Missouri Valley Conference, where everyone winds up chasing Cincinnati, and two losses just about tosses out your title chances.

Drake's Missouri Valley entry moved over to Ames, Iowa, for the completion of its annual two-game series with Iowa State, and lost 69-65, keeping intact a 17-year streak in which neither team has been able to win both contests in one season.

In Southern Conference action, Bob Harris and Roger Bergey led William & Mary to an 80-71 triumph over VMI, and a three-point play by Kenny Legins put George Washington ahead to stay in an 81-71 decision over Richmond.

Boiling Green whipped Kent 88-71 and Miami of Ohio defeated Ohio University 54-47 in the Mid-American Conference.

In other games, Duquesne belted Toledo 67-53. Buffalo upended Syracuse 63-61 in overtime. Idaho beat Washington State 72-65. St. Joseph's, Pa., subdued Delaware 66-57 and Cornell thumped Colgate 84-65.

Wichita's Leonard Kelley and Tulsa's Gary Hevelone were ejected after a fight with 2½ minutes left in regulation time. Overall it was Wichita's fourth loss against 11 victories—the second in double overtime. Tulsa is 9-4.

Olympic Heads Drawing Fire Of AAU Men

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Both the president and secretary of the United States Olympic Committee were charged today with violating the rules of the International Olympic Committee by siding with the AAU.

Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, said both Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, U.S. Olympic Committee president and Asa Bushnell, the organization's secretary, had ignored Rule 24 of the IOC rules.

"This rule," said Hull, "instructs national Olympic committees to cooperate with national bodies affiliated with the international body. It also says that national committees must not recognize more than one organization and that must be the one recognized by the IOC."

The AAU is the affiliated governing body in the United States for track and field—the center of the controversy.

With the backing of the NCAA, a United States Track and Field Federation has been formed. It seeks co-sanctioning power with the AAU. Last November a peace meeting between the AAU and NCAA was held here and a coalition was formed. But it since has exploded amid charges and counter-charges.

Now, under instructions from President Kennedy arbitration of the dispute is scheduled to start Friday under the direction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"At the November meeting," said Hull, "Wilson said that the Federation must be recognized. He also said the same thing at a meeting with the State Department. He has compromised the trust given him."

"In the case of Bushnell, he wrote a letter to the International Amateur Athletic Federation, espousing the cause of the U. S. Track and Field Federation. The letter was turned over to us and when it was circulated to the Olympic Board, Bushnell offered to resign."

Wilson is the former commissioner of the Big Ten, and Bushnell currently is commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Wilson said he wanted to hear the accusations from Hull.

Bushnell, vacationing at Tucson, Ariz., said:

"At this particular juncture, I can offer nothing but an expression of hope that arbitration will be speedily successful. I think there's a real chance to get a satisfactory settlement this time."

Melton McMories, the Martin County fight enthusiast, has been authorized by the Armed Forces to film a professional fight of his choosing for screening before service men at military installations around the globe.

Melton will try to line up the best boys possible, hire a crew of pros to do the filming and editing, and then offer the movies to the Armed Forces for review and approval.

The military, of course, pays well for the service if it buys the product.

Permian Rips Cooper Five

ODESSA—Odessa Permian built up a 32-point lead and went on to topple Abilene Cooper, 70-52, in a District 2-AAAA basketball game here Tuesday night.

Permian is now 3-2 in conference play and 16-4 overall. Cooper is 2-3 within the league and has a 15-6 overall mark.

It was Wichita's second loss in the Missouri Valley Conference, where everyone winds up chasing Cincinnati, and two losses just about tosses out your title chances.

Drake's Missouri Valley entry moved over to Ames, Iowa, for the completion of its annual two-game series with Iowa State, and lost 69-65, keeping intact a 17-year streak in which neither team has been able to win both contests in one season.

In Southern Conference action, Bob Harris and Roger Bergey led William & Mary to an 80-71 triumph over VMI, and a three-point play by Kenny Legins put George Washington ahead to stay in an 81-71 decision over Richmond.

Boiling Green whipped Kent 88-71 and Miami of Ohio defeated Ohio University 54-47 in the Mid-American Conference.

In other games, Duquesne belted Toledo 67-53. Buffalo upended Syracuse 63-61 in overtime. Idaho beat Washington State 72-65. St. Joseph's, Pa., subdued Delaware 66-57 and Cornell thumped Colgate 84-65.

Wichita's Leonard Kelley and Tulsa's Gary Hevelone were ejected after a fight with 2½ minutes left in regulation time. Overall it was Wichita's fourth loss against 11 victories—the second in double overtime. Tulsa is 9-4.

Looking 'Em Over

With TOMMY HART

That smashing victory HCJC's mile relay team achieved in a special indoor race at Lubbock last week could be a tipoff on what local track buffs can expect of the Jayhawks this spring.

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis apparently has another fine team coming up. The Hawks, in beating Lubbock Christian by about ten yards, were clocked in 3:30.8. In most indoor meets last spring, the best university teams in this state weren't able to do better than 3:33.0 at that distance.

Don Carter is one of Lewis' best relay men and he didn't run for the Hawks in Lubbock. He suffered a minor leg hurt a couple of weeks ago and Red kept him on the sidelines. Three sophomores, Tommy Wise, Milton Marrow and Tommy Yarbro, teamed with a freshman, Don Teagarden, to fill the Lubbock date.

The Hawks will enter several events in the Lubbock Indoor Meet, which has been set for Feb. 2. Carter will probably enter the 60-yard dash while Wise, Kenneth Windham and Jerry Franklin (a brother to the former Jayhawk Eugene Franklin) will, in all likelihood, be in the high hurdles. The Hawks will probably also have someone in the 600-yard run and a team in the mile relay.

Present plans call for the Hawks to see out-of-doors action for the first time in Fort Worth the first weekend in March.

Buddy Travis, the HCJC basketball coach, says he never again will allow his team to play in a place as cold as was the Lubbock Christian gym last week.

It was almost as frigid inside as it was out doors and the Lubbock temperature was hovering near zero at the time. The electrical heaters in the LCC gym were, in theory, supposed to bounce their rays off the gym floor and heat it up. The theory failed.

The weather was so cold, the breaths of the players condensed. It would probably have been a simple matter for the officials to ice over the floor and let the athletes have a try at ice hockey.

Game officials for all of the Big Spring Steers' home football attractions next fall have already been selected by athletic director Don Robbins.

Here's a list of them: Sept. 13, Lamesa — Alton Bostick, Roy Peden, Jack Freeman and Barney Barnard.

Oct. 4, Wichita Falls — Pass Years, Elliott Chipps, Charley Needham and Don Thompson.

Oct. 25, Cooper — Peden, Jimmy Ray Smith, George Philbrick and Clifford Thompson.

Nov. 1, Midland — Quinn Connelly, Cotton Neely, Philbrick and Clifford Thompson.

Nov. 22, San Angelo — John Hart, Garvin Beauchamp, Bob Stone and Shorty Lawson.

Melton McMories, the Martin County fight enthusiast, has been authorized by the Armed Forces to film a professional fight of his choosing for screening before service men at military installations around the globe.

Melton will try to line up the best boys possible, hire a crew of pros to do the filming and editing, and then offer the movies to the Armed Forces for review and approval.

The military, of course, pays well for the service if it buys the product.

NFL Teams Book Practice Go Conflicting With AFL

DENVER (AP)—Dallas and Detroit of the National Football League announced Tuesday a pre-season game Sept. 8 at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, the same day that 60 teams in the north the American Football League's Denver Broncos open their home season.

The announcement drew an immediate blast from President Carter, who said the game would be ready until February, he said.

Jack Faulkner, Bronco general manager and head coach, said he had tried to schedule a game at Falcon Stadium and was told pro teams could not use the facilities.

A joint announcement from the Cowboys Lions and the Air Force said the Cowboys would be appearing in Colorado for the first time since they joined the NFL in 1960.

"We'll open against either the champion Dallas Texans or the San Diego Chargers on the same day... come hell or high water," he fumed.

Col. James E. Whitmore, deputy chief of staff for personnel at the Air Force Academy, who heads the football project, said the academy is sponsoring the game.

He said the game had been approved by Air Force headquarters in Washington. He said also that he hadn't seen any of the Broncos dates for next season.

"We attempted to find out but were told their schedule wouldn't be ready until February," he said.

Each has a plaque as a visual reminder of the Rajah.

Few men penetrated the hard outer core of Rogers Hornsby to become a friend.

One was Koshor, a cerebral palsy victim who did not walk until he reached the age of 16. Sports writers, encouraging Koshor's interest in athletics, introduced him to the Raj when Hornsby managed the Pacific Coast League Seattle Rainiers in 1931.

The brusque Hornsby took Koshor with him to the team's spring training camp as a clubhouse assistant. When the Raj moved on the following year to manage the St. Louis Cardinals he again took Koshor along.

Later the Chicago Cubs, on Hornsby's recommendation, hired Koshor as a scout. One player he scouted for the Cubs was Ron Santo, the team's prized third baseman.

San Francisco's Giants hired scout Koshor away from the Cubs. Last year the Giants cut their scouting force and Koshor was among those lopped from the payroll.

The recent death of Hornsby, added to the disappointment of a job lost, left the usually jovial Koshor grief stricken and almost inconsolable.

A bulky package came in the mail to Koshor a week after Hornsby died early this month. With it was a letter from Mrs. Hornsby.

"My husband wanted you to have this," the letter said.

U.S. Not Listening To 'No' By De Gaulle On NATO Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington officials are refusing to take President Charles de Gaulle's "no" as a final answer to its proposal that France join with the United States and Britain in forming a NATO nuclear striking force.

The hope here is that the French attitude eventually will change. The U.S.-British project is just beginning and will take several years to carry through.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball returned Tuesday from a week-long trip to Europe and said the United States is prepared to move ahead vigorously on formation of the force with or without French cooperation.

Other officials said privately that De Gaulle's stand does not command support generally in Western Europe. They also said that even though the United States intends to move ahead it does not intend to close the door to French cooperation in the future.

Ball is reporting to President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk on the results of his visit to Paris, where he talked with the 15-nation NATO council, and to Bonn where he met with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. It was understood that he was able to report the prospect for general cooperation of the NATO nations are good in spite of the French stand.

"Of course," he told newsmen upon arrival in Washington, "it is a matter of regret that the French government has apparently decided not to cooperate."

He described his talks with Adenauer as very successful.

Arabian Ships Still Ply Ancient Routes

By JOHN COLLIER

MOMBASA, Kenya (AP)—Lifting gently to the Indian Ocean swell, the dhow Iqbal sailed through the gap in the coral reef and pointed her carved and brightly painted bow toward Mombasa Old Port.

As she glided to her mooring under the Old Port's centuries-old walls, her giant shiraa (sail) was run down and the crewmen knelt on their prayer mats giving thanks for a safe voyage—18 days from Muscat.

Iqbal was the first of the ocean-going dhows to arrive in Mombasa this season on the northeast trade winds that have been bringing Persian Gulf traders to the east coast of Africa for 3,000 years.

In three or four weeks more than 100 such dhows from Aden, Muscat, Khabura, Qatar and Bahrain will pass Fort Jesus, built in the 17th Century by the Portuguese, and dock at this port.

The dhows bring beautiful carpets from Bukhara, Shiraz, Tabriz and Isfahan, oils in tall earthen jars, dried fish and shark, unrefined flamingo pink salt, dates, and hand-woven shawls.

Before the dhows — many of them as much as 100 years old — leave their sun-baked home ports, their hulls are smeared with fish oil to help them slip swiftly through the water.

There was a time when the dhows came to Mombasa and Zanzibar for slaves brought to the coast of East Africa by Arab slave-traders. Iron rings to which slaves were tethered while waiting to go aboard can still be seen at Mombasa Old Port. A well that was for the slaves is still in use, its edges surrounded by a low wall, worn smooth.

These days, the dhows take back cargoes of poles for house-building, charcoal and coffee. But the coastal tribes still send their young girls into the forests from December to April. The girls of Kenya's Giriama tribe are highly prized in the harems of the gulf Arabs.

March is the most dangerous month for the girls because the southwest monsoon begins to blow and carries the dhows back to the desert shores of the gulf.

An ocean-going dhow has about 170 tons displacement and has a crew of about 30, including the nahodha (master).

Three years ago the dhow trade was falling off rapidly, and the number coming in to Mombasa was less than 50.

Since Somalia and Tanganyika have attained independence there has been a revival in the trade.

From December until March East African ports — Mogadishu, Kismayu, Lamu, Malindi, Mombasa, Zanzibar, Dar es Salaam, Kilwa and Mikindani — are even more picturesque with the presence of dhow crews wearing cloak-like burnouses and daggers in silver embossed scabbards.

Integration Leader Gives Blessing To Church Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King has given his blessing to an interfaith campaign against racial barriers. But he says each church "should remove the yoke of segregation from its own body."

He also said church members should bring minority families into their communities and help them find homes.

The Atlanta Negro clergyman, a leader of the non-violent wing of the forces of integration and president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, outlined his views Tuesday.

He held a news conference at the National Conference on Religion and Race, a meeting of 600 members of Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic organizations who are drawing up a program of action.

Dr. King said a joint program by the major faith groups would "speed the day when an integrated society is a reality," and would encourage Negroes to follow a non-violent strategy.

He said after the unprecedented four-day Chicago convention which ends Thursday, every church and synagogue should develop a plan of action.

"If the churches and synagogues take a forthright stand," he said, "there will be integration."

He said they should "go out of their way to integrate their congregations even though their neighborhoods have not been desegregated."

He also proposed that they withdraw investments from companies that practice discrimination in hiring.

Dr. King approved of President Kennedy's recent executive order banning discrimination in federally assisted housing. But, he said, it is not strong enough and should be broadened.

Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Peace Corps, addressed the conferees Tuesday night and suggested that church members could tithe their time and form volunteer religious units to work to eliminate racial barriers in the United States.

Shriver, brother-in-law of President Kennedy, raised a question of why clergymen cannot map out specific programs for their congregations.

Questions On Tax Cut

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The President's tax package offers just what many business leaders and organizations have been asking. Whether Congress will give it to them is another matter. And whether it will work as tax-cutting advocates hope is still another.

What President Kennedy proposed in his State of the Union message is a cutback in corporate income tax rates to the 47 per cent of pre-Korean War years and a trimming of the top bracket of individual income rates to 63 per cent from the present 91 per cent. The top levy hits very few taxpayers but presumably hobbles big investors.

Many businessmen see a catch in all this. The President proposes at the same time to close loopholes and broaden the base of taxation, to bring in about $3.5 billion a year. The catch is that some companies and industries might end up paying more to the Treasury than they do now. Some of these treasured loopholes are pretty big.

The President says the corporate rate cut should save business $2.5 billion a year. Along with the $2 billion which could be saved if all take advantage of recent changes in depreciation allowances and investment credits, this figures out to $4.5 billion a year relief for business. The President hopes and expects that this sum would be spent in modernization and expansion of the nation's industrial plant.

But here, too, there could be a catch. A firm decides to expand or buy new equipment only if it can see a demand for the resulting increased output of goods. As long as many companies already have excess capacity, the urge to spend may be weak for a while. If conditions were different, if demand were strong, the same firms might borrow to expand, with or without a tax cut.

Business also has a close interest in the proposed $11-billion cut in collections of individual income taxes by trimming the rates. If everyone spent all this money as soon as it was added to take-home pay, business would stand to profit handsomely. But like business firms, individuals can fail to increase spending just because the paycheck goes up.

Many have already satisfied the desire for big ticket items which sparked most of the postwar years. Many are saving for the education of the huge numbers of children approaching high school and college age. Others have taken on debts in recent years they'd like to reduce.

And a final, but not necessarily least, misgiving that many financial and industrial leaders have toward the President's program is that it isn't tied to a cut in government spending.

Castro Denounces Communist Split

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro denounced today the split in the ranks of world communism and issued a fiery call to the Latin American masses to rise in revolution.

Crouching over his microphones with his eyes flashing, Castro declared it is the duty of revolutionary leaders to rally the masses for combat.

"It is the masses who make history and to make history it is necessary to bring the masses to battle," he shouted in a televised speech monitored here.

"We don't deny the possibility of a peaceful transition although we are still awaiting the first case," he said.

Addressing a congress of American women meeting in Havana, Castro told the delegates their duty is to fight.

The congress, which drew delegates from many American nations — reportedly including the United States and Canada — has been conferring for five days on women's rights and revolutionary duties. Observers were on hand from Europe and Asia. Castro's talk climaxed the meeting.

If Cuba had awaited a peaceful transition, he said, the nation still would be under the dictatorship of Fulencio Batista.

"That is what they did in Algeria and that is what the patriots are doing in South Viet Nam. It is necessary to throw the masses into the fight with direct tactics," he added.

Castro said Cuba had no intention of "throwing wood on the fire" of the Communist split but feels a duty to fight for unity with the methods of Marxism-Leninism.

The liberating movement is fighting in Angola, in Viet Nam, in Latin America and this fight needs all the united force of the Socialist camp," he said.

Castro did not mention Red China or the Soviet Union by name but left no doubt that he had reference to the deep ideological differences which have arisen between the two major Communist powers.

He attacked the U.S. sponsored Alliance for Progress as reactionary and antiquated.

"It will not prosper because it is a policy of exploitation," he said.

Dog House Fire Is False Alarm

Somebody may be in the dog house for making a call to Big Spring firemen about a "dog house fire" at 1606 Oriole at 11:25 a.m. Monday. It was a false alarm.

Four other runs were made to minor fires during the day. A grassfire was extinguished on a vacant lot at 301 Anna; another grass fire extinguished at West First and Bell; a light fixture burned because of a short in wiring at the House of Charm, 1507 Scurry; and a fence caught fire from burning trash at 2306 Alledale Road. Slight damage resulted.

New Blast Of Frigid Air Hits Nation's Midsection

By The Associated Press

Another blast of sub-zero cold in the nation's midsection today indicated no immediate relief from a prolonged spell of frigid weather.

Unseasonable temperatures, except in some Southern sections, chilled most other parts of the nation.

The below-zero belt widened. Arctic air spread from the Midwest into the Northeast and temperatures dropped to sub-zero marks in parts of Ohio, northern New England and sections of New York State.

Low readings in the Northeast included -12 in Caribou, Maine; -10 in Lebanon, N.H., and Watertown, N.Y., and -9 in Massena, N.Y., and Old Town, Maine.

The most intense cold again was in the Midwest. In Wisconsin the mercury plunged to 35 below zero.

That compared with Tuesday's low of -44 and the nation's coldest reading, -50, in Black River Falls, Wis. Record readings for the date were reported in many cities.

Skies were generally clear in the extreme cold belt although snow flurries fell in sections of the Great Lakes.

Temperatures were at or near zero in most of New York state although New York City reported 22 above.

Warmer weather was on the way for much of southern Texas westward across the southern plains region and into Southern California. The cold earlier had caused millions of dollars damage to citrus and vegetable crops in Texas and Southern California.

The cold and snow in the last week caused 60 deaths from exposure, asphyxiation, fires and traffic accidents.

Early morning readings were in the teens in Tennessee and northern fringes of Alabama and Georgia and mountain areas of North Carolina. Freezing marks extended to the extreme northwest tip of Florida. The 60s were reported in extreme southern Florida.

Warrants Issued For Past-Due Parking Tickets

Warrants are being prepared by the Big Spring police traffic division and will soon be served on persons with delinquent overtime parking tickets.

"We have started preparing warrants on a big pile of the delinquent tickets," Assistant Chief of Police Leo Hull, said Tuesday morning. "We will begin serving them as soon as possible to get the delinquencies cleared up."

"We have noticed that several people, who find parking tickets under their windshield wipers, tear them up and drop them in the street," he continued. "They don't seem to realize that we have two copies of those tickets at the police station with all the information we need. It is from these copies, which have not been paid, that we are preparing our warrants."

An overtime parking ticket is an actual summons," he continued, "and may not be ignored."

Minimum Fine

Jerry D. Gann, charged with DWI Tuesday morning, was sentenced to serve three days in the county jail and pay a fine of $50, plus costs. He pleaded guilty before Judge Lee Porter in county court. Wayne Burns, county attorney, recommended the minimum penalty which Judge Porter applied.

The office of Sid Richardson Carbon Company gained a new face during December, 1962 when Walter Ray Trim moved in as office manager. He replaced George Hall, who had filled the position since the plant opened.

Trim is no newcomer to Big Spring, however. He had worked since January, 1961 as credit clerk. Prior to that he lived in Odessa.

He is a graduate of Waco High School and later, of Baylor. He received his degree there in 1953 before spending two years with the U. S. Air Force. Most of this time was spent at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The Trims live at 1417 Eleventh Place. They have two children. Outside activities include work with the Boy Scouts and at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church, where Trim is an usher and a Sunday School teacher.

A Devotional For The Day

Your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. (Luke 12:30.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we praise Thee that Thou dost take care of the fatherless and widows — yes, all Thy children. Teach us to look to Thee more trustingly. Use us to help to those in need of help any kindness we can for Thee. In Jesus' name we ask it. Amen. (From The 'Upper Room')

Agreed—But How?

There is virtual unanimity that the President's proposal to reduce taxes is a good idea.

There is a considerable divergence of opinion on how and what basis to bring this about.

One school of thought holds that a substantial cut in personal income taxes will leave the individual with more funds to spend or to invest in stocks or savings. In either event the additional money finds its way into the channels of trade, stimulating business activity in general. As a result of the greater volume of business income, the government stands to increase its revenue because the percentage is spread over an increasing base.

Another school holds similarly that more income left for the individual and corporation to spend is that much more to be applied to trade in one form or another. But the fundamental difference is on the other side of the coin.

The first school would not disturb the present level of government spending, might even increase it on the premise that this, too, is part of the stimulus to greater dollar turnover.

The other school holds that cuts should be accompanied by, preferably matched by, reduced spending. If not, it is pointed out, there occurs a larger margin between what the government takes in and what it pays out. This deficit becomes an addition to the public debt. It is something owed to tomorrow for an inconvenience or sacrifice not undertaken today.

In times of great emergency or of imminent peril, survival becomes paramount. Once the crisis is past, the debt thus created should be absorbed or managed toward retirement.

These are indeed critical days, but a consuming emergency is not yet forced upon us. It is therefore not wise to cut taxes without accompanying them with commensurate reduction in government spending. The tax cut is desirable, but a cut in spending is the thing which should justify it. If this means some sacrifice, then let our generation have the mettle to make this sacrifice.

Turn On The Heat

Recent events once more have focused attention to what surely must be unsavory conditions in the flats section of north-west Big Spring. This is not to say that this section has a monopoly on places and conditions which breed trouble and violence, but the boiling point seems to be lower there.

This should command renewed attention of law enforcement officers and others who are part of the machinery for upholding the law. Some strong efforts have been made in this direction, but the results indicate that the cleanup job is far from over.

The decent people in this part of town will welcome such pressure. Decent people in the other areas of town will give officers, prosecutors and courts their support.

Let's not shrug off these conditions and by pretending or hoping they will go away. Right now they eat on our civic pride; left to fester, they will someday eat on us.

That's how Lewis D. Gilbert, self-appointed one-man stockholder vigilante committee, inscribed a copy of Texas Instruments, Inc. recent proxy statement. In this instance, he cannot be accused of overburdening facts.

THE OFFICERS and directors of Texas Instruments are asking stockholders to create for them what stockholders can't create for themselves. They want a fair godmother committee to waive a margin wand so that they—the executives—can capitalize on the decline in Texas Instruments' stock from a high of $206 7/8 a share in 1961 to a low of $49 last year. It's now around 60.

When Texas Instruments was one of the glamor babies on the New York Stock Exchange, its high vaulting movements brought comfort and joy to officers who held options to buy stock at $28.50 and $37.75 a share. They needed no fair godmother then. They were masters of their destiny, captains of success.

AS THE STOCK advanced in Wall Street, the price on additional options likewise rose. Some day Texas Instruments would hit 500 maybe, perhaps an even thousand $0. An option at $178.75 a share was a genuine incentive.

Then the glamor burst. The "amateur pocketbook" of options was sorely depleted. Texas Instruments options lost their cash-and-carry value.

TO SOOTHE the amateur pocketbook of officials, directors have latched on to an idea developed by the Aluminum Co. of America in 1958. A fair godmother committee would cancel the old options and issue new ones at prices escalated downward to the fall on the New York Stock Exchange.

Rational Options are granted to executives as an incentive to work conscientiously and remain with the company. But when options lose their cash-and-carry value, this incentive seemingly disappears. Yet, you could argue the other way. That executives ought to be so humiliated by the drop in the stock below option prices that they would work harder to get the stock up to where it had been—and so make their options valuable.

J. E. JONSSON, Texas Instruments chairman, offers stockholders this justification of the fair godmother committee:

"Because of declines in the market value of our common stock, options held by many key persons do not fulfill the plan's basic purposes.

"While the Board of Directors has the power to cancel outstanding options by mutual agreement and grant new options based on current market values, the Board believes that action of this nature should be taken only pursuant to an amendment of the Plan.

IF STOCKHOLDERS approve the proposal, they will pay a double penalty for their beneficence.

First, they reduce the price of stock to officers and directors, who already get substantial pension and profit-sharing benefits.

Second, as taxpayers, they will be giving to officers and directors a free ride in the stock market at the 25 per cent capital-gain tax rate. Stock options don't take up their stock—put up cash—and the market price is well above the option price. They are well-padded, if not absolutely protected, against a fall.

STOCK OPTIONS started out as heads-I-win, tails-I-can't-lose bounty to corporate officials. Now, with a one-way Wall Street escalation clause added, the option has become a heads-I-win, tails-I-winner blessing.

Remember the joke about the executive who, on hearing about twilight sleep doing wonders for labor, complained to his physician: "Haven't you got anything like that for management?"

The physician now can offer the escalated stock option.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The survival of the United Nations as an executive organ for maintaining and enforcing peace, as envisaged in the charter, now hinges on whether it can and will enforce a General Assembly resolution demanding that all delinquent members meet their financial obligations to the U.N. and pay their dues and assessments.

The charter provides that members who refuse to pay or are two years in arrears "unless their deficiency be due to conditions beyond their control" shall be deprived of their vote.

The question now is whether the assembly will impose the prescribed penalty. The United Nations is already saddled with a deficit of some $130 million, largely due to the Congo and Middle Eastern operations. The $200-million bond issue keeps these operations going, but even if the full amount is finally raised, this source will be exhausted by July 1. Unless the delinquents pay up, therefore, the United Nations faces bankruptcy.

A second resolution, taking account of the relative economic position of each member, would increase the peacekeeping assessments on the great powers, notably the United States, which already pays 47.5 per cent of the total cost. But even such a reapportionment would help little because the principal delinquents are two great powers—France and Soviet Russia. The French argue, with a pseudo-logic that misses the point, that the General Assembly is not a world government and therefore cannot obligate a sovereign state or tax it against its will. They forget that the assembly can regulate its own membership. The Russians, who themselves voted for the Congo operation, simply call on the "colonialists and aggressors" to pay for it all.

If the assembly does not adhere to its own resolutions, the organization becomes worse than useless anyway. The dilemma is an extremely difficult one, but the choice must eventually be made. The assembly must face the fact that its failure to enforce the resolution by suspending the voting rights of delinquents will mean an end to the present peacekeeping operations, will preclude any such operations in the future and will reduce the United Nations to a mere debating society on the road to the fate of the League of Nations.

Almost Like A Return To Normal

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was almost like a return to normal, after being away for a while, when French President Charles de Gaulle rebuffed both the United States and Britain this week.

The year 1963 had been going along much too quietly to give anybody an easy feeling. It wasn't natural.

Besides, while the Allies were just doing their usual mulling and muddling around with themselves, their two big antagonists, Russia and Red China, were abusing each other so hard it looked like a split.

THIS WAS a switch and, for the Allies, a wonderful way to start the new year. They were sitting back and enjoying it, most of them seemed relaxed.

But De Gaulle put everything back into balance at his news conference Monday. Even his timing was excellent for causing the most discomfort to anyone inclined to mention how nice things were, like President Kennedy.

He sounded off just a few hours before Kennedy was to deliver his State of the Union message to Congress.

It was a heart warming Kennedy message, too, for those who longed for Allied brotherliness and would have been content to let the Communists monopolize both harshness and disunity.

The message had been written and distributed, although not delivered, before De Gaulle messed things up.

"HOW FARES the grand alliance?" asked Kennedy rhetorically, blissfully unaware when he wrote the lines of what De Gaulle had in mind. "Free Europe is entering into a new phase of its long and brilliant history."

He said: "A new phase of interdependence and unity is taking shape."

"Defying the old prophecies of Marx, consenting to what no conqueror could ever compel, the free nations of Europe are moving toward a unity of purpose and power and policy in every sphere of activity."

Besides, if De Gaulle hadn't butted in before Kennedy could make his speech, the President would have had almost exclusive attention around the world. Nothing much else was happening that day, or so it seemed.

DE GAULLE did two things by making his jarring pronouncements just a few hours before Kennedy spoke.

1. He forced the President to share the headlines with him and in some places, no doubt, took them away from him completely.

2. He put some of the Kennedy statements—particularly the business about unity—way out of focus.

W. C. Fields never stole a scene better.

The British have been trying to work out arrangements to get into the European Common Market with France and other allies. But De Gaulle said the British didn't fit the bill for getting into the market—yet.

He indicated that if they're nice boys and make concessions to him, he might agree to letting them in. This was a little trying for the British to endure.

And Tuesday five of the other European nations in the trading bloc rallied behind Britain against the threat of a blackball from De Gaulle against the British.

THE FIVE were West Germany with whom De Gaulle seemed to feel an unusual closeness, and Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

This wasn't all De Gaulle did. He said France will not join the British-American agreement made at Nassau late last year to establish a multinational Polaris missile force.

Double-Talk Lesson

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're going to be a social success in 1963, you'll have to pep up your double-talk.

Practice makes perfect in double-talk, the art of saying what you don't mean—and meaning what you don't say. You can't trust to on-the-spot inspiration. You have to keep everlastingly at it.

For the beginners (and those who have failed to keep up their oral exercises in this form of non-communication), here are a few everyday examples of double-talk—plus their literal translations.

"We thought our daughter would feel more at home in a small community college." (The admissions people at Vassar, Radcliffe, Bryn Mawr, Wellesley and Smith thought so, too.)

"Maude is one woman who does not mind telling her age." (Not that is, since she quit having birthdays 10 years ago.)

"Geer, boss, I'll never be able to understand where you get all your ideas." (You must be stealing them from somebody besides me.)

"Come right in, Joe. Long time no see." (I warned the receptionist to tell this guy I was away on a three-month trip.)

"If they give you any trouble at all, don't hesitate to use my name." (That'll get you in even more trouble.)

"It was a real bargain, dear, and imagine—I got it for only $10." (Ten bucks down, and a year to pay.)

"I think you'll enjoy the corned beef sir. It's our chef's special for today." (It didn't go very well yesterday or the day before.)

"Frankly, Jim, if you hadn't told me, I wouldn't even have known you had new dentures. (I thought all the members of your family sounded like that when they chewed celery.)

"Your husband is so witty, Frances. Really, he should be on the stage." (Or in a scaffold for the word I'm groping for.)

"That child of yours is as smart as a tack." (And I'd like to be the first to put a hammer to him!)

"Man, you're really a sight for sore eyes." (Mine hurt every time I look at you.)

"Geer, Mabel, you got a million-dollar baby." (Too bad it's wrapped around a 10-cent mind.)

"Manhattan's a great place to visit, but I'd sure hate to live here." (I looked and looked for a job, but couldn't find one.)

"I insist, pal, this one's on me." (Then you get the next one, old buddy after the rest of the crowd arrives.)

"I'm sorry I can't tonight, George, but I could go out with you Friday." (You do get paid on Fridays, don't you?)

"What kind of a woman do you think would marry you merely for your money?" (My kind!)

"Stick with me, kid, and you'll always travel first class." (After all, there's only one fare on the subway.)

"Of course, John, I'd like nothing better than to meet your parents, but—." (But wouldn't we have more fun visiting your cousins at the zoo? It's open on Sundays, too.)

"Well, congressman, glad you got re-elected. Good to see you back again. Washington wouldn't be the same without you." (I'll think of his name in just a minute.)

'Soot Spots' In The Eye Are Harmless

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about "soot spots" I am 40 and noticed them four years ago. I have almost perfect vision but these spots bother, especially when I get nervous. I have been to three eye doctors and they say nothing is wrong, and that this condition is not unusual.

My questions are: Will they cause you to go blind? Can they be treated?

What causes them?—S. H.

"Soot spots" is an old term. "Flotoers" is another. And some annoyed possessors have devised other and sometimes unprintable names for them.

They aren't worth fretting about.

The eyeball, you know, is full of fluid and some tiny particles, a part of the fluid chemistry, becomes a "vitreous floater." This doesn't constitute a disease condition.

If a spot is fixed in one place and doesn't float, that's another matter. It can represent an eye disorder. But not the floater.

Will it cause blindness? No.

Can it be removed or treated? No, again.

They possibly occur a little more often, or seem to, anyway, in people who need glasses, but they can affect anybody.

"S. H." betrays an important point in that they "bother me, especially when I get nervous." That's par for the course, too. You are nervous or tense and notice the "floater." The more you try to follow them around in your field of vision, the more conscious you become of them.

When something else happens to seize your attention, you forget about the floaters and don't realize they are there.

I admit they can be as much of a nuisance as an itch. I've cussed at them myself when they've floated around while I was trying to study something through a microscope.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is meant by sugar in the urine? Could it be caused by things you eat, or by an infection?—M. M.

Sugar in the urine means that diabetes has developed unless proved otherwise.

Diabetes is not caused by anything you eat, although we know it occurs often in overweight people. The cause, in fact, is not known.

In a case of mild diabetes, infection can cause sugar to appear in the urine when, otherwise, it might have been kept under control. The infection, however, does not cause the diabetes.

If you have sugar in the urine, see your doctor for a blood sugar test and begin getting treatment. For a full discussion of the condition, send 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for my booklet, "Diabetes, the Sneaky Disease."

Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to know how to get rid of freckles. I'm 13—John M.

You can persevere with lemon juice or peroxide, with the hope of bleaching them, but it won't do much good. Neither will anything else. A few freckles are very attractive.

Around The Rim

Just Plain Frienship

There is the story of the psychotic who was greeted on the street one day by a friend who cheerily observed: "Wonderful day, isn't it?" The psychotic brooded over that a minute, then said to himself: "Now I wonder what he meant by that."

Well, a lot of people are like that, sort of uneasy and sure in their relationship to their friends. They have a knack for making suspect every gesture or act on the part of another. Every chip off the log of human kindness must have a bug under it.

THEN THERE ARE those who regard friendship as a superficial accommodation between people who are more than speaking acquaintances. Be cordial, but don't get involved. Be solicitous but not concerned. Keep the code, go through the routine, be courteous, but make civility the limit.

The difficulty here is that such people are building a wall of self protection. Maybe they're not sure of themselves, therefore they are unsure of others.

HERE AND THERE we find a few who are looking out after self in another way. They recognize in the mechanics of friendship a means of serving their private interests. Their approach is simple: "What's in it for me?" Every favor performed is consciously or unconsciously designed to stimulate reciprocal favors at the right time and place. It becomes important to know the right people, those who, can lend social prestige, who can confer a place of power and popularity, or who open the way to economic advantage. The anatomy of friendship becomes give and get—or don't give. No one of this inclination can examine his soul and feel secure. He judges the motives of others by his own, and he is naked.

I'M SORRY for folks who question or crassly use friendship. They miss a lot out in life.

What fun is there in having or being unless you can share it with someone? What difference does it make if others do not respond to your acts of concern? What have you lost if someone does not regard you with equal warmth and genuine affection? What has it cost you if someone does use your friendship to their own advantage? Are you diminished because someone failed to respond to your gestures of friendship?

GIVE YOUR hand in friendship to every man, and you'll be rich in contentment. Everywhere you go you'll be able to see people all around whom you sincerely regard as your friend. How they regard you will not even enter your mind.

Just Give Everybody 27½ Per Cent

As the final weeks of 1959 raced toward 1960, every licensed seer of press, radio and television confidently predicted that in the '60s we Americans would all be—automatically—as rich as kings.

The seventh decade of our century would surely have the Midas touch. No one would have to trouble to make money in the basement because the gold-backs would chase us down the street and automatically force their way into our pockets.

AND THEN LOOK what happened in Wall Street and the market place! Why, it was even hard to make the stuff in the basement!

This capsule history of our more recent life and hard times is mentioned only because the situation seems to shed a bit of light on a current situation. That much-touted tax reduction, much-less tax reform, we've been hearing about so constantly for the past 12 months and so persistently for the last six seems to be fading like the promise of every man a Croesus.

NOW IT APPEARS that we may have a tax cut, and then again, we may not. And certainly that retroactive tax cut to January 1, 1963 just isn't in the cards, although in June, 1962, it was as certain and twice as rosy as lime and tide.

As for tax reform, you will note that the Congressional experts are shaking their lolling heads and opining that this is a very complicated business, sir, and a very complicated business, indeed.

IT TOOK US years to work our way into this jerry-built tax bind, sir; may take us years to break our way out. Grave situation, sir, fraught with legislative complexities.

My Congressman tells me that tax legislation is going to be a real cliff-hanger in the present session of Congress.

that for the next six months it will be nip and tuck as to whether the legislative Marines arrive in time to save Pearl White, i.e., tax legislation, from the Apaches. It's a long time to be squirming on the edge of a seat!

SO I AM about to suggest a neat way to revise and reduce taxes in one swift, combined action. There is no possible chance, say all the nation's business publications, weekly financial letters and tip sheets, to close the tax loophole known as the depletion allowance on natural resources, which amounts to 27½ per cent for oil.

Why close such a loophole? Especially since such action is impossible. Why not spread it around? My plan to revise and reduce taxes simultaneously is to spread that 27½ per cent depletion around to all taxpayers.

IF IT'S GOOD enough for the oil industry, it's good enough for me. That's my motto. And far from begrudging it to the oil men, I admire it and them so much that I want to share this "grace and favor" proviso of the tax law.

Oil men are very sensitive about this 27½ per cent write-off and are usually on the aggressive defensive about it. But if all citizens enjoyed this benign tax situation, we could gladly help the oil industry defend it, with our lives if necessary.

IF CONGRESS will only take my suggestion seriously, it can slice the Gordian knot of revision-reduction, share the wealth, satisfy the electorate and make every day Christmas Day for the voter.

There's only one thing wrong with my plan: It's so simple that Congress is bound to regard it with suspicion. So don't hold your breath or start counting those tax-reduction eggs until Congress at least gets on the nest.

Congress And Kennedy-Watching

WASHINGTON — Over the Christmas holidays, with "nobody in town," it was a temptation to wonder if the big front window, the paper mill, the wind-making machine that is the U. S. Government are really necessary. And now, with the President the vice president, the Cabinet and Congress all back in orbit, a nostalgia for those silent, relatively untroubled days sets in. Is all this ruckus necessary?

Wouldn't the country wag along a little better if the Kennedys went sailing more often, and if Congress met only in leap years?

ONE REASON for the feeling surely is that the President thinks he can get along without Congress, and Congress is getting the notion that its main purpose is not lawmaking but Kennedy-watching. Another is that the new crop of senators doesn't inspire much excitement, only an initial curiosity to see what they look like and where they sit in committees and on the floor.

THE PRESIDENT and his kept men on the Hill have no earthly reason to fuss with the Senate and House rules except to grease the administration program by rendering Congress progressively less potent and more perfunctory. Senator Kerr's death was inhumanly treated as a political event—now who's going to handle the President's tax bill?—and his funeral in Oklahoma was tainted with wheeking and dealing over his successor. One of the first orders of the smoke-filled Democratic conclave was a plan to schedule seven breaks, amounting to 90 days between now and August, when the lawmakers would be in recess and out of the President's hair.

SUSPICIOUS legislators reacted unfavorably to this idea, which the Majority leadership floated. Senator Scott said that seven recesses would give the administration a chance to launch Seven Crises. The Skybolt cancellation and the Cuban Ransom deal took place when there was no chance for examination or opposition on the floors of Congress. Kennedy-watching will run simultaneously with economy-watching in this session, for Republicans and Southern Democrats are saying that business lag and unemployment are cutting into JFK's sure-shot re-election prospects. Nobody wants a depression, you know, but . . .

OF THE 12 NEW senators only Ribicoff of Connecticut seems likely to be a headliner this year. He is known to be grumpy toward the White House for neglecting his ambitions to be Attorney General and Associate Supreme Court Justice. The new man from Hawaii, Dan Inouye, is colorful but a good soldier, and Ted Kennedy has vowed maidenly quietude for a while. Two newcomers, Edmondson of Oklahoma and Mechem of New Mexico, backed into the Senate as lame-duck governors on what amounts to self-appointment. McGovern of South Dakota made little of his two-year hitch as administrator of Food for Peace. That leaves Brewster, Bayh, Dominick, McIntyre, Nelson and Simpson—none of them with reputations that would indicate first-year pyrotechnics.

Maybe the country needs a stretch of dullness. The signs are that it will be provided.

Mounted To His Cabin

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Casey Jones of ballad fame was born John Luther Jones at Jordan, Ky., in 1864.

At 17 he got a railroad job at Cayce, Ky., and later always boasted he would get his train through on time.

His final and fatal test came April 30, 1900, when he drove Old 382, the Cannon Ball, through a thick fog near Vaughn, Miss., and collided with a freight train.

Casey ordered his fireman to jump and stuck to his throttle, saving the passengers and losing his own life.

After returning to Germany, Maurer sent his Tombstone friends a barrel of Bavarian beer. Town officials immediately scheduled a beer party in the famed OK Corral.

Rotarians Hear Silage Talk

Rotarians were shown a short film on cutting silage and placing it in a pit Tuesday when Harvey Adams gave a classification talk on the use of silage. He was introduced by January Program Chairman Elmo Wasson.

Adams said silage was being used more now than formerly because modern machinery made it possible to cut and place it in the pit, trench, or upright silos.

"Cattle will eat silage all year, regardless of the grazing available in pastures," he said. "They like it. The cattle get out of silage just what you put into it. If full food value is in the stalk or grain when it is cut it will be there 10 or 20 years from now when the cattle go to eat it. It will also keep well."

"Delivery of the silage from the pit to the feed trough is the big problem now. There was a time when feeders stopped using silos because of this. The upright silos provide an easier means but the pit or trench silos force us to use some method of digging it out."

Adams also said better food value remains in silage when the skip-row method of planting is used. He said this gave assurance of more moisture.

President Ben Johnson announced that Rotarians would meet at the Officers Club at Webb AFB next Tuesday.

Explosion Kills Tulia Youngster

TULIA (AP) — An explosion killed a small boy, injured his mother and wrecked their farm home Tuesday evening. The blast, attributed to escaping liquid gas by Sheriff Darrell Smith, injured Jerry Dickerson, 2, fatally. He was pinned in the debris as walls and roof of the five-room frame house collapsed. This mother, Mrs. Leon Dickerson, suffered serious injuries as she was hurled from a doorway into the yard. She had stepped to the door to ask her husband about a strange odor. They moved into the house last week.

Cuban Exiles Locked In Intramural Battle

By THEODORE A. EDIGER
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The "battle of Miami" rages among splintered Cuban exile groups despite President Kennedy's plea for unity.

About 30,000 Cubans assembled in the Orange Bowl heard the President urge exiles "to submerge those differences which may now disturb you, to the united end that Cuba is free."

DIDN'T HEAR
Because of the differences mentioned by Kennedy, thousands of others did not hear his plea. They stayed away. A rival political group was conducting the ceremony honoring ransomed invasion prisoners.

No signs of healing the rifts are apparent.

The schism separating some of the 200 anti-Castro bodies is profound. Deep-rooted division prevails particularly between former—and present—followers of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista and men who risked their lives to overthrow him only to split later with Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Exiles say once they are in a free Cuba, elections will settle everything. But how could binding elections be held in exile under existing conditions? And how could unification be achieved without them? Answers have not been found.

RECOGNITION
The Cuban Revolutionary Council, formed with U.S. cooperation to mount the April 17, 1961, Cuba invasion, is tacitly recognized by the U.S. government and some others, as the ruling exile organization.

The council has bitter foes as well as staunch supporters among the 300,000 exiles, more than a third of whom live in Miami.

Rival groups ask such things as why Council President Jose Miro Cardona, as Castro's first prime minister, permitted the Cuban executions that brought grief to thousands of families.

Friends reply that whatever delusions Dr. Miro Cardona had about Castro's revolution, he became such an enemy of it later that he sent even his son on the expedition to invade Castro's island. The son, Pepe, was one of the freed prisoners honored at the Dec. 29 Orange Bowl ceremony.

OWN THOUGHTS
Another, Enrique Llaica Jr., son of a leader of the exile committee that sponsored negotiations for their freedom, had thoughts of his own. Llaica said about 100 of the invasion brigade companies were among exiles boycotting the meeting.

Llaica charged that Dr. Miro Cardona, who as council president was on the platform with Kennedy, was "using the brigade for his own benefit." The Kennedy appearance, Llaica said, "was for the good of the personal policy of Cuban politicians." The council denied playing politics.

Llaica charged on Jan. 8 that the invasion brigade was let down and said "explanations are needed on some points."

Llaica, 37, said: "We received various promises, and then in effect we remained abandoned at Giron (Giron Beach, the invasion point). We were just left to our fate."

He said neither U.S. nor Cuban leaders had been effective in action against Castro. Llaica said he and two companions had resigned from the brigade.

Llaica said, "We must force some action and we shall do so."

He did not outline his plans—allegedly made while in the Cuban prison—but asserted there must be a great force organized outside the United States.

While "Batistianos" or Batista followers and "arrepentidos" or "repented ones," as former Castroes are called, are in the front lines of the battle of Miami, the rift widens.

GREATLY AT ODDS
For example, Cardona and Manuel Ray, one-time associates in Castro's Cabinet, and later working side by side as council chiefs launching the invasion to overthrow Castro, now are greatly at odds. Ray, former minister of public works, pulled out his People's Revolutionary Movement (MRP) from the council after the expedition failed. Later he left MRP.

Ray has formed a new organization, the Revolutionary Junta. Thus exile groups multiply.

Even Alpha 66, which calls itself a nonpolitical action group, felt the political scissors. A conservative faction withdrew in protest against a working agreement with the Second National Front of Escambray, an underground body headed by Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, one of Castro's mainstays in the war against Batista. The dissident group organized "Commandos L-66."

UNITY IN WAR
Invasion brigade leader Manuel Artime said: "War experience has united us. We are trying to make this unity for military action more extensive."

Dr. Miro Cardona urged anti-Castro groups to unite by joining the council coalition of 11 organizations. But along West Flagler Street, it was business as usual in exile party offices. In general, leaders expressed themselves in favor of unity, as long as the others join their group.

Ted Kennedy Chairs Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., presided over the Senate Tuesday for the first time.

The 30-year-old brother of the President was asked to take the presiding officer's chair while Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., was making a lengthy speech opposing efforts to revise the Senate rules.

Few senators were in the chamber at the time and few persons in the visitors' galleries. Other freshman senators previously had taken a turn at presiding.

U.S., Portugal Reach Accord

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Portugal have reached an understanding permitting continued use by the United States of important air bases in the Azores, the Defense Department said Tuesday.

It will stand until a permanent agreement can be worked out.

The U.S.-Portuguese agreement expired Dec. 31 in the midst of negotiations for a new pact.

Mrs. Ballard Dies Tuesday

Mrs. Nova Scotia Ballard, 76, resident of Big Spring and Howard County since 1885, died in a Sweetwater hospital at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday. She had been in failing health for several years and had been living in a rest home at Roscoe for the past year and a half. She became seriously ill during the Thanksgiving holidays and was hospitalized.

Mrs. Ballard was born June 6, 1886 in Kansas. She moved to Howard County from Santa Fe, N.M. in 1905 and settled in the Elbow Community, where she lived until 1922 when the family moved to Ross City. Her husband died in 1932 and she moved to Big Spring.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. C. Walker, Silver, Mrs. W. K. Scudder, Brownfield, Mrs. Mildred Smith, Lubbock; two sons, E. M. Ballard, Yeso, N.M., J. S. Ballard, Menard; two sisters, Mrs. Mary J. Groves, Glendale, Calif., Mrs. Mahala Danielson, Catalina Island, Calif.; a brother, John Johnston of Idaho; eight grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were set for 3 p.m. today from the Wesley Methodist Church. The Rev. C. W. Parmenter officiated, assisted by the Rev. Royce W. Mack, pastor of the Wesley. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Realtors To Meet Thursday

The Big Spring Board of Realtors will have its annual banquet and installation of officers at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Cosden Country Club.

Pat Garrett, president of the Lubbock Board of Realtors, will be the principal speaker and will install the officers.

George Elliott will succeed W. J. (Bill) Sheppard as president of the board. Other new officers will be Marie Roland, vice president; S. H. P. P. D., secretary; Thelma Montgomery, treasurer.

Plaintiff Wins Compensation Suit

A judgment for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in 118th District Court Tuesday afternoon in the case of Julian Larez vs. Travelers Insurance Co. Larez had sued for compensation for the loss of the use of his left hand in an industrial accident.

Docket Wrong

Due to an error in the docket entry in the office of the district court clerk, it was erroneously reported that the case of Phillip L. Howard vs. Mary Nell Howard, was a divorce action. In actuality, the suit is in regard to custody of children. The Howards have been divorced for some years. The Herald regrets that it mistakenly reported the nature of the case.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS To: Robert Hugh Webb Defendant (s). You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff (s) Petition at or before ten o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of the time herein provided for the filing of this citation, same being Monday the 25th day of February 1963, at or before ten o'clock A. Cities Considered For Shrine Clinics

WACO (AP)—Imperial Potentate George M. Klepper of the North American Shriners said here Monday seven Texas cities are considered as possible sites for Shrine clinics for children who suffer third degree burns.

The cities are Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Amarillo and Lubbock.

He said the center site will depend upon a city having a medical school of Class A accreditation. Amarillo and Lubbock have no such schools but are being considered for a branch of the University of Texas Medical School, Klepper said.

The Shrine will establish three burns clinics, costing about $3 million each. Klepper said it would cost about $1 million a year to operate each clinic.

Another TV Feud Seems To Be Boiling

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It's been a long time since a fiery television feud started blazing. The last in-tramural battle was when Jack Parr walked off his show in a rage at his boss.

Now a little conflagration has started. On Thursday last a comedian on NBC's "Tonight Show" starring Johnny Carson mentioned casually that he had been watching "The Merv Griffin Show," a program on the same network. However, when the "Tonight Show" went on the air that night, two words—"Merv Griffin"—had obviously been erased from the sound track.

This is called "blooming" and is normally used to erase offensive, libelous or slanderous language. It is rarely used to eliminate references to programs even on rival networks.

So on Friday, an annoyed and sarcastic Griffin talked about it on his own show.

"I was bloomed out of a show on the same network I work for," he confided sadly. "Is Merv the new four-letter word? Their mistake might have been to turn on the sound for the rest of the show, you know."

This turned into an embarrassing situation. An NBC spokesman explained that the two-word bloop was the result of "a mistaken, emotional reaction" by Perry Cross, producer of the "Tonight Show."

"He was disturbed about newspaper reports — completely unfounded and untrue — that NBC was unhappy about the 'Tonight Show' and planned to replace Carson with Griffin," he continued. "He's sorry he did it. But the important thing is that he did it without the knowledge of NBC or of Carson."

Carson is away on a short vacation from the show.

Although the "Tonight Show" under Carson's leadership has not been generating as much as it did in the old turbulent Paar days, it seems to be holding its own nicely in the ratings. They were a year ago when Paar was around—some 25 per cent of the audience watching Television that late at night.

But anyway, a good blazing feud adds zest to viewing.

Tommy Sands Looks Back At Fast Rise And Fall

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Nobody ever had a faster rise and a faster drop in show business, said Tommy Sands, looking back from the wisdom of his 25 years.

The good-looking singer is back on these shores after a two-year absence. He came to make a television film called "All Ashore," which will be an Alcoa Theater spinoff — that's trade talk for a prospect for a future series.

If the pilot sells, and Revue has high hopes that it will, Sands and his wife, the former Nancy Sinatra, will be moving back to Hollywood. If not, they'll continue their New York residence.

As he finished making the film, Tommy reflected on his past glories and future hopes.

"Did I make any mistakes? Sure, lots of them. Boy, how I would have done things differently."

"But who knows" — everything might have turned out exactly the same. I might have gone up and gone right down again. Maybe that's the way it was meant to be.

"I quit school and came out here when I was 18. What I really wanted to do was to go New York and study. But suddenly I fell into things and before I knew it, I was a big name. I hit it big for 5½ years, then the bottom fell out."

Sands' fame was based on the enormous but fickle teen-age following. When that disappeared, he was faced with the problem of building his career on a more stable foundation. After his marriage to Nancy, he abandoned his Hollywood haunts and went to New York. He figures he earned $300,000 a year at his peak, collected no more than $5,000 in 1962.

"But you know something — we live very well on it," he said. "We've got a one-room apartment on 55th Street that we fixed up real nice. It's under rent control, so we aren't paying a fortune for it. We do a lot of traveling and that's not expensive — not the way we do it. We go to the out-of-the-way hotels and restaurants in Europe, which are more fun, anyway."

"I'm happier now than I have ever been. I'm doing the things

ON THE SHELF

THE LAST CAPITALIST.
By Robert F. Mervish. William Sloane Associates. $4.95.
By The Associated Press

The scene and subject of this story are a bit offbeat. The author is an accomplished narrator who demonstrates that his unusual story can illuminate the salient features of the human condition. The result: an interesting book.

The Russian port of Murmansk, in the far north and often under Nazi bombardment, was for a time during World War II the only means of getting supplies to the Russians, and the supply convoys had to fight a crippling battle to get through.

Murmansk had its gangs of war-orphaned boys, running wild as scavengers, the Soviet authorities were too busy with more urgent problems to round them up.

In this novel, one of the scavengers was a precocious 12-year-old boy named Dmitri. He had the ability, which other boys lacked, of looking ahead, and the cunning to bribe a Russian bureaucrat into a truce. Dmitri was a born organizer, a "last capitalist" who served as the overseer of a trading system in contraband goods.

But although this is partly Dmitri's story, it also is the story of two others — Grant Hollis, an American seaman with an independent mind, who had been stranded in Murmansk when his convoy ship had been sunk, and Katya, the Russian woman who had been sent to round up the gangs of Murmansk. The wily Dmitri serves as the link between these oddly matched personalities.

The romance between an American seaman who does not worry about money and a Russian woman who cannot quite subscribe to the rigidity of authoritarian doctrine serves as a lively dialogue between ideologies, which gives the reader much food for thought. The plot's climax is an intriguing commentary on human nature, for the "last capitalist" makes a basic human choice when the fateful moment comes.

Well worth reading, this book has the essential ring of truth which characterizes a searching work of fiction.
