Wounded Youth Awaits Helicopter Rescue

Police Officer Sam Fuller seeks to ease the pain of Dought Perkins, wounded by an accidental shotgun discharge. Standing with his back to the camera is Sgt. L. D. Adams of the city police. Youth Is Wounded In Shotgun Accident

A Webb AFB helicopter was called into play Saturday afternoon to move a wounded Big Spring youth from a lonely and isolated canyon to an ambulance.

The victim was Dwight Perkins, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Perkins, 1602 E. 16th. He had been accidentally shot as he and three companions were on a rabbit hunt in the rough country north and east of town.

Young Perkins received a full charge from a 410 shotgun in his upper left thigh as he climbed up the embankment of a ravine that he and his companions were crossing.

Deputy Bill Whitton of the sheriff's office, who was an investigating officer, said that the shot came from a gun carried by Lilton Trantham, 16, son of Jake Trantham, 1319 Stadium. Young Trantham had slipped and fallen as he descended into the ditch. The shotgun he was carrying discharged and the full load struck Perkins, who was about six feet in front of Trantham.

The scene of the accident was a mile north of IS 20 and about a mile east and a little north of the stock pens. Whitton said the accident was around 2 p. m. The police were notified at 2:34.

No road leads into the area and the Valley-Pickle ambulance had to be left nearly a mile from the scene.

Officers and ambulance men carried the stretcher from the ambulance to the scene of the shooting. Word was dispatched to Webb AFB and Capt. Tom Seebo, commander of the Webb AFB rescue squadron, and Capt. Milton Engle, a doctor at the base, came to the pasture aboard an H-43 rescue helicopter. They lowered the chopper to the ground a short distance from the wounded youth, and took him aboard. They landed on a street, about a mile from the pasture, and an ambulance took the victim to the Howard County Hospital Foundation.

Police cars had blocked off traffic on Birdwell to make a temporary landing field for the copter.

Whitton said that he was accompanied by the scene by Deputy Wes Patton, City Policeman Sam Fuller and Police Sgt. L. D. Adams.

The officers rendered what first aid they could to Perkins and sought to slow the loss of blood with a compress.

They were told by the injured youth and his companions that there were four boys in their specific group. Others along besides Perkins and Trantham were two other 16-year-old Big Spring boys—Paul Kenning, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Kenning of 110 Circle Drive, and William Henry Pedro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pedro, 212 Circle.

The boys were hunting rabbits and snakes. Trantham was the only one to have a shotgun. The other boys were carrying 22 rifles.

The youths said that Perkins was leading the way and had descended a ravine and was on top of the opposite ledge when Trantham started down. The embankment Trantham lost his footing and fell. The gun discharged, they told the officers, and Perkins fell.

Trantham ran for help. He had to travel over three quarters of a mile of rough country to reach a phone and then had to wait to guide the officers and ambulance men back to the scene.

Despite the gravity of the wound, it was believed Saturday night that young Perkins would recover without serious results from his mishap.

Whitton and the other officers voiced deep appreciation for the help rendered them by the helicopter from Webb.

"We would have had a hard time getting Dwight out of that place on foot," said Whitton, "and the trip would have been rough on him. With the copter, he was lifted out and taken to the ambulance with minimum discomfort."

Winds Buffet State; No Cold Wave Expected

By The Associated Press

Strong winds buffeted Texas Saturday as the northern half cooled and the southern half sweltered.

Dust billowed in the west, cutting visibility to two miles at Midland and three at Wink. At warm and relatively still San Antonio, dust drifted in from the west and cut visibility to four miles.

Small craft warnings flew along the entire coast.

Teasing light rain fell in Northeast Texas the upper South Plains, lower Panhandle and along the Red River. Fog was thick along the upper coast. Nearly every section of Texas was hurting for moisture.

As the colder air flowed over the upper parts of Texas, temperatures rose even higher in South Texas than on Friday, the warmest day of winter.

The cold front turned the minimum and maximum readings upside down at several points. Fort Worth had its highest reading of the day a few minutes after midnight when the mercury hit 66. It then started skidding and by midafternoon reached the lowest point of the day—43 degrees.

High winds fanned numerous grass fires around Austin during the afternoon.

Actually two cold fronts were spilling through Texas. The first one did little more than shift the winds to the north. About six hours behind came the second front, drawing in much lower temperatures.

Winds rose to 35 miles an hour in Waco and to nearly 50 m.p.h. in Fort Worth and Dallas.

The Weather Bureau had this word: "All the state will be cooler Sunday but no severe cold wave is indicated."

The main storm was passing north of Texas and the big state mainly was feeling its backwash.

Europe Back In Deepfreeze

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe plunged back into the bleak depths of winter Saturday night after a day of blizzards.

Snow fell in London and Paris and as far south as Naples.

With freezing temperatures widespread, weather prophets gloomily predicted it was going to get even colder.

The death list neared 500. Almost everywhere there was an acute shortage of fuel.

Weather Links Chain Of Misery

A new wave of harsh cold, lashing winds, drifting snow and flood waters stretched a chain of winter misery from coast to coast Saturday.

A mass of arctic air spread across the central section, tumbling temperatures as much as 50 and 60 degrees.

Floods that have caused millions of dollars in damages in the Far West, isolated towns in Idaho and threatened others in California, were swept off Lake Ontario and plugged scores of highways and secondary roads with deep snowdrifts in the Buffalo and Watertown districts in New York.

Glasscock Poll Tax Sales Down

GARDEN CITY—Sale of poll taxes in Glasscock County this year slumped to 277.

The aggregate represented a decrease of 32 from the number distributed here last year. Two years ago, a total of 291 poll taxes was purchased by Glasscock County citizens.

Through Saturday, only one new car registration had been made by the tax collector's office here.

That went to Roy Carter, Glasscock County residents have until April 1 to provide their automobiles with 1963 plates.

President Pushes Program To Replace Outmoded Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, it was learned Saturday, plans to send several Polaris submarines into the Mediterranean in the next two or three months to replace outmoded nuclear missiles based in Italy and Turkey.

Serious consideration is being given also to assigning the new Mediterranean nuclear missile force directly to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. One possible way to do this would be to create a special nuclear weapons command under NATO headquarters at Paris.

The determination on President Kennedy's part to move ahead as rapidly as possible with the development of a NATO nuclear force appears to be behind the speed-up in planning for a Mediterranean Polaris missile fleet under NATO control.

In the struggle with French President Charles de Gaulle over the future shape of the Atlantic Alliance Kennedy evidently means to make maximum use of all available resources, including modernization of nuclear weapons on the European southern flank.

To whatever extent he can do so, Kennedy will use the assignment of the new Mediterranean force to spur the European allies to faster action on NATO's role in the nuclear weapons field.

De Gaulle turned down last month a Kennedy offer of Polaris missiles to France on condition that the force so created would be assigned to NATO. De Gaulle said France will build its own nuclear striking power independent of the Allies.

Informants said Saturday that details still are being worked out but it now is definite that several nuclear-powered Polaris submarines will move into the Mediterranean in two or three months.

Thirty bases in Italy and 15 in Turkey are equipped with Jupiter missiles and were built after a 1957 NATO decision that the Allied defense system in Europe should be backed up with U.S. nuclear striking power. Other medium-range ballistic missiles were installed in Britain and those, too, became obsolete with the advent of Polaris.

The Polaris missile is carried by nuclear-powered submarines with 16 missiles on each sub. Present ranges are 1,200 or 1,700 miles depending on whether the A1 or the newer A2 model is used. The A3 now being developed will have a range of more than 2,500 miles.

Lyndon To Speak At Purcell Dinner

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will be featured speaker at a banquet Feb. 23 honoring Rep. Graham B. Purcell of the 13th Congressional District.

Tickets for the $10 a plate dinner, billed as non-partisan, went on sale Saturday. The 7 p. m. affair will be held on the campus of Midwestern University.

Earlier in the day a groundbreaking ceremony for a new Army Reserve armory at Wichita Falls will be held.

Strike Is Ended

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The membership of Transport Workers Union Local 24 voted 5-1 Saturday to accept a new two-year contract with the Philadelphia Transportation Co. officially ending a paralyzing 19-day transit strike.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Reeves County Hospital Board abruptly ended Saturday its week-long hearing into whether to retain controversial Dr. John Paul Dunn on the staff.

The board went immediately into a closed session that lasted for several hours. It adjourned in the late afternoon without announcing a decision and gave no indication when one would be forthcoming. An attorney for the hospital board said the members wanted to consider some documentary evidence in the case before rendering a decision.

The final day's hearing erupted into an angry outburst by one lawyer and a charge by Dr. Dunn that one witness lied.

Harrison Beauchamp, hospital board chairman, shut off the session and refused to hear summations by lawyers.

Fred Benness, one-time SMU football passer, did obtain an agreement that the board would consider a similar case in another state where a doctor was ousted from a hospital.

A court ordered the doctor reinstated, Benness said.

Hill Hudson, a lawyer for the hospital board, went into a brief, shouting rage at one point when he sought to obtain a statement from Dunn that one witness lied when she said Dunn criticized the treatment her physician was giving her.

Hudson, opposing Dunn and obviously believing the witness, asked the question of Dunn as a test of the physician's reaction rather than to discount the testimony.

Dunn, saying the patient, Mrs. Tommie Burkholder, was a friend, would only reply that Mrs. Burkholder had not recalled the conversation accurately.

Hudson shouted back: "Why in the hell don't you have enough guts to say she is a liar?"

"I'm too much of a gentleman," Dunn replied.

"Oh, too much of a gentleman," Hudson mimicked, sarcasm heavy in his voice.

Dunn's accusation of a lie came on similar prompting by Hudson concerning another witness, Mrs. Martha Boone of Kemp. Mrs. Boone testified that Dunn came into her hospital room in 1955 uninvited and criticized the care she was receiving from Dr. Bruce Hay.

Dunn took the witness chair to declare that he never had seen Mrs. Boone in his life.

Hudson asked if Dunn thereby was saying her testimony was a lie. "Yes, I am," Dunn replied.

Dunn was not reappointed to the medical staff of the hospital Jan. 2. He went to court and obtained an order requiring the hospital board to give him a hearing.

The board charged that Dunn criticized other doctors, harassed hospital personnel and took part in love scenes with patients.

Permanent removal from the medical staff would mean that Dunn could not send patients to the hospital or treat them there.

Mrs. Burkholder, also a patient of Dr. Hay, was receiving antibiotics for a bone disease. She testified that Dunn told her the best treatment was to scrape the bone.

In rebuttal, Dunn said that they became friends during her stay of almost a month in the hospital and that he visited her at times.

He stated he always refused to give a diagnosis to a patient of another doctor. He discussed bone disease treatment, he said, without knowing that was Mrs. Burkholder's ailment.

Mrs. Burkholder said everyone in the hospital knew the disease with which she suffered.

"How the hell did you know that scraping the bone was the proper treatment for an illness that you didn't know she was being treated for?" Hudson asked the physician.

Dunn did not answer the question.

Just before the noon recess, lawyers for Dunn introduced into the hearing petitions showing 1,850 names requesting that Dunn be retained on the hospital staff.

130 Believed Dead In Fall Of Building

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Rain-drenched wreckage of a Roman Catholic school at Biblan has yielded the bodies of 103 persons crushed by its collapse during chapel prayer services. Search parties probed the ruins for further victims Saturday.

Authorities feared the toll may reach 130.

Side walls and part of the roof of the Heart of Mary College fell in with a dull roar late Friday while about 450 persons were gathered in the second-floor chapel.

The young victims ranged from kindergarten pupils to commercial course students. Of supervisors known dead, three were teaching nurses and one was a lay teacher.

At least 30 girls were injured seriously.

A teaching nun of the Oblate order, which established the school here about 60 years ago, was found fatally crushed with the bodies of three girls clasped in her arms.

Troops, doctors and nurses sped to Biblan, a farming and coal mining village in a fertile valley of the Andes, about 200 miles south of Quito. The government rushed in emergency supplies by plane. A breakdown in communication lines had delayed details of the disaster.

Two things may have contributed to the collapse.

The building, constructed by the townspeople, was damaged by earthquakes about 10 years ago. It has been subject to successive repairs intended to make it safe.

Work has been under way on the first floor to enlarge the capacity of the school. Presumably the foundations were weakened as the work progressed.

A nun who survived, Sister Melida Alarcon, said the walls shook and began to crumble while she was leading her first-grade class toward the chapel. Her children were fresh from recess.

With tears in her eyes, Sister Melida said "Everything was so violent and unexpected."

"When I overcame the first rush of panic and anguish," she said, "all I could see around me was rubble and wreckage."

"It was like something out of Dante's Inferno," with hands stretched out amid heavy beams and dirt in eloquent appeals for help, and the moans and cries of those buried underneath."

T-38 To Have Modification

The Aerospace Operations Division of the Dynalactor Corporation has returned to Webb; this time to effect a modification in the new supersonic training aircraft—the T-38.

The last big modification of aircraft at Webb done by this worldwide trouble-shooting organization was the removal of the armament from the T-33 and the installation of radio and radar equipment. However, the organization was then known as the Land-Air Corporation. Although there is still a Land-Air division within the Dynalactor Corporation, the Aerospace Operations Division has taken on the field operations, modification and maintenance chores of the old Land-Air unit.

The current job of Aerospace Operations has to do with the replacement of canopies and certain changes in gears on specified aircraft. The work is expected to be completed by Nov. 1 of this year.

The 23 man crew is being directed by Donald Burdick who calls Sharon, Pa., his hometown. He came here from Brookley AFB, at Mobile, Ala., where he had completed a modification job on the F-105's.

Maj. Norman E. Buihner is the project officer on the modification.

Building Strong Character

Development of strong character in the youth of this community is one of the most important tasks to which the YMCA gives its assistance. Through its youth organizations, the Y provides counseling and guidance from community leaders in an atmosphere where young people can work and learn together. The Big Spring Y will again be seeking the support of the community to continue this work when it conducts the annual membership drive.

Burger Chain Coming Here

McDonald's chain of hamburger restaurants is coming to Big Spring in the near future, according to an announcement from Ray A. Kroc, chairman of the board of the booming chain of over 450 units in 42 states.

Each new McDonald's is said to represent an investment of $150,000, and the unit planned for Big Spring will be a part of the fast growing chain, featuring self service in less than a minute.

prize awards. Winners on the regional level and at the national level will be given valuable prizes.

Representatives of the firm recently spent some time checking the city for a location but the location has not been announced.

McDonald's has been dotting the U.S. landscape with golden-arched eateries since April 1955 when Kroc came up with what he describes as a new way to serve the hamburger.

No specific date for the determination of class and honorarium champions has been set. The school can schedule these events as it deems best.

Specializing in 15-cent hamburgers, and a limited 10-item menu, served in assembly line fashion, with service in 50 seconds, the chain has sold more than 800 million hamburgers and writes an average check of 72 cents per patron.

LAMESA (SC)—Construction in Lamesa, which totaled $2,630,517 for all of last year, got off to a good start here in January with permits amounting to $369,179 authorized.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent, said Saturday that as quickly as the practice booklets are in the hands of all youngsters who plan to compete, he will make a survey and determine just how many will be competing in the honorarium and class contests.

Howard County will be one of the best protected counties in the state firewise, if W. D. Berry, Civil Defense director, is able to push through a deal he is working on.

William Chisholm, 18-year-old Webb airman, has the debatable distinction of being the first local man to be convicted under a special statute enacted in June 1961 and dealing with obtaining telephone service illegally.

Chisholm pleaded guilty to the offense and was fined $75 and costs in Howard County Court on Friday afternoon.

Berry Hopes For 10 Fire Trucks

Howard County will be one of the best protected counties in the state firewise, if W. D. Berry, Civil Defense director, is able to push through a deal he is working on.

He proposes to place seven of these trucks at Knott, Forsan, Coahoma, Elbow, Gay Hill, Center Point and Vealmoor. The other three would be available for the fire department in Big Spring.

He explained the trucks are surplus equipment taken from military installations and made available to Civil Defense organizations at a fraction of the original cost.

He indicated that the manning of the trucks would be problems that the individual schools or communities would have to work out.

Eating Controversy Due More Argument

The war over permitting sheriff's deputies to eat their noon meal in the county jail will resume Monday.

Joe Hayden, one of the commissioners, has led the attack on the practice. Porter has expressed his disapproval of the practice.

Porter said that he had not read all of the opinion but that it was evident the attorney general held that the deputies have no right to be fed in the county jail.

He said that it is a common practice for many citizens who work and cannot find time to come to the sheriff's office at any other hour to make their calls at noon.

Coahoma FHA Enters Shows

Members of the Coahoma FFA Chapter participated in both the Abilene and Fort Worth Stock Shows last week.

The chapter exhibited 18 lambs and two steers at Abilene. Vernon Long placed fourth in the mediumweight class of steers, and Gary Hansen placed 16th in the same class, both with Hereford steers.

Vernon Long, Gary Hansen and Maurice Cutright exhibited steers in the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show last Saturday, and the steers are still on exhibition at the show.

Next stock show for the chapter will be the San Antonio Livestock Exhibition which begins Feb. 7-16. Members will leave Coahoma Wednesday and will show their animals on Saturday. Most of the boys will return to Coahoma on Sunday. Those exhibiting steers are Vernon Long, Gary Hansen, Claude Hodnett, Stanley Haney, and Jimmy Haley. Lamb exhibitors are Olen Fryar, Joe Anderson, Ricky Hicks, Phillip Reid, Dwayne Fraser, Larry Pherigo, Robert Fraser, Chuck Ogle, Sam Oakes, Vernon Long, Sammy Smith, Jimmy Crawford, Travis Reid, and Weldon Self. Barrow exhibitors will be Mike Hinsley and Lewis Arnold.

The chapter also plans to attend the San Angelo Livestock Show in March, and the Howard County show the following week in Big Spring.

Surviving are his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Alyce Boyd of Fort Worth, Mrs. H. E. Koon Jr. of Gainesville and Mrs. Owen Birdman of Fort Worth; and a son, Dr. J. S. McCreary of Fort Worth.

The funeral and burial will be at Waco.

THE GREATEST MOTIVE

By T. H. Tarbet, Preacher Church of Christ, 2500 West Highway 80

Love is, perhaps, the greatest motive that spurs us on to obedience to the Lord.

But it is not the only incentive. Fear also induces us. . . . Be not highminded, but fear: for if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee. Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them that fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness; if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off. (Rom. 11:20-22).

The Bible teaches that Christians shall be judged, and should fear the judgment. "But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment; . . . but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire" (Matt. 5:22).

Man needs both the incentives of love and fear, to spur him to continued obedience.

Legislature Starts 5 Major Items On Way During Week

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' fast moving legislature started five of the session's top items on the road to success or doom last week. And lawmakers prepared for another heavy round of committee hearings this week. A House committee began consideration last Monday of four measures to create more senior colleges in Texas but sent the bills to a subcommittee for further study. The next day, a Senate committee eased through its versions of the college bills without debate, public opposition or dissenting vote. Seeking four-year state-supported approval are junior colleges in San Angelo, Laredo, Odessa and San Antonio. Pan American College in Edinburg already a four-year school is asking for full state support. A Senate committee sent to subcommittee Wednesday a measure to make Padre Island a national seashore area. A few hours later, a House committee did the same thing. Another Senate committee took less than an hour to speed through to approval a proposed constitutional amendment to give Texas women equal legal rights with men. More than 200 women were there to see the unanimous vote. Also Wednesday, a House committee sent to subcommittee a measure which would provide heavier penalties for drilling of illegal slant hole oil wells. Witnesses and members of a Senate committee wrangled for four hours Thursday on loan shark legislation. Then a five-man subcommittee was given two weeks to write a compromise measure. This week, the quick pace of

Austin Cable Video Plan Hits A Snag

AUSTIN (AP) — The move to bring multi-channel television to Austin hit a snag when Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said its poles could accommodate only one cable television firm's lines. After the City Council voted Monday to permit all companies able to meet qualifications to compete in the cable TV market, the telephone company said it would offer contracts to "all companies wanting to use its poles to provide cable television to Austin."

Austin has just one commercial television station, owned principally by the wife of Vice President Lyndon Johnson. The only cable television firm to meet the City Council's qualifications so far is Capital Cable. Capital Cable is owned by Midwest Video of Little Rock, Ark. The LBJ Corp., owner of Austin's current commercial station, has an option to buy half Capital Cable's stock.

Mayor Lester Palmer said he will ask the City Council to meet Monday to consider a policy to permit the city to install city-owned poles in those areas where Bell Telephone's poles might have to be used by a cable television firm.

The city owns about 75 per cent of the poles. Independent Cable Television of Austin, another of the four firms competing for the cable TV market, repeated its request that the City Council designate a single firm to supply service after taking competitive bids.

"We feel that the cable TV company chosen to render... service should be wholly independent of the local television station if this new service is to be truly competitive and in the public interest," said Truman O'Quinn, of Independent Cable Television. Tom Brown Jr., division manager of the telephone company, said use of the firm's poles by more than one company would create safety hazards for employees, increase maintenance problems and make service problems for telephone customers.

Triangle Erupts, Mother, Son Slain

BOSTON (AP) — An attractive young mother and her infant son were shot to death Saturday in a wild gun battle between three gunmen and policemen who were trying to protect the woman from a rival for her affections. The victims were Toby Zimmerman Wagner, 21, and her son, Mark, 2, who was shot while his mother held him to her chest. Scene of the shooting, in which an estimated 40 shots were fired, was a Roxbury apartment where Mrs. Wagner had retreated in fear of an escaped convict after the release of her husband from prison Friday. Three policemen were stationed in the apartment at her request after she complained the escaped convict had warned her husband to stay away from her because of his own love for her. Police identified the escaped convict as Rocco Balliro, 28, of Boston's North End, who saved his way out of the Bristol County House of Correction in New Bedford on Jan. 9. A shoot-to-kill order went out over the police radio for Balliro and his brother, Salvatore. Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara said the Balliro brothers may have been wounded in the gun battle. He asked all doctors and hospitals in the area to notify police if they seek medical attention. Captured shortly after the 2 a.m. shooting was Albert Ciocco,

33, of the North End, who was booked on suspicion of murder. Ciocco was nabbed as the trio's escape by car was frustrated by a collision with a taxicab. The two brothers fled on foot. Later, police reported their mother's car had been stolen from in front of her house. Two bullet slugs went through Ciocco's overcoat and suit jacket but did not penetrate his skin. He suffered a facial injury in the auto accident. Mrs. Wagner's husband, Bernard, was released from the Concord Reformatory after a term for parole violation in connection with an old breaking and entering charge. Police said Balliro confronted Wagner on a Dorchester Street corner Friday night and warned him with two wild pistol shots to stay away from his own wife. Wagner took his wife and two children to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams. It was from there that Mrs. Wagner called police. Three policemen hid out in the darkened apartment. Mrs. Wagner and her children, Mark, and Bernice, 2, and Mrs. Adams and her three children, ranging in age from 8 months to 3 years, were in the bedroom. Special officer Thomas Calman, one of the policemen inside the apartment, related some of the incidents as follows: About 2 a.m. three gunmen kicked in the kitchen door. One of the officers said "We're policemen, drop your guns." Instead the men opened fire and the officers returned the fire before the trio fled. Mrs. Adams, 20, said later "I was in the bedroom adjoining the living room when the shooting started. Toby was standing there with the baby. "One of the men who broke in came in and faced Toby. I was mortally afraid for her and my own children. "The man was standing only a few feet from them when he fired the gun point blank. They both fell to the floor, but little Mark got up and staggered into the hall. "Then everybody seemed to be shooting." The three gunmen fled in an automobile with police in pursuit. A few blocks away the gunmen's car collided with a taxicab. Bristol County Sheriff Edward K. Dabrowski said in New Bedford that his men had been seeking Mrs. Wagner to question her about Balliro's breakout. He said she had visited Balliro a few hours before his escape. Dabrowski said she signed a visitor's card with her maiden name and listed her association with the prisoner as "friend." Dabrowski also said Mrs. Wagner had been a frequent visitor of Balliro's during his imprisonment while her own husband was in another prison about 80 miles away.

Refugee Tragic Attempt

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Miami witnesses one of the most dramatic plays as they witness the escape of Cuban refugees from the island.

The gunned hand of the Cuban government wanted to see the plane. He did not.

Passengers in the plane were being guarded at the airport. The plane was fired at by a machine gun.

Gasoline pumps in the area were swarmed by Cubans. Passengers were corralled away.

Most of the Cubans and the Pan Am plane, which was carrying 148 passengers to Castro, by machine gun.

One refugee, a Cuban, was seen to be shining like a star. He was very good because they place in Cuba.

Refugees See Tragic Escape Attempt In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban-Americans fleeing Fidel Castro's Cuba witnessed one last flareup of gunplay as they fled aboard a Red Cross plane with what few possessions they were able to keep from Cuban police.

The gunfire was drawn by a handcuffed prisoner who obviously wanted to leave Cuba with them. He didn't make it.

Passengers reported after landing at Miami Friday that the handcuffed captive broke from his guards at Havana Airport and raced onto a runway area. One guard fired a burst from his sub-machine gun.

The slugs apparently did not wound the fugitive, who flattened himself on the ground, but sprayed the right fuel tank of a parked Russian-built Cuban Airlines plane.

Gasoline poured from the bullet holes in the tank while guards swarmed from the terminal building. Passengers said the escapee was corralled quickly and led away.

Most of the 106 Cuban-Americans and relatives were aboard the Pan American World Airways plane, which delivered a Bay of Pigs prisoner ransom installment to Castro, before the outburst of machine gun fire.

One refugee, 15-year-old Oscar Iglesias arrived in Miami with his carefully-boarded Cuban shoes shining like mirrors. But the soles were very thin. He had been taking good care of the shoes, he said, because they were so hard to replace in Cuba.

Bennett Brooke Announces For School Board

Bennett Brooke, 700 Dallas, is the first person to announce as a candidate for the board of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District. Two trustee seats become vacant this year.

Brooke is co-owner and operator of the Edwards Heights Pharmacy. He has resided in Big Spring since 1953, when he came here from Belton.

Born in San Angelo, Brooke attended high school in Jefferson and in 1949 graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor of science degree in pharmacy. He is 38, and Mr. and Mrs. Brooke have two children, Bennett Franklin, a senior in high school, and Melinda Ann, in the fifth grade.

Brooke is active in church and civic work, being a vestryman at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church and a member of the Rotary Club. "Having two children in the system, I am interested in our schools," Brooke said in announcing his intention to seek one of the places on the board.

"At the request of many friends who are vitally interested in the continuing advancement of our educational system, and after serious consideration, I have decided to become a candidate for the board of trustees," Brooke said. "I want thereby to be an active participant in the future progress and development of the Big Spring educational system. It is to this end I pledge my time and talent and ask for your support."

The places currently held by Harold Talbot and Clyde McMahon Sr. will come up at the April 6 election.

Mrs. Kirk Loses Sexton Will Case

CLEBURNE (AP)—Jurors decided Friday night that a will leaving part of wealthy rancher James E. Sexton's estate to a former rest home operator was a forgery.

It was the second court defeat for attractive Mrs. Agnes Kirk, 44, of Mansfield in efforts to prove Sexton bequeathed her a fortune. Four nieces who have been awarded other holdings of Sexton contested the will, which conveyed 6,000 acres of ranch land in Hill, Johnson and Somervell counties to the beneficiaries.

Her lawyers said Mrs. Kirk would decide later whether to appeal the decision.

Sexton, an eccentric bachelor, died in 1958 at the age of 71. He suffered a stroke in 1953 and lived for a time in a Cleburne rest home operated by Mrs. Kirk.

The jury of eight men and four women weighed their verdict for two hours and five minutes. In answer to questions posed in a charge from Dist. Judge A. Royce Stout of Waxahachie, the jurors found that signatures on the purported will of both Sexton and a witness who since had died, W. T. Mayo, both were forged.

The will bore a March 23, 1954, date and testimony was presented that Sexton and others signed the document in a Cleburne cafe.

In addition, the jurors held that J. E. Holder, the only surviving witness, did not sign the will in Sexton's presence; that Sexton was not mentally able to conduct business on the date in question and that Mayo was not sane at the time.

Alfred Osborn, a New York handwriting expert whose testimony helped convict the kidnaper of the Lindbergh baby, testified that the will was "a very clumsy forgery."

The nieces of Sexton are Mrs. W. C. Beard of Raymondville, Mrs. O. L. Jacobs and Mrs. Mollie Pitner of Henderson and Mrs. Q. C. Murphy of Longview.

Retired Man, 70, Enters College

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—A 70-year-old retired postal employee has registered as a freshman at Midwestern University.

Henry Burge explained: "I want to be a more useful citizen."

Burge wrote to Rotan to get his credits from the high school, where he was graduated in 1912 but all records before 1925 had burned.

Midwestern officials told him that if he passed the entrance examinations, he could enroll. He passed easily and enrolled Thursday.

Burge said he plans to get a degree in electrical engineering, and that he would have to finish at another school to get the required courses.

Connally OKs Guard Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally said Saturday he will accept the National Guard troop allotment offered Texas by the Army.

The allotment provides for two divisions in Texas both organized under the Army's New Road reorganization of Army divisions concept, and will not result in loss of Texas Guard personnel, Connally said.

The state now has two divisions, the 36th and 49th Armored, plus four non-divisional helicopter transportation units.

"This change will improve the already high readiness of the Texas National Guard and will not result in the discharge of any individual or the loss of any unit locations," Connally said.

The governor indicated the reorganization will permit the Texas Guard to continue recruiting for greater strength.

Adj. Gen. Thomas Bishop said detailed reorganization plans will be available in 30 to 45 days. He indicated the non-divisional Army aviation units will be absorbed into the divisions.

Bishop said detailed plans must be submitted to the Army for approval and that reorganization would begin at once after such approval is secured. State units will be able to begin training in the new organizational structure well before field training in July, he said.

Probation Revoked

County Judge Lee Porter, set aside a suspended sentence of a 14-year-old Big Spring boy Friday afternoon and instructed Bob Darland, juvenile officer, to move the boy to Gatesville. The youngster had been arrested for theft.

Cubans Mounting International Bid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A youthful band of Bay of Pigs invasion veterans announced it has mounted an international mission aimed at toppling Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

The group of 125, ranging from 20 to 30 years old, said it has sent emissaries to Latin American and European countries to seek support.

Dr. Enrique Llaça Jr., head of the newly formed Committee for Liberation of Cuba, told a news conference the countries involved could not now be named.

Members of the committee resigned from Brigade 2506 after the invasion group was ransomed from Cuban prisons. They said they had organized "to carry on an action program against Castro without being compromised by negotiations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Llaça said organization of a government in exile is planned in one of the countries being contacted.

He added, "We are ready to do it with an international brigade if necessary, with Cubans at the head."

Llaça said he saw no difficulty in forming a government.

"Whoever comes up with the way to fight Castro can come up with a government," he said.

Wheat Payments Are Dangerous, Says DeVaney

VICTORIA (AP)—Compensatory payments like those under the 1962 Wheat Act are unsound and dangerous, President C. H. DeVaney of the Texas Farm Bureau declared Friday night.

DeVaney, a West Texas cotton and grain farmer from Coahoma, spoke at a dinner in honor of young farmers.

He said a proposal for compensatory payments on cotton now was being advanced.

"It would be fantastically expensive and would stimulate production, increase unit costs, depress market prices, lead to tight production controls, and make farmers dependent upon congressional appropriations for a substantial part of their total income," DeVaney said.

"I believe the only solution to our problems is a gradual return to the market system. We must lower our cost of production, lower our support prices and increase our acreage allotments and production per acre."

DeVaney said he saw no difficulty in forming a government.

"Whoever comes up with the way to fight Castro can come up with a government," he said.

Llaça said he saw no difficulty in forming a government.

Getting Ready For Some Branding

Three leaders in the YMCA (membership) round-up get ready to test their ranch and Triangle Y brands they hope their outfits will apply to hundreds of Big Springers this week. All workers are to meet at 5:15 p.m. Monday for a brief instructional meeting, and the kickoff session is Tuesday evening with the drive to end Friday. At left is Buddy (Tex) Redden, and right, Big Jim Tidwell, Rocking R and Circle T ranch bosses, and center with the over-all Y brand is Col. J. Pecos Pickle, the YMCA cattle brand.

Cowhands Ready This Week For Y Membership Roundup

It's branding time this week. The Big Spring YMCA is staging its annual participating membership campaign, and this year it's being billed as the "big roundup."

From the time all the range foremen, wranglers and cowboys get their instructions Monday afternoon until they gather around the chuck wagon Friday evening for a final report, emphasis will be on rounding up all prospects and enrolling them as YMCA members.

Another phase of the annual enrollment is also getting underway as the sustaining member division lays plans for an appreciation banquet for Feb. 18. Sustaining members are those who make contributions to the YMCA, not as participants, but as supporters of the association program.

NEWS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market headed into further profit taking last week, digested it, and squeaked out its seventh straight weekly advance.

The rise however, was accomplished on the lightest volume in six weeks. Volume totaled 21,363,612 shares, compared with 23,313,478 the previous week. It was the smallest for any full, five-day trading week since the week ended Dec. 22.

To stock analysts it indicated that the prolonged market rally was leveling out.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Battered by wreckage from a two-plane collision 10,000 feet up in a cloudy sky, this city's "Times Square" was sealed off Saturday while disaster squads searched for victims. The known toll is 79 killed—52 of them on the ground.

GALVESTON (AP)—The Savannah, first nuclear-powered merchant ship, makes its first call at a Texas port, Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration leaders are steering a $240-million youth employment bill toward an early vote to test the Senate's temper on President Kennedy's legislative program.

Heart Theme For Nurses Institute Here

A nursing institute on cardiovascular diseases will be sponsored here Thursday and Friday by the Texas Heart Association.

Cooperating with the council are the Texas Graduate Nurses' Association, District No. 24, and the Licensed Vocational Nurses' Association, District No. 25. All registered nurses, licensed vocational nurses and students are invited to attend. It will be held at the Cosden Country Club.

At the opening session Thursday morning, Dr. William G. Hook will discuss "Anatomy and Physiology of the Circulatory System," and Dr. Joe Arrington, Lubbock, will take up "Congenital Heart Diseases." Dr. Milton Talbot Jr., will preside. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. The fee is $3, including the cost of the luncheon.

The afternoon's speakers will include Dr. Arrington, Mrs. Inez Farris, Lubbock, and Dr. John R. Derrick, assistant professor in thoracic surgery and head of the section of cardiovascular surgery at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Lubbock. Presiding at the function will be Capt. John Shubert, M.D., and Dr. Bruce Sanders.

Dr. Jack H. Burnett Jr. and Dr. Amanda Keely will address the institute Friday morning.

Welcoming the visitors and speakers here will be Dr. John H. Fish, president of the Howard County Heart Council; Bessie Love, president of the TGNA, and Mrs. Billie Miller, president of the LVNA.

This is one of several activities planned during February to call attention to heart ailments and to help members of the medical profession expand their knowledge on the subject.

The planning committee for the institute consists of Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Johnnie Amos, Mrs. Mylene Kemper and Mrs. Debra Whaley.

THE WEEK

It was the best and most fruitful banquet the YMCA ever had.

The grand jury brought in 17 indictments last week, three of them on murder counts. Hardly had the ink dried than another round of violence erupted in the shooting of Mrs. Joyce Snedecore and critical wounding of Morris Redding. A coroner's verdict termed it murder and attempted suicide.

The $2,750,000 issue of revenue bonds by the Colorado River Municipal Water District went for what observers considered a good figure last week. The average cost was 2.4399. It will be recalled that the original issue in 1951 went for 2.48, but then those were 30-year bonds, whereas last week's issue was a 6-year maturity—and that makes a whole of a lot of difference in the interest rate.

A national hamburger chain has announced it is entering the Big Spring field, but not specifying a location. Total investment is due to be on the order of $150,000 but how much of this is building, ground or equipment was not indicated. Another sizeable entry into the local field also is in the making and could be announced within a fortnight or a month.

The Steer basketball team broke its jinx last week by turning back the Odessa Broncs by a 67-60 count. The H.C.J. Hawks added a couple of victories, but then they ran into a sport that says a player entering a modern can't play in a role then in season. That will knock the Hawks out of regional contention. It doesn't mean, however, that they won't still have one of the best clubs in the Southwest in junior college circles.

The Texas & Pacific Railway Company announced the return of Division Superintendent Ray Blasingame to Big Spring, but by the same token, two assistant superintendents will be moved to the center of their territories. In the exchange he will gain three families, lose five.

For a brief moment last week, competition went crazy and the price of fryers sagged from an already low 27 cents to the unheard of tag of 1 cent a pound. Many people flocked to two stores and stocked up on two-for-a-nickie chickens. Imagine!

Big Spring had nine instructors and nine students participating in the annual concert of the Texas Music Educators' Association in Houston last week. This was more than any other school. Two of the students made first chair in the grand concert, and this is a tremendous credit to the instrumental music program.

Stanton paid honors to two Martin County citizens at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet last week. Mrs. Glenn (Mary Priddy) Brown was recognized as Stanton's outstanding woman of the year, and Raymond Priblyla (who has just about the busiest family anywhere) was honored as being Martin County's leading farmer.

Of course we've known it all along, but our colleague, Tommy Hart, qualifies as something of a prophet. Recently, he predicted the resignation of Bowden Cook, former Stanton mentor, as Nederland much, and that Duane Gresselt, Midland Lee coach, was under pressure. Well, both predictions came through at the end of the week.

LANDMARK TO DISAPPEAR
U.S. Experiment Station building makes room for new loop road

This Ole House Is Movin' Away

Half a century ago, when a stranger came to Big Spring for a visit, it was the custom of his host to take him on a sightseeing tour of the town.

In those days, it was a regular part of such tours to drive the visitor past the newly established U.S. Experiment Station on the north edge of town.

The homesteader would bring the buggy to a stop and point dramatically to a two-story residence just off the road.

"That is the residence of the superintendent of the station," he would explain. And he would remain silent to permit the visitor to feast his eyes to the fullest on the luxurious and commodious building.

Times have changed since 1915. The town has grown. Tastes in architecture have shifted. No longer would one call the old residence at the U.S. Experiment Station a show place in the old meaning; today it is an interesting memento of another day and of other styles and not regarded as a show-place.

Visitors of tomorrow, if they should want to see this souvenir of 1915, will have to go to a new location. Progress has driven the old house from the site it has occupied all of these years. Its old location happened to be in the pathway of a new superhighway the state proposes to loop around Big Spring on IS 20.

So the old house has been sold, jacked up off its foundation and placed on trucks. Saturday it was ready to move to its new location—about four miles north and west of Big Spring.

It has been bought by Gerald Harris, the State Highway Department, in acquiring right of way for a new bypass road around the town, acquired the old residence and the equally venerable office building of the station. The office building cannot be moved and will be demolished, it was said by Dick Collier, contractor. The state has agreed to replace the two older buildings with two new dwellings and to build an annex to the main office building as a part of the right of way settlement.

T. A. Welch, house moving contractor, and his crew put in more than a week getting the old residence ready for its four-mile journey to its new location.

The move began Friday. A dust storm was raging as the old building slipped smoothly from atop its aged foundation and headed toward 12th Street. The weather was so bad Welch decided to wait until Monday to complete the trip.

Old timers say the station was established in 1915 and that the residence was one of the first structures built. The first superintendent was a man named Mundell. He was succeeded by the late Fred Keating, who served the station for more than a quarter of a century.

Dr. Earl Burnett was the next man in charge. He was succeeded recently by Dr. James Box.

Hardy Volunteers Climb Out Of Shelter Following Test

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A hardy crew of 150 volunteers climbed out of a high school basement fallout shelter Saturday—tired and hungry but little worse for wear after 15 hours of confinement.

The girls, though, were not happy about a ban on cosmetics and hair curlers.

Taking part in the first civil defense test of its type in the New York State school system were 102 boy and girl students and a few score adults.

The boys and girls, separated in different wings of a 4-foot-high crawl space, bedded down in blankets or sleeping bags on earth or concrete in their street clothes. Their chief complaint was that they didn't get enough sleep in the strange surroundings.

They found, too, that the prescribed ration of wafers and water did not measure up to their accustomed fare. They quickly downed a breakfast of milk, coffee, buns and rolls on emerging at 7 a.m. to the school cafeteria.

The girls seemed more concerned about their looks than any physical discomforts.

The students had been told not to take any such items as cosmetics, shaving equipment or extra food into the shelter.

The drill, dubbed "Operation Groundhog" in recognition of its subterranean nature and Groundhog Day, began at 4 p.m. Friday after the students had been gathered in the Middletown High School auditorium.

The test was the idea of Principal Frank Gerhart, Mayor John Botens and city Civil Defense Director Sidney Goldner. They thought of it during the Cuban crisis.

The shelter, equipped with toilet facilities, 86 U-shaped, like the school, it has no windows. The temperature, as a result of hot water pipes and natural body warmth, stayed at a steady 78 degrees despite an outside temperature of about 20 degrees.

The students engaged in activities such as chess and painting until lights out at 10 p.m.

Along with them were adult supervisors, faculty members and some parents. The mayor and the principal were among those taking part in the test. The Civil Defense director spent part of the night in the shelter, along with 10 clergymen.

Award In Crash Case

LAMESA (SC)—A Dawson County woman and her two children have been awarded $46,666 by Judge Truett Smith for damages incurred as a result of a fatal auto-truck collision about five miles south of Lamesa on U.S. 87 on Aug. 18, 1962.

Mrs. Juanita Contreras, her children, Elvia and Ruben, were awarded respective damages of $31,166, $6,500 and $9,000 in a judgment rendered in 100th District Court here. Testimony was given before the judge.

Mrs. Contreras' husband, Trinidad, and two other children were killed in the accident. Defendant in the case was Coastal Transport Co. of Big Spring. Driver of the truck was Jesse Fulcher, Big Spring. Another suit is pending here against Fulcher and the transport firm.

Vacant House Is Destroyed By Fire

A vacant house at 907 W. 5th was destroyed by fire about 1 a.m. Saturday. Cause of the blaze is not known. The house belonged to Howard Shaffer, 812 W. 18th.

Firemen made a run to 1311 Princeton about 5:30 p.m. Friday, but they were not needed. The residents reported they smelled smoke, but firemen were unable to find a fire.

Beauty Queen

Mrs. Geslia Davis, 24, Saturday was selected 1963 Beauty Queen of the Big Spring Unit of the Texas Association of Accredited Beauty Culturists. There were 11 candidates.

Nathan Curry Freed On Bond

EASTLAND (AP)—Nathan Curry, 17, charged with murder in the 1961 slaying of a Cisco church secretary, went free under bond Friday.

He left court after posting $10,000 bond in the company of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Curry, and a sister, Mrs. Linda Townsend of Lubbock.

His lawyer, John Watts of Odessa, said young Curry plans to enter school at Lubbock.

Dist. Judge T. M. Collier set the bond at a hearing in which Watts sought the youth's release from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. His uncle, Forrest Noble of Andrews, arranged for the bond.

Curry is accused of slaying Mrs. Florence Hussey, 53, who was beaten and stabbed by an intruder at her home. He was sent to a state reformatory for boys. A judge recently ordered his release, ruling that he was being deprived of liberty illegally.

A murder charge then was filed and a justice of the peace ordered him held without bond.

Dist. Atty. Earl Conner said the murder charge will be presented to a grand jury, possibly as early as next week.

Mrs. Hussey was a former resident of Big Spring, having been active in church work. She was a church secretary at Cisco before her death.

P. Kennedy Jr. Dies In Oregon

Paul H. Kennedy Jr., 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Kennedy Sr., Otischalk, and a former Howard County resident, died Feb. 1 in a Portland, Ore., hospital. He had been ill for three weeks with a heart condition.

Mr. Kennedy had lived in Oregon for the past 15 years and was assistant superintendent of the Park Division for the State of Oregon.

He was born in Big Spring, April 4, 1926 and was a graduate of the Forsan High School. He was a member of the Baptist Church in LaGrande, Ore.

Survivors in addition to his widow, Wynona, LaGrande, Ore., include one daughter, June Diane, his parents, two brothers, James Kennedy, Seminole, and Robert Kennedy, DeKalb, four sisters, Mrs. M. E. Petree, Crane, Mrs. Harold Myers, Arbutick, Calif., Mrs. Don Murphy, Otischalk, and Miss Shirley Kennedy, Otischalk.

His father and Mrs. Petree left Tuesday by plane to be at his bedside. His mother and brother, James, left Friday for Oregon as did Robert Kennedy of DeKalb.

The funeral has been set for 3 p.m. Monday at the Rigdon Funeral Home in Salem, Ore.

FFA Members Enter El Paso Show

Three members of the Big Spring FFA have entered animals in the El Paso Southwestern Livestock Show which opens today. The show runs through Feb. 8.

Ed Seay, vocational agriculture instructor, directs the FFA activities at the school.

Norvin Hamlin, 18, Vealmore, has entered a Hereford calf; Mike Houston 17, of 1316 Sycamore, a Hereford calf; and Dan Patterson, 16 of 111 E. Second, an Angus calf.

Thefts Reported

A thief made a hasty pickup Friday night netting a profit of about $60.

Louis Stewart, 1205 College Avenue, told police his purse containing $74 was stolen from her car while it was parked briefly at the rear of Nabor's Laundry. She said she took clothes into the laundry and upon returning about five minutes later the purse was gone.

It was located later still containing about $15, according to police reports.

Clarence Yanez, 704 NW 5th, reported the theft of a rifle valued at about $20. He said the thief entered the house by a window on the east side of the building. The weapon was taken some time between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. Friday, he said.

Invitation To Theft: Just Leave The Keys In Your Car

By JOE BEYER
A car thief on the prowl in the downtown Big Spring shopping area Friday afternoon might have done very well for himself. He could have taken a stroll around the county court house and had his pick of four cars which had the keys in the ignition. Or, if he wanted to be especially selective, a short walk along both sides of the street in the 200 block of Main would have added three more easy takes to his list of prospects. The business side of the 300 block of Main would have given him another from which to choose. If the results of a survey conducted Friday afternoon can be taken as normal, it is no surprise that during 1962 there were 42 vehicles with a cumulative value of $42,275 stolen in Big Spring. Of 109 cars found parked unattended in the downtown area, eight had the keys in the ignition. Only three were locked. SOME BETTER The survey included a nine-block area downtown, to determine what progress, if any, has been made to avoid car thefts over the past 14 years. The statistics show some improvement. In 1949 a survey on seven blocks in the business district showed 24 of 71 cars with keys in the ignition. Lack of a key is no great problem to the professional car thief, but very few of the local car thefts are by professionals. "Most of them are by persons beating their way across the country. This kind of thief won't bother with a car which is locked or which has no keys in it when there are plenty of cars around with the keys hanging in the switch," Banks said. He warned about leaving keys in cars parked in out-of-the-way places where they will be unattended for long periods. This is especially true at night. MAKE THEFTS EASY Another problem which arises because of carelessness is thefts of articles left within easy reach. Few persons bother to lock their cars even when they contain valuable articles. Friday's survey showed open cars containing clothing, packages, a rifle and assorted items of value. Many of the thefts occur when the owner leaves the car for a short time, not thinking it necessary to lock it, Banks said. A typical case occurred Friday night. A Big Spring woman left a purse lying on the seat of her car. She left the car unattended for about 10 minutes. When she returned, the purse containing about $70 was gone. "If you have packages or other valuables in the car, put them in the trunk or on the floor and lock the car," Banks advised.

Button Up Brother, Ole Groundhog Saw Shadow

Any weather-minded groundhogs in the Big Spring area who were out Saturday at dawn undoubtedly saw their shadow. And according to the old theory dealing with the meteorological abilities of the woodchuck family, the sight the groundhog saw should have sent him scurrying back into his den. He will stay dened up for another six weeks, his followers assert, because the sight of his shadow stirred fears of more winter. He could have been fooled, though, by the balmy temperature which prevailed at dawn Saturday. It was like spring at that hour. The balminess faded as morning advanced, and a chill brisk east wind destroyed illusions that spring was here. If the groundhog is right we should have cold, wet, wintry weather from now through March 16. Meantime, last month passed into history with the questionable honor of being the driest January in 42 years. It also tied the record as the driest January in the 63 years that records of precipitation have been kept in this county. Officially, the month had a "trace" of moisture. Grady Radel, with the U.S. Experiment station, said that what wee bit of wet there was came from snow flurries. Forty-two years ago, January 1912 showed the same lack of moisture—the official rating being "trace." February made its debut emphatic by stirring up a day of gusty wind and dust.

Dawson School Files Claim

LAMESA (SC)—Klondike School District has filed a damage suit in 106th District Court here for damages allegedly incurred when the roof of a newly-constructed gymnasium collapsed last Sept. 6. The board of trustees filed the suit against the contractor, F. C. Gipson Construction Co. and Traveler's Indemnity Co., which posted a performance bond of $148,133. The suit asks damages of $93,666 to complete the gym, $75 a day for 190 days from Aug. 23, scheduled date of completion, and $5,700 to clean up the debris. It alleges that field wells were defective and not properly installed, that truss tie-downs were not properly installed and the cantilevered trusses were defective and not installed in accordance with the plans and specifications.

New Telephone Directories Out

LAMESA (SC)—New city directories of General Telephone subscribers have been distributed here. In addition to listing Lamesa patrons, the directories contain subscribers in Punkin Center, Patricia and Hatch exchanges. The new books contain names of 398 new patrons and show numbers from 2000 to 7999 with the exception of the 4000 series which has been discontinued because of an inter-toll dialing problem.

Firemen Checking Buildings, Routes

Big Spring firemen, from all stations in the city, led by Fire Marshal A. D. Meador, have been making checks of all business houses, and public places, such as churches and schools, in their districts. "If we get a call from one of the places, we want the men to know where every critical apparatus is located, said Meador. "They may need to cut off the water quickly if a building becomes flooded, may have to shut off the gas supply to some equipment, or need to cut the power at the switch box. "They need to know where all rooms in the buildings are, and how to reach them, in an emergency. During the tours men learn where storage rooms are located, and where heating and air conditioning units are, in the buildings," the marshal said. The tours will be scheduled, where practical, every 60 days. These will include driving fire trucks over all routes during warm-up, and apparatus checking runs to know how to get to hydrants in the shortest time. During the inspection of buildings one man stays on the truck at all times to receive any calls in case of fire. He stops in front of the individual building being inspected. The inspectors also note fire hazards.

Check Sentence

Deputy Bill Whitton returned Leslie Terry from Odessa to Big Spring Friday afternoon. Terry, wanted here for writing a worthless check, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to serve 15 days in the Howard County jail. Whitton said that a hold order on Terry out of San Antonio has been filed in the sheriff's office.

Births Increase

LAMESA (SC)—Dawson County births started off the year with one of the largest monthly totals since January of last year. Births were tabulated at 52. Twenty-one deaths reported were the highest total since 25 were recorded in January of 1962.

Checking Sprinkler Equipment

Police Disperse Crowd Of Youth

Police were called to the Big M Drive in about 10:15 p.m. Friday to halt a disturbance before it could erupt. "We received a call from the owner saying that about 100 cars had gathered there," Jay Banks, police chief, said. "The crowd was dispersed before any trouble came up." No one was arrested, Banks said, because whenever a rihubarb of this nature occurs pinpointing blame is difficult. The youthful participants in the disturbance were sent on their way.

Driving Jayhawk

Conroy Lacy (22) comes driving down the court in the above picture, as David (Pete) Welch moves in to contest for possession of the ball. The action occurred in the HCJC-San Angelo basketball thriller here Saturday night. Lacy performs for HCJC, Welch for

San Angelo Rams Tip HC Hawks, 66 To 60

HCJC's Jayhawks, victim of two crippling blows late in the game, lost to San Angelo's reved-up Rams, 66-60, in a Western Conference cliff-hanger played before perhaps the largest crowd in the local college's history here Saturday night.

Conroy Lacy, playing one whole of a game, turned an ankle in the first half and ran on a flat wheel thereafter. That was had enough but when Ernest Turner fouled out with 7:48 to go in the game, that was the bitter end for Buddy Travis' team. HCJC was ahead at the time, 56-51.

The defeat was the first in history for a Travis team at home. His personal winning streak here extended over 30 games and nearly four years.

The win all but salted away first place in WC standings for the Rams, who came to play ball and never let the Hawks get many shots from close in.

At that, the locals outshot the Rams from the field, 23-20. San Angelo made good on 28 of 31 free shot opportunities while HCJC missed ten of 24.

The lead exchanged hands a dozen times during the contest.

San Angelo built up a five-point advantage at one stage in the first half while HCJC's biggest advantage was the margin at the end.

Bruce Tibbets, who did an excellent job of protecting the Ram basket, wound up as SAC's top scorer with 17 points. Kirby Pugh, who sat out much of the second half with four fouls, was close with 15.

Walter Carter, still favoring his injured hand slightly, tossed in 17 points for HCJC while Lacy zeroed in for 16, practically all of which he got before he fell heavily.

Conroy tried the injured ankle gamely in the second half but he had great difficulty in getting around and finally had to be replaced by Robert Hammack.

Two free shots by Charley Spieker gave the Rams a lead they never lost, at 62-60.

The visitors' last six points came as the result of penalty offerings. Tibbets made one, Alex DeCuir two and Spieker another one.

In the end, it was SAC's bench that made the difference. HCJC simply couldn't field the reserves to keep up the terrific pace.

The defeat was HCJC's fourth in 25 starts. San Angelo now has a 20-2 record and stands 9-0 in conference. HCJC is 7-2 within the league. The Hawks will be idle until Feb. 8, at which time they visit Odessa.

Charley Cumbers was pressed into action after Lacy was injured and played a fine rebounding game. He also tallied a dozen points, the same number scored by Turner.

Congressman Seeks Inquiry Of Snead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Victor Wickersham, D-Okla. urged Saturday a congressional inquiry into the hiring of a professional football player as a Peace Corps recruiter at what Wickersham said would be a $15,600 annual salary.

Wickersham said in a statement to the House Committee on Government Operations and the House Appropriations Committee to examine the hiring of Norman Snead, quarterback of the Washington Redskins.

Wickersham said Snead, a 1961 Wake Forest graduate, would be paid $75 a day. Apparently the congressman arrived at his $15,600 figure on the basis of 208 working days.

the days paid cannot exceed 130 per calendar year. Actually, it is expected Snead will work fewer than 130 since he will be available less than six months.

"Mr. Snead is 23 years old and is drawing $75 per day to recruit members who will be paid $75 per month," Wickersham said.

"He makes $20,000 per year with the Redskins. When informed he had been selected, Mr. Snead said he was pretty excited about it. I would be excited about it, too, if I were just one year out of college drawing $35,000 per year."

"Just who hired Mr. Snead? The Peace Corps doesn't know. Were any other applications taken? Were any announcements made as to the vacancy? The answer is no."

"Couldn't a professional coach with much more experience than Mr. Snead be borrowed from a university during the off-season?"

"I have nothing against the boy, he is a fine young man and an excellent football player. The question is, what qualification should a person have to be on the taxpayers' payroll at $75 a day?"

Abilene Triumphs In Golf Tourney

Ken Rhine Paces Rice To Victory

HOUSTON (AP)—Kendall Rhine scored 41 points Saturday night to lead the Rice University Owls to a 75-72 overtime victory over Southern Methodist University in Southwest Conference play.

ABILENE—Abilene High won a four-way golf meet involving teams from Abilene, Cooper, Big Spring High and San Angelo here Saturday.

The Eagles finished with a four-man aggregate score of 324 for 18 holes. San Angelo was second, at 326; Abilene Cooper third, at 327; Big Spring fourth at 346.

Medalist for the day was Cecil Salazar of San Angelo, who had a two-over par 74. The match was held at the Maxwell Muny course. Big Spring's scoring: Norman Patterson, 40-46-86;

Butch Bradford 44-42-86; David McCullough, 44-47-91; Neil Robinson, 41-42-83.

Jody Thompson also made the trip from Big Spring and toured the course in 47-47-94.

The first of five District 2-AAAA meets will take place here next Saturday, with all eight schools in the conference participating.

Dan Lewis, coach of the Big Spring team, will enter an eight-man team in next week's meet. The second such tournament will be held in Big Spring the latter part of February.

Hawks Capture Firsts in Two Track Events

LUBBOCK — Howard County Junior College won both events it entered in the Lubbock Indoor Track and Field Meet here Saturday night.

Milton Marrow copped the 600-yard run by about seven yards over Ray Patterson of Lubbock Christian. Marrow was clocked in 1:18.0 for the event.

George Ray, Odessa, was third in the race while Allen Newberry, Lubbock Christian, was fourth.

Marrow's time in the event would have been good enough for him to have placed fourth in the university class.

In the mile relay, HCJC's combination of Tommy Wise, Bruce Teagarden, Don Carter and Tommy Tarbo won easily, trouncing runnerup Lubbock Christian by over ten yards. Odessa was third and South Plains of Levelland fourth. The Jayhawks were clocked in 3:34.6 in the race.

The Hawks won a trophy in the relay race while Allen Newberry, Lubbock Christian, won 59-52.

Janice Rinehart of Big Spring placed fourth in the 60-yard dash (women's division). She was the victim of a bad start.

HCJC's track forces will next see action in Fort Worth's Southwestern Recreational show the first weekend in March.

Porkers Flog Aggies, 66-55

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Tommy Boyer scored 24 points, including five long field goals, in leading Arkansas to a 66-55 Southwest Conference basketball victory over Texas A&M Saturday afternoon.

But Skippy Coffman, a quick senior guard, saved the game for the Razorbacks by breaking a late A&M surge. He hit a layup and a free throw, then stole the ball and passed to Larry Wofford under the basket for two more points.

Both teams were left with 3-2 SWC records.

Arkansas led most of the way with Coffman sticking close to A&M's big scoring threat, Bennie Lenox. Lenox managed 14 points, 12 of them on free throws, and Jerry Windham led the Aggies with 13 points.

The Hogs went out front with 10 minutes 18 seconds to go in the first half on a 15-footer by Boyer. The Hogs led 30-26 at halftime and moved away by 14 points on a jump shot by Wofford with 11:24 left.

Then A&M began closing the gap and the score was 58-53 with 1:51 left when Coffman hit his driving, twisting layup, was fouled and made the free throw.

Wofford scored 17 points for Arkansas.

MIDLAND — Odessa Bowie rallied in the final half to defeat Big Spring Runnels, 58-49, in the finals of the Midland Junior High School Invitational Basketball Tournament here Saturday night.

The Yearlings, visibly tired from two days of campaigning, built up a 29-21 advantage at half time but couldn't hold it.

Tony Saracho scored 19 points and Joe Jaure 15 for Big Spring in the title game. Bowie, the Odessa city champion, had three boys in double figures.

Runnels Shaded In Meet Finals

In the semifinals, Runnels knocked off Odessa Ector, 59-52, after trailing at half time, 30-27. The Yearlings cut their disadvantage to a single point, at 41-40, at the end of three periods and finally took charge when play was resumed.

Jaure hit 25 points in that one for Runnels while Saracho had 19.

The split left Runnels with a 14-4 won-lost record. The Yearlings play Big Spring Goliah in the Big Spring High School gymnasium Monday night.

Jaure and Simon Terrazas of Big Spring Goliah were named to the all-tournament team.

Garden City Fems Defeat Sterling

GARDEN CITY—Sterling City remained in contention for the District 83-B basketball crown by defeating Garden City, 76-46, here Friday night.

In the girls' game, Garden City won, 58-13, to achieve its fifth conference win in six starts. Overall, the Garden City girls are 18-10.

Judy Hirt had 29 points and Reta Hardy 19 for Garden City. No one on the Sterling team scored more than four. Tavia Daniels played stellar ball in the backcourt for Garden City.

The Garden City team plays in Water Valley Tuesday.

GARDEN CITY (66) — Fleming 7-22; Plagens 4-19; Betts 3-17; Newsum 1-2-4. Totals 76-46.

STERLING CITY (46) — Payne 5-13; Williams 3-4-10; Strain 9-2-20; Coleman 4-1-9; Williams 5-5-15. Totals 46-76.

Nicklaus Keeps Grip On P. Springs Lead

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—National Open champion Jack Nicklaus got in another round of sub-par golf Saturday and maintained a firm grasp on first place with a 71 and a 72-hole total of 273 in the $40,000 Palm Springs Golf classic.

The 23-year-old former U. S. amateur champion came to the gallery-packed 18th hole at the Eldorado Country Club and got his par 5, settling for the 1-under-par 71.

Nicklaus thus goes into Sunday's final round of this fourth annual 90-hole desert show with a five-stroke advantage over Gary Player of South Africa.

Player had a 69 for 278 as he and Nicklaus played the par-36-72 Eldorado Course. It is regarded as perhaps the most dangerous one of the four in action for the tournament.

Tied at 279 were Gardner Dickinson and Wes Ellis Jr. Ellis' 65 at the Indian Wells Country Club was 6 under par and the lowest round of the tournament thus far. Dickinson had a 70.

Tommy Bolt, with a 70, Bob Shave, 72, and Jack Fleck, 66, were tied at 280.

Johnny Pott, five shots behind Nicklaus starting out Saturday morning, fell back with a 74 and a five-way tie at 281.

Arnold Palmer, who also played Eldorado, got in his first truly great round. He scored 35-33-68 and brought a roar from the gallery when he eagled the 18th. It gave Palmer a total score of 282, nine strokes behind the leader.

Palmer, who twice has won this tournament, had previous rounds of 71-72-71, as compared to Nicklaus' 69-66-67-71.

Ken Venturi of San Francisco accidentally played the ball of one of his amateur partners. He disqualified himself as soon as he discovered the mistake.

Bisons Win Fourth Straight Decision

STANTON—Stanton's Buffaloes won its fourth straight District 7-AA basketball game by flogging Alpine, 94-70, here Friday afternoon.

The contest was originally scheduled to be played in Alpine but was moved here.

Buddy Glaspie came within one point of equalling the all-time scoring record for Stanton when he stuffed the nets with 39 points. Bob Stephenson, who tallied 28 Friday, had set the record Tuesday against McCarney by scoring 40.

The Buffaloes, who are 20-6 for the season, jumped into an 18-10 lead at the end of the first period and were in charge at half time, 41-28.

BRUNSWICK, Md (AP)—Eleven men accused of gambling on a race track special train were ordered held over for the grand jury at a preliminary hearing in Brunswick Magistrate's Court Friday night.

Glaspie and Stephenson were the only two to hit in double figures for the Buffs. Molinar kept the Bucks in contention with a 24-point output while Granado tossed in 23.

No B game was played, since the Stanton reserves were entered in a tournament this weekend.

Stanton can go a long way toward winning the 7-AA championship by defeating Crane in Crane Tuesday night. The Buffs nosed out Crane in a close, hard-fought game in their previous meeting at Stanton.

Aoudads Likely To Be Classed As Big Game

By The Associated Press

Game and fish regulations again are a topic of the legislature.

The first outdoor measure to pass either house this session is a bill to convert the old causeway across Copano Bay near Refugio into a fishing pier. It is in the House after Senate approval.

Another which recently got Senate approval puts West Texas aoudad bery and desert big horn sheep on the state's list of big game animals. Sen. A. J. Rogers of Childress presented the bill after someone shot one of the aoudad sheep and law officials were unable to prosecute.

The aoudads were imported from North Africa by the Game Commission and placed in Palo Duro Canyon about five years ago. The commission says an open season on the animals may be possible within two years.

These bills are only two of about 35 introduced during the first month, including the big one to merge the Game and Fish Commission with the State Parks Board. This is awaiting a committee hearing.

A game official reports that about 35 introduced deer and elk herds has provided a few hunters with lots of action. The herd, in the Guadalupe Mountains in the Trans-Pecos area, loses about 12 to 15 elk each season to hunters. In 1962, 4 bulls at an average of 750 pounds each and 7 cows averaging 600 pounds each were killed.

Another outdoor survey shows that Americans spent $8.5 billion for outdoor recreation in 1961-60. The report, by the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission, said the greatest expenditure of federal funds in the Southwest was in Texas, $14 million during the 10-year period. Only California, with $20 million ranked higher in the nation.

One Central Texas writer says he's puzzled by anglers who will go on a weekend fishing trip, stay in a $10-per-night room, eat steak for every meal, rent a boat and then complain about spending $2.15 for a fishing license.

"If a person goes fishing just once a year, one time, he's reaped the benefit of a fishing license. Everything from then on is a bonus," the writer said.

At Galveston, a group of business-minded students plans to construct a fishing platform one-half mile out in the Gulf of Mexico and connect it to land with a cable-car system. The cars, traveling 500 feet per minute, would take about five minutes to reach the platform. The purpose of moving the platform out in the Gulf is to get fishermen out where the water is clearer.

Estimated cost of the project is $500,000 to $700,000.

Lake Jackson fisherman Jim Jones is talking tarpon again. A Houston writer says this is nothing unusual since Jim is always either talking about them or catching them. Catching tarpons is Jim's real specialty — he's taken the first tarpon in the so-called New Brazos River near Freeport for three years. He's waiting now for the first silver king to show up, probably in late February.

Many Texas sportsmen claim the Texas Water Safari April 29 is one of the most exciting sporting events in the nation. It is a 500-mile boat race from San Marcos to Corpus Christi. Transportation is limited to paddles, oars and sails, or any combination, and contestants are required to carry everything they need for the beginning.

It's open to everybody who posts a $25 entrance fee. Thousands of dollars in prizes are being offered.

Some fishing outlooks:

Texoma — Black bass, crappie and catfish doing fair.

Belton — Few anglers that were out got some blacks.

Grapevine — Fishing slow, mostly by barges.

Whitney — Few blacks and crappie hitting.

Port Aransas — Fishing slow, mostly drum and sheepshead being caught.

Port Mansfield — Prospects good.

Galveston — Fog holding fishermen in, but fair trout catches reported. Offshore trips bringing in big red snappers.

Brumel Beats Thomas But He's Distressed

NEW YORK (AP) — "Bah," grumbled Russia's world high jump record holder, Valery Brumel, today, "those short spikes, they are no good for me."

Brumel, who has a world record of 7 feet, 5 1/2 inches pending, whipped America's John Thomas for the seventh time in seven tries Friday night in the Millrose Games in Madison Square Garden, but instead of being happy he was upset over the turn of events.

After he had beaten Thomas by clearing 7-2 before a standing room only crowd of 16,212, Brumel decided to keep going and try to break his own indoor record of 7-3 1/2 which he set the last time he was here in 1961.

The first time, he didn't even get off the ground. On his second try, he hit the bar on the way up, and on the third try, he fell flat again.

Very embarrassing for a world champion and he didn't take it easily.

"These spikes are too short," he complained holding them up. Sure enough, they were down to practically nothing.

It was a great night for the Russians, despite Brumel's reaction. Not only did he continue his mastery over Thomas, but Igor Ter-Ovanesyan whipped his nemesis, Ralph Boston, for the first time after eight failures and broke the indoor broad jump record to boot, going 26-10.

Boston's recognized record is 26-6 1/2. The Ter also has a 27-3 world outdoor mark up for recognition.

Further, in the most startling development of all, Valery Bulshev, the third member of the touring Russian crew and sort of a forgotten man among Brumel and Ter-Ovanesyan, won the half-mile in 1:50.8. This fellow finished second in the 800 meters in the European championships last summer in Belgrade, and is reputedly the finest middle distance runner ever produced in Russia. He certainly looks it after beating Ernie Guniliffe and Jim Dupres with a fast finishing kick.

Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, who just turned 20, won the Wanamaker Mile in 4:01.5 after pushing past Cary Welsiger of the Marines in the final lap.

Sam Perry, an 18-year-old Fordham freshman, scored a stunning 6.3 upset in the 60-yard dash, beating ex-Villanova ace, Paul Drayton, by a stride.

Zephyrs May Move Club

CHICAGO (AP) — The future of the National Basketball Association's Chicago Zephyrs appeared shaky Saturday with owner Dave Trager admitting that if he does not get a better deal the club might have to leave the city.

Trager's biggest complaint appeared to be against the owners of the Chicago Coliseum where the Zephyrs, under rental obligations, have to draw more than 4,500 each game to break even.

"This is the second year of operations for the Chicago entry and Trager admitted that "we are not silly enough to expect a team to challenge for the title in its second year. Nor do I expect to show a profit."

"But I do want to keep the losses down, and if we're going to do that, we need a better rental deal."

The Zephyrs, apparently, are one of four NBA teams being sought by Baltimore, which has sent out feelers. The Baltimore offer for the entire franchise is about $700,000. However, Zephyr General Manager Frank Lane says he has been offered $330,000 for three of his players.

This figure would probably include Walt Bellamy, Terry Disinger and one other player.

Roscoe Inflicts Loss On Rotan

ROSCOE — Roscoe inflicted a 57-33 District 6-A basketball defeat on Rotan here Friday night.

Clifford Jones tossed in 23 points for Roscoe, which now stands 4-3 in conference play. Bill Ashton led Rotan with 13.

Sunland Jockey Eyes Calories

EL PASO—Ladies—so you think you have a battle with the scales. Consider the jockeys at Sunland on their being 5-25 pounds underweight.

The riders themselves have their own systems for weight control.

Billy Powell, 35, and a veteran of 14 years in the saddle, has a normal weight of 145 pounds, yet he maintains riding weight of 112-118 lbs. His secret? Discipline at the meal table. Says Powell, "I have a warm glass of water first thing in the morning, and that's it until evening when I have a normal meal."

Sounds torturous? "Not so," says Powell. "If I were to eat a regular breakfast, I'd be hungry all day. But if I abstain, maybe just drink some coffee or tea during the day. I'm not really hungry before I eat my evening meal."

However, Powell, who was Sunland's leading rider of the 1961 spring season, does not recommend his diet for just anyone who wishes to lose weight. First, he declares, they wouldn't stay on it anyway. Secondly, only a person who is in perfect physical condition should undertake such a crash program.

Powell rides and exercises an average of 45 horses a week. And if anyone doesn't think controlling 100 pounds of thoroughbred fury is exercise, it is suggested they not try it until they are physically fit. His body is lean and hard and his stomach is drawn from years of diet.

Powell's advice for those who wish to lose weight — Eat light, keep fit, and forget any so-called magic formulas. Adopt a low-calorie diet, stay with it—and no fudging between meals. Adds Powell, "It isn't easy, but then it really isn't hard; it's the first 14 years that are the toughest."

While 32-year-old Gale Mower, who holds the Sunland riding record for most wins in a single season, has a weight problem, his diet differs from that of Powell.

Unlike Powell, who eats but one meal, Mower consumes three, although they are very light. Breakfast consists of toast and coffee, a bacon and tomato sandwich for lunch, and a normal evening meal at night. On race days, he particularly watches his liquids and only sips a cold citrus soft drink when he is extremely thirsty.

If he is several pounds over his normal riding weight of 115 pounds, he "pulls" the required poundage in the jockeys' steam room, called the "snake pit" by the riders. Mower is 5 ft. 7 inches, and has an unusually large frame for a jockey.

Why is weight so important? If a horse is in a race with 112 pounds, a trainer doesn't want the rider coming in at 116, which would require his charge to carry four precious pounds overweight. According to normally accepted performance standards, one pound is equal to 1-1/2th of a second, which is considered equal to one length in a race at one mile. And when a nose sometimes spells the difference between victory or defeat,

Runnels Wins Tournament Game Friday, 64 To 58

MIDLAND—Showing a fine reversal of form, Big Spring Runnels raced by Midland Austin, 64-58, in the second round of play in the Midland Junior High Invitational Basketball tournament here Friday night.

Big Spring Goliad lost, however, yielding to Odessa Bowie, 36-34. James Carver, an eighth grader, was pressed in to action for Runnels and played a fine game on the boards, as did Joe Juarez.

Runnels trailed at half time in its game, 27-22, but outscored the Austin team, 19-8, in the third period and went ahead to stay.

In the last half, Tony Saracho proved to be especially effective for the Yearlings. He wound up with 20 points, the same number scored by Juarez.

Austin had started the meet as one of the favorites in the tournament. Goliad appeared to be off form

Sand Pump

Bob Wash, co-owner of the Forsan Oil Well Servicing Company, prepares to deliver a sand pump to one of the wells in the Howard-Glasscock field. It will be used to clear the sand out of a well which will be fractured to increase production.

Pulling Rods

Whenever a pumper is worked over, rods and tubing must be pulled. Operator R. J. Courtney, left, operates the draw works which pull the rods on this workover unit at Royal Oil and Gas and Cosden No. 8 Roberts. Roustabout John Riffe keeps a gloved hand on the rod as it comes out to sling the oil from it, preventing dripping from above. At the right is roustabout Robert Newcomb.

Checking Tubing

The tubing on this project had a split about two feet long. When it was pulled out of the hole, and pressure taken off, the split closed and was difficult to find. Here, Charles Wash, right, watches the crew on one servicing unit prepare to check the tubing at the site of the suspected split.

Record Earnings In Fourth Quarter

By MAX R. SKELTON
HOUSTON AP — Reports by major oil companies indicate the fourth quarter of 1962 was a record. Impressive earnings late in the year permitted several firms to reverse early declines. Standard Oil Co. Indiana, Sinclair, Atlantic, Phillips and Gulf were among those making sharp fourth quarter gains. Socony and Standard Oil Co. New Jersey were among those whose net earnings were on the plus side most of the year. Practically all the firms said depressed product prices aggravated their earnings. Indiana Standard recorded its first record earnings since 1955 but John Swearingen, president, said this was accomplished in spite of severely depressed prices through much of the year. Atlantic had its second best fourth quarter in history but Henderson Supple Jr., president, said 1962 product price realizations declined 13 1/2 percent. Sinclair's 1962 net was 31 percent above 1961 despite a $12 million decline in product price income. Gulf's fourth quarter was 16 percent better than a year earlier. Gulf officials said depressed prices and certain non-recurring expenses caused earnings the first 6 months to run 11 percent behind 1961. Healthy October-December operations contributed to a 14.6 percent 12-month gain for Socony. Mohl but Albert Nickerson, chairman, said U.S. products prices remain depressed. He attributed the gains to operating efficiency and record volumes. Jersey Standard recorded its first record income since 1956, reporting an 11 percent gain over 1961. M. J. Rathbone, president, said severe price pressures prevailed even though Jersey's world wide product sales volumes increased almost 7 percent. Phillips reported record fourth quarter earnings of $35 million, compared to $23 million a year earlier. K. S. Adams, chairman, said he expects 1963 earnings to exceed 1961. Atlantic's fourth quarter net of $18 million was $4 million above 1961. This boosted 1962's earnings to $46.2 million, compared to $45 million a year earlier. Gulf's fourth quarter was 16 percent better than a year earlier.

Oil Well Servicing Is A Complex Task

By JOE BEYER
Oil well servicing, like most aspects of the oil industry, has undergone many changes in the past decade. Once a simple operation requiring minimum knowledge and equipment, it now calls for a large investment and a working knowledge of current methods of handling oil wells. Well servicing operations take many forms, according to Bob and Charles Wash, co-owners of Forsan Oil Well Servicing, Inc., a typical modern service company. The work includes assistance with well completion and "doctoring" wells after they are on production. A common task for a service company is preparing a well for fracturing or other treatment. Frequently oil wells do not flow oil to the well bore quickly enough to make pumping economical. In these instances the pay formations must be stimulated. To perform this task rods and tubing in the hole must be pulled. When the pumping equipment has been taken out, the hole is cleaned with a sand pump. A sand pump is called into play again when the well has been treated. The pump is then put back into the hole, and if the treatment is successful, the well is ready to go to work again most efficiently. REPAIR WELLS A more frequent task is that of pulling tubing and rods to make repairs. In a field such as the Howard-Glasscock, there are many problems which afflict the casing. Rods slamming against the sides of the tubing as they move up and down, salt water and static electricity all place heavy burdens on the tubing. If a rod has broken, fishing equipment tools must be lowered into the hole and the section which is broken off brought to the surface. The damaged sections of tubing or rod can then be replaced. Four men usually operate each service unit. There is an operator who handles the draw works to lift the tubing and casing out of the hole, a derrick man, and two floor hands to connect or disconnect tubing. Work is done on an hourly basis. A few companies have tried to operate by contract, but this has usually not worked out well, according to Charles Wash. "There are too many circumstances which you don't know about until you go into the hole," he said. LOW CHARGES With four men working on each unit, the charges for working over a well usually amount to $18.50 an hour. Cost of the use of the equipment is $8 an hour, with the rest to take care of labor. A typical well workover in the Howard-Glasscock field would take about 12 hours, meaning a cost of about $240. The deeper the well is, the longer the work takes, hence costs go up. Another variable, perhaps the most important one in determining the cost of well servicing, is the length of time needed to clean the sand out of a well. Basic equipment has become a big investment. There must be a truck, drawworks, pole derrick, hand tools and wrenches to break all types of tubing and rods, tools for fishing rods, tubing or other equipment out of the hole, hydraulic power tools to unscrew pipe and sandpumps of varying sizes, to name only a few of the items. A typical rig costs from $45,000 to $100,000, depending on the size and depth capabilities. Tools needed are another $12,000 to $18,000 investment. Therein lies one of the largest headaches for the well servicing company. The investment must be large, yet the rate of return is small, compared to those of many other users of heavy equipment. "Many contractors in other businesses ask to be paid on the basis of $1 an hour for each $1,000 value of the equipment," Bob Wash said. "At that rate we should be asking something like $75 an hour instead of $18.50." Another problem is getting and keeping experienced men. A crew must be able to go to a location, do the job and then be able to report it finished to the company which operates it. "Only five years ago we could get a floor hand and have him trained in three days so he could do a creditable job. Now it takes six months to break a man in and then he is just a beginner," Charles said. The well servicing company, with its compact, portable units, is making the wood derrick obsolete in West Texas oil fields. Oil companies still sometimes maintain their own equipment to service wells, but because of the heavy investment, more and more are turning their work over to service companies.

AREA REPORTS To Test Spraberry In Smith Field

A. G. Kasper and Frank K. Calton will plug back the No. 1 M. V. A. Smith to check the lower Spraberry in the Smith field in Dawson County. It will be plugged back to 8,000 feet from an original total depth of 11,276 feet. Location in the five-well field is 1,900 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east line of section 34-C-41. PSL survey on an 80-acre lease about four miles southwest of O'Donnell. Tucker Drilling Co., Inc. of San Antonio has filed the No. 1 C. G. Munn as a 7,500-foot Ellenburger test in Tom Green County. The prospect spots C SW SW, J. S. Turner survey No. 1,118. It is about five miles southeast of the Hall (multiphase) field and about 20 miles northwest of San Angelo. The multiphase Harper field of Central Ector County has gained its second Connel production and a location southwest extension with the completion of Blair and Price of Midland No. 3 Moss. It potential for 402.66 barrels of 47.8 gravity oil per day, no water, and was gauged through a 20-64-inch choke. The flowing tubing pressure was 223 pounds and the gas-oil ratio 1.010-1. Producing perforations are at 12,157-164 feet and were treated with 1,000 gallons of acid. Operators are preparing to perforate and test the Ellenburger. After that zone is completed they will come back to the Devonian and Strawn. The Devonian was previously tested through perforations at 10,075-148.5 feet after treatment with 2,500 gallons of acid and 20,000 gallons of fracture fluid. The project is bottomed at 12,410 feet in the Ellenburger, 1,900 feet from north and east lines of section 34, block 44, T-2-S, T-AP survey and 11 miles west of Odessa. In southeast Upton County, E. G. Rodman and W. D. Noel of Odessa No. 120 University Longhorn has been completed as a Spraberry oiler two miles south of the Spraberry Trend Area and 1/2 mile north of the Flat Rock (Spraberry) pool. It finished on pump for 130 barrels of 41-gravity a day producing from perforations at 7,303-13 feet. They were washed with 500 gallons of mud acid and fractured with 30,000 gallons. Site is 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 20, block 3, University Lands survey and eight miles northeast of Rankin. Conoco To Beef Up Texas Exploration HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Oil Co. will spend about $13 million in exploration, production and marketing in Texas during 1963, L. F. McCollum, president, said Saturday. McCollum said this does not include the $15.3 million payroll for the company's 1,700 employees in the state, nor other normal operating expenditures. "Conoco plans to drill more than 40 exploratory and development wells in Texas during the year at a cost of $9 million," he said. Company wells currently produce 40,500 barrels daily.

Basin Rig Totals Remain About Same For Past Week

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire held to a steady level during the past week, according to the Friday weekly tabulation of Reed Roller Bit Company. The latest survey of the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico region listed 200 working units, a decline of one from the 201 counted the previous Friday. The Friday figure, however, is down 21 from the 221 active rotaries listed in that part of the two-state area a year ago. Lea County, New Mexico, held on to number one position despite a drop of three from 38 to 35 working rigs. The local eight-county area took a drop of one unit during the week, falling to 14 rigs. Three of the counties were listed as having no units in operation. Dawson County paced the local area with seven, half the total. Showing no activity were Garza, Glasscock and Sterling counties. A county-by-county breakdown of Friday's tabulation, with the previous week's totals in parentheses, shows: Andrews 11 (10), BORDEN 2 (3), Chaves 4 (4), Cochran 1 (1), Coke 1 (0), Concho 1 (1), Crane 12 (12), Crockett 5 (5), Culberson 1 (1), Dawson 7 (7), Ector 21 (19), Eddy 10 (6); Fisher 3 (3), Gaines 4 (4), GARZA 0 (1), Hockley 3 (4), HOWARD 2 (1), Hudspeth 1 (1), IRION 1 (0), Kent 1 (0), Lea 35 (38), Loving 2 (2), Lubbock 1 (1), MARTIN 2 (2), Midland 8 (8), MITCHELL 1 (1); Pecos 12 (10), Reagan 3 (4), Reeves 3 (3), Roosevelt 1 (4), Runnels 4 (5), Schleicher 1 (1), Scurry 2 (2), Stonewall 1 (2), Sutton 2 (2), Terrell 2 (1), Terry 0 (2), Tom Green 4 (3), Upton 9 (11), Ward 9 (8), Winkler 3 (6) and Yoakum 4 (5).

Cabot Head Expounds On Ethics

Louis Wellington Cabot, grandson of the founder of Cabot Corporation and now its president, is the author of an article which appears in the January issue of The Landman. Titled "Ethics, A Businessman's Responsibility," the article takes up changes of business and its relation to the persons who work and deal with it. Cabot takes a stand against a dual standard of ethics for business which some persons have defended. Considering the ethics of management, Cabot takes the view that businessmen must use the same standards of rightness and wrongness in business affairs as they use in their personal relationships. Cabot is a 1943 graduate of Harvard, where he received a bachelor's degree in engineering sciences. In 1953 he became vice president and treasurer of Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc., parent company for Cabot Corporation. He became president of Cabot Corporation in 1960, a newly formed corporation resulting from the consolidation of Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc., and its major domestic subsidiaries.

Firm Withdraws Exemption Plea

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Hydrocarbon Co. withdrew Thursday its application for exemption to requirements of the Railroad Commission's new order on slant-hole well drilling. The company sought exemption of its operations in the Corsicana shallow field. The commission said the request will be handled administratively, without a hearing. The new order, adopted in November, is aimed at preventing further slant-hole wells similar to those uncovered in East Texas during last year's investigation. The new rules require operators to run inclination surveys on all new wells and to submit the survey results with other routine data to the commission.

Changes Suggested In Taxing Minerals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the text of President Kennedy's recommendations to Congress Thursday on tax treatment of mineral industries which were included in his tax message to Congress:

Natural resources. We must continue to foster the efficient development of our mineral resources which have contributed so heavily to the economic progress of this nation. At the same time, however, in the interest of both equity and the efficient allocation of capital, no one industry should be permitted to obtain an undue tax advantage over all others. Unintended defects have arisen in the application of the special tax privileges that Congress has granted to mineral industries, and correction of these defects is required if the existing tax provisions are to operate in a consistent and equitable fashion. The changes recommended below will alleviate this situation and yield an additional $300 million per year in revenue.

NEED REVISION

The following areas in particular suggest the need for revision:

(A) Carryover of excess depletion. Under present tax law, mineral industries are permitted to deduct from taxable income a depletion allowance based on a per cent of gross mineral income but subject to a limit of 50 per cent of net income from each producing property. The intent of this net income limit is not always realized, however, because substantial amounts of development costs and other expenses incurred while the property is being developed are not brought into the net income limit for the purpose of computing the depletion allowance, but are instead charged off against income from other sources. The result is that in many cases percentage depletion far exceeds 50 per cent of net income earned over the life of the property, when net income is properly defined to include development costs.

One method of removing this defect in present law would be to provide that amounts in excess of gross income from the mineral property which are deducted against other income of the taxpayer, should be used to reduce the net income from the property (for purposes of computing percentage depletion) in later producing years. These carryover amounts could either be applied fully as the taxpayer obtains income from the property or be spread over several years. The amount of drilling and development expenditures when made would not be affected, but, regardless of when they were made, they would be taken into account in computing the 50 per cent of net income limitation on percentage depletion. This proposal would apply only to expenditures made in taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1963.

GROUP PROPERTY

(B) Grouping of properties. This same 50 per cent limitation imposed by the Congress has also been minimized by the effect of legislation enacted in 1954, which permitted large oil and gas producers to pick and choose properties to be combined into an "operating unit" for the purpose of computing depletion and reducing taxes. Percentage depletion historically has been computed separately for each mineral property. This grouping procedure has little or no business significance; and it benefits almost entirely companies with a large number of widely scattered mineral properties. The original strength and purpose of the 50 per cent limitation should be restored by returning to the rule that different oil and gas leases or acquisitions may not be combined for tax purposes, and that separate interests may be combined only if they are all on a single lease or acquisition. Such a change would bring tax rules regarding the grouping of properties into accord with business procedures.

CAPITAL GAINS

(C) Capital gains on sale of mineral interests. The Congress, in Section 13 of the Revenue Act of 1962, recognized that the owners of depreciable business assets were obtaining an unfair advantage by taking depreciation deductions against ordinary income greater than the actual loss in value, and then, upon the sale of an asset, paying only a capital gains tax on the recovery of these deductions. The Congress, therefore, decided that any gains realized on the sale of such property should be taxed as ordinary income to the extent that the cost of the property had been deducted in the past—still permitting the excess of the sales price over the original cost to be treated as a capital gain. This same rule, which under my capital gains proposals discussed below would be extended to a real estate and a variety of other situations, should also apply to mineral property subject to depletion, and would increase revenues by $50 million.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS

(D) Foreign operations. Inasmuch as American firms engaged in oil, gas and mineral operations abroad are permitted the same depletion allowances and expensing of development costs as domestic producers, their United States tax on income from those operations is frequently smaller than the foreign tax they are entitled to credit. The law should be amended to prevent an unused or excess foreign tax credit from being used to offset United States taxes on other forms or sources of foreign income. In addition, the deduction of foreign development costs should apply only to the income from those operations and should not be permitted to reduce the United States tax on their domestic income.

Action by the Congress in these four areas will adopt the most clearly justified steps needed to place the present system of depletion allowances in a more appropriate framework. In addition, both the administration and the appropriate committees of the Congress should study more closely the impact of the present percentage depletion rates and their applicability regardless of size or income on the development of our natural resources and the number of investors and producers attracted to the extractive industries. While these are complex as well as controversial problems, we cannot shrink from a frank appraisal of government policies and tax subsidies in this area.

Discoveries Logged Down This Year

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 161 oil wells were completed last week for a total of 844 this year.

This compares to 920 last year. The 11 oil wildcats reported last week make a total of 33 for the year compared to 32.

There were 13 gas wildcats and 49 gas well completions for the week. Dry wildcats totalled 58. There were 187 wells plugged, including 75 oil and 113 gas.

The total average calendar day allowable was 2,853,614 barrels compared to 2,741,705 Jan. 26.

Import Policy Blamed For Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Coal Policy Conference said Saturday the Kennedy administration's relaxation of residual fuel oil import controls has wiped out the jobs of at least 4,000 American coal miners.

And, said conference President Joseph Moody, it "has seriously aggravated the nation's No. 1 economic and social problem — the existence of substantial and persistent unemployment."

"This increased damage to coal and related industries during the past two years is particularly ironic in view of the fact that it was President Kennedy's dramatic primary campaign in West Virginia, the heart of which was a pledge to revitalize the coal industry and put hungry miners back to work, which paved the way for his nomination and election," Moody said.

The conference represents major American coal producers, the independent United Mine Workers of America, more than 30 coal carrying railroads, electric utilities which depend upon coal and manufacturers of mining equipment.

In a separate statement, Mine Workers President W. A. Boyle said a 17,000-barrel-a-day increase in residual oil quotas will displace 1.5 million tons of American coal and eliminate the jobs of more American coal miners in addition to those already unemployed because of waste oil imports.

Duncan Stakes Prospector To Check Depleted Canyon

Duncan Drilling Company, Big Spring operator, will drill one of two wildcats slated for Rummels County. That county also picked up a re-entry of a former failure.

Duncan and Keith D. Graham, Midland, No. 1 Vernon Webb was staked as a 3,100-foot project about three miles northwest of Ballinger. It is 1,400 feet west and slightly south of the depleted Canyon opener of the Ballinger (multipay) field.

Location is 1,900 feet east of the southwest corner, thence 2,374 feet north to location in A. Lessasser survey 174.

In the southwest part of the county Royal Drilling, Inc. of San Angelo and Thurman Armstrong of Tyler have staked location for a 5,000-foot test. It is No. 1 Eugene Barton, spotting 467 feet from the north and 2,170 feet from the east lines of section 85, T&N O survey.

The prospector is one mile south of Miles, five-eighths mile southeast of upper Strawn production in the Urban, West (multipay) field and one mile south of the Urban Miles (Capps) pool.

The re-entry is Will-Me Oil Corp., Dallas, No. 1 Cicero Smith. It will be cleaned out to 5,121 feet for tests of the Ellenburger, a zone which was abandoned in 1952 by Humble at 5,123 feet. The project is 3,300 feet from the southwest (the river) and 200 feet from the southeast lines of the Heirs of Samuel Blair survey 340, abstract 16, about 4 1/2 miles southwest of Maverick.

Menard Tests Set

Menard County has drawn locations for one Ellenburger wildcat and three Cisco prospectors. K & H Operating Company and Dixon Drilling Company of Abilene scheduled the Ellenburger try 10 miles northwest of Menard and five miles south of the multipay Wilhelm Lane field. It is No. 1 Sadie Wilkinson, 467 feet from north and 223 feet from east lines of section 27, T&N survey and is contracted to 4,000 feet.

The three Cisco ventures were staked by Wayne Petroleum Company of Abilene and are contracted to 1,000 feet.

No. 1-4 Belle Rogers spots 467 feet from south and west lines of section 4, block 1, Lee Murchison survey, abstract 1,842 and seven miles southwest of Menard.

No. 2-94 C. Albert Martin spots 467 feet from south and east lines of section 94, block 1, I&G N survey and six miles southwest of Menard.

No. 1-448 C. Albert Martin spots 467 feet from south and east lines of Fisher and Miller survey 448, abstract 234, five miles southwest of Menard.

Three Oilers Final In Area

Three new wells, all flowing have been completed in area fields. They were distributed evenly among Borden, Garza and Mitchell counties.

Phillips Petroleum Company has completed the No. 9 Boedeker as a Hobo (Pennsylvanian) oiler with an initial flow of 311.28 barrels of 42.2-gravity oil through a 14-44 inch choke. The Borden County well also produced 2 per cent water and had a gas-oil ratio of 1.235-1.

It was drilled from an elevation of 2,385 feet with a plugged-back depth of 7,103 feet. Pay was topped at 7,950 feet and 5/8 inch casing was set at 7,094 feet and perforated between 7,080-90 feet. Tubing pressure was 675 pounds, a packer was used and the pay zone was acidized with 500 gallons.

Location is 760 feet from the south and 1,580 feet from the west lines of section 30-25 I&T C survey.

KIRKPATRICK OILER

Shell No. 3-B W. M. Kirkpatrick in Garza County, flowed 208.35 barrels of oil on initial potential. It produced from perforations between 7,946-48 feet and 7,950-53 feet in 4 1/2 inch casing set at 8,196 feet. Gravity of the oil was 39.8 degrees, the gas-oil ratio was 400-1 and 1 per cent water was produced.

From an elevation of 2,541 feet, operator drilled to 8,197 feet and plugged back to 8,160 feet for a pay topped at 7,830 feet. The well spots C SW SW section 2-2, GH&H survey.

FLOWS IN IATAN

Socony Mobil No. 17 (UT) Mary Foster in the Iatan (San Andres) field in Mitchell County, flowed 126.34 barrels of 30.4-gravity oil on initial potential. It produced 35 per cent water and had a gas-oil ratio of 495-1.

The well was acidized with 1,000 gallons and fraced with 30,000 gallons. Tubing pressure was 220 pounds and casing pressure was 430 pounds. Elevation is 2,292 feet, total depth is 1,926 feet. Pay was picked at 1,885 feet and seven-inch casing is at 2,548 feet. Producing perforations are between 1,885-926 feet. Location is C NW NW, section 7-29, T&P survey.

TEN PIN ALLEY

Any night of the week the balls are rolling like thunder—in the lanes of the Bowl-A-Rama. Bowling is in full swing with both men and women competing in their leagues. And speaking of leagues the women are teamed under the names of Commuters, Blue Monday, Bowlerinas, Pin Poppers, Officers Wives, Orbit, Ladies Major, Ladies Classic and Sleepy Time Gals. Housewives, mothers, business women, young women and their seniors, all turn out for fun, exercise, competition and association in a common interest. Pictured are some of the top bowlers, with averages ranging from 170 to 180. Too, there are the enthusiastic regulars like Mrs. David Coppage who started with a 77 average and was chosen by her league on two occasions as bowler of the week with an average of 167. Rating high in scoring are Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Hood and Mrs. Glenn. Mrs. Hull, oblivious to the milling crowd, concentrates on her job as scorekeeper. Mrs. Fryer is pleased at making a strike, while Mrs. Cauble and Mrs. Wadsworth watch. Mrs. Davis, changing to her bowling shoes, makes ready to take her turn. It's all in an evening of pleasure.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1963

Ten Pin Alley Offers Facilities For All

COLUMBUS, Ohio — It used to be you'd have to go through a saloon to get to a bowling alley. These days you have to go through the bowling lane to get to the saloon — only be careful you don't wind up in the nursery or the beauty parlor by mistake.

Reason for the change? It's the ladies — some 2 1/2 million of them organized into the Women's International Bowling Congress, Inc. (WIBC).

The metamorphosis of bowling from the back room man's sport to entertainment for women and the family is not one of slow and steady growth. And neither is the growth of WIBC.

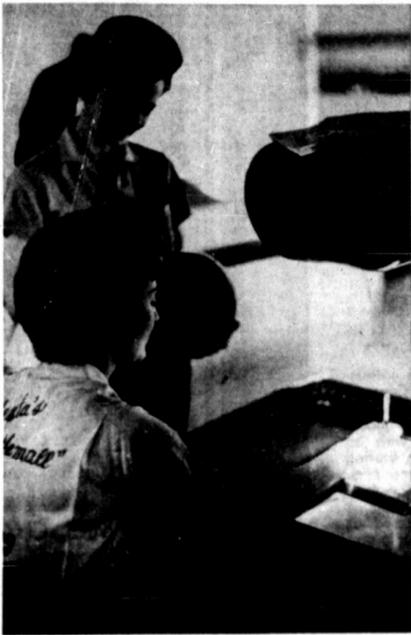

The women's congress began in 1916 with fewer than 40 members. It took until 1958 to reach the one million mark in membership. But since then growth has been phenomenal. Mrs. Virginia Fobear of Saginaw, Mich., became the two millionth WIBC member last Feb. 2. Since then another 250,000 women have become sanctioned bowlers.

WOMEN WROUGHT CHANGES
WIBC's home office on the banks of Columbus' Scioto River is a modern, one-story brick and glass building that was opened in 1958. It is now in the process of a 100 per cent expansion. Last year 30 office personnel operated the home office. Today 60 women are employed.

All women bowling in sanctioned leagues are members of WIBC. The women's group and the men's American Bowling Congress co-sanction mixed leagues.

Changes women have wrought start with the upgrading of the disreputable sounding bowling "alleys" to the more prestigious "lanes."

Then there's the fact that the more than 12,000 bowling establishments cater to women in design, color and comfort. Most of them have children's nurseries,

Of The Two Million

Mrs. Dwan Williams, standing, and Mrs. W. H. Davis are members of Big Spring bowling leagues including the Travelers League. They are two out of more than two million league bowlers.

installed reducing salons under the same roof.

SUMMER NOT SLACK

Women are coming in droves. There are grandmother leagues, grandma and grandpa mixed leagues, nurse and doctor leagues, housewife leagues, model leagues, airline stewardess leagues, and reportedly, an expectant mother league operating in Chicago.

Summer is no longer the slack season or the bowling proprietors. Air conditioned lanes operate all year round. WIBC reports the number of women's summer leagues has increased 100 per cent annually in the past two years.

The changes also show up in the sponsors of league bowling. Where as 10 years ago the majority of sponsors were mantly industries — breweries, construction outfits and taverns, there now are an increasing number of teams sponsored by beauty salons, diaper services and assorted groups looking for the woman customer.

THEY BOWL OFTEN

The women aren't half-hearted about their bowling. WIBC reports almost 60 per cent of the women bowl more than once a week. Of this, 36 per cent bowl in three leagues or more. So far this year, about a dozen women have bowled the perfect 300 game.

Griffe Has Showing Of Fashions

PARIS — Jacques Griffe, a perfectionist, presented his spring and summer collection today for the woman who knows and wants understated chic.

Griffe's collection has simple lines upsetting no standards and setting a pace of its own aimed at upper crust society.

His clothes are marked by the shirtwaist suit with curved edges, high notched collars and single-breasted buttoning. He also shows apron tunics with paneled skirts.

The only gag in his collection is a drum majorette's peaked cap in oversized proportions and fragile fabrics. Lesur wools and silks are among those favored.

For daytime, Griffe showed the overblouse and straight plain coats, often cut on the bias and usually dress length.

The tops of dresses are often treated to deep cowl necklines and slashed strips of fabric in the Renaissance mood.

How-To In Furniture Purchasing

TORONTO — When buying furniture many people want quality but don't know just how to look for it.

Finish, joinery and construction are just as important as the wood itself.

To overcome drying and consequent warping caused by central heating systems, manufacturers use crossing grains of wood in layers like plywood and this is just as good as solid wood, Watson says.

Poor quality wood is usually tinted a dark color and then lacquered, whereas good quality natural woods are oiled and have a dull patina rather than a high polish.

The tongue and groove type of interlocking joints are the sturdiest, and the moving parts, the drawers and the doors of any piece should move easily.

In better cabinets, there is a dust pan—a solid piece of wood which does not move—between the drawers. And there should be a rail affixed to this dust pan to guide the drawers straight in and out.

Into Its Own

The sporting set comes into its own with the approach of spring and summer. Duck, sailcloth, terry, poplin and knits all are showing up to advantage.

Sports separates in these include all types of pants from bell bottom slacks to the newly important short shorts, sailing parkas, golf jackets, beachcoats, skirts and tops.

In prints the favorite combination is white and black. Hugh paisleys, line drawn florals and abstract designs add drama to the fashion picture.

More Humidity

Flowers and greens in deep containers of water help to keep humidity in a room. When a home is kept closed and heated for a long time, it is wise to keep a pan of water over a fire. This also increases humidity.

Golf Association To Sponsor Five Events

Announcement of a Valentine coffee, Feb. 14 from 10 to 12 a.m., was made Friday at the Ladies Golf Association luncheon held at the Big Spring Country Club. The coffee will be held in honor of past presidents of the LGA.

Also announced were plans for the March meeting when the regular luncheon will be served and a crazy hat contest conducted. A prize will be given for the craziest hat chosen by the judges.

Mrs. Jack Magee reported on a bowling league being organized to include members and non-members. Harold Fischer explained the functions of the league.

Scotch foursome plans were told, scheduled for 1 p.m. today, Sunday, and the style show, scheduled for March 16, was discussed. The style show and luncheon reservations will be taken from now to Feb. 15 for members. Non-members may place their names on the waiting list and after the 15th, as many of their reservations as can be accommodated will be made. Tickets are $4.

Mrs. Beth Wilbanks was introduced as a new member. Guests were Mrs. Charles Tompkins, Mrs. Raymond River and Mrs. Judy Koenig. Door prize was received by Mrs. Joe Moss.

Class Luncheon Reported At First Methodist

Twenty-eight members of the Susannah Sunday school class of the First Methodist Church met Friday at noon in Fellowship Hall for a luncheon and business session.

Vice president Mrs. J. P. Meador conducted the meeting which was opened with a devotion by Mrs. Cora Miller.

A hostess group headed by Mrs. D. C. Pyle served lunch to members seated at a U-shaped table. Centerpieces were of roses and greenery.

The closing prayer was worded by the Rev. Dewitt Seago.

GA Program Is In Kinard Home

A program of songs and scriptures was given at the home of Mrs. J. A. Kinard by 19 members of the Baptist Temple Girls' Auxiliary Wednesday evening.

Gathering beforehand at the church, the group planned a mission program which will be presented Feb. 6.

Ten Years To Get Ready?

The Rev. and Mrs. James A. Puckett, 804 E. 13th St., arrived in Big Spring on Jan 1 as he began his pastorate at the Baptist Temple. Since the church was organized ten years ago on the same Sunday that he became a minister, he feels perhaps he has been preparing ten years for the position here. Daughter, Carol, stands by her mother and son Jimmy is at his father's side.

She Is An Answer To A Minister's Prayer

By JO BRIGHT
According to the Rev. James A. Puckett, his wife, Edna, came as a direct answer to prayer. Moving to the small town of Quitman, after having finished high school in Tyler, he discovered that just about the time he became interested in young ladies, they seemed to be very scarce in his community. At least, Christian young ladies of marriageable age made up a minute percentage of his congregation. Why worry when he could pray? One late, lonely night under a full moon he said he prayed that God would send him a girl friend. Perhaps he was not too surprised when next Sunday, apparently from nowhere, there appeared an attractive blonde girl at the church services. The engagement was announced soon afterward.

Rev. and Mrs. Puckett moved here from Wortham where he had been pastor of the First Baptist Church and moderator of the Bi-Stone Association which is formed of 32 Baptist churches in Central Texas. He is the new pastor at the Baptist Temple, Eleventh Place and Goliad. This is the third church that Rev. Puckett has served since finishing seminary, in addition to three student pastorates while in school.

A graduate of Tyler Junior College, he received a bachelor of arts degree at Baylor University and attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., where he earned the divinity degree.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Puckett came from religious homes. Her father was a preacher and his father was a deacon of the church. However, neither planned for the pastorate as a career. He grew up being influenced by family members who were lawyers, and spent a great deal of time in the court house since his father was a county sheriff. He had started work on pre-law studies before deciding to enter the ministry.

Mrs. Puckett attended Tyler Junior College and Baylor University. She also has had secretarial training. They both are natives of Wood County, and were born in adjoining communities.

Neither of the Puckett children are natives of Texas. Jimmy, 5, who wants to be a preacher like his dad, was born in Louisville, Ky. Carol, 3, is the Yankee of the family since she was born in Michigan. She is a dainty, blue-eyed child with a burning desire to be a basket twirler.

Mr. Puckett's outside interests include the Dale Carnegie Alumni Association for the improvement of human relations and adult scouting. Mrs. Puckett enjoys sewing. However, they both agree that there is so much to be done in the church that there is little time for activities not connected with it.

Betsy Stops Traffic In A Model A Coach

RICHMOND, Va. — Betsy Gonner creates quite a stir when she heads for work each morning. If fact, people stop and stare. Some of them even follow her.

For Betsy is a young girl who drives a very old car—a 1931 Model A coach. "People usually smile and wave," she says. "One man pulled me to the side of the road once, then came on home to help me with repairs. Others stop me and ask me questions."

Betsy doesn't mind. She believes her black, box-shaped car with red wheels brings out the best in people.

"They enjoy it. It makes them smile," she says. Betsy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gonner, also owns a 1931 roadster, but it has been in a state of disrepair since she got it.

"It might be on the road by spring," she says hopefully. Betsy uses the car to drive to and from her work as a doctor's receptionist. She also drives it around town on weekends and takes friends for rides.

One day Betsy took the black box onto a nearby turnpike and the roof literally fell in.

"We put the front window down," she explains, "and the wind blew the inside part of the roof down on top of us."

Another time she took her boss, Dr. Robert B. McEntree, for a ride and threw him into the back seat when she started. She had forgotten to hook the seat to the floor.

Besides doing the polishing and touch-up paint tasks, Betsy also tackles minor repair jobs on her car. She has even upholstered the seats.

But the old car will probably soon depart Betsy's life. She is planning to be married in June and her fiance has a car—a rather new one. She figures that three cars would be too many. The Model-A will have to go.

Buttons Backwards

Designer Pauline Trigrere is another who believes in doing things backwards once in a while. A part of her spring line includes jackets meant to be buttoned that way.

Use Garage

Large articles such as lawn mowers, rakes and carts may be hung from perforated hardboard panels with heavy-duty hooks. Screens and storm windows may be stored flat on boards placed across overhead rafters in the garage.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

The warm springlike weather came a little early this year. If the dust would stay away perhaps people could get a little pre-spring housecleaning done and be ready for that other cold blast that always hits us when the vegetation is lured into putting on its greenery.

The women will most likely be getting the feel of getting new clothing, and from what we read a must will be something pink which will likely match their noses when Old Man Winter lets go with that last frigid blow.

Houseguests of the R. D. ULREYS are two of her sisters, MRS. E. F. BURGER of Byers, Colo., and MRS. H. E. RHODES of Racine, Wis. The two sisters accompanied the Ulreys back here from Byers where the family had also visited another sister, MRS. N. T. DAY. The two visitors plan to be here several weeks.

There is a flurry of hard work going on about town among local women's club officers and district chairmen who are intent upon getting their reports into district headquarters on time. Also there are a great many publicity chairmen who are far behind on their news clippings... this is the time they always wish they had been on their toes when their news appeared.

MRS. J. R. CALDWELL of Bovina is visiting in the home of her sister, MRS. W. F. TAYLOR, and Mr. Taylor. Other guests during the week were MR. and MRS. C. B. CALDWELL of Midland and her mother, Mrs. Boyd of Houston.

Mrs. Taylor returned from Dallas early in the week where she had been with a daughter, MRS. O. B. CAVE of Roby who had undergone back surgery. Another daughter, MRS. ELMER ATWOOD, is now in Roby to be with her sister who was brought home from Dallas during the week.

MRS. R. RICHARDSON is in Fort Worth as the houseguest of her sister-in-law, MRS. BETTY POWMAN. She was called Thursday evening and notified of the passing of a girlhood friend, MRS. GUY KELLEY SR., for whom services were held in Kaufman Saturday afternoon.

Newcomers Have Coffee

The Newcomer's Club met for coffee at Coker's Restaurant Thursday morning with Mrs. L. R. Fortenberry as hostess.

The group will gather at 2 p.m., Feb. 14, in the lounge of the Carlton House. Mrs. Joe English will be the hostess for the meeting when officers for the new club will be elected. All women who are new residents here are invited to attend.

Fellowship Is Planned Today

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pettus, 1609 Main St., will be host and hostess for a social gathering Sunday evening.

Members of the Friendship Seven Sunday school class of Trinity Baptist Church will meet in their home after services for an evening of fellowship.

White Makes Resort News

No matter what the weather, all forecasts point to a white cotton resort season, reports the National Cotton Council.

White cottons cover the fashion front with designers featuring these fabrics in such diversified clothes as sportswear, coats and evening wear.

Pure white tones from bleached to ivory as well as white with color are highlighted. Whited pastels that look chalky and prints on white backgrounds indicate the wide scope of this color favorite.

Cotton pique in deep waffle or sculptured novelty weaves, petit point pique, cotton moire and embroidered cotton with the look of matelasse are outstanding in solid white. These show up in full-skirted dance dresses, slender tunic ensembles, dressy raincoats and elegant at-home outfits.

Kathie Bailey Honored With Birthday Party

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. E. M. Bailey honored her daughter, Kathie, with a birthday party Friday afternoon in their home. Seventeen classmates and other guests played games and received favors. Mrs. Bailey was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. Bobby Calley and Mrs. Sue Holguin.

Guests during the week with the Jim Craigs and Mrs. Vera Harris were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kelley and Carolyn of Odessa.

Bob Shelton of Big Lake was here to visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cardwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tyree of Balinger visited here with Mrs. George Overton and Mr. and Mrs.

Jesse Overton this week. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Strickland of Andrews were Friday visitors with the families of E. M. Strickland and E. L. Strickland.

Mrs. J. P. Kubecka was hostess at a demonstration party held in her home which 15 guests attended. Mrs. W. F. Swiger was the early bird guest and Mrs. O. W. Fletcher won the lucky lady prize. Mrs. Billy Watson of Big Spring was in charge of the party.

Style Conscious?

Hip fashions among the male teenagers are slacks that include hidden combs, and double-breasted, brass button jackets.

Buying Snake Hips

Women with several hundred dollars to spend for a pair of sports pants are buying snake hips. They are also covering themselves with alligator skins. The new, slinky sports trousers are one more faze in the craze for leather from one source or another.

New Packaging

Because perfume changes its aroma after contact under certain conditions with metal, a French organization has spent two years working out a plastic and glass dispenser system. It is now on the market.

Quick rarebit: heat canned cream of tomato soup and then melt cheese in it.

Knowing Carpet Terms Is Help To Homemaker

No, you don't have to take an encyclopedia under your arm when you go carpet shopping.

Even though you may not recognize a tuft from a twist, a few simple definitions of carpet terms will instill a degree of knowledge that will help you to hold your own with the carpet salesman. Here are the basic terms used in the trade:

Carpet — available in various widths, purchased by the yard and mostly used to cover wall-to-wall areas.

Rug — designed to cover a specific important area in a room. Available in full range of sizes.

Natural fiber — fiber that is sheared from a living animal or grown by nature in a fibrous form. Synthetic fiber — fiber that is man-made from coal tar, natural gas and other non-fibrous substances, designed to achieve some of the properties of natural fibers.

Pile — yarns that stand erect from the base of the carpet and form the surface. Pile edges can be cut or looped. Most important factors are height and density of pile. Weight, type and grade of fiber and construction all affect wear and appearance.

Texture — depends on weaving methods. Construction procedures determine the variations available, but all techniques now offer some degree of texture interest.

Ply — this is the term for the number of single yarns spun together to form one tuft. The more ply, the stronger the tuft.

LIVING IN ALASKA

Nome, Alaska Is Still A Remote, Isolated Place

This is the second in a series of weekly articles, treating informally the experiences in Alaska detailed by Mrs. Richard L. Davis, who, with her husband, was stationed in the 49th state for nearly four years.

By LOIS DAVIS

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like Nome! As tramped the unpaved streets and board sidewalks of that historic community, I felt I was finally seeing Alaska as I had expected it to be before going to Anchorage. Twenty-eight wives from Elmendorf AFB had traveled to Eskimoland via a Reeve Aleutian Airways chartered plane. We left the husbands at home to baby sit and took off one weekend to roam Nome and view Kotzebue, the second largest Eskimo village in Alaska.

The weather remained clear and pleasant for the flight over the Alaska Range and Norton Sound to Nome. A boom town of 40,000 in the early 1900's, there remains very little in the Nome of today to suggest that $170,000,000 in gold has been recovered from that area. But considering the demoralizing disasters that have occurred since the city was founded as a gold rush town, it is a wonder anyone stayed on at all.

In 1913 a great tidal wave swept away all the buildings on the main street along the beach. In 1924 a fire destroyed 12 city blocks, including the elegant Gold Gate Hotel which covered a city block.

Somehow Nome survived these catastrophes but has never been rebuilt except for the army installations used by the 10,000 United States troops stationed there in 1941 when World War II was centered in the North Pacific. If a highway is ever completed from Fairbanks, Nome would become a tourist boom town and perhaps begin to grow. At present you can go to Nome only by airplane or boat.

WOMEN'S HANDIWORK

Upon arrival in the Midnight Sun metropolis, we checked into the North Star Hotel and then walked to the building which houses the Nome Skin Sewers Co-op. There we examined the handiwork of the Eskimo women who fashion beautiful and practical parkas, mukluks, Lapp boots and slippers from the fur and hide of the hair seal, fox, reindeer, rabbit and squirrel. I was particularly interested in the slippers most commonly made with the bleached seal skin sole, hair seal tops decorated with beadwork, white rabbit or red fox trim and lined with clipped reindeer or squirrel.

All footgear is purchased according to the outline of the foot instead of a shoe size. The Lapp boots with the turned up toes have been adopted since the first reindeer herds were imported to Alaska from Finland and Lappland some 60 years ago along with the men to tend them. The Eskimos did not accept the reindeer at first and fed the meat to their dogs. Now however, the reindeer is an important part of the economy.

IVORY CARVERS

Next on our agenda was a sight seeing tour on the only bus in town. We drove a short distance to the King Island Eskimo village to stop at the "store" of the ivory carvers. The Eskimo families who live there only during the summer months had arrived the previous evening with the carvings that had been completed during the winter on King Island. Unlike the Little Diomedede craftsmen who concentrate on items of jewelry, the King Islanders specialize in animal figurines and engraved articles such as cribbage boards made of whole walrus tusks.

The men were all dressed in modern clothing but the women and children wore the calico covered summer parkas.

Before leaving the village, a few of us crossed the road to the beach and the more hardy individuals decided to pan for gold. There were several reasons why I didn't do any panning. The wind off the Bering Sea was so cold that my hands were already freezing and besides, no one had the least idea about how to pan gold.

The gold isn't lying around in plain sight waiting for someone to pick it up and you are very fortunate to find even the smallest particles.

I ambled along the beach enjoying the view and taking pictures like all the other inveterate amateur photographers who could scarcely focus fast enough to capture the "local color." Several large native skin boats called oomiaks were beached near the shore line. These are made by lashing the thick hides of the narwhal (bearded seal), walrus, or beluga (white whale) to a driftwood frame. The lashings are seal rawhide strips. More frequently used now than the one man kayak, the oomiak will carry 14 to 40 people

Best Flower Buys For Season Cited

Carnations, roses, gladioli, snapdragons and streptocarpus are in plentiful supply and are considered "good buys" for table decorations and other displays in the home.

To prolong their life, use a sharp knife, cut diagonally the stem ends of these flowers. Place them in a container of warm water, remove all foliage (including the thorns of roses) below the water level and add a commercial flower preservative to the water.

Also, keep arrangements of these cut flowers away from drafts and direct sunshine, and place them in a cool location. Add warm water to the flower containers every two or three days. If stem ends get soft or decay, re-cut the stems diagonally to remove that portion.

Retirement For Mrs. Anderson

By JO BRIGHT

Seventeen years of doing business at the same old stand came to an end this week for Mrs. Chess (Laura) Anderson.

Literally turning in her order book, Mrs. Anderson retired from the job she has held here with Sears, Roebuck and Co. since 1945.

During a dinner held in her honor at Coker's Restaurant, L. Threadgill, personnel director of the catalog order plant in Dallas, expressed appreciation for Mrs. Anderson's years of service to the company and local customers. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lutes of Lamesa, where he is the district supervisor, presented her with a corsage. She received a money tree from fellow employees.

PROMOTED

Starting as a saleslady in the catalog order store, Mrs. Anderson was later made assistant manager and served as manager from 1953 to 1955. The long tenure of service was spent in the local store except for a few months during 1951 when she was employed in Elmira, N. Y. Arriving there to spend the winter, she visited the Sears store and promptly was asked to go to work. She couldn't resist, although her plans were to rest.

Over the years, Mrs. Anderson has seen many changes in store operation as the organization expanded. In 1945, the mail order house—now referred to as a catalog order—was located on Third Street. At that time, a $500 sales day was considered a very good. Orders then were made strictly from pictures and descriptions given in the catalog, since there were no appliances in the office to show the customers. She said it was a day of rejoicing when the first TV and refrigerator arrived here for display purposes.

GREW UP HERE

Mrs. Anderson's family came to Big Spring in 1912 from New Mexico. She attended school at Moore, a community that was located about four miles north of here, but is now just a memory. Her marriage to Chess Anderson was in 1915. She would rather talk about their sons, Gerald and Gene, than herself. Both attended schools here and graduated from McMurry College in Abilene. Gerald earned a master's degree at North Texas, and is now an English teacher and junior football coach at Gilmer. Gene is in the electrical contracting business at Willis Point.

For the next year, Mrs. Anderson plans to travel—and sleep late every morning. After vacationing from coast to coast, her new home will be in Gilmer, where she can be near grandchildren.

Goodbye sounds too final, she thinks, so it isn't being said. Mrs. Anderson plans to return here frequently to visit with her sister, Mrs. M. E. Broughton, and customers that became friends over the years.

Avoid Flu

Hot stuffy rooms and too many people in a room may cause many cases of colds and flu. It is best to keep the thermostat setting of your heating system at 68 degrees while many people are in your home. If the rooms get stuffy, open a window and let clean air in.

Style Notes

Mrs. James E. Roberts, left, wore a name blouse for the style show at Webb Officers Club Friday. Also a model, Mrs. Jerry Bickenbach was attired in a gold silk overblouse.

Welcomes, Farewells Made At Webb Coffee

Wives of permanent party at Webb Air Force Base were honored Friday morning when a "Hi and Bye" coffee was held at the Officers Club. Featured during the morning hours was a fashion show, displaying maternity wear. Wives of Class 64-C were hostesses.

Mrs. Veryl Hewitt, who is leaving for Thailand, and Mrs. K. L. Nellermeo, going to Toul Rosieres, were honored, as well as newcomers to the permanent party, Mrs. J. E. Bold from Randolph AFB, and Mrs. R. E. Jernan, Stead AFB, Reno, Nev.

Wives of Class 64-E, welcomed by the Officers Wives Club, were Mrs. William Cooper, Mrs. Esmer Durham, Mrs. Robert Fox, Mrs. Robert Franco, Mrs. Kenneth Furbush, Mrs. Charles Helton, Mrs. Jerold Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Keeler, Mrs. William Long, Mrs. Jerry Marples, Mrs. Charles Moore, Mrs. George Tobin, Mrs. Kenson Vance and Mrs. Thomas Wood.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Bold and Mrs. Jernan. In keeping with the party theme, pink and blue gladioli with miniature storks were used as the centerpiece for the coffee table. Some 100 guests were served.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MOLLIE HARTZOG

The unseasonal and unexpected spring weather this week beckoned us out into the city park with a side trip to the Big Spring area. With a radio report of temperature in the 70's, we were tempted to remove our shoes and try the water. However, it would have meant a broken toe. The Big Spring had a covering of 6 inches of ice so we tried ice-sliding instead. It was truly a modern Currier and Ives complete with furry little dog, until said dog found a spot of thin ice way out in the middle. Thus the skating party ended with a headlong rush to the shore and a long trip home with a wet dog. The frozen spring was a fascinating sight, but unfortunately the surface was littered with trash tossed down by sight-seers trying to test the ice.

Maj. and Mrs. William Harris and their son Billie have journeyed to San Antonio this weekend to visit friends. They plan to return Sunday evening.

Maj. Keith Hill returned Friday from the blizzard country near Great Falls, Mont. Mrs. Hill will return by plane within a few weeks in order to escape the icy roads to Texas.

Last weekend in the freezing wind and 8 degree nights, we helped our husband pack for a trip to San Antonio, which meant mostly fetch and carry and watch him smirk while packing golf clubs into the car, anticipating the warm, sunny, leisurely weekends ahead. We bade him farewell as he drove off southward through the cold blasts of air. This morning, our whole day was brightened by a phone call that admitted in great disgust that it had rained every day since he had arrived in that city. We felt it our duty to report on the warm sunshine to be found "in our own backyard."

Hot, flaky pastries heaped with strawberries and covered with whipped cream delighted the guests recently in the home of Mrs. C. W. Semler. The occasion was a farewell dessert party for Mrs. James Hayes, one of our departing neighbors on Ent Drive. Lucky "Lucky" heads for Phoenix, has a home waiting already, and future orders for an assignment with her husband somewhere in Europe. The Hayes family will follow in the footsteps of Nancy and Vince Evans, who left Webb last year and will leave their apartment for the Hayes in a few days when the Air Force send them to England.

The street has been buzzing lately with small fry watching the packers hard at work. Capt. and Mrs. F. G. Routen, Capt. and Mrs. J. E. Hayes, and Lt. and Mrs. J. W. Harper have each been moved with great flurry of trucks, cartons, papers and busy men try-

Farmer's Wife, Mother, Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Iris Origo says proudly that she's a farmer's wife: She is married to an Italian marchese of ancient lineage, she is a grandmother, she writes scholarly biographies—the latest being "The World of San Bernardino"—she has lectured at Harvard on Tuscan social history in the 14th and 15th centuries, she maintains a home for 20 children at the bottom of her garden near Siena in Italy.

Slim, dark-haired and regal, the marchesa speaks rapidly with an accent that defies identification. It is the product of childhood summers on Long Island because her father, William Bayard Child-ling, was a New Yorker; of childhood winters in Florence, a city adored by her mother, Lady Sybil Cuffe of Kilkenny, Ireland; of 39 years at her Tuscan farm, La Foce.

Of a recent visit to this country she brought two Italian children for adoption.

During World War II while she was doing Red Cross liaison work between Italians and Americans, she took in a little group of homeless children from bombed-out cities. Eventually they were restored to their families.

But she continued the little home—for about 20 children. "I limit it to that number because I want it to be a home, not an institution. Some are there for rehabilitation—the Red Cross sends delicate children to be built up physically—others are to be prepared for adoption.

When Tonino came to her he couldn't speak, "so I taught him. He's very sensitive, affectionate, bright. He's now 3½. If I could only get him adopted."

What does her husband think of her private children's home? "He's very good about it, I must say," she says with a smile.

She met the marchese at a party in Florence when she was 17. They married when she turned 21.

"We made up our minds when we were first married that we wanted to live in the lovely country. And we've been working at it 39 years." They moved into a stately old house that had been abandoned 30 years.

"There is a great movement to the city and now no young girl will marry a farmer. I think the secret is that she doesn't want to live with a mother-in-law."

The older of the marchesa's two daughters is married to Alberto Lygy, violinist and close friend of Yehudi Menuhin's.

The younger is a 19-year-old college girl.

"When the children were younger I used to write in the morning," explains Iris Origo. "Now I work when I can. I don't believe a writer has to work in a padded room. I write in longhand; then, since no one can read it, I type it off before sending it to a typist for a finished copy."

She has written nine books, all biographies except one—a record of her own life during the war. The San Bernardino biography was written because he is her favorite saint—"he was a scholar and an aristocrat by birth, but he had a natural warmth for people"—and because she feels at ease in the 14th-15th century period in which he lived.

When you think about it, Iris Origo's world seems quite a bit larger than Tuscany.

Baum-Fritsche Vows Pledged

St. Paul Lutheran Church, Austin, was the scene for the wedding of Miss Beulah Fay Fritsche of Dallas and John Thurman Baum of Lenorah. Vows were exchanged Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in a double ring service performed by the Rev. P. B. Fritsche, Presbyterian minister of Denver, Colo., uncle of the bride. He was assisted by the Rev. Albert F. Jesse, Lutheran pastor.

Nuptial music was provided by Neil Kinkel, Austin, organist, and soloist, Miss Carolyn Meir of Dallas who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert W. Fritsche and the late Mr. Fritsche, Austin. Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Baum of Lenorah are parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her brother, the bride wore an ivory wool jersey sheath with a cowl neck-

Flowering Plant Is Fresh Note

Just one lovely flowering plant will provide a fresh and bright note to a seemingly barren room, and a collection, massed together, will convert a corner into a veritable spring garden.

A row of these colorful plants lined together on a window sill or near a window is always lovely, especially in northern climes where flowers offer refreshing contrast to the wintry scene outside. They also may be grouped beside a brick fireplace, on the steps of a wide staircase, on a cart, a table or plant holder.

Gay tulips in glowing colors, sunny daffodils, fragrant hyacinths with their showy clusters, and profusely flowering azaleas are all in plentiful supply at your florists. They are considered "good buys" in February and March, and so are a wide variety of foliage plants.

You can easily and quickly dramatize a picture window or decorate an awkward corner with big handsome and long-lasting foliage plants, such as philodendron, Rex begonia, dieffenbachia, Roehrsii or schefflera. Select foliage plants in proper scale to the room and to the location in the room where they are to be displayed, it adds.

Leaves Labor Camp To Become A Modiste

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

It was through necessity that a young Polish girl became skilled in the art of fashion designing and dress making.

Anna, who is now Mrs. John Woodd of Big Spring, was one of the many Polish women sent to German labor camps during World War II. Her experiences during this time, she related briefly. Supposedly, the city where she was impounded was not susceptible to bombing. But there was an air raid during which she escaped to make her way back to the Polish border, only to be apprehended and returned to work in another camp. She was assigned to the laundry of an old-fashioned rub board, and loads of dirty shirts.

After the war and her release from the camp, Anna traveled to Nice, France. She was penniless and totally unprepared to earn a living. She became an apprentice to a dressmaker whose services there were much in demand. At first there was no pay, but as she became proficient in her work, Anna began to receive small compensation.

John Woodd, a widower to whom Anna was married.

Although she has been in this country only three years, Mrs. Woodd's talents for fashion designing, pattern making and as a seamstress are well known, particularly among the military wives. The lovely brocades, silks and metallic fabrics possessed by most of those who have had foreign assignments, are now being designed, cut and stitched by Mrs. Woodd, especially for the wearer.

"Once I have made a garment for someone, then I can take her order by mail, and it will fit," said the attractive designer-modiste. "It is not difficult to do this when you have learned as I have with the French seamstress and with Battie Carnegie in New York. Now of course, I only do this for friends," she spoke in the charming accent of mixed languages.

Foliage Is Refreshing

Brighten and refresh the winter-weary rooms of your home with displays of colorful flowering and luxuriant foliage plants.

Few decorative accents contribute so much to the natural charm of a home or apartment as well-grown and well-placed flowering and foliage plants. Both are available in a wide range of sizes, with blooms of many different colors and leaves of various shades of green, and of numerous shapes and textures. Displayed separately or together, flowering and foliage plants fit any type of architecture or any period of furnishings.

Group house plants impressively to gain a dramatic effect that is impossible when single plants are scattered about helter-skelter.

After that there were periods of time when the young widow and her son were with friends in Switzerland and in New York. Meanwhile Andrew became ill. The New York climate wasn't favorable to his health, so Anna took him back to France. It was in Paris, with funds borrowed from friends, that she opened a dress shop. "I began very small, but soon the business grew and I did well," Mrs. Woodd explained. "Paris was no good for a boy, so I put Andrew in a boarding school out of the city and would visit him on weekends."

On one of her train trips to visit Andrew, she aided a young American officer who was having difficulty communicating in French. He later visited her shop in Paris bringing with him a friend Dr.

Mrs. Woodd, whose residence here has been little more than a year, plans to instruct a sewing course beginning in March.

Assigned to Webb Air Force Base, Dr. and Mrs. Woodd and son, Andrew, reside at 2322 Brent Drive.

SQUADRON SCROLL

Reception Scheduled For Webb Class 64-E

A reception for the new class, 64-E, will be at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8, in the Officers' Club.

Wives of 64-E met for the first time at the home of Mrs. Neil T. Reavely Wednesday afternoon. A business meeting was held while the guests enjoyed coffee and doughnuts. Mrs. Gene Moore was elected secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. C. C. Helton was appointed class reporter. Mrs. Helton will also head the committee which was selected to plan the next OWC "Hi and Bye" coffee. Mrs. R. H. Laurine was a guest speaker at the meeting.

With warm, almost hot, weather in Big Spring this week, the three couples in 64-H must think often of last weekend when they were snow skiing at Ruidoso, N. M. The lucky six were Lt. and Mrs. D. T. Wellington, Lt. and Mrs. J. D. Arnold, and Lt. and Mrs. R. E. Ryan.

Officers, recently elected in class 64-C, are Mrs. James Hill, class coordinator; Mrs. J. B. Biebach, telephone chairman, and Mrs. Robert Steward, treasurer.

The wives of 64-C assisted by other student wives modeled maternity fashions at the "Hi and Bye" coffee Friday morning. A black, one-piece evening dress with a lace jacket charmingly modeled by Mrs. George Kennedy stole the show. Mrs. Robert Harlin who acted as M.C., squelched possible rumors by announcing that all the models were not expecting!

Program, Panel Scheduled By Fellowship

A panel discussion will be the program for the Christian Women's Fellowship gathering in the First Christian Church Thursday evening at 7 o'clock.

On the panel will be Mrs. Roscoe Newell of the Special Education School, Bob Dartland, juvenile officer; and Dr. Paul Young, psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital. Preparations for the program were made by Mrs. Harold Rosson and Mrs. Frank Rice.

The speakers, using the theme, "Christian Handles for Human Needs," will be introduced by Mrs. Don Wiley, president of the CWF.

Preceding the program, a covered dish supper to be served in Fellowship Hall will follow a Valentine theme.

Big Spring Man Shares In New Cherokee Land Deal

By SAM BLACKBURN
A typical white man - Indian tribal deal of 70 years ago which has been revived and to some extent readjusted, will help finance a visit a Big Spring man plans to make this summer to Germany. The adjustment, forced on the Great White father by a decree of the court, has resulted in the payment of several hundred dollars to him, as one of the descendants of the Indians who made that long-ago deal.

J. C. Rogers, 1909 Lancaster, who is 1-32nd Cherokee, has just received his part of the $14,000,000 the courts decreed that Uncle Sam must pay the Cherokee nation for land it acquired in 1892. It so happens J. C. Rogers, with his wife, is planning a trip this summer to Bitburg, Germany. They have a daughter, the former Rebecca Rogers, a son-in-law, Capt. C. T. Hudson, USAF, and three grandchildren over there.

The check, which was sent to Rogers by virtue of his being on the Cherokee rolls, will be a help in financing the journey overseas. The story goes like this:

In 1836, the Cherokees were driven from their lands in Tennessee and moved to the northeast portion of what was to become Indian Territory. They migrated from Tennessee to their new home and set up the Cherokee Nation. In 1892, a deal was made to buy a vast expanse of Cherokee land for $1.50 an acre.

A number of years ago, modern Cherokees, looking things over, decided their ancestors had been wheedled out of a bunch of lettuce. They brought suit to recover damages and the court agreed with the Indians. Congress in 1962 appropriated $3.50 an acre additional payment. This totalled $14,000,000 and this money is being distributed to all Cherokees on the tribal rolls who can show as much as 1-32nd Cherokee blood.

Rogers, who has lived in Big Spring since 1927, is a native of Chelsea, Okla., which is in the heart of the Cherokee nation. His grandfather, a powerful figure in Cherokee councils, William Rogers, was a brother of the grandfather of the famous Will Rogers.

There are seven children in the Rogers family who are still alive and on the rolls.

The Big Spring representative did not know about the lawsuit nor had he read of its termination. His sister, Mrs. R. P. Pickens, subscribes to the Tulsa World, a newspaper in Tulsa, Okla., which gave the Cherokee lawsuit plenty of space. (Tulsa is in Cherokee country.)

She wrote J. C. Rogers about it and he applied for the proper papers. They showed up around Christmas. He sent them to Muskogee, Okla., to the Indian Agency. This week, he got the second of two checks.

"They aren't too big," said Rogers, "but they will be handy when we go to Germany next summer. Besides, maybe we'll get another check."

Four Promoted

Four Pilot Training Group airmen at Webb AFB received new stripes from Col. Harold C. Collins, group commander. They were Airman 3C Peter W. Harris promoted to Airman 2C; Airman 2C Allan O. Weismantel, to Airman 1C; Airman 1C Raymond N. Thompson to S. Sgt.; and Airman 2C Gary M. Hall, to Airman 1C.

He was referring to the effort Cherokees are making to compel Texas or the federal government to compensate them for a huge tract of Texas land taken (not bought) in the early days of the Texas Republic.

Tribal leaders, pointing out that the courts have held that the Cherokees are entitled to extra money for the Oklahoma land (which was purchased and not seized), believe that the demands for a settlement about the Texas land will ultimately be granted.

Rogers and Mrs. Rogers are particularly eager to visit the Hudson's to make the acquaintance of a new granddaughter. She was born in Germany since the Hudsons have been stationed there.

Rogers is a retired railroad worker. He worked many years for the Texas and Pacific as a machinist. "Are there any other Cherokees in this county?" he was asked. "There probably are," he said. "I know there are a lot of Rogers and some of them resemble my father's family. However, I have not encountered anyone around here who is on the rolls."

A Devotional For The Day

This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein. (Joshua 1:8)

PRAYER: O Father, we thank Thee that Thou art with us to guide. Grant us understanding minds and obedient hearts that, in the pages of Scripture, we may find a clear vision of Thy will and way. For Jesus' sake and in His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

A Not-So-Good Record

Howard County can hardly take pride in its record of poll tax payments. In fact, it ought to be a matter for shame, particularly for those who don't think it is important to be prepared to have a vote in governmental affairs.

The total of poll taxes ($5,333 according to an unofficial tabulation at close of business Jan. 31) and exemptions (1,600) made 6,933 qualified voters. The actual number is higher for those outside of the corporate limits that do not have to take exemption certificates. Nevertheless, our total potential is certainly less than 7,500. Not since 1954 have we had a smaller voter registration. In that year, our county population was several thousand less than it is now.

This is a pretty sorry record, and it's the record of those who couldn't be bothered.

Relief, Perhaps, But We Must Earn It

After months and months of hearings, an examiners report and final review, the Civil Aeronautics Board has issued its order authorizing a reshuffle of air services in the Southwest. One of the effects, apparently, is to replace Continental with Trans-Texas as the carrier serving Big Spring.

This decision will be welcomed here, not that the community has a disregard for Continental. It is rather that Continental is a trunk line and would prefer to divest itself of intermediaries or short-haul service. Trans-Texas, on the other hand, specializes in feeder service and has made a thriving business out of it.

One of the possibilities of the change is that of stepped up service. Just if this can be arranged and on what basis is something that Trans-Texas will have to decide. Civic leaders are hopeful that the number of schedules out of here can be increased so that there will be two flights in east and two flights west each day, one each for morning and evening.

If this can be arranged, the community must be aware that it must support such a service in order to warrant it. One of our difficulties in the past has been a failure to make boardings here. If all the business driving to Midland to board were to be handled here, we could have long since justified those additional flights. It's a free country and anyone can drive anywhere to board a plane, but we may as well wake up to the fact that momentary expediency can cost us in the long run. And it can cost us in air traffic, because access to the fact that momentary expediency can cost us in the long run. And it can cost us in air traffic, because access to commerce and the location of facilities and offices.

Perhaps, if we can get more schedules, it will be easier for us to make our boardings here. This will be to our interest.

Marquis Childs

A Long-Range Fiscal Program

WASHINGTON — The record profits shown by General Motors, DuPont and other American giants (with U.S. Steel a notable exception) is welcome news to the business community and the stock market. But what it will mean for President Kennedy's proposed tax program is quite another matter.

THE TAX BILL passed last year, in effect, gave business a 10 per cent tax cut through an investment credit and a speedier writeoff of business investment for tax purposes. Conservatives such as Sen. Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, insisted that business neither wanted nor needed the reduction. But, thanks to the forceful strategy of the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, the administration measure was pushed through.

THE PRESIDENT'S new program gives business an added five per cent cut, reducing the maximum rate from 52 to 47 per cent. The savings will go into new plants to provide an additional stimulus to the economy, it is claimed. Yet as Walter Heller, the conscientious, intensely hard-working chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, showed in his report, it is investment that lagged in the last months of 1962 despite high profits and large cash reserves.

ON THIS POINT — the stimulation of more investment in more productive capacity versus putting more spending money in the pockets of consumers—much of the debate preceding the unveiling of the President's program turned. There is today a distinct divide between the private doubters and the public advocates who must try to make the case for the program before Congress.

IN THE LENGTHY discussion in the inner council Seymour Harris, the Harvard professor who is economic adviser to Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, expressed his frank doubts. The program as presented by the President is not in accord with the Keynesian theory of compensatory government spending to stimulate the economy. John Maynard Keynes, the theory's high priest, advocated massive government spending with the onset of a recession in order to keep purchasing power up. A search of his writings shows that he mentioned tax cutting only once or twice.

It was plain to the President, however, that the Congress would never pass a spending program. So the tax cut, with the determination to hold spending to the level of recent years, represents a compromise.

BUT THE DOUBTERS believe that the cut is too little and after the long, toilsome process of Congressional action will be too late. The $6 billion cut proposed for the first year, if it is adopted in July and applied to the last six months, will mean a net of only $3 billion.

Furthermore, this is offset by the fact that a bite of up to $2 billion in new Social Security taxes is now being taken out of the consumers' pocket. That reduces the net gain to $1.5 billion or less.

WITH A GAP of up to $40 billion, according to Heller's estimate, between America's capacity to produce and the current rate of consumer spending, this, to say the least, is inadequate. The year will end with more than six per cent of the work force unemployed, as compared to the present 5.8, and the prospect for 1964 will be little better. A reduction of a point to a point and a half in the unemployed figure would take an increase in gross national product of $20 billion, and that is not in sight.

WHILE MOST of the doubting is being done in private, critics such as Leon Keyserling, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under President Truman, are outspoken. Keyserling is saying that far from being adequate the President's program may fall so short as to invite another recession. He does an "I told you so," pointing to his prediction of a year ago, when optimism was prevalent, that the recovery would slow down.

His figures show a growth rate at the end of 1962 of one to 1 1/2 per cent. This is almost imperceptible in view of the increase in the work force that goes along with the population boom. Keyserling's remedy is a massive spending program that would route dollars into areas of public need — schools, urban renewal, mass transportation—together with a tax cut.

"BUT WHAT CAN I do," the President is reported to have said to a recent visitor, "so long as 94 per cent of the people are working and only six per cent are unemployed? Where is the public opinion that would support a drastic program?"

One answer is that this is not just six per cent—that in any one year the unemployment rolls vary so that from 15 to 18 per cent may be out of work for varying periods. Whether, with the power of the Presidency, the chief executive might create the climate for a more far-reaching program is an unanswered question.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Along with 900,000 other taxpayers, I have just received a personal letter that jolly fellow, Mr. Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of internal revenue. "Last year the American public paid in taxes some $99.4 billion," Mr. Caplin begins. "Impressive is the fact that 97 per cent of these receipts came through self-assessment on tax returns and through withholding. No other nation in the world has ever equaled this record. It is a tribute to our people, their traditions of honesty, and their high sense of responsibility in supporting our democratic form of government."

Darn nice of you to say so, Mort, but I personally think it's a tribute to Congress, the administration and a few other people as well. If the government hadn't tried so hard it couldn't have spent so much money, and we taxpayers would not have had the incentive we had to give until it hurt.

It easily found ways to spend the $99.4 billion plus $8 or $10 billion more. I guess that's showing us what can be done when you put your mind to it, isn't it, Mort?

'I SHALL DETERMINE THE TIDE—UNDERSTAND?'

J. A. Livingston

Not Dead—Struggling To Be Born

Now that the bitter first reactions to France's veto of British entry into the Common Market have died down, maybe we can assess its meaning to business.

To paraphrase West Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, of Vice Germany, the Common Market has lost its soul, its driving unity. But it has not lost its purpose. Paul-Henri Spaak, foreign minister of Belgium, and an ardent advocate of Britain, smothered his initial wrath in this observation: "The Common Market will survive. It is too important not to. But this will make life difficult for several months."

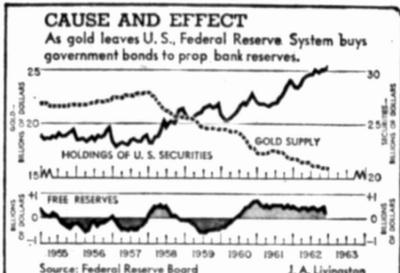

For bankers and business men everywhere, what was something developing, something taking a form they thought they understood, has overnight become something different, something they are not at home with.

Already, the decision has had an impact on the British pound. There were heavy withdrawals of deposits — of funds — from Britain. Rightly or wrongly, a theory had existed that a British link-up with the Community would reinforce sterling by bringing about even closer cooperation between the central banks of Europe and the Bank of England.

THE MULTIPLIER EFFECT. The blackball is likely to influence international trade. Ever since the Treaty of Rome became effective in January, 1958, European industrialists, their imaginations, kindled, looked beyond their national boundaries.

A French manufacturer could think ambitiously of a common market of 170,000,000 persons instead of 45 million, and even beyond that to 220,000,000 if Great Britain came in, and many more if other European nations joined. A West German business man, looking beyond the tariff walls, could use a multiplier of three to measure his market, an Italian a multiplier of three and a half. Benelux entrepreneurs could dream of a market eight times as big as their normal want.

Such enlargement of horizons was a positive force for expansion for capital commitments. A mass market seemed to be opened up. This enthusiasm extended to British business men B.B.—before blackball. And it affected American firms, too. Those with British subsidiaries could contemplate using Great Britain as a base for tariff-free entry to the European Community. What now?

DAS IST EIN WERDEN. As Walter Hallstein, president of the Common Market said to me in Brussels in late November, "Das ist nicht ein Sein, das ist ein Werden." It is not a being, it is a becoming. Then it was a "becoming" with high hopes — outward-looking expansion. Now, no one can be sure what it is becoming.

Yet, the purpose is clear: A customs union of six countries. International tariffs are to be lowered to zero. At the same time, the six will adopt a common external tariff to confront third nations. This goal was originally set for 1970 and was speeded to 1967.

The coddleness — the harmony among the six — which made that possible — has been supplanted by suspicion and doubt. The larger purpose — ultimate political accord and close association with the U.S. — has been rebuffed if I can combine rebuffed and reshuffled into one word: Achievement of the no-tariff goal may be delayed.

DOLLAR AND DE GAULLE. The rebuffment to President Kennedy's world design will affect the dollar. An economic slowdown in Europe could worsen the U.S. balance of payments. And this would intensify the problem of the Federal Reserve Board. When gold goes out of the U.S., the Fed buys government securities — in order to feed back reserves to commercial banks (see chart). If, for example, a foreign bank draws on its balance with the Philadelphia National Bank or the Morgan Guaranty, the Philly National or the Morgan Guaranty transfers funds (gold) through the Federal Reserve System. This reduces the bank's reserves and, hence, the total reserves of all banks.

In the six years since 1957, as gold holdings dropped from $23 billion to just under $16 billion, U.S. securities at the Fed rose from $23 billion to more than $30 billion. Almost a dollar for dollar offset.

P.S. Perhaps you wonder how it was possible for De Gaulle to impose his will against Great Britain. The explanation is legal. Any of the six could have cast a blackball. Under the terms of the Rome Treaty, admission of a new member requires a unanimous vote in the Council of Ministers. That's why the Market has so often been called a Club.

BELVEDERE, Calif. —Police Chief W. S. Woodington got a call that a skunk was trapped in a garbage can.

With a long pole, he pushed the can over the edge of a rock terrace. The freed skunk ran one way, Woodington the other.

FOR WHILE IT IS easy enough to show that taxpayers in all brackets may come out with a slight cut in taxes, the person who makes out a return will have the feeling that somehow the government, though reducing his tax rate, is trying to get nearly all of it back by a penalizing system of amendments to the tax laws.

THE BIGGEST source of dissatisfaction is the so-called five per cent "floor" on all deductions. Whether it be a charitable contribution, the interest on one's house mortgage, losses sustained that are not covered by insurance, or even allowance for state income and property taxes paid, the fact remains that the new rules would deprive many taxpayers of a part of the deductions enjoyed almost since the day when the present income tax laws and regulations were first written. A person who made out his will years ago now faces some substantial changes which mean he will leave his wife or children less money than had been contemplated. Why should a legal document drawn up years ago as a trust, for instance, suddenly be affected by a retroactive tax law?

TO CUT THROUGH human habits and customs and revolutionize them on the theory that this is a desirable "tax reform" is to damage the party in power. The planned-deficit policy will be vigorously debated. While the average man may feel the subject is over his head, the chances are that, if all the hullabaloo about tax reductions, if he winds up with tax savings of only a few cents a week — as the government goes into the red by many billions of dollars — he will finally say, "Let well enough alone."

FOR IF the proposed tax plan goes through, there will be many individuals who will be adversely affected, and many non-profit institutions will find it hard about the only response to blood-letting efforts this corner ever gets is a phone call calling attention to a glaring error, an outrageous stupidity or a flat lie.

Letters are scarce, so when one does come it is read and re-read, treasured and nourished.

WELL, ONE HAS come, and it has been read, treasured and nourished. Even mullied over. It even has a catch to it. It sets forth some of the pressing problems of the day, then makes so bold as to call me "Dr." and suggesting that the topics listed bring out the philosophy in me.

This is the sort of bait that makes me leap high. As I always understood philosophy, it was a lot of garble to keep one confused, and on this assumption, I will philosophize at the touch of a typewriter key.

BUT TO GET TO the lady's problems (and she is a lady, because she signed her name and gave her address, but will graciously be granted anonymity). We had better let her put the questions, and I quote:

"Quandary One: Why do all small boys (well, nearly all) in picture shows and on TV have such uncult, bow-like hairdos? This doesn't just pertain to the waif-like creatures; it happens in all the best families. Is this supposed to be appealing... and reach the heart some way? x x x

"QUANDARY TWO: How come none of the windows in picture shows and TV programs have screens? The burglars and meanies are always crawling through open windows with no screens even though the victim is covering with all the doors locked. Even Lassie crawls in and out all night through Timmie's window, and he lives on a very modern farm. x x x

"Quandary Three: Now here is a local mystery. I don't know if the town of Big Spring, Webb Air Force Base or Howard County can explain what to do about this. I feel sure everyone who has approached Big Spring from the west has seen the sign on the highway by Webb stating "Danger—Low Flying Aircraft." Surely this means something, but what are you going to do about it if you happen to be driving on Highway 80 where the jets are coming in for a landing on especially low level. What can you do?"

You think stuff like this doesn't call for philosophy? Well, in order:

NO. 1: Lady, you may watch the shows, but you don't know kids. Even grown-up ones. Did you ever hear of a boy going to his parents, and say "Please let me go get a haircut?" Or any husband heading for the barber shop before his helpmate starts calling him Rover? There may be some delights left for the males of this world, but getting a haircut is not one of them, and if the barbers want to berate me, they'll just have to do it.

NO. 2: The people who cover in houses when the bad guys start through the window are just dunderheads. The screens have been left off the OTHER windows to go take a running jump through. This is definitely what I would do. Besides, Lassie is smart enough to unhook a screen even if there were one.

NO. 3: I have checked with the people at Webb, and they, too, are concerned about what would happen if an airplane and an automobile got to the same place at the same time, out there on the highway. We have all agreed that the best thing to do is to take the sign down, and substitute for it, one which the incoming pilots can see. It will read "Danger—High Flying Automobiles." You see what philosophy can do?"

Men Must Still Fight Wars

WASHINGTON—You might say that a U.S. Senator, and a newlywed at that, has no business flying those do-or-don't combat missions in South Vietnam, but Henry (Scoop) Jackson does this sort of thing from intellectual curiosity.

HE'S A MEMBER of the Armed Services Committee and chairman of the Atomic Energy subcommittee on military applications. During the Congressional recess he rode in a raid by HU-21 helicopters, carrying 12 Vietnamese infantrymen apiece, escorted by HU-1B army-copters and by a T-28 fighter-trainer with rockets and machine guns.

JACKSON'S outstanding memory of the trip to South Vietnam was to find a steel-tipped arrow in the fuselage of one of the choppers. This happened last December. When he returned to Washington, he found that Defense Secretary McNamara had successfully advised the President to take a long step toward abolishing manned bombers and toward putting our chief military reliance in nuclear missiles. Convinced by personal experience and informed knowledge that warfare is still both a primitive and a scientific struggle, Jackson has joined the increasing resistance movement against Pentagon substitutionism.

THERE ARE WARS in Asia, Latin America and Africa where the bow-and-arrow may well be used for some time against automatic rifles and jet aircraft. There are wars, as in the Cuban confrontation, when manned ships and planes can be deployed to send an unequivocal diplomatic message, at the time and place of our own choosing. Though the American people were told little or nothing about the mission of SAC bombers during the autumn crisis, the Kremlin knew that fleets of B-52's were winging to and from the target area. I have an idea Jackson believes the President missed a chance to prove in full what American air-sea superiority can do.

THIS COUNTRY not only has a near-supremacy in manned air power, but is rich in the experience of its use. The nuclear push button, says Jackson, is no substitute for the trained air crew. We must have both.

Jackson, one of the earliest legislative pioneers for a mixed force to include intercontinental missiles and nuclear submarines, is today a high-low man when it comes to future weapons. He names the Dynar-soar, a sub-orbital, boost-glide spacecraft, as one of the coming developments for globe-girdling surveillance. For upper space armament he likes the chances of Project Rover, a nuclear space ship. Both of these are manned. And for low-level strike power, Jackson is pushing the nuclear ramjet Pluto.

FLYING COMBAT missions in guerrilla warfare isn't the safest pastime, but in Los Angeles in 1960, Jackson had another close escape. He was possibly next-in-line to Lyndon Johnson for the vice presidential nomination on the Kennedy ticket. Had Jackson won, the rest of us would have lost. He is one of the Senate's best operatives, an all-around man, and is something more often heard about than seen—a constructive critic.

Citizens' Discontent Over Taxes

WASHINGTON — It may take a little while before the new facts of tax life sink in and, when they do, there may be widespread discontent as the citizens discover that a tax cut is to be accompanied by a tax rise. While the net change may be a slight reduction in taxes for the individual, the psychology that will prevail is that the government is giving something with one hand and taking it away with the other.

FOR WHILE IT IS easy enough to show that taxpayers in all brackets may come out with a slight cut in taxes, the person who makes out a return will have the feeling that somehow the government, though reducing his tax rate, is trying to get nearly all of it back by a penalizing system of amendments to the tax laws.

Don't Be Afraid Of Psychoanalysis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. Dear Dr. Molner: My physician says I need psychoanalysis and I am petrified. I think I know the difference between psychiatry and psychoanalysis. However, I am fearful of deep probing.

My problems started in a early childhood but I have heard so many things about analysis and all the so-called Freudian jokes that I question the doctor's judgment.

I thought that psychoanalysis is considered outdated. I know that a psychoanalyst is not an M. D. and I can't understand why my physician would direct me to one. I haven't been back to him.

I don't understand why he didn't give me those wonderful tranquilizers, but he claimed that my trouble was beyond his field as an internist, and he directed me to where he thought there is help. I feel he does not want me as a patient. What do you think? I'm so scared I don't know what to say. —P. M.

In plain language, you're still mixed up on some facts. First, psychiatrists and hence also those who have continued into the field of analysis ARE Doctors of Medicine.

Second, I feel sure you will ultimately be surprised to find out how little "probing" is involved. It is a highly skilled art of helping the patient do his own inspecting of the facts in his life, past and present. Doubtless, it's natural for anybody to be on edge beforehand, not knowing what is going to happen, but this feeling fades away rapidly once you see that there is nothing to fear.

Third, there's no reason why your physician should try to get rid of you. It would be easy to keep you tamed with tranquilizers, but it wouldn't cure anything. He is honest enough to say so.

Fourth, it seems to me your fears and suspicions are an indication of your upset state, and life is going to be far happier when you learn how to shed some of them.

Fifth, yes, I've heard the Freudian jokes, too, a couple of thousand of them, I guess, by this time. But I attach a great deal more significance to a remark that a fine analyst once made to me:

"Some of these patients come in and start spouting the most lurid recitals of their sexual experiences. Many a time I've had to say, 'But Madame, why are you telling me all this?'"

"They look blank and say, 'I thought I was supposed to.' After we get past that and get down to the real problems, we begin to make some progress."

Laugh at the Freudian jokes if they're funny, but don't let them mislead you.

Farmers Reminded Must File Returns

Erven Fisher, Social Security district manager, reminds farmers who operate on a calendar year basis that their Social Security self-employed farmers who are refiled and the tax paid by April 15.

However, Fisher pointed out that self-employed farmers who are required to file estimated tax returns and have not done so by Jan. 15, 1963, must file the final return and pay the social security tax by Feb. 15, 1963.

Fisher explained that farmers and farm operators file their returns on Form 1040 and Form 1040 F. Form 1040 is the general tax report form used by urban and farm people alike. Form 1040 F is especially for farmers. But both must be completed and filed by self-employed farmers.

Unlike other self-employed persons, self-employed farmers have certain options in reporting their earnings. These options are: 1 If gross farm income is more than $1,800 and the net earnings are $1,200 or more, then the actual amount of net earnings must be reported.

2 If gross farm income amounts to $1,800 or less, then the actual net farm earnings or two-thirds of the gross farm income may be counted as net farm earnings.

3 If gross farm income is more than $1,800 and the net is less than $1,200, count as the net earnings either the actual net farm earnings or $1,200.

The optional method, based on gross farm income, is used only in figuring self-employment tax and applies only to farm income. Where the optional method of reporting applies, individuals who prefer to report actual net income will receive credit for social security purposes if the net amount is $400 or more.

Re-elected vice presidents of the association were Gail Dudley, Comanche and Suel Hill of Fairfield. Two new vice presidents elected were Colby Conkwright, Hereford, and Victor Pierce, Ozona.

Directors elected to serve three year terms include: Scott Casey, Snyder; Gus D. Chesney, Colorado City; Dorothea Griffin, Lawn; Robert McKnight, Odessa; and Arlan Youngblood of Lamesa.

BOOKS • MUSIC • ART • DRAMA CRITIQUE By Glenn Coates

Once again, the Big Spring Civic Theatre has produced an exceptionally well-done play; once again, there was only a handful of patrons out to see it. This latter situation has caused considerable concern among the members of the organization.

"By golly, this was a good play. Why wasn't someone here to see it?" "Why can't we get support for all the hard work?" "People just don't want little theatre productions here." These are some of the comments heard back-stage during the weekend.

FB Leaders Meet Monday

LUBBOCK — Several hundred county Farm Bureau leaders from the Panhandle and South Plains will attend a meeting here Monday in preparation for the beginning of an intensive Farm Bureau membership drive in this area.

A total of approximately 1,000 voluntary membership workers are expected to be in attendance at this meeting and two others on that date—in Dallas and San Antonio—kicking off the Texas Farm Bureau's 1963 membership drive. Gov. John B. Connally has proclaimed the week of Feb. 3-9 as "Farm Bureau Week" in Texas.

The Lubbock meeting, to be held at the Holiday Inn East beginning at 10 a.m., will feature addresses by state and national Farm Bureau leaders. TFB President C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma and Organization Director Millard Shivers, Waco, will address the group. The Texas Farm Bureau, largest farm organization in the state, is working toward a goal of 87,000 farm and ranch family members and for its eleventh consecutive membership gain in 1963. The state organization enrolled 84,842 members in 1962.

complaints, but all could be solved if (1) the organization had more members and (2) if these additional members put in as much time selling tickets and boosting the organization as current members do. Generally, the theatre group does sell season memberships which include tickets to the planned production.

Rather, it has been the thinking of the group that persons interested in little theatre work will naturally find their way into the organization. Of course, anyone with talent or interest is enthusiastically invited to attend the meetings and "read for parts."

It is interesting to note that the backbone of the organization is currently personnel from Webb AFB. It is not planned that way, but the outstanding talent for the many productions has usually come from the base.

Richard Robertson and David Guy, to mention but two, have played lead roles in every play since coming to Big Spring; both have directed plays, and both have pitched in wherever a helping hand is needed. In most instances, it has not been a matter of selecting them above others for parts, but they were the only ones available. The theatre group has been fortunate to have them; they have materially improved the quality of local productions. And many others could be named who have done exceptional work.

But Robertson and Guy will soon be transferred. If the group is lucky, others will come along to fill their shoes (indeed, if such can be done).

Big Spring's little theatre was launched as a "community theatre," for the enjoyment of persons who might like to participate in the wonderful world of the stage and the drama. All interested persons are invited to participate in the organization, whether this interest be in acting, back-stage work, selling tickets, serving on the board of directors, or the myriad of other things involved in such an organization.

No special talent is required to enjoy membership, although these persons are welcomed too. The group invites all residents, particularly family groups, to participate in the program. The BSCT

Explorer I Reigns As Oldest In Orbit

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Explorer I, the one-time chatterbox which discovered the Van Allen radiation belt, whirls silently around the earth today in its fifth year.

The 30.8-pound cylinder long ago lost its radio voice, but it reigns as the oldest man-made inhabitant in space. The two Soviet Sputniks which preceded it into orbit no longer are aloft.

Advancements have been spectacular since Explorer I placed the United States firmly in the space race with the Soviet Union on Jan. 31, 1958.

Nine men—five Americans and four Russians—have rocketed into space. The United States has launched an almost unbelievable total of more than 110 successful satellites and deep space probes. Soviet scientists have sent up 31.

The Russians, with superior rocket power, have recorded a number of impressive spectacles: the first satellite, the first man in space, the first to hit the moon, the first to photograph the lunar backside and the first to have two pilots circling the earth simultaneously.

The broader American program has given this nation a great lead in probing puzzles of the universe and making space work for man. Communications satellites have relayed television programs between continents; Tiroc packages have transmitted thousands of weather pictures, including the birth of hurricanes; Transit vehicles are providing ships and submarines with all-weather navigation beacons in the sky; Explorers and other satellites are measuring radiation, magnetic fields, cosmic dust, the sun and the moon; Mariner obtained the world's first close-up electronic look at another planet, and hush-hush military satellites are spying behind the Iron Curtain.

The Soviet Union's future plans are cloaked in secrecy. But the step-by-step U.S. program has been laid out clearly for the next decade.

America's major goal is to land astronauts on the moon before the Russians and to do it before 1970. A so-called ideal launching date of Jan. 14, 1967, at 3:34 p.m. Cape Canaveral time, has been considered as a potential goal for the Apollo lunar flight. If this date is met—and most planners doubt it will—Americans would be on the moon within 10 years after Explorer I shot into the sky.

The ideal time is based on relative positions of the earth and moon; illumination conditions in the chosen landing area near the Sabine Crater; predicted solar radiation activity; and expected readiness of a booster rocket, a capsule and numerous other ingredients. Before the three-man Apollo team is moon-bound, a number of critical milestones must be passed, a number of problems solved.

To gain further experience in prolonged space flight, astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. is scheduled to make what may be the final Project Mercury ride next April 2, an intended 34-hour mission.

This will be the longest U.S. manned space trip to date, but far short of the record 94-hour, 35-minute flight of Soviet cosmonaut Andrian Nikolayev.

In 1964, the two-man Gemini craft is to start a series of flights intended to keep astronauts in space for periods up to two weeks and to check techniques for rendezvousing with other orbiting craft. Perfection of rendezvous is essential for Apollo lunar flight.

Meanwhile, unmanned packets of instruments will continue to explore space, the moon and the planets. Ranger and Surveyor vehicles are to orbit and land on the moon to investigate thoroughly the selected Apollo landing area.

Development is proceeding on the mighty Saturn C5 rocket, whose 7.5 million pounds of thrust is to carry the Apollo moonship. The man entrusted with molding Saturn and overtaking the Soviet Union's rocket power advantage is the same who headed the team which launched Explorer I—former German rocket expert Werner von Braun.

The cost of landing men on the moon will be staggering. Original estimates ran as high as $40 billion. But James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, reported earlier this month that the price tag will be under $20 billion. In the next few years an estimated 300,000 persons in hundreds of plants across the nation will be involved in preparing for the lunar flight.

Some U.S. experts doubt that the Soviet Union can devote as much money, resources and manpower to such a program without seriously sacrificing needed production in other areas. But others point out that the Soviets have pulled surprises before in space and that the race to the moon should be an interesting one.

Good Dental Care Being Encouraged

The district committee of the Auxiliary of the American Dental Association is encouraging youngsters to brush their teeth. Although the 15th annual Children's Dental Health Week starts today, the women are planning a year-round program of dental care tips.

Youngsters in the schools are being provided with stickers to take home to remind them to brush their teeth regularly, some dentists are to give demonstrations in local schools on proper teeth brushing, and film strips are available.

Moreover, the auxiliary is not limiting its encouragement to children, pointing out that good dental care is important to adults too.

Japan Quietly Cuts Red Trade

By CONRAD FINK
TOKYO (AP)—The Communist trade official and the Japanese shipbuilder were dumbfounded. Their laboriously negotiated $4-million deal had been called off.

The Communist's Eastern European nation wanted the ship. The shipbuilder knew he had been agonizingly close to a plush new market.

Then, the shipbuilder says, word was passed by a Japanese government official — the contract's credit terms were too liberal. Cancel the deal.

In this manner, quietly but effectively, Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's government in recent weeks has dealt a blow to Communist nations buying strategic materials in Japan.

Using a complex system of influence and pressure that Japanese call "administrative guidance," the government has forced a cut in long-term credit to Red countries.

No new laws were passed. No public fuss was created. But Japan in effect has been placed more firmly behind the U.S. policy of economically isolating Red bloc nations from sources of strategic materials.

Communist countries short of ready cash, notably Red China, for years found Japan a shopper's dream. Exporters eager to develop markets granted contracts calling for nothing down and payment in six or seven years or longer. Buyers made the most of it, taking home Japanese ships, lathes, agricultural machinery and scores of other items—on credit terms Western manufacturers wouldn't touch.

The government clampdown had immediate effect. Red China now must renegotiate deals for special steel worth $12 million, ordinary steel worth $6 million, and agricultural machinery worth $3 million.

Hitachi Shipbuilding Ltd., Japan's largest, must renegotiate with Czechoslovakia on a 25,000-ton iron ore carrier. The original deal called for 30 per cent down with the rest of the payment deferred six years.

The United States, Japan's No. 1 trade partner, makes clear it does not like this trading with Communist nations. But Washington cannot object too loudly because some West European nations also trade with the Reds in strategic goods.

Washington objected strongly however, to some Japanese contracts on grounds the credit terms constituted economic aid, not trade.

It is not clear whether the government's main aim is to swing Japan's trade policy into line with America's as a result of a diplomatic understanding.

Japan's powerful exporters were told the credit clampdown is necessary to keep underdeveloped nations from running to Tokyo for equal terms.

There is little doubt, however, that the reasons go far beyond that. Japanese businessmen argue their long-term contracts are economically feasible. They don't mind extending even more credit. An official says the clampdown was ordered by high political levels and that he knows of no economic justification.

New Dump Area

Seniors To Complete Yearbook In February

By BETTY HOLLANDSWORTH

The seniors are working on the final pages to the 1963 yearbook which will be shipped the middle of February to the printer.

The teachers elected the following students for honors which will appear in the annual: Betty Langston and Lee Roman, Best All Around; Betty Hollandsworth and James Howard, Most Athletic; Naomi Caughman and Dennie Walker, Best Citizens; Sophie Perez and Jackie Ragsdale, Achievement.

The junior class has set the date for the Junior-Senior Banquet for May 11. Plans are now being made.

Home economics girls are also planning a banquet. Their Valentine Banquet is slated for Feb. 14 in the high school cafeteria. Junior high girls will serve. Seniors are in charge of the program; juniors, invitations; sophomores, decorations; freshmen, food.

The seniors have been busy selecting characters and practicing for a three act comedy to be staged April 26 in the Flower Grove Auditorium. The comedy is entitled, "Good Gracious, Grandma." Everyone is invited.

School Elections Held Last Week

By MARY NEWTON

Elections were held at Rummels last week. Sue Lee and Freddie Stiehl were chosen Best All Around. Most Beautiful, Carol Hughes, and Most Handsome, Sam Mims were also selected.

Freshmen favorites Sandy McCombs and Bill Davis; eighth grade favorites Connie Carlton and Randy Nicholson; seventh grade favorites Linda Walker and Jimmy Wilson were chosen.

The students who made the Honor Roll, announced last week, are as follows: Ricky Campbell, Judy Crawford, Bill Davis, Jo Faris, Linda Holder, Gene Morris, Mary Newton, Betty Pedro, Shirley Taylor, Charles Vessel, and Suzanne Whitley, ninth; Jan Campbell, Carlene Hammock, Sara Hollo-way, Wanda Porter, Linda Stewart, Julia Vaughn, Marcia Dement and Linda Tune, eighth; Terry Anderson, Wanda Ball, Judith Houston, Cynthia Manely, Linda Massey, Marilyn McGuffey, and Lynne Puckett, seventh. There were 114 students who made grades not lower than a B and were placed on the Merit List.

The Round-Up will go on sale Thursday. Special recognition will be given to the Honor Roll and Merit List.

The tumbling team gave a program at the Women's Recreation Association of Howard County Junior College Monday night.

The Basketball Queen will be crowned Monday night at half-time of the Rummels-Goliad game. Candidates for this honor are Cheri Bunch, Sarah Smith, and Linda Ann Taylor.

Rummels welcomes Mr. Frank Medley, Spanish instructor, who comes as a graduate of Texas Tech.

Home Economics Are Collecting Stamps

By BONNIE SIMPSON

The FHA group is still collecting stamps for Norway. These stamps are sold to help crippled children overseas. Students don't forget to bring your stamps. At the present time, the freshman class has collected the most.

The Student Council has purchased a 100-cup coffeemaker for the school. They have also ordered pepper and vanilla; it should arrive sometime this coming week. Student Council representatives to the State Conference will be determined by Feb. 15.

Phi Theta Kappa Gains 20 Members

By MARILYN GUM

Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society, will host a dinner this evening for the 20 new members. The new members will learn about the organization tonight. The induction ceremony will be Feb. 10. Members must have a 2 point grade and keep it to be an active member.

New inductees are as follows: Jerry Gilmore, Charles (Chuck) Cumber, Dick Ebling, Marianne Bell, Carol Bohannon, Sharon Gary, Claudia Richardson, Lynn Warthan, Gerald Alexander, and Preston Harrison.

Others include Richard King, M. W. Billy Horn, Eric Brewster, Sonnet Johnson, Marilyn McReavy, Jayne Carter, Cruz Montanez, Max Moore, Tommy Leslie and Jackie Hipp.

An important freshman class meeting is scheduled for Wednesday during activity period. All freshmen are urged to be in attendance.

At the Monday night meeting of the WRA's, the Rummels tumbling team presented a program. Volleyball and badminton were played following the program. Interested girls are invited to join.

Saturday night the Jayhawks tangled with the San Angelo Rams before a packed gymnasium of enthusiastic fans.

The Final Roundup party will be held the eighth to celebrate the victorious round-up. There will be lots of prizes for the hardest working cowboys. A cowboy hat will be presented to each of the two top cowboys on each of the two ranches. Bolero ties go to the top cowboys on each of the ranches, and a pound of bacon goes to every quota buster.

Membership fees are as follows: Family membership, $50; man and wife membership, $40; adult membership, $35 or $25; youth or armed service, $12.

Students here at Forsan are beginning to take a greater interest in the construction of the new addition to the building. Last week, workers began putting the walls up.

At the time of this writing, both the boys and girls basketball teams hold first place in District. Let's hope they will be able to keep their winning streak!

This weekend the junior high basketball teams were entertained in the Sands tournament. Last weekend the girls team won first place in the Gay Hill tournament.

Theresa Macklin Chosen As Homemaker For Tomorrow

By ANNETTE LEBOWITZ

Theresa Macklin is Homemaker of Tomorrow for Big Spring High School in the 1963 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Having achieved the highest score in a knowledge and attitude test given senior girls Dec. 4, she now is eligible, along with winners in other state high schools, for the title of state Homemaker of Tomorrow, announced Miss Janice Spaeth, homemaking instructor.

The state Homemaker of Tomorrow is awarded a $1,500 scholarship by General Mills, sponsor of the program. The runner-up receives a $500 scholarship. The school of each state Homemaker of Tomorrow is awarded a complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica.

The state Homemaker of Tomorrow, accompanied by her school advisor, also will join with other state winners in an expense-paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D.C., and Colonial Williamsburg, Va., next spring. During the tour, the 1963 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will have her scholarship raised to $5,000 with second, third and fourth place winners being awarded scholarships of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

Basis for selection of local and state winners is a test prepared and scored by Science Research Associates, Chicago. Personal observation and interviews are added factors in determining national winners. The 1963 Betty Crocker Search reached another all-time high in enrollment, with 410,466 girls in 12,964 schools participating. In the program's nine years, nearly three million girls have been enrolled.

Big Spring High School was well represented, in student talent and instructors, at the state meeting of the Texas Music Educator's Association in Houston last week.

Nine instructors and nine students left Wednesday for the event. The students were selected to perform in the grand concert Saturday night when the all-state band, choir and orchestra staged a performance. Big Spring had a

Y Roundup Slated Feb. 5-8

By KAREN KEE

Tuesday evening the annual YMCA dinner was held in the Student Union Building of the junior college. Freddie White and Sherrie Stevens were presented the Outstanding Youth Awards by J. R. Redden. Freddie, a senior, is active in many of the phases of Y. He is a member of the Alpha Zeta Hi-Y and attended Pre-Ledge and Youth and Government where he was the chairman of the top committee team. Freddie was speaker to the board of directors, and he has spoken to various service clubs during the past week.

Sherrie, the first sophomore to ever receive such an honor, has also been active in Y activities. She is a member of the Zeta Pi Tri-Hi-Y and is a sophomore representative on the Senior High Council. She participated in the Pre-Ledge program and was the youth chairman of the ticket sales for the banquet. Outstanding Youth Awards were also presented to Charlie West and Lillian Merritt from the Lakeview YMCA.

Feb. 5-8 has been designated as Y Roundup Week. Some 174 "cowboys" and "cowgirls" will be working to put the Y brand on all those non-members! Here's how the program will be set up. The Cattle Baron, Joe (Col. Pecca) Pickle, has two ranch foremen, division leaders Jim Tidwell and Buddy Redden. Each ranch foreman has four range foremen and each range foreman has four wranglers. The wranglers are each in charge of four cowboys and the cowboys are the ones who get to work!

Lots of entertainment has been planned for the Roundup too. Feb. 5 will be the scene of the big Chuck Wagon Kick-Off. Feb. 6 and 7 big western style breakfasts will be held in order for the cowboys to report and see how many "strays" have been brought in.

The Final Roundup party will be held the eighth to celebrate the victorious round-up. There will be lots of prizes for the hardest working cowboys. A cowboy hat will be presented to each of the two top cowboys on each of the two ranches. Bolero ties go to the top cowboys on each of the ranches, and a pound of bacon goes to every quota buster.

The talent show which was presented by the High School Athletic Department on Jan. 25, was judged by Rance Baker, Donn Stringer, Jerry Johnson, and Ronnie Driggers. The third place award was presented to Ray Davis and David Dunn for a trampoline act. They showed the fundamental routines of how to be a successful trampoline jumper.

The girls were in for a special treat last Tuesday when Mrs. Grace Jones showed her slides and told about her visit to Europe.

The boys and girls A basketball teams played Alpine at Stanton Friday afternoon.

The girls who are taking homemaking this year are in for a special treat this next nine weeks. The girls will have two student teachers.

CHS Participates In March Of Dimes

By CAROLYN WILSON

This week marked the beginning of the CHS March of Dimes money raising project. The plan devised by the Student Council, was entitled, "Points for Polio." The idea was to get the students to pledge a certain amount of money for each point that the CHS boys basketball team scored during the Coahoma vs. Jim Ned game.

During class meetings Wednesday at the regular time, the seniors began work and made final plans in preparation for their scheduled Donkey Ballgame. The seniors were asking for volunteers to ride the donkeys during the game. This type of project has always worked out in the past and it is certain to be very amusing, so everyone come out and support the seniors as they raise money for their trip. Also during these class meetings the juniors passed out play books to different students in order that everyone would have a chance to read the play and decide which part to try out for. The play is entitled, "Seven Sisters." It is a three-act comedy higher representation in the event than any other school in the state. A. J. Pirkle, French horn, and Jimmy Burselon, oboe, will be a part of the all-state orchestra. In the all-state band are Arion Hughey, alto clarinet; Tommy Sacus, trumpet; Johnny Lawson, trombone; Sylvia Edwards, flute; Carol Odom, bassoon; Hollis Webb, bass clarinet; and John Walker, French horn.

Instructors attending were Doris Gambill, junior high choir director; Mel Frey, high school choir director; Doug Wiehe, high school band director; R. E. McKiski, Goliad band director; Joe Burchfiel, Rummels band director; and Mrs. Doug Wiehe, Mary Christensen, Joyce Bradley and Mrs. Benjamin F. Meacham, elementary music directors.

Charlotte Shive, El Rodeo editor for the school year '63-64, announced that applications are now available for any sophomores who wish to apply for a position on the junior staff. Also any sophomore boy, high school choir director; Doug Wiehe, high school band director; R. E. McKiski, Goliad band director; and Mrs. Doug Wiehe, Mary Christensen, Joyce Bradley and Mrs. Benjamin F. Meacham, elementary music directors.

The Future Teachers of America Club is planning a clothing drive. They are planning to give the clothes to the less fortunate people in Big Spring and to the State Hospital. Everyone at BSHS is asked to take part. The FTA also is making plans for the state convention, March 8 and 9.

The seventh grade class elected representatives to the Student Council for the remainder of this school year. Elected were Sonia Whittington, Karan Miller, Karla Wadsworth, and Ronald Garrett.

A main source of interest this week was the election of Sue Frazier, eighth grade, Beverly Peters, eighth grade, and Erin Carruthers, seventh grade, as nominees for the Valentine Queen. The girl receiving this honor will be the girl from the grade which makes the most money between now and Feb. 8, which is the date of the Valentine Festival. Assembly programs, bake sales, and other money-making activities will be held during this week.

Joyce Kay Sevey, eighth grade, has been selected as Librarian of the Year. Her selection was announced by Miss Ruth Beasley, Goliad's librarian.

Monday, the last Driver Education Lecture series for this year began. Tuesday Sergeant Dugan visited the class and showed filmstrips of accidents in the Big Spring area in the last several years. After the films, he told the

Judy Garland Gets Another Good Role

Few show business careers have been studied with a succession of triumphs such as those achieved by Judy Garland. A child star who became internationally famous musical queen, she has also received tributes for her revival of vaudeville in the U.S. and the creation of a new phase of show business that approximates England's famed music halls.

It has become commonplace to refer to her as "Miss Show Business."

Now, within the brief span of a year, she has added two facets to a new phase of her career—dramatic portrayals in Stanley Kramer's "Judgment at Nuremberg" and "A Child Is Waiting," co-starring Burt Lancaster and opening today at the Ritz Theatre, through United Artists release.

Judy broke into big-time show business after appearing in Los Angeles on a special vaudeville program. Within a few weeks she was signed to an MGM studio contract.

She studied in the studio school with Mickey Rooney, still one of her close friends, and Deanna Durbin, and soon played her first film role in a short, "Every Sunday Afternoon." Then she played in a feature, "Pigskin Parade," on loanout. She developed a girlhood crush for Clark Gable, whom she had never met, and with her vocal coach, Roger Edens, composed a song for him. Later the trembling Judy had a chance to sing it to him on a soundstage on his birthday.

The rest is screen and music history. The song, "Dear Mr. Gable," was introduced by her in "Broadway Melody of 1938." Judy was on her way to fame with a succession of pictures like "Everybody Sing," "Love Finds Andy Hardy," and "Strike Up The Band."

Judy was then cast as Dorothy in "The Wizard of Oz." It won her an Academy Award, presented by Mickey Rooney, the honor of putting her footprints in the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theatre, and established her as an all-time star.

Other hit pictures followed. Then she began doing grown-up roles in "As Thousands Cheer," "Meet Me in St. Louis," "The Harvey Girls," "Easter Parade," "Words and Music," and "Summer Stock."

He's Still Waiting

Young Bruce Richey is waiting for Judy Garland to come back down to earth in this scene from "A Child Is Waiting," drama of a lonely child apparently doomed as "exceptional." Miss Garland continues her comeback in films with the portrayal of a social worker who almost lets her tender heart interfere with her duties.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

The new films: FRANTIC, A French import with a heady mixture of many dramatic factors. The star is Jeanne Moreau, who also was seen in "The Lovers," which made its own kind of movie history. The director is Louis Malle, who also directed "The Lovers."

"Frantic" is a highly effective and tense psychological thriller, keyed to the type of audience which is willing to let its imagination soar along with the picture. The story is filled with dilemmas which both confound and endear the protagonists, and the sardonic twists are sharp and fast. Malle uses close-up techniques to capture the mobile and expressive features of Miss Moreau as a beautiful Parisienne, mistress of a man with whom she is caught in a matrix of dilemmas, vacillating between passion and suspicion. Essentially, the plot has to do with a pair of lovers plotting to do away with the woman's husband. But everything seems to go wrong, and the lovers plunge deeper and beyond their depth.

"Frantic" is a film for those who like the Gallic art of the sardonic at its best. Returning movies: THE HUNTERS, An insight into the workings of human nature, wherein a beatnik joins the human race. Robert Wagner is the hip kid, Robert Mitchum is the old bird pilot who resents the youngster's sassy attitude. It takes a soul-searing experience to bring both to terms.

Aside from the personal drama, the film is loaded with some excellent flight shots, depicting Air Force men hunting the skies over Korea for Reds to shoot down. It is satisfyingly dramatic, and the aerial action is superb.

THE FLY, One of the best, and most horrifying, horror films ever made. It is based on a truly classic tale of horror, wherein few changes were made in translation to the screen, and acting and direction were aimed far higher than the Saturday matinee crowd. Al Hedison is starred as the French scientist working with a machine that will transport objects electronically with nearly the speed of light, by the simple process of taking the atoms apart and putting them back together at the receiving end.

Eventually, Hedison resigns himself to the inevitable and gets his wife to help him erase the whole horrible error. But afterwards, the police suspect the wife of doing her husband in, and she can't tell them why. It looks like the guillotine for Patricia Owens until her brother-in-law, played by Vincent Price, steps in.

Herbert Marshall is the inspector who is full of scorn for the widow's plight until the very end of the film, when he himself comes face to face with the reality of the situation.

The whole idea is too far out to deserve more than a passing interest, but the dramatic elements, as well as the scientific basis, are handled so expertly that the viewer finds himself drawn into the story—and that last horrifying scene leaves many in the audience as limp as it leaves Price and Marshall.

THE MANCHURIAN CANDIDATE, After the miserable flop of his "X-15," Frank Sinatra is to be congratulated on this latest production.

We won't try to describe it, since it is indescribable. But a couple of words of warning: You'll be completely lost if you don't see the film from the first, and you'll be puzzled when it's over if you don't know or haven't figured that the story is one big spoof.

A satire of what? one might ask. Well, that's for the audience to ponder—and there's enough thrown in for almost everybody to get a few of the salient points, particularly those he feels most heavily about. Audience reactions will be subjective, with each person seeing what he wants to see.

Basically, the plot has Sinatra and Laurence Harvey being captured on patrol in Korea and brainwashed—Harvey ending up as an unintentional Communist agent, unaware of what he's doing. The plot moves back to the U.S., where the witches cauldron bubbles with conniving wives, crooked senators, and the Queen of Diamonds (which turns out to be the key to the whole mess).

With Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Texas senators, Democrat Ralph Yarborough and Republican John Tower, voted with the majority in tabling a move to shut off debate and force action on proposals to strengthen the Senate's anti-filibuster rule. The vote was 53 to 42.

'The Lion' Adventure Story Filmed On Scene In Africa

A Father's Love

William Holden isn't sure he'll see that arm again, but he's willing to risk it in an attempt to win the affection of Pamela Franklin, who portrays the daughter he has not seen in many years, in this scene from "The Lion." The wee beastie is Zamba, a rather jealous friend of Pamela's.

no stranger to this strange location; she traveled here before as part of, of all things, a charity fashion show. The star has appeared in such films as "Song Without End," "North To Alaska" and "Walk On The Wild Side."

Pamela makes her second screen appearance; her first was in Deborah Kerr in Jack Clayton's tour de force "The Innocents." Referred to by her co-workers and director Cardiff as a "natural actress," Pamela had the difficult assignment of working with the title character, Zamba, and although an armed hunter watched over the beast in all their scenes, through the guidance of trainer Ralph Helfer, she managed to control the lion to the point of riding on his back like a pony.

Every other "Lion" part was played by authentic African bushmen, who received costly coaching in order to, as producer Engel explained, "provide that almost indefinable texture that separates the outstanding from the routine."

The musical score of "The Lion," which is called the first feature-length film to be made in its entirety in Africa, was composed and conducted by famed Malcolm Arnold.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH AP Newsfeatures Writer
Many nations throughout the world are planning to issue special stamps to commemorate the United Nations "Freedom From Hunger" campaign. The U.N. Postal Department has announced it will issue its own "Freedom From Hunger" stamp on March 22. It will be the second U.N. commemorative stamp of the year. The new issue will come in two denominations—5 cents green and yellow, and 11 cents maroon and yellow. Featured will be stalks of wheat with the U.N. emblem in the lower left hand corner. The wording "Freedom From Hunger" will appear in English below the illustration. The designer of the new stamp is Ole Hamann of Denmark.

The purpose of the program sponsored by the United Nations is to publicize the deepening universal concern for the economic and social imbalances of the world today and to reflect the hopeful vision of a future with economic freedom and social justice for all. First day covers for the stamps may be obtained by sending requests to U.N. Postal Administration in New York City. Remittances to cover cost of the stamps which will be affixed must be either a money order or certified check. Envelopes should be sent as soon as possible in view of the March 22 date of issuance.

In order to accommodate the many collectors who will be getting "Freedom From Hunger" stamps, a new and special album for these issues will be produced by the Washington Press. Section one of the album, which will be released in a few months, will have space for all stamps released up to press time. The second section will follow a few months later.

West Germany has honored the Crago Organization (a combined action committee of 20 American charities) and Care by issuing a new 20 pf stamp, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The new stamp shows a mother and child receiving a gift parcel and bears the inscription in German "Germany thanks Crago and Care." This stamp is the first commemorative of 1963 for West Germany.

Fiji has commemorated the visit of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip by overprinting the 3 pence and 1 shilling denominations of their current issue with the words "Royal Visit." This new issue was reported by the Crown Agents Representative of Washington D. C.

The Philippines has issued a pair of semi-postal stamps. One features Dr. Jose Rizal playing tennis. The other illustrates Dr. Rizal fencing. Each stamp is in two colors. The announcement was made by Postmaster General Enrico Palomar.

She stands up to be counted

She's in the fight against Communism with America's most powerful weapon... truth. The truth that is broadcast every day by Radio Free Europe. It gives hope and strength to 80,000,000 captive people in Eastern Europe. Here is Communism's weak spot. Here are the millions in Poland, in Czechoslovakia, in Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania, who can only be held in check by Soviet troops. Radio Free Europe, broadcasting to these determined people, is one of the Free World's major weapons in the cold war. It is supported by private citizens—American men and women. It needs your help. Send your dollars today... you'll be proud to stand up and be counted.
