Local Girl Takes Stock Show Honor

Reserve grand champion steer of the tough El Paso Fat Stock Show was shown last night by Dolores Lankford, skillful 16-year-old Howard County 4-H Club member.

Dolores, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Lankford, is in her first year as a 4-H competitor in the big shows. Her heavyweight entry won first place in the heavy-weight division of Herefords, championship of all Herefords shown and went on to compete against a Callahan County Angus entry for the grand championship of the show. Dolores' animal was nosed out by the Angus and was given the reserve championship nod by the judges.

This is the second major victory this year for Howard County 4-H Club steers. Ten days ago, Mary Thornton won the grand championship of the Abilene steer show.

Miss Lankford's steer will be sold Friday at 1 p.m. at the big auction. A rule of the El Paso show is that all winners must be sold.

Other placings achieved by Howard County youngsters include:

Heavyweight Herefords, Mark Barr, second place; lightweight Herefords, Sharon Harrison, second place; Best five steers from any one county, Howard County, first place.

This is the second show in a row where the Howard County pen of five has won this distinction. The same ribbon was taken at Abilene.

In the lamb division, another Howard County youngster won high honors—Bud Saunders, showed the reserve champion medium wool lamb. His heavyweight lamb won first honors in its own division and then went on to win the reserve title in the final rounds. Bud also had a second lamb, a lightweight, medium wool entry, which placed second in its class.

Other lamb placings by local youngsters were:

Emma Lee White, 4th place in lightweight, medium wool; Charlotte Mann, 8th, and Buz Mann, her brother, 9th in the middle-weight, medium wool competition.

In the Southdown competition, James Gresham came up with a 14th and Donna Watts with a 15th place. Freddie Newsom won 19th spot in this competition.

Lovell Kuykendall, assistant county agent, said that the achievements of the youngsters at the show were most gratifying.

Still to be decided is the breeding sheep title. Last year, Lucy Thornton won this competition at El Paso. She is at the show now with six sheep and hopes to repeat this year.

Kuykendall said the club members will be back in Big Spring Saturday.

McNamara Will Discuss Cuba Situation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will publicly discuss the Kennedy administration's estimates of Soviet strength in Cuba on a radio-television broadcast today, the White House announced.

The broadcast was scheduled for 5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

McNamara will head a group of Pentagon officials who will hold a news conference on the subject. The three major television networks, NBC, ABC and CBS announced they would carry McNamara's talk live at 5 p.m. The radio facilities of the three plus that of the Mutual Broadcasting Co., also planned coverage at the same time.

In recent days, some Republican Congress members have challenged the administration's estimates of the Soviet arsenal in the Caribbean, contending that Soviet strength there is greater than the Pentagon and State Department have reported.

The White House indicated that McNamara and his colleagues would give a detailed accounting of U.S. intelligence findings.

Originally, the administration planned to have McNamara conduct a background briefing on Cuba for newsmen.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the briefing was being converted into a public news conference because "so much interest has been manifested" in the session.

In another move understood to have White House blessing, John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, agreed today to present a detailed report on the Soviet arms status in Cuba to a Senate watchdog defense subcommittee.

Informed senators said McCone was expected to testify this afternoon at a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee.

McCone's appearance was reportedly arranged by President Kennedy. There were unconfirmed reports that the McCone testimony would be made public later.

The White House action seemed directed at quieting the belligerent partisan debate which has flared in Congress over a variety of reports of a massive Soviet arms buildup in Cuba.

Education Bill Prospects Fade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospects for President Kennedy's omnibus education bill, never bright, were fading fast today as feuding disrupted the House Education and Labor Committee.

Republicans opposing the $5.3 billion, 24-point measure hope to force a halt in the hearings, which Chairman Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., launched Monday. He then left for two weeks in Puerto Rico. Powell had scheduled 10 days of hearings running through next week.

Rep. Peter Freydinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., the ranking Republican on the committee, said he will demand the presence of a quorum—15 of the 29 members—before the hearings proceed. A quorum has not been present either of the first two days.

Acting Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., said he will let the full committee decide what action to take starting today.

That could mean an abrupt halt to consideration of the administration program in one big bill. Most members would prefer study by several subcommittees.

City Buys New Radio Station

Equipment for a new radio station for the Big Spring Department of Public Works has been ordered and is expected to arrive within 30 days, Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said Wednesday morning.

The station for local government radio service was ordered after the Federal Communication Commission demanded removal of the public works department units from the police radio station.

Bids were taken in December and eight old radios were traded in on new equipment.

The antenna for the new station will be placed on the same mast as the police antenna, and the new license calls for operation on a frequency of 154.980 megacycles. The permit calls for 10 units, but only eight will be used at this time.

The FCC has demanded the change for some time because of too many stations using the law enforcement base station with too much traffic. The sheriff's department, also, on the police station, will remain. Texas Department of Public Safety units are also equipped with transmitters and receivers on the same frequency, as is the Liquor Control Board, and civil defense units.

Kennedy Lowers Cuba Shipping Ban

The Human Race

This study of Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and U.S. Gen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts was made during the governor's visit to State House, Boston. Gov. Barnett, who gained national attention last year for his opposition to the admission of a Negro to the University of Mississippi, spoke at a Harvard Law School forum. Brooke, only Republican elected to a top state office in Massachusetts last year, is the only Negro attorney general in the nation.

Order Aimed At Trade With Red Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today barred shipment of U.S. government-financed cargoes on any ship which has been to Cuba since Jan. 1.

The long-expected order is aimed at discouraging free world ships engaging in trade with Cuba.

The new regulation falls considerably short of more sweeping proposals first planned by the administration last fall.

White House sources said the tougher proposals have not been adopted because of U.S. diplomatic success in getting the maritime countries to cut down on the Cuban trade.

These sources said too that stiffer regulations may be issued later if needed—and meanwhile the number of non-Communist bloc ships calling at Cuban ports has dropped from 92 last July to 14 in January.

The President's order is part of the administration's campaign to isolate the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro and make it more expensive for his Communist bloc suppliers to maintain his regime.

A White House statement said: "The White House today announced that steps have been taken to insure that the U.S. government-financed cargoes are not shipped from the United States on foreign flag vessels engaging in trade with Cuba."

"The concerned departments and agencies of the government have been directed not to permit shipment of any such cargoes on vessels that have called at a Cuban port since Jan. 1, 1963, unless the owner of such a ship gives satisfactory assurances that no ship under his control will henceforth be employed in the Cuban trade."

As explained by White House sources, the order would permit the owner of a shipping company to send other vessels of his line to the United States to pick up U.S.-financed cargoes even if one of his ships is in the Cuban trade.

But if a ship which had stopped at Cuba sought to carry U.S.-financed cargoes, it would be barred unless the company owner promises that all of his vessels would thereafter shun Cuban trade.

The hope was expressed in administration quarters that this limited regulation would have a persuasive effect on shipowners who otherwise would show little concern over whether their vessels touch at Cuban ports. U.S. government-financed cargoes can be an important moneymaker for shippers.

Plane Is Downed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A fighter-bomber piloted by two U.S. Air Force officers crashed and exploded today on a raiding mission in Communist guerrilla territory.

Four Break Jail

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Four prisoners slugged a jailer and fled the Lamar County jail Tuesday night, and today officers from North Texas and Southern Oklahoma carried out a massive manhunt.

Conservatives Will Retain Diefenbaker As Party Chief

BULLETIN
OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's Parliament was dissolved today and a national election was called for Monday, April 8.

OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—Conservative party members of the House of Commons, together with the Cal. int., decided today to back Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker in the coming election campaign.

After a two-hour caucus, Finance Minister George Nowlan said Diefenbaker "will be prime minister" after the April elections.

Nowlan had been mentioned as a possible new leader of the party. Some elements of the Conservatives were dissatisfied with Diefenbaker even before the U.S.-Canadian dispute over nuclear weapons forced the votes.

Sen. Wallace McCutcheon, a minister without portfolio, described the Cabinet as united. He sought to deflate rumors of a move on foot to oust Diefenbaker. Defense Minister Douglas Harkness resigned Sunday and told Diefenbaker their differences were irreconcilable.

While other elements of the party outside Parliament remained to be heard from, the caucus sentiment seemed to assure Diefenbaker of keeping the leadership.

Under Canadian procedure, the leader of the party winning the most seats in Parliament becomes prime minister. Diefenbaker has been ruling even though his party failed to win a majority in the elections last June.

Diefenbaker's government remains in office as a caretaker regime pending new elections two months hence.

The campaign will be fought on close-to-home economic issues as well as the dispute over whether Canada should have nuclear warheads.

Diefenbaker's government was the second in nearly 100 years of Canadian confederation to be beaten down by a no-confidence vote in the House of Commons.

The prime minister was to call today on Gov. Gen. Georges Vanier, the required prelude to dissolving Parliament and setting an election date.

The election probably will be set for April 8.

Although the nuclear weapons dispute brought down the government, chief opposition leader Lester B. Pearson said he believes the major issue in the coming campaign will be the need for economic and social policies to stimulate "our national growth to the point where we'll be able to give employment to all who are willing and able to work."

Pearson, leader of the Liberal party, apparently was trying to tone down the defense issue. He, too, has been attacked for advocating that Canada live up to commitments to accept nuclear weapons and then negotiate to get rid of them.

Diefenbaker's Conservatives are certain to emphasize charges that the United States interfered in Canadian affairs by calling publicly on the government to accept nuclear weapons.

Nuclear Merchant Ship Docks At Pelican Island

GALVESTON (AP)—The world's first nuclear-powered merchant ship docked at Pelican Island Tuesday to become the first customer of a $3,250,000 atomic service station.

The NS Savannah eased through the fog into the docks of Todd Shipyards where the world's first commercial facility for refueling, maintenance and servicing nuclear-powered ships is located.

The installation, designed for the Savannah, was dedicated after the arrival of the white, streamlined vessel.

At the dedication, Gov. John Connally said it was fitting that the vessel be serviced in Galveston.

"Only in Texas could you find a filling station to service a ship that could go around the world 10 times without refueling," Connally said.

Connally, former secretary of

Navy, presented Commodore Gaston DeGroote of Huntington, N.Y., with a Texas flag and said:

"I know you and your crew will visit many lands and many ports but I hope this Lone Star flag will remind you of the warm hospitality of Texas."

Connally observed that the crew of the Savannah could be at sea for three years since the necessity of refueling of the ship is so seldom.

"I hope any of you from Texas will cast absentee ballots," Connally joked.

Dr. Kenneth Pitzer, president of Rice University and a member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission general advisory group, said the Savannah was built to explore the possibility of nuclear commercial ships.

"We can now move toward nuclear ships of greater size," Dr. Pitzer said.

As far as he knows, Keating said these concrete bases have been broken up. He said he was talking about gravel-based medium range missile sites. He conceded he has no information that launchers which could be used on the sites remain in Cuba. "I don't think they are posing any weapons or they're going to launch an invasion against the U.S.A.," he said.

Keating suggested that there may be a difference of opinion within the administration on what to do about Cuba and that "may account for the reluctance on the part of officials to give Americans all of the facts."

He said he wants to keep the statements because he could not confirm their authenticity to his own satisfaction.

"I would welcome the opportunity to tell the President of the information I have, to tell him also which I do not consider confirmed but which might be true," he said.

But Keating said he doesn't want to reveal even to Kennedy the sources of information the administration has often challenged in the past but which proved to be basically right.

Keating clarified one issue of conflict with the Pentagon. He conceded he was not talking about hard bases for intermediate range missiles when he said last week he had evidence offensive bases were being maintained by the Soviets.

He said he wants to keep the Cuban buildup out of politics.

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q. The matter of the Soviet build-up in Cuba appears to be rushing toward an investigative crisis in Congress. Sen. Humphrey has suggested open hearings. Would you favor such hearings and would you be willing to appear before some investigating committee?

A. I would certainly favor open hearings but I think it should be left to the discretion of the Senate committee.

Q. Would you give such a committee any information you had on the Cuban buildup out of politics.

A. I would give such a committee any information you had on the Cuban buildup out of politics. (See KEATING, Page 2-A, Col. 1)

Speaker Issue, JFK Stir House Members

AUSTIN (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson's interest in the Texas Legislature and a 1963 campaign for a speaker stirred House members today.

Meanwhile both houses spent much of their morning session on minor bills and resolutions.

A series of important committee meetings were scheduled this afternoon and tonight.

The vice presidential angle appeared when a spokesman for the seven Republicans in the 150-member House issued a statement criticizing slow action of a House subcommittee on an election law change. The change would reschedule the current May and June party primaries for August and September. Primaries were moved forward several years ago in a drive by supporters of Johnson's unsuccessful presidential nomination campaign.

"Just who is there to contact?" Rep. Dick Morgan, Dallas, said about the subcommittee delay. He noted that Gov. John Connally, "although strangely silent lately," advocated the change last November. "In the interests of fair play, the House members should decide this issue on the basis of what is good for Texas and not upon the political plans of a small group of personally ambitious men."

A Houston legislator, Rep. Tom Bass, challenged Speaker Byron Tunnell to repudiate claims of Tunnell associates that they have more than enough pledges to reelect him in 1965. If the pledge drive is successful, Bass said, "then you will have almost unlimited control over every member of this House for the next four years."

The Senate passed 29-0 and sent to the House a bill giving Jackson County flood control district power to contract with the Bureau of Reclamation on a $29 million dam.

The House spent considerable time debating, and amending, a bill to regulate the sale of economic pesticides.

An afternoon session was scheduled by the Senate State Affairs Committee on a revised Padre Island park bill. Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi said a subcommittee has ironed out last week's committee differences to make it acceptable.

Other important public hearings were expected to keep legislators and witnesses busy until late tonight.

Sensors wrote some sort of legislative history Tuesday with a quick 26-5 approval of a proposed constitutional amendment promising Texas women equal legal rights with men. In previous sessions the Senate has blocked similar measures.

TO VOTERS
If the House also approves, the final verdict on women's rights will rest with voters in the 1964 general election.

One of Gov. Connally's emergency requests got a boost toward debate with Senate committee approval Tuesday of a bill setting up a 25-member study group on taxation beyond the high school level. A companion measure gets attention of a House committee Thursday morning.

A $50,000 appropriation to finance the study already has been signed by Connally. The report on "the needs of public and private education beyond the high school level" must be given the legislature by the fall of 1964.

A hearing scheduled Tuesday on another Connally proposal, state purchase of water storage space, was postponed until next week by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, the author.

"I ran into some trouble I didn't anticipate," Parkhouse said.

FIRST HEARING
The House Tax and Revenue

Committee met for its first hearing Tuesday and sent to a subcommittee a plan to cut sulphur taxes.

Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland said a reduction from $1.40 to $1.05 a ton would equalize competition between Texas and Louisiana sulphur producers. He said this would create incentive for offshore drilling and ultimately would mean more state revenue.

An 11-point House bill aimed at revamping the five-year-old State Securities Act likewise went to a subcommittee. One provision would require securities dealers and salesmen to pass written examinations before getting licenses.

Two important proposals are before the House State Affairs Committee tonight. One would guarantee the public's right to open government records and meetings.

MERGER PROPOSAL
The second, a highly controversial issue, expected to attract a large crowd of spectators, is Connally's proposal to merge the State Parks Board with the State Game and Fish Commission.

Sensors will be hearing proposals for a series of changes in the state ad valorem tax.

A Senate committee gave approval Tuesday night to a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax.

The same committee approved measures to prohibit future annual transfers of 1 per cent of the permanent school fund to the available school fund and to raise the Veterans Land Board bonds total to $350 million from $200 million.

House committees considered and sent to subcommittees Tuesday night measures to freeze the sales tax at the current 2 per cent level and to strengthen the Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Act.

Farm Labor Day Set Thursday

Thursday is Farm Labor Day in Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties. Leon M. Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission in Big Spring, said the purpose of Farm Labor Day is to get farm workers who are looking for jobs, and farmers who are looking for workers, together to discuss jobs.

Kinney explained that planting time is not far off and he is expecting a heavy demand for tractor drivers, irrigators, and general farm hands. Experienced farm workers looking for a regular job are urged to come to the Texas Employment Commission Office, 406 Rummels, Thursday at 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There will be farmers from Big Spring, Stanton, Garden City, and St. Lawrence areas on hand.

Deputies Give Insight Into De Gaulle Thinking

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle has shrugged off British accusations he is trying to emulate Hitler or Napoleon by keeping Britain out of the European Common Market.

The French leader, in fact, feels he is saving Britain from being used as a stooge by the United States to give the Americans more of an economic hold on Europe.

Members of the National Assembly came away from a reception Tuesday at the Elysee Palace—the French White House—with these impressions and gave an insight into De Gaulle's thinking.

The deputies reported De Gaulle said he considers that Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan double-crossed him at Nassau by Britain's agreeing to accept President Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles.

Macmillan met with De Gaulle just before leaving for the Bahamas conference with President Kennedy last December.

One deputy quoted De Gaulle as saying:

"Macmillan told me 'You are right to make a striking (nuclear) force. We too are trying to make ours. We must associate them in the European framework, independent of America.'"

"On this he left me, to go to the Bahamas. That was ahead of my news conference (when De Gaulle declared Britain was not ready to enter Europe) and changed the tone of it."

"The English always manage to appear respectable. That's how they succeed in having a certain influence in the foreign press, and in our country, too, in certain circles."

"Mr. Macmillan, whom I like very much, had me compared by the British press to Hitler. He knows me well enough to know that this is out of the question. I have even been compared to Napoleon."

When another deputy suggested De Gaulle had probably done Macmillan a favor in the British political situation, De Gaulle responded:

"Ah well, he deserves it."

Market Erases Tuesday Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market early this afternoon erased all of Tuesday's losses. Trading was moderate.

Gains of most key stocks were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7, at 256.6 with industrials up .7, rails up 1.2, and utilities up .1.

Keating Offers Cuban Data To White House—

 as well as the sources of that information if the sources were held confidential?
 A. They will call as witnesses, I am told, officials in the Defense Department and the CIA (Central Intelligence Agency) and the State Department and they will have all of the information I have and a good deal more. I would be glad to confer with the members of that committee any time they wanted me to but I don't think it would be in the interest of anyone to have me as a witness because what I know is comparatively little compared to what they can get from these other witnesses.
GOVERNMENT KNEW
 Q. Sen. Humphrey said that his senator or any House member who had information about the Cuban situation ought to give it first to the CIA and then make a speech about it. Have you done that?

 A. All of the information which I have had has come from government officials or if it's come from other sources, it has been cleared by government officials before I have spoken.
 Q. What kind of government officials?
 A. Not the top. Lower level officials.
 Q. Are you suggesting what may be known at a lower level may not be known at a higher level? And, if this is known at a higher level, are you suggesting there is some dereliction in the government in not acting on that information?
 A. Well, first I don't know to what level particular information is known. I am not charging dereliction against anyone. I have every reason to think that those who have the information I have are just as good patriotic Americans as I am. I think probably the same may be true which was apparently true last October. They place a different interpretation on the information than I do. I don't charge them with any insincerity of anything else. But I think that the situation in Cuba is very serious.

NOT IRBM'S
 Q. There are some direct conflicts between a number of critical points in a speech you made last week and the Defense Department position, for example, on the status of the medium range and the intermediate missile sites. The Defense Department contends that those sites, those bases were dismantled and broken up in the case of the IRBM's, that the missile erectors and the oxidizers and all the equipment needed to activate the missiles had been removed and had been seen on outgoing ships—
 A. I never mentioned IRBM's at any time. There are three kinds of missiles and three kinds of missile bases that should be differentiated in this connection. One are what are called the ground-to-air missile bases; one intermediate range bases; one intermediate range missile bases. The intermediate range missile bases have a concrete base. I was at no time talking about that. When the Defense Department replied, they got that into the picture. Now a great many of those have been builded and broken up and perhaps all of them have, as far as I know. The anti-rocket missile sites are there and there is no dispute about that. What I was talking about was the medium range missile sites, which do not have a concrete base at all. They are gravel or hard-top in character. The hard-top and gravel has not been ripped up, has not been removed, and is in the same condition and is being kept there right today ready for use if they so desired to use it.

NOT ON SITES
 Q. Is that significant really, unless there is evidence, and you may have evidence, that the missile erectors, the oxidizing equipment, the preparation buildings are also there?
 A. As far as I know, the buildings and the so-called launchers are not on those sites. We don't know where they are. I don't think anyone knows.
 Q. Let's get this straight. Is this a base which could be used offensively against us?
 A. Yes, it could be.
 Q. About how long range a missile is it?
 A. Oh, people differ on that but in the neighborhood of 1,000 miles.
 Q. Your sources have no reports of very important missile equipment like the erectors and the oxidizers still being in Cuba?
 A. No, I have no knowledge either that they still are in Cuba or that they are not. They can easily be transported and hidden but I have no positive evidence that they are.
 Q. Do you have any suggestive evidence, put it that way?
 A. I have been very careful not to make statements—until I felt I had the confirmed knowledge, and I do not have that as to these.
 Q. How would you say that this knowledge has been confirmed?
 A. It has been confirmed by government officials in all cases where I have made a statement.
NOT AS SINISTER
 Q. You said that before the October quarantine action was taken you thought the administration officials had the facts but concealed them because they didn't know what to do. Do you suggest that they now have information similar to yours but are concealing it for the same reason?
 A. Well, I don't like your use of the word conceal, because that implies something sinister. I did not mean it then as sinister, and I do not now.

 Q. I believe you used the word "conceal."
 A. Perhaps I did. I did not think I did, but if I did I'll stand on the word, but I want to preface it by saying that I do not consider there is anything sinister in that. I think very possibly that that may account for the reluctance on the part of the officials to give Americans all of the facts with regard to the Russian build-up there.
 Q. If we concede there is the buildup which you contend there is there, and it's dangerous, what is your suggestion on what we ought to do about it?
 A. First, I think the American people should be given all of the facts regarding this buildup. I can see no problem of security involved. Second, we should put into effect this executive order to prevent free world ships carrying goods here to go back across the Atlantic. Going beyond that, I have some ideas as to what should be done but I think the responsible way to handle that is to present those ideas, and I would be delighted to do it if I'm invited, either to the President or to those in authority.
THEY ARE A THREAT
 Q. On the question of the threat which you have referred to, are you suggesting that this is a military threat to the U.S. in the absence of weapons of the nature of the medium range missiles or the bombers?

 A. I think that tanks and trucks and missiles and torpedo boats and amphibious craft and MIG fighters and items of that kind present a threat when they are there in great numbers, together with 20,000 soldiers, Russian soldiers. I think that they present a serious threat to the safety and security of the Western Hemisphere. Number one, I think there is a danger that they are building this base in order to form the base of operations in other Latin American countries. Secondly, I think they would like to have a strong base here so that in all diplomatic relations they can always point to this in an effort to put us in a defensive position. I don't think that they're posing any weapons or they're going to launch an invasion against the U.S.A.
 Q. How would they translate the tanks and the Russian troops and the other modern gear they have in Cuba into a threat to other Latin American countries? Do you seriously believe that any of this could be exported in the form of an invasion expedition or in any other form to say Guatemala or Venezuela with the U.S. fleet in the area?
 A. Well, I think it's possible to get personnel from Cuba to other Latin American countries, in some numbers, not in a great invasion fleet—that's not the way they operate. But it is possible to get personnel from Cuba to other Latin American countries without our knowledge.

HARD CHOICE
 Q. You said recently that the time will come when the U. S. would have to make the hard choice to get rid of the Communists arsenal "no matter how." What is the hard choice? What do you mean?
 A. The hard choice is either to get rid of it or let it stay there. I think it's intolerable to have a force of this kind there because Cuba is fast becoming, building up to, if it is not already arrived at it, the second strongest military power in the Western Hemisphere.
 Q. Is it intolerable enough for us to take military action against Cuba?
 A. I am not at this moment advocating a specific course of action. When I said, however, that we must get rid of them, I meant exactly that, with whatever method is determined by those in authority to be the proper and most effective method. There are many alternatives to military action—many, and I would hope that no military action would ever become necessary.
 Q. You said a moment ago that you would be glad to talk with the President about what you thought ought to be done in Cuba. Would you also be willing to clear up this dispute over what is actually there, to face the President himself with all the information that you have and the sources of the information so that the President could undertake to check this against the CIA and other sources?

 A. I think I should protect my sources, just as the newspaperman would. But, I would welcome the opportunity to tell the President of the information I have, to tell him also of the information I've heard which I do not consider confirmed but which might be true.

A MISLEADING STATEMENT

By T. H. Tschol, Preacher
 Church of Christ, 3200 West Highway 80
 This sort of statement is made so often that it is well to call attention to it. A "Glad Tidings" leaflet (sent to me) proposes to tell man how to get rid of his sins. It says, "Not by prayer, pains, promises, perseverance, baptism or the Lord's supper; not by being good or doing good."
 The statement contains some truth. Certainly one does not get rid of sins by afflicting pain on his body; for the Bible has not made that a condition to forgiveness. Baptism alone will not bring one forgiveness from God. But when baptism is an act of faith and representative of one's trust in Christ, as well as being a picture of repentance which is in his heart, then baptism puts him into Christ where redemption and forgiveness are found.

 "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death?" "In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins" (Rom. 6:3; Eph. 1:7).
 Then, what about prayer, perseverance, the Lord's Supper, etc? See next article. In the meantime, why not attend our mid-week preaching service tonight, 7:30? You are always welcome!

POLICE CHIEF REQUESTS HELP, SUPPORT

Juvenile Problem Outlined

Police Chief Jay Banks announced Tuesday morning, following conferences Monday with City Manager Larry Crow and other persons affected, that different steps will be taken to handle a serious juvenile problem here.

"Some places are getting undeserved bad reputations because of a few boys who are just plain 'punks,'" Banks said. "Some of these boys have parents who can't or don't want to believe that their sons are involved. Six out of eight boys who patronize drive-ins are there for something to eat and drink and to be with their dates. The others are there with the intention of causing trouble. This draws attention and the others swarm around to watch. When a police car arrives the 'punks' are warned and scatter.

"One of our biggest problems in enforcement," Banks continued, "is getting residents to understand that we must have somebody to file a complaint and be willing to appear in court against those arrested. Many residents complain about the trouble but are not willing to get behind law enforcement officers to make charges stand up.

"The places where trouble occurs is often not the fault of the owners and operators of such places. Intoxicating drinks are being secured by youngsters who go to these places to drink and make trouble. Officers can make arrests when they see something actually happening but they can not make arrests otherwise unless someone is willing to file complaints and appear as witnesses. Police have the authority to search cars when they believe there are minors in possession of alcoholic beverages and when these are caught, they are arrested," the chief said.

"We are planning to put plainclothes policemen in unmarked cars to watch some drive-ins. Also, we are going to demand the support of operators who have complained about not getting help. If they are not willing to support their charges, we can't do much for them. Police have no authority to suspend or cancel liquor and beer licenses or permits, but if those who are able to get evi-

U. S.-Canadian Relations Under Strain; So What Lies Ahead?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Seldom have U.S.-Canadian relations been so strained, mainly because of a State Department statement Washington insiders say wasn't intended as a bombshell nor read in advance by President Kennedy. Who cleared it at the White House and what lies ahead for "good neighbors?"

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political crisis in Canada threatens to maintain for several months the severe strains on U.S.-Canadian relations.

There was no immediate comment here from the White House or State Department on the fall of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative government Tuesday night. But U.S. leaders are sensitively aware that a State Department statement just a week ago sparked the tumult which now forces the Canadians into new elections.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Ebb method nor any other method is effective, and the Ebb method will not help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

If your scalp is still creating hair and you have dandruff, or excessive hair fall, excessive oiliness, dryness, or itchy scalp, you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Many have reported satisfaction from the Ebb Scalp Method. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? It costs you nothing to come in and learn how many people have been helped by the years of Ebb experience.

Just go to the Scharbauer Hotel in Midland, Thursday, Feb. 7, only, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for R. J. Webber.

A Devotional For The Day

Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path. (Psalms 119:105.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we thank Thee for Thy Word, which is so real, precious, and vital to our spiritual lives. Make it glow around us and be as a bright light in the darkness of this world. In Jesus' name. Amen. (From The 'Upper Room')

Council-Manager Government

The close (6,658 to 5,769) but significant vote by which Galveston retained the council-city manager form of government recently deserves at least a footnote in the history of Texas municipal affairs. Galveston, the year after the great hurricane flood of 1900, devised the commission form of government to handle reconstruction. This form, in which an elected commissioner is independently responsible for each major municipal department, spread over Texas and much of the nation. It was a psychological boost to the later spread of city-manager government when Galveston adopted it, abandoning the famous "Galveston Plan" that had developed serious deficiencies under the stress of modern urban problems.

The council-city manager form was first adopted in Texas by Amarillo, after a 1912 state constitutional amendment allowed larger cities "home-rule" power to design their own charters. It has since become the most popular form among home-rule cities in Texas. In 1943, the state authorized general-law cities (under 5,000 population) to adopt the council-manager system by popular vote, and a number since have, though the mayor-council system—in which the elected mayor is the chief administrative officer—still dominates in small communities. Houston is the only Texas city to abandon the city-manager plan and not later renege on it. Houston did not really give the plan a chance. Admittedly, some municipal experts, who otherwise favor the city-manager system, doubt it is the best plan desirable for cities of a million or more population, but it is working well in the other three largest Texas cities, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth. And it is something of a paradox that this state's largest city has the mayor-council form still most popular among Texas' smallest cities.

Galveston's retention of the city-manager form suggests that the city-manager movement in Texas will continue its spread in Texas. No better form, on the record has been devised, but it is foreseeable that continuing expansion and congestion of the state's major metropolitan areas sooner or later must bring drastic alterations in the pattern of local government to meet areawide problems.

Don't Let The Few Spoil Things

During the past weekend police got wind that a big teen-age fight was in the offing, and that the meeting place was to be a popular drive-in. For an hour or so they worked around the milling youngsters who circled the place like a beehive, frequently hurling taunts at the officers and others.

A few of the young people had intoxicants or gave evidence of having had them. In the end, the crowd was partially dispersed and the drive-in operator closed his place two hours early to help with the dispersal.

This is not the first time trouble has erupted, and this is not the only place where it has erupted. But young people are gregarious and they want to go to the popular places. There is no problem in gathering per se, for this particular drive-in has only sandwiches and soft drinks. So when youths show up with evidences of having been drinking, they did not get it there—they got it somewhere else. Sometime they have it right in the car with them.

It is agreed that a relatively small minority create the trouble. This, perhaps, is no different from adult society, but it does not make sense to let a relatively few—whether youths or adults—spoil things and stir up trouble for everyone else.

Where do you start in getting hold of something that is like a handful of quicksilver? The parents are the logical answer. If most parents care, they had better start caring enough to look into their children's activities. If they don't care, then it is time to decide on some course of concerted action to create the necessary pressures on anti-social acts of this disruptive minority.

Steel's Declining Profits

WASHINGTON—A significant piece of news in the last few days casts doubt on the soundness of the administration's economic policy—which is that, if the government stimulates spending and thus increases the volume of sales, profits will rise.

Three of the biggest steel companies have just issued their annual reports. These show that, for the year 1962, although sales went up, profits went down. They show also the total effect of President Kennedy's error in judgment when last April he ordered governmental agencies to use all their powers to coerce the big steel companies into abandoning their proposed price increase of three-cenths of a cent a pound.

THE U.S. STEEL Corporation's report for 1962 has just come out. The company's sales went up by $164 million, but profits went down $6 million. A few days later, the annual reports of Bethlehem Steel Company and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation were published. They revealed the same thing—larger sales but smaller profits. All three companies continued their reduced dividend payments. How long will investors be inclined to supply funds for new equipment if the outlook for dividends is discouraging?

ALSO, even after taking into account the new tax laws permitting larger depreciation reserves, the U.S. Steel Corporation's net profits for 1962 were six million dollars behind net profits for 1961. Yet this narrow margin of profit comes when the total volume is up more than one million tons. In 1963 and again in 1965, the U.S. Steel Corporation had an output of 25 million tons of steel, but this volume has steadily gone down until it reached 18 million last year.

THERE HAVE been few changes in steel prices in recent years, while expenses—largely wage costs—have steadily gone up faster than the employers could absorb them.

Even though the gross national product has risen, Steel has faced a steadily decreasing volume of sales in the last few years. This is because previous high sales were due primarily to wartime conditions or to the catching up by buyers in connection with periods of recession or strikes or threats of strikes.

GROWTH MUST BE at a normal rate to make a steady increase in profits from a larger volume of sales. Wages cannot go up out of proportion to the rate of profit increase and yet maintain a healthy condition. That's really the fundamental trouble with the American economy today, and the administration has not faced up to the facts. Thus, labor exercises a virtual monopoly throughout the industry and the government sits by and allows the wage factor to be thrust into the business mechanism arbitrarily and without guidance or restraint.

PRICE IS the crucial factor in modern industry. Nowhere has it been more conclusively demonstrated that misguided labor policies have dealt a severe blow to national progress than in steel. This industry does a volume of $15 billion a year, and the fabricators and related manufacturing business do another $15 billion in sales. So it is well worthwhile for the government to take a good look at what its one-sided handling of the steel controversy in April 1962 has done to a major industry.

AT LEAST 100,000 steel workers are today jobless. This means a lost payroll of $500 million a year. Tax cuts will not help these unemployed persons, nor will "consumer spending" help increase profits unless wage costs are overcome either through new machinery or increased demands. For the prices proposed for steel had gone into effect in April 1962, they would never have been uniform anyway. They would have been selective so as to enable the companies to compete with foreign producers while, at the same time, moving up their own rates on certain products that Europeans cannot make competitively.

IN THIS VERY complex system of price-making, the administration intervened and slowed down a $30 billion industry. Yet Mr. Kennedy said on TV last December that, if he had it to do all over again, he would proceed exactly the same way he did before. Perhaps last week's steel figures will be helpful in persuading the administration that the time has come to do something about the disruptive effects of high wage demands. For the present steel contract is coming up soon for possible re-opening by labor. The union leaders on the national level are said to be hesitant to ask for wage increases now, but rumblings are heard among the local leaders who have political ambitions inside the unions. The administration could do a constructive job of education at these levels and give the steel industry a chance to recover before it is faced with more wage increases. ### On Their Honor, They Have Done Well

NEW YORK (AP)—"On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country," begins one of the world's most famous oaths.

"To help other people at all times," it concludes, "to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

That pledge—and the motto "Be Prepared"—have helped guide the lives of 36 million Boy Scouts and their leaders since the founding of the famous youth organization in this country 53 years ago.

THIS IS National Boy Scout Week, and it is being celebrated by an active membership of around 5,250,000 scouts and their adult leaders.

Here are some items of interest about the movement. Nine members of President Kennedy's Cabinet were Boy Scouts, and so was Kennedy. So were 21 of the 27 Rhodes Scholars named in 1962. 75 per cent of the freshman class at West Point, and every one of the new crop of U.S. astronauts selected last year.

Scouting is carried on in 141 countries, colonies and protectorates throughout the world. One out of every four American men has been associated with the program either as a scout or as a leader.

IN AMERICA today there are 135,000 troops sponsored by P-T-A's, American Legion posts, Red Cross chapters, churches, and civic organizations. There are more than 15 million adult volunteers, and the biggest problem of the movement is to find enough qualified men to lead the growing number of troops. The task takes time, experience, dedication and an understanding of and sympathy for youth.

Nearly 1.5 per cent of all Boy Scouts go on to become Eagle Scouts, who must win 21 Merit Badges.

Of more than 100 Merit Badges available, the second most popular—surprisingly—is cooking, an indication that the average scout is going to make some future wife a helpful husband. But how good are these embryo chefs?

WELL, LAST year a 12-year-old scout, competing against hundreds of women, took first prize in a national baking contest.

Other favorite merit badges—swimming, ranks first—include those for home repairs, fireman, first aid, personal fitness, camping and lifesaving.

Although scouting stresses physical fitness, it doesn't overlook the handicapped. There are more than 40,000 blind scouts, and the Boy Scout Handbook is available in Braille for their benefit.

A unique group is Troop 809 of Hondo, Cal. Its 26 boys have no canoes or camping equipment. They can't swim, camp or hike. They memorize the information they need to win Merit Badges. They learn knot-tying yet don't see the knots they tie.

THE BOYS of Troop 809 rarely get outdoors, and when they do many people have to accompany them. Just ordinary Boy Scouts with perhaps a little more fertility and ambition, all are hospitalized and confined to iron lungs. All have polio.

U.S. Scouts buy about $25 million a year worth of uniforms, equipment and camp supplies. The most popular item—the Boy Scout knife.

Comedians sometimes poke affectionate fun at the Boy Scout's day to do a good deed every day in a naughty world, and his attempt to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.

THOSE ARE mighty big aims for a teen-age boy to live up to, but they have had one big, notable result.

Prison officials say comparatively few Boy Scouts ever get in serious trouble with the law.

Taking The Edge Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the time of year when Americans examine the President's proposals to Congress. Congress squirms and squawks, and the fighting begins. There have been times when it looked like guerrilla war.

Not this year. This year there's comparative quiet in Washington. It could be argued that the attention of everybody—President, Congress and public—has been distracted by events overseas, as it has so many times in the past. But this year, unlike other years, there are no major East-West crises.

There are only jumbles and mixups at the moment—with France and Canada—no matter how serious they become later, or uneasy suspicions—with Cuba—and concern about the Russian men and weapons there.

These various distractions still distract every President. Kennedy's proposals haven't given Congress a fever. The real reason seems to lie both with Kennedy and Congress.

He took the edge off his programs, before he even offered them, in public statements he made before Congress came back here to do its 1963 business. He did it when, in talking of some of the programs he had in mind like medical care for the aged, he indicated he thought they might not get very far this year.

This was pretty good evidence he wouldn't fight all-out for most of them.

That, and one other thing. He emphasized early his really big pitch this year would be in trying to get Congress to reduce and revise taxes. By itself this could be interpreted as telling Congress not to worry, that he didn't expect a lot.

When his tax proposal did go up—the major legislation of the year—it got the expected scrutiny and the usual acid comments that fly any time anyone, including the President, suggests cutting taxes without a budget balance.

The education bill, as usual, got a mixed reception but an unusually quiet one, although it seemed to include practically everything involving help to education except a supply of Mother Goose books.

All Should Be Vaccinated Against Smallpox

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

I note with approval that the American Medical Association is urging a long-term drive to get people vaccinated against smallpox, a subject which I have been discussing periodically.

One expert, Dr. Raymond L. White, said that "the low level of immunity that now exists is deplorable," and he is so right. The government goes to great pains to keep smallpox out of this part of the world, but if a few cases did get in, or even one, the result could be disastrous.

There is so much foreign travel that the possibility of some cases slipping through is very real, no matter how careful we are.

The trouble, I suspect, lies largely in the fact that people don't realize that a smallpox vaccination doesn't last forever. I recollect a fairly recent instance of a woman of mature years, planning a trip abroad, remarking contentedly that she wouldn't have to be vaccinated. She was sure, she said, "because the scar is still there from my vaccination."

Yes, a large scar may remain permanently but it doesn't mean that immunity also remains. For that matter, with vaccinations as they are now given, the scar, if any, can be so small as to be virtually invisible. We don't get scars the size of a nickel, such as used to be the case when I was a boy.

But we do need boosters, or the protection wears off. The lady planning the trip abroad has doubtless learned by this time that she had to get a fresh vaccination or not be allowed to return to this country after her trip.

However, the great majority of people who DON'T travel abroad are much too likely to depend on the vaccinations they had when they were children. And they shouldn't.

To be certain, smallpox vaccinations should be repeated every five years, and some experts would make it every three years.

With boosters that often, you will frequently have a very mild "take" or sometimes none at all, indicating that your immunity is still of good strength.

But the number of adults who are surprised to have a distinct "take" is indication of how many people who are, without realizing it, complacently walking around in such condition that they could get smallpox if some cases happened to crop up.

It's such a simple, quick procedure to have your vaccination renewed next time you see your doctor, that I hope you remember to do it.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a sebaceous

Goals And Purpose

Walter Kerr, who made such an impression as the speaker at the annual YMCA banquet last week, is an intense man. Pleasant easy conversationalist, sharp, congenial—but intense.

This, perhaps, is the key to his effectiveness not only as a speaker but as a man with a message. Audiences all over the country have listened to him and have been moved by him because he has something to say and because he believes fervently in what he is saying. And what he is saying is what he says in private conversation or from the podium.

IT IS THIS: Young people of this country must be filled with a purpose if this country is to extend its great heritage.

As he goes about the country, talking as he does constantly with young people in high school and college, Dr. Kerr has asked over and over: "What is your purpose in life?"

And what answer does he get mostly? To get a good job with a reasonable salary that will afford such basic things as a good living, a good car, a good home, maybe a boat and ample time and money, for a hobby, perhaps a family.

"BUT THESE are goals," interposes Walter Kerr. "What is your purpose?" This is where, to his dismay, he runs into a blank wall. Nearly everyone has goals but when it comes to a purpose, it is difficult to express if held at all.

The thing that prompted him to abandon a successful career in law was a call to preach the Gospel. The thing that prompted him to turn his ministry from one of the larger pulpits in East Texas to a nationwide challenge to youth was a conviction that American youth needs something to demand his utmost dedication.

THIS REALIZATION came to him during a tour of Russia. As he talked with young people there, as he does everywhere, he became deeply aware that they not only had goals as all young people do, but that they had a purpose—a burning zeal for communism.

"I discovered that it made no difference if the individual was to be an engineer, a mother, a farmer, a lawyer, a doctor, a chemist, a professor—no matter what—that young person was first of all a dedicated Communist.

Well, he thought, Americans have a greater purpose—a purpose of God and freedom, or freedom under God. But how can you chip away at the apathy of the masses and do more than chip away?

"WHAT CAN ONE MAN DO?" I asked myself, said Kerr. "Then I realized that nobody is more than one man."

A look around convinced him that America already has enough organizations for training youth. Two-thirds of the youth in the country aren't affiliated with or touched by any of them. What is desperately needed is for adults to get serious about this business, to give some time where it counts the most, and for young people somehow to catch the spirit of fire in their belief in God and in freedom that can come only under Him.

Curbing The Caesars

It is no secret that to date, despite all the hot air and not much else expended on the subject, I don't think much of the national effort in the area of Civil Defense.

But Civil Defense begins to look sweeter and sweeter to me, and the prospects of a fall-out shelter more and more inviting. Nor am I shining up to the shelter idea out of fear of nuclear war. In time, men may have enough common sense to junk the megaton stuff.

WHAT I CRAVE is a shelter to which I can flee and pull in after me when the legions of James Hoffa, head of the Teamsters Union, and Mike J. Quill, boss of the Transport Workers Union, begin to march.

Hoffa, in a speech in Lansing, Mich., has promised to lead "hundreds of thousands of workers" in a march on Washington with a twofold purpose: (1) to keep Congress from passing any legislation that in any way might inhibit the power of one James A. Hoffa and (2) to drive Robert F. Kennedy right into his own swimming pool, preferably wearing a concrete overcoat.

AS IF THAT were not sufficient to inspire any cautious person to plan his own survival, Quill, in a speech in New York, plainly hinted at "turmoil"—a little bit of revolution, maybe?—if something isn't done to water down the effects of automation on workers.

On what meat hath these our Caesars fed? Raw sirloin, it would seem! It's enough to make the shelter game attractive to any citizen.

QUILL, a man more given to smashing words than minding them, said workers "may get rough in this country and this country may have a real upheaval, a real turmoil" if unemployment through automation continues or grows.

Such "turmoil," he added, would come "not from Russia, not from Cuba, not from China, not from the Iron Curtain countries, but from its own people within the United States."

THAT MAY NOT be a threat on Quill's part, but it does have the ring of a raw promise.

Such talk as that of Hoffa and Quill in the United States is not guaranteed to enter the ears of the vast majority of American citizens. The bully boys with whom these two surround themselves may be entranced by it, but I doubt if the rank and file of their respective unions care much for it. Certainly it is repellent to the nation as a whole.

BUT THE fearful aspect of such talk, and the reason that ordinary citizens may suddenly show an interest in backyard shelters, is that Hoffa does not even have to lead hundreds of thousands of his followers in a march on Washington to intimidate Congress. Or the Administration.

The House and Senate have continuously shown the white flag with reference to legislation that would force on labor the same kind of responsibility that Congress forced on capital a generation ago. It—Congress—has shrank timidly from applying the anti-trust laws to such nation-wide unions as Hoffa's. As for the administration, in the face of a lengthy newspaper strike in New York, a paralyzing waterfront strike just settled after loss of billions to the nation, a disastrous transportation strike in Philadelphia and other crippling strikes around the nation, it has suggested no new legislation to curb the labor Caesars and their inordinate power.

REPUBLICANS AND Democrats alike are afraid to tackle labor, and the public and the public interest be damned. Instead of causing indignation, Quill's inflammatory words, totally uncalculated, are probably causing palsy in Washington. Hoffa's threats have undoubtedly roused chills in the national capital rather than rage.

In the face of bipartisan inability or unwillingness to curb labor abuses and confronted with threats of future violence, the smart citizen doesn't have much choice but to take evasive action of his own and dig a stout shelter in his backyard.

The Needle's Eye Of African Policy

WASHINGTON — In Africa, the Twenty-One Gun Salute is roughly equivalent to the Six-Shooter of the American Wild West—it's the "equalizer."

IT MAKES small nations the diplomatic equivalent of big nations. No wonder, then, that provincial chiefs named Tshombe of Katanga, Nkumbula of Zambia and Banda of Malawi want to secede from their central governments and get the full treatment of sovereign nationalism.

In the instance of Tshombe, the American State Department nixed these ambitions and used U.N. forces to trample the principle of self-determination. The scene now shifts a few miles southward to the British Commonwealth Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland where similar issues are involved.

BRIEFLY, Nkumbula wants to Africanize the name of Northern Rhodesia to Zambia and leave the Federation. Banda is well on the way to Africanizing Nyasaland into Malawi and becoming independent next year. The double secession, if it works out, would make three small, insufficient African unities out of a large and prosperous one. The State Department will rejoice if ceremonial cannons boom, and if new names are scrawled in the guest book at Blair House. There are, however, these high-powered obstructionists to the breakaway scheme:

(1) SIR ROY WELLESKY, pugilistic premier of the Federation. At this writing he has just fired an angry telegram which disputes a story in the Washington Post. The story stated that Zambia already has permission from Britain's Minister of State, Reginald Butler, to leave the Federation. Wellesky says Butler had not yet conceded the principal of secession to Northern Rhodesia (Zambia). British authorities in Washington tell me that the Wellesky statement is correct. Wellesky and Butler still hope to salvage the Federation by sapient statesmanship.

(2) WINSTON FIELD, new and dynamic premier of Southern Rhodesia. His right-wing party, the Rhodesian Front, won an upset victory in mid-December, your reporter being privileged to cover some of the campaign. Field is resting the Africanization of his country, but would like to keep it in the Federation, provided the white minority can be protected. Otherwise, I am told, Field may be forced into political "laissez" with the all-out white supremacy nation of South Africa.

(3) SIR EDGAR WHITEHEAD, a middle-grounder deposed in December as premier in Southern Rhodesia. Despite being opposition leader to the Rhodesian Front on methodology, Whitehead is against Africanization and in favor of Federation, which he regards as an economic necessity. The Federation closed out 1962 with a favorable trade balance of around $6 million pounds. The purchasing power of Africans within the Federation has more than doubled in recent years.

STRANGELY, the State Department unifiers of the Congo are apt to be the pro-secessionists in regard to the Rhodesian Federation. The reason lies literally only skin-deep. Foggy Bottom policy is anti-colonial, hence pro-African. Verily a camel could get through the eye of a needle easier than a white folks policy could enter the State Department portals. ### Conditioning Of Soil Is Program Topic Soil conditioning was discussed for members of the Green Thumb Garden Club Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. John Hogan. Speaker for the session was Johnnie Taylor who stressed soil improvement for ornamental beds, saying that improvement can be made by replacing the iron content with chelates or coppers for trees, shrubs and grass.

Also he stated that the minerals should be applied when the weather is warmer—in late March or April. He advised watering during the winter months and said for abundant grass, there should be plenty of sunshine, water and iron.

Fifteen members attended the meeting.

Salvation Army Topic For A Guild Program

Maj. R. L. Short outlined the history of the Salvation Army Monday afternoon for members in St. Mary's Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Meeting in the parish hall, the group heard Maj. Short say that the Salvation Army, founded in 1869 in London by William Booth, now serves in almost every country in the world. The exceptions are Spain and Communist countries.

Stating that the organization represents the people who support it in social service, he said that the program includes helping local and transient people needing food, clothing and temporary lodging. The Salvation Army endeavors to provide these necessities until the people are able to help themselves.

The local branch provides a full church program, he said, with emphasis on child and youth training. He expressed the opinion that a child brought up in church would not likely show up in court later.

Mrs. Ray Boren presided when plans were made for a garage sale. The gathering ended with prayer led by Mrs. John Hodges. Refreshments were served to 14 members and Maj. Short by Mrs. Charles Koberg.

Zoning Commission Approves Two Plats

A plat of Marshall Fields Addition No. 2, a replat of a part of Kentwood, and a plat of the Kentwood Apartment area were considered by the Planning and Zoning Commission at its meeting Tuesday. Two were approved and the third returned for clarification.

The Marshall Fields plat included an area between Twenty-fourth Street on the south and the Creek on the north, and from 200 feet east of Birdwell Lane to the present development. The two east and west boundaries are alleys.

Director of Public Works Bruce Dunn said the plat conformed to the previous preliminary plat, and met requirements of the city from an engineering standpoint for streets, lot sizes and drainage. All streets will be 50 feet except Alendale Road which is to be 60 feet wide.

A replat of the Kentwood Apartment area and that south of the northwest corner of Kentwood along Birdwell Lane extended was presented by Al Milch. The replat was made to straighten Birdwell Lane right of way south. The original survey showed a 9 1/2 foot jog at the section lines. Kentwood developers agreed to dedicate an additional 9 1/2 feet to provide straight curb line for Birdwell. All lots south of the apartment area of four acres were replatted.

The apartment acreage had previously been zoned to a planned district for apartments and the commission had requested a replat to show the type structures and other development.

Milch proposes two 30-unit apartment houses on the north side adjoining Twenty-fifth Street, five two-family units on the south, a swimming pool, and caretakers house in the center and on the east.

The commission requested clarification to show parking areas for a minimum of one car to each unit off the street, and the driveway areas.

Halfway House Program Explained To Rotary Club

"All we are asking is the opportunity to find employment that will make us members of a free society. We are not asking for work out of sympathy, nor for contributions."

This statement came from a member of Big Spring's Halfway House who spoke to Rotarians Tuesday on finding opportunities of rehabilitation.

The program was in charge of Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital. He introduced W. A. Mann, director of vocational rehabilitation who explained the purpose of the Halfway House, and a member, Dick Kirkwell. Kirkwell is a 24-year-old man who told Rotarians that he found a way to convince himself that he could earn his own way and prove his capabilities.

Mann said mental illness results when a person encounters a situation, or situations, he cannot cope with.

"We provide a situation in which he can make himself well," he said.

The Halfway House has provided a means for me to work, and I am paid for it not for sympathy. I find that I can do things, and do them well, on my own merits," Kirkwell said.

The Halfway House, located at West Fifth and Lancaster, can accommodate 12 men. Dr. Harrison said it is not financed through the state. Contributions toward equipping the house were made from Big Spring, Midland, and Odessa people.

"The rent on the house is $150 per month in the salary of Home Parent" is $150 per month, food costs around $64, and utilities $50 per month, or a total of $414," he said.

"This is being paid out of the wages earned by those living in the house. There are many talents among these people and we hope for an employer-employee relationship when they go out to work for you."

Special Venire To Be Called

A special venire of possibly 100 jurors will be drawn some day this week to serve in the scheduled trial here of three capital crimes Feb. 18.

Date for the drawing of the venire has not been announced by Judge Ralph Gatton, 118th District Court but it was pointed out that the job must be done this week if the jurors are to be notified in time to report for duty.

The special venire will serve in the trial of one of two murder cases or in the trial of a rape case. All three felonies have been set down for trial on the same day.

Which will be the most likely to go to trial is not known.

The two murder cases are against two Negroes. One is Jerry Lee Parker, charged with the bleegee murder last August of Stanley Williams, 90-year-old retired farmer.

The other is a double murder indictment against Roosevelt Carter. Carter allegedly shot and killed Jerry Johnson and Rowland Williams Jan. 12. The shooting took place in front of a tavern on the north side of town.

The rape case is against A. C. Elliott, accused of raping a baby sitter in his home Sept. 3.

Lucky (Lt. Col. Julian) Baird was one of the many volunteers listening raptly Tuesday evening as Walter Halley Jr., Dallas, passed out tips on how to be successful in YMCA membership recruiting. Like others, Col. Baird was costumed for the occasion since the kickoff dinner carried out the current campaign's western theme. Halley, a past president of the White Rock Y at Dallas, spoke from a podium atop bales of hay which formed the head table.

Dogies Are Rounded Up In Annual Y Campaign

Cowboys and cowgirls were beginning to bring in the dogies today as the YMCA membership roundup got into full swing.

The initial report session at the Wednesday breakfast put the campaign a little less than one-fourth of the way to the goal. Workers on two teams had accumulated a total of 351 membership points for a total of $3,694 pledged. The goal is 1,600 points for $16,000 from the participating division.

Leading in the contest for most members is the Circle T Ranch headed by Big Jim Tidwell with 204 points and $2,126. The Rocking R Ranch directed by Buddy (Tex) Redden, reported in 151 points and $1,568.

Efforts are being redoubled today by campaign leaders to urge workers to make contacts promptly, also be on hand for the second breakfast report session at 7:15 a.m. Thursday.

Harvey Clay is heading a crew to prepare a chuck wagon flapjack feed for the report session at the YMCA Joe (Col. Pecos) Pickle, campaign chairman, urged every worker who possibly can to make a special point to be at the important breakfast meeting.

Tuesday evening Walter B. Halley Jr., Dallas, regional agency director of Lone Star Life Insurance Company and an outstanding YMCA volunteer worker, gave tips on how to make membership contacts.

"MUST BE SOLD" "People have to be sold," he declared. "Someone has to tell the story and tell it with enthusiasm. They must get over the story of how their investment in the YMCA helps buy healthy, happy, wholesome youngsters. Tell people again and again that the only thing that can make a good woman or a good man is a little girl or boy."

At the Wednesday morning report breakfast, which was served a hot ranch breakfast of bacon, eggs and biscuits by the Tri-Hi-Y Club, Buddy Barnes, product of the local YMCA, spoke.

Buddy is the only Big Spring youth to be named governor in the Y Youth-in-Government project at Austin. He testified how the YMCA had been a steady influence in his life, particularly at turning points, and how he felt that it still was performing that vital mission.

Twelve workers have "busted" their quotas so far, with Frank Hardesty setting the pace. When he broke his quota with 13 points he was just getting warmed and already has earned 41 points—a triple quota—buster. Others exceeding quotas are James Calmes, Mrs. Dwayne Leonard, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Phil Hines, Capt. M. Stefaneli, Wade Choate, Mrs. Buddy Redden, Mrs. H. W. Smith, Mrs. Charles Lusk.

The kickoff dinner produced much fun for participants in the campaign. Lavish western decorations adorned the tables as did mescalite bushes with Bull Durham sacks in the center of the floor was a fire with bona fide hot branding irons. Buddy Redden applied the Rocking R brand to Clyde McMahon Jr., who reciprocated, but when Big Jim Tidwell, boss of the Circle T, sought to put his Circle T on R. H. Weaver, that touched off a foot race.

Mrs. Brandon Dies Tuesday

Rites are pending for Mrs. Tom Brandon, 35, the former Rose Morgan, who died in her sleep Tuesday night at Kermit.

The body is being brought here to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for final arrangements.

During World War II, Mrs. Brandon saw service in the Women's Army Corps.

Surviving are her husband; her mother, Mrs. J. M. Morgan, Big Spring; two brothers, James M. Morgan, Big Spring, and Eddie Morgan, North Hollywood, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, Big Spring, and Mrs. Kathleen Williams, Wichita, Kan.

Committee To Meet Thursday

The possibility of getting a full-time welfare worker to assist Bob Darland, county juvenile probation officer, will receive further consideration at a meeting of the public health and safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday at 5:15 p.m.

A consultant from Plainview has been asked to speak to committee members about how the worker might be obtained and financed. It would probably have to be on a joint basis with the city, county and other agencies each paying a portion of the expense.

Other business will include ways and means through which the chamber and service clubs can assist the North Side in accomplishing goals they may have to improve the community.

Attend Meeting

Elevation is 2,927 feet, pay was picked at 8,349 feet, 5 1/2 inch casing is at 8,563 feet and perforations between 8,355-91 feet were fraced with 22,500 gallons. The well is 660 feet from the north and 2,118 feet from the west lines of labor 12-266, Kent CSL survey, on a 531-acre lease about six miles west of Patricia.

Big Investment Needed For Future Enrollment

Howard County Junior College will need to invest more than a half-million dollars in science and library buildings to meet the needs of the next 10 years.

Making this estimate was Dr. C. C. Colvert, dean of the school of education at the University of Texas and a professor of junior college education. Dr. Colvert addressed the board of trustees for HCJC at a special informal noon gathering Tuesday.

Among needs by 1973 cited by Dr. Colvert will be at least one more biology laboratory, a third chemical laboratory and a small geology laboratory. He also recommended a science lecture room, which could be made as an adjunct to the science building when it is needed. Library needs will be to house 25,000 books, compared to 15,000 at present, plus listening rooms, offices and conference rooms.

RECENT STUDY Dr. Colvert based his projected needs on future enrollment derived from a recent study by himself and Dr. David Hunt, brother of Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC. Current full time student equivalent figure for the college is just under 500 students. By 1973-74 this figure is expected to rise to 700. A full time student equivalent is the same as one student carrying 15 hours of work per semester. An FTSE of 700 would represent an enrollment of from 1,000 to 1,100 students.

He recommended building with expansion always in mind. "Build so you can add wings to double or triple the capacity if needed," he said.

Cost of a new air-conditioned science building, based on $14 a square foot, would be about $269,000. Equipment would cost another $40,000. Should a science lecture hall be included in the initial cost, it would hike the preliminary cost by about $32,000.

The proposed library, which would have about 14,350 square feet of floor space, would be another $200,000 with about $40,000 to equip it.

At present the college has one biology laboratory, two chemistry laboratories, and one physics laboratory. Equipment from the present laboratories could be salvaged for use in the new structure and for an estimated total cost of about $500 the laboratories could be converted into classrooms.

PROPOSED Dr. Colvert suggested that the proposed laboratories in the new science building be stubbed in with piping from the outset and used as classrooms. They could then be converted quickly and economically into laboratories when enrollment requires their use.

Federal and state funds may be forthcoming to help build the laboratories and library, Dr. Hunt said, but it cannot be counted upon. However, money has already been appropriated for the equipment, so half of this cost could be defrayed through this source.

"We are all right now," Dr. Hunt said, "but we will be in trouble in two years. We will need to build to meet the needs or curtail enrollment."

Dr. Hunt was called in to get a professional opinion on the college's needs. He has studied junior college enrollments and needs in many sections of the United States and has helped plan several junior colleges.

The need for good junior colleges is receiving much attention these days, Dr. Colvert pointed out. Plans are even now under way for a junior college in Austin. Dr. Colvert also expressed his distaste for converting a junior college into a four-year school.

"California has 67 junior colleges and never in that state's history has it converted one into a senior college," he pointed out.

NEEDS DIFFER The two kinds of schools meet differing needs and a good junior college, put on a four-year level, would make a second rate senior college unless many changes were made, Drs. Hunt and Colvert pointed out.

Present at the meeting were Horace Garrett, chairman of the board, John A. Coffey, K. H. McGibbon, Dr. C. W. Deats, W. T. Barber, Paul B. Adams and Dr. P. W. Malone.

12 DAYS OLD

Joint Tax Office Dies Sudden Death

LAMESA (SC) — The consolidated tax office died here Tuesday because of a rift that developed when trustees of the Lamesa school district added "administrative costs" to a revised budget. The City Council ordered its equipment returned to City Hall.

The controversy reached its climax during separate Monday night meetings of both groups when Supt. Abe Holder notified members by telephone that the budget would be retained as proposed. The council voted unanimously to break the contract and the city's equipment was removed from the merged tax office Tuesday morning.

The original budget, approved by the council and board of trustees, called for expenditures of $24,800, including $1,000 travel allowances. The amended budget was reduced to $20,100, less travel and salaries for a deputy collector and appraiser. It also provided for $3,000 in "administrative expenses."

The expenses reportedly were to be applied to the superintendent's salary for supervisory functions because the consolidation would be controlled by the school district.

"It was never mentioned in any of the negotiations," Mayor Guy Weekes reported to the council. "We expected them to cut the budget where possible but we did not expect this."

The proposal as made by the trustees was to leave the $3,000 expenditure in the budget and take only whatever portion trustee ees deemed advisable with the school to pay 63 per cent and the city 37 per cent of the total amount applied to the salary.

The council unanimously approved a motion to remove the equipment if the trustees "did not want to abide by the original contract."

Both bodies indicated regret in dissolving the 12-day-old joint venture.

Animal Warden Has Busy Day

The Big Spring animal warden received 14 calls Tuesday to pick up dead and stray animals, and to investigate dogs running loose. This was the greatest number of calls in one 24-hour period in several weeks.

Bob Baker, warden, said many calls and dogs were being struck by cars, and that flower-bed digging animals were beginning to run loose again.

"We have some pretty angry people around town because some dogs are running loose and digging up gardens and flower beds, and generally making nuisances of themselves," Baker said. "Some of those angry people have dogs of their own, but manage to keep them penned up. They don't appreciate neighbors who allow their animals to run loose."

Mrs. J. M. Rogers, Former Resident, Dies Tuesday

Mrs. J. M. Rogers, 89, member of an early day Borden County family and a former resident of Big Spring, died at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday in Midland. She had moved to Midland in 1960 to make her home with a daughter.

Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the Gail Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Gail Cemetery beside the body of her husband, with Ellis Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Rogers was born in Blanco May 25, 1874. She came to Borden County with her parents in the fading years of the 19th century. She was married to Jack Rogers in December 1900. He died in July, 1923.

They were the parents of nine children. Seven survive her—Jack Rogers, Roddie Rogers, and Mrs. Attie Martin, all of Fort Worth; Joe Rogers, Houston; Aubrey Rogers, Gail; LaNetta Rogers, and Mrs. Jim Johnson, Midland. Two of the nine children preceded their mother in death. They were the late Tillman Rogers and Mrs. Mae Clanton. There are 18 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren. One daughter-in-law, Mrs. The Verne Rogers, also survives.

Mrs. Rogers was the last surviving charter member of the Gail Methodist Church.

She moved to Big Spring in 1942 and remained here until she went to Midland to make her home with a daughter, due to failing health. Fallbearers are to be grandsons. She is Jackie Rogers and Fred Martin, both of Fort Worth; Robert Rogers, Big Spring; Roy Aubrey Rogers, Gail; Tucker Johnson, Wichita Falls; James F. Rogers, Corpus Christi.

Union Files Suit Against 'Lobbying'

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas AFL-CIO filed suit Tuesday against alleged "pro-employer lobbying" by the Texas Employment Commission.

The union asked Dist. Judge Herman Jones for an order to stop the alleged activity.

The petition charged that four employees of the commission were "using state funds, have researched and prepared pro-employer amendments to the state Unemployment Compensation Act, that legislators in both houses of the 58th legislature were contacted and subsequently introduced the amendments," a union statement said.

The suit says four TEC employees "acted at the direction or acquiescence of the three commissioners."

The suit says the actions violate state law prohibiting state employees from influencing legislation or legislators.

Named in the suit were the three TEC commissioners, Perry Brown, J. J. Pickle and J. E. Lyles. The four employees were Henry Rothel, assistant administrator; C. M. Turlington, chief counsel; Herman McKinney, tax division chief; and J. W. Burcham, insurance division chief.

Lyles, the labor representative on the commission, has been opposed by the AFL-CIO for reappointment. He declined comment.

"I haven't seen a copy of his list statements," Pickle said. He referred to state AFL-CIO President Hank Brown.

"It sounds like he is trying to make headlines at any price. We think it is ridiculous."

Oil Price Cut In Oklahoma

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The largest single buyer of Oklahoma crude oil cut its basic price by 5 cents a barrel Tuesday. Oil sources said the action could bring about a general price reduction in Oklahoma.

Should other buyers match the lower prices, it could cost the industry $10 million and sap the Treasury of nearly $500,000 in gross production taxes of 5 per cent of posted prices.

Sunray DX Oil Co. said it lowered its crude prices in Oklahoma "to more nearly meet prevailing competitive conditions." New top prices will be $3 a barrel on sweet crude and $2.90 a barrel for sour crude, the same as the recently-revised postings of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., the state's third largest crude oil buyer.

Other companies were expected to follow Sunray's lead.

Sunray buys more than 115,000 barrels of Oklahoma crude oil daily. The state's production recently has averaged about 540,000 barrels daily.

Electoral Vote Results In No Governor

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—In one of the wonders of the electoral process, Minnesota residents have gone three months without learning who they elected governor last Nov. 6.

When will they find out? Perhaps next month, or maybe not until June—whenever a panel of three district judges or the State Supreme Court makes the decision.

"It's been a long election night," quipped Karl Rolvaag, the Democratic challenger who initiated a recount after being declared the loser by 142 votes.

The only outward change in state government has been the furnishing of a 7 by 15-foot office in the Capitol basement for Rolvaag.

Some see a touch of humor in its location, almost directly below the ornately paneled office of Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen.

Although the 1962 election outcome was unparalleled in 105 years of statehood, framers of the Minnesota constitution might have foreseen it by providing that the former governor stays in office until a contest is settled.

The same election that left Andersen in doubt as to his new term blessed him with conservative majorities in both houses of the legislature, which began its biennial session last month.

Officially the legislature is non-partisan. But most conservatives are allied with Republican causes while legislative liberals usually are elected with Democratic backing. House liberals call themselves the DFL caucus—the abbreviation standing for Minnesota's hyphenated Democratic party name—Democratic-Farmer-Labor.

Nearly 1 1/2 million votes were cast Nov. 6, some 300,000 on paper ballots, all of them laboriously handled in the recount that began in December and isn't over yet.

A raw audit of the recounted votes this week turned up a margin of 138 for Rolvaag. That's far from the end of the story.

Rolvaag, who ended eight years as lieutenant governor last month, won by 58 votes in the original unofficial count. When 10 counties found errors in their first tally, the Supreme Court permitted amended totals to be submitted and Andersen wound up the winner by 142 votes.

Recount teams challenged about 90,000 ballots. Fresh screening teams under direction of the three-judge panel will bring this down to around 3,000 for the next court phase, due to start Feb. 25.

These disputed ballots hold the key. If all are counted as they originally were, Rolvaag will win by those 138 votes. But if some are switched to another candidate, or thrown out, it's anyone's guess.

The chairman of each political party predicts victory for his man by 50 to 250 votes.

DEAR ABBY

One Family Too Many!

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago a friend of ours came to us with a hard luck story. She wanted a divorce, so my husband paid for it. Then he invited her and her two small children to move in with us "for a while." We have a small house, three children and I am expecting again, so you know we are crowded. I go out to work every day and this friend stays home and cares for all the children. I keep telling my husband we have to get this woman out of the house, but he says she's like a sister to him. People are talking. How do I get rid of her without hurting her feelings?

NERVOUS: Since your husband invited her to live with you, he should tell her to make other arrangements. Remind him that he has enough family without adopting a "sister" and her two children. If you don't insist that this friend make her home elsewhere—and immediately—you will wind up the working "sister" while she assumes the role of homemaker for your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old boy is our problem. He won't do a thing unless he is paid for it. He worked last summer at a garage and we heard all over town what a good worker he was, but if we try to get him to mow the lawn or clean the basement or even his own room he will sneak out of the house before we can catch him. He is too big to spank and too young to throw out of the house bag and baggage (which is what his father thinks will cure him).

Should we put up with this kind of behavior until he is 18 and then let the Army train him?

CORNERED: Your son needs some affection and real understanding. Do you "order" him to do things, or do you ask him properly? I have yet to meet the normal 15-year-old boy who wouldn't respond to a little praise, a lot of love and a modest incentive.

DEAR ABBY: Since I don't care especially for diamonds, I do not want a diamond engagement ring. Is that the only official kind of ring to symbolize an engagement? Any suggestions?

SOON TO WED: It's the most traditional engagement stone, but ANY ring can symbolize an engagement. Since you don't like diamonds, how about an oyster's best friend—the pearl?

CONFIDENTIAL TO BRIDGE-PORT: I am STILL disgusted with pointed-toe shoes. As one woman put it, "The only thing you can say for them is they are wonderful for killing bugs in corners."

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Vernon's New 'Superette'

The new store, located at 1000-1002 East Fourth features fast service, standard brands, and super-market prices on foods.

Vernon Smith To Open 'Superette' Store Here

Something new has come to Big Spring and will hold a formal opening today.

It's the new "Superette" drive-in at 1000-1002 E. 4th St., owned by Vernon Smith. The new store, featuring larger stocks than the average drive-in grocery, and not quite so large as super-markets, but with super-market prices, covers an area 100 feet long and 40 feet wide, of structural steel and fireproof.

"The store is designed for quick service. We try to make it easy to get in, do your shopping, and get out," Smith said. "We like to feature 'service right now' facilities. You find what you want, get it to the checker, and get out in a hurry. That seems to be what most people want in these 'hurry-up' times."

There is a 32-foot frozen food unit for a great variety of choice brands. Then there is the refrigeration unit for dairy products and meats. A fresh meat department is also located in the store.

Regular advertised brands of all kinds of staple groceries and fresh fruits are available.

The sundries department includes drug items, ladies' and children's hose and panties, beauty aids, and small housewares.

A walk-in refrigerating vault is large enough to take care of meats, milk, cold drinks, beer, and imported wines. The customers' doors are of the self-closing type. They automatically close by magnetic pull when turned loose by the customer.

"I estimated the size needed in a cold vault," Smith said, "and then built the rest of the store around it."

One-third of the building is included in the package store area. This section carries a complete assortment of all kinds of whiskeys, wines, liquors, and other beverages.

"We have every nationally advertised brand desired," the owner said, "from the moderate priced to the finest liquors made."

Along with the package store items Smith has an automatic ice-making machine. The customer may buy whatever he needs, from a nickel's worth to several pounds of the cocktail cube size. The ice is never touched by human hands and is pure enough for battery use when melted. It is put up in polyethylene bags in quantities wanted.

Baby Taken From Slain Mother Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—A baby boy died Monday night about 5½ hours after doctors had delivered him from the body of his mother, shot to death 20 minutes before.

The premature 4½-pound infant was kept alive by mouth to mouth resuscitation at Casualty Hospital, but he died after being transferred to District of Columbia General Hospital.

Charged with murder in the shooting of Mrs. Robert Truesdale Jr. was her estranged husband. Police said Truesdale, 24, ran into a precinct station four blocks from her home and told officers, "I shot my wife, here's the gun."

Fire department Pvt. Anthony P. Procci who accompanied the ambulance to the scene noted that Mrs. Truesdale was pregnant and detected sign of life in the unborn baby. The dead woman was rushed to the hospital where a team of surgeons headed by Dr. Henry H. Canton performed a Caesarian section to deliver the infant.

a service to customers, is the new sub-station for cleaning, pressing, and laundry. Since the store remains open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., seven days a week, Smith decided to install the sub-station.

"A customer may bring in his laundry or cleaning as he goes to work in the morning, and he may pick it up after regular laundry and cleaning plant closing hours, or on Sunday," Smith said. "One-day service on request is also available. We have a rack ready for business and invite Big Springers to bring in their cleaning needs and avail themselves of our after-hour service."

A drive-in window on the south side of the building features fast, one-trip service, to those wanting items from the package store. An intercommunication system permits the customer to give his order, say how much change he needs, and get his goods from the clerk at one trip to the window.

A planter-box being installed on the north side, or front, of the building was being fixed up by a "Green-Thumber" with a claw-hammer and electric drill Tuesday. The synthetic flowers and shrubs were being fastened through holes drilled in lumber, laid in the planter boxes, and then having dirt filled in to simulate natural plants.

"We'll be ready and will welcome all customers to our store for fast service and quality merchandise," Smith said. "If they just want to come in and look around to see what we have that's fine. We're looking for traffic."

Westminster Abbey Getting Rid Of Centuries Of Grime

By MILTON MARMOR
LONDON (AP)—Centuries of grime have disappeared in Westminster Abbey's first face-lifting in 900 years.

A great change has come over the interior of the Church of England edifice where Britain's kings and queens are crowned.

Stephen Dykes-Bower, architect who holds the title of surveyor of the fabric, is in charge of maintaining the abbey.

He says: "The view of the abbey on entering the west door is no longer one of somber gloom, but of lightness and radiance—a symphony of white stone, gray marble, gilding and color."

The newly cleaned ceiling of the nave is one of the most delightful surprises for a visitor.

The major portion of the abbey dates to 1245 and some sections go back to 1065. All the inside stones are the original ones.

People seeing the walls today are seeking them as they must have looked more than 700 years ago.

"We'd love to clean the outside, but we just haven't got the money," said Dykes-Bower. The inside cleaning, over a period of 12 years, is costing about a million dollars.

The walls are reigate white sandstone which through the years have acquired a black aspect. The reigate stone on the outside couldn't withstand the elements and has been replaced through the centuries.

The interior has scaffolding and dust cloths strewn about. Already the great carved ceiling dazles, the ribs of vaults are outlined with gold leaf, and marble piers gleam.

Scrubbing, gold-leafing and painting will go on until the 900th anniversary celebration Dec. 28, 1965.

"The trouble with chaps with dusters," said the treasurer of the abbey, the Rev. Edward Carpenter, "is that they send the dust up and it comes down again. The whole new idea is to get the dust out of the abbey and keep it out."

"When people complain we are spoiling the abbey, I tell them they don't keep their own houses dirty so why should the house of God be dirty?"

Washing is done with soap and water. Three powerful suction machines collect dust.

The next royal event scheduled in the abbey is the wedding of Princess Alexandra, cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, and Angus Ogilvy on April 24.

Adenauer Supports NATO Atom Force

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Neither snow nor sleet nor last squabbles from French President Charles de Gaulle can stay the quiet optimism most businessmen are building. Cautious about going to extremes, maybe, they are still pretty sure of a good showing in the next four or five months.

Bad weather which hurt business in many sections couldn't keep total sales for the nation from rising. And bad weather will pass.

Two of the basic industries with the greatest psychological effect—steel and autos—are showing reassuring strength and uttering predictions of further advances in the spring.

Already steel has recovered some of the ground lost in the January blizzards. Output is rising again. Executives count on a gain in orders just ahead.

A trade magazine, Iron Age, says steel users should add 500,000 tons to their inventories before March 31. Part would be for expected use as spring enlivens consumer markets. But most would be as a hedge against the chance of a strike this summer, possible if the union reopens the wage contract and a settlement isn't reached.

This buildup in stocks would be stepped up quickly, if the threat of strike should grow. Right now it's discounted by many in and out of the steel industry.

Auto sales held near a record for January in spite of the weather. This inspires the always optimistic Detroit to foresee good sales when returning warm weather kindles the lure of the road in consumer hearts.

Consumers are far from in a retrenching mood. Total installment debt outstanding increased again in December after its big spurt in November. Outstanding auto paper at the end of 1962 reached $19.3 billion, up $2.2 billion from the previous year.

The stock market cocked an eye at Congress, but also watched the European fracas stirred up by De Gaulle. Prices reacted to changes in the daily news quota. But already the market had recovered almost three-quarters of the price loss suffered between the peak of December 1961 and the low of June 1962.

The immediate future still looks bright to most observers, even those with doubts about what farther off months may bring.

Years Of Experience Behind Owner Of City's Superette

Vernon Smith, owner of Vernon's Drive-In Food Store at 1000-1002 E. 4th, has inaugurated something new in Big Spring, and possibly in Texas. It is the "Superette."

Smith, who has been in the variety store business, and worked as a traveling salesman for stock control systems for chain stores most of his life, said the name implies that the store carries a larger stock of items than the average drive-in grocery store, but not as large as the super-markets. At the same time it carries super-market prices on standard advertised brands, along with a meat market.

He said he had studied the location for three years and that during this time he had made a study of the kinds of stores most desired by customers.

"I have been in variety stores, as an employee, and in other capacities, since I was nine years old," Smith said.

He was with the Wacker chain for 15 years, and later went on the road as a traveling salesman for Rust Craft Publishing Co., Boston. "I covered half the State of Texas with this company," he said.

"Stock control systems were my main business and I was responsible for setting up systems covering all buying for the chain stores I served."

Smith and his family came to Big Spring in 1936. He has owned a package store on Gregg Street for several years. Mrs. Smith looked after the Gregg Street store while her husband was traveling.

Mrs. Ruth Smith, his wife, is bookkeeper for Vernon's two stores in Big Spring. Employees are Theima Adicks, Jean Wisener, Mary Lou Thompson, and Smith's son, Taylor who works after school and on weekends.

"He's my stock boy," Smith said.

Smith owns his own airplane, a Mooney Mark 20 A, single engine craft. He holds a private pilot's license and used the airplane most of the time while he was traveling in order to cover a lot of territory in a short time.

Jet Speed In Diplomatic Messages Sought By JFK

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — When ever Dean Rusk, the secretary of state, has something urgent to tell to David Bruce, the U.S. ambassador to Britain, he can pick up the telephone and talk to the diplomat in London in seconds.

When the White House or the State Department has a message, coded or uncoded, for the embassy in London, it can send it by direct teletype.

This is what the Kennedy administration wants to achieve in its communications with the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

TWO THINGS

Presently Rusk can do two things if he wants to send word to Foy D. Kohler, ambassador to Moscow. He may put through a long distance call—just as anyone else does who has some business in the Soviet capital, or he can send a coded cable through commercial channels.

The problem of better communications with U.S. diplomatic missions around the world, and especially with Moscow, became an urgent issue during last fall's Cuban crisis when so much depended on fast and accurate exchanges with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

President Kennedy said at a recent news conference "speed is very desirable, so we are hoping we can get instantaneous communication" with Moscow.

NO TELEPHONE

There was immediate speculation that Kennedy had in mind a special telephone, a direct line between the White House and the Kremlin.

Nothing so dramatic was considered. Khrushchev does not speak English, and Kennedy does not speak Russian.

What Kennedy had in mind was much simpler: to send a message to Khrushchev—or, for that matter, to any other head of government—through normal diplomatic channels, but with a speed worthy of the nuclear age.

After the Cuban crisis Kennedy and Rusk gave orders that the State Department, together with other agencies, study what should be done to improve the situation.

STUDY GOING ON

The study—a hush-hush operation—is still going on. William H. Orrick Jr., deputy undersecretary of state for administration, is in charge. A group of communications experts from government agencies and private industry meets regularly behind doors guarded by Marines.

There are intricate technical problems, such as the use of automatic coding and decoding devices attached to direct teletype lines.

Last year, Congress amended the 1934 Communications Act, and this enabled the administration to plan swifter contact with the embassies abroad.

Previously the law prohibited foreign governments from operating radio transmitters in the United States—and these governments retaliated by refusing to let the United States broadcast from their countries. The amendment authorized the administration to negotiate broadcasting privileges with other countries.

The United States made two suggestions to the Soviet Union. It proposed that the State Department be permitted to have a direct commercial leased wire to its Moscow embassy, and secondly, that the embassy be permitted to operate a radio transmitter.

Moscow has given no answer yet. The administration already has negotiated agreements in principle with more than a score of foreign governments to operate radio transmitters abroad.

The request to the Soviet Union for a leased commercial line

Mars Probe

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet space probe Mars-1 was reported by the news agency Tass today to be about 33 million miles from the earth.

The vehicle, launched Nov. 1, is expected to reach the vicinity of Mars at the end of May.

Water District Awards Contract For Pipeline

A contract for construction of a 51.5-mile pipeline from Lake J. B. Thomas to near Silver in northern Coke County was awarded Tuesday to R. H. Fulton Construction Company of Lubbock.

Police Seek Missing Man

A man with a long police record in Texas and other states was named in a complaint charging theft by bailor from a local tourist court. The owner, who has been out of town with an ill relative, said the man was in charge of the court and that he left town Jan. 31 with money and other items.

Allen Bacon, owner of Elm Courts, said $250 in cash, a check for $22.50, a floor jack, a television set, and other small items disappeared along with the man.

The complaint was filed in the office of District Attorney Gil Jones, and information given to the Big Spring police department for investigation.

Detectives Jack Jones and Aubrey Hurley were also investigating a report by a man, who was arrested for drunkenness and confined to the city jail, that his billfold containing $360 was stolen from him Feb. 2, while in a local tavern.

Winston Wrinkle, of KBST radio station, 702 Johnson, told police Tuesday that some one had taken a mobile radio unit converter from the station. He said the converter was last seen about the middle of January. When he went to install it Tuesday it was gone.

The supply line will deliver up to 3,000,000 gallons of water per day to Sun Oil Company for waterflooded. The district, out of funds other than revenue bonds, will construct lateral lines to the Colorado River where channel drains will drain off normal low flow of the river. As much as one million gallons a day of the contract quantity can come from the river.

This will enable the district to proceed with plans for constructing a second dam on the Colorado River, possibly in southern Mitchell County. It has a permit from the state for the dam but conditioned on ability to control the salt water pollution on the river.

A week ago the district sold a $2,700,000 issue of revenue bonds at 2.499 per cent interest over a six-year period to finance the pipeline.

E. E. Farrell, head of Enfork, expressed appreciation to the board for consideration and said that although a time of completion was not specified, and a qualification insofar as to the amount of pipe delivered on the ground before starting, there were no intentions. The job was bid in good faith, he said, but he respected the decision of the board. Freese assured him that there was no question as to the intentions or ability of Enfork to perform.

The board also approved moving in a small house for a pump at the Morgan Creek station. E. V. Spence, general manager, reported on progress in securing right of way, and the board affirmed policies in this regard. Also approved was a routine bookkeeping matter of billing the Standard-Sinclair repressuring monthly at one-twelfth of the yearly minimum.

Board members expressed reluctance not to award to the low bidder, but in the end, with the rejection of the Enfork bid as irregular, the Fulton proposal was left as the low bid. It was then accepted unanimously.

Carolina Banks Cut In Two By Fierce Storm

NAGS HEAD, N.C. (AP)—A fierce winter storm which has endangered shipping and has eroded Atlantic Ocean beaches from Florida to North Carolina, cut the North Carolina Outer Banks in two again today.

The Cape Hatteras Coast Guard station reported that the storm had widened a channel through Hatteras Island on the Outer Banks, cut by storms of last spring and fall. Until the channel is filled, residents and vacationers will have to make long detours by ferry.

Although the storm lost strength during the night, upper air patterns at 6 a. m. indicated further intensification possible in the next 24 hours.

Gale warnings were flying from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to Nags Head, where residents of the Outer Banks bolstered a battered shoreline with sandbags.

Rough seas and tides of one to four feet above normal were predicted during the day, with considerable beach erosion and minor flooding at high tide.

Rough seas battered the shoreline of the Carolinas Tuesday and some erosion was reported up the coast from Nags Head.

Heavy seas were reported in the Charleston area. About 80 feet of restored jetties near the South Carolina coast were knocked down by waves and high tides.

The rain belt in the Southeast extended from southeast Georgia to the coastal plains of the Carolinas, with rain or drizzle in most of Florida.

There were only a few other wet spots in the country. Drizzle and light rain sprinkled coastal sections in the Pacific Northwest while snow flurries fell in the cool air in the Great Lakes region eastward into Maine.

The coldest areas, with freezing temperatures, were mostly confined to northern Minnesota eastward through the Great Lakes region, most of the Ohio Valley and across the middle and north Atlantic coastal states. It was near zero in Limestone, Maine.

The mercury soared to near 60 Tuesday as far north as the Dakotas and Montana. But it dropped in many parts of the Southern Plains and Kansas. Record marks for the date were reported in several cities. Summer-like weather again was reported in the Southwest desert region with readings in the 80s and 90s.

He had no relatives here or in Mexico and became closely attached to the Gaskins family. He attended church with them and during construction of the Primitive Baptist Church, donated his services free.

Services will be at 4 p. m. Thursday at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. B. R. Howze, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle.

Pallbearers will be Junior Gaskins, Grady Gaskins, Bobby Gaskins, Ronald Gaskins, Claude King and J. L. Metcalf.

Three minor accidents were investigated by Big Spring police Tuesday. No injuries were reported.

M. G. Richey, Gail Rt., and Ruby Fowler, 1808 Hamilton, were drivers of vehicles in collision at 500 Bell. The second, at 218 W. 2nd, involved vehicles driven by Manuel Bejarano Pineda, 1102 W. 2nd, and Jack W. Starzinski, 3560th CAM Squadron, Webb AFB. Another, at Marcy and Scurry, involved cars driven by Robert Hugh Gossett, 545 Hillside, and Loyd F. Minter, 811 N. Scurry.

The addition of four classrooms at South Elementary School was discussed and trustees okayed the purchase of 42 chairs and seven tables for the school cafeteria.

Large enrollment increases were noted and retention of a visiting teacher for city schools was discussed.

Sam Houston Dean Is Dead

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — William Creager, 59, dean of students at Sam Houston State College, died of a heart attack Tuesday night. He entered a hospital Thursday for a checkup.

Creager, born in Cleburne, was a graduate of Baylor and held a master of education degree from the University of Texas.

USS Missouri Preservation Asked

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—A World War I soldier wants the USS Missouri preserved on an island in Pearl Harbor as a museum instead of being scrapped.

James Causton Turner of Decatur, a private in the field artillery in 1914-1917, wrote President Kennedy Tuesday that he feels the battleship on which the Japanese surrender was signed in 1945 should be preserved because of its historical value.

He suggested public subscription to finance removal of the Missouri from Bremerton, Wash., to Pearl Harbor.

Religious Programs Reach Surprisingly Wide Area

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Doris Ann, whose title is "manager, NBC-TV Network Religious Programs," maintains she has the nicest job in television and is prepared to prove it.

As producer and majordomo of a weekly half-hour program on the network that comes at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Miss Ann points out that the program rarely competes with sports events and therefore is infrequently bumped off the channel. Because the programs are classified as religious, they have no commercial sponsor—the network counts the show as a pure public service.

The program's audience has been analyzed by researchers and found to hold about equal numbers of men, women and children, and also found what Miss Ann calls "the churched and the unchurchd."

All of this is most stimulating to the slim, blonde woman who has made religious programming her specialty for the past 11 years, and who is partly responsible for its change of character. A religious program once consisted merely of a camera and microphone in front of a preacher. Today it can be a strong drama on vital, even controversial themes, a dramatization of a book—"The Diary of Ann Frank" appeared as one her shows before it was a stage play or movie—or a folk singing group, or an intellectual discussion.

"You might say it is entertainment with an educational or moral approach," she explained.

The half hour is apportioned among the three principal religious groups of the nation, approximately in terms of their membership. Of the 52 weeks, 28 are assigned to Protestant groups 18 to Roman Catholics and eight to Jews. She works primarily through official organizations connected with the various faiths who supply the manuscripts and talent—with NBC and Miss Ann retaining the right to reject anything they feel is not up to the show's normal standards. NBC pays for the air time and provides the sets, studios, equipment and promotion.

It fearlessly has tackled themes ranging from prejudice to communism and "if it is done well, it is as entertaining as anything on the air," she insists.

"But there is still a problem of getting people to take a first look at the program," she admitted. "That word 'religious' sometimes puts people off. But after they know what we are doing, most become fans."

Miss Ann—her last name is Scharfenberg which she dropped because it is hard to pronounce and spell—is a native of Newark, N.J., now lives in East Orange. She is a graduate of Bucknell and took her master's degree at New York University. The only secret in Miss Ann's professional life is her own religious faith.

"People try very hard to find out," she said, "but I tell them firmly that I have my own faith—which, after all, is the important thing."

Recommended tonight: "Pygmalion," special, NBC, 7:30-9:30 EST—Julie Harris and James Donald in G. B. Shaw's famous comedy, "CBS Reports," 7:30-8:30 — "Germany Since Hitler," interview with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Space Bird Due Flight Next Year
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States plans to put a one-ton space bird with a 96-foot wing spread into orbit late next year. It will be rigged to give off an electronic squawk whenever struck by meteors.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Tuesday it will negotiate with Fairchild Stratos Corp., Hagerstown, Md., on a contract to build two such birds.

They are scheduled to be lifted into space by test shots of Saturn I rocket systems, being developed to carry the first Americans to the moon.

CLOSE TO HOME. By Erskine Caldwell, Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. $3.95.

By The Associated Press

"It's embarrassing enough for a white woman to have a mulatto maid who looks like somebody you know, but it's even worse when the colored maid has a small child who looks exactly like somebody too close to home for comfort."

One of the housewives in this story of the Deep South makes that speech, which gives Caldwell's novel its title. It is the crux of the book's whole situation, for it describes one of the "customs of the country" that no one wants to tinker with.

The scene is the half white, half Negro town of Palmyra, population 3,000. The central figure is a simple-minded radio repairman with the odd name of Native Hunnicutt.

Native has an octroon mistress named Josene. She works for Maebelle Bowers, who has come into some property from her late husband. Native makes what is for him a marriage of convenience with Maebelle for a very simple reason—Maebelle sets a mighty good table.

The trouble begins when Maebellie discovers Native and Josene together. In her rage and humiliation she demands that both her husband and the wench be punished by the law—an unheard of demand, for the penalties never are invoked against a white man.

In the aftermath of this commotion, a young Negro is murdered brutally by a sadistic deputy sheriff, and the whole town is stirred up. Part of the author's message is that the times are changing, and that officers can't kill Negroes as casually as they once did.

Caldwell is a veteran chronicler of the grossly earthy characters of his milieu and has a sure touch with narrative and local color. This seems to be one of his more telling productions.

Pleasant Weather Is Still Around

By The Associated Press

Pleasant weather—too pretty to last in February, nearly any Texan will tell you—continued to stick around Wednesday.

It was clear to partly cloudy everywhere in the state. Most early morning temperatures were in the upper 30s to high 40s.

The Weather Bureau predicted no change through Thursday.

A new set of five-day forecasts called for temperatures near normal to several degrees above and said the only moisture in prospect was a few weekend showers in southern areas of the state.

Readings Tuesday afternoon ranged up to a springlike high of 88 degrees at Presidio in the West Texas Big Bend.

Temperatures early Wednesday varied from 29 degrees at Junction up to 50 at Wichita Falls.
