Defense Near End Of Case In Slant Suit

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP)—Defense lawyers for H. L. (Pete) Long said they may finish their case today or Thursday in a civil suit in which Humble Oil & Refining Co. seeks $475,000 damages.

The suit contends that Long and others had wells on the Long-Mary Smith leases in Rusk County deviated to take oil from beneath the adjacent Humble lease.

The defense sought through testimony Tuesday to show that Long had no reason to siphon oil from other leases.

Under cross-examination he said he was unable to define the individual production capacity of the wells or say positively that any one well could produce payable amounts of oil.

Dist. Judge A. Royce Stout for the second time Tuesday overruled a defense motion for a mistrial.

The motion was based on testimony given by Lee Cumble, former pumper on the Long leases, in a deposition, concerning a well drilled on the Mary Smith lease near New London.

Cumble said that Long gave him explicit instructions not to cross the property line and added "I didn't."

Humble lawyers read from the deposition a statement in which Cumble refused to say whether he had intentionally deviated any other wells for Long it was on this that the motion for a mistrial was asked.

Hijacked Ship In Brazilian Port

BELEM, Brazil (AP)—The hijacked Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui, flying a Brazilian flag and with Brazilian diplomats and military personnel aboard, reached the Amazon River port of Macapa today.

The Brazilian navy prepared to transfer her pro-Communist hijackers to a warship and bring them to Belem.

The ship's arrival at the sleepy equatorial port on the northern delta of the Amazon was announced by the presidential palace in Brasilia.

The Brazilian corvette Solimoes was ready to leave Macapa with the hijackers, who are expected to be interned at Belem until the Brazilian Foreign Ministry decides whether to grant them political asylum. Venezuela wants the hijackers extradited.

The Anzoategui sailed into the Amazon on Tuesday night and dropped anchor near Santana, about 20 miles west of Macapa. In Rio de Janeiro, the Foreign Ministry said it had asked the Venezuelan government to send representatives to take over the ship, seized last week ago by a band of Venezuelan terrorists.

The Brazilian navy said the terrorists would be brought to the naval base in Belem and held incommunicado.

The hijackers, who seized the Death Claims Oscar B. Price Of C-City

COLORADO CITY — Oscar B. Price, prominently identified in business activities here for nearly a half-century, died at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the Root Memorial Hospital, following a brief illness. He was 80.

Mr. Price underwent vascular surgery last December 24, but for a time apparently was recovering. He became seriously ill again Sunday night, when he was removed from his home to the hospital.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at the First Methodist Church, with burial in the Colorado City Cemetery under direction of Kiker & Son Funeral Home. The Rev. Darris Egger, Methodist pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. H. W. Bartlett, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Born August 15, 1882, in Fannin County, Mr. Price came to Colorado City in 1916, and went into business with a brother, the late R. P. Price. At various times they were in the hardware and implement business, and operated an automobile agency. Mr. Price also had various farm and oil interests.

For a time he was an appraiser for the City National Bank here, and its farm contact man. In recent years he had spent most of his time as an oil lease broker.

He had served terms on both the Colorado City Council, and on the board of school trustees. He was a charter member of the Lions Club here, and a member of the Methodist Church.

He was married June 25, 1919, to Lela Whipkey, who survives. Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Earl Neal of Houston and Mrs. Jack Womack of Odessa; a son, Robert B. Price of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. H. V. Pond of Colorado City and Mrs. J. Earl Smith and Mrs. A. L. Clark Sr., both of Honey Grove. There are also six grandsons.

Varied Bills Are Heard

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas House Constitutional Amendments Committee heard testimony Tuesday night on a proposal to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 years and sent it to subcommittee for more study.

Also sent to subcommittee were measures to give representatives four-year terms and require election of the House speaker at the end of a regular session for the next session.

Another House hearing on a measure to require that 75 percent of the oil and gas refined in Texas be purchased from Texas wells was postponed. The author, Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity, was unable to attend because of illness.

The House Taxation Committee heard several hours of testimony on two bills to change the sales tax law. One bill proposes 21 changes, including removal of exemptions for $10 outer clothing and farm implements and machinery. Both measures went to subcommittee.

The Senate Constitutional Amendments committee sent to subcommittee a proposal to eliminate the state property tax and solve the deficit in public school funds by a general revenue appropriation.

A House committee voted approval of a bill making children between 14 and 16 years old eligible for aid to dependent children. The state now removes children from the program when they reach 14.

Two bills to set a state minimum wage of 75 cents an hour, set up a Texas Fair Employment Commission and prohibit job discrimination because of race, religion, sex, age or ancestry went to a House labor subcommittee after public hearing.

Venezuelan President Calls Regime Stable

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela declared today his government is stable despite aggressive Communist subversion directed through Havana from Moscow and Peking.

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at the National Press Club that groups of Red terrorists, by making off with five paintings from a French art exhibition in Caracas and hijacking the Venezuelan freighter Anzoategui, had gained "excessive international publicity" that gives a distorted picture of the situation in his country.

"These acts of terrorism are commando operations carried out by small groups that have absolutely no help or support from the people of Venezuela," he said.

Betancourt said the Communists had failed to influence organized labor and farm workers, and that among students there was a "lessening of receptivity to their slogans."

"If they have launched themselves on the extreme and desperate path of terrorist acts, it is because they realize they have no popular support and aid," he said. "The aid and support of the people of Venezuela, their determination and will to live in democracy and freedom, have given real stability to the government that I represent. But it also has had and continues to have the loyalty and support of the armed forces."

Betancourt explained that the Communist offensive was aimed at Venezuela because, for one reason, it is the principal supplier of petroleum to the United States and the rest of the Western world.

Another reason, he said, is that his government has taken an unequivocal stand against the Fidel Castro regime in Havana and against international communism.

He said the situation in Venezuela has improved considerably since 1958 when 10 years of dictatorship ended.

Betancourt conferred with President Kennedy on Tuesday afternoon and had more White House talks scheduled today. He will be host at a reception for Kennedy at the Venezuelan Embassy tonight.

At a White House dinner Tuesday honoring Betancourt, Kennedy said in a toast: "We wish the United States to be identified with leaders like you, liberal progressive leaders who believe that the problems of this hemisphere can be solved in cooperation under a system of freedom."

"You," Kennedy added, "have been selected as target No. 1, not only for the dictators in the last two years, but also by the Communists."

Underscoring Kennedy's remarks were reports of more violence Tuesday in Venezuela. Pro-Communist terrorists staged a series of robberies and shootings in Maracaibo and the capital city of Caracas.

In his reply, Betancourt said "We want to undertake this common task, we and the United States, to develop political democracy, the economic situation in our countries and social justice."

Betancourt said "We want to benefit our people who are attacked by Soviet propaganda that is so cunningly channeled through Havana."

Glenn Presents Capsule To Smithsonian Museum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. presented his space capsule Friendship 7 to the Smithsonian Institution today.

Along with it went the space suit and helmet that he wore and the small American flag that he carried on his historic three-orbit flight—the first by an American—exactly a year ago.

About 400 persons jammed into the Smithsonian to witness the presentation ceremony, which took place under two famous aircraft, suspended from the ceiling.

Senator Had Cuban Doubts, Record Shows

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A life jacket and debris, possibly from the missing SS Marine Sulphur Queen, were picked up from the Atlantic Ocean today, 14 miles southeast of Key West, the Coast Guard said.

A life jacket stenciled "Sulphur Queen" was taken aboard a Navy torpedo retriever vessel operating in the area, the Coast Guard announcement said.

The Navy ship reported other debris floating in the water but said it had not yet identified anything beyond the life jacket. A Coast Guard 95-foot patrol vessel from Key West was ordered to the scene and a Navy destroyer escort, the USS Peterson, was speeding to the area.

Coast Guard officers said an intensive search would begin throughout the entire area for any possible survivors.

The 523-foot tanker Sulphur Queen left Beaumont, Tex., Feb. 2 on a routine five-day run to Norfolk, Va., carrying a load of 15,000 tons of molten sulphur.

Despite the fact the tanker carried two high frequency radio transmitters with emergency batteries and had a radiotelephone, she disappeared without giving a distress message.

Search planes flew more than 500 hours over the Gulf of Mexico and Atlantic and until today had found no trace of debris, oil slick or other evidence of maritime tragedy.

The active search was called off last week, with a request by the Coast Guard for all maritime interests to remain alert for sign of the missing tanker and her crew of 39.

The Coast Guard on Feb. 12, said, "We're undoubtedly looking for the remains of a sea disaster."

Plans Drive For Benefits

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A new labor trouble area opened today with word that the telephone workers' union plans a drive to win substantial benefit gains from the Bell System's $4-billion pension reserve.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, said, "We've decided to go the limit" in 1963 labor contract negotiations to improve pensions payable to about 400,000 employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., a Bell Telephone affiliate.

Beirne told a reporter, "The average actual pension being received by our 69,000 retirees is $78 a month. That's ridiculously low for a $25-billion corporation with a $4-billion pension fund."

Beirne said the fund's interest yield is over $125 million annually. He said that is more than enough to pay current retirement benefits without touching the principal.

The union wants to eliminate a requirement that company-paid pensions be reduced by half the amount of Social Security payments. It also seeks pension increases and a survivor benefits option.

Three-year Bell System labor contracts expire this year. The first expiration, coming during 10-day period in late May, could affect phone systems in more than a dozen states, including Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio, California, Michigan, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the District of Columbia.

Beirne said that the unions also want a company-paid hospital and surgical insurance plan such as these he said are in effect in most industries. Other demands are to include higher wages and longer vacations.

The formal proposals will be drafted at a policy meeting in Chicago March 20-22. Beirne said one demand to be considered is a six-month "sabbatical" with full pay, every five years for workers with 15 years service.

Petroleum Buying Hearing Delayed

AUSTIN (AP)—A House committee postponed action Tuesday night on a measure which would require 75 per cent of the oil and gas refined or processed in Texas be purchased from Texas wells.

A public hearing before the oil and gas committee was called off when the sponsor, Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity, was unable to attend because of illness.

Major backers of the measure have been owners of oil producing land and some independent oil and gas producers.

No new date for the hearing was set.

He attended advanced Interceptor Training at Perrin AFB, Texas, and was assigned to the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron in April, 1962.

Flu Taking More Out Of Schools

Asian flu and other respiratory ailments sweeping across much of the nation are taking an increasing toll in absenteeism, particularly among school children. Many schools report large numbers of pupils absent because of flu. Several have closed as a health safety precaution and others are considering suspending classes. No estimate is available of manhours lost in business and industry because of respiratory illnesses. Hundreds of deaths have been reported. Although new outbreaks of Asian flu have occurred, a health official expressed hope Tuesday that the wave of influenza-like infection will begin to wane with the approach of spring. Flu of the Asian variety now has been reported in Michigan and Minnesota, and authorities say the outbreak which hit hard in West Virginia probably is Asian flu. Previously, the U.S. Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center at Atlanta had confirmed Asian flu in the District of Columbia and North Carolina, Maryland, New York, Illinois and Kansas. A spokesman at the disease center said if the flu-like ailment does not begin spreading more swiftly, there is hope that its toll in sickness and deaths will not be too great before the milder weather of approaching spring. School closings have been reported in northern New York State (Herman-DeKalb); Goshen, Ohio, about 15 miles northwest of Cincinnati; Henryetta, Okla.; and Putnam County, W.Va. At Jamestown, N.Y., more than 750 of the school system's 8,419 pupils are out and officials said if another 100 drop out the schools will be closed. High absenteeism is reported at schools in St. Louis, Portland, Maine, Cincinnati and Kanawha County, W.Va., the state's largest county. Cook County Hospital at Chicago treated a record 1,600 children for respiratory ailments in 48 hours, with no sign of a letup. The hospital director, Dr. Karl A. Meyer, said the cases for the most part are a mild flu-type infection and definitely not of the Asian strain.

Lad Describes Slaying Of His Family

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — A high school youth whose broodings, over his place in the family circle exploded into a burst of gunfire, has told authorities how he shot and killed his father and stepmother and her three children. Harry Hebard, 16, described by his minister as a "good, quiet boy who was real active in the church" apparently had planned the slayings for some time, according to Dist. Atty. Robert Warren. The boy was scheduled for arraignment Tuesday on first-degree murder charges. Warren said he will seek a psychiatric examination for him. Harry, a high school junior, surrendered meekly Tuesday about six hours after the bodies were found in the family home. Killed by shots from an automatic pistol and rifle were 35; her three children by a previous marriage, John Rudell, 15, and Judy and Janice, 11-year-old twins; and Harry's thrice-married father, Jack Hebard, 38, a part-time automobile thrill driver and stunt man. The father, an airline freight foreman, used the professional name "Lucky O'Hara" and was well-known on the Midwest fair circuit. The boy told the district attorney he "had a general feeling of being left out of the family circle." He declined to see his minister, the Rev. David Thompson, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church. The Rev. Mr. Thompson said he was "aware of trouble" involving the boy and his family. A spokesman at the high school Harry attended said he had always been moody.

Intelligence Chief Grilled Over Cuban 'Picture Gap'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intelligence chief John A. McCone has been questioned at a secret House briefing about a so-called "picture gap" in the aerial surveillance of Cuba during the Soviet missile buildup, it was learned today. Informal sources said McCone was pinned down on the issue Tuesday, but because of security considerations the sources would give no further details. The Central Intelligence Agency Director briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee behind closed doors and answered questions for more than three hours. The "picture gap" is a blank stretch from last Sept. 5 to Oct. 15 in the aerial photographs made public two weeks ago in an extraordinary two-hour television briefing by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and an intelligence aide. In all the 60-odd photographs flashed on the screen, none fell in the "picture gap," a critical time period at the end of which the Soviets were discovered actually to have readied intermediate range missiles that could reach deep into United States territory. McNamara was asked about the gap by newsmen in the question and answer session that followed. He answered that aerial photos had been taken on a number of days within the Sept. 5-Oct. 15 period, but that because of lack of time a selection had to be made of which photos to show on television. That explanation has not satisfied some observers in Congress and elsewhere, including some generally friendly to the administration. A Foreign Affairs subcommittee today resumed hearings on Cuban-inspired subversion in other Latin American countries. One of the committee's newest and most outspoken Republicans, Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa, said in an interview he has detected a pattern in the testimony of administration witnesses so far. Gross, longtime critic of foreign aid spending, said the pattern is to combat Cuban Communist subversion by pushing the Alliance for Progress. "This is just a big buildup for asking more millions for the Alliance for Progress," Gross said.

ADEN (AP) — The five-month-old Republican regime in neighboring Yemen put its vice president, Dr. Abdul Rahman Baydany, on trial for high treason next week, authoritative sources said today. The report followed an announcement that Yemeni President Abdullah Sallal had taken over Baydany's duties as foreign minister. Baydany's whereabouts were not disclosed. He left Yemen for diplomatic talks in Cairo last month. Rumors have circulated in this British protectorate for weeks that Baydany was being ousted because of foreign and domestic policy disputes with other members of the regime that toppled Yemen's monarchy last September.

PAMPA, Tex. (AP) — A two-car collision at a highway intersection just south of here Tuesday killed Mrs. Nancy Faye Brothers, 68, of Pampa. Two other persons were injured.

A true statement was never made. It takes more than the right name to make a church the true church. On the other hand, the true church will certainly wear the right name. It did so in the days of the apostles, as we see from reading the Bible (Acts 20:28; Rom. 16:16; 1 Cor. 1:2, etc.). The early church did not just wear one name. Neither do we. The early church was called, 'Church

Accident Toll Is Tallied

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council tallied up today the nation's death and economic toll from accidents in 1962 and found: Killed—96,500, a 5 per cent increase over 1961, and the highest toll since 1948 when the toll was 98,001. Disabling injuries—9.7 million, of which 360,000 resulted in some degree of permanent impairment. Economic cost to the nation—$15.3 billion, a 5 per cent increase over 1961.

Chamizal Settlement In 90 Days

EL PASO (AP) — This country and Mexico may be able to settle their half century dispute over the Chamizal strip within 90 days, U. S. Ambassador Thomas C. Mann said Tuesday. Mann came here from Mexico City to discuss a land exchange which would return the border acreage in the edge of El Paso to Mexico because of a change in course by the Rio Grande. Mann said he expected to stay here at least two more days, "or as long as necessary to meet with groups here" to explore local views on the plan. He plans to go next to Austin and consult State Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. They will check for possible barriers to the settlement in the Texas Constitution and decide whether the land trade will require legislative action. Under the amended proposal, Mexico would receive 400 to 450 acres and this country would acquire a northern stretch of Cordova Island. El Paso would retain both a water plant at the west end of the Chamizal strip and a sewage treatment plant on the west edge of Cordova Island.

Navy Loves Its Tender

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Now hear this, now hear this: The USS Yellowstone has put out to sea. Before landlubbers ask, "So what?" read on. The valiant USS Yellowstone is a destroyer tender—a floating collection of workshops — machine shops, electronics shops, optical, printing, photo, canvas and other specialty shops to serve the needs of 26 destroyers assigned to Mayport Naval Station. She rarely leaves her pier. So when she was ordered out for a six-day cruise just to prove she and her crew of 589 could do it, Navy personnel at the base staged a gala bon voyage ceremony. Capt. Frederick Radell, commander of Destroyer Squadron 16, sent a basket of empty champagne bottles to celebrate. The Yellowstone sailed for Port Everglades, 300 miles to the south. Gifts sent to the ship before departure included several books on navigation and seamanship—plus a road map of Florida. After leaving the harbor, the Yellowstone's skipper, Capt. J. H. King Jr., messaged: "Many thanks for your kind hospitality. I didn't know you cared."

They're For It— But Not For Them

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — The Nevada Assembly approved a Senate resolution Tuesday congratulating Gov. Grant Sawyer, Democrat, on his 25-mile hike Sunday. But the vote was close—17 to 13—and Assemblyman Jim Bailey, Republican, drew a round of applause with a denunciation of the hiking fad. "It is a very irresponsible way to approach physical conditioning," said Bailey, a former coach. The Assembly shouted down a motion by Chet Christensen, Democrat, to recess for 10 minutes "to walk briskly around the block."

Storms Lash Wide Areas Of Northeast

Stormy weather, with heavy snow, sleet and strong winds, lashed wide sections of the Northeast today after pounding many areas in the south and east central states.

The severe storm, centered near Nantucket, Mass., dumped more than eight inches of snow in Worcester, Mass., and seven inches in Windsor Locks, Conn., and Portland, Maine.

The Weather Bureau posted heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings in central and western Massachusetts through northern New England. Gale warnings were displayed from Eastport, Maine, to Block Island, R.I. Tides are averaging about two feet above normal from northern New Jersey northward.

The storm swept across eastern, south central and northern sections of New York State. Some airplane flights were cancelled in Albany, which reported more than five inches of snow.

A mixture of rain and snow ended in New York Tuesday night, leaving about an inch of slush. Snowfall was heavier in suburban areas.

Driving conditions were hazardous throughout the storm belt. Temperatures were mostly in the 20s and 30s.

The storm system brought heavy rains in the Southeast and damaging winds in central Florida Tuesday. Skies cleared today, with a little warmer weather in northern areas and some cooler air in the southern sections.

Light snow and sleet hit Michigan while light rain splashed areas in the northern third of the nation.

Only subzero temperatures this morning were in northern Minnesota and North Dakota. Low marks included -15 in Grand Forks, N.D., -13 in Bismarck, N.D. and -10 in International Falls, Minn.

Blind Teacher Joins Peace Corps

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A diminutive blonde who didn't let blindness keep her from becoming a teacher is the Peace Corps' first blind volunteer.

Marilyn D. Brandt, 23, arrived Sunday at Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic to begin her new job.

Officials in Washington announced Tuesday she had been accepted by the corps.

"It was kind of a hurry-up deal," her mother, Mrs. Day Brandt, said Tuesday night. "They needed somebody who could read and teach Braille."

Marilyn's parents have been public school teachers for more than two decades. The father also is a rancher. San Antonio has been their home since their daughter was 6. She was born at New Braunfels, Tex. As a child Marilyn had limited vision but glaucoma (hardening of eyeballs) caused total blindness when she was 13.

"It has never seemed to bother her," said Mrs. Brandt. "She was a good student, making all A's and B's in college, and she finished practice teaching for her certificate last spring."

Miss Brandt, who is barely over 5 feet tall and weighs 100 pounds, was graduated from the Texas School for the Blind at Austin in 1957 and took a bachelor of science degree from Southwest Texas College at San Marcos. She was a member of the Student Senate and several honor fraternities.

In applying for the Peace Corps last summer, she cited knowledge of Spanish, special attention to English and social studies, plus her Braille training.

Officials plan to sell the liquor to raise money for the hospital.

Viet Cong Is Hit Hard

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—For the first time in their four-year war against the Communist Viet Cong, President Ngo Dinh Diem's troops appear to have made real inroads into the Communist area known as "D Zone."

In the past week Ranger companies operating close to Viet Cong bases in the jungle area north of Saigon have wrecked Communist installations, destroyed ammunition and supplies and forced the guerrillas to keep moving.

Although contact with the guerrillas has been light, the government claims more than 30 of the enemy died in the operation. The government claims its troops have turned up a large electric generator, an arsenal of heavy weapons and tons of ammunition and an evacuated 200-bed enemy field hospital.

Several thousand Rangers are operating in the 50-mile-long jungle tracts. More clashes are expected.

Penetration of D Zone is an important psychological step for Saigon's forces. The area is shown on Communist maps as a "liberated zone" in which Viet Cong forces can operate with complete safety.

Roads through the zone, including an important arterial route, have been subject to a bloody series of Communist ambushes.

The main center of Viet Cong strength and its coordinating headquarters are believed to be somewhere in D Zone. Several of the radio propaganda transmitters the Viet Cong call "liberation radio" also are understood to beam programs from the zone.

LOCAL POLICEMAN WAS THERE WHEN HE WAS NEEDED MOST

You've heard that old crack: "You can never find a policeman when you need one."

J. D. Campbell, motorcycle officer for the city police department, proved that moulty allegation false Tuesday afternoon. Furthermore, it is doubtful if Campbell even realized he was destroying an old belief.

He was on his motorcycle going north on Main Street. He pulled up at the intersection of 4th Street to await a light change. To his left was a huge tractor-trailer pulled alongside the new First National Bank building, loaded to the top with sacks of cement.

Just as Campbell brought his motorcycle to a stop, this big truck began to roll backward into the path of teeming traffic on 4th Street.

Campbell abandoned his cycle, raced to the truck and climbed into the cab. He set the brake but the big truck had rolled nearly across the busy street before he could bring it to a halt. No mishaps occurred but traffic was jammed momentarily until the truck could be started and driven back to a safer mooring.

Dunn Friend Starts Drive For A Private Hospital

PECOS (AP)—W. K. Daugherty, an accountant who identifies himself as "both a friend and patient" of Dr. John Paul Dunn, has started a drive for funds to establish a private hospital in this West Texas town.

Pecos at present has only Reeves County Memorial Hospital, whose board of managers last week dismissed Dunn from the medical staff.

The board alleged, among other things that Dunn harassed hospital personnel. Dunn denied the charges.

Last Saturday a district court judge denied Dunn's petition for a temporary injunction to let him continue practice at the county-owned hospital.

"We decided," Daugherty said, "that the latest developments meant we would have to change our doctor, or get him a place to practice, and we're not about to change our doctor."

He said "a number of people" have signed agreements to purchase stock in a private hospital if a charter is obtained.

The first goal is to raise $25,000 in subscription pledges. This money is to be placed in escrow and will be refunded if the campaign fails, Daugherty said.

"It's going a whole lot quicker than we expected," he reported. Fund raisers are conducting a personal campaign, talking to people in their homes, he said.

Witnesses at hearings on the Dunn ouster testified he attended about one-third of the patients in the county hospital.

A Devotional For The Day

We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him, who are called according to his purpose. (Romans 8:28, RSV.)
PRAYER: Our loving heavenly Father, forgive us for finding it hard to trust Thee when darkness surrounds us. Help us to look beyond the darkness to Thee. Enable us to trust Thy good purpose for us and to know Thy presence with us in all the experiences of life. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Good Project Worth Doing Right

The county commissioners court has agreed, provided landowners will give the right of way, to open a new access road to the Kentwood and adjacent areas at the southeast edge of the city.

This is important because it would provide for an access from the area to Marcy Drive (FM 700) in the valley area. In winter weather, when there are conditions of ice and glaze, traffic could move over this flat terrain.

The plan calls for extension of Baylor Blvd., where it now terminates at Big Spring Creek, southeastward to an intersection with the common line of sections 34, thence south along the section line to an intersection with the common line of section 9-10, which is East 25th Street.

Part of the right of way for the proposed extension has been given. It could be the other will be forthcoming.

There are, however, some other problems connected with this venture. One is the matter of engineering. If the road is to be regarded as an extension of Baylor, the grades, plans, specifications, ought to conform to city standards. This might be accomplished through an arrangement with the city to do the engineering. Another matter is the possible creation of a future problem for the city by dedication of the road through what is now unplatted acreage. Future property owners might thus be responsible for curb and gutter and additional paving rather than developers, as is now the case. The effect of this, at least, should be considered and assessed in the light of probabilities over the next decade. The project is a worthy one, but it should be undertaken with a long as well as an immediate look.

Sheltered Life

Agricultural products have been carried over at a frightening expense and in mounting volume, but these are not the only supplies which are leading a sheltered life.

The report from Sen. Harry Byrd on the stockpiling of strategic and critical materials shows that in spite of pronouncements and pleas to the contrary the stockpiles are gaining.

During the past year the grand total of materials in the stockpile decreased $54,000,000 in value, but this was because cotton valued at $128,000,000 was withdrawn from the national stockpile of strategic and critical materials and transferred to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

There was a 20 million dollar increase in the Defense Production Act categories and a 121 million dollar increase in the supplemental barter group.

There are 25 material stockpiles in strategic and critical inventories. Maximum objectives are fixed for 76 of these, and 66 of these are listed over their objectives. In fact, during 1962, only one of the group over maximum objectives was brought to recommended levels.

The President has urged that the stockpile investment be reduced, but it has actually gained 75 million dollars for the year. Why? Largely because industries connected with production of certain metals and goods have used the stockpile as their haven of price supports. These producers, traders and brokers don't want to give them up.

David Lawrence Tax Plan Has Started Recession

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has told the country that his tax proposals must be adopted by Congress to prevent a recession. But, due largely to psychological factors, the recession has already begun. The only question now is how deep it is going to get and how long it will last.

The recession started when the President announced that he was deliberately planning a budget deficit in addition to the deficit already being incurred. Momentum was added when the President declared that, coincidentally, taxes would be raised by so-called "reforms" and that the reduction in tax rates would be spread over three years.

THIS COMBINATION of giving and then taking away much of what is given frightened business, especially since there was no sign of any policy to stop the spending spree of the government. Projects that could readily be postponed to next appropriations were urged just the same by the President, irrespective of their impact on the fiscal condition of the country.

Today Labor calls the tax program inadequate. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce favors a tax cut but insists on a reduction in government spending as well. Economists are nervous. Investors are cautious.

TAX CHANGES of major proportions involving a planned deficit are similar to a surgical operation. Sometimes the patient gets worse and sometimes he recovers. But nobody ever plans an operation on the body that he really doesn't need—or a deficit that he can't afford. A tax cut by itself would be a stimulus to business. But if unaccompanied by corresponding savings of a substantial amount in the budget, it causes fear of inflation. This means upward price changes and instability due to a decline in the purchasing power of the dollar.

WHAT HAS happened in the last 30 days is that, upon reading the President's tax proposals, business became confused. Uncertainty developed. Hesitation is an inevitable sequel. Only those expenditures in which commitments have already been made are carried out. Anything that can be deferred is postponed indefinitely. A wait-and-see attitude engenders. Business doesn't usually operate on a three-year basis, and neither do most individuals. It's the 10 or 12 months ahead that constitute the main horizon. Tax cuts are always helpful, but they can be ruinous to the fiscal soundness of the nation unless expenses are cut, too. It may be "Puritanic" as one of Mr. Kennedy's advisers termed it, to balance the budget, but the American people want to see a trend in that direction instead of away from it.

THE PRESIDENT often asks critics for alternatives. A program of tax cuts plus a program of economies in spending appears to be the only answer to Mr. Kennedy's dilemma. Tax "reforms" should be postponed. Most important of all now is the necessity for the administration to recognize the danger and meet it at once before the recession intensifies.

A persuasive example of how dangerous a tax "reform" can be is already available. The Democratic party in Congress is just as much responsible for the blunder in this case as is the President. Carelessly and without weighing the consequences, Congress passed the new law on expense-account deductions, phrased in vague language. The Treasury has recently interpreted these vague phrases, and this has brought depression in the restaurant and hotel business. But, it will be said, that's a small part of the economy. The facts, however, prove how shortsighted such a view can be.

FOR OVER the weekend Clyde Davis, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange, made a speech in Chicago declaring that cattle prices have suffered their worst setback in years. He said a wide combination of developments has hit the cattle and beef market almost simultaneously in the last three months. The dock strike hurt, too. Foreign beef came in last year at a record-breaking pace. Finally tax rulings curbed business dinners and entertainment expenses in business, which in turn caused a cut in the buying of top beef by some of the higher-priced restaurants and hotels. It was the straw that broke the cattle market's back Mrs. Davis said.

"THE TAX RULING on expense accounts makes it more difficult to wine and dine customers. This development is becoming a more important factor in the depressed beef markets."

Certainly cheating on expense accounts is reprehensible, but the government ought surely to be able to catch up with fraud without penalizing innocent citizens and injuring the cattle business, the hotel business, the restaurant business, and related trades and industries.

THIS IS BUT one illustration. Already churches, colleges, and other charitable institutions are worried about contributions because of the five per cent floor on individual tax deductions. Far from stimulating consumer spending, the administration's program may cause the citizen to stop some of his spending.

To keep the people uncertain about tax rates and "reforms" for several months is dangerous. The sooner the President agrees to a separation of tax-cut measures from tax "reform" proposals, the quicker the new recession will end. There is time enough in periods of prosperity to make "reforms." What is immediately urgent is to stop the new recession in its tracks.

Congressmen Live Special Lives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators and representatives have a special kind of life in government.

A check, minor or major, is made on all employees of the executive branch for behavior or loyalty. The FBI checks all federal judges and district attorneys before they take office.

The White House requires FBI investigations of the men the president appoints to high office.

ABSOLUTELY no check is made on members of Congress even though some of them in closed-door hearings hear highly secret information. For instance, members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

There is no law saying members of Congress must be checked over. In the executive branch some checking is done on every employe and the FBI can be called in under presidential order going back to 1953.

Generally, the staffs in the various federal courts are not investigated although in some exceptional cases a judge may request one. Court employes are seldom, however, never privy to secret government information involving national security.

WHILE THERE'S a law against letting present or former government employes sweeten their pocketbook because of their government connection — the conflict of interest law — no such law applies to members of Congress.

Thus a senator with a fortune in oil is free to plug for a bill that benefits the oil industry. He's not apt to brag that he has some self-interest in what he is doing.

No check is made on the staffs of the 535 members of Congress—unless for some reason a senator or representative asks the FBI to investigate a specific individual.

Nor is any FBI check made on the staff employes of the various committees of Congress except in some special and limited cases when the committee chairman asks the FBI to step in.

THAT HAPPENS in the case of employes of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and employes of the Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Appropriations committees of both houses.

This may be done — although hardly in the case of the Atomic Energy Committee—on an individual basis, depending on what employe the chairman wants checked.

These committees, by their nature, are exposed to some of the most delicate government information. Therefore, their staff members might have access to it.

In these investigations the FBI turns its information over to the committee chairman requesting it. He is the one who decides whether a staff employe should be retained or fired.

Then the information goes back to the FBI files for secrecy and safe-keeping. Otherwise, it might wind up being gossiped around the halls of Congress.

A Rose In The Teeth?

NEW YORK (AP)—The next time I plan to meet someone I don't know by sight for lunch, I intend to make sure we'll recognize each other.

My hat will be trimmed in neon lights and I'll sport a rose between my teeth. And I'll request that the party of the second part make her entrance on roller skates and carry a cowbell.

Then maybe I won't repeat the tragedy of errors that marked my last luncheon date in a midtown restaurant.

It all started when my husband met—in line of duty, he claimed—a charming feminine member of a public relations staff and suggested that she call me and arrange a meeting.

In due time she telephoned me and we agreed to get together. "How will I know you?" I inquired.

"I'll make reservations and whoever gets there first can just sit down at the table and wait for the other," she replied.

That was fine. It was only after she hung up that I realized the reservations would be in her name and all I could remember was that her first name was Pat. I didn't panic because I knew my husband could supply the last name—after all, he had met her, hadn't he?

It turned out I knew more of her name than he did, but he finally succumbed to my pleas and phoned her office, where someone on the switchboard reported her name was Pat Hanson. All, at last, was well.

On the appointed day I presented myself at the restaurant and requested to be seated at Miss Hanson's table. I was guided to a booth where a lone lady awaited me.

After greeting each other effusively we settled back to chat, and had fully covered the health of the children and the state of the weather when she happened to ask if I had come in from New Jersey by bus.

No, having been in that state for several years, I had a sudden suspicion.

"You're not Pat Hanson?" I ventured. She wasn't. I wasn't the lady she was waiting for either.

Back I went to the headwaiter, who was all apologies for the mistake. This time he put me in solitary confinement, where I sat trying to appear nonchalant while thinking up charitable excuses for my luncheon partner's lateness.

My face was getting hotter than the flaming desserts blazing all around me and I finally sent up smoke signals to a passing waiter.

Are you sure you don't want Mrs. Richardson?" he asked. "She's waiting too for someone who hasn't showed up."

Still insisting that only Miss Hanson would do, I accompanied him to meet my fellow isolationist. It turned out she was Pat, after all.

It seems Hanson is her maiden name, which she uses at the office, but she made the reservations under her married name, which she had given me on the phone.

To Your Good Health

Rheumatic Fever A Difficult Disease

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. (St. Vitus dance), and ear or kidney infections.

In short, it's a nasty disease, but with vigilance and careful treatment, prospects of cure are good.

Rest is essential until symptoms have disappeared. It is not always easy to convince patients of the importance of this, but getting up too soon can be costly to health. Salicylates (aspirin-type drugs) in large doses are given, or in some instances steroids of the cortisone type. The choice may depend on how well a patient tolerates one or the other.

When the patient is allowed to get up, he should maintain extreme caution against colds; keep nutrition and rest at levels which will maintain his resistance against germs. It is now regular and most useful practice to give long-acting penicillin once a month for a period of years to prevent further strep infections.

It is not usually the first attack of rheumatic fever that devastates health; it is repeated ones.

Thus I can say that a single attack of rheumatic fever does not mean invalidism; recurring attacks can. (An added tip: Dental extractions can lead to them. The precaution is use of a sulfa drug or other antibiotic before, during and after extraction to guard against further inflammation of the heart.)

Finally, for patients whose hearts have been seriously involved, limiting their activity, branches of the American Heart Association in a good many areas have or can refer you to courses showing how to conserve energy in ordinary daily tasks—housework and the like—to take strain off the heart.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me a booklet or something on causes and cures for itching and burning in ears.—P.M.

I don't have any such, but I don't know of any simple remedy for fungus infections, so I'd have to say: If you really want results, go to a dermatologist, or skin specialist.

Note to Mrs. G. F.: I don't know of any evidence that Vitamin E could be of benefit in heart cases. I don't know of any harm it could do, either.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes—The Sneaky Disease."

Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he can't answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

It's OK Mac, We've Got The Almanac

Well, I can finish the year now. I missed my Old Farmers Almanac, but the Ford Almanac has come along and I'm back in business.

Really, I don't have too much occasion to refer to one, but ever since they stopped giving away the Lydia Pinkham and Black Draught almanacs at the drug store, I've not had the slightest idea when the next full moon is coming up.

MAYBE THIS isn't really important, because I don't hold with the planting by the light of the moon, etc. I just don't like full moons slipping on me. Moreover, ever since I mastered the formula for Easter—the first Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equinox—I've enjoyed being able to sit down and lord it over the bourgeoisie who don't have Easter written across a certain Sunday on their spring calendar.

IN CASE YOU'RE interested the full moons this year will be March 10, April 9, May 8, June 7, July 6, Aug. 5, Sept. 3, Oct. 3, Nov. 1 and 30, and Dec. 30. In case you're not interested, forget it.

The thing that fascinates me most, however, is the section on weather forecasting. The boys who make up the almanacs have no hesitancy in crawling out on a limb. They make the reticent 72-hour forecasters look like pikers.

FOR WHAT IT'S worth—and I hope it's not worth much for our section this year—1963 shapes up as a dry and hot one for our region.

The winter forecast includes us in a cold wet belt; we've had the cold and now a bit of the wetness Spring is supposed to be generally dry and generally warm to mid. The way those atmospheric arrows are pointing, our area will be fanned by breezes out of the bowels of Mexico.

Summer is cast in the same pattern with prospects that July might see us in the midst of a storm belt. Autumn is dry and mild all the way.

THE ALMANAC, however, has information for almost any occasion and on almost any subject. If you want to know the latest on killing crabgrass, turn to page 9. There are tips on how to debut flowers, how to raise fish successfully (one farmer made $100 an acre this way), how to use lights for beautifying your yard at night, how to make barbecue grills, how to know if you're getting good furs, where you buy, how much seed to plant per acre, how much ensilage your trench silo will hold and how far it will go on feeding, how much money it takes to go in farming (from $6,000 for a vegetable farmer to $30,000 for a grain producer or livestock feeder), how to paper your walls with burlap for a new effect, and oodles of other gems of knowledge.

THERE ARE EVEN suggestions on how to earn extra money at home (I must read this at first opportunity), four ways to pay for college (I must have my boys read this) how to build playthings for the kiddies (I must not think about this again).

The almanac even has a page entitled "Emergency Notebook: Facts You'll Need." It has a line for everything from insurance policies to Social Security numbers, marriage license, location of the will, to a record of when mortgage and car payments are due. Joy killer, that's what. —JOE PICKLE

A Police Chief Tells 'Em Off

When the baffled, bothered and bewildered Parent-Teacher Association of Briarcliff Manor, an orchard enclave in New York's Westchester County, besought its chief of police last week for a word of advice to its teen-agers, the Manor uncovered a bush-league Socrates who ought to be in the majors.

Chief Arthur W. Johnson obliged the Manor's P.T.A. all right, with an open letter to the junior and senior high-school set, which is second to Cuba as a constant public irritant and menace. (To get right down to cases, the P.T.A. doesn't have to deal personally with Castro. It's the kids that are driving it right over the hill.)

HOWEVER, anyone who reads Johnson's open letter can scarcely escape the conviction that the chief of police was throwing his pearls before parents no less than their offspring.

It is also obvious that the chief, like a lot of other frustrated adults, is fed up, in a pleasure-oriented, over-stuffed age, by the constant whine of kids asking a double-headed question: "What can we do—where can we go?"

THE CHIEF'S answer to that two-tone query is astounding in its novelty and simplicity.

"GO HOME!" the chief advised, a solution so stunning that no one, parents or children, had stumbled on it before. Not to the bowling alley, the movies, the resuscitated billiard parlor, the drag races, the Sugar Bowl, the drive-in, the five-and-dime, Main Street, the park or even next door to see the other fellow's hot rod, teevee or diary.

"GO HOME," admonished the chief, one of a family of 20 children. "Hang the storm windows. Paint the woodwork. Shovel the walk. Wash the car. Learn to cook. Scrub the floors. Repair the sink. Build a boat. Get a job."

Nor did the chief's astounding originality end at that point.

"Help the minister, the priest or rabbi; the Red Cross, the Salvation Army," he continued. "Visit the sick. Assist the poor. Study your lessons. And then, when you are through and not tired, read a book."

AS IF THIS program were not sufficiently revolutionary to get the chief regarded as pretty avant garde—or do I mean reactionary—the brave chief plowed right ahead with a sentence of immortal advice:

"In plain simple words: grow up; quit acting like a cry baby; get out of your dream world—start acting like a man or a lady."

IN SHORT, this remarkable man is telling not only teen-agers but parents that home is a place where there is work to be done by members of all ages, even as there was such work to do—and it was done—in the not-very-distant past. He is saying that a few chores—responsibilities, really—around the home never hurt anyone and, in fact, improved 99.44 per cent of those who accepted such chores and responsibilities.

JOHNSON is urging parents and children to stop being spectator sports and begin being sporting participants in life: to get up off their blue jeans and onto their blue sweats. Why, he is even bold enough to suggest that teen-agers could be a blessing to the community by helping minister, priest, rabbi, Red Cross and the Salvation Army. And by visiting the sick and helping the poor. Think of it! A local Peace Corps in Briarcliff Manor!

THE CHIEF'S subtle, sensible advice will probably cause a seven-day sensation, no more. And then the P.T.A. will be wringing its hands and seeking advice elsewhere. Arthur W. Johnson will probably never make it to the White House. But men have won the Presidency on far less inspired and worthy platforms for national betterment than his.

Strange Case Of The Underdog

BILLINGS, Montana—Dawgone the underdog! While not quite the overt expression of the new spirit of the Old West, it will do as a grumbled and prevalent approximation.

Not only out here, but in a good many other sectors of the country, a traveler suspects, people are getting fed up on being trampled by the downtrodden. Mendicant minorities, misunderstood criminals, and crafty deadbeats are wearing out the sympathy of a society which continually gets the blame for other people's delinquencies.

THE CASE in point in Montana is a stupendous snafu in which something over 2000 leases of Crow Indian grazing land were granted to white ranchers (involving upward to an estimated 800,000 acres) now turn out to be illegal. The cases, in which Attorney General Kennedy is showing a do-gooder's interest, appear to be violations of a dead letter law which hasn't been enforced since the 1930's.

THE CROW ACT of 1920 forbids leasing the Indian lands by non-Indians in amounts larger than approximately 1900 acres. A 1927 amendment forbids these five-year leases to be extended concurrently, that is, year by year, which would amount to perpetual tenancy. Interior Department officials admit that the law has been allowed to languish, so that fully 70 per cent of the leases made their arrangements in good faith. Ignorance of the law is no excuse. The Attorney General can probably prosecute some test cases if he wants to.

BUT WHAT are the realities of this strange situation? The Crow Indian is an indigent and foxy fellow. He likes his firewater. He strikes a fast-money, mutual consent bargain with a thrifty, hard-driving rancher who pays an average 25-cent-per-acre fee rather than go through the Federal rigmarole and pay 47 cents.

Local agents of Interior's Bureau of Indian Affairs, knowing what the Indians are, wink at the deal. Moreover, the ranchers, in the ancient custom of noblesse oblige, end up paying far more than the cash cost of the lease.

OFTEN THE leases change hands, from rancher to rancher, so that many holders are completely innocent of any extralegality. After thirty years of cross-trading and informal transactions, both Indian and white neighbors no doubt understand and accept their grassroots accord. If anybody has been imposed upon, it's probably the ranchers rather than the redskins.

YET IF inexorable do-goodism takes its course, and the letter of the law is applied, there will be a massacre of property rights on the scale of Custer's Last Stand which took place in the same area. Montana's two Democratic Senators, Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf, are trying to avert this fiscal bloodbath. They have introduced a bill to legalize the illegalities in the name of common sense and common law. But there is a question about the constitutionality of such legislative action. And there is a question about the practicality of the Attorney General's trying to recover the uses of land that has passed through several sets of hands, by mutual consent. All parties seem content to leave well enough alone, but in times such as ours—can such things be?

NO, FOR the dawgone underdog has become the lion-sharer of official sympathy and social justice. Like it or not, the feckless folk of the earth are prince in the spin of the pauper-over-prince revolution by which politicians of today succeed. Never in the history of human evolution has so much been endured by the many from the hands of the few.

Details Given On Pending Sale Of Cosden

The current issue of Business Week, a national magazine, contains a reference to the impending deal by American Petrofina, Inc. to acquire Cosden Petroleum Corporation. W. R. Grace & Co. owns 53 per cent of the Cosden stock and initiated the proposed transaction.

The Business Week article touches on the broad outlines of the reported deal, whereby Cosden (A) would be sold to American Petrofina, Inc. (B), with part of the payment based on oil reserves being sold to (C), an unnamed corporation or corporations.

Business Week referred to it as a $75-million deal to be worked out "under a typical ABC formula."

"American Petrofina will buy Cosden's assets for roughly $55-million cash; a $20-million production payment (a claim on future production from Cosden reserves) will be held back and simultaneously sold to and as yet unidentified third party. Cosden then plans to go into liquidation, hopes to pay its initial liquidating dividend of about $20 per share in May."

There was no comment from Cosden officials as to the accuracy of the figures or other details. Negotiations, however, are continuing.

LETTERS

Urges Writing To Congress

To the Editor: Alexis de Toqueville wrote of America many years ago, "the dangers of our government 'keeping our people in a state of perpetual childhood, a tyranny such as no government had ever practiced.'"

"Do we want a government 'of the people, by the people and for the people' or a perpetual childhood? Do you like our surrender in Cuba? Do you like our burden of taxes? Controls of government which says we should not pray in our schools? Do you think De Gaulle was right in demanding that France should protect Frenchmen, or depend upon America which has just shown in many parts of the world she will not even protect herself? Can you do anything about it, one way or another?"

The answer lies in the contact with representatives. In one instance, where the people supported their senator (on Cuba), action has been taken now; the other (on labor legislation), we had no action last year, and probably will not this year, although the economy of our nation is at stake.

Your representatives in Washington are doing their best to represent the people they hear from. What do you want from your representatives?

At the County Library you will find current issues of the Congressional Record. You can find there, and there only, information of what legislation is pending, the names and addresses of your representatives.

If you wish to have a government "by the people, for the people, and for the people," perhaps you will take enough time to see what you can do to help our representatives represent you as free Americans. United you do, you probably won't be free very long to ask them to represent you.

Sincerely,
MRS. L. V. C. MITCHELL

Maryland Solon Leaves Post To Fight Charges

BALTIMORE (AP)—The speaker of Maryland's House of Delegates stepped down from his position today in the wake of a federal indictment charging him and five other persons with nine counts of mail fraud.

Democrat A. Gordon Boone of Baltimore County said he was merely taking a leave of absence as speaker so he could devote more time to preparing a defense against the charges, which he called unfounded.

Boone is a former president of the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders.

Boone and five others were indicted Tuesday in connection with operation of Security Financial Insurance Corp., a firm they started in 1959 to insure savings and loan accounts.

They were accused of fraudulently misrepresenting protection of accounts. The insurance firm is now in receivership, as are some of the savings and loan associations it represented.

Indicted with Boone were: D. Oran Mensik, 33, Chicago financier associated with five associations insured by Security Financial. Mensik was freed in 1961 at the end of an 18-week mail fraud trial in Baltimore when a jury could not agree. The U.S. Tax Court upheld an $821,000 tax ruling against Mensik last year.

Henry McGurgen, 50, Chicago attorney. Boone said McGurgen gave $450,000 toward incorporation of Security Financial, which went out of business last summer after a court ordered it into receivership and froze its funds.

D. Spencer Grow, 53, Provo, Utah, associated with five associations insured by Security Financial.

Howard County Boys Enter Rodeo

Three Howard County boys have already officially entered their names as contestants in the calf scramble event at the San Angelo Fall Stock Show and Rodeo. The show is to be March 6-10.

The Big Spring youths who have sent in their entry fees are Frank Sabbato Jr., Johnny Hughes and James Wyatt. They are slated to appear at the evening performance March 9.

The son, Courtney, was born with poor eyesight, and by the time he reached adulthood he was virtually blind. Eventually he became totally so, but always he was occupied with his business to earn a living. In addition, he had a happy disposition. He also was a devout Christian, and for many years he was an active member of the Indoor Sports Club.

Committee voted to oppose six bills before the legislature. The measures would: Require the Railroad Commission to set monthly oil allowances that will yield "a reasonable profit above costs." Freeze Railroad Commission proration units for individual wells to a maximum of 40 acres for oil and 320 acres for gas. Freeze allowances as set on Jan. 1, 1962. Provide that 75 per cent of crude oil and natural gas refined or processed in Texas wells occupied by Texas wells.

Require the Railroad Commission to set monthly allowances no lower than 14 producing days or the equivalent. And require allowances to be set so that each well would be assured a reasonable profit. The committee supported two pending measures to exempt from cers, highway patrolmen and others at the meeting.

Barricades will be placed on the street during the latter part of next week, Smoot said. The most inconvenience to motorists in this area will be during the initial phases of paving when drivers will need to use the shoulder of the road.

"At no time will the road be closed for more than a few minutes," Smoot stressed. However, he urged local drivers to use alternate routes during the construction period.

To assist in cutting down the number of drivers on Third and Fourth streets during the interval, barricades will be placed on access streets in the construction area, Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said. They will not block off the streets completely, but will serve to discourage entrance to Third and Fourth streets.

As alternate routes, Dunn advised motorists to use either Fifth or Sixth streets for travel east of Circle Drive and Sixth for driving west of Circle.

Fourth Street will be paved first. While Third Street is under construction, Dunn suggested motorists use East Second Street, which extends from the downtown section to Birdwell Lane.

Although one lane for traffic will be open at all times on the streets, the contractor urged reversing it for use by highway travelers and persons who have business with local merchants in the area.

into a discussion of an East-West nonaggression pact.

The Soviet Union has advanced the pact idea frequently, but the West wants it considered only in the general framework of disarmament treaty.

The talk in the corridors around the conference was that the United States and Britain ultimately might compromise on five or six on-site inspections per year on Soviet territory to check on suspicious earth tremors indicative of underground nuclear explosions.

Such a concession never has been spelled out to newsmen by members of the U.S. delegation, however. The negotiations have been deadlocked for weeks between the Soviet maximum offer of two or three inspections and the Western minimum demand for eight.

Foster released only extracts from his speech in the closed conference session. These included an oblique reference to American readiness to go below the minimum of eight inspections.

"The United States," said Foster, "has already indicated its flexibility in private talks and its willingness to consider such positions as the Soviet Union might put forth on key issues of the negotiations."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., attending the conference as U.S. Senate observer, told newsmen it would be difficult to obtain Senate approval for less than eight on-site inspections per year.

The deciding factor in any reduction in the number of inspections, Humphrey said, would be the total treaty arrangements to prevent cheating on the test ban agreement.

"I don't think we ought to say that any particular figure is the ultimate and final word," Humphrey said. "Obviously the Soviet offer of two or three inspections is unacceptable."

Foster was to fly to Washington later today to report to President Kennedy. He is expected back in Geneva early next week.

In a move unrelated to the discussion of a test ban, Kuznetsov introduced the proposal for a non-aggression treaty between the Warsaw Pact powers.

The treaty draft said the two groups of nations would "solemnly refrain from attack, the threat or use of force, in any manner inconsistent with purposes and principles of the United Nations charter, against one another or in their international relations in general."

British delegation spokesman said the pact proposal "is not a disarmament measure but might have some value in reducing international tension."

Foster expressed disappointment at the lack of progress in the test ban negotiations since the conference resumed Feb. 12. The gap between the two sides seemed to have narrowed but was deeper and more difficult to bridge, he said.

"The last step across this gap appears difficult to take. Taking this last step requires the good will and effort of both sides. It is something that can only be done together," he said.

"We are willing and intend to engage in give-and-take negotiations on all major issues which must be agreed upon if we are to reach agreement on a nuclear test ban."

Foster and Humphrey were the luncheon guests of Kuznetsov immediately after the conference. British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber was also invited.

U.S. Would Trade Fewer Inspections For Foolproofing

GENEVA (AP)—The United States indicated today it would settle for fewer than eight on-site inspections a year within the Soviet Union if the Soviet Union accepted a completely foolproof inspection procedure.

Chief U.S. Delegate William C. Foster presented the idea at a meeting of the 17-nation disarmament conference. He stressed that any American willingness to compromise would depend, among other things, on a satisfactory number of inspectors, the areas where they could operate and the criteria under which they could be dispatched.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov ignored Foster's suggestion. He tried to move the debate away from the test ban and into a discussion of an East-West nonaggression pact.

The Soviet Union has advanced the pact idea frequently, but the West wants it considered only in the general framework of disarmament treaty.

The talk in the corridors around the conference was that the United States and Britain ultimately might compromise on five or six on-site inspections per year on Soviet territory to check on suspicious earth tremors indicative of underground nuclear explosions.

Forsan, Miles Clash Here Tuesday Night

GARDEN CITY—Forsan's Buffaloes added the district basketball crown to the football championship it had won earlier, beating Sterling City in a playoff game here Tuesday night, 45-42. Forsan trailed by five points at the end of the first period, 15-10, but began to pick up speed in the second period and finally went ahead for good in the third, outscoring the Eagles in that round, 15-7.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Ahlerne's writing round-man, Fred Sanner, says Big Spring fielded probably the best "last-place" basketball team in the state this season and could be ready to wrestle with the giants next year.

Coach Delnor Poss of the Steers thinks the same thing. Seven of the nine Big Spring boys who saw action against San Angelo here the other night will be returning and there are two or three boys moving up from junior high who will probably get to play.

Ahlerne Cooper will probably be favored within the district next year but Big Spring and Odessa High could both emerge as contenders.

Cooper loses only one boy, Roy McCharen. The Cougars finished with a lackluster 4-10 conference record but defeated Big Spring on both occasions the two teams met (87-71 and 83-81).

Not to be overlooked in the race is Midland Lee, who will bring back height and experience.

Here's a list of the conference boys returning who registered a reasonable amount of playing time the past year:

Big Spring—Charley West, Ronnie Banks, DeRoy Gantman, Mike Peters, Richard Bethrick and Keith Briston.

COOPER—Don Hertenberger, Jack Stricklin, Lonnie Willis, Don Ray, Mike Goodwin and Leon Lucas.

ABILENE—Buzzy Myatt, Bill Marvin, Jimmy Hodgins, Doug Smith and Mac Wilburn.

SAN ANGELO—Ronnie Henson and A. K. Drones.

ODESSA—Terry Trippett (one of the best in the district until he became ineligible at mid-term) and Dennis Brewster.

LEE—Mike Frazzell and Bill Newton.

MIDLAND HIGH—Randy Kerth (6-foot-7). Kerth doesn't yet have that soft touch but he's a good rebounder.

Local Netters Shade Cooper In 2-4A Bout

ABILENE — Big Spring's girl volleyball team warmed up for their own invitational tournament, scheduled this weekend, by defeating Abilene Cooper, 59-5, in a District 2-AAAA game here Tuesday night.

Cooper could score only one point the first half and trailed at that point, 33-1.

Marie Neece led the Steerettes in scoring with 28 points.

In B team competition, Big Spring also won, 33-5. In that one, Linda Duncan punched in 11 points for Big Spring.

The Steerettes play their next conference game at home March 5 against San Angelo.

Both Big Spring teams will see action Thursday in the Big Spring Invitational tournament.

The A team tangles with Denver City at 3 p.m. while the B sextet opposes Monahans at 7 p.m.

In all, 16 teams are entered in the meet. Six games are scheduled Thursday while first round competition will be completed with two games Friday morning.

The tournament continues through Saturday night.

Sanford Hid News Of 1962 Miseries

By TED MEIER Associated Press Sports Writer

Burly Jack Sanford, 24-game winner for the National League champion San Francisco Giants, revealed today that he had pitched the final week of the 1962 baseball season with a 2-inch cut in his heel from an operation to remove an abscess.

"Few people know this," said Sanford from his Duxbury, Mass., home, "but just before I beat St.

Louis 4-2 in the final week I had an operation on my heel to remove an abscess. A 2-inch long cut. It hurt. Toward the end I also worked with a cold that drained me. Then I worked something like three games in six days."

The fastidious right-hander, who won 16 consecutive games at one stretch as the Giants made their run at the front-running Los Angeles Dodgers, then fired a verbal broadside.

"Chub (Giants Vice President Chub Feeney) mentioned I didn't complete many games last year. Thirteen. But that was the ordered pattern. Pitch as hard as I can as long as I can and then let the bullpen clean up."

Sanford's asking price for the 1963 campaign is believed to be in the neighborhood of $35,000, a boost of about $10,000. Sanford says he and the Giants are "far apart," which is taken to mean about $5,000.

"I want to sign," said Sanford. "I had a good year and they just haven't offered me what I think I deserve. I worked hard and I want to work hard again. I think I deserve a better shake than I'm getting."

While Sanford was jolting the Giants, the Cincinnati Reds, who finished third last year, received a shock from a different direction when they were notified that outfielder Vada Pinson had undergone an appendix operation and would miss the spring training period.

Several players, meanwhile, signed Tuesday. Catcher Elston Howard and pitcher Bill Stafford came to terms with the Yankees, pitcher Billy O'Dell with the Giants, and pitcher Lew Burdette with Milwaukee.

Howard, who also plays in the outfield and at first base as needed, reportedly signed for $45,000 and Stafford for an estimated $22,000. No figure was given for O'Dell, but the 36-year-old Burdette, who slumped to a 10-9 mark with the Braves last year, agreed to terms reportedly calling for $40,000.

Other signings included: Baltimore, pitcher Steve Barber; Detroit, pitcher Bob Dostal; Yankees, infielder Phil Linz; Mets, outfielder Gene Woodling; St. Louis, pitchers Ray Sadecki and Alan Brice and catcher Tim Lincecum; and Giants, utility outfielder Carl Boles.

Notre Dame Named To NCAA Field

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame with a 15-6 record, became the ninth team named to an at-large berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship today.

The NCAA Service Bureau said the Irish would play their first round game against the still to be determined Mid-American Conference champion in the opener of a Midwest regional doubleheader at Evanston, Ill., on March 11.

Pairings for each of the regionals were announced as well, including the designation of three-ranked Chicago Loyola to play the Ohio Valley Conference champion in the nightcap of the Evanston doubleheader.

Monday, the NCAA had named Chicago Loyola, New York University, Texas Western, Colorado State U., Oklahoma City U., Utah State, Seattle and Oregon State to at-large berths.

With nine at-large berths filled, the NCAA needs two more teams to complete its 25-team championship field. One of the at-large berths will go to the Ivy League champion. The other reportedly is reserved for the winner of the Pitt-Penn State game Saturday.

The 14 other spots in the NCAA field go automatically to the champions of the major conferences across the country.

Rotarians Elect Officers Tuesday

E. P. Driver, Big Spring insurance executive, was elected Tuesday to head the Rotary Club for the new year beginning July 1. He will succeed Ben F. Johnson Jr., dean and counselor of Howard County Junior College.

E. P. DRIVER

The incoming vice president will be Jerry Worthy, Big Spring construction contractor; secretary, Douglas E. Clemens, vice president and general manager of Big Spring Printing Co.; treasurer, Ira Driver; and sergeants-at-arms, James E. Cape, manager of Southwestern Investment Co.

New directors will be the Rev. Don Hungerford, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Church; J. B. Apple, Retail Merchants Association, and R. J. (Dick) Ream, vice president First National Bank.

Johnson reminded Rotarians that there would be no noon meeting next Tuesday, but that the annual Ladies' Night program would be held at 7 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club. Preston Harrison, introduced V. J. Belda, manager of the Big Spring VA Hospital, who presented Ray H. Boren, contact representative of the Veterans Administration, stationed at the VA Hospital.

Boren, who has been contact representative in the Lubbock district since 1945, gave a brief history of the care for war veterans and dependents since the Plymouth Colony made provisions for those injured in fighting Indians.

More than 31 million men have served this country in wars since its beginning," he said, "and about one million of those have lost their lives. There are now approximately 22 million left." Provisions for carrying for veterans have been under the supervision of many agencies, he said. In 1819 Congress placed the supervision under the Secretary of War, and later provided care for merchant seamen, came along and then the Department of the Interior established the Bureau of Vocational Rehabilitation, and finally all veterans provisions were consolidated under the Veterans Administration.

Some $5.2 billion dollars have been spent for services for Veterans in the United States, including 159 hospitals with 125,000 beds, but the cost is declining with each year, as the number of veterans decreases.

Kissometer Rings Bells

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A trio of Miami students have devised a machine that measures the smooching power generated by two people kissing. It's called the kissometer.

Its creators, including a bouncy 18-year-old brunette, are having a lot of fun with trial runs.

"It all depends on the sparkle inside you," said Tatiana Priluchki, the only female in her electrical engineering class. "If you feel all tingling inside, your kiss will show it."

John Woods, 21, Chillicothe, Ohio, takes a more pedestrian view. "The kissometer is purely dependent on the resistance of the kiss. If it is high, the kiss is good. If it is low, the kiss is bad."

Resistance, as used by Woods, is purely a technical term in describing the number of electrons that get through.

The kissometer is rigged with flashing lights and ringing bells. The lowest quality kiss flashes a sign that says "Dead fish." A Casanova embrace will register "Wowee." The hottest smooching registers a "Wowee" and clangs a bell.

"The machine works on scientific principles," said Tatiana, of North Miami Beach. "The couple inside the booth hold an electrically charged probe in their hands. It sends a minute amount of electrical current through their bodies. When their lips meet, the circuit is completed."

The rest is up to the couple. An ohmmeter reaction depends on the length and intensity of the kiss. At each level of intensity the circuit is switched to one of the lights or bells.

Don Barachak, 21, from Islip, N.Y., and Tatiana have given the kissometer a few dry runs—when they can get the rest of the students away from it. They report it's a success.

"It was built for an exposition as part of National Engineering Week," Woods explained.

Both Deprived And Talented Need Help, Educators Told

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The child with talent and the child deprived by society must be equally the concern of public schools Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina claims.

All human resources must be tapped in meeting the challenges of the space age, he said at the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators.

Sanford said North Carolina is just beginning to seek out the gifted child. Special classes last year had over 2,000 students, he said.

"This year we have more than 5,000, and the trend should be to double each year until we include all who have unusual ability," the governor asserted.

He cited special needs of children from rural or slum areas which have not kept pace with the rest of society.

"The schools in which such children find themselves must be adaptable to the children's needs," Sanford said.

"Too long we have put most of our best teachers in the classrooms of the privileged children; more of them should go in the classrooms of these disadvantaged children."

He suggested more pay for teachers in such schools, missionary zeal in teacher colleges, improved testing and guidance programs, and more attention to vocational training in schools serving disadvantaged areas.

"Maybe the school in the disadvantaged area must become the center and focal point and position of leadership for all of the forces of the community capable of contributing to the solutions of ignorance, delinquency, crime, poverty, and wasted lives," Sanford said.

Bernard Kelmer, principal of Furness Junior High School in Philadelphia, said in a speech prepared for the convention that the plight of America's slum children is a national emergency that may become a national calamity.

He said "most of the current attempts to meet the needs of the culturally deprived pupil represent little more than a mopping of the floor without bothering to turn off the faucet."

What is needed, he said, is "a shaking to the very roots of our present methods of conducting schools."

"We delude ourselves into believing we are providing equal opportunity while we spend twice as many educational dollars on the suburban child as the slum child," Kilmer said.

"It is not a question of the talented versus the stupid," he said. "The discoverer of the cure for cancer may now reside in a tenement."

Spanish Exile President Visits

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Adolfo Lopez Mateos received the president of the Spanish republic in exile, Luis Jimenez de Asua, Monday night.

No announcement of what they discussed was made.

Present during the talk was Antonio Martinez Feduce, the exile government's ambassador to Mexico.

All Of Texas Clear And Dry

By The Associated Press
All of Texas had clear and dry weather Wednesday except for rather general early morning fog in eastern areas of the state.

Temperatures remained comparatively mild for February. Forecasts called for cooler air to push into the Texas Panhandle during the night and spread into North Central and Northeast Texas by Thursday.

Aside from somewhat lower temperatures in the northern sector, little change was in prospect. Much of the state still needed rain but long range forecasts issued Wednesday promised no moisture through the weekend.

The mercury climbed to 84 degrees Tuesday afternoon at Corpus Christi. Lufkin was the coolest spot with a high of 47.

Readings early Wednesday ranged from 29 at Amarillo up to 51 at Brownsville.

Mexican Army Loyalty Praised

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico owes its internal stability to the loyalty of its army, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos said Tuesday.

In a message published on Army Day, the president declared:

"In the civic process in Mexico, the army is one of the fundamental elements... Its unbreakable loyalty to our democratic system has permitted Mexico to advance firmly and without agitation..."

"To its exemplary civic-mindedness Mexico owes its internal peace and its guarantee that its people may develop its creative capacity in an atmosphere of tranquility and order."

U. S. Cotton Gets Curiouser And Curiouser

WASHINGTON (AP)—The situation in the American cotton industry today is as curious as anything Alice encountered in Wonderland.

For instance: American cotton farmers once were concentrated in the South. Many were small operators and their farms were inefficient. To give them a living wage, the government began supporting the price of cotton back in the 1920s.

Today, the farmer is guaranteed a price of 32 1/2 cents a pound. But that price is his cotton right out of the world market, which is at 24 cents a pound, 8 1/2 cents cheaper.

So the government solved that problem this way: To encourage the sale of American cotton abroad, it pays an 8 1/2 cent a pound direct subsidy to cotton exporters, so they can meet the world price and move the cotton.

But American textile manufacturers are required to buy American cotton at the higher price. Foreign mills at the same time can buy the same product 8 1/2 cents cheaper. Even adding on the cost of transportation overseas, these foreign mills with their cheap labor can produce cloth cheaper than American mills.

Some of it is even shipped back to the United States for sale here at prices lower than the American mills can set.

So the American mills are in trouble. On top of that, the government's price support for cotton has produced a big surplus stockpile, which may hit 10 million bales by August.

The government wants to get rid of this surplus cotton, but American mills say they can't afford to buy at 32 1/2 cents, and therefore are turning more and more to synthetic fibers like rayon. That would cause an even larger surplus.

Quite a dilemma. So how does the government propose to solve it? Cut down the farm price support until cotton reaches the world market level, thus saving the taxpayers the subsidy for exporters? Not on your life. That would squeeze too many cotton farmers in the southeast right out of business. And those farmers are powerfully represented in Congress.

Instead, the government proposes to solve it by paying the textile manufacturers a subsidy, so they can compete with the foreign mills.

Of course this would be another big bill for the taxpayer. An 8 1/2 cent subsidy to the domestic mills would cost an estimated $382.5 million a year.

President Kennedy's budget people decided that was too much, so a subsidy of only 5 to 6 cents a pound was proposed.

One member of the House Cotton subcommittee complained that a subsidy that low wouldn't do the job: "that's like giving Lindbergh a half a tank of gas and telling him to fly to Paris," he said.

So the administration bill got stuck in the subcommittee early in the Congress session, and is likely to see more trouble before it ever gets out. Informed insiders say some kind of cotton bill is not dead and something may well get through this year.

As if it weren't complicated enough, another factor adds to the industry's difficulties.

The government has cut down cotton acreage to the statutory minimum of 16 million acres this year in an effort to combat the cotton surplus.

But many large and highly mechanized cotton producers in Western states want acreage more than they want high support prices. They say they can compete at the world price of 24 cents a pound. But because of the generally small and inefficient producers back in the Southeast, they aren't allowed to try.

It is now too late for any change in the 1963 acreage controls. The cotton is already planted. But maybe next year...

Farmers are subsidized, so exporters must be subsidized in order to sell cotton abroad; but this hurts domestic manufacturers, so they too must be subsidized, the administration proposes, or else they will either go broke or stop using cotton altogether, which will increase the already mountainous surplus.

Formosan Court To Give Verdict In Texan's Death

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Taipei district court said today it will deliver a verdict Feb. 26 in the trial of four Formosans accused of murdering U. S. Army Lt. Col. Thomas E. Glover, 51, of Brownwood, Tex.

The court heard final arguments in the trial Tuesday. Glover was found dead last Oct. 3 in his Taipei home, which had been ravaged by fire. The four accused of his death are Pan Koa-Hsiung, 21; Chung Chao, 21; Hsueh Pao, 20, and Lo Wen-Chi, 19.

All pleaded innocent, claiming police extracted confessions from them by third degree methods.

District Savings Bond Meeting Here Tonight

Bankers, businessmen and others who help push the United States Savings Bond program will gather for a district meeting at 7 p.m. today in the Cosden Country Club.

Larson Lloyd, district chairman, will preside at the dinner given by Security State Bank. Leonard Cowden, Amarillo, area representative of the U.S. Treasury bond division, will be on hand. Eugene E. Horton, chief of community relations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will be the speaker.

Representatives are expected from Colorado City, Snyder, Andrews, Lamesa, Stanton, Coahoma and Big Spring, including those from Webb AFB, Cosden, VA Hospital, the carbon companies, the banks, utilities and other major employers.

Eugene Norton is no Johnny-come-lately to the space program. An Air Force pilot, he was graduated from the University of Florida journalism and communications school, and from the advent of the Space Task Group at Langley Field, Va. in 1958, he has been associated closely with the space program.

He has participated in more than two dozen unmanned and manned space missions. When the NASA manned spacecraft center was established at Houston, he was selected to be executive officer for the astronauts while continuing his duties in community relations.

The office which he directs is primarily responsible for maintaining effective communications between scientists, technicians and university committees as well as keeping the general public informed about the nation's progress in manned spaceflight. This is accomplished through production of documentary films, plus several million dollars worth of exhibit material and printed matter. Last year his office coordinated some 400 conferences and special events which touched over 5,000,000 Americans.

Luton Goes To Chair

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Calm and cheerful to the last, Leo Daniel Luton smiled and winked at a newsman seconds before he died in the electric chair early today.

Luton, 34, a former Dallas printer, was executed for the holdup slaying of a Dallas grocer's wife Sept. 9, 1960.

"I want to thank everybody for being so nice to me," he said as he directed the wink at editor Don Reid Jr. of the Huntsville Item, one of the official witnesses.

Then Luton closed his eyes and his lips moved in silent prayer as guards strapped him into the chair at the state prison. He received the first charge at 12:04 a. m. A doctor pronounced him dead at 12:07 a. m.

He died clutching a rosary tightly in his right hand. Luton drew the death penalty in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Mrs. Frances Bryant during a robbery at her husband's food store. His lawyers had won nine stays of execution and failed in a bid for another Tuesday before the State Board of Pardons and Paroles in Austin.

"Although I am not convinced that I shot the woman," Luton said in a death row interview, "I admit taking part in the hold-up. It may be that in all the shooting a bullet from my gun may have struck the woman, but I am not sure."

Describing himself as "right with the Man (God)," Luton said he did not want another stay.

Demos, GOP Want Total Withdrawal From Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leading congressional Democrats joined several Republicans today in calling for the withdrawal of all—and not just part—of the 17,000 Soviet troops in Cuba.

A written communication to President Kennedy that Soviet Premier Khrushchev plans to ship several thousand Russian soldiers home soon was hailed as a significant development.

But members of both parties said the Kennedy administration must continue to press with all of the force at its command for complete evacuation of Soviet military men from the island.

Some informants said the Soviet Union had given assurance that several thousand troops would be out of Cuba by March 15.

There was no official comment from the White House or the State Department.

John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, was reported to have told the House Foreign Affairs Committee Tuesday that several empty Soviet merchant ships were on their way to Cuba.

While urging the administration to press for the withdrawal of all Soviet forces from Cuba, no members of Congress came forward with any concrete proposals as to how this could be accomplished short of force—a policy Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said he is convinced the Democratic administration shares.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said that while the Soviet pledge to withdraw some troops is encouraging "we cannot be complacent about it until all the Russian troops and technicians manning any weapons are removed."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said the Soviet move was only a first step.

DEAR ABBY

Give Him The Reason

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been fighting about this ever since Christmas and I'd like it settled. The employees at his office exchanged names and each one put down what he (or she) wanted for Christmas. The girl whose name my husband drew put down she wanted a red silk slip! I told my husband that over my dead body he'd buy another woman a red silk slip. He said I was narrow-minded and a poor sport, but I held my ground and he finally bought her a nice bottle of cologne instead. He still throws it up to me that I was a poor sport. Is it proper for a man to buy intimate apparel for someone other than his wife, or WAS I a poor sport?

JEN: Tell your husband that you are frankly jealous and admit to being a poor sport when it comes to his buying lingerie for other women. He'll love you for it. And I'll bet he shuts up.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for telling that woman not to complain because her husband never said "I love you," that talk was cheap, and if he supported her and behaved himself, she should be satisfied. I left my husband some years ago because all he said was "I love you"—but before we had been married a year, he had broken every rule in the book. And while his "I love you's" were still ringing in my ears, he was bouncing me off every wall in the house.

SICK OF "I LOVE YOU"

DEAR ABBY: If you go to a prom with a very nice, but very shy, boy and at intermission he invites another couple to go for a ride with you, and the other couple is very mushy and they are sitting in the back seat necking like there is no tomorrow and the boy who is necking yells to your date that he had better hurry up and kiss you or he will show him how—what are you supposed to do? (That's not a very good sentence but that is what happened to me and it was very embarrassing.)

SOPHOMORE: You are supposed to pretend you are deaf. And if your date gets flustered, turn up the radio and drown out the cheering action.
