IN 10 YEARS SINCE DEATH OF STALIN

Great Changes Noted In Soviet Union

EDITOR'S NOTE — Ten years ago Pulitzer prize-winning AP correspondent Eddy Gilmore sat the death watch for Joseph Stalin. Now, a decade later, he has returned to the Soviet Union to observe what Stalin's death has brought to the U.S.S.R. And what changes have been made.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—Joseph Stalin died here 10 years ago today—an event that brought a revolution in the lives of 220 million people.

A decade after the demise of the old dictator, great changes have taken place in this vast land, covering one-sixth of the earth's surface.

First and foremost, the unspeakable sufferings of people in every section of Soviet life—at the hands of the dreaded secret police—have been relieved. Stalin's successors, more especially Premier Khrushchev, have choked off the near absolute power of the Red cops.

There has been a remarkable upswing in the standard of living. By Western standards, many things are extremely costly, but that is not the point.

The point is that 10 years ago they just couldn't be bought.

In the early days of the first Soviet Sputnik, an unusually naive Western diplomat said to a woman member of the ruling hierarchy: "Yes, you can make refrigerators or nylon panties."

The woman replied: "True, Mr. Ambassador, but I think it's going to be a lot easier to get from Sputniks to nylon panties than it will be to get from nylon panties to Sputniks."

Today in Moscow, you can buy all the frilly nylon panties you want at prices ranging from $2.75 to $16.50 for a super pair of panties and a matching slip.

As for refrigerators, ten years ago they were almost as rare as Kentucky bourbon in the Kremlin and those that existed refused to work in hot weather. Still not easy to get, there are, nevertheless, plenty of them in Soviet apartments.

Returning here for the first time in 10 years, my wife and I went to an apartment we knew very well. It was a two-room flat with a communal kitchen and bathroom. A decade ago it was occupied by four adults.

Today one person occupies the apartment and as she went about preparing our dinner she said to my wife: "Will you please go in the kitchen, look in the refrigerator and get out the caviar?"

Ten years ago these things would have existed only in this woman's wildest dreams.

Housing still is desperately short of the clamoring demand. The government admits it. House-building is going forward at a great pace. It began on a big scale in 1956. What seems to be an overly ambitious goal is that everyone shall have a private room or apartment by 1965.

Ten years ago I'd seen toilet tissue in the Kremlin—but nowhere else. Today it's on sale from Leningrad to Rostov-on-Don at the equivalent of 25 cents a roll.

Here are some current Moscow prices: One lemon — (best grade) 35 cents, (second grade) 28 cents.

Man's shirt—$6.75 to $12.

Man's suit—$77 to $141. A Communist party official proudly said his cost the equivalent of $44. But a long search of Moscow stores failed to reveal any at that price.

Good grade overcoat—$265.

Socks—$2.75.

Toothpaste—33 cents for a small tube.

Toothbrush (small)—11 cents.

Mens shoes—from $28 to $46.

The water on my hotel floor disappeared for two hours one morning. I asked him where he had been.

"I heard some new shoes, made in Czechoslovakia, were on sale at a store not far from here. I went and got in line."

"Did you get a pair?"

"No," he said, "my basic salary is 48 rubles (about $53) a month. The shoes cost 46 rubles. But that wasn't the point. By the time I got to the counter only big sizes were left."

I asked him how he could afford shoes on his salary.

"I get good tips. My wife works and I don't pay much rent."

This is one of the secrets behind Soviet family budgets.

With 99 per cent of the apartments nationalized, a two-room apartment often rents for as little as $7 a month.

Food prices are high, too.

Butter—$1.80 a pound.

Steak with bone included—$2.20 a pound.

Ham—$1.87 a pound.

Cheese—$1.55 a pound.

Eggs—not always easy to get—$1.71 a dozen for the best quality.

Bread—15 cents for a good-sized tasty loaf.

Potatoes—19 cents a pound.

Yet I saw long lines of buyers and I watched one man buy 30 lemons at the equivalent of 35 cents each.

Most of these items are high by Western standards, but the point is that 10 years ago they were as much as 5 to 10 times as high—when they were available at all.

This does not mean that were Stalin alive today, these items at the current prices would not be available. They probably would be available. But millions of people now buying them wouldn't be consumers. They'd be inmates of prison camps.

In October 1961, the 22nd congress of the Communist party banished Stalin's body from his resting place beside Lenin in the big red marbled tomb in old Red Square.

Today, Stalin's body lies behind Lenin's tomb, near the Kremlin wall, beneath a plain stone slab that says: "J. Stalin 1879-1953."

The fact that the body hasn't been banished completely, or his corpse burned and the ashes scattered across some frigid lonely steppe, result from recent Soviet reasoning that in his early days—before he became a suspicious megalomaniac—he did service to the party and country.

Khrushchev has said: "Stalin, of course, must be credited with great services to the party and the Communist movement, and we must give him his due."

Serve Yourself Store In Moscow

A Russian girl poses as she takes a bottle from a vending machine in a new store in Moscow. The store, complete with money changers, was opened late last year. Dairy products are sold there and the prices, like those in ordinary Soviet stores, are high.

Missionary Is Executed By Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"It took about 15 minutes and then it was all over."

Pale, but dry eyed, Vurnell Jacobsen told of watching Communist guerrillas shoot her husband, another missionary, and his 4-month-old baby girl at a roadblock Monday.

"They stopped our land rover about 66 miles northeast of Saigon," she related.

"They looked like any other peasants along the road in black trousers you know, like they all wear. But of course, we knew they were Communists."

"There are always roadblocks by the Viet Cong. But they just asked for our identity papers."

"We didn't think they were going to harm us."

"We all got out of the land rover. Then my husband and I started to walk back to it when the Viet Cong began to look it over. Suddenly they fired. There was no reason. They killed a Vietnamese, too."

"Then they slipped back into the jungle."

Mrs. Jacobsen's husband, Elwood, 35, of Foreston, Minn., was killed. Bullets also ripped through Filipino missionary Gaspar Alfonso Makil, 35, and his twin daughter Janie, 4 months old, clapped in his arms. Makil died on the spot. The baby died in a Saigon hospital.

Makil's wife, Josephine, 30, holding the other twin, Jessie, saw her husband die. She and the child were not hurt, but a bullet shattered the leg of their 3-year-old son, Thomas. Also unborn were the Makil's older daughter, Carol, 2, and the Jacobsens' 7-month-old daughter, Karl, born a month before their arrival in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Makil, the former Josephine Johnson of La Junta, Colo., is an American citizen. So are her children.

"It was all over so quickly," said Mrs. Jacobsen. "I don't know why they fired."

The missionary families were traveling in a 30-car convoy to the Makil's home near Dalat, in the highlands northeast of Saigon.

Mrs. Makil and her husband had been here a year.

The Jacobsens were on their first overseas tour.

Both missionaries were attached to the Summer Institute of Linguistics of Santa Ana, Calif., which maintains a mission in South Viet Nam to transcribe the primitive dialects of the mountain people into written languages.

Floods Force Hundreds Out Of Their Homes

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of persons from four states—Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvania—have been forced from their homes by floodwaters after drenching rains and melting snows.

More rain splashed across wide areas in the flood-stricken areas. Rain also continued in many other parts of the eastern half of the nation, with more snow in Northern and Western sections.

Ohio reported the state's worst flood conditions in four years. Hundreds of persons were evacuated from their homes, and scores of families were marooned. With more rain predicted, the Weather Bureau in Cincinnati said the Ohio River appeared likely to be bank-full along its 981-mile route.

More than 100 families in residential sections of Wheeling, W.Va., a city of about 37,000, were evacuated and 500 persons were reported forced to leave their homes from Vienna, south of Wheeling. Flooding also was reported in Wellsburg, McKinneyville and Moundsville while the small town of Louise was reported isolated by the floodwaters.

High water forced the closing of a Wheeling machine products plant employing about 600 men. Streams in many other areas in West Virginia were overflowing.

HOUSTON (AP)—Charges by a state legislator that a ballot being circulated among parent-teacher groups is "secret" and slanted toward favoring federal aid to education were called false today by Mrs. J. L. Pearce, president of the Houston Council of P.T.A.

"There is nothing secret about it and how an individual school unit feels about legislation sponsored by the national P.T.A. depends on how each question is answered," Mrs. Pearce asserted.

Rep. John Allen of Longview has asked the House for permission to make a special speech against the ballot being circulated in Texas school districts.

Mrs. Pearce asserted that "Allen doesn't know the facts" and that "the national headquarters gave no orders to conduct the balloting secretly."

"Actually, each unit doesn't even have to fill it out," Mrs. Pearce said. "The ballot was sent to each unit for consideration. If they don't want to vote, they certainly don't have to do so. It was felt by national headquarters that each unit might want to make an expression on its recommendations."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Southern Pacific clerks and the company reached "a broad area of agreement" Monday, heading off the threat of a railroad strike, federal Mediator Frank O'Neill says.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market clung to a very thin gain in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 254.3 with industrials up .3, rails up .4, and utilities off .2.

Wall Streeters saw little conviction in Monday's rally which, while big on average, was carried through on very little volume.

Rails backed away from small early gains and looked mixed. Motors remained barred ahead.

Cape, Gomez Enter School Board Race

Two more candidates have entered the race for seats on the Howard County School Board.

James E. Cape, manager of a Big Spring investment office, and David Gomez, restaurant operator, filed their names with County Judge Lee Porter this morning.

Previously, J. D. Gilmore, chairman of the board from Commissioner's Precinct 2, had filed for re-election. Cape will be his opponent. Gomez will be opposing Fred Roman, member from Commissioner's Precinct 1, who has also filed for re-election.

Deadline for filing for a place on the ballot in the county election, as well as the various school district elections, is Wednesday. The elections will be held April 6.

Holder members of the County Board include Jim Lewis, Commissioner's Precinct 3, and Chub Jones, member at large. Paul Bishop, Commissioner's Precinct 4, has resigned and that post is currently open.

Other candidates who have filed with Porter include: Gay Hill—L. C. Underwood, Jr., Jimmy Felts and Aubrey Langford. The latter two are presently on the board.

Forsan Independent District—Bobby S. Wash, C. R. Walraven, Frank Phillely, Jack F. Ellis Jr., Elmer G. Patton Jr.

One member is to be named at Center Point school. The term of John H. Lloyd is expiring but he has not announced if he will seek re-election.

In the Vealmoor district, the term of Dwan Williams is expiring. He has not yet filed for re-election.

Walker Bailey, county superintendent, said that it is not uncommon for trustees in the common school districts to be determined by write-in votes.

Murder Trial Chances Dim

FORT STOCKTON, Tex. (AP)—Chances for a trial here of Bill McKnight on charges that he killed his rival for a girl's hand dimmed today with lawyers eliminating 29 prospective jurors without seating any by noon.

McKnight, 21, is charged with slaying Kelly Parker, 21, of Harper, Tex., at Bander.

Bizarre 'Game' Ends With Child Pulling Trigger

BEAUMONT (AP)—A woman was killed early today in a bizarre tragedy in which her son, 3, pulled the trigger of a gun placed in his mother's mouth.

His mother offered him $1 to do it, he told his grandmother, Mrs. Donna Neal Meadows, 22, was killed.

The son, Ricky Meadows, will be four in May.

Officers said the boy told this story.

Mrs. Meadows and her son were playing in bed with a 12 gauge shotgun. The woman kept putting in and taking out a shell.

Officers said the woman offered the boy $1 if he would pull the trigger after she placed the gun in her mouth.

Officers said Mrs. Meadows then sat up in the bed and placed the gun in her mouth. The child, believing it was a game playfully pulled the trigger of the shotgun, officers said.

Mrs. Meadows and her husband were divorced when the baby was three months old, officers said.

Cuban Aftermath Brings Suggestion For Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican senators have suggested a Senate probe of the payments which four American women have been receiving since their husbands apparently lost their lives on a flying mission during the Cuban Bay of Pigs invasion attempt.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Monday he expects the Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee, which now is delving into the Soviet military buildup in Cuba, will call witnesses to explain more about the payments.

He said he has no proof, but believes the $225 checks sent to

Nuclear War Spectre Raised

HAVANA (AP)—Foreign Minister Raul Roa complained to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant today that the United States is preparing aggression against Cuba and that it could lead the world into nuclear war.

A 4,000-word letter to Thant listed what Roa called provocative acts and statements from the U.S. government, congressmen and Cuban exiles against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Simultaneously, the Cuban armed forces ministry charged that the United States recently provoked six incidents on land and sea.

Roa told Thant that since last fall's Cuban crisis "humanity sees itself enveloped again in an atmosphere of threats and tensions that could lead to a thermonuclear conflict."

Roa charged that "steps are being taken presently by the United States to prepare aggression against Cuba." He said the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay is "a den of spies, saboteurs and counterrevolutionaries."

Roa said that nine American skin divers arrested Feb. 11 off the coast of northern Camaguey Province are suspected "of being in espionage activities for the Central Intelligence Agency."

The Armed Forces Ministry charged that a U.S. Navy destroyer "had the insolence of advancing to meet a Soviet merchant vessel" as she prepared to take a pilot aboard to enter Havana harbor.

Other charges included what the ministry said were the molesting and impairing of work of two fishing boats and the stoning of Cuban guards outside the Guantanamo base. The government charged Monday that U.S. servicemen opened fire on Cuban territory.

A Cuban broadcast heard in Key West, Fla., said a Soviet merchant vessel prevented two U.S. destroyers from capturing a pair of Cuban fishing boats.

The broadcast said the fishing vessels operating off the northern coast of Oriente Province, had to flee to port Monday because of harassment by the destroyers which were threatening to capture them.

The radio also said that three U.S. destroyers harassed another fishing boat on Sunday.

The Cuban government complained for the second time this week of alleged provocations by U.S. forces at the Guantanamo naval base.

The radio said American troops addressed obscene remarks to Cuban border guards on Sunday "and only the discipline of our soldiers averted an incident which it appeared imperialism was seeking to justify an aggression against us."

Earlier, Cuba alleged that snos were fired into its territory from Guantanamo and one of them killed a cow.

Economy Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon announced today a reorganization of the Internal Revenue Service aimed at saving about $5 million a year in overhead and administrative costs.

The reorganization would merge the Internal Revenue Service with the Internal Revenue Administration, which handles tax collection.

The move would save $5 million a year in overhead and administrative costs.

TV Stint Of DeGaulle Foe Threatens A New Rift

LONDON (AP)—A cloak-and-dagger television appearance here by hunted French underground chief Georges Bidault threatened today to widen the rift in the uneasy relations between Britain and France.

French officials expressed hurt surprise that the government-financed British Broadcasting Corp. gave a public forum to a man whose only purpose, they said, is the assassination of President Charles de Gaulle.

Opposition leaders in Parliament demanded a government explanation of how Bidault slipped into Britain through the security net.

The liberal newspaper the Guardian said it understood the government had agreed previously to a French request not to grant refuge to Bidault and a number of other persons accused of activities against the French state.

Bidault, a former French premier who heads the outlawed National Council of the Resistance (CNR), said in a taped television interview broadcast Monday night that his organization will topple De Gaulle from power.

"I think our chance is better than Churchill's against the Nazis, in 1940," he declared.

The CNR is the political arm of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, but Bidault ducked when asked if he endorsed terrorist methods.

"It is impossible to give an answer as to what desperate men may do," he said. "The declaration of human rights states that in case of tyranny the final resort is the duty to revolt."

He denied, however, that the CNR had passed the death sentence on De Gaulle.

"That is what the French government is saying," he said. "It is just one more lie."

Bidault, 62, was a wartime leader of the anti-Nazi underground in France and was one of De Gaulle's closest associates until they broke over Algerian independence.

Bidault is wanted in France on treason charges. Since he fled from there early in 1962 he has turned up in various European capitals and has been interviewed at undisclosed European locations.

The BBC said it contacted Bidault through an unnamed intermediary and arranged a meeting somewhere in West London.

Bidault was taken to a studio for the interview. After it was over, he was dropped off in a London street and disappeared.

Vacant Seat Creates Crisis For School Board

The highly controversial Gay Hill-Center Point school annexation issue of 1960 created a new crisis Monday afternoon for the Howard County School Board.

The newest situation arose when the board was faced with naming a successor to Paul Bishop, a member on the board from Commissioner's Precinct No. 4. Bishop has resigned and the law provides that such vacancies shall be filled by the board.

Two candidates were proposed, each named in petitions. It was evident the signers of the petitions were persons keenly interested in the, as yet unsettled proposal to annex the two common schools to the Big Spring Independent School District.

When the question came to a vote, each of the two candidates received two votes. The stalemate held unbroken until the board adjourned. The division was clearly on the question of favoring or opposing the annexation.

The two candidates were Jack Buchanan, rancher, who lives in the heart of the embattled school districts, and Harvey Adams, stock farmer, 1709 Harvard. Buchanan was supported by a petition signed by 169 voters and residents of the district. These were taken to be opponents of the proposed annexation. A petition signed by 63 voters, supported the nomination of Adams.

J. D. Gilmore, chairman of the board, and Fred Roman, member from Commissioner's Precinct

1, have opposed the annexation proposal since its first appearance and they were staunch supporters of Buchanan. They voted for him when a test vote was taken.

Chub Jones, county board member at large, proposed the selection of Adams—a proposal seconded by Jim Lewis, member from Commissioner's Precinct 3. The result was a 2-2 vote.

Lewis is the only member on the board who actually voted for the motion which annexed the two common schools to Big Spring. Roman and Gilmore, who were also on the board at that time, voted against annexation but it carried by a 3-2 margin. The issue of whether the annexation order was a valid procedure, is now pending before the Civil Court of Appeals.

Jones insisted that Adams is neither for nor against the annexation. "He is entirely neutral on the question," he said. It was assumed that Buchanan is aligned in the ranks of the Gay Hill-Center Point school patrons, fighting the annexation.

The story of the annexation session was rehearsed in discussion but there was no shift in the positions taken by the four board members.

Gilmore and Roman argued that Buchanan's petition with 169 signatures, entitled him to favorable attention—"He has the most voters for him," they said.

Jones and Lewis countered with the argument that Adams supporters did not know about the Bishop resignation as early as did the Buchanan group.

"We could have got a thousand signers," said the pro-Adams men, "if we had thought that the number of signers would be a determining factor in who is chosen."

Gilmore argued that Adams had been a candidate against Bishop in the election at which the latter was elected and had already been "turned down by the voters."

Jones countered with the statement that in the same election at which he and Bishop were elected, Buchanan was one of his opponents. "The voters turned him down, too," he said.

There was some talk that the only solution in sight seemed to be for a third group to submit a candidate who would be acceptable to both the pro-annexation and the anti-annexation factions. No one was suggested for this post. The meeting adjourned with no decision reached.

On April 6, the voters will vote on county board members from Commissioner's Precincts 1 and 2, Gilmore, Precinct 2, and Roman, Precinct 1, have both filed for reelection.

Bishop, regarded as being of the sentiment of Gilmore and Roman on the annexation issue, has resigned because he is moving his residence from Big Spring to Hamlin. He was elected at the last election.

House Passes Bill To Hike Auto Liability

AUSTIN (AP) — The House passed 101-47 today a bill that some legislators said would increase auto liability insurance by 25 per cent.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

The House debated the measure for nearly one hour.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford told the House that passage of the bill will lead to auto insurance rates increasing by about 25 per cent.

"There would be an estimated $14 million increase to taxpayers in insurance premiums," Cotten said. "This is a special interest bill for the insurance companies."

"This is not a special interest bill," said Rep. Bob Fairchild of Center. "I can go back home and tell my people that I voted to stiffen the motor vehicle safety responsibility act."

The proposal would raise the present requirement for liability insurance to $10,000 for death or injury to one person, $20,000 for two persons and $5,000 for destruction of property. Current law sets the figures at $5,000, $10,000 and $5,000 respectively.

Backers said the increase in rates will also increase the coverage.

Estimates are that 65 per cent of Texas drivers now carry such insurance. Cotten said that raising the rates will tend to keep more people from buying insurance.

Detector Used In Avalanche Search

As other rescue workers watch, a sheriff's officer carries an electronic metal detector close to the surface of packed snow at the scene of an avalanche at Ouray, Colo. Two girls and their father, a minister, are believed buried in their car under tons of snow which slid down the mountainside. The detector was pressed into service in an effort to locate the car. The threat of more avalanches slowed the search today.

Scout Leader Training Set

Girl Scout leaders are going back to school today in the largest training effort ever undertaken by the organization.

About 70 are leaders and their assistants are expected to attend the training sessions today through Thursday at the First Methodist Church. They will be from Big Spring, Stanton, Lamesa, Snyder and Colorado City.

Beginning in September, there will be a basic change in the Girl Scout program. At that time four age levels will be instituted. They are: Brownie, for girls in second and third grade; Junior, grades 4-6; Cadette, grades 7-9; and Senior, grades 10-12. Until then the present Brownie, Intermediate and Senior structure will remain in effect.

Trainers for the three-day session will be Mrs. D. M. Costlow, Stanton, Harriet Redwine and Fane Downs, both of Abilene. They are the West Texas Girl Scout Council's district advisers.

A free nursery will be conducted at the church for the convenience of mothers who might be unable to attend without the service.

Real Estate Board Discusses Bill

Members of the Big Spring chapter of the Texas Real Estate Board Monday discussed HB 99, a new licensing law proposal, now pending in the state legislature.

The board met at the Wagon Wheel with George Elliott, president, in charge of the meeting. There also was an exchange of property listings between brokers. A guest at the meeting was Emma Slaughter. The next meeting has been scheduled for March 18.

A Devotional For The Day

Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven. (Matthew 5:20. ASV.)

PRAYER: Our Father, our hearts leap to the high challenge of Jesus' teachings. Grant that we may remain true to them and to Thee when we find ourselves confronted with other standards. Strengthen us to hold steadfastly to Jesus' high ideals in the faith that in Thy strength all things are possible. We ask this in His name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Down To Serious Negotiation

While the decision of the Supreme Court in unanimously upholding a circuit court decision supporting the right of railroad management to change work rule changes may precipitate a threat of strike, it could in the long run help clear the air.

Management and labor could not get down to serious bargaining until the issue was settled on whether or not the carrier could call the shots on what jobs were needed. At stake may be several thousand jobs, including those of some diesel locomotive firemen, which management says are not now needed. The unions contend that safety of the public and of workers support the need for these positions.

Now, however, it remains for the carriers and the workers to resolve the problem without the possibility that the government would tell the carriers what they could do.

The decision is consonant with the principle of freedom to manage one's own affairs. It does not, however, answer the attendant problem of what to do about displaced workers. Here, then, is an area in which management and labor can sit down and take a sober look at all the angles with the view of protecting management's right to manage, and yet observing humanitarian procedures which will contribute to an orderly transition or adjustment. This is a critical test in an age of changing technology, but it can be done.

Texas Public School Week

During this Texas Public School Week you are urged to visit classrooms, particularly those of your youngsters, if you are fortunate to have children in school. It's a good idea.

We do not believe that the experience of a few minutes in a classroom, or even of a few days of visitation, if that were possible or practical, will furnish the basis for an expert appraisal of the schools. Neither do we believe that the classroom situation will be entirely normal with you there, but it will convey to the teacher and the pupils a sense of interest and concern. It should convey to you an appreciation of the role of teachers and of schools.

Spending a little time with a teacher and 20 to 30 youngsters who are being exposed to the adventure of learning should convince most people that it is far easier to be expert in an armchair than it is behind the teacher's desk.

What most of us can gain from this experience is an appreciation of the immensity of the job to be done. Some few teachers may be incompetent and disinterested, but most of them feel a sense of calling. They have a genuine interest not alone in imparting knowledge but in the potential wrapped up in young lives.

Public education, like everything else, probably can be better. Your interest in it and your encouragement to educators will help hasten the process.

Marquis Childs Our Intelligence On Cuba

WASHINGTON — With Cuba more and more deeply embedded in politics the game in Washington is to look back to see who was right—and right first—and to look ahead to try to judge the political impact of the rightness and wrongness as it may be disclosed in the months ahead.

THE DETAILS of how the confrontation of last October came about have been threshed over in the public prints several times, with two current instances told from a more or less partisan view of who was wrong and who was right. But thus far there has been no serious objective effort to appraise this nation's understanding—and lack of understanding—of the Cuban tragedy and how it came about.

Involved here is the extraordinary intelligence apparatus of the government. Screened by secrecy, it must emit directly at least 20,000 individuals. Sitting on the United States Intelligence Board are 10 representatives of separate agencies with a stake in the operation, headed by the Central Intelligence Agency.

ASSUMING THAT with the remarkable techniques available this intelligence agency can count every missile every gun barrel, every soldier in the Communist ranks, nevertheless, a big blank spot in the picture. It contributed to the Bay of Pigs blunder in 1961 and it may have added to the peril of the October confrontation. And, what is far more important, this persistent blank may be an element in a new and equally dangerous encounter over Cuba.

PRIOR TO the October crisis the division in the government was between the Kremlin specialists and the hard-line intelligence chiefs. The specialists were saying that Premier Khrushchev would be most unlikely to commit the folly of installing offensive missiles in Cuba. This was their estimate based on long knowledge.

John McCone, director of the CIA, began saying to top people in government as early as last August before Senator Kenneth Keating's public missile statements, that he believed the Soviets were about to install offensive capability. This was his strong conviction based on reports out of Cuba and the results of the two-month U-2 flights over the island then being flown.

McCONE on August 24 left for Europe on his honeymoon. At Cap Ferat on the French Riviera he continued to brood over Cuba. From this brooding came what are now known as the honeymoon telegrams which, if they are ever released, would seem to establish McCone as having been first to be right.

On September 7, 10, 13 and 20 McCone sent telegrams to his agency expressing in ever stronger terms his conviction U-2 photos of the western end of the island had shown construction of ground-to-air anti-aircraft missile sites. The question was: Why should these go forward with accompanying radar installations, unless the Soviets wanted to prevent further aerial surveillance and conceal important upcoming installations?

WHEN McCONE returned on September 24 he urged additional U-2 flights, which were ordered. These had previously been flown by civilians paid by the CIA. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara recommended they be flown by the Air Force because of the hazards, and McCone agreed. While three days of delay were entailed in the change-over, McCone and McNamara were never at odds on this question.

THEIR ALLEGED disagreement has been blamed for the seven to 10 days prior to October 14 when no U-2s were flown. But McCone has left no doubt in his testimony that the reason, as widely reported, was bad weather. With more than 25 per cent overcast the U-2 is of little use. Beginning on October 14 the series of photos were taken that showed beyond any doubt the preparation for emplacement of missiles with a range covering most American cities and a large share of the retaliatory striking force.

THE UNANSWERED question, as McCone has testified to before several committees, is why the Kremlin, knowing that high-level aerial reconnaissance was bound to pick up the missile sites, should have gone ahead. Was it because Khrushchev believed the United States would not respond or not respond in time?

Top intelligence officials say the Soviet intelligence apparatus in this country is large and pervasive. Nevertheless, the Kremlin seems to have no understanding of American attitudes—of how inflammatory it is, for example, to continue to keep 17,000 troops in Cuba with the likelihood that this will bring another nuclear confrontation. Is this the real intelligence gap? And does it exist on both sides of the curtain?

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Former President Eisenhower said at a dinner in Gettysburg recently that newspapers should write more editorials. The stipulate should write more editorials. He then promptly furnished meat for one.

About this tax cut business, he has some ideas. He expressed them in an interview. He thinks it would be a very wise thing if only one-half the money needed to cover one's income tax would be withheld from one's pay check.

The former president sees a half-deficit plan as one that is needed "to counter the biggest single threat to our democratic way of life today." This threat he defines as the trend of mounting deficit spending by the federal government and an apparent acceptance of that condition as normal and healthy fiscal policy.

The theory of the withholding system is that it makes it much easier for the government to collect taxes and, also, much easier for the taxpayer to pay.

But does it not also—as the ex-president suggests—make it more likely for citizens to become indifferent to their tax payments and also slovenly about their budgets?

It surely would be a shock for most of us, if, between now and April 15—the income tax deadline—we had to scrape together half of what our total tax will be. How many of us would have put aside the proper amount? It might make us more alert the next time some big government-spending program is proposed.

James Marlow Why All The Test Ban Talk?

WASHINGTON (AP) — After years of American-Russian talks on disarmament and banning nuclear tests the whole business still looks like a haunted house.

Two ghostly figures stare in the window but never come in. Red China and France. They take no part in the test ban talks. And China has said it will never be bound by a settlement it didn't negotiate itself.

If tomorrow this country and Russia reached agreement on banning tests, the Red Chinese, not a party to it, could begin their own tests when they were ready, which may be in another year or so.

WHY THEN the test ban talks with Russia at all? First things, first, is the United States' view. The first problem is getting Russia to agree to a ban. That's tough in itself and hasn't been done yet.

Then the problem is getting all other nations, which may want to develop nuclear weapons, to adhere to the ban. In short, this is the philosophy: "We'll worry about Red China when we come to it."

But the picture is more complicated than that. The world is no nearer disarmament than when this country and Russia first began talking about it in 1946.

Earlier this year the chance for a test ban looked brighter than at any time in the past. Then the talks on this collapsed. Red China's relations with Russia doubly complicate the problem.

Those relations are getting worse by the day. The two Communist giants may become enemies. Russia can't tell Red China what to do. Russia has an arsenal of nuclear weapons. China has none.

In case of trouble, China would be at Russia's mercy. So, it's taken for granted China is working overtime to develop its own nuclear weapons supply. It hasn't advanced far enough for a test yet.

It can be assumed China will test when it's ready. These reasons make any hope of getting China not to test look fragile. But there are more, in the total wretchedness of relations between this country and Red China.

The Chinese Communists have not only said they would not be bound by any treaty they did not negotiate, but they said that they won't negotiate a test ban treaty with the United States unless this country recognizes them as the legitimate government of China. This would mean recognizing their right to Formosa. This the United States refuses.

AND, SINCE it's backing Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa, it could hardly sell him out to get Red China to talk about a test ban. Therefore, there's no reason to think Red China won't test even if this country and Russia agreed not to.

Would the United States in such a case be stuck with its no-test agreement? Not necessarily. Arthur H. Dean said earlier this year before he resigned as the top American negotiator in the test ban talks with Russia that in any treaty with Russia this country would insist on a provision to let it end the agreement if some other country began testing.

The Russians, on their side, would want such an understanding, too, because of the unpredictable American ally, France, which has already had some atomic explosions and wants to develop its own nuclear force.

President Kennedy last year told a news conference it "quite obviously wouldn't protect American security" if there was an American-Russian test ban agreement and some other nation began testing.

BUT HE said, "We have a good deal of hurdles to overcome before we come to this particular question." He had been asked about Red China.

Around The Rim The Fragrance Of A Chuckbox

The White King asked the Messenger if he had anything left to eat in his knapsack. The Messenger reported only hay remained.

"Give me some hay," said the White King. "There's nothing like hay when you are hungry."

To which Alice suggested that it seemed to her a ham sandwich would be better.

"I didn't say there was nothing better than hay," the King replied. "I said there is nothing like it."

THERE IS NO AROMA like that which you to greet my nose when we camped for the night and opened the lid to the chuckbox on the back of the wagon.

You will note I use the same approach that the White King used. There are other more savory aromas. But there is nothing to match the strange blending of assorted smells which accumulate in a chuckbox in a day of jolting tediously over rough and rugged roads.

The summer sun beat down, on the slanted lid of the box. Inside, the air became hotter and hotter. The various foods inside yielded to the rendering process of the heat and to give off of their individual scents.

A SORT OF INHERENT greasiness was characteristic of all chuckboxes. If the box had been used for anytime, the fumes of frying bacon seeped into the wood. The salt pork seemed to radiate a greasy sort of atmosphere. As a result the shelves and the surface of the lid (which became the table once it had been lowered to wagonbed level) glistened with a sort of oily finish.

The pepper, the coffee, the sourdough makings, the potatoes, the onions, the bacon—everything provided a portion of the massed odor which built up under the lid.

YOU COULD SORT out some of the smells. The potatoes produced an earthy fragrance—as if they were nostalgic for their original homes under the black loam of some Idaho farm. The distinctive aroma of onions was also in evidence—its impact depending to a degree on the specific kind of onions. Occasionally, a potato or an onion would have been left in the bag too long and the penetrating smell of decay was added.

Coffee had a sort of spicy odor. It was not the same in a chuckbox as that you sniff in a supermarket today or when you pass a blending plant. It was a flatter, less romantic scent, and did not arouse pictures of distant tropical mountains.

THE SALTPOCK was simply a pungent greasy smell. It had a way of blending in with the coffee, picking up just a taint of the black pepper and producing a scent which defied duplication by all other elements.

And if there happened to be a can or jar of sourdough biscuit starter, you really climaxed the whole of factory production. Nothing—repeat, nothing—could make itself so evident as the seething, dirty-white flour-yeast-milk mixture that old style camp cooks used as a leaven for camp bread.

As the White King observed of the hay, there is nothing like it.

BUT WHEN YOU'RE a boy, about 10, and as hungry as boy usually are when they're living out of doors 24 hours a day, the combined aroma of a chuckbox, weird though it may be, is simply the overpowering, mouthwatering flavor of food.

Inez Robb Adults CAN Win Again

The world can belong to adults again, if adults have the backbone and intestinal fortitude to wrest it from the control of teenagers, who have won by default. The above is the hopeful message, boiled down into essence and one sentence, of a new, wise and thoughtful book called "Teen-Age Tyranny" by William Morrow and Company.

THE WORK of Fred M. Hechinger, education editor of the New York Times, and his wife, Grace Hechinger, it holds out blissful hope of emancipation for adults if only they will practice a little courage and fortitude. The Hechingers, on the side of the angels, emphatically do not believe that adolescents know best or should be left in charge of their own lives, much less in control of the lives of any adults they can fox or intimidate.

The Hechingers might agree that adults who allow themselves to be cowed and bamboozled by adolescents get what they deserve, except for the overriding fact that teenage tyranny is debasing national standards.

"AMERICAN civilization tends to stand in such awe of its teenage segment that it is in danger of becoming a teenage society, with permanently teen-age standards of thought, culture and goals," the authors write in the brief, trenchant introduction to their book. "As a result, American society is growing down rather than growing up."

"This is a creeping disease, not unlike hardening of the arteries," they continue. "It is a softening of adulthood that leads to immature goals in music, art and literature. It forces newspapers, television producers and movie-makers to translate the adult English usage into the limited vocabulary of the teen-culture."

AS THE HECHINGERS document their thesis, the villain quickly emerges as the spineless, permissive and abdicating parent. The latter might object to an asylum being run by its inmates but puts up no fight when the nursery is seized and operated by its occupants.

"The coward's way is to let adolescent society be run by public opinion poll, and the slogan, 'But, Mom, everybody does it,'" is a Hechinger conclusion that will strike a familiar and responsive cord in many thoughtful adults. The authors rightfully point out that the pressure on teenagers to grow up socially is "nothing short of obscene."

IF PARENTS have resigned their responsibilities, so, in large part, have the schools. For example, if the cheerleader and drum majorette cult is "objectionable" on the college level, the Hechingers find it nothing less than indecent at the two high-school stages. Again, "the adult world's frustrated and juvenile obsession with sex saturates the adolescent world with inescapable and distorted images."

In two chapters, "Sex, Little Old Technicians" and "Early Marriage: High Cost of Loving," the Hechingers examine not only the permissive home and school environment, but the socially ambitious parent who says "yes" to early and steady dating or any other form of folly as long as it makes his (or her) child "popular."

THE AUTHORS also point out that to-day everyone is an amateur psychiatrist glibly fitting Freudian terms they do not understand to situations they wish to evade. The result: teenagers get away with murder and tyranny.

However, the Hechingers have outlined an emancipation proclamation for adults—if they have either the wisdom or the will to grasp the reins they never should have dropped in the first place.

Holmes Alexander The Gap In Military Doctrine

WASHINGTON — Now we have a new gap in town—the military Doctrine Gap. Its dimensions were inadvertently revealed by Defense Secretary McNamara in his recent, four-day, closed-door appearance before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The shape of the gap can be outlined as follows:

1. The U.S.A. intends to keep the next war "conventional," but if necessary will go to the mass-destruction nuclear weapons. But we have no real plans or capabilities for anything between—or beyond

2. BY "BETWEEN" is meant the use of tactical, battlefield nuclear weapons. Henry atom John and Davy Crockett, the modern nuclear artillery pieces, are equipped for nuclear warheads, but there is no doctrine to govern their use. The gap is political and philosophical. Dare we affront world opinion and use them on allied territory, on satellite territory, in the Western Hemisphere, against Asians who have already been A-bombed?

THE DOCTRINE gap is the more apparent for two reasons. First, the Russian intelligence shows a far deeper knowledge of our capabilities than we do of theirs. A Russian book entitled, "Military Strategy," edited by V. D. Sokolovsky, with chapters contributed by top Soviet strategists, dated Moscow, April, 1962, has recently been translated by our Air Force Systems Command. The book reveals that the Russians know both the details and significance of the various cutbacks and phase-outs in American missile defense and manned air power.

Second, the Russians have "leapfrogged" any idea of fighting "conventionally." They anticipate that World War III will be a nuclear exchange. This is why they keep 175 divisions under arms, with four times as many supplies as are fatalistically assume there will be huge losses. They know that the next war will be fought by survivors. That is why they still seek safety in numbers of field-ready troops.

MOREOVER, the Russians probably have the best known tactical weapon of all. Since 1958, as Senator Dodd illustrated by chapter and verse in his long speech of February 21st, Russian military scientists have been speaking and writing about the Neutron Bomb. It is lightweight. It is deadly to human life but does not blow down buildings and installations. Its test blasts are difficult, almost impossible, to detect. The indications are that the U.S.A. has no Neutron Bomb capability.

3. BY a doctrine "beyond" the massive thermonuclear weapons is meant space weaponry. McNamara announced that the Defense Department is going ahead with Dynasoar, a project for manned space exploration. But his Deputy Secretary, Roswell Gilpatrick, has previously ruled out testing American nuclear weapons in space—until the Russians do so first. This policy automatically condemns us to be Second in Space as a military power.

THE DOCTRINE GAP—nothing between or beyond conventional warfare and big bang warfare—is appalling to behold. The 16 Senators who watched it take shape from secret Defense Department testimony seemed deeply disturbed. Only two, Engel and Saltonstall, appeared to be noncommittal in their questions. Jackson and Thurmond came well prepared in what are called the "esoteric" subjects.

They gave the Secretary a hard time. Strom Thurmond was tough. Margaret Smith was sharp. Chairman Russell appeared unhappy with what he heard.

The general senatorial dissatisfaction is building up to one of the greatest policy debates in recent years.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Even being a burglar victim sometime has its laughs.

Take the case of the guy who broke into Joe Barazza's liquor store, looted the cash register and grabbed a bottle out of a window display.

Life Stories Given For Toastmixers

"The History of My Life" was the ice breaker speech given Monday evening for the Toastmixers Club at the state hospital. It was preceded by the opening prayer and The Pledge of Allegiance.

"What Beauty Means to Me" was the subject for table topics, and the second speech, also an ice breaker, was entitled "My Life."

Mrs. W. C. Ragsdale of the Tall Talker Toastmistress Club and Virgil Richardson and George Schweikert of the Talon Toastmasters, the coordinators, met with approximately 25 members.

ANNIVERSARY NOTED

Dinner Affair Held By Scenic Chapter Members

The third anniversary of the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, was observed at a dinner party Monday evening, Mrs. Doris Carr, president, and Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, vice president, greeted members and guests arriving at Coker's Restaurant.

Miss Shirley White was the guest speaker. Using the insurance business as her topic Miss White mentioned different phases of the insurance field, and offered advice on what to plan for adequate coverage. She was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Eitzen, program chairman.

Members were seated at a U-shaped table decorated with yellow and white carnations and three small dolls, each representing a year of the organization's growth. Placed on a side table was the birthday cake, decorated in gold.

Following the dinner, pantomime games were played in which members acted out well-known commercials. Guests included six members from the Snyder Chapter of the ABWA.

Two Broilers

Many new ranges have two broilers. One is in a drawer located below the oven, the other an elevated unit next to the oven. The elevated broiler offers a roaster for roasting as well as broiling. Both broilers have shelf supports for placing food at five different distances from the flame. The closer to the flame, the faster the surface of the food browns and cooks. To achieve slower and more thorough cooking, the more distant levels are desirable.

CHILI SUPPER

A chili supper will be sponsored by the Washington Place P-TA Thursday evening from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock in the school cafeteria. Cost for the dinner, which will include chili, beans, homemade pie, punch and coffee, will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

Good Management

The qualities that make many women good business executives make them good homemakers, too. These virtues include the ability to plan, schedule housework and inspire teamwork by other members of the family. Another characteristic of successful business women who manage their own homes is a tendency to rely on automation in home equipment. The average home now accounts for at least 48 automatic controls of heating, air conditioning, cooking and laundering functions, and these are "employees" that can learn their keep.

Residence Scene Of Wedding

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

The weather has really been flipping the switch on us lately. One day spring seems here to stay and that night we are pulling for more cover. The pretty yellow jasmine have been blooming for several weeks, but appear to be peering cautiously from under a protecting overhead foliage.

Some plum trees couldn't stand the warm sun, and have started putting out their white blooms. Here's hoping it stays cold long enough to keep most of the fruit trees in the county a little numb so that the fruit crop is better than what we had last year.

As all little children who are born of American parents while living overseas are required to do, LISA COPELAND and RANDY SPARKS now have received their Citizen's Certificate.

Lisa is the five-year-old daughter of CM SGT. and MRS. HAROLD M. COPELAND and was born in Morocco. Randy is the son of S. SGT. and MRS. JOE SPARKS, and was born two years ago in England. The two families were in Abilene Monday morning to get their children's papers.

The teachers' meeting in Odessa Friday will be well attended by Big Spring faculty members, and a great number of them will round out their day by attending the wedding of former resident, LOU ANNE PARSON. Miss Parson will marry BILLY SMOOT at 7 o'clock in the evening at the LAMESA (SC) — Miss Judy Catherine Parker and L. C. Howle were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Friday in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. N. S. Parker. The Rev. Dorman G. Kinard, pastor of the North Side Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Howle of Tahoka. The bride wore a street length dress of white Chantilly lace over taffeta and a corsage of white carnations. Her attendants were Miss Jerry Pewsorth of Tahoka and Miss Wanda Seaton of Brownfield.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a mint green wool knit suit with white accessories. The couple will be at home at 1610 28th Street in Lubbock, where the bridegroom, a graduate of Tahoka High School, is employed. The bride is a graduate of O'Donnell High School.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Cunningham, 1902 Donley, announce the marriage of their daughter, Linda Nell, to Clarence Elbert Graham Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham Sr. of the Gail Rt. The couple was married Feb. 28 at the El Cajon St. Church of Christ in San Diego, Calif., with Ernest Boone officiating. They will reside temporarily in San Diego where he is stationed at the Naval Training Center.

Welch Woman Named Queen

LAMESA (SC) — Mrs. Henry Russell, 52-year-old Welch resident, has been proclaimed "Queen for a Week" by residents of that community. She launched her reign Saturday by riding on a special float in a parade, kicking off a livestock show.

The honor was bestowed upon the unsuspecting grandmother at the annual blue and gold banquet of Pack 784 of Welch by Truman Hayes, scoutmaster.

The honor was accorded in appreciation and admiration of 4 1/2 years of work with the Cub Scouts in Welch. Special gifts were given to Mrs. Russell and during her reign this week, friends will do the Russell laundry and house cleaning, a dress will be designed for her and other luncheons and parties have been planned. Mrs. Russell, mother of five children, three of whom are living, is an active community worker, having served as head of the Welch Community Chest drive, vice president of the Dawson school Parent-Teachers Association, and active in Home Demonstration work. She has been caring for a den of 12 Cub Scouts, with the assistance of Mrs. Jack Henley, and enjoys every minute of it. Perhaps the big reason why Welch residents think so much of their Mrs. Russell is that since childhood, when she contracted polio, she has never walked without the aid of crutches.

PLANNING SESSION

Forsan Baptist Church Committee Sets Events

FORSAN (SC) — Planning progress for the ensuing year highlighted a meeting of a Forsan Baptist Church committee entering an achievement program. The purpose of the program is for improvement in the church, the community and the world. Events planned in relation to the project include a spring revival, April 12-21.

Garage Sale Set By Guild Group

A garage sale committee was appointed at the Monday afternoon meeting of St. Mary's Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Location of the sale, to be held on May 16, 17 and 18 will be announced soon.

Mrs. Stella Merrill led the devotion with Mrs. Ray Boren presiding at the business session.

On March 21, Mrs. W. J. Currie will review "God So Loved the World" for guild members and guests. Mrs. Currie will speak at 2:15 p.m. in Parish Hall with refreshments to be served during the social hour following.

Hyndman-Hickman Vows Are Exchanged

The First Methodist Church, Sherman, was the scene for the wedding of Miss Ruth Ann Hyndman and Gordon Randy Hickman of Dallas, Saturday, Feb. 23.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edens Hyndman, Sherman, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hickman, Big Spring. The Rev. J. Daniel Barron, pastor, officiated. Mrs. R. C. Whiteacre, organist, and Mrs. Finis T. Farr, violinist, aided the bride, provided a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza. Her veil of illusion, outlined in lace, was secured by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and a white orchid. Her attendants were Mrs. Jack Pierce of Sherman, matron of honor; Mrs. Charles Brown, Grand Prairie, and Mrs. John Dietrich, Houston, bridesmaids; and Miss Betty Gail Jones, Dallas, bridesmaid. Roy Brown, Galveston, was best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Edens Hyndman Jr., Grand Prairie; Bill Kirby, Dallas, and Tom Hammond of Jacksboro. A reception was held in the church parlors. Miss Betty Brannon and Miss Marilyn Muller of Dallas presided at the refreshment table. Guests were registered by Mrs. Bill Russell of Dallas. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Jack Anderson and Mrs. Glenn Langford of Sherman. After a brief wedding trip, the couple is now at home in Dallas at 4042 Bryan. The bride, a graduate of North Texas State University, is now employed by the National Cash Register Company. Hickman, a graduate of NTSU, is with Whitehall Laboratories.

Zoning Board Holds 3 Public Hearings

Public hearings will be held on three requests for zone changes at the regular meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission at 5:15 p.m. today. Recommendations of the Big Spring Traffic Commission on a possible traffic hazard on Wasson Road by a zone change, subdivision plats, and development plans will also be considered.

The hearings will be held on three requests for changing zones from residential to retail property located at the northwest corner of Interstate 20 and Lamesa Highway by Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Green, Texas Company's property at the northeast corner of Snyder Highway and Interstate 20, and property owned by Omar Jones at the southeast corner of Marcy Drive and Virginia Ave.

Miscellaneous items for which no public hearing is called, will include a subdivision plat submitted by Hank McDaniel for extending Avondale Drive from Coronado Hills to Wasson Road; a subdivision plat, presented by Al Milch, for Kentwood No. 3; subdivision plat by Ike Robb for Highland South No. 3; replat of the Hall Addition submitted by Kent Morgan; final replat of portions of Kentwood No. 1, by Al

Milch, a development plan for an apartment center in the northwest corner of Kentwood Division, a development plan by Lloyd Curley on a retail area north of Marcy Drive and east of Birdwell Lane.

Sealcoat Road Work To Begin

J. L. Hodges, contractor awarded the job of sealcoating 30 miles of Howard County roads, has informed Pete Thomas, county road supervisor, he will be ready to start work on the assignment at once. He is moving in his machinery and men today.

His bid for the job was $22,720.90—nearly $7,000 under the next lowest bid. The contract to supply rock and gravel for the project went to the R. E. James Sand and Gravel Co. at a bid of $8,950.

The sealcoat jobs are on eight county road projects.

News Sources Bill Introduced

AUSTIN (AP)—Reporters could not be forced to disclose their news sources under a bill introduced Monday by Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville.

"A bill of this nature has long been needed," said Rapp. His measure would prevent representatives of newspapers, press associations and radio or television stations from being forced to disclose their information sources.

Pecos Medical Center Elects

PECOS (AP)—Lee Weatherly, farmer and produce man, was elected president Monday of the recently chartered Pecos Medical Center.

Kyle Watts, service station manager, and Mrs. Fran Lunday, bookkeeper, were named vice presidents; Jack Boswell, insurance man, treasurer; and W. K. Daugherty, public accountant, secretary.

Active Tanker Search Abandoned

MIAMI (AP)—The Coast Guard says active search has been abandoned for the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen, which vanished with 29 crewmen after sailing from Beaumont Feb. 2.

A Navy plane will continue searching near Key West with a magnetic detector.

The Coast Guard search ended Monday after a lettered plank was identified as the vessel's name plate by a representative of Marine Transport Lines Inc., owners of the ship.

The splintered board, found near Miami by two residents, bore the word fragments "arine sulph." The way it was broken gave no definite clue on whether an explosion occurred aboard the Sulphur Queen, the Coast Guard said.

Connally Scores Victories For Education Commission

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally scored victories on two fronts Monday for his proposal to make a long range study of Texas higher education.

However, Connally forces still must convince a majority in the House that he should appoint all 25 members of a committee to study education above the high school level.

The House State Affairs Committee voted 10-9 Monday night to let Connally appoint 15 members, and the House speaker and the lieutenant governor five each.

The Senate passed and sent to the House Sen. Walter Richter's bill giving Connally authority to name all 25 committeemen.

Attempts by the House sponsors, Reps. David Crews of Conroe and Gene Fondren of Taylor, to change the bill back to its original form failed in the House committee. The two introduced the bill giving Connally all 25 appointments.

Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress failed to win Senate approval of an amendment to limit Connally to 15 appointments. It lost 28-2. The Senate then approved the bill 30-0.

Rogers filibustered over the measure in the Senate last week. The House version had been in subcommittee for several weeks.

The House Education Committee approved for floor debate a bill to require Texas high schools to include in American history courses a comparison between United States and Communist systems.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney, objected to changes made by the committee. Dungan originally called for a separate course to be taught as capitalism vs. communism. The committee voted 12-6 against letting Dungan's original bill go to the House for debate.

SAN ANGELO—Many a San Angelo College basketball fan must have awakened Tuesday morning with the shattering realization that, all polls to the contrary, the SAC Rams don't have the nation's No. One juco team.

Chamberlain Having Another Great Season In Pro League

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain isn't going to reach his record 4,029-point total in the National Basketball Association this season, but he still has eight games left in which to equal or break his single game record of 100 points.

beaten HCJC in Big Spring, 66-60. The Hawks, battling like a team possessed, were not to be denied this time, however.

They beat the Rams badly from the floor, scoring 32 field goals to 26 for San Angelo, and had the decision nailed down, 77-72, going into the final 20 seconds of play after building up a 36-32 advantage at half time.

Ernest Turner and Walter Carter gave the Rams a lesson or two in the art of rebounding and clutch shooting. Carter finished with 20 points while Turner, tough and shrewd on the boards, had 19.

Bruce Tibbets, the sophomore from Rochester, tallied 20 for the Rams while Kirby Pugh registered 19 and David Welch ten.

The defeat was only the fourth for San Angelo in 29 starts and two of those defeats occurred at the hands of HCJC. The Hawks had previously defeated SAC in the San Antonio tournament.

HCJC wound up with a 25-7 overall record, even though it had to forfeit two games, and was 11-5 within the circuit.

The Hawks did a great job of controlling the boards, especially in the last half, when the Rams could pull down only 19 rebounds.

It was a typical San Angelo-HCJC imbroglio. The score was deadlocked on 16 occasions. San Angelo led nine times, HCJC ten.

The Hawks went ahead for keeps with two minutes to play, at 73-72, when big Charley Cumber connected. Cumber and Turner hit two-pointers a short time later to put more daylight between the two teams.

San Angelo led early in the game, 8-3, but HCJC tied it at 10-10 with 16:30 to play in the first half. At one stage late in the first half, HCJC led by six points, at 36-30.

Four minutes deep in the final period, the Jayhawks roared to a 45-37 advantage and seemed intent on running the Rams out of the jam-packed gymnasium. SAC fought right back and tied the score, at 46-46, however. In the final quarter, HCJC built up a 67-61 lead before San Angelo rallied again.

BANQUET SET HERE MONDAY

Tickets for the annual Evening Lions' Club banquet honoring basketball teams of HCJC and Big Spring High School are now available here at $1.25 copy.

The party is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday, March 11, in the Student Union building at HCJC.

Lewis Henson, HSU coach, will be the principal speaker. Several awards will be presented to players.

Among those selling the tickets are W. L. (Squeaky) Thompson and Glenn Barnes of the Lions' Club.

Forsan Tries Bronte Fems In Bi-District Contest

FORSAN — The Forsan girls, who have won 29 of 32 games to date, bid for a spot in Class C Regional basketball competition in a 7:30 game with Bronte at Colorado City this evening.

By winning, the Buffalo Queens can qualify to oppose the winner of the Gail-Westbrook game at Odessa at 9:45 a.m. Saturday.

Betty Conger is the leading Forsan scorer with 693 points in 31 games. (One game was forfeited to Forsan.) That averages out to 22.4 points a game.

Jody Dodd, only a freshman, has counted 488 points for a 16.3-game average and has averaged 19.5 points since district competition began.

Bonnie Simpson has tallied 413 points for Forsan, good for a 13.3 point average.

Overall, the Buffalo Queens have averaged 59.2 points a game, compared to 32.4 for the opposition.

Their losses were at the hands of Westbrook (twice) at the HCJC tournament at Big Spring and Sands in the Sands tournament. The team has really jelled since that time, it is commonly agreed.

Bowling Assn., Meeting Set For Saturday

As mentioned last week, the big event of the year—so far as the men bowlers are concerned—will occur Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

This is the annual meeting of the City Association, at which time officers for the ensuing year will be elected and trophies and cash awards will be presented to the winners of the City Tournament, just concluded.

Only team captains can vote, unless another member of the team is designated in writing to cast the team ballot, and one vote for each five male members of a mixed couples league. It is important that as many as 26 voters be present as it takes that number to constitute a quorum.

Do not overlook getting the entries in for Bobby Layne's Bowl-A-Rama's Invitational Handicap tournament, to be held March 30-31, April 6-7 and 13-14 in Big Spring.

The defeat was only the fourth for San Angelo in 29 starts and two of those defeats occurred at the hands of HCJC.

Colorado City is resuming its Tumbleweed Handicap tournament, which will be held this year April 20-21, 27-28, May 4-5, 11-12. Entries close April 1 for team and all events, and May 12, at 9:30 p.m. for singles and doubles.

This is a multiple entry affair, but a person can place in the money only one time. In conjunction with the tournament, a Tumbleweed Queen will be chosen from entrants throughout the state, and any woman desiring to enter as a contestant can get more information from Art Dibble, 921 Marshall Street, Colorado City, Phone RA 8-2425.

Many good games as well as good series were bowled last week. Harold Wayland, bowling for Toby's, had a 629, Bill Gordon, bowling for Neel's Transfer, a 633, Ray McMahan, Pearl Beer, a 618, Chester Coffman, for Coffman Roofing, had an even 600, as did T. K. Price, bowling for Reeder Insurance.

There were many good 200 games and among the leaders are Bill Gordon, bowling for Neel's Transfer, 249, Doug McDonald, Telephone Couples, 247 and 223, T. K. Price, Reeder Insurance Agency, 225, Capt. T. H. Normie, Pilot Training, 224, Ray Thomas, Couden, 223, Clete Piper, City Radio and T. There were some twenty games between 210 and 220 and numerous games from 200 to 210.

Special recognition this week to Sonny Buzby, bowling for Milas Wood Couden Station, for his 210 game as it was his first sanctioned 200, and Sonny has bowled in a league for only a few weeks.

The ladies were not sitting idly by and watching the men roll good scores, as they turned in some good ones. Among the leaders are Carol Thrasher, Coker's Restaurant, 233.

Special recognition this week to Bernita Smith for her 211 as it was her first sanctioned 200, and to Janie Fritz, bowling for Security State Bank for her 179 and it was an all spare game.

3-4A Favorite Vies With Bovines Here

Lubbock Monterey, District 3-AAA baseball favorite and a Regional finalist last year, sends its Plainsmen here today for a 4 o'clock exhibition game with the Big Spring Steers.

This is the first of four games for the Longhorns this week. The locals go to Lubbock Friday for a 2 p.m. engagement with Lubbock High, then return here Saturday to tangle with Colorado City in two contests.

Big Spring now stands 3-0 for the year, having scored a total of 42 runs in beating Snyder three straight games last weekend. Monterey split a double bill with Odessa Permian, one of the 2-AAA favorites, last Saturday, winning the first one, 2-1, in nine innings and dropping the second, 11-4.

Danny MacDougal, who may toll on the mound for Monterey today, fashioned a four-hitter at the expense of Permian to win the first game.

Other starters for Big Spring will probably be Charley West behind the plate, Jeff Brown at first base, Bill Andrews at second, Baxter Moore at shortstop, Rick Peters at third base and Rick Wisener, Buster Barnes and New or Roden in the outfield.

Monterey earlier had blasted Levelland by a score of 10-3, at which time Chris Galanos and Gary White teamed up to hurl a three-hitter for Monterey.

Jerry Haggard, Buddy Hampton, Al Ayers, Gary Huey, Keller Smith and Don Barrett are among the Monterey regulars.

HCJC's Jayhawk Queens, winners over South Plains in volleyball here last night, 14-6, 8-12, 15-4, departed today for San Antonio where they take part in the U. S. Volleyball Association National Women's championships.

Marilyn McReady led the Queens in scoring against South Plains with 13 points at which time Janice Hudson and Elaine Patterson were at the net.

Miss McReady is a local girl, Miss Hudson hails from Monahans while Miss Patterson's home is in Andrews.

Davis paced South Plains in scoring with eight points, at which time Leece and Decker were up front.

Eight girls made the trip to San Antonio with coach Anna Smith. They were, in addition to McReady, Hudson and Patterson, Ann Klepper, Sue Parker, Carol Bohannon, Anita Thompson and Pat Saunders.

The Queens are booked to oppose Odessa College in Odessa March 12.

Westbrook Wins 40-31 Verdict

COLORADO CITY — Westbrook defeated Trent, 40-31, in a girls' bi-district basketball game here Monday night.

Glenda Rees counted 15 points and June Ritchey 14 for Westbrook which now plays Gail, the 8-B titlist, in Regional competition at Odessa Friday. Game time is 8 p.m.

Thirteen free throws in the final period enabled Westbrook to finish ahead of Trent.

Barbara McAninch led Trent in scoring with 12 points while Deborah Barnes had ten.

Score by quarters: Westbrook 14 20 27 40 Trent 9 15 19 31

Six More Schools Name Top Spellers

Six more schools have named their champions to carry the school colors into the Howard County Spelling Bee, slated in the Howard County Junior College auditorium March 16. With time rapidly running out, all but a handful of the county's schools have selected their contestants.

BETTY ROSS

BETTY ROSS
Forsan's spelling champion is a triple-threat performer. Not only is she an excellent speller, she plays a lot of organ and she's grand with paintbrush and palette. She is Betty Ross, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Ross, Country Club Road, Big Spring. She is in the 6th grade and rated top speller over 25 room champions from the school. R o y Stockstill, superintendent, suggested that his champion could offer other champions pretty tough competition, not only with a spelling book but at an easel, or if something else is needed, as an expert young horsewoman.

PAULA ROGERS
Paula Curlee Rogers, 12, is the spelling champion of College Heights School. She won the title over 16 competitors in the elimination contest. Miss Rogers, a 6th grader, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Rogers, 2415 Settles. She is in Lillian Jordan's room at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marin, 105 NW 8th, a sixth grader in Mrs. Patricia Godbey's room, was runner-up and selected as alternate.

PAT RUBEEL
A little 9-year-old fourth grader, Pat Rubeel, will carry the banner of the Immaculate Heart of Mary School in the forthcoming county spelling bee. He won the honor over a field of 10 contenders Monday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rubeel, 2611 Carol. The alternate speller, who will represent the school in the event that Pat cannot appear, is Susan Sulak, 8, also in the fourth grade. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Sulak Jr., 1407 E. 15th.

PAULA ROGERS
Paula Curlee Rogers, 12, is the spelling champion of College Heights School. She won the title over 16 competitors in the elimination contest. Miss Rogers, a 6th grader, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Rogers, 2415 Settles. She is in Lillian Jordan's room at the school.

Alternate is Rowan Settles, 11, a sixth grader from Laine Porter's room. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burr Lee Settles, 2301 Main.

OLIVIA HERNANDEZ
Olivia Hernandez, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Valente Hernandez, 311 NE 11th, is the Bauer Elementary school spelling champion. The 6th grader from Mrs. Dorothy Good's room won the title Monday afternoon over a dozen competitors.

DORIS NOBLE
Doris Virginia Noble, 13, seventh grade pupil, is the Lakeview Junior High School winner in the spelling bee. She is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Threats, 609 N. Douglas, and in winning her title she went on to spell 200 words before she missed.

Teachers Program For Evening Lions

Impressions of Big Spring Schools were given by teachers, one new to the system and two veteran staff members, to the Evening Lions Club Monday evening at Wesley Methodist Fellowship Hall.

The program was part of the observance of Texas Public School Week. Plans for the annual banquet honoring high school and junior college basketball squads next Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the HCJC Student Union Building were discussed. The club is pointing for an attendance of 300.

Nancy Haralson, recently named by the club as its nominee for the district queen contest, was a guest along with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haralson.

Directors reported that they had discussed plans for the annual broom sale, probably in May, and for a candy sale. A membership drive will be held in April. Sue Scheiblich, who took up her duties as a teacher in the home-making department here in January, told of her impressions as a beginning teacher. Mrs. John A. Coffey, who has taught 23 years in Big Spring schools, compared the present education facilities in Big Spring with those she experienced in starting out here by saying there was no comparison. Mrs. Hubert Rutherford, a native of Big Spring who returned home to teach in schools here, gave Lions some insight into educational processes, particularly on reading. She emphasized that phonics are still taught, but many new processes have been added to improve reading skills. Sebron Williams, assistant superintendent, introduced the teachers.

Final Week To Apply For Test

This is the final week for making application to enter the 1963-64 National Merit Scholarship competition, Wayne Bonner, counselor at the high school, said today. The qualifying test will be given in Room 128 at the high school at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Students who will graduate from high school in 1964 and enter college in the same calendar year are eligible for scholarship consideration in the 1963-64 merit program. To receive consideration, students must take the test when it is offered at the school. Participating students pay a $2 fee when they take the test. Any student who is unable to pay the fee should consult Bonner.

Awards are granted on the basis of intellectual merit, but the student's financial needs determine the amount of each stipend. These are renewable each year without further testing.

The awards are made by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, about 150 business corporations, foundations and individuals. The Corporation was established in 1953.

Trial Begins In Ramirez Case

Claude Ramirez, charged with DWI, was on trial Tuesday morning in Howard County Court. His case was the first to be called for the criminal docket which opened today. A jury had been selected and the state was presenting its case at 11 a.m.

At the docket sounding Monday afternoon Judge Lee Porter set two cases for trial today—that of Ramirez and Robert D. Hutcherson, also charged with DWI.

Cases set for Wednesday are Albert Rodriguez, possession of barbiturates; Trinidad Arsiaga, possession of barbiturates; J. W. Pursler, DWI.

Thursday's cases are Gene Patton, theft; Fred Costancio Jr., DWI; Juan Rodriguez, DWI; Raymond Woolsey, DWI.

Friday's settings include: Jess Flores, possession of liquor for sale; Jessie Flores, sale of liquor without license; McAllyn Edmiston, DWI; Abram Jones Jr., transporting; Eula Mae Barber, DWI.

One plea of guilty has been received in a case on the current docket. William Darrow, charged with theft, drew a fine of $10 and costs when he entered a guilty plea.

Judge Porter heard another guilty plea Monday morning. This was a matter not on the docket. The defendant was William B. Lee, charged with possession of a pistol. He was fined $100 and costs.

Big Flood, No Rain

"I first thought I was dreaming," Skeet Forsythe, street superintendent, said Tuesday, "but there was water running down Wyoming Street just like a two-inch rain had fallen in 30 minutes."

Forsythe said he had a call about the water and thought it was a prank. "But it was there and we had to pick up trash off the street following the flood just like after a big rain," he said.

A dam, holding water for the sprinkler system on the dirt work of the new 15 20 bypass, had broken and the water ran down about four blocks of Wyoming, creating a flood problem for several minutes.

A small lunch room, opened recently at 801 Aylford by Mrs. Carroll Smith and Mrs. W. T. Coates, was closed last week when several complaints were made to Building Inspector Tom Newton and to the health office.

The complaints alleged a violation of the city's zoning ordinance, and City Attorney John Burgess ordered the place closed pending corrective action.

Newton, and Director of Public Works Bruce Dunn, said the women had asked about opening the lunch room and were informed that certain routine procedures would have to be followed before a permit could be granted, but that the place was opened before action could be taken.

The problem will be presented to the Planning and Zoning Commission and, if a request is made for a special use permit, or for rezoning, a public hearing will have to be set.

The lunch room was opened for school children at Cedar Crest School.

His Success Depends On How Well He Serves YOU

YOUR LOCAL INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENT is truly independent. He is not salaried or subsidized by one company. He is not obligated to write your insurance with any one company. He receives income only when he merits your patronage, and then only from the insurance company which offers YOU the best and most economical protection.

Your best assurance of being correctly and economically INSURED is through YOUR LOCAL INDEPENDENT INSURANCE AGENT who represents one or more companies of THE MILLERS Insurance Group of Texas.
