Probe Data Lashes At Butts, Bryant

ATLANTA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook reported to Gov. Carl E. Sanders today that Wallace Butts gave advance information to Paul Bryant on last September's Georgia-Alabama football game which was "unethical, improper and unsportsmanlike."

"The furnishing of such information might well have vitally affected the outcome of the game in points and the margin of victory," Cook said in a summation of his findings after a two-week investigation.

Sanders ordered the investigation after the Saturday Evening Post charged in its March 23 issue that there was collusion to affect the outcome of the game between Butts, recently resigned as Georgia athletic director, and Bryant, the University of Alabama coach.

Alabama won the game 35-0. Cook said it had been established that George Burnett, Atlanta insurance salesman, had been accidentally cut in on a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant and heard the Georgian giving information on his university's plays.

"The undisputed evidence produced in my investigation," Cook said, "conclusively shows that a telephone conversation was made from Coach Wally Butts in Atlanta to Coach Bryant on Sept. 13, 1962.

"The telephone company records establish the fact of this phone call and that the conversation between the two lasted approximately 16 minutes, in which there was an exchange of conversation regarding football plays formations and techniques which might be employed by Coach John Griffith in the game between Georgia and Alabama on Sept. 22.

"It is established that this telephone conversation was intercepted by George Burnett, who made notation of the same."

Cook said the evidence clearly indicates that the conversation was not "casual and general football conversation."

"This fact is established and corroborated by Dr. Frank Rose, president of the University of Alabama, in a letter to Dr. O.C. Aderhold, president of the University of Georgia, dated March 6, 1963.

"The conversation, as recorded by Burnett in his notes, dealt with specific offensive and defensive formations, patterns, plays, and information with respect to players of the University of Georgia football team."

Cook said he had questioned all members of the Georgia athletic staff, with the exception of Charlie Trippi, and members of the football team to determine the value and importance of information alleged to have been conveyed from Butts to Bryant with respect to the plays and the formations.

Cook said the letter from Rose to Aderhold "confirms the fact that the telephone conversations between Butts and Bryant took place and that offensive and defensive plays of the Georgia team were discussed."

Board Faces Questions On TFX Recommendations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of a military board face today questions drafted by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara about their recommendation that the TFX warplane contract be given to the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash.

McNamara overruled the board and gave the contract to the General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex.

The Senate investigating subcommittee is conducting hearings to learn why.

Members of the board, headed by Air Force Maj. Gen. R. G. Ruegg, have testified they rated Boeing's design as promising a better, cheaper version of the TFX — experimental tactical fighter.

McNamara has testified he awarded the contract only on merit. He said General Dynamics had a superior design holding promise of a billion-dollar saving to the taxpayers. He submitted questions for the subcommittee to ask the board which he believes will throw light on the controversy.

The contract involves plans for ultimate expenditures estimated at $5.5 billion for 1,700 of the versatile, supersonic TFX planes for the Air Force and Navy. This would make it the biggest contract of its kind in Pentagon history.

Labor Party Chief Calls On Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Wilson, Britain's Labor party leader, calls on President Kennedy today to tell him what the United States can expect from the United Kingdom if his party wins the next general elections.

Whatever the Britain will say cannot surprise the President. Since his arrival Saturday Wilson has had a series of conferences with Kennedy's top aides and has addressed the National Press Club.

However controversial some of Wilson's other views sound—such as his suggestion to recognize the East German Communist regime, or to accept as a fact the present German-Polish boundary—he may find a sympathetic listener in Kennedy when he explains his position on conventional versus nuclear weapons.

Wilson strongly believes that (1) Britain should beef up its conventional forces under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and (2) that the Conservative government's ambition to have an independent nuclear force is unnecessary.

These views go along with Washington's.

"The U.S. policy is that there is no need for separate atomic forces because the U.S. force is big enough to deter an attack. The United States also feels that Great Britain could make a bigger contribution to NATO's conventional arms strength."

Wilson, as he told the press club Monday, is greatly concerned with the problems of world trade and finances. It is questionable, however, that he will bring them up in his talk with Kennedy.

He is likely, however, to spell out his policy on Berlin—much of which, including recognition of East Germany, is officially taboo here.

U.S. Raider Doesn't Feel He Broke Law

By JAMES BUCHANAN
POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)

—The American who acted as spokesman for a band of anti-Castro sea raiders in securing their release from British custody told me he did not feel he had broken any neutrality law.

Jerry Buchanan, 24, said in an exclusive interview by telephone from Nassau Monday night that the raiders' boats, Violin III, had not been armed or manned in this country.

The 35-foot Violin III was captured at Norman's Cay, a tiny island in the Bahamas. Buchanan said Magistrate John Bailey freed the band of 17 men and released their boat with a decree that they had not violated any law in British territory.

The boat put into the island to refuel, Buchanan said, and he and one of the Cubans aboard under command of Maj. Evelio Duque went ashore unarmed.

"We approached a barracks-type building where we encountered a detachment of Bahamian police," Buchanan said. "They had been there since Saturday morning waiting for us to come in. They knew all about us."

"The police came out of the building and said, 'Is your name Buchanan?' They placed both of us under detention."

He reported, a platoon of Bahamian police led by a British officer went to the boat, where they ordered the others to come ashore. Buchanan said the Violin III was not captured at sea as reported and that the British frigate credited with the capture steamed into the area Sunday afternoon.

"The police searched the boat and captured a few of the boys who were well hidden from view of anyone on shore," he added. "They also found the arms which we had stored on the boat."

"Police told us they had us under surveillance all Sunday morning while we were trying to dock. After finding the arms they immediately announced we were being detained. The police refused to use the term 'arrest.' They said we were merely 'detained.'"

Buchanan said a high official of the Bahamas government, whom he declined to identify, arrived and said he was acting as a delegate from London, representing the Admiralty.

"Prior to the official's arrival, however, the frigate was spotted off the east coast of the key," Buchanan said.

"The Navy came ashore in three landing launches. One of these carried a platoon of men completely equipped with machine-guns and ready to fight. The police then turned us over to the navy."

"I was flown to Nassau at 7 p.m. Sunday. I went to court Monday afternoon and we're now out on bond. We're supposed to be put back aboard the boat and escorted out of British waters with our equipment, guns and any of our personal effects."

BEAUMONT (AP) — The removal trial of suspended Sheriff C. H. Meyer, charged with incompetence and misconduct, goes to a jury today.

The defense rested after presenting witnesses who testified that prostitution had been legalized in Jefferson County before Meyer took office, that he had been cooperative with a doctor in handling mental cases and that the organization of his department tended to promote efficiency.

Rail Work Rules Will Be Changed On April 8

Sneaky Thompson hands down the stock to Earl Penner (right) and Ernest Barbee Monday evening as the Evening Lions stock up for the annual Broom sale, which will continue through the week.

Evening Lions Club Opens Annual Broom Sale Tonight

The annual broom sale held in Big Spring by the Evening Lions Club gets under way tonight, according to Earl Penner, president. Stock for the sale arrived about 4 p.m. Monday. Included are all types of brooms made by workers at the Lighthouse and the Blind in San Antonio, and other household cleaning equipment.

Usually a one-day sale, this year it will be conducted week-long, Penner said.

"We found that we were not able to cover the entire city in one day and we would like everyone in Big Spring to have an opportunity to get some of this excellent equipment," he said.

Loy Loudamy and Lucian Jones co-chairmen for the drive, will be heading teams of men who will work through Saturday. In addition to teams working each section of the city, stands will be manned in various shopping centers around town to give Saturday shoppers an equal opportunity.

"We hope to sell about $3,000 worth of merchandise. Last year receipts totalled about $1,300," Penner said.

He pointed out that about 25 percent of the profit will remain in Big Spring, with virtually the entire amount going to the Lion's eye glass fund to purchase glasses for local children who could not otherwise get them. Last year club members purchased more than 20 pairs of glasses.

Schedule for the door-to-door effort is Tuesday, east of Birdwell Lane from Fourth to Marcy; Wednesday, west of Birdwell Lane to Young, Thursday, Kentwood and Highland; South Addition areas; Friday, the Wasson Addition; and Saturday, the Edwards Heights Addition. Stands will also be working Saturday.

Dr. Orlando Bosch, coordinator general of the group, said he would file a legal protest that the Violin III had been seized in international waters.

He said the two boats left five days before the State Department issued restrictions against raiders on Saturday.

"Our mission was to fight any Communist boats we encountered and also to contact rebels inside Cuba," Bosch said. "Our raids will definitely be continued. We are violating no American law. We do not leave from American bases."

In another development, U.S. officials announced that confinement notices had been served on seven more exile leaders, bringing the total to 25 restricted to Dade County (Miami).

There were reports that a new Communist group would harass Soviet shipping from bases along the Mexican coast. But a government spokesman in Mexico City said there was no likelihood that anti-Castro raiders would be based in Mexico, which maintains diplomatic relations with both Cuba and the Soviet Union.

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Threats to blow up Conservative Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's train and howling hecklers trying to shout down Liberal party leader Lester B. Pearson jolted Canada's hitherto placid election campaign as it entered its last week.

Governor Signs Bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally has signed these bills:

HB4, relating to the standard annuity payments in the teachers' retirement system.

HB45, relating to license plates for motor vehicles and trailers.

HB207, permits paying in interest on meter deposits annually on demand.

HB3, to determine pay check amounts for April teachers' retirement pensioners.

Red Plane Fires On U.S. Craft

BERLIN (AP) — A Soviet fighter today fired at a private aircraft piloted by Hughie Greene, Canadian stage and television star, in one of the Berlin air corridors.

British authorities reported Greene's plane was not hit. He landed safely at the Berlin air base in Gatow, West Berlin.

A British spokesman said the British chief controller at the four-power air safety center "made a protest in the strongest terms" to the Soviet controller.

65,000 Jobs Will Be Dropped

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads announced today that one minute after midnight April 8 they will make work rules changes that eventually will eliminate 65,000 jobs.

The announcement was made by the carriers' chief negotiator shortly after a U.S. Supreme Court mandate permitted the dissolution of an injunction which had held up making of rules changes since last summer.

In a brief announcement, James E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief rail negotiator, said:

"The nation's railroads today notified the National (Railway) Mediation Board that at 12:01 a.m. on April 8 we will make work rules changes intended to end the featherbedding problem.

"We understand President Kennedy probably will name an emergency board before the unions set a strike date. This will prevent any stoppage for at least 60 days."

A spokesman for the Switchmen's Union of North America issued a statement which he said represented the attitude of the five labor organizations involved.

Despite the assurance of the Supreme Court that we may resort to self-help in achieving our bargaining demands we contemplate taking no unilateral action. We are continuing to press for a negotiated fair settlement."

The railroads said they are planning to put into effect the rule changes they proposed in the fall of 1959. Besides elimination of an estimated 40,000 firemen on diesel locomotives in road and yard service, they plan to change crew sizes and banish the lines of demarcation between various unions in operating crews. They also plan a revamping of mileage pay rates so that they will provide for runs of 160 miles for a full day's pay instead of the current 100 miles.

In Cleveland, the five brotherhoods issued the following joint statement:

"The railway labor organizations are cooperating with the government to avoid any interruption to railroad service as a result of a unilateral promulgation of changes in pay and working conditions announced by railroad management.

"To that end, we have been in touch with the secretary of labor. We expect that a crisis will be averted by the prompt appointment of an emergency board under the Railway Labor Act. Such an emergency board can make a contribution in bringing the parties together in collective bargaining, leading to a fair and peaceful settlement."

"We agree with the secretary of labor that this dispute must ultimately be settled by the parties themselves."

In Washington, the National Mediation Board said it was immediately notifying President Kennedy that a national emergency rail dispute exists, the only remaining step necessary before Kennedy names a presidential board to delay a rail strike at least 60 days.

"The unions have told us they would run up a strike date," said NMB member Francis A. O'Neill Jr. "That's enough for us."

VOTERS SLOW TO CAST VOTES

Voting was dragging in Big Spring's city election this morning.

A check at the four fire station boxes at noon showed only 154 votes cast. Most of the judges, however, believed the heaviest voting would be after 4 p.m. Polls close at 7 p.m.

Two city commissioners will be chosen from three candidates in the race. Paul Kersch and John Stanley are seeking re-election and Roscoe Cone is a new candidate.

Senate Okays Citizenship For Churchill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed by voice vote today and sent to President Kennedy a bill to make Sir Winston Churchill, World War II prime minister of Great Britain, an honorary citizen of the United States.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois called up the measure less than an hour after the Senate Judiciary Committee had approved it unanimously.

There was no discussion as the Senate moved to give Churchill an unprecedented honor.

The Judiciary Committee said citizenship should be conferred "in recognition of one of America's greatest friends and the many contributions made by Sir Winston Churchill to the free world."

The bill directs the President to issue a proclamation declaring Churchill an honorary citizen.

Police Break Negro March

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — Police acted quickly today to break up a march of about 100 Negroes seeking to register to vote in this delta town.

City police halted a mass march about two blocks from its origin and ordered the marchers to disperse in smaller groups.

It was the latest of several demonstrations by the Negroes seeking to register.

Negro comedian Dick Gregory — who flew here to speak at a vote registration rally — appeared in the crowd but took no active part.

Police Chief Curtis Lary told the marchers "We have told you we will not interfere with genuine application to register, but you cannot proceed with groups this large through the business district."

The Negroes dispersed and walked and rode to the Leflore County courthouse in smaller groups.

Stock Market Trading Active

NEW YORK (AP) — A rising stock market mounted an assault on its mid-February recovery highs early this afternoon. Trading was active.

If stock prices can push past the resistance at the recovery peak—highest level since the 1962 lows of last June—it would be a clear vote of confidence in a spring advance, brokers said.

Motors, steels, oils, chemicals, tobaccos, and airlines were in the forefront as industrials renewed their advance of Monday. Aerospace issues, nonferrous metals, and building materials were uneven.

First-hour volume was a lively 1.3 million shares and, for the first two hours, turnover was 2.1 million shares.

Two Little Hippopotami

Pepper, the St. Louis Zoo's female hippopotamus, gave birth to twins. A zoo spokesman said it is believed to be the first multiple births by a hippo in captivity. The question going around the zoo is, "should they be called twin hippopotamuses, or hippopotami?" Here the two unnamed hippos nuzzle up close to mother. Zoo officials said mother is a bit bad tempered when humans come close to the youngsters.

President Requests $4.5 Billion In Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for $4.5 billion in new foreign aid money, slashing $420 million from the total he proposed before Gen. Lucius D. Clay's aid advisory committee reported the current program is much too big.

Last year Congress cut the President's $4.9-billion foreign aid request to $3.9 billion, and opponents want to pare even deeper this year.

In a special message to Capitol Hill, Kennedy outlined a six-point program aimed at improving the big overseas assistance program. He drew heavily on findings of the Clay committee with which he agrees.

Utah Upheld On Sales Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled unanimously that Utah can collect its sales tax on pipe sold by a Provo manufacturer for delivery to out-of-state users.

In a brief unsigned order, the high court cited an earlier ruling that "a state may levy and collect a sales tax" when passage of title and delivery to the purchaser takes place within the state.

The decision reversed a ruling by the Utah Supreme Court that imposition of the state's 2 percent levy on the pipe sales was an unconstitutional burden on interstate commerce.

The case involved claims by the Utah Tax Commission against Pacific States Cast Iron Pipe Co., Provo, for $32,290 on transactions in the 1957-59 period.

Pending Divorce Suits Reduced During March

Drastic action by Judge Ralph Caton of 118th District Court during March cut the grand total of pending divorce suits in his court from 308 to 219.

The court dismissed 68 pending divorce suits, some on motion of litigants, others on the court's own motion.

On March 1, there were 278 divorce cases on the docket. The March report of activities by the District Court Clerk M. F. Cox shows. On March 31, the total was 219.

Thirty new divorce petitions were filed during March to bring the total to 308. Twenty-one decrees of divorce were granted during the month. These, with the dismissals, brought the total to 287. The 135 dispositions—pleas of guilty, court trials, dismissals and other actions—left the final grand total still on file at 277.

Three final judgments on cases pending on appeal were handed down during the month.

European Youths Reflect Increase In Criminality

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD STRASBOURG, France (AP)—"Shall we go to the movies tonight or attack a woman?" This cruel jest, circulating in a West Berlin high school, reflects an increase of youthful criminality and brutality in Western Europe.

The Council of Europe asked 12 of its member countries about juvenile delinquency. All reported rapes, murders, stabbings, auto stealing, theft and wanton destruction by minors.

The report said 94 out of every 100 boys and girls never get into any trouble with the law, and held that "on the whole youth does well in these difficult times."

What alarmed the investigators was the recent tendency for large groups of young people suddenly to go wild.

West Berlin police have investigated over 30 mass rapes by bands of young hoodlums in just over a year.

Five years ago such attacks were unknown in Berlin. The new style prowling gangs seize women or young girls, often minors. A gang of 19 youths mistreated a 15-year-old girl for two hours before releasing her.

The head of the Berlin vice squad, Horst Schramm, said: "These criminals are not hard up for sex. Without exception they have girlfriends who are not in the least prudish. They simply delight in the use of force."

In Munich, thousands of youths battled police in the streets on successive nights.

A hundred young Swedes clad in leather jackets invaded a small defense of countries under threat of external and internal Communist attack.

Profit Of AT&T Exceeds That Of Previous Quarter

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and its Bell System affiliates during the three months ended Feb. 28 slightly exceeded the previous three months.

Net income reported was $338,858,000, compared with $336,773,000 for the previous three months.

In the February 1962 quarter earnings were $345,553,000.

The August quarter profit was $366,578,000.

Until three months ago earnings of the nationwide telephone system had increased steadily each quarter for nearly two years.

Frederick Kappel, AT&T chairman, told shareholders there was steady growth in the Bell System during the winter months.

Operating revenue during the latest three months rose to $12,295,271,000 from $12,174,125,000 a year ago. Operating expenses also increased.

For 12 months ended Feb. 28 the system cleared $1,442,041,000, or $5.80 a share. This compared with $1,343,879,000, or $5.55 a share, a year earlier on fewer shares outstanding.

There were 240,779,000 shares outstanding on an average during the year ended Feb. 28, 1963, and 234,683,000 outstanding in the year ended Feb. 28, 1962.

HOUSTON (AP)—A Manned Spacecraft Center safety officer says astronauts are in more danger driving their cars than while on space flights.

Shell Martin added: "Since the astronauts are so very well trained in what to expect and how to react to it safely, space flights hold much less danger for them than driving an automobile on a freeway."

Martin spoke to the Texas Safety Association.

Dwight Perkins Pursued By A Vindictive Jinx

Either Dwight Perkins, 16, is accident prone or he is being pursued by a particularly vindictive jinx this year.

Dwight, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Perkins, 1602 E. 16th, is going around today with a bandage over his right eye. The bandage covers a deep gash in his forehead received from a piece of wood flew loose when a lathe at which Dwight and a companion were working.

The accident occurred around 3 p.m. in the high school shop. Perkins and his companion, supervised by Carol Green, teacher, were adjusting the lathe. Green turned his head and the youths, thinking that all was clear, turned the machine on.

A piece of timber flung free, crashing into Perkins's skull.

Just 30 days ago—Feb. 2—Dwight was felled by a blast from a .410 shotgun which caught him in the buttocks as he and three companions were rabbit hunting northeast of town. The gun discharged when its owner slipped and fell.

This accident occurred in such rough country that a helicopter from Webb AFB had to be summoned to convey the wounded youth from the scene to the hospital.

Monday, Dwight had to have 15 stitches to close the gash over his eye. The other time, he had to stay in the hospital several days and the doctors were never able to remove all of the pellets from his hip.

Dwight is a route carrier for the Herald and showed up an hour after the mishap, somewhat woozy but on his own power, to take care of his customers. He had to have a little help however, before the job was finished.

Barking Dog Back To Court

Redstone of Orleans, a dog who allegedly likes to bark long and loud, seems to have gotten his owner, Ronald E. Lemmons, 1733 Yale, into a mess of trouble.

It all began Dec. 5 when Fred Hyer, 1929 Yale, brought suit against Lemmons in 118th District Court asking an injunction to make Redstone of Orleans hush up or be removed from the premises.

The court heard the case and handed down a judgment March 15—the sum and substance of the judgment being that Lemmons must get rid of Redstone of Orleans.

Now things have reached a new crisis.

Hyer complains that nothing has been done to comply with the order of the court. The court has set a hearing for 2 p.m. March 11 in 118th District Court.

Purpose of the hearing? To determine if Lemmons is guilty of contempt of court in his failure to comply with the orders of the court to dispose of Redstone of Orleans.

The order setting the hearing was filed Monday afternoon by Judge Ralph Caton.

THE PHYSICAL SIDE

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Many people are unaware that nervousness might be due to a physical disorder. By and large, the nervous patient is aware of his nervousness but wants to blame it on such things as overwork, pressure of personal problems, or just believes it is his nature to be nervous.

Such persons often undergo needless suffering and expense that could have been avoided if they had had chiropractic care at the beginning of their nervous symptoms.

In many instances nervous disorders may be readily traced to some pressing matter or emotional disturbance, and they may disappear when this cause is removed. But when the nervousness is due to some organic disorder, it is virtually impossible for the person to relax and become calm, regardless of how hard they may try.

Emotional tensions, frustrations or environmental pressures often lead to the breaking point, but the nervous breakdown is usually due to physical tensions resulting from interferences with the nervous system.

We find that irritations of the spinal nerves and muscles are one of the prime causes of a hypersensitive nervous system. Spinal adjustment, in most cases, offers effective relief and often permits Nature to heal the condition.

We also find that symptoms which result from such nerve irritations are in many instances very similar to those due to emotional upsets or environment and only through a thorough examination can the cause be determined. We remove such tensions by locating and removing the nerve irritations which cause them.

This young working wife came to our office suffering with an acute condition in the right side of the neck. She thought that she had slept in a wrong position or some other strain which had brought on the severe pain. We gave our usual examination and the deeper we looked into the condition and the case, the more pre-existing facts came out—disturbances of the appetite, sleep, menstrual, digestive and eliminatory disorders. Aches, pains and muscular tensions were admitted and it was finally realized by the patient that this severe pain in the neck was her body crying out that she had pushed herself to the end of her rope. The neck condition rapidly responded and she continued treatment for the underlying cause and now this young woman is a different individual entirely. She still has to take care of herself very carefully but has slated a number of times. "Dr. Hansen, you saved me from the north end of town." No. 1865.

You, too, may be suffering needlessly. It only takes a few minutes to find out. Investigate! What can you lose except your ill health? Across from Figgly Wiggly. AM 3-3324. —Adv.

Oil Production Is Down A Bit

TULSA (AP)—U.S. oil production was down about one half of one per cent during the first quarter of 1963, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The trade magazine said output in the first quarter averaged 7,374,000 barrels a day, down 28,000.

Production last week averaged 7,465,500 barrels daily, an increase of 2,125 from the previous week.

Average daily production by states included Arkansas 75,000, Colorado 111,900, Louisiana 1,396,000, New Mexico 304,200, Oklahoma 573,300 and Texas 2,580,900.

Mrs. Texas

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Lennie Sims, 32, of Wellington has been selected as the Mrs. Texas entry in the Mrs. America contest to be held here April 22-29.

Investigators note less delinquency among German refugee families which had a hard struggle to build a new existence. War orphans also got good behavior marks.

Nor are poor living conditions always to blame. British researchers found that when families moved from slums into bright new housing estates there was often an increase of youth delinquency.

The picture being given by European investigators is of young people who are economically affluent but culturally impoverished.

Unable to bridge the gulf between themselves and their elders, they band together, dress alike, haunt the same places.

The nicknames given these groups refer to their unconventional clothes. In England they are called Teddy Boys, or simply Teds because they affect Edwardian styles. In France they are Bouissons Noirs (black jackets) and in Germany Lederjackets (leather jackets) or Halbstärke (half-strength). In England some of them are called "Ton up Kids" because their success symbol is to own a motorcycle that can "do the ton"—reach 100 m.p.h.

Italians were bothered by rowdy groups on motor scooters. The activity faded when the press referred to them as Mancaloni—ridiculing them by calling them no-good loafers.

The failure to earn an heroic title seemingly punctured their cockiness.

Guard Blamed In Death Of Laos Leftist

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The assassination of leftist Laotian Foreign Minister Quinim Pholsena was blamed today on one of the guards at his home.

Government sources said the soldier—an adherent of Pholsena's own neutralist faction—riddled the foreign minister with 18 machine-gun bullets Monday night, then fired another shot into his head.

The guard was undergoing interrogation. Government sources said they did not know his motive nor could they identify him.

Quinim had entered the coalition government as a member of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist party. But in the past 10 months he had drawn closer and closer to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and had become highly controversial.

The foreign minister and his wife were attacked as they returned from a royal reception at which King Savang Vatthana appealed for peace among the turbulent nation's contending factions.

Quinim's wife, wounded in both legs, was in a coma from loss of blood.

U.S. officials in Washington took the view that the assassination could intensify seriously the feud in Prince Souvanna Phouma's government, a shaky coalition of rightwingers, neutralists and pro-Communists whose factions never have been able to agree on any action of importance.

Efforts Made To Save Birds

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Residents along the Minnesota and Mississippi rivers are operating duck laundries these days in an effort to rescue thousands of birds dying of oil pollution.

The rivers are coated with fuel oil from a pipeline that burst at Savage, Minn., and a soybean oil tank that cracked last winter at Mankato, Minn.

The oil coats the birds' feathers and fills their nostrils. Beaver and muskrat also have succumbed.

State and federal officials have demanded action by both rivers to choke off the oil which flows into the rivers when the ice melted last week.

Several families have picked up dozens of ducks and washed them in detergent in their own bathtubs. However, this removes the ducks' natural feather oils so they must be taken to game farms to recuperate, lest they sink in the water and drown when released.

State and federal agencies and game biologists are joining in the rescue effort. University of Minnesota natural history students helped out Sunday.

Nuclear Weather Effects Denied

GENEVA (AP)—Do nuclear tests influence the earth's weather?

"No," was the categorical reply given in this question Monday by the president of the World Meteorological Organization.

Andre Viaut told a news conference that statistical and other studies prove conclusively that nuclear explosions have no effect on the weather except for a few hours in a small area immediately around the blast site.

Indian Reds Walk Out Of Parliament

NEW DELHI (AP)—Communist members of India's Parliament walked out Monday in protest against Home Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri's refusal to release detained Communists. Shastri said the detentions were for security in the India-China border conflict.

The Communists argued that since they supported India in the face of Communist Chinese aggression, members should not be held.

Shastri gave no figures but said many Indian Reds had been released.

Rumors Of Graft Came With Purchase Of Alaska

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Ninety-six years ago the United States paid Russia $7.2 million for Alaska—then Russian America.

A few years ago, just after Alaska became the 49th state, Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov said:

"We'd give you $200 million for it—but I don't suppose you would sell. We have a proverb in Russia, if something has fallen off a cart, it is lost forever."

When Russia gave up Alaska in 1867 after holding it for 126 years, many Americans thought $7.2 million was far too much to pay for what they visualized as an ice-bound wasteland.

BRIBE RUMORS

There were rumors that the Russian minister had bribed high officials to secure congressional approval of the deal.

Whits dubbed it "Seward's folly."

Hoffa Claims Bobby 'Spoiled'

NEW YORK (AP)—Teamsters Union President James Hoffa says Atty. Gen. Robert (Bobby) Kennedy is "just a spoiled young millionaire."

Hoffa added:

"He never had to go out and find a way to live by his own efforts, and he cannot understand resistance to what he wants."

Hoffa said Kennedy "has made all of the international unions conform to what he wants" except the Teamsters.

"We don't intend to conform," Hoffa said Monday night. "We're going to carry out what our membership wants, keeping within the law, whether Bobby Kennedy likes it or not."

Hoffa criticized the attorney general and Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., on a taped television program.

and "Johnson's polar bear farm" and one writer described an imaginary visit to Alaska:

"I visited all of the important points along the coast and found them covered with ice, and very slippery indeed; I don't think an enemy could ever get a foothold on these shores."

In the mid-1850s, Russia's czarist government realized it couldn't defend Alaska if war came and the colony would fall eventually either to the United States or Great Britain, and Russia preferred having it belong to the United States.

Sen. Charles Sumner of Massachusetts said shortly after the Senate ratified the purchase treaty that Russia had "wished to strip herself of all outlying possessions as Napoleon had stripped himself of Louisiana in order to gain her strength for her struggle with England for control of Asia."

AN INVESTMENT

Russia had looked upon Alaska as an investment rather than a colony. The Russian American Co. held exclusive franchise to exploit its wealth.

Mismanagement had brought the company to the verge of bankruptcy when the czar refused to renew the franchise in 1862. The Russians felt they had drained the country of most of its resources.

First overtures for the sale of Alaska were made in 1859 during the administration of President Buchanan. This effort was swept aside by the outbreak of the Civil War.

In December 1866, Baron Edouard de Stoecki, longtime ambassador to the United States, was on vacation in Russia when he was given orders to negotiate for the sale of Alaska.

Returning to Washington, he broached the subject to Secretary of State William H. Seward. Seward offered $5 million. Stoecki demanded $10 million.

REACHED A PRICE

Soon they agreed on $7.2 million

Judge Rejects Anti-Racism Move

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—A federal judge has rejected a Justice Department request for an immediate court order barring interference with Negro vote registration efforts.

But U.S. Dist. Judge Claude F. Clayton of Tupelo plans a hearing on the matter Thursday at Greenville, Miss.

Meanwhile, Negro comic Dick Gregory—who flew here to speak at a vote registration rally—said he would join members of his race going to the Leflore County courthouse today to take registration tests.

This city of 22,000, in the heart of Mississippi's cotton-growing area, has been stirred by racial unrest. Negroes, who outnumber white persons nearly 2-1, have spurred a vote registration drive. Of Leflore County's 6,400 registered voters, only 47, are Negroes.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No sticky gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

HINDERS OBEDIENCE

King Agrippa was visibly moved by the preaching of Paul. He spoke out, saying, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian" (Acts 26:28). Then he remembered that he was a king and was sitting as judge in the trial of Paul.

The king rose up. He and the other dignitaries went aside and considered what to do with the man on trial. That ended it. Agrippa did not obey the gospel of Christ. Pride is often a hindrance to obedience. To be converted, one must become like a little child (Matt. 18:3). Little children are humble. They can bring themselves to say, "I have been wrong."

Many a person knows he is wrong in his life (or in his religion), but is too proud to admit it and accept the right way. To change would be to admit that he had been wrong; and would mean he must start again at the bottom of the ladder. This is too great a blow to the pride of some. Is it in your case?

Fascism Still Exists For Many Italians

By JAMES M. LONG
ROME (AP)—The symbolic red, white and green fascism flowers on election posters throughout Italy and still brighten the hearts of a million and a half Italians.

Diehard blackshirts and many of their sons will vote in the national election April 28 under their old motto: "Viggiaco chi tolla!"—"Who yields is a coward."

They still claim, as Benito Mussolini did 40 years ago in his march on Rome, that their party is Italy's last ditch defense against communism.

Even the party's leaders see no real chance that they will ever win back power. But they are pledged to Mussolini's old idea of state socialism—the corporate state.

GAINED, LOST

After the war they reorganized their party as the Italian Social Movement (MSI). For a while it gathered strength. In the first postwar parliamentary election, in 1948, they polled only 2 per cent of votes. Five years later they won 5.8 per cent. That was the MSI peak. In the latest national election, in 1958, their votes dropped to 4.8 per cent, or 1.4 million.

Although outnumbered 5 to 1, the Fascists have given eager battle to Italy's big Communist party for the past 15 years—in riots in the city squares and fist fights in Parliament.

It is not against the law for an Italian to be a Fascist. There is no law against a political party under such an innocuous name as the Italian Social Movement, even if its political aims are Mussolini's old goals of state socialism, and even if its members call themselves Fascist.

ILLEGAL GLORY

What is against the law is "apology for fascism"—that is, glorifying the Fascist era by using its banners and slogans and signs or praising its ideals.

City Councilman Ernesto Brivio, stormy petrel of Italian fascism, ran afoul of this law last month. Son of a rich chain-store owner, Brivio was decorated for wartime air force heroism. He won a landslide election to Rome's City Council with such slogans as: "I defended you in the air. I will defend you in city hall."

Police charged him with apology for fascism because he stood in front of a political rally in his old Fascist black shirt, with his arm up in the now-forbidden Roman salute.

As a city councilman he was not jailed but he will have to answer to a misdemeanor charge.

On more dramatic occasions, the law looks the other way.

GREATER OVATION

Eight years ago 100,000 Romans turned out with the salute and the black battle flags of fascism to give Marshal Rodolfo Graziani a greater ovation in death than he ever received as Mussolini's last-ditch commander.

Behind the coffin marched the last of the Mussolini's legions—each man in some tattered old remnant of his uniform, each company headed by the tricolor flame pennants of the MSI or the old black war banners of fascism.

"Italia, Italia," the crowd shouted in a chant similar to that once used to shout "Duce, Duce."

It was the same at the little cemetery at Predappio two years later, when Mussolini's body finally was turned over to his widow for burial in the family tomb.

Opening lead: Three of ♥.

The "too hasty play to trick one" is an oft-voiced criticism leveled by bridge writers in their columns against the poor declarer. Although this charge is usually well placed we have decided to give the customary victim a rest, and in today's hand it is the defender who will be taken to task for his impulsiveness.

The bidding was sound. South did not bother to show his diamond suit in response to partner's takeout double. The one no trump response is a completely descriptive call showing from about 8 to 10 points—and is more apt to lead to a game.

West gave considerable thought to his opening lead. From the bidding it appeared that his opponents were pretty well fortified in clubs. It

DAILY GUIDE—There has been a great deal of misunderstanding in relationships in the past few months, and some of it has been based on lack of facts, lack of full news coverage, and intelligent discussion. We are faced with this now, but fortunately, we are on the way to getting the full report of what has been going on, and what is likely to take place soon. Many things will be brought out in the open now which took place behind the scenes. Some of it will make us angry. Watch out in discussions that you don't confuse matters further with arguments; much confusion will be due to ignorance. We need to keep ourselves better informed, and that is only done through original and clear thinking, not listening to the main stream of public opinion. Keep your mind on details, check and recheck for errors, and don't take any aggressive action while infuriated. This is a rather washday day. It can also mark the time when some of the eclipsed matters of last February are accentuated again, also February of last year, and last October.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ARIES!

No one needs to tell you to go ahead with your plans. You are usually off and far away ahead of the people around you. This year you could really win the race, even if you start with a handicap. It is your year to win, but naturally, you can't expect to do that if you have been doing all the wrong things lately. All things considered you can win acclaim, expand socially, and really enjoy this year. Right now social contacts can be keeping you busy. In June expect some big shake-up in working conditions or in your job. Keep an eye on security funds, joint funds, wills, insurance, etc. Never allow these things to drift along without supervision.

Cuban Ends Up At A&M

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Less than three years ago, a young Cuban architect reported to work at his downtown Havana office. He just as he had done the day before.

Moments later, he cleared his desk and turned to one of his co-workers.

"I must leave for awhile," Guillermo Vidau said.

Outside the building, he met his wife. They drove to the airport, where Vidau (pronounced Vee-do) made his flight to Miami.

Like many others, Vidau became a part of a wave of refugees fleeing Communist Cuba, all with the vague notion of their future. His only possession was a suitcase with clothes. A month later, the rest of the Vidau family arrived in Miami.

Why did they leave Cuba and what has happened to them since? "If I had waited one more month," Vidau said, "I had planned to buy a block and build houses for all my children so we would be together always."

What about future plans? Vidau only shrugs his shoulders and grins. His return to Cuba will depend largely on what happens, if anything, to Castro and Cuba. Vidau was opposed to Fidel long before his rise to power.

The professor is optimistic, however. He predicts that Cubans will be back in Cuba by the fall of 1964. He declines to elaborate—just grins.

His third child, a daughter, is an American citizen, born 1 1/2 years ago.

Program On Hoffa Bland

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—David Brinkley's hour-long special program on NBC Monday night was misleadingly called "Inside Jimmy Hoffa." It should have been called "Inside the Teamsters Union."

Pro-Hoffa factions—mostly powerful local Teamsters officers—were lavish in praise of the controversial union president, calling him a "labor giant" and "benefactor to all the people in the labor movement." To an anti-Hoffa Teamster in Philadelphia, he was an "egomaniac" (sic) and a "bloodsucker."

The program was rather bland considering the subject. The most interesting portion came during an interview by Brinkley from the head of the 2 million-member union explained his belief that "life is a juggle."

"Every day of life of the average individual is a matter of survival," he said.

"Ethics is a matter of individualism. What may be ethical to you, may be non-ethical to someone else. Live and let live, and those who try to destroy you—make it your business to see that they don't, and that they have problems."

Brinkley's most important function was to occasionally note Hoffa's troubles with the law and to quote statistics about Teamsters convicted, under indictment, or under investigation for assorted crimes.

Guard Race Bar Lifting Is Voted

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A bill to remove the racial barrier to membership in the North Carolina National Guard was enacted Monday with approval of the North Carolina House.

A voice vote with a scattering of "noes" passed the bill which already had passed the Senate.

The House was told that Atty. Gen. T. Wade Bruton had voiced the opinion that the state law aimed at barring Negroes from the Guard would be held unconstitutional if challenged in the courts.

Cherry Trees In Blossom Just In Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: CHERRY BLOSSOMS—Helped along by warmer than usual weather, Washington's famed cherry blossoms are bursting into bloom.

National Park Service horticulturists predict the trees will be in full bloom Wednesday or Thursday—nice timing since the annual five-day Cherry Blossom Festival begins today. City officials say more than 700,000 persons will visit the capital next weekend.

BRIEFING: Editors and broadcasters in all states and Puerto Rico will receive invitations this week to a State Department foreign policy conference in Washington April 22-23. Speakers at the briefing will include President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

WAR VETERANS: Some war veterans or their dependents would receive increased benefits under six bills passed by the House and sent to the Senate. The measures' estimated first-year price tag is $6.6 million.

The biggest item in the package passed by the House Monday calls for a 10 per cent increase in monthly rates of dependency and indemnity compensation for eligible parents and children of veterans who died of service-connected diseases. It is expected to cost $5 million the first year.

Showers In Prospect

By The Associated Press
Cooler air flowing southward over Texas promised to ease summery temperatures a bit Tuesday, and scattered thunderstorms or showers were in prospect for most sections.

There was a little light rain Monday in the Panhandle-Plains sector, but not enough to relieve drought plaguing most areas of the state. It was generally hot and muggy.

Isolated thunderstorms dotted the Panhandle again early Tuesday. It was at least partly cloudy elsewhere except for clear skies along the coast and in the Wichita Falls vicinity.

Showers activity was expected to increase in western areas of Texas during the day and spread toward the east in the evening. The thermometer climbed to 95 degrees Monday at Presidio in the usually warm Big Bend country. Amarillo was the coolest spot with a high of 65.

AF Satellite Sent Into Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Another military satellite has roared into orbit from this Air Force missile base.

The Air Force doesn't release details of military launches. After the shot Monday a spokesman announced only: "A satellite employing a Thor-Agena combination has been launched."

The Thor-Agena first and second stage units have been used in almost all launches of satellites in the Discoverer series. The Discoverers are research vehicles. They have been used in the past in the development of the Midas and Samos surveillance satellites.

Paris Night And Day

At left, raised waistline, small high bosom and wide shoulders, all marks of the designer, evident on this ottoman made of a deep ribbed orlon acrylic fiber and cotton. At right, white and navy are combined into a soft box jacket suit. The crepe of silk and orlon is pin pleated at the waistline.

Paris Disappointing; Men Object To Styles

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Paris has been a crushing disappointment to men on two scores this year.

First of all, those designing Frenchmen did not provide them with their semi-annual ration of laughs at the ladies' expense. How can they jibe at their fashion frailties when styles are more often sublime than ridiculous?

Now passe is the surreptitious glance at the woman in a Paris original (or copy), and the de- rive inquiry, "Is that a woman?" It most certainly is—a soft, startlingly beautiful female.

In all probability her shape may have been tampered with a little—the bosom flattened, the waistline lifted or lowered, and the shoulders drooped a bit. Yet Parisienne couturiers who have learned painfully that distortion is not the shortest distance to a dollar, now know not to go too far. Even so, style practiced eyes, which include more masculine orbs than ever before, seem to have become accustomed to minor figure infractions.

Prettysort is a term coined by a ready-to-wear trade publication to describe the quality that all Paris-inspired garments possess this season. The word hardly needs defining.

French garments are tucked, gathered, seamed and shaped from wonderful-to-touch textiles that do the most for the feminine figure without clutching at it. There are buttons and bows and ruffles, but just enough to allow a woman to be womanly, not giddy girlie. There is still plenty of tailleur coming out of the world capital of fashion this year, yet none of it is severely mannish enough to stir resentment in males at the potential rivalry.

You'd think men would love these clothes. They do. That is why they are so disappointed in them, and in themselves. It is out of character.

You'd think women would love them, and they certainly do, which is the second reason why men are so disturbed over the current crop of French fashions. Undoubtedly, women will be buying them, and this can be extremely disappointing to a man trying to keep expenses down.

Toastmixers Have Program On April Fool

Toastmixers used the theme "You will stand without a crutch," for their Monday evening session at the state hospital. Programs, cut in the shape of a crutch, had an April Fool motif and the terse verse, "Oh wad some power the giffie gie us!—To see some people before they see us!"

"An April 1st I Remember" was the topic used for discussion by the members, after which there was a brief business session. Mrs. Frank Meacham served as the coordinator for the evening when three ice-breaker speeches were made.

The next meeting date was set for April 15.

Mrs. Orand Is Honored At Shower

Mrs. Byron Orand and her infant daughter, Kara Lea, were honored Monday evening with a shower in the home of Mrs. Ernest Welch, 605 Bucknell. Mrs. Orand was presented a corsage of feathered chrysanthemums, and the hostess gift was a portable crib.

Assisting Mrs. Welch were co-hostesses, Mrs. Ed Black, Mrs. Bill Horne, Mrs. Roy Hulig, Mrs. Bill Blalack, Mrs. Ben Caldwell, Mrs. G. H. Hayward, Mrs. Noel Hull, Mrs. Cecil Suttles and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Also, Mrs. Shirley Walker, Mrs. Paul Petterson, Mrs. G. O. R. a n Rainey, Mrs. Jim White and Mrs. Bill Draper.

The refreshment table, laid with a white net cloth over yellow linen, had a centerpiece of yellow gladioli and white chrysanthemums in a pedestal arrangement. Milk-glass appointments were used. Hostesses alternated at the register, refreshment and gift tables.

Sixty guests called during the hours from 7 to 9 p.m.

Braising Meat

If you are braising a large piece of meat, place it on a round wire rack or a trivet in the kettle and then add the liquid. If you have a round range-top "baker," it may be that the rack from it fits your kettle and can be borrowed for the braising.

CUT CAPERS In Slickers

AP Newsfeature
The slickest in slick teenage fashions is the slicker slicker, which girls, and boys, too, are making for themselves.

The tent-like rain cape is no more than a 54-inch square of oilcloth with a hole in the center for the head. The four corners droop to the wrists and front and back. It requires no particular instructions, just a little common sense in snipping the neck.

Some high schoolers prefer the patterned slickers, especially if they can find oilcloth that utilizes their school colors within the pattern.

However, many prefer solid, vivid colors, such as bright reds and shiny yellows. The more ambitious ones trim the neck and ends with matching or contrasting waterproof tape. Then they encourage their friends to scribble on their slickers with indi-ble markers. There is plenty of room for names, notes and nonsense. Worn with the watershedding, bat-wing cape is a cone-shaped hat which requires but a single seam to make by hand or the sewing machine. Since it barely touches the head, the three-cornered rain topper with the brim folded back is particularly popular with the girls. It keeps their hair dry without mashing it down.

Some save the scraps of oilcloth, cover their books, and decorate with their own classroom doodling.

SNICKER SLICKERS

Exhibit By HD Clubs Scheduled

Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, chairman of the Home Demonstration exhibit committee, reminded members of the Howard County HD Council to prepare for the forthcoming display to be held in May. She spoke to the group Monday afternoon in a meeting at the court house.

Mrs. A. C. Hale gave the devotion, and two guests were introduced as Mrs. D. S. Phillips and Mrs. O. D. O'Daniel Sr. Twenty-four members were in attendance.

One hundred and 79 club members were reported as members of the THDA. Also, seven Howard County clubs were reported giving the $5 scholarships. After the president's reports, Mrs. Delaine Crawford, HD agent, discussed and distributed rules for the club reporters.

Members approved and voted to give the book, "Recovery of Family Life," to the county library. They were told of a change in the meeting place during the months of May, June and July. During this period the council will meet at the First Federal Savings and Loan Bldg.

Concluding the program of business, Mrs. Crawford showed slides on parliamentary procedure. After refreshments were served by the hostess club of Coahoma.

Fashion Show Will Feature Jewelry

The Four O'Clock Garden Club will sponsor a jewelry fashion show Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Bill Motley, 1409 E. 15th. Hours are from 8 to 10 p.m. with proceeds going to the club treasury.

FOR CAREER WOMEN

Mrs. Crawford Speaker For Scenic Chapter

A quick dessert of cherries and cake mix was made by Mrs. Delaine Crawford Monday evening for members of the Scenic Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Mrs. Crawford was guest speaker for the group in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Using the topic, "Good Nutrition Combined With Good Meals," she stressed that basic foods should not be neglected by the working woman. She gave various short-cuts for preparing nutritious meals quickly.

A chicken supper was served to 30 members and guests as a fund-raising project for the chapter.

Following the dinner, an installation ceremony was held for Mrs. Stanley Bogard, a new member who was sponsored by Mrs. Nathan Deats. Mrs. Doris Carr

Gardens For Coolness Discussed

Rock gardens and the soothing effect of coolness created by them were described in a talk to members of the Junior Garden Club Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Baich.

"A Garden to Cool You" was the topic for Mrs. Doris Carr's talk, stressing the use of water—a splashing fountain or rippling stream, as well as vegetation and blossoming flowers for color.

Ann Talbot, president, announced the club's first place district award for the scrapbook; second state award for scrapbook; and third state award for the club program.

Fourteen members were present, and were served refreshments by Denise Estes.

Shower For Miss Baker

A pre-nuptial shower, honoring Miss Louise Baker, was held Monday evening in the Friendship Hall of Hillcrest Baptist Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Baker and the bride elect of Joe Dan Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henry.

Hostesses were Mrs. H. T. Oilphant, Mrs. H. C. Spivey, Mrs. W. S. Goodlet, Mrs. H. L. Bingham and Mrs. Rex Greenwood.

Also, Mrs. W. S. Gideon, Mrs. Avery Faulks, Mrs. Terry Carter, Mrs. Floyd Henderson and Mrs. Willard Hendrick.

Miss Diana Spivey registered guests, and Miss Sandra Woodson assisted with the gift display. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Goodlet. A floor-length ecru lace cloth over blue linen covered the refreshment table, where milk-glass appointments were used. The centerpiece of white carnations, blue snapdragons and cornflowers was flanked by blue tapers. Calling hours were from 7:30 to 9 p.m. with the guest list including 75.

BSP Pledges Are Initiated

Seven pledges were initiated Monday night into the Mu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The ceremony, held in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Bldg., was conducted for Mrs. John Gochbauer, Miss Beverly Jones, Mrs. Lloyd Jones, Mrs. Lewis Newell, Mrs. Karl Reeves, Mrs. Kurt Roeloffs and Mrs. Joe Sharpnack. Mrs. Jerry Marples was welcomed as a transferee from California.

After a program on "Sculpture" given by Mrs. Ennis Cochran, members were reminded to bring material to be made into Easter dresses for girls of the special education class. Mrs. Kurt Roeloffs, chairman of the service committee reported that the dresses will be made by Mrs. Milton Humphreys and Mrs. John Ferguson.

The 16 members were served refreshments from a table spread with white damask and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers in shades of pink. Hostesses for the evening was Miss Jones.

Hall-Vinson Vows Are Exchanged At Home

The marriage of Mrs. Frances Vinson, 1004 Rosemont St., and Jesse Hall of Ralls was performed in a Sunday afternoon ceremony in the home of Mrs. Johnnie A. Hobbs, 2115 Carl St. The single ring service was read by Paul Keele Jr., minister of the Marcy Street Church of Christ.

The nuptial music was "I Love You Truly," sung by vocalist, Randall Morton.

The bride was attired in a sheath of gold silk shantung and brown lizard slippers. She wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Hobbs, matron of honor and daughter of the bride, wore a navy blue dress. The bridegroom's son, Neil Hall of Lubbock, served as best man.

After the couple's wedding trip to San Angelo, residence will be made in Ralls, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. Before her marriage, Mrs. Hall was employed at Stanley Hardware. RECEPTION Held at the Hobbs residence, a

Guild Study Concluded

Members of Martha Wesleyan Service Guild gathered in the parlor of the First Methodist Church Monday evening to conclude the study, "Dimensions of Prayer."

Hymns were led by Mrs. B. M. Keese, with Miss Roberta Gay the piano accompanist. Mrs. W. J. Riggs read scripture and offered the prayer.

Mrs. Cass Hill summarized "Dialogue of Prayer and Action," telling of seeds of concern and Christian prayer. On the same topic, Mrs. M. R. Turner discussed plateaus of prayer; private prayer and corporate worship; and readiness, to be of use.

The group read in unison the hymn, "Prayer is the Soul's Sincere Desire," which was followed by sentence prayers. Mrs. Bert Affleck gave a report of the annual conference at Pampa, and announced that next year's conference will be held at Plainview.

Mrs. W. R. Yates gave the benediction, after which refreshments were served to 24 members and Mrs. Lina Flewellen and Mrs. Hollis Ford, guests. Hostesses were Mrs. Ruby Martin, Mrs. A. C. Bass and Mrs. A. C. Moore.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girde constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girde will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girde itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the design-geniuses, Olga.

Bond Is Refused For George Ives

George Ives, 38, charged with murder with malice, was refused bail by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice today.

Ives, alleged to have shot and killed Loma Doyle O'Neal, 38, at her home Sunday afternoon, was brought before Grice after he had been transferred to the county jail by city police. Grice said that he would not grant bond at this time.

"As I understand matters," said Grice, "the district attorney has not had much opportunity to investigate this homicide. I have not been too well informed. I think it will be better for all concerned if Ives stays in jail for a few days until we are all better grounded in the facts in this case. If circumstances merit, I can set bond then."

Ives was returned to his cell in the county jail. He had no attorney when he appeared before Grice. A friend, whose home is in Midland, was with him at the time and had planned to post bond for the alleged slayer if a bond was set.

Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney, interviewed the defendant a short time later. Statements which he and other witnesses had given to investigating police were in the hands of the district attorney today.

Mrs. O'Neal, who was a grandmother and who worked at a cleaning plant and as a part-time waitress, was killed when shot two times Sunday afternoon. She died en route to a hospital.

The shooting occurred in the bedroom of her home at 205 Ulahs Ives lived at the home. She made a statement to police in which he admitted the shooting and said it climaxed a long and bitter quarrel between the two, over financial matters. Mrs. O'Neal, according to Ives and other witnesses, had ordered the man from the house.

Services for the slain woman were at 4 p.m. today in Colorado City, with burial in the Colorado City Cemetery.

Jury Hearing Appeal Case From Slaughter's Court

A jury in Howard County Court is hearing testimony today in an appeal case brought from the justice court of Jess Slaughter—a first, insofar as the local court records are concerned.

The appellant before the court is Ted O. Groebel, who had been charged with speeding by a state highway patrol officer and had been ruled guilty in the justice court. On appeal, he seeks to set aside the finding of the justice of the peace.

The case is one of a large number of appeals from the justice court and the city court which are set for disposition this week in county court.

Through a coincidence, when the jury panel was drawn some weeks ago, the last name on the panel was Ted O. Groebel.

At that time, Groebel did not know his appeal was to be called before the court at this time. He

Special Sales Promotions Are Discussed

Special retail promotions for coming months were approved by members of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a regular meeting this morning.

Straw Hat Day, set for April 4, will lead off the parade of days on which Big Spring shoppers will be offered special enticements to trade in this city.

Another event will be tied in with the Air Show May 26. On May 21 leaflets offering special inducements to buy at participating stores will be dropped in Big Spring and surrounding cities. The particulars have not been worked out. However, it will be tied in with Armed Forces Day, May 18, and with the Air Show the following weekend.

Although no details for promotions were worked out, Sept. 18, the anniversary of the U.S. Air Force, was chosen as another day on which to offer special values. Discussions centered around the possibility of conducting a beauty contest for 16-year-old girls since that date will be the sixteenth birthday of this branch of the services.

October 17, 18 and 19 were chosen as dates for Better Buy in Big Spring Days. Other sale times, such as pre-school days, will follow the usual procedure.

Adolph Swartz, chairman, appointed a committee to make a survey of utilization of parking meters to determine if some areas for parking are being overlooked by shoppers. These could later be pointed out to make parking easier.

Another committee was appointed to check into the feasibility of designating the three meters nearest each intersection on downtown streets for two-hour parking. All members present favored the suggestion.

City Ordinances To Be Codified

Big Spring's city ordinances will be codified and printed, to simplify their use and will be ready in book form by the end of 1963 or early 1964. The city commission, in a called breakfast meeting this morning, authorized an agreement with Municipal Code Corporation, Tallahassee, Fla., to do the work.

"The city has some conflicting ordinances and parts of ordinances," Larry Crow, city manager, said. "The commission will be in a position to eliminate the conflicts. The firm will also issue supplements on future ordinances to keep the work up to date."

At the last commission meeting, Crow was instructed to contact cities in Texas which have ordinances codified by two firms submitting estimates here on the cost. The Municipal Code Corporation has completed work for 27 such cities and was chosen on the basis of replies from city officials using the firm.

The award ceremony was slated for 2 p.m. in the dining room of Ward 8. Mrs. Mary Hughes, instructor, was to present the pins. Receiving awards are Mrs. Elva Webb, Mrs. Antonio Podhurney and Mrs. Kate Foster, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Lucille Ammon and Mrs. Anona McCart, Midland.

Soviets Fire Research Rocket Toward Moon

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced they fired an unmanned, 3,130-pound research vehicle toward the moon today from the orbit of an earth satellite. A Soviet astronomer hinted it may land a robot observatory on the moon's surface.

This is part of the Soviet preliminary work in a race with the United States to be the first to land men on the moon.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the automatic instrument station will reach the area of the moon in 3 1/2 days, apparently meaning some time Saturday.

At last reports at 4 p.m. Tass said, the device was outward bound 31,370 miles above the Yellow Sea and rocketing along close to its preset trajectory. Its instruments were said to be functioning normally.

MOON IV

Tass called the device Moon IV, though its predecessors in Soviet moon shot work have been known as Luniks.

Lunik I missed the moon, Lunik II was reported to have scored a hit. From Lunik III came the release of pictures purported to show the hidden back side of the planet.

The United States had landed one rocket on the moon's back side, but instrument failure limited the value of the exploit.

Without saying whether Moon IV was intended to hit or fly by the moon, Tass said the launching was in accordance with the Soviet program for "exploration of outer space and planets of the solar system."

The phraseology of its communique suggested the vehicle was shot from an orbiting space platform, but the communique did not go into detail.

It said, "The final stage of the rocket was preliminarily set on an intermediate orbit of an artificial earth satellite, then was launched and emerged onto the preset trajectory of the flight."

PIGGY-BACK

The implication seemed to be that it was a piggy-back launching from an orbiting multistage rocket.

Nikolai Barabashov, head of the Kharkov Observatory, hinted that Moon IV or its successors may pack a robot observatory to a landing on the moon. Writing for Tass, he said Soviet scientists also want another series of photographs of the moon's topography.

Barabashov said additional pictures are needed to determine the heights of the moon's mountains and the depth of its craters. Without specifically mentioning Moon IV, he wrote:

"It would be possible to get much valuable information and data during the launching of automatic interplanetary stations which would land on the surface of the moon and, with the help of various apparatus, transmit to the earth information about physical conditions on the moon: Temperature, density and other characteristics of its extremely rarified atmosphere, about the microrelief of the surface, magnetic fields, and the nature and character of light rays."

GOAL OF BOTH

The use of such unmanned devices is a preliminary to attempts to land men on the moon, a goal of both Soviet and U.S. governments.

The head of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has estimated at something under $20 billion the cost of landing the first Americans on the moon by 1970.

The NASA promoting a surveyor project which would soft-land instrument packages on the moon, to include some shots which would orbit that planet and not land.

The Russian device appeared to have a research mission of this type.

This is the first notable claim by the Russians in their moon shots since 1959, when they claimed two achievements: —Landing of a 614-pound rocket, Lunik II, on the moon Sept. 12, 1959, in a flight said to have proved the planet has no magnetic field. —Dispatch Oct. 4, 1959 of a 614-pound space station called Lunik III to photograph the back side of the moon, a mission from which the Soviet Union released photographs Oct. 24 showing the hidden terrain was mostly mountains. It missed the moon.

MISSUS MOON

Lunik I, launched Jan. 2, 1959, missed the moon by 4,700 miles and went into orbit around the sun.

The United States landed Ranger 4 on the back side of the moon April 26, 1962. This was an instrument jammied, 730-pound space craft. But the fantastically complex device had been turned by brain failure in flight into a hurtling hulk.

Vaccine Donations Reach $3,292

Donations at the clinic for Type III Sabin Oral Polio vaccine totaled $3,292, according to John Currie, whose personnel counted the funds. Average donation was 16.9 cents.

The first two segments of the drive netted $10,899.93, bringing the total to $14,191.93.

There is no donation required, although persons who wish are invited to make a contribution of 25 cents for each dose of the vaccine to help cover costs. Any proceeds in excess of expenses will be given to the Howard County Rehabilitation (Crippled Children) Center.

Two upcoming conventions were discussed at the Real Estate Board meeting Monday in the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

A Salesmen's Caravan meeting in Odessa is set April 24 and the Texas Real Estate Association convention is planned in Galveston June 12-15. A radio program was discussed, members were urged to vote Tuesday, and the Code of Ethics was studied.

Argentine Bloc Proclaims Revolt

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Two retired army generals proclaimed a revolt against the government of President Jose Maria Guido today and quickly won support from naval units. Four hours later, Guido announced the revolt crushed—but then backtracked.

While a measure of calm returned to this capital, radio broadcasts from the interior indicated that navy units still were in revolt and threatening to sail for Buenos Aires. An army broadcast from the interior ordered tanks to crush the navy rebels.

Guido himself, after saying the revolt had been stamped out, issued an ultimatum to navy holdouts to surrender.

Mrs. Hise Quits Sheriff's Office

Mrs. Billie Barron will become a member of the staff of Sheriff Miller Harris April 15, Harris said today.

She will take the place now filled by Mrs. Kathy Hise in the Worthless Check Department. Mrs. Hise is leaving the job to become associated with the local office of the State Welfare Department. Harris said that Mrs. Hise was being paid more money in her new job.

Kennedy To Tour Military Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will make an inspection tour of military bases in the West in June and will participate in commencement exercises at the U.S. Air Force Academy.

Kennedy will fly to Colorado Springs, Colo., on June 3 to hand graduating Air Force cadets their diplomas in a ceremony in the academy's big athletic stadium, it was learned today.

Later that day, Kennedy will tour the North American Air Defense Command headquarters at Colorado Springs, then fly to El Paso, Tex.

On the following day, he will go to the White Sands, N.M., Proving Grounds and later to San Diego, Calif., where he is expected to witness fleet maneuvers in the Pacific.

Last Minute Rush Keeps Office Open

Just how many motor vehicles in this county are still wearing 1962 car plates today was a moot question until Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, tax assessor and her staff have time to compile reports on the number of plates sold since Feb. 1, the final figure will not be available.

Monday afternoon, the deadline for the purchase of 1963 plates, saw the tag office, where title transfers and other special bookkeeping was needed, quite active.

At 5 p.m. the lobby was filled with belated motorists. It was after 6:30 p.m. before the deputies had processed the last applicant's request and closed down for the night.

The other tag office, reserved for routine operations, was not rushed. A few customers were on hand most of the day but at 5 p.m. that office was able to close down without delay.

The sub-stations, which had been operating in the two Newcomb Food Stores and at the Lewis Variety Store, remained open until later in the evening and were kept reasonably busy to closing time, Mrs. LeFevre said.

Only a handful of applicants for plates were on hand Tuesday. Most of these signed affidavits they had not operated their cars since midnight last night.

Any car which is operated on the road after Monday with last year's plates is in violation of the law and the operator can be arrested and fined. In addition, he pays a penalty on the delayed purchase of tags.

Two Criminal Dockets Slated In County Court

Twenty-five criminal cases have been set for jury trial on two non-consecutive weeks in Howard County Court, according to Wayne Burns, county attorney.

Burns said the first week of criminal jury cases has been set for April 15-19 by Judge Lee Porter. The second week, continuing disposition of cases on the same list, will be May 6-10.

Burns said the docket is intended as a step in the court's plan to keep the criminal docket current. Some of the cases set for trial have been filed within the last few days, he said. This is the first time a county docket has been set so soon after a number of the alleged offenses were docketed.

Meantime, Judge Porter said he plans to call a civil jury docket in the court sometime in the near future.

Cases set down for trial on the two weeks' docket include 12 complaints alleging driving while intoxicated. The DWI defendants slated for trial are: Jerry F. King, Melvin Ernston, Fred Constantino Jr., Lillian Clark, Juan Rodriguez, J. M. Purser, Robert D. Hutcherson, Louis M. Thompson, Eula Mae Barber, John L. Crawford, Joseph T. Mattingly, Doris C. Miller and Richard L. Kelly.

Other cases include: Jerry F. King, carrying arms; Trinidad Arsiaga, possession of barbiturates; Lillian Clark, driving with driver's license suspended; Eric James Rasmussen, aggravated assault; Trammie Randle, three charges of possession for sale without license; Bradford B. Bulls, negligent homicide; Moises Garcia, transporting; Trinidad Torres, shoplifting; Michael Harrison, driving with license suspended; and William A. Roberts, carrying arms.

Bids Requested

Bids were invited this week for the installation of a master gas meter in the Capehart area at Webster AFB. Bids will be opened in the office of the contracting officer at 2 p.m. April 19 at Building 262. Also on the list is the replacement of drainboards in Dining Hall 524. Bids for altering the dining area in the Readiness Crew Building will be accepted at 2 p.m., April 22 in Building 262.

Man Arrested For Burglary

A 56-year-old Odessa man was arrested at 1:40 a.m. today on a charge of drunkenness, and was later charged with burglary of a car. A box of tools, valued at $80, was found in the man's car at the time police arrested him. They were identified by Jim Matlock, electrician, who said they were taken from his car while parked by the White Way cafe.

Police were called Monday, by Carl Strom, Permian Bldg., to investigate the theft of three newspaper racks from the building. The racks were owned by the Herald-Abilene Reporter-News, and San Angelo Standard Times.

Cattle Theft Charge Is Filed

One Latin-American has been charged with cattle theft in Justice Jess Slaughter's court, and two others are being detained in the county jail while officers investigate the possibility they had a part in the theft.

Honorio Juarez has been charged with stealing two calves from L. R. Reed. The alleged thefts occurred on March 25 and March 27 at the Reed ranch, 15 miles northeast of Coahoma.

The two suspects are in jail while officers check on their part in the case.

Consultants Due Here Thursday

Ross Jacobs and Carl Shimek, representing Big Spring's consulting engineering firm, Forrest and Cotton, are to be in the City Thursday at 11:30 a.m. They will consult with City Manager Larry Crow, Director of Public Works Bruce Dunn, and Engineer Ernest Lillard, on plans for the Beale's Branch trunk sewer line scheduled for 1964 under the Master Plan bond program.

They will also make a monthly inspection of the progress on the city's new sewage disposal plant on which work is running ahead of schedule.

"The engineers have taken a new look at plans for the trunk sewer line," Crow said. "The bids taken in 1962, when the sewer plant contract was let, were far above funds available and were rejected."

Patsy Wiley To Give Performance

DENTON — Patsy Lee Wiley, Big Spring, will perform in a modern dance recital at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the North Texas State University Main Auditorium. Sponsored by the NTSU Modern Dance Club, the program was choreographed by club members under the direction of Mrs. Betty Benson, NTSU physical education faculty.

Numbers include dance interpretations of Negro spirituals, jazz productions and a representation of four major seasons of Christian prayer and of four art concepts—cubism, surrealism, expressionism and fauvism.

A freshman physical education major, Miss Wiley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover L. Wiley, 2400 Robb.

New Trucks Are Bought

Big Spring's two new booster fire trucks, will be delivered about April 23. City Manager Larry Crow said Tuesday. The two trucks, purchased under the Master Plan bond program, will be driven from the Howe Fire Equipment plant in Anderson, Ind.

"One of the new trucks will be based at the Eleventh Place and Birdwell fire station at first, and the second on the North Side," Crow said. "We will have two new pumpers about Dec. 1, when the two proposed fire stations are completed."

One of the new pumpers will be 750-gallon-per-minute unit and the other 1,000 g.p.m. When the new pumpers arrive, the fire department will have a total of five.

Oil Report

Cities Service Oil Company will attempt to complete a strawn discovery at No. 1-B Nail, south Martin County wildcat.

The operator has plugged back to 10,970 feet after bottoming the project at 12,290 feet. The strawn, on the way down, developed a gas flow of 311,000 cubic feet daily and returned 1,395 feet of 41-gravity oil and 945 feet of oil and gas-cut mud during a 3 1/2-hour drillstem test. Perforations have been made at an unreported interval. The zone tested was 10,565-618 feet.

A section between 10,618-663 feet returned 90 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud on a two-hour drillstem test.

Operator had drilled into the Fusselman, which returned only sulphur water, before plugging back for the higher tests now completed. The project is waiting on cement to set 5 1/2-inch casing at 10,710 feet. The rig has been released.

Location is C NW SW, section 3-38-1s, T&P survey, about seven miles northeast of Midland and 13 miles west of Stanton. It is 2 1/4 miles south of the Fran-Glass (Pennsylvanian) pool.

Five Students To Get Pins

Five students of re-motivation at the Big Spring State Hospital today were to receive pins for having successfully completed the course and participated in 12 sessions.

The award ceremony was slated for 2 p.m. in the dining room of Ward 8. Mrs. Mary Hughes, instructor, was to present the pins. Receiving awards are Mrs. Elva Webb, Mrs. Antonio Podhurney and Mrs. Kate Foster, all of Big Spring, and Mrs. Lucille Ammon and Mrs. Anona McCart, Midland.

Work Starts On Paving

Daniel Bros. Construction Co. has started work on the second phase of the continuing assessment paving program including 31 blocks. Grading began Monday on Twenty-first Street from Scurry east. Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said Tuesday morning.

"We are still moving utilities on the North Side and will have to complete these moves before grading can be done over there," he said.

Nolan Street, from East Sixth to Ninth, will be included in the project and we are replacing two old two-inch galvanized lines with a four-inch cast iron line," Dunn explained. "This will give residents along the street better pressure and eliminate trouble with the old lines."

The new 18-inch water main, connecting the South Mountain area of the city with the water filter plant, is being put down along Virginia to East Eighteenth and then to Birdwell Lane and south Virginia Street will be paved to Marcy Drive in the program.

More Winds, Dust Forecast

More and bigger winds for this section of Texas have been forecast. High winds blew all Monday night and had not abated at noon.

A shift to the northwest will forecast this afternoon with winds 30 to 50 miles an hour, and gusts up to 60. The winds were supposed to diminish to light and the weather some cooler Wednesday. Not much chance of rain was in the forecast.

Some heavy blowing dust was predicted for this afternoon when the winds shift to the northwest.

Nelson Toys With Idea Of Comeback

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — At the age of 50, after 20 years of semi-retirement and casual tournament appearances, Byron Nelson is flirting with ideas of a comeback.
The Masters Tournament will start Thursday in Augusta, Ga. Nelson is 50, served as a springboard back to bigtime golf for the lean Roanoke, Tex., cattle rancher, the mechanical marvel of the late 1930s and early 1940s.

"I don't say I'm going back on the tour or that I'm going to push all these strong, young fellows aside," Nelson said today. "But I've decided it would be interesting to get my game back in the best possible shape and see how I'd fare."

"I've always kept myself in good physical condition. I've changed my outlook so that I'm not so scared any more. I've worked harder on my game than I have in several years. I still am afflicted with putting nerves—that's age, I guess—but I've built up a lot of confidence."

Nelson came to the Augusta National Course after two weeks of intensive practice. On his first practice round, he had a 76. Then he had a 73. The third time it was 70, two under par.

"I was real pleased with that improvement," he said. "Now, I don't have any delusions about my chances of winning. But if I do well, then I may play in a few more tournaments, and then next year."

He won the U.S. Open in 1939. He captured the Masters in 1937 and again in 1942, beating Ben Hogan in a playoff for the latter. During 1944 and 1945, he won 19 of 31 PGA tour tournaments, including a record 11 in a row, and set scoring records that never have been duplicated.

He averaged 63.3 strokes in 1944 and 69.6 in 1945. Then suddenly he retired, limiting himself to the Masters and the Fort Worth Colonial tournaments.

Last weekend television viewers were treated to the new, rejuvenated Nelson Teaming with his protegee, Ken Venturi, he almost singlehandedly beat the team of Arnold Palmer and Gary Player in a best-ball match, scoring four birdies in a row.

Last weekend, graying Texas is one of the hardest working of the 82 players practicing for the 27th Masters—first on and last off the practice tees.

STRIKES AND SPARES Zepf Is Elected Bowling Prexy

Pilot Training Group Bowling league concluded regular league play last week and held a brief meeting afterwards to elect officers and present awards.
Capt. M. C. Zepf was named president, Capt. D. F. Hathaway was elected vice president and T. K. Price secretary. Trophies were presented to the following: first place team, Supers; last place team, Choppers; high team series and game, Flameouts, 2181 and 1049 (handicaps); high average, Lt. J. E. Price, 173.61; second high average, T. K. Price, 173.99; high series, scratch, Capt. R. L. Ladd, 635; second high series, scratch, Capt. H. F. Zahn, 607; high series, handicap, Lt. G. F. Gehrig, 270; second high game, handicap, Lt. F. M. Sullivan, 254; most improved average, Lt. C. T. Davis, 89 pins, highest handicap, Lt. J. L. Sapp, 42 pins.

Many good games were bowled last week, but probably the most unusual was bowled by Coffman Roofing Co. Chester Coffman bowled 332, Bill Carter, 214, W. D. Fryar, 200, Harvey Hooser, 203 and Garrett Patton, 212, for a team total of 1061 which is high for the season. The team had 2161 handicap series which enabled the team to move back into first place in the Industrial League. Bill Carter had games of 236, 214 and 215 for a 665 series.

Chester Rudd, bowling for Toby's, had a 605 series; Dale Riggs, Pioneer Natural Gas, had a 601; and O. D. O'Daniel, C. D. Turner Drilling Co., a 622.
High games of the week include Chester Rudd, Toby's, 246; Luther Bean, Miller's Pig, 237; A. Cooper, E. C. Smith Construction, 234; O. D. O'Daniel, C. D. Turner Drilling Co., 234; Max Coffey, Parks Gulf Service, 229; Bill Carter, Dibrill's, 227 (604 scratch series); Capt. Harris, O. T. Group, 223; Champ Rainwater, Pioneer Natural Gas, 222; Dick Stone, 221; Charlie with Neel's Transfer, 220; Tom Seebro, Mayflower, 221.

The ladies also turned in some good scores. Among the leaders are Marge Cochran, Periman Snack Bar, 247; Oly Cauble, Cauble, Furr's Food Store, 223.

Herd Hosts Cooper At 4 Here Today

Big Spring seeks a return to winning ways as a District 2-AAAA baseball game with Abilene Cooper here today. Game time is 4 p.m.
Coach Roy Baird plans to send Roy New to the mound for Big Spring. H. P. Hawkins, the Cooper mentor, will probably counter with Lefty Ebbie Venable, who has a 3-3 record.

LOOKING 'EM OVER With TOMMY HART

San Angelo is on the verge of sweeping all major championships but track and field in District 2-AAAA.
The Bobcats, who may be set for a long reign in conference sports, have already won the football and basketball crowns, appear to have the outstanding team in baseball and can win the golf crown next week.

Looking back, the Cat linksters might have worn horse shoes in their pockets when they went to Odessa last week for a round of district competition.
Odessa High had what appeared to be a comfortable lead in the standings and appeared set to firm it up in matches in its own back yard. However, the round of play was moved from the Odessa Country Club, where the course was closed due to the fact that an irrigation system was being installed on part of the fairways, to the Sunset Country Club.

San Angelo adapted its game much better to the Sunset layout and pulled to within two strokes of a tie for first place. Now, the Bobcats get Odessa High and the other 2-AAAA schools at home for the final round of matches. It'll prove to be an upset of the first magnitude if they don't overtake Odessa and claim the crown.
If you've lost track of Bill Gravitt, the Denver City grid star who went to Oklahoma University with his brother, Bert, Bill is now at Southwestern Oklahoma College at Weatherford. He's playing baseball this spring.

Did you hear Casey Stengel's shrewd analysis of Yogi Berra, the player-coach for the New York Yankees. Said Casey: "He'll be a tremendous coach. It's amazing what he can do to annoy ya."
Ted Barnes, who scored 65 points in one basketball game and 64 in another for Estelline High School the past season, has expressed interest in attending HCJC.
Ted, who stands 6-feet-1, may visit the HCJC campus in the near future. Coach Buddy Travis of the Jayhawks will start his spring workouts shortly.
Bo Belinsky, the madcap pitcher for the Los Angeles Angels, says he'd like to make a motion picture with Elizabeth Taylor some day.
"When she's in a movie it really brings in the dough," he explains.
Belinsky was warned that Miss Taylor has been known to fall in love with her leading man on occasions but he took that possibility in stride.
"What's wrong with that?" he smiled. "Old Bo isn't afraid of girls."

They'll be talking about that home run Big Spring's Jeff Brown hit in Odessa for a long time.
It went so far into center field, they said they had to run it down in relays. Quite probably, Jeff has more power than any boy who ever played baseball for Big Spring.

That $125,000 Whitemarsh Golf Open in Philadelphia in October will be for attention with the 1963 World Series.

Snider Headed For NY Mets

ST PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)— Duke Snider, the king of Flatbush, is headed back to the city that gave him the royal treatment — both cheers and boo's — joining seven other former Dodger teammates on the New York Mets.
His waist a little wider and his hair a little whiter, the 36-year-old slugger who spent 11 years in a Brooklyn uniform and 16 years as a Dodger, officially was sold to the Mets Monday night for a price in the $300,000-400,000 neighborhood.
The left-handed swinging outfielder has been the subject of a cloak-and-dagger transaction that has been rumored for weeks. The deal finally was confirmed by Mets President George Weiss while Snider was en route to the West Coast.
In Albuquerque, Snider stepped off a plane, denied reports he had asked to be traded so he could play regularly, but noted that "it'll be interesting playing for Casey Stengel (Mets manager)." Snider said he was sad, but had accepted "to feel a lot worse."
Snider, whose lifetime National League achievements include a .300 batting average, 1,995 hits, 1,271 runs batted in and 389 homers, plans to spend a few days with his family in Fairbrook, Calif., before joining the Mets. He said his wife and four children would probably come to New York in May.
An outspoken critic of baseball's boo-birds, Snider was a hero to the Ebbebs Field crowds that jammed into the now dismantled park to watch the Dodger stars of the 1950s—Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, PeeWee Reese, Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges, the latter now also with the Mets.
To the cheers, Snider would doff his cap. To the boos, Snider would respond with a verbal attack. The fans always came back to applaud.
He'll be rejoining a team sprinkled with Dodgers. Currently with the Mets are Hodges, pitcher Roger Craig, catcher Norm Sherry, infielders Larry Burditt, Tim Lincecum and Charlie Neal and outfielder Dick Smith.
Stengel also saw service with the Dodgers as a player as did coach Cookie Lavagetto.

HC Sprinter

Pictured above is Terry Williams, a freshman from Hobbs, N.M., who has emerged as one of the top sprinters on the HCJC track and field team. Williams and his teammates go to Austin to take part in the Texas Relays this weekend.

Baird has indicated he will use Charley West behind the plate, Jeff Brown at first base, Billy Moore at second base, Baxter Moore at shortstop, Rick Peters at third base, Pat Reilly in left field, Rickey Wisener in center and Buster Barnes in right.
Other district ball games send Midland Lee to Odessa for a game with the Broncos, San Angelo to Abilene for an engagement with Abilene High and Odessa Permian to Midland to oppose Midland High.
The Longhorns host Odessa Permian in a 2 p.m. contest Saturday.
Coach Baird has announced that a game next week with Abilene High, which was to have been Saturday, April 13, has been moved forward to Thursday. The contest will be unrereled here.

Lamesa Links Meet Nearing

LAMESA (SC)—About 128 golfers are expected to invade the fairways of Lamesa Country Club April 18 as the 12th annual Lamesa Invitational Golf Tournament gets under way here.
The tourney, billed as the season opener in the West Texas region, will have slightly fewer entries than the record 150 that turned out for the 1961 session.
A pro-am, low ball tourney is slated to kick off the activity on April 11. Out-of-town golfers may start qualifying on April 11.

Runnels Is Fifth In Midland Meet

Big Spring Runnels scored 29 points in the West Texas Junior Relays at Midland last weekend, good for a tie for fifth place.
Odessa Permian won the team championship with a total of 135 points while Odessa Bonham was second with 104. Midland Austin had 38, Odessa Hood 33 and Midland Lee 29.
John Patterson of Runnels had a leap of 5-feet-2 in the high jump, good for a tie for fifth place.
Runnels' 800-yard relay team tied for sixth, running against time, with Odessa Crockett.
Joe Jaure, Runnels, was third in the 120-yard high hurdles. Gary Rogers, Runnels, was fifth in the 330-yard dash.
The Runnels 1,200-yard relay team wound up third.
Dickie Payne of Permian was high point boy of the meet with 38 points. Don Kelley of Odessa Ector ran the 120-yard hurdles in 13.6 seconds.

Six Tandems In Open Meet

Six teams have entered for the June 8-9 tournament at Big Spring Country Club.
One division of the meet will be conducted exactly as the Odessa Pro-Am tournament with scratch play. There will be a second division for all-amateur teams using handicaps.
Among those signed so far are Iverson Martin, El Paso, and Obie Bristow; Bill Craig, Colorado City, and Jack Cook; Bobby Blumh, Lamesa, and Eddie Don Harris; Dick Turner, San Angelo; Wendy Green and Bobby Wright; and Weldon Bryant and Tommy Wilkerson.
A pro-am tourney over the Big Spring Country Club course has been scheduled for April 18, said Wendy Green.

Queens Rack Up ACC, 15-4, J5-4

ABILENE — HCJC's Jayhawk Queens vanquished ACC, 15-4, in a girls' volleyball game here Monday night.
The Queens wind up play for the year Friday night in Levelland, at which time they oppose South Plains. The Big Spring team now has a 16.5 won-lost record.

Francis Graves In AAU Meet

Francis Graves of Stanton and Linda Wagner, San Angelo Lake View, are among the basketball players of Wayland Junior College in Plainview who will participate in the National AAU Women's tournament at St. Joseph, Mo., this week.
Miss Graves is regarded as one of the finest players ever to wear Stanton colors.

Texas L. L. Needs Help

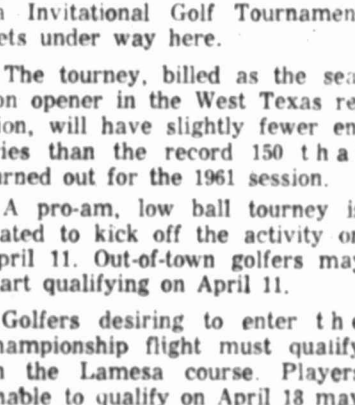

There seems to be plenty of interest among the small fry. Getting the help and the blessings of the adults is another matter, however.
The Texas Little League, says prexy Bob Clark, is at the crossroads in its operations. Unless it can get an army of boosters out Saturday morning to clean up and patch up its playing field, it may have to cease operations this year.
Failure of the Texas Little League to operate would mean that boys living on the north side of town would not get to play in an organized league this year.
The Texas Little League plays its game on a diamond located on the Bauer school campus.
The league has other troubles, too. It needs two sponsors, patrons of the sport who are willing to buy bats and balls for a couple of its teams.
Cosden, Kent Oil, Local 826 and Toby's are the sponsors lined up thus far—and they are the old stand-bys.
Those volunteering to work should bring their own tools, Clark said.

Guatemalan Reds Will Be Deported

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP)—Vowing to fight communism "to the death," Guatemala's new dictator, Col. Enrique Peralta announced Monday night he will deport all Communists in the country and let no others enter.

The provisional president told a news conference Guatemala is calm following Sunday's military coup. But the Defense Ministry charged Communist agitators are planning disorders.

Communist demonstrations were banned, but a mass rally was planned today to register public approval for Peralta. 54, an army officer and former diplomat who seized power with the avowed purpose of cracking down on Communist subversion.

Most political parties in this Central American nation approved the coup, although Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, the elected president it deposed, was a militant anti-Communist and a conservative.

Alberto Herrate Gonzalez, the new foreign minister, expressed hope for prompt recognition by all members of the Organization of American States.

The request presented a problem for the United States and those of Guatemala's anti-Communist allies in South America who feel freely elected governments are the best defense against communism.

In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White said the United States "is consulting with other countries in the hemisphere on the question of establishing relations with the new regime."

Meanwhile, the State Department urged the new regime to send a delegation to the Central American Security Conference scheduled to start Wednesday in Managua, Nicaragua.

Costa Rica and Venezuela announced they will not recognize the Peralta regime. Both countries also have refused to recognize governments set up by military coups in Argentina and Peru. Mexico recalled its ambassador for consultation.

In Managua Ydigoras, who at first declared the coup was good for Guatemala and the rest of Central America, charged that Peralta is allied with Red sympathizers.

He said Peralta allied himself with junior army officers sym-thetic to left-leaning former President Juan Jose Arevalo. It was Arevalo's clandestine return to Guatemala last week that apparently triggered the coup.

Peralta denied the charge and accused Ydigoras of making an agreement with Arevalo.

Peralta has disbanded Congress and canceled the presidential election scheduled for November, which Arevalo was expected to win.

Michigan Voters Adopt New State Constitution

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan voters adopted a new state constitution Monday in a spring election that enhanced Gov. George Romney's political prestige.

With virtually all of the state's 5,209 precincts reporting, the tally gave the revised constitution a winning margin of some 9,000 votes.

Fate of the new constitution—which replaces a 55-year-old document—appeared in doubt early in the unofficial vote tabulations, but a recheck of a key county swung the tally in favor of adoption early today.

Romney, whose election to the governorship last fall ended 14 years of Democratic rule in the executive office, campaigned for adoption of the revised document as strenuously and frequently as the duties of his office would permit. As a delegate to the constitutional convention, he helped write the document.

The victory came in the face of the combined opposition of the Democratic party, the AFL-CIO, and other influential groups. In the closing weeks of the bitter campaign, Romney and the constitution's opponents traded verbal blows.

The governor contended that the opposition was waging a "despicable campaign of lies and distortion."

Romney was accused of backing a document Democrats described as intended to give the GOP permanent control of the state legislature and one-party government.

Changes in the finances and taxation provisions, Romney said, would guarantee that Michigan would never again be forced to have "payless paydays" for state employees such as developed in 1959 when the state ran out of money to pay its bills.

Since taking office last New Year's Day, Romney has frequently criticized what he found to be a lack of authority to go along with the responsibilities of the governorship.

"I don't think people recognize generally what a mess this executive structure is," he told reporters. "After all, there are 120 to 125 agencies that I'm supposed to keep in touch with personally."

Georgia Negro Legislator Sees Race Barrier Falling

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia's first Negro state senator in 92 years says the racial fence around the Democratic party in Georgia will fall under the weight of Negro ballots.

"It is my firm belief that in the very near future, Negro Democrats will be recognized by the state party," said Sen. Leroy R. Johnson, 34-year-old Atlanta attorney who got a surprisingly warm reception in the otherwise all-white legislature.

Johnson thinks his elbow-rubbing with white politicians has been nothing less than phenomenal.

"I had some misgivings about what would happen when I met with legislators from smaller counties in the southern part of the state," he said in an interview.

"But there was not one ripple of antagonism—the racial issue never was even mentioned on the Senate floor."

"One south Georgia senator came and shook hands with me a few days before the session ended. He said, 'I had not spoken to you before now because I had some misgivings about your coming over here. But I just want you to know it's been a pleasure serving with you and I respect you.'"

Johnson got the biggest surprise of his political career when he was invited to visit U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge, former governor and once a hardboiled segregationist.

He called on Talmadge at the former governor's plantation near Lovejoy, Ga., shortly after winning his state Senate seat after reapportionment last October. Johnson is a Democrat.

"Sen. Talmadge was genuinely cordial," said Johnson. "We talked about many things."

Talmadge's move, coupled with the quiet course of moderation taken by new Gov. Carl E. Sanders, lends support to Johnson conviction that political desegregation is in the offing.

"On a recent visit to Washington, Johnson talked informally with President Kennedy about Southern politics and the Georgia situation."

"There is a new look in Georgia," said Johnson, adding that he believed Sanders "has taken a forward look in this whole area of racial issues."

ments indicated the administration's attitude. He was named to the appropriations, education, health and welfare and judiciary committees—the most important in the Senate.

Johnson participated freely in committee work—he didn't miss a meeting—and spoke several times on the floor.

He said that purposely he kept his speech-making at a minimum. "I didn't go over there trying to put on a show," he said. "I wanted to make some tangible contribution and I believe I did."

His only speech involving race was in an effort to include a condemned Negro youth under a bill raising the death penalty age minimum from 10 to 17. The Senate approved the provision, legally questionable, aimed at applying the law to Preston Cobb Jr., 17, sentenced at 15 to death in a murder case. The House deleted it.

Johnson's weekends during the 45-day legislative session were filled with speaking trips all over the country.

"Negroes believe if this can happen in Georgia, it can happen elsewhere," he said. The key, he said, is the ballot.

Rambler Still Leads Pack In Economy Run

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A six-cylinder Rambler led the pack today as 36 cars headed for Nebraska on the fourth leg of the Mobil Economy Run.

The caravan will spend tonight in Omaha. Its eventual destination is Detroit.

The Rambler, driven by Les Viland of Livonia, Mich., increased its gas mileage Monday even though the cars had to cross the Continental Divide, but its margin was narrowed by a woman driver.

Viland had a 29.34 mile per gallon average. Mary Hauser of Detroit was close behind at 28.95

m.p.g. in a Chevrolet II 300. Viland is competing in Class C big engine compacts and Miss Hauser in Class D small engine compacts.

There were no major changes among the leaders after the third day of the 2,654 mile run.

Marty Gordon of Culver City, Calif., moved from fourth to second with a Chrysler Imperial in the luxury auto division. Mildred Alsbury of Hollywood, Calif., in a Chrysler New Yorker still led that class with 18.56 m.p.g. Gordon had 17.43.

Management Not Politics

President Kennedy's flat "no" in press conference should scotch the persistent rumor that Postmaster General J. Edward Day is to be replaced with someone who would serve as Kennedy's campaign manager in the 1964 re-election bid. And it is high time that the Post Office Department should be relieved of its traditional function as a base for incumbent administrations' political operations.

That tradition reached its zenith with Postmaster General Jim Farley under President Franklin Roosevelt. And its passing will be unlamented. The department is simply too important for part-time management by a professional politician whose main thought and energy are devoted to the next national campaign.

The Post Office Department has nearly 600,000 employees, second in personnel only to the Defense Department that includes three military services. Before he left office, President Eisenhower noted ruefully that from 1947 through 1959 Post Office Department deficits financed from the federal budget totaled $6.8 billion, or nearly half the addition to the national debt during that period.

Huge postal rate increases have been necessary under both Eisenhower and Kennedy to curb the soaring postal deficit. Postmaster Day has claimed, without any wave of contradiction, that he is not a "practicing politician," and it is hoped that he will set a new and better precedent for that Cabinet post.

The Post Office Department's prime need is superior management unencumbered by partisan activities. There is still much room for improvement in the efficiency and economy of its operation, certainly enough to occupy fully whoever serves as postmaster general.

Simple Matter Of Fairness

Rep. Derwinski of Illinois has introduced a measure which would do away with a special lower postal rate granted last year to associations of rural electric power.

The measure deserves prompt consideration and passage. Last year when the idea of an exemption of rural electric state publications from the postal rate increase was advanced, there was such an outcry that no one pressed the point. It was not in the House postal bill, but through fast manipulation some senators managed to work it into the conference report which was pushed through both houses without debate.

The odd thing is that neither the post office department nor the Rural Electrification Administration, according to statements by R. W. Nicholson, assistant postmaster general, and Norman M. Clapp, administrator of REA, sought the exemption.

But it is there, nevertheless. The difference in postal rate yield based on the estimated 3,000,000 circulation of these rural electric association papers, would not be tremendous—about a million dollars in five years. It is rather the principle of the thing, a simple matter of fairness. Whereas private users pay 6 of a cent minimum per copy, graduating to 1 cent in three years, the rural electric association postal rate was actually cut to .125 of a cent, which will remain static. Even now, this cooperative mail pays only one-fourth of the private rate, and in three years the charge will be only one-eighth the private rate.

Mr. Nicholson correctly pointed out that "preferential postage rates are a form of subsidy." There is no need or jurisdiction for this exemption, and regardless of how it came into being, it ought to be erased promptly.

Marquis Childs Competition For Power In The News

WASHINGTON—The resounding noises heard here over the alleged management of news by the Kennedy Administration have resolved next to nothing about the nature of relationship between government and the flow of information.

The reason may well be that the investigating committee was using a low-powered microscope to examine a practice that covers all outdoors. Committee members were beguiled by the word "management" which Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester indiscreetly dropped in discussing news of the Cuban crisis last October.

IN THIS reporter's nearly 30 years in Washington there has never been a day that the news has not been managed, if you take that word in its broadest meaning. It is managed in every state capital and every county courthouse. The aim of every politician is to make himself look good and he tries, whether skillfully or ineptly, to manage the news to that end.

WITH THE ever-swelling bigness of big government the number of live bodies enlisted in public information has grown to thousands. Most of the privates in this army work at supplying hard news to a press corps that has increased in proportion with the government. But the chiefs at the top must concern themselves with how their bosses look and with the fate of the policies these bosses try to put over. This is the area in which the ancient practice of managing the news has its most active practitioners.

TO ONE OBSERVER it seems to get down to human nature, and when competition for power and pride of place disappears so will the effort to manage the news. One question seldom raised is the degree to which reporters lend themselves to news management and not for obvious favors such as social preference but for the kind of news the reporter himself may want to get out to further a particular viewpoint.

Take an example in Capitol Hill. The Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy has been a fruitful source of leaks as leading members of that committee have developed a fixation against any nuclear test ban agreement. Officials testifying in secret session before the committee complain that almost before they can get back downtown the gist of their testimony has been leaked to a favored reporter and often in oversimplified or even distorted form.

IS THE REPORTER obligated to inform the reader that he obtained the information because a particular individual or individuals wanted to propagate a particular view and, therefore, made the secret information available? Or is this merely part of the standard practice of news management which the reporter is privileged to use to his own ends?

Or take an example in the Pentagon. Let us say that the Air Force is developing a new plane, the ABC-XYZ-RFD. Its champions are convinced that it will fly to the moon and from that vantage point beam a Laser death ray directly on Khrushchev's vacation villa at Sochi on the Black Sea, thereby ending all our troubles. And this can be done for the bargain-basement sum, optimistically estimated, of $8,999 billion.

BUT THAT hardhearted Scrooge, Robert McNamara, says no. An Air Force colonel leaks a secret Air Force document extolling the virtues of the ABC-XYZ-RFD and pointing out how, if it is developed, it will create a payroll of at least 20,000 in an area where unemployment is high. News of the report is carried on Page 1 of the reporter's paper as a clear beat. Is this managed news or is it enterprise on the part of the reporter and, again, should it bear an appropriate label of origin?

These questions are probably beyond the scope of my investigating committee. As with the allegation of managed news, they go down to competition for power and place and it would be hard to imagine how they could be outlawed.

WHEN, AS HAS happened since the war, news management is linked to the ever-spreading blight of security and the growing practice of stamping almost any document secret or top secret, then there is reason for grave concern. Official secrecy far beyond reasonable limits gives so-called news management a new and sinister dimension. It tends to cover more and more of the military-industrial complex.

Billy Graham

I began working when my husband became ill, but now that he is well and able to work, he still expects me to go on working while he does very little. Should I rebel?—F. P.

Your husband certainly has a distorted idea of the family relationship. While it is true that many women are today gainfully employed, it is usually by their choice and not as a substitute for the husband working. This is again an example of the confusion of our race and age that has resulted from the fact of sin. Sin not only is productive of the more vicious forms of evil but of a disruption of God's design for our whole life. Your husband is in spiritual need as well as having a social problem. He needs to first discover his right relation to God and then to his family.

I gather from your letter that you are not seeking to avoid rightful responsibility but rather to again do your duty as wife and mother which you temporarily had to terminate because of problems in the family. Do not become rebellious, but lovingly suggest that your husband discuss the problem with your minister. Also make it a matter of prayer.

'COMON, LET'S BUILD THAT ARK'

James Marlow Foreign Aid 'Bargaining' Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—The President is like a union and Congress like a management negotiating a new contract every year when it's time to put through another foreign aid program. It's that time. The President invariably asks more than he must realistically expect to get. Congress invariably and indignantly rejects the opening request as out of the question.

Then the two sides get down to the real bargaining for something they both can live with. The public, like football spectators watching the end runs, hears the speeches but doesn't see the fighting in the line.

This is where both sides put on the pressure and do the arm-twisting. If a president winds up with about $1 billion less than he asked he probably feels he came out all right.

IT'S BEEN that way in the past. It's probably that way now with President Kennedy who arranged for foreign aid to Congress today.

He already told Congress in his budget earlier this year he wanted $4.9 billion for foreign aid. That's what he asked last year and Congress gave him $3.9 billion. He'd probably settle for that this year gladly.

He probably won't get more. The message itself is usually the frosting on the cake. It has some noble and urgent passages about the needs of mankind and the American obligation to help the backward and the impoverished.

But it also notes the aid, particularly the military part of it, is a sensible investment in national security. All this is routine, like a union starting negotiations by laying down its contract demands in general terms.

THE PRESIDENT has one advantage starting out, like a union which knows management won't argue about its right to a contract but only the terms of it. Congress won't argue about the need to continue foreign aid. It's generally accepted the United States will have to provide foreign aid for years. The only argument is over how much it will cost and the details.

This is where the frosting melts and both sides dig into the cake to explore what's in it who gets what and how much, what country needs less, what country needs more, and what one can finally do without any.

Hal Boyle Sheer Imagery

NEW YORK (AP)—Fragments of letters people would like to get but rarely do.

"Those excerpts from your wife's diary about your marital experiences are positively hilarious. We also like your tentative working title—'25 Years With a Male Rat'—and are sure we can put the book on the best seller list. We are enclosing $10,000 in advance royalties, and assure you this is a mere drop in the bucket to what."

"There must be some mistake. In addition to free furniture, we promised you six months free rent as an inducement to sign a two-year lease in our new luxury apartment building. 'Echoing Heights' as you have been a tenant only five months, we are returning your rent check. Your initial payment isn't due for still another month. Meanwhile, if you'd like your television set replaced—at our expense naturally—just let us know anytime."

"I hate to disappoint you, Maude, but we've been so busy since the sixth baby came that Fred and I haven't been up to planning our regular family visit with you and George this summer. All the kids send their best. See you next year. Your loving sister, Mabel."

"It is with deep regret I inform you that our firm will be unable to ship your small son the 18-foot python he ordered. The fact is that the only python we had on hand recently got into the main snakepit, ate up all our stock on hand, and died of indigestion. Therefore we are suspending all shipments until we can find a new supply. Sincerely, Jiff Snakes, Inc."

"Your daughter tells us that you don't approve of her ambition to sing mezzo-soprano in grand opera. We're on your side. While she's a nice kid, our audition showed she would make a better tenor than a mezzo-soprano. As lady tenors have a limited future in opera, we suggest you tell her to forget the whole thing and take up stenography."

"Dear Norman, I am running off with the butler. I just couldn't stand watching you do any more card tricks at our cocktail soirees in front of my society friends. But recognizing you've been a faithful husband and given me some of the best years of your life, I'm asking my lawyers to settle $500,000 on you from the money father left me. This should pay your bar bills, and leave a little left over for you to buy a new deck of cards."

"Congratulations on your promotion to general sales manager, son. By the way, you won't need to send us any more money from now on. Dad has got on steady at the post office at last, and the carnival has promised me my old strip-tease job back if I lose 10 more pounds. Love from your dear old mom."

"As alerted Brother Ben was recently caught with his hand in his firm's till, members of our fraternal lodge have abandoned our intention to name him man of the year and would like to pass this honor on to you. All we'll require is a letter of acceptance from you—and a note from the chief of police that you are not wanted at the moment."

"Deeply distressed to hear you slipped and suffered a cracked tooth while making a patriotic pilgrimage through Grant's tomb, I agree fully that this shouldn't happen even to a Republican. The matter of compensating you for your ordeal will be taken up in my next annual budget message to the Congress. Sincerely, JFK"

To Your Good Health No Danger Involved In Bath After Eating

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: You recently answered a question about swimming after eating. I would like to know if it is all right to take a bath right afterwards or within an hour or so?—F.H.R.

Certainly, the swimming danger is that the combined demands for circulation of blood (for digestion; for warmth in the cool or cold water; and for the exertion required) can deprive some muscles of an adequate supply. Rebelling, a muscle has a cramp. And cramps can result in drowning.

A bath is another matter. It isn't strenuous, and it's usually taken in warm water, so you don't run the risk of cramps such as in swimming.

Besides, even if you did have a cramp, you wouldn't drown in the bathtub. You'd just lie there until it relaxed, as it soon would. Does this make the difference clear?

Dear Dr. Molner: Six months ago I sat down on the buckle of a seat belt and injured the end of my spine. By evening I could hardly sit down. The pain later subsided but if I have to sit for a long time it is very painful to move again. Is there something I can do or should I see a doctor?—MRS. J.G.

It's the coccyx, or vestigial tail, of the system to a different hormone supply and activity.

I deplore your doctor's lack of tact but I secretly admire his bluntness.

Every doctor knows he can talk until he's blue in the face and not be able to describe or predict how any woman will feel at the time of menopause. He doesn't experience it as a male.

Likeliest things are "hot flashes" and sometimes irritability. Some women apparently have virtually no difficulty at all, and yet some have a good deal.

Doctors know that women patients get together and compare symptoms. Menopause is going to happen; we can't stop it. So let it happen, but keep your eyes and ears tuned for any REAL troubles, if they occur.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Aye, Aye, Sir!

The wheel house of the USS Wisconsin was tolerably roomy. It was high above the main deck and offered a clear view in all directions.

Although the Wisconsin is a 45,000-ton vessel and lowers from keel to top mast peak as high as a 15-story building, it was controlled by two small wheels, neither larger than those of an automobile and no harder to turn.

AT THE MOMENT the 900-foot long gray monster was plowing across the blue Pacific toward Pearl Harbor at perhaps 30 miles an hour. The executive officer had sent word down that we guests on board were invited to the wheelhouse on the bridge.

We climbed the ladders to the bridge and entered the room from which the steel monster—barring a direct hit and shift to auxiliary steering—was controlled.

THE TWO WHEELS which control the ship were manned by two youthful seamen in gleaming white. They watched a dial in front of them and from time to time shifted the wheels ever so slightly. The $100,000,000 vessel plunged ahead leaving a long straight furrow of white-capped water from its stern.

An officer would listen over the telephone and make a note, and to me utterly uncomprehensible, announcement. The young seaman at the wheel would reply "Aye, Aye, sir!" and make some slight change in the course we were following.

"CARE TO TRY YOUR hand at the helm?" asked our official host.

"Thank you," I replied, noting my palms were suddenly sweaty.

"Just keep her on 3," said the officer.

The "three" he mentioned was indicated by a needle on the dial in front of the wheel. The young seaman stepped to one side and I took his place. Suddenly it dawned on me with tremendous impact that I was now in control of $100,000,000 worth of government property, with 2,300 men aboard, and that we were barreling over an ocean possibly two or three miles deep.

AND ALL I HAD to do, they told me, was keep that little wheel so the needle on that dial would stay on three. A cinch, I told myself.

"Just relax," suggested the officer. I tried to relax. I noticed that the needle no longer hovered at three. In a split second the three was gone. In its place to my consternation was a 9.

I took a quick look over my shoulder at the broad white wake. Instead of being a straight furrow as it had been under the casual hands of the seaman, there was a curve beginning to form. The USS Wisconsin was turning to the right—turning pretty doggone fast, too.

WELL, THAT WAS easily mended. I told myself. Just turn the wheel a little and get that confounded 3 back in the center. I did so. The curve shifted and the wake straightened and then swung as far to the left as it had been to the right.

I began to panic. I shifted the wheel; the dial swerved drunkenly. The 9 vanished and was replaced with a series of other numbers—none of which was a 3.

I turned to the officer and gestured helplessly with one hand.

HE KEPT A straight face and nodded to the young seaman. I stepped aside; the seaman took my place. In a second, the USS Wisconsin was back on its course plowing its straight white furrow to Pearl Harbor.

I eased my way to the back of the group and tried, as well as I could, to make myself disappear.

No one laughed at me—at least as long as I was on the bridge.

J. A. Livingston Can Silent Witnesses Measure TV?

One of Damon Runyon's cynical characters once remarked that where human beings are concerned, the odds are nine to five against.

What the odds are—for or against television and radio ratings—no one yet knows, but a Congressional Committee is trying very hard to determine whether audience reaction is measurable by devices known as audimeters or by reports (logs) made to TV and radio-rating services.

HUNDREDS of millions of dollars of advertising each year are influenced, if not governed, by these ratings. And just as track officials give race horses saliva tests, so Congressmen are giving the ratings statistical and credibility tests—with high officials of the broadcasting companies in the hearing rooms.

Consider the power of A. C. Nielson Co., most widely accepted TV-measuring service. Recently National Broadcasting Co. decided to drop (effective next month) the Merv Griffin show. Griffin's ratings didn't project upward. The sales department concluded that his potential was limited. Yet Campbell Soup and Scott Paper, which used spot advertising on the show, were satisfied, and Armstrong Cork had just bought advertising segments and actually protested the cancellation.

THE JURY in that case consisted of silent witnesses—audimeters—in 1178 homes. A small sample, but not necessarily bad, if perfect.

True, testimony revealed that about 10 per cent of these measuring machines are out of order all the time. But even this isn't disastrous if the out-of-order machines are in perfect conformity to the originally perfect sample.

TODAY IN RADIO and TV, ratings have become as important—perhaps more important—in the continuance of a show as the show itself. Is it likely, therefore, that men concerned with successful careers in the show business will be interested in bolstering their ratings even as bookmakers want to protect their bets with fixed outcomes? Is it possible to rig an audimeter? Yes, it can be done mechanically. That has been testified. It also can be done by

Well, suppose you, as a promoter or agent for a show find out that Mr. and Mrs. Abner Finkelthwaite, of Cobblestone, Va., have an audimeter on their set. Maybe a former employee of Nielson has sold you a list.

YOU THEN invite Mr. and Mrs. Finkelthwaite to New York or Hollywood to tour the studios and visit night clubs accompanied by the stars of the show. Have the Finkelthwaites been bribed? No.

Have they been rigged? Well, the stars are now their friends. Won't they be predisposed to watch them? They might even go further than just watching.

On evenings out—they might leave the set tuned onto the station. The audimeter rings up 50,000 families whether the screen is viewed or not.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL evidence suggests that riggers are at work. Advertisements have been found requesting audimeter-families to get in touch with the advertiser. ("Can you use a little cash, keep?") says the fixer to the basketball star.

Nielson has asked the Congressional Committee to suggest ways to guard against tampering with Nielson families.

A department store doesn't get a rating to determine whether a newspaper has pulling power. Either the advertised pocketbooks sold or they didn't. The same goes for a keyed advertisement in a magazine.

THE RESPONSE of people to radio and TV advertising can be judged by direct or indirect response. Do people send in for brochures? Do they talk about the program? Is the product going over? The substitution of supposedly scientific measurement for business judgment is an escape from responsibility. It's easier to take a rating than a stand.

Holmes Alexander Sacred Cow Or Golden Goose?

WASHINGTON — Euphemism (rhetoric) a figure of speech by which a less distasteful word or expression is substituted for one more exactly descriptive of what is intended. (Oxford Universal Dictionary)

NONE OF the Republican Governors of Western States, or any of the representatives of the Western States oil industry who were present, used the somewhat literary term "euphemism" to describe President Kennedy's "tax reform" or "loop-hole closing." But the 31 witnesses before the House Ways and Means Committee—all of them deploring this phase of the President's tax bill—meant something like that. And one of them, William N. Tindell of Abilene, Texas, came pretty close. Referring to such expressions, Tindell said:

"I have never before heard so many attempts to define what is simply 'additional taxes.'"

THE PRESIDENT has not proposed to touch oildom's sacrosanct 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance, but the tax bill has gimmicks called (a) carry-over of excess deductions, (b) grouping of properties and (c) capital gains on sale of mineral interests. The petroleum people contend that these are extra bites out of their profits and that they would cause severe cutbacks in investment and employment.

This represents, of course, a national dilemma. To carry on both his welfare and warfare projects, the President must take more money from industry. But in order to make the money available from profits, he must "stimulate the economy" rather than overburden it with taxes.

THE DOMESTIC oil industry, although long a target of tax reformists, is uniquely indispensable to the civilian consumer and to the military. It supplies millions of jobs, and down through the years has probably poured more money into education than any other industry. (In Texas, for example, revenues from oil have constructed virtually all the school buildings.) Whether all this should make oil-dom a specially privileged industry depends upon the ideology in the eye of the beholder, but the Western wranglers before Ways and Means did sketch out a pretty effective profile of petroleum in their home communities.

COLORADO: Governor John Love said that his State ranks only 10th as an oil-gas producer and that the Kennedy plan hits hardest at states with large tracts of public lands. These comprise better than 42 per cent of Colorado's area. Oil industry employment and investment is not large—52,000 persons and $38.7 million—but these figures represent a drop of 857 jobs and two million dollars in payroll from 1959 through 1962. What the Federal government ought to do for money, grumbled Love, was practice "restraint in public spending."

MONTANA: Governor Tim Babcock, one of the few who refrained from "talking poor mouth," told the committee that employment in his state was up, unemployment was down and that there were few, if any, "depressed areas." He said Montana would continue its economic growth—unless the President's tax plan reversed the process.

TEXAS: Clyde Tomlinson of Longview warned that Governor Connally's campaign pledge of 800,000 new jobs in Texas by 1970 was jeopardized by JFK's "loop-hole plugging." The $92 million which Texas would pay to Washington translated into the annual wages for 15,878 petroleum workers.

Maybe the economic problem on petroleum comes down to this: Is oildom a sacred cow or a goose that lays a golden egg?

Doubts Sulphur Caused Loss Of Tanker

NEW YORK (AP)—An official of the company that operated the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen says he doubts that the molten sulphur carried on the vessel could have caused its loss.

James Clarke, vice president of Marine Transport Lines, gave the testimony Monday before a Coast Guard inquiry into the disappearance of the ship and its crew of 39.

The ship vanished in February on a voyage from Beaumont to Norfolk. Wreckage has washed ashore in Florida.

Clarke testified the tanker's deck and engine room logs had indicated previously that there were fires aboard the vessel in December and in August 1961, the latter occurring while a molten cargo was being discharged.

"It is my understanding," he said, "that these fires would happen occasionally in the handling of sulphur—more like a ghost fire—dust or fumes burning lightly, not the product itself. Somebody explained it was like putting alcohol on plum pudding. It burns itself and doesn't affect the surroundings."

Clarke said the converted World War II T-2 tanker had "a history of cracking." Coast Guard officials have said the hulls of the T-2 tankers were reinforced after the war to prevent such cracking. Asked if the conversion of the Marine Sulphur Queen was done with calculated risk, Clarke replied: "I wouldn't think so, or the job wouldn't have gone ahead."

Maybe We Should Feed Some To K

LONOKE, Ark. (AP)—Roy Pruitt said the mice at his store had been acting funny lately—gentle and playful.

He found the reason Monday. They had been eating tranquilizers, which Pruitt sells to fish farmers to keep fish calm during hauling and handling.

FORT WORTH (AP)—The 18-month-old daughter of a Fort Worth couple was killed Monday night when a car backed over her in the driveway of her home. Carla Sue Corbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Corbin, slipped out of the house just as her father backed out the car.

CHARGES CENSORSHIP

Editor Of Baylor Exes Magazine Quits Post

WACO (AP)—Mrs. Frances Provence resigned as editor of Baylor University's ex-student association magazine Monday, charging "censorship in its crudest form."

She said directors of the association had ordered her to omit from the next issue of the bi-monthly magazine, the Baylor Line, accounts of resignations by members of the university drama department.

The resignations capped a controversy over the closing of a Eugene O'Neill play "Long Day's Journey into Night" on the campus of the Baptist school.

Baylor President Abner McCall called a halt to the drama department production last December. He said the script contained offensive language.

The drama department faculty members, including director Paul Baker, resigned in March. Mrs. Provence said she was ordered by directors of the ex-students association after a meeting Saturday to omit the resigning faculty members' statement from the magazine. She was told she could print only McCall's statement, she said.

DEAR ABBY
Too Late To Change Now

DEAR ABBY: I am about to become a father for the first time. A friend of mine told me that he was present in the delivery room when his wife gave birth to their child. I would like to witness the birth of our child, also, and my wife is for it. Our problem is that we are now having trouble with her doctor. He tells us that he does not allow fathers in the delivery room. I have asked my wife to change to a doctor who will permit it, but she is afraid to change doctors now as she is in her eighth month. Does her doctor have the right to deny me the privilege of seeing my child born? I think BOTH creators should be on hand at this time.

FATHER-TO-BE
DEAR FATHER: The decision is up to your doctor and the hospital policy-makers. You should have taken this into consideration when your wife selected her doctor. Having failed to do this, be content to let your wife deliver her baby with only ONE "creator" on hand.

DEAR ABBY: In your column you had a letter from a writer who called her neighbor "Mrs.

Candy Barr Goes Home

EDNA, Tex. (AP)—Candy Barr, a sweetheart of gambler Mickey Cohen before she was sent to prison, came home to her parents Monday night and vowed she is through with being a night club stripper.

She went free from state prison after serving three years and four months of a 15-year sentence for illegal possession of marijuana.

Her daughter, 7, ran to hug the baby-faced former entertainer as Candy arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Slusher.

"She didn't forget me," Candy said happily.

The once blonde darling of night clubbers in Dallas, New Orleans, Las Vegas, Los Angeles and other cities was firm on one point: "I may do some acting, but no more strip tease."

Senate Okays Voter Registration System

AUSTIN (AP)—State senators voted 22-7 Monday to do away with the poll tax requirement for voting and then gave first round approval to an annual voter registration system.

The poll tax amendment still must gain at least 100 House votes and voter approval next year to become law.

Sen. Tom Creighton's voter registration bill won tentative approval but failed by just one vote to get the necessary four-fifths for immediate final action.

This measure provides that voters must register each year and pay a 25-cent fee. It exempts persons 60 and older who live in towns of 10,000 or less population. Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler said the poll tax ban would result in a $5 million revenue loss that could cause more taxes.

"PLAY DEAD"
"Once again," he said, "the state of Texas must roll over and play dead to federal pressure to abolish a time-tested tradition."

Major opposition to the registration bill came from Sens. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston and Franklin Spears of San Antonio.

"All we're doing here is passing a two-bit poll tax bill," Schwartz said. "A two-bit poll tax doesn't smell any different from a $1.50 poll tax."

Spears offered an unsuccessful amendment to make registration permanent rather than annual. Also defeated was a proposal to establish biennial registration.

In the House, Rep. Rayford Price of Frankston won approval late Monday to bring up a measure dividing Texas into new congressional districts. He then asked the House, however, to delay consideration of the bill until 10 a.m. Wednesday.

This bill would give Dallas a second congressman, combine the districts of U. S. Reps. Ray Roberts of McKinney and Wright Patman of Texarkana and give South Texas a new district.

Texas now has 23 congressmen. One, Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas, serves at large.

SET FOR DEBATE
The House gave tentative approval to several bills slated for debate today.

The Senate passed bills to: Exempt from inheritance tax money placed in Texas banks by citizens of foreign countries.

Provide sick leave for public school teachers, five days per year cumulative to 30 days. Require public pollsters to file records with the secretary of state.

Permit the prison system to manufacture some products for use by state departments and institutions, but forbidding sale of these products on the open market.

The Senate recessed Monday in the midst of discussing a bill that would let cities or counties float bond issues to acquire public parks, playgrounds, historical museums or historical sites including Indian burial grounds. A property tax up to 10 cents per $100 valuation could be levied to pay for the bonds if a majority of voters approved.

Sen. Calhoun objected to a provision that would let cities and counties condemn property for parks and historical museums.

"We are forgetting the principles that made our heroes the heroes they are," Calhoun said. "This is an unwarranted abuse of private ownership."

VOTER SYSTEM
Monday night the House Elections Committee approved for floor debate a bill to create a free permanent voter registration system to take effect if the poll tax is abolished. Under the bill, voters would register by balloting.

The committee sent to subcommittee a bill by Rep. V. E. Berry of San Antonio to put on the May, 1964, Democratic primary ballots an opinion referendum on legalizing horse race betting in Bexar County.

The House State Affairs Committee approved a bill aimed at tightening some education requirements for barbers. This group kept for study bills to put state employees under the lobby control act; allow counties to set up hospital districts without taxing authority; give the Texas Education Agency authority to regulate school bus designs, and to update laws on setting prevailing wages.

The House Highways and Roads Committee sent to subcommittee a bill to regulate advertising on interstate highways.

DEAR BEV.: Ask him. If he refuses, you'll have learned a lesson. If he accepts, you'll have an opportunity to repair the bad impression you made on the first date.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend fixed me up with her cousin. He is a living doll and I've had my eye on him for ages. When he took me to the door I didn't want him to think I was a cold fish so I said, "You may kiss me good night if you want to." Abby, he said, "Thanks a lot, but I never kiss a girl on the first date." I never felt so cheap in all my life. Our club is having a girl-ask-boy dance and I want to ask him. Should I? Or do you think his turning down a kiss was an insult? BEV.

DEAR ABBY: In your column you had a letter from a writer who called her neighbor "Mrs. Thatcher." My hobby is collecting unusual surnames, and Thatcher is one I've never heard of. Was that really the neighbor's name? Or did you make it up? I have in my collection such names as Beaglehole, Blackmaster, Endfinger, Beakiron, Easterday, Rakestraw, Tweevetrees, Sourwine and Cakebread.

SURNAME COLLECTOR
DEAR COLLECTOR: The writer referred to her neighbor as "Mrs. Thatcher" in an effort to keep her neighbor anonymous. Although I am not a "name collector," I recall hearing that the Freshwaters had their plumbing repaired by a Mr. Drinkwater. Honest!

Women who cook electrically know...

Electric cooking is FAST because it's flameless

Today's electric ranges start heating instantly, reach cooking heat in seconds. Flameless electric surface units put heat directly into the pans, not into the room, so practically all the heat goes into the food being cooked. That is why electric cooking is fast.

The flameless electric oven reaches baking or roasting temperature quickly. Since it is insulated all around, including the bottom, heat stays inside where it belongs. And because electric heat is instant, the broiler requires no preheating. This means your meals can be cooked in a minimum of time.

Electric cooking also is clean, cool, accurate and economical. Select your flameless electric range at your dealer's now and enjoy all these benefits. Electric cooking is one of the nicest things about living better...electrically!

WORLD NEWS

Reds Claim Missiles Are Better

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet army newspaper Red Star claimed today Soviet rockets and missiles are much more powerful and more accurate than American ones.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A week-long, nine-nation conference to chart the course of a Latin-American free trade area patterned after the European Common Market opened here Monday night.

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's revolutionary government has declared an amnesty covering rebels and many criminals. But it does not apply to followers under protective custody.

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China will release and repatriate the 3,231 Indian prisoners of war it still holds from the border fighting last fall, the new China news agency announced today.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky pledged today that the Soviet Union will continue to provide military assistance to Indonesia without strings.

Four boys shared in awards at the meeting of Pack 48 at the First Presbyterian Church during the weekend.

Steve Tidwell and Scott McLaughlin received their Lion Badges and Steve and Scott, together with Clay Thompson, and Benn F. Johnson III received arrow points.

Other awards presented were: Wolf Badges—Gregory Bitter, Charles Reynolds, Donald Merritt, Randy Barnett, Steve Alexander, Peter Osborne, Bill Mimms, Craig Roberts; Gold Arrow to the Wolf Badges—Randy Barnett, Donald Merritt, Steve Alexander, Tony Virnet, Mike McGill, Michael Fontenot, Charles Preston, Charles Schrader, Craig Roberts, Keith Welch.

Mrs. Annie J. Colley's Den 5 won the attendance flag.

The winds are right. Kite-flying time is here again.

Indian Guides plan to have dozens of kites in the air over Hamilton Field Sunday afternoon during their Kite Carnival. Both boys and their dads will compete.

Only rules for the contest is that all the kites must be made by hand. Sticks for the framework are available at the YMCA. Any type of kite may be made.

Prizes will be awarded for the largest kite, smallest, most original and the one which flies the highest.

The families of all Y Indian Guide members are invited to attend the carnival, Francis Flint, general secretary of the Y, said. It begins at 2:30 p.m. A Wiener roast will follow at City Park.

Alton Marwitz Joins Bank

Alton Marwitz began his duties Monday as a member of the State National Bank staff. He will be an assistant to Carlton Chapman, vice president, in the field of agricultural loans.

Pack Holds Derby Meet

The Pinewood Derby elimination was the highlight of the monthly meeting of Pack 46 at the John H. Lees Service Club, Webb AFB, Thursday. Skits were presented by Webelos Den 6 and 7, and awards made to Cubs by Cubmaster Thayne I. Thomas.

The Den 1, Robert L. Crane; Den 2, Randall K. Barnett; Den 3, Neal C. Aldrich; Den 4, Michael R. Fontenot; and Den 5, Craig S. Roberts. The trophy winner was Neal C. Aldrich. First runner-up was Michael R. Fontenot, and second was Robert L. Crane.

Other awards presented were: Wolf Badges—Gregory Bitter, Charles Reynolds, Donald Merritt, Randy Barnett, Steve Alexander, Peter Osborne, Bill Mimms, Craig Roberts; Gold Arrow to the Wolf Badges—Randy Barnett, Donald Merritt, Steve Alexander, Tony Virnet, Mike McGill, Michael Fontenot, Charles Preston, Charles Schrader, Craig Roberts, Keith Welch.

Mrs. Annie J. Colley's Den 5 won the attendance flag.

A VERY SMALL REMNANT. By Michael Straight. Knopf, $4.

By The Associated Press
The "very small remnant" of the title is one of those small, heroic clusters of decent, honorable men who somehow manage to bring about the downfall of powerful, evil and corrupt individuals in high places, often at a dreadful price to themselves.

Such a theme has recurred throughout history, even from the days of the Bible.

This time the story is about the Indian Wars in the Colorado Territory in 1864.

In charge of an outlying fort is Maj. Wynkoop, who at first subscribes to the thesis of his superior officer, Col. Chivington, that the only good Indian is a dead one.

But Wynkoop discovers that the Cheyennes, under Chief Black Kettle, are sincere in their desire for peace. Risking possible treachery, he treats with the Cheyennes and leads them to a vulnerable encampment. Then comes the betrayal. Col. Chivington leads a hastily assembled regiment to massacre the Cheyennes.

The colonel, a powerful and ambitious man, makes it appear to Washington and to the public that he has won a great battle. Maj. Wynkoop and some of his officers, including a Capt. Soule, know the truth. When there is an investigation, Soule courageously testifies against the colonel, with bitter results.

Straight's story about honor and its high price is anything but didactic. He portrays the white man's dishonorable treatment of the Indians by means of a tense, gripping story.

This is an historical novel, a story of the Old West, that has a stark, vibrant quality. Straight writes graphic thoughts with a beautiful economy of style.

New Recruiter At Station Here

Sgt. I. C. Raymond J. Wolverton has been assigned here in charge of the United States Army recruiting station in the Reagan Building, 207 1/2 W. 4th.

A native of Michigan, Sgt. Wolverton is a veteran of 19 years of Army service. He entered in 1941, then after the war separated briefly until re-enlisting in 1948. He and Mrs. Wolverton and their five children are making their home at 3603 Calvin.

The Army now is offering male high school graduates enlistments for pilot training, he said. Under the aviation option, high school graduates may apply for pilot training in helicopter or conventional aircraft and an appointment as a warrant officer.

Women college graduates now are being sought as candidates for the Women's Army Corps officer program, he added. Those about to graduate or recent graduates may earn a direct commission as a second lieutenant. In some cases, a first lieutenant may be awarded. Additional information on these and other Army opportunities may be had from Sgt. Wolverton at the station.

Thompson Elected

J. Neils Thompson, professor of civil engineering at the University of Texas and director of the University's Balcones Research Center, has been re-elected to a second term as vice president for the Southwestern Region of the National Society of Professional Engineers. A past president of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, he has been a National Society director for seven years.

Casa Manana Starts Signups

FORT WORTH—The 1963 Casa Manana summer season officially is under way with the signing of the first two stars of the season—Joshua Hecht and Nolan Van Way. Van Way will star in the 1963 Casa season opener, "Song of Norway." He will do his portrayal of Composer Edvard Grieg the first time in the Fort Worth arena theater. "Song of Norway" will be presented June 3-15.

Hecht will do the role of Paul in "Carnival," to be given at Casa from Aug. 5-17. Hecht was chosen by Casa Amigos members as the best actor in a leading role for his portrayal of Cesar in "Fanny" last summer. Van Way finished a close third, behind Hecht and Tim Herbert, in the voting for his role of the Red Shadow in "The Desert Song," the season opener last year. Hecht made his Casa debut in "Fanny" and returned to Fort Worth on November for the Fort Worth Opera Association's presentation of "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Texas Safety Group Elects

HOUSTON (AP) — Quincy Tuma of Houston was elected president of the Texas Safety Association. He is chief engineer of Texaco.

Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene was elected vice president for women's activities; C. P. Shirey of Beaumont, vice president for church safety; and Belton Duck-

"Old at 40, 50, 60?" Man, Get Wise! Pep Up

Thousands are peppy at 70! So, if you feel weak, low in energy, "old" at 40, 50 or 60, quit blaming it on age. If you want to feel younger, try Oxtrex Tonic Tablets at once. Also for vitality due just to rundown body's lack of iron, the "below-par" feelings you may call "being old." Put pep in both sexes. Try Oxtrex—feel peppy, years younger, 60-day "get-acquainted" size costs little. All druggists.
