Comptroller Fires Aide, Demotes 1

AUSTIN (AP)—State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has demoted Harvey McKinzie, manager for the Houston region of the comptroller's office, and fired George Wycoff, a senior auditor in McKinzie's office.

Calvert said Wycoff had accepted gifts from a Houston concern under surveillance by the comptroller. He informed the two men of his decision Wednesday.

"We had a man paying a lot of attention to, and going out with, and accepting gratuities from a Houston concern," Calvert said, referring to Wycoff.

He did not name the concern but said it deals in cigarettes. The comptroller said he told McKinzie, a veteran of 31 years with the department, he was demoted because he was in charge "and should have known what was happening," Calvert added. "I thought it was poor judgment. I sent two investigators and asked the Department of Public Safety to help. The DPS verified what our own employees told us."

Calvert said the gratuities "were of no consequence, but it's what it leads to."

He said the DPS questioned the two while they were in Austin for a regional managers meeting and gave them polygraph tests. "The DPS didn't uncover anything to justify charges," Calvert said, "but they were improper."

Wycoff could not be reached for comment. McKinzie said he had no comment at this time.

Harsh Weather Hits N.W. Texas

Turbulent weather swirled across part of Northwest Texas during the night and several counties adjoining the southwest corner of Oklahoma were under a severe thunderstorm alert for a time.

Early Thursday another special forecast warned of more violent weather in the east part of the Oklahoma Panhandle. The advisory said these storms might grow into tornadoes by the time they reached Kansas.

Hail piled 4 inches deep on the ground at Wichita Falls as a sudden storm struck about night-fall Wednesday. Some of the icy pellets measured 3 inches in diameter. They were accompanied by light rain.

There was damage to trees, roofs and windows at Wichita Falls.

The subsequent forecast of severe thunderstorms, in force until 1 a. m., covered an area including Wichita Falls, Vernon, Quanah, Paducah, Childress, Wellington, Shamrock and Wheeler.

Gusty winds flailed much of the state Wednesday, stirring dust aloft at El Paso and Wink in far West Texas.

The Weather Bureau predicted a few thunderstorms would dot the north Central and northeast areas of Texas by Thursday evening and summery temperatures would drop a bit in Northwest Texas during the night.

No slackening of high winds was expected.

Top temperatures Wednesday afternoon ranged from 99 degrees at Presidio in the Big Bend country down to 78 at Galveston.

Dr. White To Resign

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. W. R. White, 70, will resign as chancellor of Baylor University June 1, Baptist sources here said.

The longtime denominational leader is not quite ready to retire, however, as he will continue his relationship with Baylor as president emeritus and as teacher of a course in the religion department.

Dr. White has been chancellor of the Waco-based school—with branches at Dallas and Houston—for the past two years. He previously had been president of the big Baptist school for 13 years.

Quadruplets All Home

Old Faceful

An eight-inch water main ruptured downtown during the night, flooding one store and spilling an estimated 400,000 gallons of water into the street. Water pressure throughout the city dropped for about four hours while city crews patched the broken pipe.

The rupture occurred about 11 p. m. under the sidewalk at Third and Main in front of the Zale's store. The old water line collapsed through electrolysis or chemical decomposition, Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said this morning.

Lillard said the street was not damaged, but the sidewalk would have to be back-filled and a large section of sidewalk replaced. Repair work has started.

Roy Hester, water plant superintendent, said about 400,000 gallons of water was lost in the break.

Jay Lebcowitz, manager of Zales, said pressure forced water through the floor of the store, damaging new carpeting installed last November. Apparently, it was the only store damaged by the break. Lebcowitz said that was the only damage to the store.

The broken pipe carried pressure of about 120 pounds per square inch. Water service was interrupted in the area bounded by Johnson and Lancaster, First and Fourth, from 11:30 p. m. to 3:30 a. m.

One Way—Straight Down!

This hole, dug to replace a 13-foot section of eight-inch water line, is being filled today after some 400,000 gallons of water got loose Wednesday night. The break occurred about 11 p. m. Wednesday and water was turned back on at 3:30 a. m. Thursday. A carpet in Zale's Jewelry Store was wet this morning. No damage resulted to the street, but several square feet of sidewalk will have to be replaced.

CAR-TRUCK CRASH

Six Men Die In Collision

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Tex. (AP)—Six men died today when a car-carrying workers collided with a truck loaded with hot asphalt at a highway construction site in Northeast Texas.

Five victims were Negroes, the other white. A sixth Negro in the car was injured. The driver of the truck escaped harm.

The accident occurred around dawn two miles south of Mount Vernon on Texas 37 where it connects with Interstate 30, which is under construction.

The white man killed was William Harrison, 65, of Pittsburg, also in Northeast Texas.

The other fatalities, all of Pittsburg, were Johnny Phox, 37; Julius Jordan, 32; Leon Allen, 22; Larry Wilkerson, 18; and Henry Junior Johnson.

Wilkerson died in a Mount Vernon hospital after the crash. Roy Phox, 21, was injured.

The driver of the asphalt truck was C. H. Pelton of Saginaw. Harrison was a chicken-catch contractor. He and his crew of Negroes rounded up chickens on broiler ranches in this Northeast Texas area. They had worked last night at Van, and were en route to Pattonville near Paris.

The accident was two miles south of Mt. Vernon at the south end of a detour on Interstate 30 construction. The asphalt truck, property of the McElroy Transport Co. of Fort Worth, was en route to another construction job south of here on Interstate 20.

Youth Batters Through East Berlin's Wall

BERLIN (AP)—An East German youth who smashed through Berlin's Red wall in an East German army armored car Wednesday night was reported in satisfactory condition today despite a bullet wound in his chest.

A doctor said if everything goes well, he will be out of the hospital in three weeks.

Wolfgang Engels, 19, suffered wounds in his chest and hand and multiple cuts and abrasions.

His daring escape was the talk of West Berlin today.

Engels took the Soviet-made armored car out of the East German army garage where he worked as a civilian mechanic.

Shortly before 8 o'clock Wednesday night, he careened down the east side of Eisenstrasse toward the wall shouting, "I am going over. Who wants to go with me?"

Communist border guards fired their weapons as the nine-gun vehicle plowed into the first concrete barrier. The impact sprung the rear armor-plated doors and two bullets hit Engels.

The car got stuck in the second wall, which forms the border with West Berlin.

Unable to crawl through the hole because the car was blocking it, the wounded youth climbed atop the seven-foot wall, shouting for help.

As the East Berlin guards kept firing, the youth got tangled in the barbed wire atop the wall, then pitched forward and hit the sidewalk in the West Berlin district of Neukoelln, in the American sector.

A lone West Berlin policeman, on patrol near the scene, fired several shots into the East sector in an attempt to give the youth cover. The officer was slightly injured by concrete fragments splintered off the wall by the East German bullets.

Angry West Berliners were held back from the wall by West Berlin police. Many shouted "Figs" and "Murderers," as the East German guards pulled the armored car out of the debris.

Lobby Gifts Revealed By Senate Panel

OLD AT 35? STEWARDESS DISAGREES WITH AIRLINE

NEW YORK (AP)—"So at 35 do I look like an old bag?" Asking the question Wednesday was an American Airlines stewardess, Dusty Roads, 35, shapely — 36-24-36 — weighing 125 pounds, and a natural blonde.

The stewardesses at American are fighting the clause in the union contract which stipulates that the girls must resign at age 32. Miss Roads is exempt because the age embargo went into effect Dec. 1, 1953 — and Dusty was flying for American before that.

The union's contract expired last June and negotiations have failed to bring agreement on a new pact. The age clause is a key issue.

A company spokesman said 10 of the airline's 1,500 stewardesses are approaching the 32-mark this year.

Nancy Collins, master executive chairman of the American Airlines Union of the Airlines Stewards and Stewardesses Association of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, says that isn't so. She contends the number of almost 32 is nearer 100.

The American spokesman said that being a stewardess is a younger girl's type of job.

The girls said they have a slogan for their fight: "Too old to fly — too young for Social Security."

Philippines Sugar, Claims Factions Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee released testimony today that a Washington lobbyist for Philippine sugar interests purchased $6,600 in cashier checks in 1960 for political contributions to candidates for both parties.

The disclosure was made at a public hearing at which Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., also produced a series of documents detailing years of lobbying activity by John A. O'Donnell in behalf of the $73-million Philippine war damage claims bill which Congress finally enacted last year.

One document purported to show that campaign contributions to friendly candidates for Congress were made with cashier checks purchased from the Union Trust Co. of Washington Oct. 12, 1960 from an $18,000 fund supplied by O'Donnell's Philippine clients.

Capital School Ban On Whipping Stays In Force

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ban on paddling of students stays in force in District of Columbia schools under a 5-4 vote taken by the school board after heated debate on a corporal punishment proposal by Supt. Carl F. Hansen.

The board in a long session Wednesday did, however, go along with Hansen's disciplinary suggestions to the extent of voting for indefinite suspension of unruly pupils. But that has to lie over until the May meeting, awaiting a ruling on how it squares with the capital's laws.

Much of the heat in the discussion was generated by Mordecai Johnson, former president of Howard University and a board member.

Johnson, in a 30-minute speech, accused Hansen of being "out of touch" with disciplinary problems before the Thanksgiving Day football game riot that precipitated the discipline issue.

The melee in D.C. Stadium broke out after a championship game between one school attended preponderantly by Negroes and another made up mostly of whites.

A citizens committee investigating that incident and others came up with a report critical of school discipline. Hansen, in response, offered a 22-point program including permission to paddle the

Stock Market Moves Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market recovered from an early loss and moved irregularly higher early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Rails, aerospace issues, nonferrous metals and some of the more speculative oils moved higher.

Steels were uneven, showing minor changes, now that most of the leading steel companies have fallen in line with the selective price boosts.

Trading interest was strong in some of the merger or "takeover" candidates among the oils. Sunray DX Oil was especially active, rising a fraction and making a strong bid to top the entire list on volume.

Chrysler traded about unchanged in an indifferent motor section. Tobaccos, drugs and utilities were irregular.

He'd Like It

ABILENE (AP)—James E. Russell of Abilene, chairman of the Railroad Commission industry advisory committee, said Wednesday he would seriously consider an appointment to the commission. He is a petroleum engineer. William Murray Jr. resigned from the commission last week after disclosures about a North Texas oil lease in which he was part owner.

BULLETIN

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The electrical officer of the ill-fated nuclear submarine Thresher dramatically testified today the ship experienced many mechanical difficulties up to the eve of her sailing for what was to become a fatal test dive.

The testimony was given by Lt. Raymond McCool, 33, who would have been the Thresher's 130th victim except for a stroke of fate.

McCool said that on the night of April 8, the day before the Thresher sailed for its rendezvous with disaster, crewmen were correcting what he described as sail and rudder problems. (See another Thresher story on page 6-A.)

OTHER CHECKS

Others listed in the Fulbright document as receiving $500 contributions were former Rep. Walter Judd, R-Minn., who was defeated for re-election in 1962; Rep. William Miller, R-N.Y., now chairman of the GOP National Committee and then chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, in his capacity as chairman; former Sen. Allen Frear, D-Del.; and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va.

Opening lead: Queen of ♠ South took every possible precaution in the play of his vulnerable slam contract today. He was duly rewarded when his safety measures served to foil a distributional snag that would otherwise have upset his efforts.
When South opened the bidding with one club, North was not far removed from the requirements for a jump shift. Holding 17 points, he chose to bid his time with a simple forcing response of one spade. South offered a single raise in spades, and North now came out in his true colors by jumping to four clubs. With the double fit uncovered, South's hand had grown considerably in stature so he made a slam try by cue bidding in diamonds. This was all North needed to hear and he jumped to a small slam in clubs.

The queen of diamonds was opened and declarer saw that he was solid everywhere but in spades. His sole concern then was to restrict himself to one loser in that suit. This would be no problem at all if the suit divided three-two, so he must bend his efforts toward coping with an adverse break.
After winning the opening lead in his hand, he led over to the ace of hearts and ruffed a heart. A club to the jack permitted him to ruff out the last heart. The remaining trump was drawn and the ace of diamonds was cashed to complete the stripping operation.

A spade was led next and when West followed with the eight, the jack was played from dummy which held the trick. Declarer now played the four of spades from the North hand, fully intending to concede this trick, for if the spades split normally the ace would pick up the balance of the suit on the next round.
When East showed out on the second spade lead, the wisdom of South's safety play became apparent. He merely ducked the trick around to West's nine. If the latter switched to another suit it would present declarer with a ruff and discard; if West returned a spade however, South would have a free finesse in the suit.

Backfire Over Cuba?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—No bread is more bitter than the bread eaten in exile.

Because of that, grave concern is being expressed today in Miami as to the possibility that current U.S. policy toward Cuba may backfire. The result, say some careful students of the situation, could be a black eye for Uncle Sam and painful embarrassment before Latin America and the world.

Miami has at least 150,000 Cuban refugees. Only a tiny percentage of these is actively engaged in harassing the Cuban Communist regime or attempting to fight it in various ways. But practically every adult Cuban in exile fervently expresses the hope that Fidel Castro will be overthrown.

DYING HOPE
Many Cuban refugees show signs now of going through an agony of dying hope, in the wake of U.S. crackdowns on raids against Cuba or ostensible supply missions to bolster underground anti-Castro fighters on the island.

Some will admit the armed attacks by exiles against the Castro regime—even the attack on a Soviet cargo ship March 18—were mere pricks against an entrenched police state power. Many are willing to concede President Kennedy had good reasons for forbidding such attacks, for being concerned about the threat of a monumental Soviet-American crisis which might result from them.

The U.S. government says the attacks in reality provide Castro with additional excuses to crack down against internal Cuban resistance. Some Cuban exiles will admit even that may be true.

But, up to a few weeks ago, at least, something was going on, they say—sudden raids against vastly superior forces, and gallantry of the David against the Goliath—the gestures of defiance. It was a way of letting off steam.

BOTTLED UP
Then the United States intervened. The exiles' steam was bottled up.

"I might as well go back to Cuba," a young student exile told me bitterly. "If I can't fight them, if I must submit, it might as well be in my own country."

Informants who follow the situation closely suggest it is possible that Castro, playing on frustrations of the exiles, will make a grandstand play and invite back to Cuba those who might want to go home. Any success in such an enterprise, however small, would be potent propaganda fodder for Castro to use in Latin America.

Not many would listen to such a plea. Not many would go back. But all the same, many are embittered.

"There are too many disillusionments," said an anguished young Cuban. "The United States was with us and now it is against us. We can fight Castro or even the Russians in Cuba, but how can we fight them and the United States and Britain too?"

NO LOGIC
Against such sentiments, arguments, no matter how logical, make little impression. Resentment finds its reflection too, in growing resistance to the U.S. program to resettle exiles in other areas of the United States and ease the burden on Miami. Not one of the scores of exiles I have talked to said he would agree, now, to be resettled.

One of the swarms of Cuban exile organizations in Miami, an "Association of Public and Private Accountants of Cuba in Exile," even put out a formal resolution urging Cubans to resist resettlement.

Since the U.S. government has confined the militants among the exiles to Miami's Dade County, the resolution said other Cubans should now consider themselves similarly confined. If they must be relocated, it said, Cubans should ask to be sent to "a democratic Latin American country where we may continue our fight for the liberation of our country."

The size or importance of the organization does not matter. Its sentiments reflect those of many exiles, and they make up a good-sized city within a city.

HOW MANY?
How many exiles are sheltered in Miami today?

On the rolls of the refugee center, about 162,000 have been registered since the relief program began in January, 1961. Many were in Miami before then, and many others never had to register because they were self-sustaining. Since that time, 57,000 have been resettled in other areas. Miami officials say it is safe to estimate that the minimum number of exiles remaining in the city is 150,000 and that probably the figure is much higher.

In 2½ years, the U.S. government ponied up $80 million to support the exiles.

Easily three-quarters of the Cubans in Miami come from white collar, professional, and semi-professional classes, jealous of their self-respect and by and large a law-abiding group, Miami officials say. Almost any Cuban one talks with will say he did not come to Miami as an immigrant, but intended to go back home as soon as the homeland was free.

WHY HERE?
"Why do we stay here?" a Cuban lawyer asked me. "It is close to home. The climate is like ours. Here are our friends, relatives. We know each other. Elsewhere we would be lost, without any sense of security. Here we have our own stores, our own services, our own customs, our own language. If we are separated we lose contact with one another, we have a feeling our exile is permanent."

"We are grateful because the United States was the only country which opened its arms and helped us. But we still want to go back home and we want to fight our own fight."

New Canadian Chief To Take Oath Monday

OTTAWA (AP)—Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson will take the oath as Canada's 14th prime minister Monday, heading the country's second successive government without guaranteed majority support in the House of Commons.

Gov. Gen. Georges P. Vanier named Pearson to take over after Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker resigned, effective Monday. His Conservative party trailed Pearson's Liberals in the national elections April 8.

After his conference with Vanier, Pearson said he hopes to meet with President Kennedy late this month or early in May. He said he plans to see British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan before going to Washington.

Pearson said he hopes to call the new Parliament into session May 16.

As Pearson got the official nod, the Social Credit party announced that six of its members who had pledged formally to back the Liberal leader had withdrawn their pledges.

Thus Pearson will be three votes short of a majority in the new 265-member Parliament. His Liberals have 13 seats, the Conservatives 94, Social Credit 24 and the New Democratic party 17.

However, Social Credit Leader Robert N. Thompson said his party will support Pearson as it did Diefenbaker—with no specific demands or conditions attached—"as long as it brings in sound legislation."

Pearson said that after taking the oath of office Monday, he will begin the "60 days of decision" he promised during the campaign, a period he said would produce more constructive proposals than any government in history.

High on the list will be the question of accepting U.S. nuclear warheads for Canada's Bomarc missiles and its air force units serving with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in West Germany.

U.S. criticism of the Conservative government's refusal to accept the warheads was one factor in the government's overthrow, Pearson said Canada should make good on its pledge to take the nuclear arms, then negotiate with the United States to get rid of them.

Negroes Estes Once Helped Defend Him

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Negroes of the Nashville Christian Institute brush aside Billie Sol Estes' mountain of troubles as an ant hill over in West Texas.

What counts, they said, is his good Christian heart.
And Estes appears to have undergone a metamorphosis from the fellow who stepped off a plane from Dallas in the wee hours Wednesday morning—a haggard looking fellow, icy to newsmen and under federal and state sentences that could put him behind bars for 23 years.

After a full day and half a night of being praised and prayed for, the 38-year-old promoter left the institute beaming. And he parted with kind words for the press.

THEY LOVE HIM

Estes was taken to the home of a Negro family where the lady of the house works as a maid. He was driven there by the Rev. Floyd Rose, Negro Church of Christ minister in Toledo, Ohio, who said:
"I don't care what they say he's done. I love him for what he's done for me and for my race and integration. If he goes to the penitentiary, we'll see that his family doesn't suffer any inconvenience."

Rose said Estes sponsored his education from grade school through divinity school.

When a reporter for the Nashville Tennessean tired of having his questions answered with a cold stare, he buttonholed Estes and started to say good night.
"No comment," Estes snapped again. Then he grinned and said:
"I realize that you fellows have a job to do. I just ignore you. I don't even see you when you try to talk to me. But I love you all."

SMALL SCHOOL

Estes dropped in unexpectedly Wednesday on the small Negro school which he often helped before his financial empire collapsed last year into a rubble of worthless mortgages.

The institute has 238 Negro students from kindergarten through high school and is affiliated with the Church of Christ, of which Estes is a former lay minister.

He talked briefly to alumni and friends of the school on the "need for love," then fell into a round of handshakes, hugs and chit-chat.

BLIND BARTIMAEUS

Luke 18:42 is one of three Scriptures given by a correspondent, which seem to indicate to him that people were saved without baptism. The Scripture concerns blind Bartimaeus. It says, "And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight; thy faith hath saved thee." The context shows that this is salvation from physical blindness, not salvation from sin. Thus, this is not a proof text against baptism.
Anyway, this man was not an alien. This was in the land of the Jews. The Jews (the house of Israel and the house of Judah) were the Lord's sheep until the law was nailed to the cross (Zech.

10:3; Jer. 23:23; Col. 2:14). Only the Gentiles were without covenant relationship with God (Eph. 2:11, 12). Thus Bartimaeus did not represent an alien sinner.
He could have been a backslider, but baptism is not for backsliders. It is connected with the new birth (Jno. 3:3-5).

Steel Argues Its Profits Are Down

This is how Steel, the magazine of the U.S. steel industry, charts the industry's drop in profits from 1953 through 1962. Steel producers maintain low earnings make a price rise necessary. The chart was compiled from data supplied by 34 steel producers representing about 94 per cent of the steel production in the U.S.

Steel Completing Major Drive For Price Increase

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry was in the mop-up stage today of its first successful drive for a significant price increase since 1958.

All but a comparative handful of steel firms had posted mark-ups, mostly averaging three per cent or less, on a narrow range of big-tonnage products. The remainder was falling in line rapidly. There was still no direct word on their actions from President Kennedy beyond qualified recognition a week ago that some boosts probably were justifiable and a caution to steelmen against going too far.

However, the President kept in close touch throughout. He was expected to be drawn out of his views in an appearance Friday before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. The character and handling of the pricing move contrasted markedly with an abortive effort a year ago for an across-the-board increase. It took eight days for the initial price rise, by Wheeling Steel Corp., to spread somewhat unevenly through the industry. The pitched battle of April 1962 over across-the-board increases ended in a roll-back within 72 hours. The selective increases this year left some questions that divided close observers and might take a long time to answer conclusively. Will prices of steel-made consumer goods rise appreciably? How, if at all, will the results affect wage-price stability, a key administration goal with ramifications for the entire economy? Frederick Kappel, board chairman of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Co., made clear Wednesday that he doesn't share the President's concern in this area. The boosts "may be a blessing in disguise to the economy," Kappel told the AT&T annual meeting.

The executive, who also is chairman of the Business Council, a sort of Who's Who of industry, said he thought Kennedy's stand-aside role of recent days bolstered business confidence. The debate will have a focal point next week when a congressional committee starts an "impartial" inquiry into steel prices, profits, production and related questions.

The price drive stuttered uncertainty for several days after it was launched by Wheeling; then lurched forward at the first of the week and snowballed Tuesday and Wednesday.

That it would go all the way seemed assured when U.S. Steel Corp., with roughly one-fourth of the industry's production capacity announced increases Tuesday. The last really big firm to join was Kaiser Steel Corp., a California company which balked when industry leaders tried to raise prices last year.

YEP, SPRING HAS ARRIVED

The bull was out and the bees were swarming Wednesday.

Animal Warden Bill Baker received a call from 100 N. Benton Wednesday that a black bull was loose in the street. He located the owner and corralled the bull.

Dorothy Smith, 1002 W. 6th, called police about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday and asked for help with a swarm of bees in her back yard. Lt. Stanley Bogard investigated and H. H. Morris captured the bees.

Destructive Storms Hit Broad Midwestern Areas

By The Associated Press
Storms diminished across the Midwest today after destructive tornadoes and damaging thunderstorms ripped across areas in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. One person was killed, scores were injured and property damage was extensive. Some 200 persons were made temporarily homeless.

The hardest hit region was in the area of Kankakee, Ill., a city of some 28,000 about 45 miles south of Chicago. A tornado cut a path 300 yards wide and 3 miles long, first striking on the edge of Kankakee and skipping into nearby Bourbonnais and five other communities. Bourbonnais, a community of 3,335, suffered the heaviest property damage, estimated at $2 million by Leon Blandette, village president. Sandra Rivard, 24, was killed as she fled from her home with her three-month old daughter.

The infant and some 60 other persons in the area were injured, 10 seriously. About 200 persons were forced from their wrecked and damaged homes. The storm caused extensive damage to buildings on the campus of Olivet College.

The twister moved eastward into northern Indiana, across northern Jasper County, injuring 18 persons and causing an estimated $300,000 damage to property. Three of the injured were reported in critical condition. All of the injured live near Gifford, 10 miles northeast of Rensselaer.

Lesser damage from wind storms were reported in Monroe County, Mich., where electricity was cut off to about 1,000 homes. Tornado winds hit near Coldwater, overturning a trailer and seriously injuring the only occupant, Asa E. Weaver, 86.

The violent weather was caused by the clash of warm moist air from the Gulf and the cool air moving south from Canada.

Near blizzard conditions were reported in Flagstaff, Ariz., with strong winds, snow, and temperatures in the 20s. The snow spread into parts of Utah, Idaho, Colorado and Wyoming.

Light rain fell during the night and early morning along a warm front from the Lower Great Lakes region to southern New England. Generally fair weather prevailed in the Southeast, the northern Plains and the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Convicted

Robert Mims, 43, a Dallas oilman, was sentenced in federal court in Oklahoma City to 15 years in prison and fined $10,000 on a conviction under the air piracy law. He was charged with assaulting the pilot of a chartered plane over Stillwater, Okla., turning off the engine and pocketing the key. The pilot managed to land safely without power.

Sadler Tax Trial Set

DALLAS (AP)—Trial of State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler on a federal tax charge has been set for early next month.

Judge Howard Dawson Jr. of Washington will hear the case in the Tax Court of the United States during a session opening April 29 in Fort Worth.

The Internal Revenue Service has accused Sadler of filing a fraudulent return involving lawyer's fees paid Sadler in a Gregg County probate case. The government claims Sadler owes $125,258 in taxes and penalty. Sadler asserted he was due a $4,558 refund. The tax years are 1954-1957. The government alleges that Sadler's fee in the case, less accounting and legal services, was $254,000. The IRS claims that Sadler reported only $150,000, leaving unreported income of $104,050. Sadler denied any intent to defraud. The fees in question, he said, were reported as income in the next year.

On Home Soil Again

Two Indian soldiers, recently released by Chinese Communists and still dressed in Chinese issue clothing, touch Indian soil to their foreheads after re-entering their homeland in the hills of the North East Frontier Agency. They had been captured by the Chinese Reds during fighting on the India-China border prior to the cease-fire last October.

Sen. Keating Doubts JFK's Assurances On Cuban Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a direct challenge of President Kennedy's reassurances on Soviet troop withdrawals, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating charged today there has been "no substantial reduction" of Soviet military forces in Cuba since mid-November.

Keating, a New York Republican, said in a speech prepared for the American Society of Newspaper Editors that he has information that new Soviet arrivals have about matched the departures.

"There were and are in the neighborhood of 17,000 men there," said the senator. "No functional units have been withdrawn."

Kennedy, who will address the editors' annual meeting Friday, told his April 3 news conference that some 4,000 Soviet troops had left in the preceding month, in addition to the 5,000 pulled out in November.

At the height of last fall's crisis over Soviet missile bases in Cuba, there were an estimated 21,000 to 22,000 Soviet troops on the island. So the President's report indicated a remaining total of only 12,000 or 13,000.

Keating—resuming with relish his role as a foremost Republican critic of Kennedy's Cuban policies—drew afresh on the undisclosed intelligence sources with which he has been challenging the administration for months.

"Several thousand personnel have left Cuba, several thousand more have arrived," he said.

"Furthermore, they should not be called troops when they are on their way out and technicians when they are on their way in.

"There is no reliable evidence whatsoever of a decline in Soviet military strength or capability since those first withdrawals in November."

He charged also that some U.S. Navy ships have specific orders not to searchlight the small vessels which he said constantly ply Cuban and Caribbean waters at night. He mentioned "Navy personnel" as his source of this information.

Despite U.S. surveillance designed to block the shipment from Cuba of "weapons, personnel and other tools of subversion" to other Latin-American countries, Keating told the editors:

"None of these ships are ever searched by U.S. patrols.

"How can we hope to get evidence of support of subversion," he went on, "if we don't investigate these small scale but very numerous operations?"

"I have never been impressed by the view that we are going to gain any concessions by relaxing pressure on the Soviets."

Keating was the first major speaker before the 450 editors who, later in the afternoon, were to hear from the administration's first team in foreign policy—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretaries George W. Ball and W. Averell Harriman.

The senator's topic was "Bipartisanship: The Lessons of Cuba," but his central theme was that Kennedy cannot expect real bipartisan support on Cuba from Congress or the public until there is a firm policy to support "some over-all, long-term, consistent program to dislodge the Soviets."

Disunity also is fostered, Keating went on, when attempts are made to "discredit the motives and sincerity of every critic."

The senator contended that politics stops at the water's edge only when the party in power shows full confidence in, and provides for full consultation with, the minority party.

Both parties have made serious blunders in Cuba and must share "bipartisan blame" for the "lack of any consistent policy" in dealing with developments there, Keating said.

The society's freedom of information committee, headed by edi-

Reverse Freedom Riders Find North Not Easy, Either

By The Associated Press

Nearly a year has passed since the first Negro left the South for the North on a one-way bus ticket supplied by Southern segregationists. He was followed by more than 100 others, many of them children accompanying their parents.

What has become of them? To all, one truism has emerged: the living isn't easy, North or South.

A dreary picture emerges, for the most part, from surveys in the cities to which the voluntary exiles went in search of a better life — Hyannis, Mass., near the summer home of President Kennedy; New York, Detroit, Philadelphia, Dayton, Ohio, and Chicago.

Any other result would have been astonishing, for the "Reverse Freedom Riders" — the South's answer to the Freedom Riders—were ill prepared to cope with a high-cost area alien to them.

Not all can be traced, but it was ascertained that many had returned home, disillusioned and homesick. Some went on relief and are still receiving assistance. Some found jobs and are working out new lives.

One of the first to come North was Louis Boyd, 41, an unemployed New Orleans longshoreman. With him on his arrival in New York on April 21, 1962, were his wife and eight children, ranging in age from 3 to 12 years.

"My wife and children were needing," Boyd said in explaining why he had accepted an offer by the Citizens Council of New Orleans to send North any Negro who thought he might fare better there than in the South.

Things looked good at first for the Boyd family. The Travelers Aid Society placed them in a three-room, $25-a-day suite in a mid-Manhattan hotel for a week-end, and he promptly got a job.

But the firm which had employed him as a $100-a-week handyman was out of business within a month.

Boyd finally got another job at a small steel mill in Jersey City. He and his family live in a federal housing project, the children are in school and two of them sing in the choir at St. John's Episcopal church.

"Yes, I suppose they're getting along all right," said the Rev. Robert Castle, rector of St. John's. "About as well as 10 people can get along on $75 a week."

Of six others who followed Boyd to New York City, at least two—Junius Eli, 21, and Morris Price, 20, returned to New Orleans less than two weeks after their arrival.

Another, Sheila Williams, 36, found a job in a grocery. There is no record of what happened to the others.

One, Roy Hamilton, 23, said a week after his arrival, "There has been some talk about going home." He added, "You get turned down again and again, and then you ask yourself, why did I come here?"

Ninety-six went to Cape Cod. Of these, a mother and her family of 11 remain on public relief in Hyannis. She occasionally earns a little money when older children relieve her of family tasks on non-school days. One boy has a newspaper route.

Two young women and four children remain in Newburyport, Mass., to which they were sent from the Cape for housing and public care. The women are working and virtually self-sustaining.

Of the remainder sent to Cape Cod, the majority have wound up in Boston jobs. At least four others have returned South and five left to seek jobs outside New England.

A few others found summer work in hostleries and went South last autumn with employers who maintained winter establishments in Florida.

One New Orleans Negro chose to try his luck in Philadelphia. He remained less than a week.

He was Raymond Battiste, 20, who commented as he boarded a return bus: "I'm going to tell my friends it's just as hard getting a job up here. They might as well stay put."

Archie Campbell of Macon, Ga., arrived in Detroit May 18 but returned to Georgia two days later on a bus ticket supplied by Ronnie Thompson, a jeweler in his hometown.

Three Louisiana Negroes chose Chicago, but one, Rezzie Moffett, 45, of New Orleans, returned there after nine days because he failed to find a job.

Clifford Taylor, 25, a handyman who arrived with Moffett, stayed a while longer but dropped out of sight and didn't leave an address.

Frank Hill, 43, of Shreveport, La., fared better and got a job as laborer with a contractor. When last heard from he was still working.

The latest case of the "Reverse Freedom Riders" is that of Joseph Parker, his wife and their five daughters.

They arrived in Dayton, March 24 from New Orleans, and Parker soon got a job as a carwasher with a meat packing firm.

Dayton civic groups paid two months rent on a house for Parker and furnished it.

"We'd just like to live a normal life," said Mrs. Parker. "We were only half living down there." Parker had been unemployed since September.

Joint Tour

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Eduardo Livas Villarreal, governor of Nuevo Leon, Mexico, and Mayor Leopoldo Gonzalez Saenz of Monterrey plan a joint tour of Texas soon, officials of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission says. They will visit Texas cities between El Paso and Corpus Christi.

Shipyard Commander Is 'Interested Party'

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The commanding officer of the Portsmouth naval shipyard, where the nuclear submarine Thresher was reentered before disappearing in a deep test dive April 10, today was voluntarily made "an interested party," represented by counsel, at the sinking inquiry.

Rear Adm. Charles A. Palmer told a Navy court of inquiry he has a direct interest in the submarine Thresher and its investigation and asked permission to be named as a party to the proceedings.

He became the second naval officer to become a party to the investigation—represented by an attorney.

The first, named involuntarily, was Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker, 36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., commander of the submarine's escort vessel Skylark which was accompanying the Thresher on its last deep test dive 220 miles east of Boston. He was named a party to the investigation Tuesday as the court probed into an alleged delay in the Skylark's reporting of certain communications from the submarine.

The court accepted Capt. Dana B. French, named by Adm. Palmer to serve as his counsel; and former Navy Capt. Louis Patrick Gray, whom Hecker requested to be his counsel. Both parties to the inquiry appeared at the opening of today's session and were advised of their rights.

Gray, in the Navy 22 years and in submarine service 18 years, retired in June 1960 to become a member of the campaign staff of then vice President Richard M.

Nixon as a special assistant on defense, foreign affairs and economic affairs.

After Hecker's name was brought into the inquiry Tuesday, the court went into recess to permit Hecker to obtain counsel and study testimony taken up to that time.

The court emphasized there are no charges against Hecker and pointed out that in no way is he held responsible for the loss of the Thresher.

Check Lanes Catch 5 More

Big Spring police issued five tickets Wednesday to motorists not displaying 1963 motor vehicle inspection stickers on their windshields. Lt. Stanley Bogard, police traffic division, said two of these were issued in traffic inspection lanes, set up at three places for 30 to 45-minute periods. At the same time, five tickets were issued to drivers with no operator's licenses.

Persons receiving tickets for not displaying the stickers are tried in corporation court. Fines, under state law, can run from $1 to $200, Bogard said.

"We are using the check lanes during the remainder of the week at various spots in the city," Bogard said, "and will continue them periodically through the remainder of the month. The main purpose is to check vehicles for safety features, and for those driving without licenses."

The first check lane was set up Wednesday afternoon on Wasson Road between Marcy Drive and the park entrance. Officers checked 230 vehicles and issued five tickets. The second was in the 1400 block of Goliad where 105 vehicles were checked and no tickets issued. The third was on East Sixth street this morning. A total of 109 vehicles were checked and two tickets issued.

Special Trustee Meeting Tonight

Year-end activities at Big Spring public schools will be discussed at a special meeting of trustees today at 7:30 p. m.

High school and junior high principals have requested an audience with trustees at the special session. No agenda has been prepared, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent.

Other business of the meeting may include a progress report on construction of new school facilities currently under way. The meeting will be held in the board room of the administration building, 100 E. 10th.

Attend Parley

Two residents will attend the convention of American National Insurance Co. in Las Vegas, Nev. beginning Tuesday and continuing four days. They are C. E. Bengel, district manager, and Arthur T. Clonts, local representative. The representatives qualified for the trip through production reports during the past 18 months.

Still Critical

COMPLETIONS

DAWSON Texas has completed No. 2-X R. P. Painter Estate in the lower Mississippi basin of the Texas Hamon (multiple) field as a triple completion. It has previously been completed in the Pusanman and the Montosa. The lower Mississippi produced 100 barrels of gravity oil, with a gas-oil ratio of 231.15 per cent, initial pumping potential. The zone was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid through three sets of perforations between 11,193.268 feet to total depth of 11,785 feet. It was plugged back to 11,720 feet. Test was topped at 11,124 feet and strings of 2 1/2-inch casing are set at 11,364 feet, 11,781 feet and 11,782 feet. Location is 2,306 feet from the south and 2,130 feet from the east lines of section 23-36, T&P survey.

GARZA K. K. Ammi No. 1 K. K. Ammi-Mc-Crory, spotting 486 feet from the north and west line of section 130-5, H&G survey, pumped 42 barrels of 30-gravity oil on initial potential in the Post (Gloria) field. The gas-oil ratio was too small to measure, and 45 per cent water was produced. Elevation is 2,324 feet, total depth is 2,640 feet. Test was topped at 2,564 feet. 4 1/2-inch casing is at 2,650 feet and perforations are between 2,464-611 feet.

HOWARD Texas No. 2-C Howard Fee pumped 14 barrels of new oil, at 70 barrels per formation water in 24 hours survey. The Clear Fork II spots 1,980 feet from the south and 360 feet from the east line of section 43-30-1a, T&P survey.

MARTIN Texas Crude No. 1-253 Knox is running logs at a total depth of 13,330 feet. It spots 4,130 feet from the south and 400 feet from the west line of section 253, Ward C&S survey.

STERLING Cooden No. 2 Parramore, C. NW SW, section 45-17, SPRB survey, is going into the hole for No. 2. It is 207 feet from 33 feet of time with shale streaks as core No. 2 from 4,570-622 feet. No other description was given.

ze leaders tipped with bayonets glinting in the sun. One could imagine a Civil War centennial event.

Actually, the eight colorfully dressed men—Hindman's Raiders they call themselves—are there to help W. T. Pitts in his battle with contractors who are widening U.S. Highway 71 through Springdale.

Pitts, owner of the used car lot on which the tree stands, has hired the group to defend the tree until he has been compensated for the land on which it stands.

A construction company wants the land for right-of-way. The first skirmish occurred on Wednesday when W. W. Sanders of Tulsa, Okla., foreman for the Anchor Construction Co., approached the group.

He was told that anyone who tried to remove the tree would "be met with cold steel." Sanders stroled away grinning.

The test, according to Pitts, is whether anyone can go on private property and remove a tree without permission. Sanders, who is conducting his road widening work elsewhere for the time being, says he will eventually move the tree, legally.

The raiders are named for Maj. Gen. Thomas C. Hindman who led Confederate forces in the indecisive battle of Prairie Grove in northeast Arkansas in 1862.

Food Poisoning Suspected In Children's Deaths

MISSION (AP)—Three small children died early today from what police said apparently was food poisoning. Four other children in the same family and their mother became violently ill.

Mission police said someone at the farm home of Hernandez Lopez Vega, near here in the Lower Rio Grande valley, summoned an ambulance from McAllen.

It took Mrs. Vega and six of the children to a hospital at Edinburg, 12 miles northeast of Mission by ambulance. Another child was sent to a Mission hospital.

Three youngsters died before the ambulance reached Edinburg about 3 a. m. They were Claricia, 4, Jose, 5, and Reylando, 9.

Attendants said Mrs. Vega and the other children were seriously ill. They are Rubin, 4 months old; Corina, 2, and Diana, 12, all in the Edinburg hospital, and a baby girl in the Mission hospital.

Police said they assumed food poisoning was to blame but they had been unable to question any of the family.

Juveniles Admit Taking Five Purses

Two juveniles, one 14 and the other 15 years old, have confessed to taking five purses from cars parked on streets in the southeast part of town.

Sheriff's Deputy Aubrey Standard said the youths led officers to where two of the missing purses had been concealed and returned the contents of a third to the officers. The other purses and their contents were thrown away after the boys had taken what they wanted.

The boys were turned over to the juvenile officer. Standard said the case has been puzzling police, sheriff's deputies and the juvenile authorities for some weeks. The three agencies have been working on the case cooperatively.

NORMAL CELLS UNHURT

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associate Press Service Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—There is a mysterious something in the laboratory flasks of Dr. Jorgen Fogh which somehow slows and inhibits the growth of human cancer cells. Remarkably, the substance does not interfere with human cells grown in laboratory flasks. Still more remarkable, it doesn't bother normal cells even when used in solutions 10,000 times as strong as those which hamper cancer growth. Studies have continued to find out what the something is, and how it works, but it has eluded evaluation so far. Fogh told a meeting Wednesday of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Fogh came on the phenomenon while working with mixtures of colonies of cancer cells and nor-

He has been a leading exponent of water conservation — by impounding potable sources in West Texas, research into means of reducing losses through evaporation, and by protecting limited fresh water supplies against pollution.

A native of San Diego, Spence was graduated from high school there in 1907. He received his

More Opposition For Aid Request

A majority of the members of the board of directors for the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce feels that federal aid should not be asked for building the Beal's Branch Trunk Sewer line.

At a meeting held Wednesday afternoon, directors present voted unanimously to urge the city to reject federal assistance. Most other members polled by telephone this morning felt the same way. Carroll Davidson, Chamber manager, said.

A public hearing has been called by the city commission for 5 p. m. Tuesday to determine the attitude of citizens on federal assistance for the project. This portion of the sewer program will cost about $325,000 and up to $130,000 may be available through a federal grant.

Birchers Put On A New Look; More Workers, Bigger Office

BELMONT, Mass. (AP)—There is a new look about the operations of the John Birch Society. Nowhere is it more apparent than at the home office in a red brick building near Belmont Center, where Robert Welch, its founder, directs the affairs of the militant organization.

There is a sharp contrast with the status of the society just two years ago when a sudden surge of criticism reached even the floor of Congress, where there were demands that it be investigated. The society still occupies half of the ground floor of the building, along with the basement. But it has expanded its quarters, taking over the basement of an adjoining building.

There were 57 employees in 1961; there are 109 on the payroll now. Welch is a North Carolina farm boy who after college in his home state went to the U.S. Naval Academy for two years, and to Harvard Law School for another two. Then he went into the candy business and made his fortune in a nationally known firm which bore his name. He retired in 1957 to devote full time to organization of the John Birch Society.

Welch, who decries talk of a new look, says the society isn't a secret one, but holds secret only the number of members and their identities.

No secret, however, is his pride in the circulation of the society's monthly publication, American Opinion, which he places at more than 27,000.

Another development consists of stores across the country which sell the magazine, society pamphlets and books. Most are elated by the society's success, but there is more than liberal sprinkling of economics writings.

Welch said there are about 125 stores handling society and other publications. Some of them are operated by John Birch members, as "American Opinion Library" shops.

The others either are independent, or are general bookstores which carry books on the society list.

The society magazine, American Opinion, comes out monthly but the July and August issues are combined. It has a managing editor, Scott Stanley, and a business manager, Richard Ober, and carries articles by many writers, including Westbrook Pegler, former newspaper columnist.

There also has been a change in the society's 32-page monthly bulletin which Welch writes and edits. Welch now takes a draft of each forthcoming issue to a meeting of the society's five-member executive board, usually in Chicago.

"We go over it for discussion and suggestions," Welch said in an interview at his office. The bulletin now carries a line on the front page—"approved by the executive committee."

Welch said that doesn't represent any change in policy.

"It was planned. At first I did it all myself, now they (the executive committee) are taking more interest. It is not a change but growth."

"We have been growing steadily," he said. "We were slowed down by the attacks on us, but now we're booming. Our growth has been rapid in the last few months."

Welch said there is nothing new, either, in his availability for an interview. He held several news conferences last month, and was interviewed by a television panel while on a visit to Southern California, where the society has some of its greatest strength.

Tourist Advertising Bill Is Up For Debate

AUSTIN (AP) — State senators agreed to take care of local problems today before deciding whether Texas may advertise for tourists.

The Senate set a special calendar for 9 a.m. to consider a long list of "local and uncontested" bills.

Wednesday the House gave final approval and sent to the Senate about 50 such bills.

Sensors began debate on a tourist proposal Wednesday but adjourned before taking a vote.

The House-passed bill would set up a Texas Tourist Development Agency with a six-member advisory board and administrator appointed by the governor.

Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress spoke against the bill, as he has against several previous recommendations of Gov. John Connally.

"I object to the philosophy of passing just anything the governor sends in here," Rogers said. "There's been too much side maneuvering by the governor to get everything under his control in one session."

"The philosophy that the king can do no wrong is outdated." The Senate amended the House bill to require Senate approval of the governor's appointees and also to let board members collect travel expenses.

A $250,000 appropriation to finance the agency is sought by Connally.

The House passed and sent to the governor Wednesday bills to create a new state mentally retarded school at Richmond, give Lufkin State School an independent school district, grant street easements to Texas Tech, and amend laws relating to National Guard members and Texas reservists.

Senate passage sent to the governor bills to require inspections on shipments of livestock and livestock products, setting up a Harris County criminal court at law, provide for promotional examinations for firemen and policemen returning from military service, and recodify laws covering state savings and loan associations.

Grace, Rainier Arrive In U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Prince Rainier III of Monaco and Princess Grace, a native Philadelphian, arrived with their children Wednesday night to start a six-week visit to the United States.

The prince, accompanied by his daughter, Caroline, 6, arrived here four hours before his wife and their son Albert, 5.

They flew from Europe to New York's International Airport in separate planes as a precaution against the possibility of an air disaster wiping out the ruling house of Monaco.

The family is staying with Mrs. John B. Kelly Sr. in the house where Princess Grace, the former Grace Kelly grew up. Mrs. Kelly is the princess' mother.

Punish-Mississippi Idea Sets Off Fire In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to punish Mississippi segregationists by denying federal funds to the state has touched off a new flareup in Congress over civil rights.

President Kennedy maintained silence on a recommendation by the Civil Rights Commission that he look into his legal authority to cut off funds to counter what the group said was "open and flagrant violation of constitutional guarantees" of Negro citizens seeking to vote in Mississippi.

There was no indication the President planned any action toward carrying out such a proposal which would be hailed by minority voters in the large industrial states but would be certain to stir resentment among white voters in the South.

Nevertheless Southern senators erupted with bitter condemnation of the suggestion while civil rights advocates of both parties praised it.

This revival of controversy seemed likely to make it more difficult for administration leaders to get congressional approval of Kennedy's recommendation for a four-year extension of life for the commission and a broadening of its authority. Unless Congress acts before then, the commission would go out of existence in November.

There already is general recognition that the commission matter is the only civil rights issue likely to be pushed to a vote this year. Otherwise, Kennedy's program in this field probably will await election year consideration.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., of the Senate Judiciary Committee which passes on all civil rights proposals, called the commission's recommendation for cutting off payments on highways, flood control, military contracts and other U.S.-aided programs "preposterous."

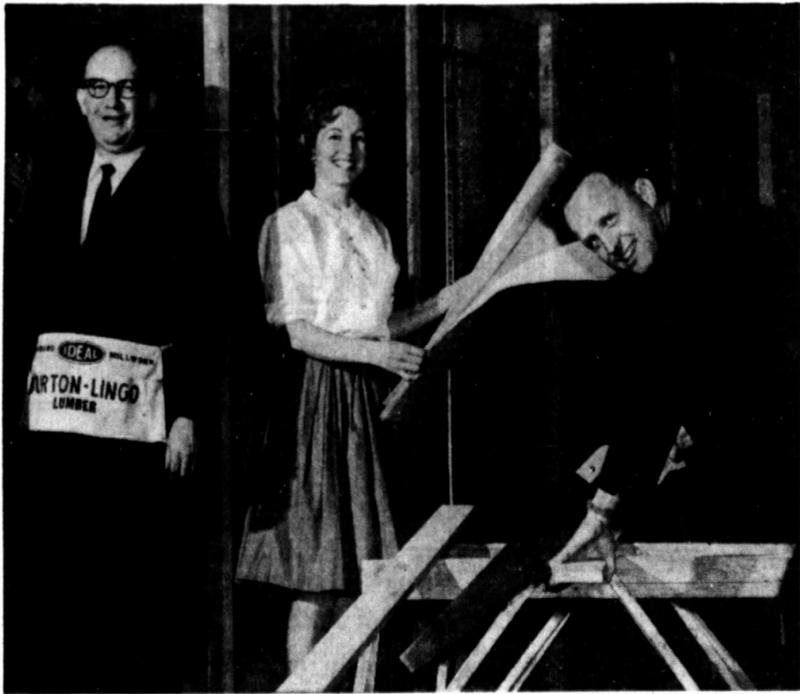

He said the President doesn't have "any color of authority" to carry it out.

Agreeing, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said he couldn't conceive of Congress giving any serious consideration to the commission's recommendation that legislation be passed to carry out its suggestion.

HORNING PENITENT, KARRAS OUTRAGED

Pro Football Slams Door On Two Stars

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Professional football on both sides of the border slammed its doors today on two suspended stars of the National Football League and rallied behind NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle in his smashing blow at gambling influence.

A penitent Paul Horning and an outraged Alex Karras, two of the sport's biggest names caught in the web of the latest sports scandal, apparently were left with no recourse except possible future forgiveness of the league—not earlier than 1964.

The rival American League, battling the NFL for the spectator dollar, and the Canadian League, a refuge for ousted American players in the past, said they have no place for the two players accused of wagering on games.

"Under no circumstances will they be permitted to play in the American Football League until their suspensions are lifted," Joe Foss, commissioner of the AFL, said in a formal statement in Dallas.

Sidney Halter, commissioner of the Canadian League, said: "I would refuse to register any contract submitted by a CFL club with a player suspended by an American league for betting on games."

Horning, halfback and frequent scoring leader of the champion

PETE ROZELLE

Green Bay Packers, and Karras, 250-pound tackle of the Detroit Lions, drew indefinite suspensions Wednesday in a sweeping action by Rozelle that also resulted in fines for five other Detroit players and a $4,000 penalty against the Detroit club.

Horning and Karras were accused of making bets on games, usually in the $50 to $200 range, over a period of years. The commissioner said there was no evidence of any so-called "fixes." That is, they were not found to have bet against their own club, sold information to gamblers or shaved points.

The other five players, each fined $2,000 for betting $50 apiece on Green Bay to beat the New York Giants in the 1962 playoff game, were: John Gordy, guard; Gary Lowe, defensive back; Joe Schmidt, all-league middle linebacker; Wayne Walker, line-backer; and Sam Williams, defensive end, all of the Lions.

Detroit was fined for failing to take proper action on undesirable associations reported by police.

Rozelle, in announcing the result of extensive investigations which included 52 separate interviews, emphasized "there is no evidence that any NFL player has given less than his best in playing any game."

He made it clear, however, that he would not tolerate gambling of any sort in the league nor permit association of players with characters who might create public suspicion. In this stand, he had virtually the unanimous support of the league directors, his bosses.

Horning, 27, a handsome bachelor who might double as a matinee idol, was subdued and humble when he received the news at his home in Louisville.

"I did wrong," he said. "I should be penalized. I just have to stay with it."

He said he does not plan an appeal from the suspension. He indicated he will work toward a review of his case and ultimate reinstatement—which isn't possible, Rozelle said, before next year.

The former Notre Dame star, leading scorer in the NFL in 1959, 1960 and 1961 and most valuable player in 1961, said all his bets were of the sociable variety.

"They were made with friends, strictly sporting," he added. "I always gave 100 per cent of every game I played in." He said he probably made eight or nine bets, $100 and $200 each.

Rozelle said Horning's betting habits stemmed from his acquaintance with a West Coast businessman, whom Horning met in 1956 in San Francisco. Investigation showed Horning placed several bets through this friend, the commissioner added, saying in one year the triple threat halfback made $1,500.

Karras's reaction to the suspension was entirely different.

"It comes as a shock to me," the big lineman, also 27, a one-time All-America at Iowa, said at his home in Detroit. "I haven't done anything I am ashamed of and I am not guilty of anything."

He said he had hired an attorney and planned to fight the league action. However, he could not hide his pessimism. He said he figured the ban is for life and that he and a group of friends are going ahead with plans to operate a Detroit bar.

Rozelle said Karras had made at least six bets since 1958 through a business associate. The commissioner said that the bets were for $50 until last year when the Detroit tackle bet $100 on the Lions to beat Green Bay on Thanksgiving Day—which they did—and $100 on the Packers against the Giants in the title game, won by Green Bay 16-7.

Karras was called on the carpet by Rozelle in mid-January after he had revealed in a television interview that he sometimes bet on games. He was accused by Detroit police of associating with "known hoodlums."

Gordy said he was stunned by the penalty but he said he will accept it willingly.

"I think it's probably a greater testimony to the integrity of our game than anything else," he said in an interview at San Jose, Calif.

The Lions veteran said his infraction and that of his friends seemed an innocent thing at the time.

"We all were sitting around in Miami watching the Green Bay-Giants championship game on television," he related. "In the group of us we decided to get up a bet on the game. Everyone just did it without thinking. Our regular season was over. This was the only time I ever bet on a football game."

Among the NFL owners, the

only discordant note on Rozelle's action—and it was a mild one—was voiced by William Clay Ford, president of the Lions.

He said the Lions will comply fully with the commissioner's order but added: "Compliance does not mean that we agree with the nature or extent of the penalties imposed."

Typical of most of the owners' comment was that of Art Modell of the Cleveland Browns, who said he is certain the league has emerged a stronger organization as a result of the crackdown. "It is gratifying that Pete Rozelle took this decisive and forceful action," he said.

Vince Lombardi, coach and general manager of the Green Bay team said of Horning "I thought a great deal of Paul. He always gave me 100 per cent in football. While there is no evidence of criminal intent, that of shaving points and so forth, the caliber of play was not affected."

"However, there was a definite violation of the player contract, and constitution and bylaws of this league in regard to gambling which is punishable by suspension. The commissioner had no other alternative because, if allowed to continue, it could lead to more serious consequences."

Rozelle, 37, indicated that his office had no further evidence of irregularities.

Asked about Rick Casares, Chicago Bears' fullback whose name had been mentioned in investigations, he said: "The league had found no evidence to support such charges." He said a probe of allegations that Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, on games is not completed.

This is the first big scandal to hit the NFL since the 1946 championship game between the New York Giants and Chicago Bears.

Merle Hapes, a Giant halfback, was suspended for not reporting a conversation with a gambler under investigation for game-fixing. Later, Frank Filchock, the Giants' quarterback, also was suspended.

Both were restored to good standing by Commissioner Bert Bell but not before Filchock had played several years in the Canadian league.

Lady Luck Smacks Miller In Kiss

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

For tough luck with an unusual twist, you'd have to go far to beat the hitless wonders as experienced by Bob Miller, the persistent right-hander kissed by Lady Luck, then smacked in the kidney by Dame Fortune.

Miller, who last year struggled through 12 consecutive defeats with the New York Mets before winning on the next-to-last day of the season, got the big smile from the Lady when he was traded to Los Angeles' National League pennant contenders.

Then the Dame shoved the Lady out of the picture. Miller pitched 7 2-3 innings of scoreless ball against Houston in his first start and left with no score in the game Wednesday night he made his second start and allowed only three hits as Los Angeles edged the Chicago Cubs 1-0 in 10 innings.

Miller left for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning.

The unusual also happened at San Francisco, where Colts engineered a triple steal for one run, then beat the Giants 2-1 in the 13th inning when catcher Jim Campbell hit a homer.

Milwaukee moved into first place with its sixth straight victory, 6-5 over Philadelphia. Cincinnati handed the winless New York Mets their eighth setback, 5-0 behind Jim O'Toole's five-hit pitching and St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 7-3.

In the American League, Detroit took over the top spot by downing the New York Yankees 4-2, Baltimore edged Boston 5-4 and the Los Angeles Angels blanked Minnesota 4-0. The only other game scheduled — Washington at Cleveland — was rained out.

The Dodgers got to Dick Ellisworth for the game's lone run on the 10th on singles by Lee Walls, Frank Howard and Bill Skowron. Ellisworth, 2-0 had pitched 18-2 scoreless innings before Skowron drove in his first NL run. The victory went to Ron Perranoski, working in relief of Miller.

The Colts pushed across their first run against Billy O'Dell when the Giants' starter went to a full windup with the bases loaded in the second inning. Howie Goss slid home ahead of Tom Haller's tag. Willie McCoy's ninth inning homer off Ken Johnson tied it. For Campbell hit the game-winning off Don Larsen in the 13th.

A Devotional For The Day

The cup which my Father hath given me, shall I not drink it? (John 18:11)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the submissiveness of Thy Son who was willing to empty Himself of His glory in heaven for our sakes. Give us broken hearts before Thee, so that we may please Thee and be used in Thy service to help others. We ask in the name of Thy Son, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From The "Upper Room")

Most Pressing Issue

Ralph McGill, in his penetrating new book, "The South and the Southerner," makes an argument for first-class public education which has particular relevancy at this moment in Texas history.

At the present the Legislature is wrestling with the problem of what to do with the requests of the state's institutions of higher education. Hard-pressed legislators are always tempted to compare what our state does with what it has done in the past, and with what its neighbors are doing. Texans tell themselves they are doing more than neighboring Arkansas or Louisiana, and that therefore they are doing enough.

This ignores the basic question, which is: How does what we are doing compare with what we are capable of doing, what the times demand, and what the rest of the nation is doing?

The case was admirably stated by former Gov. Colgate Darden Jr., of Virginia and former president of the University of Virginia, who told Southern educators, legislators, and governors:

"Frequently we say to ourselves, in looking over faculty appointments to be made in our universities, that if we can equal the pay schedules in a half-dozen good Southern universities, it will be good enough.

"I mean no reflection on our universities when I say that in this region . . . we have reached a point where, unless we are willing to demand that we be judged by standards that are equal to those obtaining among the best in the nation, we are wasting our time, and wasting the time of our children.

"In the main this means that standard faculty pay must go. Nothing is more costly to a people than inferior education. No economy is dearer than that economy which is achieved by paring the cost of first-rate instruction."

Legislators should remember that, in its long-range effects upon the economic progress of this state, excellence in higher education is the most important issue of the session, and probably the most important of the decade.

Working Wives

In previous periods of widespread unemployment, working wives have been targets of criticism for competing for scarce jobs with heads of households. It is remarkable that this criticism is so muted during the current chronic unemployment, but it may recur with the publication of the U.S. Department of Labor's "Handbook on Women Workers."

That book's statistics tell a remarkable story. Whereas only 11 per cent of wives were employed in 1940 and 22 per cent in 1950, today 31 per cent hold jobs and the upward trend is continuing rapidly.

Married women are employed in every occupation listed by the Labor Department. And their addition to the nation's labor force in such great and rising numbers undoubtedly adds to the strain on economic growth to keep up with the requirements for full employment.

However, working wives add to the nation's gross national product and to national income, which should stimulate enough added demand to create as much new employment as they displace. It is highly doubtful that unemployment today would be any less acute and chronic if the proportion of married women in the labor force had not increased so sharply in recent years.

In any event, the trend is unlikely to be reversed, and the nation's economic growth cannot be considered satisfactory until it can provide employment for all who want to work and can Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz recently said, if public and private needs were being more fully met, the United States would have a manpower shortage instead of five million unemployed.

Misguided Ideas On Disarmament

WASHINGTON—Scheduled to come off on Tuesday, May 7th, is a loony Mass Mothers' demonstration which will march upon Washington in a demand for Ban the Bomb. The marching mothers will present a petition by Norman Cousins, Norman Thomas and other respectable peace-mongers, calling for President Kennedy and certain senators to "persist in their efforts to negotiate an effective test ban treaty with the Soviet Union."

THE COUSINS-THOMAS group, called Citizens' Appeal for a Test Ban, is one among dozens of organizations which almost daily raise their din in a clamor for peace-by-disarmament. The Communist "Worker" for April 9th ran stories out of New York and Chicago, listing many persons and organizations of this persuasion. There isn't any doubt that the disarmament cause has collected the usual rabble-in-arms of crackpots, Communists and well-intentioned intellectualists who are fish out of water when they try to make a beachhead in international politics.

WHILE IT ISN'T fair to imply that our official disarmament team, the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, draws all its cheering section from the misguided and the misled, there's something to say for a related proposition, which is this: When otherwise sensible men get to peace-mongering for disarmament in the Cold War atmosphere, they are apt to be talking through the dunce caps which even genius sometimes wears.

IT ISN'T surprising, perhaps, that much knowledge about the danger of nuclear war sometimes produces an edge of madness. In John McCloy, Dean Rusk, William C. Foster, Adrian Fisher, et al. And what can be said of Adlai Stevenson when he soars off on the wings of rhetoric to say:

"A disarmed world would be . . . a world in which ideas, for the first time, could compete on their own merits without the possibility of their imposition by force of arms."

THE TROUBLE with Ambassador Stevenson's argument is that the U.S. is taking a terrible shelling in the battle of "ideas." Nothing in the world today is plainer than the Communist superiority in weapons of ideology and propaganda. This column has recently reported on the efforts of the Fawcett House subcommittee to find out the causes and cures, if any, of our inferiority in this field, where dirty fighting by the Reds utterly overwhelms our honest but losing programs to succeed by truth-telling. Lamentable it may be that lies and seduction are out-gunning candor and benevolence, but it is a fact that, temporarily at least, nothing except American armed might—the opposite of disarmament—permits us to live and to continue our good works.

IF ANYBODY doubts that communism is still winning by propaganda—though held at bay by arms—he should read the report on Communist Bloc International Broadcasting just issued by the U.S. Information Agency. In 1962 the Communists, elated with success, almost doubled their broadcast volume in Latin America, increased by 50 per cent in four native languages; their broadcasts to Africa, expanded to more than 1,000 hours per week their broadcasts in the Far East.

We can measure the Communist progress by the anti-American disorder that has been spread in these far-flung places. And we can sleep safe in our beds for one reason only—that, no thanks to the disarmament lobby, we hold a prodigious power to kill our enemies.

Billy Graham

I am a teenager. The future looks uninviting. What have I to live for?

The 'future' is a reflection of our hopes, our inmost desires, and our dreams. When you say the 'future' looks uninviting, you are really revealing the scope of your hopes and ideals. It is a reflection, not on the world, but upon your own vision.

A psychiatrist recently told me that more than half of the people he treats lately are under 21 years of age. Perhaps it is the condition of the world, a lack of faith in our society, or personal problems, that disturbs these young people. But it is distressing to know that the generation that must run the world of tomorrow feels so inadequate today.

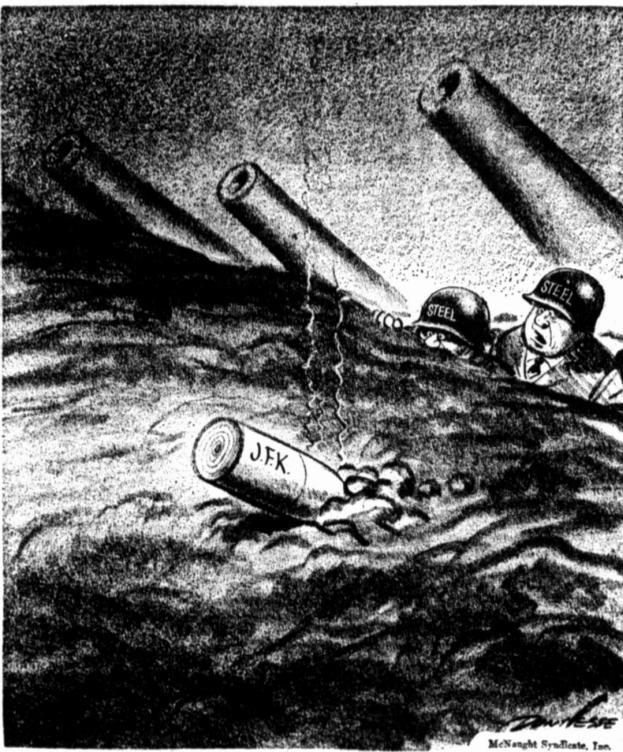

May I confess to you that when I was a 'teen-ager' the future also looked uninviting to me. But about that time, I met Jesus Christ, and "He took my life." From that day to this the future has looked bright. My problems today are greater than ever, but I am not nearly so distressed as when my problems were negligible. We don't know the future, but we can know Him who controls the future, and we know that all will be well.

Still A Saloon

TUCSON, Ariz.—A newcomer to Tucson found himself in trouble when he opened an old-fashioned bar with the sign "Saloon" outside.

State liquor control agents descended on him, pointing out the word "saloon" is outlawed in Arizona to advertise a beer parlor.

After changing the sign to "Lounge," the man opened for business.

JFK And The Revolving Door

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is like a man caught in a revolving door.

He's under pressure to intervene in Mississippi directly and in Cuba at least indirectly.

In Mississippi it would be politically dangerous, in Cuba militarily dangerous.

He's not apt to intervene in either.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS Commission has recommended he withhold federal funds from Mississippi to force it to protect the rights of its Negro citizens.

The commission said in a special report to the President.

There is an overriding constitutional obligation to make certain that federal funds are expended in a manner which benefits all citizens without distinction.

This is what Kennedy would face if he tried it.

1. Antagonism of the South which might cost him heavily, perhaps fatally, in the 1964 presidential race.

If he sought to compel Mississippi to conform on civil rights, every other Southern state could expect the same unless it got in line.

2. ANTAGONISM of the Southern Democrats in Congress. For more than two years he has leaned over backwards to pacify the Southerners even when they frustrated him.

He needs their help to get his programs through.

Yet, if he ignores the commission's suggestion, Kennedy risks a loss in the Negro vote in the North.

The Cuban refugees in Florida can vote, but they're creating an embarrassment for him, too.

Right now the Kennedy administration and the refugees are in a shouting match resulting from his ban on their use of American shores as bases even for hit-and-run raids on Fidel Castro's island.

In answer to the refugees' complaints the American State Department said Cuba "The United States cannot exist with a Soviet satellite in this hemisphere."

BUT THAT'S exactly what the United States is doing since there is no sign it has any plans for getting Castro out although the refugees remember how last December Kennedy held out hope of their return to Cuba.

If it were just a matter of overturning Castro, Kennedy could hardly be reluctant. Just two years ago he took responsibility for the refugee invasion which collapsed in disaster.

But the raids on Cuba from this country couldn't occur without the American government's permission, open or concealed. This did not seem to matter much so long as only Castro was involved.

But now, there are Russian troops in Cuba. And raids on the island, with injury to the Russians, could lead to an unhappy and maybe tragic situation with the Soviet government.

KENNEDY appears reluctant to take the chance while the Russians are in Cuba—just for the sake of getting rid of Castro, since the troops by themselves are no immediate threat to this country.

He was not reluctant to take the chance when the price was higher—when Russian missiles on Cuba were a direct threat to the United States and Castro at that time was strictly incidental.

Parcel Post On Way Out?

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington

POST OFFICE: Postmaster General J. Edward Day has hinted parcel post service may be shut down July 1 and Saturday mail deliveries suspended.

What may lead to an end of parcel post, Day told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee on Wednesday, is "an impossible juggling act of legislation" that he said would require radical increases in the rates for handling packages.

Day tied the chance for suspension of Saturday service—and possible denial of service to new homes and businesses—to the $92 million cut by the House from the $6-billion Post Office-Treasury appropriation bill.

The Senate subcommittee chairman, A. Willis Robertson, didn't give Day cause for much cheer. Only about one-fourth of what the House cuts is eventually restored before Congress completes its work on the budget, the Virginia Democrat told the postmaster general.

The parcel post situation stems from a provision requiring the department to set parcel post rates so that revenues for this service are within 4 per cent of costs.

The department loses money on parcel post—it accounts for $127 million of the $221-million deficit expected in the year ahead—and if the provision is followed, Day said, over-all rates would have to go up at least 25 per cent and the rates on smaller packages about 40 per cent.

Appealing for a Senate rider to cancel the 4-per-cent formula for a year, Day described the provision as self-defeating. His reasoning: The increase in rates will drive away business, throwing parcel post deeper in the red.

OVERSEAS TOURS: Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has given the military services greater leeway in setting overseas tours.

Men who leave their families at home may have their overseas tours cut to a year. They now are sent abroad for as long as two years. And men who take their families with them may be asked to serve abroad for three years instead of the present four.

POPULATION CONTROL: The National Academy of Sciences has called for an international effort to cope with "uncontrolled population growth."

"In our judgment, this problem can be successfully attacked by developing new methods of fertility regulation and implementing programs of voluntary family planning widely and rapidly throughout the world."

Based on the present rate of population increase, the academy forecast there would be 6 billion people in the world by the year 2000 and about 25 billion by the year 2050. The present world population is in excess of 3 billion.

Heart Strain Can Bring On Angina Pectoris

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about the heart ailment, angina pectoris. What causes it, how serious is it, and what are its symptoms?

How careful does one have to be to prevent attacks?—MRS. D.M.
That's a bigger order than you may have thought. Angina pectoris is featured by severe pain in the mid-chest region—tightness, burning, fullness, or a sense of pressure there. It may also radiate to neck, shoulder and arms.

Indeed, it resembles the feeling of a heart attack in many cases, yet it can occur without an electrocardiogram showing any sign of abnormality.

Or again the angina may be accompanied by known heart disorders. You see, therefore, that angina pectoris is not a single disease; it can, with the same apparent symptoms, come from a variety of causes.

The simplest to understand is a narrowing of the arteries which serve the heart muscle. If the muscle is not getting enough circulation to meet the labor demanded of it, the result is pain. It resembles an acute muscular spasm or cramping anywhere else.

As you might easily guess, too much heart strain can bring on an attack. This need not mean vigorous or prolonged activity, but only an amount which exceeds the ability of the heart to fulfill its functions with this may mean walking up a flight of stairs or strolling several blocks. For another, a walk of half a block may trigger an attack. Likewise, since digesting our food draws blood to that area, a heavy meal can start an attack, and a person often may have to learn how much he can eat at a sitting without suffering.

Exertion also adds up. A heavy meal, plus some walking, plus perhaps going up stairs, or carrying a burden—all of these together amount to more strain than if the heart had been allowed to rest between efforts.

Other physical conditions may play a role. Hypertension, anemia, and disorders of the aorta are known to cause or contribute to many cases. Angina is relatively common among people with diabetes. And in some cases no physical reason for the attacks can be found at all. This, as you may well imagine, is the subject of some intense research.

I'll continue tomorrow with treatment of angina pectoris.

Dear Dr. Molner: How long can a person live with leukemia—cancer of the blood? I know a woman who was expected to die from it in 1961, but she is still alive and drives her car. Could this be a miracle, or could she be fooling us to get pity?—R.J.H.

She might fool you; she couldn't fool the doctor who is treating her. Who "expected" her to die in 1961? Keep in mind that there is acute leukemia, which usually attacks children, and also chronic leukemia, more common in adults, and the latter may continue for a long time. Lymphatic leukemia, properly treated, goes on for years.

Dear Dr. Molner: What tests are necessary to determine if I have osteoarthritis? Why do bones in my arms, neck and legs crack? I am 30.—B.N.

You're young to have osteoarthritis, which is mainly a matter of wear and tear on the joints. But rheumatoid arthritis, which can strike at any age, may be associated with osteoarthritis.

X-rays are your best answer.

From Whatever Source, Funds Must Be Had

In the midst of current discussions regarding a request for federal aid to construct the Beal's Branch Trunk Sewer Line, there is more to the problem than just where is the money coming from, although that is of primary importance.

OUR MASTER PLANNING includes a whole system of expansion and improvements to our sewage system, including new lines in various parts of the city and considerable expansion and improvement to the sewage treatment plant. The new lines and the new plant will be practically worthless if the trunk line connecting them is not built. True, a line now exists, but it cannot handle the additional load expected and for which the new treatment plant was programmed.

No matter how we raise the money, raise it we must to protect the investment we have already made and to complete our program under the Master Plan construction.

IF NOT FROM federal aid, where can we get the money to build the line? In the first place, we already have $250,000 left from the sewage treatment plant work, money we received in federal aid requested by the city commission when that contract was let. At the time, the commission decided to spend the federal money and reserve that much of our own money.

requested by residents for the $4.3 million bond issue.

NO MATTER which side of the fence we stand on regarding federal aid, the city has already received some, and spent it for a similar project within the same program. As a result, enough money to build the trunk line is now in hand (in uncollected bonds) that could be used, without a further request for aid.

Or, the issue could be put to the voters for more bonds to build the line, with the resulting increases in the tax rate or water and sewage rate. With this proposal goes the question of whether a bond issue of this magnitude would be approved by the voters.

IN ADDITION, the city has saved some Master Plan bond money when bids on certain projects were lower than anticipated and bonds were sold at a lower interest rate than expected.

On the other hand, some of the Master Plan bond money has been spent for projects not included in the capital improvements program. If this money is returned to the bond fund, the program's financial surplus would be even larger.

From all these sources, they money needed to finance the branch sewer line could be had. But from whatever source, we must have the branch line built.

Preserving National Beauty Spots

It was Havelock Ellis, I believe, who once wrote that the very stars in their courses would have been destroyed long since if man had been able to get his hands on them.

Here is the overriding reason that millions of Americans would like to see this session of Congress pass a bill for the preservation of such part of the American wilderness as has thus far escaped man's blight.

THE GRAVEST danger to this beautiful land isn't so much creeping socialism as creeping concrete. Or, rather leaping concrete. Wherever it is poured in four-lane highways—and where is it not?—destruction is imminent.

The U.S. Senate has again passed, by overwhelming vote, a wilderness bill that would preserve for future generations some small part of the wondrous natural endowments with which this nation was originally blessed.

WHETHER IT WILL pass the House is regarded as chancy. Every bloc in the country that could or would use public land for its own special benefit is fighting the measure. Powerful lobbies for the cattle, sheep and mining interests have been at work for a long time in Washington. They have made hay in the House.

There isn't an American alive who does not bless the foresight and courage that in the past preserved for the nation such treasures as Yellowstone, Yosemite, Mammoth Cave, Everglades, Crater Lake, Bryce Canyon, Glacier, Mesa Verde, Shennandoah, Hot Springs, Grand Teton, Platte and Olympic national parks, to name a few.

WE REJOICE in such national historical parks as Saratoga, Independence, Appomattox Court House, Morristown and Minute Man; such national military parks as Gettysburg, Pea Ridge, Vicksburg, Shiloh and Fort Donelson; such a national seashore project as Cape Cod, and such national parkways as the Blue Ridge.

George Washington Memorial and Natchez Trace.

We count among the nation's treasures such national historical sites as the Adams House, the Abraham Lincoln Birthplace, Fort Laramie, Fort Raleigh, Fort Vancouver and Hopewell Village.

WE ARE PROUD of such national memorials as Coronado, the Custis-Lee Mansion, Federal Hall, Mount Rushmore, and the Washington Monument. We are glad the nation has under its protective wing the Grand Canyon, Harpers Ferry, the Petrified Forest, White Sands, the Black Canyon of the Gunnison, the Craters of the Moon, Glacier Park and innumerable other beautiful or historic spots.

None of us would change their status. All of us would be horrified at the thought of their merciless commercialization, the hot-dog stands and the gum wrappers if they were denationalized. If any citizen wants to see what happens when a national treasure as Plymouth Rock is open to exploitation, let him go to Cape Cod and watch.

AT LEAST, a granite portico has been built around and over Pilgrim Rock to protect it from the vandals who once left there were entitled to chip away souvenir pieces to carry home. However, the descendants of these vandals still drop their gum wrappers, popcorn boxes and paper napkins around the Rock.

Who can believe that a stick of Mount Vernon would remain if it were not for the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association, which bought it around 1858, repaired it, reassembled original Washington furniture and has guarded the place in behalf of the nation for more than a century?

IF ANY OF THIS nation's great wilderness is to remain for posterity, if future generations are to enjoy it as we now enjoy our national parks and monuments, its preservation cannot be delayed. It is a treasure too great to be frittered away.

Pope's Call For Moral Order

WASHINGTON—There was almost universal applause from many people of all faiths for the document issued a few days ago by Pope John XXIII entitled "Peace on Earth." This was primarily because it called for the establishment of a better world order and better moral standards than prevail today. Yet, due to the necessity of using abstract phrases, several parts of the papal encyclical did not receive as wide a reading as they deserved, nor was their significance fully appreciated.

WHAT POPE JOHN said about the organization of a political community has a very important bearing on the internal problems faced today by many countries which are striving to improve what is known as their "political society."

The moral decay of government—the readiness of the politicians to practice deception, bribery and distortion of the truth in order to gain their ends—is nowadays one of the most serious barriers to honest government. Pope John wrote:

"A political society is to be considered well-ordered, beneficial and in keeping with human dignity if it is grounded on truth."

IT IS NO less clear that today, in traditionally Christian nations, secular institutions, although demonstrating a high degree of scientific and technical perfection, and efficiency in achieving their respective ends, are not infrequently but slightly affected by Christian motivation or inspiration.

It is beyond question that in the creation of those institutions many contributed and continue to contribute who were believed to be, and who considered themselves Christians and without doubt, in part at least, they were and are.

"HOW DOES ONE explain this? It is our opinion that the explanation is to be found in an inconsistency in their minds between religious belief and their action in the temporal sphere. It is necessary, therefore, that their interior unity be re-established, and that in their temporal activity faith should be present as a beacon to give light, and charity as a force to give life.

"IT IS OUR opinion, too, that the above-mentioned inconsistency between the religious faith, in those who believe, and their activities in the temporal sphere, results—in great part if not entirely—from the lack of a solid Christian education."

POPE JOHN dealt with the very delicate subject of the relations of church and state, but emphasized that it was an individual judgment that has to be made as to the merits of governmental action or law-making. He wrote:

"Since the right to command is required by the moral order and has its source in God, it follows that, if civil authorities legislate for or allow anything that is contrary to that order and therefore contrary to the will of God, neither the laws made nor the authorizations granted can be binding on the consciences of the citizens, since God has more right to be obeyed than men. Otherwise, authority breaks down completely and results in shameful abuse . . ."

"IT MUST NOT be concluded, however, because authority comes from God, that therefore men have no right to choose those who are to rule the state, to decide the form of government and to determine both the way in which authority is to be exercised and its limits. It is thus clear that the doctrine which we have set forth is fully consonant with any truly democratic regime."

The same encyclical dealt with human rights in a variety of circumstances, but the broad principles were stated in part as follows:

"Human beings have the natural right to free initiative in the economic field, and the right to work."

"INDISSOLUBLY linked with these rights is the right to working conditions in which physical health is not endangered, morals are safeguarded and young people's normal development is not impaired . . ."

"The right to private property, even of productive goods, also derives from the nature of man. This right, as we have elsewhere declared, is a suitable means for safeguarding the dignity of the human person and for the exercise of responsibility in all fields; it strengthens and gives serenity to family life, thereby increasing the peace and prosperity of the state."

PERHAPS THE MOST significant portion of the papal encyclical was the reference to totalitarianism, and yet the word "totalitarian" was not used anywhere in the document.

This papal encyclical was utterly unlike most of the Vatican's pronouncements of the past in the sense that very little was devoted to a particular faith. In fact, it was more a declaration of constitutional principles that could govern a free world. It will take its place as one of the most outstanding encyclicals ever issued by the Pope at Rome.

Astronauts' Wives Take No Credit For Courage

By PEGGY SIMPSON
AUSTIN (AP)—Wives of U.S. astronauts "do no more than the wives of helicopter crews in Vietnam or the women that the Thresher left behind," Mrs. Malcolm Scott Carpenter said Tuesday.

She and the wives of eight other spacemen were here for a one-day visit.
Mrs. Carpenter referred to men lost in Vietnam and aboard the nuclear submarine Thresher in addressing a civic club luncheon group.

At another point she spoke of vast change in the lives of astronauts' families.

"It's as if I'd been acting on a dark stage all my married life and suddenly someone turns on the spotlight," Mrs. Carpenter said.

She and the other wives took a quick tour of Austin. It was their first excursion from Houston since the newest astronauts were moved to the Manned Space Craft Center there last year.

The visitors had coffee with Mrs. John Connally at the governor's mansion, met Gov. Connally and visited the legislature. They were guests of the officers wives club for a team at Bergstrom Air Force Base.

At the luncheon, Mrs. Carpenter said the space wives, suddenly lumped together by news of the astronauts, "strained to maintain our identities."

"We were stringently correct and good to each other... we smoothed over our differences, making allowances for each other's idiosyncrasies," she continued.

"And we had a thousand laughs, which more than anything helped maintain our sense of values and proportion in the face of this growing thing in our lives."

She recalled criticism after the National Aeronautics and Space Administration chose "these relatively old married men" for the first spacemen.

Minimizing the publicized courage and bravery of an astronaut, she said:

"For them it is a job—an exacting, once in a lifetime job. When they are finally sealed in that paperweight called a capsule, the feeling is one of great anticipation and hope for a 'go.'"

Questions about the wives' fears during the flights are irritating, Mrs. Carpenter said.

"I am reminded that we do no more than the wives of helicopter crews in Vietnam or the women that the Thresher left behind. They risked just as much and they lost a great deal more."

"Don't feel sorry for us, for the tension and the waiting. The rewards are great... to whisper at lift off. 'Don't look back—we're with you.'"

With Mrs. Carpenter were the wives of two other original astronauts, Mrs. John H. Glenn Jr. and Mrs. Virgil I. Grissom, and wives of six new spacemen, Mrs. Edward H. White II, Mrs. James

TV Camera May Be Put Inside Next Space Capsule

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Television, which has brought five manned missile launchings into American homes, now hopes to take the viewers inside the capsule itself. Astronaut Gordon Cooper will have a television camera inside his craft during his 22-orbit space flight planned for mid-May. If all goes well, viewers will be able to watch Cooper during the actual launching and during the 34-hour flight. We may also see the earth—live—from points 100 miles up in space.

Development of a special, tiny television camera has made this possible. It is the shape and about the size of a four-battery flashlight and will be clipped on a swivel mounting inside the capsule, but can be removed and aimed by Major Cooper to show experiments in progress and the world below.

After All, Shoplifters Have Their Problems, Too

Do shoplifters, who really put their heart in their work, make out shoplifting lists before they set out on their foray? That's the question puzzling Herman Bauer, manager of Woolworth's store.

His perturbation stems from a shopping list picked up on the floor of his store. Written by two different persons (apparently both women), the list is not at all what an average shopping list looks like.

It is in two columns — one labelled "get" and the other column "take."

In the "get" column are such items as "straw purse, white purse, pearl purse," and a little later on "tennis shoes and purse." Also listed as "get" items are "necklace, bracelet, blue jean clothing, roll-on lipstick, sculptura lipstick, klippies, something to put rollers in, shower cap, sleeping cap, foam rubber pads for rollers, black belt and blue thread." Toward the bottom of this column are two cryptic notations "OK" and "BS." The straw purse, tennis shoes and purse, and the blue jean clothes items have been circled with a pencil.

Does this mean the shopper had fulfilled the "get" stipulation?

"Take" items are "eyebrow brush, teasing comb, lipstick brush, glasses cases and billfold."

Bauer estimated the value of the items listed would run $20 to $25. He is wondering if the shopper or shoplifter had finished the assignment when he or she tossed the creased sheet of paper on the floor of the store.

"One thing for sure," said the store manager, "it is not like any ordinary shopping list. What worries me is the assortment of items and those ominous 'get' and 'take' admonitions and whether these items are now missing from our counters."

Local Aggies Planning For Muster Day

For the 60th consecutive year Texas A&M men throughout the world will be observing their traditional San Jacinto Day muster.

The Big Spring A&M Club is sponsoring the local observance, which—because San Jacinto Day falls on Sunday—will be held Saturday evening at the Big Spring Country Club, beginning at 7:30.

The event always prompts a large turnout of Aggies and their ladies. Those in charge of the program announced that reservations for the Saturday night dinner and ceremony should call Don Reynolds, AM 4-5861, by noon Friday.

In 1903, the A&M Cadet Corps, 300 strong, mustered together in observance of the independence of Texas and the great sacrifices made by those gallant sons of Goddard, the Alamo, and on the battleground of San Jacinto.

It was agreed that "forever afterward" April 21 would be a day of mustering for A&M men wherever they might be.

It was also decided that, in addition to honoring the freedom of Texas, April 21 would be a time to pay homage to all A&M men who have passed on, and that some living comrade would answer "Here" when the roll call for the absent was read.

And so it has been over the half century, since that small group started what has come to be one of our greatest traditions. The Muster is symbolical of the loyalty which binds A&M men to their college and to each other.

More Testimony On Allowables

AUSTIN (AP) — The Railroad Commission heard more testimony today on the applications by 11 coastal area small tract gas operators seeking special production allowables.

The applications are opposed by Michel Halbouty of Houston, Pan American Co. and Jim Smullen of Houston, all large-tract operators in the Port Acres Field in Jefferson County.

The small tract operators seek exceptions to a new allocation formula based on net acre feet of gas sand assigned to each well. The new formula replaces a one-third formula knocked down last year by the Supreme Court of Texas.

The 11 western states served by El Paso Natural Gas Company are growing 2 1/2 times as fast as the rest of the nation

An adequate supply of energy is essential to progress. In the 11 fast-growing western states served by El Paso Natural Gas Company, demand for energy has risen astronomically—as population has soared and the pace of the economy quickened.

Since 1950, these 11 states have grown 2 1/2 times as rapidly as the rest of the nation. California today is the nation's most populous state. The populations of both Nevada and Arizona have more than doubled. This growth is accelerating year-by-year.

Vast supplies of energy are needed to meet the mounting demands of these millions of new citizens. And El Paso Natural Gas Company has played a growing role in providing one of the most important sources of this energy.

Back in 1950, El Paso Natural marketed 295-billion cubic feet of natural gas. By 1962, we were marketing 1.31 trillion cubic feet of gas—four and a half times as much as in 1950. That's approximately 10 times more energy than is produced each year by all of the federally financed electric power generators, including the giant Bonneville Power Administration and Hoover Dam, in these 11 states.

El Paso Natural's 1962 annual report gives full details on a year of service to America's booming West. For a copy, write: El Paso Natural Gas Company, El Paso, Texas.

Fort May Rise Again

GOLIAD — Stone fortifications will once more sit atop La Bahia's rocky height at Goliad if historians there and in Refugio and Victoria counties have their way.

Sparked by Mrs. Thomas O'Connor Sr., who originated the idea and who is chairman of the Victoria Historical Society's committee on the restoration, historians in all three counties are laying the ground for a major historical project.

When Mrs. O'Connor broached the subject earlier this year, she said it was her hope to restore the walls and buildings that once surrounded the chapel, which has been used for more than two centuries.

Capt. Orobio y Bastera, in the 1700s was searching for a new location at which to build Mission Nuestra Senora de Espiritu Santo de Zuniga, and came to the San Antonio River, near the present site of Goliad.

Crossing the stream, the little party clambered to the top of a rugged little hill on the opposite bank.

Bastera saw tactical advantage against assault was combined with a ready water supply, and he lost no time in staking out a huge quadrangle, later to be enclosed by walls of stone. Later the chapel was built inside the fortifications.

The fort was rock around which flowed the tides of war, and long before Col. James W. Fannin's men were confined there, La Bahia was a veteran of many assaults and skirmishes.

In the minds of most Texans, Goliad and La Bahia are best remembered for the part they played in the Texas Revolution, culminating in the massacre of Col. Fannin and 400 of his men.

This was the last time that blood was drawn at La Bahia. With the death of Fannin and his men, the fort's long history of violence was ended and, although the little chapel was preserved as a place of worship, the walls and the out-buildings soon collapsed into tumbled ruins.

These are the portion of the site that Mrs. O'Connor wants to restore. Unfortunately, there seems little authentic information on what they actually looked like. Mrs. O'Connor has an old sketch, and in this it appears that each corner was the site of a round tower from which soldiers could enfilade the walls with their fire, but this is about all that has been uncovered so far.

She has asked every member in the county historical societies to explore every possible source of information whereby any additional data may be obtained on the exact lines of the old walls and details of buildings at the site.

The church belongs to the Corpus Christi Diocese of the Catholic Church, and as services are still held there, the restoration will not deal with that building.

Examiner Urges Railroad Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hearing examiner has recommended Commission approve merger of the Nickel Plate Railroad into the Norfolk & Western Railway Co. Examiner Lester R. Conley's recommendation contained a major condition—that the Pennsylvania Railroad be required to divest itself of financial interests in both the Nickel Plate and the N&W.

The Pennsylvania, which is itself involved in another merger proceeding before the ICC, has indicated a willingness to place its stock in the other railroads under a trusteeship, thereby relinquishing its voice in the affairs of the railroads.

Big Snow Job

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Snowfall totaling nearly eight inches in 24 hours was recorded Tuesday, raising the total for April to a record 21.5 inches.

Appointed Rounds

ALICE — That busy one-armed paperhanger isn't half so busy as an Alice mail carrier. The busy man is Isaac Torrez, 35, a worker in the Alice Post Office for 19 years.

In addition to his paying job, he holds several in First Mexican Baptist Church — Sunday School superintendent, teacher, deacon, young peoples' counselor, training union counselor and finance officer.

Just to make sure time doesn't hang heavy on his hands, he is a Boy Scout worker, is local agent for two Houston and one San Antonio daily newspapers, and is president of the Alice Association of Letter Carriers.

Also, he is a member of the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, and is a lay preacher who has conducted revivals.

Torrez was born in Karnes County. When he isn't doing anything else, he cheers for the Dubose Junior High School's undefeated team, on which his son, Essu, 14, was a guard last season. The Torrez also have a daughter, Zeida, 8.

This Glenn's In Orbit, Too

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M College puts its own John Glenn in orbit each week.

He is not the astronaut, but the orbit is from Lake Jackson to College Station—a six-hour round trip—about time enough to circle the earth four times in a capsule.

The A&M John Glenn is principal of the A. P. Beutel School, a large elementary school whose name honors a newly appointed A&M director. Dr. Beutel is a Dow Chemical Co. executive.

"I enjoy the course, but not the six hours on the road," said Glenn. He is taking an education subject.

He goes into orbit each Tuesday morning. As he leaves for his school post, he says goodbye to his three children and does not have another opportunity to talk with them until Wednesday.

The education course meets from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. The course is scheduled so that schoolmen may attend after completing normal teaching and administrative assignments.

Glenn drives the 150 miles in three hours in an English-made sedan.

Glenn is taking the advanced course as a start toward a Doctor of Education degree. Texas A&M does not presently offer the degree, but Glenn hopes it will be offered shortly. The 34-year-old educator holds bachelor and master degrees from North Texas State University.

DEAR ABBY

Let Him End It!

DEAR ABBY: Last year, when I was hospitalized, my neighbor and "very dear friend" helped my husband care for our two youngsters. I thought I would never be able to repay her for her kindness—until several weeks ago when my husband confessed that their relationship had gone beyond what he ever thought it would. He said he was sorry and asked my forgiveness. The "friend" tries to act normal. She doesn't know my husband has told me. We own our home and I don't intend to move. I cannot bear the sight of this two-faced woman. What should I do when she comes knocking at my door with her sweet smile and her apple pies?

BETRAYED

DEAR BETRAYED: I presume your husband knows this woman well enough to speak to her. Ask HIM to tell her that he has confessed to you. I doubt if you'll be bothered again with either her sweet smile OR her apple pies. And if she sends anything else over, don't eat it.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell your women readers to be careful of a man who proposes marriage on condition that the "candidate" pass inspection of all his children first. A widower asked to marry me, but first I had to meet all his six married children separately before they would give him the go-ahead. I passed "inspection," but I wish I hadn't. When he was well, his children came first. Now he is sick, and he's all mine.

STUCK WITH AN A. K.

DEAR ABBY: I have an older friend who works with me. She wants me to break up her son and his "girl friend." The son is 29 and his "girl friend" is 22. I am 26 and have seen the son, and although he couldn't possibly mean anything to me, I am sure I could break them up. Should I?

"THE GIRL WHO HAS EVERYTHING"

DEAR GIRL: Don't attempt to destroy a relationship which could be very satisfactory for the two people involved. Your letter and your signature don't match.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Connally Signs Merger Into Law

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally signed into law the legislative act merging the State Parks Board and the State Game and Fish Commission. The merger will be effective Aug. 27, if the regular session ends May 27 as expected.

Present for the signing of the bill, which creates a three-member Parks and Wild Life Commission from the six-member parks board and the nine-member game and fish commission, were Reps. Jim Cotten, W. S. Heatly, Terry Townsend and Sen. Charles Her-ring. Each legislator received a pen used by Connally in the ceremony.

"In spite of all the criticism, I still think it is a fine piece of legislation," Connally commented.

The Republican form of government is the highest form of government but because of this it requires the highest type of human nature—a type nowhere at present existing.

Herbert Spencer
DAILY GUIDE—Some pending problems that have been with us for a few years are likely to be highlighted again now. There are many struggles going on around the world, with peaks coming from time to time. Some important decisions can be made now. They are not likely to be completely happy solutions at this time, but we can hardly expect them.

In your personal affairs take extra care to fully understand what is involved in any transaction; allow for the frailties of human nature. Criticism can be expected even though we know perfection is impossible. Stern adherence to practical demands will be wise. Aquarians, Leos, Taurus ans and Scorpios are still involved in important decisions and action.

A little change can break the deadlock tomorrow. Use ingenuity in seeking to solve problems; spark with new ideas.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ARIES!
The sun can shine again now as you emerge from a rather frustrating period, but be sure that all existing problems with loved ones are solved before June. Then you can expect some rather sudden changes in your work or working conditions, or health. Older ties and friends are able to help, so turn to them. This is the year for you to reap the benefits of past efforts, so push your personal ambitions. It is a good year for romance or marriage, travel and extra social activity. Other people can stir you to action in August. Put finances on practical basis in October. This is the time for you to make rapid progress towards realization of extra happiness.

Mrs. James C. Bradley, of Wichita Falls, enjoys the chocolate chip pie her mother, Mrs. A. H. Haynes, made during her daughter's visit home this week.

Nothing Fancy-Just Good Food At Haynes

Mrs. A. H. Haynes, 800 W. 17th St. feels that there is nothing special about her cooking—that she knows no tricks unknown to other housewives—or that she can prepare dishes others couldn't fix as well.

Her youngest son, Jimmy, may feel different about it. A product of home-cooking—he stands 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 230 pounds and seems a living testimonial to his mother's bountiful table.

There are two other children that look just as healthy. Haley, 23, is a student at Texas Western College in El Paso. Martha, a pretty blonde, is now Mrs. James C. Bradley of Wichita Falls. She and her husband, a lieutenant in the Air Force, are visiting her mother this week.

Mrs. Haynes, a nurse at Medical Arts Clinic Hospital, said that her husband and children have always been easy to please concerning food. They like all types of dishes and do not object when she tries new recipes. The family uses a lot of meat which Mrs. Haynes prepares mostly by roasting.

Having cooked on the same gas stove for 22 years, Mrs. Haynes would use no other kind. The brand is one that features a deep well and is highly insulated so that much of her cooking is done with retained heat. By boiling dried beans for a few minutes, she can complete the cooking by leaving them in the well while she is at work. The retained heat, plus that from the pilot light, is all that is needed.

In preparing a roast, she leaves the oven heat on for only 20 minutes but when ready to serve, the meat is juicy and tender.

Since chicken is the meat being featured on the food page this week, Mrs. Haynes gives her recipe for chicken-spaghetti, along with those for several of her family's favorite dishes.

CHICKEN AND SPAGHETTI

- 1 large hen cooked and boned
- 1 lb. cheese
- 1 large onion
- 1 bell pepper
- 1 can cream of chicken soup
- 1 qt. stuffed salad olives

Brown onion and pepper in butter, then add cream of chicken soup and boned chicken and simmer.

Place in casserole in layers with cooked spaghetti, cover with layer of grated cheese and chicken mixture and stuffed olives. Repeat procedure. Place in oven at 375 degrees to heat.

Serve with vegetable salad.

COCONUT CREAM PIE

- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 2-3 cup scalded milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 egg yolks
- 1/2 cups shredded coconut
- 3 egg whites

Combine flour, 1/4 cup sugar and

In Cooking, Follow The Directions

We daresay that every cook in the world who has ever followed a recipe has occasionally discarded some small direction in it.

Sometimes throwing a recipe tip to the winds doesn't much matter, sometimes it does.

Here are half a dozen specifics that we recommend you follow, along with the reasons why.

1. Reputable recipes for poached eggs suggest that the skillet or other pan in which the poaching is to be done be greased before the boiling water or eggs are added. Do so! If you do not, the eggs will stick more than necessary when you lift them out, and you'll have a thin layer of tenacious egg white to clean off the bottom of the pan.

2. What used to be known as the hard-boiled egg is now often called the hard-cooked egg. This newer term sounds stuffy, pedantic and carping, but the intention behind it is honorable. The hard-cooked egg term came into being as a reminder that egg whites, when cooked at too high a temperature for too long a time, really can toughen to the point of becoming rubbery.

3. When artichokes are cooked in water, recipes sometimes direct that a little olive oil or another salad variety be added. This is worthwhile because the oil makes the artichoke leaves glisten and seems to improve the texture of their edible base. If olive oil is used, the flavor also benefits.

4. When we write recipes for preparing asparagus and broccoli, we usually suggest that the outer fibrous covering of the stalks be removed with a swivel-blade vegetable parer. If you want to make sure that the stalk portions of the vegetable cook as quickly as the tops and are tender, you'll enjoy the results of following this suggestion.

5. Recipes for preparing scallops usually caution cooks to keep heat low and cook the seafood briefly. This rule is worth observing because nothing toughens faster than a scallop that is overcooked.

Gourmet's Chicken

This chicken dish is rich and flavorful.

JON'S CHICKEN

- 1 broiler-fryer
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup heavy cream
- 1/4 cup cooking sherry
- 1/4 cup water

Have chicken cut so there are 2 wings, 2 pieces of breast, 2 drumsticks, 2 second joints, 4 pieces of bony back. (Save neck, giblets and liver for use another time.)

Mix flour, salt and pepper; roll chicken pieces (after being washed and drained on a towel) in flour mixture. Heat butter in 12-inch skillet; add chicken; cook until golden-brown on both sides; cover skillet and cook until tender, turning once if necessary. (You may have to add a few tablespoons of water to the skillet during the cooking if it does not have a dome cover.)

Remove chicken to serving platter. Add cream to skillet and stir over low heat with wooden spoon to get up all browned particles. Add sherry and water; stir and cook gently for a few minutes. Accompany chicken with sauce served in a separate dish. Makes 4 servings.

Spanish Dish Does Double Duty

Some cooks have the knack of using shortcuts.

One of these is to cook a double quantity of food at one time and offer it two different ways on two successive days.

We did just that recently when we tried a main dish adapted from Spanish cuisine.

For the first meal, a large quantity (enough for eight eaters) of Yellow Rice with Chick Peas came to the table topped with a small chicken (enough for four). The next day the remainder of the rice and chick pea combination was teamed with clams and served for lunch with crisp bacon and a salad.

For this second version we used canned minced clams, including their liquid for flavor and because it was useful in reheating the rice dish over boiling water. This works fine as long as the reheating isn't overdone and the rice remains firm.

Yellow Rice, a dish popular in the South, has been growing in favor all over the country. Saffron is the traditional way of coloring and flavoring the rice, but if saffron is not on hand, cooks have been known to substitute the less expensive East Indian herb known as turmeric.

Teaming rice with chick peas is a combination popular in Spain. There the dish is called Arroz con Garbanzos and may include chicken or rabbit, pork and chorizo (Spanish sausage), onions and garlic. Chick peas come canned and may be found in some supermarkets and in Italian-Spanish grocery shops.

YELLOW RICE AND CHICK PEAS

- 1 small broiler-fryer, cut in 10 pieces
- 2 tbsps. flour
- 2 tps. salt
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 large garlic clove, minced
- 1 1/2 cups long-grain rice
- 1 can (1 lb.) chick peas, drained
- 1 large tomato (skinned, seeded and chopped)
- 2 canned pimientos, diced
- 1/4 cup minced ham or some sliced chorizo
- 1/4 tsp. crumbled saffron threads
- 3 cups boiling water

Coat chicken with flour mixed with 1 teaspoon of the salt. In a large casserole that may be used on top of the range, slowly brown and half-cook the chicken in 2 tablespoons of the oil; remove chicken.

To the drippings add the remaining 2 tablespoons oil, the onion and garlic; cook gently until onions are yellowed but not browned. Stir in rice thoroughly, then chick peas, tomato, pimientos and ham. Into the boiling water stir the remaining 1 teaspoon salt and the saffron; pour at once over rice mixture; mix well.

Place chicken on top of rice mixture; cover tightly; cook over very low heat until liquid is absorbed and chicken finishes cooking—25 to 30 minutes.

Prison Term For Slavery

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—David I. Shackney was sentenced to one year in prison—the term to be suspended after 60 days—on one count of keeping members of a Mexican family in involuntary servitude on his chicken farm.

He received one-year suspended sentences on each of five other counts of involuntary servitude. He also was fined $2,000.

After Shackney's sentencing by Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld in U.S. District Court, the defense said it would appeal.

Bond for Shackney, 52, was continued at $15,000. The Middlefield chicken farmer was convicted March 13 on the six counts of holding members of the Luis Humberto Oros family in involuntary servitude on his farm for eight months.

His trial in federal court at New Haven lasted 22 days. It was the first known case of its kind in Connecticut.

The stocky, white-haired part-time religious teacher originally was charged with two counts of peonage and seven of involuntary servitude.

The peonage charges, which involve holding someone against his will until he pays a debt, were dropped during the trial. So was one count of involuntary servitude.

Shackney met Oros in July 1960 in Mexico City, where he went to look for workers.

Oros, his wife, and five of their children came to the Shackney farm in July 1961. They stayed until March 1962.

Oros testified that he turned back his monthly pay checks of $160 to Shackney, who deducted them from the loan from Shackney to finance the family's trip to the United States. Oros said the work on the farm was hard and the hours long, sometimes as much as 15 hours a day, seven days a week.

The government maintained that Shackney held the Oros family on the farm through threats of deportation. Shackney insisted that life was not harsh on his farm for the Oros family, and that they were free to leave at any time.

Faubus Tosses Ball In Integration Baseball Game

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas threw out the first ball at a desegregated baseball game Tuesday night.

Seven hundred Negroes were among the estimated 7,000 fans at the first International League game here.

Little Rock joined the enlarged class AAA league this season. Several other teams in the league insisted on desegregated seating at Little Rock. The league has many Negro players.

Little Rock beat Rochester, 4-2.

Court Reverses Abilene Case

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court reversed a lower court decision Wednesday and sent back to the 11th District Court a City of Abilene case for a change of venue.

John F. Downs, Vera Powers and F. D. Shotwell sued the city in June and October of 1960 for damages from fumes of the two-year-old city sewage system, which they allege made their property undesirable as stock farms.

The Court of Civil Appeals upheld the farmers, and the Supreme Court agreed to review the case on the City of Abilene's application for writ of error which alleged the lower court refused to consider a motion for change of venue.

Judge and Mrs. Eugene Black of the U. S. Tax Court—who represented an East Texas district in Congress from 1915 to 1929 recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

The 83-year-old jurist was technically retired in 1953 but has continued on the bench as one of the court's most active members. Black is a native of Blossom, Tex. His successor in Congress was Patman, now dean of the Texas delegation.

Numerous friends, including Chief Justice Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims and a former Texas congressman, attended the anniversary celebration arranged by Black's children and grandchildren.

Boat Being Built For Netting Royal Red Shrimp

ROCKPORT, (AP) — The first vessel ever specifically designed to fish for royal red shrimp, one of Texas' newest resources, is being built at the shipyard of the Rockport Yacht and Supply Co. for R. E. Clegg, who operates a fleet of shrimp trawlers out of Port Lavaca.

Royal reds, their color, much like that of a boiled lobster, were first discovered by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service's exploratory boat, the Oregon. These shrimp, much like ordinary ones in shape, but also a number of Danish lobsters, that he ordered a boat designed for the fishing.

"This ship is patterned after the Bering Sea trawlers in which Japanese and Russian fishermen have been operating.

Albert Silchenstedt, head of the yard, said:

"These vessels present an entirely new concept on this coast. They were the outgrowth of fishermen's demands for a vessel that would keep the sea in almost any weather, capable of fishing in winds as high as 60 miles an hour.

"They are much more stable than the shrimpers developed along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. The particular design we are using was first developed by This ship is patterned after the naval architect, William Reid, and is pretty much the same boat of Port Isabel to be used in conventional shrimping. It was a 67-footer, and has been hanging up enviable speed and production records. It has been able to go from the shrimp grounds more rapidly, regardless of weather, and can fish in much rougher water than conventional shrimpers.

"We have just laid the keel of a couple of more wooden boats," the shipbuilder said. "However, they are 72 footers that will carry 10,000 gallons of fuel. Clegg's 60-footer can only carry 7,500, while the Boudreaux boat can handle 8,000 gallons. But Clegg's boat, although smaller than the other three, is all steel, and tremendously strong, with 5-16-inch plating.

"One of the wooden hulls is for John Hardee III, of Brownsville."

The Bering Sea boats are used to fish for king crabs, halibut and other bottom fish. Elsewhere they are used for a variety of fishing purposes, and have proved an exceedingly handy type.

Time To Go Back To School

DALLAS (AP)—An anonymous Dallasite received dual lessons in geography and economics recently.

He telephoned the Dallas Times Herald and asked:

"How many states are there in the United States?"

Answer: 50.

"Does that include Canada?"

Answer: No.

"What is the biggest one?"

Answer: Alaska.

"Well, what do you know," said the caller. "I lost on all three bets."

Town's Long On Quality

HASKELL, (AP) — Haskell, population 4,016, admits it is short on numbers but claims it is long on quality.

This comes about because the North Central Texas town can point to three major industrial leaders who call Haskell their home town.

The three are:

Charles Bates Thornton, chairman of the board of Litton Industries, Inc., a huge electronics empire manufacturing everything from business machines to nuclear-powered subs.

Troy V. Post, an insurance magnate with control of several huge insurance companies.

and George L. McGregor, head of Texas Utilities, parent company of Dallas Power and Light Co. and other firms.

All had their early life and business beginnings in Haskell.

Post, of Dallas, once said the only reason he left Haskell was that "there just aren't enough folks around here to sell."

One-Price Cotton System Urged By W. Texas Chamber

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have endorsed a one-price system for cotton.

In a resolution adopted Tuesday the directors asked Congress "to make it possible for the efficient American cotton farmer to meet both foreign cotton producers and domestic and foreign manufacturers of man-made fiber at domestic and world mills under a one-price system with competitive prices and freedom from acreage controls which destroy efficiency."

Another resolution urged the wool associates of the New York Cotton Exchange to establish a delivery point for the wool futures market in San Angelo. Boston now is the nation's only such point.

The directors endorsed two proposals before the legislature. One is House Bill 106, which asks revision and clarification of the state sales tax and extension for one year of the temporary 50 cent surcharge on franchise taxes. The other is the "Texas 65 plan," under which insurance companies would be authorized to form private associations to insure elderly persons not now covered under other medical care programs.

Overpopulation Grants Issued

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Foundation announced Tuesday assistance grants of $5,296,200—more than half of this sum going to help less developed countries solve problems of overpopulation.

The foundation said $2,856,200 of the grant will be used for training and research programs in family planning and reproduction biology.

The largest single birth-control grant was $975,000 to Population Control, Inc., which will expand its research program in Pakistan at the request of that government.

Another grant went to India—$480,000 to the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences at New Delhi and $125,000 to Topiwala National Medical College in Bombay for expanded research in reproductive biology.

SAUCY MEAT BALLS

Saucy Meat Balls Will Serve Over Vegetables

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There probably isn't a country in the world that doesn't have a special way of preparing economical ground beef.

In the Scandinavian cuisine, the meat is often made into balls. These are always light and soft affairs, an effect achieved by adding plenty of liquid to the meat mixture. That's what happens in the following recipe, and you'll find the undiluted evaporated milk called for, contributes usefully to both the meat and the sauce.

In this particular recipe, tarragon is used as the seasoning that stands out. But if you do not want to use this herb, or haven't it in the house, don't hesitate to add a seasoning of your own choice.

MEAT BALLS WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

- 1 lb. ground chuck beef
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1 1/2 tps. salt
- Pepper to taste
- 1 tall can (1 2-3 cups) evaporated milk
- 2 tps. butter or margarine
- 1 1/2 cups sliced mushrooms (about 1/2 lb.)
- 1/2 cup small onion rings
- 2 beef bouillon cubes dissolved in 1 2-3 cups boiling water
- 1/4 to 1/2 tsp. dried crumbled tarragon
- 1-3 cup flour
- 1-3 cup parsley sprigs

Mix together the beef, bread crumbs, onion, 1 teaspoon of the salt and pepper to taste. Mix in thoroughly 2-3 cup of the evaporated milk. Shape meat mixture into 12 balls using a scant 1/4 cup for each. Melt butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add meat balls; brown on all sides turning occasionally. Push browned meat balls to side of skillet. Add mushrooms and onion rings; cook until onions are golden, stirring occasionally.

Mix the meat and vegetables gently and add bouillon and tarragon. Bring to a boil over medium heat; cover tightly and simmer 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Sprinkle in the flour, a little at a time, stirring to blend; add the remaining 1/2 tsp salt and pepper to taste. Gradually stir in the remaining 1 cup evaporated milk. Return to low heat and cook uncovered stirring occasionally until thickened—about 5 minutes. Sprinkle in parsley. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Instead of fresh mushrooms, two cans (4 to 6 ounces each) of sliced mushrooms may be used. The canned mushroom liquid may be used in place of part of the boiling water for dissolving the bouillon cubes.

This Week Good Buys

Grocery shoppers will find an abundance of economically priced potatoes, cabbage, carrots and celery at Texas markets this weekend, the Agricultural Marketing Service says.

Also good vegetable buys in many markets are greens, green onions, dry onions, radishes, yellow squash, sweet potatoes and tomatoes.

Many wholesale markets are quoting lower prices on asparagus, yellow squash, tomatoes and potatoes. Celery is priced higher than last week.

Increased shipments of purple-hull peas, brussel sprouts, rhubarb, asparagus and poke salad are evident.

Apples continue in good supply at modest prices. Other good fruit buys include avocados and bananas. Avocados and red grapes carry slightly higher price tags in some areas.

Strawberry volume is increasing, with weaker prices cited in Louisiana. More watermelons, cantaloupes and honeydew melons are available.

Eggs, pork, beef, broiler-fryers, dairy goods and peanuts are among economical high-protein items available in fully ample volume.

Instant Potatoes In This Chocolate Cake

Instant whipped potatoes take to cake. Most homemakers take for granted the ease with which packaged instant whipped potatoes can be prepared for a meal. However, many do not realize that it is also easy to make a delicious cake with instant whipped potatoes.

Here's one which uses the potatoes in flake form.

- #### CHOCOLATE POTATO CAKE
- 1 4-oz. pkg. sweet cooking chocolate
  - 1/2 cup boiling water
  - 3/4 cup instant potato flakes
  - 1/4 cup butter, softened
  - 1 1/2 cups sugar
  - 3 eggs
  - 1/4 cup sour cream
  - 2 cups sifted cake flour
  - 3 tps. baking powder
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - 1/2 tsp. cream of tartar
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 1 tsp. vanilla extract

In medium-size mixing bowl, dissolve chocolate in boiling water, stirring until melted. Add potato flakes, stir and set aside. In large mixing bowl, cream butter. Add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Blend in sour cream. Add cooled chocolate-potato mixture; beat until smooth.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cream of tartar. Add dry ingredients alternately with combined milk and vanilla extract; blend just until smooth. Pour into two 9-inch cake pans which have been buttered, lined with waxed paper, and buttered again. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Frost with fluffy frosting.

NOTE: Chocolate-potato mixture will not have a smooth appearance before added to creamed mixture.

POTATO CAKE

Chicken Barbecue Is Spring Treat

Chicken barbecues are a spring-time favorite for families of four or large gatherings of twenty-five. And the same barbecue chicken recipe is delicious whether made in family size or in quantity.

Oven-frying chicken has become a popular method for cooking chicken and is especially good for cooking large amounts. This way the chicken takes very little watching and is turned only once. Tender-grown chicken is usually found cut up, packed in a tray and overwrapped for easy examination and protection in the market. The transparent wrap is a good safeguard against surface drying of the chicken in the home refrigerator.

WESTERN STYLE CHICKEN BARBECUE

- 1 chicken, cut up for frying
- 1/4 cup (1 stick) butter
- 1 cup sliced onions
- 2 tps. vinegar
- 2 tps. Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 tsp. red pepper
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper

- 1 tsp. chili powder
  - 1/4 cup catsup
  - 1/4 cup water
  - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, if desired
- Wash chicken pieces and dry. Melt butter in 11 by 7 by 1 1/2 inch baking pan in a hot oven (400 degrees F.). Remove baking pan from oven. As pieces of chicken are placed in pan, turn to coat with butter, arrange skin side down in a single layer. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

Combine onions and remaining ingredients and simmer 30 to 40 minutes. Turn chicken. Pour barbecue sauce over chicken. Bake another 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold with sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

BARBECUE FOR 25 PEOPLE

- 6 chickens, cut up for frying
- 1 1/2 cups (3 sticks) butter
- 6 cups sliced onions
- 2-3 cup vinegar
- 2-3 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 tsp. red pepper
- 2 tps. black pepper
- 4 tps. chili powder
- 4 1/2 cups catsup
- 4 1/2 cups water
- 3 cups chopped green pepper, if desired

Melt 1/4 of a stick in each of four 13 by 9 1/2 by 2 inch baking pans in a hot oven (400 degrees F.). Remove baking pans from oven. As pieces of chicken are placed in pans, turn to coat with butter, arrange skin side down in a single layer.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Combine onions and remaining ingredients and simmer 30 to 40 minutes. Turn chicken. Pour barbecue sauce over chicken. Bake another 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold with sauce. Yield: 25 servings.

Japache

Tura Satana, who says she's of Japanese and Apache Indian ancestry, puts on her most beguiling look as she models a costume she wears in "Who's Been Sleeping In My Bed?", a movie now being filmed in Hollywood. Tura was born in Tokyo. She plays the role of a stripper in a Mexican border nightclub in the film. (Lack of space precludes showing the costume.)

Burma's Once Friendly Face Darkening Now

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Neutralist Burma's once friendly face toward the West is reflecting doubt and suspicion now.

The Burmese strongman, Gen. Ne Win, is systematically routing out all foreign influences within his country, but the West is hurting the most.

His most recent move was to ban all embassies from showing propaganda films outside Rangoon. The distribution of foreign language publications printed outside Burma also has been banned.

Earlier this year, Ne Win virtually eliminated foreign business interests through nationalization.

CAREFUL PATH

Burma has a straggling 1,200-mile frontier with Communist China that compels her to tread a careful neutralist path in foreign affairs, diplomats here say.

But they fear that Ne Win, trying hard to unite his country after 14 stormy years of independence, may use the bogey of an imperialistic West to bring this about. He feels he can afford to upset the West, but not China.

Burma tended to be oriented toward the West after Britain gave her independence gracefully in 1948. However, with the rise of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization in neighboring Thailand, Burmese leaders have tended to withdraw into their traditional suspicion of foreigners.

CHINESE PLAGUE

Remnants of the Nationalist Chinese army that moved into Burma in retreat from the Communists have stayed to plague the border areas. Only last year, a riot nearly developed in front of the U.S. Embassy in Rangoon because of alleged American support for these elements.

The Communist Chinese have been playing a careful role with Burma over the years, culminating in the signing of a border agreement beneficial to Burma in 1961.

Subtle Chinese influences continue in Burma, with occasional goodwill visits. Even Ne Win's ruthless suppression of the warring Communist parties within his country, and the nationalization of two Communist Chinese banks, have failed to ruffle the Chinese.

The Red Chinese president, Liu Shao-chi, is visiting Burma to further cement relations.

ENVOY SNUBBED

Ne Win accepted an American offer of $28 million to build a highway from Rangoon to Mandalay recently, but he hasn't received the U.S. ambassador in months. Burma's reaction to foreign press criticism of its socialistic policies has been sharp. Government publications have chastised the Western press, and dozens of visas applied for by Western newsmen are being held up in the Foreign Ministry.

Western observers believe that while Ne Win is genuinely concerned about keeping his country completely neutral, he must eventually turn somewhat toward Communist China in international posture.

Research Ship For Galveston

GALVESTON — One of the most modern and powerful research vessels in the nation will call Galveston its home port.

The ship is the R/V Alaminos. A grant of $875,000 from the National Science Foundation to Texas A&M College is providing funds for conversion of the Army freight carrier, said Dr. Robert Stevenson, director of the A&M Marine Laboratory.

The vessel was named by Miss Esther Sell, former research assistant at the laboratory who now works in Tallahassee, Fla.

Miss Sell selected the name in honor of Anton de Alaminos.

De Alaminos was known to have been with Columbus on two trips. He was also a chief pilot under Cortez in an 11-ship operation.

Robert E. Schuller Jr., naval architect of Houston, is responsible for the design concept for the conversion job, Stevenson said. The 180-foot vessel will contain 2,926 square feet of scientific space, of which 1,862 square feet is laboratories, including a large deck laboratory and 12 special-purpose labs.
