Jaycees Recognize Citizens For Outstanding Achievement

Big Springers who have achieved outstanding records in their respective fields of activity received a salute from the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, as Jaycees held their annual recognition dinner, with their bosses and various civic leaders as guests.

A plaque was presented to Dr. Gene Hightower as Jaycee of the year, and he was given a warm hand in recognition of his services in many projects. He has been club secretary, directed the organization's annual beauty pageant, played a prominent role in the Sabin vaccine program to combat polio, worked with Jaycee programs at the State Hospital, and was cited for his "enthusiasm and fine attitude."

Jaycees recognized as outstanding teacher of the year Mel Ivey, choir director at the high school. He was noted as having achieved first division rating with his choir at Goliad Junior High in his first year there, then attaining the same proficiency with young people in his first year at the High School. Many of his singers also have won individual awards.

The outstanding policemen of the year award went to Wayne Tollett, a patrolman who has been with the department since 1958. He was cited for his performance, job knowledge, and understanding attitude of his department and the community as a whole.

Presentation of the awards was made by Charles Bell, Jaycee president who was in charge of the program, held following a buffet dinner at the Big Spring Country Club.

citizens to take an active part in government affairs to safeguard the free enterprise system was sounded before the group by W. T. Oliver of Fort Neches.

Oliver's talk climaxed the evening. He is a former Texas legislator, and prominent in many civic activities, including those of VFW and American Legion, Boy Scouts, and Rotary. He has been a three-time winner of the Jaycee distinguished service award.

Oliver discussed a point in the Jaycee credo: "Economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise."

The democratic form of government is simply a corporation in which the citizens are stockholders, he said.

"I guarantee you that if you were a stockholder in a private corporation and saw that minority groups were taking it over, you would be on the front row of the next stockholders meeting," he said. "Your participation in government affairs—at national, state, county and city levels—is no different."

"This country, under the free enterprise system, has brought people more money, more leisure, more comfortable living than ever in history."

"The only danger in losing all these benefits is the apathy of the people. Democracy is sound when all the people participate. It will fail when manipulated by only a few."

Too many businessmen decline to stand up and fight for their political beliefs, said Oliver, because of fear "it will hurt my business." But business cannot survive without free enterprise, he reiterated, "and, if you want to protect your stock in the U.S. corporation, you make those stockholder meetings."

Oliver was introduced by David Read, vice president of the organization. He set up a receptive atmosphere for his serious remarks with a series of stories told in Cajun dialect.

No Federal Aid To Be Requested

No federal grant will be requested for the construction of the Beal's Branch trunk sewer line. The Big Spring City Commission Tuesday voted against making application for approximately $130,000 in federal aid, following a public hearing in the city auditorium. More than 30 residents appeared at the hearing and 22 spoke their sentiments.

A motion was made and seconded, with all four commissioners, Paul Kasch, John Stanley, Arnold Marshall and W. L. (Squeaky) Thompson, voting against asking for federal aid. Mayor George Zachariah, who favored the grant, did not vote.

Thirteen residents spoke against federal aid, including David Read, vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who read a resolution adopted by the Jaycees in opposition. Dr. George Peacock, who stated that Big Spring Medical Association voted unanimously to oppose federal aid, former city commissioner John Taylor, and others. Nine spoke in favor of applying for aid, including former Mayor G. W. Dabney, Frank Hardesty, Howard County Democratic chairman, and Frank Parker, IUOE Local 826 business agent.

At the end of the hearing a show of hands called for by Mayor Zachariah indicated 35 against federal aid and 17 for.

The consensus of the opposition was that the demand for federal taxes and the cost of administration was getting beyond reason, and that federal control was inevitable where such grants were permitted to continue. Those favoring the grant said they believed the grant would not result in controls, and that if Big Spring did not use it, other cities would.

A grant of up to $250,000 was applied for, and received, to be used on construction of a new sewage disposal plant and rebuilding the old plant. Pending final audit, the cost of the work and completion of the contract, approximately $200,000 has been received by the city. None of this money has been used.

The commission voted following approval of the grant, not to sell Master Plan bonds equal to the amount of the grant.

A tabulation of work proposed under the Master Plan bond program, completed or now under way, was distributed to those attending the hearing. The tabulation showed bonds voted to cover work through 1962 were $2,044,000, and that $2,125,000 had been sold. On the Beal's Branch line, a bid of $452,799, plus engineering costs of $32,420, was rejected because they were considered too high.

Other funds made available through left-overs from former bond issues and rent on property and interest on funds deposited, totaled $38,304. Several projects completed for new highway construction on IS 26 and US 87, for which bond money was used, cost $90,994.

Bonds sold this year $90,000, for completion of the water distribution system to the North Side and business area, and to the Kentwood Addition and South Mountain area, brought the total bond sales to the amount originally scheduled for the first three years—$2,215,000. Cost of the distribution lines (including a 12-inch extension from the new elevated storage tank north to the state hospital front and which was not included in the bond program) will cost $142,473.

This construction will run over available funds by $52,473, according to the tabulation. If the bid price formerly quoted on Beal's Branch trunk sewer remains approximately the same, the tabulation indicated, there will be a difference of $115,219 in cost and bonds voted. This would leave a balance of $87,603 over the schedule through 1963, if the full $250,000 federal grant is available.

Anti-Pollution Could Bring More Water

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials of the Public Health Service say proper steps to halt stream pollution could mean a vast amount of additional water for municipal and industrial use in the Arkansas and Red River valleys.

The agency is now completing a survey of pollution in the two Southwestern rivers and expects to submit a report and recommendations to Congress this year.

Gordon E. McCallum, chief of the agency's water supply and water pollution control section, discussed the matter in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee. A transcript of the closed-door hearing was made public today.

The agency is asking $115,000 for the study, which has been in progress for several years. The money would be for use in the year beginning July 1.

Asked what specific benefits are expected from the study, McCallum said the recommendations to be made in the report call for the Army Engineers and others to take steps to control natural brine solutions which find their way into the rivers.

"If the states are able, and I am sure they will be, through regulatory action, if necessary, to take care of man-made pollution, it is conceivable to restore 30 million acre-feet of water a year so that it could be used for municipal, industrial or recreational purposes," McCallum said.

He estimated these improvements would have a value of $5 million to $6 million a year.

Asked what benefits there would be for the public, he said his agency now is working on cost and benefit relationships along with the Army Engineers and that there are some rather complicated solutions.

"In some instances we have to reinject springs back into a subterranean strata, sometimes at considerable depth," he said.

"One at Estelline, Tex., produces, I believe, 500 tons of salt a day, discharging into the Red River. In some way we have to cap that source of pollution to keep it from coming to the surface or reinject it into the earth."

"There have been suggestions of running a pipeline to the Gulf of Mexico. Some of these proposals may not be economically feasible today, but when one realizes that in 1956 the state of Oklahoma failed to get $250 million capital investment in new industry—not because of a shortage of water—but because of poor quality water in these two basins, the economic feasibility of these undertakings seems more realistic."

States chiefly interested in the water from the Arkansas and Red Rivers are Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

A GENERAL'S PROPHECY Command Post May Be In Space

DALLAS (AP)—America's global striking forces may one day be controlled from a huge maneuverable command post in space, the chief of the Strategic Air Command said today.

The possibility of this space-age equivalent to the present underground control centers was posed by Gen. Thomas S. Power at a manned space flight conference here.

"Space potentially offers unique military advantages," Power said, "and we must anticipate that some nation or nations will endeavor to exploit such advantages to help them attain their political objectives."

Power, who long has pushed for a stronger U.S. military role in space, said the right approach must be made "because we cannot afford to make a mistake."

"If this country should suddenly be confronted with a 'space Cuba,'" he said, "and have the wrong or perhaps no means to deal with such an emergency, our very survival may be at stake."

"Should such a spaceborne command post become necessary, it would have to be large enough to carry all electronic gear required to gather, process and disseminate operational information on a global basis. Also it would have to be capable of defending itself against any interference or attacks from the ground and space."

He said a skilled crew capable of ultimate decision would be required to man the station.

"Here, then, may be the first major requirement for military men in space," he added.

Power said another important possible role for military space pilots would be to inspect possible hostile satellites which "might be orbital ballistic missiles or, perhaps, employ some radically new and still more potent weapon technique."

He said maneuverable spacecraft could be "manned by crews who could search out suspected weapons carriers, board them and, if required, neutralize them."

Filibuster Looms Over Tourism Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—Lawmakers faced a possible filibuster today on a plan to lure tourists into Texas and long, heated argument on a proposal to substitute annual voter registration for the poll tax.

Scheduled for Senate debate was Gov. John Connally's proposal to set up a tourist development agency. It would advertise Texas attractions and try to lure more tourists—and their dollars—into the state.

Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress filibustered against the measure briefly last week. He promised to talk at length when the measure came up again.

The tourist bill already has House approval.

MAY DELAY
 "Speaker's Day" in the House may delay consideration of a Senate-passed bill to set up annual voter registration. It would require voters to pay a 25-cent fee. Opponents have dubbed this a "two-bit poll tax."

Pending on the House calendar is another bill calling for a permanent registration system, similar to one killed in the Senate.

House members Tuesday killed a plan to lower the minimum voting age to 19 years.

Representatives voted 91-49 for the measure, but it died for lack of the 100 votes required to pass a constitutional amendment.

The House gave tentative approval 114-32 to another proposed amendment which would permit House members to take office Dec. 1 and choose a speaker.

The House Banks and Banking Committee approved for floor debate a measure to regulate loans under $1,500.

Legal charges on loans would range from 19 per cent annually on the largest down to 1 per cent cash advance on loans of $100 and less.

AMENDED

The House committee amended the Senate version to provide slightly higher interest rates between $300 and $1,000.

Senators heard about three hours of talk Tuesday against a bill to permit game wardens to make arrests for trespassing.

In an afternoon session, however, the Senate gave tentative approval to the bill, but refused to suspend the rules and take a final vote.

The Senate likewise gave tentative approval to a bill limiting liability of contractors after delivery of work to owners.

Text Hearing Transcripts Sales Illegal

COSDEN STOCKHOLDERS TO MEET HERE THURSDAY

Stockholders of Cosden Petroleum Corporation will meet here Thursday to give their blessings to a proposal for selling all the assets of the company to American Petrofina, Inc. The time is 11 a.m., the place Cosden's offices.

Unofficial reports Wednesday indicated that proxies showed a wide margin of concurrence, 28.0 per cent favoring and 2.9 per cent against. However, W. R. Grace & Co., which owns 51.9 per cent of the 3,059,012 shares of outstanding common stock, initiated the proposal to sell. The "aye" vote by Grace would bring the margin to 79.9 per cent, considerably above the two-thirds majority required for outright sale.

The deal is rated at $90-million and will involve sale of production reserves to secure a $24,100,000 loan to two corporations (Racor and Woodfin). Cosden Oil & Chemical Company will be organized to operate the petrochemical and refining properties, which will secure a $42,000,000 loan American Petrofina is giving a note for the balance. After paying off obligations not assumed in the trade, Cosden will distribute about $72-million to stockholders, or at the rate of approximately $23.50 per share.

Carr Ruling Ends Fuss In Legislature

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held today that a member of the legislature is not authorized to print documents and later sell them.

The opinion was given to Rep. Bob Johnson of Dallas head of a five-man investigating committee named to look into charges made by Reps. W. T. Dungan of McKinney and Ronald Roberts of Hillsboro over actions of the controversial House Textbook Committee.

Roberts said that Dungan had printed copies of a meeting held in Dallas and later sold these for $2 each.

"A member of the legislature is not authorized to prepare at state expense printed matter he intends to sell to the public, for the reason that printed matter prepared at state expense must be used for governmental or public purposes and not for private purposes," Carr said in the opinion.

Lie Test Indicates Ex-Cop Innocent In Coed's Death

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A polygraph test Tuesday night indicated a former Arizona highway patrolman accused of rape has no knowledge of the sex slaying of Texas Christian University coed Jane Langdon.

Paul Curtis Achee, 31, was questioned concerning Miss Langdon's murder and the double slaying a year ago of sweethearts Joyce Ann Sterrenberg and Timothy McKillops, both 20, near Scottsdale.

"There was nothing in the tests to indicate that Achee was responsible for any of the three homicides," said police Lt. Earl Moore who administered the polygraph. During a two-hour examination Achee responded in such a way that I have formed the opinion he has no knowledge of the murders.

A ballistics test yesterday proved that a .38 caliber weapon belonging to Achee was not the same one which fired three slugs into Miss Langdon.

"It sure is a relief to be cleared in those killings," the burly Achee told newsmen after the polygraph test.

Achee was arrested Sunday after a 17-year-old girl was raped northwest of Phoenix only six miles from where Miss Langdon's body was found March 21. Sheriff's Capt. Tom Kirkham said Achee admitted rapping the 17-year-old and five other rapes in the past 11 years.

Miss Langdon, 21-year-old daughter of a Fort Worth, Tex., judge, disappeared March 21 after arriving in Phoenix by plane from Dallas. Her body was discovered in a prospector's tunnel. Authorities said she had been raped.

More Than 100 Students Cited On HCJC Honors Day

More than 100 students at Howard County Junior College this morning were given recognition for their scholarship, athletic achievements, forensics ability and leadership of the student body during the Honors and Awards Day Convocation.

"We are proud of you who are the leaders at Howard County Junior College and we will keep track of you and note your achievements from here on out," Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC, told the students gathered in the auditorium.

This year's American Legion Citizenship Awards went to Jana Kay Crownover and Vance Conroy Lacy, who also placed high in other honor categories. On hand to make the presentations were Mayor George Zachariah and Cui Grigsby. The award has been made each year since 1957.

Miss Crownover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crownover, 1816 Benton, is the 1963 Miss Jayhawk.

and the Jayhawk editor. She received Summa Cum Laude honors on the Dean's list of scholastic awards this year.

Lacy, a two-year letterman in the HCJC basketball team, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lacy, Turkey, Tex. He is Phi Theta Kappa president, 1963 Mr. Jayhawk and a member of the Dean's list with Ampla Cum Laude honors.

This year's Dibreil Sportsmanship award to the outstanding girl in the field of sports went to Patricia Saunders.

The award for excellence in Spanish language went to Marianne Bell. Awards for excellence in French went to Miss Crownover and Claudia Ann Richardson, first year students, and to Cruz Montanez, second year student.

Donna Jo Perry won the award for excellence in speech and drama.

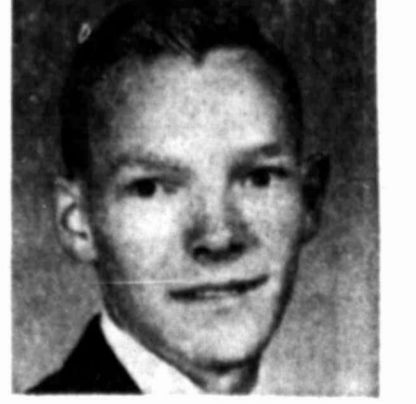

For building an excellent basketball club despite setbacks this year, basketball coach D. E. Smith, Travis was given the E. Smith award for outstanding achievement. Wesley Fellowship sponsors of the organization, R. J. Turner Jr. and James G. Dickson. The convocation program was begun with the presentation of "O Had I Jubal's Lyre" from Joshua by G. F. Handel. The song was rendered by Anne Keller, soprano, accompanied on the piano by Jack Hendrix.

Twenty-eight students made the Dean's List for scholastic honors.

Making Summa Cum Laude honors were Patricia E. Harrison, Jr., Claudia Ann Richardson, Jana Kay Crownover, Marlyn McReary, Bruce W. Lockwood, Lynn Woodard, Neal Brinson and Richard B. King.

Outstanding Cum Laude Ampla Cum Laude were Billie Mae Maxwell, Jackie Kay, High Honors, Joe Leslie and Marjorie Williams. Honored Magna Cum Laude were James W. Carter, Gary Lee Walker, Marianne Bell, Sara Ann Robinson and Sharon Ann Garty.

Ampla Cum Laude honors went to Bonni Chow Johnson, Vance Conroy Lacy, Gerald Rayne Alexander, Jeffrey L. Gillman and Max Moore. Making Cum Laude were Charlene Eva Hughes, Jerry Tom Newman, Carolyn Wagington, Eric Brewster, Richard D. Edling and Cruz Montanez.

TOMMY J. JOHNSON

Johnson Gets Medal Award

The Wall Street Journal Student Achievement Award, first to be presented at Howard County Junior College, was given to Tommy Joe Johnson today during the Honors and Awards Day Convocation. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Johnson, 108 N. Tornillo, Kermit.

The award is given to a business student who is completing his training at the college. The winner is selected on the basis of scholarship, dependability, citizenship and co-operativeness. The award consists of a specially designed silver medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

In addition to the medal to be received by Johnson, Howard County Junior College will receive a plaque on which can be inscribed the names of winners over a 10-year period. Johnson's name will head the list of winners since he is the first person at HCJC to be awarded the prize.

Johnson is a member of the Geology Club and the Baptist Student Union.

Mayor George Zachariah, left, and Cui Grigsby, second from right, present medals to the 1963 winners of the American Legion Citizenship Award. They are Jana Kay Crownover and Vance Conroy Lacy. Their names will be inscribed on the plaque being held by Mayor Zachariah. The award has been made each year since 1957.

LBJ Pushes Space Work

DALLAS (AP) — "If we are to put our new technical competence to work for us to the fullest extent possible," Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Tuesday night, "we must be capable of utilizing space...."

"Earthbound science cannot serve us. A ceiling on science would be a ceiling on our progress and prosperity — and eventually on our freedom itself."

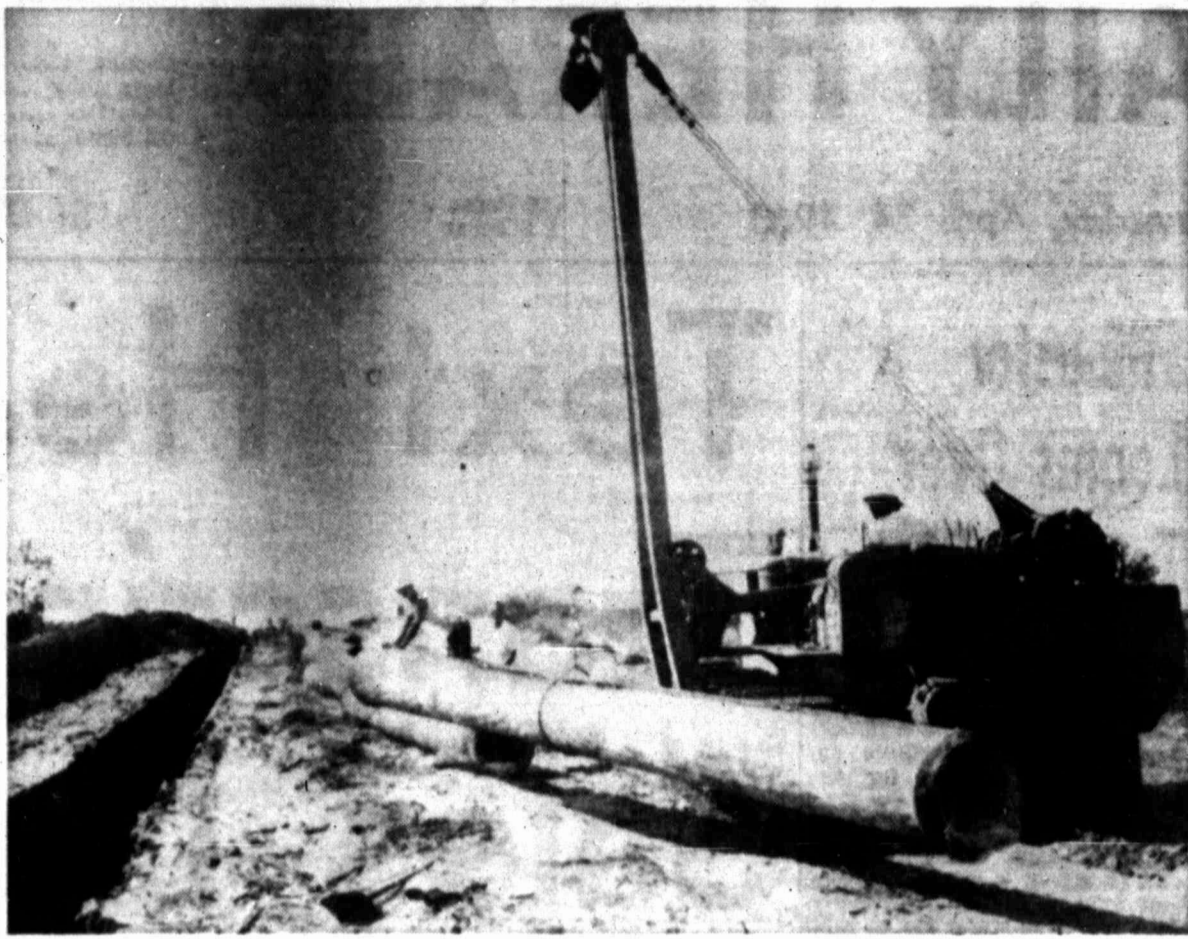

Speaking at a conference on manned space flight, Johnson also said this country cannot overlook a possibility that "an unfriendly power might use space for arms storage, or for the stationing of an offensive weapon or for other hostile purposes."

Countless peaceful benefits nevertheless are the main goal of labor to put a man on the moon, said the vice president, who also is chairman of the Space Advisory Council.

"We will some day perhaps be able to modify and exercise control over our weather — eliminate droughts and floods, bring rains to the deserts and control the deluges of the jungles," he said. "but we can do none of this without developing space capabilities on which we are at work...."

Addressing a luncheon meeting of Dallas County Democrats earlier, Johnson declared it is vital that Fidel Castro be driven out of Cuba and communism out of this hemisphere.

"We must do everything short of starting a third world war," the vice president said in reply to a question about how the United States should meet the Cuban problem.

Starting Long Line Of Big Pipe

Crews of the R. H. Fulton Company are getting under way on a 51.5-mile pipeline to carry water from Lake J. B. Thomas southward to Sun Oil Company's terminal at Silver in northern Coke County. Work started on the 18-inch section north from Silver. Soon another crew will begin laying 24-inch pipe south from the lake for about half the distance of the line. Above, a boom swings a 4-ft. joint into place, and below is a stretch of the line. At peak, around a mile a day will be laid in an effort to meet the July 1 contract completion date.

Crews Putting Down Pipe For Water District Project

After six weeks of ground work, contractors are now laying pipe on the new Colorado River Municipal Water District project.

With more than five miles of 18-inch concrete cylinder pipe strung along the route in northern Coke County, crews began mastering the techniques of laying this type and size pipe. At the end of the week, they were battling at the rate of about 3,000 feet a day and are expected to boost this eventually to 5,000 feet daily.

Meantime, the first 24-inch pipe on the north end of the project connecting Lake J. B. Thomas and Sun Oil's Silver terminal was delivered. Crews may move in on this section soon.

O. H. Irie, assistant general manager of the CRMWD, said that bids for a crossing of the Colorado River in Mitchell County would be asked for May 7 so that there would be no delay on that score.

Directors have approved award of a contract for a pump station building to be erected below the Lake Thomas Dam. J. D. Jones Construction Company of Big Spring was the low and successful bidder. Proposals on radio microwave and supervisory equipment for automatic control of pumps are still under study. One section may be put out for bids again, possibly around May 20.

The pipeline project to deliver water to Sun Oil for repressuring is due to be completed by July 1.

District Toastmaster Meeting Set Saturday

Big Spring's three toastmaster clubs will host representatives from District 44 of Toastmasters International at the annual Spring Conference to be held here Saturday. R. M. Clark, of the Talon Toasters group from Webb Air Force Base, is chairman for arrangements.

The one-day affair will be kicked off with a breakfast for R. W. Henry, district governor, at the Sands Restaurant. Registration will be on the mezzanine of the Settles Hotel.

During the executive committee meeting which begins at 10 a.m. at the Settles, area governors from six areas will report. They are James Wilson Jr., Joseph Bloomer, John Bergman, Sam Spence, Leroy Bleeker and Bill Schlecht.

A buffet luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m. Sam Hershey will conduct an education session beginning at 1:30 p.m. and continuing until just before the district council meeting at 4 p.m. District officers will be elected at that time. Unfinished business will also be taken up.

Toastmasters from the six areas will strut their stuff during the speech contest which follows the banquet at 7:30 p.m. at Cosden Country Club. Taking part will be: LeRoy Metrick, Area I; Dick Wagon, Area II; Bill Heck, Area III; Jack Burns, Area IV; Bill Senning, Area V; and Jim Arena, Area VI.

Second Section Of Supervisory Program Slated

The second phase of the Big Spring YMCA's supervisory development program will be conducted here May 6-10, according to Francis Flint, general secretary of the Y.

The course will be taught for three hours each evening beginning at 6:30 p.m. Classes will meet in the Texas Electric Service Company meeting room.

"Working With People" is the title of this portion of the training program. It examines factors that motivate employees to work productively and helps develop supervisory skills required to work with people in an effective manner.

The previous program dealt with "Principles of Supervision." The supervisory development program is sponsored by the Texas A&M College Engineering Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency.

Enrollment will be limited to about 20-25 persons, Flint said. Twenty-two persons attended the previous session.

Malaysia Relying For Independence

By ROBERT EUNSON
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—"I hate you ruddy Americans," the Britisher who was sounding off said with a smile. "I really do."

"Why?"

"Because you won't ruddy well tell that chap Sukarno to leave the formation of Malaysia ruddy well alone."

Some of the British in this capital of the nation that is to be born as Malaysia Aug. 31 are so hot under their collars they barely can get their brandy down after dinner. They want President Kennedy to tell off President Sukarno for saying Malaysia is nothing more than a continuation of colonialism.

Actually, President Kennedy has stated America's position — that the gathering of Malaya, Singapore, North Borneo, Sarawak and Brunei under one flag is a good idea.

ONCE IS ENOUGH

But apparently President Kennedy, who would like to get along with President Sukarno too, feels that once is enough to enter into this international squabble.

What Sukarno means by colonialism is that the Royal Air Force will not be leaving its base at Changi, nor will the British warships quit Singapore Aug. 31. The British plan to protect Malaysia until it is able to protect itself, just as the Americans have maintained forces in Japan.

In addition to hoping to soothe Sukarno, President Kennedy and his policy makers have to keep a hand on the brow of President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines whose constituents claim North Borneo.

A visit to Kuala Lumpur, chosen to be the baby nation's capital, is like walking through Independence Square and imagining the time clock turned back 200 years.

"Anyone who can't speak Malayan in one year shouldn't be given a license to work or own a shop," an excited patriot declared.

THE CHINESE

"How about the three million Chinese in the new land of ten million?" an educated man from Peking asked.

It was finally agreed they were too old to learn Malayan, but perhaps their children would. Anyway, the constitution stipulates freedom of speech, although Malayan is the official language.

Eggheads are here from Stanford, Harvard and Oxford, organizing banks, writing tax laws, discussing export and import regulations.

Monkeys still hang by their tails from the trees and elephants and tigers haunt the jungles to the north, but in Kuala Lumpur you might think you were in Melbourne or San Francisco, especially in the new districts.

Handsome new houses made of stone are rising from hillsides that up to a few months ago produced rubber or tin.

Proud new owners don't even blush when they ask up to seven years rent in advance.

The big boom began here as soon as the plan for the formation of Malaysia started developing. Land sharks moved in and bought up everything that was loose.

Frozen food is being imported from Australia. The Straits Times, largest newspaper in Malaysia, moved from Singapore a year ago.

Kids from school rooms in America are talking about "forms," "second standard" and "third form" instead of "grammar" or "high" schools. A hulking lad of 19 who could make anybody's freshman team next fall is enrolled at Malaya University "just to see how it goes."

That's what a lot of people are saying in this nation to be born four months from now.

Sukarno, Macapagal, Kennedy, Chou En-lai and probably Khrushchev are waiting to see how it goes where you can hunt tiger in the morning and sell a warehouse of rubber in the afternoon.

STEVE TAYLOR

Taylor Due For Crusade

Music director for the evangelistic crusade to be held at Baptist Temple Sunday through May 5 will be Steve Taylor, a veteran in this calling.

He is a combination vocalist, trumpeter, choir and congregational song leader and is in demand for one-night sacred concerts in churches across the country. Taylor has been a recording artist on the Joy label and has done custom work for the RCA recording division.

A native of Dinuba, Calif., he is 36, married and the father of four children. Attending the Navy School of Music in Washington, D.C., he served for 26 months during World War II and was assigned to the USS Boxer band. He now makes his home in Greenville, S.C., and for the past 14 years has been engaged in fulltime music-evangelism. He has received as many as 300 invitations within a year, and in some cities, he has returned as many as seven times.

Storm Remnants Move To N'East

By The Associated Press

Wet, windy and cold weather—remnants of the storm that hit areas from the Rockies into the Midwest—moved into sections of the Northeast today.

Light rain fell from the eastern Ohio Valley into the north and middle Atlantic states.

Texas Business Activity Rises

FORT WORTH (AP)—Business activity in Texas was up 10 per cent last year over 1961, a West Texas Chamber of Commerce official says.

"A look at the record for 1962 shows that the index of business activity averaged 10 per cent better than 1961," Fred H. Husbands of Abilene said.

The vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce said, "enough lines of activity experienced improvement to offset declines in other activities."

Husbands spoke to some 120 persons at the annual report to members meeting of the West Texas chamber.

He said establishment of the National Aeronautics Space Administration Center at Houston and the Fort Worth General Dynamics plant's award of the TFX fighter plane contract were two of the major business highlights of the year.

In other business activity, Husbands said:

1. Texas ranked third among the 50 states in population growth and in number of new manufacturing plants located in the state. A total of 240 manufacturing plants and 81 warehousing operations started new operations.

2. Texas Employment Commission figures revealed Texas added more jobs net per year for 1962 in manufacturing than over the previous four years.

3. The total number of drilling rigs in West Texas had declined to 292 as of January 1963 and 462 for the whole state. The total figure was down from 592 a year ago.

4. Strong Texas business areas included automobile production, construction, utility industry building and the cattle industry.

Networks To Carry President's Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—All four major radio networks will carry President Kennedy's news conference live at 4 p.m. today.

None of the television networks will telecast it live, however. The National Broadcasting Co. and the American Broadcasting Co. carry it on television at 4:30 p.m. and the Columbia Broadcasting System at 5 p.m.

Radio networks broadcasting it live are NBC, CBS, ABC and Mutual.

Hero's Grandson Is Exile Leader

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Antonio Maceo, grandson of Cuba's independence hero with the same name, became acting president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council Tuesday.

Maceo presided over a meeting of seven remaining members of the anti-Castro coalition.

A spokesman said a campaign was started seeking new members after a split occasioned by the resignation of Dr. Jose Miro Cardona as president.

Chosen as the host and hostess for "One Enchanted Evening" were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conway who will reign during a progressive dinner, sponsored by the Big Spring Country Club. Their names were chosen and announced yesterday afternoon during the club's duplicate bridge session by Mrs. R. H. Weaver, general chairman

Capping Of Students Scheduled

A capping ceremony for the Howard County Junior College Vocational Nurses is announced for Friday at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Sixteen nurses will be capped, signifying their five months of training. The capping service, using the Florence Nightingale theme, will be conducted by Mrs. Johnnie Amos, RN, instructor and coordinator for the students. Maj. Benjamin F. Meacham, chaplain of Webb Air Force Base, will give the address. The professional will be presented by Frank Arner, pianist, and Mrs. George O'Brien, Texas state president of the Gideon Society, will make the presentation of Bibles.

Anniversary, Lodge Project Are Reported

An anniversary observance and a service project were highlights in the reports of Rebekah lodges, John A. Kee and No. 284, which met Tuesday at their halls.

LODGE NO. 284

The last day, Wednesday, for serving patients at the state hospital was a reminder made to members of Lodge No. 284. Today concludes the group's month for providing cookies at the hospital. Numerous visits to the sick were reported by the members, and correspondence included cards of thanks from the ill and a letter from the president, Mrs. Kretzmeier.

Mrs. T. A. Melton, lodge deputy issued four certificates of perfection to Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Ruby Simpson, Mrs. W. C. Moore and Mrs. Albert Gilliland.

Members agreed to adopt a child from the children's home in Corsicana. When the paper work is completed it will be known officially whether a boy or a girl has been selected as a charge of the lodge.

Mrs. Earl Wilson reported on the memorial program given by a group from Lodge No. 284 Saturday at the association meeting. A social meeting is planned for the next session.

JOHN A. KEE

Recognition was accorded the 144th anniversary of Rebekah Old Fellowship at John A. Kee Lodge, Mrs. O. G. Burns told of the founding by Thomas A. Wilkey, giving the historical background.

A school of instruction was conducted by Mrs. Grace Sudberry, lodge deputy. She was assisted by Mrs. H. F. Jarrett, district deputy president of District 11. Mrs. Sudberry presented certificates of perfection in the unwritten work to Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Morgan Martin, Mrs. Elmo Martin and Mrs. Grace Martin.

During the business session, as Mrs. Elmo Martin presided as noble grand, plans were continued for the Mothers Day bazaar. Mrs. Garland Land, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, urged members to get articles ready for this occasion which will be held in one of the food stores.

Announcement was made of the official visit of the state president, Mrs. Ellen Kretzmeier to Ragsdale Jr. Rebekah Lodge No. 163, combining districts 11, 12 and 13 on Monday, May 6. Members are asked to be present.

Mrs. Marilyn Dolan was welcomed as a new member by deposit of card.

Under the direction of Mrs. Leon Cole, funeral marshal, the lodge charter was draped for the late Bob Burch, superintendent of the Children's Home of Corsicana. Taking part in this rite were Mrs. Land, Mrs. L. S. Bonner and Mrs. Homer Petty.

Attendance was recorded as 34 with reports of numerous visits to the members who are ill.

WESLEY METHODIST

Events Include Circle And Guild Sessions

The Wesleyan Service Guild and the Woman's Society of Christian Service, Wesley Methodist Church, met in separate sessions Tuesday. Study courses were continued and officers elected.

SERVICE GUILD

Mrs. Joe Kitching was hostess to the guild at an evening meeting in her home. Conducting the business session when officers were elected was Mrs. R. O. Browder.

Those named were Mrs. Browder, president; Mrs. Robert Lee, vice president; Mrs. John Sevey, secretary; and Mrs. T. A. McGuffey, treasurer.

Also, Mrs. Bill Estes, missionary education; Mrs. Johnnie Garrison, spiritual life; Mrs. Bill Smeltzer, Christian social relations; Mrs. Kitching, membership; Mrs. John Appleton, local church activities; Mrs. Garland Briden, supply; Mrs. Delbert Burchett, publications; and Mrs. Sevey and Mrs. Garrison, telephone.

Mrs. Browder reminded members of the district guild meeting to be held in Midland Sunday and encouraged attendance there.

"What Shall We Tell Our Children About Suffering?" was the program presented under the direction of Mrs. McGuffey. Mrs. Kitching discussed why we suffer, and Mrs. Royce Womack told of the meaning of suffering. A question and answer period followed.

The devotion was worded by Mrs. Sevey, and the meeting closed with chain prayer. Mrs. Burchett will be hostess for the May 14 meeting.

WOMAN'S SOCIETY

Both circles of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the church for the continuation of the study "Dimensions of Prayer," conducted by Mrs. Rene Brown.

The worship center, depicting the power of prayer, was arranged by Mrs. Royce Womack.

A resume of the preceding work was given by Mrs. T. C. Richardson. Concluding the program, Mrs. W. D. Lovelace was the moderator during a question and answer period. The devotion was worded by Mrs. S. L. Thurman.

Refreshments were served to 15 members and a guest, Mrs. Don Rogers. The concluding study on the prayer theme will be held April 30.

Coffee Affair For Mrs. C. T. Domer

Mrs. C. T. Domer, a recent bride, was honored Tuesday morning at a coffee and shower held in the home of Mrs. Morris Robertson, 2806 Clanton.

Wearing a pink silk-linen suit, Mrs. Domer, the mother of Mrs. Bill Coleman, received a white carnation corsage.

Yellow, gold and brown was the motif used in the entertaining area. A beige lace cloth covered the refreshment table where yellow chrysanthemums, ivy and sweet peas formed the centerpiece. Flanking the arrangement were yellow tapers in gold holders. Mrs. Robertson presided at a copper coffee service where guests were served during the calling hours from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

WMU Convenes At Baptist Temple

Mrs. H. M. Jarrett gave the devotion, opening the meeting of the Baptist Temple's Women's Missionary Union Tuesday. Held at the church the meeting continued with prayer led by Mrs. James McClure.

Enlistment, community missions and prayer chairman of the various circles were those who reported. Directors of the youth organizations also gave accounts of activities.

Mrs. James McClure was elected YWA director, and Mrs. Ernest Barbee was elected councilor. Emphasis was placed on the forthcoming revival April 28-May 3, when Freddie Gage will be the visiting evangelist.

Prayer Is Topic For Church Circle

"Dimensions of Prayer" was the program heard by members of the Reba Thomas Circle of the First Methodist Church Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Seth Lacy. The speaker, Mrs. Jimmy Cribbs, spoke of the proper mental attitude toward prayer and the aids to prayer.

The worship center, composed of a gilded picture of praying hands and an open Bible, was arranged by Mrs. Roy Rosene.

Refreshments were served to seven members and the guest, Mrs. Cribbs, by the hostess.

IN DALLAS

State Federation Meetings Scheduled

The 66th annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs is slated for May 13-15 with headquarters in the Baker Hotel, Dallas. Theme for the event will be "Person to Person Solar Power." April 30 is the deadline for pre-registration.

Pre-convention events are planned for Sunday, May 12, beginning at 3:30 p.m., when state vice presidents will meet with the district vice presidents. At 4:30 p.m. district presidents will meet with the state president, Mrs. A. T. Carleton of Houston.

A conference of the board of trustees will be conducted from 9 until 10 p.m., following church attendance by the TFWC members of the First Presbyterian Church. The final meeting on Sunday will be that of the executive committee with the state president at 10 p.m. All preliminary meetings will be in the president's suite at the Baker Hotel.

The state board of directors will convene in the Texas Room Monday morning at 8:15 o'clock.

The general assembly will begin at 10:30 a.m. Monday Mayor Earle Cabell of Dallas will give the welcoming message.

Reservations are to be sent to state headquarters, TFWC, 2312 San Gabriel St., Austin 5.

FLOWERS - ART

A flower and art show, sponsored by the Forsan Study Club, will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the school. Entries must be in by 4 p.m. Friday, and an entry fee of 25 cents will be charged for adults. Students may enter the show at no charge.

Altar Society Election Held, Officers Named

Immaculate Heart of Mary Altar Society, with Mrs. Harry Canada presiding, elected new officers Monday evening at the school hall. The Rev. Francis Beazley gave the opening and closing prayers.

Mrs. K. T. Newell was elected for the ensuing year as president. Mrs. Rex Bishop, vice president; Mrs. Gary Engel, secretary; Mrs. C. C. Choate, treasurer.

The installation dinner was planned for May 14 at 7 p.m. Mrs. Choate is chairman for the event, and for reservations she may be reached at AM 4-2746. Miss Carrie Scholz will be in charge of decorations, and the installation will be conducted by Mrs. Wayne Basden, deacon's president.

A Family Night and game party was announced for Sunday in the school hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The charge will be $1 per person, and refreshments will be served.

The meeting concluded with a linen committee report made by Mrs. Martin Dehlinger.

Gardeners Elect New Officers

New officers were elected Tuesday morning when Rosebud Garden Club members met in the home of Mrs. Charles Creighton. Mrs. T. H. McCann was cohostess.

To be installed May 28 will be Mrs. J. W. Furquerson, president; Mrs. Dwan Leonard, vice president; Mrs. Jack Cook, secretary; Mrs. Leonard Coker, treasurer; and Mrs. Odell Womack, parliamentarian. The installation luncheon will be held in the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr.

Guest speaker was Bruce Frazier, faculty member at Howard County Junior College, who spoke on soil conservation. Frazier stressed that methods vary according to the area involved.

What applies to soil conditions in one section of the country will not to another so that gardeners should "feel" their way when preparing soil for planting.

A feather arrangement was shown which was created by Mrs. Joe Myers, fashioned of duck and peacock feathers.

During the business session, members voted to give two youth memberships to the YMCA for deserving children.

The coffee table was spread with a beige linen cloth and held a centerpiece of permalized orange carnations and green leaves. The hostess presided at the brass coffee service.

Plans Revealed At Coffee

The announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marilyn Sale of Stanton to Thomas Risher Newman, Big Spring and Lomax, was made at a coffee Saturday morning in the ranch home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sale. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Sale were Mrs. B. H. Hicks, B. W. Gillum.

The guest table was covered with a floor length white silk Austrian draped cloth, trimmed with silk fringe and tassels. The centerpiece was an arrangement of peace roses flanked by four white tapers. The appointments were silver. Miss La Wanda Pierce from Brownwood and Miss Judi Pinkerton poured. Others serving in the house party were Miss Joanna Epley and Miss Claudene Nowlin.

Mrs. J. R. Sale, the bride-elect's grandmother, and Mrs. Fred McGowan of Big Spring, Newman's grandmother, registered the guests which included those from Andrews, Seminole, Lamesa, Big Spring, Lomax, and Midland.

All were received by the honoree, her mother and Mrs. Newman. Newman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Newman of Lomax.

The couple is to be married at 8 p.m. June 21 at the First Baptist Church, Stanton.

MISS SALE

Mad Hatters

White Integrationist Slain Beside Highway

ATTALLA, Ala. (AP)—A white integrationist from Maryland was shot to death beside a highway near this northeast Alabama town Tuesday night. A full-scale search for the killer is under way.

Gov. George Wallace, a staunch segregationist, called the slaying of William L. Moore, 35, of Baltimore, a dastardly act and offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the killer.

Moore, hiking across Alabama and bound for Mississippi on a personal antisegregation mission, was carrying pro-integration signs.

Coroner Noble Yocum said Moore apparently was shot at close range with a small caliber weapon. One bullet went through Moore's head and another apparently lodged in the head, Yocum said.

Moore reportedly was walking from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss., to tell Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett of his racial views.

Moore had told a newsman a little earlier Tuesday night that he had left a letter for President Kennedy at the White House, taken a bus from Baltimore to Chattanooga and begun his trek.

Moore's letter to the President outlined plans for the walk and said in part:

"I will be engaged in interstate travel and theoretically under the protection of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing equal rights and privileges to all citizens.

"I am not making this walk to demonstrate either federal rights or states rights, but individual rights. I am doing it—for the South and hopefully to illustrate that—peaceful protest is not altogether extinguished down there. "I hope that I will not have to eat these words."

Alabama's public safety director Al Lingo, urged the cooperation of all law enforcement agencies to find the killer or killers.

A passing motorist found the body, which was still wearing signs reading "Eat at Joe's—both black and white" and "Equal rights for all. Mississippi or bust."

State investigator Ray McDowell said he had talked with Moore earlier and said Moore told him he was a mail carrier in Baltimore and had been a postal worker in Binghamton, N.Y.

McDowell said part of the sign saying "black" had been torn off. He said Moore told him a Negro in Chattanooga had torn the sign, saying that the word "colored" should have been used.

Yocum said he had talked with Moore's wife, Mary, in Binghamton. He said she told him Moore was on a two-week vacation and that his route would take him from Chattanooga to Birmingham, and then to Jackson via Meridian, Miss.

Attalla is just outside Gadsden, about 60 miles northeast of Birmingham.

The Rev. Carl Heckman of Austin, Texas, was elected as president of the Texas District of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Plans Meeting

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP)—Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson plans a patch-things-up meeting in about two weeks with President Kennedy.

Cubans Badly Split On Their Politics

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—From a political standpoint the Cuban exiles in this country are organized chaos. From a military standpoint any invasion of Cuba by them alone looks futile.

If there ever is another invasion of Fidel Castro's island it almost certainly will have to be led by American armed forces. And nothing like that is in sight.

The exiles' hit-and-run raids on Cuba are pinpricks against Castro and the Russian troops there. They're simply a gesture of protest and nothing more.

They might keep alive in the anti-Castro Cubans still on the island a hope that some day Castro might be toppled. But the raids wouldn't do the trick. And President Kennedy said no such raids are to originate from U.S. shores.

There are about 135,000 to 150,000 Cuban exiles in Florida, mostly in and around Miami. About 65,000 of them are getting relief from the American government.

They represent Cuba's poor, middle class and rich. Most of them are from the Cuban middle class. They are united on one thing: their opposition to Castro and their desire to get rid of him.

But they are split into a bewildering mob of views and organizations. Their organizations in Florida are estimated to number from 30 to 400. These range from left to far right.

Before dictator Fulgencio Batista was thrown out by Castro in 1959, reforms were badly needed. Castro promised them. This country never quarreled with his revolutionary aims—that is, the promised reforms.

But the American government takes the position now that Castro betrayed his promises after he seized power, just as he lied about himself, first denying he was a Communist and then announcing he'd be one till he died.

Yet when the exiles in the spring of 1961 made their disastrous invasion of Cuba, backed by the American government, they had no agreed-on program to offer the Cuban people in place of Castro's excesses if they had destroyed him.

If they were able to return to Cuba this week they still have no agreed-on government program. For instance: would they or wouldn't they keep the land reforms of Castro and the nationalizing of industry?

If they got back tomorrow, the logical moves—if they acted logically—would be to create a provisional government to keep order and arrange for a constitution, political parties and candidates, programs, and elections.

That would be the ideal arrangement—if it worked. If it didn't, Cuba might break down into anarchy or a new dictatorship of one kind or another.

It would seem the exiles' best hope of rallying support among the anti-Castroites still in Cuba—if an invasion were made—would be to agree on a program to replace Castro's, keeping what's good, getting rid of the bad, and continually broadcasting it to the people in Cuba.

But hope of such agreement among the exile factions seems out of the question.

There are about six million people in Cuba. Castro, even without the presence of the Soviet troops now there, is far better armed than he was at the time he crushed the 1961 invasion, thanks to Russia's help.

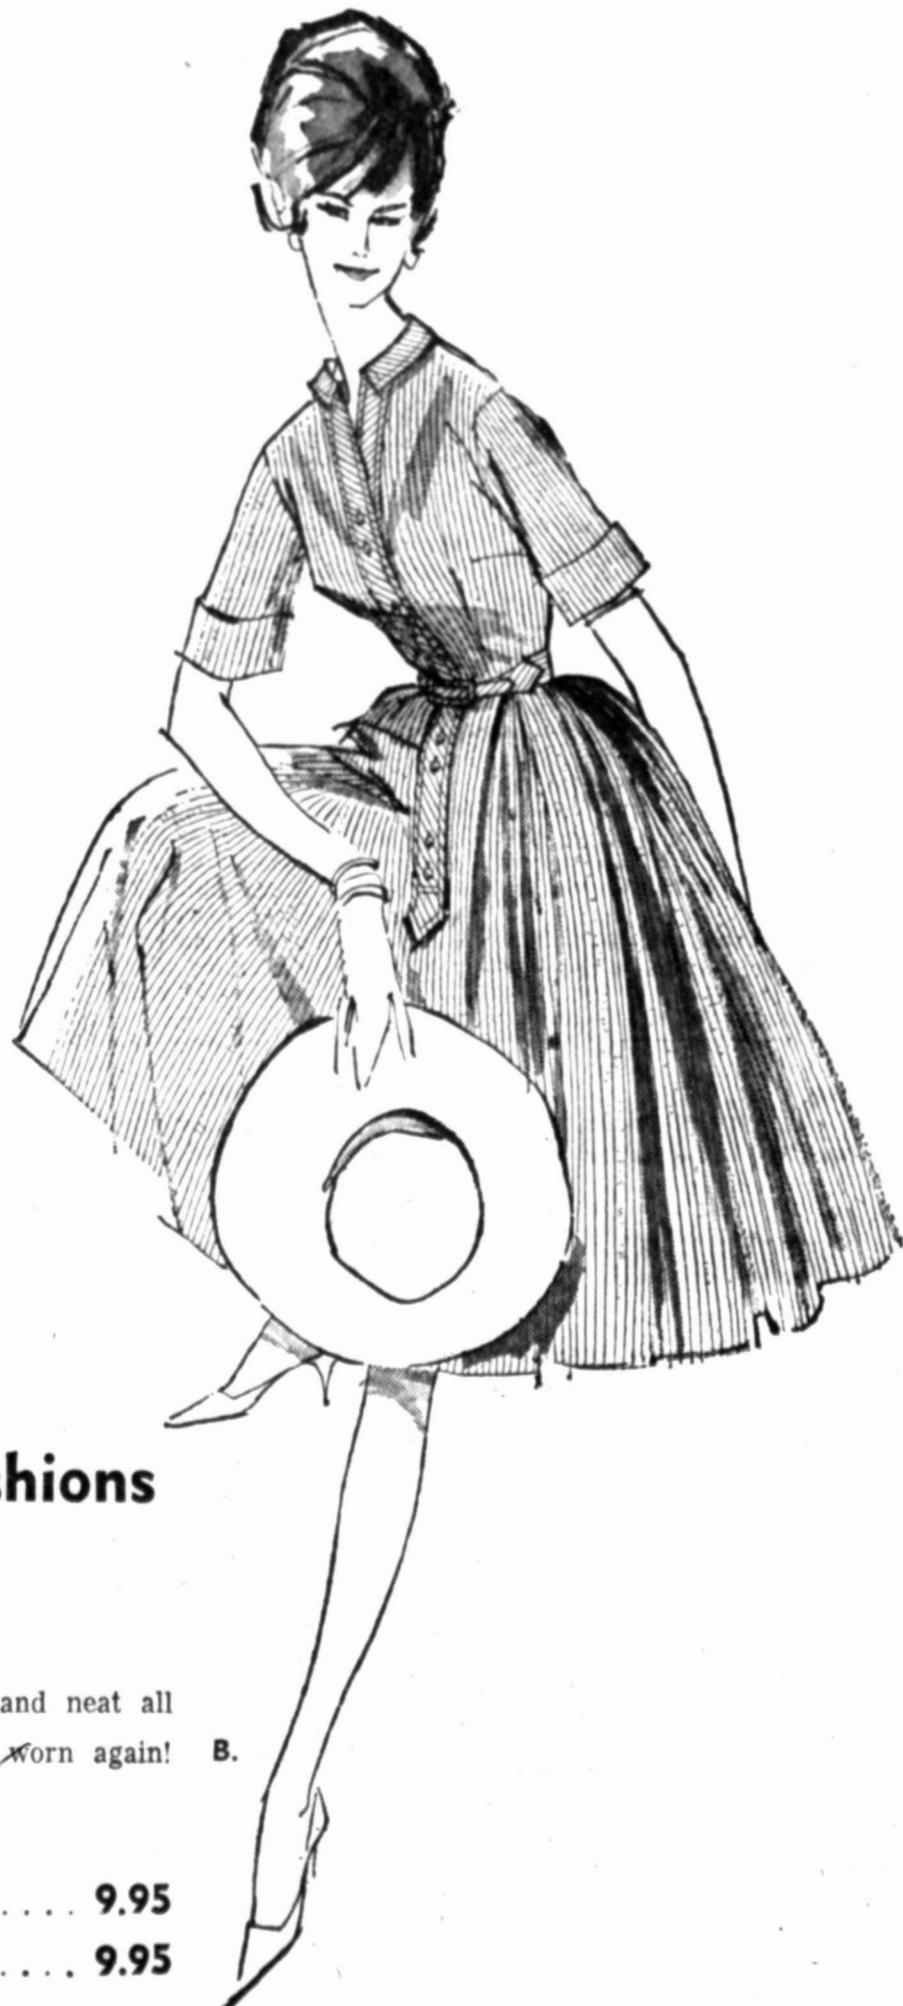

Any invasion by the exiles would be in a force far less than their total number of 135,000 to 150,000 since those total figures include women and children.

Waterfront Blaze

Clouds of black smoke drift with the wind during the height of a blaze along the waterfront area of Bayonne, N.J. The fire was one of many in the area that razed buildings and left a number of persons homeless. The entire Bayonne fire department, including off-duty men, were summoned to the scene with fire-fighters from neighboring communities to battle the stubborn blaze.

Panel Recommends Youth Employment

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top-level study committee recommended to President Kennedy today a broad local, state and federal drive to put a growing army of idle young people into gainful employment.

The 33-member panel headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz warned that although youths aged 16-21 comprise only one out of 14 members of the nation's labor force, they account for one out of six unemployed. The group said the idle youth problem is growing steadily more grave.

The committee—made up of Cabinet members, representatives of labor and management and sociologists—had a wide variety of recommendations, including passage of a plan similar to Kennedy's recommendation to Congress to promote urban-rural youth employment.

This legislation—called the Youth Employment Act—creating make-work in city and country at some $100 million initial cost for 65,000 youths the first year and for 130,000 the second year—has passed the Senate and is pending in the House.

Other recommendations:—Governors and mayors should establish continuing commissions on youth affairs.

—Employers should re-examine their hiring, training and promotion policies.

—Unions and employers should revise contract provisions which unduly restrict the entry of employed youth into beginning jobs.

The committee reported the number of unemployed youths is 600,000 to 800,000 and at the rate things are going will double by 1970.

Legislature In Brief

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislature Tuesday:

Senate: Passed to the House measure to allow state aid for University of Houston graduate programs; let the state make direct medical payments to needy elderly; remove the attorney general from 14 state boards; prohibit flying of the United Nations flag from state buildings; set up a licensing board for funeral directors; permit independent school districts with average daily attendance of 750 or more to consolidate; and have courts instead of the Department of Public Safety set suspension times for drivers' licenses.

House: Refused to approve a proposed constitutional amendment to lower the minimum voting age to 19.

County Receives Tubercular Ruling

Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, has informed Herb Helbig, county agent, that Howard County has been certified as a Modified Accredited Tuberculosis Area. The accreditation extends for six years.

It was determined at the recent re-check for brucellosis in the county—a test of all dairy cattle being made at the same time to determine the existence or non-existence of tubercular stock. Dr. Garrett said the commission was grateful to the county for the cooperative attitude of the residents in the tests.

No Injuries In Bike Accident

A car and a bicycle were in collision at Scurry and Eighth streets at noon today. No one was injured and only slight damage was done to the vehicles.

Wilford Tabor, 18, 506 Lancaster, was riding north on Scurry and attempted to turn onto Eighth on a bicycle. The car, driven by Mrs. J. H. Holman, 801 Gregg, was traveling east on Eighth when the collision occurred.

Oil Report

Sterling Field Gets Second Well

The Triple M (Wolfcamp) field in Sterling County has apparently picked up its second well and a one-half mile south extension.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation No. 2 Parramore, spotting C NW SW, section 61-17, SPRR survey, was treated with 500 gallons of mud-cake and it swabbed 31 barrels of load oil before kicking off and flowing at the rate of six barrels of oil per hour. Flow was on 16-64 inch choke. Tubing pressure was 225 pounds and casing pressure packer was used.

Operator drilled the project to 6,747 feet before plugging back to 6,706 feet. The Wolfcamp has been perforated between 6,689-6284 feet. The venture is about 12 miles southeast of Chalk, in the extreme northwest part of Sterling County.

Stake Field Pair

Two new projects have been filed in area fields by operators.

In Mitchell County, R. S. Anderson has placed the No. 2-35-A Morrison in the Turner-Greasy (Clear Fork) field. Location is 467 feet from the south and east lines of the north-west quarter of section 35-25 in T&P survey, about six miles west of Westbrook. Location is on an 80-acre lease. It is contracted to bottom at 3,400 feet.

Sterling County had a new location picked in the Herrrell (Clear Fork) field about 15 miles west of Sterling City. It is L. E. Foster No. 11 TXL, spotting 6 1/8 feet from the north and 467 feet from the west lines of the southwest quarter of section 1-31-55, T&P survey. Projected bottom of this location is 2,500 feet.

2 Pools Confirmed

Two pools in Runnels County have been given their second producers.

Feed Lot Men Could End Up U.S. Controlled

AMARILLO (AP)—Much of the nation's commercial cattle feeding business would come under federal control if the government wins a suit against a Dallas firm, the Amarillo Daily News said today.

A copyrighted story in the newspaper identified the court proceeding as an injunction suit brought by the Securities and Exchange Commission against Tenth Land & Cattle Co., Inc., and gave these details:

The SEC seeks a permanent injunction against the Dallas-based cattle feeding firm, claiming it operates in violation of the Securities Act.

Named with the company are its owners, Leighton G. Dotson and his wife Kathryn of Dallas, and other officials of the firm.

The newspaper said the issue actually is whether a cow becomes a "security" when fed and maintained on a profit sharing basis by someone other than the owner.

The SEC contends that investment contracts and profit sharing agreements offered by Tenth Land & Cattle Co. are actually securities, and therefore bring the operation under SEC regulation.

"Registering the stock as securities would not greatly affect my income," Dotson said. "But then would come reams of red tape, federal inspectors, and all of my salesmen would have to be federally licensed securities agents."

Paul Engler of Hereford, operator of a 10,000-head capacity feed lot, said such a ruling, if found valid, could possibly bring 25 per cent of all Texas Panhandle feed lot operators under the securities act and possibly more than 50 per cent of the northern feed lot operators.

Severe Weather Warning Out

The Weather Bureau issued a severe weather forecast telling of the possibility of isolated tornadoes Wednesday in portions of the South Plains, Panhandle and North Central Texas.

The forecast was for 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. in an area 60 miles on each side of a line from Lubbock, Tex. to Lawton, Okla.

"Thunderstorms are expected to develop early this afternoon in the Texas Panhandle and thunderstorms currently in southern Oklahoma are expected to increase in number and intensity early this afternoon. A few of these thunderstorms are expected to become severe with a tornado or two likely during the period from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. in an area along and 60 miles either side of a line from Lubbock, Tex. to Lawton, Okla."

Texas cities in the forecast area include Plainview, Lubbock, Childress, Vernon and Wichita Falls.

Grady Lions To Receive Charter

Lions from Big Spring, Midland, Andrews and Stanton are being invited to share in the charter night program of the Grady Lions Club.

The event will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Grady School, midway between Lenorah and Tarzan May 13.

Presentation of the charter will be by David M. Doer, Ellis, Midland, governor of Lions district 2-A-1.

Recently organized the club has as its officers: Grover Springer, president; Charles S. Keen, first vice president; Homer Howard Jr., second vice president; Roger Harsell, third vice president; S. J. Foreman, secretary-treasurer; W. N. Orson, Leonard and reporter; J. A. Jones, O. Jones, tailwiter; J. A. James, H. F. Turner, E. R. Perry and F. L. Ringener, directors.

JFK May Visit Texas Cities

DALLAS (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says President Kennedy may visit major Texas cities this summer.

The vice president said Tuesday that he hopes Kennedy's schedule will permit him to attend a breakfast in Fort Worth, a luncheon in Dallas, a tea in San Antonio and a dinner in Houston.

Johnson mentioned the possibility during a conference with executives and newsmen of the Dallas Times Herald and KRLD.

Local Artists Win At Angelo Show

Big Spring artists captured first places in two divisions of the San Angelo College West Texas Competitive Art show held last weekend at San Angelo College.

Mrs. W. F. Crenshaw took first place in the amateur division, and Mrs. Frank Hartley had second place in this division.

Jimmy Weaver, Big Spring, was first in the junior high school category; Oneida Urzell, Big Spring, was second; Johnnie Jernigen, Big Spring, third.

In the professional class, Mrs. Bill Unger, Big Spring, was accorded honorable mention for her entry. Honorable mention in the junior high class went to Erven Fisher.

Farm Employment

Another in a series of farmer-labor conferences is set Thursday afternoon at the Texas Employment Commission office.

Leon Kinney, office manager, said all farmers needing workers and all farm laborers in search of jobs, should be at the TEC at 1 p.m. Thursday. The conference is for the Howard - Glasscock - Martin county area.

GLASSCOCK Shell No. 4 Crenshaw, C SE SE, section 12-36-34, T&P survey, is preparing to run packer, plug and test tubing.

MARTIN Chambers and Kennedy No. 1 Wade, C SE SE, labor 3-280, Borden, C&I, survey, is drilling below 6,884 feet in Zone 2. Texas State No. 1-233 Knox has perforated the Devonian between 11,910-930 feet and acidized the interval with 200 gallons. The project is bottomed at 12,350 feet. Location is 6,310 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of league 253, Ward CS&I, survey.

Efforts To Save Laos Peace At Breaking Point

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic efforts to save Laos' neutrality and head off civil war in the little Southeast Asian nation edged close to a breakdown today in a shift that triggered U.S. military gestures.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Lord Home brought the deterioration of the diplomatic situation fully into the open by accusing

Stock Market Moves Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved further into new high ground for 1963 in active trading early this afternoon. Trading was active.

Gains of key stocks were mainly fractional, a few going to a point or so.

Oils, nonferrous metals, rails and some of the motors traded briskly. Some specially traded issues made wider gains.

Volume mounted to 2.72 million shares in the first couple of hours. The momentum was not all on the upside, however, as many stocks were unchanged or showed fractional losses.

Dividend increases and a preponderance of first quarter earnings increases helped encourage traders and investors, but the list was at a relatively high level and some profit taking was normal.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 6 1/2 at 279 1/2, with industrials up 6, rails up 4, and utilities up 3 1/2.

The AP average made an all-time closing high Tuesday at 270 3/4, topping its previous historic peak of 269.0 made Nov. 20, 1961—about three weeks before the Dow Jones industrial average and Standard and Poor's 500-stock index reached their all-time highs. Both of these averages are below their historic peaks.

Test Ban Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev talked with the British and American ambassadors today about nuclear test ban problems. The U.S. Embassy announced.

Mrs. Mullinex Retires From Cosden Terminal

Associates at the Orme (Arlington) terminal have paid tributes to Velva Mullinex, who has retired from Cosden Petroleum Corporation after almost three decades of service.

Mrs. Mullinex resided here from 1940-45 and met her husband, Donald R. Mullinex, while he was stationed at the Big Spring Bombardier School.

She was honored at a weekend party at the Howard Johnson Restaurant at Arlington, and 69 friends turned out to help her celebrate the occasion. W. F. Coffman, also retired and now of Clinton, Ark., was on hand to serve as emcee. He was for many years her employer. Her associates presented her with a $500 gift certificate and a distributing company gave her a blender set. Mrs. Mullinex plans to be in Big Spring in June for the meeting of the Cosden 25-year Club.

"You can't imagine how much fun it has been working for Cosden," she said.

Her immediate plans include more attention to her collection of stamps and coins, fishing excursions, organizational activities, and her two grandchildren when they get back to the United States from Guam. Her daughter, Elizabeth, by a previous marriage, and husband, Maj. and Mrs. Sul Ross IV will leave in June for their new station and Mrs. Mullinex will move into her home while they are away.

Mrs. Mullinex was born Velva Ashby in Warsaw, Mo., and moved to Texas at age of 9. She attended Dallas schools, business college and Texas Christian University. On Aug. 1, 1934 she went to work for Cosden under Coffman as telephone operator in the tank car sales department. One of her duties was part-time receptionist and telephone operator, and in this capacity she had the honor of announcing a young man to the then president Henry Zwielfel. He was R. L. Tollett, who accepted Zwielfel's offer to become Cosden's secretary-treasurer and soon became its president. When Cosden headquarters were moved to Big Spring, returning to Fort Worth in 1945 as secretary to Coffman.

the Soviet Union of frustrating British moves to restore peace. As co-chairmen of the international conference which developed the neutrality formula for a "troika" government combine of pro-Communist, neutralist and rightist forces, Britain and the Soviet Union held a key position.

Home, speaking in the House of Lords, based his accusation on the same Kremlin move that U.S. authorities already had diagnosed as an abrupt hardening of the Soviet line—a demand that Britain join in a declaration that the United States is responsible for the outbreak of fighting in Laos. Britain already had refused to accept that accusation as part of a British-Soviet call for a ceasefire, and the United States had rejected it as patently false. The U.S. rejoinder is that the root of the trouble lies in the continuing military drive by pro-Communist forces.

Today Home said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's failure to agree to British proposals for joint action, and his choice to "publish unilaterally his own part in our exchanges" had struck a heavy blow at efforts to help the situation in Laos.

The foreign secretary said the next few days should show whether the Geneva agreement on Laotian neutrality will be allowed to survive.

Commission Okays Beer Sale Requests

Two permits were granted for the sale of beer for on-premises consumption on the third and final reading of ordinances; two were approved on first reading of ordinances; and one rejected, at Tuesday night's city commission meeting. Public hearings were called on three requests.

Two ordinances, for permits at Polly's Cafe, 203 N. Benton, and at the Intrepid 2, Lamesa Drive and NE 7th, had been given special consideration by having them read at a special meeting last Tuesday morning at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant, permitting the operators to open two weeks early.

A request, from Andres Garcia, for an on-premises consumption of beer permit at the Casa Grande, 400 NW 4th, was denied when four persons appeared to protest.

An ordinance was approved, on first reading, granting a permit to King Enterprise at the Desert Sands Motel for the sale of beer for on-premises consumption, following a public hearing. Six persons appeared to protest and Elder B. R. Howze, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church, presented a petition with approximately 80 names opposing the permit.

A second ordinance was approved, on first reading, granting a permit for on-premises consumption of beer at former Susie's Place, at Galveston and West Third. Five residents of the area protested at the public hearing, and two favored. The cafe is to be reopened by Chuck Jones. Ordinances were passed, on

City To Buy New Vehicles

A replacement car for the police, a pickup for the water filter plant superintendent, and cars for the inspection department and street superintendent will be purchased by bid by the City of Big Spring.

The city commission Tuesday authorized the bids and all were included in the vehicle replacement program of the present budget. One trade-in will be an alternate bid for a compact car, a standard six-cylinder car, or a standard eight-cylinder car.

In other business the commission approved a request by the Baptist Temple Church for string banners across East Third and East Fourth Streets at Owens advertising a Youth Evangelistic Crusade, authorized Mayor George Zachariah to sign a supplemental agreement releasing an old building at Webb AFB now owned by the city.

The commission also approved a change in the plat for Highland South Addition No. 3, in which developers have dedicated a continuation of Scott Street, from Macmillan through former lots. The street will be paved by the developers according to city specifications.

None Injured In Minor Accidents

Big Spring police investigated three minor accidents and theft of a tire and wheel during the past 24 hours.

No one was injured in the accidents. Locations of collisions, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: Seventeenth and Gregg, Virgie Greene, 2404 E. 24th, and Jim Protle, Monahans, Fourth and Lancaster, Lydia Gay McHugh, Coahoma, and George S. Smith, 606 1/2 Bell, 310 Gregg, Wesley Newton Morris, 2547 20th, and a parked car owned by Elbert McDowell, 504 NE 11th.

A new tire and wheel were reported stolen from a pickup parked at the home of J. B. Bizzell, 2808 Cactus Drive. He told officers the theft occurred about two weeks ago.

Police were called by an unidentified woman who reported that a man attempted to pick up an 11-year-old girl on West Eighteenth Street. She gave police a description.

Troops Alerted

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—America's biggest military complex in Asia went on alert today apparently because of the rising crisis in Laos. Many troop leaves were canceled and normal peace restrictions tightened.

Texans Robbed, Committee Told

AUSTIN (AP) — Some Texans are "being robbed by the scheming of county commissioners," a Midland oil operator told a House committee Tuesday night.

Hank Avery, the oilman, spoke in favor of a measure to force county commissioners to reset precinct boundaries if the two smallest precincts in a county contain less than 20 per cent of the county's voters.

Avery said one Midland County precinct contains 97 per cent of the voters.

"We are dominated by representation of less than 3 per cent of the voters," he said.

Property in Midland is assessed at 90 per cent of actual value for property taxes whereas some property in other areas of the county is valued at less than 10 per cent of the fair market value, he said.

The commissioners sit as a board of equalization.

John Gavun, a Wichita Falls insurance agent, said Wichita County precincts are divided so that the one including the city contains 18,600 voters, and the other three less than 100 each.

Halleck Cries Blackjack On Postal Service Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck has accused postal officials of "trying to blackjack Congress" out of more money with threats to cut mail service.

The officials, he said, should find some other way of saving money.

One way of doing this, suggested Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., would be for Postmaster General J. Edward Day to put on fewer trucks and equipment and not to take on any new employees.

Pastore and Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., said they saw little chance of the Senate restoring the more than $100 million slashed from postal funds by the House.

The House whacked $92 million from a $4.9-billion budget the department proposed for the fiscal year beginning July 1. It also cut $8.3 million from $166.8 million in supplemental funds to operate the postal service between now and June 30, the end of the current year.

Faced with the economy drive, the Post Office Department sent out telegrams Tuesday to its 68 biggest offices notifying them that the pinch was on. The postmasters were told that as of now they should not hire any new employees and to limit overtime to that paid out during the four-week period which ended March 29.

Day had told Congress previously that the reductions in postal funds could bring about a curtailment of service, including elimination of Saturday deliveries.

Congressional veterans recalled that this lever to pry loose more money has been used successfully before.

During the Eisenhower administration, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield curtailed all postal services on Saturday in a similar dispute with Congress over operating funds. Congress quickly provided additional funds.

Reaction to Tuesday's orders to curb spending and possibly service later was mixed.

Chairman Tom Murray, D-Tenn., of the House Post Office Committee, said the department had no alternative but to cut services.

Rep. Robert J. Corbett of Pennsylvania, senior Republican on Murray's committee, said Congress should give the department the necessary funds.

"The public has a right to expect more service, not less, since we increased postal rates," Corbett said. "The department has no control over the volume of mail, but it does have an obligation to handle the mail. If they don't have the money, they can't give the service."

Literacy In U.S. Down, Prof Avers

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—M. S. Shockley, professor of English literature at North Texas University says a decline in literacy is taking place in the United States, similar to a decline in the standard of English in South Africa.

Shockley, visiting Cape Town University as a visiting professor of American literature, told newsmen the American government recently started a "Project English" to investigate better methods of teaching English.

"The serious decline in literacy in the United States is partly due to educational pressure—the lowering of academic standards with the expansion of population and education, as is happening in South Africa," he said.

Shockley said America's policy is to provide education for every citizen, but there is not enough experienced or competent teachers to meet the demand.

"The public school boards, he explained, established the standards supported by the community.

Macmillan Pressing Hard To Restore Peace Image

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
An AP News Analysis

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, with a general election in sight, is working hard for a new round of Big Three talks to halt nuclear testing—and to restore his public image as an East-West peacemaker.

The U.S. and British ambassadors to Moscow were scheduled to see Premier Khrushchev today to explore prospects for a high-level meeting to break the deadlock in the negotiations for a test-ban treaty.

In continuing personal exchanges with President Kennedy, Macmillan won Washington's backing for the latest probe, which began quietly last Thursday.

Macmillan has vowed to lead his Conservative followers to a fourth successive victory in Britain's approaching general election — expected within a year. His chances of succeeding depend primarily on more effective policies at home, especially in beating unemployment and reviving the national economy.

But a resounding achievement in foreign policy undoubtedly would help Macmillan tremendously. It would hoist Britain's somewhat battered international prestige. It might lure back disenchanted Tories and attract Liberals whose votes are essential if Macmillan's party is to stay in power.

A test-ban treaty would be a political blessing for Macmillan in other ways. It would silence vocal bomb demonstrators whose persistent campaign embarrasses the government. It would enable Britain to continue as a nuclear power without the cost of expanding that power.

In pursuing his quest Macmillan faces the big problem of finding a bridge for the gap between Washington and Moscow over procedures to enforce a test ban.

Steel Labor Cost Rise Less Rapid Than Previously

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate House Committee has been told that in the past four years, the labor cost of producing steel has risen much less rapidly than in the preceding 18 years.

And at a news conference, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges urged users of steel not to use recently announced steel price increases as an excuse for hiking the price of their manufactured goods above the actual new costs.

Testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee Tuesday came from Leon Greenberg, a Labor Department specialist. He told the opening session of a hearing on steel prices that since 1940, the labor cost of producing steel has risen an average of 4.9 per cent every year.

But, he said, from 1958 through 1962, the annual average increase was only six-tenths of 1 per cent.

Greenberg attributed the less rapidly rising labor costs to increasing productivity and a production increase after the 1957 recession. The number of steel production workers declined from 600,000 in 1957 to 480,000 in 1962, he added.

Rep. Robert J. Corbett of Pennsylvania, senior Republican on Murray's committee, said Con-

Reed Silences Longhorn Bats

Andy Reed silenced the Big Spring power after the first inning in pitching the Odessa Bronchos to a 5-2 District 2-AAAB baseball victory here Tuesday afternoon.

The Steers appeared to have Reed on the run the first time they went to bat. Rickey Wisener walked and Bill Andrews followed with a single. Roy New scored both runners by a booming triple and Charley West reached base on a hobble.

West, however, was retired trying to pifer second and Eric Nichols took a third strike to end the inning.

Odessa struck back for four runs in the second to go ahead. With one out, Marty McVey walked and Don Cox singled.

Webb Beaten By Merchants

The Big Spring Merchants topped Webb AFB, 5-2, in a softball exhibition played at Webb Tuesday night.

Cotton Mize fashioned the mound win, setting Webb down with six hits.

Ted Gross collected two of the Merchants' six hits while Jimmy Roger had a double for the winners in the fifth. Mize fanned 11.

The defeat was charged to Bob Pekar. The Merchants could count no more than one run in an inning against him but tallied five of the seven rounds they went to bat.

The Merchants go to Odessa Saturday night for an 8 p.m. exhibition against a traveling club known as The King and His Court.

A passed ball moved up the runners and Ed Conalley singled to plate Bass and Pyfer.

Odessa scored an unearned run in the fifth. McVey legging it home on a fielder's choice after reaching base on a hobble.

After the 'hello' frame, Reed gave the Steers only two hits. New singled in the third while Jack Roden drove a one-baser up the backbone of the diamond in the fourth.

The defeat was the eighth in nine conference starts for Big Spring. Odessa is currently 5-4. Nichols started on the mound for Big Spring but departed in the midst of the second inning.

The Merchants go to Odessa Saturday night for an 8 p.m. exhibition against a traveling club known as The King and His Court.

QBC BOARD MEETS AT 8

The Board of Strategy of the Big Spring Quarterback Club will hold an important meeting in the High School Cafeteria at 8 o'clock this evening.

Omar Jones, co-captain, has urged that all members who were not notified personally to be in attendance.

Among the items to be discussed are the 1963-64 budget, membership ticket sales, setting a date for the pre-season barbecue honoring the football team and the setting of the price scale for the annual spring football game between the Exes and the 1963 club.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The son of a one-time Big Spring football great, Olie Cordill Jr., a sophomore-to-be, is about the most talked-about grid prospect on the Memphis State University team this spring.

Young Cordill transferred to Memphis State from Southwestern Louisiana after his freshman year and spent last fall on the sidelines as a "freshie."

His coach Billy 'Spook' Murphy says the youngster has "all the tools to be a great one."

Murphy is understandably cautious about lading out any praise to a player he has never seen under fire but says that Olie Jr. possesses the speed, the passing arm and the assorted other equipment generally included in such lists.

Cordill won't be a starter at quarterback for the Tigers next fall, according to my friend, scribe Charley Gillespie of the Memphis Commercial-Appeal. Russell Vollmer will be back and Gillespie says Vollmer is one of the best in the South.

Memphis State was 8-1 last season and should do as well this fall, although Murphy has arranged a tougher schedule for them.

Forsan Athlete Is In Hospital

H. K. Elrod, star athlete at Forsan High School, is in the Medical Center Hospital at Odessa (Room 253) after having been injured in the Regional track and field meet at Odessa last Saturday.

Elrod suffered an injury to his pelvic bone and may be confined to the hospital for as long as two weeks. He can have visitors, however.

When allowed to go home, he may have to remain in bed for as long as two months. H. K. is a senior.

Elrod is one of the best in the South. Russell Vollmer will be back and Gillespie says Vollmer is one of the best in the South.

SO THINKS BOBBY LAYNE Exiled Stars Taking Bum Rap

By TOMMY HART When John F. Kennedy achieved his paper-thin victory over Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential race, the result set off a chain reaction that led to the expulsion from pro football of two of its best-known players, Paul Hornung and Alex Karras.

So reasons one of football's most outspoken and colorful personalities, Bobby Layne.

Layne expounded on the subject while visiting here from his home in Lubbock Tuesday to check on his business interests. The all-time National Football League great, now in the evening of a fabulous career, owns the Bowl-A-Rama on East Highway Interstate 20.

Once John Kennedy was sworn in as president, reminded Layne, he appointed his brother, Bobby, as U.S. Attorney General and the younger Kennedy immediately began a crusade to put the heat on the gambling element. Bobby Kennedy shortly asked the leaders in professional sports to firm up their policing systems and help drive the unsavory element from athletics.

Pete Rozelle, the youthful (age 37) commissioner of the NFL and a man who perhaps felt the need to solidify his public image, was one of those inclined to cooperate with the Attorney General. When the newspapers began to suggest that more than a little betting on certain games was going on among players, Rozelle launched an investigation that eventually led to the expulsion of Hornung and Karras from the game.

Layne takes a rather dim view of the anti-gambling drive. He doesn't think the banishment of the Green Bay great and the Detroit lineman will stop the betting or reform the players.

Layne takes no issue with a man's political tenets and he holds no brief with moralists who mourn for mankind's dearth of ethics. If pro football is sick, however, then all America is in need of medical attention, he contends.

The issues which led to the banishment of Hornung and Karras were as innocent as an avalanche, Layne reasons—and had about the same devastating results.

"What rules are going to be set up to decide who can bet what?" he asks. "Why is it any more wrong to bet $100 than it is $1, or a soft drink?"

For associating with bad characters, that's a lot of hogwash," he continued. "Pro football players are well known everywhere they go, and people seek them out. We can't ask for a character reference of everyone we meet. A lot of people come up and want to talk to us. It wouldn't be good business to refuse to associate with them. How do we know whether or not they're gamblers?"

Layne doesn't know Karras very well but thinks Alex blundered in confessing something he wasn't guilty of or had no intention of confessing.

Karras, on a TV program which was taped and later carried nationwide, admitted he had placed a few bets on games in which he appeared—but never against his own club.

Of Hornung, Bobby has the highest regard. He says he never met a nicer fellow in pro sports and he reasons Paul took a bum rap for something in which he got innocently involved.

The blond-haired Texan, who at 205 pounds looks in better physical trim than he has in several years, says he is undecided about his future in professional ball.

His coach and good friend, Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers, has been trying to get him to quit.

Layne would like to remain in the game if he could land a coaching job in pro football "close to home"—meaning Lubbock.

"My kids are getting to the age where they'll soon be gone," he points out. "I want to stay around and be with them more."

Layne's oldest, a boy, will be a sophomore in Lubbock High next fall and reportedly is quite a corner in football. Like his father, the boy is a quarterback.

Layne has been in the pro game 15 years and has shattered practically all of Sammy Baugh's passing records but he's not certain which ones he holds. He has already thrown more touchdown passes than Baugh and completed more aeriads.

"I also hold an all-time record of which I'm not so proud," he said, laughing. "I've had the most passes intercepted."

Layne still doesn't think the rival American Football League will make a go of it.

"Those club owners are going to get tired losing money," he points out. "I wouldn't be surprised to see our league take the two strongest clubs in the league and become a 16-team circuit."

Layne attributes the tremendous growth of pro football to two things. (1) television and the revenue that comes with it and (2) the lackluster brand of the game that is being offered in college ball today.

The Pittsburgh veteran, who experienced his greatest success and fame with the Detroit Lions, thinks highly of Charley Johnson, the local product quarterbacking the St. Louis Cardinals.

"St. Louis is a coming ball club," he stated. "They're always unpredictable. John David Crow, when he can hold onto the ball, is one of the finest ball carriers in the game. They usually beat you badly or get beat pretty badly. We always hated to play them."

Layne thinks he works for one of the finest and fairest men in the game in club owner Art Rooney.

"Rooney," he revealed, "was offered the job of commissioner but he had to turn it down due to other interests. Even today, his boy makes up the schedule for the entire NFL."

Pro football players never had it so good as they do today, says the hardened veteran.

"Top linemen can make up to $17,500 or more. The backs can do better. Baseball? The minors are a hard grind. I know, I used to play that down there. There are four or five big stars in baseball making the big money but the minimum salary is $7,500 in the big leagues and a lot of players are working for that."

"Pro baseball is killing itself, too, with its slow tactics," he reflected. "The people like our game because everything moves."

Frank Howard's Rap Saves Alston's Job, For Nonce

By MIKE RATHER Associated Press Sports Writer

When we last looked in on Walt Alston he was tied to the railroad tracks with a speeding train looming in the distance. In his latest episode, the Los Angeles Dodgers manager spent more than two hours hanging by his thumbs from a high precipice.

The latest chapter of the serial entitled "Walt Alston Doesn't Smile Anymore" ended when Frank Howard pulled him off the cliff by slamming a home run with two out in the ninth inning to give the Dodgers a 2-1 victory over Milwaukee.

The Dodgers, hitting a collective 220 had Alston hanging on as they managed only a second-inning single by Ken McMullen off Milwaukee starter Bob Shaw until Howard's blow. The Dodgers how ever held on to a 1-0 lead behind the sharp pitching of left-hander Sandy Koufax.

Then, in the seventh inning, Alston began to lose his grip when Koufax suddenly pulled a muscle in his left shoulder while working on a two-hit shut out. Hank Aaron's homer in the ninth tied the score 1-1.

A report from the clubhouse indicated the injury suffered by Koufax, who was sidelined most of last season with a circulatory ailment in his finger, was not serious.

St. Louis and San Francisco moved into a tie for first place. The Cardinals pounded 17 hits and crushed Houston 15-0 while Ernie Broglio pitched a two-hitter, and the Giants whipped Cincinnati 4-2 behind Juan Marichal's six-hitter.

Pittsburgh dropped to third as the Chicago Cubs scored six runs in the fourth inning—more than they had scored in any previous game—and rolled to a 7-2 victory over the Pirates. The New York Mets and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

In the American League, Baltimore shut out Minnesota 1-0. Kansas City downed Detroit 3-1 and the Los Angeles Angels edged Washington 5-4 in 10 innings. The only other game scheduled—Boston at New York—was postponed due to cold weather and wet grounds.

Howard's homer off reliever Claude Raymond, only the second hit of the night for the Dodgers and their fourth homer of the season, raised his average to .302. He is third in the league in batting and has hit two of the Dodgers' homers, the other providing Koufax with a 2-0 victory over Houston last Friday.

Ron Perranoski, working in relief of Koufax, wound up with the victory this time. Shaw left for a pitch hitter in the eighth. He allowed an unearned run in the second inning when Moose Skowron was hit by a pitch. McMullen singled and Dennis Menke booted Nate Oliver's grounder.

Broglio, winning his second without a loss by hurling his second two-hitter, lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 0.82. The Colts attack consisted of Al Spangler's bunt single in the third inning and a double by Bob Lillis in the seventh.

Bill White and Ken Boyer led the Cardinals attack against loser Jim Golden and three successors. White collected three runs batted in with four singles and scored three runs while Boyer drove in four runs with two singles, an infield out and a bases-loaded walk.

There also were plenty of fireworks at San Francisco, where Marty Keough hit a disputed foul out of the park in the ninth inning with a man on base before going down swinging for the final out. The Reds claimed Keough's blow was a homer. They lost and

Lasater Prospers In Meet Against Lone Star Foes

COMMERCE—The East Texas State endermen try their luck at the Drake Relays this weekend after finishing second among three Lone Star Conference teams at Beaumont Saturday.

R. L. Lasater of Big Spring was the big gun for the Lions against Lamar Tech and Sam Houston. Lasater won the 100 and 220 in addition to anchoring the winning 440 and mile relay teams.

Lasater ran a 9.6 to win the 100 yard dash and came back to win the 220 with a time of 22.1 around the curve. Lasater ran the anchor leg for the 440 relay team that was clocked at 42.9 and again ran last to give the mile relay quartet a time of 3:15.2.

Other members of the sprint relay team were Keith Newell, Basil Clark and Ronnie McNeill. Clark, McNeill and Lasater teamed with Morris Kysner in the mile relay.

Joe Clifton added another ET first place as he won the 330 in intermediate hurdles in 39.0. Clifton also ran a 15.1 to give the Lions a third in the high hurdles.

Lasater Sikes added the only other first place for the Lions as he pole vaulted 14.6 to tie Lamar Tech's Mickey Nash for the number one spot in that event.

McNeill was second, Kysner third, and Clark was fourth to LeBlanc of Lamar Tech in the quarter mile. LeBlanc was clocked at 47.7 while McNeill ran a 48.4 run. Newell, a third in the 220 and a fourth in the 100. David Hales, a second in the 880, and Bob Green, a third in the broad jump.

The Lions will enter the 440, 880 and mile relays and the pole vault at Drake. East Texas, which incidentally will be one of two honor teams in the meet, will have Newell, Clark, McNeill and Lasater in the sprint relay.

Swimmers Lead U.S. Surge In S. Paulo

By JERRY LISKA Associated Press Sports Writer

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The United States' young swimmers, rapidly becoming this country's leading gold collectors, have put together a near-perfect performance in their first four finals of the Pan-American Games.

The youthful Yanks finished one-two in three of the swimming finals Tuesday, one-three in the other, smashed three games records and equaled another one in wiping away the gloom that had followed the humiliating 13-1 baseball loss to Cuba on Sunday.

The brilliant performance boosted the United States gold medal total to 10 going into the fifth day of activity today. No other country has more than a single gold medal. The United States' strong track team has yet to begin competition.

The swimmers, incidentally, are following the lead of their 1950 Olympic counterparts, who won 11 of the United States' 34 gold medals, compared with nine by the highly publicized track squad. Chet Jastrzemski, Ed Bartsch and Kathy Ellis set meet records in winning their swimming specialties, and Steve Clark matched the meet record in winning the 100-yard freestyle.

Their spectacular showing offset another tennis upset. Allen Fox, Los Angeles, seeded second in men's singles, fell before Brazil's Carlos Fernandes, 6-2, 6-0, 3-6, 2-6, 6-4. The other U.S. entrant, Frank Froehling, was ousted Monday.

The U.S. women, however, continued in strong showings with straight set victories in the quarter-finals. Darlene Hard, Long Beach, Calif., and Carole Caldwell, Los Angeles, each won easily in singles and combined for a doubles quarter-final triumph.

Jastrzemski, an Indiana University student from Toledo, clipped two seconds off his own games record and won the 200-meter breaststroke in 2 minutes, 35.4 seconds. Ken Merten, Pacoima, Calif., was second.

Bartsch, from the University of Michigan, beat Charles Bittick, Long Beach, by a touch in meet

Panel Readies Cuban Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Preparedness subcommittee is preparing to issue its report on the Soviet military buildup in Cuba. Reportedly it will blister government agencies for not acting sooner on intelligence reports that the Soviets were bringing in missiles and troops.

The subcommittee is understood to be working out the final wording of the report summarizing what it learned from its investigation of Soviet strength on the island.

Well-placed sources said a major problem now confronting the senators is getting agreement with military and intelligence agencies on whether some language in the report should be amended or stricken to avoid tipping off intelligence secrets.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., conducted its hearings in closed sessions.

The senators reportedly were in agreement on the gist, but not necessarily the exact language, of a finding that Central Intelligence Agency and State and Defense Department evaluations substantially underestimated early intelligence information that the Russians were placing offensive missiles and thousands of men in Cuba.

Photographic evidence obtained by reconnaissance flights over Cuba last October finally confirmed that the reports were true, the administration has said, and President Kennedy then declared a quarantine on offensive arms shipments to Cuba.

The naval blockade was ended after the Soviet Union removed the "offensive weapons"—missiles and bombers—after days of crisis and the threat of nuclear war.

The October crisis began and ended while Congress was out of session.

Stennis ordered the investigation "to get all the facts" after he and some of Congress members cited reports that Cuba was still a Soviet fortress, stronger than the administration had said.

One of the questions the subcommittee looked into was how many Soviet soldiers were in Cuba during the crisis and how many are there now.

The administration has estimated a high mark of 25,000 Russians. At his April 3 news conference, Kennedy said this number had been reduced by withdrawals to about 13,000.

There have been reports that the number was and is higher. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., has contended that although the Soviet Union has taken out some men it has also brought new ones in. He says about 17,000 are still there.

Others have claimed that Russian manpower still in Cuba may total between 30,000 and 40,000 troops and "civilian technicians."

Biracial Class Leads To Attack

POINTE A LA HACHE, La. (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest has charged a man with assaulting a biracial class in religious instruction.

The complaint has been referred to Dist. Atty. Leander H. Perez Jr. whose father was excommunicated for urging defiance of Catholic school desegregation in the New Orleans area.

The Rev. Frank Ecmovich, 46, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church at Belle Chasse, filed simple battery charges Tuesday against Leonard Henry Mack-enroth.

Laos Peace Threatened

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sudden hardening of the Soviet line on Laos threatened today to wreck diplomatic efforts to preserve that country's neutrality and save it from civil war.

Disclosure of the change in Moscow's attitude came with the publication there Tuesday of charges that the United States is responsible for the recent outbreak of fighting in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was described in dispatches from Moscow as insisting that the accusation against the United States be included in the joint Soviet-British declaration calling for a cease-fire. Britain turned down the Soviet demand.

The Soviet Union and Britain hold key positions in the diplomatic struggle over Laos. As co-chairmen of an international conference which developed a neutrality formula for Laos last year they share responsibility to see that the neutrality agreement is carried out.

After many months of relative quiet, serious fighting broke out earlier this month in the Plain des Jarres where pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces and neutralist troops under Gen. Kong Le hold adjoining territories. The neutralists were thrown back from key positions.

U.S. officials became alarmed last week over the possibility that a serious new Southeast Asian crisis was developing. Over the weekend President Kennedy ordered 7th Fleet units into Southeast Asian waters.

Until Tuesday the State Department had understood that the Soviet Union was cooperating with Great Britain to try to bring the situation under control before the fighting could spread.

The disclosure that the U.S.S.R. was insisting on pinning the blame for the trouble on the United States and had made its charges public after Britain rejected them has caused a re-examination of the prospects here.

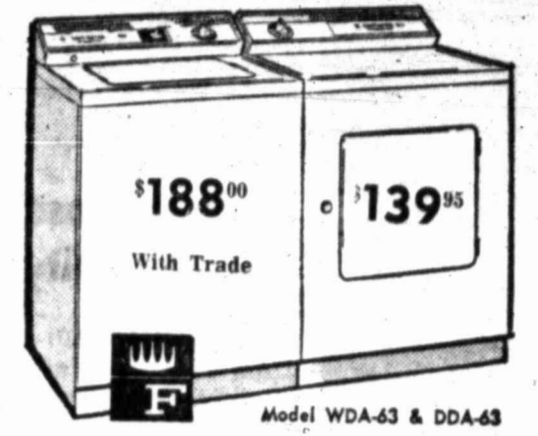

The State Department issued a brief, cautiously worded statement rejecting the Soviet charges.

"Soviet insistence on these charges is disappointing," State Department press officer Lincoln White said. "The charges are patently false."

White said that the Soviets had made two principal, specific accusations. One was that United States military personnel continues in Laos in violation of the Geneva accords. The other was that the United States has been shipping arms into Laos.

Mitchell Acquitted On 'Shakedown'

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Mitchell, the Newburgh, N.Y., city manager whose welfare code crackdown two years ago cast him into national prominence, has been acquitted in an alleged shakedown of two housing developers of $20,000.

A codefendant, Lawrence DeMasi Jr., 42, a Hillsdale, N.J., real estate broker, also was acquitted but was re-arrested on a grand larceny charge immediately after the State Supreme Court jury returned its verdict Tuesday.

The new charge stems from the state's claims that DeMasi accepted the alleged $20,000 payoff as a middleman for Mitchell.

DeMasi was released later in $5,000 bail.

It was learned that the jury took nearly a dozen ballots.

The 11 men and one woman deliberated 28 hours after getting the case Monday. Twice they reported to the court they were unable to agree. Justice Joseph A. Sarafite each time told them to try again.

Mitchell, 41, had been accused of demanding $20,000 from twin brothers Stephen and Joseph Wahrhaftig of Monticello, N.Y., in order to get the Newburgh City Council to rezone 11 1/2 acres of property on which the brothers wanted to build a housing project.

If they had been convicted on the bribery and conspiracy charges, Mitchell and DeMasi would have faced a maximum of 20 years in prison.

Mitchell announced after the verdict that he will reinstate himself as Newburgh city manager. He had suspended himself from the post pending outcome of the trial.

Republican council refused Monday night to back Democratic Mayor William D. Ryan's attempt to fire Mitchell "regardless of the outcome of the trial," the mayor commented.

"I don't believe the city manager can just walk into City Hall and reinstate himself. I believe it's a question for the corporation counsel."

Ryan bitterly fought the welfare proposals advanced by Mitchell.

Mitchell had received the backing of the Newburgh Council in his program to remove from the city's relief rolls able-bodied men who refused to work for the city and mothers of illegitimate children who continued to give birth out of wedlock. The courts later tossed out most of his program, which included other crackdowns.

Mitchell contended during his trial that started March 25 that he was framed for his political opinions. As he headed back toward his lower Hudson River Valley community of 31,000 to resume his career, he declared:

"I think I've cleared not only my name but the name of Newburgh."

Tower Checks Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Post Office Committee is awaiting results of a routine check before scheduling action on the nomination of Carlos Palacios to be postmaster at Laredo, Tex., a spokesman said today.

President Kennedy sent Palacios' nomination to the Senate April 11. On April 16 the committee sent notices to Texas Sen. Ralph Yarborough, Democrat, and John Tower, Republican, asking their views.

Questioned on reports that some objection might be raised to the nomination, Yarborough said:

"I know Carlos Palacios. I personally have no objection to him."

Tower, who reported he knew of no objection to Palacios at this point, said he asked friends in Laredo on whether they think Palacios is qualified.

The nomination of Palacios was made by President Kennedy on the recommendation of Rep. Joe Kilgore, D-Tex.

Palacios, a rancher and a former Webb County judge, was recommended by Kilgore Sept. 30 to be acting postmaster of Laredo in succession to the then acting postmaster, George Scratchley.

"I recommended Palacios for regular appointment to the Laredo post office only after conducting a competitive civil service examination," Kilgore said.

In Idyllwild, Calif. folk singers Josef Marais and Miranda say they returned from a two-month concert tour to find they had a new carpet in the living room—made of grass. They figured it out this way: During their absence, a water pipe burst and thoroughly irrigated the interior of their mountain cabin. Sunlight streamed through the big picture windows which look out on the San Jacinto Mountains. The grass seed must've come in on their boots, they said. Water and sunlight caused the grass seeds to sprout.

U. S. Army To Send Unit To Thailand On Maneuvers

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Army will send a battle group of about 1,500 infantrymen into Communist-threatened Thailand next month for maneuvers.

Although the move had been planned for months, it will come as another show of American force in the troubled Southeast Asian area.

The soldiers will be drawn from the 25th Infantry Division stationed in Hawaii. They will join with military units of other Southeast Asia Treaty nations in maneuvers scheduled for June 11-19. More than 24,000 men from all SEATO nations are due to take part in the exercises.

The 25th is the division that provided troops for a U. S. show of force in Thailand 11 months ago when Communist forces in neighboring Laos appeared to be driving toward the Thai border.

Washington authorities believe the current threat to Thailand is about as great as the one last year, although an uneasy cease-fire appears to be in effect after renewed fighting between pro-Communist forces and neutralist troops in Laos.

4,000 MARINES

In May 1962 the United States sent 4,000 battle-ready Marines and Army infantrymen into Thailand to reinforce about 1,000 American soldiers already there in connection with SEATO maneuvers. The Americans, supported by two squadrons of Air Force F100 jet fighters and Marine A4D Skyhawk jets, took up positions in northeast Thailand where they could repel any incursions across the Mekong River boundary from Laos.

Backing up these forces were elements of the powerful U. S. 7th Fleet. Units of the 7th Fleet are again reported steaming toward the Gulf of Siam.

There were no Communist attempts to penetrate Thailand last year, so far as is known.

The U. S. Marines and infantrymen were pulled out gradually. The last American ground elements left in November after the 14-nation Geneva Agreement set up a coalition government in Laos—a coalition the Communists appear to be trying to unhorse.

The Thai army of more than 100,000 men has undergone an added year of intensive training with the help of about 400 U. S. military specialists.

One authority said the Thais now are well equipped with reasonably modern gear and in shape to "give a good account of themselves."

QUIETLY HELPING

Over the past year the United States quietly has been helping the Thais improve their roads and communications. About 2,600 American soldiers, chiefly engineers and signal troops are in Thailand doing this work as well as preparing and manning supply depots.

Officials said a U. S. construction battalion is building a long airstrip in the Nakhon Phanom area of eastern Thailand and that this field should be ready in June, a region adjoining Laos, that the poverty-ridden natives had been most receptive to the Communists, U. S. authorities said. They believe the threat of infiltration is greater there.

U. S. military officers generally have been skeptical all along that the Geneva-born coalition would last.

There is no enthusiasm about any prospect of fighting in Laos where an absence of railroads, airfields and good highways would make it tough to sustain operations by American troops.

The Communists and their allies hold about two-thirds of Laos, mostly jungle and mountain areas.

MIGHT MOVE OVER
It is conceivable — if the Red-leaning Pathet Lao and their Communist North Vietnamese allies appear to be overrunning the lowlands—that American forces might move across the Mekong and occupy the Laotian administration capital of Vientiane and other strategic points.

But if last year's precedent is followed, the United States would hold the line of the Mekong River to preserve the independence of Thailand which—along with South Viet Nam—is regarded as a main prop of the anti-Communist position in Southeast Asia.

Need To Fill The Post
County commissioners have received an application for the post of county engineer. The post has been filled on an acting basis only since the resignation of Walter Parks a couple of years ago.
That seems long enough. The back log of planning left at that time has been exhausted, and with the commendable program laid out by the court, there is going to be an increasingly greater need for professional engineering.
The matter of applications is one which the court needs to weigh, and the best qualified one selected. The law and the spirit of the law lay out the qualifications as a licensed engineer, one proven both by training and by experience.
Budgetary provision has been made and the post can and should be filled. This need not, and should not, disturb any of the existing personnel, nor should there be any disposition to cut back pay of those who have been serving on an interim basis. They will be just as valuable in their roles when an engineer is retained, and one way to recognize this is by not disturbing their scales unless there is a great lightening of loads.
At any rate, we need to pursue the matter of an engineer in the engineer's post.

Tenacious Radiation
To the serious failures in the proper application of science can now be added the unexpected intensity and duration of an artificial radiation belt created by a high-altitude nuclear explosion last July.
There has been "little decrease in the intensity of trapped radiation" created by the nuclear blast 250 miles above Johnson Island in the Pacific, said Dr. Ludwig Katz of the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratories. This condition may persist for a decade or more, he added.
The artificial radiation belt has interfered seriously with the performance of orbiting satellites, reports indicate. It may, too, pose at least a short-term hazard to any manned orbiting capsule. The effects of the experiment, in short, were not predicted.
If we continue to fail to anticipate the potentially harmful effects of detergents, insecticides, atomic fallout and nuclear radiation in space we can be fairly charged with reckless disregard of the consequences. The eagerness of medical researchers to experiment with new drugs is responsibly controlled by a careful period of testing. Yet the future of the human race may be jeopardized on other fronts where there is no real control.

Facing Postwar Readjustments
WASHINGTON—"Selective" price increases have been in the news lately, and now President Kennedy has become "selective" in the arguments he is using in an attempt to justify a cut in tax revenues simultaneously with increases in federal deficits that are expected to result from higher government spending.
The President, however, is ignoring some of the important economic facts of life. His critics can become "selective," too, and point out that Mr. Kennedy has not really explained what caused the $12 billion deficit of 1958 and the recession that has continued with only slight improvement during the last five years.
ONE SALIENT fact, often overlooked nowadays, stands out in history. It is that on the economic front in the last 50 years recessions and depressions have been caused basically by war and its aftermath.
To say, as Mr. Kennedy did last Friday, that the failure of Congress to permit the debt limit to go up in 1958 and the resultant stretch-out in defense spending brought on the recession is to oversimplify.
RECESSIONS and depressions are really major readjustments in the national economy—periods of transition from abnormal to what is hoped will be a normal posture in business and employment. When the first world war broke out in Europe in August 1914 and for nearly two and a half years thereafter, America suffered a severe loss in world trade but things began to boom when America entered the war in April 1917. The after-effects of the war—the painful readjustment—were felt first in 1919 and 1920, and the recession came in 1921.
UNFORTUNATELY, one readjustment doesn't cure a postwar decline in the economy. So America struggled unsuccessfully through the 1920's in an attempt to overcome what was widely called at the time "a profitless prosperity." Finally, the whole world experienced a major depression, which began in 1929. Some of the European nations recovered to some extent, but America went through the 1930's with an average of nearly 10 million unemployed and unprecedented deficits. Government spending failed to bring about an adjustment to the economic consequences of World War I.
IT WAS NOT until after the European countries began to buy heavily from the United States in 1940 to enable them to fight World War II, that the economy of this country got a big lift and unemployment was relieved. Then, when America entered the war in 1941, the whole business situation received a spending stimulus which continued through 1945. This was the longest and largest period of government spending which America had ever experienced during a war. The first recession of the postwar era then came in 1946, but it was not until 1949 that the second recession—which is usually far

A School For Husbands? Why Not?

Editor's Note: A recent proposal by columnist Hal Boyle that our educational system set up schools to train women for wifehood drew considerable applause from ladies across the land. We think also demanded with admirable feminine logic "Why not schools for husbands, too?"

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Schools for husbands?
Why not?
Our present educational system does a pretty good job of preparing young men for the ordeal of earning a living. Research shows that, on the average, the better an education a man has the more likely he is to break into the higher income brackets.
But, as someone once remarked, "Money isn't everything."
A successful career satisfies only one of the main goals of manhood. The other goal is a successful marriage. For this our present educational setup doesn't prepare a fellow
All he really knows about women is what the big boys told him when he was little or what he learned in his high school course in hygiene. The rest of the vast geography of femininity is a puzzle to him until he marries—and often for many, many years afterward.
He approaches marriage as he does a lottery, blindly hoping chance will give him a winning ticket. He usually has one of two ideas about it: he either wants a girl just like the girl who married dear old dad—or he wants one as unlike her as possible.
This is all wrong. There should be a school he could attend which would teach him how to be a husband instead of letting him learn by trial and error the difficult art of living with a member of the opposite sex.
What good is it to teach a man to build a bridge across a river and yet fail to teach him how to span with human understanding the differences that inevitably arise between man and wife in marriage?
MY IDEA is that we'd have a better world if every young man were forced to spend a year in a school for husbands staffed by an all-male faculty made up entirely of men who'd celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries.
What would a graduate of such a school be like?
Well, he would know how to burp a baby.
When his wife had something to say to him, he would give her his full attention, and not just sit there reading a newspaper and numbing "uh huh."
He would be the disciplinarian in the family. If the kids needed a whacking, he'd do the whacking.
Should his wife have a job that paid more money than he earned, he wouldn't whine about it, but graciously help her to spend the dough—with both hands.
When his wife showed up at breakfast with her hair in curlers, he would never, never say, "Good morning, Mrs. Dracula. Have a nice night!"
He would give up a poker game to go with her to a P-TA meeting.
Never would he criticize the job she did of hanging the wallpaper, or annoy her with a leaky faucet or a balky vacuum cleaner.
HE WOULDN'T leave old photos of his pretty high school sweetheart around for his wife to find and cry over on rainy days.
He would express total admiration of all her relatives at all her relatives at all times, but let her handle the problem of lending them money.
He would light her cigarette in the presence of company.
Once every two months he would insist on taking her out to dinner no matter how much she protested she'd rather stay home, and at least once every five years he'd take her dancing.
On her birthday he'd wash the dishes—well, dry them anyway.
On every wedding anniversary he'd bring her a red, red rose for every year they'd been married, sweep her up in his arms, kiss her firmly and tell her, "Honey, you make my world. If it weren't for you, I'd be nothing but a miserable old bum."
Schools for husbands? Why not? What's to lose?

WRONG DOOR DEPT.: Education had its day at the White House and it was some day. When President Kennedy visited the Education Department in 1962, he was met by the arm and escorted her out.
CAMPAIGN CASH: The right-wing wing of American politics will spend more money in the 1964 elections than the Democratic and Republican National Committees together, says a former Democratic official.
Wesley McCune, now director of Group Research, Inc., told the Women's National Democratic Club Monday that despite 1962 election setbacks, the right wing is still growing in number, size, financial support, techniques and leadership.
"Several such groups," he said, "are in the million-dollar-a-year bracket. And others which some of you might think are dead are taking in several hundred thousand dollars a year."
MAKES A DATE: By dialing 1964 on a special telephone, President Kennedy made a Leap Year date.
His call started a contraption which will count off the seconds until the opening of the New York World's Fair. He told a crowd gathered at the fair site in Flushing Meadows Park.
"Three hundred sixty-six days from today I plan to attend your opening."
After the ceremony, one of the women in the Osley party discovered she had left her briefcase behind. She started back for it, opened a door, and found herself in the President's washroom, with the President.
She reported he politely took her

There Are Lots Of Ideas About Canker Sores
By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dr. Dr. Holmes! What causes canker sores? How can they be cured or prevented?—D. W.
There are various notions about the cause—and maybe you've heard of the medical axiom: the more cures that are proposed for something, the less we really know about it.
When we know the exact cause, it then becomes easy to establish the exact cure.
So we have lots of ideas about canker sores. It may be that several causes are responsible, or maybe a combination of them.
Allergy is often indicated—sensitivity to some food or other—citrus fruits, chocolate, nuts, etc. Keeping a "food diary" is helpful in trying to connect outbreak of cankers with something you have eaten.
The problem is common among women, and sometimes it seems to be related in the menstrual cycle.
Some think cankers are a result of low-grade infection.
Emotional turmoil has been suggested.
With such a variety of suspected causes, no wonder we have a variety of answers. Remedies which, in my experience, seem to have been successful in some cases, include:
Touching the spots with silver nitrate.
Avoiding foods which have been

Around The Rim
Crisis In Texas Higher Education

Writing recently in the Phi Beta Kappa Key Reporter, Otto F. Kraushaar said that "It is not enough to rest the case with a clamorous appeal for intelligent and competent leaders. Intelligent followers are indispensable in a democratic society; for the locus of power in such a society rests in the final analysis on the consensus of informed, mature people possessed of the good sense to recognize the right course and the courage to follow it, whatever the difficulties."
THUS IS SUCCINCTLY stated the necessity of broad-based quality education. William P. Steven, editor of the Houston Chronicle and a Texan by choice, has sounded the trumpet call of urgency for this necessity. In an article entitled "Crisis in Texas Higher Education" (which thoughtful Texans ought to read), he says: "If the colleges and universities of the state of Texas were to be closed for a year, it would be a national scandal. We'd be accused of wasting the time of our 200,000 ablest young people. Yet today we waste their time when we give them something less than the best in higher educational opportunity... time is (man's) one irreplaceable asset."
HE STATES the critical problem as: 1) Catching up ("we're badly behind the average of the nation and even farther behind the best states"); 2) keeping up ("The average state is improving at a faster rate than we are."); and 3) getting ahead ("Texas cannot progress without academic leadership. We need not worry about the missile gap until we solve the ignorance gap").
This might be regarded as gifted rhetoric except that he parades some damning facts: Texas is below the national average in professorial salaries (only $10 per year above the 16 Southern states, notoriously the lowest in the country); below the average in scholarship funds ($28.57 per student nationally, $23.67 in the South, $17.51 in Texas); below the average in library support (42 per student nationally, $41 in the South, $39 in Texas); off the pace in student-teacher ratios (16 nationally, 18 in the South, 19.6 in Texas); below the average in private gifts and grants ($199 nationally, $192 in the South, $175 in Texas); below the average in general support per student ($1,183 nationally, $1,129 in the South, $1,025 in Texas);

THIS IS SIMPLY catching up. The problem is multiplied when we realize that "the educational leader never falls as low as the average." Texas is well above the Southern average in percentage going to college, and in the type of population which is likely to contribute more college population.
Getting ahead, says Steven, involves three things: 1) sensible use of money we now have; 2) creation of genuine respect for teachers and their right to teach ("Texas has national leadership in one area—two of 13 colleges under censure for infringement of academic freedom are in this state."); and 3) development of the finest resources for honing the finest brains to their sharpest edge—right here in Texas. We've got to stop exporting our best brains.
HE QUOTES DR. LLOYD V. BERKNER, director of the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest, to the effect that wealth was acquired previously through application of labor to basic resources, "but now an intervening ingredient—brain power—must be available to provide the innovation that can now extend our economy into new products and new services."
Well, what is the Texas attitude—that of the woman who told Steven that if professors are as devoted to learning as we say they are, why should we care? Or are we willing to face the hard truth and then put first things first?

Not Art, But Anti-Art

There's a screw loose in the art world, all right, and it isn't among the customers or vox pop.
The bats are in the belly of the so-called practitioners of art in 1963, in the scruffy beatnik hang-outs of the alleged art world and in the avant garde critics and judges who have no more taste or talent than the "artists" whose work they are called upon to judge.
THE PHILISTINES of 1963, or the practicing squares, are—for the most part, a few times in history—on the inside looking out. The inmates are really running the asylum.
These long, long thoughts are prompted by two typical events in the "art" world. First, a 22-month-old child, making daubs of black paint on white paper, was solemnly awarded a prize for her "beautifully designed and exciting" work by the judges of an art show in South Gate, Calif.
NOT UNTIL after they had made their award to 22-month-old Theresa Bates did the judges learn her age or that her daddy, an artist, had given her brush and paper to amuse herself and then entered the stuff in the show.
Second, at the Thirteenth Annual Festival Art Show in Tucson, Ariz., Dr. Thomas W. Leavitt, director of the Pasadena Art Museum, awarded a prize to a dirty, blood-stained shirt glued to a huge piece of dark canvas, and titled "Crucifixion." Shades of El Greco!
COLLAGES ARE BIG in the "art" world today. Any number can play you too, can paste a dirty shirt on a piece of canvas, or a pair of old Levi's. It occurs to me that I could probably carry off a prize with a collage consisting of an old broken and dirty (always, make it dirty) evening slipper glued to a canvas together with a few sponges and a whole of a broken beer bottle, and the whole thing pompously titled, "The Rejected Cinderella."
ANOTHER COLLAGE in the Tucson show consisted of the description reads, "in the collecting and mounting of garbage, pinball machine, splintered bits of wood and signs with crude messages." The Tucson critic had the courage to say, "It hardly seemed worth the effort."
It is not modern art, as such, that is bringing mid-20th Century art into disrepute and much worse, making it ridiculous. The villain is anti-art. For what is being practiced today in many garrets of Greenwich Village and their counterparts across the nation is not art but anti-art.
IT IS NOT art but the height of anti-art to produce a collage of garbage. It is the practice of anti-art at its most irresponsible that such junk can be accepted in a serious art show such as Tucson's, which is supposed to gather annually the best works available by the artists of the seven Southwestern States. Eventually, the craze for anti-art will die out. But it is at its height today. It is accepted by reputable galleries and at important shows to such an extent that the mere practitioner of modern, or moderne art, often has a difficult time getting a showing.
NINE-TENTHS of the persons producing anti-art today couldn't produce a reputable work of art to save their heads and sandals. They are wholly without talent and completely without one of the basic definitions of art given in Funk and Wagnalls College Standard Dictionary, to wit: "artistic mastery or skill."
They are totally devoid of another definition from the same volume: "The principles of artistic construction and aesthetic criticism, or their application."
A rose is a rose is a rose. Anti-art is anti-art. And when it begins to deal in garbage, it has found its true medium.

News Management For National Interest

WASHINGTON—A good many political philosophers—Machiavelli and Albert Jay Nock, among them—have declared that governments have no morality. Killing in war, robbery through taxes, lying for diplomacy are all condoned when done by the governors of mankind, whereas mankind itself forswears murder, thievery and mendacity. There is a double standard, like it or not.
THE OTHER DAY this reporter had an experience with a Kennedy Administration spokesman which gives a modern instance of how little some of our leaders think of truth-telling and how they go in for a subtle form of news management. The official's name doesn't matter, but we were discussing a well-known foreign statesman who is being pressured to let the Reds take over his country.
"The man is very pro-Western," the official told me, "but I hope you won't write it that way."
"Why not?"
"BECAUSE IT would only increase the Communist pressure on him if he were known to be leaning our way."
He went on to explain that it is sometimes better for pro-Western foreign leaders to be castigated in the American press as leftists or neutralists. He said there ought to be two sets of news. One set which tells the truth. The other set which bends the truth in the national interests. It doesn't matter if an "uncommitted" foreign leader berates the U.S.A. as an imperialist warmonger for home consumption, and seems to cuddle up to Communism. All that matters is that he stay on the tight rope called "democracy" or "responsible government," avoiding a fall into the Communist camp on one side or into the pit of rightist dictatorship on the other.
ALTHOUGH THE story isn't hard news, and lacks the coupling of names and tales that is the definition of journalism, it seems worth telling as an insight into a state of mind that prevails in official Washington. The efrontery of news management doesn't always take the form of telling black lies to newsmen, or of jollying them into writing a favorable yarn. It takes the form of appealing to them to bend the truth in the national interest.
IT IS ASKING journalists to become mouthpieces for government policy and to become, in fact, part of the immoral apparatus of government which knows no scruples. Carried to its ultimate end, this practice would take the U.S.A. all the way down the road to a dictatorship which writers, artists, jurists and scientists served the State and expressed themselves accordingly.
IT HAPPENS whenever a newsmen pays the slightest attention to any official who wants him to bend the truth this way or that, for any purpose at all.

DEAR ABBY

The Right Decision

DEAR ABBY: I am 47 and should have more sense. I've been married 18 years to a man who doesn't drink or chase and he is good to me. We have a teen-ager who is a joy to both of us. My husband is quiet and reserved, and I'm just the opposite, but we get along fine. I didn't love him when I married him but I wanted a home and family. I met a man at work recently and scars, or must I learn to live with my mistake?

STILL CARES
 DEAR STILL: Your biggest mistake was getting involved with him in the first place. Your decision was right! When he found a replacement for your "love" in a week, you surely must have realized the shallowness of his feelings for you. That realization AND time should heal your "scars"—and soon.
 DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have been dating this boy, 21, for three months. At first my parents permitted me to see him twice a week, but they have limited me to once a week because they thought we were getting too serious. Are they right in doing this? Please don't say parents know best because they don't always. Isn't it only logical for teen-agers to try to make the most of what time they have together when they are limited? I would like your opinion.

LIMITED
 DEAR LIMITED: Romance progresses a little with each meeting. The more time you spend together, the more serious the romance becomes. Your parents know more about this than you do. Take their word for it. And by the way, a 21-year-old is a MAN, not a boy.
 DEAR ABBY: I certainly sympathize with the lady who wrote concerning her loose-tongued minister. I've had the same experience. My confidences cropped up in two of his Sunday sermons. Now I tell it directly to the Lord.
BUTTONING MY LIP
 DEAR BUTTONING: The shoe fit, so you wore it. But don't forget, you aren't the only one with that size foot!

Dunnam Among New Officers
 Charles Dunnam, assistant cashier for the First National Bank of Big Spring, is one of five new officers to be installed May 17 by the Permian Basin Conference of the National Association for Bank Audit and Operations.

 Dunnam will become the organization's first vice president for 1963-64. During 1962-63 he was second vice president.
 Other officers who will take over at the annual banquet at the Odessa Country Club will be Bob Meyers, Midland National Bank, president; Joe Ernst, First State Bank, Odessa, second vice president; Agnes Bostright, Midland National Bank, secretary; and John Lendrum, First National Bank, Midland, treasurer.
 Directors for the incoming year are Harold Cox, Commercial State Bank, Andrews; Travis Curtis, Iran State Bank; and Ed Lawson, National Bank of Odessa.
 The Permian Basin Conference includes banks from Andrews, Big Spring, Crane, Fort Stockton, Iran, Kermit, McCombs, Midland, Monahans, Odessa, Pecos, Rankin and Wink.

Dr. Peacock Is Fund Chairman

G. E. Peacock, M.D., has been named local area chairman for the Volunteers of America Building Fund Campaign. The announcement was made by Dr. M. E. Sadler, chancellor of Texas Christian University and the campaign's general chairman.
 The Volunteers, a national Christian welfare organization, operates in Fort Worth a non-sectarian and non-profit maternity home-hospital-nursery and adoption agency, serving the Southwest.
 In this agency's first such appeal since its founding in 1917, a statewide drive for $380,000 is being held to build a modern, fire protected building. The new structure will replace the outdated, antiquated and over crowded frame buildings which now house the organization's work.

 The local chairman said that Howard, Martin and Sterling counties are being asked to contribute $7,000 as a share in the total goal.
 During these years of its service to people all over the Southwest, volunteers has placed more than 6,500 babies, and has served more than 16,000 people who needed help. In this particular area, they have helped 90 girls and placed 29 children with adoptive parents. Dr. Peacock said he would appreciate all interested persons, willing to help, contacting him immediately.

Powerful Diesels Move Freight Fast

Texas & Pacific lines use these modern work-horses to pull mile-long strings of freight across the country in modern cars designed for all kinds of loads. One of these trains may have boxcars, refrigerated cars, multi-decked automobile transports, flat cars, oil tanks, gondolas, and chemical cars—and they move fast.

Railroad Freight Moves Fast In Big Quantities

Freight, shipped by Texas & Pacific lines, moves on time and in any quantity. It moves fast because of the efficiency of the equipment used, both in power to pull, and in cars to haul, whatever needs to be moved.

The big diesels used to move mile-long strings of box cars, flat cars, gondolas, refrigerated cars, and the modern piggy-back automobile two and three-deckers, are the best that can be put into service.

Take a good look at the long trains moving over Texas & Pacific lines. Just about every kind of car in use may be seen mixed in a string, from the modern, compartmentized, steel box cars, to the chemical and oil tanks on ball bearings.

Modern box cars have taken a hint from the sleeper cars in that they are not only compartmentized, but are equipped with bulkheads, belt rails, deck boards, and doorway bars which contribute to the protection of freight. Different kinds of merchandise can be moved, with no fear of damage, in one car.

The long, ball-bearing, mounted flat cars are built to ride easy and haul the piggy-back semi-trailers across country with a minimum of shaking and battering.

Then there are those big multi-level flat cars being used so often today to transport hundreds of automobiles from the factory to distribution points. The ramps provide for loading and unloading permit driving the vehicles onto any level and then driving them off, even if a long string of cars is to be unloaded at one place. There is no longer the need to unload a flatcar, move it out of the way, spot another, and then unload it. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being saved in man-hours and equipment through the use of the mass transport system.

Through the use of today's modern equipment and fast freight schedules Texas & Pacific railroads are moving freight across the country in hours where days were once required. The merchandise arrives in better condition than formerly.

Fruits and vegetables, once considered hazardous freight, are now safely and economically moved across the country in insulated refrigerated cars, without fear of loss. Insulation also prevents freezing, or sweating, of other types of freight in long hauls.

At any rate that vacation may be a lot more pleasant and the driving more comfortable if Chuck's Automotive diagnoses that car and prescribes a remedy for some ailing feature.

Do You Need Extra Circuits?

Most buildings constructed in recent years have ample current leading to the building, but may now need additional circuits to rooms for appliances using heavy loads.

Lead-in current may be sufficient to run electric stoves, washer-dryer combinations, refrigerated air conditioners, and other heavy appliances. It may not, however, have been run to the right places in the home. Haston Electric can easily remedy the situation by adding circuits for all these, to take the overload off lines already in.

If you are planning a new home, or planning to remodel the old one, a telephone call to AM 4-5103 will bring a man to go over your plans with you. He can give you information which may save you dollars and danger of fire later. Good electrical circuits are good insurance policies.

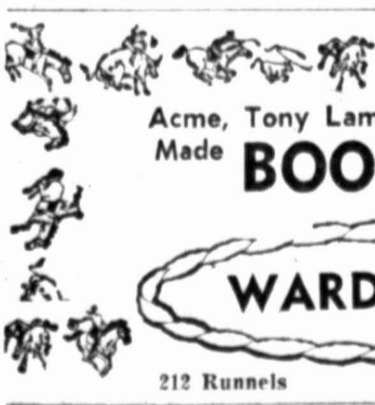

Proper circuits can give you better reception on your television set, better operation of equipment with motors, and better lighting in your home.

Get Your Car Ready For Vacation Trips

Vacation time is beginning to get the upper hand in the minds of most automobile owners this time of year and, whether they think of long trips or several short ones, they begin to think about getting the family car in shape.

No one wants to start out on a long vacation trip with a car which may not quite make it. There is always a lot of embarrassment and expense when a car has to be overhauled on the road.

Chuck's Automotive, 900 W. 5th, can put that car in top shape, or tell you that it won't be safe to drive over long stretches.

The engine may have done beautifully the last time the car was driven hundreds of miles at a fast clip. It may be reaching the point where a transfusion is needed to insure continued service. Maybe it needs a valve job. Maybe it needs new rings to keep that compression up and prevent it from drinking oil.

There is a long list of items which may need checking if the car is two years old or over.

How about that transmission? Is it getting noisy if it is a standard shift? Does it take a second or two for it to get wound up when shifted into "drive," if it is an automatic, and maybe as long to unwind when you stop at an intersection? Does the seal hold the transmission fluid inside or let it run out on the pavement, requiring frequent additions? Chuck's Automotive features transmission specialists.

At the rear of the car is another critical piece of equipment—the differential. How long has it been since that was checked to see about grease or end play?

One of the most embarrassing things that can happen on the road is when a fuel pump quits and leaves you stranded at an intersection, with horns blowing all around you. Maybe the booster section goes out and allows your oil to drain out of the crankcase without your knowing it. It's a good idea to have that checked too.

How about that generator? Does it need some attention, like cleaning out the dust, or a new set of brushes? A faulty generator, especially at night when garages are closed, can leave you stranded without lights, and with a dead battery.

A general tune-up can get more mileage with more comfort if you haven't had one recently. New spark plugs, new distributor points, and carburetor adjustment will often make an old motor hum like a new one.

It's Time Again To Check Coolers

The weatherman is beginning to make folks around Big Spring uncover air conditioners to keep cool houses. Some are finding that rust and corrosion have taken a big toll on the old units and their pumps.

A new air conditioner may be necessary to insure the comfort needed.

The Arctic Circle Air Cooler, sold and installed by Johnson Sheet and Metal, at 1308 E. 3rd, is designed to give maximum comfort, and to run quietly.

A call to AM 3-2980 will get information on the type cooler needed and its capacity. Window or downdraft coolers are in stock at Johnson Sheet and Metal.

Along Came Hearn

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Hearn pose in front of their home in Santa, Tex., after a whirlwind courtship—26 hours from meeting to marriage—stopped Hearn's horseback trip from Antlers, Okla., to Los Angeles. Hearn was en route to the California city to locate former Push County residents and invite them for a homecoming in June. Illness of both man and beast halted the ride and Hearn sought refuge at a farmhouse owned by Mrs. Opal Ince who soon became Mrs. Hearn.

County Road Department Retirees To Be Honored

Three members of the Howard County road and bridge crew with a combined total of 56 years service in that department have retired and will be honored by their fellow workers.

The three, John Willard Miller, Truman Morton, and Bert Plant, are to be guests at a dinner at the Sixty-Six Truck Stop restaurant at 7 p.m. Friday. The county commissioners, road supervisors, and a few other special guests are to attend.

Four former members of the road and bridge crew, who retired prior to this year will be guests of honor at the dinner. They are Ernest Ed Baker, Alfred Riley Carter, Marcus Lee Hayworth, and J. O. Gibson.

The county commissioners are helping to finance the dinner as individuals. Lee Porter, county judge, expressed regret that a previous commitment would prevent his attending. Marvin Hansen is the chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Miller, who lives at 1806 Goliad, began work with the department in 1946. He is now 68 years old. He was an operator in the department.

Morton, 70, lives at 1107 N. Lancaster, and began his work with the county in 1939. He is a serviceman.

Plant, 73, a checker with the department, began work with the county in 1948. His home is at 1621 Mesquite.

Hayworth, a driver, is now 72. He lives at 1209 W. 6th. He retired in 1961.

Gibson, 64, left the department in April, 1962. His home is 122 Madison.

Carter, now 70, lives at 106 N. Nolan. He retired in April, 1960.

Baker, 70, lives at Coahoma. He left the department in April, 1961.

FFA Parents' Night Slated

Future Farmers of America chapters will have their annual parent's night dinner Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Goliad cafeteria.

Highlighting the program will be the presentation of awards and the installation of honorary members. The Greenhand chapter conducting team, which won first in the district and Area II and fourth in the state, will give a parliamentary demonstration.

Don White, president of the senior chapter, will preside. Ronnie Crowover will word the invocation and the chapter officers will have charge of the opening ceremony. Freddie White will introduce guests, and Johnny Turner will recognize student and parent labor on the chapter feeding barn project. John Smith, high school principal, will announce winners in the beef production, pork production, dairy cattle, mutton production, leadership, scholarship, star Greenhand and star chapter farmer categories.

French Officers To Tour Webb

Two officers of the French Air Force, currently touring USAF bases, will arrive at Webb AFB in Big Spring Friday for a five-day briefing on the pilot training program.

The two officers — Lt. Col. Joseph Dumoulin and Major Andre Dautry — will arrive by commercial plane from the USAF Academy Friday at the Midland air field. Col. Harold M. Collins, Commander of the Pilot Training Group, will escort them to Webb.

The officers will be brief on Webb operations with an eye toward incorporating these training methods in the French Air Force. The officers will leave Webb Tuesday for Wichita Falls.

Col. Dumoulin has been cleared for a flight in the new supersonic trainer—the T-38. Other stops on the itinerary include the Air University, Lackland, Randolph, James Connally, Sheppard, and Lowry Air Force Bases.

No Cases Ready For Court Trial

Lee Porter, county judge, said that no cases were reported ready for trial at the scheduled non-jury docket on civil matters he is holding this week. As a result, the judge said he would wait until Thursday and see if any of the half dozen or so cases tentatively slated as ready would be called.

The court is holding the non-jury docket in an effort to remove a lot of old, inactive cases from the civil docket.

Wheat Growers Show Little Interest Here

Wheat growers of Howard County, few in number, are manifesting little interest in the plans for a wheat program for 1964. A meeting held Tuesday night was called to discuss the proposed program.

Only a few of the 39 potential wheat growers of the county showed up. Howard County has a total of 1,800 acres earmarked for wheat.

Announcement was made that at the referendum May 21 on the wheat program, producers with less than 15-acre allotments would be privileged to vote. This is the first time that such holders have been permitted to ballot in these referendums.

Herb Heibig, county farm agent, said that among the provisions of the 1964 wheat program were those covering the less than 15-acre allotments. Such a producer, if he desires to vote in the May 21 referendum and be eligible for price support and land diversion payment, must declare his intention at least seven days before the referendum.

Junior Horsemen Organize A Club

The Howard County Junior Horseman's Club came into being Tuesday evening following an organizational meeting in the Justice of Peace courtroom.

Named president of the organization designed to promote interest of young people in horsemanship was C. H. Harrison. Other officers named were John Nobles, vice president; Grace Todd, secretary-treasurer.

A second meeting, designed principally to consider the possibility of a horse show for young riders, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Old Settlers pavilion at the City Park. (This is not a meal affair.)

The show, if organized, will be for the purpose of affording all boys and girls to show their mounts and to demonstrate their riding skills. It will have no breed classes.

Go-Kart Track Changes Hands

A newly-formed organization known as the Big Spring Karting Association have taken over the weaver properties west of town.

The association has 27 members and is prepared to accept more. All persons interested in Go-Kart racing are eligible to join.

The Go-Kart track, now an eighth of a mile in length, will probably be lengthened to a quarter mile. Spectator seats will be added and other improvements will be made.

Regular racing programs will be conducted here.

In last Sunday's races, the following winners emerged:

Enrollment Still Showing Decline

Enrollment in Big Spring public schools continued declining for the fifth consecutive week dropping by seven during the past week to 7,329 students.

Elementary schools still showed a 4,358 students for no change in the total as of April 19. The secondary total was down by eight to 2,807 students and special education, at 164, was up one.

By school the enrollment was Airport 463, up six; Bauer 502, down three; Boydston 516, down two; College Heights 524, up three; Kate Morrison 255, down one; Lakeview 207, no change; Marcy 535, no change; Park Hill 277, down one; Washington 781, up one; Goliad 800, down two; Lakeview Junior High 68, no change; Runnels 731, down four; and Senior High 1,118, down two.

Like looking for someone who doesn't read newspapers

Very hard to find. 99 million people in almost 9 out of every 10 homes read newspapers. It's the most sought after, often bought, eagerly consumed, intensely depended upon product in the world. The reason is obvious. We can't do without it. The need to know about the news and events that touch and shape our lives is deep, intense, unending. And the need to know is now. Today. So it's not very hard to figure out why more advertising dollars are spent in daily newspapers than in TV, magazines, radio, and outdoor combined.

"Loves rules the camp, the courts, the grove—for love is heaven, and heaven is love."

DAILY GUIDE—It looks like a very romantic week and the mood is definitely one of spring fever. The young people will probably break out in some foolish fads. Today's accent is a foretaste for the weekend, so make your plans accordingly. The evening hours should be ideal for social and romantic affairs.

It is a good time to buy pretty accessories, visit the beauty salon, or go over spring fashions.

Taurus is emphasized in the next few weeks so we can expect much interest in gardens, nature, and in interior decorating, grooming, and general "prettying" things up. Taurus has a chance to express their ideas now, and should get busy on paper work, plans, and general organization to details. Next month you may have to go back over some of these details.

All could take these next few weeks to clear up pending matters, for June brings sudden new developments.

Tomorrow can be lively, busy, distracting, but ought to be fun.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, TAURUS!

There is promise of a break soon in the rather complex situations which no doubt have had you boxed in a corner. By June your problems due to domestic conditions should be solved, and then you will be ready for some social excitement. Unusual social or romantic contacts can bring opportunity to express your individuality and to enjoy greater publicity or attention. Personal reaction to dubious relationships with competitors, partners, public remains the same with an accent early in October. Do not be too trusting. Keep working hard at maintaining your high standards regarding career. Some secret project can bring success next year.

That Small Credit Line Lists A Tremendous Job

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—At the end of every NBC drama produced by the Directors Company—most recently "The Shark"—there appears a small credit line listing Jan Scott as set designer.

A more accurate description of Miss Scott's function would include a string of words including architect, engineer, landscape gardener, interior decorator and—very important—camouflage expert.

Recently when the company was shooting "The Legend of Lylah Clare"—to be broadcast May 19—her problem was to construct a staircase, rising 40 feet, and somehow conceal the cameras at its base and at its top so that shots could be taken from both ends.

She achieved it — by building blinds behind which cameras could be hidden, and be rolled out quickly for use.

Even before that, Miss Scott used her engineering skills designing the staircase. She added up the combined weight of the people who would be on the set, the poundage of the machines and other gear. To this she added another 2,000 pounds as a safety factor. The pipe scaffolding used as the set's base had to be heavy enough to hold all this—plus, of course, the weight of the structure itself.

Easiest to construct are the small sets, Miss Scott says, although sometimes she has to produce as many as 30 for a single program.

Decorating the sets involves more than the exercise of good taste and imagination. She must be careful to keep the furnishings from dominating the show. Even a single bright or garish lamp in a scene could distract the audience from the actor and the progress of the plot.

The designer is a tiny, slim woman — just over five feet and weighing no more than 100 pounds.

A native of Carbondale, Ill., she studied at the Chicago Art Institute and the University of Chicago.

She's had a designing hand in "The Dinah Shore Show," "Peter Pan," a number of "Hall of Fame" productions.

As designer for the old "Dave Garroway" show, it is very possible she started the vogue for the ever-popular kitchen stool, without which no proper variety show can proceed.

Recommended tonight "Portrait," CBS, 7:30-8 (EST) — Soprano Eileen Farrell sits down for an informal interview.

Rains Make Farmers Smile

By The Associated Press

Rains up to 2 inches in limited areas made farmers smile Wednesday. But Texas remained in need of a general soaking.

The 2-inch downpour occurred at Ferris. The Weather Bureau reported rains continued during the day in Northeast Texas and portions of the Panhandle.

Weather Bureau observers credited most air from the Gulf of Mexico with causing the thunder-showers by overriding cooler air.

Some of the rainfall totals included Mineola 1.93 inch, Kaufman 1.14, Terrell 66, West 58, Rosser 1.52, Crandall 1.04, Longview 56, Ennis 1.23, Frost 89, Waxahachie 1.05, Dallas 45.

Forecasts called for the moisture to taper off during the day except in Northeast Texas.

Temperature readings a about sunrise ranged from 42 at Daltart to 76 at Corpus Christi.

Island Claimed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Honduras filed a claim Tuesday to the tiny Swan Island complex 100 miles off its northeast coast, the site of a U.S. weather station.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♠
Perhaps the outstanding defensive play of this or any season was engineered by East in today's hand. With virtually no hope of defeating his opponents' four spade contract, he very cleverly induced the declarer to bring about his own downfall.

West opened the king of diamonds on which East signaled encouragement with the nine. A low diamond continuation put East in with the ace. Prospects for the defense appeared to be mighty dim since South was pretty well marked with all the missing high cards for his bids. This meant that, while East's king of clubs could be counted on to take the third trick, that would wind up the defensive campaign since the spade king must surely succumb to a trump finesse.

A desperate situation, however, provides the breeding ground for inventive genius, and East was soon to deliver a classic illustration of this maxim. He saw that the only hope for his side was to take a trick with the king of trumps, and this thought gave birth to his commendable maneuver.

At trick three, he led the eight of clubs away from the doubleton king and into North's array of honors. When the trick was taken by dummy's ten, it appeared to declarer that East had led a singleton in the hope that West had a high trump honor, and would get in quickly enough to give him a club ruff.

In order to avert this fate, South hastened to draw trumps by playing the ace and another spade. He was willing to abandon the trump finesse for, with the club king apparently on side, he could afford to give up a spade trick. When East was in with the king of spades he returned a heart. South subsequently took the club finesse, and East made his lone king for the setting trick.

Scouts Give Rotary Program

Big Spring Rotarians were reminded Tuesday that they would meet in Ward Eight, Big Spring State Hospital, next Tuesday. The meeting will be in observance of Mental Health Week and members will be served the same food as served to hospital patients.

Tuesday's program, in charge of Joe Davis, was given by Cub Scout Den 3 of Pack 138, sponsored by College Heights Elementary School P-TA. Mrs. Helen Draper, Den Mother, conducted the eight Cubs in a regular Den meeting for the Rotarians.

The program was opened by the Cub Scout Promise, and closed with the regular ceremonial.

No Nonsense On Cuban Raids

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has made clear that the U.S. government is distinctly annoyed by Cuban rebels who stage raids—specifically one on a Soviet ship—and then brag about it.

In effect, said Kennedy, it amounts to "spit in our eye."

Kennedy made the comment Monday night in replying to a former Cuban prisoner of war, Lorenzo Nodarse, Ridgely, N.J., who wanted to know:

"How can I fight communism when you are protecting the Russians from us?"

Nodarse, a Bay of Pigs invasion veteran, confronted Kennedy at a reception given by the Cuban Prisoners Committee. After Kennedy addressed the group and stepped into the crowd, Nodarse approached him and asked his question.

Kennedy answered calmly, explaining that the United States "cannot allow raids from its territory—it's against U.S. laws."

The reference was to the recent ban on anti-Cuba raids from bases on U.S. soil.
