ACQUISITION OF ASSETS

Cosden, Fina Announce Deal Officially Closed

DALLAS—American Petrofina, Inc. today acquired the assets of Cosden Petroleum Corporation subject to a reserved production payment, according to a joint announcement by the two companies.

Included in the transaction closed in Jersey City, N.J. were crude oil reserves of approximately 36,000,000 barrels and gas reserves in excess of 51 billion cubic feet. Also included were two refineries having a combined capacity of 43,000 barrels per day, as well as gathering systems, pipelines and marketing facilities involving some 1,000 retail outlets. Cosden is also a prominent manufacturer of polystyrene plastic and an important licensor of petrochemical manufacturing processes.

The total consideration received by Cosden Petroleum Corp. was approximately $90,000,000. Of this amount, $24,100,000 was derived from the sale of the production payment, financed by a group of banks headed by First National City Bank, New York. Another $43,000,000 of the consideration was financed in a sale and leaseback of the refinery and related facilities. This part was accomplished by a group of insurance companies including the Prudential Insurance Company of America, the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company and Connecticut General Life Insurance Company. Short term financing was handled by the First National Bank in Dallas and the Belgium American Banking Corporation.

Said Harry A. Jackson, president of American Petrofina:

"We are pleased to join with the highly regarded Cosden organization. The transaction represents our initial venture into the petrochemical industry. We look forward to mutually beneficial operations of the two organizations.

Jackson said that Cosden's re-

Cosden Petroleum Corp. stockholders adjourned for the last time at 1:02 p.m. today. The meeting, called originally for Thursday, was held open until this afternoon pending word of the final closing of the deal in Jersey City, N.J. With the adjournment the affairs of the Cosden Petroleum Corporation terminated.

fining and chemical activities would be continued as Cosden Oil & Chemical Company under its former management Raymond L. Tollett will be president and chief executive of this wholly owned subsidiary.

American Petrofina was formed in 1956 through a merger with Panhandle Oil Corporation. In 1957 the company acquired American Liberty Oil Company, and in 1958 the Petro-Atlas Corporation, the company is affiliated with the international Petrofina group with headquarters in Brussels, Belgium. The company is engaged in exploration and development activities in the southwest, mid-continent and Rocky Mountain regions. It has refining facilities in Wichita Falls and Mount Pleasant, Texas, and El Dorado, Kans. American Petrofina products are marketed under the Fina brand and are distributed through more than 2,200 outlets in a 13-state region.

Cosden stockholders Saturday approved the liquidation and the dissolution of the corporation which had existed since 1939.

Castro, Niki Hold Moscow Summit Meet

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Prime Minister Fidel Castro opened talks in the Kremlin today aimed at further cementing relations between their two Communist regimes.

High on the list of topics, observers believed, was stepped up Soviet military and economic aid. They wondered how much higher than the reported million dollars a day now being sent the Soviet Union was willing to go.

There also was speculation that Khrushchev would try to wipe out any bitterness remaining because of his decision to withdraw missiles from Cuba last October without consulting Castro.

Moscow newspapers were full of welcomes for Castro.

"Moscow gives hearty welcome to Fidel Castro," said Pravda. "Moscow embraces Fidel Castro as a brother," was the headline in Izvestia.

The press accounts made up for any lack of warmth in Sunday's greeting.

Khrushchev led 40,000 Russians through a Red Square welcome, but the elaborate show failed to whip up the frenzied enthusiasm westerners had expected.

The bearded Cuban leader proclaimed that, except for the Soviet Union, his revolutionary regime could not exist. He heaped praise on Soviet economic and military aid.

Castro, wearing a fur hat against the chilly winds, was relatively restrained in manner.

Khrushchev opened the proceedings from the reviewing stand atop Lenin's tomb and set the tone.

He donned steel-rimmed spectacles and slowly and dryly read a welcoming speech which—one more time—said the Soviet Union was lined up shoulder-to-shoulder with Cuba against the United States.

Castro, who towered over his host, read a Spanish translation while Khrushchev spoke.

The crowds, conveyed to the square in army trucks, applauded mostly on signal from Khrushchev.

Chill wind may have been a factor in the restraint which the crowd generally exhibited.

Courtroom Segregation Is Ruled Out

Contempt Conviction Overthrown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court unanimously ruled today that racial segregation in courtrooms is a violation of the Constitution.

The court, in an unsigned opinion declared:

"State-compelled segregation in a court of justice is a manifest violation of the state's duty to deny no one the equal protection of its laws."

With the decision, the tribunal threw out the contempt conviction of a Negro who had been held in contempt for refusing to move from the section of Richmond, Va., Traffic Court that had been reserved for white persons.

The Supreme Court related the circumstances involved in the case of the Negro, Ford T. Johnson Jr., and said he was peacefully seated in a section reserved for whites before being called to the judge's bench.

Johnson's arrest and conviction, the court said, "rested entirely on the refusal to comply with the segregated seating requirements imposed in this particular courtroom."

The Supreme Court added: "Such a conviction cannot stand for it is no longer open to question that a state may not constitutionally require segregation of public facilities."

Johnson's contempt conviction was on April 27, 1962. He was fined $10. The Virginia Supreme Court upheld the conviction on Oct. 5, 1962.

Johnson's counsel appealed to the Supreme Court, contending he had been denied protection of the United States Constitution.

The U.S. Supreme Court said that a bailiff in Richmond Traffic Court requested that Johnson move to the Negro reserved section.

The judge then summoned the petitioner Johnson to the bench and instructed him to be seated in the right hand section of the courtroom, the section reserved for Negroes.

The petitioner moved back in front of the counsel table and remained standing with his arms folded, stating that he preferred standing and indicated that he would not comply with the judge's order. Upon refusal to obey the judge's further direction to be seated, the petitioner was arrested for contempt.

The U.S. Supreme Court said that Johnson did not behave in a belligerent or abusive manner and that there was no disorder in the courtroom.

Washington (AP)—The Supreme Court decided today to hear argument next fall on whether Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi is entitled to a jury trial on criminal contempt charges.

The case is to be argued during a two-week argument session that begins Oct. 14.

No specific argument date within that period was fixed for hearing this particular case.

The contempt proceeding was begun by the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans, La., as a result of the governor's efforts to block enrollment of James H. Meredith, a Negro, at the University of Mississippi.

Also charged with contempt is Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. After bringing the contempt charges, the Circuit Court on April 9, 1963, deadlocked 4-4 on the issue of whether Barnett and Johnson could be tried by a jury as they had requested. Four judges voted for a jury trial and four voted to try the case themselves without a jury.

The Circuit Court then asked the Supreme Court to make the decision on the jury trial question.

Barnett and Johnson first were cited for civil contempt. The Circuit Court found them guilty, but before enforcing penalties it ordered the criminal contempt proceedings against the officials and left hanging the civil contempt case.

The Circuit Court had charged Barnett, 64, with contempt after he disobeyed its order not to interfere with Meredith's admission to the university.

Settles Out Of Court

The third wife of R. J. Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, Muriel Marston Reynolds of New York City and Toronto, Canada, came to Atlanta, Ga., for settlement out of court of a divorce action. The settlement gives her more than $2 million in alimony. She is shown with her Atlanta attorneys, E. Smythe Gambrell, right, and Harold Hill.

Dominican-Haitian Eruption Threatens, Troops On Move

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Dominican troops started moving toward the Haitian border today, said a report from the armed forces secretary. It gave no details.

An armed clash has been threatening between the two neighbors of the Caribbean island of Hispaniola over the Dominican charge that Haitian troops invaded its embassy. Haiti broke diplomatic relations.

President Juan Bosch gave Haitian President Francois Duvalier 24 hours to withdraw troops surrounding the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince. The Embassy is sheltering 22 foes of Duvalier.

"Unless the outrages against the Dominican Republic in Haiti end within 24 hours, we will put an end to them by all means within our power," Bosch said.

The Dominican deadline was originally set for 6 a.m. EST. But the government said it had extended the ultimatum until 8 p.m. because of an inter-American effort to keep peace.

The Dominican armed forces secretary, Maj. Gen. Victor Elvis Vinas Roman, announced all troop leaves had been canceled.

Grand Jury To Convene Tuesday
The Howard County grand jury, faced with decisions on some 30 felony matters, will reconvene Tuesday morning.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, has summoned the grand jurors to report at 9 a.m. Immediately, Gil Jones, district attorney, will begin presentation of the 30 felony matters which have accumulated since the grand jury met early this year.

Three murder cases are to be considered by the grand jury.

Storm Damage
AGANA, Guam (AP)—Typhoon Olive, heaving west of Guam today and battering the island with torrential rain and winds up to 80 miles an hour, has blown away five months of recovery effort after Typhoon Karen.

cians flared as a result of Duvalier's attempt to crush rising opposition to his regime.

Tension began mounting a week ago when leaflets warned Duvalier that an attempt would be made to overthrow him May 15—the anniversary of his first term as president.

Suspicious that opposition to him centered in the regular army, Duvalier last week fired 64 officers, the bulk of the army's leadership. The dictator has built up a personal militia and presidential guard that outnumber the army and are better armed.

On Friday, occupants of a speeding car opened fire on Duvalier's two children, Jan Claude, 12, and Simone, 14, as they were being driven home from school.

Three of the children's guards were slain but the children were not hurt.

The attack triggered weekend violence in which 15 persons were reported killed and at least 68 Haitians, including former army officers and their families, took haven in Latin-American embassies.

BROKE IN
Informed sources said Haitian soldiers broke into the Dominican Embassy Friday and started a search for refugees but were ordered out by the charge d'affaires.

Armed guards and roadblocks blocked approaches to the Dominican ambassador's residence Sunday. Telephone lines were cut off, and taxi drivers refused to take passengers to the vicinity.

It was not clear how the Dominican Republic could press its demands now that Haiti has severed relations and may not consider itself bound by diplomatic protocol. The right of political asylum generally is considered inviolate in Latin America, and Haiti normally would be expected to provide the refugees in the Dominican Embassy safe conduct out of the country eventually.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ten persons were injured in a free-swinging battle between Jews and Nazis outside an observance of Israel's 15th anniversary of independence.

The combatants used fists and clubs during the 10-minute struggle Sunday night in front of the Shrine Auditorium, police said.

Four swastika-wearing members of the American Nazi party and four policemen were injured and sent to hospitals. Two Jews were at the scene.

Guests inside the huge auditorium, including such entertainers as Jack Benny, Ziva Rodann, Kathryn Grayson, Raymond Massey, Bill Jose Jimenez, Dana, Marty Ingels, Jackie Mason, Ed Begley and Vivienne Della Chiesa, were unaware of the picketing Nazis.

Officer George Rains said the Nazis carried anti-Jewish signs and the disturbance started when a Jewish man was hit over the head by one of the picketing Nazis.

There has been no evidence of any direct Soviet appeal to the Pathet Lao for peace since President Kennedy's envoy, W. Averell Harriman, saw Premier Khrushchev at the weekend. Harriman told a news conference Khrushchev assured him of full support in restoring peace and neutrality in Laos.

Watching closely were representatives of the International Control Commission for Laos, made up of India, Canada and Poland. They make periodic trips to the Plaine des Jarres, 120 miles northeast of Vientiane, because the Pathet Lao has refused to let them be stationed permanently in the area.

OAS Team Heads For Isle To Try To Head Off Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fact-finding team representing the Organization of American States heads for the Caribbean today for a quick study of the Haiti-Dominican crisis.

The team, including a U.S. representative, was set up Sunday night by the OAS as it moved to head off armed conflict between the two neighbors on the Caribbean island of Hispaniola.

The Dominican Republic, charging that Haitians had invaded the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince and that the Haitian government was plotting to kill Dominican President Juan Bosch, threatened military action unless the situation returned to normal today. Haiti in turn announced it had broken diplomatic relations with the Dominicans.

The Council of the OAS voted first to convene itself as a consultative body directly representing the foreign ministers of 20 American Western Hemisphere republics. Then it named the five-nation investigating team and called on both Haiti and the Dominican Republic to keep the peace pending the study.

Indications were that both nations would cooperate with the OAS team consisting of the United States, Colombia, Ecuador, El Salvador and Chile.

The OAS actions came in a swiftly paced 40-minute meeting Sunday night following a four-hour emergency session earlier in the day called by Dominican Ambassador Arturo Calventi.

Calventi presented 12 charges against Haiti, including the claim that Haitians had invaded the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince. He also charged that the Haitian government had conspired with relatives of the late Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo to assassinate President Bosch.

Haitian Ambassador Fern D. Baguidy said the Dominican charges were merely an excuse for military action which has been planned for some time. He accused the Dominicans of trying "to provoke a change of government in my country."

Haitian President Francois Duvalier has been under increasing fire in recent months from both inside and outside his strife-torn nation.

The vote on turning itself into a consultative body under the treaty of Rio de Janeiro was 16-0 as was the vote on creating the fact-finding committee. Representatives of Brazil and Bolivia abstained from both votes, saying they lacked instructions from their governments.

Guns Are Still Silent In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The lull in the Laotian fighting went into its fourth day today with neutralists and pro-Communists apparently biding their time during diplomatic negotiations.

The Communist-controlled Pathet Lao held fast to the territory it seized from the neutralists on the strategic Plaine des Jarres but made no new advances.

Leaders of the two factions were scheduled to meet again Tuesday to renew peace talks which have so far been unsuccessful. Pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong has demanded they be broadened to include such topics as neutralization of Vientiane and not be limited to the Plaine des Jarres crisis.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma has not indicated whether he would agree.

Souphanouvong enlarged the scope of the conflict Saturday by charging that the United States had flown 500 Laotian right-wing troops to reinforce the neutralists.

The U.S. Embassy and neutralist Gen. Kong Le denied this. The charter company Air America was alleged to have done the transporting.

Court To Hear Barnett Case

No Nuclear Explosion On Thresher

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, director of nuclear propulsion for the Navy, said today it was impossible for the nuclear plant on ill-fated submarine Thresher to explode.

Rickover told a naval court of inquiry: "Nuclear reactors in submarines and surface ships are designed to minimize hazards under any conditions."

He added: "It is physically impossible for nuclear plants on ships to explode like a bomb."

Rickover testified that "in event of a serious accident fuel elements will remain intact and none would be released."

Rickover, today's first witness before a court of inquiry trying to learn what caused the loss of the Thresher testified for about 15 minutes in open court.

With a mighty splash, the USS Daniel Webster, the Navy's newest nuclear-powered submarine, slides into the Thames River at Groton, Conn., from the General Dynamics Electric Boat Yards. The 425-foot, 7,000-ton vessel, the nation's 20th Polaris sub, is shipped to fire 2,500-mile range A-3 missiles. The ship was christened by Mrs. W. Osborn Goodrich, great-great granddaughter of Daniel Webster.

Fire Razes Farm Store In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa firemen are still standing watch on the smoldering ruins of the Dawson County Farm Store, located in two adjacent buildings on Lynn Street in the industrial section, which was swept by fire of unknown origin Sunday night.

Damage to the buildings and contents is estimated at $100,000, and C. M. Ellyson, store owner, told firemen he had no insurance. The building is owned by Kimbell Wholesale Grocery Co.

Fire broke out about 7:45 p.m. and flames at one time leaped 50 feet high. Heat from the fire could be felt two blocks away. The store contained about 60 tons of fertilizer, several thousand dollars in pea seeds, and $4,400 in new tires stored for Gulf Oil Corp.

Five of nine box cars on a spur behind the store were damaged by the blaze. For a time, firemen were fearful the fire would spread to storage tanks of Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil Co. and Western L.P. Gas, all located near the burned building. The oil firms are located on the north and south sides and a slight breeze from the west probably gave firemen an assist in preventing the fire spreading. By the time the wind shifted to the north about 3 a.m., the blaze was under control.

Despite difficulty getting into the metal siding of the buildings, firemen prized open a door and broke out the windows to begin fighting the fire. The siding, in places, became white hot and firemen took turns wetting each other so they could work near the blaze. At the peak of the fire, some 20 regular and volunteer firemen were on duty with four trucks. Two or three firemen became sick from smoke and exhaustion but remained on duty.

Fire Marshal Luther Standerfer said the four trucks and eight firemen remained on duty through the night, snuffing out pockets of flame that were still breaking out. They plan to remain on guard through tonight.

Standerfer said the only way he knows to get the fire out completely is to use a dozer to push the debris out in small bunches so firemen can wet them down.

During the first hours of the blaze, police cordoned off a four-block area but still had trouble with spectators. Several arrests were made for interference, and a lot of trouble was reported by motorists driving over fire hose.

Ellyson has been in business here three years. A sprinkler system in the two buildings did not function. He said it had not been working.

Deadline Near To File Homestead Exemption Claims

If you are a property owner and have not as yet filed your formal claim for homestead exemption, the time to act is at hand. Deadline for claiming homestead exemption is May 1, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre county tax assessor collector, warned.

The homestead exemption saves the taxpayer from paying on the first $3,000 on his homestead valuation for state taxes. It cannot be applied except in instances where the property owner has made formal application for its benefits.

Mrs. LeFevre urged all property owners who have not as yet claimed the exemption to do so at her office before May 1.

Tuesday is the last day, she pointed out, to make such claim.

Pilot, Student Describe Their Part In Cuban Raid

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following interview with a Massachusetts Institute of Technology student and a pilot who participated in last Thursday's bombing raid near Havana, Cuba, was made available to The Associated Press by the Boston Traveler.

By JOHN RAYMOND
Copyright, 1963, Boston Traveler
BOSTON (AP) — An adventurous Massachusetts Institute of Technology student and a daredevil pilot today admitted to the Traveler their part in last Thursday's bombing raid on a Cuban oil refinery near Havana. The student, who is 21, called it an "almost terrifying experience" but said he would be willing to go again. "I leaned back in my seat and prayed after we dropped the bombs," said the crew-cut third-year student. "Our plane zoomed over less than 100 feet above the ground. "I felt sick at my stomach and I was wringing with sweat. I've never been as scared in my life." Dressed in khakis and a white shirt, the soft-spoken youth, who lives in Back Bay, recounted details of the hair-raising raid. The bombs reportedly did not explode.

The student and the pilot, also an American, said they did not need to be identified because they feared reprisals from the United States government. The men were accompanied on the raid by Alexander I. Rorke Jr., flamboyant head of a group called the U.S. Freedom Fighters, and a prominent Cuban exile leader from Miami, who has not yet been identified.

The student said he provided "technical assistance" on the trip in preparing the five home-made bombs—four napalm fire bombs and a 100-pound high explosive. "We had trouble with the fuses," he said. "We tried to work out a concussion-type cap for the big bomb, but didn't have any luck. A timed detonator didn't work either; we ended up using regular fuses."

The students said their twin-engine plane swept into Havana over the treetops—"we were about 100 feet above the ground"—and headed toward the Esso-Shell oil refinery, where a 100-foot tower spouts flame 24 hours a day. That was their beacon.

"After the first pass — when we dropped the 100 pounder and one napalm—I made a 180-degree right turn," the pilot said. "We made a second pass and then Rorke yelled, 'Let's get the hell out of here!' I yelled back, 'That's exactly what we're doing!'"

"When we hit the coast and were over the water again I dropped back down to 50 feet and flew by altimeter at that height nearly all the way back to our base.

"We had to keep low to duck radar."

The pair said there was no interference from the ground—"not a shot"—and they saw none of Castro's planes.

The Cuban acted as a bombardier, the student related, and lit the 15-second fuses with his cigar. He said his first met Rorke about a month ago after hearing him on a radio interview.

"I told him I was familiar with explosives and would like to help in some way if I could," he said. "I think the United States is selling out Cuba. I don't want to criticize the White House or the Pentagon, but I disagree with them."

The student said that he did not consider the raid a failure, even though the bombs apparently failed to explode. He said it at least proved it was possible to fly in, reach a target, and get out safely, even in a small private plane.

ALEXANDER RORKE JR.

Lensman Refuses Lie Test On Refinery Bombing Story

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York City photographer says he refused to take a lie detector test concerning his assertion that he participated in a Cuban exile bombing raid on Havana area oil refineries last week. Alexander I. Rorke Jr., 36, told a meeting of 150 anti-Castro Cubans Sunday night that U.S. customs officials in Miami asked him to take the test after he held a news conference there Sunday. Customs officials were not immediately available for comment. Rorke flew back to New York following the news conference, in which he said his civil rights, and those of his partner in a Waterbury, Conn., plane charter service, were being violated by the U.S. government.

An official of the Federal Aviation Agency said earlier Sunday that the FAA had notified Rorke and his partner, Geoffrey Sullivan, that they are subject to fines of $13,000 each if it is proved they violated civil air regulations by flying to and from Cuba. "It is a rather serious thing for the government to charge us with violations and say we are to be fined for flying to Cuba and back, because it implies that the United States is defenseless," Rorke told newsmen in Miami.

Rorke said in Miami that if the government charges were true, it meant he had left and returned to the United States without being detected by U.S. radar.

In fact, he said, his starting point for the Cuban raid wasn't the continental United States at all. "I went to a rendezvous point" and boarded a PBV—amphibian plane—in the water, Rorke said. "It was from a point south of Cuba. It was the plane used in the raid."

He maintained that "all Mr. Sullivan did was fly me to Florida. Later he met me in Jacksonville to fly me to Washington."

Sullivan, a former Air Force and commercial air lines pilot, earlier had told newsmen in Waterbury, Conn., virtually the same thing. He said he flew Rorke only as far as West Palm Beach last Monday and then flew him back to Washington Friday after Rorke allegedly participated in the raid.

Murder Warrant Is Sworn Out In Slaying Of Rights Crusader

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—Sheriff Dewey Colvard swore out a first degree murder warrant today against a rural storekeeper in the rifle slaying of a civil rights crusader. The warrant accuses Floyd Simpson, 40, father of six, of killing William L. Moore, of Baltimore.

Simpson was released on $50,000 bond. His case will go before a grand jury in September. William M. Beck Sr. of Fort Payne, Ala., a former Alabama House speaker and close friend of segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace, indicated he would defend Simpson.

Simpson had been held on an open charge since last Thursday, two days after Moore was shot to death. State and county officers continued investigation of the Tuesday night slaying of Moore, a 35-year-old postman who died from two bullet wounds in the head. Moore had said he was en route to Jackson, Miss., to give his views on integration to Gov. Ross Barnett.

Sheriff Colvard indicated there was nothing new in the case. "We don't know if anyone else was involved," he said. He said all persons questioned previously have been cleared. Feelings ran high in the rural community of Colbran, about 30 miles to the northwest, where Simpson operated a grocery and service station. Residents, predominantly millworkers and farmers, showed strong hostility to inquisitive strangers.

A Gadsden Times reporter, M. L. Ray, was thrown out of Simpson's store by an unidentified man who warned, "You'd better get out—I'm not going to tell you a second time." Ray had asked another person, "Who lives here?" Simpson, who is slender and graying, was described by the Rev. Russ Porter, who serves a Baptist church in the community, as "a good, hard-working man." The minister said Mrs. Simpson and the six children, ranging in age from 1 to 17, had attended services at the church where he is pastor. After visiting Mrs. Simpson Sunday at her request, Porter said she was greatly upset.

Simpson was charged informally Sunday after Colvard received a report from a ballistics test on a .22 caliber rifle and two bullets taken from the victim's body. Colvard said the rifle belonged to Simpson.

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee announced in Atlanta it would stage a "freedom walk" on May 1 to Jacksonville, Miss., along the route planned by Moore. Julian Bond, administrative assistant, said the walk would start at either Chattanooga, Tenn., or Atlanta, Ala., near where Moore was shot. He said about 10 Negroes and white persons would take part.

schoolmates, faculty members and others on the Rannels staff. It was accompanied by the hope that Claudette soon will be back in her place at school.

Mrs. Guy Peel, Claudette's mother, said that Claudette must go back to Houston May 8 for a check-up and to get a report from a pathologist. The little girl developed a malignant tumor of the bone and the removal of her left arm was a step to halt its spread. "We hope everything is all right," said Mrs. Peel, "but they told us at Houston we would not be sure until the pathologist had completed his tests."

Meantime, Claudette is planning to visit Rannels school, possibly tomorrow.

Claudette Peel Returns Home, Greets Delegation

Claudette Peel, 13-year-old Rannels Junior High student dressed in a crisply ironed bright red skirt and gleaming white blouse, welcomed three of her schoolmates and her school principal, Roscoe Newell, to her home at 101 Hamilton at noon today.

Claudette returned home Sunday from Houston where she underwent surgery April 17 to amputate her left arm. The visit of Bobby Griffith, president of the Rannels Junior High Student Council, and Sara Holden and Ann Heath, two of Claudette's classmates was the finale to a special day celebrated last week at Rannels in her honor. Griffith presented her with a check for $132—a gift from her schoolmates, faculty members and others on the Rannels staff. It was accompanied by the hope that Claudette soon will be back in her place at school.

Stanton Hit Twice By Hail

STANTON — Two hail storms, neither of long duration, battered Stanton early Sunday morning. An inch of rain fell.

"If the second hail had lasted half an hour we'd really have been in trouble," said Neil Estes, newspaperman. "As it was, it only lasted about two or three minutes. The stones were as big as quarters and some cars were given a battering. I heard of no serious damage and apparently no roof damage resulted."

First hail fell at 3 a.m. This storm had only small pellets and passed quickly. At 5 a.m. the second hail storm hit. These were the larger stones which battered the town vigorously for two to three minutes. Estes said he heard of no crop damage from the hail.

Churchmen Approve Anti-Racism Proposals

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—The Southern Presbyterian General Assembly moved swiftly and without opposition today in approving several race relations proposals.

The proposals adopted included one recommendation that every Presbyterian institution which has abolished racial barriers be commended, and that the assembly "again urge that a nondiscriminatory policy be adopted by all other such institutions and be made known to the public."

The resolution is advisory, does not compel immediate desegregation. The report of the Christian relations committee also contained an indictment of the church's role in race relations.

It said, among other things, that the church was being led, rather than leading. A mild controversy arose Saturday on a racial matter, but was resolved with relatively little difficulty.

The Presbytery of Northwest Missouri had proposed that the general assembly—highest court of the 928,000-member Presbyterian Church U. S. (Southern)—make known it would not meet in any city without assurance that hotel and restaurant facilities would be available on a non-discriminatory basis.

The Standing Committee on Assembly Operation, which considered the request, suggested answering it with the statement that present policies and practices provide for the expressed concerns. This was adopted, with a minor revision, but not before one commissioner (delegate) protested that more teeth should be put in present policies.

He said he had heard that some Negro commissioners had met with discrimination in Huntington. Others, including two Negroes, denied there had been any discrimination.

Also scheduled for presentation today was a report on the Presbyterian Development Fund Campaign, which had sought $12 million. Pledges totaling $13,089,043 to date were to be reported, with predictions of $15 million by the time the campaign closes June 15.

Other matters still to be considered include proposals to permit ordination of women to withdraw from the National Council of Churches.

The assembly heard a panel discussion last night on the proposed unification with the 225,000-member Reformed Church in America, which operates mainly in the northern half of the nation and in Canada.

A report by a joint committee of the two churches, which has been exploring the matter, will recommend continuation of the committee.

Petitions In Circulation For Federal Aid Vote

Petitions calling for a referendum on the question requesting federal funds for the construction of the Beal's Branch trunk sewer line are being circulated in Big Spring. City Manager Larry Crow said Monday morning. He said Frank Hardesty reported the petitions were out.

The election cannot be called in time for meeting the deadline of May 1 for submitting the application this year, Crow said. The application could be submitted for consideration next year.

The question of whether or not the commission should seek a grant of up to $130,000 was discussed at the first commission meeting in April. It followed a study by city consulting engineers of the project to seek a less expensive solution. High bids on the line were submitted in 1962 and rejected by the city. The engineers proposed a plan that might save up to $40,000, then the federal grant was mentioned. This was in time to get the matter on the agenda for the April 9 meeting.

The city commission decided to call an informal public hearing to get the feeling of taxpayers before rejection or making application. The question of whether or not

Cosden's Name And Spirit Linger In New Company

By JOE PICKLE
Although Cosden Petroleum Corporation has been extinguished as a result of the sale of its assets to American Petrofina, Inc., the name of the man who established the first Cosden enterprise is being perpetuated in a new company. By a coincidence, his son is an official in the company which bought Cosden Petroleum.

as security. Eventually it broke him, and in 1925 the company sold to Mid-Continent Oil Co.

Within a matter of months he had about $2 1/2-million invested in leases, pipelines and plant. In addition he had an 800-tank car fleet on order, routing them by way of Tulsa so his friends could see.

into receivership. A modified plan of reorganization on March 17, 1937 brought the company back as Cosden Petroleum and Cosden had hopes again of taking hold. Other interests had other ideas, interfering in its affairs. He sued for $2 1/2-million, alleging he was forced out under duress, but the matter was settled for a nominal sum.

Cosden managed to recondition a defunct refinery at Wynnewood, Okla., which he sold to Kerr-McGee, but again his health collapsed. On the way to California in 1940, in an effort to regain his health, he died. The concern which bore his name, began under new management a meteoric rise which commanded a $90-million price tag this week. It was in the Cosden tradition.

Hoffa Wins Major Victory Over AFL-CIO In Key Vote

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—International Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has won a two-to-one victory over the AFL-CIO in a key representation election—one of the stiffest challenges to his leadership in the nation's largest union.

squeeze out a 2-1 victory in the heart of his union, he's in trouble. These fellows (the Voice) struck the first real blow to clean up the union.

election last November, the Teamsters won by 596 votes of 7,144 cast. That election was set aside by the National Labor Relations Board because of alleged violence in the campaign.

The official count in the National Labor Relations Board election was 4,893 for the Teamsters, 2,550 for an insurgent group known as the "Voice of the Teamsters," which had the public support of AFL-CIO President George Meany.

At stake in the four-day election which ended Sunday night was the right to represent 8,200 over-the-road truckers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, members of four Teamsters locals.

Local 107 is the fourth largest in the 1.5-million member Teamsters Union, with a membership of about 11,000.

Record Oil Demand Seen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An oil industry study group said today improvement in the nation's economy should boost demand for petroleum products this year to a record level.

The supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America also said 1963 domestic crude production should reach another all-time high.

A MIRACLE WORKER

The devil is a miracle worker. "And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men, and deceiveth them that dwell on earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do..." (Rev. 13:13, 14). "Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders" (II Thess. 2:9).

For this reason I am not overly awed with the claims coming from "healing campaigns" of today. Certain types of healings seem to be effected; but the people are not seeing the miracles of God. What is being done may be explained as psychology, hypnosis, trickery or the power of Satan. "But," someone may ask, "Would Satan do a good deed like that of healing the body of a poor sufferer?" Answer: "Yes, if in return he could deceive some soul into accepting a false teaching that will condemn his soul for eternity."

Gala Reception For Mrs. America

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The new Mrs. America—Marilyn Mitchell of San Diego, Calif.—plans to return home soon to a gala reception.

SENTIMENTAL
There is some sentimental attachment to preservation of the Cosden name as well as benefit accruing from a well-established trade name. Game Josh Cosden was one of the most colorful and fabulous of the early-day oil titans.

From a drug store clerk with frail health, he rose to amass a $50-million fortune (some said he could have realized twice that at peak). Almost overnight he lost it, but when he bounced back, he constructed a $20-million empire in three years. The depression struck him down. In the mid-thirties he bid for his third fortune, but ill health and depressed conditions thwarted him.

Born in Kent County, Md. in 1889, Josh Cosden was a $20-a-week store clerk when a doctor advised him to go west for his health. He settled in Oklahoma smack in the middle of an oil boom.

FAIRY WORLD
In this fairy world he settled $1 1/2-million on his wife and a divorce proceeding and wed Nellie Roeser, the former wife of a Tulsa independent. She had helped decorate the fabulous penthouse atop the 13-story Cosden tower in Tulsa and installed a $25,000 piano-pipe organ. Their home on the river had the first tile swimming pool in Oklahoma. The two set out to make a splash in New York.

Acquiring the 310-acre Wm. B. Cochrane Estate, they were neighbors to the Astors, Guggenheims, and Whiteys. Their home at Newport was next to Stuyvesant Fish. In Palm Beach they acquired Charles A. Munn's legendary Guardiola. Cosden developed a stable of 32 race horses; he and his wife had a large yacht and they entertained Edward Prince of Wales and Lord Duff-Cooper, destined to become lord of the British admiralty. On one of these tours they had $150,000 in jewels stolen.

At the peak, Cosden played the commodity market. When the sugar market broke in 1921, he lost $300,000 within half an hour. His holdings were on margin, and he had to put up his Cosden stock

Lemon Astringent Is Good For Oily Skin

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Editor's note: Lydia Lane invites your letter but regrets that a personal reply cannot be given. From time to time, she will answer beauty problems in her column. If you would like your question and answer to appear in this space, write to Answers, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California.

RITA MORENO

Q—I have an oily skin, and my problem is keeping my make-up nice. I would appreciate any advice you could give me in your column.

Hollywood Beauty

A—Rita Moreno has an oily skin, but she uses a cake-type make-up and no creams. Rita says, "The Latin women are great for old-fashioned remedies. I often rub my complexion with the inside of a rind of a freshly squeezed lemon. This has an astringent quality which clears an oily skin."

Q—Is it really true that boys go for blondes more than brunettes? I would appreciate hearing from you because I'm seriously thinking of bleaching my hair. It's a mouse nothing!

A—Barbara Nichols believes they do. She says, "It is a lot of trouble keeping my hair blonde, but it's worth it because men pay more attention to blondes. Next to hair, I think men like a curvy, cecous figure. They don't prefer these flat-chested high-fashion dresses. But to hold a man, you have to have more than looks. I think men like to talk more than they like to listen, and a chatter-box who says nothing will drive them away."

Q—Do you think the movie stars could tell me how to have more confidence? I am so shy that I have to put on a big front and I know it is phony.

A—Janet Lake's formula for confidence is learning to do something well. "I think a lack of concentration keeps people from having confidence in themselves. I am constantly working to train my memory. I can practice this any time and anywhere. Look at the cover of a magazine. Close your eyes and see how much of it you can remember. When you forget yourself, you forget to be self-conscious."

Q—I have a large family and do not have much money to

DAILY GUIDE—Fine opportunities to enjoy lighter pleasures. People don't seem grateful enough for small delights; a shaft of sunlight on a face, flower, or wall, an unexpected courtesy from a bus or taxi driver, a flash of color that thrills with the joy of being. Don't take life for granted.

Today is excellent for social contacts, little pleasantries, window shopping. Be creative in your thinking or you could fall into a negative mood. Late evening hours have an air of romance which makes things seem more glamorous than they are in reality. This atmosphere continues through the early hours of tomorrow, giving the day a pleasant start. Later some aggressiveness enters the picture as the moon is in Leo and Mars is still giving us difficulties as he has all fall and winter.

Leos have two days of extra activity; Taurus can expect friction and being pushed around somewhat; Scorpios need to watch their own tendency to put on pressures; Aquarians can find others too demanding.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, TAURUS! You may have cleared the obstacles which have been plaguing you in the past months, but May could still bring important decisions and action. You are rounding the corner now, and by June should be able to see new things in store for you. Efforts should be made to bring your talents and personality to the attention of a wider public from then on. Your standing, career, or place in life is still the most important factor, so keep in mind your responsibilities, even though temptations to enjoy new freedoms are strong. October brings further stress on personal relationships so don't be too complacent.

Drama, Comedy Share Honors For Television

By WILLIAM GLOVER

Associated Press Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—A stinging drama and a rowdy musical are the big winners in the American Theater Wing's annual "Tony" derby for outstanding Broadway achievement.

Between them, the pair made off with 11 of 21 silver medallions distributed at the Wing's annual dinner Sunday night.

The tune show, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," took six; the play, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" swept five.

Individual stellar awards went to Zero Mostel of "A Funny Thing"; Uta Hagen and Arthur Hill of "Virginia Woolf." The fourth top performer prize went to Vivien Leigh for her singing and dancing in "Tovarich."

SUPPORTING ACTORS
The "Tonys" for supporting players went to dramatic actor, Alan Arkin, of "Enter Laughing"; supporting dramatic actress, Sandy Dennis, of "A Thousand Clowns"; musical actor, David Burns, of "A Funny Thing"; supporting actress, Anna Quayle, of "Stop the World—I Want to Get Off."

In addition to the prizes for the show itself, Mostel and Burns, "A Funny Thing" earned citations for authors Burt Shevelove and Larry Gelbart; producer Harold Prince and director George Abbott. It was Abbott's fifth medallion. Mostel, Burns and Miss Hagen each had won once previously.

The honors for "Virginia Woolf" were rounded out with trophies to director Alan Schneider, Producers Richard Barr and Clinton Wilder.

The play by Edward Albee last Thursday won the New York Drama Critics' Circle Award as the season's best.

OTHER WINNERS
Other "Tony" category winners were: composer and lyricist, musical play, Lionel Bart, for "Oliver!"; scenic designer, Sean Kenny, "Oliver!"; costume designer, Anthony Powell, "The School for Scandal"; choreographer, Bob Fosse, "Little Me"; musical conductor, Donald Pippin, "Oliver!"; and stage technician, Solly Pernick, "Mr. President."

The winners of the awards—which are named in honor of the Wing's wartime secretary, Antoinette Perry—are chosen by ballot of the organization's 800 members.

The board of directors also gave three special citations—to Irving Berlin, for 55 years of song-writing; to the four-man cast of the satiric revue from London, "Beyond the Fringe"; and to W. McNeill Lowry, who directs theatrical grants for the Ford Foundation.

DEAR ABBY

The Ups And Downs

DEAR ABBY: My brother died three years ago and left his wife some stocks. She got into the habit of asking my advice on certain stocks. I made it plain I was NOT advising her, only telling her what I was doing with mine. She followed my moves. Like many others I sold some stocks I should have kept, and kept some stocks I should have sold. Every morning this sister-in-law calls me up and needles me about some stock she sold a while back which is now going up—or some stock she held onto which is going down. I don't want to make an enemy of her, but I'd appreciate seeing this letter in print with your comments.

All she reads is your column and the stock market. NEEDLED
DEAR NEEDLED: Giving advice on the stock market is tricky and thankless. It's a beastly business—loaded with bears, bulls and pigs.

DEAR ABBY: When you go out with a boy, where should you draw the line? BETTY COED
DEAR BETTY: At the point where you suspect you are listening to one.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is always preaching to me about learning to cook. She says when she was my age she cooked dinner every night. So when I go into the kitchen to cook, she says, "Get out—you're in my way—you'll only make a mess!" Abby, how am I supposed to learn if she is always saying this? I am almost 15. WANTS TO LEARN
DEAR WANTS: Your timing is off. If you seem to be underfoot in the kitchen when your mother is busy and hurried, all you'll cook is your own goose. Wait till she's in a good mood and then make an "appointment" with her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "L": Don't go around trying closet doors in search of skeletons. The one that falls out could be your own.

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Panel To Act On Tax Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate State Affairs Committee will act this afternoon on the last major obstacle to the Legislature's finishing its work—the $33 million tax bill already passed by the House.

Approval by the committee today would ready the measure for possible Senate floor action Wednesday.

As soon as the tax bill—probably a conference committee compromise version—is passed, conferees working on the $3.1 billion spending bill will have clear sailing to report out their work.

The tax bill before the Senate committee today includes three major items: $15.4 million from eliminating the current 10 clothing exemption in the 2 per cent sales tax; $6.4 million from raising the tax on motor vehicle sales from 1.5 to 2 per cent; and $1.1 million from a one-year extension of the corporate franchise tax.

Sen. Abraham Kazen Jr. of Laredo already has served notice he will oppose eliminating the clothing exemption—nearly half the expected revenues from the measure.

Any change in the bill would send it to joint conference committee.

Already in conference committee are bills to revise the Texas election code and raise speed limits. Headed for conference are the loan shark and city annexation bills.

Speaker Byron Tunnell set 10 bills on today's House suspension calendar.

Included in the measures is a bill to create a University of Texas biomedical sciences school in Houston. A similar bill caused a storm of controversy in the Senate last week.

Senators took no vote on the measure, but set it as the first order of business today.

Also on the House calendar was a bill to prohibit the attorney general from using any private funds for investigating or prosecuting any cases.

Former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson used a fund composed of private donations in some of his investigative work in the slant-hole drilling probe of the East Texas oil field.

Ike Leaves For Gettysburg Home

SAN BERNARDINO Calif. (AP) —Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower left by train for his Gettysburg home Sunday but said he plans to return in December. A crowd of about 200 gathered at the station to see the general and his wife, Mamie, off. Gen. Eisenhower and his party of seven are scheduled to arrive in Harrisburg, Pa. Wednesday morning.

Dancing With Mrs. Murphy

This picture of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller dancing at his 1959 inaugural with Mrs. Margaretta Fittler Murphy has just become available. Mrs. Murphy recently became divorced. Rockefeller has replied "no comment" to all inquiries about any possible romantic connection between himself and Mrs. Murphy.

No Comment On Rocky Cupid Rumor

NEW YORK (AP)—Associates of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today to a published report that he will wed recently divorced Margaretta "Happy" Fittler Murphy next month.

A copyright story in today's New York Mirror quoted an unidentified friend of the Rockefeller family as saying:

"The date will be Saturday, May 18, or Sunday, May 19. The ceremony will be performed at a Protestant Episcopal church—but not the one where Rockefeller usually worships, the interdenominational Riverside Church on Riverside Drive."

The Mirror quoted the Rockefeller family friend as saying 25 to 50 close relatives of the couple will attend the wedding—including the governor's children, his brothers, Mrs. Murphy's mother, Mrs. George E. Bartol Jr. of Wynwood, a suburb of Philadelphia, and her cousin, Mrs. Peter Iselin of New York City.

QUIET CEREMONY

The friend was quoted as saying there will be "just a quiet ceremony and no reception."

"Possibly the friends and family who attend will have a champagne party—but the bride and groom won't stay for it," the friend was quoted as saying. "They will slip out immediately after the ceremony and hop aboard a plane for Europe."

After a week or so in Europe, the Mirror said, the couple will go to Rockefeller's big ranch in Venezuela for a few days and then return to his estate at Pocantico Hills near Tarrytown, N.Y.

The governor, widely mentioned as a potential 1964 GOP presidential candidate, has a full schedule of political engagements starting early in June.

There is, however, a three-week gap in the governor's official calendar from May 9 to May 31.

CONJECTURE

There has been considerable conjecture about the possible marriage plans of the 54-year-old governor and the 36-year-old socialite. The governor has refused to comment on Mrs. Murphy's divorce four weeks ago—just as he has refused to discuss his own divorce 13 months ago after 31 years of marriage.

Mrs. Murphy, who went out of public sight when her divorce was announced, is a former member of the governor's staff. Her former husband is a medical researcher for the Rockefeller Institute.

The Rockefeller and Murphy families move in the same social circles and have homes near each other.

Educational Chaos Said Threatened

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—"School board members are learning the hard way that teachers can no longer be taken for granted, can no longer be pushed around," an Arizona educator said today.

Prof. Daniel R. Davies of the University of Arizona added, "If school boards and teachers don't learn how to work together, we will get into an era of jungle warfare of the type that industrial labor and management once went through."

Davies spoke in an interview at the annual meeting of the National School Boards Association. NSBA delegates are frankly worried that the determination of teachers to have more voice in decisions about their salaries and conditions is a threat to local control of education.

The situation in Utah, Davies said, is a case where "each side has gone almost too far for there to be any hope of friendly agreement being reached."

Dr. W. Dean Belnap, president of the Utah School Boards Association, said Sunday that Utah's public schools are almost certain to remain closed next fall.

Utah teachers have voted not to sign contracts for the 1963-64 school year unless a special session of the legislature votes additional school funds.

Neither the teachers nor Gov.

George D. Clyde has shown any sign of budging an inch, Belnap said.

Davies noted that "about 70 per cent of the current expenses in a school budget is for teachers' salaries, and most of the rest is for fixed expenses which school board members can't do much about."

"If local boards, such as those in Utah, are not allowed to make the basic decisions on finance, there is little left for them to do."

The National Education Association and its various state affiliates have been urging what they call "professional negotiations" in setting salaries and working conditions. The smaller but more vocal American Federation of Teachers plumps for collective bargaining.

The school boards, as reflected in convention sessions here, are extremely jealous of their traditional authority.

W. L. Davis, a Cleveland, Ohio, board member who is also a labor leader, expressed a minority view Sunday when he told convention delegates: "You need to take a hard look at the fact that the economic welfare of teachers is the real key to the crisis in education, and that economic welfare can best be protected by a union which is really a union."

Record Voter Turnout Is Expected In Italy Today

ROME (AP)—A record voter turnout was indicated today as Italy wound up nationwide elections and pass judgment on government cooperation with the left.

Voters who didn't cast ballots on the first day of polling Sunday had a final seven hours today.

In 14 hours of polling Sunday 80 per cent of the 34 million eligible voters went to the polls. This compared with 77 per cent for the first day of balloting in 1958, when the election ended with a record turnout of 93.8 per cent.

Six persons were injured in a series of pre-dawn bombings Sunday in Milan's central railway station. Police blamed agitators for greater local autonomy in the Alto Adige (South Tyrol), a north Italian area that once belonged to Austria.

The voter turnout reflected the intense interest in the future of Christian Democracy. Premier Amintore Fanfani's policy of cooperating with Pietro Nenni's Socialist party that formerly was allied with the Communists.

Both the Communists and parties of the right denounced Fanfani's center-left alliance. But the Roman Catholic Church approved and called on Catholics to back the Catholic party.

The voters were choosing 630 deputies and 315 senators for the Italian republic's fourth Parliament.

Red China Shorts Castro On Words

TOKYO (AP)—Red China's New China News Agency reported in 90 words today the arrival of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro in Moscow.

The Peking report monitored in Tokyo noted Castro was greeted by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and said "a meeting on the occasion of the arrival of Castro was held at Red Square."

A Devotional For The Day

The churches were strengthened in the faith, and they increased in numbers daily. (Acts 16:5, RSV.)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the vision of those early Christians who made all-inclusive the invitation to come and follow Jesus. Help us today to open our churches to everyone, regardless of race or station in life. In His name and for His sake. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

State Needs To Do Its Job

The 58th Legislature is expected to re-apportion congressional districts to absorb the Texas seat added by the 1960 census, though not with fully satisfactory equalization of representation. As the session wanes, however, it is becoming increasingly doubtful that this legislature will provide for automatic congressional redistricting after each decennial census.

Texas law now requires that the legislature reapportion its own House and Senate seats after each census, or forfeit that function to a special board. That has two flaws. One is that an anti-urban bias has required in the state constitution cannot be overcome by legislative statute, and the other is that the redistricting requirement fixes no minimum standard degree of representation. A token redistricting can get by the Texas law, though it may not much longer get by federal judicial review.

The legislature has reapportioned congressional districts only when the state has gained U. S. House seats and then belatedly after the census report. Previous reapportionments were in 1957, after one seat was added in 1950, and in 1933, after three seats were gained in 1930.

Actually, congressional districts should unflinchingly be reapportioned every 10 years, whether the state's number of U. S. House seats changes or not. Population growth and shifts over a decade throw representation out of line, and that should be corrected every time a decennial census provides the population data essential to a fair redistribution of representation. If the legislature fails to do this, the prospect now is that a federal court will require it, but it would be much better for the state to meet its own responsibilities to democratic principle.

Second Look

There is in Washington these days a healthy, though not yet widespread, tendency toward reappraisal of our program for sending a manned space capsule to the moon. Although former President Eisenhower has expressed doubts as to the wisdom of pouring out so many billions for this project, the matter cannot be considered—not sensibly at any rate—as a partisan controversy. Leading scientists without strong partisan orientation have raised questions most persistently.

It also is significant that Sen. Fulbright, a Democrat whose position as head of the Foreign Relations Committee gives his opinion special weight, is among those concerned about the relative importance of a moon landing and such other things as full employment, better education, an improved transportation system, and so on. He feels that we are paying too much for the lunar race with Russia, and that even if we win the race the boost to our prestige will not be worth the price. As one commentator put it, Fulbright "believes the nation's prestige will never be greater than its ability to house, transport, educate and employ its own people."

There is no simple, ready answer. How much money and energy we put into the moon venture is a matter of judgment based on many factors. But sober second thought may now suggest that the national interest might be better served by using some of the moon billions for current needs. It is a question that should be fully examined, and preferably in a non-partisan light.

David Lawrence Price-Making In A Free Market

WASHINGTON — The American people have just been given a significant demonstration of how prices are made in a big industry under the free-enterprise system.

What various steel companies did in recent weeks—in raising and then lowering some of their prices—tells more than all the congressional committee hearings and reports have ever told about price-making.

A SMALL STEEL company raised its prices on some products and the medium-sized companies accepted the figures. Then, one of the large companies declined to go along at as high a figure as had been set by smaller companies. This caused the small companies which had previously raised their prices to revise them downward.

All this is natural and competitive. It is a system based on the demands of the market. These modifications in steel prices would, in ordinary circumstances, have attracted no attention outside the industry. But when, a year ago, a political judgment was made by the administration to intervene and coerce the companies to change the prices they had made, the price-making process itself became a national issue.

EVER SINCE April 1962 not only steel but other large industries have been confused and frustrated on the subject of prices. The administration at that time started grand jury investigations and used other threats and forms of coercion against the steel companies. The administration after a few days achieved its victory. But it was a Pyrrhic victory. Confidence among businessmen sagged. The whole future of the free-enterprise system was threatened with government interference.

But it became apparent in the last several months, even to labor leaders, that if the government, even without a law of Congress, could intervene to fix prices, it could do the same with respect to wages. Thus the outlook for collective bargaining has been clouded, and the way has been pointed toward a socialist state. It was evident, therefore, that something had to be done.

IT ISN'T TOO clear yet, however, that the way prices were recently adjusted is going to be a good pattern for the future. Maybe it would have been better if one or two of the larger steel companies had taken the lead as before, so that the smaller ones wouldn't have had to guess at how high the market could go in the face of competitive factors.

But it is important to study the facts of what actually has been happening. Steel products at this time are in heavy demand. Some of this buying is due to an inventory pileup and is based on an anticipation of another steel strike later this year. Already it is being assumed, however, that if no strike occurs, there will be a drop-off in steel orders.

THE CURRENT demand for steel cannot, of course, be satisfied speedily by one company. There's enough business, therefore, to go around. But any company sets a new price hopes for a protracted period of good business and naturally doesn't want to put the price up so high as to discourage a customer who has long-range plans.

The prices being set now do not indicate what the future will bring. A smaller company always does the best if can to gauge the price that will attract customers, while a larger company, with more efficient plant and larger capacity, makes up its own mind, too, what a reasonable price would be. In fact, the larger steel companies for individual reasons of their own, recently announced a price lower than some of the smaller companies had proclaimed. So immediately the smaller ones had to get theirs in line. It was an economic necessity.

Each company, therefore, at this particular time has gone as high as it can in price. It was the judgment of the companies that their prices could be sustained at least for a while. While each company made its own judgment, there were some differences among them.

AFTER ALL the price changes had been publicly announced in the last two weeks, the company that chose a higher figure originally couldn't keep it above that of the lowest man and maintain good relations with regular customers. So when the smoke cleared, all the prices had to settle down to the lowest point. This is natural price-making in a free market.

The new pattern may mean that the larger companies will know in advance just how far down the smaller companies can go and still stay in business. Some modifications downward might be forced by the larger companies, but not enough to warrant a charge that it is ruinous competition.

Billy Graham

QUESTION: Many church people in our area got very excited about politics in a recent local election. I believe it is wrong for Christians to get involved in politics. What do you get involved in politics? D.T.

ANSWER: Politics is not a dirty word. Though some people interpret politics as being crafty and unscrupulous, the word actually means, "Pertaining to a citizen."

The Bible says, "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers." With this in mind, we should be tremendously concerned with the kind of men who govern our nation. Therefore, I believe you couldn't be more wrong when you say that it is wrong for Christians to be involved in politics.

I don't mean to imply that we are to be petty, crafty and unscrupulous—but concerned about justice, fair play, and integrity in government.

Plato once said, "The penalty good men pay for indifference to public affairs is to be ruled by evil men." Every citizen has a political responsibility, and since Christians are citizens, we have a duty to our government.

James Marlow The Mythical Peace In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP)—The idea of a peace in Laos is a myth.

If you were weak but getting stronger and figured time was on your side, you could afford to mch along to get what you wanted. A delay of even a decade or two wouldn't mean much.

The Red Chinese are in that position. Since they operate on the theory that a communized world is inevitable, they don't have to rush. Since the policy of communism is expansion, what they naturally want is everything in sight.

LAOS, RIGHT next door and on the road to all the rest of Southeast Asia, is the easiest and weakest logical first step.

The United States, concerned that unless the Laotian fighting stops the Soviets will triumph, appeals to Red Premier Khrushchev to help arrange the truce which was supposed to keep anyone from winning.

Naturally, since the rest of the world is watching and listening, he says he's all for law and order. But he doesn't say he'll step in to be sure no one takes over.

And, if he did, it wouldn't mean much. It would be only a pause. The fighting would begin again, in a month, six months, a year. It's impractical to think Red China will not try to take Laos, if only by a step at a time.

It doesn't even have to use its own troops. In a country as primitive, confused and divided as Laos, local Communist guerrillas are plenty good enough when helped, encouraged and no doubt directed by Red China.

THE RED Chinese would be far more direct and far more overbearing and overwhelming if they had now a plentiful supply of the nuclear weapons they are trying to put together. That time almost certainly will come.

That's why the Asia of today, troubled as it is, in a few years will look like an area of comparative calm. The worst days are ahead.

As of now, lacking nuclear weapons, Red China has stopped blustering about seizing Formosa where the United States' Nationalist allies, under Chiang Kai-shek, are protected by American air and sea power and its modern weapons.

The present reticence of the Red Chinese about Formosa will also change when they feel strong enough for a showdown with the United States over Formosa. It's particularly easy to understand why in this case.

RIGHT NOW Americans are incensed that communism has a stronghold in Cuba, 90 miles from the United States, even though this country never claimed Cuba as its own.

But the Red Chinese do claim Formosa, 100 miles from mainland China. So Americans who feel irritated about Cuba can understand about Formosa. The Red Chinese feel about Formosa.

But, because neither side will budge on Formosa, a clash eventually seems inescapable just as it probably will be over Cuba unless Fidel Castro is toppled from within. And that doesn't look likely.

The Red Chinese don't have to wait to get stronger in order to try to absorb mainland Asia just south of them and right next door. Here they don't have to attack directly, as they would with Formosa.

For example, the local Communists in Laos are doing pretty well. After Laos if it falls, the story will be repeated in one form or another with Burma, Thailand and Cambodia.

DOWS, Iowa, UP — A 72-year-old Dows woman likes basketball so much that when she listens to a game on the radio she keeps a running score.

To Your Good Health 'Mrs. Fortunate' Had Cancer Test In Time

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner, Your articles on hysterectomy and the Pap test interested me very much.

Recently I had a hysterectomy as a result of a Pap test I went to the Cancer Center because I didn't know a doctor as I've always been in perfect health. A friend later gave me the name of her doctor.

Two biopsies were done before the operation.

It's hard to explain my feelings just now about all this. It's like a miracle, a dream. The cancer was detected so early. I'm only 30 years old.

You see, I just went for this test "out of the blue." Now my doctor calls me "Mrs. Fortunate"—MRS. K. Y.

The important thing is that here — very likely — a life was saved. Yes, the cancer might have been discovered too late.

I can see nothing wrong with having free tests if they are available. Use them! That's what they are for!

Certainly several scores of and perhaps hundreds of women, probably most of them older than Mrs. Fortunate, had Pap tests about the same time she did, and were told there was nothing to worry about.

It's the one woman in many that we seek—the one who can be saved if the danger is discovered in time.

I hope Mrs. Fortunate keeps telling her friends. She saved herself by following a hunch. By telling her story, she can save others.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our daughter is eight months pregnant. Her doctor insisted on having an X-ray before he would deliver the baby. Now everyone tells her she should not have had it done. What danger is there from having one X-ray?—M. D.

I lose patience with these calamity howlers who seem to enjoy frightening other people gratuitously. Yes, there is danger to the baby (not the mother) from X-ray exposure early in pregnancy. This means the first three to four months. The risk is virtually nil in the last month or two since by then the baby is quite well developed. And an X-ray at times saved. Yes, the cancer might have been discovered too late.

I can see nothing wrong with having free tests if they are available. Use them! That's what they are for!

all his life. He still goes to his office. However, his eyesight is failing rapidly and he was advised to have an operation. He thinks he is too old. I believe you have written that age does not prevent such operations.—L. R.

You are right. In past decades the strain was such that older people did not come through surgery too well. This is no longer true. Operations far more drastic than eye surgery now are being done with patients in their 90's and occasionally even older.

Your father is an unusually vigorous man, obviously. Even if he were frail, I would still tell him to have such an operation. Age no longer is of any great moment for a person in good health.

Shingles can be a painful disease. To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Facts About Shingles," write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Your Tax Time Is Longer

One thing and another: In case you missed it, I want to add to your misery: You're not alone. Tax Foundation, Inc., says you're having to work two minutes longer this year than you did last year to pay your taxes. The total is up to two hours, 21 minutes in each eight-hour working day now. In other words, you're not on your own until after your coffee break.

Wasn't it about ten years ago that some of the space experts said we'd be going to the moon in ten years?

If we have four fingers and a thumb on each hand, why is it we don't have four toes and a fumb on each foot? (My three-year-old daughter says we have a fumb on each hand.)

When I was in short pants and yearning for long pants, and clearer diction, I remember listening to a preacher who liked to describe Hades as a place one wouldn't like to spend a Sunday afternoon.

"You've seen molten metal running out of a furnace?" is the way he put it. "So hot and sizzling, it's white. Well, they use that stuff for ice cream in the place I'm telling you about."

The recent newspaper strike in New York has had a profound effect on the reading habits of people in that metropolis. Recently, Senator Kenneth Keating proclaimed, "It's gotten so bad that Cardinal Spellman is reading the Christian Science Monitor."

One word you'll never see on the barber shops around town, although they mean the same thing: Chirolosorsy.

Yacht racing is not the most exciting sport to watch.

The great Damon Runyan was among the dissenters when he viewed his first America's Cup Race. It proved quite a switch from his world of violence of the fight camps, the crash of World Series home runs, the race tracks that offer horses closing in on the rail and whipping riders, and the slam-bang sound effects of football.

"Watching an America's Cup race," he wrote, "is like watching the grass grow."

Have you heard the story about the young swain who approached his girl friend's father with the question: "I'd like to have the hand of your daughter in marriage, sir?"

The father eyed his petitioner suspiciously and asked: "Do you drink, young man?" "Thanks a lot," replied the youthful suitor, "but let's get this other thing settled first."

A Word To Ladies About Men

(Editor's note: Mrs. Robb, as the principal speaker at the annual Women's Day program of the University of Arizona, made the following pertinent remarks on the Battle of the Sexes.)

TUCSON, Ariz.—It is not my custom to make a ponderous speech, but since this is more or less Ladies' Day in the University's Turkish bath, let us consider woman's one eternal and enduring preoccupation. Let us speak of men, an endlessly fruitful and fascinating subject.

WHEN YOU LEAVE these cactus-covered walls, it is not contemporary woman with whom you will have to deal—and make your peace—in this brave new world one-half so much as with contemporary man, poor thing.

We find him, in the last half of the 20th Century, buffeted, bruised, and filled with self-pity, always an ignoble sentiment. And this is true despite the fact that, more than ever, this is a man's world. If you have not already discovered this fact, you will meet it head-on all too soon when you leave school and begin to buck the workaday world.

MAN IS STILL the lord of almost all he surveys, even as in the past. What confuses him, arouses his antagonism, and makes him feel his kingship is in danger is the fact that after centuries women are seeking a different status. It is not the fact that women are asking to be treated as equals that stuns and frustrates man. It is the circumstance that women at last are asking simply to be treated as people that leaves him speechless and appalled.

MEN, BLESS THEM, are not yet quite willing to treat women as people when, from time immemorial, we were chattels, without rights or privileges. Woman's transformation from a property into a person is of relatively recent date. And it is the emergence of women as people in modern times rather than the emergence of women as equals that confuses, frustrates and challenges man. It is really only yesterday that the only people in the world were men.

FOR A WOMAN to change from a possession into a person with rights and privileges has frightened the life out of the boys, who have been forming secret armies to fight and oppose this drastic upheaval in what was once their private preserve.

Now, there are two ways in which women can join this Battle of the Sexes. First, we can fight the brave lads tooth and nail. This way, I assure you, lies madness. In the first place, you can't possibly lick 'em, and if you did, you wouldn't like it. The victory would be Pyrrhic. You would regret it the rest of your life. A subdued hang-dog male would be intolerable. Take the fight out of the male animal and he ceases to be a man. Or, fun.

SO, IF YOU can't lick him—simply because you can't afford the resulting caked situation—the only smart, the only realistic thing to do is to join him. Infiltrate, ladies, infiltrate!

If there are any old-fashioned feminists among you, they are now furious with me. Because the dedicated feminists—and I tell you that such feminism as such is dead as a doornail—want to mount a frontal attack against man and storm the fort.

BUT THESE ARE the very tactics that scare men to death and spur them, in a rage, to band ever more firmly into resistance groups. This age in which we live is one of tremendous, far-reaching transition, transition between the sexes no less than between political systems and nations.

It is obvious that this transition between men and women is much harder on men than on us. They feel their superiority, which no smart woman questions publicly, under attack; their masculinity under siege. They have had to admit that women are no longer chattels, without rights or privileges. Woman's transformation from a property into a person is of relatively recent date. And it is the emergence of women as people in modern times rather than the emergence of women as equals that confuses, frustrates and challenges man. It is really only yesterday that the only people in the world were men.

FOR MEN ARE, as Rex Harrison sang in "My Fair Lady," a "marvelous sex." What man needs in this generation is re-assurance, not a battle royal. Remember: If you outfight man, you will gain only the scorched earth; if you outfox him, you have a foot in paradise.

Holmes Alexander Problem Of The Anti-Missile Missile

WASHINGTON — Quite a few corny jokes got cracked a while back when the Senate went into its first secret session since World War II—but from what can now be told about the seance, its causes and subject matter weren't a bit funny.

The causes were Pentagon muzzling of military information. The subject matter was the deadly chess game we're playing with Russia on the anti-missile missile.

SECRETARY McNAMARA, who has an acknowledged poppa-knows-best attitude toward Congress, at first suppressed the fact that the Soviets have deployed an anti-missile system around Leningrad. Admittedly the system is still primitive—but when some members of the Senate Armed Services Committee found out about it on their own and demanded to hear more, the Secretary became very annoyed.

HE FELT that the interjection of the subject was premature and that it would upset the decision which he's already made to postpone development of our present Nike-Zeus interceptor weapon and to aim for the Nike-X, which is a later-generation weapon and admittedly much more sophisticated. The crux of the disagreement between McNamara and his critics is a matter of money and timing. Which is better—to spend about $2 billion extra and have a made-to-order Nike-Zeus interceptor in 1967, or to invest the money, and a good deal more, in order to have a superior Nike-X weapon in 1969-70?

McNAMARA's critics say that even this explanation is a little open-ended. They credit the Secretary with complete sincerity, but believe that the Administration for which he speaks is fundamentally against the anti-missile. For this reason they believe that whoever is Secretary next year will oppose the Nike-X, just as McNamara today opposes Nike-Zeus.

NINE MEMBERS of the Senate Armed Services Committee insisted upon a debate. It couldn't be an open debate because that would reveal highly-classified military technology. There was no cabal of secrecy. The swing man of the Committee's 9-to-4 vote for closed debate was Henry Jackson, whose forte is scientific knowledgeability. The Senate as a whole decided with McNamara, but there is a grave question of whether the matter was decided on its merits. One factor in the

THE AMERICAN LAYMAN is apt to throw up his hands over a technological discussion, and leave it to the experts. But despite the scientific complexities of McNamara's position, there is a philosophy which can be comprehended by thoughtful laymen—and should be. Nuclear deterrence is the American policy—until disarmament can be accomplished. Nuclear deterrence will only work if both sides lie open to annihilation. The deterrence depends upon both sides possessing a second-strike capability which can average either a surprise or simultaneous salvo of nuclear warheads. But what if one side develops an effective interceptor which plucks the flying missiles out of the air? An effective anti-missile system would nullify the deterrence, which has become the peace-keeper of our times.

SO, WE RETURN to the basic Administration policy. Keep the deterrence. Don't push for the anti-missile weapon. To do so would stimulate an arms race in defensive weapons. To do so would challenge Russia to develop a decoy or multi-warhead system which they do not yet have. It would also force both sides to redesign all existing ICBMs in order to penetrate the enemy's defenses.

WE MAY NOW see why McNamara was so quick to Leningrad out of the discussion. Anti-missile deployment at Leningrad muddied the Secretary's argument against the urgent need for Nike-Zeus. One Russian city defended against American missiles by a primitive system didn't mean the whole of Russia is defended by an impenetrable system. McNamara didn't want the Senators to rush him into a crash program of missile interception. From his viewpoint, it would be uneconomical to have an inferior weapon sooner than necessary. From a longer Administration viewpoint, a crash program would speed up the arms race and throw the deterrence policy out of kilter.

That is where the matter rests today.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠ 863 ♠ A82 ♣ AKQJ982

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass Pass 1♠ Pass

1♠ Pass 3♠ Pass

3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Prospects for a slam are excellent despite the fact that your partner originally passed and, as yet, has shown no special signs of strength. If partner shows the ace of hearts now, you will have sign off but, if he is able to bid five diamonds, you should contract for a slam in clubs.

Q. 2—As dealer, you have an 80 part score and hold:

♠ 62 ♠ AJ10987432 ♠ J3

What do you bid?

A.—Five hearts. True, this is a bid over score and it is not our object to try for a slam, but on hands of this type there is virtually no chance of ever buying the contract any cheaper, so to start the bidding at a lower level only makes it easier for the opposition to enter the bidding and find their best fit.

Q. 3—As South, neither vulnerable, you hold:

♠ 9654 ♠ KQ93 ♠ AJ108 ♣ K

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass Pass 1♠

Pass Pass Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. This is rather unusual strategy at the one level with only four diamonds, but you do have the required three trump tricks plus a trick on the side, and partner's original pass makes game prospects for your side exceedingly dim.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ 63 ♠ AQ852 ♠ Q954 ♣ 64

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1♠ Pass Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. We are usually disinclined to let the opponents buy a contract so cheaply, but in this instance the chances are strong that they have a much better spot in one of the black suits. This will surely be the case if partner was laying a mild trap. If he wasn't, then the other side surely has enough strength to outbid us in any event.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠ 7 ♠ AQ987 ♠ 105 ♣ KJ542

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass

3♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. This is not technically acceptable on such an unbalanced holding, but partner's blood is obviously near the boiling point and a bid of four clubs by you may send him up beyond all control. A discouraging bid is of paramount importance at this stage in the proceedings.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠ J4 ♠ AQ ♠ AQJ10973 ♣ AQ

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1♠ 4♣ 4♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five clubs. Slam is a strong likelihood with this hand facing a partner who was able to bid freely at the four level. Still, he may have been acting somewhat under the pressure of the preempt, so that any final commitment to slam by you would be overly aggressive. If, after your cue bid, he merely rebids five hearts, discretion would dictate a pass.

Q. 7—The opponents are vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ 3 ♠ 1097643 ♠ J3 ♣ Q862

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1♥ Double

4♥ 4♠ Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five hearts. This is in the nature of an insurance policy. Your hand is not only worthless defensively but, in a sense, it deteriorates your partner's hold. If it turns out that your judgment has been faulty and that the four spade contract could have been set, your loss should be very slight.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠ 1063 ♠ 85 ♠ KQJ9754 ♣ 9

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

3NT Pass 6♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. You have already bid the full extent of your hand. From the appearance of your holding, it seems likely that partner has tenace positions that are protected from the opening lead. Furthermore, there is the distinct probability that he has 150 honors that he wishes to collect.

Harsh Storms Rake Wide Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Rain fell in Northeast Texas and along the lower coast Monday. The Weather Bureau forecast thundershowers for East and South Texas during the day.

However, none of the rains was as severe as Sunday's vicious storms that inflicted more than one million dollars in damage at Fort Worth and heavy damage on property and crops in the northeast quarter of the state.

Four tornadoes, winds up to 98 miles per hour, hail and flash floods added to the damage.

The Trinity River rose to 32.8 feet, slightly above flood stage, at Dallas early Monday and flooded low-lying farmlands south of the city. Creeks and small streams in North Central and Northeast Texas were rising.

Two persons had died in traffic accidents on rain-slick highways since Friday. At least seven persons were injured in the Fort Worth storm. Three children were injured in a severe storm that struck Killeen, in Central Texas.

The heaviest of the rains Sunday was 5.80 inches which fell at Corsicana in four hours during the afternoon.

AT CHURCH

The Fort Worth storm struck while thousands of persons were attending church services.

An estimated 150 persons escaped injury when winds, clocked at 98 m.p.h. by the Weather Bureau, ripped the roof off the Western Hills Baptist Church.

The storm "came right across the top of our elementary education building," said the Rev. Dan Cooper, pastor.

"I first thought it was heavy hail because the noise sounded like small cannon exploding. But when the rain came rushing in, I knew the storm had torn the roof off."

"Some of the younger children began to whimper and cry."

Sunday School leaders and teachers led the children into hallways where the youngsters crouched against the walls.

"Over the roar of the wind, you could hear the cries of the young children—we had 70 between the ages of 4 and 9—and their mothers trying to locate them," the Rev. Mr. Cooper said.

When the rain and wind subsided, he said, members of the congregation gathered in the chapel for prayer.

"We thanked God that nobody was injured and that our lives had been spared," he said.

FUNNEL SIGHTED

A tornado funnel was sighted on the city's south side but apparently did no damage.

The West and North sections of Fort Worth suffered the heaviest damage.

The wind unroofed one apartment building and parts of the roof fell in the swimming pool.

Firemen removed valuables and art objects from another apartment building after the wind tore large holes in the building.

One person was hospitalized when the wall of a supermarket collapsed on a car parked nearby. The fire station at suburban Blue Mound collapsed. A fire truck was buried in the debris.

Two men were injured slightly when a wall of a small storage shed collapsed.

Scores of trees were uprooted, power lines were knocked down and numerous homes and buildings suffered roof damage and broken windows from wind and hail.

The storm also hit Dallas while many persons were at church.

A fire, presumed to have been caused by lightning destroyed the main building of the Greenhill School, a private school on the north edge of the city. Lack of water hampered firemen, but the heavy rain was credited with preventing the fire from spreading to other buildings. The loss was estimated in excess of $50,000.

FOUR-INCH RAIN

Dallas had four inches of rain. Some underpasses in the city were flooded by 15 feet of water.

The Weather Bureau reported four tornadoes in North Central and Northeast Texas Sunday and three other tornado funnels sighted.

One of the twisters struck near Anna, north of McKinney before noon, uprooting trees and causing damage estimated by the Texas Department of Public Safety at $4,000.

Other tornadoes were reported between Mt. Pleasant and Clarksville and southeast of Paris, Texas. No damage was reported.

Tornado funnels were sighted west of Texarkana, Ark., near Mt. Vernon and east of Dallas, but they did not cause damage.

High winds that accompanied a heavy rain raked Killeen in Central Texas, damaging at least 10 homes, several store buildings and a number of automobiles. Three small children suffered minor injuries.

Hail, one inch in diameter, pounded nearby Ft. Hood.

Although the rains may do much to replenish water in city reservoirs and farm stock ponds, they may pose a problem for farmers.

LAND DAMAGE

A. S. Milliken, Dallas County agriculture agent, said "It is almost certain many acres of blackland area will suffer damage from the rapid rainfall."

He said there was considerable sheet erosion, as opposed to the sheet erosion that makes ditches and gullies, in Dallas County.

He said that 60 per cent of the county's cotton had been planted and some cotton which was not up may need replanting.

The rain, however, was beneficial to wheat, he said.

Unofficial reports ranged up to 4.48 inches in Dallas,

Rain, Hail Sweep Across Area Sunday

Rains, accompanied by hail of considerable intensity which caused considerable damage in the Moss Creek Lake area, moved across the southern half of Howard County early Sunday morning.

Heaviest rains were reported south of Coahoma where as much as two inches fell. In Big Spring, rains averaged above an inch. The U.S. Experiment Station reported 1.15 inches. Texas Electric Service Company switching plant gauged 1.60 inches and the downtown plant one inch. In the southwest part of town, up to 1.50 inches were reported.

Howard County Junior College had 1.01 inches. South Haven addition reported 1.45 and Western Hills 1.40.

Moss Creek Lake area had from 1.50 to two inches. Morgan Martin lost a windshield from his pickup from heavy hail. Some roof damage in this community was reported.

Lomax had an inch with small hail which did no damage. Elbow community had 1.20 inches and some hail. Chalk had .80 of an inch at the TESCO station but there were reports other areas in the Chalk community had as much as two inches. East of Lomax, only .60 of an inch was measured.

North of town, Fairview had a scant .10 inch. Vealmoor had even less—just a trace.

Hail in Big Spring did no damage. The stones were small and the fall relatively brief.

Knott, according to Rufus Stallings, got only .10 inch, but two and a half miles south the rain gauged half an inch.

Northeast of town on the L. J. Davidson farm, .20 inch fell. The rain diminished, Davidson said, as it moved north and east of his farm.

Apparently little, if any, crop damage was caused by the rain although many fields had small cotton just sprouting. Farmers had seized on the opportunity offered by showers earlier in April to plant. This is well ahead of normal planting time in this county. Ordinarily plant does not get under way until mid-May. There were no reports of hail or washing rain causing any damage to tender young plants.

The rains, where enough moisture fell to justify, will step up planting activities.

Other rain reports from TESCO: Snyder 1.51 inches; Morgan Creek 1.73; Sweetwater 2.19; Eskota 1.60; Colorado City 1.80 and Champion Creek, 2.10.

LETTERS TO EDITORS

Suggests Referendum On Federal Aid Issue

To the Editor:

It is now history that April 23, 1963, the City Commission of Big Spring voted not to apply for federal government of around $130,000.00 toward the cost of the Beall's Creek sewage project. This was a complete reversal of the policy of the city commission in accepting help from the federal government. In the past, our city government, our schools and our community have accepted numerous and large sums of money from our federal government. All of the past gifts were for needed facilities that the people here would have had to pay for by local taxes, if they got them, just as they will some day have to pay, by taxation, the $130,000 the city commission refused this last week to seek.

Is this action of the city commission to be its future policy? Are they saying by this action we will not accept any more gifts for any purpose from the federal government?

The people of Big Spring had better wake up before it is too late for we might miss several opportunities to get sizable sums of money we need that we could not get by taxation or any other way.

The action of the city commission in this matter seems to have a connection with current politics. There are those in our country who, in and out of season, say our national government is going hopelessly in debt and, others who fear the government will expect to direct and control the projects it gives money to. We ought to know something about that here for we receive large sums of money for our schools from the government every year and in one instance we received almost enough money from the government to build one of our large ward school buildings, the Marcy school in the Southwest part of town. No person can ever give one instance, in fact, where the government has suggested what we should teach or to interfere in any other way in the operations of our schools. The same is true of any of the projects here to which the government has contributed money.

We can not believe the action of the city commission reflects the sentiments of the majority of our people. We wish we might have a chance for the people to express themselves on this matter, whether we should seek this $130,000 or pass it on for the local taxpayers to add to their already high burden of taxes. In the future when the city commission ask the taxpayers to vote a needed bond issue some voters might ask the question, "Why did you not seek for the city the $130,000 you had a chance to get in 1963?"

After all, what the government gives us for these projects is only a part of the tax money the people had already paid the government. It is not tainted money, nor has it had strings tied to it. Most communities could use more of such help as only Uncle Sam can give.

Lakeview Y Plans Benefit

Members of the Lakeview Branch YMCA board of directors are pushing sales of tickets for a benefit barbecue to be held at the Y Wednesday evening.

"We are trying to raise money for tables and chairs," Charlie Merritt, chairman of the board, said. "Now we have to borrow the equipment."

He pointed out that the Y has become the scene of club and group activities and more can be expected when tables and chairs are readily available.

"Many social activities which were formerly held in schools and churches are now held at the Y. The Y has become a community center," Merritt said.

The benefit meal will be served at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Lakeview Y. Members of the Lakeview board will prepare the food and dish it out, Merritt said.

Tickets will be available at the door for $1. Advance tickets may be purchased from Merritt, E. S. Morgan at Lakeview Elementary and Junior High, and James Smith, branch manager of the Y.

Local Terrier Wins At Show

Tag-a-long, a two-year-old toy fox terrier belonging to Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Gideon, won the Best In Texas trophy for senior males last weekend in the Texas Toy Fox Terrier Show held in Dallas.

The dog had won the best senior male trophy a week earlier in the West Texas Toy Fox Terrier Show held in Amarillo. Tag-a-long was also named best male of that age category.

The Gideons also showed two other winners in the Amarillo show. Little Bud was named best male in the 0-3 months class and Susie was named best female in that age category.

Roving TV Eye Carefully Scans Topic Of Gambling

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A middle-aged woman, comfortably seated, was dropping quarters into a slot machine and pulling the handle with the speed and dexterity of a production-line worker. "It's relaxing," she replied, without making a motion. "The Business of Gambling," Sunday night's program which included the busy matron, concentrated on four counties in southern Maryland which legalized the machines as an economic measure to bolster a flagging agricultural area. One result was sharply reduced local taxes.

The program carefully balanced pro-slot and anti-slot sentiments. The 2,000 slot machines are scattered around in bars and amusement halls, drug stores, dry cleaning stores and markets. One mother said the machines gave children false ideas of the value of work and money. A man countered by saying that local children were accustomed to the machines and ignored them. There was talk of workmen who blew their salaries gambling—rebutted by those who said it was "human nature" and that the money would have leaked away anyway. One thing is certain: a lot of money goes into gambling, some $32 million a year in the legal southern Maryland slots alone, according to narrator Chet Huntley. He estimated that over $25 billion flows into illegal gambling all over the nation each year.

Gambling is an interesting, rather sensational subject, but Sunday night's grave, careful treatment of Maryland's profitable operation was plodding and very talky. More than that, it seemed to prove little, "one way or the other."

It's later than you think: NBC has already sold its 1964 presidential convention coverage to a sponsor.

Recommended tonight: David Brinkley's "Journal," NBC, 10-10:30 (EST)—a look at the French penal colony, Devil's Island. Producers of CBS' "Password," unhappy about the similarity between their game show and NBC's new daytime program "You Don't Say," have made a rule that players on the NBC show must wait a considerable period before they can be booked on the CBS program.

Incidentally, celebrity guest players on the daytime version of "Password" receive $1,000 for their week's work—which takes three days to wipe.

Fire Destroys Marshall Store

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—A fire destroyed a shoe store and damaged two other business buildings in downtown Marshall Sunday night. The fire broke out in the two-story building occupied by the Austin Shoe store. Dense smoke poured from the building for more than an hour before the building collapsed and burst into boiling flames.

An explosion, which Fire Chief Glenn Warnstaff said was caused by an accumulation of gas in the attic, rocked an adjoining building occupied by a dry goods store.

A second shoe store suffered smoke and water damage. Warnstaff said the fire started in an air conditioning unit.

Farmer Killed

By The Associated Press
J. H. Bruce, 74, Panhandle farmer, died early Sunday when a car hit a power pole near Canyon. It was Canyon's first traffic fatality in five years. Johnny Wilcoxson, 33, riding in the car, was critically injured.
