

Daisies Are OWC Theme

Texas-sized daisies and bumble bees formed the decorative theme for the Thursday luncheon of the Officers Wives Club. The program theme, "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," was the subject for a humorous book review by Mrs. Clyde Angel.

Eighty-two members and guests were served at tables marked with mixed arrangements of daisies, mums, glads, and other flowers in pastel shades. Giant sized daisies in variegated shades, plus a bumble bee of like size, was the backdrop for the stage. Hostesses for the event were members of the retiring OWC board.

Mrs. L. L. Patton, the new president, was in charge of the business session when members voted to discontinue the monthly business meetings during the summer. She said that other activities of the group would continue on schedule. She reminded the group of a tea to be held Sunday, June 23, from 3 until 4:30 p.m. in honor of Mrs. Wilson Banks who will be leaving for New Delhi, India.

Also announced was the next hi-and-bye coffee June 27 and a summer luau to be held Aug. 17.

Mrs. Patton told of a proposed OWC publication, asking that those who are interested contact the press chairman, Mrs. Lynch.

Capt. Margaret J. Wyatt of Family Services explained the orientation program at Webb and announced the next orientation for June 18, 19 and 20 from 8:45 to 11:30 a.m. in John Lees Service Center. A nursery will be provided at no charge.

Mrs. T. L. Thomas made the door prize awards to Mrs. W. H. Baxter, Mrs. W. C. Wirstrom, Mrs. V. K. Kelley and Mrs. Jack Crawford.

Newcomers welcomed were Mrs. J. R. Humphrey, Mrs. L. A. Hoskins and Mrs. R. Davison. Guests were Mrs. L. M. Sander and Mrs. C. J. Coppage.

Those who are leaving were acknowledged as Mrs. Banks who will be leaving for Washington, D. C. before her move to India; Mrs. Ross Scott, going to Colorado Springs; Mrs. Charles A. Smith, Randolph Field, San Antonio; Mrs. Robert G. Hess, Detroit, Mich.; and Mrs. Robert W. Frost, San Bernardino, Calif.

CREDIT WOMEN

Problems In Finance Topic For Program

Credit Women were told of the problems in a financial future when they met Thursday for luncheon at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant. Mrs. Bill Draper, president for the meeting of 22 members.

"Your Financial Future" was the topic for a talk by Larson

Lloyd, president of the State Security Bank. He mentioned two problems requiring two separate answers—preparation for living and preparation for death.

"None of us know what tomorrow holds for us, we want to be financially prepared for either," he said pointing out that for death there is insurance and for living, an estimate of needs followed by an estimate of dividends.

Lloyd suggested that members make a study of all investments, stating that money can work for an individual as effectively as he can work for himself. He stressed the importance of consistent investment more than the amount invested.

Members were reminded that the amount of money needed is not large if the program is started early enough. They were told that small savings compounded during the working years will produce big results.

Concluding the meeting, a door prize was won by Mrs. Noel Hull.

To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Proctor announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Gwen, to Airman 1C Everett Newton of Lebanon, N. H., son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Newton, Lebanon. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride-elect's parents at Vealmoor June 29, at 6 p.m.

Cannings Visit Here With Son

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Canning of Miami, Fla., formerly of Big Spring, arrived this week to spend a two-week vacation with their son, Harold Canning, and family. En route they visited another son, Winston, and his family at Baton Rouge, La.

Groebels Announce Daughter's Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Ted O. Groebel Jr., 2100 Cecilia, announce the birth of a daughter, Natalie Katherine, June 3 at 8:27 a.m. at Cooper Clinic. She weighed 7 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Groebel Sr., 615 Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Avon W. Sullivan, 1106 Johnson, are the grandparents.

The infant has a great-grandfather, W. F. Sullivan of Ardmore, Okla., a maternal great-aunt, Mrs. Alma Dickey of Winnboro, and a paternal great-aunt, Mrs. Alma Fletcher, San Antonio.

Waldorf Salad

Waldorf Salad is delicious in traditional form—apples, celery and mayonnaise; but some families think it is super when halved seeded grapes, diced orange or banana are added.

MRS. FLOYD WILLIAM PARSONS JR.

Parsons-Boylan Vows Repeated In Arkansas

The wedding of Miss Sheila Marie Boylan and Floyd William Parsons Jr. was solemnized in a candlelight ceremony Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Batesville, Ark.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Boylan of Batesville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Parsons, Little Rock, formerly of Big Spring.

Dr. Steven Cook of Longview, formerly of Batesville, performed the service amidst a setting of magnolia, white gladioli and English ivy. White wrought iron candelabra with cathedral tapers illuminated the sanctuary.

Nuptial music was provided by Lyndell Watkins, organist, and Miss Florence Spragens of Little Rock, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of magnolia white embroidered silk organza fashioned with tightly fitted bodice and belled skirt. Matching elbow length mitts complemented the bridal attire. The triple tiered veil of French silk illusion was secured by a coronet of Alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls and crystal beads. She carried a corsage of white orchids and stephanotis and wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Juliet Tatum of Hong Kong was maid of honor. The bridesmaid was Miss Sue Jackson of Pochantas. Both wore dresses of white marshmallow crepe, elbow length gloves and veiled coronets of pearlized sequins. White rosebuds formed the corsages which they carried.

John Dacus and Giles Fitzgerald both of Fayetteville, Ark., served as best man and groomsmen. T. J. Boylan and David Boyland, brothers of the bride, were ushers for the service. Master Paul Parsons, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

The bride's mother wore a dress of champagne linen. Her accessories were of mocha shade, and she wore a corsage of matching champagne color. Mrs. Parsons chose for her son's wedding an ensemble of ebru lace, matching accessories and corsage. Mrs. T. J. Boyland served her sister-in-law as director of the wedding.

RECEPTION

Guests were received afterward in the Bevins Music Room at Arkansas College. Those who served were Mrs. C. W. Maxfield Jr., Mrs. Mary Beth Terry, Mrs. Paul McCain, all of Batesville, and Mrs.

THREE'S COMPANY It's Fashionable

EDITOR'S NOTE: As every woman knows, men reporters are impartial and objective, as well as intrepid and fearless. But once in a while news events strike chords in their essentially homeloving souls and they are moved to write from their own experience. Such a story is this one from a Pulitzer Prize winning reporter.

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy is awaiting her third child. Queen Elizabeth II has three already.

Three children families are definitely fashionable. Almost status symbols.

In less exalted circles than royalty and the White House, three children are practical, comforting in a way economical—and gloriously confusing.

TAKE TRAVEL
Today's automobile age is tailored for the three-kid grouping—mama and papa in the front seat and the trio of offspring buttoned up behind.

Four children make a station wagon, or a second car, almost imperative.

A pair of children rattle around in the back seat. Or fight. With three there isn't room to fight. They just pinch, a less serious form of mayhem.

Five or more children and you'd better think about a bus.

Three children are perfect for international air travel—dad and mom on one side of the aisle, well segregated for sleeping and out of soup-spilling range.

On the ocean liners, father and mother in one stateroom and the trio fits well in an adjoining and connecting compartment.

CLOTHES
Two children can mean a savings on the bills—but only if they're the same sex. With a trio, you're bound to have two of the sex, and maybe three.

If you have three boys or three girls you've achieved the perfect hand-me-down situation. Even with two of the same sex, and one of the other you're not badly off.

But after the third, things get rather threadbare, and you've got to start the clothes cycle all over again.

BABY CARRIAGES
Out of a carriage used by two successive children you get good mileage. With the third, the mileage is perfect, for the carriage is well broken in and the springs suitably mellowed.

TELEVISION
Two people seldom like the same programs. If you have but one child, outvoting junior comes under the heading of bullying. With two youngsters, you can only reach inconclusive split decisions.

With three, you've got a deciding vote and a variety of opinions.

TOYS
No. 1 nearly always outgrows a toy very quickly, leaving it for the other two to struggle over. This builds muscle.

FOOD
When it comes to food, children are very imitative. Teach the first one to eat the right things and the others usually follow suit. Especially when it's two against one.

HELP
By the time you've got three children, the eldest is usually willing, even anxious, to help mother, because it shows that he has reached a stage beyond dependence.

The eldest of three children is a natural top sergeant. He or she takes great pride in seeing that the other two carry out parental instructions.

BABY SITTING
After a few years, No. 1 invariably becomes old enough to take care of this task. They often do it willingly, for it allows them to stay up late.

I could go on, but it's time to get home to my three children—All girls.

FATIGUE Can Often Be Traced to an Eye Condition

Guard against eye disease, eyestrain, and poor vision with a professional eye examination at TSO.

Fatigue can often be a symptom of eyestrain. If fatigue keeps you from feeling your best, your eyes could need professional care. To determine whether your eyes might be the cause of your discomfort, visit a Doctor of Optometry at TSO. At TSO your visual history is recorded. Next, your eyes are examined for evidence of defect or disease, such as cataract or glaucoma. Finally, they are examined for visual abnormalities such as near or farsightedness, astigmatism, or muscle imbalance. If your examination reveals the need for glasses, they will be accurately prescribed and fitted for the clearest, most comfortable vision possible. The cost is reasonable at TSO. Finest quality single vision glasses are as low as $14.85, including examination, lenses and frame. Invisible bifocals are as low as $17.85 complete. So guard against eyestrain, eye disease and poor vision—visit TSO soon.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Yellow-robed Buddhist monks, pledged to nonviolence, present one of the most serious threats which President Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western government has faced in its eight stormy years. Diem's officials are worried that the unarmed demonstrators may be more than a match for their large, American-armed army, battle-tested though it is, in the jungles of the north. Until now, the Viet Cong Communist guerrillas—led and armed from neighboring North Viet Nam—have been the only force Diem has been unable to overcome.

The bidding: South West North East 2 NT Pass 3 NT Pass

Opening lead: Ten of ♠ A bit of resourcefulness on the part of West led to a substantial swing in favor of his side in today's hand taken from a recent team-of-four contest. It was a case of West giving his opponent a chance to dig his own grave. The bidding was the same at both tables. North had the ingredients—four high card points—for a direct raise of partner's opening two no trump bid, but with a slightly unbalanced holding he tested the possibility of playing a suit contract first by responding with three hearts. South's rebid of three no trump closed the auction.

of clubs were cashed next and, on the third round, East discarded the deuce of hearts. A spade was led to dummy's queen which held the trick, and a spade was returned to declarer's jack.

Declarer wasn't certain whether to lead the king of spades next in an effort to smother the ten and ace together, or whether he should play the nine of spades in the hope that the ace was alone. To save himself the guess, he crossed over to North's jack of clubs—as both opponents now safely discarded spades—in order to make a heart play for his ninth trick. The jack of hearts was led and East promptly followed with the six. After much agonizing, South permitted the jack to ride. West won with the queen of hearts, cleared the diamonds and, when East got in with the ace of hearts, he ran enough tricks to set South down by one.

First Mars Base Like Adobe Village

By FRANK CAREY Associated Press Science Writer DENVER (AP) — The first United States expeditionary base on the planet Mars may resemble an adobe village of the prehistoric American Southwest or Mexico — with the crude buildings made largely of "local Martian construction materials"—a space scientist said today.

The quaint scene was envisioned by Percy H. Bliss of the Rand Corp. He said that rocks should be available on the Red Planet and that, along with water procurable by condensing the atmosphere, there will likely be cement-making materials in the sandy soil, such as limonite, calcium carbonate and sulphur.

Thus, he told a symposium on the exploration of Mars staged by the American Astronautical Society, there would be all the makings for a community of simple construction.

It might even be possible to manufacture Martian-brand cinder blocks, he said. Rocks, either picked up on the surface, or tapped from bedrock with explosives, could be shaped for construction work with "laser guns," he added.

Bliss said the first adventurers to reach the planet would have to make all possible use of indigenous Martian materials to cut down on cargo-hauling from the earth.

But, building of the Martian adobe would be preceded by the following shelter facilities:

Appeal Or Claims, Republican Choice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans appear to be heading into a contest in which emotional appeal may be matched against can-win claims in the selection of their 1964 presidential nominee.

As matters stand 13 months before the party's convention, backers of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., like to think of their man as the emotional favorite for a nomination stilling its bearer to buck the tide that usually flows for a president seeking a second term.

Supporters of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, on the other hand, believe he represents a philosophy persuasive of modern times in convincing GOP convention delegates that they should nominate the man they think has the best chance to win.

In the wings, watching developments, is Michigan Gov. George Romney. He might be shoved to the front quickly if Rockefeller and Goldwater get locked in a convention stalemate. The chance is considered remote that some real dark horse, like Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, might get the nomination.

If Goldwater is nominated at Kentwood Church Sets Bible School Vacation Bible School, offered for two weeks at the Kentwood Methodist Church, begins Monday, according to Mrs. Betty McLain, director.

Classes will meet from 9-11 a.m. each day. Registration will be Sunday at 9-45 and the sharing session will be June 21 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Bob Cozart, Mrs. Allene Pearce, Mrs. Mary Lou Dennis, Mrs. Lorene Barbee and Mrs. Sue Brenneman will lead the kindergarten department. Heading the primary group will be Mrs. Carol Ivey, Mrs. Jo Marie Baker, Mrs. Mary Ella Cluck, Mrs. Kay Eyle and Mrs. Linda Franklin.

Carrier Overflights Are Form Of 'Electronic War'

EDITOR'S NOTE—Russian bomber flights over U.S. aircraft carriers, seemingly at will, have raised some questions as to the value of the fleet as a weapon. Actually, these flights are a form of electronic warfare in which the United States is being invited to give away secrets. Here is a report by a veteran Associated Press military affairs writer.

By BEM PRICE
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy's top airman said today Russian planes — and any first-rate Sea Scout — could pretty well locate any U.S. aircraft carrier in peacetime and the Navy couldn't care less.

But there was one point in the interview Vice Adm. William A. Schoech, deputy chief of naval operations for air, wanted to make quite clear.

"Any good Sea Scout with a plotting board and a radio sitting at home could have located her," the admiral said. "But," he added, "when we keep our electronic mouths shut, they can't find us."

This business of Russians flying over carriers is all very friendly on the surface, with both sides wagging wings and waving.

Basically, it is one of the deadliest species of nonshooting war extant in which billions of dollars have been invested.

Briefly, it is a form of electronic warfare in which each side tries to determine the efficiency and range of the other's detection deliberately because if we practiced security movements we would be giving the Russians the best possible exercise in coping with us in wartime.

"We do our best," he continued, "not to give away our wartime patterns. There is a real danger in going into war when your opponent has all the dope on you."

The admiral pointed out that the Ranger was traveling north from Japan to the United States via the northern Great Circle route, that thousands of people in Japan and the United States knew when she was leaving and when she was arriving.

That she was making no effort to maintain radio silence.

What goes on in this field of electronic warfare, is so sensitive to the nation's security that some of the very top people in government have asked that they be kept in ignorance of advances lest they let something slip inadvertently.

In any event, there are certain reporters in this town who know roughly at what range the Navy can detect, track and destroy hostile aircraft — and it is farther than the 100 miles at which Ranger aircraft began "escorting" the Russian bombers.

These reporters know, too, of devices, the characteristics of the electronic counter-measures and even the counter-counter-measures.

Schoech characterized it as a "cat and mouse game," one in which the United States has declined to play.

Even so, he hinted ever so slightly that it is a game in which the United States is learning far more about the efficiency of Soviet devices than vice versa.

From time to time, just for example, Soviet and U.S. fighters have been known to intrude into hostile territory briefly or to make bee line flights which might be interpreted on radar as an intent to intrude.

The purpose of these flights is to estimate the range of the enemy's detection equipment and the reaction time of the defensive forces, both ground and air.

"I think it is unfortunate that there are those who keep pecking away at things like this through ignorance," Schoech said of those who feel the Soviet flights spell the end of the carrier as an effective weapon.

He denied that carriers were dangerously vulnerable.

"We are talking about degrees of vulnerability," he said. "Certainly a big air base on land which cannot be moved and which can be pinpointed is vulnerable. If you could pin a carrier down to an operating area of, say, a hundred miles, it would be just about as vulnerable as a big air base.

"But you don't — and you cannot now program a ballistic missile to hit a carrier."

British Scandal Poses New Security Headache

LONDON (AP)—A beautiful redhead's simultaneous affairs with the British secretary of state for war and a Soviet naval attaché posed a new security headache today for Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Queen Elizabeth II also was being brought into the political row. The redhead is 22-year-old Christine Keeler, who also numbered two West Indian Negroes among her lovers and was termed a call girl in parliamentary debate.

In a copyrighted interview in the Daily Express today she said she saw Secretary of State for War John Profumo once or twice a week for several months in 1961 — when she was 19 and he was 46. She said Soviet Cmdr Yevgeny (Eugene) Ivanov, former assistant naval attaché in London, "was also a friend of mine at the time I was going with Jack (Profumo)." Ivanov is now believed here to have been an intelligence agent.

RUSSIAN WALKED IN

"I did see each of them on the same day on two occasions," Miss Keeler said. Her roommate at the time said in the Daily Sketch Thursday that "on more than one occasion as Jack left Christine at the flat, Eugene Ivanov, the handsome young Russian naval attaché walked in."

Profumo resigned from Macmillan's government and the House of Commons Wednesday after admitting he had lied to Parliament when he said March 22 that there was nothing improper in his relationship with Miss Keeler.

In his letter of resignation, Profumo continued to deny that any breach of security was involved. Laborite leaders say that though there is no suggestion of a security breach, the matter still is extremely grave because Profumo, the husband of former actress Valerie Hobson, could have been subjected to Soviet blackmail.

"We had to be careful all the time in case he was recognized," Christine told the Daily Express. "His wife did not know of our relationship."

WAS HE AWARE?

Legislators were asking whether the prime minister, who is head of the security services, was aware of what was going on.

Security agents shadowed Ivanov around the clock. They knew of his affair with Miss Keeler and presumably knew of her relationship with Profumo. Legislators were anxious to know whether their findings were reported to the prime minister and if not, why not.

If the findings were reported, they wanted to know why Macmillan apparently did nothing about it and showed his confidence in Profumo by sitting alongside him when he made his March 22 statement in Parliament.

Macmillan was reported to have ordered an examination of security and police reports on the Profumo affair. Labor party leader Harold Wilson has been promised he will be called in for a final assessment.

A Buckingham Palace announcement that the queen will see Profumo Tuesday to accept his seals of office — a customary audience for outgoing government members — caused dismay among many members of Parliament.

Laborites felt the queen had been badly advised by the government to grant Profumo an audience.

Alger Criticizes Negro Promotions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., criticized in the House Thursday the promotion of three Negroes to supervisory positions in the Dallas post office over 53 other employes rated higher on merit lists.

The Dallas congressman said the action has created tension and demoralized workers in the Dallas post office.

Alger told the House the promotions were made "upon direct orders from Washington in keeping with the President's order to advance Negro employes without regard to Civil Service procedures."

"This policy can only bring harm to the federal service and, in the end, create more injustice for those it is now professing to help," he said.

Big Postal Truck Theft Still Unsolved

By HENRY L. SUPPLE
An AP Special Report

BOSTON (AP)—A small mail truck was humming along Route 3, a smooth highway in historic Plymouth, last Aug. 14 on a routine trip from Hyannis to Boston. In minutes, the two men riding it were victims of the nation's biggest cash haul.

A band of white-gloved shotgun bandits scooped up $1,551,277 in bills of relatively small denomination. Today, more than nine months later, none of the money has been found.

Sixty postal inspectors still are working on the case, led by William F. White, chief New England postal inspector.

When he took charge of the investigation, White said: "I have little doubt we'll bring it to a successful conclusion. . . . The postal service has a record of 99 per cent convictions."

Asked recently if any progress had been made, White said there was nothing he could divulge. He did say none of the money has been located nor have any of the 16 sealed money bags that contained the cash from Cape Cod banks been found.

Outside of the robbery gang—believed to consist of five men and a woman—the only witnesses were the victims: Philip Schena, driver of the truck, and Patrick Barrett, a guard who sat at his side. A police officer headed for the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston. Schena was driving a steady pace through gathering dusk. There were few cars on the road.

"The first thing we knew a car passed us at 80 miles an hour. Then a police officer—we thought he was—stepped out on the road and flagged us down," Barrett told investigators.

Barrett didn't know several things: the man in the police uniform was one of the robber gang. After the mail truck had passed Clark Road, which turns off Route 3 into Plymouth proper, the "policeman" placed a detour sign at the junction.

The sign diverted traffic from Route 3 and left the bandits undisturbed as they ran through brush and pointed guns at the two men in the mail truck.

Barrett continued: "We noticed there were a couple of cars beside the road. We thought there might be an accident. As soon as we stopped, four guys jumped us. They weren't masked but we couldn't see their faces."

"They leaped into the truck and shoved us back. They told us to keep quiet. Then we were tied up. We just sat there until they finally got out and left us."

That was about an hour and a half later. Meanwhile, the robbers drove the mail truck north for about 25 miles. They tossed out money bags to confederates along the way. When the gang abandoned the mail truck in Randolph, Schena and Barrett untied their bonds and gave the alarm.

White said it was believed the gang consisted of five men and a woman. Several automobiles were used, alternately. Number plates on one car had been stolen months earlier. Two cars were abandoned along the route north of Plymouth. A third was found days later in Boston after it had been set afire. All had been stolen.

Soon after the investigation began, Chief Postal Inspector Henry B. Monague said a woman partner could spell trouble for the gang. "It is a matter of history that when a female has been involved, trouble has developed within the gang," he said.

If there was a girl in the gang, she apparently is defying history. A few weeks ago, Postmaster General J. Edward Day visited Boston and said he was confident the robbers will be caught.

As a result of the robbery, he said, the Federal Reserve Bank has asked its member banks to use armored car companies to handle shipments of cash.

Brando Says He Will Quit Acting

By ROB THOMAS
AP TV & Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What's all this about Marlon Brando winding up his acting career? Such reports filtered back from his recent travels for "The Ugly American," and I aimed to find out if they had been exploitation-tour dialogue or the real thing. So I tramped out to Universal, where Brando is now playing "King of the Mountain."

"Yes, I have six more pictures to do and then it's over, finished, that's all," he said.

How come? Doesn't he get satisfaction from acting any more? "Yes, to a certain extent," he replied. "But the point is that other things give me more satisfaction and hold my interest more. And I must say that this is the first picture I have ever done in which I actually look forward to coming to work."

What would Brando be doing if he didn't act? "Directing interests me a great deal. Also, I scribble. My briefcases are bulging, and I should do something with what's inside." But he indicated that his burning interest lay not in the movie business but in the world around him.

"For instance, the whole area of civil rights," he said.

Brando attended the recent reception for Negro leader Martin Luther King at Burt Lancaster's house. He was so taken with King's speech that he contributed $5,000 to the cause and volunteered his services wherever he might be needed.

The recent tour brought Brando more public exposure than he has known in virtually his whole career. He popped up on television shows all over the channels and did interviews from dawn to early morning.

"For 20 years I have neglected the forum which was available to me," he said. "It was my own fault, I guess. Well, I'm not going to neglect it any more. I'm going to use every means at my disposal to get across what I want to say."

DEAR ABBY

The Small Appetite

DEAR ABBY: Again it has happened to me. I went into a restaurant and saw they had children's size meals listed on the menu. I ordered one and they refused to let me have it because I am not a child. I am 46 years old, very petite, and am seldom hungry enough to eat an adult-sized restaurant meal. What does my age have to do with the amount I eat?

SMALL EATER

DEAR SMALL EATER: Nothing. But when dining out it is not only "food" one pays for—but the service. Children's portions are offered for less—as a courtesy to the accompanying adults. But just try to order half a banana split because you can't eat a whole one.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is planning to attend a shower for a divorcee who is being married for the second time. My wife gave a shower for her the first time she was married. Her husband divorced her because she cheated on him. And she had two little children at the time. I told my wife I wouldn't give her any money to buy an immoral woman a gift, so she went ahead and used our trading stamps. What is your opinion?

N. F.

DEAR N. F.: MY opinion is that your wife doesn't have much respect for YOUR opinion.

DEAR ABBY: You hear so much about single girls falling in love with married men. Once in a blue moon the married man actually gets rid of his wife and marries the single girl. But, believe me, this is rare. I am a man and have been around a lot, and would like to give you three foolproof excuses used by married men when the girl friend puts the pressure on them.

(1) I don't have any feeling for my wife, but I love my children. When they are grown and gone, we'll get married.

(2) You are too good for me. I am going to get out of your life so you can find the kind of a man you deserve.

(3) My wife is sick, and I can't leave her in that condition. "USED THEM ALL."

DEAR ABBY: Re: the man who drinks beer out of a baby bottle and nipple.

You may be absolutely right in suggesting he see a psychiatrist, but there is another explanation: Several years ago I gave a birthday party for my husband and made it a rather elaborate "kid" party. Our guests entered by climbing a ladder and "sliding" into the living room. There we met them with an orange blossom cocktail served in a baby bottle and nipple.

The party went into orbit so fast we were astonished. We had to confiscate all the nipples because our guests were getting so high on one or two drinks we couldn't get supper going. Later the bartender told me that sucking an alcoholic beverage through a straw—or nipple—heightens and heightens the effect. This is one of those odd bits of information a psychiatrist could go through life without learning.

Japan's Leftists Are Losing Hold Of That Nation's Youth

By CONRAD FINK
An AP Special Report

TOKYO (AP)—Surrounded by collegiate laughter and gentle music from old Glenn Miller records, the young man sat tensely in the cozy off-campus coffee shop. Clenching his fists angrily, he declared:

"American and Japanese workers are asleep. We need immediate action against the U.S. imperialists."

With this curious mixing of Glenn Miller and class warfare, Hiroshi Kuwahara illustrated the dilemma facing his diminishing band of student revolutionaries who just three years ago pushed Japan to the brink of revolt.

Kuwahara, 21, is international secretary of the once-powerful Zengakuren leftist student federation. In June 1960, he and his comrades were important figures as they sent hundreds of thousands of screaming youths snakedancing through the streets in massive demonstrations against the U.S.-Japan security treaty.

Today, these professional young leftists seem strangely out of step with Japan's increasingly carefree youth. Their ideology of riot and revolt is taking a licking from Glenn Miller and the coffee shops.

Some poorly-organized student groups still struggle occasionally through Tokyo's streets to denounce U.S. airplanes and submarines, U.S. nuclear tests and the United States in general.

But many of the Zengakuren faithful have "passed over" to comfortable jobs in Japan's largest industries and, now that they have vested interests in capitalism, nervously avoid even talking about their days as budding revolutionaries.

The Zengakuren is internally split and quarrels with the Japan Communist party and other leftist groups. Its prestige is low following revelations that "capitalist money" has found its way into the headquarters coffers.

The aura of cautious indecision that surrounds Zengakuren leaders contrasts sharply with the field marshal image they presented in 1960.

Now, Kuwahara and comrades such as Yoji Ikegami, Zengakuren general secretary, talk about "oppressed American workers" and "Washington war mongers." They sound removed from reality, young men who make careers of tilting at windmills.

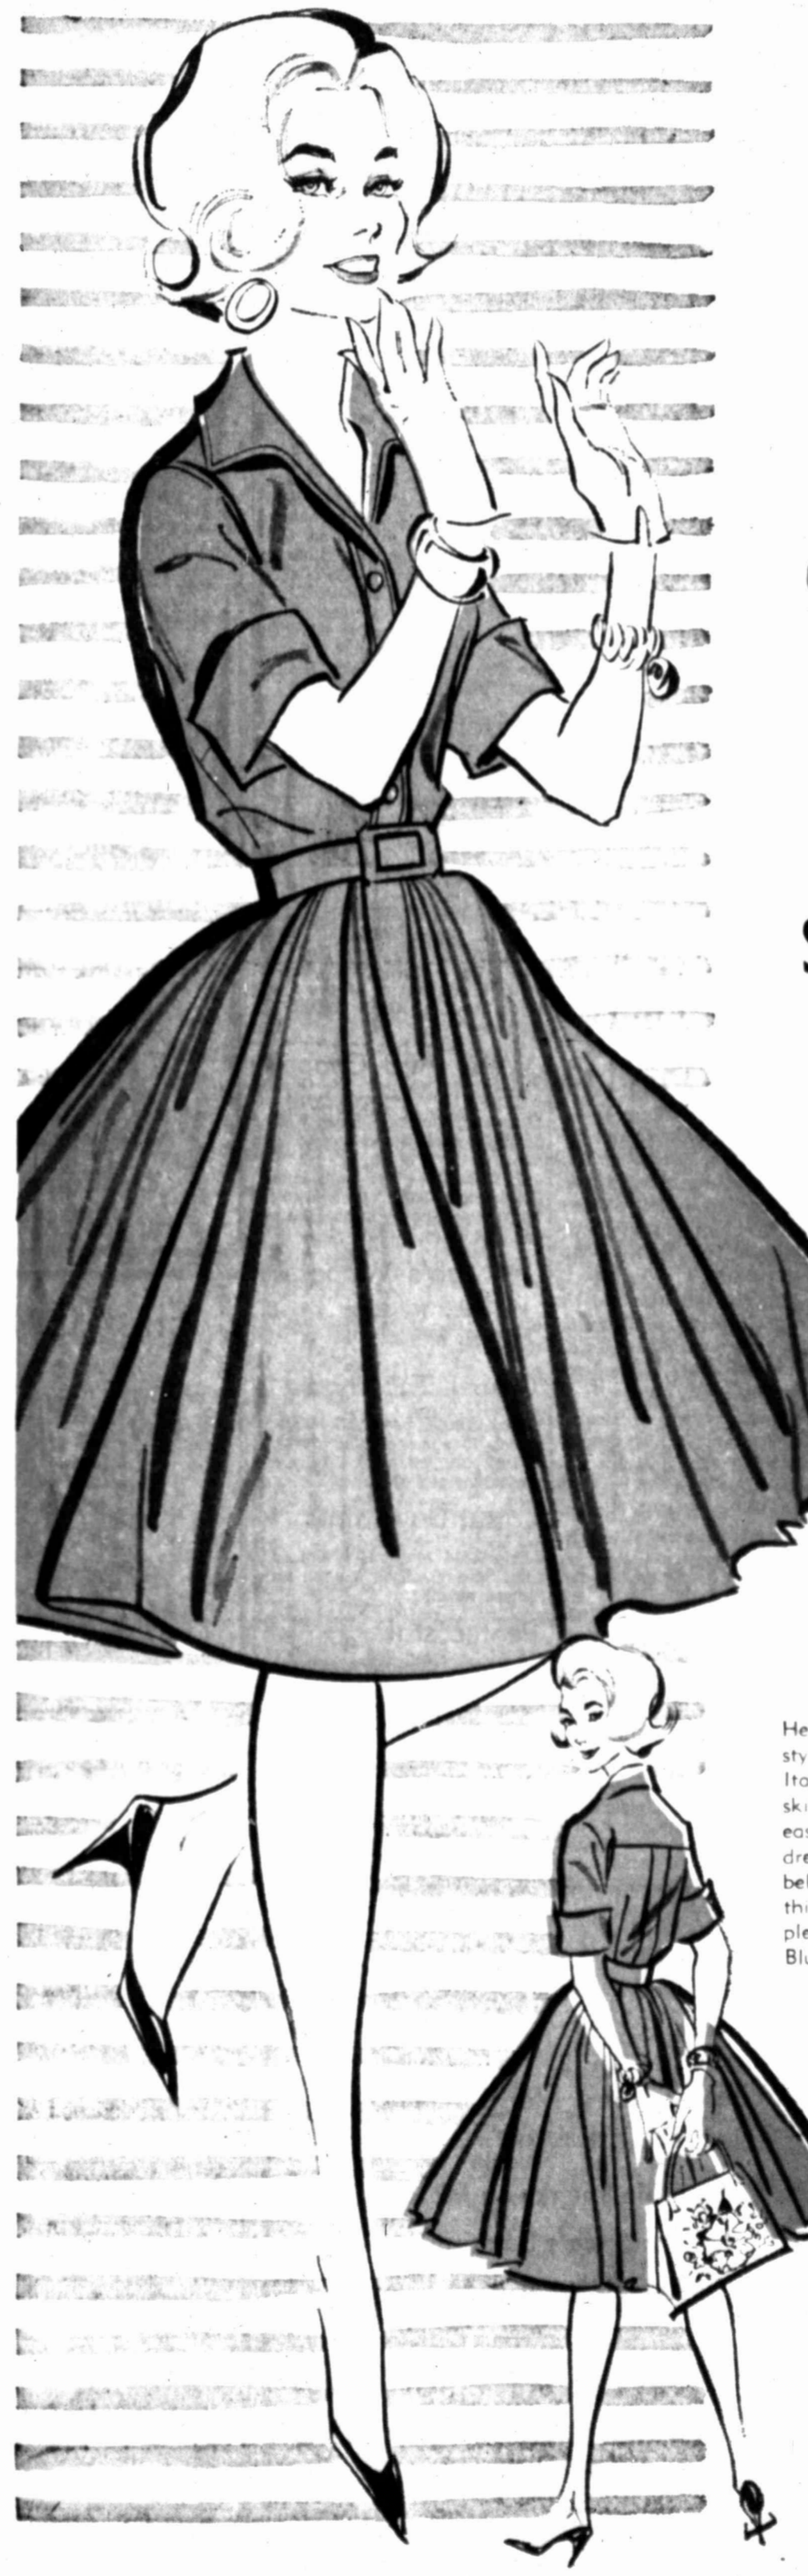

If the trend continues, those who led the attack that toppled Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's government would have difficulty winning a student government election.

SOMETHING OLD SOMETHING NEW

These—without anything borrowed or blue—can give to her Wedding Day the sure promise of happiness.

Something old? A faith in God such as has been the foundation of life for millions of Christians before her. A simple conviction found in the religious instruction she received as a child, nurtured in regular worship at Church, ready to go with her through the years.

Something new? A love for the one she has consented to marry. A tender devotion that will grow richer and deeper as they share the sunshine and shadows of life.

With these two—the "something old" that lives in her soul, and the "something new" that thrills in her heart—she comes to her husband. And if he comes to her bearing the same treasures, their marriage cannot fail!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Church Enters Period Of Mourning For Pope John

Presiding Cardinal

Eugene Cardinal Tisserant of France, dean of the Roman Catholic College of Cardinals, is shown as he presided over a meeting of the cardinals in the Consistory Hall, Vatican City. On his desk are the hammer and chisel for use in destroying the fisherman's ring that was the symbol of Pope John XXIII's authority.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church began nine days of official mourning today for Pope John XXIII, whose body now lies at rest beneath the floor of St. Peter's Basilica.

Requiem Mass is being said each day at the Vatican basilica's great bronze-canopied central altar, a few feet above the subterranean crypt where the humble pontiff was removed from the eyes of an admiring, mourning world.

For two days and a night an uninterrupted stream of two million persons moved through the basilica to look in silence upon the face of Pope John as he lay in state on a candle-framed catafalque.

Thursday night the body was placed in a triple coffin and brought below into the basilica's grottoes to a place near the tomb of Pope Pius XI.

The nine-day mourning period extends through June 17, with two days out for major religious feast days — Trinity Sunday next Sunday and Corpus Christi next Thursday.

On the final day of official mourning, June 17, the most solemn of the Requiems will bring presidents, princes and prime ministers to St. Peter's Basilica.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will represent the United States. Bishop Vladimir Kotliarov will be the first Russian Orthodox Church representative at a Pope's Requiem since the East-West church split of 1054.

The pontiff died last Monday night.

Cardinals continued to arrive in Rome. There had been 32 at the first daily meetings of the College of Cardinals two days ago. The number was 35 Thursday.

Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, the 71-year-old Hungarian primate, was not expected, however. A high Catholic source in Budapest said the cardinal apparently has decided to remain in that

Mrs. McCamley Dies Thursday

Mrs. Jo V. McCamley, a former Big Spring resident, died Thursday in a Los Angeles hospital after a two-month illness. She left here in 1924 to make her home with a son. Funeral will be Monday in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Los Angeles.

Survivors include a son, J. W. McCamley, Los Angeles; a daughter, Mrs. Marian Miller, Los Angeles; two brothers, John Northington, Big Spring; Alex Northington, Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Andrew Hancock, Lawn, Tex. Two sisters preceded her in death.

Band Members To Get New Uniforms

STANTON (SC)—Stanton High School band members were measured for new uniforms Friday morning. The decision to purchase the uniforms came from the Stanton Independent School Board meeting Monday night.

Buryl D. Clinton will succeed L. M. Hayes as superintendent of schools next year.

city's U.S. legation, where he has lived in refuge since the 1956 Hungarian uprising.

An agreement had been reported previously between the Vatican and the Hungarian government by which the Communist regime's restrictions on the church in Hungary would be eased in exchange for the removal of Cardinal Mindszenty's embarrassing presence from the country.

The cardinals are directing the interim administration of the church and planning for their conclave that will elect Pope John's successor. The conclave will open June 19, two days after the mourning period ends, and voting will begin June 20.

Farm Problems To Be Aired

Legislative proposals governing production of cotton, feed grains and wheat will be the topic of a meeting to be sponsored at the Settles Hotel Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. The program is being put on jointly by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Farm Bureau. Loren Walker, with the agricultural and livestock department of the WTCC, will head the meeting. In charge of local affairs will be Carlton Chapman, chairman of the agricultural committee for the Big Spring Chamber.

This is one of a series of discussions designed to acquaint citizens with pending legislation and the affect it will have on them.

Jobless List Increase Seen

AUSTIN (AP) — Unemployment in the state will rise during the summer months because of a big surge of students into the labor market, the Texas Employment Commission says.

Commission Administrator R. L. Coffman said Thursday unemployment dipped to 171,500 in April but would reach 195,000 by June 15.

"Thereafter, we expect it to begin a downward trend, but it will remain relatively high through the summer months," said Coffman.

The lowest percentage of unemployment was in Austin, with 2.9 per cent. The highest was at Laredo, 10.1 per cent.

Other cities showed Abilene, 6.5; Amarillo, 3.4; Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange, 7.5; Corpus Christi, 4.9; Dallas, 3.6; Galveston-Texas City, 6.4; Houston-Baytown, 3.8; Longview - Kilgore - Glade-water, 4.9; Lubbock, 3.8; Midland - Odessa, 3.3; Tyler, 4.2; Waco, 4.8; and Wichita Falls, 4 per cent.

Enters

Cleve McDowell, 21, of Drew, Miss., walks to the University of Mississippi law school where he registered and became the second known Negro to attend the previously all-white university. McDowell is housed on campus in the same dorm where Negro James H. Meredith lives.

Heart Council To Name Officers

Dr. Saul B. Appel, El Paso, will be guest speaker at the annual meeting and banquet of the Howard County Heart Council at 7:30 p.m. today at Cosden Country Club. Dr. Appel is vice president of the Texas Heart Association.

Toastmaster will be Maj. Charles Smith and the Rev. Donald Hungerford will give the invocation. Dr. J. H. Fish will preside at a short business session following the banquet. Officers for the coming year will be chosen at that time.

Pleads Guilty

Morris L. Madden, charged with theft, entered a guilty plea in Howard County Court Thursday and Judge Lee Porter fixed his punishment at 60 days in the Howard County jail.

Lions Install New Officers

STANTON (SC) — The retiring president of the Westside Lions Club, Arnold O'Neil, was awarded a bronze past-president's plaque, pin and president's gavel at the club's installation of new officers Monday night in Midland.

David M. Ellis, governor of District 2-A1, presented special awards to club members at the meeting held in the Caravan Motor Hotel. Those receiving awards were Leon Whately, who received a past secretary - treasurer's plaque and pin; Fred Dotson, L. C. Perry, Jack Johnson and Wallace McNeill received certificates of appreciation; and R. C. Baker, Martin Browne, Melvin Haney, S. O. Moffett, John McIlhenny, Roy Polk, Charles Roberts, E. Storey, R. E. Womack, Wayne Yates, Dotson, Johnson, O'Neil and Whately were all presented pins for 100 per cent attendance.

JOHNNY ADVERTISES, TOO

Johnny never read one book on advertising. He never studied reports about what makes people buy. But he's got something to say—that he loves Susie—and he's saying it in the best way he knows. He may use a tree trunk instead of a billboard ... a hastily carved heart instead of professional pictures ... and two words instead of a page of catchy advertising phrases. But he gets his point across for all the world, and Susie, to see.

This whole complicated business of advertising really comes down to a lot of Johnnies talking to a lot of Susies. Now Susie may not buy what Johnny is selling. But at least she's aware of what he's got to say. Advertising creates that awareness for her. She can decide between Johnny ... or anyone else who captures her heart. Advertising makes her decision easier. Yes, Johnny advertises too.

Big Construction Boom Mushrooms

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The glass sheath and curtain wall, the movable partition and year-around air-conditioning no longer are the daytime home only of office workers in the nation's largest cities.

um-sized cities outside capital has to break the ice.
"Once an outside investor puts up a modern office building in a city that has put off constructing new ones for 30 years," Heller said in an interview, "others follow with local capital. And older buildings suddenly seem in need of modernization."

The modern office environment is beginning to mushroom in medium-sized cities that haven't seen a major new office building since the 1920s. And the changing face of these business centers may be the mark of the next construction boom, if the biggest cities should take a breather.

While many medium-sized cities have been making do with office accommodations 30 or more years old, their local industries have grown and so have the ranks of professional people, all looking for more space. Big corporations are locating plants in all regions of the United States, and many now are sectionalizing command and so are in need of regional headquarters.

Drives to save downtown areas from blight also have started office building booms in many cities, large and small. Often this is helped along by federal funds. Buildings in smaller cities are expected to bring the total value of office construction, this year to 8 per cent more than 1962, even if New York construction should slow down.

F. W. Dodge Corporation, construction news specialist, reports contracts let for new offices spurted in April. The total, involving all sizes of cities, came to $156,308,000. The largest contracts, those over $1 million, are: One in Chicago for $5 million; one in Boston, $5 million; two in Washington, D.C., $2.5 million and $2 million; one in Spokane, $2.5 million—for a total of $59 million.

This leaves nearly two thirds of the grand total going for smaller contracts scattered all over the map.
One leader in the office construction and remodeling business — Philip Heller, administrative vice president of Fischbach and Moore, electrical wiring contractors — says that in many medi-

Two Lucy Show Viewers See Comedy With Odd Feelings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—On Monday nights, a dark-haired, dark-eyed divorcee named Irene Kampen and her blonde 17-year-old daughter, Christine, turn their television set on to CBS and for half an hour "have very odd feelings."

of a funny nonfiction book, "Life Without George," published two years ago. Now it is the basis of "The Lucy Show."

Desi Arnaz had been looking for a suitable vehicle for Lucille Ball for three years before he ran across the book in which Mrs. Kampen described her experiences as a divorcee.

For television, of course, many changes had to be made. Brunette Irene Kampen, divorcee, became red-haired Lucy Carmichael, widow. Lucy was given another child, a son, Jerry. Mrs. Kampen's fellow divorcee who—with son Eric—shared the Kampen home and adventures is named Evelyn. She became Vivian Bagley—played by Vivian Vance—whose son is named Sherman.

The two Kampen cats were abolished. Cats are untrainable and impossible to use in a show filmed before a live audience as is "The Lucy Show." Added, in their place, was a neighbor's dog. But they kept—at least during the past season—Harry, the handy bachelor air line pilot, for a neighbor.

Mrs. Kampen is a former newspaper reporter who wrote the book—her first—to indicate that all divorcees are not sleek sophisticated dames interested in other women's husbands.

She enjoys a nice, one-way correspondence with the program: A hefty check arrives regularly and will continue to arrive as long as the series continues to be shown, even into reruns.
"It's a lovely, painless way to make money," said the writer happily.

"The most interesting part of watching the show is seeing how the writers have used the book as a springboard, and turned real situations into ones specially tailored to Lucy's and Vivian's talents," she said.

Local Girls Are Missing The Point

The most important aspect of the Junior Miss Big Spring Pageant is not the winning—it is the inevitable self-improvement.

"The experience is good for any girl, especially in Big Spring. We have no charm schools or anything else like that to put polish on a girl . . .
"During the activities preceding the pageant, I and the other girls knew that we were being watched with critical eyes, and they were wondering 'How will she look if she goes to Fort Worth?' . . . (The Miss Texas contest is held in Fort Worth.)

"The local pageant is not really work, it's too much fun to be called that. Now that I think back, I realize there was a lot of effort that went into the rehearsals, but I didn't notice it at the time . . .
"It seems like the girls in Big Spring who don't want to be in the pageant are missing the main point. It's fun, and you learn a lot . . .

Miss Parker would have entered the senior division this year except for a minor disqualification—she's getting married. Even so, she had planned to follow custom and crown this year's junior winner, but the Jaycees set the wrong date for the pageant—it's also her wedding day.

"You'd be surprised how much you learn, things you'll carry with you always. I entered the second year because by that time I knew how much more I had to learn . . .

"It helps a girl's physical appearance a terrific amount. At the parties, rehearsals, and other activities that come before the pageant itself you meet the other girls, make friends, find yourself surrounded by the Jaycees and their wives, and then the party where we meet the judges. You get looked at with a critical eye, from everybody, and suddenly you know you must learn to look better. For example, I would never go downtown with my hair in curls, or in sloppy clothing. My experience made me style-conscious, and I learned to shy away from the floppy or too-casual look . . .
"And you learn to be on your manners at all times.
"A lot of people are badly mistaken on what the girls I've asked to enter the contests, just laugh and say 'Who? Me?' Somewhere they've got the idea they've got to be a real knockout even to show their faces on the stage . . .
"But really, the idea is not to win. It should be a challenge to the individual girl to learn all the things she can learn from the pageant. If she goes in with the

Optimists Hear Campaign Plans

Winston Wrinkle, manager of KBST, brought the "Try Big Spring First" story to the local Optimists Club at a morning meeting Wednesday.
The advertising and promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce is promoting the campaign with the object of boosting the city's economy. Roundtable discussions are planned for group study in virtually all media. The idea has been used with good results in San Diego, Calif., according to Wrinkle.

Anglican Leader Will Honor Pope

LONDON (AP)—The archbishop of Canterbury, premier prelate of the Church of England, will celebrate a requiem holy communion for Pope John XXIII in Lambeth Palace Chapel June 17.

This will be the first time an archbishop of Canterbury has conducted such a service for the head of another church.

Alabama Guard Will Go On Duty

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 4,000 Alabama National Guardsmen will go on active duty Sunday—only days before the crisis over admission of Negroes to the state university.

The men are members of the 31st Infantry Division, an Alabama-Mississippi guard outfit due to start two weeks of summer training.

Army authorities said the division's training schedule was arranged several months ago and has nothing to do with the crisis. Nonetheless, whether by coincidence or not, thousands of Alabamians will be in federal Army uniform when three Negroes, with U.S. backing, try to enter the University of Alabama next Tuesday at its Tuscaloosa campus and on Thursday at its Huntsville branch.

There appears a legal question whether guardsmen on training duty can be used to enforce federal court orders.

But Army sources said this is somewhat academic since "they can be federalized with a stroke of the President's pen."

The important thing is that these Alabama National Guardsmen already will have been mustered, if President Kennedy should decide to use them.
The guardsmen will report to their home stations and move by truck, mostly to Ft. McClellan, Ala., where more than 2,000 regular Army infantrymen and other soldiers have been in position since the Birmingham racial disturbances of May 12.

Some of the Alabamians will be sent to Camp Shelby in neighboring Mississippi. The Mississippi contingent of the 31st Division totals somewhat less than 4,000 men officials said.
A high administration source said Thursday the Negroes must be admitted to the university, and he indicated overwhelming federal force will be brought to bear if that becomes necessary.

The source stressed that actions taken by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama will determine whether troops are used.

Wallace has been ordered by a federal court not to interfere with desegregation of the university, but he has pledged to stand in the doorway and bar the Negro applicants.

If the governor calls in state troopers, the administration will not pit federal marshals against them, the source indicated.

In such an event, it appeared, the government might wheel up its soldiers.
"I don't know at this moment just how the students are going to get in," the highly placed source said, "but they are going to get in."
