Russia's Valentina Tereshkova, 26, and Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky, 28, who are orbiting the earth in separate spaceships, are shown shortly before this picture was released by Tass, the Soviet news agency.

Red Space Pilot Breaks All Records

MOSCOW (AP)—Lt. Col. Valery Bykovsky broke all world records today for distance and orbits around the world in space. But his ship was losing altitude.

His female space partner, Valentina Tereshkova, whipped into her third day in orbit, apparently still maintaining her altitude and speed. She reported she was feeling fine.

At 3 p.m. Moscow time Bykovsky entered his fifth day in space and surpassed by two orbits the 64-orbit record set by his fellow cosmonaut, Maj. Andrian Nikolayev, in a flight of just under four days last August.

A bulletin broadcast at 5 p.m. said Bykovsky's ship was 119.9 miles from the earth at maximum distance and 98.7 miles at minimum distance.

Both Bykovsky and Miss Tereshkova appeared on television screens.

NO HINT

The broadcasts gave no hint that either was preparing to descend. There had been indications that the colonel's flight was drawing to a close, and that Valentina would return to earth soon after him.

Western observers said that the dwindling orbit of Bykovsky in his Vostok 5 capsule could make it dangerous for him to remain in space much longer.

They speculated that the change might be due to a maneuver, but they had no idea of its purpose.

It was believed that if the 28-year-old Soviet air force pilot should return to earth ahead of schedule the Russians probably

Latin Baptists Told They Could Double Number

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—More than 500 Latin Americans from throughout the state were told Monday at the Mexican Baptist Convention they could double the number of their church members in 1964 through a statewide Baptist Latin-American evangelistic crusade.

The Rev. Rudy Hernandez of Dallas, evangelist for the Baptists General Convention of Texas, told the convention's opening session that the crusade would "saturate the state with the Gospel message in Spanish."

The campaign would involve more than 2,000 evangelists, laymen, and singers and would cost about $300,000, he said.

Months Of Talks Fail To Bring Steel Agreement

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Months of informal talks have failed to bring a contract agreement with the basic steel industry, the United Steelworkers Union said today. But it took no action to reopen the contracts, which would pose a strike threat, pending further discussions.

Under the basic steel pacts, the union has been free since May 1 to demand formal collective bargaining and to strike 90 days after such reopening. It has held off in hopes that an agreement can be achieved without strike-pressure negotiations.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, told newsmen after a 35-minute session of the Wage Policy Committee. "We have not cleared any decks on either economic or noneconomic matters," McDonald said he had hoped to have recommendations for the Wage Policy Committee to act upon.

McDonald said he would get in touch with the steel industry immediately and attempt to arrange another meeting of the Labor-Management Human Relations Committee.

"I have not given up hope," McDonald said. "I never give up hope."

McDonald said the 34-man International Executive Board would meet again at 11 a.m. Wednesday, presumably in anticipation that he might have something new to present. The 164-member Wage Policy Committee then will meet at 2 p.m.

McDonald read his remarks to newsmen from notes, and declined to answer any questions. He left unanswered the issue of whether the union would call for formal reopening of basic steel contracts.

Negro Leaders Call Boston School Boycott A Success

BOSTON (AP)—Negro leaders termed the boycott of Boston's junior and senior high schools a success today and estimated that 3,000 Negro pupils skipped classes in a protest of alleged segregation.

Negro leaders called for the boycott—which they would not term a boycott—as a rebuttal to what they termed "de facto segregation" in the public schools.

At St. Mark's Social Center, across the street from Boston Technical High School, an estimated 250 junior and senior high school pupils jammed the building. The overflow flooded into the street. Buses took pupils to the other nine "freedom centers," where special classes were held for the Negroes.

Uniformed police maintained vigilance at each of Tech's six entrances.

There are an estimated 5,000 Negroes among the 14,000 pupils in the city's junior and senior high schools.

Negro leaders—some of whom rode in police cars with top police officials—said they expected no violence.

The heart of the protest, said the leaders, is the demand that the Boston school committee publicly admit there is actual segregation in Boston schools. This motion has been rejected 3-2 by the school board.

Protest leaders asked Negro parents to keep their junior and senior high school children out of the public schools today to protest what they called "de facto segregation" or segregation in actuality if not by law.

Both Louise Day Hicks, School Committee chairman, and Dr. Frederick J. Gillis, superintendent of schools, had expressed fears of violence.

"The grave responsibility for the boycott now rests very heavily on the shoulders of the NAACP and the Citizens for Human Rights," Mrs. Hicks said.

Gillis said his office had received many reports of threats of violence to children in connection with the boycott.

The School Committee called on State Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, a Negro, to advise Negro leaders of the state's compulsory education laws. Brooke was not in his office Monday, a local holiday, and could not be reached for comment.

The boycott would involve about 5,000 of the city's 14,000 Negro pupils. There are 93,000 pupils in the Boston schools.

"This is the start of a process of involving students and parents in the making of democracy," the Rev. James Breeden, a leader in the movement said Monday night. "This is just the beginning. It will increase and spread."

The Rev. Mr. Breeden noted that children are not staying out of school "They are staying away from public school," he said.

Students will be given mimeographed sheets to take to their regular schools Wednesday to explain why they stayed away from school.

The forms say, "Your child attended a full day of classes in citizenship and the freedom movement."

Lecturers at the classes included the Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes, Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts, Dr. Thomas Pettigrew of Harvard University, and Bill Russell, Negro center for the National Basketball Association champion Boston Celtics.

The Negro leaders have demanded the School Committee admit publicly that there is de facto segregation in Boston schools.

Mac Presents Calm Image During Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan huddled secretly with seven of his top ministers today, presenting a "business as usual" front in vivid contrast to mounting pressure on him to quit.

With a search on for a successor, Macmillan geared to face a new attack on Commons later in the day.

Questions which have been posed concentrated on whether the government was gravely endangered while War Minister John Profumo and Soviet naval attaché Eugene Ivanov were sharing the love of Christine Keeler, 22.

The outward appearance of tranquility had little relation to the mood of the Conservative party which gave Macmillan a vote of confidence Monday night, but only by 69 votes when they actually possessed a 95-vote majority.

Conservative minister Sir Frank Markham said: "I am quite certain the prime minister must go. I voted for the government but I made it perfectly clear that a vote for the government on this occasion must not be taken as approval of the present leadership of the party."

NEW LEADER
The Conservatives were looking around for a new leader.

Conservative legislators said privately the only question is whether Macmillan will resign quickly or wait until the party can settle on a new leader for the election battle that must come before October 1964.

Twenty-seven Conservatives, most of them younger members of the party's right wing, defied party orders Monday night and refused to back Macmillan in a vote of confidence in the House of Commons over the Profumo affair.

Macmillan won his confidence vote 321-252. This spared the life of his government and officially cleared him of any suspicion of trying to cover up security risks in former Profumo's affair.

But during the debate before the vote Macmillan was obliged to make two damaging admissions.

That Profumo's lying completely deceived him and his ministers. That his security organs, already compromised by a succession of spy scandals, knew less of Profumo's intrigue than London newspapers—and failed to tell him what little they did know.

WITHDRAWAL
The political correspondent of the Daily Telegraph said the 27 Conservative abstentions amounted to a serious withdrawal of party support from the premier.

"Mr. Macmillan, a broken man, seemed close to tears after the division figures were announced," the Telegraph said.

The Mail, normally a Macmillan supporter, headlined its report of the debate "Mac: The End."

The 27 abstentions left the government with a majority of 69. More abstentions might have meant that the government as a whole would have had to resign.

A major embarrassment for the Conservatives is their lack of a ready-made successor for Macmillan.

The logical pick would be Richard A. Butler, the deputy prime minister. But Butler is disliked intensely in the right wing of the party.

Lord Home, the foreign secretary, and Lord Hailsham, the minister of science, would have to await legislation to allow them to renounce their titles and sit in the House of Commons.

The likeliest choice therefore could be Reginald Maudling, the chancellor of the exchequer. He is 46 and capable of matching the vigor which 47-year-old Harold Wilson has brought to the leadership of the Labor party.

An immediate consequence of the House debate will be another probe into Britain's security system.

Oil Depletion Rule Suffers A Reverse

Would Increase Tax Revenues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee, after once deciding not to change the oil depletion tax allowable, approved Monday some tightening of rules on oil and gas industry taxation.

The net effect of two provisions it voted to include in its draft tax bill would be to increase revenues from the industry by an estimated $50 million a year. The full effect of President Kennedy's recommendations, most of which were rejected by the committee June 6, had been estimated up to $200 million in additional oil and gas taxes.

Reconsidering its earlier decision, the committee voted for the treasury's suggestion for limiting the privilege oil operators now have of grouping properties to best advantage for calculation of the depletion allowance.

The rate of the allowance itself, 27 1/2 per cent, was not affected. No change in the rate had been recommended.

The treasury estimated the new rule recommended by the committee would be worth $50 million a year additional revenue.

The committee also voted to trim somewhat the opportunity now enjoyed by sellers of oil and gas properties to have their gains taxed at the relatively low capital gains rate.

Under present law the cost of drilling and developing a property can be written off, but when the property is sold, the full gain is taxed only at the capital gain rate.

The approved proposal would recapture some of the written-off expense as ordinary income, taxed at a higher rate. The standard would be the amount of recoverable minerals still in the ground.

Market Is Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors, airlines, rails and selected issues were active as the stock market moved irregularly higher in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Steeels showed scarcely any change. Wall Street was taking in stride the news that months of informal talks failed to produce any contract with the basic steel industry.

News that personal income tax had risen to a record annual rate of 45 1/2 percent gave the market continued assurance of an encouraging economic backdrop.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point, generally.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks at noon showed a small gain of 3/4 at 27 1/2, with industrials up 6/8, rails up 2, and utilities unchanged.

Chrysler, up more than a point, spearheaded a unanimous rise by the leading motors. Studebaker continued in demand and nudged higher. Fractional gains were scored by General Motors, Ford and American Motors.

Pan American World Airways was up about a point and Braniff Airways dipped fractionally.

Losses of about a point were taken by Du Pont, Merck and U.S. Gypsum. IBM and Polaroid rose more than 2. Xerox gained about 3/4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.29 at 719.50. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed, with a tendency toward the upside.

Corporate bonds were narrowly mixed. U.S. government bonds dipped slightly.

Production Of Crude Increases

TELSA (AP)—Production of crude oil and lease condensate jumped 82,350 barrels a day in the United States last week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

Average U.S. production last week was 7,503,875 barrels a day, with the first increase in three weeks in Oklahoma production chiefly responsible for the increase.

Oklahoma production climbed to 577,900 barrels a day, an increase of 67,575 barrels over the previous week.

Texas production remained unchanged at 2,613,000, as did Louisiana, at 1,432,700 and New Mexico at 302,400.

Vatican Ready For Election Of New Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials completed today the final arrangements for the conclave that will elect the Roman Catholic Church's 262nd Pope.

The conclave marshal, Italian Prince Sigmundo Chigi, 68, is married to the former Marianne Berry, a member of a pioneer family of another Rome-Rome, Georgia.

As marshal, Prince Chigi makes sure the one door into the sealed conclave area is locked behind the cardinals and their aides. He stands outside it, keeping all the keys.

Vatican officials decline to say how much the conclave may cost. Italian papers estimated the 1958 conclave cost more than $300,000, with 32 cardinals attending. This time there are 80 cardinals.

In one of the final items of pre-conclave business today, the clergy and laymen who will assist the cardinals during the conclave gathered in the Pauline Chapel. They swore they would maintain secrecy about what happens in the conclave and that they would not try to influence the vote of the cardinals.

They also promised not to bring radio transmitting equipment or cameras into the conclave area, which includes the Sistine Chapel and apartments in adjoining apostolic palaces.

A small brass bell has been wired for the first time to summon the cardinals from their rooms to the Sistine Chapel each time a voting session is held.

An internal telephone network has been installed so the cardinals can talk with the conclave secretary, Archbishop Francesco Carpino, without breaching the secrecy of the conclave. That, too, is a first.

Hungry Dog Kills Child

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Brett Alan Whitney, 2 1/2, was bitten to death by a hungry Siberian Husky dog, police reported today.

The boy's lacerated body was found in the backyard of his home late Monday afternoon. His mother, Donna Whitney, was hysterical. The father, Douglas W. Whitney, is stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla.

Investigating officers said two Siberian dogs owned by Clair J. Bankston were chained in the yard. Bankston lived in another section of the duplex home on the northeast outskirts of Boulder.

Police said they were told by Mrs. Whitney that Bankston had been on a fishing trip for three days and the dogs had not been fed except for a few table scraps she gave them.

Panel Asked To Approve 29 Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representatives of the Red River basin urged a House appropriations subcommittee Monday to approve $27,621,300 for 29 projects, including several in Texas.

This figure exceeds by $1,394,000 the amount in President Kennedy's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

While the delegation sought $15,600,000, the budget a month ago for construction on Millwood reservoir in Arkansas, it requested $4,400,000 compared with the budget's $3,900,000 for construction on Broken Bow reservoir in Oklahoma.

Cliff Fairbanks, chief spokesman for the group, said the basin is "just this year emerging into the nationwide picture in its development."

The group sought these amounts for planning on projects not included in the budget recommendations. Hugo Reservoir, Okla., $100,000. Lake Kemp Reservoir, Texas, $75,000. and Big Pine Reservoir, Texas, $40,000.

The Texas Water Commission joined the delegation in asking $125,000 for planning on the Pat Mayes reservoir project on Sanders Creek in Texas. It seeks $25,000 above budget figures. Present water facilities, it said, are inadequate for future requirements for Paris, Tex. It also supported $75,000 for the Lake Kemp reservoir planning project in Texas.

In addition funds recommended in the budget were asked for operation and maintenance, the largest being $800,000 for Denison Reservoir.

Italy In Crisis

ROME (AP)—Aldo Moro gave up his efforts to form a center-left government today, plunging Italy into grave crisis less than two weeks before a scheduled visit by President Kennedy.

Legislature To Have Own Study Of Higher Education

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislative Budget Board made certain today the legislature will have its own study of higher education, independent of Gov. John Connally's higher education study committee.

In the final meeting of the group to develop a comprehensive study of financing of Texas 20 state colleges. The board is composed of presiding officers and tax and spending leaders of each house.

The recommendation was made at the request of Sen. Galloway Calhoun of Tyler.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, board chairman, asked Calhoun if the study will conflict with the study by the governor's committee. The 25-man committee to study education beyond the high school was created and given $175,000 by the legislature at Connally's request.

"This is going to be a legislative problem. And, if we have a special session, we are certainly going to be concerned with this problem," Calhoun said.

Connally has not announced whether he will call a special session to augment appropriations for state colleges.

Calhoun said he is concerned that the state might be running private colleges out of business by creating more colleges to be financed largely by tax funds. He said he believes students' tuition should bear a more reasonable portion of the cost of higher education.

The board also asked the staff to study remedial and "fringe" courses in colleges, including the result of a rider in the 1964-65 appropriations bill restricting physical education programs to mass calisthenics.

The board also asked for studies on the possibility of establishing auto pools or auto leasing instead of purchasing autos for state departments.

School-Church Decision Causes Only Little Furor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's sweeping decision outlawing required Bible readings and the recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools appeared today to have been accepted with little commotion in or out of Congress.

The ruling, affecting thousands of classrooms all across the land, was obviously expected, however, in view of the court's action last year against use of a non-denominational prayer composed by New York authorities for the state's public schools.

That decision brought down a storm of criticism on the tribunal, especially from the decision to see that a Seventh Day Adventist who lost her job for refusing to work on Saturday because of her religious beliefs is entitled to unemployment compensation.

The noticeable lack of congressional reaction to the historic prayer decision was attributed by one leader to the legislators' preoccupation with turmoil over civil rights.

Short of impeachment, there is little Congress could do about the court's ruling anyway, and there were no serious suggestions along that line.

Congress could submit to the states a resolution to change the First Amendment of the Constitution, which deals with the separation of church and state, but there was no strong sentiment for that approach either.

Justice Potter Stewart was the only dissenter, as he was last June in the New York prayer decision. Stewart argued that the majority was reading the First Amendment's bar against establishment of a religion too stiffly and giving too little weight to freedom of religion.

The neutrality of government, he contended, means "even-handed treatment to all who believe, doubt or disbelieve."

In general, the reaction of the clergy was temperate. Dr. Theodore F. Adams, former president of the Baptist World Alliance, remarked, "I'm personally grateful that we have a Supreme Court that stands so firmly for the separation of church and state."

The Most Rev. William G. Connor, bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Greensburg, Pa., said, "With even a token recognition of Him now gone from the public schools, the problem becomes totally that of home and church."

NOT DETRIMENTAL "I recognize the right of any minority," said the Rt. Rev. Robert A. Brown, Episcopal bishop of Arkansas, "But I think something as all inclusive as the Holy Scriptures, or something as general as the Lord's Prayer, are not detrimental to the freedom of the people."

Rabbi Joachim Prinz, president of the American Jewish Congress, welcomed the decision, saying, "The court has underscored the importance of the home, the church and the synagogue as the proper means of transmitting our spiritual heritage to our young people."

Mrs. Madalyn Murray, 43, of Baltimore who brought the Maryland action in behalf of her son William, 17, hailed the ruling as a victory for believers and non-believers.

But Mrs. Murray, who says she is an atheist, added she is moving from Baltimore because of harassment she said she received over the suit.

Where she will go she doesn't know, but "I want to get away from Baltimore."

Ban On Ads Is Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld Monday a ban by New Mexico on certain kinds of newspaper and radio advertising by a Texas optometrist.

New Mexico law prohibits advertising of eye glasses by prices. A newspaper and a radio station in Hobbs, N. M., contended the law conflicted with the free flow of interstate commerce and, as to broadcasting, invaded an area preempted by the Federal Communications Act.

The high court ruled on an appeal by Agnes K. Head, publisher of a newspaper in Hobbs called "Hobbs Flare," and by Permian Basin Radio Corp., operator of station KHOB in Hobbs.

The New Mexico ban involved in the appeal applied specifically to advertising by Abner Roberts, optometrist in Gaines County, Tex. New Mexico state courts upheld the ban before the case was appealed to the high tribunal.

RESORTING TO GREEK

Reading Acts 2:38 in our English Bibles has convinced many people that baptism is necessary to salvation. The verse says, "Then Peter said unto them, repent, and be baptized everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of sins (unto the remission of sins, ASV), and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

This is the way it reads in English; but my correspondent is evidently sincere in thinking that by going to the Greek, people may be prevented from believing that Acts 2:38 makes baptism essential.

While I am completely satisfied with the English versions which have been translated by large groups of the world's best Greek scholars, I am, nevertheless willing to have the original Greek examined. In the next few articles (God willing) I shall consider my correspondent's arguments on the Greek.

TWO FUNCTIONS

"The Supreme Court has its function and we have ours," commented Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, a Catholic.

Many state officials, meanwhile hurriedly read the decision to see if it required changes in their public schools. Thirty-nine states now allow morning devotional exercises in public schools. Many clergymen stressed a greater importance of religious instruction in churches and homes.

The court acting in cases from Pennsylvania and Maryland, specifically barred Bible-reading and the recital of the Lord's Prayer as part of required classroom exercises in public schools.

But there appeared to be no dissent under the decision for a teacher to hold such exercises on her own since public school teachers are government employees.

"In the relationship between man and religion, the state is firmly committed to neutrality," wrote Justice Tom C. Clark in the majority opinion.

He said the decision in no way shows hostility toward religion. "Nothing we have said here indicates that the study of the Bible or of religion 'when presented objectively as part of a secular program of education' is prohibited."

U.S. Weather Clear And Mild

By The Associated Press
Scattered showers and thunderstorms dropped up to an inch of rain over parts of the South early Tuesday. Elsewhere, skies mostly were clear and temperatures mild.

Rain fell in a broad belt from the Texas coast eastward across the heart of the South. The Corpus Christi Naval Air Station had a two-inch rainfall during a brief thunderstorm.

Some light rain was reported in widely scattered sections in the Rocky Mountains, the northern Plains and the north Atlantic states.

The majority of the Western states experienced early morning temperatures in the pleasant 60s. Farther east the mercury dipped into the 50s in some areas, except in the Deep South where the temperature remained in the 70s through the night and early morning.

Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., each reported a chilly 46 degrees this morning.

FEMALE TROUBLE CAUSES NERVOUSNESS

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.
The female reproductive system is still the marvel of God's universe. Man has tried for years to find cures for the many female disorders, only to find that as one organ is patched up or cut out another trouble starts.

This we do know. These intricate female organs are so connected, co-ordinated and destined to function intelligently and systematically according to Divine Plan. If any one of these delicate organs or glands fails in any degree to function properly, the entire system is thrown out of order, and so-called "female trouble" results.

These painful reactions usually upset the entire nervous system and often produce moods, spells and the erratic behavior that women know so well. Frequently, these emotional disturbances become so involved that the patient becomes mentally unbalanced.

To explain why any of these organs or glands suddenly quit functioning or one alters its perfect performance, we must consider what made it work perfectly in the first place. Naturally, we look to the nerve system itself which is the source of all physical energy and the control system for all organic function.

We find most all female disorders result from nerve disturbance in the spine, usually incidental to some spinal injury or vertebral displacement interfering with nerve performance.

We chiropractors specialize in removing nerve irritation by properly adjusting the spine back into alignment. Clearing nerve pathways of irritations restores normal function and health naturally results. Here is such a case.

Miserable years of painful, irregular periods and drawing cramps with intense aches and pains between her shoulders and in her neck. Constant headaches, sinking spells, depression and tragic dreads were enough to cause despondency, emotional strain and worry that had this young mother thinking that she was reaching the end of her rope. On her first visit she broke into hysterical sobbing, feeling as lost as only a woman suffering can feel. Some time ago she made the statement, "I feel as if you had completely made me over." This statement was made after examination, X-ray had located the cause of the disturbance and treatment had corrected the spine. Today she is a happy woman telling others of the benefits of chiropractic. No. 1413.

'Bad Faith' In Estes Deal Is Told To Panel

DALLAS (AP) — A government witness said Monday he believes that a Greenville man contracted with Billie Sol Estes "in bad faith" and that he misrepresented facts to a Reeves County agricultural committee.

This testimony came during cross-examination by lawyers for American Grain Co., which is appealing the government's cancellation of cotton allotments on former Estes land.

American Grain bought the assets of the bankrupt promoter, including farms allotted cotton quotas.

When Estes' multi-million-dollar empire collapsed more than a year ago, the government cancelled all allotments on his land, charging he obtained them illegally through sale-leaseback agreements.

Leonard Williams, program specialist at College Station for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, testified Monday that he didn't know such leaseback agreements existed when he approved transfers of cotton allotments to West Texas land.

The government contends a Greenville auto dealer and realtor, J. P. McNatt, acted in bad faith when he bought land from Estes, transferred his cotton allotments to the land, and leased it back to Estes.

ONLY MOTIVE

McNatt testified earlier that his only motive was to transfer his allotments from land taken for public use by the Sabine River Authority, and rent out the land as he had done near Greenville.

He intends to keep possession of his land and wants to regain his cotton allotments on 257 acres.

McNatt said American Grain lawyer Richard Naylor of Pecos said:

"This case would be all over if the government would agree to let McNatt void all agreements made with Estes, buy his land outright from American Grain, and reapply to transfer his allotments to the land."

Under new government rules, however, cotton allotment transfers are not approved if the acreage is to be leased back to the seller, the lawyer said.

Naylor said the committee hearing the case had no alternative but to rule on the original transfer application, which American Grain contends was valid and met all existing requirements.

Rufus Atkinson, former office manager for the Reeves County ASC, testified that when McNatt's application was approved, his office had not received instructions to reject transfer applications that included optional leaseback clauses.

Death Sentence Is Commuted

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally has commuted to life in prison the sentence of Curtis Ray Roberts, scheduled to die July 10 on an armed robbery conviction.

Connally acted on recommendations by Dist Atty R. B. McGowan of Monahans and Reeves County Atty H. D. Glover of Pecos, the State Board of Pardons and Paroles said.

It said the two prosecutors asked the lesser sentence in view of a hearing held Friday in federal court at Houston.

Board member Pat Bullock said U.S. Dist Judge Joe Ingraham of Houston reportedly was prepared to reverse the death sentence and order a new trial because the June 7 hearing apparently substantiated Roberts' contention of juror prejudice.

Roberts, 22, was convicted of a March, 1960, gas station robbery in which an attendant was shot three times. The attendant recovered.

Roberts told a newsman in the state prison at Huntsville he was extremely happy and said he hoped other condemned men would have similar success.

He said he was not surprised "After all, the man didn't die and therefore the death sentence was not justifiable in my case," Roberts said.

Goldwater Approves Favorite Son Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move to make Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania a favorite son candidate for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination won applause today from Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., told a news conference Monday there is growing sentiment among local Republican officials that Scranton should have Pennsylvania's 64 convention votes pledged to him at Harrisburg. Scranton said he would be a favorite son candidate as a means of holding the state's delegation together at next year's convention. But he added, "I want to make it perfectly clear that I am not a presidential candidate."

Scientist Sees Russian Plan For Colonizing Space

JODRELL BANK, England (AP)—A British scientist says the Soviet space woman's venture could be part of a long range plan to colonize other parts of the solar system.

It is important to emphasize there is no aspect of a stunt in sending a woman into space," Sir Bernard Lovell, director of England's big radiotelescope, said Monday night.

The plan for colonization could look as far ahead as a quarter-century he said and probably would be directed at Mars.

Valentina Tereshkova's flight he said "is clearly part of a well conceived scientific plan."

Modern gadgets can prove very frustrating when partners try to make a mystery out of commonplace situations. As I was reared in the game I learned that if you followed suit with a high card you located some more of that suit. Observe West's bewildered performance in today's hand.

West opened the king of spades against the four heart contract. East signaled encouragingly with the seven, for he saw that by repeatedly forcing the dummy in trumps it would be possible to establish an additional trick for himself in hearts. Unfortunately for him, West was unable to perceive the advantages of a spade continuation. Thinking that East's play of the seven of spades was a suit preference signal requesting a shift to the higher ranking of the two plain suits,

A Devotional For The Day

Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. (Matthew 28:20.)
PRAYER: Bless us, O Lord, with a mature religious faith, strong enough to face the issues of life as they confront us. We pray that we may be Thy faithful stewards, doing Thy will on earth as it is in heaven. For Jesus' sake and in His name we ask. Amen.
(From The 'Upper Room')

What Of The Response?

In a not-unexpected decision, the United States Supreme Court has held that recitation of the Lord's Prayer and Bible reading may not be required in public schools. This had been anticipated as a logical sequel to a previous decision that an officially worded prayer could not be required as an exercise of a school.

The crux of the issues in both instances is that school authorities, who as such are governmental agents, may not fix religious requirements. Justice Clark observed that to specify certain religious formalities, school officials or teachers would in effect be prescribing a form of worship when in the court's opinion the Constitution prescribes strict neutrality in matters of religion.

In the main opinion of the court, Justice Clark added that nothing in the decision would bar the study of the Bible or of religion when "presented objectively as part of a secular program of education."

Most religious leaders had expected this decision and have been circulating information regarding their position. After a wave of bitter denunciation following the earlier decision of the court, a second look resulted in a majority of religious leaders agreeing in principle that no agency of the government has any right to specify a form of worship.

And this may well be so. One of the big questions, however, is how will the churches react in seeking to undergird their efforts in religious instruction. What ever vacuum may be created by the decisions must be filled by the churches and by God-fearing families. So far there has been little evidence of profound response.

Concern For A Statesman

In the face of crises which mount on the domestic front and around the world, Americans may forget to be concerned about the health of former President Herbert Hoover.

The 80-year-old elder statesman is seriously ill, having suffered from some form of internal bleeding and now from low grade fever and heart irregularities. These are enough to cause concern for his welfare.

One of Mr. Hoover's great talents has been in humanitarianism. He first captured the public imagination by administering American relief efforts in areas of the Near East stricken by drought, quakes and pestilence. Subsequently throughout his career he has exhibited a concern for people, their well-being, their freedoms, their relations one with another.

It is too bad at this critical moment that a voice such as this has been softened if not silenced. Meantime, men of good will are praying that he be sustained.

Marquis Childs Germans Await Kennedy's Visit

BONN—After a long, bitter winter and a dismal spring this capital of the Federal Republic of Germany is luxuriating in warm, sunny weather. To many it seems a portent of a change in the political climate, ending a season of harrowing intrigue and fierce conflict.

THERE IS general agreement that Ludwig Erhard, the accredited architect of Germany's economic miracle, is now safely installed in the line of succession to assume the powers of the chancellorship in the late summer and take over the office in October. His principal enemy, the venerable Konrad Adenauer, is in a relaxed and joyful mood and reconciled to let go of the office he has held since Germany became an independent state.

It is to say a formal farewell to Adenauer and to hail the new order that President Kennedy is coming to Germany for a four-day visit. But the visit will be far more than merely a government-to-government discussion. The President will speak at least a half-dozen times directly to the German people—German television is boasting that they will have him on the screen virtually every waking moment of his stay.

BENEATH the glitter of the surface prosperity—the polish applied to every aspect of life with Germanic thoroughness—there is concealed according to those who know this country well the old familiar gnawing doubts about the future and the past. The wall separating East and West Berlin is a continuing and deeply emotional reminder of the division of the two Germanys, with twenty million fellow citizens locked into a dictatorship that presses heavily on those who live under it and is a constant accusation to the fifty million Germans enjoying freedom.

IT IS TO THESE doubts and fears that Kennedy must speak, and particularly when he is in Berlin viewing the hated wall. That is why his visit here is important and delicate. A cancellation would have been accepted with an outward show of official understanding, it would have caused wide disquiet. Part of the German neurosis—accentuated by the world's abhorrence of the horrors of Nazism and the shock of defeat and the ruin that went with it—has been a need to be reassured.

One of the sources of reassurance for the Germans has been the cult of personality—the leader, the hero. They roared their approval of President de Gaulle, a statesman hero, during his visit last fall. In a different way—the vigorous, young American giving off hope and enthusiasm—the Kennedy image is being readied.

THE PRESIDENT'S face looks up from every newstand on the covers of the illustrated mass magazines. Several editors have flown to Washington to get special messages signed by the President.

Like it or not, this is the rule in the era of mass communications. In his principal appearances here the President will be speaking not only to Germany but to all of Europe through the 18-nation television network called Eurovision. And, when he is being relayed by Telstar to the United States and Canada, he will be in range of well over one hundred million TV sets.

THE CHANGES that have taken place in Germany go deeper than the surface aspect. A positive approach to the Communist satellites is under way with the establishment of a trade mission staffed by German diplomats in Poland and a similar mission to be worked out for Hungary and possibly later for Rumania and Czechoslovakia. The trade-mission concept goes around the doctrine denying recognition to any state having relations with East Germany.

FOREIGN MINISTER Gerhard Schröder stressed in a talk with the reporter that the objective is to give the satellite peoples an opportunity to turn to the West and see a choice other than Communism. But increased orders from the East will help to keep German plants at full capacity. On his recent mission to Moscow, Berthold Beitz, the dynamic head of Krupp, had a private picnic with Khrushchev in a 24-hour discussion with the Soviet premier. The whole range of German trade interests and the sale of several synthetic fiber plants in addition to those already sold to the Russians.

THE OTHER day Chancellor Adenauer, in a mild speech to Silesian refugees from East Germany, suggested that an East-West understanding and an easing of tensions might be in sight, helped by a growing East-West trade. For some observers this seemed to be a new departure for the 87-year-old Chancellor.

Billy Graham

QUESTION: A friend of mine says that no one can be converted unless the Lord permits it, and that the Lord saves only the people he elects. If this is true, isn't it useless to try to convert people?

A. L. ANSWER: Although it appears from the Scriptures that God is not going to be surprised when certain people are converted, it is still a basic truth in the New Testament that God has given to every person complete freedom and the power to make his choices with respect to Jesus Christ. If this were not so, then every Gospel invitation would on the face of it be a fraud. When Jesus said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest," we would either have to conclude that your friend is wrong or that Jesus was insincere. I cannot believe that Jesus was ever insincere, and yet He invited men to come as if He had the power to do so.

If the Apostle Paul in II Corinthians 5:20 describes himself as an ambassador on behalf of Christ, and he says, "... we beseech you on behalf of Christ, be reconciled to God." The urgency of Paul's expression indicates that he was talking to people who had the power to repent in response to hearing the Gospel. This is a great privilege, but it is also a tremendous responsibility for every person. For every man must settle his own eternal destiny in the light of his acceptance of, or his rejection of Christ.

HE CAN'T BUILD ON AN ANT HILL

James Marlow The Meaning Of The Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—In this country where people have different religious beliefs and some have none, no state can impose any religious belief or exercise in the public schools.

That's the short of the Supreme Court's historic ruling Monday outlawing the reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in public schools as a religious exercise.

This goes even if students, whose parents object to the religious exercise, are excused from taking part.

But the court, whose majority opinion was written by Justice Tom Clark, did not say the Bible or religious history could not be studied in public schools as part of a general education program.

UNDER THE Constitution, Clark said, a state must maintain strict neutrality on religious matters, "neither aiding nor opposing religion."

Another Justice, William O. Douglas, agreeing with Clark, put it this way:

"Through the mechanism of the state, unless it is banned, all of the people are being required to finance a religious exercise that only some of the people want and that violates the sensibilities of others."

The court had been working up to this decision and almost reached it, but not quite, last year in the case of New York schools where the Board of Regents had recommended the recital of a 22-word prayer at the start of each school day.

The prayer, which had been drafted by the board itself, said: "Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessing upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

BUT SOME people don't believe in God. Others, if they do, prefer to pray some other way. The court banned that prayer as unconstitutional. The opinion then was written by Justice Hugo Black.

He said for the school board to require recital of its prayer violated the first section of the First Amendment which declares, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

In that case Black put the emphasis on the first part of the amendment—"establishment of religion"—and not the second part. But that amendment prohibited Congress from passing a law respecting establishment of religion.

HOW THEN could Black say the states can't pass such a law? Because the 14th Amendment makes it apply to states, too, by saying, "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States." The religious privileges are guaranteed by the First Amendment.

There's nothing people fight harder against than doing something they are told is best for them. Thus it does little real good to warn overweight people their excess poundage is bad for them. If Congress passed a law making the craving for food in every fat man and fat woman in the land would go on a diet overnight.

What dangers, if any, are there? I have lost lots of weight before but it gets more difficult to do so. Can a person lose weight through hypnosis? MRS. L. F. The obesity makes you a poor risk for surgery. You don't heal as readily. You don't tolerate anesthesia as well. There will be more strain on your heart. More cutting is necessary. Risk of hemorrhage is greater because sheer weight makes it more difficult to see that tissues remain in the correct position for healing. The operation is bound to take longer—and that in itself makes it more dangerous. Danger of pneumonia is greater afterward because excess weight is bound to interfere with respiration.

At 39 you have ample opportunity to add many years to your life by reducing your weight drastically. With weight preventing this operation for the tumor, you have a more immediate incentive.

You have lost lots of weight before. That proves it can be done. If you can lose it, you can remain rid of it—but you can't do so by returning to your old eating habits as soon as you have reduced. You have to learn a new pattern of eating, both quantity and kinds of foods.

Talking about hypnosis is fooling yourself into looking for an easy way to do it. Hypnosis, in any event, is a dangerous device unless used by a specialist who knows the many pitfalls and extreme dangers that can arise. To undergo hypnosis safely over a period long enough to lose sufficient weight would be costly if, indeed, you found a qualified specialist willing to undertake it. And I have my doubts about that. Even then, success could not be guaranteed because, for one thing, hypnosis often merely converts one craving into another. If you substitute the craving for food it can result in a craving for tobacco, alcohol or even more dangerous things. Forget about hypnosis.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, loose and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions. Aside from good health, the greatest gift the gods can give is an active sense of curiosity.

It is a form of human wealth more important than all the gold ever accumulated.

Man's progress—if it can be called that—springs almost entirely from his curiosity, and as a matter of fact a man's health can pretty well be measured by his sense of curiosity. It is when he is sick that he is inclined to feel bored and want to get away from it all.

No really good book was ever killed by a bad critic. Ironically, however, many a bad book has become popular because a good critic knocked it.

Good advice is like castor oil. It can't do you any good unless you take it.

If a visitor from Mars judged earth by what appears on television programs, he could hardly escape the conclusion that the two greatest problems facing mankind are: What kind of detergent to put in the washing machine, and whether to use a roll-on spray or cream deodorant.

Many people take a melancholy satisfaction in having insomnia, feeling it proves that at least they are doing their fair share of the national worrying, when all it actually indicates is that they aren't getting enough physical exercise.

Those who perform some of the most essential chores in this world are most often among the poorest rewarded. A dog catcher performs a necessary service, but do you know of anybody who ever mentioned one in his will?

It's the cry who has to ask his wife for lunch money who borrows most from the other fellows in the office.

A woman dates the beginning of middle age not by her years or the sign of gray hair but by the fact she has to go from a size 12 to a size 14 dress.

A man never realizes his wife is no longer young until she starts reminding him to act his age.

There's nothing people fight harder against than doing something they are told is best for them. Thus it does little real good to warn overweight people their excess poundage is bad for them. If Congress passed a law making the craving for food in every fat man and fat woman in the land would go on a diet overnight.

To Your Good Health Obese Persons Poor Surgical Risks

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: I have a terrible problem. I am 39, five feet four inches tall and weigh 250 pounds. I have a large fibroid tumor. The doctors tell me they can't operate while I am so heavy.

What dangers, if any, are there? I have lost lots of weight before but it gets more difficult to do so. Can a person lose weight through hypnosis? MRS. L. F. The obesity makes you a poor risk for surgery. You don't heal as readily. You don't tolerate anesthesia as well. There will be more strain on your heart. More cutting is necessary. Risk of hemorrhage is greater because sheer weight makes it more difficult to see that tissues remain in the correct position for healing. The operation is bound to take longer—and that in itself makes it more dangerous. Danger of pneumonia is greater afterward because excess weight is bound to interfere with respiration.

At 39 you have ample opportunity to add many years to your life by reducing your weight drastically. With weight preventing this operation for the tumor, you have a more immediate incentive.

You have lost lots of weight before. That proves it can be done. If you can lose it, you can remain rid of it—but you can't do so by returning to your old eating habits as soon as you have reduced. You have to learn a new pattern of eating, both quantity and kinds of foods.

Talking about hypnosis is fooling yourself into looking for an easy way to do it. Hypnosis, in any event, is a dangerous device unless used by a specialist who knows the many pitfalls and extreme dangers that can arise. To undergo hypnosis safely over a period long enough to lose sufficient weight would be costly if, indeed, you found a qualified specialist willing to undertake it. And I have my doubts about that. Even then, success could not be guaranteed because, for one thing, hypnosis often merely converts one craving into another. If you substitute the craving for food it can result in a craving for tobacco, alcohol or even more dangerous things. Forget about hypnosis.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," enclosing a long, loose and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim It's An Occupational Hazard

Editing a food page every Thursday has its high points. Meeting and talking with local women, who have gained renown in the city as excellent cooks, is always a pleasant experience.

THE ENVELOPES of food copy that are routed to my desk are opened with almost as much eagerness as letters from home. Those delicious-looking recipes are hoarded greedily, and my culinary cup runneth over when a packet contains big, glossy illustrations that will fit nicely into the right-hand corner of a page.

There also is a dark side to being exposed to all this lime-salad-on-lettuce literature for the ladies. Take, for instance, a paragraph like this... "satiny brown gravy for spooning generously over steaming boiled rice; the kettle of succulent stew that belies its lowly origin by its royal fragrance."

IF YOU'RE on the calorie-counting side of 30, reading something like that just before lunch can be disastrous.

At first, I wasn't too concerned. Loyalty to the job compelled me only to add a slice of pickle to my peanut butter sandwich to dress it up a bit. It was with something akin to genuine horror that I realized the copy was getting to me.

Now I've always been a gal who enjoys a good dinner, and there are those who say I'm not a bad cook. However, after putting in eight hours at the office, it just isn't my cup of tea if I have to brew it.

WHEN LIVING in Houston, I shared the pleasure of enjoying good food with several friends, and we spent two or three evenings each week seeking out the restaurants that offered the best menu for the type of dinner we decided on. In those days, "Mad Tony's" was known for its sophisticated atmosphere and superb cheesecake. If you wanted prime beef, you went to a certain downtown hotel dining room. "Gaude's" was new then, and offered excellent seafood, and a little place at the end of South Main served Southern fried chicken with hot biscuits and honey. I've forgotten the name of one of our favorite places—an Italian restaurant that gave the added bonus of opera music to dine by.

ON THE OTHER hand, there have been times when a corny dog, eaten hurriedly in a car from a paper basket held on the lap, tasted as good as a seven course dinner.

Liking most foods, I'm willing to try anything except raw oysters. At the San Jacinto Inn, I even did that once—after choosing the smallest one on the shells. By the time it was successfully swallowed, I was sure I had hooked a two-pound trout on my fork by mistake.

My family always liked to experiment with food. We actually liked to experiment with food like those odd-ball concoctions that sound like ludicrous combinations. I made a tomato gravy that is out of this world—if you like that sort of thing.

OFTEN WE HAD a scrambled egg and green onion blade dish that is identical to one served under a fancy name in Chinese restaurants. At our house, the only thing better than chicken and dumplings was chicken and rice. If you felt adventurous, you could have frog legs in lieu of quail, shrimp gumbo instead of fresh corn soup, or a bowl of fresh figs if you were tired of Ambrosia.

ON SECOND thought, coffee for lunch and soup for supper is for the birds—and those with like appetites. Since I'm already 20 years too late for the beauty pageant, might as well relax and enjoy it. By this time next year, I may be the only gal in town with a perfect 36-36-36.

Holmes Alexander There Are Already Enough Laws

WASHINGTON — You might say that Senators George Smathers (D., Fla.) and Edwin Mechem (R., N. M.) are non-typical and differing bricks in the wall of resistance which is building up against President Kennedy's hot-weather plan for a strong-arm Civil Rights bill. Each of these men brings to the opposition something that contains more reasonableness than prejudice, more sensibility than sectionalism.

SMATHERS COMES from a Southern state which has clearly broken the one-party yoke, has generally accepted the Federal decision to extend political reforms to the Negroes and has nowhere drawn the kind of battle lines that have been formed in Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Smathers, if I understand him correctly, will support a filibuster against the President's plan for reasons that are temperate rather than traditional, this being somewhat different from the usual Southern stance on Constitutional grounds. Smathers feels that the President is doing the right thing in appealing to mayors, businessmen and public opinion—but is doing the wrong thing in asking Congress for showy but redundant legislation. There are already enough powers in Federal hands—by virtue of existing laws, court decisions and precedent—without the need for more.

SMATHERS BELIEVES that the President's appeal to Congress for new laws is a concession to radical pressures which should not be so honored. He has told the White House that the continuing prosperity of Southern states will automatically spread the economic and educational equality which the President is seeking. These ideas by a Southern Senator are a long way from being racism, yesterdayism or obstructionism.

Senator Mechem, in a separate interview, made the same points more strongly stated, about the superfluity of Federal laws and the mistake it would be if the President and Congress were stampeded into panic action because of street riots and the bellowing of race-maddened radicals. Dignity and common sense at the seat of government are the needs of the hour.

THE TALL, HUSKY, square-jawed Mechem will not ring the welkin with these opinions, although he feels them deeply, and comes honestly by them. He is both an appointive and a freshman Senator, playing the look-and-listen role at this session without aligning himself to any faction of the Senate Republicans. But as a three-time Governor, he presided over peaceful school integration in New Mexico. During one last situation he quietly deployed his State troopers to reinforce a district attorney who had to deal with threatened resistance.

NEW MEXICO entered the American Union under a treaty arrangement which guaranteed no discrimination on grounds of race, religion or language so that Mechem has little personal sympathy with any limitation on the voting rights of minorities. Even so, he supports the larger right of a community to run its local affairs. He accepts the sovereignty of an electorate-in-being.

Taken together, Smathers and Mechem seem to represent, not so much the old Confederate-Republican coalition as they do the growing affinity between Southern and Western States in the opposition to hyperactivity in Washington.

Inez Robb U.S. Singers A Smash In Austria

It's a lead-pipe cinch that the Forest Grove Gleemen at the moment are a lot better known throughout Austria and other parts of Europe than in their native land, the U. S. A. It's the same type cinch that most of their fellow citizens don't even know where Forest Grove is. So, to cut the agonizing suspense, Forest Grove is a suburb of Portland, Oregon.

BY CHANCE I arrived in Salzburg, Austria's summer music citadel, during its annual Sangerbunderfest, which, broken down into its components, means the town's annual amateur choral festival. As it turned out, the Forest Grove Gleemen were the first Americans ever to enter the Sangerbunderfest.

The Gleemen were a surprise entry—a sleeper, so to speak. No one had ever heard of them. Even their name was a misnomer, since the group consisted of 31 male and 21 female singers, and a piano accompanist. (Just to give you an idea of the competition: one German group this season boasted a chorus of 500 voices and its own symphony orchestra.)

NOW, I HAD never heard of the Gleemen, either, but I construed it as the duty of any American in such an emergency to rally round the flag. Well, to make a long story short, at the end of their concert, I was on my feet with 2,000 frenzied Europeans, clapping hands raw, shouting and stamping—which isn't easy all at the same time, but which the crowd managed.

THE GLEEMAN HAD, in the most critical terrain and against the stiffest competition, carried the ball 95 yards for a touch-down and kicked the extra point. I actually thought the roof would fall in when the audience heard the old Negro spirituals, and I trembled for the safety of the venerable Mozartium hall when the Gleemen, as an encore, sang "When the Saints Go Marching In."

The Oregon group was the hit of the Sangerbunderfest.

It is one of the phenomenons of jet travel that people tend more and more to travel in big bunches, like grapes. It is a lot less expensive and, presumably, a lot more fun if you can hire and fill up a jet with your own mob. I meet such groups all over Europe.

EVERY PLACE I went in Spain and Mallorca I ran into a jet-load of American businessmen and their wives under the aegis of Petrocelli Clothes, a manufacturer of men's natty numbers.

In Madrid the Petrocelli group, under the direction of Petrocelli president, Sam Eisenberg, gave a fashion show of men's clothing in the ballroom of the Castellana Hilton Hotel. The Spanish guests and the Spanish press loved it.

"WE DON'T expect to sell any clothes in Spain. We don't even try to," Eisenberg said. "Then why do you go to the expense and trouble of a fashion show?" I asked.

"Just to give Europeans a good impression of American business and American businessmen," Eisenberg answered. "I think that's important. This is our third trip. The first year we went to Rome; last year, to Cannes and the Riviera. Petrocelli dealers are already beginning to sign up for the next trip."

THE BIGGEST BUNCH of touring grapes consisted of 300 persons, or two jets' worth, from Los Angeles, seeing Europe on a common bond of devotion to the superior sauces of a Los Angeles restaurant, the Cave du Roys!

Okla. Miss Wishes Vanentina Godspeed

NEW YORK (AP)—For three years Jerrie Cobb has harangued, lectured and pleaded that women belong in space as much as men. Now the Russians have put a woman in orbit, but it's a bitter-sweet victory for Jerrie. In the first place, the first woman astronaut is not an American, and in the second, she's not Jerrie. The shy, blonde, Oklahoma pilot, first woman to pass rigorous tests given the astronauts, for years has lived in hope of being the first woman in space. Now she says in a telephone interview: "I've fought the battle so long, I can't help feeling a little regret to know she's really up there—the first woman and a Russian. "But I guess I should say first, I really mean it when I wish her well, Godspeed and a good flight. I'm glad a woman made it. But I'm sorry she's not an American. "I don't mean to throw rocks, but I know so well we could have done it. Now we've lost our only chance to have a 'first' in space." Jerrie, who is 32, says she understands that 26-year-old Valentina Tereshkova is not a pilot, although she's a skilled parachutist. "And all that stuff from NASA, 'National Aeronautics and Space Administration' about having to have an engineering degree and be a jet test pilot. I tried to work with NASA. I told them 'if that's what you want, I'll get an engineering degree, and someday I'll be a jet test pilot.' "Perhaps it would be better to be a textile mill worker like the Russian woman astronaut. "Two years ago Jerrie was appointed a consultant to NASA. "On June 13, 1961, I was sworn in," she recalls. "They asked for a proposal pertaining to women in space. Two days later I submitted it. Nothing happened. Exactly two years and one day later, a Russian woman is in space." Last July a House special subcommittee on the selection of as-

Mass For Pope John

Red Specialty: Information Booths

MOSCOW (AP)—All Soviet cities are sprinkled with information booths where you can get a telephone number or the sailing dates of Black Sea passenger ships. You pay for such information. The most expensive item is an address, which costs five kopeks (about five cents). Other bits of information cost two kopeks.

Moscow has 220 information booths or kiosks. They stand on sidewalks at busy intersections, and near such places as railway terminals. Women who work in the kiosks receive 50-60 rubles (officially $55-66) a month. This is about average for Soviet women. Some are pretty, and some are not. All are supposed to be courteous, a trait which many find difficult to practice, especially when they are asked questions. Mikhail Lavochkin, head of the Moscow Information System, admits courtesy is a problem, but stoutly defends his women. "Courtesy," he said, "is very important. Unfortunately there are times when the public is rude to our girls, and as a result the girls are not overly self-controlled."

Lavochkin began an interview by asserting that Lenin gets the credit for the information booth system.

"In 1918," Lavochkin said, "Lenin signed a decree which gives working people the opportunity of getting different types of information without wasting time."

The booths were set up in Moscow in 1924. Lavochkin says the Moscow booths answer about 30,000 questions daily.

Requests for addresses — both private and public — are the most numerous. Other types of information available: telephone numbers, bus, train and plane schedules, theater and movie listings. "We will even tell people where they can get a fur coat cleaned," Lavochkin said proudly. "And we are about to introduce a new shopping information service."

Such a system would be useful almost anywhere. In the Soviet Union it is necessary. Newspapers carry almost no advertising, and there is no advertising on radio or television.

Also Moscow telephone books are rare. The last telephone book, issued three years ago, was sold out in a matter of minutes.

It is very difficult to obtain information direct from such Soviet establishments as railway stations or airports. The people who answer the telephones in these places frequently have little patience and bang down the telephone receiver at the first opportunity.

Two injured in car crash. Earl Taylor, 38, and his son Scott Taylor, 5, were treated and released from Malone - Hogan Foundation Hospital shortly after 5 p.m. Monday following a two-car collision at Calvin and Laurie.

The two suffered cuts and bruises when the small car Taylor was driving was in collision with a vehicle driven by Anna Belle Lane, 703 Johnson. The Taylors live at 2199 Cecilia.

Other accidents investigated by Big Spring police: Monday, and drivers of vehicles involved were 800 W. 3rd Jimmy McDonald, Odessa, and a utility pole setter and Ridgeway, Ira Boyd, 1202 Lamar, riding a motor scooter, and a late model car unidentified (police were not called). Tenth and Main, Jerry Dan Shortes, Sterling City, and William Eugene Gilbert, 1304 Dixie.

He Was Two Licenses Short

Antonio Moran, Lamesa, found double trouble Monday evening, both stemming from failure to have a license.

He was charged in Howard County Court with possession of beer in a wet area for sale without a license, and in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court with driving without an operator's license. Moran pleaded guilty on both counts and received fines of $100 and costs and $1 and costs, respectively. He is currently being held in county jail.

Monday Powell Sr., Garden City, pleaded guilty in County Court to a charge of swindling by worthless check and was fined $30 and $28.85 court costs. Lee Barber, 110 Nolan, pleading guilty to theft over $5 and under $50, was sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Released on $500 bond from county jail Monday was Louis Waid Busbee, Midland, charged with driving while intoxicated.

Money Is Taken From Beauty Shop. A woman, accompanied by four children, was arrested for shoplifting at Gibson's Discount Center last Monday. Curly Pruitt, employee, gave police a description of the woman. She was found in the 200 block of Nolan and taken to the police station, charged with shoplifting and jailed.

Lake Level Is Slowly Increasing. Level of Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir, increased slowly today, reaching elevation 2255.97.

This represented a net gain of .91 of a foot since last week. In terms of volume, it accounts for 6,700 acre feet, or about 2.2 billion gallons of water. There was a prospect that the lake level would drop 2256 before habing. This would be only two feet under spillway.

Peace Corps' First Veterans

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Forty-eight young Americans are getting final medical checkups before winding up their two-year Peace Corps assignment to Ghana.

Ghana was the first nation to request Peace Corps volunteers from the United States. Fifty-one applicants, all teachers, were selected, went through a period of training and landed here on Aug. 28, 1961, just in time for the beginning of the school year. All but three of these are about to become the Peace Corps' first honorably discharged veterans.

They have suffered disappointments and frustrations. They have met and overcome many unexpected difficulties. Often their work proved less exciting, less romantic than they envisaged. They have been accused by a Ghana newspaper of spying.

But few, if any, regret the time and toil they have devoted to this young West African republic. They will go back to the United States next month wiser, tougher and keenly aware of African and world problems.

And Ghana has benefited from their work. Without them, the country's ambitious education program could have been jeopardized for lack of graduate teachers.

Three days after the first volunteers arrived here, two of them won second prize in a high life contest at a popular Accra night spot. The shuffling, rhythmic high life is a dance popular throughout West Africa and the Americas.

Other types of information available: telephone numbers, bus, train and plane schedules, theater and movie listings. "We will even tell people where they can get a fur coat cleaned," Lavochkin said proudly. "And we are about to introduce a new shopping information service."

Such a system would be useful almost anywhere. In the Soviet Union it is necessary. Newspapers carry almost no advertising, and there is no advertising on radio or television.

Also Moscow telephone books are rare. The last telephone book, issued three years ago, was sold out in a matter of minutes.

It is very difficult to obtain information direct from such Soviet establishments as railway stations or airports. The people who answer the telephones in these places frequently have little patience and bang down the telephone receiver at the first opportunity.

Tenth and Main, Jerry Dan Shortes, Sterling City, and William Eugene Gilbert, 1304 Dixie.

He Was Two Licenses Short. Antonio Moran, Lamesa, found double trouble Monday evening, both stemming from failure to have a license.

He was charged in Howard County Court with possession of beer in a wet area for sale without a license, and in Justice of the Peace Walter Grice's court with driving without an operator's license. Moran pleaded guilty on both counts and received fines of $100 and costs and $1 and costs, respectively. He is currently being held in county jail.

Monday Powell Sr., Garden City, pleaded guilty in County Court to a charge of swindling by worthless check and was fined $30 and $28.85 court costs. Lee Barber, 110 Nolan, pleading guilty to theft over $5 and under $50, was sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Released on $500 bond from county jail Monday was Louis Waid Busbee, Midland, charged with driving while intoxicated.

Money Is Taken From Beauty Shop. A woman, accompanied by four children, was arrested for shoplifting at Gibson's Discount Center last Monday. Curly Pruitt, employee, gave police a description of the woman. She was found in the 200 block of Nolan and taken to the police station, charged with shoplifting and jailed.

Lake Level Is Slowly Increasing. Level of Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir, increased slowly today, reaching elevation 2255.97.

This represented a net gain of .91 of a foot since last week. In terms of volume, it accounts for 6,700 acre feet, or about 2.2 billion gallons of water. There was a prospect that the lake level would drop 2256 before habing. This would be only two feet under spillway.

Ideology Battle. MOSCOW (AP) — With Soviet Premier Khrushchev in the chair behind him, Communist ideologist Leonid Ilyichev called today for a party offensive on all fronts to train writers, artists and workers.

Antonio, said he is "ticked to death" with the law's provisions for less than $100 loans. "I'm satisfied with the bill," he said. "I don't think it will put anybody out of business unless he has less than $15,000 in assets, and I don't know of very many people like that. If a man doesn't have $15,000, I don't see how he can stay in business anyway."

Lemens estimated a company needs $35,000 to $50,000 a year volume. Gilbert Hargrave, head of the finance section of the attorney general's office, said "The bulk of the work on interpreting the law" is still ahead.

The State Finance Commission, with state Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner as executive director, must name a commissioner to administer the act. Hargrave estimated 3,000 loan companies will qualify under the law. "From our standpoint, the new law strengthens our position," Hargrave said. "Under the old constitutional provision with the 10 per cent per year limit, our office could obtain an injunction against a company if we could prove that the company charged usurious interest at least three

Two Tests Abandoned

Texas Crude Oil Co. and Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. has discontinued drilling on a pair of oilsets to No. 1-253 Knox, Devonian discovery in northwestern Martin County.

The No. 1-254 Knox, drilled to 12,157 feet in the Devonian, has been plugged and abandoned after recovering only salt water on drill-stem test of a section from 12,055-127 feet. A test earlier, from 12,035-652 feet, returned 1.170 feet of sulphur water. This project was about one-half mile west of the discovery.

No. 2-253 Knox, half-mile south of the strike, has been plugged and abandoned at 4,270 feet. It was 4,900 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west lines of league 253, Ward CSL survey. Former Students Of Baylor Urged To Attend Meet

Former students of Baylor University are being urged to attend a meeting next week to set up the framework for a Baylor Club.

A tentative slate of officers and directors will be presented for consideration of those attending the meeting, which is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday (June 25) at the community room of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association in Big Spring.

Big Spring Baylor exes are anxious to have former students in the Garden City, Stanton, Lamesa, Snyder, and Colorado City areas to participate in the club. Preliminary plans call for few meetings, and membership fees would be nominal. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the organizational meeting. Information may be had from John R. Sharp Controversy Swirls Around Loan Shark Law

AUSTIN (AP)—The legislature passed what is considered in some quarters a strong law to control loan sharks. But confusion and controversy swirl around the measure and may do so for decades.

The chief controversy: Does the bill actually permit interest rates as high as 1,040 per cent as some charge?

The confusion: How will the still unnamed administrator interpret the complex provisions? What will the courts say eventually?

One loan company expert fears the law will put some companies out of business. Another says the bill is good. The law becomes effective Aug. 24. Loan companies have another 90 days in which to buy licenses to stay in business.

How many companies will be closed? Vernon Lemens, Austin lawyer who represented the under $100 lenders before the legislature for many years, said the bill "will put a lot of people out of business, mainly the man who doesn't hustle and the company with more than one office in a city."

Roy Cummins, who runs two small loan companies in San Antonio, said he is "ticked to death" with the law's provisions for less than $100 loans. "I'm satisfied with the bill," he said. "I don't think it will put anybody out of business unless he has less than $15,000 in assets, and I don't know of very many people like that. If a man doesn't have $15,000, I don't see how he can stay in business anyway."

The State Finance Commission, with state Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner as executive director, must name a commissioner to administer the act. Hargrave estimated 3,000 loan companies will qualify under the law. "From our standpoint, the new law strengthens our position," Hargrave said. "Under the old constitutional provision with the 10 per cent per year limit, our office could obtain an injunction against a company if we could prove that the company charged usurious interest at least three times in a six-month period. The new law says 'any violation of this act' which gives us a lot more latitude." What does the new law mean to the person who goes to a loan company to obtain some money? On a $100 loan, a person would pay $19 interest. In addition, the company can require him to take out insurance so the loan would be paid in case of the person's death or a serious illness. The premiums on insurance will be set up by the state board of insurance.

On a $200 loan, for each $100 the interest is $16, $13 for each $100 for a $300 loan, and progressively downward to $7 per $100 on loans up to $1,500. All are annual rates. Under a special provision for loans of less than $100, lenders can charge $1 per $5 cash advanced on loans up to $19. On other loans, charges can be one-tenth of the loan plus a fee of $100 for a $300 loan, and progressively downward to $7 per $100 on loans up to $1,500. All are annual rates.

Bread On Waters Financed College

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—During the final phase of the Crimean War a New York tourist was startled to see a boatload of white bread moving across the Bosphorus.

Such commodities were in short supply and the visitor, a wealthy tea and sugar merchant named Christopher Robert, was curious. He learned that the bread was being sent to the British hospital at Selimye Barracks, the same hospital where a British nurse named Florence Nightingale had worked. A resourceful American teacher,

Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, had made the bread to help earn money for the high school and theological seminary he operated outside Istanbul.

Robert decided he wanted to meet this enterprising man. The meeting, in 1856, changed both their lives. Hamlin had a dream which Robert helped finance: an American college in Turkey.

That dream, Robert College, is celebrating its 100th anniversary this week. More than 13,000 students of many nationalities and religions have attended it. Graduates have fanned out through the Middle East, to become prominent businessmen, ambassadors and statesmen.

It was rough going at first. Hamlin had five teachers to teach four students when the school opened in his old seminary in 1863. He met mysterious opposition when he tried to build a new school atop a hill behind Bebek. He charged that France and Russia were pressurizing the Ottoman government to keep America out of the Bosphorus, an area they had considered their own.

The U.S. naval hero, Adm. David Farragut, was in Istanbul with part of the fleet on a courtesy call. Hamlin and friends persuaded him to bring up the subject of the college when he dined with the high Ottoman officials. The grand vizier (prime minister) finally

Woman Kills Self, Family

PROSPECT, Pa. (AP)—A woman described as a nice person who would do anything for her shot and killed her five children and husband Monday, then killed herself.

State police said Elizabeth Gregor, 44, shot three children who were in the living room and 19-month-old twin boys in their cribs.

She then telephoned her husband at work and asked him to come home to their 50-acre farm near Prospect, about 40 miles north of Pittsburgh.

When Joseph John Gregor Sr., 52, entered the kitchen door, police said, his wife shot him.

After telephoning the coroner and telling him to come to the house, Mrs. Gregor fatally shot herself, firing a shotgun with a piece of string tied from the trigger of the gun to a toe.

Found dead in the living room were Joseph John Jr., 14; Thomas John, 12; and Rosemary Elizabeth, 10. Police said they apparently had been watching television.

Twins Richard and James were found in a bedroom. The bodies of the parents were lying near each other in the kitchen.

Officers said Mrs. Gregor had been in ill health recently. They said she left various notes indicating she wasn't well.

Harlem Site Of Race Riot

NEW YORK (AP)—A clash between Negroes and police at a Harlem rally Monday night touched off widespread violence and vandalism.

Patrolmen were called from four of the city's five boroughs to quell the disorder, which resulted in two stabbings and numerous other injuries.

Twenty-six persons were arrested.

The reinforcements patrolled Harlem streets today to try to prevent further outbreaks.

Police did not report any clash between Negroes and white civilians.

The trouble began at two Negro street rallies—both on 7th Avenue at 125th Street.

Police, some swinging nightsticks, charged into a crowd of 150 at a rally sponsored by the Black Nationalist movement and sent some participants sprawling to the street, bleeding. The others fled.

Police said they attempted to disperse the crowd after an officer on the scene was struck by a thrown object. Two patrolmen were slightly hurt in the melee.

About an hour before, police said, they cleared the street of 1,000 persons at a rally sponsored by another radical Negro movement, the African Nationalists.

Police said they acted after some persons in the African Nationalist crowd took the part of a vendor who was disputing with a patrolman. Bricks, bottles and stones were tossed before the crowd was broken up.

After the rallies ended, about 200 Negro participants walked to the vicinity of 112th Street and Broadway, west of Harlem. They knocked over garbage cans, broke bottles and scattered the litter in the wake. At 121st Street and Broadway, two Negro men were stabbed. Neither was hurt seriously.

Police moved in and arrested 25 Negroes, nine of them juveniles. The adults were charged with disorderly conduct and the youngsters with juvenile delinquency.

An arrest was made during the rallies when one man refused to obey an officer's command to move along. He also was charged with disorderly conduct.

Overfeeding Our Children May Shorten Their Lives

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A nationally known nutrition researcher deplored today the super-feeding of children in America and said it might lead to a definite shortening of the average life-span within the next two generations.

Dr. John B. Youmans of Nashville, Tenn., said the possibility exists that super-nutrition in the United States—especially among infants—may "make the biological clock run too fast," and thus ultimately cause earlier than normal aging and cut longevity.

He said this at a news conference at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association prior to accepting the AMA's Goldberger Award for outstanding nutritional research.

Youmans, a former director of

Water That Trapped 100 In Canyon Ebbs

By The Associated Press

High water ebbed Tuesday in Palo Duro State Park, where a sudden rise drowned an Amarillo youth and marooned more than 100 campers overnight.

Texas weather was blamed for five deaths Monday.

Occasionally heavy showers or thunderstorms, like that blamed for the Palo Duro Canyon, continued through the night over parts of North and East Texas. By morning a band of thunder-showers 100 to 200 miles wide dotted South Texas.

The Corpus Christi Naval Air Station measured more than 2

This Paper's Like A Poster

LOUISE (AP)—If you go by page size, one of the biggest newspapers anywhere serves this community of 882 people near the Texas coast.

A single page—that's all of it—measures about 8 by 16 feet. If that sounds to you like a billboard, you're mostly right.

It's the Louise Outdoor Newspaper, just off Highway 59 beside a small drive-in grocery.

Houston Post columnist Leon Hale reported in today's paper (The Post, that is) you'll find editor Tillie Roome waiting on customers in that Louise grocery store every morning.

When she hears news, she goes outside and writes it on the board.

Anybody who wants to catch up on current events just stops by the grocery store and reads it.

The big page is blocked off in sections for lost and found, public and legal notices, fishing news, and so on.

Tillie Roome carries a press card issued by the Texas Department of Public Safety to prove she is a newspaper editor.

The billboard paper is a product of community effort, launched because Louise didn't have a regular newspaper. But Tillie says she isn't trying to horn in on coverage given local events by newspapers at Ganado, El Campo or Houston.

She has only one staff member working. That's fishing editor M. W. Baldy Crowell, who has a column called Baldy's Fishing Report.

On the edition columnist Hale read, Baldy reported the trout were biting at nearby Half Moon Reef.

Some fishermen must have taken Crowell's advice and returned home empty handed. A letter to the editor scrawled below states Baldy's column wasn't worth the chalk it took to write it.

Brown Commutes Death Sentence

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown has commuted the death sentence of Clarence Edward Ashley, convicted of the murder of a 6-year-old girl in 1960, to life imprisonment without possibility of parole.

"There is no question that Ashley committed this crime," the governor said in taking the action Monday, "but there is equally no question that he is seriously mentally ill." Under California law, an insane person can't be executed.

Ashley, 38, a former Army warrant officer from Anderson, S.C., was to have died June 26 in San Quentin's gas chamber.

He was found guilty in 1962 of murdering Angie Mae Stewart after making friends with her migrant family.

YOUR STARS TODAY

By Constella

All are architects of Fate, Working in these walls of Time.

DAILY GUIDE—There is the continuing atmosphere of friction roused by the over-all picture of modern life. In your small way you can tackle your daily chores with some consciousness of their place in this big pattern. It could be a little depressing to realize how small your share is, but keep your eye on the big goal, not on your short-term aims.

People can be a little difficult today, so keep in mind that they, too, have their problems. Concentrate on practical details today, even small chores that are not attractive but necessary. Keep in mind that we can do much to build our own future. Even the unexpected, which is to be expected this month, can be turned to your account if you are quick and skilful. It is this sudden lightning-like accent that some people ride to peaks of success. Swift fortunes can be the hardest to hold; keep your sense of values.

Tomorrow ought to be unusually happy socially. It is excellent for shopping, visiting, enjoying

INDICTMENT IN APRIL SLAYING

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas County grand jury indicted Robert Paschal, alias James Creet, on a murder charge Monday in the mysterious death of a soldier's wife.

The woman, Mrs. Emma Jean Stewart, 31, was found dead at an Oak Cliff motel April 22. Officers said their investigation indicated she had been smothered.

An autopsy report said she died of "acute hemorrhagic pulmonary edema."

Paschal, 25, a handyman at the motel, was questioned and released after a habeas corpus hearing April 30. In a signed statement he said he had been in the woman's apartment and had relations with her.

on vacation

People need vacations. But does your advertising and sales program need one, too?

Advertising impact never takes a break—in newspapers. Newspaper circulation remains virtually constant throughout the year.

Both television viewing and magazine reading fall off during the summer. Radio listening drops in the winter.

Pick your season. You'll find 100 million people reading, searching, finding, deciding-to-buy in the pages of the most weatherproof, on-the-job advertising medium of them all—the daily newspaper.

BIG SPRING BUSINESS and INDUSTRY

9-A BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, JUNE 18, 1963 9-A

NEW CATALINA WASHERS WITH UNUSUAL CONTROLS

L. B. Conway, left, shows models of the new Catalina washers and dryers at White Stores, Inc.

Jones Motor Sets Record In New Car Sales

Jones Motor Co. has set a record in its sale of new Dodges, Dodge Darts, and Dodge job-rated trucks this year. One of the reasons is that these cars can "take it."

Bill Prince, sales manager, says the new cars are being sold about as fast as they can be brought in and that people are showing that "happy motoring" face when talking Dodge.

Members of the First Church of God thought enough of the Dodge cars to present a new one to their pastor, the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, before he started his vacation June 16. It has a long hard trip ahead of it. The new car has automatic transmission, power steering, and air conditioning.

In view of the fact that new cars have been sold rapidly, Jones Motor Co. has a good stock of used cars on the lot. These can be bought in "new car condition," good condition, and "as is."

They also are available in several makes and models, some old and some fairly new.

Jones Motor Co. operates one of the finest service headquarters in Big Spring. Parts and accessories are available for all cars, and men are employed who know how to do the finest jobs on major overhauls and tuneups. They know how because they are interested in their work and are factory-trained.

White's Now Featuring Catalina Appliances

Something better is being displayed on the floor in White's appliance department now. They are the new Catalina washers and dryers with five-year transmission and two-year parts warranties, and two-year service policy.

L. B. Conway, native of Big Spring who has been with White's for 15 years, says the new washers carry features to make the home laundry as modern as can be found.

"One of the models even does your thinking for you, if you set it to handle certain fabrics. It has all kinds of cold, warm or hot settings for fabrics from overalls to dainties," he said.

The Catalina washer is two-cycle, with water temperature control, large or small load regulators, lint catchers, all porcelain tubs, automatic soak cycle, and five fresh water rinses for complete soil and detergent remover. All are flush-to-wall types.

This same machine has two-speed wash and spin cycles, normal wash and spin, normal wash and slow spin, slow wash and normal spin, and slow wash and slow spin.

The second machine, not quite so elaborate but still a good washer, has hot wash-cold rinse, and warm wash-warm rinse.

The all-white, with blue back, machines are finished over all in heavy porcelain. They are agitator types.

Conway says a person actually has to see these machines to appreciate the features which make them tops in home washers. White's, at 202 Scurry, has several washers and dryers on the floor.

Catalina refrigerators, with freezing compartments and double or single doors, from 10 to 15 cubic feet capacity, are also featured. They have both top and bottom mounting freezers. One model is a combination two-door deep-freeze-refrigerator unit.

Chest type freezers come in 15 to 20 cubic feet, and uprights 12 to 20 cubic feet. All carry a five-year warranty.

White's also has a number of used refrigerators, freezers and ranges.

172 Oil, Gas Wells Completed

Seven wildcat oil wells and 31 gas wells were reported.

A total of 172 wells were plugged, 116 of them dry holes. The average allowable was 2,827,696 barrels, an increase of 7,701 barrels.

Tax Writers Gain Time For Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—House tax writers have shuffled their schedule to give themselves more time for their big decision on cutting tax rates—and to see if they can pick up more offsetting revenue.

It may now be three weeks before the Ways and Means Committee votes on including in its draft of a tax bill some substitute for the present 20 to 91 per cent range of personal income tax rates.

Kennedy proposed 14 to 65 per cent, but with offsetting changes that would soak up some of the tax relief this would leave a net reduction of $10.2 billion.

The committee has compiled figures on changes like 15 to 70 or 25 per cent and has hatted down most of the administration's revenue increasing ideas.

On balance, the changes it has approved so far make little difference in government income. The net is an estimated gain of some $35 million a year.

Monday in a possibly significant action, the committee reconsidered an earlier decision and voted a moderate tightening of the rules on oil and gas industry taxation.

These rules changes, limiting the grouping of oil properties for tax advantage and the application of the lower capital gains rate to certain sales, would increase taxes on the industry by an estimated $50 million a year. The full range of Kennedy proposals on oil and gas taxation would have yielded an increase estimated up to $200 million. The committee had rejected nearly all these.

It is now reported studying again possible repeal of the 4 per cent dividend tax credit instituted during the Eisenhower administration. It once voted not to change the present arrangement, but this decision, like all others up to the time a bill is actually sent to the House, can be reconsidered.

The committee's schedule change, brought about by ordering a final draft of all other provisions before the question of rates is settled, does not necessarily mean much delay before the bill goes to the House. The drafting would have to be done in any case.

The new schedule does allow more time for calculating in detail the effect of changes agreed on and sounding out opinion on rates, both in Congress and the Treasury.

The big revenue gainer proposed by the Treasury—limiting individual deductions by requiring a floor under them somewhat similar to the present four under medical expense deductions—apparently is dead. The committee discarded it early and has shown no interest in revisiting it. This decision alone would force revision of Kennedy's proposed rate structure.

GOP Splits Over Business Angle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans split today over a leadership effort to take the de-segregation of private business out from under President Kennedy's proposed civil rights program.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., gave his support to a proposal by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to make the integration of business firms a voluntary community matter.

But Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., insisted in a separate interview that Congress has ample power to ban discrimination by businesses dealing with the public and it should exercise the responsibility it has so long neglected.

Dirksen asked the Senate Republican Policy Committee to pass on his compromise proposal. He indicated that except for this feature he is prepared to go along with a civil rights package Kennedy plans to send to Congress Wednesday.

Kennedy scheduled a breakfast discussion of the proposals with Democratic leaders before talking them over with 10 governors, including four Republicans, at a luncheon conference.

GET TOGETHER

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he believes he and Dirksen can get together to sponsor a bill which would include most of the administration's program.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, said this program would include a provision to outlaw segregation in public places and in firms dealing in accommodations and services which do a yearly gross business of $175,000.

Other provisions would strengthen enforcement of voting rights, permit the attorney general to institute school desegregation suits, set up a community relations service and make the civil rights commission a permanent body.

Goldwater said he agreed with Dirksen's statement at a news conference Monday that there is no authority in the 14th Amendment and in the commerce clause to order private property desegregated.

"I think moral persuasion is going to do more to bring about integration than any law," the Arizona senator said. "We had the problem in two cities in Arizona and we solved it on a voluntary basis."

NOT ENOUGH

Case said this isn't enough. He disputed Dirksen's contention that it would be unconstitutional to apply a discrimination ban to operations of private property desegregated.

Kennedy Holds More Civil Rights Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy continues today his extraordinary series of conferences on civil rights amid signs that some think he is going too far too fast—and some that he is not doing enough.

Ten governors were scheduled for a White House luncheon conference, following Monday's meetings with 250 religious spokesmen and congressional leaders, in Kennedy's continuing efforts to gain support for the civil rights proposals he plans to present to Congress Wednesday.

The President will see some 200 national educators Wednesday, and about 200 lawyers Friday.

Monday's conferences produced opposing views from white and Negro churchmen on Kennedy's proposal for an interfaith racial committee, and some disagreement from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen on the planned civil rights proposals to Congress.

Dirksen said, however, that "there is an area of agreement on a number of items."

PRIVATE BUSINESS

The point which may give Kennedy the most trouble in the expected rugged battle over his civil rights legislation is the proposal to outlaw segregation of accommodations, facilities and services of private business. Dirksen doesn't go along with him on this.

One white Southern religious leader, Dr. Albert Garner, reportedly told Kennedy "we have deep moral and religious convictions that integration of the races is morally wrong and should be resisted."

Dr. Garner, president of the Florida Baptist Institute and Seminary of Lakeland, Fla., said many people in Florida "do not accept in silence back home, and will not accept at the polls, the segregation—be damned attitude they feel is now being pressed upon them by intimidation and threats of federal agencies."

Another conferee, the Rev. Dan Potter of New York, said Kennedy's proposal for an interfaith council met with a generally enthusiastic response.

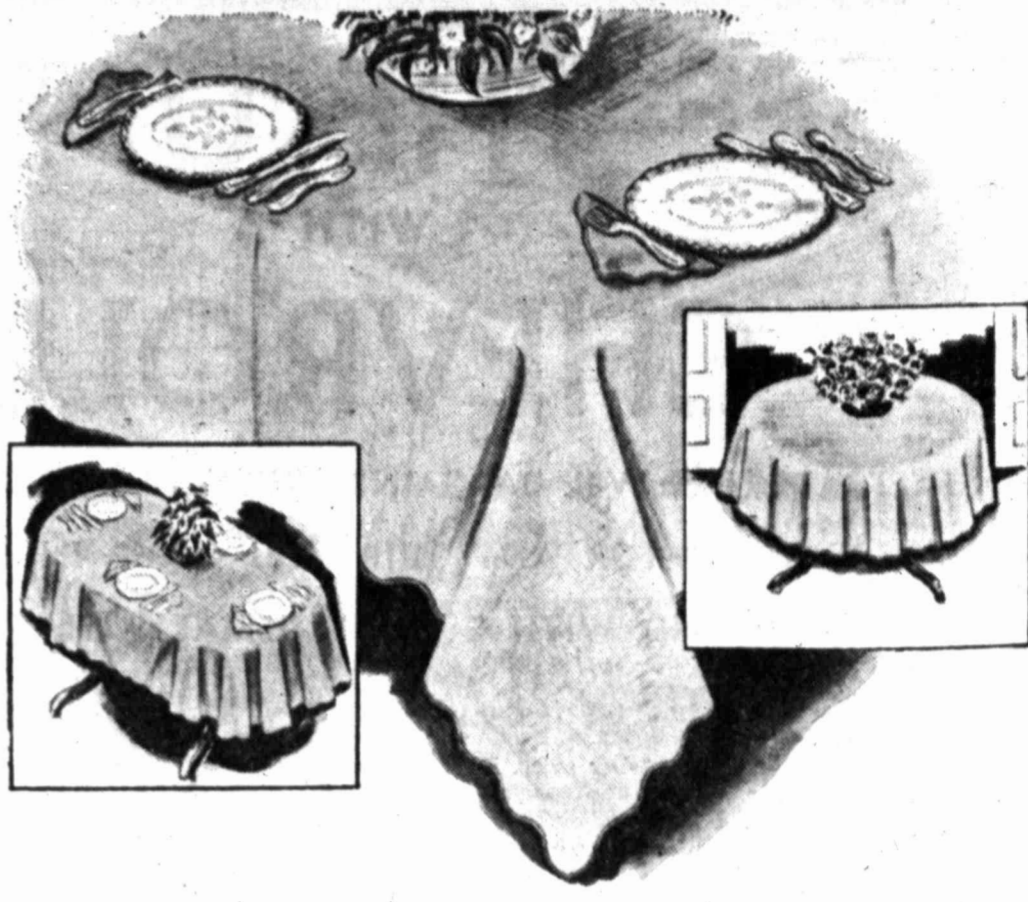

But a Negro leader, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy of Atlanta, said Kennedy's hope that such a council would encourage community leaders to seek better race relations would be like "putting vaseline on a cancer" in such states as Alabama and Mississippi.

MORE ACTION

He added, "We must have more action by the federal government." He said he wanted Kennedy to "come south on a good-will tour and interpret the law of the land."

The governors scheduled to lunch with Kennedy today were: Democrats Albertus S. Harrison Jr., Virginia; J. Millard Tawes, Maryland; Bert T. Combs, Kentucky; Jack M. Campbell, New Mexico; John M. Dempsey, Connecticut; and Grant Sawyer, Nevada.

Republicans William Scranton, Pennsylvania; Mark O. Hatfield, Oregon; John A. Love, Colorado; and James A. Rhodes, Ohio.

Lamesa To Change Curriculum In Primary Grades

LAMESA (AP)—The Lamesa school board has authorized a minimum 4-week course to study the proposed changes in the curriculum in the lower primary grades here. The course will be conducted by V. C. Bearden, elementary supervisor, for one primary teacher from all elementary schools, their principals and the superintendent.

The workshop will outline in detail the proposed curriculum change next year that provides for progression through the first three grades via 13 achievement levels. The new plan replaces the system of promoting students from one grade to another.

A tax report accepted by the trustees showed total current and delinquent collections at $671,769 or 95.97 per cent collected.

Too Many Coffee Breaks Dangerous

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Too frequent "coffee breaks" may help put you on the road towards having a peptic ulcer, a Philadelphia doctor said Monday.

Dr. James L. A. Roth told the American Medical Association's 112th annual meeting there is experimental evidence that caffeine can contribute to ulcer formation.

While granting that there is as yet no proof that this is also true in man, Dr. Roth said he's convinced that "drinking 10 to 15 cups of coffee a day will give a contributing influence" toward touching off an ulcer.

Old Dixiecrat Formula Revived

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The South shall rise again in 1964, is the rallying cry of 1,000 Southerners backing a move to throw next year's presidential election into the House of Representatives.

They were named charter members Monday night of the Southern Committee to Elect the Next President of the United States.

The call—as in the unsuccessful 1948 Dixiecrat movement—was for unity as Govs. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi and George C. Wallace of Alabama thundered defiance of the federal government.

DEAR ABBY

The Voice Of Experience

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "SMART TOO LATE" interested me. Here is a boy who urges other young people not to wait until their last semester of high school before bucking down to study. He uses himself as an example because he had just received the shock of having been turned down by the college of his choice. What gives a person who has failed the authority to lecture to others on the subject?

MRS. JONES: A winner is obviously in a position to give advice, and many will listen. But nobody can inspire a drunk to sober up like an ex-drunk who has been able to do it himself.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 17 and wants to get a driver's license. He drives all right, so that's not the problem. You see, he was born in March and I didn't get married until May of the same year. I don't want to give him his birth certificate with that information on it. He says he needs his birth certificate to get his driver's license. What should I do?

WORRIED MOM: You do not say whether you married the boy's father, or another man. Your problem involves laws and procedures that differ in different states. In some states birth certificates can be "fixed up" (to protect the child) and the original sealed. Ask your city or county health department, or the department of vital statistics, for information.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe this problem will sound small and unimportant to you, but it's really got me stumped. After 25 years and 3 children my husband now says, "I just can't sleep with you any more because you snore."

Now, Abby, do you think he's got somebody else or is snoring enough to make a man sleep alone?

SNORING WOMAN: Believe him. Snoring has driven more husbands (and wives) out of their mates' bedrooms than infidelity.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "PATTY'S PIG": Knowledge is the awareness that fire will burn. Wisdom is the blister. Blisters heal. Cheer up, Sister.

For a personal, unpublished answer to your letter, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Don't put off writing letters. Send one dollar to Abby for her booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

New Sugar Mill

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Fifty million dollars will be invested by Mexico within the next few months in the opening of a new sugar mill, the modernization of the existing ones and the reclamation of new lands for sugarcane plantings.

The main part of the funds earmarked for these purposes will come from a $150 million credit granted by France during the recent visit of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos to that country.
