JFK Begins Italian Visit

BULLETIN

ROME (AP) — The United States is filing a protest with the Italian government about alleged mishandling and mistreatment of members of President Kennedy's official party, informed sources said.

The protest, it was learned today, covers actions by Italian police and military personnel against White House aides, State Department officials and members of the American press corps traveling with Kennedy.

ROME (AP)—President Kennedy

arrived in Rome today to a sparse reception by Italian standards and promptly went into a conference with Italian leaders in his drive to build stronger unity between the United States and Western Europe.

Kennedy told an airport reception of Italian leaders and American friends that he had come to seek ways for the United States and its allies to maintain their 15-year-old alliance. He was expected to find the Italian officials receptive. Tuesday he will meet Pope Paul VI.

On his drive from the airport the President rode past Rome's ancient splendor.

A turnout of only tens of thousands of Romans was a contrast to the throngs who flocked to see the President in Germany and Ireland.

It was a searing hot day, with the temperature in the 90s, and the traditional start of vacation time for Italians. Kennedy's motorcade from the airport was held up 10 minutes by heavy traffic on the road to the sea resorts.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, announced that Kennedy would leave Italy for Washington Tuesday night instead of Wednesday morning, ending his European trip about 15 hours earlier than originally planned.

Salinger said the presidential plane would depart from Naples at 7 p.m. Tuesday after Kennedy visited North Atlantic Treaty Organization headquarters.

A spokesman for the Italian president said Segni and Kennedy met alone at first while Leone, Rusk and Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni conferred in another room.

Rival Marine Unions Square Off For Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Five maritime unions have joined to fight what they call the "rule or ruin" tactics of the Seafarers Union and its ally, the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association.

The Seafarers and the National Maritime Union, one of the five, are longtime rivals.

All the unions are AFL-CIO affiliates. The five unions said Sunday they have formed a committee to oppose the Seafarers' tactics, organize the unorganized and work for laws beneficial to seamen. The five claimed to represent about 70,000 licensed and unlicensed seamen.

Seafarers and National Maritime Union affiliates were involved in a jurisdictional dispute last month that tied up 45 American vessels, mostly on Atlantic and Gulf ports, for periods up to four days.

The dispute centered on representation of Engineers on the Maximus, then docked at Philadelphia. A compromise settlement permitted the ship to sail to Cuba with the last installment of food and medicine payments for the release of the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners.

Allied with the National Maritime Union in the new accord are the Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots; The American Radio Association; the Brotherhood of Marine Officers; and the United Marine Division.

The statement said the Masters Union would represent deck officers in future organizing and the Brotherhood would represent engineer officers. The Brotherhood, an autonomous affiliate of the National Maritime Union, represents both deck and engineer officers in some companies.

It said present contracts will not be affected, except for that with Cambridge Carriers, operators of the Maximus, in which Brotherhood will concede representation of deck officers to the thirty minutes in the Italian president's private studio.

Then they joined the others, and aides, in an adjoining room for a further exchange of views. Tuesday the President has his historic meeting with Pope Paul VI.

Kennedy flew here from Milan after spending the night relaxing at a villa beside Lake Como.

At the seaside airport here about 500 Americans cheered the President from the observation platform on the roof of the airport building.

Kennedy flew to Italy from Britain after 12 hours of discussion there with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on a range of topics including over-all East-West relations, nuclear test ban negotiations, Kennedy's proposal for a NATO surface fleet armed with Polaris missiles.

A final communique stressed that East-West relations and nuclear ban talks were top issues in their meeting. The communique said that the two leaders had agreed on the general lines which their envoys would take with the Soviets in the test ban talks opening in Moscow July 15.

Child Drowns In Lake Sunday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Little Louisa Silva, 9, drowned Sunday amidst a party of swimmers in Lake Colorado City.

She was in a group which had gone swimming and waded in the lake and was not missed until one of the swimmers brushed against her body. Police Chief Leon Yeager, who investigated, surmised that the youngster had drifted from the group into water over her head. She was seen about 10 minutes before her body was discovered.

Pulled to the shore, she was given artificial respiration until she was removed to Root Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead.

Louisa had gone to the lake with Mrs. Rachel Valles, Mrs. Paula Tiscorene, cousins, and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Malonero and their two children. The mishap occurred about 7 p.m.

Surviving here are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Celestino Silva, Colorado City.

The body is at the Kiker & Son Funeral Home, where arrangements are pending.

Bobby Asks Passage Of Civil Rights Bill

Tells Senators Of 'Daily Insult'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told senators today that passage of the administration's public accommodations bill is imperative. "to remove a daily insult to Negroes."

If all the rest of the President's civil rights program were adopted except for this hotly disputed proposal, he said, "we'd not be getting the job done."

And in an apparent reference to racial demonstrations, Kennedy said that failure to adopt this part of the subcommittee, said the administration bill to outlaw segregation in public accommodations would set no legislative precedent and deny no right except "the right to discriminate—so plainly a right to commit wrong."

In the Senate, the public accommodations provision is not only up against stiff opposition from Southerners who have denounced it as an assault on private property rights but it also lacks the support of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen has introduced a substitute bill that would rely on persuasion, rather than compulsion, to end discrimination in places catering to the public.

The attorney general said the private property argument "should be rejected as a smoke-screen."

"It would be far better if problems like this were handled by the state and local authorities, but in many areas where even so basic a right as voting is still frequently denied to Negroes; there is no hope in the near future that state and local authorities will act to eliminate this kind of discrimination," he said.

CONTENDING THAT federal action is "unconstitutionally necessary," Kennedy said:

"How can we say, to a Negro in Jackson (Miss.): 'When a war comes you will be an American citizen, but in the meantime you're a citizen of Mississippi and we can't help you.'"

Kennedy, in testifying before a House Judiciary subcommittee last week, indicated he might be willing to compromise on the public accommodations provision to the extent of exempting small business establishments.

The complete package, including the public accommodations provisions, has been sent to the Senate. (See BOBBY, Page 6-A, Col. 1)

Englishman Flies Rebel Banner, Defends South

LONDON (AP)—An Englishman with a love of lost causes flew the Confederate flag today on the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg.

"I admire the Confederate way of life," said Marcus Hinton. "I believe the Confederates were much maligned in the history books. Really, they were just fighting for their independence."

Hinton is the self-appointed major general and commander-in-year ago.

Once a month they meet, rehash Civil War battles, sing Confederate songs and listen to recordings of Southern music.

"With a little bit of luck," said Hinton, "more men and a bit better strategy, the Confederates might have defeated Lincoln's armies."

Dressed in his Confederate uniform, Hinton refought the Battle of Gettysburg with toy soldiers in his living room.

Britain's Confederate Historical Society also marked the Gettysburg anniversary with a meeting of praise for the South and its commanders.

U.S. Orders Red Diplomat Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has ordered expulsion of a Russian diplomat on grounds that he was engaged in a form of espionage, informed sources said today.

The State Department called in the ranking Soviet diplomat here this morning, presumably to inform him of the ouster.

The man involved in the purported espionage was not identified.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey declined comment for the time being. He said an announcement is expected later today, but declined to say what it would be.

The ranking Soviet diplomat here, Georgi M. Kornienko, counselor and presently chargé d'affaires, was summoned to the office of Richard H. Davis, acting assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Kornienko stayed in Davis' office less than five minutes. He told newsmen afterwards that he had no comment at this time.

No further details about the case were immediately available. Kornienko is chargé d'affaires

ROBERT OWENS OFFERED LOCAL ENGINEER'S JOB

Howard County Commissioner's Court Monday morning offered Robert Owens, an engineer at Victoria, the post of county engineer here at an annual salary of $7,500.

Owens is one of two engineers who applied for the long-cast post.

This morning after considerable discussion, L. J. Davidson moved that the Victoria man be offered the job. The motion was seconded by Joe Hayden and unanimously adopted.

Lee Porter, county judge, was instructed to contact Owens and advise him of the court's action.

Porter said he doubted if Owens would report under six weeks—assuming that he accepted the appointment.

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — Nine persons were killed over the weekend in booby-trap explosions that may have been set by warring gang lords of the Sicilian Mafia.

Assault Trial Nears Finish

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The trial of Virgil Halford, 26, ex-convict charged with raping a 9-year-old Mineral Wells girl, neared its finish today.

The case was moved here from Palo Pinto.

In The Hole

Vernon Cox, 23, right, was driving along, minding his own business on a Philadelphia street, when he drove over "what looked like a small hole." The street gave way under his car and down it went. Street officials said the hole probably was caused by a water line leak eating away the ground.

Shah Runs Into Opposition In His Royal Revolution

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi of Iran, a complicated king with a Western eye for progress and an Oriental sense of politics, is betting on a royal revolution to revitalize his ancient nation. A lot of Iranians are betting against him.

A hard-working monarch who sometimes relaxes by gambling at poker in one of his seven palaces, the shah made his biggest gamble yet by challenging the mullahs—the bearded, turbaned, and often backward religious leaders who dominate Iran's 16 million peasants and downtrodden city workers.

Muslims Toss Eggs At Negro Integration Leader

NEW YORK (AP)—Eggs splattered against the car of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. as he arrived at a Harlem church Sunday night to address a Negro congregation. King was not hit.

The civil rights leader also was booed by several of the 500 Negroes who waited in front of the Salem Methodist church.

A police detail of 20 was quickly tripled. Officers said about six eggs were thrown by sympathizers of the Black Muslims, an anti-white religious sect which opposes integration.

Inside the church, King told about 2,000 persons: "I can't understand what my colored brothers have against me."

"I have become accustomed to white mobs in Mississippi and Alabama," he said, "but I have not yet adjusted to what I just experienced in Harlem."

There was some booing as he left the church, but cheers by his trolled by the mullahs in his huge, haphazard land reform program and granting Iran's veiled women the vote, the shah hopes to break the mullahs' grip on the people and galvanize the peasants into a political force behind the throne.

"The shah feels he is under pressure now," said one diplomat. "He took a look at the world around him and knew Iran had to change. He knows he must broaden his base of power instead of depending on the elite."

After years of hesitation—which his detractors argue was caused by cowardice toward the influential few who control Iran—the shah last year launched his program against the land barons, jailed army generals on corruption charges and passed other reforms that upset wealthy industrialists, who grew fat on favoritism.

Diplomats who know him, and even some Iranians who oppose him, agree the shah has changed in the past two years from a nervous, indecisive blueblood who made stirring proclamations but did little about them, to a determined ruler with a sense of direction.

His leadership was tested this month when the mullahs sent shrieking rioters on a rampage of destruction in Tehran and stirred uprisings in other cities. Troops opened fire with submachine guns, hundreds were killed and the mullahs cried "butchery."

His opposition is considerable: landlords and mullahs, restless students who want change faster than any government can provide it, the underground Communist Tudeh party, and political groups—whose leaders are in jail—want the shah to be a powerless constitutional monarch.

None of the groups appears strong or united enough to try a revolution and cooler headed Iranians say the shah's overthrow would mean chaos because there is no system ready to replace him. Others glance nervously at the Soviet Union across Iran's northern border and maintain Moscow would step in if the shah stepped out.

Former Dallas Sheriff Dies

DALLAS (AP) — R. A. (Smoot) Schmid, a colorful sheriff of Dallas County 14 years, died at his home Sunday. He was 65.

Born and educated in Dallas, he ran a bicycle business before his surprise election over five other candidates including two former sheriffs in 1932.

The six-foot 5-inch sheriff held the fancy of Dallas County voters until 1946 when a returned Army veteran, Steve Guthrie, narrowly defeated him in a run-off.

During his tenure, Schmid played a major part in the killing of the notorious Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker in 1934. He personally supervised the capture of badman Raymond Hamilton in a Fort Worth freight yard a year later.

One unhappy episode in his career was when Harvey Bailey, one of the kidnapers of Tulsa oilman Charles Urschel, escaped from the jail taking a jailer with him. Bailey was later recaptured.

He held a number of posts in the Sheriffs Association of Texas and was elected its president in 1941.

Following his defeat as sheriff he was named to a 6-year term on the board of pardons and paroles. When the term expired, he was named chief inspector of the Texas Department of Agriculture and was based in Dallas.

Survivors include his widow and a son.

DID THEY?

Replying to a letter: It is true that while the church at Troas met on the first day of the week, we read that they broke bread after the hour of midnight (Acts 20:7-11). Does this mean they had the Lord's Supper early Monday morning? No, for the phrase "break bread" was also used sometimes to refer to eating a common meal.

In Acts 20:7, it has a religious significance; for we see they put the breaking of bread above the importance of Paul's preaching on this occasion (first day of the week). They came together, not to hear him, but "to break bread." Now, faithful Christians would not be carnal minded enough to put a common meal above the preaching of Paul.

And since the church at Troas did come together "to break bread" on the first day of the week, it is unlikely that they failed to do the very thing for which they came together.

For All His Troubles, Hoffa Appears Stronger

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, (AP) — James Riddle Hoffa, the squat, muscular boss of the world's largest union, occasionally turns philosopher.

"It is always possible," the Teamster president once conceded amiably, "that power can get out of hand."

Many federal officials believe that Hoffa's power is out of hand and running wild.

Since most everything at some time moves by truck, and since Hoffa's Teamsters can decide whether that truck should move, this question concerns all Americans.

Should a man like Jimmy Hoffa have this immense power, power that will increase even more if he wins a nationwide contract in 1964?

Although Hoffa has been under indictment on one charge or another for years, although it could be as he insists, that he is the most investigated man in the nation's history, although he has been arrested so frequently he has lost track of the precise count, although some of his friends and associates are hoodlums or worse, he has ridden out every storm.

NEVER IN JAIL

For all the legal huffing and puffing, Hoffa has spent not one day in jail.

His hold in his 1.7-million-member union appears stronger than ever. He won two recent National Labor Relations Board elections handily.

He is paid $75,000 a year, has an unlimited expense account and presides over an empire with pension and welfare funds worth a billion dollars.

Yet cocky, combative Jimmy Hoffa knows he can't relax for a moment.

The Kennedys, among many others, think he is a national menace, and are out to get him. Since one Kennedy is President, another is attorney general and a third is a senator, and since the Kennedys are determined people, anyone but a Hoffa might feel queasy.

Hoffa is under two federal indictments. In Nashville, he is accused of tampering with a jury. In Chicago, he is charged with tapping pension funds for his private use.

"Phony charges," Hoffa says.

PROBED STEADILY

He has been investigated steadily by the Senate Rackets Committee since Robert F. Kennedy was its chief counsel and Sen. John F. Kennedy was a member.

Repeatedly the committee has concluded that his union is over-run with racketeers who often milk both employers and their own members.

In 1959 Congress passed labor legislation designed, in part, to curb Hoffa. (Experts think it has hurt weaker unions more than it has the Teamsters.)

Congress also appointed monitors to watchdog Hoffa and make sure he cleaned up the Teamsters. Hoffa turned on the monitors, kept them bewitched and bewildered—and wound up sole boss of his union.

The AFL-CIO booted the Teamsters out and said they couldn't return until they had cleaned up corruption and tossed out Hoffa. Hoffa not only has held his job, but has said he won't return until the AFL-CIO gets rid of its President, George Meany.

LOT OF MONEY

On March 8 of this year, Hoffa guessed, perhaps proudly, that the government has spent $50 million trying to put him in the pole.

No doubt the estimate is high, but certainly it is spending whatever the prosecutors believe it takes to get the evidence on Hoffa.

The free-wheeling Hoffa—has called Robert Kennedy "a punk kid." "Bobby boy, he's a moron." "nitwitted and a smart Alec."

Hoffa has brushed John F. Kennedy aside as "a fraud of the American people," and as "not a fit person to be President of the United States."

Hoffa has uncomplimentary descriptions for almost everybody. Hoffa on Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who headed the Senate rackets committee: "Faker."

On Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz.: "A bum."

On AFL-CIO President Meany: "Meany is just a hired hand, a puppet."

HARD EARLY LIFE

Hoffa was born on Valentine's Day, 1913, in Brazil, Ind.

His father, a coal miner, died when Jimmy was four. Six years later his mother took the family to Detroit. Jimmy dropped out of school at the end of the seventh grade.

Five-Car Mishap Kills 2 Children

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP) — A five-car accident that occurred after one car skidded on rain-slick pavement Sunday night killed two children.

Killed were Richard Pate, 8, of Woodville and Sue Collier, 6, of Warren.

Their mothers, Mrs. Jeanette Pate and Mrs. Minnie Collier, were injured.

Two soldiers from Ft. Hood, Tom Johns and Thomas Pharis also were taken to a hospital but were not believed in serious condition.

Patrolman Jess Newman said it was not clear how five vehicles were involved. It appeared three had piled into initial wreckage caused when the car in which the children were riding skidded into the second vehicle.

Calm Weather Follows Stormy Night For State

By The Associated Press
Texas skies were mostly fair Monday except in South Texas where it was partly cloudy. Temperatures rose rapidly with the sun.

The calm weather followed a Sunday afternoon and night that saw large sections of the state bathed in rain and raked by gusty winds.

Scattered thunderstorms and high winds struck the Dallas area late Sunday afternoon, flooding dumping an unofficial six inches of rain on suburban Mesquite.

Hail and driving rain pounded Mesquite where many motorists were stranded by high water. Northeast Dallas areas reported up to 2.30 inches of rain. Police at Lancaster, south of Dallas, reported seeing funnel clouds but none of the menacing twisters touched ground.

An East Dallas church was struck by lightning and wind ripped rain gutters from a Northeast Dallas apartment house. Two persons were injured when glass cut them after being blown out of windows by high winds.

A Navy AF-1E jet slid off the end of the runway at Dallas Naval Air Station during the rainstorm and sank into Mountain Creek Lake. Other planes were diverted to Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, during the storm.

Houston, meanwhile, had its 11th straight day of rain. Some damage to trees and utility poles was caused by high winds at Houston.

Sunday temperatures ranged from 106 degrees at Presidio to 85 at College Station. Most readings were in the 90s.

Fredawn temperatures Monday were mostly in the low 70s but ranged from 68 at Dalhart up to 81 at Corpus Christi.

Forecasts through Tuesday called for clear to partly cloudy skies, warm temperatures and afternoon and evening thundershowers for all of the state except the northwest portion.

Why is our nose so stubby?

The VW doesn't need a long front hood because the engine's in back of the car.

This gives you a couple of advantages over the long-nosed jobs.

Obviously, it makes for a shorter car.

So you can move in and out of traffic. And in and out of tight, little parking spots.

Your chances of denting a fender in the process are practically nil, too. The VW's short hood lets you look right down your nose at the road.

The point is this: Everything on the VW is there for a reason. Including our changes.

Unless you've nosed around VWs for years, you may not be aware of things like our fully synchronous transmission.

Or our quieter, more powerful engine.

Or our 3,012 other inside improvements.

On the face of it, the VW looks the same; underneath, it's changed.

Which is one reason the VW depreciates so little and stays in style year after year.

Nose and all.

Throng Sees Coronation Of Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI dedicated his reign to world peace and Christian unity Sunday night, stressing the universality of his pledge with a coronation address in nine languages.

A quarter of a million spectators, the greatest throng ever to witness a papal coronation, jammed St. Peter's Square to see Paul VI crowned amid ritual splendor.

Speaking first in Latin and then in eight modern languages, the 262nd supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church dedicated his reign to the twin goals of his world-acclaimed predecessor, Pope John XXIII.

He appealed for sacrifice in the interest of world peace and acknowledged the "gravity of the obstacles" on the road to Christian unity. He warned that neither goal can be reached easily.

In the highlight of the 2 1/2 hour ceremony, Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani placed a new lightweight beehive crown on the head of Pope Paul, the former Giovanni Battista Cardinal Montini of Milan.

TRADITIONAL WORDS

As he did so, he said: "Receive this tiara, adorned with three crowns, and know that you are the father of princes and kings, guide of the world and vicar on earth of Christ Jesus our Savior."

The new spiritual ruler of half a billion Roman Catholics opens his personal quest in the cause of peace Tuesday in a historic meeting with President Kennedy, first Roman Catholic chief executive of the United States.

If Pope Paul continues changes instituted by Pope John in Vatican relations with Communist countries, eventually he may also receive Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The unusual coronation ceremony was seen by millions throughout Europe via a television hookup. A communication satellite relayed the ceremony to the United States.

About 2,800 invited guests, including special missions from 82 nations and nine international organizations, watched from special seats on the raised portion of the square.

AMONG GUESTS

Among the guests were King Baudouin of Belgium, President Joao Goulart of Brazil, Eamon de Valera of Ireland, and Antonio Segni of Italy, Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States and French Premier Georges Pompidou.

The ceremony began as a brilliant summer sun settled into a violet sky.

At first Pope Paul appeared bothered by the heat. He wore a great conical cape embroidered with gold thread and encrusted with seed pearls and an embroidered white bishop's mitre.

The ceremony ran 2 1/2 hours into the night. Great spotlights lit up the baroque facade of St. Peter's Basilica where altar, canopy and throne had been set up.

Three times as Pope Paul was borne through the square on his portable throne a strip of flax was burned before his eyes as an attendant chanted in Latin, "Holy Father, thus passes the glory of the world."

APPEARS MOVED

The Pope celebrated Mass and again appeared moved when he received a white silk purse containing 25 coins, payment for "a Mass well sung" and symbol that he was a priest as well as a Pope.

He received the homage of the cardinals and finally the crown, symbol of his temporal authority. Although Pope Paul assumed full authority upon his election at the conclave of cardinals June 21 the coronation marked the formal start of his reign. He chose Sunday for the coronation because Roman Catholics commemorate St. Paul on that day. The Pope took his name from the apostle.

Slaying Case To Grand Jury

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The case of Byron De La Beckwith, charged with murder in the death of Negro integration leader Medger W. Evers, goes before the Hinds County grand jury which convenes today.

Beckwith, 42, a fertilizer salesman and gun fancier from Greenwood, Miss., was bound over to the jury June 25. At that time, Dist. Atty. William Waller said the case would be presented to the jury today or Tuesday.

Beckwith pleaded innocent at a preliminary hearing in city court last Tuesday.

Evers, state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot from ambush June 12.

New Communist Break Developing

BERLIN (AP)—A possible new break in the Communist facade has appeared. Romania's veteran Red leader, George Gheorghiu-Dej, is shunning the top level talks Soviet Premier Khrushchev is holding in East Berlin with his European allies.

Khrushchev told an East German audience Sunday night that communism stands "as firm as granite." But the gap in the ranks of the European Reds standing glumly around him underlined the growing crisis in the world Communist movement.

Also absent—as expected—was Albania which has supported Communist China in its dispute with the Soviet Union.

Romania's absence was all the more glaring since Khrushchev presumably summoned his satellite chiefs to muster support for conference with the Red Chinese which opens in Moscow Friday.

Red China declared today that its quarrel with the Soviet Union had grown from an ideological dispute to a question of government relations.

TOUGH LINE

It said it still intends to send a delegation to Moscow to discuss differences but emphasized that it will hold to its tough line.

A Chinese Communist party statement charged that the Soviet expulsion of five Chinese from the Soviet Union last week constituted a "serious step in further worsening of Chinese-Soviet relations and in manufacturing a split in the international Communist movement."

Peking followed this with another blistering statement accusing Russians of smashing a display case in front of the Chinese Embassy in Moscow in a "planned act of sabotage."

The official Chinese News Agency accused four Russian of smashing the case and said Soviet authorities tried to cover up by saying the four were foreigners and drunk.

"They were very sober, talked intelligently, behaved in a normal manner, and showed no sign of drunkenness," the Chinese agency declared.

ANOTHER PURPOSE

Ostensibly the European Red leaders gathered in East Berlin to celebrate the birthday of East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht, who was 70 Sunday. But as the Red brass assembled it became apparent the meeting had a more significant purpose.

Albania, North Korea and North Viet Nam have committed themselves openly to Peking. They have endorsed the Chinese view that Khrushchev's efforts to avoid nuclear war with the West have carried him out of the sphere of revolutionary communism.

Addressing birthday greetings to Ulbricht, the Soviet premier praised him for his support of the international Communist movement.

The audience of some 3,000 East Germans cheered enthusiastically when Khrushchev pledged that Germany would one day be united but under communism.

But there was little enthusiasm in the grim faces of four major Soviet bloc leaders—Janos Kadar of Hungary, Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia, Todor Zhivkov of Bulgaria and Wladyslaw Gomułka of Poland.

INDEPENDENCE

Not once did Khrushchev refer to Romania, whose Communist leaders have demonstrated their independence on several recent occasions.

A Romanian cultural mission arrived in Peking Sunday, and recently Romania restored its ambassador to Albania. Last week Bucharest newspapers published the recent Chinese attack on Khrushchev. It was barred from publication in the other European Communist states.

There was no official explanation of the absence of Gheorghiu-Dej. "Apparently he had other things to do," one diplomat said.

36th Division Begins Training

NORTH FORT HOOD, Tex. (AP)—National Guardsmen of Texas' 36th Infantry Division, 8,369 strong from 65 different cities, were in summer training at this Central Texas military post Monday.

About 4,500 men move into the field Monday night under tactical conditions for four days of maneuvers.

About 1,000 men are expected to go through the live-fire rifle platoon attack course during the two-week camp.

This year's summer camp is designed to evaluate the division's reorganization to the Army's new ROAD concept.

Congress Ends First 6 Months

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
An AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress completed the first six months of what may be a year-long session by taking a week off for Independence Day flag-waving and oratory.

After a half year of sporadic labors, it has little to show except a stack of unfinished business.

The official "status of major legislation" reads like the line score of the Washington Senators in an American League baseball game. It lists the enactment of four public laws, one extending the draft law, one authorizing procurement of aircraft, missiles and naval vessels, and two appropriation bills.

The seeming snail's pace does not appear to alarm congressional leaders.

Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, the Democratic House whip, summed up their sentiment with these words:

"We've got pretty much done and we're going to do lots more. The year is only half gone. We are paid for a year's work and we can stay here all year if we have to."

Congress might do just that if some of the big bills jelling in committees are to be considered. Members already are talking about a long recess over Labor Day. They are resigned to a long session.

The 1963 legislative slowdown hardly can be blamed on the usually balky Rules Committee headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va.

Smith's group has cooperated more than usual with the House leadership. It even has held back some controversial bills in a spirit of leadership cooperation.

Two big administration measures already passed by the Senate probably could be killed in a hurry if Smith sent them to the House floor. They provide for federal aid for mass transportation systems and for creation of a youth conservation corps. The administration just doesn't have the House votes to pass them now.

Two other administration-supported measures have been defeated by the House. They provide for broadening of the area redevelopment program and extension of the Mexican farm labor program.

Since the House defeat of the former bill, the Senate has passed a companion measure as another attempt at getting the redevelopment program broadened. Its prospects in the House are far from bright.

There is no certainty now that a tax revision bill requested by President Kennedy will be passed this year by the House. It has become entangled with the President's broad civil rights program which is overshadowing everything else on Capitol Hill.

Once the money bills are out of the way, the decks will be cleared for the big battles, involving civil rights, taxes, foreign aid and general aid for education.

Mandatory Death Penalty Is Abolished In New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The mandatory death penalty for persons convicted of premeditated murder was abolished in New York State today.

Under a law effective today, the penalty for premeditated murder will be life imprisonment unless the jury, meeting in a separate session after returning a verdict, agrees unanimously on the death penalty.

New York thus became the last state in the nation to eliminate the mandatory death sentence in convictions for premeditated murder.

In the change, the state also has eliminated a long-standing distinction between first-degree murders—premeditated and felony.

"Felony murder" is the designation for a slaying committed during a crime, such as robbery or arson, and not necessarily premeditated. All persons who participate in the crime are subject to charges of first-degree murder, regardless of which one did the actual killing.

Previously, a life sentence was possible for those convicted in a felony murder if recommended by the jury and agreed to by the judge. The death penalty was not mandated in every conviction, as in the case of premeditated murder.

Henceforth, there will be no distinction in first-degree murder cases in setting the penalty. It will be life imprisonment unless the jury recommends death.

The changes were voted by the 1963 session of the legislature on recommendation of the State Commission on Revision of the Penal Law and Criminal Code, headed by Assemblyman Richard J. Bartlett, R-Glens Falls.

Independently of today's change, however, it appears that New York State has been moving away from capital punishment.

Only one man has been executed in more than two years—an ex-convict sentenced to death for two slayings and who had confessed killing three other persons previously. He fought efforts to have his sentence commuted.

The one execution in two years compared with a total of 38 executions in the Sing Sing Prison electric chair in the two years beginning Jan. 1, 1952.

There are 17 persons in the death house now. One man has been there over four years while various court appeals have been pursued.

An Outdoor Breakfast Will Win Applause

Some cookbook authors should be awarded medals for never-promulgating mishmashes. And Helen Evans Brown should get the first medal. Her taste is as straight as a die.

Married to Philip Brown, a dealer in rare books and an American history specialist, Helen's cookbooks have benefited from Philip's erudition and are always spiced with fascinating culinary material.

Not long ago Helen and Philip co-authored "Breakfast and Brunches for Every Occasion" (Doubleday), a much-needed offering. Through the years there have been few books on the subject, but nothing first-rate. Now with exciting menus and recipes from all over the world. Recently a friend, giving her first outdoor breakfast part of the season, asked us to recommend a menu. We borrowed one straight out of the Browns' "Breakfasts and Brunches for Every Occasion."

When our friend thanked us, she wrote: "You've won a convert for the Browns! Nothing could have tasted better than the food prepared according to their suggestions."

Here's the breakfast menu we chose from the Browns' book and some of Helen and Philip's cooking notes.

CHICKEN LIVERS AND BACON EN BROCHETTE
Soak bamboo skewers in water, and string each with 4 or 5 halves of chicken livers that have been wrapped in bacon. Broil, or let the guests broil, over charcoal until the bacon is crisp. Each guest gets a skewer and eats the tidbit from it.

LONDON BROIL
You'll need 2 Prime-or-Choice grade flank steaks for 6, unless they are very large ones. Remove the thin membrane, but do not score. Broil over a hot charcoal fire for 3 minutes on each side, a minute longer if you don't like very rare meat. (London broil should always be rare, however, as it is tough otherwise.) Using a razor-sharp knife, slice very thin slices at a diagonal, across the grain. Each slice should be at least 2½ inches wide.

MUSHROOM IN FOIL
Clean a pound of fresh mushrooms if they are gritty. Slice or not, as you prefer. Tear off 6 oblongs of heavy foil and fold each in half, making a double thickness. Divide mushrooms among the squares, put a tablespoon of butter on each, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and fold into an envelope, sealing edges with a triple fold.

Cook at the edge of the coals, where the heat is less intense. Turn after 10 minutes and continue cooking for another 10. Serve from the foil, but have scissors handy to slit an "X" in the top of each packet.

Delatours On Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Delatour left for a wedding trip following their marriage at 4 p.m. Sunday in the chapel of the First Methodist Church.

The Delatours will be honored upon their arrival in Oshkosh, Neb., at a reception to be given by his mother and a sister, Mrs. Jack Zorn.

Following a tour of the mid-west, the couple will return to Big Spring to make their home at 905 Lancaster. Delatour is on the staff of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Next time you're looking for a different way to prepare a quick frankfurter meal, try this delicious idea. Cut frankfurters, lengthwise, but not quite through. Stuff with a mixture of pickle relish and minced onion. Place under the broiler to heat.

Tavaglione's Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tavaglione announce the birth of a son, Michael John, on June 28, weighing 9 pounds. The Tavagliones are former residents of Big Spring, now residing in Brick Town, N. J.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hall, 2600 E. 24th, Big Spring. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tavaglione, Brick Town.

ELEANOR POWELL

Eating Won't Solve Emotional Problems

By LYDIA LANE
LAS VEGAS—"Have lunch with me and I'll tell how I lost 44 pounds," Eleanor Powell said to me after doing her nightclub act. She was wearing a scanty costume that revealed a firm body that was astonishingly youthful for one who publicly celebrated a 50th birthday.

When I met her for lunch, she enthused, "I think there is nothing like dancing to keep you young. It is great for the body and for the spirit. I defy anyone to put his heart in a dance and feel depressed. Happiness keeps you young—unhappiness can make you old."

She spoke of an unhappy year when she knew her marriage of 18 years was crumbling and she didn't want to admit it. "Like so many other lonely and rejected women, I turned to food as a compensation. Nobody cares about me, I said. What difference does it make if I get fat. And so I ate myself from a size 10 to a size 16. From 106 to 150. I had to get a whole new wardrobe, and my son started calling me Porky. I hated myself."

"Then the thing I had been dreading happened. The headlines announced my marriage was ending in divorce. In some strange way I felt free. I took a look at myself in a mirror and said, 'You'll be dancing again in a size 10.'" had a unique method that helped firm my muscles, and I was grateful that though I lost an excessive amount of weight, my body was not flabby.

"This was despite the fact I followed a restricted diet," she said cutting the fat from her luncheon steak. "This is my dinner. I try to have my biggest meal in the middle of the day. I eat very lightly after the show. The food you have late is the most fattening."

Eleanor spoke with sympathy of the people who eat in time of trouble. "I am glad you have come to talk to me because I want to urge others to face their problems. It makes no sense to run away from it with food. The things you fear are always worse than reality. Be strong and take hold of yourself. What we are," Eleanor urged, "is God's gift to us, and what we become is our gift to God."

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
 16-1963 By The Chess Tribune
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South you hold:
 ♠ A Q J 8 4 ♥ 10 9 2 ♦ A 4 2 ♣ 3 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
 3♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Four diamonds. You have the equivalent of an opening bid facing a partner who has opened and then jumped, so there are slam possibilities present and one forward move by you is indicated. The recommended bid is to show the ace of diamonds. Any further action will devolve upon partner.
Q. 2—As South you hold:
 ♠ K 8 7 ♥ K 9 5 ♦ 6 4 3 2 ♣ 8 7 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1♥ Double 3♥ Pass
 Pass 3♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Three no trump. This is a pretty good hand for a partner who has undertaken a nice trick contract all by himself. The king of spades should solidify that suit but, since the king of hearts represents a potential value only with your hand protected from the opening lead, it might prove easier to try the shorter road to game.
Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠ J 10 7 6 ♥ K Q 10 7 4 3 ♦ 6 ♣ 10 4
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1♦ 2♣ ?
What do you bid?
 A.—Pass. A bid of two hearts would be highly dangerous since it forces partner into the three level immediately with no sign of a fit. A free bid at the two level in a suit that outranks partner's should represent a hand of virtually opening bid strength.
Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠ 6 5 ♦ A K 10 8 7 3 ♣ A K J 10 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass 1♦ Pass 4♥ ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Pass. Partner has announced possession of virtually solid heart suit with no outside strength. Your hand will prove quite suitable to him and, since a slam is not even remotely in contemplation, you should pass.
Q. 5—As South you hold:
 ♠ J 9 ♥ J 9 2 ♦ A 10 4 ♣ A J 10 8 5
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
 2♠ Pass 2NT Pass
 3♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Three spades. The four hearts are stronger; the partnership preference is easily for spades. Partner has announced a holding of six spades and four hearts. If he held five spades and four hearts, the latter suit would have been shown on the second round.
Q. 6—As South you hold:
 ♠ J 7 ♥ A K 9 8 5 ♦ A K 10 4 ♣ 7 3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
 2♦ Pass 2♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
 A.—Since partner's exact strength has not yet been determined, a further try is indicated and our recommendation is a raise to three spades. The slight risk of getting overboard is well calculated.
Q. 7—You are South, both sides vulnerable, and you hold:
 ♠ 4 ♥ K Q 4 3 2 ♦ A Q 6 4 3 ♣ Q 9
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
What do you bid now?
 A.—Your opening bid has been based on a minimum in high card strength and a free rebid of two diamonds is not recommended. Actually there is a certain amount of danger involved in making such a bid, particularly if partner should rebid his suit which, at the moment, appears not improbable.
Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠ Q J 4 ♥ K Q 10 7 4 ♦ 6 ♣ A 9 4 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
What do you bid now?
 A.—This hand has definite slam possibilities. Your hand is the equal of an opening bid. Partner has shown that he has more than an opening bid by raising you to three. If partner has the king of clubs or a singleton in the suit, slam prospects will be bright. The proper procedure is to bid four clubs and await partner's reaction to your mild slam try.

JFK Continues Filling Hot Spots With Republicans

EDITOR'S NOTE — In naming Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. to be ambassador to South Viet Nam, President Kennedy has again demonstrated a tendency to fill politically hot jobs with Republicans. The roll call includes such administration stalwarts as Robert S. McNamara and C. Douglas Dillon. But does it inhibit GOP criticism? Joseph Bell, Associated Press political writer, discusses the situation.

By JACK BELL
 WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy can expect early and overwhelming Senate approval of his nomination of Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

But there will be no accompanying guarantee that Republicans will soft pedal their criticism of administration Asian policies as a result.

In picking Lodge, the 1960 GOP vice presidential nominee, for the tough Saigon post, Kennedy demonstrated anew a tendency to dip into Republican ranks when there is a politically controversial job to fill.

Republicans Robert S. McNamara in defense and C. Douglas Dillon at the Treasury plug two Cabinet hot spots. Former GOP Secretary of State Christian A. Herter serves as the President's international trade negotiator. William C. Foster, once a Westchester County, N.Y., GOP official, heads up the disarmament agency.

Republican John A. McCone runs the Central Intelligence Agency. In the past, when the President needed an old hand for particularly difficult fencing with the Russians, he has called in

John J. McCloy, another Republican.

These key appointees lend a shade of bipartisanship to areas where Kennedy would like a little less criticism and a little more cooperation from the Republicans.

With his selection of Lodge, Kennedy was keeping pace with precedents laid down by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

FDR shanghaied Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox from the Republicans just before that party's 1940 convention and put them in his Cabinet as, respectively, secretary of war and secretary of the Navy. Knox had been the GOP vice presidential nominee in 1936.

Roosevelt also picked up his 1940 opponent, Wendell L. Willkie, as an unofficial one-world ambassador.

This didn't enhance Willkie's standing with regular Republicans and a couple of primary defeats put him out of the running for the 1944 GOP presidential nomination.

Kennedy once offered former Vice President Richard M. Nixon a choice of appointments but the 1960 presidential loser wanted none.

ALWAYS GRIPING

There always is griping among Republicans when one of their number goes over to a Democratic administration. Dillon, for one, was looked upon as a political turncoat.

But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said he doesn't expect much of this in Lodge's case. He called Lodge's qualifications for his new job exceptional.

"The President's action confirms again that when there is a real trouble-shooting job to do, he turns to Republicans," Javits said.

"Republicans can be proud of the fact that they produce men of such caliber that a Democratic president calls on them when the going gets tough."

Javits said it is his judgment, however, that the selection of Lodge will not take South Viet Nam out of the 1964 campaign.

"How much of an issue South Viet Nam will be next year will depend, of course, on developments there," he said.

If conditions do not improve materially, he said, Republicans can't be expected to let the fact that Lodge is on the ground mute their criticisms. He added, however, that if Lodge does an extraordinarily good job "it could help the administration some."

GLAD TO SEE IT

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the assistant Senate Republican leader, said in a separate interview he is glad to see the administration "use Lodge's capabilities in one of the most inflammatory parts of the world."

"But the whole ugly situation in Indochina and the role of the Kennedy administration in it will not be changed by the appointment of an ambassador who happens to be a Republican," he said.

"One of the issues in next year's campaign will be the conduct of this administration in world affairs. It will be held accountable for what happens in Asia."

U.S. Weather Generally Fair

By The Associated Press

Generally fair weather prevailed in the major part of the nation today.

Showers fell in scattered areas and skies were partly cloudy in the Gulf and Atlantic coastal states and in the Pacific Northwest. Rainfall was slight in most places, including southern Florida, the lower Mississippi Valley, the Carolinas, Virginia, the Dakotas, northern Minnesota and Maine.

Hot and humid weather covered many areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation over the weekend and high temperatures, again were indicated. The mercury soared to the 90s and higher Sunday in the Midwest, reaching 101 in Marquette, Mich., 99 in Minneapolis and 97 in Chicago. Top mark was 106 in Presidio, Tex., and Imperial and Needles, Calif. Coolest spots Monday morning were in central and northwestern Montana with temperatures in the 40s. Philadelphia reported humidity of 97, with the mercury at 74, at 2 a.m.

Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., foe of civil rights measures.

NO FAST ACTION

Administration leaders don't expect any fast action by Eastland's committee. But they are looking to the Commerce Committee, under the chairmanship of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., to move the public accommodations bill along without delay.

Magnuson said in a television interview Sunday that there may be some amendments, such as exempting smaller businesses, but predicted his committee would approve the basic provision of the administration's public accommodations bill.

Once this bill is brought before the Senate, other parts of the President's program could be offered as amendments to it. Or an alternative course would be to wait for the House to act on the whole package and then take it up when it reaches the Senate.

Assistant Senate leader Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota has said, "We cannot expect to get through the Senate any bill stronger than that the House votes."

FILIBUSTER

Either way, a Southern filibuster probably will have to be overcome to get the legislation passed. To cut off debate and force a showdown will take a two-thirds majority of Senators voting.

A Southern spokesman, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., appearing on the same television program with Magnuson, said that if the public accommodations bill "stays as it is now, there is no alternative but to fight it down to the very last ditch."

Russell said the administration had encouraged Negro demonstrations by offering the far-reaching civil rights package.

An administration spokesman, Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, indicated it was the other way around—that the nationwide surge of Negro protests, plus slow local progress toward equal rights, prompted a speed-up in the administration's civil rights proposals to Congress.

NOT DIRECT

Katzenbach, appearing with Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., on a program taped for radio and television stations in Pennsylvania, did not directly answer Clark's question as to whether the demonstrations had forced the hand of the administration on civil rights, but commented "things have moved very fast."

COLORADO CITY — Martin Fryar of Big Spring won top honors in the calf roping at the first annual Colorado City Amateur Rodeo, held Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the Western Riding Club Arena.

Fryar was joined in the awards circle in calf roping by Bob Johnson, another Big Spring, who took fourth.

One of the highlights of the rodeo was the Mitchell County Boys Calf Roping event. Bill Ellis posted the top time for the two rounds of 28.4 which won him a hand-tooled saddle.

Hunter Mann, who came in second with an aggregate time of 29.6, received a hat. Third place

Sphere Heads Back For Docks

AT SEA, Aboard USS Fort Snelling (AP)—The bathyscaphe Trieste headed for an overhaul in Boston today after five futile dives in the Atlantic to look for the lost nuclear submarine Thresher.

The fifth dive, cut short by two hours Sunday, was described as negative. The Trieste was brought up sooner than the planned six hours because of failure of the gyro compass and one of its three propulsion motors.

The Trieste was headed for an area of the ocean bottom where a research vessel had photographed a 3,000-pound air bottle of the type used on the Thresher. The submarine disappeared about 220 miles east of Boston April 10 with 129 men aboard.

The salvage ship USS Preserver took the Trieste in tow for the voyage to Boston. The trip is expected to take nearly four days.

Quads Born In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Quadruplet girls were born to a 19-year-old mother Sunday and a doctor said their chance for survival was excellent.

Ten minutes separated the births of the first and fourth daughters of Dolores Harris. The Negro infants weighed, in order of delivery, 4 pounds 10 ounces, 4 pounds 15 ounces, 4 pounds 14 1/2 ounces and 4 pounds 7 1/2 ounces. They were moved to Michael Reese Hospital's premature nursery soon after birth where all were reported "doing fine."

Mrs. Harris had been given special care by the hospital since March 30 when physicians discovered she was bearing four babies. "It was more difficult for us because we knew that four children were coming," said her husband, Bernard, 23, a factory worker.

The Harrises also have a son, Shawn, who is 15 months old.

CIVIL WAR

gram was the dedication by Postmaster General J. Edward Day of a Gettysburg commemorative stamp. Half gray and half blue, the stamp shows a federal and a man from Dixie locked in bayonet combat.

Throughout the three-day observance "Vignettes of History" will be given by amateur theatrical groups clad in reproductions of the dress of a century ago.

For example there will be a play each morning at Devil's Den or Sharpshooters' Rest. This was a place of violence and death which was won and lost many times by both sides during the carnage. It is a forbidding place shadowed by Little Round Top. It is a place where giant gray soldiers, cracked and wrenched by seas of red, lean against each other.

FAMED PHOTO

This produced one of the most heart-tugging photographs of the war. Soon after the battle one of Mathew Brady's photographers pictured a dead rebel sharpshooter amid the rocks, his rifle leaning nearby. Four months later the cameraman went back and found a skeleton within the rotting uniform.

Another vignette is entitled "Brother Captures Brother." It shows how on July 1, 1863, a detail of the 45th New York Regiment led by Cpl. Rudolph Schwarz captured some Confederate soldiers. One prisoner recognized the corporal as his brother whom he hadn't seen for years. There was a happy but brief reunion.

Nobody in authority could say today how many thousands of visitors have come to this flag-bedecked town — population 8,000 — in whose shops one can buy anything from statuettes of Lee and Meade to Civil War rifles guaranteed to be shoo-ted. But the side-walks are thronged like a big city. Many of the men wear Civil War garb and heards that took long in the growing and took of the women wear long calico skirts and bonnets.

TRAFFIC JAM

One big traffic jam developed Sunday night as an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 people struggled out to the Gettysburg High School football field where former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was the featured speaker at the annual commemorative exercises of the Gettysburg Fire Department.

The general's voice came through loud and clear as he made an urgent call for sturdy self-reliance and struck out against "paternalistic government."

He recalled that Abraham Lincoln in his Gettysburg Address four months after the battle appealed to citizens to be strong in their faith in freedom.

Eisenhower said Lincoln implied that destruction of self-government need not result from outside enemies; it could come through weaknesses in ourselves.

"None of us," Eisenhower said, "would ever, consciously, place a selling price on his right to participate in self government."

"But, bemused by glittering governmental pledges to relieve us of sometimes burdensome responsibilities for self, family and community, and bewitched by enticing offers of unneeded subsidy we need constantly to rededicate ourselves to liberty, duty and democracy—never forgetting self respect."

The general got a big ovation as he took his wife Mamie by the arm and left the crowded gridiron.

Funeral was to be held at 3 p.m. today for Milton S. Davis, 25, 3708 Calvin, who was killed when his automobile overturned about three miles north of Ozona at 11:05 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. Davis was pronounced dead on arrival at a San Angelo hospital at 1:45 a.m. Sunday. He was returning from a fishing trip with two companions, Norris L. Taylor of Big Spring and Charles Brooks of Dallas, when the accident occurred. Taylor and Brooks received only minor injuries. Mr. Davis apparently dozed at the wheel and lost control of the car, according to highway patrolmen.

Mr. Davis was born Dec. 4, 1937 in Big Spring and lived here all his life except for a 2 1/2-year tour of duty with the United States Air Force following graduation from high school in 1956. He served a part of his service time in Iceland. After receiving a discharge, Mr. Davis attended Highland University at Las Vegas, N. M., and Texas Tech.

He was manager for the TBA department of Cosden Oil and Chemical Company and had been employed by the firm 3 1/2 years.

He married the former Verma Watson in Big Spring June 18, 1960. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Services were to be held at the First Church of God, with the Rev. W. R. Hutchings, Ira, officiating, assisted by the Rev. George Harrington. Burial was to be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of River Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were to be Bob Fuller, John Rudesek, Dudley Chambers, Herschell Solters, Jimmy Solomon and Kenneth Harmon.

Mr. Davis is survived by his widow; his mother, Mrs. J. M. Lee, Big Spring; Mrs. Brother, Joe Edward Davis, Marion, Ala.; one sister, Mrs. R. M. Taylor, El Paso; two nephews, one niece and several aunts and uncles.

Stock Market Prices Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices took a fairly sharp dip early this afternoon in relatively quiet trading.

Losses of fractions to a point or so prevailed among key stocks. Some of the more volatile issues fell several points.

IBM was a conspicuous casualty, dropping about 8 points.

Auto stocks, firm to slightly higher at the start, faded rapidly, showing a string of losses, resulting to around a point. Steels, easy in early trading, yielded fractions, more stubbornly, yielding Selling was fairly sharp among the oils which slipped away some of their recent gains. The trend was generally lower among airlines, drugs, building materials, chemicals, and rubbers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 2 to 2 7/8 with industrials off 3/8, rails up 1/4, and utilities up 1/8. The railroads held fairly well, with fractional gains posted.

Radio Corp. and Texas Instruments fell about 2 each, Polaroid more than 4, U.S. Smelting a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.94 at 702.94. Prices were mixed in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds edged upward. U.S. government bonds were unchanged.

Traffic Islands Are Installed

City workmen are completing installation of traffic control islands at the entrance to City Park, according to Ernest Lillard, director of public works. The concrete islands were poured Friday and are being painted today.

Stop signs have also been placed at two new locations, Lillard said. A four-way stop has been designated at the intersection of Hearn and Parkway, in Suburban Heights. Traffic moving on Laurie will be stopped at the intersection with Calvin in Douglas Addition. Two serious accidents, one involving a fatality, have occurred at the intersection recently.

Three Vehicles Are In Collision

Three vehicles were in collision shortly before 10 p.m. Saturday in the 700 block of West Third. There were no injuries.

One of the vehicles was a parked car belonging to Elmo Henry, 412 Dallas. Drivers of the other two cars were Danny Joe Curry, O'Donnell, and Ravis Wayne Thorp, 1908 Thorp.

Two other minor accidents were investigated by police. Locations and drivers were: at 500 NW 4th, Mahamed M. Al-Najrani, University Station, and John Hooks, 151 Morning View; and at Fourth and Bell, Maximo Cuellar, Vealmoor Route, and Isaac W. Kimzey, Hermleigh.

Help Comes For Cassie

Cassie Lee Randolph, little Negro girl who is to enter the state school for deaf children this fall, will go well provided with clothing if initial response to an appeal in her case works out.

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, county welfare officer, said that George Oldham called early Sunday soon after he had read the Herald, then brought a $50 cash donation to Mrs. Phillips' office.

Several others called, reporting they had clothing suitable for the child. Al Milch telephoned Mrs. Phillips with instructions to take the girl to a local store and buy her an outfit.

Mrs. Phillips said she hoped additional calls would come in. She pointed out that any clothing in excess of that needed by Cassie Lee would be welcome.

"After all," she said, "the department has a lot of little girls on its list in addition to Cassie Lee who are in need of help. We want to get the girl fitted and ready for school by all means and we believe now that we will be able to do so—thanks to those who have given help. We still need more clothing, however."

AT&T Reports Record Profits

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and its affiliates today reported record profit during the three months ended May 31.

In the previous two quarters, earnings held steady a bit below the peak set during the three months ended Aug. 31, 1962.

Net income reported today to more than 2.2 million shareholders totaled $375,325,000, compared with nearly $359 million in both the February quarter and the three months ended Nov. 30, 1962.

Operating revenue during the latest period rose to $2,377,973,000 compared with $2,242,430,000 a year ago.

The quarterly report showed that profit for the 12 months, ended May 31 rose to $1,459,534,000, or $5.83 a share, compared with $1,375,710,000, equal to $5.85 a share, in the year earlier period.

The most profit ever made by any U.S. company in a calendar year was reported by General Motors in 1962 and was $1,459,077,450 or slightly below the latest 12 months for AT&T.

Udall Cites Water Crisis

ROSSELL, N. M. (AP)—Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall said today a water crisis is at hand in too many places.

"The time to act is now," Udall said at the dedication of the $1,790,000 saline conversion plant.

The plant will convert a million gallons of brackish, or salty water a day into fresh water.

The secretary said to study water resources of the past, then look with grave concern to the future.

He cited the 1900 requirement of the United States as 40 billion gallons of water a day, compared with the present need of 340 billion gallons. In 1969, he estimated, the requirement will be 600 billion gallons due to an expanding population and an intensified use of water by many new household items.

Udall said each person has a daily quota of 150,000 gallons, represented by the amount of water used to provide items necessary for life.

He condemned those who polluted water sources with every sort of refuse. More than 20,000 municipal sewage outlets feed directly into streams, the secretary said.

He told of "thermal-electric plants, powered by atomic energy or fossil fuel, that will produce a reliable supply of pure fresh water for about $100 per acre foot. This is not a pie-in-the-sky prediction; this is a cost that is now within our grasp."

Evidence Of Soviet Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says it has conclusive evidence of possible recent Soviet nuclear tests of very low yield.

"The evidence remains inconclusive and it is expected that more definite conclusions must await further evidence and analysis," an AEC spokesman said in a brief announcement prompted by published speculation of such tests.

An informed source said a Soviet test in the range of one kiloton apparently did take place June 12, two days after President Kennedy announced the halt of any further U.S. atmospheric tests provided other nuclear nations also refrained.

However, the prevailing guess among Washington officials was that if the Soviets did conduct a test, it was an underground rather than an atmospheric explosion.

Gwynn was given permission to build a pump island within 12 feet of the right-of-way on Gregg Street in the 1900 block.

Normal setback required by the city ordinance is 20 feet. However, since the State Highway Department allows a minimum 12-foot setback, the request was unanimously approved.

A Devotional For The Day

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because . . . he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, . . . to set at liberty them that are bruised. (Luke 4:18)

PRAYER: O God, may our words and our deeds help to set at liberty those who are bound by self, sin, ignorance, and disease. We pray in the name of Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

(From The Upper Room)

Opinions Nevertheless

A team of graduate students, mostly school administrators or supervisors, has completed an opinion survey which may reflect community attitudes toward our schools.

Perhaps the survey could be stated as a reflection of community attitude, but when nearly half of those polled (on the basis of initial tabulations) did not even know within about 20-30 per cent the number of schools the system has, one wonders about the validity of their opinions on facts.

However, opinions do not have to be correct; an erroneous opinion is an opinion nevertheless, and the school board and administrators must deal with misconceptions as well as with opinions based on facts.

Since it is the sum of opinion that makes itself felt in the support of schools and constitutes a community's attitude, opinions are due consideration.

It is therefore encouraging that the ratio is 5-1 of people who believe the schools are doing an average to good job in college preparation as against those who believe the job is poor. The ratio is only slightly less between those who believe that the system stacks up as good or better than others in a comparable range.

Interestingly, four-fifths of those polled favor air conditioning in new buildings, and only a fraction less favor it for existing plants. And why not? If it's good for children in new plants, why not for those in the older ones?

Ticket Meter Gets Response

Initial response indicates that the public is warming to the idea of over-time parking penalty boxes downtown.

Under the system now in force, a person who gets a parking ticket can enclose 50 cents in the ticket (envelope) if he or she deposits it in one of the down meter boxes on the same day the ticket is received. This saves the offender half the price of the conventional fine, which will be imposed if the ticket is allowed to run for more than one day.

It is conceivable that this will reduce the number of delinquent tickets, although this is debatable and subject to experience. What it does do—and which is important—is minimize the stigma of the overtime parking fine as a revenue raiser.

Perplexities Of Prayer Decision

WASHINGTON — A prominent United States senator was telling his friends this story the other day:

"A public-school teacher who entered her classroom after luncheon a few days ago saw a group of small boys kneeling on the floor and huddled together. She asked: 'What are you doing?'

"'WE'RE JUST shooting dice,' was the reply.

"'Oh,' said the teacher with a sigh of relief. 'That's all right. I was afraid you were engaged in prayer.'"

Two weeks have passed since the Supreme Court of the United States issued its 8-1 decision proclaiming that prayer in the school room, whether voluntary or not, is forbidden by the Constitution. Yet the school authorities throughout the country who have sought an explanation of what it is not permissible have not found the answer.

IN THE DISTRICT OF Columbia, for instance, the school board, which would like very much to elevate the moral standards of its pupils, finds itself virtually checkmated when the subject of religion is introduced. In deference to the high court, the board has eliminated the exercises in which readings from the Bible had been carried on for years in the classrooms. But the pledge of allegiance to the flag, which by act of Congress contains the phrase "one nation under God," was left in the routine. Col. West A. Hamilton, a member of the board, asked certain questions which were referred to the corporation counsel for reply. One question was as follows:

"May students spontaneously engage in devotional services on their own without direction or guidance from the teacher?"

IT WAS ALSO asked whether the court decision prohibits the holding of school assemblies at which Christmas carols and Easter hymns are sung, and whether clergymen can pronounce the benediction at commencement exercises. Another query was this:

"What would be the practical effect if a considerable number of parents demand that time be made available for their children to attend a brief religious service outside the school?"

Another member wanted to know if "silent meditation" is permissible.

ALL THESE QUERIES indicate the scope of the uncertainty that prevails today. For, while New York state has a law which specifies that "released time" may be used to permit students to go to religious exercises outside the school, and the Supreme Court of the United States has upheld such a practice, doubts have been raised now because of the comments in the latest ruling of the high court on June 17.

The court emphasized then that the state government must be "neutral" and that it could not sanction voluntary prayer in the school room and allow students who

Shattering Red Split Imminent

WASHINGTON (AP) — A shattering Russian-Red Chinese split, something the most cunning Western statesmen could not have engineered, seems certain now, perhaps this week.

If this doesn't drive Russia closer to the West, at least it will force her to divert more of her thinking and resources to coping with Red China in Asia and elsewhere.

This will be the best break for the allies since the cold war began. But it doesn't mean world peace is any closer or that the Atlantic partners will have sense enough to make the most of the crack in the enemy camp.

On the contrary, they may start cutting capers of their own until they, too, make a mess of themselves.

THEY STOOD together solidly enough when they felt intense pressure and danger from Russia. When Premier Khrushchev seemed to relax, they began to relax and to assert their ancient nationalism, which was exactly the basic cause of the Russian-Chinese split.

French President de Gaulle buffeted both the United States and Britain in what seems to be his dream of a French grandeur which belonged in another century. It is his way of trying to establish new French leadership in Europe.

He barred Britain from the European Common Market, challenged America's loyalty to its allies if they were attacked, and, using this for an excuse, is making his own nuclear weapons over American protests.

This is probably only the beginning of the allies' problems with one another. But if all these problems melted tomorrow, the Russian-Red Chinese split still wouldn't bring world peace closer.

LAST WEEK Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations guessed the Chinese Communists would explode their first atomic bomb this year or next. They have been working on it for years with little or no help from Russia.

Just as De Gaulle is unwilling to let the United States have a monopoly on nuclear weapons in the West, the Red Chinese are unwilling to let Russia have a monopoly in the East.

Differences between the two Communist giants, growing worse by the year, recently became so bad that the meeting they arranged for next Friday in Moscow to discuss them may wind up in an explosion.

Meanwhile, the United States and Britain had arranged to meet in the same place with the Russians July 15 to discuss a nuclear test ban. There's not much optimism about the outcome of that, either.

A TRIPLE DUBIETY — with the United States, Russia and Red China all distrusting one another — is hardly a happy foundation for a test ban agreement between the United States and Russia, even if one could be reached.

There would still be the Red Chinese to think about. Would they agree not to test, just because the United States and Russia had agreed not to? Hardly.

Would the United States and Russia, if they could reach agreement, keep it if they saw the Red Chinese testing? It isn't likely.

The Red Chinese complaint that the Russians aren't aggressive enough is probably a thin excuse for deeper discontents: their rival nationalisms, their eventual conflict over living space in Asia, and Russia's skippy help to the Red Chinese before and after they took power.

All in all, the Russian-Red Chinese split could be a turning point in history for the West, something to cheer about, but the Western partners will probably find ways to offset this by causing themselves trouble if the Communists don't.

Where Does It Come From?

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It seems that the less Americans eat the more they grow. As a people we are taller and heavier than we were 50 years ago, but individually we eat about 100 pounds a year less food.

Incidentally, if you want to stay sweet-tempered, don't cut down on your calories too drastically. Hunger makes you irritable and angry.

One tradition says that a gift of pearls to a bride will bring her happiness. Another tradition holds that a bride's pearls "represent the tears she will shed in her married life."

Fifteen per cent of U.S. children, now need glasses before reaching the age of 8, according to the Better Vision Institute. Our quotable notables: "There was never yet a philosopher that could endure the toothache patiently."—William Shakespeare.

Oldtime vaudevillians were among the most superstitious of performers. They thought it brought bad luck to whistle in a dressing room, to throw a hat on a bed, or get a No. 13 train berth.

Many also thought it was courting disaster to deliver the last line of an act during a rehearsal, or to rub on cheek rouge with a powder puff instead of a rabbit's foot.

Worth remembering: "The best solution for dandruff is a tweed suit!"—Arnold H. Glasow.

The heat created in the sun is equal to the energy produced by one billion hydrogen bombs exploding every second.

Zoo gorillas are often fed raw meat, but in the wild they are strictly vegetarians. The erroneous idea that ostriches stupidly try to hide their head in the sand when threatened probably arises from the fact that these birds, when resting, often squat down and stretch their neck out flat on the ground.

The Catholic Digest offers this holiday safety slogan: "To be safe on the 4th, don't buy a fifth on the 3rd!"

Heredity, Diet, Glands Affect The Hair

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I always had very fine hair but plenty of it. Now it is getting so thin on the crown that I can see the scalp.

At the age of 22 I had a toxic goiter removed, and at 25 had a complete hysterectomy. In all I have had seven operations.

My skin is very dry, which I have been taking thyroid pills for 13 years. What should I do?—MRS. C. G.

Hair quality is determined in part by heredity, by diet, by glandular balance. Of course, skin and scalp diseases can harm the hair, too, but I'm discussing other factors today.

Mrs. G. has had two operations which involve important endocrine glands. She adds that her skin is very dry, which can be a sign of substandard thyroid activity. Loss of hair is also often noted in the same circumstances.

Thus I'd first check to see whether this is the trouble. Yes, she's been taking thyroid pills for 13 years, but is the dosage still right? When she says she has tried everything, I wonder whether that includes a recent medical examination.

The right thyroid dose 13 years ago may be sufficient. I don't mean that the need necessarily increases with time. It can change in the opposite direction just as drastically. You can't assume that it will remain stationary.

As for diet, I decidedly do not mean that a person can eat certain things and grow a bushy head of hair, just like that. However, if nutrition is faulty over an extended time, it shows in loss of hair and poorer hair texture. Restoring proper diet corrects the trouble.

So my second step would be to find out whether Mrs. G.'s diet is deficient, particularly in protein and vitamins. (No, I don't mean that loss of hair means that some particular vitamin is lacking. I get that question over and over.)

What about heredity? If that is substantially the cause of thinning hair, nothing can be done. Sometimes hair loss is a problem that has no solution except to switch to a wig. I've known cases in which a wig, in such circumstances, has done wonders for women who were greatly distressed over thin hair or even baldness.

Dear Dr. Molner: I would appreciate your advice on how often small children should have bowel movements. My grandchildren often skip two or three days and their parents are not alarmed.—G. M.

There is no set rule. Daily action is the normal pattern for the majority but not for all. Skipping two or three days is not harmful, and if action then takes place without resorting to laxatives, so much the better. Tampering with this pattern of action is what creates "bowel consciousness" and can lead to constipation and a dependence on laxatives. If action occurs without tinkering and use of laxatives, let the cycle develop into whatever timing is natural for the child.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting my booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The Recreation Explosion

One thing and another: Authorities on the subject tell us that 90 per cent of all Americans now engage in some form of outdoor recreation and, in less than 40 years, our rapidly expanding population will triple its present crushing demand on the nation's outdoor resources.

Look for the sales of equipment for outdoor recreation to fall every year between now and then for many reasons, some of which are included here:

(1) BARRING A WAR or other catastrophe, the population of the country is due to zoom from 180 million plus to approximately 350 million plus in four decades; (2) it will be a more concentrated population. Compared to 63 per cent in 1960, about 73 per cent of the people will be living in metropolitan areas; (3) there will be more young people. The proportion of those in the 15 to 24 age bracket, the most active of all, will go from the current 13 per cent to about 20 per cent; (4) incomes will go higher, permitting wage earners to spend more for recreation; (5) people will have more leisure time.

ONE OF THE BETTER known burial places of the West Coast is the El Cerrillo Sunset Mausoleum, famous for its multi-marked corridors in Renaissance setting. It became a place for the living restly when it was turned into a fallout shelter and stocked with survival supplies.

SAMUEL BUTLER said it: "A drunkard would not give money to sober people. He said they would only eat it, and buy clothes, and send their children to school with it."

LAST SUMMER the Franco government enacted a law to bring Spanish business hours into line with those of other countries.

The law was designed to speed up the economy, prepare Spain for entry into the European Common Market, and give tourists a longer shopping day in which to get rid of their money.

Customs change slowly in Spain, however. Many of the natives continue to take their sestas after lunch, during which time they leave their businesses closed.

IN MANY PLACES in Spain, shops don't open until 10 a.m. The shopkeepers close to eat lunch about 1:30 p.m., don't reopen until 4 p.m.

Spain reported a record breaking nine million visitors during 1962 but a lot of them found they couldn't spend their money. A lot of tourists in the country don't realize they can shop in the early evening. —TOMMY HART

That Roman Traffic!

ROME — At the time of the premiere of the motion picture, "La Dolce Vita," in New York, I wrote — out of long experience of Roman traffic — that it is simply impossible to get to more than one orgy per day. Thus, I felt, the picture lacked sincerity, if not sin.

An orgy per day would be a good record in Rome, I think, even if it were hazardous (depending on point of national origin) and when a local Romeo, in passing, pinches a well-filled skirt.

However, something new has been added that makes the old tribute seem a relic of the age of chivalry. A young man behind the wheel of a car who sees an attractive girl or just an espresso coffee-bar pal on the street now manifests his joy at either event by driving his car up on the sidewalk and — surprise! — pinning the object of his admiration or his friendship to the wall.

IT IS TYPICALLY Roman that nothing has so endeared Pope Paul VI to this city in his brief Pontificate as the slight motor accident in which he figured the day after his election.

He made his first trip outside the Vatican as Pope on a visit to the Spanish college in downtown Rome. As he reached the college, his limousine was crowded to the wall and a fender scraped.

Now Romans sign happily and say, "Ah-h-h — he is one of us now." (Copyright, 1963, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

ONLY YESTERDAY I was walking down the Via Ludovisi, intent on my own business, when a small panel truck lurched itself without warning across the curb with great verve. It stopped exactly six inches from me, with a splendid squeal of brakes and rubber. I covered, my back to the building wall.

My first impulse was to faint, my second to kill the charioteer who had almost killed two persons. However, I felt confident that I would not have to lift a hand. Surely, the young man at my side would pummel into insensibility this Italian cowboy.

THE DRIVER, also a young man, jumped out of the truck and raced toward us. I felt he wanted to make sure we were still alive and would apologize instantly for imperiling us. But not at all. The two lads fell into each other's arms, pounded each other on the back and laughed until I hoped they would choke.

To them it was a great game. And I was the only chicken on the block. Both ignored me as they screamed their delight in this motorized practical joke. Neither took the slightest notice of me; neither said a word of apology.

IT IS TYPICALLY Roman that nothing has so endeared Pope Paul VI to this city in his brief Pontificate as the slight motor accident in which he figured the day after his election.

He made his first trip outside the Vatican as Pope on a visit to the Spanish college in downtown Rome. As he reached the college, his limousine was crowded to the wall and a fender scraped.

Canadian Dependence On U.S.

WASHINGTON — Businessmen revolted on both sides of the Canadian-American border—and Prime Minister Lester Pearson's Government did a fast reversal.

This seems to be the succinct explanation of what happened to the anti-American take-over tax which Canadian Finance Minister Walter Gordon proposed and rescinded in a space of seven days.

It is also a heartening proof that, with liberal governments in both countries, the sun still shines for honest, unabashed profits-seekers.

MINISTER GORDON is said to be an "emotional" man on the subject of American domination of Canadian capital investment. The tax scheme he offered in the name of his party would have taken a huge, 30 per cent bite out of the sale of domestic stocks to non-Canadians.

When the announcement was made on June 13th, American investors began jumping away from Canadian share offerings as if they were rattlesnakes. Canadian stock markets performed the kind of convulsion that Wall Street did last year when President Kennedy publicly bawled out American steelmongers. The Canadian business community, I am told by the Embassy here, went into a fury.

On June 18th, a weekend having elapsed, the head of the two big stock exchanges in Canada publicly bawled out Minister Gordon for what he'd done to the nation's "image" abroad. Next day the Minister retreated even more precipitously than Roger Blough did before Mr. Kennedy's wrath. The offensive take-over tax was scrubbed from the Dominion budget.

ALL THIS IS not to say that a Canadian declaration of economic independence from the U. S. A. is undesirable. There is still much need for American capital to create profits and jobs at home. Mr. Kennedy's limping Alliance for Progress cries out for dollars (now protected against seizure by the Hickenlooper Amendment) in over - populated, Red-infested Latin America. The Free World is not a satellite system. If the Western Hemisphere should gain the sturdy shoulder of another economic giant above the St. Lawrence, that would be cause for sincere rejoicing.

BUT IT DOES appear that Canada is a special case. Although politically mature, the Dominion, like so many former European dependencies, is not ready for economic self-sufficiency, much as their leaders and ours might wish it. Furthermore, despite the will-to-nationalism, the Dominion is something like a ward of the British Queen and Uncle Sam. Canada relies for military protection on the Commonwealth, as well as on NATO, and American money controls some 44 per cent of Canadian manufacturing industries. Whether or not the Canadians like to admit it, their relationship with the English-speaking world is cordial and fraternal, but not a go-it-alone independence.

IT REMAINS to be seen whether last spring's Kennedy-Pearson meeting at Hyannisport was meaningful or merely ceremonial. Canada has just proved that it isn't willing or ready to rough it by going without American capital. This would be a good time for the Prime Minister to implement his promised acquisition of American nuclear warheads—because Canada can't get along without American military leadership, either.

PUNISHMENT: The House has given a form of official sanction to the old adage "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

It passed legislation that would allow teachers in the nation's capital to physically punish unruly pupils.

This back-to-the-woodshed move was recommended by a study of the district's public schools after a riot broke out last Thanksgiving at a city high school football championship game between a predominantly white Catholic school and a predominantly Negro public school.

PUBLIC DEFENDERS: "To a serious extent, the scales of justice in this country are weighted against the poor." So testified Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He and William F. Rogers, attorney general in the Eisenhower administration, both supported an administration bill to provide counsel and other legal services in federal criminal cases for defendants unable to pay for them.

THE LIGHT SIDE: With tongue in cheek, President Kennedy reminded 79 foreign military officers of the warning that military men should stay out of politics.

"But I must say," he added, "that politics brought me from being an obscure lieutenant in the Navy to commander in chief in 14 years."

He spoke to officers from 50 countries who had just completed a course in the Army's Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

It's Time To Tell Him Off

DEAR ABBY: I am 30, married and nothing special to look at. I've been called the "wholesome" type. Last week my husband and I were playing bridge in the home of another couple. My husband went out to our car to get something, and the other woman went into the kitchen and, without warning, the husband grabbed me, held me close and tried to kiss me. I was shocked, but managed to cover up without making a scene. I thought I made it plain that I did not go in for that sort of thing. Last night we four went to a movie. While walking down the dark aisle, I felt someone pinch me—but good! I thought it was my husband at first, but soon discovered it was this man again. I did not invite these advances and don't like it. How can I let him know how I feel without hurting his wife?

THE WHOLESOME TYPE

DEAR WHOLESOME: He knows how you FEEL—you have to let him know how you THINK. When you have about 20 seconds alone with him tell him if he doesn't cut out the monkey business you'll tell his wife. And if your husband is bigger than he is—tell him you'll tell your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Last week my 17-year-old son went to a doctor because of a skin condition. He is supposed to go again next week, but he refuses. My husband finally got it out of him. It seems that the doctor wanted him to have a lamp treatment. He had to lie under some lamps for about ten minutes without any clothes on at all. The nurse was in the room the whole time. He was terribly embarrassed by this because the nurse was about 25. So that's why he refuses to go back. I think we should call the doctor and ask him if he can't give the treatment himself from now on. My husband says our son is just being stubborn and we should make him go. He said the doctor will think we are crazy if we call and ask him to change the way he does things in his office. We three have been fighting over this all week. What do you think?

A YOUNG MAN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Call the doctor and explain. He'll understand.

DEAR ABBY: Re that paperboy who signed himself DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE because some took newspapers from his honor rack and dropped buttons, paper clips and slugs into the slot instead of money. You appealed to the public to be honest on the grounds that it's the newspaper who is getting cheated—not the newspaper company. Is it less reprehensible to cheat the newspaper company than it is to cheat the newsboy?

Every day juries return unfair verdicts against large corporations and insured defendants because the "big boys" can afford to pay. The public should keep two things in mind: (1) The moral issue is the same whether the victim is rich or poor. (2) The "little man" will eventually pick up the tab, either in higher consumer costs or in increased insurance rates.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "JUST ME"

You are mistaken. If you want advice through this column, it is NOT necessary to sign your name. (Use "Worried," "Upset," or "Just Me.") But those who want a personal reply should sign their names and addresses (which will be strictly confidential). How else could my reply reach you?

DEAR ABBY: My wife claims she was MISS AMERICA of 1935. I would like to know if she really was. Can you tell me?

CURIOS

DEAR CURIOUS: If your wife was Henrietta Leaver of Pittsburgh, "The Million Dollar Baby" from the Five and Ten Cent Store, she was indeed Miss America of 1935. Otherwise, she hasn't a beautiful leg to stand on.

DEAR ABBY: Re the widow who wrote in to say that until she became a widow she never knew there were so many "frightened unsure wives" unwilling to let their husbands help a widow with household chores or heavy work. I wonder how many times SHE loaned HER husband out to widows when she was married?

FLORENCE

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Daydreaming is proper in its place, but, if you have practical chores to do, give a little extra concentration or otherwise you can drift into carelessness. Scorpions need to keep alert.

Taureans may find others somewhat unreliable or vague. Leos can add some artistic touch to watch career matters as some false note could reduce efficiency.

There will be a Full Moon eclipse in the weekend so the entire week is somewhat unstable in tone, with unusual restlessness and emotional feeling prevailing. Since it is a holiday week, take great care in traveling. There is a greater magnetic pull in the atmosphere which often causes people to be emotionally disturbed.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A convict whose life sentence for murder was commuted after he underwent an historic lung transplant, has died from a kidney disorder.

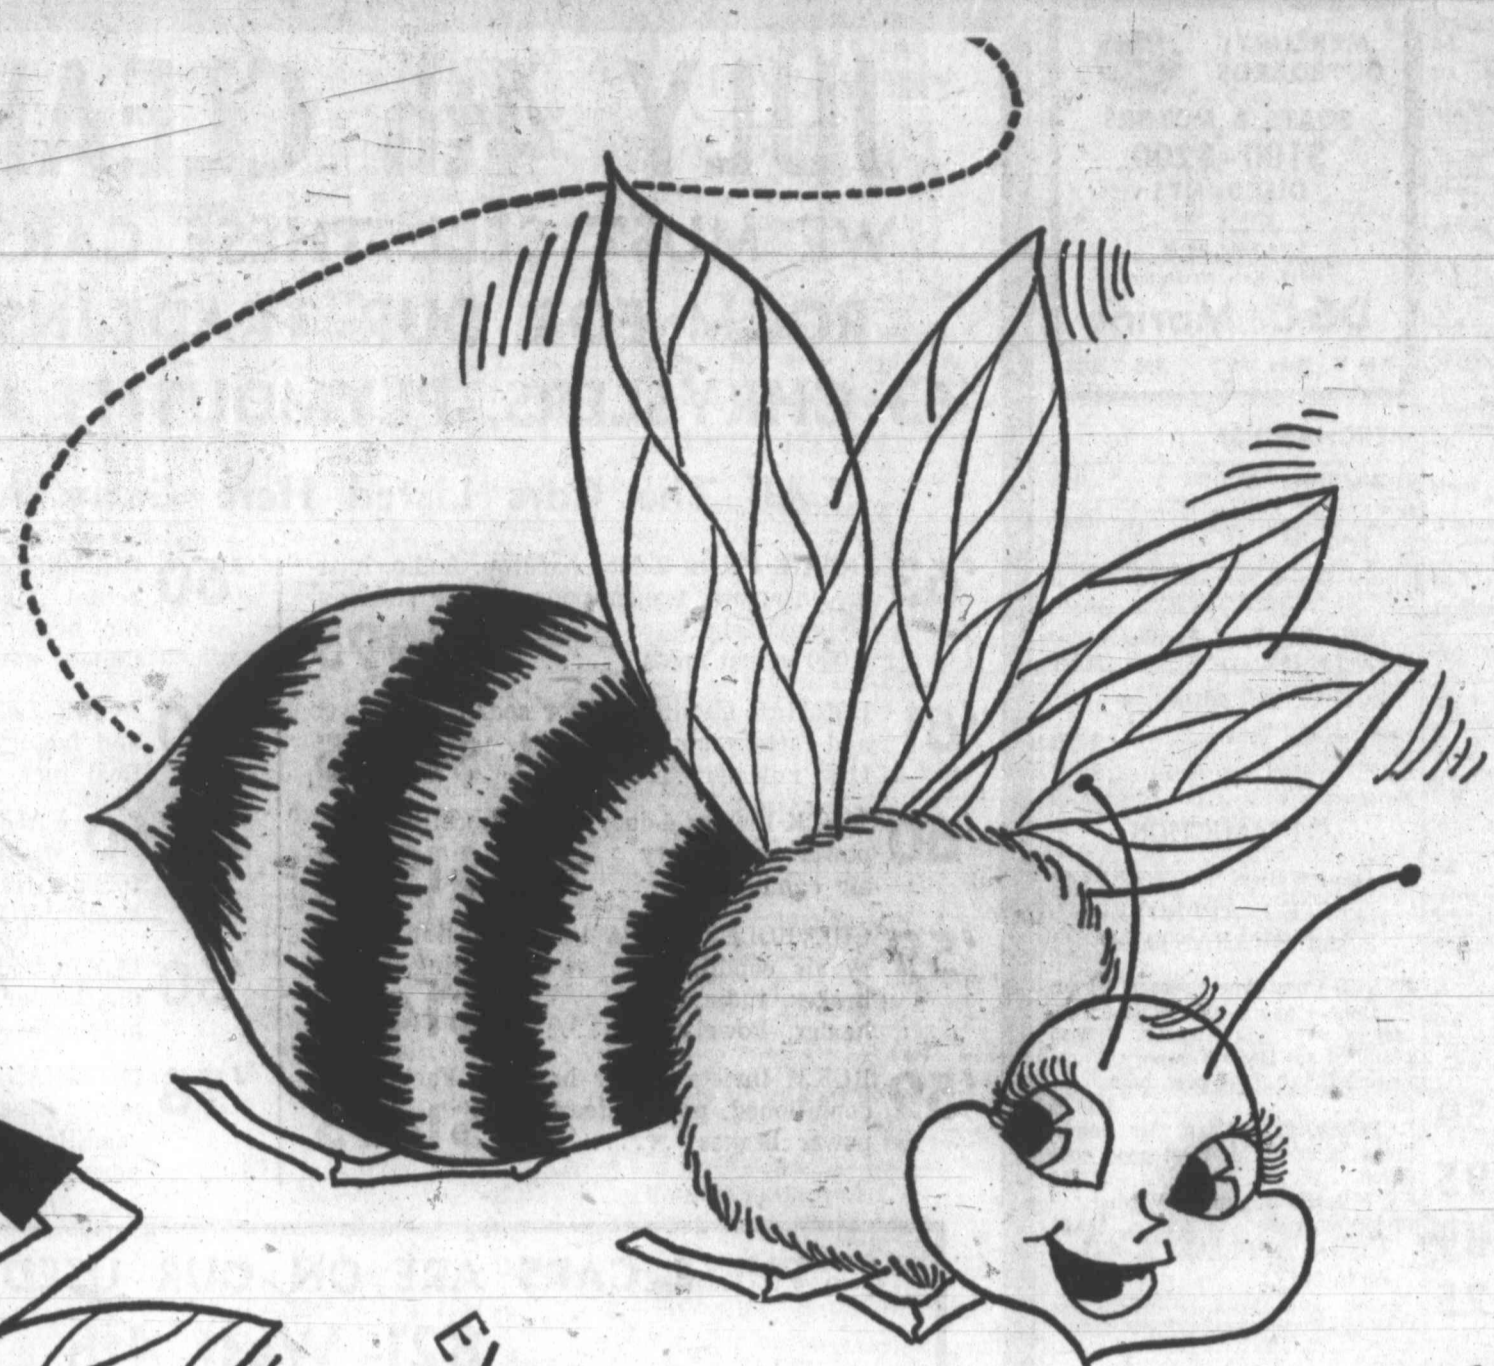

John Richard Russell, believed to have been the first lung transplant patient, died Saturday—18 days after his cancerous left lung was replaced.

A University Hospital spokesman said the transplanted lung—from an unrelated donor—functioned well but cancer had progressed too far in the 58-year-old convict.

HOW A MODERN REPORTER MIGHT HAVE TOLD IT:

Battle Joined Near Gettysburg

EDITOR'S NOTE—One hundred years ago one of history's climactic battles was fought in the rolling countryside outside a small Pennsylvania town called Gettysburg. Here is the way a reporter on the scene might have covered the events which led up to one of the bloodiest military engagements of all time.

By TOM HENSHAW
GETTYSBURG, July 1, 1863 (UP)—Advance units of the Union and Confederate armies clashed by accident around this small South-Central Pennsylvania town today. The outnumbered Federal forces were driven back into defensive positions on high ground south of Gettysburg, a town of 2,400 some 65 miles north of Washington.

A major battle was forecast for tomorrow as Maj. Gen. George G. Meade, the new commander of the Army of the Potomac, ordered most of his 88,000 men into the battlefield. The top available strength of the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia, under the command of Gen. Robert E. Lee, is reported to be some 75,000 men.

TODAY'S FIGHTING
An estimated 36,000 Union troops and 46,000 Confederates took part in today's fighting, which raged until early evening through the streets of Gettysburg and across ridges and wheat fields west of town.

Losses were high, particularly on the Federal side. The Union 1st and 11th Corps were reported decimated. The Iron Brigade lost 1,200 of 1,800 men. The 24th Michigan suffered 80-per cent casualties. Maj. Gen. John F. Reynolds, 42, of Lancaster, Pa., commander of the Union forces in the field, was killed by a sniper. Brig. Gen. James J. Archer, 46, a Maryland man serving in the Southern army, was captured.

The fighting began about 5:30 a.m. when the 13th Alabama Regiment, advancing on Gettysburg from the west to forage for shoes, ran into a picket post of Brig. Gen. John Buford's Union Cavalry Division.

REBS HELD OFF
Buford's cavalry, fighting on foot, held off the Confederate infantry division of Maj. Gen. Henry Heth on a ridge a mile west of town until Reynolds' 1st Corps of Infantry arrived and charged into the fray.

Union artilleryman Augustus Buell described the fighting like this:
"Up and down the line men were reeling and falling; splinters flying from wheels and axles where bullets hit; in rear, horses tearing and plunging, drivers yelling, shells bursting, shots shrieking overhead, howling about our ears or throwing up great clouds of dust where they struck."
"But not a man or boy flinched or faltered."

Shortly after noon, Maj. Gen. Oliver O. Howard's 11th Army Corps marched in from the south and was immediately engaged by the first units of Lt. Gen. Richard

S. Ewell's Confederate corps, coming from the north.

Howard's corps, the smallest in the Army of the Potomac with less than 10,000 men, broke after heavy fighting and fled through the town. A Union officer gave a graphic account of the scene.

GREAT CONFUSION
"The confusion was great," he said. "The Confederates poured volley after volley into the compact mass of fleeing men. A sudden panic arose. Our regiment headed into an alley."
"Unfortunately, it offered no way out except a very narrow doorway; but the enemy had already piled up a barrier of dead Union soldiers in its front, and two-thirds of the regiment was lost."

The flight of Howard's corps uncovered the right flank of Reynolds' corps, now led by Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday, and Doubleday's men retreated to stronger defensive positions on Cemetery Ridge, south of town.

The Union rout was stemmed by the arrival of Maj. Gen. Winfield S. Hancock, 39, of Montgomery Square, Pa., who was sent by Meade to take command in the field after the death of Reynolds.

FORMING LINES
"The enemy was emerging from the streets of the town below and forming lines as if to charge and drive us from our position," reported Lt. Sidney G. Cooke, who watched from Cemetery Hill. "Every man knew how hopeless resistance would be, but Hancock sat his horse, superb and calm as on review, imperturbable. It almost led us to doubt whether there had been cause for retreat at all."

"To Gen. Doubleday, who sat on his horse by his side, Hancock said: 'General, move a brigade to the hill across the road on the right.'"
"But, general," Doubleday replied, "I have no brigade."
"Then take the first thousand men here. Never mind where they belong."
"No excitement in voice of manner; only cool, concise and positive directions, given in a steady voice and a conversational tone."

LIKE FISHHOOK
Tonight, as the two great armies gather for the impending battle, the Union defensive line resembled a fishhook with its shaft running along Cemetery Ridge, its hook turning around Cemetery Hill, where the shattered remnants of Howard's corps awaits reinforcement.

Across a graceful valley, on a ridge called Seminary, Lee is massing his army for the assault.
