Connally Spells Out Education Plans

EDITOR'S NOTE - Gov. John Connally said during his political campaign and later, during his first term in office, that he wanted to change the face of higher education in Texas. He fought stubbornly and successfully for a blue-ribbon committee of 25 to look into education beyond the high school. He slashed $12.5 million out of the appropriations bill to use as a down payment for his higher education plans. But what are these plans? Connally took time out from his busy schedule to sit down with Associated Press writer Bob Rooker and discuss his program.

By BOB ROOKER

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally is driving hard to change the face of higher education in Texas.

His administration's success—and perhaps his political future—may rest on his success or failure in attempts to upgrade the quality of Texas colleges and universities.

"We must re-orient our whole thinking toward higher education and toward the end product—what we're trying to achieve," he told me in an exclusive interview.

"But it's going to be like pulling eye teeth," he added.

The first yank on that tooth came in the last legislature when lawmakers passed over Connally's bitter objections an appropriations bill which the governor said short-changed higher education $13 million.

He chopped $12.5 million out of the bill and said he might call a special session later if colleges indicate they need the money. Does the governor feel that by pouring more money into colleges Texas automatically will improve education?

Not at all. Right now one of his aims actually is to tighten spending for colleges in one sense—to stop wasteful duplication.

On the other hand, he has tentative views on where more money can be spent effectively, but is awaiting more information for precise application of dollars.

Connally said he wants a new philosophy of higher education, a new approach to use of facilities and curricula, a new approach toward faculty members and a new approach toward growth of the college system.

On the new philosophy toward education, Connally said this:

"I think we have built up a set of false standards. Time was when the craftsman was the most restricted person in town and I think we're going to have to take a hard look at our vocational training.

"Only half our high school graduates get any more training. We need these people's skill. We need to make really competent, skilled technicians out of many of them. We can't all be doctors or lawyers or engineers.

"A lot of boys and girls go to college just to get a degree in something. That causes them to feel they have a position in society above what they are really competent to do. There is too much emphasis on the degree without analyzing what they are equipped to do.

"The result is, they're not worth a damn at anything."

The governor has not publicly pinpointed what he plans to do about the person who can't do anything. Indications are that he is moving toward filling one critical educational gap.

This gap is the scarcity of skilled workers—largely persons who learned no skill in high school and do not plan to go to college. Pick up a newspaper and look at the help wanted section. The gap is vast and the pay is good for anyone who can qualify.

Again, although he did not say so, the governor appears to be leaning toward a major system of vocational training in the state's junior colleges to fill this void.

These colleges thus would have two purposes—vocational and academic. The academic side would be for those who want a final two years at a larger college.

Of facilities and curricula, he said:

"This is not a final judgment, but I have a feeling we have great duplication in many areas. We may very well have to re-vamp the curricula to cut duplication in courses, facilities and faculty.

"For example maybe one data processing system would serve all colleges; we might have to experiment with the trimester system; we might have to hold more classes in the afternoon or perhaps at night.

"Each school naturally wants to try to offer any subject a student might want, but that's something we just can't afford any more.

"It is humanly impossible to make all schools equal in all subjects. Trying just tends to downgrade everything.

"For example I'm not sure a certain college should be teaching home economics when one of the other schools has one of the best departments in the United States. Why not let each one concentrate primarily on its strength?"

On faculty:

"I think we have to utilize our outstanding professors more. One professor can make a department or even a school. We may have to change our thinking on how we use these people—how much they teach and how much research they do.

"The question, though, is how to use their talents to best advantage. I wouldn't care if a top professor had to have five assistants if it would help expose him to students and facilitate his research."

On growth of the system:

"I'm not sure that the answer is here. I know our system grew up in a different time, when transportation was different, when our economy was different.

"Some decision will have to be made, but all I can say is that it will have to fit into our total planning. It will have to be a decision that will help us achieve what we decide we want to achieve."

Connally talked on other major decisions which will have to be made in development of Texas' college system.

Of the state's junior college system, he said, "Again, I don't know what the answer is. My own instinct is that we have nev-

First National Bank Makes Big Move To Modern New Building

First National Bank will open for business Monday in a new home at Fourth and Main—an imposing structure of modernistic design that represents a total outlay in excess of three-quarters of a million dollars.

Frantic moving was taking place over the weekend, even as scores of workmen were adding finishing touches to various phases of the building, fixtures, decorations, etc. And although not all details are completed, business will be transacted. A brief ceremony will mark a ribbon-cutting at 10 a.m. Monday. A formal open house, with appropriate celebration, is to come later, said President Lester Morton. 25,000 SQUARE FEET The new bank home is on the north end of a complete half-block purchased by First National some years ago. It contains approximately 25,000 feet of space, and there are provisions for using some 14,000 square feet of basement area, if and when it is needed in the future.

There are four drive-in windows to the south, connected with the main building, and space for more than 60 cars on a paved area as they move into the window service.

The building itself has an atmosphere of spaciousness, with a 24-foot ceiling creating this in the vast lobby area.

The decor is in a harmonizing arrangement of green and tan shades, with gold foil panels along one wall for attractive contrast. Custom made fixtures are of walnut and Parkwood.

PUBLIC AREA The central core of the building is for public use, and the open area will have several customer centers of lounges, chairs, tables, etc. in addition to the service check stands.

To the right of the entrance vestibule is the working area for installment loans. Immediately back of this is a series of booths for handling loan payments and the note department. Farther back are the desks of officers handling commercial loans, each area given privacy with dividers.

To the left of the main lobby is the cashier's area, and back of that a string of 15 booths, occupied by tellers and those handling collections and providing book-keeping information.

At the rear of this area is an executive suite, including a conference room, a receptionist's and waiting area, and the president's office.

The south wall of the main banking room is in alternating panels of walnut and gold foil, while the entire north wall is covered with a specially designed paper featuring a random gold coin motif.

Exterior of the building is in yellow brick, marble, aluminum and glass, and the large plate glass panes at the front run 18 feet high. The building is featured by a ponderous roof overhang of pre-cast aggregate, and this material is duplicated in some of the interior trim.

TERRAZO, CARPET Flooring is a combination of terrazo and carpeting, the latter in a dark olive color to complement wall coloring.

Great banks of lighting with attractive glass diffusers are used throughout the building.

Back of the line of tellers' booths is the bookkeeping department, and each teller has direct access into that area.

A reception area is immediately to the left of the entry, and this is a focal point, since over it there is a spiral stairway that leads to the second floor area.

VAULTS The bank's giant vault space is on the ground floor, to the left of the entry. There is access to a large vault for personal safety deposit boxes. Adjacent to this area are two booths where customers may work with items from the boxes, and there is also a special conference room for customer use in discussing private affairs.

GLASS AND DRAPES The building front is highlighted by the use of glass and drapes, and the drapes over these windows, as well as over other glass areas in the interior are of textured, casement, in India lime color.

In the southeast corner of the second floor will be the cotton note department, and this is highlighted by a special mural on one wall, depicting an old West Texas cotton farm scene.

Back of this area there is a hallway leading to private offices, and the printing and supply room. Also on the second floor is a large area that is now undesignated, to provide for future expansion. And on back of it is the utility area, with machinery for heating, cooling, etc.

DIRECTORS' ROOM A focal point on the second floor, just at the top of the stairway, is the directors' room, a commodious 25 by 40 foot area completely paneled in walnut and carpeted as on the floor below. This room has adjacent service areas for storing chairs, and can be adapted into a meeting room accommodating about 75 people.

The second floor becomes a sort of mezzanine at the rear of the main banking area, and here are located an employees' refreshment lounge, restrooms, and the phone switchboard operator's booth.

SIGN The First National's familiar time-and-temperature sign will be at the south end of the property, at Fifth Street, visible on Main Street. There is also paved space for customer parking, in addition to the area set aside for drive-in window traffic.

George L. Dahl, architect-engineer of Dallas, designed the building, and A. F. Kasch & Sons have the general contract. Interior decorations are by Lucelle's.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

It was a week of weather, some triumph and some tragedy. There was no question that summer was here, as the mercury shot past the 100 mark for the first time. There were some rains in the northern part of the county the first of the week, but none in the city. The city of Big Spring looked at a $20,000 drop in water revenues for June, when the rains came, but likely will make it all up in July.

Out at Webb, a group of bright and husky young college men wound up their training as AFROTC cadets, had a graduation and a big party and headed for home. Another class will arrive in a couple of weeks.

And the Air Base suffered a grievous tragedy when a T-37 crashed northeast of Andrews, carrying to death two fine officers, Capt. Robert L. Jones and 1st Lt. David T. Burton.

The Base is going through the throes of a command change, with a new system of deputy command.

Gay Hill-Center Point Will Ask A Re-Hearing

The Texas Supreme Court will be asked to re-hear the Gay Hill-Center Point school annexation case petition on which it ruled adversely last Wednesday. The motion for rehearing will be lodged with the high court immediately.

The seven members of the Gay Hill board and the three members from Center Point, in a joint meeting at Gay Hill Friday night, unanimously voted to instruct school attorneys to continue the legal fight to keep the two common schools from being annexed to the Big Spring Independent School District.

In its ruling last Wednesday, the Supreme Court denied the schools' petition for a writ of error against the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals. The Eastland court, reviewing the action of the 118th District Court of Howard County, had upheld a jury finding which declared the action May 4, 1960 of the Howard County School Board, annexing the two districts to Big Spring, to be a valid, legal and proper action.

The joint meeting of the two boards was a regularly scheduled meeting for the Gay Hill board; their fellow board members from the district to the south, joined them at the conference table.

The school board members of the two districts, and George Archer, principal of Gay Hill school, were the only persons in attendance. There were no patrons of either of the school districts on hand, Archer said, nor any, at, torneys.

The vote, he said was unanimous for him to immediately contact the attorneys of the two schools and instruct them to file a motion for rehearing before the Supreme Court. The motion under the law, has to be filed not later than July 25. It is possible if it is filed in time, the higher court could rule on it before adjourning for its summer vacation Aug. 1. The vacation extends to Oct. 1.

Attorneys familiar with the high court and its procedure point out that the chance of the rehearing motion being granted is very remote. The only other alternative, if the high court should follow its custom and decline to re-hear the motion, would be to take the question to the U. S. Supreme Court—an action which is termed deviant and difficult by lawyers.

Archer said that the Gay Hill board handled a few routine matters in addition to the action on the rehearing.

U.S., Canada In Nuclear Deal

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—The United States and Canada have worked out most of the details of a nuclear weapons deal which was a key item in talks here last May between President Kennedy and Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson.

$15 Million Tech Budget Is Approved

LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas Tech directors approved Saturday a budget of $15 million, an increase of $1.8 million.

Tech had 11,183 students last fall and expects 12,400 this fall. The board said it was disappointed with state appropriations and voted unanimously to write Gov. John Connally supporting his views calling for more state money for higher education.

State funds supply $7 million of the new budget.

Also authorized was application to Washington for a grant to help support a $400,000 expansion of Tech educational television facilities.

Chinese-Soviet Power Struggle Is Laid Bare

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party declared Sunday the Russian and Chinese views on war and peace remain diametrically opposed. The Russians charged that Chinese representatives are aggravating Soviet-Chinese differences at their current peace talks in Moscow.

In a sweeping indictment of Red China's policies in Communist and world affairs, the Soviet party also accused Peking of trying to worsen U.S.-Soviet relations and heat up the cold war.

The Russians stopped short, however, of an open break with the Chinese, indicating the Kremlin would wait for Red China to make any such move.

"The immediate future," the Soviet statement declared, "will show if the Chinese comrades agree to build our relations on the basis of what unites and not disunites us."

Red China declared Saturday it did not want a break with Moscow, and held open the door for a resumption of talks if the present ones fail.

The Soviet party Central Committee berated the Communist Chinese leadership in a 35,000-word open letter addressed to "all the Communist parties" of the world. It was published in Sunday's issue of the Soviet party newspaper Pravda.

The statement was issued a few hours after deputy premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, often the Kremlin's chief troubleshooter, took a hand in the faltering talks.

Mikoyan's role in Saturday's session was not known, but there was speculation he might have been seeking a face-saving way to break off the talks with the Chinese before the Russians sit down Monday with U.S. and British representatives to discuss a nuclear test-ban treaty.

Red China meanwhile accused the United States of making every effort to disrupt the Soviet-Chinese talks and said Washington is counting on a Moscow-Peking split.

The Soviet party statement laid bare its power struggle with Communist China, revealing for the first time the extent of its cutback in aid to Peking, and accused the Chinese of trying to split the Soviet bloc and subvert the world Communist movement.

Also for the first time, the Russians openly named the Chinese in the ideological dispute and directly rebutted their arguments.

The Soviet letter vigorously rejected Chinese criticisms of Premier Khrushchev's major policies—peaceful coexistence, disarmament, and destalinization.

The Russian statement affirmed avowed Soviet policy that Russia will never use nuclear weapons unless attacked.

The statement steered clear of any sharp indication that the talks might be broken off although the conflict looked so tense it seemed highly improbable for the two sides to carry them to a peaceful conclusion at this time.

Failure in talks with Red China would be a shattering shock to the Communist camp. It also might justify Khrushchev's seeking new accommodations with the West.

Negro Leaders Threaten New Demonstrations In Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Negro leaders, defying the National Guard's ban on demonstrations, served notice Saturday night they will resume street marches Monday in an effort to break down racial barriers.

"Our people are restless. They want their freedom and they are determined to acquire those legitimate rights which have been too long denied them," said a statement issued by the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee.

The committee is headed by Mrs. Gloria Richardson, militant integrationist leader.

What will happen when the National Guard confronts the demonstrators remains to be seen. Friday night about 250 marchers dispersed when Brig. Gen. George M. Gelson quietly notified them they were violating militia law, invoked by Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

There were indications that Monday's demonstration might be a repeat performance of this, but that the integrationists would later press their drive in such a way that the Guard officers might feel impelled to arrest them.

Their statement Saturday night praised the Guard for its "impartial" handling of the tense situation, but accused Gov. Tawes of "inaction and lack of positive leadership."

"We strongly urge," the statement said, "that he call a special session of the General Assembly or issue an executive order to ban racial discrimination in places of public accommodation or come himself to Cambridge to re-establish negotiations."

Tawes has turned down demands for a special legislative session. He said legislative leaders have advised him that the present public accommodations law, limited in scope, might be narrowed instead of broadened if the lawmakers were convened now.

Under the watchful eyes of the 400 guardsmen, the city displayed an uneasy semblance of normalcy today. There was no immediate sign of a further outbreak of racial violence, such as left six white persons wounded this week.

People shopped as usual. But traffic movements were heavily restricted. Acting under modified martial law, Guardsmen would permit no white persons to enter the Negro section, with its 4,000 population, unless they could show they had urgent reasons warranting a special pass.

From sources close to Gov. J. Millard Tawes, meanwhile, came indications that the governor would take a more active role in seeking some kind of settlement of the racial dispute.

Roman Envoys To Attend Russ Orthodox Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI agreed Saturday, in a significant gesture toward the Russian Orthodox Church, to send two envoys to the Soviet Union for the golden jubilee of Patriarch Alexis of Moscow. The week-long jubilee observances open Sunday.

The Vatican move could have implications for Roman Catholicism's relations with all the Orthodox world and, on a temporal level, with the Kremlin.

This is the first time the Vatican has assigned clergymen to attend a major ceremony of the Russian Church since the great schism of 1054.

Ask Vote Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department asked the courts Saturday to reopen voter registration in Jackson, Miss., shut down a week ago at the height of a Negro registration drive.

West Is Awaiting New Russian Policy

The situation now developing is potentially one of the most important to arise in the cold war in several years. It could lead to a complete and final split between Moscow and Peking. And it could begin a new period of easier relations between Russia and the West.

Western experts are not betting firmly on this outcome yet. Russia might break with Red China without becoming particularly friendly with the United States. The present Moscow-Peking quarrel could conceivably be patched up, although the best informed Westerners think it has already passed the point of no return.

But the possibilities of change are considered great. What is a fact at the moment is that peace talks between Soviet and Chinese delegations, which began here eight days ago, are failing. This was disclosed by Red China in a newspaper blast at Russia Saturday. In the official People's Daily, Red China asked whether, since Russia would not come to terms in the peace conference, it was trying to push Chinese-Soviet relations to the brink of rupture.

At the same time, the United States and Britain were holding preliminary strategy talks in London in preparation for the conference, officially on a nuclear test ban treaty.

The London talks were conducted by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, a veteran of negotiations with the Russians going back 20 years, and by Lord Hailsham, Britain's science minister.

Harriman flew to London early in order to coordinate the U.S.-British approach to the negotiations. The three-power meeting is expected to last 10 days or two weeks. Harriman and Hailsham are due here Sunday.

Moscow insisted that the talks be secret and the United States and Britain bowed to the pressure. How long the secrecy cloak will hold is a guess.

Obviously, however, secret diplomacy has its limitations for President Kennedy. He has to consider the reaction of the U.S. Senate, to which he would submit any test ban treaty for approval or rejection.

The real reason the United States and Britain agreed to secrecy is to be found in the hope that this time the negotiators may break through the long deadlock and get to some agreement. Beyond this lies a belief that successful test ban negotiations might lead to other accords.

The test ban about which Westerners are optimistic, however, is not the same one they have usually tried to get in the past. It is a more limited version—limited to testing in the atmosphere, in space and under water. It would not require international inspection inside Soviet territory because it would not prohibit hard-to-detect underground tests.

'Ferris Wheel' Bed Helps Patients Move

By JOHNNIE LU RABORN

A little rock and a lot of roll will begin at the VA Hospital as the new "ferris wheel" bed goes into operation this week.

With a flick of the switch, the bed can help a patient sit up, stand up, or even flip him over on his stomach.

Mounted inside a circular frame, the bed moves on rollers and can be operated by the patient to change his position without outside help. He can hug a smaller frame and ride it around to rest on his stomach.

Available for only two years, the bed comes equipped with various accessories and safety devices. The safety stop prevents the bed from rotating too far and pitching the patient out. Other straps and slings are attached to aid in the rotation and insure the patient a smooth ride. For those with multiple fractures, traction bars, suspension and exercise bars also can be attached to the hooplike frame.

Severe burns, paralysis or a cardiac condition will qualify the patient for the bed, enabling X-rays, baths and general care without moving him.

The patient using the bed requires close care, so that the bed's primary advantage is he can operate the bed himself, with less attention from the staff, according to V. J. Beldo, hospital director.

When the patient is ready to be moved, he can be swung over to a pulley-operated seat or moved to a standing position for walking away.

Big Spring Coin Club, just a little over two years old, has won national recognition. The club's activities in observance of National Coin Week, have been awarded third place prize in Class A division. Announcement was received by W. E. Wozencraft, president, and he has been informed the club's entry will be on display in Denver Aug. 7-10 at the National Convention of Coin Clubs. The American Numismatic Association will make the presentation.

Wozencraft said more than a thousand clubs entered the three classes for awards. Jefferson County Coin Club of Arvada, Colo., won first place in Class A. Inland Empire Coin Club, Spokane, Wash., second, and Big Spring third.

The local club has 200 members and meets at the Elks Club. Fifty-five attended Thursday. The victory was announced Thursday night.

During the meeting, the club named its first honorary members, credited with contributing to the success of the club in national competition. They are Phil Hines, director of Personal Services at Webb AFB, and Sam Blackburn, Herald newsman. Each was given a proof set of 1963 silver coins and a membership card in club.

Wozencraft will attend the Denver convention and accept the plaque for the local club.

"We could never have won this high honor," he said Thursday, "without the help and cooperation of our friends in Big Spring. We appreciate this support."

A new member drive is being launched with the campaign to terminate Oct. 10. Coins will be awarded to winning members who recruit the most new collectors.

Dan Kester, a member of the club, told the story of how the legend, "In God we trust," happens to appear on American coins. He said the phrase had not been used until 1864. In 1863, with the nation in the depths of the Civil War, a minister, Mark R. Watkinson, Ridleyville, Pa., wrote an eloquent letter to S. P. Chase, secretary of the Treasury, urging that some recognition of God and the belief the nation had in His

Whing Ding Date Is Set

The Third annual all-star Explorer Whing Ding, an event of the Buffalo Trail Council, is scheduled to be held at Webb AFB July 19-21.

An estimated 150 scouts will visit here as part of the Air Force-Boy Scouts of America Cooperation Program which will begin at 8 p.m. with a general assembly.

The program will include swimming, survival competition, air and sea navigation, sail boating, first aid classes, and extemporaneous speaking.

Also, a table tennis elimination event, car roadeo conducted by the Texas Highway Patrol, auto mechanics trouble shooting, marksmanship contest, awards of first, second, and third place for all events, and the Explorer social.

An orientation flight will arrive here at 2 p.m. Saturday, July 20 from Carswell AFB, Fort Worth. Also, a special chapel service will be held Sunday morning, July 21.

Roger Brown, attorney for Santos, indicated the case would be taken to the State Court of Civil Appeals but no formal motion had been filed in the matter Friday.

protection, he noted on coins. Chase acted promptly and in 1864 a 2-cent piece with the famous words appeared. The motto has now been adopted for all coins of the United States.

Two new members were enrolled in the club—Mrs. Grace Sharp and Sgt. Richard Knouth.

Judge Upholds Liquor License Cancellation Here

Action of the Texas Liquor Control Board in cancelling the beverage license of Sam's Cafe, operated by Santos Mendoza, was upheld by Dist. Judge Ralph Caton Friday afternoon. The court ordered the license cancelled instantly. The hearing took less than five minutes in 118th District Court.

The LCB officers had cancelled Santos' license last week but he filed an appeal in the district court and obtained an order staying the effect of the cancellation until hearing on his appeal could be held. Judge Caton set the case for 2 p.m. Friday.

Also, a table tennis elimination event, car roadeo conducted by the Texas Highway Patrol, auto mechanics trouble shooting, marksmanship contest, awards of first, second, and third place for all events, and the Explorer social.

Nine Re-Enlist At Webb AFB

Nine members of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb AFB re-enlisted in June. As there were 12 eligible, this gave the base 75 per cent in retention rate. Five of the nine were first term airmen.

All June re-enlistments were for four years. Wing re-enlistees were S. Sgt. Franklin D. Gardin, Airman 1.C. Jose L. Campos, Airman 1.C. Isaac W. Coombs, Airman 1.C. David N. Hardin, Airman 1.C. Clair N. Lemasters, Airman 1.C. Alan B. Stumpf, Airman 1.C. William J. Underwood, Airman 1.C. Willis L. Ward, and Airman 2.C. Wilton R. Powell, S. Sgt. Bradley W. Capper, S. Sgt. Robert G. Hunter, and Airman 1.C. Roy D. Collins.

THE ANSWER

An honest and sensible answer has been requested for the question: What feast does 1 Cor. 5:7,8 refer to? Answer: This is the Christian passover, which is a perpetual feast, for the bread which is eaten is "the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (verse 8). Sincerity and truth certainly are not things which we are to partake of just at certain seasons.

keep the feast by living in Christ and for Christ.

This is the fulfillment of the Jewish passover.

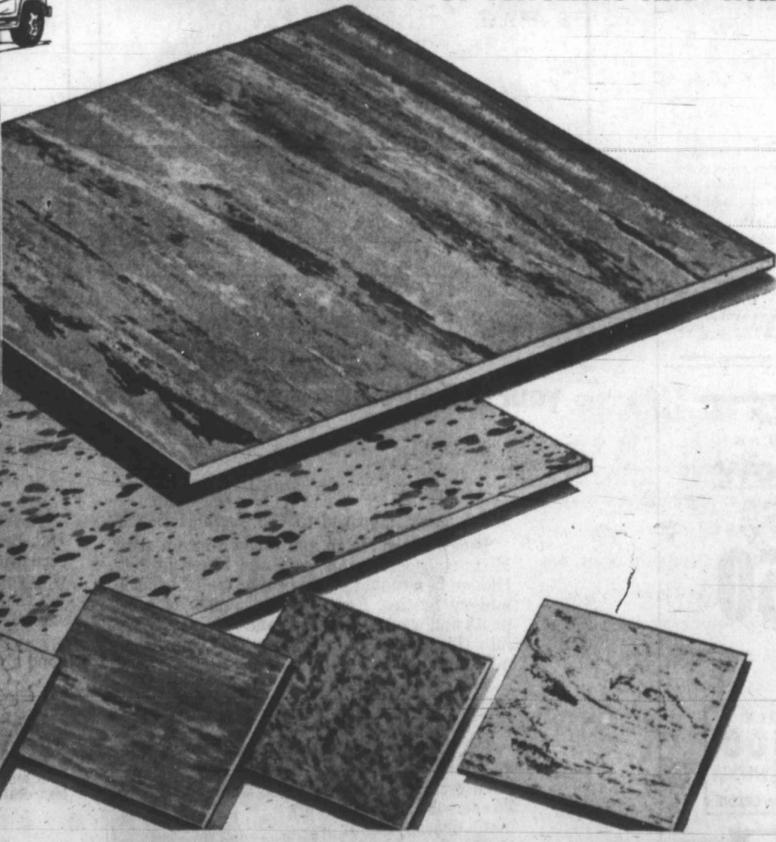

The Lord's Supper is different. It is not called a passover.

"An Understanding Heart" and "Love and Matrimony" are today's sermons; 10:30 and 7. Be with us.

U.S. Defense Changes May Show In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The military budget for the next fiscal year, now under preparation in the Pentagon, may begin to reflect some of the expected major changes in weapons and the overall defense program.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara held a news conference last week "I think in some areas we must continue to increase" but added he believes the size of defense budgets will level off or perhaps decline in subsequent years.

This presumably means that McNamara intends to provide for possible boosts in some weapons systems development or production programs by trimming in other programs and by his cost-reduction program.

He insists that no reduction in overall combat power of the U.S. military is contemplated, that the firepower of strategic and tactical forces will be maintained at high level.

McNamara now is beginning to receive from the services and from his own office proposed changes in the five-year program which is revised annually as each yearly budget is submitted.

In his news conference, McNamara did not specify the areas of the military budget in which he thinks there must be increases. But some of them are being suggested in requests by the armed forces, in testimony given for the current fiscal 1964 budget and by general trends in technology and weaponry.

One proposal being handed McNamara comes from the North American Air Defense Command, for a new design of interceptor capable of intercepting or inspecting future airliners—or bombers—which would fly faster than most interceptor planes in the present Air Force or Navy inventory.

McNamara himself has mentioned a research program looking toward a new, advanced design of an intercontinental ballistic missile. This presumably would be intended for carrying more powerful warheads with the same or perhaps smaller boosters and include refinement in accuracy.

A step-up is possible in anti-missile projects, with increased spending on the Nike-X weapon system which is a developmental outgrowth of the Army's Nike Zeus program.

More funds quite possibly will go into military space work. In manned space vehicle research, the Pentagon now has joined with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in the Gemini program. This will be in addition to the Defense Department-Air Force's own X20 orbiting program.

McNamara has considered also the possibility that there should be not one but two deep underground alternate command posts located at different points in the country for directing a war after a nuclear attack has been launched against the United States.

Congress has been cool toward the idea of expensive burrowing to build a command post which McNamara says should be several thousand feet beneath the surface.

Tempers Shorten As TFX Probe Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tempers apparently are getting shorter as the Senate investigation of the huge TFX warplane contract gets longer. The inquiry started Feb. 26 and the end is not in sight.

Transcripts of the latest testimony given behind the Senate Investigations subcommittee's closed doors showed some acid exchanges between Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth and his senatorial questioners.

At the start of the hearings, senatorial emphasis was on whether favoritism or improper political influences steered the $5-billion—General Dynamics Corp., which has Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp., as its chief subcontractor.

Of late, however, committee members have been stressing the question of judgment on the part of the civilian chiefs of the Pentagon in turning down the rival bid, the Boeing Co.

Under the Defense Department's civilian-control set-up, there is no question as to the legal right of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to make the judgment. But the line of questioning in the hearings and public statements outside indicate a growing desire on the part of some members to discredit that judgment as much as possible.

The very suggestions of favoritism or poor judgment have drawn sparks from McNamara, Korth and other Defense Department chiefs.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and some of his subcommittee colleagues challenged sharply Korth's explanations of reasons why the Pentagon civilian executives overrode military evaluations that the Boeing design promised a better TFX at less cost. Korth insisted the uniformed military's evaluations were erroneous. The initials TFX stand for tactical fighter, experimental.

Most of the heated exchanges have been between McClellan and Korth in point-by-point challenge and defense of Korth's testimony that the General Dynamics-Grumman TFX would fly higher, faster, farther and have better combat maneuverability than Boeing's.

Tax Writing Job Resumes Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The off-again, on-again machinery Congress uses to write tax legislation starts up again Monday.

If the House Ways and Means Committee keeps it turning, the rest of Congress—and the taxpayers—may get a look in about two weeks at the kind of tax cut the legislators will be asked to vote on somewhat later.

Committee leaders are close mouthed. Accordingly a multibillion-dollar guessing game is in full swing on Capitol Hill. For those who want to play, here are some materials:

President Kennedy set for Congress the target of a tax reduction amounting ultimately to somewhat more than $10 billion annually, to be reached in three steps.

There is reason to believe the committee is aiming at a generally similar figure, perhaps a bit lower and with more of the cut coming sooner. In any case, it is expected to propose some reduction effective Jan. 1, 1964.

But the congressional tax writers already have shown plainly they do not intend to follow the executive blueprint in detail.

Kennedy proposed a deep cut in rates. Instead of the present 20-to-91-per-cent range on individual incomes, he suggested 14-to-65 per cent, and instead of 52 per cent on corporations 47 per cent. This would have meant reducing revenues by about $13.5 billion. But he proposed also tax revisions—called by some advocates "reforms"—that would have recouped more than $3 billion of the revenue.

So far the committee has discussed formally only revisions and what it has produced does not greatly resemble Kennedy's plan. Rather, it appears the recouping features may add up to something much closer to a billion dollars than $3 billion. The rate reduction would have to be tailored to fit—conceivably something like 15-70 per cent for individuals, 48 per cent for corporations.

But the committee has made this much plain: it will not vote on rates until it has made a firm decision on the revision part of the bill. All the decisions it has already made, during more than two months of discussions, are subject to change—and some big ones have yet to be made.

manders being set up, and a consolidation of responsibilities. The base commander, Col. Wills on Banks, left last weekend. His successor, Col. Howard Withycombe, is due at the end of the month.

On the business front, First National Bank was the center of attention as it moves over the weekend into the modern and spacious new home at Fourth and Main. Ready or not, it will do business there Monday. And Coahoma saw a contract awarded for a new post office building. Ray Dunlap got the job.

The city accepted 29 new blocks of paving, ordered work of sealcoating on 53 others. The street improvement is beginning to show. City Dads also bought two new garbage trucks. Voted pay raises to firemen, who had seen a bit behind the other departments. A new parks board was set up, too.

Both the school district and the junior college boards studied budgets for the year beginning September 1, and both set public hearings, the school district August 13, the junior college August 15. And the local school board said that new classrooms at Marcy and in Kentwood will be ready for the next term. These structures were built out of operating funds, with no bond issued that would draw interest.

While there seems to be no final action yet the Gay Hill-Center Point annexation issue was nearer resolution, as the Supreme Court of Texas upheld lower court rulings, to the effect that the consolidation with the Big Spring district is legal.

Martin County old-timers staged their annual reunion with feasting, parade, awards, and good old home-like visiting. It was a couple of days of sheer fun.

A news item that might have "shook" you was that one about five lads being involved in some 45 crimes of vandalism, theft, burglary and general maliciousness. But, on the other hand, the Howard County library reported a record month in handling of books, and fine young people accounted for a heavy part of this business.

The city (and the county) struck a snag on arranging for a site for a fire station in the west area of the city. The county thought it had a site to sell, but turned out this belongs to the Rodeo Association. The situation still likely can be worked out.

Names in the news: Charlie C. Pate, a truck driver for Boykin Brothers, was "Knight of the Road" award for playing good Samaritan at a highway accident; little Janice Major was saved from possible drowning by quick resuscitation efforts by relatives at a swimming pool; Airman I.C. Larry K. Burt was honored as the 31st Squadron's airman of the month; Tolford Durham, chief of social services, was among those cited by the VA Hospital. He is leaving shortly for a post in Tucson, after having served at the local institution ever since it opened.

Mountaineers, Stirred By Extremist Paper, Burn Camp

ROSMAN, N. C. (AP) — Mountaineers enraged by reports of free love, nudity and integration have used flame and gun on Summerlane, and put the summer camp out of business in the Blue Ridge mountains near here. The 70 campers, mostly teenagers and boys and girls, left by car and bus Friday under police escort after the gymnasium was burned, the window of a camp house shot out, and gunfire and blows were exchanged Thursday night and early Friday. No one was wounded or seriously injured. Sheriff C. R. McCall said he was told the camp was being moved to an unannounced destination in New Jersey. Some residents of this western North Carolina said they were outraged at what they heard were free love practices and nudity among the campers, and the admission of Negroes. "All this added together just didn't set too well with the local people. We're mostly Baptist and pretty serious about it," the sheriff said. However, camp members said only white persons were enrolled. They described Summerlane as nothing more than a summer place where members could relax, enjoy the solitude of the mountains, swim and participate in athletics. Its literature described Summerlane as based on the principles of Summerhill, a progressive school in England. Sheriff McCall said the mountain people were aroused by descriptions of camp activity in "The Herald of Freedom," a small newspaper published in New York City and widely distributed among rural folk here. In New York, the publisher, Frank Capell, 56, who also operates an employment agency, described the publication as a patriotic, bi-weekly, anti-Communist newspaper.

Spy Publicity Causes U. S.-British Fallout

LONDON (AP) — British newspaper Saturday reported a high-level Soviet spy had defected, an official account was released on Thursday giving Dolynstyn's name and implying the defection was recent. Later, the Defense Ministry distributed a note asking newspapers to withhold the story. A later notice, however, told editors they could publish some of the information, but must withhold Dolynstyn's name. The Daily Telegraph, nevertheless, published the name in its Saturday morning edition. The fact that Dolynstyn's name became public was expected to raise a storm in Parliament. Labor party opposition members were preparing a series of questions for the government. There was speculation that British experts were working out a new identity for Dolynstyn for the Russian's own protection. It was believed the Soviet spy would undergo plastic surgery to make him unrecognizable even to those who knew him during the eight months or so that he was on a tour of duty in London. Laborites in parliament expressed the belief that the disclosure of Dolynstyn's defection and his name was an attempt by the government to restore the tarnished image of British intelligence in the wake of a rash of sex and security scandals. SOVIETS ON TRAIL British security agents are said to be sure that Soviet agents are trying to trace Dolynstyn to his carefully guarded hideout. The Daily Express said an attempt already may have been made on Dolynstyn's life. His defection dealt a severe blow to Soviet intelligence and the Russians will want him eliminated—for revenge and as a warning to others, informants said. The Evening News published a two-column photograph which it said was the first picture of the Russian secret agent. A headline

Woman Arrested

The woman was arrested and she told officers she had pawned the watch and chain. She was recovered and she was jailed.

Fire Damages Scout Hut

The Sea Scout hut, south of the Jet Drive, was vandalized and partially burned sometime during the past two days. The damage was discovered by Skipper Don Snyder when he went to the hut about 10 a.m. Saturday. Police Detective Jack Jones, who investigated Saturday morning, said nothing was missing. The Sea Scouts had been using the house about a week. Fire Chief H. D. Crocker said a report to the department was made about 5:10 p.m. Friday reporting a fire at the Scout Hut. The caller would not identify himself. Firemen found nothing in the area although two trucks were dispatched. The walls of the room were damaged by fire. Jones, Crocker and Fire Marshall A. D. Meador said the damage appeared to have resulted from a torch or flame held under drapes, photographs, newspaper clippings and certificates around the wall. They said heavy theatre-type drapes covered the south wall and a part of the west wall of the building. They were all burned off. Crocker said it looked as if someone had poured water on the fire.

Judge Brings Campaign Here

An "early bird" state candidate is making the rounds of West Texas and was a visitor in Big Spring Friday. He is Judge W. Sears McGee, who will be an aspirant for a place on the Supreme Court of Texas, in the Democratic primaries of next Spring. McGee currently is presiding judge of the 55th judicial district, Houston. He said he was making part of his calls while on vacation from his bench. Judge McGee, 45, is a native of Houston, attended public schools there and also Rice University, before getting his law degree at the University of Texas in 1940. He was with a law firm for three years until entering the Navy in 1943. In 1948 he was elected Judge of County Court in Law in Harris County and served three terms. He was elected to the district judgeship in 1958. He has served a three-year term as a director of the State Bar Association, has been identified with many civic, religious and public service organizations in Houston. He and Mrs. McGee have six children.

Tax Cut Called Best Rights Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said Saturday that a tax cut that would spur the economy would be more beneficial to Negroes than congressional passage of civil rights legislation. Smathers, a member of the Senate Finance Committee and a close personal friend of President Kennedy, said on a taped television-radio program he will filibuster against the administration's civil rights proposals although he could support five out of seven of them. But he said it would be tragic if this controversy prevents Congress from acting on a tax reduction. The House Ways and Means Committee has not yet completed action on such a measure. The Senate Finance Committee will not begin hearings until after the House has passed a bill. These hearings could be halted by a Senate filibuster. Smathers acknowledged that the expected Southern filibuster will fall unless the Dixie group gets some Republican help. Another prospective Southern filibuster, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said in a statement he might offer a proposal calling for a national referendum on the President's civil rights proposal. He conceded, however, "I don't think there is much chance of getting it." Long struck particularly at the proposed withholding of federal funds from states discriminating against Negroes and at the proposed granting to Negroes of equal access to privately operated business. Noting that unemployment among Negroes is proportionately far higher than among whites, Smathers said he thinks "the problem of the Negro citizen basically is an economic and an educational problem. "I think that the tax reduction bill which would stimulate the economy and provide more jobs for all of our people—and particularly the Negro citizen is much more helpful and much more beneficial in the long run than the so-called sort of visionary rights which he talks about and the so-called civil rights bill." Smathers said he will not support a section of the President's program which would segregate private businesses serving the public or a provision to authorize the attorney general to bring school integration suits.

Three Boys Are Rescued From Abandoned Mine

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three 16-year-old boys, crawling some 2,000 feet to safety, were rescued from an old abandoned coal mine Saturday after being missing since Thursday. The boys were rushed to St. Clair Memorial Hospital where the father of one said: "They all looked bad—drawn, worn out and dirty. But they're in good shape." Robert Abbott, 15; Danny O'Kain, 13, and Billy Burke, 13, were led out of the mine within 2 1/2 hours after they were discovered. The hospital spokesman said Abbott and O'Kain were in good condition while Burke was satisfactory. All were admitted for observation. The spokesman said Burke's chest would be X-rayed to determine if he was sick or injured. Inspector Everett Turner of the U.S. Bureau of Mines credited the discovery of a firecracker with leading rescuers to the boys in the mine containing lethal black damp gas. "About two hours before we found them," Turner told a newspaper, "we had indications they were in the mine. Jennings-Breedon and Jim Hutchens found a firecracker. They reported to me and I went on in." The inspectors crawled and dragged themselves some 2,000 feet to the boys, then had breathing apparatus towed to the trio. Abbott told newsmen at the hospital their flashlights went out about five minutes after they entered the mine Thursday. "It was dark in there," he said, "but we had light most of the while. We kept recharging the batteries. We were scared and nervous. We seemed to get further and further from the entrance." Asked what had happened, Abbott said: "We made the wrong turn. We got lost." "Billy hurt his back," O'Kain said. "He said he couldn't move." That's why he sat down." Billy's mother, Mrs. Florence Burkner, said her son was "real scared." Turner and Hutchens reached the boys after three days of exhausting searching in the mine in suburban Castle Shannon. Before the discovery of the firecracker, officials felt the boys were not in the mine although the families of the three steadfastly believed they were in there. The search had to be suspended several times because of the black damp gas. Turner said rescuers actually came within 800 feet of the boys Thursday night but were forced back by the gas. O'Kain explained that they had been in the mine before—"just a couple of days ago. I know I'll never go back." Abbott said they never heard the rescuers until they were found. He said the time dragged, and they thought Saturday was Sunday. T. J. McDonald, assistant superintendent of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, said the boys "were just sitting around" when they were located. "They couldn't do anything else. They had to get tired in the low percentage of oxygen." McDonald said the discovery of the boys alive was not too miraculous since persons have been found alive before in similar situations. However, he added: "When Mr. Turner called me,

Report Gets Quick Reply

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government committee's report on oil import controls drew swift and vigorous response from one segment of the oil industry this week.

The report raises the specter, says a spokesman for independent producers, of federal control of the domestic industry.

The report, by an inter-agency committee for President Kennedy, said domestic crude oil prices are "substantially higher than they would be in the absence of import controls."

The report added, however, that "no immediate sharp change in the level of imports can be justified at present."

That was last September when the report was submitted to Kennedy.

Minor Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, promptly wrote to IPAA members, calling the report "more than misleading."

He said it constituted "an open invitation to paralyzing government regulation" that would threaten the liquidation of the competitive oil and gas industry.

The report, hitherto a government secret, became public this week after a House Commerce subcommittee, headed by Rep. Walter Rogers, D-Tex., had asked to see a copy in connection with its consideration of a bill to extend the life of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Noting that the report was signed by assistant secretaries and other officials of similar rank, Jameson said that top government executives should say whether they are for or against federal control of the domestic industry.

In his letter, Jameson said "the implications are clear—federal control."

The Interior Department dissented to findings of the report. Taking note of this, Jameson continued:

"It is not enough encouragement to note the Interior Department's dissents and the fact that the departmental representatives on the petroleum study committee were not the top officials of any of the department."

"The unanimous support of the report on behalf of the Departments of State, Treasury, Defense, Justice, Commerce and Labor is cause of deep concern that existing unsound Federal Power Commission controls over natural gas could be extended to all aspects of both oil and gas production."

The report found that the present system of import controls involves a large cost to consumers "as is apparent from estimates that without the controls the price of crude would be reduced by $1 a barrel."

But, the report added, a sharp decline in the level of prices would create pockets of economic distress and unemployment, and, therefore the price of crude should not be altered rapidly.

The report said it is imperative that domestic petroleum costs be reduced to permit a narrowing of the differences between domestic and foreign prices.

The report was prepared at the President's request by a committee headed by Edward McDermott, director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

NEW GAS WAR Prices Tumble Around City

"It's killing us," one local oil company representative said about the new gas war that has gripped the city and sent prices tumbling.

The independent oil dealers were first to cut prices last week from 28.9 cents to 21.9 cents for regular and from 33.9 to 28.9 cents for Ethyl.

The price reduction started about 10 days ago and spread through the city. Friday, major oil distributors cut their prices to 24.9 cents and matched the price for Ethyl.

The stations were involved in a similar war about three weeks ago.

"The last one was about six weeks long and we thought it was over," another major oil company spokesman said.

Big Spring consumers may enjoy the low prices but the effect to distributors can be serious if it continues for a lengthy time.

One station may lose as much as $200 a month if sales run up to 20,000 gallons. This is on the basis of one cent a gallon loss on each sale. Major distributors can lose as much as $2,000 through its stations.

Some of the dealers spent Saturday morning cruising the city and checking price signs. Although this war can in part be attributed to disagreement between independent companies, there seems little explanation for the price cutting nor any way to predict the length of them, another oil company representative explained.

Project Is World's Deepest Producer

The Pure Oil Co. No. 1 W. C. Tyrrell, Central Pecos County Ellenburger gas discovery, has proven that it can complete as the deepest petroleum producer in the world.

The wildcat has confirmed at least 1,567 feet of water free dry gas pay. That section extends from the top of the Ellenburger at 19,831 feet to 21,398 feet, and possibly deeper. It drilled to total depth of 21,603 feet and set a five-inch liner at that point.

The Cambrian sand zone at 21,461-488 feet was perforated and on a drillstem test no gas, oil or water was developed.

Operator squeezed off those perforations and perforated in the lower Ellenburger at 21,398-308 feet. On a drillstem test it flowed gas naturally at the daily rate of 71,400 cubic feet. The interval was extra tight. It developed no water. The perforations then were washed with 1,000 gallons of mud acid and after the residue had been recovered a gas flow of 167,000 cubic feet per day was gauged.

The project is flowing gas from a series of perforations between 21,208 and 21,298 feet, naturally, on a wire line drillstem test.

Gas surfaced in 90 minutes on a 1/2-inch choke at the daily rate of 5,100,000 cubic feet. The flow decreased to 3,120,000 cubic feet in 15 minutes. The opening was changed to a one-inch and the flow increased to 3,900,000 cubic feet. After one hour on the one-inch choke the gas gauged 3,500,000 cubic feet, with a slight spray of drilling mud.

Then on a half-inch choke, the gas flow registered 1,800,000 cubic feet after 25 minutes, still with the slight mud spray. Testing is continuing.

The perforations are at 21,208-248, 21,254-275 and 21,281-298 feet.

The wildcat is nine miles north of Fort Stockton, 1 1/2 miles northwest of the shallow multipay Fort Stockton field and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 2, block 115, GC&SF survey.

Active Rig Total Down

MIDLAND—The count of active rotary drilling rigs in the Permian Basin showed another decline Friday on the tabulation of Reed roller Bit Co.

On that survey 211 working units were counted in the West Texas-Southeast New Mexico area, a slump of eight from the 219 listed the prior Friday and 28 less than were counted two weeks earlier.

The latest total was four less than the 215 rotary rigs which were active in the two-state region on the same 1962 survey.

The largest decrease came in Southeast New Mexico, where Lea County dipped 18, down from 59 to 41, and Eddy County dropped four, from 15 to 11. However, Lea County held first place in the region.

The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parenthesis, includes:

Andrews 8 (11), Borden 1 (1), Chaves 1 (0), Cochran 0 (1), Crane 3 (7), Crockett 6 (6), Culberson 1 (1), DAWSON 11 (7); Ector 17 (15), Eddy 11 (15), Fisher 2 (0), Gaines 14 (6), GARZA 2 (3), Hockley 3 (1), HOWARD 3 (4), Kent 3 (2); Lea 41 (59), Loving 1 (0), Lubbock 0 (1), Lynn 1 (0), MARTIN 1 (2), Midland 3 (6), MITCHELL 2 (2), Nolan 4 (4); Otero 1 (1), Pecos 15 (15), Reagan 2 (2), Reeves 5 (3), Roosevelt 0 (2), Runtels 4 (2), Schleicher 2 (2), Socorro 1 (0); Scurry 3 (2), STERLING 1 (1), Stonewall 3 (1), Sutton 0 (1), Terrell 3 (3), Terry 1 (1), Upton 1 (2); Ward 12 (8), Winkler 5 (9), Yoakum 13 (10); Total 211 (219).

Church Upholds Freedom Of Expression

DENVER (AP) — The General Synod of the United Church of Christ modified a recommended policy statement saying that United States citizens have a right to advocate "alternative political and economic systems."

As revised, the statement on "the relation of government to freedom and welfare" urges the church's two million members "to work through their governments at all levels...to safeguard the right of freedom of expression as guaranteed in the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, including the right, within constitutional limits, to express opposition or commendation to our government or to advocate peaceful change to alternative political and economic systems without being intimidated or harassed."

As originally presented by the church's Council for Christian Social Action, the provision urged the church members "to work through their governments at all levels...to safeguard the right of freedom of expression as guaranteed in the First Amendment, including the constitutional right to express opposition to our government or to advocate alternative political and economic systems without being intimidated or harassed by legislative or other instrumentalities of government."

The revision was made, at the direction of the synod, by the It was adopted late Wednesday by 700 delegates, by standing vote.

Refuses To Leave Old Home

Arthur F. Hansen, 56, stands near the building that has been his home since 1926, in Los Angeles, as a wrecking crew tears it down to make way for an apartment house. The old house has been sold by a relative of Hansen's who owned it. Hansen, who says he is retired and without money, has been living in the lower floors while upper floors were demolished. Later he was arrested for occupying a house condemned as unsafe.

Weather Benefits Cotton And Insects

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Hot, dry weather the past week helped cotton but increased insect infestations, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, reports.

Recent rains improved range prospects but most areas need more moisture to insure summer and fall grazing. Livestock conditions are generally good, Hutchison said, and few screwworm cases are being reported.

Showers fell over most of South Texas and improved conditions. Yields of most dryland crops were below average. The grain sorghum harvest was ending as cotton picking began.

Moisture in the southeast part of South Central Texas is now adequate to surplus. Other areas of the district got only spotted rain and some counties are still very dry. Rain is urgently needed

Lyndon Takes A Poke At Reactionaries

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson said Saturday night the nation's future demands "men and women who can and will rise above political partisanship and political extremism."

In a speech at a testimonial dinner for Sen. Gale McGee, the vice president criticized those he said "take an unreal, fearful and reactionary view of either the opportunities or the responsibilities of the future."

McGee, seeking re-election next year, has voiced sharp criticism of the conservative John Birch Society's activities in his state. Johnson did not mention the group by name but he said the enemies of freedom "are not always found under the bed or in the closet."

"We need men who will recognize and face up to the obvious needs of our times instead of confining themselves solely to searches through the corners and crevices of suspicion, mistrust and personal hallucination," he said.

Johnson added that "in larger measure America's own destiny cannot and will not be fulfilled if our country is added with political radicalism of either the right or the left."

"If the American West is to prosper, if the American nation and the American cause are all to succeed, we must keep the conduct of our public affairs in the hands of men and women who represent the American tradition of constructiveness, reasonableness and responsibility," he said.

The vice president said McGee is such a man. He described him as "a builder, not a bellyacher."

"Our challenge as a nation—the most pressing challenge upon us domestically in this country—is to shake off the inertia and lethargy of the years of post-war abundance and get back to the fundamental Americanism of conserving and making better use of the basic strengths with which we are so richly endowed."

OWNER DID MOST OF WORK HIMSELF

Nine Yrs. Of Hard Toil Have Gone Into Rink

By PAT WASHBURN

Fairy tales aren't really supposed to come true but for a kindly little man in blue overalls the world is suddenly looking brighter. Brodie Cain is a dreamer who has been gambling and losing all his life but for the first time it looks like fate has turned her face, cracked a smile and decided to be kind. Maybe that's why the Skateland Roller Rink, located near Webb AFB, is finally going to be finished at the end of the summer.

Work began at a leisurely pace that prompted one viewer to say last week, "First one wall went up and then after a long time another wall. After a few years a roof finally started appearing. I can't believe it took so long." Cain did almost all the work in order to save money. "This building cost me all I've got," he said without rancor, and you couldn't help feeling proud of him. "I had some help to do part of the welding but I did most of the rest of it myself. I build as long as I can afford to—then I stop until I can accumulate some more money."

Two Men Hook Same Sailfish Off Matagorda

By The Associated Press

Travis County commissioners are crying "woof," and with good reason. A pack of wolves so bold that they came out in the open and are seen along the roads is killing sheep, goats and calves in the east part of the county. "Cattle and Jim Lockwood was told to hire a trapper."

Arnie Faces Challenge In PGA Play At Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—Arnold Palmer takes another crack next Thursday at the only major golf crown that has eluded him, the National PGA Championship, realizing he must lick an old and familiar handicap. The leading money winner from Latrobe, Pa., flies into Dallas direct from the Royal Lytham and St. Anne's links in England, where for the past week he has been struggling with the tricky winds and sporadic rains of the British Open.

Defending PGA king Gary Player of South Africa—must make the same changeover, as also must such contenders as Bob Charles of New Zealand, Phil Rodgers and Doug Sanders. They also have been playing at St. Anne's. Despite the necessity for his almost overnight re-familiarization with U.S. golfing conditions, Palmer rates a 4-1 favorite in the PGA's 72-hole stroke play tournament, beginning at 7 a.m. EST, Thursday over the DAC Country Club's vast East course.

Pro Football Elevens Launch Early Drills

The Lions think they can tighten their offensive line with Daryl Sanders of Ohio State and Roy Williams of the University of Pacific. Either Floyd Peters, former Cleveland Brown, or reserve Mike Bundra is due to replace Karras. The Chicago Bears, working at Rensselaer, Ind., expect to be in the thick of the race if they can avoid injuries. Rookie receiver Bob Jenks of Miami of Ohio and tackle Steve Barnett of Oregon are the top new men.

Harland Svare, starting his first full year as coach of the Los Angeles Rams, will have his work cut out for him at the Orange, Calif., camp. The big name rookie is quarterback Terry Baker of Oregon State. In the Eastern Conference, once again it will be all out to beat the New York Giants, who have won the division title two years in a row. They open their rookie camp Monday at Fairfield, Conn., with all eyes on the quarterback of the future, Glynn Griffing of Mississippi.

A LONG TIME BUILDING

CAIN PURSUING HOBBY

Liston, Patterson Taper Off Drills

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson start tapering off this week for their championship fight July 22. Half a dozen sparring partners are glad to hear it. Floyd and Sonny turned into wild men last Wednesday and floored their sparmates. Patterson was started by a right uppercut from Richie Norden, who lived to regret it. Floyd took after

Norden and battered him with powerful left hooks until he sagged. Liston didn't seem to need a reason. He aimed a few roundhouse lefts to the midsection of Howard King, former Nevada heavyweight champ. Then Sonny landed a punch to the heart that knocked a loud groan out of King. Attendants helped the sparring partner up 20

Two Fifth-Inning Homers Boost Cards Past Jets

Ford Farris and Tom Wood hit back-to-back home runs in the fifth inning to spur the National League Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the American league Jets in a semi-final game of the Little League City playoffs here Friday night. The contest was unrecited in the Cosden Park before a capacity crowd. The Cardinals thus earned the right to oppose the Braves, another National league team, in Saturday night's final.

Billy Paul Thomas, on the mound for the Merchants, limited Smith's to two hits. Martin Gelling and Spec Franklin collected the blows for the losers. # LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

I take issue with those individuals who have written to the Big Spring school board protesting the proposal to locate a baseball diamond on school property near Boydston Elementary. The critics advance the argument that such a facility would restrict the playground of children attending that school and would enhance the chances of vandals to expand upon the scope of their operations. . . . The school children at Boydston are inclined to play much nearer the school building. . . . The declaimers were muted when the Crippled Children's Center was located there. . . . That area of town could become a beauty spot with the addition, where now much of it is an eyesore, dusty and useless—and most uncomplimentary to the city as a whole. . . . The schools rarely are presented with an opportunity such as this, to co-operate with the city in providing more recreational spots for its citizens. . . . And there is no reason why the elementary school children couldn't make use of the diamond, once it was built. . . . The residents of this community owe it to the schools to provide the revenue with which the best in facilities can be built. . . . By the same token, the school administrators should feel they owe it to their patrons to co-operate where possible in helping promote and maintain such facilities. . . . I have no reason to think they believe otherwise. . . . If this were a venture that would put a serious dent in the school's budget, there might be good reasons to talk against such facilities but the cost, as I understand it, would be nominal. . . . The time to act on such a plan is now and not three or four years down the road, when the methods for doing such things may become even more complicated. The last time I looked, the vandals hadn't destroyed the football stadium or the high school gymnasium.

Two Football Stars Working Here

Mike Love, the Odessa Permian back who was named the state's outstanding football player last year, and Howard Van Loon, the Rotan star athlete, are both working on the overpasses that will help route highway traffic around Big Spring. . . . Both are living in Coahoma at the present time. . . . Love is bound for ACC this fall. . . . Van Loon, who performed at tackle last year on the state championship Yellowhammer team, has another year of high school eligibility left. . . . He'll be transferred to the Rotan backfield. . . . Howard, also a weight star in track, has already been placed on the Texas Coaches magazine's super all-state team for the 1963 season — one of two Class A boys so honored. . . . The two boys have been working out together. . . . Love is in a position to orient Van Loon in the ways of a football back. . . . Van Loon is a good instructor in weight programs. . . . Van Loon, incidentally, distinguished himself in a playoff game against Big Lake here last fall. . . . The Haggin Oaks golf course in Sacramento, Calif., where Big Spring's Jimmy Patterson and others played in the 1963 National Public Links tournament, was closed for four weeks prior to the meet in order that it would be in the toughest and best shape possible. . . . Ex-Big Springer Billy Maxwell is one of 18 golfers who have become automatic qualifiers for the 1964 National Open Golf tournament. . . . Maxwell's tie for fifth place in this year's Open earned him the privilege. . . . Lon Slaughter, who went from San Angelo to make good on the SMU football team, is now ranching in the Fort Stockton area. . . . Another San Angelo great who matriculated at TCU, Marvin Laster, recently was named head coach at Alvarado High School near Fort Worth. . . . A total of $1,064,821 was wagered at Ruidoso Downs over the four-day Independence Day weekend, above last year's figure for the corresponding period.

Steers To Be Outfitted In Jackets

Big Spring's Curtis Kelley was asked by Herschel (Red) Ramsey to help coach one of the Greenbelt Bowl football games at Childress next month. . . . Kelley, still employed by the schools here, has been out of coaching for three years. . . . At one time, he coached at Lockney. . . . District 2-AAAA will be represented on this year's University of Texas football team by three players, San Angelo's Tommy Ford and Knox Nunnally and Mike King, both of Midland High. . . . Ford will be a senior, and King a sophomore. . . . Estimated football receipts at school-boy football games involving local teams this fall (Big Spring's share, that is) amount to $34,050. . . . Incidentally, the varsity Steers will be outfitted smartly in jackets on road trips this fall. . . . The school is purchasing 45 of the coats for use of Steer athletes. . . . It's estimated by the school trustees that officials for A&B football games here will cost $1,500. . . . Alton Joe Fields, 6-foot-1, 198-pound son of the former Stanton football coach, Leo Fields, will appear in the Texas High School Coaches association all-star football game in Houston the night of Aug. 9. . . . Young Fields was the fastest lineman Kress High School had last fall and was named the best blocker on the team's primary. . . . A starter for three seasons, he was a unanimous all district selection on both defense and offense. . . . In basketball, Alton Joe averaged 11.2 points a game. . . . When Don Robbins, the local high school coach, appeared in an all-star game in Fort Worth a dozen years ago, the temperature down on the starting field at the kickoff was 105 degrees. . . . Eddie Don Harris, the new Big Spring Country Club golf champion, will serve as local captain for this year's Couden Cup matches, which are held in conjunction with the annual Big Spring Invitational tournament starting the latter part of next month.

Sweetwater Tennis Tourney Begins

SWEETWATER — The three-day Sweetwater Open Highway 80 Tennis Tournament begins Monday, with about 250 players expected from Midland, Odessa, Andrews, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, and Sweetwater. . . . The contestants will be vying for 60 trophies and any player may enter as many as three events. . . . A swimming and watermelon party will be given for all the players Monday night.

Law Handcuffs Colts, 3 To 0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Backed by a pair of home runs by Donn Clendenen, Vern Law went the distance for the first time this season as the Pittsburgh Pirates shut out the Houston Colts 3-0 Saturday.

Law, hampered by a series of injuries since he led the Pirates into the 1960 World Series, scattered six singles, struck out two and walked just one man to pick up his fourth victory against three losses.

He was in difficulty only in the fifth when the Colts put two men on with one out. But Law forced the next two men to fly out.

Both of Clendenen's homers cleared the left field wall and both came with the bases empty — first in the second inning and then again in the eighth. They were his 10th and 11th of the year.

Actually, the Pirates scored the only run they needed in the first when losing pitcher Dick Drott, 2-7, walked leadoff batter Dick Schofield. Schofield stole second, went to third on catcher Jim Campbell's wild throw to second and scored on Bob Clemente's bloop single to right.

Willie Mays drove in all three Giant runs with a forceout in the fifth and a two-run homer, his 17th, in the seventh. However, Ryne Duren, who pitched the first seven innings, and Jack Baldwin, who pitched the last three, were too tough in the pinches for the Giants.

Dark was thrown out in the third inning for protesting tight pitching by Duren. Willie McCovey had been hit by a pitch and Mays had hit the dirt to avoid a Duren fast ball.

Maus was given the heave in the fourth when umpire Augie Donatelli cautioned Duren about his possible finger-wetting style. The incident happened with two Giants on base and two out. Both were left.

Pilots Ousted In Philly Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Both managers, Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants and Gene Mauch of the Phillies, were thrown out of the game Saturday as the Phillies whipped the Giants 4-3 sparked by Roy Sievers' two home runs.

Willie Mays drove in all three Giant runs with a forceout in the fifth and a two-run homer, his 17th, in the seventh. However, Ryne Duren, who pitched the first seven innings, and Jack Baldwin, who pitched the last three, were too tough in the pinches for the Giants.

OPENING TOMORROW in our new home!

4th & Main / Big Spring

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

10:30

We always
HAVE TIME FOR YOU

At 10:00 o'clock tomorrow morning . . . the doors of our beautiful new bank building will open for our friends and customers.

We feel this will be the beginning of a new era of even greater convenience for those who help themselves to service at the First National Bank.

We're all proud of our building's distinctive appearance . . . both inside and out. Only one thing in our new bank will remain unchanged: you'll still find the same friendly attitude and the same helpful people each time you visit with us.

Although the date of our Formal Opening will be announced later . . . a brief ribbon-cutting ceremony will precede regular banking hours tomorrow . . . with all of our friends most welcome to attend.

FORMAL OPENING WILL BE ANNOUNCED

FROM WITHIN THE GARDEN WALLS can be seen one of the older buildings on the Big Spring State Hospital grounds. Mrs. J. T. Anderson, Mrs. D. S. Riley and Mrs. George Peacock above, are in the process of digging and planting. At left, they are pictured in another area giving assistance to Mrs. Clyde Angel who is setting out the plants for ground cover.

BEAUTY CREATED

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

A placid pool and garden centers the new Alred Building at the Big Spring State Hospital. Protected from the elements, this central area suggests the tranquil beauty of the romantic old-world courtyards which were so comforting to those who sought their solitude.

For some time now members of the Garden Club Council have solicited plants from the local gardeners in preparation for landscaping the garden spot. With their collection of vinca, ivy, caladium, water lilies, shrubs and various other plants, they went in force this week to beautify the area within the glass enclosure of the building.

Armed with spades, garden forks and plenty of determination, their aim was to provide the therapeutic beauty so beneficial to the patients. The area will be maintained by the hospital, however the Council will continue to provide the necessary plants in carrying out its year's project.

Mrs. Anderson, the project chairman, is a member of the Rosebud Garden Club; Mrs. Angel, Mrs. Riley and Mrs. Peacock, members of Big Spring Garden Club; Mrs. Hogan, president of the Big Spring Club and representative to the Council.

Others participating in the work-day were Mrs. Bob Carlile, Council president and a member of Spaders Garden Club, Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, president of Planters Club, and Mrs. F. D. Williams, also a Spaders Club member.

PLANS FOR PLANTING are explained by Mrs. Hila Weathers, volunteer service director at the hospital, to Mrs.

W. J. Currie, who is interested in the project. Mrs. Riley, ready to begin work, also comments on the plans.

PROJECT CHAIRMAN, Mrs. Anderson, arranges the water lily pads to shade the hovering gold fish from the slanted rays of sunshine. The lilies and other plants were contributed by local gardeners. Guppies and two horned toads also make their home in and around the pool.

AN OBSERVER, Dr. J. H. Burnett shows interest in the efforts of Mrs. J. E. Hogan who has a small shrub ready for resetting. Dr. Burnett is chairman of the Volunteer Council serving the state hospital. Money for shrubs and a garden bench was provided by the Garden Club Council.

MRS. DELTON GARNETT

Garnett-Womack Rites Held Saturday Evening

Miss Diane Womack became the bride of Delton Garnett in a double ring ceremony performed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Highway 80 Church of Christ, W. T. Garnett, Church of Christ minister in Odessa and uncle of the bridegroom, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Womack, 608 Aylford. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Garnett, 5017 16th St., Lubbock.

Centering the altar was a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli, stock and chrysanthemums, flanked by seven-branched candelabra forming an arch of cathedral tapers. Emerald fern trees completed the decorations.

Nuptial music was provided by Miss Suzanne Compton, singing "Because and 'I Love You Truly.'" The wedding march was heard in a recorded vocal arrangement.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza over satin. The basque bodice was styled with a Sabrina neckline of embroidered Alencon lace, detailed with seed pearls and sequins. A deep V-back closed with tiny covered buttons and was accented with a double bow.

The bouffant skirt, having a carriage-back, flared into a sweeping train. Pearls and sequins enhanced the crown which secured her veil of silk illusion.

A bridal bouquet of white frenched carnations showered in tulle and picot satin, was carried atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS
The bride's maid of honor was her sister, Miss Jane Womack. Bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Beverly Womack, and Miss Barbara Garnett of Lubbock, sister of the bridegroom. They wore street length dresses of pastel blue satin, identically styled with fitted bodices and belted skirts. Their veiled headresses were hilos of matching satin trimmed with seed pearls and their short gloves were white. Each carried a nosegay tied with satin streamers.

The dress of Miss Joy Stevens, flower girl, matched those of the bridesmaids. Karl Garnett, Lubbock, the bridegroom's brother, served as ring bearer.

Best man was James Allen Hundley, Lubbock, cousin of the bridegroom. Groomsman were Roger Dickson, Lubbock, and Lynn Worthan.

The ushers, who also lighted altar tapers, were Glenn Garnett, Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, and Brent Womack, cousin of the bride.

RECEPTION
A reception was held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony. Joining the couple in the receiving line were their parents and attendants.

Blue ribbons and rosettes trimmed the white satin and net full-skirted-veil covering the refreshment table. The centerpiece was formed of blue and white carnations and white candles in a stemmed milk glass compote. Presiding at the table were Miss Vonille Barnhill, Hobbs, N. M., and Miss Sherry Stevens. The all-white, tiered wedding cake was topped with white and silver wedding bells.

Guests were registered by Mrs. C. D. Worthan. Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Womack, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. John Watts, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Womack, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Burns, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Barnhill, Hobbs, N. M.; and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Echols, Memphis, Tenn.

WEDDING TRIP
For the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a traveling costume of linen, with royal blue skirt and white jacket, worn with matching accessories. Her corsage was from her bridal bouquet. Following the trip, the couple will reside in Lubbock.

A graduate of Big Spring High School, the bride has been employed with Cosden.

The bridegroom was graduated from Monterey High School, Lubbock, and attended Lubbock Christian College. He is employed by Billy Meeks and Co. in Lubbock and plans to enter Texas Tech in the fall.

Re-Runs Of Re-Runs Break The TV Habit

By NANCY FRANCO
Dinner dishes done, the children in bed and the man of the house retired to his desk to study for tomorrow's classes, you relax in your favorite chair to watch some TV and what do you get? Re-runs of last year's re-runs! Why not break the TV habit this summer and use leisure time to read that book the neighbor recommended?

Ever since the invention of that wooden box with the glass front, people have neglected one of their most precious freedoms—the freedom to read any book of their choosing.

A whole world of excitement awaits you at the library. There is a book to fit every mood, whether it be adventuresome or contemplative. It makes no difference whether the book is fiction or non-fiction; both types serve to enrich your lives. How many times have you felt "out of it" when someone mentions a literary classic that you just never got around to reading?

Take advantage of husband's study time and spend an hour with a good book. You'll be glad you did. You might even save some money on your next electric bill by leaving the one-eyed monster standing silently in the corner.

PATIO PARTY
Thursday afternoon, the patio of the Officers' Club was crowded with over 100 bathing-clad females. The occasion was the Student Squadron meeting given by Class 64-F wives. During the meeting, the gals enjoyed tea, sandwiches and white candles in a stemmed milk glass compote. Presiding at the table were Miss Vonille Barnhill, Hobbs, N. M., and Miss Sherry Stevens. The all-white, tiered wedding cake was topped with white and silver wedding bells.

Guests were registered by Mrs. C. D. Worthan. Attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Womack, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. John Watts, Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Womack, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Burns, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Barnhill, Hobbs, N. M.; and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Echols, Memphis, Tenn.

COMING TO HERALD

'Hints From Heloise' A Press Phenomenon

Pert, vivacious, and blessed with an unlimited curiosity combined with a dash of intrepidity is Heloise, a slim five-foot-two blue-eyed natural force from Texas whose aim in life is to free the housewife from drudgery. She seems to be doing it, too, for her column, "Hints From Heloise," has become a phenomenon of the newspaper field. Beginning Monday it will appear daily in the Big Spring Herald.

The Honolulu Advertiser, the paper that gave her a start, credits her with one of the main reasons that its circulation jumped from about 46,000 to 71,000 in less than three years. Even now that she has left Honolulu for the nation's capital, her popularity hasn't diminished in the islands.

SYNDICATE
Shortly after King Features Syndicate began distributing her household hints feature, she offered her readers a small, free leaflet on how to wash clothes whiter, if they'd send a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Result: Over 100,000 letters in five days—"The largest single delivery of mail in Hawaii's history," according to Honolulu Postmaster George Hara. Eventually, more than 250,000 requests for the leaflet arrived.

This is amazing enough, but not only is writing the column her first newspaper job; it isn't too many years ago that she did not know how to make a bed, she didn't even know which end of the broom to use.

"I never did learn housekeeping or cooking when I was living with the family in Fort Worth, Texas, where I was born," she confided in her breathless, non-stop manner, "and it was only after I married a young lieutenant at the nearby air base that I found out there was a lot more to it than hiring a maid—which we couldn't afford on his pay."

The young lieutenant was Marshall Cruse, now Lt. Col. Cruse, assigned to personnel work in the Pentagon. They met on a blind date in 1939 and were married at a big church wedding the following January 15. He's a Texan, too. They have two children, Louise, who was born in 1942 and now attends the University of Hawaii, and a daughter, Ponce (pronounced Poncie), who was born in 1951.

Though Heloise has both a son and a daughter, this is partially against tradition, for twins, as well as out-of-the-ordinary names run in her family. Heloise has an identical twin, Louise, pronounced plain Louise. Their mother, Amelia, has a twin, Ophelia. Twin cousins are named Earl and Pearl and Elbert and Albert.

EARN'S DIPLOMAS
The marriage lock in 1939 was the beginning of her education and the final diploma was earned in such places as Nanking and Shanghai, as well as in Japan and Washington, D.C.

When her friends call her a colorful person, they mean that literally, for she uses a hair spray to change the color of her hair every day and sometimes more.

She was just as unorthodox in her approach to writing a column. She had never written for a newspaper before early 1959 when she walked into the Advertiser, armed with faith in herself and a good idea. She got the job on a 30-day trial basis, even though she didn't know how to type.

The publisher thought that a copy-turn about tested household work methods just might be popular. He sent her home to return in a week with some samples. She had no trouble writing them; just looked around her own home to recall some of the short cuts she had learned. "Before the end of her trial period, the paper signed her to a three-year contract as the mail from the enthusiastic readers mounted.

She seems inexhaustible. She not only makes all her daughter's clothes and most of her own, she used to make her husband's and son's pajamas and shirts until she found that by closely following the ads she could get them on sale cheaper. This gives her time enough to make all the curtains, slipcovers and bedspreads in her home.

PROUD COOK

Her special pride is her cooking ability. She claims that she can cook one of the world's best dinners with her recipe that uses the cheapest cuts of beef—chuck and brisket. The use of tea and coffee for flavor are part of the secret.

As if this weren't enough, she has two hobbies: painting and playing the electric organ. She finds painting a fine emotional release but says she isn't good at it. She bought the organ without knowing how to play, took one 30-minute lesson and now plays as much as possible.

"I start the day at 5:30 a.m.," she says, "by drinking tea and reading the papers and after the family leaves around seven, I clean the kitchen, make the beds, pick up and am usually at my typewriter by 10."

A master bedroom in the Cruse's modest Arlington, Virginia, apartment is Heloise's office. There, her permanent staff of five housewives (expandable to as many as 15 when the mail runs especially heavy) sort and file the average 5,000 letters per week, type correspondence and generally have a good time doing whatever there is to be done.

Though normally the least secretive of women (she freely admits that she's over 40, having been born May 4, 1919), she says she's almost embarrassed to admit one thing: the column keeps her from doing all her housework and now she has a part-time maid three times a week.

Family Has Visit In Eastland

COAHOMA (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hinsley and daughter, Debbie, visited with Mrs. Hinsley's long-time friend, Mrs. Gerald Boyle, this past weekend at Eastland.

Mrs. Wendell Shive and daughter, Suzanne, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Shive, left Wednesday for Lufkin where Mrs. Shive and Suzanne will visit her mother, Mrs. W. E. Hall.

Mike Logsdon is in Room 112 of the Howard County Hospital Foundation.

The Paul Mosleys are spending the week in Cisco visiting with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lenderman have returned from Amarillo where they visited with her aunt and with her grandmother.

Coffee Held At Ernstring Residence

Mrs. Tolford Durham was honored with a farewell coffee Friday afternoon from 1 until 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. H. C. Ernstring on the VA Hospital grounds.

Mrs. Durham, whose husband is the former chief of social work service at the hospital, is leaving for Phoenix, Ariz. on July 17. Durham will take the same position at the VA hospital there.

An amber glass centerpiece adorned the table from which Mrs. Norman Furlong and Mrs. Paul Kionka served the 24 guests.

MRS JACK B. WILSON JR.

Mrs. Jack B. Wilson Jr. Is Former Miss Black

Miss Jean Anne Black and Jack B. Wilson Jr. exchanged vows Saturday in the First Christian Church with the bride's father, the Rev. John C. Black Jr., officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Black, 1505 Eleventh Place, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Wilson, 1710 Main.

The ceremony was read before an altar centered with white wrought iron arcs entwined with huckleberry and bordered by a pyramid of candles. Tall candelabra holding cathedral tapers and fern trees formed the background that was accented by altar vases filled with white gladioli and large white chrysanthemums. White satin marked the approach to the altar where the couple knelt on a white prie-dieu for the wedding prayer.

Traditional nuptial music was given by Mrs. Bob Simpson, organist, as she accompanied Miss Denise Neal, cousin of the bride. The selections were "Because" and the "Wedding Prayer."

BRIDE'S GOWN

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, J. T. Neal. She was attired in a white peau de soie gown designed with a rounded neckline and short sleeves. Medallions of lace detailed the bodice, the skirt and repeated again in the train. Her white silk veil of illusion was secured by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid showered with frenched carnations and white picot streamers.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Kenneth Griffin was the bride's matron of honor. She is the sister of the bridegroom. Bridesmaids were Miss Denise Neal, Ada, Okla., and Miss Judy Jones. Mrs. George Ryan, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmatron.

The attendants were attired identically in maize taffeta sheaths covered with yellow silk organza. They were styled with round necklines and a yellow rose at the back waistline. Small face veils and yellow roses were their headpieces. They carried white pompon nosegays showered with matching satin streamers.

The bridegroom's father, Jack B. Wilson, was best man. Groomsman were Eddie Everett, Dexter Pate and Butch Vaughn. Ushers included Billy Rasberry, Ackery, George Ryan and Bobby Leath-erwood.

Cindy Burgess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burgess, was flower girl. Others were Ricky Neal and Dennis Young, candle lighters and Billy Neal, ring bearer. All are cousins of the bride.

RECEPTION

Guests were received in Fellowship Hall by the parents and the couple.

A table, covered with a floor length cloth of white silk organza over satin, was centered with a nine branched silver candelabra entwined with white camellias and tied with tulle and satin picot. Her triple tiered cake was topped with white wedding bells.

Registering guests was Mrs. Terry Johnson. Serving at the table were Miss Kenny Kay Stevens and Miss Phoebe Rice. Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Ross Young, Mrs. J. T. Neal and Mrs. Doll Neal, all aunts of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Fort Worth and Dallas, Mrs. Wilson chose black and white textured cotton sheath and white patent accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

She is a graduate of Big Spring High School and freshman at Howard County Junior College. Wilson is a graduate of Big Spring High School and a sophomore at North Texas State University where he is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. This summer he is employed at the Big Spring State Hospital and attending the summer term at H.C.J.C.

Bible Had Its Juvenile Problems

Juvenile delinquency was a problem even in times of the Bible, according to a new book, "Family Living in the Bible," by Edith Deen, nationally known Texas writer and lecturer. Mrs. Deen is the wife of Edgar Deen, former mayor of Fort Worth.

For more than 25 years, Mrs. Deen was women's editor and daily columnist for the Fort Worth Press, resigning to write books and lectures. Other popular books by her include, "All of the Women of the Bible" and "Great Women of the Christian Faith." She is a member of the Board of Regents of Texas Woman's University.

In discussing her new book, published in March, Mrs. Deen said, "I believe that the Bible contains clues to solutions of the problems that beset us, even though today's families do face bewildering sociological changes and complex problems unknown in ancient times. In no other families in ancient times, in no other families in ancient times, was there such solidarity as was found in the early families of Israel."

Finned Friends

Tropical fish are only a few of the many pets moved from town to town by the Raymond W. Worsham family. Here the Worshams watch their son, Ray, supply the daily nourishment for their finned friends.

From Town To Town With Pots, Pans, Pets

By JOHNNIE LU RABORN
Moving numerous pets, household articles, a collection of china dogs, one son and two adults from town to town is difficult. Moving these things 28 times is nearly impossible.

Twenty-eight times in 30 years the Worsham family has moved, living in five different states. Raymond W. Worsham, his wife and son Ray have been in Big Spring one month.

"We never know when we will move," said Mrs. Worsham. They might call this afternoon and we would be gone again." The phone rang, and Worsham was off again to the Gulf Liquid Petroleum Gas station for a work day that sometimes stretches into 15 hours.

Worsham has been with Gulf Oil Co. for 30 years and is presently chief engineer of the check station pipes running through Big Spring.

Coming from Abilene, the family believes that Big Spring people are much friendlier. During the move, the family dog removed some of the difficulties in transporting the pets.

"We stopped to eat breakfast," 13-year-old Ray said. "Our dog, Tippy, wanted breakfast too, so he ate Tweety, our bird."

Ray will be an eighth grader in Goliad Junior High and counts this move his sixth. His 30 guppies and 10 tropical fish take much of his hobby time. The clarinet is his musical interest and he wants to join the band in the fall.

"I used to have skating as my hobby," Ray said. "My girl friend's father owned a skating rink and when they sold it, I lost interest in skating."

MISSOURI HOME
In their moves, the longest stay was in Missouri. They lived 28 miles from town and Ray attended a one-room school with eight grades and one teacher.

"We wouldn't give anything for our time there," Mrs. Worsham said. Their popularity in this area was increased when they purchased the only television set in the community.

When Friday night flights came on, the TV was moved out on the front porch, chairs were set up in the yard and the neighbors came to watch. "They even brought pop corn and Mom would pop it for them," Ray explained. The problem came in the winter when the living room was full of people and there was barely room for the family.

In less busy days, Worsham took up camping and fishing as a hobby. Painting was a sideline pleasure and once he took his paint sprayer and painted the country Baptist church. Since he wouldn't take money, the congregation presented him with a gold clock in appreciation.

IT ALL BEGAN
The Worshams met in the east Texas town of Saltillo, where Mrs. Worsham had just graduated from high school. Worsham, a native of Dubberly, La., was working for Gulf and married Mrs. Worsham there. The travels started then, but it was 17 years later that their only son, Ray, was born.

From Texas to Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and back to Texas, Mrs. Worsham says she has learned about moving. "You learn to pick out the house advertisements that are just too good to be true," she said. They had no trouble in finding a house in Big Spring.

Although members of the Baptist church, Worsham's long hours and Sunday assignments have made it impossible for them to affiliate here.

After retirement, Worsham plans to raise cattle and settle in one place.

Grooming Eyebrows Is An Art

Although the shaping and caring of eyebrows can be one of the more difficult grooming skills to acquire, once this is mastered it will result in new facial beauty for any woman. To acquire this skill, eyebrows should fit the face that wears them, so for the best guide, follow your natural brow line and then improve upon this basic shape.

If your eyebrows grow wild, by all means control them with tweezers but, for beauty's sake, keep the arch high by plucking from below. Be sure you are taking only stray hairs, and don't forget the area between the brows. The natural place for eyebrows to start is directly in line with the inside corners of the eyes. Before penciling, be sure the entire brow is clean and free from make-up.

A sure way to remove any particles is with an eyebrow brush or a clean mascara brush. Now, shape and supplement the natural line of your brows with an eye pencil using short hair-like strokes in a color that complements your hair and skin coloring. For best results, emphasize the arch of your brows, and if needed, extend the line slightly.

Carmacks On Trip

The H. G. Carmacks accompanied their son, Howard, and his family on their return trip to California. Driving their own car, the Carmacks plan to be gone a month.

'ROUND TOWN

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

Invariably so, the stranger's reaction to local color is associated with current Westerns. Either the perils of Wagon Train or the movie massacres are brought to mind at sight of the vast, mesquite-covered country which lies this side of Abilene.

Thus, the West Texan has much to live up to when providing atmosphere expected by the tourists. He should try to stand high in his boots even if he doesn't ride tall in a saddle; talk low, slow, little and big; and do a lot of hand shakin' — not gun totin'.

A couple of Easterners, namely MISS JEAN KAISER and NORMAN HINKEBEIN of Louisville, Ky., wandered into town this week and headed straight for the military post. Besides their longin' to see West Texas, they were lookin' for his cousin, MRS. CHARLES HEAD, whose husband is a colonel on the base. Reaching the fortified ramparts of Webb, they found her right away at the Headquarters on Albrook. They've been hand-shakin' and partakin' of hospitality ever since at the Officers Club, the country clubs and homes.

Just a little rural flavor was added by visiting one of the ranch spreads, driving over cattle trails through range country. Midst native cedar and mesquite, they plucked the unripened cactus fruit, listened to the whispering whistle of the wind at the foot of Signal Mountain and marveled at the color of the sun-drenched mesa in the distance.

In a day or so the Kentuckians' visit will be ended and they will be headed back home. There, the folks will probably hear "There's nothing in West Texas but you sure can see it," for to tell them otherwise would be disillusioning and contradictory to the shoot-'em ups.

A trip to Mexico is planned by the MR. and MRS. DAKIN WILLIAMS when he joins his wife and daughters at the home of her mother, MRS. L. W. CROFT, 1510 Douglass. The Williamses hail from St. Louis, Mo.

CHARLEY AND GINA SWIFT, accompanied by their mother, MRS. ED SWIFT, are leaving this week for their summer camp sessions at Durango, Colo. Gina will go to Camp Silver Saddles and Charley to Silver Spruce. Their mother will return home to leave again for the Swifts' cottage. She will go back to Durango for the camp ceremonies on Aug. 18.

MRS. ALBERT SMITH went to Sweetwater to attend a reception Wednesday evening for her cousin, MRS. HARVEY CLIFTON MOFFETT, the former Judi Davis, whose wedding was on Friday in the First Presbyterian Chapel, Amarillo. The Rev. Charley Harnest officiated. The bride's parents, MR. and MRS. WILLIS WRIGHT DAVIS, Sweetwater, were hosts for the reception attended by some 600 guests at the Sweetwater Country Club. The couple has gone to Austin to continue studies. They are to graduate in January.

MRS. FRANK GASKIN of Elgin left Saturday for Greenville where she will make her home with her nephew and his wife, MR. and MRS. GEORGE C. BETTS. She has been visiting here since May with her niece.

Swivel Chairs Take New Idea

Swivel chairs are prominent in the decorative schemes among modern homemakers.

The swivel idea is currently going in two directions. One is a "rock or swivel" mechanism that furniture manufacturers are now using on platform rockers for a smooth, well-balanced rocking action and full circle turning as well. The other is the "swivel with a memory" which has limited turning action. It always remembers to come back to its original position no matter how hastily or carelessly the occupant left the chair.

Rites Are Solemnized In Vealmoor Church

Vealmoor Baptist Church was the setting for an exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Kay McBride and Lonnie Taylor. The marriage was solemnized Friday evening at 6 o'clock in a double ring service performed by the Rev. M. M. Crawford. Feathered mums and gladioli centered the altar and were flanked by fern and gladioli in smaller arrangements. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Porter Hanks, pianist, who accompanied Miss Dixie Todd as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis McBride, Vealmoor, and Taylor's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Ackerly.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a day dress of white polished cotton and lace. The lace bodice was designed with sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. The dress was belted with bow and streamers of polished cotton. The bridal bouquet, formed of feathered mums with detachable corsage of white carnations, was carried with a white Bible.

Miss Marie Graham of Ackerly, a cousin of the bridegroom, wore a pink, polished cotton sheath and carried a bouquet of white mums and carnations. Larry Taylor, the bridegroom's cousin, was best man.

RECEPTION

The honored couple, the parents and members of the wedding party received guests in Fellowship Hall immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Corky Kruse, sister of the bride, was in charge of the register.

The refreshment table featured a floor length, white taffeta cloth which was overlaid with nylon tulle detailed with eyelet beading, pink satin ribbon and bows. A pyramid of tiny tulle ruffles, interspersed with nosegays of pink rosebuds, was the centerpiece which was topped with figurines of a bridal couple. Tapestry ribbons, bearing the names of the bridal pair lettered in gold, extended from the centerpiece to the crystal candle holders and pink tapers. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Miss Dixie Todd served the three tiered wedding cake which was white and embossed with clusters of pink confection roses. Frosted pink punch was served by Mrs. Eric Looney, sister of the bridegroom.

Out of town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Looney and children of Dublin; Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Clanton, Abilene; Mrs. Charles Siler, Tucson, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Crawford, their children, Melvin, Aaron and Obie,

MRS. LONNIE TAYLOR

and Mr. and Mrs. Corky Kruse and children, Jan, Perry and Sheila, all of Ira.

WEDDING TRIP

After a wedding trip to points in Central and South Texas, the couple will reside in Vealmoor where he is engaged in farming. For travel the bride chose a pale blue brocade cotton sheath, white patent accessories and the corsage from her bouquet.

She is a 1963 graduate of Sands High School. Taylor is a 1962 graduate of SHS.

Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dillard, R Bar Community, will receive guests at their home July 21, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

Couple Recalls Courting Year

Hymn singings and church socials were attended by Pearl Gilbreath and Bernard Dillard during their courtship in the year of 1912-13. Their families had farms about 15 miles apart, but the two didn't live close enough to attend the same school. Therefore they didn't meet until one year before their marriage on July 22, 1913. Their acquaintance began at the Sessions Baptist Church in Navarro County.

"The folks didn't want us to get married, so we just ran off to Brother Solen Gibson's about 10 o'clock one Tuesday night, and he performed the ceremony by lantern light while we sat in the buggy," Dillard related. "Brother Gibson's wife and his daughter and son came out to watch the ceremony."

The Dillards continued to live in Navarro County until they moved to Big Spring in 1928. He farmed in the Knott Community until 1943, when they moved eight miles northeast of town to the R Bar Community.

Because of ill health, Dillard retired two years ago from a civil service position and his farming.

"Now, we're just having a good time fishing at our place on Colorado City Lake and taking trips into Dallas. We even went to see Six Flags Over Texas awhile back," Dillard continued.

The golden anniversary date will be observed with open house the afternoon of July 21 at their home, Route 1, R Bar Community. Hours will be from 2 until 5 o'clock and friends are invited.

The couple's children are Mrs. Don Meade of Dallas, Mrs. T. D. Peacock, Big Spring, R. E. Dillard, Fayetteville, N. C. There are 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Meade and Mrs. Peacock, with their families, will be present for the celebration and will be in charge of the event.

Love Seats Are Lovely In '63

Love seats have returned to the forefront of furniture fashions in the 1963 fall showings of major lines. They appear in every style from avant garde modern to tufted Victorian and often are sold as the companion piece to a matching sofa. The majority are upholstered in latex foam which is sometimes wrapped in down or dacron for a high crowned pouffy profile.

SUMMER EVENTS

Styles Shown To HD Women

Suppers, a style show and projects highlighted the Home Demonstration clubs' programs for the week in conjunction with the regular order of business.

KNOTT
Six members of the Knott HD Club met in the home of Mrs. Bill Williams Tuesday afternoon. The devotion was given by the hostess.

A salad luncheon was planned for July 23 in the Downtown Tea Room.

The program was a fashion show given by members who had purchased dresses and accessories, sight unseen, from each other as a fund raising project. Refreshments were served from a table covered with light green linen cloth, centered with a cut-glass punchbowl.

CENTER POINT
Mrs. Roy Shafer read the devotion and worded the opening prayer when six members of the Center Point Club met at her home this week.

The program, "Accessories Around the Clock," was presented by Mrs. Bill Eggleston.

During the business session, each member was given salt and pepper to sell for the fund raising project of the club. Proceeds will be divided between the club and the HC Council.

Members voted to change the regular meeting date to the second and fourth Tuesdays at 2:30 p.m.

Each member brought an old dress and sold it to another member. The sale will be continued July 23 when old purses will be brought to the meeting.

Mrs. Ernest Lillard got the piece of cake with a dime in it and will furnish cake for the next meeting, which will be in the home of Mrs. Don Crittenden.

WASSON ROAD
An ice cream supper for members and their families was held at the Wasson Road HD clubhouse when 30 attended. The affair was a compliment to the club mother, Mrs. Nancy Grant, who was presented a gift.

Another supper is planned in Welch, the date to be announced.

LUTHER HD CLUB

Mrs. Lodge 'Happy' Going To Viet Nam

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am extremely excited about going to Viet Nam," says the new ambassador's wife, Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge. "I am looking forward to it more than I can say."

Now that's the sort of comment you'd expect from a diplomat's wife. It's enthusiastic, gracious, with just the right touch of lady-like gung ho. But with Emily Lodge you can be sure she means it. She wouldn't have said it otherwise.

"It's a fascinating part of the world," she continues the telephone interview, the edge of restrained excitement still in her voice. "Cabot and I were there—let's see—when George was a year old. That was 34 years ago. I remember it as a very beautiful country."

She concedes they'll be walking into a touchy situation, what with a war going on there against Communist-led guerrillas.

"It's a challenge," she agrees cheerfully, "and that's what makes it interesting. I'm forced out of my supine position. I don't move, you know—she gives a self-deprecatory laugh—unless someone pushes me. Honestly, though, I'm terribly excited about going."

What do her two sons, George and Henry, and 10 grandchildren think?

"I imagine they wish they were going too," she says with a chuckle.

She hasn't thought about what clothes to take—"just cool ones."

No one will worry, though, when she does make her wardrobe selection. Mrs. Lodge is known for her unerring taste in suiting the costume to the situation.

Putting people at ease is second nature for Mrs. Lodge, a brown-eyed, brown-haired woman in her mid-50s.

While her husband was a U.S. senator 19 years and ambassador to the United Nations seven years, she was a charming hostess, combining dignity with refreshing candor. But she liked to keep out of the limelight.

In 1960 when she traveled with her husband in his campaign for the Republican vice presidency, she described her contribution as "I just pick up things we forget to pack, see that Cabot's fed, that sort of thing."

She once told a reporter that the longest speech she could remember making was to stand before a women's club and say "I'm very sorry Senator Lodge could not be with you today."

Since the campaign, she says, "I've just been enjoying myself." She has spent most of the time at their 14-room French provincial home in Beverly, Mass., which looks over the Atlantic Ocean.

Beverly has always been her home. She was born into a prominent Beverly family and met her husband at a debutante party. Their wedding in 1926 was the social event of the season.

Dresses Take To The Hooded Mode

Designers are eliminating the need for further topping with hooded sweaters, hooded dresses, and hooded coats. Often the hoods of sweaters worn under suits or jerseys folds back into a turtle neck effect.

Bonnie Cashin carries the idea the farthest out with a lightweight hooded dress worn over a hooded bushy mohair or fur coat.

JFK Chided By British T&C

LONDON (AP)—A British fashion magazine today stepped up its campaign to persuade President Kennedy to wear a hat and pointedly asked him how a hatless man can properly greet a lady.

"How does the President acknowledge such an encounter?" asked Tailor and Cutter in an editorial, which the editor said he was sending to the White House.

Tailor and Cutter is recognized here as an arbiter of good taste in men's clothing and, in some cases, men's manners.

Speculating on how Kennedy greets ladies, the magazine suggested he might do it with:

- A brief and courteous bow.
- A hearty handshake.
- A blade-crushing slap on the back.

"Or," added the magazine, "that peculiarly American greeting—the flat palm of the hand sliding upwards and outwards across the greeter's face and the cheerful injunction, 'Hi'm.'"

Report All Domestic Wages

Do you have a cleaning woman, maid, cook, baby sitter, or handyman? Do you pay your help as much as $50 cash in a calendar quarter? If so, do you submit accurate and timely quarterly reports for Social Security purposes on wages paid to your household help to the Internal Revenue Service?

Erven Fisher, district manager of Social Security in Big Spring, said that, although the law has been in effect since 1961, there are still many families who employ household help, part or full time, who are failing to file reports. This neglect on their part may cost their employees dearly in time and money later.

He said that the amount of cash wages paid, not the hours or days worked, determines whether or not a household worker must be reported.

Fisher urged those who have not reported to get in touch with the Internal Revenue Service immediately. Booklet Number 21, available at the Social Security office in Big Spring contains a pre-addressed post card for this purpose.

Deaths Increase, Births Decline For First Time In Several Years

By SAM BLACKBURN

More Howard County persons died and fewer babies were born in the six months ending July 1 of this year than in any similar six-month interval in the county for several years.

Fewer couples stepped into wedlock, and, strangely enough, there were fewer divorce suits filed in 1963 than in any year since 1918.

The sharp decrease in births over preceding years makes 1963 a year which will be watched with close interest by many observers. Much of future planning for schools and school plants is predetermined by forecasting the baby crop in years ahead.

IMPACT
If the drop in marriages holds for the second six months, it too, in time, will have its impact on future birth totals.

This year, according to Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, there have been 549 birth certificates filed. This compares with 652 for the same six-month period in 1962. As is the usual situation, there were a few more male babies than females—279 boys and 270 girls.

Last year, there were 330 males and 322 females listed for the half-year. Total births in 1962 were 1,451—which would indicate more births occurred in the last half of the year than in the first. If the stork doesn't pep up his work, 1963 stands to go down in the records as the year with the fewest births since the middle 1950's.

Countering this report, it is indicated by the record that more Howard County men and women will die in 1963 than in any year in the town's history. The first six months saw 285 death certificates filed in the county clerk's office. This indicates a total of more than 570 for the full 12 months interval.

498 FILED
In 1962, there were 498 certificates filed. For the first six month period, the total was 227. Male deaths are running higher than in many years. Of the 285 deaths listed, it is shown that 195 have been males. Only 90 women have died.

More deaths occurred in 1961 in this county than in 1962. That, incidentally, was a year when accidents, homicides, suicides and other violent ends accounted for the shattering total of 42 deaths.

In addition, statistics indicate fewer marriages and fewer divorces during the first six months of 1963, as compared with previous years. Coupled with the birth rate figures, this could have an impact on school planning here.

Last year this total had dropped to 22 and so far in 1963, there have been 18 such deaths recorded. Violent deaths so far this year are well ahead of the number which had been reported on July 1, 1962. The number that date was only 11.

DOMESTIC PEACE
Domestic peace seems to be more prevalent this year than it was in 1962. At least, battling married couples are not swarming into court with their troubles as often as they were last year at this same season.

District Court Clerk Fern Cox said that his records show there have been 149 divorce petitions filed in 1963. At the same date a year ago, his office had handled 162 such petitions. There were 325 divorce suits filed in the 118th District Court in 1962 for an all-time high. If the first half year average holds, the 1963 total will be around 300. This will compare with the low total of 289 in 1961 and 311 in 1960.

Reverting to the death record, once again heart and circulatory ailments stand as the major death cause. Seventy-nine deaths are charged directly to heart and arterial diseases. Exactly one-third of the deaths were women. The totals were men 56, women 23.

LUNG DISEASE
Second big killer in Howard County so far this year is pulmonary disease. For the sake of simplification, all causes related to pulmonary failure are lumped together. Forty men and 17 women have died so far this year of these ailments. Cerebral diseases took the lives of 21 men and eight women. Cancer, always a deadly foe, caused the deaths of 21 men and nine women. Deaths from other diseases took the lives of 40 men and 17 women.

Only in the case of infant deaths were there more females than males—the count in this category being seven males and nine females.

This year's total is pushing 1961 closely with 20 deaths chargeable to violent causes in the county for the first half-year.

GUNSHOT WOUNDS
Six of this year's crop of violent deaths list gunshot wounds as the cause. Five are the product of traffic accidents. The box score of such deaths for the first half-year:

Jan. 9—George Adam Klingman, 64, San Angelo, struck by a car near State Hospital.
Jan. 12—Jerry Lee Johnson 19 and Arthur Roland Williams, shot to death in front of a tavern.
Jan. 20—Simy Korgurth, 29, poisoning.
Jan. 31—Joyce Snedecore, 27, shot to death. (Morris E. Redding, 45, shot through the head at the same time, died a few days later in an out-of-town hospital).

Feb. 20—Ollie F. McComb 38, Jayton, died here of burns received in his bed at his residence in Jayton.

March 1—John D. Nixon Jr., 25, killed in car accident on US 80.
March 24—Sally Ann Ramos, 3, hit by car in front of her home here. (Died in Midland hospital).

HIT BY TRAIN
March 28—Lloyd Hollis Jr., 31, Grand Prairie, decapitated by a Texas and Pacific train east of town.
March 31—Loma Doyle O'Neal, 38, shot to death.
April 3—Gloria Gomez, 32, found dead as result of beating.
April 21—Pablo Martinez Campos, 30, San Antonio, hanged self in jail cell.
May 3—Jefferson Davis Hines, 56, 822 Baylor, broken neck in oil field accident.
May 5—George W. Bragg, 58, Midland, car accident five miles northeast of Big Spring.
May 6—Richard Paul Meader 25, Webb AFB, airplane crash near base.

CAR CRASH
May 27—Donald McClary, 25, car-truck collision in Douglass Addition.
June 1—Young Washington, 53, Midland, brought here after accident elsewhere and died of abrasions, fractured clavicle, head and chest injuries.
June 12—Ezra McGee 15, 405 NW 5th, drowned in the "big spring."

Webb Group Will Attend Glorieta Meet

A delegation from Webb AFB plans to attend the Air Force spiritual life conference at Glorieta, N.M., according to Chaplain Neil F. Wolfe, conference project officer. It is set for Aug. 29-Sept. 2. The retreat begins Thursday afternoon and closes after breakfast Labor Day.

Located on a 1,300 acre ranch in the wooded foothills of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains, Glorieta is 19 miles east of Santa Fe.

Under Air Force regulations military personnel may attend such conferences at their own expense without using leave time. Five days plus travel are allowable for USAF-sponsored conferences.

Chaplain (Maj. Gen.) Robert P. Taylor, chief of chaplains, USAF, secured outstanding clergymen to serve as leaders in Bible study and in inspirational and discussion periods.

Theme of the conference this year is "Lord, teach us to pray." A children's program for youngsters over six years of age will be available at no extra cost, Chaplain Wolfe said.

Dope Training Program Planned

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kent School of Social Work, a branch of the University of Louisville, is setting up the nation's first social work training program in a federal narcotics hospital.

Financed by a $16,562 grant from the National Institute of Health, the program begins Sept. 1 at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in Lexington. Students will be taught casework and methods used in treating and rehabilitating narcotics addicts.

Texts Available For Inspection

AUSTIN (AP) — A list of nearly 300 textbooks are available for public inspection, Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar says.

Almost 270 books offered for the school year beginning Sept. 1, 1964 were sent to local superintendents. Comments and objections to books can be presented to a meeting of the State Textbook Committee Oct. 16. On Oct. 17, the committee will recommend about 130 of these for adoption.

The state board will have final say on adoption. Local textbook selection committees in each school district may choose one or more of the five textbooks recommended by the board for use in their district.

New Design

Airman 2.C. Alvin D. Whorton of the 331st FIS at Webb AFB, recently won a three-day pass by submitting the winning design in a squadron-wide contest to select a new tail design for the squadron's F-104 "Starfighter." Lt. Col. Jack C. Price (right) commander of the 331st, congratulates Airman Whorton on his winning entry.

A Devotional For The Day

Unto the upright there ariseth light in the darkness: he is gracious, and full of compassion, and righteous. (Psalms 112:4.)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Jesus, who lives in the world today, lifting burdens and summoning men and women to larger tasks. Help us to share His compassion and to enter into His concern for others. In His name. Amen.

Significant Business Move

A major chapter in Big Spring's history of business and finance is being written this weekend, as the First National Bank moves into spacious and modern new quarters at the Fourth and Main intersection.

The institution has an investment in its banking house running well past three quarters of a million dollars, and this alone represents one of the largest commercial investments that Big Spring has seen in many a year.

While the city joins in welcoming a facility that is modern to the last word, in design, decor, and efficiency, it has other reasons to regard the First National move as significant.

This handsome structure, with the imposing First Federal & Loan Association home nearby, may be the forerunner of a major change in the business picture of the downtown area. It could be the stimulus to bring about other new commercial buildings, or at least improvement and renovation. It could be the mark that begins to put our central city in the realm of metropolitan attractiveness.

Good, strong, progressive banks are key factors in setting the pace of a city's growth. Their leadership attracts followers, and this is all to the good.

Meanwhile, as a matter of civic pride, all Big Springers join in extending congratulations to the directors, officers and workers of First National, and render them a warm salute on this expression of confidence in the city's soundness and its future development.

New National Park For Texas

Much has appeared in the public prints lately, as more and more visitors have visited the land, of the natural grandeur Texas possesses in the Guadalupe Mountains.

Many people know that Guadalupe Peak, the heart of the area, is at 8,751 feet, the highest point in Texas, but many others do not know of the high verdant valleys, the great variety of scenery, the infinite beauties of the rugged mountains that comprise the whole section.

Six thousand acres of this region already belong to the National Park Service. More than 70,000 other acres adjoining, owned by J. C. Hunter Jr. of Abilene, contain some of the most spectacular scenery in the state. Members of a Park Service field survey party have given the area close examination, and specialists in the service may soon make a decision on incorporating the whole into the national park system.

This would be a great achievement for Texas. The region already has easy accessibility, is close to the Carlsbad Caverns National Park in New Mexico, and is not too distant, for a touring family, from the Big Bend National Park, which is proving its worth as a drawing card.

Establishment of a national park in the Guadalupe Mountains would complete a group of three great national parks in the same general area, all linked and yet each distinct in its characteristics.

The future provision of such recreational areas is important to the country. There is every justification for a National Park in the Guadalupe Mountains, which has a vital interest, and its leaders ought to keep working to bring about a decision that will have advantages uncounted down through the future years.

David Lawrence The Old Political Game

WASHINGTON—These are sad days—human conflicts and controversies in the headlines. There's plenty to write about—labor troubles, problems of foreign policy and emotional "demonstrations" on the home front for "civil rights." But what is more important than the integrity of our government itself? And what is more distressing than the tendency nowadays to gloss over the unpalatable evidence of what is happening in the name of a "reward" that morality of politics as a "reward" has come to signify an end that justifies the means? How can this be expected to maintain confidence in American institutions?

TUCKED AWAY every now and then in the news dispatches read by the American people are evidences of what is fundamentally wrong with our government, but these arouse no "demonstrations" or demands that governmental power shall be used only for the good of the people instead of the self-interest of officeholders. Here is an example from a United Press International dispatch last week.

"President Kennedy yesterday nominated Rep. Homer Thornberry, Democrat, of Texas as a federal judge for the Western District of Texas. In so doing, he rewarded Thornberry for past support but at the same time created a further problem for himself in the closely divided House Rules group.

"SPEAKER McCORMACK let it be known he had picked another Texan to fill Thornberry's crucial rules seat, and word was passed among members that (Rep. John) Young was the man. In selecting Young, McCORMACK obviously acted in the belief Young could be counted on in a pinch to support the leadership even in the face of a reverse local interest."

It is reported that the administration plans to defer action in the Senate on the Thornberry nomination until sometime toward the end of the present session in order to assure his vote for administration policies in the closely divided Rules Committee of the House while important legislation is being considered by the committee in the next few months. The House Rules Committee has a majority of Democrats, but they do not all think as the administration wants them to think. Often legislation that is deemed desirable by the President doesn't get out of this committee.

BUT WHY SHOULD Rep. Thornberry be "rewarded" with a federal judgeship? He has never served on the bench in any court. Why should the President of the United States give anyone a lifetime post in the judicial system on the basis of a vote done of a political nature? How can there be confidence in the federal judiciary if judgeships become a matter of political patronage? Were there no lawyers or state judges in West Texas better qualified for the judgeship in question?

THE ARGUMENT is made that this has been done in the past by other administrations—as if, once a political ruse is employed, it may readily be taken as an established precedent or practice for the future.

The American people have been told again and again that there is a government for the people and for the people, but that no selfish interest should prevail against the national interest.

THE FLAW, if any, is in the constitutional system in America which separates the legislative body from the executive and ignores the principle of party responsibility—such as is applied under the British or Canadian parliamentary system. The answer certainly doesn't lie in using federal judgeships as a "reward" to individual members of Congress elected by the people to deal with public questions on their merits and not as a President may dictate that they shall vote.

TIME AND AGAIN the American Bar Association has cried out that federal judges should be named on the basis of their qualifications and not for political reasons. The Association has tried, through a specially appointed committee, to classify as "well qualified" or just "qualified" or "not qualified" the names of those under consideration by the Department of Justice for recommendation to the President. But even this system caters somewhat to the political climate prevailing in the Department of Justice. It should not be necessary for a Bar Association committee or any other group to remind an administration of the importance of moral integrity in the exercise of governmental powers, especially when judges are to be appointed.

Does the system of using judgeships as a "reward" for past political favors mean that judges already on the bench can expect promotions to the U. S. Court of Appeals if they "play ball" with the administration in power?
(Copyright, 1963, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

Billy Graham

Although I love God, is it possible I'm not a Christian because I can't stand people who are selfish, critical and bigoted, and yet call themselves Christians?
—C.C.I.

It is a contradiction when we say that we love God, but do not love people. The Bible says: "He that loveth not, knoweth not God, for God is love." Gripping, hatred, and bigotry are spiritual malignancies that can only be cured by the Great Physician. You should look upon those who are suffering from these with pity and compassion, but instead you are critical of them. This is a Pharisaical spirit, and the spirit that Jesus condemned so often.

You ask if it could be that you are not a Christian—I would say that you are a Christian in name, but not in deed. To a devout Christian the Bible says: "Thou hast a name that thou livest, but art dead." The word "Christian" is one of the most challenging words in any language, but if it is only a name, and not buttressed by a righteous life, then it becomes meaningless. In fact, false Christianity can be a blight on society.

Your Christian responsibility is to "adorn" the name you have taken and make it ring with fidelity. The Bible says: "Not purloining, but showing good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things."

HEADING FOR THE LAST ROUNDHOUSE

Operation Noah 6,000 Animals Removed From Lake Area

By ADRIAN PORTER
KARIBA, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—A big bull buffalo struggled from the water after a two-mile swim and moved off slowly into the African bush — and brought to an end the world's biggest animal rescue operation since the Ark.

The buffalo was the last of nearly 6,000 animals — ranging from foot-long snakes to six-ton elephants — rescued from the rising waters of Lake Kariba. It is the biggest manmade lake in the world, as the flow of the Zambezi River backed up against the huge dam built across its path in Kariba Gorge to provide electric power for Rhodesia.

"OPERATION NOAH," as the rescue was dubbed, began 4½ years ago, before the foundations of the Kariba Dam were laid. Lake was planned to extend 250 miles up river from the dam and reach a maximum width of about 50 miles. In this area lived a complete range of African wild life which had to be moved or drowned or stranded on islands without sufficient food.

The Southern Rhodesian Wildlife Department appointed game warden Rupert Fothergill to head a team of four whites and 60 Africans to take on the mammoth job of saving the animals.

NOW, AFTER MORE than four years of coaxing, forcing, and carrying reptiles, animals, and birds from fast-disappearing islands in the rising lake, Fothergill and his men are able to call it a day. Some animals were left on big islands which would remain. Game rangers were satisfied they would be able to survive. Fothergill says the job was tough.

"We worked more or less on a trial and error basis," he added. "We had a good idea of how to get recalcitrant or fear-crazed animals to the mainland but we really learned as we went on. For instance, we found from experience that a woman's nylon stockings were ideal for tying antelopes' legs without hurting or damaging them too much."

FOTHERGILL also learned from experience that firing drug-filled hypodermic syringes at rhinoceros was the easiest way to handle these intransigent and bad-tempered beasts. Once drugged, rhinos were tied by the legs, loaded on rafts and towed to the mainland where the game rangers loosed the knots and retired to a safe place as the beasts regained consciousness.

Normally, mild antelopes, screaming and choking in fear and thrashing about with sharp hooves as they were captured, gave Fothergill another headache. He soon found that the big species could swim for themselves and only the smaller kinds had to be carried in boats.

HE FOUND, too, that elephants could swim for miles if "coaxed" to the mainland with boats behind them. Snakes had to be handled.

Fothergill's main method was to use his African rangers as beaters to work their way through the bush and force the animals either into the water where they could be caught more easily or forced to swim or into nets strung in the trees. It was a slow, laborious task.

Fothergill says Operation Noah was just another job to him but John Gibson, director of wild life conservation, added this:

"THE JOB done by Fothergill and his men has been outstanding. It has required tremendous perseverance under arduous conditions at considerable personal risk. What they have done is way beyond anything you could instruct a person to do."

What this means is that 6,000 of Africa's vanishing wild life owe their lives to the risks Fothergill and his team took with their own.

Portugal Issue Strikes At United Nations Strength

By MILTON BESSER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—African pressures on Portugal and South Africa are mounting at the United Nations, with possible far-reaching consequences for the world organization.

In prospect are meetings of the U.N. Security Council, at which representatives of the 32-nation African group will make new demands for punitive action against Portugal for alleged acts of repression in its African territories. They will seek similar action against South Africa for its refusal to abandon white supremacy policies.

DEBATE along these lines is not new. But some heads of Western delegations are apprehensive about these two possibilities in the wake of the council meetings tentatively set for the end of this month.

Portugal and South Africa may quit the United Nations.

The African nations may send "freedom fighters" to places like Angola and South West Africa and set the stage for outbreaks of even greater violence than encountered to date.

IN THE PAST, Portugal and South Africa have raised, themselves, the question of whether they should stay in the United Nations and remain targets for increasing attack.

The decision to bring new pressure was reached by the African nations at the recent heads of state conference in Addis Ababa. Alex Quaison-Sackey, Ghana's ambassador to the United Nations, said at a news conference at U.N. headquarters one purpose is to discover "who are our friends" among the big powers on the Security Council.

This puts the United States, Britain and France, as Atlantic allies of Portugal, in a difficult position — the obvious pleasure of the Soviet Union.

Last December the three Western powers voted against a resolution in the General Assembly that requested the Security Council to impose penalties on Portugal unless it took immediate steps to place Angola on the road to independence.

To Your Good Health Ear Congestion Can Result In Dizziness

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What causes dizziness? I am extremely nervous. For the past several months I have been dizzy and part of the time have had to stay in bed. The doctor says it is not from blood pressure. I am 66, five feet three, and weigh 110.—MRS. D. J. Causes of dizziness are quite varied. High blood pressure is usually suspected first but that has been ruled out in your case already.

Others include head injuries (quite remote); disturbed circulation to the brain, as a consequence of hardening of the arteries; anemia; low activity of the thyroid gland; low blood pressure.

And one other problem — some ear condition. Balance is a function which combines vision, and perhaps a sense of muscular activity or stress, and certainly the actions of a delicate part of the ear called the labyrinth.

There are three semi-circular canals on each side which act somewhat like a gyroscope. These fluid-filled canals are so constructed that the fluid moves as we change position in any direction.

Congestion or inflammation of these canals, or even tiny hemorrhages into them, prevents the free flow of the fluid. The result can be violent dizziness. (One form is called Meniere's disease.) If in your case this trouble persists, further investigation of your ears and nervous system is in order.

Congestion of these ear canals often follows a cold or flu or similar infection. It can be aggravated by excessive salt in the system. If so, a low-salt diet may be helpful.

The use of antihistamines could possibly be effective, or one of the other preparations that control dizziness. Nicotinic acid is prescribed at times. Again, simple sedation frequently is all that is required.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 22 and have been plagued with cold sores ever since I was knee high. I have tried just about everything, but nothing helps. Have you any suggestions?—S.A.

It is fairly well established that cold sores are caused by a virus, but why some people get them and others don't, is another matter. Certain virology laboratories are studying the problem.

The best solution (aside from using a camphor lotion to dry up a cold sore after it appears) is to have a smallpox vaccination. Cold sores and smallpox both are virus diseases. Why a vaccination for one helps prevent the other I do not know. Sometimes it helps, sometimes it doesn't. But it's an easy remedy, and if it works, count yourself fortunate.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes dehydration of the body?—M.A.B. Loss of water, but the causes are many. A man out in the sun, with no water to drink, would soon be dehydrated, of course. In the shade, it would take longer.

In ordinary life, continued high fever is the commonest cause. We "dehydrate" by exercise in hot weather but we promptly correct it by getting thirsty and drinking water. Other causes can be diabetic acidosis, malnutrition, diarrhea, and vomiting. "Drying out" the body for a few hours isn't serious because thirst makes us correct it. But if some medical problem exists, it can be serious.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," closing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Too Long At Loafing?

There have been times when the most appealing type of job would be the one for which the weekend lasted from Thursday until the following Tuesday; the work hours were from 10 to 2, with lunch and two coffee breaks interspersed; with a vacation lasting four months; and with the pay being doubled every 60 days. I think I wrote about such a dream, but more practical times have caught up with me.

GOT TO READING about those 13-week vacations that the steelworkers are supposed to have under their new contract, and there evolved the question, "What the heck would I do with 13 weeks?"

We are talking here now only about those people of ordinary income. Those who can afford world cruises, or broad tours of Europe, Asia or South America don't count. But even those might get a little homesick before 13 weeks have passed.

WE ARE TALKING about the ordinary guy. He just hasn't thought about having 13 weeks off, with nary a thing to do, and when he does start thinking about it, he will find that he will have to call in an efficiency expert to map out his time. Or feed various hours into a computer and see what suggestions come out at the other end of the tape.

Heck, even to meet the most demanding requirements of the queen of the household, a fellow could get the screens repaired, the caves painted, the carpets and the bedding cleaned, the shabby trimmed, new patio stones laid, new furniture built and the place completely spruced up in a reasonable length of time, say three weeks. Then what about the other ten?

SURELY—the most ardent fisherman couldn't cast his flies day in and day out for 13 straight weeks. Even the most bit-ten golfer surely would become satiated with cutting up divots, losing balls and breaking clubs if he played 36 holes every day straight for 91 days.

And even guys like me who always vowed to spend the whole vacation in a hammock with some device to rock it gently, and get up only for meals would tire of such leisure before any 13 weeks had gone around.

AND IT SHOULDN'T even be mentioned that one couldn't abide visiting relatives for such a length of time.

Let's face it, the 13-week vacation is going to lead us all into trouble—those of us who achieve it. Some characters are going to be running out getting another job for a fourth of the year, thus destroying the purpose of the extended time-off which supposedly is to create new jobs. If they don't, a lot of their wives will be chasing them out of the house, because no wife in her reasonable mind could stand to have her spouse underfoot for 13 uninterrupted weeks.

OR THERE is going to have to be a spate of new hobbies, and more people are going to have to fall for this kind of stuff. But a fellow with 13 weeks to spend at his hobby would begin to get professional, turn the time into something commercial, and then you have got the market flooded with a lot of the services and gimmicks. Who pays for this? Not the other fellows. They are off trying to use up their own 13 weeks.

SOME EXPERT has said this extended vacation could bring on a new social disease, probably called ennui psychosis, but will still be old-fashioned boredom, and responsible for everything from obesity to family breakups.

What we'd better be doing is keep on working. All I ask is a few days in that shaded hammock.

—BOB WHIPKEY

Holmes Alexander Time For Peace On Racial Front

WASHINGTON — Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, a respected classmate and clubmate of mine at Princeton, lives in New Canaan (Conn.), and Philadelphia, but he came to suburban Baltimore over the long July Fourth weekend where he was perhaps the most prominent leader of the integrationist commando raid against Gwynn Oak amusement park in suburban Baltimore.

ALTHOUGH GENE played varsity football for Old Nassau, his greatest scrimmage must have been this one, which he helped to precipitate in the Free State. The holiday air was filled with rocks and tomatoes, insults and blood, as the jaded police jailed over 200 persons in protection of a law which permits a property owner to post his land for no trespass.

DR. BLAKE, like the ante-bellum Abolitionists, is a zealous man of conscience and deserves respect for that reason. But out in Chicago over the same weekend the Communist Ben Davis, formerly a New York City councilman, was among several Reds whose presence during the NAACP convention was noted by the FBI. While the motives of Dr. Blake, the NAACP and the Communist party are divergent, their actions in the civic disturbances throughout the nation in this turbulent summer pose a common problem. How much longer can the local police forces contain such demonstrations within the limits of mere rough house and token arrest?

THE PRESIDENT himself, in addressing the Mayors at Hawaii, expressed apprehension at what explosion might come from the mixture of hot weather, hot tempers and hot blood. With the Negro insurgents quarreling among themselves, we are near the historical point, described by Thomas Carlyle, when a revolution begins to devour its children. After that, if the revolutionary formula runs in this country as it has elsewhere—the Reign of Terror.

NEWSPAPER READERS and editors must be excusably irked these days at the unremitting downpour of racial stories which trench their sheets. I have felt apologetic about adding anything to a disagreeable subject, but it is with us and upon us, a far more immediate menace than nuclear fallout, the national debt or the unemployment rate. The taken-for-granted job of keeping law and order is an elemental business of all government. Overwhelm the local police, swamp the jails with inmates, fail in the protection of life and property, and civilization totters.

THESE COMMANDO raids, hitting cities in North and South, are no longer to be judged as having a good purpose or a bad one. By their results, present and pending, they are so clearly against the national interest that the President and the Congress have no more conspicuous duty than to act—and act now. Whatever the outcome of the Civil Rights legislation, currently before committees in both houses of Congress, there is a prior need to restore domestic peace.

MR. HOLMES, with his great personal popularity and his prestige of office, could do much with the kind of speech he is capable of making. As to Congress, I have found only one bill which seems to address itself to the crisis. This is a measure (H.R. 7299) by Congressman Tuck, a former governor of Virginia. It is lucidly entitled: "To amend the criminal laws of the U. S. to prohibit any person from crossing state lines for the purpose of violating the laws of any state."

THE TUCK BILL would apply equally to clergymen and Communists, Freedom Marchers and the Klan. It would halt the avowed law-breakers at state borders, head off demonstrations that are beyond the control of local police, put the federal government (whose position in all this is much too equivocal) on record and on the alert against itinerant inciters of riot, whether they are well-intentioned or not. Congress is now fully committed to examining the sweeping equalization reforms passed before it by the administration and demanded by the Negro insurgents and their white sympathizers. There was never a better time, or a better reason, for the American people to insist that their leaders call an end to this hubbub.

Marquis Childs Racial Issue Affects Both Parties

WASHINGTON — More than any other issue in the memory of man the racial explosion threatens to fragment both political parties. Just how the cracks will spread and how deep they will go no one can foretell.

The damage in the Democratic party is evident enough with the South in open rebellion and with fierce partisans on each side of the race question splitting off in the North. What is happening in the Republican party is more obscure but the fission effect is nonetheless pronounced.

THE MODERATE center seems to be rapidly eroding away and this is related to the personal fate of former President Eisenhower. Throughout his eight years in the White House, and particularly after the 1954 Supreme Court decision ordering the integration of the public schools, the President evaded one press conference question after another on the relationship of law to racial equality.

He believed that changes had to come in men's hearts. His singular syntax he never quite said so, it was plain that the first Republican President to occupy the White House since 1932 did not subscribe to the order of the Supreme Court. His civil rights program of 1957 went to Congress with little push behind it.

THIS SAME moderation in all things is the keynote of Eisenhower's Republican Citizens Committee. With its implied distrust of politics and politicians, so much a part of the temperament of one who came very late to political life after a career in the Army, its usefulness to the Republican organization is more and more limited. The fact is that the former President left little or no imprint on his party.

A MONTH AGO, as he was preparing his civil rights program, President Kennedy asked his predecessor to come to see him in the White House. What the President said to General Eisenhower was roughly as follows:

I believe we are going to have to try to do more by law to bring about equal opportunity than we have ever done before. No half-way measures will do. There is no political profit in this for anyone. I ask you, therefore, if you will join with me in what I should like to make a bipartisan program that will get the widest popular support in Congress.

THE FORMER President replied with very much the same words that he has used in the past—that law cannot change men's hearts; that there must be a basic alteration in attitudes before laws can have any real effectiveness. Since this was his conviction he would obviously have no interest in joining his successor in the White House in a bipartisan effort to solve the race issue.

THE PRESIDENT'S move can be interpreted as one of sheer expediency: an effort to enlist Eisenhower as elder statesman of the Republican party so that the onus of radical change would not fall solely on a Democratic President. In this same perspective it was shrewd of the former President to reject the Kennedy overture. But if he had accepted the challenge he would have asserted a new leadership within his own party, and in so doing he would have underscored the divisions within the Democratic party.

With the pressure of the race issue still intense, the political pieces have not yet fallen into place. But the prospect is for profound alteration in the old familiar pattern.

Stamps Will Be Printed On Foil

By HAROLD C. PERDUE
The design for the Alliance for Progress five cent stamp has been released. The background is bright blue, the flame is in two shades of green, and lettering is in white. It will be released Aug. 17 in Washington, D. C. Usual first day cover treatment is available from the Postmaster, Washington, D. C. 20013, if mailed no later than that date.

EXTRAORDINARY From Tonga

The Kingdom of Tonga in the South Pacific will issue one of the world's most extraordinary series of stamps. These stamps will commemorate the first gold coins produced for the islands, and will be exact replicas of each of the coins in size and color. These are the first circular stamps ever produced, and the first produced on anything other than paper. They will be printed on gold foil. There are 13 values in the set, six regular, six airmail, and one official airmail.

came out, they counted the stars and stripes to see if any were missing. For the Carolina Charter, they have been busy trying to read the fine print. (By the way, the engraver says it is impossible. He didn't copy that part of the charter.)

The 15 cent Montgomery Blair air mail was issued May 3 in Maryland with 440,106 stamps sold and 260,031 covers serviced. This is a rather large number for the high value stamp offered.

Now the most curious of collectors have turned their talents to the Amelia Earhart eight cent airmail to be released July 24 in Atchison, Kan. "Does Amelia have eyebrows?" they are asking. Based on a photograph, Miss Earhart is shown in front of her silver monoplane, the same craft in which she disappeared in the Pacific in 1937. But eyebrows are not receiving all the attention. Some are studying the expression. Some say that she is coy, perhaps even embarrassed. Others say that this expression is merely the result of squinting into the sun. Another group has suggested that if you study the stamp long enough an optical illusion results. One moment the eyes are open, the next they are closed. (At 8 cents, an animated stamp just might be the year's best buy.)

The U. S. Post Office will begin experiments Aug. 1, in Dayton, Ohio, with stamps printed in a special luminescent ink to speed sorting and cancelling processes. Only eight cent airmails will be used in these experiments. If they are successful, all U. S. stamps will be printed this way in the future. A first day cover service will be available for these phosphor-tagged stamps. Make requests in the usual way to the Postmaster, Dayton, Ohio, 45401 no later than Aug. 1.

There is only one real expert on the eyebrows. R. M. Bower, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, engraved the stamp. But he's not talking.

One group of stamp collectors recently received attention and recognition by the U. S. Post Office. By carefully examining every U. S. issue, they have been termed "the fault-seekers," all in fun, of course. When the new Flag stamp

CHANNEL COMMUTER—Bob Blatten, 35-year-old London bank clerk, sets out in a barrel from Dover, England, for Calais, France. Blatten has crossed the Channel twice in odd fashion before, once by canoe and once aboard a brass bedstead supported by floats.

PROUD YOUTH—Jerry Marx, 11, smiles after a flight in Air Force jet trainer over California. The color-blind boy wrote to President Kennedy saying he wanted to ride in a jet just like his dad who died in a B-47 crash.

HIGH ABOVE WATER—A U.S. seaplane rests on vertical floats during test to develop a stable platform at sea for use in anti-submarine warfare. In operational use, the float could be made to retract under the fuselage in flight, then positioned after landing.

DEAR ABBY

Be The One To Start It

DEAR ABBY: We would like to drop a few people from our Christmas gift list, but don't know how to go about it gracefully. I'd like to notify them before the shopping season starts so they won't buy us anything. We hardly ever see them during the year and rarely talk on the phone. In fact, the last few years when we delivered gifts to each other, the gesture seemed so insincere it was embarrassing. Maybe these people would like to drop us from their Christmas gift list, too, but don't know how to go about it. Your reply in print would help many people.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you think exchanging gifts in an atmosphere of insincerity is embarrassing, wait until you try to tell them not to buy YOU anything because you aren't buying THEM anything. Take them off your gift list and send them a Christmas card. And the following Christmas you'll be off their gift list, too.

is my problem: What is going to become of our nation if we kids grow up with nothing but filth all around us? No wonder there is so much juvenile delinquency. All we ever see are sex magazines and sexy movies. I want to grow up in a clean nation and have clean friends. Remember, it's the kids of today who will be running the nation before long.

FOURTEEN

DEAR FOURTEEN: You are to be admired for protesting the increase of filth in our culture. But if all you see are "sex mazines and sexy movies," you're not looking hard enough. Fine literature and worthwhile movies are still available in abundance for those who want them. When more people concentrate on the good, the wholesome, and the spiritual, filth will become unprofitable and lose its reason for being.

DEAR ABBY: I was married in January. I had several showers given me and received many beautiful gifts. I am expecting a baby in September. My aunt wants to give me a baby shower. She'll be inviting exactly the same friends and relatives who gave me wedding shower gifts. Don't you think it's too soon to be asking for more gifts?

EXPECTING

DEAR EXPECTING: Yes, Dear. Your aunt is expecting too much too soon.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SUSPICIOUS BUT NEEDS PROOF: If you found YOUR razor wet, it must have been a pretty close shave for some ray wife. Why don't you ask your wife?

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Be Proud You Are 'Square,' General Says

"Be proud you are a 'square.'" This was the advice of Maj. Gen. John S. Hardy, commander of Keesler Technical Training Center, to graduates of the Air Force ROTC Student Unit at Webb, Friday.

"The man who calls you a square, because you do not conform to his code is not likely to be a Nathan Hale, a Patrick Henry or a Paul Revere.

"Put such a man in Nathan Hale's shoes, and he would probably say: 'Me! Go behind the enemy lines and get a report on the concentrations! Why, man, you must be crazy. . . Don't you know they shoot spies?'

"Or listen to a modern Paul Revere: 'Don't be silly, fella; am I the only man in Massachusetts who owns a horse?'

"No, gentlemen, the man who calls you a square could never voice the burning words of Patrick Henry as he shouted. . . but as for me, give me liberty, or give me death!"

"So be proud when they call you a square. It hasn't been too long ago when the word "square" meant something noble and honorable; in my book, it still does.

"When a man talked about a square deal, he meant a deal in which all parties were happy with the arrangements. When he mentioned a square meal, he meant one that was particularly satisfying. When he told you something on the square, he meant he was telling the whole truth.

"I recently read a report on a survey of our history books. Of the famous remarks of the men we have just mentioned, only two out of 45 such books now in use in our schools contained any reference to these men or their messages to posterity.

"I don't believe we will see an all-out nuclear war; nor do I believe that we can prevent it by drawing into our shells. If we are to be leaders in the world, we must forget isolation.

"We never know what will happen. . . but we do know that we must remain prepared. . . no one wants war; we must maintain a force capable of deterring an aggressor, but we must also be optimistic.

"Another thing — we must be for something. It is not enough to be against this . . . or against that. . . we must be for the things that count most in our lives.

"Whether you make a career of the Air Force is not nearly as important as whether you live up to your capacity and your capability."

Gen. Hardy was introduced by Col. Rex Fryer, Webb Commander. Following his remarks, 26 cadets were sworn in as second lieutenants, USAF. Gen. Hardy presented the Commandant's trophy to Cadet Richard L. Railston.

Other distinguished graduates recognized were Richard W. Bryant, George T. Favaron and Charles P. McDowell. Cadet Phillip M. Grace won the Air Force Times Award.

There were 191 cadets in the graduating class.

URBAN RENEWAL

Hearing To Decide Program's Fate

STANTON—The fate of Stanton's beleaguered urban renewal program, now in a state of abeyance, will probably be determined July 23 at an open meeting in the Martin County courtroom.

The city council of Stanton, through a majority of its members, set the hearing as a public information forum. The hour is 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

The action calling the meeting came on the heels of the regular July meeting of the Stanton City Council, at which the members resigned in a body. At that time, an attack on the urban renewal program was launched and a petition signed by more than 100 Stanton residents asking a referendum was laid before the commission.

A call was made for a special election at a date yet to be determined at which the voters of the community would say if they wanted the program to continue. It has been under way for some time. It has been reported the election may be held in August.

An attorney has been employed to insure that the people of the community get a chance to express an opinion on the question.

The second phase of the Stanton Urban Renewal program is now scheduled to start and outcome of the present development will have an important bearing on the development's future. The second phase calls for expenditure of a million dollars in South Stanton. It is in relation to this program that the referendum is being sought.

The original petition contained 119 signatures and it is reported 40 others have since been obtained.

The councilmen continue to function officially despite their resignations until the election. At the election, the question of the Urban Renewal program and the selection of councilmen will be determined.

Learn To Swim Classes Slated

Registration for another learn-to-swim class will begin Monday at the YMCA. An increased demand for another class prompted the YMCA to set up the July 22-Aug. 2 session on the same schedule as previous classes, according to Joe Leach, physical director.

"Because of vacations, camps and Vacation Bible Schools, many youngsters didn't get a chance to enroll in the earlier classes," Leach said.

The two classes, 9-10 a.m. and 10-11 a.m., will cost $1 for non-members, no charge for members. All prospective students must register; it is open only to beginning or non-swimmers.

Accepts Award

R. W. Andrews, president of Shasta Ford here, receives a gold car award from Richard Richards, zone representative for Ford Motor Co. John Ford, vice president and general manager, looks on. The award is for the firm's local sales record.

In addition, Shasta received the Ford Dealer Distinguished Achievement Award for its "progressive management, sales and service facilities, merchandising practices, standards, and service to Ford owners."

Coahoma FFA Members To Attend Parley

COAHOMA (SC) — Members of the Coahoma Future Farmers of America Chapter will attend the State FFA Convention in Lubbock July 17-19, according to Vernon Long, president of the chapter.

The three day meeting of representatives of over 900 FFA chapters throughout the state will include awarding advanced degrees, scholarships and awards to outstanding members of the organization.

Members of the Coahoma chapter attending the convention are: Long, Olen Fryar Jr., Tommy Menser, Sam Oakes and Joe Anderson. Long has been selected by chapter members as delegate of the Coahoma chapter to the state convention. Fryar will serve as alternate delegate.

Among the business to be transacted at the convention will be the election of a state president from the 10 state officer nominees, who have been elected by members in the 10 areas of the state. Voting delegates to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City in October will be elected.

Gerald Oakes, vocational agriculture teacher, will accompany FFA members to the Lubbock convention.

'King And I' Makes New Showing At Jet This Week

Spencer's Mountain

Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara pose with a brood of children to help advertise "Spencer's Mountain," a heart-warming drama which took special notice on Father's Day. The picture shows all week at the Ritz.

If A Man Answers

This title doesn't finish the question, but the movie of that name provides the comic answer. Co-starring are Sandra Dee and Bobby Darin, and the movie starts Wednesday at the Jet Theatre.

Sabrina

William Holden toasts Audrey Hepburn in this scene from "Sabrina," returning Wednesday to the Jet Theatre. But big brother Humphrey Bogart won't like it, although the triangle eventually resolves itself. The picture is based on the successful Broadway production of "Sabrina Fair."

"The King and I," Twentieth Century-Fox's production in CinemaScope 55 and De Luxe color, with Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner in the title roles, will return today at the Jet Theatre. The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical classic was successful on the stage and rated as the most beautiful musical ever produced. It is the first CinemaScope picture with a Siamese background and the elaborate Oriental settings and rich costumes make it the costliest musical ever produced by Twentieth Century-Fox.

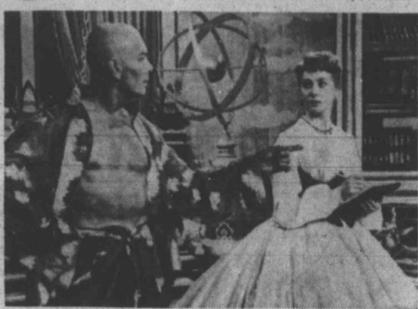

Darryl F. Zanuck, who purchased the rights to the stage production; Charles Brackett, who produced it; Walter Lang, who directed; and Ernest Lehman, who wrote the screenplay, saw to it that every element of the stage hit was enhanced to make the opulent film version. The decor for the picture, consisting of 40 colorful settings, included the throne room with its walls papered in gold leaf and the reception hall of the King's palace studded with 100,000 sparkling crystals. Offers a sumptuous background for the enchanting music and lyrics from the magic pens of Broadway's fabulous hit makers, Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II. There are 14 of their musical numbers in the screen version including "I Whistle a Happy Tune," "Getting to Know You," "The March of the Siamese Children," "Hello Young Lovers," "Shall We Dance" and "We Kiss in a Shadow." The Siamese-style ballet, "The Small House of Uncle Thomas," with choreography by Jerome Robbins, is one of the highlights of this elaborate screen production. Framed Oriental dancers, Yuriko and Michiko, are featured in this weird dance based on "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The story of the brash King of Siam and the prim Victorian schoolteacher, who travels all the way from London to Bangkok to bring Western culture to the King and his 67 wives and children, was taken from Margaret Landon's book, "Anna and the King of Siam," which was a bestseller years ago and was a successful dramatic motion picture made by Twentieth Century-Fox.

The supporting cast is headed by Rita Moreno in the role of "Tuptim" and includes Martin Benson, Terry Saunders, Rex Thompson, Carlos Rivas, (brought from Mexico to enact the role of "Lun Tha,") Patrick Adiarte, Alan Mowbray and Geoffrey Toone in featured roles. Eighteen of the King's large brood of children also appear in the film. For Yul Brynner, the role of the King was a familiar one. He played it 1,500 times on the stage and for his creative interpretation of King Mongkut, who reigned in Siam from 1851 to 1868 and was real-life counterpart of the King in the story, he received a Broadway star can receive—the Donaldson Award, the Antoinette Perry Award and the Critics' Circle Award.

Miss Kerr, who also holds a Donaldson Award for her role in the Broadway play, "Tea and Sympathy," considers her role as "Mrs. Anna Leonowens" the best she has ever had on stage or screen. She explained her reaction in these words: "To every actress of fortunate stature comes one top role, one which she can never again hope to equal. To Vivien Leigh it was 'Scarlett O'Hara' in 'Gone With the Wind.' 'Mrs. Anna' in 'The King and I' is my 'Gone With the Wind.'"

The beauty and charm of "The King and I" was captured on the CinemaScope 55 screen by Cinematographer Leon Shamroy and the musical score was conducted by Alfred Newman. Irene Sharaff, who also costumed the original stage production, designed the costumes worn in the picture and art directors, Lyle Wheeler and John

"The King and I" was two years in the making at Twentieth Century-Fox and represents the finest production, musically and dramatically, ever filmed by the company.

Second Generation Stars In Outdoor Adventure

New faces and plenty of action are combined in "Young Guns of Texas," in CinemaScope and color by De Luxe, which 20th Century-Fox is releasing Saturday at the Jet Theatre. Three of its young stars — James Mitchum, Alana Ladd and Jody McCrea—represent the second generation of stars, carrying on the traditions of their fathers. Co-starring with them is the veteran Chill Wills, and young Gary Conway makes his screen debut in this production produced and directed by Maury Dexter.

"Young Guns of Texas" is a story of conflict among seven people who share death, pursuit and savage dangers on a trek through the untamed wilderness of the Big Bend country of Texas, triggered by greed, desire, honor and hate-craved revenge.

Mitchum plays a young man who doesn't remember his parents who were killed by Indians. He was raised by the Comanches until he was rescued. He was then reared by the biggest cattle man in the territory who was the father of the girl he fell in love with. Miss Ladd plays the girl who defies her father and marries Mitchum.

McCrea appears as the son of Preacher Sam, a tough, good-natured sucker-for-trouble who gambles his life for $30,000 in gold. The gold is being carried by a patrol of Union and Confederate soldiers led by the brother of Tyler Duane (Conway). Tyler is trying to recover the gold to return it to the Army from which it had been stolen.

The pursuers and the pursued play out their fate in danger and death, and action reaches a climax that involves a battle with the Apaches, a showdown between Mitchum and the girl's father and a shootout with Tyler's brother's killer.

"Young Guns of Texas" was written for the screen by Henry Cross. Music was composed by Paul Sawtell and Bert Sheffer. Cameraman was John Nickolaus Jr.

films, "Edward, My Son" and "From Here to Eternity," the lovely redhead says it was the dream-come true.

"Every actress when she attains any stature, however modest, has one role that's outstanding—like Vivien Leigh's in 'Gone with the Wind.'"

"Mrs. Anna" in 'The King and I' is definitely my 'Gone with the Wind.' I'll have other good roles, I hope, but there'll never be another picture, another single role that encompasses the vast variety of moods this one in 'The King and I' has given me. It has every type of scene, every nuance of emotion from drama to comedy, from singing to dancing, from fantasy to what seems outright whimsy, and actually, you know, is all based on a real-life story.

"The King and I" has been an unforgettable experience. It is such an enchanting story I can only hope I've contributed something to its magic quality."

Canine Capers In Supermarket

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — What does one do with a two-year-old Irish setter that can't quit shopping?

"I guess we have to put up with her," says the owner, Mrs. Matthew Lasnicki Jr. "she just won't mind and with four young children, I can't go chasing the dog around."

Two boys caught the dog—Lady—as she left her favorite supermarket with a loaf of bread last week, a caper Lady pulls frequently but not well.

Last month, Lady made off with a package of cold cuts. The market manager caught her.

She returned twice that day for a bag of candy and a package of chocolate bars. Both attempts were foiled.

Lady doesn't bungle all the time. Her master uncovered a package of chocolate bars while digging in his garden.

Already Behind

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. has completed delivery of five-million pounds of phone books to Manhattan subscribers. Already the book is out of date.

The listings change at the rate of 1,000 per day. A telephone company spokesman said the 1963-64 edition lacked 50,000 new listings.

Separate books are issued for each of the city's four other boroughs.

Insect Control Program Slated At Sands School

Philip J. Hamman, entomology specialist, will instruct an insect control short course for farmers beginning Monday, sponsored by the Sands High School vocational agriculture department at Ackery. It will continue through the week.

Safe In Space, But Not On Rails

LONDON (AP)—Britain's state-owned railway system has mislaid research equipment safely retrieved from space, a scientist complained.

Dr. R. C. Jennison of the Jodrell Bank Observatory said the equipment was in a rocket fired from the Woomera Range in Australia June 5.

The equipment was recovered, flown to London and handed to the state railway system for the 160-mile journey to Jodrell Bank. The consignment last was heard of June 12, Jennison said.

Any Openings In Medical School?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chester Wiggins went to Peru to do construction work for the Peace Corps. But he proved himself in a completely unrelated field—midwifery.

Wiggins, 66, a retired airline maintenance supervisor from San Bruno, Calif., went to Peru with only brief first aid training. According to word received at Peace Corps headquarters here, Wiggins was giving a Peruvian woman and her husband a jeep ride when she began having birth pains.

A few minutes later, with help from Wiggins, the woman gave birth to a 6-pound, 10-ounce boy.

Said the report: "Wiggins performed well as a midwife, and both mother and young Jose Chester Domingo are doing well."
