OLD HAND SAVORS PROVINCIAL STEW

Hundreds Throng Park For Old-Time Eatin' And Talkin'

By SAM BLACKBURN
Old settlers including many who have lived in this area for more than half a century, congregated at Big Spring City Park today to celebrate the 29th annual reunion of the Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Association.

Registration books showed more than 500 names at 11 a.m. and there were long lines of others still waiting to get their name on the lists.

The big event was the dinner which was served at noon. It was estimated that 2,000 guests would dispose of the ton of choice beef and the meat from 20 goats which had been prepared for the occasion. Huge pots of pinto beans, which had simmered all night, were on hand along with a generous portion of that relic of the roundup—son-of-a-gun stew. Pickles, onions, bread and iced tea were being served in generous fashion.

A bright blue sky and a burning sun marked the day. The heat was intense, but under the huge pavilion and under the shade of tall trees, the celebrants found the day not so bad. Anyhow they had grown accustomed to this sort of weather.

Jess Slaughter, president of the association, said that he believed as many would be on hand today as at any previous reunion. He expressed appreciation to the many individuals who have contributed to the project.

Cecil Long, he said, was entitled to high praise for the tasty barbecue which was being served. He was chef of the pits, and the meat has been slowly cooking in true western fashion throughout the night.

Ed Carpenter, state representative from the 73rd Legislative District, spoke briefly at the morning session. Carpenter, a former county judge, and a pioneer himself touched on the contribution made by the early settler and of the hardships they endured. He paid tribute to their courage and told his listeners that the fine things of today were provided, in essence, by the sacrifices of bold and farsighted men and women who moved into this country when the land was new and untamed.

Music was provided by quartets from Big Spring and Stanton and by Texas Shorty and his band.

Oldest individual present was 94-year-old Albert Becker, Sand Springs. He stepped forward briskly enough to accept the gift from Blum's Jewelry which was presented him.

Another oldest on hand was Mrs. Nancy Bedell of Talpa who said she was 90.

Mrs. Nat Shick, who came here in 1890, and O. E. Watson, who settled here in the same year, were probably the true early settlers of the reunion. Sam Cauble was another early arrival—1896.

A dance was planned for the afternoon and another tonight was to close the celebration.

Election of new officers for the ensuing year was to occur during afternoon sessions.

As in other years, veterans of other reunions came prepared. They brought quilts and thermos jugs, and they set up family quarters under the shade of the trees. These spots drew small throngs and the oldimers were chattered in many groups—all discussing, with great avidity, how things used to be and going over the current developments since they last met.

HOUSTON (AP)—Planning and legal work on the $47 million Trinity River project has cost Houston $1.6 million.

Dr. Chas. Warren On HCJC Board

Howard County Junior College today had its first former student as a member of the board of trustees.

Board members selected Dr. Charles Warren, Big Spring dentist, to succeed the late Dr. C. W. Deats on the board. The term of Dr. Deats, also a dentist, runs to April of 1966.

"I was never so delighted in my life," said Dr. Warren. "I am proud of our college and I think it has a great future. My earnest hope is that I can contribute something to that future."

Dr. Warren is a native of Big Spring. The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Warren, he attended the Center Point school and was graduated from Big Spring High School in 1951. After two years at HCJC, where he was one of the outstanding basketball players in the history of the college, he went to the University of Texas where he also starred in basketball. Following two years in military service, he returned to the University to complete his pre-dental work, then took his degree as a doctor of dentistry from the University's dental branch at Houston. He began his practice here in August 1961.

He is married to the former Shirley Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riddle, and they have three children, Charles Michael, 5, Lisa Ann, who is 2 today, and Curtis Mark, 3 months old.

The new board member is a member of the Y's Men's Club, of the First Baptist Church, the Gideons, and of the Permian Basin and Mental Society, Texas and of American Dental Societies.

New Learning Method Is Quickest Way

Spanish SPEED SPEECH is the newest and quickest way now available in the teaching of Spanish. The new method, which was devised by William Archer, teaches you several easy to learn keys which unlock the language for you. Thousands have learned Spanish the SPEED SPEECH way. You can too. "Never has it taken me longer than ten minutes to teach adolescents or adults to make complex sentences in Spanish as quickly as they could in English," said Archer. "You think in Spanish. It surely is easy the SPEED SPEECH way, and it is guaranteed to work."

Many Big Spring individuals and families (and some groups together in institutions) are by now immersed in the first stages of Spanish SPEED SPEECH, because the sale of aids, through The Herald, has been extremely high.

You may order (1) Archer's SPEED SPEECH textbook; (2) a special dictionary of usable words; and (3) a set of two 45 rpm records which help in pronunciation. Each item sells for only $2.95, plus six cents sales tax, or a total of $3.01. These are priced low because of the special arrangement made by The Herald. They can be ordered individually or as a complete set. Mail order blank appears in The Herald, or there is a limited supply of books and records available at the newspaper office.

FOOD, HOUSING PRICES UP

Cost Of Living Hits Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in June rose four-tenths of one per cent to a record high, the Labor Department reported today.

The rise was the highest for a single month since September of last year when an increase of six-tenths of one per cent was recorded.

The June index at 106.6 compared to the 100 base for 1957-59, and was 1.2 per cent above last year.

The figures mean it cost $10.66 to buy in June the same living cost items which could be bought for $10 in the 1957-59 period.

Net spendable earnings of factory production workers also rose in June to a record figure.

For the average factory worker with three dependents, take home pay after federal income and Social Security tax deductions, advanced by over 90 cents to a record $88.37 a week.

The living cost increase cut into what the department calls "real earnings" but real earnings nevertheless set a new high.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner for prices and living conditions in the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the June increase was due primarily to higher prices for food, housing and medical care.

In addition, sales taxes were increased in several cities.

Sharply higher sugar prices were a major cause of an advance in average food prices in June. Sugar prices rose by 32 per cent and were 44 per cent above a year earlier.

On the whole, food prices averaged 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago. Restaurant meals were 2.2 per cent higher.

Kennedy Will Appeal For Treaty's Support

Senate To Check Treaty Carefully

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., announced today that a Senate defense watchdog group will examine in detail the proposed new agreement with Britain and Soviet Russia for a ban on most nuclear weapons testing.

His announcement could mean some delay in apparent administrative efforts for quick Senate ratification of the agreement initiated in Moscow Thursday.

Stennis said his 7-member Armed Services subcommittee wants to know "whether this agreement fully protects our national security and whether any risks which may be involved in it are truly acceptable."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a member of the investigating panel, previously announced his opposition to the test ban after hearing an explanation by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

OVER 1,000 KILLED

Quake Ravages Yugoslav City

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A catastrophic earthquake struck the minareted city of Skopje at dawn today toppling tall buildings and homes and possibly killing more than 1,000 people.

Radio Belgrade said there are "thousands of injured," adding it was impossible to say how many were killed but the number "must be very great." The official news agency Tanjug put the estimated death toll over 1,000.

The radio said fires broke out in a technical school and a boys' high school.

Most of the city's population of 270,000 were caught in their beds by the thunderous quake. Many ran out of their apartments in their night clothes.

Tens of thousands stood in the rubble-filled streets, some weeping, others just staring at their former homes which had collapsed, Tanjug reported.

Skopje parks were turned into collection points for the homeless. All citizens were ordered to stay out of their homes for the next 24 hours as a safety measure.

Tanjug reported that the earthquake's center lay right in the heart of Skopje, the capital of the province of Macedonia. The downtown section was hardest hit.

The entire province of Macedonia, southeast of Belgrade, was mobilized for relief work.

Roads leading to the stricken city were jammed with trucks bringing in supplies and manpower, and then turning around to evacuate the injured.

The town of Nis, northeast of Skopje, made space for 1,000 beds for the injured. Doctors were rushed in from all towns in the area.

Belgrade Radio described Skopje as a "great tragic working place."

The water supply was cut off and Yugoslav army units set up emergency distribution centers.

Telephone and telegraph lines were cut and radio provided the only link with the outside world.

Tanjug said it was impossible to estimate the damage and this was borne out by the first refugees to reach Belgrade from the historic capital of Macedonia.

He told of the most solidly built building in the city, the Yugoslav army barracks, being razed along with others.

Tanjug said the New Macedonia Hotel, packed with guests, was leveled and most of the guests were killed. But the eyewitness, Aleksander Blagojevic, said it appeared to him as he drove to the airport that only part of the hotel was damaged.

He said other hotels and many other buildings were badly damaged or destroyed.

The first shock hit with shattering force at 5:17 a.m. (11:17 p.m. EST Thursday) while most of the inhabitants were asleep. This was followed by a series of lighter shocks.

Blagojevic, a pilot for the Yugoslav Air Transport Co., told Radio Belgrade that he was dressing in his room at the Hotel Invalid, opposite the railroad station, when the quake struck.

To Address Nation On Radio, TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy goes before the nation tonight to whip up support for a nuclear test ban treaty dramatically initiated Thursday in Moscow and heralded as a major break in the cold war.

The presidential message at 7 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time on radio and television will be part of an administration campaign to convince critics the pact — ending testing in outer space, in the atmosphere and under water — will not endanger U.S. security.

To become effective the U.S., Soviet and British agreement must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the Senate, and the measure of public support for the treaty may tip the scales there.

The agreement climaxes years of on-and-off negotiations — splintered at times by the thunder of nuclear tests — almost as old as the nuclear age itself.

The White House declared that the President was gratified by the agreement in which the three powers also affirmed their determination to strive for a complete test ban and implied they will give no nuclear aid to nations that will not go along with the pact.

KENNEDY

Khrushchev Looks Toward Total Disarmament Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared today that the agreement on the new nuclear test ban treaty created favorable opportunities to proceed to total disarmament.

He made the statement in answer to questions from correspondents of Izvestia and Pravda submitted to him in writing. They will be published in the two papers tonight and Saturday morning.

The answers were read to correspondents at a press conference in the Foreign Office shortly after Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman made a declaration in the same spirit at a news conference in the U.S. Embassy.

Postmaster General Day Turns In Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy accepted today the resignation of Postmaster General J. Edward Day and told him he "brought to the position a high degree of management skill and dedication to the public interest."

Day submitted his resignation July 19 to become a partner in charge of the Washington law office of a Chicago firm.

Kennedy wrote Day that he accepted his resignation "with deep regret."

The resignation becomes effective Aug. 9.

Kennedy also told Day he appreciated "the sacrifice that you made when you agreed, in January 1961, to serve as postmaster general."

Day left a $60,000-a-year position as a West Coast insurance executive to join Kennedy's cabinet.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said there has been no decision on Day's successor.

There are rumors that it might be former Democratic Sen. Benjamin A. Smith of Massachusetts. Informal sources said, however, that neither Ben Smith, nor anyone else named Smith, was in line for the post.

Day, 49, will become partner in charge of the Washington law office of the Chicago firm of Sidley, Austin, Burgess and Smith.

Day was formerly an attorney with the firm, as was Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Later Day served as Illinois commissioner of insurance during Stevenson's term as governor.

In his letter of resignation, Day said "because of an unusual opportunity that has been offered me, I can no longer postpone my return to private life."

During his tenure, Day introduced the Zip Code, a nationwide system of zone numbers to speed sorting and distribution of mail. Earlier this year, he had a row with Congress when the House slashed the Post Office appropriation by $92 million. He said that if the cut stood, postal services would be cut back and Saturday deliveries eliminated. Congress eventually reduced the cut to $52 million.

Day said in his letter of resignation to Kennedy that "the Post Office Department is in excellent condition."

"The goals which at your direction I set out to accomplish are all on their way to successful fruition. There are no pending crises of a serious nature."

The news of Day's resignation came as a surprise.

He will be the third member of President Kennedy's original Cabinet to leave—but the first to return to private life. Abraham Ribicoff quit as secretary of welfare and was elected senator from Connecticut, while Arthur J. Goldberg resigned as secretary of labor to accept appointment as an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

DAY

SAME TIME

"It makes good sense and would save the time of senators and witnesses," Russell told newsmen. The Armed Services and Atomic committees will participate in consideration of the treaty because of its military and scientific aspects.

Russell added that the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be asked to testify. They are expected to support the ban on tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. Rusk already has tried to smooth the way for the treaty by showing all three committees copies of the proposed agreement.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana predicted ratification, although he said there will be opposition.

"It is a reasonable agreement with no side issue attached," he said. "Prospects for its ratification are growing steadily."

ACCEPTANCE

Since a ban on atmospheric tests would restrict fallout, the nuclear agreement "will meet with the greatest degree of acceptance," Mansfield said.

The treaty already has the support of Foreign Relations Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and of Atomic Committee Chairman John O. Pastore, D-R.I.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

When a certain objective is greatly to be desired, nearly any risk is justified in order to obtain one's goal. East's willingness to play it safe in today's hand permitted his opponent to romp home with his game contract in hearts.

West opened the jack of spades, the ace was played from dummy, and East dropped the five. A spade was returned and East was in with the queen. He shifted to a diamond in the hope of finding West with the ace, for he urgently desired a club play thru North's king.

South put up the diamond ace from his hand and led a small heart. When West followed with the seven, dummy's nine was inserted. One trump trick must be lost in any event, and declarer's object was to keep West out of the lead. East was in again, and he had little recourse but to return another diamond. South held the trick with the queen, and another heart lead located West's king and cleared up the trump situation without further casualty.

A spade was trumped in the closed hand felling the remaining honors and establishing the dummy's two long cards in the suit. A diamond was led to the king and South's losing clubs were discarded on the spades as the declarer chalked up an overtrick.

East lost the battle for his side on the very first trick. Inasmuch as a club lead from his partner at some stage appears to be an essential part of the defensive campaign, East should exert every effort to get West in. Since the opening lead of the jack of spades has every appearance of being the top of a sequence, it is suggested that East drop his queen under the dummy's five. Now when declarer returns a spade at trick two, East can play the five which permits his partner to win the trick. The club shift now becomes inescapable.

IT WILL PAY

Being kept saved is just as important as becoming saved; and the Bible plainly teaches that it depends on our willingness to cooperate with God. Curtis Camp, preacher for the church of Christ, meeting at 14th and Main streets, will preach on "Being Kept Saved", tonight at the city park amphitheater. We know he will handle the subject accurately and interestingly. Don't miss it.

The relation between prayer and salvation will be clarified Saturday night at the amphitheater. Alphonzo Harris, preacher for the church of Christ, 1000 NW 3rd, will speak on the subject, "Prayer and Salvation". Have you ever heard one of our colored brethren preach? There is a treat in store for you Saturday night.

All are invited; and it will pay you to be at both services!

Draft Is More Selective, Finds Boys Are Brighter

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Draftees today are brighter boys than those inducted during World War II and Korea, the Pentagon's personnel experts believe.

Mental standards for inductees were raised last May 1. But the trend toward more selectivity in selective service had been under way for several years. Soldiers have to be mentally sharper because the equipment they handle now is more complex.

Since Korea, only the Army has used the draft. Asked how present draftees stack up against those of the past two wars, the Army said: "On the average, the quality of draftees today is better than World War II and Korea because the mental standards for induction are higher. Therefore, fewer lower mental category personnel can qualify for service. On the other hand, fewer high mental category personnel are being inducted today because of a smaller draft than in World War II and Korea."

Physical standards have not changed. The rejection rate on the basis of mental tests (which really mean how much native intelligence and ability to learn a man has is higher now, partly because the military can be more selective in peacetime than in war. Moreover, deferments for those who qualify can be and are higher in peacetime.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, estimates, for example, that about 300,000 are deferred now so they can go to college. But, in testing before the House Armed Services Committee recently, Hershey hastened to say that "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college, because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college."

Hershey's view seems substantiated by draft quota figures. Only 4,000 draftees were asked by the Army for each of the months of January and February, while the high point so far this year is the 12,000 monthly quota set for August and September. Army strength now totals about 970,000.

For the last 20 years, Hershey says, the Selective Service system has been what he calls a "channeler," steering men into that part of national life for which they can be most useful in the overall national defense effort whether in service or in military production.

He told the committee that "I have no idea how many people we are deferring that may well be as immediately involved in survival as the people who are in uniform."

But he also said: "I think our capacity in time of no great emergency is either by providing the incentive for the man to enlist, or if he doesn't enlist, lead him in and induct him."

How well does this work? The Pentagon personnel experts say:

"If the authority to induct were to be eliminated, there would undoubtedly be a significant impact upon voluntary recruitment programs affecting both enlisted and officer procurement. The precise impact is difficult to estimate. However, surveys of recent volunteers into the Army and Air Force indicate that about two-fifths of these volunteers were influenced to some extent by the existence of a draft obligation."

The draft law was extended for another four years by the present Congress. How long will a draft system be needed?

"It is our judgment," says the military manpower experts, "that the Selective Service system and the authority to induct will be required so long as the international situation remains substantially unchanged."

There was a 15-month period in 1947-48 when the draft law lapsed after the end of World War II and before the Communist threat began looming large. But since September, 1950, a total of 2,945,450 will have been drafted when the September quota is filled.

The Defense Department is the agency which originates the physical and mental standards and the monthly quota requests. Hershey's selective service picks out the kind and numbers of men the Army wants.

How does a present-day soldier compare in his work with the PFC of World War II days?

An old soldier, who came into the Army as an enlisted man in World War II and is an officer now, figures the differences are something like these:

The World War II draftee may have trained for a howitzer outfit. His counterpart today may find himself in a guided missile outfit or in a battle group armed with Davy Crockett nuclear weapons, where the operation and in-mards of an electronic computer must be part of his knowledge.

In other days, a smattering of words in one or two foreign languages might be enough to meet requirements of an assignment. Today, with U.S. forces scattered across the face of the world, skill in foreign languages is important.

Thursdays' program was presented by E. C. Boatler, postmaster. He introduced two members of the local soil conservation district office. They were Charles O. Mikelson, work unit conservationist and Herb R. Stone, area soil scientist.

They spoke briefly on the program followed by the Soil Conservation Service and pointed out how the work can be of benefit to a great many other businesses and individuals than landowners or farmers.

Aerial maps and diagrams highlighted their talk.

Alaskans Hit Hard By Poor Salmon Run

NAKNEK, Alaska (AP)—An aura of helpless insecurity, tinged with anger, settled over Alaska's Bristol Bay area today in the wake of the worst salmon season ever for the bay's rich red salmon fishery.

In normal years, hordes of red salmon, a fish highly prized by the canning industry, enter the bay in early July en route to spawning streams.

This year, the red run, for some as-yet-unexplained reason, was a mere trickle.

It left the some 3,500 persons of the area, whose living is tied primarily to the red salmon, on the brink of poverty, with a harsh Alaskan winter coming on.

The state and its congressional delegation have asked President Kennedy to declare the Bristol Bay a disaster area.

The total 1963 American catch on the bay, an arm of the Bering Sea 350 miles southeast of Anchorage, was only an estimated 2.5 million reds, compared with a catch of 2.9 million in 1958, the worst previous year on record.

The Bristol Bay red run produced 203,700 cases of canned salmon this year, compared with 926,441 cases in 1961, the top pack in the last 10 years on the bay.

An important question mark in the failure of this year's Bristol Bay run, to fishermen and to state officials alike, is the extent of the Japanese high seas catch. Prohibited by the International North Pacific Fisheries Convention from high seas salmon fishing east of 175 degrees west longitude, the Japanese nevertheless take many immature Bristol Bay reds west of that abstention line.

It has been a source of constant irritation to Bristol Bay fishermen, who are not permitted to fish for salmon outside territorial waters, and to state officials, who have placed strict restrictions on Alaskan fishermen in an effort to conserve and to perpetuate the Bristol Bay red fishery.

DEAR ABBY
He's One To Throw Back

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend has a very cute co-worker. They used to eat lunch together every day—away from the office. Then I put my foot down and made him promise he wouldn't take her to lunch any more. Well, yesterday they were BOTH carried out of the office feet first with seafood poisoning. It turned out they had lunch together at a little roadhouse about a mile from the office. I didn't know the girl had been poisoned too until I came to drive him home from the hospital where they were taken to have their stomachs pumped. (She was just leaving as I pulled up.) When I told my boy friend I knew that he'd taken that girl to lunch again, he lied and said he "bumped into her" there. What would you do in my place, Abby?
JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Wait until your boy friend gets his strength back and then tell him that his fish tales don't set too well on your stomach, either. Then let him off the hook.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are against my marrying a certain boy because of money and social position. He doesn't have any. Abby, he is the nicest boy I have ever gone with. I have gone with boys whose fathers had more money, but none of them ever treated me like this one does. In fact, I would hate to tell you what some of those so-called "high-class" boys were really like. Don't you think if two people love each other, that is all that is necessary to make a go of marriage?
SMALL TOWN GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Marriage is for men and women—not boys and girls. If you are both over 21, sure of your love, and the "boy" is self-supporting and respectable, your chances for a lasting marriage are good.

DEAR ABBY: I never bother my neighbors but they can tell you ever more I make. My husband works nights and sleeps days so I leave my back door open in case someone comes to deliver something. That way my husband won't have to get up to let them in. I've got the milkman coming, the egg man, the plumber, and other men who have to get inside for something. Well, my neighbor to the south told my neighbor to the north that I had a steady stream of men going into my house all the time. I am still a nice-looking woman even if I have had 11 children. I think the neighbors are just jealous. I told one of them if she wanted to know who all the men were to come on over and I'd introduce her. How can I stop my nosy neighbors from running their mouths?
INNOCENT

DEAR INNOCENT: You can't. But if you know everything is on the up and up, you can stop worrying about it.

DEAR ABBY: I just want "ICEBERG" to know that I am with her all the way, and you may print my letter. Why do men neglect their obligations of keeping a marriage alive, and then they complain because their wives

DAILY GUIDE: A little of the friction of yesterday holds over today, so don't make things worse by forcing a showdown. Attend to little things that need to be done, but do not expect larger projects to move along smoothly. There could be some "bugs" to be discovered and taken care of before you can move along. Above all avoid gossip, rumors, scandal. We may hear of further disclosures of the latter in high places.

Certainly we will soon be bombarded with propaganda. Further emphasis can be expected this summer on drugs and sex as the basis for high crime records. Mars now moves into Libra. This will mean a more general accent on marital matters, relationships of all kinds. You can expect other people to be somewhat aggressive if you were born in Aries. Librans will find action picks up in the next few weeks. These general trends continue until the middle of September. Capricornians and Cancerians will have to buck the tide in career or domestic matters.

Saturday evening excellent for social fun.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LEO! While much of the action that stressed the general pattern of your life at this time has subsided, there is still some pressure from those allied with you, or from marital matters, to delay or worry you. This is sometimes complicated by some uncertainty regarding domestic surroundings, and you can expect a special accent on these matters now and early in October.

Some of the unexpectedness in financial matters will die down now. Travel, study, or contact with educational interests are highly favorable this year, but in the last week of October be cautious as your judgment may not be good then. Fall is favorable socially.

'Outlaw' Income Keeps Jane Russell Independent

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie - TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jane Russell hasn't made a movie in six years—and couldn't care less. No wonder. Every week she gets a $1,000 check from the Hughes Tool Co., and she hasn't heard from her boss, Howard Hughes, in years.
"Every now and then I hear some scuttlebutt that he's going to make movies again but that's as far as it goes," says Jane. "The checks, though, are never late."
In 1955, Jane signed a million dollar contract with Hughes that was to be paid over 20 years. The 20-year spread keeps the taxes low and the security steady.
"Also," says Jane, "I can do any other kind of work I want—even other movies. But I just don't care to work. I just like being around the house with my husband and children."

She has no desire to be cast as the perfect little housewife.
"I can't even cook," she says. Most of her time is spent with WAIF, the international adoption agency which she founded. So far, WAIF has placed 11,000 homeless children in homes where they are wanted.
"It helps me—and I hope the public—forgets my early cheesecake course."
Jane, who made the three-foot tape measure obsolete, was once the most celebrated cheesecake specimen in the business—at a time when Marilyn Monroe was unknown and Jayne Mansfield was riding a bicycle to school.

The years have been kind to Jane's fabulous figure. If anything, she is prettier and sexier-looking now than she was when she started.
Occasionally, she works for fun. She and two close friends, Connie Haines and London-born Beryl Davis, have formed a nightclub act which opens Aug. 5 at the Riviera Hotel in Las Vegas.
"I don't consider this work. This is a ball. All three of us sing for fun when we go to each other's houses. Now, we're getting paid for it."
Jane is no dummy when it comes to displaying her famous assets.
Mr. Blackwell, the famed designer, created a $20,000 wardrobe for the girls. It was his showman-ship idea to completely cover the famous Russell figure.
Jane tried on a form-fitting white dress, looked in the mirror and then picked up a pair of dressmaker shears.
She cut the high-neck waistline into a low-necked V.

Prices Go Up On The Simple Little Blouses

NEW YORK (AP)—Next time your husband rails about inflation, sigh and say you know just what he means. Tell him you saw a photograph of a simple little blouse that costs $500.

After that, anything else you may want to buy will seem dirt cheap. Trouble of it is, though you may really want to buy that simple little blouse.

It is simple in line and detail, yet it is hardly the thing you would slip on over your washable capri pants to wheel the dirty linen to the laundromat. There is a good reason for the astronomical price, though, which has nothing to do with the value of a dollar.

hairs shaved off. The resulting gold tone is flattering to so many things in your wardrobe that you don't really need many more blouses.

Still, it would probably be difficult to sell your husband on that money-saving virtue alone. Better tell him instead that the prosaic mink stole is as passe as pinafores, and that the far-out fur blouse is one of a number of new fur ideas designed to replace it.

If he passes you on that, you might point out that you will at least have to have a three-cornered scarf, or an ermine boa, or an ocelot blazer, or a chintzy old leopard fur jacket.

OMIT DETAILS

Chances are he'll revert to the blouse idea, especially when you ask him for a half a grand for a bandana. (OK, so it's black broad-tail you don't have to fill him in on all the details.)

If he demands to know what's the matter with one of those old-fashioned cotton blouses you used to pick up for a ten spot, sneeze. Point out that with all the air conditioning everywhere you go these days, and considering the flimsy clothing you've been forced to wear, it's a miracle you're not constantly battling pneumonia. Sneeze again and inquire whether the family hospitalization plan is paid up.

If that doesn't work, well, you'll just have to think of something else.

Islander Recommends Lubrication Of Hair

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—When I met Tarita in her dressing room at MGM, she was trying on a beautiful gown especially designed for the premiere of "Mutiny on the Bounty" in which she stars. It was gratifying to see that instant-fame had not conditioned her personality. She is sweet and unaffected and not at all sure that our way of life offers as much happiness as her native island 150 miles from Tahiti.

TARITA

"In Borabora we had no problems," Tarita said in French. "I fished with my father, swam with my brothers and danced with my sisters. We ate Polynesian fashion with our fingers. On our island, which is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world, everyone is happy."

Tarita has beautiful skin and long healthy hair. "We use coconut oil. It makes the hair shine and the skin soft." She still uses it, but she's forced to buy it at a health store in America.

Tarita believes we would not have a problem with our weight if we didn't eat bread and butter with meals.

"I don't care for it. I like meat, fresh fruit, sliced tomatoes—natural foods, I eat when I am hungry, and I don't eat when I am not." She made it sound so simple.

Tarita's life in Hollywood is like a dream to her. She is like a Cinderella who would not mind in the least having to return to her island and sarong at midnight.

"You talk about tensions. I think they come from hurrying too much, from thinking too much about what you have to do next and from not enjoying what you are doing now."

Altrusan Talks On Service

Mrs. Caribel Laughlin, chairman of Altrusa Information, summarized the work of her committee when she spoke at the Altrusa luncheon this week. Twenty-six members attended the Thursday event at Coker's Restaurant, with Mrs. Hart Phillips presiding.

In keeping with her subject, "Focus on Service," Mrs. Laughlin first told the Latin origin of the word, Altrusa. Then she gave a brief account of the founding of Altrusa, the first national organization of its kind, in Nashville, Tenn., April 11, 1917.

She displayed pamphlets and books relating to the organization, one of which set forth the 12 principles to be followed by each unit as well as the individual members. She urged that each member become familiar with the literature, and closed her talk with a quote, "Words without action are assassins of idealism," by Herbert Hoover.

When Christine Was A Target

Christine Keeler was a target of photographers and spectators' eggs as she left Old Bailey Court in London after giving further testimony in the vice trial of Dr. Stephen Ward. One egg hit an AP newspaper photographer in the head and the second splashed on the sleeve of a policeman.

Dr. Ward Tells Other Version

LONDON (AP)—Stephen Ward testified today he has "a pretty shrewd idea" that Christine Keeler was having sexual relations with War Minister John D. Profumo in Ward's apartment in 1961.

The society osteopath, 50, told the jury in his trial on charges of procuring and living off the proceeds of prostitution that he "had no direct knowledge."

Under cross-examination on the fifth day of the trial, Ward told his version of Profumo's first meeting with Christine at a swimming pool on the Cliveden estate of Viscount Astor.

Christine testified she was naked when Profumo and several other Astor house guests found her.

Ward said Miss Keeler's brief swimming suit had started to come off "and we were fooling about."

But he denied that she was nude.

Profumo resigned in disgrace from the government and the House of Commons last month after admitting he lied to the House when he denied having an affair with Christine. The scandal nearly drove Prime Minister Macmillan from office.

Ward agreed later he learned that Christine was seeing Profumo at his London flat.

Ward said he did not believe Miss Keeler ever had relations with Soviet naval Capt. Eugene Ivanov, whom she was seeing at the same time she was seeing Profumo, or if she did "there could have been only one isolated incident."

Christine's simultaneous relationship with Profumo and Ivanov, who was an assistant Soviet naval attaché, laid a new security scandal on the door of the Conservative government. This aspect of the case is under investigation.

Ward testified he had introduced Christine and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies to Douglas Fairbanks Jr. because he thought Fairbanks could help them get in the movies.

Fairbanks earlier this week denied the testimony of Mandy, 18, that he had sexual relations with her. Fairbanks said she and Christine asked him to get them a screen test but he was no longer producing television films and could not arrange it.

Ward admitted introducing the two girls to Viscount Astor also and other friends of his but denied his purpose was for the girls to have sexual relations with the men.

Ward testified that Christine had a strong sexual attraction for him when they first met five years ago—when she was 16—but said his feeling turned to one of platonic friendship. But he said there was nothing platonic about his feeling for Mandy.

She's Just Easy To Remember

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP)—Peace officers aren't the only ones who will remember 6-foot Mrs. Millie Jones running loose in only pink panties after she escaped jail here a week ago.

Sheriff Lee Horn of Eastland, Tex., who came here to return the blonde prisoner and a boy friend who fled with her, said she was arrested in Eastland several years ago for riding nude into town on a gray horse.

Mrs. Jones escaped last week by climbing the jailer. She then freed boy friend William Splawn and they rode off in a commandeered car. She was wearing only the pink panties.

The two were recaptured 27 hours later.

Both will be returned to Texas on charges of armed robbery. Horn recalled that the incident with the gray horse led to her arrest for running a red light.

Police Raid Inner Temple Of Attorneys

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard detectives raided London's Inner Temple, the stronghold of Britain's lawyers, Thursday night and carried off a vanload of books and pictures they said were pornographic.

It took five detectives an hour to load the van. Police sources said a prosecution would follow.

The Inner Temple is a precinct of quiet lanes and alleys. Lawyers have lived and worked there for centuries. Now it is the headquarters of attorneys specializing in divorce and criminal cases.

CHARLTON, England (AP)—The British army regretfully ended 10 days of excitement in this drowsy country community with an announcement that the mysterious 8-foot-wide crater in farmer Roy Blanchard's potato field was not caused by a flying saucer.

Army engineers dug out a half pound hunk of matter, said it appeared to be a meteorite and sent it to the British Museum for investigation.

PARIS (AP)—The National Assembly overrode a Senate vote and approved for a second time the government's anti-strike bill. The measure becomes law.

The bill requires unions to give five days notice before striking in government-operated public service industries.

AGRINION, Greece (AP)—A boat carrying pilgrims across a lake to a monastery to celebrate a saint's festival capsized Thursday and police reported 20 drowned. There were only two survivors.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—An Israeli army spokesman described as a lie a Cairo claim that United Arab Republic fighters shot down an Israeli plane in a dogfight over the Sinai Desert Tuesday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: SPACE CENTER: The Senate Space Committee has voted to locate an administration move to locate a $50-million space research center in the Boston area. The project had been considered by many as a prize political plum for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., President Kennedy's youngest brother.

SCHOOLS: The House Education Committee has voted to stop federal support for racially segregated education programs.

PET PROJECTS: A Republican senator has charged that officials of the Kennedy administration are violating federal law by lobbying for pet projects with taxpayers' money.

"We are being bribed with our own money," Sen. Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., told the Senate, as he introduced a bill to make this a crime, subject to a $500 fine, a year in prison and dismissal.

COLD WAR HEROES: President Kennedy has signed into law a bill that authorizes award of the nation's top military decoration—the Medal of Honor—to cold war heroes.

Under the law, the President can award the medal for heroism against an enemy of the United States, whether in direct military combat or while in combat service with friendly foreign forces.

Guard Battery Off To Camp Sunday

Personnel of Battery A, 3rd Battalion, 132nd Artillery—composed of men who make their homes in Big Spring and Colorado City—will join other units of the Texas 49th Armored Division at North Fort Hood Sunday for two weeks of training. Trucks will be loaded Saturday and will roll early Sunday.

Battery A commander is 1st Lt. Johnnie P. Hooper, Big Spring.

From 79 Texas cities and towns, units of the "Lone Star" Division will convoy down Texas highways to the vast Central Texas military post. The men hail from almost every corner of the state.

More than 7,000 National Guardsmen of the 49th will immediately step into their field fatigues and steel helmets and dig in for intensive combat training.

Maj. Gen. Harley B. West, division commander from Dallas, said the 49th will divide itself into two "task forces" during its summer training—half of the division's combat elements going to the field the first week, and the second half going the second week.

This is being done due to the large area needed to train an armored outfit. Because of the limited use of the Ft. Hood ranges (the Regular Army's 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions are based at Ft. Hood), the 49th is having to split up its field training.

All areas outside the main camp area will automatically become "combat zones" for the Guardsmen and conditions will immediately become tactical. This will mean movement at nighttime, passwords to get by rigid internal security guards — and the wearing of the protective steel helmet at all times.

Several units of the 49th will have a doubly-heavy schedule. Due to the recent reorganization of the division (called by the Army the "ROAD" concept), units formerly infantry will be training as artillerymen, and former artillerymen in many cases are now tankers.

Men of the 49th will get a mid-week break on Saturday, Aug. 3, during the annual division review. Texas Gov. John Connally is expected to pass the troops in review.

At the same time, the 49th will crown its newly-selected beauty, "Miss 49th Armored Division."

All elements of the 49th will return home on Aug. 11.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Americans are drinking almost half a million quarts of tequila a year, Vernon Underwood, a distributor from Los Angeles, reported Thursday.

Jurors Almost Ready To Weigh Verdict

DALLAS (AP)—Jurors were nearly ready to start weighing a verdict today in a $5,761,553 damage suit by Nortex Oil & Gas Corp. over slanted wells.

Testimony ended late Thursday in the Nortex suit against Ebro Oil Co. a firm Nortex absorbed with the 1961 purchase of a dozen Ebro leases in the East Texas Field.

Several witnesses testified that 12 wells involved in the deal were slanted beneath adjoining properties. Nortex spokesmen have said the firm actually hopes to collect no more than $1.1 million in assets distributed to Ebro stockholders.

The final defense witness was Mrs. Virginia Gibson, a former Ebro employee.

She said she overheard Nortex President James Wendover ask Ebro President W. O. Davis Jr. how many wells involved in the sale were deviated. She said Davis replied that he had no way of knowing except by running tests on the individual wells.

Challenging a Nortex claim of fraud, the defense has contended

Nortex officials knew they were buying deviated wells all along. The defense also called Al Douglas of Tyler and Harland Echols of Longview, both petroleum engineers, and John Wheeler, Longview geologist.

NOT FROM BIG SPRING!

In the parable of the talents (Matt. 25:14-30) Jesus taught that a man will be judged in proportion to his opportunities. He who hid his treasure in the earth because he was afraid to use it was cast into "outer darkness: there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth."

Men with greater opportunities will be required to show greater responsibility. Those who refuse to take advantage of their God-given chances will find the doors of Hell open wide. This would be an awful city to go to Hell from!

There are more churches in Big Spring than in most cities its size. There are more Bibles; more invitation songs; more sermons and more chances to obey! We live in the City of Opportunity! God is going to require more of the people of this city than He will of many others. If you haven't obeyed your Lord, my friends, it's time you started thinking about meeting your Maker!

Those who laugh at Hell only deceive themselves. They don't fool God and they can't change the Bible.

If I were going to live without obeying my Maker and die outside of His family I would a lot rather be born in the ignorance of the Indian Ganges and die in the Delta of Calcutta than to willfully reject His commands and die in Big Spring!

There is not any place on the face of the earth that would be a worse place to meet the Lord from unprepared than our town! Think about it. Obey the Lord while you have the opportunity!

Council Orders Pickets Jailed

SEATTLE (AP)—Twenty-three young white and Negro demonstrators picketing a civil rights hearing were arrested Thursday night.

The City Council, which was considering appointments to a human rights commission, ordered the arrests.

The biracial pickets sat or lay on the floor through most of a week in support of demands for more Negroes on the commission.

The demonstrators, the oldest of whom was 22, were removed from a foyer outside the City Council chamber. Some hung limp in the arms of arresting officers, others walked, but none resisted seriously.

Nine of the demonstrators were booked on charges of loitering, resisting arrest and disturbing the peace. Bail for each was $200.

The other youngsters, all under 16, were turned over to juvenile authorities and released to their parents.

The arrests came as the City Council recommended confirmation of Mayor Gordon Clinton's nominations for the 12-man commission, which is being established primarily to promote open housing in the city.

Clinton included two Negroes among his nominees. The demonstrators contended half the commission should be Negro.

Teddy's Plum Doesn't Jell

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: SPACE CENTER: The Senate Space Committee has voted to locate an administration move to locate a $50-million space research center in the Boston area. The project had been considered by many as a prize political plum for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., President Kennedy's youngest brother.

SCHOOLS: The House Education Committee has voted to stop federal support for racially segregated education programs.

PET PROJECTS: A Republican senator has charged that officials of the Kennedy administration are violating federal law by lobbying for pet projects with taxpayers' money.

"We are being bribed with our own money," Sen. Milward Simpson, R-Wyo., told the Senate, as he introduced a bill to make this a crime, subject to a $500 fine, a year in prison and dismissal.

COLD WAR HEROES: President Kennedy has signed into law a bill that authorizes award of the nation's top military decoration—the Medal of Honor—to cold war heroes.

Under the law, the President can award the medal for heroism against an enemy of the United States, whether in direct military combat or while in combat service with friendly foreign forces.

A Devotional For The Day

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. (Genesis 1:1.)

The morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy. (Job 38:7.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we are mindful of Thy continuous presence with us, and we are grateful for it. May we approach Thee early each morning, in order to have Thy guidance all along the way. Abide in us, our Father, that we may be kept in the way of Thy love and peace. In the name of Christ, our prince of peace and joy. Amen.

Getting At Pollution

The Texas Water Pollution Control Board obviously takes seriously its task of protecting the purity and integrity of the state's fresh and salt waters. This is nothing less than an exercise in enlightened self interest.

At a recent meeting the board granted a number of applications for the disposal of municipal and industrial wastes. In some of the cases it attached significant qualifications—such as requiring the City of Arp to provide, within one year, secondary treatment for sewage effluent discharged into Face Creek.

Joe Carter, chairman of the board, set the tone of the meeting by saying: "We can't stymie development in the area by denying permits. At the same time we must take action to clean up some existing plants."

During a discussion of a proposal to call in some plants—municipal and industrial—for amendments to their permits to dispose of waste the board's secretary, D. F. Smallhorst said: "This is not an emergency thing, but it does require special attention."

The board's concern with the problem of pollution is apparent. Municipal and industrial wastes already have reached near-crisis proportions in some parts of the state, although conditions are far less critical than those facing many other states. What is required, and what the board seems intent on providing, is a program of continuous supervision to abate present pollution and control future pollution. In this the board will need the active cooperation of every city and every industry which creates wastes.

Problems Of A Program

Congressmen who were certain they knew what is best for farmers have changed their tune since wheat growers rejected stricter production controls in the recent referendum. This indecision is being reflected in Congress in uncertain attempts to produce a new cotton bill.

The big acreage cotton growers of the West would like to see acreage controls reduced drastically, if not eliminated, trusting to make a profit from higher volume, even at a lower price. Farmers in the South want just the opposite: Acreage control and continued high support prices.

Under a proposal sponsored by Rep. Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina the government would equalize the differential of approximately 8½ cents a pound between the U.S. and world price for cotton. To protect domestic mills against foreign competition in the form of cloth from American cotton, Cooley would have the government pay the export subsidy to maintain farmers' income, and also pay a subsidy to American mills to place them in a competitive position.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge would abandon the acreage control and price support program and peg the domestic price at the world price. Direct compensatory payments would then be given to farmers to sustain their income.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, adopting the American Farm Bureau Federation approach, would set price supports at 30 cents a pound for a two-year period and raise acreage allotments to 17.5 million acres from the present ceiling of 16 million acres.

All this may be nothing more than a spinning of legislative wheels. There is no sign that Congress can agree on any of these proposals. What is more, a new cotton bill can hardly be passed without support from congressmen who want a new wheat bill. Wheat growers who thought President Kennedy was jesting when he said that Congress could not agree this year on another wheat bill if stricter controls were turned down, now are faced with constituents demanding action. If there is to be no new wheat bill then there probably cannot be any new cotton bill.

Perhaps it's just as well. Wheat growers are about to embark on a great new experiment, having by their own votes set themselves adrift in the recently uncharted waters of the free enterprise system. They have voted for greater freedom and with it a drastic cut in support prices, or no supports at all in the absence of acreage controls. If this experiment succeeds, cotton growers almost surely will be exposed to the same course in future years.

David Lawrence Government Intervention Inevitable

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's message to Congress on the labor dispute which has threatened a nationwide railroad strike is essentially fair in every respect. It affords little comfort, however, to either the unions or the railroads because it merely postpones until a later date the final solution of the problems involved. Will both sides come to realize—as well as many unions and employers in other industries—that national union power could be approaching the end of its rope?

THE HUGE COST and widespread injury that could result from a railroad strike are well understood throughout the country, and the American people are in the mood to go along with any solution that will spare them such a hardship. But the fact remains that nationally organized labor unions now wield such economic power that, to avert tragic strikes, the government has to step in and do more than merely mediate a dispute.

For, in this instance, Congress is asked to give the Interstate Commerce Commission full authority to prescribe a settlement. It isn't called "compulsory arbitration." Yet it means an order to both sides to take certain steps outlined by a government agency.

FROM A LEGAL and constitutional viewpoint, there is no doubt that Congress possesses the power to write laws to control the national economy by stipulating the wages and hours and working conditions that shall prevail in most industries. But it had been hoped that, under a free-enterprise system, "collective bargaining"—namely, voluntary agreements—would be the method used to set wages. Despite all the disclaimers that collective bargaining is still to be maintained, the fact remains that, in this instance at least, collective bargaining now has been brushed aside and government action through special laws has become necessary.

LABOR-UNION leaders never dreamed that any such situation would come to pass. They always assumed that, by strikes in local areas and "collective bargaining," they could achieve their ends without such intervention of government. Now the picture has changed because, as the President outlined his message, the damage of a railroad strike would be incredibly great and irreparable.

The Interstate Commerce Commission heretofore has exercised its powers in the rail industry primarily in regulating rates for freight and passengers, but in recent years has also been authorized to protect the job security of employees when there are mergers.

MR. KENNEDY is convinced that there will be problems of this nature coming up in other industries and that the principle of government intervention and assistance should be recognized as necessary. So, despite all the talk about "compulsory arbitration" and other devices that have been used in the past, it is plain that a new factor has entered the scene—namely, governmental intervention and governmental designation of the rules that must be followed in settling labor disputes.

Disappointment will be felt by labor unions generally which had believed that they could exercise national power on a private basis without being subjected to governmental discipline. The enormity of the problem, however, and the helplessness of the labor unions themselves in dealing with the rise of unemployment due to automation have brought a change that nobody really wants but that has become inevitable.

Billy Graham

I know that trust and worry are incompatible, but I have both. Can you tell me how to overcome worry?

I agree that trust and worry are incompatible. When you trust you don't worry, and when you worry you don't trust. There is a song that goes, "Take Your Burden to the Lord and Leave It There." Many of us do not "leave" our burden. We are like a child who says: "Daddy, here is my money. Please keep it for me." Then, every five minutes he asks his father if he is sure he has it. If we could only "trust" the Lord with our cares and problems, our lives would be much happier and useful.

I am convinced that we can substitute the positive habit of trusting for the both-ersome habit of worrying. The human heart is capable of either. Jesus said: "Let not your heart be troubled," and then He added the key to real faith: "Ye believe in God, believe ye also in me." Not just "positive thoughts," but personal faith in Christ is the answer to worry.

James Marlow Keep Your Fingers Crossed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nuclear test ban agreement looks like a leap forward in the history of mankind. And maybe it is. But it wasn't selfless and there are reasons for keeping your fingers crossed.

This was the first accord between the West and Russia in this field after almost continuous talking since World War II. It could be the beginning of much better relations and even more far-reaching understandings.

But the motives were not all strictly humanitarian when the Americans, British and Russians Thursday in Moscow agreed to stop testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea. create their own nuclear weapons and test them.

THIS COUNTRY and Russia have about all the nuclear weapons they seem to think they need. It will take anyone else years to catch up. Testing is highly expensive. So by not testing they save money.

Certainly in time more nations will develop nuclear weapons of their own. The more the nations that have them, the greater the danger of triggering a world war.

The Americans, British and Russians hope by their agreement to discourage other would-be nuclear powers from going on to

Hal Boyle Garlic Saved Him

NEW YORK (AP)—All his life the young private had hated garlic.

One night a dozen years ago while on outpost duty atop a nameless ridge in Korea, he suddenly sniffed as a breeze wafted through the still blackness an odor he despised.

"I smell garlic," replied the private. "There must be an enemy patrol out there. Everything they eat is full of garlic."

They argued with him for a while, saying it was impossible for anyone to smell even garlic at that distance. Finally, as a precautionary measure they called for an artillery barrage on the dark ravine below.

"The next morning," recalled the private, now actor James Garner, "I found five men in the ravine."

Garlic no longer is a problem for Jim. Today he's enjoying the sweet smell of success as one of Hollywood's brightest new stars, after springboarding to fame in television.

Jim, currently starred with Doris Day in Universal's comedy, "The Thrill of It All," became an actor by accident.

or 26," Garner said. "I was scared to death of it."

Restless after 14 months service overseas and unable to decide on a career, he chanced to spy the name of producer Paul Gregory on a Los Angeles office building. Could that be the same Paul Gregory, then a soda jerk, he had known some years before?

It was. Gregory suggested Garner become an actor. Jim didn't think he was cut out for it.

After a tryout, a studio drama coach agreed with Garner. Gregory landed him a bit part in a touring company of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial."

As one of the judges who spoke not a single line, Garner sat silently through some 512 performances.

"But the time wasn't wasted," remarked Jim. "I studied every performer's actions, learned what I could from him."

Garner next went from small to larger film roles. Then hit the big time in television in the "Maverick" series. A bit gunshy after appearing in 60 or 70 of its episodes, Jim returned to his first love—movies—and hopes to go on making pictures until he becomes too old and tired to carry the money all the way to the bank.

To Your Good Health Rheumatism And Arthritis Explained

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. Dear Dr. Molner: What is rheumatism? How does it differ from arthritis? What is rheumatoid arthritis?—J. H. N.

A fair question! Rheumatism is a word that is gradually going out of use, and it indicates just about whatever the user happens to have in mind, in the way of joint or muscle pain. Muscle strain is often called rheumatism, for no particularly good reason. Foot strain from weak arches can cause pain in the legs and knees and can be incorrectly called rheumatism.

Some others are fibrositis (inflammation of fibrous tissues), often in the back, and various forms of neuralgia, stemming from interference with a nerve. Arthritis means, or is supposed to mean, inflammation or pain or stiffness in a joint. This includes gout or "gouty arthritis" as well as a number of other forms.

However, arthritis often is used as loosely as rheumatism. This is not good, because too often people label a pain as being arthritis and put up with it, instead of having an accurate diagnosis. Many of these pains, you see, are curable.

The main types of arthritis are rheumatoid arthritis and osteoarthritis.

came out, although I could have missed seeing it. Recently someone told me if it didn't come out, it could kill him. Is this true? What can be done?—A. M.

No, it won't kill him. The marble by now is long gone. Children have been known to swallow 50-cent pieces and have no difficulty.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband must have his prostate removed. Will this destroy his sex life?—MRS. S. E.

Usually not, but many men erroneously think that it will. Since the emotions play such a strong role, having this idea can, at least for a time, cause trouble. There is no reason why the operation should disturb sexual activity.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Moner in care of The Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Not All The Same

Despite the wishes of many and 200 years of propaganda to the contrary, not all Americans are equal. The inequality can be pointed out even here in Big Spring—not everyone gets the same opportunity to pay parking tickets.

Some of the more fortunate citizens get the chance regularly, every time they leave the car parked at a red-flagged meter and do not beat the meter maid to it. Others can park for long periods at red meters without getting the opportunity to exercise the right to pay a fine for violating city parking regulations.

TO BE SPECIFIC, at 11:05 a.m. Wednesday, only a minute after placing a warning ticket on a car whose license plate had an out-of-town letter designation, a meter maid calmly strode past a pair of local vehicles parked at meters registering a violation without dispensing parking tickets.

One of these unfortunate citizens was the driver of a 1956 automobile, the license number of which can be supplied. This car can be seen parked at the courthouse almost any day of the week, usually on the south side. The other car bore a license tag number which also can be supplied.

SIMILAR INCONSISTENCY was noted previously and about a month ago was reported to the police department in an effort to assure these and similarly handapped citizens of fair treatment. Assurance was given that the practice should not be carried on and would be ceased if it was. Apparently nothing much was done, or efforts made to control the practice have been ineffectual.

Moss Creek Lake, the only body of public fishing water near Big Spring, has been improved gradually to make it an ideal fishing spot. Facilities—two fishing docks and improved boat launching areas—are better than a year ago, and City Manager Larry Crow says that lights on the docks are next on the improvement schedule.

THERE IS ONE SORE spot, however, which needs attention. The hours allotted under the fishing permit are somewhat ridiculous for the sometimes fishermen like yours truly. At present, they permit fishing from midnight to midnight. For the over-nighter who gets started late one evening, carps overnight and wishes to resume fishing again for a short time the following morning, this scheduling is a bit awkward, and expensive. Fifty cents a head is enough to ask for one day's fishing, yet under the present arrangement the fisherman must pay for two permits while only benefitting from one day's enjoyment of the sport. It would be a simple matter to issue permits for 24 hours from the time they are obtained.

The Pope's Appointments

At the beginning of each new administration in Washington, political sages eye the Supreme Court and speculate on the number of appointments the new Chief Executive is apt to make during his term of office.

The same delicate examination was a constant accompaniment of the election and coronation of Pope Paul VI. It was only too obvious that the new Pope, a "young" man of 65 by age standards prevailing in the College of Cardinals, would—granted a normal life expectancy—probably be called upon to name an almost completely new college during his pontificate.

AND, AS IN appointments to the Supreme Court, there was much speculation as to what philosophical effects and changes Pope Paul's choices could work not only in the college but in the Curia whose members are, of course, drawn from the Princes of the Church.

Now, less than a month after his coronation, the Pope is faced with the first death within the college. The death of Valerio Cardinal Valeri, 79, Prefect of the Vatican's powerful Congregation of the Religious, leaves a vacancy not only in the college but in the Curia. It reduces the college to 80 members and the Curia to 31.

IT IS NO SECRET that conservative members of the college and especially of the Curia were bitterly opposed to the efforts of the late Pope John XXIII to call the Ecumenical Council and to direct the church into the main stream of the 20th Century.

Any opposition that Pope Paul may encounter in carrying out or even enlarging the programs of the late Pope can be expected to come from the church's conservative Cardinals. But time is the ally of the Pontiff, as it has always been of a Chief Executive who wished to change the make-up of the Supreme Court.

EVEN AT 79, the late Cardinal Valeri was far from being a "senior" member of the college.

Nineteen members of the college are his senior in age. Seventeen are in their eighties and two are nonagenarians. Thirty-four Princes of the Church are in their seventies, and many of these in their late sixties.

Only 14 Princes are age contemporaries of the Pope, that is, in their sixties. The remaining 11 are mere "youths," men in their fifties. Amid the 80 Cardinals in Rome for the election of the new Pontiff, Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, 51, and Cardinal Ricketts, 60, of Lima, Peru, actually looked like boys.

TO AN OUTSIDER like myself, few aspects of the conclave were more impressive than the preponderance of old men in the College of Cardinals. Some seemed very feeble. On the other hand, age had done little to dampen the physical and mental vigor of Cardinal Bea, 82, of Germany, Cardinal Tisserant, 79, of France or Cardinal Ottaviani, 82, one of the most powerful conservatives in the Curia.

Nonetheless, Vatican experts kept pointing out that Pope John, in his short reign of four and a half years, outlived 22 members of the college.

AFTER THE ELECTION of the new Pope it was argued that, in view of his youth and the fact that 55 members of the college (now 54) are 70 and over, he may well appoint an almost wholly new college during his pontificate.

It remains to be seen, of course, how the appointments of Paul VI will affect the present philosophical and political composition of the college and the Curia, and the struggle between conservatives and liberals in both.

MEN OF ALL faiths, not only Catholics, will closely watch this inevitable renewal of the College of Cardinals, for it can have the greatest effect on the Ecumenical movement and the brotherhood of man.

Marquis Childs A Very Small Beginning

WASHINGTON — When the President sits down with Averell Harriman following the long-term meaning of the drama of Moscow will begin in earnest.

The question is where we are now—presumably with a limited test-ban agreement excluding underground nuclear tests—and where we go from here. For while Harriman was authorized to "negotiate" only on a test-ban agreement, he could "discuss" with Premier Khrushchev every aspect of the cold war. Consequently he will bring back a firsthand report on the extraordinary shifts within the Communist bloc—a movement confronting the West with a whole new series of choices inconceivable only a few weeks ago.

ON THE LIMITED test-ban agreement the President's attitude has all along been one of caution and restraint. He has resisted any suggestion of summitry at the stage when a limited ban might be reached. A hitherto unreported incident throws a revealing light on the President's attitude.

On May 27 Senate resolution 148 was introduced. The resolution called for a ban on tests in the atmosphere and under the water. Its chief sponsor was Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, one of those most concerned over the need to have sufficient inspection for any agreement that included underground tests. Dodd had worked closely with Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, a leader in the long-drawn-out effort to reach the kind of pact that would put an end to pollution of the atmosphere and serve also as at least a brake on the arms race.

THIRTY-TWO Senators joined Dodd and Humphrey in signing the resolution. A day or two later when Humphrey saw the President he was surprised to get a half-humorous, half-serious dressing down for sponsoring the call for a limited ban. Don't you realize, the President said, that resolution is probably going to make it impossible to get the kind of complete ban I think we can eventually get?

This reflected the President's hopes that the Soviets would abandon their opposition to inspection within the Soviet Union and thereby make possible a full test ban. That would be a far more significant step in the direction of slowing down the arms race, since once the principle of inspection was agreed to the barrier of secrecy would have been breached.

THE HOPE AS IT turned out was short-lived. Khrushchev, in his talk with Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, left no doubt that he is still opposed to Western or even Soviet Union inspectors moving around the Soviet Union. While he did not say so, the opposition of his own military is believed to be the reason for his stand. The report of the Spaak-Khrushchev talk showed the Soviet Premier in a highly confident mood, claiming that Russia's arsenal of nuclear weapons was of such a magnitude that no further tests were necessary.

In view of what has happened in Moscow the Dodd-Humphrey resolution has a different look today. It promises to be the base of the drive which advocates of a test-ban treaty will wage for its ratification.

THEY ARE reasonably hopeful that two-thirds of the Senate will approve. The doubts center on the fierce controversy over civil rights and the controversial nature of legislation which the White House must seek to try to prevent a railroad strike. The emotions could spill over that is, in its effect on the course of the Versailles Treaty in 1919. The Senate rejection of that treaty and with it America's participation in the League of Nations seemed to many observers to insure another cycle of war and revolution.

Elaborate plans are being made by treaty advocates. Both former Presidents Truman and Eisenhower are expected to testify for it. So are many distinguished scientists. Other scientists, conspicuously Edward Teller, often called the Father of the H-Bomb, will oppose it.

TIMING IS STILL uncertain. The intention is to begin hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as soon as possible. The roadblocks of civil rights, a tax cut, rail legislation loom on the Senate floor like the Rocky Mountains.

Limited test-ban agreement is, in fact, a very small beginning. Its value is largely negative—that it can prevent another round of tests by both sides which would be the prelude to a new and accelerated phase of the nuclear arms race. But in view of the gloom of a few short months ago when a new round was anticipated this is a sizable contribution.

Mays On Hit Binge, Mets Tie Record

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be too early yet to tell whether Willie Mays, admittedly a streak hitter, is on one of his patented power displays.

If he is, the San Francisco Giants may yet give Los Angeles a run for the National League pennant. Who knows? They may even duplicate last year's late season surge when they forced the Dodgers into a playoff and then beat them for the championship.

Willie, in the last five games, has cracked nine hits in 18 times at bat. Four of his hits have been home runs and he has driven in nine runs during that span. The center fielder also has been his brilliant self in the field and on the bases.

Consequently, the Giants won four of these five.

Mays crashed a home run, double and single Thursday and batted in half his team's runs in their 1-0 triumph over the New York Mets.

It was New York's 19th straight road defeat, matching the modern major league record for futility set by the Philadelphia Athletics of 1916.

The victory, third straight over the hapless Mets, boosted the Giants into third place, a half game in front of the Chicago Cubs and 7 1/2 lengths behind the league leading Dodgers.

Pittsburgh tripped up the Dodgers 6-2 and Cincinnati shaded the Cubs 3-2. Second place St. Louis defeated Milwaukee 3-1 and Houston shut out Philadelphia 3-0.

Sandy Koufax, sensational Dodger southpaw, struck out 12 in six innings but the Pirates posted his offerings for eight hits, including a three-run homer by Roberto Clemente that spelled his fourth defeat. Koufax was seeking his 17th victory.

Superb relief pitching by Tommie Sisk helped Pittsburgh salvage the last of the three-game set.

All In Point Of View

Rocky Woolley, center fielder for the National Little League softball team, slides into third ever, the National League won over Goldsmith, 1-0. The tournament will be continued tonight.

Greybeard Hurls Colts To Win Over Phillies

HOUSTON (AP)—Skinny Brown is 38 years old and he pitches only once a week for the Houston Colts.

The extra rest seems to be just what the veteran righthander needs.

Thursday night he tossed a four-hitter at the Philadelphia Phillies as the Colts won, 3-0.

Brown allowed just one runner to reach second base as he recorded his second shut out of the season. He struck out five and didn't walk a man. It was his fourth victory against five losses.

Al Spangler backed Brown's fine hurling with a single, a double and a triple.

Brown had trouble only with third baseman, apparently has the ball hidden in his glove, and the umpires called him out. However, the National League won over Goldsmith, 1-0. The tournament will be continued tonight.

All-Stars Do Good

RENSELAER, Ind. (AP)—The college All-Stars won their football spurs in a scrimmage with the Chicago Bears, and after a little more sharpening at their Northwestern University camp, they should be ready to face the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Aug. 2.

In the scrimmage on the St. Joseph's College field Thursday, the Bears won 13-12. There were no punts or kickoffs in the match, which ended when each team ran off 72 offensive plays.

All-Star Head Coach Otto Graham says his gridders need more improvement before taking on the National Football League champion Packers, but he seemed pleased with the scrimmage.

The collegians' defense and pass protection were bright spots. They got away 36 passes and completed 24 for 239 yards.

Each quarterback passed nine times. Terry Baker of Oregon State hit on five for 25 yards, Ron VanderKlen of Wisconsin six for 74, Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian six for 69 and Glenn Geiffing of Mississippi seven for 71.

Mantleless Yanks Bow In 5-0 Surprise To LA

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees lost a ball game. Which doesn't really hurt. They also lost a ball player which could hurt very much indeed.

That's because he's a very special ball player named Mickey Mantle, and he may be out for the season.

Immediately after the Yankees' 5-0 loss to the Los Angeles Angels Thursday, Manager Ralph Houk announced that Mantle has a loose cartilage in his left knee.

"The damn thing could tighten up in three days," Houk said. "Or it could be a month. Or it could be longer."

Officially, Mantle's status is indefinite. "Dr. Sidney Gaynor said the only treatment is to wrap the knee thoroughly and give it plenty of rest." He said there was no way of estimating how long the three-time Most Valuable Player may be out of action.

The Angels' Ken McBride cooled off the defending world champions in fine shape Thursday limiting them to three scattered singles in the shutout.

Second place Chicago, edged Detroit 4-3 and lopped a full game off the Yanks American League margin, which stands at a healthy eight games. Kansas City blanked

John Pipes, the local golf architect, walked into the locker room at the Dallas AC Country Club following the last round of the PGA tournament last Sunday to congratulate Billy Maxwell on his fine closing round.

"The first thing Billy asked John was: 'How much money did I win?'"

It turned out Maxwell earned a paycheck of $3,125 for his four days of competition in the PGA, his best tournament salary in a long time.

According to Pipes, Billy was thrilled at the prospect of landing on the Ryder Cup team. It will be Billy's first time to play against the British in Ryder Cup competition and the selection carries quite a bit of prestige.

Paul Mosley was crowned grand champion of the Big Spring Golf Association's 36-hole tournament which was concluded at the Munny course recently.

He'll rule the organization as its 11thist for the ensuing year, although the regular monthly tournaments will be resumed shortly. Mosley won the honor by posting a scratch score of two over par.

Flight winners, reckoned with CLASS A — A. G. Goodson, 139, first; tie for second between Mosley and Marvin Williams, 140 each; Eddie Aciri, 141, fourth.

CLASS B — Melvin Newton, 141, first; Amador Torres, 142, second; Spot Cockerill, 143, third; R. C. McDaniel, 144, fourth.

Novis Womack is the new president of the BSGA, succeeding Mosley. Other officers named include Dan Bustamante, vice-president, and Lefly Don Reynolds, secretary.

Bill Young, a graduate of Cleburne High School and Sul Ross College, is the new head basketball coach at McCamey High School. He's 28 years of age and has been coaching in junior high in McCamey.

Young succeeded Jack Worthington, who quit to accept a head coaching position at Belton.

Danny Birdwell, the ex-Big Spring, is one of 58 players who have received support in the balloting for the all-time University of Houston football team.

Birdwell, who played varsity football for the Cougars from 1960 through 1962, is now a member of the Oakland Raiders of the AFL.

He's one of seven centers in competition for a berth on the mythical team. The others are Billy Melvey (1954-56), Burr Davis (1956-58), Ken Chancellor (1961-62), Bill Cook (1946-48), Leo Van Haverback (1949-50) and Joe McDonald (1957-58).

Bobby Clatterbuck, former San Angelo quarterback, Lonnie Holland, the one-time Plainview great; Jim Windham, who performed with distinction at tackle for Colorado City in the mid-50s, and Harold Lewis, one-time Pampa star, are among others nominated for berths on the all-time Houston club.

McBride needed only 96 pitches in recording his third victory of the season over the Yanks.

Nellie Fox drove in three runs with a pair of singles and scored another one to account for all the White Sox runs against Detroit. Don Wert hit three-run homer for the losers.

John Powell had a two-run homer, John Orsino singled in two more and Robin Roberts recorded his 252nd major league victory in the Orioles' triumph over the Senators. Baltimore now has beaten Washington 11 times in 12 meetings this season.

Kansas City's surprising Athletics got only three hits off Boston's Bill Monbouquette but turned two of them into runs while Ed Rakow, Bill Fischer and John Wyatt blanked the Red Sox on six hits.

Willie Kirkland settled things for Cleveland stroking a three-run eighth-inning homer, bringing the Indians from behind a 2-0 deficit and beating Minnesota.

Test Agreement Wins Welcome

LONDON (AP)—The three-power agreement to stop poisoning the atmosphere and the seas with nuclear weapon tests won a welcome around the world today as an immensely heartening step on the long road toward disarmament and international trust.

British newspapers of every political color welcomed the agreement warmly.

LONG TIME

The treaty will have to be ratified by the British Parliament, but this will be only a formality.

Harold Wilson, leader of the opposition Labour party, welcomed the accord and said his party would be willing to waive the protocol by which treaties are laid before the House of Commons for 21 days before final signature.

Moscow Radio called the agreement "an important step toward a relaxation of international tension and the strengthening of peace."

DRY SPELL

Letter Tells Of Tenacious Drought 128 Years Ago

"It was so dry last year crops were short and the winter was dry and it is still dry and it appears to me there will be a famine in the land. There are many people in this country that has neither bread nor meat and they can't get it for the money . . . Some say they have had no bread in two or three weeks and they go with money in their hands and can't get it . . . I fear some will starve to death for want of something to eat . . ."

prospect of your country generally. So nothing more at present but remain your loving and affectionate brother until death. Lanier Brewer."

So reads a portion of a letter owned by the family of Mrs. Geraldine Atwell of Gail Route. The letter, written May 23, 1835, was penned by Mrs. Atwell's great-uncle, Lanier Brewer, and was addressed to her great-grandfather Walter C. Brewer, Mrs. Atwell's mother, Mrs. Lela Long, 1708 Morrison Drive, is the piece of the author of the gloomy letter.

At the time, the letter was written Mrs. Atwell's great-grandfather was postmaster at High Hill, Miss.

"Earl Brewer of Carthage, Mo., has the original letter," Mrs. Atwell said.

"We have kept the letter in the family all of these years," said Mrs. Atwell, "and we are often amused at the quaintness my great-uncle displayed in his wording."

"Now that everyone is talking about how hot and dry it is, I thought of what Great Uncle Lanier wrote 128 years ago."

The letter is dated "State of Alabama, Dale County."

The writer continues: "Dear brother I embrace the present opportunity of writing to you to let you know that myself and family is in reasonable health at this time . . . I have nothing of importance to write to you only we are suffering with drought at this time. We have had no rain since the first of April of consequence and it appears no prospect of any . . ."

He then dismally predicts the starvation ahead quoted earlier.

He complains of his age and feebleness and his inability to travel to see his brother and then relates:

"TROUBLE, TROUBLE
"I was entered out three years ago by an old villain by the name of Benjamin Walden and he promised to pay me for my improvement and set the price himself. He was to give me a land warrant for 80 acres of land and a wagon and yoke of oxen and more than a year passed away and he told some of the neighbors he was not going to pay the land warrant and I sued him for the warrant and it went through two courts before it was decided and I did not get justice and it went against me and I had to pay the cost a hundred and forty dollars beside my lawyers fee and now I must close . . . Write to me as soon as you get this and let me know how you are and your family is and the prospects of crops and

Negotiators Have Words Of Praise

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Thomas Mann and Foreign Minister Manuel Tello of Mexico, who played key roles in working out the Chamizal land agreement, praised each other Thursday.

Tello rated Mann's "good will and understanding" an important factor.

Mann expressed respect and admiration for Tello, adding: "His long and dedicated service to his country, which he profoundly loves, has not prevented him from serving also the cause of peace and good will between nations."

The exchange came at a meeting of the Mexico City Lions Club. Tello and Mann were invited to speak on the Chamizal agreement, in which the United States agreed to turn over a strip of land in El Paso claimed by Mexico.

HOUSTON (AP)—Lt. Col. John Powers, public affairs officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has been informed that his role in the manned space flight program is going to change.

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Marshal Floyd, 45, a retired Missouri Pacific clerk, died early today of a gunshot wound in the forehead. A neighbor, A. L. Garza, found Floyd in the backyard of his home. Police found a rifle and three notes near the body.

Powers conferred in Washington with NASA Administrator James Webb and deputy administrator High Dryden. He said the three discussed the "changing nature of the manned space flight program."

Powers said Webb told him that because of the shift from the finished Mercury one-man flight program to the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo flight programs, there will be changes in the role and duties of a number of persons in the manned space flight program.

"Where Is Your Brother?"

THE STORY OF CAIN AND ABEL AND OF GOD'S WRATH TOWARD SIN AS SEEN IN THE JUDGMENT OF THE FLOOD

Scripture—Genesis 3-11.

By N. SPEER JONES
THIS WEEK'S lesson repeats again the Biblical assignment for last week, but with different emphasis. Last week we saw how sin entered into the human race; this week we see how it grows to such proportions that God repented his creation of man, and destroyed most of mankind.

The first great step in this tragic growth was the murder of Abel, son of Adam and Eve, by his own brother, Cain. How old the two were exactly we do not know, but it seems clear that they were grown men.

It is interesting to note the literal meanings of their names. Cain comes from the Hebrew "kanah," which means to acquire; thus Cain, the first-born, was an "acquisition." Abel means "vanity." This may indicate the fact that vanity almost always follows acquisitions; it may also indicate a subconscious prophecy of the cause of his death.

In respect to their offerings, it may be that Cain's "fruit of the ground" was not merely the produce of the ground which he tilled, but that it consisted of fruit which had already fallen off the trees and vines and lay on the ground—clearly not the best produce, since it would at least be bruised. Abel, on the other hand, brought the firstlings of his flock; he made sacrifice with his first produce.

In any event, it is clear from Genesis 4:9 we come to the second direct cross-examination by God in the Bible. Notice that while Adam and Eve had been evasive, they at least had the virtue of humility, in their sin, sin has hardened humility into impudence.

One of Adam's sons, Seth, was a godly man who begat a godly line of descendants in the midst of the world's increasing sinfulness. Ninth in this line of descent from Adam was Noah, whom God saved during the deluge.

After the flood, Noah is told, as Adam was, to replenish the earth. From his son Shem come all the Semitic peoples. From this line came Abraham.

SHOULD NEW CHRISTIANS JOIN A CHURCH?

This question is actually confusingly vague from an intelligent Biblical standpoint; but it is often asked nevertheless. It is sometimes said that a child can be born outside of a home and make a comparison like this: so it is a person can become a Christian outside of a church. My friends, this illustration does not stand up to the rule of good thinking, and the reason is this, a child born outside of a home (and we don't mean just a house) would be illegitimate; and so it is just as illegitimate for one to become a Child of God, a Christian, outside of the house of God which is the church of the living God. This is the reason that from an intelligent Biblical standpoint the question listed above is vague and confusing.

The Bible teaches that "the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved"—Acts 2:47 and that the church is blood purchased, Acts 20:28, when therefore, a person is saved from his past sins by the blood of Christ he is added to the church. That which makes him a Christian makes him a member of the church, and saves him from the guilt of his past sins all simultaneously; there is no such a thing as joining the church of your choice when you do what the Bible says. The multiplicity of divided religious bodies does not accord to God's will.

Elbert R. Garretson, Minister

Speakers At Services

The series of services sponsored by local Churches of Christ will be drawing to a close this weekend. Speaker for Friday evening will be Curtis Camp, left, preacher for the Main Street Church of Christ, and his topic will be "Being Kept Saved." Saturday Alphonso Harris, minister of the Church of Christ at 1000 NW 3rd, will speak on "Prayer and Salvation." The services are held daily at the City Park amphitheatre.

Archeological Finds Add Support To Nazareth Story

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Was Jesus from Nazareth? Indeed, was there a Nazareth in his time, or was it invented to satisfy pilgrims to the place where Jesus lived?

A workman's accidental discovery of a fragment of a Hebrew inscription on marble may help answer these questions. The fragment is being studied by the Israel Department of Antiquities of Hebrew University.

Shalom Attiah noticed the chunk of marble in his wheelbarrow at an excavation site at Caesarea, Israel, on the Mediterranean Coast.

Dr. Jerry Vardaman, archeology professor at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, who had charge of the digging, recalled that workmen had been told to be watchful because some searchers were growing disheartened and careless near the end of the season.

The seminary has a copy of the fragment, which is said to add evidence that Nazareth did exist in the time of Jesus. The inscription on the marble was part of a list of Jewish priestly families and the towns where they lived in Galilee.

Authorities place the fragment in the period of the late second to the fourth century, A.D. Dr. Vardaman said the inscription contains the earliest known Hebrew references to Nazareth.

Many scholars have contended that Jesus lived in Chorazin or Capernaum. The name "Nazareth" as applied to Jesus sometimes is said to refer to a pre-Christian religious group.

Skepticism on the subject was noted in the Encyclopedia Britannica.

"It is very doubtful whether the beautiful mountain village of Nazareth itself was really the dwelling place of Jesus. No such town as Nazareth is mentioned in the Old Testament, in Josephus, or in the Talmud."

Dr. Vardaman said he is certain some sort of settlement existed at the present site of Nazareth in Jesus' time.

He said recent excavations there—along with the prize find of the fragment—have produced strong archeological support for the scriptural statement that Jesus was from Nazareth.

Mormons Observe Arrival Birthday

The observance here of the arrival of first Mormon pioneers in the Great Salt Lake valley 116 years ago was marked by a day of personal meditation by members of the Church of Latter Day Saints congregation.

Pilgrims had left Nauvoo, Ill., on Feb. 4, 1846, crossed the Mississippi, and after great hardships arrived under leadership of Young, who succeeded the prophet Joseph Smith. On July 24, 1847, the pioneers came in view of the valley, and Young marked it with: "This is the place." But this was by no means the end of the pioneering spirit by the adherents.

Ten years after the Alamo Mormons settled in Travis County and eventually settled four other new Texas counties. Their Salt Lake venture became the foundation for four western states.

Center Enlarged

STONY POINT, N. Y. (AP)—A large-scale construction program is in progress to double the facilities and capacity of the inter-denominational Missionary Orientation Center here. The $650,000 expansion program is being carried out by the six participating denominations.

Bethlehem, S.D., Gets Cave Shrine

BETHLEHEM, S.D. (AP)—High on a rim of Elk Creek Canyon in the Black Hills National Forest, lies the little town of Bethlehem.

Since 1956, Benedictine fathers and monks of Conception Abbey of Conception, Mo., have been building living quarters, repairing washed out roads and constructing a shrine at Crystal Cave.

An old mule barn was converted into living quarters for the monks. The Shrine of the Nativity, a replica of one in the Holy Land, was built inside Crystal Cave.

"Christ was born in a stable in a cave and the Church first took hold in the Rome Catacombs during 300 years of persecution," Father Gilbert explains.

"St. Benedict, patron saint of cave explorers, lived in a cave for three years before he founded the famous order of Monte Cassino Abbey," he adds.

Two priests are permanently in residence at the shrine. They are assisted by laymen who are oblates of Conception Abbey.

During the busy summer tourist season, Father Gilbert says, additional monks are supplied and numerous laymen from the U.S. and Canada donate their time.

The shrine, built near the entrance, is deep enough to provide an atmosphere of warmth and serenity.

In the cave, tourists travel the one-half mile route used by visitors to the old Crystal Cave.

Walks are electrically lighted and a guide explains the formations and the various rooms along the way.

Father Gilbert estimates that about 10,000 visitors a year come to the shrine. There is no admission charge.

"But we do ask everyone who visits us to say a prayer for peace," he says. "We feel everyone's prayers are needed for world peace."

Pictures and postcards are for sale, however.

Services are held at the shrine twice each morning during the

Turban Family To Attend Convention

A. D. Turman, 500 Donley, and family will head a delegation of members of the Big Spring congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses to an international convention of the religious group scheduled for the Pasadena Rose Bowl, Sept. 1-8.

Convention officials in Pasadena, Calif., announced that 70,000 persons are expected to attend the eight day gathering representing the western United States, Canada and Mexico.

"We plan our annual vacation around an outing for the family including travel," he said, "but also on the agenda is attendance at a religious convention of Jehovah's Witnesses which is a regular part of our ministerial training program. A total of 21 other assemblies are planned around the world."

Law Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Clyde W. Taylor, secretary of public affairs for the National Association of Evangelicals, says that the Sudan's new Missionary Societies Act, prohibiting missionaries from working among people except of their own faith and restricting them to specific areas; is one of the "most repressive laws against Christianity outside the Iron Curtain."

THE
GOD

Do you ever pause to listen to the voice of God? We hear it every day, wherever we may be. God is the Bringer of all blessings to man and beast alike.

In the whispering of tall trees... the music of rushing brooks... the songs of the birds... the gay laughter of happy children... we hear the voice of the Great Creator. Through his infinite grace a bird is enabled to serenade his mate, a tiny cricket chirps its faint refrain.

Let us give thanks to Him who has so enriched our lives. Open church doors beckon all over our land. Let us seek the House of the Lord, and enter in to pay Him homage. Here through prayer and humility, let us rededicate ourselves to His service and glorification.

Accent Homes Open Saturday

These two Accent homes, at 2404 and 2406 Merrily, will be open to the public at 10 a.m. Saturday and daily thereafter. They are built by Vogue Homes, Big Spring, and have the same features of the new type built in Dallas and which have received the seven highest awards offered the home building industry. The two homes are furnished by Elrod's.

Open House Begins Saturday For Two New Accent Homes

Two Accent model homes, nationally recognized for quality and excellence in design, will be introduced in Big Spring Saturday. Built by Vogue Homes, they incorporate all of the features of Accent homes in Dallas, which have captured more awards and recognition than any other residences in the nation.

Available in a variety of floor plans, Accent exteriors are finished in combinations of brick, stone and wood with hipped or peaked roofs, and offer such features as a split-level entranceway, three or four bedrooms, two full baths, year-round air conditioning, gas, electric kitchen complete with oven, range, dishwasher and franchise operation that now offers to Big Spring all the advantages associated with a name product's skilled management team.

The Accent home at 2404 Merrily is a two-story structure with four bedrooms. Both homes are furnished by Elrod's of Big Spring. The Accent at 2406 is a single story home with three bedrooms.

"Accent homes are nationally recognized for their quality," Barnes said. "Accent is modern living at its best, the ultimate in home ownership, and we feel fortunate to be a part of the vast disposer, and large walk-in closets.

All Accent homes meet the highest standards in architectural design and construction specifications and, in either building or fixtures, embrace such brand names as Fiberglass, Armstrong, Celotex, Carrier Weather-maker, Honeywell, American Standard, General Electric, Tappan, Southern Yellow Pine, Nutone, and United States Steel.

Accent first was introduced in Dallas by Fox & Jacobs Construction Co. The Accent builders have received more awards and more recognition than any other in the nation, including the seven most coveted in the home building industry.

Van Cliburn Gets 3 Encore Calls

INTERLOCHEN, Mich. (AP)—Pianist Van Cliburn, playing a 45-minute concerto in hot, humid conditions, received a standing ovation and returned for three encores Thursday night in a concert at the National Music Camp.

Cliburn, a Texan from Kilgore, played Brahms' Piano Concerto 2 with the 150-piece National High School Symphony Orchestra.

Terrorists Escape Venezuelan Prison

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuelan troops and police combed Caracas today for 86 Communist terrorists and common criminals who fought their way out of a crowded prison in a gun battle that left at least 5 dead and 51 wounded.

About 200 of the 816 terrorists and criminals at Reten La Planta prison—in a residential section of Caracas—participated in the break Thursday.

They overpowered 40 guards and poured out of the prison gates and a hole in a wall under construction. Troop reinforcements drove back all but 102. Sixteen were rounded up shortly afterward.

Scattered automatic fire was heard in parts of Caracas during the night. There were reports of a number of robberies and shootings.

Prison officials said imprisoned members of the Armed Forces of National Liberation known also as FALN, incited criminals to join them in the break.

The FALN, known for sabotage and attacks on Venezuelan and U.S.-owned installations and businesses, has vowed to overthrow President Romulo Betancourt's democratically elected government and set up a Castro-style regime.

Some sources suggested the break was timed to coincide with today's 26th of July anniversary marking Prime Minister Fidel Castro's initial attempt 10 years ago to launch a revolution in Cuba.

Elsewhere in Venezuela, FALN terrorists blew up three major highway bridges. They told newspapers they planned to assault police stations to divert forces hunting the prison escapees.

Authorities said terrorist prisoners overpowered guards at the prison meal and opened cell blocks. Other guards moved in, shooting and battling prisoners with gun butts and night sticks.

The convicts gained temporary control, however. About 100 women prisoners ran hysterically through the melee.

Guards and police finally rallied. Their fire pinned down many of the escapees in a creek bed while troops in armored cars cut off escape routes.

As troops forced the convicts back inside the prison, snipers opened fire from nearby buildings and some prisoners hurled grenades. Many continued to struggle despite wounds.

Officials said a police inspector and four prisoners were killed. However, witnesses said they saw other bodies, including a passerby and policeman.

A number of bystanders caught in the cross fire were among the wounded.

Gov. Alejandro Oropeza of the federal district said the mutineers were being transferred from the prison to Venezuela's toughest penitentiary, El Dorado, in the Guayana jungle.

Authorities recovered two police cars the escapees had commandeered and found another police car burned.

Red Tape Closes Roosevelt Home

A closed gate and a "No Trespassing" sign greets hundreds of tourists daily who try to visit the Franklin D. Roosevelt home on Campobello Island, N.B., across from Eastport, Me. Last May President Kennedy and Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada announced the home had been given to two governments as an international shrine. The home has been open for the past three years while owned by the Hammer brothers, New York art dealers. Victor Hammer has said he would turn the home over to officials of the two governments any time. A spokesman for Secretary of the Interior Udall said Congressional action was necessary before the National Park Department could take over the home with Canada.

Witnesses Disagree On Effect Of Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., testified today federal legislation would help advance voluntary desegregation of places of public accommodation. Gov. Donal Russell of South Carolina said it would breed resistance.

Their conflicting testimony on a bill to ban racial discrimination in stores, hotels, restaurants and other privately owned businesses serving the public was presented to the Senate Commerce Committee.

Allen, the first witness, said if Congress should not pass the bill it "would amount to an endorsement of private business setting up an entirely new status of discrimination throughout the nation."

"Cities like Atlanta might slip backwards," he said, adding that "hotels and restaurants that have already taken this issue upon themselves and opened their doors might find it convenient to go back to the old status."

Gov. Russell said racial discrimination is not a problem for either state or federal government; that it can best be met voluntarily on the local level.

"Legal coercion will actually retard, not accelerate, advances in creating that atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding so urgently needed today by both races," he said.

The governor maintained that "the only kind of change which can promise real advance will be voluntary. Coercive legislation will breed resistance and perhaps violence and destroy that area of understanding and cooperation upon which alone we can base peaceful change."

Overriding several defense motions, Gray held the seven must stand trial before him on charges of jury tampering.

Only the date for the trial remained to be settled before a lengthy pre-trial conference concluded.

Hoffa's attorneys also lost on their efforts to have the trial moved to another city because of "slandered newspaper reporting" here and to have each defendant tried separately.

The indictment charges that the seven men attempted to bribe jurors and prospective jurors during Hoffa's conspiracy trial here last year. That trial ended with the jury deadlocked.

Abbott, shot below the right knee, suffered a flesh wound. Whitton said that Abbott, who was with a fellow airman, Wesley C. Cook, told him the men had gone rabbit hunting Sunday afternoon. A rabbit was sighted, Abbott said, and the airman attempted to make a quick draw and shoot. The gun discharged ahead of schedule and the bullet lodged in the airman's leg. It did not strike the bone, Abbott was taken to the Webb AFB hospital.

A young airman is recovering from a gunshot wound in the right leg as result of his pistol being a shade quicker than his draw.

Bill Whitton, deputy sheriff, said the shooting occurred last Sunday afternoon 2½ miles east of US 87 on the Forsan road.

Whitton said the man shot in the leg is William E. Abbott, 20, Webb AFB, member of the 3560th CAM Squadron.

Refuses To Dismiss Case

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Federal Dist. Judge Frank Gray refused today to dismiss an indictment charging Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and six other men tried to "fix" a federal court jury.

Overriding several defense motions, Gray held the seven must stand trial before him on charges of jury tampering.

Only the date for the trial remained to be settled before a lengthy pre-trial conference concluded.

Hoffa's attorneys also lost on their efforts to have the trial moved to another city because of "slandered newspaper reporting" here and to have each defendant tried separately.

Woman Held For Maiming

Willie Mae Atchison, 29, of 509 NW 4th, was arrested on a warrant charging her with maiming late Thursday. The warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice on a complaint filed by Willie Palmer, a Northside man, who alleged the woman threw live water in his face.

Palmer was treated at Cowper Clinic-Hospital for caustic burns on his face, arms, and left eye.

Willie Mae Atchison was arrested for investigation following a disturbance at NW 5th and North Gregg, and was later charged with maiming, a felony.

She was transferred to the Howard County jail Friday, and her case will go to the district court. No hearing had been held at noon Friday.

Ceremonies Will Highlight First Camping Period

The first week of instruction at Camp Ed Murphy, on Lake J. B. Thomas, winds up today with Indian campfire ceremonies, according to Bill McTeer, scout executive.

The campers will include on their program a part of the calling-out ceremony for the red and white. The public is welcome, McTeer said, and visitors should be on hand by 8 p.m. to avoid missing any of the program.

About 75 boys from the area are taking part in the camp. It is located on the northeast corner of the lake, by Murphy School.

A new session begins at 2 p.m. Sunday. It is open to all troops, as well as to individuals who need to earn their aquatic merit badges. All aquatic badges can be earned during the week, with instruction in lifesaving, swimming, boating, among other things.

Leo Lee, scout executive from Odessa, is director of the camp. He is assisted by a trained group of instructors.

Dr. Kirkpatrick Wins Top Honor

Dr. Marjorie Kirkpatrick, former Medical Arts physician who was paralyzed following an automobile accident in 1955, has been named physician of the year by the Texas Rehabilitation Association.

Dr. Kirkpatrick is currently medical director of the Texas Rehabilitation Center, formerly known as the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation. She became interested in physical medicine after her stay at the foundation during rehabilitation.

Her paralysis was the result of an automobile mishap Nov. 27, 1955 about 15 miles north of Big Lake. In the accident Mrs. Rozelle Stephens McKinney, a member of a prominent Big Spring family, was killed when she was thrown from the vehicle which had left the highway, jumped a borrow ditch and barbed wire fence and overturned several times before coming to rest in a pasture. They were returning from a weekend hunting trip at a ranch near Sonora.

Trigger Quicker Than The Draw, Airman Is Winged

Two Men Survive Four Days In Gulf

APALACHICOLA, Fla. (AP)—Two men spent almost four days in a 12-foot boat battling the choppy waters of the Gulf of Mexico after their sleek ketch sank Monday.

A shrimp boat finally spotted the pair and brought them to safety.

Stanley Bruno, 62, of Laredo, Tex., and David Hanson, 24, a Key West, Fla., school teacher, told of their hazardous journey from hospital beds Thursday.

Bruno and Hanson used a 7½-horsepower outboard engine to push the small boat toward shore after their 38-foot ketch, the Antares, sank about 100 miles southeast of New Orleans.

Bruno, owner of a motel in Laredo with his wife Lillian, said he bought the ketch in Miami for $12,000. He and Hanson left Naples, on the Southwest Florida coast, last Friday intending to sail straight across the Gulf to Corpus Christi, Tex.

"About 175 miles out the boat developed a leak from the anchor swinging and hitting the bow under water," Bruno said. "We couldn't see, hear or feel it."

"When the boat started to fill, we took up the floorboards and went into the hold. We found the anchor coming through."

"We put our valuables, food and water into the small boat, spreading them around to keep it balanced. The weather was extremely rough, with heavy rain. The ketch sank in two hours."

Bruno said he used the outboard only when the Gulf was calm, to save fuel and keep from overturning.

"We didn't see anything," he related, "until we came to a small island off Port St. Joe (29 miles west of Apalachicola). It was uninhabited and we couldn't get into it on account of the rough seas. We used the motor to take us to West Pass at Apalachicola Bay."

There they encountered the shrimp boat Mammie D., and Capt. James Holley of Apalachicola brought them in.

"We had to bail to keep the small boat afloat," Bruno said. "We weren't worried except for the heavy seas, and we had 10 gallons of gasoline left. We only used the motor when the seas calmed down."

"We had plenty of food but ate only one can of corn and one can of pears during the four days. We didn't drink any water. I guess we had enough moisture from the rain and the sea."

Bruno will undergo surgery for a rupture suffered while helping lift the anchor of the Mammie D. Hanson's feet were swollen and blistered from almost four days and night in canvas shoes.

"We weren't worried much," they agreed, "but we're sure glad to be on land again."

Crackdown On Use Of Troops In Movies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Motion picture and television producers may find it tougher in the future to get the use of troops, fighting ships, warplanes and military technical advisers in making films.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told a reporter today his office is shaping final details of a directive that will tighten control over cooperation with companies in production of pictures with military themes.

The movie industry has registered objections, and the individual armed services aren't overly happy about the prospect. Changes have been made in the proposed policy to take account of some of the industry and service views, Sylvester said.

The Pentagon's information and public affairs chief said he anticipates that opponents of the policy will charge attempted censorship. He denied any such aim.

Sylvester contended that when movie and television producers receive the benefit of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of government-owned equipment and military manpower, it is the Pentagon's responsibility to make sure the picture serves the national interest.

The purpose of the new directive is to enforce a requirement, already on the books, that industry requests for military cooperation be channeled through the Defense Department rather than through the services.

Under the new policy, the Pentagon will require full and detailed information from the producers in advance of approval for military help. There may be closer reading of scripts than in the past.

The armed services feel that movies and television shows portraying military life promote recruiting. But Sylvester said he is skeptical that there is any such impact.

Early in his tenure in the Pentagon, Sylvester caught fire from members of Congress who claimed too many soldiers spent too much time working on "The Longest Day," which depicted the 1944 invasion of Normandy.

This criticism had much to do with his action to lay down strict rules, Sylvester acknowledged.

NERVOUSNESS Can Often be Traced to an Eye Condition

Guard against eye disease, eyestrain, and poor vision with a professional eye examination at TSO.

Nervousness can be an early symptom of eyestrain. If nervousness keeps you from feeling your best, your eyes could be the cause of your discomfort. You owe it to yourself to have your eyes examined by a Doctor of Optometry at TSO. At TSO your visual history is recorded. Next, your eyes are examined for evidence of disease or defect, such as glaucoma or cataract. Finally, they are examined for visual abnormalities, such as near or farsightedness, astigmatism or muscle imbalance.

If your examination reveals the need for glasses, they will be accurately prescribed and fitted for the clearest, most comfortable vision possible. The cost is reasonable at TSO. Finest quality single vision glasses are as low as $14.85, including examination, lenses and frame. Invisibile bifocals are as low as $17.85 complete. So, guard against eyestrain, eye disease and poor vision—visit TSO soon.

Room For Doubt Concerning Fallout

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—There is room for doubt in the reported findings of a Canadian doctor that radioactive fallout caused abnormalities in Alberta babies during 1961. Alberta Health Minister, Dr. J. Donovan Ross said.

He said the findings of Dr. L. J. Le Vann, reported in the latest issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal need substantiation by other studies before they can be accepted as final.

Dr. Le Vann said physical abnormalities among Alberta children born in 1961 were about twice as numerous as 1959. He claimed there is evidence which shows radioactive rainfall was the cause.
