Zuckert Says It's Too Late For TFX Dual Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Zuckert says it is too late to undertake showdown flight tests between rival models of the TFX warplane.

He gave the reply Wednesday to a renewed proposal from Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., that actual planes for testing be ordered from both the General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth and the Boeing Co. and "let the best company win."

Kennedy Polishes Senate Appeal On Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy polished up an appeal to the Senate for resounding approval of the new East-West limited test ban pact today while representatives of at least 30 nations signed the treaty in Washington, London and Moscow.

The presidential message asking ratification and placing the pact officially before the Senate was due at the Capitol in late afternoon. The President took some time out from his shuttle run between his ailing new-born son in Boston and his wife at Otis Air Force Base where the baby was born Wednesday, for work on the appeal.

Senate GOP Stages Show On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans have put on a neat display of party solidarity on civil rights for visiting members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

By marshaling a 24-1 party vote the Republicans forced some red-faced Democrats Wednesday to cast their votes against a proposal by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to ban federal grants for racially segregated hospitals.

The Republican move, made before passage of a $5,494,672,250 money bill for the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor Department, caught the Democrats unaware on a day when many of them had been visited by NAACP delegations seeking action on civil rights legislation.

The Javits amendment would have barred the use of federal funds for construction not made available to all persons without discrimination because of race, creed or color.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana moved to kill the Javits amendment. With the Republicans voting almost solidly and civil rights Democrats joining them, the Mansfield motion appeared headed for defeat.

Some quick footwork by Mansfield's assistants changed the mind of enough Democrats to give the leader a 44-37 victory.

Javits rose promptly to say the real temper of the Senate seemed to favor the antidiscrimination amendment into the measure.

Mansfield replied that when the administration's civil rights bill—which he said would cover the subject of the Javits amendment—comes before the Senate, he is confident a majority of Democrats will vote for it.

The NAACP winds up a three-day strategy conference here today. During the conference, NAACP leaders discussed ways to stir up stronger grass roots sentiment for civil rights legislation. They also buttonholed many Congressmen.

Sterling Pays Off Courthouse

STERLING CITY — Sterling County now has a completely paid-out courthouse. County Judge W. R. (Bill) Brooks said that the final bond payment was made July 31, retiring the 1938 issue floated to finance the courthouse. This is the first time that Sterling County has had a completely paid-out official home.

The present structure, still a handsome building, was erected at a cost of $82,640, of which the Public Works Administration supplied $41,905. Sterling County approved the initial bond issue July 23, 1938, floated the issue in October of the year at four per cent.

A remaining $40,000 was refunded at 2 7/8 per cent in 1944, and then a final refunding at two per cent in 1955.

Cleaning Lots

"We have received calls from several vacant lot owners asking the city to send a mower to clean the lots up," City Manager Larry Crow said Thursday morning. A city-owned mower - shredder has been working for over a week on city property, and on lots owned by others who have requested the work. Some notices have been sent out by the fire marshal and the lots covered in the notices will be rechecked next week.

The parade was to move at 4 p.m. today starting at Eleventh and Main. This is always the opening event of the annual rodeo.

Rodeo director is Helbig and the County 4-H Club rodeo directors are Donnie Anderson, Bob Adkins, Bud Saunders, J. K. Elrod, Mary Thornton, and Freddy Cad White. Saunders is president of the association.

A special event added to this year's program will be bulldogging for boys 16-19 years of age. Tickets are on sale from any club member or can be bought at Helbig's office. Tickets will be sold at the gate each night.

All-round champion of the show will receive a special saddle. Silver buckles go to the best performers in each event.

A number of youngsters who are rated high in the AJRA competition for championships in their age groups have entered the competition here. Points won here count toward the determination of national honors in the AJRA.

Included in the stars who are to compete is Ernie Taylor, Hugo, Okla., who is leading the field for all-round cowboy and seems assured of getting that title at Odessa in the national finals Aug. 21-24. Taylor has a commanding lead in the 16 to 19 age group with 2,254 points. Butch Overturf, who loomed in the early season as a sure winner, is out for the rest of the year.

Nothing Illegal Seen In Stock Market Break

Pickets Back In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Pickets returned today to a hospital construction site in Brooklyn in defiance of a truce proclaimed by Negro clergymen after a conference with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Some of the pickets posted themselves at entrances to the project but moved away quickly when police requested them not to interfere with the movements of supply trucks.

Arnold Goldwag, a leader of the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, was in the line of 21 pickets.

About 100 policemen were at the scene. Goldwag said Wednesday night that picketing would continue at the Downstate Medical Center project "until we see constructive evidence of more employment opportunities for Negroes and Puerto Ricans" in the building trades.

The Rev. William A. Jones Jr., spokesman for the six Brooklyn clergymen who met with the governor, commented: "We have given the governor our words of honor. We shall abide by them. We shall not let a group of irresponsible persons cause us to betray our promise."

Jones said the clergymen, who started the campaign for jobs, "will not lead our congregations back to the site."

Jones said of Goldwag and his CORE associates: "I don't believe they have anything else to do but stay on the picket line. I consider Goldwag a group of irresponsible persons cause us to betray our promise."

Before the Brooklyn ministers took the leadership in the civil rights struggle for better employment, the civil rights organizations could not gather enough people to picket. I don't think they can do so now. We have become the leaders of the people in this struggle and we intend to remain so." About 860 Negro and white pickets have been arrested since the demonstrations began July 10 at the medical center. Most of the arrests were for interfering with building supply trucks. Scores of demonstrators have been arrested at other sites in the city.

Rockefeller's accord with the Negro ministers was rejected as inadequate Wednesday by the Joint Committee for Equal Employment Opportunity. CORE is one of six groups represented in the committee.

The joint committee called for continued picketing at construction sites, saying it was fed up with "public relations devices being put forth as a substitute for meaningful action."

Rockefeller declined to comment on the committee's decision. Ramon E. Rivera, spokesman for the clergymen got from Rockefeller was "a simple reaffirmation of a promise to enforce the states laws against discrimination."

Paul Gibson, state housing chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which also is represented in the joint committee, said NAACP members would picket the Rochdale apartments construction site in Jamaica, Queens, today.

"We do not consider the agreement between the governor and Brooklyn clergymen binding upon us," he said.

Rockefeller promised aid in getting more construction jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans and announced a program to tighten enforcement of antidiscrimination laws.

Jones said Rockefeller did not ask for an end to the demonstrations. The clergymen said the announced truce was voluntary.

SHOWER REPORTED

A shower of limited extent struck the extreme south edge of Howard County and the northern border of Glasscock County at 3 p.m. Wednesday. The community near Lee's Store gauged .40 inch. No rain fell in Big Spring or elsewhere in the county.

Young Demo Leader Dies

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—Roy Schaffer, president of the national Young Democrats Organization during the election of President Kennedy, was found dead today in the wreckage of a small plane on Laurel Mountain.

A passenger, Philip Asher, 33, of Bethel Park, a Pittsburgh suburb, survived the crash. He is an engineer for radio station WSSW in Pittsburgh.

State police found the wreckage some 18 miles east of this southwestern Pennsylvania community. The plane had been reported overdue from a flight from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg.

Airport Hearing Now In Recess

DALLAS (AP)—The Fort Worth-Dallas regional airport case was in recess today and is expected to resume about Sept. 15, probably in Washington.

The hearing, of almost five weeks, is one of the most complicated in Civil Aeronautics Board history. The CAB is expected to decide whether to declare one airport the regional airport for North Texas, and if one airport is designated whether it will be the facility at Fort Worth or Dallas.

PRECEDED BY PARADE

All Is In Readiness For Junior Rodeo This Evening

Entry lists have closed, the stock to be used in the three night events has arrived, plans are complete for the parade at 4 p.m. today and all is in readiness for the 18th Annual Howard County Junior Rodeo to raise its curtain at 8 p.m.

The rodeo runs Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. It is sponsored by the Howard County 4-H Club Association and is sanctioned by the American Junior Rodeo Association.

Herb Helbig, superintendent of the show, said that 137 entrants have officially filed in the events on the program. Drawing for places and animals was under way today in Helbig's office, which is rodeo headquarters.

The parade was to move at 4 p.m. today starting at Eleventh and Main. This is always the opening event of the annual rodeo.

President Will Return To Boston

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy suddenly changed plans today and arranged to return to Boston. The White House announcement came after the President had consulted with doctors caring for his ailing, newborn son, Patrick Bouvier, a premature baby suffering from a breathing difficulty.

The baby is under treatment in Children's Medical Center in Boston. The President earlier had visited her wife at the Air Force hospital here and it was announced he planned to remain in the Cape Cod area until Monday. (More details on page 4-A)

Panel Winds Up Two-Year Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Securities and Exchange Commission study committee said today there was no evidence of manipulation or illegal conduct in the sharp stock market break of 1962.

The committee agreed with a New York Stock Exchange report that no discernible single group, or circumstances, could be singled out as the cause of the tremendous drop in stock prices in late May of last year.

The special committee wound up a two-year study of the securities industry with recommendations for changes in the basic voting power on the New York Stock Exchange, for abolition or strict control over the heavy initial fees which some mutual funds charge investors, and for basic changes in the rules for buying stocks on credit.

The third and final installment of the report echoed the committee's previous call for more vigorous self-regulation by the stock exchanges and other industry groups, such as the National Association of Securities Dealers.

At the same time, the commission disclosed in a letter to Congress that it plan to propose only one, or possibly two, pieces of legislation other than the package which recently passed the Senate and is awaiting House action.

Since the package measure has the support of the stock exchanges and other principal industry groups, the commission has no hotly controversial proposals to make to Congress.

Many of the sweeping changes proposed in previous sections of the 13-chapter report can be put into effect by a simple order of the commission.

As previously announced, the commission said it planned to submit to Congress next year a proposal for changing the method of quoting prices on over-the-counter stocks, and for placing some control over the process.

Over-the-counter securities are those not listed on exchanges. The SEC also said it would go along with new proposals the Federal Reserve Board might have in regard to the buying of stocks on credit.

The SEC indicated that it would discuss the matter with the Federal Reserve, which controls credit that is advanced for the purpose of buying or holding securities.

There were no specific recommendations in regard to preventing future sudden, wide swings in stock prices, but the study group said previous proposals for changes in the exchanges probably would help preserve an orderly market.

The previous proposals called for the elimination of floor traders, strict controls over floor specialists, and changes in the system of handling small transactions.

Floor traders are individuals who buy and sell on the floor in hopes of quick profit, and specialists are those who match the buy and sell orders in particular stocks and transact business for their own account when there is a surplus of buy or sell orders. The commission said there was no discernible reason for what it called the breakdown in odd-lot trading mechanisms on the New York Stock Exchange during last year's big slide in prices.

The committee, headed by Chicago attorney Milton H. Cohen, steered clear of pointing out any special reason for a pile-up of orders during the drop.

However, in its summary, there was special emphasis on a comment by a New York Stock Exchange specialist that the volume of stop-loss orders seemed to be a major factor in holding up the execution of transactions.

Stop-loss orders are a direction that a stock be sold if the price of the stock drops below a point set by the seller. Such orders are designed to prevent an especially heavy loss.

AF Men Among Those Arrested In Demonstration

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Thirty-two demonstrators, including some Air Force men, were arrested Wednesday night in a civil rights demonstration by 300 Negroes.

David Riley, a representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said mass demonstrations would continue "until we obtain full integration."

Those arrested included servicemen from nearby Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. Airman Leroy G. Brown was charged with damaging private property. Police Chief H. A. Lane said Brown threw a bottle through the windshield of an auto.

The others were charged with trespassing when they tried to enter a restaurant owned by Adam Scott, a Negro who operates a section for whites and one for Negroes.

Webb Helicopter Helps In Search

A Webb AFB helicopter was called into the search for a 67-year-old Kermit woman, Mrs. Vera Greer, who disappeared Sunday night near 16 Mile Dam on the Pecos River near the Reeves-Loving County line. Volunteers from three counties were searching the area.

The weary searchers called off their two-day tramp through the brush-grown and wind-blown area to get a night's rest and a fresh start today.

The woman and a dog disappeared from the camp site Sunday night while her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Rumley Jr., also of Kermit, was changing an automobile tire.

Killed Baby

Murder charges were filed in Dallas, against Mrs. Sandra Pearl English, 21, of Grand Prairie, after she told detectives she killed her 13-month-old son by throwing him against a bedroom wall. She said the boy, Ronnie Ray, had been crying and added, "I couldn't stand to see him suffer any longer." Officers took her into custody after the funeral.

HONG KONG (AP)—American turncoat Lowell D. Skinner of Akron, Ohio, left for home under the assumed name of "Braun" today, an airline source reported.

Counter-Thrusts

Haitian rebel invaders were reported making a southwest thrust beyond Cap-Haitien, apparently trying to cut off the north coast and northwest part of the country. An airlift of at least 150 government troops moved over the rebels to the vicinity of Cap-Haitien in an attempt to repel the invaders. An unconfirmed report said another rebel force had landed at St. Marc, a port about 40 miles northwest of the capital of Port-au-Prince. President Duvalier has a strong post at the inland city of Hinche, midway between Port-au-Prince and Cap-Haitien, but separated from St. Marc by mountains.

Haiti Government Says Revolt Dead

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—President Francois Duvalier's government claims the invasion of Haiti by Haitian exiles has been crushed, but exile sources in the Dominican Republic insist the invaders are advancing.

Information Minister George J. Figaro said in a communique that Duvalier's troops had crushed the invasion after several hours of fighting in north Haiti Monday. He claimed the rebels, led by Gen. Leon Cantave, a former chief of staff, had been driven into the neighboring Dominican Republic. The communique said "a state of good order prevails" throughout Haiti.

Adrien Raymond, foreign office undersecretary, told newsmen some rebels were killed or captured, but he acknowledged that Cantave was not among them. The government placed the size of the invading force at about 100, or one fifth of what the rebels claimed.

Private sources in Port au Prince claimed Cantave was still on Haitian soil pressing his drive to topple Duvalier.

A rebel spokesman in the Dominican Republic accused Duvalier's regime of issuing false victory claims to try and discourage Haitians from joining the invaders.

Exile sources in the Dominican Republic of Santo Domingo insisted two rebel columns had thrust down past Cap-Haitien, Haiti's second largest city, and a third was moving across the northwest peninsula in an apparent squeeze on Gonaves, the country's third largest city.

Rebel informants claimed the invasion force started at 500 strong but was swelled as it advanced by defections from Duvalier's forces.

Haitian Ambassador Fern D. Gaugy told a special committee of the Organization of American States in Washington Wednesday that "danger still exists because of the enmity of Dominican President Juan Bosch" toward Duvalier.

Baigley reiterated charges that the Dominican Republic collaborated with the invading force. The Dominican government and invasion leaders have denied the invasion was launched from Dominican soil.

Jury Convicts 3 Of Oil Stock Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal jury convicted three men Wednesday of defrauding small investors in Texas oil stock sales totaling about $2.5 million.

They are Cecil Hagen of Houston, former president of Gulf Coast Leaseholds; Roy Kelly of Washington, former director and lawyer for Gulf Coast, and Milton Shuck of New York, a former broker. Sentences will be passed Oct. 8.

The indictments charged that through fraudulent means, including dissemination of false information, the defendants ran the price of Gulf Coast stock up to $16 a share. After many small investors had bought it, the stock dropped to $2 a share.

British Robbers Hijack Train

CHEDDINGTON, England (AP)—A gang of 20 to 30 masked men held up the Glasgow-London mail train today and the postoffice said the loss may exceed a million pounds ($2.8 million).

The bandits made off with about 120 bags of registered mail. Included in it was a large quantity of used but valid currency which was being returned to be reprocessed.

A shipment of diamonds also was believed lost.

It was the biggest and boldest train robbery in British history.

Mrs. Glenn Dies, Funeral Today

MIDLAND—Services were set for 2 p.m. today at Newmie W. Ellis Funeral Chapel, for Mrs. Ruth Esther Glenn, 48, who died in a Big Spring hospital early Wednesday. Burial was to be in Sunset Memorial Gardens in Odessa.

Mrs. Glenn was born March 10, 1915, in Stanton and was reared in Nolan County. She came to Midland in 1929. She had been in the hospital for several months.

J. G. Cortese Funeral Today

SAN ANGELO—Funeral for J. G. Cortese, well known building contractor, and father of Hugo Cortese, San Angelo and Big Spring developer and builder, were held at 10 a.m. today at Sacred Heart Chapel. He was 81 years old and had retired from the real estate and contracting business in February. Burial was in Lawnhaven Memorial Gardens.

Mr. Cortese was a native of Italy and moved to San Angelo in 1926. He started his real estate firm in 1937 after operating a retail grocery for several years.

Stock Market Prices Improve

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices improved somewhat but remained mixed late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3.4 million shares, compared with 3.79 million Wednesday.

The Securities and Exchange Commission's final report of its investigation of the securities industry had no immediate adverse effect.

Aircrafts, mail order-retails and drugs advanced.

Tobacco issues declined about a point following publication of an article speculating that forthcoming reports on smoking's relation to health would be critical.

Parke Davis, up nearly 2 points, looked like it might be the most active stock. Schering was up about a point.

Liggett & Myers, Lorillard and Philip Morris declined about a point.

Xerox, Control Data and Electronic Associates gained about a point.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed.

Corporate bond prices were a shade higher. U.S. governments were mixed.

Coin Club Meets Here Tonight

Regular monthly meeting of the Big Spring Coin Club is slated for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Elks Lodge at the Crawford Hotel.

Mrs. Dale Smith will be in charge of the meeting, in the absence of W. E. Wozencraft, president. He is in Denver, attending the ANA Convention. While in Denver, the Big Spring club will be presented with a plaque for third place honors in the national coin week observation contest.

The State Department said 32 Americans operating a 35,000-acre sisal plantation in the Fort Liberté area are shutting down operations and moving to Cap-Haitien.

Richard I. Phillips, State Department press officer, said the Haitian army ordered the Americans to evacuate for their own safety. He said they were reluctant to move because "they seemed to be experiencing no problem as a result of any military operations."

Russian Trick?

BERLIN (AP)—Premier Khrushchev wants to deploy some of his 300,000 troops in East Germany along the potentially explosive Soviet-Chinese frontier and for that reason is eager to settle the Berlin issue, Communist sources claim.

The suggestion, offered Wednesday to Western correspondents by non-German Communists, may have been prompted by the Reds, diplomats in West Berlin said.

Training Course For Cooks Scheduled At Jr. College

Approval of a school for training cooks was announced here Thursday. It will be operated at Howard County Junior College.

Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough advised the Herald Thursday that a budget of $17,173 had been approved by the department of health, education and welfare under the manpower development and training act. This will provide for the equipment and for the instructor during the initial 16-week session.

HCJC is furnishing the kitchen of the old Student Union Building for the program, which is being offered in conjunction with the West Texas Restaurant Association.

Twenty unemployed or underemployed persons will be accepted for training as hotel or restaurant cooks during the 16-week course beginning Sept. 9. The Texas Education Agency has established a curriculum for the course, which will be repeated at 16-week intervals. Ed Shive, district coordinator, has assisted in the preparation.

HCJC is securing ranges, ice boxes, utensils, appliances, etc., needed for the instruction. The funds are reimbursable under the manpower training act.

Leon Kinney, Texas Employment Commission manager, said that men 18 to 45 years of age are eligible to participate in the training, provided they are unemployed or employed below the level of their potential skills.

Heads of households taking the training may qualify for a $30 a week training allowance if they are not drawing unemployment compensation. The initial class will be confined to male applicants, although subsequent ones may offer the training to women too.

The curriculum is designed to qualify trainees as fry or breakfast cooks. Additional training on the job should then qualify them for dinner cooks, and ultimately, if progress continues, as chefs.

A similar course in auto mechanics has been underway at HCJC since March. Seventeen of the original class of 20 trainees are still working under Jimmie Banks, in what is a 12-month training period.

OIL REPORT

Standard Completes Whatley Well For 290 Barrels A Day

Standard Oil Company of Texas has successfully completed an offset to its discoverer of the Jo-Mill (Fusselman) field in Dawson County, giving the field a half-mile southeast extension.

The new well is No. 1 E. S. Whatley et al, which spots C SE NW, section 27-33-5n, T&P survey. It flowed 290 barrels of 43-gravity oil through 15-64-inch choke on initial potential from perforations between 10,118-132 feet. No water was produced and the gas-oil ratio was 453-1. Tubing pressure was 900 pounds and casing pressure was 500 pounds.

Standard opened the Jo-Mill (Fusselman) pool in May when the firm completed the No. 1 Charles C. Canon, C NE NE, section 28-33-5n, T&P survey, for 91 barrels from a notch at 10,181 1/2 feet. That project made 82 barrels of water also on potential test, indicating that the No. 11 Whatley is somewhat higher on the structure.

The new well is on a 320-acre lease about 15 miles east of Lamesa and on the extreme eastern edge of the county.

Additional drilling is planned for the Gordon Street, South-tower Wolfcamp) pool in extreme northwestern Glasscock County. The pool was discovered more than two years ago, but only one other well, an offset, has been completed to date.

The new project is Textota Oil Co., Denver, Colo., No. 1 Edmund

swab perforations after acidizing with 250 gallons. The project is bottomed at 8,700 feet.

Operator ran logs and perforated between 6,979-81 feet. Swabbing for nine hours returned no oil, so operator acidized and is now continuing the test. Location is 467 feet from the north and east lines of section 20-34-5n, T&P survey.

Another Dawson County project, Ashman and Hilliard, Midland, No. 1 Bessie McBrayer, C SE NE, section 8-35-4n, T&P survey, is also swabbing. It was plugged back to 10,196 feet and perforated the Canyon between 10,101-112 feet with four shots.

Swabbing is now in progress. No acid or fracture treatment was reported. This test is about eight miles south of Lamesa in southwestern Dawson County.

Confirmer Staked

Additional drilling is planned for the Gordon Street, South-tower Wolfcamp) pool in extreme northwestern Glasscock County. The pool was discovered more than two years ago, but only one other well, an offset, has been completed to date.

The new project is Textota Oil Co., Denver, Colo., No. 1 Edmund

Tom, west offset to the opener of the two-well pool. It spots 467 feet from the south and east lines of section 43-35-1s, T&P survey, about four miles southeast of Stanton. It is contracted to 10,000 feet by rotary tool.

File Three Sites

Three new projects have been filed in area counties, including a third location for the Jo-Mill (Fusselman) pool area in Dawson County.

The Dawson venture is Standard Oil Co. of Texas No. 2 E. S. Whatley et al, about 14 miles east of Lamesa. It is projected to 10,400 feet by rotary tool 660 feet from the north and 1,380 feet from the west lines of section 27-33-5n, T&P survey, on a 320-acre lease.

In Glasscock County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. No. 6 K. S. Boone is to be deepened in the Spraberry Trend Area. Spotting 689 feet from the south and 2,018 feet from the east lines of section 8-36-3s, T&P survey, is it contracted for 6,850 feet. It is on a 320-acre lease about 15 miles southeast of Midland.

Garza County picked up a Post (Gloria) location at K. K. Amni No. 2 J. S. Boren, about five miles northeast of Justiceburg. It is slated to bottom at 2,650 feet by rotary tool and is 330 feet from the south and 1,491 feet from the west lines of section 130-5, H&G survey, on a 120-acre lease.

Howard County gained a water-injection well in the Iatan (San Andres) field at Standard Oil Co. of Texas No. 18-WS A. M. Bell. It will go to 2,600 feet 75 feet from the north and 283 feet from the west lines of section 12-30, T&P survey, about eight miles east of Coahoma.

Fina Sets Location

Texas Gas Exploration Corp., Kern County Land Co. and American Petrofina Co. of Texas will drill No. 1 Carrie Sanderson Estate as a 12,500-foot Devonian T&P survey, about eight miles east of Oakum County.

The location is 1,900 feet from the east and 1,650 feet from the south lines of section 400-D, John H. Gibson survey, abstract 1,605, about five miles southeast of Bronco.

Files In Westbrook

Coastal States Gas Production Co. No. 1-A L. E. A. Smart is the new location in the Westbrook field of Mitchell County. It is to be drilled to 3,200 feet by rotary tool. Drillsite is 467 feet from the north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 16-28-1n, T&P survey, on a 120-acre lease about four miles northwest of Westbrook.

Castro Attends Mother's Funeral

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro attended his mother's funeral Wednesday at Maracan, near Mayari in Oriente Province, Havana Radio said today.

Patrick Bouvier Kennedy Resting In An Incubator

BOSTON (AP)—A new presidential baby, quickly baptized Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, rested in a special incubator today, suffering from breathing difficulties resulting from premature birth.

Little Patrick was reported to be holding his own. The condition was not clearly defined, described as a minor lung problem and not unusual for a premature baby.

President Kennedy visited his ailing son at the hospital and set up a commuting schedule between here and his wife's bedside at Cape Cod.

First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy rested nicely overnight and was reported in excellent condition after the excitement of a 4 1/2 hour Caesarian birth of her third child—5 1/2 weeks ahead of time. Her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, who flew to Cape Cod Wednesday night, said Mrs. Kennedy was "remarkably well and in good spirits."

The President's infant son was rushed by ambulance to Boston Children's Medical Center within five hours of his birth at Otis Air Force Base Hospital, some 65 miles from Boston.

NOT ON DANGER LIST
Little Patrick was not considered on the danger list or anything like it, according to Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary. However, Salinger said it would probably take four days before the condition develops to a point where a final diagnosis can be made.

The President made plans to send up his nuclear test ban treaty message this afternoon, as was scheduled before the emergency birth interrupted his White House routine.

The birth of the Kennedy's second son had all the excitement of a fictional drama.

It was the first time in 68 years that a baby was born to the wife of the President of the office. It hadn't happened since the Cleveland era.

It was the 22nd grandchild in the family headed by Joseph P. Kennedy, 74, former ambassador to England. For the second time, Kennedy lost a race with the stork. He was about 40 minutes too late to be at Otis Air Force Base when his second son arrived Wednesday. And, in November, 1960, when his first son, John Jr., was born some three weeks prematurely, Kennedy, flying back from Palm Beach, Fla., got the word in the air that the baby had been born at Georgetown University Hospital, again in a similar emergency situation.

NAMESAKES
The Kennedy's named the new baby Patrick, after the President's grandfather, and Bouvier, for Mrs. Kennedy's father, the late John V. Bouvier, a New York stock broker.

Because of the premature birth, the baby was baptized in the surgery room shortly after birth by the base Catholic Chaplain, the Rev. John S. Cahill of Portland, Maine.

This procedure is considered common practice in premature births, a White House spokesman said, and little Patrick will be christened formally later.

Mrs. Kennedy had brief glimpses of her new son. The last time, he was wheeled into her room in a special incubator by the President himself. And then, the infant was whisked off for a speedy ambulance dash to Boston, a trip that took a little more than an hour.

Doctors had decided it could get better medical treatment at the Children's Medical Center, which is considered one of the best hospitals in the country specializing in children's diseases.

There, the baby was placed in an "Isolette," a machine that bridges the gap between the mother's womb and the outside world, keeping temperature and humidity at the best balance to facilitate breathing.

NOT DEVELOPED
The medical problem of the Kennedy offspring was described as "idiopathic respiratory distress syndrome." In layman's language, it means the baby's lungs had not developed sufficiently to function properly outside the mother's womb.

It is not considered an unusual condition of premature babies, and even John Jr., who was born only some three weeks ahead of schedule in a similar emergency, had suffered a bit from it.

The new baby was born at 12:52 p.m. Eastern Daylight time, after Mrs. Kennedy was rushed to the Air Force hospital by helicopter from her summer vacation home at Squaw Island, some 22 miles away. He weighed in at four pounds, 10 1/2 ounces, and was 17 inches in length.

A staff member who saw the infant said he was "beautifully formed."

Details were meager from inside the hospital, where military security was quickly clamped down. At night, the Air Force set up a guard house outside the door of the long, one-story, green-shingled hospital ward wing where Mrs. Kennedy rested in an air conditioned bedroom of an 8-room suite.

A corps of 10 Air Force doctors and nurses had assisted Mrs. Kennedy's obstetrician, Dr. John W. Walsh, 50, of Washington, in what was described as a normal Caesarian birth. It was the fourth Caesarian for the First Lady. She lost one baby in 1956 by Caesarian delivery. Her two previous children were born by such an operation, which removes the child before the mother goes into labor.

Dr. Walsh, who also delivered John Jr. remained in the hospital wing overnight to be close to his famous patient.

CONGRATULATIONS
Telegrams of congratulations began coming to the White House and the Air Force base from world leaders, friends and well-wishers.

Their contents were not immediately disclosed nor were the senders identified.

In keeping with Kennedy tradition, the longtime family nurse, Luella Hennessey—of Walpole, Mass., hastened to report for duty at Mrs. Kennedy's hospital room. She has assisted at all but one of the births of the Kennedy grandchildren.

Mrs. Kennedy had planned to have her baby at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

The First Lady, 34, calmly took her two youngsters, Caroline 5 1/2, and John Jr. 2 1/2, off for a horseback ride outing Wednesday.

They were at a farm area in Osterville, not far from Hyannis Port, where the Kennedy family stables some horses for riding. Suddenly, Mrs. Kennedy started to have labor pains.

Dr. Walsh, who had been on vacation on Cape Cod, was summoned and Mrs. Kennedy was driven back to her Squaw Island home.

DOCTOR WAITING
By the time she arrived there, Dr. Walsh, a grey haired gynecologist, was waiting for her. He confirmed that the baby was coming and set the emergency procedure in motion.

Otis Air Force Base was notified to prepare for the emergency birth.

Mrs. Kennedy, wearing a cream colored shift and straw hat, was picked up by an Air Force helicopter. She was accompanied by the doctor and her secretary, Mary Gallagher of Alexandria, Va.

The helicopter spanned the 22 miles in about 12 minutes and Mrs. Kennedy was checked in at the base hospital at 11:40 a.m. Meanwhile, President Kennedy got the news in his White House office from Dr. Janet Travell, a White House physician.

Hurried To Hospital

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, vacationing on Cape Cod, was suddenly hurried to the hospital at Otis Air Force Base in Massachusetts where she gave premature birth to her third child. The President flew from Washington to be with her. The First Lady is shown as she appeared in Washington last March.

Lease Pains Behind VA Move To Waco

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lease renewal difficulties in Dallas prompted a decision to move the Veterans Administration's North Texas office to Waco, Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., said Wednesday.

He reported building owners were unwilling to meet unspecified civil rights contract terms in lease negotiations and said he urged the change for that reason.

Veterans Administration officials will announce the impending move shortly, Poage said. There were published reports it would take place several weeks ago.

Poage said about 300 employees with a payroll and operating expenditures totaling 2.5 million a year are involved.

In discussing the matter recently with VA administrator John Gleason Jr., the congressman reported Waco was willing to erect a modern, air-conditioned office building to VA specifications and save the government $1.5 million over a 10-year period in rent, compared to what it has been paying in Dallas.

EXACTLY MATCH

He said the rent for the first 10 years would exactly match the cost of constructing the building.

Poage, who is from Waco, said housing and other living costs for VA employees would be less in Waco than in Dallas. The regional office will be more convenient to veterans from all over North Texas, he said, because they will not have to contend with heavy metropolitan traffic.

In addition there are three major VA hospitals within a 30-mile radius of Waco, he noted. Observing that the regional office was in Waco until just after the end of World War II, Poage hailed its expected return as "a good move for Waco, for the VA, for North Texas veterans and for the taxpayers."

Poage said a study of operations at the Dallas office in recent years shows 96.8 per cent of the veterans it serves handle their business by mail. "For those veterans who require direct service," he said, "the VA plans to continue at Dallas sufficient personnel to handle loan guaranty, vocational rehabilitation and education, guardianship, contact and other matters."

TEMPORARY SPACE

Pending construction of a building, Poage said temporary space in Waco is expected to be available Jan. 1.

He said the General Services Administration is taking steps to acquire this space in the former Montgomery Ward building at 4th Street and Austin Avenue at a cost of $1.99 per square foot, compared to the present rental charge in Dallas of $4.25.

Construction of the new building will begin as soon as the VA can provide details on its needs, he said.

In effect, the move will consolidate the North Texas office with the Central Texas office, which is in Waco. The move to Dallas after the war occurred with decentralization of what had been a state VA headquarters in Waco.

Flash Floods Inflict Damage

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thunder-showers deluged parts of Southern California Wednesday, causing flash floods which washed out highways, swept away cars and flooded two communities.

Up to three feet of water flooded Victorville and Apple Valley in the Mojave Desert. Residents and businessmen piled sandbags, brooms, shovels and rags in front of their homes and stores to stem the flood, sheriff's deputies said.

Three men in a jeep were rescued by rope line after waist-high water washed out a portion of State Highway 18 between Victorville and Apple Valley. The road is a main route from Los Angeles to Las Vegas, Nev.

Killed By Car

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A car killed Charles Gann, 71, as he started across a street before dawn today.

Great things through greatest hazards are attained. And then they shine. —Beaumont and Fletcher

DAILY GUIDE—A change of mood and pace takes over, some of the changes based on what has been happening and the news we have been getting. We can see that it is going to take courage to forge ahead along these new lines. There is nothing to be gained by standing still, so we might as well step forward to face the situation as it is, not as we would wish it to be.

"If only things were different!" They are not, they are just as they are and we are stuck with the circumstances. This will be a week of totaling up the costs and realizing what we have to pay. You might not have any monetary problem of your own, but you surely will not escape the overall debt.

There is an accent on action, a moving forward to meet problems and the foe, head on. —Arians are alerted today and tomorrow for important developments in their personal affairs and ambitions. Postponement or an adjustment period might bring disappointment.

Great emphasis on money, publicity, business, and market values now.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LEO! The cycle of changes and new trends regarding finances will be accentuated this week after last month's activity. Action is then shifted to neighborhood matters, travel and correspondence.

Be alert to poor judgment or over-expansion around the 26th of this month. In the early fall more confusion in home surroundings can be expected, the same as has been the general rule in the past few years. As the year ends, social or parental enjoyment increases, and you could also be in touch with people at a distance or those in the educational or professional world.

The extra responsibility caused by marital ties or restrictions through older people remains in the background.

$35 Million Flood Damage

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Flood damage in Buffalo was estimated at $35 million following torrential rains that virtually swamped some areas and routed more than 300 persons from their homes.

Rains up to 3.88 inches drenched the city and suburbs Wednesday for the second time in 10 days. Buses stopped running. Cars were abandoned as water filled low areas. Power was knocked out. Telephone lines were down. Many basements were flooded.

The rains fell mostly during the mid-morning rush hours. It was over by noon.

"I've lived here 40 years and it's never been this bad," an East Side housewife said.

Mayor Chester Kowal estimated damage to public facilities at $7 million and damage to homes and businesses at $28 million.

He declared a state of emergency. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ordered state public works crews to provide the city with whatever help was available.

In suburban Cheektowaga, which has not had a flood in 30 years, 15 boats moved stranded families to a high school. Police said about 80 per cent of the homes there suffered flood damage.

At the Buffalo Zoo, polar bears were swimming in the moat surrounding their cage. Clayton F. Freiheit, zoo curator, said guards stood nearby with weapons poised but the water receded before the bears got free.

At Roswell Park Memorial Institute where ducks usually swim on a pond in the lobby, water gushed through the lobby and brought the ducks with it.

Parents Invited To Band Meetings

Parents interested in seeing their seventh graders take band are invited to meetings beginning at 7 p.m. today in the Runnels and Goliad Junior High School band rooms.

R. E. McKiski, Goliad director, will be at that school to answer parents' questions and outline programs. Joe Burchfiel will officiate at the Runnels meeting.

Representatives of several music stores will be on hand with information regarding sale or rental of band instruments.

Newest Border Issue — Water

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' role in U.S.-Mexican relations, highlighted by the recently announced Chamizal agreement—settlement of ownership of the Chamizal tract along the Rio Grande between El Paso and Juarez—may now turn to a controversy over water.

The problem involves the salinity of water Mexico gets from the Colorado River to irrigate some 400,000 acres of fertile but arid land in the Mexicali Valley, where cotton and wheat flourish.

Under the 1944 U.S. - Mexico water treaty, Mexico is guaranteed 1.5 million acre feet of water annually from the Colorado, which courses between Arizona and California and across the border.

The architect of the 1944 treaty was then Sen. Tom Connally of Texas. Under its terms the United States (Texas irrigation farmers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley) were guaranteed a certain amount of water from the Rio Grande, even though more than half the flow originated from tributary watersheds in Mexico.

In return, Mexico, was guaranteed the 1.5 million acre of water originating in the United States.

In the debate preceding ratification, California senators were highly critical, contending the treaty assured Mexico of water even in dry years when their state might be short. The late Colorado Sen. Eugene Millikin carried the ball for Texas in the debate with the California senators.

Now an issue has arisen over the quality of the water Mexico is receiving. The Mexicans say the water is so loaded with salt from irrigation projects in the western part of the United States that the Mexicali Valley's future is threatened. U. S. citizens reportedly have a big financial interest in operations there.

The salinization problem exists to a degree on the Rio Grande, also, and in this instance the contamination originates in Mexico. It comes from what is known as the El Murillo drain just above Anzalduas dam.

On complaint from Texas irrigators, the Mexicans some months ago released a portion of their water in the Falcon dam reservoir to sweeten the downstream flow headed for irrigation ditches. For a time during a dry season, some of the El Murillo drainage was diverted so it would not empty into the Rio Grande.

Speculation here is that the Mexicans may do some construction work to make this diversion permanent, thus meeting the complaint of Texas farmers. Mexico then would be in a better position to obtain from the U. S. an agreement to sweeten the Colorado flow, either through release of more fresh water or by de-salinization projects.

In Run-Off Election

Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson, left, and former Gov. J. T. Coleman, right, will face each other in a run-off election to see which will be the Democratic nominee for governor of Mississippi. The election will be held Aug. 29.

Hard Winds Hit Three Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

Destructive winds whistled through at least three Texas areas Wednesday night. Widely spaced showers moistened parts of North and East Texas.

Officers said a tornado tore the roof off a barn, smashed windows in a home, uprooted trees and snapped power lines in a rural area 5 miles southwest of Waxahachie. Damage was minor.

On the Island Grove Ranch, four miles west of Grandview, the wind tore away a barn roof and damaged several smaller buildings. Twelve acres of corn were flattened as .10 inch of rain fell at the James Roland farm in the same vicinity.

Freahish winds whipped carsports away from three homes in North Abilene, hurling some of the debris 100 yards. A third dwelling separating two of the houses was unharmed and there was no other damage. That part of the city received .70 inch of rain while only a trace fell elsewhere.

Turbulent weather dissipated before daybreak except for a broken area of thunderstorms moving southward from the Wichita Falls and Childress sector. The weatherman issued a carbon copy of recent forecasts: clear to partly cloudy and hot over the state through Friday with an occasional thundershower. Soldiers trained with the 49th Armored Division in 100-degree heat at Ft. Hood in Central Texas. Medical officers said there had been no serious cases of heat prostration.

The mercury hit 107 degrees at Seymour, 103 at College Station, Presidio and Wichita Falls, 102 at Austin, Childress, Fort Worth, Laredo and Mineral Wells, 101 at Abilene, Dallas, San Angelo and Waco, and 100 at Junction.

Father Awarded Child Custody

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, recently heard a divorce case and at its close summarily awarded custody of five young children in the family to the father.

The mother had filed the original suit but the husband had filed a cross petition. The testimony, presented by the husband, included the statements of numerous witnesses as to the alleged failure of the woman to take proper care of her children. Included in the witnesses was the county juvenile officer, Bob Darland, who had been called into the case.

The court granted the divorce and the five children, aged 6, 4, 3 years, 23 months and 10 months, were given to the father with the stipulation that he arrange for a relative to live in his home and take care of the youngsters.

U. S. Taxmen Not The Worst, Survey Finds

NEW YORK (AP)—If you see red when you think how much the tax collectors get from your pay, take consolation. Millions of other persons around the world share your feelings.

An Associated Press survey showed that in four of six world centers, families of modest incomes pay 13 to 20 per cent of their incomes in taxes.

In the higher pay brackets, the tax percentages range from 45 to 77 per cent. An imaginary bus driver and a $100,000-a-year man were selected in each location, each with a wife and two children. Because of the complexity of various tax structures, estimates had to be used on a number of points.

An average bus driver in New York earns $5,824, more than double the pay of drivers in other countries.

But he pays $568 in federal income tax and $603 in other taxes, totaling 22 per cent of his pay.

The average bus driver in Frankfurt, on an income of $2,460, hands over 17 per cent—income tax of $120 and other taxes of $297.

The London bus driver has 14 per cent taken out of his $2,060 wage. His income tax is only $5.35. But other taxes total $289. In Paris, the bus driver's wage comes to $1,872, but under the country's regulations he also gets a family allowance of $348 from his employer.

The wage figure exempts the man from income taxes. His indirect taxes amount to $290 or 15 per cent.

Of $1,547 in pay, the Tokyo bus driver pays 8 per cent in taxes—$59 for income tax and $64 for others.

And in Rio de Janeiro, the driver makes $1,270, but his tax bill is the lowest of all—6 per cent. His income tax is $10 and other taxes amount to $70.

For Social Security, the order is almost reversed, with the Rio driver paying the most, 7.5 per cent of his pay, and the New York driver the least, 2.9 per cent.

In Frankfurt the driver pays 6.9 per cent, in Paris 5 per cent, Tokyo 4.7 and London 4.

The comparison in taxes for the $100,000-a-year man moves Rio de Janeiro from the lowest spot to one of the highest. More than 65 per cent of the Rio man's earnings go to the tax collector.

His federal income tax alone comes to 65 per cent. An approximate figure for his other taxes could not be determined.

Indirect taxes are very high in England. Automobiles, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners and cosmetics, for example, are taxed at 25 per cent. A pack of 20 cigarettes costs 63 cents, 74 per cent of which is excise tax. The 70 cents for a gallon of gasoline includes a 55 per cent tax.

Japan's basic postwar tax structure was drawn up in 1950 along American lines. Despite revisions to meet changing conditions, the basic law remains intact.

In the United States, personal income of workers totaled $440 billion last year. They paid out $128 billion in various taxes.

The Tax Foundation, a non-profit organization, estimates that U.S. federal taxes in 1962 amounted to $549 per person, compared with $1.92 in 1900.

Night Work To Increase, Crop Duster Believes

BONHAM (AP) — The head of a crop dusting firm says that night dusting will increase. He already is in the business.

The head of the firm is Doyle Dobbins who operates largely in southern Oklahoma and North Texas.

Dobbins, in a recent interview, said night dusting is done with two 150,000-candlepower lights under each wing.

"In this area, during the periods when spraying must be accomplished," said Dobbins, "a good percentage of the time the wind blows by day and sets at night. Thus, from a standpoint of necessity, night dusting is the coming thing."

He added, "Believe it or not, night spraying is safer than it sounds because at night the lights on the plane pick up and reflect power lines, which is a major asset to the pilot. The pilot can get down just as low at night as during the day."

He might have added that utility lines are a major cause of small craft crashes.

Night pilots need a moon for the best results. "The pilot uses the moon as a horizon reference," Dobbins said. Thus about only 20 nights out of a month are suitable, and these nights must be clear.

"We're improving and developing the night spraying constantly," said Dobbins. "The hot weather and searing winds are the biggest harassment to pilots and the major causes of accidents. Night flying can eliminate all that."

Although Dobbins is a pilot, he is not a crop duster. He cracked up on some practice dusting missions and decided to go into the sales and management division.

Also in the crew is Bobby Dobbins, Doyle's younger brother, who also found he had too many crackups while dusting and became flagman for the outfit.

Complaints Heard After Oil Strike

HOUSTON (AP)—Some union employes, returning to work after a Shell Oil Co. strike lasting nearly a year, accused the company Wednesday night of trying to enforce working requirements not stipulated in their new contract.

John Crossland, secretary of Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union local, said also that a threat of expulsion dangled over many workers at Shell's Deer Park refinery.

Workers went back to work for the first time since Aug. 18, ending the longest oil strike in history.

Fund Increases

AUSTIN (AP)—State Treasurer Jesse James says the general revenue fund total increased almost $10 million from June 30 to July 31. The July 31 total was $19.5 million.

Canadian Arms

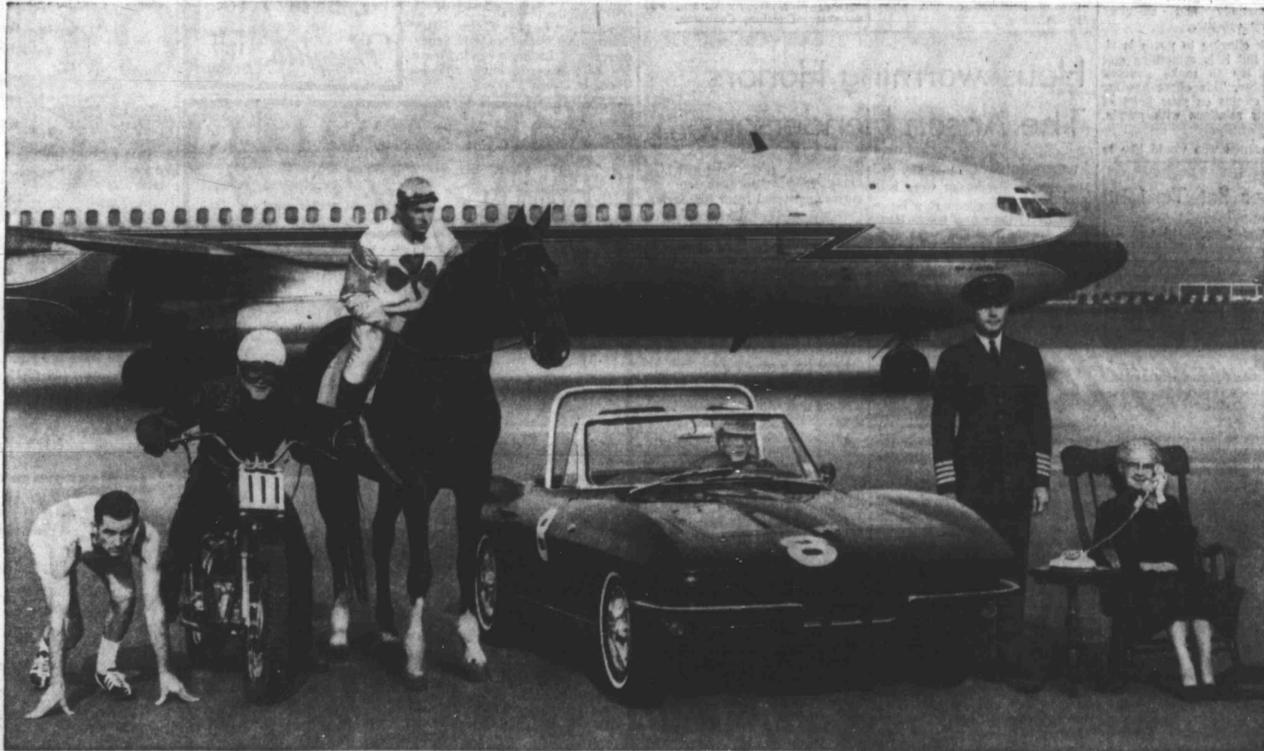

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson says American and Canadian negotiators have "pretty well agreed" on an agreement to arm Canadian weapons with U.S. nuclear warheads.

Pearson told newsmen Wednesday he may discuss the draft with his cabinet next week.

Chance To Live

Nancy Joanne Schudies, 10 months old, needs a liver donor. The baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schudies, of Scottsbluff, Neb., needs a healthy liver if she is to live. Such a transplant can come only from a child doomed to die from some other illness, such as a brain tumor. Denver, Colo., hospital spokesman said that the donor can be a boy or girl up to 3 years old and that there are government medical grants to cover the cost of research and expenses involved.

Staying Young

Anna Lee believes the sensible way of keeping young is with exercise. She tells her favorite way to remove wrinkles in today's Hollywood Beauty.

Veteran Actress Tells How To Look Younger

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — "The cameraman thought that I had my face lifted and the make-up man was searching for scars," Anna Lee laughingly told me when I visited her on the Hitchcock set at CBS.

ask questions about the routine I use can write to me in care of my Lydia and I'll be glad to answer them," Anna concluded.

may obtain it by sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California.

"I do look younger but it is not due to surgery. No one wants to grow old, and I am so pleased with my discovery that I want to share it with the world.

"I had been searching for a long time for something. I tried facials, but they weren't the answer. Then someone told me about a transistor machine that would stimulate the circulation and gently exercise my facial muscles. I took the machine to my doctor and he gave his approval. This method has taken away the lines around my eyes, given my skin more elasticity and certainly firmed my contour.

"I think clinging to youth is ridiculous. But it is something else again to try to make yourself look younger. This effort has far reaching effects on your point of view, your relations with people, work.

World War I Barracks 1474 and Ladies Auxiliary will meet for a pot luck supper and business session today at 7 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Dear Folks: We all buy potatoes. Baking potatoes, salad potatoes or new potatoes.

I have found out potatoes do grow "eyes."

I have also found out—after experimenting for years with all kinds of potatoes—that when a potato grows an "eye" the potato starts to shrivel. This means the potato shrinks and the outside skin gets old—just like us!

When you see a potato growing that "eye" and looking up at you, take your fingernail and pop that growth off. The potato will not shrivel and get pithy as quickly as it would if you left the "eye" growing.

Dear Heloise: When cutting margarine or butter, did you know that you can tear off a small piece of wax paper, place it over the edge of your paring knife and then cut the butter and it will not stick to the knife, but will divide beautifully? Try it.

Bride-Elect Honored

GARDEN CITY (SC)—A gift she honored Miss Martha Duncan, bride-elect of Allen Moore, Tuesday in the home of Miss Judy Wilkerson.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with yellow and white daisies in a crystal bowl flanked by tall white candles in crystal candelabra. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Hostesses were Miss Wilkerson, Miss Gail McDaniel, Miss Mary Fields, Miss Brenda Dobbs, and Miss Nancy Davie. Others were Mrs. D. D. Smith, Mrs. O. P. Stone, Mrs. M. W. O'Bannon, Mrs. D. A. Penney, Mrs. Baylor Pruitt and Mrs. R. D. Dobbs.

Fifty guests were registered during the tea. Out-of-town guests included Miss Betsy Grant, Sherman; Miss Pat Saunders, Miss Judy Moore, Mrs. Howard McChristian, Mrs. Kenneth Scott and Mrs. Alvin Moore, all of Big Spring; Mrs. W. A. Wilson, and daughter, Carolyn, Coahoma.

Housewarming Honors The Anson Hendersons

WESTBROOK (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. Anson Henderson were honored Sunday afternoon at a housewarming in their new home. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. M. A. Webb, Mrs. Willie Geiger, Mrs. Bud Davis, Mrs. H. T. Brookshire, Mrs. H. P. Hines, Mrs. Clyde Chambers, Mrs. Emory

Sweet, Mrs. L. L. Dorn and Mrs. Louis Rees. Approximately 125 guests registered from Big Spring, Colorado City, Spade, Buford, Carr and Westbrook.

Mrs. Glenn Wallace and son, James, of Big Spring visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman McMahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chandler and family of Monahans visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byrd, over the weekend. Steve remained for a longer visit with his grandparents. Also visiting in the Byrd home were Jerry Sneed of Winters and Otis Claxton of Bradshaw.

Miss Robbie Brown Enters State Revue

Fifteen year-old Robbie Brown was one of four girls chosen in the 4-H District II Dress Revue in Lubbock Tuesday to represent this district at the State revue in Dallas Oct. 5.

Representing Howard County, Miss Brown competed against 18 other entries in the senior division. Howard County junior division winner, Carolyn Crawford, took a blue ribbon at the competition held in the Texas Tech Student Union Ballroom.

Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, Knott, was escorted in the revue by Donnie Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, Gail Road. Her prize winning dress was of electric blue wool, fashioned with a jewel neckline, elbow length kimono sleeves, and a slightly flared skirt with a front inverted pleat. Her accessories included a black felt hat, black kid slippers and bag.

Miss Brown attends high school in Ackery and is a member of the County-Wide club. Miss Crawford received one of the six blue ribbons given in the junior division, which has no state competition. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delaine Crawford, 2605 Carol, and member of the County-Wide club.

Accompanying the girls to the competition were Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Frances Zant, Mrs. G. W. Murphy, Miss Martha Couch, Miss Jane Murphy, all of Gay Hill; Miss Debra Anderson, Miss Sheri Alexander, Miss Joan Crawford, Big Spring; and Mrs. Delaine Crawford, Miss Beverly Alexander, county extension agents.

Weight Loss Told At TOPS Club Tuesday Meeting

Of the ten members present for the Tuesday meeting of the TOPS Pound Rebels, five weighed the same, two gained weight and three lost a total of four pounds.

Mrs. Marshall McDadds, president, introduced a visitor, Mrs. Robert Cobb.

Following the business session in the Flame Room at Pioneer Natural Gas Co., the women adjourned to play miniature golf. Free passes were won by Mrs. J. P. Basham and Mrs. William H. Harp.

Girl's Auxiliary Sets Coronation

WESTBROOK (SC)—Junior Girls Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church will have a Coronation Service Sunday evening, at 7:30. Mrs. S. L. Yeilding is counselor for the girls and will be in charge of the program. The G. A. maidens are Roxann Moore, Patsy Lewis, Judy Chambers, and Sandy Anderson. Ladies-in-waiting are Sue Bell, Susan Yeilding, and the Queen is Debra Yeilding.

Religions Compared

"Turning Away From the Truth of God" was the program presented by the Arlene Bradford circle at the monthly Royal Service meeting Tuesday at Baptist Temple Church.

Preceding a program based on four world religions, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt announced that a mission study dinner will be held Sept. 19 when a book for the quarter would be presented.

Mrs. Bennie Porter started the program by contrasting Buddhism to Christianity by giving the background and theology of the faith. She was followed by Mrs. Joe Nehawh who spoke of World Faith of Baha'i. Mrs. Roy Holmes related the Islam religion and Mrs. James McClure discussed Mormonism. Southern Baptist work in the Mormon territory was told by Mrs. Joe Blessingame. The program was concluded by Mrs. Ernest Barbee.

Thirty-five guests were served refreshments by the Blanche Groves Circle.

Supper Set Tonight

World War I Barracks 1474 and Ladies Auxiliary will meet for a pot luck supper and business session today at 7 p.m. in the Odd Fellows Hall.

He Baked A Cake For A Very Special Girl

By JO BRIGHT

"I didn't get to see Lillian until she was almost three years old, so she's always been something rather special."

Something special, too, was what the speaker, E. C. Burnett, did for his daughter on her wedding day.

Working through the night, when others were resting for the big event, he mixed flour, shortening, eggs — and lots of love — into a four-tiered wedding cake, complete with swan pedestals separating the layers and lovebirds topping the white confection. The huge cake was enough to serve over 100 reception guests—with a piece left over for the bridesmaid to put under her pillow, if she followed the old Southern custom.

PROFESSIONAL

Burnett is a baker, by profession, who works at night, so he was not keeping the family awake at home while turning out his masterpiece. At Vaughn's Sweet Shop, where he is employed, the cake was produced as he continued his regular duties. There, he had the proper equipment to work with, including 50 decorating tubes of various designs, to construct a cake requiring the trained touch of the commercial baker.

Lillian, now Mrs. Wayne Williams, was born during World War II, when her father was serving in the Pacific Theater as a chief commissary steward for the Navy. It took him three years to get home, with duty at such places as Okinawa, Guadalcanal and Saipan, so his little girl was no longer a baby by the time they got acquainted.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnett have a little more room in their home at 1112 Main St. since the wedding is over and Lillian became Mrs. Williams. Their other children are James, 15, Linda, 14, and Douglas, 12.

Mrs. Burnett works at the bakery during the day so her husband helps often in preparing the meals at home.

GOOD COOK

"He is a better cook than I am," said Mrs. Burnett, "so we think it's a real treat when he takes over in the kitchen." He bakes most of their pies, cakes and rolls and has found that the most requested is devil's food cake and apple or chocolate cream pie.

Will he bake the cake when his other children marry? Any time they give him the signal, he's ready to plan the decorations and light the oven. Here are some of his recipes:

ESCALLOPED CHICKEN

- 1/4 cup water
- 2 cups cooked chicken
- 1 cup celery (cooked)
- 1 tsp. butter
- 1 tsp. flour
- 3 cups well-seasoned mashed potatoes

Heat chicken and celery in water

A Labor Of Love

E. C. Burnett demonstrates the light touch he uses when decorating cakes for special occasions. A professional baker, he works long before daylight to complete the intricate designs used for wedding, anniversary and birthday cakes.

over gentle fire and thicken with butter and flour mixed together until smooth. Use the potatoes to line a casserole or baking dish.

Pour the thickened chicken and celery into the potato-lined dish and bake in a quick oven (375 to 400 degrees) just long enough to thoroughly heat and slightly brown the potatoes.

SHIRRED EGGS

- 4 tbsps. minute tapioca
- Salt and paprika
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. chopped onion

2 cups canned tomatoes, strained
4 eggs
1/4 cup grated cheese
1 tsp. chopped parsley

Add tapioca, sugar, salt, paprika and onion to tomato juice and cook in double boiler for 15 minutes or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Pour into greased baking dish.

Make four slight depressions in sauce and break an egg into each. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 15 minutes, or until eggs are firm. Serves four.

MEAT LOAF

- 2 lbs. ground meat
- 1 large onion, chopped fine
- 1 egg
- 1 cup bread crumbs or cracker crumbs
- 1 small can tomato sauce
- 1 tsp. worcestershire sauce
- 1 tsp. steak sauce
- Salt and pepper to taste

Mix all ingredients together and form in loaf. Bake about 45 minutes at 325 degrees.

HOT ROLLS

- 1 cup warm milk
- 1/4 cup warm water
- 1 pkg. yeast
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 tps. salt
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup melted shortening

Flour
Dissolve yeast in warm water, add to milk with sugar, salt, egg and shortening. Sift just enough flour to make a good dough. Put in pan and oil the top so it will not crust. Let it rise until double in size. Put in muffin tins or roll out. Bake in 425 degree oven for about 25 minutes.

Serve New Dessert At Bridge

A dessert idea for summer entertaining is something cool, light and made ahead to store in the freezer. A creamy coffee sherbet can be served with a formal buffet party or dessert bridge.

CREAMY COFFEE SHERBET

- 1 tbsps. unflavored gelatine
- 1/4 cup cold coffee
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 1 1/4 cups hot coffee
- Few grains salt
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Soften gelatine in cold coffee. Combine sugar, hot coffee and salt. Stir until sugar dissolves. Add to softened gelatine. Stir until gelatine dissolves. Add last 3 ingredients. Mix well.

Remove ice-cube partition from double tray. Pour mixture into tray. Freeze until firm throughout. Remove to chilled bowl. Break up. Beat until free from lumps, but still a thick mush.

Return to tray. Freeze until firm. Makes 8 servings.

Put Summer Fruit In A Bright Salad

Use the last of summer's cherries this good way.

CHERRY-HO SALAD

- 1/2 lb. sweet red cherries
- 1 cup fresh pineapple wedges
- 1 cup thin celery crescents
- Watercress or romaine
- 1/2 cup homemade boiled salad dressing
- 1/4 cup cultured sour cream

Pit cherries so they are whole; mix with pineapple and celery; arrange on watercress or romaine. Stir together until blended the boiled dressing and sour cream; spoon over salad. Makes 4 servings.

Dining With America's Renowned Gastronomer

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

When acquaintances, interested in cooking, discover that Jim Beard, America's best known gastronomer, is a friend and neighbor of mine, there's usually a flurry of questions:

"What's James Beard like as a host? What does he serve when he has guests?"

Jim is the most relaxed host (and cook) I know, with a colossal knowledge of fine food and its preparation. He enjoys other people's appreciation of good food so much that he used to hanker for a restaurant. But since he opened his cooking school I haven't heard him sigh over the lack of a hostelry.

At large buffet parties at his house, Jim's attention is everywhere, making sure that each guest tastes all the dishes and is utterly comfortable. Jim lives in and works from a charming small house in New York's Greenwich Village. One of the most striking features of the house's decor is its bold and fascinating wallpapering. His kitchen is fabulous, as you would expect. All his "collecting" during extensive traveling shows up delightfully.

RECENT PARTY

At a recent dinner party, Jim served us tartines — smoked salmon and cucumber on good earthy pumpernickel bread—with before-dinner drinks. At the table, the first course was Deviled Crab, the recipe from Jim's native Oregon. With the crab came sourdough bread, chive and hot, and the wine was a delightful Muscadet.

The main course was a baron of mutton, cooked pink, with an anchovy sauce. The meat accompaniment was perfect: a huge ravier of leeks, hearts of artichokes, wedges of ripe red tomatoes and ripe olives, all cooked lightly in olive oil with a hint of garlic. The wine, a fine Beaujolais.

Dessert was homemade vanilla ice cream with whole fresh strawberries, coated with raspberry puree, and Jim's wafer-thin cookies. After this, coffee and cognac. This was indeed a sumptuous

His Cup Of Tea

Gastronome Jim Beard writes cook books, conducts a cooking school, entertains friends and travels widely—and always finds time to relax over a cup of tea.

ment, but the occasion was special. The guests of honor were Al and Dora McCann, who conduct a food-and-home radio program.

For a simple supper, Jim suggests that you serve his Deviled Crab, a delicious bread and sweet butter, and plain icy-cold tomaatoes with salt and freshly-ground pepper. The ice cream and fruit dessert will make a fine ending.

JIM BEARD'S DEVILED CRAB

- 1 lb. crabmeat
- 1 1/4 cups rolled cracker crumbs
- 1/4 cup finely diced celery
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- Few grains of cayenne
- 2 tbsps. chopped parsley
- 1 tsp. chopped green pepper

Combine the crabmeat with the crumbs, celery and onion and moisten with melted butter and milk. Season with mustard, salt, cayenne, parsley and green pepper. Mix thoroughly, pile into shells or a casserole, and bake in a 350 degree oven for about 1/2 hour.

Appetizing Side Dish

Tomatoes make an especially delicious contribution to a menu when prepared this way.

CURRIED BAKED TOMATOES

- 6 medium (2 lbs.) tomatoes
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. curry powder
- 1 1/4 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

Watercress or parsley

Cut a thin slice from each end of washed tomatoes so they will stand straight; cut in half, crosswise. Place tomatoes in a baking dish (11 1/4 by 7 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches is a good size). Mix the salt, pepper and curry powder and sprinkle over tomatoes. Mix crumbs and melted butter; pat down over tomatoes.

Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven until hot through and crumbs are golden, about 15 minutes. Garnish with watercress or parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Fun Begins With Grilled Franks

Family fun begins with franks. Grill-time favorites are also handy for casual meals when food is prepared in the kitchen and carried to back porch or family room. Although franks are made with kids in mind, grownups are fond of "hot dogs" too.

Franks are high in meat-power with lots of complete meat protein. When buying franks look for the two most trusted words in meat as assurance of top quality and greatest eating satisfaction. To be sure of serving the franks at the peak of goodness, they should be used within 4 or 5 days. Freezing franks is not recommended because like all cured and smoked meats, flavor deteriorates during freezer storage.

'Souper' Sandwich Is For A Super Supper

"Let's eat outdoors." With hot weather here, this is a familiar cry. Everyone likes to relax under the "shade of the old apple tree" or more true today on the terrace or patio.

Wherever you decide to set up your table, be sure the food you serve will whet heat-wilted appetites. Always popular are sandwiches, and the "souper" kind are especially so!

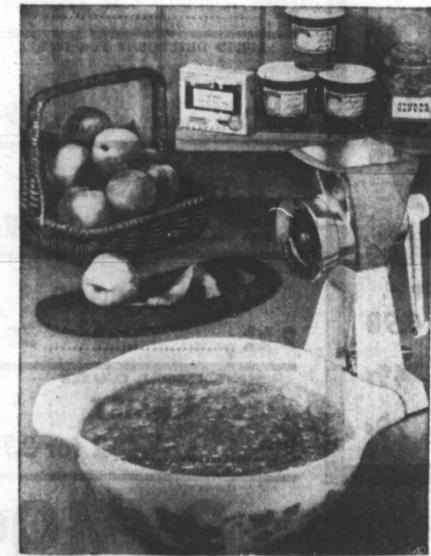

For superb eating with little effort try a tangy, colorful open-face chili and bologna sandwich prepared on the grill. It uses canned condensed chili beef soup as its base. Mix up plenty for there will be demands for seconds.

A tossed green salad adds a cool inviting touch and makes a perfect accompaniment to the zesty sandwich. Complete your menu with tall glasses of iced tea and offer chilled watermelon for dessert.

P. S. Don't forget paper plates and cups will cut down on clean-up time for any of your summer meals.

OPEN-FACE SANDWICH

- 1 cup cubed bologna (about 5-ozs.)
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 tbsps. shortening
- 1 can (11-ozs.) condensed chili beef soup
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tbsps. sweet pickle relish
- 2 tps. prepared mustard
- 2 round hard rolls, split and toasted
- In heavy skillet, 4 to 5 inches above glowing coals, brown bologna and cook celery and onion in shortening until tender. Blend in soup, water, pickle relish, and mustard. Cook covered 20 minutes or until hot, stirring now and then. Last few minutes toast rolls on grill. Makes 4 open-face sandwiches.

NO-COOK PEACH JAM

No Cooking For This Peach Jam Recipe

A new way of making jam is going the rounds, and cooks who are curious about it may be interested to know that our testing of the method proved to be a delightful success.

This way of making jam produces wonderfully fresh flavor because the fruit (mixed with sugar) isn't cooked; the water and pectin that are added are cooked.

STORING

After preparation, the jars of jam must go into the freezer for storage if they are to be kept for any length of time. If the jam is to be eaten in two or three weeks, it may be stored in the refrigerator.

For our recipe we tried a basic peach preserve adding candied ginger to it. This combination is great on toasted English muffins, or hot biscuits or scones for a company brunch; it's interesting, too, used as a cake or cookie filling. Although only a tablespoon of the minced ginger is used, you will find this small amount gives just the right amount of "bite."

JIGTIME PEACH JAM

- 1 1/2 lbs. (about) fully-ripe peaches

- 2 tbsps. lemon juice
- 1 tbsps. finely diced candied ginger
- 4 1/4 cups sugar
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 box (1 1/4 ounces) powdered fruit pectin

Peel, pit and coarsely grind peaches; measure 1 1/4 cups into a large bowl or pan; use any remaining small amount of ground peaches some other way. Stir in lemon juice and ginger. Thoroughly mix in the sugar; reserve. In a small saucepan, stir together the water and fruit pectin; bring to a boil and, stirring constantly, boil 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir into reserved peach mixture; continue stirring for about 3 minutes. (Don't worry about the few remaining sugar crystals.)

Quickly ladle into 1/2-pint fruit jars. Put dome on jar; screw band tight. When jam is set, store in freezer. If jam will be used within 2 or 3 weeks, it may be refrigerator-stored. Makes about 6 eight-ounce jars.

NOTE: Rinse candied ginger with hot water to remove sugar crystals and to soften before drying.

It's Simple To Light Charcoal

It's simple to light a charcoal fire successfully. Charcoal lighting fluid can be applied, following instructions on the container, then left to penetrate for 60 seconds. Apply lighted match. Burning begins promptly.

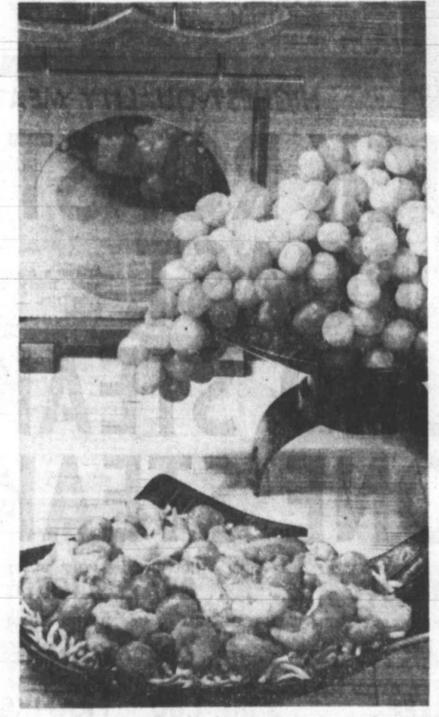

There also are jellied lighting cubes available for placing among the charcoal briquets, then igniting. Solid pellets are sold, too.

Electric lighters that can be placed at the base of the charcoal bed, plugged into a power outlet, and removed when the first briquets become ignited also are popular.

If none of these starters are available, you can use cut-up waxed milk cartons or crumpled paper. Placed among the briquets, either of these aids, when lighted, will ignite the charcoal quickly.

Pre-soaked wood charcoal can be carried in a cardboard egg carton. Once ignited both briquets and the carton become a fast fire-starter.

Each chef develops a favorite system to serve him well under varying circumstances. In all cases, the cue to a fire that has "caught" is the fine white ash that spreads over the first few coals. Over a period of about 25 minutes, the ash will cover all wood charcoal briquets in the fire-bowl. Cooking temperature has then been reached.

CURRIED SHRIMP AND GRAPES

Grapes Give A Different Flavor To Many Dishes

CURRIED SHRIMP WITH GRAPES

- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh onion
- 2 cups milk or 1 cup shrimp stock and 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon salt or salt to taste
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 1/2 cups deveined cooked shrimp or 2 cans (6 3/4-oz. each)
- 1 1/2 cups Thompson seedless grapes

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Remove from heat and blend in flour, curry powder and onion. Stir and cook 1 minute. Gradually add milk or shrimp stock and milk.

Stir and cook until of medium thickness. Add salt, black pepper, shrimp and grapes. Heat only until hot. Serve over chow mein noodles or toast. Yield: 6 servings.

SPICED GRAPES

- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
- 2-inch stick cinnamon
- 2 cups Thompson seedless grapes

Combine sugar, water and lemon juice in a saucepan. Add cinnamon and bring to boiling point, stirring until sugar is dissolved.

Add grapes and heat 3 minutes or until grapes begin to look cooked. Remove from heat and cool. Serve with poultry, ham, veal or tongue. Yield: 6 servings.

Bureau Of Mines Expects Ocean Floor Work In 10 Years

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Within 10 years, the Bureau of Mines hopes to be prospecting for gold and other minerals deep down on the ocean floor.

revolutionary techniques for opening a new frontier in mining. By 1972, bureau oceanographer John Crawford reported in an interview, the bureau expects to have a start on:

—A manned submersible capable of sitting on the ocean floor, 1,000 feet deep on the Continental Shelf, and equipped with a drill to bore through another 1,000 feet of rock on the ocean bed.

—Floating underwater laboratories — huge buoy-like devices which could be anchored and manned at depths of about 1,000 feet and serve as bases for lowering equipment to the ocean floor.

All are deemed feasible within 10 years, said Crawford. Looking farther into the future, Crawford said the bureau hopes to have manned submersibles and other equipment capable of exploring and tapping the vast plains in waters several miles deep.

He said commercial engineers are planning nuclear power plants for the ocean floor to furnish power for mining operations and heat and light for men in underwater shelters.

—Underwater shelters at the mine opening where men could live a week or more at a time.

—Even so, according to a government report, diamonds have been recovered along the coast of South Africa; tin is tapped off Indonesia; the Japanese mine iron from their coastal waters and heavy minerals are taken from beach areas of the United States, Australia and India.

The equipment will be a far cry from the shovel, pan and burro of gold rush days. The bureau plans to bore through another 1,000 feet of rock on the ocean bed.

Angry

Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., is galled by a Senate threat to his mailing privileges. His concern was caused by the Senate tacking a rider on a congressional appropriations bill forbidding congressmen from using their franking privilege on so-called "junk mail." The amendment still needs approval at a Senate-House conference.

Vote Slaps South Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—South Africa is expected to stick to its apartheid policy of racial segregation despite the U.N. Security Council's call for a worldwide arms embargo against the South African government.

There were indications that not all U.N. members would enforce the embargo. Secretary of State J. Rudolph Grimes of Liberia warned that African members would seek stronger measures in November unless South Africa changes its racial policy.

The embargo call was the key provision of a resolution the council adopted Wednesday by a 9-0 vote after debating apartheid for a week at the request of 32 African countries.

Britain and France abstained on the vote. Both have announced they are not shipping any arms to South Africa which, as Britain put it, "would enable the policy of apartheid to be enforced."

However, French Delegate Roger Seydoux of France called the resolution interference in South Africa's domestic affairs. Sir Patrick Dean of Britain said his government reserved its position on an all-inclusive embargo because of its defense commitments to South Africa.

Both Dean and Charles W. Yost of the United States said they did not regard the council's embargo call as compulsory for U.N. members. But the United States has announced it will ship no arms to South Africa after the end of this year.

Dividend Declared By Pioneer Gas

AMARILLO—Board of directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., at a meeting held here, declared a quarterly dividend of 26 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, payable Sept. 5, 1963, to stockholders of record on Aug. 23.

C. I. Wall, president, reported that the net income for the first six months of 1963 amounted to $3,783,121 or $1.06 per share on 3,585,589 shares outstanding on June 30, 1963. These earnings compare with $3,760,789 for the first six months of 1962, or $1.06 per share on 3,564,704 shares outstanding on June 30, 1962.

The second quarter report to the stockholders will be mailed about August 13.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A collision of two big semi-trailer trucks killed two men 14 miles south of this Panhandle town Wednesday night. They were Jay Brown, about 22, of Electric, and Francis Jones, about 35, of Spearman.

The vehicles met nearly head-on. Brown and Jones were in the cab of a cattle truck which grazed the other cab and smashed against its trailer. It took workmen two hours to extricate one of the bodies.

Dallas Bartley of Liberal, Kan., driving the other truck escaped serious injury.

1st Cavalry's Been Shooting At Raiders For A Long Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ancestral units of the famous 1st Cavalry Division were shooting it out with raiding parties a century before the current skirmishing in Korea. Regiments which later were formed into the division carry battle flags from the Civil War. Then they battled in the Indian campaigns. Troopers rode the desert and mountain trails to engagements with the Sioux and the Utes—and were with General Custer on his last stand. They pursued Geronimo, fought the Comanches, then patrolled the Mexican border to search out raiders from across the line. The regiments—the 5th, 7th, 8th and 9th—came together into the present 1st Cavalry Division in 1921. The 12th Regiment moved into the division in 1932.

Tanks and patrol vehicles came onto the battlefield in World War I, but the division remained essentially a true cavalry outfit—with horses and pistols and sabers and hard-riding troopers—until modern war's technology began emerging in World War II. The 1st Cavalry left its homeland 20 years ago and, organizationally, never has returned. Afoot and in armored vehicles, the division went into action against the Japanese in the Admiralty Islands in February 1944. Rain forest and jungle was the arena for this phase of the war, where the enemy sniped from hiding or struck in screaming, whooping forays like the Indians of the old days. The division moved up to the Philippines, landed on the shore of Lingayen Gulf and received orders from Gen. Douglas MacArthur to hustle along a hundred miles of roadways to enter Manila. After World War II, the 1st Cavalry with its gold and black shoulder patch, moved to Japan for occupation duty. It was still there when Communist forces plunged into the Republic of Korea in 1950. The enemies this time were the Communists of North Korea and the swarms of "volunteers" from Red China. The division was in the defense of Seoul and helped push the Reds back, finally, over the 38th Parallel. The official, big-scale shooting for that war finally halted with the armistice. But the 1st Cavalry Division stands, with the 7th Division and South Korean divisions, along the defensive line. Along the two-mile wide demilitarized zone, 1st Cavalry soldiers now are doing what their predecessors did generations ago: watch, wait and patrol in search of raiders who strike suddenly and savagely.

Park Boasts New Records

Six Flags Over Texas, amusement park located near Arlington, is boasting new records as of the date of its third anniversary last Monday. The park has entertained more than 2,575,000 visitors.

Size has increased from 105 to 115 acres; investment from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000; rides, attractions and shows from less than 50 to more than 70; attendance from 564,000 to this season's estimated 1,500,000.

As the gate increases, out-of-state receipts reflect a growing nationwide popularity for Six Flags. These have increased from 14 per cent of total visitors in 1961 to 24 per cent now. To handle the increasing load, the staff has more than doubled from 600 to 1,250.

Other figures reported by Six Flags management include: single day attendance record 16,363 in 1961, and 22,675 in 1963; average daily attendance 5,900 in 1961, and 12,000 presently.

DEAR ABBY

Tell The Whole Story

DEAR ABBY: I have been working for Mr. and Mrs. Smith for two weeks. I take care of their two children. I am almost 17. My problem is Mr. Smith. He is always trying to get me alone to kiss me. He told me he has no romantic interest in me, he just wants to kiss me. This man is old enough to be my father. His wife knows nothing of this and I am sure it would hurt her to find out. I can't tell my parents because they would make me quit, and I need the money for school in the fall. I am really afraid and don't know what to do.

—NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO: Quit your job and go home. Tell your parents the reason for quitting, and let THEM tell Mrs. Smith. She may be "hurt" to learn that her husband is either sick or lecherous, but covering it up could be a disaster for the next young girl she hires to care for her children.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I invited some friends over for a Sunday supper. They accepted a week prior to the day. So on Saturday morning I proceeded to prepare for the dinner. At exactly the moment they were to arrive we received a telephone call from them saying "company had dropped in" and they were unable to come. Having thawed out nine T-bone steaks, made two apple pies, besides French fries and onion rings and salads, I was a bit miffed to say the least. Do you think they had a legitimate reason for disappointing us that way? Or were they wrong? —CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: They were wrong. They should have told their unexpected company that they were expected for supper. And promptly left for your home.

DEAR ABBY: In romance stories I notice that when a man proposes to his lady he takes the engagement ring along with him. After the girl says yes he slips the ring on her finger and they are engaged. What I can't figure out is how the man finds out the finger size without her getting wise to what he's up to.

—ZM
DEAR ZM: In "romance" stories the girl always says yes, the ring always fits and they live happily ever after. In modern times, the man asks the girl for her hand first. If she wants to give it to him, she starts with her finger, which the jeweler measures for the ring size, and they select the ring together.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D": Since you can read your husband "like a book," why don't you skip what you don't like in him, as you do in a book? Your life's story will then have a happier ending.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby.

School Office Burglarized

An electric adding machine disappeared from the principal's office at Washington Place Elementary School between June 21 and Aug. 1. Principal John Hardy told police he thought the main school office had borrowed it but a check showed it was not the case. Police said no signs of forced entry were found.

Mike Skalicky, with American Petrofina, reported a tire and wheel and a five-gallon can of gasoline stolen from his pickup Tuesday night while parked at his home, 609 Settles.

The cash register at K&T Electric, 1005 W. 3rd, was robbed of $15 in coins some time Tuesday night when a lock was broken from a store room door permitting entrance to the main office. Charles Simmons, employe, discovered the loss and called police.

Four coin-operated machines were heavily damaged at Penny's Drive Inn, 800 W. 4th, shortly after 2 a.m. today. A Nashville, Tenn., truck driver told police he heard glass break at Penny's after he stopped at a service station across the street. He said a man ran out of the building, got in a car and drove off. Entry was made by breaking the glass from the front door. No estimate of money taken from the machines had been made this morning.

G. H. Briden, 1007 Scurry, told police some one had forced open his garage door since Aug. 1 and had taken an electric drill and a soldering gun, both valued at $21.

Dies In Fire

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Mrs. Marie Cunningham, 54, died Wednesday night in a fire which destroyed only a couch at her home. Officers found the body on the couch. The fire probably started from a cigarette.

A Devotional For The Day

If a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine and goeth into the mountains and seeketh that which is gone astray? (Matthew 18:12.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, help us to understand the great importance of spreading the gospel among men on earth. Give us wisdom, courage, and strength to lead others on to the path of righteousness. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Importance Of Tourism

If Gov. Connally got nothing else out of the recent National Governors Conference at Miami Beach, the firsthand insight afforded into Florida's tourist promotion program and booming tourist trade should have been well worth the trip. Governor's aide Howard Rose gathered detailed data showing that Texas' late and modest start in this competition is tapping a rich economic lode.

The Texas Legislature last session appropriated $283,000 for a tourist promotion program in the governor's office, with a six-member advisory committee and director yet to be named. Florida's state tourist agency spends more than that on billboards alone, and has a 30-man staff directing a program that even includes promotion buses touring Europe to interest foreign visitors.

Last year Florida had more than 13 million out-of-state visitors who spent an estimated $2.4 billion, and its tourist trade rose slightly last year after a four year slump, to about 9.6 million visitors spending not quite a half billion dollars.

With a greater diversity of attractions, Texas should be able to compete more strongly with Florida, which is now luring hundreds of thousands in the summer season when that state is not especially attractive. The key is promotion, advertising, and a sustained program of research to determine what visitors want coupled with vigorous state and local policy to provide for those wants.

It is significant that Florida's tourist chief Wendell Jarrard is aware of Texas' competitive potential, being well-informed on the new promotion program and establishment of Padre Island National Seashore. The Floridian sees the seashore park as a future boon to Texas tourism.

Jarrard calls tourism a $40 billion industry in Florida, including all the business generated in addition to tourists' direct expenditures. In that kind of big business, the Texas promotion appropriation appears small indeed, but it is hope-stimulating as a pilot program which should be expected rapidly to expand. Coupled with local public and private enterprise efforts, the new state policy could launch a great Texas industry, sizable share of which should naturally gravitate to this area.

There can be little quarrel, meanwhile, with the Post Office Department's zest for experimentation. A Protuberant Verruca, At Last

NEW YORK (AP)—Getting an annual medical checkup is a leading status symbol today—particularly if it turns up a rare ailment no one else has.

I wondered why old acquaintances were cutting me dead in the street, and strangers fled from me at cocktail parties.

Finally, an old friend took me aside and said:

"I hate to be the one to have to tell you this, but it's your own fault you have begun to avoid you. You've let our set down dreadfully by failing to get your annual medical checkup."

"THIS LEAVES no common ground for discussion."

I protested that after my last checkup five years ago the doctor told me I was "medically uninteresting."

"I'd die rather than let word of that get around in our crowd," I said.

"Oh, surely there's something wrong with you by now," replied my friend cheerily. "Get another checkup."

So I did. Remember when all the doctor did was to make you stick out your tongue and say "ah," thump you on the chest, listen to your ticker, and then tell you to take a dose of Epsom salts?

Those simple days are past. Medicine is on the assembly line now. My doctor didn't make me say "ah," at all, but examined me from stem to stern with instruments I'd never seen before—and don't want to again.

"WELL?" I asked, when he had finally put me back on my bare feet again.

"You don't have athlete's foot, and your scalp seems okay," he said.

Anyone Against Sin?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Voting for the limited nuclear test ban treaty is a little like being against sin. The Senate figures to approve it. As of now the whole thing looks cut and dried.

When the Senate wrecked President Wilson's treaty for putting the United States in the League of Nations in 1919, there were several reasons, political, personal and this:

It meant abandoning this country's historic isolation. And the United States wasn't ready. It took another world war to do that.

But there are none of those difficulties in the nuclear test treaty.

This country has preached some such agreement for years. This doesn't mean there are not some problems. But they are not so full of tiger's teeth as those of 1919. Good evidence is the attitude of the Kennedy administration.

It shows no signs of anxiety about the outcome. Democrats and Republicans are expected to team up to provide the necessary two-thirds Senate vote after giving the treaty the full business with hearings and debate.

President Kennedy arranged to send the treaty, signed last Monday with Russia and Britain, to the Senate today. There next Monday the Foreign Relations Committee begins two or three weeks of hearings. Debate on the Senate floor is expected to last about a week.

Besides questioning those for and against, some skeptical senators in search of gimmicks can quiz administration officials on every verb and comma. The administration says there are no gimmicks.

Some senators in both parties have hemmed and hawed about the position they will take. The Joint Chiefs of Staff will leave little room for reservations if they give their blessing, as they probably will.

The treaty isn't complicated. It has an agreement and an out.

It prohibits nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under the sea. But it permits continued testing underground.

Dear Dr. Molner: We are having bedtime problems with our 18-month-old daughter.

Recently, on being put in her crib, she has cried hysterically for as long as 45 minutes.

Having the light on makes no difference. She does not sleep well, waking up every few nights for as long as several hours.

She is the adored baby and the center of family attention. Is there anything we can do?—MRS. C.G.

Hysterical weeping for 45 minutes isn't good for the child—and it isn't good for the parents' nerves, either.

First, most of these sleep problems are the result of early training or conditioning. Not all, but most. There may be a clue in your remark that "she is the adored baby and the center of family attention."

It's natural for babies to want to be the center of attention. Some crave this more than others. A smart baby can pick up the trick of creating a fuss very early in life—if the fuss keeps him or her in the limelight. And quickly it's a habit.

Or there may be some quirk of circumstance—a tone of voice, an attitude toward going to bed, or some unwitting remark that may make the child fearful. There are many variations.

Shortness of breath to that degree is not normal. Whether it is a sign of some difficulty of heart, lungs, breath passages or something else is impossible for me to guess. But you should see a doctor. You may nip some sort of trouble in the bud.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have developed such a liking for raw carrots that I eat three pounds of them a week. Is there any harm in this?—MRS. M. S.

Not unless symptoms develop. If the large amount of fibre is not unduly irritating (some touches of diarrhea, perhaps) or unless you notice a yellowish tinge in the whites of your eyes, there is no need to worry. And if either of these happens—slow down on the carrots, and things will still be all right.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

To Your Good Health

Children Acquire Different Sleep Patterns

However, these problems usually boil down to the fact that a new habit has to be developed. Parents must adopt a firm attitude.

At the same time, too much ado, too much explaining or ordering or whatever, can aggravate the situation by attaching more importance than it warrants.

Be firm, be simple, be calm—hard as that may be when the little one again resorts to hysterical tears.

Children acquire different sleep patterns. A child who isn't tired at bedtime is likely to lie awake—whether quietly or noisily is another matter! And, incidentally, one who is too tired, and too stimulated, can stay awake when sleep is what is needed most.

You might well discuss it with your pediatrician. Sometimes a very tiny dose of sedative for a short period will help establish a good and lasting sleep pattern.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a cab driver, 41 years old, six feet tall and weigh 187 pounds. I work 12 hours a day, walk a mile to work and a mile home, with no other exercise. We live on the second floor. When I get home I'm so sort of breath I have to sit down for a minute or so before I can talk to the wife and kids. What's wrong?—J. P.

Paper Preferences

Newspaper people spend a lot of time polishing their product, in an effort to give subscribers what they want in their daily paper. Columnist Ray Irwin quotes from the house organ of a Massachusetts newspaper one reader's responses to what he wants (tongue in cheek, I suspect).

In order of preference, here is the must list:

1. MY NAME.
2. A front page article showing how crooked the city government is most of the time.
3. My wife's name.
4. A feature article showing 25 ways on how to cheat on income tax forms.
5. My kids' names.
6. A local news item about the affairs my neighbor is having.
7. A CLASSIFIED ad offering a new home for sale for $4,000.
8. More news about the lawbreakers.
9. Less news about lawbreakers. I was picked up last night and I should not have to pay a fine.
10. An editorial condemning high school teachers for being too liberal with F's.
11. A wedding picture of the groom instead of the bride when he is more handsome than she is pretty.
12. A sports picture of me when I bowled 183.

13. More advertisement on things that the merchants are giving away.

14. A FRONT PAGE picture of my neighbor being hauled out of a bar by his wife.

15. A front page spread about the dead-beat who lives across the street from me who just had his car repossessed.

16. Forget the last one. I just got word from the finance company that they're coming after my car.

17. More letters to the editor naming the crooks in town.

18. A full page of local news, a page of national news, several pages of sports and comics, one page on divorces, and three pages on all the domestic troubles we are having in town.

19. LESS STUFF about how cute everybody else's kids are. My kids are better looking than those you rave about.

20. A complete biographical sketch about the "most important citizen in town," and be sure you spell my name right.

Obviously, most of these "suggestions" fall way out in left field, but it is surprising sometimes at the requests received in the average news office.

August's Garden Bounty

Now, if ever, come perfect days, and never mind all that old propaganda about June.

True, June is the month of poets and their peans, of rhymes and roses, of brides and sweet girl graduates, and of graduate students with a Ph.D., and a $9,000 job contract tucked into pants pocket underneath the silken doctorate gown.

BUT LET US sing a song to August, the gourmet's delight and the gourmand's paradise. Let us strike the lyre and hymn the month in which the horn of plenty is tipped and running over, pouring its lavish benison of fresh garden and orchard bounty into the market bags of the nation.

What still life can compare with the beauty of a highway fruit and vegetable stand, slyly set by the side of the road where the race of men, far from going by, halts to raid the premises as if food had been outlawed?

AND WHAT DOES a weekend invitation from friends with a country home mean to New Yorkers, long in city pent? "Fresh picked corn and 'vine ripened tomatoes' are the crudely lettered, homemade signs that get the New Yorker every time—the average New Yorker, no more than 20 years out of the corn patch and dreaming of the days when it was only 30 minutes from patch to the perfect product, steaming on the table and cozying up to a mound of golden butter.

The beauty of August glows from the shelves of the homemade stand. There are baskets of big, ruby-red beefsteak tomatoes, still warm from the sunny field. There are the mounds of emerald string beans and their associates, the lima. And still in the emerald family, there are the fresh cucumbers, just waiting for a little vinegar, water, sugar and salt.

AND THE PEACHES! Baskets of big, juicy, early yellow beauties, so rosy ripe that the skin is often purple. They are so ripe, so ready for their union with cream, that they cannot be shipped to the market and are never seen in New York.

There are little watermelons, no larger than the field-ripe cantaloupes beside them. And who knew only the big, red-meat watermelons of our youth eye with suspicion and pass on to the old-fashioned muskmelons.

Little new potatoes, not more than an inch in diameter, lay in wait to trap the Executive Suite type cum-Nebraska. Does he buy them, I wonder, dreaming of tiny new potatoes creamed with fresh peas, like mama used to make? Or does he remember new potatoes, boiled in their jackets in water into which a handful of fresh dill had been thrust?

POTATOES ARE only come-ons. Oh, the city type buys a basket of them and of the beefsteaks, all right, and a mound of the peaches, so beautiful that they cry out to be touched, and three pounds of string beans and a half dozen cucumbers (does he yearn for Aunt Hattie's cold cucumber soup?).

But these are not the reason he stopped the big car. What he's stopped for, and there can be no doubt of it, is that crown of August's bounty, the pinnacle of America's gastronomic delights; roasting ears.

HE PICKS UP the ears hungrily and, no matter how long he has been separated from Iowa, he says delightedly, "It's ready. See, the tassels is brown." Then he strips back the green shucks, looks with lascivious joy at the young, plump and golden kernels. Automatically, he plunges his thumbnail into a kernel and sighs as the milk runs white.

If the United States had given nothing else to the world but corn on the cob, she would still be ahead by a mile and deserving of universal leadership. What other of mankind's blessings compares with it?

Fidel Castro And The Negroes

WASHINGTON—It's pretty hard for Attorney General Kennedy to go on pretending that there is no Red tinge in the Negro revolution when Fidel Castro talks as he did as late as last July 26.

"And here we send another message of solidarity and fraternity to the United States Negro population which has our sympathy," said Castro, adding, "Let the U.S. Negroes come here . . . to see a population without discrimination."

CASTRO MADE AN overt Communist bid for Negro popularity a few years ago when he visited the United Nations. That was the time he ostentatiously left a downtown Manhattan hotel and moved to one in Harlem. Today one of his regular broadcasters to the United States is the American Negro, Robert Williams, a fugitive from justice, a spokesman for putting more violence into the Negro revolution. The Williams voice of communism via Havana urges "solidarity" (a favorite term in all Red propaganda) between black America and Red Cuba.

THEN THERE are the two California attorneys, Rose Rosenberg and Jean Kidwell Pestana. Both were fingered as Communist party members by FBI undercover agents back in 1952. Last summer Pestana and Rosenberg and Pesta defied the passport restrictions and paid a month-long visit to Cuba. This summer they have been taking part in West Coast racial demonstrations.

CHAIRMAN WILLIS of the House Un-American Activities committee has referred their cases to Robert Kennedy's Justice Department for prosecution. Such action by Justice, of course, would link Soviet Cuba even closer to the Negro revolution. It would take the starch of credibility out of the testimony given by Secretary Rusk to the Commerce Committee and Bob Kennedy. Rusk has belittled any international conspiracy to stir up and subvert our Negro citizenry, Kennedy on the day of the Castro speech wrote Sen. Monroney of the committee that Communist efforts to crash integrationist groups had proved "remarkably unsuccessful."

WELL, SUCCESSFUL or otherwise, this Communist drive to infiltrate the American race movement is something we need to hear more about. The administration has played it down, much as the presence of Russian men and arms in Cuba was once played down. All of the information thus far about Reds in the race rebellion has come from reporters who have dug, as I have, into material that is public property, or from opponents of the Civil Rights package who would be against it if there were no Communist connection whatever.

THESE, I SAY,—reporters and opponents—should not do all the work of relating the Civil Rights cause and the Communist menace. I would think that the President himself should be warning the Negroes to beware of treacherous leaders who mean them and this country every ill. I would think that the attorney general, who certainly knows how often FBI Director Hoover has connected communism and Negro disturbances, should tell Congress when and how these "unsuccessful" Communist attempts were made to create the integrationist groups.

I can't imagine why proponents of Civil Rights—such men as Monroney (D) and Scott (R)—would leave all the Red-baiting to the other side.

IF IT'S TRUE, as seems evident, that the Communists are trying to exploit the Civil Rights issue, the best way to spoil their game is to expose them.

Billy Graham

The Bible says that we should not do anything that would cause anyone to stumble. I try very hard, but no matter what I do, I seem to offend some people, and someone finds fault.

P. W.

The same Bible also says, "we all make mistakes in many kinds of ways." (James 3:2 Phillip's trans.) As long as we are human we will make mistakes and will offend someone. I believe Jesus had reference to the deliberate exercise of Christian liberty without due consideration for others when he warned about offending. Besides His warning was particularly about "offending these little ones" and this could mean either small children or those recently converted. We do have an obligation to others and must provide many with living examples of a vital Christian life. Though we are never to become entangled in a yoke of bondage of any kind, yet we are under obligation to love one another and to encourage each other. As much as you can, avoid offending, but some people will find fault even with angels.

The Fraudulent 14th Amendment

WASHINGTON—The Fourteenth Amendment, on which the whole idea of "civil rights" legislation by Congress is largely based, is in a precarious legal position. It now turns out that, at any time they wish, 51 per cent of the members of the two houses of Congress can wipe out the Fourteenth Amendment without submitting the matter to the President or to the state legislatures.

The facts have been given new emphasis in a letter just written by Everett C. McKeage of San Francisco, a prominent lawyer active in the American Bar Association. He is at present a member of the California Public Utilities Commission and had been its president for two terms. He served previously as a judge of the superior court of his state.

MR. McKEAGE'S letter, which is published this week by "U.S. News & World Report," points out that any lawyer can find the facts by examining pages 700 to 711 of Volume 15 of the "United States Statutes At Large." He writes:

"Upon the face of these documents, it is clear and unequivocal that the Fourteenth Amendment was never lawfully adopted. This conclusion of mine assumes for this purpose that the asserted ratifications by the 'carpetbag' governments of the Southern states were valid ratifications . . ."

"HOWEVER, and this is most important, Secretary of State Seward (in his first proclamation) stated that the states of Ohio and New Jersey, which had theretofore ratified the Fourteenth Amendment, had subsequently withdrawn their ratifications. He pointed out that if these withdrawals by Ohio and New Jersey were valid, then the Fourteenth Amendment had not been adopted, but that if these withdrawals were unlawful and invalid, the amendment had been adopted.

"On the 21st day of July, 1868, the Congress, by joint resolution, arbitrarily resolved that the Fourteenth Amendment had become a part of the Constitution of the United States and directed the Secretary of State to so proclaim. Obviously, the Congress proceeded upon nothing more than the information contained in the proclamation made by the Secretary of State."

"Swallowing all of this fraud and corruption, the official records, to which I have referred (withdrawals by Ohio and New Jersey), clearly reveal that the Fourteenth Amendment was not lawfully adopted . . ."

"I believe that people generally are becoming aware of the fraud that was perpetrated upon the American people by the Reconstruction Congress."

BUT HOW CAN the illegalities now be removed? Since the Supreme Court continues to refuse to do anything about it, the problem reposes in Congress, which can undo by a joint resolution what it did originally by a joint resolution. It took only a 51 per cent vote of both houses in 1868 to order the Secretary of State to proclaim an amendment as adopted. It need take only 51 per cent today to declare the Fourteenth Amendment unlawfully adopted.

'Good Friend'

Blonde, Italian-born Mrs. Christina Austin, who has been linked with Henry Ford II by New York papers, walks from her apartment in Milan, Italy. Commenting on rumors about her and Ford, whose separation from his wife was announced, Mrs. Austin said, "We are just good friends and nothing else." Mrs. Austin, 34, is the divorced wife of a former British Naval officer, who is now dead.

ACC Wins Land Case

EL PASO (AP)—Abilene Christian College has won a case involving more than 41,000 acres of Terrell and Pecos County land given the school by the late William Edwards, a Pecos County rancher.

The 8th District Court of Appeals reversed the trial court decision and ruled in favor of the college Tuesday.

The trial court found that Edwards had been unduly influenced by representatives of the college but was of sound mind at the time he signed two deeds conveying the property to the school.

Heirs of Edwards contested the will. The first trial of the case ended in a hung jury. The second, before Judge C. E. Patterson of 83rd District Court, was held in August of 1961 and resulted in a judgment for the heirs. Abilene Christian College gains control of more than 65 sections of land between Fort Stockton and Sanderson, valued at more than $1 million.

The college maintained that Edwards paid $50,000 a year until indebtedness against the ranch was clear. This indebtedness was about $425,000, and the school had paid less than half the amount.

Astronauts Take Desert Training

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Should any of those legendary grizzled desert prospectors run across the nation's nine new astronauts this week he might rub his eyes in wonder and swear to his faithful donkey the Martians have finally landed.

The new astronaut team took to the desert's blistering days and chilly nights for the rest of the workaday week to prepare for the chance they might some day return from a space flight to the Sahara or Mojave desert.

The astronauts, accompanied by two members of the original Project Mercury space team, arrived at nearby Stead Air Force Base on Monday for a week's classroom and field training. Stead, where regular Air Force pilots learn to live off the land in case they're ever downed in the wilderness, is eight miles north of Reno.

Final classroom sessions were Tuesday morning.

With the space trainees are Maj. Donald K. Slayton, who didn't make his scheduled space jaunt because of a heart condition, and Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., who holds the nation's earth-circling record with 22 orbits set in May. Slayton and Cooper sat in on classroom sessions and Slayton indicated he would go into the field northeast of Stead with the new astronauts. Slayton is coordinator of astronaut affairs.

Both took similar desert survival training here as Project Mercury astronauts, but all this country's space flights have ended in water.

The new astronauts are training for the Gemini program with a capsule built for two. A dummy capsule will be used in their field training on the sage-dotted desert, where the sand temperature could reach 130 degrees.

The nights are cool. The low temperature on the base itself Sunday was a chilly 36.

Stead survival experts, who also teach mountain survival in the nearby snow-capped Sierra, will help the astronauts fashion bur-nooses — Arabian-type hoods—from parachutes and other gear to prevent the blistering sun from sapping all the moisture from their bodies.

They'll also learn such essential tasks as preserving precious water supplies and how to spot poisonous snakes, spiders and other desert hazards.

The Gemini spacecraft was originally designed to land on earth with skids, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said. There's still a chance the astronauts might come down on land. A desert would provide a good spot to skid to a stop. The astronauts have already had jungle training.

The astronauts shrugged off threats of the heat they'll encounter on the desert. It gets mighty hot and muggy in Texas, site of the Manned Spacecraft Center, they explained.

When a partnership uncovers a fit in two suits, a problem frequently arises in deciding which one should be trump. To many players it becomes a question of merely selecting the longest and strongest suit. The obvious choice is not always the best one, however, as there are apt to be other considerations involved which may take precedence. Today's hand, selected from a recent tournament, presents an interesting case in point.

The first round of bidding was more or less normal. When North made a free bid of two clubs, South's thoughts naturally turned to slam, and he flashed the signal by cue bidding the opponent's suit. His two spade call is unconditionally forcing to game, and permits him to indulge in relaxed exploration without fear that partner will drop him somewhere along the way.

When North revealed the heart fit, most Souths were quite satisfied to play the contract in that suit, and it became merely a question of the level to be reached. Some were content to settle for a small slam which they were able to claim shortly after the opening lead was made. Others went all the way to seven hearts, and suffered disappointment when they learned that there was no way to get rid of declarer's losing diamond.

Only one North-South pair reached the maximum contract of seven clubs, and this was the result of further exploration. When North bid three hearts, South contented himself with a simple raise to four clubs of his partner's original take-out. When North merely returned to four hearts, South was still not certain how far he should go, and he made a cue bid of five diamonds to elicit additional information.

North's bid of six clubs was most revealing. It cleared up in South's mind any lingering doubt as to the solidity of the clubs. The only remaining hole was South's small diamond. If North had five clubs, a discard would become available on the long card in that suit. If North had only four clubs, however, it would be essential to utilize the heart suit for discards.

In the interest of safety, therefore, South bid the grand slam in clubs. There was nothing to the play of the hand. North ruffed one spade in the dummy, drew trumps, and routinely took 13 tricks for a top score on the deal.

Now Network Brags About The Old Film

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. recently was almost apologetic about dedicating four or more precious evening television hours a week to motion picture re-runs. Now it has assumed a more positive stance. It is actually boasting about the painstaking way it selects the features, edits them and slips in the inevitable commercials and station breaks.

The network is frank to explain why it elects to run movies on Saturday and Monday nights. The public likes them.

Last season, when two of its Monday night series died from lack of public interest, NBC slipped in a two-hour feature as a stop-gap. It proved so popular that "Monday Night at the Movies" will be continued through the new season.

NBC, however, does not just pick any old movie.

The network purchased two expensive packages of features from two top studios, about 75 pictures. Donald Bays, program manager, and his assistants saw all of them, sometimes more than once, and chose the best 30.

Several yardsticks were used. One, of course, was the boxoffice popularity of the star (Marilyn Monroe, Cary Grant, Robert Mitchum, William Holden — and undoubtedly, Gable, Bogart and Elizabeth Taylor — are sure-fire.)

"We are always looking for a big-outdoor action picture," said Bays, "because it attracts the family audience."

Much of the criticism about old movies on television concerns careless cutting. Bays says that the average movie with commercials is almost perfect for a two-hour period. Sometimes, however, they run as long as 140 minutes, which means surgery if the film is to be used on Monday nights. The Saturday night movies often run past 11 p.m. to avoid the necessity of editing.

"When I watch the films, I'm always looking for natural breaks, the ends of acts or scenes," Bays continued. "There are logical spots for commercials. And, if the film runs long, I'm watching for scenes to cut out without injuring the whole."

Bays said musicals have proved less popular.

Next season, about 75 of the shows will be in color, with star names. And some of the films are only two or three years old.

No Strict Limit To Number Of Caesarians

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Washington doctor says Mrs. John F. Kennedy has now had the "average" number of Caesarian deliveries—four—for a mother requiring such a type of delivery.

But there is no strict medical limit to the number of such operations a healthy young woman may safely undergo—and there have been instances where a woman has safely delivered 10 children by Caesarian.

That was the word today from Dr. Thomas Gilday, an associate of Dr. John Walsh, Mrs. Kennedy's obstetrician.

The doctor said in an interview a woman's ability to undergo safely another Caesarian depends entirely upon the condition of her womb following her most recent delivery by that method.

Mrs. Kennedy's four deliveries by Caesarian include Caroline, unique, although there is no historic record of this.

However, some other doctors say the term was derived in this way:

Caesar, they say, once delivered an edict that if a child was still alive in the mother's womb, even though the mother herself had died, the baby should be delivered by whatever method possible.

Records of Caesarian deliveries date back to the 15th Century.

Doctors say that the main indications for delivery by this method include: (1) a previous Caesarian, (2) a disproportion between the size of the unborn child and the bony pelvic structure of the mother and (3) bleeding complications.

Body Found

WACO (AP)—The body of Walter Dillard, 56, of Waco was found Wednesday in the South Bosque River. His car was found Tuesday in the North Bosque River.

A Caesarian section (sometimes spelled Caesarian) is the delivery of a baby from the uterus (womb) through a surgical incision made in the lower abdomen—in contrast to normal delivery through the vaginal passage.

Some doctors say the derivation of the term is vague. It's often linked with a belief that Julius Caesar was delivered by this technique.

Elvis, Ann-Margret Having A Romance

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — News that the younger set flip: Elvis Presley and Ann-Margret are having a romance. At least that's the way it looks. You can't always be sure about romances in Hollywood. Sometimes they will flame while a movie is being made and released, then sputter out when all the publicity has been garnered.

Elvis and A-M are appearing opposite each other in "Viva Las Vegas."

Well, seeing is believing, and their behavior on the film set might make you believe that something is brewing between the

Storm Revives, Aims At Bermuda

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A revived hurricane season, churned toward Bermuda today with the threat of gale winds.

After fizzling almost into oblivion, Arlene regenerated Wednesday night. Ships clocked her top winds at 60 miles an hour in squalls. The Miami Weather Bureau said they would increase to gale force today.

Arlene's center was estimated about 360 miles southwest of Bermuda. Top winds extended out 150 miles to the north and east of the center, mainly in squalls.

The storm was whirling in a curving track toward the northeast at 15 m.p.h. The Weather Bureau said no intensification was expected during the day.

Caution was urged for shipping in the path of Arlene and small craft were advised to remain in port in the Bermuda area.

Learn To Speak A New Language As Children Do

The hummingbird is a creature of instinct. Did you know that on a certain night in early autumn, all hummingbirds from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Ocean rise high into the air and fly 500 miles non-stop without food or rest to their winter habitat in southern Mexico and Central America? What causes these birds to completely evacuate the United States in a single night? No one knows. Did you know that God gives children a natural instinct to learn languages? After thirteen years' of study and research, William Archer discovered the child's approach. It is SPEED SPEECH.

William Archer, who created SPEED SPEECH, knows that speaking a foreign language can be very contagious: within the home. He has devoted years to studying why a child mimics the adults in the family, and is thoroughly convinced that if a child hears a language, he can learn to speak it. As you progress with the SPEED SPEECH course, try this simple experiment: Speak only Spanish in the home three days each week and see how much fun it is to talk in a foreign tongue. You will be equally thrilled that your children begin expressing themselves immediately in Spanish without the benefit of even a textbook.

Spanish SPEED SPEECH is available only through The Herald, and since it is being offered as a public service, low prices prevail. You can get three items important in the course for $2.95 each, plus six cents sales tax, or $3.01. These include the SPEED SPEECH textbook, a set of two 45 rpm records as pronunciation aids, and a convenient English-Spanish dictionary of working words.

Your are urged to make use of Herald coupons, and place your order now. A limited supply of the items are available at The Herald office.
