Two West Berliners wave handkerchiefs in the hope that relatives on the other side of the Berlin wall will see them. In the background is the Heinrich-Heine Strasse border crossing point to East Berlin. At various points along the Communist-built wall, West Berliners held memorial services to mark the second anniversary of the barricade erected to halt flow of refugees to the west.

Industry Lures Will Be Taught

AUSTIN (AP)—In mid-September the Texas Industrial Commission will begin teaching, city by city, how to attract industry. The commission, assigned the task of bringing industry to the state and helping local businessmen present a better sales talk to out-of-state interests, calls its new program "Operation Tips," a shorter name for Texas Industrial Planning Seminar.

enthusiastic about the program and was instrumental in getting it started. Shelton said that although the commission had considered such a program for several months, it was not until last week that a meeting was held with Gov. John Connally to work out final plans. A six-month schedule of meetings has been drafted, Shelton said, but available dates have not yet been mailed out. He said Irving already was scheduled only because it heard about the program unofficially and asked for the first appointment. Meeting dates are Oct. 19-25, Nov. 8-15, Dec. 6-13, Jan. 10-24, Feb. 7-21 and March 6-20. Others will be set later.

Pickets Pelt Chicago Cops

CHICAGO (AP) — Police patrolled a South Side Negro area today after school integration pickets pelted police with bricks, stones and chunks of concrete in their demonstration against installation of mobile classrooms. Four policemen and one woman were hit. One officer, struck on the forehead with a piece of concrete, was reported in fair condition in a hospital. Task force commander Robert J. Lynsky, head of the police force at the site where 19 mobile classrooms are to be installed, was hit by a flying brick. He was not injured. "This is no longer a demonstration," Lynsky said. "It is approaching the dimensions of a riot. I will no longer tolerate these rabble rousers and brick throwers." About 50 persons were arrested during Tuesday's demonstration, the second day in a row of violence at the school site. Nearly 50 others were arrested Monday. Most of the persons arrested are Negroes. Integration leaders said the picketing will continue.

Space Test Helped Solve Big Mystery

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—The nuclear bomb which the United States detonated above the Pacific last year helped scientists determine the path and rate of decay of high-energy electrons, thus solving a major mystery of the Van Allen radiation belt. This was reported to a satellite conference today by Wilmont N. Hess of the Goddard Space Flight Center. "While the nuclear explosion shortened the lives of some satellites and increased the intensity of radiation around the globe, it had a valuable side effect," he said. "To students of the Van Allen belt, it was almost like having a controlled experiment in space."

ter understanding of the Van Allen belt, a zone of trapped radiation which extends from 400 to 40,000 miles above the earth. It will help in the design, engineering, and equipping of spacecraft. The artificial band of radiation created by the 1.4-megaton hydrogen detonation released electrons which merged with the lower level of the Van Allen belt. Hess said satellite instruments readily distinguished the blast-created electrons from natural radiation. "There was a very rapid decay immediately of the highest-energy particles," he said. "About one-half of the artificial radiation disappeared in the first year. Now the decay rate of the lower-energy particles is smoother and slower, and the amount of artificial radiation is being reduced by about one-half its amount each year." Hess said the loss rate should increase as radiation layers on the sun increase toward a period of maximum solar activity in two years. He said the maximum period may wipe out the man-made radiation. Hess said the high-altitude explosion provided data on the inner zone of the Van Allen belt, but that electron movement and life in the less dense outer zone still is not known. He said a plane is being studied to shoot a piece of radioactive copper 16,000 miles high to release positron energy particles. Positrons could be readily investigated by satellites, Hess said. He reported that positrons act almost like electrons and would not contaminate space.

Capital Beefed Up

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The Haitian government has reinforced military checkpoints outside the capital and is reported tightening security on the plain east of the capital as rumors persist of more rebel invasion plans. A week after Haitian exiles invaded the northeast in an abortive attempt to bring down President Francois Duvalier, the capital was filled with rumors of new planned forays.

Cool Air In Broad Areas

By The Associated Press
Cool air covered broad sections from the north central region into the Northeast today. Fairly heavy rain was reported in sections of the Northeast and in parts of the South. Two to three inches of rain doused areas in southeastern Alabama. Nearly two inches fell in a one-hour period in Bessemer, Ala., with some flash flooding reported in the city's business district. A funnel cloud was sighted southeast of Birmingham. Rainfall measured up to two inches in parts of northeast Texas but mostly light rain was reported in the southeastern Rockies. Rain continued during the night and early morning in parts of Maine, Pennsylvania and Delaware. Strong winds made the weather feel much cooler along the cold front which extended from northern New England southwestward to Texas. Temperatures were mostly in the 50s in the north central and northeast sections, with the 60s in central areas.

Estes Home A Tourist Flop?

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—The Billie Sol Estes home looks like a rank failure as a tourist attraction, the Pecos Daily News says. Estes opened up his palatial home to tourists at $5 per carload and $20 for picture-taking last Saturday soon after he and his family moved to Abilene, Tex. But the Daily News reported Tuesday night that only a trickle of visitors had been through the home, two miles from downtown Pecos. "As far as we know," a reporter said, "nobody has taken advantage of the $20 price for taking pictures." The Estes family left for Abilene after a cross was burned on the lawn and a shot fired into the house. Estes is free on appeal bond after two fraud and swindling convictions.

Hurricane Hits Invisible Wall Near Spinning Earth

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Imagine a hurricane wind smashing an invisible wall? Space satellites are finding evidence that just such a collision occurs 40,000 miles from earth with dramatic effect, Dr. Louis A. Frank and Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa said today. The wind is composed of atomic particles from the sun and smacks the walls of the earth's magnetic field at its outer limit. The collision, Dr. Frank said, could explain why the shimmering northern lights turn on: why the earth has a long tail stretching out on its nightside; why radios sometimes black out; why some radiation hazards are for astronauts and, even how the outer Van Allen radiation belt is formed. Frank, 24, read the joint report to a symposium summarizing the results of the International Geophysical Year in 1957-58, when space satellite exploration began. It was then that the first Van Allen radiation belt girdling the earth was detected. Subsequent data from satellites, especially explorers 10, 11 and 12 and Lunik 2, have formed this picture for scientists: The solar wind, composed of electrons and protons, runs into the outer limits of the earth's magnetosphere, the field of magnetic force surrounding the earth about 40,000 miles out. A shock wave is created when the solar wind, traveling many thousands of miles per hour, strikes this magnetic field. The wind bounces back but much of it could flow on around, pushing the earth's magnetic field into a tail on the dark side of the earth. In an amplifying interview, Frank said the evidence could explain a number of phenomena, including some that are witnessed on earth. It could explain how some of the solar wind particles reach earth to cause northern lights or produce storms high in the atmosphere that make radio communications fail.

DAILY GUIDE — Watch tongue and pen today; the tendency will be to rouse antagonism with words. On this kind of day you might find that the only mar in your activities will be some slight mechanical breakdown, a cut, or bruise, or the tendency to drop or break things. Just cut down speed, and count to ten before blowing off steam.
Mars now is in Libra, working up to a sensitive degree in the U.S. chart, so combined with the heavier one covering this period, it adds up to a sobering event of national importance.
Librans can expect more action now, while Arians may find themselves challenged by others. Both signs can expect an emphasis on personal relationships. This is a good week for Pisceans to seek advice or talk things over with other people. Cancerians and Capricornians can expect to be occupied with little details concerning home or career.

Some misleading statements may be confusing tomorrow. Keep to realistic outlook.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LEO! Your personal relationships are still under pressures, so use good judgment. You could receive some favorable support through educational contacts, or people at a distance.
However, travel and these contacts are excited this month, and the wisest policy would be to watch what you say or write. Some climax of action might come next week. The changing conditions at home base remain in force, with some further changes due in very early October.
Unusual financial conditions are part of the long-term picture, with unexpected ups and downs from time to time. Social contacts favored in the very late fall.

HINTS FROM HELOISE by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:
A tea strainer is a wonderful thing for straining hot starch to remove any lumps and thick spots. Especially if the starch has been sitting for some time.

Dear Heloise:
I use yellow-colored shortening and have wondered many times if there was a way to substitute it for margarine.

Dear Heloise:
Did you know if you dampened the top of your work table or doughboard, and then spread a sheet of wax paper on it and press it down with your hands, that the waxed paper will stick to the board and not slide around. Then you can roll out your pie crusts without any trouble. It saves cleaning too. M.H.M.

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column recently from a woman who thought that the practice of parakeets flying over the dinner table at mealtime was unsanitary. And you agreed with her! ## Aug. 29 Seems Close, Rail Strike Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP)—With rail negotiations stalemated and new doubt cast on legislative prospects, Aug. 29 seemed awfully close today.

That's the day set by most of the nation's railroads for new job-eliminating work rules—a move the five operating unions have pledged to meet with a strike.

What makes Aug. 29 seem closer than 15 days away is that a pact has settled over the two major procedures for averting a nationwide tie-up—negotiating for a settlement of the four-year-old dispute and legislation to turn the problem over to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The negotiations, sponsored by the Labor Department, sputtered to a halt Tuesday with announcement by the carriers of "a positive stalemate" on the key firemen's issue. The carriers want to eliminate 32,000 firemen on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service on the grounds the men are no longer needed. The unions say they are required for safe and efficient operations.

J. E. Wolfe, the railroads' chief negotiator, announced the deadlock after a two-hour bargaining session with representatives of the firemen's and engineer unions.

"As far as the firemen's issue is concerned we have reached a positive stalemate which indicates at this time that a negotiated agreement is hopeless," he said.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz was only slightly less pessimistic.

"The most recent attempt to get a negotiated settlement has been unsuccessful," he said. "These efforts will continue, but the prospects of settlement by bargaining depend entirely on one side or the other making a new proposal."

No new meetings of carrier and union representatives have been scheduled, although both have been asked to stand by.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said: "From the beginning the railroads have failed to meet their responsibilities in the collective bargaining. Their latest announcement, if final, leaves the employees no other alternative than to prepare for whatever railroad management endeavors to force upon the employees and the American public."

The 156-member General Chairman's Committee of the union meets today to decide whether to remain in Washington. Even if it disbands, a spokesman said, a subcommittee would remain, prepared to negotiate.

If negotiations are at a dead end, the best hope for averting a strike seemingly would lie with Congress. However, one highly placed senator told a reporter it is doubtful now that President Kennedy's plan for submitting the dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission can be passed.

After the rail talks bogged down Wirtz and Lawrence F. O'Brien, special assistant to Kennedy, met

Waters Leaves VA Hospital

Robert Winston Waters, who for nearly two years has been assistant registrar at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital, leaves this weekend for a new assignment. Waters will assume the job of assistant registrar at the Fort Lyon VA Hospital in Colorado Aug. 19.

He came here Oct. 15, 1961 from the VA Hospital in Dallas. Waters has been with the VA since Oct. 3, 1946, serving with units in McKinney and Oklahoma City, Okla. before going to Dallas in 1956. He has been with registrar service during his entire tenure.

Waters was born 38 years ago in Kiersey, Okla. but has lived most of his life in Texas. He attended school at McKinney and Van Alstyne, where he graduated in 1943. Immediately following graduation he joined the U. S. Navy, spending his three-year tour of service at an auxiliary field of the U. S. Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi.

The family resides at 1806 Hearne. They have one girl Paula, a student at Boydston Elementary School, and a boy, Bobby. They are members of the First Christian Church.

Congo Premier Faced With Franc Devaluation

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula was in a financial jam when he went to Europe for economic talks...

The devil is the specter of national bankruptcy from runaway inflation and massive government over-spending...

A long-standing problem became urgent three weeks ago. The United States, the Congo's main source of aid, suspended two important items of aid in July...

These items were money to finance the import of consumer goods to fill yawning gaps on the shelves of Congo shops...

Experts say the current exchange rate of 65 Congo francs to the dollar is unrealistic...

This is costing the Congo millions of dollars a year. Diamonds, coffee, tea, rubber, cotton and palm oil are being shipped across wide-open frontiers...

fetch high prices in hard currency. There has also been brisk illicit trafficking in surplus food donated by the United States...

This smuggling was one of the reasons for the cuts in aid, although shipments of food are still arriving.

Most experts are agreed that a devaluation, accompanied by other reforms, must come quickly if this drain on the Congo's economic strength is to be halted before the country bleeds to death.

Despite three troubled years, production of many export commodities is buoyant.

But government over-spending is likely to hit 17 billion Congo francs—about $260 million—this year, according to some experts.

These sources said Belgium would take over the bulk of the foreign debt of 2 billion francs...

Belgium also was reported to have agreed to hand over the Congo's portfolio of securities.

ony's holdings in other companies operating here.

An agreement also was reached on payment for the 2,100 Belgian teachers, doctors and technical advisers in the Congo.

Belgium may provide some of the short-term loans Adoula will need to bolster the Congo franc in the event of a devaluation.

One expert estimated at least $50 million would have been necessary to prop up the Congo franc if devaluation had taken place July 15, the original D-day.

Warsaw Is Like Puppy On Leash

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Warsaw is like a frisky puppy on a long leash.

The city is young. Although there was a Warsaw when the ancient Romans came this way, the present city is almost entirely new, lovingly reconstructed on the twisted stacks of broken brick left by the war.

It is frisky. There is more hand-kissing than in a Viennese opera, and plenty of painted toenails, henned hair, and Count Basie records on the radio.

And it is on a leash, a loose one, but one that Communist authorities yank from time to time to remind the puppy that there is still someone on the other end.

But despite the government, the bureaucratic snarl of the system and an appalling rebuilding task, the Poles have put a city back together from the hideous wreckage. They are very proud of it.

Their proudest boast is that it is so much better as a place to live than Moscow, the capital of the Communist bloc.

"Moscow is Asia, Warsaw is Europe," the Poles say.

Warsaw does have a European flair for style and chic that is totally lacking in the Soviet Union.

There are adding machines in the offices instead of the wooden abacus contraptions in the Soviet Union, typewriters instead of leaky fountain pens, and churches on almost every corner.

The women wear crisp print dresses in the summer, with bright ribbons in their tinted hair, and they swing their hips when they walk. None swings a pick along the streetcar tracks as women in Moscow do.

The people chatter and fling their hands as they walk down the street. They smile and help each other in trouble.

The people in Warsaw tell jokes, some about the Russians. The very air seems clearer and cleaner. The lethargy that is built into the Communist system has not completely infected Warsaw as it has Moscow.

The Warsaw reconstruction is proof of that. The Germans set out to ruin the city in 1944. They blew apart almost every building in a city of a million people, ripped the electric cables out of the ground, even wrecked the sewers.

The Poles built their city back just the way it was, with a jagged skyline of gabled roofs and pastel plaster houses.

But the leash is still on. The newsstands sell the American Ladies Home Journal but few newspapers except censored ones, which are out of touch with reality.

A petty Communist official sits in every office, watching. From the squat, square concrete party headquarters comes a stream of directives on where to work, when to work, where to live.

Most Poles laugh at it. Right now the Poles take out their resentment by painting blotches of abstract art and selling them on the street and by sitting around in night-clubs listening to bands imitate old Tommy Dorsey records.

When the music is fast they all get up and do the twist. They even twist to tangos. It looks silly, but it must feel good.

Louisiana Oil Flow To Be Cut

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Conservation Commissioner James Gill said Tuesday the current Louisiana daily oil production allowable of 1,291,867 barrels will be cut two per cent for September and October.

The department estimated the net reduction at 42,000 barrels.

Sen. Kefauver Buried Tuesday

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Estes Kefauver, a Tennessee Democrat who made his mark in the U.S. Senate and created a memorable campaign picture as the man in the coonskin cap, was buried Tuesday at the family home in east Tennessee.

As the mahogany casket was lowered, a downpour swept over the crowd of mourners, among them Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Kefauver, 60, died last week after a heart attack.

His widow, Nancy, forced a smile occasionally during the simple service on the porch of the century-old home. Their son and three daughters sat with her.

An Air Force honor guard bore the coffin, draped with the flag, to the grave.

Many of Kefauver's colleagues in the Senate, where he crusaded against crime and monopoly, were present along with the Tennessee congressional delegation and Gov. Frank S. Clement.

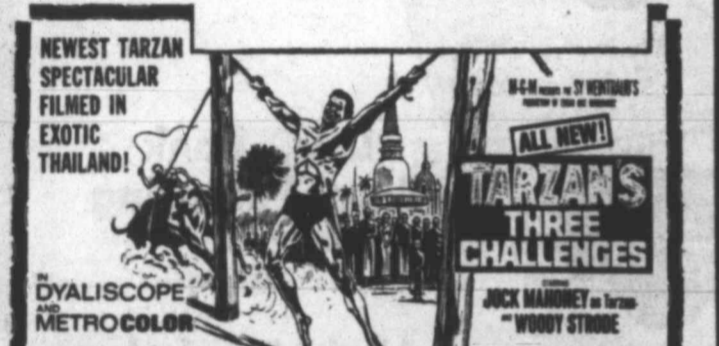

Business establishments of his hometown, population 1,800, were closed in tribute. A state trooper estimated the crowd in town at 5,000 to 10,000.

Kefauver sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952 and 1956, losing both times to Stevenson. He was Stevenson's running mate in 1956.

Career, Not Money, Is Advice Of Danny Thomas

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Never mind the money. Think of the career—and the money will come." That is the advice Danny Thomas has for young performers these days. Danny can cite his own career as proof.

Thomas is a wealthy man who stars in his own television series and heads one of the most successful program packaging companies in the business. It is producing five network shows next season. He often recalls the advice given to him by Abe Lastvogel, his agent.

"It was in 1943," Thomas said. "I got an offer to play at the Roxy Theater in New York for $3,750 a week. I rushed to Abe to talk about the news. But he just shook his head.

"He told me that he had a better date for me—in the European theater of operations. The war would be over sometime, Lastvogel said, and the guys would come home and wonder where I was when they were fighting.

"He said that I'd better go, even if I had to take a little less money.

"How much less?" I asked. "Well, $3,000 less," he said. I went took my $150 and I've never regretted it."

Danny has done so well that a couple of seasons back he was making plans to taper off his appearances in the "Danny Thomas Show" to a point where the show could roll along without him. Last season with his real wife and his television wife, Marjorie Lord, he took off for Europe. They made some shows in Europe but the bulk of the programs were made in Hollywood, using the two children in the cast, and Sid Melton and Pat Carroll.

Mail Theft Pulled Year Ago Today

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — A year ago today, a well-rehearsed band of white-gloved shotgun bandits held up a small U.S. mail truck in this historic town and made off with the nation's biggest cash haul—$1,551,277.

The only thing to top it in the world was the estimated more than $7 million taken last week from a train at Cheddington, England, by a well-drilled gang of about 30 masked men.

For a full year, a crew of postal inspectors—sometimes 60, and as many as 75—has worked on the Plymouth case. To date, none of the money has been found.

William F. White, chief New England postal inspector, is in charge of the dogged pursuit of the bandits. He is a patient man. He makes it clear that he cannot divulge all the information the inspectors have uncovered.

He did say this: Investigators have made progress; they have solid suspects. He has "the highest hopes the case will be solved before the second anniversary."

White takes pride in pointing out that the postal service has a record of 99 per cent convictions.

Only witnesses to the robbery were the victims—Philip Schena, driver of the truck, and guard Patrick Barrett. They were headed for the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston with money picked up from Cape Cod banks.

It was dusk on a warm summer evening as the mail truck rolled along Route 2, a smooth, wide highway. There were few cars on the road.

Barrett recalled, "The first thing we knew a car passed us at 80 miles an hour. Then a police officer — we thought he was — stepped out on the road and flagged us down."

Barrett had no way of knowing the man in police uniform was one of the robber gang.

After the mail truck had passed Clark Road, which turns off Route 3 into Plymouth proper, the "policeman" placed a detour sign at the junction, stepped back to the bandit car which then roared ahead to get in front of the mail truck.

The sign diverted traffic from Route 3 and left the bandits undisturbed as they stepped from shrubbery and pointed guns at the mail truck men.

Barrett recalled, "They leaped into the truck and shoved us back. They told us to keep quiet. They tied us up. Then we just sat there until they finally got out and left us."

That was about a half-hour later. The robbers, meanwhile, drove the mail truck north for about 25 miles. They tossed out money bags—15 of them—to confederates along the way.

The gang abandoned the mail truck at Randolph. Schena and Barrett untied themselves in minutes and gave the alarm.

At the outset, White said he believed the gang consisted of five men and a woman. A year later he said the question of whether a woman was involved is still open.

Berliners Toss Stones At Wall

BERLIN (AP)—A second anniversary memorial service at the Berlin wall Tuesday night grew into a rock-throwing demonstration by 1,500 West Berliners at two crossing points on the 26 1/2-mile barrier between East and West Berlin.

Most of West Berlin's 2.2 million people heeded pleas of authorities to avoid demonstrations as useless.

Memorial services were held at places along the wall, and a mysterious early morning explosion and a shot were heard on the East Berlin side.

The demonstration ended shortly before midnight after almost four hours of shoving and shouting.

It began after a group of 200 youths placed a wreath at a memorial for persons killed trying to escape from East Berlin.
