Hopes Raised For Action On Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration obviously hopes to generate a tidal wave of public opinion in the next few weeks to wash away the still strong pockets of congressional resistance to a cut in taxes.

The House Ways and Means Committee provided a solid base for such a campaign when it approved last Wednesday the general design for tax reduction and thereby gave virtual assurance that the measure will come to a vote in the House.

Britons Asked To Help Find Robbery Loot

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard mobilized an army of weekend birdwatchers, hikers, wild flower buffs and picnickers Saturday to help in the hunt for the loot from Britain's great train robbery.

'Cold Cure' Drugs Facing Govt. Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Food and Drug Administration proposed Saturday a ban on some 50 to 75 prescription cold cure drugs containing antibiotics.

A panel of outside medical experts had concluded that there is no evidence that these antibiotics have any value in treating the common cold or its side effects.

Big Spring Week

Showing came last week, and for part of our area they broke a tenacious drought. About a third of the county received an inch to an inch and a half; possibly a fourth of the county got between two and three inches, and one small area got up to four inches.

On the strength of this, approximately half of the county is virtually assured of a good crop. On the strength of the front which moved in Tuesday, Bro. Oille McDaniel and this column are agreed that the first northern has been duly recorded.

The Earl C. Evans clan can burst a few chest buttons with pardable pride. Last Monday, widely-known pianist Barbara Carroll, appearing on the Today program, was asked by Hugh Downs whom she considered the most exciting young pianist in the country.

Powers, the center's public affairs officer, will become a technical consultant to the educational exhibit program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington Sept. 1.

Julian Scheer, deputy association administrator in the office of technology utilization and policy planning, said Powers will supervise construction of the spacecraft models to accompany traveling exhibits.

Military's Civil Rights Role Brewing Up Storm

WASHINGTON (AP)—The machinery for putting into effect the off-base civil rights program ordered for the military services by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara is not expected to be ready before late this fall, officials indicated Saturday.

The formal directive refers to the use of sanctions against communities — the point which has raised the greater controversy — in its final section. McNamara also discussed this in a memorandum to President Kennedy.

Students Join Buddhist Fight In S. Vietnam

HUE, South Viet Nam (AP)—Educators and students of Hue University were caught up Saturday in cross-currents of the struggle between Buddhist leaders and the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic.

The government dismissed the university's rector, the Rev. Cao Van Luan. He is a Roman Catholic reputed to have taken a moderate attitude toward student demonstrations backing Buddhist calls for increased religious freedom and social justice.

About 200 of the university's 2,800 students took to the streets in a demonstration on Father Luan's behalf. They marched with banners declaring they will boycott classes unless he is reinstated.

Police broke up the demonstration. One student got cut on a cheek. He said a policeman hit him with a bayonet.

AT U. S. CONSULATE

A group of Hue University professors called at the U.S. consulate with an open letter stating that 40 faculty members of the six-year-old institution would resign.

The letter, addressed to "students of the nations of the world," said the 40 were deeply moved by the suicide by fire of two Buddhist monks in Hue and "by the indifference the Vietnamese government has shown in the last 3 1/2 months, particularly the replacement of the rector."

Father Luan had been the university's rector since its inception in 1957. He is reported to have left for Da Nang, on the South China Sea 60 miles southeast of Hue.

NO REASON

The reason for his dismissal was not announced.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Hue, the Most Rev. Ngo Dinh Thuc, is a brother of the president.

Students seeking return of Father Luan had a talk with a government delegate, Nguyen Xuan Khoang, at the latter's home. Khoang ordered police and newsmen away, but was reported to have told the students he will go to Saigon, 400 miles south of Hue, to see what can be done.

Buddhist leaders are trying to get international intervention for their cause, already marked by five ritual suicides. They have cabled pleas to President Kennedy, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and Buddhist organizations to take a hand, saying further sacrifices and bloodshed are in prospect.

Odessa College Sets Seminar On Security

A National Security Seminar with E. L. Dillon, senior geologist for Shell Oil Co. in Midland, as military seminar administrator will open at Odessa College Oct. 28 through Nov. 8.

Dillon, who holds the rank of lieutenant commander in the naval reserve, will take a 90-day leave of absence to administer all details connected with the seminar, one of 14 to be held in the nation this year. The two week study is sponsored by the Odessa and Midland Chambers of Commerce in connection with Odessa College and will attract some 300 reserve officers from all branches of the Armed Forces and more than 1,000 business, industrial and educational leaders.

The Navy has been designated as host service, although reservists from all branches of the armed services will participate. Sessions will be held daily from 10 a.m. until noon and from 1:45 until 3:45 p.m. in the Odessa College Auditorium. Cost of the seminar is $10 for business and professional persons, $5 for educators and housewives, and by special arrangement no charge will be administered to students.

The seminar is a condensed two-week version of the 10-month course given at the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Washington, D.C. It consists of 32 lectures by a team of personnel from the Industrial College faculty.

Lecture content concerns facts and significance of world events, economic, military, political, sociological, agricultural and natural resources. Some lecture topics include space exploration, captive Europe, evolution of communism, and others.

Howsley once served as vice president and general counsel for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

He was a partner in the oil producing firm of Howsley and Jacobs, operating primarily in the West Central Texas region.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mozelle Fancer of Seymour, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles E. Jacobs, and one granddaughter, Miss Lynne Jacobs, all of Albany.

Soviet Fishing Fleet Off Nantucket

SPEED LIMIT, SALES TAXES

350 New Laws Go Into The State Books Next Friday

AUSTIN (AP)—About 350 new laws go into effect Friday for Texans.

The statutes, passed by the legislature three months ago, will have widespread and varied results.

One law raises the speed limits from 60 to 70 miles an hour on most Texas roads.

Another makes it unlawful to take or distribute sea turtle eggs.

The Highway Department will mark some roads to 60 or 65 miles an hour if it thinks the 70 m.p.h. limit would be too fast. Night speed for cars would be 60 m.p.h. instead of 55. Trucks are limited to 60 and 55 m.p.h.

The Highway Department also has authority to set a minimum speed limit.

SALES TAX

A sales tax revision became effective July 1. Its main effect is to tax clothes costing less than $10.

Sulphur producers get a break Friday when the state lowers its tax from $1.40 to $1.03 per ton. The tax will be the same as Louisiana. The legislature thought this would help Texas sulphur producers compete.

State banks are freed from paying the Texas franchise tax, a tax not paid by federal banks.

Other bills becoming law Friday include:

Padre Island—The State Land Board can convey submerged state-owned lands to the government for creation of a national seashore island along the narrow sandy island between Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

TOURIST AGENCY

Tourism—A new state agency is created to bring tourists to Texas. Its name is the Texas Tourist Council.

Sportsmen—The Game Commission and the State Parks Board merge into a new agency, the Parks and Wildlife Commission. These commissioners will oversee fish and game matters, and maintenance of state parks.

Lawbreakers—Game wardens now may arrest trespassers. Present law allows arrests for game law violation only. The law means the warden can find and arrest a hunter or fisherman on a person's property without the owner's permission.

HOT CHECKS

Hot checks—The law will be changed to require at least one day in jail and $1 fine for conviction of passing a hot check in any amount. Businessmen will be required to send out a certified or registered letter, and if the check is not made good within 10 days, the businessman can take his claim to court.

Loans—A new Loan Regulatory Office will be formed to regulate those lending $1,500 and less. Interest limits were set by the legislature.

Bowlers—It will be legal to bowl on Sunday.

Veterans—Veterans Land Board will be authorized to raise the top loan limit to Texas veterans from $7,500 to $10,000, and increase interest, if voters approve a constitutional amendment on Nov. 9.

Discrimination—State agencies and political subdivisions are prohibited from not hiring persons solely because of their age.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Women's rights—Women will no longer be required to get separate and private acknowledgment to sell their personal holdings.

Pool halls—Cities will have authority to regulate pool halls and levy a $5 per table tax, in addition to the $10 state tax. The law will give cities the right to say such halls are a nuisance and close them down.

City limits—Cities will be limited in the amount of area they can take into their boundaries each year. The larger the city, the more area it will be authorized to take in, providing it renders the necessary services such as lights and water.

Education—The University of Houston becomes a state-supported school Sept. 1. Texas A&M and West Texas State drop the "college" behind their names and add the word "university."

Courts—Tyler and Corpus Christi get the state's 12th and 13th Courts of Civil Appeals. Dallas and Harris counties get two more district courts; Orange and Bexar add one each.

Bomb scares—State law, as well as federal, will prohibit a bomb threat.

Mentally retarded—The State Hospital Board is authorized to set up a school in Corpus Christi for the mentally retarded, and look for a location in West Texas to start another one.

Motorists—The minimum liability auto insurance requirement will increase Jan. 1 from the present $5,000 and $10,000 for death to one, or more than one person, to $10,000 and $20,000.

New Congo Leader Calls For Period Of Austerity

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP)—Provisional Premier Alphonse Massamba-Debat told his countrymen Saturday the nation will have to go through a period of austerity. He banned high living by government officials.

Massamba-Debat, who took over Friday after the overthrow of President Fulbert Youlou, said after an emergency Cabinet meeting that the country's budget deficit was considerable. He gave no figures.

The former school teacher and Cabinet member ruled out any more expensive trips to Paris by members of the government and said big automobiles and other luxuries that Youlou's ministers enjoyed would not be allowed under the new regime.

Youlou, a former Catholic priest who had been president of the former French colony for three years, bowed to rioting strikers Thursday and resigned. He and several of his former ministers were confined to the "Fulbert Youlou" army camp.

Massamba-Debat said they were being held there for their own protection, and repeated a promise that they would be allowed later to return to private life.

The city was reported calm, although there were reports of mounting tribal tension in village near Brazzaville. Youlou reportedly still has some support among members of his Lari tribe.

HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS

Those who write on the subject of good human relationships, draw heavily on the teachings of Christ and his apostles. Much of what they say can be found in the Sermon on the Mount, or in the twelfth chapter of Romans. A wisdom went into the writing of the Bible which the learned of today cannot equal, much less exceed.

Good human relationships belong to practical Christianity. Using Rom. 12 as the main text, my sermon this morning at 10:30 shall be, "Christianity and Human Relations." You are invited. Come in time to be in one of the Bible classes at 9:30.

The auditorium class (adults) will study chapters 19 and 20 of John.

Come again tonight at 7. The sermon subject, "Church of the Firstborn" is taken from Heb. 12:23: "To the general assembly and church of the first born, which are written in heaven."

Come and study the word of God with us.

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 200 West Highway 86, where you are always welcome. —Adv.

Berlin Wall Victim Given Mass Tribute

BERLIN (AP)—Thousands of West Berliners filed silently past a wooden cross on the Western side of the Red Wall Saturday. In small groups, they stopped and placed flowers. East Berliners watched from windows.

This was West Berlin's tribute to a victim of the cold war—Peter Fechter, the 18-year-old East Berliner worker shot by East German border guards and left to die in a no man's land between East and West. It happened one year ago.

The wooden cross stands a few feet from where Fechter was shot in broad daylight.

The shooting occurred a little over 100 yards from U.S. Checkpoint Charlie, the crossing point for the Allies.

Fechter was standing on the wall seconds before he could jump to freedom, when sub-machine gun bullets tore into his back. He fell backward and for nearly an hour lay bleeding at the wall, moaning in agony.

Finally, the East German guards took him away. He died on the way to the hospital.

Among the first to pay homage to him were the U.S. Berlin commander, Maj. Gen. James H. Polk, and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt.

Polk and Brandt laid wreaths at the memorial. Then they stood for a silent minute with their heads bowed, facing the cross flanked by black, draped pylons and two honor guards of West Berlin police.

Shortly after Polk and Brandt left, Fechter's sister, Lieselotte Mueller, laid a wreath at her brother's memorial.

Mrs. Mueller, who lives in West Berlin, said Fechter's parents, and his brother and sister in East Berlin went to his grave earlier and decorated it with fresh flowers.

Fechter is buried in a cemetery of East Berlin's Lichtenberg District, where he was born.

Anticipating demonstrations at the first anniversary of Fechter's death, West Berlin police had tightly cordoned off a wide area around Checkpoint Charlie. This included the Fechter memorial.

SMALL GROUPS

People who wanted to pay tribute to Fechter were allowed through barriers up to the memorial only in small groups. A police spokesman said by early afternoon over 5,000 had filed past the memorial.

Police feared a repetition of the violence that followed Fechter's death a year ago. For days, demonstrators had attacked Soviet buses and cars passing through Checkpoint Charlie. This led to new tension in the Berlin crisis.

On the other side of the wall, extra border guards and members of the Communist militia were observed digging new trenches and adding to the already existing border fortifications.

West Berlin police theorized that these extra forces were actually brought up by the Communists to protect the wall should there be any antiwall rioting in West Berlin.

Jail Time Now Automatic For Hot Check Passers

Effective Friday, convicted hot checkers will have to do time in jail. Heretofore, they have been able to pay fines in most instances. A new Texas law makes the jail sentence mandatory for those convicted in county or district court of writing worthless checks. The range of punishment under the new law is left largely to the judge or jury. It may be as little as $1 and one day or as much as $1,000 fine and two years in jail. But in all cases the punishment must now include some time in the pokie.

The new law is reminiscent of the state DWI misdemeanor penalty. This law, too, carries a mandatory jail sentence, but in DWI cases, the convicted person must serve a minimum of three days. Incidentally, the $1,000 fine and two years in jail is applicable to the first offender, but unless there are unusual circumstances, the court is not apt to throw the book at them.

NOT NEW HERE

Jail terms in check cases are not new here. Judge Lee Porter, in Howard County Court, has frequently imposed jail terms, if recommended by County Attorney Wayne Burns. Since Jan. 1, a total of 16 convicted hot checkers have been given jail time, as well as a fine.

First offenders in the past have been generally let off with a fine, but Burns has seldom recommended less than $10 fine for even these. The new law has a minimum of $1, but it adds the compulsory day.

Coupled with any fine or with any jail sentence imposed in the county court are the court costs. These in the county court are a fixed $28.85 for each offense. Even if a defendant was to be fined the minimum $1, possible under the law and given the one day in jail, also the minimum, he would not be free to go his way until he had squared up the $28.85 court costs.

LOOPHOLE?

If a policy now practiced on many occasions continues, an offender who hears himself sentenced to a day in jail could escape even seeing the inside of a cell.

It is a policy that a prisoner booked in for a charge can, if he wishes, go right up to the court and enter a plea. The new law would make it possible for the judge to give him a day in the jail and a fine of $1. The system followed credits the man with one day when he is booked in; hence if he came down from his court session and paid off his court costs and fine he would have complied with the letter, if not the spirit, of the law. His record would show he had served a day in the jail.

In the past, it has been the practice in—but not here—some counties for hot check cases where the check was $5 or less, to be handled in the justice courts. All local check cases have been automatically handled by the county court. Under the new law, the justice courts will be banned from handling them because the courts cannot assess jail terms.

PROGRESSIVELY STIFFER

Where the offender is guilty of being a repeater—has been arrested and convicted on two previous occasions, the new law stiffens the penalty for both fine and jail time. Second offender check writers convicted of the offense cannot get less than 30 days in jail and fine in any amount up to $2,000.

Peace Corps Members Have Job Opportunity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Schools, government and industry have shown a keen interest in returning Peace Corps volunteers. Some 400 have served their two years overseas and received their discharges since June, a check at corps headquarters showed today. Another 325 will finish before the year is over.

So far, only a trickle of these first Peace Corps veterans has been returning home. Most of them are touring other countries. When their service is terminated, they receive cash to cover tourist class air fare from their host country to their homes in the United States. They also may receive up to one-third of their accrued termination payment — $75 per month of service — at the time of separation. The remaining two-thirds will be given them when they return to the United States. For 24 months of service they would have $1,800.

Some industries have in mind jobs paying around $750 a month or more for a qualified Peace Corps veteran. Companies with operations overseas especially are interested.

President Kennedy has led the federal government's recruiting efforts among the returning volunteers. He said he hoped they would seek careers in the Foreign Service. The State Department said it would consider Peace Corps service as qualifying experience for a step above the first wage level.

Edward R. Murrow, director of the U.S. Information Agency, saying he had been impressed with Peace Corps work, urged volunteers to consider working for USAID.

Other government agencies, including the Public Health Service and the Bureau of Indian Affairs, want them, too.

A questionnaire sent to the volunteers last fall showed that 63 per cent wanted to continue their education.

Numerous colleges and universities across the country have offered fellowships and scholarships to the volunteers. The Ford Foundation has set up a Peace Corps fellowship program with a grant of $400,000.

Teaching positions have been offered.

Companies like E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., International Business Machines Corp. and Stauffer Chemical Co. have expressed their interest in engineers, chemists and agricultural experts.

Corps headquarters has been acting as a clearing house for all the opportunities, sending notice of them to the volunteers and leaving it up to them to make the contacts.

Little Change Due Devotions

Little change in local practices of school devotions is anticipated by Supt. Sam Anderson.

These are not on board directives and are not official functions, he pointed out. The question has arisen in many areas in the wake of the Supreme Court decision in Murray vs. Curlett.

In a memo of the school board, Anderson explains the questions involved in the issue should objections to the practice of prayers or Bible readings arise in the system.

At present, although no policy requires it, devotional programs are practiced in several schools. In the Senior High School, the student council reads morning devotions over a public address system. Much the same type of program is used by teachers at the lower level grades. Big Spring is one of the few schools that still have prayers read or said before athletic events.

The recurring phrase in the court's June 17 decision is "officially sponsored religious exercises," explained Anderson, and this leaves much responsibility with the individual teacher.

"If she does not require prayer or Bible-reading exercises, she may be subjected, with no hope of official support, to attacks of individuals or pressure groups who cannot understand why such exercises are unconstitutional. If she does require prayer or Bible-reading exercises, she may be subjected to legal challenge from individuals or groups who object," Anderson wrote in the memo.

Considering this position, he cautioned against "passing the buck" to the teachers. If a student when a "conscientious objector" comes forth, the board may be obligated to develop a written policy.

ABILENE—David Navarro will receive a bachelor of arts degree from McMurry College in Abilene at the summer commencement program to be held Aug. 22 in Radford Auditorium on the campus. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ramon Navarro, 600 N. Goodland.

The Rev. Edward R. Barcus, minister of Austin Ave. Methodist Church in Waco, will deliver the commencement address. Rev. Mahon Cautions Pentagon On Applying Gesell Report

Pentagon officials have a note of caution about going overboard in handling of off-base segregation. Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the subcommittee on military appropriations, warned defense officials not to go too far afield in implementing the so-called Gesell report.

Mahon is chairman of the panel which controls the purse strings on military expenditures.

Commenting on the report of the (Gesell) committee on equality in the armed forces, he said, "I think the Gesell report goes far afield. In my opinion, it would be intolerable and unacceptable if some of its recommendations were carried out."

Southern critics have charged the armed forces are being used as instruments to force social changes. The Pentagon argues that it is trying to protect morale of its troops.

One sore point, according to Ned Curran, a Washington correspondent, is that nearly half of all U.S. servicemen are stationed in Southern states, Texas, with 177,318 on bases in the state, is second only to California. Annual payroll of servicemen in Texas is $728.5 million.

LUAU AND LEIS

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

One of the few remaining Polynesian cultures is the luau or feasting. Grass huts and hula skirts are things of the past, but roast pig, fish, chicken, sweet potatoes and poi are still traditional foods and the leis familiar ornaments to the islanders and their visiting guests.

Webb officers and their wives, wearing gaily printed shirts, sarongs, mumus, leis and other typical attire, turned out Saturday evening at the Officers' Club for a luau provided by the Officers' Wives Club. Planned well in advance as a featured summer event, the luau was complete with island music, hula dancing, palm trees and a profusion of exotic blossoms. Tables were tabu for the evening—that is, the standard, four-legged kind of tables weren't set up for dining. Food was served upon low, plank-covered blocks beneath the sheltering palms and lanterns. The languid, tropical scene was mirrored in the quiet water of the club pool.

Plaintive sounds of strumming guitars and the soft rhythmic beat of a drum were heard from 5 until 8:30, when the Raiders departed for Lubbock, their home base.

Seated on the patio floor, diners partook of the roast pig, beef, turkey, yams, corn, melons and fruit and were spectators for performances given by Class 64-E. With Capt. Robert Pedigo as master of ceremonies, the women sang "Pagan Love Song", "Happy Talk" and "To You, Sweetheart, Aloha." Capt. Duane Houck, Lt. Keith Balcom and Lt. Jim Haruguchi were presented in a skit while Lt. and Mrs. Ken Keeler sang "Hawaiian Wedding Song."

POLYNESIAN POETRY was told in music and dance of the hula, as Mrs. Charles Moore, above, performed the native ritual. Musical accompaniment and an appreciative audience was provided by, from left, Lt. Keith Balcom, Lt. Ken Keeler, Capt. Duane Houck and Lt. Ross Early, and in front, Capt. Robert Pedigo. Fish from the hukilau and poi from the taro-root were not on the menu, but there were fruit-filled shells, yams and roasted meats for luau diners, shown right, gathered about a low, flower-bedecked table, Lt. Anne McGrath and Lt. and Mrs. William Wesson.

SURFSIDE SALUTATIONS included an aloha from Mrs. Raymond Davison, Mrs. Dwight Hartzell and Mrs. John McCrady whose apparel was typical of that worn by the wives in attendance. Some wore sarongs and mumus, while others appeared in more formal attire of the islands. Many stitched their own just for the occasion, and some, whose assignments have taken them to the Pacific isles, were prepared with authentic sheaths and drapes.

MRS. RONALD H. GEORGE

Marriage Rites Unite Couple

STANTON (SC) — Nuptial vows were pledged by Miss Patricia Maude Haney and Ronald H. George Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church at Midland. The double ring rites were read by Dr. L. L. Morris, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin H. George of Tarzan, Mrs. Faye Haney, Midland, and Sam Haney of Lamesa. The nuptial scene was marked with a pedestaled sunburst arrangement of white gladioli flanked by branched candelabra, cathedral tapers and fern trosses. Flowers were marked with white satin bows.

A program of piano music was provided by Mrs. J. B. Anderson of Buckeye, N. M., aunt of the bridegroom. She also accompanied the vocalist, Mrs. Clarence Percy of Midland, the bridegroom's cousin, when she sang "Because," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Wedding Prayer."

U. G. Riggan, Big Spring, gave his granddaughter in marriage. She wore a formal gown fashioned from silk organza and designed with a fitted bodice having a natural waistline. Chantilly lace and organza formed the portrait neckline and brief sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was detailed with horizontal bands of lace, and accenting the chapel train was a butterfly-bow centered with a cabbage rose. The bride carried a prayer book centered with white butterfly orchids and seed pearls.

ATTENDANTS
Mrs. Thomas D. Burks, Midland, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald Shelton Hubbard of Lubbock, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Marlena Gail Miller and Miss Beverly Underwood, both of Midland. Interested In Ancestors

Mr. and Mrs. Albert White, shown with their sons, Erle, Gerald and Henry, are members of a fair-sized clan. One of their hobbies is genealogy. This could become time-consuming for future members of the family, considering the fact that White's father already has 72 grandchildren.

Man With A Problem Is One Among Many

By JO BRIGHT
Albert L. White is a man with a problem which may soon be common to a great number of men.

With over 20 years combined service in the Navy and Army, he was recently retired, at 43, an age when most men have not yet reached the height of their earning capacity. White, too young to consider permanent retirement, has a family of five to support, and an uncertain future.

"We are used to thinking of men retiring at 65 maybe, said White, "but thousands of servicemen are finding retirement age coming 20 years sooner."

Mr. and Mrs. White purchased a home at 1511 Bluebird, before he was released from service in Nuremberg, Germany. They chose Big Spring because White, a native Texan, had relatives in this area. He attended schools in Belton and was a member of the Civil Conservation Corp from 1936 to 1940. He did ranch work near Snyder and Big Spring until joining the Navy in 1941. He signed up two days before Pearl Harbor and was sworn in two days after.

EARNs REST

In 1944, White had earned a hospital rest leave, following action in the Asiatic and Pacific, including the battle of the Coral Sea. Oakland Naval Hospital looked pretty good to him. So did a little blond WAVE that he saw on March 5. White is a true believer of love at first sight—and this was it. They were married six days later.

Mrs. White was born in Maulmein, Burma, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Klein, Baptist missionaries. Her family moved on to Toungoo, where they lived until she was 13. She said that her parents were often hosts to members of Gen. Clair Chenuite Flying Tigers during the early years of World War II. Later, her mother was able to get the family out of Burma by plane while her father remained with the guerilla forces. Mrs. White told of how he was with a group that marched many miles to Assam, just over the border, where he died two weeks later.

Mrs. White attended Denison University and Ohio State University before joining the WAVES where her previous nurses training enabled her to be a pharmacist.

The Whites have four children. A married daughter is Mrs. Chester Whiteside of Baltimore, Md. Three teen-age sons remain at home. They are Erle, 17, Gerald, 16, and Henry, 14.

ARMY CAREER

Switching loyalties in 1948, White joined the Army and was stationed at various times in Alaska, Korea, England and Germany, besides several stateside bases. While in Germany Mrs. White took art lessons and has 11 oils to hang in her home when their furniture arrives here.

While the boys are in high school, White hopes to enter Howard County Junior College, working for a degree so that he may enter the teaching profession. This is something the entire family wants and Mrs. White is ready to look for a job, if necessary, to help keep him in school.

Retired? Not the Whites. They've just retreated to regroup their forces, and regain a foothold in civilian life.

Mrs. Braune To Be With Sister

Mrs. W. W. Braune, 1106 N. Aylford, left Saturday for Dallas where her sister, Mrs. Nell Landith, is scheduled for surgery at Baylor Hospital. Mrs. Braune's brother, Lloyd C. Dickerson, Santa Fe, N. M., is a patient in the same hospital, due to a heart attack.

A brother-in-law of Mrs. Braune, R. C. Braune is confined to a Merkle hospital following an automobile accident Thursday.

School Counseling Is Subject For Program

James Perkins, acting head counselor in the Midland High School, and Mrs. Alice Feagan will conduct a panel discussion concerning their work Thursday evening. The program is planned for Parents Without Partners Inc. which will meet at 8 o'clock in the First National Room of the First National Bank, Midland. Harold Harris, president, invites all single parents, either widowed or divorced, to attend and hear of the benefits of school counseling. The Midland chapter meets each second and fourth Thursday in the bank building for discussions, with informal exchange of ideas, pertaining to problems such as the role of the father with or without custody, discipline, lowered income, legal matters, etc. Family picnics, children's parties, adult social gatherings and a bowling group help the newly widowed or divorced parent become adjusted to a single status. Further information concerning membership can be obtained from Harris, MU 2-7796, or from Mrs. Ouida Branson, OX 4-4785.

The Grants also toured Washington D. C., and the Amish community in Pennsylvania before starting back down the coast to Jacksonville, Fla. Although this is advertised as the Sunshine State, the Texas party was rained on all the way across. Methodist Rites Read For Couple At Stanton

Miss Nina Sharron Yater and Joe Dean Hall were married Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist Church at Stanton. The Rev. C. R. LeMond, pastor, officiated in the double ring service performed before altar bouquets of white gladioli palms and candelabra holding white tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Yater, Stanton, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hall, Ackerly.

Mrs. James Jones, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the vocalist, Miss Cheryl Whiteside, who sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of de-lustered satin and imported French lace. From a short sleeved, empire jacket of lace extended a chapel train detailed with lace appliques. A crown of lace, adorned with pearls, secured the fingertip veil of French illusion. Carried with a white Bible, the bride's bouquet, emphasizing a crescent of American Beauty roses, was formed with white stephanotis and rosebuds.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Evelyn Ann Yater of Stanton was maid of honor, with Mrs. Edward Billingsly of Ackerly serving as matron of honor. The bridegroom's niece, Delores Lankford of Gail, was the junior bridesmaid.

They wore bell-skirted dresses of sky blue peau de soie designed with scooped necklines and free flowing back panels. Their veiled hats were of the same fabric as their dresses, and their colonial bouquets were formed of stephanotis and rosebuds. Each wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bride.

Jerry Batson of Lubbock was best man, and ushers were Jerry Hall and Don Shortes, both of Ackerly. The bride's brother, John Milton Yater IV, was ring bearer, with Marian Johnson, Stanton, serving as flower girl. Tapers were lighted by Miss Karen Blohm of Shiner and Katina Johnson of Stanton.

RECEPTION

A reception was held afterward in the Cap Rock Electric Building at Stanton. Guests were registered by Miss Cindy Britton of Stanton. Other members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox of Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Blohm of Shiner, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Wehmann, Shiner, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lankford of Gail, and Miss Carianne Johnson, Cisco.

Covered with a white taffeta cloth and an overlay of white net, the table featured corner crescents of English ivy centered with rosebuds. Candles with the bride's bouquet formed the centerpiece. The bride's cake was shaped as double wedding rings adorned with white roses.

Out of town guests, including the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Gray of Flatonia, attended from Midland, Snyder, Colorado City and Big Spring.

WEDDING TRIP

The wedding trip was undisclosed. For traveling, the bride changed to an olive green cotton suit and a coordinate print blouse with matching print pillbox hat. Her accessories were beige toned and she wore the rosebuds from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Ackerly.

A graduate of Stanton High School, the bride attended college at Southwest Texas State College where she was a member of the Strutter Corps. Since graduation from Ackerly High School, Hall has been engaged in farming in that community.

Bride-Elect

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Vickie Marie Parkhill and Wiley Woodard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Woodard, Gail Route, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Parkhill, 406 Hillside Drive. The wedding is scheduled for Sept. 14 at the home of the bride's parents.

Code Numbers Zipping Better Than Expected

By JOHNNIE LU RABORN
The ZIP code is zipping along nicely, thank you. Postmaster E. C. Boatler said the new Zone Improvement Plan is several months ahead in anticipated use, and getting better all the time. "Currently 10 to 15 per cent of the mail being processed contains the ZIP code numbers," Boatler said. He originally estimated five years for general acceptance of the system but with the first month's use has cut the estimate to one year. He attributed the acceptance to interest generated by the communications media. Many of the large mailers such as banks, department stores, and circular advertisers are having the code numbers attached to the return addresses on their envelopes.

The post office receives six to eight letters a day from large firms in other parts of the country requesting the local number so as to speed delivery to the Big Spring area.

The advantages of the system cut down the average times a letter is handled from eight or 12 times to only three. When an estimated 70 billion pieces of mail are handled yearly the results are reduced cost and time.

In previous studies of mail handling, considerable was given to the development of a method of distributing mail by memory. Since clerks cannot memorize an entire sorting scheme nor have the necessary reach, a standardized system was needed to shorten handling time.

The ZIP code system introduces the massing and processing of mail at strategically located points. The Big Spring zone is bounded on the east by Abilene and on the west by Midland and Odessa. It also gives the desired standardization in the use of a five-digit code by machine or manually.

The five-digit coding system identifies each post office and delivery unit and associates each with a sectional center or major office through which mail is routed for delivery. The first digit identifies the geographical area; the second and third, together with the first digit, identifies the major city and sectional center, and the fourth and fifth digits identify the post office or other delivery unit.

RINGS ARE RETURNED

'Ain't Never Gonna Do It No More'

There stood two girls and a boy. One of the girls was considerably older than the others. The younger girl was perhaps 10 years old. The boy was about the same age. All were poorly dressed. All wore very grim faces. They trooped into Zale's. "Are you the manager, mister?" the older girl demanded of Jay Lebcowitz. "I am the manager," he replied. The girl turned to her white-faced young companions. "All right!" she ordered. "Tell 'em about it!" The little girl extended a grubby fist. Tears filled her eyes. Her chin trembled. "I ain't never gonna do it again!" she blurted. She opened her hand and a ring lay in the palm. The boy, equally upset, dug into a pocket and came up with a second ring. He held it out to Lebcowitz. "I ain't never gonna do it no more!" he promised. Before the manager could say anything the trio marched out of the store. The two rings, Lebcowitz said, were from the store stock but he did not know when and how they were taken. He had no opportunity to identify his three callers.

County Costs Grow Larger Each Year

By SAM BLACKBURN
It costs $2,632 per day to carry on the multiple operations of the county government in Howard County. This is based on the 1963 budget expenditure estimate of $960,983.77.

Next year's per diem cost will be a little higher. Total estimate expenditures for 1964 as shown on the tentatively approved county budget will be $984,827.22.

What is the money spent for? A goodly chunk, as might be expected, goes to pay salaries. There are 104 employees on the county payroll. These included all elective officials, all deputies and all other persons who are engaged in carrying on county affairs. Included on the payroll are 37 workers in the road and bridge department.

FOR DEBT
A big portion of the money goes to provide funds for the retirement of bonded indebtedness. Bonds have to be paid off each year; money has to be set up to pay interest on the bonds outstanding. Road building is a major item in county operation. The county spends thousands of dollars annually building new roads, buying right of way for proposed roads and keeping the network of county roads in shape.

Each year, the county pursues a program under which an effort is made to build 20 miles of new hard-surfaced roadway. The program does not always succeed in reaching its goal but over the past seven years, a hundred miles or more of such road has been built. The county road and bridge crews build the roads up to the point where topping is applied. Contractors are employed to complete the paving. The road program calls for sizeable investment in road building machinery and in fuel and greases for these machines.

KEEPING RECORDS
One of the big responsibilities of county government is record keeping. By the same token the expense of maintaining records is sizeable.

Charity takes a big bite out of the county government dollar. Howard County, like every county, has an army of men, women and children who can't quite make it on their own. They are often not eligible for aid from other sources. So the county welfare department lends a hand.

Howard County has a million

Highway Patrol Examination Planned Nov. 19

The Texas Department of Public Safety is looking for 100 men between the ages of 21 and 35 to fill vacancies as Highway Patrolmen. Applications will be accepted until Sept. 14 for the Nov. 19 school at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, according to Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director. Garrison urged early application to insure time for processing.

The training school will differ from the past in three ways; the school will be for Highway Patrol work exclusively, an effort will be made to assign the graduate to a station within 100 miles of his present home, and a pay increase from the present $412 per month to $453 will be added.

Qualifications for Highway Patrol include: age, 21-35 years of age; not less than five feet, eight inches tall; not less than two pounds nor more than three pounds per inch of height; sound physical condition; vision 20-30 without corrective lenses; must not be color blind; high school education; United States citizen and resident of Texas for at least one year prior to date of application. Garrison listed pay increases, sick leaves, travel expenses, retirement system, vacations and holidays, and insurance plans as benefits for the patrolmen.

dollar courthouse. Not only is the county still paying for the original cost of this building but it has to spend a lot of cash each year to keep it in repair and operating. It takes big money to keep the four story edifice warm in winter, cool in summer. It costs a lot of dollars to keep the big lawn green most of the year.

The apprehension and detention of law violators and their trial in the courts constitutes a prime reason for county governmental operations. These functions are expensive. The maintenance of a staff of law enforcement officers, the feeding and safeguarding of inmates of the county jail and the insurance that each is afforded a fair and just trial before the courts is an expensive enterprise.

DEMANDS GROW
As the county grows in population the bigger the demands for the county government. The more demands against it the larger the per daily cost of county government becomes.

Next year's total county cost will be $25,000 more than this year; in all probability the following year the costs will be still greater.

Little Theatre Announces Plans

The Big Spring Civic Theatre board of directors announced their selections for the coming season last week.

The dates and offerings include: "Dial M For Murder," Oct. 11-12; "My Three Angels," Dec. 6-7; "The Emperor's New Clothes," Feb. 16-17; and "George Washington Slept Here," April 6-7.

Jack Meeker, Webb AFB, will direct the first play; Art Clonts and Dick McClurg will be producers.

Cleaning Jet Intakes Is Close Work

The 331 FIS at Webb AFB has a unique requirement for its new F-104 aircraft. The F-104 must be "scooped" before each flight.

The only way to "scoop"—inspect the front of the engine inside the aircraft—is to crawl in the air intakes. The F-104 has narrow intakes, hence the requirement for narrow crew chiefs.

Presently the 331 FIS "scoop team" is made up of T. Sgt. M. T. Rives, Airman 3.C. J. P. Jacobs and Airman 2.C. W. C. Sharp. These men were selected for their physical ability to crawl into a curved opening eight inches wide.

"That isn't so hard," says Airman Jacobs, "what's really hard is when the wind blows up a hot tail pipe." The temperature can go as high as 140 degrees, if the aircraft is being turned around quickly; and it takes about 10 minutes to "scoop" an F-104. "Scooping" is not a job for people who can't stand close, dark and cramped spaces.

Five Counties Have Majority Of Deaths

Thirty-three of the 56 road deaths which have occurred on rural highways in Highway Patrol District 4-A in the first seven months of 1963 have occurred in five counties. The remaining 23 counties in the district have accounted for the remaining 23 fatalities.

Howard County, with four such fatalities to its credit, shares the debatable distinction with Reeves County of holding No. 4 position in the district. Its list of dead is exceeded by Hudspeth County with 10; Culberson County with 8; and El Paso County with 7. Howard County's score is tied by Reeves County.

Most recent of the Howard County deaths was in July. Jeff Davis, Midland, and Pecos counties are each charged with three deaths for the seven month period. There have been two deaths each in Andrews, Gaines and Martin counties. Dawson, Presidio, Reagan and Ward counties each have had one death so far this year. Borden, Brewster, Crane, Loving, Terrell, Upton and Winkler counties have gone without a fatality so far in 1963.

There have been 1,012 traffic accidents in the district checked and reported by the highway patrol. In addition to the 56 deaths, there have been 595 persons injured in accidents. Howard County in addition to being charged with four deaths, also is charged with a total of 76 mishaps in which 38 persons were injured.

Property damage from accidents in the district totaled $1,028,238 in the January-July interval. Howard County's 76 accidents have amassed property damage totaling, $65,397.

Allow Enough For Road ROW, County Asks

It's this simple: If you have a tract of land and want the county to build a road through it, it is urgent you make certain you allocate enough right-of-way to meet the road policies of the Howard County Commissioners Court.

L. J. Davidson, commissioner, pointed out that one of the commonest headaches the commission has to cope with comes from the many applications for roads where right-of-way does not meet county requirements.

Ordinary county roads must have a 60-foot right of way, the commissioner explained, and roads which the county is asked to build along section lines must have 80-foot right of ways.

The court said that a large number of owners of suburban property divide it up into lots and lay out roads and streets. They sell lots and then come before the commission with a plea that the county build a road to serve the area.

"Nine times out of ten," said R. C. Nichols, another commission member, "the original owner has allowed only 40 feet for right of way."

Rufus Stallings and Joe Hayden, the other members of the court, confirmed the statements of their colleagues and all joined in the plea to all property owners to make certain adequate land is earmarked for right-of-way needs.

Attend Parley

AUSTIN — Gov. and Mrs. John Connally left Saturday for White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and the Southern Governors' Conference.

E. Stanley Jones Scheduled To Address Laymen's Meet

Dr. E. Stanley Jones, internationally-known missionary, evangelist and author, will be the featured speaker for the Big Spring District Laymen's Meeting Aug. 28 in the sanctuary of First Methodist Church.

More than 1,000 are expected for the meeting which includes a banquet honoring Dr. Jones, plus a general session following. Tickets for the 7:15 p.m. banquet are on sale for $1.50 in the church office. The banquet will be limited to laymen but the general session at 8:30 p.m. is open to the public.

"The banquet period will provide opportunity to conduct the business of lay activities so that no infringement will be made on Dr. Jones' time in the general meeting," Dr. W. A. Hunt, district lay leader said.

Dr. Jones will be guest speaker at the Central Texas Conference annual Laymen's Retreat at Glenlake Methodist Camp, near Glen Rose prior to his engagement here.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Never has there lived a man who accomplished all he wanted to do... or went everywhere he meant to go.

Time and Distance like prison walls surround every life, ultimately frustrating man's hopes and dreams.

We are told that science is finding ways to multiply time, to divide distance. A gadget can save you an hour. A jet will cut your journey in half.

But should the day come when man can live to 150, and a round-trip to the moon will be called "commuting" — we'll still be living within the same walls... time... distance...

In fact, the only hopes of mankind which ever reach beyond these walls are our religious beliefs. In our churches we come to know the Eternal, the Everywhere. Faith dissolves frustration.

Life is more than a quest for speed... a conquest of space. Come to Church — and see!

Castle Sale No Cause For Worry

The announcement that the Trevi Palace is for sale upset most Romans—and American movie producer Jerry Bresler, who had made arrangements to use the Trevi fountain and the adjacent palace as background for 'Gidget Goes to Rome'...

"For a moment I thought I would have to buy the palace myself," Bresler mused. "Unfortunately, we do not have in the budget an allocation for purchasing palaces."

Where Gidget Came From

In case you're wondering, the name Gidget has a definite meaning. It derives from the abbreviation of the words "girl" and "midged" and is used as a term of endearment to describe the diminutive size and infectious, girlish charm that, rolled into one, could be any teen-age girl...

Kentwood School Will Not Be Ready For 1st Classes

The new Kentwood Elementary School will not be completed by the time school begins Aug. 28, but there is a strong possibility that students can begin using it that day, Pat Murphy, assistant superintendent of business, said today.

Murphy, S. M. Anderson, superintendent, Bill Gray and architects Atmar Atkinson and Lafayette McKay inspected the building Thursday.

According to contract, the school was to be completed by Aug. 20, but delay in receiving several items from the manufacturer has slowed progress. If the materials are received as promised, the school should be ready to take students. If not, other arrangements will have to be made. Among articles which have not yet arrived are corner lavatories for the rooms, parts of the air conditioning equipment, furniture and other smaller items.

"Any way you look at it, it will be close," Murphy said. "We will know more in about a week."

If the school is not ready for occupancy, the students will be transferred to either Park Hill or College Heights, or both. As much as possible, they will be kept in groups, so that when the school is ready an entire class, complete with teacher, can be moved to the new location.

Contract for the Kentwood building, the first completely air-conditioned school in the system, was awarded to A. F. Kasch & Son Feb. 11 on low bid of $96,961.

The new Marcy addition was also given the once-over on the inspection trip. Several minor details must be corrected to meet specifications, but for all practical purposes the addition is ready for students. That addition of five classrooms to the south wing of the school was contracted Oct. 29, 1962 to Suggs Construction Co., Inc. at a cost of $55,632, less $764 state sales tax.

An Agriculture Department report predicted Saturday sheep and lamb numbers at the beginning of 1964 will be 29.6 million to 30 million head compared with 30,170,000 at the beginning of this year. The recent peak was 33,170,000 head at the beginning of 1960.

Water Demand Follows Weather During August

August has demonstrated again that water consumption is geared to temperatures.

Water usage for Aug. 14, following the rain and low thermometer readings, dropped to less than half the normal usage for this time of the year. On that day, when the thermometer reached only 82 degrees, only 4,051,000 gallons were used. For Aug. 15, with the temperature going to 82 the city metered 5,803,000 gallons.

The highest August reading was on the first day of the month when 10,413,000 gallons were registered. Use ran above nine million through Aug. 8, then it dropped to 6,094,000 gallons on Aug. 10 and got back above nine million on Aug. 12.

Three straight readings under six million were recorded for Aug. 13, 14, 15. During these low readings temperatures were below 100 and some cloudiness prevailed.

Total usage through Aug. 15 was 123,390,000 gallons, considerably below the first half of July.
