KOREAN HERO

Jailed Premier Finds Backing

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The military regime's abrupt arrest of ailing ex-Premier Yo-Chan Song, a hero of the Korean War, sent his political stock soaring today. One party named him as its candidate for the presidency and other parties rallied to his cause.

While Song languished in dreadlocked Mapo Prison, the Liberal Democratic party's central committee met in Seoul and unanimously nominated him to oppose strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park in the presidential election Oct. 15.

Many Koreans had expressed belief Song's surprise arrest Wednesday was prompted by reports the Liberal Democrats intended to nominate him. The Liberal Democratic party was organized Tuesday as a breakaway movement from Park's Democratic Republic.

Two other parties, while staying out of the new coalition, issued statements charging the latest arrest of Song was an attempt by the military regime to intimidate opponents and destroy the credibility of the elections being free.

Civilian politicians have charged that although Park has resigned that from the army and will run as a civilian, he and his followers intend to extend military rule through rigged elections.

In Washington, the State Department termed Song's rearrest "high handed."

Many quick-tempered Koreans charged the military government was endangering Song's health. He was under treatment at Yonsei University Hospital for chronic high blood pressure.

BIBLE CLASS FUND GETS NEW HEART

The largest number of donors in a single day gave the Bible Class fund new heart to day, raising the total past the $2,200 mark.

However, only a few days remain for this appeal for voluntary contributions. Many have said they intend to have a part in supporting this program: please do it immediately because after Sunday this phase of the appeal will close. At least another thousand dollars is desperately needed.

MORAL STABILITY IS BASIC, CONNALLY TELLS NEGROES

DALLAS (AP) — "No single issue is so imbedded in American thinking today as the issue of voting rights," Gov. John Connally told the National Baptist Convention of America Wednesday night.

"But as vital as we know these economic and educational opportunities to be," he said, "we cannot overlook another basic problem: The moral stability of our people."

Connally spoke at the first night session of the organization, representing 11,000 predominantly Negro churches with three million members.

Negroes cheered Connally and applauded frequently.

Leaders of the Baptist gathering had said they feared the Texas governor would be booted and hissed by a minority group because of Connally's opposition to the public accommodations section of proposed federal civil rights legislation.

One of these was Dr. C. D. Pettaway of Little Rock, Ark., president of the denomination.

"I was disturbed during the afternoon—so much I almost asked the governor not to come," Dr. Pettaway told newsmen.

The Negro churchman said he explained to the governor the possibility of disturbances during his address, but Connally assured him a few boos wouldn't hurt him.

"It'll make me make a better speech," Dr. Pettaway quoted Connally as saying.

Dr. Pettaway said he found the Texas governor warm and friendly.

Schools Set A New Record

The number of students enrolled in Big Spring public schools has surpassed the peak of a year ago, according to enrollment reports from S. M. Anderson, superintendent.

The count today had 7,495 pupils, 11 more than the high of 7,484 during the 1962-63 school year. A year ago on this same date there were 7,352 students attending classes.

Enrollment by grades is: first 768, second 763, third 740, fourth 693, fifth 696, sixth 668, seventh 630, eighth 573, ninth 527, tenth 526, eleventh 502 and twelfth 265.

By school the figures are: Airport 491, Bauer 482, Boydston 492, Cedar Crest 282, College Heights 455, Gay Hill 113, Kate Morrison 228, Kentwood 119, Lakeview 188, Marcy 503, Park Hill 255, Washington 719, Goldiad 820, Lakeview Junior High 64, Runnels 846 and Senior High 1,313.

There are 124 pupils attending special education classes.

Bombing, Rioting Close Schools In Birmingham

Fort Worth Desegregates Peacefully

By The Associated Press

Texas public schools continue to lower racial barriers calmly as they open for the fall term. Most of the top 35 Texas cities, from the standpoint of population, are expected to have integrated public schools by Monday.

Fort Worth, the last Texas metropolitan area to desegregate, opened doors for 20 Negro first graders to enroll in formerly all-white schools Wednesday.

Policemen kept a close watch on Fort Worth schools until noon. There were no demonstrations or incidents.

Fort Worth is under a federal court order to desegregate. A staircase plan, beginning with the first grade and tentatively integrating an additional grade a year, has been adopted.

FASTER PACE

The two largest cities, Dallas and Houston, both are well into staircase plans. Each noted a swifter integration pace Wednesday.

Of the 35 largest Texas cities, Texarkana probably will be the only one not to integrate city schools this year. However, a junior college there has been integrated for some time.

A couple of the top 35 had no integration because Negro parents did not seek transfers of their children to all-white schools.

Beaumont, scheduled to integrate its first grade Wednesday, had no Negro applicants. Parents of several Negro pupils did ask to enroll their children in higher grades, but were refused. A parochial school was integrated.

Temple, which said earlier it would allow mixed classes this year, will be the last of the top 35 to open fall classes. This comes Monday. There was no indication how many, if any, Negroes will apply to enter all-white schools.

Bryan schools anticipated about a dozen Negroes to register for integrated classes Thursday. Two area schools, A&M Consolidated and St. Joseph's parochial, opened doors to Negroes Wednesday.

About a dozen Negroes applied for transfer to white schools at Denton and 16 were expected for white classes at Waco. Twelve Negroes entered white kindergartens in Port Arthur Tuesday.

Greenville integrated its high school, junior high and three formerly all-white elementary schools Wednesday. Thirty-five Negroes are among the 4,127 pupils enrolled, with one in every grade except the second. Supt. Wesley Martin said registration went "smooth as silk."

Lausche Slams President's Talks With Soviet Minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, today criticized President Kennedy's willingness to discuss with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko the possible relaxation of East-West tensions.

But Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., replied that, "I think President Kennedy would meet with the devil himself if he felt it would make any contribution toward world peace."

Lausche said in a prepared Senate speech that because Gromyko "deliberately lied" about the presence of offensive Soviet missiles in Cuba last year, "I am loathe to believe that President Kennedy could ever again place any credence in what Mr. Gromyko might have to say."

Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin announced after a White House visit Aug. 26 that Kennedy had agreed to discuss with Gromyko this fall what steps might be taken beyond the limited nuclear test ban treaty to relax tensions.

Lausche said he thought he should caution the President "about the honesty, sincerity and veracity of the man with whom he will explore methods and procedures for relieving the existing hypertension that plagues the world today."

Lausche said in a prepared Senate speech that because Gromyko "deliberately lied" about the presence of offensive Soviet missiles in Cuba last year, "I am loathe to believe that President Kennedy could ever again place any credence in what Mr. Gromyko might have to say."

Because Kennedy labeled the Soviet foreign minister's statements at the time of the missile crisis as false, there has been some fear within the administration that Gromyko's arrival in Washington would be the signal for some political explosions.

Republican congressional leaders are known to be assembling background information on the scheduled meeting. But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that it was a delicate matter on which he did not want to take any immediate position.

Humphrey, like Lausche a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that he is not worried about Kennedy's being taken in by any Gromyko pledges. But he said the President has the duty to explore the attitude of the Soviets.

"Mr. Gromyko is the representative of the Soviet Union," Humphrey said. "He was not selected by the President, who is well aware of his attitudes and reactions. He is merely the functionary of a government with which we must deal."

"Mr. Gromyko can only reflect the attitude of Premier Nikita Khrushchev toward the possibility of easing tensions and that is what President Kennedy wants to know, Khrushchev's attitude."

Negroes Mapping Legal Strategy

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The bombing of a Negro leader's home and a wild outbreak of racial violence marked by the fatal shooting of another Negro led to a temporary postponement today of Birmingham's public school desegregation.

Gov. George C. Wallace moved back into the picture with an early morning announcement that the city Board of Education had agreed to close three schools ordered integrated by the federal courts. They opened for registration Wednesday and classes were scheduled today.

An explosion heard two miles away broke a calm of several hours after two Negroes had enrolled at one of the schools.

The home of Arthur Shores had been bombed again—the second time in three weeks.

Screaming Negroes in the neighborhood rushed to the home of the attorney who has been a leader for years in the fight of his race against segregation. Police riot squads were deployed today.

"I have tonight asked the city Board of Education of Birmingham to close to further notice these three schools."

"The board has agreed to my request to join in the petition filed yesterday to stay the federal court order integrating these three schools."

Jet Crash Decimates Small Swiss Village

DUERRENAESCH, Switzerland (AP)—Switzerland today mourned for victims of its worst airline disaster, a crash that killed 80 persons, including almost a complete generation of the farming village of Humlikon.

"This is worse than a war," said a farmer in Humlikon after being informed that his parents were among the 43 passengers from his village killed when a Swissair twin-jet Caravelle from Zurich exploded and crashed in the crew members were Swiss.

The crash occurred eight minutes after the plane had taken off and shortly after the pilot had radioed a "Mayday" disaster signal and desperately cried "No more! No more!"

Rumors circulated that the plane may have been sabotaged after some witnesses said it disintegrated in the air. But Col. Karl Hoeger of the Swiss Federal Air Office said evidence collected so far appeared to rule out foul play.

"But," he added, "of course I cannot prove this."

Said Gottfried Meisterhans, 28, whose parents perished in the disaster:

"This is terrible. This is worse than war because it wiped virtually a whole generation."

"My parents wanted so badly to make this flight. I would have loved to go too, but my parents thought I and my wife would have more chances to fly. So we agreed that they make the trip. This is fate."

"What shall we do now? How can people be able to continue here? All fields are worked by the families themselves. None has a farm hand."

Nothing resembling a human body was found after the $3-million French-built airliner, bound for Geneva and Rome, plowed into a grassy field on the outskirts of Duerrenesch. Blasting a crater 18 feet deep, it disintegrated. The biggest piece of wreckage found was a six-foot section of one wing.

Among the dead was one American, Emerson Glaunder Jr., 36, of Rockton, Ill. Glaunder, a divisional sales manager of the Beloit Corporation, manufacturer of papermaking machinery, was on his way to a paper mill in France.

Money's Fine But Red Name Vetoed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Red China has offered $263,000 to build a "China-Nepal Friendship Hall" in this capital.

Official sources said today the proposed name of the hall is unacceptable. But the Nepalese government, which is short of money, plans to build a city hall and the Chinese money might be used for it. If this is done, a simple plaque in the building would acknowledge the Chinese contribution, they said.

Plaids Guilty To Check Charge

Terry Lee Whitley, charged with writing a worthless check, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Wednesday afternoon and Judge Lee Porter fixed his punishment at $50 fine and costs.

Sheriff Miller Harris will go to Rankin today, he said, to take custody of Jack McClintock, wanted here to answer a felony for gery charge.

"THE WAY WOMEN DRESS"

In the assembly called by civic organizations in Iowa, one reason given for the problem of unwed mothers among high school students was: "The way women dress." It is as J. W. Weeks said in the Firm Foundation:

"Women dress themselves and their daughters in such a way as to make a direct and strong appeal to the lust of the flesh — then wonder why it isn't safe for them to walk on the streets at night."

The Bible instructs: "That women adorn themselves in modest apparel" (1 Tim. 2:9).

Oh, that people were as interested in following the Bible as they are in following the latest styles!

We parents must bear the blame for the indecent way high school girls sometimes dress. We are told to nurture our children in the chastening and admonition of the Lord (Eph. 6:4).

His jump preference to four spades on the next round is not a drastic move, for he has already limited his hand, and a mere return to three spades might give partner the impression that North has a virtual bust.

When South learned that his trump suit was solidified, he made one attempt to probe for a grand slam by cue bidding the ace of diamonds. His partner showed no further signs of life, however, and he decided to settle for the small slam.

In selecting his opening lead, West paid careful attention to the bidding. North's delayed jump in spades convinced him that the dummy was short in hearts and, in an effort to cut down spades, West led a trump. North's nine of spades held the first trick and declarer led a heart to his ace, noting the fall of the ten of hearts from West's hand.

If the outstanding hearts were divided no worse than four-two, declarer had no problems, for he could conveniently ruff away his losers with North's remaining two spades. If the hearts were five-one, however, precautions must be taken to protect the king of hearts from an adverse ruff.

As a safety play, South led a small heart from his hand at trick three, and but for West's brilliance declarer would have been amply rewarded for his caution. If East is permitted to win the trick with the jack of hearts, he is unable to return another trump, and when South regains the lead he can ruff out his two remaining heart losers. Trumps are drawn subsequently and declarer's hand is high.

West was not leaving anything to chance, however, and he ruffed the second round of hearts in order to lead another spade, which applied the finishing touch. There was only one trump left in dummy while South had two losing hearts, and in the end he was obliged to concede the setting trick to East.

Abilene Girl Plucked From Hotel Ledge

FORT WORTH (AP)—Scores watching in the street below saw firemen and police prevent a teen-age divorcee's threatened leap from a second story hotel ledge.

Officers identified her as Mrs. Jean Teal, 17. They said she came to Fort Worth from Abilene several days ago.

She was sent to Peter Smith Hospital for observation after the rescue Wednesday night.

Patrolman W. R. Mathews, first on the scene, called for more police, a fire rescue squad and the fire department's snorkel truck, which has a big, crane-like apparatus with a platform on the end.

Assisted by spectators, firemen spread a net beneath the young woman.

Firemen then raised the snorkel into position and shoved a light ladder against Mrs. Teal.

At the same moment, two policemen inside slashed a window screen and pulled her back into the hotel.

FIREMEN TOLD

'Jelly Water' Considered Better For Firefighting

FREEPOR — Firemen have never found anything more practical than water to put out a blaze, but it has its drawbacks. Chief of these is that it runs off quickly.

Now Dow Chemical Co.'s Texas Division at Freeport has developed a way to convert water into a jelled material which will stick to the areas around a fire. It is called Gelard M and was shown recently at Texas A&M's firemen's school.

It is a chemical powder that converts ordinary water into a jelled material. It is sprayed to coat walls and roofs to protect them from nearby fires, or sprayed on the ground to halt the spread of grass or brush fires.

The new agent is a synthetic polymeric material. Its use as a fire control element was conceived and developed in the company's basic research division.

J. H. Brown Jr., department director said, "We have always known that water is the most effective fire-fighting agent, but we also know that it has a high runoff percentage and there are times when there is not enough of it."

"So why not gel the stuff, making it cling to the side of a building or to a roof, thus providing longer and easier control?"

B. G. Harper and R. N. Bashaaw were assigned to the project, and with the aid of others, came up with the finding that such material would indeed provide excellent protection against spreading of fire flames.

The concept of fire control through the use of gelled water was presented to several city fire departments in Texas as well as to the volunteer units of Brazoria County.

The chemical and equipment were made available to these units, and fires of all types in Beaumont, Temple, Austin and Freeport were used as tests for the Dow material. Reports from these places, said Harper, show that "the material will do everything we had hoped it would as a control agent."

The on-the-spot testing in the various cities was done by putting the chemical into 300-gallon pumper tanks and gelling the water inside the tanks before spraying it.

This worked fine, but on the suggestion of professional firemen a hose-inductor unit was designed and cast. With such inducers, the chemical can be fed into the hose, gelling the water as it is sprayed.

New Spillway Is Complex

BORG — The intake structure of the spillway into the Canadian River Dam will be a complicated bit of engineering when completed.

The Canadian River Dam is part of a vast engineering plan designed to bring water to several Panhandle and South Plains cities via aqueducts.

The spillway system has the appearance of a morning glory. It is so complex that it will require about six pourings of concrete. A slow process of shaping, setting forms and reshaping is needed.

Water will flow over the top of the spillway into the intake structure, which has a 30-foot diameter. It will then drop about 63 feet to a 22-foot tunnel that runs under the dam, and then drops below the river bed. There the water will enter a stilling basin, a chamber designed to slow the churning of the water and allow it to flow into the river below the dam at a slow speed.

"When the water hits the stilling basin, it has quite a bit of power," explained Phil Kensley, Bureau of Reclamation resident engineer.

"Concrete blocks will slow the water and make it back-churn against itself. From here it will flow into the river. If we did not slow it down, it would hit the river with a great deal of force, causing erosion and upheaval of the water," said Kensley.

The spillway will be about 400 feet west of the dam. A 450-foot tunnel connects the spillway to the dam proper.

The upstream portion of the municipal outlet tunnel is virtually completed, while a great deal of work remains on the downstream portion.

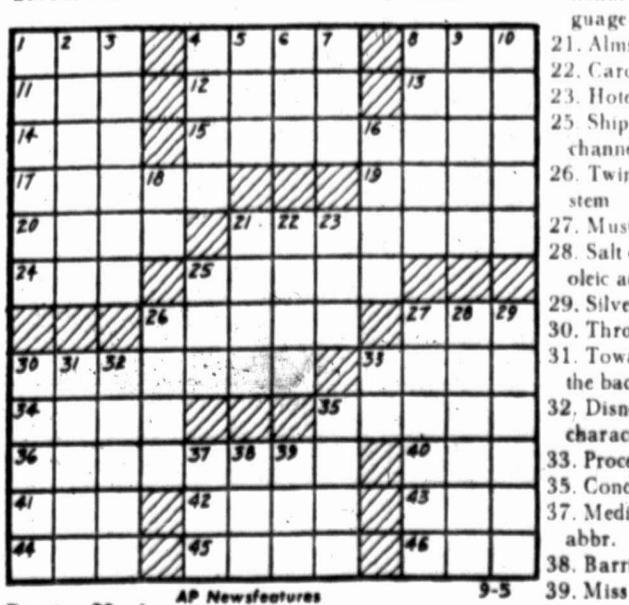

Work on the dam is about half completed.

Two Reasons Why Yarborough Lost

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas' senior senator, Ralph Yarborough, lost to Sen. William E. Proxmire, D-Wis., for a place on the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee because of two things: First, some of the members of the 15-man Democratic Steering Committee which makes the committee assignments for their party felt the Appropriations Committee is overloaded with Southerners. They disregarded arguments that Texas is West as well as South.

Seven of the 17 Democrats on the committee are from Dixie. The contest was over filling a vacancy created by the death of Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn.

Second, one member of the Steering Committee told his colleagues, in breaking a tie vote, that he was supporting Proxmire because the Wisconsin senator had voted against more appropriations bills than had Yarborough.

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

If the back-to-school movement in Texas this fall doesn't include a certain 18-year-old Greek boy it won't be the fault of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and his staff.

And, if things don't work out this fall, which looks doubtful, they hope for success by mid-term.

The youth involved is Dimitrios Papadopoulos, called Jim by his friends at Seminole High School, where he graduated with honors in May. He is now back in his home town of Yannitsa, in Macedonia, Greece.

Here for a year in this country in a State Department approved foreign student program, Dimitrios resided with family of W. E. Cox, Seminole theater owner. He came to the U.S. as winner of an American Field Services Scholarship, and to Seminole under the sponsorship of John C. Freyberger, Seminole High School teacher and head of an AFS chapter in the community.

With only a classroom knowledge of English when he arrived in Texas, the youth took to the speech, mannerism and habits of Texans so fast that he had trouble when he returned to Greece this summer.

Writing to Tower for assistance in enrolling as a freshman in either North Texas State at Denton, for a first choice, or the University of Texas, second, to study a pre-law course, he said:

"I had to pick up the Greek language again very fast, because even many friends and relatives of mine don't believe that the American words, pronunciations and phrases that sometime come out of my mouth are coming out unconsciously, since I have gotten used to them after one year in America."

It seems one of Dimitrios' major problems now is money and sponsorship by some organization that will assure U.S. immigration authorities that he won't become a burden on the government.

Tower, to whom he was referred by someone in Austin outlined the case to Neil Calnan, University of Texas student and an official of the Texas Young Republicans. Calnan said he will look into the possibility of getting the GOP organization to sponsor the youth.

Operator of an elevator in the House wing of the Capitol, one reserved strictly for congressmen and members of the Press, during the past three months was George (Hank) Hunt of Lubbock.

A June graduate of Texas Tech, he has now gone to Austin to enter the Presbyterian Seminary there to prepare for the ministry.

His successor as pilot of the members'-press elevator is another Texan, Charles Aycock of Tulia, who was president of the Tech student council. He got his BBA degree in June, is now going to night school at George Washington University here working on a master's degree.

Both boys got their jobs under patronage of Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock.

QUIET, POWERFUL, HATED

Diem's Brother Is Power Behind Throne

Hates Reds; Uses Their Methods

EDITOR'S NOTE — A man who shrinks from publicity, Ngo Dinh Nhu is probably the most powerful man in South Viet Nam. The younger brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem, Nhu is openly anti-American. He demands that Americans in Asia leave. The United States would like to be rid of him, but it will be difficult to shake the hold of Nhu, who dominates his president brother as shown in this veteran study by Roy Esoyan, a veteran staff writer for Newsweek. (A) From the AP newsreels of Asia.

By ROY ESOYAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ngo Dinh Nhu, the man behind the throne in South Viet Nam, lamented recently that "anybody's oppressed in this country, it's the government."

A month later, Nhu emerged from his brother, President Ngo Dinh Diem, to declare martial law while Nhu personally ordered troops and his own security police to storm pagodas and break the back of a Buddhist opposition movement that threatened the family regime.

In the wake of this crackdown two weeks ago, Nhu emerged as possibly the most powerful—and most hated—figure in South Viet Nam. He has dominated his brother Diem since their youth, although Diem at 62 is 10 years his senior.

MISUNDERSTOOD

Nhu likes to tell visitors that he is a much misunderstood man. His is a many-faceted personality—mild-mannered, soft-spoken and French.

Detectives J. F. Brumit and B. E. LaFollette awoke the father, 22, and arrested him on a complaint by his British-born wife, 20.

Detectives said the child, born July 22, is in a hospital for treatment of burns on her feet, apparently from scalding water.

The child was listed in fair condition.

Officers said the father, held without immediate charge, signed a statement saying the child's crying led him to put her in a freezer for about a minute on one occasion.

"When I took her out her skin had frozen in several places," he was quoted as saying. "I went and ran fairly hot water over her feet thinking this would help."

Another time, he said he put the baby in an overnight bag and pulled the zipper.

"Her crying bothered me, and I guess I couldn't understand this," the statement said.

THICH TRI QUANG
...opposition leader

says it is his basic formula for government.

He says American poet Walt Whitman expressed the basic principle of "personalism" in the phrase, "the soaring freedom of the soul."

"Nhu is a victim of the men he built around him, and of his own pride and stubbornness," another Vietnamese said. "He is too proud to admit his mistakes and too stubborn to admit that some of the men he picked for top positions are using him as a shield against widespread charges of corruption."

His pet subject is "personalism," a bewildering mixture of Catholicism, Buddhism and French existentialism, which he said.

One of the widely whispered charges against Diem's regime is that it has bred corruption in government payoffs, smuggling, waterfront racketeers and a state-operated lottery.

SECRET RUN

The Research Institute of America, a U.S. business advisory organization, said last month Nhu had "all but paralyzed the Cabinet and runs the secret apparatus like the Communist party, loyal not to the nation, but to himself."

Some Vietnamese privately call Nhu "the second president."

Nhu heads the secret police and runs the Revolutionary Labor Party, a nationwide network of informers and a million-strong military type organization called the Republican Youth Movement.

He is the founder and director of the strategic hamlets program, which he describes as an "anti-guerrilla guerrilla movement" of military-protected villages. It has proved to be an effective weapon against the Viet Cong guerrillas, but many believe Nhu's other characteristics more than offset these gains in the anti-Red campaign.

ADVISOR'S JOB

By far the most important job Nhu holds is the innocent sounding one of political adviser to his brother, the president.

Nhu's influence on Diem, according to family intimates, traces back to their childhood.

Diem has always been regarded as a man of the highest principles, but dreamy and detached. He rules, he says, by "mandate from heaven."

His brother, Ngo Dinh Thuc, Roman Catholic archbishop of Hue, once said Diem quit studying for the priesthood in his youth to attend the University of Vietnam.

One source said: "Even if Diem wanted to drop Nhu, which I seriously doubt, the effort would be too traumatic for Diem to attempt after all these years."

Another powerful influence in mainly because "the church was too worldly for Diem."

Another brother, Ngo Dinh Canh 50, is political boss of central South Viet Nam, while still another, Ngo Dinh Luyen, 48, is ambassador to Great Britain.

The Ngos come from a Mandarin family and are accustomed to high position, but they have had their lean days too.

When the children were young, their patriarchal father, Ngo Dinh Kha, an officer of the old imperial court, quit the French colonial administration and started farming his own rice paddies.

Kha made the children work long hours in the fields. To teach them humility, he made them rub shoulder with woodsmen, farmers and charcoal makers, among the poorest in the land.

UNMOVED

The other sons recollect from dirt and smoke but, according to an unpublished family history, Nhu recollects from nothing.

Nhu has occasionally criticized the president as too mild or too weak, but no one outside the family circle has heard Diem criticize Nhu.

According to recent Washington speculation, the United States would like to see Nhu removed from power and his policies abandoned. But many knowledgeable sources in Saigon see little hope that the United States or anyone else can drive a wedge between the two brothers.

One source said: "Even if Diem wanted to drop Nhu, which I seriously doubt, the effort would be too traumatic for Diem to attempt after all these years."

Another powerful influence in the palace—some say possibly even more powerful than Nhu—is Nhu's outspoken wife. Diem is a bachelor, and Mrs. Nhu is official hostess and first lady. She is an influential deputy to the National Assembly, head of the nationwide paramilitary Women's Solidarity Movement, the leading spokeswoman for women's rights in South Viet Nam and a biting critic of the United States.

Nhu also likes camping, trout fishing and hiking. He collects wild orchids, reads voraciously and plays a good hand of bridge.

He was a champion table tennis player at college and still keeps a table in his house at Dalat.

Mrs. Nhu taught him to play the piano a bit, but his favorite relaxation is solitaire.

TOBY'S DRIVE-IN GROCERIES

Serving Big Spring For 12 Years

Construction Has Started On New Gregg St. Viaduct

Construction work has started to replace the viaduct on Gregg Street across the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. yards.

Oldt Construction Co. and Glade, Inc., of Dallas and Fort Worth respectively, the contractors, are putting up barricades and staking out initial projects in connection with the $795,000 project.

The 1,384 foot construction project encompasses the rebuilding of the present crossing, which dates back to the mid-20's with a new concrete and steel structure four lanes in width. The job will require 300 working days but Ben Wilkinson, highway department supervisor and resident engineer on the job, said that more than a year will probably pass before the crossing is complete. A conference was held Thursday at the resident highway department engineer's headquarters northeast of town to review plans for the job.

The actual bridge will be 581 feet long. It will be approximately six feet higher in the middle than the present structure. It will offer two 28-foot wide lanes for traffic separated by a 4-foot median. Sidewalks for pedestrian traffic will be built on each side.

The construction will be started on the north side of the viaduct between Northwest Second and Northwest Third streets. Initial job will be to install drainage to handle water.

It was stressed at the conference today that every possible effort will be made to keep traffic moving across the overpass at all times while construction is under way. Work on the bridge itself will begin with the building of the new span on the west side. When this is in place, the new span on the east will be built. On completion of these, they will be opened to traffic and the middle sections (the present crossing) will be torn out and reinstated.

W. E. Thompson and James L. Standridge, who are in charge of the job for Oldt and Glade, were at the meeting. Wilkinson presided and Hanson Clark, with the department, was introduced. Clark will be the state man on duty most of the time, Wilkinson said.

Others in attendance included Leo Hull, assistant police chief; Sgt. R. H. Husson of the police traffic detail; Ernest Lillard, city public works department; representatives of news media, and a number of the resident engineer's staff.

Thompson said he hopes to have the drainage structures, curbing, and other preliminary work out of the way to enable him to start actual work on Stage 1 (the west side) by Oct. 20. He estimated this span could be completed in four months. Stage 2, the east span, could be out of the way in eight months from now, he estimated and he hopes he can actually have the job finished by January, 1965. He pointed out that many elements can enter into the estimates, however.

Most other adult classes begin Sept. 19. General ceramics, taught by Mrs. W. H. McMurray; furniture refinishing, and art instruction, instructed by Mrs. Terry Patterson, all begin that day. Bridge instruction and practice sessions begin Sept. 24.

All youth special interest classes start the week beginning Sept. 15.

Farm Tour Date Set

The tentative date for a tour of Howard County farms, ranches and feed lots by local businessmen has been rescheduled for Sept. 23, according to Carlton Chapman, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

A list of prospective locations to be visited has been drawn up and owners are now being contacted to seek their participation. Working on the details are Herb Helbig, County agent, and Charles Mickelson, from the Soil Conservation Service.

"We especially want businesses to take the tour," Chapman urged. "If they do they will be better able to understand the problems confronting the farmer."

The tour will be made in private vehicles. No departure time or point has yet been selected. Persons interested in making the trip should contact Chapman or the Chamber.

Mrs. Thompson Wins Free Shopping Spree At Furr's

Mrs. Thompson's name was drawn from among the tickets deposited during the six weeks Sweepstakes, sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. here. She will start her 10 minute tour at 8 a.m. before the store opens at 8:30 a.m.

"She cannot use baskets for gathering up the food," Glen Jones, sales manager for Pepsi-Cola, said today. "She must pick up the groceries in her arms and carry it back to the checking counter."

Plenty of baskets will be available for Mrs. Thompson at the front counter," Allen Christian, Furr's manager, said. "After she fills her arms in the aisles, she can bring the merchandise to the baskets in front. She is allowed as many trips as she can make during the 10 minutes."

Rep. Mahon Helps Break Ground For Lubbock Plant

LUBBOCK — Rep. George Mahon joined with another native West Texan Wednesday to break ground for a defense-oriented industry for this area.

The Litton Industries, Inc. plant in northeastern Lubbock will fabricate and assemble electronic equipment for navigation systems for advanced fighter aircraft, and for orbital and suborbital vehicles.

Charles Bates Thornton, a Haskell County product who now heads a firm with sales in the hundreds of millions of dollars, came here to launch the new facility, the 88th in his company's string.

Thornton said that the initial investment of $1 1/2 million had been upped by possibly a million more, and the annual payroll estimate had been increased by half a million to a new figure of $1 1/2 million per annum. Instead of an initial 20,000 square feet floor space, the new plant will have 30,000.

Litton Industries Inc., headquartered in Beverly Hills, Calif., was launched a decade ago when Thornton secured $1 1/2 million financing in New York to get into the electronic manufacturing field. The concern majors in component parts for inertia guidance systems and has been described in some financial circles as the fastest growing single industry in the country. Sales last year exceeded $600 million, about 55 per cent of it allied with defense.

The company now has 30 plants in 12 foreign countries. Recently it acquired the Ingalls Shipping Company and is now engaged in nuclear submarine work.

Thornton is the son of the late Tex Thornton, famed oilwell fire fighter. An expert in the field of electronics, he was one of the "whiz kids" with Ford Motor Company a dozen years ago when Robert McNamara, now secretary of defense, was brought into the organization. Later, Thornton founded his own firm which has experienced a meteoric rise.

Funeral Is Set Friday Here For J. D. Greenwood

Funeral will be at 4 p.m. Friday in Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home for Joseph Dallas Greenwood, 37, former Big Spring resident who was killed about noon Tuesday when he was struck by a train at Colton, Calif. Mr. Greenwood had left Big Spring for California about two months ago.

The Rev. James Puckett, pastor of Baptist Temple, will officiate at the services. Burial will be in City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

Pallbearers will be J. D. Canfield, Morris Griffice, Grover Griffice, A. H. Honey, Jetty Henry and Arthur Tamplin.

Mr. Greenwood is survived by his mother, Mrs. Grace Lee Grier, Big Spring; two brothers, Daniel J. Greenwood Jr., Big Spring, and Ralph Lee Greenwood, Glendale, Calif.; and one sister, Mrs. Danna Lee Johnson, Pataskala, Ohio.

Regarding the civil rights bill, he said that "all Americans are entitled to justice under the law and equality of treatment, but the proposed legislation in my opinion goes entirely too far and I am opposed to it." He previously had expressed grave reservations about the public accommodations section.

He did not entirely rule out a vote for a bill without a corresponding cut in appropriations, but he said that "my feeling generally is that it is illegal to reduce taxes without commensurate reduction in spending. I find no enthusiasm in Washington or in Texas for a tax cut."

Rep. Mahon declared he feels the nation's defenses are strong, and they should stay that way. He is chairman of the appropriations subcommittee on military appropriations.

"I think we have a clear military superiority over the Soviet Union and I think it is urgent that we maintain that superiority."

The test ban would not make much difference unless it lulled the nation into relaxing its arms, he thought, and he suggested the U.S. should keep prepared for immediate resumption of atmospheric tests. He also suggested underground

County's School Vote Is Canvassed

Howard County Commissioners Court Thursday morning canvassed the election returns in last Saturday's election to consolidate Vealmoor Common School district with the Borden County district. According to Lee Porter, county judge, the results were the same as announced unofficially—39 for consolidation and 21 against consolidation.

Three members of the county commission took part in the canvass. They were Porter, Joe Hayden and R. C. Nichols, Rufus Hastings and L. J. Davidson, the other members, were absent.

The Borden County Commissioners will canvass that county's vote next Monday. Borden County, according to unofficial reports, voted the consolidation proposal

BARBECUE IN PARK

QBC Prepares To Serve More Than 1,000 Fans

The community—with the Quarterback Club supplying the inspiration, the impetus and the food—sets about to show the Big Spring High School football team and its coaches how it feels about the upcoming season with a barbecue in the amphitheatre at the City Park at 7 o'clock this evening.

The gridders, who have been working out for a week now and who are trying to get ready for the invasion of the Lamesa Tornadoes here a week from tomorrow night, will be honor guests at the party.

Jack Cox, a football zealot for years now, is flying in from Houston for a few words of inspiration to the boys. Cox is better known as the GOP candidate for the governorship of Texas in the last election but his talk tonight will have nothing to do with politics.

The public is being encouraged to turn out en masse for the evening of food and fellowship. Tickets for the barbecue retail for $1.50 each and children under 12 will be admitted without charge, if accompanied by parents.

If bad weather forces the party indoors, it will be held in the National Guard Armory.

Volunteers are still needed to serve the anticipated crowd of 1,000 to 1,200. Those who can help should call Herb Smith, co-captain of the Quarterback Club, who is in charge of preparing the meal.

Tickets will be available at the gate for those who have not had the opportunity to purchase them.

The boys will be introduced to the gathering by the coaches, after the coaches themselves are introduced.

The barbecue, and it has become an annual tradition, serves to kick off Quarterback Club activities for the year.

A mammoth membership drive has been going on all week here. Memberships for a man and wife can be purchased for $5 and the price includes tickets to the Steers' Sept. 13 game with Lamesa.

Barbecue, potato chips, beans, pickles, onions and beverages will be served to the crowd tonight.

Smith, said the club hoped to have its financial problems solved for the season before the Steers engage in their first game.

That means the boosters could conduct their meetings without having to go back to patrons of the school for funds from time to time.

Today's workout of the Steers will be cut short in order that the boys can tidy up for the social.

Cox talked to a Big Spring team here several years ago and is still reaping praise for his inspirational talk. He later came back to talk to the team in private.

Once a resident of Breckenridge, where he knew the present Big Spring coach, Don Robbins, Cox is now in the oil business in Houston.

Quarterback Club officials have indicated that the membership drive would continue right up to the Steers' Sept. 13 game with Lamesa.

Barbecue, potato chips, beans, pickles, onions and beverages will be served to the crowd tonight.

Yearlings Seek Winning Season

Head coach Dan Lewis and his Runnels Yearlings have a mighty reputation to live up to when they hit the gridiron trail in just a week and a half for their first game in Sweetwater.

Lewis was Big Spring's winning junior high mentor in 1962 as he led his charges to an enviable 9-0 record. Only one game was close and Lewis dismisses that with a "We weren't playing up to par that day."

But 1963 could be a different story—and Lewis is the first to realize it.

"We don't have nearly as strong a team as last year," he admitted Tuesday. "This year when we get out on the field we'll be fighting for our lives." A chuckle followed the obvious over-exaggeration.

Lewis will use a wing-T attack mainly with some experimentation on a split end and slot formation.

The backfield has Cooper Proctor, quarterback; Ronnie Anderson, right halfback; Gary Turner, left halfback; and Pat McManus, Harold Rawls, fullback.

Chicago Cubs Reduce Dodgers' Advantage

By MIKE RATHETT
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the big book of baseball strategy you walk a guy like Bill Williams to get at Ken Hubbs. So the Dodgers did.

Their National League lead is now down to five games over second-place St. Louis.

After Arrest

Vada Pinson, Cincinnati outfielder, is shown in a corridor of Central police station in Cincinnati early Thursday after his arrest on a charge of assault and battery filed by a Cincinnati sportswriter. Earl Lawson, Lawson said he was manhandled in the Reds' clubhouse following Wednesday night's game with Philadelphia. The incident arose over an article wrote about Pinson Tuesday. (AP WIRE-PHOTO).

Bunt Article Burns Pinson

CINCINNATI (AP)—Earl Lawson and Vada Pinson haven't gotten along for some time. Now the Cincinnati Reds' center fielder is up for a hearing on an assault and battery charge filed by the sportswriter.

Pinson allegedly grabbed Lawson's shirt Wednesday night in the Reds' clubhouse after Cincinnati clinched a 3-2 decision to Philadelphia. The quarrel involved an article in Tuesday's Cincinnati Post & Times-Star that said Pinson does not bunt enough and may lose the National League's batting crown as a result.

"He grabbed me by the shirt and pushed me up against the wall," said Lawson, who was slapped by Pinson once last year. "I walked away from the clubhouse and found a phone and called police."

Pinson was booked and released on $300 bond pending the hearing scheduled in police court today.

I have always done what the manager Fred Hutchinson wants me to do," said Pinson, who is third in the league with a .321 batting average. "I'm taking my orders from Hutch. Whatever Hutch wants me to do, that's what I'm gonna do."

Hubbs, who led the league in strikeouts with 129 last year and was equally proficient at hitting into doubleplays, crossed up the book Wednesday night by lining a two-out single in the 11th inning that gave the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 decision over first-place Los Angeles.

The Dodgers' board of strategy held its meeting after Andre Rodgers led off the 11th with a single and moved around to second on a sacrifice. With two out, it was decided to give Williams—who outifts Hubbs by about 50 points—an intentional walk.

That decision lopped a full game off the Dodgers lead over the surging Cardinals, who extended their longest winning streak of the season to seven games as Ken Boyer's 100th run batted in provided the decisive score in a 6-5 victory over the New York Mets.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn grabbed part of the spotlight with a sparkling four-hit, 10-1 victory over Pittsburgh that gave him 19 victories for the season, the 60th shutout of his career and seventh place on the all-time list of winners with 346 triumphs.

In other games, Willie McCovey hit his 35th homer and Orlando Cepeda collected No. 26 as San Francisco walloped Houston 8-3 and pitcher Dennis Bennett provided the go-ahead run in Philadelphia's 3-2 decision over Cincinnati.

The Cubs opened the scoring against the Dodgers in the sixth on singles by Rodgers and Ellis Burton and a sacrifice fly by Ron Santo. The Dodgers tied it in their half on doubles by Jim Gilliam and Tommy Davis.

It stayed that way until the 11th when Hubbs struck his decisive hit and wound up the night with a sparkling defensive play. The sick fielding second baseman who set a major league record for most consecutive errorless games last year with 78 bailed out Lindy McDaniel, 11-4, out of a hole in the bottom of the 11th when he fielded Willie Davis' grounder with one out and nailed Marv Breeding trying to score from third base. McDaniel then got Lee Walls on a fly to end it.

Moore, entering a "F" Gas Dragster, made it close all the way but was nipped by an Anaheim, Calif., driver.

The local men are already planning for next year's championship events.

Next program the local dragsters are planning for will be at Hobbs, N. M.

Frank Froehling Triumphs In Play At Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The back of the Australian tennis dynasty is broken—and some of the most telling licks were dealt by a stringbean cannonball from England's Yann Ramirez Ochoa of Mexico in matches today.

It was the greatest tennis I ever played, and I couldn't have picked a better time to play it," Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., said excitedly Wednesday night after pulling off one of the biggest upsets of the year.

He knocked out Roy Emerson of Australia, rated the world's No. 1 amateur, with an explosive service and volleying attack in the fourth round of the National championships 6-4, 4-6, 9-7, 6-2. Although second ranked nationally, Froehling had been overlooked by Davis Cup selectors and the seedings committee this year.

The victory erased the last Australian from the field, marking the first time since 1960 that Australia has been shut out of the men's quarter-finals at Forest Hills.

Australians have dominated the men's championship since 1955, winning with a steady parade of champions that included Ken Rosewall, Mal Anderson, Ashley Cooper, Neale Fraser, Emerson and Rod Laver.

It puts an entirely different aspect on the Davis Cup challenge round, to be contested in December in Adelaide, Australia. Going into the quarter-finals, half of which will be contested today, are four Americans, Froehling, Marty Riessen, Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston; two Brazilians Ronald Barnes and Thomas Koch; Mexico's Rafael Osuna and England's talented but erratic Bobby Wilson.

Wilson, who smashed young Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis out of his path 6-3, 6-0, 6-1 Wednesday, is Froehling's next opponent. They meet in one of the two men's matches today, with Ralston and Barnes clashing in the other.

The other two men's matches Friday send top-seeded McKinley, the Wimbledon champion, against the sensational 18-year-old Koch, and Osuna against Riessen. McKinley has had back apparently well, thrashed Larry Nagler of Los Angeles, 6-7, 6-4, 6-2.

FORMER AIDE TO McCARTHY

Indictment 'Revenge', Cohn Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy M. Cohn, anti-Communist investigator for the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, says he is the victim of "personal revenge and retaliation" following the indictment accusing him of perjury and obstruction of justice in a stock fraud probe.

Cohn, 36, an attorney, was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury along with another Manhattan lawyer, Murray E. Gottesman, 56. Both were charged with scheming to prevent the indictment of four men in a 1959 inquiry into a United Dye and Chemical Corp. stock swindle.

Cohn and Gottesman immediately denied the charges.

Cohn said in a statement: "The trumped-up charges by Robert Morgenthau (U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York) and company are in fact welcomed by me. This may seem strange to say, but it is not when viewed in the light of their two-year campaign of slander, managed news leaks, harassment and high-handed tactics."

OUT IN OPEN

"I now have the opportunity of bringing all this out into the open. I will prove the falsity of these charges and expose a rank misuse of the machinery of justice for personal revenge and retaliation."

Cohn concluded his statement: "I shall appear at the United States Court House tomorrow (Thurs-

ROY M. COHN, ATTORNEY MURRAY GOTTESMAN
Ex-McCarthy aide indicted for false testimony

Ilen K. Swann. All four later pleaded guilty.

Wednesday's indictment alleges that Cohn and Gottesman were involved in the scheme to prevent indictments of the four men by the 1959 grand jury.

FRAUD PROBE

The indictment also charges that Cohn got Gottesman to get in touch with Morton S. Robson, then chief asst. U.S. atty. for New York's Southern District. After the 1962 probe of the 1959 affair was begun, the indictment claims, Cohn used threats to get Garfield and Roen to recant their previous testimony before the most recent grand jury.

Cohn and Gottesman also allegedly conspired to lie to the new grand jury about their activities in connection with the previous stock fraud probe, according to the indictment.

Named co-conspirators but not defendants in the current case are: Daniel J. Driscoll, a partner in Cohn's law firm; Samuel Litt, Cohn's accountant and head of an accounting firm; Bruce Litt, his son, and Garfield, an oil operator.

Gottesman's office also issued a statement saying:

"I know that I have not done anything wrong or improper, and I shall ask the court to give me an opportunity at the earliest moment to prove my innocence and refute these unfounded charges."

If convicted, Cohn would face a maximum penalty of 40 years in prison and be fined $36,000. Gottesman could get a maximum 15-year sentence and be fined $14,000.

Optimists heard Miss Big Spring at their Wednesday morning breakfast.

Virginia Morris related some of her experiences as Miss Big Spring in the Miss Texas contest, and then recited an original poem. With Rachael Phelan as her accompanist, she also favored with a song.

Wayne Hendrick was a guest at the meeting, and the program was in charge of Bobby Grant.

Pigs Too Close, Say Irish Officials

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Dublin's fair city ruled Wednesday the Irish must keep their pigs at least 200 feet from dwellings.

The corporation's streets committee passed a law forbidding piggeries anywhere within that radius of dwellings. There are 211 of them involved. The city said owners would be compensated for removals to other legal areas.

Making telephone service better to serve you better

Box yourself in.

The Volkswagen Station Wagon looks like a box because it's built like a box.

It lets you store the most possible stuff in the least possible space.

(The fact is, the VW carries more than the biggest regular wagons, and it's 4 feet shorter.)

The VW's floor plan looks like any nice little room, except it has 8 chairs, 21 windows, 5 doors and a high ceiling.

You can't see the engine because it's in the back, out of the way.

If you aren't the curious type, you may never see the engine. No reason to. It rarely uses oil between changes. And it's air-cooled, so there's no water or antifreeze.)

But the real fun comes when you climb into the box and get behind the wheel.

Ahead of you, there's nothing but view; it's head and shoulders above other cars.

Behind you, there's nothing but space. It looks a mile long, but it's really only 9 inches longer than the Volkswagen Sedan.

So you can park it like the Sedan.

And like the Sedan, you get a lot of extras (fresh-air heater/defroster, 4-speed stick shift, etc.) at no extra cost.

Volkswagen's put everything they could think of into it. So will you.

Busy Mrs. John Davis Relaxes In Her Garden

By JO BRIGHT

A stone statue of a small boy stands on the rim of a garden fountain at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, 601 Edwards Circle. The shaded nook is a favorite bathing spot for the brilliantly feathered cardinals and other species of birds that visit the feeder in a nearby Spanish Oak.

A basket of pink flowers and greenery hangs from the porch ceiling, over white wrought-iron furniture, and the steps are flanked by clay pots holding large coleus plants.

The yard is quiet and serene, but Mrs. Davis is a busy woman who retreats to it only for short intervals between club, church and social activities. However, full windows and sliding doors afford a view of the visiting birds any hour of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were both reared in this area, and he has operated a local feed store for over 25 years. Their only child, Mary Louise, is Mrs. Wesley Deats.

"I admit to being a typical grandmother," said Mrs. Davis. "I'm always anxious to be with or talk about my grandchildren."

The youngsters are John Wesley, 12, and Anna Beth, 5, who are often companions for their grandparents.

SPECIAL SALADS

The salad recipes given today are used often by Mrs. Davis when she has guests for bridge or is hostess for club meetings. As president of the Hyperion Council, she is now helping plan a September luncheon for the five clubs. She is past president of the 1955 Hyperion Club, and the Philathea Sunday school class. A past matron of the Order of the Eastern Star, she also is a past grand officer of the Grand Chapter of Texas.

When entertaining fellow members of these groups or other friends, Mrs. Davis likes to plan ahead and prepare early.

"I use my freezer whenever possible," she said. "Many desserts can be prepared and stored until time of use, so that the day for a special occasion is made easier for the hostess." She uses fruit pies, such as apple, peach and pear, because they freeze well.

"We have a wonderful neighbor, Mrs. John Coffee, who shares an over-hanging pear tree with us, and we enjoy the fruit in several ways," said Mrs. Davis. She explained that she made pear pies just as though she was using apples. If tartness is desired, lemon juice is sprinkled over the top.

MAXIMUM STORAGE

In planning the buff brick home they built nine years ago, Mrs. Davis asked for all the storage space she could fill—and more.

Double doors open into the kitchen pantry, where staples can be inventoried at a glance. The bulk of their shopping is done every two weeks. On one shelf are jellies, canned plums and peaches, and preserved watermelon rind that she has made.

A respected appliance in the Davis kitchen is the dishwasher. "Other than the range and refrigerator, this is what I would like least to do without," said Mrs. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis are members of the First Methodist Church, where he serves on the board of stewards.

WALDORF SOUFFLE SALAD

½ cup cold water
2 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
½ tsp. salt

1 cup peeled diced apples
½ cup diced celery
½ cup chopped walnuts

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add the cold water, lemon juice and mayonnaise. Add salt, blend well with a rotary beater. Pour into a freezing tray, quick chill in freezer until it gets soft in the middle, and firm around edges. Turn into a mixing bowl and beat with a rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in apples, celery and walnuts. Pour into a quart mold or individual molds and chill until ready to serve.

STRAWBERRY SALAD

2 pkgs. strawberry gelatin
2 cups hot water
3 whipped bananas
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen strawberries
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
½ pt. sour cream

Dissolve gelatin in water, add cream. Pour ½ mixture in mold and let set ½ hour. Spread sour cream over mixture, and add rest of mixture and set until ready to serve.

CRAB SALAD

1 can (6½ oz.) crab meat
1 cup celery, finely diced
3 tbsp. mayonnaise
1 tbsp. cider vinegar
2 medium avocados
Salad greens
Paprika

Drain crab and remove any cartilage, flake, saving 4 pretty pieces for a garnish. Mix flaked crab with celery, mayonnaise and vinegar. If prepared ahead cover and refrigerate.

At serving time, cut avocados in half lengthwise, twist apart; remove seed and outer covering; arrange on salad greens. Fill avocados with crab meat mixture; sprinkle with paprika garnish with reserved crab pieces. Makes 4 hearty salads. Tomatoes may be used if avocados are not available.

GUACAMOLE SALAD

2 ripe avocados, mashed
½ cup onion, grated
2 tomatoes, peeled and chopped fine

Tabasco, Worcestershire, salt, pepper, and monosodium glutamate to taste.

If you make this ahead, put wrap over the top or put in a closed bowl, and it stays green.

DUCHESSE MEAT ROLL

2 eggs
½ cup cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper

2 cups mashed potatoes (no milk or seasoning)

GREEN BEAN AND ONION SALAD
An easy salad to prepare

Green Bean Salad Is Good, Low In Calories

Today about one-third of all American families, some 17 million strong, has an active dieter or weight-watcher.

In recent years, this country has become calorie conscious, not just because excess pounds are unsightly, but growing medical evidence shows that being overweight has far-reaching effects on our general health.

Here is a recipe for a salad using low calorie dressing.

GREEN BEAN AND ONION SALAD

2 cups canned, cooked fresh or frozen green beans, drained
2 small red onions
½ cup low calorie Italian dressing

Combine beans and onion rings. Pour dressing over salad and chill thoroughly. Serve on bed of greens.

Vinegar Adds A Zippy Tartness To Salads

Try Rainbow Salad with a dressing that includes only vinegar, salt, pepper and a tiny bit of sugar. Vinegar adds a tasty zip and will coax out the true flavors of the salad ingredients. Cider vinegar may be selected for the conventional dressing or wine vinegar for a touch of the gourmet. A choice of malt vinegar will contribute a full-bodied flavor to your salad.

RAINBOW SALAD

1 cup finely shredded cabbage

1 cup finely chopped green pepper

1 cup grated carrots

1 cup sliced celery

1 cup tomato chunks

1 cup cooked peas

½ cup finely chopped cucumber

½ cup sliced onion, separated into rings

1 cup grated American cheese

1 tsp. sugar

½ tsp. salt

½ tsp. pepper

½ cup cider, wine or malt vinegar

Toss vegetables with cheese in large bowl. Combine sugar, salt, pepper and vinegar. Pour over salad mixture, toss lightly. Chill. Makes 6-8 servings.

And here's another colorful salad you'll want to use:

RED AND GOLD FLORENTINE SALAD

6 cups fresh spinach, broken into bite-size pieces (approximately 1½ lb.)

1 medium onion, sliced, separated into rings

2 medium tomatoes, cut in wedges

½ cup Roma dressing

3 hard-cooked eggs, halved

Prepare vegetables, chill.

Combine vegetables in large bowl; toss lightly with dressing. Garnish each serving with egg half. Makes 6-8 servings.

RAINBOW SALAD
It combines cabbage, green pepper, carrots and celery

Garden Club Has Session

A coffee, served in the home of Mrs. Allen R. Hamilton Wednesday morning, opened the Big Spring Garden Club's first fall session. Twenty-two members turned out for the occasion with Mrs. D. S. Riley, cohostess.

Mrs. John Hogan, president, read the Irish poem for garden clubbers, "Take Time for Everything," after which Mrs. H. G. Keaton was introduced as a new member.

Progress on the fall flower show was reported by Mrs. John Coffey, flower show chairman. She reminded members of the show, "Melody in Flowers," Nov. 2 from 3 until 7 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club. She asked for volunteer workers.

Reporting for the Garden Club Council, Mrs. Clyde Angel said that work was completed at the state hospital. She said that the council has planters available to members for city planting.

Mrs. Angel also announced that the flower show judge school will be conducted at the Robb-Pine Room of the YMCA Oct. 2, 3 and 4 with Mrs. E. Fred Lewis, the instructor on arrangements, and Mrs. R. G. Murrie, instructor in horticulture. The school will be open to all, but only those working

Chapel Is Scene Of Wedding

Miss Linda Jo McCown became the bride of Hardy Neal McCullah in a double ring ceremony performed Aug. 31 at 8 p.m. in the Upper Room Chapel of the East Dallas Christian Church Dr. W. A. Welch, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. McCown, Dallas, and the bridegroom is the son of R. S. McCullah, 1605 Tucson Road.

The pandora bodice of the white bridal gown was accented with Chantilly lace. The bell-shaped draped skirt was swept into back fullness forming a chapel train. The bride's headpiece was a peau de soie satin rose with illusion flowing to the finger-tips. She carried stephanotis and orchids with an ivory lace fan, a family heirloom, and her only ornament was a pearl necklace. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. James Hollie, the bride's sister, matron of honor, and Miss Mary Tom Harris, bridesmaid, wore teal blue sheaths of silk crepe, and they carried long stemmed pink gladioli. Kenneth Hamilton was best man with Gary Ryan serving as groomsman. Ushers were Carroll McCown, brother of the bride, James Hollie, the bride's brother-in-law, John Stone and Don Morris.

Ribbons, bells and lace set the theme for the wedding which featured a motif of teal blue and shell pink.

RECEPTION

A reception followed in the church parlor. The table repeated the wedding theme and motif. Miss Jane Cauble of Talco was in charge of the guest book. Miss Rita Faye Lee, Dallas, assisted.

After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the couple will be at home at 3904 Hall St., Dallas.

The bride was an honor graduate of North Dallas High School in 1962. Also a graduate of NDHS, the bridegroom attended Howard County Junior College and is presently enrolled at Arlington State College. He plans to continue his studies at the University of Houston next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Byrd drove their daughter, Virginia Lowry, to Carlbad, N.M., Saturday, where she has accepted a position with the Crawford Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Britain and of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ranne of Midland were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ranne and family.

William Conway returned home Monday from Root Memorial Hospital after having been admitted on Saturday for burns received from a gas explosion.

West German Spy System In Top Hands

MUNICH, Germany, (AP) — A whitewashed wall rings a wooded estate in a fashionable Munich suburb.

This is about all the outsider sees of the tightly guarded and mystery-laced headquarters of the "Bundesnachrichtendienst" — the German Intelligence Service, or BND for short.

A more popular label is "Gehlen organization," named after its leader who set up the espionage network under American auspices when the cold war broke up the World War II alliance.

Former Lt. Gen. Reinhard Gehlen, in the business for more than 20 years, has an outfit of perhaps 4,000 men. Recently they have weathered an unprecedented onslaught of public criticism.

SPY TRAIL

His agency became the target of violent attacks after a senior official, Heinz Felfe, was convicted as a Soviet agent in Germany's biggest spy trial since the war.

Court testimony at Karlsruhe disclosed Felfe and a co-defendant, Hans Clemens, during the Nazi era were both intelligence officials of the SS-controlled Reich security head office—which also employed Adolf Eichmann. Clemens admitted that he took part in the shooting of 330 Italian hostages.

Leaders of both opposition and government parties urged that the outfit be given a thorough going over. Newspapers spoke of a "Nazi nest in Munich." Some politicians clamored for merging BND with the two other German intelligence organizations.

The government took things in stride. The federal chancellery, to which Gehlen is immediately attached, let it be known that "far less than one per cent" of the Gehlen staff formerly were in SS ranks.

TRACKED DOWN

What's more, officials said, the fact that Felfe and Clemens were tracked down by the Gehlen people themselves — in 1961 — showed the agency's efficiency.

Gehlen first got into the espionage field in 1942 when he took over as head of the German army's "Foreign Armies East" department, assigned to collect information on buildups in the rear of the Red army front. Gehlen's unit was associated with the military intelligence service of the legendary Adm. Wilhelm Canaris but did not get involved in Canaris' fall as an anti-Nazi plotter.

Canaris died in a Nazi concentration camp and his service came under SS control. Gehlen preserved his independence and impressed his superiors by the precision of his surveys.

When the war ended, Gehlen possessed a wealth of data copied in triplicate and carefully stowed away in secret places. It is said that Gehlen got in touch with Gen. Edwin L. Sibert, then assistant director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

FREE HAND

U.S. Gen. George S. Patton, sensing early East-West tension, reportedly sent Gehlen to the United States where the German agreed to set up a new spy organization, provided he got a free hand in picking his staff.

The Gehlen organization was provisionally headquartered in the wooded Spessart Mountains south of Frankfurt in 1947; and eventually moved to Pullach, a suburb of Munich. The Americans spent many millions on it before it was put under German control as a Bonn government agency in 1955.

Now 62, Gehlen appears the most elusive part in his secrecy-shrouded organization. The only press photograph clearly showing his lean, unsmiling face dates to World War II. People who claim to know him off duty say he is a scholarly man of strict build with a clipped blond mustache. They say he always carries a gun, continually changes his incognito and his automobiles, but that on holiday his family car often pulls a trailer or a sailing boat out of a home on Lake Starnberg.

It's Pear-Shaped,
Scientist Claims

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The earth, of course, isn't flat, but neither is it exactly round.

It's kind of pear-shaped, a speaker said Wednesday at a meeting of the Association of American Geographers.

Toshio Hoshida of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers map service, said, "the North Pole is about 15 yards farther from the center of the earth than the South Pole."

Meter Standards Are Repaired

Three parking meter standards which were damaged in a car accident in the 100 block of Main Tuesday, have been replaced, Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said.

The accident occurred when an unattended milk truck rolled into three cars parked at the meters in front of Big Spring Hardware, causing more than $1,000 damage to the vehicles.

L. P. Trantham, meter service man for the city, said the cost of repairing the meter standards was $25.

Fireworks Banned

MEXICO CITY (AP) — City officials said a ban on fireworks will be enforced more tightly. An explosion in a plant making fireworks on the Mexico City outskirts Sunday killed five and injured many others.

Mineral Show Is Scheduled

A gem and mineral show, sponsored by the Midland Gem and Mineral Society, will be held Nov. 2-3 in the Midland National Guard Armory on North Lamesa Road.

Plans are being made to make the show an annual event in the Pecos Basin, according to Maylan Baker, show chairman.

The show will feature special exhibits, dealers, gem and mineral displays, artifacts, faceted stones, silver smithing and handmade jewelry. Special exhibits will include a mineral and agate display from the Porter Rankin Memorial.

Working exhibits will demonstrate cutting and polishing cabochons, faceting and tumbling.

Individual and group displays are invited in noncompetitive exhibit.

Six Civil War Writers Feted

AUSTIN (AP) — Six men who made literary contributions during 1962 to the story of Texas in the Civil War will receive Texas Civil War Centennial Commission awards of merit this weekend.

The awards will be presented at a statewide luncheon commemorating the centennial of the Battle of Sabine Pass in Port Arthur Saturday and Sunday.

Recipients of the awards are Col. Harold Simpson of Waco, author of Waco and McLennan County, Texas, in the Army of Northern Virginia; W. M. Morris of Waco, publisher of Texas Civil War reprints; Donald Everett of San Antonio, editor of Chaplain Davis and Hood's Texas Brigade; Jay Mathews of Austin, editor of Texas Military History, and publication of the National Guard Association of Texas; Frank X. Tolbert of Dallas, author of Dick Dowling at Sabine Pass, and R. H. Porter of Austin, president of the Stock Co. which reprinted the new Texas school reader.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Sept. 5, 1963 5-B

Thalidomide Babies Make Slow Gains

LONDON (AP)—At 12 months, Philippa Bradborne has talented toes. She picks up her toys with them.

Gerald McDonnell, two months younger, sits upright on the grass until she leans too far sideways and tumbles over like a topheavy, round-bottomed bottle. Then she screams.

Philippa has no arms. Gerald no legs.

They are thalidomide babies. About 350 babies were born in Britain with missing limbs during the 18 months the tranquilizer thalidomide was sold here.

A dozen were brought to a garden party recently, arranged by Lady Frederick Hoare, wife of a banker and former lord of London. She is chairman and founder of Britain's Thalidomide Appeal, which has collected $252,000 since it began a year ago.

For most of the children, the party was the first chance to play with normal babies of their own age. The thalidomide babies stayed mostly under their mothers' watchful eyes.

Bringing up a thalidomide baby is a full-time job. Most are reared at home. Only a few are rejected completely by their parents.

The rejects, a number of them illegitimate or from broken homes, are cared for at Challey Heritage Hospital School, south of London. There are only 19 thalidomide babies there now.

No proper artificial limb could be operated by infants.

Baby X-Ray Drive Opened

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A grandmother who believes needless suffering, expense and deformity can be curbed has started a modest campaign for hospitals to X-ray newborn babies.

Mrs. Paul Ferguson of San Antonio, who starred in silent movies as Eureka Drake, started the Eureka Infant X-ray Foundation with this aim.

"I think the simple precaution of X-raying all newborn babies should become part of the routine in all maternity hospitals," she said this week. "Abnormalities could be treated immediately."

She and her husband operate a snack bar in the Gunter Building.

Her campaign actually started in 1952 when she learned that her first granddaughter was born with hips out of socket. The child is Shere Lynn Stubbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Stubbs of Abilene; she was 3 at the time.

Shere was slow to walk, but pediatricians said she was all right. She began walking with an exaggerated waddle.

Mrs. Ferguson took the little girl to a bone specialist. X-rays disclosed that both hips were out of socket before she was born.

The doctor said if this had been discovered while she was an infant with still pliable bones, treatment would have been simple.

Shere, now 13, underwent several operations. She walks almost perfectly and even rides a bicycle.

Estes Apartment Agreement Noted

PORTECHES, Tex. (AP)—An agreement has been reached for disposition of Woodcraft Apartments of Port Neches, formerly owned by Billie Sol Estes.

The agreement was reached this week between Melvin Tegege, operator of the apartments, and Dr. Harold Lindley of Pecos, one-time associate of the West Texas promoter.

The apartments, consisting of 15 buildings, were built during World War II to house rubber plant workers.

Under the agreement, Lindley purchased the properties for $5,000 at a trustee sale. Tegege will retain possession of the apartments with an option to buy the properties at a later date.

Lindley has been attempting to foreclose on the properties in an effort to satisfy a debt owed by Estes. Tegege, who bought a half interest in the apartments in 1955, filed three injunction suits.

Charter Filed For Bank At Lubbock

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Banking Department said today an application has been filed for a new bank in Lubbock.

The bank, to be known as the Industrial Bank and Trust Co., would have capital of $200,000, surplus of $200,000 and reserves of $105,000.

Proposed president is W. K. Barnett of Levelland. Other directors are George Brassell Jr., Lubbock; J. O. Gillham, Brownfield; J. B. Cassell, Lubbock; R. D. McDonald, Clarksville; and Gene Anderson, Lubbock.

No date has been set for hearing.

DEAR ABBY

Marry In Haste—

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter eloped with a 22-year-old boy, and when I say BOY I don't mean MAN. When they came home we forgave them and planned a nice church wedding for them. We thought everything was going along fine when, the night before the church wedding was to take place, the boy ran off and left a note saying it was "better" this way. My daughter says she doesn't know why he ran off. She made us stop trying to locate him as she says she doesn't want to see him again. (Neither do we.) It has been only three weeks since their elopement. Is my daughter eligible for an annulment or must she go through a divorce? What should we do with the wedding presents?

HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A lawyer can help you. Under the circumstances, return ALL the wedding presents.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man who I thought was nice. When he asked me how old I was I told him the truth. Then he asked me if I'd mind setting my age back a few years. He told him I wouldn't do it. When he came right out and said if I didn't set my age back we were through. Was I wrong in refusing him that request, or do you think he was just looking for an excuse to get rid of me?

FIFTY AND HONEST

DEAR FIFTY: I won't let you car salesmen by making compari-sions. But this man has more shal- low pride than the stuff of a good husband. And if he urges you to deceive others by tampering with your chronological speedometer, he's probably not above deceiving you as well. Lose him.

DEAR ABBY: I own a small apartment building. One of my tenants makes a habit of visiting one of the other tenants every single day. She barges in and stays for hours. She is young, and a good-hearted soul, and, although she has children, she must be lonely for adult company. I don't want any of my tenants to move for lack of privacy, yet I don't think it's my place to tell this young woman to leave them alone. What would you suggest? WITS' END

DEAR WITS': Unless your tenants complain to you about the lack of privacy, do nothing. (They might enjoy her visits.) But if you hear any rumblings to the contrary, better have a speech prepared to deliver to your young, garrulous tenant.

DAILY GUIDE—At least you might not feel that home is where to be today. Some change will appeal to most people today, so there will be a general moving out into some stream of action.

Some little surprises are in order, so break routine habits slightly to lend a little stimulation.
Continuing the round of the Zodiac on the long cycle of changing values, let's consider the Capricornians who seek changes in distance places and are reshaping their philosophy, studies, and even professional aims.

Arians can expect changes in working environment and those who work with them, in their skills, their tools they work with,
and in their values of health.

Scorpios are busy evaluating their dreams, their group affiliations, and will be making new friends, some unusual and some powerful. Librans will work more in secret as they mull over future trends and prepare for a cycle of their greatest changes, starting at the end of 1968.

Splendid day ahead for buying,
you can count on the cooperation
of mate, partners or associates
and public for a few more
months, but soon you could meet
with criticism and it will be harder to obtain the full freedom you want.

SELLING, PLEASURE, SOCIAL ACTIVITIES.
Evening hours changeable.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, VIRGO!
The spotlight is on you this year and in the next few years to come, so what you do to promote your personality and talents now will be very important to the whole progress of your life in the future.

You can count on the cooperation of mate, partners or associates
and public for a few more
months, but soon you could meet
with criticism and it will be harder
to obtain the full freedom you want.

Some unusual element in your day to day environment and contacts could kick up again by the end of the month. Hard work on the job, or some residence due to health, continue but will soon lighten in the coming year.

Food Poisoning

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Thirty-

Paroled Youth Admits Shooting

DALLAS (AP) — "I just got the gun and shot him—that's all," Benny Salazar Barron, 15, told police.

Barron, 5 feet tall and weighing 100 pounds, went to his parole officer Wednesday and told about the fatal shooting of another boy
at Spence Junior High School Tuesday.

Barron said he shot David Fredrick Watson, 19, after an argument between two groups of boys on the school grounds. He spent the night on a park bench.

Busy Blonde Heads 'Gold For Goldwater'

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Mrs. Truman Wood has a husband, three children, two telephones, an aging car, a newly seeded lawn and a political gold mine.

She does her own housework, sometimes with a lift from her children, the oldest of whom is Robin, 9, and tries to keep the newly seeded lawn wet down. But she has given up bridge, interior decorating and the Junior League.

Mrs. Wood, a trim, vivacious blue-eyed blonde of 35 and a sixth-generation Omaha, is one of the originators and the prime mover in what she calls an as-tonishingly simple do-it-yourself campaign to make Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona the 1964 Republican presidential nominee.

It is incorporated as "Gold for Goldwater of Nebraska," and its registered office is 5410 Seward
Street, Omaha, the Wood home.

The campaign currently is yielding between $2,000 and $2,500 per week "and I really believe we haven't even scratched the surface," said Mrs. Wood, whose husband is a sales executive for an oil refinery.

32 STATES

Contributions to the campaign, which already has enlisted about 1,400 persons in 32 states, are largely in the form of postdated checks from $10 up. They are placed in escrow in the United States National Bank of Omaha under an agreement which provides they will be turned over to the corporation for use if Goldwater is nominated, but will be burned by the bank if he is not.

So far these checks total about $12,000. Mrs. Wood says the dollar value of the contributions is "completely secondary" to the number of people the money represents.

"People who give money now are committing themselves as workers," she said. It is her ambition to see Goldwater go into the national convention next year with a broad enough base of support to protect him from compromises hatched in smoke-filled rooms.

POWER PLAY

"We're trying to create a power play of our own," she explained.
How much should Goldwater buffs contribute?

"When they ask me that," Mrs.
Wood said, "I tell them: 'How much would it be worth to you to have Goldwater the nominee?'"

"We've gotten some money from Democrats—Kennedy Democrats," she reported. "One man sent in a $500 check and instructed his attorney to have his estate honor the check in the event he dies before the check is presented for payment."

Mrs. Wood, daughter of former Republican congressman Howard
Buffett of Omaha, lived in Washington for six years as a girl. But so far as politics was concerned, "I was a complete dodo—that's my nickname,"—
Dodo," she said.

TAFT'S LOSS

It was not until she attended the 1952 Republican National Convention with her father and saw the late Sen. Robert A. Taft lose the nomination in a master of hours that her ideas on practical politics began to take shape.

It was a full decade before
Mrs. Wood was ready to put her ideas to the test. In 1962 she joined two other housewives in spearheading a campaign to bring the Christian anticommunist crusade of Dr. Frederick Schwarz to Omaha. The five-day anticommunism school was successful though somewhat controversial and $20,- 000 was turned over to Dr.
Schwarz.

Several months later a friend asked Mrs. Wood, a Presbyterian, to help a Redemptorist missionary priest seeking to raise $10,000 for an anti-Communist radio station in a remote area of Brazil.

With the Schwarz crusade still fresh in her mind, Mrs. Wood went to work. With the help of an Omaha priest she even prepared a sermon on communism for the missionary priest, which he used as he went from parish to parish in his home town. Three weeks later he headed back for Brazil with $11,000.

RESPONSIBILITY

These successes and a growing feeling that ordinary people "have a responsibility to their country to do more than enjoy its privileges," encouraged Mrs. Wood to undertake the Goldwater movement.

"I was talking on the phone with Margie (Mrs. Duane) Hill-mer when we got to wondering if there wasn't something we could do," she recalled.

Gradually the idea evolved, but making sure "no taint of graft" could touch their fund raising campaign was a stumbling block.

A Devotional For The Day

"Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a little, I will set you over much." (Matthew 25:21. RSV.)

PRAYER: O God, our Father and our Friend, in gratitude we praise Thee because Thou didst invest so generously on our behalf. Thou didst not withhold Thine own Son but freely gave Him up to the death for us all. We thank Thee that by grace we are heirs of that investment. Direct us in Thy service, for Jesus' sake. Amen.

Cotton In Deeper Trouble

Cotton is still in trouble, probably deeper than ever.

At a meeting sponsored by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., in Lubbock last week, representatives were told that the carryover of the domestic cotton crop was 11.1 million bales, an increase of 3.3 million bales over the previous year.

One of the speakers, Sterling Emens, Lubbock banker, pointed to the economic importance of cotton to this area, estimating that it generated $35 million in new wealth each year, and then turns over six or seven times. He said that unrealistic government policies have created a serious threat to this principal source of income.

Well, something is wrong, and possibly government policies toward cotton have played a key part.

The industry has had some pretty unrealistic views of its own, and these are reflected, in part, in government policies. Supports which encourage greater production from a fixed acreage only serve as an escalator for those supports. Small wonder that surpluses increase.

One of the problems is to make cotton competitive with other fibres, both as to quality and cost. In the larger sense, this includes the world's markets. With the domestic price level well above the world price for cotton, exports must be subsidized. It may well be that domestic mills may have to be subsidized, too, in order to have a fighting chance at the markets.

But equally disturbing is the tendency to slip on the domestic market in competition with other fibres. A year or so ago the outlook for cotton in relation to the synthetics appeared somewhat brighter; the 3.3 million bales carryover suggests that cotton has certainly not gained ground and possibly has lost.

Promotion and research are held out as two of the best answers. They could certainly help cotton become more competitive. Perhaps in the final analysis, if cotton must be subsidized (as it likely must for the foreseeable future), some system of direct payment on a fixed average base yield might have the merit of freeing the crop to be sold on the open world market and moving it promptly into private channels.

With Due Respect For The Law

Hardly anyone of good heart questions the right of Negroes to use peaceable assembly as a means of focusing public attention on their demand for equality. Even those not sympathetic with this aspiration must acknowledge that freedom of assembly and petition are fundamental in American tradition and law.

This must be clearly understood before one ventures to comment on the rise of disorder and violence in recent demonstrations. Peaceable assembly is one thing. Defiance of the law, infringement of the rights of others, mob behavior and incitement to mob behavior—these are something quite different, and are to be condemned.

In a sense, disorder and violence focus attention toward equal rights for Negroes because they make news. But this is the wrong way to advance a just cause. In the long run, those fostering and indulging in demonstrations that flout the law will harm the cause.

Part of this harm will spring from a public revulsion against mob tactics. A far greater part of the harm will lie in the damage done the vital tradition of change through due process of law. The House of Delegates of the American Bar Association has just restated the principle that the rights of assembly and petition, and also the broader right of free speech, must be exercised "with due respect for the law." Those who seek full justice for the Negro should heed this wise counsel.

Goldwater On The Spot

WASHINGTON — As the front-running Republican candidate for the '64 Presidential nomination and as leader of the Senate opposition to the nuclear test-ban treaty, Sen. Barry Goldwater is coming in for the inevitable intensive scrutiny.

Every word he has written and uttered—and that is a lot of words—is being combed over by the opposition in his own party and by the Democrats who are beginning to believe he will be the man they must beat. Interpreting Goldwater's writings is a little like construing Scripture in that each individual tends to read into them what he wants to believe.

RECENTLY AN editor in Goldwater's own state of Arizona challenged the Senator on what he really meant to say about war versus coexistence. William R. Mathews of the Arizona Daily Star writes signed editorials that reflect the vigor and independence of an earlier West.

Mathews wrote an editorial entitled "Sen. Goldwater's Reckless Foreign Policy." It was based on a speech in which the Senator was quoted as follows:

"WE WOULD INVITE the Communist leaders to choose between total destruction of the Soviet Union and accepting local defeat," Goldwater wrote.

"Consequently," Mathews said in his second signed editorial, "when the Senator writes in such terms, he is giving his own alternative to his denunciation of coexistence. It is not an oversimplification to say that Sen. Barry Goldwater, who does not want coexistence with international communism, advocates war. He has said so."

THEN MATHEWS expressed agreement with Goldwater's criticism of the President for failing to act on Cuba. The editor, who favors ratification of the test-ban treaty, held that since Cuba is in our own backyard it is in our primary interest to put an end to Soviet domination there.

Ideas and ideologies to one side. Goldwaters are getting an increasingly strong grip on the GOP organization.

WITH LESS THAN 12 months until the Republicans in San Francisco nominate their candidate the roadmakers today say Goldwater. To a great many in his party—and out of it—construing his words is not nearly so important as the promise he seems to offer of returning to the earlier and simpler America.

Billy Graham

Most of our neighbors are not Christians and are raising their children without God and the church. As we have four children and intend to raise them as Christians, do you think we should move?

C. N.

There are many factors about which I am ignorant and I can only advise you in general terms. You owe it to your children to bring them up to know and love God. At the same time, you may have an opportunity to be a witness to your neighbors. First of all, you must try to make your home all that a Christian home should be, one where the neighbor's children will sense a genuine difference. Also, by friendliness coupled with prayer for guidance, you may be able to invite in neighbors and show your interest in them. Invite them to go to church with you. Ask some of them to let you take their children to Sunday school with yours. It may be that God has placed you in these circumstances to bear a witness for Him. Do not run because the situation is hard! Ask God to guide you and give you the strength and wisdom you need. You may be used to change your entire neighborhood.

Indian Claim

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The Kaw Indians want a chunk of Kansas' capital city. Their tribal council is drafting a formal claim to the federal government to 23 tracts of land on the Kansas River which the Indians contend was never legally surrendered to the United States.

Dollar Strengthening Showing Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Moves to cast any great upsurge in the value of the World Bank and strengthen the American dollar's position. Nor does it cause any real alarm in European money markets.

The dollar has advanced slightly against the Swiss franc and the German mark. A greater score has been made against the British pound sterling which has dipped to a two-year low in terms of the cause of the pound's weakness, temporary as they expect it to be.

It does show the close ties between Western currencies and economies. Some Britons in particular are saying that the efforts to strengthen the dollar are the cause of the pound's weakness, temporary as they expect it to be.

While the U.S. Treasury gold stocks have shrunk a little more this summer, Britain's gold and convertible currency reserves also fell in August, off about $19.6 million. None of this necessarily fore-

Tiresome To The Teachers

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that schoolteachers get tired of hearing.

"In addition to your teaching duties, Miss Elmo, we expect you to act as chaperon at school dances, put on three plays a year and serve as career counselor. We sure would appreciate it, too, if you could help take tickets at the football games this fall."

"Well, yes, you have the experience all right, but speaking frankly, we'd hoped to get a younger teacher with a more advanced degree. After all, the job pays $3,650 a year."

"It's a neat trick to strengthen one country's position without weakening another's. That's one reason so much interest is attached to the meeting in Washington later this month of the directors of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, charged with policing the financial dealings of the Western world as well as encouraging their economic growth.

Europeans have been watching the American financial moves. First was higher interest rates to keep lendable American dollars at home. Second was the proposal, now being debated in Congress, to tax American purchases of foreign securities from foreigners with the same goal in view.

Since American capital has been the great pool from which Europeans could draw since World War II, any drying up of these available funds will be felt.

The British pound this week dipped below the official rate of $2.80 to the American dollar. Part of the decline can be traced to Britain's balance of trade problem.

British imports have been rising and now top their exports, thus weakening the pound. Much of this is seasonal, representing purchases of raw materials.

But the British share of the fall on the American financial market.

"Aint you the new schoolmarm, ma'am? Whatcha got on for tonight? I'm free as a bird."

"Johnson, what's this nonsense you've been giving my wife about my boy being socially shy? I've told that kid a dozen times I'd break every bone in his head if he didn't speak up in class when it was his turn."

"I ADMIT we're paying you less than the town dog catcher, Mr. Johnson—but he's the mayor's brother-in-law, and besides, he has to work all summer."

"My child never acts that way at home. If he didn't learn it here at school, where did he learn it?"

"We're proud to have you, Miss Elmo, but I guess nobody will ever take the place of Miss Greene in our hearts. She served in our school system for 45 years until she retired this summer and entered an old ladies' home with the money she'd saved."

"WE REALIZE you have to make both ends meet, Mr. Johnson, but I'm afraid we can't countenance moonlighting. It just doesn't look right for a high school civics teacher to hold a job on the side as a night watchman."

"I think you'll find us a pretty liberal school board, Miss Elmo. We haven't burned a library book in three — no, I think it's four years."

"My teacher used to hit my palm with a ruler if I couldn't spell a word. You won't do that to my little Oswald, will you?"

"THIS IS by no means a hidebound community, Miss Elmo, but I think you'd make a bigger hit with the parents if you—uh—wore a little less makeup and—uh—didn't use a cigarette holder in public."

"Yes, Mr. Johnson looks harmless enough now, but my cousin knew him in college and says he was always circulating petitions for something or other—I forgot what."

"Well, yes, you have the experience all right, but speaking frankly, we'd hoped to get a younger teacher with a more advanced degree. After all, the job pays $3,650 a year."

Hearty Salad Balances Diet

No meal is really complete without a salad. These weight-watching days, there is an ever-increasing demand for salads of all kinds — as an appetizer, a main course, or as a tasty complement to the main course.

Salads are particularly rich in mineral salts and vitamins. They not only contribute to a well-balanced diet and better health, but also add an attractive and colorful note to the luncheon or dinner table.

Regardless of how simple or elaborate they are, or how superb the dressing, salads can be ruined if certain simple rules are not followed.

Season your salad bowl. (An easy way is to rub it before each serving, using paper towel with dressing.)

Tear greens by hand rather than cut or chop them.

Don't discard the dark-green outer leaves on lettuce heads. While they are not as tender as inner leaves, they are higher in vitamin and mineral content.

Don't soak your wooden salad bowl in soap and/or water. Many famous chefs simply wipe the bowl dry with a damp cloth after each use. You may prefer, though, to rinse with warm water and wipe dry with a paper towel or tea towel.

Don't gild the lily — or in this case the salad — with too many garnishes. It not only confuses the flavorings but detracts from your good dressing.

Don't saturate your salad with dressing. Just add enough dressing to cover it lightly.

Tossing a salad at the table can be an attractive event, but don't get carried away and overdo it. Above all, be gentle in order not to bruise greens or vegetables. After tossing, serve at once.

JEWELLED WALDORF SALAD

1 medium head western iceberg lettuce
2 cups diced apples with peel
1 cup green seedless grapes
1 cup julienne strips ham or turkey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Core lettuce; wash in cold water and drain well. Place in plastic bag or transparent plastic wrap; refrigerate. Toss apples, grapes and ham with the lemon juice, sugar and 1 tablespoon of the mayonnaise; chill. Line salad bowl with outer lettuce leaves; tear 1 cup lettuce and reserve remainder for later use. Toss apple mixture with chopped lettuce, celery, walnuts and remaining mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce-lined salad bowl. Makes 4 servings.

FRUIT SALAD IN LETTUCE BOWL

1 head western iceberg lettuce
2 cups creamed cottage cheese
1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 cup coarsely chopped cashew nuts
1/2 cup cantaloupe balls
1/2 cup fresh strawberry halves
1/2 cup honeydew melon balls
1/2 cup blueberries
1/4 cup salad oil
1/4 cup teaspoon grated lime peel
2 tablespoons lime juice
2 tablespoons dry sherry wine
1 tablespoon minced mint leaves
Dash salt

Core lettuce; rinse in cold water; drain well. Place in plastic bag or transparent plastic wrap and refrigerate. Combine cottage cheese, seasoned salt and mayonnaise. Fold in nuts and fruit. Separate 5 or 6 outer leaves from lettuce and shape into bowl or individual lettuce cups and fill with fruit-cottage cheese mixture. For dressing, mix together oil, lime peel and juice, sherry, mint and salt. Serve with salad.

Variation: Separate 5 outer lettuce leaves to form "bowl" in center of platter. Fill with cottage cheese mixture. Cut remaining lettuce into 5 wedges and place on platter like spokes of wheel. Arrange cashews and fruits between lettuce wedges. Pass dressing separately. Each person helps self to fruit, cottage cheese, lettuce and dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Equivalent amounts of frozen fruits may be substituted when fresh are not available.

WEST COAST SALAD

1 head western iceberg lettuce
1/4 cup wine vinegar
1/2 cup olive or salad oil
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
Freshly ground pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
1/2 pound cooked, cleaned shrimp
1 cup cooked or canned lobster or crab meat
1 cup sliced celery
1 package (10 ounces) frozen asparagus, cooked
1 package (10 ounces) frozen green peas, cooked
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges

Core lettuce; wash in cold water and drain well. Place in plastic bag or transparent plastic wrap; refrigerate. Combine vinegar, oil, salt, paprika, pepper and garlic in bowl; mix well. Add mushrooms; chill 1 hour. Half an hour before serving, separate outer lettuce leaves and line salad bowl; shred remaining lettuce in bottom of bowl.

Arrange shrimp, lobster, celery, drained asparagus and peas in rows over lettuce. Spoon mushrooms onto salad. Stir the dressing and pour over salad. Garnish with egg slices and tomato wedges. Chill. Toss lightly before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CRAB SALAD

1 can (6 1/2 ounces) crab meat, flaked
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons sliced stuffed olives
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Crisp salad greens
3 tomatoes, quartered

Mix all ingredients, except greens and tomatoes, and chill. Serve on greens garnished with tomatoes. Makes 4 servings.

Vegetable Salad Is Molded In Gelatin

The Greeks do wonderful things with salads, using imagination and a wide variety of ingredients. In this recipe, based on the Greek salad idea, raw and cooked vegetables, fresh from the garden or grocer, are highlighted with bright stuffed hard-cooked eggs. Lemon gelatin is used to mold these ingredients into a pretty ring shape.

The finished product is turned out on a bed of greens, cucumbers and asparagus, and served with a suggested assortment of black olives, pimiento pieces, scallions and tomato wedges. Laced with the special rich flavor of olive oil, it is this salad fit for the gods.

PIMENTO-VEGETABLE SALAD

1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped red radishes
2 tbsps. lemon juice
Dash Tabasco sauce
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
Cut avocado into quarters lengthwise and remove seed and skin. Sprinkle with lemon juice and salt. Arrange avocado quarters on each garnished salad plate or on buffet platter. Top with crab meat. Combine mayonnaise with remaining ingredients and serve on chilled salad. Makes 4 servings.

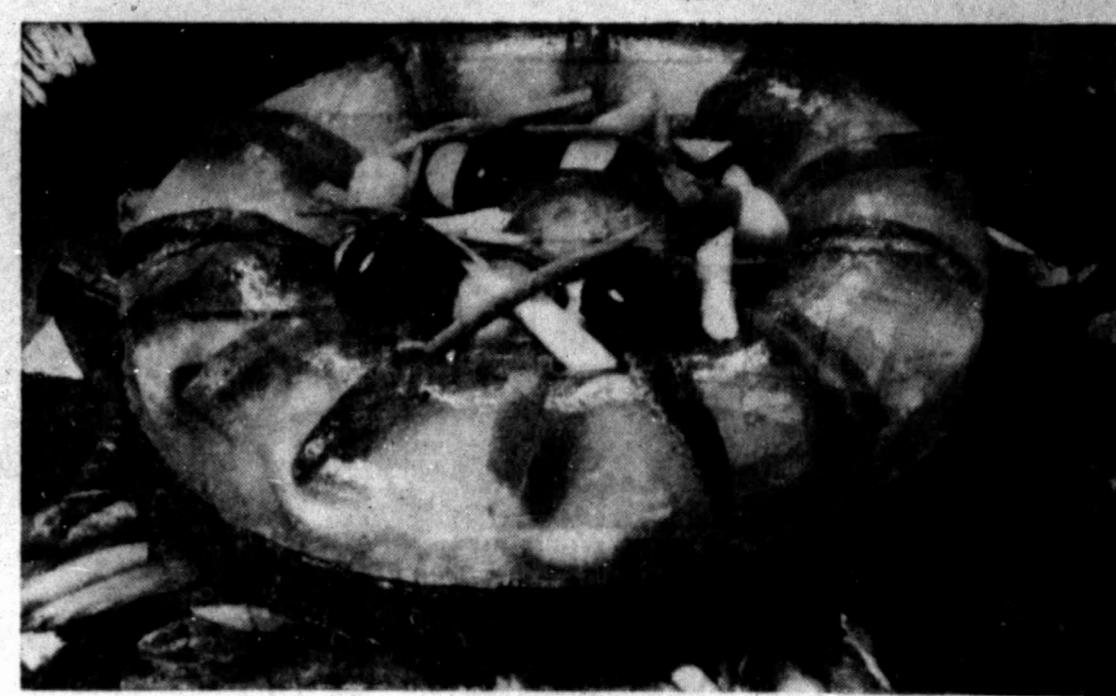

PATIO SUMMER SALAD

1 cantaloupe
1 medium-size tomato
1/2 qts. crisp salad greens
1/4 cup salad oil

1 1/2 tbsps. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. instant minced onion
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire

1/4 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper

Cut cantaloupe into halves and remove seeds. Cut balls with melon ball cutter or 1/2 teaspoon measure, or remove rind and dice melon. Peel tomato and cut into wedges. Combine melon, tomato and salad greens in large bowl. Combine all remaining ingredients in small jar, cover and shake thoroughly to blend. Pour over salad, and toss lightly to coat greens with dressing. Serve at once. Makes 6 to 8 servings.
