Huntsville Integrates; Troopers Bar Others

Wallace Keeps 3 Cities Segregated

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — State troopers sent into action by Gov. George Wallace barred Negroes today from public schools at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee which the federal courts had ordered desegregated.

But Alabama's color barriers in public education at the elementary school level fell for the first time when two first grade pupils were admitted at Huntsville.

The integration of four Huntsville schools was completed when another first grader and a junior high school pupil entered a white woman broke into sobs at one school.

Still unresolved was the puzzle of Wallace's stand for segregation in three cities while permitting integration in a fourth.

In a series of pre-dawn executive orders, Wallace had directed that segregation be maintained at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee. He was silent about Huntsville.

He alerted National Guard units at Birmingham "just in case they are needed."

ORDERS READ
Troopers in the three cities where segregation was maintained — at least for the time being — read copies of the Wallace orders to the young Negroes when they arrived for classes.

The first rejections were at Mobile. A boy and a girl who had registered at a high school last week were turned away. Their lawyers immediately filed a restraining order motion against Wallace in federal court.

At Birmingham, white pupils leaped out of school windows to shout "Nigger go home" when a state police official told a 16-year-old boy there would be no school for him today. The boy was turned away from Ramsay High.

Thirteen Negro pupils arrived on a segregated school bus driven by a Negro a few minutes after white pupils had entered the building at Tuskegee. They never left the bus.

A patrolman stepped forward and informed them of the Wallace order. He then passed out mimeographed copies. A state trooper was on the bus with the Negroes when it departed.

Two Negro girls who approached West End High School in Birmingham were met by Col. Al Lingo, state patrol chief. Two Negro lawyers were with the girls.

You will not be allowed to enter, leave the campus," Lingo told the group several times.

Attorney Ernest Jackson inquired "Do I understand you are telling me to leave?"

"I'm telling you to leave immediately," Lingo said.

The group left to the jeers of more white children leaning from windows.

U. S. ATTORNEY
Joe Dolan, assistant deputy U. S. attorney general, watched the encounters at Birmingham. Prior to the confrontation at West End, Lingo gave Dolan a copy of Wallace's executive order. A Justice Department official, John Doar, also was present at Tuskegee.

The governor has pledged to preserve law and order in the state and he will do whatever is necessary, Bill Jones, Wallace's press secretary, said in advising

Viet Nam's Police Smash Pupil Protest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Club-swinging troops today rushed into a high school and arrested 750 jeering schoolboys who defied President Ngo Dinh Diem's government by barricading their school and going on strike.

The military governor of Saigon warned pupils and their parents stern measures will be taken to quell the unrest.

In a communique, Brig. Gen. Ton That Dinh said male demonstrators over 20 years of age would be drafted into the army and students of both sexes under 20 would be sent to special "re-education centers."

DEATH COUNT
He warned parents they would be held responsible for their children's activities and would have to pay for the expense of keeping their children in the centers.

Pupils who are guilty of repeatedly demonstrating may be tried by a military court, the communique said. Military courts are empowered to impose death sentences.

The latest demonstration broke out at the huge Chu Van An boys' high school. It was similar to strikes in several other Saigon boys and girls high schools Saturday.

Government forces were rougher today. They dragged the pupils into trucks and carted them off to jail.

The military governor blamed the uprising on the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

He said two high school girls arrested Saturday admitted they were members of the Viet Cong.

RESUME STUDY
The military governor, however, said all Saigon high schools would remain open and pupils who show sincere repentance (after their terms in re-education centers) will be allowed to return to their families and be readmitted to school to resume their studies.

The pupils of Chu Van An apparently barricaded their rambling campus when classes began at 8 a.m. When newsmen arrived soon afterwards they found the school surrounded by at least a battalion of Vietnamese infantry and scores of combat police.

MAIN GATES
Pupils barricaded the main gates of the school with two basketball backboards and were tossing desks onto the concrete courtyard from a balcony.

They shouted insults at police and soldiers and slogans against Diem. Dozens of slogans written in chalk on blackboards hung from school windows.

Some read "Down with President Diem and his cruel policies," "Stop arresting boys and girls," "Please, President Kennedy, do something for the poor people of Viet Nam."

As increasing truckloads of troops lined up in battle formation on the grounds of a Roman Catholic church across the road, an assault force of combat police burst through the school gate.

They started beating crowds of schoolboys with batons and fists. Dozens of schoolboys were thrown into trucks. As the trucks roared off down the boulevard dozens of Saigon people cheered the boys.

President Picks New Postmaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Gronouski, 43, Wisconsin state tax commissioner, was named today by President Kennedy to be postmaster general.

Gronouski will succeed J. Edward Day, the original postmaster general in Kennedy's Cabinet, who resigned Aug. 9.

Until the Senate acts on Gronouski's nomination, which Kennedy will submit in the next few days, Sidney W. Bishop will continue to serve as acting postmaster general—a position he has held since Day's departure.

Gronouski, a Democrat, has been commissioner of taxation for the state of Wisconsin since January 1960. Prior to that, he was research director for the tax department.

A resident of Madison, Wis., Gronouski has a doctor of philosophy degree in taxation and public finance.

He has held teaching posts at the University of Maine and Wayne University, Detroit.

A Polish American, Gronouski was born in Dunbar, Wis., Oct. 26, 1919, but grew up in Oshkosh where he attended St. Peter's School, then Oshkosh State College, for three years.

Gronouski, 43, an early Kennedy supporter, reportedly had strong backing from Pat Lucey, Wisconsin state Democratic chairman who is considered close to the President.

Sidney Bishop, who has been holding down the fort as acting postmaster general since Day resigned a month ago, was one of several persons earlier rumored in line for the job.

But Bishop, an assistant postmaster general, said last week he was not a candidate for the permanent assignment.

Gronouski was in Washington last week for talks with White House aides. Administration sources pegged him as a man with an excellent administrative record as head of the Wisconsin Tax Department since 1960.

Gronouski was appointed to that job by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who was then governor, and was continued in the post by Nelson's successor, Gov. John Reynolds.

MINER'S BODY IS RECOVERED
MURPHY, N.C. (AP) — Rescue workers found the body of Carl Dockery after nearly 24 hours of searching through twisted steel, rock and timber in a tale mine near this western North Carolina mountain community.

Dockery, 59, was trapped when a section of the mine collapsed Saturday afternoon. His body was found Sunday. Another miner, Louis Pope, 49, died Sunday after being pulled out of the debris.

Three other miners were injured.

One of them, Wilford Beavers, said the cave-in "started like a mule starts his corn coming out the hopper. She broke 10-inch pieces of steel like they wasn't there."

Beavers was the least seriously injured of the three. Ray Stewart was in serious condition, but improving, and Beaufort Bryant was reported in good condition.

They were working on a branch tunnel of the 340-foot vertical entrance shaft when the tale shifted.

Tale is a chalky substance which is pulverized to form a base for cosmetics. It has a tendency to shift in wet or cool weather.

Bryant and Beavers escaped unassisted and sent help to the others.

"I was at the bottom of the mine, about 300 feet, when I saw the roof start to give in," Stewart said.

"I ran five feet but timber knocked me down. I was crushed but I didn't give up hope. The first thing I heard after that was someone hollering 'Ray, where are you?' Those were the sweetest words I ever heard."

Dockery had been working in the Hitchcock Corp. mines here for eight years.

Beavers, from his hospital bed, vowed to never return to the mines. Stewart was undecided. But Bryant said he might "take another crack at it."

URBAN RENEWAL
Double Barreled Election Set In Stanton Tuesday

STANTON — A light vote is anticipated Tuesday by many veteran observers in the double barreled special election to be held here.

Two issues are to be on the ballot. One will be a referendum to determine the sentiment of the voters on the controversial Urban Renewal Program now under way. The second will be the selection of four city council members to fill seats left vacant by the resignations of present members.

None of the four council members who resigned filed for reelection. Two other candidates filed and are in the field. This means two seats will have to be filled by write-in votes.

The two candidates who have filed are Juil Reid and Ed Robert. The four council members who resigned were Bob Deavenport, Jimmy Stallings, Rufus Tom and John Rouche. The four stepped out when a protest against the continuation of the Urban Renewal Program developed some months ago. The protestors made it clear they had no quarrel with the members of the city council but the four members decided to resign in order to clear the air and let a full expression on the renewal project be uttered.

Voting will be at the city hall, Morgan Hall is judge of the election. Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

The four council members who resigned made their resignations effective with the election of their successors.

Deavenport said Monday "Our tenure terminates Tuesday night. We will meet immediately after the ballots have been counted, canvass the vote, and announce the results. Then the four of us who resigned will be out of the picture."

Dirksen Endorses Nuclear Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, said today he will vote for ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

He also said President Kennedy plans to issue a statement that "might dispel and resolve some of the apprehensions and misgivings" concerning the treaty.

Dirksen told newsmen that his support of the treaty "has probably been envisioned" from his previous statements, but this was the first time that he had said flatly that he would vote for ratification.

"I'll support the treaty," he said, adding that he felt that it would be ratified.

Dirksen announced his support after talking with President Kennedy at the White House.

He was accompanied there by the Democratic Senate leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Dirksen said the President will send a letter to Mansfield, probably Wednesday, which will be one of clarification and assurance.

GAIN VOTES
Mansfield said he thought such a letter would prove helpful in gaining votes for ratification.

The two senators said Mansfield concurred with the idea of a presidential letter.

While he was not specific as to the nature of the letter, Dirksen indicated it probably will stress that the treaty does not hamstring U.S. nuclear progress, possibly including developing an antimissile missile.

The treaty itself is limited. It bans nuclear tests underwater, in the atmosphere and in space. It would not, however, prevent continued U.S. development in underground tests and in space.

Mansfield, like Dirksen, predicted ratification of the treaty. He said he would be satisfied with a required two thirds vote and "something extra for insurance."

AT LENGTH
Later before television and newsreel cameras, Dirksen said Kennedy's letter would cover points already explored at length by administration witnesses in testimony to Senate committees.

However, Dirksen said "that's not quite like Kennedy speaking directly to the Senate through a letter."

President Kennedy has been trying to build up bipartisan support for the treaty.

Although the administration is confident of ratification, several senators have announced their opposition and the President is taking no chances. His meeting at the White House in late morning with Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett M. Dirksen may result in some bipartisan statement of reassurance to the country that the treaty would not endanger U.S. security.

Two other powerful senators, the top Democrat and the senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, open the Senate debate with their endorsement of Response Sunday to the closing appeal of the high school Bible Class fund was heartening. By noon Monday, $247.52 had been received the largest single day of the campaign for voluntary contributions.

Bible Class Gets More Help

This brought to $2,932.21 the amount so far raised, and there were prospects that other gifts already made and to be made would push the total past the $3,000 mark. The Herald still will accept your gifts and deposit them to the Bible Class fund.

The Big Spring Pastors Association, which handles the funds for financing cost of instruction supplies, etc., of the high school Bible Class, expressed its deep appreciation to everyone for gifts and prayers.

There were several memorial gifts. Friends and neighbors of Mrs. L. S. Patterson gave $12.50 as a memorial to her sister, Miss Mattie Leatherwood. Other memorials to Miss Mattie included Robert Gay $7.50, M. C. Stulting $5, Mrs. Mollie Crawford, $5.

There were $5 memorials from West Side Baptist members to Fred Winn and to the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, a $5 memorial from the Home Demonstration Club Council for H. S. Hanson.

Other gifts included Wagon Wheel Drive-In $10, H. M. and Ruby Rainbolt $10, Susannah Wesley Class of First Methodist Church $10, TEL Class of First Baptist Church $10, Glenn's Drive In and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith $10, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Patterson of Grapevine $5, J. C. and Elizabeth Pickle $10, Men's Bible Class of First Methodist Church $60, Berta Beckett Class of First Baptist Church $5, Golden Circle Class of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church $10, Harvesters Class of First Christian Church $25, Mr. and Mrs. J. FROM 238 TO 455 Attendance Records Set At Baptist Temple Sunday

All attendance records were shattered Sunday at Baptist Temple when Sunday School attendance jumped from 238 the week before to 455 yesterday, virtually doubling the number present in one week, according to Rev. James A. Puckett, pastor.

The 455 present was equal to 75 per cent of the enrollment and was the highest attendance ever recorded in Sunday School at Baptist Temple.

Attendance Sunday was approximately equal to the membership of the church eight months ago. Since that time, 154 new members have been received into the Church.

According to 1st Lt. Harley Henry, Sunday School superintendent, the record was established by the cooperative effort of the 60 officers and teachers of the Sunday school who contacted every member of their classes and urged them to be present. Each member's name was called during the Sunday School opening assembly.

The Intermediate Department, Mrs. A. W. Page, superintendent, only lacked one member having 100 per cent present. The Young Adult Department, Mrs. H. M. Jarratt, superintendent, had 85 young adults between the ages of 21 and 29 present. The High School Department, Melvin Lindsey, superintendent; the College and Professional Department, Tolbert Grisham, superintendent; and Adult I Department, F. D. Rogers

County Budget Wins Approval

Howard County Commissioners Monday approved the 1964 budget as it was set up in the preliminary report. Vote on the budget approval was three to one.

The lone dissenting vote was by Joe Hayden. He had sought with no success to cut salaries of elective officials of the county across the board by $50 a month.

The public hearing on the budget was without event. Other than for officials, the only speaker was Ray Ebling, tax man for Cosden. He had no protests to present and no suggestions to offer.

Approval of the budget was on a motion by L. J. Davidson and seconded by Ray Nichols. In the motion, the tax rate was set at $1.05 two cents less than the present rate; the poll tax was allocated 25 cents for the county and 50 cents for the state.

Assessed valuation of the county for the ensuing year is $59,100,000 which represents an increase of $1,910,000 over the figure for the current year.

Total income for the county for the new year will be $1,033,481.97. This includes revenue from all sources—taxes, surpluses left in any funds, fees, the county's share of the automobile license fees and all other money. The total represents an increase of $14,497 for the new year.

Total expenditures estimated for 1964 are $979,542.22. This is $18,538.49 greater than for the present year.

The most important change in the budget is an across-the-board wage boost of $15 per month for the road and bridge crew. These workers were not included last year when the budget increased the pay of deputies in the several offices.

Algeria Begins Socialist Rule

ALGIERS (AP)—Denounced by foes as a blueprint for dictatorship, a new constitution making Algeria a one-party Socialist state ruled by strongman Ahmed Ben Bella went into effect today.

The government announced that Algerians in Sunday's referendum approved the new constitution overwhelmingly. But the voting was marred by apathy and a boycott by the Berbers, powerful, non-Arabic foes of the premier.

Returns released by the government indicated a nearly 100 per cent approval. It estimated about 70 per cent of eligible voters cast ballots.

There was no impartial check of government figures. Reporters touring scattered areas of Algeria saw voting attendance considerably lower than reported.

The boycott centered in the Kabylie area east of Algiers, inhabited by 2 million Berbers who fought hardest in the long struggle against the French for independence. They consider Ben Bella and his followers interlopers and long ago broke with his regime.

The referendum was a climax to a year and two months of post-independence groping. Ben Bella's regime had hailed the new constitution as insuring stability and a better future.

Opposition leader Hocine Ait Ahmed had urged his Berbers to boycott the referendum, saying the constitution opened the way to dictatorship by Ben Bella.

Thus when Ben Bella becomes president next Sunday with strong powers, he will have to face up to the Berber opposition. The Berbers comprise about one-fifth of Algeria's 11 million population.

Under the new constitution, the ruling Front of National Liberation (FLN) officially becomes the only legal party with the task of setting national policy and controlling its execution.

Islam is the state religion and Arabic the official language. At this stage, most government business is in French.

The president can be censured by the National Assembly if one-third of deputies sign a petition for a censure vote. The Algerian army, under Defense Minister Houari Boumediene, will participate in politics.

MAK Field May Have Second Well

Keystone Drilling Co., Midland operator, is preparing to fracture perforations at No. 1 University in an attempt to bring in a second well for Martin County's new MAK (Spraberry) field.

The hole was drilled to 8,991 feet and plugged back to 8,850 feet and 8,954 feet. Perforations are between 8,459-8,501 feet. On tests on that zone, salt water was recovered along with slight oil and gas shows.

This venture spots C NW NE, section 43-6, University Lands survey, about 15 miles northwest of Tarzan. It is 1/4 miles southwest of the field operator, Gordon Knox and Associates No. 1 University, which flowed 28.65 barrels of oil on 12-44-inch choke. Currently, Knox is drilling another confirmation project also.

Glamor Year Beginning For Miss America

NEW YORK (AP)—A year of excitement and glamor is under way today for Donna Axum, the Arkansas beauty who is Miss America of 1964.

Donna, 21, checked into a New York hotel Sunday night from the pageant at Atlantic City, N.J., for some solid rest before a full round of activities.

The figure that helped her defeat 51 other contestants and win the Miss America crown Saturday night may suffer if the pace becomes too hectic.

"I can walk around town and lose two pounds," the brown-eyed queen from El Dorado, Ark., said Sunday when asked how she maintained her 35-23-35 form.

"I like to eat and I do eat, everything and all the time—at regular meals and in between." Donna is 5 feet 6 1/2 inches tall and weighs 124 pounds.

Donna's first ambition, after this year is over, is to return to the University of Arkansas, complete her education and then undertake graduate work in radio and television entertainment.

Also on her list of ambitions is marriage—to a Christian gentleman with a sense of humor who would love her and want to make a home for two children. Donna says she does not have a steady boyfriend.

The new Miss America has been a winner since her birth on Jan. 3, 1942, when she received a prize as "the first baby born in El Dorado" in 1942. She is the national cotton picking queen and has been poultry princess and forest queen in her home state. In 1960 she had a setback, finishing third in the Miss Arkansas pageant.

Donna received a $10,000 scholarship from Miss America pageant officials. She is expected to earn $75,000 in personal appearances throughout the year.

Jacobs Takes Top Money In Tourney

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tommy Jacobs is back on the victory trail after a long defeat, narrowly winning the $40,000 Utah Open Golf Tournament.

Jacobs had to survive a charge by Don January and his own jitters to win first place money of $6,400 in the tournament, his first victory since January 1962.

The 28-year-old pro from Bermuda Dunes, Calif., posted a 33 and a 37 for a par 70 over the 6,984-yard Salt Lake Country Club course in Sunday's closing round for a total of 72.

That was one stroke better than January, who had a final round 33-35-68 after starting the day three strokes back of Jacobs and slipping as far back as five strokes at one point.

Jacobs came to the final hole with a fat three-stroke margin over January, and then nearly blew it.

The committee said some reduction in world production is indicated, with the United States leading the way.

The committee is an inter-governmental organization of 40 cotton producing and consuming nations. Its job is to keep member nations advised of developments in the cotton situation.

To the extent that this indicated reduction in production is accompanied by any improvement in consumption, the statistical situation would be further improved," the committee said.

Such a situation could provide strength to world markets.

First Suit Begins In District Court

A jury is being selected this afternoon to try a damage suit brought in 118th District Court by Jess Bailey against Elza O. Ellington.

The case was set for first place when Judge Ralph Caton sounded the docket at 10 a. Monday. Four of the 27 cases tentatively set for disposal were announced today.

In addition to the Bailey matter, other cases to go to trial, if time permits, are Glen L. Hickerson et ux vs. Dr. M. A. Porter, damages; E. G. Britton Jr. vs. R. E. Rhoades, damages; and C. L. Green vs. Graydon Howell, damages.

City Commission Has Busy Agenda For Tuesday

Bids for two new pumper trucks for the fire department will be considered, authorization to call for bids on a billing machine for the water department, new vehicles for the police, fire, and inspection departments, a new bridge on Birdwell Lane, and liability insurance coverage on fire trucks, will be considered by the Big Spring City Commission Tuesday night.

Appointment of two park and recreation board members, resignation accepting deed from Big Spring Cowboy Reunion, Inc., for a fire station site, and zone change ordinances will also be brought up for consideration.

Bids, opened and tabulated last Thursday for two new pumper trucks, will be considered by the commission. Mack Trucks, Inc., apparent low bidder on the pumps, submitted a bid of $48,800 on two 750-gallon pumbers with regular engines; $49,145 for two 1,000-gallon pumbers with regular engines; $50,950 for two 750's with diesel engines, and $51,295 for two 1,000's with diesels. Mack allowed $200 trade-in value on a 1925 model Seagraves and $300 for a 1930 model Seagraves pumper.

A new billing machine for the water department, set up in the current budget, will be considered Tuesday night, and the commission will probably call for bids. The old machine is beginning to require too much maintenance, C. R. McClenny, city secretary, said.

Three 1962 model sedans used by the police department now have speedometer readings of around 60,000 miles, and a request for new vehicles will be heard. The three will be the last of seven cars set up for trade-ins in the current budget.

A 1955 model station wagon, used by the drill master in the fire department, will also be up for trade-in consideration, as will a 1960 model compact car used by the city inspection department.

Liability insurance has not been carried by the city on fire trucks. The commission will consider the insurance, along with possible riders to the drivers' personal insurance policies.

Under the city's continuing assessment paving program Project E, which will include a 60-foot pavement on Birdwell Lane from Marcy to Twenty-fifth Street, a new bridge will be required over Big Spring creek. The commission will consider calling for bids on this part of the project since bridges are not included in bids on paving.

Recommendations of the Planning and Zoning Commission on zone changes to be considered are: Changing the triangle on which Donald's Drive-In is located, at the intersection of Gregg and Marcy, from a residential zone to retail; changing two tracts, east of Wason and between Thorpe Street extended and the City Park entrance road, from neighborhood service to retail.

Final reading, to be considered on final reading, include zone changes.

Horror Hits Town Friday At The Jet

"Scream of Fear" is one of three offerings Friday and Saturday at the Jet Drive In Theater as local theatergoers celebrate another Friday the Thirteenth.

This shocker stars Susan Strassberg, along with Ronald Lewis and Ann Todd. It is set on the French Riviera.

Susan stars as a young and beautiful girl, paralyzed and confined to a wheelchair, who travels to the French Riviera to visit her father, whom she has not seen for many years. She is greeted by her father's second wife, an attractive woman who says that her father is away on business.

The horror begins when Susan sees her father's body on several occasions, always under circumstances which make others believe she is having hallucinations.

Susan Strassberg achieved a reputation in "The Diary of Anne Frank" on Broadway.

Improvement Seen For Cotton Market

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Cotton Advisory Committee said today it foresees some improvement during the present season in the world cotton situation.

The committee said some reduction in world production is indicated, with the United States leading the way.

The committee is an inter-governmental organization of 40 cotton producing and consuming nations. Its job is to keep member nations advised of developments in the cotton situation.

To the extent that this indicated reduction in production is accompanied by any improvement in consumption, the statistical situation would be further improved," the committee said.

Such a situation could provide strength to world markets.

Building Meet Slated Today

Chamber of Commerce directors today will be seeking guidance for a decision on Chamber office space at a special meeting of the membership called at 5:45 p.m. The session, which will precede a director's meeting, will be held in the Chamber Bank conference room.

A proposal has been made by local businessmen to put the Chamber in a new building. It would be a cooperative enterprise with several businesses each owning a portion of the property.

Currently the Chamber has a lease on quarters in the Berman Building. This lease expires Oct. 31. In the past the Chamber has been paying half the normal lease rate because of an exchange for the property on which the Chamber now stands. In all probability the rental would be increased substantially if the same space is leased again.

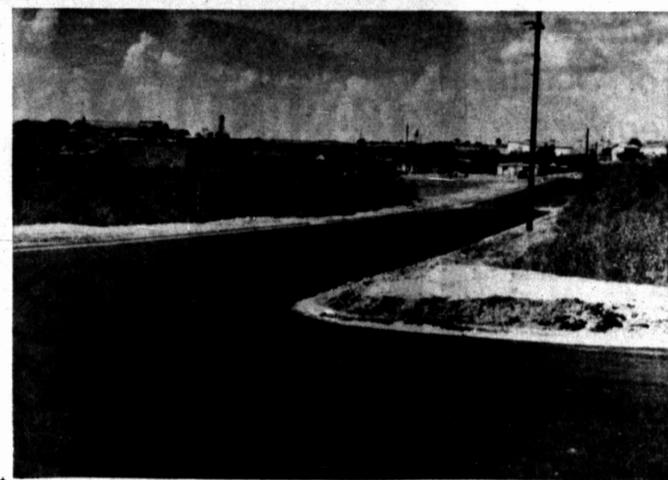

Cost of the new building would be slightly more than present lease costs but the Chamber would eventually own its office space. The pro rata portion of the Chamber could be financed 100 per cent. Proposed location is at Tenth and Gregg.

City Has 64 Blocks Of New Paving Through 3 Projects

Only 39 blocks of Big Spring street paving remain to be done under the city's continuing paving assessment program. These come under project four, which may be the final stage until winter is over.

Paving on 64 blocks, through Project three, were completed Thursday afternoon. Director of Public Works Ernest Lillard said, "One of the longest single strips was on Northwest Fourth, from North Aylford, across the compress railroad spur, north to Northwest Seventh, and west to Ohio, bordering the Lakeview school campus on two sides. The strip is nine-tenths of a mile in length and will provide all-weather access to the school and the Banks Addition.

Third to East Fourth. Another will be 60 feet on Twenty-fifth, from Birdwell Lane to the alley east of Central Drive, bounding Kentwood Addition on the north. All streets in the Clanton Addition in the southwest part of the city will be paved. When the fourth project is completed, there will be 103 blocks of new pavement in the city.

Ninth Woman Is Slain In Boston Stranglings

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—The ninth in the series of unsolved stranglings of women in Greater Boston in the last 15 months has revived the fear that had subsided since the last such slaying in December, 1962.

The latest victim was Mrs. Evelyn Corbin, a blonde divorcee who lived alone.

A year ago, women in Boston and surrounding communities lived in fear of the killer or killers responsible for the mysterious slayings. Doors and windows were kept securely bolted. Police warned women, especially those living alone, against letting strangers into their apartments.

Since last December there had been no slayings that appeared linked to the earlier series until Sunday when the body of Mrs. Corbin, who observed her 51st birthday Friday, was found sprawled across a bed in her apartment.

A medical examiner said she was strangled by two mismatched nylon stockings found wrapped around her neck. Another nylon stocking was wrapped around her ankle and two others were cut up on the bed.

Think Before You Swing

DEAR ABBY: What am I to do? I am a respectable woman in my fifties. While I was clerking in a department store a middle-aged man walked over to my counter, stood directly in front of me, didn't say a word, but he winked at me. I picked up a lady's corset I was in "woman's intimate apparel" and slapped him across the face with it. A metal garter cut his eyeball slightly, but he didn't go blind or anything like that. He is suing the store. I lost my job, and it turned out that he had a nervous tic and meant no harm. Should I be blamed?

DEAR LUCKLESS: Even if the man had had no nervous tic, and he actually WINKED at you, you were wrong to strike him. (You could have called the manager.) Perhaps he is lucky you weren't "in housewares." You might have parted his hair with a frying pan.

DEAR ABBY: Don't be so ready to encourage women to rid themselves of facial hair. Female facial hair is far from repugnant to all males. It is a sign of robust health, strength and character. Mediterranean, Greek and Spanish women for centuries have regarded their facial hair as a thing of beauty. The current rage for removing every spear of hair that cannot be worked into a coiffure is an abomination. Unless a woman has handle bars that might poke a man's eye out, she ought to leave her facial fuzz alone. Her man, when he comes along, will not regard her as a "lemon"—but as a real "peach."

DEAR LIKES: Where ARE you? Please come to my office.

THE GIRLS DON'T BELIEVE YOU ARE FOR REAL. (And don't forget the mustache wax!)

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been having a big argument about you. He says that you are not a woman, you are a man writing that Dear Abby column. I say you are definitely a woman. Please answer this in the paper because he says all the people at work think he's right. He wants to bet me.

RENE: DEAR RENE: Bet him! You'll win. And my husband will be glad to back you up.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PEARL: The world is your oyster. Why don't you start with Phoenix? What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

SCHOOL DANCES

"Statistics will bear out that most early teenage pregnancies are results of Jr. High school dances." Emotions are stirred up in these dances that the young people do not know how to deal with. These statements from preachers or church leaders. They were made by speakers at the assembly in Iowa, called to study the problem of premarital pregnancies among American high school students. These speakers were specialists in the field of mental health, family relations, etc.

Such testimonies as these (and they are plentiful) show that dancing is lasciviousness. Lasciviousness is defined as "that which tends to produce lewd emotions". Surely dancing does tend to say the least) to produce lewd emotions, and is there fore lasciviousness. Thus dancing is condemned, when Paul lists lasciviousness along with the other "works of the flesh", and adds, "They which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God." (Gal. 5:19-21).

By T. H. Tackett, preacher, Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80, where you are always welcome. —Adv.

Course Set For Scout Leaders

Two special training courses have been scheduled in September by the West Texas Girl Scout Council. These courses are to be held in Abilene and Big Spring, and they are to be taken only by experienced leaders of Girl Scout troops who were not present at Program Change training last March.

The regular fall training program for new leaders of Girl Scout troops will begin throughout the 16 counties of the West Texas Council during the first week in October. Adults who are new to Girl Scouting will not begin their training until the October instruction opens.

The September training for experienced leaders who need interpretation of the "new look" in Girl Scouting — Program Change — will follow these schedules:

ABILENE: Session I—Introduction—September 10; Session II—Brownie Age Level—September 17; and Session III—Junior Age Level—September 19.

Each of the 3 Abilene sessions will be from 7:10 p.m. at 304 Mulberry St.

BIG SPRING: Session I—Introduction—September 11, 9:30 a.m.-2:30 p.m.; Session II—Brownie Age Level—September 17, 9 a.m.-noon; and Session III—Junior Age Level—September 18, 9 a.m.-noon.

Each of the three Big Spring sessions will be held at the Girl Scout House, 1405 Lancaster Street. Experienced leaders who wish to enroll for one of these courses should register by telephone call (OR 3-7868) or postal card with the Girl Scout Council headquarters, 304 Mulberry Street in Abilene. Advance registration for each of these two courses is extremely important—otherwise the trainers will not know how many trainees to prepare for.

FOR GIRL SCOUTS

Long-Awaited Program Change Is Beginning

The week of September 9-14 is a red-letter one for the Girl Scouts in the U.S.A. Beginning today the new Handbooks and Leader Notebooks will go on sale in Official Girl Scout Equipment Agencies throughout the United States—marking the first day of Program Change in Girl Scouting.

One major aspect of the "new look" in Girl Scouting is in the organization of troops. No longer are there three age-levels (Brownie, Intermediate, Senior) of Girl Scouts—there are instead four.

Brownie Girl Scouts—Grades 2 and 3 in school; Junior Girl Scouts—Grades 4, 5 and 6; Cadette Girl Scouts—Grades 7, 8 and 9; and Senior Girl Scouts—Grades 10, 11, and 12.

Each Handbook for the four age-levels has been completely revised. There is now one Leader Notebook to be used by all leaders of Girl Scout troops from Brownies through Seniors rather than having separate guides to the various age-levels.

These new Handbooks and Leader Notebooks may be purchased at any of the four Official Equipment Agencies throughout the 16 counties of the West Texas Girl Scout Council. These are: Minter's in Abilene, Levy's in Sweetwater, Collins' in Lamesa, and Hemphill-Wells in Big Spring.

As an extra bonus all Girl Scouts who buy their Handbooks during the first week of sale (Sept. 9-14) will receive a special bookplate designating their Handbooks as First Editions. These bookplates will not be available after Sept. 14. All Girl Scouts, both girls and adults, should make a special effort during the week of Sept. 9-14 to purchase their Handbooks and Leader Notebooks at their nearest Equipment Agency.

Mrs. Apple was elected a director of the Collective Service Division and Barnes was named a director of the Consumer Credit Association, for which Miss Sullivan was re-elected secretary.

Miss Sullivan and Mrs. Apple also attended the Credit Women's Breakfast Club gathering Sunday at the Texas Hotel.

Approximately 25 cities were represented by the 154 attending the conference. Guest speaker was Mrs. Margaret Hoard, Houston, president of the Lone Star Council of Credit Women of Texas.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise: You have really taught me how to save and save. Now we don't waste anything in our family, not even that little dab of jelly or jam left in the jar. You know a knife or spoon never thoroughly cleans it out.

We pour any kind of syrup into the jam jar, add a little bit of lemon juice and shake well. The result is the best tasting stuff you have ever eaten. Just try it on waffles or hot cakes!

Now we add a tablespoon or two of jelly to all our syrups.

Dear Jake: Have you tried throwing a little crushed pineapple in your syrup? If you like the taste of pineapple it's really great.

Dear Heloise: When I cook hamburgers, I wrap the meat in a piece of aluminum foil and poke some holes in the top of it. This keeps those spatters of grease in the skillet while cooking and yet lets the steam out so the patty isn't "up-to-her" in water! Makes for a lovely hamburger.

Dear Heloise: Here's a helpful hint: When housecleaning, remove your light switch plates from the wall, put them in warm soapy water and let them soak a few minutes and then take that wonderful old vegetable brush and scrub them. Presto! In no time at all those little cracks and crevices are completely clean.

Dear Heloise: I have read your method of washing cars by filling a plastic bucket with about a gallon of warm water, pouring in a cup of kerosene, dipping in the sponge, squeezing it out and sponging the entire car . . . and taking a bath towel and wiping it . . .

Now I would like to give just a little different version of this car washing method. Instead of using this method for three years as you have, I have used the kerosene method for 30 years! I first used it when starting in my own gas station.

We use a cloth instead of a sponge and squeeze it as dry as possible. The application should be done in the shade on cool metal and glass.

Then take a clean, dry, soft cloth to polish it with. Perfectly done, it certainly can't be beat!

REPUBLICAN SECRETARY OF TREASURY

Dillon Says JFK Spending Less Than Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, a Republican, said today federal spending has grown at a slower rate during the Kennedy administration than during the last three years Dwight D. Eisenhower was in the White House.

DOUGLAS DILLON ... spending less

In an exclusive Associated Press interview, Dillon said "it is hard to put a spending tag on one administration as compared to a previous one with that sort of record unless you are ready to attack defense and space."

Dillon served under Eisenhower as undersecretary of state and was named to his present post by President Kennedy.

He said he still is optimistic about chances for passage of the tax cut bill, which he said will "do more for our economy and more for curing the balance of payments than any step I know."

MORE SUPPORT
Dillon said he is counting on increased public support in the next few weeks to speed congressional action on the tax bill, which would provide for a reduction of about $11 billion in individual and corporate income taxes.

Increased awareness of the problems of dollars and gold flowing abroad—the balance of payments deficit—also will help build sentiment for the tax legislation, Dillon said.

"It is not always understood that, by creating a better climate for investment, we will prevent a lot of funds from leaving this country," he said.

Dillon believes that a Brookings

ing to the United States." Asked about the possibility of repealing the requirement which ties down a large percentage of the U.S. gold stockpile to provide backing for domestic money, Dillon said: "We never put that forth as an administration proposal. There was a good deal of talk about it and we would have no objection to its repeal because this would put us in conformity with all the other countries of the world. We are the only one that has this requirement remaining on the books." "However, we have not pushed it because we have felt that highly emotional debate seemed to be shaping up over this subject. One of the reasons we haven't been too concerned is that the Federal Reserve has authority to suspend that requirement in time of need and keep it suspended." Regarding the tax bill, he predicted the most important support for it during the crucial Senate consideration "will come from organized groups—the business community, for instance, and labor."

He rejected suggestions that the administration might speed the tax cut by formally postponing some of its domestic programs.

Dillon denied that the official Kennedy family is divided into economy and pro-spending blocs. Most of the increased spending under the present administration, Dillon argued, has been for defense, space activities and interest on the public debt. The latter item, he said, "is uncontrollable."

"All the increases during the three years of this administration were less than they were during the last three years of the preceding administration," he said. As for demands that some domestic projects be formally shelved to make it easier for economy-minded legislators to vote tax cuts, Dillon said: "I think a request for a statement like this is political in nature and is not economic."

Invalid May End Sit-In
OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Peggie Goodman, 59-year-old Seattle grandmother who is conducting a wheelchair sit-in at the state Capitol to get more welfare money, says she will go home if doctors tell her to.

Sunday was the fifth day of her campaign, and she and a fellow wheelchair campaigner, Gary Douglas of Everett, 33, were visited by Dr. Bernard Bucove, director of the State Health Department.

Bucove expressed concern for their health and said he told both they might be in danger. Both have a history of heart trouble.

Mrs. Goodman said Sunday night she was very tired, and her companion became exhausted and was taken to a friend's home to rest.

Police were called early Sunday to turn away a crowd of youngsters heckling Mrs. Goodman.

Hot Weather Sears Texas

Hot weather burned on Monday in Central and South Texas with no letup in sight. It was a little cooler elsewhere but nobody was worried about chills.

Except for a few clouds in southern and western sections, skies were generally fair over the state. Forecasts held out a promise of lonely showers in scattered South Texas areas.

Fresh five-day forecasts, covering the rest of the week, called for temperatures up to about half a dozen degrees above normal and little or no moisture.

Thermometers hit Sunday highs ranging from 103 degrees at Laredo down to 90 at Dalhart and Galveston. Presidio registered 101 and Austin, San Angelo and Wink 100.

Mexico To Endorse Peaceful Mediation
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico will move before the United Nations General Assembly, scheduled to open Sept. 17, for adoption of measures to solve international conflicts through peaceful mediation, Ambassador Luis Padilla Nervo said Sunday.

Padilla Nervo, head of Mexico's U.N. delegation and a member of the Geneva Disarmament Commission, said he also will suggest a treaty banning nuclear weapons in space.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Partner opens with one spade and you hold:

♠ K J 7 ♣ A Q 8 5 ♠ 6 2 ♠ J 7 4

What is your response?

A.—A temporary bid of two hearts is in order. The hand is just an eyelash short of a three spade bid, so you must arrange to make two constructive bids without committing the hand to game if partner signs off.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠ A 3 ♠ A 10 7 ♣ J 4 ♠ Q J 9 7 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♣ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—When the promoted value of the diamond holding is taken into consideration, your hand is better than an opening bid. Partner has shown that he, too, has better than an opening bid so that slam possibilities may be visualized. The suggested call is three spades—an ace showing bid—with the intention of showing the ace of hearts on the next round. This should leave it up to partner to decide the fate of the hand.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ J 9 7 3 ♠ 8 4 ♠ A K 8 ♠ A 10 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Despite the fact that you have opened an absolute minimum, it is your duty to see that the hand is played in the contract best suited for your holding. A return to three spades is therefore in order for, with the worthless doubton and four trumps, there is little doubt that the hand should play at least one trick better at the suit.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ A 6 2 ♠ K Q 7 6 ♠ A K 10 5 ♠ 8 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—The hand is too good for a single raise to two spades, and a double raise is not recommended with only three trumps. The suggested call is two diamonds. True enough, this bid of a new suit by opener is not forcing, but there is a good chance that partner will bid again, in which case a delayed spade raise may be given.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠ A K J 10 ♣ Q 9 ♠ 8 6 3 ♠ K 10 9 3

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A.—One spade. This is one of those rare instances where we recommend an overcall on a four card suit. This hand has both offensive and defensive possibilities so that an immediate bid has the dual advantage of getting your side into the auction at a convenient level and of suggesting a good lead should you wind up as defender.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠ 8 2 ♣ 7 4 3 ♠ K J 9 5 ♠ K Q 10 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South
1 ♣ Double ?

What action do you take?

A.—Three diamonds. We would regard this hand as just a shade below the essentials for a redouble, and the jump bid might have the merit of interfering with the adversaries connecting on a favorable major suit contract.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠ 10 9 2 ♣ 9 6 3 ♠ A K ♠ K Q 9 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♣ 1 ♠ 2 ♠ Pass
1 ♠ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Inasmuch as you have the equivalent of an opening bid, you must make some effort to get to game. The recommended call is a raise to three diamonds, since partner has rebid the suit. If North has a spade stopper and a suitable hand, he should then try three no trump.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

[Both vulnerable. You have part score of 60.]

♠ 6 ♣ K Q 10 7 4 ♠ K 10 6 3 ♠ Q 7 6

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ 1 ♠
Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—While your partner's intention to penalize the opposition is very clear, nevertheless, it seems better business to reach for what appears to be a sure rubber. Your defensive values are not outstanding, and prospects for more than one or two trick set are not bright. The suggested bid is one no trump. By all means do not bid two hearts, a suit in which partner is very likely short.

Spahn A 20 Game Winner

Slipping Bums Lose To SF Giants, 5-4

There's no doubt we've been here before.

The Los Angeles Dodgers are struggling to hang on to a vanishing National League lead, and Warren Spahn has won his 20th game. The Dodgers' once-commanding lead was trimmed to 3 1/2 games Sunday as Orlando Cepeda belted a three-run seventh-inning homer that carried San Francisco to a 5-4 victory and sent sagging Los Angeles down to its third defeat in the last five games.

CEPEDA

The Dodgers scored two unearned runs in the first inning and built their lead to 3-0 against Jack Sanford before the Giants started to get to Bob Miller. Two runs in the fifth brought on ace reliever Ron Perranoski, who pitched out to that jam and another in the sixth before getting caught in the seventh.

Willie McCovey opened with a single to right and Willie Mays beat out a grounder to third base. Cepeda then hit his 28th homer, tagging Perranoski with only his third defeat against 14 victories. Don Larsen, touched by Wally Moon's eighth-inning homer, was the winner in relief for a 7-6 record.

Meanwhile, the second-place St. Louis Cardinals, who were seven games behind on Aug. 30, continued their amazing surge by edging Pittsburgh 3-2 for their 11th victory in 12 games. The Dodgers have 19 games remaining, the Cardinals 18—including a vital three-game series with Los Angeles at St. Louis starting next Monday. The remainder of the schedule seems to favor St. Louis, which has to play only four games on the road to the Dodgers' 10.

The Cardinals, who picked up two lengths on the Dodgers over the weekend, got the job done against the Pirates in the third inning. Dick Groat, got things started with a single and Julian Javier followed with a homer. A double by Curt Flood, a long fly and Ken Boyer's infield hit got the third run across against Bob Friend, 16-14.

BOROS SECOND

Nicklaus Outfires Pros For $50,000

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tired, weary and upset, Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA champion, still had enough steam left Sunday to turn back an Arnold Palmer challenge and repeat for the top prize of $50,000 in the $75,000 World Series of Golf.

The 23-year-old Buckeye better from Columbus, Ohio, several times blew sizeable leads in the two-day playoff but came up with the necessary shots on crucial holes.

Sands Standouts

Head coach Arlen White is in a rebuilding year with his Sands Mustangs but the two boys pictured above are still expected to be two of the top district performers this fall. Eddy Herm (left) is a 155-pound junior fullback while Gary Green is a 150-pound senior quarterback. Herm was an all-district right halfback in 1962. White is in the middle.

The 13th hole was the big difference," said Nicklaus after pocketing his second world series check along with a solid gold belt buckle. "I hadn't hit a fairway since the sixth hole and was starting to worry."

Palmer, who had been as much as five strokes behind, pulled even with Nicklaus after the 12th and then put his drive into the right rough, ran into tree trouble and took a double bogey six to fall three strokes behind Nicklaus who put his second shot on the green and then one-putted from 12 feet for his final birdie.

Jack settled down to par golf the rest of the way and kept ahead of U.S. Open champion Julius Boros who birdied four of the last six holes for a closing 69 and a 141 total to finish one stroke behind Nicklaus and pick up second-place money of $15,000.

Palmer was third with a 72 and 143 total and New Zealand left-hander Bob Charles, who went into the second round tied for first with Nicklaus, had a 77 for a 147. Palmer and Charles each picked up $5,000.

"I didn't get much sleep," said Nicklaus, "maybe three hours. I was still upset over what happened Saturday."

Nicklaus had a run in with two reporters who had taken certain remarks Nicklaus insists he made in jest and turned them into a serious story in which Nicklaus had said Palmer was an "also ran" and "didn't belong in the playoff of champions." Nicklaus made the remarks in Palmer's presence and both had laughed them off.

Green Bay Is Solid Choice In NFL Fight

By The Associated Press

The Farmers Almanac says that it's going to be cold with the possibility of snow in Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 29. The Las Vegas bookies say there's a probability that there'll be a National Football League playoff game there, too.

The mighty Packers open defense of their Western Division and league titles this weekend and there was nothing in the pre-season exhibitions that suggested the loss of Paul Hornung will prevent them from making it four division and three NFL crowns in a row.

The Packers polished off Washington 28-17 in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Saturday night for their fifth straight exhibition victory after an embarrassing 20-17 loss to the College All-Stars in Chicago.

Against strictly professional opposition, they have the best record, 5-0, and have allowed fewer points, 58, than any other team in the league and are second in team scoring, 136, over the exhibition season.

The exhibition season closed with Pittsburgh edging Cleveland in the Hall of Fame dedication game in Canton, Ohio, Sunday before a crowd of 18,462.

That boosted the league's season attendance to a record 1,106,636 for 33 dates, an average of 32,919.

Winters Flashes Past C-City, 22-8

By The Associated Press

WINTERS—The Winters Blizzards opened the 1963 football season on a convincing note Saturday night as they marched past Sam Christy's determined Colorado City Wolves, 22-8.

Denny Alridge was a man on the go for Winters as he hotted it over the goal line for the Blizzards first two touchdowns, and then pegged a 10 yard pass to halfback Larry Awa for the third TD.

The Wolves only scoring point came in the first quarter with six minutes of the game underway. The Wolves took a kickoff and marched 69 yards before halfback Roger Proctor slammed over right guard for the TD. Fullback Dale Walker slammed in the extra two points.

Downing, who flirts with a no-hitter almost every time out, gave up his first hit in the fifth against the Tigers. The Yankees quickly jumped off to a 5-0 lead and held on. Joe Peppone hit his 23rd home run and Roger Maris hit 22nd to back up the young left-hander.

The White Sox overcame a 0-4 deficit in the second game with four runs in the eighth inning and one in the ninth. The last two were the result of Minnesota errors. Sunday hitter Charley Maxwell hit a double and single and killed a Minnesota rally with a great throw to the plate in the first game.

Five straight Boston hits chased Barber in the sixth. Felix Mantilla added a two-run homer for the Sox in the eighth. John Orsino bled for the Orioles.

Jack Kralick beat Washington for the fifth time this season, once for Minnesota and four times for Cleveland, and also had three of Cleveland's 15 hits. Minnie Minoos ruined the shutout with a two-run homer in the eighth.

Bobby Del Greco made a game-saving catch for the Athletics, as Orlando Pena again staved off his 20th loss. Pena got his 11th victory instead, with relief help from John Wyatt.

Yankees In AL Rout

By The Associated Press

In 1920, the New York Yankees bought a left-handed pitcher from the Boston Red Sox. It changed baseball and ruined the American League.

These days the Yankees—who had never seen a pennant until the purchase of Babe Ruth—grow their own left-handers, and win the pennant every year.

This year's pennant clinching—the fourth straight, 13th of 15, 28th since 1921—should come along before another weekend rolls around. In case the suspense is killing you, the magic number is now four.

The Yankees' newest left-handed pitching star, Al Downing, moved them a game closer to the World Series Sunday with a 5-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers, his 12th of the year and fourth in a row.

That gave the Yanks a clean sweep of the three-game set with the Tigers.

The Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from Minnesota, and moved into second place ahead of the Twins, 14 1/2 games behind the Yankees. The White Sox won 5-2 and 5-6.

In other American League games, Steve Barber failed in a bid for No. 20 as the Boston Red Sox whipped the Baltimore Orioles 6-3. Cleveland topped Washington 5-2 and the Kansas City Athletics edged the Los Angeles Angels 2-1.

Downing is a 22-year-old who is not legally a rookie, although he pitched his first game this season on June 7, after he was called up from Richmond in the International League.

He pitched only 10 big league innings in 1961 and 1962, for an 0-1 record, but spent enough time on the Yankee bench to lose his rookie standing.

His World Series check won't bounce, however.

Bobby Del Greco made a game-saving catch for the Athletics, as Orlando Pena again staved off his 20th loss. Pena got his 11th victory instead, with relief help from John Wyatt.

Downing is a 22-year-old who is not legally a rookie, although he pitched his first game this season on June 7, after he was called up from Richmond in the International League.

He pitched only 10 big league innings in 1961 and 1962, for an 0-1 record, but spent enough time on the Yankee bench to lose his rookie standing.

His World Series check won't bounce, however.

Downing, who flirts with a no-hitter almost every time out, gave up his first hit in the fifth against the Tigers. The Yankees quickly jumped off to a 5-0 lead and held on. Joe Peppone hit his 23rd home run and Roger Maris hit 22nd to back up the young left-hander.

The White Sox overcame a 0-4 deficit in the second game with four runs in the eighth inning and one in the ninth. The last two were the result of Minnesota errors. Sunday hitter Charley Maxwell hit a double and single and killed a Minnesota rally with a great throw to the plate in the first game.

Five straight Boston hits chased Barber in the sixth. Felix Mantilla added a two-run homer for the Sox in the eighth. John Orsino bled for the Orioles.

Jack Kralick beat Washington for the fifth time this season, once for Minnesota and four times for Cleveland, and also had three of Cleveland's 15 hits. Minnie Minoos ruined the shutout with a two-run homer in the eighth.

Driver On Wrong Side

This old 1925 model Seagraves pumper, used for 38 years by the Big Spring Fire Department, is about to find a new owner. It, along with a 1930 model, was offered as a trade-in on two new pumper trucks, and bids will be considered Tuesday night. The truck, wearing four 900x24 tires, has Lt. H. H. Morris, right, as bell ringer, and driver B. F. Lopez at Eighteenth and Main fire station.

Old Fire Truck May Be Kept As A Memento

An effort is being made by individuals and one or two organizations in Big Spring to purchase, paint up, and keep one of the two old Seagraves fire trucks owned by the city. One 1925 model still has the old bell used instead of a siren years ago. And the driver sits English style—on the right side. The six-cylinder engine, with big bore cylinders, is still in good running condition, and the truck is housed at the Eighteenth and Main station.

"The truck is still usable," Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said last week. "The last time it was really put to hard pumping use was Nov. 8, 1951, when the Wacker Store burned. We have used it some since that time, but two new pumpers came in shortly after the fire and the old Seagraves was not needed. It can't be run much off the pavement because it is single-wheeled in the rear. That truck has been a good one though."

The city also has a 1930 model Seagraves, stationed at the North-side fire station. It also has been retired and was included as a trade-in on two new pumpers, for which bids will be considered Tuesday night by the city commission.

The apparent low bidder on the new trucks, Mack Company, allowed $500 for the two on the new trucks.

Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said the interest generated for at least one of the old trucks was because of its usefulness in parades, special functions, and for just plain "old times" sakes.

The 1925 model has been spoken for by the sales representative of the American LaFrance Co. fire truck builders, who bid on the new trucks. He is a former fire chief at Odessa. Anderson indicated that the city may accept or reject portions of the bid provisions, and that since interest in one or both of the old fire pumpers could possibly lead to negotiations locally, with adjustments made for payments on new trucks.

Two Men Held In Haskell For Burglaries Here

Warrants charging burglary have been issued for two men, Raymond H. Davis and William Lee Trussel, in connection with burglaries in Big Spring, at Hamby's Used Car Lot, a garage, Paula's Lounge, Tommie's Cafe, and Elmo's. The men are in jail at Haskell on a charge of robbery by assault on a dentist.

Assistant Chief of Police Leo Hill and Detective Aubrey Hurley left early this morning for Haskell to talk with the men. They hoped to clear up at least two more burglaries in Big Spring.

Both men had confessed to authorities in Dallas and Fort Worth that they had burglarized several places last August in Big Spring, after they were caught in a Dallas store.

A pistol, found at the rear of Elmo's on West Third, was identified as the one used in the Haskell robbery. The men told officers they threw the gun away when they found another in the Big Spring tavern.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

10th Near For Kennedys

EDITOR'S NOTE: On Thursday President and Mrs. Kennedy will celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. The wedding 10 years ago of one of Washington's most eligible bachelors and a young socialite is recalled in the following article.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten years ago, a crowd of some 3,000 broke through police lines in Newport, R.I., to catch a glimpse of a famous bridal couple.

Sightseers had come in busloads for what society writers declared was Newport's most lavish wedding since its heyday.

Kneeling on a satin cushion at the altar of St. Mary's Church, John Fitzgerald Kennedy and Jacqueline Lee Bouvier exchanged marriage vows of the Roman Catholic church. A simple wedding band, slipped on the bride's finger, sealed the marriage on Sept. 12, 1953.

Kennedy, 36, was then a freshman senator. His bride was a 24-year-old post-debutante socialite of Newport and McLean, Va., who most recently had been the inquiring camera girl for the Washington Times-Herald.

This week, as President of the United States and First Lady, the Kennedys will observe the anniversary of their marriage which caused such a stir at Newport a decade ago.

ELABORATE

The wedding was an elaborate event from the start, with a blending of social, political and diplomatic worlds.

The Kennedys and Fitzgeralds had been in Boston politics for years, wintered at fashionable Palm Beach, Fla., and summered at Hyannis Port, Mass. The Bouviers and the Lees were well known in banking and stock exchange circles. They spent their leisure moments at Southampton, N.Y., and at Newport.

The merging of these families drew page one attention.

"The marriage of the two principals, personifying youth, wealth and position was a thrill not experienced in many a dull year at Newport," said the Providence, R.I., Sunday Journal.

The crowd that had slowed traffic and clustered on the lawn of the church, pressed forward and cheered the bridal couple as they emerged, Kennedy grinning, according to the accounts, "and struggling to push down the unruly shock of hair which did nothing to impede his election last fall." The bride looked "radiant, but nervous," one writer said. "Startled" was the way another observer put it.

THREE HOURS

At the reception, the newlywed Kennedys stood for three hours greeting their 1,400 guests.

The Kennedys' wedding ceremony was set for 11 a.m., but the crowds were out early, milling about for more than an hour beforehand to catch a glimpse of arriving notables.

A motorcycle escort brought the bridal couple to the church separately and they entered by a back door.

Jacqueline, whose father, John Vernou Bouvier III, was ill, came escorted by her stepfather, wealthy Washington stockbroker Hugh D. Auchincloss. She was loudly applauded and police had to call for more men and ropes to keep back the crowd. She wore a gown of ivory silk taffeta with fitted bodice, portrait neckline and bouffant skirt and an heirloom veil of rosepoint that had been worn by her grandmother. The veil was draped from a tiara of lace and orange blossoms and extended in a long train. Her only jewelry was a single strand of family pearls and a diamond leaf pin, which was Kennedy's wedding present.

FLORAL DISPLAY

For 45 minutes before the ceremony, Mrs. Charles Maloney of Newport, the organist, had played in the church, where the floral decor of white pompon chrysanthemums, pale pink gladioli and southern smilax reached even into her choir loft.

When she finally started the wedding music, 14 ushers walked down the aisle, followed by a flower girl, a page and eight bridesmaids, whose pale pink taffeta gowns matched the gladioli.

The bride was preceded by her matron of honor, her younger sis-

HCJC Expects Banner Year

With two days remaining before registration begins, all indications are that the 1963-64 school year will be one of banner enrollment at Howard County Junior College.

Reservations for dormitory space are running far ahead of last year, indicating an increase in full-time students. There are currently 50 more students in dormitories than there were after school started last year, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of HCJC, said.

"We are short only five boys and nine girls of being filled," he said. This could be the first time in history that the dormitories are filled and Dr. Hunt said he is sure that they will be full before school is under way.

At least 800 students are expected to register Wednesday and Thursday, B. M. Keese, registrar, said earlier. Last year's high was 784 pupils.

The student schedule gets started Tuesday at 9 a.m. with freshman convocation and assembly in the HCJC auditorium. Registration begins the next day. General registration will be from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday. Classes begin Friday.

The dormitories opened at 2 p.m. today.

ter, Caroline Lee Bouvier, 20, now the wife of Polish Prince Stanislas Radziwill but then only recently married to Michael T. Canfield of New York, secretary to U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich. Maid of honor was stepsister Nina G. Auchincloss, now married to political hopeful Newton Steers of Bethesda, Md., an investment broker and a Republican.

Kennedy's best man was his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, now attorney general.

In the bridal party of 27 were Charles and Martha Bartlett, whose Washington dinner party brought the bride and groom together. Kennedy's sister, Jean, and sister-in-law, Ethel, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, were among the bridesmaids, along with Miss Nancy Tuckerman, who was Jacqueline's roommate at fashionable Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Conn., and is now her White House social secretary.

CLOSE FRIENDS

The ushers included close friends of Kennedy's who still remain among his White House inner circle—Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla.; Harvard roommate Torbert MacDonald, now a Democratic congressman from Massachusetts; Paul B. Fay Jr. of San Francisco, whom Kennedy named undersecretary of the Navy; his new brother-in-law and later his Peace Corps director, Sargent Shriver, who had married Eunice Kennedy only three months before.

Also, K. Lemoyne Billings, a New York advertising executive, and Charles Spalding, New York investment broker, who frequently visits the Kennedys, and Benjamin Smith II of Gloucester, Mass., one-time Harvard fullback who succeeded Kennedy in the Senate and later was given the personal rank of ambassador by Kennedy to negotiate international fishing agreements.

The pretty 8-year-old flower girl was Jacqueline's half-sister, Janet Jennings Auchincloss, whose debutante ball last month was an elaborate and glamorous Newport society event. Her halfbrother, young James Lee Auchincloss, attired in short black velvet trousers and silk shirt with lace jabot and cuffs, was page boy.

A longtime Kennedy family friend, Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, pronounced the Kennedys' man and wife and was celebrant of the nuptial Mass, which included a special blessing from Pope Pius XII.

After the wedding, a gay reception started at the huge, rambling gray-shingled Hammersmith Farm home overlooking Narragansett Bay that had been in the Auchincloss family for more than 70 years and is often used now as a presidential vacation spot.

The traffic jam was so great getting to the reception that cars were backed up nearly half a mile.

5 Brothers With Navy

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The Navy announced Sunday that for the first time since the fighting Sullivan brothers died in action in 1942, five brothers are serving together in the U.S. Navy.

Officers said this was brought to the Navy's attention by Chief Radioman Richard L. DeYoung, 27, Pearl Harbor.

The other four DeYoungs are Radarman Frederick, 29, serving at Brunswick, Ga.; Seaman Lawrence, 22, and Johann, 17, both aboard the submarine tender Klondike, now in the western Pacific; and the youngest brother, James, who recently enlisted and is at Great Lakes Naval Training Center near Chicago.

DAILY GUIDE—If you are fortunate to have some free time on your hands, or have planned your vacation for the next two weeks, you ought to have a fine holiday. There are no major pressures from the planets, and the little planets, Venus and Mercury, are in favorable positions, with Mars in a mid sign.

Try to arrange your days so that you have more than the usual leisure time to just relax and enjoy some simple pleasures. There are so few times when the stresses and strains of this modern world lift so that we can take a breather.

The moon in Gemini today, and tomorrow suggests pleasant little trips, getting around shopping and seeing people. Social affairs should go well. Call or see friends. Get together for lunch.

Librarians should take advantage of the accent in their sign to enjoy a little extra spurt of activity. Being the week before a New Moon, new projects are not encouraged, so just carry on, being extra careful to check details.

Another lively day coming up, constructive, enjoyable.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, VIRGO!
The strong accent on your personal outlook and affairs continues through the year, with now and then excitement reaching a peak.

By this time you know that you have to keep on making changes, to adjust to new circumstances that seem to be in a state of flux. Neighborhood conditions will be stirred up next month.

You may still have to work hard, and will need to take care of your health through into next year. After March things can move along a little smoother, but you will find that some partnership or alliance begins to restrict your personal freedom.

Keep progressing and adjusting to constant change.

Graham Implores Return To Faith

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, ending his most successful U.S. crusade, told what was perhaps the largest U.S. religious gathering in his-story: "If we are to survive as a nation, we must go back to the faith of our fathers."

Around him in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Sunday night—filling every seat and spreading a carpet of humanity across the football field—was a throng counted by the Graham group at 134,254.

Outside the gates, police were turning away another 20,000 persons.

It was the largest crowd ever to attend a Graham meeting in this country, and eclipsed the figure previously claimed as the greatest single U.S. religious meeting—the 122,814 who attended a Jehovah's Witnesses convention Aug. 2, 1958, in New York's Yankee Stadium.

While Graham was attracting a great throng to the Coliseum, in nearby Pasadena the Jehovah's Witnesses everlasting good news assembly gathered a crowd of 118,447—an all-time record there—into the Rose Bowl for their afternoon meeting, and another 85,024 Sunday night.

Terrified Girl Dies In Bonfire

BRADFORD, England (AP)—Janet Blair, 14, crouched too terrified to move inside a blazing bonfire Sunday and died.

She and three other children had made themselves a den underneath a 15-foot pile of wood. When it caught fire, three children got out unhurt. Janet, frightened by the flames, stayed behind calling, "I can't, I can't."

Sharp Fighting Breaks Out In Downtown Laos Capital

VIENTIANE (AP)—Sharp fighting broke out early today in downtown Vientiane between right-wing and pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces, plunging Laos into a new crisis.

A right-wing spokesman said one Pathet Lao soldier was killed and another wounded in the two-hour clash, during which grenades and gunfire were exchanged.

A reliable source reported two civilians, a Filipino attached to a hospital and a Laotian, were killed.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma immediately postponed for at least 24 hours his scheduled departure for New York to attend the opening session of the United Nations Sept. 17. He had planned to leave today as head of a government delegation.

There was no immediate explanation as to the reason for the shooting, which shattered a calm of several months.

Right-wing troops were deployed throughout the city and armed guards were posted at cable offices and radio stations.

Associated Press correspondent Antoine Vared was arrested while reporting the battle and was detained for six hours by right-wing army and security forces. He was taken to a police station.

No charges were filed. A police officer struck him with his fist when he asked why he was being held.

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, leader of the right-wing forces and deputy premier in the coalition, personally sent his aide with orders to release Vared immediately.

A Devotional For The Day

He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. (Psalms 91:1)

PRAYER: O Lord our God, lead us, we pray, from our feverish ways that we may drink of cooling streams of grace and rest beside the still waters of Thy peace. So may we recover from life's ills and, restored to wholeness, pursue with courage the path of service. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Chance To Make Friends

Saturday Big Spring will be privileged to host to a number of Mexican citizens starting on an extensive tour of West Texas.

These visitors will be the ordinary individuals of Mexico, most of them from humble surroundings in the northern part of that nation.

The purpose of the tour is two fold. We will be seeking to afford them a first hand glimpse of how our country, particularly our agriculture, functions under democratic processes which encourage individual initiative. We also will be seeking to show them how agriculture and industry can flourish in an area in many respects similar to their own.

This Good Neighbor program, which is being headed by Dr. Walter O. Parr, Lubbock, has exciting possibilities. It deserves our wholehearted support, and that support involves personal participation.

There is one word of caution which should be uttered, however, and that is to meet our visiting friends with a genuine interest in them and their problems. Being fulsome or condescending toward our guests would be a sad mistake, and we ought to avoid the temptation to boast and make a show of our wealth. This is a chance to make real friends and admirers of these humble men, and we need to meet them in the spirit of sincere friendship and interest.

Singular Honor

The American Political Science Association in its 50th annual meeting, accorded a higher honor to Rep. George Mahon who has represented this district for 28 years.

It was one of four members of Congress given the Distinguished Service Award. Purpose of the citation is "to call attention to effective legislative service which might otherwise go unnoticed."

Mr. Mahon was lauded in the citation for his deep concern for the nation's defense and his zealous regard for the welfare of the nation's economy, for his respect toward the military chiefs but with a demand that requests be backed by real proof of need, and a conviction of commitment to civilian control. The congressman has never been one to grab the headlines, for he is not so constituted. The association's presentation described him as "soft-spoken, hard-working, with a soundness of judgment and steadiness of purpose that have made his legislative career an outstanding example of dedicated public service."

Breast-beating and frequent soundings-off are not a criterion for effectiveness. It is the men who more quietly behind the scenes who carry the real influence and have a humble attitude toward the great power with which they have been entrusted.

Policy Needed On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON—There's nothing wrong with the principle of foreign aid, but there's much that is wrong with the method of applying it.

This is the real basis for the difference in Congress over the size of the appropriations to be made for economic aid to other countries. Everybody in the Free World presumably wants to see Communist imperialism thwarted. The granting of gifts or loans of American billions is supposed to be the way to win, if not "buy" allies. Maybe it is, but unfortunately some of the governments benefited don't stay "bought," as they begin to flirt with the Communist side, and a form of blackmail emerges.

THIS NEED NOT be regarded as a particular question inside the United States. The same difficulties have confronted the administration in power here under Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. That's why a comprehensive review and revision of American policy is in order. For certainly if the right policy were developed, a majority in Congress would quickly reflect the wishes of the American people and authorize a "go-ahead" at whatever cost seemed to be necessary to achieve the agreed-upon objectives.

THERE HAS to be, first of all, a frank appraisal of what's been going on. What good, for instance, is it to give hundreds of millions of dollars to the "Alliance for Progress" when so many of the countries in Latin America insist on doing business with Castro? Why do some countries—like Mexico, for example—refuse to ban travel to and from Cuba as the United States does? How can the Washington government justify giving money to governments that still recognize the Castro regime and even mistakenly allow it to send in agents who carry on subversive activities?

THE SAME criticism can be made of the American foreign aid program with respect to countries like Yugoslavia, where Premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union has lately been pictured in the press as hugging Marshal Tito, or take a case like Vietnam, where American aid, military and economic, costs about a million dollars a day, but the ruling regime in that country is recalcitrant and uncooperative and openly assaults American policies.

The real weakness is the lack of a standard policy, a firm and positive position by the United States that is clearly set forth to the world. What should such a policy include?

FIRST, THERE is need to return to fundamental principles in international intercourse. Hit-or-miss policies get nowhere and tend to confuse public opinion.

Second, the existence of a "cold war" must be recognized as a fact. A government which seeks any form of aid from the United States must make up its mind which side it wants to be on. The foreign-aid program should be limited to allies or to those who wish to become associates or partners of the United States. There is no place for "neutrality" or "neutrals" in a "cold war" that has been started and carried on persistently by international communism. No better example of what happens has been afforded than the buildup of missile bases and weapons in Cuba by the Soviet government within the last two years.

THIRD, the American people are willing to help allies and partners, but not those who play both sides against each other in a game of blackmail. How can any country accept aid from the Soviet Union without becoming a potential enemy of the United States? This is really one of the deeply rooted reasons for the growing resentment inside this country against the present foreign aid program.

Fourth, the policies of the United States must be aimed at winning alliances with peoples. If any people is successful for the time being in getting rid of governments that lean toward the Soviet Union, the natural course is for America to refrain from giving aid to that regime and to let the people know about it publicly through the "Voice of America" and otherwise by stating and restating the principle of the whole foreign aid program.

NATURALLY, a good deal of discretion has to be vested in the executive branch of the government but only within the limits of the principles set forth by Congress.

Government officials in the special agencies do try to administer the program conscientiously, but they are sometimes influenced by lack of correct information or by bad advice. Also, the decisions are not based on well-defined principles, but vary from day to day as expediency indicates. There does not seem to be a chart or compass to steer by. It's largely an invisible operation. It has been the same under preceding administrations.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY today deserves the support of Congress on a foreign aid program, but the nature and extent of it and the places and conditions under which it should be operated should not be left to day-by-day reactions to events in the "cold war" nor to the whims of diplomats abroad who do not always see the forest for the trees. The policies should be proclaimed unequivocally and comprehensively once and for all by Congress with specific guidelines to the executive that should not be violated.

Billy Graham

I am a high school student and am exposed to many temptations. As a Christian I am trying to please God, but have no way to judge my conduct and my decisions. Can you please tell me how to do so? P.D.

You must judge your acts by what God has spoken, and not by current opinion or tradition. We all are in danger of making erroneous decisions. Your problem is probably not with the grosser acts of immorality, but with questionable practices. The Bible says, "The Christian position is this: I may do anything, but everything is not useful to me. I may do anything, but everything is not constructive. Let no man, then, set his own advantage as his objective, but rather the good of his neighbor." (Romans 10:23, Phillips Translation)

I am sure you understand how difficult it is to answer such a complex question in so short a space. But if you devote yourself to the service of God, and if you judge your decisions in the light of the Bible, you will then have God's direction in the details. Ask these questions about each decision: Is it useful? Is it constructive? Is it consistent with my faith? Is it selfish? Will it help or hinder someone else? Am I convinced that God will be pleased?

Longer Viet Nam War Being Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political and religious turbulence rocking South Viet Nam has caused some key U.S. military men to revise their estimates and predict a longer anti-Communist war—and probably a longer American involvement.

Past predictions that victory over Red guerrillas might be achieved in three years or so were based largely on an assumption of political stability in South Viet Nam.

Some knowledgeable officers considered that time estimate optimistic, even before the Saigon government began repressing Buddhists last May.

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Army Cyrus Vance is about to leave on a two-week Pacific area tour which will take him to South Viet Nam about the middle of the month.

He will be the first top civilian official from the Pentagon to visit South Viet Nam since the Buddhist troubles broke out.

Some consideration was given to striking South Viet Nam from Vance's itinerary because of the delicate situation which finds the government of President Nguyen Dinh Diem in conflict with U.S. policy.

Apparently the matter has been resolved in favor of Vance's going to Saigon—but informed authorities indicated he will confine himself to a military inspection and avoid any public comments on the Vietnamese political-religious crisis.

Although Vance ostensibly will pay attention chiefly to the U.S. Army and its activities in Viet Nam, he is expected to give Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara a report on his impressions of the difficult situation there.

While outwardly optimistic about the course of the war to suppress the Communists, McNamara has stressed it will be a long, hard struggle.

ADM. HARRY D. Felt, the U.S. commander in the Pacific, told a news conference last January that he was willing to stand on a prediction of victory in South Viet Nam in three years.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff, said in February he was reluctant to fix a time for success. But he said it was possible anti-Communist forces could win control of the major part of the more usable part of the country within three or four years.

The factors usually cited as hopeful included an increasing rate of defections from the Communist guerrillas, capture of more Red weapons, higher casualties among the Communists and the building of thousands of new fortified hamlets to protect the peasants.

BUT SOME authorities said that while intelligence has improved there is no reliable way of knowing how many new men the Communists have sent into South Viet Nam or to what extent the Reds have been able to replace lost weapons.

Tran Van Chung, South Viet Nam's former ambassador to the United States, told The Associated Press Wednesday in an interview that the Diem government has irreparably lost the support of its people.

NO AMOUNT of foreign aid can carry Diem's regime to victory, Chung said. Still, he added, aid to Viet Nam cannot be abruptly stopped without losing it to the Communists.

It Had To Be Parallel

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mind to a bed facing either east or west and spent a miserable night. He shared a delusion held by many people over the centuries that good sleep is possible only in a bed parallel to the earth's north-south axis.

Deluded plans to raise its minimum age for marriage—now 12 for girls, 14 for boys—to 16 for both sexes. Actually, however, the Irish have one of the world's highest average marriage ages: 31 for men, 26 for women.

IN AMERICA it is 20 for girls, 22 for boys.

Big news: The elephant is reported to be the only quadruped that is unable to take all four feet off the ground at the same time—except when lying down, of course.

Did you know that Raymond Burr's real name is not Perry Mason but Raymond William Stacy?

Our quaint notables: "Woman is a tyrant until she's reduced to bondage, and a rebel till she's well beaten"—George Meredith.

Americans now eat 1.3 billion meals a year outdoors and spend $100 million on backyard cooking equipment. The kitchen is losing caste.

Old story revised: Returning from a trip abroad, Mark Twain told a customs agent his luggage contained nothing but clothing. The suspicious official rummaged through one bag, pulled out a bottle of bourbon, and demanded, "YOU CALL this clothing?"

"Yes," replied Twain calmly. "That's my nightgown."

Geographical quiz: Can you quickly name eight countries that begin with the letter "I"? Well, how about: Ireland, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Iceland, Israel, Italy and India?

Big-hearted: We are regarded as "sholar mad" by Europeans, but American individuals and corporations gave a record $9.3 billion to public philanthropic causes last year, up $600 million from 1961.

Here's a statistical reason why insurance is so high for young motorists: In 1962, teenagers held only 7.1 per cent of the nation's driving licenses—but they were involved in 14.7 per cent of all traffic accidents.

Balanced Diet Helps Cirrhosis Of The Liver

By JOSEPH G. MOINER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Moiner: Is there anything I can eat or do to help my liver, which has been damaged by alcohol? Some people (not doctors) advise eating lots of liver.—M. F.

Well, let's face it: If the liver has been damaged by alcohol, there isn't much that can be done. However, you are still alive and kicking—or might I better say you are still alive and thinking. Which is the important thing.

You drank too much and probably didn't eat properly. It's a moot question as to how much damage alcohol does, and how much damage results from improper eating habits when drinking too much. Some people, you know, have cirrhosis of the liver even if they have never consumed any alcohol at all.

Eating lots of liver is too simple an answer. If you have lost a hand or a foot, you can't grow a new one by eating pig's knuckles, for example, nor grow a new stomach, if an ulcerated stomach has been removed surgically, by eating tripe. That just isn't the way things work.

Nevertheless, there is a proper diet. Many a cirrhotic patient, for example, has refused to follow low simple medical instructions on diet, and has suffered in consequence. Some, indeed, have just gone on drinking and eating irregularly, and the result was that they shortened their lives by many years.

A balanced diet of protein, carbohydrate and fat, plus, of course, vegetables, fruits, milk, and sometimes a vitamin supplement, is correct, and it is very helpful. Liver is a good food, and you may very well include it if you like it, but there isn't any special value in it for cirrhosis.

In advanced cases, with swelling of the body and tissues, salt may have to be restricted.

If nitrogen wastes increase in the blood stream, meaning that they are not being discharged at a suitable rate, a decrease in the amount of protein may be necessary. (Your doctor will tell you about this—for most of us, the risk is usually too little rather than too much protein.)

But unless these complications (swelling, or nitrogen wastes in the blood) are present, the right diet is a balanced one. Meals need not be large, but they should be regular. That's important, too.

Dear Dr. Moiner: What about eye transplants? I am slowly going blind. My eye specialist says nothing can be done, and that the trouble is from hardening of the arteries.—MRS. B. W.

Your specialist is correct. It is not possible to "transplant an eye." The transplants which you have heard about involve only a very small part of the eye, a portion of the cornea, or outer covering.

The cornea sometimes becomes clouded or scarred from disease or injury, and a new one can restore sight, just as replacing a ground glass window with clear glass lets you see through it. For the cornea transplant to be effective, the rest of the eye must be in good condition.

Dear Dr. Moiner: I have uremia. What is it?—B. A.

It means that urea and other nitrogen waste products are not being adequately filtered out by the kidneys. In other words, kidney trouble.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Moiner in care of The Herald for a copy of the leaflet, "How To Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Moiner welcomes all mail from readers, but because of the great volume received daily he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Moiner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

The Great Sandow

There are, no doubt, men around to city who could excel in feats of strength just as there probably are tennis who could make Bill Tilden knuckle under. But, in the world of muscle, there was only one Sandow.

Eugene Sandow was his full handle and he made the most of his sinew. Born in 1867 in Koenigsberg, Germany, Sandow forged himself a reputation as a man of steel in Europe before he was brought to this country.

HE HOOKED UP with an enterprising young showman named Flo Ziegfeld upon his arrival here and his name shortly became a household word.

As a youth, Eugene was supposed to prepare for the priesthood but the idea of studying anatomy and developing his muscles appealed to him more. His press clippings, which might have been colored somewhat, insisted he was sickly as a child but he became inspired to make like Sampson by seeing statues of perfect men on a visit to Rome. He was then only ten.

WHATEVER caused him to turn to the gym, he ran away to join a circus and subsequently became a model and strongman.

The yeomanry began to take notice of Sandow in Amsterdam where, to advertise his sideshow performances, he developed the habit of dropping pennies in slot machines. The one-armed bandits paid off for him because he would then break them open with his bare hands.

POLICE TOOK a dim view of the matter but he got his name into the papers and his fame began to spread. The city took him to his heart.

He always seemed to have a genius for the spectacular. He went to London where another strongman, unimaginatively called Sampson, was offering $500 to anyone who could duplicate his feats.

Sampson had cause to wish Sandow had stayed on the continent. Eugene jumped on the platform and promptly outdid Sampson at everything he tried.

SANDOW AGREED to fight a lion once in San Francisco. In transferring the jungle king to the show site, the box fell and broke, allowing the lion to escape. Attendees headed for remote places but Sandow happened upon the scene, walked up to the animal, grabbed him by the throat and tail and carried him back to his box.

Sandow stood only 5-feet-8 and weighed 186 but he was put together superbly and developed a grace that made him appear stronger than he actually was.

ONE OF HIS MOST noteworthy feats was in asking a man to stand on the palm of his hand. Sandow would then lift him to a table. Eugene could tear decks of cards in two—three decks at a time. He could also stand atop a Roman column, place his feet into two clips, bend backward and lift a horse over his head. He died almost as spectacularly as he had lived. In 1925, he came across two men vainly trying to hoist a ditched automobile. Sandow freed it single-handedly but the strain on his body was too great. He went into a decline and departed this mortal coil a few months later, at the age of 58.

Are There Two Kinds Of Justice?

When is a delinquent not a delinquent? When is the wanton destruction of property by a gang of young men not a crime?

These are questions a great many persons in New York are pondering today and, sadly enough, the only answer they can get is that it pays to be rich and privileged.

The 125 rich and privileged young men—they were not juveniles—who did their best to destroy a private home in Southampton, L.I., following a debauchante ball there last week are to go scot-free. That includes the 30 ringleaders who were hauled off to the police station.

ALTHOUGH ALL the offenders are over 18 years of age and although they inflicted from $3,000 to $10,000 worth of damage on the house, they will not even suffer the indignity of seeing their names in print.

Both Robert Mallory Harris, who owns the house, and Donald S. Leas, who leased it as a dormitory for overnight guests at the debauchante party for his stepdaughter, Fernanda Wanamaker, Wetherill, have refused to prosecute the gifted youths. So the two have balked the law in any effort to hold the young men responsible for a systematic attempt to destroy a house and its furnishings.

THE NEXT TIME a magistrate in any part of this nation sits in judgment on an underprivileged youth who has hurled a rock through a window or scrawled on the walk of an apartment, it is to be hoped he will remember the precedent set by the Southampton case. There 125 pampered young men, from the best homes and the finest schools, broke 1,434 window panes.

In addition, they destroyed a chandelier and threw furnishings of the house, including mattresses, onto the beach. And they ruined tables by dancing on their tops and tore up rugs.

HARRIS, whose property was destroyed, has issued a statement bemoaning the fact that "the privileged youth of our country should set such a horrible example." Yet it is one woman's opinion that both Harris and Leas are themselves delinquent and committed the crime when they close protectively around the culprits and refuse to prosecute.

BOTH OF THESE responsible adults are not only aiding and abetting lawlessness, they are combining to do something far more damaging to the image of justice in this nation. By their action and that of Southampton, long an enclave of the rich and privileged in closing in to protect their own, they are giving substance to the widespread suspicion that there is in the United States two kinds of justice: one for the rich and one for the rest of its citizens.

How can a judge, in good conscience, sentence to jail or a correctional institution, an undereducated slum youth who has done $25 worth of damage to a house when he has the Southampton precedent before him?

IF I WERE a judge or a lawyer, I would paste this Southampton non-case in my hat and remember it when a delinquent kid from the wrong side of the tracks stands in court.

One of the most interesting aspects of the case, uncovered by Robb's Galloping Poll in two hours of inquiry, is Society's rage over the Southampton episode.

THE 400 IS furious that the post had the affrontery to summon the police to quell the riot, thereby making it public and 2 that New York newspapers dared to print a factual account of the work of the affluent demolition squad.

"What do you want to do, make a federal case of it?" snapped one Society adult male. "If Leas hadn't lost his head and called the police, nothing would ever have gotten in the papers!"

Where Do Labor Disputes Belong?

WASHINGTON—Free speech in matters handled by the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) is pretty much what it is politically appointed members say it is.

This statement is not a matter of opinion but a solemn fact—and a real hindrance to the civil liberty of self-expression. Both political parties have recently had their whacks at deciding where the freedom to speak starts and stops in labor matters.

WHEN GENERAL EISENHOWER was President, his NLRB chairmen were Guy Farmer and Boyd Leedom, the latter still an NLRB member. The Ike men ruled that the free speech provision of the Taft-Hartley Act extended both to the conduct of NLRB supervised elections and to matters determining Unfair Labor Practices. An employer could communicate with the workers in both these areas, as long as he did not hold out a threat or a promise of benefit.

BUT WHEN Mr. Kennedy became President, and Frank McCulloch became chairman of NLRB, the Free Speech provision was held not to apply to the conduct of elections. The ruling said, in effect, that if an employer put out bad literature (even if it didn't threaten or promise any benefits), he made it impossible for the workers to vote intelligently. Hence, elections in which an employer exercised free speech could be set aside.

How free is speech when Republicans interpret its protection one way, and Democrats interpret it another? NLRB members are appointed to five-year terms, so that the personality and the politics of new members may be decisive in a matter that ought to be immutable.

ON AUGUST 27TH, when Congress was rejecting President Kennedy's plan to turn the railroad dispute over to another Federal agency, the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), Congressman Phil Landrum (D., Ga.) proposed taking Unfair Labor Practices out of the jurisdiction of NLRB and lodging them in the Federal courts.

As a man usually on management's side, Landrum felt that the NLRB was too biased toward labor. Significantly, the Railroad Brotherhoods objected to the ICC's handling their dispute for a similar reason. They felt that ICC was too biased toward management.

SO, THE RATHER complicated matter boils down to a rather simple residue. Should Federal agencies decide questions of a quasi-judicial nature? Should not these questions go into the Federal courts?

An alternate solution to that of dumping all these labor disputes into the regular courts, it seems to me, might be to set up a special Labor Court. There is plenty of precedent. We already have several so-called "legislative" courts, those established by statute rather than by the Constitution. We have the U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, the U. S. Court of Claims, the U. S. Customs Court, the U. S. Court of Military Appeals and the Tax Court of the United States.

WHY NOT, then, a Labor Court to take the politically charged labor disputes entirely away from the Federal agencies which have little competence and much prejudice?

New York's Teachers Call Off Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Public school teachers called off their threatened strike Sunday night and approved a new contract which included pay increases.

More than a million pupils start the fall term in New York City's 850 public schools today.

The United Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, reached agreement with the Board of Education late Sunday. About 8,500 teachers met Sunday night at Randall's Island Stadium and voiced approval of the settlement.

The settlement was proposed by a three-man mediation panel set up by Mayor Robert F. Wagner on Friday. The panel had been in continuous session since 11 a.m. Saturday. At 4:30 p.m. Sunday, former federal judge Simon H. Rifkind, speaking for the panel, told a news conference. Gentle- men, the marathon is over.

The teachers voted 5,265 to 181 for the contract. Many at the rally did not bother to cast a formal vote.

WOULD PICKET
Before the agreement, UFT President Charles Cogen had said the teachers would picket the schools in defiance of a State Supreme Court order obtained by the city and despite a state law which forbids strikes by public employees.

A one-day strike by the union on April 11, 1962, crippled the school system. An injunction that time sent teachers back to work and they subsequently got yearly salary increases of about $750 each.

The union, which claims to have 21,000 teacher-members, is the recognized collective bargaining agent for all 43,000 teachers in the city's school system.

The teachers' new two-year contract will give most of them $300 more during the pact period. Salaries now range from $5,300 to $10,455. Although the minimum salary under the contract will remain the same, the maximum will go to $11,025 on July 1, 1964.

CLASS SIZES
In addition to salary increases, the contract limits class sizes to 25 pupils in elementary and junior high schools and 39 in senior high schools, sets up improved grievance procedures, and establishes a continuing committee of school and union representatives to consider such matters as recruiting teachers and improving school conditions.

Max J. Rubin, president of the Board of Education, said the mediators' recommendations were consistent with the contract proposals made by the board in July. The board's position had been that it would not take funds from school services to meet the union's demands for raises.

The first increases for teachers with more than a year's service will come to $130 annually. These will take effect next April and apply only to the final quarter of the 1963-64 school year. These teachers thus will get only a $35 raise this school year.

The union's last demand before the mediators went to work was for $9 million this year and $20 million next year. The board's last offer was $12 million for raises next year but no raises this year.

Cambodia Gets Red War Gear

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—The Cambodian Ministry of Information said Sunday three MIG17 fighter planes and 24 radar-equipped anti-aircraft guns have been received from the Soviet Union.

The ministry said it was making the statement because of reports that Thanat Khoman, foreign minister of Thailand, had said at a news conference he did not believe the Soviet Union wanted to give Cambodia MIG fighters and anti-aircraft weapons.

Neutralist Cambodia has never been on good terms with pro-Western Thailand. Arrival of Soviet equipment was first announced by Prince Sihanouk Aug. 31. He said the equipment was a personal gift from Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Chinese Troops
Flee To Russia

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Red Chinese battalion of 450 officers and men defected to the Soviet Union Aug. 1 from the province of Sinkiang in northwest China, the privately owned Chinese Nationalist Chung Hsing news agency said today.

Red China charged last week that the Soviets had lured or forced thousands of Chinese from Sinkiang's district of Ili into the Soviet Union and has rejected repeated Peking demands to return them.

The news agency, which claims underground contacts on the mainland, said the defection of the battalion was the outcome of long, secret negotiations with the Russians.

Quints Born To Venezuelans

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—A team of medical specialists kept vigil today over three-day-old quintuplet boys, born almost two months premature to a Venezuelan grandmother.

The mother, Mrs. Ines Maria Cuervo de Prieto, 34, and the infants—the third known set of quintuplets, born in the Western Hemisphere—were reported by a spokesman at Maracaibo Hospital to be in satisfactory condition. The babies were placed in an incubator and given a special skimmed milk diet.

Mrs. de Prieto has five children by a previous marriage, including a daughter, 17, who recently gave birth.

The husband, Efran Luis de Prieto, 39, a foreman for the Creole Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, has eight children from an earlier marriage. Both De Prieto and his wife are divorcees.

50 MINUTES

The quintuplets were born during a 50-minute period shortly after midnight Friday. Doctors said the first baby weighed 3 pounds, 15.5 ounces; the second 3 pounds, 4.9 ounces; the third and fourth each 3 pounds 1.4 ounces; and the fifth 4 pounds 3 ounces.

"I feel well," said Mrs. de Prieto. "There was no sickness, nor pain. It was tranquil."

The father was quoted by the newspaper El Nacional as saying he married his common-law wife of two years at a simple ceremony several hours after the births.

"I decided to marry her when I learned she was going to have quintuplets," said the proud father.

HAVE FAITH

"I had every reason to believe that everything would go well because I have faith in the Virgin of Chiquinquirá (the patron saint of a town 15 miles south of Maracaibo) and in the doctors who have been concerned for the health of my wife."

Mrs. de Prieto entered the hospital early last month for special care after her doctor reported she was expecting a multiple birth. The quintuplets were expected in November.

Gov. Luis Vera Gomez of Zulia State visited the mother and babies, extending congratulations from President Romulo Betancourt.

The governor said the babies would be guaranteed help and protection by the government and that the family may receive a new house.

The De Prietos have been living in a small dwelling in Ciudad Ojeda near Lagunillas on the eastern shore of oil-rich Lake Maracaibo.

DOCTORS' NAMES

With several doctors and nurses serving as godparents, a priest baptized the babies Saturday night as Robinson, Fernando, Otto, Juan Jose and Mario. They were named after five of the doctors who assisted at the births.

Six obstetricians, two pediatricians, four nurses and an anesthesiologist attended Mrs. de Prieto and the infants.

Residents of the oil center, where De Prieto was known for his large family, immediately staged a celebration.

The first verified birth of quintuplets in the Western Hemisphere was that of the Dionne sisters in Canada. Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie, and Yvonne Dionne were born May 28, 1934. Emilie died Aug. 6, 1964.

The Diligent quintuplets—Maria Fernanda, Maria Cristina, Maria Esther, Carin and Franco—were born in Argentina on July 15, 1943. All five survive.

The Dionne and Diligent quintuplets are the only known five-sets to survive infancy of the 50 or more previous quintuplet births for which some sort of record exists.

MISSISSIPPI PARENTS BINGO FOUR TIMES
Nurses at Jackson hold quads of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Harkins

'Glad I Own Grocery' Sighs Proud Father Of 4 New Girls

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—"It's a good thing I own my grocery," said the proud father of girl quadruplets. "I'd be in real trouble if I didn't."

The biggest problem—other than diapers—now facing Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Harkins of Jackson is finding names for the quads.

"Until then, they are 'A', 'B', 'C', and 'D'."

The multiple birth Saturday night boosted the Harkins family to nine children. The oldest Harkins child is 6.

Doctors at St. Dominic's Hospital removed the Harkins quads—who all have long, black hair and a healthy wall—from twin incubators late Sunday.

Mrs. Harkins said she had been expecting twins.

"I even thought of triplets. But four!"

The father, 50, first saw his new daughters Saturday night when a nurse approached him and warned "Mr. Harkins, you'd better sit down."

"Here's three of them," said the nurse. "But I think there's another."

The first quad was born at 8:53 p.m. and the last nine minutes later. Their weights range from 3 pounds, 3 ounces to 4 pounds, 11 ounces.

"I expected two," said the father, "but two more don't hurt."

"The doctor kept on talking about my gaining weight," said the attractive blue-eyed mother. "He said I gained too much."

She laughed, adding, "but I don't think so."

Hospital attendants and relatives saw three of the quads are look-alikes. However, doctors termed them fraternal quadruplets rather than identical.

Statistics show only one quadruplet birth in every 1,250,000.

Mrs. Harkins, the hospital said, is "doing fine." She'll be able to go home shortly. The quads will leave the hospital—probably one at a time—as soon as they reach a certain weight, slightly over four pounds.

They'll join the other Harkins children: Susan & Cecilia, 5; Thomas Jr., 4; Martha, 2½; and Andrew, 15 months.

One Of Austin Quads Succumbs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Diana Sue Dreher, one of the four-day-old Dreher quadruplets, died of a respiratory ailment Sunday at St. David's Hospital.

Diana weighed just over three pounds, as did her three sisters, when she was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dreher of Austin.

The mother is an assistant professor of nursing at the University of Texas. The father is a research scientist for International Data Systems, Inc., at Bryan, Tex.

Doctors said the three surviving girls—Joan Leigh, Beverly Ann and Linda Gay—appeared to be doing well.

Oklahoma Fatality

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Kenny Wayne Sims, 20, of 4502 Alamo, Wichita Falls, was killed late Sunday when his car went down an embankment and crashed into a fence on U.S. 277 south of here.

MSC Cost Soars Up

HOUSTON (AP)—Officials apparently believe the Manned Spacecraft Center here will cost four times as much as originally estimated.

The Houston Chronicle said in a copyrighted story Sunday that space agency officials estimate $250 million in federal funds will have been invested in the center within the next five years.

The newspaper story recalled that the initial cost was placed at $60 million when the site for the center was announced Sept. 18, 1961.

It quoted Wesley Hjernevik, assistant director for administration at the center, as saying, however, that the space agency had never indicated the original figure was all it intended to spend.

He said the jump to $250 million is normally expected for a research and development laboratory of this type.

Construction amounting to $147 million will be completed or under way at the 1,600-acre site 22 miles southeast of Houston by next July.

FOREST FIRES SEND 300,000 FLEEING
Bottom photo shows fire lane being cleared

U.S. Help Rushes To Scorched Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The United States rushed tons of food supplies today to about 300,000 homeless refugees fleeing from four days of uncontrolled forest fires in the drought-parched state of Parana.

Officials expressed hope that heavy rains moving slowly northward from Argentina would end the fires that have claimed possibly 250 lives and destroyed thousands of acres of coffee plantations. Food supplies were running short.

The United States and Brazil combined in rushing powdered milk, cornmeal and flour to the refugees.

Doctor and nurse teams of the U.S. Peace Corps were reported treating about 500 injured refugees. The U.S. Food for Peace program ordered foodstuffs flown and trucked in.

Brazilian President Joao Goulart called for an all-out effort to help Parana. The government has ordered $1 million in federal funds released to Parana Gov. Ney Braga.

"Now only rain can save us from total defeat," said Col. Ilo Conte, head of the firefighting effort, in a telephone interview from Curitiba, capital of Parana. There has been no appreciable rain in the state since January. Conte had said 250 persons perished in the fires but revised his estimate.

"The final count could be much less or much greater because there is just no way to know," he said. "Many families are separated but most of the men are probably fighting the fires somewhere."

He estimated that 300,000 persons out of a state population of 2.1 million, were burned out of their homes.

The fires, scattered over 50 areas, apparently dealt a severe blow to the coffee crop. Parana is Brazil's biggest coffee-producing state.

Two-Headed Calf In Good Condition

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—A two-headed calf was born Sunday on the dairy farm of James Hickenbottom of nearby Kimbolton. Dr. Philip Mozena, a veterinarian, said the red and white calf "appears to be in good shape and is taking nourishment."

The calf was bred by a Holstein and a registered Hereford, according to Hickenbottom.

Horse Show Plans To Be Discussed

Members of the Howard County Junior Horsemen club meet for a regular session at 7:30 p.m. today at the Old Settler's Pavilion in City Park.

Slated for discussion will be a coming horse show. Other business may include future trail rides by the youngsters. A ride last month attracted 22 horsemen who made a six-mile ride from the Midway school to Moss Creek Lake and back.

36 Die From Violence During Texas Weekend

By The Associated Press
Texas counted a weekend toll of 36 deaths from violence.

Traffic was blamed for 15 fatalities. There also were 14 shootings. Latest deaths included: A butcher knife wound in the chest killed Fred Meyer, about 33, of Tahoka at an Odessa motel Sunday night. Police said the stabbing climaxed an argument with a cousin, Lawrence Meyer, 22, of Odessa. They charged the cousin with murder.

Ramiro Galvan, 25, of Pharr was killed early Sunday in a fall from a moving car operated by state police. Patrolman M. L. Dailey said Galvan kicked open a door and leaped from the vehicle while they were en route to the Edinburg jail. Officers said they had joined a state narcotics agent in arresting Galvan for questioning.

Two cars smashed head-on Saturday on a slick highway between Wichita Falls and Henrietta near Jolly, killing four persons and injuring five others.

Killed were Mrs. Billie Beal, 63, of El Monte, Calif.; Mickey Stewart, 33, of Wichita Falls; his brother, Terrell Stewart, 28, of Henrietta; and a stepson, Cody Little, 6, of Henrietta.

Jerry Sibey, 27, and Mrs. Melba McClure Wood, 33, both of Amarillo, died Saturday night when a car hit a cattle truck near Amarillo.

Herman Shone, 20, and Clifford Kennedy, 21, half brothers, died early Sunday when their car hit a bridge just south of Dallas. They recently moved to Dallas from Teague.

Major Spencer, 29, of Dallas died in an early Sunday shooting. William Hooker, 19, died Sunday in Dallas of two bullet wounds. Dallas police said they fired at the fleeing Negro youth after he was involved in a hit-and-run accident while driving a stolen car.

Joe Martinez, 24, of Dallas died Sunday after being shot several times in a downtown tavern.

Texas State Legislature passes new consumer finance law limiting charges on loans up to $1500

Now that loan charges are limited does it matter where you borrow?

Under the new Texas consumer finance law, you can borrow up to $1500 and be sure that charges on loans are limited.

This is good. Household Finance is in favor of a consumer finance law which guarantees you, the borrower, a fair rate of charge and credit life and disability insurance protection at reasonable rates. HFC has supported this kind of legislation for years.

Now that maximum charges for loans are fixed by law, which company should you borrow from? Before you decide, consider these facts:

First, HFC's philosophy about borrowing. Never borrow needlessly, is something we completely believe in. We stress it in our advertising. This common-sense approach to lending is why millions of people have confidence in HFC.

Second, consider experience. Household is the oldest and largest company of its kind, with over 85 years of experience in solving family money matters. You couldn't choose a more experienced company.

Third, consider our two-million-a-year record. That's the number of people we serve every year. When you can satisfy that many people, your integrity and reliability must be highly acceptable.

So, if you have a money problem—we'll be happy to serve you. Remember, you can borrow up to $1500 to buy a better car, make home improvements, consolidate your obligations, pay off another loan, or for any worthwhile purpose.

Once you do business with HFC, you'll agree, where you borrow does make a difference!

SALVATION ARMY

New Commanders Named For Southern Territory

The Texas Division of the Salvation Army has been notified of the appointment of Col. Paul J. Carlson as territorial commander of the Southern Territory, effective Nov. 1, according to Brigadier B. Gordon Swyers, Texas divisional commander. On assuming the post, with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., Col. Carlson will direct the activities of 15 southern states, the District of Columbia and Mexico.

As the largest division in the Southern Territory, Texas is expected to be among the first of the states to be visited by Col. Carlson and his wife.

Col. and Mrs. Carlson, who share equal rank, are succeeding Commissioner and Mrs. William Davidson in the southern appointment. Commissioner Davidson, who has been a frequent speaker in Texas cities, has been appointed territorial commander of the Eastern Territory of the Salvation Army with headquarters in New York City. His new command will also be effective Nov. 1, according to the directives from Gen. Wilfred Kitching, International commander of the Salvation Army with headquarters in London, England.

Col. Carlson is presently chief secretary of the 11-state Eastern Territory, serving as second in command to Commissioner Holland French since Feb. 1, 1962. He has 39 years experience as an officer, having received his commission in June, 1924, from the Salvation Army School for Officers' Training in New York City.

An outstanding administrator and finance officer, Col. Carlson has seen Army accounting techniques evolve into efficient and modern procedures.

"Stewardship of Salvation Army funds has been considered such an important part of our accountability to God," he says, "that every step has been taken to assure that our records can stand the scrutiny of today's standards of acceptable accounting practices and procedures."

The colonel was born in Worcester, Mass., one of seven children, to Swedish-American officer-parents recognized for outstanding leadership in Salvation Army corps. He entered training for officership while in his teens. For many years he was a cornetist in the New York Staff Band. He is presently one of the Eastern Territory's most popular speakers.

Like her husband, Mrs. Carlson is a second generation Salvationist and a musician. She will succeed Mrs. Davidson as Southern Territorial president of the Home League and League of Mercy Departments and Nurses Fellowship.
