Rains Up To An Inch Soak Parched City

The heaviest rain in Big Spring since June 19 soaked parched lawns and thirsty trees Thursday morning. Rains in town ranged widely, as is the usual story. The gauge at the Herald showed an inch but U.S. Experiment Station gauge north of town had only .84 inch. There was a report of an inch in Kentwood and .70 inch fell in Western Hills. Gauges near HCJC showed 1.10 inches. Boyce Hale who lives near Douglass Addition, reported .60 inch. Texas Electric Service Station, east of town a half mile, reported .37 inch. Heaviest rain in the county was in Chalk where 2.40 inches had been gauged at 11 a. m. and it was still drizzling. TESCO said that it had considerable lightning trouble in the Chalk area from 10 to 10:30 a. m. In Big Spring some momentary interruptions were reported but no major troubles arose.

BIG VOLUME

Grady Randal, at the Experiment Station, said the 84 inch measured there was the greatest volume to be reported on any one day since June 19. On that date 1.34 inch was reported. Last important rain before today was a month ago. It rained .73 inch in Big Spring July 13. The rainfall brought a sharp drop in temperature and set early risers shivering in light summer garb as they hurried to work. The temperature was a chill 68 degrees at 8 a. m. and when the rains built up, the temperature dropped an additional two degrees. High on Wednesday afternoon was a sizzling 97, made all the more unpleasant by high humidity.

Clouds rolled in Wednesday night and posed a threat of rain for a time but faded without action. Thursday morning dawned overcast and damp, and the rains began falling around 9 a. m. Streets ran curb high in some parts of town as the downpour continued. LAKE THOMAS At Lake J. B. Thomas gauges showed 40 inch. Rains reached the southwest corner of the county later than they did in Big Spring. At 10 a. m. Lomax gin said no rain had fallen and the gin was busy with a bale or two of cotton waiting to be handled. By 11 a. m. the Parum Grocery there said that rains had dumped at least half an inch of moisture. The same story was told in Elbow. At 11 a. m. McKinnon Grocery gauge measured 1.10 inches. Light showers fell in Fairview early but there were no reports of heavy rain later. Farmer's Co-op Gin at Ackerly gauged half an inch of rain and at Knott, the M&S Grocery measured .75 inch. The rains in the Knott area ranged from half an inch to three-quarters inch. Two-tenths inch moisture was registered at Moss Creek Lake, east of town. Rain began falling at the lake about 8:35 a. m. and a slow drizzle was still coming down at 11:30 a. m. There were also reports of thunder and lightning in the area.

SPRINKLING

Further east at Coahoma, the rain gauges recorded 10 inch and it was still sprinkling at noon. The rain lowered the temperature considerably. At Vincent, in the northeast part of the county, there was a report of lightning striking a telephone pole in the area. Rain fell in the amount of 40 inch but the precipitation had ceased late in the morning.

Forsan, southeast of Big Spring, measured a healthy 92 rain. The downpour began at 9 a. m. and moisture was still falling just before noon. Rains of solid benefit fell in a wide area centering on Abilene although that city received only .25 inch. Some of the better rains in that section included Haskell 1.30 inches, Merkel 1.10, Rochester 1.30, Sweetwater 2.10 and Trent 1.00. Rains of around a half inch fell at Phantom Hill Lake, Albany, Breckenridge, Eastland, Goree, Hawley, Lauderdale, Roscoe, Snyder, Stamford and Weinert. Lightning hit the Purple Sage Motel at Snyder about 2 a. m., causing considerable damage. Damage was lessened because a tourist found smoke pouring from the attic and sounded the alarm early.

Fixed For The Fall

Curt Mullins is not about to be caught empty-handed by Fall Hat Day, which comes Friday. At the same time, he made good use of some spare hats today by using them as make-shift rain barrels when the season's first cooler tempestures arrived with the heaviest rainfall since June.

PUSH BY PRESIDENT

Nuclear Treaty Gains Fresh Senate Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate drive for ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty appeared today to have picked up more supporters.

Democratic and Republican leaders, working hand in hand to steer the agreement through the Senate, counted almost 80 votes in favor of the treaty to prohibit all tests except underground.

Only three days ago, an Associated Press survey found 73 senators were for it. A two-thirds majority is needed for ratification—67 if all 100 senators vote.

The drive got another big push Wednesday—from President Kennedy and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

In a letter, Kennedy gave the Senate "unqualified and unequivocal assurances" that there will be no letup in the defense buildup if the treaty is put into effect.

But it was Dirksen who gave the so-called "great debate" its drama. In a frequently impassioned speech, he threw his unqualified support behind ratification without reservations or any formal understanding.

Whether the President's letter or Dirksen's speech changed any minds was not known for certain. However, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has indicated doubts about the treaty, said the President's letter "should leave no doubt about the determination of the President to carry out in good faith the assurances requested by the Senate."

Jackson helped spearhead the Senate Preparedness subcommittee's demand that the administration guarantee security safeguards asked by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"The letter nailed down the executive position on these points," Jackson added. "In addition to this the preparedness subcommittee will be monitoring the programs that will be carried out under the direction of the President."

TAKES STAND Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the assistant Senate Republican leader, took his stand beside Dirksen in a speech prepared for this afternoon's debate.

The Soviet Union, Kuchel declared, "knows that if, God forbid, the United States were the victim of a surprise nuclear attack, our retaliatory nuclear blow would incinerate the land of the aggressor."

"As an American, whose prime concern is for his own country," the senator continued, "I shall support the treaty."

Kennedy, in his letter addressed to Dirksen and Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, sought to allay every concern which has been raised about the treaty in Senate debate.

He gave "unqualified and unequivocal" assurances — which Dirksen had asked—that: 1. Underground testing will be pursued "vigorously and diligently" and strong laboratories maintained in a vigorous program of weapons development.

2. The United States remains ready to resume atmospheric testing immediately if the Soviets should break the treaty.

3. Facilities for the detection of violations will be expanded and improved.

4. The treaty in no way limits presidential authority to use nuclear weapons "for the defense of the United States and its allies, if a situation should develop requiring such a grave decision."

The latter assurance was obviously aimed at reducing votes for a reservation proposed by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.

Oil Men Killed At Monahans

MONAHANS (AP)—A collapsing derrick killed two men helping drill an oil well Wednesday night. A third suffered serious injuries as he was hurled more than 100 feet to the ground.

Two other members of the drilling crew escaped injury as 200 tons of steel showered down all around them.

The accident happened shortly before midnight at a well being drilled 45 miles southwest of here in West Texas.

Workers were pulling the drill-stem from the hole, which is sunk to 18,504 feet in a test being run by Rhodens Oil Co. They had stacked about 17,500 feet of heavy pipe against what is known as the finger board, which supports the pipe high in the derrick.

Without warning the finger board gave way, pipe smashed against the derrick and it collapsed.

Robert J. Henderson, 24, of Odessa was killed as he fell from the rig floor, which stood 28 feet above ground.

A heavy piece of the rig from near the top struck Philip Crittendon, 18, of Monahans, likewise killing him.

J. B. Morris, 44, of Monahans tumbled from the top of the derrick, which reached 108 feet into the air. The heavy crownblock fell just ahead of him, hitting six feet to one side.

Other heavy pieces of metal followed and were held a few feet above Morris by the crownblock. Fellow workers used a torch to cut him free of the debris. He was taken to an Odessa hospital with his hands mangled, both arms broken and head and internal injuries.

Ironically, Morris was working a second straight shift and lacked only 25 minutes of finishing it.

Members of the crew were working for Parker Drilling Co. of Odessa. The well, due to be sunk a total of 22,000 feet, is near an irrigated farming community called Cayonosa.

Tyler Lake Dam Breaks With Roar; No One Hurt

TYLER (AP)—The dam of the 65-acre Tyler State Park lake broke with a roar today. Within an hour all the water in the lake had drained out.

No one was injured. The cause of the collapse was not at once known.

Park Mgr. Pete Palmer said he thought seepage caused the break near a tunnel which leads from the lake and under the dam to a flood control tower.

At least 100 feet of the dam washed away. The water in the lake had measured up to 40 feet deep.

Repairs today were awaiting word from the State Park and Wildlife Department in Austin, which was notified at once of the break.

The lake is used only for recreation. The City of Tyler does not depend on it for its water supply.

Palmer said that there was some damage to a county road and undetermined damage to other land around there.

The dam broke where the water was deepest, about 40 feet.

French Airliner Falls, Kills 40

PARIS (AP)—A French airliner struck a mountain in southern France today and rescuers who reached the site later reported all 40 persons aboard had perished. There were 36 passengers, all British tourists, and four crew members.

A ground team which had set out from Py for the wreckage of the plane, on rugged 4,800-foot Roc de la Rouquette, advised Gen. Gaudier headquarters by radio that all aboard had been killed when the plane slammed into the mountain shortly after midnight.

The plane was bound from London to Perpignan. Py is 32 miles southwest of Perpignan.

The plane took off from London's Gatwick Airport Wednesday night. Libanere Airport near Perpignan said it lost contact with the plane during its approach to the airport.

Heavy storms swept the region as the plane headed into the Perpignan area.

The twin-engine plane was owned by Airnautic, a French air line.

In the past dozen years, the mountainous region of Perpignan near the Mediterranean has been the site of eight plane crashes that killed 97 persons.

KENNEDY THE STRAIGHT MAN IN PRESENTATION TO HOPE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The stage was the White House garden. The straight man was President Kennedy. And Bob Hope was, as usual, top banana.

Hope, who has played them all, from the palace to fox holes, did not appear overawed by the ceremony Wednesday when he received from Kennedy a medal for "outstanding service to the cause of democracy throughout the world."

For only a moment did the President get into the act, becoming Hope's best-known co-star since Bing Crosby.

Noting that the medal had been voted by Congress, Kennedy ad libbed: "This is the only bill we've gotten by lately."

From then on it was pretty much Hope's show. Eying the medal, which was awarded mainly for his scores of trips overseas to entertain troops during hot and cold wars, Hope remarked:

"There is one sobering thought. I received this for going out of the country. I think they are trying to tell me something."

Hope recalled that he had entertained in the South Pacific when Kennedy served there as a skipper of PT 109 in World War II.

"The President then was a very gay, carefree young man but of course all he had to worry about then was the enemy," cracked Hope.

Then he added after a pause: "Twenty years later he's still on government rations."

The comedian thanked the President for inviting Mrs. Hope and their four children to the ceremony. He said: "It wouldn't explain why I wasn't in the service but at least it will point out which side I was on."

Riots Break School Calm In Alabama

11 Arrested In Carolina Race Uproar

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Nine Negroes and two white men were arrested late Wednesday night as police used tear gas bombs to quell a near-riot that developed when 2,000 white persons began throwing rocks, eggs, tomatoes and other missiles at Negroes conducting anti-segregation demonstrations.

Police reported a single shot was fired, but no one was injured. Mayor Floyd Mehan criticized the city's Negro leadership for "dangerous, dictatorial and inconsistent statements."

The mayor called for a meeting of the City Council to deal with the rapidly deteriorating racial situation.

The nine Negroes arrested were charged with trespassing and congregating on sidewalks.

The two white men were arrested on charges of carrying weapons.

Bonds for those arrested were set at $50 each.

High Point's Main Street was blocked off to traffic and pedestrians for more than an hour after police used tear gas and fire trucks to disperse the crowd of angry white people.

The downtown area was cleared when whites began regrouping after reports that a second Negro march was planned. Negro leaders called off the march.

Most of High Point's 80-man police force and other officers remained on duty through the night.

At Mayor Floyd Mehan's request, 25 sheriff's deputies and 32 state troopers reinforced police for Wednesday night's demonstration.

In a statement, Mehan charged that Negroes "must bear the responsibility for the slowing up" of negotiations here.

Within the past 10 days, Mehan said, "he (the Negro) has lost the active support of the majority of those who could and would help him. Their action and misunderstanding of how best to obtain their goal is causing those who supported their cause to take a second look at his ability and qualifications to step into a position of first-class leadership."

The Rev. B. Elton Cox, a field representative for the Congress of Racial Equality, has demanded total integration of this industrial city of 65,000 persons. He rejected a request from the mayor Tuesday to declare a moratorium on demonstrations.

Parents Discuss Private Schools

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Pupil boycotts protesting integration spread to new schools across Alabama today and disrupted some classes not even desegregated.

More than 1,000 boys and girls stayed away from West End High School in Birmingham for the third day in a row, while an estimated 300 walked out at Murphy High in Mobile for the first time, chanting anti-Negro yells. Nearly 50 pupils were arrested at Mobile.

Sympathy protests broke out at the still-segregated Ensley and Jones Valley high schools in Birmingham, and a yelling crowd of some 300 teen-agers from the boycotted schools massed in front of still another, Phillips High, demanding that pupils there join the walkout.

Helmeted police rushed to Phillips and sealed off the block surrounding the school while the youthful demonstrators shouted and waved segregation banners and Confederate flags.

Teachers ordered the Phillips pupils back to class, and few of them actually left the school.

The crowd assembled in a park across the street from Phillips, then suddenly dispersed after about 30 minutes, departing in small groups.

Screaming men and women joined the demonstration as it moved from one section of Birmingham to another. Many of them carried the emblem of the militant pro-segregation National States Rights party.

Federalized National Guard troops remained on duty in an armory near the West End school, but did not intervene.

Police called in a fire truck with high pressure water hoses at Murphy High in Mobile, but the water was not turned on. The crowd of white pupils began to break up after about an hour.

Some of the Mobile pupils were arrested when they refused to return to school. They were hauled off in paddy wagons. Principal Raymond B. Taylor said leaders of the demonstration would be dealt with, but he did not elaborate.

In Tuskegee, no white pupils in the upper grades showed up for classes with 13 Negroes. Enrollment in the lower grades was normal.

At Graymont Elementary in Birmingham, a white girl, about 13, tossed rocks at two Negro boys. She was given a stern warning by the principal who told her to either go to class or stay at home.

President Kennedy federalized the entire 18,000-man Alabama force early Tuesday to prevent Gov. George C. Wallace from using guardsmen to turn away Negroes at white schools.

Another state-supported school, Florence State College at Florence quickly accepted the first Negro student Wednesday. He is Wendell Wilkie Gunn.

The boys were not hit by the rocks.

At West End, policemen routed the segregation motorcades which included a truck carrying two coffins and an old car dragging a dummy by its neck. The drivers were ordered to get rid of their displays and the caravan was not allowed to pass the school again.

A slim, gray-haired teacher broke up a potential demonstration at a Birmingham high school not affected by the desegregation. Approximately 60 pupils gathered on a street corner across from Phillips High School and started waving Confederate flags and placards. Suddenly the teacher appeared and snatched the banners, then marched the pupils into the school.

School officials in Birmingham were seeking to curb a wholesale boycott by white pupils. There was talk of a private school movement.

In the wake of a school board warning against truancy, several thousand white persons jammed an auto race track Wednesday night to protest integration and plan for private schools.

PARENTS WARNED The school board earlier warned that parents could be prosecuted for keeping children out of school.

More than 1,000 white pupils boycotted West End High in Birmingham as two Negroes went to classes for the second day. Wednesday night's rally for private schools was organized by West End white parents.

In most other desegregated schools, attendance was nearly normal and there was little disorder.

A rock smashed into a car carrying the two Negro pupils home from West End, breaking a window. But no one was hurt. The racial scene was generally peaceful at eight other desegregated schools in Birmingham, Mobile, Tuskegee and Huntsville.

With local authorities keeping tight control, the Army announced in Washington that only 675 Alabama National Guardsmen would be held on duty after midnight tonight.

President Kennedy federalized the entire 18,000-man Alabama force early Tuesday to prevent Gov. George C. Wallace from using guardsmen to turn away Negroes at white schools.

Another state-supported school, Florence State College at Florence quickly accepted the first Negro student Wednesday. He is Wendell Wilkie Gunn.

Cecil Wasson Dies Today

Cecil Lillard Wasson, 71, died here today from a heart involvement.

The long time resident and rancher of Big Spring had entered the hospital several days ago, and early today he experienced a sudden turn for the worse and died about 10:30 a. m.

Arrangements are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, is to officiate, and burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Wasson was the son of a pioneer ranch couple, the late Arthur Lee Wasson and Martha Lee Palmeyer. He was born in Hillsboro Dec. 30, 1891, but at the time his father was homesteading a ranch on the frontier in Arizona.

He lived there as a lad, later in Dawson County near the community of Chicago before it was edged by Lamesa in a county seat election and passed into oblivion.

Mr. Wasson attended the Big Spring schools and was a member of Company D of the 117th Supply Train, 42nd Division, a unit composed principally of local men. He served overseas as secretary of the late Judge Brooks, who was the company commander.

Mr. Wasson was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. He was married April 19, 1926 to Miss Sallie Jordan and she survives him. Other survivors include his sister, Mrs. A. S. Barnett, Dallas; a son, John A. Wasson, Shady Point, Okla.; a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Olfusen, Glen Ellyn, Ill.; and six grandchildren.

JUDGE'S ORDER

Stanton's Ballot Boxes Impounded

STANTON—Ballots cast in Tuesday's referendum on Stanton's Urban Renewal Program and for four city council members have been impounded on an order signed by Ralph Caton, judge of the 118th District Court.

Roy Pickett, county attorney of Martin County, laid two affidavits before Judge Caton in Big Spring at noon Wednesday in which irregularities in the election were alleged.

These affidavits, signed by June Graham and Ora Mae Simpson, asked an investigation of the balloting. The charge was made that voters who had no poll tax receipts nor exemption certificates were permitted to ballot and that individuals, other than the election officials, were permitted to loiter in the vicinity of the polling place.

Pickett said that on his return from Big Spring, the court's order led to the removal of the ballot boxes and election material to the office of the Martin County District Clerk where they will be kept.

He said the order asked that the judge have the ballots checked either in his presence or in the presence of a grand jury.

The new term of court in Martin County opens the first Monday in October. Judge Caton will empanel a grand jury sometime about that date. Whether he will ask the grand jury to take a hand in the election check is not known.

Meantime, the city council, at its meeting Tuesday night after the polls had closed and the ballots had been tabulated, withheld certification of the returns when word that a protest against the validity of the vote was pending.

Unofficial returns from the contested election showed that the residents of Stanton want the Urban Renewal Program to continue and that they had named J. R. Reed, W. E. Hodnett, Delbert Franklin and Sammy Houston as members of the city council to replace the four present members who resigned when the request for an election on the Urban Renewal Program was presented about six weeks ago.

By declining to certify the election, the council will continue in office until the dispute over the outcome of the voting is settled.

The resignations of the present members was worded to become effective when their successors had been named and seated.

LITTLE DISCRIMINATION AGAINST WHITES

No Rush Yet On Better Jobs For Negroes

NEW YORK (AP)—With Negro organizations and many federal, state and local governmental agencies pressing for a better break for Negro workers, hiring practices and contests for jobs have become an acute issue.

As a result of these pressures, there have been some questions raised whether a reverse discrimination—against white workers—might develop.

An Associated Press survey of a dozen of the nation's major industrial centers showed that more Negroes are being hired for better jobs but it also indicated there is no great rush to provide employment for them on the basis of race.

EXCEEDED

On the other hand, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who heads President Kennedy's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, said industry had exceeded expectations in providing more and better jobs for non-whites.

A committee study covered 45,728 new positions filled in the six months ended last December by the 75 companies then subscribing to the "affirmative action" program sponsored by the committee.

The committee reported "dramatic progress" with non-whites receiving nearly one-fourth of the new jobs—six times more than the projected number based on past hiring practices.

DEMONSTRATIONS

Demonstrations have been held by Negroes and whites at public building projects in New York City and elsewhere, demanding a greater representation of Negroes among skilled workers.

Some Negro leaders have insisted that a quota system be set up, but labor union officials have resisted, saying it would eliminate jobs of some white workers. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has come out flatly against quotas.

Promotion of three Negroes to post office supervisory jobs, although they were lower than 53 white men on the established merit scale, set off a furor in Dallas.

Eleven high-ranking white postal workers filed suit against the Post Office Department, claiming they were discriminated against because of their race.

A Seattle employment agency operator reported two instances in the last month in which white workers complained they had lost their jobs because they had been replaced with Negroes.

PERCENTAGE

"I have letters from employers indicating they definitely plan to employ a certain percentage of Negroes," this operator said. Dudley Cameron, deputy area manager of the California Department of Employment in San Francisco, reported an increasing inclination to hire Negroes.

"One might say it is discrimination against whites," he said. "It could mean the white worker will be the one who didn't get the job. There is an effort in many communities, certainly around here to correct the imbalance that has existed for many years."

In New York City, two members of the City Commission on Human Rights suggested that racial bias in the building trades might be eased by favoring Negroes over white applicants for apprenticeship.

EASE UNREST

Chairman Stanley M. Lowell said the commission was not trying to put white men out of jobs but he told officials of five construction unions that putting Negroes and Puerto Ricans at the top of the training list would correct discrimination against minority groups and ease racial unrest.

Ethel C. Bryant, mayoral staff delegate to the Los Angeles Mayor's Committee on Human Relations and herself a Negro, commented that "certain unskilled jobs have always been classified as 'Negro' jobs—such as janitors, elevator operators, garbage men."

She said that in an integration drive that seeks employment solely on a merit basis, "Negroes will see even some of these jobs to unskilled whites who are presently unemployed, perhaps."

ST. LOUIS

About 70 St. Louis area firms have made efforts since the first of this year to hire Negroes for the first time on jobs other than menial capacity. Negro leaders and employment experts said that there have been no complaints of discrimination in reverse.

The Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission pointed out that employment quotas based on race would be against state law. It said it had processed a few reverse discrimination complaints several months ago.

General Motors Corp., Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Detroit said they knew of no rush to hire Negroes because of race, no such complaints by whites and that they had made no recent changes in hiring practices.

Five big Chicago downtown banks invited the Chicago Urban League to help them recruit more Negro employees. Edwin C. Perry, executive director of the league, said the jobs range from page girl to management trainee.

JOB CLEARING

Archie Williams, chairman of the Boston Labor and Industry Committee of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said there has been no rush to employ Negroes but there has been a rush to set the groundwork to get more jobs for Negroes. A Negro job clearing house, partially supported by industry, has been set up.

"As far as I know there have been no complaints about discrimination against white workers in this area," reported C. H. Gilman, regional director of the AFL-CIO in Atlanta.

A definite increase in requests for Negroes to fill jobs in industry and business was noted by Ernest Cooper, executive director of the Urban League in Cleveland. He said many of the orders are from firms that have tried perhaps one Negro, found that it has worked and are back for more.

Two Omaha business leaders called for the hiring of Negroes as part of a comprehensive plan to expand and upgrade minority employment. The leaders are Morris E. Jacobs, head of a national advertising firm and Peter Kiewit, head of a world-wide construction firm. The goal: to put a minimum of several hundred Negroes to work within 60 days.

Likes Sweets

Rusty, 2-year-old mixed Dachsund pet of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCall, Sterling City Route, has a gourmet's interest in food. Unlike other canines, Rusty refuses to eat dog food. He prefers sausage and eggs for breakfast. Recently the McCalls discovered Rusty has a special liking for popples. Now, he makes his own purchases from Bill Gilbert, ice cream vendor who tours the neighborhood daily.

Band Boosters Bake Sale Day

Band Boosters have hit the ground running, and Saturday will be bake sale day in several supermarkets.

Walter Stroup, president, said that Booster members likely would be at Furr's, Hull & Phillips, Piggly Wiggly, and both Safeway stores.

With proceeds from this sale and the membership enrollment now under way, the Boosters hope to raise enough funds to pay off the remaining $385 owing on the Goliad Junior High uniforms.

Veterans Planning Ice Cream Supper

The World War I veterans organization and its auxiliary are conducting a fund-raising ice cream supper and cake walk Thursday at the IOOF Hall. Festivities will begin at 7 p.m.

Tickets to the supper are 50 cents each, available either from members or at the door. Proceeds will go into the general fund of the organization. The general public, and especially veterans of World War I, are invited to attend.

The bidding:
West Pass East Pass South 2NT
Pass Pass Pass 2NT
Pass 2NT Pass Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

South's opening bid of two no trump in today's hand is not taken from the book, inasmuch as he has only 21 high card points and lacks a true stopper in hearts. But, seated as he was in fourth position, he feared that a one club bid might be passed out if the outstanding strength were evenly divided. As it was, North had just enough to raise him to three no trump.

West opened the four of hearts and, without giving the matter much thought, declarer routinely played a low heart from dummy, for this assured him of taking one trick in the suit no matter how the adverse honors were divided. East's queen of hearts held the trick and he returned the ten. West was tempted to duck the lead to the king to preserve communications in the suit with his partner, since West had no outside entry to run the hearts after they became established.

On the other hand, he was somewhat reluctant to permit declarer to gain access to the North hand to make a play thru East. West finally chose to play the ace and another heart, leaving South to find his own way.

Declarer was in his hand without even the remotest chance of reaching the dummy. He cashed the ace of clubs in the vague hope that the king might drop. When that card held firm, South found himself restricted to eight tricks—three clubs, two diamonds, two spades and one heart.

South passed up his only legitimate chance for success at the opening king when he failed to put up dummy's king of hearts. In order to win nine tricks, he must bring in the entire club suit which entails a successful finesse against the king. While the normal play in hearts is to duck the opening lead into declarer's jack, considerations of safety must be foregone in the present instance in the interest of seizing the only available opportunity to reach the North hand.

When the king of hearts holds the first trick, South is in position to assay the club finesse, but he must proceed carefully. If, for example, he leads the jack of clubs, East will duck and now the next lead must be won by declarer's ten. When West shows out on the second round, South is unable to pick up the king. In order to win four tricks in the suit, declarer must play the nine initially. When the nine holds, the jack is led next so that the lead can be retained by North for the next round. Only by playing in this manner can South win nine tricks.

DEAR MR. H.

Thanks for your letter of kind criticism in which you contend that the brethren with whom I labor have become a denomination by wearing the name, "Church of Christ."

You say that the Bible term, "Church," in Rom. 16:16 is rendered by later translations as "congregations of Christ" or "communities of Christ" and therefore such terms would be as acceptable as "churches of Christ." You conclude that for us to pick one name (churches of Christ) is "merely to denominate, thus make a denomination."

Friend, you have been misinformed. We do not pick one name.

To us, "congregations of Christ" is just as acceptable as "churches of Christ." So are all the other names for the church which are Scriptural. The names we reject are the unscriptural names. We purpose to be undenominational. Come and help us.

By T. H. Tarbell, preacher, Congregation of Christ, 200 West Highway 20 where you are always welcome.—Adv.

'Melody In Flowers' Set For Cosden Club

The annual fall flower show, "Melody In Flowers," will be held Nov. 2 from 3 until 7 p.m. at Cosden Country Club. The show was previously planned at the Big Spring Country Club.

The announcement was made to members of the Four O'Clock and Planters garden clubs Wednesday afternoon.

FOUR O'CLOCK

Four O'Clock members met in the home of Mrs. Guy Cook, 1006 E. 21st St. Mrs. Cook said that the city recreation and park board has recommended that the city provide improvements at Hillcrest Park, including a link fence, concrete curbing and playground equipment. Club members will plant honeysuckle, jasmine and ivy in the park.

Mrs. D. E. Reagan reported that the education and conservation committee for the flower show will have a display on birds and an exhibit on local garden club accomplishments in the area.

Mrs. Bill Tubb has been appointed district flower show chairman on the state flower show schedule committee. She will lecture on arrangements Nov. 12 in Midland at the meeting of the Southern Zone.

A flower show is scheduled Oct. 17-18 in the horticulture building on the campus at Texas Tech. Entries are open to garden club members in the district. Mrs. Jim Murphy donated a camera to the club and was named photographer.

Mrs. J. C. Horton thanked members for participating in the bulb sale.

The program was presented by Mrs. Cook who told how to treat and preserve plant material for year-round beauty.

Refreshments were served to eight members and a guest, Mrs. Richard Phinney. Mrs. Weidow Low, 1200 Ridgeroad, will be hostess for the Oct. 9 meeting.

PLANTERS CLUB

Mrs. Tubb presented the Planters Club program in the home of Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, 819 W. 7th St. Her topic, "Bulbs and Bulbous Plants," explained the growth and culture of bulbs in this area.

"True bulbs are the thickened part of plants which layer out and grow under ground," the speaker pointed out. "Tulips and onions are bulbs, and any good garden soil is suitable for planting," she said.

Mrs. Tubb recommended snowdrops and grape hyacinths as hardy bulbs that multiply rapidly. She said that they must be divided every three or four years. She also recommended buying many of one species for a colorful spot in the garden, ordering daffodils and narcissus this month, and planting in October and November for spring blooming.

Smaller varieties in species of tulips do well in this area and must be refrigerated for four to six weeks before planting, according to Mrs. Tubb. She said that Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, prayer chairman, is in charge of the Week of Prayer for State Missions.

Welches Announce Birth Of Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Welch, Hillside Trailer Park, announce the birth of a daughter, Laurie Lee, Sept. 10, at the Howard County Hospital Foundation. The infant weighed 5 pounds, 3 ounces.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Casey of the Silver Heels Addition, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Welch Sr., 1500 Harding St., are the paternal grandparents.

Newcomers Are Noon Diners

Mrs. Doc Pilcher was hostess to members of the Newcomers Club Wednesday at noon. Luncheon was served at the Cosden Country Club, and plans were discussed for a dinner to be held in October.

Three new members were welcomed as Mrs. Harvey Hurt, Mrs. R. L. Parker and Mrs. John Fry. The next meeting will be at the Cosden Club Oct. 9.

Tall Talkers Dinner Has A Circus Theme

"It's a Circus" was the theme for the Tall Talkers Toastmistress dinner Tuesday evening in the Blue Room of the Cosden Country Club. Red balloons were predominant throughout the room where members and guests were served.

Mrs. Joseph Johnson gave the invocation and the welcoming address was made by the president, Mrs. Larson Lloyd. Mrs. Lewis Vale presented the table topics.

Two new members, Mrs. John Bold and Mrs. Rex Pfaff, were introduced by Mrs. Lee Rogers. Guests for the evening were Maj. Bold, Sgt. Johnson, Sgt. Pfaff, Capt. Vale, Dr. Rogers, Larson

Lloyd, Richard Meacham, Lt. Richard Zenger, Maj. R. W. Triboliet and Maj. Ran Seija. During the brief business session, a rummage sale was discussed and revisions accepted. Speakers on the program, introduced by the toastmistress, Mrs. Frank Meacham, were Mrs. Seija and Mrs. Thomas Seebö. Evaluators were Mrs. Lloyd and Mrs. Hank McDaniel. Mrs. Richard Zenger was timer and the general evaluator, Mrs. Rogers. Mrs. Hila Weathers served as the program coordinator.

An original closing thought was given by Mrs. Triboliet.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I have a left-handed daughter and naturally being right-handed myself it is quite difficult to teach her to do certain things with her hands, such as knitting, sewing, etc.

After many exasperating sessions trying to teach her how to do these things left-handed, I saw the light.

If you south-paw will stand facing her and do whatever it is she is trying to learn, he or she will do it the same way with the corresponding hand. (This is the same as facing yourself in a mirror.)

Even knitting or the like is reversed.

How I wish I had thought of this when I was teaching her to tie a bow in her shoe laces!

Rita Sullivan

I find that when plastic covering—such as adhesive-backed plastic—needs to be replaced that it is better not to remove the old plastic. Simply cover it with new.

This stuff seems to stick to itself better than anything else, and by applying one layer over the other I actually have a more durable surface. I would not recommend carrying this procedure to ridiculous extremes! When you have built up several layers it's best to start over from scratch.

Marion M. Brown

Dear Heloise: The other day while baking a cake I ran across an idea to make the layers level when one pokes up in the middle like "Pike's Peak."

After they are baked and completely cool, and while still in the pan, take a butcher knife and cut across the top of the cake pan. This will get that "Pike's Peak" off. You can then put the cut sides of the cakes together. The cake

RESUME BUFFETS

PENTAGON'S ONE-MAN SHOW

Even Whiz Kids Are Frustrated

EDITOR'S NOTE—They are called "whiz kids" by admirers and critics alike. They are the brilliant analysts and theoreticians who have found the solutions that are being tested in the Pentagon. Their clash with the old school professionals in the shaping of defense policy is examined in the following article.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many military professionals smart under what they consider an excessive influence of civilian "whiz-kid" officials at the Pentagon. But these civilians, too, have met frustrations.

"The fact is, this is a one-man show," said one informed authority who rates himself neutral in the military-vs-civilian feud.

It's run by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara—he makes up his own mind and makes the decisions.

CERTAIN IDEAS
Like some military leaders, the civilian operations analysts, theoreticians and experts are known to have chafed because McNamara would not go along with certain of their ideas.

But while rebuffs suffered by the services often come into the open, the thwarting of some of the pet proposals of the "whiz kids" generally is known only to the inner circle of defense leaders.

ROBERT McNAMARA
... one-man show

It is reliably reported, for example, that some of the civilian thinkers some time ago advanced the idea of withdrawing all nuclear battlefield weapons from Western Europe to reduce the hazard of accidental atomic exchange.

According to knowledgeable sources, the Joint Chiefs of Staff warned that such a move could mean the end of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The proposal got no further.

PUBLIC RECORD
The long festering military resentments became a matter of public record last week.

Adm. George W. Anderson, retired chief of naval operations and new ambassador to Portugal, told a National Press Club audience he was alarmed at what he said is a trend to overcentralization of civilian authority at the Pentagon.

Anderson is believed to have been denied a second two-year term as CNO because he fought too hard against McNamara's decision to award a potential $8-billion TFX fighter plane contract to General Dynamics Corp. instead of the Boeing Co., whose proposed model was favored.

While obliquely critical of McNamara, Anderson also made it plain he objects to the role played by civilian specialists brought into the Defense Department by McNamara from various research and analysis organizations.

... severest critic

WHIZ KIDS
Many of these men, mostly unknown to the general public, carry Ph.D. degrees and other academic laurels. A number of them are relatively young—hence the term "whiz kids" is applied to them by critics and admirers alike.

Speaking of this group, Anderson said: "I am disturbed because now in the Department of Defense, the operations analysts, properly concerned with 'cost effectiveness,' seem to be working at the wrong echelon—above the professional military level rather than in an advisory capacity."

This goes to the heart of the objections of the uniformed officer corps.

Many officers feel strongly there is a place for the civilian "brain" who analyzes the defense problems scientifically and mathematically—but they believe such analysts should be servants, rather than masters, of the seasoned military professionals.

EXPERIENCE
Their gripe is that the analysts who have achieved stature under McNamara dabble in military strategy and weapons questions when, the military professionals contend, they lack the experience and competence to handle.

The pivotal issue in the TFX fighter plane contract dispute being investigated by a Senate committee is the overriding one of military judgment by civilians led by McNamara.

Military men give the civilian specialists credit for some needed improvements in management methods—such as adoption of a "program package" plan for projecting defense money, weapons, manpower and other needs over a five-year period rather than determining these needs on a somewhat disjointed year to year basis as in the past.

EXPERT GROUPS
The services are not against the idea of analysis—the Air Force, Navy and Army all have such expert groups staffed largely with civilians within their structures. There is no doubt that McNamara—a "facts and figures man" gave the analysis greater prominence than they ever had enjoyed before in the defense setup.

But associates of the secretary insist he does not buy what the analysts sell without weighing their arguments against those of the military, and that the military positions do not get short shrift.

The art of operations analysts has become more sophisticated with the advent of improved computers and other advanced tools.

One major criticism voiced by military men is that all problems cannot be reduced to mathematical equations and computer treatment.

VIEWERS SHARED
These uniformed critics—and there are some key civilians who share their views—contend the operations analysts are so bemused by what they think is rational and logical that they do not give due consideration to the possibility of illogical action by the Soviets.

These critics point to the Soviet gambit last year aimed at placing missiles in Cuba right under the nose of the United States as an action that was militarily illogical but which was attempted nonetheless.

One member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff has told this reporter he is somewhat uneasy about the elaborately reasoned concepts of "controlled response" and "negotiated pauses"—designed to keep accidental clashes and small wars from ballooning into nuclear holocaust.

What bothers him, this high officer said, is that such thinking gives little allowance to the possibility that the Soviets might not play the game according to the way the analysts figure it.

HUMAN FACTORS
Another criticism leveled at the civilian analysts is that they take slight account of human factors.

As one admiral put it: "These people don't quite understand that a problem faced by a skipper on the bridge of a warship at sea off an enemy coast is not susceptible to a solution by computer."

A recurrent theme in conversation with seasoned military professionals is that some of the civilians who get involved in strategy are too young to have seen any wartime service, and thus have no realistic conception of waging war.

The civilian specialists counter this by saying the military professionals are no more experienced than they in the nuclear war. They note there has not yet been a war in which atomic weapons were used in any scale beyond the dropping of two early model bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki toward the end of World War II.

STRETCHES
Who are the "whiz kids"? Here are the thumbnail sketches of a few of the most influential:

Dr. Alain C. Enthoven, 33, a native of Seattle; Rhodes scholar; holder of Ph.D. in economics from MIT; slim, handsome product of Rand Corp., a "think factory" where he worked on strategic air warfare studies; prime mover in fostering "spare the cities" policy which envisions nuclear exchanges aimed at military complexes and bases rather than populations.

Henry S. Rowen, 37, a Bostonian, MIT graduate, did graduate work at Oxford and another product of Rand. Tall, sandy-haired, studious-looking has had great impact in formulating limited and conventional war policies.

Dr. Harold Brown, 36, a nuclear physicist and director of the famed Lawrence Radiation Laboratory before becoming powerful director of defense research and engineering. Views weigh heavily in approval or disapproval of weapons projects. Dark, casual-dressing native of New York City and Columbia graduate where he won Ph.D.

Program Given For The WSCS

WESTBROOK (SC)—Mrs. Roy Messmer was program leader for the Woman's Society of Christian Service program at the Methodist church Monday afternoon. Her topic was "Ye Are Christ Sent."

Those taking part were Mrs. Leroy Gressett, Mrs. C. T. Jackson, Mrs. Price Hendrix, Mrs. N. W. Newton, Mrs. John W. Hawkins, Principal Is Speaker For P-TA Unit

Mrs. Joe Moss, president, introduced Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Huddleston when the Park Hill School Parent-Teacher Association met at the school Tuesday evening.

Huddleston, the school principal, spoke on the expectations for the school year. He said that students should expect to grasp the basic principles of living and learn to assume responsibility; teachers are expected to use their talent and college training to benefit the children; and parents, expected to be interested but not over-anxious.

Huddleston introduced the teachers, and Mrs. Moss presented each with a corsage. Also introduced were officers and chairmen of the association.

Mrs. Martin Landers presented the proposed budget which was adopted. A devotion and prayer was given by the Rev. Donald Hungerford.

Refreshments were provided by the executive committee with Mrs. Ed Swift and Mrs. Harrold Jones serving. The 80 members were served at a table covered with an ecru cutwork cloth and centered with flamingo dahlias.

Auxiliary To Help At Hospital Party

Mrs. Jolene Miller presided Monday evening when the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary made plans to assist with the state hospital Christmas party. Details will be completed at the next meeting.

The group gathered at the post home at 7:30 p.m. and welcomed a new member, Mrs. Benjamin Schumacher.

Fund raising projects were suggested and will be voted on Sept. 23.

Mrs. Tim Jones and Mrs. Foster Kemp served refreshments.

Books Completed By Church Circle

Hostesses, program themes and special events were listed in year-books Tuesday morning by members of the Fannie Hodges Circle of the First Methodist Church. The group met at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. W. A. Hunt, 626 Tulane St.

A devotion, "The United Nations," was given by Mrs. Rex Baggett. Members were reminded that Oct. 24 is United Nations Day and were asked to pray for the organization at that time.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to 10 members.

Prizes Given In League Hat Show

Three prizes were awarded Wednesday afternoon at the hat show given in the Citadel by the Ladies Home League of the Salvation Army. The prettiest hat was worn by Mrs. Jerry Stevens, the most unusual by Mrs. Jimmy Moore and the funniest by Mrs. J. R. Kirby.

Mrs. Kirby presided as the 18 members planned a covered dish luncheon for 1 p.m., Sept. 18. A guest speaker will be heard at the spiritual day observance. Refreshments were served.

Have School Day Program

A school day theme was featured for the Toastmistress program Monday evening at the state hospital. A guest, Mrs. Hila Weathers, coordinator for the Tall Talkers Toastmistress Club, served as the toastmistress.

Each member told of the day he most remembered in school.

Ice breaker speeches followed the business session, and the last speech was a book review, "The Silent Life," which was an account of life in the monasteries.

Mrs. W. C. Ragdale, a guest, served as general evaluator. Other guests were Mrs. Otella Jolly and Mrs. Ruth Pullian.

Altar Society Meets At Hall

Gathered at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Hall, members of the Altar Society voted to make linen altar cloths and heard a talk given by Mrs. H. B. Hurt, Mrs. Truett Newell presided for the Tuesday evening meeting when the Rev. Francis Beazley gave the opening and closing prayers.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and Mrs. Robert Anderson were named as committee for the altar cloth project.

In her talk on Catholic churches and schools in Holland, Mrs. Hunt compared them with those of this country. She said that the schools are government owned and there are no parish activities because of class distinction.

Mrs. C. C. Choate received the attendance prize.

Chairmen Named For Mu Kappa

Chairmen were named by Mrs. Rob Newton when the Mu Kappa Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Seth Lacy.

To serve are Mrs. Hanson Lawhon, welfare and ways and means; Mrs. Newton, publicist; Mrs. Richard Egan, parliamentarian; Mrs. Loy Carroll, social; and Mrs. Robert Pritz, jonquil girl.

Mrs. Lawhon said that candy would be ordered for the chapter members to sell and that they would operate a booth at the Lion's Club Fun-O-Rama.

Scheduled as the first rush affair will be a brunch at 9:30 a.m., Sept. 21, in the home of Mrs. Newton, 4011 Dixon.

The meeting closed with the reading of a poem.

Supper Served To B&PWC Members

The Business and Professional Women's Club, with 30 members present, had a covered dish supper and business session on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Garland Morrison, 2208 Alabama, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Robert Meadows, president, read an invitation from the Lamesa B&PWC to attend the District 8 conference to be held Sept. 28 and 29 at Lamesa. Many of the members announced that they would attend, and the entire group voted to participate in the Down-towner Lions Fun-O-Rama.

Mrs. Fitzhugh Is Circle Hostess

Sylvia Lamun Circle members were guests of Mrs. H. M. Fitzhugh Tuesday morning at her home, 1404 Johnson St. Mrs. Knox Chadd, leader of the First Methodist Church WSCS group, offered the opening prayer and conducted a business session.

Year books entitled "Witness Through Service" were distributed and meeting places and dates arranged for the 1963-64 term. Mrs. H. C. Ernsting presented a program on the United Nations. Her devotional thought was "The Churches' Tribute to the U.N." Fourteen members were present.

FREE ON BOND Pierson Pronounced Sane, Faces Two Murder Counts

AUSTIN (AP)—Howard Pierson faced trial under two murder indictments today, but he was legally permitted to mingle with society.

A jury of 11 men and one woman pronounced Pierson sane Wednesday, ending 28 years of confinement in mental institutions or dodging the law for him.

Pierson, 49, is under 1935 indictments in the fatal shootings of his parents, Texas Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. William Pierson, in April of that year.

Six months after the slayings Pierson was found insane and sent to the state mental hospital at Austin. He has never been tried on the murder charges.

Entertaining Hood May Cost Gaming License For Sinatra

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra, the gangling singer who branched out as an actor, businessman and gambling impresario, has been threatened with loss of his Nevada gaming license. He is accused of allegedly allowing "one of America's crime overlords" to stay on the premises of the Cal-Neva gambling lodge.

FRANK SINATRA (L.), GUEST SAM GIANCANA "Crime overlord" may cost license for actor-entrepreneur Sinatra, in New York Wednesday night, was not available for comment.

The Nevada Gaming Control Board said Sinatra's guest at the showman's Lake Tahoe casino on the California-Nevada state line was Sam Giancana.

A five-point complaint submitted to the State Gaming Commission in Carson City Wednesday described Giancana, 54, of Oak Park, Ill., as "one of the 12 overlords of American crime." On Aug. 6 the Justice Department said Giancana was one of the rulers of the "Casa Nostra — Our Thing" crime syndicate.

Nevada keeps a "Black Book" that currently lists 11 persons, one of them Giancana, as persona non grata. Those listed are banned from any Nevada gaming establishment. Knowingly permitting one of them on the premises is grounds for license revocation, though it is not a criminal offense.

The gaming board's complaint charges Sinatra knowingly played host to Giancana at Cal-Neva, located about 20 miles from Carson City, between last July 17 and July 28. Specifically he is charged with allowing Giancana to stay in one of the chalets adjoining the casino.

Negroes Enter South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Three Negroes were to attend classes at the University of South Carolina today for the first time in 86 years.

The university was integrated quietly Wednesday with the registration of eod Henri Monteith, 18, of Columbia, Robert G. Anderson, 20, of Greenville, and James Solomon, 33, of Sumter.

Negroes last attended the university in 1877 during the reconstruction period after the Civil War.

About 100 students watched from various parts on the campus as the three Negroes picked up registration papers, visited with deans and paid their fees.

City and state police reinforced campus officers, but they were not needed.

Miss Monteith and Anderson ended their first day on campus with dinner at a student cafeteria. White students sat with them and spoke to them. Several paused at Anderson's table to shake his hand.

The university is the second state-supported white college in South Carolina to be integrated. Clemson College admitted Harvey B. Gantt of Charleston in January.

Brazilian Rebel Unit Surrenders

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The War Ministry announced today a group of rebel sergeants who took over the Navy Ministry in Brasilia have surrendered unconditionally.

A War Ministry communique said two rebel sergeants were wounded in the abortive rebellion, which opened before dawn. They were reported hospitalized and the rest imprisoned.

Infantry troops and tanks had surrounded the Navy Ministry building and given the rebels an ultimatum to surrender or face attack. The group was described at the outset as "practically without any possible defense."

Earlier the insurgents also had held control of the airport and central telephone exchange in the modernistic inland capital, about 600 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro.

A spokesman for the board said Saniicola and Waterman probably would get another license if they applied.

Sinatra owns 50 per cent of Cal-Neva stock and has held his state-line gaming license for three seasons. He got his first Nevada gaming license in 1953 when he bought into the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas. He now owns nine per cent of Sands stock.

Sinatra has 15 days to file a notice of defense before the commission will act. He is entitled to a hearing by the five-man commission before his license could be revoked. If it is revoked, he can appeal to the Nevada courts.

The Cal-Neva closed last Saturday in what a lodge spokesman described as a regular seasonal closing.

Varied Casualties In Wyoming Wreck

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP)—A truck and trailer skidded off a newly siled stretch of U.S. 40 and overturned Wednesday.

Casualties included: Three adults, 13 children, 160 chickens, 3 geese, 9 guinea hens, 2 dogs and a puppy and a hive of bees.

Only David Stephens, 52, required hospitalization. His condition was listed as good. He was taking his family from Oklahoma to Dexter, Ore.

JFK Misinformed, Says Madame Nhu

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu says President Kennedy "is misinformed about the situation in Viet Nam and the solution should be to get better information."

"He is a politician and when he hears loud opposition he tries to appease it somehow," the petite, powerful first lady of South Viet Nam said on her arrival in Belgrade Wednesday.

That was her reaction when reporters asked her to comment on the concern voiced by Kennedy about the Buddhist situation in South Viet Nam.

Accused Houston Socialite Found Dead In Her Home

HOUSTON (AP)—An autopsy was ordered today on the body of wealthy Houston socialite Mrs. Margery North Furlong which was found in a bedroom of her fashionable home Wednesday.

There were no signs of violence.

Mrs. Furlong, 38, was found about 3:15 p.m.

She was dead on arrival at a Houston hospital, 30 minutes later. The body was removed to the county morgue for the autopsy.

Harry Hall, an officer, said, "We found no marks of violence. We understand that she had been ill for some time. The cause of death rests solely on what the autopsy shows."

Mrs. Furlong shot her husband to death three years ago in the home where she was found dead. Her murder trial was postponed twice because of her health. Testimony in her trial showed that she had been taking drugs "which were affecting her" and that she had been staying up two and three days at a time without sufficient sleep. A doctor testified he had treated Mrs. Furlong over a period of months by prescribing codeine.

The body was found after Jay Cran, who went to Mrs. Furlong's home on an errand for Mrs. Furlong's lawyer, Jake Clegg Jr. Cran took some oil leases that Mrs. Furlong was to sign.

Mrs. Furlong was the daughter of the late Earle North, for many years a Houston auto dealer before his death in 1952.

She was given a five-year suspended sentence on March 31, 1962, for the rifle slaying of her third husband, William Harrison Furlong III, who was 38.

She shot him with a rifle he was kicking his way through a glass door that led from the patio to the living room.

At her trial, she pleaded self-defense, saying she feared for her life.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Kilday Gaining Studious Name

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Judge Paul Kilday of the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, congressman from San Antonio for 22 years before donning robes two years ago, is gaining a reputation for his studious opinions.

Obviously enjoying his new position as he sat on the bench of the three-man tribunal, Judge Kilday wrote the decision of a recent case.

It involved a Marine Corps private — convicted of thefts ranging from 50 cents to $50 from bunk mates — and given a dishonorable discharge. The conviction by a court martial was sustained.

An important issue decided by the court was that the defendant in a court martial may be represented by a non-lawyer. The court recommended that Congress enact legislation requiring that lawyers defend military personnel charged with serious offenses.

Commissioner Everett Hutchinson of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a Texan who was appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, recently returned from holding hearings in Alaska. When Alaska became a state, the Alaskan railroad, formerly operated by the Interior Department, came under the jurisdiction of the commission.

Miss Korth selected Miss Electra Waggoner Biggs, daughter of a pioneer, wealthy Texas family which ranches at Varona, as a member of her court. When handsome blond officer Darnell, a graduate of Mc-

Cool Weather Offers Relief For Texans

By The Associated Press

Cooling showers spread into North Central Texas Thursday, and a little relief was promised heat-ridden southern areas of the state by Friday.

Thunderstorms developed along the Oklahoma boundary near Wichita Falls and boomed on through the night.

Gradually they tapered into showers in an area from near Abilene eastward, including Breckenridge, Eastland, Cisco and Fort Worth. The moisture belt extended well into Oklahoma.

Except for a few showers on the coast, the rest of Texas stayed dry and just a little short of sizzling Wednesday.

Thundershowers were expected to increase across the northern part of the state and continue through Friday, holding temperatures several degrees cooler.

Widely scattered showers were in prospect elsewhere along with a little cooling for parts of South Texas by Friday.

Wichita Falls was the state's hottest spot with a high of 105 degrees Wednesday. Austin, Laredo, Mineral Wells, Presidio and San Angelo recorded 100. Top marks at other points ranged down to 87 at Dalhart.

VISIT PARIS

Mrs. Nhu said she planned to visit Paris after the Belgrade meeting but had no plans to see French officials — not even President Charles de Gaulle who recently proposed a policy of reunification and neutralization of Viet Nam. North and South Viet Nam formerly were part of the French territory of Indochina.

Asked if she would visit the United States, she replied:

"If I ever go to the United States it will be in response to many invitations coming from very important groups."

Asked if she would like to be received, she said: "Why not, if I go there it means I believe in American fair play."

As for the situation in South Viet Nam, she said: "The fact that we are winning in the battle against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas is the proof that we have the support of the people."

She repeated a previous denial that her husband is chief of the South Viet Nam's secret police, which has been blamed for taking part in massive raids on Buddhist pagodas Aug. 21.

She said such an organization does not exist and "we have never raided pagodas, just searched them."

Men's-Boys'-Youths' Black OXFORDS & LOAFERS

KINGSWAY SHOES FOR MEN

Here at last is a shoe that can perform double duty. The Durashine treated leather uppers practically take care of themselves, resist scuff and scrape marks, new full dress appearance, easy to restore with soap, water and the whisk of a cloth. The Unimold wonder sole in normal conditions will outlive the life of the shoe. The sole is mar-proof — positively will not mark expensive floor coverings or rugs. See these wonder shoes now at Anthony's near you.

Men's Sizes 6 1/2-11 A-B-C-D Widths $6.88

Boys' Sizes 3 1/2-6 B-C-D Widths $5.95

Youths' Sizes 12 1/2-3 B-C-D Widths $4.98

Here is why these shoes are superior SEVEN WAYS

1. The soles and heels will outlast the uppers and the shoes under normal wearing conditions may be outgrown before soles are outworn.
2. The UNIMOLD PROCESS moulds the sole and heel to the upper in a seal that repels dampness.
3. Sole and heel are moulded in one flexible piece.
4. No sole stitching to rot or tear, much stronger than ordinary construction.
5. Sole and heel are non-marking and are embossed with slip-resistant grid.
6. These shoes are lighter weight than ordinary shoes.
7. The upper leather, with new Durashine Process treatment, is exceptionally resistant to scuffing, scraping, straining. Shoes have a smooth satiny appearance, stay new-looking longer.

TRISKAIDEKAPHOBIA ANYONE?

Remember, Friday Falls On The 13th This Week

DEAR BOSS:

From the harried expression on your face the past few days, I have begun to wonder if you could be afflicted with triskaidekaphobia. If so, be of good cheer, after tomorrow you can relax. You need not have another spell for three whole months. And when the next time rolls around, it will be so close to Christmas you won't have time to worry too much about your plight.

Besides, there are a lot of fellows who are victims of triskaidekaphobia. You have good company.

You didn't know that was what was wrong with you?

What does it mean? Why, Boss, I am amazed at you and a little disappointed! I thought everyone knew that triskaidekaphobia was the fear folk hold of Friday the 13th.

You know, Boss, like claustrophobia is fear of small rooms and hydrophobia is the fear of water. Don't run over to the dictionary.

I doubt if the dog-eared copy we have of Mr. Webster's big book has triskaidekaphobia listed. It just shows up now and then in print. I heard of it through a book review. It said that the word derives from the Greek. In other words, the Greeks had a word for it. If so, I'll bet you they didn't say it very often. If they did, they'd wind up with a broken jaw.

Anyway, this is to remind you that tomorrow, Friday, is one of the two times this year that the 13th of a month falls on Black Cat day. The next time will be in December.

As everyone knows, Friday is a bad luck day every week. When it works around to fall on the 13th of a month, it's not only hard-luck but it's downright disastrous. Why?

Because, that's why. Like all of these hoary beliefs, you can't put your finger on any real proof to support them but as everyone knows, they're true.

In the old days, Boss, they used to hang felons on Friday and there were 13 folk sat down to share in the Last Supper. Witches and such were supposed to cut up didoes Friday and particularly on those rarer Fridays which fell on the 13th.

All of which is very interesting, Boss, and when tales about such matters are told around the winter stove, the very mention of Friday the 13th can pop out goose pimples. Still, far as the record goes, there isn't any real proof that Friday is any more jinxed than Monday, Tuesday or the 10th of the month. In fact, Boss, the latter is a worse day to me than the 13th. It's the day the postman crams my mail box full of bills.

I kind of go along with my friends in the Okefenokee Swamp country—Pogo, Churchy, Al and the others. What tears them all up is to have Friday the 13th show up on Tuesday, for example. Happy Triskaidekaphobia, Boss. Your Greek-worded reporter,
SAM BLACKBURN

Reveire To Discuss Planning Construction For Architects

Bill Reveire, engineer for A. P. Kasch & Sons, general contractors of Big Spring, has been invited to address the monthly meeting of the American Institute of Architects in Midland Oct. 10 at the Sands Motel. The local chapter of the AIA is comprised of architects from Midland, San Angelo, Andrews, Odessa and Big Spring.

Reveire will discuss a method of planning and scheduling that was adapted to civilian construction engineering use from experiments undertaken by the Navy about eight years ago.

Dubbed the "Critical Path Method," it is a more scientific way to determine the time required to complete various phases of construction programs.

The civilian CPM method derived from Navy planning and scheduling experiments on the Polaris submarine and missile program under Adm. W. G. Rickover. The Navy code name for its Polaris experiments is PERT, short for Program Evaluation and Review Technique.

General Electric and other civilian companies pioneered the development of CPM after studying the Navy's PERT system, Reveire said. Both systems utilize computing machines in figuring time and costs for construction projects. "The basic difference is that the Navy worked primarily with unknowns whereas civilian construction firms know pretty well how much a program costs and how much time is required for construction," Reveire said.

Whereas the old bar-graph method of scheduling sometimes tends to overlap, now engineers can predict more accurately when certain critical phases of a construction

Torpedoed Tooth Given Damages

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Thomas Ceanlon, torpedoed by a submarine in June 1962, has been awarded $200 damages.

Scanlon, of New Britain, Conn., broke a tooth on a sandwich known variously along the Eastern seaboard as a submarine, grinder and hero.

Circuit Judge Bernard Kosicki ruled for Scanlon Tuesday in a suit against Food Crafts, Inc. of West Hartford.

Kosicki described the type of sandwich in question as "a gustatory extravaganza of regal dimensions and savor. It consists of an elongated roll either hard crusted or soft, slit longitudinally and filled with an imaginative assortment of meats, condiments and vegetables."

However, the sandwich roll Scanlon tried to bite into was so hard it "was not reasonably fit for human consumption," the judge ruled.

job will begin, the engineer said. Reveire said there are three steps in CPM planning, scheduling and monitoring. "It is based on logic and assures that one function precedes another in an orderly and smooth fashion."

A. P. Kasch & Sons moved to Big Spring from Oklahoma in 1924 and has grown steadily over the years. The local firm first used the CPM method last May and currently is using computers on construction projects at West Texas State College and Texas A&M.

The Canyon job calls for the construction of two dormitories and a dining hall at a cost of slightly over $2,000,000. The contract for additions to the A&M power plant are estimated at some $1,600,000.

Reveire resides at 2103 Alabama with his wife, the former Nancy Noble, and their two-year-old son, Richard.

Water District's History Discussed

A brief history of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, its development without government aid, and its future needs, was given Rotarians by Joe Pickle, secretary of the CRMWD board, Tuesday.

"It is a remarkable story of a group who did 'what couldn't be done' without outside help," he continued. The future of the district is bright, and plenty of water will be available because we tackled an almost impossible job and did it in about half the time required where the reclamation bureau entered the picture, and at about half the cost.

He said the City of Midland would possibly request service from the district in a short time.

Credit Course Scheduled Here

Lowry M. Carpenter, retail credit specialist from the University of Texas, Division of Extension, will conduct a course in retail credit procedures in Big Spring. Sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association and the Big Spring Credit Womens Club, the course will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, Sept. 16-18 at the First Federal Savings and Loan Community Room.

The course will be held for owners and managers of stores, credit managers, credit office employees, salesmen and interested personnel of Webb Air Force Base. Carpenter, a former credit manager for an auto appliance company, will discuss ideas to open accounts profitably, reduce credit risks, increase credit volume, control accounts safely and decrease collection problems.

Each enrollee will receive sample credit forms, credit letters and collection letters. Cost per individual is $4.50. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served during rest periods.

Col. Withycombe Is Show Speaker

Col. Howard J. Withycombe, commander of the 3560th Air Training Wing at Webb Air Force Base, will be speaker for the eighth annual Midland Jaycee Air Show at the Midland Air Terminal Sunday, Sept. 15.

The Golden Hawks, a Royal Canadian Air Force precision jet flying team, will be a feature of this year's show. The Canadians are ranked high among the world's acrobatic teams, officials said.

Midland Jaycees have arranged for a number of jet aircraft high speed passes and flyovers as well as static displays on the grounds.

Air Show visitors may look over jet trainers, supersonic fighters, turbo-prop transports and a huge jet tanker refueler.

Demonstrations by two U.S. Army parachute teams, a crop duster demonstration, and a helicopter exercise also are on the agenda.

Static displays will be open to the public at 10 a.m. Sunday with the show to begin at 1 p.m.

Jaycees will operate sandwich and soft drink concession booths.

Caverns Tour Hours Changed

Tours at Carlsbad Caverns have been reduced from 10 to four each day to compensate for a seasonal slack in tourists during the winter months.

The "walk-in" tours now begin at 8:30, 10:00 and 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. daily. Tours beginning through direct entrance to the Big Room by elevator begin at 10:55 a.m., 12:25, 1:55, and 3:10 p.m.

Walk-in and elevator tours all terminate at the same time: 12:05, 1:35, 3:05, and 4:20 p.m.

A seasonal decline in visitors to the Caverns always occurs following Labor Day and the reopening of schools. In addition to the four complete tours, special photographic tours are available at 2 p.m. each day.

The winter schedule will remain in effect until June, 1964.

TROMLO, Norway (AP) — A farmer is harvesting potatoes from a field he planted in carrots last spring.

Potatoes he planted a year ago came up so small in this Arctic Circle climate that he didn't bother to dig them up. This year he sowed carrots, but the year-old potatoes came up instead.

Football Team Is Appraised

This year's edition of the Steer football team stacks up as one lacking in speed and to some degree in toughness, but it is long on effort. Such was the appraisal of Coach Don Robbins in a talk to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles.

Graduation hurt the team in several spots, and one of the big problems is coming up with receivers who can get downfield or maneuver to take Albert Fierro's passes, he said. Defensively, the line-backing chore is still unsettled. With the exception of two lads who had injuries, the squad is in fair physical condition considering it has had only a couple of weeks to work.

Chairmen for the membership contest in October have been announced by Clyde McMahon Jr., James Tidwell, general chairman said that chairmen were completing their committees for the Fun-O-Rama which will open for one week Sept. 29.

The Big Four

These four members of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff have been mainly responsible for the Redbirds' surge toward the top of the National League. They are, left to right, Bob Gibson, Ray Sadecki, Curt Simmons and Ron Taylor.

The quartet has pitched 30 consecutive innings of scoreless baseball. Sadecki won Wednesday night's game with the Chicago Cubs, 4-0, in relief. (AP Wirephoto)

Card Pitching Holding Up In Drive Toward Pennant

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The experts pointed a finger at the St. Louis Cardinals when they began their belated bid to overtake the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers, and turned thumbs down.

The verdict: Pitching not strong enough.

They may have something there. Just last Sunday Cardinal pitchers gave up two runs.

They haven't allowed any since. Ray Sadecki and Ron Taylor combined for the Cardinals' third straight shutout, a five-hit, 4-0 job against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night that kept second-place St. Louis three games behind the Dodgers.

The Sadecki-Taylor combine followed up a five-hitter by Curt Simmons and a six-hitter by Bob Gibson, extending the Cardinals' latest winning streak to five games while producing the 14th victory in the last 15 games for St. Louis.

Tonight, it'll be Ernie Broglio's turn for the Cardinals. He should be ready, although right now he ranks as the weak link in the pitching staff. He was tagged for two runs by Pittsburgh Sunday.

While the Cardinals kept up the pressure, Maury Wills applied some for the Dodgers against Pittsburgh, stroking four hits, starting three rallies and driving in two runs as Los Angeles maintained its grip on the top spot by belting the Pirates 9-4.

In other NL action, Vada Pinson collected two homers, including his 1,000th major league hit, and Gordy Coleman hit a grand slam in Cincinnati's 14-3 trouncing of Milwaukee. Houston's Dick Farrell four-hit Philadelphia 4-2 and the New York Mets defeated San Francisco 4-2.

Sadecki, 9-8, started against Cub ace Dick Ellsworth, 20-9, allowing only four hits in 5 2/3 innings, but was bothered by periodic wildness and Manager Johnny Keane decided to bring in Taylor. Taylor allowed only a single the rest of the way.

The Cardinals got to Ellsworth for two runs in the second. With the bases full, Stan Musial lifted a long sacrifice fly that brought in the only run St. Louis needed.

Giants Sound Club: Sherman

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Allie Sherman stoutly maintains that his New York Giants are sound, in fact "we might have the best team in the last three years."

But the coach of the defending Eastern Division champions in the National Football League made a move that indicates he's far from overloaded in talent going into the weekend opener against Baltimore.

Sherman, whose Giants won just two of five exhibition games, dropped Jim Pace, a halfback, from the roster Wednesday. That put the Giants one man under the 37-player roster limit.

"It will give us a little room to pick up a player elsewhere if we desire," Sherman explained. And they desire. They're looking. But there's little to see.

His concern is a back-up man to his running backs, Alex Webster and Phil King, each of whom had injuries during the exhibition season.

Baltimore, which lost only once in five exhibitions—and that with Johnny Unitas out of action—is a slight favorite. Unitas sat out the final exhibition with a sore shoulder but is reported ready for full time action against the Giants.

Roy Corey To Be Cooking Instructor

An instructor with more than 20 years of experience as a chef has been selected to teach a course for cafe and hotel cooks being sponsored by the Texas Employment Commission at Howard County Junior College.

Roy Edward Corey, currently a chef at the Dallas Continental Inn, has been selected for the teaching position. He and Mrs. Corey will move to Big Spring this weekend so that Corey can assist with final preparations before the course begins Sept. 23.

Howard County Junior College is setting up a classroom kitchen in the old Student Union Building for the instruction. There are currently about 30 applicants for the course. Leon Kinney, office manager for the TEC, said today, but not all of these will qualify for the training. More applicants are needed.

To attend the course, a person must be unemployed or underemployed and must be able to pass an aptitude test. The latter is most important, Kinney pointed out, because aptitude and ability requirements are higher for this work than for many other occupations. To do well on the test, applicants should have at least a 10th grade education and the desire to be a cook.

Classes will meet from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. each Monday through Friday for 18 weeks.

Kinney pointed out that there are many good cook jobs available in the Permian Basin and that even more openings in the future will make the field attractive in the coming years.

Corey has a wide range of experience to draw upon while teaching the course at HCJC. He was a mess sergeant in the service and taught cooking there before going to New Mexico Highland University, Las Vegas, N. M., for chef training. Since then he has taught cooking as well as worked for some top organizations.

He worked four years with Ramada Inns, Inc. and prior to taking his present job, was with the Hockaday School for Girls in Dallas for about one year.

The training offered will meet many requirements of business cooking. Among major points are food control, cost control and preparation of food.

New Garbage Trucks Due

The first of two new garbage pickup trucks will arrive in Big Spring this weekend and will be put in service in the residential area Monday or Tuesday. Director of Public Works Ernest Lillard said the second truck, equipped with stand-by hydraulic lift for use with the downtown containers, will arrive about a week later.

Purchase of the two new 24-cubic yard packer body trucks was authorized at the July 9 meeting of the city commission. They were purchased on the same bid price as the present Pak-Mor body used with the container system. Both will be on International chassis. Total cost of the two units, delivered from San Antonio, was $22,284.42.

"The truck with the stand-by lift will be used in the residential area on regular pick-up duty," Lillard said. "But it will be available in case of a breakdown of the one now in use. Two old trucks will be converted to trailer-type vehicles, with motor attachment to operate the packers. They are 12 and 16-cubic yard trucks."

No Progress, Says Goldwater

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says that "not one of our problems has been solved by the new frontier."

In a speech Wednesday night to the National Federation of Republican Women, opening a three-day silver anniversary meeting in Chicago, Goldwater attacked the Kennedy administration on all fronts.

"If the new frontier has a purpose, it is to expand the federal government to the point where it can regulate, not govern, the individual lives of all Americans," Goldwater said.

"A 'daddy knows best' attitude" has been adopted by the Kennedy administration, the senator said. "And 'daddy' is getting tougher all the time. He's beginning to think that he can legislate away any and all problems that arise on the American scene."

Tito Plans U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia will make an informal visit to Washington confer with President Kennedy on Oct. 17, the White House announced today.

The announcement of plans for Tito's first meeting with an American president since 1960—when he got together with former President Dwight Eisenhower in New York—said the talks will involve "a full exchange of views on a number of matters of interest to both countries."

Tito will stop in Washington en route to the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York. The Washington stopover will follow a tour of Latin America by Tito.

The Eisenhower-Tito meeting also coincided with a Tito trip to New York for a General Assembly session. The Yugoslav leader did not visit Washington at that time.

Mrs. Foster's Rites Friday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Funeral will be at 2 p.m. Friday for Mrs. G. D. Foster, 62, wife of a prominent local businessman. Mrs. Foster was killed Monday in a head-on collision about 20 miles northwest of Lubbock on FM 400, which took the lives of two other persons.

Services will be at the Twenty-Second and Austin Street Church of Christ with the pastor, Ray Holland, officiating. Burial will be in the Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Mrs. Foster was born Sept. 13, 1900 in Nashville, Ark. and came to Colorado City with her parents when she was seven years old. She attended school here and lived here the rest of her life. She married G. D. Foster in December, 1921. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Mr. Foster and a daughter, George Maedell Foster, are still hospitalized in Lubbock from injuries received in the same accident. The daughter is still seriously ill, but her condition is improved.

Survivors include her husband and daughter, both of Colorado City; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, Colorado City; and two brothers, Ed Holt, Wichita, Kans., and J. B. Holt, Olney.

Indian Guides To Organize Today

An organizational meeting of tribal leaders will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the YMCA as the Y Indian Guide program gets started for another year. Curt Mullins, general secretary of the Y, said today.

Grant Boardman, chief of the Longhouse, will be in charge of the meeting. Old tribes, of which there were 13 last year, will be re-organized and new tribes will be developed. Mullins said the goal is to add about 35 new tribes.

PART OF EXCITEMENT Due here in the Shrine Circus

Shrine Circus Due Sept. 25

The circus is coming to town! The world famous Shrine Circus, sponsored by the Big Spring Shrine Association and Suez Temple, will present two performances at 3 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 25.

Both performances of the colorful show will be held at the Rodeo Bowl. Facilities were made available by the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo Association. Local Shriners have charge of ticket sales. Adult tickets (costing $1) will go on sale at the First National Bank, State National Bank, Security State Bank, Hemphill-Wells, the Chamber of Commerce, Blum's and Lewis' 5 & 10.

In addition, local Shriners have planned to sell tickets which are to be distributed free to children of Junior High school age and under.

A special parade by the Suez Motor Patrol, composed of Big Spring Shriners, will herald the coming of the circus. The local unit will perform in Stanton, Ackerly and Lamesa on Saturday, Sept. 14 and in Snyder, Colorado City and Coahoma Saturday, Sept. 21.

A mixed group of wild animals presented by Capt. William Horne and trained elephants presented by Capt. Eugene Scott will head the attraction.

All other acts are new. They include performances on the high trapeze, aerial acts, and acrobatics. Of special interest is Kurt Jensen's performing chimpanzees and "Eastern Star," a dancing horse. Numerous other acts include a circus parade and the shennanigans of clowns.

Proceeds of the three-hour show will be used to support Shrine hospitals over the country. The $1 admission charge for adults includes tax.

NEW BOOKS

It's As Gossipy As A Hen Party

THE GROUP
by Mary McCarthy
(Harcourt, Brace, $5.95)

As gossipy as a hen party. Miss McCarthy's novel is about eight Vassar girls. Class of 1933, from the time of their graduation to the beginning of the war in Europe.

It is a story that may cause some shudders in the Vassar faculty, but the Girls—of all generations—will lap it up.

The Group had roomed together at school. Its collective image was mainly on the social register side, straight from private schools and ultraconservative households, but of course the girls were broadminded. They didn't always subscribe to the tenet that Mother Knows Best, and some of them had terribly advanced ideas about the New Deal and all that.

So what happens? Love affairs, jobs for some, marriages, babies to raise, infidelities, some tragedy and a little happiness. One girl marries a pediatrician, another marries a psychiatrist. One gets involved with a married man who is in analysis, another escapes from a cheap affair to marry an older man. A snooty, snippy one turns out to be abnormal. One is naturally predestined to be an old maid.

The eight portraits are not all of the same size, nor in the same key. The novel opens with the marriage of Kay to a ne'er-do-well and ends when she meets tragedy. Her story serves as a loose framework for the whole narrative.

The author's style is as gossipy. Discursively it piles on detail after detail of the sort women notice, from household hints, cookery, fashions and bottle feeding to intimate sex and those lovelorn gambits which for years were exploited by soap salesmen on the radio.

Miss McCarthy was Vassar '33, and if anyone should know the score, she should. Her novel about overprivileged females in the depression years of the 1930s is a bit long-winded for male readers. But the women folks will find it as engrossing as one of those old party-line telephone circuits.

THE LAST LOVE
by Thomas B. Costain
(Doubleday, $5.95)

Napoleon in his second exile at St. Helena. Blonde Betsy Balcombe, the little tomboy who blossomed into a teen-age beauty. These are the two principal characters of Costain's fictional account of the corporal-emperor's last years.

There actually was a Betsy, daughter of an English family in whose home Napoleon stayed briefly when he first arrived at St. Helena in 1815. As a novelist, Costain has portrayed the 50-ish ex-conqueror as being amused, and a little fascinated, by the naive but spunky little girl.

There is a lot of hero-worship on the girl's side, and as she reaches the threshold of womanhood there is always the possibility that her worship will turn into an infatuation.

The plot is concerned chiefly with Napoleon's irate but ineffectual resistance to a neurotic governor who is his jailer, and the hatching of an escape plot that misses fruition ironically.

Napoleon is depicted as a still slightly sputtering dictator, disgusted by the growing seediness of his entourage, who is forced by ill health into a final realization that his notion of starting a new life in America as a prospective millionaire is doomed to failure.

It is a surely rambling story. In style and content it is rather old-fashioned, in a Victorian way. Its dialogue is a bit too stilted and frequently the characters are very real. But in its 432 pages lies a mild escapism of the costume novel.

Pleads Guilty

Robert Barragan, charged with aggravated assault on his wife, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Wednesday. Judge Lee Porter sentenced him to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Helping Survey

KNOTT —Mrs. Susie Mae Harrell, Knott postmistress, said that L. N. Thornton, who carries R. 1, and C. L. Payne, Star Route carrier out of the Knott Post Office, are cooperating with the United States Department of Agriculture in the annual Acreage Survey check. Survey cards are to be distributed by the route carriers starting Thursday. Mrs. Harrell urged full cooperation in filling out the cards and returning them to her office. Important market and consumer data are compiled from the cards.

Judge Smith Gets Salary Increase

LAMESA (SC) — A salary increase granted to Dist. Judge Truett Smith last month was made effective Sept. 1 by the Dawson County commissioner's court here Monday.

Dawson County pays only $725 of a $2,900 pay hike granted to the 106th District Court judge. Lynn and Garza counties share the remainder equally.

The court also authorized the sale of a small tract of excess right-of-way land in Lamesa for $2,500 and accepted the low bid on anti-freeze for county vehicles.

Electronic Plant Boosts Trinity

TRINITY, Tex. (AP)—In the small East Texas town of Trinity, an electronic plant has recently been established which stands to produce $2.5 million per year in goods.

The plant which manufactures precision stabilized mylar capacitors is believed the only one of its kind in the nation.

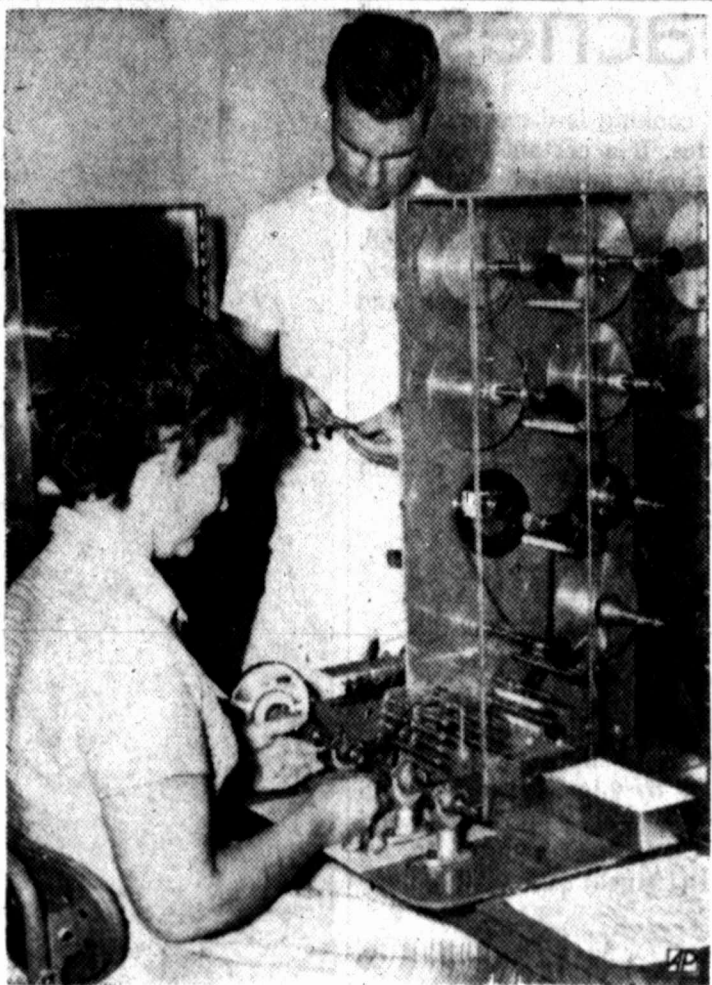

Milton Hatcher, president of the company, said the plant that started less than a year ago with three employees has now grown to ten employees with a weekly payroll in excess of $700.

The plant was established through the combined efforts of Hatcher, his wife, Mrs. Celeste Hatcher, and 26 enthusiastic stockholders comprised of Trinity business men.

For one shift operation the present production capacity is 1,000 capacitors per day with a gross volume of $14,400 per month and $172,000 per year.

In order to meet production demands, the capacity must be increased to a two-shift operation with an additional 43 employees and additional equipment.

The product is one which retains the ability to store electric energy for a considerable time. It is used in precision timing circuits and for cleaning electronic signals.

Tax Cutting Moves Slow

NEW YORK (AP)—Will federal tax cuts be too little and too late to do the job originally outlined for them—to get the economy growing faster?

Or will they take effect only in time to ease the pains of another recession? One is due in a few months, if you believe the compilers of charts on the length of business cycles.

Tax cuts have taken another step in their slow-motion march from administration idea toward congressional enactment.

Whatever their final effect, each step forward—like their approval Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee—gives business an emotional lift.

This usually shows up first in that most mercurial spot, the stock market. On schedule, the committee's action with its promise of lower tax rates in the future for corporation earnings sent stock prices up Tuesday.

The tax cut proposal has been a talking point in market decisions for more than a year now. At the time of the spectacular stock market crash in May 1962 many feared a recession was being foreshadowed. Tax cuts were talked up big as an antidote.

Business didn't follow the stock market downward and the tax cut proposals were delayed until the start of the new Congress this January. As business picked up this spring pressure for quick tax cuts eased.

The congressional path is still a long one. The House must act on its committee's recommendation. Then the Senate will deliberate. The question now is whether it will act this year or next, and whether its timing will be off.

For a tax cut to have any real impact on consumer buying—beyond the psychological one of great expectations—the actual cut in the amount withheld from pay checks for federal taxes must take place. The checks must actually be larger. For business spending plans to be fattened, a cut in corporate income tax rates must be assured by congressional action.

Auto Popular With Thieves

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Last February thieves stole a car parked by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Nichols in front of their home.

The car was found Aug. 24 in Los Angeles, and Nichols went for it last week. He washed it, bought new tires and filled the gas tank.

Last weekend the car was stolen again—from the same spot in front of their home.

"If they had waited one more day, we would have had the car waxed, too," Mrs. Nichols said.

New Look In Road Parks

AUSTIN (AP)—Driving east from San Antonio on Interstate Highway 10 a motorist will come upon what might look like rockets poised for takeoff on each side of the superhighway.

However, they are really the roofs of the arbors for the first Safety Rest Area (roadside park) designed and built to interstate standards in Texas.

Texas Highway Department men refer to the new rest area as the "Jet Park." It does have a jet-age look.

The huge, new rest area is actually two parks. Each is 1,200 feet long and 107 feet wide with four arbors. Each arbor contains a fireplace, fire wood, and incinerator, a concrete table and benches, and a planter box.

The rest area is one of about 85 planned for the state's inter-state highway system. The distance between rest areas will average only 37 miles throughout the state when the Interstate System is completed in 1972.

There are between 15 and 20 different designs for safety rest areas according to the highway department. Landscape architects design each facility to its surrounding countryside, incorporating native stone and other materials.

The Highway Department has already selected sites for half the new areas and about one-fourth of the 85 parks are in various stages of construction.

Aside from the new areas, there are more than 1,000 roadside parks and turnouts throughout the state.

Highway Worker Killed By Truck

MINNEOLA (AP)—Forrest Maxfield, 35, was killed Tuesday when a truck hit the big pneumatic roller he was operating for the Texas Highway Department.

Truck driver Larry Joe Tiner of Tyler was injured. The accident happened 2 miles west of Mineola where a section of U.S. 80 is being repaired.

Nederland Loses Glory As Nation's Biggest City

NEDERLAND, Tex. (AP)—Nederland is suffering from "ungrowing pains" as a result of the new annexation law passed by the legislature.

No longer is Jefferson County the possessor of the biggest—and in some instances the most empty—town in the nation, as Nederland's land area dropped from 689 to 4.24 square miles—plus 4 acres added last week.

In 1960, the whole thing began when Jefferson County's cities began a land grab described as the biggest since the opening of the Oklahoma Territory.

Grabs by other cities seemed tiny when Nederland's City Council in a special meeting annexed all the unincorporated land in the county.

The city boundaries were drawn to take in China, Cheek, Fannett, Hampshire, Keith Lake and about 6.5 square miles of the Gulf of Mexico.

Hastily, other area cities ganged up on this industrial center and obtained an injunction preventing the Nederland city fathers from passing to a second and final reading of the annexation ordinance to make the area a permanent part of the city. Such was the situation until the legislature stepped in with its new annexation law limiting any city from grabbing more than it can digest.

And now Nederland folks are more in keeping with its estimated 15,000 population and one without the Gulf of Mexico as its swimming pool within its city limits.

Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which boasts a 454.94 square mile area, can return to its publicity of being the biggest city in area in the nation.

Castro's Praise Wins Him Auto

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Soviet-made automobile, gift of Premier Nikita Khrushchev, has been presented to Fidel Castro, Havana radio says.

The broadcast Tuesday said the car was given in recognition of the Cuban prime minister's praise of progress in the Soviet auto industry.

Life-Saving Sombrero

This western-style hat may have saved the life of John Vaceck, of East Bernard, Tex., when his car struck a pickup truck in the downtown section of adjoining Nuevo Larado, Mexico. Police said Vaceck lost control of his car and hit the parked vehicle. Vaceck suffered only minor face and head cuts and was able to drive home. (AP Wirephoto)

TASTY PEACH CREAM PIE
Fresh peaches are the secret

Peach Cream Pie Gives Cool Touch To Meal

This tasty peach cream pie requires chilling instead of baking. Fresh peaches make a cool dessert.

PEACH CREAM PIE
1 family size pkg (4 1/2 oz.) vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
3 cups milk
1 baked 9-inch graham cracker crust
1 cup fresh peach slices
1/2 cup whipping cream (optional)

Combine pie filling mix and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Cool only about 5 minutes, stirring once or twice.

Pour 1/2 of mixture into graham cracker crust. Top with layer of peach slices. Cover with remaining filling. Chill. Whip cream and use as garnish on pie. Garnish with additional peach slices, if desired.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.
FRESH PEACH PIE
5 cups peeled, sliced fresh peaches
1/2 cup sugar
2 tbsps. quick cooking tapioca
1 tsp. lemon juice

1 tsp. cinnamon.
Few grains of salt
1 tsp. butter cut into bits
Pastry for a two-crust, 9-inch pie
1 tsp. sugar
Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Mix first seven ingredients into two quart bowl. Let stand while making pastry. Line 9-inch pan with pastry. Pour in fruit mixture. Prick air holes with tines of fork. Crimp edges of pastry together. Prick air holes with tines of fork. Brush lightly with cold water, using your fingers or pastry brush. Sprinkle with one teaspoon sugar. Put pie on lowest rack position in oven. Bake 40 to 50 minutes.

STREUSEL PEACH PIE
1 can (1 lb., 13 oz.) sliced cling peaches
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. plus 1/2 cup flour
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 tsp. finely grated orange rind
8-inch pie shell with fluted rim, unbaked
Turn peaches into a colander or strainer to drain thoroughly; sprinkle with lemon juice. Mix peaches with 1/4 cup of the sugar and 1 tablespoon flour, mix together the remaining 1/4 cup sugar and the 1/2 cup flour, butter and orange rind with a pastry blender until butter particles are fine.

Turn peach mixture into pie shell, sprinkle with flour mixture. Bake on low shelf of a hot 425 degrees oven until pastry and topping are lightly browned 30 to 40 minutes.
Serve warm.

PEACH PIE
Peaches
1 tsp. quick cooking tapioca
1/2 cup honey
Line pie pan with pastry. Fill with sliced fresh peaches. Sprinkle with tapioca. Pour honey over peaches. Cover with strips of pastry. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.
FRENCH CRUMB PEACH PIE
2-crust pkg pie crust mix
4 cups peeled, sliced fresh peaches (6 to 8 medium size)
1/2 cup sugar
2 tbsps. tapioca
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. butter
Follow package directions for 1 pastry crust. Fit into 9-inch pie pan. Chill, mix fresh peaches, 1/2 cup sugar and tapioca. Blend rest of pie crust mix, 1/2 cup sugar and nutmeg. Cut in butter with pastry blender, or 2 knives, to make coarse crumbs. Pour fresh peach mixture into chilled pastry crust. Sprinkle with crumbs.
Bake at 400 degrees F. for 40 minutes, or until fruit starts to bubble and crumbs are light brown. Cool 2 hours before serving. Makes 9-inch pie.

VERY EASIEST PEACH PIE
9-inch unbaked pastry crust
1 cup sugar
3 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
6 medium-size fresh peaches, peeled and quartered
2 tbsps. butter
Mix sugar, flour and cinnamon. Sprinkle half of mixture over fresh peaches, arranged in single layer, close together. Sprinkle rest of sugar mixture over top. Dot with butter.
Bake at 400 degrees F. for 45 minutes to 1 hour, or until juices thicken and crust is light brown. Serve warm or cold. Makes 9-inch pie.

DEEP-DISH PEACH PIE
6 cups (about 3 lbs.) sliced fresh peaches
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
Pastry using 1 cup flour
Combine peaches, sugar, salt and tapioca. Turn into a 1-quart casserole. Dot with butter or margarine. Cover with pastry rolled to 1/4-inch thickness. Trim, turn under and flute edges. Cut a small gash in center of crust to allow for the escape of steam. Bake at 425 degrees from 30 to 40 minutes or until crust is brown. Serve warm or cold. Yields 6 servings.

New-Fashioned Dessert

Halved peaches, warmed in a skillet over low heat and topped by lime-laced whipped cream, make a delicious surprise dessert for unexpected supper guests.

Desserts Call For Peaches

One of the eternal joys of cooking is discovering new ways to serve perennial favorites. If a certain food ranks high on your popularity list, it's only natural for you to be always searching for new ways to enjoy it even further. Peaches are popular for desserts this week. Since peaches are plentiful in grocery stores this week, the food section is filled with recipes using fresh and canned peaches.

COCONUT CRESTED CAKE

1 package (1 pound 2.8 ounces) lemon chiffon cake mix
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1/4 cup milk
Dash salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup shredded coconut

Prepare cake according to package directions. Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven in 10- by 4-inch tube pan 45 to 55 minutes or two 8- by 8- by 2-inch pans 30 to 35 minutes or until done. Combine remaining ingredients and spread on top of hot or cold cake; broil about 5 inches from heat until golden. Makes 1 (10-inch) cake or 2 (8-inch) square cakes.

PEACH MALLOW TRIFLE

2 egg whites
Dash salt
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 package (3 1/4 ounce) vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) cling peach halves
Coconut-Crested Cake

Beat egg whites and salt until stiff. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add cream of tartar and beat vigorously. Drop by heaping spoonfuls onto greased cookie sheet. Bake in 275 degrees F. (very slow) oven 1 hour. Remove with spatula to rack; cool. Meanwhile, combine pudding mix and milk and cook according to package directions. Let cool about 5 minutes, then stir in almond extract and marshmallows. Stir until marshmallows are partially dissolved. Cool. Just before serving, heat peaches thoroughly in their syrup in chafing dish or saucepan. Place each peach half on a slice of Coconut-Crested Cake. Spoon pudding over peaches and top each serving with crown of meringue. Makes 6 or 7 servings.

DELICIOUS PEACH PUDDING

1 package (12 ounces) frozen sliced peaches, thawed
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or other shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Arrange fruit in a greased 8- by 8- by 2-inch pan or 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and lemon juice.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt, and sift again. Cream butter, gradually add 1/2 cup sugar and cream together well. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Pour over fruit mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until topping is done. Serve hot, with or without cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

GOLDEN PEACH CREPES

PEACH SAUCE:
2 cups cold water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
3/4 cup sugar
Few drops yellow food coloring (optional)
2 cups sliced fresh peaches
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
CREPES:
3 eggs, beaten
1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup pancake mix

For sauce, thoroughly mix cold water, cornstarch, sugar and food coloring in saucepan. Add peach slices; cook over low heat, stirring very frequently until thickened and clear. Stir in almond extract.
For crepes, combine beaten eggs and milk. Add pancake mix, stirring until smooth. For each crepe place about a teaspoonful of batter in a small frying pan and heat until butter bubbles. Pour in enough batter to coat bottom of pan with a thin layer. Bake until delicately browned on under side; turn and bake on other side. Fold crepes in quarters and serve with warm peach sauce. Makes 10 to 12 Crepes.

BAKED FRESH PEACH DUMPLINGS

6 cups (about 3 pounds) sliced fresh peaches
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup milk

Combine peaches, the one cup sugar and salt. Turn into a 9- by 9- by 2-inch baking pan. Dot with butter or margarine. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and one tablespoon sugar. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk and stir into the mixture. Mix well. Drop batter from a teaspoon in eight mounds over the top of peaches. Bake at 425 degrees F. 30 minutes or until browned. Cover with foil and bake 10 minutes longer. Serve warm.

This One's Good

Peach Of A Guy Peels The Peaches For Pies

By JO BRIGHT
Mrs. Ross Boykin 101 Jefferson St. has a kitchen appliance many women would envy. Her husband "automatically" peels her peaches.

"When August comes, we must be home," said Mrs. Boykin, "because peach season is here."
An abundant crop is harvested annually from the 12-year-old Elberta tree which is carefully tended by Boykin. Besides watering, fertilizing, spraying and pruning, he uses plenty of crystals in the fall to keep borers away.

This year the Boykins acquired three dwarf peach trees, the Bonanza species, which should be bearing next season.
"Our Elberta tree has always produced a good crop and the flavor is wonderful," said Mrs. Boykin. "Our neighbors know they are welcome to help themselves, so our good neighbors, Mrs. J. A. Coffey and Mrs. Gene Turner, often 'swipe' a peach for breakfast."

PER DAY PARING

Back to the peeling part, Boykin says that since he is unquestionably in charge of that phase, he is grateful that no more peaches ripen in a day than he can peel. The total crop for a season will be close to 8 or 10 bushels. If the wind or hail doesn't knock off enough peaches, the Boykins pull more so that those remaining will grow larger.

"Our freezer is full of peaches and fish," said Boykin as he explained that he spends leisure time in pursuit of black bass that thrive in area lakes. The fish are banded and stored, then the skin removed with pliers before cooking. He just took 25 pounds of fish to his mother, Mrs. G. F. Hughes of Abilene, and has about 30 pounds left. Boykin enjoys the sport more than the eating, so most of his catch is given to friends. Mrs. Boykin said her enthusiasm for fishing was dampened, along with the rest of her, when she was unexpectedly dumped into the lake one day.

EARLIER DAYS

Boykin, who is associated with his brother, Zollie, in Boykin Brothers Oil Producers, came here from Fort Worth over 30 years ago. His wife, a registered nurse, arrived here from Dallas 27 years ago to work with the late Dr. C. K. Bivings.
Washington Place was practically a pasture when they built their home 25 years ago, just before their marriage.

"Both the boulevard and our street were just dirt roads then," said Boykin. Mrs. Boykin added that the gate to the rodeo arena was just about where the J. D. Jones home is on Eleventh Place now.

TWO GIRLS

The two daughters of the Boykins are Mrs. David Hodnett, (Annette) who has just moved into a new home in Kentwood, and Mrs. H. J. Johnson, (Betty) Shreveport, La. Both girls were domestically inclined and Mrs. Boykin said that she went through nine years home-making between the two, that took her away from the stove and sewing machine. Annette was once the local delegate to the national FHA convention in Chicago.
Mr. and Mrs. Boykin observed their 25th anniversary last month, but didn't have time to celebrate it.
There are two other trees in the Boykin's yard that have provided them pleasure. The Burkett peach provides nut meats for her baking. She explained that they have called it the "singing" tree because the children sang as they played in its branches. The non-bearing mulberry provides 40 feet of shade for the octagon shaped patio, centered with a planter filled with violets.

Here are some of the recipes Mrs. Boykin uses with the fresh peaches.

PEACH COBBLER WITH SPICED CRUST

Crust:
1 cup flour
1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup cold water
2 tbsps. sugar
1 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
Cut shortening into dry ingredients until it resembles meal. Add cold water and quickly stir with a fork until dough holds together and turns loose of bowl. Roll out on dough board and cut into rectangular strips for top and bottom crust.

Filling:
4 to 6 peaches
1 1/3 cups sugar
3 tbsps. tapioca
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 stick margarine
Mix and allow to set for 15 minutes to soften tapioca, then bring to boiling point. Pour into baking dish lined with crust strips and cover top with crust strips. Bake until golden brown in moderate oven. Serve warm with sour cream for a topping or light cream if desired.

SPICED PEACH PRESERVES
Peel and slice firm peaches. Allow to each cupful of thin sliced peaches 1 cup sugar, sprinkle of nutmeg and cinnamon. Allow to every 5 cupfuls of peaches 1 seeded orange, minced.
Let ingredients stand 2 hours to make own juice, then boil, stirring occasionally until syrup is heavy. Seal into sterile jars.

PEACH CRISP

(Coffee Cake)

Pare and slice eight fresh peaches and place in greased baking dish.
Sprinkle with 1/4 cup water and 2 teaspoons lemon juice.
Combine following ingredients until mixture resembles corn meal:

1/4 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. butter
1/4 tsp. nutmeg or cinnamon
Sprinkle this over peaches and bake in 350 degree oven until peaches are tender and top is brown.

FRESH PEACH ICE CREAM

6 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. vanilla
1/2 tsp. almond extract
1 large can evaporated milk
4 cups soft mashed fresh peaches mixed with
1 cup sugar
Whole milk to finish filling freezer to top of paddles.
Beat eggs and add sugar, salt and flavorings. Add canned milk and mashed, sweetened peaches.
Pour into ice cream can and finish filling can with whole milk. Place in ice cream freezer, pack with ice and salt and freeze.

FRESH PEACH SHERBET

2 cups ripe peaches
1 tbsps. lemon juice
1/3 cup sugar
1 cup condensed milk
2 egg whites
Mix peaches with lemon juice and mash through coarse sieve. Add sugar and milk to the puree and chill. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into tray and almost freeze. Beat with electric beater and quickly pour into tray and refreeze.

Texan Wants To Launch New Nation

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP)—Bill Manning wants to start a new country. It's not that he's unhappy here. He just thinks he can do a better job.

"I want to live in a country with totally free enterprise and complete personal freedom," he says in a soft, firm voice.

Manning, 40, is a tall, blue-eyed man whose hair is getting pretty thin on top.

"I think a man should do as he pleases, just so long as he doesn't infringe on the rights of other men," the preacher-farmer-promoter and father of four said.

SITE PICKED

He wants a chunk of land in South America for his new country. He has the site picked out. But so far the governments have not been exactly enthusiastic.

"I have some people working on this," he said. "I think we can get the land. The governments will be happy to have an example of free enterprise and complete freedom to help them fight communism and develop the land."

He is going to call the new country the "respubliko de Libera Lando." This is Esperanto for the "Republic of Free Land." Esperanto will be the official language of the country after everyone has a chance to learn it.

"The ideal place for this country is in the Guiana highlands," Manning said. "This is almost completely undeveloped territory."

He has a constitution, declaration of independence, a monetary system, a calendar system and a decimal time system all worked out.

HARDY SOULS

"What I need now are about 500 or 600 hardy individuals who don't expect to watch television every night, to settle this country," he said. "I don't care about their backgrounds, just about what they can produce."

It will cost a couple about $500 to settle in his land.

A guy who settles in the Respubliko can keep anything he produces, Manning said, because there will be no taxes.

He can also go without clothes. It says so in the constitution, Manning said. "I don't have to look just as long as that naked person doesn't infringe on somebody's rights, it will be legal."

This makes Manning's constitution a little unusual. The government won't be able to put any restrictions on morals, dress or regulate businesses and professions.

Manning was a journalism student at Texas A&M in the late 1940s.

Fall Vital For Farm Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fall and winter may be an important period of farm policy decision-making at the grass roots.

It could weigh heavily on recommendations of the Kennedy administration and action by Congress on farming.

There apparently is a strong swing away from federal farm-aid programs among farmers and a reluctance by Congress to do anything about new farm proposals until members get a clearer idea of what the thinking is among rural people.

General farm organizations hold their conventions—from county to state and national levels—in the fall and adopt resolutions on their desires.

AID PROGRAMS

It is also the season when farmers elect community and county committees who help administer the federal government's crop control, price support and other farm-aid programs.

The various conventions are expected to focus discussions on the growers' sound defeat, at a referendum, of the Kennedy administration's new and tighter wheat control plan and their indications at public hearings that they did not want federal regulation of the marketing of potatoes.

Last year, turkey growers defeated a marketing control plan for their product.

Also likely to be discussed is a fight cattlemen are making against an administration land diversion program which would offer subsidies to farmers to establish grass on cropland for raising more beef cattle. Cattlemen who have already established pastures at their own expense object to government subsidization of new competitors.

TO DECLINE

Since rejection of the new wheat control plan, plus refusal of Congress to put controls on milk, development of strong opposition to potato sales regulations and defeat of the turkey program, many farm leaders and observers have been predicting that government intervention in agriculture will decline year by year.

Farm meetings this fall should provide strong indication as to whether this is what farmers actually want.

The influential American Farm Bureau Federation will be striving, at its various meetings, to strengthen member support for policies seeking reduced government controls. This organization has been given major credit for defeat of the wheat plan and the turkey marketing order.

Such competitor organizations as the National Grange and the National Farmers Union supported the Kennedy wheat plan.

DEAR ABBY

Neither One Was Real

DEAR ABBY: I gave my fiancée a ring which I considered adequate for the time being. I bought it at a loan shop. I told her when I gave it to her that I knew it wasn't much, but I'd get her a better one when I could afford it. She accepted it, wore it for a week and then she returned it to me saying her mother had had it appraised and it was a fake diamond. She said I had cheapened her before her family and friends, and then she dropped me like a red hot poker. I am a commission officer in the state militia, and am supposed to be a leader of men, and this has made me look pretty foolish. My question is, was it proper etiquette for her mother to have the ring appraised? TURNED DOWN

DEAR TURNED: NO! But do not waste any tears over this. The girl wasn't real, either.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is being married. An aunt of mine belongs to the Moose. Neither my husband nor I belong, and we don't know anyone else who does. This aunt told my daughter that she is going to give her a wedding shower and invite all the ladies from the Moose. She says then she will find out who her friends are. I was furious when my daughter told me this, and said I wouldn't stand for it. We don't want these people who have never met my daughter to buy gifts for her. How can I tell my aunt NO without hard feelings? BURBANK

DEAR BURBANK: Tell her you appreciate her kindness, but she will have to find out who her friends are some other way. It is considered poor taste for relatives to give showers.

DEAR ABBY: When I first started to date I never went out with a boy who smoked because the smell of cigarette smoke on someone's breath made me sick. When I married my husband he didn't smoke, but about two years ago he took up the habit. I haven't enjoyed his kisses since, and he knows it. He has tried all the mouth washes, etc., but his kisses still have that cigarette flavor and I hate it. When I was pregnant (last year) it made me so nauseated I was actually sick. I have even tried to learn to smoke but I can't. Am I nuts? MARCIE

DEAR MARCIE: No. Your husband is.

Mexican Baggage Inspections Cut

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Customs Bureau says baggage and other belongings of persons entering Mexico will be inspected only once, at the port of entry.

The bureau, a branch of the Treasury Department, officially notified the Tourism Bureau of the long awaited order.

In the past, tourists were checked four or five times if they were traveling by car—once at the port of entry, at a checkpoint about 16 miles inland, again near Monterrey, and once more close to the capital.

DAILY GUIDE — There are many pleasant influences today that should help you enjoy yourself, but also to do some constructive thinking. It would be a good day to confer with those in authority, to make contacts by correspondence, or take a business trip.

Keep in mind that although the results could be very favorable, do not try to force any permanent decisions. Keep things flexible and plans or agreements tentative; little changes in details are likely to be necessary later.

Mars now enters Scorpio so those born in that sign will find extra energy with which to push their personal ambitions. They can be aggressive and very demanding, so are likely to be more so in the next few weeks.

This means also that Taureans will be challenged to bestir themselves more, and may find that other people tend to boss them around. Leos and Aquarians may experience some slight obstacles coming along, and these could grow into critical problems next month.

A fairly neutral day ahead; take it easy and light.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, VIRGO! Things in your neighborhood begin to get busy now, and by next month you may have some upset or confusion because of an unusual situation.

The hard work of the past two years continues into next year, but ought to be lessening some-

Health Continues For Quintuplets

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — The four-day-old Prieto Quintuplet boys were reported in good health today, their future brightened by funds for their education and support.

Their mother, Mrs. Ines Marie Cuervo de Prieto, 34, was also reported improving as Venezuelans responded to her concern over how to support five new sons in a one-bedroom home on her husband's $19 a day income.

She received a letter from President Romulo Betancourt saying he had set up a group insurance policy for educating the boys.

Mississippi Quads Finally Get Names

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Misses A. B. C. and D. Harkins now have names.

They are Alice Bernice, Elizabeth Jane, Mary Regina and Anita Margaret.

The quadruplets were born last Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Harkins of Jackson. They had expected only twins and were short of names anyway, having had to choose for their other five children. So the quads were assigned letters temporarily.

Confusion Notes Ceylonese Scene

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — In Ceylon's story of oil, politics and diplomacy it is difficult to distinguish ideology from incompetence, stubbornness from hastiness.

A key point may be a statement attributed to an official in Washington: "Ceylon is a cheap place to stand on a principle."

The principle is that of not giving aid to countries that seize American property without compensation. The United States halted aid to Ceylon last February.

The situation before and since leaves those closest to the scene with varying evaluations. Marxists here depict it as a clash of old-fashioned oil company imperialism with nationalism. Some others suspect poor government tactics on all sides.

THREE FIRMS

The oil companies involved are Burmah-Shell, based in Britain, and Esso and Caltex, based in the United States. For decades, they provided the needs of this tropical island off the southern tip of India.

The Soviet Union started undercutting the companies' prices for oil from Middle Eastern fields. In 1961 Ceylon's Commerce Minister T. B. Ilangaratna established a government company, Ceylon Petroleum Corp. (CPC), to import cheaper Russian oil products.

The official objective was to save foreign currency. The Western oil companies thought Ilangaratna's move was based more on his leftist ideology than economic reasoning.

SOVIET GAS

To put CPC into business the Ceylonese government seized 178 service stations, 89 kerosene outlets and other facilities from the three companies. Western names were still on some stations when Soviet gasoline began to be sold from them.

Washington and London objected on behalf of the companies. Ceylon responded they would get fair compensation and would be allowed to continue to operate on the "basis of fair competition."

CPC quickly took about half the retail business.

About this time an American-owned utility company was nationalized in Brazil. Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, an Iowa Republican, wrote into the American aid bill a prohibition against helping countries that failed to provide adequate and speedy compensation for nationalized property.

The U.S. ambassador, Miss Frances Willis, warned Ceylon's prime minister, Mrs. Sirima Bandaranaike, of this. But little happened until the deadline on American aid drew near in February.

GRANTS, LOANS

At stake were $1.3 million in grants and $3 million in loans, big amounts in an underdeveloped country of 10.6 million persons.

There is a suspicion that leftists deliberately dragged out talks between government and companies. It is possible the left wanted to force Washington to stop aid so they could accuse the United States of trying to dictate to Ceylon.

Some feel the drag was a result of normal delays in the Ceylonese bureaucracy, while the oil companies possibly took a too tough line.

"The private business community here would naturally be on the companies' side but they alienated everyone by acting so dictatorial and seeming so unreasonable," a prominent man said.

Some thought the companies wanted to establish a tough principle of no American aid as an example to Indonesia, where the status of these same oil companies has since been settled.

IN EFFIGY

The halt of aid brought a strong reaction. Miss Willis was burned in effigy. The Communists and two other Marxist parties got together for the first time in decades.

The Ilangaratna forces then began to devise ways to restrict private oil company operations further in the name of saving scarce foreign exchange. They asked the companies for oil tank facilities because the Soviet Union wanted to send larger shipments. The companies refused.

The government played its final ace. Last month it passed a law giving CPC the exclusive right of retail petroleum sales in Ceylon. Naval bunkering and aviation fuel are left to the private companies until the government decides to take them over also by a simple order.

The British government, which owns part of Burmah-Shell, seems less noticeably disturbed than the United States.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Stanton's Travail

Ballots have been impounded from the referendum over Stanton's urban renewal program and a council election. This does not necessarily mean there will be a contest of the election, simply that ballots are held in official custody pending a decision on a course of action.

It is not easy under Texas law to actually contest an election, for it is not only incumbent to prove irregularities but to also show that there are any that could have changed the results. Moreover, opinions vary as to what is permissible and what is irregular, and opinions do not always coincide with law.

Whatever course of action is warranted, we hope that it is taken expeditiously and that the matter is resolved promptly. We don't know anything about the ins and outs of the opinion vote on urban renewal or the naming of four council members, but we do think that Stanton is too good a town to be subjected to a long, drawn out and divisive situation. Thus, we hope that differences, whatever they are, can be resolved promptly and in a spirit of good feeling, and that Stanton can get on with its business of being a mighty fine place to call home.

No Tears For Departure

John Edwin Myers is on his way back to Illinois, and few if any here will mourn his departure.

Myers is the Chicago cook who admittedly put a pistol to the head of Arthur Dekraai, an itinerant plumber, to climax a bloody trail that left four dead.

From the standpoint of Howard County, it was not only lamentable that Dekraai was murdered, but that it happened within this county's confines. Thus, our officials inherited the case that has stretched over two years, one trial and two attempted trials. Mixed in was the legal headache over what to do about Donna Marie Stone, his juvenile girl friend.

It will be interesting to learn how much expense this county has absorbed in the case, not to mention the work and worry imposed upon officials to secure the defendant while seeking to bring him to justice.

Perhaps Illinois can come up with a final verdict regarding Myers. If not, we could inherit the case again.

David Lawrence Friendly Disagreement

WASHINGTON — There appeared last Saturday in the press and on TV through-out the country a photograph showing Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona chatting with President Kennedy after a White House ceremony honoring a retired Air Force general. The news dispatches said Mr. Kennedy, looking over the crowd, saw the senator—who could be his Republican opponent next year for the presidency—and, calling him by his first name, summoned him to his side to share the limelight.

This writer has known seemed to be likeable persons, but, when certain criticisms were written about every one of them, some readers took it for granted each time that personal antagonism was involved.

Thus, for example, letters come in nowadays which use the word "hate." It is stated that nobody could criticize a President without having some feeling of hate or dislike. Such letters are depressing because the American system of public debate and a free press apparently is not thoroughly understood or appreciated by the authors of such missives.

THE INCIDENT was no surprise to anyone who is familiar with Washington customs, but it probably was puzzling to too many people who seem to think that, because persons differ in politics, they can't be friends. Indeed, as Mr. Kennedy called out to "Barry," there was some laughter and one correspondent wrote that the President, "presumably aware of the political incongruity," hastened to say: "We are all friends."

PRESIDENT KENNEDY, for example, is a very likeable person. This writer considers him a man with a conscientious desire to serve the public. As a member of the House of Representatives and as a senator, Mr. Kennedy became known in official circles, and reporters had a chance to talk with him and get acquainted. If a poll were taken among the writers who criticize him, it might well be found that his most vehement critics never have had and do not have now any personal dislike for the President. He truly has an attractive personality, and so has his brother, the attorney general.

It was an incident which emphasizes that, under the American system of government, political differences can be sharp, but most of the men who hold office or aspire to elected posts realize that personal feelings must always be secondary, if not repressed, and that what counts is the thoughtful presentation of one's side of a controversial question.

BUT THOSE WHO analyze the news feel a responsibility to the constituency they serve—particularly to readers who really want an evaluation of issues and events based on history, on honest judgment and on convictions formed over years of observation and awareness of the difference between sound and unsound public policies. To color the argument, however, with one's personal likes or dislikes is to ignore the main reason why public confidence is reposed in a free press.

AGAIN AND AGAIN, not only in federal election contests but in state and local campaigns, men who have been intimate friends find themselves running for office on opposite sides. The public may have a hard time being convinced from some of the speeches that there is no deep-seated personal antagonism. But there are few instances where the loser of an election is not among the first to extend his congratulations to the winner.

A VIEW EXPRESSED by a news writer or analyst may subsequently be proved wrong, but there's also a chance it may be proved right. If it is wrong, no harm is done because it will be disregarded by the persons in office who have the final responsibility for the action taken. But if the criticism happens to be right, it could serve as a deterrent if the issue arises again. These are matters that have nothing to do with likes or dislikes, with personal feelings or emotions. One can like President Kennedy very much and still write impersonally about policies that need revision. In fact, if there were no adverse criticism, there would be little chance to make revisions opportunistly, and the public interest would not be served.

WHO NEEDS ENEMIES?

James Marlow World Disarmament Still Is Far Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dispute about the nuclear test ban treaty, even though the Senate seems certain to approve it, gives a priceless insight into how far off world disarmament is.

President Kennedy and his advisers' diplomatic, military and scientific—all think it is to this country's interest to agree to a limited test ban with Russia. But others, in and out of Congress, have doubts and forebodings.

The doubters persist in their misgivings about the treaty — which prohibits testing in the atmosphere, outer space and under water but permits it underground — despite assurances given the Senate by

1. Secretary of State Dean Rusk — that the United States could detect at once any Russian try at cheating.

2. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara — that the United States is, and will remain, superior to Russia in nuclear weapons, even under a test ban.

3. Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission — that any risks to this country under the treaty would be "minor."

ALL THIS is not assurance enough for the troubled ones. They express suspicions and fears that the Russians somehow, some way, can use the ban to American disadvantage.

Not long ago in this country there was widespread contempt for Russian abilities. That attitude, never valid, has disintegrated in just 14 years under three great shocks.

1949 — When the Russians exploded their first atomic bomb, 1953 — When they exploded their first hydrogen bomb just one year after this country did, 1957 — When they sent the first satellite, Sputnik, around the earth.

SOME of the misgivings about the test ban treaty now may be attributed to a reverse psychology. Not only fear of Russian ability but even an inferiority about it.

For instance fear that the Russians are so clever they can hoodwink this country and surge ahead in nuclear weapons even though under the same limitation the treaty would put on this country.

Carry this attitude one more step. While cheating under the treaty could be detected, as Rusk said, since devices could record an atmospheric blast, any cheating under a disarmament agreement would be far harder to spot.

It therefore follows from the misgivings about the test ban that if this country ever undertook a disarmament agreement with Russia shudders of doubt would shake the United States and perhaps make such an agreement impossible.

FOR THIS reason any hope of world disarmament in the foreseeable future looks like a pipe-dream. But the alternative to disarmament is continuing armament.

In short this country and the world, despite the limited test ban treaty which has been called a first possible step toward better understandings, seem headed for an arms race for years to come.

But all the assurances about the treaty given the Senate by Kennedy and his administration were not enough to calm the doubters.

It is a tribute to the depths of their uncertainties that Wednesday Kennedy had to give the assurances all over again, this time in the form of a letter to the Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate.

Hal Boyle Preminger Not Wanting Controversy

NEW YORK (AP) — Producer Otto Preminger is a man of controversy who says he doesn't seek controversy at all.

"I'm a man of peace," he said. "But I select my stories and themes on the basis of my own interests. Since we live in a controversial time, why should I go out of my way to avoid controversy?"

"That's why I like America — it's still the freest country in the world."

There were those in the motion picture industry who predicted Preminger would run into endless controversies in filming his latest production, "The Cardinal," the story of a young American priest's rise to the rank of prince of the church.

But Preminger himself expressed surprise at the opposition he received.

"The Vatican made no attempt to control the script," he remarked. "There is much more freedom and autonomy in the church than I had thought."

Preminger, an ex-actor and lawyer who trained under the famed Max Reinhardt in Vienna, is a painstaking, all-around craftsman who likes to handle every aspect of his theatrical ventures. Everything has the Preminger personal touch.

He helps in the preparation of the script, picks the cast and costumes, directs the film, sells it, even goes into the major theaters to see that the lighting and sound effects are right.

"Many producers today like to do credits television with improving the quality of modern motion pictures."

"It broke up the mass production of pictures. It got the industry away from the wholesale treatment and forced it to become more selective, to try harder."

"The trash is now being shown on television. But television, too, will emerge eventually when it gets out of the hands of the advertising agencies, and people start paying for seeing what they really want to see."

At 56, Otto, who is balding and blue-eyed, shrugs off with Austrian aplomb either praise or criticism of his efforts.

"Money doesn't overwhelm me," he observed. "I don't consider it a power, nor do I want to become a slave of it, as I have seen many men become."

Talent and brains impress me more. So does honesty. So does charm.

"I like charming people, and I can forgive them almost anything. But I forgive charming women more easily than charming men."

To Your Good Health Drippy Nose Can Result From Allergy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What causes my nose to be forever dripping in a water fashion? Nose drops help a little but not much. What can I do if anything?—MRS. A. H.

It could be sinus infection, but I doubt it, because the secretions in such a case are not watery. They are thicker.

It could be an allergy. If this condition is mostly in the morning (or during the night) then suspect something related to bedding. Some people are allergic to the feathers in a pillow, and find relief by switching to a foam rubber pillow. (Or vice versa.)

Or you may be sensitive to some cosmetic. Do you habitually use a cream on your face when you go to bed? If so, try omitting it for a few nights and see if that makes a difference.

If the drip is an all-day problem, watch carefully to see if there are certain days when it does NOT trouble you. Then you may be able to figure out what is different about those days—what you did NOT touch or use or smell that you usually DO.

Some defect in the nose (polyps, or a crooked septum) could be a factor, preventing the normal, mild, water fluids from draining into the throat as they should. It quite possible for drainage to be normal during the day, when you are standing or sitting, yet to have trouble at night when you are lying down.

An examination of the nose would, probably, disclose such a condition very readily.

Dear Dr. Molner: This is just a short thank-you note. I read the letter from a person who complained of itching, and you told him not to brush it off too lightly because at times it can be a sign of diabetes.

My husband has had an "itch" for two years and was advised to use talcum, as it might be from perspiration. However, I sent him to a doctor and tests showed diabetes. I'm sure he will find relief just knowing he is being treated properly.—S. B.

Yes, treating the diabetes will relieve the itching and, of course, will guard him against more serious consequences of the disorder. Every little itch doesn't mean diabetes, but when it continues and has no other explanation, diabetes should be suspected.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you please recommend a plastic surgeon in my area?—S. K. E.

I cannot recommend specific physicians or surgeons. When you require a specialist (including a plastic surgeon), consult your regular doctor or call the county medical society, which will give you the names of several specialists of proved qualifications. You can also contact the head of the appropriate department in a hospital of your choice.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it all right to heat a whole jar of baby food when only a part of it is to be used? The remaining portion is then refrigerated and reheated. Or is it safer to put just the portion to be used into another container to be heated?—E. C. B.

You can do it either way—the important thing is to be sure the remainder is refrigerated between heatings.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive track. To become more familiar with the subject, write in care of The Herald, for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim Things Haven't Changed—Much

By and large, things are about the same at our house since the newcomer came to live with us. That is to say, the bills are still delivered there, and the grass still doesn't grow. Of course, other aspects of our previously sedate household have fallen by the wayside.

BEING OF CASUAL temperament, my good wife Joyce and I rarely exceeded a slow plodding about the house after a day's work. Now, a low peep from the rear of the house creates a dual dash down the hallway akin to a combination of the Kentucky Derby and the low hurdles of the Olympics.

Visiting grandmothers warn us of the danger of "spoiling." If there was any danger of this, it has long since passed. We have committed every possible act, enumerable times, guaranteed to spoil even the "spoil-proof" child, if there is such.

AND WITH THE slightest squeal, all hands turn to in an effort to determine the trouble. Every ill imaginable is diagnosed, from beri-beri to Glunk's disease, only to have the doctor next day chalk it up to lesser ills such as colic, a wet diaper or just hunger.

Time was when the lights at our house were rarely on beyond 10 p.m. Now the place looks more like a lighthouse the entire night, matching perfectly and with regularity the incidence of squeaks and groans from the crib.

WE SEARCHED for several months to find a proper bed and mattress, one that would give adequate support, air circulation and protection. It required about two week's pay just to take the thing home and get it set up for the new arrival. As we should have guessed, it falls far short of pleasing our permanent guest. A cardboard box with a pillow in it, first used for transportation purposes, is the only place she'll sleep peacefully and, apparently, restfully.

There is no longer room in the ice box for imported pickled salamanders or diced wiggler tails. We now maintain a large supply of a strange new concoction called "formula." This milky liquid is prepared in gallon lots, bottled and kept ready for emergencies, which occur every three hours on the dot, and sometimes sooner. It has the ability to stop crying without fail, when served up in three ounce lots.

THE WASHER and dryer at one time were operated once or twice a week, never more. Nowadays, they are groaning and roaring away practically around the clock, keeping the water meter, electric meter and the checkbook in a perpetual spin. One thing though, is we don't use electricity for the alarm clock any more. Who sleeps?

As I said in the beginning, things are about the same around our house—with that MINOR exception.

Inez Robb

They're Maligning Robin Hood

The late Mayor James J. Walker of New York was assured of immortality the moment he said, "No girl was ever named by a book." In the long run, he may well be preserved for posterity in a single line in Bartlett's "Familiar Quotations."

Well, I don't want to debate that statement now; I have a feeling it is one of those yes-and-no propositions. What I am interested in at the moment is hoisting myself to my feet and saying a good word in behalf of a man who has just fallen from official favor, Robin Hood.

IF I HAVE strayed from the path of rectitude into primrose trails since I first heard of Robin Hood and his Merry Men, Robin is not to blame. And I feel it behooves those of us who cut our milk teeth on the Hood legend to rise, now that he is under attack, and present ourselves as character witnesses in behalf of a man who cannot defend himself.

The British, in the throes of an agonizing moral reappraisal, are letting Robin Hood have it with both barrels. He stands accused as thief, wife deserter, lecher, malefactor, general no-good and, most serious of all in the eyes of the modern criminologist, as anti-social.

THE PRESENT attack is leveled against Robin, who seemed so dashing and romantic in the sweet long ago, by an article in the current issue of "Justice of the Peace and Local Government Review."

I don't know where this Review, a magazine of law enforcement and police interest, gets its facts. But it charges that the legendary Hood deserted a loving wife named Matilda to run off to Sherwood Forest with Maid Marian, who, to hear the Review tell it, was the Mandy Rice-Davies of her day.

THIS WHOLE REWRITE of the Robin

Hood story, after more than 500 years, is pretty fishy. This is the first time I've ever heard of any wife in an innocent day before anyone had ever heard of the late Dr. Alfred Kinsey and the triple standard, it was naturally presumed by kids that Hood had made an honest woman of Marian before lighting out for Sherwood Forest, or would do so at any moment. Otherwise, Papa wouldn't have let the book come into our house, much less fall into the hands of his artless children.

We live in an age in which no one really reads history for the simple reason that everyone is too busy writing his own version of it, the better to fit his particular party line. It was once thought that this was a Russian disease, but now everybody's doing it.

IF THE BRITISH are in a puritanical mood at the moment and want to rewrite history, let them take the scouring powder to Henry VIII. But leave Robin Hood alone! The British will also find that it is far easier to rewrite history than to change by jot or tittle a loved legend that is pure hoax.

Americans, till the end of time, are going to go on believing Parson Weem's invention about young George Washington and the cherry tree.

AND IT SEEMS highly unlikely Americans will give up the treasured legend that Betsy Ross designed the American flag instead of sewing it from a rough draft presented her in Philadelphia in 1776.

History is something in a big book, but legends are part of folklore. And folklore doesn't stand still for tampering. It is late now to try to change Robin Hood and a good guy into a bad guy just to sweeten a moral crisis.

Holmes Alexander Political Ideas From The West

WASHINGTON — In that shoulder of the Rocky Mountain West that contains the states of Idaho, Utah and Wyoming, the six Senators are evenly divided between the two parties, and they're significantly divided on the great question of whether our domestic economy goes free or goes into colonial bondage to the Federal Establishment.

FOR EXAMPLE, on final passage last June for extending and increasing the Area Redevelopment Administration, Republican Senators Jordan (Idaho), Bennett (Utah), and Simpson (Wyoming) all voted against the ARA. The matching Democrats—Church, Moss and McGee—all voted to extend the Federal spending and control.

In July, the same line-up held for extending Federalized electrical power by building the Burns Creek dam on the Snake River.

THIS SORT of rundown could be continued with much the same tabulation on many testing roll-calls. It seems to show an even division of liberal-conservative representation in these typical Western States.

But such is not quite the case if we probe a little deeper. Senator Moss's liberal votes are cast by a man who was elected in 1958 by only 38.5 per cent of the total vote. He was the beneficiary of an intraparty Republican fight between Arthur Watkins and Bracken Lee, both very conservative on domestic issues. Senator McGee won election that same year by a 50.8 per cent majority, which isn't much of a mandate.

IT PAYS TO go a little further on these two Democratic Senators. In January Moss voted with the Far Left in an effort to change Senate Rule 22, which allows nearly unlimited debate. McGee voted with the Far Right and the traditionalists to keep Rule 22. He tells me that this caused him to be blacklisted by the NAACP, but that he felt a small State, or any minority, deserves parliamentary protection.

Moss and McGee divided again over support of the private enterprise communications satellite, the Telstar. McGee supported Telstar because he felt its opponents were engaged in a vendetta against the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Senator Church went along for Telstar with McGee and against Moss.

WHAT WE SEEM to have is three Republicans who are solidly conservative. We have three Democrats who are predominantly liberal, but two of these are capable of supporting conservative positions on sizable issues.

The most liberal of the Democrats, Moss, has the lowest electoral percentage. The most conservative Republican, Simpson of Wyoming, holds the highest electoral percentage, 57.8 per cent. Among the six Senators from these three States,

ALTHOUGH THIS is little more than a spot check, it does indicate something. The Mountain States, despite much temptation to take the Federal dollar, are part of the conservative movement as we near another national election.

Billy Graham

My husband and I are Christians and have been married for three years. We agree on most matters but our major problem is finances. Shouldn't we give part of our earnings to God?—F. A.

The standard of the Old Testament was that of giving the tithe. This was done by Jacob before the law was given, and is included in Moses' law. Jesus affirmed this in principle, though not with a specific command. (Matt. 23:23) Giving is regarded as a Christian grace in which we should abound. (2 Cor. 8:6) Giving is an act of recognition of God's goodness and supply. (Deut. 8:11) The prophet Malachi called upon the people to bring all the tithes into the storehouse. This was considered as a test of God's readiness to bless. In answer to their obedience, God promised blessing in abundance.

No Christian can ignore his financial responsibility to God. God is able to make your little to abound when you give him that which is His due. Consistent giving according to the Bible standard puts us in a position to receive the blessing of God in every way. It is not a means of obligating God, but rather an opportunity for you to tangibly express your faith in His power to provide. However, if your husband does not readily and willingly accept this God-given responsibility and glorious privilege, do not try to force it upon him. Prayer and patience will win the battle and God will eventually bring you both to one accord.

Seafood Issue Causes 3-Country Negotiations

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Two of your favorite seafoods—salmon and halibut—have plunged the United States, Canada and Japan into touchy negotiations involving a multimillion-dollar North Pacific industry.

The fisheries dispute involves a complicated treaty, laced with the fancy language of lawyers and the technical jargon of fisheries biologists.

To add to the confusion, the Soviet Union has an indirect role, shaping the outcome, although it is not even a member of the pact.

The fact the treaty nations hold their business meetings behind closed doors adds another barrier to public understanding.

The issue is this: America wants to save for its fishermen the marine resources the United States has fostered and conserved over the years. Japan wants to share more of the catches, since the fishing grounds are on the high seas. Most of the time, Canada sides with the United States.

Representatives of the three nations will meet in Tokyo Sept. 16 to try to reach a compromise.

ANYWHERE

Japan is threatening to discard the 10-year-old treaty altogether and fish anywhere it chooses unless it is given new concessions.

If that happens, American fishermen have threatened to mount a campaign in Congress to retaliate with restrictions on imports of Japanese canned tuna, salmon.

HAVE RIGHTS

In effect, abstinence provides that the nations that foster, manage and fully utilize a fisheries stock have exclusive rights to harvest the fish.

Under this formula, Japan has refrained from fishing for salmon and halibut east of 175 degrees west longitude during most of the life of the treaty. The line passes through Atka Island in the Aleutian island chain, extending out from Alaska.

Japan contends the abstinence principle is outmoded and too theoretical. The American negotiators have insisted that it be included.

That is where the Washington meeting ended, and where the Tokyo meeting will begin.

Japan's influential fishing industry—the world's largest—has applied pressure on the Japanese government to force revision of the treaty.

For the United States, one of the most frustrating arguments Japan has used involves the Soviet Union.

SOVIET UNION

The Japanese say the Soviet Union has complete freedom on the fishing grounds, since it has not subscribed to the treaty.

But indications are that the Soviet Union so far is not intercepting any of the North American salmon runs, and apparently is taking few halibut in Alaskan waters.

Japan, however, harvests some red salmon each year from Alaska's salmon-rich Bristol Bay—within the terms of the treaty. They are the ones which wander past the "175 line."

This year the Bristol Bay run was a failure. Some blamed Japan, although fisheries scientists here said there was no evidence to support that accusation.

The United States has pressed for movement of the abstinence line eastward to protest the Bristol Bay runs Japan has not agreed.

One of the tricky rules of the North Pacific treaty is that all decisions must be unanimous. Each country has an equal vote.

NO NEWS

Until last November, the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission, which oversees the treaty, hardly made a ripple in the news.

Then, at the close of the commission's annual meeting here Nov. 17, the commission recommended that the eastern Bering Sea off Alaska be opened to Japanese halibut fishermen.

This was a case where the principle of abstinence was the focal point. Under abstinence, the United States must prove each year that it fully is utilizing the resources which are out of bounds to Japan under the treaty.

Until last November, the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission, which oversees the treaty, hardly made a ripple in the news.

Then, at the close of the commission's annual meeting here Nov. 17, the commission recommended that the eastern Bering Sea off Alaska be opened to Japanese halibut fishermen.

This was a case where the principle of abstinence was the focal point. Under abstinence, the United States must prove each year that it fully is utilizing the resources which are out of bounds to Japan under the treaty.

ers said they could not prove that scientifically for the eastern Bering Sea halibut. They said they were living up to the spirit and the intent of the treaty.

That left the governors of Washington and Alaska, Washington Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, halibut fishermen and others up in arms.

The United States and Canada ratified the decision, anyway.

The Bering Sea decision was a gamble—paying the way toward new negotiations. The United States obviously was demonstrating to Japan that the present treaty was worth saving and that the United States lived up to its agreements.

HAVE RIGHTS

In effect, abstinence provides that the nations that foster, manage and fully utilize a fisheries stock have exclusive rights to harvest the fish.

Under this formula, Japan has refrained from fishing for salmon and halibut east of 175 degrees west longitude during most of the life of the treaty. The line passes through Atka Island in the Aleutian island chain, extending out from Alaska.

Japan contends the abstinence principle is outmoded and too theoretical. The American negotiators have insisted that it be included.

That is where the Washington meeting ended, and where the Tokyo meeting will begin.

Japan's influential fishing industry—the world's largest—has applied pressure on the Japanese government to force revision of the treaty.

For the United States, one of the most frustrating arguments Japan has used involves the Soviet Union.

SOVIET UNION

The Japanese say the Soviet Union has complete freedom on the fishing grounds, since it has not subscribed to the treaty.

But indications are that the Soviet Union so far is not intercepting any of the North American salmon runs, and apparently is taking few halibut in Alaskan waters.

Japan, however, harvests some red salmon each year from Alaska's salmon-rich Bristol Bay—within the terms of the treaty. They are the ones which wander past the "175 line."

This year the Bristol Bay run was a failure. Some blamed Japan, although fisheries scientists here said there was no evidence to support that accusation.

The United States has pressed for movement of the abstinence line eastward to protest the Bristol Bay runs Japan has not agreed.

One of the tricky rules of the North Pacific treaty is that all decisions must be unanimous. Each country has an equal vote.

Increase Likely In Sorghum Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas, Kansas and Nebraska expect big increases this year in sorghum grain harvests, the Agriculture Department reports.

Acres devoted to the crop in the three states represents about 85 per cent of the nation's total. The department nevertheless forecast Tuesday a 1963 yield of 518 million bushels, only 2 per cent more than last year and 8 per cent below average.

While smaller than in 1962, the expected average yield of 40.4 bushels per acre is the third largest in history. Acreage for harvest as grain was placed at 12.8 million acres, up 11 per cent from last year.

Generally dry weather in the Southern Plains states caused grain sorghums to mature earlier than in 1962. In Texas the harvest was near the halfway point by Sept. 1.

Silver's Market Price Rises To Treasury Level

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of silver on the open market in New York has risen to the official U.S. Treasury level of $1.293 an ounce.

There is less than an ounce of that metal in the silver dollar. And until now the dollar could buy more than could the metal in it, if melted down.

The cost of getting the silver into a form fabricators can use makes it still unprofitable to melt down silver dollars.

Strong world demand for silver has forced the price up in recent months. In London Monday, the price rose to a new high of $1.299 an ounce.

The cost of getting the silver from New York to London makes it unlikely that any metal in the U.S. market will be exported just now. And industrial demand here is strong.

Silver dealers say that the large supply held by the U.S. Treasury, some 1.7 billion ounces, should keep the market price from going appreciably higher.

Part of the U.S. official hoard is used as backing for $1 bills, although this will gradually be freed. Part of it is being used by U.S. mints to turn out much-needed silver coins, of which there is a shortage due to an expanding economy and increased use of vending machines and turnstiles.

But the supply that American silver users could tap at the new high price is so large that dealers are betting that a price ceiling has been reached here, at least for a time.

Foreign buyers, however, are so anxious to get more of the metal that Handy & Harman, New York fabricator and refiner, reports that some are paying premiums over the $1.293 price reached here Monday.

World consumption has been running well above mine output. Demand for silver coins has increased in many other nations also.

Prosperity in this and other lands has boosted sales of household and other objects made of silver. But above all, the big upward push has come from industry, especially electronics and makers of space age devices.

Art Expert Dies

CANAAN, Conn. (AP)—Leslie A. Hyman, 62, a founder and president of New York's Park-Bernet Galleries, died Tuesday at his home. Hyman, an expert in Far Eastern art, French furniture and Oriental rugs, helped found the New York Art and Antique Auction House in 1937.

Cotton Farmers Plan Promotion

LUBBOCK—The upcoming drive by cotton farmers to increase their markets and profits through research and promotion will be double that for the previous year, it was revealed here today.

A $2.6 million war chest built voluntarily by individual growers was announced by Russell Giffen, Huron, Calif., chairman of trustees for the Cotton Producers Institute.

Trustees will meet again in October when they will consider specific research and promotion projects to be supported by the $2.6 million war chest.

All Institute projects are carried out on a grant or contract basis. At the present the Institute has 11 key research projects aimed at cutting cotton production costs and improving raw fiber quality or in finding new and better uses for cotton. It also is the final stage of a 15-month promotion campaign to sell the nation's consumers on the advantages of cotton products.

Growers in the Coastal Bend of Texas, Alabama, and South Carolina have successfully initiated the self-help plan this year. This means that growers in 10 of the 14 major cotton states have the plan in operation, and it is now Beltwide.

Mexico Merchant Fleet Expanding

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Capt. Rafael Cordera Parades of Mexico's merchant marine says the nation's fleet has increased 50 per cent in the past five years. He said it now has 455,289 tons.

He also said Mexico's fishing boats now total 1,596, most of them made in Mexico, and amounting to 78,312 tons in all.

The increase in the merchant fleet, he said, has led to expansion of docks and ports, employing thousands of workers. Port cities have grown, he added.

Cordera said Mexico still must double the present tonnage to handle 60 to 70 per cent of transportation.

George Bush Of Houston To Seek Yarborough Seat

AUSTIN (AP)—George H. S. Bush, chairman of the Harris County Republican party, said today he will be a candidate next year for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

He made the announcement at a news conference.

Bush, 39, is president of Zapata Off-Shore Co. He has lived in Texas since he won his naval aviation wings here during World War II. He is the son of former U.S. Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut.

Bush's theme as a Houston Republican leader has been party unity. He said his candidacy is not aimed at getting opposition in the GOP primary, when asked about the prospect that defeated GOP gubernatorial candidate Jack Cox, also might run for the Senate seat.

"I look forward very much to campaigning against Yarborough," Bush said. "I view it as a real challenge." He referred to Sen. Ralph Yarborough who will be seeking his second term next year.

Bush said he has been a lifelong Republican, but has never run for public office.

Bush said he thought Yarborough would win the Democratic nomination because "his people already are out organizing."

He said he feels that the basic difference between his political philosophy and that of Yarborough is that he (Bush) believes in the concept of states' rights "in its finest concept" while Yarborough "wants the federal government to do everything."

Bush said he does not think that the John Birch Society is a Republican problem and that he is not and never has been a member of that group.

Bush was Midland County finance chairman during the 1952 and 1956 Eisenhower-Nixon campaigns and was Harris County co-chairman in the Jack Cox finance campaign for governor in 1960.

After graduating from Yale University, Bush worked three years for an oil field supply firm in West Texas. He helped organize Zapata Petroleum Corp. in Midland in 1953 and served as president and a director. He moved to Houston in 1959.

In Houston, Cox said Bush's announcement indicates at least two candidates will seek the GOP nomination.

Cox said he is considering making the race.

He praised Bush as a good candidate.

"We can now expect a contest in the Republican party and this will be both helpful and healthful," he said.
