BOOMING IN TEXAS
Nursing Home Scandal Feared

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said in a copyrighted story Saturday that under present laws and regulations the state's huge boom in nursing homes may end as a major scandal.

"Clearly, what you are reporting is a serious situation that deserves a thorough examination from all angles. I intend to see that it gets just that."

His statement was promptly translated into action—an intelligence officer of the department of public safety visited the newspaper Friday seeking additional information.

The article said that new nursing homes are being started at a rate of eight a week and some of them have fallen down before completion.

Yet, only in rare instances are any of these conditions actually illegal, the Star-Telegram reported.

"The jerry-built patchwork status and standards governing the program are simply full of holes that unscrupulous promoters walk through with the greatest of ease," the newspaper said.

The article also emphasized that the shoddy conditions are not the general rule.

Many fine, well-equipped nursing homes have been and are being built in Texas by contractors with a firm conscience and a hard-earned reputation to protect the paper said.

Key deficiencies the Star-Telegram probe turned up were: 1. The state Health Department, charged with basic responsibility for licensing and policing all homes, employs a total of eight inspectors. At last count, there were 922 nursing and rest homes of all types.

2. Structural requirements are limited to the single specification that walls be built of fire resistant materials. Nothing is said about reinforcement, kinds of flooring, foundations or the safety factor of built-in fixtures.

3. A sanitary code adopted in 1904 provides that the acceptable minimum of toilets, bathtubs and lavatories in a nursing home is one of each for every 20 residents.

4. Homes certified as eligible to receive federal-state funds for medical care of the aged—under so-called vendor programs—are visited regularly by members of the State Public Welfare Department's 20-man staff of well-trained inspectors. But these employees are authorized only to keep an eye on staffing and quality of nursing care.

Enrollment At All-Time High

The Big Spring Independent School District gained 70 pupils during the week which ended Friday, putting enrollment at a new high of 7,566 pupils. This is the first time the school has passed the 7,500-mark.

Elementary grades accounted for 4,378 of the students and secondary schools had 3,053. There are 135 students in special education.

Last year at this point enrollment was 7,466 pupils, 100 below the present mark. However, if the 115 students gained from the Gay Hill and Center Point schools through annexation are subtracted, the system is still 19 short of equalling last year's enrollment from the original part of the district.

ASSAILANT SOUGHT

Stabbing Saturday Claims Man's Life

Ray Reyna Gutierrez, 35, former San Angelo resident, died at 9:07 p.m. Saturday about one hour after a Northside fracas.

Gutierrez was stabbed a half-dozen times in the throat, chest and abdomen about 8 p.m. at Marquez Place, 401 NW 4th, according to Big Spring police. Several witnesses were questioned regarding the affair Saturday night.

Abel Ramos, Colorado City, has been charged with murder following the incident. Police late Saturday were still looking for Ramos, who was believed still to be in the city.

The trouble began about 7:45 p.m., detective Wayne Tollett, who is investigating, said. A fight, in which Gutierrez was involved, was reported at the Silver Dollar, in the 400 block of Northwest Fourth, but when police arrived, the establishment had been cleaned up and there was no evidence of a fight. A few minutes later, Joe Dumas Barrera, 500 NW 7th, was treated at Howard County Foundation Hospital for cuts received in that affray.

The stabbing occurred about 15 minutes later at Marquez Place. Gutierrez staggered away from the place and made it to the front of the Black Cat, in the 300 block of North Lancaster, before he collapsed. A River-Welch Ambulance was dispatched to carry Gutierrez to the hospital.

Physicians began surgery immediately, but their efforts were futile.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mexican Farmers Enjoy Royal Treatment By BS

By JOE BEYER
Most of them wore unpressed khakis or plain work clothes, but during their one-day stay in Big Spring they were extended the royal welcome mat.

They were about 50 Mexican peasant farmers and ranchers on a 15-day tour of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico. The visitors were guests of the Mexico Good Neighbor Project which is attempting to improve relations between Texans and their Mexican neighbors.

The group of about 50, including some 10 women who are either daughters of farmers or who work in other areas related to agriculture, arrived in Big Spring Friday about 9 a.m. and left Saturday at 4 p.m. for Lamesa. The interim had been a completely new experience for most of them.

FARM VISIT
Very few of them have been able to observe Americans and American agriculture practices at close range before. After breakfast Saturday morning at the Settles, where they had spent the night, the Mexicans visited the U.S. Experiment Farm.

They viewed slides of modern farm practices and asked numerous questions. Many took copious notes. The same interest was shown after the first briefing as the men and women were taken through the Experiment Farm fields to see the practices put into use.

As a courtesy to their American hosts, the visitors, who also share the problem of low rainfall, brought along with them a "rain god" and a promise of rain. They were able to fulfill that promise on the first three stops they made in Texas.

While the group was still in the field, a light sprinkle dampened the serape-cloaked farmers and their hosts.

RAIN SCHEDULE
The rain is coming a little ahead of schedule," Frank Gonzalez of Lubbock, a Mexican National and program coordinator for the project, said.

Gonzalez, who also acted as interpreter, explained that during the visit in Sonora it had rained 1 1/2 inches and at San Angelo two inches had fallen.

The "rain god" which the Mexicans brought with them is a picture painted on a sheet of cloth about 6 by 12 feet in size. Roberto Javier Padilla, Muzquiz, Coahuila, one of the men making the trip, painted it the day before the group departed from Mexico. Padilla is a student of accounting whose father owns and operates a small farm. The family once owned a ranch which covered more than 100,000 acres, Padilla said.

A highlight of their stop in Big Spring was lunch in an Air Force mess hall, a tour of the flight line and introduction to the commander and other officers at Webb Air Force Base.

GREAT HONOR
"This is a great honor for them," Gonzalez explained. "In Mexico a peasant would never get that close to an important man in the Army. This single event will make news in every Latin-American country, although it is considered routine by most Americans."

Gonzalez said that Mexicans look on the armed forces of the United States as the most powerful in the world, making the event of even more importance than it might have had it occurred in some other country.

Other activities for the group included a visit to Howard County Junior College, where the Mexicans were welcomed and treated to music by the Senior High School band. The final stop was a visit to Conden Oil and Chemical Company's refinery to show them a modern refinery in operation and to better show the close relationship between industry and America's armed might.

IRRIGATED LAND
At Lamesa the group will tour 45 Dawson County farms showing irrigated and dryland farming operations, poultry, hog and cattle projects and automation.

Local participation in the project was a joint venture of the Chamber of Commerce and businesses which picked up a part of the tab. The State National and First National banks paid for the breakfast. Bruce Frazier acted as master of ceremonies for the day and assisted with interpretation. Carlton Chapman and Carroll Davidson worked with the Chamber. Others included the Rev. Al Seddon, who has been a missionary in Mexico, Yanez and a delegate of local Latin-Americans.

Monroney, Poage Talk At Belgrade

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., and Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., spoke to the Interparliamentary Union Conference Saturday on problems of underdeveloped countries.

Prague, after serving the United States had given away more than $100 billion of aid since the end of the war, emphasized that the developed nations could not contribute enough aid to maintain the standards of the underdeveloped nations.

Critical Time Near For 3 Girls, Boy
Felicitations From Those Who Know
MARACIBO, Venezuela (AP)—The parents of Venezuela's quintuplets congratulated the Andrew Fischers of Aberdeen, S.D., Saturday on the birth of theirs.

"Is that so?" asked Eflren Prieto when told the news. "We are happy. We congratulate them."

Prieto was with his wife, Ines, at the University Hospital where their five boys were born last Saturday.

Mrs. Prieto is looking forward to seeing her babies for the first time next week. They have been in incubators since their premature birth.

Doctors said the infants are responding normally to care.

A-Treaty Set For New Try

WASHINGTON (AP)—The bipartisan Senate leadership—balked in two previous tries—will make new attempts this week to bring the limited nuclear test-ban treaty to the voting stage.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic majority leader, conceded Saturday that unless the opposition cooperates, the debate may extend into its third week.

He and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the minority leader from Illinois, made two efforts last week to advance the parliamentary stages of the treaty to move from debate on the pact itself to the resolution of ratification.

Until that is done, reservations and understandings which have been offered to the resolution, cannot be called up for debate and votes.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., a foe of the pact, twice blocked the bipartisan leadership's joint requests for unanimous consent to bring up the resolution. But he refused to say whether he plans to offer an amendment to the treaty, which would be barred by the motion.

While the motion could be offered to advance the treaty—and the leadership has the votes to do it—it would be subject to unlimited debate.

Once the resolution comes up, the Senate faces votes on: 1. A resolution by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., to write into the U.S. right to use nuclear weapons at its own choosing in defense of either the United States or its allies. The leadership says this right is amply protected by declarations by President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and by interpretations in the Foreign Relations Committee report.

2. Another reservation by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., postponing the effectiveness of the treaty until after the Soviets have removed all their troops from Cuba and permitted international inspection to verify the departure.

Despite Unrest

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Martial law which has prevailed in South Viet Nam for 25 days will end at noon Monday and civilian agencies will resume all administrative functions, said Saturday.

Even while student unrest was reported expanding to the countryside, the president rescheduled for Sept. 27 a National Assembly election that had been postponed from its original date, Aug. 31.

Dropping of martial law would be one step toward a return to normalcy sought by the United States, a worried ally of Diem's administration in a war against Communist guerrillas.

The announcement coincided with a statement by Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, that South Viet Nam would welcome an on-the-spot investigation of the Vietnamese political-religious crisis by the United Nations.

"Viet Nam has nothing to hide," the president's chief sister-in-law and official hostess told a news conference.

Reliable sources said the student antigovernment movement, which has led to nearly 3,000 arrests in Saigon, spread to three provincial cities—Dalat, Bien Hoa and Vinh Long—and hundreds of demonstrators were taken to detention camps.

Six thousand students were reported to have barricaded themselves in four or five high schools at Dalat, in the mountains 140 miles northeast of Saigon, for a shouting, brick-throwing riot that finally was quelled by Vietnamese soldiers.

The sources said there were smaller outbreaks in Bien Hoa, 30 miles north of Saigon, and in Vinh Long, in the Mekong River delta 65 miles south of this city.

Diem reminded his people that, while martial law will end, the technical state of emergency proclaimed Oct. 15, 1961, stays in effect.

me questions and knocking on my door."

He said he isn't particularly worried about his doubled family. "I don't know how, but I'm sure my wife and I will be able to take care of them, the same as the five others."

Was he nervous? "I'm too tired to be nervous," he sighed.

Dr. Berbos said he estimated the babies' weights at 2 1/2 to 3 pounds for the girls, about 4 pounds for the boy.

As for the quintuplets' birth, the doctor was chatty and happy. "We made it, but it was nerve-racking," he grinned.

"We knew long ago that she would have more than one child," he said, but did not suspect quintuplets until X rays last Wednesday. "I suspected triplets," he admitted.

Berbos, 40, is a general practitioner, a doctor who treats cuts and bruises and broken bones, along with delivering babies. As for babies, he's delivered a lot of them—300 a year at times, he says.

Friends say his real love is medicine. They tell a story that he made a vow, when he was 10 and saw his mother die, that he would be a doctor and save as many lives as he could.

He has been in practice 16 years. He's 6 feet 3 and weighs a husky 210, but his youthful looks belie his age.

Aberdeen, a city of some 23,000 in northeastern South Dakota, was excited with the news. Offers of assistance for the family poured into its daily newspaper and radio stations. One contractor sent in a check for $500.

Merchants volunteered clothing and a new washer and dryer. Relatives pitched in to milk the cows and lend the five other youngsters while Fischer sought sleep.

Birth of the South Dakota quintuplets followed by a week a similar birth in Venezuela. Quadruplets were born to a woman in Jackson, Miss., a week ago and a report from Iran told of another set of quads Saturday.

TWO SETS
Only two sets of quintuplets born in the Western Hemisphere have survived infancy—the famed Dionnes of Canada in 1934 and the Dilgenti children in Argentina in 1943.

Mrs. Fischer was "tired and emotionally upset, but happy," said a hospital aide.

The first birth, a girl, came at 1:58 a.m. The boy was the fourth born, the fourth girl was born at 3:01 a.m.

The babies were placed immediately in isolettes—individual chambers which control oxygen, temperature and humidity. They won't be weighed for a day or two and likely won't be fed at least until Sunday, the usual procedure in premature births.

Fischer said he had not known of any multiple births in his or his wife's families. His other children are Danny, 7; Charlotte, 6; Julie, 5; Evelyn, 4, and Denise, 3 1/2.

Probe Of Moon, Mars In Study

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States has set a goal of landing astronauts on the moon before 1970. After this momentous achievement, what will be the course of the nation's manned space program?

National Aeronautics and Space Administration planners are studying the engineering, funding and other aspects of possible programs to follow the Apollo lunar landing project. Their main interests are in multistage space stations orbiting the earth, manned flights to Mars and a permanent moon exploration base.

Eventually, all three programs may be attempted. But the costs are high and the space agency must decide which deserves priority. Because of the years required between the drawing board and the launching pad decisions are expected within a few months.

NEXT STATION
Most officials believe the space station is the most logical next step because it would contribute greatly to Mars and lunar base missions.

Michael Yarymovich, assistant director of NASA's manned space station office, reported stations orbiting the earth for periods up to five years would help determine how long men and equipment can operate in space weightlessness.

"The main purpose of a space station," Yarymovich said, "would be biomedical research. Before we spend any length of time flying to the planets or establishing moon colonies, we must learn man's capabilities of performing useful missions in space over extended periods."

A physician, Yarymovich said, should be a member of every space station crew to monitor the health and psychological well-being of the astronauts.

SKY-HIGH
From their sky-high research laboratory, the station team could conduct experiments in astronomy, biology, communications, weather, physics, chemistry and radiation. The men could practice spacecraft maintenance, determine the best environmental control systems, study the reaction of possible exotic rocket fuels in space and even launch their own research satellites.

Astronauts picked for planetary flights could train aboard the station. The Defense Department is interested in manned space stations and to avoid duplication, both military and civilian needs probably will be considered when the project is a firm reconnaissance mission.

Yarymovich said these three space station concepts are under study. Minimum, which could be achieved in the shortest possible time by modifying the three-man Apollo spacecraft for keeping two or three astronauts aloft for 100 days.

FOR YEAR
Small, a four-to-six-man station, probably a large version of Apollo, which would remain in orbit 200 miles high for a year. Crew members would be replaced on a staggered basis, with at least one man remaining with the station a full year. The two-man project Gemini spacecraft would be the shuttle vehicle between station and earth.

Large, a mammoth vehicle for 12 to 24 men who also would be rotated back to earth at various times. The station would stay up from one to five years and would be supplied by an Apollo spacecraft enlarged to seat six to 12 men. Many station shapes have been studied, including doughnut, giant beer can and spoked wheel.

MARS PROBE
Homer E. Newell, director of NASA's office of space sciences, reports that probing Mars for possible life will be one of the most exciting aspects of planetary exploration.

Newell said that ground and balloon-based studies show Mars has many conditions favorable for harboring extraterrestrial life, possibly similar to lower forms and microorganisms as known on earth. Among the good signs are the presence of carbon and water, on which earth life is based; ice-like polar caps which alternate in contact and expand; and possible seasonal changes, as evidenced by shifting green and orange colors on the surface.

There is considerable difference of opinion among scientists on when a manned spacecraft can be landed on Mars. Some say the mission can be accomplished in the 1971-73 period when Mars will be in a favorable position distance-wise and when solar flare radiation will be at a minimum. Such a flight would require about 250 days, compared with 450 or more days in the following years until the next favorable period starting in 1963. As the earth and Mars orbit the sun, their distance apart ranges from 34 to 62 million miles.

MORE POWER
Less optimistic planners believe a manned Mars landing cannot be made using the Saturn 5 rocket which is being developed for the Apollo moon ships. They feel something larger, in the proposed Nova class, will be needed. Harold B. Finger, director of the NASA Atomic Energy Commission space nuclear propulsion office, said recently the flight would require a nuclear-powered upper stage and could not be attempted for at least 15 years.

Advocates of a moon base would like to start construction in the early 1970s after four or five Apollo teams have made preliminary explorations extending up to a week.

Most of the equipment for the base would be transported in advance of the astronauts by Saturn 5 rockets. The men, perhaps as many as 18 initially, would be ferried in a series of Apollo vehicles and would assemble the base on arrival.

A moon base could serve as a station for astronauts flying deeper into the solar system, as a rocket launching pad and as a laboratory from which to study the universe above the earth's disturbing atmosphere. The Defense Department is interested in military applications, perhaps as a staging base for any future war which might be fought in space.

grandparents were killed in an auto-tractor collision. Patty's injuries include a broken jaw, forcing her to eat through a straw. (AP WIREPHOTO).

Women Of Ancient Persia To Get First Vote Tuesday

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—In veils and in chic Western dresses, Iran's women next Tuesday will vote for the first time.

The election is revolutionary in more ways than one. The new Parliament, instead of being filled with rich industrialists and powerful land barons, will include workers, farmers, middle class civil servants and possibly a few women.

A new electoral law has decreased abuses of past elections. No longer will an Iranian be able to vote half a dozen times, and no more ballots will be cast on behalf of animals, babies or villagers who died years ago.

There are, however, shortcomings to the Majlis — lower house of Parliament — election.

NO CAMPAIGN
Determined to form a Majlis that will back its reform programs, the government of Prime Minister Asadollah Alam has prevented the opposition from campaigning. Many opposition leaders are in jail, influential religious leaders are discredited, and some opposition organizations have announced they will boycott the contest.

Some Iranians believe the shah and the government are unconcerned by the criticism they may face for silencing their opponents. Though the election may fall short of Western-style democracy, they hold, it will be as fair as those in neighboring Pakistan and Turkey, and more democratic than those in Egypt or Iraq.

The voting of 1960 was so obviously rigged that Mohammed Reza Shah Pahlavi, who wanted reforms but couldn't seem to begin them, canceled the election and held another.

NEW LAW
He dissolved Parliament in 1961, but to institute the reforms he wanted — including a new electoral law giving women the vote — the shah needed approval.

He put directly to Iran's 20 million a referendum on the electoral law, land reform, workers' profit sharing plans and other schemes. Almost five million Iranians backed him and only 4,000 voted against him, but the opposition contends the referendum violated the constitution.

Many Iranians appear indifferent to Tuesday's election or fear it will be the same old story of corruption.

During the first three weeks that electoral centers handed out voting cards, few people showed up to collect them.

MASS RALLY
Anxious over a low turnout, the government called a mass rally in Tehran and brought 1,052 representatives from the countryside to a four-day national election convention. At this 200 candidates were proposed for the 200-seat parliament.

Stock Exchange Workings Outlined For ABClubbers

The intricate workings of the New York Stock Exchange, and the manner in which it controls the tide of stocks throughout America, were explained to members of the American Business Club Friday at the Settles Hotel by Joe Liberty of Midland.

Liberty, employe of a concern specializing in the sale of stocks and bonds and a former Big Spring High School football player, told his listeners the advantage of investment and retirement planning.

Liberty pointed out that the life span of the average American is steadily lengthening. For that reason, he said it was imperative that people look more toward providing for themselves after they have retired from their jobs.

He suggested the best way to insure one's future would be to invest in a stock program. Liberty drew a comparison on how the American dollar has decreased in value over the past few decades. A person investing in established stocks, he added, over such a period of time would have more than equated the loss of the dollar's buying power, thanks to the ever increasing value of his investments.

Following his talk, Liberty conducted a questions - and - answers session with his audience. Bill Cox, ABC district governor with headquarters in Lubbock, was also present for the meeting and lauded the local group for the manner in which it tackles its projects and for the increase in attendance at club functions, which has been registered recently.

Cox appealed to the group to subscribe to the limit of its means in the ABClub's Living Endowment program. He cautioned that the program was in danger of expiring unless the membership throughout the country increase and regulate its donations.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Fears Some Reports Give Bad Impression Of Town

To the Editor:

Thank you for presenting your story about the Stanton election in the simple, unsensational way you did. Some newspapers see John Q. Public (the reader) as an illiterate with such a low mentality that the facts, plain and simple, are not enough. They feel it necessary to build a big, sensational headline story, built on gossip and propaganda, to sway the opinions of our poor readers who are not capable of taking the facts and thinking for ourselves.

When I read the Herald, I feel that I can depend on what it says. Happened as the news as it happens. Maybe I don't agree with some of the editorials which are only somebody's opinion, but at least you give an unbiased report on the real news and let the reader form his own opinion. It is a shame all news media don't work under a strict code of ethics to insure that the reader gets the facts.

Your editorial was also appreciated. A boy in Stanton, being a mighty fine place to call home, I was afraid all outsiders would see it as a hotbed of back-biting neighbor-haters fighting hard for a dictatorship with each citizen trying to be dictator. It takes but a few stinkmongers to boil a stew of spite and resentment when they use gossip as the basic ingredient. They can't win in Stanton, though, because most Stantonites take pride in keeping themselves well informed.

The real home folks will fight to keep Stanton a fine place to live. Those who would stamp out progress and turn our streets back into mud holes would probably also sit on their hands and cry if the electricity and water were cut off, if the fire truck stayed idle while their homes burned, or if there were no police protection against the lawless. They would hold back civilization to covered wagon days, then weep for the comforts of today's progress.

Some people simply don't have time to think for themselves because they are too busy scampering about yelling something someone else told them to think and say.

Thank God for our American Democracy where a person can still think if he wants to. He that will not reason is a bigot; he that cannot reason is a fool; and he that dares not reason is a slave.

Sincerely,
MRS. LAVELLE REID
Stanton, Texas

P.S.: Yes, I am the wife of one of the councilmen who won by popular vote in the impounded ballot which is threatened to be tossed out the courthouse window.

Come again tonight at 7, when the sermon shall be, "A Sane and Practical Church Organization." Christianity is a sane and practical religion, from beginning to the end, including the organization of the New Testament church. This is something generally lost sight of today. OTHER SIDE OF THE PICTURE

Quiet Victories Noted In Race Issues

EDITOR'S NOTE — Behind the violence and tension of America's integration struggle there is quiet progress as whites and Negroes achieve peaceful victories. Here is a new perspective on the story of race relations in the United States this year.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strife in the streets, wholesale arrests and a swelling chorus of Negro protest have dominated the story of race relations in the United States, especially this year.

But this story has another side. In the schools, in the field of public facilities, in Negro voter registration, in efforts to reduce dropouts and delinquency, in many areas of the whole problem some gains have been achieved. In numerous communities, North and South, the search for solutions is moving forward with increasing momentum.

Let's look at some major sectors in the list of peaceful victories. First, the schools.

SINCE 1956

The authoritative publication, Southern School News, reported last month that 113 public school districts in 17 Southern and border states will begin desegregating this fall. It said this is "the largest number of districts to drop racial barriers in any year since 1956."

In the 17 states, the paper said, there are approximately 6,196 school districts. The total of those desegregated, with the addition of the expected 113 this year, will reach 1,092, it said.

This is a little more than a sixth. Moreover, it is estimated that only about eight per cent of the Negro children of school age in these states are enrolled in desegregated schools. The figure should rise slightly this year.

Hence, on the one hand, the Negro can see some concrete gains for his race. But on the other, he sees the five-sixths of the schools that are still segregated and the estimated 92 per cent of the Negro children attending them.

UNEMPLOYED Another facet of the school problem concerns the dropout, who may then go on the list of unemployed and become a juvenile delinquent.

This is under study in 16 communities, mainly in the North, by the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Crime. In a recent report, the committee described its operations as "a series of demonstration projects which have effectively mobilized community resources to give all children a chance to become useful citizens."

These projects, of course, embrace white children as well as Negroes. But in districts with a high percentage of Negroes, the problems are particularly acute. The dropout rate among Negroes appears to be generally higher, just as the figure for Negro unemployed is about double the national average.

How to change the dropout problem?

OFF STREETS

Keeping children in school off the streets, or finding jobs for them appear to be immediate answers.

Thus, in New York City, two of the federal demonstration projects are in operation, one in Harlem, the other on the Lower East Side. An official said these "preventive measures" include the effort to create a home environment that will be more conducive to study, and impressing parents with the greater necessity for education as the market for unskilled labor shrinks steadily.

In Harlem, New York's giant Negro district, a unique, broadly based private program to solve social problems affecting adults as well as children is under way. The organizers are Negroes, Cora Walker, an attorney, and Dr. Leo Maitland, a surgeon.

HOLD CLINICS They propose to set up a Negro business and professional body, with these objectives: "The work of this group shall be to hold career clinics, workshops in community living, business relationships, international relations, education (stressing appreciation of our cultural heritage), health projects, music, establish a program which will create and develop a new image which our youth can realistically relate to and follow."

Between May 22 and Aug. 16 of this year a Justice Department tally showed 134 theaters, 122 restaurants, 54 hotels and 91 lunch counters desegregated in a survey of 566 cities in 11 Southern and border states. The totals in these four categories—since some had been desegregated before May 22—were reported as 233, 338, 202 and 294.

REGISTRATION Negro organizations are making progress in the exceedingly important field of voter registration.

It now is possible to cite counties in the South where, a year or two ago, there were only a few Negro voters or none at all; today there are hundreds. The Justice Department has assisted this move, sometimes with lawsuits, sometimes merely with the threat of lawsuits, frequently by trying simply to persuade registration boards.

The racial problem in the North is focused on jobs and housing.

"Demonstration projects" include trying to provide Negro teen-agers with specialized skills. Training projects are under study for Negroes in several cities. There is also an effort to persuade labor unions to open their ranks to more Negroes and quota systems have been suggested.

FIRST IN 4 YEARS

Virginia County To Open Schools

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP) — A long-cherished dream for Prince Edward County Negro children comes true Monday when the doors swing open to free schools for the first time in four years.

There still isn't any accurate count on just how many children will show up for classes. Officials of the Prince Edward Free School Association put the low estimate at 1,200 but point out that nearly 1,600 signed up in preregistration clinics three weeks ago.

For many who do show up, though, it will be their first brush with formal education since 1959. For others, some of them as old as 16, it will mark the new experience of seeing the inside of a classroom.

SORT PUPILS

It will be strange, too, for those who have attended school before. At first there won't be any formal grades until the teachers can sort the pupils out by ability. This, the officials say, may take until sometime this winter.

The free schools are a unique experiment in education, privately financed and scheduled to last a maximum of one year. The enrollment will be nearly all Negro, with only two white children known to have registered. The staffs and the administration will be integrated in this southside Virginia county which abandoned public schools rather than submit to court-ordered desegregation.

"We will open Monday and we will have teachers," says former Virginia Gov. Colgate W. Darden Jr., chairman of the schools' bi-racial board. "Our big problem right now is trying to determine how many teachers we will need. This is extremely difficult until we know accurately what the enrollment will be."

To administer the schools, the board selected Neil V. Sullivan, a Long Island, N.Y., school supertendent who was granted a leave of absence from his former duties.

FINANCES Darden, who also is a former president of the University of Virginia, said the financial picture is fair. Several foundations now have funds requested under consideration, he said.

"We have enough funds to move along and I am confident we will have enough to operate satisfactorily," he said.

The board, composed of present or former college administrators, has leased four unused public school buildings and the long-idle school buses from the Prince Edward School Board.

The County Board of Supervisors provided for the public school closings the summer of 1959 by their operation. Each budget session thereafter has contained only enough funds to maintain the buildings.

White children have been attending a system of private, segregated schools. The county's Negroes declined offers to help them start private schools, and have continued their battle to force the reopening of the public schools on racially nondiscriminatory lines.

Huxley Revives Polarity Issue

LITERATURE & SCIENCE By Aldus Huxley (Harper, $3.50)

The long Victorian debate over the polarity of the mind, separating the men of the laboratory and the men of letters, has been reactivated in recent years, particularly by Sir Charles Snow.

Now Huxley has contributed some illuminating comments on the nature of this dilemma. This is the Huxley who, three decades ago, wrote a sardonic commentary on the future called "Brave New World."

His point of departure now is the idea that both the scientist and the writer "purify" the crudities of everyday language to achieve their own ends.

The scientist does it by choosing the most limited, precise and objective terms, and adding an invented instrumental jargon of his own, to convey largely abstract ideas about commonly observed phenomena. But the writer manipulates words in a subjective way, using subtleties, nuances and fanciful expressions to convey inner meanings that often are intangible. And the writer's use of language can be an end in itself, with its own intrinsic beauty.

It is Huxley's contention that writers should have a better understanding of their day's scientific discoveries, but he qualifies this by saying they need have only a bird's eye view of the main principles, lest they bog down in concepts which soon will become obsolete. He assigns to the writers a role of being, among other things, superjournalists interpreting the explorations of the laboratory men.

The author uses many examples from literature particularly in the poets—to illustrate his presentation. He is a scholarly writer, so it is advisable to bring a nimble mind to the reading of his book. But it is a valuable, mind-stirring text for thought.

Tech To Begin Term On Monday

LUBBOCK — More than 12,000 students will begin arriving on the Texas Tech campus today in preparation for the fall semester opening Monday.

Orientation for entering freshmen and undergraduate transfers will begin at 8 a.m. Monday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. Fall semester registration will be held 8 a.m.-12 noon and 1:30-6 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, and 8 a.m.-12 noon Thursday. Classes will begin Friday. Tech has a faculty of 500 full-time teachers and 236 part-time ones. The last two members of the original staff that opened Tech in 1925 have retired—Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Gates.

Credit Extended

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Yugoslavia will give long term credits to Mexican importers of Yugoslav machinery and other manufactured products, the National Bank of Foreign Trade of Mexico says.

Biggs Heads Stanton Board

STANTON (SC)—James Biggs will take the office of president of the Stanton School Board succeeding Connie Mack Hood, who resigned because he is moving.

Fred Holder was appointed by members of the board to replace Hood on the school board until his term expires in April, 1964. The board members considered boundary lines within the district to avoid an overcrowded condition and to make use of the facilities available at Courtney. The boundary lines will be studied by a committee headed by Beryl Clinton, superintendent. The committee will study the enrollment and set boundary lines for the first eight grades. All students will remain in the school they are enrolled in now for the remaining school year. The new boundary lines will become effective a year hence.

The board checked and approved the 1963 tax roll and the 1963 tax delinquent roll. The board members also voted to purchase the necessary equipment to air condition the high school cafeteria. Because the cafeteria is used by the public, the board felt it necessary to make it a more suitable meeting place.

UNLIKE NEGROES

Indians Battle To Retain Separate, Distinct Race

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — While the nation's attention is focused on the battle for Negro civil rights, the native American Indian is waging his own independence struggle in reverse.

Unlike the Negro, who demands integration with the white man, the Indian is fighting to remain a separate and distinct race. Where the Negro wants equality, the Indian asserts he is entitled to more than that — every advantage enjoyed by the whites, plus recognition as survivors of a once sovereign power.

War councils to obtain these aims met in Bismarck this past week, during the 29th annual convention of the National Congress of American Indians. The congress claims to represent some 400,000 of the estimated 600,000 Indians on reservations across the country.

"We are first-class citizens and more," contended Robert Burnette, executive secretary of the congress. "After all, the government is bound by treaties made with the Indians when we were just as powerful as the United States. These treaties should not be broken today, just because we're not as strong as we once were."

Burnette, 37, a former Marine who once served as chairman of the Rosebud Sioux Reservation in South Dakota, repeatedly has accused white law enforcement officers in South Dakota of beating, raping and mistreating Indian prisoners.

After two public hearings on the charges, South Dakota Gov. Archie Gubbrud summed up Burnette's accusations as baseless and irresponsible. But this is only one angle of the battle.

The real problem, says Walter Wetzel, congress president, is helping the Indian rise out of the rural slums of the reservation and make his contribution to society.

"There isn't enough development of our reservations," said Wetzel, 48, chairman of the Black-foot Tribe of Montana.

"We need financial support — loans and aid to build an economy that will be self-sustaining."

Lomax Lad Wins Show

Brad Posey, 12-year-old first year 4-H Clubber, took first place money Saturday morning in the County 4-H Sears Gift Show held at the County Fair Barns.

Posey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Posey, Lomax. He is a member of the Lomax 4-H Club. He will represent the county next week in area competition against representatives of five other counties.

Also from Big Spring at that show will be the Sears Board, owned by Ronnie Anderson. Others competing Saturday, and the order in which they placed, are Dero Shaw and Gary Riddle, both of the Knott 4-H, and Noel Brooks and Debra Anderson, of the County-wide 4-H Club.

Judge for the event was Gerald Oakes, vocational-agriculture teacher at Coahoma.

Dr. Bowden Rites Today

Dr. A. M. Bowden, 87, early day Brown County physician and a former staff member and acting superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, died Saturday at a hospital in Brownwood after a long illness.

He suffered a disabling stroke many months ago. Services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in May, his hometown. Except for nine years spent on staffs and in administrative work with state institutions, he had been a general practitioner in Brown County and held the distinction of having been licensed to practice medicine longer than any other Brown County physician.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Amanda Heflin Bowden, a son, Heflin M. Bowden, Westaco, and a daughter, Mrs. Iola Chambers, who is on the Southwestern University faculty at Georgetown. Mrs. W. C. Jones, 612 Linda Lane, and Billy Hix, Denver, Colo. are nieces.

Dr. Bowden was born in Dover, Ark. and moved in 1890 with his family to Clio in Brown County. He attended school at Howard Payne, and she taught school while he attended medical school at Fort Worth, Tulane and later at the Chicago Post-Graduate School of Medicine. He began his practice of medicine at Pioneer in 1898, but after 15 years he moved to May. This continued to be his home except for his years in state service, including a residence here from 1946-50. He and Mrs. Bowden had observed their 60th wedding anniversary Oct. 2, 1961.

Swamped At Feeding Time

Marty Reed of Garland, Tex., just doesn't have enough hands when it comes feeding time for five lively pet squirrels. But Marty doesn't mind, he feeds them from doll bottles as they climb all over him. He wouldn't swap them for anything. He found the little squirrels three weeks ago in their nest in a tree. The mother squirrel had been shot. (AP WIREPHOTO).

East Germany's Youth Not All Sold On Reds

By LOYAL GOULD
DRESDEN, East Germany, (AP)—Ever since the Communists put up their wall through Berlin two years ago they have felt that time is on their side, that all East Germans eventually will swing toward a view of the world as seen through Red-tinged glasses. They especially counted on winning over the youth.

But has the youth of this Soviet satellite fallen in step with the drill barked out by raspy-voiced Walter Ulbricht, Moscow's chief lieutenant here?

There are indications that despite their carrot and stick methods the Reds still have some convincing to do.

OWN IDEAS

"The Communists here have never caught on that we young people—like young people everywhere—like to form our own thoughts and ideas," a Dresden student told me.

But he added: "The pressure to conform sometimes gets so heavy you just don't think you can take it any longer."

He told of required lectures on communism—"where you waste half your student years listening to propaganda"—of so-called voluntary labor on government-owned collective farms and of pressure to show undeviating party loyalty.

"But the worst part," he continued, "is the demand that you become an informer, that you betray your closest friends and even family if the opportunity develops."

CERTAIN TROUBLE

An apprentice mechanic told me teen-agers court almost certain trouble by refusing to participate in "youth dedication" ceremonies of the Free German Youth, a pagan rite replacing religious confirmation in East Germany.

"When we reach our 14th birthday," he said, "we go through a series of extra courses on Marxism-Leninism and atheism to give us a 'socialist outlook' on life and then attend a swearing in ceremony where we promise to follow the party wherever it leads."

Teen-agers who refuse to participate in the dedication ceremonies, he said, see their education ended, get poorly paying jobs "and are virtually cut off from any possibilities of advancing in life."

"If you play ball, you get an education, summer vacations in the other Soviet bloc countries and the guarantees of a good job," an FDJ member told me.

"These young people have become the most privileged group in the country," an elderly Dresden office worker said.

BEST JOBS

"They get the best jobs, high pay, chauffeur-driven cars, good apartments and sometimes even weekend houses.

"They are not completely reliable, though, because they're basically opportunists who might just as well swing over to some other side tomorrow if the chance comes."

Signs of so-called Western snobishness the party wants to stamp out are short haircuts and narrow-legged trousers favored by German teen-age youths and curvy-tugging blouses, sweaters and skirts preferred by amply formed East German girls.

Nevertheless, there are some East German young people whose minds have been captured by the Reds.

One of them, a blonde, buxom FDJ leader in her late teens, wanted to have me arrested after she discovered I had taken her picture on an outing near Weimar.

"No Westerner is going to take my picture and get away with it," she snapped.

Only the intervention of an East German Communist party member acting as my guide prevented the girl from pressing charges.

Tax Slash Prospect Gives Boost To Stocks, Business

NEW YORK (AP)—Progress of tax reduction legislation in Congress this week gave the stock market and business in general a lift.

The $11-billion tax cut bill was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee and moved ahead on an uncertain voyage through Congress.

Under President Kennedy's program, two-thirds of the cut would become effective Jan. 1, 1964, and the balance a year later.

The Treasury has estimated that the reduction would mean $2 to $4 a week more take-home pay for most wage-earning, tax-paying families.

The stock market responded to the bill's progress and climbed to another new high. This was the second time within a week that the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues had advanced into new high ground.

The market also was inspired by a gain in retail sales in August and other indications that the economy was moving forward.

The economic indicators point to further advances in overall business activity despite a number of uncertainties, reported the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

"The performance of production and related indicators since mid-year has been at least as good as most analysts expected," the bank said. It added that most measures of economic activity posted significant gains in July and incomplete information for August suggests continued strength.

Retail sales in August amounted to about $20.8 billion. This was about the same as in July but was 6 per cent ahead of August 1962.

The Department of Commerce said sales of nondurable goods set a record in August, showing a 1 per cent gain over July and 5 per cent over August 1962.

Department store operators set their sights on a 5 per cent gain in sales in the second half of this year, which would boost volume for the year to a record $16.5 billion.

Demand for paperboard boxes continued high after a record August.

Comely Swedish Princess Headed For Study In U.S.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Sweden's vivacious Princess Christina is winging to her great American adventure. Saturday she left by air for Cambridge, Mass., to become a freshman at Radcliffe College.

The granddaughter of King Gustaf Adolf will become the first member of Sweden's royal family to study in America. Her three older sisters did not seek formal college educations.

The strong-willed princess is 20 and she insisted on studying in the United States. Her decision generally was greeted favorably by the Swedish people but there are signs that she overrode objections within the royal family.

A recent visitor quoted Queen Louise as saying: "There are excellent universities in Sweden. And, of course, if she wanted to go abroad there are fine British universities. But the princess insisted on going to America."

"Chris," as her friends know her, graduated last May from the French School in Stockholm.

She was photographed being tossed high into the air by a group of students, just like common school mates.

She had excellent grades. At Radcliffe she will concentrate on art, music, history, and modern languages.

Her hobbies are music and literature. She also likes the theater and movies. She is often seen at the Royal Opera and at the concert hall in Stockholm. She took ballet lessons once a week at the Royal Opera during her school years in Stockholm.

She dances the twist with bubbling enthusiasm—and she undoubtedly will find no lack of Harvard dancing partners at Radcliffe.

Her favorite sports are ice skating and skiing. Her friends say she has no special interest in clothes.

A classmate says the princess has definite opinions and is prepared to defend them but she is also perfectly able to listen to others. After class parties she was always prepared to help wash the dishes and tidy up the room.

A brownette, Princess Christina is shorter than her tall sisters but her exact height has never been announced.

She belongs to the Lutheran Church and regularly attends Sunday services.

Her father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, was killed in an air accident at Copenhagen in 1947. Her mother is Princess Sibylla, formerly a German princess and closely related to the British royal family. Her younger brother is Carl Gustaf, 16, heir to the throne.

EASE CONGESTION

Interstate Network Spreading In Texas

By The Associated Press

One of the biggest problems in travel today is the congested highway. While scientists speak of rocketing to other planets, most motorists would trade this promise for a few safe miles of uncongested traffic.

With the final lap of vacations ahead, drivers all over the country wait impatiently for red lights or slow traffic and lose time and tempers in city driving.

But to meet at least a fraction of this giant complaint, the nation is spending staggering sums on new superhighways such as Interstate 10, 20 and 35 which some day will span Texas.

But to meet at least a fraction of this giant complaint, the nation is spending staggering sums on new superhighways such as Interstate 10, 20 and 35 which some day will span Texas.

SMALL STEP

It's only a small step toward easing growing congestion when you consider that all roads in the United States, counting back roads and streets, total about 3.5 million miles.

The interstate system due to be completed in 1972 will be a part of the national system of highways which will eventually make up a transcontinental network of superhighways.

Over 10,000 miles of the 41,000-mile national system of interstate highways are open to traffic. Thousands of more miles are building in the country.

Among this total, 1,225 miles are now open in Texas.

On its 3,032 interstate miles, $364 million have been authorized by the federal and state governments. This includes $372.9 million for completed sections and $284.2 million which are under construction or in the engineering stages.

Other figures cited by the Bureau of Roads include:

IN PROGRESS

Work is in progress on another 1,182.5 miles of the Texas system.

No work has been started on 624.5 miles.

In addition to 861.9 miles completed to full federal standards, another 313.2 miles have been approved to the standard requirements of present traffic and another 30.1 miles consists of toll roads.

Engineering or right-of-way has begun on 843.6 miles.

Of the $663.4 million authorized for Texas interstate highways, the federal government's share comes to $511.6 million.

Of the $284.2 million of roads building or in the engineering stages, the government's share is $254.7 million.

The government pays 90 percent of interstate road costs.

EASY ACCESS

The system skirts smaller cities and passes through larger cities, such as Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth, in such a manner as to do away with traffic congestion and bottlenecks — at the same time providing ready access to these cities.

The government began this highway system seven years ago under a Republican President, Dwight Eisenhower.

Nine more years and the roads will be in full operation.

One of Texas' interstate routes, I-10, enters the state just below El Paso, branches off just west of Pecos and extends through San Antonio, Houston and enters Louisiana at Orange. Interstate 40 cuts across the top of the state through Amarillo into Oklahoma. Interstate 20 begins at the branch of I-10 near Pecos, passes through Fort Worth, Dallas, Marshall, Longview, and enters Louisiana just west of Shreveport.

AT LAREDO

Interstate 35 enters Texas from Oklahoma, passes through Denton, Dallas, Fort Worth, Hillsboro, Austin, San Antonio and ends at Laredo.

The fifth route, Interstate 37, extends from San Antonio to Corpus Christi.

I-45 runs from Dallas through Ennis to Galveston; Interstate 30 from Dallas to Little Rock to Memphis.

The new interstate network has no railroad crossings, no side roads and no commercial advertisements on the right-of-way. All interchanges will be either cloverleaf or diamond design.

Defense officials have estimated 70 million persons will be evacuated over this system in the event of a national emergency.

Other figures show passenger cars will save one cent per mile on the new roads and commercial vehicles much more. The building program thus far has created one new job for every $100,000 spent.

The Bureau of Roads in Washington says there are 55 deaths for every 100 million vehicle miles on conventional highways, but on the superhighways the rate will drop to about three deaths for as many miles.

Lincoln-Mercury Pre-Showing Due

Truman Jones Motor Company of Big Spring is one of 181 Lincoln-Mercury dealerships in Texas and Oklahoma invited to participate next Tuesday in Dallas at a special preview showing of 1964 models offered by Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Company.

The new cars will be shown to the dealers in the Dallas Memorial Auditorium following a luncheon at which four 25-year Mercury dealers will be honored as part of the Mercury Silver Anniversary Program. The Mercury car was introduced in the fall of 1938 as a 1939 model.

Gins Are Cranking Up For The Harvest

To date, 869 bales of the Howard-Martin-Glasscock County area's 121,000 bale 1963 cotton crop have been picked and ginned.

All but one of Howard County's 11 gins are operating on a start-and-stop basis. More Howard County cotton has been ginned than in any of the other counties in the area served by Texas Employment Commission. TEC said the gins had handled 503 bales through Friday. Howard's total crop is estimated at 36,500 by TEC.

Rains which moved in Thursday brought a temporary delay to the limited cotton pulling in this and adjacent counties. On Wednesday, to show how the season is gradually getting under way, the Co-Op Gin at 511 NE Second, ginned 34 bales. Friday it was not operating.

Until the fields dry out, the gins will be inactive again.

Martin County, with an estimated crop of 75,000 bales, has ginned the least bales of any of the three counties in the area—130. Glasscock County has ginned 236 bales of its estimated 9,700 bale crop.

TEC said that shortage of laborers to pull cotton is holding back the harvest to a major degree. Saturday, the office had requests for more than 350 pickers. None are available.

"One Martin County cotton farmer came in this week," said Leon Kinney, manager of the TEC office, "with a request for 100 workers. We didn't have a single picker to offer him."

He said the office has been able to send out a few small crews but that in most instances all the farmers can be told is that no workers are available.

"We can get a limited number of Mexican Nationals," Kinney said, "but the expense is high and there's a lot of trouble getting the men here and on the job. Most farmers just aren't interested."

He said there are about 400 Nationals now working in Howard, Glasscock, Martin and Sterling counties.

"Last year at this time," Kinney pointed out, "we had a few Nationals on hand but even then the supply was low. The year before, though, we had 8,000 braceros on jobs in the four counties."

Some cotton is being picked. This is mostly in the Martin County irrigated sections. Pay for picking the cotton is fixed at $2.50 per hundred pounds. Pay for pulling dryland cotton is $1.55 per hundred.

Every indication points to a tremendous increase in the number of fields which will be machine-picked this fall. This means that much of the cotton will be late reaching the gins. The season will not be at its peak as early as it used to be when the work was done by crews of workers.

Rains were regarded with mixed emotions by farmers. In some areas, where there are still fields far enough behind schedule and where such fields are still growing, the rains will help the maturity of the bolls.

In the fields where the cotton has stopped growing and where the bolls are opening or are opened, the rain was damaging rather than helpful.

Annual Mitchell Reunion Being Planned For Oct. 10

The Colorado City Museum is being held for the Mitchell County Old Timers Reunion slated to begin at 9 a.m., Oct. 10. It is a one-day affair.

As usual, plaques will be awarded in five categories. These include: oldest old timer; the old timer living the longest in Mitchell County; the youngest Mitchell County resident; the old timer coming the farthest distance; and, the oldest married couple.

Contestants for old timer plaques must be present to win. Winners will be awarded their plaques at 11:45 a.m.

Mrs. R. P. (Pete) Answorth, hostess for the reunion, said new artifacts and pictures have been added to the Museum since last year. Coffee, punch and doughnuts will be served.

In conjunction with the Reunion, the Colorado City Museum will give cash prizes for the best anecdotes or true incidents that happened in early-day Colorado City. Entries should be submitted to: Old Timers Contest, Box 1026, Colorado City, and should be post-marked not later than midnight, Oct. 7.

Anecdotes should be from personal experience or handed down by close relatives. Each contestant may submit as many entries as he wishes; however, each should be submitted on a separate sheet with the name and address of the contestant.

All entries become the property of the museum and the decision of the judges will be final. In the event one or more persons submit the same incident, then the one bearing the earlier postmark will prevail. Source of the anecdote should be included with the entry.

First prize is $15, second is $10, and third is $5. Entrants in the anecdote contest are not required to be present to win.

India Communists Note Strong Political Rally

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Demonstrating as champion of the poor, India's Communist party has culminated a year-long political comeback drive with one of the largest and best disciplined shows of strength ever seen in New Delhi.

About 35,000 persons joined a Communist demonstration Friday demanding lower consumer prices and tax relief. A petition to Parliament bearing 10.25 million signatures or thumbprints also called on the government to take over banks, oil companies and foreign trade.

The street demonstration highlighted the Indiana Communist party's rally from its low point last fall during Red China's invasion of India when mobs destroyed the party office here.

Pravda claimed today the New York offices of the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia were ransacked Thursday and private papers stolen.

It said Izvestia correspondent Stanislav Kondrashov found his office in disorder and some personal papers gone, but no money missing.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, said New York police were informed but did not visit the Izvestia office. It said its own offices were searched in August 1962.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Shooting broke out between police and snipers during the night after pro-Communist demonstrators waving Red flags failed to break up the 22nd anniversary celebration of President Romulo Betancourt's Democratic Action party.

One man was killed in a working class section of the city.

U. S. Turncoat Deserts China

HONG KONG (AP)—United States turncoat Scott Rush of Marietta, Ohio, left today for the United States after spending 10 years in Red China. The former U.S. Army sergeant, 31, emerged last week, saying he was disillusioned with communism.

Rush was accompanied by his Chinese wife Helen, 31, and their 14-month-old daughter, Betty Jean. He told reporters before departure that his immediate plan was to visit his ailing mother in Tucson, Ariz.

He said he also intended to give Americans a true picture of communism.

"Communism is the world's worst dictator. I learned this in China," he said.

The three boarded a plane for Honolulu where they were to switch to PanAm flight for San Francisco.

He is due in Tucson Monday morning.

Services are pending in Key Stone, Okla., for J. F. (Frank) Howard, 64, former resident of Big Spring, who died there early Friday.

He is survived by his widow, Harriett, a daughter, Mrs. Seth Lacy, 2906 Cactus, and a son, Sgt. Charles Maurice Howard, now on Okinawa, and by a stepson, Marvin Roberts, Alice M. Howard had been making his home in recent years in Mansfield, Okla.

Quick Thugs Loot Jewels

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A pair of fast-working bandits, wearing white gloves, stocking masks and what appeared to be paratrooper suits, smashed a display window with a plank, scooped up more than $100,000 in jewels and escaped by car and boat.

Except that the take was smaller, Friday night's robbery was a near-duplication of a February 1962 robbery of the chain's store in nearby Pompano Beach. Three men charged with that one, which netted $1 million, are in jail.

Witnesses said the bandits were in and out of the store in less than a minute. A couple pursued the getaway car, but the robbers shot their radiator and they turned back.

EL PASO (AP)—Texas Western College, at 1,343, broke an all-time record in registration Friday with hundreds still expected to sign for classes.

Teacher Dinner Slated By Lions

STANTON (SC)—The Stanton Lions Club will sponsor Teacher appreciation night at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative auditorium.

Speaker for the program will be Dr. Richard Claydorne, pastor of the First Church in Midland.

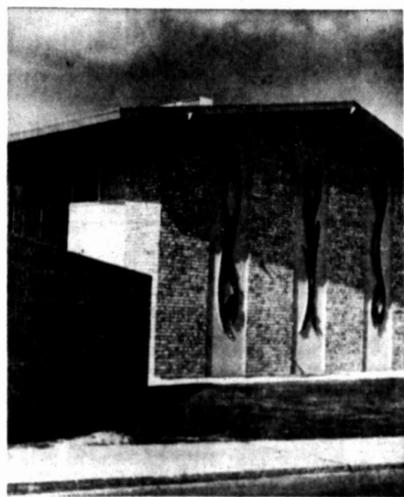

A banquet supper will be served by the Lions Club. The meat, bread and drinks will be furnished by the club and the wives of the Lions members will prepare covered dishes. All teachers, their husbands and wives, and the Lions Club members are invited to attend the affair.

OPEN HOUSE SCHEDULED FOR SUNDAY EVENING
Ponderosa Apartments, 1409 E. 6th, welcomes visitors from 5-9 p.m.

New Apartment Center To Hold Open House Today

Ponderosa Apartments, located on the hill in the 1400 block of East Sixth Street, will be open to the public from 5 to 9 p.m. Sunday, Kent Morgan, owner, has announced. The 40-apartment building is built in three sections and each has two floors. Each section is connected with a covered walkway. There are 24 two-bedroom apartments, and 16 one-bedroom units, and they are available furnished or unfurnished.

Thirty-two of the 40 have been rented, and the manager, Hart Phillips, said all would have been rented if furniture had arrived on schedule.

"We have been held up by failure of the factory to deliver our furniture on schedule," Phillips said. "We have assembled it and installed as it does arrive, but possibly we won't have it all by open house time."

DOUBLE ENTRANCE

The U-shaped apartment building provides front and back entrance to all units. The rear leads to a walking deck on the second floor. Carports are at the rear all the way around. Balconies are provided at the front entrances and overlook a grass lawn, heated swimming pool, and recreation room in the center. No cars are permitted to drive in to the front of the apartments and a tile decorative fence is erected just off a circular driveway, with entrances in the center and at both wings. Cars, going in or coming out of the carports, may drive around the building.

CLOSET SPACE

The single bedroom apartments have linen and garment-hanging closets in the hallways, and two closets in the bedroom, with folding latticed doors. Double bedrooms have the same closets in the hallway and two in each bedroom. Doubles have twin beds in the back bedroom and a double bed in the front.

Baths are tile, with tub and shower combinations, and lavatories have cabinets beneath. Kitchens are equipped, when furnished, with matching stoves and refrigerators in either pink, turquoise or fashion tone (brown). Double sinks are equipped with disposals. Convenient built-in cabinets are ample for the apartments. A living area is just off the kitchen area, facing the front.

UTILITIES FURNISHED

Single bedroom apartments are carpeted in beige colors and doubles with gold. Draperies are furnished on all windows except the kitchen.

All utilities are paid, except telephones. Cable television connections are available. Facilities include refrigerated air conditioning, central heating, washers and dryers in the utility room in the patio, hair dryers, hot and cold water, and heated swimming pool.

A concrete patio around the swimming pool, in front of all apartments, provides room for barbecue equipment, and metal tables for outdoor eating. A recreation room is at the north end of the pool.

Modern Motel Also Being Developed By Morgan

Ponderosa Apartments, a new facility costing well over a quarter of a million dollars, is the first of two new facilities in Big Spring, by Kent Morgan, and his third project.

Ponderosa Motor Inn, being built at 2701 Gregg, for another quarter of a million dollars, will be open in a short time, and is the second motor inn built by Morgan. The first was in Alpine.

Morgan, a Howard County ranchman, contracted the Ponderosa Apartments to Harley Bolding, San Angelo builder, in early March, and nearly all of the 40 available apartments have been rented.

The apartments were designed and the building supervised by J. Frank Powell, Midland architect. He also designed and is supervising construction of the 34-unit Ponderosa Motor Inn.

The structure of the apartment building is considered unique in the area. Three wings, each with two levels, are built in a U-shape. The carports at the rear are adjoining the apartments and entrance may be gained through a rear door off the carport. A cedar screening wall encloses the drive-

KENT MORGAN

The apartments, covering a city block, are set on the crown of a hill and are visible for some distance away. The entire front is landscaped, and set off with architectural designs using concrete ornamental tile.

Stockmen Worried With Dry Ranges

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Harvesting was swift in Texas during the week. Hot, dry weather held through much of the week and delayed plowing, and grain planting and increased the pressure on livestock producers, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dry ranges in many areas furnished very short grazing. Water shortages contributed to increased livestock marketings, he said.

Spotted showers generally gave only temporary relief.

SOME RELIEF

The High Plains have had enough moisture in spots to give them some relief and improve ranges, the director said. General moisture is needed for late maturing crops and especially for range plant growth and grain seeding.

Moisture in the south and east Panhandle is now adequate but other counties are still dry. Wheat is being planted in the favored areas. Grain sorghum is turning. Most South Plains counties now have adequate moisture and cotton is making good progress. Some cotton is opening. The sorghum harvest gained speed. Ranges were average with stock water ample.

Twenty of the 22 Rolling Plains district counties need rain. Wheat planting started in some areas. The cotton harvest is moving along.

Conditions in North Central Texas generally were favorable for the fast-moving cotton harvest and the wind-up of the grain sorghum harvest. Showers to heavy rains fell. Livestock are in fair to good condition.

LITTLE GRAZING

Moisture is short to very short in Northeast Texas. Livestock marketing is heavy. Corn, cotton and sweet potatoes are being harvested. Pastures are below average and furnishing little grazing. The Edwards Plateau in West Texas is extremely dry but moisture in the David Mountains and in the Odessa - Andrews sectors is close to adequate. Cotton harvesting is picking up. The shipping of lambs and calves is heavy. The sorghum harvest is well along.

West Central Texas is extremely dry except in spots. Stock water is low and some producers are dusting in oats. Goat shearing is near completion. Lack of rain in Central Texas was critical. The corn and cotton harvests are about over. Peanuts and pecans need rain to mature them. Pastures are very dry, grazing very short, and livestock marketing is increasing. Feeding is increasing.

Ranges are below average in East Texas where moisture is short to very short. Most southeast and upper Gulf Coast counties are short on moisture. Hay crops and pastures are suffering. All harvesting is near completion.

Harvesting of all crops except peanuts is about over in South Central Texas. Livestock conditions are getting more critical due to the drought. The late peanut harvest will be light. Livestock is increasing but orderly. The moisture shortage is critical in South Texas. Little cotton remains in the field. Ranges are poor. Planting is moving along.

Co-Ops' Membership Meet Draws Record Attendance

A record attendance made the 24th Annual Membership meeting of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative and its associate, West-Tex Telephone Cooperative, here Saturday an outstanding event according to James Eiland, Stanton, Cap Rock executive.

More than 600 men and women and 150 boys and girls were at the Howard County Junior College for the Saturday afternoon session.

The youngsters were entertained at a movie and also enjoyed a performance by Jackie Hipp, Big Spring ventriloquist. Their elders assembled in the auditorium to hear the annual report on the two cooperatives and to elect directors for the ensuing year.

One replacement was made on the Cap Rock board. Alfred Schwartz was elected to succeed Douglas Caubie for District 7, Schwartz is from the St. Lawrence community.

Miss Arah Phillips, District 1, and Glenn Cantrell were re-elected.

These were the only terms expiring in 1963.

West-Tex named three directors — A. A. McKinney for District No. 2, E. G. Gates who replaced John R. Anderson, District No. 5, and Mrs. Mrs. Glen Cox for District No. 6.

Two service awards were made at the session.

Mrs. H. S. Hanson, Rt. 1, Big Spring, a director on the West-Tex board since 1953, District 1, was given a 10 year pin. Edgar Phillip, Vealmoor Route, a director from District 3 since 1943 for the Cap Rock Electric Co-Op, was presented with a 20 year service award.

Report on the financial status of the two co-ops was submitted by Orton Gilbert, auditor. Both showed an active and healthy year and promise of a brisk year ahead.

A feature of the meeting was the singing of Miss Linda Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaw of Knott. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. C. Gambill.

Glenn Cantrell, president of the Cap Rock Co-Op, presided at the sessions relating to this enterprise and A. A. McKinney, West-Tex president handled the general part of the co-ops business.

Eiland acted as master of ceremonies.

Two Win Scholarships From Cap Rock Co-Op

Two Howard County Junior College students, whose parents are patrons of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, were awarded scholarships by the co-op at its annual membership meeting Saturday afternoon.

An eighth grader and held the same honor in her sophomore, junior and senior years in high school. In her junior year, she placed third in the district in "numbers sense" and in her senior year won second in district typing competition and competed in the regional typing contest.

Miss Wilson is a freshman at HCCJ majoring in business administration.

The second scholarship went to a 20-year-old HCCJ sophomore. He is Weldon Lee Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Martin, Rt. 1, Knott. A graduate of Sands High school, he was an active FFA member for two and a half years. He is a member of Ackerly Methodist Church and a leader in the Wesley Fellowship. Weldon plays tennis and is a bowler. A business administration major, he plans to continue his education at West Texas State College at Canyon when he has completed his work at HCCJ.

The scholarships awarded by Cap Rock pay for the tuition fees and books for two semesters. The scholarship committee of Howard County Junior College made the selection.

Miss Arah Phillips made the presentation to Miss Wilson and Martin at the annual meeting in the HCCJ auditorium.

Tourists Are Car Victims

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Two California travelers were injured in an automobile accident five miles west of here on IS 20 about 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

Joseph M. Flood, 65, is in serious condition at Root Memorial Hospital suffering from concussion and other head injuries. His wife, Mrs. Velma Flood, 63, is bruised and shaken up. She is also in the hospital, but her injuries are thought to be minor.

Mrs. Flood told Highway Patrolman Buddy Hertenberger that a passing automobile struck her car and she lost control of it. The Flood car swerved from the east bound lane, across the median and across the westbound lane before crashing into a highway speed warning sign. The contact with the heavy steel post made the 1959 vehicle a total loss.

The second vehicle was not yet located, Colorado City police said.

The couple was en route from San Diego to St. Petersburg, Fla.

Lad Suffers Broken Leg

Johnnie Garcia, 13, of 709 N. Scurry, suffered a compound fracture of the left thigh and abrasions about the face and head, at 12:45 p.m. Saturday when his bicycle was struck by a motor car.

The accident occurred at First and Scurry.

City police who investigated the accident said that the car was driven by Demetrio Corrales, 64, of 604 NW 4th. The officers did not issue a ticket in the case.

The boy, a fifth grader, is the son of Mrs. Epifana Amaro, 709 N. Scurry.

The child was taken to Cosper Hospital and Clinic where the fracture was reduced and he was hospitalized. His condition is satisfactory.

River-Welch Funeral Home ambulance took the injured boy to the hospital.

Over 20 Enrolled In Sul Ross Class

Hot Dog Feast Tops Bank's Open House

Hot dog! This summed up in two words the reaction of the officers and employees of the First National Bank to the first of the bank's two-day "open house" Saturday afternoon, between 2,500 and 3,000 visitors paraded through the huge new bank building and were taken on tours of the various departments and offices.

At 6 p.m. although a light shower just a short time ago played havoc with the bank's plans to have a mountain of hot dogs cooked, mustard and buns ahead of time the evening activities began.

Hundreds of hot dog hungry friends of the bank had assembled. The big parking lot to the south of the building had been roped off. A number of serving stations had been installed and bank officers, tellers, bookkeepers and other bank employees forgot their ordinary skills to become hot dog vendors in a mass production line operation.

No one knows as yet how many dogs were consumed. The throng filled the big parking lot. Hundreds of dog-laden visitors paraded back to their cars to munch their sandwiches in comfort Monday, perhaps an official said, there may be a hot dog audit and statistics available on the number handed out.

A huge platform had been erected along the south wall of the bank. Here the famous Ed Burnett Banjo band of Dallas held sway with Jimmy Taylor, assistant vice president of the bank, as emcee for the occasion. Four fat gallon jugs jammed with coins lined the table—awaiting claimants later in the evening.

Today, for the benefit of those friends of the bank who could not visit the big new building Saturday, the doors will be opened again from 2 to 5 p.m. And the same red carpet treatment, with the tours of the institution, which prevailed Saturday will be the order of the day.

Lester Morton, president, weary but delighted, voiced his thanks to the friends of the bank and stressed an invitation to all others to visit the bank today.

"It's been a wonderful open house," he said.

The bank's interior was gay with flowers and letters and telegrams expressing best wishes flooded the desks of officers.

4-H Clubber Wins Ribbon

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Don Goss, 15-year-old 4-H Club member, took first place in the Mitchell County Sear's Swine Show held Saturday morning in the Mitchell County Agricultural Barn.

Hull & Phillips Buys Newsom's On W. Third

Sale of one of the city's larger independent food markets was completed last week when Hull & Phillips took over the stock and fixtures of Newsom's at 501 West 3rd. That store became Hull & Phillips No. 3 effective Friday morning.

Don Newsom said that he had retained the building in the transaction but that the new owners would operate the store from the old address.

Newsom said he intended to concentrate his efforts on his South Gregg Street store. He said his reason for disposing of the West Third Street establishment was because the task of handling two establishments was becoming overly difficult.

Hull and Phillips in announcing the deal, said that Pete Hull, one of the partners, will be store manager. Ted Hull, another of the partners, will continue to devote his time largely to the No. 2 store on Lamesa Drive. Elmo Phillips will be at the No. 1 store at 809 Scurry.

Ted and Elmo became grocers here in March 1946, soon after they were discharged from the military. Their first store was at 303 Bell. They established the store at 611 Lamesa Drive in 1954. In 1955, they closed out the Bell Street store and acquired the Robinson Grocery at 4th and Gregg. Four years ago, they built the present No. 1 store on Scurry. Ted and Pete Hull are sons of Earl Hull, Coahoma, and Elmo Phillips is the son of Earl Phillips. All are natives of Howard County.

They said George Smith, a long time employee, will head up the meat department at the new establishment and that Preston Yarbrough will be assistant manager.

The new store will operate five days a week from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Newsom in the grocery business nearly all of his life, has been a store operator since 1950. The store Hull & Phillips bought was opened in 1935 by an uncle of Don Newsom. Don took over its operation in 1956 and bought the building about three years ago.

Don's father was the late J. O. Newsom, a pioneer food store operator here.

County Community Panels Are Named

Committee members from the five County Communities elected by farmers last week were announced Saturday by Gabe Hammack, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization Committee. The election was held Thursday.

Voting was fairly heavy, Hammack said.

Newsom said he intended to concentrate his efforts on his South Gregg Street store. He said his reason for disposing of the West Third Street establishment was because the task of handling two establishments was becoming overly difficult.

Stop Trailing Fire Truck Is Warning

COAHOMA — City officials have issued an appeal to residents to stop following the fire truck.

This practice has become increasingly worse in recent weeks, they said. Last week the truck made a run to Sand Springs and the traffic jam occurring around the truck made it impossible to get out after it had completed its mission. Had there been a fire in Coahoma about that time, officials pointed out, the results could have been disastrous. Following a fire truck is against the law, and a crack down is in prospect if residents do not heed.

Tito's Trip To Mexico May Stir Question Of Aid By U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
An AP News Analyst

President Tito of Yugoslavia, newly anointed by Soviet Premier Khrushchev as a good Leninist

Communist, heads for Latin America this week. The trip may stir misgivings about the soundness of a huge U.S. investment in his regime.

Advance billing pictures Tito as a salesman for the idea of non-alignment in cold war blocs. But the brand of "peaceful coexistence" Tito is espousing is beginning to sound much like Khrushchev's own.

Tito probably has many reasons for going to Latin America. Some include strictly Yugoslav national interests. Some may involve enhancement of his own and his regime's prestige as the supposed voices of neutralism.

But Tito is a Leninist Communist who professes to believe that communism is the world's wave of the future. He could be influential in preparing a Latin-American climate more receptive to Communist ideas.

The White House announced Thursday that Tito will see President Kennedy Oct. 17 for talks involving "a full exchange of views on a number of matters of interest" to both Yugoslavia and the United States.

The 72-year-old Yugoslav president expects to turn up next month in the United States, which has bet a billion dollars — in aid of one form or another — that his independence from Moscow would be permanent.

Tito will visit Brazil, Chile, Bolivia and Mexico, countries whose governments frequently are at odds with Washington and inclined to question the extent of any peril emanating from Communist Cuba.

Washington will be watching Tito's tour with close interest. America will have in mind Khrushchev's visit to Yugoslavia in August when each admiringly called the other "dear comrade."

In view of that, Tito's posture of nonalignment and neutrality is at least subject to careful scrutiny.

Up to a short time ago, Tito called his policy active coexistence. Since the Khrushchev visit, he has called it "peaceful and active coexistence." In a statement dealing with his visit to Latin America, Tito said he will be "following the policy of nonalignment and peaceful and active coexistence."

Webb To Help Stage Air Show Today

Col. Howard J. Withycombe, Webb AFB Commander, will be guest speaker at the Eighth Annual Midland Air Show, today at the Midland Air Terminal. The Air Force is cooperating with the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Air Show, in furnishing static displays, flyovers, and other support.

Col. Withycombe named Capt. Larry A. Hoskins of Webb as the project officer, and Lt. David M. Hodson as assistant.

In addition to Webb displays, Midland Air Show officials said the Royal Canadian Golden Hawks will put on its famous aerial demonstration.

Webb will have both the primary and basic trainers the T-37 and T-38 on display. In addition, Webb will furnish flyovers of T-37s and T-38s; the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron, a Webb-based unit of the Air Defense Command, will furnish a flyover of F-104s.

Webb personnel will be on hand as ground support, including three fuel tank trucks carrying 15,000 gallons of JP-4 fuel; 78 gallons of 10-10 oil; compressor units; power units; starter units; ladders; bomb trailers; wheel chocks; and oxygen carts.

Also on the schedule from Webb is a fire control training exercise to be staged by the Air Rescue Team, flying the H43B helicopter under the supervision of Capt. Tom Seebo, Central Air Rescue Center Detachment commander.

The show begins at 10 a.m. with the static displays open to the public. The aerial demonstration will begin at 1 p.m.

Veteran Railroader Retires From T&P

By BUCK SITTON

Some 30 of his long-time co-workers surprised H. F. Jarrett, chief yard clerk of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co.'s Big Spring office, with a party Friday afternoon. The occasion was Jarrett's impending retirement after 46 years and 44 days of service on the T&P line.

C. W. Dickerson, general yardmaster at Big Spring, praised Jarrett for his "many years of long and loyal service to the Texas and Pacific."

Jarrett then was presented with a gift and a check for $55 from his co-workers. The "gift" turned out to be a red apron embroidered with black letters, which spelled out "Little Chief."

Viola, Jarrett's wife, tried the apron on for size, but the retiring chief clerk's friends and colleagues shouted, "The apron is for Jarrett."

The long-time employe expressed his appreciation to his fellow railroaders and said he would miss them.

Jarrett can look back on a long career involving friendships with scores of fellow co-workers on the T&P line. "About a hundred friends, all the way from Dallas to El Paso, called me today to congratulate me on my retirement," Jarrett said.

The genial, well-liked chief clerk first went to work for the T&P as an extra stock loader at Baird Aug. 7, 1917. A year later he became a clerk and remained in Baird until his transfer to Big Spring in September, 1931.

Working as a clerk in the yard office here, Jarrett became a cashier in the freight agent's office in 1938—a post he held for almost 20 years.

He returned to the yard office as chief clerk about five years ago, where he has worked until his retirement.

Asked what was the most unusual incident in his long career, Jarrett said: "In 1935 when flood waters covered the freight yards, and I had to ride to work in a boat."

"It rained at Elbow but it didn't rain in Big Spring. The water came down from the salt lakes and flooded our yards. Passengers were hauled from the station to the train on baggage trucks."

Now that he is unemployed for the first time in 46 years, what will the veteran railroader do?

"I like ceramics and painting ... and I have some rent property which should keep me plenty busy," Jarrett said.

The Jarretts reside at 413 E.

Dodgers, Cards Maintain Positions In National Race

Pete Richert Tames Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pete Richert's five-hit pitching backed by home runs off the bats of Ken McMullen and Tommy Davis carried Los Angeles to a 5-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday, maintaining the Dodgers' 2½-game lead in the tense National League pennant struggle.

The 23-year-old Richert pitched his first complete game in more than a year as he earned his fifth win against a single loss, striking out eight and walking none. The only run off the south-paw was a home run by Bobby Wine in the eighth, the fifth of the season for the Phillies' shortstop.

Richert's last complete game was a 6-1 win over Pittsburgh Sept. 8, 1962.

The Dodgers didn't fare much better with the Phillies' starter and loser, John Bozzer 2-4. Bozzer allowed only six hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth, but the home run ball was his undoing. McMullen, who also had a pair of singles, sent the Dodgers ahead 1-0 in the fifth with his fifth homer, and Tommy Davis made it 2-0 with a shot into the left field seats in the eighth, his 14th.

In the ninth, however, Los Angeles put the game away with a three-run spurge off relievers John Klippstein and Jack Baldschun.

Red Birds Vanquish Cowboy Club, 34-7

DALLAS (AP)—Charley Johnson's passing, Bill Triplett's running, a 58-yard dash with an intercepted pass by Jimmy Hill and Dallas mistakes gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 34-7 victory in an opening National Football League game Saturday night.

Jim Bakken also kicked field goals of 43 and 5 yards.

Dallas continued frustrated. It never has been able to beat St. Louis although heavily favored to make it this time.

The best opening NFL member-ship—36,432—turned out in the Cotton Bowl to be disappointed once more.

The Cowboys drew first blood, scoring a touchdown in the second quarter as Don Meredith found the passing range. He threw for 49 yards in a 69-yard march, with the payoff a 15-yarder to Pettis Norman.

But from there on Dallas had little chance with the hard-running Cardinals, guided by Johnson, who chipped in with some crucial runs himself.

St. Louis jammed 20 points into the second period with Bakken's 43-yard field goal coming first after Johnson had sent the Cards 42 yards.

As soon as St. Louis got the ball again it went ahead with a 79-yard drive, a screen pass from Johnson to Triplett that ate up 38 yards getting the surge going. A 30-yard dash by Triplett got the ball to the Dallas two and Joe Childress finally ran a yard around right end for the touch-

Austral Completes Ellenburger Strike

Austral Oil Co., Inc., Houston, has completed No. 1 J. E. Mabee in the first of two discovery zones in the Mabee field area of Martin County.

Operator took 24-hour potential on the Ellenburger, which flowed 470 barrels of 47.5-gravity oil, through 10-64-inch choke. No water was produced. Flow pressure was 1,725 pounds and the gas-oil ratio was not reported.

The zone of completion had been acidized with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Preparations are now being made to perforate and test the Fusselman, which showed for discovery oil on two drillstem tests taken between 12,875-13,026 feet. The interval at which operator will attempt to complete has not been given. However, the zone will be fractured before extensive testing is begun on the pay formation.

This discovery is located about 14 miles southwest of Tarzan, on an 80-acre lease. It is surrounded by Mabee (San Andres) production. Location is 467 feet from the south and east lines of the north-east quarter of section 19-39-2n, G&MMB&A survey.

Basin Count Drops Again; Local Area Picks Up Rigs

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin Empire listed another decline on the Friday survey of Reed Roller Bit Company.

On that tabulation, 175 active rigs were counted. This was down 10 from the 185 reported the previous Friday.

The latest total was less than the 201 rotary rigs working in the two-state territory on the second Friday of September, 1962.

Lea County, N.M., with 34 working units on both of the two latest counts, continued to head the list.

In the local eight-county area, seven new units were picked up during the week preceding the Friday report. There were 16 rigs operating compared to nine on the previous Friday.

Dawson County continued to pace the area with four rigs, the same number as the week before. Mitchell County dropped from four rigs to two. All the others, except Howard which remained at one, registered a gain.

A look at the Permian Basin, county-by-county, follows. The previous week's totals are in parentheses.

Gulf Selects Buie To Head Producing

CRANE—W. C. Buie has been appointed production manager for Gulf Oil Corporation's Crane area.

Formerly production advisor in the Midland district office, Buie succeeds A. J. Evans Jr. who has transferred to Beaumont as area production manager there.

A native of Mertens, Buie holds a degree in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M University.

He joined Gulf as a roustabout at Pierce Junction in 1940, and following more than four years in military service returned to the company as a petroleum engineer.

In 1951 he transferred to Kuwait Oil Co., a Gulf subsidiary in the Middle East. He rose through a number of positions there, becoming assistant general manager of operations in 1961. He returned to the United States as production advisor at Midland earlier this year.

Awards For Service To Oil Go To Decker And Jacobsen

DALLAS — A nationally-known spokesman for independent oil men and the head of one of the country's most successful oil finding organizations were announced Saturday as winners of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Distinguished Service Awards.

Harold E. Decker, Houston, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America and Alfred Jacobsen, New York, chairman of the board of Amerada Petroleum Corporation, will be presented the awards on the closing day of the association's 44th annual meeting at Houston, Sept. 23-25.

The awards are presented annually to two outstanding oil men for distinguished service to the Texas petroleum industry.

Decker began his career in the oil fields of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas following his graduation from the University of Oklahoma in 1925 as a petroleum engineer.

He held various positions in the production departments for Tidal, Skelly, Seaboard, Pan American Production and was president of Houston Oil Company of Texas from 1950 to 1956, when it was liquidated. Since then he has managed oil interests of Brown & Root, Inc., serving as president of its subsidiary, Highland Oil Company. He was elected president of IPAA in October, 1961.

As president of the nationwide organization of independent oil producers, Decker has appeared before numerous congressional committees and other governmental agencies on federal tax and regulatory matters.

Seldom in the public eye, Jacobsen has served quietly and effectively in numerous industry and governmental councils. As a member of the Petroleum Industry War Council from 1941 to 1945, he served as chairman of a committee which drafted a national oil policy for the United States for a senatorial committee investigating petroleum resources.

He has been a member of the National Petroleum Council since its formation in 1946, serving as chairman of its agenda committee since 1950. A member of the American Petroleum Institute's executive committee, he has also headed its committee on national oil policy.

A native of Denmark, Jacobsen came to Mexico at age 18 and during the next 10 years clerked for a hardware firm, a lawyer and a bank. He became an authority on Mexican land laws, which led to his job in 1916 as assistant sec-

DALLAS — A nationally-prominent economist, and the newest member of the Texas Railroad Commission have been added to the panel of speakers scheduled for the 44th Annual Meeting of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association at the Rice Hotel in Houston Sept. 23-25.

In his first appearance before a statewide oil and gas organization, Judge Jim C. Langdon, Austin, member of the state Commission which regulates petroleum operations, will address the group during the first general business session.

On the program that morning with Langdon will be Martin R. Gainsbrugh, New York, vice president and chief economist of the National Industrial Conference Board. He will give Texas oil industry leaders a forecast of business conditions.

Penn Test Due For Mitchell

Standard of Texas plans to clean out and deepen a former Mitchell County failure in an attempt for Pennsylvanian discovery oil.

The project is No. 21-1 J. Dell Barber, which spots 330 feet from the north and west lines of section 24-27, T&P survey, about four miles northwest of Colorado City and 1 1/2 miles southeast of the Sharon Ridge (1,700) field which pays from the San Andres.

This is a re-entry of a dry hole formerly drilled to 5,117 feet in barren Wolfcamp as Miami Operating Company No. 1-A Barber. It was plugged in January, 1956. Standard proposes to deepen it to 7,300 feet.

Two Wildcats Filed

Locations for exploratory projects have been spotted in Gaines and Ector Counties, also.

Devonian Pay To Be Checked

Champlin Oil & Refining Co. is preparing to run casing in No. 1 Gray County School Land, Gaines County wildcat, and attempt completion as a Devonian discovery.

Located two miles northwest of the Tex-Sin (Devonian) pool, and 22 miles southeast of Seminole, the prospect flowed an estimated 20 barrels of fluid, 75 per cent oil and 25 per cent basic sediment and water, per hour on a drillstem test at 11,270-434 feet.

It also recovered gas and heavily oil-cut drilling mud from the Mississippi at 11,432-492 feet. The location is 3,500 feet from south and 1,300 feet from east lines of tract 4, league 290, Gray County School Land.

Roark and Hooker of Abilene No. 4-294 Metcalfe, has been completed as the fourth well in the Metcalfe (Tannehill sand) pool in Stonewall County, five miles north of Peacock.

It pumped 60 barrels of 41-gravity oil, plus 37 per cent water in 24 hours from perforations at 3,409-12 feet. No stimulation was reported.

The location is 330 feet from south and 1,250 feet from west lines of section 294, block D, H&TC survey.

Phillips Petroleum Co. completed No. 31-B Embarras as a one-mile northeast extension for San Andres gas production in the Andrews County sector of the multi-pay Anderson field.

It potentialized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 50,000,000 cubic feet of dry gas daily from perforations between 4,088 and 4,170 feet, after treating with 1,000 gallons of acid and fracturing with 20,000 gallons.

The location is 1,221 feet from north and 1,447 feet from west lines of section 6, block 44, T-2-N, T&P survey and 14 miles southwest of Andrews.

Gas Industry Uses Steel In Volume

The nation's gas industry will use 6.7 million tons of steel pipe during the next four years, according to a forecast made by the American Gas Association.

AGA, which conducts a materials consumption survey every other year, reported that in 1962 almost 1.8 million tons of steel was used by the industry. In addition, 30,000 tons of cast iron, 2,436 tons of copper and 38 tons of aluminum were required.

Firm Sells Properties

HOUSTON (AP)—A contract has been executed which completes a major step in Western Natural Gas Co. of Houston's effort to sell nearly all its domestic producing properties to Sinclair.

The transaction, which may be completed in November, involves $87.5 million.

Paul Kayser, president of Western Natural, disclosed last June that Sinclair had bid on the company's domestic producing properties, undeveloped leases and stock of the Border Pipe Line Co.

Kayser said the sale involves the reservation of a production payment.

"The present plan of liquidation involves the distribution of the 1,044,844 shares of the common stock of Pacific Petroleum, Ltd., held by the company and the sale of all other assets of the company separately," Kayser said.

Western Natural has entered into a contract under which its Premier Division properties are being acquired by the McWood Corp. of Abilene.

A native Mississippian, Hervey B. Perry was born in Ackerman and graduated from high school at Water Valley. Within the next few years he had attended a diesel engineering school, completed a four-year span with the Army Air Force, and operated a dry cleaning establishment in partnership with his brother.

His interest in planes led him to apply successfully for a job with an aircraft manufacturer in Fort Worth. There was time first for a vacation, however, so he set forth with his wife, the former Kathryn Reese of Colorado City. En route to El Paso they stopped at Knott for a visit with her sister and brother-in-law, who convinced Perry he should try for a job with progressive Cosden. The vacation stop turned into a permanent one with Perry's initial punch of Cosden refinery's time clock on July 7, 1948.

His experience has included the Dubbs and the erude unit. He has had the distinction of participating in the startup of the alkylation unit, the polystyrene plant and the Alkar, where he has been for three years, as No. 1 Operator.

Kentwood school has enrolled the two Perry youngsters. At 10, Carol is a fourth grader; Lana, 7, is in the second grade. The home at 2408 Robb reflects Mrs. Perry's interest in gardening and her own garden club. For the family, picnicking and water sports rate high. Perry also enjoys football. They attend 11th and Birdwell Church of Christ.

Not Looking For Oil

Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc., is drilling holes these days, but some of them are not looking for oil. The rig shown above does just that. Purpose of the drilling is to get detailed information about subsurface structures to make drilling for oil more accurate. The rig is unusual in many ways. Its floor stands 24 feet above ground, leaving room below for pieces of test equipment. The 50-ton rig is mounted on two I-beams, which allows it to be moved laterally off one hole in position to drill another. In the past 10 months it has been used to drill two holes.

Production was from an open hole section between 4,817-527 feet which had been acidized with 10,000 gallons. Operator set 8 1/2-inch casing at 4,912 feet and 5 1/2-inch casing at 4,917 feet. Location is 1,220 feet from the north and 1,500 feet from the west lines of section 70-M, ELA&RN survey.

Cities Service No. 48-28 West Welch Unit was completed for 207 barrels of oil on initial pumping potential in the Welch (San Andres) field. Gravity of the oil was 32 degrees, three per cent water was also present and the gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. The well was acidized with 10,000 gallons. Elevation is 3,130 feet. Initial depth is 4,952 feet. Well was topped at 4,841 feet and production was from an open hole between 4,841-502 feet. Casing of 8 1/2-inch was set at 4,912 feet and of 5 1/2-inch at 4,841 feet. A native Mississippian, Hervey B. Perry was born in Ackerman and graduated from high school at Water Valley. Within the next few years he had attended a diesel engineering school, completed a four-year span with the Army Air Force, and operated a dry cleaning establishment in partnership with his brother.

His interest in planes led him to apply successfully for a job with an aircraft manufacturer in Fort Worth. There was time first for a vacation, however, so he set forth with his wife, the former Kathryn Reese of Colorado City. En route to El Paso they stopped at Knott for a visit with her sister and brother-in-law, who convinced Perry he should try for a job with progressive Cosden. The vacation stop turned into a permanent one with Perry's initial punch of Cosden refinery's time clock on July 7, 1948.

His experience has included the Dubbs and the erude unit. He has had the distinction of participating in the startup of the alkylation unit, the polystyrene plant and the Alkar, where he has been for three years, as No. 1 Operator.

Kentwood school has enrolled the two Perry youngsters. At 10, Carol is a fourth grader; Lana, 7, is in the second grade. The home at 2408 Robb reflects Mrs. Perry's interest in gardening and her own garden club. For the family, picnicking and water sports rate high. Perry also enjoys football. They attend 11th and Birdwell Church of Christ.

Wave Of Upsets Hits State

By The Associated Press

The defeat of San Angelo, one of the heaviest favorites in years to win Class AAAA and rated No. 1 in everybody's book, jarred the Texas schoolboy football race that moved into full competition Friday night.

Borger, the team that went to the finals last year but was supposed to be only a shell of its former self, knocked over San Angelo 14-2 as a wave of upsets swept through the massive schedule of more than 400 games.

It was the biggest night in schoolboy football history because the Interscholastic League is its largest and class AAAA was moving into its first competition. The other classes all had previously opened the season.

The longest winning streak in the state topped as Jacksboro, Class AA champion and holding a skein of 16 straight victories, took the count before Olney 28-6.

Highland Park of Dallas, a highly rated Class AAAA team, also started out by being upset as Tyler Lee handed the Scots a 6-0 defeat.

Port Arthur, the favorite from the South, marched over Houston Bellaire in a show of power. Spring Branch, a 1962 semifinalist, showed it had lost little strength as it flogged Baytown 13-0.

the rated teams, smashed Alice 47-0.

Of most significance in Class AAAA was Corsicana's 34-6 triumph over old enemy Waco of Class AAAA. Graham was impressive in a 12-0 strapping of Cleburne while Orange looked good in beating Beaumont French of Class AAA, 20-6.

Dumas, the heralded champion of Class AAA, makes its start tonight against Amarillo Palo Duro at Amarillo.

In Class AA, Denver City marched on with a 36-14 licking of Pecos of AAA. Albany, the favored team in Class A, was impressive in a 50-14 decision over Merkel.

Borger, noted for its grinding ground attack, switched to the air to topple San Angelo and the ring-leader was Joe Robinson, who snared passes for 114 yards, one for a touchdown, and set up another with a big catch.

It merely went to show that Borger is back in the thick of contention for the AAAA championship, something that eluded it last year in a finals tangle with unheralded but sensational San Antonio Brackett.

umph over Baytown. He ran 45 and 59 yards for scores to get Darrell Tully's team on the march.

Port Arthur had to slum through the mud for its victory over Bellaire as 12,000 fans looked on. Eugene Pace passed to Tommy Hicks for the first Port Arthur touchdown after the teams had played a scoreless first half. Bellaire threatened only once against the tough Port Arthur defense.

Olney, which beat Albany last week, didn't find Jacksboro much competition as the Cubs shattered the long winning streak. They scored three times before Jacksboro could muster a payoff drive.

As the longest winning streak ended, the longest losing streak was extended to 22 games. Plainview lost its 22nd straight Friday night in falling to Highlands of Albuquerque 22-15.

Moisture Helps Outlook For Fishing Within State

By The Associated Press

September, often a good month for fishing because the waterways are not so crowded, may be a little better than usual this year, at least in South and Central Texas.

The reason is rain, rain that measured up to seven inches near Lampasas and in lesser amounts at dozens of other towns and communities during the past week.

Take advantage of it, advises Al Spring of the Parks and Wildlife Department, while the water is up and many sportsmen are out after doves, leaving the waterways clear.

"Past history shows that fishing generally improves after hard rains break a drought," said Spring. "Texas fishing was sort of hard-pressed, but if the rains provide enough run-off into the streams and lakes, things certainly should improve."

He said that while lake bottoms are dry, vegetation accompanied by soil organisms and insects grows in the area and then provides a type of fertilization when water comes in and covers it up.

"Generally it sets off a good run of fishing—it's the stimulus," Spring said.

One area that needed the rain was Lake Travis, one of Central Texas' lake chain that includes seven lakes and reaches from near Burnet to Austin, about 150 miles. Travis was down about 50 feet. Another Highland lake, Buchanan, also was down slightly, some 18 feet.

The other five, however, remained steady throughout a long, hot period.

Hard To Bring Down

Big Jerry McDonald, 200-pound fullback for the Rankin Red Devils, proved hard to bring down as he ground out substantial yardage consistently Friday night in a game played at Rankin. Here two unrecognizable Coahoma players pin McDonald on a 13-yard ramble in the first quarter. On this drive Rankin got the first of a barrage of touchdowns which put them ahead of the Coahoma Bulldogs 31-14 at game's end. (Photo by Lee Bernard) faking a pass and rambled around his own right end for 64 yards and a score. Both Coahoma touchdowns came on pass interceptions near the Rankin goal line. With less than two minutes remaining to the half, sophomore end R. Pherigo picked off a pass which had slipped out of the arms of Zoller and went 25 yards for the score. Halback Eddie McHout asked the two extra points. Again, two minutes deep into the fourth quarter sophomore end Mike Mosley picked one off at the 19-yard line and repeated the performance.

Rankin's final score came on another spectacular play. After the trouncing was more than a moral setback for the Bulldogs. In the third quarter of the hard-fought game the Bulldogs' top quarterback, Dwayne Allen, suffered a dislocated hip and had to be carried to a hospital. His condition is satisfactory now, but the team has lost one of its top players for the rest of the season. Rankin's Red Devils performed magnificently before stands filled with hometown rosters. And the crowd got its fill of bone-crushing football as the game had to be halted numerous times for players to be carried or assisted off the field.

Rankin jumped into the lead the first time it got hold of the ball, with quarterback Roy Winters luring in the Coahoma secondary and then pitching over their heads to end Larry Braden. That play covered 53 yards for the first of five six-pointers. Four minutes later they capitalized on a Coahoma fumble recovered by tackle Ronnie Thorn on the Bulldog 13-yard line and in three plays, halfback Sammy Bean plowed over for the final five yards standing up.

The Bulldogs had been routed early in the game and Rankin, although outweighed 10 pounds in the line, pressed the offensive attack and shut off Coahoma at every turn. It was only minutes before the half when the Bulldogs chalked up their first down of the night.

Two more spectacular plays in the second quarter pushed the Red Devil lead to 25-0 before Coahoma scored. On another pass play halfback David Zoller picked a Winters pass out of the hands of a defending Bulldog and trotted untouched for 62 yards and a score. Fullback Jerry McDonald kicked the extra point, the only successful one of four attempted. Later, Winters kept the ball after

Colts Kayo Mets Behind Johnson

NEW YORK (AP)—Home runs by Carl Warwick and Bob Aspromonte and a four-hit pitching performance by Ken Johnson gave the Houston Colts a 4-0 victory over the New York Mets Saturday.

Warwick's homer his sixth, came in the fourth with Pete Runnels on base and Aspromonte hit his eighth in the ninth. Runnels also knocked in a run with a double in the eighth.

It was Johnson's ninth victory against 17 defeats. Carl Willey was charged with his 13th defeat before going out for Larry Bearnath in the eighth.

It was the 28th shutout of the year for the Mets, their third in a row, and it ran their streak of scoreless innings to 33, eleven short of the major league record.

SWC Schools Enter Fall Gridiron Wars

By The Associated Press
The 49th Southwest Conference football campaign opens on a partial basis this week with the top-rated teams trying to convince everybody they shouldn't be up there.

Texas, the defending champion that's so injury-prone it has to be cautious in signal drills, gets the season on the road, Texas opens against the thinly-manned Greenies of Tulane at New Orleans Friday night.

Four conference hopefuls start the long march Saturday night. Texas A&M tests rebuilding LSU at Baton Rouge, Arkansas meets Oklahoma State at Little Rock, TCU plays Kansas at Fort Worth and Texas Tech takes on Washington State at Lubbock.

A repetition of last year's results would give the conference a fine start on a good intersectional record. Last season Texas whipped Tulane 35-8, Arkansas lashed Oklahoma State 34-7 and TCU upset Kansas 6-3. The Aggies were bumped 21-0 by LSU.

The three other conference members—SMU, Rice and Baylor—wait until next week to get the old ball rolling.

Arkansas, co-favorite with Texas for the championship, will face an ominous opponent, Oklahoma State. Coach Frank Broyles, who has been absolutely disconsolate over his Razorbacks' efforts thus far, will vie with Coach Darrell Royal of Texas over which can do the most resolute worrying.

The 28-lettermen Razorbacks will have trouble being awed by Oklahoma State's 16. But Mike Miller's passing might do some awing. He led the Big Eight throwing last season.

The feature game should be the Kansas-TCU tussle at Fort Worth. The Frogs face a team that has about as much experience and which will be thirsting for revenge over being upended last season just when the Jayhawks were rated with the nation's best.

There are 24 lettermen led by Gale Sayers, a 196-pound runner, being thrown at the bulky Frogs, who also probably will emphasize the ground game.

Kansas claims to have all the offense it might want but wonders if it can stop anybody.

LSU doesn't appear as strong as last season when it climaxed a fine record with a stunning victory over Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Texas A&M should be much stronger. So it might be quite a battle along the bayous.

At Lubbock they'll unveil a fabulous sophomore, one of the most highly publicized players in league history not to have yet played a down of varsity football. He is Donny Anderson, the 200-pounder who can run faster than anybody else on the Texas Tech squad and can do just about everything.

Washington State should be a good test for the ambitious young man. The 23-lettermen squad from the West Coast, piloted by passing quarterback Dave Matheson, would offer a stern test for anybody much less a Tech team that could win only one game all last season.

Lee Blanked By Lubbock

LUBBOCK—Lubbock High outlasted Midland Lee, 7-0, in a defensive struggle here Friday night. Quarterback George Lott went over for the Westerners' lone score from the one-yard line in the third period.

Midland Lee outgained the Westerners on the ground, 207 yards to 200. Pass completions came at a premium. Lubbock made only 14 yards through the air. Lee seven. Each team completed only one pass.

In the first half, a penalty killed a Lubbock drive on Lee's nine. Two fumbles deep in Rebel territory hurt on other occasions.

Lee could get no closer than Lubbock's 21-yard line and never maneuvered inside the Westerners' 33 in the last half.

Suited For The Moon

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration released this photo yesterday in Washington, of an Apollo space suit mockup—a suit designed for short stays on the moon's surface. The portable life support system, on the floor, is carried on the back of the astronaut. The unit, with a four hour supply of gases and oxygen, also contains a power supply to run fans to circulate the air in the suit and operate a communications system. It can be recharged aboard a spacecraft for additional four hour periods. The men are not identified. (AP WIREPHOTO).

Mother Convicted For Beating Death

FORT WORTH (AP) — A jury convicted Mrs. Malcolm Alston, 20, of aggravated assault Saturday in the death of her 4-month-old child and assessed her two years in jail and fined her $1,000. She was charged with murder after the Jan. 29 death of her child, who was admitted to a hospital three days earlier suffering from a fractured skull and broken ribs. Mrs. Alston signed a statement saying she threw the infant to the floor and kicked it because it refused to eat.

'Carla' Gives Birth To New Disaster Center

AUSTIN (AP)—The ill winds of Hurricane Carla two years ago were responsible for a new $630,000 disaster control center which the Department of Safety soon will open. Carla taught state defense officials they needed a better operating center to deal more efficiently with a disaster. Experts can remain a month in the new center, cut off from face-to-face contact with anyone else, and still direct widespread emergency actions. It is built so its staff can communicate anywhere in Texas. And it is built to endure. The center can be bounced up, down or to the side without damage—to withstand the shaking of an atomic bomb dropped nearby. The center is buried under 9 feet of earth and has a solid rock base.

CONCRETE ROOF
The roof is concrete, 24 inches thick reinforced with steel beams, 6 feet wide and 4 feet thick, are spaced at 24-foot intervals for added strength. The center's 12,000 square feet of floor space is about four times as much as the present state control center.

That facility proved inadequate to handle the major disaster of Hurricane Carla whose 175 mile winds killed 34, injured 700, chased 700,000 persons out of their homes and smashed some coastal towns. The powerful storm kept emergency workers at the old center for nearly a week, sleeping on the floor and working with an improvised communications system of telephone lines strung into a small lunchroom.

LUXURIOUS
The new center will seem luxurious by comparison. "Our experience in Hurricane Carla pointed up the need for a much larger, more modern and better equipped center with the capability of meeting the requirements of the state government in almost any situation," said Homer Garrison, department director. "The new center will be prepared to cope with any emergency," said Howard Barr, the architect. "Instant communication between the agencies involved to effect quick action was uppermost in all of our planning."

Agencies most likely to be represented during an emergency would be the Departments of Public Safety, Highway, Health and Public Welfare, commissions of Employment, Aeronautics, Railroad and Fire, the adjutant general, Red Cross and Civil Defense Council.

COUNCIL ROOM

Their representatives would meet in a 27 by 41-foot main council room to plan action. Adjacent to the central room are a special map room, 11 by 32 feet, and a message center with telephone, teletype and radio communications to all state areas. Department of Public Safety men will staff the message center beginning Dec. 1 so that no transition will be necessary in the event of an emergency. The shelter has a kitchen and

Nehru Foresees Less Tension For Nations

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—He slipped his feet out of their sandals and rubbed his bare toes on the carpet as he talked. Light was reflected across the bald top of his head, exposing a fringe of white hair.

Here was Jawaharlal Nehru, relaxed after another long day of running the world's largest democracy. With his mind alert, his voice low but forceful, he looked beyond his and India's immediate problems. He envisaged a world of increasing order and prosperity, with nations grouped into regional confederations.

Progress toward prosperity in Asia is far from fast enough, Nehru said. But in the future, as he saw it, the basic necessities of life will be provided and that "will change the abiding discontent."

By the end of the century the world will see very big changes, India's prime minister said, explaining. "We can't go on living on the brink of war, nuclear war. I think some kind of major disarmament is bound to occur—that is, if war doesn't occur first." The nations will change, Nehru said. "They won't become angels, but certain aggressive tendencies will be curbed—national enmities will grow less."

Nehru was asked about a movement toward cooperation by Malaysia, the Philippines and Indonesia in a grouping called Maphilindo. "I think the trend in the world is for large groupings—not federations but confederations of independent countries." A pause, then: "Like in Western Europe."

Is such a grouping possible in this area?

"I am afraid of saying anything because it irritates Pakistan. They think it is only a dodge to absorb Pakistan in India."

Despite the conflict with Communist China and the presence of Chinese troop concentrations on India's border, Nehru indicated hope of peace in this area. The 73-year-old prime minister reiterated that he does not want to leave India a legacy of hostility with its biggest neighbor, China. It might be wishful thinking that continued hostility can be avoided, Nehru noted, but it is the right thing to seek.

Meanwhile, India must strengthen itself. "There can be ultimately peaceful relations if we are strong," said the man who once decried the Western concept of balance of power with the Soviet Union.

When the visitor rose to leave, Nehru slipped back into his sandals and went into the hallway to shake hands. Then he turned and walked slowly away.

Guadalupe Study Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A National Park Service survey of the Guadalupe Mountain area in West Texas to determine its suitability as a national park will be completed in November, Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., said Saturday.

A report by the Park Service will be made to the National Parks Advisory Board which will meet at Big Bend National Park in Texas Nov. 4-6.

"There is every indication of a favorable report, recommending approval by the secretary of the interior of a national park area at Guadalupe Peak and McKittrick Canyon," said Pool.

At the request of J. C. Hunter Jr. of Abilene, owner of much of the land being considered for park use, Pool has invited members of the National Parks Advisory Board to visit the Guadalupe Mountain area while they are in Texas in November.

mittee who assist in the planning of VA Hospital volunteer programs. They are Mrs. Ila Mae Dunning, representative, Airport Home Demonstration Club; Mrs. F. H. Talbot, alternate, American Gold Star Mothers; Mrs. C. O. Nalley, representative for the American Red Cross; Mrs. Melvin Brown, alternate, National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary; and Mrs. J. E. Settles, alternate, National Catholic Community.

New Secretary Says 'Y' Was Second Home

By JO BRIGHT
R. Curt Mullins Jr., general secretary of the local Young Men's Christian Association since Sept. 1, has been associated with the organization in one way or another for many years.

"I grew up participating in activities at the YMCA and feel that every youngster should be exposed to its influence," said Mullins.

A native of Childress, he was reared at Wichita Falls where he was graduated from Central High School in 1949. While attending Midwestern University, he worked part time at the YMCA, becoming so absorbed with the work that he chose it for a career.

This meant that he abandoned plans to be an architectural engineer which he was studying for at the time. Instead, in 1952, he entered George Williams College in Chicago, Ill., the YMCA training school.

MARRIAGE
The following year he married a girl named Cris Ligon whom he met while she, too, was attending Midwestern. In managing an introduction, he asked a mutual friend to invite her on a double-date.

Mullins graduated with a BS degree in group education in December of 1954. He earned a MS degree in the same field in 1957 and accepted a job as youth director at the San Angelo YMCA.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullins now have three children, Curtis III, 8, Ronnie, 5, and Cynthia, 2. The older children can take part in YMCA activities now, but Cindy must wait a while.

"She takes part now by chasing the ping-pong balls and wanting to buy out the snack bar," said Mrs. Mullins. The boys swim as often as they can and will participate in other seasonal sports.

Mullins was attached to an atomic artillery battalion while he was in service and spent two years in Parmassens, Germany. While there, Mrs. Mullins began her collection of dolls which will be Cindy's when she is older.

ACTIVITIES
Mrs. Mullins was a garden club member while living in San Angelo and especially enjoys flower arranging. Her husband belonged to the Rotary Club, is past president of the East Texas District of YMCA Secretaries, and is now assistant recording secretary of the Southwest Area Council of YMCA Associations.

For recreation, the family enjoys camping trips, especially to the mountains and spots where the hunting is good. They are members of the 14th and Main Street Church of Christ.

Good Nutrition Is Program Topic At HD Club Meeting

Mrs. Neil Norred presented the program, "Good Nutrition is A Treasure." Friday afternoon for the City Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. with the hostess, Mrs. Merle Hodnett, giving the devotion.

Mrs. Norred told how and why good nutrition is important to proper growth. Included with the main subject were suggestions on proper accessories for clothing and the development of posture.

Eight members answered roll call by telling how they introduced a new dish at family meals.

Mrs. Robert Rodman was elected treasurer to replace Mrs. E. F. Arnold, who has requested a leave of absence.

Mrs. Gus Brandon, a guest from Cross Plains, was awarded the special prize. Mrs. Frank Bordoskey will be hostess Sept. 27.

Enters Seminary

FORSAN (SC)—The Rev. Carl Lee has enrolled in the Baptist Seminary as a senior. He will graduate in January.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cowley and Mr. and Mrs. Hub Drake who reside at Lake J. B. Thomas, left Friday for a fishing and camping trip on the Concho River north of Sterling City.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE
Dear Heloise:
Do you or any of your readers know how to remove rust spots from chrome furniture?
D. Washner

Yes Ma'am.
Wad up a piece of foil. This is shiny stuff that comes on rolls and we buy at grocery stores. It makes no difference whether it is the heavy or thin type.

After making a ball of this wonderful stuff, rub briskly over the rusted spots on your chrome. Get ready to take a deep breath of wonder—Just watch that rust disappear.

And did you know that this also works on chrome-plated car bumpers? Naturally, it won't remove "pits."
Heloise

HELOISE

LETTER OF TRUTH
Dear Heloise:
Here's a terrific help for mothers with tiny tots. It has helped me on those trying days when children lock themselves in the bathroom or bedroom.

Whenever my grandchildren come to visit me I place a turkish towel over the top of the doors (bathroom, bedroom, closets, etc.) and then they cannot possibly close it tight enough to get stuck or lock themselves in.

A doctor told me this and you would be surprised how many people never even thought of it.

become too small for daily use, I cut a large square from the back shirt tail and make handkerchiefs for the children just by hemming the squares on my sewing machine. They are soft and lovely.

Shirt tail squares also make nice every day napkins.

The tops of men's socks are excellent to use for making new "cuffs" to either lengthen or repair jersey-type pajamas at the wrists and ankles.

Mrs. Don Dill

Dear Heloise:
I can even go one better—in- stead of using those paper plates to stick the handle of a paint brush through when painting ceilings, I cut a hole in the center of a small tin can, such as tuna fish, and insert the brush handle through the hole, thereby allowing one to see above the brush.

Oscar

Dear Heloise:
It is now quite a fashionable to wear beads again. Once in a while they do break.

The hole in some of my strings of beads is too small for my needle so I dip the ends of the thread in glue and let it dry. When dry I use the stiffened thread to take the place of the needle. It works every time! Real easy to string a strand of beads this way.

Mary Boulder

Dear Heloise:
The reason I hate to make muffins and individual cakes is the messy job of greasing and flouring all those little tins. But I found the answer today. I now pour some cooking oil into a saucer and dip a paper napkin in it and swipe all the little cubby holes. This is done in a minute and does a great job.

I take my flour sifter, lay the muffin tin on a newspaper, and shake the flour all over the muffin tin. Then I turn the tin upside down and "bang" it on the paper. This removes all the excess flour. Presto—the job is done in one-tenth the time it usually takes.

Matilda

Dear Heloise:
I don't have six eyes. I just wear bifocals!

I get very annoyed when my glasses steam up due to a change in atmosphere.

Recently a neighbor of mine told me to moisten my fingertips and rub them over a bar of soap and gently apply to each lens—then take a tissue and wipe them without rinsing. Did you know that this prevents steam from accumulating on eye glasses?

It takes but a mite of soap—and that means only a little bit.

"Six Eyes"

Thanks. "Four Eyes"

Crosses Continents To Become Frau Stucht

By KATHLEEN DOZIER
Had it been necessary, Christel Holz might have climbed the highest mountain and swum the deepest river to claim her place at the side of 2nd Lt. Gottfried Stucht Thursday morning.

The young German woman did cross continents plus an ocean to become the bride of Gottfried in an 11 o'clock ceremony performed at Webb AFB Chapel by the Rev. James R. Plummer, Catholic chaplain.

A native of Leuhon, Germany, Christel arrived Sunday by plane sans luggage and wedding apparel, but through the help of a young lieutenant at Webb, the misplaced baggage was located and arrived just in time for the wedding.

Although she speaks no English, the bride did exchange wedding vows in English after previous coaching by Chaplain Plummer, who speaks no German.

Stucht, a native of Bork, Germany and a lieutenant in the German Air Force, has just completed his pilot training with Class 64-B at Webb.

Lt. Col. Joachim Vogt, liaison officer for the German Air Force, stationed at Lackland AFB, gave the bride in marriage. She wore a day dress of white satin fashioned with rounded neckline and fitted bodice. Her veil of illusion was attached to a circlet of flowers and she carried a bouquet of white orchids centered with white feathered carnations.

Although she understood little of their English, Mrs. Stucht accepted graciously the good wishes extended by the wedding guests and was reassured by the warmth and friendliness of their smiles.

West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona will be visited by the couple on a wedding trip which will end at Luke Air Force Base, Phoenix, Ariz. At Luke, Lt. Stucht will continue his training of the F-100, and Mrs. Stucht will make their first home.

Before returning to Germany.

where Stucht will join his unit of F-44 pilots, his wife will become indoctrinated in the Western way of life. Her husband's final phase of training in the U.S. will be terminated at Nellis AFB, Reno, Nev.

Far From Home

2nd Lt. and Mrs. Gottfried Stucht leave the altar at Webb AFB Chapel after pledging their vows of holy matrimony. Natives of Germany, they will return to their homeland when he completes training with the U.S. Air Force.

Prayer Is Stressed By WMU

The Mary Hill Davis Week of Prayer ended Friday at Stadium Baptist Church, where the Women's Missionary Union held a week-long observance.

Tuesday's program was given by Mrs. C. L. McKinney who used the topic, "An Open Door to Missions." She explained the work of state WMU officers and the Latin-American missions.

The Rev. J. W. Arnett, pastor, spoke at the Wednesday evening gathering, using the subject, "An Open Door to Evangelism." He told of the Latin-American Evangelistic Crusade scheduled in the fall of 1964.

Thursday, Mrs. L. H. Sims spoke on "An Open Door to Our Neighbors" in which she discussed the need for new churches in Wisconsin and Minnesota. The special event ended Friday as Mrs. H. I. Cox and Mrs. A. C. Faulkner stressed prayer retreat in a program entitled "An Open Door to the Throne of Grace."

WEDDING TRIP
For their wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride chose a turquoise silk sheath.

Both are graduates of Big Spring High School, and Woodard plans to attend the Gupton-Jones School of Mortuary Science at Dallas next March.

White mums and gladioli centered the improvised altar and was flanked by white candelabra holding cathedral tapers. The bridal aisle was designated with altar markers connected by white satin.

Miss Connie Randel presented a program of piano music which included "To a Wild Rose" by Macdowell, "Consolation" by Mendelssohn, "Wedding March" from Midsummer Night's Dream by Mendelssohn and "Wedding March" from Lohengrin by Wagner.

The bride, attired in a ballarina gown of silk peau de soie, was given in marriage by her father. The wedding dress was designed with sculptured bodice and portrait neckline with long, tapered sleeves. The bouffant, controlled skirt was enhanced with stemmed rosettes of silk peau de soie. The veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of lace and peau de soie accented with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet, a cascade arrangement of glamelias, was showered with frenched carnations, pearl leaves and picot satin. ## Batik Work Exhibit Is Scheduled

An exhibition of batik work by Mrs. Margaret Putnam of San Antonio will be on view at Los Patios Landscaping and Garden Center, Midland, for two weeks, beginning Sept. 19.

Mrs. Putnam works in her own way, following a freer manner than the more stylized Oriental batik. Her clothes are hung as paintings, sometimes actually painted as well as dyed. Others are used as translucent screens, which transmit light in a glowing stained-glass effect.

Long known as a painter, Mrs. Putnam discovered the possibilities of batik as a fine art while studying painting with Tanasko Milovich of Washington University, an expert in the batik technique.

Originally a decorative art primarily used with fabrics for clothing, true batik is an art form in which the fabric is painted with wax, dipped in dye, and re-dipped again and again to achieve color nuances obtainable only by that method.

The fabric may be linen, silk or cotton. Oriental artists generally use fine muslin which has been subjected to a complex treatment that includes beating, oiling and stretching the cloth. The public is invited.

Megaphone Disc Drawing Comes Again To Students

If you're interested in records, you'll be interested to know that the free record contest is back with the Megaphone this school year.

Here's what you do: Just pick up an entry blank at your school office, fill in the information and drop it into the special box provided for it.

The box will be brought to the Herald on the weekend and someone will draw a name. Winners will be announced in the Megaphone each Sunday. If you happen to be the winner, come by the Herald and get your certificate. Take the certificate to Mr. Oscar Glickman at the Record Shop, 211 Main, and you will receive a 45 rpm single record of your choice.

Besides the weekly 45 rpm, Mr. Glickman is giving a 33 rpm record each month. To win this one the procedure is the same.

For early birds who want to get a head start, here's an entry blank you can cut out and send to the Megaphone care of the Big Spring Herald.

'Powder Puff' Game Planned By Junior And Senior Girls

By CAROLYN WILSON

This has been a week of a number of organizational meetings.

All classes had a meeting last Thursday during home room period and in these meetings, the classes started off with discussing ways and means of earning money. The senior class plans to have a "Powder Puff" football game with the senior girls in competition with the junior girls. If all approval is given, this will be held in the very near future and concession stands will be open. The classes will divide the gate profits and the seniors will get the concession profits.

The junior class has started their annual magazine sales. This year, in order to give a competitive spirit, the girls will race the boys to see who can make the most sales. Everyone should remember to buy their favorite magazine subscriptions from a junior class representative. The freshman class is now taking orders for large, red and white pennants with bulldogs printed boldly on them. The price of these pennants will be $1.

Two other very important meetings held last Monday night were the FFA and the FHA. In the FFA meeting it was decided that the organization would take a trip to the State Fair in Dallas this year instead of the usual summer trip. The highlight of the program was the election of the FFA Beau. This year senior, Vernon Long was chosen. A big reason for the election of Vernon, who is president of the FFA and a member in good standing of the National Honor Society, was his pleasant smile and never-failing good personality. The FFA organization held their monthly meeting at the same time as the FFA. Their main item of business was the election of their FFA Sweetheart. This year Elaine Carpenter, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed J. Carpenter, was chosen as the chapter sweetheart. Elaine is well known in CHS. This is made evident by the fact that she is editor of the Bulldog annual and is a CHS cheerleader for the second time. She is also a member of many other organizations. Elaine will run for district FFA sweetheart at the District FFA meeting's beauty contest. Congratulations to both of these deserving people!

Jones Family Takes Sentimental Trip

By SAM BLACKBURN

Five of the seven surviving members of the Theo Jones family made a sentimental journey from Dallas to Big Spring Sunday.

The trip was inspired by a feature story in the Herald which described the death of a town landmark, dear to the childhood memories of the five visitors.

Nearly half a century had passed since these Joneses had been here and their visit was one in which nostalgia and disappointment were blended. There were changes which destroyed memories of old days. The boys and girls with which these Jones "kids" had played were now middle-aged men and women. Many are long since dead.

Clifford Jones, one of the five, observed:

OFTEN TALKED
"We've often talked of coming back to Big Spring for a visit. I suppose we first began discussing the plan 10 years or more ago. Each time, something came up—we couldn't all get off at the same time."

"However, when that article about the old swimming pool was printed in the Herald—that settled it. Friends sent us copies of the paper. We read it and became all fired up to see our old home town once more."

"It turned out that we could all make the trip this weekend—so here we are."

The story of the Jones, the swimming pool and their visit began a long time ago—around the turn of the century in fact. The late Theo Jones established a pioneer dairy farm southeast of Big Spring on a tract of land just south of Marcy Drive at the point where Birdwell Lane crosses the Drive.

He dug a well, which turned out to be a good producer, and built a big rectangular concrete reservoir to catch the precious water. The Joneses had nine children. Seven survive. They are Mrs. A. B. Chambers, Mildred A. Jones, Ewing Jones, Clifford Jones, Leslie Jones, all of Dallas, William Jones, Oakland, Calif., and Roy Jones, Minneapolis, Minn.

FROM DALLAS
Those here for that belated visit to the swimming pool site and what remains of their old homestead were the five from Dallas. Mrs. Chambers is a housewife. Miss Jones has retired after 35 years with the Dallas Morning News; Leslie is office manager for a Dallas chemical company; Clifford is a traveling salesman with a territory covering seven states; and Ewing is a retired Dallas police sergeant.

The Jones family left here in 1917. For Ewing and Leslie, Monday's visit here was the first time they had been in Big Spring since that year. The two daughters were here briefly a decade ago. Clifford said he had "passed through Big Spring while covering my territory."

Mrs. Chambers, oldest of the Jones children, was in college when the youngest was born and by coincidence, there was never a time when Mrs. Chambers and the other four happened to be here at the same time. So Monday's visit here was unique for that reason.

But getting back to the Jones' reservoir and its part in early Big Spring history. Swimming places were few and far between in the early days. So the town kids, abetted by the Jones brood, made good use of Mr. Jones' tank as a swimming pool. Ultimately it became the town's swimming place and Jones began charging a small fee.

The family left Big Spring at the outbreak of World War I. Eventually the pool ceased to be used. It became hidden in a tangled growth of weeds and brush.

The boom came along The rough lands beyond the old Jones place, inaccessible for generations, except to pedestrians who defied the snakes, was subdivided and began to build up into residential areas. The state built FM 700 which passed just a hundred yards north of the forgotten old swimming place. The county paved a road north and south which crossed FM 700 and swung on east the old tank.

Ultimately the day came when the tract which held the old pool was needed for development. Bulldozers moved in and broke down the ancient concrete walls.

FOOD MARKET
Fifty yards away, a busy food market functions. Across the road where the Jones house once stood and where the Jones kids spent their childhood, a tangle of wreckage remains. The house is gone. Only part of the walls of what Clifford described as the old milk-house really marks the spot.

The five Joneses stood on the high embankment on which perches the food market and gazed silently at the country side.

"It's changed," murmured one. Two of the men walked over the area where the pool once stood, prowled around in the brush.

"Just trying to get oriented," they explained.

"Let's go home," said Leslie. "We've seen it. That's what we came to do." But Miss Mildred Jones had something else on her mind.

COOK BOOK
"Back around the turn of the century," she said, "The Big Spring Cemetery Association sponsored the publication of a cook book. The members sold the cook book to provide funds to keep the burying ground in shape."

"My parents bought one of the cook books. I still have it—rather what's left of it. Some of its pages are missing. The covers are gone. Other pages are so torn they're hard to read."

"There were lots of recipes in that old book we liked—one in particular for salmon loaf. That page is gone. I never memorized the details."

"I've asked everyone we've visited today if they had a copy. I even went to the library. I talked to Lee Porter, who has the record of the old cemetery in his hands. No one seems to have a copy."

"I would like very much to buy one. If anyone has a copy they want to sell I wish they would write me at 5916 Morningside, Dallas, 6, Texas."

So the five Joneses took a last look at the much changed countryside where they had spent their childhood. And then they climbed into their car and headed back to IS 20 and Dallas.

They all agreed it was most unlikely they would ever all be here again. Their sentimental journey was over.

Tiny Dianna Continues Her Struggle To Live

Tiny Dianna Carrena, now past her third week of life, may not be making a spectacular gain in her desperate struggle to survive but at least she is not losing any ground.

The baby, born Aug. 21 and weighing only a pound and 15 ounces at birth, is still much alive. Her weight is not known but it is doubted if she has gained any. She lost three ounces within a day or two of her birth and the last time that she was put on the scales she tipped the beam at a pound and 12 ounces.

The little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carrena, who work on a farm near Luther. "We're all pulling hard for her," said one of the nurses at Cowper Hospital and Clinic, "but we know she's still not out of the woods. However, each week she keeps going, the better her chance of surviving."

Born more than a month and a half prematurely, Dianna refused to follow the pattern of others who make so early appearance. Usually, doctors said, most such infants die at birth or succumb within a few short days.

She is able to eat her food regularly, she sleeps well, cries when she feels like it and wiggles her tiny legs and arms vigorously.

She lives one hundred per cent in the incubator. The nurses feed her, bathe and tend to her through the hand openings in the mechanically controlled glass case.

"We can't take her out and that

RESPONSIBLE PARENTS KNOW WHAT'S BEST FOR THEIR FAMILIES

Many depend on TSO for professional eye care.

Over the years, many responsible homemakers have learned through experience, or from friends, about the dependable, professional eye care available at T.S.O. At T.S.O. members of your family receive a three-phase examination. First, a complete visual history is recorded. Next, the eyes are examined internally for evidence of disease or defect; then, for abnormalities of vision. Should glasses not be needed, there is only a $3.00 charge for the eye examination. And the cost of fine eyewear is most reasonable. Single vision glasses are as low as $14.85. In-visible bifocals are as low as $17.85, including eye examination, lenses and frame. Single vision Micro-Sight Contact Lenses, if preferred, are $65 complete. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision—with an annual, professional eye examination at T.S.O. # Trainees For Cook Class Still Sought

Leon Kinney, manager of the Big Spring Texas Employment Commission office, said that he has 30 potential enrollees for the Work Training Program course in cafe - restaurant cooking. The class will begin Sept. 23 at Howard County Junior College.

"We are still accepting applications for the class," he said. "Experience shows that a large number of those who first sign up will drop out before the course starts. Others, who barely make the grade on the aptitude test that all candidates have to take, may be weeded out if more promising material is at hand."

The class will have 20 students when it starts if the applications provide that many who are qualified and accepted.

Roy Corey, now chef of the Continental Inn at Dallas, has been employed by HCJC as instructor. He is an experienced cook with two decades of training behind him.

The classes are to open Sept. 23 in the specially equipped kitchen-classroom installed at the college. Training will continue for 18 weeks.

Applicants interested in becoming cafe and restaurant cooks should apply to the TEC office. The applicant should be either un-

DEAR ABBY Being Head Of The House

DEAR ABBY: I thought I was a "good" husband for 14 years, but now I wonder. We had three children. They were raised to understand that Mother was the boss, and Father was good for only the pay check. My wife made all the decisions, and I let her. I wanted a peaceful home without arguments. The result: My wife lost respect for me and my children did the same. Right now I am being divorced because I am "boring" to live with. I am giving my wife our home (paid for) and $200 a month for child support. I let her charge me with "mental cruelty" without protesting. Meanwhile, my brother sits at his table and eats steak, while his wife and children eat beans and bread. His wife adores him and his children worship him. His word is law and he is treated like a king. So, who is crazy? "TOO GOOD!"

DEAR "TOO": You're not, but when you abdicated your position as "head of the house," you invited the loss of face that followed. Being a "good" husband is not enough. Being respected is equally important. And about your brother: A man who eats steak while his wife and children eat beans is sick. And the family who could "adore and worship" such a man is as sick as he is. So don't rationalize your own evaluations in terms of your brother's selfishness.

DEAR ABBY: I read somewhere that a woman should never go to sleep without "making up." I was taught that it is very bad for the complexion to go to sleep without washing your face. Can you please advise me? CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You probably read "somewhere" that if a woman has a quarrel with her husband she should never go to sleep without "making up" WITH him — not FOR him. You were taught properly. Always wash your face before going to sleep.

DEAR ABBY: How old does a man have to be before he starts acting old? John is 42 and I am 40 and we have been married 20 years. We have two sons, 16 and 18. John's place of business is only a few blocks from here, so he comes home for lunch every day, which makes matters worse. I know that when a man is first married he likes to hug and kiss and show a lot of affection, but isn't he supposed to let up a little with the years? John is a wonderful husband in every way and I love him very much, but I would be satisfied with just a good night kiss — if you know what I mean.

NO MATCH FOR HIM

DEAR NO MATCH: Yes, I know

Members Named To Industry Unit

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally picked three new members of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Claude Brown of McCamey succeeds Houston Harte of San Angelo for a term ending Feb. 15, 1965. Named to six-year terms were Leslie Burnett of Austin and J. B. McDuff of Crockett. They succeed Jack Drake of Weslaco and Jack Martin of San Antonio.

Ray Horton of Houston was re-appointed to the commission, the agency charged with attracting new industry to Texas.

Connally also named Dist. Judge Solomon Casseb Jr. of San Antonio presiding judge of the 4th Administrative district in South Texas. Howard Green of Cuero gave up the post when he was named chief justice of a new court of civil appeals in Corpus Christi.

NEW 1964 CHEVROLET TRUCKS ARE READY TO GO TO WORK!

It's kick-off time for a new work season! Chevrolet's veteran line-up is stronger at every position. The forecast: You can expect outstanding performance for a good many years from these trucks.

These 1964 Chevrolets are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time.

A succession of engineering advancements made in the line since 1959 gives you the best built trucks in Chevrolet history—and that goes back to 1918.

Engines are stronger now, yet a good deal lighter for greater efficiency. And today you can select from 13 different capacities of gasoline or diesel engines—fours, sixes, V8's.

Instead of making just one type of suspension system for the whole truck line, Chevrolet now has several different types and combinations. Your truck gets the type that's best for it. And you get a far better ride in any size Chevrolet truck today than you used to.

Other things that are probably new since your last truck buy are double-wall construction in most bodies and cabs; more comfort from better cushioning and new improved sound deadening and insulation materials; non-skid reinforced body floors in pickups, and tailgates that fit like a handmade suit.

It's a lot easier to pick the best type of Chevrolet for your work this time. We now have three different kinds of covered delivery vans: regular panels, air-cooled rear-engine Corvans (which have more power this year), and eleven sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

In addition to the two popular pickups shown in the picture, there's also the very handy Corvair 95 Rampsides with its exclusive side-loading feature.

Also, in a few weeks, we're going to show you a brand-new El Camino deluxe pickup. This is a commercial vehicle you drive up to front doors. Wait until you see it!

For dump truck operators, we have a new diesel tandem in addition to gasoline units.

Door openings are larger on all conventional and low-cab-forward models now. Getting in and out is much easier.

All this new value—for practically the same price tag as 5 or 6 years ago—makes 1964 Chevrolet trucks the ones to buy once again. Telephone for information about the type of truck you need or for a demonstration.

A Devotional For The Day

"Ho, everyone who thirsts, come to the waters . . . Seek the Lord while he may be found." (Isaiah 55:1, 6. RSV.)

PRAYER: O living God, thanks be to Thee that Thy Word has found fertile soil in our hearts. We are grateful that our need for the water of life is being filled. We admit our helplessness and submit ourselves to Thy power, which is beyond our own. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Forerunner Of The Wave

An item in Friday's Herald may underline discussion which has been going on among members of the Howard County Junior College board of trustees.

As of Friday morning there were 404 full time students signed, 20 more than the peak of last year, and there are prospects that more will be signed before the deadline falls at the end of this week. Included in these are 270 freshmen, a new record for the first year class.

Significantly, the 20 per cent increase in fulltime students will mean at least a 25 per cent increase in the total semester hours being offered for college credit. That, by any standard, is a mighty hefty increase.

While some gain had been expected, officials had not anticipated quite the sudden surge which has filled not only such physical facilities as the dormitories but also most class sections.

There is every reason to expect that next year will see another substantial gain. And by 1965 when the first wave of the post-war baby crop reaches college level, the pressure should really be on. It is probable, as it has been put, that the question may not be altogether where will the student go to college but where can he go.

This brings into focus the HCCJ discussions regarding the expansion of the physical plant. These have centered around the need for a new science building and a new library building. Present facilities are modern enough, but they are fast reaching the limits of time and space in accommodating the increasing student load.

Addition of these two structures would free existing space for academic classrooms and according to administrative estimates would set the college in a position to handle a student load of a thousand to 1,200 students.

What would the prospect of a thousand young minds being equipped for jobs in today's increasingly technical world and for citizenship in an increasingly complex society mean to this area? What would that number mean in terms of dollars of economic activity both through expenditures coming here and through funds saved by reason of having a college at home? The answer in both cases is probably beyond the imagination of most of us. Hence, the foresight of the board may become more apparent in the months ahead.

Never A Lack Of Problems

Word that the tobacco budworm has been identified from samples taken in Howard County fields is, to say the least, disturbing.

From all accounts, this creature is more destructive than the bollworm, from which it is hardly distinguishable, and is almost impossible to kill. Poisons strong enough to be lethal to the worms can be dangerous to human beings, too, so mass poisoning such as might be done to combat bollworms, leaf worms, flea-hoppers, etc. is not now practical.

To what degree we might experience a visitation by the budworm is something which more study and expert identification will have to determine. A substantial infestation could, of course, prove instantly serious isolated specimens would be something else again, but in any case there would be a somber warning that there is never a lack of problems for the cotton producer.

Losing The Peace In Viet-Nam

WASHINGTON — To win the war and lose the peace — that is the pattern in Viet Nam threatening to repeat the unhappy precedent of other "victories" achieved by American military and economic strength.

The events of recent days seem simply incredible in the light of the great expenditure of American manpower and money in support of the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem. Not the least fantastic is the intervention of President Charles de Gaulle.

FOR IF THIS does nothing else, it recalls some of the most painful history of the tragedy of Indo-China. The French made almost every mistake possible. The end was a partition of Viet Nam that narrowly averted catastrophe and a blood bath overwhelming the thousands of French planters and business men for whom the colony had long been a source of profits and jobs.

In March, 1946, the French engineered a deal with the wily Communist leader, Ho Chi Minh. After months in Paris, Ho went back to Saigon expecting that he would preside over a united and neutral Viet Nam. But opposition French elements in the Viet-Nam capital succeeded in killing that deal and Ho retired to the North to organize the Communist guerrillas.

FOR EIGHT YEARS the flower of the French officer corps fought with courage and desperate futility in the ugly jungle war. As head of a so-called independent government, the French were backing a puppet emperor, Bao Dai. While he had personal bravery, charm and a sense of humor, Bao Dai lacked the one absolute essential — support of the Viet-Nam people. He took long holidays in a luxury villa on the French Riviera, where he currently lives in grand style.

DURING THE LAST two to three years of the French war the United States was pouring in support at the rate of $800 million annually. Since it went through the French treasury in Paris, it had one beneficial effect: It shored up the franc and offset the threat of inflation.

This reporter has a vivid memory of one of the pioneers of the many Big Four conferences. In Bermuda in late 1953, the heads of government met with their foreign ministers to consider, among other things, the course of the war in Viet Nam. The French Premier was a large, indolent gentleman named Joseph Laniel who spent most of his time in bed with a diplomatic illness while Georges Bidaul as foreign minister gave the three allies a rosy picture of the war in far off Viet Nam. Victory was in sight and with French courage and American dollars the war would soon be won.

BUT THE FRENCH were losing all vestiges of popular support. By May of the following year the Indo-China conference in Geneva was frantically seeking a way out after the folly of the siege of Dien Bien-Phu had shown once and for all that the war could not be won militarily. A partition rather like that in Korea, with the agricultural South separated from the industrial North was the end result.

President de Gaulle is credited with sincere motives in trying to resolve an impossible situation. The French have kept a line to Ho's regime in Hanoi, maintaining a trade mission in the Communist capital. It is not clear whether they are encouraging a union of the two Viet Nams under a neutral government or, far more important, how such a regime could be formed. Laos is a bad precedent.

THE AMERICAN record after 1954 is no reason for cheering. We seem to have learned little or nothing from the French experience. Granted that the French installed Diem in the first instance, nevertheless each day's headlines reflect a growing loss of support and antagonism toward the United States.

Confidential reports from high American authority in Saigon say that the war can be won in nine months. They say that the border with North Viet Nam has been 95 per cent closed and the task of sealing the border with Cambodia is proceeding. The Viet Cong guerrillas are being starved out.

WHETHER THESE reports are any more authentic than the optimistic forecasts of past years, the outsider cannot judge. With more than 14,000 Americans directly involved, it is to be devoutly hoped they are correct.

But even if the war can be won despite the growing discord and the jailing of large and influential groups in Saigon, what such a victory means will be the unanswered question.

Is it possible for a backslider to come to Christ, be forgiven for leaving Him and going back to the world? That is what I did and I am miserable.

Let me assure you straight away that the New Testament holds out plenty of hope for the backslider, never mind how faithless he has been to Christ.

Consider the case of Simon Peter, the disciple who had lived so close to Jesus Christ, and who yet three times denied Him. Here was a tragic case of backsliding if ever there was one. Yet Peter was fully forgiven and restored and became one of Christ's great witnesses.

Do you remember the message which the angel at the empty tomb gave to the disciples on the day of resurrection? "Go, tell His disciples and Peter, He goeth before you into Galilee." (Mark 16:7).

The mention of Peter's name was a reminder that the Lord had not written off the unhappy disciple as a hopeless failure. No, Christ loved him still, and later He gave Peter the opportunity to confess His love for Him three times. (See John 21: 15-17).

So let me beg of you to come back to the Savior in a spirit of penitence and simple trust. Acknowledge your faithfulness. Lay hold upon His promises—now, as at the first. Remember, He loves you still, and His promise is certain: "Him that cometh to Me, I will in no wise cast out."

Prosperity Just Keeps Rolling Along

By time-tested standards, this has been a long recovery. It started 31 months ago, in January, 1961, when President Kennedy took office, though at the time he deplored the sorry economic legacy President Eisenhower had handed him.

Now, if he can only keep prosperity rolling another 14 or 15 months, he'll "have it made" into the 1964 campaign. And the auspices are excellent.

IN SPITE OF doggedly high unemployment and a persistent balance-of-payments deficit, total output of goods and services, industrial production, retail sales, and the stock market are at all-time peaks.

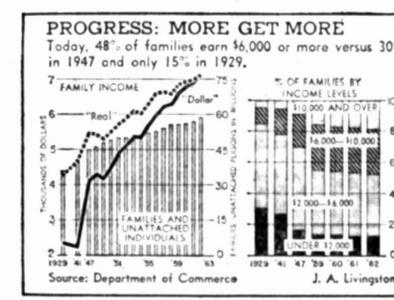

On top of that, the House Ways & Means Committee has voted the biggest tax cut — in dollars — in U. S. history. If that reduction materializes, consumers and business men will have a major boost in spending power in '64.

Still, from January '61 into November '64 (45 months) is a long, long recovery—50 per cent above average. According to studies of National Bureau of Economic Research going back to 1854, the upswing of an industrial cycle has a 30-month life. So the "average" — the probabilities—are against the President.

BUT CONDITIONS make exceptions. The recovery from the pit of the depression into 1937 lasted more than four years. The next expansion lasted throughout World War II for 80 months. And later the Korean War kept the recovery that began in 1949 going for 45 months.

Each of those recoveries had special circumstances to prolong it. So, skeptics can logically ask: What are the special circumstances to keep this one going into November '64? The answer, as so many times in the postwar years, is the consumer. You and I. We're doing our stuff. We're consuming.

RETAIL BUYING has been exceptionally strong all year. In August, department store sales, seasonally adjusted, jumped to a

all-time high, and retail sales in general stayed up at their previous all-time peak, as you can see.

Such broad demand, if continued, will sustain a high rate of industrial activity and send outlays for plant and equipment to further peaks. Corporate finance committees will revise upward expansion programs as they discover that the excess capacity they thought they had just isn't there.

Of course, you can argue that this propensity to spend—this boom in retail sales—is temporary. It could peter out. But it seems to me that the tendency is just the other way.

IN SPITE OF the persistently high level of unemployment, we're in an era of rising expectations. This country has had, throughout its history, widening frontiers. In the 1900's, it was horizontal space—geography. In the 20th Century, we're adding floors to purchasing power. The rise is vertical.

The average "real income" of families rose more than 2 per cent last year to a record level of $7,140 (see chart). This year, real income will be up again. That partly explains the strength in retail sales.

AND A MULTIPLIER is at work. More families are pushing up into the "middle income" class. Fewer remain in the really low-income brackets.

As a result, effective demand for refrigerators, washing machines, dishwashers, freezers, and so on, is widening. You can see why in the following table, which shows real income. (It eliminates inflation.) Note the shrinkage since '29 in the percentage of families in the below $2,000 income class, from 31 per cent to 12 per cent—a drop from almost one in three to one in eight.

AND NOTE, conversely, the rise in the proportion of families in the $10,000-and-over bracket from one in 20 to one in almost five. But the really influential change is the jump in the group earning from $6,000 to $10,000, from 10 per cent to 29 per cent.

Income Per Cent of Families

Income	1929	1947	1963
Under $2,000	31	16	12
$2,000-$4,000	21	24	29
$4,000-$6,000	10	21	29
$6,000-$10,000	10	21	29
$10,000 and over	10	21	29

The number of families accustomed to convenience living increases year by year, creating—on top of initial demand—a continuing replacement demand. Of this, the automobile industry, with its record scrapage, is the outstanding consumer-goods example.

Appliances—Not So Modern

Have been in some fancy kitchens lately, those with all the latest gadgets—refrigerators that dole out ice cubes automatically, stoves that turn themselves on and off, dishwashers that all but snatch the plate out of your hand, clean it, and hand it back to you.

BACK WHEN I was a kid, our kitchen didn't boast so much. The ice box had a drip pan under it, there was a coal-oil stove whose wicks had to be trimmed, a Hoosier cabinet with perforations in the tin doors, and—brought in from the outside on Saturday nights—a No. 2 wash-tub. And you know what that was for.

There was another so-called appliance with which I got gruesomely intimate. It was a churn.

I SUPPOSE the natural outcome of events demands that if you have milk, and want butter, there has to be a churning every couple of days. But I used to think, when the other fellows were ready for a game of catch, or it was time to get off to school, that my Mama kept me at that churn dasher about three-fourths the time. And, sometimes, the butter never WOULD come.

But this was a part of the chores of most of the kids in the neighborhood, so we all suffered together.

WHAT REALLY got my goat was when the neighbors began to get ahead of us.

This must have been the time when "modern" appliances began to appear.

Anyway, Homer's folks bought a Dairy churn. That was one of those square receptacles that had a crank on it, and by turning the crank a paddle was actuated to churn the milk—sort of like an ice cream freezer.

BOY, DID I BURN when Homer could churn his folks' butter just by sitting there and turning a crank, while I had to stay with the old-fashioned crock and pump that dasher up and down.

Then, across the block, the Adamses put in a cream separator, of all things. "Course, the Adamses had three or four cows and we had only one, so I guess we didn't need a separator at all. But when Mr. Adams installed his, it was the talk of the neighborhood, and I felt that we were shamed forever if we didn't get one.

THE SEPARATOR was as fascinating as a data computer is today. And a lot of us kids were on hand when Mr. or Mrs. Adams would put it into action. There was some weight involved to give the machine momentum to build up the centrifugal force, and the first few turns were pretty hard. Then, as it began to get up momentum, it would set up a whir, and here the milk and cream would begin to splash.

The Adamses had a lot more help turning their separator than I ever did with my dasher churn. That is, until they chased all the kids back to their own homes.

BUT THE ADAMSSES had just a dasher churn, too, and that put THEM nearly even. And Homer's folks didn't have a separator either, so that put THEM nearly even.

But nothing kept me from that churn—that is, until we sold the cow and bought an automobile. That's what you call real progress.

The People And The Treaty

WASHINGTON—As the Senate gets seriously into its momentous debate on the Nuclear Treaty, we have one of those times which comes periodically in every generation. It is a time when Americans ought to stop what they're doing and ought to participate in a decision that is fateful to the future of their country—but to participate in a most unusual fashion.

WHILE THE Constitution forbids titles of nobility in the U.S.A., the Senate has always been our body of Elite—our House of Peers. A vote of one more than one-third of the Senate membership—a mere 24 men and women—can set aside the executive decision of the most powerful democratically-chosen ruler of the universe, the President of the United States.

Under our system, the President cannot make treaties unless two of every three senators say that he can. The two-thirds provision was inserted for the wise purpose of allowing a minority of senators—obviously those with an extra portion of experience, sagacity, intuition and fortitude—to overrule what might be impetuous, obstinate or error on the part of some individual in the White House.

SENATORS, I have come to think, have two constituencies to which they must answer. One is the electorate of their states. The other constituency is so vague as to defy easy definition. But every senator to some extent, is a member of committees, a world traveler, the confidant of scientists, soldiers, philosophers and administrators, a constant companion of informed specialists and searching ideas. Every senator must answer to an indivisible multitude of intellectual pressures and moral restraints. This is his second "constituency."

ON A MATTER like the Nuclear Treaty, the invisible constituency within the senator's mind deserves to have a greater influence upon him than the human electorate. This point needs to be made because it has a lot to do with the participation of the American people in this treaty debate.

The people should set their senators free from any political restraint of a time like this. The people should make it known that they expect their senators to cast votes that are responsive to voices that may not be heard, votes that are not counted, strokes and proings that cannot be fully detected or wholly disclosed.

THERE WILL BE senators who will be honorably convinced that the treaty should be supported on two grounds. One, that nuclear disarmament is an end in itself, that the less atmospheric testing the better. Two, that President Kennedy has gone so far in these negotiations that an adverse vote in the Senate would repudiate our head of state and would injure the nation's prestige in the eyes of the world. Both these ideas are tenable, and any senator who gives them as his reasons for backing the treaty ought to be respected.

THERE ARE OTHER senators with considerable more insight, I happen to believe, who will oppose the treaty—or will wish to oppose it—because they know the kind of world we live in. It is a world where the fittest survive. It is a world where science cannot be wisely or safely locked in a cave. It is a world where trusting the Lord and keeping the gunpowdry dry are the commandments of survival and responsibility.

THE PEOPLE'S participation in this treaty debate is a peculiar one. It amounts to something like voluntary suspension of authority. This is a time when senators should answer, not to the voters, but to instincts and to information that is often intuitive in nature.

What the senators need right now is a blank check from home—the utmost vote of confidence that requires no political accounting.

The 'Quota' System In Schools

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy at a recent news conference rightly deplored the agitation for "quotas" as a means of correcting the "imbalance" of Negroes and whites in employment. The principle he then espoused now has been given support in the first court decision on the subject of "racial imbalance" in the public schools.

THE RULING came in New York City, where "demonstrations" have been going on protesting the "imbalance" even while parents of school children there have been complaining bitterly against having to send their youngsters many blocks away from their own neighborhood under a plan to correct the "imbalance" through artificial "quotas" of different races in the schools.

The court decision—which prohibits assignment of students to schools upon the basis of racial percentages—is being appealed and will go to higher courts. But, since the recent ruling deals for the first time with the problem of "racial imbalance" and was issued not in the non-conformist South but in the supposedly conformist North, the words of Justice Edward G. Baker of the Supreme Court of New York for Kings County deserve more than the cursory attention they have received. For the same issue is bound to arise in other parts of the country to overcome what is called "de facto" segregation.

THE PROCEEDING was brought by the parents of two white children to annul a ruling of the Board of Education of the City of New York which established the zone for a new junior high school in Brooklyn scheduled to open this month. The board had rejected the zoning recommendation made by Dr. Morris Blodnick, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of that school district, and approved by the local school board. Judge Baker's opinion said:

"THE BOARD (of education) officials found that under the Blodnick proposal the racial and ethnic composition of the incoming class would be 52 per cent Negro, 34 per cent Puerto Rican and 14 per cent white; whereas, under the school zone finally approved and adopted, the percentages would be 35.2 per cent Negro, 33.6 per cent Puerto Rican and 31.2 per cent white.

"That racial balance was a compelling factor for the rejection of the Blodnick proposal and for the approval by the board of the zone finally adopted is clear . . .

"AS PETITIONERS contend, respondents (the school board) rejected the Blodnick proposal because they found that it provided only 14 per cent white students, they approved a plan which they said would result in 31.2 per cent white students; and, because it would disturb the racial balance set up by their plan, they determined not to transfer Negro and Puerto Rican children from nearby overcrowded junior high schools to the new under-utilized school. It must be clear that the racial and ethnic balance accomplished by the movement of the boundary of the new school district southwest to East 93rd Street was not fortuitous but was the result of a fixed purpose on respondents' part to bring more white children into junior high school No. 275. "Whatever may have been the factors which impelled its enactment, the statute, by its very terms proscribes exclusion from public schools of any child by reason of race, creed, color or national origin."

PERHAPS THE Southern states will find that the New York state law—which, in line with decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, forbids discrimination in assignment to any public school by reason of race or color or ethnic origin—offers a solution to them. The principle is really in effect already in many Northern states and in the city of Washington. Children are assigned to schools in the neighborhoods where they live, and "de facto" segregation or "token" integration occurs naturally in schools located in districts where whites and Negroes predominate in number. But "racially balanced" integration in public schools must be fortuitous and not deliberate if it is to conform to the latest court ruling.

FERRANTE & TEICHER . . . . MAR. 21, 1964

FERRANTE AND TEICHER need little introduction to audiences here—or anywhere. Several years ago they were booked here and proved the surprise package of the year with their piano wizardry and sharp sense of showmanship. Since then they have become national favorites on the concert stage, on TV and particularly among recording enthusiasts. They're tops.

CELESTE HOLM defies being typed, for she is equally at home in music, comedy or drama. "With Love and Laughter" furnishes a varied and preceptive vehicle to the Academy Award winner, supported by Wesley Addy and Gordon Connell, in selections ranging from musical comedy to Shakespeare.

SAN ANTONIO SYMPHONY is enough to say about one of the treats on the concert series. This superb orchestra is habitually rated among the 10 best in the nation. Under the direction of Dr. Victor Allessandro, its conductor for the past dozen years, the 80-piece symphony has evoked praise from critics and from such masters as Arturo Toscanoni, Sir Thomas Beecham and Dimitri Mitropoulos.

"MARY, MARY" is a delightful comedy from the gifted pen of Jean Kerr. Now in its third season on Broadway, the play now goes on the road with a cast starring Mindy Carson, Jeffrey Lynn, Pirie McDonald. "Mary, Mary" proves the futility of using logic on females.

MIDLAND-ODESSA CHORALE

VOCAL MUSIC lovers will delight this year in the 86-voice Midland-Odessa Chorale. At least five of Big Spring's top voices are in the great chorus directed by Dr. Lara Hoggard, who is regarded as one of the leading choral directors in the United States. Last year the chorale was so widely acclaimed that it is this year broadening its appearances.

Normandy Invasion Slated At The Ritz

The invasion of Normandy in 1944 marked the end of one era and the start of another as Allied Forces slashed forward in the attack which took the European continent out of the hands of the Nazis.

D-Day, as seen through the eyes of the men who participated in that bloody landing on the beaches, is brought to the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Longest Day," which opens Thursday at the Ritz Theater. Cornelius Ryan, author of the book by the same name, wrote the script for the Zanuck film and was technical advisor to the producer.

In this dramatization, cameras for the first time record the tense and human story of the 24 hours of June 6, 1944 while Allies stormed ashore in Normandy. "The Longest Day" puts strong emphasis on the little-known human incidents of invasion day and for the first time, the German side of it.

Obtaining props for the picture was no little chore. Film wars, like the real thing, are expensive. To fire a 105 mm. cannon costs about $15 a round and securing the outdated weapons used in 1944 was another tough job. As with most extravaganzas, Zanuck spared no expense to have every minor detail accurate as a ward against eagle-eyed, cynical critics.

Since actual locations were used, changes during the past 19 years had to be eliminated in the struggle for authenticity. At Point du Hoc the shell-torn area above the cliffs and the German bunkers and trenches had long since become overgrown with weeds. They had to be cleared and restored to their original, war-torn look.

To add to the stark atmosphere of war, Zanuck chose to film the picture in black and white instead of color. For the most part, the sounds of war and the voices of men at war provide the musical score. A rousing theme song was written by Paul Anka for one of the sequences in the picture.

A $10 million production, "The Longest Day" boasts an all-star cast of 42 stars. Many of these were coached by their real-life counterparts.

In the film, the role of Janine Boitard, French Resistance heroine and one of the country's most decorated women, is played by Irina Demich. Miss Demich was coached for her performance by the heroine, a Madame Gilie, who lives in Caen above the cliffs and the German bunkers and trenches had long since become overgrown with weeds. They had to be cleared and restored to their original, war-torn look.

The list of other film notables who took part in the production includes Eddie Albert, Richard Beymer, Richard Burton, Henry Fonda, Jeff Hunter, Peter Lawford, Sal Mineo, Robert Mitchum, Robert Ryan, Tommy Sands, Richard Todd, Robert Wagner and Fabian.

"The Longest Day" was named best picture of 1962 by the National Board of Review and received five Academy Award nominations. It was included in the list of the top ten films of the year by critics in 33 major cities throughout the United States.

'Please, Not Now'

Beguiling and bewitching Brigitte Bardot looks as though she means just what she says in the movie "Please, Not Now," which starts today at the Jet Drive In Theater. Co-starring with her in this 20th Century-Fox production is Michel Subor.

A Swinging Party

Tuna is supposed to be the main interest of Elvis Presley in the Hal Wallis production "Girls, Girls, Girls," but for most persons the business at hand would be much more attractive. The boy of beauties from all nations shown here are part of the cast for this story about a fisherman who moonlights for extra money. Elvis introduces 13 new numbers in it. The film begins a four-day stay Wednesday at the Jet Drive In.

Richards Gets New Doc Role

HOLLYWOOD — Paul Richards got the best role of his career as a young psychiatrist in the ABC television series "The Breaking Point" which premieres in the old "Ben Casey" slot this coming Monday.

How did he prepare for it? "How else?" he answered. "I went to a psychiatrist."

"Yes, as a patient?"

"As a patient?"

Richards thus becomes the first Hollywood actor ever to deduct his psychiatrist as both a medical and business expense.

Richards did much more research than mere couching in the doctor's office. He listened to hundreds of taped conversations between doctor and patient, read scores of case histories and watched psychiatrists at work in clinics.

Reflecting the movie trend to raw realism, "Breaking Point" will deal with such problems as nymphomania, homosexuality, rape, etc.

"Let's face it," says Richards,

"these fellows don't treat: gas pains."

But mainly the series will deal with people who crack under the pressures of the so-called breaking point. The shows are not soap opera psychiatry—and fortunately too late at night for the kiddies. "Ben Casey" moves to Wednesday night in competition with CBS' "The Beverly Hillbillies."

Saga Of Love Vs. Home For Children Starts Today

A Navy commander tries to steer his ship into the heart of a young widow and her three children in the heart-warming Joe Pasternak production "A Ticklish Affair" starting today at the Ritz Theater.

The eligible pair are brought together when the commander and his men, while coming into port, spot a blinker on shore signalling an offshore S. O. S. The search for the distressed one leads him smack into the life of the Navy widow. She is determined that home should stay in one place for her youngsters while the Navy commander has other opinions.

The first distress signal has been false, but another later—when one of the widow's children takes to the air in a balloon—puts the commander in position to add new territory to his command.

It's one the kids should enjoy, and parent too.

Starring Shirley Jones, Gig Young, Red Buttons, Carolyn Jones and the Astro-Kids Peter Robbins, Billy Mumy and Bryan Russell, this Metro-Goldwyn Mayer film is in Panavision and Metrocolor. It is based on the story "Moon Walk" by Barbara Luthers.

Teen-age violence in the concrete jungles of large cities is brought to the screen in "Young Savages" Sunday through Tuesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theater.

Academy Award winner Burt Lancaster portrays a prosecuting attorney charged with the task of prosecuting the son of a former girlfriend. Co-starring opposite him is Shelley Winters, another Oscar winner. Cast as the wayward son is newcomer Stanley Kristien.

The story is one of youthful violence such as was portrayed vividly in "Blackboard Jungle" with three young residents of this jungle up for murder and a prosecuting attorney seeking the death penalty. In an effort to determine where the guilt lies, the attorney enters the world of the gangs at putting himself in peril.

The film is based on Evan Hunter's novel by the same name. A Pat Duggan production, it is released through United Artists.

He was the first to receive the Irving Thalberg award for making the greatest contribution to the screen in 1927 and was awarded the honor again in 1944 and 1950.

This 20th Century-Fox presentation produced and directed by Darryl F. Zanuck features a cast of 42 international stars, including such famous American performers as Henry Fonda, John Wayne and Robert Mitchum.

Kids Need A Father

Shirley Jones happens to be a widow with three youngsters who badly need a father in "A Ticklish Affair," which starts today at the Ritz Theater. The man who has set out to fill that slot is Gig Young, who until now has never been able to catch a pretty young lady in any movie he has made. He makes it this time, however.

Actors Made Good Profits From Summer Re-Run Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television's summer viewers may not have been wildly amused by the re-run season but a lot of actors profited.

Statistics for July, released by the Screen Actors Guild, show that residual payments to performers for re-runs were close to a million dollars, almost half again as much as they were the previous year.

Part of the 42 per cent increase resulted from a boost in the $90 minimum re-run payment to $100 per show for performers. Perhaps more important is the fact that last season re-runs started earlier than ever—some even in April. There were more repeats, hence more money.

Financial boons though the re-runs may be to sponsors, producers and performers, there is some evidence that viewers protest in their own quiet way — by not watching.

The most recent Nielsen ratings show that CBS' "What's My Line," a vintage panel show that has always resisted re-runs, leaped into the number three position on the popularity poll. And CBS' "Vacation Playhouse," a collection of unsold comedy pilot films, and pretty dreary ones at that, was ninth.

During the next three weeks, new programs and old programs with new material will be launched so fast and furiously that no individual viewer can sample them all.

The action starts tonight, "International Showtime" re-runs on NBC (7:30-8:30 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time), with acts from the Munich Circus. First premiere of the season will be "Harry's Girls," also on NBC at 9:30.

Youngsters Moving Into Starring Roles

Youngsters seem to be taking over in Hollywood.

A sixteen-year-old star last year won an Academy Award; an eight-year-old was one of five Oscar nominees; and now a six-year-old threatens to give established stars competition.

He is Peter Robbins, who makes his film debut in "A Ticklish Affair." Peter is the mischievous lad who severs connections with earth temporarily as he sails 150 feet high over a part of San Diego and the Pacific Ocean with the aid of weather balloons.

Wide Variety

Shirley Jones, the girl who made her film debut in "Oklahoma," has covered a wide territory in her acting career. Her latest is as a mother in "A Ticklish Affair." She was also seen in "Elmer Gantry" as a prostitute, in "Music Man" and in "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

Improved Chevrolet Trucks

New forward slanting windshield pillar provides roomier door openings for easier entry and exit in 1964 Chevrolet trucks with regular cabs. The 1964 Chevy truck line is now on display at Polard Chevrolet Co., 1501 E. 4th. Other features of the improved vehicles include longer lived lamps and exhaust systems, lower transmission hump in most pickup models, more positive door latches, and improved insulation for quieter, more weatherproof cabs. Corvair 95 engines have been increased to 95 horsepower from 80. The 1964 Chevrolet truck line also incorporates all the major chassis, engine, and body advances made under a five-year program which began with 1960 models.

Coin Club Show Set

Dates for the second annual coin show and exhibition of the Big Spring Coin Club have been set Oct. 12-13.

Announcement of the event was made at the monthly meeting of the club Thursday evening at the Elks Club hall in the Crawford Hotel. Eighty-nine members, a record turnout for a single meeting, were on hand.

Dois McKee will distribute display cases for prospective exhibitors and these will be at Allen Grocery across from the Settles Hotel where the show will be conducted. A third of available dealer tables have been reserved, one by a dealer from California.

Present for the Thursday meeting was E. H. Brooks, San Angelo, president of the Texas Numismatic Association. He reported on the national convention in Denver, as did W. E. Wozencraft, club president. Roy Bell and Dr. Bruce Johnson Wozencraft displayed the plaque which the club won at the national show for being third best in the nation in observance of National Coin Week.

Mrs. Dale Smith is chairman of the annual show and division chairmen include M. L. Kirby, bourse; Dan Koster, publicity; Mrs. M. L. Kirby, door prizes; Mrs. Emory Davis, hospitality; W. E. Wozencraft, exhibits; Bill Kenney, auction; Mrs. Lee Sanders, registration; Orbin Daily, information.

Credit Course Has 25 Now Registered

Approximately 25 Big Spring businessmen have enrolled for the retail credit course to be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday at the First Federal Savings and Loan Community Room.

Lowry M. Carpenter, retail credit specialist from the University of Texas Division of Extension, will conduct the course. He is a former collection specialist for a state government agency and a graduate of the University of Texas.

Sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association and the Big Spring Credit Womens Club, the course primarily is open to owners and managers of stores, credit managers, salesmen, credit office employees and interested personnel of Webb Air Force Base. However, anyone interested in credit may attend, according to Mrs. Ruth Apple, Retail Merchants Association.

"Carpenter will be available for counseling with any local merchant who is interested in discussing particular credit problems," Mrs. Apple said.

Ideas to open accounts profitably, reduce credit risks, increase credit volume, control accounts safely and decrease collection problems will be discussed during the sessions. Registrations will be accepted as late as Monday evening when the first class meets. Cost per individual is $4.50. Free coffee and doughnuts will be served during rest periods.

Other local credit executives include Glenn Barnes, president of the Retail Credit Executives, and Mrs. Bill Draper, president of the Big Spring Credit Womens Club.

Horsemen Plan Practice Meet

A practice session is planned Sunday afternoon by members of the Howard County Horsemen Club.

All members are requested to be present at the Garland Conway residence, three miles south of Big Spring on the old San Angelo Highway, by 3 p.m. for a two-hour practice period. Horses should be ready for the workouts by 3 p.m.

The Lubbock A&M Club is sponsoring a barbecue for Aggies preceding the Texas A&M Tech football game in Lubbock Oct. 5. The affair will be held at the U.S. Army Reserve Building at 2819 4th Street near the Tech stadium. Serving will start at 5 p.m., and continue to 7 p.m. with a $2 per person plate charge. This includes a small donation which will go to the scholarship fund. The Lubbock Club has a limited number of football tickets to be sold, and for $6 an Aggie may attend the barbecue and game. For tickets, communications should be directed to James W. King, Box 457, Lubbock.
