Why doesn't the Karmann Ghia cost $5,000?

Volkswagen's Karmann Ghia looks, expensive. And its looks aren't deceiving, a lot has gone into Its sleek lines and classic beauty show the hand of its renowned Italian designer—Ghia of Turin. Its hand-crafted body and meticulous assembly is the precision work of Europe's custom coachnaking house—The Karmann Works in Germany.

Its air-cooled rear engine and 4-wheel torsion bar suspension system were pioneered and perfected by Volkswagen.

Here are some of the other things you get in the Karmann Ghia: a built-in heater defroster; an adjustable fresh air ventilating system; windshield washer; leatherette interior; electric clock; jack and tool kit. (All at no extra charge.)

Like other limited production cars, the Karmann Ghia could very well carry an expensive price tag of $5,000. Or more. (Many people think it does.)

Yet, the complete cost comes to just about half this amount. That's one of the nice things about it. Come in and drive one.

Uncertainty Heralds Birth Of New Nation Of Malaysia

(AP)—The world's newest nation, the Federation of Malaysia, was born today in alternately gay and somber inaugural ceremonies darkened by the hostility of its two largest neighbors.

The nation's strongest neighbor and most militant opponent, Indonesia, announced it could not accept Malaysia "as it is now." The other, the Philippines, withheld recognition.

A happy crowd of 25,000 gathered at Freedom Stadium here for Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman's midnight speech for-mally launching the four-member federation. They sat in silence as he warned that Malaysians must be ready to sacrifice their lives to defend their country.

Rahman declared: "We are determined to defend the sovereignty and independence of Malaysia, together with our new brothers, for all times.'

The inaugural ceremonies ended a two-year struggle to unite the British territories of Karawak and North Borneo, self-governing Singapore and the former British colony of Malaya. The independ-ent federation stretches in a 1.500-mile tropical arc along the lower tip of the South China Sea.

The new nation of 10 million people, mostly Malays and Chinese, was designed with British blessings as a pro-Western bul-

'This One Brought Rain'

Roberto Javier Padilla, Muzquiz, Coahuila, one of 53 Mexican farmers who toured Big Spring Saturday on a "Good Neighbor Project" currently under way, points to a rain god depicted on canvas. Padilla painted the scene on a large sheet about 6 by 12 feet in size the day before the group left Mexico. It was meant as a friendly gesture to the "good neighbors" who share with these Mexican men and women the problem of low annual rainfall. So far the rain god has been able to fulfill the promise of rain, as moisture fell at the first four cities the group has visited since entering Texas.

THE BRITISH opinion pollsters asked a broad selection of citizens—covering all ages, social classes and political sympathies-what they would do with a windfall of 1.000 pounds. Blow it on a new automobile, a trip abroad, home improvement? Or put it into education, health insurance, retirement savings?

Astonishingly, a majority of Britons passed up the materialistic choices the car the trip abroad-and elected to buy do-it-vourself plans for educating their children and looking after themselves in sickness and old age. In question after question aimed at discovering whether Britons preferred State paternalism to private thrift, they came out for the latter Practically everybody who was polled believed in public charity for the needy. but not public control over the welfare spending of the nation as a whole.

And considering that Senator Goldwater has been taking almost exactly the same positions which this British study now enforces, there seems to be some hope that both of the English-speaking races may get a chance at self-expression on welfarism

A READER who cares to take "Choice in Welfare" in one hand and Goldwater's book, "The Conscience of a Conservative" in the other, will have the exhilarating experience of seeing how a political thinker, while rather undereducated by modern standards, has the wisdom of insight which we just don't find in our overeducated masters. ### What Kind Of Tie Do You Wear?

The Tailor and Cutter magazine, a recognized authority on men's wear published in London, said recently that a man's tie can show whether he's honest, fashion conscious, studious, flamboyant or upright. The periodical yielded these tips on man's cravats:

If a chap wears a neckpiece with a neat pattern, he's honest and careful in thought and action. If he favors stripes in his tie, he is overwhelmingly conscious of fashion decisive in action and reluctant to take no for an answer

THE STUDIOUS TYPE, attentive to detail, tends to favor the tie with the single motif.

The man who wears knitted ties is apt to be flamboyant, with an eye for color and is a good man at a party. Those favoring plain, single colors are likely to be upright, conservative and careful with

Business Confidence Necessary

WASHINGTON - President Kennedy in a speech last Tuesday to a national conference of businessmen here, indicated that he is, in effect, up against an old dilemma in public life-he will be criticized if he gets his tax bill passed by Congress and criticized if he doesn't. Mr. Kennedy, however, being an astute and resourceful politician has a ready answer. He hopes to prove that in either contingency the country will be better off

"EXCLUDING war years, this nation has had a recession on the average every 42 months, since the second World War or every 44 months since the end of World War I. By January, it will have been 44 months since the last recession than it has been on the economic side.

He says, for instance:

"I do not say that a recession next year is either inevitable, without a tax cut or impossible with one. But I do know that the prompt enactment of this bill, making certain both immediate and prospective tax reduction, will improve isiness conditions, increase consumer and investment incentives, and make the most of the anti-recession thrust that this tax cut can provide.

till next year to enact the tax-cut bill "would be to court uncertainty inadequacy, and perhaps total failure It is plain that Mr. Kennedy wants the bill passed during 1963 if it is at all possible. He is betting on improved business conditions to win him re-election in November 1964. It is natural for him, politically speaking, to wish to have the full effect of any tax cut felt in the business world beginning in the first quarter of 1964 rather than in the middle of

MR. KENNEDY argues that the tax cut shouldn't be conditioned on any fixed budget or on reduction of expenditures. He speaks of "unavoidable" increases and contends that defense, the space program and increases in interest on the national debt force the budget upward despite efforts to economize. He promises in general terms to restrain spending and says that budget estimates are difficult to make because they depend on "dozens unpredictable contingencies." He insists that taxpayers, "uncertain of re- the 1964 election campaign. ceiving the full benefits of the bill, would hold back on their investment and expansion outlays, thus retarding revenues and enlarging the debt '

There is nothing new in these arguments. Every President has been up against uncertainties when legislation affecting economic conditions has come up for consideration in Congress. But, unforfunately, the experts on economics in the presidential entourage rarely take into account the basic factors of psychology and lack of confidence which are at the root of business recessions.

THE ECONOMIC life of the country is: dependent on confidence by businessmen that they will be able to earn equitable returns for their investors. Otherwise, expansion is impeded. Investor confidence has become a necessity. Recessions come when wage rates are forced upward faster than they can be absorbed by price increases. There are competitive factors, to be sure, and American business to some extent today feels the effect of foreign goods that come into American markets as well as restrictions being imposed on the free flow of capital across the oceans. THE PRESIDENT adds that to wait

THE PRESIDENT is convinced that a tax cut is the key to economic prosperity. Some kind of tax reduction is coming, but its extent is uncertain today. The amount of it will be small relatively speaking in financial benefit to business directly, but the administration is sure that consumer spending will be greatly stimulated by a tax cut. This assumes, of course, that all the tax-cut money will be spent. Many people, however, still put aside money in savings for "rainy days."

SOME STIMULUS may be expected, but it could be offset by a stagnation due to a lack of confidence in planning expansion based on a temporary boom, the benefits of which might be exhausted in a year or two. Businessmen will be grateful for whatever cuts in taxes are made, but they cannot plan their outlays for plant and equipment on what has been called "a one-time shot in the arm" Businessmen have to worry about economic conditions that may arise even after Mr. Kennedy may have gotten through (Copyright, 1963, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

New Mexico's Carl A. Hatch Dies At 73

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)-Former senator and U.S. Judge Carl A. Hatch, the New Mexico Democrat best known for the Hatch Act which prevents millions of federal employes from participating in politics, will be buried Tuesday.

Hatch, 73, died at an Albuquerque hospital Sunday following a long illness. He resigned his federal judgeship last year because of the respiratory ailment. He was appointed to the federal bench in 1949 by former President Harry S. Truman, a friend and former Senate colleague. Hatch served in the Senate for almost 16 years. During his years in the Senate, he played major roles in early atomic energy policy, labor legislation, public lands policy and was an early supporter of an international peace organization idea which was to give birth to the United Nations.

The road that led him to the Senate included work as a grocery helper, printer's devil, weekly newspaper editor, lawyer and state official.

Survivors include his widow; one son, Stewart A. Hatch, Houston, Tex.; a daughter, Marsha Leet of Old Greenwich, Conn.; a sister, Mrs. L. E. Claypool of Redbluff, Calif.: a brother, Frank Hatch of Wellington, Tex.; and nine grandchildren.

Home Employers Urged To Keep Up SS Payments

During the past year, almost 21,000 household employers were required to make back reports of wages they had paid to cleaning women, maids, and other household help after their employes, or ex-employes, applied for social security benefits. Based on the average of $1,000 in wages covered by these delinquent reports, the Internal Revenue Service will be collecting about $1,200,000 in back social security taxes from these 21,000 employers, plus interest and penalty, said Erven Fisher, social security district manager. There is no time limit if no report was filed. Fisher pointed out. A household worker who is paid $50 or more cash wages over a 3 month period by any employer is covered by social security. This means that the employer must report her wages and pay social security taxes due-3% per cent she has deducted from the employe's wages, and 3% per cent out of her own pocket. Since there are 13 weeks in each 3-month calendar quarter of the year, a household worker who is paid as little as $4 each week will have cash wages totalling more than $50 in a calendar quarter, Fisher pointed out, and by law, those wages must be reported. This situation often applies to the family's "baby-sitter."

Mercury, retrograding now the last degrees of Virgo, indicates that many details of communication and correspondence can suffer annoying delays or that some plans and paper work initiated in August ought to be gone over again, with changes and adjustments. Virgo is also the sign of labor so some labor-union difficulties may have to be ironed out. You may run into small problems yourself in some daily services on which you rely in your everyday living Better to wait until the end of the month to do such small chores for then these matters move smoothly forward
