Football Rioting On Rise

By The Associated Press
School authorities in several areas were taking another look at night high school football games Saturday after a new series of gang fights and rowdiness that sent several persons to hospitals for treatment of injuries.

The most serious incident took place in Des Moines, Iowa, shortly before halftime in a game between Roosevelt and Tech when a tear gas bomb was thrown into the crowd of 10,000 at Drake University Stadium.

Ten persons including two small children, were hospitalized. Jay Michael Coffey, 4, was in serious condition with head injuries when he was apparently struck by the bomb. His 18-month-old sister, Patricia, was reported in good condition. Their parents had taken them to the game.

HURT IN RUSH
Many people were hurt in the rush to escape the fumes.

There were disturbances during or after games at Pleasantville, N.J.; Cleveland, and Columbus, Ohio.

Players and fans swarmed onto the field at Pleasantville, about five miles west of Atlantic City, after a Middle Township tackler and the Pleasantville quarterback were wrestling after the final gun. Eight policemen, 13 special officers and a fire truck crew cleared the field but street corner brawls broke out and rocks were thrown at several bus loads of fans. Twelve youths were picked up, and two were detained.

RUINED IT
"The kids have ruined it for themselves," said police Sgt. Charles Cohen. "I think this should be the beginning of the end for night football games. We've had it."

Police rounded up 20 youths in East Cleveland after gang fights broke out after a game between Shaw and Brush high schools. Four were charged with disorderly conduct. A number of teen-agers suffered minor injuries.

Fighting broke out during a game between South and Marion-Franklin high schools in Columbus, but the fans involved scattered when nine police cruisers arrived at the field.

Authorities in Toledo, Ohio, and Milwaukee said earlier this season that night high school games were being abandoned. Night high school games have been barred for several years in Chicago, Providence, R. I., and Bridgeport, Conn. Games in the Washington D. C. area also are played in the afternoon.

Murders Next Item For Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate crime investigators said Saturday they expect to hear a lot of information about a lot of murders when Joseph Valachi returns to the witness stand Tuesday.

Valachi, 60, a fugitive from the world of crime where murder is part of the code and a man marked for death himself, is unfolding the story of Cosa Nostra, a vast crime syndicate, before the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

"This man could testify to a lot of information he has about a lot of murders," said subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Another subcommittee source said Valachi will start spilling it when the inquiry resumes. Valachi spent three hours on the stand Friday, telling how the syndicate he served for 30 years marked him for death as an informer.

What did he do for the organization he joined in 1930?

"I just go out and kill for them," Valachi told the senators without blinking an eye.

A subcommittee official said Valachi has killed people for Cosa Nostra "in the sense that he took contracts, directed killings, was in the gangs that did them."

"He will testify of the murders he was involved in," the official said.

One of them was a mistake. And Valachi seemed remorseful when he told the subcommittee about it.

In May, 1962 Valachi feared the syndicate had marked him for death in the federal prison at Atlanta because a fellow inmate had accused him of informing in a narcotics case.

When he encountered another prisoner in the yard, Valachi said he thought it was Joe Beck, a Cosa Nostra man out to kill him.

Valachi, who said he believed in the credo of "kill or be killed," took an iron pipe to him. The man wasn't Beck, it was a look-alike convict named Joseph Saupp.

"You can imagine how I felt" when a warden told him it wasn't Beck, Valachi said. "I slumped in a chair. I told him to just lock me up."

U.S. OFFICIALS

Gunfire Spices Saigon Briefing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Scattered rifle fire formed a distant background for briefing of President Kennedy's military survey mission at Ca Mau Saturday on the progress of the war in Viet Nam's Communist-infested deep South.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, visited three of the most active areas in the Mekong River delta and Ca Mau, the main staging zone for operations against the Red Viet Cong guerrillas between the Mekong and the Gulf of Siam.

AERIAL SWING
U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, an Army veteran of World War II, accompanied them on the aerial swing.

Random shooting was audible on the outskirts of Ca Mau as U.S. and Vietnamese officers told the party of the progress of the struggle in that sector. 200 miles southwest of Saigon. The advisers said it was normal background music.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, filling in newsmen on the day's activities, said the situation is hard and rough, much more serious than in other parts of South Viet Nam.

"The area has been dominated by the Viet Cong for more than 20 years," Sylvester said.

He declined to say—as he has said in comment on less threatened areas—whether the situation has improved since the American buildup of men and supplies began in the fall of 1961.

BETTER ARMED
According to independent reports from the delta, Viet Cong units there have increased in strength and are better armed and equipped than they were a year ago.

Sylvester's comment on the tenor of reports heard by McNamara was: "They covered the whole range—good, bad and indifferent."

Preparations for the visit of the high brass had brought a lull in government-initiated military operations. They ground to a halt after McNamara and Taylor arrived in Saigon on their fact-finding mission Tuesday night.

When he encountered another prisoner in the yard, Valachi said he thought it was Joe Beck, a Cosa Nostra man out to kill him.

Valachi, who said he believed in the credo of "kill or be killed," took an iron pipe to him. The man wasn't Beck, it was a look-alike convict named Joseph Saupp.

Red Stand Is Vowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said Saturday the United States and its Latin-American neighbors "are determined that there shall be no more Communist states in this hemisphere."

And the way to be sure this doesn't happen, Kennedy said in a message to the Catholic Association for International Peace "is to remove the grave social and economic inequities that are the breeding ground of communism."

The association, now in annual conference here, gave its annual peace award Saturday to Teodoro Moscoso, coordinator of the U. S. Alliance for Progress program for economic and social development of Latin America.

Los Angeles Area Broils For Fourth Straight Day

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fourth consecutive day of broiling, 100-plus heat sent the mercury Saturday to 106 degrees — the same as Friday's high.

At the huge, deep-set Memorial Coliseum, where the University of Oklahoma defeated the University of Southern California 17-12 in a football game, the temperature was unofficially measured at 118 degrees on the playing field. Fifty fans among the 39,345 who watched the gridiron struggle were treated for heat prostration. Canopies were erected over the players' benches.

This is the longest spell of over-100-degree weather on record in Los Angeles.

Saturday's sizzling maximum was 10 degrees above the previous peak for the date—96 in 1891 and 1956. It followed the year's hottest night, in which the mercury sank no lower than 84 at 4 a.m.

Slightly cooler weather was forecast for Sunday.

Suffering Southern Californians swarmed to the beaches.

"There must be 100,000 on our beach," said a Santa Monica life-guard. "They're just jammed in the water."

At nearby Venice, half a dozen rescues were made.

Johnson Plugs For Poll Tax Repeal

Issue Is Due For Vote On Nov. 9

CONNALLY ANNOUNCES JFK To Visit Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally announced Saturday that President Kennedy has accepted an invitation to come to Texas on Nov. 22.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson will accompany the President. The governor said one or more functions will be held on that date.

The details are not complete and will be announced later. A spokesman for the governor said the cities to be visited was one of the details still indefinite.

Previous reports have said the President might visit Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson, addressing a crowd at the fairgrounds, drew repeated cheers Saturday when he urged Texas to repeal the poll tax.

The vice president was speaking in the midst of an area noted for its liberal leanings and loyalty to the Democratic party.

"I appeal to you in the name of Texas, Americans and in fairness, decency and equality to go to the polls Nov. 9 and repeal this shame of Texas, this poll tax," Johnson pleaded.

The poll tax issue is one of four on which Texans will vote Nov. 9.

Johnson declared, "We believe that if a man can shoulder a rifle and die for his country he ought to be able to vote for its leaders without paying for the privilege."

DEPARTURE
The poll tax appeal was a departure from his prepared speech, moved up an hour from the scheduled 1:30 p.m. because of threatening weather.

"For one of the few times in all history, when the aggressor stood ready to strike, he found himself with a prepared, ready and united free people — and he backed away," Johnson said in the prepared portion of his address.

The vice president was referring to the Cuban crisis of a year ago.

Since then, "The tide of world affairs is running with us," Johnson told the luncheon crowd.

"At this very moment, one year ago, the clock of history was ticking away," Johnson recalled. "The whole world stood near the stroke of midnight as the masters of the Kremlin worked feverishly to put their missiles in place in Cuba to strike at the peace of our hemisphere."

TO THE FORE
The armed, moral, economic and social strength of the United States came to the fore, he said.

Storm Nearing For Civil Rights Bill In Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — When a House subcommittee approved a strong civil rights bill last week a jubilant supporter said, "We're up in the clouds." Then he added, "When does it rain?"

The rain could start dampening the hopes of ardent civil rights advocates as early as Tuesday when the subcommittee reconsiders last week's action.

It is almost certain to start when the full House Judiciary Committee takes over the subcommittee's version, beginning Thursday. And it could develop into a real storm, with thunderbolts from the South, before the bill ever clears both the House and Senate.

This doesn't mean Congress will reject Negroes' demands for their rights as citizens. It's what happens when a heated emotional atmosphere collides with the cool winds of compromise.

The bill produced by the civil rights subcommittee Wednesday reflects the climate of Birmingham, Ala. There was every indication an effort was being made to agree on a compromise bill until a bomb shattered a Negro church in Birmingham Sept. 15 and killed four children.

"You could sense a change in the subcommittee after that," says a member. "There was a feeling, why should we accept "The world in which we live now is a far different world than at that grim hour of confrontation in 1962," said Johnson.

"Those who were then planning to strike a mortal blow at freedom have been brought to the conference table—to explore and pursue the prospects of a lasting peace."

Johnson added that survival today, no less than then, "Depends upon our unity, upon our standing together."

He said ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty is a first step toward peace and that it was possible "only because we are strong — and we intend to maintain our strength."

"We do not carry an umbrella of appeasement—and we never will," Johnson declared.

Johnson was met at the airport by mayors of this oil, chemical and industrial complex with its many cities and towns, and by Democratic leaders, and city and county officials.

BARBECUE LUNCH
At the luncheon he ate barbecued chicken and beans along with the crowd.

Shortly after the speech, the vice president and Mrs. Johnson were driven to the newly restored home of Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., near Jasper, 75 miles north of here.

Late in the week, painters were putting the finishing touches on the white house built in 1886. Mrs. Brooks arrived at the house two weeks ago to supervise the final restoration.

The house was built in Bevilport and was moved to the Brooks farm. It is of solid cypress.

The Brooks will hold open house Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. so residents of the section can meet or renew acquaintance with the Johnsons.

DAM DEDICATION Need For Water Told By Kennedy

WHISKEYTOWN, Calif. (AP) — President Kennedy, in the West during a blistering heat wave, chose a topic Saturday that simply had to have great appeal.

Water.

Kennedy was winding up his so-called nonpolitical tour of the West and at Whiskeytown, 10 miles west of Redding, he had a perfect setting for his speech.

Behind him the Whiskeytown Reservoir Dam backed up the sparkling blue water of Clear Creek. Before him was a tree-covered hillside on which the red-coated sheriff's posse stood guard.

Kennedy said of the Whiskeytown project.

NEVER PAY
"It was opposed for many years. It was thought it might never pay for itself. But as a general rule, every time we bet on the future of this country, we win."

A crowd estimated by Sheriff John Balma at 9,000, all fetched in over a mountain road by buses, heard the President say:

"For too long the precious waters of the Trinity River have been wasted. For too long surplus water in one area could not be used to make up the deficit in another."

Although this has been billed as a nature tour, Kennedy has kept such a pace he has had precious little chance to see any of the West's wonders first hand.

Friday night was another of those pleasant exceptions. He spent the night at beautiful Lassen Volcanic National Park and his first close-hand look at the wild life he kept talking about preserving.

BOTH DEBIOLS
A deer, which must have been coaxed for weeks, nibbled from the presidential hand. Both seemed a little dubious about the great adventure.

Far more important than the deer, from a politician's standpoint, was a chance to canvass the California situation with Gov. Edmund G. Brown who joined

It Was Worth Every Mile
President John F. Kennedy looks down at the bare, sore feet of 15-year-old Terri Hodgetts, the girl who led 29 Hayfork, Calif., High School girls on an overnight 35-mile hike to Whiskeytown Dam to meet President Kennedy today. She was barefoot, she told the President, because: "My feet hurt." She said the hike was worth every aching mile. (AP Wirephoto)

Dominican Envoy Called

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — U.S. Ambassador John Bartlow Martin is being summoned to Washington "for consultations" and is not expected to return, informed sources said Saturday.

The United States suspended diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic Wednesday when military men took over the government from President Juan Bosch. Washington also suspended the U.S. aid program in the Dominican Republic.

In Washington the State Department confirmed that Martin had been called home for consultations, but said no decision has been made whether he will go back.

(Martin has been closely identified with the Bosch government, thus this has sparked some causing speculation the United States might change its ambassador.)

The military junta kept secret its plans to send the former president into exile. The deportation had been expected after the calming of seas ruffled by Hurricane Edith. Bosch was to be put aboard a navy frigate and taken to Europe, possibly Spain, for exile.

But the military leaders kept quiet about their plans lest the deportation set off disorders.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The Big Spring Steers, a team without stars, seems to be starting as a team. Some aerial bombs furnished the offensive punch for a victory at Snyder Friday evening, but much of the credit goes to the lads up front. The Wichita Falls game here Friday should draw a large crowd.

The gridders are not alone in giving a good account, for the high school band has been doing some superlative work in its half-time shows. Sandy McComb, majorette, has been putting on a twirling exhibition that delights the fans.

A local delegation appeared before the Texas Highway Commission in Austin last week, asking for a redesign and possible rerouting of part of FM 700 west from US 87. Members came away optimistic about chances for getting this. After the hearing, County Judge Lee Porter took occasion to praise the commission, and chairman Herb C. Pety wryly observed: "We'll try not to hold that against you."

The United Fund is steadily meshing its gears, and the gears are humming at a steadily increasing rate. Last week the employees division got under way, followed by the special gifts division. Results so far are encouraging. We can get the job done, and on schedule, if everyone will remember that this is everyone's responsibility. There is hardly a working person but who can do something. And most can give a day's pay or an hour a month. That's not asking much in support of the things that make ours a good community.

Two more slipped from the thinning ranks of old timers last week with the death of Mrs. Ella

New Oldsmobiles Go On Display Here This Week

Oldsmobile's new Jetstar 88, along with the new F-85's, Dynamic and Super 88's, 98's and Starfires, will be on display at Shroyer Motor Co., 424 E. 3rd, beginning Monday, it was announced by Justin Holmes, sales manager.

"The new Jetstar 88, lower-priced companion to Oldsmobile's other 88's," Holmes said, "is powered by the new Jetfire Rocket engine, an ultra-high compression, 330 cubic inch member of the Rocket engine family.

"In addition," he said, "we will also be showing Oldsmobile's new medium price class sports-car, the Jetstar I, powered by the powerful Starfire engine.

"All 1964 Oldsmobiles," he continued, "are designed to meet the most discriminating tastes of the buyer, with styling and performance to appeal to the young of all ages."

The Jetstar 88 will be produced in a 4-door sedan, hardtop sedan, coupe and convertible, on a full-size Oldsmobile body and a special 123-inch wheelbase chassis. The car is designed for the increasing number of "up and coming" younger families. It is a lighter car, fleet in appearance, and fleet in action with its new lightweight castiron Jetfire Rocket V-8 engine.

"The Jetfire Rocket is a completely new engine," he continued. "It embodies an inverted 'A' cylinder block construction and integrated manifold and engine cover for a new standard of quietness of operation. It is smooth, due to the rigidity of the crankcase and crankshaft. A new combustion chamber promotes instantaneous ignition. The cylinder block casting is manufactured by a foundry process called 'hot-box coring'—the first time Oldsmobile's adaptation of this process has been applied to a production automotive engine. The new engine develops 245 horsepower with a 10.25 to 1 compression ratio.

"The engine is teamed," he continued, "with an entirely new automatic transmission, the Jetaway, consisting of an automatic gear shift and a torque amplifying feature which permits extra performance without downshifting.

The Jetaway automatic, and 3- and 4-speed transmissions with floor controls are available as extra-cost options. A 3-speed column-shift transmission is standard on all Jetstar 88's.

"There are many other new things about the 1964 Oldsmobiles," Holmes said. "Styling is fresh and new. For '64, the Oldsmobile look is apparent in every model, in every series.

"From the new Jetstars to the magnificent 98's," he added, "each series is highlighted by the use of specific grilles, rear bumpers, rear quarters, tail lamp assemblies and the placement and shape of accent trim, including newly designed rocker panel moldings.

"The new Jetstar I," he said, "is equipped with bucket seats and console, and roof styling similar to the Starfire coupe.

"The Starfire has been dramatically changed," he continued. "The rear roof supporting structure is designed to further stress the sharp, crisp lines of the concave rear window. In the lower body a functional engine compartment air outlet is placed directly behind the front wheel opening.

... New styling, engineering

Inboard driving lamps are sports-car styled.

"The 98 for 1964, is the most magnificent car Oldsmobile has ever produced," Holmes added. A new rear quarter profile further emphasizes the long, sleek look.

"Interiors for 1964," he added, "have new patterns in combinations of trim materials. Tailored specifically for each series, interior trims range from the smartly fashioned fabrics and vinyls of the 88's to the rich looking satin-weave nylon in the elegant 98's."

Other interior features include a completely new instrument panel. A new power console, extending from the engine cowl to the rear of the front seats, is standard on the 98 Custom Sports Coupe, the new Jetstar I, and the Starfires.

"An industry exclusive on 1964 Starfires and the new Jetstar I," he said, "is a newly developed chambered exhaust system to emphasize 'the Starfire sound of muffled power'."

"Powering the new Jetstar I," he continued, "is the 345-horsepower, ultra-high compression 10.5:1 Starfire engine. 'Big, powerful 394-cubic-inch Rocket engines, are standard on all Dynamic and Super 88's and 98's. Horsepower goes up to 330, with compression ratios as high as 10.25 to 1."

Even greater performance in Dynamic and Super 88's is gained through the use of a new rear axle ratio, 3.08 to 1.

Teamed with Oldsmobile Rocket engines is the famous Hydra-Matic transmission, standard equipment on 1964 Starfires and 98's, and available at extra cost on the Jetstar I and on Dynamic and Super 88 models.

"Chassis improvements in all '64 Oldsmobiles," Holmes said, "contribute to an even smoother and more comfortable ride." Front suspensions, he explained, contain new pivot bushings on upper control arms for longer life and improved ride characteristics. Single piece construction of rear suspension lower control arms permits better alignment of differential for quieter operation under all load conditions. Improved needle bearings and seals in universal joints increase durability and reduce maintenance costs.

New brake linings of an improved composition provide more effective braking and increased wear qualities. In addition, front brake drums are of heavier construction for better cooling.

A new heater, standard equipment on all 1964 Oldsmobiles, utilizes an air-mix principle by which inside temperature is more precisely regulated and more uniformly maintained. On bucket seat models, even distribution of air throughout the car's interior is assured through special new air baffles.

Cornering lamps, a new Oldsmobile accessory for 1964, are available on Starfire and 98 models. Super 88's, and Jetstar I.

Post Office Still Checking Burglary

No leads have developed in the investigation into the recent burglary of two locked mail boxes at the Big Spring Post Office. E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said an inspector has been assigned to look into the case but that he has heard nothing from the officer.

The burglaries were discovered when a janitor at the Howard County Court House found more than 100 letters, torn open and their contents ransacked, stuffed in the waste compartment in a rest room. The boxes, raided were apparently those of Sears and of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Memorial Gift

A memorial gift to the Bible Class fund has been made in the amount of $10 by Dr. and Mrs. Lee O. Rogers in memory of Miss Mattie Leatherwood and R. L. Cook. The brings to $3,523 the amount given to the Bible Class.

DEAR ABBY
Better Take Action Now

DEAR ABBY: I could write a book about my nine years of married life. My husband had a very unhappy childhood, and he's been taking it out on me and the children. He tried to kill me once. He choked me until I was unconscious, and then left me for dead. Not one to hold a grudge, I forgave him and he promised to do better. Then he lost his temper again and chased me with a butcher knife. I had to run to the neighbors for help. It was then that my clergyman explained that my husband was sick and I should stick by him in sickness and in health. My husband promised to see a head doctor, but he keeps stalling. Abby, I can't sleep for worrying what he will pull next. I have five little ones who hide when they see him coming down the road. Can you help me?

FRIGHTENED BUT FAITHFUL DEAR FAITHFUL: Your "faithfulness" is commendable, but while your husband is "stalling," they could be burying you. Don't live in fear with this man another day. Your local police can provide you with protection and force your husband to submit to a mental examination.

DEAR ABBY: I work and draw a good salary. My problem is one of my bosses. While he is a flirt with all the girls, he singles me out. If there is a disagreement, he takes my side. I have ignored him for a long time, but I feel attracted to him. I am married and so is he. I only think about him when I am around him. I love my husband and can't understand why I am attracted to my boss.

IN DANGER DEAR IN: If you can't see the handwriting on the wall, you need glasses. Quit your job.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who would like nothing better than to waste my entire morning just talking on the telephone. Is there a way to bring a telephone conversation to an abrupt end without being downright rude?

BURNED UP DEAR BURNED UP: Yes, say, "Goodbye—I think I smell something burning." (You!)

DEAR ABBY: You will probably never print this, but I hope you do. We have some new neighbors. This morning the man of the family rapped on my back door and asked me if I planned to hang my wash up today. He said if I did, he would not burn his trash until tomorrow. I was so touched by such a considerate act that I broke right down and cried.

"APPRECIATIVE:"

Altizer Takes Roping Laurels

DENVER—Jim Bob Altizer, 30, Del Rio cowboy, was richer by $1,784 after hitting the winner's circle in calf roping at the annual New Mexico State Fair Rodeo in Albuquerque. Others who shared in the 9-day rodeo's $22,921 prize money division included Jim Bynum, Waxahachie, $1,658, steer wrestling; Dick Bryant, Loveland, Colo., $1,264, bull riding; Walt Mason, Las Vegas, Nev., $1,137, bareback bronc riding; and Jim Tescher, Medora, N. D., $981 in saddle bronc riding. Competition in the latter event was marred by loss of Mountain Dew, a grey gelding owned by Beutler Brothers, Elk City, Okla. Veterinarians said the animal, a heavy favorite for the sport's bucking horse of the year award, died from a twisted intestine. A concurrent rodeo in the Pacific Northwest, held with the western Washington State Fair Rodeo, at Puyallup, handed Mark Schricker, 24, Sutherlin, Ore., top money laurels of $1,206. Schricker won calf roping and placed third in steer wrestling. Logging the largest attendance in its 66-year history, the Washington rodeo divided a total $14,115 prize money. Saddle bronc riding winner was Wayne Vold, DeWinton, Alta., worth $748; Dave Reidhead, Phoenix, Ariz., bareback bronc, $666; Larry Davis, Homedale, Ida., bull riding, $765; and Louie Torricellas, Eugene, Ore., in steer wrestling, $832. Interest in the professional rodeo world centers this week on the world championship title play-offs in single steer roping, set for Saturday and Sunday (September 28-29) at Pawhuska, Okla. The season's top 15 winners in the event compete for $6,500 prize money and the 1963 title in a six-steer average. Dies From Burns BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP)—Jasper L. Hallford, farmer of Bangs, died in a Brownwood hospital Saturday of burns suffered Friday when gasoline was ignited as he worked on a tractor.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Sept. 29, 1963 3-A Autumn Coolness Touches Texas By The Associated Press A touch of autumn moved into Texas Saturday. The Weather Bureau said a Canadian cold front would penetrate deep into Texas by early Sunday. The bureau said the front would bring gusty northerly winds, but that skies generally would be fair Sunday. Skies Saturday were mostly clear to partly cloudy. Scattered showers fell in Northeast Texas. Afternoon temperatures were in the 70s and 80s.

Ministers Discuss New Tension Ease

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S., British and Soviet foreign ministers discussed for 2 1/2 hours Saturday means of further easing cold war tensions. Western sources called the session "pleasant and constructive," but said the only agreement was to meet again.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was host to Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko and Britain's Lord Home in the first high-level East-West parley since the Aug. 5 signing in Moscow of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

They declined to go into specifics of their discussion, but it was understood disarmament was the main topic. Gromyko was said to have called for general and complete disarmament, which differed from the U.S.-British emphasis on a step-by-step approach.

BRIDGE TO BE WIDENED
Wildhorse Creek crossing to be extended to 44 feet

Wildhorse Bridge Will Be Widened

Wildhorse Creek bridge, on SH 350 about 12 miles north and east of Big Spring, is to be widened to 44 feet, and four miles of US 80 through Big Spring proper will be repaved during 1964.

The Texas Highway Department district engineer's office in Abilene has announced allocation of $204,000 to be spent in Howard County on these projects next year.

Willard Shaw, planning chief of the Abilene district office, said that the bridge will be widened from 28 feet to 44 feet and a new deck placed on the structure. He said the job will be done by contract and will probably not be initiated until late spring or early summer of next year.

The same timing is planned for the resurfacing program on Third and Fourth Streets. Shaw said the job contemplated for the two thoroughfares which serve as legs of IS 20 through town, will be identical with the treatment recently given US 87 on Gregg Street.

Slow Cotton Harvest Due To Labor Shortage

Cotton harvest is gradually getting into action but through Friday of last week, only enough cotton had been brought out of the area's estimated total crop.

Texas Employment Commission says that there will be 470,200 bales of cotton produced in Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Mitchell, Fisher, Scurry, Nolan, Borden, Gaines and Dawson counties this season.

Through Friday these 10 counties had combined ginnings of 16,954 bales.

Part of the reason for the slowness of the harvest rests in the fact that bulk of the cotton will be machine gathered. Strippers will replace man-power in most of the fields. And strippers cannot go to work in the fields until later. The crop has to be left untouched to the last possible moment in order that maximum yield can be taken by the strippers.

No field hands can be hired. TEC offices in Big Spring, La. Mesa and Sweetwater—the three offices serving the 10 counties—are besieged with requests for hands but are not having any luck finding crews.

In Howard County, cotton is rated as extremely irregular in its potential. There are fields, competent observers say, where a bale and quarter will be produced. There are other fields where a quarter of a bale will be all that can be expected. The amount of irrigated cotton in this county is limited so the bulk of the production will be from dry land farms.

There is a wide variation in the ripening stages of cotton. Some of the cotton is already completely finished and will produce no additional lint. Other fields are to be found in all phases of maturity. Some fields need a little rain to help them finish their growth; other fields will be damaged if it rains.

Insect damage is still a problem to some farmers. Poisoning is still under way in some sections.

The gins are operating sporadically but not at a steady pace. The cotton which has been ginned so far this year has been hand pulled. As pointed out, it is too early for stripper activity.

Farmers say that cotton which has been graded is good quality. As long as it can be left in the fields without rain, the quality will continue good. Rain will stain the lint and reduce the grade.

Little Leaguer Awaiting Sunshine And New Leg

LAWTON, Okla. (AP)—Stanley Manning lay back in bed with a dreamy look in his eyes. Then he said, "The first thing I'll do is get a lot of sunshine. Then I'll get a new leg and in about a year I'll be as good as new."

Stanley has had to postpone his baseball career. The 13-year old Little League catcher's right leg was amputated below the knee after his bicycle was struck by a car three weeks ago.

The experience has been painful, but Stanley has found friends he never knew he had.

"It's hard to believe people can be so nice," he said. "They had never heard of me until my name was in the paper, and now they're telling my mom and dad they will do anything they can to help me."

More than 120 cards have been mailed to the good-looking, quiet-spoken lad from nearby Tipton, Okla. Dozens of the notes are from persons the family has never heard of.

Local florists make frequent deliveries to Lawton Memorial Hospital since Stanley was hurt. Hospital officials have had to ask the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Manning, to take most of the plants home.

"I can't blame them," Mrs. Manning said. "For a while there wasn't space to walk in his room."

At first the parents planned to respond to all the persons who sent best wishes, and often slipped money in with the card.

CD Classes To Begin

Civil Defense education for the public will be available starting Tuesday in a special class to be sponsored by the Big Spring Independent School District.

Areas to be touched during the classes will include survival techniques in the event of radioactive fallout, enemy attack, a tornado or similar disaster.

Classes will be taught by teachers of the district, Sebron B. Williams, assistant superintendent said. They have taken intensive civil defense training and have received special certificates for this purpose from the Texas Education Agency.

Classes will be held at all schools except Kentwood. They will meet from 4-6 p.m. each day on Oct. 3, 8, 10, 11 and 15, Williams said. Parts of the class sessions will be televised by the local station from 4:30-5:30 p.m. on class dates.

FIRE HURTS

Forest fires destroy the food and homes of countless animals. Fires burn up millions of dollars each year in natural resources. It costs your country more than a hundred million dollars a year just to fight forest fires—a high price to pay for carelessness!

Yes—nine out of every ten forest fires are caused by man. That sad knowledge is what hurts most of all.

Do your part to help. Follow Snokey's ABC's.

Always break matches in two. Be sure you drown all fires out. Crush all smokes dead in an ash tray.

A Devotional For The Day

Why dost thou stand afar off, O Lord? Why dost thou hide thyself in times of trouble? (Psalms 10:1, RSV.)
PRAYER: When our evil and stupidity hide Thy face from us, O Lord, send the Holy Spirit to convict us of sin. Quicken and strengthen us for service. We pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

Message To Elder Citizens

Reports are trickling in of insurance policy investments being made by a number of elder citizens.

Insurance — good insurance — is a fine thing. While it costs, it furnishes a hedge against the catastrophic expense in event of serious or prolonged illness.

In some cases, however, an analysis of the policies being sold shows a lot of fine print exclusions which make that particular policy practically worthless to the elder citizen, or which so reduces the possibility of benefits that the cost is all out of proportion to the protection actually provided.

Every legitimate operator will welcome an analysis of his policy or policies. He will be in no hurry to close a sale, nor will he exercise pressure to get money on a contract.

Therefore, it would be a wise thing for our elder citizens to undertake purchase of an insurance policy with deliberation. Families or friends will do well to suggest to them that they investigate before they buy.

It would be a simple matter for those who are approached by salesmen they do not know to say simply: "Would you mind letting me get the policy checked?" Then a call to the Better Business Committee of the Chamber of Commerce would result in arrangements for a competent breakdown on what the policy will and will not provide. This report would be returned within a day or so to the party calling. The individual then could use this as the basis of deciding on whether to take the policy.

This service is available to anyone—regardless of chamber membership—and it would involve nothing but an honest analysis of the probable benefits under the policy.

The point is this: Reputable agents will welcome such an investigation. Those who might take offense at the suggestion of an investigation likely would leave never to return.

As we said in the beginning—good insurance is a good thing. Inadequate insurance or insurance which does not provide the protection claimed by the salesman is over-priced if not worthless.

One of our elder citizens recently almost exhausted his life's savings on a policy of practically no real value to him. An elderly lady, who spent money she couldn't afford for a policy which did not offer the benefits claimed, said she did it because the salesman was such a nice fellow.

Let's encourage our elderly folk to be slow enough to be sure.

Is The Quality Of Credit Strained?

The cleavage between Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board William McChesney Martin Jr. has broadened beyond a jurisdictional dispute into a matter of judgment: Is the quality of bank credit being strained?

In July, Martin wrote to the House Banking and Currency Committee. "I am impressed with the indications that credit quality has deteriorated." The specific areas in which I believe deterioration has been most marked are in the financing of the construction of multi-family apartment projects, shopping centers, motels, and similar types of commercial establishments for which customer demand is highly uncertain.

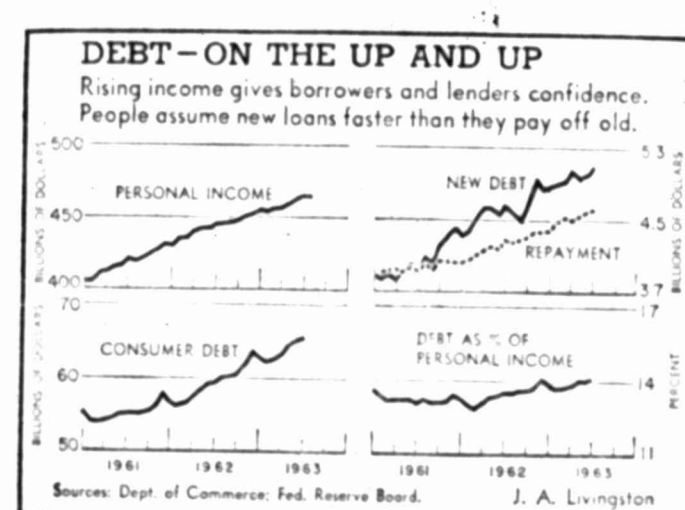

"When they have loanable funds that would otherwise lie idle, banks and other lenders are under a strong temptation to ease lending standards."

"To a degree, some easing of credit availability to marginal customers can serve a constructive purpose during periods of business slack. But it does not serve a useful purpose for such ease to extend so far as to finance basically unproductive operations, the subsequent collapse of which simply places another obstacle in the path of economic expansion."

UNMISTAKABLE TARGET
When Saxon appeared before the same committee, he didn't mention Martin by name, but his target was unmistakable. He said: "Fears have been expressed that the quality of bank credit is deteriorating, and the concern generated by these observations may lead some to oppose further liberalization of the lending powers of banks."

"Unless banks are to pursue a policy of seeking only riskless loans, it may be expected that the quality of their loan portfolios will be diverse and will vary with business conditions and monetary policies. This is as it should be, since, indeed, banking is a risk-taking business, as are all other forms of private enterprise."

"To describe changes in the composition of bank portfolios as 'deterioration' can be very misleading. It implies that the banks have failed to exercise prudent judgment. It also implies that any change in the degree of risk in bank portfolios is harmful, whether or not sound credit standards have been followed by the banks and enforced by the regulatory authorities." Saxon said his office had studied examiners' reports covering 151 national banks, randomly chosen. Of these, 76, or 50.4 per cent, had a lower "loan criticism" ratio than in 1960. 75 banks, or 49.6 per cent, had a higher criticism ratio. But the loans subject to criticism had risen in the period very little—from 85 per cent of the total in the banks' portfolios to 1.06 per cent.

TRILLION-DOLLAR DEBT
"We would conclude from this study," said Saxon, "that actual experience does not support the assertion that there has been a deterioration in the quality of bank credit."

The dispute is bootless. Credit is like honor. You never know how good it is until tested. Prosperity brings out the best in credit, adversity the worst. And this is a period of prosperity.

Even if considered loans shrink in importance when business is good, as banks put new loans on their books or installment credit companies add to their receivables, delinquencies on old debts are submerged in the expanding total. That happens in mortgage foreclosures, in consumer credit. The newer loans have not had to stand the test of adversity.

The long- and short-term debt in the United States is now a trillion dollars. It has increased 80 per cent in a decade. And the private sector—corporate and individual—accounts for most of the jump. Thus, in 1962, the federal debt accounted for 40 per cent of the total, state and local government obligations for 5 per cent; individuals (mortgage and consumer debt) 24 per cent, and corporate 31 per cent.

LENDERS LABEL
Today, the federal proportion is 26 per cent, state and local government has risen to 7 per cent, individual to 34 per cent. This is a major jump. But the proportion of corporate is up to 33 per cent.

Size by itself — an increase in loans or mortgages — is no cause for alarm. But beware if debt becomes self-propulsive. Beware if lenders put up homes, or high-rise apartments, or office buildings because that's what they have to do. That's their life. Beware if banks and insurance companies and savings institutions make loans because that's what they have to do. That's their function.

This is what Martin is concerned about. That is what any thoughtful student of past trouble—of 1929 — has to think about. To suggest that maybe some merchants and builders and bankers and institutions have been carried forward by reflexes instead of reflection isn't libeling lenders. It's merely cutting from history.

ADAGE
No one can say with finality whether credit has deteriorated under the glow of prosperity. All we know is that the A-1, please-don't-you-come-in-customer-in-good-times-becomes-the-man-you-can't-find-in-a-slump-in-the-matter-of-lender-prudence, the Comptroller of the Currency and the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board ought not to be at odds. It is not amiss to paraphrase Vegetius: Let him who desires prosperity, prepare for adversity.

There are, however, some basic considerations which cannot be overlooked, and they tend to support the theory that the world may really be embarking on a course that will avoid a big war. Accidents, of course, can happen and little wars can suddenly provoke big ones, but the reasons why Moscow will seek to maintain peace for a long time to come currently outweigh any factors that might possibly bring on a war.

In the first place, few Americans realize the intensity of feeling of the Soviet people about war itself. The figures vary, but it has been estimated that 20 million persons were killed, seriously wounded, maimed or lost all their possessions in the holocaust of World War II. A people who have undergone such great suffering are more apprehensive about another war than are the American people, particularly since in the two world wars the territory of the United States was not bombed or devastated.

Public opinion in the Soviet Union today is unquestionably anti-war. Even a government which wields dictatorial power is constantly fearful of an internal uprising. It is recalled that the Bolsheviks in 1917 had no organized military force but that the Czar's army itself revolted. Every dictator remembers how quickly the uprising swept an autocratic government out of power overnight.

EVER SINCE 1917 the Russians have been fearful of war. In the 1920's, Russian foreign policy was geared to war prevention. In the 1930's, Russia's diplomatic policy was to stay out of entangling alliances. Yet, when war was im-

What Makes A Good Manager

When Bob Whipkey invited me to contribute in his stead an article for the editorial page of our Herald, he explained that he was going away on a restful vacation. I suspect he knew that I would accept. He is well enough acquainted with me to know that I like to do favors for friends. More significantly, he must have known that my vanity would prompt me to do so. As with amateurs in all fields of endeavor, it is a high compliment to be sometimes treated with the regard accorded a professional. He did not suggest a subject; I do wish he had.

FOR PUBLICATION I write very little other than the semi-monthly columns for our Cadden newspaper, the Copper. Hurdledly I have polled some supposedly regular readers of my writings and thereby determined that management development is a topic favored by those who can remember anything that I have ever authored.

With many years of service behind me, I cannot say that I have a wealth of experience because the learning process is a continuing one. My efforts to develop managers and assistants have been rewarding in many instances. Of course, there have been a few disappointments. These exceptions have not discouraged me. I have learned from them.

OUT OF WHAT I regard as a necessity, in the course of my employment a considerable number of books and a great deal of other printed material are reviewed and sometimes studied by me. This is especially true with respect to published material on the art and science of management, which I have come to regard as a rather accurate description of the duties and responsibilities of a professional executive.

Some writers comment upon a new breed of executives, who must possess knowledge and skills not even recognized a quarter century ago. Development of so-called scientific management is receiving attention by a foundation in South Africa. Publicity regarding this effort received more than my usual cursory examination; I now feel that a book on the subject is not necessary. My own beliefs and recommendations can be distilled into three paragraphs.

LEADERSHIP is defined as that ingredient of personality which causes men to follow, and is often described as rare. I do not agree that it is scarce. Practically all—both men and women known to me—possess it in varying degrees. It develops through exercise and becomes abundant when encouraged. Business executives must have it in full measure, but theirs is no monopoly. Teachers, preachers, welfare workers and others are likely to be better leaders in their respective fields than many industry managers would be.

DESIRE TO BE a business manager must precede by some time the decision to become one. Some of the best leaders I know have other careers as their goals. This is not because they wish to avoid hard work which includes creative thinking, the most difficult and tiring of all efforts. Lack of desire is by nature more prevalent in women than in men. We men should be thankful for this further difference in the sexes.

KNOWLEDGE is acquired after we acknowledge that we learn everything from others whether it is in talking, table manners, or managing a business enterprise. To learn from others involves observation, emulation, reading, and listening. Specialization in learning requires both education and experience. Knowing people is a must. Restricting accepting employment yourself or hiring assistants until you recognize a definable opportunity for development and advancement for the person accepting the challenge. Thereafter be patient—never in a hurry.

HAVE A GOOD VACATION, Bob. Perhaps the foregoing paragraphs will be of general interest to at least a few readers. My concern for them prompted me to forego submittal of a poem.

Ambassador Without Money Bags

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Like Babe Ruth, whose home-run prowess sometimes distracted attention from his all-around skills, Lyndon B. Johnson is not to be rated as a boom-boom orator and gladiatorial specialist—to the detriment of his performance as a serious and effective politico-diplomat.

ON THE VICE President's recent swing around Northern Europe, his exuberant and masterful way with the crowds in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland and Iceland, was reflected in the prose style of the press coverage and the incidents chosen for stories. I can report these substantive accomplishments:

(1) THE VISITED countries, specifically Norway, were warned against any continued trade or transshipping of goods to Cuba. Johnson laid this injunction flat on the line. He carried President Kennedy's warnings that the only alternative to economic blockade of Castro would be war in the Western Hemisphere.

(2) ALL HEADS of the visited nations were given the Administration's thinking on After the Test Ban—What? LBJ said that the Russian policy had apparently changed last October when Khrushchev agreed on missile-removal in Cuba, from one of aggression to one of peaceful coexistence with the West. The Vice President called the Test Ban Treaty a "first step" toward non-belligerency, and frankly stated that the Administration would like to move toward a second, third and fourth steps. But he stressed, particularly for the NATO partners—Norway, Denmark and Iceland—that these preparations must be made from increased Allied readiness for self-defense. More NATO strength, he said. And no "euphoria."

(3) SINCE ALL OF THE visited countries are outside the European Common Market, Johnson was among fellow-sufferers from the Market's exclusive trade policies. LBJ said that last year's Trade Expansion Act made the U. S. A. an extremely liberal trader, and he asked for treatment in kind for American exports. He defended the American policy which requires that about 10 per cent of American goods be shipped in American bottoms, but he stressed to the maritime countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark—that nine-tenths of American exports could be moved by foreign ships.

(4) AS COAUTHOR of the Space Act and chairman of the Space Council, Johnson talked at great lengths about the peacetime significance of our $7.4 billion appropriations for over-all Space exploration and research. He was able to say with full truth that small, highly developed countries were not at any disadvantage in making use of Space technology now being developed in academic and industrial laboratories.

Johnson's trip was primarily a courtesy call on five countries which had never had one in kind. The Vice President called the Test Ban Treaty a "first step" toward non-belligerency, and frankly stated that the Administration would like to move toward a second, third and fourth steps. A Period Of Mutual Forbearance

WASHINGTON — Since the United States and the Soviet Union now have ratified the treaty partially limiting nuclear tests, there can be no denying the prevalence of a widespread belief that the world has witnessed a manifestation of the will to avoid war.

Here in Washington, the opposition to the treaty was significant and constructive and will serve as a continuous warning that skepticism as to the peaceful intentions of the Soviet has not been removed.

There are, however, some basic considerations which cannot be overlooked, and they tend to support the theory that the world may really be embarking on a course that will avoid a big war. Accidents, of course, can happen and little wars can suddenly provoke big ones, but the reasons why Moscow will seek to maintain peace for a long time to come currently outweigh any factors that might possibly bring on a war.

In the first place, few Americans realize the intensity of feeling of the Soviet people about war itself. The figures vary, but it has been estimated that 20 million persons were killed, seriously wounded, maimed or lost all their possessions in the holocaust of World War II. A people who have undergone such great suffering are more apprehensive about another war than are the American people, particularly since in the two world wars the territory of the United States was not bombed or devastated.

Public opinion in the Soviet Union today is unquestionably anti-war. Even a government which wields dictatorial power is constantly fearful of an internal uprising. It is recalled that the Bolsheviks in 1917 had no organized military force but that the Czar's army itself revolted. Every dictator remembers how quickly the uprising swept an autocratic government out of power overnight.

EVER SINCE 1917 the Russians have been fearful of war. In the 1920's, Russian foreign policy was geared to war prevention. In the 1930's, Russia's diplomatic policy was to stay out of entangling alliances. Yet, when war was imminent in 1939 Stalin did make a pact with Hitler, but the basic purpose was to stay out of the war and profit afterward by the disruption of the countries that did go to war. By 1941 the Russians nevertheless had to enter World War II to defend themselves against Hitler's attack.

TODAY, the passion of the Soviet scientists to gain superiority for the Soviets in the nuclear field has probably not abated, but Nikita Khrushchev is too smart a politician to believe that he could stay in power if he led his people to the brink of nuclear war. He knows that the allegedly high purposes of the Communist ideology which he espoused could lose popular support if the economic life of the country is impaired.

Even with the best of intentions, however, the Khrushchev regime could bring on a war. For the Soviets are playing with fire all over the world. Billions of dollars that could be spent for really productive purposes are being used up in the clandestine operations of the cold war in Africa, in Southeast Asia and in Cuba and in other Latin American countries.

MAYBE THE PRESIDENT'S forceful stand in Cuba last year has left in the Kremlin an impression that the United States will not necessarily stand aside if there is a serious act of aggression which could lead to nuclear war. Theoretically, the United States will not strike the "first blow," but some military men differ on this point and say that a deterrent action may have to be taken somehow in an emergency to intercept a "first blow." This makes bluffing by Khrushchev a perilous adventure.

THIS WILL NOT satisfy the captive peoples in Eastern Europe or peoples inside the Soviet Union. It is bound eventually to bring challenges and some day revolutions. But, at the moment, it does look as if the swiftness of a possible nuclear war, plus the tremendous expense of big armament, is producing a period of mutual forbearance. It may not be accurately described as "peace" but more realistically as an avoidance of war.

Windmill, Or No, Neilan Battles On

WASHINGTON—There's a lion in the streets and his name is Edwin P. Neilan.

While he has been president of the United States Chamber of Commerce less than five months, Neilan has stirred more of an uproar than the staid Chamber has heard in many years. He says he is going right on regardless of how heavy the barrage of brickbats aimed at him by Congress.

THE ROAR of the Chamber against government is so familiar a sound that it has come to be taken for granted. What is new about Neilan is that he seems to be genuinely shocked at the iniquities of big federal spending and its effect on the vote-getting process. And he reacted with hurt surprise when leading members of Congress attacked him for his initial blast.

That was his National Press Club speech in which he said that vote buying and selling in this country was infinitely more immoral than Britain's call girl and security scandal. Apparently it had not occurred to this Delaware banker that he would be denounced for such a sweeping accusation. But the denunciations began on the floor of the Senate and the House, on the basis of advance texts, even before he had made the speech.

HIS SPEECH is to be reprinted in The Reader's Digest which will give it extensive additional circulation. And Neilan has been going around the country making the same charges and lecturing his audiences on the wickedness of congressional "bagmen" who grab for their share of spending in area redevelopment, accelerated public works and other federal programs.

Thus far Neilan has made only glancing references to the benefits that business gets from government in the form of huge cost-plus contracts in defense and space. This type of spending is on a far larger scale and a pattern has grown up in the Department of Defense and the Space agency of giving senators and congressmen the right to make the first announcement of new contracts going to their areas.

EVEN WHEN HE spoke in Seattle, Wash., one of the principal beneficiaries of defense contracts, Neilan made only a passing reference to the cushion of defense contracts supporting a sizable segment of American industry. But he says he intends in future speeches to tell business that it's time to end the subsidies and regain its independence.

Nor has he so far talked about what is perhaps not only the biggest federal grab bag but one that cuts directly across the authority of the states and local communities. This is the $41 billion federal highway program. The federal government pays for 90 per cent of the construction cost. For this carrot, however, states and cities surrender the right to say how and where their highways will be built. The program has the backing of autos, oil and cement, which is a powerful chunk of private industry.

NEILAN IS SPEAKING next week to the Defense Transportation Industry convention in Chicago. This offers, as he is well aware, a splendid opportunity to talk about the dependence of industry on vast defense spending.

A novelty in the Neilan approach is the way he bends over backward to be fair. In his Seattle speech he said, almost wistfully, "Although I am imprecisely new in Washington I have the impression that things today are not far different than they were when the Republicans were in power."

AS HE NOTED in his first attack, the constant demands on members of Congress from back home, coming both from state and city governments and from industry, take more and more of the lawmaker's attention. He has less and less time, said Neilan, to give to our real national interests and the national problems involved.

As the tourist to Washington discovered from a visit to the Capitol, only on rare occasions are there more than a scattering of members on the floor of either house. You can be sure a number of the absentees are scouting around the agencies, as likely as not on the prompting of the Chamber of Commerce back home, to nail down funds for a new sewer system or a defense plant.

THIS MAY BE A BATTLE against the windmills by a Don Quixote come at a late hour to the full knowledge of the power of a centralized government. Much of the Neilan target area is the old familiar one covering all government spending and invoking the familiar fetish of a balanced budget. But, windmills or no, the battler shows no signs of calling it off.

Billy Graham

Why pray to God to change events if everything that happens is meant to be?

H. B.
Who said that everything happens just as it was meant to be? This is not according to the Bible; and if unscriptural, it is untrue. God was grieved when Adam sinned and walked sadly out of his garden of bliss. If God was grieved, then it certainly follows that He did not plan it that way.

God is all-powerful, that is true. But what we often forget is that God also gave man great power: the power of good and evil. That is to say, He gave man the power of choice. Adam could have overcome his temptation. He had the capacity to triumph over evil, but he failed in the crucial test. We see sin and evil all around us: immorality, greed, lying, stealing, profanity, and all the rest. But God did not ordain that men should yield to these sins. They do it deliberately, by choice—in defiance of God's law and commands.

Just as Adam made an unwise choice and suffered the subsequent consequences, men today are making wrong choices and are paying in kind for their deeds. But the "good news" is that God, through Christ, has given men the power to choose good rather than evil, light instead of darkness, and life instead of death. Things in the world are certainly not as they were meant to be. But if men would take seriously the claims of Christ they could be.

Avoid X-Rays In Early Months Of Pregnancy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: You recently wrote that X-ray could endanger a baby in the first three or four months of pregnancy. I was pregnant just a few days when I had several X-rays taken. I am very much concerned. The doctor X-rayed my gall bladder and lower part of my stomach. —MRS. L. K.

I included a brief note about this not so long ago, but quite a few letters have since arrived, about like the foregoing one, and perhaps we'd better discuss this further.

First of all, maybe no harm came from the X-rays. Let's say probably there was no harm. For Mrs. L. K. and for all the others who wrote to me, the X-rays were not of the pelvic area, but were of the chest, stomach, gall bladder.

The question is not whether the pregnant mother - to - be had X-rays, but whether they reached the cell, the fertilized ovum, which is the beginning of the baby. Assuming that the ovum was not penetrated by the rays, then we can stop worrying.

Let's suppose, however, that X-rays should still be made, but he will take extra care to be sure that the lower abdomen will not be exposed. This is a problem which developing life. These mutations can occur in humans and in plants. Sometimes the change is for the better; more often it is harmful. Sometimes the change, while indicating a difference, may be unimportant.

After the A-bombs of Nagasaki and Hiroshima, there was speculation that unborn children would be all sorts of monsters. This did not, however, prove to be the case. There were some mutations, but not as numerous, and by no means as serious, as had been predicted.

Therefore I say to women who, unknowingly, have had X-rays early in pregnancy, don't get too upset over an exposure of perhaps one-tenth of a second, which is tiny compared to the total-body radiation caused by the A-bombs in Japan.

It's a matter of fractions, percentages, and chance. Let's "play the percentages." It is safer to avoid X-ray exposure in the early months of pregnancy. If, in the few days before having an X-ray, a woman believes she may be pregnant, she should tell her doctor. He may, depending on circumstances, decide that the X-rays should still be made, but he will take extra care to be sure that the lower abdomen will not be exposed. This is a problem which developing life. It is not—NOT—one which warrants the worry expressed in the letters that have reached me of late.

Dear Dr. Molner: My wife and I have been using powdered garlic for flavoring foods. I have even used it right out of the shaker in small amounts without the food.

Does such garlic aggravate high blood pressure?—A. A.

No. It is a condiment, a seasoning or flavoring, and not a medicine. It neither aggravates high blood pressure, nor, as some used to think, relieve it.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting my booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader-mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Evidence Piles Up For Liquor Board

By M. A. WEBB

If a motorist with more than a fifth of liquor, or more than a case of beer per person in his automobile is caught with it, Texas liquor laws say it indicates evidence that he has it for the purpose of sale. The Big Spring office of the Liquor Control Board has a large amount of such evidence in its storerooms.

"We don't get as much liquor through confiscation as we did before," neighboring areas went "wet," C. B. Arnold, district supervisor, said. "Our biggest problem now is that it is all over the state, is minors in possession or consuming it. A look at the monthly reports put out by the state office shows this to be as big a problem as all others combined."

The August report showed more than 440 such cases handled by Liquor Control Board agents in Texas for that month. Consuming in public places during prohibited hours ran next highest with 138 cases in August. Sale and delivery during prohibited hours showed 12 cases, sales to minors 13 cases, and sale without a license, seven. Possession and sale of untaxed liquor resulted in three arrests in August.

"We once had a lot of trouble with bootleggers in the 20-county district we cover," Arnold said. "Since such places as Stamford and Impact voted 'wet,' we don't have so many. There are a few in Scurry, Mitchell and Dawson counties."

"One of the biggest hauls made in a long time was about a year ago when we wound up with a truck, trailer, and 950 cases of liquor," he continued. "We sold the truck and placed the money in escrow, pending outcome of the case now before the Texas Supreme Court. The trailer is still impounded, and the liquor is in a bonded warehouse. The truck and driver were not carrying the proper invoices showing the contents, point of origin, and destination of the load."

When cases are settled, the

A storeroom used by the Liquor Control Board in Big Spring sports this copper and stainless steel "still" captured in Pecos County. Surrounding the illegal apparatus is a sizable stock of confiscated liquors and beer. Most of the stock came from one place and is being held pending the outcome of litigation.

Confiscated liquor is either destroyed, or sold by bid to a properly licensed dealer.

One comparatively small storage room used by the Big Spring office now holds about $3,500 worth of confiscated liquor and beverages. Besides this, there is a small "still" confiscated in Pecos County.

"There are not many of these any more," Arnold said. "We hap-

Commercials Not All Gold, Says Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals says on television commercials "all that glitters is not gold."

So saying, the court has ruled that the Federal Trade Commission should aim its attacks at the truth of television commercial statements rather than the reality of the vision.

The FTC should focus on the misrepresentation of attributes rather than on substitution of a simulated article for the genuine article, the court said Friday.

Judge John Minor Wisdom wrote:

"Everyone knows that on TV all that glitters is not gold. On a black and white screen, blue looks white; the lily must be painted; coffee looks like mud."

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Airport Activity Is Slow, But Several Are Flying

By M. A. WEBB

Business around Howard County Airport has been slow this week. In spite of the good weather, Howard Loyd, co-owner of Big Spring Aircraft, Inc., said, "It is just one of those weeks."

Robert Lebkowsky got his private license last Friday and is now "one of the boys" around the airport. Another was on a check ride Thursday. Loyd said Lebkowsky got part of his training in an approved school and received his license in only 38 hours total flying time.

Among those flying on trips this week were Dr. P. W. Malone and Lester Morton, in two airplanes, going to Norman, Okla.; the Big Spring City Commission and other officials flying to Austin Wednesday for a meeting before the highway commission on improving and re-routing Marcy Drive (FM 700) from US 87 south to US 80 West. The group made the trip in one of the big Cessna airplanes.

A move is on foot, Loyd said, to get the All-Texas Air Tour to visit Howard County Airport and Big Spring next year. The group of flyers spent the night here in 1960. There is usually a group of pilots and airplanes who take their annual vacation each year just to get in on the tour, and they come from all over the United States and Mexico. The 18th annual All-Texas Air Tour is scheduled to leave Temple this year on Oct. 5, and end the tour at Victoria Oct. 12.

The pre-flight get-together will be held in Temple the night before the tour begins. The tour will include regular stop-overs at interesting places this year, including a bull fight in Mexico during the overnight stop at McAllen; a trip through Carlsbad Caverns, San Jacinto Battle Grounds and the Battleship Texas, and others.

The route, after it leaves Temple, and stopovers will be: Corpus Christi, Harlingen, McAllen (overnight), Mercedes, Alice, Laredo (overnight), Eagle Pass, Ozona, Fort Stockton, Marfa, Carlsbad (overnight), Brownfield, Plainview, Pampa (overnight), Quanah, Olney, Breckenridge, Mineral Wells, Fort Worth (Meacham), Dallas (overnight), Sulphur Springs, Texas, Kilgore-Longview, Palestine, Crockett, Nacogdoches (overnight), Conroe, Baytown (overnight), Galveston, Lake Jackson, Rosenberg, Palacios, and to Victoria for the end.

"There is some talk of several Big Spring pilots joining the tour for at least a part of the time," Loyd said. "Most of them don't have the time for the entire trip, but it will help get the tour here for an overnight stop next year."

Golfers may be interested in the second annual McAllen International Fly-In Golf Tournament Oct. 31-Nov. 2. The McAllen airport runway parallels the golf course. The OMNI, 109.8 is on the golf course.

Open House Is Set Today In Highland South

Another beautiful new home in Highland South goes on display today at 1 p.m. with an open house to be held at 2904 MacAuslan.

Clyde Brown, builder, will have personnel on hand until 6 p.m. to show visitors through the quality three-bedroom home. The house can be reached by traveling on Scott Drive to its intersection with MacAuslan.

Situated on a lot with a 150-foot front, the house features a view of the Cosden Oil and Chemical Refinery and of the city. Its exterior is of beige brick veneer, with a gas light decorating the front.

A white color scheme is followed throughout, with touches of color in the two of the 2 1/2 baths. The bathrooms are tiled to four feet for added protection and to facilitate maintenance.

Dining room and living room are formal, with nylon carpeting throughout the house. The family room has a double fireplace and ash paneling is used in the kitchen and family room. The dining room contains a built-in china cabinet.

The rear of the house opens to a large patio porch. The double garage can be opened electrically from inside the car. There is a circle drive in front of the house. A washer and utility room is included.

This is one of many homes for luxurious living built by Brown in Big Spring during the past two years. Brown has built about one-third of the homes in Highland South.

Evans Named CC President

LAMESA (SC) — Ray C. Evans has been named president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, replacing R. B. Snell.

Also elected to board offices were George D. Norman Jr. and Gene D. Adams as vice president and treasurer, respectively. The two assume posts being vacated by Bill Beeson and Dave Knapp. New directors include Walter Buckel, Perry Roberts, Charles Bruton, Paul Gentry and Beecher McCormick. Holdover directors are Bill David, Donnell Echois, Evans, Adams, Norman, Knapp, Henry Norris, Hal Boyd, Skeet Noret and Buddy White.

The new slate will officially assume leadership of the chamber at the annual banquet next month. Featured speaker will be Harry W. Clark, executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission, Austin.

FINALLY MEETS DAUGHTERS

Long Wait Ends For Father

By SAM BLACKBURN
"I would have known him if I had met him on a street. He looks so much like my brother," declared Mrs. Ruby Baggett, Muscle Shoals, Ala. She met her father, R. L. Johnson, retired railroader of Sand Springs, a few days ago for the first time in 39 years. "I was only five when dad left but I remember him, and my brother James has grown to look very much like his father."

"I don't guess I'd have known her or her sister, Marcille," Johnson concedes. "Marcille was only three when I saw her last and Ruby just five. Both of them have changed an awful lot since then."

Road Projects Are Approved

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Highway Commission gave approval to the spending of $1.9 million for land purchases, construction projects and urban transportation studies of four metropolitan areas.

The $150,000 studies, to be carried out in Galveston-Texas City, San Antonio, Austin and Waco, will provide information on routing and design of freeways and arterial streets.

Other projects include, by counties: Rumsels—Designated 7.8 miles of U.S. 83 from Hatchell to the junction of Texas 158 as a farm road; designed one mile of old U.S. 83 from the end of Texas 158 to U.S. 67 and 83 as Texas 158; extended FM 382 from the old location of U.S. 67 to the new location of U.S. 67; cancelled designation as a state highway the portion of U.S. 67 supplanted by the new routes.

Panola—Right of way purchase for 4.5-mile U.S. 39 bypass route around east side of Carthage, $130,000.

Carson—Construction of a 1.4-mile street section on U.S. 60 in White Deer, to be approved by White Deer.

Coleman—Right of way purchase for relocation of U.S. 84 and 283 at Coleman, $30,000.

was with Mrs. Baggett for the reunion here with their long-missing father. However, she has gone back to Texas City where her husband is a painter.

The Johnsons (Johnson remarried in 1950) and Mrs. Baggett are leaving this week for a trip to Muscle Shoals. While there they will visit Sgt. James B. Johnson, now a 47-year-old veteran Army career man at Fort Gordon, Ga. It will be a new test to see if the memory of the sergeant can span 39 years and if he will recognize his father, James, as Mrs. Baggett said, was eight at the time of the separation.

"Not only have I been reunited with my children," gloated Johnson. "But I also find out I got a bunch of grandchildren and even some great-grandchildren."

The story began June 19, 1924. A young farmer and his wife were having domestic troubles in Rogerville, Ala. The disagreement was climaxed by a divorce. The mother was granted custody of the couple's three minor children.

LEFT ALABAMA
The young farmer, now a 68-year-old retired railroader, left Alabama as soon as the decree was issued. He drifted westward to Texarkana. His name was R. L. Johnson.

"The day dad and mother were divorced was the last time that any of us children saw him until last week," explained Mrs. Baggett. "When I knocked on the door and he opened it to welcome me was the first personal contact we had in nearly 40 years."

Johnson farmed for a while in Texarkana. He lost touch with his family.

"We would hear of him from time to time," the daughter said, "but no one bothered, it seems, to tell him anything about us. It almost seems there was some sort of conspiracy to keep him from contacting any of us."

A job opened for Johnson on the Kansas City Southern railroad. After seven years, he shifted to the Texas and Pacific. He continued with that line until his retirement two and a half years ago.

NOT A WORD
"I never heard a word from them (the children) in all those years," Johnson recalls. "I didn't hear of my former wife's death in 1947 nor about my son making a career in the Army."

Johnson remarried after he came to Big Spring Jan. 11, 1950. They have no children but Mrs. Johnson has a son by another marriage who is in Germany with the U. S. Army.

"My husband died in January of this year," said Mrs. Baggett. "Soon after that, I happened to hear that my dad was living in Sand Springs. I wrote him a letter and he answered. Then the idea of coming to see him began to grow in my mind. My sister, Marcille lived in Texas City," so I wrote her.

"Finally, things worked out so I could get away. I just bought a ticket by air to Big Spring and here I am."

Mrs. Brown, the younger daughter, joined her here for a brief stay but had to return to Texas City.

Since Johnson retired, he and Mrs. Johnson have kept busy on the small suburban tract they rent.

"I raised 3,800 pounds of okra on that little patch this summer," Johnson proudly related. He pointed out the window to a small area. "I sold every pound to food stores in town."

PEANUTS
"Now I am harvesting my peanut crop. I'll have about 40 bushels, I think. I've already been promised a market for the lot."

What will Johnson do about his miniature farm while he is in Alabama and Georgia making the acquaintance of a son he has not seen for nearly two score years and seeing for the first time some of his numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren?

"Oh," explains Johnson, "That's all worked out. Our landlord, Charles Bruton, is going to do that for us. Bruton's the best landlord anyone ever had. Why, you know what he did? When I retired and it looked like I might have to move, he and his wife just hauled off and built this house for us and we stayed right on. He's the best."

The Johnsons will be gone about three weeks on their junket to Alabama.

"We're on our way as soon as I get a pass from the railroad. My pass is good in Texas but I need one for the rest of the trip," Johnson said.

Reactor To Be Destroyed In Nuclear Test Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic Energy Commission scientists are planning the deliberate destruction of a nuclear reactor.

It will be a realistic test simulating what might happen if a rocket-carried reactor plunged into the sea after a launching failure.

The test is slated for sometime in a water tank inside a building on the Idaho desert. It will help determine whether the world's first satellite with a nuclear reactor to power its instruments can be launched into orbit in 1964 as tentatively planned, without fear of any hazard to the public.

The satellite, an Air Force spacecraft, is designed to orbit the earth for a year, with its instruments powered by a SNAP-10S nuclear reactor under development by the AEC. The reactor, with its auxiliary equipment, would weigh about 750 pounds, and generate 500 watts of electricity.

But the AEC wants first to determine what would happen to the spacecraft reactor in the event of any one of several "conceivable, though unlikely" accidents which might befall the device during launch or shortly after it had left the launching pad—with the possible release of radioactive fission products. Specifically, the commission wants to assure against any hazard to the rocketeers or the general public.

The water-immersion destruction test will be designed to simulate what is expected to happen if such a reactor should fail to reach orbit and plunge into the ocean.

The AEC, in its announcement of the forthcoming tests, assured that they will be conducted without hazard to the general public or to employees at the testing station.

Water Board's Budget Shows Sharp Increase

Anticipated revenues will be up nearly one-third in the 1964 operating budget adopted here Saturday by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Operational expenses will be up less than two per cent, but debt service requirements will jump by 75 per cent.

The main cause of the sharp fluctuations is the Sun Oil Company water-flood project which the District took on this year by issuing $2,750,000 in revenue bonds. The project is self supporting and will not in any way affect water rates to the member cities. In the long run, however, it is designed to open the way to a second major reservoir, something that will claim top priority in CRMWD's 1964 program.

In adopting the recommendations of the budget committee, the board approved a budget which calls for anticipated revenues of $2,606,398 including $2,547,723 from sale of water and $58,675 from recreational facilities and rental of lots. All of the $833,657 increase will be derived from sale of water.

INCREASE SHOWN
Operational expenditures are pegged at $803,815, up $13,465 from this year's budget. Appropriations included are: source of supply expense $104,652 (down $7,848), pumping expense $311,290 (up $28,473), administrative and general expense $128,583 (up $3,650), recreational expense $39,290 (down

$8,710) and capital expenditures $20,000 (down $2,100). Interest charges of $339,819 will be up by $37,735. The big jump comes in bond retirement, with $970,000 slated for payment during the year, a gain of $520,000. The bulk of it is principal on 1963 bonds.

At the end of 1964 the district is to have $492,764 available for transfer to various funds under the trust indenture. Of this, $328,509 will go to the retirement fund to cut off tail end bonds; $164,255 will be transferred to the improvement and extension funds, $20,812 more than this year.

Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder will pay an estimated $1,483,661 for water, or $39,421 more than this year. Big Spring, because of a greater percentage consumption of the total than the previous year, is expected to pay $429,386, up $30,746 over this year.

Snyder, largely because the Rotan Water District now draws on Snyder for its municipal supply will pay $108,915, or $10,368 more. Odessa is due to pay $945,390, or about $1,690 less than this year due to a slight decrease in its percentage of the total use.

Test Holes To Be Drilled On Coke County Dam Site

Test holes will be drilled soon on a potential dam site on the Colorado River in central Coke County. E. V. Spense, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, told the board Saturday.

Studies have been made on a site in southern Mitchell County, about a mile north of the Coke County line. Some foundation problems have been encountered in an upper site and the new tests will be to furnish information on a possible alternate site. Charles Perry, Odessa, president, said the board will weigh all factors at length before reaching a decision on a dam location.

The board approved a contract involving a renegotiated rate with Texas Gulf Producing Company, increasing its contract quantity up to 300,000 gallons per day for its plant east of Odessa.

An appropriation of $6,500 from the recreational fund was passed for construction of a cottage for a patrolman - caretaker at Lake J. B. Thomas. Directors authorized the preparation of a map of the district's facilities. They also authorized release of two water wells in Snyder, one to be abandoned, the other to be pledged as an emergency supply for the Civil Defense unit.

Robert W. Currie, Big Spring, was named a vice president succeeding the late R. L. Cook, who was memorialized in a resolution. Dr. John Blum Snyder, is the other vice president.

Three Killed In East Texas Crash

KILGORE, Tex. (AP)—A collision of two automobiles killed three persons Saturday mid-way between Kilgore and Henderson.

Killed were Mrs. Charles Reeves and her small daughter, Carlen Sue, of Route 1, Henderson, and Albert Dean Seelbach of Nacogdoches.

Only the three persons were involved in the crash, which occurred at an intersection of a farm road and U. S. 259. The farm road leads to the Reeves home.

Japanese Begin Cholera Patrol

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese coast guard today deployed a cordon of 34 patrol ships in the Korean Strait to prevent the spread of the South Korean cholera epidemic to Japan.

The Maritime Safety Board strung out 40 vessels at intervals of about six miles on a 280 mile sea front to intercept and board ships coming from Korea. Another 13 ships were placed on patrol in front and to the rear of this line.

Wheat Deal Would Be Boon For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government Soviet experts are advising that a Kremlin decision to buy American wheat would give the United States a valuable propaganda weapon in the ideological war with the Reds.

So far, the advantages of such possible sales have been described chiefly in economic terms—disposal of costly surpluses and the acquisition of dollars to help relieve the troublesome foreign exchange problem.

But administration Russian experts also are urging that the United States be prepared to take prompt and full advantage of the propaganda weapon if the Communists actually come to this country for grain.

They say a wheat sale should be held up before the world alongside previous Soviet claims that communism offers a system that outshines this country's free enterprise system.

These experts would use the Voice of America to spread the word to the four corners of the world that the Reds had to turn to this country for food.

American grain traders have reported that Soviet representatives in Ottawa, Canada, have indicated that they want U.S. wheat. But American officials have said no Communist offers have been presented as yet, either directly or through the trade.

These reports followed Soviet purchase last week of $500 million worth of Canadian wheat. The administration is looking into the matter to determine a policy for handling any Soviet request for wheat. This country's subsidized export price. The Soviets are not now eligible for this price.

The government's Soviet authorities believe that a Red purchase of American wheat—if properly and adequately drawn to the attention of the world's uncommitted nations—could well help swing future economic and political development in these countries toward the West and away from communism.

increase in their water requirements in the late-East Howard Oil Field and are expected to spend $150,220, an increase of $50,064.

Texas Gulf Producing Company also is increasing its demands for water and is to spend $33,146, a gain of $20,532. Sharon Ridge will have been reimbursed during 1964 for money advanced to construct its pipeline and will pay about $75,330, or $10,000 more than this year.

Because some new rural users have been added on the new line from Lake J. B. Thomas to Sun Oil in northern Coke County, some $3,000 more is expected from this source.

SUPPLY EXPENSE
Source of supply expense of $104,652 will represent a decrease of $7,848 due principally to a reduction in electric power in water well fields operated by the District. With the increased load due to the Sun contract and boosted demands by three other oil units, pumping expense will be up by $28,473 and will amount to $511,290.

Administrative and general expense of $128,583 will be up by $3,650 and practically all of this is increased supplies and retirement benefits. Recreational expense of $39,290 will be $7,810 below current appropriations, with $2,000 coming off of repairs, $3,250 in building and area maintenance, $2,500 in construction, and $2,100 less in miscellaneous expense.

LESS PAYROLL
One unique feature of the new budget is that the total payroll, after adding a junior electrical engineer to the staff, will be $245,735 (including $1,000 more to retirement benefits), or $6,971 less than the current budget.

Rates will be established in January after consumption figures for this year are known. City revenue estimates in the budget are predicated on rates indicated by the member cities.

City rates are fixed by a complicated formula which takes into consideration the city's percentage of the total consumption, and, to some degree, the distance of the member cities from Lake J. B. Thomas. These rates are modified by applying part of the returns from the sale of surplus water to maintain required coverage under the trust indenture, thus relieving the member cities of part of this responsibility.

RARE BANK NOTES TO BE DISPLAYED HERE
Big Spring Coin Club Show, Oct. 12-13, will feature two important coin displays from the Chase National Bank of Manhattan

Ancient Coin Collection To Be Shown During Show

A rare collection of ancient coins—including one of the first silver coins to be minted—and an equally interesting display of unusual old bank notes will be two of the features of the second annual Big Spring Coin Club Show, Oct. 12 and 13. The show, open to the public, will be in the Settles Ball Room.

The two displays are being obtained for the club by the First National Bank from the money museum of the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York. The first coin ever to be struck was sometime around 700 B. C. on the island of Aegina. The coins, one of which will be on hand here for the club show, depict a turtle. This was the symbol of Aphrodite, the goddess of the island.

No estimate has been made on the total value of the coins which will be shown during the show. In addition to the displays and exhibits, there will be at least 40 dealers from as far away as California here with huge stocks of rare coins to sell. To safeguard this treasure of silver, copper and gold, the club has arranged with the police department to have a policeman on duty throughout the show.

Mrs. Dale Smith, general chairman of the show, said that indications are this year's show will be even better than last year's successful effort. The local club has grown from around 80 members at the time the first show was staged to more than 200 members now.

"You don't have to be a collector to find a coin display interesting," W. E. Wozencraft, in charge of the exhibits, pointed out. "The exhibits will be educational and exciting. Some of the coins on display are so rare that it is doubtful if the average person will ever have another opportunity to see them."

A big feature of the show, in addition to the displays and the dealers' tables, will be a mammoth coin auction to be directed by W. A. Kenney M. L. Kirby, an active club member, will direct the "bourse." In coin collector language, the bourse is the sale and exchange of rare coins.

UT Expanding Medic School

AUSTIN (AP)—University of Texas regents announced Saturday a pledge of $3.8 million payable over the next five years for support of an expansion program of the Galveston medical branch.

Chairman W. W. Heath said the pledge came from Sealy and Smith Foundation of Galveston.

The estimated cost of the expansion program, authorized by the board in regular session, is $8.7 million. It will include new construction, remodeling and land purchase.

Heath said the Sealy and Smith Foundation grant support is directly related to hospital, or patient care, activity as contrasted with purely teaching activity. Additional grants will be sought in support of this program as well as further development of the medical branch, he said.

Action Delayed On Nursing Home Probe

AUSTIN (AP)—A five man House Investigating Committee postponed Saturday making a decision on whether to launch a full scale probe of Texas nursing home laws.

The committee said, however, preliminary investigation of a companion problem, so-called double contracting in new home sales, showed a need for correction. The group ordered the Texas Legislative Council to prepare a measure for the 1965 Legislature that would "eliminate this apparent vacancy in the law."

Saturday's session followed testimony Friday from five witnesses.

Two Stantonites Quit Council Posts

STANTON—Although it is now functioning with two less members, one of whom is the mayor, the Stanton City Council is going ahead with a "business as usual" policy at the city.

Mayor S. W. Wheeler and City Councilman Sam Martin have resigned from their posts and their resignations have been accepted. The resignations were laid before the council Tuesday night at a called meeting.

The four remaining council members, Rufus Tom, Bob Deavenport, Jimmy Stallings and John Roueche—whose resignations have been on file for some months subject to their replacement by elected successors—accepted the resignations of the mayor and Martin. John Roueche was designated to serve as mayor pro tem.

TO PICKETT

Wheeler submitted his resignation originally to County Attorney Roy Pickett. Pickett declined to accept the resignation advising the mayor to lay his request before the council which Pickett pointed out were still in office and duly empowered to serve.

At an election some weeks ago, the four present commissioners were replaced by four other council nominees but a question was raised as to the validity of the vote. This kept the four new council members from qualifying and the four resigned members continued in office. Their resignations had been made effective on the date their successors had been legally seated at the council table.

A member of the council said a special meeting is set Monday night to take action on some paving matters and that the regular meeting will be Tuesday night.

A quorum of the council members still remains on the board and the members feel they can and should go ahead with the business of the city. No announcement was made as to what might be done to fill the vacancies posed by Wheeler's and Martin's resignations.

TRANSIENTS

The present councilmen, who feel they are occupying their own seats on a strictly transient basis since their own resignations are on file, will probably make no effort to fill the two posts.

Meantime, the protest against the election returns at which their successors were named and at which the voters of Stanton unofficially went on record as favoring a continuation of the Urban Renewal Program in the city, has resulted in impounding the ballots and a delay in certifying election returns.

The probability loomed in Stanton that no development to unsharpen the elective difficulties will be possible before Oct. 7. On that date, a Martin County grand jury will be seated. It is possible the grand jury may want to look into the vote tangle. The affidavit, which led County Attorney Pickett to have the ballots impounded, alleged election irregularities. The principal charge was that persons voted who did not have poll tax receipts. The grand jury, if it so desires, can call for the ballots and examine them.

Until some action is taken on the election protest, the present council members proposed to maintain a status quo situation in the city.

STILL A QUORUM

"We are still members of the council, we constitute a quorum even after the mayor's and Martin's resignation, and we will continue to function in the routine operation of the city," said one member.

The future of the Urban Renewal Program, which precipitated the entire state of municipal confusion, will have to be determined when a new city council is seated. The vote at which the program won an endorsement from a majority of the voters, (even though its validity was attacked) was only an expression of sentiment. The decision on whether to continue the program or to abandon it is a matter which will have to be decided by the city council members.

Governor Calls Special Election

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally called a special election Saturday for Nov. 9 to select a successor for Rep. Homer Thornberry.

Thornberry resigned from Congress effective Dec. 20.

The election will coincide with the voting on four proposed changes in the State Constitution. Filing deadline for candidates is midnight Oct. 9. A filing fee of $500 is required. There will be no party designation on the ballot because it is a special election. In event no candidate gets a majority, then the law requires a runoff election.

Connally said if a runoff is necessary, it could be held between Dec. 16 and Dec. 31.

Water Study Is Continuing For Dawson

LAMESA (SC)—The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce has received a project description or a detailed investigation of ground water sources in Dawson County from the Texas Water Commission. A cost estimate on the project is expected soon.

The outline was requested so it could be determined if a survey of this type would benefit the quest for additional underground water sources in Dawson County and if it would be economically feasible.

Results of such a survey would be presented in a published report containing an analytical discussion of the geology and hydrology relating to the occurrence and availability of water.

It would present information and data for use in obtaining maximum benefits from available water supplies and to provide a sound basis for programs of conservation, exploration and protection of the county's ground-water resources.

Principal emphasis will be placed on study of the Ogallala formation, which supplies most of the water now being pumped for irrigation, industrial and municipal use. Studies of other water-bearing sands—Triassic and Cretaceous age—will also be made.

The study will be chiefly to define ground water conditions. Another matter of concern in the investigation will be determination of areas where contamination is indicated.

Municipal, industrial and agricultural development, waste disposal practices and methods of well completion will be examined in these areas to determine the probable source of water-quality changes. The survey will not be done until the cost estimate is received and reviewed.

Scouts Can Earn Two New Badges

Two new merit badges are now available to Boy Scouts.

One, in Model Design and Building, is circled in green, has a yellow background, a silver aircraft, red auto, and blue boat. The second, Personal Finances, has not yet been described in literature received in Big Spring, but deals with earning, saving, and spending money.

Requirements to be published in a Boy Scout booklet, for the Model Design and Building badge, are:

Using a scale of "one inch equals one foot," showing side, top, front, and rear views, and incorporating "good design" principles, create your own design for one of the following: passenger-carrying vehicle; land vehicle, air or space vehicle; water vehicle.

Using the same scale, build and paint a three-dimensional model based on your design, using any durable material. Kit and assembled type models are not acceptable.

Demonstrate to your counselor that your completed project shows individual creativity in design, originality and practicality of ideas, and craftsmanship in construction.

So far none of the new badges are in Big Spring. Bill McRee, Scout executive, said. Full information on them has been slow in coming and no Scouts have indicated their readiness to begin work on activities leading to the awards.

Among those representing Cap Rock are Glenn Cantrell, president; Alfred J. Swartz, Raymond A. Pribila, D. W. McDonald and J. C. Sale, directors, and O. B. Bryan, manager, as well as Mrs. Cantrell, Mrs. Bryan and possibly some of the other wives.

Awards Announced To Honor Farmers, Ranchers

RENNER—Two Texas Farmers or ranchers are due for a crop of something green besides crops and pastures in 1964. They will receive the Hobitzelle Awards for the Advancement of Texas Rural Life during the Texas Research Foundation's awards dinner at Renner May 20, 1964.

Each will receive $5,000 in cash, a gold medal, and a scroll, in recognition of his contribution to the improvement of rural life during the period July 1, 1959 through July 1, 1963.

"Eligibility for nomination is open to any farmer or ranchman," Dr. C. L. Lundell, director of the foundation, said. "One will be a junior farmer or rancher not over 35 years of age, and the other a senior who has passed his 36th birthday."

Members of five state regional committees will search for the two men. Each committee is made up of the area vice president of the State Association of Soil Conservation districts, a resident official of the Young Farmers of America, an area supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, a district agent of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, an area conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, and an outstanding banker. All nominations must be submitted by Dec. 1, 1963.

The 1964 awards change a precedent of presenting them every two years. Winners of the 1963 awards were Bill Lane, Comanche County dairy-livestock farmer of Gustine, and Richard McAdoo Riley, Travis County dairyman of Del Valle.

The Hobitzelle Foundation was established in 1944 by Karl St. John Hobitzelle, Dallas philanthropist.

San Antonio Symphony Booked For January

Out of San Antonio, rich in Spanish and German cultural history, has come one of the great musical organizations of the country.

Although several musical groups existed over the years, it was not until 1939 that the symphony became a permanent fixture. Since then, its rise has become meteoric. Now it is considered one of the outstanding symphony orchestras in the nation.

Twice this colorful orchestra has come to Big Spring, both times proving to be exceptionally popular. Next Jan. 30, it will return for the first time in several years as one of the Big Spring Concert Association series. Other programs include the Broadway comedy, "Mary, Mary" (Oct. 21), Celeste Holm in "With Love and Laughter" (Nov. 11), the Midland-Odessa Choral, (March 85), the area's finest voices (March 10) and the famous piano duo of Ferrante & Teicher (March 21).

Dr. Max Reiter, fleeing from Nazi oppression, brought 34 years of European experience with him in symphonic and operatic fields when he came to San Antonio in 1939. Genius can't be still and soon he had a Symphony Society of San Antonio on its way. By its fourth season, it had developed into a fully-professional orchestra of 75 members. Dr. Victor Allesandro took over in 1950 after Dr. Reiter's death in mid-season and has continued as conductor.

Interestingly, Dr. Allesandro is a native of Waco and was reared for himself. He has been guest conductor for the NBC Symphony, the Minneapolis Symphony, the Boston Pops Orchestra and Symphony of the Italian Broadcasting Company.

Of the orchestra and Dr. Allesandro's direction, John Rosenfield of the Dallas News observed that "it was first class in all particulars." Arturo Toscanini said the orchestra gave "a fine performance, which is a thing that does not happen very often with famous orchestras and widely publicized conductors." Dimitri Mitropoulos said "the San Antonio Symphony can compete with any orchestra in this country and Europe," and Sr. Thomas Beecham said it is "among the few leading organizations of the country."

Always, the orchestra seeks to encourage interest in good music among the youngsters, and a matinee (not a part of the concert series) is scheduled here for Big Spring and area school children. Last year some 80,000 youngsters turned out for the many special children's matinees of the orchestra.

Texas Longhorns Maul Tech Raiders, 49-7

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Longhorns, Southwest Conference defending champions and fourth-ranked team in the nation, rolled over the Texas Tech Red Raiders 49-7 Saturday night.

The Longhorns held a 28-0 half-time lead and then, led by an 83-yard second half kickoff return by sophomore back Phil Harris, roared on for another 21 points.

Tech's only tally came on a Texas fumble on the Longhorns' 29-yard line with fullback Leo Lowery taking it over from one yard out after six plays.

Texas, fourth ranked coming into the game, ran almost at will against the Raiders. The Longhorns had to punt only twice.

Harris picked up the kickoff on his own four and carried it back to the Tech 11-yard line to set up the touchdown which put Texas ahead 34-0 after the intermission.

Tailback Tommy Ford took the pigskin in from one yard out after Harris' long gainer.

The victory was the most points a team under head coach Darrell Royal had ever scored and gave Royal his 50th victory two games deep in his seventh season with the Steers.

Ford twisted his way over from 18 yards out to give Texas its first score less than three minutes deep in the first period.

Texas took advantage of three intercepted passes in riddling the Tech defenders. Added to this was a stubborn Texas defense which held Tech to 76 yards total rushing and three first downs in the first half, with 71 of the yards coming on passes.

University of Texas fullback Ernie Koy (23) goes over from the one-foot line to score in the first quarter of the Steers' Southwest Conference opener with Texas Tech in Austin Saturday night.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Gary Lane whipped Missouri's Tigers on a 76-yard third quarter touchdown for a 7-6 intersectional football victory over Arkansas Saturday night.

Monroe Phelps sparked an awakened Missouri offense in the second half and the Tigers' big, experienced line stopped Arkansas cold. Lane set up the touchdown with a 25-yard pass to end Bud Abell to the Arkansas two.

The Razorbacks grabbed a touchdown the first time they got the ball on an 80-yard drive directed by junior quarterback Bill Gray. Gray heaved a 26-yard pass to tailback Jim Lindsey for the score.

Tom McKnelly's kick for extra point was short, and that was Arkansas' downfall. Missouri's Bill Leistritz kicked his extra point for the game-winner.

Leistritz missed two field goal attempts and McKnelly one. Aside from the two touchdown drives, neither team got inside the other's 20.

Arkansas was ranked eighth and favored by a touchdown, but Missouri coach Dan Devine apparently stung his Tigers into a rage during the halftime intermission.

Lane, who bootlegged and pitched out with the finesse of a senior, gained 48 yards rushing and 55 passing on four completions in eight tries. Phelps and Lindsey tied for ground gaining honors with 63 yards each.

Missouri's touchdown drive started from the Tiger 30 after an Arkansas punt. Lane tossed 13 yards to end John Sevcik to get things moving and the Tigers swept downfield in 10 plays.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Texas Christian, a six-point underdog, defeated Florida State 13-0 in a football game Saturday night played mostly in a driving rain.

The Horned Frogs scored midway in the first quarter on an intercepted pass and assured the victory with field goals in the third and fourth quarters.

Halfback Jim Fauver intercepted Florida State quarterback Steve Tensi's second pass of the evening on the Florida State 46-yard-line and dashed untouched to score the only touchdown with six minutes left in the first quarter. Fullback Jimmy McAteer kicked the extra point.

Texas Christian scored again in the third quarter after Tensi, star of Florida State's opening upset of Miami, fumbled on the FSU 48.

TCU drove to the Florida State eight with the help of a 13-yard pass from quarterback Gary Mills to end Lynn Morrison and McAteer booted the field goal.

In the last quarter, Texas Christian bulldied its way from its own 20-yard line to the FSU seven on a series of punts by quarterback Randy Howard and McAteer again booted for three points.

Florida State threatened only once late in the fourth quarter. The Seminoles pushed to the TCU 13 but at this point the powerful Frog line pushed the Seminoles back to the 20 and took possession.

LSU Shocked By Rice Owls

HOUSTON (AP)—Walter McReynolds, a 179-pound junior quarterback, maintained his pass-mastery over Louisiana State by throwing two touchdown passes Saturday night as his Rice University Owls upset the Tigers, 21-12, before a crowd of 64,000.

McReynolds' passes also set up the third Rice touchdown, that gave the Owls a 21-0 lead before the Tigers struck late behind a passing attack led by sophomore Pat Screen.

The defeat was registered in 105-degree heat before 39,345 sweating fans in Memorial Coliseum. It ended a 12-game winning streak for the Trojans, dating back to the final game of the 1961 season.

All of the Sooner scoring came in the first half, and they held off an exciting but belated Trojan challenge to one touchdown in the final quarter.

It was the first meeting in history between these two college powers—Southern Cal, the No. 1 rated team in the country, and Oklahoma, rated No. 3 in last week's Associated Press poll.

Quarterback Bobby Page and the aggressive Sooners took over on their own one after a Trojan punt in the first quarter. They traveled 99 yards — interrupted by an exchange of fumbles on successive plays at the Sooner 35 — and went on to score the opening touchdown.

Joe Don Looney scored from 19 yards out on a tricky double reverse that caught Southern Cal completely by surprise.

The Trojan fumble in this series was one of two that gave the ball to Oklahoma. The Sooners displayed a magnificent exhibition of ball control throughout the afternoon.

Southern Cal came back in the first quarter with a 67-yard thrust engineered by quarterback Pete Beathard. Fullback Ernie Pyle plunged 1 yard for the touchdown.

A bad pass from center cost them the extra point and the Trojans trailed 7-6.

Mighty Trojans Fall To Big Red, 17-12

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The powerful Sooners of Oklahoma defeated the national champions of the University of Southern California 17-12 Saturday with a magnificent and versatile attack that wrecked the Trojan defenses for most of the game.

Free Sailing Ahead For Albert

Albert Fierro (14), Big Spring ace quarterback — the Man with the Golden Arm — used his legs to pick up the Steers' first touchdown Friday night in Snyder. Fierro is shown completing a 14-yard and won about as they pleased, 23-6. The success blossomed Friday night before an estimated 6,000 fans in Tiger Field.

Albert Fierro overshadowed Snyder's celebrated and talented Jimmy Wilson as an aerialist, twice hitting Charley West on nifty touchdown heaves and scored Big Spring's first touchdown on a 14-yard rollout to the left two minutes deep in the second period.
The Longhorns, still undefeated after two games, picked off three of Wilson's passes and gave him a bad time in general.
An interception by Rickey Earle, occurring on the first play in the second quarter, set Big Spring's first touchdown drive in motion. Earle, who played a fine game, came down with the ball about the Steer 38 and returned to the Big Spring 42. The Longhorns cranked up and drove 58 yards in four plays for the tally, Fierro doing the honors at the end with the help of some fine blocking. Albert displayed a nimbleness he never before had shown on the run.

Charley West tried to boot the extra point but to no avail.
The Longhorns scored again with 3:54 to go in the half on a delayed pass from Fierro to West, good for 33 yards. West outdistanced a Snyder defensive at the last second to scoot in for the reception. That particular march went 85 yards in 11 plays and Baxter Moore, Dick Irons and Jimmy Nipp all helped in the overall plan. Big Spring got possession of the ball originally on a punt by Leslie Brown.

Earle tried to leg it into the end zone for the two extra points but was subordinated a yard away from the promised land.
Big Spring got its third TD with 6:26 to play in the half on a controversial pass after a pass interference call set up the tally.
John Hughes went down for one of Fierro's bombs at the Snyder 22 and probably would have made connections had he not been shoved. An alert official ruled interference. The decision cost Snyder 47 yards in the penalty.
Earle boomed to the 20. From that point, Fierro lifted a pass to West, who had possession of the ball as he sailed out of the end zones and then dropped it a split second later. A discussion among officials occurred before a touchdown was ruled.
Irons proceeded to bruise over for the two extra points and Big Spring's lead mounted to 20 points for the six points. The kick by Byas was good. The kicker by Byas was good. The kicker by Byas was good. The kicker by Byas was good.

Yanks, Dodgers Mark Time For Big Test

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The rich Yankee-Dodger World Series, a plush coast-to-coast production in the let age, will be revived Wednesday at Yankee Stadium with the gentleman in Yankee pinstripes in their familiar role as 7-5 favorites.
Whitey Ford, a record 10.5 performer in Series history, and Sandy Koufax, the 300-plus strikeout king of the majors, are sure to be the opening day starters. This will give the customers a chance to decide, at least for one day, the many arguments as to whether Ford can carry Koufax's glove or vice versa.
This eighth rematch of an old neighborhood rivalry that used to involve only a subway token, may produce the richest player pool of all, another chapter to prove that "them that has gets." If all goes well, a winner could pocket $12,000 and a loser at least $8,000.
The schedule, with a day off for travel after the second and fifth games of this best-of-seven series, make it possible for each manager to rely on only three starting pitchers. As four of the six are southpaws, this could be known as the year of the left-hander.
After the Wednesday paring of lefties Ford and Koufax, both Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees and Walter Alston of Los Angeles are expected to come back with another southpaw because Yankee Stadium's contours are designed for left-hand-led batters.

Al Downing, a young man of 22 brought up from the Richmond farm in June, probably will oppose Johnny Podres in the second game Thursday at New York. Podres, now 31, won fame in 1955 as a two-time winner when the Dodgers beat the Yanks for the first and only time in seven previous Series.
Jim Bouton, a 24-year-old refugee from the bullpen: who was moved up to starting duty in mid-May and became a 21-game winner, undoubtedly will face 6-foot-6 Don Drysdale as the manager switch to right-handers for the third game Saturday at Dodger Stadium in Chavez Ravine. Friday will be an open date for travel.
The schedule calls for the first two games at New York, a day off, the next three at Los Angeles, another day off and the last two back at New York. All this will end, of course, when one team wins four. Game time each day is 1 p.m. local time.

Everybody knows about the Dodgers, who they fought off the challenge of the San Francisco Giants and then polished off the charging St. Louis Cardinals three straight in mid-September. They clinched it Sept. 13.
Nobody ever did take out after the Yanks, when everybody expected them to be vulnerable because the loss of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris for most of the season. The junior varsity filled in neatly.
Both Mantle and Maris are supposed to be all set for the big series.
As usual the Yankee slugs have a home run edge over the opposition although they are practically the same in batting averages.
The Dodgers' bullpen may be a little better because of Ron Perranoski, a candidate for the most valuable player honors. Bob Miller also has done fine work on relief and as a fourth starter.
As usual in a Series, this figures to come down to pitching. Perhaps it will be the secondary men like Perranoski, Miller or Larry Sherry for the Dodgers or Stan Williams, Terry, Reniff or Hamilton for the Yanks. Best guess is that each club will rise or fall on Ford and Koufax.

DeeRoby Gartman made two splendid catches for the Steers. Coach Don Robbins saw fit to study the credentials of three quarterbacks. Gary Holleman filled in on occasions and Benny Kirkland was in for two or three plays near the end, at which time he showed good promise.
Rica Flores, Robert Goddett, Cove Conner and Thurman Randle—all the Big Spring linemen, as a matter of fact—gave a lot more than they took.
The Class AAA situation having been taken care of, the Steers can now look to the Wichita Falls menace the coming week and will be spurred by the revenge motive. The Coyotes had them one of their most humiliating defeats last year, 46-7.
Score by quarters:
Big Spring 0 12 8 3-23
Snyder 0 0 0 6-6

Pitt Panthers Lick Huskies Behind Junior

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Junior quarterback Fred Mazurek scored one touchdown, passed for another and made two clutch defensive plays in the fourth period to lead unbeaten Pitt to a 13-6 victory Saturday over a stubborn Washington team.
Mazurek scored Pitt's first touchdown in the second quarter on a one-yard sneak after his passing set up the TD.
His 14-yard pass to Joe Kuzneski in the fourth period insured Pitt its victory, but without Mazurek's sterling defensive efforts in the clutch the 10th ranked Panthers would not have won their second game of the season.
Mazurek's first game-saving effort came right after Washington scored its touchdown on Dave Kopay's two-yard plunge.
With the score 7-6 in Pitt's favor, Washington fullback Charlie Browning took a pitch-out to the left in a gamble for two points, but Mazurek coming fast from his defensive halfback slot, smeared Browning for a loss.
After Pitt had scored following the ensuing on-side kick, Steve Bramwell's 70-yard return put the Huskies in scoring position again on the Panther 27.
But four plays later, Mazurek intercepted Bill Douglas' pass on the Pitt two to end the Washington threat.
Washington 0 0 0 6-6
Pitt 0 7 0 6-13

Ohio State Bucks Vanquish Aggies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State threw away its "three yards and a cloud of dust offense" Saturday, turned loose its halfbacks for the first time in several seasons, and defeated an out-manned Texas A&M club 17-0 in the Bucks' season opener before 81,241 fans.
The Aggies, 14-6 losers to LSU a week ago, were held to a single first down in the first three quarters, and made their only spurt late in the game as Ohio's third stringers flooded the field.
Coach Woody Hayes, who has featured a fullback-up-the-middle and-a-quarterback-rollout offense, sent his scurrying halfbacks on 38 of the 58 rushes and they garnered 183 of the 220 yards the Bucks gained on the ground.

Fullback Matt Snell carried 13 times for 29 yards, but his big efforts came on coup de grace plunges for both Buckeye touchdowns. He sent a look for one to climax a first period 14-play 80-yard drive, and a yard for the other to wind up a 14-play 51-yard assault in the third session.

Dick Van Raaphorst, who boosted both conversions, kicked a 37-yard fourth period field goal to end the scoring.
Paul Warfield gained 85 yards in 18 tries to lead the Buckeye assault, and Tyrone Barnett, his halfback running mate, made 89 in 14 tries while the entire Aggie team gained only 111 yards, 70 rushing and 41 through the air.
Most of the Texas gains came in the final period but three drives were halted by a fumble, a pass interception and a loss on downs deep in Ohio territory. All that came after the Bucks had the decision wrapped up, however.
Fullback Jerry Rogers and quarterback Dan McIlhenny were the leading ground gainers for the Aggies, Rogers with 28 yards in seven tries and McIlhenny with 43 in 11 attempts, most of them on fake pass plays.
The stalwart Ohio defense held the Texans to 28 yards rushing and nine passing in the first half, and on their first eight possessions the Aggies were able to make only one first down. They picked up five more in the late but futile flurry.

Coyotes Swamp Broncos, 20-6

WICHITA FALLS—The Wichita Falls Coyotes rolled to their third victory of the still young 1963 grid campaign Friday night as they took advantage of Odessa misbehave to shape a convincing 20-6 win.
The first Coyote touchdown came after a Billy Parks fumble on the Broncho 38 that was gathered in by Wichita Falls. On the second play from scrimmage Jimmy Powers went yard for yard for the score on a reverse. Jerry Byas' kick was good.
Again in the second quarter they scored as Pat Alexander went over from the three-yard line to cap a 64-yard drive.
Odessa's lone TD came in the third period as Andy Reed going over from the three to highlight a 48-yard march. The try for two extra points failed.
The final Coyote score came on the last play of the game as Coyote end John Rung picked off a desperate last-effort pass from Parks and ran it back 15 yards for the six points. The kick by Byas was good. The kicker by Byas was good. The kicker by Byas was good.

Minnesota Spoils Tuneup Of Yankee Mound Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — The Minnesota Twins spoiled the final World Series tuneups of Whitey Ford and Al Downing Saturday by beating the New York Yankees 6-3.
Vic Power's inside-the-park home run in the first inning was the only hit off Ford who worked only four innings and thus would not have been eligible for a 25th victory, even if the Yanks had won. Downing gave up five runs on six hits in five innings, and suffered his fifth defeat.

Port Arthur, Denver City Out Of Undefeated Ranks

Written For The Associated Press
A wave of upsets that swept two No. 1 teams—Port Arthur and Denver City—out of the unbeaten, untied ranks and knocked over such well-rated outfits as Corpus Christi Ray, San Antonio Jefferson and Brownwood hit the Texas schoolboy football campaign Friday night.

Port Arthur, the No. 1 team of Class AAAA, tumbled before two-tied Pasadena 7-6.
Denver City, No. 1 in Class AA, was beaten by Levelland of Class AAA 20-14. It was the first regular season game for Denver City to drop since 1958.
Corpus Christi Miller gained stature by beating San Antonio Jefferson 19-0 Spring Branch did likewise when it whipped Corpus Christi Ray 20-0.
Stephenville clipped Brownwood 12-6 for a shocker in Class AAA.
Nederland continued to stand out in Class AAA when it removed AAAA Lufkin from the unbeaten ranks 7-0.
Another important result in Class AAA saw Corsicana whip Tyler of AAAA 28-12.
Meanwhile defending champion San Antonio Brackenkridge of Class AAAA moved on with a 39-12 decision over San Antonio Harlandia. The Eagles, already No. 2 in Class AAAA, are likely to move up to No. 1 in view of Port Arthur's defeat.
Dumas, the kimpin of Class AAA, never faltered. The Demons blasted Artesia, N. M., 21-12.
Albany, rated No. 1 in Class A, also rolled on. The Lions beat Winters of Class AA 16-6.
London, the next in rank in Class A, was impressive with a 6-0 victory over Class AA Glade-water.
All-in-all it was a most eventful night in schoolboy football and will bring a sharp revision in the rankings of the favorites.

Power-Happy Bulldogs Turn Back Wolfpack

By JOE BEYER
COLORADO CITY — A strong 6-AA Stamford Bulldog team had it all their own way here Friday night as they toppled the hometown Wolves by a score of 35-0. The outcome was never in doubt after Stamford powered 82 yards in 13 plays the first time it got the ball, racking up five first downs en route to the first score. Quarterback Stephen Haterius, who scored three of the Stamford touchdowns, lugged the ball around his own left end, the last seven yards on that first counter. Randy Samuels kicked the first of two extra points.

Haterius struck twice more before halftime. With less than two minutes gone in the second quarter he scampered 29 yards around his right end to cap a 58-yard drive. Again the extra point effort was good. Then, with eight minutes and 49 seconds remaining, he took a Colorado City punt on his own 38 and skipped 62 yards for the tally.

Despite the uneven scoring, the game was far from boring as Stamford staged one spectacular after another. The Bulldogs went to the air for their third touchdown, with Samuels passing to end Harold Bredthauer for 16 yards. Bredthauer took the ball on the eight-yard line and dragged himself and a couple of would-be tacklers into the end zone.
Another bit of fancy running was displayed by fullback Harrison Cole, as he went around his own left end for 15 yards and a score with less than two minutes remaining in the game. He had to shake off two tacklers before seeing open space between himself and the goal.
The final dramatic touch came with three seconds showing on the clock after Stamford had chalked up a pair of quick first downs when they swiped the ball from Colorado City on a short kickoff following the touchdown. With the ball resting on the 21-yard line, Eddie Jones booted a 36-yard field goal to bring the score to 35-0.
The highly-touted Bulldogs lived up to their press releases as they bowled over the 3-AA Wolves, who are picked to wind up the season in the cellar. For the night they gained 295 net yards on the ground and another 94 in the air while holding the Wolves to 40 yards rushing and 50 passing, even more lopsided had it not been for some heads-up defensive work by Colorado City's Larry Damborsky. Among his other accomplishments were two pass interceptions which stifled Bulldog bids. Other Wolf standouts included Roger Proctor, John Tiller, Don Lattimer and Bill McGuire.
On the Stamford side of the star ledger were Buddy Box, Larry Jones, Eddie Jenkins and Ruben Jimenez. Box and Jimenez each pounced on a fumble while Jenkins was frequently far downfield to throw a key block on long runs.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Dickie Spier is still with the McMurry College football team but Walter Minter decided to give up the sport after a short time in the Indan camp . . . Both played with Big Spring last season . . . A paid crowd of 3,447 saw the Lamesa-Andrews football game in Lamesa last week, less than half the number present for the Tornados' game with Big Spring here the previous week . . . Bob Groseclose, the former Abilene High track mentor, is writing a book about his present pupil, vaulter John Penel . . . The paid turnout when San Angelo played host to Beaumont South Park the other night was 10,200, which would indicate that the Bobcats are off to a record year at the gate . . . The Bobcat stadium is big league in every respect, now that 5,000 end zone seats have been added to the arena . . . Incidentally, Max Bumgardner, director of athletics at San Angelo College, says there are no plans at the present time to restore football to the school's curriculum, even though SAC becomes a four-year college in 1965 . . . The college is going to be in a financial bind for a while, it seems, and all available money will go toward physical improvements of the plant . . . Omar Jones, co-captain of the Quarterback Club here, chanced to get into the line of traffic headed toward Norman, Okla., on his way back from a business trip to Missouri recently and wound up with a seat on the 47-yard line for the OU-Clemson football game. The game was a sellout but an Oklahoma state solon provided him with a ticket . . . Eighteen of Snyder's first 30 football players this season will be eligible again in 1964, including half the starting backfield . . . Delnor Poss has been scouting Wichita Falls for Big Spring this fall . . . Delnor presents one of the most detailed scouting reports I've ever heard.

N. SNEAD

K. CHRANNE

got under way. St. Louis Cardinal coach Wally Lemm predicted that Big Spring's Charles Johnson and Washington's Norman Snead would be two of the top quarterbacks in the NFL . . . Johnson is off to a better start than Snead — he ranks fifth among the NFL passers, having completed an amazing 30 of 51 aeriels for 352 yards and four touchdowns . . . Snead ranks 11th in the passing department, with 16 completions in 38 tries, good for 285 yards and two TD's . . . L. Scriber and three companions, all amateurs, once turned in scores of 3-3-2 for a total of 10 strokes on the 325-yard, well-trapped, par-four, 15th hole at the Oshkosh, Wis., Country Club — the best score on record for a golf foursome on a par-four hole . . . One player chipped his ball into the cup from off the green for an eagle . . . One ball was driven onto the green from where the player one-putted for an eagle . . . Two members of the foursome chipped close enough to one-putt for birdies.

Jim Evans Far Ahead Of 1963 Pace

Big Spring's Jimmy Evans caught over one-third as many passes in Texas Western's opening game against North Texas this year (eight against 21) as he did throughout the 1962 season . . . The gains he made against the Eagles (131 yards) were over half what he picked up in all nine games last year (242 paces) . . . The one touchdown he counted against North Texas was one more than he got all last fall . . . Keny Chranne, the Big Spring football center who had a severe case of boils during spring training, has been putting up with some of the same physical miseries this fall . . . Big Spring is now working on a modest string of four straight opening game wins, having beaten Pampa in 1960, 14-6; Plainview in 1961, 36-0; and again last year, 66-6; and Lamesa this fall, 14-7 . . . Oliver Cofer, advertising manager of this news periodical, quips that John Tiftouris, the Cincinnati pitcher, will never become a pronounced success . . . Long before this season

Clock Reportedly Was Not At Fault

Winking lights operated by battery are used to stop each end of the yardage chain at home games of the San Angelo Bobcats, which is quite a help to fans who like to keep track of what's going on down on the field . . . The clock reportedly was not at fault during the recent Big Spring - Lamesa football game — one of the officials is said to have ordered the timepiece stopped because it was not always right . . . He had the privilege to declare he alone would be keeping the official time, under such circumstances, but he should not have demanded that the clock be turned off . . . The fans would have liked at least a fuzzy idea of the progress of play . . . A total of 810 season tickets were sold for home games of the Steers this year, around 35 more than was disposed of last year . . . Attendance has been surprisingly good as junior high school and B team football games played here to date . . . Midland High officials maintained they broke off football relations with Lamesa because the Tornado coaches wanted to play the games on a home-and-home basis . . . The Midland people pointed to the splendid turnouts for the games, suggesting they wouldn't do nearly as well financially in Lamesa . . . Stormy Edwards, the former Big Spring-er, played tournament golf recently against Alamo, N. M., youth named Mullican who is supposed to be the most prodigious driver in the history of this area . . . The 18-year-old youth, who is still in high school, drove the green on a 374-yard hole and the fairway was slightly uphill . . . Jack Williams, the Plainview veteran, won the Cree Meadows Golf Invitational at Ruidoso, N. M., in August, where Stormy's father, Sunny, is pro. and course owner.

Badgers Rally To Hang 14-9 Loss On Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Wisconsin's battering Badgers, behind all the way, scored with 67 seconds left on fullback Ralph Kurek's one-yard smash to whip stubborn Notre Dame 14-9 in the Fighting Irish football opener Saturday.
Notre Dame, under new Coach Hugh Devore, came out scrapping and stormed to a 9-0 lead before the Badgers, and particularly new quarterback Harold Brandt, had warmed up to the form that swept them to the Big Ten title last season.
Southpaw Brandt, under great pressure as the heir apparent to graduated Ron Vanderkelen, not only took complete charge of Wisconsin's closing 80-yard payoff drive but also found a target reminiscent of Pat Richter in rubber-legged end Jimmy Jones.
Jones, 6-foot-2, 187-pound junior from Washington, D.C., grabbed six passes for 100 yards, including a four-yard shot for Wisconsin's first touchdown in the second period and a one-handed catch of a 16-yarder on a key play in the Badgers' desperate closing march.
That catch put the ball on Notre Dame's 15. Then, the cagey Brandt, who had passed in one of the previous seven plays, faked beautifully and sent Kurek darting on a quick opener 14 yards to the Irish one.
On the next play, Kurek clawed into the end zone for the decisive touchdown with 1:07 left.
The Irish played Wisconsin off its feet in the first period, marching 86 yards in eight plays the first time they had the ball for a touchdown scored on halfback Jack Snow's slashing 24-yard run.
With the second period only 47 seconds old, the Irish made it 9-0 on a safety scored when end Tom Gobevirtse blocked Don Hendrickson's punt on the Badger 12 and the ball bounced through the end zone.

Seconds later Borden High capitalized on a break, covering a fourth down high pass from center on the Bearkat three Burris took a pitch out around left end, hiking the margin to 22-16 as the points after attempt failed.
The visitors never recovered for the Coyotes struck for two quick TD's in the third frame. Nunnally passed to Burris for the first one from the 50, then hit left end Preston Stone for two points. Nunnally scored the second third quarter touchdown himself, romping 17 yards around right end behind good blocking led by Hagins. The signal caller tossed to Burris again for the extra points.
Gail boosted the margin to 44-18 in the fourth quarter when Nunnally uncorked a 22-yarder to Burris. The lanky end-halfback made a great leaping catch and crashed down into the end zone. Fullback Sam Buchanan took a lateral pass around left end to make the conversion attempt good. The TD drive was for 48 yards, and halfback Bill Stone looked good on quick openers.
Each team had fourth quarter touchdowns nullified by penalties. One was a seven-yard pass from Nunnally to end Preston Stone. The other was a 33-yard blast by Pagan.

Lee Drives To 22-6 Win

MIDLAND—Midland Lee found the win column for the first time this season Friday night and exploited it for a commanding 22-6 victory over the outgunned El Paso Austin Panthers.
After halting an El Paso drive on the Midland six-yard stripe in the first period, the Rebels weren't seriously threatened again until the second quarter when the Panthers scored their only TD of the game with Mike Johnson dashing 63 yards for the score.
The two-point conversion failed. The Rebels had scored earlier in the second period when Lee quarterbacked Bucky Kimble hit paydirt on a three-yard scamper around end. Fullback Scott Rogers ran for the extra points to put Lee out ahead at halftime, 8-6.
With 7:40 left in the third quarter Midland struck again, and it was the same boy Kimble who creaked over tackle from three yards out. The two-point conversion failed.
The final tally came on Wingback Chuck Loftin's 16-yard run in the fourth frame. Dick McFarland's conversion gave Lee insurance points.

Data Provided On Oil Production

TULSA — The domestic petroleum industry, up to January 1, 1963, had drilled 1,918,078 wells and found and developed 114.9 billion barrels of crude oil and 484 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

More than one well out of every four drilled in the United States, or a total of 544,000, have been unsuccessful. Since August, 1859, when the first oil well was completed in Pennsylvania, the U.S. petroleum industry has completed an average of one well every 29 minutes in the 104-year history of the oil business.

In 1962, domestic petroleum production was valued at $10.6 billion and represented almost 60 per cent of the value of all U.S. minerals production. At the end of that year, the U.S. had 599,743 producing oil wells and 91,080 producing natural gas wells in 33 states. The average oil well produced 12 barrels of crude oil daily last year.

DOMESTIC CRUDE
With domestic crude oil production increasing only moderately and prices actually declining since 1957, the total value of U.S. crude oil production in 1962 remained below the peak of more than $8 billion reached in 1957.

However, because of a more favorable trend in natural gas production, the total value of all petroleum fuels produced set an all-time record of $10.7 billion in 1962 as compared with a total value of $7.7 billion 10 years ago, in 1953.

The domestic petroleum industry employed 1,030,283 persons in 1962 including 295,000 in oil and gas production, 163,449 in petroleum refining, 11,729 in pipeline transportation, 159,746 in natural gas companies and systems, and 398,767 in gasoline service stations.

These are some of the facts contained in the 1963 edition of "The Oil Producing Industry in Your

Ikard Warns Oilmen Against Complacency

HOUSTON (AP)—The president of the American Petroleum Institute reviewed the status of the industry's Washington problems this week and warned oilmen against complacency.

Frank N. Ikard, an expert on Washington affairs after 14 years as a Texas congressman, reported one basic conclusion.

"With all the problems we face today, this industry needs all the interest and enthusiasm, all the energy and zeal its defenders can muster," Ikard said.

"With the number, variety and scope of our problems, we have a great deal of sign reading and interpreting to do if we are to discern those trends that have special meaning for us."

TAXES
Ikard placed before the industry a report on such matters as taxes, federal efforts to control wellhead prices of natural gas, and what he termed renewed efforts to expand federal control within the industry.

He said the tax bill now before the house includes only one of the four oil-taxing proposals sought by the Kennedy administration but the full battle on industry taxation has not yet been fought.

"You can depend on the Senate foes of percentage depletion to go after that bill in committee and again during floor debate," Ikard said. "They will try their hardest to tack on some amendment that would, directly or indirectly, further increase the

Howard Has Three Sites

Producers Development Co. has staked three new sites in Howard County's Iatan-East Howard field. The sites are all projected to 3,100 feet and spot about six miles east of Combona, on a 160-acre lease.

No. 9-B J. P. Davis Heirs spot, 1,650 feet from the north and west lines of section 2-30, T&P survey, No. 10-B J. P. Davis Heirs is 1,650 feet from the west and 990 feet from the north lines of the section. No. 11-B J. P. Davis Heirs is 1,650 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west lines of the same section.

In Sterling County, F. E. Shaheen and Sons have corrected No. 1-63 Sellers prospector. It is changed from 660 feet from the north and 1,055 feet from the west lines of section 65-17, SPRR survey, to 660 feet from the north and 2,085 feet from the west lines of the section. The venture is slated to drill to 8,900 feet about 20 miles northwest of Sterling City.

Offshore Wells Are Expensive To Drill

Although offshore oil and gas wells account for less than 1.4 per cent of all wells drilled in the United States, expenditures for these wells amount to nearly 10 per cent of the petroleum industry's total drilling costs.

During 1961, the last year for which complete figures are available, 606 of 43,988 wells drilled were offshore. Total drilling costs were $2.4 billion; the cost of drilling the offshore wells came to $231 million.

In addition, the issue contains information on petroleum consumption and consumers in each of the 50 states, as well as related information, such as state tax collections and motor vehicle registrations.

Waterflood Project Set

DALLAS—The Atlantic Refining Co. has announced construction plans for a major waterflood project for secondary recovery of oil in West Texas.

The Golden-Cummins San Andres unit, in Ector County about 25 miles northwest of Odessa, will include more than 100 miles of oil flow and water lines and a water injection pumping station with an initial rate of 45,000 barrels daily. Atlantic will be the operator for the unit, which combines the operations of 18 companies.

Plans call for eight automatic test stations, initial electrification of 95 producing wells, centrally-located oil-water separation facilities, oil storage tanks, and a data collection station automatically receiving production statistics from the remote test stations.

The unit is scheduled to be in operation early in 1964. It has a present combined allowable production of 1,049 barrels of oil per calendar day from 177 wells on 5,300 productive acres. Atlantic engineers estimate that the waterflood operation will increase production to about 4,600 barrels per calendar day.

tax burdens borne by our industry." NEED TO CORRECT "There is just no escaping the need for corrective legislation that will overcome the defects of trying to regulate one industry—natural gas production—with a law written for a totally different and dissimilar enterprise—interstate transportation of gas by pipeline," he said.

Ikard said the tax bill approved by the House Ways and Means Committee would cost the industry an additional $40 million annually in taxes compared to the estimated $280 to $300 million involved in the four proposals backed by the Kennedy administration.

It is inconsistent and illogical, he said, to talk about a tax reduction program designed to get the economy moving in high gear and at the same time penalize the industry that provides three-fourths of the nation's energy.

The one surviving administration proposal in the tax bill would deny oilmen the right to group properties while computing percentage depletion.

Ikard said the bill will not be subject to amendments on the House floor but will be subject to overhaul in the Senate Finance Committee and on the Senate floor.

COMMISSION BANS PITS

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission banned Friday further use of oil field brine pits in the Hubbard Creek watershed in Stephens, Shackelford, Eastland and Callahan counties.

The commission said that a July 11-12 hearing, requested by the West Central Texas Municipal Water District, showed that pollution of fresh water sources in the watershed "threatens to become more widespread."

The commission said the pits must be abandoned and filled by March 1, or the operators could suffer pipeline severances.

BASIN COUNT

Rotary Activity Moving Nearly To 1962 Level

Rotary rig drilling operations in the Permian Basin Empire showed another gain on the Friday tabulation of Reed Roller Bit Company.

That survey registered 201 working units, an increase of six over the 195 counted a week earlier. The total on the latest Friday was only four less than the 205 active units in the two-state region on the comparable report in 1962.

Despite a drop of one, down from 43 to 42, Lea County, N.M., continued in first place Pecos County, going from 13 to 15, moved into second place.

The local eight-county area lost nearly half of its units as completions were logged and fewer new projects started. The area went from 14 to 8. Mitchell and Sterling counties paced the area with two

Points To New Store

The large sign in front of the new Gibson store at 2303 Gregg Street points to expansion going on in merchandising of products. The new store, which sports 32,000 square feet of space, will carry an estimated 14,000 varieties of articles.

Gibson Center Opens Monday

When the new Gibson Discount Center opens Monday at 2303 Gregg, it will be carrying about 14,000 different items, Richard Gibson, owner, said.

It will have the largest sporting goods department in West Texas, the largest stock of drugs and cosmetics in the area and well-known name-brand merchandise displayed on all shelves and racks.

"We are going to have 20 cash registers to care for customers. If there is anything I hate to see, it is a bottleneck at the checking stands," he said. "We are also going to have clerks in the store in all departments except the drug and cosmetic counter. That will be self-service because each person knows pretty well what he needs. Clerks will help those shopping for other items."

The new, 32,000 square-foot store will have a prescription department where all prescriptions will be filled at a discount of 25 per cent or more. All nationally advertised brands of vitamins will be stocked at from 30 to 40 per cent discount.

The customer will have his choice of 259 parking spaces on the lot in front of the new building or side-street parking. There are no partitions to obstruct the view of shoppers at the new store. A tile floor, fibre-glass ceiling and a sprinkler system make the new building almost fireproof. The roof is supported by 12-inch outside walls and by steel support posts inside.

Ten five-ton refrigerated air conditioning units provide the cooling of the building. The choice of multiple units was made to insure continued cooling should one unit fail to operate properly. Overhead heaters will keep the building comfortable in the winter.

"When the chain came to Big Spring three years ago," Gibson said, "we were Store No. 24 and had only 13,000 square feet of space, plus several smaller storage areas. Parking was a problem for customers. All these problems have been solved now. We can handle everything in one unit and have room for parking and storing."

The office will be located at the center-rear of the store, and will be raised four feet, to provide full view of the merchandising area to officer personnel.

Richard Gibson, his wife Elaine, and one and a half-year-old daughter, live at 2311 Lynn. He is a graduate of Abilene Christian College and the family attends the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ. Gibson is a member of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees. Mrs. Gibson is secretary of the Jayceettes. Both are active in other civic endeavors.

"We started our building a little later in the year than anticipated," Gibson said, "and have had to do a lot of pushing to get ready for our opening Monday. Some of our personnel have had to move fast to get located here in time, but we are shooting for a top-quality staff by opening time."

States in which Gibson Products Co. has stores are: Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, New Mexico, Utah, Iowa, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Wyoming.

The company will top $100 million in business this year, Gibson said, ranking as one of the top 15 discount chains in the nation. In the sale of items under $25, the chain has been for some time number one in the nation.

In Charge At Gibson's

Heading the staff at the new Gibson store will be Richard Gibson, center, owner and manager. Assisting him will be assistant manager Tracy Webb, left, and Dick Deertwater.

Giant Medicine Chest

All kinds of prescription drugs will be available at the new Gibson Discount Center, with discounts running as high as 40 per cent on some products.

Select Staff Heads Store

Several department heads assisting management at the new store have already been picked and are in Big Spring. Others will take up residence here as soon as they are selected, Richard Gibson, owner and manager, said.

Heading the new jewelry department, which carries a full line of diamonds, watches, costume jewelry and general merchandise will be Alvin O. Greer, who has 23 years of experience in the jewelry and watch repair business.

W. A. (Andy) Anderson, with 20 years behind him in large department chains, will have the soft goods department. Dick Derrington will handle toys, housewares and school supplies.

William (Doc) Plicher, who came to the Big Spring store from a sporting goods store in Sherman, will manage the enlarged sporting goods department, where golf, tennis, baseball, football, fishing and hunting, as well as other lines, will be stocked.

Founder Of Chain Began Business Dealings Early

Gibson's Discount Center, which opens Monday at 2303 Gregg, is the ninety-second store in a fast-expanding group that will number 100 or more in 14 states by the end of this year. Richard Gibson Jr., son of the founder H. R. Gibson Sr., is the owner.

H. R. Gibson Sr., 62, opened his first discount store in Abilene in 1958 with 25 years of experience in the wholesale and related fields. He believed that the day of the middleman was drawing to a close. By using his contacts gained through years of wholesaling, he got manufacturers to supply direct to supermarket-type department stores located in shopping centers or other sites with large parking areas.

Business dealings of the founder of this growing group of discount houses had a humble beginning at a country fair in Missouri almost 50 years ago. H. R. Gibson, then a 14-year-old with a reputation for shrewd trading, rode into the fair bareback and barefoot from the family farm near West Plains and Moody, Mo. He happened on a lively auction of fine Poland China pigs.

Young Gibson had the audacity to wave his only $2 as a bid on the first choice litter. The crowd, sensing fun, withheld further bidding in favor of the farm boy. The auctioneer, closing the bid, sought to continue the fun. He asked the boy how many of the pigs he wanted.

"All of them. That's what I was bidding on," came the quick reply. He got his pigs and sold them for $20. Gibson had made a start on a career of trading. It got sidetracked as he went into streetcar conducting, then to wrestling. He finally became a barber.

He kept trading during his barbering career, selling supplies to his customers. A newspaperman made this the subject of a feature story and turned the business into a boom. Gibson started a full barber supply business in 1928 and moved to Little Rock in 1932, where he began supplying wagon jobbers and expanded to 34 other cities. He decided, in the late 1950s, that the cumbersome days of jobber and wholesaler, loaded with middlemen from manufacturer to merchant, was on the way out. This was when he decided to go direct to his customer, passing on the lower prices.

"Such buying as we do, in volume, and the elimination of many middlemen, results in savings to the customer of an average of 25 to 40 per cent on list prices on the 14,000 varieties in our stores," he said. "Many houses knock off five and 10 per cent and consider themselves discounters. We consider true discounting to be at least 25 per cent off list."

helps these and other agencies..

..but only as you help the UF

The United Fund is distributed in a united manner among the agencies and societies that work in a total effort to make your's a better community in which to live. Essentially, the various organizations operate on a local level, however, in most instances a portion of their resources is made available when disasters and emergencies arise elsewhere.

Through the United Fund, the individual gives his share toward relieving an adverse situation whatever it might be. He has a part in helping his fellow man by means of the annual United Fund drive.

Represented on this page are the Salvation Army, Howard County Rehabilitation Center, the Milk and Ice Service, Air Force Aid, YMCA, Girls Scouts and Cub Scouts.

PATRIOTISM, a part of Girl Scout training, is important to the country's future. Good citizenship is stressed in an all-out effort to build for the years to come. Handbooks and other literature, achievement awards, camping equipment and professional direction are to mention only a

HOME SERVICE includes that of the Milk and Ice Fund. Here Fire Chief H. V. Crocker visits a family, one of the many which receives assistance from the service. Milk for the children is one of the chief items provided.

COMFORT AND CARE is administered by a Red Cross nurse, above, in a shelter set up during the state's greatest disaster to care for the aged and convalescent evacuees. Emergency relief is everyone's responsibility and each can do his part by giving. Pictured right, tangible things, urgently and desperately needed, are transported in an air lift mission to a disaster area. Necessary supplies are provided by the Red Cross and transported to areas cut off from normal access. Eighty-seven per cent of the Red Cross disaster dollar goes toward rehabilitation.

LIFE'S ESSENTIALS must be provided to those in need before they can be reached with the word of God is the theory upon which the Salvation Army was founded. Today it functions under the same theory, maintaining a diversified program to include food for the hungry, clothing for those in need, rest for the weary, help for the sick and a sanctuary in which to worship. Here Capt. William Thomas helps serve plates, amply filled with food, to some of his guests.

EDUCATION is only one phase of the Air Force Aid program. This society's general fund is available to every member of the Air Force and his family in the event of an unforeseen emergency. The Air Force Aid also provides funds for the Air Force Disabled Children and the General Henry H.

Arnold Educational program. Here M. Sgt. Thomas H. Pate consults with Mrs. Irene Kincaid, clerical assistant, and Sgt. Lonnie J. Lupo concerning educational assistance for his daughter, a student at Denver University.

LEADERSHIP and initiative are instilled in boys who are enrolled in the Scouting program. Cultural development, however, is not overlooked. Mrs. Doyle Hale, den mother, says the singing may not be too good but she and the Cubs enjoy it. With their song books—counted among the countless supplies provided for Scouts—are, from left, Rodney Hale, Mike Carroll, Billy Caldwell and Gary Hale.

Did you ever sigh and wish you could be artistically clever at Christmas time? Perhaps the OWC can solve your problem with their Christmas workshop. Some of the items displayed at the coffee Thursday were felt Santas, light switch covers, a Texas mosquito made of yucca pods, candy wreaths and many other lovely things.

Most of the items to be made are inexpensive and fairly simple to make. And at the first session, where you will see the items displayed again, you will start right in making things. The workshop will begin on Friday, Oct. 11, at 9:30 a.m. in the O'Club and will continue through October on Fridays, the 18th and the 25th. In November you will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Mondays—the 4th, 11th and the 18th. Be sure to bring scissors and Elmer's glue with you on Oct. 11. If anyone else has something she thinks others would enjoy making, call Mrs. William Holcomb at AM 3-6090.

FAREWELL PARTY

A dinner and cocktail party was held at the O'Club last weekend by the 33rd FWS to say good-bye to Lt. and Mrs. Richard Scott, who will be leaving soon for Schusterburg, Holland. The party was also a chance to welcome Maj. and Mrs. Rick Loeffler from McEntire ANG S.C.; Major and Mrs. Thomas Parent-Lew from Kingsley Field, Ore.; Lt. James Brochon from Keesler AFB, Miss.; Lt. James Hoder from Osan, Korea; and Lt. Howard Schloeman from Lowry AFB, Colo.

The 33rd Wives had their monthly bridge Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Carl Blough with Mrs. Ken Cunningham as co-hostess. High score was won by Mrs. James Short; second, Mrs. Randy Lewis; and low, Mrs. Howard Jones.

The M&S Wives met recently at the Carlton House for coffee hosted by Mrs. L. J. McNeil and Mrs. V. Parker. New members to the group are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hurt, a GE technical representative, from a two-year stay in Holland, Maj. and Mrs. Cletus Pajot from Germany and Maj. and Mrs. James Hamilton from Thailand.

Looking Forward—And Up

Like other men who have put in a full day's work, these members of Class 64-B at Webb Air Force Base like to unwind with the paper, a good book or some music. Shown relaxing after a day that includes classes and flying, are second lieutenants Steve Sutton, Keith Lockhart, Van Jones and Roger Clark. All graduates of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., the men arrived here Aug. 20 for 55 weeks training at Webb. Three are hoping to become fighter pilots and eventually participate in the space program.

Potential Astronauts Aiming For Careers In Space Age

By JO BRIGHT

One of the young men was born in Canada, at a place called Moosejaw; another was a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship contest; a third is an identical twin and the shy-looking one has two burning desires—to be a fighter pilot in Viet Nam—and to visit a real Texas ranch.

What the four have in common is that they are all graduates of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs and are now members of Class 64-B at Webb Air Force Base. The younger men live at 1907 Lancaster where they share not only household chores, but records, books, and a common interest in pretty girls.

Being a girl-watcher is a hobby that is not easily abandoned, but 2nd Lt. Keith E. Lockhart is turning in his traps since he has evidently found the species he was looking for. Unofficially engaged, he and Miss Linda Ferguson of Edwards, Calif., plan to be married at Christmas. She is presently attending Howard Payne University at Brownwood.

FAR FROM HOME

Lt. Lockhart was born and reared in Greenview, a small farming community in Illinois. While an enlisted man in the Air Force Reserve, he attended the Naval Academy Prep School at Bainbridge, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lockhart are his parents. His brothers, Greg, and an identical twin, Ken, are both married and have families. His hobby is coin collecting and his favorite sports, tennis and golf.

A long way from Moosejaw Saskatchewan, 2nd Lt. F. Van Jones is the son of an officer in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Moving to Rockford, Ill., in 1950, he attended high school there, graduating in the top 10 per cent of his class. At the Air Force Academy, he lettered in swimming and water polo as a member of the varsity teams. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree.

Lt. Jones' father is a realtor who spent six years in the Air Force during the war. He has a sister, Valerie, 17, who is earning a commercial flying license, and a brother, Tommie, 15. He is a Methodist and attends church as regularly as possible. Listed as outside interests—and in this order—were sports, sports cars and pretty girls.

A SCHOLAR

The scholarship finalist was 2nd Lt. Roger D. Clark, whose hometown is Winchester, Ky. Still living there are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark, and a brother, Paul. He was valedictorian of his Clark County High School class and has always been interested in flying. His favorite sports are football, swimming and snow skiing.

while his music preference ranges from jazz to classical. Hobbies include model construction, stamp collecting and photography.

The lanky brunette who has impulsively applied for duty in Viet Nam is 2nd Lt. Stephen R. Sutton of Decatur, Ill. The youngest of three boys, Lt. Sutton said that he has lived all of his life in Illinois but has traveled throughout the United States and Latin America. His father is a salesman for Marathon Oil Co., and both brothers are associated with drug firms.

ASTRONAUT ASPIRANT

Lt. Sutton is a graduate of Douglas McArthur High School in Decatur. He is planning a career in the Air Force and is passionately interested in becoming an astronaut. While in Big Spring, he would like to visit a ranch, perhaps work there on weekends.

As newcomers here, all four young men have been impressed with the informal friendliness of townspeople. They hope to do some entertaining at home when their classroom and flying hours permit. Right now, training comes first and they are taking their chosen careers very seriously. Who knows, the first settlers on the moon may be a fellow from Moosejaw—a former valedictorian—or a shy guy who says, "Shucks, m'am, we're in the Air Force because we just like to fly."

Brunch Begins Festive Fall Season At Webb

One of the first fall social events at Webb Air Force Base was a morning affair held Friday at the Officers Club. Some 100 guests were received by the hostesses, Mrs. Rex Fryer, Mrs. George Franks, Mrs. Harold Collins, Mrs. Julian Baird and Mrs. Charles Head. For the occasion, each wore a nosegay of yellow, gold and bronze mums. New fall suits, dresses and hats lent additional color to the festivity. Autumn colors also were featured in an arrangement for the table where juices were served during a social period. Guests were identified with name tags received upon their arrival. An array of flowers and foliage was noted throughout the lounge and dining room. The buffet table, appointed with silver, was centered with a banked bouquet of chrysanthemums in tones of gold, rust, bronze and yellow. Smaller bouquets of mums in silhouettes and teapots marked the individual tables where guests were seated.

SQUADRON SCROLL

Students Waiting On Tuesday And New Bars

By NANCY FRANCO
Tuesday morning, many of the men in the student squadron will pin on shiny, new double silver bars and will trade the title lieutenant for captain. These men are not only to be congratulated on their promotion but also on their decision to make the Air Force a career.

The members of Class 64-D enjoyed a Roaring Twenties party at the base pavilion last weekend. Entertainments chairman for the costume party were Lt. Gary Beson and Lt. J. E. Hendrickson. Mrs. David Coppage was in charge of the dinner which featured ham and turkey.

Lt. and Mrs. Scott Seward entertained friends with a beef shish kabab barbecue at their home recently. Sharing the meal were Lt. Stuart Fenske, Lt. Russell Teisinger, Lt. David Rotz and Lt. and Mrs. David Johnson.

Wednesday evening, the wives of Class 64-E honored Mrs. John Adams with a miscellaneous bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Ed Heim. Mrs. Jeff Ellis and Mrs. Ken Furbush were cohostesses for the evening and assisted in serving a chocolate pastry cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Horne, from Detroit, Mich., stopped in Big Spring last weekend to visit their nephew and his wife, Lt. and Mrs. Ken Furbush. The Hornes are currently enjoying an eight month retirement vacation by trailer. Also visiting was Lt. Furbush's great-uncle, Mrs. Lena Allen, and her son, Jack Rockwell, from Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Rockwell is accompanying his 88-year-old mother on a motor trip from California to Nova Scotia.

Knickers Are Stylish Again

Knickers anybody? Sportive enthusiasts who suddenly found themselves looking like everybody else have taken them up in a big way.

Knickers calling for knicker socks. Tucking under the knee band, certain nylon and wool socks feature a row of buttons down the sides of each leg. Fortunately, they don't have to be unbuttoned.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:
I have made a marvelous discovery. I washed my goose down pillows in the washing machine. They were covered with synthetic taffeta.

After many years of use they were just too stained and dingy to bear any longer. I jammed them down into the washer with soap suds, set my dial for hot water and two minutes. We went through the rinse cycle and my pillows came out clean but the feathers were all in a lump.

After putting them in my dryer for about an hour, I just could not believe it. They were once again big, fluffy, snow white and like new.
Mrs. R. W. Lane

Dear Mrs. Lane:
You just saved me the price of expensive new ticking! And gave me a fabulous idea.

I went to my department store and bought nylon taffeta by the yard. I just had to test your idea and see if it washed better and easier than good grade ticking.

It's absolutely fabulous! Oh, are my pillows lush to sleep on. So easy to wash and dry. The feathers dried quickly as the nylon was quick-drying itself and that air got into the feathers and dried them beautifully.

If any of you gals have the bright idea to wash your pillows and put on new ticking, let me give you a few pointers:

First, wash your old pillows in the old ticking (or at least wet them first so the feathers will be easy to transfer and won't blow all over creation, your house and the universe.)

However, after testing this woman's idea, I found that the feathers wetted much quicker and washed better if nylon taffeta ticking was used. The water and suds literally soak through the synthetic covering, thus, no air pockets inside the pillow and this prevents the pillow "floating" on top of the water while washing in the machine. Helps for better rinsing, too.

Here's the way I did mine:
I filled my bathtub with about nine inches of warm water and suds. Plopped my four pillows in this. (Yes, they floated just like in the washing machine.)

What to do? I got barefooted and literally stepped on them, mashing them with my feet until I got all the air out of the case. The water filled inside the case then.

I kept stepping, mashing and prancing with my feet until the water became soiled. You will be surprised how little time this will take.

I changed the water and added more suds and continued washing until the pillows were clean. I rinsed the same way. Then I dipped the pillows in clear water by holding them at one end. (You will find that all the feathers will end up in one end of the case!) I twisted the empty end of the ticking, then stepped on the end where the feathers were and got out loads of water. No effort.

Now is the time to cut the case open. The feathers are all wet and will not fly. I put the old wet case inside the new nylon one and just shook the wet feathers into the new case.

The wet feathers will all go into the new case in a lump. I wrapped a bath towel around the outside of the end where the little glob of feathers was so they wouldn't drip. I took the case to my sewing machine and stitched up the opening.

Throw this in your dryer or put on your clothes line and let dry. If you use the clothes line method do not hang feathers in the sun. It dries out the natural oils. Be sure to pat, pound and beat the pillows upside down between pats and beatings.

Gals, be sure to buy good nylon taffeta that is closely woven. It's still cheaper than ticking.

I have washed my pillows again with the new nylon taffeta covers just to see if the feathers or the down would come through. Neither did!

Change your ticking once in a while. It's glorious. Guess Who?

Oh, I forgot to tell you something. After discovering that vinegar helped bacteria and odors, I used half a cup of it in my last rinse water! Please, try it. The pillows will have no odor after they are dried.

(Mail letters to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Tomorrow will be a day to remember for MRS. JEWEL KUYKENDALL who will retire from her work with Texas Electric Service Co. Mrs. Kuykendall will have worked for 25 years in the company offices and on Oct. 25 will join the Quarter Century Club of her company.

Friday her daughter and her family, MR. and MRS. JIM BOB POOL of Houston and their son, Bob, who is in paratrooper training at Fort Campbell, Ky., left for their home after visiting Mrs. Kuykendall. The Pools had been in Kentucky to visit their son who got a leave and joined them for the trip here.

Mrs. Pool, the former ELOISE KUYKENDALL, plans to return here for the Quarter Century Club dinner.

A number of town women were guests for a delightful brunch at Webb Officer's Club Friday morning and had a wonderful time as well as delicious food. One of the hostesses, MRS. HAROLD COLLINS, shared with those near her the recipe for good grits dish which she and another of the hostesses had prepared for the occasion. In my family the only way we have eaten grits is with ham gravy or congealed and fried with maple syrup poured over it.

This Collins concoction is made with grits boiled in milk, lots of butter and topped with Parmesan and another cheese the spelling of which does not come to my mind. Anyway, this is baked in a dish, and served from very hot to warm and is equally good either way.

Bohannons Have Guests Sunday

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchins and children visited in Sand Springs with the O. J. Bohannons Sunday. The Bohannons recently moved to Sand Springs from Westbrook. Mrs. Bohannon is sixth grade teacher in the Coahoma school.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Patterson and children Doug, Judy and Bob, of Midland visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Rucker, over the weekend.

REX FRYER who wore a sleeveless beige knit and MRS. GEORGE FRANK whose dress was of a blue and gray mixture piped in blue.

No one had as much fun last weekend as OBIE BRISTOW who, with Mrs. Bristow, was in Norman, Okla., for a very special affair. Twenty-nine members of the football team that ended their college football playing days in 1924 at OU gathered to honor their coach, BENNY OWENS, who is now 88 years of age.

It's been 40 years but all the men that could get there, got there, and they had a marvelous time honoring the man that played such a big part in their college days.

MRS. ERNEST GREER, MRS. RAYMOND EADS, MRS. LOUIS ROSSER and MRS. ROBY SMITH are keeping up with their jobs as cosmeticians by attending schools when possible. The four women recently attended a school held in the new Villa Inn Motel at Colorado City.

MRS. J. Y. ROBB and MRS. F. W. DOZIER visited the RALPH QUINNS in San Antonio last weekend. The Quinns made their home in Big Spring only a year ago.

We were in San Antonio during the week of a very important occasion. No. One son became a 2nd Lt. on Tuesday morning and accompanied us home for a short stay. We also drove over to Austin to see No. Two son who is in the university. Other visits that

Travel Director Will Visit In Big Spring

Helping American families explore and enjoy their own country is the activity of a woman who travels 60,000 miles per year, and who will visit Big Spring as the guest speaker of the Future Homemakers of America Monday, Oct. 7, at 8:45 a.m.

She is Miss Carol Lane, women's travel director of Shell Oil Company. Her talk will be given at the Big Spring Senior High School, according to the club president, Miss Peggy Spier.

A constant researcher into travel, Miss Lane this summer took a cross-country motor trip from the Pacific Coast to New York to search out and check on unusual places to visit and additional ways to heighten the pleasures of automobile travel, with special emphasis on trips to the World's Fair in 1964.

Her talk includes hints on unique vacation trips, travel budgeting, short tourette vacations, how to travel with children, family camping, and other subjects.

A highlight for many previous audiences is a short bag-packing demonstration during which a 26-inch suitcase is packed with a complete two-week wardrobe.

Miss Lane travels 10 months out of each year to test and develop new vacation ideas. In addition to her appearances before women's groups, she has written numerous booklets on travel, has appeared on hundreds of television programs, and is often described by club women as "America's First Lady of Touring."

Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

TOTE-BAG OF TREASURES

Miss Carol Lane, packs a tote bag with snacks for an auto trip. This will be demonstrated in her presentation, "Let's Go Adventuring!" before the Future Homemakers of America October 7.

Friday marked the start of the new fall series, which will end Nov. 15. Awards will be made for the best five out of eight games.

Eleven tables were in play; north-south winners being Mrs. Glen Lingenfelter and Mrs. Ben McCullough, first; Mrs. Hayden Griffith and Mrs. Travis Reed, second; Mrs. Ty Allen and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, third; and Mrs. B. F. Yeargin and Mrs. Ron Kibler, fourth.

Care Pays Off

The fashion mark for summer is immaculate white gloves, washed after each wearing. To help them dry quickly, wring out freshly-washed gloves and roll in a towel. Unroll and blow into the gloves to force air into the fingers.

Next stuff the gloves lightly with tissues to help the air circulate through the fabric. Hang up using a clothes pin. Even during the most humid weather you'll find your gloves will dry overnight.

It's Timely

Timed for fall and winter are the campus separates. Styled on young lines, the quilted cardigan teams with a red turtle neck knit pullover and tailored shorts. Knee socks, sneakers and the billed cap add the finishing touches for the so-right look on the college campus. When the weather is subject to change, the ensemble can't be matched for complete comfort on the golf course.

EXPENSIVE BONFIRE FUEL
Frances Glenn, county treasurer, and a million dollars worth of paid-off bonds.

A Lot Of History Goes Up In Smoke

By SAM BLACKBURN
County Treasurer Frances B. Glenn took $725,000 in county and school bonds and another several hundred dollars worth of checks, piled them all together and dumped the lot in a big incinerator. She set the fire and it made a dog-gone big bonfire.

"Just make real sure they all burn," she admonished those who were helping.

Of course it must be pointed out that the securities and bonds which went up in wispy white smoke as a result of Mrs. Glenn's unusual bonfire no longer are worth what their face value showed them to be.

The bonds and warrants, dating back as far as 1888 and none later than 1952, with their gaily printed faces and impressive engraved designs all designate original values of obligations long paid off by the county.

NOTHING DONE
Although the legal guide that

County Commissioners Courts follow repeatedly states that in February and in August of each year the court should issue an order to destroy all paid off securities and cancelled checks back to a specified date, nothing apparently has been done about it in the history of the county. (There is one possible exception—somewhere away back in the past, an order to destroy old checks seems to have been issued. At any rate, amid the collection of such checks, Mrs. Glenn found one box of checks dating back to 1912 and 1913. The next box is dated 15 years or so later. She thinks when the old checks were destroyed, this one carton was overlooked.)

Included in the burned bonds were 18 issued in 1888 to provide Howard County with one of its earlier courthouses. The bonds, $17,500 face value, were finally paid off in 1923. (Four years later the county built a new $46,000 courthouse.)

It is interesting to note that the 1888 bonds bore interest at six per cent and that the interest carried through on the entire issue from date of issue to maturity. As a result the $17,500 courthouse of which the county undoubtedly was proud, actually cost the taxpayers nearly two times that amount. Accumulated interest on the $17,500 issue to maturity was $13,261. This brought the actual cost of the county building to $30,761.

OTHER ISSUES
Other bond issues, long ago voted, the money expended and the debt dissolved which were included included:

- $150,000 county road bonds, 1946-1955; $300,000 county road bond, 1920-1950; $100,000 special road bond, 1911-1951; $45,000 county refund bond, 1935-1945; $46,000 county court-house jail bond, 1907-1937; $15,000 county jail improvement bonds, 1926-1936; $15,405 county jail improvement bonds, 1929-1945.

VIADUCT BONDS
For example, there is the $35,000 bond issue of May 1, 1929. It will be paid off May 1, 1965. There are still three $1,000 bonds to be retired.

What was this bond issue for? Why to build the viaduct across the T&P Railway tracks on Gregg Street.

Today, workmen are busily preparing to tear down this structure and replace it with a new one. The new crossing, when finished, will cost $700,000. Mrs. Glenn has a lot of room in her office vault.

This room, she points out, will be real handy to store other paid-off bond issues and cancelled checks until some commissioners court in the future decides in February or in August to order another bonfire.

Vets' Widows Are Eligible For Pensions

Widows of World War II or of Korean conflict veterans are now eligible for pensions on the same basis as World War I widows, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Lubbock, has pointed out.

Prior to July 1, 1960, widows of World War II or of Korean conflict veterans were eligible for pension only if the veteran had a definitely ascertainable service-connected disability at the time of his death. No such requirement existed for World War I widows.

Congressional legislation changed this however and since July 1, 1960, the eligibility of widows of all three periods of military service has been equalized.

Briefly, the pension requirements now are:

(a) The deceased veteran-husband must have had at least 90 days of service, part during wartime, unless discharged sooner for service-connected disability, or he was receiving or was entitled to receive compensation or retirement pay for a wartime service-connected disability, and in all cases, had been discharged under conditions other than dishonorable.

(b) The widow's income is not more than $1,800 annually (or, with a child or children of the veteran, not more than $3,000 annually) and she is not the possessor of an estate so large that it is reasonable to look to that estate for support.

Widows of World War II or of the Korean conflict who had applied for pensions prior to July 1, 1960, and were found ineligible should apply under the new law, Sisson said, if they believe their income may be within prescribed limits.

T&P To Buy New Equipment

DALLAS — The board of directors of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company at its meeting here authorized the expenditure of approximately $13-million for the purchase of new equipment in 1964.

Equipment to be purchased includes 15 Diesel-electric road locomotive units, 400 hopper cars, 100 flatcars and 100 boxcars.

John C. Bolinger, executive vice president of Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, St. Louis, was elected a member of the T&P Board of Directors succeeding Perry R. Bass, resigned.

Poll Tax On Sale Tuesday, But You Might Not Need One

Generally at this season of the year, there is a beating of the drums to persuade Texans to pay the poll tax and get ready to vote in the important elections which come up in 1964.

Tuesday, you can go to the office of Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county tax collector-assessor, in the county courthouse and pay your poll tax—if you want to do so. Mrs. LeFevre, however, suggests that you not rush down.

She even proposes it might be better to wait until after Nov. 9 to pay the tax. It is possible, she points out, that if you wait until that date, you can save $1.50 and still be entitled to vote.

On Nov. 9, the voters of Texas will go to the polls to say whether they want to repeal that provision of the state Constitution relating to the poll tax which makes payment of this tax a prerequisite to voting.

A proposed amendment to the federal Constitution to ban the poll tax nationally now lacks only two of having been ratified by enough of the states to make it operative. Between now and the next general election, it is probable, in the opinion of most observers, the necessary two additional ratifications will be made. Texas, at the election Nov. 9, could be one of the two.

Should Texans adopt the proposal to abolish the state poll tax as a requirement for voting, a new system will be put in operation—a system by which voters will be registered for a 25 cent fee rather than have to pay $1.75 poll tax in order to be eligible to vote.

This is why Mrs. LeFevre was being suggesting that the wise thing to do is wait until after Nov. 9 to pay the poll tax. If the poll tax amendment is approved, then the registration machinery will be set in operation and the voters will be qualified to vote on payment of a fee of 25 cents. If the poll tax is retained there will still be plenty of time to pay the tax and get the required receipts before the deadline.

However, Mrs. LeFevre observes, if you want to go ahead and pay your poll tax before Nov. 9 has passed, you will be qualified to vote in 1964 regardless of how the amendment election goes. But, she warns, you will not be refunded the $1.75 you will have paid for the receipt.

Even if the poll tax law is retained, Mrs. LeFevre points out that another development will be created. The U.S. Supreme Court, it seems, has ruled that no otherwise qualified elector can be kept from voting for any federal official at an election because he has not paid his poll tax.

Mrs. LeFevre said her office is prepared to issue special receipts to those voters who want to vote in federal elections but who object to payment of the poll tax. "We will issue poll tax receipts and stamp across their faces 'Poll tax not paid,'" she said. "This will let such voters vote for president, vice president, U.S. senators or congressmen, and electoral college representatives. Such poll tax receipts, in event the poll tax is retained in Texas, will not be valid at elections on state or local matters.

"If you want to pay your poll tax after Tuesday, we will be happy to issue a receipt," she said. "However, in view of the uncertainty, it seems to me it would be wiser to wait until after Nov. 9. The poll tax payment period extends from Oct. 1 through midnight Jan. 31. There will be plenty of time after Nov. 9, if things turn out that the poll tax is to be

Penney's Reports Earnings Gain

NEW YORK — J. C. Penney Company, department store chain, has reported a slight gain in earnings on record sales for the second quarter ended July 31. The company has 1,697 stores in operation.

Earnings after federal income taxes for the second quarter amounted to $10,826,101 (44 cents a share) compared with $10,720,537 (43 cents a share) a year ago. This was an increase of $105,564 or approximately 1 per cent.

Sales for the quarter totaled $397,596,363 against $381,723,410 last year, an increase of $15,872,953 or 4.2 per cent. August sales showed a stronger upturn, with volume amounting to $178,126,106 for a 16 per cent gain over the same month a year ago.

For the six months ended with July, sales rose 4.2 per cent to a record $745,289,369 from $715,539,969 for the same 1962 period. The company in August entered a new field with opening of an automotive store in Melbourne, Fla.

Some old bond issues were not included in the fire for the reason that they have not yet been paid off.

Today, workmen are busily preparing to tear down this structure and replace it with a new one. The new crossing, when finished, will cost $700,000. Mrs. Glenn has a lot of room in her office vault.

This room, she points out, will be real handy to store other paid-off bond issues and cancelled checks until some commissioners court in the future decides in February or in August to order another bonfire.

can't open the door

It's a fact every parent must face! The Church is eager to provide our children with religious training. And our children need this training. But THEY can't open the door.

We must come with them. We must worship every Sunday . . . and take an active part in the classes and activities of the Church for adults — not for ourselves alone.

For a child values supremely the example of his parents. If they love their Church — he loves it too! If going to Church is too much trouble for them — it's too much trouble for him too!

God gave us these little souls to love . . . to nurture . . . to raise to Christian manhood and womanhood. And God gave us churches . . . to enrich our lives and theirs.

And God gave us doors . . . to open!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

KAY PORTER
Girl of the Month

DWAYNE FRASER
Boy of the Month

Committees Appointed

By CAROLYN WILSON
This has been a very busy week around CHS beginning with early Monday morning. During homeroom, Monday, the student council had their weekly meeting. In this meeting the first thing taken care of was the election of the Boy and Girl of the Month. Based on their works done during September for the good of CHS, Kay Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter, and Dwayne Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fraser, both seniors, were elected as the first Boy and Girl of the Month.

Kay, head cheerleader, secretary of the student council, vice president of the FHA, vice president of the Spanish Club, active member of the National Honor Society and many other activities, is a very deserving and active person. Boy of the month, Dwayne (or Butch as he is better known) is also a very active person as well as an excellent student. Butch is president of the student council, past president of the Spanish Club, reserve quarterback for the CHS Bulldogs and an active member of the National Honor Society.

During the student council meeting several committees were appointed by the president to further the goals and aims of the council. Among these were activities committee, John Lowe, chairman; project committee, Butch Fraser, chairman; bulletin board committee, Carolyn Wilson, chairman; school spirit committee, Eddie McHugh, chairman; constitution committee, Vernon Long, chairman and public relations committee, Kay Porter, chairman.

The Science Club was organized last week and the new officers were elected. Those serving in the leading positions for this school term are Hayden Norris, president; Tommy Stoker, vice president; Larry McKinney, secretary-treasurer; Olen Fryar, reporter. The club's sponsor is Mr.

Phil Wynn, science teacher. The dues for the club are one dollar annually. Everyone is invited to attend meetings and urged to join. The first meeting of the National Honor Society was held last Tuesday with Jimmy Shafer assuming duties of the presidency. Officers for this year are Jimmy Shafer, president; Larry Newman, vice president; Carolyn Wilson, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Willie Lundy will be the organization's sponsor. Sophomore probationary members are now being selected by the faculty. And installation will be planned soon. The Spanish Club officers had a meeting in the library during fifth period to make some plans for activities for the new year. It is hoped that the club will be able to order organizational pens this year. Activities will be discussed and decided upon in the next meeting. This club's sponsor is Mr. Tommy Parrish, Spanish teacher.

Friday night was an open date for the CHS Bulldogs but next week they will come out fighting against the Big Lake Owls on the Coahoma field.

There will be a business meeting after school once a month. Dues will be 25 cents a semester and 50 cents a year. Representatives from each class will be elected before the next meeting. Science Club will consist of the biology, chemistry, physics and general science classes. The club meets once or twice a month. The activities will include science films, guest lecturers, field trips to various locations of interest and group experimentation. Membership is on a voluntary basis. All science students and students interested in science may join. The first meeting will probably be in the first part of October. The sponsors are Mrs. Breckenridge, Mr. Whitley, Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Cardwell and Mr. Kelly.

FHA Officers Set Meeting Dates

By SUE BLEDSOE
FHA officers met Tuesday with Mrs. Keith Bray, sponsor, to decide when the organization will schedule its regular meetings. The second Monday night of each month was set. There will be a business session and a program at each meeting. Ruth Lemon and Robbie Brown will present the first program. Also, tentative plans are being made for a style show in the future. Much to the relief of the annual staff, the first 16 pages of copy of the '64 Mustang were mailed Wednesday. Mrs. Glen Phillips, yearbook sponsor, helped them meet the Oct. 1 deadline. Sales on the yearbook have been good so far.

Class Pictures Taken at School Friday

Class pictures were taken at school Friday. Also taken were pictures of FHA, FFA, Junior high and high school football and pep squad, office workers, cafeteria workers, custodians, bus drivers, and teachers. Pictures of basketball and remaining organizations will be made later. The senior class has ordered several kinds of chocolates and butter candies to sell. The proceeds from this sale will be used for the senior trip. Many Sands students enjoyed a short holiday Monday afternoon when they attended student day at the Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock. School was dismissed at two o'clock for those who went with their parents.

By NANCY HEDLESTON
Throughout the year Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs will sponsor various projects. The sophomore Hi-Y is now in the process of promoting a club for sophomores at Coahoma. On Saturday, Sept. 21, the sophomore Tri-Hi-Y sponsored an odd jobs day. They raised $23. The main project of all the clubs now is writing a bill to take to Pre-Legislature. A new club membership fee has been established by the YMCA Board of Directors. If a student wishes to belong to a Tri-Hi-Y or Hi-Y club, he may do so by becoming a club member at $3.50 for the school year. This entitles a person to club membership and use of the "Y" physical facilities when participating as a club group. Persons desiring use of the physical facilities year around may participate on full youth memberships. All club members desiring to participate in Pre-Legislature and Youth and Government must have their memberships in good standing prior to participation. It has been decided by the Hi-Y Council that each week a Hi-Y or Tri-Hi-Y club will furnish the records for the social held every Monday night after the club meetings.

Lilting Country Music Inspires Ritz Film

You'll be clapping your hands and stamping your feet when you see Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Hootenanny Hoot," first motion picture to be inspired by the folk and country-western style music which is now sweeping the country.

It opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre in Big Spring.

Sam Katzman, who produced the lilting offering, brought together nine of the outstanding artists in this field of entertainment, among them the Brothers Four, Sheb Wooley, singer-guitarist Johnny Cash, the vocal and instrumental Gateway Trio, Judy Henske, one of the nation's most popular night club and concert folk-singers, George Hamilton IV, Joe and Eddie, Cathie Taylor and Chris Crosby, young son of Bob Crosby, making his motion picture debut.

This aggregation sings, dances and performs instrumentally in 13 specialty numbers highlighting the story of a New York television director whose marriage has gone on the rocks because his beautiful wife, a TV producer, has permitted her career to take precedence over romance. The complications also involve the director's agent and one of the glamorous stellar performers of a touring Hootenanny group.

These roles are played by Peter Breck as the director, Ruta Lee as his ex-wife, Joby Baker as the agent and Pam Austin as the entertainer. A series of dramatic and humorous situations take place before Miss Lee's eyes are opened to the fact that love is more important than a career and all the complications are ironed out in a rousing finale number, the Hootenanny Hoot.

A fun-loving couple, as full of life as life itself, is portrayed by Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara in "Spencer's Mountain," Warner Bros. drama produced and directed by Delmer Davies in Technicolor and Panavision in the Teltone of Wyoming.

"Spencer's Mountain," which opens Wednesday at the Jet Theatre, is one of those magic instances when the screen lights up with an unusual combination of performances. The teaming of Lincolnshire Fonda and the flame-haired colleen O'Hara has produced a free-and-easy pair of screen characters.

Fonda and Miss O'Hara portray the father and mother of a healthy brood of nine children. He's a hardworking quarry-man who enjoys an afternoon of fishing and enjoys sneaking up and swatting his wife while she's hanging the laundry. And, although she has her hands full with the house and kids and making ends meet, she always finds time to playfully resist her husband's bear-hug and then give him one of her own.

Miss O'Hara flashes some good-natured Irish common sense when well-meaning friends wonder aloud if she is committing a professional error by assuming such "unglamorous" parental roles.

"Unglamorous! In my opinion it's the barren, childless woman who is lacking in glamor. I'd rather play a fruitful woman like Olivia Spencer in 'Spencer's Mountain.' Don't you think having nine kids indicates that there's a little sex - appeal lurking in Olivia?"

The father kept changing business; he gives details about such events as William's broken nose (as a high school quarterback he tackled a fellow player who was running the wrong way with an intercepted pass).

As for William's adult life, the brother cites specific instances of the stubborn insistence on privacy; recalls William's early interest in airplanes and his late interest in riding horses, his toying with farming; mentions his early conviction that shocking stories would sell, and his later, purely monetary interest in Hollywood; and catalogs many a mild idiosyncrasy.

John wrote short stories and novels, too, but never became a full-time author. He has left a highly personal account of his brother's life. Faulkner fans may find no great disclosures here, but there is a great deal of close observation.

A Brother's Report On A Giant's Personality

By JOHN FAULKNER (TRIDENT, $4.95)

The personality of William Faulkner, written as an "affectionate reminiscence" has been written by his brother John, four years his junior.

But there is almost as much material about the Faulkner family's environment—Oxford, Miss., in the early years of this century—as there is about the Nobel Prize winner.

The brother assumes the reader is familiar with the contents of William's books, and with the salient facts of his biography. He has attempted no literary analyses.

John makes a leisurely climb through the family tree, examines in minute detail the school patterns, childhood games, pranks and social customs of their small town life, and recalls innumerable small anecdotes.

CUBAN PRISONER EXCHANGE Red Cross had important role.

RED CROSS STAMP U.S. Joins Rush With New Issue

The United States has joined the list of more than 100 nations issuing a special stamp to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Red Cross. It will be released on October 29 in Washington, D. C.

The 5-cent stamp points up the role of the Red Cross in the Cuban Prisoner Exchange program. Between December of last year and July of 1963, 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners and 7,857 Cuban civilians were transported to freedom in the United States.

The stamp shows a group of refugees on the deck of the S. S. Morning Light silhouetted against the sky. Above them flies the Red-Cross flag. It is based on a photograph made by Rudolph Vetter at the time the craft docked at Port Everglades May 24 carrying 751 refugees.

Collectors desiring first day covers should forward their envelopes together with remittance to Postmaster, Washington, D. C. (20013) no later than October 29.

To commemorate the celebration of the Jewish New Year (5724), Israel has dedicated its annual festival series of stamps. The subject for this series is based on the book of Jonah. There are three stamps in the series. Scenes depicted are "The sun set upon the head of Jonah"; "There was a mighty tempest in the sea"; and "Jonah was in the belly of the fish." Inscriptions appear on the tabs beneath each stamp in Hebrew and in French.

Ecuador has issued a two-value set of identical design to commemorate the Pan-American and South American Congress of Pediatrics. The design features a mother and a child. A special cancellation has been prepared showing a child cupped in a pair of hands.

India has issued two stamps with an unusual topic—the need for defense of India's border against aggression. Most Indian stamps honor poets and spiritual leaders or peaceful aspects of the country's culture. The 15p issue shows soldiers maneuvering an artillery vehicle up a steep hill, with a Red Cross helicopter hovering near the battle area. The 1 rupee stamp features a soldier in winter field uniform standing guard, at the threatened northern border, while a troop carrier plane drops supplies to personnel stationed in the mountains. The words "They Defend" appear on both stamps.

Artist Has Three Works In Show

Mrs. Betty Holt Crenshaw, local artist, will have three paintings on exhibit in the Second Annual Invitational Exhibition of the Texas Fine Arts Association Oct. 8-28 at the Elizabeth Ney Museum in Austin.

The show is by invitation only to artists who have had work selected for circuit showings through TFAA exhibits in 1961, 1962 and 1963.

Locally, the Las Artists Club will have a constant display of paintings by its members at business establishments. This is a public relations effort and businesses wishing an exhibit or artists desiring to display their work may call Mrs. Donald Hale at AM 4-5064.

New works will be shown each month, with the date of change the day following each meeting of the club. The group meets on the third Tuesday of each month.

Currently on display are "Tomorrow," by Mrs. Valle Parker and "Sidewalk Entertainer," by James Windedahl, at the First National Bank; "Cactus," by Mrs. Grace McClinton, at Wright's Prescription Center; "Desert Rose" and "Morning," by Nancy Lewis, at Master's Cafeteria; "Autumn," by Mrs. Bill Unger,

Students Get Special Rate

Students usually get a break on prices for cultural activities in Big Spring and now another bargain is on the market for this set. They can purchase season tickets to showings of the Little Theater at half the regular admission.

Any high school or college student qualifies for the special rate. To students, single memberships which normally sell for $5, are available for $2.50.

No effort has yet been made to tabulate results of an intensive membership campaign kicked off by the Little Theater group last week. Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., membership chairman, said. The first report meeting will be held Tuesday night.

Other prices include family tickets at $8 for 12 admissions or $15 for 20 admissions. The latter would allow a family of four to attend every production of the season.

First production will be staged Oct. 11-12. It is "Dial M for Murder," the story of an ex-professional tennis player who marries a wealthy fan for her money, then plans a perfect murder to get his hands on it.

More Murders Are Counted This Year

Big Spring, with seven murders counted during the first 8½ months in 1963—as compared to three for all of 1962—is already way ahead of the state average for each 100,000 population. Big Spring's actual rate for two-thirds of a year is 25 per 100,000. Last year's Texas average was 7.2 per 100,000 population.

According to the 1962 annual report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation only two cities in the United States, with a population of from 25,000 to 50,000, equalled or exceeded Big Spring's murder count for 9½ months in 1963. Spartanburg, S. C. reported 10 and Wilson, N. C., eight.

Murders investigated in Big Spring since Jan. 1 include, with dates: Jerry Lee Johnson, 19, shot at 508 NW 3rd Jan. 12; Joyce Snedecore, 27, killed at 108 Scurry, Jan. 31; Loma Flippin O'Neal, 39, shot March 31 at 205 Utah Road; Gloria Gomez (Margaret Winters), 32, died following a beating at 509 NW 4th April 3; Salomon Miller, 60, died following head injury July 20 when struck by heavy object at 309 N.
