LA Stymies Yanks, 4-1 For Second

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers captured their second straight victory over the New York Yankees in the 1963 World Series Thursday, winning the second game 4-1. Johnny Podres, the pitching hero of the Dodgers' 1955 Series triumph over the Yankees, limited the defending world champions to six hits before giving way to Ron Perranoski after Hector Lopez' double with one out in the ninth inning. Elston Howard greeted the relief ace with a run-scoring single, but Perranoski got the final two batters without further trouble and the National League had a 2-0 lead. The Dodgers hopped on young southpaw Al Downing for two runs in the first inning when Maury Wills singled and stole second. Jim Gilliam singled and Willie Davis rapped a drive to right which went for a two-run double when Roger Maris fell down trying to get the ball. Ex-Yankee Bill Skowron continued to harass his former team, clouting a homer in the fourth, and the Dodgers added their other run in the eighth against reliever Ralph Terry on Willie Davis' second double and Tommy Davis' second triple. After a day off for travel Friday, the Series will resume Saturday at Los Angeles with Don Drysdale of the Dodgers slated to pitch against the Yankees' Jim Bouton in a right-handers' duel. It was reported that Maris suffered a bruised left arm, requiring no X-rays, and that he was expected to play in Saturday's third game at Los Angeles.

Nationalists Warn Against Blindness

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Nationalist China warns the United Nations today not to let the cold war thaw blind it to the avowed Communist goal of world domination. Nationalist Ambassador Liu Chieh said that in his policy speech to the General Assembly he would cite Soviet actions and statements to prove that the Kremlin has not abandoned aggressive policies.

Military Coup Takes Over Government In Honduras

WASHINGTON (AP) — A military uprising broke out early today in Honduras against the government of President Villeda Morales. Early this afternoon the State Department said it was uncertain whether the president actually had been ousted. The United States warned Honduran military leaders in advance that it was opposed to "unconstitutional seizures" of power, a State Department spokesman reported. This indicated that the United States was prepared to condemn the coup assuming it proved successful. Officials said there were reports of some shooting between the Honduran military forces and members of a civil guard seeking to uphold Villeda Morales. The civil guard was described here as being loyal to the Liberal party in Honduras. State Department press officer

IUOE Group To Convene In Big Spring

Approximately four score delegates will convene here Friday for the Southwest Conference of the International Union of Operating Engineers, an event which will draw half a dozen of the organization's top officials. Heading the list of conference speakers will be Hunter P. Wharton, Washington, D. C., international president, who will speak Friday afternoon. Five vice presidents due here for a part on the program include Eugene Beardon, Newark, N. J.; Leo Bachinski, St. Louis, Mo.; John Brady, Chicago, Ill.; Newell Carmen, San Francisco, Calif.; and Jack McDonald, Seattle, Wash. Among others due to have a part on the program are Joe Parker, Fort Worth, representing the National Labor Relations Board; Albert M. Hiatt, the United States Department of Labor, labor-management reports compliance officer (for the Landrum-Griffith section); and Reece Hammond, Washington, D. C., director of research for the IUOE. Registration begins at 10 a.m. Friday and the first session at 11 a.m., and includes welcomes to the city by R. L. Tollett, president of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., Larry M. Crow, city manager representing the City of Big Spring, and officials of Local 826. The Local will also sponsor a dance Saturday evening for members and delegates. Sessions will be at the Settles Hotel and many of them will be in the form of a workshop. Over 75 delegates are expected, along with a number of Local members.

Bella Takes Full Control

ALGIERS (AP) — President Ahmed Ben Bella announced today he has assumed full powers to deal with the Berber mutiny in the Kabyle Mountains. He indicated he intended to try persuasion and moral pressures from Algeria's Arab majority. Pledged to avoid bloodshed, Ben Bella said regular army troops will not be used against the insurgents. The president made his announcement before a reduced National Assembly, meeting two hours behind schedule. Failure of 30 to 40 deputies to show up caused the delay. "I assume full powers under Article 59 of our Constitution," Ben Bella said. "The troops of the people's army will not be used against the sister population of Kabyle. 'I call upon all militants to go back to their homes. Problems exist, but if they are to be discussed let this be done in calm, not in the mountains with machineguns in hand.' The assembly then voted him a resolution of support. The action came as Berber civilians in the mountains were answering the call of rebel leaders to join the 4-day-old revolt—a revolt in which so far not a shot has been fired. Civilians, many of whom fought for Algeria's independence, grouped at assembly points in Michelet, 90 miles east of Algiers, Fort National and other mountain towns. They were to be taken to rebel army units in the mountains. The recruits were to be formed into guerrilla units. There was no way to estimate how many were answering the rebel call.

No Major Change Seen For Viet Nam Policy

THE GRAND CHAMPION . . . and Larry Shaw looks mighty proud

Larry Shaw Shows Grand Champion At Pig Show

Larry Shaw, 4-H Club member from Knott, won grand champion honors in the barrow division at the 18th annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club pig show today. His lightweight barrow was declared best of the show by Euel Linder, Lubbock judge. Linder, who judged last year's pig show here, told the sizeable crowd Thursday morning that this year's pigs were the best he has seen at local shows. "Last year," he said, "I had a bad time making up my mind which pig was the better. This year the job was even more difficult." He congratulated the youngsters on their skill and effort. Larry Redman, Big Spring FFA, won the reserve championship with his heavyweight barrow. Both his and Shaw's entries had topped their respective classes.

United Fund Tops $7,000

The United Fund campaign can count over $7,000 in cash and pledges now in hand for the current effort, with several divisions still to begin their drive. Gifts turned in by Special Gifts Division Wednesday totaled more than $1,000 and other divisions are plugging away at their goals to build the total even higher. The City Employees Division, under Roy Anderson, was to begin its drive today, which puts volunteer workers in all public employes divisions either working or completed. The United Fund campaign provides financial help to 13 local youth guidance and welfare organizations. These agencies include the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Lakewood YMCA, Westside Youth Center, Howard County Rehabilitation Center, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Texas United Fund, Milk and Ice Fund, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Air Force Aid Society, and Summer Recreation Program. This annual campaign is conducted by volunteers, who give their time and energies at no charge. All kickoff breakfasts are paid for by the workers. In addition, the United Fund offices are donated by Cosden.

Fire Destroys School In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A fire destroyed the buildings at Arlington Park Elementary School in the Love Field area of Dallas today. None of the children or teachers was injured. Cause of the fire was not immediately known.

UNITED FUND Lakeview Y Serves 1,500

The Lakeview YMCA will receive $7,000 from the United Fund, a boost of about $2,000 in participation over the preceding year. The $7,000 figure represents only $47 less than was requested. Lakeview expenses are estimated at $8,192 for 1963, up only about $500. Membership sales are expected to increase this year—to $1,300 or about $300 more than in 1962. Club services and program fees do not bring in much due to the limited facilities at Lakeview. Revenue from this source should amount to only $100 this year. Organizations which use the Lakeview facilities include Grays, two civic groups, four lodges, Scouts and Brownies. The total number using the facilities is about 1,500. There are two staff members at the Lakeview YMCA. Jim Smith is program secretary, and Albert McManus is custodian.

War Going Well, Advisors Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's military advisers have told him the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam is going well enough that it may be possible to withdraw most of the American forces there in two years, the White House reports. In a statement issued only hours after the return from Viet Nam of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, there was no indication of any dramatic change of American policy toward the South Viet Nam government. The two officials said the political situation in South Viet Nam remains "deeply serious." But they predicted that by the end of this year the U.S. training program for Vietnamese would have reached the point where 1,000 military personnel assigned to South Viet Nam can be withdrawn. The White House said Wednesday night's declaration was approved by Kennedy on the basis of recommendations of McNamara and Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. It said that South Viet Nam's security remains "a major interest of the United States" and that putting down the Viet Cong insurgency is the chief objective of U.S. policy there. In the five-point policy statement, the White House said that while the Diem government's repressive actions against Buddhists "have not yet significantly affected the military effort they could do so in the future." The United States has poured millions of dollars and thousands of men into South Viet Nam to keep the Southeast Asia country from falling into Communist hands. But U.S. officials, including Kennedy, expressed fear after the Buddhists' anti-government demonstrations that the war there could be lost if there were not reforms in the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic. One of the chief reasons for the McNamara-Taylor mission was to learn if the clampdown on Buddhists was hindering the anti-guerrilla effort. The White House statement said "the military program in South Viet Nam has made progress and is sound in principle, though improvements are being energetically sought." Then it added, "Military assistance in support of this military effort is needed only until the insurgency has been suppressed or until the national security forces of the government of South Viet Nam are capable of suppressing it." McNamara and Taylor, the

Negro Jailed In Explosion

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A young Negro was charged with arson today in the investigation of a gas explosion which destroyed a meat market in a Negro residential area of bomb-jittery Birmingham. Police Capt. J. W. Garrison said two detectives are investigating the possibility of racial undertones in Wednesday night's explosion. The Negro, Johnny Lewis Ruffin, 20, was placed under police custody less than two hours after an internal explosion rocked the single story brick store, operated by white owners. Garrison said Ruffin was questioned at University Hospital, where he came for treatment of burns of the left arm, side and thigh. Ruffin said he received the burns from a gasoline stove where he worked. The store, a shambles after the internal explosion set off a scorching fire, is ringed by Negro low-income homes in northwest Birmingham.

Well Plugging Ban Extended

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Railroad Commission extended today a ban on plugging of oil wells in the East Texas field. The commission said the ban, which began June 1, 1962, at the outset of the slant-hole oil well scandal is needed because commission investigations still are under way. The order extends the ban to Nov. 3.

BS Deposits Dip Slightly

	Sept. 30, 1963	Sept. 28, 1962	Gain (Loss)

Total Resources	$41,174,374.51	$40,698,740.37	$475,634.14

Deposits eased off about a half of one per cent but all other figures for three Big Spring and one Howard County banks were up, statements showed today. The report was in response to a call by the United States comptroller of currency and the state banking commissioner for statement of condition as of Sept. 30, 1963. Deposits aggregated $36,824,737.02, or $209,696 less than the comparable date last year, and were down $1,511,000 from the June 28, 1963 call. Loans and discounts aggregated $21,304,628, a gain of $4,431,860 over a year ago and well above the $20,402,006 on the June call. The loan figure was a new all-time high for Howard County banks. Cash amounted to $8,755,550, an increase of $937,065 over a year ago. This was about a million more than the $7,469,323 in June. Total resources total a surge in reaching $41,174,374, an increase of $475,634 over last year but about a million under the $42,263,248 on the June call. The banks together held $3,958,671.69 in United States bonds not including $1,083,385.12 in U.S. Public Housing bonds and $3,879,105.60 in county and municipal bonds. The aggregate U.S. and county and municipal figure was $7,837,777.29, or $7,517,082.57 less than a year ago. By banks, the reports showed: FIRST NATIONAL—Loans and discounts $11,420,729.53, deposits $19,447,942.15, cash $5,723,639.82, total resources $21,542,307.35. In addition, the bank held $1,170,327.70 in United States bonds and $1,258,268.34 in other bonds. COAHOMA STATE — Loans and discounts $728,645.67, deposits $1,092,217.01, cash $205,202.32, total resources $1,311,150.61. In addition, the bank held $326,536.16 in United States bonds.

JFK Voices Determination To Continue Flood Work

HEBER SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — President Kennedy dedicated a power and flood control dam today and declared a determination that "we shall continue to move ahead" to build the strength and greatness of America. He said power and flood control projects, often denounced by opponents as pork barrel, boondoggle and white elephant, will continue to operate for the good of the country long after their critics are gone. Kennedy spoke at the dedication of the Greers Ferry Dam, on the Little Red River near this north central Arkansas community. The President flew to Arkansas for the dam dedication and an afternoon speech at Little Rock, where the school integration issue first flamed into a collision between the powers of state and federal governments six years ago. NO POLITICKING White House sources tended to play down any emphasis on outright politicking in Kennedy's quick trip to Arkansas—a state he carried in 1960. But Kennedy did invite six members of the Arkansas delegation in Congress, all Democrats, to make the journey with him, and he referred to them in his prepared remarks. The $46.7 million Greers Ferry Dam, Kennedy said, is an impressive project that will produce impressive benefits to the state and nation. The President delivered another speech on the grounds of a livestock exhibition at Little Rock. This was to be the major one of the day, the White House said. There was broad speculation that it would touch on the racial problem and the administration's civil rights legislative program. OPEN TO ALL Arkansas leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People urged Kennedy to cancel his appearance, contending the exhibition grounds are closed to Negroes. White House officials said that Kennedy never had spoken to a segregated audience and that they had assurances the fairgrounds would be open to all citizens to hear him speak this time. It was six years ago that Gov. Orval E. Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard in a flare-up over integration of Little Rock's Central High School. Kennedy's predecessor, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, mustered the guardsmen into federal service, sent in federal troops, and integration followed. FEDERAL TROOPS History has been repeated since. Kennedy took National Guardsmen from under the wings of the governors of Mississippi and Alabama and ordered in federal troops during racial upheavals in those two states. Faubus now is in a fifth term. He arranged to welcome the President to the state and remain by his side during his stay. The governor said he had received considerable mail asking him not to do anything that would indicate approval of the President's civil rights program. Kennedy invited the six-man Arkansas congressional delegation—two senators, four House members, all of them Democrats—to ride his jet airliner with him to their state. But there was less of an undercurrent of political preparation and urgency in this trip than the one the President undertook last week. Kennedy carried Arkansas in 1960, but he took only three of the 11 states he toured last week. The Kennedy schedule called for a take-off from Washington at 9:15 a.m. EST, arrival at the Little Rock Air Force Base two hours later, a helicopter flight to the dam site for the dedication ceremonies and lunch, and a speech about 12:20 p.m.

Increased Air Service Nearer For Big Spring

Increased air service for Big Spring was pushed one step closer to reality today with issuance of a mail rate order by the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D. C. in the Southwestern Area Local Service Case.

The order is the prelude to a final order which will authorize Trans-Texas Airways to provide service to Big Spring and a dozen other cities in Texas and New Mexico.

Cooper Relates Spectaculars Of Light, Colors Seen In Space

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The wondrous, almost spellbinding sights and colors of space were described vividly today by astronaut Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. in the final report on his 22-orbit mission.

The report, presented at a conference summarizing the results of the Mercury man-in-space project, contained no new disclosures on Cooper's flight of last May 15-16. But his personal observations of the space environment were a brilliantly etched record of phenomena witnessed by only six Americans and six Russians.

"I never tired of looking at the sunsets," said the 36-year-old Air Force major, who saw 22 of them during America's longest manned space flight.

WELL DEFINED

"As the sun begins to get down towards the horizon, it is very well defined... it is a very bright white; almost the bluish white color of an arc lamp. As it begins to impinge on the horizon, it undergoes a spreading, or flattening, effect.

"The sky begins to get quite dark... this light spreading out from the sun is a bright orange color which moves out under a narrow band of bright blue that is always visible throughout the daylight period.

"As the sun sets farther, it is replaced by a bright gold-orange band which extends out for some distance on either side, defining the horizon even more clearly. The sun goes below the horizon rapidly, and the orange band still remains, but gets considerably fainter as the black sky bounded

Only 9 Poll Tax Receipts Have Been Bought Here

Older citizens, who are eligible to vote on presentation of exemption certificates under Texas' poll tax law, are showing up in reasonably large numbers to get their papers from the office of the Howard County Tax Assessor-Collector.

Others, who would be required under the present law to have a poll tax to be eligible to vote, are not so plentiful.

The tax office has issued 74 exemption certificates since Tuesday — first day that such papers could be written. In the same interval, only nine poll tax receipts have been written. Only two poll tax payments were made Wednesday.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax assessor-collector, urged all older citizens to obtain exemption certificates as soon as possible. There is no charge for these papers.

She has recommended, however, that poll tax payments not be

Chairman Wins On Name Plate

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Roe Saunders became chairman of the county welfare board because his signature plate was better than the one for Art Jens.

The plate with Jens' signature suddenly wouldn't work in the mechanical check writer in the welfare office two weeks ago. So, nobody could get paid.

The plate bearing Saunders' signature was rushed into service, and he was made board chairman so the payment would be good.

Saunders, a county commissioner, gave up the emergency job after Jens' signature plate was fixed.

WHAT CHURCH DID HE JOIN?

In recent articles we have studied the conversion of Saul (later known as Paul). We learned he was baptized. Now, we ask: What church did he join? There were no Protestant churches then. They came long after the Catholic Church.

The Roman Catholic Church did not exist then; for there was no man recognized as the head of the universal church until hundreds of years after Paul's time.

But Christ, who had promised to do so (Matt. 16:16-19) had built His church (the church of Christ). Each day the Lord was adding to His church, such as should be saved (Acts 2:47). Thus Paul was added to it the day he was saved.

Paul was not baptized into a denomination. He said he was "baptized into Christ" (Rom. 6:3). This is the old time religion.

No Trace Yet Found Of 'Tiger Woman'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—On Oct. 1, a year ago trunk murderer Winnie Ruth Judd opened a door left unlocked by attendants and escaped from the Arizona State Hospital for the seventh time.

It was big news at the time. Now, no one seems concerned that the "Tiger Woman" of the 1930s still is missing.

Given her nickname by newspapers for the mutilation slaying of two Phoenix women in 1931, Winnie Ruth, 57, hardly looked the part when last seen by authorities. She looked more like Mrs. Average American—auburn-haired, 5-foot-5 tall and weighing between 127 and 150 pounds.

FENCE DOWN
Mrs. Judd, an inmate for 29 years, probably escaped at a spot where the high chain-link fence had been torn down temporarily for highway construction.

A week later police found her clothing on the roof of a shed four blocks from the hospital.

She was reported at various times to have been seen in Minnesota, New Mexico, California, South Dakota and other places.

All leads fizzled out. For nine months the case has been practically a dead issue with police and hospital authorities.

DR. SAMUEL WICK, head of the hospital, refuses to discuss Mrs. Judd or to permit hospital employees to talk with newsmen about her. He says only that she no longer is considered dangerous.

NO PROGRESS
Phoenix police will say only that there has been no progress in finding her.

"She isn't here," says Maricopa County Sheriff Cal Boxes, who has participated in most searches for her. "She's well enough known around here that someone would have reported her by now."

On Oct. 16, 1931, Mrs. Judd, then 26, shot Agnes Anne Leroi, an X-ray technician, and Hedvig Samuelson, a school teacher, in a Phoenix apartment shared by the victims. She stuffed Miss Leroi's body into a large trunk and cut Miss Samuelson's body into pieces which would fit into a smaller trunk.

She addressed the trunks to herself and sent them to Los Angeles by train.

A suspicious baggage master in Los Angeles demanded Mrs. Judd open them before he would turn the trunks over to her.

OPEN BAGGAGE
She fled and police opened the baggage. Winnie Ruth eluded police for four days. When they caught her, she was suffering from a bullet wound in her hand.

She told Los Angeles police "I killed them after Hedvig Samuelson had shot me in the hand during a quarrel. Right after Hedvig shot me, Agnes Leroi picked up an ironing board and beat me on the head. I fell to the floor and picked up the gun. Then I shot them both."

She said the quarrel was over a Phoenix lumberman she had introduced to the two women, both previously her close friends.

During her trial Mrs. Judd, the daughter of an Indiana preacher, tried to disrupt one session by a continuous loud coughing spell. Another time, she refused to get out of bed in jail to go to the courtroom. Only after the sheriff threatened to handcuff her and hailed her to court in wheelchair did she relent.

CLOSE RANGE
State prosecutors refuted Mrs. Judd's claim of self-defense. They contended the victims were shot in the head at close range, possibly while asleep. Police said they found no sign of the struggle Mrs. Judd described and contended before the jury and pleaded to have her sentence cut to life imprisonment. Gov. Howard Pyle signed the order which removed the threat of execution.

Mrs. Judd was declared sane and was convicted of murdering Miss Leroi. Winnie Ruth was sentenced to hang.

The state prison warden said she became hysterical in death row and he asked for a sanity hearing. This time she was declared insane. On the day she was to have been executed, April 24, 1933, Mrs. Judd was transferred to the state hospital in Phoenix. In 1939, she made her first escape from the hospital and was

Baptist Church Lowers Barriers

FORT WORTH (AP)—Race barriers are being lowered by the University Baptist Church, Fort Worth's largest of that denomination.

The congregation voted 300 to 3 at its annual business meeting Wednesday night to accept all persons seeking membership regardless of race or color. This course was recommended by the board of deacons.

No one spoke against the motion. The church is near the Texas Christian University campus and has about 2,000 members. Dr. James Harris, pastor, told those present they had a choice to "face it head-on and set a policy or wait until a person presents himself for membership and face in another Wednesday night."

If we wait, we will not feel any different than we do tonight.

Dirksen Favorable To Sale Of Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today he is inclined to support gold-on-the-barrelhead sale of wheat to Russia if some fringe benefits are involved.

This statement in an interview indicated that President Kennedy might be able to form the kind of GOP leadership support associates said he wants before he decides on any deal with the Soviets.

HAS ENOUGH
Matveev confirmed Wednesday night that the Russians had held preliminary talks with American grain dealers in Ottawa, but told a newsman that Russia now feels it has enough wheat to last until next summer.

Dirksen said he believes the American people would feel more comfortable about any wheat transaction with the Kremlin if the Russians were to make concessions of some kind in connection with it.

He said he was informed that Canada got some "fringe benefits" when it sold grain to the Russians, but had been unable to learn what they were. He added that he had no immediate suggestions on the form any concessions to the United States might take.

Without taking a stand on the issue itself, House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana posed in a statement a series of questions he said should be answered before any deal is made.

"Would exporters draw a 50 cent a bushel subsidy, representing the difference between the world and higher domestic price?" he asked.

SUBSIDIZED WHEAT
"What possible guarantees have ever been devised that can prevent the Soviet Union from reselling such American subsidized wheat to Cuba and even North Viet Nam?"

"If the Kennedy administration puts its stamp of approval on sale of wheat to the Soviets, how can our government expect to persuade other nations not to trade with Cuba in the future?"

This latter point obviously was providing the administration with its largest political headache. It was having difficulty in attempts to sell the idea of any Soviet grain trade to such Democrats as Sens. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and Strom Thurmond, D-S.C.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the conference of all Republican senators, said he personally would be willing to support a one-shot, cash sale of wheat.

"We have to be realistic about this situation," he said. "The Canadians, the West Germans and the French are selling wheat and flour to the Russians."

High Court Gives Approval To First Indiana Sales Tax

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The State Supreme Court gave Indiana its first sales tax with a unanimous 5-0 decision that the 2 percent levy passed by the 1963 General Assembly is constitutional.

Unless a rehearing is asked, collection of the tax can start on Oct. 22.

The tax will apply to all retail sales, including food and drugs, but exempting such things as school lunches, newspapers, and materials used by farmers or manufacturers in producing goods for human or animal consumption.

An indirect exemption intended to cover food and drugs permits a taxpayer to deduct $6 per person from his annual gross income tax bill.

The court interpreted the law Wednesday to provide for collection of the first penny of the sales tax on 35-cent purchases, two cents at the 75-cent level.

Bodies Returned

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (AP)—Bodies of six of the 32 braceros killed in a California truck-train accident have been returned here. Officials said nine more were returned to Guadalajara and 17 were buried at Salinas.

Gonzalez Becomes Leader For Latins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas with a Latin American background have, in Rep. Henry Gonzalez, San Antonio Democrat, an able Washington advocate.

Gonzalez, 47, the first Texan of Mexican descent to serve in Congress, gets much mail from persons with Spanish surnames living not only in Texas, but also in New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Able to speak with equal fluency in Spanish and English, Gonzalez frequently appears on radio and television programs beamed for Latin American audiences.

Some are simply his own productions for use over San Antonio stations, like those most congressmen make. These are designed not only to inform but to win political support. Others are sponsored by the Voice of America to help build friendship for the United States in Central and South America.

IN SPANISH

Most of the mail Gonzalez receives is written in English, but some letters are in Spanish and replied to in kind. Abiding by the congressional custom, Gonzalez refers letters from outside Texas to the member whose constituent has written, but still sends them a reply telling what he has done.

In recent weeks Gonzalez has led the fight against legislation to extend the bracero program, under which Mexican nationals are imported to do farm work in the U.S. The law expires Dec. 31 unless extended.

The San Antonio congressman's position is that the effect of the bracero program is to depress the wages of domestic migratory farm workers, a great portion of whom are Mexican Americans—many of whom live in or around San Antonio and, like Gonzalez, were born and reared there. His father and mother came to San Antonio as political refugees during a Mexican revolution not long before he was born.

IMPROVE CONDITIONS

Discussing the plight of these American citizens before a Senate Labor subcommittee, urging stepped up federal job training programs and other programs to help improve their conditions, Gonzalez said:

"The 1960 census shows that there were at that time some 1,418,000 Spanish surnamed persons in Texas; this constitutes 15 per cent of the total population of the state. . . . In general, the Texas Latin is a man with a large family, low income, low educational attainment, and faces frequent unemployment or underemployment."

Gonzalez is the father of eight children. They reside in San Antonio, Tex., because of their school situation. Gonzalez flies down every weekend he possibly can to be with them.

"About 90 per cent of the Latin American workers of Texas are non-migrant workers," Gonzalez also told the Senate committee.

"These workers share some problems basic to all Texas workers and some problems that are peculiar to the Latins."

Always Something New To See

Mrs. Mary Bettis is not inclined to sit at home even if she is 101 years old. "There's always something new to see," she said during a visit to San Francisco's Steinhart Aquarium. Taken behind the scenes, Mrs. Bettis petted a smiling seal named Sissie held by aquarist Fred Jenne and then watched leaping dolphins. "My, they certainly can jump," she commented. Mrs. Bettis, who resides in an Oakland, Calif., rest home across the bay from San Francisco, regularly boards a bus for a tour of the Bay Area. (AP WIREPHOTO).

The bidding:
East South West North
3 3 4 4
Pass Pass 5 5
Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♥

For the second consecutive tournament, a team of my Miami neighbors captained by Cliff Russell and including Edith Kemp and her brother, Billy Seamon; Harry Harkavy, and Russ Arnold with Al Roth of New York City won the Knockout Team-of-Four championship at the Summer Nationals recently concluded in Los Angeles. Earlier this year the same team, with the exception of Arnold who replaced Albert Weiss, captured the Vanderbilt event in St. Louis.

A hand in which Harkavy picked up a substantial swing for his team is presented today. Harkavy was seated South, partnered by Cliff Russell in the North position, and they quickly discovered that their opponents did not intend to make matters easy for them. East opened the bidding with three diamonds which presented South with quite a problem. While the risk in making a vulnerable overcall at the three level was considerable, Harkavy was reluctant to be shut out of an opportunity to score offensively, so he bid three spades.

West bid four hearts and North raised partner to four spades. When the bidding reverted to West, he decided to sacrifice at five hearts. Had he been permitted to play his bid, his opponents would have been able to take one trick in each side suit for a 100-point penalty. Russell was reluctant to settle for a paltry profit, however, and he persisted to five spades.

West led the king of hearts and shifted to his singleton diamond. South put up the dummy's ace and immediately led a club to the ace in his hand. He was paving the way for an end play in clubs and he did not wish to lend the opposition any inducement to unblock in the suit. Trumps were now drawn in two rounds followed by a heart ruff in dummy. A diamond was led to the king and the last diamond was trumped out.

A club was played and the defense was helpless. If East put up the king of clubs, it would drop his partner's queen and establish declarer's jack. If West were allowed to win the trick, however, the forced-heart return would allow South to ruff in dummy while he discarded the losing club from his hand.

Harkavy made five spades for a score of 650, while in the other room his teammates were permitted to play a four-heart doubled contract with the East-West cards which they fulfilled for a score of 590. The total swing on the deal was 1,240 points.

MINORITY GROUPS

"The common problems of Texas labor are beyond the reach of federal jurisdiction for the most part, but should be discussed, for these problems militate most strongly against minority group workers."

"All Texas workers are handicapped by the absence of state wage, hour, safety and fair employment practices laws. Because Texas is such a big state, it has a marked area which very often permits large operations in purely intrastate commerce, so that congressional powers of regulating interstate commerce frequently do not apply."

"The result is low wages, especially for the Latin and Negro workers who hold the low-skill jobs."

Balmy Days Still Here

By The Associated Press

Indian summer weather is sticking around in Texas and there was no hint of change Thursday.

Cloudless skies likewise held no promise of rain, needed badly in many sections of the state.

Prospects for a fresh cool front faded. After predicting its arrival for the past two days, the Weather Bureau gave up. Forecasts called for fair and warmer across the north half of Texas. It was due to stay clear to partly cloudy and mild in the south.

The mercury climbed to 94 degrees Wednesday at Childress, Presidio and Wichita Falls. Top marks elsewhere ranged down to 78 at Galveston.

Tight Security Measures Invoked For Visit By Tito

MEXICO (AP) — The Mexican government invoked extra-ordinary security measures for the arrival today of Yugoslav President Tito to begin a 14-day official visit to Mexico.

Five companies of soldiers stood ready to surround the hotel at nearby Uxmal, where Tito will spend his first day.

All hotel guests were asked to move out.

Arrangements were made to put security agents from both Mexico and Yugoslavia on constant guard in hallways.

Orders went out to allow no unauthorized persons to approach the hotel. It is the Hacienda Uxmal, in a tropical setting 45 miles north of here.

Tito and his wife will occupy adjoining suites.

Their chartered DC8 jet was scheduled to reach the Merida airport at 4:45 p. m. from Bolivia. He will be received by Education Minister Maimé Torres Bo-

NEW COMET Caliente is top-of-the-line model

Complete Change In New Comets

The 1964 Comet undergoes its first complete change since introduction four years ago. Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Co. vice president and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division, announced, "The completely redesigned Comet including a plush new Caliente series, has all new exterior sheet metal, improved ride and handling characteristics and greater passenger room. Mills said, "It attains new standards in performance with a new three-speed automatic transmission and a broad range of four engines, including a new 289 cubic-inch V-8 and a new 200 cubic-inch six."

The new Comets go on display Friday at Truman Jones Motor Co., 511 S. Gregg.

Bennett House Gets High Rate

Bruce Frazier, operator of the Bennett House, Big Spring convalescent home, has been notified that his establishment has now been given a rating of 3. This means, Frazier said, that the Bennett House has the highest rating possible. Inspectors wrote that it is the best equipped and designed of any they have inspected.

As an establishment with a "3" rating, the Bennett House is now approved for persons who are in need of hospital care as well as ordinary attention. Frazier said that a person recovering from surgery, for example, can be removed from the hospital to the Bennett House for continued treatment and care.

He said that the rating has been made retroactive to the opening date of the Bennett House but the word has just been received here. Six or seven guests who have been taken to hospitals from the home can now return to their quarters, he explained.

LIBBY, Mont. (AP)—It was a long time between classes for 15-year-old Billie Jo French, a sophomore at Libby High School.

For four years she lived on a ranch too far from town and too far from school bus routes.

Her parents moved from Blair, Neb., to a ranch 40 miles west of Libby after Billie Jo finished the fifth grade. She kept up with her school work by taking correspondence courses from the University of Nebraska.

The family bought a new ranch a mile from Libby recently and Billie Jo returned to school.

Valentina Visits Cuba Bay Of Pigs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Valentina Tereshkova, the first woman cosmonaut, is visiting Playa Giron, site of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs Cuban invasion in 1961, Havana radio said.

The Russian space woman arrived at Havana Tuesday for a five-day visit at the invitation of the Cuban Women's Federation.

The broadcast heard in Miami said Miss Tereshkova will tour Varadero Beach, a summer resort community on the north coast of Matanzas Province.

The radio said she will appear on Havana television tonight.

Policeman Shot By Fellow Cop

GUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP)—A policeman was shot and killed by another policeman who was separated and one was shot in mistake for a gangster.

The two officers were patrolling a residential area and thought they sighted a criminal. They separated and one was shot in the confusion of the search.

Comet's sculptured hood set between raised fenders emphasizes its wide appearance. A double concave sculpture follows the fender line, widening toward the rear, making the car seem longer and, with the front fenders extended beyond the grille, giving the car an appearance of forward thrust.

Improvements in driving posture, leg room, and head room in the front compartment are provided by increasing seat travel one inch, shortening the length of the steering column, and introducing a new steering wheel with a one-inch smaller diameter.

Rear seat leg room and knee room are improved substantially by moving the rear seat backward 1.4 inches.

The interiors of all models are more luxurious, while the new top-of-the-line Caliente series features interior treatment rivaling that of the most expensive cars. The Caliente's thick foam rubber seat padding replaces conventional slab cotton found in most compacts, and door panels, instrument panels, and steering wheel are trimmed with simulated wood grain.

The new instrument panel on all Comets includes gauges instead of lights for oil pressure and generator.

Power brakes and an AM-FM radio are offered as extra cost options on the Comet for the first time, and power steering also is available.

The new Comet 289-cubic-inch V-8 engine offers performance previously available only on higher priced cars. It develops 210 horsepower and because of its lightweight cast-iron construction has a high power-to-weight ratio. The engine is of the same basic design as the V-8 engine that powered Lotus race cars to second and seventh place in the Indianapolis 500.

Comet's new 200-inch-inch six-cylinder engine develops 116 horsepower and is teamed with the Merc-O-Matic two-speed automatic transmission.

The wide range of engines for 1964 also includes an improved 101-horsepower, 170-cubic-inch six-cylinder engine developed for three-speed manual transmission, and the improved 164-horsepower 260-cubic-inch V-8 which was introduced as an option midway in the 1963 model year. All four Comet engines are designed to operate on regular grade fuel. A 43 per cent larger fuel tank, with a 29-gallon capacity, increases cruising range for today's expressway driving.

Riding and handling characteristics are improved with substantial front and rear suspension changes, greater structural rigidity, and larger 14-inch wheel standard. New torque boxes front and rear which absorb body twist give the Comet a ride comparable to larger cars.

The 1964 Comets will be offered in 10 models in three new series designations—the Comet 202, Comet 404 and Comet Caliente. Bucket seats with console are optional in the Caliente series models and without console in the 404 two-door sedan model. Two- and four-door sedans and four-door station wagons are offered in the 202 and 404 series. A two-door hardtop, convertible, and four-door sedan are offered in the Caliente series.

The 1964 Comet continues its service-saving features, including self-adjusting brakes, major lubrication at the first of 36 months or 36,000 miles, and oil change and oil filter change every six months or 6,000 miles, whichever comes first.

There's No Turning Back For Fledgling Nation Of Malaysia

EDITOR'S NOTE — The founding of Malaysia has tripped off a political landslide in turbulent Southeast Asia, in effect adding a new frontier for U.S. efforts to stabilize the area against Communist encroachment. This study of the factors involved and of the prospects is by the chief of Southeast Asian services of The Associated Press, a correspondent who has spent most of the last 20 years in Asia.

By DON HUTH
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—As the new nation of Malaysia views it, there is no turning back now.

Indonesia's President Sukarno may huff and puff, move to cripple the new nation's economy, and even talk in warlike tones.

But Malaysia's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman has put it on the line: "We will defend the flag with all our strength, even if necessary with our lives."

Britain is committed to backing Malaysia to a successful future, and an Australian diplomat says: "Australia would send more troops to Malaysia if the Indonesians try something. We support Malaysia and we have told it so."

Malaysia unites Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah (North Borneo). It was born last month with the blessing of its former British overlords.

More Unity

The nation of 10 million was designed to bring greater democratic unity, contain Communist expansion and permit Britain a graceful withdrawal from its colonial holdings.

Instead it has sparked a violent dispute involving two of its neighbors, Indonesia and the Philippines, and cast the shadows of an armed clash over this area.

The prospect of war, which could start as a concerted guerrilla effort along the borders of Sabah and Sarawak, would be likely to bring the British quickly into the conflict.

Britain already is deeply involved. Indonesian extremists have directed their attacks against the British in Jakarta, burning the embassy, ransacking homes, seizing British businesses and driving British women and children out of the country to safety. Stern notes have been sent to the Indonesian government.

Other Western nations, including the United States, have rallied to protect British interests in Indonesia.

Britain appears ready to provide any military support necessary to insure Malaysia's safety.

It came to the prompt rescue of Brunei, the oil-rich sultanate which decided not to join Malaysia immediately, when rebels tried to take over that tiny protectorate in December 1962. Terrorists threatened Sarawak earlier this year. The British sent tough Gurkha units to clean them out.

Indonesia, which has carried favor from both East and West in its policy of nonalignment, has the largest armed force in Southeast Asia. Its 100 million population includes an army of about 350,000 men, an air force with more than 100 combat jet aircraft and a navy that includes a cruiser and submarines. It got most of this hardware from the Soviet Union.

Colonial Rule

Indonesia has consistently opposed the British military presence in the area. It pictures Malaysia as only a continuance of colonial rule.

The British have about 25,000 ground troops in Malaysia controlled from a huge armed forces establishment in Singapore which continues to operate under the defense arrangement with the new federation.

Two Australian jet fighter squadrons and one jet light bomber squadron are based in northern Malaya. British jet and bombers are quartered at Singapore, together with helicopters and transport units.

Malaysia has announced a crash program to develop a "state of preparedness" by beefing up its forces. It could be overrun in a matter of hours but for Commonwealth protection.

No Military

Except for small police units and security detachments, Singapore, Sarawak and Sabah have no military forces. Malaya, independent since 1957, is doubling its defense budget from the $1.3 million it is spending in 1963.

The Malaysia army has about 15,000 men and no heavy weapons. This force is designed mainly for antiguerrilla warfare.

The military buildup of Malaysia will take years. There is a good chance the United States, along with Britain and Australia, would be drawn into any sudden warfare that might develop.

The three are partners in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization—SEATO—pledged to defend the area against aggression and to maintain stability.

The United States is deeply in-involved in nearby Viet Nam and is watching the internal dispute in Laos, which has moved no nearer its goal of neutralism. It is disturbed by the arguments Cambodia is having with its neighbors, Thailand and South Viet Nam.

U.S. interests would be critically affected if Indonesia, following its tactics against the Dutch in the West Irian dispute, should unleash a guerrilla campaign in Sarawak and Sabah or decide upon open war against the whole of Malaysia.

Marauders Added To Mercury Line

The 1964 Mercury extends its coverage of the medium-price market by offering two new series and a choice of distinctive road designs, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and Lincoln-Mercury Division general manager, announced.

The exclusive Breezeaway design, introduced last year, offers several functional advantages in addition to distinctive appearance.

panel ornamentation typify Mercury's big-car appointments. On cars equipped with the optional air conditioning unit, outlets are an integral part of the instrument panel for maximum passenger comfort.

NEW SERIES Mercury's two new series are the luxurious top-of-the-line Park Lane and the Montclair, which is placed between the basic Montclair and the Park Lane.

ROOMIER Interiors are roomier with a deeper body which provides more seating comfort, more usable luggage space, and easier entrance and exit.

MORE RIGID Structural changes make the Mercury more rigid, resulting in improved control of body shake, road harshness and vibration.

MERIDA, Mexico (AP)—Passengers arriving from Cozumel say a Cuban warship sought to enter Mexican waters to recover a commandeered vessel which brought 89 refugees and was ordered to leave.

According to unconfirmed reports Wednesday, the Castro vessel tried to dock at Cozumel without prior permission, and local authorities checked with the naval base at Islas Mujeres.

Officers there said no permission had been granted for the Cuban vessel to enter Mexican waters and it was ordered to leave.

The 89 refugees who seized a Cuban lighthouse tender to flee to Mexico have moved to Merida. They are seeking visas to continue to the United States.

Three Junior High Contests Set Here

The Sweetwater Colts journey to Big Spring tonight for a complete junior high schedule of games with the Runnels Yearlings.

The seventh grade leads off the three-game action with a 5 p.m. meeting in the old stadium which will be followed by a 6:30 p.m. meeting between the opposing eighth grades. The big game of the night, the ninth grades, will take place at 7:30.

This will be the second meeting of the season between the ninth grade of the Ponies and the Yearlings and the visitors will be trying to return home with a win in revenge for a 6-0 loss in Sweetwater.

Head coach Dan Lewis will be handicapped by the fact that three of his top players are out with injuries. Jessie Zapata is laid up with a cold, Gary Rogers hurt his knee in the last game and still can't play up to the maximum, and Cooper Procter, the starting quarterback, has a chipped shoulder bone.

The team which is looking better overall since the first of the

The backfield will have Avel Ramirez, quarterback; Gary Turner, fullback; Harold Rawlis, left halfback; and John Martin or Ronnie Anderson, right halfback.

The eighth grade will be trying for a repeat performance of the earlier 12-0 win over the Ponies.

"We feel like our eighth grade has improved considerably since the first game," one of the coaches said Thursday.

with a 0-1 record after a loss two weeks ago against the Coahoma Junior High, will go into the Sweetwater game with practically no prior knowledge of the Ponies.

Although they haven't had enough experience several of the players are looking particularly good according to the coaches. Johnny Patton, quarterback, is a good runner and has been turning in a fine effort on defense. Luven Flores, fullback, has also been pointed out for his fine defensive effort.

In the backfield along with Flores and Patton will be Rocky Wooley at right halfback and Tony Perez, at left halfback.

LA Ace Threw Few Bad Ones

NEW YORK (AP)—"I thought I made quite a few bad pitches I got away with."

With those self-critical words Dodger dandy Sandy Koufax wrapped up one of the most striking World Series performances in the history of the 60-year-old baseball classic.

Koufax hummed his array of fastballs, changes and curves past the New York Yankees in the Series opener Wednesday and struck out a record 15 batters en route to a 5-2 Los Angeles victory.

"To tell the truth," said Koufax after surpassing the 14 strikeouts posted by former Dodger Carl Erskine against the Yankees exactly 10 years before, "I didn't feel as good as I would have liked."

"After batting practice," said Koufax, "I became conscious of the fact this was an important game. I don't know how intense I was but I was trying to do a good job."

After he struck out nine in four innings, "I started to feel tired," Koufax said, "then I lost my rhythm."

Pitching coach Joe Becker said "I told him he was trying to force himself. I noticed his coordination wasn't good in the sixth inning and he was overstriding."

Koufax corrected that. After strikeouts 13 and 14—Pinch hitter Phil Linz and Bobby Richardson—Tom Tresh tagged the next pitch for a homer and the Yankees took a two-run lead.

"It was a fast ball inside," said Koufax, "I got it where I wanted it. But after all, this team is going to get some runs. That's a tough line-up."

Koufax then walked Mickey Mantle and Dodger manager Walter Alton hustled out to the mound. "I told Sandy I didn't want him to pitch too fine to Maris. I said even if Maris hits one out of here, we're not hurt."

"I didn't think about the strike-out record," Koufax said. "But when I came off after the eighth, I saw they had flashed the note on the score board that I had tied Carl's record. But then Harry Bright's up, with two out and a man on in the last of the ninth and I'm aware I have to get him out."

The count moved to 2-2. Koufax went into his move, came around with the smooth, picturesque motion—fired.

At the plate, Bright swung—missed.

The crowd stood in a standing ovation.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Wichita Falls Coyotes have earned quite a reputation for playing just well enough to win in its football games down through the years.

For that reason, there are those who say the Coyotes could have beaten any of the first three opponents—Pampa, Amarillo and Odessa—worse than they did.

That may be true but it'll take some doing to convince the Big Spring Steers here Friday night.

The Coyotes have been thoroughly scouted by the Steer coaching staff and the local men came away convinced that (1) District 4-AAAA power has one of the first backfields in the state and (2) the Steers are capable of beating the Coyotes in the line.

Biggest problem facing the Steer coaches: To convince their boys that the 1962 Coyotes had a rare night when they rang up a 47-6 victory over Big Spring last year. There is also the problem of getting the Longhorns ready for a Single Wing type of attack. These days, the Single Wing is about as rare as the dodo bird. The Steers haven't worked against such an attack since they faced Wichita Falls last year.

Incidentally, Delnor Poss, who helped scout the Coyotes, said the game between Wichita Falls and Odessa last week actually was two different contests. The Coyotes, he pointed out, were clearly the masters during the first half. Odessa had the edge in the final two quarters.

Howard Bain, who played an outstanding game on defense for Big Spring against Snyder last week, had been sick all day. Bain is emerging as one of the Steers' top hands.

Fact that Big Spring had Leslie Brown very well defended in the game against Snyder is reflected in the statistics.

Going into the contest, the splendid junior halfback had gained 159 yards in 23 carries for a 6.9-yard average. The Steers held him to a net of 18 yards in nine lunges for a two-yard average.

Tom Kincaid, Snyder's other big threat, found it even harder to penetrate the Steer defenses. He picked up ten paces in six tries for a 1.7-yard average, after having gained 109 yards in 14 tries in two previous games for a 7.8-yard average.

Despite the toughest the Steer defense showed against Snyder, the local coaches think the boys can do better.

Jim Powers, the 185-pound senior wingback for Wichita Falls, is compared favorably by Big Spring scouts with Jackie Crain, the former University of Texas great.

He's capable of going for a TD from any point on the field anytime he gets the ball. Against Odessa last week, he ran 46 yards for a score on the second play of the game.

Best all-around back for Wichita Falls, however, is fullback Pat Alexander, a 190-pound senior who does everything to perfection.

Although there are three high schools over there, football crowds are holding up well in Odessa.

Permian and Tascosa recently drew a paid turnout of 8,200 while the Odessa-Lubbock High battle lured 6,650 through the turnstiles.

The press box is due to be full of scouts Friday night because Abilene High, Midland High, Odessa High and San Angelo are not scheduled to play and their head mentors will, no doubt, be on hand to see what the Steers have.

Racial Flareups Stopped Liston

DENVER (AP)—Smiling and scowling at times, heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston told a news conference Wednesday the pressure of questions about racial disturbances caused him to fly home suddenly from London Sept. 18 at the height of a successful international tour.

"Everywhere I went," Liston said, "they would ask me over and over, 'What about the Alabama bombing?'"

Liston, a Negro, said he got "real nervous when they'd be asking me about the race problem because I just didn't know how to answer them."

The champion said he "had a tremendous headache from all the questions and I just decided to come back home. I didn't bother to ask anyone—I just told the people traveling with me, 'My daughter's sick. We're going home.'"

At the time Liston gave that reason to London reporters, it was confirmed in Denver that his daughter, Eleanor, 13, was not ill but was attending school.

Questioned about his statement at the Denver Airport upon his return two weeks ago that he was "ashamed to say I'm in America," Liston said he did not mean that. He intended to say, Liston said, that "I'm ashamed of the way America's acting" in the racial bombings. Liston said he was tired upon his Denver return and "quite frankly I blew up. If I hurt anybody's feelings, I'm sorry." Liston said he will discuss with Quarterback Albert Fierro (right) leans in to give his fellow Big Spring Steers a play in the above picture, as the locals undergo preparations for Friday night's big game with Wichita Falls here. Both teams are undefeated this year. This will be the Coyotes' first trip here and the Steers want to give them a reception they won't soon forget. The Longhorns wind up drills today for the contest, last of the season before District 2-AAAA play gets under way. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

KOUFAX ALTERS THE OUTLOOK

Dodgers 11-10 Favorites

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The under-rated Dodgers of Los Angeles, the object of new respect, suddenly found themselves slight favorites today to win the World Series following their 5-2 triumph over Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opener.

The Yankees were 7 1/2-to-5 favorites to win today behind young Al Downing, who faces veteran Johnny Podres in another left-handed pitching duel. But the odds-makers now have made the Dodgers an 11-to-10 choice to take the series. The Yankees had been a pre-series 7 1/2-to-5 pick.

Sandy Koufax, baseball's best pitcher, changed those odds with one of the finest pitching performances in series history. The 27-year-old Brooklyn-born south-paw established a series strikeout record by fanning 15 Yankees as he held the American League champions to six hits, losing his bid for a shutout when Tom Tresh smacked an eighth inning homer with Tony Kubek on base.

"We haven't seen anyone in our league who compares with him," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk. "He was every bit as good as we were led to believe."

Series Star Almost Lost Digit Through Amputation

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Dodge team physicians said today they came within a day or two of having to think seriously about amputating the forefinger of Sandy Koufax' pitching hand last year.

But they said a new drug, or a combination of remedies, saved the finger and Sandy's career—and no doubt made the Dodgers part of the show instead of part of the audience at the 1963 World Series.

Koufax, who beat the Yankees in the series opener Wednesday, was disabled in the middle of the 1962 season by a circulatory disorder in his left forefinger. The flow of blood was reduced to a fraction of normal by constriction of an artery leading to the finger from the palm. At first the finger was so sensitive Koufax couldn't touch anything with it. Then it went dead.

The Dodge physicians, Drs. Robert Kerlan and Robert Woods, called in Dr. Travis Winsor of Los Angeles, a specialist in circulatory disorders.

Dr. Kerlan said an arteriogram "showed a rare condition—a clot in the deep ulnar arch, in the arteries in the palm of the hand."

"But," Dr. Kerlan said, "the clot dissolved after several injections of a new drug.

"If it hadn't dissolved, he might have lost the finger. There just wasn't enough circulation to supply it, and a finger can't live without blood."

Dr. Woods said it would have been necessary "to begin thinking seriously about an amputation if the blood supply hadn't started to increase within 24 to 48 hours of the injections."

Leyva Is Leader In 7-AA Scoring

Eljio Leyva of Alpine captured the scoring lead in District 7-AA last week and now boasts a total of 41 points.

The Latin-American youth has scored six touchdowns and added five extra points for his aggregate.

In second place is Floyd Smith of Crane, with 30 points, while his teammate, Keith Looney, is third with 28.

The scorers:

Stadium Scheduled For Use In 1965

HOUSTON (AP)—Harris County's domed stadium is due for completion late in 1964 but Houston's professional baseball and football teams won't play in it until 1965.

Contractors reported Wednesday the $19.4 million air-conditioned stadium will be ready in October or November of next year but Roy Hofheinz, president of the Houston Colts, said:

"There's no chance the Colts or the Oilers will use the domed stadium before 1965."

The Colts are Houston's entry in National League baseball. The Oilers are members of the American Football League.

"We don't want to open the stadium until everything is as perfect as we can make it," Hofheinz said.

He said it would take two months to adjust the sound system after the 202-foot high stadium is completed. It will seat 46,217 for baseball, 52,979 for football and 66,000 for boxing and other ball events.

Koufax, weakened by a siege of flu that hit him last week, simply overpowered the hard-hitting Yankees, retiring 14 straight batters until Elston Howard singled with two out in the fifth. He fanned the first five Yankees to tie a 19-year-old record held by Mort Cooper of the 1944 St. Louis Cardinals.

The 15 strikeouts topped the previous record set by Carl Erskine, another Dodger, who fanned 14 Yankees in a game in the 1953 Series, exactly 10 years before to the day. The Yankee pitchers struck out 10 Dodgers for a combined total of 25, another Series mark, bettering the 22 collected by the Cards and Browns in the 1944 all-St. Louis Series.

Ford, in a record-making seventh series opener, lasted just five innings, during which he was tagged for eight of the Dodgers' nine hits and all their runs.

The big hit was a three-run homer by John Roseboro, the left-handed hitting catcher, who had not hit a home run against a left-handed pitcher during the entire 1963 campaign.

Other key hits were Frank Howard's 400-foot double that opened the four-run second inning and Bill Skowron's first of two singles that drove in the first run of the game Skowron's second hit, in the third, knocked in the final run.

Sandy, who said he felt weak in the early innings, tired in the middle innings, and "a little weak again" at the end, had a couple of anxious moments but weathered the storm each time. Joe Peppone and Clete Boyer followed Howard's two-out hit in the fifth with singles to fill the bases, but Koufax fired a third strike past pinch-hitter Hector Lopez to end that threat. Sandy walked two batters in succession with one out in the sixth but disposed of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris on infield popups.

ROSEBORO, SANDY

Koufax ended the game with a flourish, fanning pinch-hitter Harry Bright for his 15th strikeout after Peppone had prolonged the agony with a two-out single.

Both managers said they would use the same lineups for the second game. Dick Tracewski, who replaced the injured Len McCulley, will continue at second base for the Dodgers, with Jim Gilliam staying at third.

Downing, the Yankees' 22-year-old strikeout whiz, who won 13 of 18 decisions after joining the club in June, fanning 171 in 176 innings, never before pitched in a World Series.

Podres is an old hand in October classics. In 1955 he beat the Yankees twice, including the decisive 2-0 seventh game. Wednesday's paid attendance was 69,000.

Steer-Coyote Game Touted

TEXAS schoolboy football moves into championship play all along the line this week, but major interest still rests on inter-sectional clashes and the status of 104 undefeated, untied teams.

Corpus Christi Miller, flexing his muscles for the first time as No. 1 team of Class AAAA, goes to Odessa to meet a good Permian outfit.

No. 2 Brackenridge of San Antonio faces cross-town Lanier while No. 3 San Angelo is idle this week.

Class AAA leader Dumas, riding a 15-game winning streak, plays Carlsbad, N.M., with little indication of trouble.

Denver City, No. 1 team of Class AA, plays Class AAA Littlefield and might repeat its tumble of last week when it lost to Levelland, also in Class AAA.

Albany, kingpin of Class A, meets AA Cisco but doesn't appear likely to get knocked off.

Second ranked New London tackles another undefeated, untied team in opening its bid for the district title against Hallsville. It isn't expected to have much difficulty.

Unbeaten, untied teams in the four divisions are expected to dwindle to about 75 as the massive field winds up most of the inter-class and inter-district strife and gets down to conference play next week.

Class AAAA has half a dozen games matching undefeated, untied teams. Wichita Falls is at Big Spring, South Oak Cliff meets Dallas Hillcrest, South Houston plays Galena Park, Victoria is at San Antonio Highlands and Kingsville is at Corpus Christi Carroll for these battles.

Tyler Lee is host to Mount Pleasant, a perfect record team of Class AAA.

There are important clashes between teams with unsullied records in all classes. Fort Stockton's tussle with Crane is an AAA-AA feature. San Felipe of Del Rio and Devine battle in a Class AA conference game of Dist. 28.

Weinmar and Louise get together in a joust of unbeaten, untied teams in Class A.

Red Auerbach Fined $500

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—The new president of the National Basketball Association has made a lasting impression on Red Auerbach—right in the wallet.

The fiery coach of the world champion Boston Celtics was socked with a $500 fine by league president Walter Kennedy Wednesday for "conduct contrary to NBA rules."

It was the biggest sum ever levied on the off-field coach and stemmed from a dispute with referee Mendy Rudolph during Tuesday night's exhibition game between Boston and the New York Knickerbockers at Oceanside, N.Y. The Celtics won 95-92.

Auerbach was assessed the heavy penalty after Rudolph called two technical fouls against him and ordered him to leave the floor. Auerbach refused to leave and was slapped with a third technical. He later pulled his team off the court for several minutes.

The fuss started, Auerbach said, when a Boston player missed a shot and rookie official Manny Sokolofsky ruled against the Celtics. Auerbach called a timeout and went onto the floor to talk with Rudolph.

"No one was mad," Auerbach said, "and there was no cursing. I just asked for an interpretation of the rule and Rudolph refused to give it to me."

BUICK SPECIAL
Roomier and improved engine

BUICK WILDCAT
Complete restyling for 1964

Buick Is Featuring 26 Models For '64

Buick's 1964 cars—a lineup of 26 models—feature two new super turbine transmissions providing up to 43 per cent more wheel thrust, along with three new engines and a host of styling changes that includes an all-new roomier Special series.

The new Buicks will go on display at McEwen Motor Co., 403 Scurry Friday.

"Buick's 1964 line represents one of the most progressive steps in the 60-year history of this division," said Edward D. Rollett, Buick's general manager and vice president of General Motors.

The major highlights include two new Super Turbine transmissions that improve performance and gasoline mileage. Both transmissions are lighter in weight and have fewer working parts. A new V-6 engine has greater cubic inch displacement that provides better performance for the larger Specials in which it is standard equipment.

A compact new lightweight aluminum V-8 engine has a cast-iron block and 300-cubic-inch displacement that is the lightest weight V-8 on the market. A high-performance engine has two four-barrel carburetors, 10.25 to 1 compression ratio and 425-cubic-inch displacement.

An entirely new Special line uses a frame for the first time, with three inches more wheelbase and 11 1/2 inches additional length. A completely restyled line includes LeSabre, Wildcat and Electra 225 models.

Buick's 26 new models come in six series—the Special, Skylark, LeSabre, Wildcat, Electra 225, and Riviera.

"We have fresh new styling that gives distinction to each series without sacrificing Buick's family resemblance," Rollett pointed out. "You can tell one Buick from another, but you also can recognize each one as a Buick."

The Riviera sports coupe, introduced last year as a limited-production model, maintains its exclusive exterior styling. However, inside there are numerous interior refinements that add to its distinction.

Buick's new Super Turbine transmissions, the Super Turbine 400 and the Super Turbine 300, were described by Rollett as the most important single development in the long history of the torque converter transmission which Buick pioneered in 1948.

The Super Turbine 400 is standard on Riviera and Electra models and optional on the Wildcat and LeSabre series. The Super Turbine 300 will be available as optional equipment on all models in the Special series, and also on all LeSabre models except the Estate Wagon.

In addition to an improvement in performance and economy, coupled with smoothness of operation, the new transmissions are great weight savers due to extensive use of aluminum.

Basically, the Super Turbine 400 is a three-element type torque converter. The Super Turbine 300 has two forward speed ratios. In addition it has Buick's famed "Switch the Pitch" feature which increases torque multiplication for added performance in passing. The new ST 300 transmission for the Special backs up new engines. The V-6 is up from 198-cubic-inch displacement to 225, with new features designed for better performance, economy and reliability.

The 300-cubic-inch aluminum V-8 engine combines the best features of last year's engine into the new powerplant. This engine is standard on the LeSabre and improves gasoline mileage as much as 16 per cent.

By using a cast-iron block, Buick engineers were able to increase the aluminum V-8 engine's displacement to 300 cubic inches without increasing block size. And through the use of aluminum cylinder heads, water-pump covers, intake manifold and many other parts, the advantage of light weight was retained. Optional on the Special and LeSabre series is the same V-8 engine with a four-barrel carburetor. For the first time, dual exhausts are available as an option on all Special V-8 models, except Estate Wagons.

Standard on all Estate Wagons, Wildcat and Electra 225 models is the 401-cubic-inch V-8 with four-barrel carburetor and 10.25 to 1 compression ratio. The 425-cubic-inch engine is standard on the Riviera.

The 425-cubic-inch engine, with either one or two four-barrel carburetors, is available as an option on Wildcat and Electra 225 models. This same engine, with two four-barrel carburetors, is optional on the Riviera. A high-output camshaft is combined with the multiple carburetors.

In addition to exterior styling, Rollett pointed out that great progress has been made in the 1964 line in a number of handling and safety features. Aluminum four-wheel brakes are continued on all regular models, and brake drums on Special series cars are fitted to increase cooling capacity.

The popular tilt steering wheel and cruise control options, introduced in 1963, on the regular size cars are now available as options on all Special series models. Specials and Skylarks have new front and rear suspension systems, along with new rear axles.

Showdown May Be Nearing Between Saud, Brother

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A showdown that could be final is approaching in Saudi Arabia between ailing King Saud and his brother, Crown Prince Faisal, premier and virtual ruler of the country.

It will come sometime next month when the king's austere younger brother presents a new budget slashing allowances of the royal family by 10 per cent.

Saudis close to the government say the winner almost certainly will be Faisal, an economy-minded prince who once before cut royal spending to ease a financial crisis. They expect it will be the last round of a long, quiet battle for power.

The 61-year-old king returned to Riyadh, his capital, last month from a luxurious medical stay in Europe. Suffering from a stomach ulcer, high blood pressure and general debility, he relinquished the government reins last year, when the Yemeni revolution was threatening to spread to Saudi Arabia.

ARABIA'S KING SAUD
... Showdown with brother

REVOLT NEAR

The country was suffering from extreme jitters, and the king was among the most extreme sufferers. To many, revolution seemed around the corner.

As he had done before, Faisal, 58, took over. Moving with caution, he restored confidence in the oil-rich kingdom. He promised reforms, began eliminating slavery and even announced plans for movie houses to appease the bored population in the rigidly puritanical country.

Faisal also replaced King Saud's notoriously dissolute sons in places of power with his own more sober-minded offspring.

phants, has never quite believed that Faisal did not covet it.

FOR BROTHER

His only hope of ousting Faisal is to bribe desert tribes believed loyal to the premier. The cut in royal allowances would lessen the chances of that.

Saudis here say the crown prince is pulling in the purse strings because of huge bank debts the prince has piled up over the years. They are believed to total about $45 million.

Faisal's government has undertaken to repay the hard-pressed banks and will recover the money by cutting the allowances, now estimated at $60 million a year for the approximately 1,000 members of the royal family.

King Saud may return again to Europe for another cure although Faisal is understood to want him to be treated at home.

"The king himself is a good man and he could have been one of the greatest of Saudi kings," said a Saudi close to the crown prince. "His sons are his source of weakness. Prince Faisal does not like to see them playing around Europe when the king is being treated, causing bad publicity for our country."

Snub Is Approved

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies has unanimously approved Mexico's suspension of diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic. Even the opposition Party of National Action and the left wing Popular Party voiced support for this move by President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Everybody out of the rut ...the '64 Buicks are here!

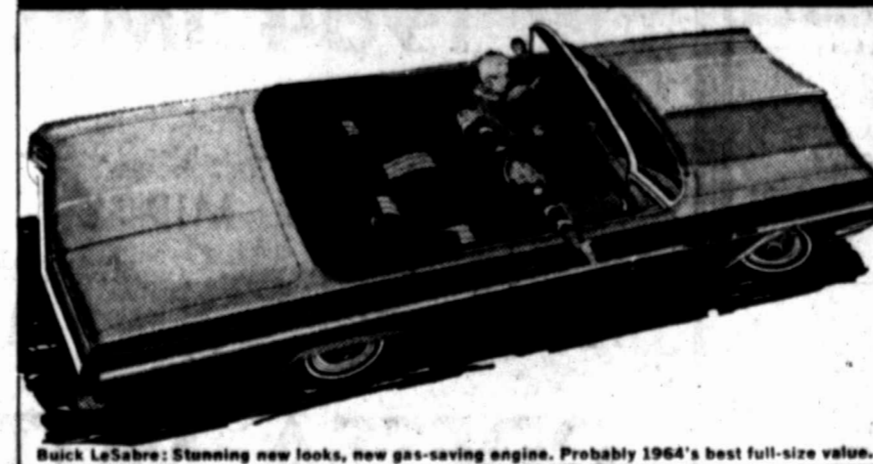

New Wildcat. Wildcat, sportiest yet. Three better engine choices (up to 360 hp). Hot new Formula V wheels (optional at extra cost).

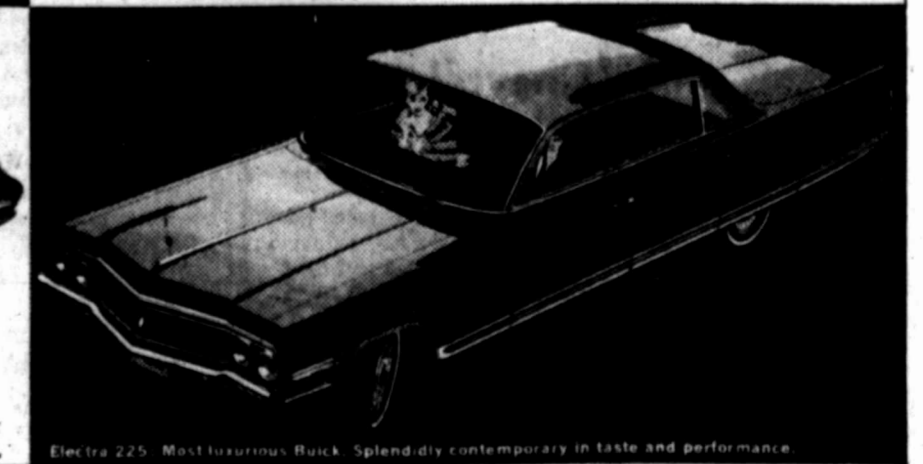

Buick Special. New longer wheelbase, safety box frame, roomier body. Still low priced.

Buick Skylark. A very personal car with a flair for action. Now in 3 models.

Buick LeSabre. Stunning new looks, new gas-saving engine. Probably 1964's best full-size value.

Electra 225. Most luxurious Buick. Splendidly contemporary in taste and performance.

Our happiest problem for '64 was: how to beat a winner? According to thousands of owners, the 1963 models just about had it made in all departments. But—when your name is Buick—you just don't rest on your laurels. You keep pushing to make a great car greater.

So... the '64 Buicks are new—but new, New engines, V-6 or V-8 (you'll like their new gas economy), new, smoother, extra-cost option, Super Turbine Transmissions (and who, but Buick, would build in an altitude compensator?). Base Hospital Adds Five Beds

Capacity of the Webb Air Force Base Hospital has been hiked by five beds to 30 beds, effective immediately.

For the past year the hospital has been operating with a maximum of 25 beds. No major changes will have to be made in the plant with the increase, however, since the hospital can have as much as 40 beds without crowding.

The medical staff may be enlarged later if the workload warrants an increase.

The hospital recently became a member of the American Hospital Association.

Valachi Is True, Say Senators And Police; Liar, Says Hoodlum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a tourist guide, Joseph Valachi has led the nation on a dark tour of the underworld for an insider's peek at its secrets and murders. But can he be believed?

Yes, says Sen. John L. McClellan, who is chairman of the investigating subcommittee hearing Valachi's rasping tale of vengeance. "He's a dirty liar," says John C. Montana, a delegate to the notorious gangland convention at Apalachin, N.Y.

Besides its shock value, has Valachi's testimony turned up anything new? Is it helping the fight against organized crime?

MORE IMPORTANT
"I think there are more important things to claim the attention of Congress," says Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., who has criticized the subcommittee before.

A Justice Department spokesman doesn't feel that way. "Much of the 60-year-old mobster's testimony 'could be used in court if strongly corroborated,'" he said.

"There is very little new to us," said a New York police official, who added: "His testimony serves to make some things clear. But this does not mean that it is of such a nature that we can go to court and prosecute a case."

WIDE VIEW
These are some of the wide ranging views on the merits of the testimony of the dope peddler and convicted killer who has grabbed headlines and drawn housewives to their television sets from the ironing.

In three days of testimony, Valachi has made his name a household word across the land with his widely publicized testimony that "this is my doom" for informing on the inner workings of a secret criminal society he calls La Cosa Nostra—"our thing" or "our family" in Italian.

"Outsiders know it as the Mafia, the syndicate, or the Black Hand. Never before in their investigations of organized crime has any congressional group presented a witness who claimed to speak as an insider of such an organization.

BIG BUSINESS
The old Senate Crime Investigating Committee headed by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., charged in 1951 that crime was nationally syndicated big business. So did the old Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

But their assertions were without benefit of any insider's testimony. Some infamous hoodlums, including New York racketeer Frank Costello, have been brought before congressional committees. But they owned up to little more than their names.

Valachi, on the other hand, has talked and talked and talked.

KNOWS FACTS
A reporter checked separately with the two Democrats and two Republicans on the subcommittee who have been most active in the hearing. All said they believed Valachi, and that at least for the most part he knew the facts.

The four are McClellan and Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., and Carl T. Curtis, R-N.H.

"My reaction is, Valachi is not a phony," said Curtis.

McClellan said he regarded Valachi's testimony as essentially "not especially new," but nevertheless important.

Said McIntyre, "I have to give him credence. If I were a judge, I'd be waiting for testimony from the other side, but this testimony has probative value."

Questions On Narcotics Next For Ex-Mobster In Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Valachi is billed for another day and a half in the limelight—longer if he can sing well enough about the narcotics racket.

In a switch of plans, Sen. John L. McClellan, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Investigations subcommittee, put off until Tuesday the questioning of Valachi about the big money narcotics rackets in which members of the secret criminal society known as La Cosa Nostra were involved.

Testimony of Valachi, a convicted killer and dope peddler, ran longer than expected Wednesday as he told of murder 30 years ago in which the reigning Cosa Nostra "boss of bosses" was cut down in a double cross by rivals.

Investigation's star witness.

But this estimate, McClellan emphasized, depends on how much evidence Valachi can give about narcotics rackets.

It was his conviction as a narcotics racketeer that started the chain of events that led him to become an informer against his old associates.

PLAY BY EAR
McClellan said that in questioning Valachi, 60, about narcotics, the subcommittee will have to play things by ear. Its staff has had no opportunity to question Valachi in advance about the illegal traffic in drugs.

The subcommittee has been told that La Cosa Nostra, which often sentenced disobedient members to death, had laid down a ban against its men getting into the narcotics traffic, on grounds that it involved too much risk of stirring up the law.

But even Vito Genovese, named by Valachi as the dominant power in La Cosa Nostra, is in prison now, appealing a 15-year sentence as a narcotics racketeer.

CONTINUES LECTURE
Wednesday, before the hearings were recessed, Valachi continued his lecture on La Cosa Nostra's history.

He told of a secret list that marked for doom such underworld kingpins of 30 years ago as Al Capone, Frank Costello, Charles (Lucky) Luciano, Genovese, Vincent Mangano and Dutch Schultz.

SOMEWHERE ELSE
This was one murder, Valachi said, in which he was not a participant. He has described some he helped to stage—but invariably was somewhere else when the shooting started.

McClellan told reporters he is trying to expedite the hearings. Present prospects, he said, are that Valachi can wind up "in a day or a day and a half" as the

Hensley Sells Bank Interest

PARIS — Michel T. Halbouty, Houston oil man and petroleum engineer, has purchased controlling stock in the First National Bank of Paris from J. R. Hensley of Paris.

Hensley, a former Big Springer, had purchased the controlling stock in September, 1961.

Hensley came to Big Spring from McAllen, joining the First National Bank as executive vice president July 29, 1958 after Clint Murchison, Gerald C. Mann and associates had purchased a substantial interest in the bank. The following year, Hensley announced purchase of the entire Murchison-Mann interests, giving him majority control.

With the purchase of the Paris bank, Halbouty was elected chairman of the board succeeding Hensley. Halbouty said Jerry King would continue as bank president. Hensley has not announced his plans for the immediate future.

Halbouty is also chairman of the board of the First National and West Side National Banks in San Angelo, the North Side State Bank in Houston and director of the Bank of Texas in Houston. He said purchase of the Paris bank was made after a survey of the city's future indicated that it would double in population within the next decade.

VALID TESTIMONY
New York police say they are not knocking Valachi's testimony or questioning its validity.

"From the standpoint of intelligence, it has been valuable because it confirms a number of things we've suspected about mob connections and operations," said an assistant in the office of Frank

Powerful Flora Roaring To Haiti

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora, roaring the most deadly storm to pounce out of the tropical Atlantic in two years, aimed her 140-mile-an-hour fury today at the Negro nation of Haiti.

A heavy loss of life and great property destruction was likely in Haiti, the Weather Bureau said, because there are few places where her people can hide from the storm.

Beyond Haiti, in the path of the hurricane, lay Cuba's Oriente Province and the big United States Navy base at Guantanamo Bay. The Cuban radio broadcast a warning to residents of Oriente, mountainous birthplace of Fidel Castro's revolution, to prepare for the storm.

Strong westerly winds aloft promised, however, to keep the hurricane away from Florida. Its course already has curved from west-northwest, in Florida's direction, to northwest.

And Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster of the National Hurricane Center at Miami, said it was "not impossible" that Flora would rear directly across Guantanamo Bay in Cuba's eastern Oriente Province, across the narrow windward passage from Haiti.

Around Flora's eye raged the most vicious winds any hurricane has generated since Carla slammed Texas and Louisiana Sept. 14, 1961.

Carla killed 43 persons in four states and launched one of this country's greatest migrations, the flight of 400,000 persons from the lowlands of the Gulf Coast.

In a morning report, the Weather Bureau at San Juan said Flora was centered near latitude 16.5 north, longitude 72.0 west, or about 140 miles south-southeast of Port Au Prince, the capital of Haiti.

Barring a shift in direction, forecasters said, the hurricane will strike Haiti this evening with destructive winds, storm tides eight to 10 feet above normal, and torrential rains.

Residents of low-lying coastal areas of southern Haiti and the Dominican Republic, the two nations which share the tropical island of Hispaniola, were warned to evacuate immediately.

Texas Town Is Stunned By Courthouse Shootings

CALDWELL (AP) — A double shooting that left Burleson County Judge Ed Bravenc 51, and County Treasurer Joe Dan Philp, 47, dead "brought this town to a stunned, sudden standstill."

A. C. Pape, editor of the weekly Burleson County Citizen, gave the report after the two men were killed Wednesday.

Pape said he talked to many officials and friends of the victims and none knew of any difficulties between them that could have prompted the shooting.

Bravenc and Philp were respected and popular as church and civic leaders in this Southeast Texas town.

"At this time we assume it was murder and suicide but we have no witnesses to the shooting and must make a thorough investigation before a verdict is returned," Deputy Sheriff Milton Lewis said.

Bravenc was shot three times in the chest and Philp twice in the head.

Seconds after the judge's secretary rushed into a nearby office and reported Bravenc had been shot, County Clerk John Tougal said he heard two more shots.

Deputy Sheriff Edward Ward said the weapon, a .22 caliber pistol, belonged to Philp.

Mrs. Greene's Funeral Friday
Funeral for Mrs. James Greene, a former Big Spring resident, will be held Friday at the John Gentleman Funeral Home, Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Greene, wife of Capt. James Greene, was killed in an automobile accident Sept. 23 at Kadena, Okinawa. Capt. and Mrs. Greene were stationed at Webb Air Force Base before his assignment to Okinawa in 1961, and while here she served as president of the Officers' Wives Club.

Capt. Greene and children, Catherine Ann, Tommy and Susan, are presently in Omaha at 2101 N. 51st St.

PAIR JAILED FOR SLAYING

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP) — A Suffolk County grand jury Wednesday night indicted two men, charging them with the Cosa Nostra murder of a Brooklyn hoodlum.

Anthony (Fat Tony) Regina, 29, of Commack, N. Y., and John J. (Moose) Battista, 47, of Brooklyn, were charged with first degree murder in the Aug. 9 slaying of Louis Mariani, 26.

Battista and Regina are described by authorities as members of a Brooklyn gang formerly headed by the late Joseph Profaci and now led by his brother-in-law, Joseph Magliocco.

Joseph Valachi, testifying at a Senate hearing in Washington, has named Magliocco as one of five top leaders in New York of Cosa Nostra, a nationwide crime society.

Legislator Resigns To Oppose Pickle

AUSTIN (AP)—A second state official resigned Wednesday to seek the job of being Central Texas' congressman.

State Rep. Jack Ritter Jr. submitted his resignation to Lt. Gov. Preston Smith in the absence of Gov. John Connally who is in Washington.

J. J. (Jake) Pickle announced earlier he resigned as the business representative on the Texas Employment Commission to seek the seat being vacated by Homer Thornberry.

A Devotional For The Day

Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. (Matthew 28:20.)
PRAYER: Eternal Lord, I bow my head in Thy holy presence. Forgive me that ever I have walked alone—in false confidence or in fear. I bless Thee for the assurance of Thy companionship. However dark the way, I will not falter if Thou goest with me. Increase my faith through Christ Jesus, in whose name I pray. Amen.

Military Pay Raise

If one wanted to be cross about it, he could observe that Big Spring indeed does have an interest in the new military pay raise. On a pure dollar basis, it means about $100,000 more per month, putting the military payroll slightly above $1,000,000 per month.

Perhaps the only regrettable thing about the measure is that it does not include a raise for the lowest men on the totem pole. It may be argued that these may be the ones who need it most, but for the most part this is the recruit and slightly higher grade which should be mostly those living in barracks and having their basic needs amply provided. The difficulty arises among those who are married and live off base.

The biggest bulge in percentage increase is in the middle bracket, from lieutenant through major. Reasoning behind this distribution of the increase is that it is at this point where men reach a decision on whether to make the military a career. It is poor economy for the military to invest heavily in training men to become officers and top grade technicians only to see them retire into private life because of economic reasons. In the long run, it is likely cheaper to up the salary grade and hold a higher percentage of men than it is to lose them and spend more in retraining successors. Certainly, it makes for a more efficient operation and an infinitely happier one. The reason we are pleased with the pay raise is that we feel that the men not only need it but deserve it.

Encourage The Theatre

Our Little Theatre group currently is conducting a membership campaign with a two-fold support objective.

One aim, of course, is to sell enough season memberships to underwrite the expense of the four plays booked for the season. While this is vital, it is no more important than the second objective of enlisting a representative audience for these productions. The strength of the legitimate theatre is in actors projecting directly to an audience.

The theatre is just as important to our cultural balance as painting, music and other forms of the arts. It is a form of expression and creativity which wells in the human breast everywhere—including right here in Big Spring.

We are fortunate in having many people at Webb AFB with professional and semi-professional backgrounds in the theatre to join with our longer residents. A combination like this puts us in a position to develop a strong theatre movement. But it needs your support in the form of memberships at nominal fees.

Holmes Alexander Tedious Question Of Freedom

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Before my term is ended," said President Kennedy just eight days after taking office, "we shall have to test anew whether a nation organized and governed such as ours can endure. The outcome is by no means certain. The answers are by no means clear."

That the President was not indulging in empty, Lincoln-derived oratory has been attested by a number of well-reasoned, deeply-researched books in which genuinely concerned authors of both Right and Left have called attention to the subject of America's survival as a free nation.

ONE SUCH BOOK, for instance, is "Constitutional Government Today in Soviet Russia" by Robert LeFevre, president and founder of the Freedom School in Colorado. Contrary to general opinion, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) is a constitutional government, with a parliamentary system and an electorate which in 1958 turned out 99.97 per cent strong to vote to the one-party slate.

LeFevre reprints the Russian Constitution, with explanations and annotations, his thesis being that every constitution, theirs as well as ours, is at once a testament of good intentions and also a contract in which the people surrender a share of natural liberty into the hands of the State. The degree of liberty retained and exercised by the people depends not upon written compacts but upon the people's own constant and knowledgeable vigilance.

THIS IDEA is pursued, unconsciously, perhaps, in Harry Howe Ransom's forthcoming book titled, "Can American Democracy Survive Cold War?" My bias, writes Professor Ransom, "is toward a voluntaristic rather than fatalistic theory of man and society. We can survive... if we have the will to do so."

But Ransom points out that the two matters which concern Americans the most—their Defense and their Democracy—are today in confrontation and in conflict. The size plus the secrecy of the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency, the negative factor of "censorship" and the positive factor of "propaganda" work against both truth and freedom.

THE PRESIDENCY is no longer occupied by an individual whom the people have chosen to lead them. There are 400 persons on the White House staff, over 2,000 in the Bureau of the Budget, National Security Council, Council of Economic Advisers, and office of Emergency Planning—a total of 15,000 if the CIA is counted, as Ransom believes it should be, in estimating the multiplicity of the modern Presidency.

It is almost axiomatic from the degree of secret planning and execution of plans, both military and social, that the multiple Presidency (though, perhaps, not the President himself) dare not trust the people. There is daily evidence in Congress and in the press that the people do not trust the Government. Under these conditions, it seems almost idiotic to ask, if liberty and self-government are suffering.

RANSOM STATES THE paradox, but does not go very far toward unriddling it. His best offering is a phrase, not from the Constitution, but from the Declaration of Independence, where it is suggested that "consent of the governed" is about as close as society can come to perfect freedom. But to "consent" to distrust, secrecy, "managed news" and faceless bureaucracy is the way that people have historically lost their liberties.

A third publication, appearing thus far only in the Congressional Record, has to do with "managed treaties," and is the work of Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota. Although Mundt voted for the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty, he indignantly attacked the procedure under which nearly 100 nations, none of them with nuclear capabilities, were allowed to sign the pact before it was ratified by the originating powers.

MUNDT FOUND that world opinion had been marshalled in a manner to infringe upon the free choice of the Senate, and of the American people. It happened in this instance that national and world opinion coincided. Nevertheless, the Presidential negotiators tapped a source of pressure that could be used to the detriment of American freedom on international decisions.

There is no doubt that President Kennedy, and whoever succeeds him, have the problem of watching over a country where freedom is struggling to endure against factors that are almost as hard to comprehend as to control.

Billy Graham

Please tell me if faith is imagination or something real—also is understanding necessary for faith? In other words, what is faith? L.R.

The perfect description of faith is found in the first verse of the first chapter of the book of Hebrews: "Now faith is the substance (or confidence) of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Faith is something very real and not a work of the imagination. You have exercised faith many times today. You get out of bed and stand on the floor, having faith that the floor is real and will hold you up. You ate breakfast believing that your food would nourish you and give you strength for the work ahead. In this, you did not understand the operation of metabolism which changes food into those component substances necessary for physical life. You ate simply by faith.

Not only is understanding not necessary for faith, but understanding is often impossible with our limited intellects. Faith is real and makes life itself possible. One should not confuse faith with credulity. The latter is a readiness to accept things which will not necessarily stand the test of fact, or truth. On the other hand, faith is a willingness to accept facts which we ourselves cannot explain. A study of the Bible makes it plain that our salvation depends on our willingness to accept by faith certain divinely revealed facts, facts which we cannot possibly explain in natural terms. No man can fully grasp the implications of God's love as revealed in the sending of His Son for our redemption. It is a fact we accept by faith and in that acceptance, we find eternal life. You ask me to explain it. I cannot. But, I know that it works.

Ex-Presidents Are Given A Bigger Voice

James Marlow is on vacation. In his absence his column will be written by Washington and New York Associated Press staffers. Today's column is by W. Davis of the Washington bureau.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ex-President Herbert Hoover is supposed to have told ex-President Harry S. Truman one time:

"The only thing for an old President to do is to take pills and dedicate libraries."

Hoover was joking, of course; both he and Truman — and also Dwight D. Eisenhower — the other living ex-President — have managed to keep busy at useful occupations.

BUT THEY could have a bigger voice than they do in the nation's affairs. The Senate this week took a step toward giving them just that.

The Senate passed a resolution giving all ex-Presidents the privilege of addressing it whenever they wished. All they would have to do would be to give advance notice.

Similar legislation has been proposed in Congress many times, but the idea always has foundered on the rocks of indifference.

WILLIAM HOWARD Taft put an effective quietus on a comparable proposal in 1912 when he said he could see no point in ex-Presidents being made non-voting members of the Senate. Chloroform, Taft said, could provide a more merciful oblivion.

But circumstances and viewpoints change and this time, thanks to the persistence of Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., it got through although it didn't go as far as Pell had sought. Pell originally wanted to give all ex-Presidents the status of senators-at-large.

THERE IS no expense involved in the proposal the Senate approved. Former Presidents already are entitled to pensions of $25,000 a year plus up to $50,000 a year for staff expenses.

Truman and President Kennedy already have the right to the Senate floor, being former members of the body.

But Pell said, if Hoover and Eisenhower were to come in, too, "the luster of our body would be even further enhanced."

Pell gave this argument to the Senate:

"WE COULD benefit by the unique wisdom of our retired chief executives.

"This, I believe, is a much needed step today, when the legislative and executive branches of our government too often think of themselves as antagonists rather than as allies.

"I know how much I would appreciate the advice and reactions of former Presidents when it comes to some of these rather difficult problems on which we have to vote, particularly those problems where our own Senate committee recommendations run counter to those of our chief executive."

Pell didn't have to add that most men—especially old men—like to give advice. That's a truism daily demonstrated in the Senate.

Heady Fall Comes To Gotham

NEW YORK (AP)—No one is quite sober in Manhattan in October.

Everyone drinks the wine of no possibility.

Anything can happen; everything does.

New York City advertises herself as a summer festival, but she is even more of a fall fiesta.

HER FUGITIVE children troop back from their summer hide-aways, mosquito-scarred and full of tales of country adventure. But they really don't start living again until they cross the Bronx line, or enter the Lincoln tunnel and leave New Jersey behind. Any time spent anywhere but here doesn't count — it's a period in a cocoon.

Now in October the cocoon time is over, and Manhattan again becomes a siren city, the American enchantress.

THE WORD is "big." Everybody has big plans, big dreams, big hopes — the big angle. Every bus, every train, every plane unloads hard-eyed or starry-eyed schemers who come here to seek the big chance, to beat the big city down to their size.

The hammering sound of new buildings going up and old buildings coming down echoes all day. Crews of workmen seem to be ripping up every pavement as they lay new utility lines or repair deep pockmarks.

OUT IN Flushing Meadows Bob Moses and his merry elves are clothing the skeleton of the giant World's Fair in a mad race against time to get the biggest show in history ready by next April.

Flying footballs replace the thump of baseballs in gloves on city playgrounds. The pigeons outside the Central Park Zoo get fewer handouts, and the polar bears gambol gaily in their chilling pool. Old ladies wait for sunny afternoons to lean pump arms on pillows in tenement windows and stare down with time-less curiosity on the antics of mankind.

A FRESH glitter comes to tawdry Broadway. Old shows close. New shows open—and some close. But in Tin Pan Alley the pianos go on tinkling forever.

On Fifth Avenue, the fabulous store windows drip with furs and jewels. Along the Bowery, hams shiver and wonder where they'll get an overcoat. In expensive restaurants the gin and tonic gives way to the vodka martini.

Life itself is just one big cocktail party in the big town now. Everyone from Park Avenue cin-dellones to Greenwich Village beatniks shares a feeling of exultant intoxication, for no one is quite so sober in Manhattan in October.

To Your Good Health Night Numbness Can Be Helped

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: When I am in bed at night, my arms become numb from elbows to fingers. This has been happening off and on for some years now.—H. J. W.

Numbness, as well as tingling, can be annoying, and it has a habit, often, of developing in the late hours of sleep, say from four a.m. onward. If I know people who are awakened by it—and then stay up because the discomfort ceases. It's a matter of trading sleep for comfort, and that's a hard choice to make.

Sometimes the problem can be solved simply; other times it requires quite a bit of trial and error, and in still other instances special appliances, and even surgery, may be required.

The real source of the trouble can be (and usually is) distant from the forearm or fingers. Rather, the numbness generally stems from pressure in the nerve of the arm, but the pressure is exerted farther up, in the neck, or shoulder, or spine.

As we get older, bones of the spine may suffer from osteo-arthritis, changes which thicken the edges at their ends. This leaves less space for the nerves emerging from the spinal column.

What to do? Try using a bigger or smaller pillow, or try to find out what particular sleeping positions cause the trouble. Sleeping on one side or the other can be the answer. Sleeping on the back may make the condition less noticeable.

Perhaps you sleep with arms up, or else curled under you. In such instances, pressure on certain arteries in the shoulder girdle can cause numbness. There is a muscle, from neck bones to collar bone, which can compress an artery. In some cases slitting this muscle has brought relief.

An extra or cervical rib can exert pressure on a nerve when you are in prone position, and such a bone may have to be removed.

More frequently, however, a head halter can be used to relieve pressure. If it is the result of changes in the bones of the spine, at times the halter may be necessary, for no one is quite so supple as he used to be. The point is, there ARE things to do about this annoying numbness.

Dear Dr. Molner: My son, 11, has a flat, black mole on the sole of his foot. I don't think it has ever changed in size. Should it be removed?—MRS. E. W.

Perhaps, since it is under constant pressure, but I don't want to be dogmatic about a mole I haven't seen. Have your doctor examine it and decide.

Dear Dr. Molner: I bruise easily. I am 23 and in good health. The slightest bump leaves an unsightly black and blue mark. Friends tell me this indicates a vitamin deficiency. What should I do?—N. R.

This can be a vitamin deficiency (lack of sufficient vitamin C or K) but is more often seen in older people who, over some period of time, have starved themselves of these vitamins. It can also be a calcium deficiency.

Another possibility is a deficiency in platelets or prothrombin in the blood, which is quite another matter, and in a case like yours, I suggest a thorough blood test.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, ACNE—THE TEEN-AGE PROBLEM. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

When 'Sis' Saved The Show

Mr. A. B. Sisson was known for always lending a helping hand when it was needed, a truism graphically illustrated for me one cold December night when it appeared all was lost.

A bunch of us was involved in putting on a Christmas pageant at the YMCA. We had worked day and night for weeks, getting costumes made, worrying about the authenticity of the make-up, trying to find a docile cow, a less recalcitrant monkey, and a small herd of sheep that would not run in all directions.

THESE WERE FOUND, a manager was built, the hay was stacked, the actors were rehearsed, and even the complicated "moving star" and Angel light were ready to go. Roy Rogan had moved in his huge spotlight and the sound equipment was set up for the music and narration.

We were about an hour away from the opening performance when something was remembered. We had no electric power at the site of the pageant, on the south end of the YMCA building. Hurried calls were put into Texas Electric Service Co., but there were requirements of deposit necessary before a man could be sent out to run a special line to the site.

AFTER ALL THE weeks of rehearsal and other preparations, it looked like we would be thwarted. Publicity had brought in our first crowd and the time for the first show was getting nearer. We could see our carefully made plans and weeks of work being lost for lack of a light. For no matter how well-done the production may have been, it was useless without sound and light.

WE WALKED THE halls of the YMCA, wringing our hands, trying to figure out what to do. I told James Tidwell about the problem.

"I'll call Mr. Sisson," he said. He did and Mr. Sisson was at the YMCA in about 10 minutes. He surveyed the problem and made a phone call. In another five minutes some electric servicemen were climbing up the pole and making the necessary connections to put on the show.

WE HAD 10 minutes to get the show ready and the place turned into a flurry of excitement as actors and back stage people raced to their assigned places. We didn't have time to check the sound or lighting equipment, just time enough to make that first curtain on time. Rogan's equipment turned out to be in good adjustment and it was the best performance we ever had.

I don't know if Mr. Sisson stayed to see that performance or not. I hope so. More than any of the rest of us, he made it possible that cold, December night.

Inez Robb

Power Of Female Persuasion

The Head of Clan Robb stuck his head in the bedroom door and recoiled sharply at the sight of the dress, suit, shoes and hat boxes, an ocean of tissue paper and new clothes tastefully arranged over bed and chairs.

"What in—," he began in the grief-stricken tones of a husband betrayed.

"HONEY, YOU remember when the President said we should ask not what the country could do for us, but what we could do for the country?" I interrupted quickly, in the belief that the initiative is everything in a domestic crisis.

"Well, I have just discovered what I can do for my country," I hurried on. "I've been out spending our tax cut to get the economy off dead center."

The head of the house closed his eyes and his lips moved silently, in prayer, I guess. He opened his eyes and took another look at the room.

"IT'S MY GUESS that with the push you've given it, the economy will be moving with the speed of Mach 3 by this time tomorrow," he said. "I just hope the rest of the country can hang on. But why didn't you let somebody else have a share in the project?"

"And," he continued, "have you never heard of the wisdom of counting your chickens before the eggs are hatched? There's no certainty that there's going to be a tax cut."

"Why, the House lopped eleven billion dollars off the tax take just last week," I said.

"SURE, THE HOUSE passed the tax cut," said my husband, "but that's no guarantee that the Senate is going to pass it, too."

"Oh pooh! The Senate will pass it, don't you worry."

"Well, I do worry," Add said. "And I hope you're prepared to carry all this stuff right back where you got it until you know what the Senate's going to do. You know as well as I do that Sen. Byrd is mortally opposed to a tax cut. And with Sen. Byrd in the saddle, the tax cut may never even be allowed to come to a vote in this session of Congress."

"THAT IS A contingency I dealt with when I wrote all the Senate wives," I replied.

"What in the world have you written to Senate wives?" Add asked.

"First of all, I urged them to do something concrete for their country like going out and spending their share of the eleven-billion-dollar tax cut. I pointed out that as wives of such important men as United States Senators they ought to set an example and lead the way."

"That way, I said, they could help avoid a future depression, create employment and start the economic motor racing. I appealed to them as women to get the economy off dead center. Since the men haven't been able to get it moving, I said it was definitely up to us women."

"IT IS MY theory," I concluded, "that if every Senate wife spends his-and-her share of the tax cut, and spends it NOW, a lot of Senators may look more favorably on rushing the tax cut through Congress at once."

"But suppose Sen. Byrd is still adamant?" said the head of the clan.

"Well, I have a plan for that, too. If the Virginia Senator blocks the tax cut, I have asked all the Senate wives to do what I am going to do."

"And what are you going to do in that case?" my husband asked.

"Wrap up all my bills and sent them to Sen. Byrd."

There Must Be A Case For Change

WASHINGTON—There's something baffling, to say the least, in various conversations one hears nowadays in political circles concerning Sen. Barry Goldwater and other possible candidates for the Republican presidential nomination. It's the oft-repeated question: "Can he win?"

The query somehow reflects a perhaps unintentional appraisal of the actual strength of President Kennedy among the voters. Even the way the question is asked indicates, as a rule, a feeling that the White House incumbent will be a hard man to beat. In fact, there are some Republican observers who privately express doubts whether Mr. Kennedy can really be defeated.

A FEW MONTHS ago this was a rather prevailing view. But, in recent weeks, the tide has seemed to turn, and there are many who now are convinced that Mr. Kennedy can be beaten for reelection.

As for the nomination, a poll just published by "U.S. News & World Report" shows that 71 per cent of the chairmen of Republican state committees who replied to its survey favor Sen. Goldwater and that 56 per cent of the Republican national committeemen who replied also favor him. Among the Republican senators and representatives, 56 per cent of the replies were for Mr. Goldwater.

Over the weekend, former President Eisenhower was quoted as having said that Sen. Goldwater's views were "unclear" to him, and this was interpreted by some observers not as a statement of neutrality but as a symptom of disapproval. Such comments give rise to further discussions as to whether the Eisenhower support is essential for the victory of a candidate. Ike's support of Richard Nixon didn't prevent a Kennedy victory in 1960, nor would the endorsement of Sen. Goldwater by former President Eisenhower today insure the Arizona senator's victory either at the Republican national convention or at the polls in November 1964.

THERE SEEMS to be too much emphasis nowadays on personalities and labels and not enough on issues. Yet basic issues count for more than personalities. This writer, for example, never accepted the thesis that Gen. Eisenhower's personal popularity won him either the nomination or the election. He won the nomination in 1952 because a majority of the convention delegates believed the oft-repeated statement that "Taft couldn't win." The general's position on major issues was relatively unknown at the time to most of the delegates. The election itself that year was won because the country disapproved of the Truman administration on the three issues of "Korea, communism and corruption," and the Republican party united behind Mr. Eisenhower.

IN 1956, HOWEVER, a situation existed that is somewhat parallel to what may happen in 1964. The Democrats seven years ago had not made an impressive case against the Eisenhower administration, and the country, moreover, was in a state of relative contentment on the economic side. This always produces a "no change" psychology.

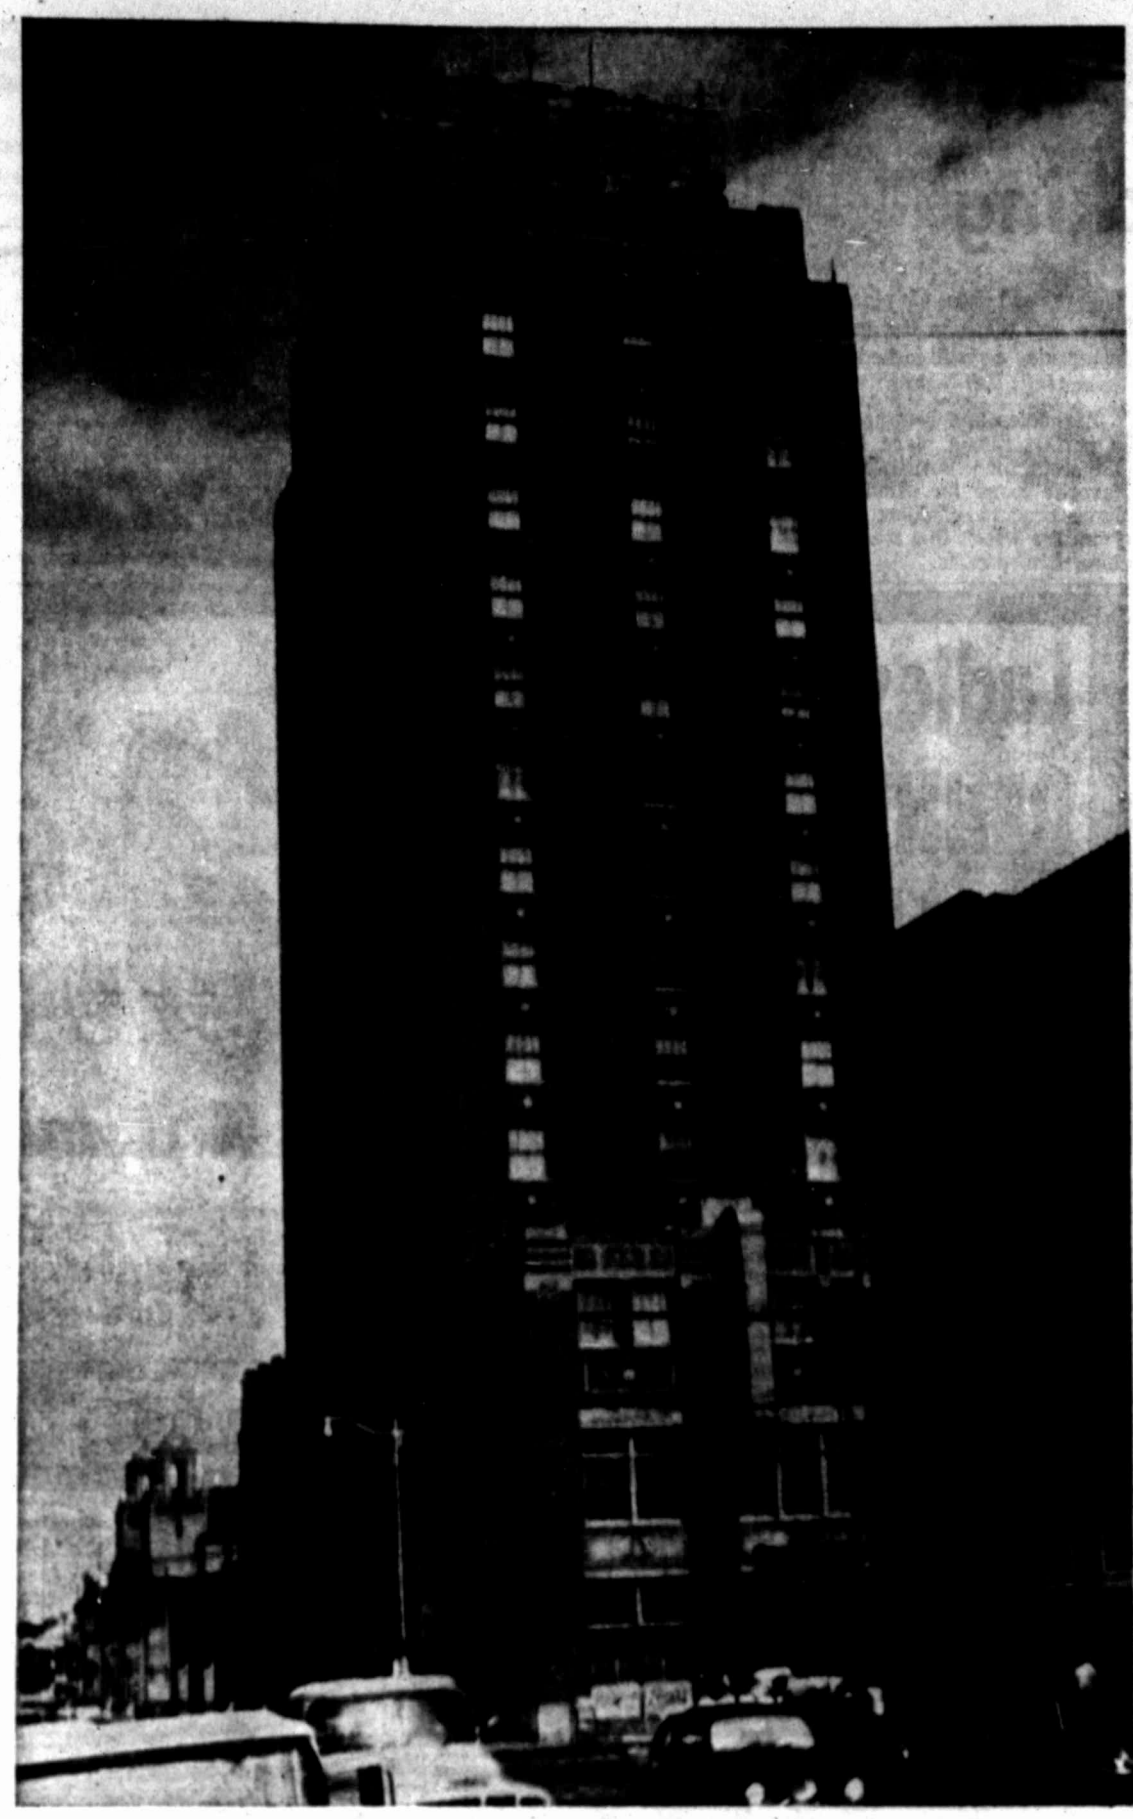

Today, the Republican speakers have not yet made a convincing case against the Kennedy administration. They have spent so much of their time arguing about "conservatives" and "liberals," "radical right" and "radical left," that they have not gotten across to the country just why there should be a change of administration in Washington.

Sen. Goldwater has probably said more against the Kennedy administration than any of the other men mentioned for the Republican nomination. But he has been promptly assailed not so much by Democrats as by Republicans who would like somebody else nominated.

WHAT ARGUMENTS have the Republicans neglected? Government funds, for instance, are being used more for political purposes today than perhaps in any other period in recent history, but the Republicans have not made a crusade on this issue. The alliance between the administration and the labor unions has been conspicuous and has had its effect on the economic life of the country, resulting in costly strikes or wage rises that are higher than can be absorbed by increased prices. The Republican speakers have not tackled the issue with any vigor, nor have they revealed the manner in which labor-union members finance campaigns and how the union leaders insist that senators and representatives who get such benefits should support their legislation. The economic future of the country is related to a balanced budget and a sound dollar, but the voters have not begun to understand the implications of continuing deficits in the Treasury.

INTERNATIONAL policies are a risky basis for political campaigns because conditions can change overnight. The changes are that, in the next campaign, the Republicans, while taking advantage of every opportunity to attack the handling of the Cuban problem and other aspects of foreign policy, will really try to win the election on the basis of domestic issues, particularly on the economic side.

In The Center Of Things

The Settles Hotel, at the corner of East Third and Runnels, is located conveniently in Big Spring for guests and conventioners who wish to do some shopping in the city. The 14-story and penthouse hostelry has recently been remodeled and has an up-to-date kitchen and dining room, spacious lobby, and convenient mezzanine.

New Chapel Is Being Added

Coy Nalley and J. C. Pickle, owners of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, have served the people of Big Spring and West Texas conscientiously for more than a quarter of a century. They have sought to provide quiet, dignified services as lasting commemoratives during times of bereavement.

Today they are adding to existing facilities. A new chapel will be ready in a few months. The expansion was made necessary by the growing appreciation by area families for Nalley-Pickle's handling of services demanded from the firm.

Families and friends may gather in private, comfortable rooms at the funeral home parlors. A modern chapel is already provided for families who wish to hold services there instead of going to a church or home. Attendants are ready to take charge, make all arrangements for the services and relieve the family of anxiety during their sorrow.

These men and women are ready to take on these responsibilities while, at the same time, they respect the known wishes of the family. Services are carried out to pay the perfect tribute, and the memorials are handled with the utmost understanding, for a lasting memory.

Modern ambulances are ready to roll 24 hours a day in case of emergency. They are manned by attendants trained in first aid, which is often vital in accidents and other emergencies, and equipped with oxygen in case it is needed. These same ambulances are also ready to transport a member of the family to a hospital for medical emergency. They move patients with comfort and ease.

No vehicle is permitted to become obsolete or out of repair. They are kept as safe as modern mechanics can make them and replaced regularly to insure efficiency. Units are equipped with two-way radios on the police frequency in the event a message is sent for emergency transmission. They also serve to keep law enforcement officers advised of emergency movement and for escorts when needed.

Nalley-Pickle has nine men on the staff besides the owners. Bob Read is bookkeeper and office manager. J. O. Skiles is insurance agent; Ralph Emerson, Roger Raynolds and Jerry Delatour are licensed morticians. Marvin Cooper is a veteran of 15 years with Nalley-Pickle. Others are Wiley Woodard, Henry Blessingame and Ron Wuest. A woman attendant is also on hand to insure understanding and provide helpful comfort.

Lights Ward Off Burglars

Security lighting provided by Texas Electric Service Company at a nominal cost is becoming popular around Big Spring. It can be seen around many homes or business areas.

These lights are becoming more and more a necessity to provide adequate lighting in areas where darkness may invite undesirable activities by prowlers.

There is little danger of burglaries or thefts from parked cars, business houses, or homes where adequate lighting is provided. The lights may be installed on your own pole or a pole can be set.

A call to Texas Electric Service Co., AM 4-6383, will yield the information needed to get protection around the home or business with modern lighting.

Guarantees Tire Owners Safety

Phillips Tire Co. now stocks tires, made under the process, to guarantee car owners safe driving, long-lasting tires, and comfort in riding.

When you go by Phillips Tire Co. you may also find other automobile accessories. Seat covers, made to fit, safety belts, and other items now considered necessities, are available.

Doesn't Show, But Kills

Johnston's No-Roach is the safe, brush or spray liquid that kills crawling insects any where in the house. It doesn't show and can be placed around cabinets, shelves, baseboards, sinks, and even close to the dishes to prevent roaches, ants, and other insects from embarrassing the lady of the house.

Paint Adds Beauty And Protection

Before winter weather sets in is a good time to take a look at the paint job on your home. It may have begun to crack, peel or look dingy. A new coat of Cactus paint can give it a new look.

Cactus, a local industry, manufactures paints for homes, both interior and exterior, business buildings and all other uses. Built especially for West Texas, they stand up under severe weather conditions, including the hard winter months.

Much testing and analyzing goes into each product before it is put on the market. It must meet high standards before Cactus Paint Co. approves it for use.

If you want a room painted to match the rest of the house, a Cactus analyzing job will give you what you want. If you need a color not shown on the color cards or charts, or if it is one of your own choosing, Cactus men can help you.

Paint serves two purposes in its use. One is to give a desired appearance. The other is to preserve building materials.

Cactus has men experienced in making paints. They know what is required to make the paint stand up in all kinds of weather.

Cactus paints are available at local lumber yards and hardware stores. A telephone call to Cactus Paint Manufacturing Co., AM 4-8922, will get information needed to give a building a new look for winter.

IMPERIAL CROWN FOUR-DOOR
Also available in three other models

Imperials Go On Show Here Friday

The 1964 Imperial, completely new in styling and more improved in every way than at any time since Imperial became a wholly separate line of automobiles seven years ago, will be introduced at Gillihan Motor Co., 600 E. 3rd Friday.

Imperial continues to be a big luxury car, with its own exclusive body construction. It has an elegant new look with subdued metal sculpturing and trim. More than 150 significant improvements were designed into the 1964 Imperial to increase its operating smoothness and quietness, according to C. E. Briggs, vice president of Chrysler Motors Corporation and general manager, Chrysler - Plymouth Division.

NEW MODELS
The Imperial line for 1964 consists of four models with options and features designed to meet a wide range of preferences among luxury car buyers.

The Le Baron four-door hardtop, with its distinctive small rear window, extra deluxe trim and equipment, continues as the top of the line.

The Crown Coupe, a two-door hardtop, and the Crown convertible, are special personalized automobiles with individually adjustable power bucket seats, extra wide shoulder bolsters and adjustable head rests as standard equipment. The front passenger seat features a reclining back as standard in both models.

The Crown four-door hardtop, the traditional volume leader in the Imperial line, is available with an exceptional range of equipment and accessories. It has its own distinctive rear window and C-pillar design.

Among the distinguishing exterior appearance features of the

Wildlife Board Studying Oyster Hearing Material

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Parks and Wildlife Commission began the study here of testimony from a two-day hearing on whether to permit more shell dredging in Galveston and Trinity bays.

The commission now must decide whether to alter the stand it took Sept. 16, when it refused requests by four dredging firms for immediate extended access to shell deposits.

Witnesses opposing the extension said this week that plentiful shell deposits exist south of Galveston and Trinity bays. They specifically cited Matagorda and San Antonio bays.

Major opposition to increased dredging has come from civic leaders, oyster fishermen and conservationists.

Mrs. F. E. Dunn of San Leon said the Galveston Bay area and its live oyster reefs should remain available "for the greatest number of people" and not be turned over to commercial interests.

Joe Lagow, Chambers County commissioner, testified that only a seven-year supply of shell remains in Galveston and Trinity bays, including live reefs. He said some solution would have to be found by then.

"If it can be done then, it can be done now, and the reefs could be saved," Lagow said. He added that if the commission approves extended dredging, "the reefs will be destroyed not for public necessity but for private gain."

Larry Hornbeck of Port Bolivar, representing the Texas Oyster Growers Association, told the commission that dredging of the live reefs would doom oyster fishing in the area.

"I don't want to see the dredging companies go out of business. But I have to make a living too," Hornbeck said.

Parks and Wildlife Department rules now prohibit the dredging of live oyster reefs.

Opponents contend that once a reef is dredged, it is destroyed forever.

Proponents of the move say existing shell in dead reefs in Galveston and Trinity bays is nearly exhausted.

Cecil Haden, president of the Houston dredging firm of W. D. Haden Co., testified that the industry is being pushed toward the

Aransas Pass Shows Long History Of Shipwrecking

FORT ARANSAS, Tex., (AP)—Before Uncle Sam began dredging channels and building jetties to make Aransas Pass safe for ships, there were plenty of wrecks.

The Corpus Christi Caller for January 21, 1883, reported, "We are informed that 125 tons of railroad iron have been recovered from the wreck of the bark Abeona, off Padre Island. Work continues with the prospect of recovering the whole of the cargo, about 600 tons."

"The captain knew nothing of the strong Gulf current that sets inshore near Aransas Pass, so undoubtedly felt perfectly safe until his vessel stranded."

In Capt. John G. Mercer's log, written when he was one of the Port Aransas pilots in 1866, he said "Schooner Nonsuch tried to go to sea but got on her anchor and punched a hole in her."

The Nonsuch was mended and put to sea again, but was ill-fated, for later the same year a story in the Corpus Christi Gazette said that a Capt. Collins found, washed up on the beach at Padre Island, a main-mast with a gold watch chain nailed to it. A charm—a gold-bound sea bean—was attached to it. A note copied from the Galveston News at a later date said the charm and chain belonged to the captain of the schooner Nonsuch.

OTHER VESSELS
Other ships of which there are local records were the Mary and the Reindeer.

Two or three years ago, skin divers uncovered the wreck of the Reindeer off Port Aransas. According to Charles Hunt, one of the party, the old sternwheeler, which went down off St. Joseph's island nearly 90 years ago, lies in about 25 feet of water, and its name was still visible on the bow.

Nearly everyone at the pilot station had a try at saving the steamer, and they battled all night long with a tremendous sea.

Part of the Reindeer's cargo was thrown overboard in an attempt to lighten her so she could claw off the bar, and some of it washed ashore on Padre and Mustang islands to be taken over by the wreckmaster, Capt. Peter Benson, who arrived, along with a squad of soldiers, to keep down thievery.

Some 58 cases of bitters were salvaged, although a diary says that the soldiers "were tapping the boxes" and had been emptying them in true Army style.

ITEMS ON SALE

A faded-handbill in Corpus Christi's La Retama Library advertises the fact that the wreckmaster would sell, at 3 p.m., Feb. 9, 1870, six packages of furniture, 58 cases of bitters, seven kegs of whiskey, barrels of wine and molasses, looking glasses, four pictures, flour, potatoes, coal oil, snuff, schnapps, candles, sherris, a box of peaches, some scrubbing brushes, soap, lard, condensed milk, and a bale of cotton, all from the wreck.

But not everything washed overboard. Hunt said the most unusual sight on the old boat was a wheel still leaning against the side of the deck.

Skindivers who have seen the Reindeer say the old vessel angles upward on its side, with the paddle wheel seeming to reach for the surface. Only the spokes remain on the wheel, they say, and this adds to the skeleton-like look of the rest of the hull, which has old

Medical Supply Firm Purchased

FORT WORTH (AP)—Inland Investment Co., a holding firm, has purchased controlling interest in Cary-Taylor Corp., a distributor of surgical, hospital and physicians' supplies.

James H. Taylor, president of Cary-Taylor, said here that he and seven other major shareholders sold the stock. Inland will offer to buy the rest of the stock on similar terms, he said.

Taylor will continue as president.

Cary-Taylor has its main offices at Arlington, Tex., and subsidiary companies in Amarillo, Lubbock and Waco. It operates the Cary-Taylor Medical Mart in Fort Worth and has electronic equipment and chemical subsidiaries.

Library Renamed For Reading Whiz

CHICOPEE, Mass. (AP)—Everyone at the Streiber School remembered Kenneth Garrett as the second grader who loved to read.

When he had read all the books for his age bracket in the school library, he talked his father, an Air Force captain, into donating more volumes.

Last week, Kenneth, 6, "who couldn't get to school fast enough," died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The Chicopee school board voted Wednesday night to rename the room with the books that Kenneth loved so well: "The Kenneth Garrett Memorial Library."

His father is Kenneth Garrett Sr., of Shawnee, Kan., and Westover Air Force Base.

Ired Judge Cancels Young Couple's Vows, Jails Boy

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Melvin Rahrig of Monroeville, Ohio, angered a judge, missed his wedding and was hauled 100 miles to Columbus in handcuffs—all because he lied about his age.

Rahrig, 17 in July, listed his age at 18 in filling out an application to marry Betty Miller of Sandusky. She also is 17, but six months older than Rahrig.

The couple planned to be married Sept. 21 in St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church in Monroeville. Two hundred persons were invited to the reception, an $80 wedding cake was purchased and the couple put down $90 rent on a furnished home.

Both sets of parents were present when Rahrig and Miss Miller filled out the marriage license application, but Ohio law states the male must be 18 to marry, even if parents consent.

Melvin lied about his age, Miss Miller said, "because he didn't know the law and he didn't want people to know I was older than him."

Juvenile Court Judge Donald J. Young Jr., who had placed Rahrig on probation a year ago for running away from home, noticed the wedding announcement in the newspaper. He ordered Rahrig arrested for violating probation by falsifying an official document.

Police arrested Rahrig the day before his scheduled wedding. A probation officer slapped handcuffs on Melvin this week and took him off to Columbus for six to eight weeks at the Child Diagnostic Center.

"He is a common nuisance," said the judge, adding "we have had him take psychology tests and they indicate he is of low intelligence."

"He used to run around with some bad boys," said Miss Miller. "But that's all over now. He makes $90 to $100 a week as a house painter. We've been dating for eight months and I love him."

She said she'll wait for Melvin. "Then we'll have to figure out some way to get married, probably in some other state."

Baylorites Meet

A meeting of the Baylor Club has been called for 7:30 p.m. today in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association in Big Spring. There will be a brief business meeting and plans for attending the Baylor-Tech game in Lubbock on Oct. 19, said John Richard Coffee, president. All former students of Baylor University and its branches as well as friends of the school are urged to attend, Coffee said.

90 Rescued As Fire Hits Homes

NEW YORK (AP)—About 90 persons were removed safely early today as a three-alarm fire swept five 2-story frame houses in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn.

There were no injuries. More than 100 firemen and 15 pieces of equipment were dispatched to the scene.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Cuban Warns U.S. 'Keep Hands Off'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban armed forces Vice Minister Maj. Efigenio Almejeras has warned the United States to keep its hands off Cuba or suffer the consequences.

"If the imperialists stick their hands into Cuba again, we will cut them off," Almejeras said according to a Havana radio broadcast heard in Miami.

South African Tribesmen Try Out Self-Government

PONDOLAND, Transkei, South Africa (AP)—Three million African tribesmen of Transkei move into a human display window of limited self-government in white-ruled South Africa this fall.

There are rocks around that can smash the window—tribal rivalries, indifference to politics, hostility to the central government, economic problems.

But Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's white government is bent on giving the blacks a taste of self-rule. The aim is to try to sell the world on the idea that South Africa's apartheid (race segregation) policy will work.

Much of the administration in Transkei will be turned over to African civil servants next month. State elections will be held in November. A limited self-governing state will be in operation by Christmas.

Transkei (it means "across the river") is a pleasant land of fertile mountains on the eastern shores of South Africa. Its area is 64,000 square miles, about four times that of Switzerland.

The people are the Xhosa, divided into numerous tribes with age-old rivalries. The masses leave politics to the tribal chiefs and headmen, who like to saddle their horses and gallop off to political pow-wows.

The people know little about self government because the chief's word is law—as in ancient times.

The Transkeis get along with the 16,000 whites and 14,000 colored (mixed blood). White hotels, bars and other public places are segregated, but few Xhosas could afford to visit them anyway.

There are more than 800,000 Xhosa men and women registered for the legislative elections in late November.

The Africans, however, will find much has already been decided for them. They will elect only 45 of the 109 members of the legislative assembly. The other members will be 64 tribal chiefs, automatically elected. Critics say these chiefs are nothing but white government stooges.

Furthermore, President Charles R. Swart of South African can veto any act of the legislature. The South African government retains control of defense, foreign affairs, roads, railways, ports and immigration. Six white government administrators will head various state departments and assist in training Africans for state jobs. Brownsville Plant Plans Expansion

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Union Carbide Corp. has announced expansion of its facilities in Brownsville which are expected to increase its expenditures by $500,000.

Birney Mason Jr., president, said plans to increase production of acetic acid at the plant will require additional construction and also add 60 workers to the payroll.

State Still Barred From Oil Discrimination Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court has left standing a court ruling that the attorney general cannot bring penalty suits alleging discrimination by pipeline companies.

The high court refused Wednesday to let the state apply for a writ of error. It held there was no reversible error in the ruling by the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals in a suit against Crown Central Pipeline Co. Dist. Judge Herman Jones granted Crown Central a summary judgment Jan. 25. This gave it immunity from the suit because the firm is appealing in another court a 1962 order by the Texas Railroad Commission for Crown Central to extend its lines to 18 wells operated by Mrs. Merle Duffy of Abilene, R. L. Foree of Dallas. The appeals court upheld Jones.

Creditors Shear Black Sheep Club

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Black Sheep Club, a members-only bar and cafe, was sheared this week by two bookkeepers who claimed the club owed $1,000 in back wages.

Yvonne Schander, 22, and Patricia Lee, 26, appeared with a court order, an attorney and a moving van—and interrupted the luncheon trade by carting off the bar fixtures, the money in the till and about everything else movable.

The attorney said the staff will be sold to cover the judgment. The club says it'll get new furniture.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Jacques Singer, conductor of the Portland, Ore., Symphony Orchestra, received an ovation from members of the Mexican National Symphony for understanding of a Mexican Classic.

Singer, formerly of Corpus Christi, Tex., has been rehearsing the symphony for Friday's concert. He drew cheers over "Sones de Mariachi," by Blas Galindo.

★★ YOUR STARS TODAY ★★

By Constella

All human joys are swift of wing. For heaven doth so allot it. —Eugene Field

DAILY GUIDE — Make the most of this Full Moon's high emotional tide. It does carry a wave of optimism in spite of the surrounding disturbances. It is an excellent time to offer and accept hospitality. Gifts and benefits can come to those who have worked for them.

It is an excellent day for buying and selling, for religious matters, travel, and generally romantic and social affairs.

Decisions and news are important, so schedule interviews, meetings, agreements, today or tomorrow.

Arians, especially those born at the end of starch, have possibility of publicity, praise, recognition. Librarians should seek opportunities through mate, associates or public. Cancerians may hope for career promotion; Capricornians joy at home base.

Sagittarians can expect happiness through loved ones, social contacts; Leo through travel or contacts at a distance.

Tomorrow the favorable influence carries on, but move quickly to enjoy while you may, as the weekend threatens difficulties.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LIBRA!

Put your best foot forward now; then, after the 11th, you will be ready to discuss your plans and ideas and get around more until the end of the month.

Some situation with a loved one or social contact may give trouble this week. Watch finances in this connection as you might be swamped by an emotional situation.

You can hope for excellent cooperation from mate, associates and public through this year and up to April. A hidden anxiety about health or work can become critical next summer.

Zoning Variance Asked On Clanton

The zoning board of adjustment will meet at 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 10 to consider a variance request for the construction of a building at 2701 Clanton.

Delbert Harland, owner, has requested a variance of five feet, seven inches rather than six feet, eight inches as required by a new city ordinance.

Most houses in the Clanton Addition were constructed with less than five foot setbacks prior to the enactment of the ordinance.

Several Outs Seen
If Gold Is Short

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If a concerted drive on U.S. gold stocks really gets rolling — unlikely as that is — what could we do? Other nations hold 20 billion worth of dollar credits that theoretically could be turned in to the U.S. Treasury with a demand for payment in gold. And we now have $15.5 billion of that metal, with $12 billion of it as legal reserve for U.S. currency.

— The United States could free the currency reserve. The additional $12 billion of gold available to settle foreign claims presumably would halt the drive.

— The United States could suspend payment in gold and hold onto its hoard.

— The United States could devalue the dollar. Since 1933 the legal price of gold has been $35 an ounce. If Congress doubled the price, our store would be valued at $31 billion, more than enough to settle the 20 billion in foreign dollar claims (which over night would have lost half of their value in gold.)

American monetary experts think any of the three moves most unlikely now — just as they are confident steps will be taken to make any run on reserves a very far-out threat indeed.

Freeing the reserves backing our currency has been advocated both here and abroad. But it runs up against strong traditional opposition. George S. Moore, president of First National City Bank, New York, points out that "any prolonged debate in Congress over the enactment of such legislation would further damage confidence in the dollar."

Why the need for suspension of gold payments is unlikely to arise is summed up by Dr. M. A. Kriz, senior economist of the same bank: "Of the $20 billion of short-term liabilities to foreigners, $12 billion is held by governments and central banks. They have a vital stake in maintaining the present monetary system. Foreign commercial banks, businesses and individuals holding the other $8 billion of short-term dollars need large working balances in dollars in their day-to-day business and for prospective dollar needs."

Since World War II many governments have counted dollars right along with gold as monetary reserves backing their own currencies. Loss of confidence — suspension — devaluation — would play hob with international settlements. That is why other nations are as determined as Washington that none of these things happens.

First off, the principal monetary nations probably would devalue their currencies right along with us. The payments problem would be right where it was, except for the loss of value in gold of their dollar reserves. And since only Congress could change the price of gold in dollars, while the debate was on other nations would dump their dollar holdings fast.

Tomorrow — How effective are the measures we've already tried?

Lawsuit Spotlights Sway-Back Poodle

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A poodle which its owner claims is sway-back and can't have puppies is involved in a $1,255 suit here.

Miss Leslie Thacker, a certified public accountant of Houston, filed the suit against Mr. and Mrs. Jay Brown of La Feria.

Miss Thacker's suit said she paid $250 for the animal in 1959 and planned to show the short-tailed miniature poodle in American Kennel Club Shows.

Now, says Miss Thacker, the dog has a bad disposition and hardly anybody can approach her. On top of that, she adds in her suit, the dogs is sway-backed and veterinarians have told her it is incapable of bearing puppies.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

by Heloise Cruse

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I've got little bugs in my cabinets. I find them in everything. My neighbor says they are weevils. What can I do?

Matilda S.

Dear Matilda: Don't feel bad. We all get 'em once in a while. (Many grocers have written that they receive the "stuff" in this state, even though they can't help it! The worst offenders, according to letters from homemakers and grocers are meal, paprika, flour and flour mixtures.

HELOISE

By placing the products in fruit jars and capping the lid tightly you can at least see 'em and discard the stuff . . . if it is contaminated. At least the jars keep the weevils in one home! He (or she) can't jump from one nest to another if he's capped in.

Many manufacturers put pieces of bay leaf into condiments, flours, meal and mixtures when shipping them. Try a bay leaf in the jars of products you don't use often.

Also those items which are susceptible to weevils can be kept in your deep freeze! Did you know that? It's super! Try it. Flour does NOT freeze.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have wooden cabinets in my kitchen. My husband was so annoyed by the recipes, paper and plastic bags lying around . . . he went out and bought some mouse traps at the dime store. He removed the "thumb" from the traps, sprayed the traps with some yellow paint to match my kitchen decor, and screwed them to the inside of all my cabinet doors. Both upper and lower.

Now all I have to do is to put the clippings and bags under the spring and it holds them beautifully. It gets the clutter out of the way and I always know where everything is.

The best trap of all is the one he put on the door under my kitchen sink. Now instead of folding the wet dishcloth and putting it under my sink over the water pipe (where it would sometimes mildew) or across the neck of the faucet, I just pull this little clip out and hang the dishcloth right in the trap. It dries beautifully. You can also hang a dish mop by its string head in one of these traps.

Kire Virginia

Dear Heloise: I removed a stuck stopper in my decenter by placing the decenter in hot water (but not so hot that the glass will break) in an upright position.

I put a couple of ice cubes in a wash cloth and held them on the stopper. The hot water made the decenter expand while the ice cubes caused the stopper to contract.

Presto, they came apart. This also works on glasses stuck together . . . only instead of using ice cubes to fill the top glass just fill it with cold water.

LYNN B.

FROM HELOISE'S KITCHEN

Dear Ladies: Did you know that when you cut hardboiled eggs for deviling, slice them for salads, or any other reason . . .

You can dip the knife in salad oil and the egg will cut perfectly.

I just discovered this! Try it. Heloise

(Mail letters to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

TOPS Club Has New President

Pound Rebels of the Take Off Pounds Sensibly Club received the resignation of their president, Mrs. Marshall McAdams, Tuesday evening in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Gas Co. building. Mrs. McAdams and family are returning to Lubbock, their former home.

Mrs. L. Scott, named the September queen with a weight loss of 15 pounds, was elected president. After the meeting, members adjourned to the John Lees Service Club, Webb Air Force Base, where a psychologist from the state hospital talked on psychological problems in children.

Daughter Is Born

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lee Parrish of Amarillo announce the birth of a girl, Judith Gale, Sept. 25 at 10:40 a.m. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charley Parrish, Coahoma. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Phillips of Amarillo.

Prayer Program Is Heard At Church

"Before Thee, An Open Door" was the theme of a Week of Prayer program held Tuesday at the First Baptist Church in Ackerly. Mrs. J. L. Rudelsell, prayer chairman, gave the opening devotion.

Following the hymn, "Here I Am, Send Me," Mrs. Bill Hambrick gave the benediction. Secret plans were revealed and names drawn for the next quarter.

Concluding the meeting, a covered dish luncheon was served to 16 women.

Romans Visit In San Antonio

KNOTT (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman have returned from a weekend with their son-in-law and daughter, Maj. and Mrs. James T. Rutledge and family, San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of Ozona were weekend guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Airhart of New Home visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Airhart.

Mrs. J. W. Fryar is a patient in a Big Spring hospital where she underwent surgery Monday.

MARIA PERSCHY

Sauerkraut For Facial Is Used In Austria

By LYDIA LANE ROME—The Via Veneto is not the ideal place for an interview, but the first day I arrived here I ran into Maria Perschy and persuaded her to have dinner with me.

"You were in seclusion when I tried to interview you in Hollywood," I said.

"Not really. Do you know the reason I had to cancel my date with you?" asked Maria, who had been in California for Universal's Sport. "My face was so broken out that I was ashamed to meet a beauty columnist. I felt terrible, and I didn't want to see anyone. I had an allergic reaction from a hormone cream I should have had enough sense not to use. But the make-up man gave me a medicated cream and lotion that cleared my skin and now I use it all the time."

"My aunt has a remarkable skin for her age. She believes in fresh sauerkraut facials. There must be something to it because Austrian women have been using it for generations. You soak cotton in the juice, lie down and cover your face with it, leaving a cut-out place for the nose and eyes. After 15 minutes, wash it off, and your skin will glow.

"I have learned an important lesson. Never take a good complexion for granted. Your whole outlook on life is changed when you have a bad complexion."

Nuclear Satellite Beeping Strongly After Two Years

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—After more than two years in space, the first satellite to draw energy from a nuclear generator still is beeping strong signals to earth.

The remarkable success of the Transit 4A navigation satellite has encouraged civilian and military planners to consider atomic power sources for other space vehicles, with several to be launched in the next few years.

Nuclear generators offer advantages of long life, light weight, and uninterrupted performance. They are immune to radiation damage like that which silenced several U.S. satellites by destroying power-producing solar cells.

When Transit 4A was launched June 28, 1961, it marked a significant milestone in the U.S. space program, one which the Russians have not matched.

The nuclear generator is enclosed in a metal container the size of a grapefruit and weighing only 4.5 pounds. At the core is a small amount of plutonium 238, a radioisotope which generates heat up to 1,050 degrees Fahrenheit as it decays. Thermoelectric rods convert the heat to electrical energy providing power output of 2.7 watts.

The Atomic Energy Commission reports that after more than 10,000 orbits and 300 million miles of travel, the generator continues to produce electrical current to two radio transmitters and some instruments in Transit 4A. Officials said the tiny unit could provide power for 90 years. But the satellite probably will cease to transmit in about three years, the anticipated life of its electronic components.

The Transit nuclear packages were developed by the Martin Co. Nuclear Division under the AEC's SNAP (systems for nuclear auxiliary power) program.

Bucks For Better Government Set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rival California Republican and Democratic leaders have announced a bipartisan fund raising campaign called "Bucks For Better Government." They've scheduled the drive for Oct. 16-23.

The campaign's goal is to get $1 contributions from each Republican and Democrat in California to finance party campaigns and broaden the base of financial participation.

Honorary chairmen are Republican William F. Knowland, former U.S. Senate majority leader, and Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Texas' Peach Producers Urged To Expand Volume

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The state's peach growers have been told that unless they expand production to meet increased demand, growers in other states will meet it for them.

The statement came from J.S. Rosborough of Marshall, a commercial producer who spoke Tuesday at the annual peach and plum conference at Texas A&M University.

Rosborough said the state crop of a half-million to one million bushels per year is not enough. "Even when production is at a million bushels, Texas still imports more than 100 cars of peaches into the Dallas and Houston areas," he said.

The horticulturist pointed out that the average grower can boost his peach output by about 10 percent a year. But such expansion should be accompanied by use of new varieties to suit new demands and changing conditions.

He emphasized that if growers go into large scale production, with 4,000 to 6,000 acres, then they must also modernize like the farmers in the southeast United States. This involves such improvements as hydra-cooling and refrigerated shipments.

"In the next few years," Rosborough said, "I look for about three big commercial orchards to start up in Texas."

Cat Survives Long Entombment

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—A tough little gray cat from Canada astonished veterinarians here by surviving a two-months journey from Montreal sealed in a crate.

A dockerman in a warehouse noticed movement behind a knothole in the crate.

The crate was opened and the cat emerged, thin but little the worse except for a raging thirst. She is thriving at a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals home.

Insecticide Spills In Train Wreck

BEAUMONT (AP)—A freight train struck a parked freight car and spilled toxic—but not deadly—insecticide.

Officers blocked off the area and began washing it down.

Jackie Rests On Vacation

ATHENS, Greece (AP)— Jacqueline Kennedy stayed in seclusion in her vacation villa today, but informed sources said she would pay a tea-time call on the Greek royal family.

It was learned that Mrs. Kennedy, accompanied by her brother-in-law and sister, Prince Stanislas and Princess Lee Radziwill, would have afternoon tea with King Paul and Queen Frederika at the palace.

Prince Radziwill, a Polish nobleman turned London businessman, arrived Wednesday night.

The U.S. embassy termed unfounded an item in one Athens newspaper that President Kennedy might join his wife for the windup of her 15-day vacation.

Arriving from the United States Wednesday, Mrs. Kennedy settled into the seaside villa of shipping magnate Markos Nomikos. Tight security surrounded the villa. Guards carefully inspected the tool kit of an electrician coming to check installations.

Her arrival was greeted with front-page newspaper stories, mostly expressing delight at her choice of Greece a second time for a vacation.

The 303-foot yacht Christina, put at her disposal by shipowner Aristotle Onassis, rode at anchor in Glyphada Bay, waiting for Mrs. Kennedy to cruise the Greek islands.

Reds Say Hoods Part Of U.S. Life

MOSCOW (AP)—The government newspaper Izvestia gave its readers a long account of the Joseph Valachi crime hearing in Washington and then commented Wednesday night:

"Gangsterism is an inevitable companion of American society. Such organizations as Cosa Nostra were and will be."

SUPER SANDWICH IS SNACK FAVORITE
French bread is slashed, filled with salami, cheese, pickles

Serve Super Sandwiches At Parties And For Snacks

One of the nicest rests in the day's occupation is the tea and sandwich hour — that lovely hour when the ice clinks invitingly in a tall pitcher of tea, when you can stop, sit back, sandwich in hand and relaxation in mind, and just take it easy. For, be it outdoors or indoors, taking it easy, particularly at mealtime, is an important principle of health, and a state of being you should try to attain at least a few times during the day. Sandwiches made with enriched bread filled with a protein-high food make ideal and moderate meals.

In addition to meals, sandwiches are suitable for parties and snacks. Open-face, club or finger sandwiches can be decorated with such gay toppers as sauteed pineapple, stuffed and ripe olives, pepper rings, tomato slices and gherkins.

This week the food section features sandwiches and drinks.

Here are several pointers on making successful sandwiches.

Choose sandwich style, filling and variety of bread to suit the occasion. Use fresh bread, no more than a day old.

Spread bread with softened butter or margarine, all the way to the edge to prevent moist fillings from soaking the bread.

Be generous with the filling. Cut and serve in an attractive manner, with appropriate garnish.

When making iced tea, do not put it in the refrigerator. Tea will not lose a bit of flavor or freshness when kept out for several hours at room temperature. Refrigeration may cause the tea to cloud.

Cloudiness does not affect the taste of tea. However, if you would like to restore it to its amber-clear color, just add a little boiling water.

A loaf of French bread makes this supper sandwich, good for snack time, supper or parties.

TROPICAL CHICKEN SANDWICHES

- 1 cup chopped cooked chicken
- ¼ cup slivered almonds
- ¼ cup chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 6 slices canned pineapple
- 6 sliced buttered sandwich buns
- 2 ounces grated process cheese

Combine chicken, almonds, celery, onion and mayonnaise. Place one-fourth cup chicken salad and a pineapple slice on bottom half of buttered buns. Top with grated cheese. Broil bun halves on a cookie sheet under moderate broiler heat for 8 minutes. Makes 6.

PYRAMID SANDWICHES

- 16 slices buttered enriched bread
- ¾ cup Chicken-Pimiento filling
- 4 slices boiled ham
- 4 (1-ounce) slices process cheese
- 3 tablespoons cream cheese
- 1 tablespoon milk

Make triple-deck sandwiches. In each, use 3 fillings: Chicken-Pimiento, ham and a cheese slice. Trim crusts; cut sandwiches in half, diagonally. To serve: Place 2 triangles, short sides back-to-back, on a plate. Blend cream cheese with milk, put in pastry tube and garnish sandwiches. Makes 4.

SALMONBURGERS TROPICALE

- 1 (No. 2) can salmon, flaked
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons pickle relish
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 slices canned pineapple
- 6 sliced buttered sandwich buns
- 2 ounces grated cheese

Combine flaked salmon, lemon juice, pickle relish and salt. Place a pineapple slice and one-third cup salmon salad on bottom half of buns. Top with grated cheese. Place bun halves on a cookie sheet and heat in a hot oven for 5 minutes. Makes 6.

HOT PIZZA SANDWICH

- 4 enriched hamburger buns
- Butter or margarine
- 4 slices Mozzarella cheese (8 ounces)
- 2 cups spaghetti meat sauce
- 4 ounces Italian salami or pepperoni, cut in small pieces
- ½ cup drained mushroom pieces (4-ounce can)
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Split buns and spread with butter or margarine. Place cheese slices over open-face buns. Top with about two-thirds of spaghetti sauce. Over sauce, arrange salami or pepperoni pieces and then mushroom pieces. Spoon remaining spaghetti sauce over top. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Place under broiler until sandwich is lightly browned and cheese is melted. Garnish with ripe and green olives on lettuce. Makes 4 sandwiches.

SUPER SANDWICH

- Large loaf Italian bread (about 15 inches long)
- ¼ cup prepared mustard
- 16 slices salami
- 3 tablespoons well-drained sweet pickle relish
- 16 slices sweet fresh cucumber pickles
- 8 slices process American cheese, halved diagonally
- Parsley

Cut bread into 8 equal pieces. Slice each piece in half taking care not to cut all the way through; spread with mustard. Place 2 salami slices (folded in half and filled with pickle relish), 2 pickle slices and a cheese triangle in each piece to form sandwich. Arrange sandwiches to form loaf. If desired, wrap in aluminum foil; bake in 400 degrees F. (hot) oven 10 minutes. Garnish with parsley. Makes 8 servings.

Football Fans Forget Food If There Are Games To Attend

By JO BRIGHT
"Track season is nice—it's only on Saturdays."

Mrs. Herbie Smith spoke rather wistfully, as she and her husband, co-captain of the Quarterback Club, braced for another season of football. Both their sons play. Tim, 18, is a senior at Big Spring High School, and Terry 15, is a sophomore.

"I should know a lot about football, for the boys have played since they were in the fourth grade at South Ward," said Mrs. Smith, "but I still don't know the difference between blocking, tackling and clipping."

"When the boys were students at Goliad Junior High, we were able to see football in Big Spring and Snyder or Sweetwater on the same Thursdays, if we hurried. Later, when Tim was a sophomore and Terry was in the eighth grade, we attended games three days a week."

SHARED ACREAGES
Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their sons live at 1602 Cole Lane, where they share more than an acre of land with two calves, one cow, a collie and a parrot named Polly.

"We tried to be more original and renamed her," said Mrs. Smith, "but she wouldn't answer to anything else."

The boys are members of the Future Farmers of America and the calves are one of their projects. The cow enables the calves to be classed as milk-fed. "I had visions of fresh butter when we bought that cow," said Mrs. Smith, "but I haven't been able to get anyone to milk her yet." She lamented too, that often she is the only one around at feeding time, and there seems to be a personality conflict between her and the animal.

The fact that their sons are sports-minded is fine with the Smiths, but it has meant a history of missed or mis-matched meals during the football, baseball, basketball or track seasons. Mrs. Smith explained that except for about six weeks during the summer they just don't eat like other people.

"Mealtime at our house is very unsettled," she said. "We never know when or where we will eat, and often it has been in the car while driving to some kind of game."

THOUGHTS OF FUTURE
She said she feels sorry for girls who will some day marry the boys, for they have huge appetites and limited tastes. However, she feels sure anyone could keep them happy with meat, potatoes, peanut butter, chocolate pie and cakes. She may try some of the sandwich recipes used today, but their favorite now is plain bologna and mustard.

Mrs. Smith bakes from six to eight cakes a week and buys bread by the case. The freezer usually holds deer meat which her husband and the boys bring back from New Mexico. Smith helped them all appreciate venison by cutting it in thin strips and cooking it slowly in a heavy iron skillet, layered with bacon. He soaks the meat first in equal parts of vinegar and water.

Smith is employed by Texas Electric Service Co. and Mrs. Smith is secretary to C. W. Guthrie. He was born and reared in Big Spring, and she came here from Copperas Cove to be reared by two aunts, Mrs. Ora Blankenship and Mrs. Aubrey Sublett. She said they were both excellent cooks, but since she did not inherit their creative talents, she depends on her friends for good recipes. Here are some they have passed on to her that have become favorites in the Smith home.

FRENCH SILK PIE
(From: Mrs. W. U. O'Neal)
3 eggs
3 cups sugar
1 lb. margarine
4 sqs. chocolate, melted
4 tps. vanilla
Cream margarine and sugar several minutes to be sure sugar

What's For Supper?

Terry and Tim Smith, sons of the Herbie Smiths, would almost rather play football than eat so their mother serves them their favorite fare for benefit of the Herald photographer. Terry plays for the ninth grade team at Goliad Junior High School, and Tim is a guard on the senior high school team. Despite the fact that their meals are off schedule during a sports season, both boys have gained 10 pounds since school started. Looking askance at the whole proceedings is the family pet, Polly.

is completely dissolved. Blend in melted chocolate and vanilla. Add eggs, two at a time, beating about 5 minutes after each addition. This mixture cannot be overbeaten. Pour into four or five baked pie shells (graham cracker or vanilla wafer crusts) and chill several hours. Very good straight from the freezer.

MAYONNAISE CAKE

- (From: Mrs. Johnny Garrison)
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
4 tps. cocoa
1 cup ice water
1½ tps. soda
1½ tps. baking powder
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup mayonnaise
Sift flour, sugar, cocoa, soda and baking powder together. Mix salad dressing, water and vanilla. Add to flour mixture. Blend for several minutes. Pour into two 9-inch layers or one sheet cake. Bake at 350 degrees for approximately 15 minutes. Double this recipe to make one 12 x 14 x 2 inch sheet cake.

ICING

- 1 cup sugar
 - ¼ cup cocoa
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - ¼ cup milk
 - ¼ cup margarine
- Mix cocoa and sugar. Add milk, small amount at a time. Add margarine. Bring to boil. Boil one minute or soft ball stage. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Cool by placing pan in cold water. Beat to spreading consistency. Double this recipe for 12 x 14 x 2 inch sheet cake.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

- (From: Mrs. Chester Matheny)
3 cups sugar
¾ cup margarine
3 eggs
Dash salt
1½ cups boiling water or coffee
3 cups flour
1½ tps. soda
¼ cup butter/milk
4½ tps. cocoa

2 tps. vanilla
Mix sugar and margarine. Add eggs. Add soda to buttermilk. Add cocoa to flour. Add cocoa and flour mixture to sugar and margarine mixture, alternating with water or coffee and buttermilk. Add vanilla and salt. Bake in two 8 x 12 x 2 inch pans or four 9-inch layer cake pans, at 325 degrees. Ice with Mayonnaise Cake Icing (doubled).

BROWNIES

- (From: Miss Jerris Staha)
1 cup margarine
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. salt
2 cups sugar
2 cups nuts, optional
4 oz. unsweetened chocolate
1 tsp. baking powder
4 eggs, beaten well
2 tps. vanilla
Melt margarine and chocolate together and cool. Beat eggs until light and fluffy. Add sugar, then chocolate mixture, flour and baking powder and salt. Add vanilla and nuts. Bake in moderate oven approximately 35 minutes in 8x12x2 inch pan.

CHOCO-CHERRY CAKE

- (From: Mrs. Dean Forrest)
3 cups flour
1½ tps. soda
¾ cup margarine

Traditional Salad Is Usually Served

Here's a different version of a popular favorite.

- GUACOMOLE SALAD
2 avocados, diced
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
6 stuffed olives, sliced
3 small tomatoes, iced
1 medium onion, minced
1 cup French dressing
½ tsp. chili powder
- Combine ingredients with enough French dressing to moisten. Season to taste with salt and chili powder. Serve on crisp lettuce with additional French dressing. Garnish with crisp bacon.

- 3 eggs
- 3 sqs. melted, unsweetened chocolate
- 12 maraschino cherries, sliced
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1½ cups milk
- ¼ cup cherry juice
- ¼ cup margarine and sugar. Add beaten eggs. Mix soda, salt and flour. Add to margarine mixture, alternating with milk. Add melted chocolate and cherry juice. Add cherries. Bake in four 8-inch cake pans at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes.

ICING

- 1 stick margarine
 - 1 box powdered sugar
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 4 sqs. unsweetened chocolate, melted
 - ¼ cup milk
 - Finch salt
- Cream margarine and sugar, add melted chocolate and milk. Add salt and vanilla. Mix well and chill for 10-15 minutes. Beat well. Add 6 chopped cherries.

BUDGET MEALS NEED NOT BE BLAH!

You'll marvel at the way Skinner Pure Egg Noodles extend the good flavors of meat and cheese and other foods. Just a little meat (or whatever you want to use) ... and a lot of noodles ... can produce a banquet main course dish that costs only pennies per serving.

RECIPES ON EVERY PACKAGE

Pretty Parfait Peps Party

CHOCOLATE SPONGE PARFAIT
1 envelope (1 tps.) gelatin
2-3 cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
2 sqs. unsweetened chocolate
1½ cups milk
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 egg whites, unbeaten
1 tsp. vanilla
¾ cup coconut, cut
1-3 to ¼ cup chilled whipping cream
Red food coloring
Peppermint extract
Mix gelatin, 1-3 cup of the sugar, salt, and milk in top of double boiler. Add chocolate. Cook over hot water until chocolate is melted and gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Blend well with egg beater. Pour slowly over egg yolks, stirring constantly. Return mixture to double boiler and cook 3 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Cool, then chill until slightly thickened.
Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add remaining 1-3 cup sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture will stand in stiff peaks. Fold in chocolate mixture gradually, blending well. Add vanilla and coconut.
Place cream in small bowl. Add few drops red coloring to tint a delicate pink. Beat with egg beater until fluffy and thick. Then fold in few drops peppermint extract.
Place alternate layers of chocolate mixture and peppermint whipped cream in parfait glasses. Chill. Just before serving, top with additional whipped cream and crushed red peppermint candies. Makes 9 servings.

4- to 4½-lb. chuck roast ½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour 2 cans (6-oz. size) mushrooms or 2 cups water ½-lb. fresh Start your oven at 325 F. or slow. Put meat in a roasting pan and bake 2½ hours or until tender. Transfer roast to serving platter and keep warm.

To make Mushroom Gravy: Leave 2 tablespoons of fat in roasting pan and discard any excess. Stir flour into fat smoothly and cook over a low heat for a minute or two. Add water (if you use canned mushrooms drain off liquid and add enough water to make 2 cups) and salt. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until gravy is smooth and bubbly. Now toss in sliced fresh mushrooms or the canned variety, reduce heat and cook several minutes longer. Serve the Mushroom Gravy over roast to 6 or 8.

Make a date to see our just-arrived
Hart Schaffner & Marx
100 Suits
(and make it a regular habit)

Many a man likes to be well-dressed without fuss and bother writes himself a reminder to update his wardrobe with one of our HSM 100 suits as soon as each season's collection arrives. The imported fabrics, the proportioned fit that Hart Schaffner & Marx tailors into every garment and the special detailing lavished on the HSM 100 give you a custom-tailored look that well exceeds $100. Our HSM 100 suits for fall and winter have just arrived. It's the right time to start the habit, $100.

DEAR ABBY
Lucky Is The Girl With Fibre

DEAR ABBY: If people wonder where the teen-age morals have gone, all they have to do is look at what they have given us to go by. What are we supposed to think when all the advertising reeks of sex, and mothers dress their daughters like little Lollitas? Who do you think are the "heroes" around town now? I'll tell you — Richard Burton, Christine Keeler and Mandy Rice-Davies. I assure you I am no prude, but I'm glad my parents equipped me with some decent morals.

SEVENTEEN IN BELFAST, MAINE
DEAR SEVENTEEN: And to your fine letter, may I add a hearty AMEN!

SUSPICIOUS WIFE
DEAR SUSPICIOUS: I think he is probably covering up more than a wedding ring.

DEAR ABBY: A member of our family just came back from his vacation with a hair piece. He has been as bald as an eagle since he was about 30 and he went around like that for years, then all of a sudden, at the age of 35, he is sporting a full head of hair. It isn't even his color. When he did have hair it was sandy brown, but this wig is golden brown with red highlights in it. I don't have to tell you how ridiculous he looks. When we first saw him, we thought he was joking, or perhaps wearing it on a dare, but he thinks it looks great. We love this guy and would not hurt his feelings for the world, but how can we tell him that he looks terrible?

HIS RELATIVES
DEAR RELATIVES: If he wanted your opinion, he would have asked you. If you really "love" him, say nothing.

The Incomparable IMPERIAL

Today, there is a totally new Imperial. Tomorrow, somebody will ask if you've seen it. It is far more than a new car. It is a new concept of what a fine car should be. The new Imperial is America's most spacious luxury car. It is also the quietest. If you admire fine cars, enter the quiet world of Imperial—The Incomparable Imperial for 1964.
