Nixon Says Rights Crisis JFK's Fault

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon charged today that the nation's "civil rights crisis is to a great extent" President Kennedy's fault. Nixon said it is "due to the fact that he has made some symbolic gestures in the campaign and some extravagant promises about what he was going to do, he did nothing but give his civil rights program lip service."

would not have developed to the point that it did. But once it had developed to that point, then the President of the United States had no choice but to enforce the law of the land and to use whatever means was necessary. Rejecting once again any notion that he will seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1964, Nixon ranged far and wide in his discussion of politics. On Republican affairs: —Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz. "has a very substantial lead" for the nomination and "if he continues at his present pace nobody will be able to overtake him."

Billy Howell Carr, 39, Dies Of Gunshot

LAMESA (SC) — Death from a self-inflicted gunshot wound has been ruled in the case of Billy Howell Carr, 39, it was announced by A. L. Standefer, peace justice.

Carr, travelling alone in his 1959 car, was hailed by two Lamesa city patrolmen on a routine check as he drove along the road south of here at 2:10 a.m. today. The officers said they had just sounded their sirens and flashed on a red light when the car came to a halt. As they approached it, they heard a gunshot. In the car they found the body of Carr, shot with a sawed-off shotgun, which lay beside him.

RELEASED Chief Deputy G. B. Therwanger of the sheriff's office, said that Carr had been released from the Big Spring City jail Sunday morning after paying a fine for drunkenness. According to reports, City Officers Beal Croft and Bennett McNulty were on a stakeout a mile south of Lamesa, waiting for a reported load of liquor said to be en route to Lamesa. They saw the car in which Carr was riding approach. They said it appeared to be heavily loaded and that a tail light was out. They decided to halt the car for a routine check. They sounded their sirens and flashed their red signal lamp. Therwanger said the man was wearing a 22 pistol strapped around his waist and that the single barrel 12 gauge had been made by breaking off the stock and sawing off the barrel. A hacksaw was in the car, officers said.

Storm Rips Cuba For Fourth Day

Historic Event In Historic Room

President Kennedy, flanked by congressional and diplomatic leaders, inks pen to sign the test ban treaty today in Treaty Room on second floor of White House. The room, refurbished nearly in its original condition, was last used for such a rite when the treaty with Spain was signed in 1898 by President McKinley. White House Executive Clerk William J. Hopkins helps the President. Behind from left are Disarmament Advisor John J. McCloy, Deputy Disarmament Director Adrian S. Fisher, Sen. John Pastore, R-R.I., (partly hid-

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Flora lashed Cuba today for the fourth day in a row, dealing a crushing blow to the already staggering economy of Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

Half of the island's sugar, rice, coffee, cotton and cocoa crops were reported wiped out by the wind and the torrential rain, and Flora was far from through with Cuba. At 8 a.m. (EST), she had started to move once again across the stricken nation.

The turbulent eye of the giant storm crossed the south coast near Santa Cruz Del Sur and was thrashing very slowly toward the city of Camaguey.

Sugar production, the backbone of Cuba's economy, already had fallen to the lowest level in 30 years, Castro admitted, of poor Communist management, lackadaisical work by peasants, and the breakdown of motor transport.

SECOND TIME

As the 100-mile-an-hour storm — which already has taken more than 400 lives — moved into Cuba for the second time, the Bahama Islands came once more into range and Florida was threatened.

In her first thrust into Cuba Friday, Flora gave signs that she would thrash on northward into the Bahamas. But the storm stalled over Oriente province, then turned westward back into the Caribbean Sea.

Only two deaths thus far have been confirmed in the guarded reports from the radio. The crews of two coastal fishing boats are missing in savage seas off the south coast. More than 400 bodies have been counted in Haiti.

Oriente is the principal sugar producing province of Cuba and Flora in four days probably has done more damage to the crop than the anti-Castro rebels have done in four years with sabotage.

400 MILES

The 8 a.m. advisory placed the storm center near latitude 21.0 north, longitude 78.0 west, or about 380 miles south-southeast of Miami.

Gale winds whirled outward 400 miles to the north, well up the coast of Florida, and 200 miles to the south over Jamaica. One death has been reported in Jamaica's flooded mountains. Rain extended into the Bahamas.

Many hurricanes in the past have made sharp changes in direction, even looped the loop, but forecasters said it is very unusual for a storm to sit so long in one place, as Flora has.

Even more unique is the fact that Flora has maintained her strength, although a large part of her circulation has remained over land for four days.

The big storm churned up angry seas in the northwest Caribbean.

bean, southeast Gulf of Mexico and in Florida-Bahama waters. Gale warnings flapped as far north as Stuart, almost a third of the way up Florida's Atlantic coast.

A broadcast monitored in Miami Sunday night said 30,000 persons had been taken from flooded villages around Victoria de las Tunas and 4,700 from suburbs of Santiago de Cuba—where Havana radio said drinking water ran out and many homes collapsed. More than one-fourth of Camaguey, capital of Camaguey Province, was reported flooded.

Carlos Rodriguez, head of the Cuban Agrarian Reform Institute, was quoted as saying Flora may have wiped out half of Cuba's rice, coffee, cotton and cocoa production.

Missing were crews of two Cuban coastal fishing boats and two fishermen. Rescue workers with helicopters went to the aid of farmhands whose trucks were caught by flood waters between Caimanera and Guantanamo City, about 20 miles from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay. Other farm workers were reported marooned on roofs.

Before Flora assailed Cuba, she killed 17 people on Tobago Island, off Venezuela, then took an estimated 400 lives in Haiti. Many Haitian villages were reduced to rubble.

Police Rout Negro March

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — Police routed a column of Negro high school pupils with tear gas today as they marched toward the school board office downtown.

Almost all of the Iberville all-Negro High School's 500 pupils were in the march, holding hands in a column of twos.

After several orders to turn back, police fired tear gas and the column fell back. The marchers assembled again in a vacant lot.

A leader, Kenneth Johnson, said two girls fainted. There was no immediate confirmation by police. Twenty state troopers were dispatched from Baton Rouge to Plaquemine, about 15 miles distant, to help local police.

The school, closed last Friday morning in the midst of a book and rock throwing melee, was scheduled to reopen this morning. About 20 pickets, who were among 35 pupils suspended for Friday's disturbance, were outside the school building.

COUNCIL MEETING

Orthodox Members Still Missing At Ecumenical

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council began the second week of its current session today with representatives of many Orthodox churches still missing from their reserved seats in St. Peter's Basilica.

Nine days ago, a pan-Orthodox conference on the Greek island of Rhodes agreed to establish contacts with the Vatican to encourage the cause of Christian unity. It was left to the 11 participating churches to decide individually if observers should be sent to the council. Four were reported to oppose sending observers.

"So far we have not received a single letter from the Rhodes group of churches," said a spokesman of the Vatican Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity.

Catholicism and Orthodoxy have been separated since the 11th century. The Greek Orthodox Church boycotted the Rhodes conference and still stands aloof from closer contacts with Rome.

Two observers of the Russian Orthodox Church and a lay secretary are attending the council. The Russian Orthodox Church outside of Russia, the Syrian Orthodox Church, the Syrian Orthodox Church of India and the Orthodox Church of Ethiopia also have men on the spot.

The Russian Orthodox group is headed by Archbishop Vitali Borovoi, 46, a professor at the Leningrad Theological Academy. An archbishop's rank is comparable to a monsignor's in the Roman Catholic Church.

"We must work for unity, we must pray and we must hope," said Archbishop Borovoi in an interview. "But it is too early yet to form any hard conclusions about progress."

The Russian churchman is apt to ponder at length before answering a question. When the answer comes, it is short, snappy and not always very informative. It is the attitude of a man whose life's work is tolerated rather than recognized by Soviet communism. But the work of men like Archbishop Borovoi in the World Council of Churches has won a deep respect abroad for Russian Orthodoxy.

The 2,300 prelates debating in St. Peter's are concentrating this week on how extensively bishops share church authority with the papacy. This covers territory left undefined when the first Vatican Council was adjourned in 1870.

AMMUNITION

A small quantity of liquor was also found in the car, Therwanger said. Full boxes of ammunition for both guns were found.

The body was removed to Higginbotham Funeral Home and then to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in Big Spring where services are to be held.

Carr, a resident of Houston in recent years, was born in Lamesa, June 30, 1924. He has been working as a machinist in Houston. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Carr, who live on West Highway 80, Big Spring.

Services are to be at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Nalley-Pickle Chapel with burial in Big Spring City Cemetery. The Rev. R. B. Murray, Crestview Baptist Church, will officiate.

He was a veteran of World War II and served in the Battle of the Bulge with the 740th Tank Battalion.

Survivors in addition to the parents are three brothers, Dalton Carr, Bryan Carr and Jackie Carr, all of Big Spring.

UF Big Gifts Open Strong

The Big Gifts Division of the United Fund kicked off its campaign this morning and immediately tripled the total amount of money in gifts and pledges toward the campaign goal.

The division had $17,710 of its $40,000 goal in hand this morning, pushing the overall drive total to $24,710 toward its $104,847 goal.

"Let's get to work today and wind up our part of the campaign by Wednesday," Dr. J. E. Hogan, division chairman, urged this morning. Cards were distributed and individual volunteers left the meeting to begin making contacts.

Later in the morning, A. G. Glenn, office manager, said more reports are coming in from the various divisions at work and the Tuesday report is expected to be in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Employees of Hemphill Wells joined with several other firms in the Employees Division this morning with a 100 per cent report. Glenn said the average gift from this company was $10.

Jack Y. Smith, campaign chairman, urged workers to keep up the pace set in the opening days of the effort. He reminded volunteers that the only way to put the campaign over the top is to make contacts early and report to headquarters.

The United Fund lends financial support to 13 local welfare and youth guidance agencies. These include the Air Force Aid Society, Milk and Ice Fund, Texas Rehabilitation Center, Texas United Fund, Boy Scouts, Westside Youth Center, Howard County Rehabilitation Center, Girl Scouts, Summer Recreation Program, YMCA, Red Cross, Salvation Army and Lakeview YMCA.

Connally Urges Poll Tax Repeal

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Democratic Executive Committee made public a letter today from Gov. John Connally to committees in the 31 state senatorial districts calling for repeal of the poll tax.

The letter was sent out Sept. 27. Connally asked that party leadership in the districts set up special committees in each county to work for repeal.

President Pens Approval To Limited Nuclear Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty today, giving formal American ratification to the historic pact banning all but underground tests.

The signing ceremony was in the historic Treaty Room of the White House, before a raft of government officials. It was to be the first significant event to take place in this little room since the treaty of peace with Spain was signed there 65 years ago.

The document awaiting the President's signature was one of the three original copies of the U.S.-Soviet-British treaty negotiated in Moscow last summer and approved Sept. 24 by the Senate 80-19.

The White House said the limited ban would go into full effect Thursday when the three copies are placed in official depositories in Washington, London and Moscow.

Witnesses for the signing in the second-floor office include Undersecretary of State W. Averill Harriman, the chief American negotiator, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Director William Z. Foster of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; Deputy Disarmament Director Adrian S. Fisher; John J. McCloy, chairman of the agency's advisory committee; Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, and these Senate members:

SENATORS Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.; Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.; George Smathers, D-Fla.; Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill.; Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.; J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark.; George D. Aiken, R-Vt.; Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa; John O. Pastore, D-R.I.; Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.; Henry Jackson, D-Wash.; and Howard Cannon, D-Nev.

The treaty is the 12th major pact concluded since the end of World War II that bears the signatures of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

Not all of the 12 are treaties in the restricted use of the word in the United States, where a treaty is an agreement made by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. Some of them are agreements made without congressional assistance, under the President's constitutional power.

TWO TREATIES And only two of the 12 are bilateral treaties between Washington and Moscow: the agreement on cultural exchanges and the "hot line" pact. The others are multilateral.

The list includes only the major treaties, but there is no yardstick to determine where minor ends and major begins.

These are the 12 pacts in chronological order: 1. The charter of the United Nations, signed at San Francisco June 26, 1945.

2. Through 5. The peace treaties with Italy, Hungary, Romania, and Bulgaria, ending World War II, all signed in Paris, Feb. 10, 1947.

6. The four-power agreement lifting the 10-month-old Berlin blockade imposed by the Soviets, signed in New York May 4, 1949.

7. The Austrian State Treaty, re-establishing an independent and neutral Austria, signed in Vienna May 15, 1955.

8. The statute of the International Atomic Energy Agency, establishing this body to regulate the peaceful use of nuclear energy, signed in New York Oct. 26, 1956.

9. The Antarctic Treaty, a charter of 12 nations dedicating Antarctica to peaceful pursuits, providing for international scientific cooperation, prohibiting military installations and nuclear explosions, signed in Washington Dec. 1, 1959.

10. The U.S.-Soviet agreement on cultural exchanges in the scientific, technical, education and artistic fields, signed in Washington March 8, 1962.

11. Agreement setting up a "hot line" to speed up direct communications between the White House and the Kremlin in case of emergency, signed in Geneva, June 20, 1963.

12. The limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Anti-Castroites Jump Into Circus

NEW YORK (AP) — An aerial act of the Moscow Circus gained an unscheduled performer Sunday night—an anti-Castro Cuban girl who climbed to a 25-foot-high platform and unfurled a banner.

"Russians get out of Cuba," it said.

Other demonstrators tossed leaflets from the balcony.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possible sale of 100 to 125 million tons of wheat to the grain-short Soviet bloc would barely make a dent in the bountiful American supply.

At a time when wheat shortages are appearing in many countries, the U.S. government owns enough wheat to feed America.

This is in addition to this year's crop which also is sufficient to meet domestic food needs for an additional two years.

Although this feeding capability is based on the assumption that no wheat would be exported, there is no need to restrict exports.

Present American supplies are ample to meet anticipated domestic and export demands for at least 18 months, probably 20 months. In the meantime, another crop—next year's—will be grown and harvested.

SHARP CONTRACT

The plentiful American supply situation is in sharp contrast to that of the Soviet Union and some of its satellites. Because of poor crops and less skill in production than possessed by American farmers, the Soviets have found it necessary to turn to Canada, Australia and Western Europe—and now possibly the United States—for supplementary wheat.

Saturday, diplomatic sources reported Hungary has told the United States it is ready to buy 800,000 tons — about 30 million bushels—of American grain.

Other informants said Gargill, Inc., of Minneapolis, one of the big American grain processors and shippers, already has requested an export license from the Commerce Department.

CZECH, BULGARIANS

It was also reported that the Czech and Bulgarian embassies in Washington have expressed interest in buying about $60 million of American grain.

Last Friday the State Department said there have been approaches from the governments of the three Communist countries for the purchase of American wheat.

The government owns what is popularly referred to as a big wheat surplus—supplies produced in past years and turned over to the Agriculture Department under farm price supports. This quantity was 1,026,000,000 bushels as of Aug. 31.

Farm officials object to the tagging of its wheat as surplus grain.

Any Soviet buying also would have to come out of the reserve and surplus stocks owned by the government. There appears to be no likelihood, however, that export demands from these stocks will eat up the surplus portion of the government's holdings.

UNITED FUND For Physically Disabled

The Texas Rehabilitation Center in Gonzales, also known as the Warm Springs Foundation, is one of 13 agencies which will benefit from this year's United Fund effort. Of the total goal of $104,874, the Foundation will receive $1,000.

Located in deep South Texas, the Center is available to all physically disabled Texans who can be benefited by its program. Admission is not denied for financial reasons.

To be admitted as an in-patient, a person must first have a referral from a physician familiar with his case. Also, the condition must be considered improvable, since the Center does not have purely custodial facilities.

Surgery is not performed at the Center. Physicians may send prescriptions for bracing to be filled by the TRC Brace Shop, which has been rated as one of the best in the United States.

The TRC is headed by an executive committee consisting of 13 members from various parts of the state.

Until a few years ago, polio patients were dominant at the Center. The percentage has dropped considerably, but accidents, strokes, cerebral palsy and polio still account for most of the patients—about 80 per cent.

Other afflictions treated at the center include muscular dystrophy, hydrocephalus, transverse myelitis, encephalitis, hemiparesis, myotonia congenita, Gullian Barre, multiple sclerosis, arthritis, amputation and hypertension.

Water Hyacinth Is Brought Under Control By Chemicals

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Water hyacinths apparently are under control in Texas says Marion Toole of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Noxious aquatic vegetation," is the term used by Toole to describe the plant, which floats on the water and produces a purple flower resembling an orchid.

Until recently it was a big problem. The plant, which has a tremendous reproducing rate, often grows in mats two and three feet thick on top of the water, clogging waterways and making fishing impossible.

"We had a real problem for a while at Lake Caddo," Toole said, "but now we've eliminated the hyacinth to the point where it can be controlled locally, simply by having fishermen pick up any stray plants they find floating in the water."

Other areas where the hyacinths have been almost eliminated entirely include Dam B (Neches River), Hildebrandt Bayou, Turtle Creek Bayou and the Guadalupe River.

It's been a scientific fight, and a chemical known as 2,4-D has been the killer.

The chemical is mixed with acid and oil in water and sprayed at high pressures over the plants; the plants absorb the spray and are burned. Toole explained, "Generally we spray an area several times."

Early spells of cool weather have Texas hunters enthused.

North winds have blown the fishermen away from the water, but brought the birds in earlier than usual. More birds are on the wing this year than during the past four, information from Canada and northern United States breeding areas indicate.

Sizeable numbers of geese and ducks have been reported in the Lake Texoma area and in Jefferson and Chambers counties in Southeast Texas. Predictions especially are good for marsh hunters as native foods for birds appear plentiful. Duck season is Dec. 1-Jan. 4. The goose season is Nov. 1-Jan. 14.

The Parks and Wildlife Department has relocated its buoy in the Gulf of Mexico off Freeport to a natural bank known by many sportsmen as the "Southeast Lump." This coral lump, extending 15 feet up from the Gulf floor, is a good spot for king fish, Spanish mackerel, ling and snapper.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyazol)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 419. At all drug counters.

DEAR ABBY

What's Sauce For The Goose . . .

DEAR ABBY: My problem is one that bothers thousands of other G's so I hope you will print your answer because it is needed badly. I am a happily married man with a wonderful wife and two small children back in the States. I've been in Korea for four months. After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy man supposed to do for his physical needs? There are 12 women for every GI over here, and women practically throw themselves at our feet. Don't get me wrong, Abby, I love my wife and always will, but I have another twenty months to wait, and I am only human.

This letter is sincere and I am not ashamed to sign my name, but if you use it, please sign me,

"JERSEY"

DEAR "JERSEY": Assume for a moment that I received the following letter:

"DEAR ABBY: "I am a happily married woman with a wonderful husband and two small children. My husband has been in Korea for four months. After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young, healthy woman supposed to do for her physical needs? There are plenty of men around, and when they learn that my husband is in Korea, they practically throw themselves at my feet. Don't get me wrong, Abby, I love my husband and always will, but I have another twenty months to wait, and I am only human.

"JERSEY'S WIFE"

Well, Jersey, I would tell that woman to keep as busy as possible with her duties and as many wholesome activities as her time and energy permit. I'd suggest reading, exhausting physical exercise, and yes, even prayer! I'd tell her to stay sober and to avoid temptation, and to write to you every day! And that, Jersey, is my answer to you, and to all your buddies in the same lonesome boat.

Sincerely,
ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I would like to have your opinion of when and when not to wear a hat. I love hats, but think there is a time and place for them. It is football season again and my husband thinks I ought to wear a hat to the games. I disagree. Aren't hats too dressy for football games? I notice that in the afternoons most of the older women wear hats, but the younger ones hardly ever do.

I want to be well-dressed. Can you help me?

HATLESS
DEAR HATLESS: "Girls" do not wear hats, but women—the well-dressed ones—do for all outdoor occasions from garden parties to football games. . . . No outfit is complete without a hat! The only place you don't wear one is to bed.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped, envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

OUR KING

Jesus Christ, on trial before Pilate, confessed that he was king (v.v. 33, 34). He is "King of kings, and Lord of lords" (Rev. 19: 16). Christ explained to Pilate that His is a spiritual kingdom, "not of this world" (Jno. 18: 36).

This kingdom was in existence when the apostle Paul was on earth. Men were being translated into "the kingdom of God's dear Son" (Col. 1:13). "Church" and "kingdom" were words used interchangeably by the Lord (Matt. 16:18, 19).

The determining factor in His reign over men is the hearing and receiving of the truth (Jno. 18:37); and God's word is truth (Jno. 17:17).

A king has no subjects who do not obey Him; so Christ is "the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey Him" (Heb. 5:9).

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 86, where you are always welcome. —Adv.

No Break Is Seen In Hot, Dry Spell

By The Associated Press
Texas' long spell of dry, hot weather stretched into the second week of October with no sign of any break Monday.

There were a few light showers along the lower Texas coast again in early morning, and the rest of South Texas was partly cloudy. Skies were cloudless over North and West Texas.

The Weather Bureau predicted it would be about the same in all sections through Tuesday. Extended forecasts, covering the rest of the week, called for little or no moisture with temperatures about normal in southern areas and a few degrees above normal elsewhere.

Erratic hurricane Flora still thrashed with lethal force off the southern coast of Cuba, where it was stalled about 300 miles south-southeast of Miami, Fla. The storm churned up very rough seas in the southeast edge of the Gulf of Mexico, but observers still were unable to say whether it might push into the Gulf and menace the Texas coast.

The mercury climbed to 98 degrees Sunday at Wichita Falls, and a number of other points had high marks in the 90s. Galveston was the coolest spot with a maximum of 80.

Long, Hard Struggle Seen To Stem Red Tide In Asia

EDITOR'S NOTE — Reporter William L. Ryan has covered news all over the world, from Moscow to Chile to Singapore. He is a specialist in Communist affairs and the way nations react to the Communist effort to gain converts. Now he is back in Asia, talking to people across the political spectrum from extreme right to extreme left, and from the top to the bottom of the ladder. This is the first of several dispatches.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Asia is severely shaken today by its own conflicts and by radical changes in the cold war picture. These changes are a potent yeast in the ferment which is engulfing the whole vast, over-peopled, and impatient continent.

has been the violent quarrel between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and Red China. This has produced some startling results:

SOVIET MISSILES
—There is a prospect now that while U.S. and British military aid helps protect India's borders from the Red Chinese threat, Soviet missiles may be used eventually to protect India's cities from the Red Chinese.

ALL BAD
To Indians, the split seems to have become a question as simple as black and white: The Chinese have become all bad—therefore those who seem to oppose the Red Chinese must be the reverse. This includes the Soviet party and its followers.

CUBA CRISIS
Although the world's attention was diverted by the Cuban missile crisis last October, Red China's attack at that time on India's frontiers was an event of enormous cold war significance.

INDIA'S PANIC
India turned in virtual panic to the United States for military help. It got aid, under the U.S.-British Nassau agreement, but this tended to damage Nehru's standing as the Asian leader of nonalignment.

shoals ahead for Western treaty alliances. Yet there are also clear indications that the Chinese-Soviet split is being overstressed to an extent that can lead to dangerous consequences.

INDIAN PANIC
The Indians are getting arms, ammunition and technical assistance for their armed forces. They wanted a bit more. The Indians hinted broadly that they wanted Nike-Zeus ground-to-air missiles for defensive purposes around the big Indian cities.

INDIAN PANIC
The United States did not take the hint. Possibly the reaction in Pakistan, which constantly expresses fear of the Indians, played a part. The Indians, who claim they have always turned first to the United States, now are looking to Moscow. There is a good chance that Russian ground-to-air missiles eventually will be protecting Indian cities against the Red Chinese.

VIOLENT REACTION
But U.S. response to Indian appeals already had produced violent reaction in Pakistan. That nation is a member of the Central Treaty Organization — CENTO — with Britain, Turkey and Iran, and of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization — SEATO — with Thailand, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, Britain, France and the United States.

SEATO
CENTO may be on its way to becoming little more than a paper arrangement because of Pakistan's bitterness over the U.S.-British aid to India. Pakistan's attitude on SEATO may not be too important one way or the other. But the treaty shows other signs of weakness.

SEATO
The cracks may become more evident as the months go by. A meeting of SEATO is tentatively scheduled for Manila in the spring. It will be interesting to see if some of its members, including Pakistan, will show up.

SEATO
The exigencies of Asian politics, the variety of conflicts among Southeast Asian nations themselves, have tended to produce a situation in which SEATO members look directly to the United States for assistance in time of danger, rather than to action within the framework of the alliance

Diem Claims Communists Losing Guerrilla Conflict In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem said today the Communists are losing the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam.

In an address opening the National Assembly, Diem said the Communist Viet Cong faces the "eventuality of an inescapable defeat."

He also told his hand-picked assembly, in which there are no opposition parties, that South Viet Nam's Buddhist problem had been settled. His regime's recent crackdown on the Buddhists is to be debated in the U.N. General Assembly, beginning this afternoon.

Speaking while police enforced maximum security regulations in downtown Saigon, Diem said:

FALSE INFORMATION

"At this very moment, it is with regret that we see some countries, intoxicated by false information on the situation in Viet Nam and on the Buddhist question in particular, request and obtain inclusion in the United Nations agenda of a problem already settled."

In New York, 16 Asian, African and Latin-American nations planned to introduce a resolution calling on U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to intercede in behalf of the Buddhists.

Diem has sent a special six-man mission to the United Nations to defend his government.

South Viet Nam is expected to counter the criticism in the assembly with an invitation to an international inspection team to see the situation first hand.

Diem again said the Buddhist crisis was Communist inspired as "an ultimate maneuver" to avert inevitable

NEW ASSAULT

He said the commission of martial law after the wave of Buddhist demonstrations and suicides "permitted the unmasking of the Communists and their accomplices, and now a tempered, free Viet Nam emerges from this undeniably great trial through having victoriously surmounted this new assault of Communist conspiracy."

He praised his armed forces for several "major victories" in the Mekong Delta, where Communist resistance has been strongest.

Diem's speech was broadcast throughout Saigon over street loudspeakers.

Absent at the first session of the National Assembly was Diem's fiery sister-in-law and official hostess, Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, who begins a three-week tour of the United States today to defend the Diem regime.

NO OPPOSITION

Mrs. Nhu and her husband, the head of the secret police, were elected to the assembly in the recent election. They were unopposed.

Although Mrs. Nhu's American tour was officially billed as a personal visit, the government hoped she might sway U.S. public opinion following the recent unfavorable publicity over the crackdown on the Buddhists.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge delivered a sharp protest to the Diem government against the beating of three American news correspondents by secret police Saturday. The newsmen were at the scene of the sixth protest suicide by a Buddhist. The melee began when plainclothesmen tried to seize a movie camera.

Lodge's protest followed a statement in Washington by Secretary of State Dean Rusk that the South

Viet Nam government had broken repeated assurances that newsmen would not be harassed.

"This matter is being pressed further," Rusk added.

HEAD WOUND

The most seriously injured newsman, John P. Sharkey, a National Broadcasting Co. correspondent, was released from a hospital Sunday. He suffered a head wound that required six stitches.

The other newsmen, Grant Wolfkill, also of NBC, and David Halberstam of the New York Times were under a doctor's care.

"We did not attack the police at any stage of the fight," Halberstam said. "What we were trying to do was protect Grant and his camera. He was the only professional movie cameraman on the scene, and the plainclothesmen were determined to get it."

A sharp security lid prevailed in Saigon today as police tried to prevent another wave of pro-Buddhist demonstrations.

Two Vietnamese teen-agers were pulled off their bicycles Sunday as they rode past the U.S. Information Service office. They were handcuffed and carted off in a jeep, witnesses said. A third youth was arrested as he rode past later.

Security forces made a painstaking pre-dawn search of the square before the National Assembly. Police poked into manholes, checked flower pots lining the steps to the main entrance and went over the square with mine detectors and flashlights.

Searches also were made near the U.S. Embassy and the central market, where a young monk burned himself to death Saturday.

On the battle front U.S. military men reported a strange lull in helicopter support of the war against the Viet Cong.

Rescue Team Hunts Canyon Explorers

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (AP) — The United States government moved in helicopters and a para-rescue team today in the mounting search for a group of American adventurers in desolate northwestern Mexico.

The river expedition of 12 men and two women hasn't been heard from or seen in more than a week during their quest to conquer the uncharted Rio Urique. The 15th member is hospitalized here after he had been sent for additional supplies.

The exploration-adventure group set out 13 days ago in four 15-foot rubber boats to travel the thin canyon which stretches along the winding, twisting Barranca Cobre-Copper Gulch. They had with them only enough food for a few days. They planned to pick up provisions from mining camps at intervals along the river.

RIVER RUNNERS

The explorers include veteran Utah river runners, two California business executives on a vacation camping trip and a zoology professor.

The search area is about 300 air miles from this Mexican state capital.

James D. Dean, 31, of Salt Lake City, Utah, reached here last Friday after an exhausting 15-mile hike across rough terrain. He had to swim another seven miles.

Dean and Larry Davis of Price, Utah, were sent by the expedition for more food.

The explorers found the river's water level so low that it was taking them several days longer to float down the river than anticipated and their supplies were running low.

They felt Dean and Davis would be able to travel faster by finding easier terrain away from the treacherous river. The two sought a mining camp where a food pickup had been scheduled.

From his hospital bed, Dean expressed confidence Sunday that his mates are safe.

He said when he and Davis left the group Sept. 29, "everything was fine. There were no injuries. Their spirits were high and morale wonderful."

Vice Consul Bob Homme said he was "not in a position to be an alarmist or overly optimistic" about the explorers. Davis left with a Mexican guide and two Indians to make his way back to the main body.

"We all think they are alive," said Homme early today. "It's just a matter of pinning down their location. I believe they are on their way out."

WEEK OR MORE

He estimated it might take the group a week or more to cover the distance because of the rough going.

"There are only two ways for them to go, back the way they came or down river to their original destination."

Homme, who flew in one of two private search planes Sunday, said the water in the river had been reduced to puddles. He said the two pilots saw what they thought were three beached boats, similar to those in use by the explorers.

He said shadows deep in the gorge created a problem for the planes diving in and out trying to spot the expedition. He said low-flying helicopters probably would have more luck.

RESCUE TEAM

The Central Air Rescue Center at Richards-Gebauer Air Force Base, Mo., sent a rescue coordinating team to Biggs Air Force Base, near El Paso, Tex., early today. From there, rescue operations were directed. Helicopters were obtained from Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., and Ft. Bliss, Tex. Two cargo planes also were mobilized.

One of the explorer group, Dr. Wilmer J. Tanner, is a professor of zoology at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

Congress Chops Funds For Civil Defense, Space Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today voted deep slashes in the nation's civil defense, space and science programs.

Among other things, it turned down the entire $195 million asked for a nationwide fallout shelter program.

In a bill financing 26 executive agencies and offices, the committee approved only $13,102,818, 700 of the $14,658,508,000 requested by President Kennedy for the present fiscal year.

But even with the $1,555,769,200 cut, the bill's total as it went to the House floor for consideration later this week was $1,233,067,400 higher than the same agencies received last year.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration was allotted $5.1 billion of the $5,712,000,000 the President had originally requested. Congress itself, in a separate authorization act, previously had cut the program more than $400 million. The committee was held to the authorization ceiling.

The amount recommended for the space program was $1,425,885,000 more than Congress provided last year. Most of the money approved was earmarked for research and development.

An effort to cut the space agency funds further will be made on the House floor. Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., called for additional reductions of $700 million, mainly in the program to send a manned space vehicle to the moon.

The Veterans Administration's share of the funds was $5,372,430,000, almost the entire amount requested and a slight increase over last year. It included $1,075,186,000 to operate 121,486 hospital beds, and $3,921,000,000 for compensation and pension payments.

The committee rejected the entire $195 million requested to finance a nationwide fallout shelter program which the House overwhelmingly authorized — but did not finance — last month. The Senate has not acted on the authorization bill.

For all civil defense programs, including those now in operation, the President requested $346.9 million. The committee slashed this to $87.8 million.

C-City Schedules Homecoming Day

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Homecoming activities sponsored by the High School Student Council are scheduled Saturday, according to Superintendent of Schools Frank Wilson.

The program will open with a coffee for exes at the Administration Building at High School from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. A downtown parade is set for 2 p.m. with marching bands and floats. The parade will form at the American Legion Hall on Chestnut Street and will march down Second Street and will end at the Courthouse, where a pep rally will be held.

A homecoming queen will be announced at halftime during the Colorado City — Anson football game. Five candidates have been slated by the student council. They are: Nita Erwin, Lana Shurtleff, Mary Smith, Mary Lipps, and Myrna Feaster.

We learned something from the big boys.

We're not above borrowing a good idea when we see one.

The idea of a station wagon with the virtues of a bus was too good to resist.

Which is why the Volkswagen Station Wagon has so much in common with other buses.

The driver is way up front, so he can see where he's going.

The engine is in back, out of the way.

There are windows all around (21) including the skylight kind on top.

The seats are chair-high. And you can even have an aisle to step to the rear.

The VW Station Wagon has a bit less headroom than a real bus, but it has more doors (5 in all) and a sunroof that slides back for lots of air and lots of view.

There's so much room inside the VW, you'll think you're driving the real thing.

But not when you park; the VW Wagon is only 9 inches longer than the VW Sedan.

Lately, we've spotted a few other bus-type station wagons on the scene.

So maybe things have worked out evenly after all.

The big boys learned something from us.

High Court Faced With Record Docket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court convenes today for a new term, confronted with the heaviest docket in its long history.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, beginning his eleventh year on the high bench, has seen a steady annual increase in appeals during his regime. The total at term-opening now stands at almost 1,200 cases.

Representing an increase of about 300 cases over last October's opening, the total includes appeals expected to produce momentous decisions in the coming winter and spring.

Under court routine dating back many years, opening day is a short one devoted to admission of attorneys to practice before the high court.

Next Monday the court will announce what actions will be taken on hundreds of cases filed during the summer. The number to be announced is expected to exceed 600, compared with 453 acted on at the start of the 1962-63 term. Appeals granted will get hearings late in the fall or winter.

TENNESSEE ISSUE

Questions left undecided in the Tennessee legislative reapportionment ruling of 1962 will be taken up soon. The court already has agreed to hear new reapportionment cases from New York, Georgia, Alabama, Maryland and Virginia.

In the Tennessee case the tribunal decided the division of seats in state legislatures is subject to judicial scrutiny. Now the justices are faced with the question of what apportionment standards satisfy the Constitution.

New appeals have been filed in apportionment cases from Michigan, Florida, Delaware, Washington state, Ohio, Oklahoma, Colorado and New York.

The court also is faced with another stack of civil rights cases, most of them developing from sit-in and freedom rider demonstrations. The big question in these appeals is whether the Constitution's 14th Amendment bars the use of state trespass laws to enforce private racial discrimination.

WORK LOAD

Before leaving for summer vacation, the justices set up a heavy preliminary work load by agreeing to hear 95 cases early in the next term.

Among these is an appeal questioning constitutionality of an Ohio law making it a crime to knowingly possess or show obscene motion pictures. This case was argued last term, then ordered reargued in the new term, presumably because the court was unable to reach agreement on a final decision.

Validity of the Ohio law was questioned by the manager of a theater in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. He was fined $2,900 for showing a French film entitled "The Lovers." The movie won prizes in Europe, ran in 100 cities in this country, and was rated in a New York Times listing among the ten best for 1959.

Trustees To Meet Tuesday

A final revised budget for 1963-64 will be presented for approval of trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District at a regular meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the administration building, 100 E. 10th.

The amended budget reflects total expenditures of $3,363,465.75, compared to a previous estimate of $3,321,462.75. Most of the increase is attributed to expenditures for capital outlay. The district is expected to end the year with $88,026.64 cash in the bank in the general fund and the interest and sinking fund, compared to a previous estimate of $108,634.69.

Fire Department Getting Requests For Inspections

The first day of National Fire Prevention Week began Sunday with the Big Spring fire department receiving a few calls to conduct safety inspections, according to A. D. Meador, city fire marshal.

"We've been getting a few calls, and the men have been checking them out," Meador said. The department has offered to conduct fire safety inspections of area homes upon request of the owners during Fire Prevention Week.

"The service is free—there is no charge," Meador reminded local residents. "There is no pressure put on home owners. We just inspect at their request and point out hazards."

Other department plans for Fire Prevention Week include the showing of safety films at elementary schools.

OIL REPORT

Glorieta Extended One Location East

HMH Operators of Midland completed No. 2 Ross Foster as a Parochial Bade, East (Glorieta) producer and location east extension in Sterling County, eight miles southwest of Sterling City.

The potential test made 66.1 barrels of 32-gravity oil plus 33 per cent water on pump through perforations between 2,975 and 2,982 feet. The zone had been fractured with 1,000 gallons.

Location is 2,173 feet from north and 1,860 feet from west lines of section 24, block 22, HATC survey.

The discovery of the field was the same concern No. 1 Foster, finished July 27 on pump for 15.1 barrels of oil daily through a casing notch at 2,981 feet.

To Test Wolfcamp

Crown Central Petroleum Corp., Abilene, will plug back for tests of the Wolfcamp at No. 1 Pattie Batjer, explorer spotting about four miles southwest of the Triple M (Wolfcamp) field in Sterling County.

Operator will perforate that formation between 6,292-94 feet, 6,300-302 feet and 6,317-29 feet. This is the second time this project has been drilled. Originally it was bottomed at 9,191 feet before it was declared a failure.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 4,322 feet from the west lines of section 175-29, W&N survey.

COMPLETIONS

MITCHELL

Bark Royalty Co. Wichita Falls No. 1 Redwell has been completed as a water disposal well after the Pennsylvania. A check of that formation before operator plugged back and set 4 1/2 inch casing at 4,751 feet to make it a disposal well. Location is SE SW, section 89-97, HATC survey.

STERLING

J. C. Williamson and Southern Mineral Corp. No. 1 Aiken, NW SE, section 39-7, HATC survey, has been plugged and abandoned at 8,691 feet. It was plugged Saturday. Location was about 13 miles south of Sterling City.

DAILY DRILLING

BORDEN

Cos No. 1 Clayton is drilling to time below 3,981 feet after setting screen-casing at 3,136 feet with 200 sacks of 1,813 feet from the west and 2,187 feet from the south lines of section 9-32, A, T&P survey.

DAWSON

Monsanto No. 1 Gordon is bottomed at 4,543 feet and has been plugged back at 4,515 feet. The operator pumped 88 barrels of lead and 100 barrels remaining. Drilling is 1,660 feet from the north and 790 feet from the west lines of section 3-3, D. L. Cunningham survey.

TEXAS

Texaco, Inc. No. 1 B Andrews is moving off rotary. The prospecter flowed 259 barrels of oil on 8 1/2 inch casing. Tubing was run 700 yards. Recovery was from perforations between 1,648 and 1,652 feet. Location is 2,090 feet from the south and west lines of section 30-30, T&P survey.

TEXAS

Cos No. 136 Berry is spotting 300 feet from the north and 1,200 feet from the west lines of section 30-30, T&P survey. It is making hole below 6,895 feet to determine shale.

GARZA

Humble No. 2 B Fuller, C SW NE, section 112-15, H&ON survey, is drilling below 4,628 feet.

MARTIN

Austral No. 2 Mabee is drilling below 2,770 feet to time. It spots 633 feet from the north and 2,172 feet from the west lines of section 19-39, G&M&D&A survey.

Argentine Chief To Ignore Braid

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Astor Umberto Illia plans to be the first Argentine president to take the oath of office in neither the gold braid of a military officer nor the traditional white tie and tails.

The 63-year-old doctor from the hill country seeks to epitomize the common man in his dress, in his talk and in his way of doing business. Next Saturday, he will put aside his full-time duties as a physician to start directing South America's second largest country—sick for 19 months with political and economic pains. He will wear a business suit to the inauguration and make his first speech as Argentine's 29th president. What he will say he probably has said before. But businessmen, laborers and farmers will be listening for a more concrete outline of what he proposes for his six-year term.

Also listening will be the ever-present, unregistered political force, the military leaders. They will hear a keynote of "faith and optimism," for Illia says he needs them in guiding the future. But the reaction may still be one of pessimism.

Worthless Check Writers Are Held

A hold order has been placed against J. C. Hambright, wanted here for worthless check writing. He was arrested in Lubbock after he had allegedly passed two worthless checks here Saturday. He also is wanted in Midland and it was shown the Midland complaints were prior to the Howard County cases.

Kyle Jacks, who has been wanted here since 1960 for check charges, was picked up in Big Spring over the weekend. He was placed in jail on check writing charges and was also found to be carrying a pistol. Charges of carrying arms are filed against the man.

Commission To Look At Bids

Bids for two new fire stations, a bridge on Birdwell Lane, for new city vehicles, and a tabulating machine will be considered at the regular meeting of the city commission, 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 8.

Other items on the agenda are: (1) public hearing for on-premises consumption at Mitchell's Cafe, 1009 Lamesa Drive; (2) Request to the Forsan Junior High School onto water line; (3) request to place signs by Wesley Methodist Church; (4) request of Tom and Garner McAdams to change two tracts of land from I-P-1 (single family) to R (retail) zone; (5) appointment of CPA for city audit; (6) transfer recommendations from contractor commission; and (7) second reading of ordinance to change tract north of Avondale Road and east of Wesson from NS (neighborhood service) to R (retail).

Pig Sale Gross Tops $2,827

The 30 head of show hogs sold at the auction sale last Thursday night which climaxed the 18th Howard County 4-H and FFA pig show, brought a gross of $2,827.26, Herb Heibig, county farm agent, reported.

He said the receipts were satisfactory and that the young shown were well pleased with the prices they were paid for their animals.

Six head of the pigs sold have been retained by their purchasers and have been processed, Heibig said.

Attend Meeting

Howard County Judge Lee Porter, County Commissioners L. J. Davidson and Ray Nichols are in Austin today attending the annual County Judge Commissioners state conference. They will return to Big Spring Tuesday night. Joe Hayden and Rufus Stallings, the other two commission members, did not make the trip.

Civil Rights Commission's Life Near Congress Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A civil rights skirmish looms in the House today when a bill to extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission comes up for a vote. The bill is a stopgap measure to keep the commission alive until Congress acts on an omnibus civil rights bill. The commission is due to expire Nov. 30.

The House action ushers in a heavy week of congressional activity, with a $47-billion defense appropriation bill, a major education bill and a bill providing funds for more than 20 government agencies coming up in either the House or Senate.

A parliamentary situation requiring a two-thirds majority for passage of the Civil Rights Commission extension adds a touch of suspense to what otherwise would be a fairly routine vote.

Man Returns To County Jail

Oscar F. Grothe, 40, who gained considerable publicity and a 10-year prison sentence in October, 1958, is back in the Howard County jail and faces a probable return to the state prison from which he was paroled in November, 1962.

Grothe, whose home address is listed as Ackerly, was picked up by highway patrol officers over the weekend charged with DWI second offense.

Grothe, who was in the Howard County jail in October, 1958 for worthless check writing, joined with Fred Markham, 21, California hijacker, and Fred Kemper, 24, of Al N.M., worthless check writer, in an abortive jail-break effort.

The trio attacked George Bogard, then jailer, and Earl Theo Johnson, a jail trusty, at 9 p.m. Oct. 28. They beat the two victims with blackjacks made of socks loaded with bars of soap and managed to get out of the jail block. They robbed Bogard of his money and keys. They never got out of the building, however, and were trapped by officers and returned to their cells.

For his offense, Grothe drew a 10-year sentence for robbery by assault. He served five years and was paroled.

VA Hospital Gets Citation

The Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital was to receive a citation today for its participation in hiring of handicapped persons.

A special Governor's Citation, the only one made in the area, was to be awarded to the hospital at 1 p.m. today. The citation is signed by Governor John Connally and by the chairman of the special governor's committee.

The hospital continuously has carried out a program of hiring handicapped persons whenever they meet all the specifications for employment. Currently, about 25 handicapped persons are employed there.

Hire the Handicapped Week began Sunday. Its local observance is sponsored by the Big Spring Personnel and Management Association.

Martin Grand Jury Meeting

STANTON — The Martin County Grand Jury for the October term of 118th District Court was busy Monday morning looking into four felony matters being laid before it by Gil Jones, district attorney.

If the grand jurors intend to look into the Urban Renewal Program referendum election muddle, they gave no indication.

At 11 a.m. they had considered one of the four complaints and were working on the second. They had no specific instructions from Judge Ralph Caton who impaled the body to do anything about the election dispute.

Dan Saunders, sheriff, said the four charges to be laid before the grand jury were: Conrad Stokes, DWI second offense; Denville Archer, passing a forged instrument; Gordon Wise, forgery; and John Benson, swindle by worthless check.

Hubcaps Taken, Window Smashed

Two hubcaps were taken from the car of Juan Garcia, 410 NW 7th, Saturday night while the vehicle was parked at Howard County Hospital Foundation, police said.

Someone broke a plate glass window valued at $90 Saturday night at the 7-11 store at Ridgeway and State, according to police.

Cub Pack Makes Annual Hike

Pack 14 members Saturday morning made their annual hike over South Mountain. This year the group was accompanied by Scouts from Pack 48.

The group hiked over the mountain to the Lone Star Trail Campore grounds for a weiner roast and games. The boys were accompanied by about 10 adults. Other adult leaders from Pack 14 were on hand to meet the hikers and to help prepare the meal.

Smoke Damage

Firemen extinguished a kitchen grease fire about 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Elvis Claudell residence, 1105 College. There was only minor smoke damage, according to a fire department report.

Crow Plans Trip

City manager Larry Crow will attend a meeting of the International City Managers Association, Oct. 13-16, at Denver, Colo. Purpose of the meeting is to exchange management ideas and discuss new legislation which affects management, Crow said.

Texan Tops In Diamonds

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Samuel Vernon Collins, pioneer of a diamonds-from-the-sea venture, seems on his way to becoming the biggest single diamond producer in southern Africa. His operation of salvaging gems from the ocean depths, started as a near gamble 15 months ago, is a sparkling success.

Marine Diamond Corp., of which Collins, 50, is controlling director, had recovered almost 60,000 carats of diamonds worth approximately $2 million by mid-1963, he says.

It has made the landlubbers—the diamond mining concerns used to digging for treasure on land—sit up and take notice. De Beers, the worldwide diamond combine, has loaned Marine Diamond $2.8 million. Six other companies, one of them linked with American oil millionaire J. Paul Getty, hold concessions for about 700 miles of South West Africa coastline from the high water mark to six miles out.

Marine Diamond has operated with one small pilot barge but is expanding its floating mining camps.

TOP CONCERN

Collins says the aim is to push production to 300,000 carats a month. If this happens, it will put Collins atop the list of South African-controlled diamond mining concerns.

If it is a matter of luck with diamonds, it seems as if Collins will reach his goal. Even when one of his mining barges ran aground recently, fate dealt him an ace. While inspecting the wreck, his man found the biggest diamond—a 14½ carat blue-white diamond valued at $14,000 in the rough and $22,000 when cut.

Collins, who says he is a millionaire, puffed at his cigar and laughed when he heard the news. "I'm keeping it as a souvenir," he said.

The 400-mile long concession of Atlantic Ocean waters where Collins has been striking it rich has as its coastline a treacherous and barren stretch of land.

Here men have been mining for diamonds for 50 years. On the north bank of the Orange River, where it flows into the sea, is the vast Consolidated Diamond Mines. Farther south are the government alluvial diggings.

As early as 1957 Collins toyed with the idea of searching for diamonds off the rich inland fields.

He eventually proved what the old-time prospectors only guessed at—that the gem-rich aggregate continued from the desert coast to the sea bed.

How the diamonds got there is an open question. Some say they were washed down by rivers. Others maintain that the diamonds found their source through underground channels.

PIPELINERS

Collins, of Beaumont, Tex., heads a string of construction firms specializing in the laying of submarine pipelines. An engineer by training, he rigged up a method to fish for diamonds.

He and his associates started prospecting late in 1961, using a converted British navy tug, the Emerson K, named after one of Collins' right-hand men, Emerson Kailey, 43, of Freeport, Ill.

The tug was fitted with a vacuum cleaner-type of tube for sucking samples from the ocean floor. When likely areas had been found, Collins brought a barge from Kuwait to South West Africa.

This floating mining camp, Barge 77, able to house 53 men, started operations.

200 CARATS

The average daily take sometimes topped 200 carats. It had been reckoned that 134 carats were necessary to pay operating costs.

A few months ago, 77 foundered in a storm and $700,000 worth of equipment was taken from the wreck to be installed in a bigger barge, 111.

Collins' base in Cape Town is about 400 miles from the center of dredging operations.

Here he supervises the dockyard refitting of a 4,884-ton World War II tank-landing ship.

When completed, the vessel will have cost $2.8 million. It will have a living space for about 100 men and six dredging points. It is counted on to produce about 75,000 carats a month.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE

Veteran Actress Can't Keep Age A Secret

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—A woman's age is supposed to be her secret, but Shirley Temple's 35th birthday was celebrated in magazines and newspapers as well as on TV. When Shirley came down for the season's first Red Skelton show, we talked about growing old.

"I think most people begin fighting their age on the surface where it means the least," Shirley said. "I have never had a facial, and I don't believe that any good can come from massaging your face. Those muscles are so delicately attached that they can easily be disturbed.

"Some people make their faces sag by wiping and scrubbing them thousands of times the wrong way. I suppose that exercise is the answer for keeping facial muscles firm. When I was a little girl, I saw a big star puff out her cheeks and suck them in which I thought was very funny. She explained she was exercising her face, and I've always remembered this.

"There is a saying that if you take care of the first 40 years, the next 40 will take care of you. The first place to watch is your nerves. You can worry years on your face and off your life. I made up my mind a long time ago that I was never going to use sleeping pills, and I haven't needed them. I can sleep like a baby, even after a bedtime cup of coffee."

I wanted to know how Shirley kept from picking up the tempo around her.

"I roll with the waves," she said. "I'm the willow, not the oak type. You have to work at being calm, and finally you get to a point where you can control your thoughts. The worse the excitement gets, the harder I think about something beautiful and peaceful."

As for excess weight, the only reason Shirley has to go on a diet is when she cuts down on her activities. "If I don't play golf or work in the garden and am not as active as normal, I don't always remember to eat down when I eat. When you eat late and go to bed soon afterward, you just naturally put on weight. But I don't have a problem because I diet immediately on high protein meals, and new fat goes easily."

As I was leaving, Shirley said, "Did you know that garlic has a stay-young secret? A friend of ours, who is old in years but who looks and acts very young, believes that her vitality comes from eating lots and lots of garlic. She calls it an infection fighter and claims she is never sick. I've never even seen her with a cold."

Shoe King Has Regrets About His Spike Heels

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Vivier, king of the current boot kick and originator of just about every other important recent shoe trend, is 30, fair-skinned, silver-haired, gentle, shy, and very apologetic.

"I am sorry about those heels," says the visiting Parisian in halting English, referring to the heels he introduced a few years ago.

Yes, he has heard that certain American cities have passed laws against them because they are harmful to sidewalk surfaces, and he has also been told that the White House has implored its visitors not to wear them because they punch holes in the carpeting.

Not necessarily because of these objections, because Vivier believes in consistent style change, he later switched to medium heels, (the Louis) and still later even lower, stacked ones.

Yet many women, petite ones especially, continue to teeter precariously on spikes. He shrugs helplessly.

Now the mild-mannered haute couture cobbler is beginning to be alarmed about boots. Since he put them into the collections of Christian Dior, Guy Laroche, Yves St. Laurent, and Simonetta a few seasons ago, the boot fever has swept around the world.

COLD FEET
"I see women wearing them all the way up to here," he says, slicing at his knee cap with his hand, "and in the cities, too. They are very impractical because they keep the legs warm, but the feet stay cold." His were never higher than the calf.

Mind you, Vivier does not intend to abandon boots, just refine them. He who gave women needle toes, square toes, oval toes, and baby doll toes along with as many different kinds of heels during his 10 years with the house of Christian Dior, will show a new boot at his first independent collection this July.

It is ankle high, fitting snugly to the foot, and with a double but very thin sole for more warmth, and an inserted stretch band that expands to admit the foot. The boot is like an old-fashioned dancing shoe minus buttons and laces.

FEET BIGGER
During his 34 years of fashioning shoes, the Frenchman has watched the feminine foot in-

Scout Leader Course Begins Tomorrow

Training for the jobs of troop leader, assistant troop leader, and troop committee member of Brownie, Junior, Cadet and Senior Girl Scout Troops will be conducted Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. The course will be given at the Girl Scout House between Fourteenth and Fifteenth on Lancaster.

Jewelry Is Feature For State Fair

A glittering "Wonderful World of Jewelry and Gifts" will be a featured attraction in the Women's Building during the 1963 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 5-20, in Dallas.

A variety of exhibits by retail jewelers, trade associations and manufacturers will range from diamonds to fragile china figurines.

One of the largest displays will be the $125,000 Linde Star Collection, a total of 70 separate pieces of jewelry, nearly all made to special order by many of the nation's finest designers and craftsmen. The largest piece in this collection is the Coronation Necklace, designed for the crowning of Elizabeth II of England. It boasts an 89-carat Linde Star in three shades of gold.

Another feature of the "Wonderful World of Jewelry and Gifts" will be a history of watches. "Cavalcade of Time," presented by the Watchmakers of Switzerland. On display will be such ancient time-telling devices as the hour candle, hour lamp, sun dial and hour glass.

Among the other special exhibits will be a collection of china figurines from Royal Doulton, the most modern designs in watches for men and women from Mido, displays of diamond and gold jewelry, the story of diamond cutting and displays of silver and china table services.

Jewelers from Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana, as well as from Texas, will take part in the unique show.

Heloise Salvages Bits Of Dry Peanut Butter

Dear Heloise:

When I buy a jar of peanut butter (and I go to the store only once a month because we have a deep freezer), I always store it upside down! The reason is that sometimes the oil accumulates on the top.

P.S. What do you do when your peanut butter gets so dry with the oil on top and the bottom crumbles?

Dear E.T.S.:

I ordinarily use this for baking. It can be used for cookies, cakes and candy. Try it in chocolate fudge. Also, if you still want the peanut butter for sandwiches you might try varying it by smashing up a banana with a fork or a blender and then putting the peanut butter in and mashing some more.

One can add a little bit of salad oil to it, if you like the taste of peanut butter and want it without any other flavoring.

I have also added orange juice to peanut butter and put it in my blender. It's fantastic!

If you ever want something tart just try grating (mashing or blending) a piece of apple and then mixing it with the peanut butter. This is really out of this world.

Anybody got any more ideas how to vary peanut butter? (Kids live on it and we oldsters like it, too.) If so, send answers to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Heloise: For mothers who have small children, here's a helpful hint for use in the bathroom?

. After using up your plastic bottle of liquid detergent, pour in some bubble bath.

One can just squeeze the bottle and out comes the bubble bath. It's not only handy but, since it is plastic, eliminates the possibility of broken glass. For added attraction, paint a picture on the bottle or add a decal. Nettie Mason

Dear Heloise: For a delightful grapefruit breakfast . . . the night before, cut the grapefruit, salt it and put on a tray in your refrigerator. The salt penetrates into the rest of the grapefruit, giving it a delicious flavor instead of remaining just a "layer" on top.

Dear Heloise: When making desserts, if you gals hate to stir gelatin until it's dissolved, use your mixer or blender on low speed. Completely dissolves all the little granules.

Also, when arranging flowers in a low bowl if you find they will not stay in place, the cure is simple! Criss-cross the top of the bowl with cellophane adhesive tape and let the stems hang down in between the tape.

H.K., Pennsylvania

By golly, the tape works! Even on a tall vase.

Dear Heloise: I am a former customer engineer for a big typewriter company. I would like to tell your housewives who have typewriters, how to clean the hood (or the painted surface) whether it be wrinkle finish or smooth.

Any good household ammonia will do the job.

We just dampen a wash rag with some household ammonia and start wiping.

Immediately all of the newspaper print, fingerprints and carbon paper smudges will disappear. Wipe until completely dry and until all the fumes leave and that's all there is to it. Then, just look at your pretty new typewriter cover. George Peters

It works! Beautiful job. Heloise (Mail letters to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald.)

A Devotional For The Day

They that feared the Lord spake often one to another. (Malachi 3:16.)
PRAYER: O Father, we thank Thee for the privilege and joy of fellowship with Thee and with all who love Thee. Help us neither to spoil nor to lose opportunities we have for fellowship today. We ask this in the name of Christ our Lord, who prayed that we might be one in Him. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Safe Driving And Drink

Safe driving and drinking are patently incompatible, but most states continue to equivocate with this fact. New York State is no exception. Nevertheless it is the first to admit that the consumption of alcohol has a greater effect on youthful drivers than on older persons.

New York in 1961 adopted a "two-drink" law making it prima facie evidence of impairment to drive if a motorist's blood contained 10 per cent of alcohol by weight. It improved on that standard this year when the legislature enacted a "one-drink" law, effective Oct. 1, for drivers under age 21. Under its terms, .05 per cent of alcohol in the bloodstream will convict the youthful motorist of driving "with ability impaired." It still will take 13 per cent of alcohol in the blood to convict for drunken driving.

Drinking drivers are involved in about one out of every three fatal traffic accidents in the United States. Perhaps it is time to take a lesson from Norway and Sweden where the police periodically halt cars at unannounced checkpoints and examine drivers for whisky breath. Because offenders are jailed rather than fined, it has become custom at social gatherings for the driver to abstain completely.

What It Takes To Win

While fans are dwelling on cloud nine and savoring the upset football victory over Wichita Falls, it might be well to reflect on the elements of victory.

Players were expertly coached and were well conditioned, but in the final analysis it was their enthusiasm and determination which ultimately knocked the pose out of the opposition. Unstinted effort and teamwork paid off.

We suggest that the boys have done more than win a football game; they have rather given us a pattern for community action.

There is little or nothing that we can't do as a community if we will get the same degree of unselfish effort and participation as those lads gave. People who drag their feet and vaguely alibi that "they" didn't do this or that should remember that "we" win ball games and "we" put over things for our community.

Literacy Valid Test, But What Is It?

WASHINGTON — It must be hard for a President to avoid inconsistencies in his public pronouncements and policies. This very week Mr. Kennedy pointed out the high rate of illiteracy among the young men who are examined for induction into the military service. Yet, less than four months ago, he was proposing in his "civil rights" message to Congress that, in the matter of voting qualifications, anybody should be presumed "literate" and eligible to vote if he or she has a sixth-grade education. Certainly in these days when compulsory education for at least nine or ten years is almost universal throughout the country, few young men in the age groups being called for selective service have not completed the sixth grade of school.

THE PRESIDENT in his statement on Monday, Sept. 30, said:

"I am deeply concerned about the fact that half of the young men who have been reporting for pre-induction examinations under the Selective Service system are being found unqualified for military service; and that one out of every four is failing the mental tests, which means, for all practical purposes, that his mental attainments are below those which should be required by a grade-school education."

The President said that last year, out of the 306,073 young men at an average age of 22 to 23 years—who reported for the examinations, 75,043 or 24.5 per cent, failed the mental tests. Now, these cases are by no means hopeless. For, as the President points out, the Army during World War II established special training units for the illiterate. Eighty-five per cent of the 300,000 who received such training graduated and went on to serve as regular enlisted personnel.

BUT THE FACT remains that they had to have more education. They were not qualified mentally to serve in one of the most important fields of citizenship with the education they had. Yet Mr. Kennedy, in his message to Congress on "civil rights," on June 19 recommended that, in the laws to govern eligibility for voting, the following provision be included:

"In voting suits pertaining to such elections, the completion of the sixth grade by any applicant creates a presumption that he is literate."

THE ATTORNEY general a year before had said that the states could fix any number of years of education as a "standard," but that in the absence of such a provision, Congress has the right to fix a sixth-grade education as fulfilling the requirement of "literacy" for voting in federal elections. It is not clear just where in the Constitution the federal government could derive such a right.

Three Democratic senators—Sam Ervin of North Carolina, Willis Robertson of Virginia and Herman Talmadge of Georgia—have cited, in speeches to the Senate, decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States contradicting the administration proposals. As recently as June 8, 1959, the Supreme Court upheld a North Carolina test which required a prospective voter to "be able to read and write any section of the Constitution of North Carolina in the English language."

JUSTICE DOUGLAS, speaking for a unanimous court, quoted with approval from a previous decision of the high court, which had said:

"No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen, its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Perhaps, if the lawyers for various states quote these decisions, they will be charged with invoking "technicalities," but they will be able to say in reply that "the law of the land" or "the law of the case" should be respected, as the attorney general himself argued last week in his speech before the Missouri Bar Association.

THE EXTENT and significance of illiteracy is somehow and soft-pedaled in the "civil rights" controversy. The implications is that the Southern states are abusing their discretionary powers in determining the eligibility of voters. But President Kennedy, in his statement on Monday of this week, said of the applicants for induction into the military service: "The most common deficiency was apparently that they could not read or do simple arithmetic."

The President made another interesting point—namely, that there should be "serious appraisal" of "the reasons why the rejection rate on the mental tests ranges from under 5 per cent in some states to over 50 per cent in others."

THIS APPRAISAL—which is to be undertaken by a task force appointed by the President—could disclose that a high percentage of both Negroes and Whites from Southern states were not found qualified, and this could be an argument for better education in that area. But the inquiry shouldn't stop there. It would be interesting to discover what percentage of those in all states who failed the mental tests actually attended school long enough to complete the sixth grade and still were not able to "read or do simple arithmetic." This would provide one way to judge whether a sixth-grade education and "literacy" can be regarded as synonymous. It could also furnish evidence that the consistently higher rate of illiteracy among Negroes is not basically a matter of race as such but of individual aptitude and parental responsibility.

Billy Graham

I want to serve the Lord, but don't know how.

H. E.

I have never yet known anyone who wanted to sincerely serve the Lord who was not given an opportunity to do so. As in Jesus' day, "Look unto the fields for they are ripe already unto harvest." There is a population explosion in the world, and the world census is increasing at the rate of multiplied millions every year. There is a shortage of missionaries, nurses, doctors, teachers, and everywhere you look there are open doors for service.

You didn't state your age, but if you are of high school or college age, you should decide prayerfully, which way your life should take. There are some of the most exciting and challenging days of the world's history. If you are serious about giving your life to Christian service, you may be sure that you will be assured of a job even before you complete your education. Missionary boards, schools, Christian hospitals, and churches are searching for competent people to help in the Lord's vineyard. There are so many open doors for service. I wish I were young again so I could have the thrill of preparing, and entering a Christian career.

Many Wheels Roll For 100 Combat Men

James Marlow is on vacation. In his absence his column will be written by Washington and New York Associated Press staffers. Today's column is by J. W. Davis of the Washington bureau.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mythical conversation overheard while wandering through the Pentagon:

General: The President says we've got to send 100 tough combat men to Viet Nam right away.

Colonel: Affirmative. I'll get in motion generalwise.

General: Not so fast. The secretary wants to know how much it will cost.

Colonel: Our computer is not operational, but throwing my hat figuratively, I'd say to get 100 men with combat capability into the proximity of opposing forces would cost about $3 billion.

General: Three billion dollars! How do you figure that? And speak English that jargon is OK for Senate hearings, but the only thing you said that I understood was $3 billion.

Colonel: It's simple, sir. The 100 men will need supplies, food, doctors, dental work, snack bars and a headquarters unit. The French fried potatoes alone are a big item. Somebody has to keep the records. And somebody has to keep the records of the unit that keeps the records.

General: How many men will you need for those jobs?

Colonel: Let's see. Cooks, clerks, doctors, dentists, say about 500. With that many men in the area we'll have to set up a military mission. That means civilian secretaries, and lots of young officers to date the girls. They get lonely out in a place like that. They'll need several hundred staff cars to drive them around. I'd better order a motor pool battalion right away. And I'll need about 200 PX clerks. We can't expect our people to live off the land.

General: No, of course not. But 200 PX clerks seems like a lot just to handle cigarettes, tooth paste, things like that.

General: Economy is the keynote, colonel. Did you forget anything?

Colonel: Just that we should take a long lease on all the movie theaters in the area, plus a few thousand houses. Oh, and one big mansion.

General: I can understand the theaters and houses, but why the mansion?

Colonel: Well, sir, with an installation of that size we will need a very high ranking officer to command it, and he will need a big fancy house. There would be another star in it for the man who takes over.

General: Ah, how many sand traps are you going to have on that golf course?

Lively Topics For A Dull Party

One thing and another: If your party gets dull, you can probably liven it up with a topic subject like "Are there too many charity drives being staged now?" or "do you think we've reached the point where we tend to over-organize?"

Some of those apt to clam up completely in most discussions will speak out one way or another on such topics.

'Ambi-Auditory' Talent Booms Music

Are you a parent who worries because your offspring does his homework by one hand while he turns up the hi-fi a few more decibels with the other? Are you apprehensive that he's listening but not learning?

Well, sir, relax and throw those cares away. It's the best thing that ever happened to America culturally—the ability of kids to absorb the traditional 3-Rs along with Rigoletto, Rachmaninoff and Rodgers.

THIS ACQUIRED ability of young fry to do two things at once—listen and learn—is largely responsible for the cultural explosion that is only really beginning to detonate in the U.S.A. That is the opinion of an expert, John Brownlee, director of the Manhattan School of Music and for many years the leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, as well as of the Paris Opera and London's Covent Garden.

"There was a time when I worried about my three kids doing their algebra or their French with the hi-fi blasting away," Brownlee said the other day in his office at the school. "Like other parents, I thought they'd never learn a thing."

"BUT NOW I know that they not only got their lessons but that music soaked into their souls. And the acceptance of art as an everyday part of American life has rubbed off on the young people out there."

A boy who takes violin lessons no longer has to hide his fiddle from his gang. Brownlee points out, and not just because of Jack Benny, either. The arts are more than popular; they are a matter of course.

BROWNLEE KNOWS that boy well, no less than his sister, who sings, and his big brother who is studying piano. They are all enrolled in the crowded Manhattan School of Music, almost 1,000 of them. But Brownlee expects the enrollment to increase.

"We are on the verge of something very exciting in the United States, and nothing can stop it—before long we shall have opera companies all over the nation, no less than symphonies and theatre. It's on the way, and it's great!"

Policy Of Interdependence

WASHINGTON, D.C. — It's always been a wonder to me that the graves of the Founding Fathers didn't break open and emit a demonstration of angry skeletons when President Kennedy went to Independence Hall at Philadelphia on July Fourth, 1962, and proclaimed a "Declaration of INTERdependence . . . with a United Europe."

IT WAS BAD enough, considering how much trouble this country had escaping from Mother Europe, for the 35th President in George Washington's line to offer to creep back into that maternal womb. But hardly 15 months later, Mr. Kennedy's madness—for merging — that is, for obliterating the American identity—had extended to endemic proportions. No longer was it enough to re-section ourselves to Europe—an operation by the way, rejected by De Gaulle and the Common Market—but now the presidential policy seems to call for a merger with the Communist bloc.

NOT TO SPEAK loosely, I anchor my reference to a document which seems to be the guidebook for the ways we have gone since midsummer. If you read it, as I have done, you will better understand the negotiations on the Nuclear Treaty, the President's proposal for a joint mission to the moon with Russia, the proposal to supply wheat and agricultural advice and assistance to the Soviet Union, the dialogues about nuclear neutralization of Space and the President's hailing of what he told the United Nations was a "pause in the Cold War."

TO BE SURE, persons are still defying death every weekend to escape from East Germany, Latin America is aflame with Soviet-supplied incendiaries and all the concessions are being made by us. But back in July there was published this document entitled, "Common Action For the Control of Conflict," prepared by a think-shop called Institute For Defense Analyses of 1666 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., in Washington. It was prepared, significantly, not for the Defense Department's Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. The motto which sets the theme of the document, and is printed at its head is a quotation from a non-American, Lord Home of the British Cabinet. The quotation reads:

"Interdependence is the only alternative to a world that destroys itself."

THE DOCUMENT is lengthy in urging that American salvation lies not in our strength and will-to-independence, but in our ability to placate, join and buttress our enemies. Among a mass of accommodative arguments, there are these eight recommendations, most of which we are already following:

1. A parity of strength: "To shift the channels of trade and technology in order to better satisfy the needs and desires of both peoples and to contribute to their enjoyment of life."

2. Greater success for communism: "To shift the priority of resource use . . . toward communism."

3. Further concessions to communism: " . . . to increase the probability that time will be available for constructive action."

4. DO BUSINESS with communism: "To create cross-national enterprises . . . lay the foundations of Great Power solidarity."

5. Foreign aid to Russia: "To open the channels of trade and technology in order to better satisfy the needs and desires of both peoples and to contribute to their enjoyment of life."

6. Seek accommodation: "To . . . provide a foundation for a politics of consent."

7. Become interdependent with the enemy: "Gradually to replace the policies of force by a politics of consent conducted in an environment of intricate interdependence."

8. One World: "On a pragmatic, step-by-step basis to achieve an inclusive, pluralistic world community."

31 Violent Deaths Noted Over State

By The Associated Press
Texas counted 31 violent deaths during the sunny first weekend of October. The toll included 22 traffic fatalities.

Helping to swell the total for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday were an automobile crash killing five persons and another claiming three lives.

Among the victims were: Lee Comer, 30, was shot and killed Sunday during an argument over a beer can outside of a food market in Houston. A murder charge was filed against Wallace George, 30.

Mrs. Mary Battles Jones, 32, was struck and killed by a car Sunday in downtown Beaumont. Police held the driver for questioning.

NIGHT WATCHMAN
Sheriff R. L. Gaston reported a night watchman shot and killed Albert Crews Jr., 26, outside a pool hall at Needville, in Fort Bend County, Saturday night.

A trailer truck-auto crash killed Mrs. Mickey Demman Nowak, 22, and injured two other occupants of the car Sunday in Houston.

Richard Anderson, 3, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Don Anderson, was struck and killed by a pickup truck at Laredo Sunday. Charges of negligent homicide were filed against the driver.

Marc LeBleu, 14, drowned Sunday while swimming with two companions in the San Jacinto River north of Houston.

4-CAR WRECK
Three persons died Saturday in a four-car pileup 13 miles north of Longview. They were Bobby C. Teel, 30, of Sabine; Mrs. James Turner, 35, of Daingerfield and Jessie Johnson of Tyler.

Five young people died Saturday in a two-car accident 3 miles south of Cuero. They were Elmo Rydolph, Laura Palms, Elizabeth Jenkins, Stella Johnson and Killy Richardson, all of Cuero. They were returning from a football game.

Frankie Dehart, 19, of Cameron was killed Sunday in a one-car accident on a farm road northwest of Houston.

Peter Stevenson III, 10, was fatally wounded by a pellet from an air gun Sunday while hunting in the western part of Austin.

Mrs. Hazel Bloom, 54, was killed Sunday in the collision of her sedan and a pickup truck at an overpass on expressway in Dallas.

Slant Drilling Suit To Open

AUSTIN (AP)—One of the many civil penalty suits filed by the state in last year's slant-hole oil drilling investigation in East Texas was called for trial today.

Although some civil damage and several criminal suits have been tried, this is the first of the suits filed by former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

The state seeks more than $26 million in penalties in the suits. The suit today seeks penalties of $139,000 from H. J. Bissell, F. C. Deutsch, W. A. Hewell, W. C. Deutsch, Max A. Clark, George Joseph and E. W. Scates, all of Longview, for alleged slant-hole drilling in violation of Railroad Commission rules.

The seven are among 67 persons named in 32 suits filed Nov. 28 by Wilson. Bissell also is named in nine other state penalty suits filed by Wilson. Clark and Scates also are named in suits filed May 29 by Carr.

Two other slant-hole suits set for today will be heard later. One, seeking penalties of $1.8 million from former Gregg County Judge Earl Sharp, was delayed until Oct. 21 because of a death in the family of Sharp's lawyer. Another, seeking $1.1 million in penalties from G. M. Jordan, was passed at the agreement of both sides.

Bums Are Baseball's Newest Power Club

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers' incredible four-game World Series sweep over the New York Yankees could be the start of a new dynasty and the end of an old one.

The world champion Dodgers, loaded with youth, speed, confidence, pep and pitching, could rule the National League for years to come.

The ability to draw upwards of two million annually in this ever-growing area and their spacious new stadium is bound to pour additional millions of dollars into an already bulging treasury and enable the front office to pay handsome bonuses to promising youngsters.

The humiliating four-game downfall not only is a loss to the Yankees' pride and prestige but is bound to encourage the rest of the American League clubs which have acted as puppeteers on Yankee strings for many, many years.

Sandy Koufax' brilliant pitching Sunday in the 21 Dodger haymaker proved again what Dodger pitching had shown during the entire series—that strong pitching can beat good hitting teams like the Yankees.

The three Dodger starters—Johnny Podres, Don Drysdale and Koufax, with an assist from relief ace Ron Perranoski, stifled the Yankee sluggers with only 22 hits, an average of under six per game. Koufax, who started the sweep with a 5-2 victory over Whitey Ford in the opener, permitted only six hits Sunday and lost his shutout when Mickey Mantle homered in the seventh.

The Yankees scored only four runs in four games. "The Dodgers' great pitching beat us nothing else," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk, who accepted the defeat, his first in three World Series, philosophically. "We simply couldn't score enough runs."

"I've never seen such tremendous pitching all around in my 10 years with the Dodgers," said Los Angeles Manager Walter Alton, who also had led Dodger teams to world championships in 1955 and 1959.

"This was the most gratifying victory of all. We beat a great team, one which has been called by some the greatest Yankee team of them all."

The Dodgers didn't exactly knock down any fences. They amassed only 25 hits, two Sunday, but as Alton said: "We got our hits when they counted the most. That's the way we've played all year."

Ford, who lost both the first and fourth games, pitched brilliantly Sunday. He permitted only two hits, both by big Frank Howard, who broke a scoreless pitching duel with a 450-foot home run in the fifth inning.

Koufax, the series hero with two victories, fanned eight Sunday to boost his two-game total to 23, a record for a series of seven games or less. It was only the second time the Dodgers had beaten the Yankees in eight post-season classics. The only other win came in 1955 when the Dodgers were in Brooklyn.

"S-O-B—" cursed the slender, likable Italian youth from Brooklyn. "You play good all season and then blow the big game. It has to happen to somebody and I guess it might as well be me."

As Peppone tossed off his socks Sunday in the Yankee dressing room—a place that resembled the main mausoleum at Forest Lawn in many ways, he added: "Clete's throw was good. I lost it in the crowd. I just saw a white spot. It hit my wrist, then for forearm and finally my chest—every place but my glove."

Clete Boyer, going three feet in the air like a graceful bird, made a sensational stop of Jim Gilliam's hard smash down the third base line in the seventh with the score tied 1-1.

Boyer, with one of the surest arms in baseball made a perfect throw. But he sailed past Peppone and rolled toward the stands. By the time Peppone retrieved the ball, Gilliam was on third base on what should have been an out.

Then Willie Davis drove a long fly to Mickey Mantle in center. The Mick threw a strike to home plate but Gilliam had already crawled the last 20 feet and still have scored.

Skowron, who batted only 203 during the regular season, hit .385 for the Series—even with a hitless day in three times up in the final game.

In the Dodgers' dressing room, Skowron's teammates happily sang a parody on Walt Disney's "Mousketeers song"—but the Dodger version, in tribute to one of the happier trades of the year, was called "Mickey Moose."

Over in the solemn Yankee dressing room, no one sang—or even smiled.

Moose's Hitting Is Big Reason Dodgers Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"There's no substitute for experience."

Thus commented wise, old Casey Stengel last Wednesday only minutes before the first ball was thrown in Yankee Stadium to begin the Los Angeles Dodgers' four game sweep from the Yanks.

Stengel was comparing Bill (Moose) Skowron, longtime Yankee hero who was traded to the Dodgers during the winter to make room for 22-year-old Joe Peppone at first base.

Today, amidst the ashes of the series, the veteran Skowron emerges as one of the Dodgers' heroes. Peppone, with one of the most costly errors in baseball history, is the goat.

"S-O-B—" cursed the slender, likable Italian youth from Brooklyn. "You play good all season and then blow the big game. It has to happen to somebody and I guess it might as well be me."

As Peppone tossed off his socks Sunday in the Yankee dressing room—a place that resembled the main mausoleum at Forest Lawn in many ways, he added:

Four Bovines Lead Figures Of Three Tilts

Dick Irons, Albert Fierro, Charley West, and Johnny Hughes continued to lead in each of the four statistical departments as the Big Spring Steers squeezed past the Wichita Falls Coyotes, 12-8.

Irons, a 210-pound senior full-back, has now picked up 128 yards in 34 carries in the Bovines three games for an average gain of 3.8. Albert Fierro, a senior quarterback, is threatening to take over the lead in the rushing category as he ranks second with 120 yards in 31 attempts for a 3.9 average.

Fierro, the only Big Springer to throw a pass, is off to another fine year on the air routes although he is only connecting on 40 per cent of his tosses. In completing 19 of 47 aerials he has ripped off a net of 356 yards gained receiving which shows gain of 18.7 for each completion. Three of his heaves have gone for touchdowns and only two have been picked off by the opposition.

The favorite target of Fierro's pinpoint bullets has been center end Charley West, a 183-pound senior. He has gathered in 10 throws for 218 yards and one touchdown. His average gain has gone for 21.8 yards.

In the punting department, the Steers are getting a fine effort from a junior, Johnny Hughes. In 11 kicks, he has tossed an impressive 413 yards for an average gain of 37.5.

Lone Star Squads Clash In Opener

Texas A&I and East Texas will clash at Kingsville Saturday in the first big game of the Lone Star Conference football race.

A&I, the defending champion, is undefeated in three engagements this season, one a 27-12 conference triumph over Howard Payne.

Bears Beat Colts With Unknown QB

Los Angeles on Herb Adderley's 98-yard touchdown run with the opening kickoff and went on to crush the winless Rams 42-10.

St. Louis and New York, 3-1 as are the Packers, moved past Pittsburgh into the runner-up spot in the Eastern Division behind front-running Cleveland. The Browns whipped the Steelers in a Saturday night game 35-23 as Frank Ryan passed for three touchdowns and scored once.

The Cardinals and Giants had similar performances from their quarterbacks. St. Louis' Charlie Johnson threw three touchdowns passes and gained 301 yards in a 56-14 walloping of Minnesota while New York's Y. A. Tittle passed for three TDs and 302 yards in a 24-14 decision over Washington.

In the other games, Detroit ruined Jack Christiansen's debut as San Francisco head coach by whipping the 49ers 26-3 and Philadelphia edged Dallas 24-21. With capacity crowds at all but Minnesota and Detroit, the seven-game program drew a record 358,807 fans.

Denver knocked off the American Football League's last undefeated team, beating San Diego 30-34. In other weekend action, Kansas City defeated Houston 23-7, New York downed Boston 31-24 and Buffalo beat Oakland 12-0.

The Colts took a 3-0 lead in the third quarter on Jim Martin's 16-yard field goal, and Roger LeClerc matched that with a 17-yarder for the Bears after the Buc-kers to Bull pass pulled it out. In all, Bukich completed six of seven passes for 112 yards.

Ryan pitched two TD tosses to Gary Collins and one to Rich Kreiling, and also raced 13 yards to score the touchdown that put the Browns ahead 21-20 against the Steelers. Jimmy Brown, the league's top rusher, picked up 179 yards and scored once for Cleveland.

The Cardinals ran and passed for 520 yards, with Sonny Randle pulling in TD passes of 21 and 63 from Johnson and 15 from Buddy Humphrey. Bill Triplett scored twice for St. Louis while Tommy Mason scored both Viking TDs.

King Hill took over for injured Sonny Jurgensen and passed for two touchdowns — one an 80-yarder to Timmy Brown — as the Eagles defeated the Cowboys. The margin of victory, however, was supplied by Mike Clark's 12-yard field goal.

There Goes The Ball

First baseman Joe Peppone of the New York Yankees, whose seventh-inning three-base error yesterday made him the goat of the World Series, starts to chase the ball toward right field after missing an easy throw from third base, Jim Gilliam of the Dodgers, who should have been out on the play, ended up on third. He scored the winning run a moment later in his club's 2-1 victory.

KOY IS OUT

Longhorns Lose Punter, Okies In Good Shape

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS (AP)—The Texas-Oklahoma game here Saturday should surely test Darrell Royal's theory that kicking is one-fourth of the game of football.

If that works out, Roy has lost a fourth of his chances for winning the game for a sixth straight year. His great punter, Ernie Koy, went out with a shoulder separation in Texas' 34-7 victory over Oklahoma State.

Koy's punting was the main reason Texas beat Oklahoma 9-6 last year. He's definitely out of the Oklahoma game and probably for the season.

The only fellows Royal has to fill in are a couple of guys who have kicked twice apiece and one who hasn't punted yet in college football.

Koy four times booted dead inside the Oklahoma 10-yard line last year. Royal can hardly expect such a performance from Koy's inexperienced stand-ins next Saturday.

Kim Gaynor, a sophomore, punter for 36 and 34 yards after Koy went out of the Oklahoma State game. Bob Crouch was brought up from the track team to kick twice against Texas Christian last year while Koy was out with an injured ankle. Bo Price, a squadman

These are the fellows Royal must depend upon against Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team. Royal noted also that Koy was the only Texas back who compared in size with the Oklahoma backs. Koy weighs 212.

But the game will be played and Texas will show up, since all the tickets—75,904—have been sold and that crowd couldn't be disappointed.

It might be that one of Royal's boys will kick "over his head," or it might be the kind of game where punting wouldn't be so important, say if Texas kept the ball a lot and scored every time the Longhorns had it.

Both teams are undefeated, Oklahoma in two games and Texas in three.

There are 15 Texans on the Oklahoma squad. All except three on the Texas squad are from Texas.

PAT WASHBURN'S Sports Round Table

Before last week's Jayton game, Forsan head football coach OSCAR BOEKER was talking to the Gail mentor about the Jaybirds. Gail had lost earlier to Jayton, 40-20.

Oscar, seeking information, asked innocently what kind of plays the Jaybirds ran. "Touchdowns." That was the sole answer. "Touchdowns." That was no exaggeration as the visiting Jaybirds scored on their third offensive down of the night on a beautiful 61-yard pass play and went on to a decisive 50-20 win.

ORIE BRISTOW, one of the most successful ex-Steer football coaches, never made it to Friday night's Wichita Falls game.

"I had been waiting all week for this game," he said Sunday. "I was all ready to go and I even had my ticket in my hand. It was still a little bit early so I decided to relax in an easy chair. I went to sleep accidentally and never woke up until the game, was in the fourth quarter. It was sure a disappointment."

RONNIE BULL, former Baylor star halfback and last year's "Rookie of the Year" in the NFL with the Chicago Bears, talking about the pros:

"I never realize what goes on until I watch the movies. Sometimes the blocks just aren't there and I say to myself, 'Was it really that tough?' I must have been lucky to get through on that one. Sure it hurts sometimes. You get smacked on the arm so hard that you have no feeling in it. But it goes away after a play or two. This is the only way I know how to run. If you really love to play football you just resign yourself to taking the bumps, that's all."

JOE GARAGIOLA, former St. Louis Cardinals catcher, telling about the first time he ever saw YOGI BERRA:

"I knew Yogi was a man the minute I saw him eat a banana sandwich with mustard."

BITS OF HISTORY: On August 15, 1939, the St. Louis Cardinals' front office received a report on STAN MUSIAL, then a young pitcher in his second pro season with a Clas D team at Williamson, a small mountain town at the West Virginia-Kentucky border. It was written by manager Harrison Wickie.

"The boy is quite a problem. He is by far the wildest pitcher I have ever seen. He hasn't pitched a complete game here in ages and he must average at least 10 walks a game. . . I recommend his release because I don't believe he will ever be able to find the plate and if he should I don't think he has enough stuff to get by. I am at a loss to say definitely what to do with him. He has the best of habits and is a fine boy."

Stan Musial, remembering that year, recalls: "I don't blame him. I was no ball of fire even if I did win 19 games at Daytona Beach the next year. That was when I hurt my shoulder so badly I couldn't pitch any more. I think that was the darkest point of my career. For the first time I felt that I had made a mistake turning down an athletic scholarship from Pittsburgh University to play professional baseball."

He came a long way in 22 seasons in the majors . . .

Palmer Is $26,000 Richer From Golf

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Arnold Palmer has had to play more often to shoot winning golf but the suspicion is growing among the touring pros that its green, not greens, that brings out the best in the richest linksmen of all time.

Palmer, 33, won the richest PGA prize of them all Sunday, the $26,000 first prize of the $125,000 Whitmarsh Open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 281.

Ancient Flint Quarries In Panhandle Were America's First Mine Works

AMARILLO (AP) — It seems reasonable to assume that an American Indian, coming face-to-face with a shaggy-coated, fierce-tusked mammoth 12,000 or so years ago, preferred to do his fighting with the best weapon available.

You just couldn't put your trust in a second-rate spear. So the story spread among North Americans that remarkably good flints could be obtained.

The hunter must be willing to take a long walk—hundreds of miles in some cases. But plenty of Americans considered it worth the trip.

The flints appeared at a spot about 35 miles north of what some day was to become Amarillo.

FIRST MINES

Thus the flint quarries became perhaps America's first mining operation, in use for 12 centuries, although current mining is limited to archeologists.

"Alibates flint was to prehistoric man what the finest steel is to man today," says Floyd Stüder, an Amarillo archeologist.

Tools and weapons made from the flint have been found in Clovis and Folsom civilizations—the oldest identified in America—in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and Montana.

First substantiated proof that the quarries were worked 12,000 years ago came in 1925 when archeologists in New Mexico uncovered an alibates flint point in the vertebra of a now extinct giant bison killed by Folsom Man.

CAVE DEPOSIT

Seven years later, archeologists carried use of flint even back further through discovery of the Clovis culture in a cave deposit in southeast New Mexico. Clovis man lived 12,000 to 15,000 years ago.

Alibates flint is easily identifiable, archeologists say.

"I am sure that alibates flint was used frequently for such point types as Folsom, Plainview, Scotts Bluff and Eden... for at least some 12,000 years," Dr. Alex Krueger, University of Washington archeologist, has written.

"The alibates quarries were 'certainly the most important ones,'" Dr. Robert Bell, University of Oklahoma archeologist, has observed. "They appear to be the most extensive and to have been used over the longest period of time."

BUSINESSMAN

With a natural resource like this lying around, the businessman must appear, of course.

He appeared about 900 A.D. He built among other things a 66-room pueblo a half mile from the quarry. Archeologists have taken 14,000 artifacts from the pueblo. The fact that 11,000 were not native to the region proves to the archeologists that the pueblo businessmen were good traders.

Opening of the 25,000-acre Lake Meredith in 1965 will make the area available either by auto or boat.

The Canadian River Municipal Water Authority will acquire the quarry area.

The price is medium... the luxury maximum... the car is Mercury

When you want more than the usual in a medium-price car, Mercury's the one to look at. You'll find rich interiors in the elegant new Park Lane. Extravagant spaciousness. Responsive power—a 390 cu. in. V-8 is standard. And a choice of two different-looking styles.

Also available with racy Marauder styling

Mercury gives you more than the usual in all these ways: the most responsive engines in its field. More leg room, head room, entry room. More trunk space—12 suitcases big (17.1 cu. ft.). Choice of racy Marauder styling (left) or Breeze-way Design (top), the rear window opens for ventilation.

DAILY GUIDE—Some of the depressing effects of the weekend could cloud the early morning hours with confusion, but try to throw off doubts and fears. By afternoon you should be able to get things organized.

People can be rather changeable, wanting to ignore some of the responsibilities which loom on the horizon. This month some hard facts are likely to be brought home to us, so the best thing to do is to face them right now. Shut the door and get your house in order.

This is particularly sound advice for Scorpios, Leos, Taurans and Aquarians, or those with planets in those signs. The U. S. and our president have planets in those signs. Macmillan, Nehru, Khrushchev, Castro, Stevenson, Harriman, and a great number of other prominent world leaders were either born under one of these signs or have planets in one

You will have a chance to express yourself after this week so get your thoughts in order, make plans, so you will be ready by Thursday to write, talk, travel around. Make the most of opportunities to gain through alliances, to enjoy marital happiness, or to marry, if eligible. After April this favorable aspect will be over.
