Lamesa Hogs Top At Fair

DALLAS (AP) — Two Lamesa swine entries took off top honors Tuesday in the State Fair of Texas here.

In the Berkshire swine show, Monte Griffin of Lamesa had the grand champion boar, Stanley White of Lamesa the grand champion sow and Spencer Hess of Batesville, Ark., both the reserve boar and sow.

An eight-month-old calf claimed the title of champion Hereford bull for Jack Turner & Sons of Fort Worth.

Judges examined 225 Herefords before picking the winners Tuesday. The job took nearly eight hours.

Turner's champion is Silver Sunrise, and the same owner also had the reserve champion female, Fred Ferrell Farms of Elgin, Okla., showed the reserve champion bull and Hull Dobbs Ranches of Fort Worth and Walls, Miss., the champion female.

Placing of the Herefords was a highlight of the fair's fourth day, for which 109,488 visitors turned out. That pushed total attendance so far to 583,192.

Breeders from other states scored in several other divisions of the fair's Pan-American Livestock Exposition.

In the judging of Holstein-Friesian cattle, Clifford Beckwith of Leavenworth, Kan., showed the grand champion bull and Robert Siemens of Halstead, Kan., the grand champion female. Norcliff Ranch of Chandler, Ariz., had the reserve champion bull and Green Meadow Farms of Elsie, Mich., the reserve champion female.

Two more breeds of sheep were judged. Duren Howard of Mulhall, Okla., exhibited the champion and reserve champion ram and the champion ewe in the Southdown show, and Green Acres Stock Farm of Lockney the reserve champion ewe.

Suffolk owned by Dwight Stone of Medicine Lodge, Kan., won champion ram and ewe honors, with Trans-Pecos Ranch of Fort Stockton showing the reserve champion ram and C. W. Hunter & Son of Blanco the reserve champion ewe.

Exhibitors of the top Hampshire swine were Neely Hampshire Farm of Arlington, grand champion boar; Ernest Harris of Rails, grand champion sow, and Parks Tucker of Midlothian, reserve champion boar and sow.

Cotton Estimate Hiked 4 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated the cotton crop today at 14,847,000 bales, an increase of 4 per cent from a month ago.

The Texas crop was estimated at 4,500,000 bales and the yield per acre at 368 pounds. Texas ginnings were 1,417,415 bales compared to 1,422,217 last year. Production last year was 14,867,000 bales and for the 5-year (1957-61) average 13,125,000. The September forecast was 14,310,000.

Deadly Flora Whips Scattered Bahamas

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Flora, one of the most deadly tropical storms on record, thrashed a handful of thinly populated Bahamian islands today, apparently her last landfall as a hurricane.

Flora's center surrounded by winds up to 100 miles an hour.

'BEAT ODESSA WEEK' BOOMS

This is "Beat Odessa Week" in Big Spring.

The special week was declared at the Quarterback Club meeting Tuesday evening, and all news media in Big Spring are cooperating in publicizing. Steer football fans are being asked to give added support to the team this week, especially in attendance at the game with Odessa High School in Odessa Friday evening. Several groups, as well as individuals, are devising ways to let the squad and the coaches know of the town's backing in this first district contest.

passed over the island of Mayaguana before dawn, and then she picked up speed and swirled into the open Atlantic at 15 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said Flora would move faster and faster as she pressed toward northwestern Europe and England for the next few days. But by the time she reached the North Atlantic, cold air will rob her of tropical character.

Flora left behind a trail of devastation and death.

3,500 DEAD

Officials at Haiti, hardest hit, estimated the dead at 3,500, but said the exact figure will never be known because the bodies cannot be found. Many parts of Cuba are still under water.

Some of the islands in the southeastern Bahamas were still due for gales.

But the islands, some of which contain U.S. missile tracking equipment, were expected to escape serious damage because of ample warning.

Flora moved off the northeast coast of Cuba Tuesday after pounding the island with winds and rain for five days. Nearly 60,000 persons reportedly abandoned flooded homes in Oriente and Camaguey provinces.

With communications in eastern

Cuba knocked out, there was no immediate estimate of casualties on Fidel Castro's island.

Havana reported that the rain had stopped and the winds abated in Oriente and Camaguey provinces, allowing relief activities to pick up. Relief work also was stepped up in Haiti.

Disaster survey teams reported a pressing need for clothing, shoes and medicine in interior villages of Haiti. Officials said 40 per cent of the country was devastated. Village huts in the Negro nation offered only flimsy resistance to the storm.

Castro reportedly had a close brush on an inspection trip of the storm-battered eastern provinces when waves washed over his amphibious truck. Radio Havana said peasants tossed ropes to the distressed vehicle and hauled Castro and his party to shore.

The Cuban government already has announced cuts in food supplies, including a 50 per cent slash in beef rations and vegetables and a cutoff of coffee. Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, chief of the Agrarian Reform Institute, said heavy losses were suffered in all crops, including sugar, backbone of the Cuban economy.

UF Total Is Growing

Another firm in the Employees Division of the United Fund campaign reported in with 100 per cent participation this morning. Hemphill - Wells employees joined with about a dozen other firms in this select group.

Jack Y. Smith, campaign chairman, said today that the drive had reached a total $37,510.72 toward its goal of almost $105,000. He urged volunteers to keep making contacts and reports.

The Big Gifts Division has accounted for almost half of its $40,000 goal with $19,810 reported in through today. The Special Gifts Division is also nearing the halfway mark, reporting $4,382 of a $10,000 goal.

The Employees Division is still hammering away at its $40,000 goal, with $9,179 in the till thus far. The Public Employees Division has $4,106 of its $18,000 goal. Webb AFB, in the latter division, is shooting at a $10,000 goal, and, through today, had 34 per cent in.

The United Fund provides help for 13 local welfare and youth guidance programs, which receive most of their support from this annual campaign.

Nearly Too Smelly For Florist Shop

LONGMONT, Colo. (AP)—The last thing Harold Miller wanted in his new florist shop was what he had—a skunk in the basement. Miller turned the problem over to Earl Richardson, Longmont animal warden. Richardson, using a compressed air rifle, shot a tranquilizing charge into the skunk, leaving it harmless until it could be taken far from town.

Macmillan May Soon Step Down

13 Americans Missing After Red Gunfire

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Thirteen U.S. military men were missing today in Central Viet Nam after the crash of two American Marine helicopters and a Vietnamese fighter-bomber. Wreckage of all three craft was spotted and there was no sign of survivors.

Search planes sent into the area this morning ran into a storm of ground fire from Communist guerrillas. The American pilot of another Marine helicopter was wounded by flying plexiglass and a Vietnamese soldier aboard was killed.

An observation plane taking part in the search later was hit by gunfire and returned to base with a wounded Vietnamese observer aboard.

The fast chain of events began Tuesday when a Vietnamese T28 crashed in a dive-bombing attack on Communist positions south of Da Nang, in the central highlands about 340 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman said the plane exploded when it hit the ground and it was believed the pilot, a U.S. Air Force captain, and his Vietnamese companion were killed.

Two helicopters were sent out to look for the T28. They found it late Tuesday. One landed and the other hovered. Both were forced to leave the area about 7:30 p.m. because of Viet Cong guerrilla activity.

Whether the helicopters were shot down by Communist guerrillas was not clear. Aboard the two were four Marine officers, five Marine enlisted men, a Navy doctor and two Navy hospital corpsmen.

When the aerial hunt was begun this morning, searching planes and helicopters messaged that they were running into heavy ground fire, the military spokesman said.

Finally a search plane spotted one of the downed helicopters. In midafternoon, the second crashed helicopter was sighted near the first. There was no sign of survivors around either wreckage, the spokesman reported.

British Leader Hit By Illness

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—Impressions hardened among Conservative party leaders today that Harold Macmillan, stricken by illness, soon will have to step down as prime minister of Great Britain.

The annual conference of the ruling Tories opened formally in an atmosphere of shock and confusion at the development. There was a sense of unreality about the party's debates on national educational and health because the issue of leadership was the only one preoccupying the 4,000 assembled delegates.

Elder statesmen, managers and Cabinet ministers who form the party hierarchy faced a stark choice between soldiering on leadership for the next two or three months in the expectation that Macmillan will recover, or agreeing by Saturday on an heir-apparent who would be ready to take over the minute Macmillan signals he has had enough.

RIVAL CLAIMS

Even though the leaders themselves still were deeply engaged in secret discussion over the claims of rival contenders, it became increasingly evident that the consensus among them was that the present situation could not be allowed to continue. The word in private was that a big effort is under way right now to agree on the man to be designated heir-apparent.

With no warning, the 69-year-old prime minister was taken to a London hospital Tuesday night for removal of a prostate obstruction. His doctor said he probably would be operated on Thursday and he would not be fully active "for at least two or three months."

The immediate reaction in political circles was that Macmillan, after fending off demands for his resignation produced by the Profumo scandal, must at last surrender the party's reins.

MIGHT RECOVER

But some observers thought he might recover and still lead the Conservatives in the crucial election battle with the opposition Labor party.

Deputy Foreign Minister Edward Heath told newsmen no decision on the leadership question would be made until the outcome of the operation on Macmillan was known.

The prime minister's physician, Sir John Richardson, said Macmillan had been suffering from a prostate obstruction, a common ailment in men of his age, for some months. He reportedly had given no hint of his illness even to his Cabinet.

Even before the announcement of Macmillan's illness, there was an atmosphere of crisis as the 4,000 Conservative delegates assembled in Blackpool for the party conference. The Profumo scandal, poor Conservative showings in special parliamentary elections and public opinion polls favoring the Laborites have resulted in rising demands that Macmillan step aside for a younger man less identified with government reverses.

FRESH MIND

Heath posed the challenge in a pre-conference speech. "This calls," he said, "for a clear eye and a fresh mind, uninhibited by the achievements and unencumbered by the legacies of the past."

Macmillan previously had given every indication he was determined to seek an election vote of confidence in his leadership.

An official announcement said Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler, 61, would take charge of the government while Macmillan was out.

Showdown Nears In Algerian Revolt

ALGIERS (AP)—A showdown appeared building up today in Algeria's Berber revolt as President Ahmed Ben Bella cancelled a trip to the U.N. General Assembly and moved more troops toward the rebel stronghold in the Kabylie Mountains.

Apparently abandoning hope of settling the dispute by negotiation, Ben Bella ordered troop convoys into the mountains east of Algiers and told a news conference: "There will be no discussions with the criminals, no bargaining. They only understand the language of machine guns."

JFK May Outline Red Wheat Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were signs that President Kennedy may break his silence today on a U.S.-Soviet wheat deal which is rumored in some quarters to be almost signed, sealed and delivered.

One straw in the wind was that the White House abruptly changed the time of today's presidential news conference to 6 p.m. EDT, two hours later than it had been scheduled.

The time change strengthened speculation and reports that the President was preparing to announce his decision on the proposed sale of American wheat to the Soviet Union and other Communist bloc nations.

MORE CONVENIENT

But Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said he had "no information about an announcement" and that the time for the news conference had been delayed because "it's more convenient for the President's schedule."

Although the schedule as officially announced was pretty much blank from midmorning until the news conference, Salinger said Kennedy has "a lot of appointments. He has appointments here every day that I don't put on the record."

If Kennedy was about to make a decision on a U.S.-Soviet wheat deal, though, a source said he was keeping it close to himself.

Reports were coming in from other administration sources that Kennedy would disclose, probably today, that the United States was on the verge of selling more than $300 million worth of wheat to the Soviet Union and three East European satellites.

The Soviet Union was reported to have expressed interest through diplomatic channels in buying $250 million worth, with Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria bidding for $60 million more.

But there were caution signals around Capitol Hill. $300 MILLION Reports from pipelines there indicated that President Kennedy was carefully examining the political aspects of the situation before making a decision.

Although Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, predicted the sale, with payment in gold, would be closed soon, other advisers expressed doubt Kennedy would leap into anything that might expose him to Republican attacks in the 1964 campaign.

NOT ASKED

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said Tuesday he hasn't been asked by the White House to approve the transaction, although he has talked with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson about the possibility of such sales.

Six senators—four Republicans and two Democrats—have demanded that any transaction be delayed until it can be looked into by a special committee which would report Feb. 1.

PROPOSITION OFFERED

School Administrators Eye Move To Permian Building

Two representatives of Flato Realty Investments, owner of the Permian Building, met Tuesday with trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District to present a proposition which would move the school's administrative offices into the Permian Building.

At an earlier meeting trustees had touched on the possibility of leasing administrative quarters instead of building.

William Matthews and Edwin Flato said the fourth floor of the Permian Building, which has an area of about 7,000 square feet of which about 6,300 could be used, would be open Dec. 1 at $2.06 a square foot on the gross area. This includes all costs except electricity for lights and business machines, which is available at a bulk rate, and cost of parking spaces needed.

$14,420 A FLOOR

The cost of residency in the Permian Building, should the district need one entire floor, would be about $14,420 a year for the floor, another $1,200 a year for 10 parking spaces and electricity costs. Although no guarantee was made, Matthews and Flato said the company would probably go along with a three-year lease and a three-year option.

Trustees gave no indication Tuesday of which route they will take. They agreed to determine the space needs of the district and to give the matter consideration at the next regular session.

TO CONSOLIDATE

Trustees agreed that if a new administration building plan, it would be best to consolidate the scattered offices of the district. By leasing, however, the offices would probably remain scattered, with the tax office and storage areas continuing to be housed in their present buildings or moved to the current administration building.

In other business, trustees granted the 1962-63 budget was approved for filing after correction to include all amendments made during the fiscal year.

Preliminary application was made for state funds for the current school year. The projection of funds to be received at this time is based on the 1962-63 average daily attendance. It will be changed later based on current average daily attendance.

Two new teachers were officially added to the staff. One is Mrs. Johnny Johansen, who currently teaches three classes of Bible. She was added to the district payroll on a part-time basis to teach two English classes. The other new teacher is Mrs. Carole Summers, a mathematics teacher at Runnels.

FINAL APPROVAL

The 1963-64 budget was given final approval after correction to include true receipts, balances and encumbrances at the close of the 1962-63 fiscal year Aug. 31. Also,

Old Center Point School Will Be Community Center

The old school building at Center Point will be converted into a community center for residents of the area.

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District, at a regular meeting Tuesday night, voted to lease the building to the Center Point Home Demonstration Club. At this time the building is not being used.

The club will lease the building for $1 a year and will assume full responsibility for maintaining it, paying utility bills and insurance, if that can no longer be paid by the school district. The lease will be subject to cancellation by either party on 30 day notice.

The club had asked for virtually this arrangement to provide a community center for the area.

Now that the school there has been closed, there is no other suitable building for such affairs.

The old building consists of three rooms and a gymnasium. Before it was closed, two of the rooms were used as a cafeteria and the third was a classroom. At this time the newer school is also closed and used for storage. The old building is vacant.

The practical solution to the problem of what to do with the old school building would be to cut off utilities and close it completely except for storage purposes, S. M. Anderson, superintendent, pointed out. However, trustees agreed that if the group wished to assume responsibility for its maintenance and care, the building could provide a service for the community, which is not now available.

Antitoxin Serum Sought For Poisoning Victims

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Medical authorities reported that the last known source in the Western world was being tapped today for rare type E antitoxin serum, being used to treat nine persons hospitalized in Tennessee with deadly botulism.

This came as doctors at Vanderbilt Hospital tried to save the life of Eric Charles Dalton, 5-year-old son of a physicist at the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala. The lad was rushed from Huntsville to Nashville Tuesday night in critical condition.

Doctors said young Dalton had what appeared to be a "classical case" of botulism. He was administered an antitoxin and placed in a tank of the polio type to aid his breathing.

Botulism, a rare and acute food poisoning, has been blamed for at least two and possibly four deaths in Tennessee and two in Michigan. Seven persons are being treated in Knoxville, Tenn., for the illness and two here, including young Dalton.

A commercial airliner made an unscheduled stop at Knoxville early today to complete the relay of a shipment of type E botulism serum from Toronto. Dr. Robert A. Lash, head of the Knoxville Poison Control Center, said this was the last supply of the serum known to exist in the Western hemisphere.

Lash said Tennessee doctors have been promised a shipment of the serum from Copenhagen, Denmark, but he didn't know how much was available there or when it would arrive. He said the Copenhagen supply is now the last known in the Western world.

A shipment of the rare serum was rounded up Tuesday by the National Health Institute in Washington.

Part of the shipment which arrived in Knoxville early today will apparently be rushed here for continued treatment of the Dalton child.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Charles C. Dalton, told doctors he ate some of the smoked whitefish from Michigan which has become the prime suspect in the deaths and illnesses. No other members of the Dalton family were reported ill.

H. J. Dornbos and Bros., Grand Haven, Mich., fish packer which produces smoked whitefish for sale in a sealed plastic bag, ordered all its products removed from distribution.

The plant has halted its own operations pending results of official inquiries in Michigan and Tennessee.

UNITED FUND Busy Place All Year

Big Spring Salvation Army, one of the agencies which receives a part of its budget from the United Fund, is a busy establishment the year around, according to Capt. William Thomas, commander.

His records show that the Citadel, 308 Aylford, served 5,745 transients in the year ending Dec. 31, 1962. These were served 14,548 meals and provided with 3,941 articles of clothing and shoes.

In the same period, the Salvation Army provided assistance to 139 local families and individuals who were in need. The Army supplied 82 grocery orders, 36,450 garments, 1,936 pairs of shoes and 898 other acts of service for these people.

The Christmas basket program for 1962 saw 1,576 toys distributed to the children in 289 families. Food was also sent to these families, along with clothing and other articles. A total of 1,435 persons were helped in this program.

The Army held 307 youth religious meetings attended by 6,204 and 247 adult meetings attended by 7,212 during the year. There were 47 open air meetings with 343 in attendance.

The budget for the Salvation Army is $28,507.50 of which $20,000 is to come from the United Fund. Capt. Thomas said the balance will be raised by gifts and by other activities in which the Salvation Army takes part.

Texas-Size Radish

Texans like to brag about the robust quality of their home-grown fruit and vegetables. Mrs. Raleigh Rutledge, who lives near Sand Springs, has the proof to back up any such bragging. Her garden turned out these king-size radishes, which measured nearly five inches in height and 10 1/2 inches around.

Deadline For Test Application Nears

Saturday is the registration deadline for high school seniors wishing to take the American College Testing Program (ACT) entrance examinations, Dr. Alton B. Lee, state coordinator for ACT and registrar at Baylor University, has announced. Wayne Bonner, High School Counseling and Guidance director, said Nov. 9 will be the first of four dates for the test for this area. The other dates are Feb. 15, April 25 and June 20.

SENIORS

Seniors graduating this year and planning to enter college will find it to their advantage to complete the test as early as possible in the school year," Bonner said. "There is no advantage in postponing it."

Webb Personnel Active In Fire Prevention Week

Fire prevention contests, fire demonstrations and other exercises, are being conducted twice daily at Webb Air Force Base during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6-12. Two contests are being held each day, at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., with 45 minutes devoted to each.

Fire Chief Peter Perring said the fire department had trucks stationed around the base, personnel passing out literature, features displays, posters and signs calling attention to the observance of the week.

Integration Nil In Rural Area

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Desegregation has come to many of the South's large urban centers but behind the headlines of these changes are the more significant efforts to break customs at grassroots levels.

It is one thing for lunch counters or schools in Atlanta, New Orleans and Birmingham to accept Negroes.

It will be quite another thing when Negroes sit down with white persons at lunch counters in Selma, Ala., Americus, Ga., or Clinton, La.

These three towns are typical grassroots communities in the South, where the white populace stands solidly opposed to racial integration. The significance of desegregation efforts in these towns lies not in any achievements but in the simple fact that the towns have become targets.

NO OUTSIDERS

Selma, 50 miles southwest of Montgomery, was an old river port town in Civil War days. The people, as a rule, do not care for outsiders—even if the outsiders come from some other parts of Alabama.

Selma became an integration target only three weeks ago. Many Negro students skipped classes at Hudson High and began a short-lived campaign to integrate a drugstore downtown.

They were arrested, about 300 of them. With most of them out of jail, the demonstrations ended. Negro leaders switched to voter registration as their prime objective in this heavily Negro county.

OTHER STATES

Americus, about 40 miles north of Georgia's old racial trouble spot of Albany, is like Selma. Negro youth leaders and white students from other states succeeded in rousing some of the young Negroes to demonstrate.

The Negroes marched in the streets in August. They were jailed. The leaders were charged with attempting to incite insurrection, an offense which carries the death penalty. For two months, six of the leaders have been behind bars. They face another month before the next term of court.

A member of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, the group which headed the drives in Americus and Selma, said the Negroes in Americus no longer demonstrate.

VOTER DRIVE

In Clinton, La., a rural community 30 miles north of Baton Rouge, the Congress of Racial Equality has started a voter registration drive. Two CORE workers were arrested on minor charges.

Clinton, Americus, Selma are quiet now. They are still segregated, as are most of the towns like them in the South.

The white resistance has stood. But what will happen next time? The Negro leaders ponder this, hopefully. The white people, eyeing the lines of Negroes at the voter registration desks, pause and wonder.

If segregation is broken in these towns, at the grassroots, then the direct action movement of the Negro will be moving to its conclusion.

Circus Goes To Lamesa

LAMESA (SC)—The Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus will appear in Lamesa Oct. 19. Two performances are scheduled at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A parade will get the big show under way at 1 p.m., with three herds of elephants, a rhinoceros, a full grown hippopotamus, 16 displays of wild animals in cages and other show features in the formation.

The show boasts the largest herd of elephants of any traveling show, featuring 100 tons of pachyderms ranging from 950 to 6,000 pounds and spanning six through 92 years.

WHEAT, SUGAR

Weather Affects World Marketing

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Weather still can affect the course of business and public and individual fortunes despite all the man-made economic and political systems. It can set the price of many things from food to clothing to shelter—even the price of gold.

Weather can weaken governments or parties along with specific corporations or enterprises. It can change long-held government policies, although its effects may show up more quickly on commodity markets and sometimes stock exchanges.

Any merchant can tell you how fair days or foul can affect his sales on any one day—or how temperature and precipitation variations can make or break any one season for him.

REDS HURT

The Communist nations have been taking their licks from the weather to the accompaniment of dramatic headlines—wheat shortages in Russia, hurricane damage in Cuba. But weather also has been setting economic courses in non-Communist countries. Many of the patterns are pleasant this year. Some are not.

Coffee merchants are saying prices may rise this winter. The reason: Brazil's crop has been badly hit by drought and frost, and also by forest fires blamed on the drought.

The price of sugar may be tied to the skirts of Hurricane Flora, even if the United States no longer gets any of its sugar from Cuba. The reason: Russia has been either consuming or acting as middleman for Cuba's sugar crop. Flora is reported to have damaged it heavily, adding to the already admitted damage caused by the shortcomings of the Communist regime there.

SUGAR LOSS

The world sugar market will be affected by the loss of the Cuban crop, and with world sugar prices already high, and fluctuating, the price in the United States may be affected.

Weather, however, has been kind to the U.S. sugar beet industry. A bumper crop here will temper the effects of Flora's rampage.

The failure of the Russian wheat crop is chalked up to bad weather, with an assist from Communist collective inefficiency.

Russia's wheat shortage has had widespread reactions.

Canada has sold Russia 239 million bushels and Australia has sold 58.5 million bushels. The sale particularly helps Canada just now because perfect weather has given Saskatchewan a near record wheat crop this year to overflow the storage facilities.

SELLING GOLD

Russia's wheat dearth expanded further into international finances. To pay for its grain purchases Russia has been selling gold on the free market in Europe, an estimated 300 tons, of $280 million worth in September alone. This is more than its average annual sales volume.

The offering has forced the price on the London market below $35.07 an ounce. The official U.S. Treasury price, plus handling charges, is $35.06.

All this takes pressure off the U.S. gold reserves—thanks to the bad weather in Russia.

It also may be giving Russia still another headache. Gold producers estimate that Soviet mining is relatively expensive, that it actually costs Russia $70 an ounce to produce the metal it's selling. That spell of bad weather may be crippling the Communist economy in more ways than one.

Maybe So, But A Cover, Please

DEAR ABBY: No name please should join a nudist colony and she'd change her mind about it. Our family joined one three years ago and there is nothing like it. My wife and I are both 29 and our children are 8, 6 and 4. There is much more immorality in view at public beaches, where women try to make their figures look like something they aren't. DEAR MR. N.: Your serve! But do you mind if I wear a gym suit?

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "THE OLDEST" hit me hard. I am the oldest in my family, too. Our father died when we were children and I quit school and went to work. I was the sole support of the family at 16. I put my brothers and sisters through school as far as they wanted to go. This was during the depression, and I remember putting cardboard in the soles of my shoes so the younger girls could buy school supplies. I did what I did, not because I expected any thanks, but because I loved those kids, and also for Mamma and Daddy. We are all older now, and three of them have made it big. I am comfortable, but not considered their social equal, so I am not invited to their homes when they have their grand parties. I wonder how many others were supported and practically raised by their older brothers and sisters, but have never given it a second thought?

DECISIVE ACTION

Explaining why he has people to come forward and make a public decision for Christ, a popular revivalist has stated in his newspaper article that unless faith is acted upon it is vain, that faith is useless unless coupled with decisive action.

Certainly the Bible does teach that the faith which avails is the "faith which worketh by love" (Gal. 5:6).

But, may I ask: Instead of having the people simply come forward declaring they are making a decision for Christ, why not teach them to take the decisive action prescribed in the Bible? Why not teach them to act upon their faith by obeying the commands given to sinners? Sinners are commanded to believe in Christ and confess him; to repent of their sins and to be baptized in baptism "for the remission of sins" (Acts 16:31; Rom. 10:9, 10; 6:4; Acts 2:38, etc.) How much better to do it God's way!

Valachi Describes Gang 'Mercy' Killing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informer Joseph Valachi testified today that the gangland murder of Willy Moretti was a "mercy killing" ordered by the man who ruled the crime brotherhood, Cosa Nostra.

He said John Roberto—Johnny Roberts—was one of the men who killed Moretti in a New Jersey restaurant in 1951.

"It's supposed to be a mercy killing because he was sick," Valachi told the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

He said Moretti ruled a gang of 40 to 50 men in New Jersey. "He was like independent," Valachi said. "He had his own little army."

DATA VERIFIED

John J. Bergin, assistant attorney general of New Jersey, testified that his general information tends to corroborate Valachi's version of the Moretti killing.

Sworn as a witness, Bergin endorsed two new laws the Justice Department hopes may develop from the present hearings — one to permit wiretapping and another to pressure witnesses to testify in racketeering cases.

"I personally believe," Bergin said, "we have reached a point where these people depicted here represent such a menace, we must, with proper safeguards, have wiretapping."

WORK OF 400

With telephone wiretapping legalized, Bergin said, "Four men can do the work of 400" in investigating the underworld.

Valachi said Vito Genovese, the man he has labeled the biggest boss in the Cosa Nostra lineup, didn't like Moretti's operation.

The Cosa Nostra bosses, Valachi said, began talking about Moretti's being out of his mind because of a syphilitic condition.

Valachi said Moretti had had mental troubles earlier, and the syndicate had him cared for until he recovered.

FINALLY HAPPENED

"Now they're talking about hitting him," Valachi said. "It finally happened around 1951 that Willy Moretti was killed."

Valachi said the Cosa Nostra bosses all agreed Moretti should be killed.

"It happened to be Johnny Roberts and some other people which I don't know had an appointment with Willy early in the morning around 1951," he said.

Valachi said that when Moretti was slain.

He said the appointment was at a restaurant near a place called Duke's, in Palisades, N. J., which he said was a Cosa Nostra hangout.

Earlier, Valachi testified the Cosa Nostra bosses laid down a rule against trafficking in narcotics in 1957. He said some money-hungry gangsters violated the rule even at the risk of death.

Appellate Court Justice Visits

Jack Pope, justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Corpus Christi, visited here Wednesday. Judge Pope has been mentioned frequently as a possible candidate for the Texas Supreme Court next year.

A native of Abilene, he was graduated from high school there and from Abilene Christian College in 1934. After earning his law degree from the University of Texas in 1937, he entered practice in Corpus Christi, spent two years in the Navy during World War II, and then was named a district judge before being elected to the appellate court in 1955. He has presided 533 opinions during his tenure on that court.

Veterans State Thursday Meet

World War I Barracks and auxiliary will dress up its next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with a covered dish luncheon.

All World War I veterans and their wives are invited to attend. Guests are also expected from the Stanton and Coahoma areas. The meeting will be held in the Odd Fellows Hall at Ninth and Magnolia.

OIL REPORT

Strike Indicated At Mitchell Test

A Strawn sand discovery was indicated in Mitchell County with swabbing of new oil plus two per cent mud and water at Orton H. Tice and B. L. Coulson No. 1 V. T. McCabe.

Recovery was at the rate of three barrels an hour through perforations between 6,120-29 feet. The zone had been treated with 500 gallons of acid. Fracturing is now scheduled.

The project is 1 1/2-mile northeast of the Jameson, North (Strawn) field and 2 1/2 miles southwest of the McCabe (Pennsylvanian) area, but separated from both by failures. It is 600 feet from the south and 2,001 feet from the east lines of section 3-1-A, H&C survey, about 22 miles southeast of Colorado City.

Gets Walfcamp Oil

Monsanto No. 1 Gordon pumped 72 barrels of new oil in 8 1/2 hours from the Walfcamp at No. 1 Gordon, prospector about 11 miles northwest of Lamesa. Operator is continuing to test.

This project spots 1,000 feet from the north and 700 feet from the west lines of section 3-3, D. L. Cunningham survey.

The hole has been bottomed at 8,543 feet and plugged back to 8,538 feet.

COMPLETIONS

DAWSON

Conroy No. 1, C. NE, section 26-34-4n, T&P survey, pumped 182 barrels of 38-gravity oil, with a trace of water and a gas-oil ratio of 270-1, on initial completion in the 26-34-4n, T&P survey, is now being drilled to 5,500 feet and traced the interval with 30,000 gallons.

STERLING

Chambers and Kennedy and Champlin No. 1, B. Lanier survey, has been plugged and abandoned at 6,320 feet. No tests were reported. Location is 640 feet from the west and 710 feet from the north lines of section 26-34-4n, H&C survey, in the 26-34-4n, H&C survey, in the Triple A (Walfcamp) field.

Poll Taxes Are Being Bought

Nineteen Howard County residents have paid their 1963 poll tax in spite of the probability that the qualification for voting could disappear from the Texas scene after Nov. 9.

Mrs. Zarah LeFevre, county assessor-collector, who has been suggesting that taxpayers wait until after Nov. 9 to pay the poll tax, said that some of those who had wanted to pay ahead of the election date explained they were "sure the poll tax would be continued."

Meantime, 275 elderly citizens who have to have exemption certificates under the present laws to vote, have obtained such papers.

If the poll tax amendment is approved, a new system of qualifying voters by registration will become operative in Texas. Such registration under laws drawn up by the legislature will cost the voter 25 cents.

Under present laws, the voter is qualified, has to have paid his poll tax. Fee for this tax is $1.75.

Miss Harrison Is Club President

Sharon Harrison was chosen president of the Gay Hill 4-H Club Monday at an organizational meeting held at the Gay Hill School.

Other officers selected were Martha Cook, secretary; and Terry Walker, reporter. Adult leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Brooks, for the Center Point area, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buchanan, from Gay Hill.

At the organizational session, games were led by Mrs. Jennie Alan, who is now taking training to become a Home Demonstration Agent. Refreshments were served to 16 club members and 15 adults.

Requests Change In Side Setback

Side-line setbacks less than required by law have been requested for a building to be constructed at 2701 Clanton, Delbert Harland, owner, has requested the zoning board of adjustment to consider the problem at a meeting set for 4 p.m. Thursday.

Most houses in the Clanton Addition were constructed with less than five foot setbacks prior to the enactment of the ordinance, according to Tom Newton, city building inspector.

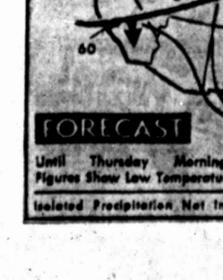

The ordinance requires setbacks to be six feet, eight inches, Harland has requested he be allowed a five-foot, seven-inch setback, Newton said.

Council To Meet

The Buffalo Trail Boy Scout Council will have its quarterly board meeting Saturday at the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains. There will be a business session and election of officers at the meeting starting at 4:30 p.m. followed by a barbecue and dedication of the chapel at 7:30 p.m.

Shaunty Takes Hospital Post

A vacancy of more than two months standing in the Social Service department at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital has been filled.

Taking over as chief is Grover C. Shaunty, formerly with the special work staff at the McKinney VA Hospital. Shaunty replaces Tolford H. Durham, who left for a new appointment in Tucson during July. Shaunty's appointment was effective Sept. 29.

Shaunty was born July 2, 1938 at Electra and attended high school at Pasadena. It was there that he met Kathryn Fairchild, who later became Mrs. Shaunty. They now have two daughters—DeLette, three, and Denise, seven months old. The family lives at 414 West-Over Road.

After receiving a bachelor's degree from Baylor in 1960, Shaunty went on to earn a master's degree in social work at Florida State University. He joined the VA system in June, 1961.

Shaunty is an avid football backer. Among participation sports he lists swimming and tennis. He is a member of the Baptist church.

County Civil Cases Slated

A series of civil jury cases, extending through the remainder of October and into November, were set for trial this morning in Howard County Court by Judge Lee Porter.

Juries will be on hand most of the next seven weeks in county court for the disposition of these matters, the court said.

First case to be set is an action brought by R. H. Weaver against Imogene Lloyd for debt. This case is slated for Oct. 14.

Other cases and the dates set: State vs. A. P. Kasch et al., condemnation, Oct. 15; John Underwood vs. Westex Oil Co. et al., damages, Oct. 18; Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. vs. L. R. Crowell, debt, Oct. 22; A. C. Bibby vs. Alvin H. Vieregge, damages, Oct. 22; Ben Marx vs. Billy Jack Jones et al., damages, Oct. 25; State of Texas vs. H. S. Moss et al., four cases, condemnation, Oct. 28; State of Texas vs. Charles Creighton, condemnation, Nov. 18; John P. Green vs. Robert Palmer Miller, damages, Nov. 1.

Several cases were passed. Jesse Graves vs. Bobby West et al., damages, was one of these, and a case styled Doris W. Gambill vs. Thomas R. Stephens, debt, was another. A third case, State vs. G. W. Smith, condemnation, is reported in process of being settled and was not set for trial.

Fair Officials Expecting Big Entry List Thursday

Entries were expected to be heavy for the 1963 Mitchell County Fair, at the County Agricultural Building west of Colorado City, when they peaches, beans, beets, peas, pickles, bread and butter pickles; preserves and jellies — plum, peach, pear and others.

Cakes and breads class will give homemakers an opportunity to compete for ribbons with biscuits, muffins, white yeast bread, steamed brown bread, coffee cake, rolls and cinnamon rolls.

Needlework classes for women include embroidery, cut work, applique, infants and toddlers clothes and coverlets, quilts, coats, spreads and rugs, crochet, knitting, latching and weaving.

Youth division entries are to be judged in two classes, with one for ages nine through 13, and the second for ages 14 through high school. These classes include linens, clothing, crafts, bread, cakes, cookies, canned fruit and vegetables, pickles, preserves and jellies.

Mrs. Sidney Compton, who heads the women's division for the fair, said a lot of interest had been shown this year. She said all entries were to remain on exhibit until 8 p.m. Saturday.

Fair Opens With Reunion

COLORADO CITY — The Old Timers' Reunion will get under way at the Colorado City Historical Museum Thursday with registration at 9 a.m. Pat Bullock, former Colorado City resident, former state senator, and present chairman of the Texas Pardons and Parole Board, will give the welcoming address.

The "Tall Tales" contest will be of special interest. Miss Mabel Smith, retired Colorado City High School and Texas Tech teacher, will be judge. All "tales" must be about Colorado City.

Harry Ratliff, president of the Historical Museum Association, listed an "old timer" as "anybody who has lived in Mitchell County from one week to 100 years.

Prizes will be given at the close of the judging to the pioneer who has lived in the county the longest, pioneer traveling the greatest distance, oldest pioneer, pioneer couple married the longest, pioneer living longest and continuously in the county. Winners must be present. A prize will also be given to the youngest pioneer present.

Boys Club Council Meets At Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — The West Texas Area Council of Boys' Clubs of America will meet here at 2 p.m. Thursday to plan for the 1964 spring meeting that will be conducted in Lamesa. Bob Wade, president of the Lamesa Boys' Club, and directors will host the delegates from Amarillo, Lubbock, Snyder, Abilene, Olessa, Borger, El Paso, Roscoe and Brownfield.

Joe Sotis, regional director from Dallas, will also attend. Delegates will be guests of the Lamesa Neen Lions Club at its regular weekly luncheon meeting and will tour the new BCA clubhouse, now under construction here, prior to the business meeting.

Firemen Handle Two Minor Fires

A short in the wiring caused a fire at 4:50 p.m. Monday at 18th and Gregg. Firemen said all of the wiring on the motor was damaged. Jewel Holten, 2406 Carl, is owner of the vehicle.

Firemen also extinguished a grass fire at 602 W. 3rd Street at 6:15 p.m. Monday. The fire occurred when a trash fire got out of control, according to firemen.

Water Pact Approved For Forsan School At Elbow

City commissioners Tuesday approved a request to furnish city water to Forsan Junior High School at Elbow. Roy Stockstill, superintendent of the Forsan County Line Independent School District, said the Forsan daily output of 5,000 to 6,000 gallons at the school is inadequate to meet school needs.

"The school district would pay for two miles of two-inch piping to the tie-in line," Stockstill said, adding, "The school has a storage tank."

The request was approved after Mayor George J. Zachariah said, "I don't see how we can refuse this request."

Commissioners also approved a request by Huey Mitchell for on-premises consumption of alcoholic beverages at his cafe located at 1009 Lamesa Drive.

In approving the request, commissioners stipulated that another

Commissioners Take Local Firm's Fire Station Bid

City Commissioners Tuesday passed over a low bid by a San Angelo firm and accepted the base proposal of J. W. Little Construction Company, Big Spring, for construction of two new fire stations.

The local firm's base bid was $77,443, only $222 more than the bid of $77,221 submitted by Leon Burk, San Angelo. In awarding the contract to the Little firm, commissioners said they "acted in the best interests of the city."

The fire stations will be located near the Rodeo Bowl, east of the Ellis Homes and north of Airport school. The second one will be located on the northwest corner of the city golf course, off Wason Road.

John Gary, architect, said specifications call for the stations to be constructed of concrete masonry with brick facing. The floors will be of concrete slab with vinyl asbestos floor covering. Rooms will include a toilet and shower, kitchen, living room, mechanical equipment room, janitor's closet, apparatus room for two fire trucks, and a dormitory for nine firemen.

Specifications also provide for the stations to be 7 1/2 feet, four inches wide and 47 feet in length with a total area of 3,300 square feet. The stations will feature steel roofs, Gary said. The contract calls for completion within 150 days.

Shasta Ford Company's bid of $5,715.62 for three police patrol cars and a compact model for the inspection department was accepted. Commissioners voted to add $635 to the bid and retain Unit No. 100, a patrol car which has recently been equipped with a new motor and transmission. This car will be used as a spare patrol car. The $635 figure represents trade-in value of the car. Shasta's bid was the low bid submitted for the cars.

Jones Construction Company's low bid of $12,960 for construction of a 3-span 30 by 8 foot bridge over Big Spring Creek on Birdwell

B'nai B'rith Enjoys Rich, Varied Past

WASHINGTON (AP) — Glad news today from B'nai B'rith, the American-born Jewish service organization, as it gets ready for its 120th birthday party.

Sandy Koufax is a member.

As you undoubtedly know, Koufax is a left-handed pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, who humbled the New York Yankees twice in baseball's World Series.

Hence he is entitled to take his place along with such B'nai B'rith notables as Sigmund Freud, the subconscious prober; Bess Myerson, the onetime Miss America; Dr. Jonas Salk, who discovered polio vaccine, and Richard Tucker, the opera singer.

If the list seems unusually varied, well, B'nai B'rith leaders like to stress that the Jews, like every other group coming to this astonishing country, have a rich and varied history.

They fought hard and well on both sides in the Civil War, and right now the Senate has Jacob K. Javits of New York, a Republican, and Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, a Democrat.

Two other service organizations, the Masons and the Old Fellows, were here when B'nai B'rith began, but they were imported. B'nai B'rith—it means Sons of the Covenant—is native stuff, with offspring in 41 other nations.

On Oct. 13, 1843, 12 Jewish immigrants got together in New York City, chipped in $60 for a widows' and orphans' fund, and B'nai B'rith was on its way.

Now it spends more than $15 million a year on various charities and service programs, has a large eight-story building here in Washington.

One problem facing the early founders: to bring together the 20,000 Jews, emigrating from different lands with different cultures, and strangers to each other.

Today B. B. has the same problem. It includes Orthodox and Reform Jews, Yiddishists and Hebrewists, Zionists and non-Zionists.

There's a special point, by the way, in this 120th birthday party. That is how long Moses lived, and so it is a symbolic milestone for the Jews.

Wreck Reported

There was only one motor vehicle accident in Big Spring Monday. It occurred at 9:04 a.m. at 4th and Johnson and involved cars driven by Robert Baker, 604 Steakley, and Mary Pittman, Midland. Damage to the Pittman car was estimated at $150, and damage to the other vehicle was set at $75.

City Wants Job Completed

City Commissioners Tuesday authorized city manager Larry Crow to notify Universal International Insurance Company, a bonding company, instructing them to enforce compliance of the contract on the city's $750,000 sewer improvement project.

Wednesday morning, Crow said city attorney John Burgess was busy drafting a letter.

"Progress on the work at the sewer plant is unsatisfactory," Crow said. "Previous letters to the bonding firm have been unanswered, so we will inform them that the city will take affirmative action if performance of the bond is not guaranteed," he said.

Contractor for improvements to the sewer plant is Shiftlet Brothers of Abilene.

Crow said consulting engineers (Forrest and Cotton of Dallas) on the project have recommended this action.

"Engineers turned over a list of about 100 uncompleted work items at the sewer plant," Crow said. "Moreover they have estimated that the work can be completed within two weeks if reasonable progress is made."

The city has withheld a $70,000 payment to the Shiftlet firm, alleging that repairs to a settling tank have not been completed.

Commissioners also authorized Burgess to contact owners of collecting mains in the city in an effort to secure compliance with a city ordinance which prohibits lint and sparks from the mains.

Burgess was authorized to seek a restraining order if compliance is not promised.

"One gin in the city is complying with the law," Burgess said.

Mrs. Garcia Dies, Rites Set Thursday

Mrs. Eloisa Carrasco Garcia, 50, wife of Juan Garcia, died Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at a hospital here after a comparatively brief illness.

Mrs. Garcia had been extremely active in civic and religious affairs and had been a tireless helper in inter-community relations.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Patrick Casey, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Catholic section of City Cemetery under direction of Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Garcia was born Nov. 14, 1912 in Valentine and moved here in 1928. She and Mr. Garcia, member of a pioneer Big Spring family, were married Aug. 21, 1933 at Las Cruces, N. M. They made their home at 410 NW 7th.

Mrs. Garcia was on the staff of the Rio Theatre for several years, but for many years she operated the Garcia Grocery. She was active in the affairs of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, was vice president of the San Angelo Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. She was a charter member and past president of Ladies of Guadalupe. Mrs. Garcia also served as financial secretary of the Woodmen of the World circle.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Lou Jones, who resides in Germany, and Juanita Garcia, Big Spring; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Carrasco, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Lidia Lopez and Mrs. Virginia Limon, both of Big Spring; several nephews and nieces.

County Civil Cases Slated

A series of civil jury cases, extending through the remainder of October and into November, were set for trial this morning in Howard County Court by Judge Lee Porter.

Juries will be on hand most of the next seven weeks in county court for the disposition of these matters, the court said.

First case to be set is an action brought by R. H. Weaver against Imogene Lloyd for debt. This case is slated for Oct. 14.

Other cases and the dates set: State vs. A. P. Kasch et al., condemnation, Oct. 15; John Underwood vs. Westex Oil Co. et al., damages, Oct. 18; Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. vs. L. R. Crowell, debt, Oct. 22; A. C. Bibby vs. Alvin H. Vieregge, damages, Oct. 22; Ben Marx vs. Billy Jack Jones et al., damages, Oct. 25; State of Texas vs. H. S. Moss et al., four cases, condemnation, Oct. 28; State of Texas vs. Charles Creighton, condemnation, Nov. 18; John P. Green vs. Robert Palmer Miller, damages, Nov. 1.

Several cases were passed. Jesse Graves vs. Bobby West et al., damages, was one of these, and a case styled Doris W. Gambill vs. Thomas R. Stephens, debt, was another. A third case, State vs. G. W. Smith, condemnation, is reported in process of being settled and was not set for trial.

City Wants Job Completed

City Commissioners Tuesday authorized city manager Larry Crow to notify Universal International Insurance Company, a bonding company, instructing them to enforce compliance of the contract on the city's $750,000 sewer improvement project.

Wednesday morning, Crow said city attorney John Burgess was busy drafting a letter.

"Progress on the work at the sewer plant is unsatisfactory," Crow said. "Previous letters to the bonding firm have been unanswered, so we will inform them that the city will take affirmative action if performance of the bond is not guaranteed," he said.

Contractor for improvements to the sewer plant is Shiftlet Brothers of Abilene.

Crow said consulting engineers (Forrest and Cotton of Dallas) on the project have recommended this action.

"Engineers turned over a list of about 100 uncompleted work items at the sewer plant," Crow said. "Moreover they have estimated that the work can be completed within two weeks if reasonable progress is made."

The city has withheld a $70,000 payment to the Shiftlet firm, alleging that repairs to a settling tank have not been completed.

Commissioners also authorized Burgess to contact owners of collecting mains in the city in an effort to secure compliance with a city ordinance which prohibits lint and sparks from the mains.

Burgess was authorized to seek a restraining order if compliance is not promised.

"One gin in the city is complying with the law," Burgess said.

Wreck Reported

There was only one motor vehicle accident in Big Spring Monday. It occurred at 9:04 a.m. at 4th and Johnson and involved cars driven by Robert Baker, 604 Steakley, and Mary Pittman, Midland. Damage to the Pittman car was estimated at $150, and damage to the other vehicle was set at $75.

Mrs. Garcia Dies, Rites Set Thursday

Mrs. Eloisa Carrasco Garcia, 50, wife of Juan Garcia, died Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at a hospital here after a comparatively brief illness.

Mrs. Garcia had been extremely active in civic and religious affairs and had been a tireless helper in inter-community relations.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church with the Rev. Patrick Casey, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Catholic section of City Cemetery under direction of Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Garcia was born Nov. 14, 1912 in Valentine and moved here in 1928. She and Mr. Garcia, member of a pioneer Big Spring family, were married Aug. 21, 1933 at Las Cruces, N. M. They made their home at 410 NW 7th.

Mrs. Garcia was on the staff of the Rio Theatre for several years, but for many years she operated the Garcia Grocery. She was active in the affairs of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, was vice president of the San Angelo Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. She was a charter member and past president of Ladies of Guadalupe. Mrs. Garcia also served as financial secretary of the Woodmen of the World circle.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Lou Jones, who resides in Germany, and Juanita Garcia, Big Spring; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Carrasco, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Lidia Lopez and Mrs. Virginia Limon, both of Big Spring; several nephews and nieces.

Construction Total Off Pace Of 1962

Building construction of all types in Big Spring has dropped a half million dollars under the 1962 period through September. Business building is up, but residential construction has taken a nose dive according to records in Building Inspector Tom Newton's office.

Total permit value of 1963 construction for the nine-month period is $3,968,336, as compared to $4,505,197 in 1962.

New business construction is up to $2,092,757, and total business building, additions, remodeling, and other types, is up to $2,216,091, as compared to $781,295 in 1962. There were 29 new business building permits issued through September as compared to 16 in 1962.

New residence permits have dropped from 351 in 1962 to 108 this year. Records showed the 1962 high month as July with 119 permits, as compared to six in July, 1963.

September records showed total construction at $376,015. This included five new business buildings at $81,000; and total business at $104,490. Fourteen new residences accounted for $246,600, and other residential construction came to $25,535.

The highest dollar-value permit month in 1963 was in April when $679,372 were chucked up. Highest month in 1962 was July with $1,033,364. Four months of this year, March, April, May and August, went over a half million dollars. There were also four months in 1962 with more than a half million dollars.

New Manager

Jim E. Barrett has been named branch manager for Borden Milk Company in Big Spring. Barrett, his wife and two children will move from Kermit to make their home at 2613 Carol Drive. He is a native of Kermit and has been with the company for the past eight years.

Webb To Take Bids On Work

Notices to prospective bidders on three services were sent out by the office of the Purchasing and Contracting Office at Webb this week.

Bids to remove rubbish and trash from the base and the housing area at Webb Village will be accepted until 3 p.m., Nov. 4. Requests for bid sets will be honored if received before Oct. 28. The contract covers the 12 months period beginning Jan. 1, 1964.

Another contract is to be let on repairs to tile floors in certain buildings at the base. Bids will be accepted until 2 p.m., Nov. 4. Work on this job must be completed within 15 calendar days from date of acceptance.

Alteration of power check pads is also to be contracted. This work consists of the excavating existing bituminous pavement and base course and removing all debris, preparation of the subgrade, placing new concrete pavement and sealing of all joints.

Contractors interested may contact Floyd Henderson at Building 262 for additional information.

Lightships Outlast War, Hurricanes But Fall Victim To Pressing Progress

ABOARD COAST GUARD CUTTER FIREBUSH (AP) — More than a century of hurricanes, wars and ship collisions couldn't do it.

But progress—in the shape of four-legged steel towers—shortly will force Ambrose Lightship, the world's brightest, and her sister lightships into port forever.

When Lt. Comdr. Phillip D. Griebel, captain of the buoy-tending Firebush, ordered two five-ton lighted survey buoys plunked into the water near Ambrose and her southerly neighbor, Scotland Lightship, he was turning a last page in the log of the lobster-ships that mark the entrance to New York harbor.

Floating lightships first warned of obstructions in America in 1820. Since then lightships with names such as Five Fathom, Stone Horse, Frying Pan Shoals and even Cornfield and Hen and Chickens have had a history as brave and colorful as the Coast Guard itself.

3-TON ANCHOR

Ambrose, a typical lightship, is numbered WAL-613 and tugs at her almost three-ton mushroom anchor 18 miles out of New York at 40 degrees, 14 minutes and 19 seconds north latitude and 75 degrees, 48 minutes and 8 seconds west longitude, in 78 feet of water.

Manned by a crew of 16 who are aboard 14 days and ashore seven, LS Ambrose is 128 feet long and 940 tons, can make 10.7 knots on her 610-horsepower diesel engine and was built in 1950.

Ambrose's signal is three bright white flashes within 7.5 seconds, followed by a dark period of 4.9 seconds, from her 700,000 candlepower lantern visible 15 miles. During low visibility, the candlepower can be stepped up to 2,500,000. There's a 15,000-candlepower lantern for emergency purposes.

Her fog signal is a two-tone "B-O" blast every 15 seconds for three seconds.

DEEP CHANNEL

Ambrose took her name when the Ambrose deepwater ship channel was dredged into New York in 1900.

Of a fleet that went from wood to iron to steel and from sail to steam to diesel, only 19 of almost 60 are left.

Three years ago, an earlier Ambrose was run down by the freighter Green Bay in a dawn fog on June 24, 1960. It sank within minutes.

All hands were saved thanks to a quick alarm by Boatswain's Mate Bobby Pierce of Franklin, Va.

Not as fortunate were most of the 11 crewmen of LS Nantucket, off Massachusetts, on a socked-in May morning in 1934 when she was cut in two by the British liner Olympic. Four were lost and three died of injuries.

That lightship station, the farthest "outside" and the first sight of home for many returning Americans, sent history's first radio distress call in the pre-SOS days.

SINKS IN 1905

On December 10, 1905, the wireless operator rapped out "H-E-L-P" when a gale caused leak overwhelmed LS Nantucket's pumps. She sank under tow of the cutter Azalea just after her 14 men were taken aboard.

LS Vineyard, off Cuttyhunk, Martha's Vineyard, Mass., went down with all 12 men in the September 1944 hurricane, which also claimed the cutters Bedloe and Jackson with every man aboard.

A 1913 hurricane took one of the few freshwater light ships, which disappeared off Buffalo in Lake Erie. Only one inland lightship is on station today, LS Huron, off Port Huron, Mich.

Sitting ducks for submarines because of their bright lights and stationary positions, lightships battled a respectable 500 in two recorded close encounters.

BRAVE MESSAGE

LS Diamond, off Cape Hatteras, N.C., bravely fired off a wireless message on Aug. 6, 1913, when a prowling U-boat sank two nearby freighters. The sub came alongside, ordered the crew into a lifeboat, then sank the lightship.

LS Blunt's, near San Francisco, went completely unharmed in World War II when a Japanese sub sank the tanker Enido, whose crew the lightship rescued.

In the practical world, where even an experimental, crewless lightship, the electronic EXP-99, proved to be a bust, few will mourn the passing of the venerable lightship, with its monotonous and often hazardous duty.

But like sailors everywhere, lightship men who go to the new towers will always remember their first ships. They'll recall that lightships, like other Coast Guard units, more than lived up to the unofficial motto:

"The regulations only say you have to go out. There's nothing about coming back."

Declarer's technique was decidedly faulty in today's hand. At the price of a mere extra trick, he had available to him a safety play which would have assured his three no trump contract.

West opened the seven of spades which was taken by the dummy's ace. Declarer observed that he had eight top tricks in clubs, diamonds, and spades. The diamond suit of South cashed the king of diamonds and then led a small one. When East showed out, a still better line of play is available to declarer, since it will succeed against any division of the adverse diamonds. South should cash the ace of diamonds at the second trick, and continue with a small one. When West follows with a spot card, North plays the nine. If this loses to the ten or queen, then the suit must divide three-two and the long diamond will be good.

If West shows out on the first or second diamond, then the king is put up from dummy, and a small diamond is led thru East's queen toward the jack in the closed hand.

declarer's chances went glimmering.

South put up the ace of diamonds and proceeded to run the clubs. He then exited with a diamond to throw West in with the hope that the latter would lead another spade into the king-jack. West shifted to a heart however and, when East got in, a spade shift thru South completed the run.

North was quick to point out that, had declarer led a small diamond at trick two instead of the king, he would have fared better. The jack is finessed in the closed hand losing to West's queen. The ace of diamonds is cashed later and when East shows out, a finesse can be taken against the ten for the game fulfilling trick.

GREAT DAY

FOR GETTING THINGS DONE BY PHONE

So maybe the rain is coming down in sheets. Lightning flashing. Thunder booming. No matter how wretched the weather, you can keep right on using your telephone. Some years ago, bad weather might have affected your telephone service. Today, things are different. Most telephone cables are now filled with pressurized dry air. If a cable springs a leak, the force of the escaping dry air holds out moisture and keeps phones working. An alarm automatically tells repairmen the location of the break. Usually, the trouble is fixed and you never know anything was wrong. So go ahead and use your phone when the sky opens up and the rain comes down. Pressurizing telephone cables to give you stormproof dependability is another improvement made with you in mind. Our never-ending goal is to improve your telephone service and make it more valuable to you.

A Devotional For The Day

The multitude of them that believed were of one heart and of one soul. (Acts 4:32.)
PRAYER: O God our Father, we ask Thee that the oneness Thou hast with Thy Son Jesus Christ be the oneness of all those who call upon Thee in faith; through Christ Thy Son and our Redeemer, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."
(From The Upper Room)

Entitled To A Fair Share

A more critical look is being turned to one facet of our petroleum problem in Texas. Gov. John Connally recently alluded to foreign imports as one sore spot, but he put his finger on another one which is hurting our production just about as much, namely this state's declining percentage of the national output.

During the past decade our part of the national crude oil production has declined 10 percentage points, which happens to represent nearly a 25 per cent drop for us. In 1952 Texas produced 45 per cent of the total amount of domestic oil output; last year we had only 35 per cent.

This might be equitable if our reserves or productive capacity were declining. But this is not the case. Texas still has half the nation's reserve of crude oil.

Why, then, should we be content with supplying only a third of the total when we have half the reserves?

This is a good question and one that needs to be answered. To some degree our imports are tied to a program of trade rather than aid, but this cannot be said of our portion of the domestic market. We are entitled to a fair share, and if we get it, we should feel some substantial measure of relief.

Matter Of Policy

A question is raised in the recent letter of the Retail Merchants Association and Credit Bureau of Greater Big Spring on the propriety of awarding public contracts only to local bidders.

"All of the local bidders voted bonds a few years ago to build these stations," the letter noted. "They pay city taxes, county, school, and etc., just the same as every home owner or citizen of Big Spring. All of these local bidders at the present time are working with every other firm in town to try to promote Try Big Spring First; they all support the Chamber of Commerce, and right now are going to be expected to give generously to the Christmas fund, to decorate our town for the holiday season; also facing us the United Fund Drive. The local bidders use local men to complete these jobs . . . The lowest bidder gets the contract . . . but (this may) be the same as buying the cheapest suit, does it always pay?"

This is a laudable view and demonstrates a proper concern for our local interests. It involves, however, a matter of policy, namely a cut-and-dried limitation in bidding. The only practical way to make awards to local contractors everytime would be by invitational bidding. It would not be fair to ask others to submit proposals with no intention of making the award to the best bid.

On most supplies and services, public agencies make every effort to do business at home. On public capital improvements, however, experience has shown that contractors and public agencies have found it best to operate in the open with all limitations removed so that participants can compete freely on the same plans and specifications. Contractors generally favor this because they compete elsewhere as well as at home, and most have to compete elsewhere because the volume at home would not sustain them. Meanwhile, all of us are pleased when our firms do bid successfully into the job.

David Lawrence Nixon Makes A Second Appraisal

WASHINGTON — America's foreign policy is going through a critical stage. There is a growing feeling that, in order to "reduce tensions," secret diplomacy has taken over and that important concessions have been or will be made to the Soviets.

The peoples of Eastern Europe are reported to be most apprehensive about an American tendency to grant such concessions—as, for example, on the sale of wheat—without achieving anything in return.

Thus, former Vice President Nixon, in an article in this week's issue of "The Saturday Evening Post," says flatly that, while the signing of the test-ban treaty may have decreased the danger of war, "the danger of defeat without war has been substantially increased."

MR. NIXON writes that "a great New Communist offensive is being launched against the free world, an offensive without resort to war, an offensive all the more dangerous because it is so difficult to recognize and to meet effectively." He adds:

now outlines a policy that he thinks should have been followed:

"FIRST, we should have recognized the anti-Communist Nagy government promptly. This would have deprived Khrushchev of the legal argument that the Communist Kadar government had 'invited' the Soviet forces to come in.

"Second, when Khrushchev refused to withdraw his troops from Budapest, we should have broken off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

"Third, we should have permitted the organization of 'volunteers' in free countries to help the freedom fighters. This is the action the Kremlin has taken in corresponding situations.

"FOURTH, when the puppet Kadar government was set up in place of the free government, we should have recognized a government-in-exile. Such a government-in-exile by itself could not have changed the situation. But it would have been a symbolic rallying point not only for Hungarians but for people throughout Eastern Europe, who admired their courage and shared their ideals of freedom."

MR. NIXON does not reveal how much of the foregoing program he advocated in the inner councils at the time. He says about the current situation, however, that it would be "shockingly immoral for the United States to do anything directly or indirectly which would give the impression that we accept Khrushchev's price—namely, that in return for 'peaceful coexistence' we would draw a line down the middle of Europe and accept as permanent the Communist enslavement of 97 million Eastern Europeans."

THE ISSUE is hardly partisan. Though there are many Republicans who have criticized the trend of the Kennedy administration policy, there are lots of Democrats who have done the same. The fear seems to be that the Russians will persuade the State Department to agree to a "non-aggression" treaty as between the Warsaw pact countries and the NATO countries. The idea advanced is that a kind of "status quo" could then be attained. But, at the same time, those who are familiar with Eastern European affairs say it could be just a starting point for the complete abandonment of this country of the peoples in Eastern Europe who have depended so much on the moral support of the United States in their crusade for freedom.

Hal Boyle Lord's Prayer Was Turning Point

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever afterward the girl would remember this moment as the turning point in her life.

She was tall and slender and 17 years old. She had green-blue eyes and reddish gold hair, and the freckles on her fair skin shone like tiny doublets scattered by waerleaves.

She walked hesitantly into the room where a number of men were drinking cocktails and smoking.

"Say the Lord's Prayer," brusquely commanded producer Gabriel Pascal.

"OUR FATHER, who art in heaven," began the girl. For a moment, frightened, she paused, then went on. "Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done . . ."

The room became silent except for her voice. When she had finished, the men exchanged glances.

Then Pascal signed the girl, who had been living on $10 a week in a London YWCA, to her first movie role—as the Salvation Army lass in Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara."

DEBORAH KERR, now an international film star who has six times been nominated for Academy Awards, recalled the incident during a stopover on her way to Mexico to make her 28th picture, "Night of the Iguana," in which she will re-star with Richard Burton and Ava Gardner.

"I was so unnerved that I was afraid I'd forget the words of the prayer," she said.

Miss Kerr carries herself with an air of aristocratic grace and elegance that is rescued from aloofness by an easy warmth and those down-to-earth freckles, which she doesn't mind at all.

"If you have freckles, you might as well relax and enjoy them," she remarked. "There's nothing you can do about them."

THE MAJOR tensions that afflict many actresses seem to have passed Deborah by.

"But my biggest fault probably is fretting over trifles," she said. "I'm terribly indecisive — perhaps because I was born in September under the Zodiac sign of Libra."

Miss Kerr has wide-ranging interests—painting, the piano, poetry, and studying cook books. Her favorite food is "spaghetti with anything," and her greatest unachieved ambition is "to be able to cook marvelously."

Deborah is somewhat apologetic over being so distressingly normal.

"I have a happy life," she said. "Perhaps I should be a bit more of a look, but I'm afraid I'm too old to start."

She said that her philosophy stems from her aunt, who on giving birth to a child at the age of 48 and being asked what it was like, replied, "Never make heavy weather of anything, dear."

Now doesn't that sound terribly British and nautical?" asked Deborah, smiling. "But it's a good phrase to live by."

Billy Graham The Big Spring Herald

My son will graduate from college soon. How should we counsel him? If your son were graduating this year, what advice would you give him?

P. B.

We can't turn the clock back, and I know you wouldn't if you could. You have probably given your son a great deal of advice, and you have given him more: a parental example. You didn't say whether or not you are a Christian, but this is certain: your son, at graduating age, is a pretty well "jelled" as a personality. Your counsel, your discipline, your life lived before him, have all had their effect on his beliefs and ideals. One last lecture will have little effect. Any way, children are not very enthusiastic about "advice." They often "feel their way," rather than think their way into adulthood. Their eyes are alert, their reaction swift. As a parent, I would pray that God would over-rule any bad concepts of life I may have given my son. I would pray that he might see in me the reflected glory and grace of Christ, and that a strong Christian faith might guide him through the challenging years of school. I would pray that he will not be caught up in the secularism of these times, and that he will seek to serve God and man with noble and unselfish motives. I would say: "Be good, dear son; let those who will be clever."

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter is going to take swimming lessons at an indoor pool and her period will probably come on the last couple of days of the session.

Would it be advisable to continue with the lessons?—MRS. T. J. S.

To swim or not to swim during the menstrual period—that's a question that deserves some answers.

Medically, there is no harm in it. Nor, for that matter, is there harm in any physical activity or sport in which a girl or woman ordinarily engages. In fact, the girl or woman who is reasonably active has a great deal less trouble with cramps and similar troubles than do those who don't ordinarily get much exercise. But that's somewhat beside the point.

Swimming can be continued, if you like, in the ocean or lake or river.

However, in a pool, it is somewhat different, not from a health standpoint but from one of daintiness or esthetics.

Contamination of the water isn't the problem. Chlorination in the pool would take care of that. Any well-operated pool, whether at home or at a club or gymnasium

James Marlow Sacred Congress Chambers Are Camera-Shy

James Marlow is on vacation. In his absence his column will be written by Washington and New York Associated Press staffers. Today's column is by J. W. Davis of the Washington bureau.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will star again this afternoon in a popular television show, his White House news conference.

It's a show that works well for him and his administration or else, of course, he would drop it. It helps his public image, as the saying goes.

And, since the President is such a skillful politician, the question arises: Why is Congress so camera shy? Its image could stand a little polishing.

Let it be noted here that individual members of Congress don't dodge the photographers. They are always glad to be in a picture for the folks back home. Still photographers are not welcome at committee meetings.

BUT IN THE mass, it's different. There never had been an officially permitted picture of the Senate in action until last month. The House won't allow its picture to be taken except when members are being sworn in at the start of a session, or when there is a formal joint session with the Senate.

The Senate does permit television cameras to film committee proceedings, as in the case of the crime hearings starring gangster Joseph Valachi. The House won't even let television into a committee room.

There are two main reasons why the Senate and House bar photographers from their floors and galleries.

Hal Boyle Lord's Prayer Was Turning Point

NEW YORK (AP)—Ever afterward the girl would remember this moment as the turning point in her life.

She was tall and slender and 17 years old. She had green-blue eyes and reddish gold hair, and the freckles on her fair skin shone like tiny doublets scattered by waerleaves.

She walked hesitantly into the room where a number of men were drinking cocktails and smoking.

"Say the Lord's Prayer," brusquely commanded producer Gabriel Pascal.

"OUR FATHER, who art in heaven," began the girl. For a moment, frightened, she paused, then went on. "Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done . . ."

The room became silent except for her voice. When she had finished, the men exchanged glances.

Then Pascal signed the girl, who had been living on $10 a week in a London YWCA, to her first movie role—as the Salvation Army lass in Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara."

DEBORAH KERR, now an international film star who has six times been nominated for Academy Awards, recalled the incident during a stopover on her way to Mexico to make her 28th picture, "Night of the Iguana," in which she will re-star with Richard Burton and Ava Gardner.

"I was so unnerved that I was afraid I'd forget the words of the prayer," she said.

Miss Kerr carries herself with an air of aristocratic grace and elegance that is rescued from aloofness by an easy warmth and those down-to-earth freckles, which she doesn't mind at all.

"If you have freckles, you might as well relax and enjoy them," she remarked. "There's nothing you can do about them."

THE MAJOR tensions that afflict many actresses seem to have passed Deborah by.

"But my biggest fault probably is fretting over trifles," she said. "I'm terribly indecisive — perhaps because I was born in September under the Zodiac sign of Libra."

Miss Kerr has wide-ranging interests—painting, the piano, poetry, and studying cook books. Her favorite food is "spaghetti with anything," and her greatest unachieved ambition is "to be able to cook marvelously."

Deborah is somewhat apologetic over being so distressingly normal.

"I have a happy life," she said. "Perhaps I should be a bit more of a look, but I'm afraid I'm too old to start."

She said that her philosophy stems from her aunt, who on giving birth to a child at the age of 48 and being asked what it was like, replied, "Never make heavy weather of anything, dear."

Now doesn't that sound terribly British and nautical?" asked Deborah, smiling. "But it's a good phrase to live by."

in action until last month. The House won't allow its picture to be taken except when members are being sworn in at the start of a session, or when there is a formal joint session with the Senate.

The Senate does permit television cameras to film committee proceedings, as in the case of the crime hearings starring gangster Joseph Valachi. The House won't even let television into a committee room.

There are two main reasons why the Senate and House bar photographers from their floors and galleries.

FIRST, it would seriously embarrass either body to have pictures go out showing only a handful of members on the floor when an important bill is up. That happens quite regularly.

Second, there is a fear that some members would harm things up if they knew they were being photographed. That's the first reason you hear in the House with regard to televising committee hearings—and those who cite it point to Senate television shows as cause for their apprehension.

As for the picture the Senate set for in September, it was allowed because it was intended primarily for a Capitol guide book, a companion to the popular White House guide established by Jacqueline Kennedy.

IT WASN'T much of a picture as group pictures go. It was taken from a back angle and from such a distance that individual faces couldn't be made out.

Thirty-odd years ago an unofficial picture of the Senate was snapped through a side door by a magazine photographer. It didn't show much either.

There's no doubt there has been some sneaky picture taking from the public galleries, although doorknockers guard against letting anybody take cameras inside.

It was quite a jar to the tradition-minded when the Senate set its rules last month.

But Calvin Coolidge, who used to preside over the Senate as vice president, wouldn't have been surprised at all.

He once related: "I soon found that the Senate had but one fixed rule, subject to exceptions of course, which was to the effect that the Senate would do anything it wanted to whenever it wanted to do it."

To Your Good Health Question Of When To Swim Or Not To Swim

or is (or ought to be) chlorinated to prevent the passage from person to person of such itinerant bacteria as may frequently be in the nose or throat, or on the skin.

So make your decision on the basis of the facts.

I consulted a prominent swimming coach, and he said that it is customary to excuse a girl from practice or training swims while she is menstruating, but if she is on the team, and there is a competitive meet, she is allowed to compete.

A race usually lasts only a matter of minutes, so that's why he follows that policy.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a cleft lip or palate? Is it hereditary? Can a child with no family history of it have a harelip?—B. M.

It isn't always hereditary but it may be. Infections such as German measles or heavy exposure to X-ray can cause this and other deformities. Damage is most likely to occur from such causes early in pregnancy, usually about the first three months.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of a disease called Wegener's granulomatosis? Can it be treated?—MRS. S. O.

It is a rare lung disease. The cause is not clear, but it may have its origin in a special kind of allergy.

Symptoms may include fever, cough, asthma, difficulty in breathing, X-rays have a spotty appearance which may be confused with cancer of the lung, and often a biopsy is required to make a positive diagnosis.

To my knowledge, the steroid (cortisone-type) drugs are the only effective treatment.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long-self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

clearly applies to the attempt by the Kennedy Administration and its White and Negro auxiliaries to pass an omnibus Civil Rights Act meant to govern in 49 to 50 other American constituencies. Even if such an Act were passed, it would not govern.

"THAT," wrote Mr. Lippmann in 1935, "is what the founders of the Republic intended. That is precisely what they had in mind when they made the central government a government of enumerated powers, when they jealously insisted upon preserving the identity and the substantial sovereignty of the separate states. They understood the mechanism and the strategy of tyranny."

They surely did. The Founders knew, too, as Mr. Lippmann observed in 1926, that "the mystical sense of equality" is quite unrelated to Congressional or national majorities.

"WELL, DETERMINED minorities of the population in scores of cities, North and South, are today resisting what they consider a 'force to destroy the public schools,' as well as to destroy private business, private neighborhoods and personal associations. The one counterforce in Congress which has continuously resisted, and apparently will continue to resist, nationalized equalization of the races, is the Senate institution of the filibuster. In 1938, Mr. Lippmann thought well of the filibuster, and of all other checks and balances which, he wrote, 'make it difficult to abolish liberty in a gust of popular passion.'"

In all this, I concur, and I venture to go a step further. It seems to me that Congress and the entire Federal Establishment, including the Presidential Office and the whole Court system, have a duty not to pass laws, nor to give executive orders, nor to issue injunctions which the American people will find impossible to obey.

Around The Rim Difficult To Change The Merry-Go-Round

Sometimes I would like to be able to sit down and talk at length with Robert Hailey, one of our home-town products who long ago cast his lot with the United States Navy.

He has just finished an interesting assignment and now will command a ship for at least a year. Capt Hailey has been an intelligence on the naval staff in the Caribbean and South American areas. The nature of his work has given him a close-up of some of the political tides which seem to sweep in one regime and then sweep it out. So a lot of what has taken place lately was expected by him. There are some impressions I received in visiting with him last week:

THE DISPOSITION of Juan Bosch by a military junta was foreseeable but regrettable because it terminated one of the most hopeful democratic adventures in the Caribbean. When Trujillo was assassinated and Bosch came back to the Dominican Republic to be named in free elections, there was hope that the crude elements of a democratic government might be in the making.

In the end, however, Bosch's intransigence proved his undoing. An inflexible idealist, he lacked the administrative skills and an understanding of the political policies which might have given him time and his government a chance to gradually work out some reforms. He was too unbending for the military, and too liberal for some of its old line supporters. So when the chips were down, the junta took over, and the old pattern was in a fair way to repeat.

IN HONDURAS, the picture also was predictable. The military felt that its position was gradually being threatened, and when it became known that the government would police the elections with its new civil police force, the military took that to be the handwriting on the wall. It moved in.

The history of Central and Latin America has been one overthrow by revolution and of swapping one form of dictatorship for another. Frequently, the military has established civil governments, but when it was felt the government inadequate to cope with crises or was getting strong enough to pose a threat of calling its own shots, the junta staged a coup. Chile alone seems to have managed to retain a civilian dominance over the military.

THIS IS NOT TO say the juntas are altogether bad, for they represent perhaps the greatest stabilizing force. Sometimes, as in Peru, they make good on their declarations for free elections. They have in general taken a firmer stand against arch-revolutionaries, Communists and ilk, but total iron suppression also suppresses the seeds of democratic processes.

The problem is somehow to bring about orderly reform and a development of responsible civilian control. This won't be easy and it won't be early. The military frequently owes its allegiance to the ruling class, and that means that fundamentally the feudal forms of the past four hundred years won't be readily dived.

MEXICO is providing perhaps the best demonstration of orderly change from a former history of bloody revolutionary upheaval. Its system is in many respects different from ours, but the point is that the Mexican people appear to be getting a progressively firmer grasp on their destiny.

There remains the grim problem of population explosion (South America has the highest percentage gain in the world), of inflation (which makes for chaos in international trade), and of what might be called Castroism. It is there, and it will remain there by whatever name for sometime to come. It may be compared to a fizz tablet which is kept from too violent bubbling if diffused by enough water. The juntas, however, keep the water pretty muddy sometimes.

Inez Robb Baloney On The Creepnik Style Trend

The man or woman who is discouraged by the creepnik trend in women's clothes should be so lucky as to spend 10 minutes with Andrew Goodman. The uninhibited owner and president of Bergdorf-Goodman, the New York temple of haute couture, can, in that time period, pole-axe enough of fashion's sacred cows to make him a presidential possibility (by popular demand).

THE SLAUGHTER, within a 10-minute period the other day, disposed of "homosexual designers" who really don't know what a woman looks like, the best-dressed list, all fashion awards—including the Coty Award—some fashion magazines whose photographs are so arty no one can possibly figure out what the clothes look like, and the new "bare bosom" rage.

"Baloney!" snorted Goodman to all the above and more. "Baloney!" reiterated the big, iconoclastic man who inherited New York's temple of fashion from his late parents, whose extraordinary fashion knowhow is in his blood.

"TO BEGIN WITH, there are too many homosexuals making clothes on flat-tyed models," Goodman said as he leveled his ax. "Next, men like femininity and curves. And show me the woman who doesn't either want to keep her husband or to acquire a husband by getting a beau. Therefore, women want to look feminine no matter what these no-genius types design."

"Did you read that baloney about it being every woman's desire to look like a little boy? Who dreams up such stuff? Women want flattering clothes. This puss-in-boots business with hip-waders that came out of the recent Paris couture shows is insane! Monkey fur and hip boots! Who wants 'em?"

"I BELIEVE that a woman ought to look pretty," Goodman went on. (I pause here only to say that the theory that a woman should look pretty is so contrary to some current fashion dicta that Goodman can safely be labeled The New Leader.)

"There are lots of pretty and flattering clothes available," he continued. "No woman should be a slave to 'fashion' if fashion is interpreted as meaning the current but small crop of kook clothes. No matter how much or how little money a woman has in today's market, there's no excuse, no reason for a homely or badly dressed woman."

"TAKE THAT ANNUAL best-dressed list," said Goodman, letting his ax fly. "Baloney! A lot of nonsense! Who votes for the best-dressed list anyway? You can only be sure of one thing about that list—it will always be drawn from the small little clique."

"As for all these fashion awards, including the Coty Award, that supposedly recognize talent in the designing field," Goodman said, poisoning the ax again, "they're getting meaningless. They're running out of people and fumbling toward the bottom of the barrel."

As for the sudden re-emergence of the deepest, widest and most clinical cleavage in modern fashion history, Goodman again said, "Baloney! And I'll tell you why: people like subtlety. And there's nothing subtle about this new fashion. Oh, I bought one of those models in Paris, but before I had it copied for Bergdorf-Goodman, I changed the neckline upward."

"THE PROPHECY of Emilio Pucci, the Italian designer, that there will be no tops on women's clothes in another ten years, again, is baloney. There aren't that many pretty bosoms around."

"And remember one thing," Goodman cautioned as the 10 minutes ran out, "American girls are by far the world's best-dressed. Don't believe that stuff about the chic little French midinette. It's baloney!"

Holmes Alexander Past Remarks Applicable To Present

WASHINGTON, D. C. — My idea of the ideal column, so seldom achieved, is one that puts a spire of meaning upon a dust cloud of shoe-leather reporting. Among my competitors, if it's permissible to mention them, the one who does his best seems to be Joseph Alsop, now writing out of Southeast Asia. The one who does it the least, and yet does raise an edifice of philosophy from the ivory tower of experience and contemplation, appears to be the venerable Walter Lippmann. A volume of his 40-year harvest is now available. It is entitled, "The Essential Lippmann: A Political Philosophy For Liberal Democracy."

ORDINARILY, I WOULD think I could comment best on the pending Civil Rights legislation by such pieces as I wrote last month when I covered the Negro March on Washington on foot and bicycle, by continuous reporting of Congressional hearings on the bills, or by trips to the riotous scenes in cities all over the American map where race-mixing is being violently pushed by those who would gain from its acceptance and equally resisted by those who stand to lose their status, pride, businesses or their right of privacy and voluntary association.

But a night or two in study of the Lippmann opus convinced me that his past remarks, if applied to the present, contain a store of wisdom. For example, writing in 1935, Mr. Lippmann commented upon another famous "march"—Mussolini's descent upon Rome when Il Duce established a dictatorship over Italy.

NOBODY, says Mr. Lippmann, could do that in America because "there is no Rome against which an American dictator could march. He would have to march in 49 different directions at once. There is no place in the American system where sufficient power can be seized with which to dictate to the whole country."

This principle, stated 28 years ago, clearly applies to the attempt by the Kennedy Administration and its White and Negro auxiliaries to pass an omnibus Civil Rights Act meant to govern in 49 to 50 other American constituencies. Even if such an Act were passed, it would not govern.

"THAT," wrote Mr. Lippmann in 1935, "is what the founders of the Republic intended. That is precisely what they had in mind when they made the central government a government of enumerated powers, when they jealously insisted upon preserving the identity and the substantial sovereignty of the separate states. They understood the mechanism and the strategy of tyranny."

They surely did. The Founders knew, too, as Mr. Lippmann observed in 1926, that "the mystical sense of equality" is quite unrelated to Congressional or national majorities.

Waltz Of Flowers

Sponsored by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs, the "Waltz of Flowers" will be presented Oct. 26 in the National Guard Armory, Lamesa Road. The fall flower show is to be open to the public from 4 until 8:30 p.m. Class 23 of the show entitled "My Fair Lady" will be open to non-members of the Midland Council. This class of fresh plant material must be pre-registered with George B. Ross, MU 4-8802 or Mrs. A. P. Shirey, MU 2-2753. "Sound of Music," Class 24, is for all national judges in the Southern Zone, and entries must be pre-registered with Mrs. George B. Ross or Mrs. A. P. Shirey. Admission is 50 cents and no charge for children.

OES Past Matrons Club Has Regular Session

The Past Matrons Club of the Order of Eastern Star was in session Tuesday evening at the Downtown Tea Room. Hostesses to the group of 30 members were Mrs. J. D. Benson, Mrs. Russell Stringfellow and Mrs. R. J. Michael. The invocation was given by Mrs. Willard Reed.

Members of the telephone committee were Mrs. T. J. Gross, Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mrs. Rogers Heffey. Tuesday evening, Pyracantha and marigolds were featured in the Halloween motif used as table decor. The hostesses for November were announced as Mrs. Read, Mrs. Fred Eaker and Mrs. D. D. Dyer.

Amendment Made, Read To Rebekahs

In regular session, members of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge met with their noble grand, Mrs. Ray S. Dely, Tuesday evening. The first reading of the amended constitution, submitted by Mrs. L. S. Bonner, Mrs. Leon Cole and H. F. Jarrett, was read by Mrs. Jones Lamar, recording secretary. Jarrett announced that a $50 check was given by the IOOF Lodge No. 117, Mrs. W. C. Robinson received a certificate of perfection in the unwritten work, presented by Mrs. Grady Sudberry, lodge deputy.

Youngsters Wear Hobo Costumes

A hobo party was held Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. J. H. Eastham, 1015 Nolan, for members of the seven-year-old training union class of First Baptist Church. Eleven attended. Prizes were awarded and refreshments served.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Table Balancing And Curtain Tips Given

Dear Heloise: Here's an idea if you have a table or stand of any sort whose legs are not even. Just remove the cork lining from the inside of a pop bottle cap. Glue or tape these corks onto the bottom of the leg. Sometimes it is better to tack them on with carpet tacks. One can also use the cork in layers.

Dear Heloise: I used belt stiffening on the top and made pleats by whipping on the back side. Little fingers opening windows can certainly make the curtains dirty in no time. Laundering this type curtain is a breeze because they need not be ironed. I remove them from the dryer while still slightly damp and hang them right back up on the windows.

Dear Heloise: I have often read that the juice left from canned peaches, prunes and all fruits should be saved and used in gelatin desserts. . . but I have a better idea: The next time you cook prunes or apricots instead of using plain water entirely, try putting the leftover juice of canned fruits in some boiling water, adding two slices or more of lemon and a

Dear Heloise: If you have a number of boys who wear jeans, try washing, drying and ironing them all on the wrong side. Dear Heloise: Broken bits of a brick will help hold moisture in dirt. In all of my house plants I always put a few bits of brick in the bottom of the pot before adding soil when potting a plant.

Techniques Of Packing Shown

With a small, collapsible bag of zipped tapestry, Miss Carol Lane appeared last evening before wives of the Webb NCO Club to demonstrate the skill of packing a complete wardrobe compactly. Miss Lane, travel representative for Shell Oil Co., spoke earlier for members of the Future Homemakers of America and gave a special demonstration for women of the Herald staff. During her seven years of traveling west of the Mississippi, Hawaii and Alaska, she has made many previous visits to Big Spring. Her store of travel information, not limited to packing techniques only, includes points of interest in many areas, procedures in planning for travel, proper etiquette as a hotel or motel guest, tips for travel comfort and for keeping the children content, plus many more invaluable suggestions.

Fairview Club Members Plan November Event

Mrs. Jim Skalicky was hostess to members of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club who met at her home Thursday. Eight women were present and made plans for a Thanksgiving dinner Nov. 19. Further plans are to be announced at the next meeting which will be with Mrs. H. S. Hanson Oct. 15. Mrs. Frank Wilson and Mrs. John Sutherland presented a program. The theme, "Unity, Liberty and Charity," taken from the opening session of the 37th THDA meeting, was used by Mrs. Wilson for her part on the program. She discussed interesting points of the civil defense and THDA workshops. Mrs. John Sutherland attended recreation and publicity workshops and discussed ways and means of bringing club women's activities before the public.

Mrs. Skalicky gave household hints including that of lining a dish cloth with nylon net for scrubbing.

Duplicate Session Reported At Club

Seven tables made up the Tuesday afternoon duplicate session at the Big Spring Country Club. North-south places were won by Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. A. Swartz, first; Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. B. B. Badger, second; and Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Ward Hall, third. Those placing in east-west position were Mrs. Glenn Riley and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, first; Mrs. Anne Hardy and George Pike, second; and Mrs. Ty Allen and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, third.

Bride-Elect Honored At Jones Home

Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Chub Jones, 2600 Carol, a pre-nuptial shower was held in honor of Mrs. Gay Postier. Mrs. Sovoy Kay of San Antonio was the cohostess.

White felt covered the white wrought-iron refreshment table which was centered with yellow-lit roses flanked by yellow tapers. Appointments were silver. A moss green arrangement of flowers and moss green candles were used on the gift table. Some 30 guests were received by the hostesses and the honoree who was attired in a blue skirt and printed blue silk blouse. Mrs. Postier, daughter of Mrs. Walter B. Jones, 1908 Johnson, will be married to Walker Hart, son of Mrs. L. W. Hart, Eastland, Saturday at 3:30 p.m. in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

OBJECTIVES STATED

Purchasing Discussed For Desk And Derrick

George Zachariah, purchasing agent for Cosden Oil & Chemical Company and mayor of Big Spring, spoke on "Purchasing—Corporate and City" to the Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club Monday evening in the Cosden Snack Bar. Stating that since the purchasing agent is the liaison between the buyer and seller, it is his responsibility to order the materials when they are needed, have them delivered and see that what was ordered is received. To be able to do this the purchasing agent should be familiar with many things, such as paper work procedure, personnel in organizations and inventory in warehouses. He stated that the biggest hindrance was the paper work and spoke of the advantages of the blanket purchase orders and of work done on a computer basis. The speaker pointed out that in purchasing for the City of Big Spring, if the amount of the order exceeds $2,000, bids must be submitted. The lowest bid does not have to be accepted, however, if it is determined it is in the best interest of the city to accept

XYZ CANCELS

The regular Friday luncheon of the XYZ Club has been cancelled. The women will have a joint luncheon with the members of the NCO Wives Club Monday at the Settles Hotel when guests will meet the national president and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Natoli of Norristown, Penn.

Coahoma Party Honors Mrs. Allen At School

COAHOMA (SC)—Mrs. Paul Allen was honored with a pink and blue shower in the high school activity room Saturday evening. Forty guests were received and registered by Mrs. Rob Elbridge and Mrs. Jim Hodnett. Mrs. Rod Tiller, Mrs. Bill Easterling, Mrs. Paul Mosley and Mrs. Jim Spann alternated at the punch and coffee services.

A white stork, based in white chrysanthemums, formed a centerpiece for the white linen-covered table. Other hostesses were Mrs. Ralph White, Mrs. L. N. Davis, Mrs. Bill Milliken, Mrs. Robert Van Meter, Mrs. W. A. Fishback, Mrs. Harold Fraser and Mrs. Donald Webb. Mrs. Ray Sutton and children, Mike and Glenda, from Ozona, are visiting her parents, the J. J. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Robertson, Coahoma, and Jackie Robertson, Monahans, were in Iowa Park last week to attend the funeral services for Mrs. H. P. Case. Recent guests in the Rod Tiller home have been their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Scott O. Ingram from Riverside, Calif. Phyl Wynn, Coahoma High School teacher, has returned from Lubbock where he has been a patient at Methodist Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Watlington visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reed over the weekend. Mrs. Watlington is a sister of Mrs. Read. Mrs. Thelma Thomas spent the weekend in the home of her sister, Mrs. Russell Davis, and family, in Spaburg. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. # Welcome TO BIG SPRING WEBB PILOT TRAINING CLASS 65-C

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 65-C. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time... we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word... "WELCOME!"

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

SAYS COACH CLIFF PATTON

Odessa's 'Belly' Series Poses Problem For BS

Speaking before members of the Quarterback Club in the High School Cafeteria Tuesday night, coach Cliff Patton said that Big Spring's next football opponent, Odessa High, would be the toughest opponent the Steers have faced thus far.

The statement might have raised a few eyebrows, since Wichita Falls knocked off Odessa, 20-4, the week before Big Spring upset the Coyotes, 15-3.

However, Patton—who has scouted the Bronchos on several occasions this fall—said that Odessa plays the same slambang type of football that Big Spring does and will be harder to defend than Wichita Falls because the Bronchos run from 18 variations off the T.

"Odessa is just like a new club everytime it comes up to the line," was one way Patton put it.

The Big Spring coach also pointed out that the Bronchos have had two weeks in which to get ready for the Steers, are relatively free of injuries and know their techniques well.

"The fans can expect the sparks to fly when the two teams meet, if our boys perform the way we think they will," Patton told the estimated 100 persons present.

Patton singled out Gene Crawford and Billy Parks as two of the best backs Odessa has.

He said Crawford weighed only 150 pounds but he "hits like a 250-pounder. We can't afford to let him get beyond the line or he'll be gone," Patton stated.

Parks is the Broncho quarterback and Patton reminded his listeners Billy had been compared favorably by his own coach (Bradley Mills) to Ronnie Stanley, the former Port Arthur great who went on to become an outstanding player for Baylor.

Parks likes to run the ball and is a good passer. He calls 60 per cent of his plays off the "belly series" and it offers a big challenge to opposing defenses for that reason.

In Odessa's style of attack, the fullback (Crawford) is prone to carry the ball about 50 per cent of the time, the quarterback (Parks) about 25 per cent of the time and the halfbacks the other 25 per cent.

Chuck Clark, one of the Odessa halfbacks, is an excellent blocker, according to the Big Spring scout.

Junior Skippy Sprull is far and away the outstanding lineman for the Red Hooses, said Patton. The 185-pounder plays center on offense and middle linebacker on defense. He's only a junior but "he looks like someone lost his birth certificate," Patton quipped.

Monroe Morrison has been lost to the Odessa team due to a knee operation. He will be replaced by Ed Horn, a second string linebacker on defense.

Patton also reminded his listeners that the Steers had beaten Odessa only once in 30 years and only twice in history.

Head Coach Don Robbins said the Steers haven't looked good in practice this week.

It was his understanding, Robbins stated, that Odessa would assign two players on defense to Charlie West when West went down on passes. Tommy Erhardt will probably be at wingback for the Steers when the locals take the field against Odessa, Robbins stated.

"This has been proclaimed as 'Beat Odessa Week' by all the news media in town, it was announced.

Films of the Big Spring-Wichita Falls game were screened. Robbins offered the narration and had lavish words of praise for the local athletes.

All the coaches were given a standing ovation by the membership at the beginning of the 90-minute session.

Reports on the progress of athletic programs at Runnels and Goliad Junior High schools were given by Dan Lewis and Tom King at the beginning of the meeting.

Funds For Fieldhouse Voted By Board Here

Trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District Tuesday night waved the magic wand which may turn the current three-level fieldhouse used by its athletes at Memorial Stadium into a modern structure. They voted unanimously to spend a maximum of $35,000 for half the cost of a new building.

The move was only a beginning, however. There is no assurance yet that anyone will pick up the tab for the remainder of the cost. Investigation by James E. Felts, who has been looking at the matter for the board, has revealed that Howard County Junior College may accept that responsibility.

Palmer Has Problem As Playing Captain

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Captain Arnold Palmer isn't going to be timid about using Arnold Palmer in the Ryder Cup golf matches against the British, starting Friday.

"I intend to play the men who I think can win for us," the Yank leader from Latrobe, Pa., said Wednesday. "If I feel I am playing well, I won't let my modesty stand in the way. I'll pick myself. If I'm off, to the sidelines I go."

As playing captain and star of the U.S. team, Palmer is in an uncomfortable position and he admits that the job has its drawbacks.

"There is one advantage," he said. "A non-playing captain can't be as familiar with the guys as a man who has been battling it around with them all year. On the other hand, the added responsibility conceivably could affect the golf of the playing captain."

"But I'm not going to worry about it while I'm out on the course. I'll concentrate on golf and start worrying, if I have to, when I get back to the club house."

The British are led by a non-playing captain, John Faldo, a Scottish Ryder Cup veteran now living in England.

Palmer is optimistic of retaining the Americans' prospects of retaining the stylish gold pitcher they have won 11 of 14 times and never lost on a U.S. course.

"If they're all right," the captain said of his team, "there are not ten players in the world who can beat them."

The British, playing informally and often hitting optional shots, also found the course to their liking in warm, beautiful weather.

Neil Coles and Ireland's Christy O'Connell both shot 69s, Geoffrey Hunt and Brian Huggett had 70s. The others were close to par.

Palmer gave a man-by-man rundown of the American team.

"My iron shots are about as good as they've been in a long time and I'm putting well," said the man who has collected $127,555 in official winnings.

Julius Boros—"He's playing so well it scares me."

Dow Finsterwald—"Better than he is in four or five years."

Gene Littler—"Not at his best but getting to be more sound."

Ford Contest Set Saturday

More than 100 boys are awaiting the opening gun at 9:00 a.m. Saturday when the 1963 Big Spring Punt, Pass and Kick competition gets under way.

The public is invited to watch the grade school entrants in contests of punting, passing and kicking (using a kicking tee) footballs at the competition site, the old football stadium, 10th and State.

The Big Spring area competitors will be testing their football skills at the same time as thousands of other youths aged eight through 11 also will be competing in Punt, Pass and Kick programs throughout the country. Scores of the winners in each local competition will be wired to the national Punt, Pass and Kick headquarters, for comparison and determination of state and area winners. The winners in each age group in the 14 areas—the areas being set up in line with the television coverage of the 14 National Football League teams—will compete during halftime celebrations at NFL games, and eight finalists will compete at the National Football League championship game, after a trip to Washington, D. C., and Dearborn, Michigan, where the Henry Ford Centennial is being commemorated.

All-expense trips to the NFL games for area winners and their fathers and mothers, and all-expense trips to Washington and to Dearborn, and the NFL championship game for the finalists and their parents, will be provided by the Ford Division of Ford Motor Co., which co-sponsors Punt, Pass and Kick with the NFL.

In Big Spring, as in all other local competitions, first prizes of Cowboy warm-up jackets will be given winners in each of the five age groups, with football helmets and autographed footballs for second and third place winners.

"I'm sure we're going to have a great program," said John Rutherford, competition director. "I know the boys are eagerly looking forward to testing their football prowess against each other, and against other boys throughout the country. I'll bet we have some winners in the state and area elimination, too, and I would not be surprised if a Big Spring boy made that trip to Dearborn."

Competitors will punt, pass and kick (using a kicking tee) footballs. Scores will be determined by awarding a point for each foot of distance the ball travels in the air, and by subtracting a point for each foot the ball lands to the left or right of the center line. Distances will be measured to the half-foot, and half points awarded or subtracted.

Big Spring sponsors of the program are Shasta Ford Sales, Inc., and Big Spring Optimist Club.

Yearlings Win On Long Runs

SAN ANGELO — The Runnels eighth grade used a strong defense and two 90-yard runs Tuesday night to slip past a favored San Angelo Edison eighth grade, 12-0.

The first score for the Yearlings came in the first quarter as right halfback Randy Foster took a pitchout and scampered 90 yards around left end into paydirt. The extra point attempt failed.

In the third period Runnels scored again, this time with Lonnie Clanton grabbing off an Edison fumble in the air and racing back 90 yards for the TD. Again the try for extra point failed.

The Crimson Tide, with the bigger club, controlled the ball most of the game and pushed within the 10-yard line three times where they lost one fumble and were held the other two.

JOHNNY KEANE

Johnny Keane Is Named '63 Pilot Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Keane, who piloted the St. Louis Cardinals to a surprising second-place finish, was named today as National League "Manager of the Year" for 1963.

The 51-year-old Redbirds' skipper was an overwhelming choice in the annual Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters. Of the 71 ballots cast, Keane received 53 votes.

Walter Alton, manager of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, was second with 15 votes. Bobby Bragan, whose Milwaukee Braves finished sixth, got the remaining three votes. Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phils, who was "Manager of the Year" in 1962, failed to get a vote this year.

The balloting was based on the team's performance during the regular National League season.

The Cards, who weren't rated as a pennant threat in the preseason evaluation, stayed in contention for first place most of the year. They began to fade in late August and were in third place, seven games behind the Dodgers on Aug. 30.

In 1962, St. Louis was a sixth-place finisher with an 84-78 win-loss record, 17 1/2 games off the pace.

Despite the lack of a 20-game winner, Keane molded a steady pitching staff that was led by Ernie Broglio and Bob Gibson, both of whom won 18 games. The hitting was solid with Dick Groat, Bill White, Ken Boyer and Curt Flood providing most of the punch.

Stan Musial, in his last year, supplied some key hits down the stretch and young Tim McCarver proved a capable catcher in his sophomore season.

But it was Keane who made the team mesh in his second full season at the helm.

Sooners Are Picked To Defeat Bovines

By HAROLD CLAASSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Oklahoma is ranked No. 1 in the college football world and Texas is ranked No. 2.

Saturday these two rivals collide in the athletic showpiece of the Texas State Fair in Dallas. When it is all over, Oklahoma still will be No. 1, ending a string of five straight losses to the Longhorns.

This corner was correct on 39 of 52 picks a week ago for a .750 average. The season's figures are 109-42 for .722.

Oklahoma is the pick because of Jim Grisham's power running and the superb condition of the entire Sooner squad. Texas is hurt by Ernie Roy Jr., the club's star punter and hero of the Texas 9-6 triumph a year ago, out for the season with an injury. Other picks: Alabama over Florida: The Florida team has been a disappointment all season.

Navy over Southern Methodist: The Middles, with Roger Staubach at the helm, lead the nation in scoring, in passing yardage and total offense.

Wisconsin over Purdue: Off their respective victories over Notre Dame, the Badgers are a touchdown better.

Southern California over Notre Dame: The Irish are stingy on defense but don't have a consistent offense. The Trojans have Pete Beathard and Hal Besdoe.

Ohio State over Illinois: The Illini are on the way back but haven't come far enough to win two straight in the Big Ten, especially when the Ohio State line-up includes a Don Unverferth and a Dick Van Raaphorst.

Penn State over Army: The Cadets first three fullbacks are hurt and No. 4 is green.

Nebraska over Air Force: A battle of quarterbacks with Nebraska's Dennis Claridge getting the better of the Falcons' Terry Isaacson.

Arkansas over Baylor: The Porkers have lost their game of the season.

Northwestern over Minnesota: Tom Myers will bring the Wildcats home over a rugged defense led by Carl Eller. Your television thriller.

Washington over Oregon State: The Huskies, the disappointment of the Pacific Northwest, get on the right track before the home folks.

North Carolina State over South Carolina: Sammy Anderson, South Carolina co-captain and halfback, out for the season with a bad knee.

Georgia Tech over Tennessee: Billy Lothridge.

Miami over Louisiana State: The Miami Hurricanes have their pass patterns straightened out.

Skipping over the others in a hurry: Virginia Tech over George Washington, Syracuse over UCLA.

Saturday EAST: Boston College over Villanova, Calgate over Rutgers, Dartmouth over Brown, Harvard over Cornell, Holy Cross over Boston University, Delaware over Lafayette, Princeton over Pennsylvania, Columbia over Yale.

MIDWEST: Colorado over Oklahoma State, Iowa over Indiana, Kansas over Iowa State, Michigan State over Michigan, Missouri over Kansas State, Tulsa over Cincinnati, Wichita over Hardin-Simmons.

SOUTH: Auburn over Chattanooga, The Citadel over Presbyterian, Clemson over Georgia, Florida State over Wake Forest, Kentucky over Detroit, North Carolina over Maryland, Memphis State over North Texas State, Mississippi State over Tulane, Southern Mississippi over Richmond, Virginia Military over Virginia, West Virginia over William & Mary, Furman over Wakeford.

SOUTHWEST: Rice over Stanford, Texas A&M over Houston, New Mexico State over Trinity.

FAR WEST: Arizona State over West Texas State, Arizona over Texas Western, Duke over California, Montana over Idaho State, Oregon over Idaho, Fresno State over Pacific, Utah State over New Mexico, Utah over Brigham Young, Washington State over San Jose, Washington over Oregon State, Wyoming over Colorado State.

Navy's Staubach Is Back Of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Jolly Roger Staubach, the pirate-bob quarterback of Navy's unbeaten and fourth-ranked football team, is The Associated Press' Back of the Week for the second time.

Staubach, a 6-foot-2 junior, gained the distinction off his sensational performance in Navy's 26-13 victory over Michigan at Ann Arbor last Saturday when he passed for two touchdowns and ran for another.

"Staubach is a great football player," said long-time Michigan coach Bump Elliott. "I don't know when I've seen a better one."

Staubach, hero of last year's victory over Army, set an Academy record for the second straight week against Michigan. He completed 14 of 16 passes for 237 yards and ran for another 70.

The total offense mark of 307 wiped out the Academy record of 297 he had set just the week before in a 28-0 romp over William & Mary.

"Staubach is destined to be the greatest quarterback that ever played for Navy," says Middle coach Wayne Hardin. "That covers a lot of good men but Roger possesses all of their talents plus size and a tremendous running ability."

In leading the Middles to three straight victories, Staubach has completed 43 of 55 passes for an incredible 78.2 per cent, for 614 yards and three touchdowns. He also has rushed for 173 yards in 46 tries, for an average of 3.8 yards and two touchdowns. His total offense for three games is 789 yards, an average of 263 a game. Staubach, a versatile, three-sport athlete, won letters in basketball and baseball in addition to football last year as a sophomore.

He capped a brilliant year, in which he led the nation's major colleges in percentage passing with 67 completions in 93 attempts, with his nationally televised heroics against Army. He passed for two touchdowns and ran for two more in that 34-14 victory and gained his first Back of the Week distinction.

PAT WASHBURN'S Sports Round Table

I sat in the cool shade on a milk crate talking to a man whose hair was whitening with age. Not a big man, not a small man, just average, with solemn eyes that stared long moments into space. He didn't say much, and when he did speak it was only after a long pause.

His occasional smiles were wonderful. His clothes were greasy-stained and his work shoes showed wear, as he leaned comfortably back against a truck tire and talked what he knew best: Football.

"We had a great team in 1953," he was saying, without emotion. "I wasn't surprised when we went to the state finals. We'd had a good team in 1952 and we got a lot of the boys back. I thought we'd win that game for the championship but it was raining and the mud was bad and it hurt us. We were pretty disappointed when we lost that game after coming so far. But then, we were always disappointed when we lost any game."

Time has a way of blurring the past. By now some people may have forgotten CARL COLEMAN. To many of his customers he's probably just another filling station owner. But beneath those dusty blue work clothes lies a hungry man, hungry for the football that he once knew, so well. And that's something he'll probably never have again. He'll have memories, though. Carl will never forget the two years that he led the Steers to district championships and on to the state finals in 1953 against Port Neches.

Five hundred confident Big Spring boosters converged on Port Neches to watch what they thought would be a slaughter. It turned into a nightmare. Instead, they saw the Steers fall, 24-13, in a mud bath. The sportswriters had a field day. "There was no joy in Mudville Saturday," quipped one scribe colorfully. "Mighty Big Spring struck out."

The local fans had been a happy lot when they flew to the game. OBIE BRISTOW, a former Steer coach in the early 1930s, claimed he went the last five miles on an alligator. It was a long trip home.

Coaches never forget the big ones they lose. Coleman will always remember that Dec. 19. He wanted to win and he went to win and it probably never occurred to him that he might lose — but he did. That'll always hurt.

"Our kids weren't up for that game," he said recalling that Saturday. He wasn't smiling. "They found the going too tough and they buckled under. It probably was one of the worst days we had that entire season." He quit talking. There wasn't anything else to be said. He just stared into space.

His last year as head coach and athletic director was 1955. "I wasn't a very good politician and I made some enemies," he said. "So I quit — I resigned before they could fire me." He'd run a small filling station and wholesale oil business ever since.

"I've got a good business," he'll tell you. "I enjoy my work. I have a lot of friends, I'm happy. Oh sure, I wish I was coaching again. I miss it. It was a great life while I was winning. But I got tired of moving around and the pressure got pretty bad. Then, too, you can't accumulate anything coaching, but come to think of it, what can you accumulate in any job? If they offered me a job now as a coach, it would depend on where it was and how much it was whether I would take it. Oh, it might be hard to get into coaching again but it wouldn't be hard to catch up again."

Driving off, I looked back and saw Coleman leaning against a doorway. He was just staring into space. I was glad that I'd met him. He's a proud man.

Benefit For Boys' Ranch

Business Dip Forecast For Early In '64

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas said this week that Texas business may take a downward turn early next year.

The bureau said any downturn before then "would be a very unusual occurrence."

"Since Texas business is influenced by the level of national business, it seems reasonable to look for a downturn not later than early next year," the report said.

The analysis said some individual components of business "are losing much of the momentum that has carried them to their present level. The index of industrial production in Texas, compiled by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, slipped in August after reaching a record high in July. It had risen steadily for seven months, setting a new high each month. All of the loss was in manufacture of durable goods, with mining and nondurable manufactures unchanged."

Business activity declined in 12 of the 20 cities and increased in eight, the report said. Changes from July to August included: Abilene down 7 per cent, Amarillo down 9, Austin up 16, Beaumont up 4, Corpus Christi up 7, Corsicana up 3, Dallas up 3, Fort Worth down 3, Galveston down 1, Houston down 1, Laredo up 8, Lubbock up 2, Fort Arthur down 4, San Angelo down 12, San Antonio down 8, Tyler down 11, Waco down 2, and Wichita Falls down 3.

Texas Scots To Toast Heritage At Meeting

AUSTIN (AP)—The pipes will be piping Nov. 10 among the pecans and oaks of an Austin city park as an expected 1,000 Texas Scots gather to celebrate their heritage.

More than 50 of Scotland's many clans will be represented.

"This is the first all-Texas, pure-Scottish, unsponsored gathering of Scots from all clans yet held in Texas," said R. E. McDonald of Leander, Texas' chief of clan. "It is in the Scottish tradition and I feel sure there will be a great day in store for all Scots attending."

CHURCH SERVICE

There will be a traditional Scottish church service, plus bagpiping, Scottish Highland and country dancing, and Scottish games and field sports.

There will even be a contest in tossing the caber, "if we can find someone who can toss the caber," said Harry Gordon, chief of the Scots of Austin. A caber is a beam of pole weighing about 200 pounds.

Gov. John Connally made the date official by declaring Nov. 10 as "Scots of Texas Day."

"A big percentage of settlers migrating from the East in the 1820s were Scots or early Americans of Scottish descent," said Gordon. "The imprint of these pioneering Scotsmen has been left throughout the state, especially in county names such as Anderson, Armstrong, Bell, Bowie, Burnett, Cameron, Dallas, Gillespie, Hamilton, Henderson, Houston, Johnson, Lamb, McLennan, Mitchell, Montgomery, McCulloch, Taylor, Williamson, and Wilson."

An interesting sidelight of Texas history is the fact that 70 stone cutters from Aberdeen, Scotland, were brought to Texas in the 1880s to prepare the pink granite blocks from Marble Falls that make up the state Capitol.

Delegations planning to attend include the Scottish Brigade from

Peace Corps Needs 9,000 Volunteers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—At least 9,000 Peace Corps volunteers will be needed to meet requests of host country governments in 1964.

These needs include: 5,000 teachers, 2,000 community development workers, 700 health workers, 600 agricultural technicians and 700 skilled tradesmen, technicians and professional personnel.

The greatest demand is for teachers—3,000 for secondary schools, 1,000 for elementary and 500 for colleges and universities. An additional 500 volunteers are needed for the fields of physical, vocational and adult education.

In the field of health, 500 nurses of all kinds are needed. Another 200 persons can fill posts as medical, laboratory and X-ray technicians, doctors, dentists and sanitarians.

While the demand for agricultural skills covers a wide range of subjects, skills most frequently requested are agricultural extension, irrigation, farm mechanics, animal husbandry, agricultural engineering, poultry, dairying and soil conservation.

The Peace Corps is interested in volunteers who are planning to retire and also those eligible for a leave of absence from their present employment.

Applicants are advised to submit an early application if they want to be considered for either a February or June appointment. An application form may be secured from the Peace Corps, Division of Recruiting, Washington, D. C. 20525.

October's Draft Quota Is Raised

AUSTIN (AP)—State draft headquarters disclosed today another increase in the Texas quota for November.

The November draft is for 868 men, compared to 847 for October. State draft calls have been on the rise since August when 552 men were requested. State quotas in July and June were 349 and 187.

The national draft quota is 17,000 men.

More than 3,000 men in Texas will take pre-induction physical and mental examinations.

Rebel Kurds Aided In Fight By Portable Radio Station

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—On a moonless night, a group of turbaned Kurdish tribesmen in the mountain wilderness of northern Iraq huddled around a portable radio.

On the stroke of 8 p.m. a stirring Kurdish highland fling filled the air. The music died down and an announcer's voice said, "This is Denghi Kurdistan—the Voice of Kurdistan."

The music swelled into a crescendo and this time it was augmented by the crackle of rifles fired in the air and the whoops of tribesmen who jumped up to dance for joy.

The Kurds were celebrating the first broadcast of their rebel radio station.

Ibrahim Ahmed, a senior Kurdish rebel leader, greeted the radio transmitter as a major achievement of the armed struggle against the Iraqi government for establishment of an autonomous Kurdish region.

Lawyer-journalist Ahmed is the general secretary of the Kurdistan Democratic party, organizing force among the 1 1/2 to 2 million Kurds who live in Iraq.

"Now at last we have a voice that can reach all our people and the outside world in the shortest possible time," he said.

"Since the fighting started two years ago the government radio in Baghdad has been exploiting its news monopoly to falsify the situation and to convince the world that our revolt has been crushed."

The station goes on the air every evening for 90 minutes. It replies to Baghdad claims, puts out commentaries and announcements of its own and broadcasts Kurdish poetry and music.

A message by the Kurdish leader, Mullah Mustafa Barzani, broadcast the first day it went on the air, appealed to all Kurds to continue fighting for an independent Kurdistan.
