Texas Voters Will Decide Fate Of Veterans Land Program On Nov. 9

The veterans' land program, in operation since 1949, will continue this year only if Texas voters say so Nov. 9.

They decide then if the program, without funds since February, should have more money. A proposed amendment to the Texas Constitution, one of four before voters Nov. 9, would permit the Veterans' Land Board to issue and sell $150 million more in state bonds for financing the veterans' land fund. The last legislature changed the law allowing this increase, but voters must approve the constitutional change before it can go into effect. Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has endorsed the program.

GREAT STIMULANT

Sadler calls the program a great stimulant to Texas' economy, providing business for lawyers, abstract companies and real estate, thus multiplying many times the dollar value of funds invested. Fees for legal work alone totaled $300,000 last year.

The program makes money for the state, Sadler said, since the Land Board borrows at one per cent less than it lends. On $200 million currently the total limit of bonds that may be issued, that one per cent would mean a profit of $2 million for the state. These extra funds are used by the legislature as part of the general Land Office's biennial appropriation.

Opponents say it's a turn on the road to socialism. They contend it is unfair to private business enterprise.

NO COMPETITION

"Not true," says Sadler. "We are not in competition with lending agencies. We are not lending to the class of people they are. We ask five per cent down where they might ask 40 per cent."

Another criticism of the program, now available to Texas veterans with 90 days active service from Sept. 16, 1940, to March 31, 1955, is the veterans already have had eight years to apply for the benefits, which is enough.

"That's simply saying that a man who has fought for his country should have a definite time limit set on when he may use the program," Sadler said.

TO $10,000

The proposed measure also would raise from $7,500 to $10,000 the amount a veteran may borrow under the program and would raise the maximum interest rate on loans from 3 1/2 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent.

The program traces its beginnings back to the 18th century when the federal government reimbursed veterans of military service with land. The Republic of Texas adopted this custom in 1836 and granted lands to all volunteers of the armies of Texas and veterans of the more outstanding battles of the War of Independence. Texas also provided land for Confederate veterans, ineligible for pensions granted by the federal government. Texas' veterans' land program, as it is today, began after World War II, long after the public domain for land grants had been exhausted.

Lawmakers decided a liberal credit program to replace the land bounties was the answer for a soldier benefit plan. Non-veterans now may use the program but at higher interest rates.

RESELL LAND

In 1946 a constitutional amendment was adopted creating the Veterans' Land Board, and the legislature was given the authority to provide $25 million in bonds to create a fund to be used by the board to buy and resell land to veterans of World War II. In 1949 the legislature passed an act making this law.

Since then the fund has received added money twice. In 1951 an amendment was adopted increasing the fund by $75 million to a total of $100 million. In 1956, another $100 million was added, making the current total of $200 million.

DEAR LORRAINE: Place an ad in the classified section of this newspaper. I understand the results they get are right on the button!

DEAR ABBY: Our 17-year-old son bought himself a second-hand car with money he saved from working during the summer. A neighbor on our block told us that our son tears around at high speeds and is generally a reckless driver. Our son has never had a ticket (that we know about), but it is difficult to discount the report of an adult neighbor who would have nothing to gain by making up such a story. When we asked our son about this, he said he has never driven recklessly, and they must have confused him with somebody else. If he were your son, what would you do?
 TRYING TO BE FAIR

DEAR TRYING: Nothing for the moment. If your son is a reckless driver, you will hear about it again from the local police or another witness. Or you'll see it with your own eyes. There is a possibility that your neighbor is mistaken. When parents let their teen-agers know that their word is as good as an adult's, and they ARE trusted, it does more good than ten trips to the woodshed.

DEAR ABBY: I've always known it was extremely bad manners to congratulate a bride, but I never saw it in print anywhere until I read it in your column. Every time I hear someone say "congratulations" to a newly engaged girl, I think (to myself) that he or she might as well add "I didn't think you could land him!" I'm glad you used that letter in your column, Abby. I am sure that 99 out of 100 people continually make that social blunder. "ONE IN 100"

THE REMEDY

The melody is sin; and all sin originates in the heart (Matt. 15:19, 20). The sinner has a "fatty heart" (Matt. 13:15), and the Great Physician has prescribed heart surgery as the remedy.

As a surgeon uses a scalpel, so Christ and the Holy Spirit use a cutting instrument. They do not operate on the heart of man directly, but use means.

The cutting instrument is called "the sword of the Spirit," which is the word of God (Eph. 6:17). The word is a sharp cutting instrument, "piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit" (1 Cor. 2:11). It is "a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb. 4:12).

Hence, the remedy is an operation on that part of man that thinks and intends, which is the spiritual heart; and this surgical change of heart is effected by the preaching of the word, (Rom. 1:16, 10:17; Jas. 1:21).

At the mid-week service tonight, 7:30, our study is "Jacob" (Genesis 25-37). Come and be with us.

Rocky Hits Extremes Of Kennedy, Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says the "forward road" is America's path to progress and it doesn't detour through "extreme philosophies."

In a speech at Salt Lake City Tuesday night, the New York governor said President Kennedy and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona are at the political extremes; Kennedy because he "favors an all-powerful federal government dominating our lives," and Goldwater because he is "committed to withdraw from free world leadership and dig the clock on social gains and human progress."

"I have always tried to follow that forward road," Rockefeller said earlier at a news conference.

Rockefeller and Goldwater are the chief contenders for the Republican nomination to run against Kennedy in next year's presidential election, although neither man has formally announced as a candidate.

In his speech to a crowd of 1,300 at the University of Utah, Rockefeller said "America is at the crossroads."

"The big question is: which way shall we go? We should find the solution to our problems through actions true to our heritage—actions based upon our fundamental principles, not political expediency."

"The forward road takes courage and faith in our fundamental American beliefs—the federal-state system of shared sovereignty, government closest to the people, fiscal integrity, equal opportunity and the dignity and worth of free men."

Rockefeller, who is making a three-city swing through the West, flew to San Francisco Tuesday night. He holds a news conference before speaking to the League of California Cities convention. Next stop is Los Angeles, then back to New York.

The governor and his second wife, Happy, were greeted here by Republican state officials, about 150 youthful supporters and five or six sign-waving Goldwater enthusiasts.

The young Goldwater people heckled Rockefeller and his wife from the moment the couple stepped off the jet.

"Oh-oh," said Rocky to Happy when he spotted a Goldwater fan. "There's another one."

But Rockefeller kept smiling and shaking hands as he, his wife and a cordon of police officers led a stampede from the plane to a waiting limousine.

The Rockefeller sign carriers and the outnumbered Goldwater contingent tossed a few mild insults at each other and Goldwater people passed out leaflets.

Also on hand were about 50 San Francisco high school students who wanted to ask Rockefeller questions as part of a youth and politics program. They never got their chance.

Neither did adult newsmen who wanted to ask about an article in the Sign, a Catholic national magazine, that suggested he withdraw as a potential White House contender because of his divorce and remarriage.

Rockefeller married Margaretta Fittler Murphy last May 4 about 14 months after he and Mary Ted Hunter Clark Rockefeller were divorced in Reno.

Civil Rights Showdown Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A scheduled meeting of the House Judiciary Committee was postponed today, delaying a showdown over terms of a civil rights bill.

The meeting was reset for Thursday. A committee aide said today's session was canceled "by direction of the chairman," Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. He was not immediately available for comment.

The committee was to have voted today on a sweeping 10-part civil rights measure aimed at nearly every form of racial discrimination. Bipartisan supporters of the bill contended they had the votes to win approval.

Deer Hunting Accidents Kill Texan, Hurt Second

PAGOSA SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—One Texas hunter was killed and another critically wounded Tuesday in separate hunting accidents in Southern Colorado.

Beauford Ischy, 36, of Austin was shot in the back and killed. John Sanchez, 36, of El Paso accidentally shot Gail Thorsan of El Paso.

A companion of Ischy, Gene Daniels of Austin, found the body. They had been hunting together at the head of Mill Creek in rugged mountains 15 miles east of Pagosa Springs. A coroner said a bullet from a high-powered rifle passed through Ischy's body.

Thorsan was critically wounded near Ryman Creek east of Dove Creek. Sanchez and a companion said they fired at what appeared to be a deer, and it disappeared. They changed positions and Sanchez shot once more. His bullet struck Thorsan in the stomach.

City To Provide Firemen Uniforms

The city will eliminate the $100 annual fireman's clothing allowance and provide uniforms for the department.

City commissioners Tuesday approved a committee's recommendations for purchase of the uniforms. Members of the committee are A. D. Meador, fire marshal; H. V. Crocker, fire chief; Roy Anderson, assistant city manager; and two fire captains, Howard Dodd and Jim Brown.

The committee recommended pants, jackets, shirts, caps and ties be purchased from Hemphill-Wellis. Boots and belts will be purchased from Justin Boot Co.

Approval came after city manager Larry Crow said the city could save about $9 per man during the first three years. He estimated the cost per man the first year would be $130, the second and third years $71.55. Cost would be higher the first year as the city would have to outfit new employees with uniforms, Crow said.

The Hemphill-Wellis firm submitted the lowest bid on the pants—$13.50 per pair. Other bids from the firm were: jackets $19.25, caps $4.50, shirts $4.31, and ties $1.25. The committee recommended higher bids from Hemphill-Wellis on the latter items be accepted because of better tailoring or design, better matching colors or higher quality material.

Convenience in purchasing the uniforms from a single source also entered into the consideration of the bids, according to the committee report.

Not all of the bidding firms submitted samples of clothing in accordance with bid requirements. Boots from the Justin firm will cost $12 and belts will cost $1.30.

DAILY GUIDE—The next two days give one a chance to move a little more freely, particularly if attending to practical matters. Because obstacles may make the going harder, is no reason not to be up and doing with a cheerful smile.

If one drifts thoughtlessly downstream, there is the possibility of danger around the bend; always keep your attention on where you are headed, and if the current is against you that is a challenge. Make your best effort to meet it.

This should prove a fairly good day for Capricorns, Taurus and Virgos; put some constructive move in motion. Librans have a few days more to clear up details of correspondence, travel, and to express their views.

Scorpios should be getting set to make their plans public; they will soon be favored to speak out. The late hours and early tomorrow accent their charm, popularity and creativeness.

Evening hours favor artistic expression, romantic entertainment, and glamor for the ladies. Early tomorrow a pleasant glow lasts, but later hours may bring disappointment.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, SCORPIO! You have just had plenty of action and now will begin to be able to come out and express yourself better in the next few weeks.

Next February watch out for difficulties at home base, and some obstacles to your unusual ideas and self-expression. After March you can hope to gain through favors from others or make happy alliances.

Marriage is a possibility for those eligible, and improvement of marital relationships for those already married. June and December could bring some happy partnerships.

In the summer some social contacts or ties with loved ones can be complicated, the very new versus old.

A Devotional For The Day

When he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd. (Matthew 9:36.)

PRAYER: Dear Father, help us to recognize the needs of all those about us. May our deeds reflect the compassion of Thy Son, who gave His life for our redemption. In His name we ask Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Incidents Call For Alertness

Delay of both British and American convoys to West Berlin last week can hardly be written off as a misunderstanding on the part of low-level Soviet guards, as first officially suggested in Washington and London.

And if the obstructions continue, the consequence will be a serious setback in the relaxation of cold-war tensions initiated by the test-ban treaty, expanded by the wheat deal and ban on nuclear-armed satellites, and now being pursued in East-West discussions of further possible accommodations.

edly that the Berlin question is still open. It is not difficult to think of other purposes that manufactured Berlin access trouble might serve at this time. It could be intended as a caution to the new Erhard government of West Germany that Moscow expects a modification of Adenauer's policies. It could be intended as a warning to the Soviet's restive Eastern European satellites — and especially the East Germans, more of whom have been escaping to the West lately — that Khrushchev's "soft line" should not be recklessly interpreted. And it could be a counter to Red Chinese propaganda that Khrushchev is taking too weak a stance against the West.

There is really no way of knowing whether any or all of these speculations have any substance. But the incidents should serve as a reminder that so long as the German-Berlin questions go unresolved, the Soviet Union can generate a crisis at will, and the Western allies would be fatally foolish to allow the current "thaw" or detente to relax their vigilance or erode their resolve for mutual defense.

Dilemma Of Policy

Of all the cruel dilemmas of American history, a few can compare with the one we face in Latin America. There is little hope that the shaky governments of many Latin American countries can be shored up sufficiently to prevent the violent revolutions which seem certain to overtake them.

Haiti is a festering sore. Military coups have just overturned the governments in Honduras and the Dominican Republic. Revolutionary elements have made violence a daily way of life in Colombia and Venezuela. Argentina is in the throes of military dictatorship. Almost everywhere one looks the specter of violence, of seething unrest the prelude to violence, haunts the landscape.

There aren't enough American dollars to bring most of the countries of Latin America out of semi-feudalism and into the mid-Twentieth Century. The Alliance For Progress seems certain to fail because the ruling class and the military which usually support it will not or cannot make the social, economic and land reforms which appear to be essential to any real stability in those countries.

The choice is not between democracy and communism. If it were the solution would be much simpler. At the moment, at least, the choice in many countries is between the status quo and Communist-assisted revolution. There is neither the tradition of democratic rule nor the economic, social and political foundations to support it.

The melancholy conclusion emerges that if the people of Latin America are unwilling or unable to help themselves there is nothing very effective we can do. And if there is nothing we can do, we contribute to the vacuum which may suck in communism.

The Policy On Troops In Europe

WASHINGTON — A major change in American military and foreign policy is under way. It is developing gradually. The objective is to maintain allied unity and yet decrease the expense for the American people with respect to the maintenance of U. S. troops in Europe, which costs about $1 billion a year.

The first step in changing policy comes this week in the form of a test whereby an armored division of 13,000 men is airlifted from the United States to Germany within 72 hours. Theoretically this might mean that American troops could be withdrawn from Europe and dependence placed hereafter on the quick transport of divisions by air. But that's not the present purpose. It is rather to demonstrate that, if the Western Allies build up their own troop divisions, the United States could be depended upon for prompt reinforcements in an emergency. Virtually all of the American divisions on duty in Europe might then be withdrawn, but this isn't the present intention.

The main idea now is to persuade Western Europe, which has 230,000,000 population and a booming economy, that the time is at hand to begin taking over more of the military load and expense from the United States.

WHAT DOES ALL this mean in the face of the growing realization that a nuclear war means mutual suicide? First, when the treaty banning certain nuclear tests was signed recently.

Inside Republican Talk Still Vague

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans, particularly insiders, are talking a lot about the 1964 chances of their party and its would-be presidential candidates. It's all vague at this point and doesn't add up to much.

And no wonder, since New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, the two most eager candidates, haven't yet formally admitted they are.

Take the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Rep. William E. Miller of New York. He says no Republican candidate has the nomination locked up although Goldwater is ahead at the moment.

HE ADDS that if Goldwater sweeps the state primaries "I hardly think the convention could deny him the nomination." You wouldn't have to be an expert or an insider to figure that out.

Tuesday this writer listened for two hours to an extremely well-informed Republican source—who didn't want to be identified by name. The only reason for writing about this one is that he is in a position to have especially good insights.

The words symbol and vacuum are becoming part of Republicans' political jargon when they talk of Goldwater.

LAST SUNDAY night on television Sen. John G. Tower of Texas spoke of Goldwater as an ideological symbol "of the opposition to administration programs and policies."

Either the well-informed source mentioned above had listened to Tower or thought of it himself for he called Goldwater a symbol, too, quoting people as saying "he says what he thinks—he is hard on communism."

He also said Goldwater is filling a vacuum in Republican politics—and that's one reason his stock is going up—because Rockefeller is the only other one actively looking for the nomination.

THE WORD vacuum also popped up on television Sunday night when Rep. Stanley Tupper, a Maine Republican, said: "There is a vacuum. Gov. Rockefeller's campaign has not started yet. And I think once it does you are going to find that the man Goldwater is going to be separated from the issues he has espoused over the years."

What about former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's chances for the nomination?

The same source didn't rule out Nixon's chances but did say that, after the loss of the 1960 election, the former vice president would probably hurt his chances in 1964 if he took any overt action to seek the nomination.

Nor did this source think Nixon or former President Eisenhower would have much influence in picking next year's nominee although there are probably some Republicans who would disagree with him about Eisenhower's influence.

Newsmen Meet Interesting Folks

By CHARLES T. BURNS (Substituting for Hal Boyle) BOSTON (AP)—When you're in the news business, a lot of people on learning how you make a living exclaim something like: "Boy, you get to meet a lot of interesting people, don't you?"

Well, let's see. There was the time in Newark, N.J. It was our custom to eat in a certain downtown restaurant. One night, a friend pointed across the room and said "there's Dutch Schultz." It could just as well have been some German braumeister to us, but that name came up recently during the testimony of gangland informer Joseph Valachi.

WITHIN a couple of weeks Schultz, or more accurately, Arthur Flegenheimer, was forced a lot of lead, right in that restaurant.

Seems you do run into all kinds, at that. Again, maybe this is an oddment worth recalling. In 1933, when former President Calvin Coolidge died, it was the custom and probably still is, to sound minute guns all day at military installations around the world on the presidential funeral day.

And, at formal retreat, to let go with a volley of 48 rounds: it must be 50 now since it is meant to signify the sorrow of all the states. Anyhow, at Schofield Barracks in the now-state of Hawaii, the volley went off at retreat per regulations. AND, WITH the sound of the last shot, the rope holding the flag broke and the national banner fluttered to the ground. Any significance comes from the fact that Schofield Barracks was the last place under the American flag to perform the ritual that day.

Then there was the woman who took a rather morbid view of old age. Upon her 111th birthday, a reporter asked the usual question about how she had lived so long.

"I'm the woman God forgot," was the devastating reply. THERE ARE times in a newsmen's career when he's out of work. And before public relations came to be a big thing, the only way to get a job was to travel around to the newspapers. During one such hiatus, there was an eyebrow lifting incident in a scrubby little restaurant in Nevada.

The man who had given the out-of-work journalist a lift in a ranch truck through the mountains insisted on buying lunch for his traveling guest, himself, and his son.

The driver had repeatedly told how you get three times the good you dispense. Came lunch at 35 cents each — total $1.05.

Then the philosophical, but chance-taking benefactor, threw a nickel into the slot machine. Out came the jackpot — total $3.15. Three times the lunch expense, to the penny.

Enough is fine and too much can be disastrous, and drugs are, like fire, a powerful force. The dividing line between "enough" and "too much" is difficult to define. So don't ever change any drug dosage without your doctor's sanction. I wouldn't think of telling my plumber how to do his job, or my TV repairman, or any of the people upon whom I rely for good results. I expect them to know their jobs. They generally do. Well, your doctor knows his job, too!

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

first winter in New England. We must respect the uses of fire. We must also constantly remind ourselves of its dangers — the child playing with matches or fooling with a bonfire, the heater that causes carbon monoxide, the peril of forest fires, a house aflame. Fire can kill you! Fire can keep us alive.

Barbiturates — and countless other drugs — can do likewise. Don't let them harm you. Use them intelligently! Phenobarbital (in your case) calms the system and relieves tension. This in turn causes the heart rate to slow down, or to eliminate extra beats. All to the good. That helps.

But should you increase the dose? Positively not. Just because a furnace makes the house comfortable, you should not increase its heat until it explodes. I may sound elementary about this, but the principle is

Around The Rim

So Gallantly Streaming

I get goose-bumpy ever now and then. One of the things which always sends a thrill tingling up and down my spine is the flag raising ceremony, particularly when it is done with a great deal of pomp—such as at Southwest Conference football games.

FEW DO IT as well as Texas Tech, for the dramatic entrance of the Red Raider band, about 125 strong from each of the entrance ramps, always sets the stage. Out comes the drum section in single file, beating time. On marches the military color guard, usually pointing toward an honor column if special presentations are to be made that evening. At a signal, the band prances on the field to the staccato double-time beat.

Then there is a moment of prayer, and stillness falls over the stadium as lights dim to darkness. "KAPOW!" barks the cannon at the southeast corner.

Across the field drifts wisps of white gunsmoke. And then, as if taken on the air, too, the music wells from the throat of the mighty band.

"OH CAN YOU SEE... by the dawn's early light. . . No one is singing it, but the words well up inside. . . What so proudly we hail'd, at the twilight's last gleaming. . . The darkness is penetrated by a shaft of light at the north slope of the stadium. The color guard has fixed the Stars and Stripes to the lanyard and the line is pulled.

WHOSE BROAD stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight. . . The brass section roars out a vibrant chorus. The bass drum punctuates the beat.

"O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?" The flag streams from the cradle of hands; now she rises briskly above the slope.

"AND THE ROCKET'S red glare, and bombs bursting in air. . . The breeze catches her, and out flutter the stripes dancing exuberantly on the air. She is free and on her own, waving proudly in the light. The trumpets trill in a crisp crescendo.

Gave proof through the night, that our flag was still there. . . Old Glory dances from the top of the mast, the union waving steadily, the stripes dipping, retracting, leaping out and back. The colors are vivid and yet they seem almost transparent.

"OH, SAY DOES that Star Spangled Banner still wave, O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?"

Two hundred and 50 instruments swell in unison, and the drums roll away until suddenly it is over as though a switch had been turned. The lights are turned on. The goose bumps melt away. Exciting though it may be, somehow, whatever happens on the field never quickens the blood as does the sight of the Star Spangled Banner rising in majesty to full staff.

The Bunny Ideal Is Coming

Women, since Eve, have been eternally unsatisfactory to man. If only he had been consulted in her creation, surely a more satisfactory product—to man—would have resulted.

Through the centuries, man has never faltered in his dream of the ideal woman, a bunny in black lingerie whose whole vocabulary consists of the word "yes." Or, if the bunny can be taught to nod her head affirmatively, conversation could be eliminated altogether.

SOMETHING TELLS me — my bones, I guess — that man is about to achieve this bunny ideal. And that spells the doom or end of woman as she is now constituted. The Model-T woman as she has existed since the Garden is about to be replaced by a newer, younger, snappier and more silent model, satisfaction guaranteed or a new bunny on demand.

The signs and portents are all around that science will soon achieve this miracle. Scientists are getting closer and closer to the basic ingredients of life, to its very source and chemical structure. A nation whose laboratories can produce a hydrogen bomb and electrically heated sex will ultimately produce the dream bunny. The difficult these laboratories achieve at once, the impossible only takes a little longer.

AS THE BUNNY wish comes closer to fulfillment, it is noticeable that we are getting shorter and shorter shrift from the opposite sex. An old acquaintance, New York State Supreme Court Justice Irving H. Saypol, has just read the riot act to women lawyers who appear in his court in hats.

The Good Book adjures women to come into church with their heads covered. But apparently the law throws the book at them if they come into court so covered.

HIS HONOR has objected to the brown suede hat worn by lawyer Enid K. Gerling. The offending hat, as pictured in the New York newspapers, seemed quite appropriate and chic to me. So did the royal blue velvet turban worn by lawyer Gertrude Gottlieb.

However, the judge thundered that such hats tended "to courtroom distraction and perversion" and were something "no self-respecting judge can tolerate." So, from now on the ladies will probably have to go into court in their hair. But then, women's hats have always been anathema to men. Most men are forced to make jokes about them rather than thunder over them. Judge Saypol is simply in a lucky spot.

ABOUT THE SAME time Judge Saypol was decreeing feminine hats, Henry A. Barnes, traffic commissioner of New York, was once more attacking women drivers. This is the commissioner's tried-and-true tactic whenever he fails to solve another traffic problem. No one is going to miss the Model-T woman as much as Commissioner Barnes when the bunny wish is fulfilled and he can't becloud his frustrations by blaming my sex.

IT IS OBVIOUS that the American woman has had it. The old, unreliable Model-T must go. Ring in the bunny! Man is only going to miss the old model when, like Commissioner Barnes, he has to find a scapegoat for all the slings and arrows of outrageous fate that beset him.

A Cuba—Or A China?

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — A lot depends upon vice presidents. The U.S.A. was lucky that Franklin Roosevelt, dying in 1945, had a tough if underrated Harry Truman as a backup man. Brazil was most unlucky that President Janio Quadros, pulling a grandstand resignation in 1961, had in Joao Goulart a Vice President with little or no capacity to rule, or learn to rule, a major nation.

PRESIDENT GOULART, in his late 40's, is a slight, unimpressive person, lame in one leg, wealthy in his own right as a rancher, given to a violent temper, but so weak in political conviction that he has followed a course of least resistance.

The easiest thing for Goulart, upon succeeding to the presidency of Brazil, was to cast himself in the image of a much stronger man, the Mussolini-modeled dictator Vargas who finally killed himself in 1954 as the bravest way out of a hopeless financial-political entanglement. Goulart fancies himself a resurrected Vargas who, at his peak, was a real political powerhouse. Goulart is anything but that.

THE RATE OF inflation in Brazil is almost too incredible to put in print. Using the wholesale price index for 1948 as 100, the comparable index in August, 1962, was 1400. Here at the end of 1963 the inflationary spiral is 80 per cent higher than last year.

Goulart, in his insecurity, keeps changing his cabinet members and military appointees. By threatening a few months ago to buy wheat from Russia, he got a large shipment from the U.S.A. Under Public Law 480, the wheat is sold for local currency, and the currency spent in public works. Thus here in Brazil, the American policy seems to be upholding an anti-American Administration, and this is true—but only partially true.

FOR EXAMPLE, the Alliance for Progress pact, calling for the U.S.A. to spend about $11 billion for a Latin American Ten-Year Plan, calls for certain performance tests. Brazil, and all Latin countries within the Alliance, are supposed to make agrarian, urban, tax and electoral reforms before they get the Yankee dollar. Goulart's government has flunked just about all of the performance tests—and gets little or no Alliance money, although it gets other forms of American aid, as well as Food for Peace.

BUT THE U.S. aid-dispensers here in Rio under Ambassador Lincoln Gordon are unabashed do-gooders. They see the people of this huge, helpless nation in conditions of poverty almost as unbelievable as the inflation. Unable to do much with Goulart's central government, the U.S. aiders have turned to distressed areas in the 22 states and, in about half of these, have poured the aid through the governors and regional administrators. Cheap housing, new schools and other welfare projects are going ahead in spite of Goulart.

IN A NATION like Brazil, where "democracy" is little more than a slogan, where legislative seats can be bought for a few thousand dollars, and where the Cold War is a continuous power struggle for political ascendancy, there is need for American policy to be downright ruthless. A time soon may come to ask ourselves whether it is in our self-interest to have Goulart stagger on till the end of his term in 1965—or whether our interests would be better served if Goulart were "retired" ahead of schedule and a new President chosen by Congress, as the Brazilian Constitution requires.

THERE ISN'T MUCH doubt that Brazil has a historical preference for the Constitutional process, and has a great capacity to survive the grossest kind of mis-government. But when his is said, and even when a preference for constitutional succession is admitted, the chances have to be estimated as no better than even that Goulart go the course.

To Your Good Health

Use Barbiturates With Caution

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: How does phenobarbital affect the heart? Could it be harmful if I increased the dosage over the amount prescribed? I am enclosing 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart." Thank you—MRS. A.H. I'm well aware of several recent national magazine articles pointing out the dangers of barbiturates, of which phenobarbital is, of course, one. I wish there were some magic method of impressing on people the importance of having a healthy respect for barbiturates. But there isn't any such way. It's like fire. In cold climates, without fire to heat our houses, and elsewhere to cook our food and run trains and planes and blast furnaces, we'd be in such a pickle that in the course of one winter we'd be dying off as fast as the Pilgrims did in that first winter in New England. We must respect the uses of fire. We must also constantly remind ourselves of its dangers — the child playing with matches or fooling with a bonfire, the heater that causes carbon monoxide, the peril of forest fires, a house aflame. A report on the post mortem examination of the body of Isaac Smith, Big Spring Negro, who died Sept. 12, in John Sealy Hospital, Galveston, has been received. The autopsy showed signs of internal bleeding but does not state definitely the immediate cause of death.

Smith, shot in the face with a shotgun, had been taken to the Galveston hospital for special surgery, after he had been given treatment here for several days. He had responded well to the surgery and was believed recovering, when suddenly he died. The hospital asked permission to do the autopsy and Walter Grice, in his capacity as coroner, granted the permit. Grice turned the report over to the office of Gil Jones, district attorney Jones is out of town and will probably be back in his office Thursday or Friday.

Meantime no change has been made in the complaint on file against Eddie Lee White, another Negro, who is accused of firing the shotgun at Smith. He is at liberty on bond. White is charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Cooper Is No Soft Touch, Says King

Any doubt that Abilene Cooper will be a soft touch for Big Spring Friday night has been erased by Tom King, who has been scouting the Cougars for the Steers. King, who is the Goliad Junior High mentor here, warns the Longhorns that Cooper has the type of ball club that is capable of toppling the locals "if you are not ready."

King conceded that Cooper's record is not overly impressive but, he added, the Cougars have played only one bad game (against Midland Lee) and then were hamstringing by injuries to key personnel.

Cooper last to Lee, 42-13, but came back last week to play a better game against Odessa High than did Big Spring. Cooper held Odessa scoreless for a half and could have had a touch-down lead with a little luck.

King says the Cougars have uniform size, good speed and "like to play tough." Cooper, King contends, is capable of beating any foe on a given night and that includes San Angelo of cross-town rival Abilene High.

The Cougar backfield averages out to 172 pounds a man, their line 190. They are well drilled and fundamentally sound and they boast several three-year lettermen.

Back from last year are six defensive starters and as many who started on offense. All block and tackle very well.

"Against Midland Lee, Cooper yielded the ball five times inside the Cougar 20. In the game with Odessa High, Cooper was down inside Odessa's two-yard line at a time the score was 0-0, but couldn't get across the double stripe.

Outstanding players for Cooper include Bobby McCraw, a fine passer and excellent runner; Bill McKinnon, a splendid ball carrier—tough, agile and possessing wonderful balance; Steve Sneed, McCraw's favorite passing target and a good blocker; and Bill Beard, a tackle who likes the rough going.

Cooper opened the season by losing to Brownwood but fought back to upset Waco High the following week, 23-16. The Cougars then mauld Sweetwater, 35-8, with a great show of power.

The Steers went through a rugged, all-out drill Tuesday, remaining on the field until about dark.

Charley West is favoring a knee injury suffered in the Odessa game. Outside of that, the Longhorns are in good shape for the Cougar outing.

Palmer, Nicklaus Face Stern Test

PARIS (AP)—It's America's "Palmer and Nicklaus," said Antonio Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus against the field Thursday when top golfers of 33 nations tee off over one of Louis XIV's old cow pastures in the 11th annual Canada Cup and International Trophy golf matches.

"I just don't see how anyone can beat Arnie and Jack on this course," said left-hander Bob Charles of New Zealand, the British Open champion. "There is no penalty for a wild shot. They can just stand up there and crank it."

Gary Player of South Africa agreed.

"Take any course in the world and you have to go with Palmer and Nicklaus," said Antonio Cerda of Mexico.

It seems just a question of which one, Palmer or Nicklaus, wins the individual title, "put in" all Al Baiding of Canada.

"They've proved they're the best—who's going to beat them?"

Thus the odds swung heavily in favor of Palmer, all-time leading money winner, and Nicklaus, at 23 winner of the U.S. Masters, Open and PGA crowns, in the annual international competition among handicapped two-man teams from all parts of the world.

Contest Champs Announced Here

The Ford Motor Company's "Punt, Pass, and Kick" contest for the Big Spring area was held Oct. 18 in the old football stadium.

The three top performances in each of four age groups were sent in to a state selection board which will pick the top boys to compete during a half-time of a Dallas Cowboys game. These boys will be eligible to go on to area competition (five states) and then the national competition which will take place in Washington, D.C., Dec. 29.

The winners in each age division were picked on a score which they amassed by showing both distance and accuracy in passing, punting, and place kicking a football.

The winners by age groups in the Big Spring area:

City Commission OK's Muny Course Project

By BUCK SITTON
City Commissioners Tuesday approved a parks and recreation board recommendation for the expenditure of not more than $22,000 for improvements to the golf course.

Improvements would include an irrigating system for the back nine holes on the course.

Approval was subject to a stipulation that the city provide regular status reports on progress of work to guarantee money is spent only on capital investments.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

JERRY GREEN, golf pro at the Big Spring Country Club, said "Every time you go out to get a little better. It may be but you're going to get better. That's for sure."

HORTON SMITH, winner of the first Master's Tournament, telling the secrets of real winning golf:

"They could call it putting 'stead of golf. You can clear the rough on a drive, pitch out of trouble through the air, but there's only one way to get off a green: you've got to roll the ball through tricks and troubles. Once you've committed yourself to a putt, go through with it. Your nerves won't stand too much indecision."

JIMMY CANNON, sports columnist, analyzing the New York Mets:

"The players they sold the Mets were the ones they should have advised to get out and get jobs in other fields. They ended up in last place, 15 games under Houston. They had no chance with the other teams. But they started even with Houston and had the same opportunities. . . . While Houston concentrated on kids the Mets accumulated such used up guys as Gil Hodges, Jim Piersall, Gene Woodling, Gus Bell, Charlie Neal, and Richie Ashburn. Not one of them is with them now. That was the original mistake and it murdered them."

Texas Likely To Rip Rice

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Chancellor Litchfield called a press conference last week and formally turned the unbeaten Pittsburgh football team back over to Coach John Michelosen.

It is just the Panthers hard luck that this weekend they are the guests of Navy, where Coach Wayne Hardin has turned the offense over to Roger Staubach, the Middie's scrambling quarterback. He'll find a way of putting the first defeat on the Pitt record.

A week ago, there were 42 correct picks out of 50 decisions for an .840 average. That lifted the season's figures to .885-65 for .740.

Here are the other winners this weekend:

Texas over Rice: The Longhorns, still unbeaten after mastering two traditional rivals on successive weekends, get revenge for last year's 14-14 tie with the Owls.

Wisconsin over Ohio State: Harold Brandt's passing will remind the Buckeyes of last week's massacre by Southern California.

Illinois over UCLA: The Illini youngsters have played the more rugged schedule and have the better record. This is a Friday night affair.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: Vanderbilt has scored only three touchdowns in five games.

Alabama over Houston: Joe Namath and Mike Fracchia will produce a lopsided Alabama triumph.

Oklahoma over Kansas State: Jim Grisham to romp through the tissue-thin Kansas State line.

Northwestern over Michigan State: The home field gives Tom Myers and his Northwest-

City Commission OK's Muny Course Project

"We don't want to spend bond money on routine maintenance work—only for capital investments," said Mayor George J. Zachariah.

Commissioners also authorized the city to purchase used steel pipes for golf course improvements, and they authorized Roy Hester, water plant superintendent, and the city engineering department to proceed with repairs to an old concrete reservoir in the city park area.

Roy Anderson assistant city manager, said used pipe could be purchased at a considerably less sum than new pipe. He said eight-inch pipe could be laid along the highest crest of the back nine. Circular four-inch pipes would connect with the main line.

Water in the old concrete reservoir could be used on the golf course and elsewhere in the park, he pointed out.

Approval of this latest recommendation by the parks board brings to $57,483 the total amount of funds approved for expenditure on parks improvements, according to parks director Johnny Johansen.

Biggest approved project is the city golf course. Approved improvements there include tee boxes, fairways, fertilizer for the fairways, repairs to the reservoir and a sprinkling system for the back nine.

A proposed expense of $5,000 for a new clubhouse and $900 for a new greens aerifier and a verticut machine was excluded from improvements at the golf course.

Improvements at Moss Creek Lake are estimated at $12,000. This would include mercury vapor lights, two large community pavilions for use by legitimate social organizations, two fishing docks, a bathroom, two toilets near the concession stand and trees around the lake.

Johansen said improvements to the main city park, estimated to cost $7,900, include repair of tennis courts, sprinkler system for Area No. 1 and an insecticide sprayer.

Birdwell Park improvements and facilities, including two 20x40 pavilions, additional equipment, and restrooms, would cost an estimated $6,220. The park is located at 1011 Street south of the YMCA.

Westside Park improvements call for a sprinkler system, bermuda grass, 20 trees, three tables and benches and three picnic cookers. The park is in the 900 block of West Fourth Street from Fourth to Fifth. Estimated cost is $1,482.20.

Proposed improvements at Hillcrest Park, at the intersection of Elgin and Hill Streets on the East Side, include a sprinkler system, concrete curbing, a chain link fence, playground equipment, pavilion, 12 Arizona cypress trees and 20 mulberry trees. Johansen estimated cost at $3,005.

Cost of improvements at Jefferson Street Park, located in the 200 block of Jefferson Street, is estimated at $977. This would provide 12 shade trees, picnic tables and benches two picnic cookers and playground equipment, Johansen said.

The park director said plans for Northside Park (East) call for the expenditure of $57.20 for one pavilion, three picnic tables with benches and three picnic cookers. The park is bordered by Main and Runnels and N. 10th and N. Ninth Streets.

Johansen said costs for other approved park improvements are: Washington Boulevard (an island dividing the street), $926; Mountain Park Triangle (off Cedar Road Circle on Mountain Park Drive), $475; and Roadside Park (at the north end of US 80, $125).

Vandalism, a drainage problem, and cost of a combination recreation hall and playground were cited as reasons for further study of improvements at Northside Park (West) before final approval is given.

Proposed improvements there include: drainage $500, sprinkler system $330, chain link fence $3,239, combination recreation hall and apartment $5,000, playground equipment $602, and repair of existing pavilion $250. Total cost is estimated at $10,011.

'Big Lift' Still On Target Despite Fog In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Fog today forced diversion of some of Exercise Big Lift's huge transports, but U.S. military officials were confident they still could complete the largest long-range airlift in U.S. history by the deadline Thursday night.

Rhein - Main air base near Frankfurt, destination of most of the Texas-to-West Germany fleet, closed shortly before dawn as visibility dropped to less than half a mile.

Two four-engine C135s were rerouted to Ramstein, about 60 miles southwest of Frankfurt, and one was ordered to land at Mildenhall Royal Air Force base in England with 73 soldiers.

NOT DISRUPTED
"Right now the situation is very, very flexible," a spokesman said. "But the schedule has not been disrupted by any appreciable amount, and we are confident that the 72-hour overall deadline will not have to be changed."

The planes began ferrying the men of the U.S. 2nd Armored Division — the old "Hell on Wheels" division — from the United States Tuesday in a demonstration of the mobility of America's strength.

The airlift aroused fears in West Germany that it was the prelude to a reduction of U.S. troops in Europe and that the United States would rely instead on fast airlifts to trouble spots.

NO INTENTION
To quiet such fears, a high-ranking U.S. official said in Washington Tuesday night that Secretary of State Dean Rusk would announce during a visit to West Germany over the weekend that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops in Europe.

French bases, along with 50.7 tons of equipment.

A spokesman said the Frankfurt base was in a fog pocket, and conditions at other bases in West Germany were good.

The first C135 to land in France, at Chambley, also ran into morning fog and landed on instruments. It was only six minutes behind schedule.

PICK UP TODAY
The spokesman said the troops diverted to England would be picked up today.

When the $20-million air bridge is completed, more than 15,000 will have crossed the Atlantic, along with a composite air-strike force of 116 jet fighters and other planes from Loring and Dow Air Force bases in Maine.

As fast as they landed, the troops rushed to staging areas and manned tanks, self-propelled artillery, troop carriers, weapons, carriers, jeeps and other tools of modern warfare.

INSTANT USE
The equipment, stockpiled during the Berlin crisis, has been kept in operative shape for instant use.

When the lift is completed, the 2nd Armored will face the 3rd Armored in a mock nuclear war.

2nd Armored's Texas Departure Rolls Well

BERGSTROM AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — Exercise Big Lift moved smoothly and steadily further ahead of schedule today in dispatching troop-laden transport planes to Europe.

Good weather helped speed the departure of men in the 2nd Armored Division from this air base outside Austin in big C135 jets, flying non-stop to Germany in 10 1/2 hours.

As planned in advance, hourly takeoffs here were suspended at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. But the next plane, instead of leaving at 4 a. m. as scheduled, surged aloft at 2:05 a. m.—and another left the ground at 2:41 a. m. Officers directing operations said the discovery that transports could get away faster than one every 60 minutes promised to put the exercise at least two hours ahead of time.

LITTLE TO DO
As plane after plane winged toward Europe from four Texas bases ferrying the 16,000 troops involved in the gigantic lift, the soldier behind had little to do but wait and chat.

The last 2nd Armored Division troops won't get away until early Thursday. Col. Robert Oliver, mission commander for the Military Air Transport Service, said: "We're keeping our fingers crossed because things are going so smoothly."

Only two difficulties involving the aircraft had been reported. A C124 developed propeller trouble and landed at England Air Force Base, La. Then its backup plane also developed trouble. The 70 soldiers aboard the first plane had to wait at the Louisiana base until it was repaired. But waiting is something any GI must learn.

Enlisted Men Left Behind Get Arduous Loading Job

CONNALLY AIR BASE (AP)—Some enlisted men are being left behind as the 2nd Armored Division flies to Germany in the massive Exercise Big Lift, and seeing the others off has entailed backbreaking labor for the stay-at-homes.

Remaining at Ft. Hood, near here in Central Texas, are the soldiers due Army discharges before the division finishes maneuvers in Europe and starts home Nov. 15.

To these men fell the chore of loading baggage, equipment and rations into the 76 big transport planes which had taken off from Connally Air Force Base outside Waco by early today.

Sgt. James C. Swafford Jr., of Pikeville, Tenn., headed a nine-man detail which loaded eight aircraft between 4 and 11 p. m. yesterday. Six of those ships were giant C124s carrying up to 80 passengers.

"The duffel bags for each man weigh about 50 pounds and the cartons of C rations weigh about 37 pounds," said Swafford, "so we're pretty bushed by the time we load one of those big ones."

"They have a loadmaster at each plane, a sergeant who tells us where to stack everything, but after the second or third plane we knew where it goes better than they do."

"Yeah, this job wouldn't be so hard if we could load these planes the way they should be," put in Bob Bonesio, a specialist 4th class from Cape Canaveral, Fla. "But each aircraft commander wants it done different."

"The next to last one we loaded we had to do it all over again because if we hadn't, that guy would have never gotten that plane's nose off the ground."

The loaders were nearly exhausted by the time they finished. Several appeared so tired they barely were able to stand. They had been on this job since 10:30 p. m. Monday, working eight hours and then getting eight hours off.

DESPITE AIRLIFT

Rusk To Affirm German Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will publicly announce in West Germany late this week that the United States has no intention of withdrawing any of its 250,000 troops now in Europe.

The imminent Rusk statement, disclosed Tuesday night by a high-ranking U.S. official, is designed to dispel German concern that the current airlift of 14,500 American fighting men from Texas foreshadows some future troop withdrawal.

German suspicions were aroused by a speech Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric made last Saturday in Chicago. The Big Lift exercise, he said, may enable the United States "to make some shifts in the form of our military presence" overseas. As a result, Gilpatric said, the United States "should be able to make useful reductions in its heavy overseas expenditures."

Later it was learned the State Department had not agreed with that part of Gilpatric's speech but that its objections were overruled by the White House and State Department officials insisted there is no immediate plan for troop reductions. Rusk's expected statement will be a reply to a German request for clarification of Gilpatric's remarks.

The announced purpose of Rusk's trip is to attend a meeting of American ambassadors stationed in Europe and to be on hand Sunday in Frankfurt for the dedication of a memorial fountain to George C. Marshall, the late secretary of state who charted the Marshall Plan for postwar European recovery.

Last week State Department press officer Robert McCloskey told a news conference that Rusk would "undoubtedly pay courtesy calls" on Ludwig Erhard, Germany's new chancellor; Konrad Adenauer, the former chancellor; and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. McCloskey said Rusk "does not plan any extended discussions with the German government."

In disclosing Rusk's intentions Tuesday night, the high-ranking official explained that the idea of airlifting thousands of men was conceived in 1961 when the United States was suddenly confronted with the danger of a hot war on two fronts: Berlin and Southeast Asia. Now that the lift is a reality, the Defense Department naturally has an eye on its dollar-saving possibilities.

Sandridge. After reading the calendar of prayer, Mrs. Dalton Johnson offered the prayer for all missionaries having birthdays. Concluding the session, refreshments were served to nine members.

Hunter Tells Club About Problems Of Africans

John I. Moore, geologist and independent oil operator of this area, gave Rotarians a slide picture view of big-game hunting in Africa Tuesday. He was introduced by Dave Duncan, who was in charge of the program. Moore is from San Antonio and is among the top 100 big game hunters in the world. Moore said big game is fast playing out in Africa and that ravages of hunger among natives who were killing off the wildlife, and of other conditions, were taking the toll of game. He also said the backward nations recently gained "freedom" was not to the best interest of the country, because they had no training in governing themselves and in protecting their resources.

City Releases Paving Liens

Commissioners Tuesday approved resolutions releasing paving assessments liens against property of three Big Spring home owners. An assessment against the west 20 feet of Lot 11, Block 2 of the North McEwen Addition was released after commissioners determined the assessment was erroneous. The property is owned by Donnie F. Tubb. The street in front of the property has never been paved. Assessments against property of Gertrude McPherson at Lot 6, Block 6, Amended Porter Addition, and property of D. W. Powell at Lots 1 and 2, Block 1, Highland Addition, were released.

The city attorney said suits filed by the city against the two property owners have been cleared up. Commissioners also approved three ordinances on second reading. Approved was a request by Huey Mitchell for an premises consumption at Mitchell's Cafe, 1009 Lamesa Drive; and two requests by Tom and Garner McAdams for a zone change from I-1 (one family residential) to R (retail) on two three-acre tracts of land at the southeast and southwest corner of Birdwell Lane and Mabry Drive.

City Approves Closing Easements

A College Baptist Church request to close utility easements in the 1700 block of Eleventh Place was approved by city commissioners Tuesday. Affected property is in Block 1 of the Monticello Addition. A church delegation which included the Rev. Byron Orand, pastor, pointed out negotiations with utility systems for providing alternative methods of servicing the area have been concluded. The pastor said area property owners have been told of the easement request, and no objections have been voiced. He said a new church auditorium will be connected with the existing building. Approval was subject to a

Honor Society Induction Slated

Fifty-one persons, perhaps the largest number in the history of the Big Spring Independent School District, are slated to be inducted into the National Honor Society Thursday at 9:30 a. m. The ceremonies will be conducted during an assembly of the student body at the high school gymnasium. There are currently 24 students in the Society. Of the inductees, 47 are juniors and only four are seniors. They have been chosen by teachers on the basis of service, leadership, character and scholarship. To become eligible, students must carry an average of at least 90 on all high school work.

guarantee that utility trucks be permitted to cross church property in servicing the area. In other action, commissioners approved an easement request by E. C. Smith allowing him to construct a wall on the south side of a building at 12th and Gregg. Commissioners said they felt the wall would improve the appearance of the property. This request was referred to the commission by the Zoning Board of Adjustment whose members questioned their authority to grant easements on city property. Commissioners also approved a replat at the Ponderosa Apartments in the 1500 block of East Sixth. The request was made by R. H. Weaver. City manager Larry Crow noted that the planning and zoning commission had approved the original replat "about a year ago." At that time, commissioners had not formally approved the replat. "This is merely a technicality," Crow said. The replat combines several lots into one large one. It was negotiated for the purpose of constructing the apartments on the lot. Legion Combo To Entertain

The Legion Scramblers, newest activity of the Howard County Post of the American Legion, held a dress rehearsal session at the Legion Home following the Monday night meeting of the Auxiliary. The combo, under direction of James Horton, will make its first public appearance during intermission at the Legion 19th district dance here Saturday night. Music for the dance is to be by the Starlighters. According to Horton, idleness musical talent of members indicates the possibility of a large band and the first and third Monday night meetings of the group are growing. Horton said he needs drums, some wind instruments and an alternate piano but will have a passable program for the 30-minute show. Featured vocalist of the Scramblers is Betty Shirley, Auxiliary member who can croon with the blues, yodel with the hillbilly and lead a high soprano on "God Bless America." Backing her up is husband, Paul Shirley, amateur composer of several published songs and backup vocalist. He is a member of the Legion entertainment committee. Roscoe Cone, Poy Dunlap, Billy Jack Johnston and Tim Jones round up the present roster, with Johnnie Morrison and Mrs. Tom Mays. Horton said, in inviting other members to participate in the Saturday night show. Big Spring is host this weekend to the 33 posts of the Legion in the 19th District.

They're Really Mine, You Know

"Tiger," the mother of five kittens, looks on dourly as "Tammy," a crazy, mixed-up cocker spaniel, usurps her motherhood chores. Tammy began nursing the kittens a week ago, although she never has had any puppies. A Nashville, Tenn., veterinarian says Tammy is suffering from false pregnancy, brought on by a hormone imbalance. Tiger is merely suffering from a left out feeling. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Credit Card Trade Settles Firmly After Hectic Start

NEW YORK (AP)—The credit card business is firming up after going through some rocky times.

This is due mainly to two factors: The card companies have weeded out the bad risks that cut into their profits in the early days of the business. New Internal Revenue Service regulations on expense accounts have made substantiation of certain expenditures necessary. And, says Howard L. Clark, president of American Express Co., which is observing the fifth anniversary of its entrance into the credit card business: "The rise in credit card use is a reflection of more and more people deciding that a credit card is a respectable and useful document."

BIG THREE

The Big Three of the credit card field are Diners Club, American Express and Carte Blanche. Together they represent about 2.5 million cardholders who pay dues of $8 million annually and account for $450 million in receivables. Clark said profits from American Express credit cards this year will be substantial, but the company does not break down net income of the cards from other activities. He predicted that credit card volume for 1963 will total $235 million against $189 million last year. Diners Club had $200 million in worldwide receivables in 1962 and said volume and profit would be up this year.

Carte Blanche's receivables dropped from $104 million in 1961 to $85 million in 1962. Current figures were not immediately available.

BANK PLANS

In addition to the Big Three, there are about 40 bank credit plans remaining out of about 100 which were formed during the initial rush to get into the field.

There also are retail credit card plans which cater chiefly to customers of shopping centers.

Cardholders pay an annual fee for membership. They can charge meals, hotel expenses, etc. The establishment patronized pays the credit card company a percentage and the company bills the member.

Teen-Agers' Allowance Is Prime Market Factor

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven-teen-year-old Donald Moger gets $10 a week allowance from his parents and spends it all.

This New York teen-ager's spending habits are fairly typical of the 9 million boys aged 14 to 17, who, along with teenage girls, make up a mammoth market that has emerged since World War II.

Those boys spend $16 billion a year on everything from hot dogs to cars.

Donald, who boasts his spending power with part-time jobs, spends his money on clothing, records, hot rod books, refreshments, dates and a wide variety of other things.

CLOTHES TOPS

Clothes are the top spending item for both boys and girls. They use their own money except for big ticket items such as coats, suits and dresses.

"Someone sets the style—the leader in the group," says Donald. "Someone will buy tight pants and then we all will."

Despite the tendency to follow the leader and an affinity for fads, teen-agers generally get an "A" from market analysts for their purchases.

Some market experts say they are better shoppers than their parents.

"They're rather astute in the selection of wearing apparel," says Morton Minsky, president of Diamond Sales Corp., a 30-year-old New York consultant firm that concentrates on the boys market.

GOOD TASTE

"They latch onto fads but these fads have to be in good taste."

Girls spend $300 million a year, an average of $29 each, on phonograph records, accounting for 50 per cent of all record sales.

They spend $180 million a year buying one-fourth of all greeting cards sold.

Their annual bill for apparel is $3.6 billion and for footwear $562 million.

Teen-age girls, representing 11 per cent of the female population, account for 22 per cent of women's cosmetic sales.

All told, 11,116,000 girls spend $6.3 billion a year. As for boys, it is estimated that 50 per cent of high school seniors own cars, 86 per cent own or use a camera, 39 per cent own a rifle or gun, 76 per cent use hair tonic, 72.2 per cent own electric trains and 17.9 per cent own typewriters.
