Adds To United Fund Kitty

An antique automobile show was staged at Webb Air Force Base Saturday morning to keep the current United Fund Drive alive. Proceeds were small, but only this stick-with-it spirit will put the campaign over the top. Friday's total was $89,147.39, still more than $20,000 shy of the goal. Shown here is S. Sgt. Howard K. Alley taking a donation from Jody Jennings, daughter of Airman I. C. and Mrs. John Jennings. The show was sponsored by the 420-A Field Training Detachment.

Child Safe In Abduction From Mother

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—"He said he wasn't going to hurt me, just take me for a ride. But he left me here all night," a girl sobbed Saturday of her kidnapping.

With blonde Michelle Moran, 5, in a hospital, police mobilized a massive search for an abductor who stole the child from a shopping center parking lot Friday night and left her hurt and crying in a roadside ditch.

"The man kicked me out. I didn't know where to go so I just sat down," Michelle said.

A medical report said Michelle, one of four children of Donna Moran, divorced grade school teacher, had been sexually molested.

AFTER DAWN

Two truck drivers found Michelle shortly after dawn about three miles south of here. A young, bespectacled man had dragged her from her mother's parked car hours earlier. Mrs. Moran was in a drug store at the time buying Halloween treats for her children.

State and city police, along with sheriff's men of Ingham and surrounding central Michigan counties, joined forces in the attempt to track down the kidnaper.

Police said he was a possible sex deviate.

"We've probably got 100 to 150 suspects in this category immediately," said Detective Capt. Elwyn Groak.

There were clues, including tallings descriptions of the man by Michelle and her brother, Frank, 8, and tire tracks where Michelle was found.

UNSHAVEN

The abductor was a tall, young white man wearing glasses and may have been unshaven.

Michelle and Frank were alone in the car. Their mother had taken Lisa, 7, and Christina, 2, into the drug store with her.

The kidnaper, greeting Michelle and Frank with a "Hi," reached into the car, pulled Michelle out, slapping her once and drove away with her.

Frank was terrified. "Somebody took Michelle," he cried to his mother on her return to the car.

Senators Aiming At Slash In Aid

AT HERALD OFFICE

American Freedom Documents Offered West Texas Citizens

One hundred and eight-six years ago, 56 men pledged their lives, their fortunes—and their sacred honor as they signed which made free and independent states of a handful of colonies.

Throughout that 186 years the document has become more and more sacred as the free states it created grew into the world's greatest nation.

The document is the Declaration of Independence. It holds a particular place of honor in the National Archives Building in Washington, D. C., and is visited annually by thousands of Americans.

West Texans beginning Monday will have an opportunity to obtain copies of that original document which stated for posterity that all its present and future citizens have unalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

For one week beginning Monday patrons of The Herald may obtain a copy of the Declaration of Independence for only 26 cents. This small price includes one cent sales tax.

The Declaration of Independence copies are the first in a series of 12 which will be offered at the same low price. All are on antiqued parchment, suitable for framing.

Other documents of significant historical interest in the collection include the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, the Gettysburg Address, the Star-Spangled Banner, prayers of Peter Marshall, a history of the United States flag, a map of battlefields of the Revolutionary War, a map of the world the Pilgrims knew, portraits of the presidents, and etchings of the ships, USS Bonhomme Richard and USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides."

The documents may be obtained at The Herald office or by mail. A coupon for ordering by mail will be included in all issues of The Herald beginning today. The documents will be mailed postpaid.

A different document will be offered each week. Anyone interested in learning more about the proud American heritage would make use of the documents. Students would find them of particular interest in their history and other classes.

The collection of Americana historical documents is offered by The Herald at cost as a public service.

President's Program On Danger Spot

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's $4.2-billion foreign aid program was threatened Saturday by Senate proposals to trim it by as much as $700 million and force a major overhauling by mid-1965.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., predicted sharp cuts and said that an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to set a target date for termination of the program in its present form "will have considerable appeal in the Senate."

The bill, restoring $700 million of the billion-dollar cut made by the House in Kennedy's $4.5-billion request, comes up in the Senate Monday for debate expected to last a week or longer.

WITHDRAWALS

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a supporter of the bill endorsed by the Foreign Relations Committee, said he might join the cutters in protest against administration assurances to West Germany that it will not make significant troop withdrawals from Europe.

Dirksen, the Senate minority leader, said the Senate's mood is so changed from former years that there is little prospect the full committee recommendation will be sustained.

TO REDUCE

Dirksen told an interviewer there is concern throughout the country over failure to reduce the program through the years as the number of countries needing aid has been reduced.

"The people feel, and this feeling is reflected in their freely expressed opinions to senators, that after 19 years surely a larger share of this load can be carried by other countries," he said.

ASK AID

A major fight may center on an amendment by Morse which would shut off assistance to any country after June 30, 1965 unless it requests further aid and produces evidence that it (1) is seriously engaged in measures of self-help, (2) has taken steps to utilize its own capital resources within its own area, (3) will encourage development of private enterprise, and (4) has undertaken land, tax and social reforms.

Morse's amendment would limit the number of countries or areas receiving aid to 30 after June 30, 1965, as compared with 95 now getting help in one form or another.

Poll Tax Repeal Opposition Rises

By The Associated Press

New opposition to repeal of the Texas poll tax appeared the past week as the Nov. 9 special elections approached with little apparent interest.

Absentee voting began Monday for the statewide vote on four proposed changes in the state Constitution, plus special elections to fill a congressional and three state representative vacancies in the Austin and Dallas areas.

"Quiet" has been the report from most of the state.

However Republican state Rep. Horace Houston of Dallas, a GOP candidate for lieutenant governor in 1964, said Saturday he is forming a statewide committee to oppose the amendment that would remove the requirement of a poll tax for voting. He asked Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, a Democrat, to join with him in leading conservatives of Texas in a fight against the proposal.

"P. S.: This is a non-partisan committee," Houston's letter added.

Earlier, state Sen. George Parkhouse, who is one of the two Democrats teamed with six Republicans in the Dallas legislative delegation, said he would oppose the poll tax repeal plan because it would result in "chaos and confusion" and lead to a lot of dishonesty in voting "that we haven't had on a big scale in Texas for years."

Gov. John Connally said recently that "chaos" would result if Texas doesn't remove the poll tax, and the federal poll tax ban become effective before the 1964 elections. This would result, Connally said, in Texans having to show a poll tax receipt to vote for state and local officers but not for president and for congressmen.

Only two more states are needed to ratify the U. S. Constitution change before it is effective.

If Texas changes its Constitution, then a voter registration law with a 25 cent fee becomes effective.

Vice President Lyndon Johnson sent his blessings when Connally helped the Texas League of Women Voters organize a statewide campaign in support of the poll tax repeal amendment. Later the governor and state Democratic party leaders asked local party officials to organize support campaigns. The Texas AFL-CIO has been active in the support drive and it has been endorsed by the Texas Farm Bureau.

Home Vows Peace Quest

PERTH, Scotland (AP)—From the auctioneer's stand at a Scottish cattle market, Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home gave an election pledge to the British people Saturday to steer them toward peace.

"The prospect of a more peaceful world," he told them, "is the biggest fact in the life of every family. I want to lead you to it."

Peace—and a richer, happier Britain—was the keynote of the prime minister's gambit to win a seat in the House of Commons.

"We are going straight ahead," he said, referring to Britain's future, "and straight ahead fast."

Douglas-Home—a prime minister without a seat in Parliament—kicked aside the first hurdle to membership in the House of Commons when he surrendered his peerage last week. Now he's got to get elected—in democratic fashion. There's little doubt he'll do it.

Ginny Heads Out To Sea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Flighty Ginny, the season's seventh hurricane, swirled around off the North Carolina coast Saturday then headed out to sea on a northeast course.

The Weather Bureau reported at 2 p.m. that the capricious hurricane was slightly west of due south of Cape Hatteras traveling east-northeast at 6 miles per hour. Her highest winds were estimated at 95 miles per hour.

Gale warnings remained displayed on the southeastern North Carolina coast from Cape Fear to Manteo.

Mysterious German Beauty May Jar Capital Figures

DES MOINES, Iowa, (AP)—The Des Moines Register said Saturday that the story of an exotic 27-year-old German woman who moved in high Washington circles before being deported will be told behind closed doors Tuesday.

The copyright story by Clark Mollenhoff also appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune and other Cowles publications.

Mollenhoff's story says Sen. John Williams, R-Del., has obtained a nearly complete rundown on the woman's life in Washington for two years before she was suddenly expelled last August.

Mollenhoff said:

"If the investigation brings out all of the information reported to Williams and to federal investigative agencies, the testimony could rock Washington in much the same way the Profumo scandals rocked London last summer."

SENSITIVE

Williams said in Delaware Saturday he would have no comment on the story except to say it is "an extremely sensitive and dangerous matter."

Mollenhoff said Williams will spell out the matter when he goes before the Senate Rules Committee, which is examining allegations of improper conduct by certain Senate employees.

The woman is the wife of a sergeant in the West German army, Mollenhoff said. She came to the United States April 6, 1961. Her husband was attached to the West German military mission in Washington.

WHITE HOUSE

The woman was born and reared in East Germany and has relatives there, Mollenhoff said. His story described her as a part-time model and party girl whose friends include "some high White House figures."

Mollenhoff's story continued: "The woman lived in a comfortable brick home in Arlington Va., and moved in a glittering crowd. It was not a life that could be financed on the pay of a noncommissioned West German soldier."

Mollenhoff did not name the woman. He said her appearance was "stunning" with dark hair, an attractive figure of 5 feet 6 and 125 pounds.

Mollenhoff said the FBI began an investigation of the woman early last summer and that she and her husband were sent back to West Germany Aug. 21, 1963, 95 now getting help in one form or another.

IN EUROPE

U.S. Miffed At Allied Criticisms Of Military

BONN, Germany (AP)—The United States is getting increasingly impatient with its European allies for criticizing U.S. military policies while refusing to meet their own Atlantic alliance commitments, U.S. sources said Saturday.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in Bonn for two days, had to reassure West German leaders about the continued presence of U.S. troops in Europe. There have been fears that Operation Big Lift would be used as a prelude to a partial withdrawal.

Rusk's talks here did not produce an official West German statement that these fears have been entirely dispelled. The government is understood to be waiting for further reassurance.

Rusk is expected to give these in a public speech Sunday in Frankfurt.

West Germany, like other European members of the Atlantic alliance, has failed to meet its own NATO military obligations. These are being fulfilled only by the United States.

The U.S. sources described an increasingly tough attitude on the part of the Kennedy administration toward such examples of a "double standard." They said that concern is mounting in the United States over the standard being frequently applied not only to military matters but to U.S. policy in general.

They likened the Atlantic alliance to a 20-mule team and said only one mule has been pulling while the others rode. It was time, they said, for the other mules to get out and help.

The U.S. deal to sell wheat to the Soviet Union was mentioned as another example of European criticism of the United States for what Europe itself does. European trade with the Soviet Union is much greater than U.S. Soviet trade.

The U.S. sources said that for 17 years the United States has tried to obtain a coordinated policy among the allies on trade with the Soviet Union but has not been able to get anywhere.

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The United Fund has pulled up to about 75 per cent of its goal, but the time is approaching when the campaign should be complete. It could be if everyone would work at the job, get pledges and report them. Last week T&P reported it had reached its quota, and Webb AFB put the rest of us to shame by sailing over the top.

There are two good things about our football game Friday with Cooper of Abilene. First, we managed to win, though by the skin of our teeth. Second, we played so raggedly that we certainly didn't show the Midland scouts anything except a tough defense.

Closing of the utility easements in the 1700 block between Eleventh Place and Monticello won't mean closing the alley. The city commission approved this change for utilities last week so College Baptist can erect a new sanctuary, but Rev. Byron Orand, pastor, explained that the remaining houses on the block will still have ready access to the alley through the church's parking lots.

Col. Howard J. Withycombe, wing commander at Webb AFB, will replace his eagle with a star on Friday, and it will be Brig. Gen. Withycombe then. Congratulations are in order. Confirmation of the promotion came Thursday.

Good news came from Lamesa to the effect that the Y where US 87-US 180 and FM traffic merges south of town is to be replaced by an overpass-underpass arrangement. This has been a particularly deadly spot, and although work may not start for some 10 months yet, it's good to know relief is on the way.

During the past year Texas Electric Service Company lowered its residential rates and a few other categories. In terms

Fire Damages Building

Smoke caused severe damage Friday afternoon to equipment in the utility branch of the Webb Air Force Base Civil Engineering Section when a fire of unknown origin occurred during a practice alert. The blaze was confined in the east portion of the building, where the equipment was kept. The western segment of the building houses the Webb Bowling Alley. Air Police spotted smoke coming from the building minutes after the practice alert ended. Unofficial sources estimate damage at about $15,000.

TTA Flights Begin Today

Trans-Texas Airways today will begin air service in Big Spring.

To celebrate the occasion, Big Springers will turn out for the inaugural flight at 7:38 p.m. today and Chamber of Commerce representatives will have a hand in the activities.

The program for the flight was worked out this week during a meeting of R. L. (Dick) Merkel, director of public relations for TTA, and Chamber Manager Carroll Davidson.

"The Ambassadors Club will be at the Howard County Airport for the flight and Big Spring Mayor George Zachariah will cut the ribbon," Davidson said. "The public is invited to welcome TTA and its new, improved air service to the city."

Merkel said Henry E. Erdmann, senior vice president in planning, would be on the flight officially representing Trans-Texas Airways. He has been with TTA since its founding in 1947.

Erdman, who first soloed an airplane when he was 19 years old, joined with R. E. McKaughan, president of Trans-Texas Airways, to establish and put into operation the WASP

HENRY E. ERDMANN here for inaugural training program of the U.S. Army Air Corps at Sweetwater in 1942.

Flying the first plane will be Capt. G. W. Spencer with Capt. H. W. Feuchter as co-pilot. The hostess will be Gay Gordon. (For more on the new air service in Big Spring, see Page 4-A of today's Herald.)

RECORDED MUSIC AS IT USED TO BE
James C. Blair and his 50-year old Edison phonograph

Ancient Phonograph Plays Tubular Records

By SAM BLACKBURN
John A. Justice's home in Pikesville, Ky., was probably one of the most popular places in town about half a century ago. For he was the sole owner and operator of an Edison Parlor Grand phonograph. He also had the biggest collection of records of anyone around.

The Edison, resplendent in its dark oak finish, was a cut or two above the old-fashioned talking machines of that day which had a morning-glory shaped horn dangling over the turntable. The horn in the Edison was concealed in the cabinet of the machine and the sound came out of a grilled opening tastefully lined with colored silk.

GOOD CONDITION
Today that same Edison is in remarkably good condition with nary a scratch on its polished surface, along with 85 of its cylinder records. It is the proud possession of a young Webb AFB airman, James C. Blair, airman first class, and a son-in-law of the phonograph's original owner. The veteran phonograph and its records occupy a place of honor in the Blair residence den at 1201 Barnes. It shares musical honors with a high-powered German made-tape recorder (hi-fi) and a super duper German manufactured combination radio-television-phonograph.

The Edison is not exactly hi-fi, from a tonal standpoint, but it is remarkably clear and noise-free considering its vintage, the age of the recordings and the technical shortcomings of its day.

TUBULAR RECORDS
The tubular records, (unbreakable, according to the printed legend on the faded containers) run the musical gamut. They include band selections, vocal solos and combinations, instrumental solos and a sizeable collection of vaudeville sketches featuring two minstrel men billed as Golden and Hughes.

One record is of particular interest—a spirited address by Theodore Roosevelt on the subject: "The Right of the People to Rule." Historically, Mr. Roosevelt had a high tenor voice; on this ancient recording this quality is evident.

Mrs. Justice, who is in Big Spring for a visit, recalls that her husband, a retired coal miner, had the Edison when they married in 1929. "He had owned it a long time before that," she said.

Justice told Blair that he bought the phonograph second hand when he was a student in school. The original owner was one of Justice's school teachers.

COLOR AD
Blair, looking through the old machine, found a folded paper in the horn. This turned out to be a broadside advertisement in color by the Edison Phonograph Co. of Chicago. Depicted was one of the Parlor Grand jobs just like the one Blair has.

The price, the ad read, was $48.20. Even in those days, there was an easy pay plan. You were even offered 48 hours free trial of the instrument in your home without obligation. No date appears on the advertisement nor on the phonograph. The patent on the instrument was in 1902-04. Mrs. Justice and Blair estimate the school teacher must have bought the machine sometime around 1910. Justice acquired it a few years later.

Blair, who is an airman stationed officially at Reese AFB and is in Big Spring on special orders with communications squadron, said that his father-in-law has a penchant for keeping old things.

OTHER RELICS
Among other relics, he has a 1922 model Baby Overland touring car. This automobile, in running condition despite its 41 years, Justice has told Blair he can have. Blair is pondering the problem on how to get the little car from Pikesville to Big Spring.

The Blairs recently visited in Pikesville and took possession of the old Edison. They also brought back an ancient Gilbert clock, dating back much further than the phonograph, and a handmade sashiron over 100 years old.

Meantime, Justice has written that in looking over his house, he has come upon an additional box of records for the Edison. He has said he would send these and is in Big Spring on special Combined strength of the three units is 436 men.

Only Five Votes Cast Absentee
Five Howard County voters have cast absentee ballots in the Nov. 9 special election.

Deadline for such voting expires Nov. 5, said Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk.

The Nov. 9 special election will be to decide on the fate of four proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

One of the amendments is a proposal to eliminate the state requirement that a person must have paid his poll tax in order to be eligible to vote.

Girl Scouts Do Their Good Turn
Girl Scouts, like their brothers, believe in good turns.

Saturday, 21 girls in Troop No. 141, led by Mrs. Jerry W. Greene, took on a cleanup job around the "big spring" for which the city is named. They worked into the afternoon gathering beer cans and other refuse from around the historic spot.

Lubbock Couple Dies In Wreck
FORT WORTH (AP)—A Lubbock couple was killed Friday when their car hit a semi-trailer truck parked on the highway shoulder.

They were Tommy Carl Davis, 44, and his wife, Mary, 51, of 3118 29th St.

The 10:45 p.m. accident occurred on Texas 199 about 6.4 miles west of Springtown, 20 miles northwest of here.

Scouts Brush Up For Big Camporee

Scout units in the Lone Star District are brushing up on Scouting and camping skills in anticipation of a district camporee Saturday at the jamboree grounds south of Big Spring.

D. D. Johnston, chairman, and Carl Campbell, co-chairman of the camping and activities committee, have mapped out a round of demonstrations and contests for both morning and afternoon.

Many of the troops will set up camp Friday evening, although the program does not begin officially until 7 a.m. Saturday. By 9 a.m., camp inspections will start. Demonstrations in patrol activities, games, first aid, rope work and other Scout skills will be staged until 11:30 a.m.

Troops will prepare their meals and take an hour's rest period after lunch. At 2 p.m. patrol skills and contests will be unrehearsed. Following the evening meal, there will be a campfire ceremony. Camp breaks at 8 a.m. Sunday so boys and leaders can attend their churches.

Contests in Scout skills include signalling, flint and steel relay, water boiling, tent pitching, flag etiquette, lashing, log pulling, compass, knots, map making, wild life conservation, trail signs. Order of Arrow members and Explorers will serve as judges.

MY THANKS

My heart goes out in grateful appreciation to the many friends for their prayers and expressions of love, concern and sympathy, it gave me great comfort, in the loss of my father Sandy Lewis of Dawson, Texas. Thank you for all the telegrams, cards and beautiful flowers. God bless each of you.

Successful Blast Ends Underground A-Testing

SAND SPRINGS TEST RANGE, Nev. (AP) — The ground jumped six feet and a tingling shock wave rolled along this desert testing ground today, signaling the successful completion of the Project Shoal underground nuclear blast.

Witnesses a half-mile from the blast area saw the ground directly above the detonation point puff and contract after the shock, creating a huge ostrich plume of desert dust, which the wind slowly dispersed.

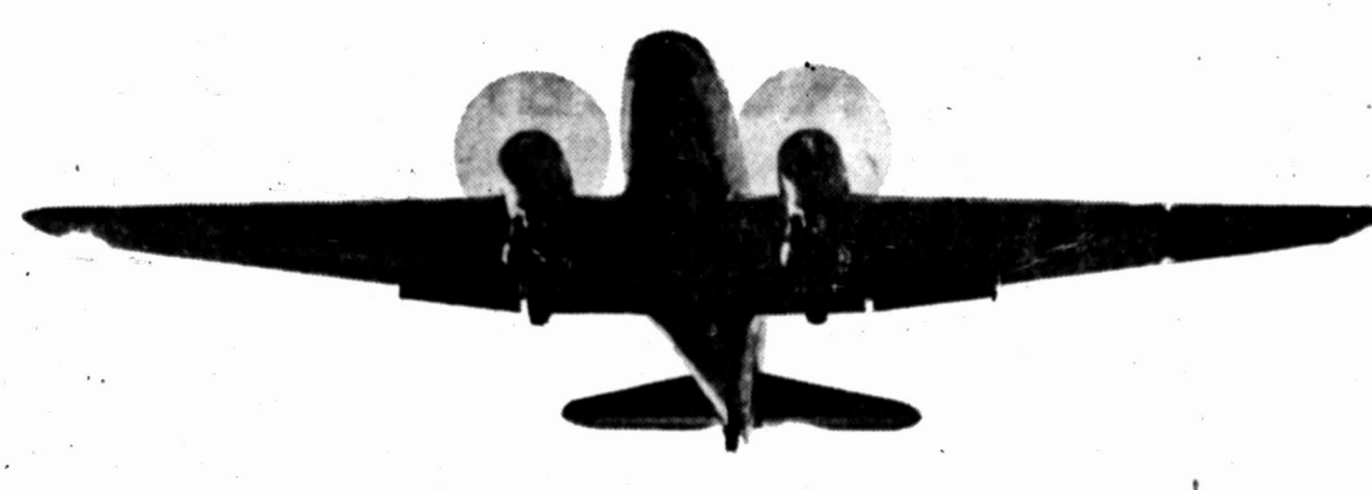

The blast, a charge equivalent to 12,000 tons of TNT, went off on schedule at the bottom of a 2,200-foot shaft drilled into the Sand Springs Testing Range, 22 miles east of Fallon in west-central Nevada.

More than 200 Atomic Energy Commission, Defense Department and military personnel witnessed the explosion. Busy transcontinental U.S. 50 was closed to traffic for a half-hour before the shot. The road runs five miles north of the Sand Springs range.

Test directors had been in the Fallon area for more than two weeks, assuring residents the shot would not stimulate any earthquake tremors.

For These Times

Our real problems in the world today are spiritual. As MacArthur said, "If we are to save the flesh, it must be of the spirit." It has happened as the Bible said: "In the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy..." etc. (II Tim. 3:1-5).

Only the Lord who "formed the spirit of man within him" (Zach. 12:1) knows how to treat man for his spiritual illness.

Only Christ could truthfully say, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (Jno. 10:10).

Our only hope is in the Great Physician!

Thus it makes sense for you to come to the services and show an interest in spiritual things. So why not be with us today? Sermons: "My Brother's Keeper (10:30 a.m.); "The Man Who Could Not Wait" (7 p.m.).

Both Party Chiefs Urge Big Turnout For Poll Tax Issue

Frank Hardesty, Howard County Democratic Central Committee chairman, is urging a heavy turnout of voters Nov. 9 and recommending that all members of his party vote to eliminate the poll tax as a requirement for voting. He pointed out that Governor Connally and other Democratic leaders hold the same view.

Ralph Gossett, chairman of the Howard County Republican Central Committee, while going along with his opposite number's plea for a heavy vote Nov. 9 is not so urgent that these votes be to abolish the poll tax.

He said that he had found that sentiment among the voters is about evenly divided in this issue.

"About 50 per cent of the people I have talked to," said Gossett, "seem to want the poll tax voting requirement retained. I hope we have a good turnout of voters. This is a matter which needs the full expression of voters."

Hardesty commenting on the worry expressed by some voters that elimination of the poll tax would set up a financial hardship on the state, observed that the total revenue derived from this source is small.

The present poll tax is $1.75 per person. Of this $1 goes to the state available school fund; 50 cents to the state general fund and 25 cents to the county where the poll tax is paid.

Hardesty pointed out that the 58th Legislature has appropriated $226,500,000 for the schools for the first year of the 1963-1964 biennium. The poll tax, he

Cowboys In Top Season

DENVER — Professional rodeo, in the closing strides of the season, marked two more major cowboy contests on its prize money charts last weekend, sending an already record payoff for 1963 beyond the $3,385,000 mark.

Tension is building for the climatic National Finals at Los Angeles. To qualify a cowboy must be among the top 15 winners of the regular season in an event. Two more major rodeos now are left before the finals.

Event leaders are: All-around—Dean Oliver, Boise, Ida., $29,403, and Guy Weeks, Abilene, Tex., $25,817; saddle broncs—Guy Weeks, $17,031, and Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., Canada, $16,268; bareback broncs—Paul Mayo, Grinnell, Ia., $16,829, and John Hawkins, Twain, Harle, Calif., $13,919; bull riding—Bill Kornell, Palm Springs, Calif., $13,323, and Dickey Cox, McKinney, Tex., $12,047; calf roping—Dean Oliver, $26,449, and Bob Wiley, Porterville, Calif., and C. R. Boucher, Burk Burnett, $14,935.

London Orchestra To Give Concert

ABILENE — The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra of London, on its second North American tour, will present a concert at Hardin-Simmons University Friday, Nov. 8, at 8:15 p.m.

Conducting the distinguished orchestra on its current tour are Sir Malcolm Sargent and the young French conductor, Georges Pretre.

Club Screens Film On Money

A documentary film entitled "Money on the Move," authorized by the Federal Reserve System, was screened for the benefit of American Business Club members at their regular luncheon Friday noon at the Settles Hotel. Charles Dunnam was in charge of the program.

Bob Hickson, president of the club, said that encouraging progress had been made toward the formation of an ABC club in Lamesa. Upwards to 40 persons have expressed interest there in such an organization, he revealed, and new contacts are being made each week.

The local club has been sending teams to Lamesa regularly to whip up enthusiasm in the movement, Hickson said. Raymond Dodd and Jack Dumphy were introduced as new members of the club. Guests included Joe Liberty, Henry Bell and Paschal Odom.

Damage Claim Transferred Here

A Kermit woman has filed a damage suit for $87,500 in 118th District Court against a Howard County man.

The damage suit, styled Barbara Hicks vs. Kenneth Ray Puckett, alleges that the plaintiff and her two minor children, Karen, 9, and Bobby Frank, 6, were injured in a two-car collision three miles north of Big Spring on Dec. 22, 1962.

The petition alleges Puckett to be the driver of the other car. The accident, she says, occurred on SH 350 at the point where it intersects FM 669 (Gail Road). She asks $47,500 for herself and $40,000 for her two children. The case was filed here on a plea of privilege brought by Puckett.

Miss Teen-Age America Pageant Slated In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Fifty cute girls vie this week for the title of Miss Teen-Age America of 1964.

After a week of things like touch football for girls, fashion shows and interviews, one will be crowned Friday night. It is the third annual Miss Teen-Age America Pageant, an hour-long coronation carried nationally by CBS on television.

Unlike most such contests, the Teen-Age America pageant is not based on beauty. There is no bathing suit competition. The next Miss Teen-Age America will be 13 to 17 years test so she could return to high school. She is Miss Darla Banks, 17, of Fresno, Calif. She'll be in Dallas again this week.

In spite of cross-country personal appearance tours, she has maintained a B-plus average at school.

A Texas firm, Teen America Associates, Inc., produces the pageant. Heading the board is a millionaire oilman, investor and rancher, Bedford Wynne, co-owner of the Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League.

The contestants represent cities instead of states. The girls flew into Dallas Saturday with their chaperones.

Judging begins Monday and extends through Wednesday. Six finalists will be chosen Thursday. There is spare time for a fashion shows, visits to Six Flags Over Texas at Arlington, and just chit-chatting.

The girls suit up for touch football Tuesday. Coaches and officials will be Dallas Cowboy players.

It will be a week of nervous mothers—and of enthusiastic, bubbling girls sharing the fun of just being a teen-ager.

NEW COLLECTOR'S ITEM FROM BIG SPRING
Airmail "first flight" cachets of past and present

Big Load Of Mail Set For First Flight Here

By SAM BLACKBURN
Most of the letters which will make up the airmail load to be flown out of Big Spring today on the first official flight of Trans-Texas Airways, will contain only blank paper. The persons who paid the postage are, for the most part, sending the letters to themselves. They do not care about the contents — what these individuals are after is the stamped legend which will mark such envelopes. The eyes of philatelists all over the nation are turned to Big Spring today as the bundle of "first flight" cachet-marked mail wings its way east and west. It will not be the first time there have been events of importance and interest to stamp collectors stemming from airmail operations in Big Spring. There have been three such previous occasions and perhaps half a dozen — others which merited less attention. COLLECTORS Thousands of individuals are "first day cover" addicts. These collectors want letters which were transmitted on the first day a certain stamp was put on sale or on those special days when new mail service of some sort is initiated. For example, today marks the first flight of the Trans-Texas Airways which will fly from Big Spring tomorrow, these same airplanes will be transporting other mail but there will be a difference. Tomorrow's mail will not be "first day." Tomorrow's airmail will lack something that today's mail features — a legend stamped on each envelope identifying each letter as one mailed on the first day. Trans-Texas flew its new routes including its stops at Big Spring. 1,000 SPECIALS E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said nearly 1,000 specially dispatched letters were received in his office to be stamped and revealed on the Trans-Texas flight. Bennett Brooke, Big Spring druggist, is a stamp collector who specializes to some degree in "first day covers." His collection includes samples of all previous cachets dealing with airmail in Big Spring. The earliest example is one dated Sept. 13, 1929. This one is cacheted with a blue circled legend reading "Airmail September 13-12, 1929, Big Spring, Texas." Old timers say this was an event to mark the dedication of the city's earliest commercial airport. On the back of this letter is a blue heart with a legend printed in silver. It reads: "Big Spring, Texas, a substantial city of 12,000 people — 5 sources of income, in the heart of West Texas opportunity — oil, agriculture, industries, livestock, tourist."

Trans-Texas Inaugurates Airline Service Today

Trans-Texas Airways begins serving Big Spring today with six flights each day, Monday through Friday, and four flights daily Saturday and Sunday. These flights will replace two by Continental Air Lines, which brought in its last flight Saturday night.

FIVE FLIGHTS
Five flights will carry mail out of Big Spring, except Saturday when four will handle mail and Sunday when three flights will serve.

The first flight will arrive at 9:13 a.m. today when No. 199 pulls on the ramp at Howard County Airport. It will be out of Dallas and bound for Midland-Odessa.

Other flights from Big Spring with Flight Number and departure time, are: No. 190, leaves at 10:16 a.m. and arrives Abilene at 10:57 a.m., Fort Worth at noon and Dallas at 12:17 p.m.; No. 197 leaves at 11:06 a.m. and arrives Lubbock at 11:45 a.m., Clovis at 11:30 a.m. (Mountain time), Santa Fe at 12:39 p.m. (MT) and Albuquerque at 1:07 p.m. (MT); No. 198 leaves at 5:16 p.m. and arrives Abilene at 5:57 p.m., Fort Worth at 7 p.m. and Dallas at 7:17 p.m.; No. 191 leaves Big Spring at 7:38 p.m. and arrives Midland-Odessa, leaves for Austin at 8:55 a.m., or 42 minutes ahead of Flight No. 199

9:19 p.m., (MT) and Albuquerque at 9:47 p.m. (MT); MIDLAND-ODESSA Flight No. 199 leaves Big Spring at 9:13 a.m. and arrives Midland-Odessa at 9:37 a.m., and Flight No. 196 leaves at 11:06 p.m. and arrives at Midland-Odessa at 11:30 p.m. There are no direct-connection flights from Big Spring to Austin or Houston. Connections have to be made through Midland-Odessa or Dallas. The first flight out of Terminal for Austin after 9:37 a.m. is at 1:20 p.m., or a layover of nearly three hours for Big Spring boarders. The next flight out of Terminal to Austin requires a layover of 12 hours and 46 minutes. A morning flight, out of Midland-Odessa, leaves for Austin at 8:55 a.m., or 42 minutes ahead of Flight No. 199 which arrives from Big Spring at 9:37 a.m. LATE FLIGHTS Big Spring - Dallas - Houston connections are better, but require late flights. Members of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee, meeting Thursday afternoon, expressed the opinion that many Big Spring boarders would still have to drive their cars to Midland for Austin and Houston flights to get proper schedules unless changes in Trans-Texas schedules are made. All six flights through Big Spring will use DC-3 aircraft for the present, Trans-Texas has announced. With 13 new cities added to their schedule routes require more aircraft, and TTA has several Convairs on order for future use.

Three Treated After Mishaps

An 18-year-old Howard County Junior College student was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital by Nalley-Pickle ambulance Thursday after a freak accident.

Jerry Richbourg, son of J. T. Richbourg, 1805 Lancaster, received a mild concussion when he landed on his head during a gymnastics class. He was treated and released the same day, hospital authorities said.

J. R. Hallett, 72, father-in-law of O. T. Tilley, owner of the Ponderosa Restaurant, Old San Angelo Highway, sustained a fractured hip in a fall at the restaurant Thursday.

Officials at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, where Hallett was treated, said his condition is good.

Jo Fleener, 13-year-old daughter of Ellis P. Fleener, 1706 Austin, collapsed at Goliad Junior High School about 1:30 p.m. Friday, according to school officials, who said she became hot while running during a physical education class. The girl was taken to Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital for treatment and then returned to school. Later, she was taken home.

Personnel Ready For Work

Dean Berry, left, station manager; Perry Kimberling, and Cliff Hearne, agents, will be at the Trans-Texas Airways office at Howard County Airport beginning Sunday when the first flight of TTA arrives at 9:15 a.m.

Drouth Pushes Demands Up

Late summer drouth is reflected in the increased deliveries and revenues of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Abnormal rains in late spring had put the district behind the previous year, but 1,252,316,000 gallons were metered in September to make 7,828,996,000 for the first nine months, an increase of $4,000,000 for the period.

Member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder used 5,870,000 gallons for the nine month period, a gain of 77,000,000 gallons. Oil companies generally lowered repressuring demands during the month, but the new Sun Oil project more than overcame this.

Of the 1,252,316,000 gallons metered in September, 1,049,947,000 of it came from Lake J. B. Thomas, which had 167,940 acre feet of water in storage at the end of the month.

Revenues for September amounted to $233,920, of which $146,059 came from member cities, $83,341 from oil companies for secondary recovery, and $3,777 from recreational facilities. Gross revenues for the first nine months amounted to $1,680,552, a gain of $108,000. Total operating expenses for the nine months amounted to $565,124, an increase of $28,000. The difference was transferred to the indented funds for debt service, improvement and extension, etc.

Sailing Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)—A bomb scare delayed the sailing of an ocean liner for 40 minutes before it left for Europe with President Tito of Yugoslavia aboard.

TTA Agents Now On Duty

A station manager and two agents have arrived in Big Spring to serve patrons of Trans-Texas Airways when the service begins today at 9:15 a.m.

Dean Berry is the new manager. Perry Kimberling and Cliff Hearne are the new agents. Berry said the terminal office at Howard County Airport would be open and staffed every day from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.

A new lighted sign for the lobby, and a schedule board, had not arrived Friday, but were expected in time for Sunday.

Dean Berry comes to the Big Spring office from Midland, where he has been with Trans-Texas for a year and a half. He was in the San Angelo office six years. Mr. and Mrs. Berry and their two sons will live at 1602 E. 17th.

Kimberling comes from Pecos. He has been with Trans-Texas three years. The Pecos station has been closed. He and Mrs. Kimberling will live at 4117 Dixon. They have no children.

Hearne, who is not married, is a new man with Trans-Texas.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Edna Miller; one son, Ross D. Miller, Denver, Colo.; three grandchildren; a brother, Norman Miller, Flint, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Wilbur Erwin and Miss Pearl Miller in Canada. Arrangements were in charge of Harding, Orr, & McDaniel chapel on Pershing Drive.

Grenfell and his top staff members have been meeting with Rear Adm. Bernard A. Clary, commander of Pacific submarine forces, and his staff, at San Francisco's Hunter's Point shipyard.

Grenfell now has all 14 of the Navy's operational Polaris subs in his command.

Two Homicides Among 22 Cases On Grand Jury List

REV. HENRY L. SALLEY

Kentwood Church Has New Pastor

A new minister will preach today at the Kentwood Methodist Church. He is the Rev. Henry L. Salley, who this week took over from the Rev. Marvin James. Rev. James became educational director at the First Methodist here.

Rev. Salley was formerly pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church in Andrews. He took over there 1 1/2 years ago after completing his graduate work at the Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University. He received a bachelor's degree in 1957 from McMurry.

The son of a minister, Rev. Salley was born in Colorado City in 1935. His father, Homer Salley, is currently pastor of the Methodist Church in Happy.

Although short in years, Rev. Salley is long in ministerial service. He has served in that capacity for some nine years. During the time he was attending the Perkins School of Theology, he also was a pastor of a church. Also, he has pastored churches in McAdoo, near Lubbock, at Avoca and the Capps Methodist Church in Abilene.

Rev. Salley has been Big Spring's Youth Director for the Methodist Church for more than a year.

The Saleys live in the church parsonage at 1706 E. 15th. They have two children, Gregory, age six, and Darla, four years old.

Eddie Lee Wright, who officers says has made a statement admitting he fired a shotgun into the face of Issac Smith Aug. 27 and who is at liberty on bond, will be brought before the Howard County grand jury Tuesday. Smith died some weeks later in a Galveston hospital. The charge against Wright is assault with intent to murder.

Wright, in his statement, allegedly said that the shooting was accidental—that he was playing with the shotgun when it discharged and that he had no intention to shoot Smith. Both men are Negroes.

Wright's case is one of 22 felony matters which Gil Jones, district attorney, has announced he will place before the grand jury.

There is a second homicide case on the list. This is a charge against Abel Ramos alleging that he knifed Ray Guierrez to death on the night of Sept. 14. Ramos has been charged with murder with malice. He is at liberty on $7,500 bond.

Other major cases to be considered by the grand jury are one of rape and a second of incest.

Steve Harper is charged with statutory rape in connection with an alleged rape of a girl under the age of consent. The offense allegedly occurred Aug. 27.

The incest charge is against Maximino Valasquez. He is alleged to have committed the offense against his 12-year-old sister June 12.

Other matters which are to be considered by the grand jury include:

Mike L. Graham, car burglary; William Paul Gee, car burglary; David Driscoll, assault with intent to rob; Raymond H. Davis and William Lee Trussell, burglary; Larkin L. Ashburn Jr., DWI second offense; Pedro Lara Portillo, possession of narcotics; Abelardo Gonzales Zapata, burglary; Hector S. Medellin and Francis E. Rivera, attempted burglary; Kenneth Cole, worthless check; Rudolph Q. Watson, DWI second offense; Joe Quintanilla Lajas, DWI second offense; Oscar F. Grothe, DWI second offense; Howard Kerr, worthless check, repeater; Lynn Tupper, worthless check; Kendall C. Webb Jr., attempt to pass a forged instrument.

Judge Caton has ordered a panel of 20 prospective grand jurors to report Tuesday at 10 a.m. Ordinarily the grand jurors are convened on Monday but the date was shifted to Tuesday for this occasion.

Mrs. Spann Dies Recently

Friends have learned of the death of Mrs. Cecile Clark Spann, wife of Dr. J. Richard Spann, former pastor of the First Methodist Church here and a retired executive of the Methodist Board of Education at Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Spann died Oct. 8 in the Baptist hospital in Nashville after a long illness, and rites were held at the West End Methodist Church Oct. 14 with Dr. B. B. St. Clair and Dr. A. J. Walton, pastors, officiating. Burial was in the Woodlawn Cemetery.

Before her marriage to Dr. Spann in 1949, she had served as secretary to the YMCA training school and subsequently with the ministerial training section of the Methodist commission on education.

Besides her husband, who retired as director of the ministerial in-service training program in 1961, Mrs. Spann leaves two sisters, Mrs. Virgil Hull, Daytona Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Jack Ansley, Nashville, Tenn., and a brother, Edwin Clark, Nashville. She also leaves one step son, the Rev. Edwin R. Spann, Pharr, Texas.

Kinney Says 19 In Class

Leon Kinney, office manager for the Texas Employment Commission office here, said there are now 19 men enrolled and studying in the TEC-Howard County Junior College cafe cooking course.

"We do not need any more students for this class," Kinney said. "Apparently the group we now have is made up of individuals who are sincerely interested in learning how to cook for cafes and restaurants."

The class is the second such activity under way at HCJC. The first was a class in auto mechanics which is now well along toward half-way completion. The cooking class has been in operation about a month.

Both are under the sponsorship of the National Manpower Training Program. The TEC recruits students for such classes; the HCJC sets up classrooms, shops or laboratories, and employs teachers.

Webb Captains Receive Awards

Capt. Eugene O. Westback and Capt. Felix Sambogna were selected recently at Webb AFB to receive awards for outstanding work: Capt. Westback of the 3561st Pilot Training Squadron, as instructor pilot of the month and Capt. Sambogna, academic instructor of the quarter ending Sept. 30.

The awards were made by Col. Harold C. Collins, deputy commander for training. Capt. Westback is a native of Rapid City, S. D. and entered the Air Force in 1958. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Force, following his graduation from the Colorado State University ROTC unit.

Capt. Sambogna received his commission in 1954 following his completion of the pilot training program as an aviation cadet. His home is Manchester, Conn., and he served as a navigator before entering pilot training as a cadet at Barstow Air Base. He carries a full assignment of flying instructor duties in addition to his academic classes.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Parking, Mountain Draw Reader Comments

To the Editor:
Big Spring is a prosperous town. This statement is based on the amount of industry, oil, cattle and of course the air base. There is quite a bit of trade from surrounding towns. There should be enough business to go around, but the parking situation has caused a disturbance between the merchants of our fair city.

It seems as though the merchants in the downtown area are trying to own and claim the parking meters which belong to the citizens of Howard County, and are causing a conflict among themselves. Their employes have no place to park the vehicles in which they come to work. The company doesn't buy parking space. While parked at a public meter the neighboring merchant will raise a ruckus until the vehicle is moved. What is the solution?

RAY MILLER
112 E. 3rd St.

To the Editor:
It is with great regret that we notice the renewed operations of a local gravel company on Big Spring's South Mountains. The blight of past operations is still painfully in evidence. In a locality where natural beauty is generally scarce, it is discouraging to note the destruction of this scenic area. The necessity to permanently disfigure this landmark is questioned in view of the general availability of this material.

Therefore, the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs wishes to protest the defacing of Big Spring's South Mountains as unnecessary to the cause of progress.
Respectfully submitted,
Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs

OFFICERS SEEK FATAL BULLET
Scene of Friday's homicide in which young Negro was shot to death

Quarter Bet Dispute Ends In Killing; Man Arrested

A pool hall argument over a 25 cent bet Friday afternoon flared into gunplay, left one man dead and another charged with murder.

Killed was Herbert Lee Tillis, 30, whose home address is 812 Cherry. He was gunned down as he stepped from the doorway of a pool hall at 312 NW Fourth Street shortly before 5 p. m. Tillis, an unemployed filling station worker, died in the Cowper Hospital and Clinic at 7:35 p. m.

Charged with murder with malice and likely to be taken before the grand jury on Tuesday is Emzie Woodard, 42. He was arrested a short time after the shooting by Detective Aubrey P. Hurley and Police- man Wayne Tollett in the 500 Block of West 5th. The officers took a .380 caliber automatic pistol from Woodard, who said he was on his way to see his lawyer.

At the time of his arrest, Woodard was charged with assault with intent to murder and Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter set his bond at $3,500. He posted bail and was released.

Less than two hours later, after the victim of the shooting had died, the officers were out hunting for Woodard anew. Detectives Hurley and Jack Jones found him at 9:45 p. m. in the 400 block on North Bell.

He was again taken before Justice Slaughter. A charge of murder with malice was filed against him and Slaughter set the bond for the new complaint at $10,000. Woodard posted bail and was released.

Meantime, the body of Tillis was removed to River-Welch Funeral Home. An inquest showed that he had been hit two times—once through the upper right chest and a second time through the head. Both bullets passed through the body. The one allegedly shot through the head was recovered by police. The other has not been found.

TWO-BIT BET

Hurley, who conducted the investigation for the police department, said that Tillis, Woodard and two other Negroes were playing pool. A quarrel ensued over a 25-cent bet. Woodard left the pool hall, Hurley related, driving away in his car.

He returned about 10 minutes later, according to witnesses. At the same time Tillis was leaving the building, Hurley related that as Tillis stepped out of the front door a shot was fired and the man fell.

Then, according to witnesses, Woodard left his car, walked to where Tillis was sprawled on the ground. A second shot was fired at close range through Tillis' head. Woodard returned to his car and drove away.

Funeral for Tillis will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at Mt. Bethel Baptist Church here with the pastor, Rev. Melvin Montgomery, officiating. Burial will follow in City Cemetery under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Born April 4, 1933 in Centerville, Tillis had lived in Big Spring three years. He was a veteran of the U. S. Army.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard Tillis of Midland; four brothers, Roy Lee Tillis of Portland, Ore., Doyle Lee Tillis of Midland, Elmer Tillis of Andrews, and Raymond Tillis of Pecos; and two sisters, Miss Josephine Tillis and Mrs. Ina Mae Jenkins, both of Pecos.

Police Investigate Three Accidents

Three minor automobile accidents occurred Saturday in Big Spring, according to police reports.

About 12:40 p. m. Saturday, Truman Wilkerson, Coahoma, and Allen Becklow, Center, were in collision at the Sixty Six Cafe on US 80 west. At 100 E. 3rd, car driven by Robert Neal Bryant, 1604 Sunbelt, and Jobbie Jernigan, Odessa, collided about 5 p. m., and at 6:10 p. m. David Henry Hopkins, 601 W. 18th, and Albert Govan Shepard, Garden City, were involved in an accident.

Police Led Torrid Chase

Big Spring police and highway patrolmen were led on a chase which covered most of the northwestern part of Howard County and a part of Martin County Saturday afternoon by a speeder who fled the scene when stopped.

In the process, a city police vehicle was put out of commission, this one from a transmission which gave out as patrolman Bob Smith was nearing the speeding vehicle.

Lamesa police Saturday were holding a man believed to be the driver of the vehicle. They reported that he had signed a statement to the effect that the vehicle was stolen from a resident of Brement, Ga.

The chase began about 3:45 p. m. when Joe Henry and Bobby Armstrong, city patrolmen, pulled a speeding 1963 vehicle to the curb at Tenth and Abrams. When they approached, the driver hastily pulled away, heading at high speed west on US 80.

Roadblocks were put up at Stanton, heading off the car. The driver then made a U-turn and headed east again. He turned north on a dirt road about eight miles east of Stanton. It was here that city police lost him when their vehicle broke down.

Two airplanes, one piloted by John Martin and the other by Ted McClung, joined the search for the driver. The car was found about 4 p. m., abandoned on the southwest edge of Knott, near the salt lake in that area.

Napkin-Doll Brings Reunion Here For Film Personality

"So I says to myself 'What kind of hospitality is this where they have you arrested just because you maybe messed up one lousy napkin'?"

Thus Candy Candido, veteran Hollywood character actor and personality, tells how an unexpected reunion with friends of 40 years standing got under way in Big Spring Saturday.

Candy, en route to Hollywood, where he has an appointment with his boss, Walt Disney at 9 a. m. Monday, was passing through Big Spring. He stopped for lunch at the Holiday Inn. "I always stop at the Holiday Inn wherever I see one," he explains.

WELL PLEASED

He ordered lunch and was well pleased with his meal. To show his appreciation, he did what he has done in thousands of restaurants—made a napkin into a cute little doll which has become a Candido trade-mark. He panned in the eyes, nose and mouth, and, as he usually does, wrote a compliment to the chef for the good meal and service.

Then he was on his way.

He reached Stanton and was breezing merrily along when a police car pulled up and he was signalled to the roadside.

"Your name Candido or something like that?" demanded the policeman.

WANTED

"I told him it was. He informed me I was wanted back in Big Spring. At the Holiday Inn. 'What is this?' I asked myself. 'For one lousy napkin I sort of messed up, they get me hauled in by the cops? But I didn't argue with the officer. He was big. I asked if I could call the Inn and he said I could. 'I put in a call at a service station. Then it all came out.' After Candido had left the dining room, the hostess had found the doll and had taken it to show Rodney Schreiber, the chef. At the sight of the souvenir, the chef exclaimed: 'Candy Candido! Where is he?'"

Told that he had left, the chef put in a long-distance call to officers in Stanton asking them to stop the actor.

When Candy found out that it was his old pal Rodney, he sped back to Big Spring. The chef, Mrs. Schreiber, Mrs. O. T. Brewster, Mrs. W. G. Haysley and others of the staff gave him the red carpet treatment.

"Look," said Candido in his famous deep, deep basso profundo, (which isn't his normal talking voice at all), "A free room they offer me—and I'm supposed to be in Hollywood to see my boss bright and early Monday."

ALL OVER

"I know Rodney and his wife from all over," said Candido. "But I lose track of him so much—folks keep buying him and I never know where he's located."

All of the women in the group were made proud possessors of Candido napkin dolls, duly and properly inscribed.

"I've made thousand of these things," said Candido, as he deftly rolled another doll.

of the individual it was most desired, but in terms of the system it amounted to $5,000,000 last year. Beeman Fisher, president, said here Thursday at the TESCO Quarter Century Club party.

Trans-Texas Airways begins service to Big Spring officially this evening. More flights are being offered, but the Chamber of Commerce aviation panel is protesting that the morning flight is not early enough for one-day business flights or to make morning connections to the east.

Open house was held Saturday for our newest industry, the Howard County Feed Lots. This facility, located 12 miles northeast, is equipped to mass-produce finished beef. For the average farmer or rancher who isn't set up to feed economically, this is a ready-made answer.

Persons using the Gail road will have to do some detouring or ease along temporary roads for a time. Work started last week on ripping out the present road, replacing the base, widening structures and installing new paving at a cost of $121,000 for eight miles north from the Snyder highway. In town, Kentwood residents will have to use the Virginia Street crossing for a few days while the Birdwell Lane bridge is demolished for replacement with a modern structure.

Fifty-one new members were inducted into the National Honor Society at Big Spring High School last week. This is the sort of achievement that makes us all proud.

Heavy showers largely bypassed this area last week. Lake Colorado City did come up slightly to elevation 2064.65, gaining around 200 acre feet. Champion Creek, across the river to the southeast, gained about 700 acre feet to reach 2056.70. Lake J. B. Thomas the week before picked up about 200 acre feet.

A Big Spring firm, A. P. Kasch & Sons, landed another big job last week, submitting the low bid of $2,267,160 for Houston's big Jetero airport.

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, was honored last week by being named to a state panel on rehabilitation. He will be on the important subcommittee dealing with rehabilitation of the mentally ill, a field in which this hospital has been doing excellent work.

Class 64-C got its wings last week, and it produced three distinguished graduates, 2nd Lt. Alan W. Erickson, Philip R. Brown and Robert H. Harlan. Lt. Brown also won the commander's trophy for an outstanding record.

The welcome mat is out today for American Legion members and their wives, assembled here for the autumn convention. Big Spring is always honored to have these solid citizens as our guests.

Forsan-Sweetheart

FORSAN—Pam McKinnon, a majorette for the Forsan High Buffaloes, was crowned the school's football sweetheart Friday night in halftime ceremonies.

She was escorted by Kenneth Soles and was given a bouquet of red roses with the crowning. Also spotlighted were Joy Flynt, named Miss Buffalo-ette, and Donnie Gooch, selected as Mr. Buffalo in Forsan's annual grid royalty.

Candidates who wish to file for the posts are urged to do so immediately. Filing as candidates will be with the city clerk or with the acting mayor, Ed Robnett.

The Stanton city council, officially seated on Thursday night of last week, selected the special election date Saturday morning. The vacancies to be filled on the city board are the offices formerly held by S. W. Wheeler, mayor, and by Sam Martin, council member. These officials resigned some weeks ago.

The new city council, whose election on Sept. 10 at a special election was finally certified Thursday night by the previous council, immediately took over the duties of city administration. Members of the new council, in addition to Robnett, are Juil Read, Delbert Franklin and Sam Houston. At the same election, a referendum on whether the Stanton Urban Renewal Program should be continued, was also held, resulting in an affirmative vote.

On the heels of the election, a protest alleging voting irregularities developed, and ballots were impounded on order of Ralph Caton, 118th District Court judge. The city council, sitting at that time, declined to certify the results.

Sometime later, an election contest suit was filed in the 118th District Court by June Graham, a former council member, and by Albert Johnson, one of the write-in candidates who had not received a plurality of votes.

Four members of the old council had resigned at the time a protest on the Urban Renewal program first arose—their resignations subject to the election and seating of their successors. These councilmen were Bob Deavenport, John T. Roueche, Jimmy Stallings and Rufus Tom. Later, Mayor Wheeler and councilman Martin resigned. This left the four councilmen in office serving on what they regarded as an interim basis until their successors could be seated.

PREMATURE?

Attorneys have pointed out that the filing of the election contest suit by Graham and Johnson was probably premature since such contests, under the law, can only be filed when an election has been certified and the returns filed.

If this position is sound, the two contestants might refile their suit.

Meantime, no decision has been reached on the Urban Renewal Program. The referendum on the plan was merely a sentiment expression. Whether the second phase of the program is to be pursued is a matter entirely in the hands of the city council.

Probably no decision will be reached until the anticipated contest suit is terminated and the two new council members to replace Wheeler and Martin are seated.

Over 75 American Legion Members Open Convention

More than 75 Legionnaires from West Texas signed up Saturday afternoon for the fall convention of the 19th District of the American Legion. The local post is hosting the affair.

Most of the activities are slated to get under way today and at least 75 more persons are expected to join the jovial conventioners. Fourteen posts were represented Saturday.

Two short business sessions were held Saturday afternoon at the Settles, followed by a social and cocktail hour. A dance began at 9 p. m. in the Settles Ballroom, with the Starlighters providing the entertainment.

One of the major decisions to be made today is the selection of a site for the next gathering of District 19 Legionnaires. Representatives from several cities have been campaigning for the event.

A joint session of the Legion and auxiliary will begin at 9 a. m. today, followed by a Memorial Service. The main address will be at 10:25 a. m. by Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, Lubbock.

Following noon luncheon, the Legion and auxiliary will go into separate business sessions.

The Fourth Division Auxiliary President, Mrs. Lee Flack, Odessa, will be principal speaker at the ladies meeting and Division Commander Al Gee will address the Legionnaires.

A special feature for the auxiliary meeting is a Memorial Service by Big Spring Junior members, Working' with the junior group is Mrs. Byron Hill, past president; Mrs. Leonard Barlow and Mrs. Tim Jones, Host Commander, Tim Jones, will adjourn the business meeting and the visitors are invited to visit the Legion Home.

Conventioners

Mrs. Wiggins, C-City, Dies

COLORADO CITY — Funeral services are pending for Mrs. J. H. Wiggins, 71, who died in a Big Spring hospital at 5 p. m. Saturday. She had been ill only a short time.

Kiker and Son Funeral Home will be in charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Wiggins and her husband, J. H. Wiggins, came to Scurry County in 1924. They extended their activities to farming in both Mitchell and Scurry counties and continued to follow this practice until 1946. Since then the couple had made their home in Colorado City.

She was a member of the Austin Street Baptist Church.

Survivors, in addition to the husband, are four sons, E. N. Wiggins, Snyder; C. P. Wiggins, and Jessie Wiggins, both of Colorado City; W. H. Wiggins, Everett, Wash.; two daughters, Mrs. C. J. Brown, Big Spring, and Mrs. Vera Rollins, Odessa; one sister, Miss Fannie Rundell, Colorado City, and one brother, O. C. Rundell, Gilberton, Ala. There are 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Insect Petition Drive Mounting

The campaign for better control of cotton insects, begun recently by the agricultural committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, will reach one of its expected peaks this week.

Petitions circulating in the Howard County area are due to be turned in at a 10 a. m. meeting Thursday at the Chamber offices. These petitions, along with others currently being circulated for signatures in cotton-producing areas of West Texas, will be photostated and delivered to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

The campaign calls for intensive research to be done in specific problem areas of the West-Texas cotton producer. Current control methods of the tobacco budworm and other predators on cotton are no longer effective and the cost of insecticides has cut deeply into profits from the crop.

"We are very pleased with results so far," Carlton Chapman, chairman of the committee, said. "Representative George H. Mahon has promised his full attention to the work. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Farm Bureau have given us their support and local chambers to which we have sent copies of the petition have accepted them enthusiastically."

Local Men Attend Rites For Brother

C. E. Suggs and A. E. Suggs will return today from San Bernardino, Calif., where they attended funeral services Wednesday for their brother, Robert W. Suggs. The men were accompanied by Ronnie and James A. Suggs.

The group left here Monday, planning to see Charles Suggs, son of A. E. Suggs, in Los Angeles before returning. Also attending the services was J. I. Suggs, who returned here Friday.

"Wul, I tried 37 loops to catch that ole grey and failed, so now I'll jist rope the whole dang bunch!"

DEAR ABBY

Prescription Is Biggest Bargain

DEAR ABBY: I notice in your column so many people complaining about the high cost of drugs. I, for one, would never complain. If sulphur had been in existence in 1933, I might have had a pair of twins celebrating their 30th birthday this Christmas.

"BLUE BOOTIES"
DEAR ABBY: Today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history. Mozart, the great Austrian composer, died at the age of 35 with a simple fever. Robert Louis Stevenson died at 44 with tuberculosis. Felix Mendelssohn, 38; Jack London, 40; Robert Burns, 37; Chopin, 39; Keats, 26; Lord Byron, 36; Jean Harlow, 26; Rudolph Valentino, 31; George Gershwin, 39; Thomas Wolfe, 38. Think what these talented people might have accomplished had they lived another 30 or 35 years! Modern drugs almost surely would have extended their lives.

NO COMPLAINTS
DEAR ABBY: I was shocked to learn that people are stupid enough to resent not being able to return medicine. There is a law which prohibits returning prescribed drugs. This is for the consumer's protection. How does the pharmacist know what has happened to the drugs once they have left his store? Wouldn't the crooks have a field day ordering drugs in capsule form, extracting the medication, filling the capsules with sugar and returning them to the store?

NEW PILLS, PLEASE
DEAR ABBY: Twenty years ago it took an average of three months' wages to pay the hospital bill resulting from a case of pneumonia. Today, a case of pneumonia can be cured at home — with drugs that cost an average of only five hours' wages. Please be fair, and print this for all those people who think prescribed drugs are "expensive." C. D. A.

Work Begins To Fence In Ellis Homes

Workmen Friday began setting posts for 5,000 to 6,000 feet of fence blinds which will be installed at the Ellis Homes along FM 700, according to W. O. McMeans, manager.

"We're trying to improve the appearance of the homes," McMeans said.

He said the garbage racks have been moved to an alley on the west side of the homes and will be screened off by the fences.

Fences will not be erected along the front of the homes on FM 700. "We decided the best way to improve the front appearance would be to set out grass and provide walkways and curbing," McMeans pointed out.

The fences now being installed are in the back yards of the homes. "Fences between the individual houses will be erected as soon as the material arrives," he said.

McMeans said the shipment, ordered six weeks ago, is overdue. "We're buying material locally where we can," the manager continued, "but we ordered the white cedar for the side fences from California."

The Ellis Homes provide low cost housing to persons of every racial group. Most of the tenants are families of persons stationed at Webb AFB. The homes are owned by Abilene Christian College.

Urges Quick Return Of Agricultural Petitions

The Agriculture Committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting at 10 a.m. Thursday in the conference room. Chairman Carlton Chapman is requesting the return of all petitions out for signatures on insect control.

"The deadline for getting the petitions in to Washington representatives is Oct. 31," Chapman said. "We must have them in to the chamber office at the meeting to get them ready to hand to the representative at Lubbock on the 31st."

Several of the petitions are in Carroll Davidson, Chamber of Commerce manager, said Friday. One petition from Stanton and Martin County has 51 names of farmers, landowners and others interested in cotton farming; one from Colorado City is in; two from the Vealmoor and Knott areas, and two from Big Spring are in, but the total number of signatures had not been figured.

The petitions request more research and release of more insecticides to combat the new insects affecting cotton production.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Commercial Activity Picks Up At Airport

By M. A. WEBB

Activity has been fair at Howard County Airport during the past week. Not too many transient flights have landed, Ted McClung, manager, said. The weather has not been much of a problem, but days are beginning to get shorter to curtail flying hours in the afternoon.

Two aircraft loads of pheasant hunters went up to that country during the week, but no report on their luck had been received Friday. These flights were "way up toward the Dakotas," McClung said.

A lot of activity around the Continental Air Lines turned Trans-Texas Airways office has been noted the last few days. Dean Berry, the new station manager for Trans-Texas, which takes over Big Spring flights today, and two agents will handle the office work and keep doors open from 7:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. daily. They have been busy taking over Continental equipment, except the teletype machine, installing a ceiling light on the Cosden hangar to use in night flying, and getting acquainted at the airport. Agents with Berry are Perry Kimberling who came from Pecos when that station was closed, and Cliff Hearne, a new man with Trans-Texas. Hearne is not married, but the other two men have families. All will live in Big Spring.

The "ceiling light", not noticeable on the hangar in the daytime, will be used for night landing, and will come in especially handy during overcasts. Through triangulation the cloud ceiling can be determined by pilots.

Dr. F. W. Lutting, who took part in a portion of this year's all-Texas Air Tour, along with Howard Loyd and a couple of other pilots, told the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee Thursday afternoon that the tour had been invited to make an over-night stop in Big Spring next year. The decision is in the hands of tour officials, and results will not be known for several months. Around 40 airplanes take part in the tour each year and come from all over the United States and from Mexico and Canada.

McClung said he was in Dallas on business Tuesday and called Rad Ware who has been in the hospital for some time. "He said he was getting along fine and could possibly be home this weekend or early next week," Ted said.

RESPONSIBLE PARENTS KNOW WHAT'S BEST FOR THEIR FAMILIES

Many depend on TSO for professional eye care.

Over the years, many responsible homemakers have learned through experience, or from friends, about the dependable, professional eye care available at TSO. At TSO members of your family receive a three-phase examination. First, a complete visual history is recorded. Next, the eyes are examined internally for evidence of disease or defect; then, for abnormalities of vision. Should glasses not be needed, there is only a $3.00 charge for the eye examination. And the cost of fine eyewear is most reasonable. Single vision glasses are as low as $14.85. In-visible bifocals are as low as $17.85, including eye examination, lenses and frame. Single vision Micro-Sight Contact Lenses, if preferred, are $65 complete. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision — with an annual, professional eye examination at TSO. Convenient credit at no extra cost.

Nicklaus Hot, Yanks Tied For Golf Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

PARIS (AP) — Bull-strong Jack Nicklaus closed on a wave of birdies Saturday for a six-under-par 66 which sent the United States into a tie with Spain for the lead after three rounds of the 11th annual Canada Cup international golf matches.

Nicklaus' fine score also put him into a first-place deadlock with South Africa's Gary Player for individual honors. The co-leaders have 54-hole scores of 205.

While a record French golf gallery of 10,000, including ex-kings of England and Belgium, watched in hushed silence, Nicklaus and his partner, Arnold Palmer, nailed dramatic birdies on the final hole and collared those surprising Spanish gauchos, Sebastian Miguel and Ramon Sota. Palmer's birdie salvaged a scattershot 72, and gave the defending champion United States a combined score of 416.

Sota, with a 68, and Miguel, with a 70, had finished some 20 minutes earlier for what appeared the certain lead in the field of 33 two-man teams.

"We knew what we had to do — we got the word at the 18th tee," said the burly Nicklaus, from Columbus, Ohio. "We knew we both needed birdies to tie."

First, Palmer knocked in his putt from 10 feet for a 3. Nicklaus put one on top of it from eight feet away.

Little Gary Player of South Africa missed a nine-foot putt which would have given him the undisputed individual lead. He had a 67 and his partner, Retief Waltman, a 73 for a team total of 417, good for third place.

Nicklaus and Player, at 205, are 11 under par for 54 holes, with Sota next at 207. They are followed by Bruce Crampton of Australia and Miguel at 209, and the struggling Palmer, tied with Canada's Al Balding and Stan Leonard and Bruce Devlin of Australia, all at 211.

Australia followed South Africa in the team standings with 420 after comeback rounds of 67 by Crampton and 71 by Devlin, sending the Down Under boys hurtling past Canada. The Canadians cooled considerably after their strong early start but were not out of it at 422. Leonard shot a 71 but Balding went up to a 73.

Bowl Ducats Are Going In Hurry

DALLAS (AP)—Ticket sales for the Cotton Bowl football game Jan. 1 are running 31 per cent stronger than last year. The sale, by mail, started Thursday and extends to Nov. 5. Last year the 25,000 tickets available to the public were oversubscribed when the application period had ended.

Bob Layne To Be Added To Texas Hall Of Honor

AUSTIN (AP)—Four athletes representing two eras—the 1920s and 1940s—have been elected to the University of Texas Longhorn Hall of Honor. They will be honored at the annual Hall of Honor banquet Nov. 15.

This year's selections are Ed Olle, university assistant athletic director and a three-sport star in the 1920s; the late C. L. (Ox) Higgins, a football standout in the same period; and two Longhorn football players of the 1940s—end Hub Bechtol and quarterback Bobby Layne, both All-Americans.

Olle, who has worked with the university's athletic program for 40 years, was a football, basketball and baseball letterman and later played professional baseball. He was Texas basketball coach in 1932-34 and served as director of athletics from 1957 to 1962. Olle also has been business manager of athletics since 1929.

Higgins was a three-year letterman in football and picked up two letters in basketball. He served for 25 years as a counselor of athletes and coaches and became a Texas athletic benefactor, personally leading the drive for funds for the athletic department during the depression years.

Bechtol, picked on some All-America teams the three years that he played, also played professional football for three years. Now he is an Austin civic leader and youth worker.

Layne, considered by many as Texas' all-time top quarterback, was an all-Southwest Conference selection in football and baseball for four consecutive years in the mid-1940s. A great passer, he threw for 31 touchdowns and 3,585 yards during his college career and compiled a 28-0 SWC pitching record.

He later was a professional football star for 15 years, setting several passing records.

Beginning Of A Fumble

Merkel and Hal Cooper had possession of the ball for about another half-second after this picture was snapped at the Coahoma-Merkel game played in Coahoma Friday night. After taking a pass from the Badger quarterback Jack Mansfield, Cooper lost the ball when Marshall Williams plastered him with a crushing tackle. Dwayne Fraser, No. 31, quickly pounced on the loose football for Coahoma. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

Badgers Claw Dogs In Show Of Power

COAHOMA — The Merkel Badgers maintained their unblemished conference record here Friday night by powering across five touchdowns for a 35-0 victory over the Coahoma Bulldogs.

For the season, the District 6-A Badgers now sport five wins, a loss and a tie. Coahoma sustained its fourth loss, against two wins and one tie. The Badgers tacked points on the scoreboard at least once in every quarter. They took the ball from scrimmage on their own 37 yard line after taking the initial kickoff and in seven plays went the 63 yards for the first score. The extra point attempt was blocked.

Coahoma stiffened its defense and, with the assist of three Badger fumbles, contained the Badgers until two minutes remained to halftime. Then, fullback Weldon Tittle went five yards to cap a 33-yard drive, putting the score at 12-0.

Merkel tacked on eight more points in the third quarter and 15 on two touchdowns in the final period.

The Badgers ground out 280 yards on the ground and completed seven of 15 passes for another 83-yards in the air. One Badger aerial was intercepted. An alert Merkel defense also picked off two Coahoma passes and pounced on four Bulldog fumbles.

The Bulldogs got within the 30-yard line in Badger territory only twice, once in the first quarter when they drove to the 26 and again the last time they got hold of the ball on an intercepted pass with time run-

Bruins Smash Wolves, 33-6

BROWNFIELD — The Brownfield Cubs lived up their reputation as a tough team to beat Friday night as they amassed a 19-0 lead and then went on to a 33-6 rout over the Colorado City Wolves.

End John Bost got the scoring parade rolling for the Bruins early in the first period as he picked up a blocked punt on the Wolves' four yard stripe and scampered home to six points. Archie Jennings kicked the extra point.

Later in the first stanza, fullback Gary Nunn found clear sailing around right end as he went 33 yards for a TD. The kick failed but tailback Ronnie Davis added another touchdown in a few minutes with a 54 yard romp. That ended first half scoring.

Davis and Mickey Bench contributed third quarter TD's and Jennings converted after each one to give the Cubs an easy 33-0 lead.

ning out in the ball game. Except for splendid defensive work by Wesley Wright, Ted Cearley, Eddie McHugh and others, ground yardage of Merkel could have been more. They sparked a rushing attack which spilled a Badger for a loss on more than one occasion and picked off one stray Badger aerial.

A strong Merkel offensive machine tore holes in the Coahoma line almost at will and an alert secondary was needed to head off touchdown-bound Badgers.

Next week the Bulldogs meet Rotan at Coahoma in another district game.

Bisons Meet Mad Mules

MULESHOE — The Muleshoe Mules proved that their pregame ranking as a favorite was no fluke Friday night as they scored in each of the first three quarters to easily coast past the Stanton Buffaloes, 27-0.

They first slammed into pay-dirt in the first quarter as Kenny Hethington went 16 yards on a keeper play. Don Murray kicked the extra point. Scott Oliver added another TD before halftime with an end sweep good for 25 yards.

Their last two TD's came in a wild third period. Ronnie Johnson took the ball from three yards out for one TD and Dan Smith scampered 33 yards for the other. Murray accounted for both extra points with kicks.

No. One Team Again Falls Friday Night

Galena Park, the No. 1 team of Class AAAA, fell Friday night as Texas schoolboy football went on another upset binge.

Baytown, staggering a long way with little hope for the future, knocked over Galena Park 24-0 and it left Pasadena the only unbeaten team in the district. It also got Baytown back into the title fight.

Borger also was a noted upset victim of the upper class as the 1962 state runner-up took a 16-7 trimming from Amarillo Palo Duro. And this left Amarillo Tascosa high and dry on top of the district race.

There were only 42 undefeated, untied teams left in the state as four teams fell from the list in Friday night's firing.

Galena Park was the lone casualty in Class AAAA although three of the teams played Saturday night—Amarillo Tascosa, Corpus Christi Carroll and San Antonio Highland. South Oak Cliff, Tyler Lee and San Antonio Lee came through.

Class AAA had no casualties with Dumas, the No. 1 team and defending state champion, crushing Levelland 41-6 in its conference start. Phillips, Graham, Corsicana, Lamarque, Austin Lanier, Lampasas, Gonzales and South San Antonio are other undefeated, untied teams.

Class AA's perfect record list was trimmed to 13 as Ballinger went down 14-12 before Haskell and La Feria took the count before Edouch-Elsa 20-12. Left are Dalhart, Stinnett, Tulia, Friona, Nacoga, Mansfield, Caldwell, Rockdale, Columbus, Katy, Beaumont Forest Park, Little Cypress and Devine.

Only one tumbled in Class A—Tidehaven, which was beaten 14-0 by Pearland. Still undefeated and untied are Idalou, Petersburg, Marfa, Goldthwaite, Rains, Hallsville, White Oak, San Augustine, Grape land, Rosebud, Bastrop, Hull, Daisetta, Louise and Ingleside.

There are 34 unbeaten teams since 12 are undefeated but have ties on their records. Among the latter are Pasadena in AAAA and Pharr - San Juan - Alamo, state runner-up in Class AAA.

Other than Galena Park—the fifth team to be upset while holding the No. 1 spot—the top teams all won their games.

Dumas was rolling to its 18th straight victory and remained an outstanding favorite in Class AAA. Rockdale, the No. 1 team of Class AA, whipped Navasota 35-0. Albany, the leader of Class A, swamped Eastland 40-0.

A Norman Bonner led Dumas to its smashing triumph over Levelland, racing 30 and 95 yards for touchdowns.

Grandfalls Slips Past Sterling City

STERLING CITY — The Grandfalls - Royalty Cowboys flexed their muscles Friday night and moved the football for a touchdown in every quarter as they dropped the Sterling City Eagles, 26-12.

Four different boys did the scoring honors—Cliff Kidd, Bob Siblo, Leonard Knight, and Bill Brandenburg—as the Cowboys continued their march toward a District 6-B, eight man title which they are favored to cop.

Track Is Topic

ABILENE (AP)—The Texas chapter of the United States Track and Field Federation will make plans for the year in a meeting at Austin Nov. 2, President Oliver Jackson says.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Because its conference (4-AAAA) is growing and it will be forced to play more games that count in the standing, Wichita Falls has cancelled its 1964 football outing with Big Spring. . . . The two teams were to have played in Wichita Falls Oct. 2. . . . The development was a break for the Steers in a way, since it will enable them to take off a week prior to the opening of their conference season, something coach Don Robbins has always wanted. . . . The Longhorns will probably visit the El Paso area for a game the second week of the season (Sept. 18), meeting either a team in that city or one in the Ysleta system. . . . The Steers will have to be assured of a reasonably good draw out there before Robbins commits them to an appearance.

Robbins wanted a game with Brownwood and hopes to get on a schedule of one of the Amarillo teams in a year or two. . . . The contract with Lamesa runs through next year and might or might not be renewed. . . . The two old foes seem to draw better against each other if they cut out occasionally, then resume competition. . . . Snyder stays on the Steer schedule regardless of what happens, as long as the Tiger coaches want it that way. . . . The Snyder people run a 'class' operation and the game invariably draws well. . . . Texas A&M has scored 14 points in each of its last four football games with TCU. . . . In two of the games, the Aggies tied the Frogs. . . . The Lamesa Tornados will play non-conference football games with Andrews, Seminole and Ector, as well as with Big Spring, next season. . . . Robert Zamora, the fine athlete from San Antonio, quit basketball at Baylor in order to concentrate on baseball. . . . He hopes to play in the big leagues. . . . Contrary to a report issued here last week, Whiteface High School (coached by ex-Big Spring Emmett Broder-son), hasn't lost 18 games in a row. . . . The Whiteface team ended their string at 17 a week ago Saturday by upsetting New Deal, 26-13. . . . The University of Texas Longhorns have gone into their traditional football game with Rice undefeated on 19 different occasions.

There was a time not too long ago when Our Town would have been glad to settle for a 6-0 victory over any District 2-AAAA foe. . . . Some individuals approached members of our coaching staff after last Friday's game, however, and demanded to know why the Steers weren't able to win by as much as 30 points. . . . The mentors and the athletes shouldn't have to put up with such harping. . . . They do a good job and are deserving of all the praise that comes their way. . . . Adverse comment such as they have had to put up with on occasions serves only to rock the boat. . . . The boys did extremely well against Cooper, all things considered. . . . For instance, did you know that quarterback Albert Fierro operated with only one contact lens much of the game and he can't see very well without both, or that fullback Dick Irons was bothered by his sacroiliac much of the week and was in extreme pain during the game? . . . Coach Don Robbins is making use of the boys who have proved the best by test in practice — it would be foolish to try it any other way against the rugged competition District 2-AAAA offers. . . . Our defense won the game against Cooper Friday night and such rock-ribbed play just doesn't happen — it's carefully developed and honed by the coaches. . . . Let's all close ranks and count our blessings.

There was a time not too long ago when Our Town would have been glad to settle for a 6-0 victory over any District 2-AAAA foe. . . . Some individuals approached members of our coaching staff after last Friday's game, however, and demanded to know why the Steers weren't able to win by as much as 30 points. . . . The mentors and the athletes shouldn't have to put up with such harping. . . . They do a good job and are deserving of all the praise that comes their way. . . . Adverse comment such as they have had to put up with on occasions serves only to rock the boat. . . . The boys did extremely well against Cooper, all things considered. . . . For instance, did you know that quarterback Albert Fierro operated with only one contact lens much of the game and he can't see very well without both, or that fullback Dick Irons was bothered by his sacroiliac much of the week and was in extreme pain during the game? . . . Coach Don Robbins is making use of the boys who have proved the best by test in practice — it would be foolish to try it any other way against the rugged competition District 2-AAAA offers. . . . Our defense won the game against Cooper Friday night and such rock-ribbed play just doesn't happen — it's carefully developed and honed by the coaches. . . . Let's all close ranks and count our blessings.

Big Spring 'Nipps' Cooper 11, 6 To 0

Big Spring's defense was back late in the second period when Charley Soladay intercepted a pass thrown by Albert Fierro in midfield and legged it up the sidelines into the end zones. A clipping penalty wiped out the play.

Jimmy Nipp climaxed a 38-yard drive for Big Spring by roaring 12 yards up the middle to the pay window with 2:43 to go in the game.

The drive was set in motion when Cooper's John Scott punted poorly and Big Spring took on the attack from its own 42.

The locals bruised across in nine plays. Only one pass completion, an eight-yard flip from Fierro to DeeRoby Gartman, figured in the march.

Fierro rolled out on the extra point try, apparently intending to run, but guard James Turner broke through to nail him behind the line.

Cooper had a touchdown call-magnificent — there's no other word for it.

Cooper got to Big Spring's 49 once in the first half. In the last half, the Cougars could gain but 15 yards rushing the ball and continually were being thrown for losses.

The play of sophomores was another bright spot in the Big Spring effort. Boys like Bobby Griffin and Rey Navarete never let up in their efforts to play ball possession.

The Steers rushed a total of 187 yards gaining the ball and an additional 33 passing but Cooper picked off as many Big Spring aeriels as Fierro completed. Big Albert had his worst night ever passing.

Cooper gained only 39 yards lugging the mail but added an additional 52 passing.

Even with a strong wind to their backs in the third, the Cougars couldn't penetrate Big Spring territory. The Longhorns drove as far as Cooper's 38 late in Round Three but the Cougars dug in to hold at that point, forcing the Steers to boot the ball.

Cooper was unable to advance the ball beyond its own 30 yard line in the final half, so fierce was the Big Spring defense.

Howard Bain and Gary Holeman came up with timely fumble recoveries for Big Spring.

Big Spring made a half hearted try at a field goal after it got its touchdown, following the recovery of a Cooper fumble by Holeman, but the ball was taken at the goal line by a Cooper halfback and returned to the Cougar 17.

Cooper tried a pass but it was no-go. Coye Conner and Junior Holland then broke through to nail Bobby McCraw for a ten-yard loss on the final play of the game.

Big Spring never got closer to the opposition's goal than the Cougar 28 in the first half.

Thurman Randle was a holy terror on defense for Big Spring until he began to tire near the half. Tim Smith and Don White were also outstanding on defense for the Steers, along with Baxter Moore.

The shutout was the second in a row for the Steers, who were in the process of running their win-loss record to 5-1 for the year. The Steers host mighty Midland High here next Friday night.

Middies Vanquish Panthers, 24-12

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Navy knocked Pitt from the ranks of unbeaten college football teams 24-12 Saturday on the passing and running of Roger Staubach and a sparkling defense that sputtered only twice.

Pitt's scores came in the fourth quarter on long passes from quarterback Kenny Lucas to Eric Crabtree and Paul Martha, the last with 22 seconds left in the game.

The Middies stopped the Navy defense picked off four Pitt passes to halt a Panther attack that had rolled through four straight opponents.

Navy, winning its fifth game in six starts, opened the scoring with a 36-yard field goal by Fred Marlin midway in the first quarter.

Staubach, the nation's offensive leader, then broke open what had been a tight defensive scrap by teaming with end Jim Campbell on an 80-yard touchdown drive. He hit the big left end four times on plays over center for a total of 59 yards in the drive. John Sai leaped over the middle of the Pitt line from one-yard out for the score.

Navy's other touchdowns came in the fourth period, one on a line plunge by Staubach from a foot out and the other on a one-yard buck by fullback Pat Donnelly. Both were set up after interception of Pitt passes.

Bob Orlosky picked off one at the Pitt 35, and Campbell gathered in the other after it was deflected by Navy tackle Jim Freeman at the Panther 25.

Wilson Gets Win In New Home Go

WILSON — The Wilson Mustangs exploded for 32 points in the second half Friday night in a game with New Home and swamped the Leopards, 46-6, in an important District 3-B football game.

The victory left both clubs with a 3-2 season mark.

Wilson's defense was back late in the second period when Charley Soladay intercepted a pass thrown by Albert Fierro in midfield and legged it up the sidelines into the end zones. A clipping penalty wiped out the play.

GARDEN CITY — Garden City Junior High girls ruled Greenwood to a single point in the second period and went on to post a 27-24 victory here Friday night.

Randall In Fight

HOUSTON (AP) — Garland Randall of Houston, the third-ranked welterweight, fights ninth-ranked Frankie Ramirez of San Jose, Calif., in a 10-round boxing match Tuesday.

Randall is favored to make Ramirez his 33rd victim. Randall has lost eight bouts, with four draws.

Upstart Raiders Win Over Ponies, 13-6

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS (AP) — Flamboyant sophomore Donny Anderson ran for 117 yards, caught five passes for 40, punted spectacularly and led Texas Tech to an upset 13-6 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

The 200-pound terror from Stinnett, Tex., scored the first Tech touchdown on a swing pass after pushing the 91-yard drive along with his running and pass-receiving had Southern Methodist on the retreat most of the day.

A sparse crowd of 19,000 watched Tech eliminate Southern Methodist, a two-touchdown favorite, from the Southwest Conference race. Tech already was out of it.

Bill Worley intercepted a pass and ran 35 yards for the other Texas Tech touchdown. Worley later intercepted another pass that halted a Southern Methodist drive.

Southern Methodist scored in the fading minutes by recovering a fumble by Anderson and then rolling 35 yards on the passing of Danny Thomas. The payoff was a 11-yard throw to Billy Gannon.

Southern Methodist 0 0 0 6-6

Seven Leagues Have Leaders

Upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football plunge into the heart of the conference schedule this week. Seven of the 32 districts have undisputed leaders, but favorites are pronounced in every section.

Class AAAA has Ysleta Bel Air topping District 1, Amarillo Tascosa 3, Pasadena 12 and Temple 13.

Dallas Samuell and South Oak Cliff lead the respective zones of District 6. Garland and Richardson are tied for the lead in 7 and they meet Friday. Harlingen and Kingsville lead one zone of District 14. They also clash Friday.

LaMarque is undisputed leader of District 12 of Class AAA. Gonzales leads 14 and Pharr tops 16. The latter was the state championship runnerup last fall.

Dumas, the Class AAA defending champion, has just launched its bid for the District 1 title, beating Levelland 41-6 last week.

San Angelo, the Class AAAA

pre-season favorite that has now fought its way back to the top after an opening season loss to Borger, is tied with Odessa for the District 2 lead.

Forsan Bisons Win Sixth Game Of Year

By JOE MOSBY
FORSAN — The hard-running Buffaloes of Forsan High took a long step toward their district title defense here Friday night with a rousing 16-6 victory over Buena Vista High of Imperial.

The victory was Forsan's second in as many conference starts and set the stage for next week's big contest at Grand Falls - Royalty. The Bisons are 6-2 for the season.

The loss was Imperial's sixth in seven starts, but the visiting Longhorns carried the battle to Forsan all the way and displayed a much tougher team than their record indicates.

Once again for Forsan it was senior ace Kenneth Soles who came through in the clutch for Forsan. Running from halfback with freshman Ray McKinnon doing a good job at quarterback, Soles ripped and slashed the Buffs from a six-point deficit to the victory.

But junior Donnie Gooch, the other Bison back, was another key factor in the triumph for the Howard Countians. When Soles didn't have the ball, Gooch did, so Imperial couldn't stack their defense against the heralded Kenneth.

Imperial scored in the second quarter, Forsan bounced back for a lead of 8-6 at the half, then the Buffaloes put on the clincher in the third frame.

The ball game was far from over in the final period, however, as Imperial punched to the Forsan four-yard line — but the Longhorns lost the ball on downs with a minute left to play.

Imperial's offense was in the hands of swifts Albert Quintela and Johnny Domingues. The total offense figures showed Forsan with 188 yards to Imperial's 185.

In the first quarter, Forsan drove for an apparent touchdown, but Imperial recovered an end zone fumble.

In the second stanza, Imperial stopped another Bison threat on its six, pushed out to the 31, then had a punt blocked by the alert Forsan defense.

It was a lucky break for the invaders, though, as the Buffs fumbled away the kick recovery and Imperial claimed it.

Quintela then passed 21 yards to end Harrie Simms to move deep into Forsan territory. Three plays later he handed the ball to Domingues, and the 130-pound senior scatback ripped off tackle 21 yards for the tally. Soles rushed in to block Quintela's extra point pass.

Forsan rebounded on a drive of seven plays, the finale coming with just 25 seconds left in the half. Gooch racked up the key play this time with a 19-yard ramble than put the Bisons in top position on the Longhorn 10.

Three plays later Soles bucked over from a yard out, then rammed the middle again for the two extra points.

In the third quarter, Soles unleashed the game's most spectacular play — and the one that sewed it up for the Buffs. He took a punt back 46 yards through most of the Imperial team for a touchdown. McKinnon passed the conversion successfully to slender redhead Jackie Howard.

Defensive acts for Forsan included the durable Soles, David Roberson until he hurt an ankle, Howard and Kent Sneed. For Imperial, Eddie Zettler, Jimmy Swetnam and Salvador Holquin were the stickouts.

Whoa, Longhorn

Ropesville Rips Sands In 3-B Battle, 40-0

By PAT WASHBURN
ACKERLY — The Ropesville Eagles produced a mighty steamroller attack Friday night in Ackerly that ate up yardage in vicious, powerful strokes as the Warbirds blasted past an obviously outclassed Sands Mustang crew, 40-0, in District 3-B action.

Three Eagle backs, Pat Sedgwick, Jerry Morrow and Mike Timmons, thundered from tackle to tackle behind a hard charging interior line and occasionally swung wide for good end yardage as they spoiled head coach Arlen White's bid for his first district win of the year for the Mustangs.

Timmons, although scoring only once in the second quarter, proved to be the most destructive of the rambling trio as he carried the ball 15 times for 14 yards and an impressive 9.4 rushing average. Sedgwick passed for one touchdown and was denied the gates of paydirt even though he had a 6.9 charging average while Morrow accounted for three TD's with his 6.1 mark for the night in 11 carries.

Although the Sands ground game never poked its head above the melee at the line of scrimmage, where it was stopped for a total game gain of 14 yards by a roughshod defensive unit from Ropesville, the Mustangs showed a bright spot.

The passing game sparkled — although it sputtered when faced with a chance to penetrate deep into the Eagles territory — and it certainly produced hopes of more points in the future by the luckless Mustangs. The aerial duo of freshman quarterback Lynn Maxwell to junior back Eddy Herm, although used for the first time this season as a Mustangs striking arm of the offense, looked promising and should be potent in the 1964 season when White returns a team with only one senior missing.

holding penalty rocked the Mustangs back to the 22 from where they were able to move again only as close as the 10 yard stripe on a beautiful pass from Maxwell to end Oren Lancaster.

The first Ropesville touchdown came with eight minutes left in the first quarter as Morrow went the final eight yards over center in a 62 yard drive.

Snyder Tips Tornadoes
SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers roared mightily Friday night in Snyder as they produced a tremendous offensive effort that struck down a surprised Lamesa Golden Tornado crew, 20-0.

Taking the opening kickoff on their own 48, they went into paydirt 10 plays later with Tom Kincaid doing the honors from the four yard line. A pass attempt for two points failed.

Late in the second period it was again a terrifying offense as the Bengals took over on the Lamesa 25 after a fumble. Leslie Brown went in from four yards out over right tackle with just 50 seconds remaining on the clock. The try for two points proved unsuccessful.

that took only eight plays. The try for extra points failed.

Early in the second stanza Timmons thundered through the same hole for a final half yard which was quickly followed by a pass to end Johnny Beyer for two more points. Bobby Jeffcoat followed with another quick six points three minutes later as he went over center again, this time from one yard out. The play had been set up by an intercepted pass by Sedgwick on the Sands 33 that he returned to the 11 yard stripe. It just took three plays to score. The try for extra points failed to end first half scoring.

Ropesville countered with one more six-pointer in the third period as Morrow went over right guard from five yards out. Jimmy Thompson kicked the extra points. In the beginning moments of the fourth quarter Morrow turned on one of the few long runs of the night as he picked off a Maxwell pass on his own 48 yard stripe and raced 32 yards around his own left end to score untouched. Thompson's kick was again good.

The Eagles added insult to injury with their final TD of the night with just nine seconds registered on the clock as they connected for a beautiful 78 yard pass. It was Sedgwick, a leftie, tossing to end H. T. Abston on the two yard stripe where he bulled his way out of the grasp of two tacklers into the end zone.

The Mustangs had one golden opportunity to score in the waning moments of the first half when Joe Garfias recovered a fumbled Eagle punt only four yards from paydirt. But two wayward passes and a 15 yard

Shell Institutes System To Treat Refinery Effluent

A huge biofilter will go on stream shortly at Shell Oil Company's Deer Park refinery for treatment of refinery effluent which enters the Houston Ship Channel.

The unit is a self-contained system which does not require the use of dilution water in the feed for effective performance. L. T. Wilson, refinery manager, said the installation is the first of its kind at a petroleum refinery in the Gulf Coast area.

HMH Stakes Field Offset

HMH Operators of Midland have spotted location for No. 3 Ross Foster as a location south stepout to the two-well Parochial Bade, East (Glorieta) pool of Sterling County.

Drill site is 1,787 feet from the south and west lines of section 24-22, N&TC survey, about eight miles southwest of Sterling City. Contract depth is 2,250 feet. It is on a 320-acre lease.

Elsewhere in the area surrounding Howard County, four projects were reported making hole.

In Dawson County, Texas Crude was making hole in lime and chert below 10,960 feet at the No. 1-39 Berry. This project is 500 feet from the north and 1,250 feet from the east lines of section 39-35-5n, T&P survey, about five miles southeast of Lamesa. It is approaching contract depth of 11,200 feet in search of the Fusselman.

Three of the projects are in Martin County. Austral Oil Co. No. 2 J. E. Mabee, a Fusselman and lower Mississippian wildcat, was drilling in lime below 9,962 feet. It is 853 feet from the north and 2,173 feet from the west lines of section 19-39-2n, G&MMB&A survey. This is an east offset to the No. 1 Mabee with which Austral opened the Rueben field.

Guy Mabee No. 1-B Mabee, a location northeast offset to the discovery of that field, is currently digging in lime below 4,604 feet. It spots 2,193 feet from the east and 1,794 feet from the north lines of section 19-39-2n, G&MMB&A survey. The other Martin venture making hole was Texas Crude

Oil Men To Check Two Old Problems

By MAX B. SKELTON
DALLAS (AP)—Independent oil operators meet for three days this week to check two old problems: Oil imports and natural gas price controls.

About 1,200 operators are to attend the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) meeting. A fear that foreign oil was supplanting domestic production led to the formation of the trade group in 1929.

MANDATORY

The government started a mandatory program to control imports in 1957 but the association contends changes and revisions have chipped away at effectiveness.

Harold Decker, IPAA president from Houston, asked Interior Secretary Stewart Udall last week for a chance to submit suggestions for strengthening the controls. The imports committee for the independents meets Sunday to draft recommendations for Udall, whose department runs the controls program.

GAS POLICY

Also in session Sunday will be a natural gas policy committee that consistently has refused to endorse an area formula the Federal Power Commission adopted in 1960 for controlling wholesale prices of gas sold into interstate commerce.

The independents have asked remedial legislation ever since the Supreme Court ruled in 1954 the FPC should control interstate sales.

Gov. John Connally will be keynote speaker Monday.

Connally, an oilman, agrees with Decker that imports are among the factors contributing to depressed oil conditions.

Connally talked to Udall Oct. 3 and was told the government will pursue its efforts to stabilize imports at 12.2 per cent of domestic crude production.

Income Up For Shell

Consolidated net income of Shell Oil Co. and all wholly-owned subsidiaries was 21 per cent higher for both the third quarter and the first nine months of 1963 than for the corresponding periods of 1962. Monroe E. Spight, president, announced today.

Net income for the third quarter of 1963 was $43,022,000, compared with $35,540,000 for the third quarter of 1962. For the first nine months of 1963, net income was $133,943,000. It was $110,477,000 for the same period in 1962.

Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc., Friday declared a quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share on the company's capital stock and an extra cash dividend of 20 cents a share, payable Dec. 10 to shareholders of record at the close of business Nov. 8.

This brings the cash dividends paid this year to $2.60 a share, compared with $2.35 a share in 1962.

Oil Co. and Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. No. 1-9 Breedlove, a Devonian test about 17 miles northwest of Tarzan. It was drilling below 10,284 feet in lime and shale. Location is about 1 1/2 miles northeast of the MAK pool and 5,104 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of section 9-14A, S. R. Lanier survey.

Rig Totals Take Jump

A gain of three rigs over the previous week's total was registered on Reed Roller Bit Company's Friday survey of rotary drilling operations in the Permian Basin Empire.

On the latest count, 204 working units were operating, compared with 201 on the previous report. The number also was up one over the 203 reported a year ago on the comparable date.

Lea County, N.M., despite a drop of six to 37, continued in first place.

The local eight-county area also showed a small increase, going up one to 19. Martin County continued to pace the area, unchanged at five. Borden and Dawson each had four.

A look at the area, county-by-county, follows. The previous week's totals are in parentheses.

- Andrews 10 (12), BORDEN 4 (4), Chaves 1 (1), Cochran 1 (2), Coke 1 (0), Concho 3 (0), Crane 10 (15), Crockett 4 (5), Culberson 1 (0), DAWSON 4 (4), Ector 12 (18), Eddy 9 (8), Fisher 4 (2), Gaines 9 (7), GARZA 1 (1), GLASSCOCK 1 (1), Hockley 2 (1), HOWARD 1 (1), Irion 1 (1), Kent 3 (1), Kimble 0 (1), Lea 37 (43), Lubbock 2 (1), Lynn 1 (1), MARTIN 5 (5), Midland 5 (4), MITCHELL 1 (1), Nolan 4 (3), Pecos 18 (14), Presidio 1 (1), Reagan 0 (1), Reeves 3 (4), Roosevelt 0 (1), Runnels 4 (3), Schleicher 1 (0), Scurry 2 (2), STERLING 2 (2), Stonewall 4 (3), Sutton 1 (1), Terrell 1 (2), Terry 1 (1), Tom Green 2 (0), Upton 10 (8), Ward 4 (4), Winkler 6 (6) and Yoakum 7 (5).

This is the 22nd in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of these employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Robert A. Smart Jr. reached his 15th anniversary with Cosden last Aug. 3. Looking back over the years, he observes that he has spent two-thirds of that time at the BTX Unit. Today he is stillman and first relief operator at that facility.

Earlier in his career with the company he had been a transport driver, and subsequently had worked at the paraxylene unit. The BTX keyed the development of Cosden's petrochemical complex.

Smart records Broken Bow, Okla., as his birthplace. He had a three-year stint in the Navy during World War II, half of it aboard an aircraft carrier in the South Pacific.

Square dancing is a pleasurable pursuit for Smart and his wife, the former Mrs. Hazel O'Bannon of McCamey, whom he married in 1957. She is office nurse for Dr. Bruce Sanders at Cowper Clinic. The Smarts are active in the Cosden Promenaders. Fishing at Lake J. B. Thomas and Devil's Lake take some of his off-duty hours. Last week he left for a deer hunt in Colorado.

Three teen-agers and a ten-year-old keep things bustling at the Smart home, 1809 Settles. Edwin and Mora O'Bannon, 18 and 15, are high school senior and ninth grader at Goliad respectively. Robbie and Danney Smart, 14 and 10, study in the Goliad eighth and College Heights fifth grades.

The Smarts are members of the First Christian Church.

MELODY IN FLOWERS

Into the final stages of pre-show preparation, garden club members are engrossed with work which will be exhibited in the annual fall flower show. "Melody in Flowers" is set for Saturday from 3 until 7 p.m. Sponsored by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs, the show will be staged in the ballroom of the Cosden Country Club. Tickets are available from the participating clubs for 50 cents.

Clubs which make up the Big Spring Council are the Big Spring, Planters, Rosebud, Spaders, Four O'Clock and After Five.

Headed by Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., this year's event will include a junior division for members of the Junior Garden Club. Their original work will be shown in all classes. In Class B-2, entries will be open for children of the garden club members.

In the junior horticulture division there will be four classes to include a single annual, a single perennial, a potted plant and collection of three wild flowers. Five classes in the artistic division include "Hello Mudder, Hello Fodder," "School Days," "Blowing in the Wind," "Puff the Magic Dragon," and "It's My Party."

Awards to be made, if merited, will include the tricolor in the artistic division for a high scoring design of all or predominantly fresh-cut plant material of not less than 95 points; award of distinction in the artistic division to a high scoring design of all or predominantly dried or treated plant material; award of merit to the highest scoring single specimens in the various sections.

Also, the sweepstakes award to be given by the general chairman to the exhibitor having the greatest number of blue ribbons in either major division, and junior achievement awards in each of the horticulture and artistic divisions.

MELODIC NOTES on a scrolled sheet set the theme for Melody in Flowers. Mrs. Bob Carlisle, president of the Big Spring Garden Club Council, and Mrs. Bruce Frazier of the After Five Club, chairman of dismantling, left and right, display the scroll for the benefit of Mrs. R. L. Collins, staging chairman and a member of Planters Club.

SCHEDULING is a man-sized job and Miss Bessie Love, left, is the one to do it. Also, she plans to participate in the After Five Club's exhibiting. With this in mind, she and Mrs. Joe Smoot Jr. have begun their search for plant material such as ivy streamers, caladium leaves and other foliage and greenery. Mrs. Smoot, a member of the Rosebud Club, is the show's scrapbook chairman.

final exhibit at the flower show. Participating in the event, the junior members will be under the direction of their sponsor, Mrs. John Balch, chairman of the show's junior division.

FERN AND FLOWERS, beautifully blended, will be used in many of the arrangements Saturday at the Cosden Country Club. Here the general chairman of the show, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., and Mrs. John Furquerson, both of the Rosebud Club, select fern fronds to work into their horticulture display. They are examining the green shoots for color and unblemished texture, choosing only the healthiest leaves for arranging.

"BIRD IN A GILDED CAGE," centering the display above, is only one of the many musical numbers to be depicted in exhibits for Melody in Music. Dried and natural arrangements on the table represent the show's divisions and sections including The Grand Symphony, horticulture, artistic design and junior division.

ACTUAL WORK begins with the collecting of tools and working material and the selection of plants and blossoms. When this is done arrangements are constructed and sometimes reconstructed numerous times at a work table. Shears, wire, frogs, containers, accessories and the standard rules need to be close at hand when an arrangement is being made. Mrs. John A. Coffee, Big Spring Garden Club, and Mrs. Dave Dorchester, Spaders Club, with ideas of their own to carry out, have gathered the necessary implements for arranging and are well into the second stage of preparing their exhibits. Mrs. Coffee is publicity and admissions chairman for the show. Mrs. Dorchester is in charge of entries.

Stationery Approved By Texas Governor

Texas Gov. Connally received a box of "Lone Star" color note stationery this week from Mrs. Howard S. Kittel of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Garden Clubs, Inc. Mrs. George A. Stephen, Houston, is the garden club state stationery chairman.

Each box of this note stationery has six different views depicting such Texas beauty as a windmill at sunset, Big Bend National Park, The Alamo, Texas ranching, San Jacinto monument, and the Texas state flower, bluebonnets.

Some 1,400 Texas garden clubs throughout the entire state will be selling these cards as a publicity project to promote the beauty and tourist appeal of the "Lone Star State" and as a means to raise funds for local and state garden club projects.

In Gov. Connally's message written for the brochure on the top of each of the boxes of cards, he says:

"Members of the Texas Garden Clubs have undertaken a public spirited project to publicize the beauties of our state while raising funds to support their worthy projects.

"These color note cards are exceptionally attractive and should be of substantial benefit to both the sponsoring garden clubs and all others who want to publicize the wonderful attractions of Texas." Garden clubs all over the state will have the stationery available within the next few weeks.

Fall Flower Show Slated

Ablene Garden Club's annual fall flower show is announced for Nov. 1-2 at the Ablene Garden Center, N. Third and Westwood Drive. Theme for the show is "Texas Proud and Loud" from the book by the same name by Boyce House. It is used with permission of the Naylor Publishing Co., San Antonio. Mrs. Clifford Kyker, president, has as her flower show chairman, Mrs. C. E. Farr, and staging chairman, Mrs. Dick Irion.

Hours will be from 4 until 8 p.m. Nov. 1 and from 1 to 6:30 p.m., Nov. 2. Admission will be $1.

Kentwood P-TA Has Election

Mrs. Alvin Huskey was elected president of the Kentwood Parent-Teacher Association Thursday afternoon at the school. Mrs. Hulian Harris presided.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Howard Johnson, vice president; Mrs. Walter Caddell, secretary; and Mrs. Harris, treasurer.

During the general business meeting, members voted to meet each first Tuesday of the month at 3:30 p.m. Guests present were Mrs. Dwight McCann of the P-TA Council and Mrs. Roy Ray who gave the devotion.

Expert Expounds On Diet Do's, Don'ts

NEW YORK—Soft drinks are not harmful, healthy teen-agers "shouldn't waste their parents' money on vitamin pills," and diet probably has little to do with acne, according to a leading nutrition expert.

So says Dr. Frederick J. Stare, chairman of the department of nutrition at the Harvard School of Public Health, who explodes some commonly held misconceptions about food in a special feature in Seventeen. He reveals that a "tough old piece of meat" provides the same amount of nutrition as a rare, tender piece; drinking water with meals isn't bad for you, but it may subtract from maximum enjoyment of food; and fried foods may be hard to digest for some people, but for young people or adults in good health they should not present a problem.

Dr. Stare, whose comments were in answer to teen-agers' questions in a panel discussion, gives a vote of confidence to some of their favorite foods: hamburgers, hot dogs and ice cream. The trouble comes, he points out, if a teen eats only these foods. "The most important thing . . . is to eat a variety of foods . . . I think the main thing wrong is that teens tend to favor foods low in iron and foods with not enough protein." ACNE, TOOTH DECAY Asked if soft drinks are bad for you, Dr. Stare replies that they are not, as long as they do not replace food. For example, he suggests, "at lunch have a sandwich and a glass of milk—then if you want a soft drink, have it with dessert." As to whether soda has any connection with tooth decay, the nutrition expert reveals: "There isn't any evidence that sugar which is dissolved—or which is readily soluble—favors the development of tooth decay except in a few people who have a very high susceptibility . . . obviously, sugar in soft drinks is dissolved."

A big question for teen-agers is whether acne is related to diet. According to Dr. Stare: "When you come right down to it, we don't know the cause of acne. I believe diet has very little to do with acne, if anything."

ABOUT VITAMIN PILLS Are vitamin pills important for teen-agers? Dr. Stare says no. "Vitamin pills are helpful when you've been ill, when you have not been eating properly or when your body hasn't been absorbing food properly, but these are problems for your doctor to take care of. You all look very healthy to me—I don't know why you should be wasting any of your parent's money on vitamin pills."

One of the panelists had the idea that vitamin pills give you energy. "No, they don't . . ." Dr. Stare states. "The main thing that vitamins can do is help you utilize the food you eat. If you eat a variety of foods—if you have some milk, a couple of pieces of bread, some meat or fish, some fruit and vegetables every day, eggs once in a while—you should get plenty of vitamins from what you eat to utilize your food."

Dr. Stare makes these additional points about nutrition: "Most people would be better off from the viewpoint of their health if they would have a larger breakfast . . . and then a smaller dinner."

Extremely poor eating habits could affect a teen-ager's future children.

Although milk is more important during the development of your body, it is desirable for everyone to drink at least one or two glasses a day.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Congratulations are in order for MR and MRS J. R. CHANEY who observed their golden wedding anniversary Saturday. They chose not to have a celebration other than a family dinner with their children, MRS. CLYDE JOHNSTON, MRS. GEORGE AMOS and JIM BOB CHANEY and their families.

A picture postcard came in the mail from the island of Kauai, Hawaii, from MRS. TOM GOOD, MRS. MODESTA SIMPSON, MRS. RONNIE KING and WADE SIMPSON who are vacationing. The family said "Aloha" to all their friends and the readers of The Herald.

A big thrill came to CAROL JEAN HARALSON and her parents, the JACK HARALSONS, when Carol Jean was selected to be a member of the jumping team at the University of Texas where she is a freshman. She hasn't done any riding or jumping since the family left Chicago several years ago, so she was excited to get back on a horse and join in the jumping.

COLLINGS were to leave today for their home in Eastland after spending the weekend with the Herbert Keatons. The Collings had been in El Paso for him to hear cases as an associate justice of the 11th District Court of Civil Appeals. The couple made their home here for a number of years.

When you go out for a drive sometime soon, drive by Johnson and Fifteenth and look on the Fifteenth Street side at the big elephant ears growing by the side of the house there. They are really something to see. Also, because I would love to be able to grow some and never have had any luck, drive by the C. B. SOUTH home at 112 Lincoln on the east side and see their beautiful red geraniums. At the JOHN COFFEE home, 513 Edwards Circle, there are some gorgeous Pink Cloud geraniums.

MRS. J. N. (JUDY) KUY-KENDALL was a happy new member of the TESCO Quarter Century Club at the annual dinner Thursday night. She was dressed in a black dinner dress that was topped with a sweater beautifully embroidered with gold thread and highlighted with gold sequins. Her daughter, MRS. BOB POOL came from Houston for the big affair as did their dear friend, MISS MARY GILMOUR who came over from Odessa. Miss Gilmour has been teaching in the Odessa Junior College for the past eight years.

Old Aunt Mary of poem fame has nothing on me when it comes to cooking and waiting for the boys to come. Our two oldest are here for the weekend from San Antonio and Austin and we are having an early Thanksgiving today.

Holiday cooking is underway at the ROSS BOYKIN home with Mrs. Boykin's mother, MRS. ARCH HALE of Carrollton, at the helm. The house has been full of the delicious aroma of lemon-pecan fruit cake which is supposed to be packed away for the holidays but it may not last that long.

MR. and MRS. ROXIE DOBINS spent the weekend in Dallas to attend the Tech-SMU game.

MR. and MRS. ALBERT HOBERTZ are in Dallas marketing for their shop. In Fort Worth they planned to visit MR. and MRS. LES SNOW who are former residents.

Iron And Relax In Comfortable Area

Dear Heloise: Has anyone ever suggested moving the iron and ironing board into the bedroom? I know this may sound odd, but for me it is just the thing.

I get so tired of looking at the kitchen walls. It seems I spend most of my time in the kitchen preparing meals, sorting clothes, preparing baby's formula, putting away groceries, etc. Just being in another room is helpful.

The other day in a mood of darning to be different, I set up my ironing board in the bedroom, turned on the radio and listened to some relaxing concert music as I ironed. Believe me, I am always going to iron in there from now on. "Just to get away from it all."

On second thought, we quote "bed and board" so why not have an ironing board in the bedroom?

Dear Heloise: Before I use a new baby blanket or cotton flannel bed blanket I soak it for ten minutes in clear warm water. I then squeeze out most of the water and let it drip dry. Be sure not to wring them.

Dear Heloise: For those who are on a tight budget and want something different, I suggest they make small hamburger patties and cook them in a cast iron skillet. Then all you have to do is pour in a can of onion soup, after browning the hamburgers, and let it simmer awhile.

Francis Beazley officiated in the double ring rites. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bentley, Clyde, and Mr. and Mrs. Don O. Corwin, El Reno, Okla.

White gladioli, mums and palms on white Grecian pedestals marked the nuptial scene. Mrs. Leslie Green, organist, provided a program of music and accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot who sang "Ave Maria" and "Blessed Be This Day" by Caron.

Attired in white organza and taffeta, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal dress was street length and styled with a fitted bodice and soft pleated skirt. Slippers were of white embroidered satin. Her shoulder length veil was secured by a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a white Bible with a bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

While you're wondering if the time will ever come when you can wear that new fall outfit—bought about the time you saw the first flight of geese headed southward—the local buyers will be off to Dallas to select fashions and accessories for spring.

Among the Dallas-bound travelers this week were Iohn Phillips, Maude Waters and Ethel Stockton of Hemphill - Wells; Clara and Jim Zack of Zacks; and Adolph Swartz and his wife Dorothy. We'd say the temperature just isn't cooperating, and speaking of weather, a girl really can't out-guess it. Nevertheless I would suggest that you be prepared for a quick change in weather and apparel.

One of the busiest ones about town this week was Ora Badger (Mrs. B. B.) who, between duplicate sessions and birthday celebrations, had herself a full schedule. Just between you and me, there were surprise gatherings all over the place, gifts and good wishes from her many friends. Then when the championship game was played Thursday evening, who was a champion? Ora, naturally, and she was one of those who carried off a duplicate trophy.

WANDERER'S DREAM HOME

Home Is Wherever The Highway Leads

A SPOT TO ENTERTAIN

CANDLELIGHT DINNER FOR TWO

By JO BRIGHT Home is many things to many people. It's the place there's supposed to be no place like it's where you hang your hat—it's where the heart is—and the place that "sweet dreams will ever take you."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson have joined the ranks of proud new home owners. For them, home is everything they had hoped for. The kitchen is convenient and the closets are roomy.

The Watsons own one of those mobile marvels—a 55-foot long trailer, and there's a long, long trail winding between here and Birmingham, Ala., where it will head next month.

Mrs. Watson is living now in the Lockhart Addition in a trailer which she has traded in on the new one. Her husband, who was stationed at Webb Air Force Base for eight years, is now in Yokota, Japan.

"I have written to him three times a week for the past two years," said Mrs. Watson, "and recently the letters have all been about our new trailer."

The Watsons have lived in trailers before, but nothing like this one. The 10 by 55-foot mobile home contains a kitchen with full-sized stove and refrigerator; dining room, living room, two bedrooms and a bath.

Shades of brown and gold are used with white in the color scheme throughout the home. The brown upholstered divan in the living room is placed under a mural done in black and white with touches of gold.

HERE COMES THE HOUSE

WEARY TRAVELERS REST

White grillwork separates the dining area which contains a walnut table and chairs with a china cabinet where Mrs. Watson displays souvenirs from all over the world.

The two bedrooms are spacious. One is done in white and beige tones, while the master bedroom is brightened with yellow and brown.

The Watsons hate to leave Big Spring. He has only a little over four years to serve before retirement. After that, the long, used in the pappered walls of long trailer may be rolling back into town—for good.

Dr. Francille Maloch, assistant professor in the School of Home Economics at Ohio State University, asked some 120 housewives what were their most-liked and least-liked household tasks and asked for their reasons.

Homemakers interviewed listed cooking, cleaning and washing most often as the best-liked tasks. The three predominant least-liked jobs were ironing, dishwashing and also cleaning.

Most of the women said they like work that brings a sense of satisfaction and shows results—particularly results that are appreciated by the family. Among the most frequent phrases used for describing the least-liked tasks were "short-term results," "dislike time spent," "monotonous" and "not creative."

The women interviewed were full-time urban homemakers in the middle social positions. Each had a kindergarten child and other children under 8 years of age.

Now it is my turn and I intend to wage a get-to-know-your-student-squadron-campaign. Beginning next Sunday, the column will spotlight some member of the Student Squadron each week. We will meet officers of the Student Squadron, members of the Student Officers Council, class officers, members of the Student Council, etc.

Giddy Or Zany Aprons Are Wrap-Arounds

AP NEWSFEATURES

Aprons have become so fancy that many a smart cookie baker is tying one on as a wrap-around skirt. The fashion rule for the kitchen and patio is to match the apron length with the skirt length, so that it is hard to tell whether anyone has a skirt on under it anyway.

Naturally, the party aprons are giddy, or zany affairs. An example is a hula-like profusion of grosgrain ribbons. Others are patched, appliqued, or fluttering with fringe.

Traditional shortie aprons in burlap make dishwashing gay-er with floppy, gaudy felt flowers. One apron - type has its own matching terry cloth towel hanging on built-in waistband loops.

Illness Not The Only Problem That VA Patient Must Face

By JO BRIGHT

Illness is not the only burden that hundreds of patients at the local Veteran's Administration Hospital must bear.

Whether they are chronically ill or confined briefly for injuries or short-term treatment, many patients are deeply involved in personal difficulties with which they need help.

Patients who have social, emotional or financial problems which interfere with their making maximum use of hospital treatment are the prime concern of Grover C. Shaunty, new chief of social work service at the hospital.

Shaunty's office staff consists of himself, one clinical social worker and a secretary. Unfortunately included, but of invaluable help, according to Shaunty, are two volunteer workers who assist in the office.

NOT MEDICAL

Shaunty stressed that he has nothing to do with medical treatment of patients or determining their eligibility for benefits. Staff physicians diagnose and prescribe treatment for physical ailments and a psychiatrist is available to attack what would come under the heading of mental health.

Counseling, however, is an important part of the social work service at the hospital. Inevitably, personal problems accompany a physical one.

The main concern of the social service workers at the hospital is to aid with marriage counseling, vocational guidance or to assist alcoholics with their problem. A great part of the staff's time is spent planning for the discharge of chronically ill or geriatric patients. They work to gain the cooperation of both the patient and the family in this area.

NEW RESIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Shaunty and their daughters, Delette, 3, and Denise, 7 months, moved here recently from McKinney where he was a clinical worker at the VA hospital. He grew up in Pasadena, attending high school there, where he met his wife, the former Kathryn Ann Fairchild. Shaunty attended Texas A&M for a year and then transferred to Baylor University. He completed work there in the summer of 1959 and received a BA degree with a major in psychology and minor in sociology.

Mrs. Shaunty attended Baylor

MR. AND MRS. G. C. SHAUNTY, DENICE AND DELETTE

for two years. When she married and moved to Tallahassee, Fla., with her husband, she was a student at Florida State University for a year while he did graduate work there on a National Institute of Mental Health scholarship. He received a master of social work degree in 1961. He accepted a position in the McKinney hospital and began work there while his wife returned to Baylor to earn her BA degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaunty live at 414 Westover Road and are members of the Baptist Church. They say they prefer centering their activities around the programs of the church. "We follow Baylor's football efforts with enthusiasm and are looking forward to great things from the Bears this season," said Shaunty.

All members of the family enjoy swimming. Tennis is another sport that holds their interest. "My first love, other than the family, is music," said Mrs. Shaunty. "I hope to be able to continue music study." She plays the piano and plans to take voice training later. Mrs. Shaunty has done her bit to further upcoming National Art Week, too. She has just registered for lessons at the junior college.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Morton, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lloyd, Eldorado.

The couple will reside at Murt's Lodge at Lake Whitney where the bridegroom is employed as an engineer with Graham and Hicks, Consulting Engineers.

The bride attended Andrews High School where she was active in the Spanish Club and on the annual staff. The bridegroom attended Big Spring High School.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By LINDA RYAN

You are invited tomorrow to see the result of the OWC project of redecorating. This will be at 10 a.m. at the boys' dorm in the state hospital. Anyone who would like to donate cookies or punch to this open house, please contact Mrs. R. McClurg, AM 4-2362.

The 331st monthly bridge was Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Ivan Crane. Co-hostess was Mrs. Randy Lewis. The high score prize went to Mrs. Lewis; the second high, to Mrs. Carol Blough. The low was Mrs. H. L. Jones.

Mrs. Mel Bunn is enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. Henry Mallette of Mundy.

The next session of the Christmas workshop will be Nov. 4 at 1:30 p.m. This session will feature the seed pod ornaments.

All are invited to attend "Project You" at the Service Club Monday mornings, 9:30-11 o'clock. This is sponsored by the Servicemen's Wives Club. There will be free nursery and coffee. The idea behind the project is helping "you" at home in doing your own hair styling, interior decorating, landscaping etc. Tomorrow will be the second session.

Mrs. Stallings from Merle Norman and Gary Don from the base beauty shop will work together creating daytime and evening make-up and hair styles.

The theme of the third meeting, Nov. 4, is the "home florist indoors," by Faye's Florist. This will feature corsage making, live and artificial flowers, holiday motifs etc. The next session, Nov. 11, is on "home landscaping" given by Eason's Garden Center. This will be on coordinating and pulling together collections of furniture, accessories etc. The last session will be a style show, given by Hemphill-Wells at 8 o'clock in the evening. Bring your husbands if they are interested!

The Hi and Bye coffee, given by 65-A, had a hobo theme. Invitations were written on the back of canned-goods labels. On each table was a hobo pack. The centerpiece on the refreshment table was a "kettle" of bronze flowers over a "fire." Hilarious was the skit of an OWC board at a luncheon. The audience "read the minds" of the board during a dull speech. The chairman of the coffee was Mrs. Dwight Hayworth; the entertainment chairman, Mrs. B. Blansett, the decoration chairman, Mrs. Charles Reed, and the refreshment chairman, Mrs. R. Herig.

Permanent party newcomers were Mrs. Charles Wahl from James Connally AFB, and Mrs. John Roberson from Pope AFB. Both joined the 3560th PTS group. Mrs. Dwight Hayworth brought a guest, Miss Torchie Hundley.

Also welcomed were the wives of 65-C, Mrs. Wm. Holt, Mrs. T. Sharp, Mrs. Robert Bradley, Mrs. J. Johnson, Mrs. George Buchkowski, Mrs. Jay Schroeder, Mrs. Wm. Reesman, Mrs. Kent Fry, Mrs. C. Roulson, Mrs. Larry Wusk, Mrs. Rudolph Svoboda, Mrs. Murray Sloan, Mrs. Peter McCutchen, Mrs. M. Cummings, Mrs. Larry Jordan, Mrs. Lloyd Bradley, and Mrs. John Whittier.

Miss Mills Becomes Bride Of C. Wilson

Miss Valera Mills became the bride of Charles Wilson Saturday at 5:30 p.m. in a ceremony performed in the parlor of the First Methodist Church, Andrews. The Rev. James Tidwell read the nuptial rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mills, 507 NW 4th St., Andrews. The bridegroom, who has been residing at a lodge near Lake Whitney, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, 2500 Seminole Drive.

The marriage was performed before a sunburst arrangement of white chrysanthemums and greenery. Miss Margaret Wil-

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Bill Yadon of Lubbock who also was attired in a beige suit. The best man was Autry Moore of Stanton.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church. The bride and bridegroom were joined in the receiving line by their parents and Mrs. Yadon.

Ecu lace over yellow linen covered the refreshment table which held the three-tiered pale yellow cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with bridal figurines. Guests were registered by Miss Carlin Mills.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Barney Hinds, 1603 Kentucky, with Mrs. W. S. Goodlett leading the study of "The Christian Family and Its Money."

Mrs. Roy Rosene gave the devotion, and scripture reading was by Mrs. John Knox. Mrs. Bert Shive offered the opening prayer and read the outline of United Nations Day to be observed Thursday. The meeting closed with the circle prayer.

Mrs. W. D. Duggan will be hostess Nov. 12.

JANET LEIGH

Keeps Her Figure By Exercising Regularly

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD — As I came into Janet Leigh's dressing room at Paramount, she was slipping out of a dress for for which she had just been fitted.

"What a figure!" I exclaimed. "Two children and a 22-inch waist without a cinch." Edith Head, the famous fashion designer, said.

A body like Janet's could not be an accident. It takes work to get back into shape after having children, so I asked her how she keeps in shape.

"I work out three times a week when I'm not working on a picture," Janet replied. "But when I'm acting, I do 10 minutes every morning before going to work. I don't have to exercise long, if I do it regularly."

Janet's routine begins with limbering, stretching and breathing. Then she lies on the floor and does sit-ups—touching first her knees with her fingertips and then her toes. Then she tucks her feet under a heavy chair and from a flat position on the floor she raises herself without the help of her arms.

"This is very good for the stomach muscles. You have three layers of muscles in the abdomen, and in order to keep this area flat, you have to reach each layer."

Janet does another routine standing up and bending and twisting. She touches the back of her left heel with her right hand and the back of her right heel with her left hand. This stimulates circulation and keeps the waist trim.

"I finish by rotating my head and then my shoulders. This way, I start the day relaxed."

Janet praised the clothes Edith Head designed for her for "Wives and Lovers."

"I feel the biggest mistake people make is to buy without a plan. You have to decide what has to be replaced, what colors you are going to concentrate on and how many new things you need. If you do this you won't buy foolishly."

"It is so easy to have a cluttered look, to wear too much jewelry or too many accessories. The most important question you ask yourself is what can I take off."

"I think buying a dress is not unlike buying a house. If you don't see beyond the trim you'll end up with something that won't stand up. You have to have basic construction, materials that will clean and keep their shape."

"I've known Janet since she was a starlet, and all this time she has managed to keep the same lovely complexion."

"I don't wear make-up base when I'm not working, and I have never cleansed my face with anything but my special formula. It is sold in health-food stores. It cuts the grease, removes all make-up and washes off with water. I finish with a moisture lotion and that's all I do."

TAKE INVENTORY
 With Lydia Lane's 12-page booklet, "Inventory of Beauty," you can analyze yourself from head to toe. Janet Leigh personally tells you how to care for your complexion. Other stars cover every phase of beauty—hair, make-up, charm, personality. Also included is a

Prayer Chairmen And Mrs. Hitt Make Plans

Mrs. C. O. Hitt, prayer chairman of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church, held a called meeting Friday morning at the church with representatives of all the church circles.

Prayer chairmen from each of the circles participated in planning the year's work and scheduling special events. Mrs. Hitt announced that this year's theme for the annual Lottie Moon Week of Prayer will be "Crown Him, Lord of All." This week will be observed at the church Dec. 9-13.

Mrs. Hitt gave an inspirational challenge as a devotion, saying that prayer and missions are inseparably linked together.

The closing prayer was worded by Mrs. G. G. Morehead, after which refreshments were served to 12 circle members and a guest, the Rev. R. F. Polk, pastor.

Mrs. Loma Wynn, program chairman, will present a panel to discuss "The Code of Ethics." Tom Spell will speak on "The Minimum Foundation."

The Howard County Teacher's Association will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Forsan School cafeteria.

Bottles Decorative

In this era of casual entertaining in home recreation rooms, empty bottles can be most useful as containers for unusual floral arrangements.

Bottle containers inflict few limitations. One of these is that most bottles have a slender neck that requires a vertical design in the arrangements. A few types of bottles, however, have squat shapes that call for low rounded flower arrangements.

Generally speaking bottles are symmetrical in design, but the over all arrangement is most attractive in an asymmetrical pattern or informal balance.

Players attending the Friday duplicate session at Big Spring Country Club were reminded of the Winner's Game which will be held at the club Nov. 5.

For the 11 tables in play, north-south winners were Mrs. Charles Tompkins and Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr., first; Mrs. Riley Foster and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, second; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, third; and Mrs. Hollis Webb and Mrs. Ray McMahan, fourth.

East-west winners were Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. B. B. Badger, first; Mrs. Don Newson and Mrs. Gerald Harris, second; Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. Ayra McGann, third; and Mrs. Robert L. Sandner and Mrs. Glen Lingenfelter, fourth.

Elegance Is Found In Senior Set

Elegance is most likely found in older women, designer Simonetta of Italy and Paris said here during a recent visit.

"A woman is truly elegant when she has found her own type and can play it up... elegance like everything in life must be worked for."

The fiery wife and designing partner of Fabiani was here to visit a suburban New Jersey store carrying her line. Of American department store shopping she said:

"I am just not used to the way women here just pick off the racks and try on, do everything by themselves. They are so surprised when I speak to them and offer them help."

The customers' biggest complaints, she told a trade press reporter, is "they say I don't think enough about fat people or old people. They want to know why a dress or suit does not come in size 18 or larger... They don't seem to realize that I am just the designer... at a certain point the manufacturer takes over."

Bogan Wished Well In Move To Dallas

S. T. Bogan Jr. received good wishes by the dozens Friday when associates gathered to wish him well in Dallas. A specially decorated cake depicted his move to "Big D," where he will be assistant to Frank L. Durham, vice president and treasurer of American Petrofina Company of Texas. His family is expected to join him soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roxie Dobbins and Beverly are in Dallas this weekend for the SMU-Texas Tech game.

Don Snyder, a former Cosden trainee, visited the offices Thursday. A resident of Tyler now, he was en route to Carlsbad for his wife and two daughters who had been visiting there.

Oils and pastels by Mrs. E.

E. Morris and Mrs. Marshall E. Brown are sharing the display area in the Cosden Snack Bar. The paintings will be exhibited through next week.

Friends in the service department helped Mrs. Egelee Patterson celebrate her birthday with cake and punch Monday.

Another birthday observance Friday feted Mrs. Jack Hanson. Mr. and Mrs. Fern Cox and daughter, Lita, are headed for a two-week vacation in Colorado Springs. They will be guests of Mrs. Cox's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jackson.

Farewells were bade Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Newell. They will spend some time in Dawn with her parents, the Carl Wimberleys, before announcing future plans.

Fabric Find Is Fabulous

Cire is a new word which has found its way into fashion stories originating both from Paris and New York during the past year. It is a fabric with a glazed, irregular surface which in its most popular color, black, looks like anthracite coal.

Fashion writers struggled to describe it adequately after its introduction by European couturiers Yves St. Laurent, Louis Feraud and Nina Ricci.

What is it? Is it basically a double fabric with arnel on the surface and other yarns on the back to create a quilted, or puffy texture. This is flattened out, waxed and lacquered to provide its glazed and shiny surface.

Since it is both wrinkle-resistant and water-repellent, it lends itself to glamorous formal-wear as well as opulent formal-wear. At the moment the material is only available in Europe, but American fabric converters are working with researchers in order to develop the effect.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1963 SEC. D

FIRST WORD "UGH" — SECOND "A-CHOO"
Primitive man, like modern man, was victim of bad colds

Get Ready, You Are Due 3 Colds

By SAM BLACKBURN
I am at this moment deaf in the ears, hoarse in the throat, red in the nose, green in the gills, damp in the eyes, twitchy in the joints and fractious in temper from a most intolerant and oppressive cold.

These words were written 100 years ago by Charles Dickens and, in the opinion of most observers, the great British novelist came close to a classic description of an ailment which is the bane of millions each year. This is the season of common colds and a survey shows the average citizen will have three of the 500 million colds which will afflict Americans this year.

In Big Spring, citizens have no right to hope they will fare better than their fellows in other lands.

RAY OF HOPE
Their one ray of hope rests in the fact that it is a widely practiced custom in this community to take what the layman calls "cold shots" but which physicians more accurately describe as anti-influenza vaccine. Since the ailment which had Dickens in its grasp a century ago is often one of the several influenzas, it is possible that some of those who have taken "cold shots" may escape one or more of their allotted "bad colds" this winter.

Doctors say that the serum used for combating influenza is now about 80 per cent effective. In other words, if 100 individuals here have been vaccinated all but 20 will be protected against its ravages. Unfortunately, this does not mean these 80 won't have an illness which will match the symptoms described by Dickens. The common cold is a disease and unfortunately, doctors say, it is probably a disease caused by half a dozen or more virus. So far, no proved, guaranteed and gold plated vaccine against "common colds," has been found.

REMEDY
In the 17th Century, a British physician prescribed the following remedy for a cold:

"Hang your hat on the bedpost, drink from a bottle of good whisky until two hats appear, then get into bed and stay there."

Doctors today do not endorse this medic's advice but they are frank to admit that part of it is the best possible way to cope with the disease.

In fact, omitting the whisky, bed rest is the common treatment for colds prescribed by modern physicians in the case of severe colds. The common cold, the nation's No. 1 disease, still thumbs its nose at the doctors—there is no way to guarantee it won't assail a victim; no miracle drug to lick it once it has its grasp on its victim.

The best science has done is to produce certain drugs which diminish the discomforts of the ailment and provide symptomatic relief for colds with their accompanying aches, pains and fevers.

SECOND WORD
There is a high probability the first syllable ever uttered by man may have been "ugh." Second and third syllables, very likely, were "a-choo." The primitive man dwelt in caves and shelters ideal for breeding of colds.

While you reach for a tissue and take antihistamine drugs to alleviate your cold discomfort, our primitive ancestors sang wild songs and did weird dances to drive away the evil spirits which they believed caused the disease. There is no doubt the dances were good exercise but they did not keep the cavern from sneezing.

In 400 B.C. Hippocrates, father of medicine, noted that bleeding was a common treatment for a cold. He added the candid observation: "it didn't do any good."

One of the most famous cold sufferers of history was Augustus Caesar. He tried to ward off the disease by wearing the equivalent of a thick overcoat, four waistcoats, an underwaistcoat and a stomacher. Still the illness which will match the symptoms described by Dickens.

Early Sign Of Christmas

Cheryl Hoisager is busy reproducing letters which will go to several thousand Howard County residents, reminding them not only that Christmas is coming up fast, but that it is a time for Christmas Seal purchases. Mrs. E. P. Driver, seal sale chairman, said that the letters, with a supply of seals, would soon be put in the mails. Eighty-two cents of each dollar stays in the county to fight tuberculosis.

old boy had colds and waddled miserably about his palace with runny red eyes and a drippy nose.

MUMMY

In the 1500s, doctors decided that powdered Egyptian mummy was the sure cure for cold. The difficulty with the remedy was that it seemed to make the patients sneeze even more.

If you had a bad cough from a cold in the 17th century, the doctors had you place some of your hair between slices of bread and feed it to a dog. The only noted result was that the dog sneezed, too.

In the 1890s, a patient described the treatment used to combat a bad cold: "We were rubbed lavishly with hot grease; a stinging plaster of mustard and white flour was applied; we sat for half an hour before bedtime with our feet in hot mustard water and then we were put to bed surrounded by hot soapstones. In the morning, we were damp." It seems likely.

Sir William Osler, eminent physician of the Victorian era, summed it up:

"Treat a cold with contempt." The French Canadians used to treat the colds with doses of mold from the top of preserves and jams. In Russia, a sore throat was sure to get a most memorable treatment—a salted herring in a rag was draped about the throat.

All of these remedies were accepted in their time.

PET CURE

And today, if you have a cold, there is a good probability a friend will solemnly assure you that the way to cure the cold is to—here follows his own pet cure.

But today as a hundred years ago, the situation is not unchanged.

"If you come to me for treatment for that cold," a doctor is quoted as having told a patient, "I can cure it for you in two weeks. If you treat it yourself, the thing will hang on for a fortnight."

Your one hope, if you are one of the thousands who have taken the anti-flu shots, is that what you have regarded as colds maybe one of the several forms of flu and that you are lucky enough to have been one of the 80 per cent on whom the vaccine is effective.

Otherwise, you'll probably have your three colds this year just like everyone else.

Salt Cedar Bill Okayed In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted approval of a bill to eradicate salt cedar and other water consuming plants in Texas and New Mexico's Pecos River Basin.

An aide to Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said prospects for the bill's passage in the House are favorable. Anderson introduced the measure.

Designed to increase stream flow for irrigation, the program would cost an estimated $2.5 million initially, and about $600,000 for annual maintenance.

Water salvaged by elimination of undesirable vegetation would be reflected in increased flow from springs, more stream flow, greater artesian pressure and rising ground water levels. Undesirable vegetation would be replaced by more beneficial varieties, such as grasses.

Monday's Civil Docket Lists Twenty-Four Cases

Twenty-four cases are on the civil jury docket which is to be sounded in 118th District Court at 10 a.m. Monday. A jury panel is to report at 1:30 p.m. to serve in the trial of those cases which are announced today.

Judge Ralph Caton said a number of the cases on the docket have already been removed from the list. Some have been settled, the court has been advised, and others will have to be passed to another term. The original docket included 17 suits for damage; six for compensation and one for debt. A Devotional For The Day

Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no kind of hurt was found upon him, because he had trusted in his God. (Daniel 6:23. RSV.)
PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the example of the many heroes of faith. Most of all we are grateful for the victorious faith of our Lord. Bless us daily with courage to put our faith into practice. In the precious name of Jesus. Amen.

Combining Assets For Profit

Another new industry has taken root in Howard County with opening of the Howard County Feed Lots 12 miles northeast on the Snyder highway. While the approach is relatively new for this immediate vicinity in that the lots are equipped to do a feeding job that the average person cannot do as well, the idea is basic. What it boils down to is taking two of our locally produced assets and blending them into a higher-priced asset. When livestock is fed out scientifically and under expert supervision two things usually happen—the gain in weight is high priced gain, and the feed put through the animal is therefore marketed at a higher price. Assuming a steady market (which is never really that way but which equates with steadiness when played over a long period of time), lower priced cattle are started on feed. As they take on finish, quality of the animal increases. Thus, in the end the animal commands a higher price per pound for its total weight as well as reaping the reward of the increase in weight. For instance, if a 500-pound steer cost 20 cents a pound, the initial cost would be $100. If by reason of higher finish, the animal increased to 750 pounds and sold for 25 cents a pound, the gross margin would be $75.50 ($62.50 of it in gain, and $25 in price increase because of better grade). There will be times when the market will slump after animals have been put on feed, and a breakeven may be considered reasonable. By the same token, the market will rise at times, and the margin will be considerably greater. It has to be played on the average. The important thing is that we now have facilities where producers can now put together the combination of good cattle and good feed and thus realize more for both. Over a decade ago the Texas & Pacific Railway Company and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce joined hands with local chambers in a vast industrial survey of West Texas. The conclusion was that the ranking opportunity of the region was in becoming a feed belt as well as a breeding belt. It is gratifying to see a healthy start has been made. We hope farmers and ranchers will make maximum use of this opportunity.

Deserved Honor

Big Spring as well as Webb AFB takes pride in the confirmation of Howard J. Withycombe as brigadier general effective Nov. 1. The promotion is well deserved and recognizes the effectiveness of our wing commander in his career dedicated to the service and protection of the United States. Only once before has the base had a general officer, that being Fred M.

Dean who became a brigadier general after he had been slated for another post. Thus, for practical purposes, the wing will have its first general officer in regular command. We feel this is a mark of distinction not only for Gen. Withycombe but also for Webb. We are mighty proud both for the commander and for his command.

Holmes Alexander Jack-And-Jackie In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil—Americans have an asset of considerable value on the Brazilian political mart. But there's a question of how best to use it. It is the asset of President Kennedy's personal image here. True, the Brazilian masses have never seen the man, and 80 per cent are illiterate and could not have made a study of his mind, motives and character. Nevertheless, above the glamour that attaches to ruling the most powerful military nation on earth, the romantic Latinos find these appeals in Mr. Kennedy, mostly gained through radio and gossip.

HE IS TALL and handsome. He has a beautiful wife. He has intervened in racial crises on the Negro's side, and must, therefore, favor race-mixing—a way of life in Brazil. He has intervened in a Labor situation against Big Steel, and thus, therefore, be against "economic imperialism" which is a demon phrase in Brazil.

A JACK-AND-JACKIE show in Rio would go over big, as all the interested parties seem to agree. But they don't agree on the purpose of the J-J Show, or on how to bill it. There are these variations in the minds of Brazilians and Americans who have expressed opinions to this reporter.

1. A Kennedy visit should be used to overthrow President Goulart. This viewpoint belongs only to the most ruthless and outspoken, but not necessarily the most impractical, political operators in town. They say that Joao ("Jango") Goulart has lost control of the country, forfeited the respect of 90 per cent of Brazilians and should be separated from his office. But how, it is asked, can President Kennedy pay a personal visit to President Goulart for any such purpose? The answer is that there could be a huge publicity build-up in which it would be made clear that the American President was calling at Brazil in honor of the people and Constitution of Brazil. "Jango," as many call him, would have to choose between retracting an invitation to JFK or meeting those conditions of the trip.

IT SHOULD BE quickly added that those in top command of American policy here regard the "Oust Jango" plan as fantastic and ill-conceived. Mr. Kennedy has already received and accepted President Goulart's invitation for a visit—some time in the dim future. Our President would have to behave as a guest. Beyond that, this scheme is said by the opposition to belong in the trash basket with all other schemes for using American connivance to get rid of Goulart—even if he is, admittedly, ruining the country.

2. A KENNEDY visit should be used to strengthen President Goulart. The American government would undoubtedly like to bring its show to Rio, a government spokesman tells me, "if only we were sure that Goulart is here to stay." The thinking behind the plan to strengthen Goulart and to hope that he'll last through the next national elections in 1965, rises from an estimate of the Brazilian people—and their army. Goulart may be a feckless ruler, and some call him a cynical one, but Brazil likes to think of itself as a nation run by law and not by men. An American policy of strengthening Goulart would be the highest possible compliment to Brazilians, for we would then be treating them as we have always treated ourselves.

BUT AS SOON as this much is said, something of a contradictory nature has to be added. Although the U.S.A. continues some forms of AID to Brazil, American officials don't like to hear it said that we are "supporting" his wasteful, corrupt, unstable regime. Until Goulart puts his house in order, he does not qualify for partnership in the Alliance for Progress. THERE COULD hardly be a more paradoxical policy than ours for Brazil—as it emerges to an on-the-spot observer. But despite its grotesqueness, the situation does call upon both countries to stand up and do the right thing. There is, buried deep in certain American attitudes, the suggestion that we will support the Brazilian Constitution, but that Brazilians must make the most of that document. By an absolute majority—205 votes—in the Brazilian lower house, any President may be constitutionally removed by impeachment. The house then chooses a successor until the next election.

Should that happen, the Jack-and-Jackie Show would have just about everybody's approval. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Billy Graham

Can you tell me how to get closer to God through prayer? I am not growing in my prayer life—S. E.

Prayer is a spiritual exercise, and the only way to become proficient in any exercise is by practice. The best way to learn to pray is to pray. I find that the more I pray, the easier and more natural it is to pray. But by the same token prayerlessness can become a habit—if we practice not praying, we lapse into prayerlessness, and pay the price of feeling "afar off" from God. The Bible says: "Draw nigh unto God, and God will draw nigh to you." He rushes to those who lift holy hands to Him in prayer. "Where two or three are gathered in His name," He will be in the midst of them. Remember, prayer is not just words. Our prayers are to mean something to us if they are to mean anything to God. Remember too, prayer is a two-way conversation, and the most important part of it is listening to what God has to say to us.

Credit Not Always As Rosy As It Seems

Just as it takes two to make a peace so also it takes two assumptions to create a debt. The lender—the bank, mortgage buyer, insurance company, or finance company—assumes the borrower will pay. And the borrower confidently assumes he'll be able to pay.

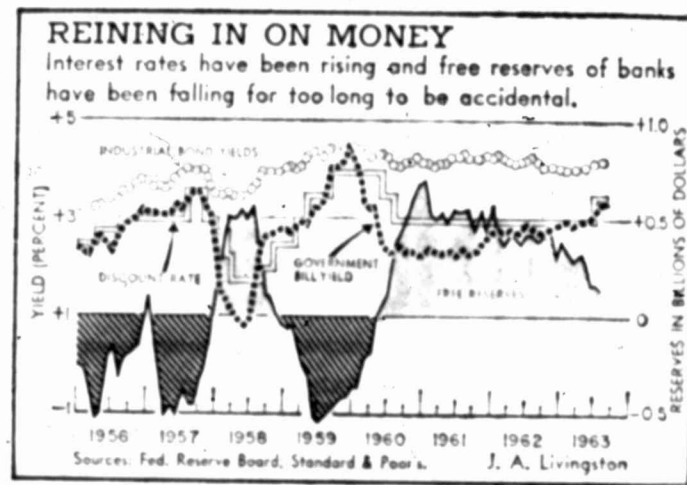

SUCH ASSUMPTIONS underlie the ambitious financing of the far-flung, imaginative Webb & Knapp realty operations. Yet, at the annual meeting, chairman William Zeckendorf, Sr. confessed that the company would have a "difficult time" meeting its short-term obligations next year.

Is the company solvent? By Zeckendorf's definition, yes. Our company is worth a great deal more than it owes.

AND WHAT happened also to Major Realty Corp., a corporate complex with holdings in Florida, Philadelphia and Newark? Theodore U. Nelson, president, disclosed in the annual report that the two previous interest payments on the company's $6,037,500 seven-year 6 per cent bonds were met "with great difficulty through last-minute borrowings at a high rate of interest." Now the company is working on a plan to defer interest payments on the debt.

AGAIN, CREDITORS assumed the best and borrowers misjudged their capabilities. Personal incomes were cut, deals didn't come through, jobs were lost, men were put on early retirement. Building contracts lagged behind projections. Cost exceeded architects' estimates. Who knows the mischances?

That's always the way with credit. Difficulties develop, and then we look back to see the reason why. That's what we did.

Interest rates have been rising and free reserves of banks have been falling for too long to be accidental.

WHEN LOANS are made or bonds sold, all is optimism. Lenders seek borrowers. If this bank or that investment banker won't come through, another will. If a loan matures, some new creditor is found to take it over. The toilsome process of amortization of making ends meet, of collecting enough income to offset outgo, is lost sight of in the zest of easy money and optimistic entrepreneurship. Money chases after borrowers.

What does this mean? What has it got to do with the price of steel, or the stock of International Business Machines on the New York Stock Exchange, or the prospects for continued prosperity in the United States? Just this: It's possible to have inflation and not see it.

TO BE SURE, Secretary of the Treasury Dillon and Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, have repeatedly said that we aren't having price inflation. The wholesale commodity price index has hardly moved—up or down—in five years.

Why, we even have excess capacity? Factories turn out steel, aluminum, automobiles, washing machines, etc., with increasing efficiency. Workers have been laid off as rapidly—often more rapidly—than new jobs have been created. Result: A reservoir of unemployed—roughly 5.5 per cent of the labor force. How, in such an economic setting—plenty of supply and scant scarcity—is inflation possible?

SINCE 1946, "savings" in the U.S. have tripled. Time deposits in commercial and savings banks, savings and loan shares, E&H bonds, and mutual fund shares now aggregate $300,000,000,000 versus $100,000,000,000 17 years ago. This money has to pay interest or dividends. It's money (except for E&H bonds) that has to be put to work.

And this is inflation potential. Its magnitude is one reason why, of late, the Federal Reserve Board has been applying the brakes to free and easy credit and calling attention to "credit deterioration." Free reserves of all banks have been falling, and banks in larger cities have actually been "minus" reserves. Only the smaller banks have excess lending capacity—without resort to Federal Reserve borrowing. At the same time, interest rates have been helped upward—to exert a deterrent effect on optimistic entrepreneurs (see chart).

SIGNIFICANTLY, Joseph P. McMurray, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, has warned savings and loan associations against raising dividend rates. One in California has gone to 5 per cent. He doesn't want the chase after money (funds to invest) to force S&Ls to over-optimistic assumptions about borrowers' ability to repay. He who anticipates "difficulty" can best avoid it.

Around The Rim Where Your Paper Comes From

Take a look at the sheet this issue of The Herald is printed on. You may have held it without a thought, as have I, until you begin to consider its origin and its history. It could have come from a long way off—from the hills of Newfoundland, as a matter of fact—and once it could have been a spruce or a fir tree.

THE SOUTH has emerged in recent years in the manufacture of this type of paper (we call it "newsprint") from pine; but I would think you would have to say that the heart of newsprint production is still in the Canadian and Scandinavian climes.

Perhaps the world's largest producer is the Bowater Company, an English concern that has been prospering and growing for years, has pulp and paper mills in far corners of the globe.

BOWATER OPERATES one of its largest mills at Corner Brook, Newfoundland, a gleaming little city of some 35,000 people nestled in the hills overlooking the Humber Arm, a fiord-like body of water that flows into the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Into it spills the Humber River, one of those rolling, glistening, pure-blue mountain streams that beckons the artist's brush. And down this river, almost endlessly, roll the logs cut from the trees that cover the thousands of Newfoundland hills in dense forests.

WOODSMEN, either under wage or contract, go back into the forest fastness and fell the spruce and the fir. These are cut into standard four-foot lengths, logs of around six inches in diameter. Into the river they go, to wind their way down to the Bowater plant perched at the Humber's mouth.

"Booms" keep great tracts of logs under control in the stream, until it is time for them to be hauled up and put through the grinders of the mill.

GIGANTIC KNIVES first debark the logs, and then these are put through finer-cutting knives that begin to shred the wood, and the "chewing-up" process continues, along with addition of water and a cooking process with sulphurous acid, until there begins to emerge through the mill's maws a great glob of material not unlike oatmeal. Some bleaching is added, and the drying and rolling process begins, this going on, until, at the end, a giant roll of paper comes out, dry, clean and as white as this edition you're reading.

THE LONG ROLLS are sliced by great knives to the widths that various newspaper presses require, then go by conveyor for weighing, wrapping, marking, and ready to be trundled shipside.

This lacks a lot of being a technical explanation (and newsprint production is highly technical) but is intended to convey the thought that behind a commonplace process is a lot of capital, research, skill and labor.

ALTHOUGH THE Bowater plant at Corner Brook is highly automated, some 1,600 men are employed, working in three shifts. The stream of newsprint to feed the continent's press seems endless.

So do the magnificent forests of Newfoundland. Bowater has what you might call timber rights on over 11,000,000 acres, and Nature is growing trees faster than they can be cut.

THIS ALL IS completely fascinating to the fellow who's not familiar with it. Just don't be too casual about the paper you hold in your hands.

Marquis Childs NASA Lands In Mississippi

PICAYUNE, Miss.—Whether The National Aeronautics and Space Agency lands a team on the moon may be problematical but one thing is certain—the agency has landed on Mississippi.

Since the first trees were bulldozed down on May 18 the Mississippi Test Operations Center has made remarkable progress. This lonely piney woods country is being transformed into a center for testing the first and second stage engines of the Saturn V that will carry three men into outer space with the moon as the goal.

SO DIFFICULT and delicate is the testing process for boosters with a 7,500,000-pound thrust in the first stage, lifting a load of many tons into space, that an area of 141,900 acres must be cleared. Part of this 13,550 acres in the construction zone, is being acquired outright. The balance in the easement zone can be used for lumbering and other operations but all dwellings must go. The test explosions set up vibrations that are shattering to buildings not specially constructed.

BY A CURIOUS set of circumstances this almost empty country with its moss-draped live oaks and great stands of pine where moonshiners were seldom troubled is becoming the focus—the next to last stage—of one of man's greatest adventures. Prior to the selection of this area between Picayune and Bay St. Louis 23 other sites ranging all the way to Wake Island in the Pacific were surveyed.

Mississippi was chosen because it is the center of a network of waterways. By barges on those waterways can be shipped the Stage One and Stage Two boosters which are so big that they could not move by any land route. Only 35 miles away in New Orleans is NASA's Michoud operation where Boeing, once construction is finished, will begin work on the moon ship's Stage One boosters.

IT WILL TAKE only a short haul to the static firing stands here and technicians can move between the two centers with ease. From Seal Beach in California will come by way of the Panama Canal and the Gulf of Mexico the second-stage boosters which North American Aviation is making.

Under direction of the Army Corps of Engineers 15 miles of new canals are being dredged, the Pearl River is being widened and docks to take the massive engines off specially constructed barges are already being built even though the water is still to be brought to them. A lock 850 feet long with a lift of 20 feet must be constructed.

THE IMPACT ON Mississippi of the operation is bound to be great. The first phase of construction will cost $250,000,000 and a payroll of 1,700 persons will man the installation. NASA people have a way of talking about "first stages" as though once the landing on the moon has been successful a computer service will be established with the run sooner or later to be extended to Venus and other planets.

The men directing this project talk not of it but of when in the midst of an upheaval of land and water they are looking to that day in late 1969 or early 1970 when, after the static firings have proved out the boosters, the great engines will again be loaded on barges and start on the 1,064 water miles to Cape Canaveral. That will be the day before zero for the lunar journey. (Copyright, 1963, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

David Lawrence A Way To Halt Deficit Financing

WASHINGTON—Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, who is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has a simple suggestion which could clarify the question of whether the proposed tax-reduction bill ought to be passed in time to take effect on January 1, 1964, or be deferred. The Virginia senator told his correspondents it would be only fair to all concerned for the President to let Congress have a look at the coming federal budget early in December instead of on January 10 next.

THIS WOULD GIVE the American people and their representatives in Congress an opportunity to judge whether the tax cut is worth the risks entailed. Mr. Byrd points out, for instance, that only twice before in more than a hundred years have there been three consecutive years of deficits during peacetime and never before in American history a "planned" deficit as distinguished from a deficit arising from unforeseen circumstances. The President's plan calls for at least five consecutive years of budget deficits.

MOST DISCONCERTING of all the factors involved, moreover, is the anticipated presence of $95 billion of unexpended balances as of June 30, 1964. At least $30 billion of this sum will not have been committed by contracts or loans or otherwise, and payments could be deferred to later years. Certainly, argues Senator Byrd, somewhere in that $95 billion the executive departments of the government could find enough cash to eliminate the deficit of $9 billion which is planned for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

Most members of Congress have no way of knowing now whether the expenditures for which the money was originally appropriated could, upon re-examination, be reduced. But Congress is entitled to the information. Take, for instance, the fact that for the current fiscal year—which ends June 30 next—Congress was asked for $4.9 billion for "foreign aid," though there already were available from previous years unexpended balances. Have not changing circumstances in the world affected the program?

THERE ARE PLENTY of other items which need renewed study in the light of changing circumstances. Economies can, of course, be made if Congress demands them, but if the government departments are permitted to pile up unexpended and unobligated balances from year to year, there is very little incentive to economize.

What the country needs to know is more about the status of government finances before a decision is reached concerning the proposed cut in taxes. Senator Byrd feels that his committee and the Congress, as a whole should have a formal statement from the executive branch of the government as to what its revised budget estimates will be for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964, and some indication of expenditures for the next year before a judgment is made on how much tax reduction can be considered.

THE VIRGINIA SENATOR believes that the few dollars a year that will be given the average man in tax reduction may be an inconsequential gain, since the money the taxpayer has already put aside in savings could be substantially reduced in purchasing power if inflation comes. This, Senator Byrd thinks, will happen as a consequence of an unprecedented series of annual Treasury deficits. (Copyright, 1963, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

To Your Good Health Skin Cancer And Result From Too Much Sun

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. Dear Dr. Molner: What is skin cancer and its cause? Can a person get too much sun?—J. H. C.

Cancer is a disease that scares most people. It is a condition which results when the cells making up a certain structure of the body begin to multiply too fast.

The body, you see, consists of microscopically small cells. Whether bone, blood, skin, or various types of flesh, all are made up of cells. Each of these is a very tiny organism. As long as we live, these cells are continuously wearing out and being discarded. When one wears out, another cell divides, and the two new ones grow to normal size.

If, for reasons still unknown, suddenly start to divide and to grow into new large ones, and to do so without regard as to whether this is necessary to replace a dead cell, then we have "cancer." That is why, at first, a lump or growth develops. (However, not all growths or tumors are cancerous.)

Eventually so many cells appear that there is not enough nourishment to support them. The worst trait of cancer—this unlimited cell division—is that once begun, it can spread. A "benign tumor" doesn't spread. A malignant one, or cancer, does. So unless the cancer is removed by surgery, or destroyed by X-ray or radium, the growth continues until finally it overwhelms some vital organ of the body.

In that sense, skin cancer is like any other cancer—malignancy of the bone, the liver, the stomach, or various organs. But, and this is most important, skin cancer is located where you can see it. The "sores" that do not heal can be removed.

We don't know what causes cancer. If we did, we probably could find a way to prevent it. We know that constant irritation is one contributing cause—like a jagged, sharp tooth. We know that various chemical irritants, over a period of time, will result in the disease. We know that people who spend a great deal of time under the hot sun are more likely to develop skin cancer; therefore, too much sun can be a factor. (This doesn't mean that a moderate amount of sunshine is bad. It isn't; it's good.) But farmers, sailors and such outdoor people, after many years, are more likely to develop skin cancer than those who don't get so much sun.

Dear Dr. Molner: My grandson, now a year old, is unable to sit alone or hold anything in his hands. One specialist diagnosed the condition as brain damage caused by breech birth. Is there any help for such a child?—G. M. S.

G.M.S.—This becomes a matter of training a child within his capabilities, or determining what should be done.

DISCUSS FIRST AID COURSE

First Aid Course Launched

A Big Spring police captain and a Webb AFB captain are conducting a course in Red Cross First Aid for local nurses, ambulance drivers and interested personnel from the base.

Instructors are police captain L. A. Hiltbrunner and Air Force Capt. Marion R. Tibbetts.

Hiltbrunner said the course opened at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home with 14 students attending opening night instruction in treatment of different types of wounds.

He said a total of 12 hours instruction in all phases of first aid would be given. Course periods of two hours from 7 to 9 p.m. were set up for Thursday, Monday, Tuesday and the following Thursday.

The course is being conducted with the cooperation of Nalley-Pickle and Ryver - Welch Funeral Homes, Hiltbrunner said.

Hospital Board Agenda Carries Local Interest

Members of the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools will consider two items of interest to Big Spring at its Nov. 4 meeting in Austin. One will be bids for an agricultural lease on around 200 acres of Big Spring State Hospital land not needed by the facility, and the other will be criteria for site requirements for the proposed School for Mentally Retarded Children.

The school is to be located west of the 100th meridian which runs from the north, between Childress and Quanah, to the south, between Eagle Pass and Crystal City.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce here approached the state hospital board when the school was first approved. The local men were told that the state would not consider building the children's hospital close to a mental hospital.

"We have the land right here, and there is plenty of space for the school without crowding the present hospital," Carroll Davidson, chamber manager, said Friday. "Mayor George Zachariah has proposed joint action by the city officials, county officials, businessmen, and interested citizens, to use the excess land for the new hospital. It is level, and in a good location. There is every reason to encourage the use of the land at no further expense to the state."

Slim Jordan Plans To Go On Coasting

Slim Jordan is about to coast into his retirement Friday, and he intends to go right on coasting and enjoying it.

About three months ago he underwent surgery for hernia and has been off from work as a T&P Railway Co. switchman. He got to thinking: "I'll be 65. Why not take my retirement while I can enjoy it?"

That's exactly what he plans to do come Nov. 1. He and Mrs. Jordan plan to continue to make their home here until after the first of the year, and then they may move to Shreveport, La., to be near relatives—and near some of his favorite fishing haunts.

Fishing has always been his hobby, and he has a stack of photos of fine catches to prove his skill at it.

"I've enjoyed my work with the Texas & Pacific, every minute of it," he said. "I just want to enjoy my retirement, too."

Slim Jordan is really a "junior," and his father worked as a telegrapher for the T&P until he was past 70, then took his retirement. He died when he was 71, and that lesson wasn't lost on Slim.

Born Oct. 22, 1898 at Pleasant Hill, La., Steve V. Jordan began as an engine watchman there on Sept. 5, 1914. This was about midway between Marshall, Tex., and Boyce, La., the then-division point. His job was to keep the fires going overnight when locomotives tied up at Pleasant Hill for crew changes. When morning rolled around, the engine had to be fired up and ready to go.

After a time, he moved to Marshall and went to work in the roundhouse, moving in 1918 to firing switch engines and making occasional trips on the road. It was backbreaking work, for boilers were still coal-fired. From 1918-41, he switched in Shreveport, where he also worked as yardmaster.

Transferring to Big Spring March 15, 1941, he switched and on occasions served as assistant yardmaster. He was assigned to Baird for a year and a half during the war (1943-43), putting in 12 hours a day, seven days a week to stay up with the heavy wartime traffic.

The greatest improvement in his 49 years of railroading has been diesel locomotives. They are a far cry from the wedge-tender switcher he first fired, cleaner, more comfortable, and loaded with power.

On Nov. 29, 1929 in Shreveport, La., he was married to Mrs. Ella Hatcher, who had three daughters and one son. Slim Jordan is anxious to visit the "kids" more often. They are Mrs. W. P. Martin, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Dwite Gilliland, Roswell, N. M.; and Robert Hatcher, Odessa.

He is a member of the Masonic Orders here (a 32nd degree Mason), of the Suez Shrine Temple in San Angelo, and of the Methodist Church.

contract whereby the rates could be adjusted, Burgess said. The purpose of the suit is to determine the city's authority to set the water rates, he said.

The answering petition, filed by the attorney general Friday, Oct. 18, contends the contract is a valid instrument, and the city is bound by it to furnish water to the hospital at the rate of 10 cents per thousand gallons, the city attorney said. A copy of the state's petition was received here last Monday, Burgess said.

"I don't think it's necessary for a jury to hear the case," the attorney said, "for there are no disputed questions of fact. There are only questions of law."

City officials estimated the city loses about $6,000 a year furnishing water to the hospital. Purchased from the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the water costs the city about 35 cents per thousand gallons including treatment costs.

The original contract between the city and the hospital was negotiated in 1937.

Petitions Filed In City's Rate Suit

Petitions have been filed in the city's suit against the State Hospital Board, and the trial may be set for hearing in December, according to John Burgess, city attorney.

In its suit, the city is seeking to raise water rates for the water furnished Big Spring State Hospital. The state legislature passed a resolution Feb. 19, 1962, granting the city permission to file its suit.

Burgess said the city is alleging the water contract with the hospital had no termination date and is against the public's interest.

The petition also alleges there is no escalator clause in the we took this big V8 and put it in the '64 Chevy II...

Chevy II Nova 4-Door Station Wagon. Luggage carrier rack shown, optional at extra cost.

WOW!

A pretty potent mixture. The car's the same size. As trim and easy to handle as ever. But now you can have a full-grown V8 in it. A Turbo-Fire 283* that turns out 195 hp. It's the kind of machine that doesn't take much coaxing to set in motion. (Especially when you consider it has over 60% more power than the Chevy II that won North America's toughest rally last spring—the Shell "4,000.") And we've also added a choice of a 4-speed Synchromesh transmission* with a floor-mounted shift. But in case your tastes run somewhat milder, we should point out you have a pick of three other engines as well. The standard 4 (on 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6*.

And, of course, whatever one you decide on, it's reassuring to know you're getting a car built with the pure and simple integrity of a Chevy II. (Upkeep has been even further reduced this year by such refinements as larger self-adjusting brakes.)

It's a simple matter to spot one of these '64's by styling touches like the new grille design and trim accents. But we'd like to suggest a more memorable way. Drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

Boys And Girls Patrol Crosswalks

Patrol boys and girls have been appointed to handle traffic at three school crosswalks at the Lakeview School, according to Erastus Dawson, principal.

Twenty-seven patrol boys and girls have been named as replacements for a similar group which graduated last year. Dawson said. Only outstanding students were selected, he added.

Appointed captain of the group was Richard Green, 15-year-old ninth grade student. His lieutenants are Janice Johnson and Minnie Jenkins, both ninth graders. Sergeants are Joyce Wrightsil, Ethel Green and Ardella Brown.

There are crosswalks at the north, west and south sides of the school. Dawson continued, "and each crosswalk is patrolled by two patrolmen when students arrive and depart from the school." One of the student officers is in charge of the three patrol duty groups.

Four patrol groups alternate duties at the crosswalks. Members, with leaders listed first, are:

Patrol No. 1—Ruby Johnson, Carlos Johnson, Jackie Wright-sil, Donna Green, Izell Johnson and Gloria Nelson.

Patrol No. 2—Joyce Gossett, Marva Foster, Clarence Forman, Bobbie Byrd, Linda Jones and Dedria McDade.

Patrol No. 3—James Wrightsil, Shirley Thomas, Harry Williams, Ricky Thomas, Ruth Jackson and Patsy Brown.

Patrol No. 4—Sherry Wrightsil, Sandra Jones, Delores Wrightsil and Alfred Hasting.

"This is the first year we've had paving around the school," the principal said, "and there is a little more enthusiasm."

Mary Jane Club Wins Float Contest At Coahoma

By CAROLYN WILSON
Kay Porter, a Coahoma High School senior, was crowned Homecoming Queen at the Coahoma-Jim Ned football game Oct. 18. Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porter, was escorted by Jim Haley, son of Mrs. Annie Pouncey, and crowned by Elaine Carpenter, last year's queen. Saturday morning activities began with the Homecoming Parade. Winning floats were made by the Mary Jane Club, first place, and the junior class, second and third places. The Exes sponsored a barbecue at noon.

The junior high elected Charlotte Walker, head cheerleader, Football Sweetheart. Since this was the junior high homecoming as well, all ex-sweethearts, ex-cheerleaders and ex-football captains were presented at the halftime activities.

Tuesday the Spanish Club voted to order club pins. They also discussed plans for the Spanish Club Halloween party Tuesday night. Prizes will be given for the best costume and members are preparing a Spanish haunted house. The seniors had work-day last Saturday for a money-making project. They have been selling monogrammed sweat shirts. The juniors had their first concession at Friday night's game and the sophomores are selling beanie caps monogrammed with Coahoma Bulldog. The freshmen are selling pennants. Cheerleaders are selling football dolls with a player's name and number printed on them. These dolls are in red and white for high school players and blue and white for junior high players.

Friday night the Coahoma Bulldogs lost 35-0 to the Merkel Badgers. Next week the Bulldogs will play Rotan in Coahoma.

Strippers Moving Into Cotton Fields

Possibly 300 strippers are at work in cotton fields in the eight counties in the Big Spring district, a check Friday indicated. Howard County, with an estimated total crop of 36,500 bales now has ginned 30 per cent of its crop. The total ginnings through Friday stood at 10,900 bales. The crop is 80 per cent open. Most of the fields have been treated for defoliation and many strippers are already at work. This week, if the weather continues good, hundreds of acres of cotton will be machine pulled.

Some farmers are now waiting for the first frost and the bursting of delayed bolls which will follow the appearance of below freezing weather.

Most observers feel that the first freeze should fall not later than two weeks from this date. Last year, the first 32 degree night of the year was Nov. 7. Over the years, the average first frost date has been Nov. 7.

Farmers said that the late summer showers caused many fields to put on new cotton. The bolls of this cotton are now nearly ripe. Given additional sunshine, they will open normally. If this cannot be provided, then a freeze would do the job almost as well.

Some stripping is being delayed because farmers are waiting for the possible frost and for the complete defoliation to be accomplished.

Through Friday, the eight counties in the district had ginned 102,768 bales. The estimated crop for the eight counties is 380,000 bales. Fisher County is most advanced with its harvest. It was estimated that 55 per cent of its 35,000 bale crop has already been ginned. The fields are 95 per cent open. Total ginnings for Fisher County are 19,450.

Martin County, with an estimated 75,000 bale crop, has ginned the least percentage of its crop. Through Friday it had handled 11,624 bales—only 16 per cent of the crop. Dawson County, the giant of the lot with cotton ginned—27,591 bales.

The continued dry weather and cool nights are a boon to the cotton farmers but are beginning to cause grave concern among ranchers. Only 10 inch of rain has been gauged through last Friday morning at the U. S. Experiment Station. If this figure is not changed by rains between now and the end of this month, October, stands to go down in the record books as the third driest October in 63 years.

Some counties in West Texas have asked to be rated as disaster areas. This would permit the ranchers to buy badly needed stock feed at lower prices. Grass is becoming acutely short in some areas and water supplies are dwindling dangerously.

Sample Receipts Higher At Cotton Classing Office

Due to favorable weather, sample receipts continued to increase at the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Abilene. According to B. B. Manly Jr., the total bales classed through Oct. 18, reached 143,519 as compared to 66,742 at the same time, one year ago.

Sample receipts from District 1 increased from around 5,500 the previous week to about 7,000 for the week ending Oct. 18. The portion of District 1 served by the Abilene Office is composed of Glasscock, Howard, Martin, and Midland counties.

A look at the grades from the district shows an increase in the amount of white cotton. Forty per cent of the cotton classed was white which is a substantial increase over 31 per cent for the previous week. The light spotted category made up 59 per cent of the total, while one per cent was spotted.

Staple lengths in the district remained about the same. Eleven per cent was 7 $\frac{1}{2}$; 36 per cent, 29-32; 21 per cent, 15-16; four per cent, 31-32; three per cent, 1-inch; two per cent, 1-1-32; four per cent, 1 1-16; six per cent, 1 3-32; 10 per cent, 1 1-4; and three per cent, 1 5-32 and longer.

The micronaire remains good. Only one per cent miked below 3.5, 95 per cent miked between 3.5 and 4.9, and four per cent was 5.0 and higher.

Stars Live It Up In Ritz Comedy

The motion picture version of the long-run Broadway comedy "Come Blow Your Horn" opens at the Ritz Theatre today.

Starring Frank Sinatra, the comedy includes in its cast Lee J. Cobb, Molly Picon, Jill St. John, Barbara Rush, singing star Phyllis McGuire, TV personality Dan Blocker and Tony Bill, who makes his film debut as Frank Sinatra's younger brother.

The plot swings around Frank Sinatra, who plays Alan Baker, oldest son of Molly Picon and Lee J. Cobb. The role of his younger brother, Buddy Baker, is enacted by Tony Bill. Alan is a disgrace to his family. His father thinks he should spend more time with the family's artificial fruit business, and his mother thinks it's high time he got married.

A Gathering Of Eagles

Rock Hudson and British actress Mary Peach spend intimate moments in "A Gathering of Eagles," opening Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In in Big Spring.

HIGH LIVING

But Alan is not interested in business or marriage. His week ends, which start on Thursday and end on Tuesday, are filled with women, whiskey and exciting New York night life. In addition to scores of minor flirtations, Alan concentrates mostly on Jill St. John, who is his voluptuous upstairs neighbor; Phyllis McGuire, an out-of-town buyer married to Dan Blocker; and Barbara Rush, a sensible career woman.

This, more or less, is the state of affairs when the movie begins. Then, the already precocious world of the Baker family begins to disintegrate further when Buddy, who is a square and hard-working kid, decides he wants to get his share of girls and freedom. He wants to be just like his big brother Alan, so he moves away from his family and shows up at Alan's penthouse with luggage and long-range plans to become a notorious playboy.

paved many of the world's most memorable tales of great adventure. Among them boldly stands Jules Verne's imaginative story, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea," which Walt Disney has made into an elaborate motion picture. It opens Thursday at the Ritz.

This is a tale which has kept readers all over the world spellbound for generations. With Kirk Douglas, James Mason, Paul Lukas and Peter Lorre sharing the acting honors, the Disney film adds scope to Verne's prophetic invention of an atomic powered submarine in the hands of an obsessed killer and his crew.

Much of the action was photographed fathoms deep in the Caribbean under the direction of Richard Fleischer, with players and camera crews working in special diving suits.

GIANT SQUID
The attack of a gigantic squid on the Nautilus is a highlight of other highlights in Captain Nemo's vengeful destruction of oceanic shipping and the bat-les between him and his captives on the sub, leading up to the final atomic blast which sends the mad skipper and his craft to the bottom of the sea.

In Technicolor, "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" is directed by Robert Fleischer from the Earl Felton screenplay which was based on the famous novel by Verne.

Top talents were brought together for the production of "The Misfits," slated to open here today at the State Theatre.

The picture stars Clark Gable, Marilyn Monroe and Montgomery Clift, with Thelma Ritter and Eli Wallach co-starring. The screenplay for "The Misfits," a Seven Arts Production, is the first written by Pulitzer Prize-winner Arthur Miller, one of America's foremost contemporary playwrights.

The result is a new adventure into the weird world of Edgar Allan Poe and his terrifying characters designed to thrill and shock motion picture audiences.

Texas Land Story Told

The Fracklyn Land & Cattle Company by Lester Fields Sheffy; University of Texas Press, $6.50.

Stories of land companies attempting to carve out empires of the vast open domain of early Texas are legion, but perhaps there has seldom been as good a job of sifting fact from fiction and documenting the residue as Lester F. Sheffy of Canyon has done in "The Fracklyn Land & Cattle Co." The result is interesting reading, plus a priceless contribution to the compilation of the region's history.

SYNDICATE
A syndicate headed by Charles G. Fracklyn and including Frank Brown, a New York attorney, embarked upon a ranching adventure on the wild frontier by acquiring 527,920 acres from the New York & Texas Land Co., Ltd., Col. B. B. Groom inspected the prospective tract and became its first general manager. To finance the land purchase, together with materials supplies and cattle, the Fracklyn Land and Cattle Company was organized with $3,000,000 capital stock. A lot of money in those days. Among investors was an in-law of the House of Rothschild.

WATER
Then, as now, water presented a problem, and earliest attempts to develop included a seige of tank building. Barbed wire and fence posts had to be freighted in from great distances; hundreds of cow ponies had to be acquired. Fires on the lush prairies of the Panhandle presented occasional threats, as did even the Indians, and spasmodic torrential rains. One October it rained so hard horses could not traverse the pastures.

On top of this, the market for cattle broke. Dissension arose with Harrold & Kard who had sold 60,000 head of cattle to Fracklyn. Settlers moved into one block, which naturally contained some of the best water, and caused constant problems. Col. Grooms could never quite content himself with the sea of land that reached into Carson, Gray, Hutchinson and Roberts counties; he constantly was submitting proposals to buy more, despite Brown's reminders: "I must call your attention to expenses" and "we don't want to buy all Texas."

REVERSALS
By 1886, the company had reeled under successive reverses and was taken over by bondholders. George Tyng was brought in and dedicated himself to banishment of Col. Grooms. He remained as Texas manager of the White Deer

Filing Delay Might Cause Loss Of Benefits

Delay in filing a disability claim under the Social Security program can cause loss of benefit payments, Erven Fisher, Social Security manager in Big Spring, said Saturday.

Many people with serious illnesses or injuries fail to inquire about disability benefits because they rely on information from friends and neighbors which may be incorrect or out of date, or think their condition isn't serious enough or will improve. These people risk possible loss of their social security benefits.

Fisher suggested that people who have impairments that keep them from working should check with the social security office within four months from the date they had to stop working. This will help speed up any claim for benefits and mean a prompt payment of the first check. He stressed that disabled persons should not wait more than 18 months before inquiring.

There is a six-month waiting period before benefits can be paid. But back benefits can be paid for only 12 months.

Eagles Roosting In Everglades

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The American eagle, said to be a vanishing bird in America, is putting in one of its rare appearances in Everglades National Park.

About 20 of the proud birds, known as Bald Eagles, have been spotted on roosts in Mahogany Hammock, located 10 miles inside the park.

"They are wise birds," said Ernst Christensen, park naturalist. "Don't think for a minute they haven't found out they're safe here in the park."
