Explosion Rips Secret Atomic Laboratory

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—An explosion at a top-secret government base shook San Antonio today, knocking out windows more than 10 miles away, but apparently caused only minor injuries.

A. O. Mueller, acting operations officer at the Atomic Energy Commission's Medina base facility, said TNT being loaded into a storage building exploded about 10:30 a.m.

Three men working with the explosive ran away in time to avoid serious injury, he said.

The explosion knocked out plate glass windows in several downtown stores, in suburbs miles away and startled persons in big office buildings.

Three men were loading the explosive into an igloo, a storage shed, Mueller said. They saw a flash and realized something was going to explode. So they ran. Then it exploded. But they got only superficial injuries.

There were no reports of injuries caused by flying glass when windows fell at schools and stores.

Mueller said nuclear material was involved but declared there was no danger of contamination. He said there were several thousand tons of TNT in the igloo when the explosion occurred. The reason the workmen escaped, he said, is that the igloo is specially designed so the roof will blow off first in an explosion and funnel the blast skyward.

In Washington the Atomic Energy Commission said the explosion was in a plant engaged in the assembly of nuclear weapon components.

The AEC said the plant involves "testing, assembly, repair, modification and disposal of nuclear weapon components."

It added that these include "electronic and mechanical assemblies as well as chemical high explosives and radioactive materials."

An AEC spokesman said the plant employs about 600 workers and was built at a cost of approximately $18 million.

A big cloud of smoke kicked up by the blast could be seen more than six miles away.

The Texas Department of Public Safety office in San Antonio went on emergency alert and the Bexar County sheriff's office sent all available cars to the base.

The base does work on atomic projects for the Atomic Energy Commission and its work is considered highly secret. Sheriff's deputies were stopped at the gates of the base and not allowed inside to investigate.

Window panes were broken at the Continental Bus Station, a life insurance office and the office of the Texas Commission, all downtown and at least 10 miles from the base.

Several pieces of granite, already loosened for a building project at the Bexar County courthouse, were knocked off and fell several feet.

The explosion shook houses in Alamo Heights, a northern suburb of San Antonio, and rattled windows in the city auditorium where 5,000 delegates are attending the Texas Southern Baptist Convention.

The Medina base is southwest of Lackland Air Force Base off U.S. Highway 90. It is in an isolated area.

U. S. Envoy Demands Soviet Free Professor

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler today demanded the immediate release of Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn, Yale University professor held by the Russians on spy charges.

The ambassador spent 15 minutes with Valerian Zorin, deputy foreign minister. He also demanded the right to see Barghoorn and to have the charges against him given in detail.

In a brief statement, the embassy said the ambassador "registered a strong protest at the completely unwarranted arrest and detention of Prof. Barghoorn and the unjustified long period of time between his arrest and notification of the American Embassy by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs."

The Foreign Ministry announced the arrest of the visiting professor Tuesday, said it took place several days ago but gave no other information.

"The ambassador demanded immediate access to Prof. Barghoorn and requested his release forthwith," the statement continued.

Barghoorn, professor of political science at Yale, has written a number of books critical of the Soviet system and was here on a tourist visa preparing to write a further book.

He was last seen by an embassy official on Oct. 31 when he came for drinks to the apartment of Walter Stoesel, minister counselor in the embassy. At that time he said he expected to leave the Soviet Union the following day.

Earlier, the embassy issued a statement saying Stoesel had protested the arrest to Mikhail Smynovskiy, chief of the American section of the Foreign Office, and asked for all details. Stoesel repeated the request made Tuesday by Consul Thomas Fain to see Barghoorn immediately.

"The answer of the Foreign Ministry representative was that no details would be provided at the present time, but the request would be passed along," the statement said.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry informed the embassy Tuesday that Barghoorn, author of several books about Russia, had been arrested for espionage during a month's visit here as a tourist.

A high-ranking U.S. source in Washington said the arrest of the 52-year-old specialist on Russia cast a cloud over negotiations on U.S.-Soviet cultural exchanges which are to start in Moscow next Tuesday.

Barghoorn's plight will be a thorn particularly in the negotiations dealing with the exchange of students and professors.

Barghoorn was connected with the exchange program as a member of the National Executive Committee of the Inter-University Committee on Travel Grants.

This group handled such questions as placing of Soviet students in this country and screening American students going to the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry notified the U.S. Embassy in Moscow Tuesday that Barghoorn was arrested several days ago, accused of spying.

There was speculation that his arrest was another tit-for-tat cold war move.

Three Russians accused of spying were rounded up two weeks ago at Englewood, N.J. Two were expelled from the country. The third, Igor A. Ivanov, is being held for trial.

Some sources speculated the Kremlin may hope to exchange Barghoorn for Ivanov.

Power Struggle Hits Iraq; Palace Attacked

Time Running Low On Civil Rights Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Time may be running out fast for any congressional action this year on civil rights.

Administration leaders long ago abandoned hope for a Senate vote but had counted on getting action this year at least in the House.

They aren't so sure now, but they are privately voicing doubts.

The House Judiciary Committee has approved a broad civil rights measure with the support of the Kennedy administration. Now it must figure a way to get the bill on the House floor for a vote.

WRITTEN VIEWS

Committee members have been given until next Monday to submit their written views on the bill for inclusion in a formal report. Not until the report is written and available for general use can the Judiciary Committee request a hearing before the Rules Committee.

The request for a hearing could go to the Rules Committee chairman, Howard W. Smith, D-Va., late next week.

Smith is a zealous opponent of the civil rights bill and, while he has not disclosed his course of action, colleagues say he would resort to any legitimate means to block it.

DELAY HEARING

He cannot ignore indefinitely a formal request for a hearing, but he can delay the hearing and force a majority of his 15-member group to order a session over his objections.

It could take a week or longer to get a committee meeting if Smith objected.

That procedure alone would delay committee consideration until after Thanksgiving.

Once a hearing is ordered, Smith charts its course. He is expected to hear every member of the House who has an interest in the bill.

WEEK OF DECISION

(AN EDITORIAL)

This is the week of decision for Big Spring. This is the week that the United Fund solicitation must be concluded. A faithful few, with Jack Y. Smith at the top of the list, have sacrificed all the time and toil that can be expected. You just don't go on begging forever.

This community needs to raise some $5,000 more, to meet the goal of keeping 13 welfare and youth organizations moving ahead for another year. Failing this, it means that these agencies are reduced to shuffling around town, hat in hand, trying to bolster budgets that have been soundly set but not met.

Is this the way you want community welfare handled? There are people who agreed to work for the United Fund who haven't done the job. There are many, many others who are becoming community "free riders" by not having any part at all.

If you are among these, won't you please examine your conscience, this very hour, and do what a warm heart and good civic spirit prompt you to do? Are you willing to share the blame for a failure?

For the giver, it's as simple as mailing a check to the United Fund, or calling the office at AM 4-5588. But do it now. This is the last week. The response in the next two days ought to be an outpouring for triumph, not a giggardly thing that puts a black mark on the whole community.

Mrs. Nhu Heads Toward Children

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu booked passage to Rome and a reunion with her three younger children today, leaving behind a bitterly phrased written statement in which she:

Blamed the United States anew for what she called "the Vietnamese tragedy."

Vowed to return to this country to try to "awaken the conscience of the world before the Communist danger which is becoming more and more traitorous under the label of peaceful co-existence."

Defended as martyrs her husband and brother-in-law, strong man and president respectively of the overthrown government of South Viet Nam, who lost their lives during the military coup.

The former First Lady of the deposed Ngo Dinh Diem regime has been in seclusion here with her eldest daughter since the coup. The Rome reunion, scheduled to take place in an unidentified convent, will mark the first time she has seen her younger children since the coup.

Mrs. Nhu was resting here after a world tour when it occurred.

Her three-page single-spaced mimeographed statement was handed to newsmen before her departure.

Here are some excerpts: "I am grieved that an American government to which the Ngo family and so many Vietnamese patriots have trusted to the end and have always been faithful and effective allies could have been the source of the Vietnamese tragedy. In deed, all the American inexplicable official moves to corner President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, my husband — whose only crime was to be a loyal brother to his brother and a determined patriot to his country — and to consider them as enemies to crush down while they were effectively cornering in Viet Nam, communism, the common enemy of our two countries, will unfortunately always stay as a dark spot in the history of the two countries.

"But it was reported that in death President Ngo Dinh Diem's face was serene and that my husband had a slight smile though his face was all streaked with blood."

Coup's Impact To Take Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The full impact of South Viet Nam's military coup on the anti-Communist war there is expected to show itself by Easter, U.S. officials said today.

Defense authorities Tuesday reported a "moderate favorable trend in the morale and determination" of South Vietnamese troops in the two weeks since the overthrow of the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

But they said there is no basis for judgment yet on whether the ousting of the Diem government has altered the complexion of the war to suppress Communist guerrillas. This, they said, is something that will take time to show.

Critics had contended South Viet Nam could not defeat the Communists until the Diem government was replaced by leaders more responsive to the needs of the country's 14 million people.

Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were ousted and killed early this month.

There have been suggestions that the United States had a hand in the overthrow, but defense officials replied with a terse "No," when asked whether they had any advance knowledge that the coup was coming.

Washington (AP) — In a move to curb spying, the United States has put some 11 percent of the country off limits to envoys of Soviet satellite nations.

In the past, these diplomats were allowed to travel freely. The new orders, explained in diplomatic notes Tuesday, also kept in force travel restrictions on Soviet citizens, although some new areas were opened and others closed.

About 26 percent of the country is off limits to Russian travelers—and a like percentage of Russia is off limits to American travelers.

The new restrictions—which don't apply to tourists—came after the Defense Department insisted that the travel of various diplomatic representatives of Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria be restricted.

Many of them, defense officials argued, were flagrantly peering about in sensitive military areas and probably feeding information to Russia whose own envoys are barred from the areas.

The U.S. counties listed as off limits in the notes were carefully selected after several months of argument between the Defense and State departments.

News Curtailed From Baghdad

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A power struggle exploded in Iraq today, cutting Baghdad's communications with the rest of the Middle East.

An unidentified radio calling itself "the radio of the Arab Nation" was heard quoting a communique from Iraq's martial law governor, Rashid Mislleh, proclaiming a curfew in Baghdad.

In Washington the State Department received a report that Iraqi air force jet planes had attacked the presidential palace — home of Iraq's ruling Socialist party high command. The department said all Americans in Baghdad were reported safe.

SEE TROOPS

Passengers on an Iraqi airliner which turned back to Tehran, Iran, after it was ordered not to land in Baghdad said they saw troops heading in to the city.

A cryptic statement from the ruling Ba'ath party, read over Baghdad Radio by Defense Minister Saleh Mahdi Ammash in the name of Premier Ahmad El Bakr, said the unity of the party was in danger. There was no mention of any bloodshed or fighting, but the statement said all lives must be protected and that all problems must be resolved.

Except for that broadcast and an earlier one outlining a shakeup in the Ba'ath party command for Iraq, Baghdad Radio was silent. Telephone communications with Baghdad also were cut, and sources in Tehran said Baghdad Airport was closed to all scheduled flights.

AT DAMASCUS

In Syria, where the Ba'ath al-so rules and where a government shakeup was announced Tuesday, Damascus Radio went off the air for a time today but later returned with normal programs. Damascus, the Syrian capital, was reported quiet.

The trouble blew up in Baghdad immediately after the Iraqi Ba'ath command announced election of a new 15-man leadership group.

Notably absent from the list was the name of the former Ba'ath party controller in Iraq, Deputy Premier Ali Saleh el Saadi.

Ba'ath Socialist leaders in Iraq's twin state of Syria were convinced that the turmoil in Baghdad was a struggle within the party and that it probably involved the tough, gun-packing El Saadi.

NEW COMMAND

It could be a fight between El Saadi and the new party command headed by Premier Ahmad Hassan el Bakr.

Syria and Iraq announced last month that their armed forces were being merged. The two Ba'ath governments have been working on detailed plans for formation of a two-state union.

After a military revolt in Iraq last Feb. 8, Premier Abdel Karim Kassem was executed and a coalition of Ba'ath Socialists and supporters of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic took power.

In April, after a military revolt in Syria brought the Ba'ath to power there, Iraq, Syria and the U.A.R. agreed to merge in a new United Arab Republic. But pro-Nasser elements in Iraq lost out to the Ba'ath in a power struggle last May, and unity plans were shelved.

Junketeers Fly Back Home Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional junketeers who took the headwaiter of the House restaurant with them to Paris and London have flown home early on a tailwind of criticism.

And like their trip, their arrival last night was first class. A fleet of 20 Air Force station wagons and drivers were on hand to chauffeur them home from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., where an Air Force jet landed them.

Also on hand to greet the party—10 congressmen, eight of their wives, two senators' wives and seven staff members—were newsmen and photographers. However, there were reports the newsmen were not entirely welcome.

BAR NEWSMEN

An Air Force officer who preferred not to be identified said a request had come from the plane that the newsmen and photographers be kept from the landing area.

But a base public information officer said "no effort on anybody's behalf was made to impede any media."

There was not much effort to help either, in efforts to pry loose an official list of those on (the trip. But a congressional source said Rep. Wayne L. Hays' hometown aide, Farnell Anderson, Flushing, Ohio, was also one of the party. Hays, an Ohio Democrat, headed the delegation.

MESSANGER

After the jet landed, newsmen zeroed in Hays and headwaiter Ernest Petinaud, who Hays said served as a messenger for the delegation in Paris.

With Hays at his side, Petinaud told reporters he saw nothing wrong with his going along to the NATO Parliamentary Conference in Paris.

In Paris, Petinaud had told an interviewer "the only reason congressmen can object to me coming to Europe is that I'm colored."

Hays said he picked Petinaud rather than some congressional staff member because he is a "nice guy and I thought he deserved a break."

When the first waves of criticism reached him in Europe, Hays was quoted as saying "congressmen who made an issue of this are cheapstarts. One of the reasons I chose Ernest for this trip is that he is a Negro."

Negro Nabbed After Corpus Bank Stickup

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A small goateed Negro pulled off Corpus Christi's first bank robbery in 30 years — but he wasn't rich for long.

With the help of a citizen who followed the getaway car, police swiftly recovered the $8,225 lost by the bank and arrested three men Tuesday.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Kip Layton said formal charges would be filed today against Harry Martin, 25, accused of holding up the bank; Bennie White, 28, and Luther Green, 20, all of Corpus Christi. White and Green also are Negroes.

Officers credited the quick recovery to Wilbur Johnson, an oil company employe. He kept police advised by a radio-telephone of movements of three robbers after they left the bank and then switched cars.

The Negro gunman forced Mrs. Mildred Lloyd, a teller at the Citizens State Bank, to pack a paper sack with $10, $5 and $1 bills after flashing a revolver and handing her a scrawled note.

He had been unsuccessful in getting money from teller Elmo Hawley, who pushed back the gunman's money sack and told another employe to call police.

New Texas Congressman To Be Sworn In Jan. 6

AUSTIN (AP) — The new Central Texas congressman to be named in a runoff election next month will be sworn in Jan. 6, secretary of state Crawford Martin said Tuesday.

Martin said he understands Congress will begin a Christmas recess Dec. 20 and will not reconvene until Jan. 6.

The election will name a successor to Rep. Homer Thornberry, D-Tex. He has resigned, effective Dec. 20, to accept a federal judgeship.

Thornberry endorsed the Democrat in the runoff, J. J. Pickle, advising him by telegram: "Proud of you and will be proud to have you as the next congressman from the Texas 10th District."

Pickle led in Saturday's special election. He was closely followed by Jim Dobbs, a former Austin minister running as a Republican.

Martin said he hopes to conduct the official canvass Saturday of votes cast in the Nov. 9 election. Officials in Travis and the other nine counties in the district held county canvasses Tuesday.

Gov. John Connally will announce the runoff date after Martin's canvass.

"What Are They?"

In giving the basic belief of Baptists, the tract first discusses "The Individual and God." It says: "Dr. E. Y. Mullins said that the fundamental principle of our Baptist faith, out of which all our beliefs grow, is the competency of the soul in matters of religion. This means that man has supreme worth and dignity and that he is inherently capable of responding to God, that he is able to 'do business with God' for himself. This eliminates the necessity for any go-between. Man can and should come directly to God, Baptists believe, and work out for himself 'his salvation with fear and trembling.'"

Baptists get this teaching from the Bible. Let us give credit where credit is due.

Now, let us accept the consequences of this teaching. If man is "inherently capable of responding to God," he does not need a miraculous operation of the Spirit before he can do so.

Gals Before Steaks For 'Big Lift' Troops

BERGSTROM AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. (AP)—Troops leading the way home on the Big Lift from Germany were typical soldiers—they chose a kiss from the wife or girl friend instead of a steak.

The first C135 jet transport returning men of the 2nd Armored Division from maneuvers in Germany landed at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday 10½ hours after taking off from near Frankfurt. It started a series of 87 flights due here about 2½ hours apart until Nov. 21.

Other planes will land at Gray Air Force Base, near Killeen, and Connally Air Force Base, near Waco, until 222 flights have returned the 16,000 troops flown to Europe Oct. 22-23 in 63 hours and 20 minutes.

Exercise Big Lift was designed to prove the United States' ability to move combat forces overseas quickly and in large numbers. A seven-day maneuver with the 3rd Armored Division ended Tuesday.

While the 73 men and officers on the first plane waited for U.S. custom agents to check their baggage they took a straw vote.

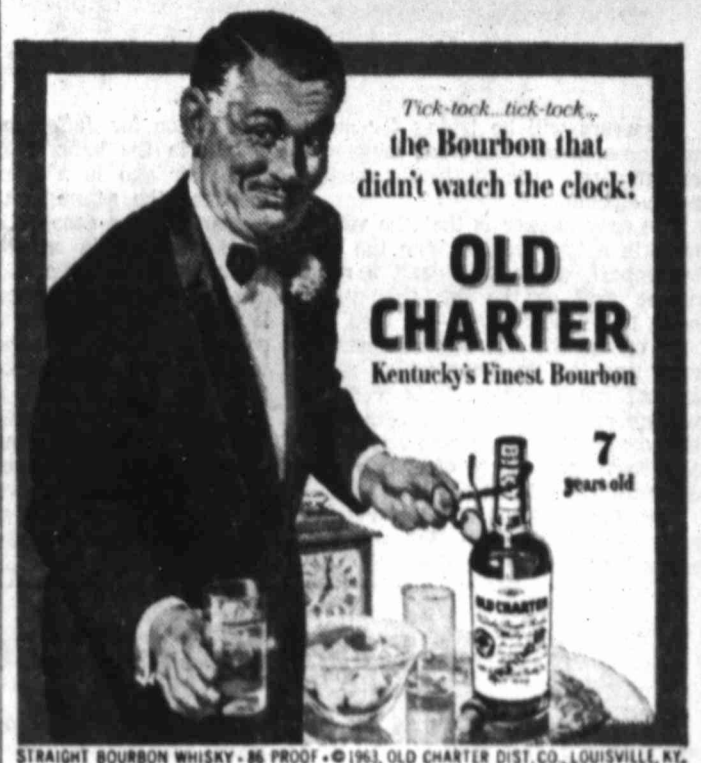

"Do you want to go first to the mess hall where we have some big thick steaks waiting to feed you or would you rather skip that to see your wives and families?" a welcoming officer asked.

There were just two half-hearted votes for the steaks. Wives and dependents were not allowed on the base here. They had to wait until the returnees were transported to Ft. Hood, 70 miles north.

"It was a very successful maneuver—it exceeded all expectations," said Brig. Gen. Keith Ware, assistant 2nd Armored the main movement back on Nov. 21. A small rear detachment will remain in Germany until mid-December to store and secure tanks and other heavy equipment used in the maneuvers.

Action Delayed On Three Proposals

City commissioners Tuesday delayed action on three agenda items of their regular meeting.

An ordinance declaring certain buildings and structures to be nuisances and providing for abatement was passed over for further study.

City attorney John Burgess said a "companion ordinance" pertaining to the national fire prevention code is being drafted. He said the two ordinances could be considered at a future commission meeting.

The building ordinance requires owners of unsafe, dangerous or hazardous buildings to repair, vacate or demolish the buildings. Failing this, the city is given authority to clean up buildings declared to be a nuisance and assess costs against the property.

Burgess said the ordinance is based on a similar law in California which has been in effect 12 years.

Commissioners took no action on a request by Ike Robb for a zone change from IF-2 (single family residential) to R (retail) on property located on Wasson Road near the City Park entrance.

A specific use permit as a drive-in theater was approved by the planning and zoning commission with the stipulation that Robb present a plan for ingress and egress to the city commissioners.

"The city has received no field notes yet," said public works director Ernest Lillard.

The other item passed over by commissioners was an appeal of a suspension of a pool hall license on the North Side. Unless the commission sets a hearing date for the appeal within 30 days, the suspension automatically will be lifted, according to the city attorney.

The pool hall, located at 312 NW 4th, is owned by Simon Terrazas. He was represented at the meeting by an attorney, who said the owner has voluntarily closed down the pool hall and another similar business "until responsible operators" can be employed.

The attorney said Terrazas "would be glad" for the police department to complete a background check on his operators.

Final Jury Picks Near

AUSTIN (AP)—Final selection of jurors and opening testimony was expected today in the murder trial of Howard Pierson, under indictment in the 1935 slaying of his prominent parents.

Attorneys selected seven jurors Tuesday. More than 30 veniremen were questioned by Dist. Atty. Tom Blackwell and Pierson's main attorney, Tom Reavey.

Blackwell said he will not be seeking the death penalty because of the time elapsed since 1935.

Pierson faces two indictments, but this trial will try him only for the shooting death of his mother. The outcome of the trial will determine disposition of the indictment charging him with slaying his father, Texas Supreme Court Associate Justice William Pierson.

He has pleaded innocent. The deaths occurred on April 24, 1935. Six months later an Austin jury found Pierson legally insane.

Pierson then went to a state mental institution, where he remained until this September, except for five years he spent as an escapee.

Another Austin jury in September found him to be now legally sane, which meant he must face trial on the 28-year-old indictments.

Blackwell asked prospective jurors if they would object to assessing a prison sentence if the evidence indicated that Pierson knew right from wrong at the time of the crimes.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of ♠
In today's hand, there was a silver lining in the dark cloud of declarer's unfortunate trump break. For South managed to convert his trump loser into an asset employing it as a means of adding his opponent with the lead in the end play.

West opened the king of diamonds against the final contract and continued the suit as South ruffed the third round. The ace-king of trumps were cashed and, when East discarded a heart on the second spade, West was revealed to have a sure trick in the suit. Declarer could see that if he led hearts himself he would have to lose the setting trick.

The only way he could induce the opponents to open the suit for him was to deprive them of all other exit cards, so he proceeded to strip out the hand.

The ace, king, and queen of clubs were played, and on the queen South carefully threw a heart from the dummy, so he would be able to ruff another diamond subsequently. The last club was trumped by North as West followed suit.

A diamond was led and ruffed by South. Altho West had no more diamonds, he refrained from overruffing, but he was merely postponing the fatal moment. Declarer had completed the preliminaries and he now exited with his last trump to throw West into the lead.

West returned the nine of hearts and South was confronted with a guess as to the location of the king of hearts. Since West had already shown up with all of the missing strength in the other suits, declarer decided to play East for the heart king. He therefore played the five of hearts from dummy and East was helpless to prevent South from winning the last two tricks.

A Devotional For The Day

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid. (John 14:27.)

PRAYER: O God, we lift up our hearts unto Thee in praise and thanksgiving for all Thy mercies and goodness. Let not our hearts be restless, troubled or afraid. Give us complete trust in Thy guidance and love. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Amendments Take A Pasting

Observers will be trying for quite sometime to analyze what happened in Saturday's constitutional amendment election.

One easy answer is that the voters were in a "no" mood. With the poll tax repeal, which was dealt a solid defeat, first on the list, this might seem to be the answer—but then the only one of the two amendments to pass was the one which stood to cost much money. This was the welfare ceiling. Some observers think this meant that there was an unusually heavy percentage of elderly voters who turned out.

Still, the big issue was the poll tax issue, and it may be that the veterans land bonds and the local pension option for Jefferson County got caught in the back wash.

A year ago in a referendum authorizing the submission of the poll tax repeal as a constitutional amendment resulted in a substantial affirmative vote. The tide switched drastically. What produced this? This is a question which the analysts will ponder. Probably the foremost reason was a belief on the part of many that doing away with the poll tax would result in franchising of a larger number of minority groups. Whether it would have been open to debate, but this issue was an opportunity to express that fear, also to express a reaction to the racial demonstrations of recent months.

Examples Through The Eldest

Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy's success at rearing a family high in both numbers and ability is scarcely open to question. Her advice to other parents of sizeable families is worth listening to.

One especially intriguing thing she said in a recent television interview was this: "Bring up the oldest one the way you want them all to go." Mrs. Kennedy herself extended this concept beyond mere example to the point of having an older child suggest improved conduct to a younger one.

It seemed to work rather well. As in the case, for instance, when one of the girls was using too much lipstick. "I'd tell my son," she said (without mentioning whether or not it was the fellow who later took up residence in the White House) "to suggest to her that he thought it was too much, rather than telling her myself, because I think perhaps she thought I was old-fashioned and she would really value his advice."

Those with experience know the truth of that. They also know that a good example set by older children in the family is better than any amount of precepts and admonition. The points made by the elder Mrs. Kennedy, as she looks back on the formative years of her children, eminently merit the attention of mothers and fathers just starting the long haul of family development.

Questionable Actions On Security

WASHINGTON — Senator Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut, Democrat, has achieved a reputation for independent thinking. When he says that the Department of State, in dismissing its director of security, used methods that are highly questionable, the country naturally becomes interested, especially since Mr. Dodd himself at one time served in the Federal Bureau of Investigation under J. Edgar Hoover.

THE CONNECTICUT senator told the Senate last week that a "serious challenge to responsible government" occurred when Otto Otepka was dismissed by the State Department simply because he had "testified honestly before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security on matters relating to security in the Department of State." He quoted the existing statutes which say that "the right of persons employed in the civil service of the United States, either individually or collectively, to petition Congress, or any member thereof, or to furnish information to either House of Congress or to any committee or member thereof, shall not be denied or interfered with."

SENATOR DODD declared that, by its action in the Otepka case, the State Department "has, in effect, nullified this statute" and has issued a warning "to all employees that cooperation with the established committees of the Senate, if this cooperation involves testimony considered unpalatable at higher echelon, is a crime punishable by dismissal."

Then came a sensational development. The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee released on November 9 letters filed by three State Department officials asking that the record of their testimony be amended and conceding that an eavesdropping device had been placed on the telephone wire in Mr. Otepka's office. Senator R. L. Hruska, Republican of Nebraska, thereupon demanded that the State Department consider dismissing the three men who, he said, had misled the Senate. Immediately after Mr. Hruska's statement, two of the same three men—who have been the principal accusers of Mr. Otepka—were placed on "administrative leave" for the time being by the State Department.

SENATOR DODD, in his initial speech, pointed out that the significant

I am very lonesome; being a widower with grown children. I would like to marry again but am afraid women are only interested in me because of my position and not for myself. How can I judge people's motives? —P. W.

The safest place for you to seek your social companions is in your church. While it is true that we find spiritual food and help in the church, there is also a very true sense in which the church supplies our social needs. You certainly should not attend church in order to find a wife but I know of no better place in which to find one. From what you write, it is evident that there are those who would be happy to marry you for the security it would bring them. That you might be able to support someone in comfort is fortunate, but there are many other far more important considerations. Look for a person who is a Christian, near your own age and whose tastes are much the same as your own. It is not only right but proper to make this matter of prayer and you have every right to expect to be led to the right decision. I know older people who have made very foolish choices, so would urge you to go slow and be sure you are doing the wise thing. In this, as in all the details of our daily lives, God is willing to guide and help if you will but put your trust completely in Him.

Rocky Needs Double Hope For Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two kinds of hope are New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's main provisions as he starts his long march in search of the Republican presidential nomination.

After officially announcing his candidacy last week he spoke with a modesty forced upon him by the public opinion polls which put his rival, Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, far ahead.

"I know," he said, "that at the present time I am the underdog in the polls." This week, for no apparent reason, he seemed a little more optimistic, reportedly giving himself a 50-50 chance.

A MAN in that position needs a double hope to sustain him:

1. This is the typical politician's belief—he has a special magic which will enchant the voters eventually.
2. The chance that Goldwater, once the campaign forces him to spell out his position, will fall flat on his face in a trap of his own making.

Rockefeller is far more liberal than Goldwater. He can hope his views, when laid before the primary voters, will prove more attractive, despite the polls.

GOLDWATER has had it easy so far, since he hasn't officially declared himself a candidate. He has been able to speak in generalities, offering what looks like simple solutions without dwelling on consequences.

When he gets into the campaign with Rockefeller challenging him to be specific, generalities won't be good enough. He has a right-wing Republican in his pocket. He needs more than them to get the nomination.

Honesty With Healing Salve

NEW YORK (AP)—Now is a good time to pep up on your double-talk.

Double-talk enables you to be honest with yourself while still putting the healing salve of the spoken word on the small vanities of others.

As a guide, here are some examples:

"DARLING, that new dress fits you like a glove." And believe me, the glove I had in mind is a catcher's mitt.

"What's a pretty dame like you doing in a joint like this, baby?" The older they are, the better they appreciate this line.

"George, what in heaven's name ever gave you the idea that I thought you were homely?" Ugly, yes—but homely, never.

"AND NOW let me show you some interesting color slides Grace and I took of the Grand Canyon way back in 1947." If that won't bore you into going home, I don't know what will.

Ernie's Masterful Tribute

That lonely little friend of the GI told the story of the American veterans as perhaps no other. He lived the hell and the filth and the torture of war with men, and he told simply of their great valor as he penned little notes back home day by day. In a collection of these columns, "Brave Men" (Henry Holt & Co., New York, copyright Scripps-Howard), Ernie wrote about the mountain fighting in Italy. One of the bits was, in my book, one of the most potent passages to come out of the war and one of the most stirring tributes to the loyalty of comrades in arms.

"THE WAR IN ITALY was tough," he had explained. The terrain was terrible and it rained and rained. Dug in on the mountain tops, a platoon of Germans could hold off large concentrations of troops almost indefinitely. The men "lived like men of prehistoric times. . . . How they survived the dreadful winter was beyond us. . . . Each division had mules to carry supplies. . . . On beyond the mules' ability, mere men—American men—took it on their backs."

One of the outfits was a company in the Thirty-sixth Division. Wrote Ernie Pyle of its commander: "In this war I have known a lot of officers who were loved and respected by the soldiers under them but never have I crossed the trail of any man as beloved as Captain Henry T. Waskow of Belton, Texas. . . .

"I WAS AT the foot of the mule trail the night they brought Captain Waskow down. The moon was nearly full, and you could see far up the trail, and even partway across the valley below.

"Dead men had been coming down the mountain all evening, lashed on the backs of mules. They came lying belly-down across the wooden pack-saddles, their heads hanging down on one side, their stiffened legs sticking out awkwardly from the other, bobbing up and down as the mules walked.

"I DON'T KNOW who that first one was. You feel small in the presence of dead men, and you don't ask silly questions. . . . Then a soldier came in. . . . and said there were some more bodies outside.

"This one is Captain Waskow," one of them (the soldiers) said quietly.

"Two men unslashed his body from the mule and lifted it off and laid it in the shadow beside the stone wall. . . . The men in the road seemed reluctant to leave. They stood around, and gradually I could sense them moving, one by one, close to Captain Waskow's body. Not so much to look, I think, as to say something in finality to him. . . .

"ONE SOLDIER came and looked down, and he said out loud, 'God damn it!' That's all he said, and then he walked away. Another one came, and he said 'God damn it to hell anyway!' He looked down for a few last moments and then turned and left. Another man came, looked down into the dead captain's face, and then spoke directly to him as though he were alive, 'I'm sorry, old man.' "Then a soldier came and stood beside the officer and bent over, and he too spoke to his dead captain, not in a whisper, but awfully tenderly, and he said, 'I sure am sorry, sir.'

THEN THE FIRST man squatted down, and he reached down and took the captain's hand, and he sat there for a full five minutes holding the dead hand in his own and looking intently into the dead face. And he never uttered a sound all the time he sat there.

"Finally he put the hand down. He reached over and gently straightened the points of the captain's shirt collar, and then he sort of rearranged the tattered edges of the uniform around the wound, and then he got up and walked away down the road in the moonlight, all alone." —JOE PICKLE

Your Face Been Uplifted Lately?

Twenty-five years ago people were divided into two groups: those who were being psychoanalyzed and did all the talking and those who weren't being psychoanalyzed and did all the listening.

In those days I actually knew a half dozen persons who engaged a psychoanalyst just so they could take part in the conversation. Or else years of frustrated listening had driven them beyond the fringe.

AT ALL ODDS, the "in" group (now more fashionably known as "the establishment") a quarter of a century ago was being psychoanalyzed, man and boy. Up to that time, if Aunt Ellie was a bit teched or Uncle Harry an eccentric, the family gave her or him the big room at the top of the stairs to be kept in the background.

Then psychiatry became fashionable and lid was publicly off the lid. Today, psychoanalysis is so commonplace that it isn't even good for a brief conversational mention. It occurred to me the other day, after a long spell of listening, that psychiatry has been replaced by another equally exotic branch of medicine: plastic surgery.

IN THE Establishment, the re-vulcanized face has replaced the Oedipus complex as a sure-fire conversational gambit.

The uplifted face has gone public, just as Aunt Ellie did years ago. Friends can't wait to tell you how they had the baggage removed from under the eyes, the turkey neck turned swan, the crow's feet banished and the chins jacked up.

WHEN SOME old friend rushes up to me today and asks "How do I look?" my instinct for self-preservation leads me to declare instantly, "Darling, at least 30 years younger!" Whether he or she has just had his face redone or not is immaterial. In each instance, the answer maketh the heart glad and the spirit rejoice.

I have just heard a sad-glad story of a well-known actress of mature years who was offered the lead opposite one of the few male actors whose mere presence on the stage spells hay at the box office.

The woman was so anxious for the part that she not only went on a crash diet but had ear-to-ear and widow's peak to Adam's apple plastic surgery done in preparation for the role.

WHEN SHE reported for the first rehearsal, the producer and director were dismayed. After an hour, they finally told her that she was simply too young for the part, that of a woman of 48, which, as it happened, was the actress's chronological age if not her facial age since surgery.

Our heroine went home, torn between dismay at losing a fat part and joy that the face-lift had been so successful. She now has the lead in the national or touring company of a recent Broadway hit, while a second actress who still has her original crown's feet has her name in lights on Broadway.

THE SECOND story concerns a successful newscaster who felt, nonetheless, that his competition was getting younger and younger. Recently, while in Europe on business and without telling his wife, he had several tucks and a gusset or two taken in his face.

When he returned home with his new and youthful face to his old, tried-and-true wife, she was not amused. The next time she met him after a broadcast at their favorite restaurant, she arrived in a gray wig and the garb of Whistler's Mother.

Mumps Can Occur At Any Age

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I thought you might be interested in this statistic. I'm 48, the mother of 11 children, and have just recovered from the mumps.—L.P.

Thanks. Happy recovery. Yes, mumps can occur at any age, but it's such a common disease that most people have it in childhood.

Dear Doctor: I have heard that mumps in later years can have serious complications and can even result in sterility.

My husband is 20 years old and has never had mumps. Would it be advisable for him to be deliberately exposed to it now, rather than chance it later in life? —MRS. P.R.

I don't think so. At 20 he is an adult, and in the case of mumps, that's what we mean by "later in life." Not in the third grade, that is.

If he DOES get mumps, now or 20 years from now, he will have a good chance of avoiding complications (including sterility) if he follows the doctor's orders and stays in bed until the acute phase has passed. If he tries to argue that "it's just a kid disease, and I don't have to stay in bed," then he WILL be inviting more serious trouble. Besides, maybe he really has had mumps and doesn't know it.

Few adults have serious after-effects from mumps if they treat the disease with the respect it deserves. IT CAN DO damage even with the best of care, but it isn't as likely to.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor told me I had an extra systole. Can this cause a heart attack? I asked him if I should have an electrocardiograph and he said it was up to me.—MRS. S. S.

The systole (pronounced SIS-to-lee) means the pumping beat of the heart. The relaxation after each beat is diastole.

Quite a few people—usually those of a tense, nervous nature—have an "extra systole" at times. At first they may say their heart has "skipped a beat." This is not what happens.

Rather, an extra beat appears in the heart's rhythm, so you have two beats close together and a noticeable pause afterward. That is when they think they have skipped a beat.

The extra systole does NOT cause a heart attack. Very rarely does it do any harm except to the nerves, if you let it.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is the meaning of "secondary anemia"—U.P.

It means that the anemia (or lack of iron in the blood) is resulting from some other, or underlying cause. Usually giving iron in medicinal form controls the condition, but it doesn't correct the cause. Common causes of secondary anemia are bleeding hemorrhoids, bleeding ulcers, excessive menstruation. In these (and other) conditions, there's no permanent value in pumping iron into the system unless you correct the cause.

Sometimes, but not very often, faulty diet is responsible.

Mumps Can Occur At Any Age

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I thought you might be interested in this statistic. I'm 48, the mother of 11 children, and have just recovered from the mumps.—L.P.

Thanks. Happy recovery. Yes, mumps can occur at any age, but it's such a common disease that most people have it in childhood.

Dear Doctor: I have heard that mumps in later years can have serious complications and can even result in sterility.

My husband is 20 years old and has never had mumps. Would it be advisable for him to be deliberately exposed to it now, rather than chance it later in life? —MRS. P.R.

I don't think so. At 20 he is an adult, and in the case of mumps, that's what we mean by "later in life." Not in the third grade, that is.

If he DOES get mumps, now or 20 years from now, he will have a good chance of avoiding complications (including sterility) if he follows the doctor's orders and stays in bed until the acute phase has passed. If he tries to argue that "it's just a kid disease, and I don't have to stay in bed," then he WILL be inviting more serious trouble. Besides, maybe he really has had mumps and doesn't know it.

Few adults have serious after-effects from mumps if they treat the disease with the respect it deserves. IT CAN DO damage even with the best of care, but it isn't as likely to.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor told me I had an extra systole. Can this cause a heart attack? I asked him if I should have an electrocardiograph and he said it was up to me.—MRS. S. S.

The systole (pronounced SIS-to-lee) means the pumping beat of the heart. The relaxation after each beat is diastole.

Quite a few people—usually those of a tense, nervous nature—have an "extra systole" at times. At first they may say their heart has "skipped a beat." This is not what happens.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

New Slant On A Favorite Standby

Dear Heloise: Anyone who has children knows that peanut butter and jelly sandwiches are in demand. But the worst thing about it, is that the jelly drips no matter how you make the sandwich. One day I decided to mix the peanut butter and jelly together and cream it into a beautiful paste. I mixed a n d blended until it was a completely smooth. I found this so successful that I now mix a jar at a time and the children can make their own sandwiches without any more worries or drippy jelly down the front of their clothes. . . Mrs. L. Fairchild Jr.

Dear Heloise: To remove oily and greasy spots from my garments I use liquid shampoo. Any kind of shampoo one happens to have on hand will do, although I get better results from concentrated shampoo.

Rub the shampoo directly into the oily or greasy spots on the garment then drop the garment in your clothes hamper until laundry day. (It may be washed out immediately if so desired.) This method has saved several grease-spattered garments for me.

Shampoo is also wonderful to rub around the neckline of a dress, or the collar of a man's shirt, especially if the wearer has the type of oily skin that always leaves a discoloration. The shampoo restores the "like-new" look and does not require the hard rubbing that causes those areas to fray and wear out too soon.

Modern shampoos are made to cut oil and greasy-type film, and seem to be extraordinarily gentle. None of my garments has retained a spot or a trace of a stain after using shampoo in this manner. . . Mrs. M. A. Helm

Bevo Missing; Active Aggies Catch Blame

AUSTIN (AP)—Intercollegiate rustlers took Bevo VII, 1,700-pound Texas longhorn steer mascot of the nation's No. 1 football team, from his home corral early today.

Angry University of Texas students immediately pointed a finger of suspicion at their traditional athletic rivals, Texas A&M, who once branded an earlier Bevo and served him up as a steak dinner.

"They got Bevo," was the campus battle cry.

College Station sources confirmed Bevo was on the Aggie campus Tuesday night, but a check today at the animal clinic and other campus spots failed to disclose any trace of the Longhorn.

It was at the animal clinic where searchers found Peruna, Southern Methodist University's tiny horse mascot, after a kidnapping by Aggie raiders recently.

The A&M night riding rustlers have made a fearful name for themselves this season among Texas college mascots.

In addition to the Texas Longhorn and the SMU pony, Aggies were accused—without denial—of kidnaping the Texas Tech mare on Oct. 4 and taking Rice University's owl, Sammy, just this week.

The Aggie football team plays Rice in Houston this Saturday and other campus spots failed to disclose any trace of the Longhorn.

David Hall of Baytown, a member of the Silver Spurs organization which sponsors Bevo's appearances at games and takes care of the animal, reported the disappearance from Bevo's corral at the state hog farm 12 miles northwest of Austin in Williamson County.

"Some Aggie called his girl friend who told a friend of mine," Hall told police.

No ransom notes, no tracks and no clues were left behind.

"We have no idea where Bevo is," Hall said.

Plant Problem Still Pending

Representatives of Forrest and Cotton, the city's consulting engineers for the Master Plan bond program, did not attend the city commission meeting Tuesday as expected.

Shifflet Brothers, Abilene contractor, constructed the new plant, and the city claims it has not completed the work, although the contract period ended last summer.

The city had been following the recommendations of Forrest and Cotton and a report from the Dallas firm was expected Tuesday.

Commissioner W. L. Thompson said he had heard there has been "some more trouble at the sewer plant," concerning a pump or a motor.

Two Topics Are Explored

Politics and Thanksgiving were topics for two featured addresses of the Big Spring Toastmasters Club Monday evening at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant.

Using the facetious title, "If I Am Nominated," Arnold Marshall made a serious assessment of some programs he would undertake for the county.

Another Torres — this time Trinidad Torres — who had been found guilty of shoplifting and whose punishment had been fixed by a Howard County Court jury Feb. 22, 1963 for the shooting of Andrew Perez.

Torres appealed, the case on grounds that the court's instructions were improper. Gil Jones, district attorney, said today that he would file a motion for rehearing immediately in this case.

The woman was accused of taking merchandise from the J. C. Penney Co. She was tried April 19, 1963.

Thanksgiving, said Reeves Moren, should not be a symbol for progress and prosperity, but more one of thankful hearts for blessings too often taken for granted.

Committee To Help Get School Located Here

Mayor George Zachariah Tuesday appointed a committee of 11 business and civic leaders to spearhead a campaign to secure construction of a school for mentally retarded in Big Spring.

Named were Rufus Stallings, Dr. C. B. Marcum, Robert W. Whipkey, R. H. Weaver, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Arnold Marshall, A. G. Goodson, R. L. Tollett, Ed Carpenter, Charles A. Weeg and Sam Anderson.

Commissioners noted several Texas cities are competing for the site. The state has announced plans to locate such a school somewhere west of the 100th meridian. This would include a wide area of West Texas.

Commissioners Tuesday also re-appointed Paul Soldan and Jerry Worley to the city traffic commission. Their terms had expired June 1, 1963.

Leach and Swartz have resigned. Terms for Soldan, Worley, Weeks and Crockett were set to expire on Sept. 1, 1965.

The term of Jimmy L. Jolley, who was appointed to fill a long standing vacancy, also expires Sept. 1, 1965.

Dick Collier, Carl Strom and Jerry Mancill were re-appointed to the zoning board of adjustment. Their terms had expired May 1, 1963.

Two Howard County criminal cases, one in district and one in county court, were reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today.

One was remanded and prosecution in the second ordered dismissed.

Remanded for re-trial was the murder conviction of Joe Torres. Torres was given 15 years by a 118th District Court jury Feb. 22, 1963 for the shooting of Andrew Perez.

Torres appealed, the case on grounds that the court's instructions were improper. Gil Jones, district attorney, said today that he would file a motion for rehearing immediately in this case.

School Trustees Offered Bank Building For Offices

A second proposal on a new administration building for the Big Spring Independent School District was presented to trustees during a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Clyde Angel, vice president of the First National Bank, said the bank management proposed to sell to the school the old bank building at Third and Main for $85,000.

The building has three floors. The basement is about 50 by 40 feet, the first floor about 75 feet by 136 feet and the second floor about 50 feet by 136 feet.

This is a total of about 17,000 square feet of floor space. Trustees estimated about $15,000 would be required to convert it to school use.

By unanimous vote, trustees agreed that school administrators and Almar Atkinson, architect, should check on the building and report at the next meeting on its acceptability.

Previously, Flato Realty Investments had proposed leasing the fourth floor of the Permian Building at a cost of about $14,420 a year, plus parking costs.

Flato has since made another proposal of $1,250 a month for the floor with 10 parking spaces for use by the school.

This would be on a six-year lease, with either party having the option to cancel on six months notice.

Trustees seemed to favor purchasing a facility rather than leasing a building.

The audit of books for the year ended Aug. 31, 1963 was presented by George Thorburn, certified public accountant, with the audit showing that everything is in order.

The report included an audit of books and transfer of assets of the Gay Hill and Center Point School Districts, which were annexed following a ruling by the Texas Supreme Court.

Thorburn was retained to audit the school's books for another year.

Theme for the program was American Education Week and the program included music by the band and choir. The physical education department gave a skit.

Parents visited classrooms and talked with teachers, looking over the various school projects in the several rooms. Refreshments were served by the homemaking department.

A jury is hearing evidence in a damage suit against the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. in 118th District Court. The suit, brought by Walter L. Burns, fireman for the railroad, asks that he be paid $160,000 for injuries he alleges he received in a fall while working for the railroad Dec. 19, 1961.

The jury was spending a sizeable part of its time in jury quarters while attorneys for the plaintiff and defense fought out legal points before the court.

Two prospectors are included in five new locations spotted by operators in the local eight-county area.

One Beer Sales Request Approved, One Tabled

City commissioners Tuesday approved a request of W. E. Buckner for on-premises consumption of alcoholic beverages at Boes Restaurant, 301 1/2 N. Gregg.

Approval came after commissioner John Stanley said he has eaten in the restaurant. "The food is good and the place is orderly," he said. Buckner appeared on his own behalf. He said he and his wife would operate the business.

A request by Tommy Hutchison for on-premises consumption at the L&H Grill, 500 NW 3rd, was tabled for further study. Hutchison, who worked at the NCO Club at Webb AFB for 12 years, said he tries "to keep a clean place."

Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson read a statement by police chief Jay Banks in which 10 reasons were given for disapproval of the request. Included among the reasons: (1) located in an area where the crime rate is high, (2) sub-standard building, (3) fire hazard, (4) inadequate screening, and (5) no lavatories in the restroom.

Although disapproved by Banks, the request had been approved by Tom Newton, city zoning inspector, and Lige Fox, city health inspector.

A request by Huey Mitchell for on-premises consumption at Mitchell's Cafe, 1009 Lamesa Drive, was approved on third and final reading of the ordinance. Mitchell is moving his business from an old location at 404 NW 3rd. Under state law, the permit for consumption at the Third Street location becomes invalid after the building has become vacated for one day. Commissioners noted the building is vacant.

The rally here is open to the public. There is no admission. It is being sponsored by the Christian Crusade Committee for Big Spring.

Harris is scheduled to speak at 7:30 p.m. today in the Settles Hotel ballroom. The stop in Big Spring is one of 50 to be made in as many cities during a two-month tour of a 12-state area. He and his party will be in Amarillo Thursday.

Christian Crusade is an anti-Communism ministry, now in its sixteenth year. Harris has long been a foe of liberalism and modernism in religion, and has spoken out against the policies of the National Council of Churches.

Harris said in an interview this morning the United States became a party to murder in the Viet Nam overthrow. He is urging a full-scale congressional investigation of the matter.

On the surface, it is apparent that the CIA is responsible for the overthrow of the Diem regime," he said.

Harris said that the action in Viet Nam was only one example of a change in character which has taken Americans out of their traditional role as defenders of freedom and constitutional government.

"Our problem is that we have lost our character — in our churches and in our schools. Political action is not enough. We need national repentance and a re-emphasis of spiritual values," he said.

"Most Americans realize that our American way of life is right, but they are not familiar with the Scriptures on which the American way was founded," he said.

Critical Of U.S. Policy, Hargis To Speak Here

Billy James Hargis, founder and director of Christian Crusade, today spoke critically of United States action in the recent military takeover of the South Viet Nam government.

"Our action in South Viet Nam is the first aggressive act in the 200-year history of the United States," he said. "This has not been our historic role."

Plant Problem Still Pending

Representatives of Forrest and Cotton, the city's consulting engineers for the Master Plan bond program, did not attend the city commission meeting Tuesday as expected.

Shifflet Brothers, Abilene contractor, constructed the new plant, and the city claims it has not completed the work, although the contract period ended last summer.

The city had been following the recommendations of Forrest and Cotton and a report from the Dallas firm was expected Tuesday.

Commissioner W. L. Thompson said he had heard there has been "some more trouble at the sewer plant," concerning a pump or a motor.

Committee To Help Get School Located Here

Mayor George Zachariah Tuesday appointed a committee of 11 business and civic leaders to spearhead a campaign to secure construction of a school for mentally retarded in Big Spring.

Named were Rufus Stallings, Dr. C. B. Marcum, Robert W. Whipkey, R. H. Weaver, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Arnold Marshall, A. G. Goodson, R. L. Tollett, Ed Carpenter, Charles A. Weeg and Sam Anderson.

Commissioners noted several Texas cities are competing for the site. The state has announced plans to locate such a school somewhere west of the 100th meridian. This would include a wide area of West Texas.

Commissioners Tuesday also re-appointed Paul Soldan and Jerry Worley to the city traffic commission. Their terms had expired June 1, 1963.

Leach and Swartz have resigned. Terms for Soldan, Worley, Weeks and Crockett were set to expire on Sept. 1, 1965.

The term of Jimmy L. Jolley, who was appointed to fill a long standing vacancy, also expires Sept. 1, 1965.

Dick Collier, Carl Strom and Jerry Mancill were re-appointed to the zoning board of adjustment. Their terms had expired May 1, 1963.

Two Howard County criminal cases, one in district and one in county court, were reversed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today.

One was remanded and prosecution in the second ordered dismissed.

Remanded for re-trial was the murder conviction of Joe Torres. Torres was given 15 years by a 118th District Court jury Feb. 22, 1963 for the shooting of Andrew Perez.

Torres appealed, the case on grounds that the court's instructions were improper. Gil Jones, district attorney, said today that he would file a motion for rehearing immediately in this case.

TEMPERATURE SINKS TO 33

Light frost in low places was reported early today with a low temperature of 33 degrees. No ice was reported but the air was "nippy" in Big Spring this morning.

The Big Spring Experiment Station's thermometer got to the low point around 4 a.m. It stood at 37 degrees at 8 a.m. Yesterday's high temperature was 63 degrees.

The lowest temperature recorded on this date was 29 degrees in 1919.

A few residents, who had flowers blooming, covered them with plastic sheets or other cover to protect them during the night.

The forecast calls for similar temperatures today and tonight, with a warming Thursday.

Scattered rain and snow showers are expected Wednesday night over the Great Lakes region and the northeastern Atlantic states while rain is forecast for Oregon, Washington and northern California. It will be colder over the eastern half of the nation.

Bearden And Harris Face Steers Friday

Stop Bob Bearden and Rusty Harris and you go a long way toward stopping Abilene itself. Coach Roy Baird told members of the Big Spring Quarterback Club at the regular meeting Tuesday night in the high school cafeteria.

That poses quite a problem, the veteran Big Spring mentor went on to say. He described Bearden as one of the very best running backs in District 2-AAAA, a quarterback who is expert at running the option pass as well as lugging the leather.

Harris, Baird reminded his listeners, was all-district last year and is better this fall because of his experience. He is the fastest back in the conference, Baird said.

Big Spring did an effective job of slowing the Abilene express last year, the Steer scout stated, at which time the Steers won 20-0. However, it was Big Spring's first win over the Eagles in two decades and the War Birds are due to be fired up because of the loss of a year ago.

Abilene can be expected to play inspired ball for 3 reasons, Baird said. For one thing, they'll be scrambling to give coach Wally Ballington a 6-0 record for the year. For another, they will be playing at home. For still another, there will be no pressure on them, since they have already been eliminated from the conference race, whereas Big Spring hasn't.

Deer Season Is Closed In Co.

Howard County deer hunters hold everything!

The State Game and Fish Commission pulled a boo-boo. The commission printed in the Hunting Guide for Texas that deer season in Howard County will open Nov. 16 and remain open through Dec. 3.

"Ain't so, brothers!"

There is no open season in this county this year and there won't be any in 1964 nor in 1965. After 1965, according to Roy Tucker, state game ranger, it is possible the state may put the lid back on for another five years. The option is with the state in this matter.

At any rate, there will be no deer hunting in this county this year. This, according to Tucker, in spite of the fact there are quite a few deer on ranches in the county. Most of the deer, he said, are congregated on the Morgan, Garrett, Chalk and Edwards ranches.

The closed season law holds through 1965 and the five-additional year option is still in effect.

Hunters are permitted to shoot deer in Mitchell County starting Nov. 16 and continuing through Dec. 3. Most of the deer in that county are concentrated in the south part. The Spade Ranch has the largest number. The license allows the slaying of two bucks and one antlerless deer on a permit in Mitchell County. Tucker warns that it is imperative the hunter get a permit from a ranch before he begins his hunt, regardless whether he has a license. If you go on a ranch without a permit from the owner, you are trespassing and can be prosecuted, Tucker pointed out.

Borden County deer season opens Nov. 16 and extends through Dec. 8. The bag limit in this county is two bucks and no does. The same bag limit rule applies in Sterling County but the season in that county extends from Nov. 16 through Dec. 31.

The real point that Tucker wants to stress, however, is this:

There is no open season on deer in Howard County this year even though the Texas Hunting Guide does say there is.

effigy for hanging must be a minimum of 6-feet-7.

Last week there were 11 reasons for hanging but there also were 46 correct guesses for a .807 average. That lifted the season's total to 313 right, 108 wrong and an average of .735.

This week's picks:

Texas over Texas Christian; Coach Martin's necktie party might inspire the Frogs to repeat their upset of several years ago but Texas always seems to come up with the required points at the right time, and so the Longhorns will stay at the top of the heap.

Navy over Duke: Roger Staubach will get more help from his Middle teammates than Jay Wilkinson will get from the other Dukes.

Mississippi over Tennessee: Nothing has stopped the Mississippi Rebels since that opening shocker with Memphis State.

Michigan State over Notre Dame: Sherm Lewis is tiny but he also is very, very good.

Oklahoma over Missouri: The Missourians are handicapped by the lack of a consistent offense.

Pittsburgh over Army: The Pitt slogan is "Dial M for Murder." It refers to the Panthers' own version of the M&M—Paul Martha and Fred Mazurek.

Alabama over Georgia Tech: The Crimson Tide has had two weeks to get ready for the duel with Billy Lothridge and his playmates. All the Alabama wounded have had time to heal.

Illinois over Wisconsin: The Badgers have two quarterbacks, Hal Brandt and Dave Fronck, but no heavy siege gun as the Illini's Jim Grabowski. Illinois needs this one to stay in the Big Ten title race.

Cards Worry Over Brown

ST. LOUIS (AP)—How do you stop Jimmy Brown, Cleveland's one-man offense?

"Tackle him above the waist and holler for help or he'll drag you to death," says Ed Henke, defensive end and assistant coach for the St. Louis Football Cardinals.

The Cards meet the Browns at Cleveland Sunday in a National Football League game that could have a bearing on the Eastern Division Championship.

Cardinal Coach Wally Lemm has his own ideas about Brown, who leads the NFL in yards gained with 1,293 and average yardage per carry with 7.1.

"High school kids are taught to tackle at knee level," Lemm said, "but they don't have to tackle Brown. He's one guy it doesn't work on. He has to be gang-tackled 90 per cent of the time."

Regardless of how it's done, St. Louis must stop Brown if it expects to stay in the Eastern Division race. The second-place Cards, a game behind deadlocked Cleveland and New York are higher than anyone thought they could be before the season started.

St. Louis will face Cleveland twice in the next three games with the Giants sandwiched in between. Cleveland and New York have 7-2 marks and St. Louis has 6-4.

SKI GROUP TO MEET

Ski enthusiasts with gather in the conference room of the First National Bank at 7 p.m. Thursday to discuss formation of a ski club here.

Those planning to attend the conclave should enter the building by the side (south) door.

Bernard Rainis will be in charge of the conclave. He said the advantages of joining such an organization are many, not the least of which is the package deal offered such groups on expenses.

PAT WASHBURN'S The Roundtable

Surprise! The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks are ranked 11th in the nation's juco basketball quintets.

BUDDY TRAVIS was a starter last year.

CHARLES CUMBER, a 6' 7", 230-pound center who is one of the co-captains, could very well make or break the Jayhawks in the 1963-64 campaign. In a pre-season poll he's been placed on the Junior College All-American third team—interestingly enough, he's the only Texas hardwood expert who was given a mention on any one of the three teams.

Two other boys are standing out at the post position so far in pre-season drills and drew special notice from Travis recently. Lubbock's JIM OLDFHAM, the other co-captain and a returnee from last year's team along with Cumber and DICK EBLING, is a strong rebounder and good defensive man at 6' 5". KEITH McKEEVER, a 6' 4" freshman product from Stamford, although not outstanding in any one area, is giving Travis some good all-around service in the middle.

At the forward slot, EDDY NELSON, a former all-district performer for the Steers, will be seeing a lot of action. He stands 6' 2 1/2" and despite a lack of height is one of the finest rebounders on the squad along with being a better than average marksman from the outside. THOMAS CARTER, a Hobbs, N.M., lad, joins Nelson in the corners as an up-and-comer who rebounds exceptionally well for his 6' 3" frame. His quick moves make him a valuable asset. Three boys have stood out at guard. Ebling, a Big Spring sophomore, is probably the best outside shooter of the 18 boys on the squad. He stands 6' 2". KEITH BOND, a 6' 1" San Jon, N.M. boy, is noted for his dependable play while another New Mexico lad also joins him from the outside, TERRY WILLIAMS, Williams, from Hobbs, is real quick at 6' 1" and has a good outside jump shot. He's good on defense.

"These boys are doing the best job for us," Travis said. "All of these players are giving us about an equal performance and it's hard yet to pick a starting five out of them. With this many good freshmen returning, we ought to have a much better squad in a year."

The conference race shapes up as a tough campaign. San Angelo, ranked 16th nationally, has four lettermen and one starter returning with their hopes being pinned on a 6' 9" transfer center from Rice. South Plains has nine lettermen returning with every starter off last year's team while Amarillo has four lettermen back, all starters.

Either South Plains or Amarillo should win the conference," Travis said. "After all when you return most of your starters you're going to be tough."

Lubbock has seven or eight returning lettermen while Clearwater has nine lettermen, but shouldn't be too strong considering their record last year. Odessa lost everything except one boy off the 1962 team while Frank Phillips returns two or three starters. The last member of the conference, New Mexico Military Academy, is the mystery team—Travis doesn't know what to expect as he admitted "they're always tough."

Besides the obvious handicaps of height (the 6' 2" boys are outbounding the tall men) and a bad shooting percentage from the outside, the main problem is scholastic.

"We're more worried about grades than anything else," Travis said. "We have two or three of our top boys who could easily flunk out. That would kill us."

But the crying towel may be dry after all this season—if Travis is right in one of his side comments—"we think we're going to do good. We'll be green, but when we get some experience we could really roll."

Here's hoping.

Kramer, LeClerc Are Poised To Mix It Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The big battle between the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears at Wrigley Field in Chicago Sunday could develop into a duel between two field goal kickers—Jerry Kramer of the Packers and Roger LeClerc of the Bears. The Bears' offense has been sputtering in recent weeks. They couldn't break through for a touchdown Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams and had to settle for victory on two field goals by LeClerc. In their last five games the Bears have scored more than 17 points only once. Green Bay has been scoring but Vince Lombardi had to go to the air for three touchdowns last week against Minnesota. They have rolled for 32 TDs, 18 on the ground and 14 in the air, but the Bear defense has allowed only 10 touchdowns all year, only three on the ground.

N. Dame Folks Pointedly Ignore Leahy's Remarks

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Quietly and officially, Notre Dame completely ignored the latest tirade against its football fortunes by former Coach Frank Leahy Tuesday. From Coach Hugh Devore to Athletic Director Ed (Moose) Krause and up to Rev. Edmund Joyce, university vice president and chairman of the athletic board, the Irish hierarchy simply said "No comment." The "no comment" was in reference to remarks by Leahy in Daytona Beach, Fla., that the Irish had lost their winning football spirit. It wasn't the first time that Leahy, who in 11 seasons as Notre Dame head coach compiled a record of 87 victories, 11 defeats and 9 ties, had taken a swipe at Notre Dame's failure to dominate the national scene in recent years. In 1955, two years after Terry Brennan had succeeded Leahy at Notre Dame, Leahy fired a tirade in Los Angeles accusing the Irish of letting down. Leahy also followed with similar comments during Coach Joe Kuharich's tenure at Notre Dame. Then he made his most recent remarks before the Day-

Jewel Bandits Net Zero In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The bandits who pulled off Manhattan's $3-million jewel robbery apparently netted not one carat. A group of construction workers found the stolen gems in a hijacked car and, police said, it was like playing "grab bag" in King Solomon's Mines.

No one may profit from the biggest jewel theft in the nation's history. Chalk that up to an incompetent getaway driver and a big mouth.

Five construction men were arrested Tuesday night. Police said they recovered about a quarter-million dollars worth of the loot from the five. Some of it was buried on a Gettysburg, Pa., farm only about a mile from where former President Eisenhower lives.

90 PER CENT

With that find, police announced that 90 per cent of the treasure had been recovered. They continued to question other construction workers today in hope of finding the remaining 10 per cent.

Still at large are the bungling bandits, who had to abandon their loot-laden car only a block away from the robbery scene. It kept stalling because the driver could not cope with its old-style floor shift, police said.

The car, hijacked from a jewelry messenger service in midtown Manhattan last Friday, was found by police several hours later. But much of the loot had disappeared.

Police gave this account: The bandit driver, dressed in a policeman's uniform, got as far as a demolition site on west 41st Street when the station wagon's motor conked out again. He asked a construction worker to help him start the car.

FRUSTRATED

The worker refused, apparently relishing the sight of a "policeman" caught in such a predicament. The frustrated bandit fled.

The construction man, Philip Rossi, 31, then drove the car onto the demolition site. He discovered the jewels and gold bars, called fellow demolition men over and, as police described it, a "grab bag" game followed.

Officers said Walter Cunningham, 61, took $3,000 in jewels to his Pennsylvania vacation retreat and buried them in a lard can.

In all, the demolition men carried off at least $268,000 worth.

Monday night, a construction worker boasted in a bar about the windfall in jewels. An eavesdropper tipped police.

At about the same time, another construction worker told a private detective that he had seen one bandit unload a briefcase in a boiler at the demolition site. The detective found the jewel-laden briefcase and called police.

Officers searched the site further Tuesday and found still more jewels.

partment, refused to answer questions about the deals when he went before the Senate Investigations subcommittee Tuesday as its last scheduled witness.

The subcommittee announced its next act in the long probe will be to seek agreement among its members on a report of findings. Well-placed sources predicted a split verdict, with the majority sharply critical but stopping short of any finding that political influence was involved.

The probe had stood in recess for more than a year to await the outcome of trials in which Estes has been convicted of Texas state and federal fraud charges. He is appealing both cases.

Estes' financial empire, once valued in the millions of dollars, has collapsed in bankruptcy.

TAX CUT: Abraham Ribicoff says the Kennedy administration should be trying to sell its $11-billion tax cut bill as an economic stimulant, instead of as a cure for hard-core unemployment.

"Tax rates are too high," said the Connecticut Democrat Tuesday. "They throttle incentive. They should be adjusted to encourage industry to more initiative. But to say that a tax cut will solve all the problems of unemployment just won't do it."

Ribicoff, formerly welfare secretary in President Kennedy's Cabinet, commented in an interview.

Poll Tax Sale Up

Poll tax receipts were in brisker demand Tuesday than they have been all season.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre said that 19 poll tax receipts were issued during the day. Although the time for paying the tax has been in effect nearly 60 weeks, less than 50 poll tax receipts had been sold prior to yesterday.

Until last Saturday's special election, taxpayers were advised to delay paying their poll tax. A proposal on the ballot would have eliminated poll tax as a voting requirement had it been given approval. It was defeated and the sale of poll tax has now resumed.

Mrs. LeFevre said that she would confer with the attorney general today on the problems which are ahead in connection with poll tax payments. Under a ruling of the federal courts, a voter who does not want to pay the poll tax fee cannot be deprived of his right to vote in elections to name federal officials.

Plans are to issue such voters poll tax receipts marked "poll tax not paid." These receipts would be accepted at elections for president, vice president, congressmen or senators. They would not be accepted in county, state or township elections.

Prosperity makes some friends and many enemies. —Vauvenargues.

DAILY GUIDE—On the surface a pleasant enough day, but there are some trouble spots here and there where undisciplined energy is let loose. Be very careful if driving, or doing anything which might prove dangerous. This is an accident-prone period, especially for those born around Sept. 6, Dec. 6, June 4 or March 4. All Sagittarians, Geminians, Pisceans or Virgos may experience some difficulties at this time.

Sometimes it is an accumulation of planetary influence which finally brings about some of the unfulfilled indications of the recent past, and we as a nation are due to experience some re-emphasis on sensitive points which have been weathered before, but which now could sweep us up into the disruptive elements of world conditions. This is a tricky period.

Little unexpected happenings can give a certain instability to tomorrow. Recheck all written items, and watch what you say.

Scorpions have two days of extra activity ahead.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, SCORPIO! There is still a great deal of accent on your personal expression now, and your finances will require considerable attention in the coming weeks. Be careful not to have the action all outgoing; you could make more money, but will have to watch the spending.

Attend to details of finances in the next few weeks. February could bring a return of some old problem at home base, and then a final accent at the end of the year.

In the summer turn to old ties for stability. Through other people, opportunities start coming from May on, with some lucky expansion in June and December.

Ratliff Takes Fireman's Post

Edell Ratliff, former Big Spring resident, has been named as a replacement for Clayton McDaniel in the city fire department, according to Fire Marshal A. D. Meador. McDaniel, a four-year veteran with the department, has moved to Arizona.

Ratliff is married and the father of two infant sons, Daniel Edell and Tracy Lea. He operated a sheet metal shop in Andrews prior to his return to Big Spring.

Three Attending Regional School

Three city employees are attending regional water and sewer courses being held in Lubbock this week.

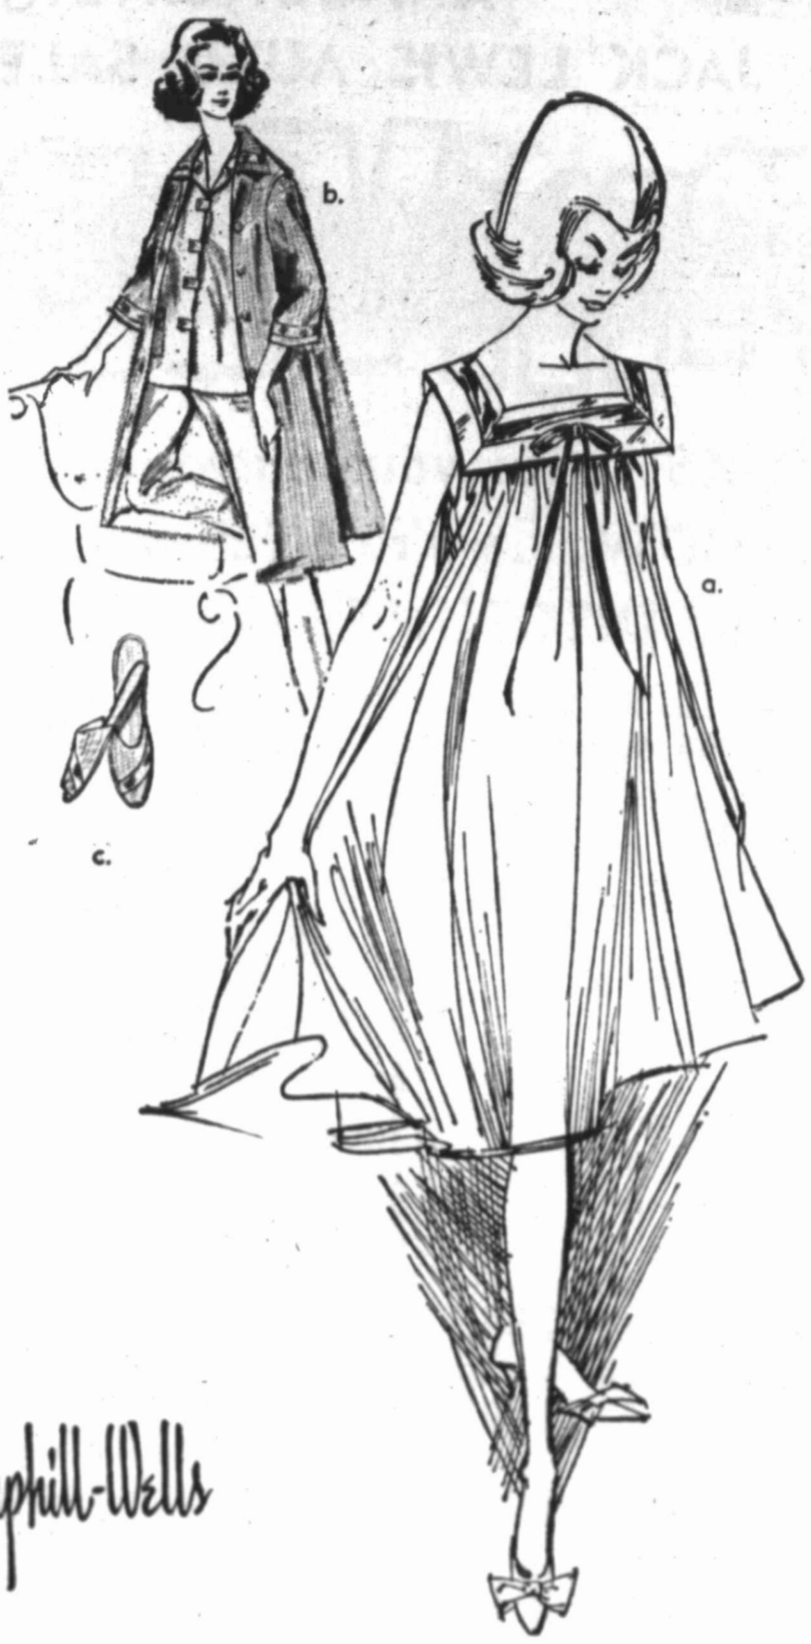

Roy Hester, city water works director, and Fred Overman, water works employee, are attending a water school conducted by the Extension School of Texas A&M. Ruben Franco, city sewer department employee, is attending a similar school for sewer department personnel.

Classes began in Lubbock Monday and will continue throughout the week.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The national director of the Congress of Racial Equality says his organization will launch a Christmas boycott of Los Angeles stores that practice discrimination in employment.

Certain Bible Truths Not Argumentative, Say Baptists

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—There are certain great Biblical truths which do not adapt themselves to differences of interpretation.

The president of the Southern Baptist Convention said Tuesday night.

"If a man does not firmly hold these truths," Dr. K. Owen White of Houston added in an address to the Baptist General Convention of Texas, "he ceases to be a New Testament Baptist."

Some persons obviously attach little value to doctrinal conviction and integrity, he said.

"We do not worship the Bible, as some imply, but we do believe it," continued Dr. White.

who is pastor of Houston's First Baptist Church.

"More time could profitably be spent in some of our (Baptist) schools in majoring upon what it says rather than in trying to find out if it is true.

"We are aware that we are as a denomination because of the Bible."

Dr. White took part as a leader in a controversy over liberalism in Baptist seminaries. He took issue with statements in a volume titled "The Message of Genesis" that parts of the book of Genesis in the Bible were myths rather than literal truth.

called the problem child of 20th century denominations," the Houston churchman said, "because they have not shown any enthusiasm for such organizations as the World Council of Churches, the National Council of Churches or, indeed, the whole ecumenical movement.

"I hope that in this sense we shall continue to be a problem child. Membership in such groups can only result in embarrassment, confusion, compromise and involvement in activities which would vex our conscience and destroy our witness to the Bible as God's unchanging word."
