Soviet Aid Falls Short Of Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian trade-and-aid offensive, launched a decade ago to try to sweep new and neutral nations into the Communist camp, is a growing disappointment to the Kremlin.

Even in Moscow confidence has dimmed. American government analysts report that the emerging countries of Africa and Asia soon will reject capitalism in a great "national-liberation movement."

And comparisons of 1962 trade data now available confirm that Russia remains a puny commercial rival of the United States in all but a few limited areas of the non-Communist world.

Two-thirds of Russia's trade continues to be with its captive market, the Communist bloc in Europe, but its goal of "burying" the United States as the foremost trading nation depends on the penetration of the vast and swiftly growing Western markets and the developing nations.

FROM SCRATCH — Russian progress has been substantial, considering that the Soviets started virtually from scratch. But Washington's concern is less with the trade volume — as an entire bloc the Communist group generates only 5 per cent of world commerce — than with the political and propaganda impact of the Soviet economic warfare.

Officials suspect that Russia gets more political mileage per ruble of foreign aid than the United States gets per dollar Soviet aid programs are expensive, shrewdly aimed at the West's worst trouble spots, designed for maximum pay-off in political or military advantage and magnified by adroit propaganda techniques.

SKEPTICISM — But analysts who advise the State Department and Congress now note rising skepticism toward the Marxist promise even in the under-developed lands where Russia has poured out rubles and promises.

U.S. expert, Leon Herman, Soviet economic analyst for the Library of Congress, told an interviewer that Russian leaders "realize matters are less promising than they had hoped," but have not altered their plans or diminished their efforts.

"They feel they can create hostility for the developed countries among the underdeveloped — can convince them that they are the victims of capitalist exploitation," Herman explained.

PERCENTAGES — Russia showed a 19 per cent gain in 1962 in trade with non-Communist countries. That was twice the U.S. percentage rise, but percentages are deceptive. The actual Soviet increase was $650 million, with imports up $200 million. The U.S. gain to the same areas was $3 billion; imports rose by $1.7 billion.

That meant that the United States, which already provided a market eight times greater than Russia's for the goods and raw materials of the non-Communist world, enlarged that market by an amount eight times greater than the Russian increase.

Premier Khrushchev told to an American editor in 1957: "We declare war upon you in the peaceful field of trade. We declare war. We will win. We are relentless in this and it will prove the superiority of our system."

LESS IMPRESSED — The neutrals seem less and less impressed with Khrushchev's predictions. Three young African states which flirted seriously with communism — Ghana, Guinea and Mali — have pulled back despite Russia's intensive wooing with financial and military aid and small armies of technicians.

The United Arab Republic, which seemed likely to spin into the Soviet orbit after the Suez crisis seven years ago, is spinning out again. Iraq has joined the list of Arab disappointments to Moscow.

India, Asian leader of the neutrals, has turned its eyes Westward and acknowledged closer rapport with the democracies.

Army Takes Over Iraq's Government

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Abdel Salam Aref and the leaders of the Iraqi armed forces overthrew their country's Ba'ath Socialist government today and took control.

Aref in one of his early proclamations indicated that he hoped to revive the agreement to merge Iraq with Syria and President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

The president, an admirer of Nasser, said he would cooperate closely with all Arab nations, "especially with the United Arab Republic."

Aref, who has been Iraq's provisional president since the military ousted Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's dictatorship in February, assumed full powers as head of a new revolutionary council.

NATIONAL GUARD — He ordered dissolution of the National Guard, a semi-military unit of Ba'ath Socialist party youths loyal to exiled Deputy Premier Ali Saleh El Saadi, leader of an extreme left faction of Ba'athists. All guardsmen were ordered to surrender their weapons to the armed forces. Those who refused were to be executed on the spot.

Baghdad Radio said the armed forces had captured National Guard headquarters and taken a number of guardsmen prisoner.

The armed forces also were reported to have encountered some resistance in sections of Baghdad, but appeared to have full control by mid-morning. A general curfew proclaimed at 6:40 a.m. was eased to allow bakers and others in essential services to go to their jobs.

SAFEGUARD — Aref said in a statement broadcast over Baghdad Radio that he was taking over full powers to safeguard the unity of the Iraqi people.

Iraq had been in the throes of a week-long internal power struggle between moderate and extremist factions of the Ba'ath party. Ba'athist leaders from Syria had gone to Iraq to help restore order.

Aref pledged that he would carry out "the brotherly obligations to our sister Arab states, especially Syria and the United Arab Republic. We say to our beloved sister, Syria, that we will always be with her. We will carry out our obligations toward her."

DOMINATION — The United Arab Republic, Iraq and Syria agreed in April to join in a federation, but the Ba'athists in Syria and Iraq rejected domination by Nasser and dropped Nasserites from their ruling councils. Nasser subsequently denounced the Ba'athists, especially those of Syria, and nothing came of the proposed federation.

Recently the Ba'athists in Iraq and Syria formed a united military command, began discussions of economic union and set political union as their ultimate goal.

Aref indicated that he wanted the Syrian-Iraqi military union to continue. He sent a message to the commander of the Syrian army brigade fighting Kurdish rebels in northern Iraq and assured the Syrian his brigade was "part of us."

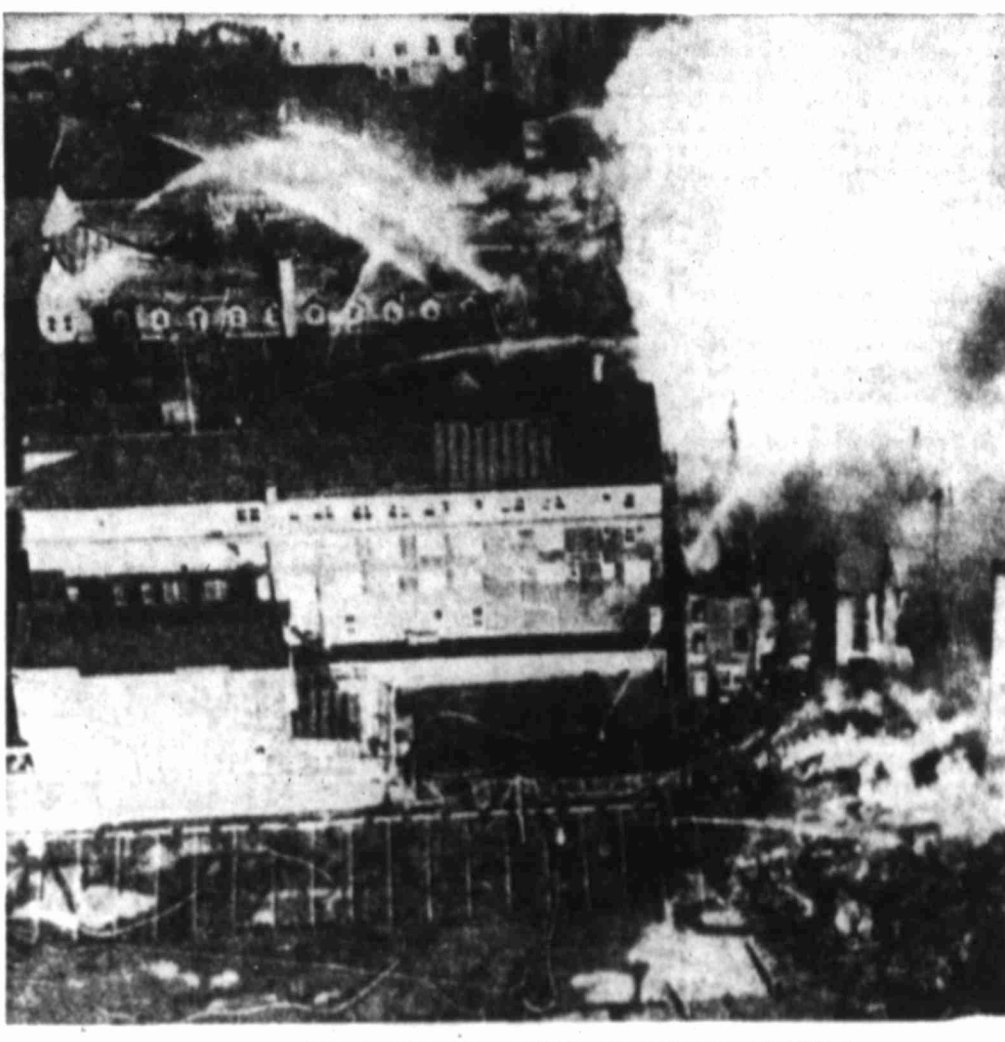

SIX TRIPS — The Russians, Barghoorn said, accused him of gathering intelligence during his employment in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow in the 1940s and on six trips he has made to the Soviet Union since 1947. Soviet studies are Barghoorn's specialty as a professor of political science. He has written several books on the Soviet Union and was gathering material for another when he was arrested.

The climate of suspicion in Russia is such, he said, that "one can be accused of conducting intelligence activity merely by walking down the street — especially if one has hostile intentions against the Soviet state; hostile, that is, in the opinion of the appropriate Soviet authorities."

ANY BASIS — He denied that the Russians had any basis for accusing him of spying.

They knew he was going to try and determine how public opinion is formed in the Soviet Union, Barghoorn said, and could have refused him a visa. "There are many inexplicable and mysterious aspects of this episode," he said. "I shall probably never know why the Soviet government decided to take an action which by non-Soviet

25 Missing As Fire Razes Resort Hotels

FIREMEN PUMP WATER INTO BLAZING HOTELS. Twenty-five persons missing in Atlantic City blaze.

Frame Buildings Swept In Jersey

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Fire swept through a block of hotels and rooming houses just off the Atlantic City Boardwalk today, leaving 25 persons unaccounted for.

Flames destroyed five hotels and a rooming house and fire roared out of control through two more buildings. Fire also spread to three other buildings, but was quickly extinguished.

The missing were guests at the Surfside Hotel, where the fire broke out shortly after 4 a.m. The Surfside was a kosher establishment catering mainly to elderly Jews.

Milton Rauer, owner of the Surfside, said 20 of the guests were year-round residents of the hotel and another 10 were there on short vacations from New York, Philadelphia and other cities.

"I'm fearful to say a number did not escape," Rauer said. "It went so quickly a number of them were mostly elderly persons." The building was engulfed in flames in about five minutes, he said.

Atlantic City Hospital said 22 persons were treated there, two of them admitted.

"The night watchman smelled smoke and called me on the switchboard," Rauer said. "My first thought was to get my family out. I woke up my wife, she grabbed a dress, and then we woke up our three sons and my mother. We all jumped through a back window about 15 feet to the ground."

"In another minute or two the whole building would have collapsed on us."

Rauer said he had heard that about 12 of the guests escaped, but that he saw only four of them.

Mrs. Rauer said 30 guests were registered and all were in the building Sunday night.

along with the Rauer family of six and the night watchman, Philip Johnson.

"We couldn't get out the front door. We got out through a window in our living quarters," Mrs. Rauer said.

The Rauer and Johnson got out uninjured.

Police said at least five of the 30 guests at the Surfside got out of the building.

A heavy wind from the ocean fanned the flames from the Surfside to seven other buildings on either side of it along Maryland Avenue, which intersects the Boardwalk. Three more buildings on Virginia Avenue behind the burning ones also caught fire but were quickly extinguished.

Louis Levine, an artist who lived across the street from the Surfside, said he ran to the hotel and heard "screaming death wails. I panicked because the flames were too bright and I couldn't go in."

The fire was about three-fourths of a mile north of Convention Hall where the Democratic National Convention will be held next August.

The Surfside was the only hotel or rooming house that had guests, according to Police Sgt. James Mullen, one of the first men on the scene. The others were closed for the winter.

Starting at the Boardwalk, the buildings hit by the fire were an apartment building, the Stratmore, Surfside and Leonard hotels, a rooming house, the Imperial Hotel annex and another rooming house.

All four hotels and one rooming house were destroyed. The flames were out of control in the Imperial annex and the second rooming house.

President Begins Jaunt To Woo Florida, Texas

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy flies to Tampa today at 300 miles an hour to predict that the time is within sight when men will fly routinely through space at more than 15,000 miles an hour.

Kennedy produced this Buck Rogers vision at the start of a two-stage speech-making tour which he hopes will help him capture the South's most populous states — Florida and Texas — in 1964.

Flying to Tampa from his weekend headquarters at Palm Beach aboard his jet transport, Kennedy readied heavy futuristic forecasts for a ceremony marking the 50th anniversary of the first scheduled air service.

45 A HEAD — In his prepared text, the President contrasted the first commercial flight from Tampa to neighboring St. Petersburg, at a price of "45 a head, with current jet travel.

And, looking toward the decades ahead, he said that "with our sight, if not yet within our grasp, is the day when men will routinely fly through space at 25 times the speed of sound."

That would be more than 15,000 miles an hour.

Even by 1975, Kennedy said, "metropolises" will be able to take off directly from the crowded center of one city and fly to another — even as airliners cross oceans and continents at 1,400 miles an hour.

PIONEERING — The President said that the "pioneering spirit is still burning bright in this state and nation" and that America is ready to venture down a path "through the dark unknown that lies ahead."

Kennedy arranged a busy Florida itinerary, starting with a visit to the headquarters of the strike command at MacDill Air Force Base near Tampa. The President flies from Palm Beach to MacDill in late morning.

Before flying to Washington tonight, Kennedy will make five speeches in Tampa and Miami — one an important foreign policy address at an evening dinner of the Inter American Press Association.

Thursday, Kennedy will begin a three-day Texas swing that will take him to Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Austin and the Johnson City ranch of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

NON-POLITICAL — Both the Florida and Texas trips were labeled "non-political" by the White House. However, the President's heavy speaking schedule left no doubt that the 1964 balloting was much in his mind.

Florida has not supported a Democratic presidential candidate since 1948. Kennedy lost the state to Republican Richard M. Nixon by 47,000 votes out of 1.5 million in 1960 and he carries Texas by a similarly narrow margin.

Texas has 24 electoral votes and Florida next year will have 14, a boost of four because of population gains.

Kennedy's major address at the Miami Beach dinner of the Inter American Press Association will focus on Latin American problems. The association represents publishers and editors from all parts of the hemisphere.

Kennedy had hoped to talk privately in Miami Beach with Vice President Carlos Humberto of Argentina, who had considered attending the press association dinner. However, Argentine officials said a possible special session of Parliament would require his presence at home.

Russian-Rescued Jet Pilot Killed

STONY CREEK, N.Y. (AP) — Exactly three months after he was plucked from the ocean by Russian fishermen, Capt. Hugh A. Lavallee guided his jet fighter through clouds over the Adirondack Mountains and disappeared.

That was Saturday. His remains were found Sunday in the wreckage of his Massachusetts Air National Guard plane 13 miles west of Stony Creek. The plane had slammed into a mountain.

Lavallee, 29, of Springfield, Mass., apparently had no chance to parachute, an Air Force spokesman said.

Three months ago, Lavallee ejected from a disabled jet over the Atlantic. He was pulled from the water by the crew of a Russian fishing trawler.

WELL TREATED — Asked about psychological or physical pressures used on him, he answered:

"I think that within the terms of their system I was well treated."

On the flight to New York, Barghoorn celebrated with a shot of vodka and some caviar.

"I think it all came out for the best," he said during the flight. "I greatly appreciate what President Kennedy has done in my behalf, and I definitely do not intend to reveal details . . ."

Politicking Rockefeller Heads For Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller does some Capitol Hill politicking today after firing off a charge that Sen. Barry Goldwater does not represent a consensus of Republican thinking.

The New York governor, a declared candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, made that allegation Sunday on the CBS television program "Face the Nation" and again as he arrived in Washington Sunday night to buttonhole senators in a search for convention support.

The Republican platform in 1964 will represent "the mainstream of Republican thought," Rockefeller told newsmen at Washington National Airport. And then, carrying his theme out, he said he assumes Goldwater will "have shifted his position prior to the convention" in order to run on such a platform.

On the nationwide television interview, broadcast from St. Louis, Rockefeller made a similar pitch by saying Goldwater may have trouble explaining to the voters the switches he would have to make to win the nomination.

"The people are going to say just what are his positions and why did he vote against Eisenhower 48 per cent of the time when he (President Dwight D. Eisenhower) was in office," Rockefeller said. "In the heat of a presidential nomination, when Sen. Goldwater will have to change positions, the people will ponder."

Goldwater served Saturday as best man at the wedding of an old friend, Lyle O. Snader, president of Capitol Hill's Quorum Club, while leaders of the drive to make Goldwater the Presidential nominee met to plan strategy.

Peter O'Donnell Jr., Republican state chairman of Texas and head of the national draft Goldwater organization, said he thinks at least 300 convention votes already are in the Goldwater column. Nomination will require 655.

'PERIOD OF QUIET' — Barghoorn read a statement about "my unpleasant experience."

He allowed only a few minutes of questions. He refused to answer or replied cautiously, to questions about details of his arrest, confinement and release. He said he would withhold a number of details "until I have had an opportunity to fully acquaint myself with the views and information of the appropriate officials in Washington."

Barghoorn Returns To Book After Release By Russians

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "I'm working on my book and I hope I'll have a period of quiet after this," says Frederick C. Barghoorn, home from the Soviet Union where he was jailed as a spy.

Arrested Oct. 31 on an espionage charge, the 52-year-old Yale professor was imprisoned in Moscow until Saturday.

Then the Soviet Union, citing the personal concern expressed by President Kennedy, announced it was expelling Barghoorn. He was hustled aboard an airliner and flown to London. Sunday a second flight carried him to New York and a chartered plane brought him to New Haven.

TO MOTHER — He was taken to the apartment of Mrs. Elizabeth Barghoorn, his 80-year-old mother. Barghoorn, a bachelor, lives next door.

H. M. Rainbolt Funeral Tuesday

H. M. Rainbolt, 62 founder and operator of the Wagon Wheel restaurants, died Sunday evening while on a deer hunt near San Saba.

The civic and fraternal worker had gone a short distance from camp on the Burnham ranch southwest of San Saba where he had hunted for the past 10 years. Members of the party found him near his pickup truck a short time after he apparently had suffered the fatal attack.

For several years he had a heart involvement.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church with Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor officiating. Masonic rites will be observed at the graveside with Lodge No. 1340 in charge. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park with Nailey - Pickle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Rainbolt had been active in civic affairs, and particularly in the Knights of Pythias.

He was born Feb. 16, 1901 in Stevens County and was married Dec. 27, 1923 in Abilene to Ruby Dunigan. They moved to Big Spring in 1929 when he set up a wholesale food distributorship.

In 1943 he and Mrs. Rainbolt set up a small restaurant at the corner of Third and Owens and as rapidly as possible it was expanded and became the Wagon Wheel. In recent years he established Wagon Wheel drive-ins at Fourth and Birdwell, 2011 Gregg and 2105 W. 3rd.

Mr. Rainbolt was a member of the First Methodist Church. He had been active in Knights of Pythias work for more than 30 years, filling every office in the local lodge including the post of chancellor commander. In addition, he was the grand chancellor commander in Texas in 1953 and for a year was supreme (national) deputy for Texas and Louisiana.

H. M. RAINBOLT

ed the local chapter of the Dramatic Order of Khorassan and was once its state chief.

He also held membership in Big Spring AFAM and was in the various Masonic orders, including the Dallas consistory and the Suez Shrine Temple at San Angelo.

Active in the International 87 Highway Association, he headed it for three years, during which time it was made the Henry Ford Memorial Highway and the Ford Foundation adopted it as a project. He also had been an early worker in the area unit of the Texas Restaurant Association. He served on different occasions as a member of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors and on its highway and tourist development committees. He also was an avid sportsman, delighting in hunting and fishing.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Ruby Rainbolt; a daughter, Mrs. Ann R. Kay, Abilene; two sisters, Mrs. Eugene Hargrove, Abilene, and Mrs. Newt Speake, Albuquerque, N.M. An infant son preceded him in death in 1934.

Palbearers will be Clive Pierce, Russell Hardin, Jack Needham, George Blair, Curtis Choate, J. D. Jones, Randall Polk and Ted Groehl.

Fast Pace Vowed By Next Mexico President

GUSTAVO DIAZ ORDAZ ACCEPTS Ex-interior minister to be Mexican president

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The man expected to be the next president of Mexico pledges to lead his country at a faster pace to achieve the unattained goals of the Mexican revolution: education, economic well-being and social justice for all.

In a speech Sunday accepting the presidential nomination of the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI), Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, 52, declared the best way to consolidate the gains achieved since 1910 in the march to the revolution's goals is to accelerate the march.

Describing the plight of the Mexican campesino as "the most anguishingly grave problem on the Mexican political, social and economic horizon," Diaz Ordaz outlined a 20-point program aimed at integrating Mexico's agrarian reform program and making it work.

"We must not delude ourselves into thinking that agrarian problems can be solved with a simple formula," he declared. "We must allow ourselves to be carried away by irresponsible demagogues which, instead of easing the problem, aggravates it."

His program for the campesinos included resettlement of farmers in planned communities to crop, modernizing farm methods, remunerative prices for products, honestly controlled credits, education, subsidies and health and social welfare activities.

Diaz Ordaz, who resigned the post as secretary of interior in the cabinet of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, to become the candidate of the PRI party, spoke a brisk businesslike manner to a cheering crowd of 85,000 in the Olympic Stadium at Sports City.

PRI nomination is tantamount to election. The official party has overwhelmingly dominated Mexican politics for three decades. The only legal opposition consists of small, insignificant leftist or rightist groups.

Another Jewel Comedy Unreeled

NEW YORK (AP) — With the city still laughing about Manhattan's comically abortive gem robbery two weeks ago, another masterpiece of jewel theft buffonery took place Sunday.

Unlike the misguided $2 million holdup of Nov. 8 in which the loot was left behind, two bandits escaped with $55,000 in gems Sunday. But the intruders found themselves overrun with hostages.

Toward the end, things got so crowded in the plush East Side apartment of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gurian that the two badmen had all they could do to maintain order.

As a result, Gurian said, the thieves left behind more jewelry than they took.

Police estimated that the jewels left behind are worth $100,000. Gurian estimated his loss at $55,000.

The invaders, one carrying a bouquet as a ruse and the other a gun, collected an elevator operator and a delicatessen deliveryman en route to the apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurian had just settled down to a wedding anniversary breakfast served by their maid. Mrs. Gurian rushed to a telephone and shouted "Help — Help" before it was slammed down by one bandit.

The call brought another elevator operator on the run. He was ushered into the apartment at gunpoint.

Sometime during the rapid-fire activity, the bandits managed to find the gems.

Their foraging was cut short, however, when Mrs. Gurian again broke loose and darted into the hall, the robbers in hot pursuit. They met head-on with a doorman, and a brief scuffle ensued before the robbers broke away and scrambled down 12 flights of stairs to the street.

They commandeered a taxi-cab and forced the driver to take them several blocks away where one debarked. A few blocks beyond, the other robber left the cab. Neither bothered to pay the fare.

Mrs. Gurian, whose husband is a vice president of the Wall Street firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, summed up the episode: "It was like a Keystone Kops comedy."

The $3 million gem robbery two weeks ago failed when the driver of the loot car couldn't cope with the old-style floor gear shift and abandoned the vehicle and gems.

Loan Funds For Water

LAMESA (SC) — Loan funds are now available to Dawson and Borden County farmers who wish to develop or improve water supply systems for irrigation, household use and livestock, said George A. Sparkman, supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration.

Farmers may obtain water development and soil conservation loans to drill wells and otherwise improve water supply systems by the purchase of pumps, sprinklers or other irrigation equipment. Loans may also be used to construct and repair ponds or pits, ditches, canals for irrigation, underground pipe for irrigation, level land, carry out basic land treatment practices including fertilizing, seeding, fencing and to sod land.

Loans may also be used to establish permanent pastures, build terraces, waterways and other erosion control structures, and to pay legal fees, engineering and other technical services.

Five per cent interest is charged on the loan, which ranges up to $60,000 depending on how the funds are to be used and property available for security as well as the individual's previous debt structure.

HOLY SPIRIT

"Baptists believe that salvation from sin and the ability to live a life committed to Jesus Christ is brought about by the saving and keeping power of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit, as Baptists understand him, is God in action. All religious response is dependent on the Holy Spirit — God abroad in the world, taking the initiative, pursuing and persuading men to turn and be saved." (from tract under review)

If this statement means that the Holy Spirit, by using his sword, the powerful word of God (Eph. 6:17; Heb. 4:12), convicts and calls the sinner, then I agree with the statement. Man is called by the gospel (II Thess. 2:14). Faith comes through hearing the word (Rom. 10:17). The gospel is God's power to save (Rom. 1:16). The Holy Spirit (one of the persons of the Godhead) does not operate directly upon the heart of the sinner, independent of the word of God.

Oklahoma Counts Loss In Giant Prairie Fire

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — The danger past, residents of this ravaged eastern Oklahoma area began taking stock today of damage from a prairie fire that finally died Sunday after threatening two farm communities, killing cattle and leveling 40 square miles of rangeland.

A gusting wind fanned the blaze through the parched area, gripped in the worst drought since the dust bowl days of the 1930s. The 200 or so persons fought fire 30 hours without rest.

Clyde Neff, Muskogee County civil defense director, flew over the scorched area, then declared it "was really black. I could hardly see even a post standing anywhere."

He said some farmers and ranchers lost their "houses, barns, shops and equipment." Neff estimated "at least 200 head of cattle and 15 farm buildings were destroyed." But he said the toll might be even heavier.

Gilpatric Resumes TFX Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric for more questioning today on his role in the TFX warplane contract award — a role which the Justice Department said involved no conflict of interest violation.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee is interested in Gilpatric's association with officials of the company which got the controversial contract, General Dynamics' Fort Worth Division.

The subcommittee has been trying to determine if favoritism or poor judgment was involved in the award. Gilpatric and other top Pentagon civilians overrode military evaluations that a rival design and bid by the Boeing Co. promised a superior plane at less cost.

Testimony last May showed Gilpatric did $128,000 worth of legal work for General Dynamics before taking his Pentagon post in 1961.

The Justice Department asserted it had found no conflict of interest violation by Gilpatric in the TFX case. The department did not expand on this except to say it had advised inquiring senators about two weeks ago of its findings.

The subcommittee's investigation of the contract—which may eventually involve an estimated $5 billion—has been held on and off since Feb. 26. All but one half day's session have been secret, but the senators have voted to remove the secrecy barriers sometime today.

This marks the start of the final scheduled round of the investigation, with Gilpatric, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, former Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth of Fort Worth and possibly Secretary of the Air Force Eugene Puckert the last scheduled Pentagon witnesses. All have been on the witness stand at earlier sessions.

Third Floor Refurbished

COLORADO CITY (SC) — County Judge Elmer Martin and Mitchell County Commissioners held open house for the newly remodeled third floor of the county courthouse here Sunday afternoon.

The third floor, completely remodeled and refurnished for the first time since the building of the courthouse in 1923, houses the district courtroom, the offices of the district judge, district clerk, court reporter and jury quarters. It is air conditioned, has central heating and modern lighting—"and best of all," says Judge Martin, "it's paid for."

Remodeling and new furniture for the courtroom, cost $35,059, according to Martin, and the work was done without an increase in taxes.

Martin says that next year, the commissioners court plans to remodel the second floor and perhaps the first, depending on the cost. The installation of an elevator has also been considered, Martin says.

Commissioners are Marcus Vest, Drue Cavthron, Jake Northcutt and Moody Richardson.

Holiday Seal Campaign Begins

LAMESA (SC) — The 1963 Christmas seal campaign gets in full swing here this week, according to Dr. J. V. McKay, president of the Dawson County Tuberculosis Association. Gene Adams has been named chairman of the campaign and Mrs. Bill Spires, secretary.

Volunteer workers have mailed out Christmas seal letters to Dawson residents and the goal this year is $3,000. 82 per cent of which will remain in the county. Twelve per cent will be used at state level and the remainder goes to national headquarters.

Proceeds locally will be used for X-rays, student testing programs and general patient care. Five thousand students were tested last year in Dawson County when 57 new cases of TB were reported.

Court Dockets Are Scheduled

LAMESA (SC) — Sixty-nine jurors have been summoned for two separate court dates here. The majority were called for a civil trial session of 106th District Court which gets underway on Nov. 25. Judge Truett Smith has docketed 17 cases for disposition.

County Judge Leslie C. Pratt has called two dozen veniremen for a criminal trial session of county court Nov. 19.

Rains Spatter State As Cool Front Arrives

By The Associated Press

Rains ranging from sprinkles to a soaking 1.22 inches at Tyler spotted Texas Monday as a cool front pushed deep into the state.

Showers continued in North-east Texas and in portions of North Central Texas early Monday along the front which extended from near Texarkana and running south of Tyler to Austin and Eagle Pass.

Skies were clear in West Texas but were cloudy in most other sections.

Early morning temperatures ranged from a chilly 28 degrees at Dalhart to 71 at Galveston and Cotulla.

Other low readings in the state included Amarillo 31, Lubbock 33, Childress 35, Wink 38, Wichita Falls 41, Marfa 44, El Paso 45, and Abilene 48. Mostly they were in the 50s and 60s.

Rainfall totals for the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Sunday included 37 of an inch at Lufkin and 0.5 at College Station.

The forecasts called for partly cloudy weather in West Texas and considerable cloudiness elsewhere with widely scattered showers in East Texas.

The cloudiness was expected to extend to most of the state Tuesday with the exception of the Panhandle with scattered rain. Slightly higher temperatures are predicted for the northern part of the state and cooler weather is in store for the southern part of Texas Tuesday.

The long-range forecasts called for the showers to end by mid-week.

Officers Picked For Regulars

Webb Air Force Base had nine second lieutenants of the 498 persons named to appointment to the Regular Air Force. The nine are members of Webb's Undergraduate Pilot Training classes and all were distinguished Officer Training School graduates.

Six are members of Class 64-H and three are from Class 64-G.

New regulars from 64-H are 2nd Lt. John O. Ahnert Jr., Allen L. Bird, Robert N. Donceel, Michael A. Grodzanoff, Brian F. Neffenger, and James A. Schwefel.

From 64-G are 2nd Lt. George Brower, Malcolm M. Whitten and William J. Wirant.

Included on the USAF list were 12 officers in the grade of major, 22 captains, 27 first lieutenants and 437 second lieutenants.

Four hundred thirty-two of the second lieutenants were Officer Training School graduates, while two were aviation cadet graduates and two others were from the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps.

YOUR STARS TODAY

By Constella

Men are born with two eyes, but with one tongue in order that they should see twice as much as they say. —Colton

DAILY GUIDE — The accent this week will be on personal relationships, especially between men and women. Those romantically inclined could find this favorable for dates, especially enjoying interesting entertainment together such as plays, concerts, lectures.

All should find this a good week for social affairs and for travel and attending sporting events.

Since there is a strong Mars influence, which represents the male, energetic action, aggression, and even war-like emotions, we need to be wary of violence, fighting words, rash actions.

Sagittarians need to be especially careful of what they say and how they act, since there is a heavy emphasis in their sign all week. This means that the Geminians had better be prepared to listen in silence; something almost impossible for Geminians to do!

So today, expect to keep up on your toes from early morning, but don't talk out of turn. The same holds true for tomorrow.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, SCORPIO! Domestic responsibilities and the serious business of establishing a permanent home base are still part of this coming year's pattern, with February a difficult period.

Use extra caution in the home then. A very favorable period starts in the late spring and will continue all year; personal relationships, alliances, marital affairs all provide opportunities for you.

June and December could be glamorous, expansive and inflationary.

In the summer turn to old friends and loved ones for support in expressing your talents; they might conflict with new friends as the old will be conservative and practical.

C-C Committees Schedule Meets

A joint meeting of the convention-tourist committee and the advertising-promotion committee of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Holiday Inn Motel.

C. A. Rose and Winston Wrinkle, chairmen of the respective committees, said several items of common interest are to be discussed and urged all members to attend.

The National Foundation committee will meet in the chamber conference room at 7 p.m. Monday, Jim Wright, chairman, announced.

A joint meeting between the cultural affairs committee and the directors of the Little Theater, will be held at the Prairie Playhouse in city park at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Record Released

LAMESA (SC) — Rev. Billy Thompson of Lamesa has announced the release of a new record on the K&Y-Bar-Dane label. The Lamesa recording company, which produced a successful record by Sharon Martin of Lamesa last summer, is a relative newcomer to the music across the nation.

E. is a native Lamesa and the singing duo will be making personal appearances in the West Texas area soon. Rev. Thompson is also planning another disc featuring "Please, Mr. God" and "I Dreamed I Went to Heaven." He wrote the latter song.

Argentine Offers Pay For Seizures

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The government of President Arturo U. Illia offered today to pay indemnification for the seizure of American and other foreign oil companies. But it attached strings that could drastically reduce the payments.

The oil companies say they have sunk $150 million into Argentine oil fields. Eight American firms claim to have invested $397 million of that amount.

The companies, whose contracts were annulled by Illia Friday, began sounding out the Argentine oil agency Sunday on the possibility of new contracts.

Mrs. Merritt Dies, Rites Pend

Mrs. Hazel Voncael Merritt, 52, wife of Charlie Merritt and a tireless civic worker in the Lakeview area of the city, died in a hospital here at 7:45 p. m. Sunday.

Mrs. Merritt had been working last week on an employment survey project of the Chamber of Commerce. Thursday evening she sustained a heart attack and was taken to the hospital.

Arrangements are pending at the River - Welch Funeral Home, but services will be held at the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church.

Mrs. Merritt was born March 4, 1911 in McKinney, completed high school in Bryant, and came here 26 years ago. She affiliated with the Mt. Bethel Baptist Church that same year and had been active in it ever since.

She also was a past president of the Ada Bell Dement Civic Club and a past president of the Stokes-Parker district of federated clubs. She was a past president of the Lakeview Parent-Teacher Association and currently served as its president.

Surviving are her husband, a son, Clarence Lee Merritt, Otis AFB, Mass.; her mother, Mrs. Viola Lindsey, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Georgia Leach, Big Spring, and Mrs. Greta Perry, McKinney.

Says Californians Don't Walk Enough

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Bethel Leslie loves New York, but she came to Hollywood because most of the TV shows are filmed out here. "I like California, but no one walks," she complained. "I find I have to make a date with myself to exercise. It is so easy to feel fit when you walk with a purpose. I prefer it to gymnastics on the floor."

on the floor and touch my heels, calves and all of my back. Now there is one place in the small of my back that used to stand away from the floor before I concentrated on releasing tension in these vertebrae. I didn't succeed the first time, nor the first week, but after a lot of work and a lot of patience I got my spine flush to the floor. You have to think about what you are doing, and if you pinpoint your attention, it is possible to command a muscle to release tension.

"I use yoga to wake me up in the morning," Bethel said in parting. "You have to use your breath in little short pants, but this requires instruction by an expert to be sure you are using the oxygen intake properly."

Clothes Collection To Go On Auction Block

By MARGARET SCHERF
CHICAGO — Like most women, Violet Bidwell Wolfner cherished clothes. But unlike most, she could look at dresses by the thousand just by going to her attic. The late Mrs. Wolfner's store of clothes will go on sale next week at an auction gallery.

Judging from the clothes hoard found at the wealthy sportswoman's home in suburban Wilmette, she did little more than look at her fantastic wardrobe. Many of the more than 1,000 dresses and coats were unworn, their tags—sizes 12 to 16—still in them. Dozens of the 1,500 pairs of shoes never were taken from their boxes.

Gowns bearing such labels as Dior and Pauline Trigere never were unpacked from the tissue paper in which they were delivered. Hundreds of Chicago women were having a window-shopping spree Friday and Saturday as they jammed an auction gallery to examine the wardrobe. It is part of a $3-million estate left by Mrs. Wolfner who died in January, 1962. Mrs. Wolfner's first husband was Charles W. Bidwell, owner of the Chicago Cardinals football team that later became the St. Louis Cardinals. He died in 1947 and in 1949 she married Walter Wolfner. Friends of Mrs. Wolfner say she went out seldom and did little entertaining. In addition to the dresses, coats and shoes are several hundred hats, more than 100 negligees, several hundred purses and pairs of gloves. Some of the clothes date back to the 1920s. They are in perfect condition, as is everything in the wardrobe.

Win High In Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Greenwood placed high at the Elk's Duplicate Club games held Saturday evening at the Settles Hotel.

Other winners were Mrs. Ayra McGann and George Pike, second; and Mrs. Ben McCullough and Mrs. Anne Hardy, third.

There will be a practice session Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Elk's Club for contract bridge players who wish to learn the duplicate method. Anyone is welcome to attend. There will be no charge for instruction and no points given.

Winners Named For Cosden Bridge Session

Six tables of duplicate players met Sunday afternoon at Cosden Country Club for the afternoon bridge session.

North-south winners were Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. E. L. Powell, first; and Mrs. Ben McCullough and George Pike, second. In the east-west position, Mrs. Malcolm Patterson and Mrs. Truman Jones were first and Mrs. Lloyd Nalls and Mrs. Fern Durham, second.

Jacqueline Orders

Jacqueline Kennedy probably gave Gimbels a jolt recently when she had one of her secretaries call Macy's Department Store, New York, to order a copy of a Yves St. Laurent dress. The White House was billed the $79.95 price.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Here's How To Cook The Perfect Turkey

Dear Folks: It's turkey-time again! After cooking turkey many ways and using many recipes, I am going to tell you what I thought was "the perfect turkey." Not only was it less trouble but also it was beautiful. I steamed it as it baked by pouring a cup of water in the body cavity. This keeps the meat juicy. If you like white meat, a minimum weight for the turkey should be about 20 pounds. If you can possibly afford it, buy a broad-breasted turkey. The better quality is worth the difference in price. Also, a turkey around 20 pounds is a better buy—you are buying more meat in proportion to the bone structure. In "broad-breasted turkeys" (the label will tell you if they are) you have more white meat. Leftovers may be frozen for later use.

HELOISE

Another thing that might interest you is... don't salt your turkey before cooking it. This will shock most of you who are in the habit of rubbing it with salt inside or out, but, believe me, it is better if you don't. A 20-pound frozen turkey takes at least three days to thaw properly in the refrigerator. It may be left over night on the drainboard if necessary, but too-fast thawing causes it to lose its good juices and makes the meat tough. Remove pin feathers on thawed turkey with tweezers. Remove giblets. Carefully wash turkey inside and out with cold water. Fold skin of neck under the back and fasten with tooth picks if you haven't any metal skewers. Tie the ends of the legs with a string and knot it. Fold tail up into the cavity of the bird and fasten. Fold wings under the back with tips touching.

Remove broiler rack from bottom of oven and cover it with heavy quilted foil. Use three long strips in center of rack and place turkey in the middle of this. Pour one cup of water into the cavity of an 18 to 20 pound bird. This will provide the steam as the bird roasts.

Take a brown paper grocery sack and tear a round piece big enough to cover the top of the bird. Rub the sack with lots of yellow shortening (this makes the bird golden brown) or another unsalted fat of your choice. Place greased side of sack "down" on the breast of the bird and wrap the whole turkey with the six ends of the

Porcelain Art Work Shown

Mrs. L. A. Griffith and Mrs. J. F. Skalicky were among the 38 area women attending the West Texas Porcelain Art Club meeting held Saturday in Sweetwater.

The women gathered at the Sweetwater Country Club where a morning session included talks on lace-draped porcelain dolls, wood carving, glass sagging and decoupage on coffee cans. Also shown were Christmas decorations made from egg cartons. Following the noon luncheon, a gift bazaar was held to raise funds for the club treasury. The next meeting will be an all-day workshop at the club Jan. 18.

Bride-Elect Honored At Evening Shower

Miss Meldean Kinman, bride-elect of Russell L. Kraus II, was honored Friday evening at a shower held in the home of Mrs. Jack Stricklan, 710 Tulane St. Calling hours were from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Club Meets For Dinner

Thirty-five members of the Newcomer's Club and their husbands attended a dinner held Saturday evening in the lounge of the Carleton House. Hostesses were Mrs. Joe English and Mrs. C. E. Neal.

A Thanksgiving motif was used in decorations. Centering the buffet table was a large pumpkin based in foliage and surrounded by Indian corn. Guests were seated at individual tables which held bowls of fall flowers in gold and brown tones.

Mrs. Ted Farrell announced that the club Christmas party will be held at 7 p.m., Dec. 7, in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co. Husbands of members will be invited along with other guests.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. L. B. Kinman, were presented corsages of white carnations tied with blue ribbon.

Over thirty guests were registered. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cutwork linen cloth. Appointments were of milkglass, including the candelabrum centering the table which held white tapers tied with blue and white satin streamers.

Hostesses with Mrs. Stricklan were Mrs. Rafof Dunagan, Mrs. Lee Nuckels, Mrs. R. G. Adkins, Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. David Rhoton, Mrs. Bob Jones and Mrs. C. W. Jones.

Also, Mrs. G. W. Williams, Mrs. Charles Engel, Mrs. Billy Rudd, Mrs. Ben Hitt, Mrs. Don Cannon and Mrs. A. D. Harmon. The couple will be married Nov. 29 in the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

Christmas Puts Heavy Load On House Electric Circuits

With Christmas coming up, and possibly a lot of extra demands on electric circuits for tree lights and other appliances, Big Spring residents should take a second look at the wiring in their homes. The present circuits could easily be overloaded and become fire hazards.

Haston Electric, 1606-B Gregg, is equipped and ready to look over your house circuits and wiring, and make recommendations. The firm can also handle the job for you when desired.

WISE OWNER

The wise homeowner will see that all circuits are capable of handling the load before adding appliances to circuits already in use. Many residents today have added portable television sets and radios, along with extra floor lamps, and other items formerly considered luxuries, to their homes without thinking of the wattage consumed when all of them are in use.

The same consideration should be given to business buildings where extra lighting, ornamental fixtures, and demonstration items are used on old circuits.

CHEAPER THAN FIRE

The cost for a remodeling job on old electric circuits runs far less than a fire.

If the building has been in existence for several years the

Variety Of Needs Supplied By Carver

Carver Drive-in Pharmacy, 310 E. 9th, has provided a drive-in prescription window for those who want to pick up orders without getting out of the car. Customers may drive all the way around the building, and to the window on the west side.

Prescription medicine, quality cosmetics, candies, magazines, or sundry items, may all be found at Carver Drive-in Pharmacy.

Call AM 4-4417 for prompt service on your needs.

Haston Electric's Headquarters

The office and shop of Haston Electric, at 1606-B Gregg, is convenient for customers, and provides ample area for working and warehouse space. Haston is equipped and staffed to handle any electrical job in Big Spring.

circuits are probably not enough to handle demands now. If the wiring has been overloaded, and has been heated several times, it should be replaced to insure safety. It may be necessary to run additional circuits to insure safety.

Haston has samples of many modern fixtures on display at the office. Catalogs are available to show those not on display, which may be ordered quickly and delivered in a short time.

MASTER ELECTRICIAN

Gene Haston, owner, is a master electrician and is available to consult with residents about electrical needs, services, and costs. Consultation may often save homeowners money because Haston knows the best methods of wiring homes, and the kinds of fixtures and appliances which may be used on present circuits.

Business firms may also be thinking about remodeling, adding air conditioning, heating equipment, or rewiring for display of appliances, heavy and light. Haston is ready to handle those jobs too, no matter how big they are.

Haston invites anyone planning a new building, large or small, a remodeling job, or additions, to consult with him on the job. Trained men know what may be needed now or in the future and can help prevent costly replacements or dangerous circuits.

Telephone AM 4-5103 for estimates or consultation, at Haston Electric.

Blue Lustre Is Fast, Easy

Blue Lustre Carpet and Upholstery Cleaner provides the answer for a quick and easy method of cleaning rugs and upholstery without a lot of trouble and inconvenience.

This premium quality liquid concentrate, when mixed with water, creates a billowy foam. The cleaning action of this foam instantly restores forgotten colors dulled by soil and separates the dirt particles from the fabric to allow easy removal by vacuuming. It can be used with any type of rug shampoo applicator.

It is an excellent cleaner for upholstered pieces, and has become first choice among housewives for the cleaning care of room furnishings.

One-half gallon of Blue Lustre concentrate is sufficient to clean three 9x12 rugs. It is available at Big Spring Hardware.

Low Cost For Yard Lights By Texas Electric

The modern yard or security lights, seen around homes and business parking lots, can be furnished by Texas Electric Service Co. at a nominal cost.

There is little danger of burglaries, or thefts from parked cars, business houses, or homes, where adequate lighting is provided. The lights may be installed on your own pole or you may have a pole set.

Information needed about installation of the lights for protection around your home or business may be had by calling AM 4-6383—Texas Electric Service.

Special Bonding Agent Keeps Tires From Peeling

Tires engineered to keep your spare in the trunk. The U.S. Royals are sold locally by Phillips Tire Co., Fourth and Johnson.

The U.S. Royal Master is the "Tire You Never Have to Replace." That's why General Motors has put them on most of the stock cars now purchased from your dealer.

BONDING RUBBER

The famous U.S. Royal method of bonding rubber to fabric insures a tenacious hold that will not "turn loose" and "let you down" on the road when driving at high speeds.

The tires are available for passenger cars and trucks, carry a lifetime comprehensive service guarantee, and will pay for themselves with more than 56 per cent more mileage than other tires.

The low profile U.S. Royal Master prevents costly accidents, improves car handling, and increases riding comfort in the car. It has the greatest stopping power on the road, and furnishes the greatest blowout protection at all speeds.

OTHER SERVICE

All services for tires are furnished by Phillips Tire Co. Your old tire may be recapped if the carcass is good. This will give you many more miles of excellent service at a much lower cost than new tires.

If your wheels are out of balance, causing tires to wear, Phillips Tire Co. can remedy that by proper balancing and wheel aligning. If you have an old "hound dog" jalopy, on which you do not want to put new tires, a good line of used tires is available.

After months of testing a bonding agent to keep treads from turning loose of the fabric on tires, the U.S. Royal manufacturers adopted the agent. The famous four-inch bonded strip test when a standard automobile was lifted 15 feet off the ground and held while a helicopter flew in a circle, resulted in the bonding agent's adoption. The bonds did not turn loose with the weight.

EXTRA SAFETY

Ted Phillips, at Phillips Tire Co., invites all car owners interested in extra safety to come by the store and "talk tires." Truck and tractor owners can also get guaranteed tires for all sizes of vehicles at Fourth and Johnson.

Phillips Tire Co. can satisfy the most exacting owner with all types of tire service on all kinds and sizes of vehicles.

LESS EXPENSIVE

Owners are asked to remember that the better the service the less expensive it is for owners in the long run. It adds to the feeling of safety.

Information may be obtained by calling AM 4-8271.

NEW U.S. ROYALS
engineered to keep your spare in the trunk

Why Take It Out Of The Trunk?

The U.S. Royal Master tire is engineered to keep the spare in the trunk, save blowouts, excess wear at high speeds, and give more riding comfort in the automobile. The bonding agent used keeps the rubber bonded to the fabric regardless of the speed of the vehicle and makes sudden stopping easy. They are sold locally by Phillips Tire Co.

Unions Talk Rights Amid JFK Criticism

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO convention takes up the civil rights issue today, amid expression of dissatisfaction with President Kennedy's legislation on the subject.

A. Philip Randolph, only Negro vice president of the labor organization, said he is not satisfied with Kennedy or the AFL-CIO in pressing for equal rights for Negroes. He warned of a possible "nationwide, bloody race war" in the United States.

Another AFL-CIO vice president, James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said his union would give strong support to two resolutions by Randolph aimed at discouraging racial discrimination.

AFL-CIO President George Meany appointed a special task force to deal with the civil rights issue at the biennial convention.

Carey said in an interview the AFL-CIO should give "active, affirmative support for legislation now being held up in the house rules committee."

He said this bill, drafted by the House Judiciary Committee, is "better than the President's bill."

Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, told a reporter his aim in bringing the civil rights issue before 1,000 delegates representing 13.5 million AFL-CIO union members was to "mobilize public sentiment" for action.

Carey said the purpose was to pressure Congress to pass a civil rights bill, by showing that the labor federation strongly favors it.

Suggestions Earn Money

A total of $280 in amounts from $15 and $80 went to eight Webb Air Force Base civil service employees last week for suggestions in the incentive awards program.

George Daniel received a check for $80 for his suggestion in the method used to pick up and deliver air freight shipments. He is with Traffic Management Section, 3560th Air Base Group.

A check for $75 went to G. W. Taylor, Field Maintenance Squadron, for his suggestion in the method used to load and unload J-89 engines. The new method also lessens possibility of injury to personnel and engine damage.

Checks of $25 went to Ruth I. Gibson, Supply Squadron, and F. D. Rodgers, Commissary. The former suggested an improvement in processing receiving documents, and the latter suggested an improvement in the method used to receive and issue items of merchandise at the commissary warehouse.

C. Jack Owens, Civil Engineering Section, received a $20 check for the method used to refill Mesquite Lake.

Arthur Parker, Field Maintenance Squadron, received $25 for his suggestion that will prevent damage to nose strut and engine rails.

Checks for $15 went to Billie Byerly, 3560th Supply Squadron, for her idea in recording monies obligated to the base procurement obligation authority, and to James G. Crenshaw, Field Maintenance Squadron, for his suggestion in improving the thermocouples on the J-89 engines.

Regional Deadline Looms For Annual Farmer Awards

Regional deadline is Dec. 1, 1963 for nominations for the 1964 Hoblitzelle Awards for the Advancement of Texas Rural Life. Nominations should be submitted by that date to any member of the state regional committee, George Johanson, Eden, said today. Johanson is chairman of the committee heading the approximate 50-county Area II in search for two Texas farmers who will receive the $5,000 cash awards.

Any farmer or rancher is eligible for nomination for the 1964 awards. Any organization, business or person may make nominations to the proper committee. Members of the Area II committee are Johanson, Hulan H. Harris, Box 1469, Big Spring; Roy Huckabee, Box 3127, San Angelo; H. Hardin Jones, Brady National Bank; Brady, Weldon Mason, Route 1, Brownfield; and J. L. Richmond, Drawer 1711, San Angelo.

Six A Day Killed On Jap Railways

TOKYO (AP)—The motormen had passed brain wave and psychological tests, had been drilled in emergencies. But when the blinding triple crash occurred human reactions were too slow to avert it.

In less than 50 seconds at Yokohama on a rainy night a week ago a freight train derailed, a Tokyo-bound passenger train rumbled into it, then careened off into the coaches of another commuter speeding in the opposite direction.

The dead: 161 Japanese and one American.

The story of this disaster, coupled with an earlier mine explosion in Kyushu which took 451 lives, was big news through the world.

6 A DAY

Less well known was the fact that in 1962 alone, 5,785 persons died or were injured in Japanese railway accidents of all kinds. The 2,120 fatalities averaged out to about 6 a day.

What is the reason for this carnage? What is being done to reduce it?

All told, the big, state-run national railways and 140 smaller private lines carry a world-record total of around 11 billion passengers a year over 14,500 miles of narrow gauge tracks.

Another big reason for the accidents can be found in a skyrocketing increase in the number of automobiles in Japan and a comparable rise in collisions on the country's 22,000 crossings, some unguarded.

SPLIT-SECOND

Much of the trouble lies also in the split-second timing the railways have adopted to cope with the enormous demands on their services.

"No basic solutions have been worked out to cope with the phenomenal increase in the number of passengers," said the newspaper Asahi in a look backward at the Nov. 9 disaster. "The general tendency has been to increase carrying capacity simply by drawing on the agility and skill of the railwaymen."

The tracks are still basically the same as those laid many years ago.

FIRST CLASS

The foreign visitor, traveling first class, rides a luxurious limited express on which he can nap in reclining chairs, listen to radio programs on individual head sets, telephone home or office, or lunch in a snack bar or restaurant. He doesn't know the basic trouble.

Such trains serve only a fraction of the huge Japanese train-traveling public, most of whom are jammed into ancient coaches equipped with straight, wooden-backed seats. At the rush hour, passengers are so tightly packed they cannot raise their arms to read their daily paper.

A five-year modernization plan begun in 1961 will spend some $2.71 billion to expand capacity and make the roads as accident-proof as humanly possible.

But any accident which happens in less than 60 seconds is beyond human capability to prevent, engineers say.

College Youth Sells U.N. Stamp Errors For $10,400

NEW YORK (AP)—A college student has assured the financing of his education by selling 50 misprinted United Nations postage stamps for $10,400.

The unidentified Bronx youth purchased 50 of the misprints for $2 on the first day of their issue, Feb. 28, 1962. Several weeks ago, he sold them to wholesale stamp dealer Julius Stalow of J. & H. Stalow, Inc. for $208 each.

Stalow said Sunday the young man "knew right away what he had" when he returned home from the U.N. with the stamps.

The misprinted stamps commemorate the U.N.'s housing and community facilities. But they are minus the black-printed words "Housing and Community facilities," which should be cornered on the left side, then continued halfway across the top.

Also misprints are several areas of black shading on houses that make up most of the stamp's design.

H. Alexander Fraenkel, who publishes a journal for stamp dealers and collectors, said "The misprint is the greatest error since the Dag Hammarskjöld (stamp) case. It's even greater for stamp collectors and dealers, because this error cannot be corrected by the U.S. Post Office Department.

"The stamps were printed by Harrison and Sons of London, and screened by its personnel in accordance with the usual rigid, careful British standards."

Stalow said he sold most of the stamps to dealers for $275 each, suggesting that dealers resell them to collectors for $390 apiece. At that retail price the misprinted stamps will be sold for about $20,000.

A year ago the U.S. Post Office Department blasted the dreams of a few American collectors of making small fortunes by selling misprinted U.S. stamps bearing the likeness of Hammarskjöld, the late U.N. secretary-general.

A Devotional For The Day

One thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her. (Luke 10:42.)
PRAYER: Eternal God, we are grateful to Thee that Thou art love and that Thou canst save and sustain all who call upon Thee in sincerity and in faith. Give us, we pray, that sense of fellowship and reliance that will abide each day of our lives. In Jesus' name. Amen.

A Way To Earn A Tax Cut

The Senate, after a spirited battle, whittled the foreign aid bill $827,250,000 in finally reporting out a $3.7 billion measure. Previously the House had voted $3.5 and the two measures go to conference for adjustment. Probably the higher Senate figure is nearer the final total.

President Kennedy has spoken sharply about the degree of cut, claiming it will hamper the administration of foreign policy. He spoke too late to turn the tide, but even an earlier militant stand would not have altered the determination to whittle on this measure. There is a general feeling that there has been a lot of fat in this bill and that it has had inept administration in some areas. When such a staunch administration man as Sen. Morse takes after the foreign aid bill, there must be grounds for this feeling.

Aside from the saving of nearly a billion dollars under the asking, there is the added advantage of reducing our imbalance in international trade by part of that amount.

While this cut overshadowed action on the public works bill, it was notable that the Senate also carved $283,000,000 off that proposal. This still left $4.3 billion.

These cuts are encouraging. By whittling some more in various other areas, we can approach the practical goal of cutting taxes by cutting the need for taxes.

Fair-Weather Friends?

Our football team got caught looking ahead last Friday, and this reduced the importance of the game here Friday against San Angelo. Instead of playing for a share of the title and a chance to go to bi-district, we will be battling for a piece of second place.

This, however, confronts our fans with a test. Are they fair-weather friends, or are they dyed-in-the-wool supporters?

Our lads were picked by most "experts" to finish in the cellar of the district; instead they have been a contender for district honors almost to the wire. This deserves support to the last whistle of the last game. Let's surprise the boys with the biggest turnout of the season, and they may surprise us with their final effort, too.

David Lawrence Foreign Policy Of Opportunism

WASHINGTON — American foreign policy is floundering because of a lack of understanding of the responsibility of the President and the Congress, respectively, in the field of foreign relations. The Constitution gives the President the right to carry on negotiations and make agreements with other countries but gives to Congress the right to appropriate any money needed to carry out foreign policy.

The Soviet course. He was asked at his news conference whether the Soviets may be seizing innocent Americans "with the hope of somehow extracting political concessions from us."

He replied:

"OBVIOUSLY, they would not be successful. I wouldn't attempt to make a judgment as to the conduct of the Soviet Union or what may motivate it from week to week, day to day, but I am certain—it is quite obvious that if it is based on the presumptions you state, that it will not be successful."

At times Mr. Kennedy gives the impression that the foreign-aid program is a one-way street and that the United States would be making a mistake to insist upon any conditions when it gives away taxpayers' money. This, however, tends to encourage the smaller countries to play Russia against the United States, which also is one of the factors that militates against the foreign-aid program.

WHAT IS MOST disturbing at the moment is that, despite every effort on the part of this country to establish friendly relations with the Soviet Union, there is no reciprocation by the Moscow government. The State Department, of course, has felt compelled to postpone—and may cancel—the extension of the cultural-exchange program, negotiations for the renewal of which were scheduled to begin Tuesday. Likewise, restrictions on the travel in the United States by Soviet-bloc diplomats have been made. The President points out that the Soviet Union keeps 26 per cent of its area "off limits" to the United States and that this country is now applying the same percentage.

Billy Graham

I read my Bible and try to live a good life, but I do not attend church regularly. Your sermons made me search my heart and soul. Do I have to attend church in order to be a good Christian?

W. K. B.
If you were hungry you would go to a good restaurant. If you were ill, you would go to the doctor. If you had car trouble, you would not be reluctant to take it to a garage. Then, why should you be so reluctant to go to church?

The church is the place where an atmosphere of worship exists. It is a place dedicated to the nourishment of souls. It is a place where the Word of God is read, and where sincere prayers are prayed. It is the logical place for a Christian to find encouragement, fellowship, and strength.

It may be possible for you to be a Christian and not go to church, but barring physical impairment, you would not be an obedient Christian.

It is possible that something may have happened at your church which has caused you to avoid going. If it is your fault, ask forgiveness. If it is something beyond your control, seek another place of worship. But go to church.

No Wrestling

DANIA, Fla. (AP) — Seminole Indians have reported that someone stole 14 prize alligators used in wrestling matches fitting a man against a gator.

It appeared that the reptiles were stolen for their skins, which are worth about $3.75 a foot. Authorities estimated the value of the hides from the 14 missing alligators at nearly $200.

James Marlow Recent Crises Reveal Poor Red Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians, trying to be tough, have become a cause for worry in a way they never intended. They have created doubts about their judgment, even in their own interests.

In three separate episodes in the past 13 months they have tried to stiff-arm the United States in ways indicating they didn't think their actions through. In short, they have been erratic.

In two of these cases, by failing to anticipate the possible American reactions, they suffered international embarrassment. In the third neither the United States nor Russia came smelling like a rose.

THEY PUT missiles in Cuba, stopped American military trucks on the Autobahn in East Germany, and arrested Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn, a 52-year-old expert on Soviet affairs who has made six trips to Russia.

Barghoorn, back home Sunday, put it this way to explain the unexplainable Russian performance in arresting him: "The Soviets will embark on a policy, more or less, feeling their way, even playing it by ear, so to speak."

This is a disturbing realization for in all three cases events could have taken a different turn with terrible consequences. The missile adventure or the blockade could have progressed into shooting and then into war.

FOR INSTANCE: If President Kennedy, instead of telling Premier Khrushchev to yank his missiles out of Cuba or else, felt the missile danger was too immediate even for this short delay and ordered action at once against Cuba.

Or if, when the Russians blockaded the Autobahn because American troops refused to leave the trucks to be counted, Kennedy, fed up, sent tanks to smash the blockade, even if it meant a fiery showdown.

Khrushchev withdrew his missiles. It was an ignominious defeat. The Russians let the trucks through even though the Americans persisted in refusing to descend to be counted.

THE RUSSIANS claimed they counted the troops anyway, when they got out to walk around. Nevertheless, they backed down from the principle of their demand, Kennedy, on the other hand, did nothing to break the blockade.

Neither side could claim any clear victory in this one except that the Russians had created an ugly situation, which could have become a dangerous one, and wound up being a nuisance.

But even these crises might have been worth the anxiety if, after them, there was reason to think the Russians henceforth would act more thoughtfully.

BUT THERE'S no reason to think there will not be some new and grotesque adventure tomorrow, after the Autobahn incidents, the Russians arrested Barghoorn on a charge of spying. This seemed completely impulsive or stupid.

For this reason: On Saturday they turned him loose and sent him home after Kennedy publicly declared the professor was not a spy and indicated his detention might wreck the five-year-old American-Soviet cultural program.

If Barghoorn had been spying, and they had the goods on him, as they said they did, they could have achieved an international triumph by proving it publicly to make a liar of Kennedy.

The fact they freed the professor so quickly is good evidence they had nothing on him in the first place. Barghoorn denied he had spied.

Hal Boyle

Long Odds On Luncheon Date

Hal Boyle is Hal. Today's column is by Associated Press staffer Jay Shiloff.

NEW YORK (AP) — Every body knows it's such a small world that you're likely to have an unexpected encounter with your old college roommate while on an African safari, 900 miles from civilization.

But try to meet a friend for lunch on a designated day, at an appointed time, in a special place—and chances are the two of you will never get together. No matter how carefully I arrange a luncheon date, something goes awry. I'm either at the right place at the wrong time or the wrong place at the right time.

I REALLY thought I had licked the odds, though, the last time I agreed to a friendly get-together. Three of us were in on it, so I figured I had twice as good a chance as usual to make connections.

Arriving a smug 10 minutes early, I took up my stand by an indoor waterfall in a midtown building, where we had decided to meet at 11:45 a.m. before going to a nearby restaurant.

At 10 minutes to 12 I was still keeping a lonely vigil. Noon arrived—but my friends didn't.

WITH SUDDEN inspiration I decided to call my husband at his office and inform him that he might be having the pleasure of my company for lunch.

The nearest phones were outside the subway entrance. Two flights below. Down I scooted to ask him not to leave until he heard from me again.

Then I went back to my post. At 12:15 I revisited the phone booths to call my friends. No answer at either place. Once more I trudged up to the waterfall for another wait. Finally, mindful that my husband was immobilized until further word from me, I wearily descended to the depths again. He gallantly invited his poor abandoned wife to join him for lunch.

WHEN I GOT home I telephoned one of the no-shows for an explanation, but as soon as she heard my voice she demanded indignantly: "Why didn't you let me know you couldn't make it?"

It seems she had also waited more than half an hour—but in the restaurant instead of by the waterfall. And the third member of our party had called her that morning to say she wasn't able to come.

Well, we're trying it again next week. My husband has already been put on standby list for that day.

To Your Good Health Heredity Plays Strong Role In Diabetes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I am a married woman, 31 years old, and have been told diabetes is hereditary. I probably worry too much about this because my grandmother (on my mother's side) and my mother are diabetic. My father's mother died in diabetic coma and his aunt died from gangrene.

What are the chances that I may become diabetic and how often should I be checked for it? I've asked my doctor for an examination once a year but he seems to think I am becoming too concerned about this, and doesn't think I need the tests unless I show some signs of diabetes.—MRS. M.

Heredity plays a strong role in diabetes and with a history of the disease on both sides of your family, you have a strong chance of developing it. This doesn't mean you will, but you ought to be careful.

Your doctor and I may not agree. I've seen too many instances in which family history was disregarded, and diabetes finally was detected later than it should have been.

Here are some other things to watch out for:

Are you overweight? If so, reduce. This is extremely important.

Have you had any miscarriages or stillbirths?

Have you had any large babies? Over 8½ pounds at birth?

Have any babies died shortly after birth?

All of these are signs which point to the likelihood of diabetes appearing after a time. The chemical tests—urine, and blood for sugar—are the surest ways of detecting diabetes. They discover it early. If you wait until other signs become apparent, then the disease gets a head start.

When you provide urine for testing, don't depend only on a sample taken the first thing in the morning. Take one about two hours after your main meal of the day. That is more likely to show sugar, if any is present, than the early - morning or "fasting" specimen. A blood sugar test two hours after a large meal likewise is more revealing than one before breakfast.

A sugar tolerance test (blood test) is even more accurate. Detect diabetes early, and you can keep it controlled. Ignore it too long—and you know some of the things that can result.

So play safe. In your case, Mrs. M., I would have a periodic checkup at least once a year. That should give you adequate time to control diabetes if it starts.

Don't wait for the later symptoms, such as increased thirst, frequent urination and so on.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for your copy of his booklet, "How To Take Care Of Your Heart," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing.

Around The Rim

'Grow Old Along With Me'

One thing and another: How are the years treating you, my friend?

Not too kindly, writes one L. George in a recent edition of the American Legion magazine. Says he: "As the years march on, the human machine undergoes changes. It begins to wear out. Consider your vision. As you turn the corner of 40, the tiny lenses of your eyes will probably lose their ability to focus quickly. Presbyopia in middle age is as natural as first-of-the-month bills.

"AFTER 40 your hearing ability is also likely to diminish, beginning with the high-pitched tones and moving down the scale from year to year. Oddly, loss of hearing in women begins in the low tones and works up. Your skin starts to lose its resiliency in your teens. By your 40's, the 'character lines' in your face will have deepened. At 50 the skin on the back of your hands has lost much of its elasticity and a network of wrinkles begins to form on the back of your hands.

"THE AMERICAN Dental Association says that by the time you reach 21 you'll have lost five teeth. After that they depart at the rate of one every 2½ years. Nature generally lets you keep the color in your hair until about 40, but by 65 pigmentation has usually completely disappeared.

Your joints begin to creak a bit in your 50's, and fully 97 per cent of people over 60 have aches and pains in their joints."

THE U. S. Post Office's parcel post service is in danger of going out of existence. So warns Frank Cawley, executive director of the Lithographer and Printers National Associations.

Cawley notes that since 1951 rates have been hiked three times and the increase totals over 100 per cent. During that time parcel post volume has declined about three per cent.

CAWLEY POINTED out that the Post Office Department had advised Congress that with each parcel post rate increase they "sow the seeds" for the next rate increase.

"There is no question that, if the Interstate Commerce Commission approves the pending parcel post rate hike of $77,000,000, volume will further decrease and expected revenues will not be obtained," Cawley told a Chicago group recently.

THAT PAY RAISE congressmen are thinking about voting for themselves merely amounts to about $200 a week. They say they can't live on $2,500 a year but there are plenty of candidates willing to work for that pay at every election.

—TOMMY HART

Inez Robb

Let's Be As Mean As They Are

At this point in U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations, a great many angry Americans must be hoping for the transfer of G. Keith Funston from Wall Street to Foggy Bottom.

Some two weeks ago, after a visit to Moscow and a conversation with Nikita Khrushchev, Funston, who is president of the New York Stock Exchange, drew an inspired bead on Khrushchev and Khrushchev's policies.

"WE MUST BE as difficult and as mean as they are," Funston said in reference to both, at the time of the most recent hassle over U.S. convoys bound for West Berlin.

"We must obstruct them as much as possible and we must not concede anything. The Western powers must now resolve not to give them an inch anywhere. If necessary, we must take the risk of shooting."

IF I WERE Secretary of State, I would have Funston's immortal words painted in gold letters a foot high in every room in the department—"We must be as difficult and mean as they are."

As a starter, just to show how difficult and mean we can be when we are challenged, I would arrest on spying charges one of the idols of Russia, Popov the clown.

I think Popov is just about as guilty of spying in this country as Dr. Frederick C. Barghoorn, Yale University professor of political science and Russian expert, who recently languished in a Russian prison on spy charges.

THE VALIDITY of the truth of such charges as the Russians have leveled against Prof. Barghoorn, a distinguished American scholar, never worries the Kremlin. Let the State Department take its cue from the Kremlin and its motto from Funston and show that we, too, can toss an innocent person into the poky on trumped-up charges.

Popov is now in this country with the famous Moscow Circus. The State Department will have no difficulty in apprehending him.

This may be tough on Popov, but no tougher, I wager, than imprisonment in Russia was on Prof. Barghoorn. One reason the U.S.S.R. had arrested the Yale scholar is because it is certain, in its own totalitarian mind, that the U.S. will retaliate in no comparable way.

THE ARREST of Popov on trumped-up charges and his treatment based on that accorded Dr. Barghoorn might be a salutary lesson to the Kremlin. Let's refuse to let the Russian Ambassador see him. Let's refuse to make public the charges against Popov save in vague "spyinc" context. Let's give Khrushchev a dose of his own "mean and difficult" medicine.

I would only arrest Popov as a retaliation for the Yale professor, since it is apparent that what the Russians were really after is the so-called Russian "chameleon" who was caught in flagrant spy operations in Englewood, N.J., on Oct. 30, and arrested by U.S. agents.

THIS RUSSIAN is no more a chameleon than he is Winnie the Pooh. Doubtless he is a key figure in the U.S.S.R. spy apparatus and the Kremlin wants him back. Hence the arrest of Prof. Barghoorn not for spying but for bargaining purposes.

But we should take a page from Funston and arrest Popov to show we mean business, as additional surety for Barghoorn and as a first step to show how really "difficult and mean" this country can be when forced to give bullies a taste of their own medicine.

Holmes Alexander Goldwater, Hoover, And The TVA

WASHINGTON — Senator Barry Goldwater, the Rather Be Right candidate, wasn't wrong when he said that the Tennessee Valley Authority could be better run by private industry. His only mistake was that he didn't base his statement on the best of all possible authorities — former President Herbert Hoover.

MR. HOOVER, a professional engineer and a two-term Secretary of Commerce, had already thought and written extensively on water resources and their administration when he came to the presidency in 1929. The work on what became known as the Norris Dam was begun at Mr. Hoover's instructions in 1930. In March, 1931, together with the Governors of Tennessee and Alabama, he appointed a commission to study the whole matter of Tennessee Valley drainage.

In November, the commission recommended that the Federal government retain its constitutional controls over flood waters and navigation, but that the generation of hydroelectric power and the manufacture of fertilizer be accomplished by leases to private industry under government regulation. The Hoover plan failed in Congress, as the former President wrote in his "Memoirs," published in 1952:

"... BECAUSE Senator Norris and others wanted to turn it into a Federal power distribution and fertilizer scheme, to which piece of socialism I would not agree. I vetoed their bill for this reason."

President Eisenhower once described TVA as "creeping socialism," but last week General Ike unaccountably failed to back up the Goldwater proposition. Hoover lays the charge of socialism flat on the line. His "Memoirs" continue:

"A GOOD EXAMPLE of how the New Deal pattern of collectivism applied to a specific industry occurred in the field of electric power. . . . The United States, under private enterprise, had developed the most intensive electrification of any nation in the world. . . . There were rotten practices in some groups, but it is not necessary for a government to take over brickmaking because somebody is murdered by a brickbat. . . .

"This (TVA) organization became a radiating headquarters for socialism. Dams were built and power was sold direct to consumers by the government. Cooperatives were set up with government funds to buy and sell electrical appliances. It engaged in manufacturing fertilizer and other chemicals, and even established canneries and knitting mills. By threat of government competition where government money in effect subsidized its rates, the TVA absorbed neighboring private power companies. It made and sold fertilizers at a loss in competition with power suppliers."

"MR. HOOVER is a gentle debunker of the mythology with which socializers have tinselized the story of TVA. He sees no realism in the contention that TVA became a "yardstick" by which to measure the performance of private companies. He finds the bookkeeping through which it is asserted that TVA is "self-supporting," to be a hoax on the American public.

"In reality (TVA) proved the case against, instead of for, public power. Its capital was furnished by the Federal government, and no interest charge was included in the construction costs. A larger part of the capital investment was charged to flood control and navigation (than was warranted). If the TVA paid interest and amortization on its real capital and the same taxes the private utilities pay, its rates would probably be higher than the neighboring utilities."

AFTER SUMMARIZING the TVA's "scandals, imbrods of socialism, and indirect control of private enterprise" up to 1952, the former President ends with this wrap-up paragraph:

"Constant exposure of corruption, graft and inefficiency has followed in their wake. None is as beneficial to the national health as the swallowed-up or thwarted private enterprise." Distributed by McNaught Syndicate,

30 Killed By Mishaps

By The Associated Press

The violent death toll in Texas over the weekend claimed at least 30 lives with traffic mishaps blamed for 17 of the fatalities.

Three small children burned to death when fire swept their farm home, a college student died in an auto crash on a rain-slicked road, two persons were killed in a train-car crash, and a police chief was shot to death.

The Associated Press tabulation started at 6 p.m. Friday and continued through midnight Sunday.

A rain fell as one car skidded out of control while traveling north on State 99 between Pilot Point and Tioga and slammed broadside into another car. Three members of one family and a college student died.

The dead were identified as Charles W. Riddlehoover, 34, of Collinsville; his wife, Charlene, 32, a Riddlehoover son, Charles Wayne Jr., 10, and Jan Edward Blasingame, 21, a Denison student at North Texas State University.

IN BOWIE

Larry Stephens, 20, a sophomore student at North Texas State University in Denton, was killed Sunday in a two-car accident in Bowie. Three other persons were injured.

Three small Negro children died in flames that enveloped their home near Seagraves in West Texas Saturday night. They were the children of Mrs. Evelyn Freeman.

Mrs. Freeman said she was outside when a stove apparently exploded and the house burst into flames. Her two other children were critically burned.

Mrs. Ramona S. Lemke, 35, of Morgan City, La., and her 13-year-old son, Benson, were killed Sunday when their car crashed into a Southern Pacific passenger train near Beaumont. None of the 40 to 60 passengers on the train was hurt.

YOUNG COUPLE

Police Chief J. W. Mumford, 54, of Elgin was shot to death and Highway Patrolman Tommy Moseley was wounded Friday night after they stopped a young couple for questioning west of Elgin. Murder charges were filed against the couple.

Rudolph Grady-Coffey Jr., 20, and Joyce Gordon, 16, both of Cocoa, Fla.

Thomas S. Mann, in his 80s, died in a Wichita Falls hospital Sunday of burns suffered Saturday night when fire erupted in the bedroom of his home.

A teen-age girl, identified as Clara Adrian, 16, was killed and three other persons were injured early Sunday in a one-car accident near Corpus Christi.

The car overturned after striking a culvert.

L. M. Pound, 26, of Fort Worth, was found shot to death in his home Sunday. A verdict of suicide was returned.

OIL STOVE

Cornelius Carter, 43, of Houston died Sunday after he was burned Friday night while cooking shrimp on an oil stove. A medical examiner said he apparently died of burns.

A father and his teen-age son drowned Sunday in Lake Graham in Young County. They were Albert E. Perdue, 52, and Officers said they were fishing when their boat overturned.

Mrs. Dora Teener Ledbetter, 21, died in a two-car collision Saturday night just south of Pottsboro in the Denison-Sherman area. Her husband, Earl Douglas Ledbetter, and their infant son were critically hurt.

David LeRoy Boone, 20, and Chester Wright, about 35, were killed Saturday night when their car struck a guard rail and smashed into a parked car south of Mineral Wells. A third person was injured.

LIFT BRIDGE

Madaline Jolls, about 40, died Saturday when a pickup truck crashed through a guard rail of a lift bridge and sank in Tule Lake near Corpus Christi. Her husband was rescued by the crew of a tug boat.

Kellogg McKinnon, 25, was stabbed to death when he stopped to aid a man who had been injured in a fist fight at San Antonio early Saturday.

G. W. Rawdon, 83, of Fort Worth was killed Saturday when his car crashed off a road near Mansfield.

Joseph Latham, 73, a Bonham resident who formerly lived in Dallas, was killed Saturday by a train as he was crossing a railroad trestle in Dallas.

Mrs. Helen Mojica, 30, and her daughter, Patsy Mojica, 2, were killed Saturday in a collision of two cars at Lubbock. Three other persons were injured.

The body of Willie Hordge, 73, a pecan picker, was found Saturday beneath a highway bridge east of Richmond. Officers said Hordge was either killed by a passing car or was killed when he jumped from the bridge to avoid being hit.

William Thomas Johnson, 48, San Antonio, was killed when his truck and an automobile collided near San Antonio Saturday night when fire erupted in the bedroom of his home.

Frank A. Otto, 82, was found shot to death in the front yard of his home in the eastern part of Victoria County near Inez Sunday in a one-car accident. A shotgun was found nearby.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠A J 5 3 ♥Q Q A K 10 9 ♦J 4 3 2

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1♥ Double 1♠ Double
Pass Pass 2♥ Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Two spades. West has been trying to "psych" you out of your suit, but North's double of the one spade bid combined with West's escape to two hearts has exposed him. North has let West's runout come around to you for appropriate action and it is now incumbent on you to complete the exposure.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠4 3 ♥A 10 6 ♦K Q 3 2 ♣7 2

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1♥ 1♠ 2♥ Pass
3♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Three hearts. If partner has suitable protection in the black suits he can now try three no trump. The delayed "cue bid" does not show overpowering strength since your original competitive raise has limited your hand.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠9 7 5 ♥Q 4 3 ♦K Q 10 ♣J 6 3 2

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass Pass 1♠
Pass 1♠ Pass 1♠
Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Obviously partner is unwilling to concede a part score effort to the opposition and is asking you to select one of the red suits. It is always irksome when your only four card suit has been adversely bid but this situation should not be regarded as a calamity. If you haven't a four card suit to bid, you must try to get along as well as possible with a three card suit. Whether you should bid two hearts or two diamonds is a matter of temperament. Our own taste runs to two hearts, the with highly unreliable partners there may be a slightly greater measure of safety in bidding two diamonds, which is less apt to be supported by North.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
♠A 8 4 ♥A 7 5 ♦A K 9 2 ♣A 10 6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♥ 2♥ 2♣ Pass
1♥ 2♥ 2♣ Pass ?

What action do you take?
A—This is a very powerful hand facing a partner who is able to make a free bid and the possibilities are unlimited. A leap to three no trump would be ultra-conservative and the recommended procedure is to make a use bid of three clubs, postponing further aggressive

Jelly Water Discovered

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Remember the trouble astronaut Gordon Cooper Jr. had with his water supply during his 34-hour space flight last May? His drinking valve leaked and droplets of water drifting around in the capsule short-circuited the automatic re-entry system, forcing Cooper into manual control for the critical plunge back to earth. Now comes a scientist offering water that can't leak. It's stored like jelly, turns liquid only when squeezed, and becomes like jelly again when the pressure is relaxed. Dr. William Fish, Aerojet-General chemist and pioneer in storable propellants for rockets, discovered the process in search for better fuels. LIKE GELATIN To liquid propellants such as kerosene and liquid oxygen he adds a substance somewhat like the gelatins used in ice cream. This, says Fish, has many advantages. It makes liquid propellants easier to handle and store. It means certain metal powders, which give off high energy when burned, can be suspended in liquid fuels as well as solid fuels. It means liquid fuels won't slosh under acceleration through the atmosphere, or ball up under the zero gravity conditions of space. Fish also found some unexpected fallouts: PUNCTURE Gelled fuel containing metal powder re-seals its own tank when that container is punctured, as is likely when a space vehicle runs into a swarm of micrometeorites. Since the gel additive is edible, Fish says, it could be put in an astronaut's drinking water or his soup. "In space, where there is no gravity, water tends to ball up—form in droplets," Fish says. "This makes it hard for an astronaut to transfer it from one container into another containing dried, powdered food. There is a tendency for the droplets to escape and drift around in the cabin. NO DROPLETS "Gelled water doesn't break up into droplets. If some should escape, it becomes a gelatinous mass, simple to recover. It's not likely to float around and short out the circuitry." Fish exhibited what he jokingly called "a zero G martini for spacemen." In a cocktail glass was alcohol—a fuel used in some rocket engines—and for realism a touch of vermouth and an olive. Fish turned the glass upside down. The martini—olive and all—remained in the glass. "This can be spooned out, or transferred to a plastic squeeze bottle," he said. "You can even serve it cold. The gel works with—cryogenic—super cold—substances that have a temperature of 400 degrees below zero." MORE ENERGY Fish has tested gelled fuels in rocket engines, found they are cheaper than liquids, provide more energy per gallon per pound. "The high-energy metal powder," he says, "is cheaper than the liquid fuel it replaces." There's a word to describe gelled fuels—thixotropic. This means that if a blob of the stuff were cut with a knife, the two halves wouldn't run back to gether. "This is important on the test stand," says Fish. "If a tank of one propellant should burst and catch fire, there is less chance that the other propellant will leak out and feed the blaze."

Warped Into Her Last Berth

The battleship Indiana, one of the last examples of a vanishing breed of warship, is warped into a pier at Richmond, Calif., to be scrapped. The Hoosier Houseboat, launched in 1941 at Newport News, Va., saw action at Iwo Jima, the Solomons, Gilberts and Marianas. Flaking and peeling, her turrets mothballed, the Indiana is going under the torch at Richmond. It'll take a year to cut her up. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Adventuresome Writer Refloats Sunken Yacht

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Leonard Wibberley, a writer of the adventuresome sort, dived down for a look at the sunken 55-foot yawl he had just purchased for salvage. "She was trying to sail, sitting there on the bottom, with the sea for a wind," said Wibberley. "She went down with all her sails set, and they were billowing out from the current. In a rage of sentiment, we said, 'Let's raise her.'" Wibberley spoke squatting on the deck of the yawl Emerald as she floated proudly in King Harbor, the injuries that sank her patched, and the promise in the wind that she is soon to sail again.

A LESSON How Wibberley and three other amateur ship salvagers bought a 55-foot yacht for $500—and raised and saved her—is a lesson for anyone who thinks sentiment a poor guide to investment. But it probably surprised Wibberley less than anyone else. He has had his share of luck, and knows exactly how it is made. Nine years ago he quit his job as a newspaperman and waited for his novel, "The Mouse That Roared," to sell. It was an improbable tale of a tiny European principality's war victory over the United States. "I had been out of work about three months, and the neighbors, without my knowledge, were slipping groceries into the house," Wibberley recalled. "Then it sold for $20,000. We quickly called together all the neighbors and had a wonderful party."

LOOKS PRETTY Wibberley and three skin-diving friends, Bob and Bill Meistrall and Don Siverts, bought her for $500, on the bottom, and planned just to break her up for salvage until they went down and saw how pretty she looked. The Emerald is a sturdily built old J. Murray Watts design laid down in San Francisco in 1924. She would cost $50,000 to reproduce today. Her leak top-side and oak ribs weren't hurt by the water, but she had to be brought up quickly. Wibberley, 48, is an amateur skindiver; his associates run a skindiving shop. It was Bill Meistrall who thought of a "skindivers' solution." "Let's hang inner tubes on her," he said, "and fill them with air from scuba tanks." They bought 140 used inner tubes for $1 each and spent three days diving down, using oxygen units for their own air, filling the tubes with air from similar tanks. GET LIGHTER "It took 250 bottles of air," said Meistrall. "Then, the Tuesday after she sank, Bob and I were down on the deck, filling tubes, when it began to gradually get lighter. Suddenly the water disappeared and we were on the surface, looking at each other in amazement. It cost them $4,700 for shipyard repairs to the damaged planking. They spent more on a 100 hp diesel engine, and will probably have $12,000 invested by the time the interior paneling is replaced. "We've already been offered $17,500 for her," said Meistrall.

Lewis Travel To San Antonio

WESTBROOK (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis accompanied their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Eiden of Abilene on a pleasure trip over the weekend to San Antonio where they visited several points of interest including the Buckhorn Saloon, Witte Museum, the Alamo, Breckinridge Park, and Jockeys. In Austin, they made a tour of the Capitol. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Geron and family, Harold Joe, Margie, David and Carolyn, were in Brownwood over the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geron and sons.

Scientific Demonstration Set For Medical Group

A fast-moving scientific demonstration will be staged for members of the Permian Basin Medical Society Tuesday evening during the group's annual meeting at the Big Spring State Hospital. About 70 persons are expected at the program, which begins with dinner at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Allied Building. Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent, and his staff are hosts for the meeting. Dinner will be catered by the hospital's food service department, with dinner music provided by the music therapist. A short program of music and song will follow the dinner. The scientific presentation will last about 45 minutes, Dr. Harrison said. It will begin with a demonstration of electrocromia therapy. Treatment of a patient scheduled to receive the therapy that day is being delayed for this purpose. A short interview is scheduled with a patient whose problem is alcoholism. The patient will attempt to explain what benefits he is deriving from the hospital's program. Another part of the program will be a demonstration of the salient features of a paranoid schizophrenic, a catatonic, an adolescent and side effects which can normally be expected from chemotherapy. The program will be concluded with a demonstration of hypnosis.

Lights Go On In Stanton Dec. 2

STANTON — Christmas lights in the City of Stanton, including those on the courthouse, will be turned on Dec. 2, Chamber of Commerce manager Mrs. Maurine Varnadore, said. A Christmas lighting contest for residences and business houses will also be held. Three awards for each type will be given. "The Chamber committee will meet some time soon to work out plans for the annual Santa Claus visit," she said. "So far no date has been set for his arrival. Most of the business area lighting will consist of window lighting and decorations.

Village Rallies For Air Crash Orphans

HUMLIKON, Switzerland (AP)—The pretty little girl with blonde pigtails clutched her doll and smiled a simple smile of childlike faith. "My mummy and daddy are in heaven," she said.

Susanna Steiger is just 6 years old. She is one of 34 orphans in this tiny farming village of 158 people.

Their parents were members of a happy, excited group of 43 villagers who set off on an excursion flight to Geneva. A few minutes after taking off from Zurich airport their Swissair Caravelle jetliner caught fire and plunged to earth. All 82 on board died.

Nineteen married couples from Humlikon were on the plane. The village lost its mayor and all five members of the village council.

to help gather the harvest. A former Humlikon farmer jumped on his tractor as soon as he heard news of the disaster and drove 60 miles to the stricken village.

He has been here ever since. His tractor is a familiar sight as he moves from farm to farm helping wherever he can, working by moonlight if he is needed.

The Steigers were the family worst hit by the crash. Five children, 6 to 15, were orphaned. Under the guidance of their 74-year-old grandmother, Lina Steiger, they have helped reap the harvest sown by their dead parents.

son and daughter-in-law," said grandmother Steiger. "But the way the children have rallied round we'll get the harvest in."

Despite its appalling loss, Humlikon is a village alive with hope, for it has become a village of the young. More than one quarter of the population is under 21.

Their inborn love of the land and their youthful optimism have overcome the first shattering effects of the catastrophe.

Jakob Zindel, the village registrar whose son died in the crash, watched a group of teen-age boys hauling sacks of potatoes to a car.

"The young are strong. We will survive," he said quietly.

FIRST THOUGHT
The first thought of the surviving villagers was for the children. Thirty-four under the age of 20 were suddenly orphans. Thirty were under 16 years old. Five more young children lost one parent.

Two months after the disaster, the little village with its neat farmhouses nestled between gently rolling hills counts up the results.

Only two orphans, both without relatives in Humlikon, have left to be cared for elsewhere. Despite hundreds of adoption offers from all over the world, many from rich families, the children wanted to stay in their home village. Many are being cared for by grandparents or relatives.

Volunteers from neighboring villages and towns rallied round.

Burglars Make Two Recent Hauls
Burglars forced entry into the Gomez Ballroom, 510 NW 4th, early Saturday morning and took 13 cases of beer valued at $57.25, according to police. Officers said the cases were stacked on the floor behind the counter.

Someone took an envelope containing $520 from a linen closet of Mrs. D. P. Day, Rockdale Drive, between Nov. 11-15. Police said Mrs. Day told them the envelope contained two $100 bills and 16 $20 bills. She discovered the theft when she went to the closet to get the money to deposit in a bank.

DEAR ABBY
He Ain't No Santa Claus

DEAR ABBY: I am 25, single and people tell me I look like a "young Alice Faye." I've worked in this office for two years. My boss (married) tried to kiss me once last year but I wouldn't let him. He hasn't tried it since. He keeps telling me that if I ever need money he'll give me an advance on my salary without any obligation on my part—no notes to sign or interest to pay. I could use about $300 to buy Christmas gifts for my family. Should I ask my boss for it? Or do you think it would be a mistake? WANTING A MERRY CHRISTMAS

DEAR ABBY: I hate to spoil your Christmas, Honey, but there "ain't no Santa Claus." If you need money, borrow it from the bank and sign the note. At least you won't have to worry about wrestling your banker for the interest.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter happens to be an exceptional student. She made straight A's for three consecutive years, and has been the recipient of many honors. Naturally, I am a proud mother and have told several people of her outstanding marks and accomplishments. My daughter has now asked me not to say another word to anyone about her marks or any of her honors. She says the other mothers are bored stiff with my boasting and that, since she herself never mentions her marks or achievements, I should not either. Abby, has the whole world gone daffy? It is a sad state of affairs when people are so jealous and small that you can't say a good word about yourself.

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: Your daughter is both brilliant and humble—a rare combination. Her qualities speak for themselves and need no amplification from anyone—especially a proud mother.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the father who called the police and reported his own son for drunken driving. I would like to invite the "betrayed son" and his friend, who criticized the father, to sit outside an emergency operating room and watch the brokenhearted parents being told their teen-agers "didn't make it."

I invite them to stand beside the surgeon as he works for hours trying to restore a man's mess of torn flesh and crushed bones to some semblance of human anatomy. I invite them to explain to little children that Daddy and Mummy have "gone away" and are never coming back. I know the law doesn't read this way, but I think every drunken driver who slaughters an innocent person on the highway should stand trial for premeditated murder. I am a young nurse in a small hospital on a major state highway. Come visit me, fellows. But come sober. You'll need a few drinks afterwards. JOYCE

Cautious Optimism Expressed In Birmingham Council Rooms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Considering all that Birmingham has been through in six months, its situation today seems little short of miraculous.

Nobody can say what tomorrow may bring.

But for the moment, the city is quiet. Men express cautious optimism for continued peace between the races. More integration has taken place than is generally realized. The economic picture is brightening.

Whites and Negroes, sitting together in council rooms, are trying to find solutions for the disagreements.

Six months ago hundreds of Negroes were demonstrating in the streets. More than 2,400 were jailed, so many that temporary detention houses had to be found. National and even international attention focussed on Birmingham.

A truce ended the demonstrations.

But soon a Negro motel was bombed. Other bombings followed. On "Dynamite Hill," a Negro residential district, there was shooting and brick-throwing. In September, white extremists clashed with police when two high schools and an elementary school were integrated. Finally, on Sunday Sept. 15, four Negro girls died in the bombing of a church.

The six months will not soon be forgotten by either Negroes or whites.

"What is the peace outlook?" "I would say it's very good," said Mayor Albert Boutwell.

"I think we are really under way now," says his executive assistant, Bill Hamilton.

A prominent Negro, Lucius Pitts, president of Miles College, was less sanguine.

EXTREMISTS
"I feel 'effy' about the situation," he said. "If the mayor and City Council can find a political hole, we may get somewhere. But they are afraid of groups of vocal extremists."

Asked about the temper of the Negroes, Pitts said:
"Sick, frightened, angry, disappointed, disillusioned. They don't want to resume the demonstrations, but I don't think they will wait much longer."

A prominent Negro lawyer, Arthur Shores, said "I am hopeful that things will get better. But if nothing is done, the demonstrations probably will start again."

Negroes in Birmingham, generally, say they believe the deaths of the four girls in the church bombing shocked the whites into a realization that "something must be done and soon."

NO THEFTS
Some other details of the picture in Birmingham:
Item—During the summer, law enforcement officers said dynamite was stolen almost every night from construction sites. Now, says Sheriff Melvin Bailey, there have been no reports of such thefts since Sept. 15.

Item—In three weeks after Oct. 14, 312 persons—women as well as men—applied for permits to carry weapons, or had permits renewed.

Item—Attendance in the three schools where five Negro students were enrolled in September is now back to normal, city officials say.

Item—One of the five Negro students, Dwight Armstrong, 11, recently was elected vice president of his sixth-grade class.

Item—Desegregation has now been effected in the city's museum of art, municipal auditorium, public golf courses, public libraries, and the lunch counters and fitting rooms in department stores.

Reports of the economic death of Birmingham appear to be highly exaggerated.

WACS Looking For Enlistments
Young women interested in joining the Womens Army Corps may contact the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 207 1/2 W. 4th, or write to S. Sgt. Helen R. Wilson, P. O. Box 1618, Abilene, for pertinent information.

WAC spokesmen said the Corps tries to place young women in service jobs according to their civilian experience and aptitude. Women possessing special skills, such as typing, shorthand or bookkeeping, are placed in similar service jobs.
