Kennedy Presses Hard For Democrat Unity In Texas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Campaigning with all his vigor of 1960, President Kennedy appeared well on his way today toward enforcing a unity among Texas Democrats he regards as vital to his re-election in 1964.

Assassin Fires From Crowd In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — President Kennedy died here today after being shot by a sniper. Vice President Johnson and Gov. Connally were also wounded.

The Secret Service said the President remained in the emergency room and the governor was moved to the general operating room of Parkland Hospital.

One secret service man was overheard telling another that there was no need to move the President because emergency facilities were entirely adequate in the emergency room.

Two Roman Catholic priests were summoned to the emergency room where the President lay. One was identified as a Father Huber.

Malcolm Kilduff, acting White House press secretary, said that the two priests had been "asked for."

Mrs. Kennedy was weeping and trying to hold up her husband's head when reporters reached the car.

Pandemonium broke loose around the scene. The Secret Service waved the motorcade on at top speed to the hospital.

Reporters saw Kennedy lying flat on his face on the seat of his car. Bell said a man and a woman were scrambling on the upper level of a walkway overlooking the underpass.

Barry Proposals Target In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — President Kennedy lashed out today at those he said "confuse rhetoric with reality."

Speaking in an area where supporters are booming Sen. Barry Goldwater's chances for the 1964 Republican nomination, Kennedy said ignorance and misinformation, if allowed to prevail in foreign policy, handicaps this country's security.

At first, there was one report that the President was dead. However, this was not borne out by subsequent reports. The party was enroute from the Dallas airport to downtown Dallas where the President was to have spoken.

Hospital officials said they had given the President a transfusion of B positive blood from the bank and were calling for fresh blood of that type to have it ready if additional transfusions were needed.

At 1:10 p.m. (CST), Mrs. Lyndon Johnson was escorted by Secret Service agents into the emergency room where the President lay.

Soviet Rejects Road Protest

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused the United States today of trying to make the rules for Soviet policing of Western convoy traffic on the Berlin autobahn.

NEW THREAT The Soviet reply renewed the threat of more interference with Allied troop convoys on the 110-mile lifeline highway between West Berlin and West Germany.

MUCH INFLUENCE The President was as cordial to Kennedy as any Democratic chief executive was likely to be to the Democratic governor of a state who might have as much influence as Texas is likely to have on the 1964 election.

ON PLANE Without publicly saying a word, Kennedy signaled his intentions by inviting Yarborough to ride the presidential plane from Washington to San Antonio Thursday.

Kiwanis Told Every Day Should Be Thanksgiving

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday that the idea of being thankful should not be restricted to any one day. "We should be eternally thankful for the blessings we have," he said. "Thanksgiving Day is but an occasion for a sort of ingathering and recapitulation of all our blessings."

The club will forego its Thursday luncheon meeting next week, since the date falls on Thanksgiving Day.

Annual installation of officers for the club will be Dec. 13 at the Cosden Country Club, Bob Bradbury, program chairman announced.

Names of needy children who will be guests of the club at the annual West Side Park Christmas party were distributed, and Kiwanians told to provide gifts for the youngsters. Only toys will be purchased. The club will serve sandwiches and cold drinks for the boys and girls at the park Dec. 19 at noon.

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, president-elect, announced his staff of committee chairmen for the ensuing year.

They are: Ewing Werlein, boys and girls work; J. C. Pickle, Boy Scouts; the Rev. H. Clyde Smith, Interclub; Jay Banks, safety; Luther Loudamy, house and reception; Ernest Welch, support of churches; Sam Blackburn, public relations; Roscoe Newell, vocational guidance; Jack Alexander, Key Club and Circle K; John Coffey, Kiwanis education and fellowship; E. C. Boatler, new club building; Bill Johnson, finance; Delaine Crawford, agriculture and conservation; Clyde Hollingsworth, public and business affairs; Sherman Smith, attendance and membership; Bob Travis, program and music; and W. H. Eysen, international relations.

New Meters Due In Fringe Areas

The city is planning to change the time limits on 120 parking meters located around the edge of the downtown area, according to Roy Anderson, assistant city manager.

Anderson said parts for new timing units have been ordered, and the change will be made as soon as the parts arrive. Most of the parking meters on the fringe of the downtown area are set for one hour or two hour parking. They will be changed to four hours, Anderson said.

New Police Cars Being Serviced

Three new patrol cars delivered to the police department Wednesday were being readied for service Thursday.

Assistant city manager Roy Anderson said radios are being installed in the cars. Cost for each car is $2,132.85, less trade-in value of $635 on each of two old cars. The third old car is being retained by the police department as a standby car.

Businessmen Take Chilly Look At Foreign Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — American businessmen are taking a new and colder look at international commerce prospects.

They speak of a drastic turnabout in the last few months. The European Common Market, many say, has turned sour. So has the hope that trade ties will produce a political United States of Europe to stand solid against communism.

And now the Communists are holding out their own prospects of trade, grain so far but may be other goods later.

Businessmen questioned during a cross-country tour to sample the nation's business mood say they're not quite certain what to make of all this.

ON OUR TOES
Says Robert Keith, executive vice president of the Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis: "We'll have to be on our toes if we're to come out ahead."

Keith says the United States must do all it can to revive prospects for free world trade, at the same time making the most of any Communist offers.

These comments came on the eve of meetings to lay the groundwork for a new round of international tariff negotiations made possible by the U. S. Trade Expansion Act of 1962. They come also at a time when tariff disputes rage over several products, especially farm goods.

EXCITEMENT
The mood in this country contrasts with talk a year ago, when excitement over the Common Market was high. Businessmen saw that six-nation union of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg as a beguiling market for American goods.

But early this year, France vetoed Britain's petition for entry. The other members quarreled on several issues. Levies against American poultry were raised, and America readied tariff reprisals.

There's a trace of bitterness in some of the reactions heard now.

BACK ON FEET
"We paid millions of taxpayers' dollars to get these countries back on their feet, and they shut the door in our face," says Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, a state big in poultry production.

President Thomas Moses of Investors Diversified Services of Minneapolis said "the Common Market is just the old tariff union with a high-sounding name. They will have to be persuaded to let their tariffs down; they won't do it otherwise."

However, is the first step toward reviving trade a Dallas banker says:

"We were expecting too much. Those countries aren't going to abandon their nationalism overnight, especially not France, which has just spent seven years fighting a nationalistic war in Algeria."

FREE TRADE
President Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said: "The Common Market will eventually come into real being. I expect to see freer and freer trade."

The internationalization of commerce, both as to direct exports and to overseas plants, is the predominant trend today, he said.

Others agree that American business should continue in that direction, whether trade hits smooth sailing or rough. There was little support for a return to the high-tariff thinking of the past.

DEAR ABBY

Must Make A Choice

DEAR ABBY: Has a marriage ever worked out when the man was once married to his second wife's sister? That's my problem now. My sister and "L" were married for five years. She was 22 and "L" was 23. They had two darling children. "L" caught my sister running around on him and, after giving her several chances, he got fed up and divorced her. His mother is raising the children. "L" and I have been seeing each other for three months and, Abby, we are terribly in love and want to get married. When I told my parents, they hit the ceiling and said it would never work. My sister keeps running him down. Abby, he is a fine man and I love him. I am 21 and he is 29. Can this marriage work?

DEAR IN LOVE: Certainly. But prepare to choose between "L" and your family.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 15-year-old son who sneaks out to smoke. He has admitted it. But he says he doesn't smoke cigarettes; he smokes a pipe because it isn't the TOBACCO that causes lung cancer, it's the PAPER. He said his biology teacher proved to the class that this was true by burning the tobacco through a filter. The tobacco filter came out clear, while the paper stained the filter. Is this true? Thank you.

SMOKER'S MOM
DEAR MOM: No! I think your son's biology teacher has been watching too many commercials. Or your son is having "pipe" dreams.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were in a downtown office building yesterday. We got into a very crowded elevator. I couldn't get my arm up to reach my hat, so I just left it on. When it came time to get off I was near the elevator door, so I just stepped out ahead of the others, not noticing if I got out ahead of any ladies or not. My wife chewed me out all the way on both counts, saying it was time I learned some manners. Well, Abby? If you're going to stick up for the women again, please toss this in the waste basket.

General Wants Solid, Efficient Air Force Reserve For U. S.

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE, Ga. (AP)—Blunt, aggressive Lt. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, a militarist who talks about saving money for the taxpayer, wants a solid ready-to-go Air Force Reserve even if it means cutting down on size.

He wants to realign the 319,000-man reserve along state lines, to set up a career incentive program and streamline training methods.

"I want to get away from this 'numbers racket' and get into the business of maximum performance," said Timberlake who has been chief of the complex Continental Air Command—CONAC—for little more than a year.

He jabbed at a map on his office wall.

"If there's another war, we're just as likely to have a battlefield here in Iowa as elsewhere," Timberlake said.

TIGHTLY KNIT

Timberlake proposes to replace 16 continental area headquarters with 48 state sectors in the hope of creating a more tightly knit reserve force. He plans to take his proposal to the Pentagon this month.

The 51-year-old general, a war veteran and former Pentagon officer, gave his views in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press at command headquarters at this bustling base in central Georgia.

REQUIREMENT

"The whole reserve program should be based on a realistic requirement of an active duty force and a realistic capability of a reserve force," he said, jotting on a note pad.

Timberlake explained his plan. It centers around the 168,000 reservists designated ready in Air Force terminology; the reserve is composed of 120,000 in the standby group and 31,000 retired.

BY PRESIDENT

The ready force is susceptible to call-up in an emergency on orders of the President; it takes an act of Congress to mobilize the standby.

During the Cuban crisis, 14,000 ready reservists were mobilized; 5,000 were called up during the Berlin blockade.

About 24,000 are in flying units operating daily. Reservists fly 52 per cent of the Army's parachute jump training missions.

Another 29,000 are in nonflying support units.

ASSIGNEES

That leaves 110,000 men who are classified as "mobilization assignees"—individuals, some of them located where there is no reserve unit.

With their headquarters often in another state, these men feel no sense of cohesiveness, Timberlake said.

"Take a reservist in Alabama under control of a sector which is headquartered in Tampa, Fla.—he doesn't feel he's a part of anything," Timberlake said.

EACH STATE

Under his proposal, reserve headquarters would be set up in each of the continental states with active duty detachments stuffed the headquarters as advisors.

"This way I could take all of the nonflying units and individuals and assign them to state headquarters," he said. "This way, I feel I would get the cohesiveness we need."

Little Interest Shown In Election

STANTON—No absentee votes have been cast in Stanton's election called to fill the posts of mayor and one councilman, city secretary Harvey White said Wednesday.

"Since the ballot carries only one name, that of Albert A. Johnson, for the councilman's post," he said, "there is not too much interest. The mayor will have to be elected by write-in since no candidate announced."

Absentee balloting ends Nov. 30, and the special election will be held Dec. 3. The vacancies were caused by resignation of the former mayor and one councilman.

IF any will not work, neither let him eat

Yes, a man ought to work if he expects to eat and make provision for his family.

The responsibility of man to engage in honest labor is a basic principle of Christianity.

The person who is not willing to work should not be subsidized, according to the New Testament. This principle is clearly and forcefully stated in 2 Thessalonians 3:10-12:

"For even during our stay with you we laid down the rule: the man who will not work shall not eat. We mention this because we hear that some of your number are idling their time away, minding everybody's business but their own. To all such we give these orders, and we appeal to them in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to work quietly for their living." (New English Translation).

Some modern social reformers might object to this ancient Bible precept on the grounds that it is unjust or unkind or even harsh. But this is the will of almighty God! Man achieves dignity in individual, productive, active effort. And man fulfills his purpose upon the earth when his productive effort conforms to the will of God. God is glorified when man reproduces the will of the Heavenly Father in his own life (Matthew 7:21-23).

Biblical testimony on the need for man to work is abundant. Consider these passages:

"But if anyone does not make provision for his relations, and especially for members of his own household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever." (1 Timothy 5:8, New English Translation).

"Let it be your ambition to keep calm and look after your own business, and to work with your hands, as we ordered you, so that you may command the respect of those outside your own number, and at the same time may never be in want" (1 Thessalonians 4:11, 12, New English Translation).

The responsibility to be active and productive in the kingdom of God is the underlying philosophy of Christianity. Jesus said: "My Father has never yet ceased his work, and I am working too (John 5:17, New English Translation). And on another occasion the Christ said: "While daylight lasts we must carry on the work of him who sent me: night comes, when no one can work" (John 9:4).

Honest, productive labor is inherent in the order of God's creation. There is no place in the Lord's church for lazy, indolent free-loaders. Instead let a man "work hard and honestly with his own hands, so that he may have something to share with the needy" (Ephesians 4:28).

Payment Method Slows Red Deals

NEW YORK (AP) — The touchy question of increasing U.S. trade with Eastern Europe's Communist nations runs into financial as well as political road blocks. Payment in gold or goods or credit?

Many of America's allies have been increasing this trade right along, often ignoring Washington's frowns. But they've been able to get payment for their exports by increasing their imports from the Communist bloc—items that U.S. importers don't want or can't buy—or by taking sporadic offerings of Soviet gold, something the United States could use but rarely sees.

POTENTIAL

The political reasons for holding down trade are clear. Strategic goods from the United States would build up Communist war potential, and other goods might build up its economic health and let it put more effort into military output.

In 1962 we exported $105 million worth of goods to Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe, excluding the U.S.S.R. itself and Yugoslavia and Albania; and imported $62.5 million worth. In the same period West Germany was exporting $719 million worth, importing $668 million worth, and Britain exporting $369 million and importing $442 million. Japanese and Canadian exports also have risen steadily in recent years.

TABULATED

The principal items that the United States exports to the satellites and gets back are tabulated by economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, as follows:

Poland chiefly takes American grains and sends meat products. East Germany takes tobacco and sends furs. Hungary prizes our industrial machinery and we take their wood manufactures. Bulgaria and Romania are markets for our pharmaceuticals, and from Bulgaria we import spices and from Romania glass products. Other items are traded with each nation in smaller amounts.

The United States has legal restrictions on this Eastern European trade. The chief one is a ban on goods classed as strategic that might be used in an arms buildup. An export license is required for any goods ruled nonstrategic.

NORMAL CREDIT

But a credit restriction goes back to 1934 when Congress

banned private loans to a government in default in payment on its obligations to the U.S. government. Only recently has Washington ruled that this law doesn't apply to "normal commercial credit terms." Neither the law nor the ruling has been tested in the courts.

Nations in default, in addition to the Soviet Union itself, include Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

Even when export licenses are available, some American manufacturers hesitate to ship their goods to the Eastern Europeans because they don't respect international patents and can copy Western designs once a few samples are in their hands.

ROAD BLOCK

But the purely financial roadblock is a big one. Western Europe has taken in payment for its exports Eastern Europe's timber, pulp, grain, nonferrous metals and petroleum products. The United States already has adequate sources for these products.

Night Calls For Doctors Less Often, More Costly

CHICAGO (AP) — What has happened to doctors' old-fashioned night calls at home?

This inquiring reporter made a quick sampling at this week's meeting of the Illinois Academy of General Practice.

Talks with seven family doctors from all parts of the state — all of whom make evening visits — left these impressions:

By and large, family doctors still make night calls. But they get fewer calls because of the patient's consideration for the physician's health and his own money. One medical man estimated fees are 30 to 50 per cent higher after dark.

The truth is we don't get as many night calls as we used to," said Dr. John D. McCarthy of Riverside, "largely because the patients have increased concern for the doctor's welfare and have become accustomed to going directly to the emergency room in a hospital, especially in cases of trauma. It gets the patient under treatment quicker, with better results and less expense to everybody concerned."

Some of the doctors asked anonymously:

"When the price goes up, people don't call you as often," commented a physician from a small town in Northern Illinois. "I'm glad to make them (calls) now at the price I charge for them."

"I wish I had a dime for every time I had to dress and go out on a call," said a medic from a community of 15,000 in Southern Illinois.

A gray-haired physician from a sizable city in the southern half of the state said he makes nocturnal calls. "It's getting to the point where a lot of them won't do it," he added. "I was brought up in the old school."

"Our county is 600 square miles, and I even make calls outside the county," said Dr. C. J. Jannings of Fairfield. "I have only one rule — if the patient can't come to me, I go to him."

Alliance For Progress Program Falling Short

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The spearhead of U.S. foreign policy in Latin America is the Alliance for Progress, a multi-billion-dollar aid program designed to trigger social reforms, promote political stability and raise the living standard of the people.

A great many Latin-American leaders think the aims are excellent but that the program isn't working out very well.

One of the most articulate critics of the enterprise is Argentina's new foreign minister, Miguel Angel Zavala Ortiz, who discussed his views in an interview.

NOT PENETRATED

The Alliance for Progress, Zavala Ortiz said, "has remained suspended as a hope, and it has not penetrated Latin America either as a mysticism or as a concrete plan."

"To be successful," he said, "it must do both. Sometimes the wishes of our people here are not understood. For example, in the U.S. Senate there is what we have heard about cutting off aid to countries with the argument that 'we have given enough.'"

"It's not a question of more or fewer dollars, but a question of the correct feeling for the situation."

Zavala Ortiz said the most successful Latin-American policy launched by the United States was the good neighbor policy proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt 30 years ago. It was successful, he said, because it asserted respect for the determination of Latin American countries to work out their own destinies.

"No money was spent, by the United States for this friendship," Zavala Ortiz said. "But never was as much prestige gained for the United States as through the good neighbor policy."

Lovers' Lane In Parliament

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia's gleaming new Parliament Building has become a deluxe lovers' lane complete with police protection.

The $5.5-million structure and its softly lighted gardens are drawing hundreds of couples who formerly courted along lonely roads where there have been repeated cases of banditry.

Four policemen are on duty around the clock to protect the building.

You can reach the buyers and the trade with one big gun—the daily newspaper.

Because newspaper readership is almost universal, 86.4% of all U.S. homes receive a daily newspaper... almost 100 million people read a newspaper every day. That means advertising in the newspaper reaches everybody—the buying public plus the wholesalers and retailers you do business with.

These businessmen don't need to be sold on the value of newspaper advertising. They know; they've seen the cash register payoff from their own newspaper advertising.

So draw a bead on both markets—the trade, the consumer—with advertising in the one medium that reaches them both because it reaches everybody.

Intense Investigation, Secrecy Mark Picking Of Yale President

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The secret ballot was over, and there is only one who has most of these qualifications. But—God is a Yale man?

The Yale Corporation, however, must make its choice from among mortals. Some possible clues to the selection of a Yale president lie in a resolution adopted 15 years ago by the University Council, a group of appointed alumni who study and make recommendations about various aspects of Yale life.

WHOLE FIELD

The resolution said a Yale president "should be devoted to the cause and possess an understanding and appreciation of the whole field of education and a vision of the part which the great independent universities must take in the future life of the nation."

"That he should have a lively and profound sense of the importance of religious values in education."

"And finally that he should recognize Yale as a fortress of Western civilization, understand and feel its greatness as a seat of learning and possess the integrity, intelligence and force of character essential to qualify him as Yale's representative and Yale's leader in the world of affairs."

After Griswold died last April 19, Brewster, his close friend, was considered the likely successor. But the corporation, charged with the "government, care and management" of Yale, took elaborate pains to reach the proper decision.

HUNDREDS

The corporation members began making contacts — personal, by mail and by telephone — with hundreds of people they met with present and former Yale officers, the deans of Yale's colleges, faculty members and alumni. They got in touch with a number of department heads, the Yale chaplain, the director of athletics and they contacted prominent educators throughout the country who have no Yale connections.

Three basic questions were asked of those persons contacted: What type of man would you prefer to be president of Yale? Whom would you suggest? Why?

The corporation set up two special committees — a survey committee designated to receive the names of suggested successors to Griswold, and a committee "on the nature of the presidency."

NOMINEES

Before long the survey committee, headed by prominent lawyer Edwin F. Blair, received more than 500 replies containing 160 different nominees. It worked closely with the other committee, headed by Harold Howe II, in the "weeding out" process that had to follow.

After a round of summertime meetings, the committee managed to trim 127 names from the list for assorted reasons. Some already were college presidents, some were considered too old but the names were not scrapped without thought.

"Out of respect for the people who made the suggestions, we felt obliged to investigate each name thoroughly," Blair says.

The survey committee made a preliminary report Sept. 30 to the corporation, and submitted 33 names for consideration. By Oct. 10 the corporation had seven names left. The members met in New York that night. They met again in New York the following morning, and, as one member said, "It was obvious when we adjourned that the choice would be Kingman Brewster."

QUALIFICATIONS

At that morning meeting, each member spoke out about the qualifications of the nominees, and ended with his personal recommendation.

Then came the final meeting in New Haven on the night of Oct. 11, and the secret ballot in which Brewster was elected. Was there any controversy at all prior to the selection? No, say the corporation members, noting that the vote was unanimus.

Forty-five minutes later, Lewis, Blair and Howe paid the nocturnal call at the home of Kingman Brewster Jr.

That was the procedure that led to Brewster's selection as Yale president. Members of the corporation decline to name the other men who had been considered.

At the end the question still remains: What are the qualifications for a Yale president? No one will venture a list.

Union Service At First Presbyterian

The traditional Union Thanksgiving Day Service will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

Sponsored annually by the Big Spring Pastor's Association, the inter-denominational service is open to members of any faith and all are urged to take part in this special observance for Thanksgiving Day. The First Presbyterian Church and pastor, the Rev. R. G. Lloyd, are hosts at the occasion.

Dr. H. Clyde Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preside for the service. Speaker will be the Rev. James A. Puckett, pastor of the Baptist Temple, on the topic "The Joy of Thanksgiving." Special music will be provided by a double quartet from the First Methodist Church, with Capt. James W. Martin, a member of the First Presbyterian congregation leading the singing.

The Kiwanis Club will act as ushers.

Offering of the day, as in the past, will go to help support teaching of the Bible at the Big Spring Senior High School. This class, also under the auspices of the Pastor's Association, is taught by Mrs. Johnny Johnson.

Others taking part in the program will be the Rev. William M. Dorough, minister of the Church of the Nazarene, invocation; the Rev. V. Ward Jackson, First Church of God, proclamation; Chaplain C. O. Hitt, Veterans Administration Hospital; scripture reading; the Rev. James H. Sharp, Wesley Methodist Memorial Church, thanksgiving; and the Rev. Donald M. Hungerford, St. Mary's Episcopal Church, benediction.

African Minister Finds Little Prejudice Here

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A South African minister, back home from a study tour of the United States, says he never met the bitter prejudice toward the Negro he had expected to find.

The Rev. C. W. Parnell, pastor of the Johannesburg Baptist Church, said he deliberately looked for prejudice against Negroes.

"I hoped I would meet some rabid segregationists," he said, "but, although I met hosts of people, not one revealed himself to me as sympathetic to the Ku Klux Klan or anything of that type."

He said that may have been due to the fact he moved in circles related to churches. He added that the thought of many Americans seemed to be: "We are working toward integration. It has to come. We are not satisfied with our present race relations."

People told him of tremendous strides, led and inspired by Southern whites, since the war.

They argued: "You cannot hurry changes in human relations. The real trouble is that the Kennedy brothers and others want us to move too fast. It is that compulsion which causes trouble."

The Rev. Mr. Parnell said segregation of restaurants in Nashville, Tenn., ended while he was in that city. "Although I lunched or dined in one of these restaurants every day during my 5-week stay there, I did not see a single Negro demonstration. The transition passed unnoted by most people and very few Negroes bothered to take advantage of their new liberty. The protest appeared to be a matter of principle rather than a desire to eat at the restricted restaurants," he said.

"The Negroes simply did not want to be treated as different from the whites. This, of course, is the basic motivation in all color protests."

Parnell's views were published in the Johannesburg Star.

20 Adults To Be Confirmed By Bishop

A distinguished visitor, the Right Reverend George H. Quarterman, who for the past 17 years has been Bishop for the Diocese of Northwest Texas, will be in Big Spring Sunday for Confirmation rites at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The service will be held at 10:15 a. m. In addition to confirming candidates, Bishop Quarterman will also preach the sermon on that day.

Bishop Quarterman, who is from Amarillo, was last here in May for the first semi-annual visit to the parish for the year.

Some 20 adults are scheduled to be confirmed during the special service. They have been in preparation for the rite the past nine weeks, taking an intensive course in faith and practices of the Episcopal church.

During the ancient rite of the church, the candidates will ratify and confirm their vows of Baptism and promise to follow Christ. Each will then appear before the Bishop, who will lay his hands on them in the Confirmation rite. Each will be given a copy of the Book of Common Prayer.

FEAR OF GOD MEANS LOVE

"Fear of the Lord," often mentioned in the Scripture, is not the pagan's fear of the unknown. Rather, it is the reverence and respect due the Almighty.

This is the lesson taught us in this week's International Sunday School Lesson.

It is with this knowledge that Christians are aware that God wants to work through them to bring others to His peace. His pardon and His power. The "fear of the Lord" impels Christians to work night and day that many may be saved from eternal condemnation. This work is controlled by love of Christ.

"God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation," the Golden Text taken from II Corinthians 5:19 tells us.

Churches Seek Unity

A big hope and a big question mark—focused on the idea of unity—stirs today among the world's churches.

It is "spreading like an irresistible prairie fire," says Lutheran Bishop Hans Lilje of Hannover, Germany.

In opening the session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council, Pope Paul VI said a main aim was the "bringing together of all Christians in unity."

A few weeks earlier, a gathering in Montreal, Canada, of theologians of most Protestant and Orthodox churches around the earth declared: "We are on the way to Christian unity."

To many people, however, the question arises: Just what would that mean? What organizational framework would it involve? How would it be done?

The fact is that as yet the church leaders do not know precisely. They are probing for the answer.

At the same time, the ecumenical—Christian unity—movement has arrived at certain rudimentary premises and guiding standards.

The primary and underlying basis for it all is the undivided Christ, and his call and prayer for oneness in him. "As we come nearer to him," the world council says, "we come nearer to one another." urged Pope Paul VI. "May the church be conformed to the living Christ."

The movement also has reached numerous other general principles about the nature of the unity sought.

THE TURKEY

is symbolic of Thanksgiving. Here is a time when the whole family gets together in reunion. Too often our thanks are confined only to this holiday—when every day we should offer thanks to God for His goodness to us—"For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." II Corinthians 5:21

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

the Secret of THANKSGIVING

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Does the "horn of plenty" make us thankful?

We do not become thankful by our abundance. The spoiled child lavished with gifts is not thankful.

It is not the horn of plenty, but the bigness of our heart that makes us thankful. The blessings God gives are infinite, but we must have the capacity to receive. Like a child who carries a bucket of water from the sea, we can only carry as many blessings as our heart will hold.

The capacity to receive comes through worship and prayer. We go into the presence of God and think deeply about our life. Understanding is awakened. With new eyes, we see our blessings and are grateful. We kneel poor, and rise rich.

Thanksgiving Day brings us a special opportunity for worship and prayer. Isn't this why we want to be in Church with our family? Here we discover the secret of thanksgiving.

Nixon Says LBJ Demos' Liability

DALLAS (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson is getting to be a political liability to the Democratic party, former Vice President Richard Nixon asserted Thursday.

He predicted that President Kennedy will discard Johnson as a running mate next year if the presidential race promises to be close.

Nixon, the Republican nominee who lost to Kennedy by a narrow margin in 1960, was here to confer with executives of a soft drink company represented by his New York law firm.

Asked at a news conference if he thought Kennedy would choose a new running mate, Nixon replied:

"President Kennedy has stated he intends to keep Lyndon as the vice presidential nominee. The fact they are coming to Texas together, I believe, indicates the President means what he said.

"But we must remember that President Kennedy and his advisers are practical politicians. I believe that if they think the race is a shoo-in, they will keep Lyndon. Otherwise I think they will choose someone who can help the Democratic ticket.

"Lyndon was chosen in 1960 because he could help the ticket in the South. Now he is becoming a political liability in the South, just as he is in the North."

Nixon repeated earlier statements that he is not seeking the Republican nomination in 1964. The former vice president said Sen. Barry Goldwater is the front runner now for the Republican nomination, but Gov. Rockefeller "is a good hand shaker" and could move up quickly.

Major Growth Seen In State

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. John Connally predicts Texas will become the most populous state by 1970 and is urging a series of moves to expand the state's industrial base.

"We're going to have to become more aggressive in going after foreign markets," he told more than 300 delegates at the Texas Manufacturers Association's 41st annual meeting Thursday.

To create jobs for Texas' booming population, Connally said the state must attract new industries, particularly consumer goods plants; strive for brisker tourist trade; sharpen technical skills through more comprehensive educational programs, and promote more exports.

He said the best thing the state can do to attract industry is to provide a stable government.

Educator Flails Money For Private, Parochial Schools

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A prominent educator has charged that a vigorous campaign has been mounted, in and out of Congress, to provide federal funds for private and parochial schools from kindergarten through college.

Edgar Fuller, executive secretary of the Council of Chief State School Officers, made the charge in his annual report to the council. The council adopted it in announcing in a closed convention session Thursday.

Fuller said "the campaign is active and gaining strength. Unless it is blunted the public schools will be financially undermined in thousands of American communities."

The council is an organization of state superintendents and commissioners of education from the 50 states and from U.S. possessions overseas.

The council, Fuller said, is committed by long-standing policy "to oppose any legislation which would splinter the public tax dollar for distribution to private institutions of education at any level for the institutional use of the schools or colleges."

The council does not object, Fuller said, to the use of federal funds by private colleges and universities "for such noninstitutional uses as research contracts, scholarships, fellowships and the like."

He singled out for particular criticism the powerful American Council on Education, the nation's leading spokesman for higher education, the leadership of the 800,000-member National Education Association, and a bill introduced in Congress by Rep. James Delaney, D-N.Y.

He made no mention of the efforts of the Catholic Church hierarchy to secure federal funds for private and parochial schools.

Delaney's proposed legislation would authorize general federal payments to parents of private school children, and equal payments to public school districts for public school children.

"The temptation," Fuller said, "would be for a predominantly Methodist community to establish Methodist schools, and for communities with concentrations of Lutherans, Jews, Mormons, Baptists and Black Muslims or other denominations to do the same."

Certain card combinations cannot receive full treatment in bridge texts, because their proper management will vary according to the actual conditions confronting the player on the field of battle. Today, in order to land his game contract, South had to take into consideration the vulnerable activities of his opponent during the auction.

South opened the bidding with one heart and West had a very sound double since he was well fortified in all unbid suits. North's jump to three hearts is a semi-preemptive measure which is designed to show good support for partner's suit and at the same time inhibit the opponents' efforts to compete. South carried on to game inasmuch as he had a very sound hand. West led the king of clubs and

South won the trick with the ace. An examination of the dummy revealed to declarer that he had a potential loser in each of the black suits. Since West's vulnerable take-out double clearly marked him with the ace of diamonds, it appeared that two diamond tricks must be surrendered as well.

In order to reduce his losers to three, South must find a discard for one of his spades, and the only source for establishment of an additional trick lay in the rather anemic diamond holding. The one chance was to find East with either the queen or jack of diamonds, but the suit must be managed very carefully.

Dummy was entered at trick two with a trump and the ten of diamonds was led and ducked around to West's jack. Observe that South did not release his king of diamonds for, in view of the bidding, there was no reasonable chance that that card could win a trick. West cashed the ace of diamonds next and, when the king fell, he switched to the queen and another club which dummy ruffed.

A third diamond was led and declarer trumped away East's queen to establish North's nine as the master card in the suit. Dummy was reentered with a heart to draw the last trump and South's spade loser was discarded on the good diamond.

Observe that, if declarer plays the king of diamonds from his hand the first time that suit is led, there is no way he can develop a diamond trick and he must eventually surrender a spade for the setting trick.

Still Excited On Birthday, Says Garner

UVALDE (AP) — Birthdays can still be exciting even to a man of 95, says former Vice President John Nance Garner. "All these packages and cards make my old heart go pitter-pat," confessed the white-haired Texan who spent 30 years in Congress and eight more as vice president before quitting politics 23 years ago. Now, still fairly active but with eyesight dimming, he lives quietly in a little house beside the home Garner donated for a museum some years back. "It's good to have friends remember you," he observed yesterday while preparing to mark another birthday. In advance of today's observance, word came that President Kennedy, a fellow Democrat visiting in the state, would telephone Garner congratulations. One of his birthday gifts was a new hat from Vice President Lyndon Johnson, back in Texas with Kennedy. It was being brought here from Austin by lawyer Ed Clark, a Democratic party figure.

Kiwanis Told Every Day Should Be Thanksgiving

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday that the idea of being thankful should not be restricted to any one day. "We should be eternally thankful for the blessings we have," he said. "Thanksgiving Day is but an occasion for a sort of ingathering and recapitulation of all of our blessings." He cited the gratitude of the Pilgrims for the meager benefits and blessings their first summer had provided. "It had been a dreadful summer," he said. "Crops were poor. The colony faced a terrible winter. In spite of these things, they gathered together to voice their gratitude to God for the kindness they had received."

The club will forego its Thursday luncheon meeting next week, since the date falls on Thanksgiving Day. Annual installation of officers for the club will be Dec. 13 at the Cosden Country Club, Bob Bradbury, program chairman announced. Names of needy children who will be guests of the club at the annual West Side Park Christmas party were distributed, and Kiwanians told to provide gifts for the youngsters. Only toys will be purchased. The club will serve sandwiches and cold drinks for the boys and girls at the park Dec. 19 at noon.

They are: Ewing Werlein, boys and girls work; J. C. Pickle, Boy Scouts; the Rev. H. Clyde Smith, Interclub; Jay Banks, safety; Luther Loudamy, house and reception; Ernest Welch, support of church; Sam Blackburn, public relations; Roscoe Newell, vocational guidance; Jack Alexander, Key Club and Circle K; John Coffey, Kiwanis education and fellowship; E. C. Boatler, new club building; Bill Johnson, finance; Delaine Crawford, agriculture and conservation; Clyde Hollingsworth, public and business affairs; Sherman Smith, attendance and membership; Bob Travis, program and music; and W. H. Eysen, international relations.

New Meters Due In Fringe Areas

The city is planning to change the time limits on 120 parking meters located around the edge of the downtown area, according to Roy Anderson, assistant city manager.

New Police Cars Being Serviced

Three new patrol cars delivered to the police department Wednesday were being readied for service Thursday. Assistant city manager Roy Anderson said radios are being installed in the cars. Cost for each car is $2,152.83, less trade-in value of $835 on each of two old cars. The third old car is being retained by the police department as a standby car.

DEAR ABBY

Must Make A Choice

DEAR ABBY: Has a marriage ever worked out when the man was once married to his second wife's sister? That's my problem now. My sister and "L" were married for five years. She was 22 and "L" was 23. They had two darling children. "L" caught my sister running around on him and, after giving her several chances, he got fed up and divorced her. His mother is raising the children. "L" and I have been seeing each other for three months and, Abby, we are terribly in love and want to get married. When I told my parents, they hit the ceiling and said it would never work. My sister keeps running him down. Abby, he is a fine man and I love him. I am 21 and he is 29. Can this marriage work?

going into the newspaper—not into the waste basket! You were RIGHT on both counts! Common sense always precedes rule-of-thumb etiquette.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BIG-HEARTED AL": Quit worrying. Worry is the interest you pay on a loan you'll probably never have to make.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR IN LOVE: Certainly. But prepare to choose between "L" and your family.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 15-year-old son who sneaks out to smoke. He has admitted it. But he says he doesn't smoke cigarettes; he smokes a pipe because it isn't the TOBACCO that causes lung cancer, it's the PAPER. He said his biology teacher proved to the class that this was true by burning the tobacco through a filter. The tobacco filter came out clear, while the paper stained the filter. Is this true? Thank you.

SMOKER'S MOM: No! I think your son's biology teacher has been watching too many commercials. Or your son is having "pipe" dreams.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I were in a downtown office building yesterday. We got into a very crowded elevator. I couldn't get my arm up to reach my hat, so I just left it on. When it came time to get off I was near the elevator door, so I just stepped out ahead of the others, not noticing if I got out ahead of any ladies or not. My wife chewed me out all the way on both counts, saying it was time I learned some manners. Well, Abby? If you're going to stick up for the women again, please toss this in the waste basket.

Businessmen Take Chilly Look At Foreign Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — American businessmen are taking a new and colder look at international commerce prospects. They speak of a drastic turnabout in the last few months. The European Common Market, many say, has turned sour. So has the hope that trade ties will produce a political United States of Europe to stand solid against communism.

And now the Communists are holding out their own prospects of trade, grain so far but may be other goods later. Businessmen questioned during a cross-country tour to sample the nation's business mood say they're not quite certain what to make of all this.

ON OUR TOES Says Robert Keith, executive vice president of the Pillsbury Co. in Minneapolis: "We'll have to be on our toes if we're to come out ahead." Keith says the United States must do all it can to revive prospects for free world trade, at the same time making the most of any Communist offers.

These comments came on the eve of meetings to lay the groundwork for a new round of international tariff negotiations made possible by the U.S. Trade Expansion Act of 1962. They come also at a time when tariff disputes rage over several products, especially farm goods.

BACK ON FEET

"We paid millions of taxpayers' dollars to get these countries back on their feet, and they shut the door in our face," says Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, a state big in poultry production.

FREE TRADE

President Lynn Townsend of Chrysler Corp. said: "The Common Market will eventually come into real being. I expect to see freer and freer trade."

The mood in this country contrasts with talk a year ago, when excitement over the Common Market was high. Businessmen saw that six-nation union of France, Germany, Italy,

General Wants Solid, Efficient Air Force Reserve For U. S.

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE, Ga. (AP)—Blunt, aggressive Lt. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, a militarist who talks about saving money for the taxpayer, wants a solid ready-to-go Air Force Reserve even if it means cutting down on size.

He wants to realign the 319,000-man reserve along state lines, to set up a career incentive program and streamline training methods.

"I want to get away from this 'numbers racket' and get into the business of maximum performance," said Timberlake who has been chief of the complex Continental Air Command—CONCAC—for little more than a year.

He jabbed at a map on his office wall.

"If there's another war, we're just as likely to have a battlefield here in Iowa as elsewhere," Timberlake said.

TIGHTLY KNIT

Timberlake proposes to replace 16 continental area headquarters with 48 state sectors in the hope of creating a more tightly knit reserve force. He plans to take his proposal to the Pentagon this month.

The 51-year-old general, a war veteran and former Pentagon officer, gave his views in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press at command headquarters at this bustling base in central Georgia.

REQUIREMENT

"The whole reserve program should be based on a realistic requirement of an active duty force and a realistic capability of a reserve force," he said, jotting on a note pad.

Timberlake explained his plan. It centers around the 168,000 reservists designated ready in Air Force terminology; the reserve is composed of 120,000 in the standby group and 31,000 retired.

BY PRESIDENT

The ready force is susceptible to call-up in an emergency on orders of the President; it takes an act of Congress to mobilize the standby.

During the Cuban crisis, 14,000 ready reservists were mobilized; 5,000 were called up during the Berlin blockade.

About 24,000 are in flying units operating daily. Reservists fly 32 per cent of the Army's parachute jump training missions.

Another 29,000 are in nonflying support units.

ASSIGNEES

That leaves 110,000 men who are classified as "mobilization assignees"—individuals, some of them located where there is no reserve unit.

With their headquarters often in another state, these men feel no sense of cohesiveness, Timberlake said.

"Take a reservist in Alabama under control of a sector which is headquartered in Tampa, Fla.—he doesn't feel he's a part of anything," Timberlake said.

EACH STATE

Under his proposal, reserve headquarters would be set up in each of the continental states with active duty detachments staffing the headquarters as advisors.

"This way I could take all of the nonflying units and individuals and assign them to state headquarters," he said. "This way, I feel I would get the cohesiveness we need."

Little Interest Shown In Election

STANTON—No absentee votes have been cast in Stanton's election called to fill the posts of mayor and one councilman, city secretary Harvey White said Wednesday.

"Since the ballot carries only one name, that of Albert A. Johnson, for the councilman's post," he said, "there is not too much interest. The mayor will have to be elected by write-in since no candidate announced."

Absentee balloting ends Nov. 30, and the special election will be held Dec. 3. The vacancies were caused by resignation of the former mayor and one councilman.

IF any will not work, neither let him eat

Yes, a man ought to work if he expects to eat and make provision for his family.

The responsibility of man to engage in honest labor is a basic principle of Christianity.

The person who is not willing to work should not be subsidized, according to the New Testament. This principle is clearly and forcefully stated in 2 Thessalonians 3:10-12:

"For even during our stay with you we laid down the rule: the man who will not work shall not eat. We mention this because we hear that some of your number are idling their time away, minding everybody's business but their own. To all such we give these orders, and we appeal to them in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to work quietly for their living." (New English Translation).

Some modern social reformers might object to this ancient Bible precept on the grounds that it is unjust or unkind or even harsh. But this is the will of almighty God! Man achieves dignity in individual, productive, active effort. And man fulfills his purpose upon the earth when his productive effort conforms to the will of God. God is glorified when man reproduces the will of the Heavenly Father in his own life (Matthew 7:21-23).

Biblical testimony on the need for man to work is abundant. Consider these passages:

"But if anyone does not make provision for his relations, and especially for members of his own household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever." (1 Timothy 5:8, New English Translation).

"Let it be your ambition to keep calm and look after your own business, and to work with your hands, as we ordered you, so that you may command the respect of those outside your own number, and at the same time may never be in want" (1 Thessalonians 4:11, 12, New English Translation).

The responsibility to be active and productive in the kingdom of God is the underlying philosophy of Christianity. Jesus said: "My Father has never yet ceased his work, and I am working too (John 5:17, New English Translation). And on another occasion the Christ said: "While daylight lasts we must carry on the work of him who sent me: night comes, when no one can work" (John 9:4).

Honest, productive labor is inherent in the order of God's creation. There is no place in the Lord's church for lazy, indolent free-loaders. Instead let a man "work hard and honestly with his own hands, so that he may have something to share with the needy" (Ephesians 4:28).

Payment Method Slows Red Deals

NEW YORK (AP) — The touchy question of increasing U.S. trade with Eastern Europe's Communist nations runs into financial as well as political road blocks. Payment in gold or goods or credit?

Many of America's allies have been increasing their trade right along, often ignoring Washington's frowns. But they've been able to get payment for their exports by increasing their imports from the Communist bloc—items that U.S. importers don't want or can't buy—or by taking sporadic offerings of Soviet gold, something the United States could use but rarely sees.

POTENTIAL

The political reasons for holding down trade are clear. Strategic goods from the United States would build up Communist war potential, and other goods might build up its economic health and let it put more effort into military output.

In 1962 we exported $105 million worth of goods to Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe, excluding the U.S.S.R. itself and Yugoslavia and Albania; and imported $62.5-million worth. In the same period West Germany was exporting $719 million worth, importing $668 million worth, and Britain exporting $369 million and importing $442 million. Japanese and Canadian exports also have risen steadily in recent years.

TABULATED

The principal items that the United States exports to the satellites and gets back are tabulated by economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, as follows:

Poland chiefly takes American grains and sends meat products. East Germany takes tobacco and sends furs. Hungary prizes our industrial machinery and we take their wood manufactures. Bulgaria and Romania are markets for our pharmaceuticals, and from Bulgaria we import spices and from Romania glass products. Other items are traded with each nation in smaller amounts.

The United States has legal restrictions on this Eastern European trade. The chief one is a ban on goods classed as strategic that might be used in an arms buildup. An export license is required for any goods ruled nonstrategic.

NORMAL CREDIT

But a credit restriction goes back to 1934 when Congress

banned private loans to a government in default in payment on its obligations to the U.S. government. Only recently has Washington ruled that this law doesn't apply to "normal commercial credit terms." Neither the law nor the ruling has been tested in the courts.

Nations in default, in addition to the Soviet Union itself, include Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

Even when export licenses are available, some American manufacturers hesitate to ship their goods to the Eastern Europeans because they don't respect international patents and can copy Western designs once a few samples are in their hands.

ROAD BLOCK

But the purely financial road-block is a big one. Western Europe has taken in payment for its exports Eastern Europe's timber, pulp, grain, nonferrous metals and petroleum products. The United States already has adequate sources for these products.

Intense Investigation, Secrecy Mark Picking Of Yale President

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The secret ballot was over, and three men paid a nocturnal call at the home of Kingman Brewster Jr. on the Yale University campus.

The visitors were members of the Yale Corporation, the governing body of the university, and they broke the news to Brewster that he had been unanimously elected president of Yale.

Brewster, 44, provost of the university and, in effect, acting president since the death of A. Whitney Griswold almost six months earlier, promptly accepted.

He had been picked formally only 45 minutes before from among seven nominees who survived—without their knowledge—months of screening, checking and investigation by the Yale Corporation, which started with a list of 160 suggested names.

Lewis said at the time, "I don't doubt you have realized that there is only one who has most of these qualifications. But—God a Yale man?"

The Yale Corporation, however, must make its choice from among mortals. Some possible clues to the selection of a Yale president lie in a resolution adopted 15 years ago by the University Council, a group of appointed alumni who study and make recommendations about various aspects of Yale life.

After a round of summertime meetings, the committee managed to trim 127 names from the list for assorted reasons. Some already were college presidents, some were considered too old. But the names were not scrapped without thought.

"Out of respect for the people who made the suggestions, we felt obliged to investigate each name thoroughly," Blair says.

The survey committee made a preliminary report Sept. 30 to the corporation, and submitted 33 names for consideration. By Oct. 10 the corporation had seven names left. The members met in New York that night. They met again in New York the following morning, and, as one member said, "It was obvious when we adjourned that the choice would be Kingman Brewster."

At that morning meeting, each member spoke out about the qualifications of the nominees, and ended with his personal recommendation.

Then came the final meeting in New Haven on the night of Oct. 11, and the secret ballot in which Brewster was elected. Was there any controversy at all prior to the selection? No, say the corporation members, noting that the vote was unanimus.

Forty-five minutes later, Lewis, Blair and Howe paid the nocturnal call at the home of Kingman Brewster Jr.

That was the procedure that led to Brewster's selection as Yale president. Members of the corporation decline to name the other men who had been considered.

At the end the question still remains: What are the qualifications for a Yale president? No one will venture a list.

DETROIT (AP) — Lowell Thomas, 71-year-old author and CBS newscaster, has been discharged from a hospital where he was treated for a heart attack.

"He must be a magnificent speaker and a great writer. He must be a good public relations man and an experienced fundraiser. He must be a man of iron health and stamina, a young man—but also mature and full of wisdom."

"He must be a man of the world and yet he must also have great spiritual qualities. He must be a Yale man and a great scholar."

Alliance For Progress Program Falling Short

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The spearhead of U.S. foreign policy in Latin America is the Alliance for Progress, a multi-billion-dollar aid program designed to trigger social reforms, promote political stability and raise the living standard of the people. A great many Latin-American leaders think the aims are excellent but that the program isn't working out very well. One of the most articulate critics of the enterprise is Argentina's new foreign minister, Miguel Angel Zavala Ortiz, who discussed his views in an interview.

NOT PENETRATED
The Alliance for Progress, Zavala Ortiz said, "has remained suspended as a hope, and it has not penetrated Latin America either as a mysticism or as a concrete plan."

"To be successful," he said, "it must do both. Sometimes the wishes of our people here are not understood. For example, in the U.S. Senate there is what we have heard about cutting off aid to countries with the argument that 'we have given enough.'"

"It's not a question of more or fewer dollars, but a question of the correct feeling for the situation."

GOOD NEIGHBOR
Zavala Ortiz said the most successful Latin-American policy launched by the United States was the good neighbor policy proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt 30 years ago. It was successful, he said, because it asserted respect for the determination of Latin American countries to work out their own destinies.

"No money was spent by the United States for this friendship," Zavala Ortiz said. "But never was as much prestige gained for the United States as through the good neighbor policy."

Zavala Ortiz said the Alliance for Progress should become a partnership with the Latin American nations having a greater voice in determining the policies and operations of the aid programs. Throughout his and other criticisms runs the implication that the United States exercises too much control.

HAND OUT
"Argentina," he said, "is one country that is not standing with its hand out asking for aid. This country and the other countries of Latin America have domestic capital and savings to make a jump toward development, but this cannot be done if it is dependent on a plan or dependent on United States financial aid."

The Alliance for Progress, which was started by the Kennedy administration more than two years ago, has provided many millions of dollars for schools, housing, roads, agricultural improvements, health programs and the like.

The disappointment, which even some U.S. officials in South America privately admit to, is that the undertaking has not caught the imagination of the people. It has failed to make an impact.

Four policemen are on duty around the clock to protect the building.

Night Calls For Doctors Less Often, More Costly

CHICAGO (AP) — What has happened to doctors' old-fashioned night calls at homes?

This inquiring reporter made a quick sampling at this week's meeting of the Illinois Academy of General Practice.

Talks with seven family doctors from all parts of the state — all of whom make evening visits — left these impressions:

By and large, family doctors still make night calls. But they get fewer calls because of the patient's consideration for the physician's health and his own money. One medical man estimated fees are 30 to 50 per cent higher after dark.

"The truth is we don't get as many night calls as we used to," said Dr. John D. McCarthy of Riverside, "largely because the patients have increased concern for the doctor's welfare and have become accustomed to going directly to the emergency room in a hospital, especially in cases of trauma. It gets the patient under treatment quicker, with better results and less expense to everybody concerned."

Some of the doctors asked anonymity.

"When the price goes up, people don't call you as often," commented a physician from a small town in Northern Illinois. "I'm glad to make them (calls) now at the price I charge for them."

"I wish I had a dime for every time I had to dress and go out on a call," said a medic from a community of 15,000 in Southern Illinois.

A gray-haired physician from a sizable city in the southern half of the state said he makes nocturnal calls.

"It's getting to the point where a lot of them won't do it," he added. "I was brought up in the old school."

"Our county is 600 square miles, and I even make calls outside the county," said Dr. C. J. Jannings of Fairfield. "I have only one rule — if the patient can't come to me, I go to him."

DAILY GUIDE—Sharp words, clever, witty, and extreme, can be expected to take over the news and the general conversation of people. Expect temperamental outbursts and odd behavior.

Arians seem to have the edge today, so expect them to take full advantage of their lucky position of being able to tell others off.

Sagittarians also will be in a talking mood, and could be indiscreet enough to alienate some alliances. Geminians may have to listen, impatiently, since they like to interrupt even more than the Sagittarians.

Pisceans and Virgoans might as well stay on the sidelines as they are not likely to have hope of being heard.

By late evening everyone may begin to tire of the excitement of the past few days, so break up the discussions, slow down if traveling on the road.

Keep easing down to a slower pace tomorrow; the weekend emotional, antagonistic, discordant.

TARIUS! Career matters continue to be the most important single factor this year, with some circumstances at home base in the summer conflicting with your ambitions.

Much will be going on behind the scenes, and it could be that you will indulge in day dreams and wishful thinking, instead of taking a realistic view of things.

June and December are the months to guard health. Present depressing mental outlook can deepen by February, but after that you should be free of recent disappointments.

Social activities continue to be enjoyable through April.

Because newspaper readership is almost universal, 86.4% of all U.S. homes receive a daily newspaper... almost 100 million people read a newspaper every day. That means advertising in the newspaper reaches everybody—the buying public plus the wholesalers and retailers you do business with.

Nixon Says LBJ Demos' Liability

DALLAS (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson is getting to be a political liability to the Democratic party, former Vice President Richard Nixon asserted Thursday.

He predicted that President Kennedy will discard Johnson as a running mate next year if the presidential race promises to be close.

Nixon, the Republican nominee who lost to Kennedy by a narrow margin in 1960, was here to confer with executives of a soft drink company represented by his New York law firm.

Asked at a news conference if he thought Kennedy would choose a new running mate, Nixon replied:

"President Kennedy has stated he intends to keep Lyndon as the vice presidential nominee. The fact they are coming to Texas together, I believe, indicates the President means what he said.

"But we must remember that President Kennedy and his advisers are practical politicians. I believe that if they think the race is a shoo-in, they will keep Lyndon. Otherwise I think they will choose someone who can help the Democratic ticket.

Major Growth Seen In State

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. John Connally predicts Texas will become the most populous state by 1970 and is urging a series of moves to expand the state's industrial base.

"We're going to have to become more aggressive in going after foreign markets," he told more than 300 delegates at the Texas Manufacturers Association's 41st annual meeting Thursday.

To create jobs for Texas' booming population, Connally said the state must attract new industries, particularly consumer goods plants; strive for brisker tourist trade; sharpen technical skills through more comprehensive educational programs, and promote more exports.

He said the best thing the state can do to attract industry is to provide a stable government.

New Number Most Welcome

TAUNTON, England (AP) — Diane Parsons will be happy next month when a new telephone directory is issued. "I've worked it out," explained Diane. "I've said 'sorry, wrong number' 7,000 times."

Diane is a receptionist for an optician. The telephone is Taunton 2541. The Taunton railway station is 2641.

"But somehow," sighed Diane, "the station's number got printed the same as ours—2541. About 24 times a day I pick up our phone and someone asks me about a train."

Educator Flails Money For Private, Parochial Schools

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A prominent educator has charged that a vigorous campaign has been mounted, in and out of Congress, to provide federal funds for private and parochial schools from kindergarten through college.

Edgar Fuller, executive secretary of the Council of Chief State School Officers, made the charge in his annual report to the council. The council adopted it in announcing in a closed convention session Thursday.

Fuller said "the campaign is active and gaining strength... Unless it is blunted the public schools will be financially undermined in thousands of American communities."

The council is an organization of state superintendents and commissioners of education from the 50 states and from U.S. possessions overseas.

The council, Fuller said, is committed by long-standing policy "to oppose any legislation which would splinter the public tax dollar for distribution to private institutions of education at any level for the institutional use of the schools or colleges."

The council does not object, Fuller said, to the use of federal funds by private colleges and universities "for such noninstitutional uses as research contracts, scholarships, fellowships and the like."

He singled out for particular criticism the powerful American Council on Education, the nation's leading spokesman for higher education, the leadership of the 800,000-member National Education Association, and a bill introduced in Congress by Rep. James Delaney, D-N.Y.

He made no mention of the efforts of the Catholic Church hierarchy to secure federal funds for private and parochial schools.

Delaney's proposed legislation would authorize general federal payments to parents of private school children, and equal payments to public school districts for public school children.

"The temptation," Fuller said, "would be for a predominantly Methodist community to establish Methodist schools, and for communities with concentrations of Lutherans, Jews, Mormons, Baptists and Black Muslims or other denominations to do the same."

South won the trick with the ace. An examination of the dummy revealed to declarer that he had a potential loser in each of the black suits. Since West's vulnerable take-out double clearly marked him with the ace of diamonds, it appeared that two diamond tricks must be surrendered as well.

In order to reduce his losers to three, South must find a discard for one of his spades, and the only source for establishment of an additional trick lay in the rather anemic diamond holding. The one chance was to find East with either the queen or jack of diamonds, but the suit must be managed very carefully.

Dummy was entered at trick two with a trump and the ten of diamonds was led and ducked around to West's jack. Observe that South did not release his king of diamonds for, in view of the bidding, there was no reasonable chance that that card could win a trick. West cashed the ace of diamonds next and, when the king fell, he switched to the queen and another club which dummy ruffed.

A third diamond was led and declarer trumped away East's queen to establish North's nine as the master card in the suit. Dummy was reentered with a heart to draw the last trump and South's spade loser was discarded on the good diamond.

Observe that, if declarer plays the king of diamonds from his hand the first time that suit is led, there is no way he can develop a diamond trick and he must eventually surrender a spade for the setting trick.
