Big Spring Mourns Loss

Big Spring and Howard County join the rest of the world this weekend in paying memorial tribute to President John F. Kennedy.

There will be rites at 1:15 p.m. today at the City Park Amphitheatre, and a city-wide memorial service at 11:15 a.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church.

Mayor George Zachariah called the community into memorial observance and urged private citizens as well as public establishments to fly their flags at half staff.

The City Park program this afternoon has been arranged by the local American Legion post. There will be patriotic numbers and hymns played by the Big Spring High School band.

Johnson Rallies Nation During Hour Of Sorrow

LBJ Declares Monday Day Of Dedication

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson Saturday designated Monday a national day of mourning for slain President John F. Kennedy.

"I invite the people of the world who share our grief to join us in this day of mourning and re-dedication," Johnson said in a proclamation on the death of Kennedy.

Johnson ordered all federal offices in Washington and throughout the nation closed on Monday, the day of Kennedy's funeral.

DA To Demand Supreme Penalty In Oswald Trial

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said Saturday he would demand the death penalty for Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President Kennedy.

Wade said he expected the man who is charged with murdering both the President and a Dallas policeman Friday, to be brought to trial about Jan. 15.

Wade said Oswald, who denies he shot anyone, would be held in jail until he asks for an examining trial or obtained a writ of habeas corpus with a plea to have bond set.

Kennedy's Body At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. Kennedy came back in death Saturday to the White House and the homage of the mighty.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, who filed the assassination-murder charges against Oswald, 24, told reporters: "There is no one else but him."

Struck down by an assassin's rifle fire in Dallas, Tex., Friday, Kennedy lay in a closed, bronze casket in the famed East Room of the White House.

From the breadth of a still stunned world, messages of condolence streamed to the White House. Men and women here and around the globe sobbed without shame.

French President Charles de Gaulle is coming to Washington for the funeral. So is King Baudouin of the Belgians, among other world leaders.

In Dallas, a young man with an attachment to the Soviet Union was charged with the deed that sent a shock wave of horror around the globe.

Pale, Drawn New Chief Begins Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, his face pale and drawn, went to work on his first full day in office as chief executive today in the office he used as vice president.

Flanked by a Texas congressman and a long-time associate, Johnson strode across West Executive Avenue from the White House to the Executive Office building at 9:29 a.m.

The new President wore a black suit and a black necktie with a single yellow stripe across it.

With McCone was McGeorge Bundy, special assistant on national security affairs to the slain Kennedy.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

Our community stoned and repulsed Saturday as reality of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy began to take hold.

Only enormity of this sad thing could mute the exuberance of fans over Big Spring's upset of San Angelo on the gridiron here Friday night.

The police department and the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron will butt heads again Dec. 7 in the name of compassion and character-building.

Wounded Gov. Connally Showing Improvement

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. John Connally, painfully wounded by the assassin who killed President Kennedy, showed much improvement Saturday.

The man charged with the assassination, Lee Harvey Oswald, wrote Connally when Connally was secretary of the Navy.

Oswald asked a reversal of his undesirable discharge from the Marine Corps.

Dr. Robert Shaw, his physician, said the bullet apparently struck Connally in the back, went through his chest into his wrist and then embedded in his thigh.

Dr. McCall Lands Amidst Hot Baptist Controversy

EDITOR'S NOTE: Baptists seldom elect a layman to head their Texas organization. Their new president is Dr. Abner McCall, a non-minister, head of Baylor University.

WACO (AP)—The massive, stoop-shouldered man sat in a visitor's chair in his own lime-green office. He sits loose-jointed like a cowboy relaxed in the saddle. Outside the window a youth and a co-ed strolled, their hands touching. Miles away, cars turned into Baylor Stadium parkway for the game. "There are certain fundamentals you must fight for," said the big man. "But you can refine them down as much as they did in the Middle Ages."

"Some of these theological arguments are of that nature."

NO STIRRING
"As far as I am concerned, I am not going to stir them up." The big man is Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University.

The Baptist General Convention of Texas had elected him president only hours before. Baptists would begin wondering at once about any president elected under present circumstances. The circumstances bring this question: Which side would the new president favor in the current theological dispute? The differences are between those believing in religious fundamentalism and those favoring a more moderate approach.

LITERALLY
It boils down still further to the question of whether the Bible should be accepted literally, word for word, or whether there is room for interpretation. Some Baptists debate the issue strongly. It has damaged some careers. One minister says it wrecked a Baptist seminary. The leader of the fundamentalists is Dr. Owen White, 61, the man McCall succeeded as Texas Baptist president. Dr. White is pastor of Houston's First Baptist Church and president of the Southern Baptist Convention. The Bible, says Dr. White, says what it means and means what it says. On the other side, a pastor of a major church in the South who declined use of his name said, "You know that is not right."

WHO IS HE?

When God's people were slaves in Egypt, Moses went to Pharaoh, the ruler of Egypt, and demanded their release in these words: "Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Let my people go." But Pharaoh challenged God's right to command him. He said, "Who is the Lord, that I should obey his voice?" Exodus 5:1, 2. God accepted Pharaoh's challenge; and in the ten plagues and the mighty deliverance of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage, God showed who He is and why He has the right to command all men. In the sermon this morning at 10:30, we shall see from this study, ten of the characteristics of God.

gray and started to thin a long time ago, although he is only 48. His face is square and calm. McCall has been a professor, law school dean, Texas Supreme Court Justice and now is president of Baylor. Is this ivory-tower man the one taking part in a Western-style shoot-out with a bank robber? It is. Is this the man that played blocking back on a strangely famous football team? It is. IN POLITICS He also has been active in turbulent Texas politics. He has been on the Waco School Board, and such jobs are not always easy. He fights loan sharks, takes part in many civic enterprises. "I am not taking sides," McCall said of the theological issue. "The people who supported me are not concerned with this. The layman is concerned with life. The average layman never gets involved in theology."

One insider said the election of a layman was deliberate in order to calm the differences. "Is that true?" "There may be some truth in it," said McCall. "Most people are moderates."

Although McCall says the average church member is not concerned directly, he said the differences could cause harm.

OFF BASE
"The (Baptist) movement is injured by them if they are off base... There is a danger of not being able to work together. Some make these beliefs a test of whether they can work with another person." "Nobody has to agree with me 100 per cent for me to work with them."

While Dr. White says any movement away from fundamentalism will sap the vitality of Baptist churches, other ministers agree with McCall that the discussion has little effect on church members. "I think it has no effect on our reaching people, except that it has gotten in the way by using up a lot of energy," said a leading minister.

OUTCOME
Baptists say some other reasons affected the outcome of the election. One: "I think it is an expression of a desire to magnify Christian education." A pastor: "I consider Dr. McCall one of the most solid men in his basic belief." "It is indicative of a groundswell of appreciation for Abner McCall," says another. Still another: The messengers thought it would break up any budding hierarchy. Because, also: "McCall has done such a magnificent job in the little time he has been at Baylor."

What has McCall done at Baylor that Baptists like? My sermon is, "Who is the Lord, that I should obey his voice?" Come!

Also come again tonight at 7, when the sermon shall be, "The Return of Christ." You are always welcome. We determine to preach nothing but Christ; and give Bible authority for all we ask you to believe and do.

Registration Open For New Nursing Class

Registration will open Monday for additional students in the next Vocational Nursing course to be offered at Howard County Junior College. Fourteen have signed for the course starting Dec. 2, but at least half a dozen more could be accommodated in the class, said Mrs. Johnnie Amos, R. N. instructor. Those interested should contact Mrs. Amos at AM 4-6311. Women between the ages of 17 and 50 who are citizens or have declared intention of becoming citizens, are eligible to apply for admission. They must be in good physical and mental health and of reputable character. Enrollment may follow a personal interview. Instruction for the one-year course is free, but there are items that must be financed by students. In the early stages of the class, almost all of the instruction will be academic and in the laboratory. Gradually, the lecture time will be reduced and practical on-the-job experience will take its place until at the end, most of the course will consist in actual practice. The course is offered through the college in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency under accreditation by the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners. Upon satisfactory completion, the student becomes an LVN—Licensed Vocational Nurse. Graduation of over a dozen members of the present class is scheduled for Dec. 6 at the college.

Third Change In West Leadership
WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson's succession to the presidency brought the third change in leadership among major Western powers in a little more than a month. On Oct. 16, aging Konrad Adenauer stepped down as chancellor of West Germany and was succeeded by Ludwig Erhard. On Oct. 19, ailing British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was succeeded by Sir Alec Douglas-Home.

ORPHAN'S HOME
McCall grew up in Masonic Home and School, an orphan's home, after his father died in 1917. The military turned him down in World War II for physical reasons and he turned to the FBI in seeking some form of national service. It was with the FBI that he staged the shoot-out with a bank robber in Utah. But it was a fellow posse member who felled the robber with a bullet—and fainted.

Death Sends Stock Market Skidding; Lull Predicted

NEW YORK (AP)—The assassination of President Kennedy on Friday shocked the business world to its roots. Whatever ill feeling may have remained between the President and business evaporated in an outpouring of grief. Only this week the President had sought to assure businessmen of the administration's friendship and to narrow the gulf that developed 18 months ago in the steel price crisis. News that Kennedy had been shot in Dallas sent stock market prices reeling downward. Stock exchanges closed immediately under pressure of an avalanche of trading. A LULL Some financial leaders expressed the opinion that the death of the President will have an immediate depressing effect on stock prices but that strong underlying factors will carry it through the critical period. A quick sampling of business leaders indicated that business may be in for a lull of several weeks as a result of Kennedy's death but that there will be no slump. Earlier, Wall Street was shaken by good and bad financial news. Spirits were raised in the Street and across the country when American Telephone & Telegraph Co. voted to split its common stock 2-for-1, raised the dividend and offered its 2.2 billion stockholders rights to buy 12.25 million shares of stock. AT&T, world's largest utility, will double the shares held by its biggest family of stockholders next June. It also will pass out an extra 10 cents in each quarterly dividend next year. Its stock offering will give stockholders the right to buy one new share for each 20 held on Feb. 18. Proceeds will help finance a record $3.25-billion construction program in 1964. The price of the commodities dropped sharply in the last week as a deal to sell wheat to the Soviet Union stalled in Congress. The wheat deal was considered a prelude to commodity sales. Analyzing the health of the economy, the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York commented that, "The current round of business expansion, now in its 33rd month, is putting on an impressive display of youthful pep."

MOMENTUM
"All of the broad economic indicators appear to be moving upward, not only assuring a good fourth-quarter gain in gross national product but hinting at considerable carryover momentum for early 1964," the bank said. The Commerce Department reported that personal income in October ran at an annual rate of $470.3 billion, up $3 billion from September. However, intentions to buy new cars, while up from a few months ago, weren't as ambitious as a year earlier. Steel production rose during the week for the fourth consecutive week, totaling 1,979,000 tons, a gain of 1.1 per cent from the previous week. A total of 26,862,771 shares of stock was sold on the New York Stock Exchange during the week compared with 22,664,551 the previous week. Bond sales totaled $31,919,000 par value compared with $40,711,000 the preceding week.

Postmasters' Session Pays Kennedy Tribute

National League of Postmasters for Territories 21-22 of Texas—an area comprising 73 West Texas counties—paid tribute to the memory of President Kennedy Saturday morning at the opening session of the league's convention here.

The Rev. V. Ward Jackson, pastor of the First Church of God, was on hand to deliver a prayer and the 44 delegates and their wives stood in silence to pay honor to martyred leader.

Attendance, leaders said, at the Big Spring meeting has been sharply curtailed by the slaying of the President.

"If this tragedy had not occurred, said Grady Martin, Silvertown, a vice president of the organization, "we would have had two times as large an attendance as we have today."

A large photograph of President Kennedy stood on the speaker's table at the Saturday morning session.

The meeting opened Friday afternoon. A social evening was held at the Hotel Settles, headquarters for the meeting, Friday night.

Argus Smith, Godley, president of the league, presided at the morning session and was a special speaker. The visitors were welcomed by George Zachariah, mayor of Big Spring, and Martin responded to the welcome. E. C. Boatler, Big Spring, postmaster, introduced special guests. An address by A. W. Pfanmiller, Amarillo, postal inspector marked the first session.

Saturday afternoon session was devoted to addresses by Dale Buckley, postal service officer, Fort Worth; Charles R. Downs, Terrell, executive vice president of the NLOP; A seminar was held on postal problems presided over by President Smith.

A banquet was served Saturday night. Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, was toastmaster; Entertainment was by the Martins from Silverton; Jimmy H. Smith, Lubbock and James B. Frazier, Big Spring.

A ball followed.

The Southwestern Fat Stock Show opens Jan. 24 and continues through Feb. 2. This is the show's 68th edition. Initial performance of the Fort Worth Rodeo will be at 8 p.m. Jan. 24.

Whittling Government Size Proves Difficult

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony heard by a congressional committee, and some observations by Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., point up the difficulty of trying to keep down the size and cost of the federal government.

Appearing before the House Public Works Committee, urging approval of a bill to authorize an additional $900 million in grants under the Accelerated Public Works program, were two men probably speaking the sentiment of many officials elected at the grass roots level.

They were Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh, Pa., representing the U. S. Conference of Mayors, and Mayor Aruth J. Holland of Trenton, N. J., testifying on behalf of the American Municipal Association.

HALF THE COST

Under the Accelerated Public Works program the federal government makes grants for approximately half the cost of such facilities as water and sewer improvements in communities which have high unemployment.

Congress to date has appropriated $850 million for the program, as compared with an authorization of $900 million. With exhaustion of the present funds in sight, legislation authorizing an additional $900 million was introduced.

"There is no question that this program has stimulated employment in a number of out distressed areas," said Barr.

REWARDING LABOR

"We are convinced that this is not 'make-work' in the pick-and-shovel tradition, but instead is the rewarding labor of making and reshaping our communities."

Holland, noting that his organization represents about 13,000 municipal governments, said: "Federal public works assistance in these communities can and will put men who are unemployed on productive jobs. The projects themselves are sound and needed locally, many times essential to economic recovery."

A Commerce Department official told the committee that 48 per cent, or $406 million of the $850 million appropriated by Congress, has been allocated for water and sewer facilities and 13 per cent, or $109 million, for hospitals and health facilities. The remainder went for road and street improvements, public buildings and soil and water conservation projects.

175 PROJECTS

The Department's data showed that of the national total of 8,000 projects sharing in the $850 million, Texas was allocated $23,890,000 for 175 projects, creating 35,061 man-months of on-site employment. As the witnesses were testifying, Burleson issued a report which noted that federal aid to the various states in 1962 totaled $10 billion.

"Some states fare better, but others considerably worse. The state of New York, for example, bore 13.54 per cent of federal taxes and received 7.10 per cent in grants under the several programs mentioned."

Observing that big industrial states and cities benefit more from some types of programs and federal contracts, while less densely populated states receive more on highway and farm programs, Burleson said: "State and local governments, pinched by their limited resources of revenue and tax problems look elsewhere for sources of funds. The 'elsewhere,' of course, is Washington."

"Where there is money, there is authority. Where this situation exists, there is centralized government," he said.

Future Teachers Collect Clothing For Patients

Some 25-30 bundles of good, used clothing were gathered this week by Big Spring members of the Future Teachers of America as the group polished off its annual project in fine style.

"We were very pleased with the results this year," Martha Glickman, chairman of the clothing drive, said. "A similar drive last year did not bring in nearly as much clothing."

The entire school participated in the effort and the work of FTA members was evident in the result. Assisting Miss Glickman on the committee spearheading the drive were Susan Stephens and Jane Womack. Teachers sponsoring the group are John Castleman and Helen Lidstone.

The group takes up a special project each year. The current effort was to gather clothing for use by patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. Delivery of the bundles will be made early next week, Miss Glickman said.

Wrap Up Clothing Drive

Future Teachers of America Friday ended a week-long drive to collect clothing for patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. Shown getting the clothing ready for transfer from the High School to the hospital are, left to right, Martha Glickman, chairman of the clothing drive, Jane Womack and Susan Stephens, who also served with Miss Glickman on the clothing committee.

D. L. MILNER, PARK MANAGER BURRELL CRAMER CHECK SCOUTS Front left, James Milner, Dwain Lawhon, John Walker clean up park

Wasted Resource May Be Reclaimed

By JOE MOSBY
Think of Big Spring's most wasted natural resource. It's a good bet that our State Park will be about the first item to come to mind.
For some two years the park has been in semi-retirement—closed at night, only slightly patronized in the daytime, attracting no improvements or building appropriations from the state level—and unadvertised.
The reason for this decline is well known. Vandalism, disregard of park improvements and after-dark hot-rodding reached such proportions that park manager Burrell Cramer asked for—and promptly received—permission to lock up the park at night. It was a case of 98 per cent of the populace having to suffer from the misconduct of a rambunctious two per cent.
APATHY
In addition, with the park shut down at night and its limited restroom and picnic facilities put virtually out of action by vandalism, the general public has been apathetic as far as the park is concerned.
True, many citizens drive visitors around the winding scenic drive in the daytime—but this doesn't compare to the now-prohibited night view of Big Spring.
Equally true, the park is open by appointment at night by Cramer for the use of Sunday school outings and the like. But Mr. Average Citizen apparently has little desire or tendency to make advance arrangements with the manager just to use a public property—then rouse him again to open the gate to get out.
But this decline of the Big Spring State Park could be coming to an end. The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce recently began an active study of the use and promotion of the park.

JERRY TSHAUNER
... regional park ranger
CLEANING UP
Cramer has met with several representatives of local civic and garden clubs to talk over the re-opening and improving the park. A Boy Scout troop spent a day on a cleaning operation on Scenic Mountain.
And now the regional park ranger for our area has laid the entire issue squarely on the line:
"Provide police patrols and we'll re-open the park at night immediately."
These were the words of Jerry Tshauner, the ranger in charge of Texas state parks for 90 counties of Region 1, stretching from the Panhandle to Big Bend and from San Angelo to El Paso.
Tshauner is a former Odessa High footballer and graduate of Texas Tech. He's headquartered at Palo Duro State Park now but expects to be moved nearer the center of his big territory soon—probably somewhere in this general area.
Tshauner is enthusiastic over the potentials of Big Spring State Park. He points out its easy accessibility to a large population and also to the travelers of Interstate 20.

The regional ranger has already sent in a request to Austin headquarters for funds to build modern, efficient and ample restroom facilities on the mountaintop.
PROTECTION
However, it all hinges on police protection.
Lack of availability of law enforcement was the prime reason the park was closed at night two years ago, Cramer pointed out.
The area is something of a step-child, police-wise. It is surrounded by the City of Big Spring but is not inside the city limits, so city police technically cannot patrol it. Howard County does not maintain enough round-the-clock sheriff's patrols to help. State Highway Patrolmen have more than enough duties on the heavily traveled state and federal highways in the county, so they can not spare the men or time to work the park.
The solution won't be easy.
SHORTEST ROUTE
Shortest route to the law enforcement goal, the park people and other observers feel, is arrangements for city police patrol of the park. And it isn't a new issue—Lubbock city police cover McKenzie State Park at Lubbock.
Probably most important, regardless of the steps to be taken, is the fact that a number of Big Springers are taking a new, fresh look at the State Park. And they are looking for the proper course of action to put it back in full-time operation as a prime asset to this area.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Local Aircraft Activity Reported Low Last Week

By M. A. WEBB
All commercial airline flights out of Dallas Love Field were cancelled until further notice at 2:30 p.m. Friday, following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. The radio report came to Trans-Texas Airways office at Howard County Airport.
Aircraft movement in and out of the airport was slow the past week. Ted McClung, manager, said Friday afternoon. The morning weather had a lot to do with flying or not flying.
David Braun of Webb Aero Club took his examination and received his license during the week. Otherwise both the Webb Aero and the Big Spring Flying Club members have done little flying.
Dr. P. W. Malone flew to Fort Worth's Southwest International Airport Friday. He was to look over items needed for the enlargement program at Malone and Hogan Hospital. Fred Kasch also flew to the same airport on a business trip.
"We had a few halitones out here last night as the front moved in," McClung said. "We were trying to get all aircraft inside before the wind struck, but didn't quite make it. There was no damage, however."
McClung said plans were in the making for an approach control, or traffic advisory, radar station at Webb Air Force Base. The control could handle traffic for the military and the civilian bases, he said. There is also, in the planning stage, a better radio frequency setup for talking to the base.

"If it can be worked out, a transmitter and receiver will be placed at Howard County Airport. We have needed it for a long time," he said. "It would mean that we could talk to the Webb control station from the ground and know what is in the air."
A new Piper Cherokee, for show purposes, will be at Howard County Airport next Saturday, the manager said. "We hope we can have it for a couple of days at least. Those who have flown the new aircraft say it is a wonderful airplane and easily handled."
Trans-Texas Airways agents say traffic on the new Big Spring schedules has surpassed expectations. Passengers are boarding flights in all directions about equally, and boardings are steadily increasing. The office was a busy place Friday afternoon.
Texas ranks second among the states in the number of aircraft owned by individuals and businesses. California, with 11,

Paving Plan Proceeding At Stanton

STANTON — The City Council of Stanton has accepted 112 paving units under its bond program for better streets. Most of the units are full blocks, but a small percentage of them are half-blocks, Harvey White, city secretary, said. Thirty-three units are under construction in the last contract and will soon be finished. Future work, probably next spring, will be done on 19 more full blocks.
H. E. Counts and Co., Midland, has done the work already contracted for, including that now under way.
"The total of 164 units was called for in the bond election held two years ago," White said. "Citizens voted $300,000 for street improvement and $30,000 for water line improvement and extensions."
"Water lines have been run ahead of the paving program as needed," he said. "Some old two-inch lines have been replaced, some two- and four-inch lines, and a few extra fireplugs added. Crews are making taps across streets, where future need may arise, to prevent cutting pavement after it is laid. The remainder of the work will be done as needed."

Click Requests Zone Variance

A variance request for an addition to a building will be considered by the zoning board of adjustment at a meeting set for 4 p.m. Dec. 5 at City Hall.
K. L. Click has requested he be allowed a setback of seven feet, six inches from an alley opposite an addition to a business building at 302-306 E. 9th. Owners of property located within 200 feet of the affected property have been notified of the request and may state their opinions of the request at the public hearing.

Choir Boosters To Aid Activities

Young vocalists now have their backers.

It is the Big Spring Choir Boosters, a new organization with Lester Morton as its president.

The group was organized last week and named officers Friday. While it has a nominal membership fee ($1), it is not a fund-raising organization.

The initial meeting has been called for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the high school, and consideration will be given to furnishing jackets to senior members of the high school choir at the beginning of each year.

Other officers named were Ted James, first vice president; Mrs. C. A. Horton, second vice president; Mrs. Ida Whyte, third vice president; Mrs. B. J.

Owen, secretary; Mrs. Nelda Calcilazer, treasurer; Mrs. Keats Watts, Mrs. Roy Watkins, John Smith, trustees.

On the membership committee are Mrs. Lucille Knowland, Mrs. T. C. Maclin and Mrs. O. S. Womack; on the advertisement committee, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Joe Bello.

Membership is open to parents of pupils in choral music organizations and to any adults interested in furthering the program.

Cactus Jack Badly Upset

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — John Nance Garner, the former vice president who may have been the last man to talk on the telephone with President Kennedy, was badly shaken by the news of Kennedy's assassination.

"He took a nap after lunch and they didn't wake him up," Garner's son, Tully, said. "They told him about 3 p.m. when he got up and it shook him so bad he went back to bed."

Kennedy called Garner at 10:15 a.m. Friday to congratulate Garner on his 95th birthday. Kennedy was in Fort Worth at the time.

About an hour later Kennedy flew to Dallas for the motorcade that ended when the President was shot in the head.

"God bless you," Garner told Kennedy during the conversation.

"You're my President and I love you. I hope you stay in there forever. God bless you."

"He was very happy to talk to the President," Garner's son said. "He was very saddened by his death."

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—King Baudouin of the Belgians will attend President John F. Kennedy's funeral in Washington Monday, the royal palace announced Saturday.

Reveille II In Eleventh Year As Aggie Mascot

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — In these days when colleges double-lock their mascots' doors to thwart "kidnappers," the top dog at Texas A&M sleeps soundly.

Reveille II, a Shetland shepherd, came to Aggieland in 1952, the gift of Arthur Weinert of Seguin, a 1900 Aggie graduate. For 11 years she's been chief dog at A&M and has violated most if not all the university rules.

freshmen call the tan and white pooch, lives with Co. E-2, formerly a Quartermaster Corps unit. Her keeper, Andrew Salge of Skidmore, is called "mascot corporal of the corps" but the dog really has 72 guards.

The entire company chapters the co-ed canine when she leaves her "penthouse" on the fourth floor of E-2's dormitory. The unit's commander, cadet Capt. Craig Abbott of San Antonio, said at least two students stand watch with Rev on a 24-hour schedule.

Reveille I died in 1944 and was buried with military honors. Her grave lies at the entrance to Kyle Field so she can see the scoreboard and watch the Aggies win, the students say.

Reveille II has complete freedom on the campus. She seldom eats in a university dining hall but marches to each meal with "her" unit.

Pitt Gardner Dies At 71

Pitt Gardner, 71, long-time resident of Big Spring prior to and immediately after World War I, died Friday about noon at Tucson, Ariz. He was the brother of Mrs. V. A. Merrick, 1102 Scurry.

Mr. Gardner came to Big Spring in 1907 and was employed here by the Post Office department. He was one of the members of Company D, 117th Supply Train, 42nd Division, which served from Big Spring in World War I. He left here in 1924 on transfer by the Post Office to Tucson. Mr. Gardner was retired at the time of his death.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Other survivors include four other sisters, Mrs. W. C. Norman, Fort Worth, Mrs. R. G. Moran, Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Spud Gardner, Eugene, Ore., and Mrs. Pat Gomez, Tucson; and two brothers, Loveless Gardner, Tucson, and Lloyd Gardner, Lakeside, Ariz.

Pope Prays For Kennedy

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI prayed today for President Kennedy, gave him absolution, and expressed the "prayerful wishes that his death may not hinder the cause of world peace."

The death of Mr. Kennedy, the first Roman Catholic to reach the White House, plunged this tiny city-state into deep mourning.

Its yellow and white banners were flown at half-staff, the first time that has been done for a chief of state other than a Pope.

Pope Paul dedicated his morning Mass to Kennedy and then, in an unusual action, asked that the U.S. President also be remembered in a memorial Mass in St. Peter's for prelates who have died in the past year.

The memorial Mass is conducted annually, and Vatican sources could not recall a previous occasion when a person who was not a prelate was also commemorated.

Pope Paul attended the service, which was scheduled long ago, and gave absolution over a symbolic coffin. The absolution was for all commemorated in the Mass — prelates and Kennedy.

Cap Rock Near Mark

Cap Rock Electric Cooperative pulled a bit nearer last year's power deliveries through October, but with the end of the growing season it is unlikely the difference will be wiped out.

Deliveries amounted to 4,264,999 KWH during October, compared with 3,572,463 for the same month last year. Total for 10 months of 1963 was 67,387,145 KWH, whereas the same period last year it was 71,407,914. Heavy rains in May and June, a normally heavy month for irrigation pumping, cut this year's demands.

At the end of October there were 2,409 miles energized, a gain of 10 for the month and 55 more than a year ago. There were 5,462 members connected, a gain of 38 for the month and 396 more than at the same time last year.

No Comics For Dallas Paper

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald published its Saturday afternoon edition without comics.

A spokesman said that out of respect to President Kennedy, the newspaper will publish no comics until after the funeral.

Tragic Flash Stuns World

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tragic flash from Dallas reverberated around the world like a clap of thunder: The young vigorous President of the United States was dead at the hands of an assassin, and everywhere the great and the lowly mourned John F. Kennedy's passing.

The death of the President gave way to tears and then to universal heartache for Jacqueline Kennedy and her two young children. Rich and poor, black and white, shuddered and were bewildered.

Messages of condolence poured into the White House from presidents, premiers and crowned heads. Churches filled with people come to pray and sob. "This is a sad time for all people," the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, told the nation on his return to Washington. "We have suffered a loss that cannot be weighed."

During the early morning hours in Moscow, Premier Khrushchev dressed in black, drove to the U.S. Embassy to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of the President. Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, sent telegrams of condolences to Mrs. Kennedy.

AS BROTHER In New Haven, Conn., a citizen said with a catch in his voice: "I felt as if he was my brother. But he was more than that — he was our President."

Washington was struck as if by a bombshell. The government stopped dead in its tracks. Crowds gathered outside the iron picket fence in front of the White House, staring silently at the President's home long after night fell. Telephone service was paralyzed for a time and flags — foreign banners at embassies as well as the Stars and Stripes — were lowered to half staff.

Pubs in London and cafes in Paris fell silent. In Moscow a Russian girl walked weeping along the street in Vatican City Pope Paul VI prayed for the soul of the dead President.

Scars of past political strife were forgotten as old foes joined with old allies and the three living former presidents in a unity of grief.

Richard M. Nixon, who lost the presidency to Kennedy in 1960 in a razor-thin race, said in New York: "The assassination of the President is a terrible tragedy for the nation. Mrs. Nixon and I have sent a personal message expressing our deepest sympathy to the members of the family in this hour of sorrow."

Police arrested Lee Harvey Oswald in a nearby theatre and charged him with Tippett's murder and Kennedy's assassination. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Khrushchev Conveys Deep Sadness In Moscow Call

MOSCOW (AP)—Dressed in black, Premier Khrushchev drove to the U.S. Embassy today to personally convey his "deep sadness" on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The Soviet premier, accompanied by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, visited the embassy shortly after sending a telegram to President Johnson.

"The death of President Kennedy is a heavy blow to all people who cherish the cause of peace and Soviet-American cooperation," it said.

The telegram said the "heinous assassination of Kennedy" came at a time when there appeared signs of relaxation of international tension and a prospect has opened for improving relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, also sent telegrams to Mrs. Kennedy expressing their condolences at Kennedy's death.

The Soviet premier signed a book that was placed in a hall of the embassy residence by Ambassador Fov D. Kohler for condolence signing by diplomats. He then entered the embassy for a brief conversation with Kohler.

Tiny Diane Carreno Ready To Launch Life At Home

By SAM BLACKBURN
Copper Hospital and Clinic's oldest "young" patient was discharged from the hospital Saturday and is now at her home.

And the nurses and staff of the institution are sad that the patient has left them. It isn't they are not pleased she is now over the hump and on her way to grow up into a normal young lady. It is simply that after three months she has become the pet of the whole crew from the janitor to the chief of staff and her tiny crib, now vacant, makes her friends sigh as they pass by on their duty rounds.

The patient is Diane Carreno. You remember, Diane? "You remember, Diane?" you—the tiny mite of a baby who arrived three months ahead of schedule and made her debut into this difficult world weighing only one pound and 15 ounces.

Every one shook doleful heads about Diane on Sept. 23 and for several days afterward. She was in the incubator in the nursery but there were scores of cases where tiny tots like her had been unable to win the first hurdle in their fight for life.

"If she makes it for a few weeks," said one physician, "she'll have a fighting chance."

DEAR ABBY
Music For Weddings

DEAR ABBY: I was delighted that someone finally brought to light the fact that improper music is being played at so many weddings. In the Protestant Episcopal Church, secular music is not permitted in the marriage liturgy as it is a religious rite. I personally have dissuaded couples from using Lohengrin's "Procession" because it is from an opera involving a heathen magician, and that marriage was a failure. The other, "The Recessional," is unacceptable because it is from another fantasy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," in which a lovely young girl is married to an ass-headed individual. No publicity, please. I am a clergyman.

DEAR ABBY: I had a neighbor who was a perfect gentleman. I met him quite by accident when a package was delivered to my back door instead of to his, and I took it over there. When I saw him I was so overwhelmed with emotion I had to hold on to the door to keep from falling over. He was the living image of my "dream man"—an image I had locked in my heart and mind for over 40 years. He must have noticed my heart on my sleeve, and cared a little, too, because he asked me if I wanted a glass of water. I never encouraged him, but we met at the village shopping center several times after that. We always exchanged warm greetings. Suddenly he moved! He didn't even say goodbye. I wonder if perhaps he lost interest in me because I had a WITH NIXON flag in my window. Would it be too forward of me to ask at the Post Office if he left a forwarding address? I'd like to send him a Christmas card.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend whom I like very much, but she has two spoiled children and she takes them with her wherever she goes. They are so impossible with their constant whining and nagging that I simply cannot stand them! How can I get this point over to her without losing her friendship? We get along wonderfully well when she leaves them home.

Wedding Bells Hit Induction Quotas

By SAM BLACKBURN
One of the more plaintive ditties of a few decades ago related "those wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of mine."

Today, Selective Service Board members and their staffs are singing a paraphrased version. "Those wedding bells," so their version goes, "are playing heck with our quotas for military induction."

Consider the office of the Howard County Selective Service Board in Big Spring. The November call for inductees made on the local office, which serves three counties, was for 20 men.

SIX SHORT
"We'll be at least six short of 20," mournfully reports Mrs. Louise Nuckolls, chief clerk. "We send out notices to inductees whose numbers are up for acceptance in the armed forces and what do we get back?"

TURN DOWNS
"They will turn down at least half of the 35 after the medical check," predicts Mrs. Nuckolls. "What's left will be put on the list and when their numbers come up, they will march in and hand us copies of a marriage license. All we can do is thank them and strike their names off the list."

Mr. Nuckolls hopes to send off eight of the month's inductees to Abilene Nov. 26. Then she'll send the other six of the apparently available 14 on the following day. "What if some of these turn up married before Nov. 26?" she was asked. The clerk admitted there is nothing the board could do about it. However, it is not anticipated there will be any such marriages between now and Nov. 26.

Also scheduled to make the bus ride to Abilene Nov. 26 will be the 35 men who are up for their medical examinations. Mrs. Nuckolls thinks these will be ready to go.

APPREHENSION
Meantime, she looks with considerable apprehension to the future. What will probably happen, it was reiterated, was that at least half of the 35 will be rejected by the examiners (the standards are now so high that only a relatively few can make the grade.) Those accepted will go on home.

About the time they get their notices they are to be inducted, one skeptical draft board official observed. Most of them will get married. Those who do not get married will enroll in school.

In addition to posing a problem for draft board clerks who have quotas to meet, the executive order is creating another problem for parents of boys in the draft age, and some experts believe, a problem for society in general.

The getting married routine looks like an easy out to avoid military duty. Therefore, hundreds of young couples are rashly rushing into wedlock. Many parents are bitterly signing permits for youngsters under legal age to marry.

A GUESS
Students of social problems wonder what this will bring about. One made a guess: "More dependent children on the public welfare rolls; more young couples in court getting divorces; more boys and girls who should be finishing school listed as drop outs and more heartaches and worries for more parents."

Tragedy May Pull Texas Demos Closer Together

AUSTIN (AP)—The tragedy of President Kennedy's death in Dallas may draw feuding Texas Democrats closer together. This had been one goal of the President in making his fateful trip to a state he needed desperately to carry next year in his foreseen bid for re-election. Time will tell. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., acknowledged leader of the state's liberal Democrats, said Saturday that had Kennedy lived a few hours longer he would have been able to see complete harmony among Texas Democrats. Yarborough pointed out that he and Johnson rode together in Dallas when the shooting began. At San Antonio and Houston, Yarborough disregarded his assigned seat in a motorcade car with Johnson. They rode in separate cars. "I pledge to you my support in Texas and the nation," Yarborough said in a message to President Johnson. The new President and Yarborough have been at odds for several years over distribution of federal patronage in Texas. A few months ago, Yarborough, after he did not receive a choice Senate committee appointment, told a state AFL-CIO convention that "a power mad Texas politician" is trying to run the Senate. He named no one. Gov. John Connally, wounded by the assassin, also has had troubles with liberal Democrats. The faction opposed Connally's bid for the governorship. Recently, Albert Pena, leader of a Latin-American element of the liberal Democrats, crossed swords with Connally over support of a proposed elimination of the poll tax as a voting requirement. Each said the other was doing more harm than good. The proposed amendment was defeated decisively. Without question, Texas Republicans have counted on dissension among Democratic ranks to help GOP chances. Democratic harmony, actual or controlled, could defeat the rapidly-rising Texas Republican party which still must rely on considerable support from conservative Democrats. On a national level, Kennedy generally was considered a liberal and Johnson a conservative Democrat. However, in his home state Johnson has preferred to be called a "moderate," drawing support from both liberal and conservative factions. Johnson has had considerable support in Texas in the past from labor and from racial groups.

Moisture Still Short In State

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Widespread rain was welcomed by Texas farmers and stockmen alike. In most instances, rains were insufficient to provide a runoff to fill dry stock tanks and were too late to help the ranges in many areas, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Grains which were up and those which had been dry planted will be helped but more rain is needed to keep them coming, he added. The moisture will also permit long-delayed planting of small grains and flax. District farm agents emphasized the spotted conditions. Moisture over the Panhandle was short to very short and a general rain is needed on wheat. From 25 to 35 per cent of the cotton is harvested. A hard freeze would speed harvesting. Grain sorghum harvesting is complete and yields have been well above average. Livestock conditions vary from fair to good. Some cattle are moving onto wheat and some off. The South Plains got its first killing frost and general rains averaging close to an inch. That slowed harvesting but the cotton and castorbean harvests will be in high gear when fields and crops dry out. Moisture was welcomed in the Rolling Plains but some wheat is being grazed. Seeding is going on. Livestock are being fed and water hauled. North Central Texas got too little rain to relieve the drought. About 85 per cent of the small grain acreage was seeded and farmers hoped for enough moisture to germinate seed and to keep the plants growing. Heavy seeding was necessary. Rain was general over Northeast Texas and will help, but more is needed. All crops have been harvested. The pecan harvest is under way. Pastures are below average; cattle are losing weight and are being fed, and marketing is heavy. Far West Texas needs a good general rain. Livestock were in fair to good shape. Feeding was beginning in the Edwards Plateau area. The cotton harvest is on and the sorghum harvest is about over. Hunters were out in large numbers and doing fine with deer and turkeys. Rains improved the southern half of West Central Texas. The San Angelo section was still dry and the stock water situation critical in many localities. Heavy culling and marketing of breeding stock was on; livestock were in fair condition; but feeding was increasing. Ranchmen were burning prickly pear. The pecan crop is lighter than expected. Moisture in Central Texas was very short in the east and adequate to short in the west. Progress of small grains varied with the rain. Grazing is very short. Soil moisture is very short in East Texas where ranges are below average and larger numbers of livestock than usual are going to market. Feeding is helping hold livestock in fair condition. Most of Southeast Texas and the upper Gulf Coast got rains that will help planted pastures but was too late to benefit native pastures much. Much feeding seems likely. Rains in South Central Texas were generally light and spotted and the general range situation is critical. More rain and warm weather is needed for grass and weed growth. Armyworms are heavily damaging ranges in many areas. Flax and grain seeding were in full swing. The movement of vegetables is heavy. Moisture in far South Texas was short to very short in all but three counties. Flax is being planted in the Coastal Bend area. Cucumbers, egg plants, cabbages, peppers and cantaloupes are being harvested in the Winter Garden. The peanut harvest is on. Cattle are in fair condition. Ranges are average to below in condition.

Military Regimes Become Unpopular

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Under criticism from the United States and from Democratic leaders in Latin America, military regimes have grown so unpopular that hardly anyone south of the Rio Grande says a word in their defense. This is even true of the four men who compose the junta ruling Ecuador. "We do not believe that such rule is necessary," says Rear Adm. Ramon Castro Jijon, "but sometimes it is inevitable." The other three members of the junta—two generals and an Air Force Colonel—agree. Jointly they argue that when they deposed the constitutional president at gunpoint July 11 they were compelled to act by a breakdown of civilian administration.

EMBARRASSED The ousted leader Carlos Julio Rossemena Monroy, had been a hard-drinking president whose behavior on official occasions embarrassed the nation. Businessmen were losing confidence and taking their money to foreign lands. Civilian political parties were divided and confused. The Communist party was legal, and Red terrorism was beginning to break out. The armed forces, says Castro, had an "obligation to safeguard the national honor" and rescue the country from chaos. Popular or not, this doctrine of an overriding duty to protect the nation from collapsing civilian leadership seems universal among Latin military leaders. It now appears to be more restrained in action, but it is too traditional to be quickly or easily removed.

INTENTIONS The junta in Ecuador, obviously sensitive to the danger that it could lose popularity, has made unusual efforts to demonstrate democratic intentions. In an interview, the four officers vowed they would return the government to civilian control through elections when they have instituted reforms to "make democracy work." They also said their reform programs would be submitted to a national referendum.

They declined to estimate how long they would require to impose their reforms and therefore how long they would consider it necessary to rule. While they refused to defend military dictatorship as a way of governing, Castro and his three colleagues did argue that armed authoritarian rule may produce results which a incompetent or irresponsible democratic administration cannot. In effect the junta raised the issue of the ability of a democracy to function effectively under all conditions in an underdeveloped, half-illiterate country like Ecuador.

Texas Tour Discouraged

AUSTIN (AP)—Two state and party officials tried to persuade President Kennedy not to make his Texas tour, particularly to Dallas. "I had a premonition something would happen," said Democratic Committeeman Byron Skelton told the Austin American-Statesman. "I wrote a letter on Nov. 4 to the attorney general (Robert Kennedy) urging that the President not go to Dallas and again to Walter Jenkins in the vice president's office, urging that he not go. "Last week I was in Washington and I told the people in national committee headquarters I wished he wouldn't go to Dallas. I just didn't think the atmosphere was good there and I didn't think the President ought to go."

A source close to the governor's office, who asked not to be quoted by name, said it is possible Gov. John Connally tried to talk the President out of coming to Texas when Connally made a special trip to Washington.

Death Claims Aldous Huxley

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Author scholar Aldous Huxley, 69, the literary member of one of the world's foremost scientific families, died of cancer Friday night at his Hollywood home.

"Private services may already have been conducted," said a brief announcement from a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Judith Huxley.

Huxley's physician, Dr. Max Cutler, said he had been ill for about three years of cancer of the mouth, which had extended.

The British-born titan of letters had made his home in California since 1937.

The forthright author, who blazed a wide path through the world of letters in the 1920s and '30s, had a life-long pastime: Taking man apart to see what makes him tick.

His best known work was "Brave New World," which sold nearly a million copies since its publication in 1932.

Huxley wrote more than 40 books, including a dozen novels. Of these, "Point Counter-Point," "Eyeless in Gaza" and "After Many a Summer Dies the Swan" were widely acclaimed and read.

Huxley leaves his widow, Laura Archera Huxley, a son, Matthew, Washington, D.C., and two grandchildren, Trevenen and Teresa Huxley. Also surviving are the brother, Sir Julian and two half brothers, David and Andrew of London.

For Merkel, the game was a replica of a happy season — a shutout. The Badgers went into the contest with an impressive 8-1-1 record — seven of those victories coming on shutout.

Then a race against the clock developed with the Badgers winning out and scoring their last touchdown of the night with only 40 seconds remaining in the first half. The TD was set up by an interception by Reynolds on the 50 which he returned to the 34. The ball moved to the 19 for a piling on penalty and three plays later Tittle went over right guard from two yards out for the six-pointer. The extra-point run failed.

Arkansas Porkers Outlast Raiders

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas wrapped a break-even football season Saturday by edging Texas Tech in a Southwest Conference game, 27-26. The Arkansas jumped into the front with three touchdowns, one on an 80-yard punt return by Kenny Hatfield before the Texas Tech Red Raiders hit paydirt. But then the Raiders unleashed a two-touchdown aerial blast engineered by quarterback Ben Elledge, who scored their third touchdown on a short run.

Jack Brasuell, sophomore running sensation, broke loose for a 34-yard off tackle sprint early in the second quarter after Bobby Nix scored first for the Arkansas Razorbacks near the end of the first period from one yard out after quarterback Fred Marshall had set it up with runs of 22 yards, topped by his 12-yard pass to end Jerry Lamb.

Then suddenly it was Elledge's show. First he executed a 17-yard touchdown pass to end Tommy Doyle. Four minutes later he fired a 40-yard scoring heave to end David Parks.

Before Arkansas could find itself, the Raiders tied it up with Elledge's one-yard sneak, which climaxed a 76-yard march with Donny Anderson and fullback Jim Zanoni contributing most of the yardage with hard up-the-middle running.

Parks speared four passes for 80 yards Saturday and set a new Tech season record for passing yardage by an individual. His season total was 499 yards, breaking Robert (Bake) Turner's 1959 mark. Anderson also set a new mark for kickoff returns with 448 yards against 348 set by Don Lewis in 1952.

The victory gave Arkansas an even break for its 10-game season, but it was the Razorback's poorest showing under Coach Frank Broyles since his first one here six years ago. In the conference, he finished with three victories against four defeats.

Less than 10 minutes were left when Arkansas pulled Saturday's game out of a deadlock. Bobby Reynolds, with consistent ground gains, sparked Gray's aerial display on the 85-yard trip which ended with Gray's 24-yard touchdown run and victory.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Osito (Little Bear) Peralta, the Mexican boxer now fighting under the banner of Martin County's Melton McMorries, has been OK'd for an "under ten" bout Dec. 3 in a Juarez ring, perhaps against Rudolph "Chivo" Diaz.

Diaz beat Marvin Carter and once took out Don Jordan, the former world's champion. Peralta was the 1960 National Amateur champion in Mexico and beat Rogelio Reyes twice, after Reyes had won renown in the 1960 Olympic Games. Promoter Paul Clinite of El Paso is also seeking an opponent for Peralta for a Dec. 11 card in his city. As a pro, Peralta has won 15 of 16 starts, losing the other due to a cut over his eye. McMorries will film the Dec. 11 main event in El Paso for use in the Armed Forces by Charley Scott, who has fought in nationally televised fights several times, can be lined up as one of the contestants. McMorries says he intends to keep Peralta busy for a while to see if he has the class for a front-runner and hopes to have him train and travel with the veteran, battle-wise Gaspar Ortega. Incidentally, Sugar Ray Robinson, who Clinite had hoped to book into El Paso, recently battled to a ten-round draw in Lyon, France, against little known Fabio Bettini of Italy and has about reached the end of the line. Ringsiders thought the decision was charitable to Robinson. Bettini fights only occasionally, makes his living fitting central heating. The paid attendance for that recent Goliad-Runnels football night here was 1,318, in case you're interested. It was estimated that more than 3,000 people were in the stands. Don Cracker of the school business office here is working on a chart which shows that Big Spring fans follow their team on road games in far greater numbers than any other school in the district. Fact is, Big Spring has become the best drawing city in the conference, on a per capita basis.

Irons Outstanding Against Tech

L. L. (Red) Lewis, track coach at HJC, is one of the leading candidates for Texas Junior College Coach of the Year honors again this year. Lewis coached the Jayhawks to their third straight national championship last spring. Red won the award two years ago and should have repeated last year. Jack Irons of Big Spring, they say, played a terrific game on defense for Texas Western against Texas Tech. Tech's highly touted Donny Anderson made fewer yards rushing against the Miners than he did against the University of Texas. Big Spring's Dexter Pate injured his leg in the Tech game but was due to play again this weekend against Wyoming. Incidentally, Texas Western is supposed to have its finest freshman team ever. The TWC frosh lost to Arizona, 13-7, but won over NMMI, 20-9 and New Mexico University, 41-28. Buster Barnes of Big Spring is a starter on the TWC freshman unit. TWC's Miners played before crowds averaging 17,813 paid in their first eight games this season. Ebony magazine reports that professional football has given Negroes more "job opportunities" than any other sport. Out of 518 active players in the NFL, an even 100 are Negroes. Payton Jordan, the Olympic coach, says Mexico City's high altitude will make for better times in some of the shorter races in the 1968 games. Greatest strain, he suggests, will be on soccer and basketball players.

Steers Had An Outstanding Season

Any way you care to look at it, the Big Spring Steers had a wonderful season in football. Picked to wind up in the 2-AAAA cellar, the Longhorns won eight of ten starts and finished in a tie for second place in the standings, marking the second straight year they have wound up that high. A matter of inches may have kept them out of first place, because that's how far they missed a first down deep in Odessa territory on a drive that could have produced the winning touchdown. For the third straight year, they have won over half their conference games. And, to add frosting to the cake, they beat three district champions—Wichita Falls, Snyder and San Angelo. Wichita Falls was No. 8 in the state when the Longhorns clobbered the Coyotes, San Angelo was No. One. Many regard the success over Wichita Falls as the highlight of the campaign but I rank it third behind the wins over San Angelo and Permian. Late in the game Friday night, coach Emory Bellard of San Angelo was walking the sidelines, lines of deep concern etching his face. He kept repeating: "What can I do? What can I do?" The biggest thing to come out of the game, perhaps, was the proof that the local boys can win the big ones—proof they offered to themselves and to succeeding Steer teams. L. N. Jones of

Eagles Outscore Christoval, 77-51

CHRISTOVAL — The McCauley Eagles outscored Christoval Friday night in a bi-district six-man football game and went on to win by a mammoth 77-51 score.

Bobby Menchaca and Gary Bivens each contributed 18 points each for the losers with Philip Montalvo adding eight and Joe Garcia seven. McCauley led 35-19 at half-time before pouring in 30 points in the closing quarter. McCauley 18 17 12 30—77

Bon Fire Called Off By Aggies

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Texas A&M cancelled Saturday its traditional bonfire before the Aggie-Texas football game Thursday in tribute to President Kennedy. Work had started on the massive project. The 75-foot structure, built of 30-foot logs stacked end to end. It was to be touched off Wednesday night.

Jaybird Flies The Coop

In the Jayton-Forsan bi-district contest Friday night in Jayton, end runs were at a minimum as both teams showed heads-up defenses that turned in most sweeps. But in this third quarter action, quarterback Kenny

Favored Jaybirds Trounce Bisons

By PAT WASHBURN

JAYTON — For head coach Sonny Arthur and the Jaybirds, winning comes as a tradition—not as an accident. Friday night's bi-district contest with Forsan in Jayton was just another good example. Jayton went into the game highly favored and emerged with an easy 44-16 victory as they calmly went about the task of annihilating a fine Buffalo team that, some people had dared give a chance.

The Jaybirds had journeyed to Forsan earlier in the fall and administered a crushing 50-20 defeat. Friday night's bi-district game was just the same story, second verse as the cocky and confident Jaybirds cruised to their 11th season victory without a defeat.

Again the Jayton backfield, led by William Smith, was sensational. Smith scored twice, Billy Stanaland tallied twice, Kenny Judy went into paydirt once, and end Eddie Morales took an aerial for another score.

Once Smith got past the line of scrimmage, he could seem-ingly do nothing wrong. Although he weighed only 140, he was easily the fastest man on the field, and coupled with an amazing sense of balance, he literally tore the Bisons apart. His touchdown runs of 43 and 39 yards combined with numerous other large scampers prompted one Forsan coach to admit, "He picks his holes better than almost any other runner I've ever seen."

End Of The Line

The Forsan Buffaloes had trouble moving the ball Friday night in a bi-district contest with Jayton in the Jaybirds' lair, and Bison quarterback Ray McKinnon (10) was no exception. In this early third quarter action, he tried right end, found the way blocked and cut back to right tackle just in time to meet two sticky-fingered Jayton defensive stalwarts — Kenny Judy (48) and Alan Dunlap (31). There was no gain on the play. Jayton came out on top, 44-16. (Photo by Pat Washburn)

Texas will start out as the top favorite to repeat as champion and to gain a high national ranking. SMU, Rice and A&M are considered chief threats.

Strong Running Game Is Difference In Vol Win

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Tennessee displayed a strong running attack, setting up three touchdown passes, to defeat Kentucky, 19-0, in a Southeastern Conference football game Saturday.

Hard-running by Mallon Faircloth, Hal Wantland, Stan Mitchell and Pat Canine set up the touchdowns. Wantland passed four yards to Bob Petrella for the Vols' first score in the opening period and tossed 17 yards to Billy Tomlinson for the third touchdown. Faircloth passed 26 yards to Buddy Fisher for the second Vol score.

The heavier Tennessee line opened gaping holes for the Vols, running from the single wing. Tennessee kept to its ground attack until it moved close to the Kentucky goal, then opened the Kentucky defense with passes.

The Vol defense put a strong rush on Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton, intercepting three of his passes and forcing him to throw off balance. Kentucky's offense was never able to get started.

The biggest horse — the District 2-AAAA championship — escaped last week but the Big Spring Steers locked the door here Friday night on one of their most successful football seasons in history.

It was never better. The locals organized tongs that generally gave Fierro all the time he needed for his bombs and the blockers ranged far afield to cut down the enemy when their ball carriers took the notion to run the ball.

A screen pass to Rey Navarette and a nifty 13-yard aerial to Joe Jauré kept the Big Spring drive alive.

Prospects Looking Up For Longhorn Cagers

By PAT WASHBURN

Big Spring boosters, it's high time you started picking a few four leaf clovers and chanting some prayers to the almighty gods—coach Dellor Pox and his luckless hardwoods crew have arrived on the scene. But this year's basketball campaign should be better than last year's.

In 1962-63, the Steers had a lackluster 13-14 record that included game after game being lost by small margins. A true coach's nightmare.

"Oh yeah. We'll have a much better team this year," Pox said smiling. "We lost eight district ball games last season by four points or less. We sat down and figured it out on paper and if we had just scored 36 more points, we would have tied San Angelo for the district title instead of finishing last."

But no crying towels, please. Pox just isn't the type. After all, it's still a new season and so far Big Spring remains in first place in the district—of course, you're supposed to overlook the fact that they haven't played any games, yet.

PROMISING

The Bovines look promising. All five starters are seniors with good experience in last year's action. In bench strength, the Steers have two fine prospects, one a senior and the other a sophomore, who make up for whatever else they lack by showing tremendous hustle. If the locals jell, as they very well might do, they could go all the way. But in basketball, speculation can be dangerous.

If Paul Thomas, a 6'7" sophomore center, comes around along with Simon Terrazas, a 6'3" sophomore center, we could make a run for the district title and even win it. But there's a lot of ifs—we'll just have to wait and hope."

That's Pox. Rather non-committal, but then, that's not strange for any mentor. And yet underneath everything he'll tell you, lurks a hidden confidence in the outcome. You can't put your finger on it, we'll never say it. But it's there.

Pox still complains. "It's real hard to compete when you're got boys in football," he said recently.

But that's just something he's got to live with. Three of his starters, Albert Fierro, DeRoby Gartman, and Charlie West, were all starters for the Steers on the gridiron this fall and were unable to hit the hardwoods until after the San Angelo game Friday night.

The Steers will still be tough. Fierro, a 6'2" senior forward at 180, has lettered the past two years and should be a natural leader in this campaign. He'll go into action with the highest scoring average of any returning letterman — 12.2. In last year's games he tossed in 323 points and gathered in 247 rebounds.

Gartman will return to haunt the opposition at forward center trying an eight point average off of last year's squad. At 170 and 6'0", he has also lettered for two years. He was the team's leading free throw shooter last year as he popped in 35 of 45 for a 77 per cent average.

The only other two-year letterman, Charlie West, will hit the hardwoods bearing a 5 point average along with his 5'11", 165 pound frame. As a guard, he hit 40 per cent of his field goals from the floor last season in a creditable performance.

BANKS BACK

Ronnie Banks, a 5'10", 155-pound guard, will be the boy to watch when it comes to handling a basketball. As the playmaker of the Steers, he poses a dangerous threat every time he handles the ball. His seven points per game in 1962-63 are misleading as to his worth to the team.

Mike Peters, another forward at 6'0"—170, returns with one letter and should be one of the Steers most dangerous shots from the outside and corners—his 44 per cent made from the floor last season upholds this fact.

The post slot will be divided between two lads — Terrazas and Monty Clendenin—with a third boy, Thomas, being worked into the rotation.

Terrazas, at 6'3" and 169, has been called by Pox, "the best probably ever had at this school." Clendenin, a senior one-year reserve letterman at 6'1", saw some action last year and this season should prove very valuable. Thomas, although still lacking complete grace on the court, is coming along fast and has a good touch when it comes to shooting. In one more year with a little more weight, he could easily be one of the top centers in West Texas.

As you've probably already guessed, height will be the problem.

HEIGHT HURTS

"That's really going to hurt us," Pox said. "We'll be able to shoot with the best of them and we've got more than ample speed, but because of lack of height we'll only be ranked fifth or sixth in the district."

Midland Lee will be the favorite to capture district honors. They've got three starters returning off last year's team—a 6'8" man, a 6'6" lad, and the playmaker—and they're long on experience.

Abilene Cooper, fielding a quintet minus only one starter from 1962-63, should push hard, especially since they have their first three subs returning.

The other six teams will fight it out. But that fight doesn't begin until Jan. 5—that's the date that the Steers meet Midland Lee in the Bovines' gym. And that's more than a month after the first game of the season—against Plainview Nov. 30 here. "Plainview will probably be state champs," Pox said. "They have a wonderful team. They beat Midland Lee 15 points in a scrimmage the other day and made Lee happy with the outcome. That's how good they are."

It should be an interesting season, there may be some surprises. Just hope they're happy ones.

A&M Stands In Way Of Texas And Crown

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Standing between Texas and its greatest glory in football is Texas A&M.

The Aggies haven't much of a record, winning only two games out of nine, and statistically they don't seem capable of being in the same park with the unbeaten, untied Longhorns, No. 1 in the nation.

But this game is different from the rest. Both teams reach the heights, and the collision is something to behold.

It is one of the oldest series in college football, starting back in 1894.

For 69 years it has been played, and while it was skipped some seasons, there are other years when it was played twice. So it comes out every 69 games in 69 years.

The traditional battle goes on for the 70th time Thursday and it will bring memories, some bitter, some sweet, of the greatest football rivalry in the Southwest. And of some of the biggest upsets of collegiate football.

Coaches have been fired for losing this game. Coaches have saved their jobs by winning it. One time there was a tie and both coaches walked the plank.

Berry Whitaker, who had an impressive three-year record of 22-3-1, was let out when his team lost to the Aggies in 1922.

Once Texas severed relations with A&M in protest over its coach, Charley Moran, who was charged with playing ringers. Texas would not resume relations until Moran's contract wasn't renewed.

In 1909 Moran's Aggies beat Texas twice within two weeks. In 1910, when the game was played at Houston, there were fights and charges of dirty football. So in 1912, 1913 and 1914 there was no Texas-Aggie game.

The biggest upset came in 1940 when the Aggies, national champions in 1939 and winners of 19 games in a row and with the Rose Bowl bid in their hip pocket, fell before Texas 7-0.

Texas has won 47 games, the Aggies 17 and there have been five ties in the long and colorful series. Texas A&M hasn't won a game since 1956 — the year Bear Bryant's Aggies won for the first time in Texas' Memorial Stadium at Austin. That finished Texas Coach Ed Price.

Darrell Royal, the current Texas coach, has never lost this game in his tenure at Texas

Deer Season May Be One Of Best

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Staff

A sportsman official says that the first week of the 1963 deer season indicates the season will be the best in years.

"Within the first few days of the season, optimistic forecasts were mostly confirmed as hunters over the state saw much of what had been predicted," said Cecil Reid, executive secretary for Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas.

Texas' deer season opened Nov. 16. What had been predicted was that 2.5 million deer were awaiting Texas hunters — and that 400,000 hunters would bag 250,000 deer. Early reports showed that Hill, Llano, Gillespie, San Saba and Kerr counties were having good seasons.

The big reason for all the deer, says Reid, is the screw-worm eradication program. "A large part of the increased deer population can be directly attributed to this program," he said.

Killer wolves and coyotes are putting Travis County goat and sheep raisers out of business, the commissioners court was told recently.

The court was asked to install a bounty system of $20 to $25, high enough to give an incentive," one bounty hunter said. The hunter, Stan Hudler, said he did not think that traps or cyanide guns are effective enough in eliminating wolves, coyotes and bobcats in the eastern part of the county, an area of large concentration of the animals.

T. D. Carroll of the Parks and Wildlife Department said commissioners and landowners would have to decide if they want a bounty program as the department provides no funds for such a program.

Texas' goose season, nearing the end of its first month, has been a good one, reports indicate. Hundreds of hunters are getting their limit in the Eagle Lake area and also in the Port Arthur-Anahuac area. Not nearly so successful, however, were hunters in the Lake Texoma area. With the two big game refuges shy on water and feed, the geese moved on quickly.

Only 1 out of 17 people in the world can buy U.S. Savings Bonds

In this big world of ours, the number of people who can buy U.S. Savings Bonds is very small indeed.

Only Americans have the privilege—just one person in each 17 of the world's population.

In case you never considered it a privilege before, talk to a few of the other 16. The ones who've literally climbed walls and swum rivers to find some of the benefits Bond dollar: help protect for us.

The benefit of personal liberty, for instance, that gives us the choice to say "Yes, I want to save some of my money in Bonds" or "No, I don't want to invest in Bonds."

In spite of their "restricted" sales, though, U.S. Savings Bonds happen to be the most widely held security in the world. Which indicates that a lot of people in our country know a good thing when they see it.

Exercise your privilege to buy U.S. Savings Bonds, soon. See if you don't feel pretty good about it.

the Secret of THANKSGIVING

Does the "horn of plenty" make us thankful?

We do not become thankful by our abundance. The spoiled child lavished with gifts is not thankful.

It is not the horn of plenty, but the bigness of our heart that makes us thankful. The blessings God gives are infinite, but we must have the capacity to receive. Like a child who carries a bucket of water from the sea, we can only carry as many blessings as our heart will hold.

The capacity to receive comes through worship and prayer. We go into the presence of God and think deeply about our life. Understanding is awakened. With new eyes, we see our blessings and are grateful. We kneel poor, and rise rich.

Thanksgiving Day brings us a special opportunity for worship and prayer. Isn't this why we want to be in Church with our family? Here we discover the secret of thanksgiving.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Five Wildcats Hit During October

By JOE BEYER
Four area counties broke into the discovery oil columns during October as five strikes of new potential. In all, the local eight-county area turned in 37 new wells with 3,098.82 barrels of new oil.

Despite good prospects from the discoveries, the total new potential was down 1,565.48 barrels from the previous month and it was 1,762.60 barrels less than during October a year ago. For the year the figure stands at 32,320.11 barrels, compared to 32,858.08 barrels at the end of the comparable month last year.

The drilling pace continued high, with 53 new wells spotted, 10 of them in wildcat territory. There were 13 projects plugged and abandoned. Dawson County continued to pace the area, for the third straight month, recording five new wells and 1,131 barrels of new potential. This included one prospector for 203 barrels. Coming in second best was Martin, where one explorer finished for 222.72 barrels, and three other wells in the field brought total new potential to 716.72 barrels.

At this point, only one county—Borden—has not recorded discovery potential this year. A look at the October activity, county-by-county, follows.

BORDEN
Two field wells had a total of 413 barrels of new oil during the month, bringing the year's total in the county to 2,680.28 barrels. One of the wells is in the Hobo field; the other in the Good, Southeast.

Four new projects were staked—single sites in the Vealmoor and Hobo fields and two in the Von Roeder.

DAWSON
The county recorded more failures, six, than completions during October, but the five wells brought in 1,131 barrels of new oil to pace the area.

Monsanto completed No. 1 Gordon as a Wolfcamp strike for 203 barrels. Other wells included three in the Ackerly field for 650 barrels and one in the Tex-Hamon for 278 barrels.

Dusters were one wildcat, three Jo-Mill projects and one Tex-Hamon-and-Lamesa, West ventures.

There were 10 new locations picked, second best for the area. Three are wildcats, two are in the Ackerly field, one in the Jo-Mill, one in the Lamesa, West and three in the Welch, Southeast.

GARZA
Ten wells were finished, but they could scrape up only 125 barrels new total potential. Six are Duffy Peak wells, two are in the Dorward and two in the Post. Operators picked one wildcat location and two new Dorward sites.

GLASSCOCK
Currie No. 4 S. C. Currie added the San Andres pay to the Queen and Clear Fork in the Fool's Creek field when it potentialized for 10 barrels of new oil, more than half the total new production registered in the county during October. One other well made seven barrels in the Spraberry Trend Area.

Two wildcats were spotted and two were plugged and abandoned during the month.

HOWARD
There were eight new wells in the county, all in the Howard-Glasscock field, with total new potential of 337 barrels of oil.

Five Howard-Glasscock, three Iatan-East Howard and one Luther, Southeast site comprised the nine new ventures spotted in the county. There were no dusters.

MARTIN
Gordon Knox No. 1 University, finished in July for 28.65 barrels of discovery oil, was potentialized again during October for 222.72 barrels of new oil from the same discovery formation. It, along with three MAK oilers, accounted for the 716.72 barrels of new oil chalked up by Martin County during October.

There were seven new projects filed with the Railroad Commission. Two are wildcats, two are in the Spraberry Trend Area and three are in the recently opened Rueben field.

MITCHELL
Five new oilers were finished in Mitchell County during October, with total new potential at 293 barrels. Of this, two wildcats finished for 122 barrels, two Westbrook oilers made 139 barrels and one Sharon Ridge well made 32 barrels.

The two strikes are General Crude No. 1 McCabe, which finished in the Strawn for 92 barrels, and Burk No. 1-B Hodnett, a Pennsylvanian strike for 30 barrels.

Mitchell County recorded most locations—twelve. One is a prospector, one is in the Westbrook field, three in the Sharon Ridge and seven in the Iatan-East Howard field. One wildcat and one Iatan-East Howard project were plugged and abandoned.

STERLING
The Parochial Bode, East field received a one-location east extension during the month with completion of one well for 66.10 barrels, the only new oil garnered in the county. Three wildcats brought to completion failed to find oil.

There were six new sites filed. Two are in the Herrrell field. Others are single sites in the Spaede, Parochial Bode, East and Durham fields and in wildcat territory.

Another Good One

Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, apparently has a Wolfcamp strike at the No. 1 B. W. Marchbanks. Although there are no official reports, unofficial sources say the project should make a well for 12-13 barrels an hour. Friday evening the operator took the rig down. The project is about one mile northwest of Signal Mountain.

Wolfcamp Project Revives Interest In 'Graveyard'

The vast, rough terrain north of the Howard-Glasscock field and west of the Snyder and Iatan-East Howard fields in Howard County has seldom been drilled successfully.

at a depth of about 8,900 feet. Elevation in both areas is about 2,445 feet, putting the formation about 500 feet farther below sea level in Sterling.

Major oil companies have shied away from attempts to produce the Wolfcamp in this area, however, is topped Oil there is still, for the most part, a nebulous thing which may or may not exist in commercial quantities.

Hopes of landowners and drilling operators, however, have been lifted somewhat with reports of good production from the Wolfcamp formation. Not very deep, some 6,300 feet below the surface in that part of the county, the formation could be lucrative if it holds up.

Causing the sudden interest is the apparent success of Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, No. 1 Bertie Wade Marchbanks, in section 28-31-1s, T&P survey. The Wolfcamp there returned 1,520 feet of oil on drillstem tests on a section from 6,312-28 feet. That much has been verified by the operator.

Unofficial sources have since reported that Friday morning the project kicked off with flow of 50 barrels in the first hour and 45 minutes, settling to about 12-13 barrels an hour at the end of the day. Flow pressure has held steady at 200 pounds, with 22-64-inch choke.

Basin Rig Count Goes Up Slightly In Past Week

MIDLAND—A gain of one unit was registered on the Friday Reed Roller Bit Company survey of rotary drilling operations in the Permian Basin Empire. The latest count was 205 working rigs, compared to 204 a week ago and 243 during the comparable week a year ago.

Lea County, N.M., despite a dip of five, stayed in first place with 35 units.

With Dawson County picking up five units, for a total of 10, the local eight-county area rose from 16 a week ago to 20 on the latest count. Borden was second with a gain of two to four.

They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience. But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service helps thousands prepare for these tests every year. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government. This is the 26th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valuable services of these employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

CURTIS C. HALE

Curtis Clifton Hale's continuous service with Cosden dates back to Oct. 4, 1948, although he had worked at the refinery on two occasions before. The first time was as a boilermaker for an eight-year span that began in the summer of 1934. He left for Kentucky to engage in refinery construction.

Five years ago Hale moved into operations at the crude unit. He is now a stillman at the No. 1 unit.

Waxahachie was his birthplace. He moved to Big Spring in 1924 and two years later, on April 4, married Lurene Hudgins. Gardening on their one-acre homeplace on the Moss Lake Road appeals to both of them; she specializes in flowers, he in vegetables. The couple belongs to Midway Baptist Church.

The Hales have two children and four grandchildren. Their son, Donald R., marked his 15th anniversary with Cosden in October. The daughter, Martha Lee, lives in Gunnison, Colo., with her husband, Dom Mazzocco. A family reunion here is planned for Christmas.

For special interests, Hale readily refers to occasional fishing excursions to the Rio Grande River, bowling in the Cosden League, auto mechanics, baseball and lively games of dominoes with his co-workers before shift time.

Travel Hiked By Advertising

HOUSTON (AP)—The oil industry is convinced good advertising prompts motorists to travel more.

The American Petroleum Institute hopes to broaden its two-year travel promotion project into an inter-industry effort to boost sales of gasoline, tires, and cars.

Results of the institute's projects have convinced the oilmen motorists can be persuaded to take more and longer trips.

Studies comparing travel habits in the key markets with a similar number of major areas where no advertisements were published will not be completed until January but a preliminary report has been submitted to the institute's travel development committee.

The preliminary report indicates: The advertising campaign brought a 27 per cent increase in the number of auto travel trips.

Two and three-day trips increased 71 per cent. Trips in excess of 200 miles increased 95.8 per cent.

County's Crop Estimate Increased 6,000 Bales

Texas Employment Commission office has upped its estimate for Howard County's 1963 cotton crop from 36,500 to 42,500 bales. For Glasscock County, the estimate was boosted from 9,600 to 10,500 bales. At Sweetwater, the TEC office has hiked its guess on Fisher County's crop from 35,000 to 39,000 bales. Slow progress toward completion of the cotton harvest scored in the past week. The weather intervened. There have been two days in the past seven in which rains have fallen and for each rainy day, two days picking has been lost. The rains of Tuesday night did not have enough time to vanish before the almost as heavy rains of Thursday soaked the fields still further. The rains were general over the eight county Big Spring area. The new crop estimate for the eight counties is now 11,000 bales greater than the original 380,000 bale prediction.

The gins in the eight counties have already handled 241,754 bales.

Fisher County, where the crop estimate has been hiked from 35,000 to 39,000, has already processed 35,794 bales and it is estimated that at least eight per cent of the crop remains to be gashed.

Howard County, with 22,217 bales ginned, bears every indication of producing 42,500 bales—its new estimate. Glasscock County, where the original estimate was 9,600 bales, has already handled 9,623 bales and TEC thinks there are still nearly 1,000 bales to be ginned. If the rains go away and bright sun holds for a few days, tremendous speed can generate in the next week in ginning operations. Most of the fields are now ready for the strippers and strippers are being used almost 100 per cent in many counties.

Dawson County has not changed its crop estimate of 150,000 but weather permitting, it should push close to 100,000 ginned bales by next Friday. The county has already ginned 83,955 bales.

Glasscock School District Created 37 Years Ago

By M. A. WEBB
 GARDEN CITY — Thirty-seven years ago last Sept. 1 the Glasscock County Independent School District was created. It absorbed two small common school districts and centered the entire 864 square-mile county school population in Garden City. When House Bill 667 passed the House by 109-0 and the Senate by 31-0, it was signed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and became effective Sept. 1, 1925. The house passed the bill March 12 and the Senate followed suit March 18. One of the peculiarities of that particular bill was setting the length of terms for school board members. Most seven-member school boards have three-year terms, with two members elected each year for two years, and three elected the third year. Glasscock County Independent School District trustees are elected for two years. Common school districts absorbed because of low enrollment were the Line School, located near the Midland-Glasscock County line and near the John Priddy place, and Panther Draw school, located in the northeast part of the county near the present Mrs. Sam Childers ranch. Both school buildings were later moved to Garden City by the school district and used until newer buildings were constructed. School Supt. B. L. Murphy has a photostatic copy of the original bill creating Glasscock County Independent School District in his office. The district was established just 32 years after Glasscock County was organized in 1893. The present buildings, on the school campus in Garden City, include the elementary school built in 1930, which was formerly high school and elementary; the Glasscock County High School, built in 1937; the gymnasium built in 1955; and the cafeteria built in 1962 and in use for the first time this year. H. F. Ned was president of the school board, and D. E. Forehand was superintendent when the elementary school was built. W. C. Underwood, the present Justice of the Peace, was board president, and N. P. Taylor superintendent, when the high school building was constructed. Murphy has been with the system 11 years. He served six years as high school principal, and moved to the superintendent's office five years ago. The school now operates five buses and has a new one on order. Two station wagons are used for students on lighter routes. The total enrollment is 269. Glasscock County's population in 1960 was 1,118. School enrollment each year shows a small increase, Murphy said, and the county population has shown a similar increase, over the past 30 years.

Army Pvt. Robert D. Webb, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Webb, Route 1, Ackerly, was assigned to the 533d Military Police Company in Germany in mid-October. He is a military policeman in the company

RESPONSIBLE PARENTS KNOW WHAT'S BEST FOR THEIR FAMILIES

Many depend on TSO for professional eye care.

Over the years, many responsible homemakers have learned through experience, or from friends, about the dependable, professional eye care available at TSO. At TSO members of your family receive a three-phase examination. First, a complete visual history is recorded. Next, the eyes are examined internally for evidence of disease or defect; then, for abnormalities of vision. Should glasses not be needed, there is only a $3.00 charge for the eye examination. And the cost of fine eyewear is most reasonable. Single vision glasses are as low as $14.85. Invisibile bifocals are as low as $17.85, including eye examination, lenses and frame. Single vision Micro-Sight Contact Lenses, if preferred, are $65 complete. Bifocal contact lenses are also available at reasonable cost. Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision — with an annual, professional eye examination at TSO. Convenient credit at no extra cost.

Observance Held At Club

Guest day was observed Thursday afternoon in the Blue Room of Cosden Country Club by the 1963 Hyperion Club. Mrs. Chris Watson and the social committee were hostesses.

Mrs. Ben Johnson introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Jack Stricklan, pastor of East Fourth Baptist Church. Rev. Stricklan showed slides taken during a tour of Russia last summer and described what he observed there. He said that great emphasis is placed on education with teachers, especially scientists, being the highest paid professionals in the country. He noted that the tallest building in Moscow is located on the city's beautiful university campus.

Rev. Stricklan expressed the opinion that there is more religious freedom in the country now than in former times, and said that about one fourth of the people in the Soviet Union still give "lip service" to the Russian Orthodox Church.

The 20 guests were served by Mrs. W. T. Barber, president, from a polished table where silver and crystal appointments were used. A candelabrum with votive candles and fall flowers served as the centerpiece.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Bad Kitchen Odor Found In Drip Pan

Dear Heloise:
Several months ago we were troubled with an awful odor in the vicinity of the kitchen refrigerator. Our refrigerator is new and it is one that is not supposed to need any defrosting whatsoever.

After looking for the odor for weeks we found a drip pan that we had known nothing about. This was not called to our attention when we bought the refrigerator. It seems that this type of refrigerator defrosts itself and the small accumulation of water runs down a little tube into this pan by the motor.

Some milk or cream had been tipped over in the refrigerator and we had carefully wiped it all up. We had run down the defrost tube and gathered in the evaporator pan. When this spoiled... what an odor! And it lasted for weeks! After cleaning the pan and replacing it, we had no more odor.

You might tell your readers to investigate this on their refrigerators when an odor occurs... Junalis Stellmer

Dear Heloise:
Did you know that you could buy terry cloth by the yard and make one yard cotton terry cloth squares and they make wonderful bath towels for toddlers?

They are easier to wrap around the little ones than the conventional shaped bath towel. Sometimes you can buy terry cloth remnants on sale, two yards for a dollar. I only hem the cut edges and I'm in business... Mrs. W. E. LeVasseur

Dear Heloise:
I use hydrogen peroxide to remove scorches and other stains on colored clothes where household bleach cannot be used. Always test it on a hidden spot first to be sure your material is color-fast. Works like a charm... Sandy Smith

Dear Heloise:
I pour boiling water over my unshelled pecans and let them stand tightly covered for five or six hours before shelling them. This steaming allows the nut meat to be extracted easily and I never have a trace of that bitter lining. We then use our nutcracker, being sure the shell is well cracked, and the nuts come out whole... Dolly

Dear Heloise:
Why do people keep vitamin pills and other often used pills in the bathroom?

We keep ours in the kitchen where we can see them as a constant reminder and a water glass is within easy reach. If we did not rent... I would put a medicine cabinet with a mirror in our own kitchen! This would not only solve the problem of the immediate needs, but we would always have a mirror in the kitchen too! Ruth Kaleikini

Dear Heloise:
When my vacuum cleaner sounds as if it had too much to eat, and before it becomes tightly plugged, I switch the end of the hose around to the intake hole.

The direction of air is changed in the hose and I have no need to worry about flying dust as it all goes into the machine.

If the vacuum still refuses to swallow, I cover the end of the hose with my hand for a minute and then let a marble fly through it. It works every time and cleans out the hose.

I also find it pays to check through the dirt pile before burning what the vacuum picked up. All too often I have found a missing sock, not to mention the button which belongs on a certain shirt... Reader

By golly! It works! Reversing the hose, that is. But I still didn't find my missing earring. Heloise

Dear Heloise:
For years I have been using mending tape on thin places and holes in sheets, pillow cases, towels and also on socks. This saves darning. Put this on as soon as the heel or toe starts to wear thin.

I also sew mending tape on the garment before re-zipping or sewing on buttons in order to reinforce it... Mrs. Guy McAlister

MR. AND MRS. LOWELL N. JONES AND JUDY

Leaves California For Return To 'First Love'

By JO BRIGHT

"When the opportunity came for us to return to Texas and our first love — Coca-Cola — we were ready to take advantage of it," said Lowell N. Jones, new sales manager for the local bottling company.

Mr and Mrs Jones and their youngest daughter, Judy, 17, are residents of the Ponderosa Apartments where the windows of their upstairs apartment afford a panoramic view of the West Texas scene that they have missed in recent years.

Jones is a native Texan, born at Bryson in Jack County while attending North Texas State University he lettered in football and basketball and was a teammate of Doc Hayes, basketball coach at the university. "My brother, Daryl, was a football star there," remarked Jones, "but I just played."

Mrs. Jones is from Roberta, Okla. Her father worked for an oil company which necessitated frequent moves for the family. They were living in Breckenridge when she and Jones met. She had attended business college in Abilene and was employed at the time as secretary to the district attorney. The couple was married in 1938.

SAME COMPANY

During and following his school years Jones was employed with the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling Co. for 10 years, one of which was spent as field representative.

For eight years he developed and owned franchises for another beverage company in Denver and later in Salem, Ore. He sold this interest to his brother who was a partner in the business.

Wardrobe Sells For Thousands

CHICAGO (AP) — The personal wardrobe of one of Chicago's wealthiest women — an estimated 25,000 pieces of apparel — has been sold at public auction for $40,000.

The wardrobe, owned by the late Mrs. Violet Bidwill Wolfner, was sold at a three-day auction by order of Cook County Probate Court.

The clothes included more than 1,000 dresses — with a purse to match each dress — some 500 coats and 1,500 pairs of shoes. The highest price paid was $1,250 for a full length mink, but many dresses and coats sold for 50 cents.

Mrs. Wolfner was 62 when she died in Miami Beach, Fla. in 1962. She left an estate of $3.1 million to her two adopted sons. Her first husband was Charles W. Bidwill, wealthy sportsman.

Civil Rites Held For Local Couple

Mr and Mrs C. W. Guthrie, 609 Washington Blvd. announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Lynn, to Victor Lee Allen. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rice, Big Spring. A civil ceremony was performed for the couple, Oct. 7 in Lamesa.

TETE-a-TETE

by kathleen dozier

Guess you're all set to gather goodies and bake the bird for Thursday. If not, bet you'll be off for a day of Thanksgiving with family. Me? Well, being a good distance from kin, I'll have the day with friends. To my notion that is something to be especially grateful for. Don't you agree?

Seems to me, when I was small, I was most thankful for having grandparents, great-grandparents, uncles and aunts — including those of the "great" variety — and cousins of the first, second and double states, all living in a small town and all within an area of about three blocks. If at one house things weren't going too well or the meal didn't appeal to the young sprouts, they could walk across a yard or scale a fence and make themselves at home wherever the food looked best and the welcome, the warmest. It never seemed to matter who wound up with several extra mouths to feed, and we've never had it so good since . . .

Thinking back, I remember when all the clan would get together for holidays, some coming from out of town. The great, old houses — separated only by a street, stone or picket fences and broad expanses of grass — would become filled with grown-ups and children. Trivial matters were of no concern to me then, but I'm told the great-grandmothers worked things out pretty good, taking turns in meal serving. When they were gone, my grandparents' home was where we went. Overlooking the fluid path of willow-banked Crooked Creek, the house was built in the mid-1800s. Sheltered by large, hard maple and walnut trees, it stood imposing to the children. The house had large, high-ceilinged rooms and a long, chilly hall with walnut staircase and a beautiful, hobnail, cranberry glass lamp suspended from the ceiling. To some, this may not have appeared especially beautiful, but to me it was . . .

In all of my put-together, I've never enjoyed anything quite so much as Thanksgiving at my grandparents' home. It was almost more than a body could stand when the cooking commenced and the house became filled with the heavenly scent of aromatic spices mingled with that of the burning wood and pine knots. After what seemed an interminable time, places were taken at the table, heads were bowed and thanks given for the many blessings. And I felt that I had more than anyone.

The old homes are still there, but like so many others, our families have drifted too far to return. Times have changed, and most people have found their own way of giving thanks on this special day. But wherever or however it is done, may it be for you a reverent, beautiful and happy occasion.

Candelabra and lighted tapers were used with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and palms at the altar. Nuptial selections, "Because" and "I Love You Truly," were sung by Mrs. Oscar T. Boeker with organ accompaniment by Mrs. Jesse L. Overton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin brocade styled with beaded bodice and a chapel train. A large bow detailed the back waistline. Its streamers and the V-shaped sleeves were detailed with pearls. Her fingertip veil was secured with a tiara of pearls. She carried a white Bible and a bouquet of white mums centered with a white orchid.

first artist in the china painting field, Mrs. E. H. Happel, 900 Johnson St.

Mrs. Happel, who studied pastel, crayon and water color painting, is a self-taught china painter. She began this hobby in 1908 with Mrs. A. E. Pool and Mrs. Elkins, who did their part to finance a kiln which was fired with coal oil. They kept the kiln in an out-building, and to keep it hot, they kept constant watch.

Later Mrs. Happel and Mrs. W. P. Edwards, a neighbor, purchased a new and more modern kiln. Then Mrs. Happel began to teach porcelain art. Traveling as far as Lamesa once a week, she would hold class for 18 students.

The artist's teaching career was terminated in 1957, but during the years she produced numerous artistic pieces of which many are found in the homes of her family and friends. Some of her work will be shown during the Sunday exhibit.

Charming Tomboy Is Park Hill Teacher

By KATHLEEN DOZIER

A lovely smile, almond-shaped eyes, raven black hair and a gracious manner are the charms of Mrs. Edwyn Saiki who appears delicately fragile and feminine. But, by the grapevine, it is said that this young teacher with a bachelor's degree is one of the best ball players at Park Hill School.

New to the Big Spring Public Schools, Mrs. Saiki became a member of the Park Hill teaching staff when the fall term began in September. She came here as a bride, having married Lt. Saiki August 17. Born in Honolulu, Hawaii, she was Sylvia Yoshiye Uahini. Her mother is Japanese and her father, Chinese-Hawaiian. Soon after his birth—in the privileged custom of years past—her father was abandoned by his parents. During his youth, he was cared for by foster parents.

It seemed that Mrs. Saiki preferred to talk about her mother and father rather than herself. So, easing back on the sofa, I sipped Japanese tea and listened contentedly as she and Lt. Saiki talked of their homes and parents in Hawaii. Their enthusiasm was stimulating, especially to one who has never truly known the Hawaiian and his heritage.

Mrs. Saiki reared in the Christian faith, lived in the city; her husband, a Buddhist, on a sugar plantation. Both attended American schools. He also attended a Japanese school, respecting the wishes of his parents.

ENTER UNIVERSITY
It wasn't long before both were enrolled at the University of Hawaii where they first met. Sylvia, after receiving her bachelor degree in education, was chosen as one of 12 young women to teach in the California schools. Young Saiki, like other male graduates, was obligated to military service, and soon was sent to the mainland for Air Force training. They would write and would visit with one another when time permitted. Last August, they returned to Honolulu to be married.

Their different faiths presented no problem. "A Buddhist ceremony was performed in English, and the vows are the same as in the Christian service," Mrs. Saiki explained, bringing forth beautiful pictures of the wedding in a Buddhist Temple. At the same time, Lt. Saiki displayed the marriage certificate, signed by the Buddhist priest. It appeared similar to those presented for Christian rites.

Who would reign in the kitchen was another matter, however. Mrs. Saiki believes that the kitchen is her domain. Her husband, whose hobby is cooking, has concluded in so short a time that he will be content with his Food Services job at Webb AFB.

LOYAL TO STATE
The talk drifted into a discussion of the islands during World War II and post-war life for the Hawaiian-born Japanese. Loyalty to their state, Hawaii, and the United States and proving themselves as loyal citizens were of utmost importance to Hawaiians of Oriental parentage, Lt. Saiki explained. Japanese school books belonging to her husband (who speaks and reads the language fluently), are used frequently by Mrs. Saiki when she plans interesting and unusual programs of work for her class at Park Hill.

"We are making Christmas birds from paper sent to me by my mother," she said, showing quaint, brilliant-colored, bird-shaped folds. She remarked that children here are much more verbal and aggressive than the island children whose teachings are steeped in complaisance. "In Big Spring schools, children seem to be much more

Space Limited

There isn't enough space for the many, many books belonging to Mrs. Edwyn Saiki and her husband. Those constantly used for reference are shown by Mrs. Saiki at her home on Eat Drive, Webb AFB.

manly than in California, and I like that," she commented, "although I find that the school facilities there are much more adequate."

BACK TO HER FATHER
Before the interview was over, Mrs. Saiki found a Honolulu press clipping in which her father was pictured and named as "Father of the Year." The press notice stated his many attributes, including work with the Boy Scouts and DeMolays, his membership and activity in the Masonic Lodge and with the Shriners, as well as his work with the Parent-Teacher Association of Honolulu. Nominated for the honor by his daughter, Uahini is employed as an electrical engineer with the Federal Aviation Agency in Honolulu.

The Saikis say that their parents very often visit together, now that their children are gone. They are hoping that the couples will visit here within the next year. Meanwhile, they will correspond, and Mrs. Saiki says she will certainly enclose this account in a letter to her mother.

Retrials Lead Big Docket Slated In County Court

Two defendants, already once convicted in Howard County court but who won new trials from the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals; will lead off a large docket of jury matters Judge Lee Porter is to set down for trial Dec. 2.

Porter and Wayne Burns, county attorney, have listed 84 appeal cases brought from corporation and justice courts along with 48 criminal matters on a docket to be sounded Dec. 2.

The two retrial cases set at the top of Burns' misdemeanor list are those against Trinidad Torres, charged with shoplifting, and Albert Rodriguez, possession of barbiturates. Trinidad won a reversal in her conviction when the appellate court pointed out that the state had not made it clear in the complaint against her that she was in the allegedly victimized store by invitation.

RETRIAL

Rodriguez won a retrial on a possession of barbiturates conviction when the appeals court charged that the trial court had not instructed the jury that Rodriguez claimed he had picked up the incriminating tablets to keep his young neices and nephews from playing with them and that he did not know they were barbiturates. He had them on his person when arrested.

Porter has announced that he will have a jury panel on hand Dec. 3 at 9 a.m. to try as many of the appeal cases as have been announced ready when the docket is sounded. There will be jury panels reporting the weeks of Dec. 10, Jan. 14, Jan. 17 and Jan. 20 to try the criminal cases on the list.

A check of the appeals cases which are to be called show all but seven are from the corporation court. Two individuals have filed 18 of the 84 appeals.

William Paul Darrow is the appellant in 12 of the cases. Charles Isaacs is the appellant in six instances.

OTHER TIMES

On other occasions when appeals cases have been brought up for trial in county court, many have been set aside as being faulty—either that the bond filed with them was invalid or for errors in the complaints. Many have been dismissed by the appellants.

How this docket will work out is debatable. Many of these are newer cases than were the others which were heard. It is agreed that the bonds now being posted are generally valid as to form. There has been an effort by police to make their complaints comply with statutory forms.

Filing appeals from corporation court is an accepted method of evading payment of fines assessed. Or, perhaps, this has been the history of appeals in the past. Since Judge Porter and Burns have been working on the problem the appeals are not permitted to age.

CASES

Criminal cases set for sounding Dec. 2, in addition to the two complaints against Trinidad

Torres and Albert Rodriguez, include:

Michael Harrison, driving with suspended license; Moses Garcia, transporting; Lillian Clark, DWI and driving with suspended license; Fred Constanco Jr., DWI; McAllyn Edmiston, DWI; Jerry F. King, DWI and carrying arms; James L. Edwards, carrying arms; Bransford B. Bulls, negligent homicide; Clifton Woodard, contributing to delinquency of a minor; Violet Olsen, worthless check; James W. ## Special School Trustee Meet

More discussion on a projected addition to the Senior High School is the main item on the agenda for a Tuesday special meeting of the trustees of the Big Spring Independent School District.

The dinner meeting will be held at 6 p.m. in the Gold Room of Big Spring Country Club. At a regular meeting two weeks ago, Atmar Atkinson, of Atcheson, Atkinson and Fox, school architects, presented preliminary sketches of room needs to teach various high school subjects. Atkinson will expand on these plans at the coming meeting.

Also slated is a report by school administrators on the feasibility of the old First National Bank building as an administrative office for the school system. Bank officials have proposed that the school purchase the building for $55,000, financed for 10 years at a three per cent simple interest rate.

Cancer Group Planned Here

A pre-organizational meeting of the American Cancer Society, for residents of Howard County who are interested in cancer control, will be held Nov. 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Cosden Country Club.

In order to launch the program of the American Cancer Society in Howard County, an active group of citizens must associate themselves as members of the board of a local American Cancer Society unit, said Dr. W. A. Hunt, who attended a recent state meeting.

The board of the Howard County unit will supervise and conduct a year-round program of education and service for the county. The funds for the American Cancer Society are furnished by voluntary contributions solicited during April.

The infant died shortly after birth in Highland General Hospital in Pampa.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Thames, Pampa; one brother, Terry Thames, Pampa; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webb, Marshall; and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thames, Big Spring.

Firehouse Five

Construction of Fire Station No. 5 on the northwest corner of the city golf course "is coming right along," according to Jim Bill Little, contractor.

Fire Station Construction Gets Off To A Good Start

By BUCK SITTON

Construction on the two new brick, masonry and steel fire stations is off to a good start, according to Jim Bill Little, contractor.

"Ninety per cent of the structural concrete has been poured, and we've poured the concrete slabs on Station 6 (2906 W. 13th)," Little said.

He said slab work on Station No. 5 (1603 Wasson Road) began last week. "We're waiting for our brick and glazed tile masonry materials," Little said.

Work began on the two new stations about a month ago. Specifications for each building are the same. Each will be constructed at an estimated cost of $38,721.

The J. W. Little Construction Company, Big Spring, was awarded the contract for construction in October with a low-base bid of $77,443. Architect for the work is John Gary.

Plans call for the buildings to have brick exteriors, concrete block interiors and roofs of steel. Vinyl asbestos floor coverings are planned for each station. Plaster stucco cornices will be on the front and back sides, and the roofs will be flat.

"Total floor space will be about 3,300 square feet," Little said. Each building will be 71 feet, four inches long and 47 feet wide.

Rooms will include an apparatus room, dormitory, mechanical equipment room, janitor's closet, living room, kitchen and a shower room and toilet. Each building will be single story.

The largest room will be the apparatus room. It will house two fire trucks and equipment. The dormitory will provide sleeping quarters for nine firemen. Station No. 5 is being constructed on the northwest corner of the city golf course. Station No. 6 is being built near the Rodeo Bowl, east of the Ellis Homes and north of Airport School.

The living rooms will be smaller in the new stations than they are in the last stations constructed here. Also, the roofs are flat rather than gabled.

The last fire station constructed in Big Spring is located at Northeast Eighth and Main. It cost $41,000, and was completed in November, 1956. The station at Eleventh and Birdwell Lane was completed in July, 1956 at a cost of $53,000.

The contract calls for completion within 150 days. Little estimated the work would be completed by the middle of March slightly ahead of schedule.

Foundation In

Structural concrete work on Fire Station No. 6, located northeast of the Airport School (in background), is almost complete.

A Devotional For The Day

Ye shall have a song, as in the night when a holy solemnity is kept. (Isaiah 30:29.)
PRAYER: O Father, forgive our lack of whole-hearted thankfulness. Give us grateful hearts for all Thy goodness and loving-kindness. Grant that we may not end our singing songs of praises to Thee even when we are deprived of some former blessings. In the Master's name we ask. Amen.

Requiem

The nation stands in shocked grief at the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Texas is numbed that such a horrible thing could happen, and happen within its borders. This is unthinkable, unbelievable, unreal.

Throughout the political history of man, and particularly within the framework of democratic governments, leaders have been subject to praise and censor by their constituents. Yet, when disagreement degenerates into hate — raw, blind hate — the whirlwind of tragedy and shame is reaped.

Murder is never the way to settle anything; it is an insane gesture of futility. In a democracy, assassination is a confession of failure on the part of those who profess a super dedication to the free processes.

What bitter irony it is that the President, who had offered his life for his country on the field of battle, would be felled from behind by one of his own people.

President Kennedy served almost three years in what will be one of the most fateful times in our history. It is not possible, in an atmosphere charged with partisan philosophies and compounded by frustration, to know with infallibility the rectitude of the courses he sought to steer. History will judge.

It is certain, however, that all of the problems with which he wrestled at home, and all the forces of international ferment, and the grimness of the great struggle between freedom and communism still remain. Now they are aggravated by the bitterness of tragedy and by the harsh disruption of the affairs of state.

Under such dark circumstances Lyndon B. Johnson has sorrowfully assumed the duties of the highest office in the land. Like other men in public life, while he has acquired support, he has accumulated his share of opposition.

But God forbid that he be burdened by a residue of hate, seeing what the harvest of hate can be. Rather, let all men and women of good will and who have concern for the destiny of this nation pray for him that he may have Divine help in bearing the overwhelming burdens now thrust upon him.

Bobby Baker And The Senate

WASHINGTON — The Bobby Baker case is like a many-colored kaleidoscope. As the pieces of the career of this ambitious young operator come into focus they shed a lurid light on the ways and means of this capital.

But while each episode in the life and times of the former Senate majority secretary generates a new headline a basic pattern is becoming evident. In the jargon of the sociologist Baker was the agent for the in-group within the Senate Democratic majority.

HE DISPENSED favors—committee chairmanships, campaign funds, tips on upcoming contracts—to those who played the game. Understandably he earned the enmity of the Senators in the out group who for one reason or another were not team players.

THIS IS the deep division within the Senate majority that the Baker affair has brought into the open. The in-group of which the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr was probably the most conspicuous member, had a close affinity with powerful economic interests. That was true particularly of oil, uranium and other interests in the Southwest.

Take a small example of how the system worked. The late Sen. Estes Kefauver's anti-monopoly subcommittee was a source of concern to the Senate establishment. Kefauver insisted on poking into the economics of "administered" prices in steel, bread, automobiles and other matters touching the consumer's pocketbook.

THE ISSUE came to a head when Kefauver proposed to investigate drug prices in South America as fixed by United States firms. This caused a lot of anguish among powerful figures in Washington who watch out for the well-being of these firms. How to side-track or stop the investigation?

Previously two Democrats considered "sound" had been named to the subcommittee, Senators Edward V. Long of Missouri and Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina. Long, a freshman Senator with wide business interests in his home state, had early shown he was a team player and had been put on the committee in August of 1961. He cast the deciding vote to refer the drug inquiry to the Foreign Relations Committee where it was vetoed.

KEFAUVER has been replaced by Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan, rated a liberal. The issue today is whether subpoenas shall be issued to compel the testimony of drug manufacturers. Long says he is opposed to this action. His may be the deciding vote against it and therefore against further investigation.

This is not to say that immaculate virtue rests in the drug inquiry. A case can be made against it, although it should be noted that the New York Herald-Tribune in a noteworthy piece of journalistic enterprise has shown how a drug cartel fixed prices. But it is nevertheless a significant instance of how the establishment works to suppress troublesome matters.

THE LIBERALS have long felt that they were outmanned and outgunned. They rally their forces now and then as in the vain fight they conducted to prevent turning over all the Telstar facilities to a privately owned corporation. And their frustration and rage came out in the reckless running battle they directed against the foreign aid bill.

Anyone who thinks that in the forthcoming Baker investigation the relationships between the Senate establishment and the business establishment will be gone into knows little about this capital. For a simpler age when the rewards were as elemental as rivers and harbors Mark Twain told the story in "The Gilded Age." Ours might be called the platinum or the diamond-studded age.

Feet Of Clay
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Henry Clay's statue, which has stood in the state Capitol Rotunda since 1930, isn't cast in bronze as most people suspected.

Walker Hancock, a Boston, Mass. artist, said he discovered the statue was solid plaster recently when he was here to set up the statue of former Vice President Alben Barkley.

Hancock, who noticed a broken finger on the statue, said "there seems to be a gold paint undercoat and then black paint over that to give the bronzed effect."

He recommended to state officials that the Clay statue be cast in bronze before it falls apart.

Stickery Job
XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Robbing Mrs. Alice McQuown turned out to be a thorny task for a second-story man. Police said the burglar climbed a drain pipe, forced a second floor bathroom window and took a watch and money from Mrs. McQuown's pocketbook. But, as he fled the drain pipe broke, dropping him into a thorn bush.

Problems In The Midst Of Prosperity

No computer could evaluate this budget of news for one simple reason. Men can't. How do you stack the two-for-one split in American Telephone & Telegraph stock against the suspension of two large stock exchange firms for a capital shortage?

Or how do you relate—balance—the awesome jump in new housing starts in October to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,876,000 against the Department of Agriculture's prophecy of a 3 per cent drop in farm income this year and a 5 per cent drop next year?

OR DO YOU plus or minus the quick sale of 4,000,000 shares of Ford Motor Co., stock at $50.50 a share (more than $200,000,000) against the internal conflict in the market, itself? On the same day of the sale and the AT&T announcement, more stocks declined than advanced. Obviously, there's plenty of investment money around, but its highly selective.

This is a period of togetherness in confidence. Advances in the stock market, optimism in Washington, and the consensus of economists that a sharp rise — 8 per cent to 10 per cent — in capital expansion lies ahead has produced high hopes for 1964. And this could be warranted. Confidence—an upsurge sense of well-being—is always a precondition of prosperity and boom.

YET, IT ISN'T easy to determine whether what appears on the surface reflects what goes on underneath. The bankruptcy petition of the Allie Crude Vegetable Oil and Refining Co., of Bayonne, N. J., is a suggestive episode.

Should not the brokerage firms of Ira Haupt & Co. and J. R. Williston & Beane have been more diligent in seeing that Allied didn't get over-extended? Big money and huge contracts were at stake. Confidence is only a step removed from overconfidence and overconfidence from imprudence.

Keating said he found one item "most interesting." It asked the question, "Are you for or against capital punishment?" The young lady, Keating said, wrote in this spot: "I'm not against it as long as it's not excessive."

Punished
NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says a Bronx high school student recently sent him a copy of her class assignment which she thought might interest him. The assignment consisted of a typed list of major issues with space after each for the students to write their views.

BOTH SIDE
TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Kansas started a crack-down in 1962 against motor vehicle drivers who are "legally blind." Proof of their condition was that the persons receiving state welfare aid for blindness, in 15 months 136 such persons surrendered their driver's licenses.

business its bookkeepers lost track of who owned what. Again, you have to wonder: Wasn't it imprudence on the part of officers and directors to be so unprepared for the influx of business? And can Comptroller of the Currency Saxton be exonerated of blame? He issued the charter to men who were supposed to know what they were doing.

OR TAKE THE enthusiasm of Wall Street. AT&T is a tremendous company. It presented its two-and-a-quarter million stockholders a three-ply bonus—a split, an increase in the dividend, and a future offering of rights. The entire market rallied. AT&T jumped eight points to 140.

Yet, at that price, the yield is only 2.9 per cent. Is that a proper yield on a long-term investment, or are investors counting on higher and higher yields later on?

"G'wan, stop throwing cold water on the parade." If that's what you're thinking, I don't blame you. Why raise questions? Why adulterate joy and happiness with skepticism? Christmas is coming!

YET, PROBLEMS persist amid all this financial enthusiasm, problems such as these:

1. A continued high level of unemployment, though industrial production is at an all-time high.
2. A continued balance-of-payments deficit, notwithstanding recent improvement.
3. The drop in farm income, which is only alleviated by the decline in the number of farms, so that income per farm rises slightly (see chart).
4. AND AIRPOCKETS in prosperity keep recurring—real estate bubbles, banking mishaps, and now two Wall Street suspensions. Footnoting this, delinquency rates on installment loans have been edging up.

And don't forget that an election year is coming up. This calls for a show of confidence, of accentuating the favorable, on the part of the administration.

"Hope," wrote Francis Bacon, "is a good breakfast—but an ill supper." To that might be added that he who has a light head has a hard time keeping his feet on the ground.

Consult Doctor At First Sign Of Pregnancy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

There may be some benefits in disguise from the tragedy of thalidomide and the great interest in birth defects.

Many women (although fewer now) believe that there isn't any need, in pregnancy, to go to the doctor until the baby is about to be born, or unless some trouble develops.

This is not good; at times this practice can harm both mother and child.

The reason may be that it will save money not to consult a doctor until along toward the end of the nine months. This reasoning is erroneous, too, because many, perhaps most, physicians tend to make a flat charge for delivering a baby, and the fee then includes visits before and after the birth.

The important point, however, is that early care means greater safety. In fact, it is best for a woman to go to her doctor at the first suspicion that she is pregnant. Tests for pregnancy now are easier, surer and simpler than ever before, and they give positive answers much sooner — within a matter of days of the beginning of pregnancy.

For the mother, early care means attention to diet, to added calcium, to control of weight; and in the case of a first baby, measurements to make sure that normal delivery will be possible.

It means watching for disease conditions of which the mother may be entirely unaware, but which may endanger either her or the baby.

It includes her precautions against premature delivery, prematurity not only multiplies the risk of death of a baby but is shown to be associated with about 10 times the frequency of mental retardation.

The list of possible benefits could go on and on.

Since thalidomide, we now have still a further purpose in early pre-natal care, such as maximum caution in the use of any medication (or X-rays) which might have a tendency to cause defects in the baby.

We do not, of course, know for certain which drugs can be regarded as absolutely "safe" although we know some which are dangerous.

We can, at least, avoid the known dangerous or suspicious ones, and make sure that no drugs are used without good reason.

Going to the doctor in earliest pregnancy is the first step.

Count your calories the easy way. To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Calorie Chart," write Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Strapped in For A Supersonic Ride

Get out of the way, you slowpokes. While the horse - and - buggy era has great appeal for me, I have done an about-face and am in the aerospace age. I am getting closer to being a Mach 2 man all the time, and one of these days I'll make it.

Managed Mach 1.5 the other day (or by the time my story grows it may have been a teensy-weensy bit past 1.5.)

THIS TOOK a bit of doing, not necessarily on my part—although I held on tight—but principally due to the skill of Lt. Col. Jack Price, who skips the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron out at Webb AFB.

The 331st lads, you know, fly the F104, it's the Lockheed Starfighter, a trim air weapon that has held (and may still hold) simultaneous records for speed, altitude and rate of climb. Its wings are not much larger than a couple of ironing boards, but the darn thing flies; at least it shoots off like a missile, and somebody pilots it.

NOT ME. It was Colonel Price. I was strapped staunchly in the back seat, gussied up in parachute, seat harness, headpiece and oxygen mask, and even clipped by my heels by some special spurs that the pilots of 104's wear. The spurs are no' for flanking, as in cowboy usage, but to keep you from breaking your legs in the process of ejection.

THE 104 does, actually need flanking. It needs sliding back, or so I thought as we smoked off the runway and pointed in the general direction of the sun. I also thought we nearly got to the sun before Jack Price began to arrange things so my stomach would get back in equilibrium. But sure enough he had it under control all the time, and we leveled off so that I could enjoy the blueness of a clear autumn day, and make out the crazy-quilt patterns on the ground. In this attitude, the 104 glides along as smooth as a cloud, and with no more noise. About all I could hear was my own breathing through the oxygen device and if that was a little fast, you gotta remember I don't ride around in fighter planes every day.

THEN COLONEL Price cut in the after-burner and we began to zip. There just barely could have been some noise as we went through the sound barrier, but that's for you people on the ground. You don't get the sensation of building up such terrific speed, and you have to watch that Mach dial to know that you are really traveling.

It's when the pilot cuts off the burner that whammo! you'd think he had suddenly slammed on all the brakes. This is where the seat harness comes in, folks.

ANYWAY, it was all in the day's work for Colonel Price. He has a cherubic smile when he's on the ground, but in that driver's seat he is all business, audibly checking off every device, every system, every pertinent condition and attitude, on take off and on landing.

There was no point in my worrying, so I didn't.

POINT IS that those fellows at the 331st—all of them combat ready, and trained to skilled rating or better—know exactly what they're doing, and how and when to do it.

The more you see of this type, the more confidence you have in the military security of this country.

It's a young type, as you might expect. The grandfatherly group has no business tearing over the country at a 1,000 or 1,200 knots or so, and the best place for the grandfatherly type is in the back seat, staunchly strapped down. And that only occasionally.

Evasion In The State Department

WASHINGTON — "The man's like quicksilver," said a top-flight senator-lawyer, who had participated in the Internal Security Subcommittee's hush-hush session with Secretary of State Rusk on the Otepka case. "You try to put your finger on him here—and he's over there."

THIS DESCRIPTION of the secretary's dissembling style is very much on the side of politeness. Rusk finally appeared before the subcommittee on October 21st, after several months of artful dodging. He had good reasons, as we shall see, for his elusiveness and for subsequently concealing the motives which led to the entrapment, persecution and firing of Otto Otepka, the State Department's chief evaluator of security cases.

The truth was a hot chestnut in the secretary's hands. There, in the presence of 11 subcommittee members, he juggled it, fumbled it, sleight-of-hand-ed it, but never put his grasp around it.

HAD HE PERSONALLY cleared the security rating of William Arthur Wieland? He couldn't remember. He'd have to consult his records. Did he question the Senate's right to call State Department witnesses? No, but . . . Could the subcommittee count on obtaining some uninhibited State Department witnesses? Yes, but . . . "Every other security agency in the government has cooperated with the subcommittee," the senator resumed. "Only the State Department balks. I have no doubt of the motives. Otepka was the last of the old line, anti-Communist security officers. What they're trying to do at State is set up an axis which will handle security clearances and delete certain matters before the information goes over to the White House. Then the White House, when something rotten turns up, can say, 'Oh, we didn't know . . .'

THE ROCKBED REASON for all this high level flim-flam is to break down the security system on personnel, to issue passports and visas to persons who otherwise wouldn't get them, and to prevent deportation of persons who otherwise would be deported. Meanwhile, said the senator, he'd heard stories out of the House of Representatives about a criminal ring which deals for money in the visa and deportation mart. The tie-in of crime and subversion, spiced with big name favoritism, awaits an investigation that will probably take place on the other side of the Hill. Since the matter would find its way to the House Subcommittee on Immigration and Naturalization, I called upon its chairman, Michael Feighan (D-Ohio) who had heard the same ugly stories of purchased passports and visa and deportation immunities.

MANY MEMBERS have told me they're concerned about these rumors of developments in the immigration field," Feighan told me, but would vouchsafe no more.

Feeding Our Enemies

WASHINGTON — If the American people were asked to vote in a referendum as to whether they would like to see the United States government lend money to the Soviet Union to buy wheat—which, in turn, could make possible the shipment of Russian grain to Red China or Cuba—it can hardly be doubted that the verdict of the electorate would be overwhelmingly in the negative.

THE CONGRESS of the United States is considering whether or not to pass a law prohibiting the Export-Import Bank—A U. S. government agency — from guaranteeing the recently proposed transactions for the purchase of wheat by the Soviet Union. So the people's representatives will soon have an opportunity to approve or disapprove the measure.

When the proposal to sell wheat to Russia was first announced, the late President Kennedy said it was to be a private transaction and "does not represent a new Soviet-American trade policy." But a few days later, it became apparent that a misleading impression had been assumed. Senator Karl Mundt of South Dakota, Republican, told the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency:

lucant to extend their own credit in order to get the profit and income they will receive from these transactions. That is, they must regard the transaction as a bad risk and the Communists as unsafe debtors."

THE SOUTH DAKOTA Senator said that, while the President had declared that American grain would not go to Cuba, the wheat "will simply become a substitute in Russia for the Russian grain which has been promised to Cuba and the other Communist countries."

Pointing out that the President, in his October 9 news conference, had declared that "the grain dealers will take the risks with the private banks," Senator Mundt said it now turns out that the government itself will assume the risk.

MR. MUNDT is the author of the pending bill which would cover credit extensions on the sale of any products to all Communist-bloc countries. He insists that the passage of the bill would not interfere with the planned sales of wheat and grain to Russia and her satellites, "provided the sales are for cash, for gold or for American dollars, or provided the granting of credit to the Communists is privately extended."

Senator Mundt, in his speech, said: "Unfortunately, desire for profit—sometimes in the form of thinly disguised human greed—has made it difficult for the United States to enforce this policy of restricting trade with the Communist bloc or even to win the support of the foreign countries which we aid with our foreign assistance programs."

It is TRUE that some of the allies of the United States—including those who have been receiving "foreign aid"—have been steadily increasing their trade with Russia and the Communist-bloc countries. This has produced resentment in Congress. The question of trading with the Communist countries is likely to be a major issue in the next several months.

A LITTLE REST WORKS WONDER FOR RANGELAND
Shovel handle gives idea of how sideoots grama can grow

Range Grasses Prosper Following A Little Rest

Doctors are not the only ones to prescribe rest to give recuperative powers a chance. Range experts contend it is one of the best medicines for pastureland.

While total periodic rest through deferred grazing is sometimes advised, proper range management is also producing good results in this area, according to Earl V. Hogan, range conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

The accompanying picture taken on the L. W. Longshore ranch south of Big Spring illustrates how deferment over a three-months period during the growing season can help establish good growth of sideoots grama. This picture was taken in the flats, which was better watered than the slopes, and it had the choice cover. The luxuriant growth is now providing prime grazing.

BEST RULE
Hogan said that the best rule of thumb for good range management is not to remove more than half of the growth (by weight). When grazing goes beyond this point, it is time to consider other steps, such as reducing the number of head of livestock. If this does not maintain the balance, then deferred grazing may be the next step. Each year's management is indicated by that year's growth.

Proper use is important because it will allow grass plants to produce more seed and maintain plant vigor, thus stepping up the productive output of the range if climatic factors, notably rainfall, are favorable.

Leaves are the food manufacturing center of the entire grassplant. As leaves are removed, certainly beyond the 50 per cent mark, root growth decreases correspondingly. This reduces the absorption of water and nutrients and causes the plant to weaken. A vicious cycle is thus established — a weaker plant has a harder job of producing ample forage. It has a harder job of getting started in the spring.

A majority of the rangeland in the Howard and Glasscock County portion of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, is being managed to obtain proper range use. SCS technicians have pointed out that this is all the more important in times of limited rainfall such as the sporadic drouths of the past year.

Big Spring and all its people extend the friendly hand of a West Texas welcome to the student pilots of Webb's Class 65-D. These young men, here for a complete course of primary and basic jet-flying instruction, become citizens of our city for more than a year, and it is our earnest hope that they will find here a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere; and that when they must leave, they will do so with a kind feeling in their hearts for Big Spring, its business establishments, and all its population.

May we urge our new student pilots, as time permits them, to become acquainted with our town, to know about the churches and the schools, the facilities for leisure and enjoyment, the shops and the service establishments.

Particularly do we ask them to drop in and see us, just to let us get acquainted, and say in person what we are saying here. There's no obligation to buy at any time . . . we want to be of service, and of assistance if we can.

Yes, it's all wrapped up in one wholesome, hearty word . . . "WELCOME!"

"HOSPITALITY GIFT"
For New

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

John Wayne On Screen At Ritz

A tough, brawling, romantic story with comedy overtones, "McLintock," is slated to open Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. It's the story of hard-drinking, hard-fighting George Washington McIntock, land and cattle baron who meets his match when it comes to tough-mindedness in his own wife. His wife is played by Maureen O'Hara, the two who won an Academy Award for the classic "The Quiet Man." Filmed almost in its entirety in the Nogales, Ariz., cow country, where a typical turn-of-the-century cow town was recreated for it, the "McLintock" cast includes Patrick Wayne, the star's son; Stefanie Powers, Jack Kruschen, Chill Wills and Yvonne De Carlo. As though two Waynes aren't enough, a third is added in the person of Michael Wayne, another son, who produced the film. This marks a step forward for the younger Wayne, who was an assistant producer for the epic "The Alamo," which

Is America in distress?

This upside-down flag is a signal all is not well with higher education. Here's the reason. Colleges supply our leaders. We need more leaders to keep our world place in science, business, living standards. But the cost of leadership has soared. Colleges face higher costs and shortages. Many need classrooms, laboratories, teachers. Keep America—and the colleges—out of trouble.

Debbie Reynolds In Film Version Of 'Mary, Mary'

"Mary, Mary," the hilarious Warner Bros. motion picture Debbie Reynolds, Barry Nelson, Diane McBain and Michael Rennie, brings to movie-goers one of Broadway's top comedy stage hits.

Written by Jean Kerr, author of the immensely successful "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," the stage production of "Mary, Mary" opened March 8, 1961, at the Helen Hayes Theatre in New York and became the first non-musical in nearly a decade to celebrate 1000 performances. Debbie, one of the top screen

Merle Oberon In Love Story

Passionate yearnings expressed in an adult story played against lavish natural settings, make "Of Love and Desire" one of the most exciting films of the current season. Starring Merle Oberon, Steve Cochran and Curt Jurgens, it is set to open today at the Jet Drive-In.

Merle Oberon has the role of the central character, a perpetual seductress. In addition to Cochran and Jurgens, other men in her life are played by John Agar and Steve Brody. As for the lavish settings, the house in which Miss Oberon lives in the picture is one of the star's real palatial homes, the one in Cuernavaca, Mexico. The house was built more than 400 years ago by Cortez, the Spanish conqueror of Mexico. Entry is through a little gate in a high adobe wall. Stretching out ahead is a blue mosaic swimming pool into which droops flowering bougainvillea. Beyond this is a formal tropic garden, and opening on this, with no wall between, is a lavishly furnished living room. The story on which the film is based was written by Victor

Crown Colony Of Gambia Puts New Set On Market

By HAROLD C. PERDUE
A new definitive set went on sale in the Gambia early this month the Crown Agents Representatives have announced.

The Gambia is the smallest of the British colonies, located on the west coast of Africa. It consists of 200 miles of river, a wide estuary and from seven to 15 miles of land on each side of the river. The horizontal stamps, in multicolor, feature thirteen birds of the colony. A portrait of Queen Elizabeth II is included on each stamp.

ALBUM PAGES
The Washington Press, makers of White Ace album pages, has released a Red Cross Centennial album. Over 100 countries are represented in these pages. All issues are complete to the date of publication and supplements are to be added from time to time. As all White Ace pages, they are punched for a standard three-ring binder and done in red, white and blue on high-quality rag paper. Blank pages with matching borders will be available also. These pages are available at your favorite dealers.

John Gronouskie, the new Postmaster General, has announced a number of policy decisions on the U. S. stamp program. He will continue to use a Stamp Advisory Committee and limit U. S. commemoratives to 15 a year. A study is being made of a change in the U. S.

regular series, which will be 10 years old in 1964.

JOHN MUIR
The 1964 program will not necessarily be delayed by the change in this office. Work is proceeding on the John Muir stamp scheduled for February, 1964. Precedents almost guarantee stamps for the New York World's Fair, the 100th anniversary of Nevada's statehood and the Battle of the Wilderness (fourth in the Civil War series) four.

All plans will be announced as soon as possible, the department has assured.

News of Christmas stamps has begun to come in from around the world. Australia's 1963 offering follows that country's simple-design tradition, depicting a star over the earth and message, "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men." The Liechtenstein series of four multicolored Christmas stamps reproduces from a medieval songbook illuminated pictures of old minstrels. Of course, the second U. S. Christmas stamp shows the lighting of the White House tree and was released on November 1, in Santa Claus, Indiana. It is now available in all post offices.

For the collector of sport topicals, Austria has a seven-stamp issue for the Winter Olympic Games with three showing skaters, and a girl figure skater, a hockey player, bobsledding and tobogganning shown on the other four.

Half-Inch Shower Adds To Week's Rainfall Total

Howard County was doused with additional rains Thursday night, blown in by a stiff wind which promised to cause some damage but, luckily, did not live up to its promise. A brilliant electrical storm, more like spring or early summer than fall, accompanied the rains.

The rains dumped an average of half an inch more moisture on the fields and pastures of the county and, generally speaking, were welcomed.

Cotton farmers, although anxious to get their unpicked cotton to the gin, are also eager to move into their fields with belated plowing. The rains will put the land in fine shape for this work.

NO RUNOFF

Stock water is still needed and there has not been enough rains as yet to provide any runoff. Pastures however are being helped by the showers—a benefit that will make itself more evident later on.

Here in town, the rains were cordially received. Shrubs,

Exchange To Close

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the New York Stock Exchange indicated today that the exchange would remain closed Monday because of the President's funeral.

trees and lawns need rain to prepare them for the long anticipated hard freeze. A dry freeze, experts say, can kill shrubs and plants but a freeze when the ground is well saturated will do much less harm.

The total rainfall for the week has been better than 1.50 inches over the county. As is often the case, the U. S. Experiment Station, on the north edge of the city, got less rain than most other parts of the county. It gauged .36 inch.

LION'S SHARE

Vincent area and the northeast quadrant of the county got the lion's share of the week's rain although last night's showers in that section were only half an inch.

Heaviest rain in Big Spring was .82 inch gauged in the College Park addition. Most of the town reported around half an inch.

At Lomax half an inch was gauged but south two miles the rain built up to .80 inch.

AT CHALK

Chalk, which has had more rain than any part of the county this year, added another .80 inch to its total last night.

Some small branches were blown from trees by the gusty winds which accompanied the rains. Leaves, already weakened by fall, showered down in abundance.

Bright blue skies and a brilliant sun greeted early risers.

Weathermen said that a cold front, pushing hurriedly through, triggered the rains.

SEN. DAVID RATLIFF

Sen. Ratliff Visits Here

David Ratliff of Stamford, state senator from the 24th District, which includes Howard County, was in Big Spring this past week.

He has a visit with his daughter, Lynnora, who is speech therapist in the Big Spring school system, and made a number of calls on friends.

In the state senatorial re-districting, Ratliff was one of those who "lost in the draw," and will stand for re-election again in 1964, although he will be completing just a two-year term. Senate terms normally are four years.

Ratliff, in the Senate since 1955, has worked in behalf of several measures affecting Big Spring.

Jim Thompson Visits American Business Club

Jim Thompson, physical therapist at the Howard County Rehabilitation Center, Friday lauded the American Business Club for its contributions and efforts toward providing schooling for individuals who dedicate themselves to work with the physically handicapped and said the problems confronting the nation in rehabilitation work must be met by the disabled and able-bodied as well.

Thompson said 17,000 physical therapists are needed in this country now and the need would grow because of the rising incidence in birth defects, accidents and mental illnesses.

Physical therapists, the speaker stated, strive to develop coordination in a patient and teach basic skills needed in daily activities, working to restore the individual to a useful place in society as quickly as possible.

Upwards to 23 million people in this country have physical defects of varying seriousness and are in need of rehabilitation work.

Dwayne Gibson, 3 1/2-year-old victim of cerebral palsy, son of Louella Gibson, was a guest of the club along with his mother.

Dwayne has experienced much progress in his fight against the disease, Thompson said, and could be expected to take his rightful place in society.

Friday was Ladies Day at the club, which held its meeting at the Settles Hotel. Among women present were Mrs. Bill Bradford, Mrs. John Davis, Mrs. Byron Neal, Mrs. O. S. Ivey, Mrs. Garner McAdams, Mrs.

Coy Nalley, Mrs. Joe Clark, Mrs. Gordon Myrick, Mrs. Clyde Brown, Mrs. Roy Reeder and Mrs. Jim Lewis.

Other guests present include Harold McAlister, Leamon Bostick, Monroe Casey, Jack Hopper and Dick Madison.

Fern Cox was introduced as a new member.

It was announced that there would be no meeting next Friday, because of the nearness of the Thanksgiving holiday.

An ABC Christmas party will be conducted at the Big Spring Country Club at 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 6. Cost will be $3 per couple. A dance will follow the party dinner.

Club prexy Bob Hickson revealed that progress was being made toward the organization of a sister club in Lamesa and, in all probability, a charter night would be held sometime in early December.

No Meetings In Chamber Office

No committee meetings have been set this week at the Chamber of Commerce office, Manager Carroll Davidson said Friday afternoon. Thanksgiving holidays will cause activities to be light.

"The Ambassador's Club was scheduled to go to Sweetwater Tuesday when Governor John Connally was to be present," Davidson said. "I have just written letters canceling the trip."
