Mark Seeks Proper Sequence For Events

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Listening to the stalwart old fisherman, Simon Peter, it sometimes was hard to tell the exact sequence of events. Mark desired to set them down in rightful order, as truly as he could.

Yet much remained strange and overwhelming. Whither the end? And how the beginning? "My son," the aging apostle said, spreading his arms like twin spars on a mast, "once we had not received mercy, but now we have received mercy." His eyes glowed in his wrinkled, windburned face.

Mark sat on a three-legged stool, with a waxed tablet on his lap, a stylus motionless in his hand, waiting for Peter to continue.

EYEWITNESSES

"We did not follow cleverly devised myths when we made known the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ," he said stoutly. "We were eyewitnesses of his majesty."

The scene was in Rome, in the time of the Emperor Nero.

"Do not be surprised at the fiery ordeal that comes," Peter said "if one suffers as a Christian, let him not be ashamed."

Mark realized that ominous portents were abroad. Already many believers had died or been imprisoned simply for "the name's sake." It was this, in part, that gave urgency to completion of the book.

Elders and deacons of various congregations, when he had been in Antioch and Corinth and now in Rome, had besought him as assistant to Peter, to record the chief apostle's own account of the time of the Lord Jesus Christ.

PATIENCE

Peter himself lacked patience or training for the task, but none knew so well the astounding manifestations. He was a great talker with a sharp memory, but no writer.

It fell to Mark to set down these remembrances for the "followers of the way." Yet a question beset Mark's work—What were the origins of Jesus? From whence did he come? Peter dwelt on the resultant action, but not on background or explanations.

And Mark shunned any conjecturing. An elder of the period is quoted in an ancient document: "Mark, having become interpreter to Peter kept a single view in aim, not to omit anything of what he heard, or to state anything falsely."

Surely Peter must have known the derivation of it all. And yet—

The old apostle nodded enigmatically. "God was with him." He rose abruptly to his feet, a great hulk of a man with untrimmed beard, obviously intent on starting his rounds, still musing aloud. "He went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed."

ON MOVE

Mark followed Peter to the street. Always, it seemed, they were on the move.

That was the character and habit of Peter, of "Cephas the rock." Impulsive, blunt, demonstrative, a man of tumultuous action—the man who denounced himself as unworthy, the man who tried to walk on water and sank, the man who swore fidelity to Christ only to deny him and return to fishing, the man who jumped overboard and scrambled ashore at sight of the risen Christ.

The year now was in the middle of the first century. While Mark's Gospel may have been compiled as early as 40 A.D., about 10 years after the Crucifixion and Resurrection, the predominant evidence puts it between 50 and 62 A.D.

Nero had become emperor in 54 A.D. after his mother, Agrippina, plotted the poisoning of his predecessor, Claudius. Thereafter, the vain, erratic Nero had her and various other members of his family murdered.

also yielded to Paul's view that Christ came for all men equally, Jew and Gentile, slave and free. "Truly," Peter now affirmed, "God shows no partiality."

NARRATIVE

Mark, even with his years of labor for the cause, still depended on Peter for his first-hand narrative of the divine visitation.

The two weaved unheeded through Rome's crowded streets. Here and there, they slipped into a humble abode, a quiet synagogue, or climbed a hill to a private grotto, for talk, hymns and prayer. "Grace be unto you," Peter would sing out to the little flocks. Whatever the circumstance, Mark added to his notes.

The apostle spoke almost exclusively of deeds, rather than analysis. "Straightway we went—" he would begin some episode. Incident would follow incident, healings, storms at sea, children, multitudes, hunger, Jesus' anger, grief, tears. "Straightway, he departed—" a strenuous succession of activity. Yet something seemed missing. Should not the memoirs include some indication of Jesus' antecedents, some explanation of his being?

FAREWELL

At length, Mark was dispatched to Alexandria, bidding farewell to Peter and other workers in Rome—Luke, Silvanus, Timothy. Not long thence, in the wake of the great fire of July, 64 A.D., Nero unleashed massive violence against Christians.

Hundreds were thrown to wild beasts, impaled on horns of bulls, dragged by horses, doused with oil and publicly burned. Peter was crucified, head downward at his request, in honor to his Lord. Paul was beheaded on the Ostian Way.

LAST SUPPER

He recalled the suspenseful hours of their visits, especially that night of the Last Supper, when he followed them to the lonely garden of Gethsemane, invaded suddenly by flaring lights, curt voices and Roman constabulary.

Peter had drawn his sword, whacked off an official's ear. His had fled terrified, losing his coat to a soldier who lunged for him.

Later, in manhood, he had traveled as an evangelist with Paul and his uncle, Bar-Nabas. His resolute will made him known as "The Lion." At one time, he forsook Paul in protest against accepting non-Jewish converts.

They eventually became reconciled, however, after Peter

It begins, as it ends, in a rush of mature action, just as the Galilean fisherman lived it. It offers no rationalizations, simply the thunder of a mighty step on earth.

out of the water, immediately a voice came from heaven. 'Thou art My beloved son; with thee I am well pleased!'"

The Apostle Paul had been stoned, flogged and kept in chains for two years at the foot of the Caelian Hill. Even before the Apostle James was beheaded in Palestine; Stephen was fatally stoned; Jesus' kinsman, another James, was hurried from a temple wall and clubbed to death. Peter had broken jail.

Yet the tidings spread, penetrating even the imperial household and legions, among freedmen and slaves.

Now Peter, approaching 70, visited tirelessly among the brethren in Rome, strengthening them with his assurance, accompanied by Mark.

"An inheritance which is imperishable," Peter exulted repeatedly. Mark himself had not been among the close circle around Jesus, but Mark's mother, Mary Bath-Nabas, a wealthy Jerusalem widow, had provided her large house as a meeting place for the disciples. Mark had been a boy then.

My pastor friend charges us with having an unwritten creed, and thus being no better off than the denominations with their man-made creeds which they bind on all who take membership with them. He says, "Baptism is not described in the Bible," and concludes that when we insist on immersion, we impose upon the people an unwritten, man-made creed.

Well, if baptism is not described as immersion in the Bible, then words mean nothing. The Bible tells us baptism is a burial (Rom. 6:4; Col. 2:12). It describes Jesus' act, as baptism "in Jordan" (Mark 1:9).

We have a vivid description of what happened when the eunuch was baptized (Acts 8:36-39). He came to a body of water; he and the evangelist went down into it. There the baptism took place, and they came "up out of the water."

The Bible is our only standard of authority. We only ask people to accept what it plainly says.

Lights Added To Courtroom

Something new has been added to the 118th District Court room.

When an attorney at either the defense or prosecution table now rises to face the court, he will be in the full glare of a spot light.

Recently attorneys complained the lights embedded in the ceiling high above their heads were too dim to make reading of the fine print in law books easy.

The county commissioners court investigated, agreed, and an increase in candle power was ordered.

Monday, the electricians installed two sets of baby spots focused to strike full on the tables of the attorneys in the court. The lights over his honor's bench were increased to 300 candlepower.

Attorneys agree there is considerably more illumination now.

Let Your Light Shine Through Decorating

By VIVIAN BROWN

There's an idea for everyone when it comes to brightening up the home at Christmas. Many communities award prizes for especially creative mailboxes and doors. Some traditional ideas are always in the wreath in every window, lighting up the large spruce on the front lawn, a spray of fir and holly on the door.

Some ideas are downright corny and completely out of step with the Christmas theme. And just as bad are those persons who sheep-like follow the bad taste prevalent in their neighborhood in the interest of conformity.

Be different. Outdoors and indoors the goal should be to work with what you've got, and in relationship to the architecture of your home.

WHY GO ALONG?

Why should the owner of a stark modern dwelling go along with traditional lighting schemes if he can dream up something more interesting? Well, why not decorate the branches of a deciduous tree? The combination of the new outdoor bright lights that glow like little stars and the stark branches of the tree can really flatter a modern dwelling. Dwarf fruit trees are ideal size for decorating in this way. But dogwood trees and even drooping bushes can provide branches for a different kind of outdoor decoration. The idea is a stark-bright look.

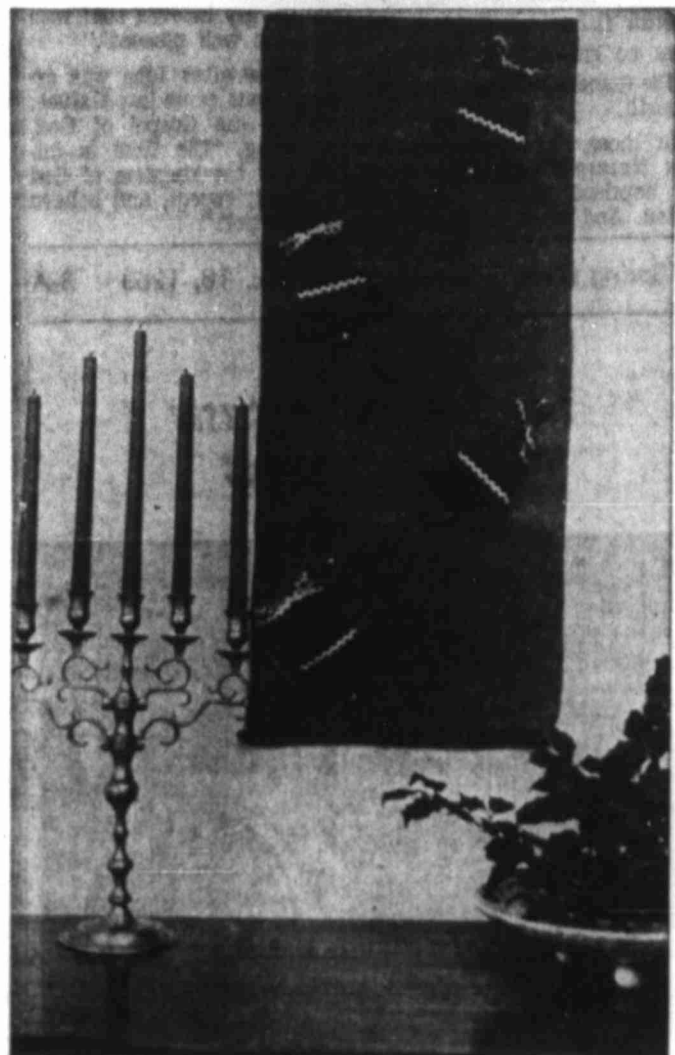

Picture windows may need a more modern touch, since so many wreaths would be needed to decorate panes that the effect would be out of whack with the simplicity of the modern house or ranch house. Pine rope carried around the window to outline it with lights may make a lovely picture, particularly if the indoor Christmas tree is to be set in the picture window. Most people do put the tree in a room in the area, as it is usually cooler near the window and an ideal place for the tree.

If there are a number of panes in the window, the panes could be outlined with rope and lights, if the tree is placed elsewhere.

MAILBOX ART

Rural mailboxes may be spotted with pine wrapped around the base and perhaps a nest of artificial birds wired to the top. Some people place a creche over the mailbox, building a chapel-shaped wooden enclosure for the box on which the creche rests.

The same rope pine may be used to decorate the lamp post, tied with an enormous red bow, strung with electric lights if you like.

The driveway may be illuminated with spotlights, reflectors, spot bulbs place on small stars, snowflakes or trees designed from aluminum foil and placed on stakes put into the ground. These are fun for small fry to make. White fences may be prettily decorated with colored lights; post and rail fences look good in bright white lights.

Doorways may be kept bright through the holidays with concealed floodlights lighting up some pretty decorations. Or the lights can be on the decoration. A popular one for contemporary or traditional houses is the tree made out of a slat arrangement of narrow pine boards three inches apart. The size of the tree depends on the length of the bottom board and the vertical board down the center that holds the slats together and forms a tree trunk. The tree may be painted red, green, blue,

Music can be as much a part of the Christmas spirit as a Christmas tree, and no home need have a "silent celebration" this year. In fact, while trimming the tree or just enjoying it, music will help set the holiday mood. One will find on visiting a favorite record shop that record offerings are more diverse for this Christmas season than ever before.

Seasonal Celebration Topic For Program

Jerry Delatour of the Toastmasters Club was guest speaker for a Monday evening program given at the Settles Hotel Ballroom. His program was presented to members of Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association.

Using the topic, "A Joyous Christmas," the speaker admonished the listeners to "... stop and take heed of whose birthday we observe at this season of the year."

Others appearing on the program were Mrs. Gage Laguna who sang "White Christmas" and "O Holy Night." She was accompanied by Mrs. Mac Robinson, pianist from Forsan.

Afterwards dinner was served at tables decorated in keeping with the season. The speaker's table featured prancing reindeer on silver Christmas balls in a base arrangement of evergreen. Flanking the arrangement were lighted Christmas bells. The decor was repeated on the table where 14 members and four visitors signed the register.

Color Blindness Has Ill Effect On Wife

Dear Heloise: I have often wondered if other men besides my own husband are color blind when dressing in the morning... I was always the morning judge on colors (while trying to get a dozen other things done). But not now. I took my laundry pen and printed the color of each pair of pants on the inside of the bias waist band... now my husband can read the color.

I guess I never realized how much we can learn from our cross-country coffee pals... 'til you... and may you be our "in between" forever. — Ruth

HELOISE

Honey, you know I will. And say, your husband just might be color-blind. Have him take a test and if he can't pass it, kiss him and be nice. He can't help it. After 21 years, we found out for the first time that our son was!

Dear Heloise: I use the following method for getting odor out of foam rubber mattresses and pillows: I sprinkle baby powder very, very lightly over the rubber and pat it in and smooth it until powder is spread evenly on the top part of the foam.

I then take my vacuum cleaner and go over the entire area of the mattress—taking up the powder.

Then I take the vacuumed mattress into the fresh air, outside and expose each side for about two hours. (Foam rubber is light weight and quite easy to manage with no help.)

After using this method I find the odor is completely gone and there is no sweet smell left from the powder, only fresh. This works well for me as it did for my grandmother.—Pat

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

A clever, original outdoor decoration for the season that fits right in with West Texas is the one arranged by DR. and MRS. CAL GULLIAMS in the planter at their home, 2800 Navajo in Western Hills. The planter has been filled with bear grass to hold giant poinsettias. In the center of the planter is a large mesquite branch which is covered with cedar and pine twigs and cones. Dr. Gulliams wired three little red lanterns with electricity and attached them to the branch to make a most charming Christmas decoration.

The Gulliamses are planning a big Christmas with members of their family who will arrive here just in time for the big day. Her sister and brother-in-law and their children, the KENNETH ALLANS, BRAD and KENNA RAE, are to be here from Dearborn, Mo., and their son-in-law and daughter, DR. and MRS. JAMES BARRINGTON, and children, C A N D Y, SUZY and BRAD, are coming from Wichita Falls.

Houseguests of CAPT. and MRS. LARRY BUTERA and their family have been her parents, COM. and MRS. DONALD McMILLAN whose home is in San Rafael, Calif. They left yesterday for Ft. Rucker, Ala. There they will see their son finish his pilot training, and he is to join them for the trip back here and Christmas with the Buteras.

Capt. Butera and the McMILLANS recently had dinner in Novato, Calif., with our niece and her family, MRS. DEAN TODD, CAPT. TODD and the little Todds. Capt. Butera and Capt. Todds were stationed in Europe at the same time, and the two families were friends there. Capt. Butera, stationed at Webb, was on a mission to Novato which is near San Rafael.

We always enjoy our visit with the Stanton REA people when they have their annual Christmas family dinner. Added to the delightful fellowship with these friends this year was something very special in the gastronomical department.

BILLY and EDDIE AVERY barbecued hams for the affair this past Saturday night, and I don't believe I have ever tasted pork in any form that was as delicious. According to one of the Averys (I never did find out if he was Billy or Eddie) they used hams that were only partially cured because they just hadn't had time to completely cure out. These were cooked in a pit over hickory logs and the result was wonderful.

We had short visits with some of our favorite friends among whom were MRS. NOYE HAMILTON and her daughter, MISS LELA HAMILTON. Also we saw the RALPH CRIMMS and NEAL ESTES. Other Big Spring people over were MISS TWILA LOMAX, MISS ANNA SMITH and MISS ARAH PHILIPS.

MR. and MRS. TOM BREWER of Galveston are expected to arrive Saturday for a very short stay with her parents, MR. and MRS. SAM ANDERSON. Both the Brewers are in medical school in Galveston.

BARBARA CLARK who is working in Monterey, Calif., is to arrive by train in Snyder Saturday. Her parents, the BOB CLARKS, will drive over to bring her here for Christmas. All of them plan to leave the Saturday following Christmas for Monterey where they will visit the other daughter, MRS. ROBBIE ALLEN and her husband.

Saturday's mail brought a thrill for MRS. W. A. HUNT who received a note from our nation's First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon Johnson. Mrs. Hunt, along with Dr. Hunt, has been in receiving lines several times with the Johnsons. She had written Mrs. Johnson a note of sympathy and encouragement following the tragic incident on Nov. 22. She recalled that they had last been together here in Big Spring when local Democrats held a reception for the couple at the Settles Hotel. Mrs. Johnson acknowledged the note by Dec. 10.

Mrs. Hunt's father, a farmer and rancher, had worked for the development of the REA during the time Mr. Johnson was in charge of the NYA and they had a close relation in the work.

White linen covered the refreshment table where yellow chrysanthemums formed the centerpiece. A silver coffee service was placed at one end of the table and a crystal punch bowl at the other.

Hostesses, who alternated at the service table, were Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Sidney Blanchard, Mrs. T. A. Welch, Mrs. A. J. Hooten, Mrs. Alva Thomas and Mrs. Glen Cornett.

Twenty-five guests called during the hours from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m. Miss Hoover and Freeman will be married Dec. 27.

E. M. Reese Marks 92nd Birthday

A man crippled with rheumatism and on crutches sold out his interests in Nashville, Ark., in 1907, and moved his family to a farm four miles south of Colorado City. He moved to a farm southwest of Ackerly in 1932 and where he has lived ever since.

E. M. Reese is 92 years old today. An open house is being held for him where friends may drop in during the day and pay respects.

Mr. Reese still reads the Herald without glasses, still drives his own car, and is active around the home where he lives with his youngest son and his daughter-in-law.

BORN IN 1871
Mr. Reese, who owns 320 acres of land in Dawson County, was born in Howard County, Ark., in 1871. When he was 10 years old his father died, and the boy had to quit school to help his mother at a gin and on the farm. He had three younger brothers and a sister.

Mr. Reese married Cynthia Garner in Howard County, Ark., in 1889. Eight children were born to the couple before they left Arkansas. One died in infancy, and the oldest, Grady, who lived in Martin County, died June 21, 1958, at 71. Other children are: Luther Reese, 70, Carlsbad, N. M.; Mike Reese, 66, Midland; J. O. Reese, 64, Ackerly; and Kinney Reese, 56, with whom he makes his home.

There are five generations of male Reeses living now. Mr. Reese has 26 grandchildren, 57 great-grandchildren, and 12 great-great-grandchildren.

CURED
"When we came to Mitchell County the family settled on a farm on the old Seven Wells

E. M. REESE
Sits in his favorite chair by a window

Road four miles south of Colorado City," Kinney Reese said. "My father overcame his rheumatism and in time was completely cured. He bought this farm in 1924 and moved here in 1932.

He was one of the founders of the Ackerly Church of Christ and was active in the church until about a year ago when he decided to slow down," the son said.

"When he came here he had a bunch of mules and horses and cultivated 295 of his 320 acres. Even when he got his first tractor he kept a couple of mares in the pasture for use when he needed them. He did most of the work himself but employed men when necessary in farming cotton and grain. He bought his first car, a Model 'T' Ford, in 1919. Before that the family went to church in a wagon."

Kinney Reese was employed as a mechanic in a dealer garage in Colorado City, until he felt he needed to be nearer his father. A home was built about 100 yards south of the old home and Kinney moved in. After Mrs. Reese died Sept. 8, 1961, at the age of 89, Mr. Reese moved to his son's home.

FIRST TRACTOR

"Dad bought his first tractor in 1935 to make his farming easier," Kinney Reese said.

Mrs. Kinney Reese said her father-in-law was deaf, but that he could do lip reading after he had watched a person for a time.

"One of the most remarkable things I've ever known is his ability to read, without glasses, at his age," she said. "He has one chair, a table lamp, and a window, where he spends a lot of his time reading. He looks forward to the Herald every afternoon, just as he has since moving here over 30 years ago."

"Mr. Reese is one of the most courteous gentlemen I have ever known. He never fusses about anything, but is ready to help where he can. He did quite a bit of work around the place last summer, including hoeing the garden and other things.

KEEPS UP

"Another remarkable thing about Daddy is that, with very little education, he knows what he is doing and reading. I have never known him to stub a check, but he can tell you at all times within a dollar of what he has in the bank."

Adjustment Board To Rule On Church Setback Bid

Action on a College Baptist Church request for a 20-foot front yard setback will be taken by the Zoning Board of Adjustment at a meeting set for 4 p.m. Thursday at city hall.

The board delayed action on the request two weeks ago after a delegation of home owners strongly opposed the request, contending a setback of 20 feet would be out of line with the 35-foot setback established by existing homes on the street.

Daryle Hohertz, a member of the board, relinquished his seat to alternate Maurice Koger since he (Hohertz) is a member of the architectural firm planning a new sanctuary for the church.

Hohertz, contacted Tuesday, said the setback request would be revised from 20 feet to 30 feet.

The church is constructing a new sanctuary at 1706 Eleventh Place.

Hohertz said construction of a round or square sanctuary would be more expensive and present a problem in acoustics. A Gothic style facing for the sanctuary would have to be abandoned if a square or round building is constructed, he said.

Chairman of the board is J. D. Elliott. Other members are Dick Collier, Carl Strom and Jerry Mancill.

The board also will consider a request by Mrs. V. M. Kirby for permission to put a trailer house on her lot at 2511 Broadway. Wheels would be taken off the trailer house, and it would be placed on a foundation and used for living quarters.

The church has three lots on Eleventh Place with a frontage of 180 feet. Rev. Byron Orand is pastor of College Baptist Church.

DEAR ABBY

Better Go Home Nights

DEAR ABBY: I am a respectable woman of 59. While being interviewed for a job as live-in cook and housekeeper for a well-to-do elderly gentleman who lives alone in a 12-room house, he asked me if I snored! He said he does not wish to be disturbed while he is sleeping. What does this have to do with my qualifications as a cook and housekeeper?

JOB HUNTING

DEAR HUNTING: Obviously his sleeping quarters are within hearing distance of yours. And if YOU do not wish to be disturbed while YOU are sleeping, I suggest you work days and go home nights.

DEAR ABBY: We are three sisters, 19, 22 and 24, so we aren't exactly children. Our problem is our mother. She is 47, a wonderful person, and attractive. She has been a widow for eight years, and has been going with the same man for six years. He is married and claims he has been trying to get a divorce all this time, but can't. (Is this possible?) Meanwhile, he is living with his wife, and Mother can't even be seen in public with him. We doubt if this man will ever be free to marry her. Mother says she "loves" him and one day he will marry her. Two of us girls are married, and when the last one goes we don't want Mother to be left alone. What can we do?

Rotarians Hear Choir

The Big Spring High School choir, directed by Mel Ivy, presented a program of Christmas music for Rotarians Tuesday. Wives of Rotarians were guests.

A "stereo effect" was set up for the first number by the 42-voice choir when a group of 19 was placed at the north end of the ball room and 23 at the other. The rendition was from the 100th Psalm, written by a Chinese composer in 1500 A.D., and the words were echoed by the 19 students.

The final number, a Negro spiritual, "Poor Man Lazarus," was a swift-moving song.

Ivy told the Rotarians that the choir had five more engagements this week, but would be available for club meetings after the holidays as a group, or with soloists.

Sam Anderson, December program chairman, introduced John Smith, high school principal, who then introduced the director and his choir.

Tech Takes Contemporary Approach To Agriculture

LUBBOCK — Agriculture students at Texas Tech are combining cowboy boots with business suits and are becoming scientists as well as soil tillers.

Dean Gerald W. Thomas, top man in the Tech School of Agriculture, and a driving force in the move toward the contemporary approach, puts it this way: "Agriculture is becoming more scientific and also more of a big business. In our instructional program, we are emphasizing that agriculture, the nation's number one industry, is no longer confined to the farm and ranch. It encompasses a multitude of commercial enterprises such as suppliers, processors, and distributors of farm and ranch products plus many associated services."

EMPHASIS

To solve these problems, Dean Thomas has moved his sprawling school, currently ranking twelfth nationally in enrollment, heading into greater emphasis on research and public service.

"Agriculture is one area in which the United States continually outstrips Russia," Dean Thomas said. "This has increased our awareness of research and development as keys to continuing these successes."

Seventy-four per cent of the Tech Agriculture School faculty members are conducting research projects of some sort. These projects cover a wide spectrum from an urgent battle by entomologists against grain sorghum midge, to developing sewage effluent as an additional source of water for irrigation and commercial uses. The school also cooperates with other schools of agriculture, with business and with research foundations.

RESEARCH

"Research stimulates the faculty to keep abreast of changing situations in agriculture," Dr. Thomas said. "Our students are more interested in their college work when they are engaged in advancing the frontiers of knowledge."

Research also allows specialists to be brought in that Tech normally would not be able to obtain, according to the dean. In outlining research in the seven departments which comprise Tech's School of Agriculture, Dean Thomas began with agricultural engineering.

"Research in cotton gin engineering, particularly as related to cotton handling and conveyance during ginning may mean more profits for cotton farmers through decreasing fiber damage during processing," he said.

Tech's agronomy and range management department is one of the rapidly expanding parts of the School of Agriculture. The most recent studies in this field deal with the use of radioactive isotopes in measuring grain sorghum, cotton and range grass root systems.

Range management faculty Dean Thomas claims that the are concentrating on selection of grasses which are best suited for West Texas range lands, evaluation of systems of management, and the inter-relationship of wild life and livestock.

The widely-discussed population explosion has placed great emphasis on Tech's animal husbandry department. Through research in all-concentrate feed for animals, livestock producers may be able to gain more efficiency through feeding greater numbers of animals on small plots of land. One five-acre pen on Tech's farm is feeding the stock equivalent to a 15,000 acre ranch cow-calf operation.

As a welcomed addition to animal husbandry research, Tech will soon formally dedicate its new $5,000,000 Killgore Beef Cattle Center. This center, located at Pantex, near Amarillo, will be the base for an extensive program of studying animal breeding and nutrition.

The park administration department has, in effect, "gone to work" for a number of Texas cities and communities. In addition to preparing a master plan for Texas State Parks which is being considered by Gov. John Connally and his staff in Austin, scores of city and community parks planning studies have been made.

MIDGE THREAT

Entomologists at Texas Tech have teamed with entomologists over the state to combat a midge threat which cost Texas sorghum producers $5,000,000 in losses in 1963. Two staff members will go to Argentina early in 1964 to screen insecticides used on midge. This use of winter growing seasons will provide two years of information in one year, according to Dean Thomas.

A second vital area being invaded by Tech entomologists in cooperation with public health agencies and the High Plains Underground Water District deals with playa lake modification as it relates to water conservation and encephalitis control.

The heat transfer characteristics of fluid dairy products, in particular what happens in cooling, heating and preservation, are under study in the dairy industry department. An additional project is seeking applications of dairy products as table spreads.

Public service, the application of research in Tech's School of Agriculture, comes through scores of short courses, conferences, and meetings conducted annually. Among these are the Agricultural-Chemical Conference, the Grain Drying and Storage Conference, the West Texas Water Conference, the Range Management Conference, Livestock and Meat Field Day, Research Farm Field Day at Pantex, the Dairy Industry Institute, and the Southwest Park and Recreation Institute.

Dynamite Opens Ditch For Line

FORSAN — The job of laying 200 feet of new water line in Forsan was requiring dynamite this week. Mayor C. J. Lamb said the whole city is underlain with caliche rock and that more than 2,000 feet required blasting when the mains were put down.

A new residence, built by Page (Rusty) Clevinger, on Main Street, required the tap. A back hoe, owned by Bettie-Womack Pipe Line Construction Co., of Big Spring, was starting the trench. Jack hammers were drilling holes at intervals for the blasting charge, and then the machine followed to clean out the trench two-feet deep.

West Berlin Gives Birth To Musical Roundhouse

BERLIN (AP)—Music in the round has come to Berlin. Of 2,000 seats in the new concert hall, the Philharmonie, 300 are directly behind the orchestra, hundreds more overhanging the instrumentalists in four oddly jutting balconies.

The Philharmonie, near the Communist wall, can be plainly seen from the Red-ruled part of the city. West Berlin has ambitious plans to rebuild the whole area, only recently cleared from the last debris of World War II. The plan is to make this West Berlin's new government district, replacing the Wilhelmstrasse, now bombed out and about half a mile away on the other side of the wall.

Winter Wheat Fair To Good

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said that the winter wheat pasture situation in the central and Southern Plains on Dec. 1 was fair to good in most areas.

November rain helped scattered sections. However, development of much of the fall seeded acreage was behind the last two years because of early season moisture deficiencies.

Grazing was extensive during November in Central Kansas and North Central Oklahoma.

Motorists passing at night along US 87 South see a brightly-lighted star atop the flagpole at Trinity Memorial Park (shown in top photograph). The fountain in the pool, in the foreground, is also illuminated with colored lights. The bottom photograph shows the beautiful white cross in the

Sportsman-Toyland Offers Big Choice

Christmas shopping for adults takes about as much time as it does for children. Many things are available to make hobbies something everybody can enjoy.

Sportsman-Toyland Center, 1608 Gregg, has an unusually large number of toy, hobby and sportsman selections for all members of the family. It can easily be made the one-stop Christmas shopping center, where Santa Claus has made a lot of popular items available.

and will be ready to hang when finished."

LEATHERCRAFT

In similar lines are kits of trays, ornamental pieces and the "Tool 'n Gold" leathercraft kits. The leathercraft kit includes patterns and tools for working billfolds and other leather products.

Car race sets, in the small HO type, are popular again this year also, Bunch said. They are replacing the larger models because they are sturdier, and adults as well as children, are interested in them.

Most popular toys and kits for youngsters this year are science kits, including electric, electronic and chemical sets, along with laboratory technicians sets.

FOR BUILDING

The building kits, including blocks, logs and other types are also popular. There is one big set, mostly assembled, called "The Skyscraper Building." It comes with cars, figures, furniture, electric elevator, bell and other accessories. It has already caught the attention of adults, who spend as much time as the youngsters operating it.

With just over a week to go before Christmas, shoppers can find the ever-popular army-type toys, space helmets and equipment, whole Blue-Gray battlefields with soldiers, guns and cannons; bazookas, "Structo Live Action" toy kits, individual toys and everything else needed to complete the shopping list for the family.

"Business has been very good on Christmas items," Bunch said, "and we feel that it will increase during the last week when families begin completing their lists."

Report Says Kennedy May Have Survived First Wound

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy might have survived the first bullet to strike him in the Dallas assassination, a source familiar with autopsy findings reports; it was the second bullet which proved fatal. This source said Tuesday night the first bullet fired by Kennedy's assassin struck the President in the back and did not damage any vital organs. He said it was not likely to have caused death.

This account of Kennedy's wounds differed sharply from earlier reports provided by physicians who ministered to the President shortly after he was shot Nov. 22.

TWO WOUNDS

Doctors who attended Kennedy in the emergency room at Parkland Hospital in Dallas found two wounds, one in the throat and one in the head. They expressed some uncertainty whether both were caused by the same bullet. But they said that if two bullets were involved, either wound could have been fatal.

Here is the new account of the wounds, as reported by a source fully acquainted with results of a post-mortem examination conducted at the Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital: The first shot struck Kennedy in the back, made what was described as a small, neat hole and penetrated two or three inches without damaging vital organs.

GLANCING

The bullet may even have entered Kennedy's back after first glancing off some part of the presidential limousine, since its penetration was not deep when compared with the damage done by the other shots fired by the assassin. This first bullet was said to have been the one that was recovered from the stretcher on which Kennedy was carried into the hospital.

The second bullet to strike Kennedy — the third bullet fired — left a large hole in the back of the President's head, destroyed considerable brain tissue and severely damaged the forehead. This wound caused instant death, although a faint spark of life may have remained for a few minutes in the heart and lungs.

This bullet, the source said, was recovered from the limousine.

IN CHEST

The second shot fired by the assassin hit Gov. John B. Connally of Texas in the chest as he turned toward Kennedy after the first bullet hit the President. He was seated in front of Kennedy on a jump seat.

Since there was an interval of five or six seconds between Kennedy's first and second wounds, the new account leaves the implication that Kennedy might have survived — perhaps escaped serious injury — had he quickly thrown himself to the floor of his limousine after the first bullet struck.

It seems apparent, however, that the first wound was so painful and startling that Kennedy was unable to react immediately except to throw his hands in front of him. Assuming the first wound was not fatal, Kennedy's life might also have been saved had someone shielded him or knocked him to the floor of the car in the interval before he was struck in the head.

Ruby Defense Demands Report From Psychiatrist

DALLAS (AP)—Defense lawyers are preparing to demand a copy of a report from the psychiatrist who examined Jack Ruby after he shot Lee Harvey Oswald to death.

Ruby's lawyers claim court rulings give them the right to examine the psychiatric report and other evidence in Dist. Atty. Henry Wade's files.

They plan to ask Judge Joe B. Brown at a bond hearing Monday to order Wade to let them see the evidence.

The psychiatrist examined Ruby in his county jail cell at Wade's request. Assistant Dist. Atty. William F. Alexander said prosecutors couldn't let Ruby's lawyers have a copy of the report "for the very simple reason that there has never been a written report." Alexander commented: "How could we give the defense a copy of something which doesn't exist? The psychiatrist has never given us a written report."

It is known, however, that the psychiatrist stated in a verbal report that he believes Ruby sane.

Wade said earlier that his evidence against Ruby has been turned over to the FBI and is no longer in possession of the Dallas Police Department or the district attorney's office.

In other developments: Prosecutors said they would study a U. S. Supreme Court ruling which may provide them with fresh ammunition for their legal battle to try Ruby before a Dallas County jury.

Opening lead: Queen of ♣ Declarer's fate in today's hand appeared to hinge on the location of a single card—the ace of spades. He put his inventive capacity to work, however, and devised a neat method for converting a fifty-fifty proposition into a sure thing. East opened the bidding with one club and South overcalled with one heart. West had a sound free raise to two clubs. North held an excellent fit for his partner, so he leaped straightaway to four hearts. Altho East and West have a one trick save at five clubs, the vulnerability conditions acted as a deterrent to any further competition on their part. West held the opening lead with the queen of clubs and he continued with the jack which South ruffed. A quick perusal of his dummy revealed to declarer that he was solid everywhere except in spades. If the ace of spades were located on his right, however, he could restrict his losses in the suit to two tricks by the simple expedient of leading toward the king in his hand.

Despite the fact that East was the opening bidder, South was not disposed toward making hasty assumptions, and he planned his campaign in such a way as to assure his contract regardless of who held the ace of spades.

Declarer drew trumps at the third trick by leading over to the dummy's king. The last club was ruffed away and the North hand reentered with the ace of hearts. A diamond was led and when East followed with the three South played the ten from his hand. This unorthodox but simple maneuver completely disarmed the defense.

West was in with the queen of diamonds and had no satisfactory means of exit. If he returned a diamond into declarer's ace-jack, South would obtain two spade discards from dummy and restrict his losses in that suit to one trick. West actually chose to play the ace and another spade in the hope that East had the king. Declarer won the second spade, however, and discarded North's last spade on the ace of diamonds.

LOVELL KUYKENDALL

Kuykendall Gets New Agent's Post

Lovell Kuykendall, who has served as assistant county farm agent here 3½ years, has been appointed county agent for McCullough County, it was announced today.

Kuykendall will report to Brady to assume duties Jan. 15. Meantime, according to Herb Helbig, county agent, his assistant will continue here. Plenty of work is now pushing for attention—the first of the winter and spring stock shows swing into action Dec. 30. Helbig added.

Kuykendall became assistant county agent here on graduation from Texas A&M College. He has made an outstanding record as a worker with 4-H Club members and is popular with the boys and girls of the organization.

He and Mrs. Kuykendall live at 607 Holbert with their young son. Mrs. Kuykendall is a deputy in the office of Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector.

Helbig expressed regret that Kuykendall was leaving, but pointed out that the appointment was a distinct promotion and a recognition of the young agent's talents. Kuykendall is a native of Cherokee.

Helbig said he had no information on when a new assistant county agent might be named for Howard County.

F105F's Awesome Power Displayed

By FRANCIS GRANDY
RAMSTEIN AIR BASE, Germany (AP)—We flew the tactical aircraft the Kremlin fears the most in a vivid demonstration of the awesome power of a modern U.S. Air Force weapons system.

Riding the sonic boom behind the educated nose of the Republic F105F Thunderchief, we got a back seat view of the strike capability of a remarkable aircraft once described as equipped to do "everything but salute."

The sleek, two-seat version of the F105F for the first time made it possible for observers to witness in action a fighter-bomber that can fly in any weather, at speeds up to twice that of sound and automatically deliver nuclear weapons or a conventional payload greater than that carried by the average World War II heavy bomber.

CAPABILITIES
Flown by veteran Republic Aviation test pilot Harry Evans, our mission was one of 40 staged by the Air Force to demonstrate the Thunderchief's capabilities to U.S., British, German, Canadian and French military personnel.

The F105F's big J75 jet engine rocketed us off the Ramstein runway like an express elevator. While we were climbing, Evans triggered to life the electronic computers stacked in the belly of the 18-ton chief.

Automatically the Thunderchief's navigation and flight control systems took over guiding us to 10,000 feet and swinging southeast to our destination, demonstrating how this aircraft can operate itself in blind flying conditions. The earth disappeared under a layer of clouds. Over the intercom, Evans told me he could fold his arms while our electronic copilot took us to Lake Ammersee near Munich.

In the black box compartment below us, a doppler navigation system was in command, digesting information supplied by the radar in the nose cone and issuing electronic orders to the autopilot.

Winds, drift angles, speed all were computed by the black boxes and interpreted on the instrument panel in terms of where we were and how far we had to go. If desired, Evans could have called on another radar system that maps the contour of the earth.

Our flight plan included a simulated bomb toss, and for the benefit of the cameras, Evans performed a loop, approximating the maneuver that can be employed to lob a bomb onto a target.

INTO SEAT

I relaxed while Evans pulled up the chief's nose. A gravitational pull four times my weight pressed me into the seat and everything grew dark as I fought blacking out.

Vision cleared again as we

Smith Takes Stanton Post

Robert C. Smith, an officer with the Big Spring Police Department four and one-half years, resigned Tuesday, effective Jan. 6.

Smith said he has been appointed chief of police at Stanton. He will assume the post Jan. 1, as he will be on vacation during the last week of his service here.

Smith, of 106 Walnut, will move to Stanton. He is married to the former Clea Faye Vancey, Colorado City. They are the parents of two children, Robert Glenn, 3½, and James Chrisman, 2.

The officer is a native of New Bern, N.C. He has resided in Big Spring since his discharge from the Air Force at Webb AFB in 1959. He served on active duty with the Air Force four years.

Close Call For Officials

PARIS (AP)—A plane carrying U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and members of his staff narrowly missed a collision today while taking off from Orly Airport for South Vietnam.

McNamara's big K135 Air Force jet transport blew its second hitting an incoming plane.

The defense secretary had attended the annual winter meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial council. He is going to Saigon for his second on-the-spot assessment in three months of the Vietnamese and American fight against the Communist guerrillas.

500 FEET

With blown tires smoking, the big plane rolled to a stop about 500 feet from the end of the long Orly runway.

"What a close call," said one of the Americans. "We almost had it."

The plane had been cleared for takeoff in a fog and was rolling down the runway when Capt. Meredith Sutton, at the controls saw a large passenger plane land directly in line with the K135's takeoff path, a member of the American party said. Sutton shut off all power and hit the brakes. The tires exploded under the strain and the huge jet bumped down to a stop.

NO RETURN

"We were almost at the point of no return," a member of the party said. "Another few seconds and the pilot could not have stopped in time."

McNamara and his staff planned to take another U.S. military plane. President Johnson is known to be gravely concerned that the successes of the Viet Cong Communists have continued since a military coup overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem a month after McNamara's last visit.

Since the military's assumption of power Nov. 1, guerrilla attacks have risen sharply, with heavy losses in men and equipment by South Vietnamese forces.

McNamara was reported to have decided on the trip to investigate whether the military junta can reverse the pattern.

Antique Car Valued At $6,000

A 1932 Packard car in good condition has a market value as an antique of $6,000, a petition in a damage suit filed in 118th District Court states.

The value of the old car is set as basis for the suit brought by Sam Frazier against the Del Tex Co Frazier, according to his petition, owned such a car on Oct. 22. It was parked on the strip between the sidewalk and the paving in front of his place of business on Gregg Street at Fourth.

He alleges that the defendant's truck left the paving and crashed into his parked antique. The old car, he said, was worth $6,000 before the collision and $300 after the crash. He asks for $5,700 to compensate him for his loss.

Webelos badges and graduation certificates went to Eddie Frazier, Steve Yeats, Richard Taylor, Keith Gum and Richard Cauble.

Badges of thanks went to adult leaders John Taylor and Bill Birrell.

Kiwanians To Take Santa To Westside Park

Santa Claus will visit 120 of his little friends who live in the vicinity of Westside Park — thanks to the intervention of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club — at noon Thursday.

The Kiwanians, following a custom of many years standing, will bring Christmas to the boys and girls of the neighborhood. The young guests were selected by social workers who are intimate with the economic conditions of the families in the community.

Sandwiches and cookies, with soft drinks, are to be served. The Kiwanians will dine with their guests in the community building at the park.

After the meal and a short Christmas program, Santa Claus will arrive. He will distribute the gifts provided by the club members. There will also be bags of candy and fruit for the kids.

The club members were each supplied with the names of two youngsters. The regulations are that the gift provided must be a toy rather than something "practical."

The Kiwanians will also assist in one of the Christmas parties in a ward at the Big Spring State Hospital Thursday night, it was announced.

No meeting of the club will be held at the Hotel Settles this Thursday due to the Westside Park event.

Winter Arrives Officially Here Sunday

Although you may have had an impression to the contrary, it is not as yet winter in this part of the nation.

Actually winter does not take control of weather until Sunday at 8:02 a.m. The chilliness which has occasionally created an erroneous idea that winter was at hand was not official. It was merely a series of instances where fall was trying to act too big for his britches.

The winter solstice will hold sway from Sunday at 8:02 a.m. until 8:10 a.m. March 20. Then it will yield its powers to the vernal Equinox—in other words, it will be spring.

Barnes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barnes, 1308 Dixie, was in Company L at Fort Polk, and his commanding officer noted that he "displayed intelligence, perseverance, diligence and devotion to duty. Jones To Discuss Check Department In Austin

District Attorney Gil Jones has an appointment today with the assistant attorney general who wrote the recently released opinion holding the hot check department of the sheriff's office to be illegal. Jones intends to go over all phases of the operation with the assistant attorney general and find out if he had all of the information about the operations when he handed down the opinion.

Jones with Wayne Burns, county attorney, and Sheriff Miller Harris, met with the Howard County Commissioners court Tuesday afternoon to discuss the matter and find a way to keep the department functioning inside the law.

A long distance conversation with the attorney general's office followed. Jones told the office that he would be in Austin on other business today and would talk with them about the problem.

Pending outcome of this conference, no final action was taken.

Attend Rites

KILGORE—Mrs. Alice Wells, 86, mother of Mrs. W. J. Goodson, 605 Douglas, died here Sunday. Funeral was held Monday in Lufkin. Attending from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Goodson, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Goodson, and James L. Goodson.

Lonely Holiday Again For 'Banned' Woman

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—On Christmas Eve at 6:30 p.m., Helen Joseph will go home. She must stay there until 6:30 a.m. Dec. 27. Her only holiday companion will be her cat.

She'll receive no visitors and plans no Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Joseph, a white divorcee, has been sentenced to the confines of her cottage. She is a banned person, by order of the South African government. Christmas is no exception.

Burglars Enter Two Buildings

Burglars removed an air conditioner from a storage building behind the College Baptist Church, 1706 Eleventh Place, police said. Rev. Byron Oran, pastor of the church, told police the air conditioner was discovered missing Tuesday morning.

Someone broke into Bud and Joe's Eat Place, 1100 block of Northwest Seventh, and took $3 in change, an undetermined number of 45-speed records and a quantity of cigarettes, police said. Cleve Gossett, owner, told police the business has been closed for the past two weeks. Tuesday morning, Gossett discovered a lock had been pried off the front door.

German To Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Gunter Seeliger, West Germany's new ambassador to Mexico, says German President Heinrich Lübke will visit this country, probably in February.

She has been refused permission to appeal her case. A regional court sentenced her to 12 months but suspended all but four days. The balance can be imposed if she commits any similar offense.

She is one of many in such circumstances resulting from the house arrest law imposed by Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster.

She is permitted to leave home after 6:30 a.m. on working days to go to her job as a secretary for a benefit society that provides medical aid for Africans. During lunch hour, she must report to the police. She must be back in her home at 6:30 p.m. On weekends, she must be in her home at 2:30 p.m. Saturday and remain there until 6:30 a.m. Monday.

FIRST WOMAN

She is the first white woman to be banned.

Because she failed to report to the police one day as required, she was sentenced to jail.

Derelict Old Lion Acquires Support Of Energetic Kids

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Leo is a derelict. He's getting bald and his teeth are cracked. Leo still has a little of the old fire—he growls and paces up and down in mock anger—but to be honest he's not much when it comes to lions. Nonetheless, 12 Phoenix girls 8 to 13 years old—are determined to get Leo a chance to start life anew as a real, scary African lion. Leo was abandoned near Phoenix last year. His owner left him cramped in a small cage without food or water. The owner never was found. So the mangy old lion became a ward of the Phoenix Zoo.

OCCUPIED
He's spent his time far back in the holding compound because there isn't a fancy outdoor enclosure for him. All the enclosures, built with funds donated by individuals and firms, were occupied. The zoo decided to sell Leo. He was taking up space, and he sure wasn't earning his three pounds of horsemeat a day. The 12 little misses promptly set up a howl. They insisted they would collect the money—$16,000—to get Leo his enclosure.

A WARNING
Zoo officials surrendered after warning the girls of the task they faced. Laela Bell, 12, was unperturbed. "Who ever heard of a zoo without a lion?" she said. And Jacque Webster, 11, said, "I'm just awfully afraid Leo feels nobody cares a thing about him." Jean Ann Bell, 9, admitted, "I've never seen a real, live lion and it's about time I did." The girls formed a club to help Leo.

THEY'RE RAISING FUNDS FOR A LION'S HOME
Phoenix youngsters put on shows to keep aging old Leo circus. Total collections—$19.35. "It was a beginning," said Alava Bell, 13. Next came an art show. Working from school-out until dark for days, they set up a gallery in 9-year-old Shelly Springman's back yard. Paintings, needlework and ceramics were displayed on picnic tables. It cost 25 cents to make the tour. The art was for sale, too.

One young artist tagged this note to her painting: "For sale—50 cents. $1 if you have it." The show netted $153.02. The girls are still at it—this time selling homemade novelties. "And just think," said 12-year-old Tina Ayers, "we just need $15,827.63."

Draftees Called
Twenty draftees go to Abilene today for pre-induction physical examinations, the Selective Service Office announced. In January, 34 will be ordered to report for physical examination and 12 for induction into the armed forces.
