

Building Permits Soar To New Record

McClintic Building Granted City Permit For Million Dollars

Boosting building permits to an all-time high, a $1,000,000 permit for construction of the new McClintic Building at the corner of Colorado and West Texas Streets in downtown Midland was issued late Wednesday by Frank Prothro, city building inspector.

Construction will start immediately on the modern five-story office building which is to house numerous oil company offices. Fred Burleson has the excavation contract. Work has been under way several days on the removal of buildings at the site of the new structure.

The huge permit, boosted the total for the year to $2,858,070 as compared to last year's record high of $2,817,900. The 1945 total was $1,544,805, and in 1940, it was $673,116. City officials expect the 1947 total to exceed the 1945 figure by more than $1,000,000.

The McClintic Building will be across the street west from the 12-story Petroleum Buildings. Charles A. and Harry McClintic, brothers, aid pioneer Midland ranchers, will be the owners. Wyatt C. Hedrick of Midland and Fort Worth is architect and engineer. Ralph Geisler, manager of the Petroleum Building, also will manage the McClintic Building.

Contracts call for the new building to be completed by June 1, 1948, and rental contracts provide offices will be available by that date.

The 100 by 140-foot building of five stories will be finished outside with a granite base, glass brick and stone. The interior will have asphalt floors, rubber wainscot, and will be birchwood trim. Automatic leveling elevators and air conditioning will be installed.

The owners said the reinforced concrete, steel and brick structure will be one of the most modern and attractive in the Southwest and will conform to the attractive appearance of other buildings which form Midland's impressive skyline.

Egyptians Try To Fire Consulate

CAIRO—(AP)—Demonstrators at Port Said threw rocks and empty bottles at the U. S. consulate Thursday, wrecked a statue of the French engineer who built the Suez Canal, and tried unsuccessfully to burn the British consulate.

Doors and windows shutters were closed at the American consulate as the demonstrators approached and no damage was reported. Demonstrations against the Security Council's refusal to order British troops out of Egypt also occurred at Alexandria.

The demonstrators began marching through Port Said soon after news of the Security Council's failure to reach a decision in the British-Egyptian case became known, shouting "Down with the Security Council; Down with Britain; Long live Egypt and the Sudan; Long live Russia, Poland and Syria."

Egyptian police prevented the Port Said crowd from firing the British consulate there, after which the demonstrators proceeded to a British camp on Kitchener Street, but Egyptian police surrounded the area and prevented a possible clash there.

U. S. Assumes New Powers In Germany

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States appears Thursday to be moving into a new position of power and leadership in Western Germany as a result of Britain's inability to pay her own way there.

This developing situation reflects the general growth of American influence throughout the European area due to the need for American dollars to buy the necessities of life and to pay for eventual reconstruction.

It appears to result not so much from any deliberate effort by the United States to gain influence for its own sake as from the American attempts to restore conditions in Europe to a point where the nations there can develop as they wish without heavy outside political influences, particularly Communism.

Fresh information on the way things are going in the Anglo-American zones of Western Germany came to light in connection with the official announcement of plans to boost coal production in the Ruhr mines of Germany. Much greater output from these mines is regarded in both London and Washington as essential to economic recovery in Europe.

Range feed was reported at 78 per cent condition September 1, the same as a month ago, compared with the 10-year average of 80 per cent.

Markings of Texas cattle and calves in the first seven months of the year were more than 1.6 million, a record for that period. Cattle and calves were reported at 83 per cent condition September 1, a 2 point decline for the past 30 days but average for this season of the year.

Sheep and lambs were at 83 per cent condition, a 1 point drop. Solid mouth ewes and ewe lambs were reported in strong demand for replacements over most of the plateau and trans-Pecos.

Atomic Report Adopted

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission Thursday adopted its second report to the Security Council by a vote of 10 to 1 with Russia opposed and Poland abstaining. The Soviet Union bitterly accused each other of upping the work of the commission.

The vote on the first report last year, embodying the principles of the Bauch Plan, had been 10 to 0 with both Russia and Poland abstaining.

There is no veto in the Atomic Commission but the Soviet Union will be able to kill it with a veto if desired in the council.

Reds Blamed
Shortly before the veto, Frederick H. Osborn, United States atomic delegate, charged that Russia has consistently attempted to impede constructive work in the commission.

Answering the slashing attack on the United States by Russia Wednesday, Osborn told the commission Russia must realize the only atomic control treaty acceptable to peoples of the world "will be one which does away with national rivalries" and provides "real security."

Osborn said the U. S. approves "wholeheartedly" the second report now before the commission.

Corn Crop Estimate Is Shaved

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The last hope that a revived corn crop might ease or remove the threat of less and costlier meat next year all but faded Thursday.

With harvest time approaching, the government's latest forecast of the crop that will largely determine the size of the 1948 meat supply shaved more than 33,000,000 bushels off a yield already rated as the smallest since the disastrous 1936 drought.

The Agriculture Department put the figure at 2,403,913,000 bushels as of September 1, a 27 per cent drop from last year's record output and the second consecutive decline since July 15.

Officials estimated earlier in the season that a harvest of at least 2,850,000,000 bushels would be necessary to maintain meat production near the present high level.

But the rains that could have boosted the output did not come.

Three Die In Crash Of Army Cargo Plane

DENVER—(AP)—An Army C-47 two-engine cargo plane with a crew of three aboard crashed 30 miles south of Denver early Thursday, public relations officers at Lowry Field reported.

They said the three were killed when the transport crashed into Spruce Mountain near the town of Castle Rock.

The big aircraft, capable of carrying some 35 persons, ploughed through a grove of trees before smashing into the mountainside.

Names of the men killed in the crash were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Bond Election To Be Held In Auditorium

Only one voting box will be used in the special election on the proposed $1,385,000 bond issue for civic improvements, the City Council decided at a called meeting Wednesday afternoon. The voting will be done in the City-County Auditorium, Saturday, October 4.

Boyd Laughlin was named election manager, and Irby Dyer and Gerald FitzGerald, alternates.

Officials of American Continental and Pioneer airlines again met with the councilmen to discuss lease arrangements and operation facilities at the Midland Air Terminal. Proposals made by the city will be submitted by the representatives to their managements.

General Eisenhower Will Take No Part In Political Draft

WASHINGTON—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower hit again Thursday at talk of "drafting" him for the Republican presidential nomination, but still left unanswered whether he would accept the nomination if it should be offered.

He told a news conference in New York: "It has been pointed out there is no such thing as a draft unless the draft is an artificial stimulant. I am not going to be a party to any such draft or anything artificial."

Eisenhower is in New York to visit Columbia University whose president he will assume next year when he retires from the Army.

H. D. Spalding, chairman and treasurer of the recently organized "Draft Eisenhower for President League," said his group is going ahead anyway.

"He still doesn't say no," Spalding told a reporter. "We are going ahead."

Gulf Lands Included In State Lease Sale

AUSTIN—(AP)—The State School Land Board Thursday voted unanimously to include 1,989,840 acres of submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico in its next mineral lease sale November 4, despite the recent Supreme Court decision upholding federal claim to California's tidelands.

The board, consisting of Gov. Beauford Jester, Attorney General Price Daniel and Commissioner of the General Land Office Bascom Giles, held a special meeting to decide the issue in view of the current tidelands controversy.

The recent claims of the federal government, the board said in a prepared statement, may result in some oil operators declining to participate, causing an expected loss of $2,000,000 in lease sales and delaying development of a great portion of the acreage.

The board members said, nevertheless, that they made the decision "because of our firm belief that the State of Texas, for the benefit of our public school fund, has complete legal title to and ownership of these submerged lands and because a number of independent operators and smaller companies have indicated the same faith and an urgent desire to begin development of the property."

The board also voted unanimously to raise rental fees from 50 cents to $1 per acre per year on all tracts in addition to bonus bids and to limit Gulf tracts to a maximum of 1,440 acres each.

"The smaller leases are expected to result in better development," Daniel explained, noting that Louisiana tracts contain as much as 5,000 acres each.

Some tracts extend as far seaward as 27 miles but the bulk extend seaward only 10 1/2 miles, Giles said.

Other land to be leased
The November lease sale also covers 19,934 acres upland and 455,550 acres in bays, inlets and river beds. For a grand total of 2,465,324 acres offered, Giles said bids are not expected on all the tracts, however.

Board members said in their statement that "from our investigation, it is clear that those at this time declining to participate in the November leasing feel equally strong about the title of the state but fear that claims being made by certain departments of the federal government will tie up their investment in court for a long period of time."

C Of C Directors To Meet Thursday

Directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday in the private dining room of the Scharbauer Hotel.

John P. Butler, president, called the meeting and urged attendance by all directors.

Two matters of business on the agenda are a proposed community chest and a report from the civic affairs committee, headed by Tom Sealy.

British Miners Will Return To Coal Pits Monday

LONDON—(AP)—Strikers in the Grimethorpe, England, coal mine voted unanimously Thursday to return to work Monday, breaking the back of a five-week-old unauthorized coal strike which took 60,000 workers out of Yorkshire pits.

Miners elsewhere in the rich Yorkshire fields had come out in sympathy with the Grimethorpe workers, cutting Britain's coal production in the midst of an economic crisis in which the fuel was badly needed.

Expect All To Return
Labor circles expressed belief that all the strikers would return to work with the end of the Grimethorpe walkout.

The strike developed after the National Union of Mine Workers and the National Coal Board, which operates the nationalized mines, asked Grimethorpe workers to work a larger "stint"—two feet more of coal face—to up boost production. The men said they were already producing to the limit of their capacity.

Senators Hope For Decrease In Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Flanders (R-Vt.) and Baldwin (R-Conn.) said Thursday they expect the congressional investigation of rising living costs to bring about some reductions in food and clothing prices.

Neither senator elaborated at their joint news conference as to how the reductions may be effected, but Baldwin told reporters: "We are hopeful that if it is true there are any unconscionable profiteers they will be warned by this investigation."

Flanders, chairman of a joint Senate-House subcommittee of three senators and three representatives which will open public hearings next Monday, agreed with Baldwin. Baldwin was author of the resolution calling for the inquiry.

Kuomintang Party Will Elect Leaders

NANKING (AP)—The ruling Kuomintang Party took a step toward democratization Thursday with a decision to elect party leaders, officials and staff workers now subject to appointment.

Adopting the first section of a reorganization program, the Kuomintang's Central Executive Committee also approved a plan for broadening the base of the party through enrollment of farmers, workers and young intellectuals.

A party spokesman said the committee virtually has decided to shelve any formal statement on political reforms in favor of urging prompt adoption of reforms recommended at previous sessions, of which he noted, "Only a small portion ever became effective."

The spokesman said the party will seek to finance its activities through "forced contributions" by its 4,000,000 members.

Balkan Question May Be Dropped

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—The United States was reliably reported Thursday to have moved formally to have the Balkan question dropped from the Security Council's agenda—a step necessary to permit the 55-nation General Assembly to act on the problem.

A spokesman for the American delegation said Herschel V. Johnson, deputy U. S. delegate, asked that the Balkan issue be put on the calendar of the council's next meeting so the United States could propose the necessary action.

Under the UN Charter, the Assembly may discuss matters which are under active consideration in the Security Council but may not make recommendations. The Assembly will begin its session next Tuesday.

The American spokesman said the United States was prepared to offer a resolution to meet the Charter requirements. He said, however, that it was not yet sure whether the resolution would provide that the Balkan case be dropped outright. It might be possible, he said, merely to declare that the question was no longer under active consideration.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with the club colors of white and gold. The tea table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white carnations surrounded by floating white gladioli. At either end of the table were crystal punch bowls which were presided over by Mrs. Howard Steker and Mrs. John Kellerman, past presidents of the club. RETURN TO OKLAHOMA

Mrs. Katie Butler and daughter, Frieda, of Oklahoma City and son, Charles Butler, of Mountain View, Okla., have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Williams and other relatives in Midland.

This collar, in which a face can be coyly hidden, rises from blouses, gilets, dresses, coats and suits. Examples of what a dandy's up-jutting collar can do to distinguish coats and suits are shown above. On the suit of wine-colored wool at left, there's a black Persian lamb collar wired to stand up on its own. The exaggerated cut adds style-flair to a straight-hanging cutaway jacket, which designer Paul Parnes combines with a peg-topped skirt and a back-buttoned black satin blouse.

Bevin Suggests Lend-Lease Plan Be Started Again

LONDON—(AP)—British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's latest proposal for solving Europe's economic ills is that the United States revive wartime lend-lease.

In a short talk here, he recalled his Sept. 3 suggestion that the U. S. redistribute the gold buried at Fort Knox, Ky., where it has stored some $12,500,000,000 of its $21,765,907,000 gold supply.

"I do not mind whether it is lend-lease or that," he went on. "But all I say is this—that you can't get settlement in the world unless we get these economic conditions right."

His lend-lease idea, which he did not amplify, was tossed out in an address to Paul H. Griffith, immediate past national commander of the American Legion, and 135 other legionnaires bound for European war cemeteries. The visitors were dinner guests of the British Legion.

Plenty Of Will To Win
"The United States have decided," Bevin said, "that we are the junior partner, that we are a third-rate power."

This was an evident reference to recent London newspaper stories that the U. S. State Department, in a report to congressmen now in Europe, has classified Britain as no longer an "equal" in the Big Three. "Let me say to you, my dear Americans," the foreign secretary declared, "We may be short of dollars x x x but we are not short of will x x x We won't let you down."

Washington officials commented that lend-lease could not be resumed without authority from Congress, which is not scheduled for a regular session till January, although talk of a special session now is circulating.

The added, however, that Secretary of State George C. Marshall's plan for aid to Europe, now being elaborated, might turn out to have some resemblance to lend-lease.

Amateurs Eliminate Defending Champion

PEBBLE BEACH, CALIF.—(AP)—With defending champion T. C. B.-hop and the pre-tournament favorite, Frank Stranahan, rudely bounced out of the running, 16 survivors of hectic third and fourth round play headed into two more sudden-death tours of the fog-bound, chilled Pebble Beach golf course Thursday in quest of the U. S. National Amateur Links championship. Still very much in the bitter chase were such big game challengers as Marvin H. (Bud) Ward from Spokane, 1939 and 1941 winner; Dick Chapman of Mamaroneck, N. Y., the 1940 champion, Walker Cup player Skeel Riegel of Monterey Park, near Los Angeles; Metropolitan New York Champion Frank Stafacia from Fishing, and last but by no means least, Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, the man who provided the spectacular punch in Wednesday's play.

Dawson, who was quietly kept on the sidelines of the National by the U. S. Golf Association from 1929 until 1946 because of his connection with a sporting goods store, meanwhile competing in and winning numerous sectional and local amateur events as the good U. S. GA glanced elsewhere, came to the eighteenth green, trailing, one down.

Stranahan missed a putt of less than two feet. The matter was all square. They played the nineteenth and on the twentieth Dawson brought it to a dramatic end with an eagle three.

Pioneer Discontinues Service To Lamesa

Houston—Pioneer Air Lines has received instructions from the Civil Aeronautics Board to immediately suspend operations to Lamesa.

The decision of the governing organization of the scheduled airlines was made when examination for the Lamesa airport demonstrated its unfitness for use by Douglas DC-3 aircraft.

Col. Robert J. Smith, Pioneer president, said the suspension of service is temporary and flights will be resumed when airport improvements are made.

Pioneer officials said the service to Lamesa is being discontinued reluctantly and that the airline desires to resume operations when the airport is made adequate for the operation of its planes.

Religious Education Week Is Proclaimed

AUSTIN—(AP)—Observance of the week of September 28 through October 5 as the seventeenth-annual Religious Education Week in Texas is urged in an official proclamation by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

The proclamation called on Texans to "dedicate themselves anew" to a society built on religious faith in a world where there is chaos, uncertainty, suspicion and dissimilarity among nations.

In a second proclamation, Jester declared September 17 as Constitution Day in Texas in line with a congressional resolution.

Children Meet Dentist With Counter-Attack

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Children here are counter-attacking in the battle of the dental chair. Word leaks out from dental offices that moppets are stalking in for their appointments with their mouth tightly closed. They nod curtly when the dentist says "Climb into the chair." Dr. H. A. Ireland, president of the Kiwanis Club, has announced proceeds will be turned over to the club's underprivileged children fund.

Community Theater season ticket holders will be admitted to the production without additional charge. Ronald K. DeFord, president of the Community Theater, said, "The show will run at least four nights, possibly more."

Youngsters Switch Mechanical Engineer To Toy Manufacturer

Barbara Hopkins, 4, sets up pegs for a ride in plastic gears which her Dad devised.

Richard Hopkins, former mechanical engineer turned toy maker, watches his three oldest daughters create unusual designs with his molecular toy construction set. Daughters, left to right, are Wilfay, 11, Susan, 7, and Joan, 9.

Cathie Hopkins, 5, wields wooden wrench to remove one of the big plastic screws from come-apart wooden tool chest, sample of how Hopkins tempers his engineer's craftsmanship with personal parental experience.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer
SUMMIT, N. J.—(NEA)—Five rambunctious little girls are five reasons why a successful mechanical engineer left his machines and turned to a postwar career as toy manufacturer.

The result of this switch has produced intriguing new types of toys that trace their origins to such diverse sources as truck gears, scientific laboratories, mechanic's tools and old-fashioned spelling boards.

Author of this fresh approach to make-believe is Richard Hopkins, a pleasant, sandy-haired young father of the handful of girls who range in age from four to 11 years old.

"When you have five children, your interest in toys isn't exactly academic," explains the Aurora, Ill.-born designer.

"I had such difficulty finding suitable toys for my brood, I figured I'd do something about it." What he has done about it has won whoops of delight from tots and whole-hearted praise from parents and child educators.

What's this engineering father's idea of a good toy? "Motion, and interesting shapes and colors are basic requirements. What a toy does by itself is unimportant. What a child can do with the toy is the criterion of a good play tool. Materials must be sturdy and well finished."

"My own testing crew of five," says Hopkins, "has shown my structural weaknesses, in my experimental models which were then changed, so that toys could be dropped and stepped on without breaking."

Hopkins' prewar career as a mechanical engineer with New York's subway system led to a hitch as instructor in the Army Engineer Corps. One night he brought home from camp a wooden truck gear used as a visual teaching aid for young mechanics at Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

His children accorded it such an enthusiastic reception that it gave him the idea for his first toy—a pint-sized gear train. This has a wooden base with three removable colored plastic gears which mesh and spin at the lightest poke of an inquisitive finger.

To fit in gear holes there are pegs, hollowed out with a hole in the top to discourage young suckers. This latter refinement in design is a good example of how Hopkins tempers his engineer's craftsmanship with personal parental experience.

The toy maker borrowed his idea for a "molly kewl" construction set from molecular structure models used in science laboratories. With this set, a juvenile scientist—any child from two up, he says—builds his own structure with colored rubber ball "atoms" punched with holes which fit unbreakable bright plastic and rubber connectors.

In his come-apart tool chest, Hopkins caters to the yearning of small fry to untwist screws without parental reprimands. The chest also provides a container for carrying his other treasures. The sturdy box is put together with three types of big plastic screws.

Two different shapes of wooden wrenches and a wooden screwdriver are brought into action to get it apart. This, incidentally, develops in children shape discrimination and manual dexterity. Also included in the set are a wooden hammer and pegs to pound in holes along chest sides.

The fourth of his series of imaginative playthings is a choo-choo village. On a green-painted board, a tiny hardwood train permanently set into a grooved track, like the letters on an old-fashioned spelling board, is fingerpushed through a village populated with tiny movable wooden houses, churches and stores.

Denmark informed the United States last spring that she considered it time for us to get out of Greenland and terminate the wartime agreement for military bases there. This agreement was made in 1941 and included arrangements for postwar discussion of permanent relations. Technically, the United States is still at war with Germany, which also tried to make use of Greenland. But the Danes, hard pressed by their Communist minority, sought action. They probably would just as soon see the United States bases continued so long as their sovereignty is not questioned, but they definitely don't want any trouble with Russia about it.

Rio Conference Puts Greenland Under U. S. Wing

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Greenland, standing within the Western Hemisphere frontier which will be defended jointly by the American nations under the Rio agreement, thereby becomes for all practical purposes, with or without Denmark's plea or nay, a military dependency of the United States.

This is but one of the conceptions, born of recent experiences with world-wide war, which are incorporated in the agreement. British, French and Dutch possessions in the Caribbean and the Guianas are in a similar position. Interestingly enough, Guatemala finds herself pledged to defend British Honduras, which the Guatemalans claim, and Argentina is in a similar position regarding Britain's Falkland Islands.

Real Complications
There are some real complications involved in the Greenland situation, however.

Denmark informed the United States last spring that she considered it time for us to get out of Greenland and terminate the wartime agreement for military bases there. This agreement was made in 1941 and included arrangements for postwar discussion of permanent relations. Technically, the United States is still at war with Germany, which also tried to make use of Greenland. But the Danes, hard pressed by their Communist minority, sought action. They probably would just as soon see the United States bases continued so long as their sovereignty is not questioned, but they definitely don't want any trouble with Russia about it.

All Are Discreet
Secretary of State George C. Marshall made it clear that the United States considers Greenland a part of her defense system. But the State Department, like the Danes, has been discreet. Exchanges between the two governments are believed to be passing back and forth through regular diplomatic channels, but nothing is being said publicly. It could be that both parties would just as soon let the situation rock along. The United States still uses Greenland, and Denmark has protested and can ask Russia, "Who's going to throw them out?"

The United States, for its part, sees no point in pressing for a decision which will be made, willy nilly, if war comes. Pressure on Denmark, observers believe, merely would result in increased Russian demands on Norway for Spitsbergen. The Reds don't want us in Greenland, and we don't want them in the frozen isles between Greenland and Europe.

Interest Only Academic
For practical purposes, the Rio agreement merely means, of course, that if Greenland or Alaska (or the North Pole) should be attacked, the smaller Latin-American countries will throw their moral and economic support behind the United States.

Their interest in these areas, barring the collapse of the United States and the appearance of a conqueror on their own borders, is purely academic.

For Costa Rica to commit herself to the defense of the United States' Alaska, Denmark's Greenland and Britain's Falklands is a new application of the rapidly growing idea of multi-nation collaboration against disturbers of the peace.

The Belgian Congo goes about $56,000,000 worth of business with the United States annually.

Color is associated with other senses. Most people flatly refuse to eat bread or mashed potatoes stained blue or purple, even though it is harmless and tasteless dye. The modern public health movement started in 1942 in England with a report on the sanitary condition of the laboring population.

Fairs And Carnivals Hope For Booming Fall Business

NEW YORK—(AP)—The whole outdoor entertainment industry, from pitchmen to popcorn wholesalers, are watching the skies, hoping for good weather, as the United States' fair and carnival season has passed the halfway mark. With around half of the nation's 3,000 scheduled county, district and state fairs already over, the industry is hoping that from now until October it can make up earlier losses.

Rainy skies and muddy fair grounds, followed by intense and burning heat whittled the business down to shoe-string operations. Customers were notable by their absence.

Veterans of the fair and carnival business predict a few good weeks ahead—weather permitting. Bumper crops mean happy farmers; smoking chimneys mean full employment. Together they produce gay, free-spending crowds on the midway of the nation's fair grounds.

Fairs have big business in dollars and in personnel. All through the warm months gamblers of laborers from coast to coast are leveling fields, black-topping dusty acres, and erecting temporary grandstands, stalls and booths.

Popcorn is selling for around $10 for 100 pounds; balloons are wholesaling at $2 a gross in the giant size. There's a steady demand for candy floss, apple sticks, french fries, and ice cream in various forms, and cones.

With items scarce during the war years returning to retail store shelves, fair patrons are demanding better goods in prize awards and merchandise. Merchandise found in "digger machines"—called "slum" by the trade—has to be more attractive. "Flash merchandise" which is the better stuff shown as come-on in the prize award games gets better returns when the still-scarce items are well up front among the displays.

Old Favorites Popular

On the straight entertainment side, there is continued popularity for acts, acrobats, wire walking, knife throwing, animal trainers, midgets, for the old tried and true auto merry-go-rounds, and the rest of the familiars.

Local participation and friendly rivalries are an important part of all the fairs and are growing more important with the years. 4-H clubs and women's groups spend lavishly of time and effort to produce the best displays and contests.

The Middle West and South-west are the gold mines for the professionals, for the agricultural states turn up the biggest crowds. Some county fairs are held on the outskirts of the big cities, but these are rather self-conscious affairs where the carnival part predominates.

More Ex-Congressmen Needed Opines Texas Senator O'Daniel

WASHINGTON—(AP)—What this country needs, says Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas), is more ex-congressmen.

That is just one of several observations made recently by the Senator for a state-wide speaking tour in Texas.

"I'm still plugging for my bill which would limit the tenure of all elective federal officials to one six-year term," he told a reporter.

"It would be good for the country if we had a lot more ex-senators and representatives. As common citizens, they'd be able to take an intelligent interest in affairs here based on their experience."

The Senator took a pot shot at colleagues who are traveling over the globe on various inspection tours.

"I never went on one of those junkets," he said.

"It strikes me that it would behoove a lot of these individuals to stay home and learn how to run affairs here properly, rather than traipsing all over the world telling others how to run their business."

As for the British economic situation, he remarked:

"I voted against the British loan before, and I'll vote against it again if the question comes up. Of course, I feel sorry for those people, but we can't just keep throwing our money out all over the world.

"We would go bankrupt. But then maybe that's what these communitistic New Dealers would like. That's why we need a thorough house cleaning here. The Republicans so far haven't done any better than the Democrats."

O'Daniel declined to state definitely whether he will be a candidate next year for reelection, but everyone is assuming he will since he has said he is "willing to stay here and fight" for his proposal to limit senators and others to six-year terms.

He said he and Mrs. O'Daniel hope to leave soon in the family car for Texas, and after a brief sojourn at their ranch near Fort Worth he will begin a round of talks over the state.

"I don't know yet whether I will take a hill billy band with me," he added.

"Some boys down in Texas with a band have volunteered to go with me, but I won't mention their names at this time. You know it's quite a problem to get such an outfit these days; they are becoming 'mountain Williams' and charging an awful lot."

The Senator said he has not yet arranged a definite speaking itinerary, but he has a large number of invitations to speak and he plans to get about the state in his car or with friends to fill engagements.

A brand new telephone operator—that's me. Just started today.
Like it? Yes, indeed...especially one thing...everybody is so friendly. I felt at home right away. It's a nice clean place to work, too; pleasant surroundings, and the switchboard is really fascinating. I'm going to enjoy working for the telephone company.
And here's a tip, if you're looking for a job. More operators are needed right now. Experience isn't necessary because you learn as you go along.
The chief operator at the telephone office will be glad to tell you all about it. Why not see her?

Chicken Cooks In 2½ Minutes

BY ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Mother will be sad.

For I have just come from a chicken dinner, and a good one, too. And this chicken was cooked by electronics—in exactly 2 minutes and 30 seconds.

The job is done by using the radar principle in a gadget which looks like an electric stove crossed with a home laundry.

So far the electronic stoves have been installed only in hotels in Boston and Washington. But classy eating joints everywhere may be electronicizing their food before long.

And, as a guess, the contraptions will be ready for home use within three to five years.

Not For Sale

Their cost? A dark secret, for none is for sale. The hotels rent them: $5 a day for each range.

I don't know why the other characters showed up for the demonstration. But I was lured in by one breathless line in the invitation.

This is the one which said that the electronics stove was the most important cooking advancement made since the discovery of fire.

Look at the other items on the menu, and their cooking time: Lobster, 2 1/2 minutes; sirloin steak, 30 seconds; demonio potatoes, 25 seconds; yellow bantam corn on cob, 40 seconds.

Plate Remains Cool

It ate all of this, plus dessert, purely in the interest of science.

And that may explain why I'm unable to explain how this thing works, for I have a very dull feeling. I don't think I can tell you why.

This stove cooks in a minute or two—yet leaves the plate or cooking tray cool enough to handle.

A hamburger can be cooked inside its bun, and the bun won't be warm.

An ear of popcorn can be put into a cellophane bag, along with some salt. Thirty seconds later, a tidy sack of popcorn.

I don't know why, but it does.

Washington Wasn't Expected By Founders To Become Big City

BY ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Let's have a look today at Washington, city of contrasts—at Washington, the town your jack built.

To begin with, it's all a huge mistake. Nobody ever expected Washington to be a city.

It was planned as a country town, on a marshy wasteland which previously had been home, sweet home for ducks and mosquitoes.

Now it has grown until it's one of the nation's ten largest cities. An estimated 360,000 people cram its 61 square miles. Another 500,000 live in nearby Virginia and Maryland.

This has disgusted the ducks but delighted the mosquitoes.

Even Thomas Jefferson would be amazed at what has happened.

Predictions Too Low

Taking a deep breath, Jefferson said that in 100 years Washington might have 100,000 residents. In time, he said, the figure might even reach 200,000. Washington's population in 1800 was only 14,093.

As if, with 1,300,000 duck displacers around, things aren't crowded enough here already, an estimated 3,500,000 tourists wander through each year. An estimated 3,500,000 of them carry cameras.

The congressmen talk of oppressed people, and of foreign groups which are denied democracy.

Residents Can't Vote

But after all these years, the congressmen haven't figured a way to let the 860,000 local residents vote. They still don't have a dog-catcher they can call their own.

And I almost forgot. That bronze figure on the capitol dome.

It's a memorial to freedom, and it offers the most surprising contrast of all.

It was cast by slaves.

HEAVY MILK CONSUMPTION

The per capita milk and cream consumption in the cities and villages of the United States average between 37 and 40 gallons annually.

Democracy For Dollars

Because of the tactics and attitudes of government leaders in Greece and China, the United States is being forced, slowly and reluctantly, to play the game of international politics more and more by Russian rules.

There now appears to be little hope of solving the crisis in either country, except by American insistence on a change in the complexion of both governments as a price of financial aid. This would be interference and dictation, and Russia could be counted on to exploit it fully. But certainly the only persons who would object seriously—and for different reasons—would be totalitarianists of the extreme right and left.

So far, the American government has been firm but reasonably polite. Only General Wedemeyer's frank statement on his departure from China has given either country cause for public embarrassment. It may be imagined, however, that both he and Ambassador MacVeagh and Dwight Griswold, head of the American mission in Athens, have talked with equal frankness in private.

The rightist leader Tsaldaris did yield at the last minute to requests for a more representative Greek cabinet, it is true, but only after a display of injured pride that had the American representatives almost apologizing for suggesting it. In spite of a series of conferences with General Wedemeyer, Secretary Marshall and others, the Nanking government appears to have put few reforms on paper and none in operation.

All signs point to the fact that there has been a complete lack of statesmanship, responsible leadership and political morality in the Chinese and Greek governments since the war. There also seems to have been a lack of common sense among top politicians in failing to see that their present tactics would ruin themselves, along with their countries.

The United States can afford to spend billions, if necessary, to preserve peace. But the return on that investment must be greater justice and less discontent in the nations which receive the billions. There can be no promise of peace among peoples whose political rights are denied, and who go hungry while their leaders grow fat and rich. The United States cannot afford to spend a cent to perpetuate any government as unrepresentative and undemocratic as the present regimes.

So it seems inevitable that Washington must do a little imposing of its own, if present aid to Greece and future aid to China are not going to be money poured down a rat hole.

The very least that should be demanded, in advance of payment, is a representative government in which all non-Communist elements may participate. For more than 20 years the Kuomintang Party has been China's government as completely as the Communist Party has been Russia's. In last Summer's Greek elections, the first in 14 years, the people turned in fear and revulsion from communism. They soon found themselves saddled with a government in which moderate and liberal elements, rendered powerless, refused to join.

If the American government should impose free elections, representative government and a bill of rights upon the Greek and Chinese people it would certainly be expressing the will of its citizens. And we do not think that it would suffer any loss of prestige in the eyes of the non-Communist world.

'Dogs' Dressed In New Wrapper

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Top quality frankfurters are now coming to market stylishly dressed in a convenient new package. Made of heavy cellophane wrapper, the new package aids retention of natural juices and flavor in the frank, keeping them fresher and tastier and completely sanitary.

The transparent, heat-sealed cellophane wrapper allows full visibility of each of the 8 to 10 frank enclosed. The frankfurters are arranged neatly in two rows and the compact package is easy to carry or slip into shopping bags.

Switzerland Sends Cheese Again

Swiss Gruyere process cheese is back after a six years' absence caused by the war, in the well-known round 8-ounce boxes with six pie-shaped pieces wrapped in protective foil. About 35,000 boxes came in recently with another shipment of the same size expected in a few weeks. Gruyere is made from the big 200-pound wheels of genuine Swiss cheese, then processed to produce the smooth white cheese with the tangy, nutty flavor that will be remembered by those who knew it before the war.

This cheese is made in the little town of Thoune, in the Bernese

Alps. It is claimed that the milk from cows grazing on the high Alpine pastures, with their pure mountain water and rare grasses and herbs, gives the distinctive flavor found in this product. It was first introduced in the U. S. in 1915.

Ben Franklin Knew His Groceries

The long arm of Benjamin Franklin reaches far, for it was he who invented the long pole with a clamp that grocers use to take packages and cans off high shelves. So chalk up another invention to the ingenious Benjamin Franklin.

Little Bees Are Fifty Million Dollars Industry

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A bulletin scurried out of the Department of Agriculture, crying: "Importation of adult honey bees prohibited!" And naturally buzzed right over to ask: "how come?"

Well, it turns out there's no point in worrying. The local adult honey bees are getting along fine.

But in Europe they're dying off with something known as the Isle of Wight disease. And since there is no known cure, the department has tacked up strict immigration restrictions.

Bees are a $50,000,000 industry in this country, but that isn't the real reason the agriculture people are careful.

Many of our favorite fruits, vegetables and flowers depend upon the bee for pollination. If the bee starts to feel puny, so will a great part of the nation's agriculture.

Since the bee is such an important little character, let's look at some facts dug up by R. W. Sherman, the department's quarantine officer.

Ancient poets may have sung about their honey lamb, but they never had a word for their little sugar child. That's because honey was man's first sweetener. Sugar cane culture began only about 1,000 years ago, in Spain.

Despite the bee's importance to us now, he's an immigrant.

Nobody knows when the first bees arrived, but was before 1683. They were German, or black bees. And now they have been largely displaced by the Italian bee, which didn't get here until 1859.

Because bees are so essential in pollination, a new industry has arisen: bee renting.

The bee keeper cashes a daily double. He collects rent for his bees—and keeps the honey.

Everyone knows, of course, the taste and color of honey are determined by the type of flowers the bee patronizes.

But the agriculture experts out in California, the nation's beehive state, report some source of honey you probably never thought of. The flower of the poison oak, they say, makes a white honey with an agreeable taste.

On the other hand, honey from honeydew is so disagreeable it's used mostly in cooking.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

There was a wide variation of results on the hand shown today in the national championships tournament. Several pairs played the hand at five hearts, which in most cases was made. One pair managed to arrive at three no trump and struggled through to make it for a bad score. The top score went to the pairs who arrived at six clubs.

Several reached that contract, and one pair made seven-odd when they got a spade opening. Declarer won the spade with the ace, cashed the ace and king of hearts, ruffed a spade in dummy, then ruffed the third heart in his own hand, setting up two good heart tricks in dummy. The trumps were picked up, and a losing spade and losing diamond were discarded on the good hearts.

With the queen of diamonds opening, declarer had a little problem. He had to win this in dummy with the ace. The spade was led

It Is Difficult To Write Plans For Mutual Aid

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Writer

At the Rio conference of the American Republics an old international "tension" has risen again when do friendly nations go to each other's help?

Time and again nations have tried to define aggression so they would be agreed at what point to get up and stop a war-maker. That seems simple enough to a layman. But the League of Nations spent months arguing the question and got nowhere. Russia's foreign commissar of the day, Maxim Litvinoff pressed for an agreement that would send the member states out after anyone who:

1. Declared war on another state.
2. Invaded another nation.
3. Attacked the territory, vessels or aircraft of another nation.
4. Set up a naval blockade.
5. Supported armed bands, before in another country, or refused to take steps at home to deny aid to such bands.

Litvinoff failed in the league, but under him in the 30s Russia put its provisions into treaties with Romania, Estonia, Latvia, Poland,

Turkey, Iran and Afghanistan. Some now think that, if the league had approved the Litvinoff plan, World War II could have been invoked against Germany in Spain, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

And, ironically, with Litvinoff ill and in the discard, today's Russia probably would be adjudged the culprit under his formula.

The idea of defining aggression got a little flesh on its bones at the 1945 Chapultepec Conference. There the American Republics did promise to stop any nation whose troops crossed international borders in the Western Hemisphere.

Failed At San Francisco

The idea came up at the San Francisco conference of the United Nations, but failed.

Now the republics gathered at Rio have been asked again to decide when aggression starts.

Cuba's Guillermo belt started it with a request for action against "economic aggression." That shot was fired at the United States, which, through a recent sugar act, permits the secretary of agriculture to limit U. S. purchase of sugar wherever a nation refuses American citizens fair treatment. That worries Cuba because her welfare rises and falls by large sales of sugar to the U. S.

The time which such debates take as one thing worries the small nations. They would like a sort of international alarm clock to ring when war has started, and they have thought a list of aggressive acts would be the answer.

But the U. S. doubts the value of a rigid list. We argue that the start of war today can take such varied forms the Americas should have, rather, an agreement for quick consultation to determine whether war has started.

Officials Urge Ban On Army Jets In Air Races

WASHINGTON (AP)—A recommendation that the Army Air Force enter no more jet airplanes in hazardous closed-course air races will be made to AAF headquarters.

An observer from headquarters who attended the recent races at Cleveland said he believed the flying of the super-speed fighters over a course which involved repeated tight turns as well as other factors placing extreme stress on plane and pilot was too dangerous to be justified. He said he would make that recommendation to Gen. Carl Spaatz.

'We Need Cash' Needs No Translation Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Undersecretary of State Lovett said he had heard so many requests from foreign officials for American financial help that he does not need a translator any more.

Laughingly, he told a news conference that one day a foreign diplomat came in and started talking to him in a language he did not understand but he realized at once that the diplomat's country was out of dollars.

to the ace and the queen of spades returned. East made the mistake of covering with the king. Declarer trumped in dummy with the eight of clubs, led a heart to his hand, ruffed a small spade, picked up the diamond trick.

If East had not covered the queen of spades, North would have had to decide whether he should lead the queen ride. That would have been a difficult decision. If he lost to the king of spades, the contract would be defeated because the opponents would cash a diamond trick.

Parents Can Help Make School Days Great Adventure For Children

By Max Hall

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Millions of little people are going to school this month.

The U. S. Office of Education believes about 32,070,000 youngsters will attend schools and colleges—a new record. About 22,620,000 will be in elementary schools. About 2,450,000 of these are six-year-olds, entering the first grade.

They will be starting out on one of the greatest adventures of their lives.

Much depends on how well their parents have prepared them.

Frances Mayfarth, editor of "Childhood Education," non-profit professional journal for teachers, says the parents can prepare the children by:

1. Sending them to nursery schools or kindergartens; but these institutions aren't available to many children.
2. Seeing that they play with other children of the same age.
3. Teaching them to feed and dress themselves, and speak so as to be understood.

4. Seeing that they have "experiences" they can talk about—such as trips, toys, stories, books, and especially little chores that will show them how to work.

5. Encouraging the children to have a "positive attitude" toward school, instead of "considering it only a place for discipline."

Those are things the parents can do before the child enters school.

Keep Up With School

After enrollment, the parents can keep on with most of those things. And, according to Mrs. Mayfarth, they can also:

1. Take a genuine interest in the school, work with teachers and administrators, understand what the school is trying to accomplish (and not consider it only a place where the harassed mother can be rid of the children for a few hours each day).
2. Support the whole "school structure" by working and voting for more financial support.
3. Send the child off in the mornings in a happy frame of mind.
4. Build up an impregnable sense of "security" in the child by love and kindness, so that the child will not fear to come home with problems, and will know positively that whatever happens, the parents will continue to love and stand behind him.

People Demand Banana Ice Cream

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Readers often ask for a banana ice cream recipe.

Banana Ice Cream
(Serves 8)

One cup mashed fully ripe bananas (2 to 3 bananas), 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cup milk, 2 egg whites, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Mix together bananas and lemon juice. Add sugar, salt and milk, stirring until mixed. Beat egg whites until stiff. Whip cream until thick and shiny but not stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick. Combine banana mixture, egg whites, cream and vanilla. Turn into freezing trays of automatic refrigerator. Freeze, with indicator at coldest setting, stirring every 30 minutes until mixture begins to hold its shape. Freeze until firm. Here's another wholesome chilled dessert.

Frozen Rice And Pineapple
(Serves 10)

Two cups boiled rice, 1 cup crushed pineapple, drained, 1/2 cup evaporated milk, undiluted, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons gelatin, 1 cup whipping cream, garnish.

Soften gelatin in cold milk. Dissolve in top of double boiler over low water. Add gelatin to rice and other ingredients and place in freezing tray of refrigerator. After mixture has been in tray for several hours, garnish with whipped cream.

Huge Blast Fails To Raze Nazi Shelter

BERLIN—(AP)—British technicians set off 50,000 pounds of explosives recently in an effort to flatten the Tyrgarten air raid shelter, which held 30,000 Germans when the U. S. and British air forces were blasting Berlin.

The big bang succeeded only in tearing the steel shutters from the windows. The 12-foot walls of the steel and concrete structure, 150 feet high, remained intact. German children jeered the results.

First wire cable suspension bridge in the United States was built in 1816 over the Schuylkill river.

IPAA Opposes Shipping Steel To Middle East

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Independent Petroleum Association of America opposed shipment of a vast quantity of steel pipe to the Middle East on the ground it might contribute to an American oil shortage.

But an official of Trans-Arabian Pipe Line Company, which plans to use the pipe for a 1,030-mile oil line, said it would be "a major step toward easing the present oil shortage around the world, including the United States."

Russell Brown, general counsel of the petroleum association, asked Secretary of Commerce Harriman in a letter to turn down the pipeline company's application for an export permit.

Family Of Five Owns And Uses Five Homes

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO—A father seeking admittance of his three children to suburban Boardman High School told the court his family owns and occupies five houses during the course of a year.

Judge David G. Jenkins, hearing the suit of Sam H. Miller against the Boardman School District, expressed amazement and inquired: "Isn't there a pretty big housing shortage?"

The judge also asked why Miller did not sell one of the homes, located in Youngstown, and received the reply that taxes would equal almost the amount he could get for it.

The four other residences owned

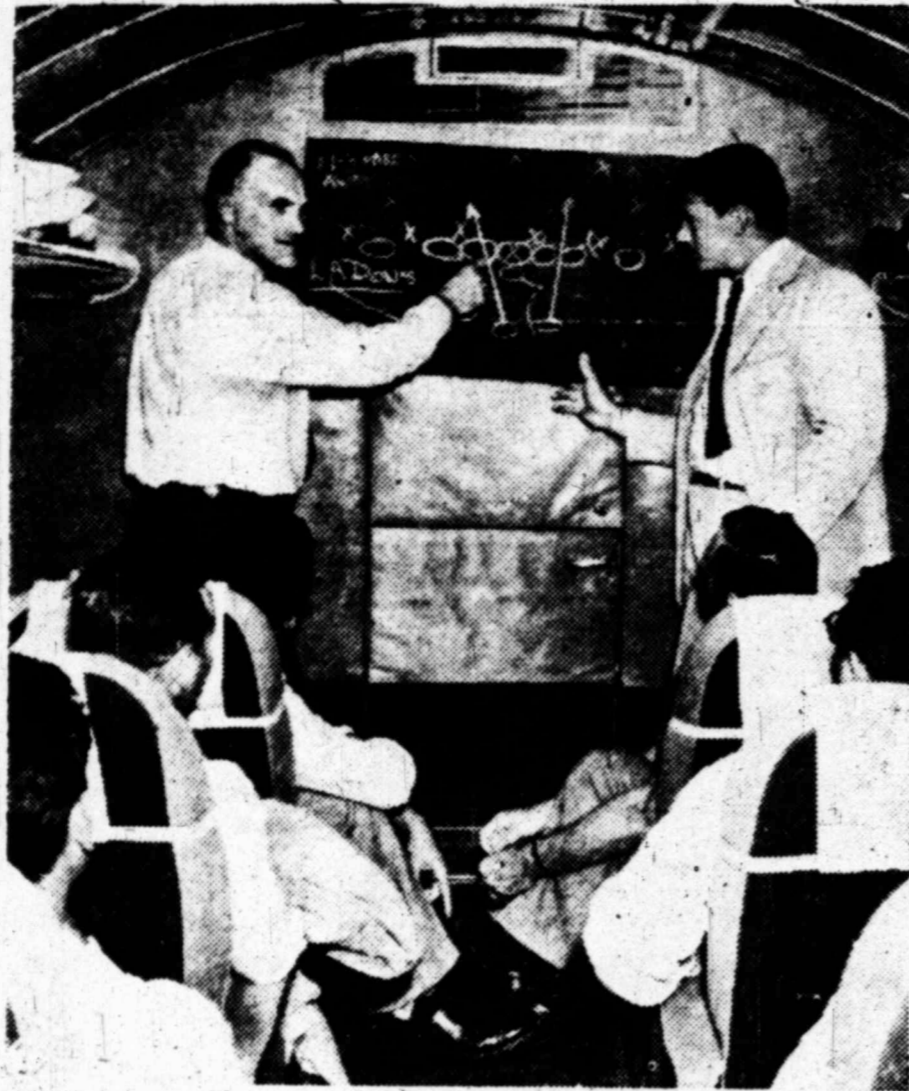

INCREASED CONSUMPTION

Americans consumed 19 pounds of candy per capita during 1946, compared with only 16 pounds per capita in 1938, despite curtailed supplies of sugar and chocolate and the fact that 20 per cent of all candy manufactured went to the armed forces.

Although Japan was Asia's leading producer and user of iron and steel its iron reserves are considered completely inadequate to meet even normal industrial needs and used by the family, Miller testified, are in Boardman, Ohio, two in Bobcaygeon, Canada, and one at Mercer, Pa. The school district contends the Miller children are Youngstown residents.

Big British Airplane Is In Full Production

LONDON—The Air Ministry disclosed here that Britain's largest and fastest military transport, the Handley Page Hastings, is in full scale production.

Taking the plane off the secret list, the ministry said it would be used by the RAF for multipurpose roles—freighter, parachute troops, co-oper-transport supplies, dropping, and glider tug.

With a wing span of 113 feet and an over-all length of 81 feet, 8 inches, the all metal, four-engine monoplane is powered by Bristol Hercules fan-cooled sleeve-valve engines, each of 1,675 horsepower.

The Hastings has a top speed of 354 m.p.h., a maximum cruising speed of 303 m.p.h., a service ceiling of 27,000 feet, and a range of 1,260 miles, the announcement said.

Fifty fully-equipped airborne troops can be carried.

2-4-D Stops Grass Before Growth Begins

HONOLULU—(AP)—Growth of grass in sugar cane can be controlled through the use of 2-4-D, the chemical weed killer, although sugar cane is grass and the chemical does not injure grass under most systems of application, says Dr. H. F. Clements, plant physiologist of the University of Hawaii.

Clements' experiments show that application of the chemical before the grass sprouts can be made to prevent growth of grass where it is not wanted. Several methods of application have been used, some of which developed injuries to the cane plants as well as controlling the grass.

The chemical has been spread in fields and spread by airplane. Clements emphasizes, however, that the work is still in the experimental stage although it proves pre-germination control of grass is possible.

Climatology Offers New Research Field

AMES, IOWA—(AP)—Iowa State College has just turned out its first class of six graduates in a newly established course in agricultural climatology.

R. E. Buchanan, dean of the graduate school, said five of the six graduates stepped into jobs with the U. S. Weather Bureau but he predicted climatological research would become an increasingly important field of activity.

The sixth graduate, Jose Memoria of Vicosa, Brazil, will resume a teaching career at the Minas Gerais State College of Agriculture in Brazil.

The six students, all of whom were granted master of science degrees at the end of the summer term, were college graduates, had farm background, and had served as military weather officers during the war.

Euchanan explained that an agricultural climatologist is not a weather forecaster in the usual sense. Instead, he studies all aspects of the weather in a given area to help solve agricultural problems.

Agricultural experiment stations, large farm management concerns and food processing companies will have increasing employment opportunities for climatologists in the future, Dean Buchanan predicted.

'Dark Horse' Eisenhower Favors Strong U.S., Makes Few Comments

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Politicians are busy with one of the most unrewarding jobs they have tackled in a long time. They are trying to find out what Dwight Eisenhower thinks about those things that might become issues in the 1948 presidential election.

The Republicans want to know in case a Taft-Dewey stalemate should develop at Philadelphia next summer. Then, if a popular movement arose to compromise on General Eisenhower, they would like to know what to expect from him both as a campaigner and—if he should win—as president and boss of the GOP.

The Democrats, too, want to get a line on Eisenhower's views. His popularity is so great that he would be a hard man to attack. They need time to canvass every angle—just in case.

Few Commitments
Thus far, though the record has been combed pretty thoroughly, the pickings have been slight. As chief of staff, General Eisenhower has spoken frequently, sometimes with formality before big gatherings and sometimes off the cuff to reporters. He has committed himself on few topics. Careful study of his public statements since the beginning of 1946 show that:

HE IS FOR:
Higher incomes for workers.
More housing for veterans.
The Truman Doctrine.
Established American rights.
The free enterprise system.
Cooperation of capital and labor.
World peace through understanding and friendship.
A strong, effective United Nations.

Universal Military Training.
A strong, prepared Army and Navy.

HE IS AGAINST:
Communism and other "vicious cults."
Racial, religious or class discrimination.
Premature disclosure of atomic secrets.

Speculation about the "next war." Consistently General Eisenhower has taken the stand that it is his job to run the Army, and that political speculation is bad for the Army. He disclaims any political ambition. His speeches have been confined almost exclusively to urging the two things nearest his heart—world peace and national security. He says he wants to spend the rest of his life promoting these and Americanism based upon "the individual rights of every man because they are his rights."

But when he told the CIO, at Atlantic City, that unions should be encouraged to seek "the good things of our country's production" for the workers, he also added—"as long as these efforts are in harmony with our national welfare." He told a group of investment bankers that a nation that spent as much as we did on war can produce housing for the men who fought that war, and it should be done without help from Washington.

He told the D.A.R. of his opposition to vicious cults that seek to weaken this country by dividing and confusing with false promises—but he added that such cults can be beaten by insistently rejecting discrimination based on class, race or creed.

On the same day, he told both the CIO and a group of wealthy, powerful employers that this country can be strong, and can produce the goods needed both by ourselves and the world, only if capital and labor are united in cooperation.

He says frequently that nobody wants war, that war is not inevitable, and that he looks forward to the day when professional fighting men will have no jobs. But he is against disarmament—or even weakening of our strength—until all nations join us in such a step.

He believes that it is vicious to speculate on "how, where and why the next war will be fought." But he recognizes that there is one great nation whose international goals are not like ours, and he says we must still go ahead and do what we consider to be the right thing.

We may have to give up our dream of one world, he says, and accept the reality of two.

"We trust only governments that have power, centralized in the people. We do not trust countries that have power centered in some military leader, dictator or oligarchy."

Yet he expresses no doubt that education and good will and understanding can put an end to war. His formula is simple, and in keeping with the record of his entire public career:

"Firmness, patience, a sense of humor—and keep your powder dry."
