Hurricane Lashes Florida Coast

Miami Isolated Temporarily By Tropical Storm

MIAMI, FLA.—(AP)—A tropical hurricane of devastating proportions roared into Florida's East Coast playground Wednesday smashing a dozen commercial planes and temporarily isolating Miami.

The center of the storm apparently struck Fort Lauderdale shortly before noon, and the Miami Herald reported a 55-minute lull ended abruptly with resumption of 100-mile-an-hour winds.

The aircraft were reduced to wreckage as the hurricane ripped Miami's airport. All were in Latin-American service.

Two railway trains, which were to have hauled 5,000 refugees from the food-menaced Lake Okeechobee region, were caught in the storm at Palm Beach. Crews were working frantically to get the stalled cars rolling, and had three locomotives hooked to one train.

Swank Miami Beach was deserted and both causeways across Biscayne Bay were closed. Street travel was almost impossible.

Apprehensive citrus growers did all they could to safeguard their crop, but were fearful of disastrous damage.

The storm was expected to sweep across the Florida peninsula with peak intensity in the Fort Myers area about tonight.

The lowest velocity was less than the 130-mile gusts recorded in Florida in September, 1915. The great storm of 1928 attained a maximum velocity of 162 mph off San Juan, Puerto Rico, but was not recorded in the United States.

Wind Topples Trees

Winds "considerably above 100 miles per hour" beat down trees, broke communication lines and flattened light buildings as the storm mounted in force. Miami had gusts up to 108 miles per hour, and the Coast Guard at West Palm Beach said 120-mile gusts were slamming its installation.

A 38-foot Coast Guard picket boat was sighted struggling against towering seas after an attempt to evacuate a dozen persons from a strip of land southeast of Miami. It was not certain if the refugees were aboard.

Three persons aboard a private yacht radioed an SOJ, but the Coast Guard said high seas and hurricane winds made rescue impossible.

Army Moves Planes

Private planes in the storm sweeping into the Gulf of Mexico caused hurried evacuation of Army air fields, and MacDill Field sent its B-29s to Chanute and Scott Fields in the Midwest. Smaller planes at Pensacola, Mobile and other exposed points were ordered inland.

Hundreds of thousands of persons in the hurricane danger zone fled to public shelters, and huddled in schools, courthouses, federal buildings and hotels while the terrific storm lashed the coast.

An estimated 10,000 persons streamed in a dismal procession through Sebring, Fla., in headlong flight from Lake Okeechobee low lands, where 1,500 persons drowned in 1928. The beating winds backed up the waters of the huge, dike-bound lake, and Sheriff John Kirk exclaimed: "I hope to God the dikes hold."

The winds lashed the rich, populous lower east coast, which annually is the playground of countless tourists. It was not evident yet how badly Florida's $100,000,000 citrus crop would be hit.

During the night and early morning sound trucks of the Red Cross raced through the Okeechobee Lowlands, exhorting residents to leave. Two trains, with 83 coaches, baggage and box cars evacuated thousands, but at 11 a. m. they had not reached Sebring, and it was uncertain whether they had fallen victim of the high winds.

The Rev. R. Matthew Lynn of Houston will assume the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of Midland about October 15. He submitted his resignation Sunday as assistant pastor and minister of education of the First Presbyterian Church of Houston. Mr. Lynn will succeed the Rev. Hubert Hopper as pastor of the Midland church.

Marshall Blisters Russia

NEW YORK —(AP)—In a speech bristling with censure of Russia, Secretary of State George C. Marshall challenged the United Nations Wednesday to make a "prime effort to break the world's 'deepening political and economic crisis' and save Greece from the 'attacks' of its Balkan Communist neighbors.

Marshall bluntly accused Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria of "hostile and aggressive" acts against Greece, and how three Russian vessels had blocked Security Council action to protect the country. "It is this sharp warning to the 53-nation UN Assembly.

"This Assembly cannot stand by as a mere spectator while a member of the United Nations is endangered by attacks from abroad. If the United Nations should fail to protect the integrity of one small state, the security of all small states would be placed in jeopardy.

Marshall had before the Assembly a seven-point action program dramatically reversing American policy on the veto issue and demanding that the Assembly set up its own full-time security committee to backstop the veto-ridden Security Council.

Favors Drastic Move

He announced that the United States now favors drastic "liberalization" of the veto by eliminating it entirely from all Security Council decisions on pacific settlements of international disputes. The veto could then be used only on issues involving forceful action against aggressors.

He also called for immediate action by the Assembly of a Greek border commission—whom Russia had vetoed in the Security Council—threw the Russian-American deadlock on Korea into the Assembly's asking an Assembly solution for Palestine, and demanded that Russia come to terms on atomic energy control, and called for vigorous planning of arms regulations.

Marshall's address evidently marked the opening of an American diplomatic offensive against Russia in the United Nations and stressed the new American policy that when Russia hamstringing the Security Council with veto votes the General Assembly must take over.

For that purpose he would have the Assembly's proposed security committee in constant session, and would give it a membership of 55 members like the Assembly itself.

Issues Warning

Then with a plea to the great nations to use their power and privilege with restraint, Marshall warned grimly: "The United Nations will never endure if there is insistence on privilege to the point of frustration of the collective will."

Here in a nutshell is the seven-point program Marshall laid down:

1. Greece—The United States will submit to the Assembly a resolution squarely blaming Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria for Greece's border troubles, calling on them to stop supporting Greek Communist guerrillas and creating a special commission to watch over the explosive Balkan situation.
2. Palestine—The United States gives "serious weight" to the proposals of a United Nations commission for partitioning the Holy Land between Jews and Arabs. "The United States will find a solution for Palestine but does not expect to get one 'ideally satisfactory' to both Jews and Arabs."
3. Korea—After two years of futile negotiations with Russia on Korean independence the United States has given up hope of finding a solution that way. It will submit suggestions for restoring Korean independence but looks to the "impartial judgment" of the Assembly for a solution.
4. Atomic Energy—Two members of the Atomic Energy Commission—Marshall did not specifically name Russia and Poland—have blocked agreement in the commission on (Continued on page 2)

Demand Is Higher For Texas Oil

AUSTIN —(AP)—A statewide oil production hearing lasting only 20 minutes Wednesday brought requests for increased allowances in only two of Texas' 12 oil districts.

E. L. Dyer, representing Phillips Petroleum Company, told chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Railroad Commission the company was short 19,500 barrels of crude oil daily in its operation of the Sweeney plant of the Alamo Refining Company, Brazoria County.

He said they were getting 5,500 barrels daily from the old Ocean Field and had a need for 25,000 barrels.

Also in the Gulf Coast District, Eastern States Petroleum reported it would be short 15,000 barrels daily beginning October 1 and already was running 8,500 barrels short.

Ireland Graves of Republic Oil Refining Company, Texas City plant, said the company would be short approximately 100,000 barrels per month within the next 90 days, adding that the only way to "get by in October" will be to use up the backlog supply.

Seeks Fullerton Increase

Dyer sought increased allowance for the Fullerton Field in District 3, West Texas, stating that Phillips Petroleum wished to increase its take by 3,900 barrels per day.

Noting a field MER of 40,000 barrels, he said the September allowable was 35,546 barrels daily. Therefore, he observed, a 3,900 barrel increase would leave the field still inside its net.

Commissioner William J. (Bill) Murray Jr. was present for the latter half of the hearing. Commissioner Olin Cuberson was absent.

H. P. Nichols of the East Texas Oil Association sought reduction of producing days in the East Texas Field from 21 to 20 during October in order to build up bottomhole pressure which declined five pounds in July and more than three in August.

Order Late Wednesday

Thompson said the October oil order would be issued Wednesday afternoon.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of market demand for Texas crude in the coming month was 2,900,000 barrels daily.

Purchasers' advance nominations seek 2,763,138 barrels daily, almost 400,000 above actual Texas production for the week ending September 15, when the figure stood at 2,337,750 barrels daily.

There were indications in a report from Chairman Ernest O. Thompson that still higher allowances will be sought in the months to come.

Said Thompson: "The oil industry is planning to expand by spending three billion dollars in the United States during the next three or four years."

C of C Report Is Presented To Midland Council

A Midland Chamber of Commerce report, including five recommendations for "consideration, study and possible adoption, in whole or in part," was received by the City Council at a called meeting Tuesday night.

The report, adopted by directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting last week, was presented by Tom Sealy, chairman of the Chamber's Civic Affairs Committee. The recommendations are designed to increase city revenues to offset increased operation costs and to assist the municipality in meeting its financial obligations without raising the ad valorem tax rate.

The recommendations concern the conducting of a sewer and water meter survey; the installation of a meter department; the adoption of a new sewer ordinance; the adoption of a garbage ordinance; and the making of a provision in the proposed bond issue for an allotment of $20,000 as the city's contribution toward the erection of an underpass including the laying of curb and gutters, on South Big Spring Street.

No Bond Recommendations

The report offered no recommendations for the acceptance or rejection of any of the items in the proposed bond issue, since the committee had not had opportunity to study the projects. It was suggested, however, that the city make available to citizens a brief summary of each item included in the bond issue.

John P. Butler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Addison Wadley, a member of the Civic Affairs Committee, accompanied Sealy to the session.

A group representing the Asbury Methodist Church requested the city purchase for them from the War Assets Administration, two buildings at the Midland Air Terminal. The donation was headed by the Rev. Lemuel Hester, pastor, and J. P. Carson, Jr. The buildings would be used as additions to the church's plant in South Midland. Similar requests have been received by the council from the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Junior Center.

The council instructed City Manager Bob Hoppe to fly to Dallas Wednesday to obtain information concerning the sale of the remaining 25 buildings owned by the WAA at MAT. Certain non-profit organizations may be eligible for discounts in purchasing the airport buildings.

The council adopted resolutions concerning the calling and holding of the proposed $1,385,000 bond election October 4.

The mayor and councilmen will meet with the League of Women Voters at 1 p. m. Saturday to review the items included in the proposed bond issue.

Forrestal Becomes Secretary Of Defense

WASHINGTON —(AP)—James V. Forrestal Wednesday became the nation's first secretary of defense—civilian boss of the Army, Navy and Air Forces.

The senior member of President Truman's cabinet relinquished his duties as secretary of the Navy at noon and took the oath of his new office from Fred M. Vinson, chief justice of the United States, in a ceremony in the Navy Department.

The act, making him head of the country's armed services, set in motion a series of important changes in the defense establishment.

High-ranking civilian leaders attended the ceremony along with top-ranking military officials, including Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff; Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations; and Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Air Forces.

Under the new defense set-up, Secretary of War Kenneth Royall will become secretary of the Army, and John L. Sullivan, who has been serving as Navy undersecretary under Forrestal, will become secretary of the Navy.

W. Stuart Symington, who has been undersecretary of the Army for air, will become secretary of the new Air Force Department.

As Italian troops entered Gorizia, pro-Tito Slovenes left the town with Yugoslavia flags draped on their cars. Here a cart passes the new frontier which Allied police stand by. AMG rule ended for the territory September 15. This is the area which has been hotly disputed since the end of the war.

Regan Addresses Latin-Americans At Fiesta Here

By STANLEY FRANK

Midland's Latin-Americans Tuesday night concluded their fiesta celebrating the one hundred thirty-seventh anniversary of Mexico's independence from Spain and Anglo-Saxons attending the elaborate ceremonies heard as patriotic oratory as well as accompanied one of their own Fourth of July celebrations.

It was in Spanish, of course, and it happened that none of the Norte Americanos on the speaker's stand could understand one word out of 20, but there was no doubting the festivity, the fervent tones. When the Mexican National Anthem was played by the five-piece band every eye in hearing distance stood on the speaker.

Congressman Ken Regan was one of the evening's principal speakers. He addressed the gathering briefly in English, thanking his Latin-American constituents for their support in the recent congressional race and promising to "carry out the Good Neighbor Policy to the fullest extent." He pointed out his district includes many thousands of Latin-Americans whom he hopes to represent ably and conscientiously in Washington.

Queen Is Introduced

S. Lara, Baptist pastor and president of the fiesta, introduced Regan and the other speakers. He also served as master of ceremonies, introducing Queen Maria Lopez and her court, including Princess Josefa Gonzalez and Dama de Honor Corinne Rodriguez.

A downtown parade and a baseball game highlighted festivities during the day. The baseball game, a three-hour duel between the Midland Colts and a time from the Texas Rangers, resulted in a 13-12 victory for the Midland team.

It was a war by celebration of Mexican independence from Spain. There were numerous "Vivas" for Mexico and there were a lot of them for the United States, too.

And if the machuchos grew weary during the two-hour program of speeches, and admissions wanted support for dance music instead, a state-of-the-art orchestra, led by a local, accompanied. If some of the speakers tended to remain over the time of the microphone, the audience was judiciously attentive. After all, it was La Fiesta. The audience was old, but the night was young and work and worry could wait tomorrow.

Italians Plan Demonstration Against Prices

ROME —(AP)—Italian workers, almost 2,000,000 of them already on strike, prepared Wednesday for a countrywide demonstration next Saturday against the high cost of living.

Leaders said hundreds of thousands of union members would move into city public squares throughout Italy. Rome newspapers variously dubbed the demonstration a "March of Hunger" and a "Prelude to Revolution."

Giuseppe Di Vittorio, Communist head of the 5,755,000-member Italian confederation of Labor, and Pietro Nenni, pro-Communist leader of the Socialist Party, publicly denied there would be a revolution.

Inflated Labor Costs Blamed For Prices

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The agriculture commissioners of the three southern and two midwestern states Wednesday placed the blame for present prices on high industrial wages.

They called a meeting to be held in Washington October 6 and 7 to map plans for increasing American farm production.

Farmers, ranchers, representatives of swinebreeders and cattlemen's associations, officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and other government agencies will be invited to express their views.

The announcement was issued by J. E. MacDonald, Texas; Tom Lindsey, Georgia; Math Dahl, North Dakota; R. A. Trovatten, Minnesota, and I. M. Walker, Virginia.

Name Obstacles

Declaring that critical shortages of farm materials and seasonal labor are the principal obstacles to increased production, the commissioners stated that commodity prices will be "forced even higher unless this situation is corrected at once."

They said "Washington bureaucrats and professional politicians" have given the public "a distorted picture of the real conditions which brought about price rises," and added:

"Inflated labor costs are the largest single item in higher living expenses."

The commissioners said a return to price control and rationing "would only make the situation more desperate by discouraging production and restoring a black market of such proportions as has been seen only in the war-ravaged countries."

CONOCO STAKES LOCATIONS FOR THREE SHALLOW TESTS

In Northern Garret County about 14 miles southeast of Big Lake, Conoco Oil Company No. 1-A-18 University, a shallow test was run to evaluate the Enderbury field, and reached 2,731 feet in middle Permian time, and was drilling about 2,800 feet.

That prospector indicated possibilities of producing commercial oil from the San Andres zone of the Permian but it will be carried down to its original objective.

However, Conoco has filed applications with the Railroad Commission to drill three shallow prospectors in the surrounding fields, to test the San Andres.

No. 1-A-18 University, the deep exploration is 1,980 feet from land and 600 feet from the surface of section 13 block 47, University survey.

The shallow tests are:

- Conoco No. 1-A-9 University, 15 feet from south and 1,000 feet from the north of the University survey, and will be the first of the three new prospectors to be drilled. It will use conventional tools and is slated to dig to 2,860 feet.
- Conoco No. 1-A-8 University, it to be 330 feet from the surface and (Continued on page 2)

Congressmen Study Price Situation

WASHINGTON —(AP)—New demands arose on Capitol Hill Wednesday for the administration to weigh its foreign aid program against soaring prices at home.

But even as many lawmakers were voicing doubt that a special session of Congress should be convened to consider emergency help abroad, the State Department heard its third urgent plea from Italy that the fate of that country hangs on additional American assistance before this year ends.

Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) recently returned from a six-week tour of Europe, summed up what appeared to be a growing sentiment among Congress members that prices at home and demands for help abroad are "two halves of the same apple."

At the same time the general tenor of congressional comment has been to proceed slowly.

WEATHER

Toll Increases In Jap Floods

TOKYO —(AP)—Floodwaters of the rampaging Tone River swept to within two miles of Tokyo's western suburbs Wednesday night as unofficial estimates jumped to 2,947 the number of dead, missing and injured in the typhoon-bred disaster.

A new levee break at the Tone River led to a new flow of tons of water to the wide stream sweeping toward Tokyo. Advance forecasts of the flood were expected to hit the city sometime Thursday. The entire district was evacuated to the accompaniment of warning sirens.

Kyodo News Agency reported a new completion showed 174 dead, 158 injured and 2,917 missing throughout the 20 prefectures reporting storm damage. The official death toll was some 300 less than Kyodo's figure.

Among the dead were two American soldiers of the First Division who were killed when their plane crashed into a warehouse near Ohta Tuesday night.

Livestock Prices Will Remain High

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Commerce Department said Wednesday that high feed and labor costs will tend to keep the prices of livestock and meat up the rest of 1947.

The department said, however, that there may be some decline because meat prices are higher than normally indicated by the volume of meat production and consumer spending.

An analysis by the department's cod, stuffs division said meat exports at the present rate will total about 500,000,000 pounds this year. This would be three times the yearly average for prewar 1937-39 but less than three per cent of total U. S. production this year.

BIRDLINGTON, ENGLAND —(AP)—Eight German prisoners of war and two British escorts were killed and 12 injured Wednesday when their truck crashed into a speeding express train at a grade crossing near here.

'Sweet' Gas Price To Be Announced Soon

AUSTIN —(AP)—The current market price of "sweet" gas as determined by a recent Railroad Commission hearing will be announced soon, Chairman Ernest O. Thompson reported at Wednesday state-wide oil production hearing.

Manufacturers of carbon black in the Panhandle district will be allowed to use sweet gas so long as they pay the same price as is being paid for its use as light or fuel.

Under provisions of a law passed by the 50th Legislature, the Railroad Commission is empowered to hold public hearings every six or 12 months to determine the prevailing market price of sweet gas.

Texas Citrus Fruit Fails To Ripen

MALLEN, TEXAS —(AP)—Grapefruit and grapefruit, usually ripe by now, still hung from trees in the lush citrus belt of the Rio Grande Valley Wednesday, unable to meet state maturity tests.

Citrus growers were concerned at the strange behavior.

Not a single bushel, much less a carlot, of fruit has moved to market although the season officially opened Sept. 1.

Growers and shippers expressed hope that the fruit would be ripe and ready to ship out by Sept. 20. Growers blamed a late Spring blight for the delayed maturity.

Many Cattlemen Will Attend Meeting Here

Reservations still are being received from cattlemen and others who plan to attend the quarterly directors meeting of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association here Friday.

Roy Parks and H. G. Bedford, Midland members of the board, expect a near-record attendance at the meeting.

The program for the session calls for a dance Thursday evening at the Schabauer, a business meeting Friday morning, and a barbecue at the Parks ranch at 1 p. m. Friday.

Soviet Delegate Changes Tactics

NEW YORK —(AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei V. Vishinsky Wednesday withdrew his request to speak before the United Nations Assembly Wednesday following the major U. S. policy speech of Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

The Soviet chief delegate's move was not explained, but it appeared that Russia wanted time to study Marshall's speech.

There was no indication as to when Vishinsky would make Russia's opening policy declaration.

Seminar Gives Europeans Picture Of U. S. Culture

By KENNETH S. LYNN
SALZBURG, AUSTRIA—(NEA)—The first Salzburg Seminar on U. S. culture has just ended. It will not be the last one.

One tiny corner of Europe's intellectual blackout has been lifted. More than a hundred young men and women representing virtually every European country except Russia and Poland left here with their first real ideas of American culture and institutions.

The Harvard students who sponsored the Seminar already are making plans to convene another next year. Between now and then they will try to improve the Seminar's library, and decide whether next summer's classes will be held here at Castle Leopoldskron or elsewhere in Europe.

Plan International School
They eventually hope to turn the Seminar into an international university.

The attitude of the students when they first came here was questioning, sometimes even distrustful. There were members of the French underground and a Rumanian girl who three times escaped death at the hands of the Gestapo. They didn't mix well with ex-officers of the Wehrmacht and the Luftwaffe.

But before they left they found a common meeting ground in their desire to learn as much as possible about America, a nation their several countries look upon, for various reasons, as a savior or guardian. Often they argued—sometimes bitterly—but they did break down barriers and talk. And they learned a lot about the United States they never had known before.

Library Of Three Books
Among those who came was a young Hungarian professor who had been trying to teach American literature to 150 students at the University of Budapest with a library of three books. He was typical of many in Europe trying to teach about America.

In undernourished Austria most food and supplies had to be imported from Switzerland and the United States. Diet was skimpy by American standards, but for some of the European students it was the best fare they had eaten in eight years. Luxury items like cigarettes and candy were voluntarily pooled by those who had them and rationed to all.

Europeans Respond
Europeans, accustomed to the formalism of education here, responded to the relatively free and easy atmosphere of American instruction.

Thompson called attention to a continuing decline in bottom-hole pressure in the East Texas field during August and said this indicated that "no increase can be granted in the East Texas field during October."

Pressure dropped 5 pounds in July, and the commission cut producing days from 22 to 21 for September. A 3-pound drop was reported for August.

control machinery. Unless "the priority" agrees soon, Marshall said the commission may be confronted with complete failure.

5. Arms Regulations—A "workable system" of arms control is impossible until "conditions of international confidence prevail" in the world, but America wants the UN Arms Commission to "proceed vigorously" with its task of planning armament regulations under the Security Council.

6. Veto—The "abuse" of the veto right—again Marshall did not specifically name Russia—"has prevented the Security Council from fulfilling its true function." The United States intends to propose that the Assembly create a special committee to study ways of liberalizing the veto and report next year.

7. Security Committee—The Assembly now has "so much work to do," Marshall said, that it needs an agency to remain in session all the time, keep an eye on the world's troubles, clear up routine matters as they arise and recommend a special session of the full Assembly when necessary.

Farm Workers Are Hauled Out Of Texas

MARSHALL—(AP)—Several truckloads of Latin-American farm workers passed through here Wednesday en route to farms in adjoining states.

Airplane Versus Guided Missile

A lot of the talk about what has happened to U. S. air power seems to boil down to one thing—the guided missile.

The presence of this new weapon has confused the issue of a strong air force in several peculiar ways. First, and most important, it has raised the illogical question of which is the best weapon, the airplane or the guided missile. All the ballyhoo and exaggerated claims made for the guided missile have confused the public and most congressmen. And the services have been feuding over which outfit would get control of this new glamor gadget of death.

This false issue—the plane versus the missile—has caused a reluctance to support subsidization of a large aviation industry. Why, asks the public and Congress, spend a billion dollars for giant bombers when these wonderful new guided missiles will kill more of the enemy faster and shoot the bombers out of the sky. Let's spend half of it to develop a missile with an atomic war head. Isn't that the perfect weapon?

This confusion in the public mind over just where the guided missile fits into America's defense plans, however, merely reflects the same confusion in the minds of the military experts.

The traditionally progressive Army Air Force has now maneuvered itself into a peculiar position on the whole question. The AAF line has been to play down the importance of the guided missile. Some of this "playing down" has been logical argument. But a lot of it has been vindictive talking, which has done more toward weakening their side.

Most of the services, especially Army Ordnance, have been careful not to make exaggerations for the guided missile in official statements and press releases. But too many of the top officers connected with various aspects of the missile program haven't been so careful in interviews and unofficial statements. As a result, such things as rocket trips to the moon are now considered to be just around the corner.

This has put the burden of debunking push-button warfare on the Air Forces, and, in trying to sell the country on having an adequate air force, they've really had two jobs. One is trying to point out that guided missiles couldn't protect the nation tomorrow. And the other has been to try to explain to an economy-minded Congress that an adequate, modern air defense is an expensive proposition. It hasn't done too well with either job.

Somewhere along the line the AAF has failed to get across to the public the simple fact that the only operational weapon the U. S. has today which even resembles a guided missile is a crude sort of affair, known by various names, but generally called a glide bomb. This device has to be dropped from an airplane in the first place, depends upon gravity for propulsion, has very limited range and accuracy, and can be used only under certain special conditions.

As far as the German V-2 goes, it is doubtful if the experiments with it at White Sands, N. M., have accomplished more than to familiarize U. S. experts with firing it, and, perhaps, increasing its range slightly.

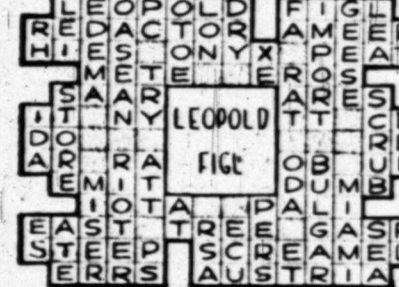

It's funny nobody ever thought of selling remnants of wall paper for kids to write on.

If you're always trying to let everybody know how much sense you have, you haven't any.

FLIER PLUNGES TO DEATH IN EFFORT TO PLEASE BOY

BOURNEMOUTH, ENG.—(AP)—A small boy selected from thousands of spectators at an RAF exhibition Wednesday radioed a request to a Spitfire pilot overhead to "Do me a victory roll."
Flight Lt. B. E. Green, a Canadian, rolled his fighter a few hundred feet off the beach and radioed back: "Sorry, sonny, it was not a very good one."
Green tried again. The Spitfire dived into the sea and he drowned.

SMU Builds Team Around Walker

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS—(AP)—If he hasn't already heard (which would be a miracle), young Doak Walker is going to have much in common with Atlas this football season. Walker doesn't exactly resemble the mythical character who carried the world around on his shoulders because Doak is only 5-foot-11 and weighs a bare 175 pounds.

But Walker seems to be built just right to fit into the gridiron plans at Southern Methodist University and is capable of carrying the team to a high place in the Southwest Conference race.

Walker gained fame in 1945 when he came home from the service to play just a month with the Mustangs. He turned the Methodists from a doormat to the best team in the conference at the finish. Some may argue that the competition wasn't so tough in those days and that Walker will find the going quite difficult in a Southwest Conference campaign expected to reach an all-time high in quality. But you can't argue that with Coach Matty Bell and his assistants out on the hilltop. Walker, they say, would have been good in the same kind of league two years ago.

Doak was a star in service football last year; he has returned to S.M.U. the same coolly efficient passer, runner, kicker and thinker of 1945. He is the spark of what looks like the best Methodist team in six years.

Walker heads an imposing array of lettermen—26 to be exact. The Mustang squad has three outstanding passers including Walker. Gilbert Johnson, ineligible last year, is rated by some an even better thrower than Doak. Frank Payne, a sensation in 1946, may complete more than either Walker or Johnson.

Louise Overell Denies Charges

SANTA ANA, CALIF.—(AP)—George (Bud) Gollum was called back to the witness stand Wednesday to resume giving his answer to the state's charges that he and his sweetheart, Louise Overell, murdered the girl's parents, wealthy Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell.

The 18-year-old Louise, sole heir to her parents' $550,000 estate, testified Tuesday that she did not kill her parents, did not see them killed and did not know who may have killed them.

Gollum, in beginning his testimony, said he purchased 50 pounds of dynamite the day before the Overell yacht blew up in Newport Harbor last March 15. He said Overell asked him to buy the explosives.

Report New Progress On Cold Vaccine

HOUSTON—(AP)—A "progress report" on a possible common cold vaccine under development at the University of Texas medical branch at Galveston was released by Dr. Morris Pollard, one of two doctors working on the vaccine. His colleague is Dr. Coleman H. Caplovitz, son of a Houston physician.

"Although we think we have something worthwhile," he said, "we will have to vaccinate thousands of persons to determine the vaccine's effectiveness before it could possibly be accepted by medical authorities."

Pollard stated he and Caplovitz must determine whether their vaccine is effective against all types of cold viruses. "And," he added, "we are not sure whether there is more than one type of cold virus."

Workers Busy On Final Preparations For Fair

Final preparations for the Midland County Fair were underway in the building where the fair will be held Friday and Saturday, and there was a great noise of hammering and sawing as booths were being erected and decorations set up.

Delbert Downing, Chamber of Commerce manager, donned overalls and was busy in the fair building at 303 Colorado early Tuesday. Barney Burnett of the West Texas Implement Company, planned to take a full crew of workmen to the job during the day, as did Buck Green of Williamson and Green Feed Store.

Meanwhile Bob Struggs, chairman of the fair finance committee, reported his crew of helpers Tuesday had come in sight of their $650 price, last goal and thought Midland merchants would have contributed enough to reach that total during the day.

Mexican Says Peace Paralyzed By Veto

NEW YORK—(AP)—Foreign Minister Jaime Torres Bodet of Mexico told the United Nations General Assembly Wednesday persistent use of the big power veto has paralyzed the cause of world peace.

He declared there is a danger that the abuse of the veto in the UN Security Council "may make peace impossible" and appealed for a limit as to its use.

In a speech delivered to the 55-nation body, the Mexican foreign minister declared "selfish interests" were tearing all ideals asunder and said the progress of world justice "has been paralyzed by the disagreements of the powers in whose hands we placed a key of far-reaching authority: the international veto."
