San Andres Pumping Discovery Assured In C-S Garza Area

A new pumping discovery from the San Andres lime of the Permian has been assured for Central South Garza County at P. W. and R. S. Anderson of Midland, No. 1-46 Henderson.

This prospector, located three miles west of Justiceburg, swabbed and bailed 45 barrels of 37-gravity oil in 18 hours with no formation water. That production was developed after the open hole at 2,410-43 feet had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

That some 15 barrels of oil per day, natural, The 7-inch casing is cemented at 2,410 feet. Top of the pay is at 2,421 feet. Installing Pump

The new field opener is now installing a pump. As soon as that equipment is in place the potential test will be taken and the discovery will be put on production.

Top of the San Andres is at 2,025 feet. Elevation is 2,278 feet. That makes the discovery 28 feet high to Northern Ordinance, Inc., No. 1 Walker, a dry hole in the Clear Fork, one and one-half miles to the southeast, and eight feet high to the P. W. and R. S. Anderson No. 1 Henderson, a San Andres failure one mile to the southwest. Both those dry holes had interesting shows of oil in the San Andres—but not enough to make a commercial oil well.

Near Recent Discovery The Anderson No. 1-46 Henderson is seven miles northwest of another recent San Andres discovery at Callahan and Harrison No. 1 Dorward. It is eight miles southeast of the Garza field, which also produces from the San Andres line.

Location of the new producer is 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 46, block 8, H&GN survey. P. W. and R. S. Anderson No. 1 Walker is to be a one location east offset to the new discovery. It is located 2,310 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 46, block 8, H&GN survey.

Drilling to around 2,450 feet will start at once. George Callahan of Abilene, who had the contract on the Anderson No. 1-46 Henderson will skid the cable tool rig used to dig that well to the No. 1 Walker.

Acheson was before a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and House Foreign Affairs Committees to back up the Administration's plea for funds to keep the Marshall Plan going for a third year.

Paul H. Hoffman, head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, had just told the committee members $3,400,000,000 is needed for recovery in the 12 months starting July 1.

Weapon In Cold War Hoffman asked for $2,950,000,000 in new cash and permission to spend an additional $150,000,000 which he said still is left from this year's $3,778,000,000 fund.

Like Acheson, the ECA chief said the recovery program must be kept going to block the threat of Russian expansion.

His 5,000-word prepared statement dwelt at length on the role of the Marshall Plan as a weapon in the cold war. He declared victory in the non-shooting clash must be achieved if the "free world" is to be kept from becoming a "slave world."

1,400 Claims Snarl T&P-Union Hearing

The hearings opened Monday, highlighted by a union promise "to cooperate with the board in every way possible to settle these differences."

The emergency board has 30 days to hear the dispute and to report to President Truman. Both railroad and the unions are forbidden to disrupt service until another 30 days after the board makes its report.

H. C. Hobart of Houston, assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, promised cooperation of the unions.

J. T. Suggs, attorney for the T&P, said the foundation of "this entire controversy is the union's attempt to cancel the time limit rules for handling claims. We believe these rules are reasonable."

One-Man Rule Charged C. H. Smith of Fort Worth, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said the unions could find no proper procedure to adjust their grievances with the railroad.

He charged that since 1941 the railway had refused to allow workmen to appeal from the decision of the superintendents in denying claims.

"You now have a one-man rule, with no appeal," he told the board. Employees are not informed as to why their claims are denied.

Smith said there are pending about 1,400 grievance cases since the hearing docket was established last September.

Suggs previously said claims which were denied have been presented over and over again, clogging mediation procedure.

Big Mo's Skipper Plays Army Game Of Buck-Passing NORFOLK, VA.—(P)—The skipper of the battleship Missouri says his team of officers falled him in his hour of need.

"I felt utterly alone as far as assistance from my team of officers was concerned," Capt. William D. Brown told a naval court of inquiry Monday.

The court is seeking to fix responsibility for the grounding of the battleship in Chesapeake Bay January 17.

Brown said he was new on the ship, and had to depend on his "team" of officers, but that it falled him "when I needed it most."

Other defendants are Cmdr. John R. Millet, operations officer; Lt. Cmdr. Frank G. Norris, navigator, and Lt. John E. Carr, combat operations officer.

Lasting Damage Often Done To Heart By Rheumatic Fever

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service

Rheumatic fever has been called childhood's greatest enemy. It also attacks grownups and is one of the most important causes of heart disease in later life as well as in childhood.

In its typical form it produces swelling, pain and redness of the joints, usually skipping from one to another. The joints recover entirely without permanent harm, but permanent damage to the heart is its most serious effect.

Lack of knowledge of the cause of rheumatic fever certainly holds back efforts at prevention and treatment. Rheumatic fever is somewhat more common among the poor than among the economically well to do. It is more frequent under damp and other undesirable living conditions than under good conditions.

Although better economic circumstances for all probably would cut down somewhat on the number of cases, this alone is quite certainly not the answer. At present the most promising line of investigation on prevention is the use of the sulfadiazine or antibiotics.

Treatment of rheumatic fever is also not yet wholly satisfactory. Complete rest in bed is necessary, as is good nursing, such as would be used for any acute infection or illness, such as aspirin by mouth and oil of wintergreen externally, have been used for many years and still are used in this disease. The principal aim of whatever treatment is employed is to prevent heart damage or at least keep it to a minimum and also to speed recovery from the acute attack.

Heart Needs Rest After the attack of acute rheumatic fever has gone, a long period of convalescence is desirable. This is important not only to try to build up some kind of resistance to future attacks, but also because it helps the heart to recover to the greatest possible degree.

Careful tests of the heart must be made to find out how badly it has been damaged and just how much further care is necessary. Many people recover from an attack of rheumatic fever with hearts which are not seriously affected, but on the other hand some get heart trouble from attacks which have been so mild that they passed unnoticed at the time.

Battle Against Heart Disease

Heart disease is the nation's greatest killer. It takes a heavier toll of human life than the next five leading causes of death combined.

In 1947, the last year for which complete figures are available, more than 625,000 persons died of heart and blood vessel ailments. This was three times as high as the death rate from the dreaded cancer.

Heart disease strikes young and old alike. For instance, rheumatic heart disease is the leading cause of death (aside from accidents) among children from five to 19.

About 90 per cent of all cases are the result of the disease's three principal forms: rheumatic, coronary and hypertensive. Yet the true causes of these death-dealing afflictions are still largely unknown.

The economic price of this physical damage in terms of loss of life, disability, loss of gainful employment, job absenteeism, and remedial programs is tremendous. The cost in human happiness is incalculable.

This great cost must be reduced. It can only be lessened by learning much more than we now understand about the causes, prevention and cure of heart and circulatory ailments. According to Dr. Scheele, the doctors' present weapons in this war are feeble when set against the enemy's strength.

The National Heart Institute, created by Congress to guide and foster research and control activities, has received requests for grants totaling some $36,000,000. But this exceeds by almost 50 per cent the current appropriation to the U. S. Public Health Service for medical research in all fields.

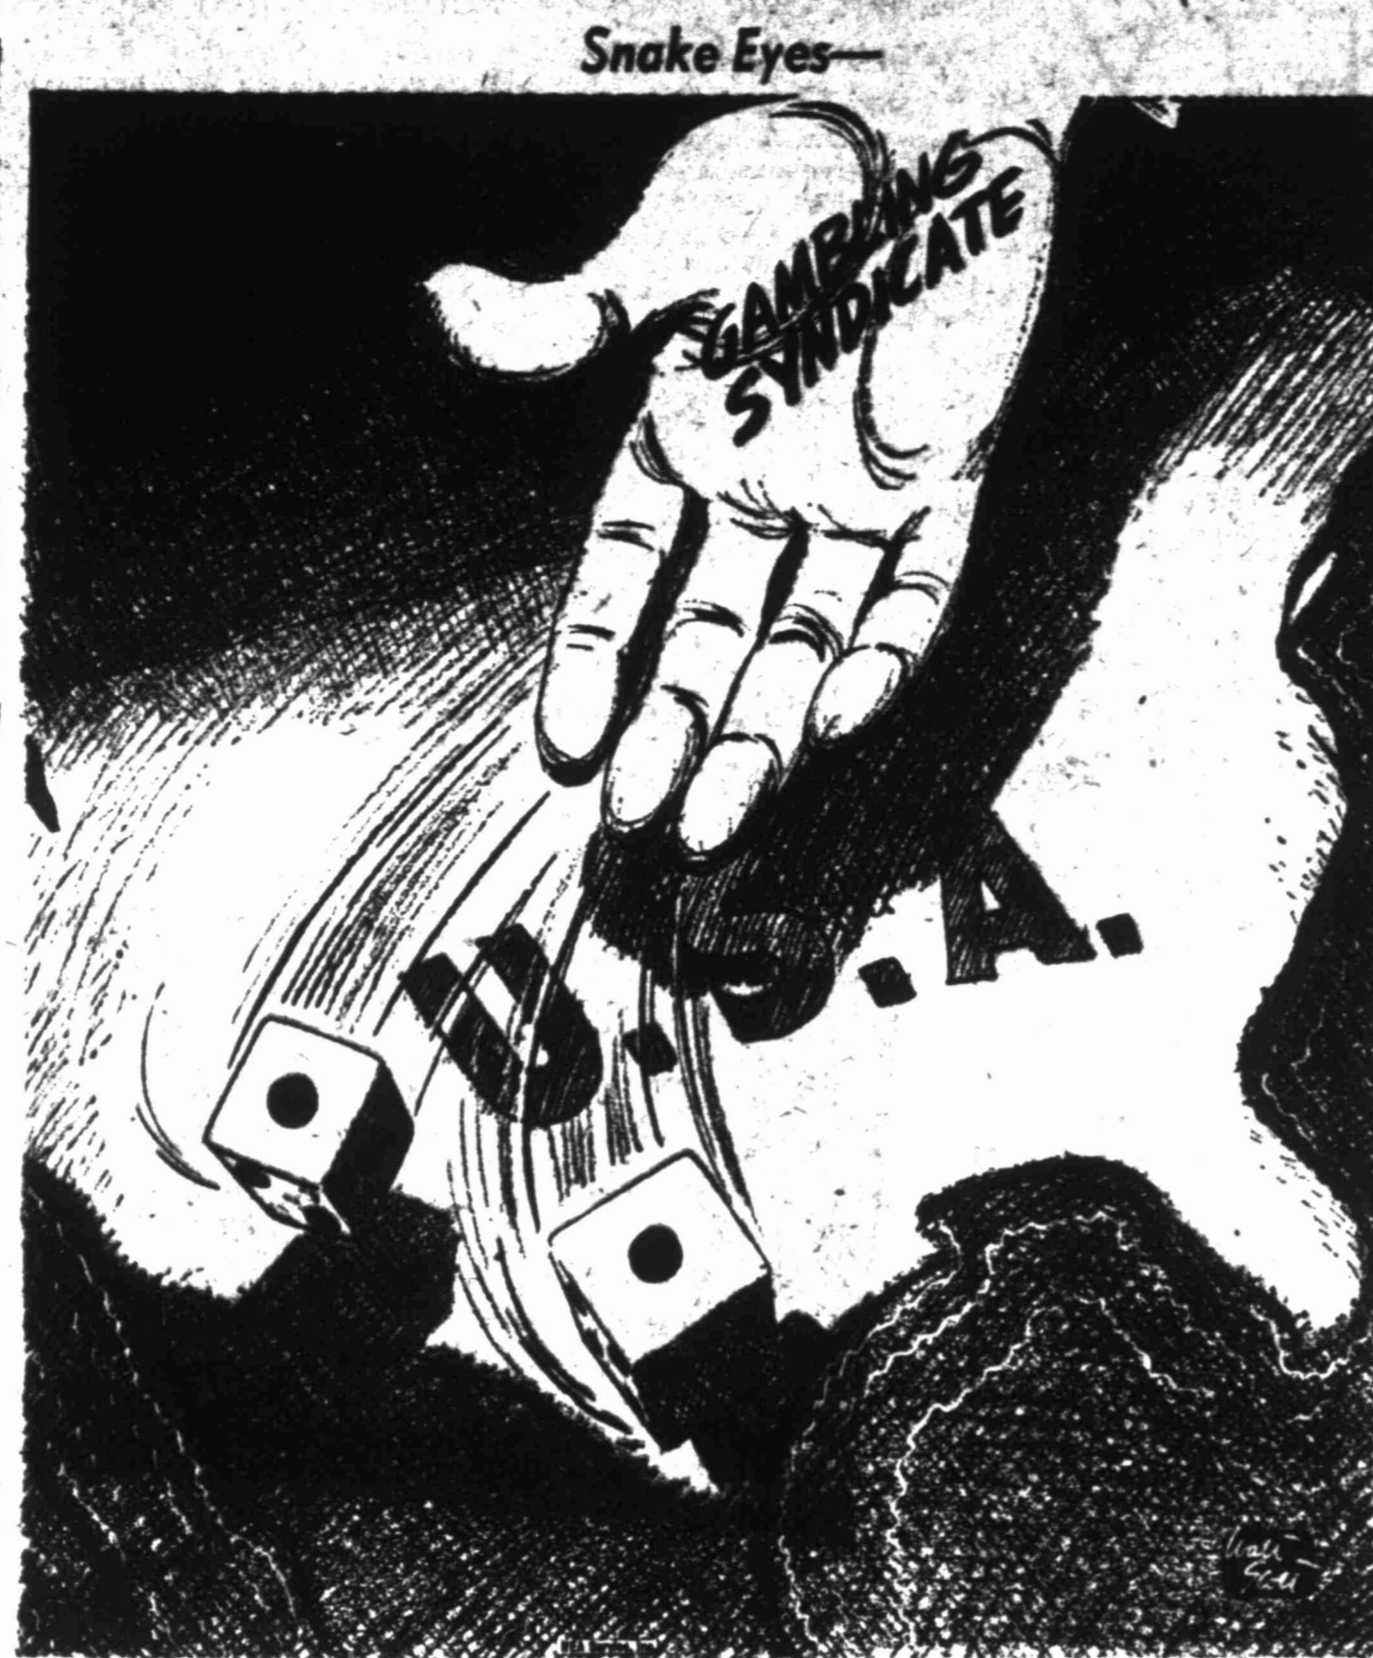

Thus funds raised by private voluntary agencies like the American Heart Association give heart research a badly needed boost. This year the organization is seeking $6,000,000 in its month-long February drive which has its peak in the current American Heart Week.

With so many worthy causes crying for funds, the competition for your gift dollar these days is keen. But it goes without saying that money you donate to bettering the nation's health will be wisely directed if you contribute to combat heart disease.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Around the giant Pentagon Building, just across the Potomac, winds a labyrinth of beautiful boulevards built during the war at considerable cost to American taxpayers.

The other day in Richmond, Va., the two builders of these boulevards, McKenney Davison and W. J. "Doc" Hardy, walked into court and pleaded "no contest" to four of six counts accusing them of defrauding the government of $217,806 in taxes—the same government which paid them handsomely on war contracts.

Behind this virtual plea of guilty lies a long story, dating back to October 1948, in which this column exposed the government of $217,806 in taxes—the same government which paid them handsomely on war contracts.

The two road contractors had made out false invoices, written checks to other contractors, who then cashed the checks themselves, and generally falsified. Yet for eight months after this column's exposure, they argued, pleaded, and haggled with patient Justice Department attorneys.

Finally, last July the case was sent to the U. S. attorney in Richmond for prosecution, where, however, it dragged. And it was not until after this column, on Oct. 21, 1949, again reviewed the lengthy delay that the tax-evading road builders finally were indicted.

Perhaps the gravest briefing given to congressional leaders since V-J Day took place at the Pentagon Building last week. The substance of the closed-door session was that Russia must be preparing for aggressive war.

The briefing was given by Lt. Gen. Alfred Gruenther on behalf of the joint chiefs of staff to members of both the Senate and House Appropriations Committees and Armed Services Committees.

General Gruenther was cautious in his statements, confined himself largely to a discussion of Soviet armed strength, let the congressmen draw their own conclusions.

After listening to the report, however, Congressman Florida and Cannon of Missouri pointed out that Russia could have only one purpose in building such a powerful arsenal: to wage war.

Here are some of the main facts presented by General Gruenther—facts which Moscow already knows since there is no particular secret about our armed strength. Russia, he said, is spending 18 per cent of her national wealth on arms, which is triple what the United States is spending. Even taking our top budget figure of $18,500,000,000—which includes stockpiling the United States is investing only six per cent of her wealth in defense.

Russia has 40,000 tanks. This includes the best heavy tanks in the world—the Joe Stalin Mark III. In contrast, the U. S. Army has only 1,000 tanks, none of them heavy.

In the air, Russia has 17,000 planes, including 300 heavy bombers of the B-29 type. Meanwhile, Soviet factories are working feverishly to build a strategic air force. Production of long-range bombers and jet fighters has been stepped up.

To challenge our Navy, the Russians have 200 submarines of the latest, speediest German make. Most worrisome, however, is a new Russian torpedo, piloted by an electronic brain which seeks out its own target. This ingenious torpedo can locate and blow up a ship eight miles away.

Despite all this firepower, the backbone of Soviet military might is still her manpower. Gen. Gruenther stressed that Russia can muster more than 800 divisions at the drop of a bomb.

Throughout the briefings, Secretary of Defense Johnson took a back seat and let military spokesmen talk. At one point, however, he broke in only to be slapped down

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

European Observers Can Draw Queer Conclusions From Events

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — You never can tell how American political events are going to be interpreted abroad. For instance, take Secretary of State Dean Acheson's now-famous statement that "whatever the outcome of the Alger Hiss case, I do not intend to turn my back on him."

The statement was roundly criticized by many congressmen and others. But one French newspaper correspondent in Washington called his Paris paper that France could consider herself lucky in having Dean Acheson for a friend. He never would turn his back on France, nor let her down.

Last December 15, Joseph E. Moody, president of the Seafarers Coal Operators, sent a letter to President Truman. Moody wrote that there was a coal crisis, and asked the President to invoke the Taft-Hartley Law. There was no answer to the letter, and the White House let it be known that it frowned on Moody's making the letter public before it had been received. Newsmen told Moody, "If you ever get an answer to that letter, be sure to let us know."

When, seven weeks later, the President finally invoked the Taft-Hartley Law, Moody called up reporters and said cheerfully, "I finally got my answer!"

But the story goes that Secretary Anderson told the Senate that if the government had to continue buying surplus potatoes, they would have to be dumped and destroyed. The senator recoiled in horror at the mere thought of any such wasting of precious food.

A little later on the potato growers came up with the idea that if these potatoes were stacked in the field and allowed to freeze, then covered with straw, they would keep all winter. If some of the spuds on the outside rotted and spoiled, they might be destroyed. But the theory was that the potatoes which kept would be given away in the Spring.

So it was done that way. The difficulty was that almost all the potatoes spoiled and had to be dumped. Whereupon the potato state senator made a speech denouncing the Department of Agriculture for buying potatoes and then allowing them to rot in the fields.

After five years of arguing, the case of the wartime State Department employee's wife who wouldn't travel without her two dogs and a cat, and sued the government for their per diem expenses and travel allowance, has at last been settled for $450.

The case concerned Mr. and Mrs. C. C. M. Pedersen of Washington. Pedersen now is an intelligence officer in the Pentagon, but during the war he was stationed in Ankara, Turkey, for the State Department. Mrs. Pedersen was there with him. In May, 1945, they were ordered home. They traveled by way of Cairo, and got their three animals that far without trouble.

On May 14, 1946, the U. S. vice consul at Cairo arranged for Pedersen to fly back to the U. S. leaving Mrs. Pedersen and pets in Cairo. If Mrs. Pedersen had consented to travel without pets, her transportation could have been arranged quickly. But, said Mrs. Pedersen, "I traveled my whole life with dogs and cats."

Other diplomats had traveled with dogs and cats. She wouldn't budge without hers. She won her point.

At Port Said, while waiting for transportation, she got in bed with an innkeeper because he said she insisted on bathing the two dogs in the public bath. One was a Skye, the other a Blue Chow. The cat was an American freighter came along when Mrs. Pedersen and cats left Mrs. Pedersen and pets. It was July 6 when U. S. consulates at Cairo and Port Said closed their books on l'affaire Pedersen.

But Uncle Sam wasn't through with the case yet. When Mrs. Pedersen got back to the U. S., Pedersen put in a claim for a per diem allowance for Mrs. Pedersen and pets, while waiting in Egypt for a boat to take them away. The bill came to $1,742.

The State Department had no allowance for per diem for dogs and cats. The case finally was taken to U. S. Court of Claims. And there the Hon. Marvin Jones, chief judge, just has settled it.

Certainly within her rights in refusing to travel without pets. One can appreciate her unwillingness to leave them behind," the judge ruled. "On the other hand, she has no legal basis for charging the defendant $10 a day for the extra delay caused by her attitude, especially in a time of national peril, when family separations were the rule and not the exception, however appealing her sentiments."

"We must apply the law as we find it," the judge ruled with deadpan seriousness. "Plaintiff is entitled to recover for the 45 days which he and Mrs. Pedersen were necessarily delayed, or a total of $450."

"It is so ordered." P. S. The Skye has died, but the Blue Chow and the Persian are still very much alive and well, thank you.

On Southeast Asia U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup won't return directly to America from the Bangkok, Siam, conference of American diplomats in Southeast Asia. Instead, he now is scheduled to return by way of Europe, thus completing his inspection trip around the world. Reports from the Bangkok conference will be brought to Washington by Assistant Secretary of State W. Walton Butterworth. He'll fly, whatever, if any, new policies for Southeast Asia are formulated will be made and announced in Washington after Butterworth's return.

Peter For Winners Economic Cooperation Administration is trying to develop an incentive plan for Europe. The idea is to induce Marshall Plan countries to cooperate further in liberalizing their intra-European trade restrictions. The new plan hasn't been approved by the Budget Bureau or Congress, but it is intended to work something like this:

Out of its total appropriations, ECA will set aside a certain reserve. At the end of each quarter, it will review Marshall Plan operations in each country. Those countries that are found to have made most progress in liberalizing customs, breaking down import quotas, ending dual pricing and freeing the exchange of foreign currencies will get a bonus. It will be in the form of an extra allocation of ECA funds from the reserve.

Qualifying Play Starts At Houston

HOUSTON—(P)—Qualifying play began Tuesday for the $10,000 Houston Open golf tournament but men were occupied with a problem over a hometown favorite.

It is a toss-up whether colorful Jimmy Demaret or his former pupil, young Jack Burke, Jr., will be top choice by the time the 72 holes of medal play begin Thursday.

Demaret, long a Houston idol, was born here 40 years ago. This year's open is being dedicated to him as the first Houston golfer to gain international fame.

Burke Starts Slowly

The 27-year-old Burke came to Houston as a youngster when his father, the late Jack Burke, Sr., became pro at the exclusive River Oaks Country Club. He used to drop by Brue Burn Country Club, site of the open, to receive coaching instruction from Demaret, the club's pro.

Demaret rose to stardom rapidly but Burke had tough going until this year. Burke won his first open title Sunday at Harlingen and now is the second leading money winner of the winter tour. Demaret is third.

A field of 131 amateurs and professionals had registered Monday night for Tuesday's qualifying play or approximately 50 non-exempt positions.

Thursday's first round pairings on the 6,725-yard, par 72 course will be limited to 150. The low 70 after Friday will move into the final rounds of Saturday and Sunday.

Wednesday will be devoted to practice.

Bauer Sisters Are Late Arrivals For Tourney At Orlando

ORLANDO, Fla.—(P)—The ninth annual International Mixed Two-Ball golf tournament, recovering from a scare, began Tuesday at Dubredred Country Club with a field of about 75 teams.

The scare came when most of the teams started out on practice rounds Monday and there was no trace of the gallery-appealing Bauer sisters from Midland, Texas, Marlene and Alice.

While their partners, home pro Denny Champagne and Al Besselink, stood around chewing fingernails, word came from Palm Beach, where the sisters played a Sunday exhibition, that the pair was enroute to Orlando.

Tuesday's opening event is an 18-hole qualifying round with first-round match play scheduled to start Wednesday. The finals are scheduled Sunday.

Doak Talks Terms With Detroit Lions

Walker is reported holding out for $25,000 to play pro football next season.

Ewell D. Walker, Doak's father, said the two conferred again Monday but reached no agreement.

McMillin is expected to remain in Dallas several days.

Tom Adams Wins Heavyweight Title In Gloves Tourney

Skilful boxing, footwork or headwork paid off for:

- Flyweight Pat McCarthy, 167 1/2, Amarillo.
- Bantamweight Felix Baker, 118, Houston.
- Featherweight Alfred Flores, 128, Bryan.
- Lightweight Johnny O'Glee, 135, Dallas.
- Middleweight Wallace Willard, 158, Houston.
- Light Heavyweight Michael Woolsey, 172 1/2, Fort Worth.

It was a repeat performance for O'Glee, North Texas State College batter.

Baker Upsets Morales

Baker won a unanimous decision in upsetting by a margin of only three points Freddy Morales, 116, Abilene. Morales won the flyweight title in 1948 and 1949.

There were just two knockouts in the finals and only three in the semi-finals which preceded them.

Martinez electrified the crowd of 7,828 with two devastating technical kayos. He gained revenge for the knockout suffered at the hands of Bill Burkhardt, 147, Abilene, last year in the quarter-finals, stopping him at 1:34 of the first round in the semi-finals. He got credit for a technical over Johnny Pannell, 145 1/2, Corpus Christi, in the finals. A terrific two-handed attack to the face put Pannell down for a count of six when the bell rang. He was unable to come out for the second round.

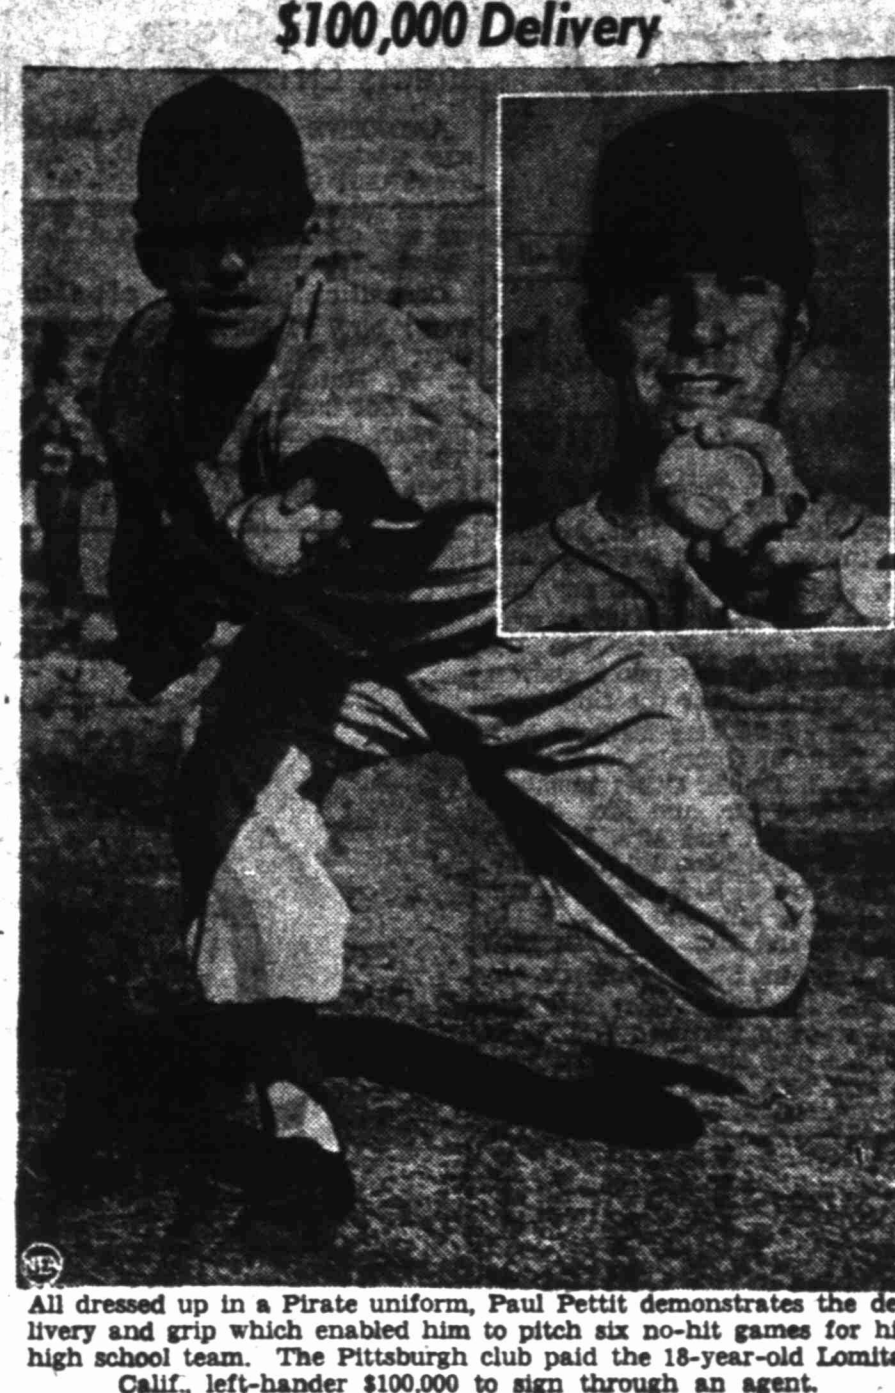

Bloody, Savage Fight

This was the fifth time Martinez had tried for a Golden Gloves title. It was the first championship for an El Paso team since 1945.

Adams' victory over Hoff was a bloody, savage thing to watch. Both were hitting with terrific impact, but Adams lifted his opponents title with deadly lefts and rights that cracked like a whip.

The Hardin-Simmons University student weighed 186, Hoff 190.

Baker had a final point total of 179 to 176 for Morales in the biggest

All dressed up in a Pirate uniform, Paul Pettit demonstrates the delivery and grip which enabled him to pitch six no-hit games for his high school team. The Pittsburgh club paid the 18-year-old Lomita, Calif., left-hander $100,000 to sign through an agent.

Girl Scout Benefit Set Wednesday

Final plans for the Girl Scout Little House and Park fund benefit basketball double-header have been made and a large attendance is expected.

Two tilts are to be unreeled in the Junior High School Gym Wednesday night and all proceeds will go to the Girl Scouts.

Rotary Engineers will tangle with the Seagraves Independents in the feature attraction and the Jay-Cees will meet Sandhills Gulf of Crane in the other tilt.

The first game is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. and the other will follow.

Iowa Simon Pure, Says Board Head

NEW YORK—(P)—The University of Iowa does not subsidize athletes and any subsidization by alumni is "without the knowledge of the university," Paul Blommers, chairman of Iowa's Athletic Board of Control, said Tuesday.

Answering an Associated Press questionnaire, Blommers said he subscribed to the sanity code and opposed "any type of subsidization which requires an athlete to perjure himself in order to retain eligibility."

Iowa is a member of the Western Conference. Last year it won four and lost five football games.

The athletic chairman said Iowa does employ some athletes who are "paid at the going rate for the work performed."

Bradley Gains Top In Hardwood Poll

NEW YORK—(P)—Bradley University broke Holy Cross' five-week hold on top position and moved in Tuesday as the nation's No. 1 basketball team.

The dashing lads from Peoria, Ill., although beaten three times, won solid support from all sections of the country to amass 1,269 points in the weekly Associated Press poll.

This gave them a 135-point edge over undefeated Holy Cross although the crusaders from Worcester, Mass., still command the largest number of first place votes—44 compared with 38 for the new leader.

Points are awarded on the basis of ten for first, nine for second and so on.

Here's the new rundown: Bradley, Holy Cross, Ohio State, Duquesne, Kentucky, St. John's, UCLA, Western Kentucky, North Carolina State and Long Island University.

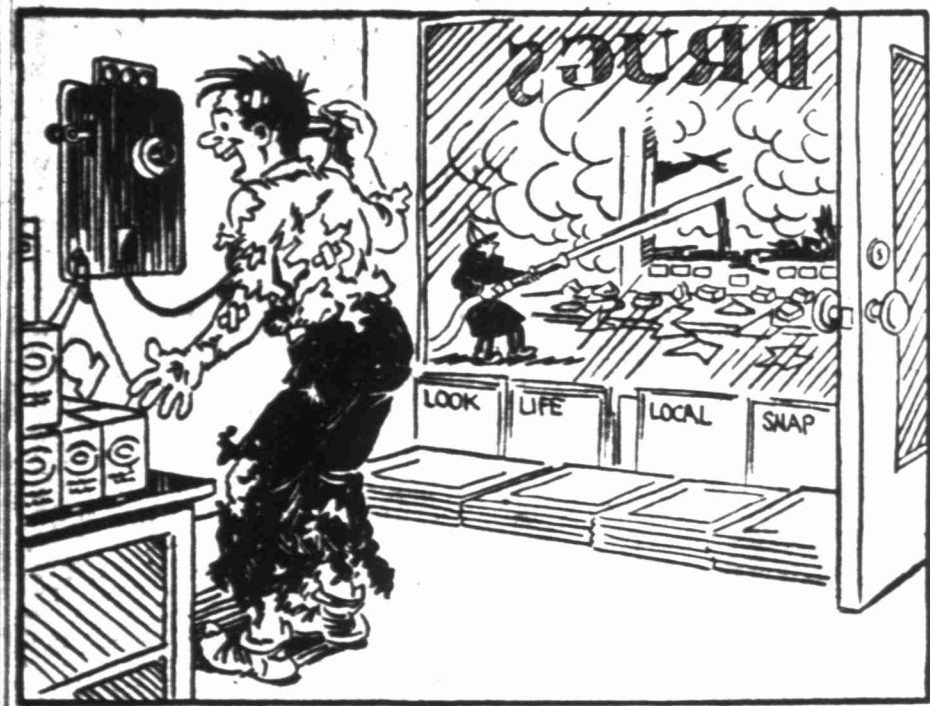

Only two teams remained stationary from last week. Ohio State, the Western Conference power, held firm at third. Kentucky, the defending national champion, was an unshakable fifth.

Duquesne, beaten only once in 22 games, climbed from seventh to fourth. UCLA moved to the vacated spot from tenth and Western Kentucky graduated a notch.

St. John's of Brooklyn fell from No. 4 to No. 6. Long Island University tumbled from sixth. North Carolina State dropped one rung.

Ohio State, which clinched at least a share of the Big Ten crown by humbling Indiana Monday night 75-65, became a definite threat for national honors. The Buckeyes, who have won 18 and lost 3, received 1,061 points—including 12 first place votes.

Arizona was the only team in the Southwestern area to place in the first 20. It ranked nineteenth with 88 votes, including one first place ballot.

Fields For Major Cage Tournaments Start Shaping Up As Loop Races Clear

NEW YORK—(AP)—The nation's conference races—once an end in themselves—now merely serve as so much cream for the two big post-season tournaments.

With two weeks of play remaining, the selectors of the two extravaganzas—the National Invitation and the NCAA—are casting their collective eyes on the leaders.

The NCAA committee got the first jump by grabbing unbeaten Holy Cross (22-0) Monday as the District No. 1 representative.

In addition, Ohio State (18-3), which whipped Indiana 75-53 Monday night for at least a share of the Big Ten title, is almost certain to accept the District No. 4 bid.

Another choice plumb for the NCAA appears to be Bradley (24-3), the nation's No. 1 team in this week's Associated Press poll.

Bradley—if it remains on top of the Missouri pack—will tangle with the Big Seven titleholder, probably Kansas State or Nebraska, for the honor of representing District 5.

Nebraska took over undisputed lead in the Big Seven, downing Missouri 55 to 48 at Columbia, Mo. Wisconsin doggedly remained in the race with a 56-45 verdict over Purdue.

Michigan roamed outside of league play and whipped an old rival—Michigan State—70 to 53. Northwestern did likewise as it trimmed Marquette 61-52.

Iowa squeaked past Minnesota 64 to 62 in the other Big Ten tussle. Here is a brief sectional rundown of other leading games:

Add to the list of cities using a majority of Cuban baseball players this year—Odessa.

A. D. Ensey, rambrod of the Oilers, has signed six Cuban "rookies" to go with Manny Rodriguez, who finished the season with Odessa in 1949.

Ensey may have some other nationalities to mix with them, too. He went from Cuba to Puerto Rico and on to Panama in search of talent.

The six signed in Havana include a catcher, three pitchers, an outfielder and a shortstop.

Ray Hakey, 17-year-old rookie outfielder, also has been signed by the Oilers.

Billy Herman, the baseball great who made history in the majors, will play for Oakland in the Pacific Coast League this year.

Says Chuck Dressen, OAK manager: "He doesn't look 40, he doesn't feel 40 and he doesn't bat like he's 40, so we can use him as a regular."

The Oaks also have signed the veteran Augie Galan, who finished last season with the Athletics.

Chile Walsh, a guy who knows pro football inside and out, says if the professionals ever come to Texas the franchise will be located in Dallas.

He gives a couple of good reasons in addition to knowing a lot of other things about why Dallas would be favored.

One of the big reasons would be that a Dallas stop on the circuit would be a natural to break a trip from the East to Los Angeles.

They could play New York, Cleveland, Dallas and Los Angeles easier than they could play Cleveland and then to Los Angeles.

The Cotton Bowl, by far the largest stadium in Texas, is located in Dallas and would be ideal for pro ball.

Chile says Houston is a possibility if a good operator can be found to take a franchise there. The pros are more interested in good operators than they are cities.

Walsh says it has been proved again and again that it takes a lot more than just a good city where pro ball is supported to make it a paying proposition.

He puts more emphasis on the club operators than on anything else.

Branch Rickey, for example, is considered a smart operator in baseball. But the Brooklyn club under him lost plenty of money.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Monkey Catcher

The Monkey Catcher from the zoo was creeping along and creeping along through the Great Forest, as quiet as quiet could be. He had a rope in his hand, and a wolf catcher cap on his head. He wasn't a monkey catcher at all, that fine day. He was a wolf catcher. That's what his wolf catcher cap said on it: "WOLF CATCHER." He was trying to catch him a wolf. And not far away was the Huffen Puffen.

The Huffen Puffen is a wolf, you know, and he was creeping along and creeping along as quiet as quiet could be. He had a rope in his hand, and a monkey catcher cap on his head. That's what the cap said on it: "MONKEY CATCHER." The Huffen Puffen was trying to catch him a monkey catcher. And so the Monkey Catcher had turned into a Wolf Catcher, trying to catch him a wolf to take home to his zoo. And the wolf—that's the Huffen Puffen—had turned into a Monkey Catcher, trying to catch him a Monkey Catcher to keep there in the Great Forest.

"Gotta!" said the Monkey Catcher with the Wolf Catcher cap on. "Gotta!" said the Huffen Puffen with the Monkey Catcher cap on. And each of them began to chuckle and laugh to show how happy he was. "People will never believe that I've caught me a wolf," said the Monkey Catcher with the Wolf Catcher cap on. "until I take you home to my zoo and show them."

The Huffen Puffen laughed. "And people will never believe that I've caught me a Monkey Catcher," he said. "until I take you around in the forest and show them."

"But I'm not going to let you show me around in the forest," the Monkey Catcher giggled and said. He began to tie the rope around the Huffen Puffen.

"And I'm not going to let you show me around at the zoo, I'm not," said the Huffen Puffen. He
