Labor Party Holds Narrow Margin

Hospital Program Adopted

AUSTIN—(P)—The Legislature was a madhouse of new bills Friday after Thursday's whirlwind action providing for the state's mental hospitals and special schools.

Five bills toughening the sex crime laws were the first to be passed in the special session.

He submitted 33 new topics for possible action by the Legislature scheduled to wind up its extra session Wednesday. Whether enough time remained for enactment of any or more than a few of the scores of new bills was doubtful.

Shivers' door-opening action was in line with his promise to the Legislature that he would submit additional subjects as soon as it finished the primary business of caring for the hospitals and special schools.

79 New Bills

Legislative action on the hospitals was completed at mid-afternoon. Before 6 p. m., 79 new bills were in the hopper and more were to come.

One measure appropriating $1,350,000 for an atomic energy laboratory and radiological institute at the M. D. Anderson Cancer Hospital at Houston quickly won approval of the House Appropriations Committee. That sent it to the House floor.

Backers of another new measure authorizing rural telephone cooperatives in Texas won an early skirmish in committee. They succeeded in having it set for hearing at 2:30 p. m. Friday, defeating an effort to delay it 48 hours.

Among new legislation proposed were bills which would provide separate state park facilities for whites and negroes, repeal or postpone the multi-million dollar rural road law passed at the regular session, provide more funds for Texas' fight to retain title to the tidelands, give permission for relocation of state hospitals.

$28,000,000 Check

A wild scramble to gain floor consideration for these and other measures was the prospect as time ran out for the session. Governor Shivers' door-opening action was in line with his promise to the Legislature that he would submit additional subjects as soon as it finished the primary business of caring for the hospitals and special schools.

Opposing Leaders In Britain's See-Saw Election

Clement Attlee, Labor

Winston Churchill, Conservative

Early Trend To Socialists Is Reversed

LONDON—(P)—The Labor Party held a narrow and precarious lead late Friday in the parliamentary election. It was doubtful that Prime Minister Attlee would have a workable majority in the new House of Commons, even if he defeated the combined opposition of Conservatives and Liberals.

The count shortly after 5 p. m. (11 a. m. Central Standard Time), showed:

Labor 280 seats, Conservatives and allied parties 268, Liberals 6.

Seventy party seats remained to be decided at that time. There will be 625 seats in the new Commons, but the speaker, elected ahead by several seats again, is regarded as a Conservative, is regarded as a neutral.

For a time, the Laborites and the combined opposition were all even. Four times in 15 minutes of counting the opponents were dead level, and four times Labor went one seat ahead. The Laborites forged ahead by several seats again.

Conservatives Come Back

The Conservatives came back sharply in Friday's counting after overnight results had cast a pall of gloom over headquarters of Winston Churchill's party. When a recess in the count was taken early Friday, the Laborites held a lead of 61 seats.

In the old House of Commons, which had 640 seats, the Laborites outnumbered the Conservatives 381 to 202.

A Labor spokesman said his party needed a majority of 30 seats to function effectively in the new House.

Churchill, reelected in his own district by a big margin, spoke to his constituency at Woodford. The wartime prime minister said: "We cannot tell and I am certainly not going to pronounce what is going to happen, but it is obvious Parliament is going to be in a very unstable condition."

"All we can do is to keep our eyes steadily fixed on the main purpose to bring our country back to the forefront of the nations and to make her a home for all our people."

Important Returns Still Out

The popular vote at 5 p. m. was: Labor 11,698,099, Conservatives 10,838,204, Liberals 2,318,247.

With the race so close it was possible that votes in four constituencies in the remote parts of Scotland could have an important bearing on the issue. Because of travel difficulties they will not report on how they voted until next Monday.

The constituencies are in the highlands and islands off the Scottish coast. The four are: one voted Liberal National, one for Labor, and two for the Conservatives in 1945.

Many of the districts still to be heard from were in traditionally Labor strongholds.

The race was so close, however, that many leaders on both sides speculated on the possibility that neither party would be able to muster a working majority in the new Parliament. That would force a new election.

Need 30-Seat Majority

Morgan Phillips, general secretary of the Labor Party, told an interviewer the Laborites "need a majority of 30 seats to function effectively as a government."

A Conservative spokesman said there seemed a good chance that the winning party, whichever it was, would be lucky to scrape home with a majority of ten.

If this happened another election would be necessary.

Nurse Tells Of Doctor's Admissions

MANCHESTER, N. H.—(P)—A hospital records keeper testified Friday that Dr. Hermann N. Sander said he knew he had broken a law in the "mercy killing" death of a cancer patient and admitted "he'd broken laws before—he'd been through stop signs."

Josephine Connor, medical librarian at Hillsboro County Hospital, calmly told a 13-man jury about a conversation she said she heard between a county medical referee and Sander.

Dr. Sander is being tried on a first degree murder charge in connection with the death of Mrs. Abbie Borotto, 59, Manchester housewife.

Miss Connor, a buxom registered nurse, gave this account of the talk between Dr. Robert E. Biron, the medical referee, and Dr. Sander on the day of Sander's arrest: "Dr. Biron asked if he (Sander) realized he had broken the law. Dr. Sander said 'Yes, he'd broken laws before—he'd been through stop signs.'"

This Was Murder

"Dr. Biron said this was more serious, this was murder x x x. Dr. Sander said he did realize he'd broken the law but the law should be changed."

"Dr. Biron said 'Why didn't you change it first—before you did this?'"

Miss Connor testified she did not know whether Dr. Sander was guilty.

Truman Appoints Fact-Finding Board To Halt Rail Strike

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman Friday set up an emergency fact-finding board, automatically heading off a nationwide railroad strike scheduled for Monday.

The action has the effect of delaying the proposed strike for 60 days.

Truman signed an executive order creating the board to investigate a dispute between the carriers and the Brotherhoods of Railway Conductors and Railroad Trainmen.

The dispute is between the brotherhoods and carriers represented by the Eastern, the Western and the Southeastern Carriers' Conference Committee.

Officials of the trainmen's brotherhood in Cleveland have said the union will comply with legal procedures provided by the Railway Labor Act.

The conductors and the trainmen's brotherhoods refused arbitration, which had been proposed by the National Railway Mediation Board. Together the unions represent between 200,000 and 250,000 workers.

Appointment of a presidential fact-finding board requires both sides in the dispute to retain the status quo. The board has 30 days in which to make a report and no strike can be called for 30 days after the board's report is submitted, according to the law.

Texas Appointed To Federal Court

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman Friday nominated Rep. Eugene Worley, Amarillo, Texas, Democrat, to be an associate judge of the U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals.

Worley's nomination was sent to the Senate along with that of Osborne A. Pearson of California to be an assistant postmaster general.

Worley was named to succeed the late Judge Charles S. Hatfield. He is a member of the Texas delegation in the House.

Truman Hints At Spring Tour To Save 'Fair Deal'

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman may try to rescue his "Fair Deal" program by a pre-adjournment stumping tour aimed at bringing voter pressure on Congress.

The President himself gave impetus to such speculation by disclosing that he is considering a Spring trip to the Northwest complete with "whistle stops" going and coming.

The trip under consideration would have for its avowed purpose dedication of Grand Coulee Dam in Washington State.

The President told his news conference Thursday that he had been invited and was considering making the trip. If he went, he said, there probably would be some whistle stops going and coming.

Pecos Man Awarded Judgment In Suit

PECOS—F. J. Kraus of Pecos Thursday afternoon was awarded a $157,500 judgment against the Texas Electric Service Company by a jury in federal district court here.

The judgment is believed to be the largest in a personal injury suit in Texas' history.

Kraus was said to have been injured while working on an electric line believed dead. A 6,000-watt charge passed through his body, paralyzing an arm and leg.

Judge Irving Thompson adjourned the term of court after hearing 50 cases during the last two weeks.

NW Gains Devonian Pay To Get Outpost

A southeast flanker has been staked to the discovery well—and only producer—in the North Russell-Devonian field, in Northwest Gaines County.

The possible addition will be the Shell Oil Company No. 1, Foster Petroleum Corporation, to be 662 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 492, block G, CSD&RONG survey.

Staked depth is 11,180 feet should tap the Devonian pay of that field.

The venture will be 11 miles southwest of Denver City.

East Flanker Staked To C-S Kent Reef Pay

A one-half mile east extension to the Cogdell-Canyon pool, in Central-South Kent County, has been staked by C. Chapman Producing Department (Chapman and McParlin), discovery operators.

The No. 5 D. M. Cogdell is to be 2,827 feet east of the same operators No. 4 Cogdell, a drilling exploration well has been reported high on the reef to the discovery well.

The possible 8,000-foot venture is to be 660 feet from west and 467 feet from south lines of section 715, block 97, H&T survey. This places it 16 miles north of Snyder.

SE Borden Wildcat Logs No Reef Shows

R. E. Smith No. 1 C. V. Thompson, Southeast Borden County wildcat, one-half mile east of a small Canyon reef discovery at Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Von Roeder, had penetrated to 6,950 feet in lime, and was circulating for samples.

This venture took a 45-minute drillstem test, 6,950 feet. Recovery was 30 feet of mud with no shows.

It had topped the Canyon lime at 6,835 feet on a datum of minus 4,467 feet.

A drillstem test at 6,816-26 feet recovered 270 feet of oil, 380 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud and 80 feet of salt water, during one and one half hours.

Since that test no other signs of oil or water have been developed in the exploration. It is located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 102, block 25, H&T survey.

Shawn Picked

P. R. Rutherford No. 1 Griffin, another Southeast Borden County prospect, three miles southwest of Amerada No. 1 Von Roeder, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 57, block 25, H&T survey, had reached 7,900 feet in lime and was making more hole.

It picked the top of the Strawn to be at 7,620 feet. The well is 2,132 feet. The Canyon lime made salt water in this venture, which is to go on to test the Ellenburger.

Diamond M Extended Half-Mile Westward

One-half mile west of production in the Diamond M field in Scurry County, Stroube Oil Company, has completed its No. 1 Eiland.

On the production potential, it rated a daily natural flow of 253 barrels of 45.6 gravity oil, and no water. Production flowed through a one-fourth inch choke.

Gas-oil ratio was 700-1. Pay was topped at 6,709 feet, and total depth was 6,729 feet. A five and one-half inch oil string was set at 6,709 feet.

Location of the field extender is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 146, block 25, H&T survey.

Stroube recently staked a south offset to this new producer.

Houston Hill, Midland contractor, has been awarded a contract for the construction of a children's educational building for the First Methodist Church, Paul L. Davis, chairman of the Methodist building committee, announced Friday.

Hill's bid of $134,000 was the lowest received by the committee. Construction on the project, to be located behind the First Methodist Church building, on North Baird and Illinois Streets, will begin immediately. Completion of the building is expected in 300 days.

The new building will be of the same general architectural pattern as the other church buildings now in use and will be adequate to care for 400 children. Contempt Hearing In Coal Stalemate Ordered Monday

WASHINGTON—(P)—Judge Richmond B. Keech refused Friday to drop contempt charges against the striking coal miners union and ordered a trial on Monday.

Keech told union attorneys they could have a jury trial if they desired.

Welly K. Hopkins, chief UMW attorney, said he would consider over the weekend whether to ask for a jury trial.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morrison asked that the trial start Saturday. He noted that since the original court back-to-work order, issued February 11, "there has been no increase in production of the bituminous mines of this country."

Urging the need for speed in the case, Morrison said: "At least 20 states have adopted emergency measures to take care of their coal supply."

"If this contempt is established in appropriate trial then it is the view of the government that the full power and majesty of this court" be used to get the miners back on the job.

Negotiations Bog Down

Hopkins objected to having the trial start Saturday.

Judge Keech then set it for Monday.

With negotiations toward ending the great strike apparently bogged down once more after a brief period of optimism Thursday, the effects of the walkout piled up across the nation.

Thousands more were laid off in coal-dependent industries. There (Continued On Page Nine)

Truman, Aides Turn To Senate In Drive For Forceful FEPC

WASHINGTON—(P)—Its prospects of success clouded by House passage of a voluntary FEPC bill, the Administration switched to the Senate Friday in its drive for compulsory fair employment practices legislation.

Backed by President Truman, Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, kept to a schedule which will bring a bitterly-fought anti-job discrimination measure up in the Senate next month.

Truman told his news conference Thursday that he has made it clear he wants a bill with enforcement clauses.

Even its approval by the Senate might mean only a disagreement between the houses. That would kill the legislation in this session. Civil rights advocates then would have to start all over again in the next Congress.

The House bill, approved by a 240 to 177 vote, would set up a Fair Employment Practices Commission to try to persuade employers not to discriminate in hiring against anybody because of race, creed, disability or sex. Civil rights advocates didn't like it at all.

The Administration bill to be called up in the Senate would give the FEPC power to enforce its decisions, providing criminal penalties for violations. The latter measure has the backing of supporters of President Truman's civil rights program.

Czechs Expel Two U. S. Mormons Held Since January 28

PRAGUE—(P)—Two American Mormon missionaries held by Czech police since January 28 on charges of entering a "prohibited area" were released Friday and expelled from the country.

The American Embassy said the two missionaries, Stanley E. Abbott of Lehi, Utah, and C. Aldon Johnson of Idaho Falls, Idaho, were released from jail in Olomouc, Central Moravia.

They were placed on a train in the company of two plainclothesmen, brought to Prague, taken to the airport and whisked off to Zurich, Switzerland, by plane.

The two missionaries were released at a time when the Mormon Church is withdrawing all its American workers here in accordance with Czechoslovakia's new church law.

Eleven other missionaries, two of whom also have been expelled on charges of constituting a "danger to the safety and security of the state," left Prague Monday night to take up new missions in the United States, Britain, and Western Germany.

'Stromboli' Will Clean Up—Can You Guess Why?

By ERSKINE JOHNSON, NEA Staff Correspondent. HOLLYWOOD—There's a great deal of second guessing going on in Hollywood about how much money 'Stromboli' will make at the box office as a result of Rosellini's new theme song.

The figures range all the way from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000. Ingrid and Roberto certainly will have no financial worries with their agents, MCA, they formed a company to produce the film. They'll collect 50 per cent of the profits, RKO 40 per cent.

Sammy Fain, the songwriter, has come up with 'You Haven't Lived Until You've Died in L. A.' for the new musical revue. 'My L. A.' If you can't guess the song is a satirical number about a famed L. A. cemetery.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

Disaster at sea is depicted in this reproduction of a painting by German artist Willy Stöwer of the sinking of the 66,000-ton Titanic, proud British luxury liner and greatest ocean vessel of her time. The Titanic, bound for New York from Southampton, struck an iceberg off Newfoundland on the night of April 14, 1912, and carried more than 1,500 persons, many of them Americans, to their death. It was the maiden voyage of the $7,500,000 floating mansion. Of a new type construction, she was called the world's first unsinkable ship. Some 700 passengers survived, thanks largely to wireless distress signals flashed to nearby ships. The world knew little of the great tragedy while it was going on. It was 24 hours afterward before detailed news began reaching New York.

Swiss Soldier Pleads Guilty To Espionage For U. S., Britain

BERN, SWITZERLAND—(P)—A Swiss army mechanic, said to have put nearly $10,000 earned from spying into a New York bank before the war, pleaded guilty Thursday to espionage for the United States, Britain and France.

Willy Gerber, 47, was brought before a Swiss military court. He faces a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. The prosecution charged that, for personal gain, Gerber "made it his life work to divulge everything there was to divulge in Switzerland."

The court charged he even sold occasional information to Sweden, Turkey and Yugoslavia as a sideline. He was said systematically to have relayed Switzerland's military secrets, stole secret plans and documents from the Swiss Army and engaged in economic and political espionage.

Started Before 1931 Maxwell Moore, assistant U. S. military attaché in Bern who was recalled last October, was said at that time by the Swiss Federal Council (cabinet) to have been in contact with Gerber.

Gerber's spying activities, said the court, went back to before 1931, when he worked for French intelligence abroad. He worked for them again in Switzerland in 1937 and before to work for the British the same year, the court charged. During the war—from 1942 to 1945—the court said he made contact with officials of the U. S. legation and spies against Germany and Italy for the United States. He was said to have continued his work with the French until his arrest last July 25.

During the war, when Gerber was working against the Axis powers and for the Allies, Switzerland was neutral but constantly under the threat of an invasion by Hitler.

Body Of American Found In Austria

VIENNA, AUSTRIA—(P)—A man identified by police as the U. S. Naval Attaché to Bucharest plunged to his death in a railroad tunnel south of Salzburg Thursday. Semi-official sources said today there is "no hint of foul play."

In Washington, however, officials said they were not eliminating the possibility that the officer may have been slain. Formal comment was being withheld pending further word from abroad.

U. S. Army investigators tentatively identified the man as Capt. Eugene Karpe, who was a close friend of Robert A. Vogeler, an American businessman sentenced to prison in Hungary Tuesday on charges of being an American spy.

Austrian police said papers on the battered body, found on the curve of a railway track, bore the name of Capt. Karpe. In Washington, the Navy reported Karpe had been in Bucharest since 1946. He was sent there as a naval member of the Allied Control Commission.

Karpe left Vienna Thursday on the Arleberg Express enroute to Paris. He was returning to the United States on leave. He was in civilian clothes.

Hungary also asked the two countries to reconsider "counter-measures taken by the governments of the United States and Britain as retaliation."

The state department ordered the closing of two Hungarian consulates in the United States and banned travel of American citizens to Hungary shortly after Vogeler was arrested last Nov. 18. Britain broke off trade talks with Hungary when Sanders was arrested.

The Hungarian note declared: "It has been proved that several officials of the United States and British legations in Budapest took an active part in the subversive work of the group of saboteurs and spies."

The notes said the American legation employees, 103 Hungarian citizens and the British legation 43, charging that the majority of them are "partisans of the late fascist regime."

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

Eph. 3:16-20; Luke 1:37; Col. 1:29. PUNISHMENT IS INHERENT The egocentric is his own punishment. Budd Schulberg, in "What Makes Sammy Run?" after tracing Sammy's egocentric but apparently successful life, sums up in these words: "Unconsciously, I had been hoping to be around when Sammy got what was coming to him. And now I realized that what was coming to him was not a sudden pay-off but a process, a disease . . . a cancer that was slowly eating him away, the symptoms intensifying: success, loneliness, fear . . . I thought . . . You can't have your brothers and eat them too. You're alone, pal. a" alone. That's the way you wanted it. That's the way you learned it. . . . All alone in sickness and in health, for better or for worse. . . . till death parts you from your only friend, your worst enemy, yourself."

In the play Peer Gynt, the hero, committed to the faith that he would "be myself" visited the lunatic asylum where, he assumes, people were "outside themselves." The director corrects him: "It's here that men are most themselves—themselves and nothing but themselves—sailing with outspread sails of self. Each shuts himself in a cask of self, the cask stopped with a bung of self and season in a well of self. None has a tear for others' woes or cares what any other thinks."

There is one way out of that hell of egocentricity. Dr. Fritz Kunkel says: "It has been shown that all mistakes, weaknesses, and aberrations can be traced back to man's egocentricity. Accordingly, the fundamental problem of self-education may be described as the problem of overcoming one's own egocentricity." (God Helps Those Who Help Themselves.) How then do you overcome your egocentricity? By a deliberate act of self-surrender. A willingness to die to this petty self in order that a larger self might live. An able woman, speaking before club women, wept. She was so chagrined that she could do such a thing that she wrote to each one asking her not to mention it. But that breakdown of herself was the best thing that ever happened. It led to her consciously offering that petty self to God—to her conversion. Tears did it!

Dear Lord and Father, Thou art leading me out of my petty self to Thy ample self. I thank Thee that I have a door out of myself into Thee. I would die into Thee—and thus live now and forever. Amen.

NORTH CAROLINA SPECIAL FISH STEW

By FAY COIL
1707 West Texas Street

Dice 1/4 lb. salt pork and fry until brown in a heavy iron pot. Cut 4 lbs. fish in average sized servings. These fish have been cleaned and the heads saved. When the pork is brown, cover the bottom of the pot with the fish heads and other bone pieces and cover with a layer of mixed onions and potatoes. This recipe requires 3 large onions, diced, and 8 large Irish potatoes, diced.

Alternate with layers of fish and the mixed onions and potatoes, seasoning each layer with salt, pepper and crushed hot pepper (2 dry hot peppers are used).

Add 1 can condensed tomato soup, 2 No. 2 cans of tomatoes and enough water to cover the solid mixture. Bring to a boil and simmer until potatoes are done (about 1 hour). Then carefully break 8 eggs into the top of the mixture and continue cooking until the eggs are firm.

It is essential not to stir this mixture and it must not be covered. Cooking over an open wood fire improves the flavor. The amount of any ingredient may be varied to suit the individual taste but at least 1 1/2 lb. fish per person should be used.

Final Gifts Asked To Complete Cost Of Girl Scout Building

With the goal in sight for financing construction of the Girl Scout Little House, members of the building committee have made a last-minute request for contributions to parents of girls enrolled in the Girl Scout and Brownie troops of the city.

Approximately $1,500 still is needed of the $11,500 cost for remodeling a barracks building into a house with assembly room, kitchen, troop meeting rooms and offices, Mrs. R. M. Payne, building chairman, announced.

Work is being done on the building as funds are received, and the committee hopes it can be completed in March, which is celebrated as birthday month by the Girl Scouts of America.

Letters To Parents
Recent letters sent to parents of the girls emphasized that most of the large contributions have been made by Midland residents who are interested in the city's youth, but who have no daughters of their own. Parents of daughters under 18 years of age—the girls who now are or soon will be of Girl Scout age—have a more personal interest in the project and are being urged to help support it.

Small gifts as well as large contributions are welcome, the committee said, urging that parents of all Girl Scouts make some gift to the fund. Checks may be mailed to the Girl Scout Building Fund, Box 1016. The building will meet a pressing need for troop meeting places. It is being financed by contributions because the Girl Scout allotment from the Community Chest funds may not be used for building purposes.

At various times during the program Pat and Mike, banquet jester, made unannounced appearances. The Rev. Raymond G. Hall and Duke Jimerson were Pat and Mike. A "useful" lyrics quartet composed of Mrs. Robert Goff, Mrs. Gene Knight, Mrs. Tracy Medders and Mrs. Joe Angel, sang "A Little Bit of Heaven."

Mounting Russian Threats

This is a time of supreme urgency in America. Not since Russian fighters buzzed our airlift planes over Germany have we had greater need to view the future with courage and determination.

Dr. Harold Urey, atomic scientist, tersely expresses the danger: "If the H-bomb is created there will be no place to hide."

Another eminent scientist, Dr. Vannevar Bush, warns that the only real defense against the A-bomb or the H-bomb or any other explosive weapon is to keep it away from our shores.

Urey underlines that warning by telling us that not only Russian bombers but innocent-looking tramp steamers which slip almost unnoticed into our harbors may bear the dreaded explosive cargo.

He foresees a possible Soviet effort before the year is out to split European Atlantic Pact nations off from us by mining their key harbors with atomic charges.

Rumors are rife that Russia may strike any time at defiant Tito in Yugoslavia or at Finland, tiniest partner in the Soviet Union's circle of compulsory friends.

Admiral Sherman, chief of naval operations, declares the Russians have a vast submarine fleet in Asiatic waters. Military experts see submarines as prime carriers of super-explosives for possible launching against our island outposts or our western shore.

A government aviation research official reiterates an old story: Russia has a bigger air force than ours.

Air Secretary Symington goes him several points better, asserting Soviet dictators have the world's largest armed forces and are capable of a surprise attack upon any part of America's 3,000,000 square miles.

These signals of peril have not gone unheeded. The cry for action to stave off civilization's ruin has risen everywhere. And that call has been answered, by Secretary of State Acheson, with the full support of President Truman.

Our policy for dealing with Russia in this hour is to be founded solely on strength and power. For these blunt tools of diplomacy are the only ones which impress Moscow.

Let the meaning of that decision sink in. There'll be no more big-power meetings, no peace treaties with Germany and Japan, no disarmament or atomic control talks until we and our friends among free nations are strong enough to establish conditions which Russia must accept whether it wants to or not.

We do not have that kind of strength now. Therefore, it is clear we must set about getting it without delay. Otherwise our policy of power is a string of empty phrases.

As a beginning we must stop deluding ourselves that we do have such strength. Nothing is more dangerously misleading than the statement of Secretary of Defense Johnson that we're ready to "go over and lick hell out of Joe Stalin."

The truth is we plan to reduce our military budget for the coming fiscal year by some $2,000,000,000. Obviously we aren't going to get more defense for less money.

To obtain the power we need will force us to some hard choices. Expanded military strength almost certainly will mean contracted civilian comforts. We'd better find out soon where those choices lie—and start making them. We can't stand off a worldwide menace while enjoying business as usual.

Our military and scientific experts must make the maddening decision as to the relative value of atomic bombs, guided missiles, long-range bombers, naval forces and land armies in a future war. We must seek balance in our strength.

We can't assume any weapon, including a hydrogen bomb, would give us decisive advantage even if we had it exclusively. And the story of Dr. Klaus Fuchs' spying is a reminder that we'd better not count on sole possession. Spies don't go out of business just when the stakes get bigger.

The way ahead is grim. To travel it we need calmness and unflinching courage.

They're A Success!

For the first time since the war in the Pacific ended, we have cause to worry that the Japanese may start traveling the road back to their former strength.

By a vote of 11 to 8, the Boston City Council barred 13 visiting members of the Japanese national parliament from observing "democracy in action." In other words, from watching a council session.

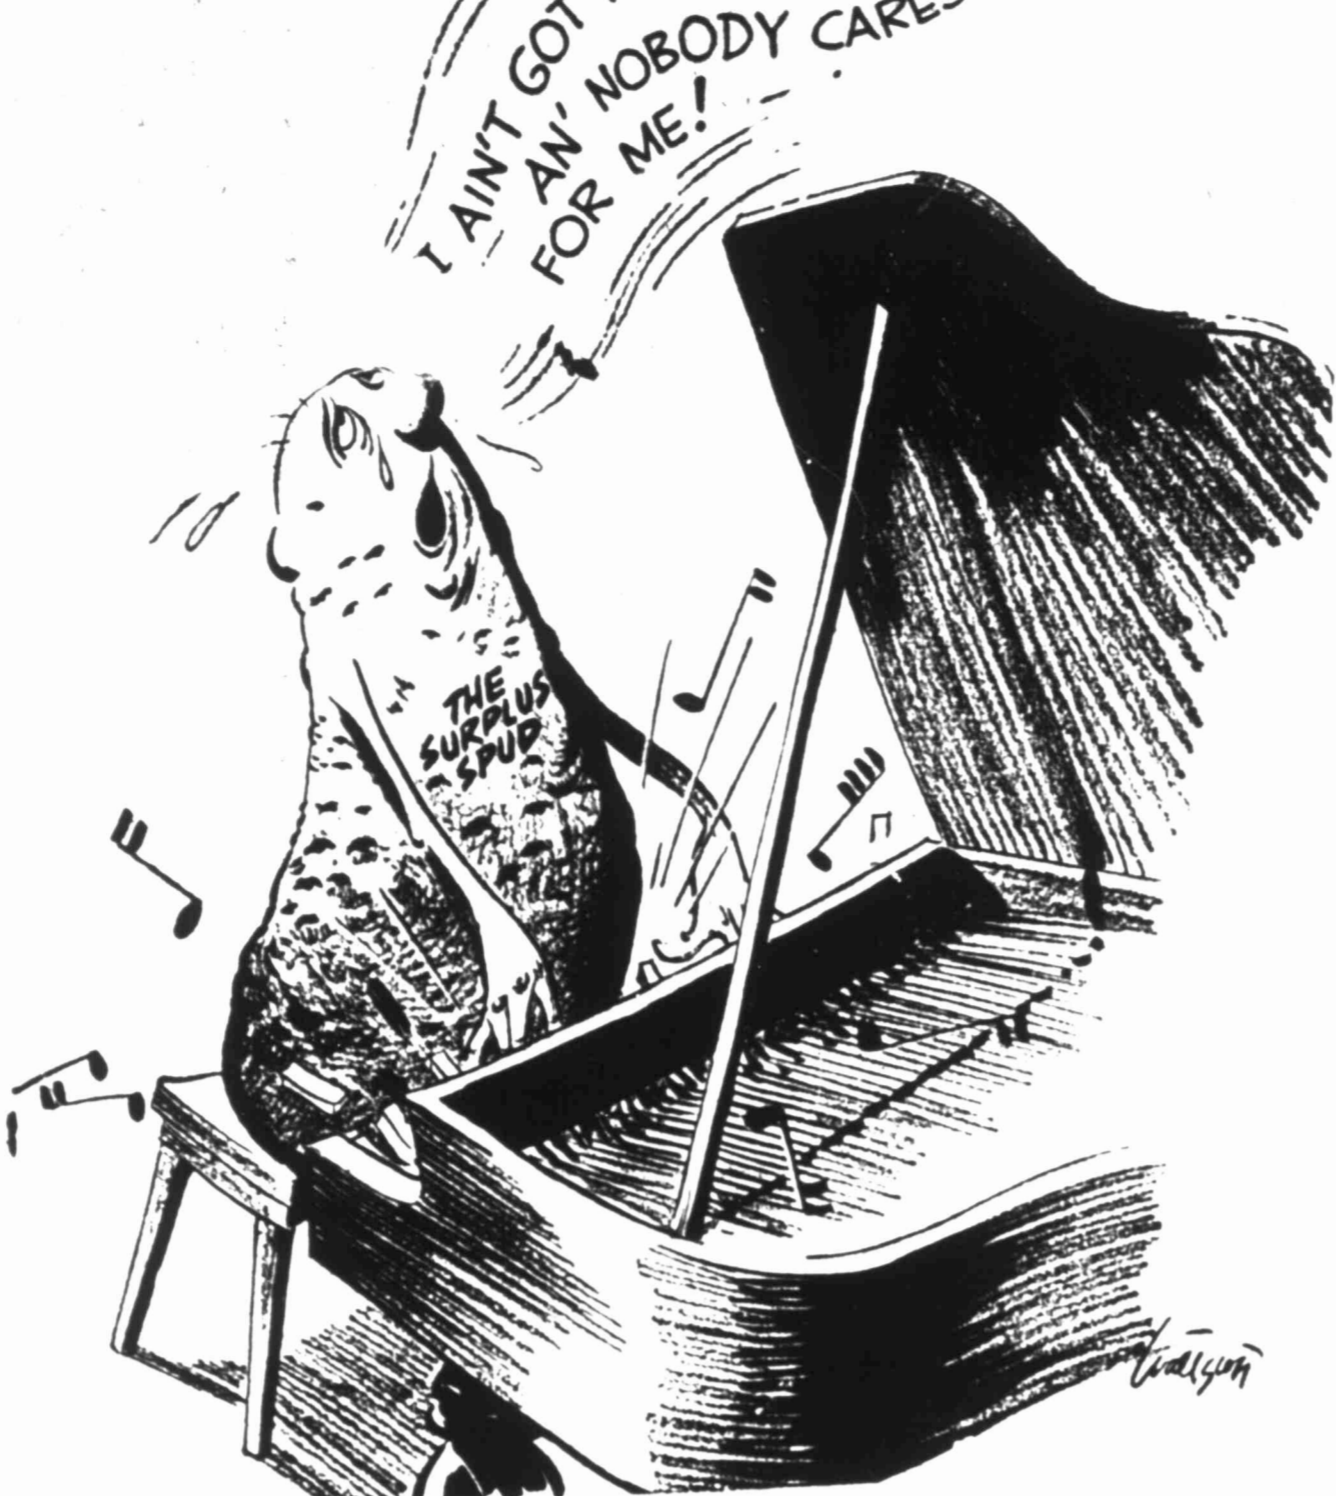

Since almost everything that is banned in Boston becomes a huge success elsewhere, clearly our experts on Far Eastern trends had better be on the alert from here on out.

A New Jersey man found two pearls in a restaurant oyster—and then probably complained about the check.

A Michigan girl insisted on marrying a man while he still had scarlet fever. Was his face red!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Bert Andrews—new GOP publicist? A-bomb civil-defense plans speeded; John L. Lewis reaches tragic climax.

WASHINGTON — Bert Andrews, Pulitzer prize-winning chief of the New York Herald Tribune's Washington bureau, has been offered the man-size job of breathing life into the Republican Party.

Officially, Andrews' position would be GOP director of public relations—a job now vacant. However, in view of Andrews' thorough knowledge of Washington politics, GOP Chairman Guy Gabrielson is expected to give him an almost free hand in guiding the party's destiny.

Although hard pressed for funds, the Republican National Committee feels that Andrews would perform political miracles and consequently has offered him a $40,000 contract to run for seven years.

Civilian Defense Speeded It's an unpleasant but inescapable fact that civilian defense preparations for dealing with any surprise attack on the United States are being speeded up in important talks inside the Pentagon Building.

The old days of air-raid wardens, sand buckets and tin hats now are being replaced by the new civilian defense against atomic war will concentrate chiefly on diversification of industry, blood plasma, and underground garages.

Medical experiments, as a result of the Hiroshima bombing, have shown that whole blood and plasma are the only effective treatment for radioactivity. Thus, large blood banks must be built up.

Also under consideration are underground garages in all major cities. It is believed that these not only can help to solve downtown traffic problems, but serve as air-raid shelters in case of emergency. The program now under consideration may be so great that federal funds will be advanced to states or cities.

Military planners also have been considering the whole field of war-plant dispersal. In general, it's believed that it would be too expensive to uproot certain major industries, such as the auto industry in Detroit. Instead, military planners propose duplicate facilities built on a stand-by basis.

The civilian defense program may lead to enormous expansion of industrial capacity and the relocation of some part of the population, but there will be no drastic changes overnight.

The Army Walks Testifying before the House Armed Services Committee, Defense Secretary Louis Johnson was asked why the draft act had been extended to get men into the Army.

"We don't need legislation to get recruits for the Navy and Air Forces," remarked Congressman Doyle of Long Beach, Calif. "It's answered very simply," interrupted Chairman Carl Vinson of Georgia. "The Navy floats ... The Air Force flies ... but the Army walks."

Lewis' Tragic Climax John L. Lewis, at the age of 70, has reached the most tragic climax of his long career.

His tragedy lies in that he has done more for one great segment of labor than any other individual in history, yet the more he has done for the miners, the less demand he has created for their product. As a result other fuels today have become almost as important as coal.

Another tragedy is that, in waging his battle, John L. and his bushy eyebrows, his stentorian statements and his bulldozing manner have become such a symbol of dislike to the American public that there is little sympathy for the miners he represents. And they deserve sympathy.

Finally, John L., aged, lonely and at the peak of his career, appears to have lost control of his miners for the first time. He partly had lost control during the three-day week, which many of them blamed on him, not understanding that the demand for coal had lessened.

Now they are sore at the operators and Taft-Hartley, and the government which has invoked the T-H act.

The truth is that the coal industry is sick. And Lewis, by his work stoppages to win wage increases, has made it sicker. Every strike he called, every wage boost he won increased the demand for oil and natural gas, until today only 26 per cent of the nation's passenger trains burn coal, as against 88 per cent two years ago. Today, also, so many factories, electric power plants and homes are turning to oil that it is doubtful the mines will ever need to work much more than three days a week except in case of emergencies.

That is why President Truman, if he really wanted to solve the coal crisis, could have appointed not a fact-finding board for wages but a fuel commission.

What the nation needs to know is whether certain unproductive mines should not be closed down with other mines operating full time; whether some miners should not move to other jobs, allowing other mines to work full time. In brief, what the very sick coal industry needs is not prolonged bickering and tin hat planning.

Dewey Dictum J. Russell Sprague, shrewd political adviser to Tom Dewey, had a meeting with GOP leaders in and around New York City the other day. He sprang the thin, red-checked coat that the party leaders must:

1. Pledge their support for Dewey's renomination, if Dewey decides to run, and ... 2. If Dewey decides to step out, they must support his choice for the nomination.

GOP leaders went along on the first request, but refused to swallow number two.

U. S. vs. S. R. Justice U. S. vs. S. R. Justice ... Ly. Today, the thin, red-checked reporter for the Russian news agency, Tass, rushed into the State Department's press office to ask: "Does the department have a statement on the arrest of Klaus Fuchs?"

Roger Tubby, an assistant to Secretary Dean Acheson, looked up and said: "No. Then, he added: 'This goes to show the difference between the American and Russian systems. Over here, he continued, 'a man accused of giving secrets to the Russians is investigated openly before congressional committees. The story is in all the papers and has been read on the radio and argued on forums. The trial is public.'"

"But, in Russia," concluded Tubby, "if a man is accused of giving secrets to the U. S., he just vanishes. No stories, no trial, no publicity."

Celebrate With The Irish Practically everybody got into the act when Southern Dixiecrats tried to adjourn the House to avert action on the fair employment practices bill. Even majority leader John McCormack, a vigorous booster for FEPC, interrupted for one minute in order to announce that the minister to Ireland, George A. Garrett, had been elevated to an ambassador.

McCormack, who hails from a solid Boston Irish district, waxed enthusiastic as he described the great joy that Garrett's promotion would bring to Americans of Irish ancestry. Finally, GOP Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan, a sort of dyed-in-the wool, asked McCormack to yield.

"I agree with the gentleman from Massachusetts," growled Hoffman. "In fact, the event is so important that we all ought to celebrate it properly."

"So," he concluded, "I move we adjourn and go out and celebrate." Footnote: Dictatorship in Argentina gets to looking more and more every day like one of the iron curtain "popular democracies." This now applies even to football.

The gib Gaudin's latest move to get in step with his totalitarian colleagues was the arrest of two professional football players who tried to leave the country in order to play in Colombia.

Half a dozen of the best Argentine players have been lured away by Colombian teams during the last year. As a result, Buenos Aires outfits are now so relatively weak that the government has refused to send a team to the world soccer championship, to be held in Rio De Janeiro next July.

However, no official action previously had been taken to prevent players from leaving Argentina. That was why an Argentine who joined a Colombian team last Spring announced in Bogota, that he would renew his contract in Colombia "because in this country," he said, "I can live like a gentleman and am treated like one."

Thirty-six hours later, two Buenos Aires stars, Vicente De La Mata and Jose Scamaldone, went to the airport in the Argentine capital to board a plane for Colombia. Argentine federal police, however, detained them and took them back to the city, charged with "income-tax irregularities."

Questions and Answers

Q—Was it originally planned to build George Washington in the United States capital?

A—In the capitol basement, beneath the dome, is an empty tomb. Congress thought it would contain the body of George Washington. However, after many proposals and much discussion, Washington's remains were moved to a new tomb Mount Vernon, ordered erected in Washington's will 32 years earlier.

Q—What period of time is considered a generation?

A—Generally it is 33 years, thus allowing three generations to a century.

Q—What state had the first disability benefits program?

A—Rhode Island had the first disability benefits program, which went into effect in 1943. Two other states, California and New Jersey, have disability benefits in operation now, while New York's becomes fully effective July 1.

Q—How does a chantey differ from other folk songs?

A—In a chantey the rhythm is of much more importance than the words. Originally, chanteys were used to help a group of seamen work in unison, with the leader or chanteur singing half of the couplet and the whole group joining in on the chorus.

Q—What would be considered the most important item in agricultural mechanization?

A—Statistics show that the most important item in agricultural mechanization is the tractor.

End of a Chapter

By Edwin Rutt

ALICE PINE needed an interval in which to think out what to explain and how to say what she wanted to say when she met Brent Halleck at Grosvenor Point.

At first, during that long drive from the city, it had been hard to compose her thoughts with the wind singing a song around her. She still wasn't able to get everything straight. But gradually the explanations came. Even though there were things she had to guess, she knew practically everything.

Of course, Alice would never be able to figure out exactly why Muriel wanted to discredit Brent around the village of Tolliver. Especially with people like Molly Tremayne. But Alice had a vague idea why.

It must have done something for Muriel's ego, she decided. Muriel wanted to build herself up by tearing Brent down through innuendos and half-truths. Alice had seen it work in her own case. Muriel wanted to pose as the success in the Halleck family, even as the breadwinner, and to destroy Brent—to point him out as the failure.

Alice couldn't think what must have been in Muriel's mind to do such a thing. But Muriel seems to have gotten some sort of a vicious kick out of it. And to call Brent a failure was a half-truth. In a way, although perhaps Muriel herself had made it as true as it was. Muriel really had been the breadwinner for awhile.

And why not? While Muriel was making a success of her career, Brent was away, at war. Before Brent actually left, though, he had given Muriel the security she had needed in order to make her stories click. As soon as Muriel got that security, she had all she wanted from Brent. Muriel had practically admitted this to Alice. Then, when Brent came back from the war, he had lost his magazine contacts and had a bad time re-establishing them. He had

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Acheson Hasn't Closed Door To All U. S.-Russian Parleys

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman's and Secretary of State Dean Acheson's recent press conference statements seem to have given the impression in some quarters that the door now has been slammed shut on all new negotiations with the Russians. But this isn't the picture at all. Secretary Acheson says it is a bad misunderstanding of the U. S. government's position on doing business with the Russians.

It was Connecticut Senator Brien McMahon's now-famous speech proposing his five-year, $50,000,000 peace plan that started this. In it he said, "A fresh proposal for atomic peace, as dramatic as it is sincere, impresses me as urgently desirable."

Senator McMahon has been disturbed that some people took this to mean that he was offering a peace "truce" to the Russians. The senator says this is a complete misconception, too.

What he proposed was to spend the $10,000,000,000 a year on three programs: President Truman's Point Four program for underdeveloped countries, development of atomic energy everywhere for peace, and general economic aid for all countries, including Russia.

Secretary Acheson was the first high official in the executive branch of the government to comment on the McMahon plan. The secretary's comments were made after full consultation with the President. By his later unqualified endorsement of all Acheson's words, there had been general support to two sentences in the secretary's statement which apparently gave many people a wrong idea.

"If we could reach our goal (peace) by agreement of course that would be highly desirable and the simplest and easiest way to do it. But I think four years of experience have brought us to the realization that that is not possible."

These words may have been responsible for such headlines as "Acheson Rules Out Any Dramatic New Approach to Soviet" and for stories, editorials and radio commentaries to the same effect.

But after the secretary's press conference remarks were concluded, he was asked one specific question to clear up these points. The question was prefaced by the observation that as a result of Senator McMahon's speech, there had been general support to two sentences in the secretary's statement which apparently gave many people a wrong idea.

"Do I understand your remarks to mean that you now rule out the possibility of any such negotiations with the Russians?"

The press conference transcripts show Secretary Acheson made this answer: "No. You certainly misunderstand me badly. We have been negotiating with the Russians steadily out on the six-power forum in New York. This thing has been going on since 1946. It isn't that we are not making one more effort. They have walked out of the one place where discussions are going on."

This answer certainly does not mean that the United States is unwilling to negotiate with the Russians. It simply restates what has been past policy. This is that there is a proper time and place for negotiating with the Russians or anybody else, on every conceivable subject. The proper place for negotiating on limitation of armaments and control of atomic energy are understood to be the United Nations commissions set up for those specific purposes.

What always has been ruled out by the State Department is two-way negotiations with the Russians on problems concerning other countries. Left wing internationalists have agitated repeatedly in favor of having the two great military powers—Russia and the United States—get together and settle all the world's problems between them. This is no doubt what the Russians would like.

The United States position today is that it will negotiate with Soviet Russia alone only on problems which concern those two governments. Subjects suitable for such discussions would include the treatment of American citizens in Russia, settlement of Lend-Lease accounts now long overdue, the return of U. S. ships.

But whenever the subjects to be discussed concern other countries, it is the United States' position that these other countries should be present at the negotiations.

McKenney on Bridge

Now that the year of the former CBS executive, is retired, he and his wife enjoy an evening of bridge. There are some people who believe that husbands and wives should not play bridge together, while on the other hand there are many very successful husband and wife combinations. I think Klauber and his wife handled the bidding on today's hand Klauber, sitting North, executed a very nice squeeze play. The opening lead of the queen of spades was won in dummy with his ace and returned a club, only to find that East was out of clubs. Dummy's queen was played which West won with the king.

The four of diamonds was returned, which dummy won with the king. Klauber proceeded to cash four heart tricks, winning the last heart with the ace and discarding the ten of spades from his hand. The ace of diamonds was cashed and a small spade led to the ace.

WEST found himself squeezed. If he let go the ten of diamonds declarer's queen and seven would be good. If he discarded the seven of clubs it would establish dummy's jack and eight of clubs for the last two tricks.

much for the chip. It must have been pretty terrible, living with a financially independent, successful woman who never lost a single opportunity to remind him how rich and how successful she was getting.

Brent would deny some of this. In her mind she could see him shake his head. But it was true.

ALICE's mind went on over each detail of the unraveled puzzle. She knew all about Brent's decision not to contest Muriel's divorce. Chuck had told her. And she knew that Brent would have to buy the old place back, even again, from Muriel now since Brent had put the property in her name after their marriage.

Brent was on a job he disliked, but he could earn enough to buy the place. Of course, Muriel would let Brent have it on easy terms. But why shouldn't Muriel? The point was Brent's home. It meant everything to him. And Brent probably had always felt that it was his place, even when it was not legally his.

It must have been a wrench to Brent when he had let her tear down his old house. Brent could not have stopped Muriel from this. He was away at war and Muriel was the breadwinner.

Later Brent had found that actually Muriel didn't want to take Chuck. That point had been cleared up by Chuck Wisner. And later, Chuck hadn't talked about this, because he hadn't known about it—Muriel had let Brent take the blame for something he hadn't done. That whim episode the night of the storm.

Brent had been too decent to clear it up with Alice. Muriel was still Brent's wife and he felt Alice decided, that Brent had to protect her. But Muriel did come through and clear this up. That's something Alice would always remember.

Alice was approaching Grosvenor Point now. She slowed down her car as the Halleck place came into view. She swerved into the drive, and parked her machine a little to one side. She would leave room for Brent's car, when he came.

Abraham Lincoln, speaking of a difficult situation, said that he was reminded of the time when he was a young man and wolves were numerous. A companion challenged Abe to grab a wolf. Lincoln did so and held the snarling beast while his friend looked on from a tree in which he had taken refuge. At last the future president began to tire of the affair and he called: "Bill, come and help me turn the wolf loose."

Lincoln was fond of telling a story about a man who owned a horse. Another man was considering buying the animal and the owner said, "This horse has two faults. I'll tell you now what one of them is, and if you still want to buy him, I'll tell you what the other is after the deal is made."

The man continued, "One of his faults is, he is hard to catch."

The other said, "Oh, that's all right; I'm pretty active and I've got an active boy; we can catch him all right. I'll take him; here's your money. Now what's the other fault?"

Edging away, the seller said, "The other fault is that he ain't worth a darn when you've caught him."

Smokestacks are essential in an industrial age. Without them we would be choked and blinded by the fumes of our own factories. Our giant stacks lift the smoke where the breeze can blow it away.

Have you sometimes wished that someone would provide a kind of smokestack to lift the cloud that stifles our hopes and happiness?

Someone did!

His name was Jesus. And His gift to humanity was something which, in its original crude form, was no more beautiful than a smokestack. It was a Cross!

He died on that Cross. But by His Sacrifice He made it the instrument of man's freedom from the cloud that man himself had made.

Our Churches worship Him, and teach the meaning of His Cross . . . lifting the smoke of sin from our lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SPORTS SLANTS

by SHORTY SHELburnE

The question for years has presented itself: Which holds the greatest future for a young athlete—professional baseball or professional football?

We never had the answer to it until a few days ago. It was supplied by Chlie Walsh, the former pro coach and owner in the National Football League.

Looking at the two sports from a layman's standpoint you would think the contracts, etc., would be identical in nature but it isn't so.

In professional baseball players sign for so much a season or so much a month and some have bonus clauses, etc.

All baseball contracts are considered to be for a season even though the player can be released or sold at any time.

In professional football there are very few season contracts and there will be fewer than ever now that the two leagues have merged.

Most of the players are signed to a contract which calls for so much per game. As long as they are not injured or under the care of a physician, the player can be released at any time without so much as a hand shake in parting.

Only the real veterans like Sammy Baugh, Bob Waterfield, Sid Luckman and a few others get a contract calling for so much per season.

And the pay in pro football doesn't run nearly so high as it does in baseball.

Baseball players who make the major leagues draw down respectable pay checks with most clubs from their first season on. The pay increases faster, too.

So, from a financial standpoint and a standpoint of physical punishment, it appears baseball is the better field for a budding pro to select.

Right now we would guess the upper part of the Longhorn League picture at the finish of the 1950 season won't be much changed from what it was last year.

It's highly possible Big Spring will be replaced as the top team but we can't see any other drastic changes except for Vernon.

Strictly guessing in the dark, we look for Vernon, Ballinger and Sweetwater to fight it out as the bottom three clubs.

San Angelo should be tough as a boot and should finish high in the standing. Might even come in first.

Big Spring will be rough, as usual, but shouldn't run off with the league.

Harold Webb will be up there again, maybe second or third—maybe first.

Odessa and Roswell look no better than four. Both need pitching badly.

Some writers say it is foolish to pick the finish this early but we are just naturally a little foolish. Ask my wife.

Burnett Talks Big League For Dallas

DALLAS—(AP)—Dick Burnett, who has spent over a million dollars in two years of operating the Dallas club in the Texas League, said Friday he had several things in mind in renting the huge Cotton Bowl for this season's opening game—one of which is getting a big league franchise.

Burnett declares that if the attendance for this game—with Tulsa April 11—is what he expects, he immediately will seek a spot in the majors.

He thinks that if 40,000 or more turn out he can claim Dallas rates as a big league prospect.

Fighter Dies Of Injuries

Lavern Roach of Plainview, Texas, left, leans against his middleweight opponent, George Small, in a bout in New York. Shortly after this photo was made, Roach collapsed on the canvas and the fight was stopped by the referee. The Texan later lost consciousness and was taken to a hospital, where he died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Twin Probes Launched In Roach Death

NEW YORK—(AP)—Boxing, subject of many probes, went under the microscope again Friday as ring and civil authorities sought an answer to the death of Lavern Roach, good-looking, 24-year-old middleweight of Plainview, Texas.

Two investigations were ordered immediately to determine if negligence played a part in the fatal brain injury to the boyish ex-Marine. He died Thursday, 14 hours after he was knocked out in a fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

No charges were brought against opponent, George Small of Brooklyn, who smashed Roach to the canvas twice with rattling right hand blows in the tenth round.

The New York State Athletic Commission had an open hearing Friday morning. Chairman Edward Egan, who presided, said a preliminary examination showed no infraction of commission rules.

The district attorney's office launched a widespread investigation on the Wednesday night bout. Legislative Action Detective Lieutenant Henry Devlin of the New York Police said, "There does not appear to be any negligence at this time." He saw the bout.

At Albany, State Assemblyman Richard Knauft of Binghamton said he would press for quick legislative action on his proposal calling for a $50,000 probe of the sport. His resolution has been in the assembly since January 1.

Roach died at 12:50 p.m. at St. Clare's Hospital. He was in a deep coma at the time and the official hospital bulletin attributed the death to a "cerebral hemorrhage and brain damage."

The fighter's wife, Evelyn, and his manager and onetime Marine sergeant, Johnny Abood, were at the bedside.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, physician of the State Athletic Commission, remained with Roach throughout

Ed Furgol Grabs Lead At Houston

HOUSTON—(AP)—Ed Furgol admits he is in rather unfamiliar surroundings but says he feels mighty good.

The physically handicapped Royal Oak, Mich., golfer turned in his best 18-hole score of his six-year professional career Thursday to take the leadership of the $10,000 Houston Open.

CCNY, Long Island Lose Upset Games

NEW YORK—(AP)—Hopes of a post-season tournament bid for Long Island University and CCNY seemed dim Friday.

Both took it on the chin Thursday night in major upsets at Madison Square Garden. Cincinnati walloped Long Island 83-45, and Syracuse humbled CCNY 83-74.

Notre Dame rallied in the closing minutes to beat St. Louis 55-52.

Once-beaten Duquesne, ranked fourth in this week's Associated Press poll, chalked up its twenty-second victory by rushing Geneva 59-34.

Fifth-ranked Kentucky won its eighty-third consecutive home floor victory by whipping Cincinnati 74-53, and Fordham nosed out Georgetown (DC) 64-63.

The Oklahoma Aggies took Tulsa 34-27 in a Missouri Valley Conference game while Mississippi thumped Mississippi State 62-45 in the Southeastern Conference.

Arizona State of Tempe chilled New Mexico 96-75 in the Border Conference.

ZOHN MILAM CHOSEN GRID COACH AT GRAHAM

GRAHAM—(AP)—Zohn Milam, former Southern Methodist University football player, has been named head coach of Graham High School. He succeeds John Little, whose contract was not renewed.

Marlene Advances In Two-Ball Joust

ORLANDO, FLA.—(AP)—Two of the hottest teams met in Friday's quarter-finals of the International Mixed Two-Ball golf tourney here.

Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., and Toney Penna of Cincinnati, favorite from the start and co-medalists, ran into Mrs. Mildred Zaharias of Prairie View, Ill., and George Bolesta of Tampa.

Davis Quits Army; Eyes Pro Dough

FORT MONROE, VA.—(AP)—Professional football and big league baseball Friday turned that "come hither" look in the direction of Glenn Davis, the former Army gridiron great.

"Mr. Outside" of the finest football teams produced at West Point is coming out of the Army. The Army said so Thursday. It accepted the resignation of the 25-year-old first lieutenant.

Neither football nor baseball—nor anybody else—can deal officially with Davis until March 1. That's when he will be free to accept civilian employment. His Army resignation won't become final until June 3.

NCAA Council May Make New Study Of 'Sanity Code'

CHICAGO—(AP)—The policy-making council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association will begin a two-year study here Saturday to consider a proposal for a complete new study of the "Sanity Code."

Boston College and Villanova, two of the six institutions cited as code violators at the recent New York convention of the NCAA, are expected to seek a clean bill. The code is a set of rules governing collegiate athletic practices.

It is not known whether the four other schools also will try to make peace with the association. They are Maryland, Virginia, Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Tech. The seventh violator, The Citadel, resigned its membership in the NCAA at the New York meeting.

Athletic Subsidization Should Be Open And Above Board, Says Rice Institute Prexy

NEW YORK—(AP)—W. V. Houston, president of Rice Institute, said Friday he believed if athletic subsidization is desirable "it should be open and above board."

Answering an Associated Press questionnaire, Dr. Houston added he felt "undercover policies or activities of any kind will rapidly destroy a university's value to its community."

He said Rice provides aid to athletes only to the extent permitted by rules of the Southwest Conference.

Rice fielded the best football team in the Southwest last year, winning the conference championship with a 9-1 record and then beating North Carolina in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas 27-13.

Dr. Houston's reply to the AP questionnaire, in full, follows:

"1.—The Rice Institute provides aid to athletes, in all sports, to the extent permitted by the rules of the Southwest Conference.

"2.—I do not believe that our alumni subsidizes athletes privately. Any such subsidies, in violation of the conference rules, are without the knowledge of the institute administration and are contrary to the wishes of the athletic staff.

"3.—I am not in a position to predict the future of intercollegiate athletics in any respects, but I feel sure that undercover policies or activities of any kind will rapidly destroy a university's value to its community. If athletic subsidization is desirable, it should be open and above board.

"4.—I understand that the rules of the Southwest Conference are regarded as conforming to the NCAA principles."

Have To Take Old Superstitions About Childbirth With Grains Salt

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service. There are many superstitions about childbirth and whether a child will be a boy or a girl. Many of these superstitions go directly back to the earliest human history. The first question today is typical. Q—I am told that if conception takes place in the morning the child will be a boy and if in the evening, it will be a girl. Is there anything to this? A—We know enough about the determination of sex to be sure that this is not true. Sex is determined at the time when the egg is fertilized but this has no relationship to the time of day. Q—What is it that causes a person to talk in his sleep? A—It is probably what goes under the name of an active subconscious mind. Some people talk in their sleep much more than others and those who do talk do not talk an equal amount each night. Worries, mental activity, fatigue, and other things which happen during the day probably influence talking at night. Some psychiatrists feel that talking in the sleep is very significant.

Q—Every once in a while my vision is blurred. Sometimes I see bright zigzagging streaks which are like the shadow of a windmill wheel turning. A—Obviously something serious is wrong. You should have your eyes carefully examined.

Q—This year much of our food had to be canned before it ripened completely. Does cooking destroy the greenness of the food? A—I am not quite sure just what you mean by greenness. The cooking will not ripen the food but it will destroy some of the vitamins present.

Q—Please tell us the difference between polio and infantile paralysis. A—I thought that everyone knew that polio (or poliomyelitis) and infantile paralysis were merely different names for the same thing.

Q—I have a bad case of bath itch and for the last several years I almost go crazy with it in the winter. Lotion and creams have not helped me.

A—Most cases of bath itch are apparently due to rapid drying of the skin after a bath, which occurs in winter time due to the drying effects of central heating. There is not much to be done for it other than to decrease the frequency of bathing during the winter months.

Q—Is too much salty food harmful to a person's health? Does it cause a person to get fleshy? A—Too much salt can be harmful especially in people with certain kinds of kidney or heart trouble. Salt, however, does not contain calories and, therefore, will not cause a person to gain weight from the deposit of fat. It may lead to the holding in the body of some fluids which should be eliminated and this can produce swelling, particularly of the feet.

Q—What are the symptoms of dropsy and what causes it? A—Dropsy is accumulation of fluid in the tissues. It is most common in the feet and lower legs. The most common cause is a weakness of the heart but it also can come from kidney trouble and sometimes from other conditions.

Q—Is there such a thing as a live-worm pill that women take for losing weight? A—This question keeps cropping up time after time. Even if it were a reasonably successful way of losing weight to get a live tapeworm established in the intestines, it would not be safe and one would have to take medicines to get rid of it.

So Human It Cheats

Noel Penney Elliott, 18-year-old high school senior of Kellogg, Idaho, works on his home-built mechanical brain, a machine that, he says, can beat any human at "tic-tac-toe." The game is played by switches and lights and the machine wins about 40 per cent of the time and ties its human opponent the rest. If the operator isn't careful the machine will try to chisel a bit. Elliott, who has been working on electricity and electronics since his grade-school days, will go to Washington, D. C., March 2 to compete for $11,000 in a scholarship contest.

All But Case, That Is—Texas Candidates Suffer With Pre-Campaign Shyness

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD Associated Press Staff This is the season of pre-campaign shyness for Texas candidates. Being shy at this time is normal and legitimate and nearly all office-seekers consider it a good practice. An exception is Casa March who is an enthusiastic candidate 365 days a year. On Leap Years, 366. Consider the case of Olin Culberson, Texas railroad commissioner. It's hardly a secret he intends to run for governor. His friends say he'll be in the race against Gov. Allan Shivers, March. W. Lee O'Daniel (still) no announcement from him) and others. But an effort to bring out a positive announcement on the Culberson candidacy fell flat. It was reported Culberson had mailed letters to friends asking that they support his candidacy for the governorship. A reporter promptly found Culberson at a Laredo hotel. "Did you mail out letters," Mr. Culberson said. "The commissioner's reply: 'I have not announced officially. When I announce everybody will get an even break on the news.' A number of Texas business men, Culberson's friends, were called. No, no such letter in their mail, they said. We called another office. The man was out but the secretary was in. "Sure," she said. "Mr. Blank got a letter like that from Mr. Culberson, but I better not give it to you without his permission." Finally, we located the man. "Letter?" said he. "Well, I'll tell you, friend. I don't want any announcements coming out of my office. I have lots of friends. Culberson is my friend. So is Shivers. I might have other friends, too. Pappy is shy, too. "As for that letter, I'll put it this way. If I had gotten one I wouldn't admit it, and if I would admit it, I wouldn't show it to you unless I got Culberson's permission."

And consider the case of O'Daniel. On Wednesday night, March, made a second-hand announcement of O'Daniel's candidacy for governor at Wichita Falls. How about confirmation from the famed former U. S. Senator and governor? No soap. At the O'Daniel home, Mrs. O'Daniel's soft friendly voice told all callers that her husband had gone for the day, whether he did not know, Pappy is shy, too. Wonder if Cyclone Davis has a telephone.

Q—Every once in a while my vision is blurred. Sometimes I see bright zigzagging streaks which are like the shadow of a windmill wheel turning. A—Obviously something serious is wrong. You should have your eyes carefully examined.

Q—This year much of our food had to be canned before it ripened completely. Does cooking destroy the greenness of the food? A—I am not quite sure just what you mean by greenness. The cooking will not ripen the food but it will destroy some of the vitamins present.

Q—Please tell us the difference between polio and infantile paralysis. A—I thought that everyone knew that polio (or poliomyelitis) and infantile paralysis were merely different names for the same thing.

Q—I have a bad case of bath itch and for the last several years I almost go crazy with it in the winter. Lotion and creams have not helped me.

A—Most cases of bath itch are apparently due to rapid drying of the skin after a bath, which occurs in winter time due to the drying effects of central heating. There is not much to be done for it other than to decrease the frequency of bathing during the winter months.

Q—Is too much salty food harmful to a person's health? Does it cause a person to get fleshy? A—Too much salt can be harmful especially in people with certain kinds of kidney or heart trouble. Salt, however, does not contain calories and, therefore, will not cause a person to gain weight from the deposit of fat. It may lead to the holding in the body of some fluids which should be eliminated and this can produce swelling, particularly of the feet.

Q—What are the symptoms of dropsy and what causes it? A—Dropsy is accumulation of fluid in the tissues. It is most common in the feet and lower legs. The most common cause is a weakness of the heart but it also can come from kidney trouble and sometimes from other conditions.

Q—Is there such a thing as a live-worm pill that women take for losing weight? A—This question keeps cropping up time after time. Even if it were a reasonably successful way of losing weight to get a live tapeworm established in the intestines, it would not be safe and one would have to take medicines to get rid of it.

SOUTH BEND, IND.—(AP)—All Notre Dame [grieved] Friday for Charles Raymond (Ray) Espenan, a football player who fractured his neck in a gymnastics demonstration Monday and died Thursday. Espenan, 24-year-old end from New Orleans, was injured as he tried a back flip on a trampoline at Central High School. He was on a practice teaching assignment as a senior in Notre Dame's School of Physical Education. Espenan had gone uninjured through four years of big-time collegiate football. Except for the fact that he played the same position as Leon Hart, Notre Dame's great All-America end, he might have been a starter for the Irish. As Hart's No. 1 replacement he played 100 minutes last Fall.

Wayland College Choir Entertains At Rotary Banquet

Vocal music by young persons who love to sing, the Wayland College International Choir, entertained Midland Rotarians and their ladies Thursday night in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel, as the club celebrated its twenty-second birthday. Even Elmo Wasson of Big Spring, Rotary district governor, was present but Hilton Kaderli, club president, and Percy Bridgewater, program chairman, drew their advance announcement of "no speeches." And there was none. The entire program was presented by the outstanding choir from the college at Plainview, Texas. The young men and women sing because they love to sing and their voices blend in harmony which attracts rounds and rounds of applause. That it did in Midland Thursday night. The repertoire varied from religious numbers to folk songs and negro spirituals. It truly was one of the outstanding musical programs of Midland's history. Professor Shelby Collier, the conductor, has done a noteworthy job with his musical organization, which has won praise on all its many trips. The choir is composed of students selected for their musicianship, voice quality and interest in choral singing. The personnel includes students from many states and nations. Among the talented vocalists are excellent soloists, trios, duets, and well-trained small ensemble groups. The program included traditional A Cappella music in formal dress and the music of many nations in colorful, national costumes. Kaderli briefly recalled the history of the Midland Club which started 22 years ago with 24 members. Several of the past-presidents of the club were introduced at the meeting. Rotarians also stood in silence minute to honor past-presidents who passed on. Visitors were present from Big Spring, Odessa, Seagraves and other points.

The Midland club has undertaken to sponsor at least one scholarship at Texas A&M College for some boy in the Midland area who could not otherwise attend college. A special fund for this purpose is being set aside and will contain all contributions in excess of the regular club dues. All ex-students of Texas A&M in the Midland area may join the Midland club by contacting J. H. Larson or J. W. Brown.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Double Trouble

Double is two of something, or twice of anything. If you have one little monkey who is cross, you have one trouble. If you have two little monkeys who are cross, you have two troubles. If you have two troubles, you have double trouble. The two little monkeys were Bobby Ringtail and Mugwump Monkey. Both of them were cross, and that means trouble, double trouble, in anybody's forest, even Daddy Ring-tail's. The little fellows were sitting down on the ground, on opposite sides of the Elephant Path, looking at one another with never a smile anywhere. They were cross, you know.

"My feet are bigger than yours," said Bobby, and he didn't smile at all when he said it.

"Oh, no, they're not!" said Mugwump. "My feet are bigger than yours!" He didn't smile any more.

But they stood there, frowning at each other like they were going to fight any minute. I don't know what would have happened next, except Huffy Tuffy came along. Huffy Tuffy, you may remember, was a big monkey boy who was very huffy and very tuffy, always wanting to fight someone.

"Go on home!" he said to Bobby. "I won't let you try any more to be cross with Mugwump."

But Mugwump said: "Bobby's my friend. He can be cross with me if he wants to!" And Mugwump and Bobby got ready to teach Huffy Tuffy a lesson about minding his own business. Yes, and there would have been trouble then and there, I can tell you, except that Huffy Tuffy thought that double trouble would be too much for him, and so away he ran down the Elephant Path. Ah yes, because Mugwump and Bobby were friends, even though they were double trouble and cross with one another, and being friends is the important thing. Happy day!

than Bobby had. He frowned and looked at Bobby. Bobby frowned and looked at him. Neither said anything more about the feet. They jumped up, each from where he was sitting.

While in this division the two top Phillips executives have held informal conferences with the superintendents, foremen and other supervisors of the West Texas, Big Spring and Hobbs, N. M., producing districts and of the Odessa service unit.

Other Executives Here Those attending the meetings, in addition to Dimit and Fitzjarrald included T. A. Walker, office manager in the producing department at Bartlesville, and C. A. Daniels of Oklahoma City, regional superintendent.

Also, J. A. Miller, Midland, Western division superintendent; R. H. Dunn, Hobbs district superintendent; D. A. Chase, Odessa, West Texas district superintendent; R. A. McKnight, Odessa, superintendent of the Big Spring district, and Jake Barbee, Odessa, maintenance superintendent of the Odessa service unit, and the following lease foremen: Fancher, attended by J. M. Barton, G. W. Mossman and H. T. Oliphant.

West Texas district — R. C. Chesnut, G. W. Reynolds, R. L. Schatz, Orlis Galt and H. H. Hixstead. Big Spring district — J. M. Milam, H. E. Armer, J. E. Chansior. Others attending were C. D. Falk, development foreman, Big Spring district, and J. M. Miller, maintenance foreman in the Odessa service unit.

Headquarters offices of Phillips Western producing division are in Midland. (Continued On Page Nine) Usually in these circumstances there are minority political groups which can be persuaded to support one side or the other.

But this time the Liberals, third party in the early returns, Labor piled up a lead which many leaders of both parties believed meant certain victory. When the counting was recessed Thursday night with Labor holding its big lead, there was jubilation at Transport House, Labor Party headquarters. Labor supporters in Piccadilly Circus and Trafalgar Square staged victory celebrations. Gloom settled over Conservative headquarters.

Swing Becomes Apparent London's morning newspapers were shouting, but two of the city's three afternoon papers said in early editions that it looked like the Laborites were in for another five years. One of these papers was Lord Beaverbrook's Conservative Evening Standard.

While the two big parties were battling it out and electing nearly all their top leaders, the Liberal Party and the Communists took a severe beating. The Liberals had put 400 candidates in the field and the Communists 100.

Nurse—

(Continued From Page One) Dr. Sander sat cross-legged, chewing a candy drop as he heard the nurse testify that he gave this answer when Dr. Bron asked him about the manner of Mrs. Borroto's death.

Dr. Sander's answer to that was "Well, Mr. Borroto was so tired and if you could have seen him up all night drinking coffee and smoking, you would have been sorry for him too."

Miss Connor said Dr. Bron then put the question flatly to Dr. Sander: "Why did you do it?" She said Dr. Sander did not answer "No contract, no work record as opposing the proposed changes in the governmental setup suggested in the Hoover Commission report."

Records Introduced Earlier, the hospital records of Mrs. Borroto were introduced in evidence. The doctor detailed supposed if and when said fund is exhausted, then additional funds of like amount shall be appropriated so as to keep $250,000 a continuing one.

Faces Loss Of Eye After School Prank

BIG SPRING—An apple core thrown by a lad at another missed and struck the eye-glasses of a girl. Now doctors at a hospital here are striving to save the eye from infection and even possible removal.

Lydia Kay Parsons, 12, daughter of Supt. and Mrs. C. G. Parsons of the Garden City (Glasscock County) school system, was the unintended victim of the schoolboy prank at school Wednesday.

The core broke her glasses and the eye was pierced. The laceration was sewed up Friday morning. It will be three or four days before the crisis is passed.

Dr. Melton Stresses Early Detection At Cancer Course

"Every doctor's office should be a cancer detection center," Dr. T. J. Melton said Friday morning in speaking at the third session of the training course for cancer control which was conducted in the City-County Auditorium Thursday and Friday.

The fourth and last session of the course was held Friday afternoon with Dr. F. W. Gaarde speaking on cancer pathology. Films were to be shown at both the Friday sessions and Gertrude Linn of Houston, director of field activities for the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, was to speak. Persons from Big Spring, Odessa and other area cities have been among those attending the course.

Miss Linn has been in Midland this week conferring with representatives of the 21 counties in this district of the Texas Division. She conducted the first two sessions of the course Thursday with Dr. Leonard Dixon and Dr. W. I. Waters as speakers.

Biopsy Essential

Dr. Melton stressed the fact that a biopsy cutting out a sliver of a tumor and using it to definitely determine whether or not the tumor is cancerous is an essential in definite diagnosis of cancer. Many persons, he added, feel that a biopsy will increase the rate of growth of the tumor but this is a fallacy.

"Cutting through a tumor will not increase its growth," he said. He spoke about X-Ray and radium and their use in the treatment of cancer.

Dr. Melton also emphasized the importance of early detection of cancer.

He is a graduate of the Tulane University Medical School, has a master of science degree from the University of Minnesota and a Fellowship from Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. He is a Fellow in the American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Gaarde is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Medical School and has a Fellowship from Mayo Clinic.

Vernon, Big Spring Hospitals On Early Expansion Program

AUSTIN—(AP)—A $26,000,000 outlay to brighten the future of people whom the state takes care of received final Legislature approval Thursday. It will be spent in the next 18 months.

Additional millions will be made available in subsequent years.

Some 18,000 insane or mentally deficient persons now in state institutions will be helped. So will several thousand tuberculous patients—more bed space is being provided all the time—orphans, deaf, dumb and blind, juvenile delinquents, old men and women in the Confederate homes, cerebral palsied patients, and a small tribe of Alabama-Coushatta Indians who still reside on a reservation. All these will also be aided by the Legislature's special session action.

Five million dollars will be spent on construction for state hospitals and special schools. First outlays, according to the State Hospital Board's blueprint, will be at Vernon and Terrell, then probably at Big Spring and Austin.

The immediate problem is to get more bed space.

Also authorized is expenditure of $100,000 for a gymnasium and recreation building at the Gatesville School for Boys; $140,000 for a new hospital and its equipment at the Gainesville School for Girls.

Another $225,000 is to be spent for transfer of the school for delinquent negro girls from Brady to a new location nearer the heavy negro population areas of Texas. The move must be made by next January 1.
