SW Borden Venture Flows Canyon Oil

Commercial production has been assured at a wildcat in Southwest Borden County in the undeveloped area between the Vealmoor and the Good fields—both of which produce from the Canyon line. Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware, and associates, No. 1 Porter Hanks, flowed 112 barrels of pipe line oil, and no water, in eight hours from perforated section at 8,171-85 feet, naturally. It is to be completed and put on production. The eight-hour flow came during a drillstem test on the perforated section. Gas showed at the surface in four minutes, mud in 27 minutes and oil in 28 minutes. The 112-barrel oil flow then followed. Found Water.

This prospector indicated this production several days ago when it flowed on a drillstem test at 8,171-85 feet, naturally. It is to be completed and put on production. The eight-hour flow came during a drillstem test on the perforated section. Gas showed at the surface in four minutes, mud in 27 minutes and oil in 28 minutes. The 112-barrel oil flow then followed. Found Water.

A string of 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented on bottom at 8,199 feet. Operator then drilled out the plug and drilled to 8,201 feet. The section from 8,201 feet to 8,225 feet was cored.

Recovery was 24 feet of lime. The top 17 feet was oil bearing and the bottom seven feet was water saturated.

A drillstem test was taken at 8,200-15 feet. The tool was open four hours and 45 minutes.

Cas showed at the surface in 16 minutes. Mud flowed out at the top in 45 minutes, and water and oil started flowing in 48 minutes.

The well was flowed to 2 tanks for four hours and made 483 barrels of fluid during that period. It was 15 per cent oil and 85 per cent water.

Plugged Back
Operators then plugged back into the casing which is cemented at 8,199 feet, and tested with the 112 barrels of oil flow in eight hours resulting.

The new producer is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of the northwest quarter of section 19, block 32, TP survey, T-3-N.

It is two miles northwest of the Vealmoor field, and four and one half miles south of the closest producers in the Good field. There is a dry hole between No. 1 Hanks and the Vealmoor field. This exploration well is located on the Canyon line, section 20, which bottomed at 8,340 feet, and was plugged after failing to produce from any zone it penetrated.

Central Runnels To Get Two Wildcats

Sites for two proposed wildcats have been spotted in Central Runnels County.

Two miles west of the Beddo & Beddo pool and seven miles northeast of Ballinger, E. C. Johnston of Longview No. 1 F. R. Hoffman is projected to go to 4,500 feet.

Exact location is 330 feet from south and east lines of 17-2 acre lease, in the west part of section 14, T. T. Williamson survey. Ground elevation is 1,752 feet.

The Runnels field, two miles south of the proposed No. 1 Hoffman, topped the Ellenburger at 4,333 feet.

Nine miles southeast of the town of Winters, Joe Parris, Jr., and Earl Calhoun of Abilene will drill a 4,700-foot rotary wildcat.

Location of the Parris and Calhoun No. 1 L. S. Evans is to be 2,400 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of W. Brandt survey 12.

Ellenburger Project Staked in NW Kimble

A 3,700-foot wildcat has been staked in Northwest Kimble County.

The venture will be R. P. Schofield of San Antonio No. 1 A. O. D. Rust, to be 2,640 feet from south and 860 feet from west lines of E&A survey 47.

Elevation is 2,244 feet. Approximate depth of the Ellenburger in this area is 1,900 feet.

Nearest town to the No. 1 Rust is Junction, 20 miles to the southeast.

South Flanker Staked To NW Garza Pool

Drilling is to start at once on a south extension to the Buenos pool, in Northwest Garza County.

Discovery operator, George R. Brown, will drill his No. 1-A G. W. Basinger, one location south of the No. 2 Basinger, a producer.

Exact location is 1,230 feet from west and 330 feet from north lines of section 4, block D-18, D&E survey.

Projected depth of 3,800 feet should tap the pay of the Buenos field, which now has four producers.

The new venture will be 11.7 miles northwest of Post.

Devonian Being Cut By Pegasus Outpost

Phillips Petroleum Company, and associates, No. 1-DD TXL, one-half mile east southeast to the discovery of the Pegasus field along the Midland-Upton County line, 30 miles southwest of the city of Midland, had reached 11,284 feet in Devonian lime and was making more sole.

It is contracted to dig to 13,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

Phillips, et al. No. 1-DD TXL, copped the Devonian at 11,280 feet, which gives it a datum of minus 1,280 feet on that marker.

That makes it 129 feet low to the (Continued On Page Seven)

Coal Peace Talks Bog Down Again

Phone Bill Slows Down Senate Pace

AUSTIN—(P)—The Senate put all business aside Monday morning in an effort to work out a compromise on the rural telephone co-op bill.

Without acting on any legislation, senators voted a series of recesses, then quit until afternoon.

The House spent the morning working principally on local bills. A subcommittee of the Senate's State Affairs Committee worked feverishly through the morning at changes in the House-approved measure that would make it acceptable to warring factions.

Representatives of private telephone companies and proponents of rural co-ops counseled with the group on every detail.

Hudson said the compromise consisted of changes to limit the domain of rural telephone cooperatives to put them on more equal footing with private telephone companies.

"It will give people a telephone system without subjecting private companies to confiscation by the federal government," he said.

Like Electric Co-Ops
The action brought to an end the threat of a filibuster by Senator Hill Hudson of Pecos in the special session's dying hours. Final adjournment is scheduled for Wednesday midnight with much legislation still pending final action.

Hudson said he would not filibuster if the compromise were worked out.

Hudson said the compromise consisted of changes to limit the domain of rural telephone cooperatives to put them on more equal footing with private telephone companies.

Amarillo 'Governor' Gets Busy Cleaning Up Shivers' Office

AUSTIN—(P)—Governor-for-the-day Grady Hazlewood grinned and declared Monday morning: "By gosh, this office is gonna be run right today."

The Senator from Amarillo, who is acting lieutenant governor, took over at 9 a. m. when Gov. Allan Shivers crossed the state border for a visit in Reynosa, Mexico. It's his first time in the governor's chair.

"I came right in at 9 a. m. and sat down," Hazlewood said as he sat behind the governor's desk.

"Gonna clean this mess up," he quipped, and then grinned again. "I can't find any mess to clean up."

The first problem facing the governor-of-the-day was so stupendous he took it right to the Senate.

In a message from the governor to the Senate he declared: "A serious shortage of blanks for honorary colonel commissions faces the governor's office. Only two are left. Therefore, I, acting governor of Texas, ask the Senate for an appropriation of $5,000 for more blanks."

The next problem was a proclamation. "I gotta have a proclamation," he told the governor's secretaries. "Panhandle Day—This is Panhandle Day in honor of that great empire within the State of Texas."

Dogs Join Hunt For Oklahoma City 'Cat'

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—Seven dogs trained in mountain lion hunting took the trail Monday in an effort to find Oklahoma City's missing leopard.

They were in charge of Bryon Denton, Laveta, Colo., and William Kent, Colorado state trapper. The men and dogs were flown to Oklahoma City in an ambulance plane chartered by The Denver Post.

Monday's search began, as it did Saturday after the leopard escaped at the zoo.

Two guards reported the animal—just a few weeks out of an India jungle—re-entered the zoo grounds about 1 a. m.

But a search of the grounds failed to disclose him.

At daybreak Zoo Director Julian Frazier and others searched the pit from which the wild animal fled. He was not there, either.

Hunk of meat—treated with a drug—had been hung on the fence.

Anti-Lynching Bill Seems Dead Issue In Present Session

WASHINGTON—(P)—Anti-lynching legislation, third point in the Administration's civil rights program, appears dead for this session of Congress, so far as House leaders are concerned.

While there has been no formal announcement, House leaders said off the floor Monday they are willing to stand on the civil rights record already made.

That record shows two of the three civil rights measures passed and sent to the Senate, which hasn't acted.

The House last year passed a bill to abolish payment of poll taxes as a qualification for voting in elections for federal officers.

Last week it passed a bill to create a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) to operate on persuasive rather than compulsory lines.

The three political groups in the House—Republicans, Administration Democrats and Southern Democrats—feel they are off a political hot spot as far as civil rights legislation is concerned.

Draft Bill Without Teeth Readied

WASHINGTON—(P)—A bill to continue the machinery of the draft, but without any power in itself to put a man into uniform, was ready for the House Monday.

Representative Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, is the author. He predicted House approval.

President Truman's military advisers asked for a straight-out extension of the present law, which expires in June. Under this law, men could be drafted in peacetime—although none has been for more than a year.

Military urged it as insurance against any waste of time in an emergency.

Vinson's bill doesn't go anywhere near as far. It would extend the registration and classification system of Selective Service for three years. However, no one actually could be drafted unless Congress passed a separate law to that effect.

A National Guard airplane flew overhead.

WORLD SUICIDE WEAPON— Scientist Says Hydrogen Bomb Can Be Rigged To Kill Everyone On Earth

NEW YORK—(P)—The hydrogen bomb could be rigged to create a dusty cloud of death, killing all humans in the world, Dr. Leo Szilard, one of the nation's top atomic scientists, said Sunday.

It could be turned into a world suicide bomb, murdering brother, friend and ally, enemy and all alike.

There would be no escape for anyone, Szilard said.

Szilard, biophysicist of the University of Chicago, was in agreement with three other authorities about this possibility.

They agreed the cloud would be radioactive dust. It would be carried everywhere by the winds. It would poison the air you breathe. It would settle to earth, contaminating every plant and everything that humans use in living.

Slowly But Surely
The radioactivity would kill slowly but surely over a period of time.

Clouds Mar Texas' Spring-Like Weather

By The Associated Press

The Spring-like, sunny weather which Texas enjoyed over the weekend was disappearing Monday.

Clouds moved in on almost every section of the state. A few light showers were reported in West Texas. A light cold front was scheduled to move into the Panhandle late Tuesday.

Laredo on the border had the highest reading in the nation Sunday at 88. The coolest spot in Texas early Monday was Texarkana with a low of 39. Panhandle temperatures ranged somewhat higher, Amarillo reporting a low of 42, Dalhart 47, Lubbock 49, and Clarendon 41.

The slightly cooler weather, with clouds throughout the state and scattered showers in West Texas, is expected to hold through Tuesday.

Union Denies It Is Guilty Of Contempt

WASHINGTON—(P)—Soft coal contract negotiations Monday were recessed indefinitely but the government kept both parties subject to call for further talks on one hour's notice.

Presidential Fact-Finder David L. Cole said both sides felt "it would be a good idea to go back and consult with their associates."

Asked whether the development could be construed as encouraging, since it indicated something was on the table for consultation, Cole replied:

"I don't know whether you can call it progress or not."

Asked whether the rec. is a "break-up," he replied: "Oh, no, no."

Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching, who sat in on Monday morning's one-hour session, said he would report to the White House on developments.

Only a short while earlier, John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers had called innocent to contempt charges resulting from the failure of 37,000 miners to return to work under court order.

The union waived its right to argue its case before a jury and decided to let Judge Richmond B. Keach rule on the evidence as well as the law.

The big question is whether the union is responsible for the refusal of the coal miners to go back to work.

Keach issued an order February 11 for a return to work, but the miners have ignored it.

GOP Plans To Play Up Red Issue

WASHINGTON—(P)—Republicans are planning to use the Communist issue for a three-way attack on the Truman Administration in the congressional campaign.

Under plans discussed by party strategists, GOP speakers will have a lot to say about:

(1) President Truman's "red herring" statements, (2) his refusal to let a Senate committee look at secret State Department loyalty files and (3) Secretary of State Acheson's comment that he will not turn his back on Alger Hiss.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) told a reporter he thinks these add up to "something the American people ought to know about."

"If they don't constitute an issue, then I never saw one," the Michigan senator said.

Republican orators jumped on Truman's "red herring" statements in the 1948 presidential campaign with much success.

During that campaign Truman said the Communists-in-government investigation conducted by the House Committee on Un-American Activities was just a "red herring" to keep the people's minds off more important things.

But the conviction of Hiss, former State Department official, on charges that he lied to the committee when he denied furnishing secret government documents to a Communist courier, has strengthened Republican intentions to bring up the "red herring" issue again.

In addition, the GOP members think Acheson has something of an excellent campaign issue when he said after Hiss' conviction that he wouldn't desert his long-time friend.

Some Democrats seem to feel the Republicans may have something of a campaign issue when he said recently he had told Truman he will not defend Acheson's statement against attacks on the Senate floor.

Three Theft Cases
Reported To Police

MIDLAND POLICE received reports of three thefts during the weekend, two being from parked automobiles.

A pistol was taken from a warehouse on West Wall Street.

A woman's coat, a man's jacket and a first aid kit were stolen from an automobile parked in the 100 block of West Kansas Street. A rifle was taken from a car parked at 1001 West Kentucky.

U. S. Economy Reels
As Soft Coal Strike
Enters Third Week

PITTSBURGH—(P)—Striking coal miners stuck to their "no contract, no work" walkout Monday with the nation's economy groggy for lack of fuel.

A session of talks between Washington failed to bring any back-to-work movement. The mine shutdown continued as tight as ever.

Millions of workers in allied industries faced unemployment. Already 180,000 have joined the 372,000 striking United Mine Workers in idleness.

Uncounted thousands are working only part time to conserve coal. Needy individuals in some cities present pitiful pictures as they try to buy coal.

In St. Louis the most helpless cases are those in poorer sections who had been accustomed to buy coal by the basketload.

Mike Palazolo, a basketload truck dealer, said: "Today's my last day. I guess the poor people will just have to freeze."

Utilities Output Cut
The Illinois Commerce Commission ordered a 25 per cent cut for 17 utility companies Sunday night. Four companies serving Chicago already voluntarily had reduced electrical output.

Steel companies are joining the utilities in preparing for mass layoffs.

Already Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation has been forced to close down its Pittsburgh and near-

Continued Cold Adds To Coal Famine Woes

By The Associated Press

Widespread misery came closer to reality Monday as continued cold weather over the eastern half of the nation cut deeper into scant coal supplies.

Only Florida and a band along the Southeastern gulf coast appeared to have escaped at least freezing or near-freezing temperatures. More sub-zero readings were reported in New York State.

Sheriff's Posse To Ride At San Angelo

Members of the Midland County Sheriff's Posse will ride in the big parade opening the annual San Angelo Fair Stock Show and Rodeo there Thursday, Captain Cal Boykin announced Monday. Posse units from other West Texas cities also will participate in the colorful parade.

Boykin estimated 25 or 30 Midland possemen will make the trip to San Angelo. He requests members to have their horses at the rodeo grounds or at his place at 4 a. m. Thursday, when trucks will pick them up for the trip to San Angelo.

BORDER COLLIE DOG

Imagined Illnesses Are Biggest Worry Of Benzadrine Age

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(P)—Once upon a time there was a hypochondriac who felt sure there was something wrong with his arm.

"I can't see anything wrong with it," his friends said, but the man thought, "They just don't want to tell me the truth."

He took his arm to a doctor. The doc said it looked to him like the healthiest arm he had seen all week.

Still unconvinced the man went home. He began to pinch his arm to be sure the circulation was all right. He pinched so hard a bruise developed.

"Ah-hah!" he said. He began probing the bruise with a safety pin. Three days later he was in a hospital complaining indignantly to a nurse.

"They told me nothing was wrong with my arm—and I am half dead from blood poisoning!"

This mythical gent suffered from what now is the major disease of our age—the benzadrine age. And the disease is the benzadrine age. It is the disease of the man who feels there must be something wrong with you, just because you're alive.

It's become a national epidemic. People are beginning to develop guilt complexes whenever they're told they're normal. They suspect anti-socials to be healthy.

The bane of the medical world used to be the fellow who tried to treat his appendicitis at home by following the directions in a patent medicine's pamphlet. Today it's the guy who tries to bandage his mental problems by reading the psychology books in the corner drug store.

Even Psychiatrists Worry

People's mushrooming preoccupation with their own minds has worried even the psychiatrists worried.

"The net result must be to produce uncertainty, confusion and distress," Jules V. Coleman, director of the Mental Hygiene Clinic at the University of Colorado Medical Center, told a convention of mental specialists last week.

Ordinary mental health, like ordinary body health, best can be retained by following the rules your grandmother knew. Jimmy did it. One gave this poor man's philosopher a simple prescription that so far has worked unflinchingly:

"If your mind hurts, or your feet hurt, take off your shoes and go to bed. In any case just relax and get away from what causes you to feel bad."

"If nine hours of sleep don't make you feel better, go to a doctor."

Nurse Again Takes Stand In 'Mercy Death' Murder Trial

MANCHESTER, N. H.—(P)—A pretty, blue-eyed nurse, possibly the key witness in the "mercy death" murder trial of Dr. Hermann M. Sander—resumed the witness stand Monday in Hillsborough County Court.

Elizabeth Rose, 24, R.N., was attending Mrs. Abbie Borroto, 59, when she died last December 4. Dr. Sander was the attending physician.

The state charges the 41-year-old country doctor injected air into the woman's veins and caused her death.

Miss Rose was on the witness stand when court adjourned Friday. She faces the interrogation of Prosecutor William L. Phinney as the second week of the trial, which has attracted worldwide attention, got underway.

Only Death Witness

Miss Rose is the only witness brought forward so far who allegedly was present when Mrs. Borroto died.

In his opening statement to the 13-man jury, Attorney General Phinney said the state would show Dr. Sander told Miss Rose to get a syringe and needle on the morning of December 4.

Phinney said he would show Miss Rose obeyed the doctor's order and that a few minutes after holding the syringe to the sick woman's arm, Dr. Sander told the nurse Mrs. Borroto was dead.

Phinney disclosed over the weekend that there would be six or seven more witnesses before the prosecution rests. He said there was no medicine named "Mercy Death" and that the state could not complete its case before the end of the second week.

Weekend Violence Takes Toll Of 24 Lives In Texas

By The Associated Press
A light plane crashed and exploded near Belton Sunday, killing two Austin men. They were part of Texas' weekend violent death toll of twenty-four.

Fifteen of the deaths were traffic accidents; two persons died of burns; two of gunshot wounds; a small boy was hanged accidentally by his larva; a little boy drowned in a creek; and a woman committed suicide by drowning.

Killed when their plane crashed and burned in fog were William Byrd Kelly, 33, and Lawrence N. Slade, 19.

Hiram C. Limerick, Sr., 55, veteran Houston fireman, and Mrs. Louise K. Brown, 42, Loma Alta, Texas, were killed late Sunday night when the automobile in which they were riding and the Texas Chief passenger train collided at a grade crossing near Galveston.

Blood Stains, Bread Are Clues In Death Of Elderly Woman

ALEXANDER CITY, ALA.—(P)—A blood-stained bread and two loaves of bread are being looked upon as important clues in the mystery of an elderly murdered woman.

The body of the victim, estimated to be 60, was found Saturday floating near a bridge across Lake Martin, six miles south of here. She was not identified.

Her clothing apparently had been ripped from her with a knife. A cloth hood was tied over her head and a blue bandana handkerchief gagged her mouth.

Heavy rope was used to tie the woman's hands behind her back and knot her feet together. Three bullets had pierced her chest.

Police Lieutenant Floyd H. Mann of Alexander City said a boy fishing pulled up a barracuda bag containing women's clothing shortly before the body was found.

Matches Woman's Garments

Parts of the clothing in the bag were matched with a slashed bit of the woman's undergarment, he said.

Also in the bag were two loaves of whole wheat bread inside a sack labeled "Broadway City Stores of Hollywood, Los Angeles, Pasadena and Crenshaw, Calif."

Lieutenant Mann said officers also are trying to find out if there is any connection between the woman's death and some bloody cloths discovered beside a puddle of blood on the bridge Thursday night.

A toxicologist, he added, reported the blood on one piece of cloth was from a normal childbirth. A sample of blood from the puddle also was being checked for possible connection with the woman's death.

'Stromboli' Proves To Be Boiling Box-Office Volcano

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—RKO's tickets for the press preview of "Stromboli" were about the size of Howard Hughes' flying boat 103/4 by 41/2 inches—the largest tickets in Hollywood history.

So modest, too. Just "Raging Island-Raging Passions" in bold letters across the top with Ingrid Bergman's face in the flames of a volcano. I understand RKO's sales heads briefed theater managers for the opening of the film with just six words:

"Open the doors and stand back."

In case you think they were overoptimistic, RKO reports that after one week of business "Stromboli" paid for itself, the first movie in history to get out of the red after one week on the screen.

The opus cost only $850,000, plus exploitation and distribution expenses which brought the total to over a million dollars. On the day of its first showing alone, patrons in 320 theaters paid $1,248,000 to see "Stromboli."

Jackie Cooper and Hildy Parks have set the marriage date. They'll tie the knot next month during the Boston run of "Mister Roberts."

"Ladies and gentlemen, unless this play is stopped, the child cannot possibly go on."

Popcorn strikes back: Wire from Irving Levin, the San Francisco theater magnate:

"Preview week your television show, 'Hollywood Reel,' Friday night on my lobby television set. Forty patrons gave it enthusiastic approval. Sold 24 bags of popcorn."

"Pardon me, while I bury my head in a barrel of butter."

Esther Williams will wear a nylon sarong for "Pagan Love Song." Dottie Lamour, no doubt, as gnashing her teeth. There was an argument at M-G-M the other day about whether to make a movie about the storm.

Approximately $40,000 had been earmarked by the council several months ago for the improvement of the water system.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Bronchiectasis, Lung Disease, Fought With Surgery, Penicillin

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
Bronchiectasis is a lung condition in which the small pockets in the lungs which normally are filled with air when a person breathes are broken down, enlarged and filled with mucus, fluid or semi-solid material. If one could see the areas which are affected, they would look like a bunch of grapes.

The symptoms of bronchiectasis generally are like those of any other irritation in the lungs. Chronic cough, usually with the bringing up of a fairly heavy mucus sputum, sometimes having a foul odor, is common. This, however, is like any other chronic infection involving the breathing apparatus so that it is not enough on which to make a diagnosis.

The diagnosis, therefore, depends on special examinations, including taking an X-ray picture. Also the use of a remarkable instrument called a bronchoscope by which the dilated pockets can be seen in help.

Bronchiectasis interferes with health and ability to work and it can produce dangerous complications and even death. It should be prevented if at all possible. Since it can come from so many different causes, a person who has a long, continued cough, regardless of what is producing it, ought to try to get at the bottom of the trouble early and stop the difficulty before bronchiectasis has had a chance to set in.

Once bronchiectasis has been diagnosed, treatment should not be long delayed. Of course the first step is to see if the condition which produced the bronchiectasis still is active and to use whatever is necessary to attack the underlying cause.

The medical treatment of bronchiectasis has not been highly successful, at least until recently. However, penicillin or one of its relatives, if given early enough seems to be quite helpful.

Surgery Used

The other method of treatment, that with bronchiectasis, even when the condition is advanced, is surgery. One would expect that surgery of the lungs would be extremely delicate and this is true. Nevertheless, the part of the lung affected with bronchiectasis can be removed by surgery pretty successfully and this undoubtedly has saved a good many lives.

For those who are unfortunate enough to have developed an advanced type of bronchiectasis, surgery is probably the only good hope of restoring health and preventing untimely death.

Prevention, of course, is most important. Bronchiectasis often follows long-continued sinusitis or chronic bronchitis. When diseases of these kinds can be nipped in the bud, bronchiectasis can be forestalled.

The organism causing fowl cholera does not live in the soil, according to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Third Attempt Gets Job Done

ARCADIA, CALIF.—(P)—Police said William E. Scott, 76, a race track clerk, quarreled with his wife Sunday and then:

1. Drove his car at high speed into a concrete wall.

2. Apparently not seriously injured, he then climbed atop a railroad lumber car and dove off head first onto the tracks.

3. Still alive, he climbed atop the car again and dove once more.

This one killed him.

Police said they arrived on the scene as he was making his final jump. They then discovered he also had cut his throat.

Geophysical Firm Opens Division Office In Midland

Establishment of a division office of Southern Geophysical Company to serve West Texas and Mexico, located at 216 North Big Spring Street in Midland, has been announced by Dr. Sidon Harris, president of the company.

R. E. Davis and Elmer F. Blake are being operated by Southern Geophysical Company crews operating in West Texas and New Mexico will report to this office.

Eleven seismograph field parties are being operated by Southern Geophysical Company in the Southwest, and since the establishment of this company in June, 1945, there have been 17 commercial producing oil fields discovered following surveys made by Southern crews.

Working closely with the staff at Midland and all Southern crews is a central staff of seismologists, computers and draftsmen in the Fort Worth headquarters of Southern Geophysical Company.

Plumbers League Has Parley Here

Members of the Panhandle District League of Plumbers returned to their homes Sunday after a quarterly meeting held Saturday at the Scharbauer Hotel here.

David Cole of Midland was principal speaker at the parley. A dinner-dance was held Saturday night in the Crystal Ballroom of the hotel.

Plumbers from Midland and area cities, including Abilene, Lubbock, Pampa, Kerens, Monahan and Odessa, attended the meeting.

Rites For Barnes Child Held Here

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday for James Bryan Barnes, young son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Barnes, 1013 West Washington Street. Services were held in the Newbie W. Ellis Chapel, with the Rev. Gilbert Becker, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, officiating.

The child, who would have been three years old in May, died Saturday morning.

Survivors include the parents, maternal and paternal grandparents.

Interment was in an Abilene cemetery.

Rites Conducted For Jimmy Spiva

Funeral services were held in San Antonio Sunday for Jimmy Spiva, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Spiva, formerly of Terrell, Texas. Jimmy died Saturday in California ending a long fight against leukemia.

After an appeal was printed in The Reporter—Telegram, sympathetic Midlanders and others in the area contributed more than $500 to aid in treatments for the child in a well effort to halt the dread disease. A relapse, after encouraging reports of progress, was responsible for his death.

He had been receiving treatment in a Pasadena, Calif. hospital until the time of his death.

Services were held in the Seventh Day Adventist church.

Advisory Conference Scheduled Friday

J. M. McDonald, chairman of the Explorer Committee of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, will preside at an Explorer's Advisory conference, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the main studio of KCRS.

All Explorer advisors in the council area, with their assistants, have been invited to the meeting, which is being held to discuss plans for the forthcoming Explorer Bivouac, scheduled March 17, 18 and 19.

A general study of the program for Explorer Scouts will be held, using film strips to aid in discussing organization, training and other phases of Scouting, McDonald said.

Field staff members, council commissioners and Scoutmasters also have been invited to the meeting, he said.

Airways Stewardess Has Narrow Escape

MIAMI, FLA.—(P)—A Pan American Airways stewardess was blown part-way through a 15-inch window of a pressurized-cabin airliner early Monday when the window blew out during a ferry flight from New York to Miami.

Stewardess Josephine Poul was pulled to safety by Purser Michael Mari as the suction created by the open window partly pulled her through the window. She was asleep in the seat next to the window when the incident occurred.

The window gave way while the Lockheed Constellation was flying at 20,000 feet along the coast of South Carolina.

Miss Poul, who was treated for minor cuts and bruises, said "I was asleep when it happened, and don't remember a thing about it. It was all-over so fast."

Cotton

NEW YORK—(P)—Monday noon cotton prices were $1.00 a bale higher to 15 cents lower than the previous close. March 32.40, May 32.75 and July 32.34.

Feats Of Magic And Music Will Vary Style Parade At Benefit

From bathing suits to rain coats, from sweaters and skirts to evening wear are the extremes of style that will be shown in the "Fashion Is Magic" show Thursday and Friday nights in the Midland High School auditorium.

Beginning at 8:15 p. m. both nights, the show is being sponsored by the Midland Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary to raise funds for its work for the Midland Memorial Hospital.

Tickets are on sale at Ray Gwyn Office Supply, Tailorline, Wempe's and the Book Stall, from members of the auxiliary or by calling Mrs. Bob Franklin, telephone No. 780-R or Mrs. Dan Hudson, telephone No. 2488.

Buck Kirksey will do tricks of magic in the show.

Individuality stressed
"Women have more individuality than ever. One will not wear something just because everyone else is wearing it." This will be demonstrated in the styles and models of the show.

Eight models will be shown in skirts, blouses, sweaters and jackets to the tunes of "An Apple for the Teacher," "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and others of like nature. Emphasizing the popularity of suits for both the career girl and the housewife, 10 models will be presented in suits, showing the effect and possibilities of various accessories.

Midlanders Share In Scholastic Art Awards For Region

Five Midland students, Virginia Wilkinson, VJ Jean Puglar, June Hazlip, Kay Stalup and James Johnson, won awards in the North Texas Regional Scholastic Art Awards Contest recently held under sponsorship of Stripling's, Fort Worth.

Winning entries are being exhibited at Stripling's until March 4, when the key winners will be sent to the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh for national judging. A national jury assembled by Scholastic Magazines will award 100 tuition scholarships to art schools and a number of cash prizes.

DATE ICING
For White Cake
Mrs. W. E. Shipp, Jr.
Mix 1 cup sweet milk and 1 cup sugar. Add 3 egg yolks, beaten, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cook this mixture in a double boiler.
When the mixture begins to thicken, add 1/2 pound dates, chopped, and after they are combined smoothly with the custard, add 2 1/2 cup pecans and 1/2 cup coconut. Cook until the icing is thick enough to spread. Cool it for a short time and spread on white cake.

"Fire Magic" by the magician will introduce 10 girls in coats of all styles. They will parade to the music of "Lady in Red," "On the Sunny Side of the Street," "Rain on the Roof," "Singing in the Rain," "Blue Skies" and "Button Up Your Overcoat."

The hat scene will be introduced by the age-old magician's trick of pulling the rabbit out of the hat—but with a different angle this time. Emphasizing the type of hat to go with the new hair styles, little hats and close cloches will be featured.

Introduced by a trick of "floating in midair," models will show the latest styles in bathing suits and accessories for the beach, the country club pool or even the old swimming hole.

Ferns Frocks
Turning to sophistication and high fashion, eight models will preview the Spring fashion in afternoon and dinner wear.

"When tops are barest, skirts are fullest," colors are brightest, and when back interest snares the stage line—"evening clothes will be shown by the models. Highlighting the scene will be a current fad of Midland—square dancing. Dressed in gay dresses and suits four couples will do a square dance for the magician and the waiting models.

The box office in the high school will be open from 1 to 8 p. m. on Thursday and Friday, and then will be closed until 7:45 p. m. The show begins at 8:15 p. m. and persons who have bought advance tickets may come between 7 and 7:45 p. m. to have the first opportunity for choice seats. After 7:45 p. m., the auditorium will be open to all persons, whether they have advance tickets or buy them at the door. One hundred seats will be reserved each night for negroes.

Tiny Glasses Aid Speaker

A lorgnette is a useful aid to this platform speaker because it adds to her poise.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Personal appearance has a great deal to do with the success of a mature woman as an officer in, or speaker before, a woman's club.

The keynote of the woman active in club work should be simplicity. When she appears on a platform, her clothing must be simple in order not to distract the attention of her audience. This means she should avoid prints, choose her jewelry carefully so that it's kept to a minimum, and use a subdued make-up. Women who ordinarily use subtle make-up sometimes feel that they must go all-out when they appear on a speaker's platform.

A lorgnette is a handy aid for the platform speaker who needs the help of glasses for reading notes. It provides the necessary lenses for good vision and is quickly out of the way when the speaker looks directly at her audience. A lorgnette is, of course, a sophisticated accessory and therefore adds to platform poise. Women who wear a pince-nez, or shell-frame glasses, and slide them on and off only draw their listeners' attention away from what they are saying, to focus it on their small movements.

Remove your gloves before you begin speaking and thus remove the temptation to play with them while you talk. The less clutter on the platform, the more successful the speech.

MEDICAL PATIENT
Frank Andrew Fasken, age eight, was admitted to Western Clinic Hospital Sunday for medical treatment.

Trust Teen-Agers To Find Something To Worry About

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"Our 16-year-old daughter is unhappy because we can't give her as much as a lot of the girls in her class at high school have. I realize that many of them have nicer clothes, better homes, and more spending money than our daughter. We love her and give her everything we can manage—but still she feels it isn't enough. I can sympathize with her, because I remember what it was like to be her age—but I can't seem to say anything that will help her."

There may not be much you can say that a 16-year-old will find comforting. But don't let her temporary unhappiness make you unhappy.

Teen-agers are often unhappy—if not over one thing, then over another. While your daughter is wishing she had better clothes and a nicer home you may be sure other girls in her class are worrying about other things.

Some probably are unhappy about their looks. Others are sure to feel their families don't understand them. Others may feel that they aren't popular. And so it goes. Dissatisfaction is a part of growing up for most young people—for it is then they start comparing themselves with others their own age and deciding that in one way or another they don't measure up. Just go ahead as you're doing, giving your daughter what you can. But don't feel you are cheating her because you can't give her more. As she is older she will appreciate all that you have done and are doing for her. She'll probably wonder how she ever could have let you down by letting you know that she expected more than you could give.

The fact that you sympathize with her now instead of looking on her as an ungrateful child she will remember, too, when she is mature enough to understand a few more things. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

1950 MERCURY TOPS ALL WINNERS IN MOBILGAS GRAND CANYON RUN!

OFFICIAL WINNER! Four-door Mercury Sport Sedan, entered by the Los Angeles Dealers Lincoln-Mercury Association.

1950 MERCURY WITH OVERDRIVE AMERICA'S "NO. 1 ECONOMY CAR"!

Sets amazing new gasoline mileage record for gruelling 751 mile Grand Canyon run as it outperforms 80 other entries from America's leading car makers!

YES, now it's officially proven! Pounded for pound, the big new 1950 Mercury IS America's most economical car!
For, in the 751 Mile Mobilgas Grand Canyon Run conducted by the American Automobile Association last week, Mercury delivered grand-prize winning gasoline economy—over a rugged course which ranged from Death Valley to 7000 foot icy mountain passes!
This remarkable economy—made possible by the combination of Mercury's thrifty, V-type, 8-cylinder engine and its gas-saving "Touch-O-Matic" Overdrive—came as no surprise to Mercury owners. For many Mercury owners had repeatedly reported gasoline economy far above average expectations.

Yet this unusual economy is only one of the many reasons why thousands of owners are now choosing Mercury. Many say it's the smartest-looking car on the road. Others claim it's the smoothest-riding, most comfortable, too! And all agree it's the biggest value for the money!
Drive Mercury yourself—and see!

You bet it's "better than ever" — MERCURY

Electoral College Reform

The electoral college is back in the news, sooner than usual. Normally the press can escape explaining how the thing works except in presidential election years. But the Senate has crossed everybody up by approving a constitutional amendment to change the system.

In this country we don't vote for President directly. We cast our ballots for so-called electors who then are supposed to choose the Chief Executive. A state's total electors are determined by adding up its representation in House and Senate. New York, for example, has 45 House members and two senators, hence 47 electors.

When the system was first created the electors exercised a real choice. But for many decades now they have with few exceptions followed the popular vote in their states, casting their entire vote for the top candidate.

To illustrate, if a state has 10 electors and President Truman leads in the popular balloting he gets all 10 votes, even though he may beat his nearest opponent by a single tally. Because of this feature, a candidate can gain a necessary majority of electoral votes while getting only a minority in the popular returns.

Agitation for change has been going on a long time. Led by Senator Lodge, Massachusetts Republican, the Senate finally acted. It approved an amendment which would simply apportion a state's electoral vote in accord with the distribution of the popular vote. Should the change become effective, a candidate then would need virtually 100 per cent of the popular vote to capture all of a state's electoral vote.

Senator Taft of Ohio sparked the opposition to the change. For one thing, he feared a minority candidate might have a better chance than ever if two major nominees should balance each other too evenly. The proponents met that objection by modifying the plan to specify that a winner must get at least 40 per cent of the total electoral vote. If he doesn't, Congress will settle the issue by voting on the two top candidates.

Taft also was concerned that the new system would damage Republican chances by cutting into the party's strength in rock-ribbed GOP areas. But others felt the party stood to gain in northern industrial states where Democratic big city votes often narrowly have outweighed GOP rural votes in the last 20 years.

And, of course, Republicans would make small but perhaps vital inroads in the solid Democratic South. The party would know that its campaign effort in the South would pay off in electoral votes. It might prove a major step on the way back to two-party government in that region.

The Senate-approved proposal seems to us a sane improvement which promises a healthier political balance in the nation. The House ought to add its endorsement and send the amendment out for the necessary consideration of the 48 state legislatures.

Let's Eradicate The 'Litter-Bug'

The country's cities have so many worries these days it seems unfair to saddle them with any more. Yet the "litter-bug" is doing just that.

He's the fellow who scatters a trail of waste paper wherever he goes—gum and candy wrappers, old newspapers, package wrappings, and what not. You need no FBI agent to trace his movements along city streets, in stations, buses, trains, parks, amusement centers.

Periodically, the press in some of these big towns gets excited about the matter. Then follows a burst of articles and pictures deploring the indescribable litter. Occasionally a city responds by improving its trash collecting methods but usually the outcome is merely a lightly-given but poorly-kept promise to "do something."

Recently New York City, one of the world's worst sufferers from the litter-bug, decided to try a new angle. It concluded it wasn't being fair to its citizens, that it wasn't providing enough receptacles for their burdensome trash. So it spotted 4,800 extra baskets around a "test area" in midtown Manhattan to see whether people would be inspired to keep house better if they had the chance.

The results haven't been too encouraging. The experiment has been complicated somewhat by the fact that New Yorkers have made off with about 300 of the baskets.

Perhaps all our cities do need more ample facilities for individual trash disposal. But the real difficulty, it seems to us, is that most urban dwellers don't feel a genuine sense of responsibility toward their city. They just don't care. It never occurs to them that dropping a paper in the street is a selfish, unthinking act that amounts to an affront to other citizens. But that's what is.

Cities really will be clean when the litter-bug learns to hunt for the trash basket even if it's a block away.

Isn't it peculiar how many women who claim to be masters of culinary art flock to the cooking schools?

Rough Going But Still In The Driver's Seat

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Important that U. S. not be put on spot by Moscow as warmonger and potential aggressor; Americans worried over Acheson statement on Russia; Broadcasts on "What's Ahead" by State Secretary suggested.

(Editor's note: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to Secretary of State Dean Acheson on the all-important question of peace in the atomic-hydrogen race with Russia.)

Honorable Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.

Dear Dean:

I have been thinking of you a great deal lately—thinking of the very unfair criticism heaped upon you and thinking also of the care-free days when you and I used to ride together and talk rather bantlingly of the "career boys" and their mismanagement of world affairs.

Now you are in a position where you can influence those affairs more than any other man in the Western world, at a time when the world needs leadership more than ever before, and at a time when it sometimes seems the best things in life are about to come crashing down around our ears, while most of us stand petrified, powerless to act.

I have been thinking what I would do if I were in your place. Frankly, I don't know. I am a reporter and you are secretary of State. I have never been celebrated for my modesty or my reluctance to tell other people how they should run the government.

But I do not know what I should do were I in your shoes.

If you do call a conference to discuss an atomic-hydrogen agreement, it is a foregone conclusion that it would fail. The Kremlin being what it is, you cannot win.

And if you call such a conference, it will be interpreted as a sign of weakness, a diplomatic surrender. Door-pushing Russia.

I remember that about four years ago, when you were still under-secretary of State, you told a friend that Russia was like a thief going down the street trying every door latch to see which one it could open.

Most people wouldn't have believed you at that time. They were so anxious to get along with Russia. But you were right. Russia is going down the highway and by-products of the world pushing at every door to see which one it could open.

Even if she can't get into Berlin thanks to the Berlin Airlift she pushes into China. And after that she tries the latch keys of Burma, Indo-China and the Philippines.

So I can understand and heartily agree with your recent statement that the only thing in the world Russia understands today is force.

However, if you and the nation whose foreign affairs you guide do not take some step toward a discussion of the world's mad drift toward war, we are likely to be branded as warmongers and potential aggressors. And in this day of psychological cold warfare, when the twisted mouthings of Moscow can do such damage, it is important that we do not put ourselves on this spot.

I remember that when I first came to Washington as a very green newspaperman, you were extremely kind to me. I have never forgotten that. And although I have sometimes been vigorous in my criticism of State Department affairs, if there is anything I can do for you in the difficult job you now hold I should like to do it.

And perhaps the only thing I can do as a newspaper reporter is report to you how the American people feel today. I think it is important that you, as secretary of State know how they feel, and I believe I am a good enough reporter to report on it.

They are confused, frustrated and torn with dread. When they think that their children might have to go out and fight against they go almost numb.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

An old friend of mine, Morgan Howard of Los Angeles, Calif., was in New York the other day. Howard was president of the American Contract Bridge League in 1942. He is the donor of the cup which is played for each year in the President's Cup game at the nationals. At one time he also was very active in bridge in Pittsburgh, Pa.

At lunch, we started to talk about bridge hands we had played together. This led to a discussion of squeeze plays, and in particular, the suicide squeeze.

A squeeze play is employed quite often to make an extra trick or two. Generally, you have to have a long, established suit to have it work. But in the suicide squeeze you make one opponent squeeze his partner for the extra trick.

West's opening lead was the seven of diamonds. East put on the queen and declarer won the trick with the king. Declarer played the three of spades and when West's singleton king dropped, the trick was won with the ace. Now the queen and jack of spades were cashed.

At this point declarer could count only eight tricks, so he decided to let the opponents do the squeezing. He led a small diamond. East played the eight. Declarer played the nine and West won the trick with the ten-spot. On the three good diamonds East discarded three clubs.

West now led the queen of clubs and East had to let go his nine of spades. Declarer won the trick with the king and cashed the ace of clubs. East now was hopelessly squeezed. If he let go a heart, declarer's hearts would all be good, while if he discarded the ten of spades, declarer's eight of spades would be good.

They are way ahead, in my opinion, of the day when the State Department helped insert the "veto" in the Dumbarton Oaks Agreement, thereby bogging down the United Nations for years to come. And they are far ahead of the assistant secretary, Jack Hickerson, who talked so disparagingly before a congressional committee on the possibility of world government.

Today we are in a new world of atomic weapons and jet-propelled speed planes, and the American people realize that we cannot still apply horse-and-buggy politics. If our weapons are atomic, then our politics must be atomic also.

All this, I say, the American people generally understand. But they do not always understand silence on the part of their leaders. They do not understand an abrupt press handout on the momentous question of making the hydrogen bomb with no appeal to the rest of the world for regulation and co-operation.

Anybody who does not understand such cracks or ruses words in connection with foreign policy.

Even if the facts are not pleasant they want a solemn diagnosis of what they face.

They can, if absolutely necessary, bear more sacrifices, but they do not want to be kept in the dark. They want to know.

Therefore if you could give them a series of broadcasts, outlining what is ahead, it not only would be universally welcomed but might prove a turning point in the moulting of our foreign affairs.

You will be surprised, I know, to get a letter from a hardbitten, pick-knived so-and-so like me, and perhaps I shouldn't be writing you, but I lay awake nights thinking of the dread prospect of my children going to war again and I know that several million other Americans are doing the same.

So please forgive this outpouring and call me if I can help you at any time. Sincerely,
Drew Pearson.

Cleaning Streets Beats House Work

LONDON (AP)—For nine months 90 London street cleaners battled for a five-day work week. Recently they got it.

They asked for permission to work five and a half days. They said their wives were making them do household chores on Saturday morning.

Said one worker: "We just can't stand the mess."

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Japanese Touring U. S. Get Close Look At Our Methods

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Washington is being made very Japanese-conscious just now. And vice versa. A delegation of 25 educators and 14 members and staff of the Japanese Diet (Congress) are in the capital for a two-week windup to a six-week American tour. The State Department has four Japanese foreign office career men here.

Earlier in the year five Japanese labor leaders were in Washington for a week, during their two-month visit in the United States. Goings and comings of these first postwar Japanese missions are being cabined at length to Japan, and it's big news there.

It would be hard to tell what effect, if any, this indoctrination in democracy will have for the long run. A few of the Japanese visitors have been in the United States before, and know American ways. But the language barrier is a big one for the others.

What they are thinking privately, of course, nobody knows. Their public remarks all have been pretty much of the, "So glad to be here. General MacArthur very fine man, thank you!" variety that they reveal nothing.

The five labor officials, on their visit to Washington, were a pretty uncommunicative lot. They have spent two weeks in the South, a week each in New York, Detroit, Chicago. They gradually are working their way west. They are being shown national, state and local union operations and working conditions in American factories.

The U. S. State Department has kept its four Japanese foreign office officials pretty much under wraps, though they are free to move about as they please. In addition to working in the State Department, they have visited United Nations headquarters in New York, to get the first Japanese glimpse of how it works.

All four of the foreign office visitors are expected to be big men in the future conduct of Japan's international relations. Katsumi Ohno, senior officer of the mission, served a tour in the Japanese embassy in Washington prior to 1929.

The Japanese Diet delegation represents only four of Japan's 30 political parties. Takeshi Yamaazaki, 68, chairman of the delegation, now is secretary general of the Liberal Democratic Party. In Japan, a Liberal Democrat is considered the equivalent of a Republican in the United States.

The 25 educators include Takizo Matsumoto of Hiroshima, a Harvard graduate and a professor at Meiji University, in addition to being a member of the Diet, and a former parliamentary vice minister of foreign affairs. Professor Matsumoto also headed the team of six Japanese swimmers who broke nine records and took home 36 medals.

So they say

If one assumes that war is to occur, the present becomes a time of great importance, since the research and development part of the conflict is being fought out at this moment. (We) cannot wait for the beginning of the shooting war.

B. H. Williams, Armed Forces Industrial College.

Students of government pointed out years ago that if we experience a revolution or serious difficulty under our system of government, it would probably stem from our method of electing a president.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D) Tennessee, on electoral college.

We have good reason to believe that the prospects of averting another world conflict are steadily improving. The threat of war has diminished as our strength has increased.

Defense Secretary Louis Johnson.

The continuous production of an adequate supply of bituminous coal is essential to the economic stability, progress and security of the nation.

President Truman.

It's like when they discovered electricity—there is no end to what you can do with it.

Gen. Omar Bradley on atomic power.

from the Los Angeles swimming meet last year.

They all are trying so hard to please—to show no enmity or resentment. They are under apparent instructions to create no incidents make no remarks that would be considered out of turn. They all obviously want to be what they think General MacArthur and the American government want them to be. They interpret this as a requirement that they be good democrats.

What Japan's real post-peace ambitions are, it would be difficult to judge from these delegates, say their American guides. But there is no doubt that such aims definitely have been formulated. That the Japanese want a peace treaty as soon as possible is obvious. They probably want to establish trade with China again, whether it is Communist or not. But in the event of war, as one of the delegates expressed it, "We want to stay out of war. We've had enough war. But we are a democratic nation and we will be with the democratic nations."

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes Copyright 1950 by Rupert Hughes Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

All characters and events in this story are fictitious and bear no resemblance to real characters or real events is purely coincidental.

"WHAT happened?" Nadine Fennell bubbled and bubbled when she came up from the depths of the pool where she had been writhing underwater like a very lengthy mermaid.

She shot up from the depths and, twisting in air, flounced her wet seat on the tiles alongside where Azalea Palmer was crouched. She went on:

"When I dived in, Paul Moody was standing here by you. When I came up for air, he's vanished. Did I scare him off?"

Azalea did not answer. Nadine went on:

"I was eliminated from the semifinals and I bolted. But what goes on here? Have you two quarreled?"

Two girls could hardly have been found more unlike in every way. That was perhaps why they were such friends. Azalea was petite and old-fashioned in her beauty, and rich and unhappy. Nadine was comparatively poor, a career girl, studying and practicing professional modeling for fashion shows, with success and ambition.

Nadine was of the most modern architecture. She belonged to the generation of girls that seems to have gone to the moon. She had a small, lean, full of audacity and shockproof sophistication. She had the square shoulders of an athlete, small unmotherly breasts, no belly, no hips, then a stretch of legs that her young brother compared to chewing gum stretched to its limit.

They were elegant legs in outline, but so long that she seemed almost to walk on stilts, especially when she went on tiptoes in her too-see shoes with their dagger-like heels stabbing the ground under her long, long skirts. She was what the radio commentators call "the big economy size."

Azalea was small for nowadays, a warmly tired replica of the Venus of Medici. She was an armful, not an armload. She could cuddle in the lap of a boy friend, instead of sticking out as Nadine did in both directions from his embraces.

Azalea was faultless in her gentle and delicate outlines. In fact, Paul Moody—who, like that other sculptor Michelangelo, was a bit of a poet—Paul Moody had called her "perfect as a sonnet."

THE young sculptor Paul Moody did not specify exactly what her 14 lines were; but they were all just the right length; and they rhymed in the right places. In fact, he had made a medalion and Paul had made one of her.

Her hair was of so ashen a hue that one might have said it looked as if it had been frightened white in her youth. When Azalea was old, people would say she was still blonde.

"He was going to have a heart-to-heart talk with my father," Azalea said. "Heaven only knows what might happen."

Her cheek was on one uplifted knee and the curve of her back was a melody in flesh. She was a beauty in her own right.

But now her enchanting symmetry portrayed complete unhappiness. Nadine was mystified. Never before in all their friendship had she seen Azalea Palmer so clenched and crushed. She said:

"What's the matter, baby?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing," Azalea answered. "One does when 'nothing' means 'everything'."

A bit baffled by the rebuff, Nadine bridled:

"You mean it's none of my business?"

Azalea shook her woeful head inconspicuously.

Nadine was one of those innumerable people who curiously believe that the best way to console people in distress is to belittle their grief and scold them out of it. Nadine had an averagely good heart and was deeply fond of Azalea; but she clung to the ancient idiom that wealthy people should be immune to sorrow.

So she scolded:

"Really, honey, you'd better see a psychiatrist. You haven't been happy for months. And look at what you've got! Why, if I had your youth and beauty, and I had your money, I'd call myself the luckiest woman on earth. What have you got to grieve about? You ought to be happy. You've no right to be blue."

"THAT'S funny! That's screamingly funny!" And Azalea almost smiled when she said it. "Be happy because you ought to be! That's good! That's great! Be happy because you're rich. But what can money buy? My father says my money—or the prospect of it—has brought me a suitor that loves my money, not me. So my father is determined to save me from my happiness. And all with the best intentions. Good Lord, I think good intentions ruin more homes than rum.

"Poor Dad is as unhappy as I am. He runs after wild women for escape. He's cruel because he's so unhappy. The only father I'll ever have hates the only man I could ever love. And Paul hates my father and my money. Today he leaves me the greatest opportunity of a lifetime, thanks to my father."

"You mean that group for the National Electric Building?" Nadine asked. Azalea had told her about the project. A big bronze group of a dozen or more figures representing all that electricity has done and is doing for mankind. Azalea had said also that Paul's design was "the best." That he was sure to win.

"Father had the deciding vote—and he vetoed Paul's plan," Azalea said. "I've never seen Paul so out of his mind with disappointment and rage. I didn't know he could get so mad. He frightened me. He said he was going to have a heart-to-heart talk with my father and Dad has such a fierce temper that—Heaven only knows what might happen."

Azalea writhed erect and added: "I think I'd better get home and see if there's anything left of either of them."

"Got your car here?" Nadine asked.

"No," said Azalea. "I lent it to my maid. It's her day off. Dad's chauffeur has the day off too. In fact, the whole house is without servants. I'd better hurry."

"Let me drive you home," offered Nadine. "You can tell me about it on the way."

"The girls scurried to the shower. It did not take long to peel off what little they wore in the pool, take a quick drench, and squirm into what little they wore on the street.

As they sped away from the club in Nadine's car, the unseen throng about the tennis courts broke into wild cheers and applause over some brilliant play. Nadine said: "They seem to be glad to get rid of us."

But Azalea could not muster even a polite smile. A sense of foreboding oppressed her, and Nadine could neither joke nor scold her out of it. The distance was not far to the Palmer home.

Warriors, Giants Are Big Questions In Major Leagues

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Boston Braves and New York Giants provided the biggest question marks as major league teams moved to scattered sunshine belts Monday for Spring baseball rehearsals.

The whistle toots Wednesday at 10 camps in Florida, four in California and two in Arizona.

The Washington Senators and Cincinnati Reds will respond to the bark of new managers. Only three of the 16 clubs don't have holdout worries. A total of 47 players still are un-signed.

Yet these items provoke only casual interest among the diamond faithful compared with the speculation of what the Braves and Giants are apt to do with their revamped rosters.

These two National League members—fourth and fifth, respectively, in the standings last year—have undergone the greatest bit of fact-finding during the Winter months. Sluggers For Scrappers

At Boston, Billy Southworth has displaced a large part of the old guard that won the pennant for him in 1918 only to slide badly last season amid reports of dissent. At New York, Manager Leo Du-rocher has whipped together a club to his liking. He has bartered off his slow-footed sluggers for men he considers scrappy and sharp on defense.

The two teams got together last December in shifting personnel. The Giants sent outfielder Willard Marshall, outfielder-infielder Sid Gordon, shortstop Buddy Kerr and Pitcher Sam Webb to the Braves for the crack keystone combination, Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky. The impending season should help answer the popular query: Who got the best of the swap?

SPORTS SLANTS

by SHORTY SHELburnE

Soccer—Hughes, former Midland Indian, and Harry Scherting, formerly with Vernon, have inked contracts with the Dallas Eagles of the Texas League.

Both took one of the biggest jumps in baseball, from Class D to Class AA.

Hughes was the best shortstop in the Longhorn League last season and Scherting hit a bushel for the Vernon Durfers. He is an outfielder.

Forest Martin, the rookie hurler Harold Webb brought out from Fort Worth last season, won't be with the Indians this year.

He has moved back to Fort Worth and reportedly has made a deal with Puss Erwin to locate him in baseball.

Martin had a lot of stuff as a right hander but couldn't control it.

Dan Willensky, a guy who drew pay as an umpire in the Longhorn League last season, has been purchased by Howard Green for his new Gulf Coast League.

We wish to give our undivided thanks to Mr. Green for buying Willensky. That probably is the best thing Green ever did for the Longhorn loop.

Thanks again.

Frankie Frisch, manager of the Chicago Cubs, says the Cincinnati Reds made the best trade of the off-season in baseball.

The Reds swapped the veteran Harry Walker for Ron Nortney and Lou Klein.

"They got two regulars for one," Frisch says.

The most stunning thing to happen in sports so far this year was the death of Lavern Roach, great young Plainview fighter, in St. Nicholas Arena at New York last week.

Roach was the most promising fighter to emerge from Texas in many years. He had a colorful career behind him.

Roach was involved in the longest "long count" in boxing history. When he fought Marcel Cerdan in Madison Square Garden March 12, 1938, Cerdan sent him to the canvas and fell on top of him.

Officials argued whether it was an official knock down, and finally decided it was. The time was 32 seconds, longer than the famous Jack Dempsey "long count," before Roach was up.

Lefty Shelton has signed his contract to hurl for the San Angelo Colts again. He won nine and lost four last season, beating the Cubans from Big Spring regularly.

Chester Krager and Don Schneegold also have joined the Colts with signed documents.

Mrs. George Glass of Midland Saturday night was awarded a most unusual trophy.

Mrs. Glass was at Lubbock for the first shoot of the season for members of the West Texas Skeet Shoot Association. She isn't a shooter but has traveled more than 100,000 miles with George and George, Jr., to "shoot" tournaments.

Mrs. Glass was awarded a trophy as the world champion skeet "litter." She's always on hand to watch when her husband and son are shooting.

Players For 'Star Game' Are Listed

AUSTIN—(AP)—Eleven 1949 all-state schoolboy football players will be on the North squad for the annual Texas All-Star game.

The game will be played here August 4, winding up the coaching school sponsored by the Texas High School Coaches Association.

Selection of the all-stars was announced by Chairman Abe Houston of Brownwood. The North squad's coach will be Bud Wilkerson of the University of Oklahoma.

Four of the all-stars are from AA ranks, three from the City Conference and two from Class A. In addition, one guard and one back rated second team places on all-state lists will be selected.

The complete 30-player roster follows:

Ends—Jerry Pouts, Wichita Falls; Blou Bridges, Grand Prairie; George Kendall, San Angelo; Clifford Polk, Fort Worth; Handley, Paul Erwin, Odessa.

Tackles—Don Goss, Dallas; Sunser, Jerry Cotter, Littlefield; Richard Martin, Jacksboro; Jack Archibald, Highland Park; Eddie Hodges, Abilene.

Guards—Chuck Mason, Kress; Charles Radford, Quanah; Joe Vancil, Ballinger; Malcolm Wallace, Greenville; Don Woodin, Arlington.

Centers—David Mays, Fort Worth; Arlington Heights; Joe McDonald, Sherman; Bobby Dimeyer, El Paso; Austin.

Backs—Jack Newby, Amarillo; Don Low, Brownwood; Bill White, Denton; Bobby Brown, Lubbock; Joby Witt, Hughes Springs; Bill Waggoner, Wichita Falls; Buck Gibson, Rising Star; Bud Rollins, Wink; Glen Jones, Fort Worth; Paschal; Miller Browne, Dallas; Adamson.

Plainview Rites For Lavern Roach Scheduled Tuesday

EAST ORANGE, N. J.—(AP)—The body of Boxer Lavern Roach was on its way back to his Plainview, Texas home town Monday following funeral services here Saturday.

The 24-year-old ex-Marine who died Thursday from injuries suffered in the fourth bout of a comeback attempt was to be interred Tuesday.

Saturday's services were attended by 200 people including George Small, Brooklyn, N. Y., middleweight who knocked Roach out in the tenth round of their bout at St. Nicholas Arena in New York Wednesday.

The Rev. Romaine F. Bateman, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Millburn, N. J., officiated over the flag-bedecked coffin which was flanked by honor guards of Marines from the Dover, N. J., Ammunition Depot.

Roach, former boxing champ at the Cherry Point, N. C., Marine Base, recently had made his home in Maplewood, N. J.

Johnny Abood, Roach's manager, Harry Markson and Ted Brenner, International Boxing Club promoters of the late, Nick bout, and members of Roach's Cherry Point boxing team also attended the services.

Red Ramsey Named College Line Coach

SAN ANGELO—Herschel (Red) Ramsey, former San Angelo High School head coach, has been named line coach at the University of Idaho. He will report for duty March 3.

Ramsey is a former Texas Tech star and played professional ball with the Philadelphia Eagles. He was an assistant coach when San Angelo won the state Class AA title in 1943.

Suspicious

Joe McCarthy, left, seems very cautious in conversation with Casey Stengel at the New York baseball writers' dinner. The veteran manager of the Red Sox isn't afraid of his counterpart with the Yankees. He got that way dropping pennants in play-offs and on the last day of the season.

Arizona's Wildcats Need Two Games To Clinch Border Crown

By The Associated Press
End of the Border Conference basketball race, with Arizona as the winner and still champ, may come in the next three days.

Let Arizona beat Hardin-Simmons Monday night and either Texas Tech or West Texas on the next two nights and it is all over. All the games will be played in Texas.

Should Hardin-Simmons pull a major upset and trim the Arizona Wildcats, the issue could remain in doubt until the teams meet in Tucson a week March 6.

Viewed from any angle it would appear as if Arizona will win its fifth straight title.

Six schools—West Texas, Texas Tech, Texas Western, New Mexico, New Mexico A&M and Arizona State of Flagstaff) have been eliminated. Tempe is on the ropes and will join the majority as soon as Arizona wins one more game.

Mathematical Chance
Only Hardin-Simmons has ending Arizona's domination. It has won nine, lost two and still faces four difficult road games. But the Abilene team has shown vast improvement during the last month and is fighting for its first hoop title since joining the league in 1940.

Ambitious Arizona is riding high. It has a perfect 12-0 record in conference play and 24-2 for the season.

This will be one of the conference's busiest weeks of the season with 11 games on tap.

Tempe and Flagstaff tour the central part of the league for games with New Mexico, New Mexico A&M and Texas Western. Hardin-Simmons visits Texas Tech and Tech then will visit West Texas.

Church Starts Fund For Two Children Of Plainview Boxer

SHORT HILLS, N. J.—(AP)—A scholarship fund for the two children of Boxer Lavern Roach has been started with $100 donation by the Christ Church Sunday School.

The 24-year-old Plainview, Texas, middleweight died Thursday after being knocked out in the tenth round of a bout at St. Nicholas Arena in New York City.

Roach, who made his home in nearby Maplewood, has left several months, left a six-month-old son, Richard James, and a four-year-old daughter, Veronica, as well as his 22-year-old widow, Evelyn Joyce Roach.

The Christ Church Sunday School announced Sunday it would donate $100 in government bonds for the two children to start them toward a college education for their later years.

"We hope," said the Rev. Herbert H. Cooper, rector of Christ Church, "this will begin a flow of contributions."

Mrs. Roach and the two children started back to Plainview, Texas. Roach will be interred there Tuesday at Plainview Cemetery.

Three-Way Tie In Ranchland Bogey

Golfers took Ranchland Hill Country Club by storm Sunday as the weather stayed perfect for the sport.

A blind bogey drew 56 entries and provided good competition for golfers.

Leland Huffman, Pearl Ward and H. F. Kelly finished in a deadlock for the bogey prize. The number was 94.

J. C. Davis, Jr., had the low gross score, a 74.

Middlecoff Nabs Purse At Houston

HOUSTON—(AP)—Cary Middlecoff, the former dentist from Memphis, was back among golf's top money winners Monday as the Winter tournament circuit headed for Florida.

The 29-year-old National Open champion turned in his fourth sub-par round Sunday for an 11-under par, 72-hole 277 to take $2,000 first money in the fourth annual Houston Open.

The big prize shot him into fourth place among the 1950 purse winners at $4,765.

Demaret, Burke Switch
He now is outranked only by Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., with $7,584; Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., $5,778.66, and young Jackie Burke, Jr., White Plains, N. Y., $5,480.

Snead has been idle the last two weeks. Demaret and Burke switched positions in the year's standings after taking third and seventh places, respectively, Sunday. Demaret won $1,000, Burke $520.

Both are former Houston residents and rallied in their final two rounds to finish strongly after miserable starts.

Pete Cooper of Ponte Verda Beach, Fla., gave Middlecoff a bit of a scare Sunday before slipping to the tournament's runnerup spot at 280. His $1,400 second prize money gave him an eleventh place $1,746.67 for the year.

City League Play Monday

Only three nights of play remain on the regular schedule of the VFW-sponsored City League here. One of them will be taken up with a double-header Monday night.

Mid-West Lumber and Watkins Mobil collide at 7:30 p.m. Monday and the VFW plays Ted Thompson immediately following.

All City League games are played in the Junior High Gymnasium and the public is invited to attend.

Delbert Downing To Speak At Grid Feed

BRECKENRIDGE—Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce and a football player here in his high school days, will be the featured speaker at the annual football banquet March 7.

The event will honor the 1949 Buckaroos.

Three teams—Arkansas, Southern Methodist and Baylor—share the lead going into the last day of the season, but only two stand a chance to keep the pace.

Tuesday night, Baylor and Southern Methodist seek to eliminate some of the confusion at the top of the standings, while Arkansas goes after a sure share of the championship against Texas Christian.

The third game to wind up the conference campaign was the University of Texas against Texas A&M College.

Southern Methodist University cheated Arkansas out of a cinch piece of the title and jumped into a lead for the lead with a 57-48 victory Saturday night. At the same time Baylor claimed a share of first by its 57-42 decision over Texas Christian.

Rice Occupies Cellar
Rice finished its season in the cellar by losing to Texas 41-55.

In other games last week, Arkansas beat Rice 61-38, and Baylor nicked Texas 43-41.

If Texas Christian University whips Arkansas at Fort Worth, the winner of the Baylor or Southern Methodist game will get a clear title.

The winner of the Southwest Conference race is eligible for consideration for the NCAA regional meet in Kansas City next month. For the last couple of years, the conference champion has met the Border Conference champion in a playoff to determine the Southwest's entry in the NCAA tournament.

Joe McDermott of Rice hung on to his season scoring leadership with 330 points, five more than second-place Tom Hamilton of Texas.

Hamilton tops conference scoring, 185 points to 172 for Runnerup McDermott.

NCAA Invites Code Breaker Into Fold

CHICAGO—(AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has tempted sanity code violators to get back on the beam pronto by offering them immediate clearance for competition in NCAA sponsored events.

Villanova, one of five schools considered in poor standing, is free to accept an NCAA district basketball tourney bid, should it be offered, if it can obtain clearance.

One of the original seven admitted violators—Boston College—Sunday was okayed officially by the all-powerful NCAA council and now is eligible to defend its national hockey crown.

The other six are Maryland, Virginia Tech, Villanova, Virginia Military Institute and The Citadel. The Citadel resigned from the NCAA but may re-apply for membership.

The NCAA compliance committee which certified Boston College is to meet in Savannah, Ga., Thursday and Friday to review reported violations.

New Formula Offered
The sanity code itself may be overruled to such an extent that a workable formula limiting recruits will be much easier to all members. Until such a revision—which would be the outcome of the Byrd resolution adopted in New York and backed solidly by the South—is made, the five violating schools remain in poor standing.

"Many schools have made a great effort to come in compliance and have sacrificed much to do so," said Hugh C. Willett of Southern California, NCAA president. "Others have not."

He indicated if some can do it, an effort should be made by Villanova, Maryland, Virginia Tech, VMI and The Citadel to comply.

Windell Williams Named Head Coach

ANGLTON—(AP)—Windell Williams, former Midland High School and Rice Institute football star, has been named head football coach at Angleton High School.

Williams played professional football with the Baltimore Colts two years after graduating from college.

The former Midlander was one of Texas' greatest high school stars, playing on some of Midland's best teams in history.

TO RALLY LEAGUE
LUBBOCK—(AP)—I. B. Palmer, veteran West Texas-New Mexico catcher-infielder, has signed to play this season with Macon, Ga., of the Sally League.

Marines have guarded the Washington Navy Yard (now known as Naval Gun Factory) since 1800.

24 Entries Seek Three Cage Titles

By The Associated Press
Twenty-four high schools team gather in Austin this week to bid for three state basketball titles.

Texas City, defending champion, paces the entries in the Class AA tournament. Class A and B titlists from last year failed to make it this time.

The big cage carnival starts in Austin Thursday and will run through Saturday night.

Class AA tournament teams are Vernon, Austin of El Paso, Sweetwater, Highland Park (Dallas), Texas, Texas City, Corpus Christi and Harlingen.

Class A: Canyon, Ballinger, Birdville (Fort Worth), Gaston, Teague, Lockhart, French (Beaumont) and South San Antonio.

Class B: Early, Fortreston, Cayuga, Warren, Waelder, Bishop, Marfa and Gruver.

City Loop Next Week
The state meet entries were determined last week in bi-district series and regional tournaments.

The City Conference—made up of schools in San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth—holds its championship tournament next week at Fort Worth. Crozier Tech, city champion, and runnerup Adamson will represent Dallas; Poly and Paschal Fort Worth, and Sam Houston and Milby Houston. San Antonio's two entries will be determined this week.

Some of the teams going to the state meet will carry fancy records with them. Waelder has won 40 games and lost only one in Class B; Birdville has won 29 and dropped just three in Class A, while Corpus Christi sports a 31-4 in Class AA.

Texas Loop Cage Play Closes With Two-Game Series

By The Associated Press
Southwestern and Texas A&I open a two-game series Monday night at Kingsville and they'll wind up the Texas Conference basketball season.

Abilene Christian College dumped Howard Payne 64-51 last week to complete its third straight conference season undefeated. The Wildcats earlier had dropped a 54-48 decision to Texas Wesleyan, a former member of the Texas Conference.

In other games last week, Austin lost to Midwestern 68-50; A&I beat McMurry 65-63, and Austin lost to Texas Wesleyan 37-28.

Howard Payne finished second in the conference standings and Austin third.

Have you changed yet?

Gets pretty thirsty in my line of work. That's why I changed to the new GRAND PRIZE beer as soon as it came out. I like the way that pale dry flavor cuts my thirst.

Anee Oates, old-time cattleman, Pecos

I noticed so many of my friends serving the new Pale Dry GRAND PRIZE that I decided to try it yesterday. Now I know why everyone's changing to GRAND PRIZE. Its flavor is wonderful!

Gloria Fisher, housewife, San Antonio

The new Pale Dry GRAND PRIZE is made from a careful blending of forty selected brews, all from the finest hops and malt obtainable. That's what makes it so good. That's why everybody's changing to GRAND PRIZE!

Have you changed yet?

Anybody that likes a pale dry beer will really like this new GRAND PRIZE. I changed to Pale Dry GRAND PRIZE about a month ago.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Plain Vanilla

"Now Bobby!" said Daddy Ringtail. He said it to Bobby Ringtail, the smallest Ringtail monkey boy. "Now Bobby, you will have to get down from there and leave Mother Ringtail's cooking bottles alone."

shelves. Said he: "Daddy Ringtail, how am I going to find out about things if I have to get down?" Oh, it was quite a problem, you see. How would Bobby find out about things he wanted to know, if Daddy Ringtail didn't let him do the finding out? But Daddy Ringtail said: "You can always ask me and I will tell you," because he did want Bobby to know about things.

And then Bobby began to tell what he was trying to find out. "Let me show you," said Bobby, and so he climbed back up on the stool. He reached his hand in the place where Mother Ringtail kept her cooking bottles, and then he pulled one out.

"That's vanilla in that bottle," Daddy Ringtail said. "Plain vanilla. It's the kind Mother Ringtail cooks with when she makes us a scrambled coconut cake or maybe a banana pie."

"Yes," said Bobby, "and it sure does smell good. Daddy Ringtail, does it taste as good as it smells?" Daddy Ringtail smiled and thought about this. And what would you have done if you had been Daddy Ringtail and Bobby your little monkey boy? Would you have told him whether the taste of plain vanilla is as good as plain vanilla smells, or would you have let him find out for himself? Daddy Ringtail opened the bottle and poured a little out in a spoon. It smelled so very good. He gave it to Bobby to taste. Bobby did taste it, and then what an awful face he made. "It doesn't taste like it smells!" he said. Why, it didn't taste good at all as you can see for yourself sometime if you ever taste the vanilla at your house. But Bobby was glad to have tasted it. He found out for himself—which is a good thing to do as long as you don't hurt yourself doing it. Happy day!

Indians Have Black Market In Privileges
BERKELEY, CALIF. —(AP)— Indian tribes of the north British Columbia coast now have a black market in privileges, says Dr. Ronald L. Olson, professor of anthropology at the University of California. In these tribes, he says, the highly prized things of life are ceremonial titles or names. They carry the right to perform certain dances, to sing certain songs, to erect totem poles and to give feasts. These titles used to be controlled by a noble cast and were handed down in families. Now, however, the white man's civilization and diseases has reduced the tribes to a fraction of their former numbers. Some of the old titles have been inherited by commoners who used to share in them only as poor relations. Some of the commoners think more of what the titles will bring on the market than of the privileges. Therefore they sell the legends and songs which validate the privilege much as deeds, copyrights and patents validate ownership in the white man's society.

Rotarians Engage In Guessing Game
CHICAGO — (AP)— Members of Rotary Clubs are engaged in a guessing game these days. They're trying to figure out how large the organization will be when they celebrate its 50th birthday anniversary in 1955. Paul Harris and three friends started the club Feb. 23, 1905. They called it Rotary because the early sessions were held in rotation in the offices of members. At latest count, there were 334,000 members and 6,900 clubs in 83 countries. Alfred Fisch, chairman of Rotary's extension committee, came up with the idea for the guessing game.

Permian Basin Oil & Gas Log

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, the Pegasus operator.

It has already shown for flowing production from the Permian and it should have sufficient Devonian section to carry some sort of petroleum production.

Location is just inside the Midland County line, and at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 31, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S.

Ellenburger Yields Water In Schleicher

After recovering three and nine-tenths barrels of drill mud and two and six-tenths barrels of salt water on a one hour drillstem test in the Ellenburger, Abercrombie No. 1 Wellenmaier and Meador, a wildcat in Northwest Schleicher County, is circulating while waiting on orders.

The most recent test was at 8,065-8,197 feet, with the total depth being 8,197 feet.

Informal sources say the venture will not be drilled deeper, and that electric surveys probably will be run shortly.

No possibilities of production have developed on any section thus far drilled.

Location is 9,711.86 feet from north and 617.42 feet from west lines of League 7, Concho County School Land survey. It is 11 miles northwest of Eldorado.

Runnels Wildcat Flows 50 Barrels Oil Hourly

An oil flow estimated at 50 barrels per hour has been developed at a Northwest Runnels County wildcat from the Fry sand zone of the Pennsylvanian.

That production came in Garland and Runnels counties, Ark. and G. W. Strake of Houston, No. 1 W. P. Loyd, located eight miles northwest of Winters.

This development drillstem tested at 4,344-64 feet. Gas showed at the surface in two and one-half minutes. Oil started flowing at the top in eight and one-half minutes.

No Water Developed

The project flowed to the pits at the starting rate of 50 barrels of oil per hour for an unreported length of time. No formation water was developed.

Operators were pulling the drill pipe at last report. The venture was scheduled to drill ahead to test the Strawn lime.

This apparent new discovery is 330 feet from south and 4,735 feet from east lines of section 94, Hartman E. Baggis survey.

That puts it one and three-quarters of a mile northeast of the J. E. Kemp No. 1 Mrs. M. J. Adams, a recently completed discovery from the Fry sand.

One Staked; Two Fined In Scurry

Completion of one new producer and one old well in Scurry County has been reported for Canyon reef lime fields in Scurry County.

The new oil well is Castleman & O'Neil of Midland No. 2 Luther F. Vaughn in the Kelley field. It is located 980.2 feet from north and 338.9 feet from west lines of the southwest quarter of section 249, block 97, H&TC survey.

The old well is a potential test the well made 2,847.44 barrels of 43-gravity oil, with a shakeout of one-tenth of one per cent drilling water. Gas-oil ratio was 900-1. The flow on the completion test was through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

Top of the pay was at 6,542 feet. Total depth was 6,790 feet. The 7-inch oil string is cemented at 6,500 feet. The 24-hour potential was based on an actual six-hour flow. Stanotest Spots One Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 8 S. L. Terry is to be a new corporation in the North Snyder field. It is 467 feet from east and 660 feet from north lines of section 384, block 97, H&TC survey. Drilling to 7,000 feet is to start immediately. It is nine miles north of Scurry in Midland.

The Texas Company No. 2 M. A. Boyd is to be a 7,000-foot Canyon project in the Diamond M field.

Widely Known In U. S.

Sir Harry was widely known in the United States, where he made some two dozen tours from coast to coast.

His last trip to America was made in 1937.

Although Sir Harry had sung his swan song on the commercial stage more than a decade ago, he had not ceased being a showman. Still hale and hearty, he skinned his pipes and waxes his hair every day, and he is reported to be in Britain all during World War II, the same as he had done a generation before for troops at home and for charity.

Born Aug. 4, 1870, Lauder went to work in a fax mill at the age of 11, when his father died. Then he became a coal miner.

Early in the 1900's, he went to the music halls in London, became a success here and his fame soon spread to the United States and the whole world.

Midlander Gets His Forty-Second Ford

R. L. Porter of Midland, center, accepts delivery from Harry Murray, right, Midland Ford dealer, of his forty-second Ford automobile. Howard Mesching, service manager of the Murray-Young Motors, Ltd., looks on. Since 1911, Porter has purchased 41 Ford passenger cars and eight Ford pickups. He commented he is becoming "quite sold" on Ford products as a means of transportation.

Red-Offered Food Poses Problem In Coal Strike Area

CUMBERLAND, MD.—(AP)—A harried Salvation Army commander dangled Monday between food for the Communist and food-refusing coal miners. Now he has the food, and he doesn't know what to do with it.

It all started last Thursday when two truckloads of food and clothing arrived and eventually were delivered to Salvation Army headquarters.

The three men on the trucks, said Major Elmer Fall, Civil commander, told him that they were Communists.

Sunday officers of two United Mine Workers locals in Western Maryland issued this notice to the striking workers:

"Beware of Communist Party trucks x x x trying to unload their cargo of food and clothing to the miners of this region. Miners and their families may need help, but if we cannot get it from our own, we certainly don't need the help of the Communists."

The supplies, untouched, still are sitting at the Civil headquarters.

Cat Hunt—

him to kill for pleasure," Frazier added.

The only tangible clue to the animal's presence in the zoo early Monday were the hairs caught under the bushes and the tracks in the mud. M. D. Douglass and W. T. Cooke, just before 1 a.m. The spot is near the cage of the leopard's mate.

The 200 pounds of junkie fur escaped from this same enclosure Saturday after springing 18 feet from its pit in the zoo.

Since then it has led hundreds of hunters through two days of weary tramping for 15 miles to the north and east.

He was spotted three times but always from a distance.

Farm families in the area have been warned to stay at home and keep their cats leashed. Women and children should be accompanied by an armed escort if they must leave home, police warned.

The leopard, captured in India less than 60 days ago, is described as particularly vicious. From Thousand Oaks, Calif., where the animal was quarantined after its arrival in this country, came a warning of a dangerous battle if it is captured.

Louis Geobel, one of the owners of the World Jungle Compound there, said it is "one of the most savage animals" he ever had handled.

"He's full-grown jungle animal and as green to civilization as they come," he said.

Flyers—

They are scheduled to spend Monday night in El Paso and Tuesday night in Dallas.

The trip is the longest ever attempted by private pilots in such numbers.

PLANE OF OREGON

Purpose of the tour is to spread the fame of Oregon, with its Portland Rose Festival in June, its Pendleton Roundup, its breathtaking scenery and its old-time Western hospitality.

The pilots are flying businessmen. They own their own planes and use them in their business and professional careers.

Passengers range from a baby of two to a youth of 85. It is a family air tour, with most pilots bringing their wives and children.

Among the flying businessmen are lawyers, mail men, bankers, insurance men, store owners, ranchers, doctors, lawyers and automobile dealers.

The tour will spend four days seeing Havana and the rest of Cuba, then return to Key West the morning of March 8. They will then split and return by individual routes. Many plan to make business trips on the return.

Grocer Reports Kidnaping, Robbery

FORT WORTH (AP)—The sheriff's office here Monday said H. L. Perkins, 21, Denton County grocer, had returned to his home at Crossroads, nine miles east of Denton, after reporting he was kidnaped and robbed in Fort Worth Sunday night.

Perkins said he was abducted by three young, swarthy bandits and robbed of $38, a watch and his boots. He told officers he was forced into a car in downtown Fort Worth and put out south of town.

Philippines Blast Kills Three, Hurts 49

MANILA (AP)—Three persons Sunday were reported killed and 49 injured in an ammunition explosion and fire that destroyed a Philippine Constabulary base and one wing of the provincial Capitol at Batangas Saturday. One person was missing.

The casualty report was made by the Constabulary's headquarters here which earlier had estimated the death toll at 20.

CHURCHMEN FAST, PRAY IN PROTEST OF H-BOMBS

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-six hours of prayer and fasting in protest against the production of hydrogen bombs ended Sunday at the Community Church.

Snuffing out of a candle in the auditorium signaled the end of the protest.

TWO PERSONS GIVEN FIRST AID TREATMENT

Two persons, slightly injured in an automobile collision Saturday night, were given first aid treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital and released.

The accident occurred about 11 miles west of Midland on U. S. Highway 80.

FINNS SENTENCE REDS

HELSINKI, FINLAND (AP)—A Finnish court Monday sentenced 80 participants in August's Communist-inspired riots in the north lumber town of Kem to prison terms up to 16 months at hard labor.

Indonesia's Rebel Leader Arrested By British In Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP)—Capt. R. P. P. (Turk) Westering, Indonesia's chief rebel leader who recently boasted that with enough arms he could take the capital city of Jakarta, was arrested without a struggle here Sunday by British police.

United States of Indonesia officials immediately demanded the 30-year-old former Dutch Army commander's extradition on charges of leading a guerrilla revolt. If returned, informed sources said he will face the death penalty.

One of Westering's friends said he came here to get arms for his rebel movement, presumably he hoped to contact smugglers and gun runners.

Westering, whose force of native deserters from the Dutch Army seized most of West Java's capital, Bandung, January 23, was arrested on charges of entering this colony without a permit.

Westering was said to have slipped ashore five days ago from a plane which landed him near the coast and put him aboard a rubber boat.

Press reports from Jakarta, capital of the U. S. I., last week said Westering had been spirited out of the country aboard a Dutch plane.

If investigation proves the Dutch actually helped smuggle Westering out of the country, it could result in a dangerous rift between the Indonesians and Dutch.

Dutch High Commissioner H. M. Hirschfeld has refused to credit such reports.

Oswalt Outlines Growth Problems

"Midland is trying to do in five years what most cities' growth would allow 60 years for," W. H. Oswalt, city manager, said Monday at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Oswalt outlined the problems occasioned by the tripling of Midland's population in the last 10 years, citing examples of lack of municipal activity. He mentioned needs for increases in fire and police departments, for street improvement, water and sewage disposal enlargement, for drainage and for new equipment, and told Kiwanians that some progress was being made in all phases of activity.

The city manager pointed out that all new citizens of Midland had a legitimate claim to all municipal services—police, fire, sewage, garbage collection and street maintenance—that other citizens of Midland received, and that the city's income was stretched to the point of crisis.

President Albert Kelley presided at the meeting, attended by 46 Kiwanians and four guests. Hasten Pannill, program chairman, introduced Mayor Neely, who presented Oswalt.

Kelley announced Herb Marshall had accepted the chairmanship for Kiwanis participation in the Red Cross Drive, and asked for volunteers to aid in the drive.

James C. Kunkel, Johnson announced details of the forthcoming annual circus, which will be sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Student Found Dead Of Fractured Skull

LAREDO (AP)—Hector Sandoval, 19, a student at Laredo Junior College, was found dead Sunday on the Missouri Pacific Railroad right of way with a fractured skull.

Officers said they did not believe he was hit by a train. Justice of Peace Manuel Cruz did not rule immediately on the cause of death. Sandoval is survived by his mother, Mrs. Santos B. Sandoval of Laredo.

Would Say He Was In A 'Hot Box'

GHEONG, AUSTRALIA (AP)—When struck on the leg by a pitched ball during a weekend match, Robert Bate hopped around the wicket, dislodged his bat, threw away his gloves, and quickly turned out one of his best.

The ball had struck a box of matches in his pocket and set them afire.

Among the flying businessmen are lawyers, mail men, bankers, insurance men, store owners, ranchers, doctors, lawyers and automobile dealers.

The tour will spend four days seeing Havana and the rest of Cuba, then return to Key West the morning of March 8. They will then split and return by individual routes. Many plan to make business trips on the return.

State To Ask Death For Alleged Rapist

FORT WORTH (AP)—The state will demand the death penalty for Billie George McClure, District Attorney Stewart Helman declared Monday as the 21-year-old ex-salor from Waco was called to trial on a charge of raping a Fort Worth housewife February 3.

A special venire of 450 men, one of the largest ever called for a rape trial here, filled the 6th District Court room and corridors.

by Altiqpa plants. They employ 23,000.

United States Steel Corporation is getting ready to furlough 12,000 in the Birmingham (Ala.) District. As soon as steel production drops further, unemployment can be counted to follow in the plants which use steel.

The American Feed Manufacturers Association says extended power curtailment "will have serious repercussions on the production of meat, milk and eggs."

Students Sent Home

Temperatures have been reduced in some schools.

Thousands of school children and college students have been sent home.

Plain householders who want coal are being rationed in scores of cities.

At least 10 major cities have declared states of emergency.

The municipal coal stockpile was opened in Cleveland but it has been exhausted.

In Pittsburgh, one of the nation's coal capitals, coal which sold for $5.50 a ton here now is bringing $14. The diggers are having a hard time to feed and clothe their families.

Pennsylvania officials report one out of every six people in the county are receiving state assistance.

Scientist—

Dr. Frederick Seitz, physicist of the University of Illinois.

Sillard said that if Russia or the United States fixed up super H-bombs with the suicide dust, and threatened to use them, "you could say that both Russia and America can be invincible."

He said he did not know whether either country would be willing to commit suicide this way. But a nation would make such an ultimatum as blackmail, and other nations would have to guess whether she was bluffing.

Another problem is whether the H-bomb will be too heavy to deliver by plane or guided missile, Brown said.

"The biggest cities on earth could be destroyed by one 'single bomb,'" the scientist agreed. Almost everything would be destroyed within a radius of ten miles from the blast. The flash would reach 20 miles, severely burning people that far away.
