

New Coal Contract Remains Unsigned

Sunday Talks Expected To End Walkout

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Efforts to reach a final agreement on a new soft coal contract failed Saturday night, but both sides reported substantial progress and prospects appeared good for a resumption of mining on Monday.

Indications were that the difficulties were legal and technical, and did not involve any material differences on points to be included in the agreement which would end the months-long dispute.

180 Called As Special Jury Venire

A special venire of 180 prospective jurors for three criminal cases has been ordered to report at 10 a. m. Monday, March 13, in 70th District Court.

Set for trial are a murder case and two rape cases.

Herbert Frizzell, rodeo cowboy, is scheduled to be tried for murder in the slaying of Rodeo Judge Henry Preston (Buck) Jones, E. Copeland, R. E. Gila, W. M. Arledge, J. M. Cox, O. C. Harper, F. A. Douglass, Jr., Joe C. Hunter, Charles F. Henderson, S. M. Erskine, O. E. Cienfuegos, W. H. Conkling.

Other operator representatives also were optimistic.

The parties agreed to resume work at 8 a. m. Sunday.

Policy Panel Called

Lewis has called his 200-man Union Policy Committee for a meeting at 4:30 p. m.—evidently expecting the situation will have advanced to a point by then where a final agreement could be ratified by the union committee.

Unless there is a last-minute agreement, the union will go on strike Monday.

El Paso Man Seeks Congressional Post

EL PASO—Fred Hervey, El Paso businessman and native of Far West Texas, has entered the race for U. S. Representative from the 18th Congressional District of Texas. The post now is held by Ken Ryan of Midland, who is seeking reelection. Paul Moss of Odessa also is a candidate for the office.

In his opening statement, Hervey emphasized he is only 40 years old and that he hopes and intends to give the best years of his life to representing Far West Texas in Washington.

"I am not out to cap a long business career by putting in a few years in Congress before retiring entirely," Hervey said.

"I do not favor extravagance either in business or in government. Neither do I favor waste. And the opportunity of West Texas to get its rightful share of federal expenditures is going to waste.

Negro Woman Is Stabbed To Death

James Abram, Midland negro, was arrested Saturday afternoon in connection with the fatal stabbing of Marie Jackson Abram, negro, in an alley behind 109 North Tyler Street.

Police Chief Jack Ellington said charges will be filed Monday against Abram. The suspect is being held in the Midland County Jail.

A Newline W. Ellis ambulance rushed the woman to Western Clinic-Hospital but she was declared dead upon arrival. She was stabbed one time in the right side of the chest. A knife was found near the stab scene.

Something New And Different

Crippled Industries Shift Back Into Gear As End Of Coal Walkout Looms

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Crippled industries quickly shifted back into gear Saturday without awaiting formal notice that the great coal strike is over.

The costly strike which almost paralyzed the nation's economy and idled nearly 600,000 persons seemed over.

The IOC withdrew its order for a new 15 per cent cut Sunday midnight on coal burning railroads and related a previous 25 per cent reduction in freight service.

The steel industry got ready to re-fire furnaces and re-fire furnaces.

Seven Candidates Seek Council Posts

City politics warmed up here Saturday—last day for filing in the April 4 city election—as three additional office-seekers tossed their hats into the political ring as candidates for the City Council places to be filled in next month's balloting.

Harold J. Rucker and Lee Thomas filed Saturday with City Secretary J. C. Hudman for Place 4 on the council, to bring to four the number of contestants in that race. Albert William Rutter, Jr., geologist, and Jack B. Wilkins, long-time resident and extensive property owner, are the other Place 4 candidates.

$Dollar Day$, Stock Show To Be Special Attractions Monday

Spring merchandise will feature the money-saving values offered by Midland stores in the March $DOLLAR DAY$ event Monday.

Monday also is stock show day and the two events doubtless will produce a record crowd in downtown Midland.

Practically all retail stores are participating in the Springtime $DOLLAR DAY$ attraction, offering special values in all lines of merchandise. It is expected to be the largest and most successful sales event so far this year in Midland.

Clary Found Guilty; Gets Life Sentence

COLORADO CITY—(AP)—A sentence of life imprisonment was assessed Saturday against Cliff Clary on charges he murdered his wife.

The Runtels County cowboy heard the jury's verdict shortly after midnight without visible emotion.

Mrs. Clary's body was found in the charred ruins of the couple's home after it burned Jan. 31, 1948.

The state had asked the death penalty. Clary was given a 99-year term in Runtels County previously but the case was reversed and transferred to Colorado City for retrial.

McCamey Bond Issue Approved

MCCAMEY—McCamey voters Saturday approved by a margin of more than two to one a major bond issue for city improvements. The issue was voted on in three propositions.

Proposition No. 1 was for the issuing of $164,000 in bonds for the refunding of old bonds. It carried by a margin of 190 to 80.

Proposition No. 2, $96,000 for the improvement of the city water system, was approved by a vote of 189 to 82.

Proposition No. 3 was for the issuing of $40,000 in bonds for improvements to the sanitary sewer system. It carried by 187 to 82.

Mild Weather To Continue In Texas

By The Associated Press

Texas weather was mild Saturday, with light showers falling along the eastern border from Texarkana to Brownsville.

Maximum temperatures ranged from 53 at Beaumont to 80 at Presidio, in West Texas. The Weather Bureau said there wouldn't be much change Sunday.

Police Search Fails To Find Missing Texan

DETROIT —(AP)— Police dug in the basement of a rambling old house in suburban Wyandotte Saturday night but failed to find any clues of a missing "lonely hearts" bridegroom.

Police Chief Martin Lilienthal said the search would continue elsewhere.

The missing man is Guy J. Moxley, 41, a native of Plainview, Texas, who disappeared March 23, 1949, three months after he was married.

Dedication Of School Plant Set

Midland's fine new high school plant will be open for public inspection next Saturday night following the staging of a formal dedication program beginning at 7:10 p. m. in the spacious auditorium.

George T. Abell, president of the Board of Education, said every resident of Midland and vicinity is invited and urged to attend the event and see and inspect the completely modern and well-equipped building and facilities. Every room and every department will be open to visitors, he said.

Warren Officials Visit PBE Holdings

Six officials of the Warren Petroleum Corporation and the Tulsa, Okla., Oil Corporation, Houston and Wichita Falls, spent Saturday night in Midland while on an inspection tour of producing properties and current drilling operations in the Permian Basin Empire.

The Warren Petroleum officials are W. K. Warren, Tulsa, president; Hugo A. Anderson, Chicago, a director; and J. E. Allison, Tulsa, vice president and general counsel. Anderson also is vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago.

County Influenza Cases Number 366

Three hundred sixty-six influenza cases and 18 cases of pneumonia were reported to the Midland County Health Unit last week, according to Dr. F. E. Sadler, director.

Other cases include streptococcus throat, six; mumps, three; chicken pox, 10, and scarlet fever, one.

U. S. Turns Down Hungarian Demand, Then Pussyfoots

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States indignantly rejected Saturday a Hungarian suggestion that the American Legation staff in Budapest be trimmed down on the ground that it is an anti-Communist spy nest.

The State Department disclosed this by publishing the text of a strongly worded reply to a note which Communist Hungary sent to Washington February 23. The Hungarian note asked the United States to consider reducing the legation staff.

Other Unions May Copy Coal, Seeking Bigger Cut Of Pie

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Even with the coal crisis apparently over, the nation faces a gloomy labor picture—disputes covering almost 8,000,000 workers could explode into big strikes.

Major strikes threats loom in the auto, railroad, maritime and telephone industries.

But there are tough labor relations disputes hapling up in many other industries, large and small.

M-G-M Has Big Job Keeping Dottie Lamour In Her Sarong

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Dorothy Lamour gave up her sarong four years ago with the cry that she was "sick of being typed" and that she wanted to play more serious roles.

There's a new plan on the market claiming to "restore the patient's emotional equilibrium and normal outlook on life." Just what Hollywood needs.

James Mason figures he's now a man of movie distinction—he wears a raincoat for a scene in U.I.'s "Death on a Sidewalk." "After all," he told me, getting his tongue caught in this cheek, "it's an actor's ability to wear a raincoat with a flare of indifference that makes him versatile."

There are no hands on any clocks in the backgrounds of "A White Rose for Julie." It's a long time eccentricity of director Johnny Farrow. He claims audiences never notice clocks anyway and they cause too much trouble because they have to be set and reset for every scene.

A news magazine's report that Glenn McCarthy may be "strapped for cash" despite his huge oil resources adds weight to a Hollywood rumor that there is an oil payoff to stars playing the Emerald Room of his Shamrock Hotel in Houston.

Columbia studio, with fingers crossed, is planning on Rita Hayworth's return to Hollywood in April, with a possible movie slated for Summer production. She's reading three scripts sent to her by the studio several weeks ago.

There's a bookmaker in town taking bets on the Oscar race. He lists Kirk Douglas, Brod Crawford and Richard Todd at even money.

It's now Kentucky Colonel Joan Leslie, she's hostess for the U. of Louisville basketball team here for a series of games with Loyola. John Ford and King Vidor are way ahead in a Screen Director's poll of 300 film critics who were asked to vote on the 10 best directing jobs of Hollywood's first 50 years.

Adelle Jergens says she was strolling across the RKO lot when a messenger boy barked at her. "Riff Raff! Riff Raff!" "Is that a wolf call?" she asked.

Alaska's Statehood Bid Faces Uncertain Fate In Upper House

WASHINGTON — Alaska's bid for statehood, approved in the House and endorsed by President Truman, headed Saturday for an uncertain fate in the Senate.

The House passed a statehood bill Friday 186 to 144 after a bitter fight. There were signs of even stronger Senate opposition.

Senator Butler (R-Neb.) predicted last year neither Alaska nor Hawaii would reach their statehood goals at this session of Congress.

Edmund Granger, who produced "Sands of Iwo Jima" will not do another service film. He says: "If the Army or Navy couldn't top Iwo for heroics, how can Hollywood do it?"

After passage of the Alaska bill, Farrington opened debate on the Hawaii measure. He said congressional committees for years have concluded that the Hawaiian Islands meet the qualifications for statehood.

The people of Hawaii, he added, have been led to believe that they would get statehood as soon as they had demonstrated their ability to manage their own affairs.

House passage of the Hawaii bill would dump both statehood measures in the lap of the Senate Interior Committee. Two years ago this committee, then headed by Butler, but now its ranking Republican member, allowed a House-passed Hawaii bill to die without action.

Business Analyst Sees Storm Clouds On Business Horizon

AUSTIN — (AP)—Clouds apparently are boiling up on the Texas business horizon.

The way business started the year off has University of Texas Bureau of Business Research Director John R. Stockton somewhat concerned despite almost unanimous forecasts for a rising trend to continue into 1950.

Not a big drop—but the factors behind it may be significant, Dr. Stockton thinks. Here's why. 1. It is the second straight month of decline.

January drops included retail sales, two per cent; industrial power consumption, 18 per cent; crude oil runs to mills, six per cent; electric power consumption, 11 per cent; freight car loadings, two per cent; crude petroleum production, 0.5 per cent.

Only increase was in building permits up $4.9 per cent. The industrial part of those figures show declines substantially greater than consumer expenditures.

The decline in January should be a warning to watch carefully for further developments that might signal a general decline in business.

Preacher Provides Unusual Slant To Oklahoma Politics

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP)—A handsome, red-haired preacher, his eye on the U. S. Senate, is giving Oklahoma something new in the way of politics.

The Rev. William H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church, one of Oklahoma City's largest, recently announced himself as a Democratic candidate for the Senate before a packed Sunday morning church service.

Political observers don't know what to make of Alexander. "Either he will sweep the state in a landslide, or he will be left far behind," they conclude.

The affable, 36-year-old native Missourian who once was offered a Hollywood movie contract, made interesting news stories almost immediately after his announcement.

One campaign plan is use of a helicopter to fly him about the state. But that may be abandoned as too expensive.

Alexander handed practical political speeches he endorsed more liberal treatment of negroes in Oklahoma—historically Southern in that respect.

If elected to the Senate, Alexander says he would keep his ministerial post by flying between here and Washington on weekends.

PICTURE OF THE MONTH AT The First National Bank "FRENCH LANDSCAPE" by Ferdinand Jean Monchablon Ferdinand Jean Monchablon (1854-1904), one of France's best-known landscape Artists, was born in Chantillon-sur-Saone (Vosges), the son of a prominent doctor. Drawn to Paris by his artistic vocation, he studied under Cabanel and Jean Paul Laurens at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, and made his debut in the gallery in 1881 with a portrait of a man. In 1882 he exhibited a "decoratif" panel. Soon he gave up figure painting for landscape where he was to find his strength and consequently acquired a great reputation. In 1886, Monchablon went to the Netherlands where he studied the art of the old Flemish Masters. His observations modified his style and brought him to a more precise rendering of nature and a certain flow of colors showing warmth and strength of brush strokes. His works are imposing in quality, not only in composition, colors and drawing, but also in sentiment and poetic feeling. The name of Jean Monchablon has found great response in countries other than France, and today his works are on exhibit in leading art galleries of the world. Midland Livestock Show

"We would be mighty happy if you men would come out to the stock show to see our club projects," Joe Winkler, president of the Midland Future Farmers of America Chapter, told Midland Rotarians at their meeting last Thursday.

He was referring to the annual Midland Livestock Show, a seven-county event, which will be held Monday and Tuesday at the Midland Fair Grounds on East Highway 80.

And Winkler doubtless was speaking for each and every FFA and 4-H Club member of Midland, Martin, Glasscock, Upton, Crane, Andrews and Ector Counties when he urged his listeners to attend the stock show. His invitation, too, reached out to every Midland citizen to attend and support the show, which is staged annually so that club members of this immediate vicinity may show their fat calves, lambs and barrows.

The 4-H and FFA youths have worked diligently in raising their choice animals and in preparing them for show, and they justly are proud of their achievements. The annual stock show gives them the opportunity of showing the results of their labors.

The show is deserving of the support—complete support—of every Midland resident. It is true that Midland business interests and individuals are most generous in financing the show, but financial support alone is not enough. Enthusiastic support and attendance at the Monday show and Tuesday afternoon sale are necessary if the show is to be a complete success.

The boys and girls who will have their fancy animals on display deserve that kind of support.

We hear, read and talk a whole lot about youth work and youth problems, but sometimes we completely overlook organizations which are carrying on successful programs which long have benefitted the youth of our land. The 4-H Club and the FFA are such organizations. More power to them and to their members.

Midland is proud to be host to the club members of Midland and six surrounding counties, their parents and supporters at the annual Midland Livestock Show. Every effort will be made to make the visitors feel perfectly at home in the friendly city of Midland, whose residents ever are anxious to welcome and entertain visitors.

The visiting youths may expect the unqualified support of Midlanders in making their 1950 stock show the best in history.

Welcome, 4-H Club members and Future Farmers of America. We will be seeing and visiting with you at the show and sale Monday and Tuesday.

DREW PEARSON ON 'The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND'

Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc. Drew Pearson says: Truman knows what he wants in AEC chairman—another Louis Johnson, maybe? FPC faces tough decision on extending natural gas pipelines into New England; Professor Einstein has a "girl friend."

WASHINGTON.—President Truman hasn't found the right man for Atomic Energy Commission chairman yet, but he did tell a White House visitor recently just what he's looking for. "I want a chairman who can sweep the commission out," Truman said. "And if he can't, he can lead the commission to a White House."

"Perhaps, what I need is to borrow Louis Johnson from the Pentagon," he added. The President revealed he had considered naming Commissioner Lewis Strauss as chairman, but finally decided to bring in a new figure not involved in the bitter backstage quarrels inside the commission.

White House personal assistant Don Dawson and John Steelman have urged the appointment of Gordon Dean, a comparatively new commissioner, as acting chairman during the tidying-up period. Dean was one of those who lipped up with Strauss against outgoing Chairman David Lilienthal.

Where Lewis And Operators Agree While John L. Lewis and the coal operators were making faces at each other regarding the coal strike, they have stuck together in a friendly partnership backstage over one phase of the coal industry. They have worked hand-in-glove to block the extension of natural gas pipelines into New England.

The battle they have been fighting comes to a head with a hearing before the Federal Power Commission this week, and with it will be decided two other important factors. They are: 1. Will New England, which has been losing industry to the South because of high costs, now get the benefit of cheap gas rates? 2. How will Nelson Lee Smith, Commissioner of the Federal Power Commission, vote? A resident of New Hampshire, Smith will be caught between his desire to help New England industry and conservative Republicans whom he does not want to antagonize at a time when he is about to come up for reappointment.

Ever since the Senate refused to confirm his old enemy, Leland Olds, last year, Chairman Smith has been leading a pleasant life. But beginning Tuesday with the hearing on the New England gas pipeline, Smith's happiness vanishes. So far, most northern areas in the United States have succeeded in breaking down John L. Lewis-coal operator opposition to natural gas pipelines. But not New England. When Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, now serving up New York State, applied to extend its pipeline into New England, it was opposed every step of the way by Boston Consolidated, the huge utility which supplies manufactured gas to greater Boston.

And for a very good reason. Boston Consolidated is owned by Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates, which in turn is owned by Koppers of Pittsburgh, which in turn is a part of the great Andrews W. Mellon industrial empire. Koppers is in the coal and coke business, and if cheap natural gas came to Boston it would have to junk its manufacturing plant there and lose its chemical sales.

So Eastern Gas and Fuel, appearing before the Federal Power Commission every two years ago, bluntly opposed natural gas pipelines for New England—the ground that these would hurt the coal business. More recently, however, Mellon's Eastern Gas and Fuel has adopted the strategy of "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em." So it has formed its own pipeline company, "Algonquin," and quickly applied to the Federal Power Commission for a license to run a pipeline into New England.

Some observers now wonder if Clark revived the basing-point bill because of his past connections with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, now facing trial before the Supreme Court for violating the same anti-trust laws which would be amended by the bill. Clark formerly was a vice president of Standard Oil of Indiana.

Week's Building Permits Are $160,166 To Bring Total For Two Months To $1,358,736

Midland building permits for the first two months of 1950 totaled $1,358,736, with the addition of $160,166 for the week ended Saturday.

Nine permits, totaling $31,000, were issued to R. M. King for construction of frame residences in the South Park Addition. Six of the permits were for houses 41 by 26 feet, and the permits were for $6,000 each. Locations of the six are: 1200, 1202, 1206, 1208, 1212 and 1214 South Dallas Street. Each of the other three permits was for $5,000. One, at 1210 South Dallas Street, is to be 35 by 27 feet. Each of the other two, at 1204 and 1216 South Dallas Street, will be 34 by 23 feet.

J. T. Champion was issued six permits, each for $5,000, total $30,000, for construction of frame residences, 25 by 32 feet, in Loma Linda Addition. Locations are: 400, 414, 416, 418, 420 and 422 East Magnolia Street.

Five permits totaling $41,700 were issued to Rodgers and Chesnut during the week. A permit for $9,500 was issued for a brick veneer residence, 37 by 54 feet, at 1405 West Storey Street. A $9,000 permit was issued for a brick veneer duplex, 46 by 41 feet, at 1123 North Carriazo Street, and another for $9,000 for a brick veneer one-family residence, 72 by 37 feet, at 1801 North Main Street. Rodgers and Chesnut also were issued a permit for $7,200 for a brick veneer residence, 30 by 35 feet, at 708 North Ainslie Street. The remaining permit was for $7,000, for a frame residence, 35 by 50 feet, at 710 North Ainslie Street.

Other permits of the week included: Paul Brooks, $8,000, the grocery store, 50 by 50 feet, at the corner of the Andrews Highway and West Michigan Street; Joe B. Wright, $8,000, brick veneer residence, 29 by 69 feet, at 1500 West Kentucky Street; George Glynn, $7,000, frame residence, 28 by 30 feet, 401 Neely Avenue; E. C. Ruhmann, $6,000, brick veneer residence, 32 by 40 feet, at 306 West Parker Street; Douglas Nix, $5,000, brick veneer garage and servants' quarters, 26 by 26 feet, at 1601 West College Street; Monte Bunch, $1,016, frame wash house, 10 by 20 feet, at 211 West Estes Street; E. C. Trice, $1,000, move frame servants' quarters, 14 by 34 feet, 811 South Mineola; Daryl Davis, $900, remodel office space, 23 by 28 feet.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority Written for NEA Service

The president of the American Contract Bridge League this year, Mr. Miles, Jr., of Virginia Beach, Va., is an executive of a large oyster business.

In today's hand Miles (East) had to execute a nice defensive play to defeat the contract. In response to his partner's diamond overcall Miles led the eight of diamonds. Declarer won the trick with the jack. Declarer could count only eight tricks, namely three diamonds, four hearts and the ace of clubs.

I will say this for the declarer—he picked out the only line of play in which he had a chance to make his contract. He was pretty sure that neither of his opponents held

So when declarer won the diamond trick with the ace, Miles threw away his ace of spades. Now when North led the third spade West won it with the queen, cashed two good diamond tricks and defeated the contract.

Had declarer been able to figure West for the king and one other club, he could have made his contract by going after the club suit. But as I said before, he elected to establish a spade trick and it took time to defend on the part of Miles to defeat the contract.

Senator Kerr Is Good Lobbyist For Oil And Gas Interests

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Oklahoma's 250-pound, six-foot multimillionaire Senator Robert S. Kerr admittedly has done a good job in selling his amendments to the Natural Gas Act. These amendments would have the effect of exempting independent natural gas producers from rate regulation by the Federal Power Commission.

Though it has been shown that the senator's own Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., of which he is president, might stand to benefit directly by passage of the legislation, no senator makes references to another if his remarks are "personal."

Senator Kerr, however, has been a good lobbyist in his own cause. He has had experience. He was president of the Kansas-Oklahoma division of the Oil and Gas Association for a number of years. This lobbying connection was used against him when he ran for governor of Oklahoma in 1942, but he beat it down.

An argument for his amendments that Kerr used on one New Deal senator was that natural gas was taken out of the ground, just like copper. There was no government regulation on copper mining, and the price allowed to seek its own level. Why, therefore, should there be regulation of natural gas production?

Nevertheless, when Federal Power Commission opposition to the price increase prohibited the Kerr amendments got a little too heavy, the senator modified his original proposal by a further amendment introduced early in February. It provides that if natural gas prices get out of line because of exemption from rate regulation, the Federal Power Commission shall make a study of the situation and file a report with the President and Congress.

You can well appreciate that it would take a long time to prepare such a report, and that the report would be worthless," says Charles H. Rhyne, Washington representative of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, in a special opinion on the Kerr amendments prepared for city attorneys. "The natural gas producers would put up a tremendous fight to prevent restoration of the law to its present status," he adds.

The natural gas industry's first efforts to amend the Natural Gas Act of 1938 go back to 1947. This was just after the Supreme Court had ruled in the Interstate vs. Federal Power Commission case. The court decided that FPC had authority to regulate rates charged for natural gas transported in interstate pipelines. It exempted only producers removed "at arm's length"—that is, independent from the distributors.

Original sponsor of a bill to amend the Natural Gas Act so as to offset the effect of the Supreme Court decision and subsequent FPC rulings was Republican Rep. Ross H. Riley of Oklahoma. It later was disclosed that Riley was an attorney for Cities Service, Republic Natural Gas, and Panhandle Eastern Pipeline. The Riley bill passed the House, but died in the Senate. Ironically, Kerr defeated Riley in the 1948 senatorial race.

When the 81st Congress came to town in 1949, new efforts were made to amend the Natural Gas Act. The Riley bill had been a tremendously complicated thing. Senator Kerr, however, had a simpler plan. He sent Azalea Palmer, his daughter, to the White House. She had been a member of the House of Representatives in 1949, and she had introduced a bill to amend the Natural Gas Act. The Kerr-Thomas bill was called up for Senate consideration several times, but never brought to a vote. The legislative situation now has changed, however, and there is a good chance of passage.

The Kerr-Thomas bill will have to go back to the House because of Senator Kerr's new amendment calling for a Federal Power Commission report in case natural gas prices get out of line. But House acceptance of this is considered certain. While President Truman let it be known he would veto the Riley bill if it passed in 1948, the new Kerr amendment now is claimed to make the bill acceptable to the White House.

In the meantime, the situation of the Federal Power Commission has changed. Senator Kerr was one of the leaders in opposing the reconfirmation of Leland Olds for another term on the commission. Olds had been a long-time better for greater conservation of natural gas resources and greater regulation for lower prices.

Appointment of the President's pal, ex-Senator Mon C. Wallgren, to succeed Olds, poses a new element of uncertainty. Now the commission will handle natural gas cases in the future. Last year, Commissioners Olds, Thomas C. Buchanan and Claude L. Draper had opposed the Kerr-Thomas-Harris amendments to the Gas Act. Chairman Nelson Leach Smith and Commissioner Harrington Wimberly supported them.

Incidentally, Wimberly was Senator Kerr's campaign manager in the 1948 senatorial election.

FINGERPRINTS Dont Lie By Rupert Hughes

Copyright 1950 by Rupert Hughes Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Police have found fingerprints on the base of the library telephone at the home of the murdered Wendell Palmer. Because the phone was the murder weapon, detective James Stivers says the prints will send down the guilty man. Meanwhile, police and reporters question Azalea Palmer, a member of the murder of Wendell Palmer, her fiance who was in disfavour with her father, have put ideas into their heads that he is a likely suspect.

anybody go into this house or come out of it lately?" One or two of the spectators had seen Azalea get out of Nadine's car, and later had seen her run up screaming, then go back inside again with Nadine. But one young boy—he was the son of Wendell Palmer's head gardener—peeped up.

"Me and Rosie Bannan here was out roller-skating along here," he pointed at a girl of his own age, and she nodded with a terrified importance. He went on, "I got to goin' so fast I couldn't stop, and Rosie was scootin' along after me like crazy."

"All of a sudden I saw I was gonna hit into something and break my fool neck maybe, when I saw a man just startin' up the steps. He turned back and flung out his hands and stopped me; and, while I was knockin' him almost down, he put out his other hand and caught Rosie by the wrist and stopped her. We knocked him down on the steps, but he was laughin'. When I told him I was much obliged for helpin' us, he just laughed and gave me a spank. Then he went on up the steps; and we went on skatin'."

This story seemed to give Kelso extraordinary pleasure. He asked the names and addresses of the children and wrote them down in his notebook. Then he called out with a strange avidity: "Did you recognize the man?" "I never saw him before," the boy said, and the girl added: "Neither."

making his notes a woman stepped forward with a plump importance. "I happened to be looking out of my window across the street to see if my husband was coming home. Just at that time I saw that man stop the children and start up the steps. He happened to look up and I caught his eye. I didn't know him personally, but I'd seen him at receptions and art exhibitions, and I recognized him as Paul Moody, the famous sculptor."

This name seemed to give Kelso amazing joy. He licked the pencil greedily before he wrote it down. "Paul Moody, eh? Seen enterin' the home shortly before the murder. Any further details, ma'am?"

RADIANT with her sudden excitement in the eyes of the excited spectators she said: "Well, I was kind of interested by seeing Paul Moody here and I watched him ring the doorbell. After a while the door was opened by Mr. Palmer himself. Of course I know him—knew him—being a neighbor. But only by sight, of course. He was not very friendly and not at all approachable, if you know what I mean. Not that I ever tried to force myself on Mr. Moody's face, that is. But he—Mr. Moody—kind of put his foot in the door and pushed him—Mr. Palmer—back, and went on in. And the door closed with a bang—I couldn't hear it, but I could see it."

"I know what you mean, ma'am," Kelso snapped. "Well, I couldn't hear what was said, of course, being at a distance—not that I would snoop or eavesdrop, of course, if you know what I mean. But Mr. Palmer didn't seem very glad to see Mr. Moody—did you know what I mean? Fact is, he seemed at him and said something in what looked like a very hostile manner. I thought he might have used a swearword, if you know—"

"Cripes!" Kelso mumbled. "Fact is, I could clearly see that he—Mr. Palmer, that is—tried to slam the door in his face—Mr. Moody—did you know what I mean? Moody—kind of put his foot in the door and pushed him—Mr. Palmer—back, and went on in. And the door closed with a bang—I couldn't hear it, but I could see it."

Both children nodded their heads and the girl added: "He was a awful nice man." "What did he look like?" asked Kelso, and the children told what they remembered. As Kelso was

New Reef Opener In C-N Scurry Rates 436 BOPD

Progress Petroleum Company of Texas No. 1 Buffalo, a new Canyon reef discovery in Central-North Scurry County, has rated a daily flowing potential of 436.08 barrels of 41.5-gravity oil, and no water. The 24-hour potential was calculated from 17 hours and 15 minutes actual flowing through a five-eighths inch choke. The flow was natural.

Gas-oil ratio was gauged at 730-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 320 pounds. Canyon reef pay was topped at 6,787 feet, on an elevation of 2,432 feet. Total depth is 6,900 feet. A five and one-half inch oil string was set at 6,782 feet.

Dry Holes Separates
This new producer is three miles north of the nearest producing well in the North Snyder-Canyon pool, and is separated from that field by two dry holes.

Exact location is 467 feet from south and east lines of section 565, block 97, H&T&C survey, and nine miles north of Snyder.

One location north of the discovery well, Progress has staked the No. 2 Buffalo, already reported. Two miles to the northwest, in a direct line, and half way to the Cogdell-Canyon reef pool in Central-South Kent County, Castleman & O'Neill No. 1 Feldman & Pardo has set casing in a porous reef section—high enough to be a possible producer.

Due to the irregularity of a reef formation, many theories are being offered as to the importance of these recent reef discoveries.

The Progress and Castleman & O'Neill wells could be the beginnings of separate pools, extensions to either the Cogdell or Scurry reefs; or links between the Cogdell-Canyon and North Snyder pools.

North Scurry Venture To Get East Offset

Castleman & O'Neill of Midland, and associates, are to start operations at once on their No. 2 Feldman & Pardo, which is to be a one-location east outpost to their No. 1 Feldman & Pardo, prospective Canyon reef lime discovery in Central-North Scurry County.

The new venture will be 833 feet from east and 467 feet from north lines of the north half of the southwest quarter of section 651, block 97, H&T&C survey.

Drilling to around 6,900 feet to test the Canyon reef will begin at once. The project is 15 1/2 miles north of Snyder.

Castleman & O'Neill, et al. No. 1 Feldman & Pardo has cemented a string of 1 1/2-inch casing at 6,740 feet. Total depth is 6,883 feet.

Will Test Soon
As soon as the plug cures it will be drilled out and operators will make production tests on the open hole. It is expected to develop commercial production—despite the fact that no drillstem tests were run before the pipe was cemented.

Official top of the Canyon reef line according to electric log is at 6,716 feet. Elevation is 2,443 feet. That gives a minus datum of 4,273 feet.

On that marker the No. 1 Feldman & Pardo is correlated to be 92 feet higher than the discovery well of the Cogdell-Canyon field, two miles to the northeast. It is also 81 feet high on the top of Canyon to that point in the north-west No. 1 Buffalo, flowing discovery from the reef three miles to southwest.

Pay Of 163 Feet
Drilling samples from the Castleman & O'Neill No. 1 Feldman & Pardo indicated that they carried petroleum and operators drilled 163 feet of the pay and then bottomed out.

The project quit a considerable distance above the point at which the Canyon water is expected.

This apparent new discovery is three miles north of the nearest completed producers on the north side of the North Snyder-Canyon field.

Its location is 2,173 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 651, block 97, H&T&C survey.

Discovery well of the Nichols pool is Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1 L. R. Nichols, which rated a daily pumping potential from Clear Fork perforations at 6,400-6,448 feet of 97 barrels of 34-gravity oil, plus 10.2 per cent water.

This new field is 23 miles west of Seminole, within two miles of the state line.

SW Kent Prospector Reaches Ellenburger

Slick-Moorman Oil Company, and associates, No. 1 E. E. Wallace, Southwest Kent County, northeast, three and one-half miles northeast of the Polar-Ellenburger field, and 860 feet from south and east lines of the north half of section 28, block 5, H&G&N survey, was bottomed at 7,693 feet in Ellenburger lime, and was conditioned the hole to run a drillstem test.

Unofficial top of the Ellenburger was called by some geologists to be at 7,588 feet. Elevation is 2,183 feet.

This prospector is 15 miles southeast of Clairmont.

Kelley Pool Assured Of One-Mile Flanker

An extension of approximately one mile to the northwest side of the Kelley-Canyon field in West-Central Scurry County has been indicated at Wilshire Oil Company No. 8 Lunsford.

This development is 467 feet from north and west lines of the north-west quarter of section 253, block 97, H&T&C survey, and six miles northwest of Snyder.

It topped the Canyon reef at 6,797 feet, on an elevation of 2,539 feet. Five and one-half inch casing was set at 6,716 feet. Elevation is 2,443 feet. That gives a minus datum of 4,273 feet.

The vent is coring ahead below 6,921 feet in porous lime. It will core to about 6,900 feet and then set casing and complete.

No drillstem tests have been run on this exploration since it entered the Canyon reef. However, drilling samples and cores show strong evidences of production.

Deep Scurry Test Has Slight Strawn Shows

On a drillstem test in the Lower Strawn, Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Oddie West, Ellenburger wildcat in Northeast Scurry County, recovered 60 feet of oil and gas cut mud.

Section tested was at 7,443-7,576 feet. Tool was open two hours. Flowing bottom hole pressure was 125 pounds, and shut-in pressure was 200 pounds.

How The Navy's 'Break-Away' Cockpit Works

These sketches show the working of a new "break-away" cockpit unit, designed by the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics to allow pilots of high-altitude super-sonic planes to escape in emergencies by means of a parachute-borne "pod." The pressurized pod (1) is ejected from the plane's main body; a small, "drogue" parachute is released (2); the drogue chute operates mechanism which releases the main chute (3), which then billows out (4) to drop the pod gently to earth or water (5). In water landing, the pilot releases his chute and pod serves as life-boat.

Oil, Gas Journal Editor Lauds R-T Progress Edition

Praise for The Reporter-Telegram's Golden Fifties Oil Progress Edition, published last Sunday, was sounded in a letter received by Publisher James N. Allison from Charles J. Deegan, of Tulsa, associate editor of the Oil and Gas Journal, semi-official, industry-wide publication of the petroleum industry.

Deegan's letter follows: "Your Golden Fifties Oil Progress Edition" of the 26th has been received and almost literally devoured from beginning to end. Probably only those of us in the business could follow either of two courses. It could take the easy way, and consider accurate, timely coverage of such big projects as Permian Basin oil entirely too difficult and too big for anything smaller than a metropolitan newspaper with a large staff.

Second Course
"Or, it could take, as you have done, the second course. This second course is to accept the responsibility, and through hard work by a comparatively small staff of intelligent people, keep its readers in step with the terrific pace of the growth of Permian Basin oil."

"Professionally, the highest and most sincere compliment I can pay you is this: I have checked your 'Golden Fifties Oil Progress Edition' diligently, to see whether The Oil and Gas Journal has missed anything of vital significance during the past year; and to get clues as to what the Journal should watch in the future."

Area Changes Made By British-American
British-American Producing Company has named J. E. Matter area exploration manager for North and West Texas and Southeast New Mexico.

Before his transfer to the Mid-Continent Division, Matter was on the west coast, with the British-American Western Division.

He graduated from the University of California, with a degree in geology.

Matter is now stationed in the area office in Fort Worth.

British-American also has assigned C. Harrison Cooper to the West Texas and New Mexico area. He will serve as area geologist, stationed in Abilene.

Cooper was transferred from the Kansas-Oklahoma district of British-American.

He is a geology graduate of the University of Oklahoma.

San Andres Project Staked In SW Kent
Keweenaw Oil Company No. 2-A Wil, (Connell) is to be a 2,400-foot exploration in the Polar area of Southwest Kent County to explore into the San Andres lime of the Permian.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 3, block 5, H&G&N survey. Drilling with combination tools is to start immediately. The drillsite is 16 miles southwest of Clairmont.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Concern Over Oil Price Slump Striking Close To Home; Cuts Reported

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON —(AP)— Fear of an oil price slump is striking close to home, the oil-rich Southwest. Oil men have kept a close eye on price fluctuations ever since production hit the skids early last year. Adjustments have been numerous in Midwestern and Eastern consumer areas.

Several companies last week cut 15 cents off their per barrel prices on No. 6 Bunker C fuel oil, an old, popular fuel used particularly by ocean vessels.

Announcements for three of the companies joining the parade were made in Texas.

The economic importance of bunker fuel to the industry is a far cry from crude oil or gasoline, but one major oil company spokesman has said this reaction: "It is a definite sign of distress."

Another spokesman said the 15-cent bunker cut seems to be the first step in a general reduction.

Some were not too pessimistic, saying bunker fuel prices are controlled by the Atlantic Coast market, with changes not necessarily indicative of changes in other petroleum products.

Upsurge in Concern
Regardless of opinions on the significance of the change, there was an upsurge in concern over prices in general.

Industry economists long have predicted the crisis will come for crude and gasoline—this Spring if market demand has not leveled off.

Texas last week began its twelfth production cutback on 15 months, this time a big 92,000 barrel daily. Louisiana's March allowable was 42,000 barrels daily below February.

K. S. Adams, president of Phillips Petroleum Company, discusses the market and price situation in his latest monthly "Philnews" note to employees.

He said the loss of much of the normal domestic market to foreign buyers is curtailing production severely.

He added: "Unless imports are now reduced substantially, the oil industry faces the prospects of reduced prices for crude oil."

Wildcat In C-SE Chaves Swabbing Siluro-Devonian

HOBBES, N. M.—Value of a show of oil in the Siluro-Devonian lime at Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 State, Central-Southeast Chaves County wildcat will be determined in the near future.

This prospector, located 18 miles southeast of Roswell and 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 13-11a-27e, drilled to a bottom of 6,883 feet in granite.

It did not have any indications of oil or gas below the Siluro-Devonian section and it plugged back to 6,563 feet. A string of 7-inch casing was cemented at 6,490 feet. The plug has been drilled and operator was swabbing to test naturally. At last report there was about 300 feet of oil standing in the hole and each pull of the swab was bringing out some oil.

The section was showing sufficient gas to kick out some oil after each run of the swab.

To Acid Wash
Operator was preparing to wash the open hole with mud acid and then swab further.

Several hundred feet of free oil was recovered in two drillstem tests on this section now being investigated, prior to the time the casing was set and cemented.

Before entering the granite at 6,828 feet, his wildcat drilled through a section of barren dolomite which most geologists think was Ellenburger.

Vilas P. Sheldon No. 1 Amerada-State is to be a 3,600-foot wildcat in Central-South Lea County to explore into the Yates sand of the upper Permian.

It is two miles southwest of production from the Yates in the Lynch field, and it is located 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 13-21a-33e. Drilling is to begin in the near future.

Teague Deep Pay Opened
Gulf Oil Corporation has completed its No. 11 LaMunyon as the first producer from the Ellenburger in the Teague field of Southeast Lea County.

The Teague field has heretofore produced from the Simpson section of the middle Ordovician, which is above the Ellenburger.

Gulf No. 11 LaMunyon is located 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 27-23a-37e. That makes it 10 miles north and slightly east of Jai.

This vent is perforated section in the Ellenburger at 9,700-50 feet, for a daily initial production of 396 barrels of 45-gravity oil, flowing through a three-quarter inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 962-1.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 23-19b-38e. The Texas Company No. 1 Ertel, one and one-half miles northwest of the Knowles-Devonian field in Central-East Lea County, was making hole below 12,945 feet in lime.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 27-16a-38e.

The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Denton is to be a northeast outpost to the discovery well of the Denton field in Central-East Lea County.

It is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 11-15a-37e. That makes it approximately one-quarter of a mile northeast of the initial producer in the Denton field, which is about 15 miles northeast of Lovington.

The Ohio prospector is due to dig to about 12,000 feet to explore the Devonian.

No. 1 Waller Abandoned
McAlester Fuel Company No. 1 Waller, about one mile west and slightly south of the Denton field discovery and 600 feet from north and east lines of section 15-15a-37e, has been junked and abandoned on a total depth of 12,015 feet in an unidentified lime.

This project was extremely low. It had trouble with maintaining circulation of drilling fluid, and finally it was unable to fish out tools which had been lost in the hole.

Its geological position indicated that it would not produce if it had been carried down to the Devonian.

Line Test Deepens
Union Oil Company of California No. 1 O. C. Harty, staked 7,500-foot wildcat in Central-East Lea County, 10 miles southeast of Hobbs, and less than one mile west of the Gaines County, Texas, line, had cased 6,260 feet in the middle Permian lime, and was making more hole.

This development had shown good shows of the possible discovery of commercial production from the San Andres lime in the zone at 4,345-62 feet.

Considerable gas and 900 feet of free oil, plus 400 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud was recovered in a drillstem test on that interval.

The prospector is to drill ahead to explore the lower Permian. It is 1,980 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of section 5-20a-39e. Wildcat is Roosevelt.

W. J. Peterman has started operations at his No. 1 McCabe, Feltus and Hilburn which is slated to be a 5,000-foot wildcat in Central-West Roosevelt County, according to unofficial sources.

It is 25 miles southwest of Portales and at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 31-2a-31e. It had spudded and drilled below 516 feet in redbeds, at last report, and was making more hole.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Hobbs, wildcat in Central-Northwest Eddy County, about 20 miles southwest of Artesia, which is projected to 11,000 feet, had reached 8,875 feet in lime and shale and was continuing to drill deeper.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 24-20a-24e.

Tax Angle In Leases To Be Discussed At Monday PBLA Meet

"Oil and Gas Lease Transactions From a Tax-Wise Angle" will be discussed by Kenneth G. Miller at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer at the Permian Basin Landmen's Association dinner meeting.

Miller, an attorney and tax specialist, recently moved to Midland from Houston.

Each member of the association will be allowed to bring one guest, according to officials of the organization.

Reservations should be made in advance with Maurice W. Kennedy, secretary of the PBLA. Harry H. Lawson, president of the body, will preside at the Monday night meeting.

It costs an average of 45 cents per pound to cut and wrap meat for self-service counters, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Barnsdall Plans North Snyder Gasoline Plant

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Railroad Commission will hold a hearing here March 23 on application of the Barnsdall Oil Company, for permission to install a gasoline plant in the North Snyder field, Scurry County.

Other hearings include: March 23 — Application of the Forest Oil Corporation for the adoption of field rules for the TXL Upper Clear Fork field, Ector County.

March 23 — Application of Southland Royalty Company, for adoption of field rules for the Todd Deer (Ellenburger and Crinoidal) fields, Crockett County.

Phillips To Recognize Bullard For Service
Walter J. Bullard, 3606 North Muskogum, Odessa, is soon to receive a 25-year award for service with Phillips Petroleum Company.

Bullard went to work with the company in 1935 as a laborer at the City plant near Graham, Texas. During his service with Phillips, Bullard has worked as laborer, line-walker, engine operator, still operator, boiler and pump repairman, and magnetite repairman. The job he now holds at the Odessa plant.

We are glad to announce that we can now offer financing of any size on Production and Development, to the Oil Industry of the Permian Basin.

We have arrangements with the largest oil banks in the Southwest to participate with us, thereby giving you the advantage of unlimited resources. At the same time you have the further advantage of dealing with your local banker who knows and understands your problems.

We invite you to discuss your production and development program with us.

New Reef Opener

with 875 sacks. Operators are waiting on the cement to set.
This deep venture is 11 1/2 miles southwest of the city of Midland, and 680 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 10, M. Daugherty survey.
Slotted depth for the project is 13,800 feet.

Nine Field Sites Staked In Scurry

Nine proven and edge-well sites have been staked in the Canyon reef oil fields of Scurry County.

Of the proposed ventures, six will be in the Kelley Canyon field, two in the Diamond M. field, and one in the North Snyder field.

On the east edge of the Kelley Blanco Oil Company and A. A. Buchanan, and others, is to be 2,641.7 feet from east and 2,038.1 feet from north lines of section 14, block 1, J. P. Smith survey. It will be three miles west of Snyder.

Ohio Oil Company has staked its No. 1 M. A. Garden on the northwest edge of production in the Kelley. It will be 467 feet from south and 2,173 feet from west lines of section 283, block 97, H&TC survey. This places it five miles northwest of Snyder.

Another Edge Well
In the same section and one location north, Hlawatha Oil & Gas Company will drill its No. 1 M. A. Garden, to be 1,980.8 feet from east and 1,983.4 feet from east lines of section 283.

On the northwest edge of the Diamond M. pool, Cities Service No. 5-H Johnson is scheduled to be 1,450 feet from south and east lines of the north half of section 200, block 97, H&TC survey. It will be 14 miles southwest of Snyder.

In order to drill out proven area, Tide Water Associated Oil Company has staked two locations in the north part of the Kelley field. Tide Water No. 6 Stoker will be in section 17, and 467 feet from north and 1,526 feet from west lines of tract 27, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Tide Water No. 7 Guy Stoker is to be 315 feet from east and 1,662 feet from south lines of the northwest quarter of section 16, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Both ventures are approximately two miles north of Snyder.

For Andreas Lease
Cities Service Oil Company will drill its No. 3 Andreas in the Kelley pool, 467 feet from south and east lines of the north half of section 251, block 97, H&TC survey, which places it five miles northwest of Snyder.

R. B. & W. A. Moncrief, Jr., No. 2 C. M. Payne will be drilled 467 feet from north and west lines of section 179, block 3, H&GN survey, on the east side of the Kelley field and two miles north of Snyder.

The Pure Oil Company, No. 2 R. W. Boyd will be drilled in the Diamond M. field, eight miles west of Snyder.

Drill site is to be 660 feet from south and west lines of section 214, block 97, H&TC survey.

Scurry Pools Get Four New Producers

Information acquired from the Railroad Commission of Texas lists four new producers in Scurry County oil fields.

Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 4 Guy Stoker has rated a daily potential of 1,272.32 barrels of 44-gravity oil and no water. Production was natural through a three-fourths inch choke.

Gas-oil ratio was 823-1. Pay was topped at 6,615 feet and total depth is 6,712 feet. A seven-inch oil string was set at 6,617 feet.

Location is 467 feet from west and 2,238.1 feet from south lines of section 16, block 1, J. P. Smith survey, and on the northeast side of the Kelley field.

In the Diamond M. Canyon Lime, Sun Oil Company No. 3-OG Boyles flowed naturally on a 24-hour potential of 229.08 barrels of 43.7-gravity oil, and no water.

Flow was through a one-fourth inch choke, and gas-oil ratio was 1,037-1.

Pay was topped at 6,648 feet, and total depth is 6,740 feet. A five and one-half inch oil string was set at 6,643 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the lease in section 201, block 97, H&TC survey, North Snyder Completions.

Two new wells have been completed in the North Snyder field. Johnston & Johnston No. 3 Wade has rated a natural flowing daily potential of 2,170.08 barrels of 43.8-gravity oil, and no water.

Flow was through a three-fourths inch choke, and gas-oil ratio was 930-1.

Pay was topped at 6,712 feet, and total depth is 6,902 feet. A five and one-half inch oil string was set at 6,717 feet.

Location is 467 feet from north and 1,667 feet from west lines of the lease in the south half of section 159, block 3, H&GN survey.

Lone Star Producing Company No. 2 R. W. Webb produced on a 24-hour potential of 994.4 barrels of 43.9-gravity oil, and no water. The well had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid before the test. Production flowed through a one-half inch choke, and gas-oil ratio was 678-1.

Pay was topped at 6,587 feet, and total depth is 6,820 feet. A seven-inch oil string was at 6,820 feet, and production was through perforations.

Location is 467 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 17, J. P. Smith survey.

Ellenburger Yields Water In Schleicher

E. M. Wahlenmaier and Morgan, Alkman & Company No. 1 Jackson, Northeast Schleicher County wildcat, developed salt water in a drill-stem test in the Ellenburger at 5,815-6,000 feet.

Length of the test was reported. Recovery was 1,900 feet of drilling mud and 2,080 feet of salt water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Top of the Ellenburger was at 5,802 feet, datum point of minus 3,228 feet.

The project is to be plugged back to 5,150 feet to test a zone at 5,050-5,150 feet, which had some oil stains in drill-stem samples.

The prospector is located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 46, block H, GH&CA survey.

SE Borden Flanker Abandoned In Reef

An east flanker to the Von Roder-Canyon pool in Southeast Borden County has proven a failure. R. E. Smith of Houston No. 1 C. V. Thompson will be abandoned at 7,381 feet in the Lower Canyon.

The failure is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 102, block 25, H&TC survey, and four miles west of production in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field in Scurry County.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation has staked a one location south of section 102, block 25, H&TC survey, which was recently completed for flowing production of 185 barrels of 38.8-gravity oil, plus 33 barrels of salt water daily.

The south outpost will be Amerada No. 1 Cora Weathers, located 1,958 feet from west and 666 feet from north lines of section 94, block 25, H&TC survey.

NE Mitchell Tester Fails In Ellenburger

William Hamm, Jr., of Fort Worth is preparing to abandon his No. 1 J. Miller in the Ellenburger of Northeast Mitchell County.

Electric surveys were being run at 7,529 feet. The Ellenburger was topped at 7,492 feet, with an elevation of 4,193 feet.

Salphur water was recovered on a one-hour drill-stem test at 7,494-7,529 feet. No production possibilities were logged in any formation drilled.

Location of the failure is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 38, block 26, T&P survey, and two miles east of Colorado City.

Oil Producers In Scurry Form Conservation Group

The final organizational meeting of oil operators in the Scurry County area interested in forming a cooperative engineering committee has been scheduled for March 8 at Midland.

The engineering committee will be composed of present and potential operators in Scurry County fields, and possibly those of adjoining counties, and will have as its purpose the collection and dissemination of factual data on a field-wide basis for conservation purposes.

The first meeting of the operators was held in Midland February 8 and was attended by representatives of 31 operators in Scurry County.

GCM&S Officials Check Area Activity

A group of officials of the Gulf Coast Machine & Supply Company of Beaumont, is visiting in Midland and checking on conditions in the petroleum industry in the Permian Basin.

That concern sells large quantities of equipment to various branches of the industry. George Bennett of Midland is the company's representative in this area.

In the party of GCM&S visitors are C. H. LeBlanc, president, and Tom Balmer, chief engineer, both of Beaumont; and Leonard Cowan of Fort Worth, who is in charge of the company's Fort Worth District.

Shell Ten-And-Over Club Initiates New Members

Thirty-two new members were initiated into Shell Oil Company's Midland Area Ten-and-Over Club at the organization's fourth annual banquet held Saturday night in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Scharbauer in Midland.

A total of 3639 years of company service was represented by the 218 members of the club. Membership includes 212 men and 6 women.

M. A. Sherwood, chief mechanical engineer, served as master of ceremonies for the evening and introduced the new members, employees with 30 years service with the company, employees who celebrate their 25th service anniversaries this year, and the club's annuitants.

The initiation ceremony was led by comedian and magician Seymour Davis, professional entertainer from Oklahoma City. One of the highlights of the program was Davis' comedy piano act, "Prof. Ignatz Baderwisky."

New members welcomed into the organization were: F. C. Pyfer, S. T. Allega, E. L. Cook, W. W. Ware, M. M. Fairchild, D. H. Trahan, H. J. Hermeling, K. L. Fowler, H. J. Jaur, production in Odessa, J. M. Gist, R. F. Madera, L. Henson, J. L. Kennedy, J. H. O'Neal of production at Denver City; W. I. Boyd and E. B. Oden, gas plant, Denver City; C. W. Stout, L. O. Storm, J. K. Fevehouse, and W. C. McSpadden, production of Hobbs; J. P. Guess and M. L. Pierce, production at McCamey; D. H. Lewis of the gas plant at Notrees; and D. J. White, Seismic Party No. 22.

Those from the Midland office included: R. C. Spivey, exploration; J. P. MacEachern, production; J. V. Lindsey and S. D. Ballard, Land; C. L. Thomas, Legal; W. D. K. Goodson and W. W. Hendricks, Treasury; and Everett Sweet of the Auditing Staff, New York.

Area Manager B. L. Ryan, Midland; N. Wallace, Automotive, Midland; G. L. Buland, gas, Denver City; J. B. Kimrey, production, Midland; and L. D. Rhodes, production, Odessa; were honored for having been with the company 30 years as of this year.

Annual Meeting Of TIPRO To Be Held In Dallas On Wednesday And Thursday

AUSTIN — Final plans for the fourth annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, to be held in Dallas on Wednesday and Thursday, has been announced.

Approximately 600 persons are expected to attend the two-day session. It will begin at 10 a. m. Wednesday with meetings of the six standing committees.

Business session begins at 9:30 a. m. Thursday. E. L. Smith of Dallas will preside in the morning gathering over the reports of organization, budget and finance, and membership committees. Ladies will leave the Baker Hotel headquarters at 11:30 a. m. for a luncheon at Brook Hollow Country Club.

Larson Will Speak
At the men's luncheon, Jess Larson, administrator of General Services in Washington, will describe what he, as head of the first major Hoover - Commission - sponsored agency, and others are doing to eliminate red tape and cut government housekeeping costs. Presiding at the luncheon will be Ben H. Wooten of Dallas.

At the afternoon business session, reports of the resolutions, nomination and election of officers, will be presented.

Beleau Is Stanolind Production Chief; Replaces Campbell

Fred C. Beleau is the new district superintendent of the producing department of Stanolind Oil & Gas Company in Midland. He succeeds Tom B. Campbell, who resigns on March 1 to go in business for himself.

A Midland producing district includes area offices located at Andrews, North Cowden, Wink and Inman. He supervises the drilling and producing operations of the company in this area.

Beleau came to Midland from Calgary, Canada, where he spent the past year as Stanolind's division drilling superintendent.

He started in the oil business with the old Midwest Refining Company in 1922 in the Rocky Mountain area, and transferred to Stanolind when it absorbed Midwest.

Campbell had been district superintendent in Midland for Stanolind since July 1948. He joined that concern in November, 1945, following his release from military service.

Before the war he was with Cities Service Oil Company and prior to his connection with that company spent several years with the old Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company.

During his service with Stanolind he served as an engineer in the company's headquarters at Tulsa; as a district engineer at Corpus Christi; division engineer at Houston, and district superintendent in Midland.

He will continue as consulting engineer and continue to live in and operate out of Midland. He plans to open a downtown office as soon as suitable quarters can be secured. He is temporarily officing at his home at 1804 West Louisiana Ave.

Basin Drilling Rigs Now Number 525

Drilling activity in the West Texas Southeast New Mexico area showed a slight increase during the period between February 15 and March 1. On the latter date, 525 rotary drilling rigs were active in the region, compared with 520 units on February 15.

The March 1, 1950 total on the item was an increase of 149 units over the 376 active rotaries in the two-state region on March 1, 1949.

Drilling in Scurry County kept on an even keel during the period between the middle of February and the first of March. There were 173 active rotaries listed in that county on both February 15 and on March 1.

These figures are from the regular survey of Reed Roller Bit Company. Timing, so as to catch insect pests at their most vulnerable stage, is important in spraying.

Washington Oil— Cannon Resolution For Industry Inquiry Gets Slight Consideration

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
WASHINGTON—The Cannon resolution for a top to bottom $25,000 Federal Trade Commission inquiry into the petroleum industry is meeting a cool reception in Congress. Aim would be to carve out a national oil policy.

The House Commerce Committee, which was assigned the resolution, already is in the midst of a full scale study into the petroleum industry. It is said to oppose additional studies into oil.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the oil subcommittee explains: "We are making an overall study of petroleum right now. The agencies of government are coming before this committee. The industry people are coming in. We hope to come up with a constructive and helpful national oil policy."

Delayed Action
While the committee has made no move to consider the Cannon proposal, but before Congress 10 days ago, there is doubt that Cannon, himself, means business. If he has, he might have tried to steer his measure to the House Judiciary Committee, either by asking that, or wording it that it would normally go there. The Judiciary committee, under Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D-NY) would be kinder to the proposal.

Importance is attached to the resolution because of the author, Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), who is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and thus a man of parts in Washington.

Cannon Statement
In offering the plan, Cannon said in a statement that a small handful of major oil companies own or control 83 per cent of the crude oil reserves of America. He said they "control the import" of oil. He added, they are "destroying competition" and "maintain unreasonable prices on crude oil" which led to the closing of 150 independent refineries in the last 18 months.

Therefore, he proposed, the PTC shall get the facts on "monopoly" on price fixing and unreasonable price with proration, on virtues of divorce of production, refining, transportation and marketing of oil, on imports and cartels. It also shall make recommendations.

It is understood Cannon acted at the request of the Missouri Farmers Association, a cooperative which has interests in petroleum refineries. Some of its refineries, squeezed between crude oil prices and falling product prices, have closed up.

Industry Problems
The oil imports crisis, the threats against the 27.5 per cent depletion allowance, and the British embargo

On depletion, the CIO Oil Workers International Union, in a policy meeting at Denver last week, refused to join the battle to save the present income tax provision affecting oil and gas producers. The national CIO has asked elimination of the allowance, and the oil workers refused to go against their leaders. This is despite the fact any lowering of the allowance may cost them jobs.

Closing Date Set For NM Lease Bids

Sealed bids for oil and gas leases on Navajo reservation and allotted lands in New Mexico will be accepted until 2 p. m. March 28, announced the Navajo agency.

Reservations lands being offered adjoin the present Table Mesa lease which is about 15 miles south of Shiprock, N. M. The spread totals 3,080 acres.

Allotted lands are offered in 43 separate units in a scattered area in north San Juan and western Sandoval counties. These total approximately 21,500 acres.

The units are offered separately for the highest cash bonus, in addition to the regular stipulated production royalties of 12 1/2 per cent and rentals of $1.25 an acre annum.

City Cage Loop Finishes Monday; Playoffs Follow

The City Cage League comes down to the wire in regular play with a double-header scheduled Monday night in the Junior High School Gymnasium.

Monday night's games will have little effect on the outcome of the league. The playoff berths already have been decided.

Undeclared Rotary Engineers, with a nine and nothing record, has clinched first place. Ted Thompson has nailed down second.

Watkins Mobil and the JayCees also have clinched places in the playoffs. However, the two teams meet Monday night and could finish in a tie for third. The JayCees are ahead at present.

Mid-West Lumber and the VFW have no chance left to get into the playoffs.

Price Leading Scorer
Roy Price of Watkins Mobil apparently has clinched the individual scoring honors for the second year in a row. He has one game to go and currently is leading the race by more than 20 points.

Monday night's card sends together Rotary Engineers and Ted Thompson in what promises to be a real fight. The Thompsonmen will be out to mar Rotary's undefeated record and it isn't impossible that they do it.

Mobil and the JayCees meet in the last game.

League Director Pat McMullan said the playoffs probably will get underway Wednesday night. A best two-out-of-three series will be played in the first round and in the finals.

The standings follow:

Team	W	L
Rotary	9	0
T. Thompson	7	2
JayCees	5	4
Mobil	4	3
Mid-West	3	7
VFW	0	10

Kentucky Derby To Draw From Field Of 134 Top Racers

LOUISVILLE—(AP)—The 1950 Kentucky Derby, to be run May 6, will draw its field from 134 three-year-old thoroughbreds that include the champions of 1949 juvenile racing.

Churchill Downs announced the nominees Saturday. There were three fillies and 121 colts and geldings. The total is 21 more than the total number of entries made eligible for last year's Golden Jubilee Derby.

In keeping with the tradition of America's most famous race, hardly an important name among the top stars of the previous year's freshman campaigners was withheld from eligibility.

King Ranch named its Middle-ground, top-weighted colt in the experimental handicap.

The field is strengthened further by the nomination of Your Host, the West's champ two-year-old and winner of the recent $100,000 Santa Anita Derby.

Oil Capitol and Wisconsin Boy, leading Middlewestern campaigners; Mucho Mas and Stranded, tops in New England; and Hill Prince and Quis Show, the Mr. Big of juvenile racing in New Jersey last year, are among the other nominees.

Golf Events For Ladies Announced

A slate of golf activity of interest to women in Midland Country Club has been announced by Shirley Culbertson, co-chairman for golf in the Ladies Golf Association.

A flag tournament for women club members will be held Wednesday with play scheduled to start at 10 a. m. Entries should be turned in to Pro J. C. Hardwick at the Golf Shop, Friday.

Dates for the annual Midland Country Club Women's Tournament have been set for April 25-29. A large number of entries is expected.

The Southwestern Ladies Golf Tournament is scheduled in Tucson, Ariz., March 29-April 2. Women golfers from Midland may enter. Full information on the event can be obtained from Hardwick.

Regular golf classes for women are conducted at MCC each Friday morning.

Grid Problems To Be Discussed At District 5-A Meets

KERMIT—Details of the District 5-A commissioner system of appointing football officials during the 1950 season will be discussed at two meetings to be held this week.

Pat Patterson of Odessa, commissioner, will meet with two groups to explain policies to be used.

Members of the Midland-Odessa chapter of the Southwest Officials Association will meet at 8 p. m. Monday in the Elliott Hotel in Odessa.

The other meeting will be attended by representatives of schools in District 5-A. It is scheduled Wednesday in Kermit.

Patterson is expected to call a joint meeting of the two groups later.

The term "all-electronic" as now applied to television means that no moving part, such as a motor, is used in reproducing pictures.

Hardy Jim

Passer Jim Hardy is just that as he looks for an even harder receiver on slopes of Sun Valley, Idaho. The quarterback of the professional Chicago Cardinals is an accomplished skier as well as a standout football player.

RED CAMELIA WINS NEW ORLEANS 'CAP

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Red Camelia won the $25,000 New Orleans Handicap Saturday in the mud at the Fair Grounds track. The Joe W. Brown entry ran the mile and 1/16th in 1:49.2 5/8, paying $7.80, $4.20 and $3.00. Blue Thanks was second and Dart By third. The favored John's Joy was scratched.

Jersey Joe Kayoes Cuban, Wants Joe Or Ezzard Charles

NEW YORK—(AP)—"I want Ezzard Charles or Joe Louis soon." The speaker was Jersey Joe Walcott.

This is where we all came in. After all, the ancient ringman lost twice to Louis and once to Charles, the NBA champion. But maybe the 36-year-old Camden, N. J., papa makes a little sense.

Jersey Joe, who admits to 36 years, made his speech Friday night after stopping Omelio Agramonte, the Cuban heavyweight champion, in 2:11 of the seventh round of their feature bout at Madison Square Garden. Walcott, one to four favorite, outweighed the Cuban 188 to 183 1/4.

"Aggie" is rated seventh among the world's heavies by Ring Magazine, the boxing bible, and about the same by the NBA. Yet the Cuban looked like a novice against Walcott.

GIRLS CAGE TOURNAMENT OPENS WEDNESDAY

WACO—(AP)—First round pairings of the annual state tournament of the High School Girls Basketball League of Texas opening here Wednesday were set Friday.

The defending champion is Seagoville of Dallas County.

First round winners play quarter-finals Thursday night.

Championship games will be played Saturday night.

TEXAN TO PRESIDE

AUSTIN—(AP)—Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, will preside at the fifteenth annual North American Wildlife Conference to be held in San Francisco this week.

BOWLING

Mea-Co was the hottest team in the City Major League last week as it knocked off Tommie's Electric in three games and moved into second place in the standings.

Dunagan Sales clipped Banner in two games to move up to third ahead of Tommie's Electric.

Houston Hill held first place by taking two games from Pabat Blue Ribbon.

Perman Mud Service rocked The Reporter-Telegram in two games. Mea-Co won high team series with 2,812 and high team game with 1,013.

King's 226 was good for high individual game and Jack Mashburn won high series with a 592.

The standings:

Alice To Try For Rio Grande League

ALICE—(AP)—A mass meeting is scheduled next Tuesday night here to decide whether Alice enters the Rio Grande Valley League.

There now are seven clubs. The Alice effort will be league President Bill Byrd's last chance to round out the circuit.

American Legion held on to the lead in the Civic Bowling League last week but only by the scant margin of one game. The Legion swept three games from the Eagles.

The Lions stayed close with a sweep of three games from the Jay-Cees.

The Kiwanians won two from the Optimists and the VFW took three from the Wranglers.

Berte Haigh, one of Midland's veteran bowlers, swept individual honors with 668 for high series and 219 for high game.

The Kiwanis Club won high team series with a 2,491 and the Optimists rolled 855 for high game.

The standings:

Team	W	L

Basketball Lettermen Announced

Basketball Coach Jack Mashburn Saturday announced 12 cage lettermen for the 1950 season and said awards for those eligible probably will be presented late this week.

Members of the basketball team who received jackets as football lettermen are not eligible for cage awards due to an Interscholastic League ruling limiting the amount of money to be spent for awards.

Lettermen Listed
White sweaters with "M" insignia will be awarded to seven cagers and Manager Ronnie Estell.

Lettermen are Ollie Phillips, Norman Drake, Corky Moss, Billy Phillips, Walter Spiller, David Weaver, Bill Branch, Reed Gilmore, Ralph Brooks, Robert Burks, Jack Mobley and Buddy Johnson. The first seven will receive sweaters.

Stan Coker, a tackle on the Bulldog football team, also was a manager for the cage team.

Lon Morris Wins JC Cage Tourney

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—Lon Morris of Jacksonville Saturday was surprise champion of the Texas Junior College Basketball tournament.

The Bearcats upset Defending Champion Tyler 73-71 Friday night in fair time.

Brooks, Robert Burks, Jack Mobley and Buddy Johnson. The first seven will receive sweaters.

Stan Coker, a tackle on the Bulldog football team, also was a manager for the cage team.

Water meters were introduced in Rome about 100 A. D. to prevent waste.

SPORTSLANTS

BY SHORTHY SHELburne

Pete Cawthon, one of the most famous coaches ever to tutor Texas football teams, is coming to Midland March 10 in the interest of his Camp Cawthon for boys in Virginia.

Pete gained much of his fame in this area when he coached the Texas Tech Red Raiders from 1930 to 1940. He left behind a record of wins comparable to any ever compiled by a college coach in this state.

Cawthon's son, Pete, Jr., is a Midlander now. He is a petroleum engineer for Phillips here.

Pete, Jr., quarterbacked the Lubbock High School state champion Westerners in 1939 and later played football at Oklahoma.

Old Pete dropped out of circulation after leaving Tech and coaching in the National Professional League a few years.

He left his mark in the coaching world, however, in more ways than one. He'll always be remembered as a coach who wanted to win.

Henry Fries' Ed McKeever and Dell Morgan are some active coaches who played for Cawthon at one time or another in one of several colleges where he coached.

Pat Patterson, coach at Midland's North Elementary School, is to go to Camp Cawthon as a counselor this summer.

He says Pete will show movies of camp life in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer the night of March 10.

Folks interested in seeing the movies and meeting Cawthon are invited to attend.

The Lamesa Tornados, a power in District 3-AA baseball last season, are coming back strong this year. Lamesa probably has the finest hurling staff in the conference.

Royce King, Jerry Phillips and Bill Hart can do some fancy tossing. Three more lettermen are back, including Ronald Chapman, Larry Lattermore and Del Dickerson.

M. L. (Leroy) Butler, a bowler of note all the time, hit his best streak of the year last week and led Browne's Magnolia to high honors.

Butler tied with J. Pryor of Union for high individual game at 217. But he did himself proud in a more individual way by taking high series with a 592.

Butler's fine bowling enabled the Magnolia team to sweep all team honors.

There's an MHS-ex here who's plenty riled up about the publicity the volley ball team has been receiving. And it appears from her letter that she wants it known—the girls at Midland High are just as important as the boys.

The letter follows:
Sports Department
The Reporter-Telegram
Midland, Texas
Dear Sir:

Since when aren't the girls of this town as important as the boys?

I think you are doing a great injustice to the Midland High volleyball team. Every game they play is just as important as every basketball game, football game or baseball game that is played by the MHS boys.

Those girls need backing. They are feeling pretty low about the recognition they have been given in your paper. Is there anything fair in the difference made between those girls and the boys of the same school?

Sincerely,
Pauline Norwood
MHS-ex.

After a lashing like that, all we can possibly do is say, "We'll try to do better by the girls in MHS."

Tom Hamilton, the University of Texas cage star, finally won out in the Southwest Conference scoring race. He finished with 203 points, an average of 16.9 per game.

Hamilton dowed 76 field goals and 51 free tosses. He missed only 19 charity shots in the entire season.

Bill McGee of Midland, a Texas cager part of the season, missed only one free throw while in action. He banked 31 points.

Historians say that the phenomenon of "static electricity" first was noted in 600 B. C. by Thales, Greek philosopher, when he produced sparks by rubbing lodestone with amber.

Diamond Workouts For Bulldogs Open Monday

Coach Garvin Beauchamp Saturday announced the booking of two baseball exhibitions between his Midland High Bulldogs and the Odessa Bronchos.

The first will be played March 14 in Odessa and the other will be played in Indian Park here March 31.

The two tilts will give the Bulldogs four warmup games before the opening of the regular District 3-AA season. Big Spring had been scheduled on a home-and-home basis earlier.

Beauchamp said he will call all diamond candidates Monday for their first full scale workout. A practice field near Memorial Stadium has been improved and drills will be conducted there.

Prospects Showing Up

Coach Beauchamp said the prospective pitching staff for the season includes Bill Medart, Don Smith, Jimmy O'Neal, Charles Crowley and Bill Grissett, Jr. The last two are southpaws.

Medart and O'Neal are the only two hurlers having previous experience. Smith is showing good form, however.

The infield for Monday's drill will be Bob Wood at first base, Robert Melton at second, Norman Drake at third and Reed Gimore or Bill Branch at shortstop. Loren Roberts and Jimmy Chauncey will split the catching duty.

L. C. Thomas, Crowley, Jack Mobley and Jerry Culp are outfield candidates.

Beauchamp said he also will try some newcomers in the first week's workouts.

REAR-DRIVE — Since the Border Olympics is the nation's first big outdoor track and field meet of the year it usually has few favorites. But from the list of returning undermen for this year's Olympics Friday and Saturday it appears the University of Texas, North Texas State, Brownsville Junior College and Corpus Christi High School all have a good chance of defending the titles they won in their respective divisions in 1949.

Texas and Texas A&M again are expected to wage a close duel for honors in the university division. The Longhorns edged out the Aggies 58 points to 55 last year.

HE'S NO DOPE

NEW YORK — (AP) — When speaking of big dumb football linemen, you can exclude Paul Mitchell, 240-pound tackle who has played for Minnesota, the Los Angeles Dons and New York Yankees and will be with the New York Bulldogs next fall. While working for his master's degree in mechanical engineering at UCLA, he's employed as a development engineer with a Los Angeles research company. He says if he had it all to do over again, he'd become a fullback.

The New England catch of ocean perch, or rosefish, increased from 118,000 pounds in 1931 to 245,000,000 in 1949.

Canyon Wins Class A Flag; Gruver Cops Class B Crown

AUSTIN — (AP) — Corpus Christi's Buccaneers Saturday night won the Class AA schoolboy basketball championship of Texas, beating Vernon 40-34 in the finals.

It was a glittering battle which saw the teams tied 20-20 at the half.

It was Corpus Christi's second state title within a year.

The Buccaneers last Spring took the state track and field championship.

Canyon smothered South San Antonio 49-25 for the Class A crown, and Gruver smashed three of the eight Class B records broken Saturday in thumping Waelder 43-34 for this division crown.

It was strictly "no contest" in the Class A championship game as Canyon used a bounding little guard, Joe Abbott and three great big boys to smother the scrappy Alamo City team.

Abbott's 17 points was high for the game. Troy Burrus had 16 points while Johnny Vick of South San Antonio topped his team's efforts with nine.

Canyon clinched the victory in the first half, at one point scoring 15 points while holding South San Antonio scoreless for 11 minutes. At the half the Eagles had a 23-13 lead.

Gruver Goes To Town

Gruver broke the Class B championship team scoring with its 43-point total and the 34 points scored by Waelder's scrappy, ailing Wildcats was the most ever scored by a losing team in the title game. The aggregate score of 77 points also was a new mark.

The old team scoring in the championship game was last year by Martin's Mill with 39 points. Mount Enterprise's 33 points was the highest previously scored by a losing team—in 1945. The old aggregate was 72 points, set last year by Martin's Mill.

Three of Waelder's Wildcats reportedly played with high temperatures, but they didn't let it interfere with their basketball.

Gruver's Greyhounds — a team without a senior on it — jumped into the lead to start and lost it only once. They used the same formula to win the championship they did in winning two one-point victories enroute to the finals—lots of hustle.

Lynn Hart's 16 points was high for Gruver while Norman Miksch was top man for Waelder with 17 points.

Cayuga Sets Records

Cayuga won third place in Class B and set five records in this division with its 68-34 victory over Forreton.

Kelly Jim Duncan set two individual scoring marks, for a single game with 39 points and for a series of three games with 68 points.

Charles Haley of Johnson City held the old single game record of 26 points and O'Neal Weaver the old series record with 61 points.

Cayuga's 68 points was a new team record and so was the 102 points scored by both teams in the third-place game and the 152 points Cayuga made in three games.

Duncan, a six-foot, two-inch, 17-year-old junior, sank 17 field goals and five free throws in posting the new division scoring record for one game.

The victory was the forty-ninth of the year against one defeat for Cayuga. The lone loss was a 47-48 affair to Gruver in the semi-finals of the state meet Friday.

Vernon Moves Up

Vernon moved into the finals of Class AA with a wild, 39-37 decision over Austin of El Paso. A field goal by Virgil Patton and a free throw by Montie Moore, both in the last two minutes of play, sent the Lions into the championship round.

Austin had staged a terrific second half rally, and pulled even with less than three minutes to go and went ahead 37-36 with less than two. But then Patton came out of a wild scramble under the basket to put Vernon ahead again and Moore's free shot iced the game.

Johnny Crouch, one of the four first string football players in the starting lineup on the Lions' basketball team, sank 11 points for Vernon. Billy Word's dozen points was high for Austin.

Sweetwater Goes Down

Corpus Christi showed Sweetwater aside 36-30 in a hip-and-tuck game. Ronnie Slemore's field goal gave Corpus Christi a 26-26 tie just as the third quarter ended. From that point the Bucs never trailed, boosting their lead in the waning minutes of the Double A semi-final tilt.

Stacy Cole led Buc scorers with a dozen points. Carl Nunn was high for Sweetwater with ten.

French of Beaumont nosed out Birdville of Fort Worth 45-43 for third place in Class A.

Austin Wins Third

Austin of El Paso swatted Sweetwater 49-42 to win third place in Class AA.

Sweetwater started like a West Texas sandstorm building up a 9-0 lead as Austin went nearly five minutes without scoring.

The El Paso crowd started a comeback though and had tied the score 25-25 at the half. This was one of the four times the score was deadlocked.

Sweetwater fell behind for good early in the third quarter when it lost a 27-25 lead. From then on Austin's smooth floor game quit sputtering and started purring.

EIGHT PERSONALS

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. — (AP) — Big Don Otten of the Tri-City Blackhawks of the National Basketball Association recently established a unique record here when he committed eight personal fouls in a game. Under pro rules a player is permitted six fouls before he is put out, so he was allowed to remain in the contest, under league rules. However a technical foul was awarded with each of Don's remaining infractions.

'Penalty Box' Rule Tried In Junior College Cage Tourney Hailed By Coaches As Great

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — A "penalty box" rule in basketball whose purpose was to keep the stars in the game was generally hailed Saturday with teams in the Texas Junior College Tournament at Texas A&M College.

The rule called for three-minute stints by players for each foul after four. In the first 15 minutes of the second half such a foul called for two minutes and in the last five minutes for one minute. A substitute was allowed each time so no team played short as in ice hockey.

The tournament ended with what many spectators called "the most thrilling basketball game from start to finish they ever witnessed." The new foul rule was responsible.

Lon Morris College beat Tyler, the defending champion and also defending national junior college champion, 73-71 for the title. During the heated last 10 minutes of play Tyler had three of its best performers—Royce Ray, Ramon Orono and Ken Pemberton—collect their fifth personal fouls. Two of Lon Morris' stars—Alberta Renta and Averil Ramirez—also.

Two-Minute Sentences

Under the new rule all of those boys served their two-minute "sentences" then returned to help their teams stage that thrilling finish. Neither team could have replaced these boys adequately, which would have meant that under regular basketball rules, both teams would have finished the game with mixed combinations of first and second stringers.

It was a goal by Ray that tied the score at 66-66 in the last four minutes.

Coach Bob Carter of Amarillo College said he was all for the new rule and that teams in other sections would be for it when they tried it out. "It works fine, enables a boy to play without worrying about the number of fouls being called on him."

Mysterious Case Of Stolen Plane Has Authorities Puzzled

MOUNT CARMEL, ILL.—(AP)—The mysterious case of the stolen airplane and the handsome stranger had authorities puzzled Saturday night.

A two-seater airplane, stolen a week ago at Amarillo, Texas, was spotted at a nearby airport by a highway patrol sergeant shortly after it landed late Friday.

A man arrested at a Mount Carmel hotel after the plane landed has been identified by three persons as the pilot, Sheriff E. H. Kennard reported.

He was wearing a long bayonet in a leather scabbard strapped beneath his clothing, the sheriff said, and a sawed-off shotgun was found in the plane.

But the dapper stranger, who identified himself as Robert Pryor, 37, Tulsa, Okla., denied any knowledge of the plane.

Questioned Saturday by county officers and an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Pryor insisted he came here by bus looking for a job.

Just Sits And Looks
He said he couldn't even pilot an airplane.

Sheriff Kennard said Pryor refused to answer many questions and wouldn't say why he was carrying the bayonet. This is the first case he has seen in which a man looks at us," Kennard said. "He isn't saying much."

The sheriff said Pryor seems to be intelligent, and added: "It's a queer case. This is the first one I've had like this."

Pryor will be questioned again Sunday. He was held without charge in the Washburn County jail here.

The airplane made stops at Springfield and Waynesville, Mo., Friday before landing here. The pilot took off at each of the two Missouri communities just before authorities arrived on the scene to arrest him.

GM Workers To Seek Union Shop, Pensions, Pay Hike

DETROIT—(AP)—In the biggest election of its kind ever held, General Motors workers voted nearly eight to one for a union shop.

The National Labor Relations Board announced Saturday that 171,829 of GM's 230,050 eligible employees approved a union shop. There were 21,950 opposed and 5,774 ballots were challenged.

The union announced only Friday that it will seek the equivalent of 31 cents an hour in economic benefits from GM. It also plans to seek several other non-economic benefits in addition to a union shop.

Pensions of $125 a month and a wage boost totaling nine cents an hour also are among the UAW's demands at GM.

The present contract, containing the clause pegging wages to the cost of living, expires May 29. The union already has said it would accept another escalator clause.

Invaders Awarded Empire's Ruling In Operation Portrex

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO—(AP)—U. S. Air Forces supporting a mock "invasion of aggressor territory" won air superiority Saturday by an umpire's ruling in peacetime's biggest war game, known as Portrex.

The decision was made by Col. William Gross, deputy chief air umpire. It means a naval force bearing 18,000 specially trained Army troops and its protecting screen of aircraft carriers and other warships are free to enter the Caribbean Sea from which Vieques Island will be invaded next week.

Day and night fighter units at Ramey Air Base, 100 miles west of Vieques, have been striking at the "aggressor nation's" air force since last Wednesday.

The opposition, a theoretical enemy country, uses both Marine and Puerto Rican fighter units based at Roosevelt Roads and the San Juan Naval Air Station to oppose the combined U. S. Air Force and naval jet and propeller fighter groups from Ramey.

The aggressor fighters have been harassing Ramey with sneak attacks. They have won an umpire's ruling that serious damage was inflicted on the American forces.

Deadlocked Jury In Mead Murder Trial Dismissed By Judge

EL PASO—(AP)—A deadlocked jury was dismissed Saturday night after it debated more than 30 hours without being able to decide whether red-haired Mrs. Edna Mead, 21, murdered her mother.

After polling the jurors on two occasions, Judge Alan Fraser finally let them go at 10:20 p.m.

The former Boston stenographer was charged with murdering her mother, Mrs. Ada Bradford, 63, here last December 14. She was accused of beating and strangling Mrs. Bradford.

Two Passengers Hurt As Streamliner Hits Stalled Automobile

FREESTONE, TEXAS—(AP)—A Burlington Zephyr hit an unoccupied automobile and went off the rails Saturday at the edge of this East Texas town. Two women passengers on the crack train were hurt slightly.

Seconds before the impact, Mrs. Ernestine Mandeville of Freestone plucked her two-year-old daughter, Brenda, from the stalled automobile and leaped from the path of the onrushing train.

The Sam Houston Zephyr, bound from Houston to Dallas and Fort Worth, slammed into the car and tossed it aside. But the train's cowcatcher was bent and 50 yards up the rails it caught on a switch.

This threw the engine off the track. It plowed into the earth, tearing up rails. Neither the engine nor any of the cars turned over.

Mrs. A. E. Etheridge of Keras, Texas, suffered a sprained ankle and Mrs. Nancy Mann of Houston had a skinned nose. Both were taken to the Teague City Hospital.

"I pulled my car up on the grade crossing," said Mrs. Mandeville, and it stalled. Then I saw the train coming. I grabbed Brenda and jumped out. I was 10 feet from the car when the train hit it."

Arrests In Illicit Drug Traffic Jump

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Arrests in illicit drug cases jumped 35 per cent in 1949, the Treasury reported Saturday. They totaled 5,273—more than 14 a day through the year.

The Treasury also said agents of the narcotics and customs bureaus seized a "greatly increased volume" of marijuana, base ingredient of the "reefer" cigaret.

Coal Strike—

hitch in the legal wording of the agreement, the strike was expected to be set for a strike end call that would send the men back to the pits Monday.

Earlier there had been reports and denials that Lewis had tossed new demands into the session. A UMW spokesman said that was not true.

In the fields, happy miners who had held out grimly for a contract, made it clear that most of the 372,000 miners were eager to get back on the job Monday. "John L. did it again," was a typical comment.

The sudden accord caused President Truman to toss out his request for power to seize and operate the mines, adding benefits totaling $1.40 a day per man. The extra cost per ton of coal was estimated at 20 cents.

Lewis, with too many men and too little work, fought to get them more pay and higher welfare benefits with these results:

An increase in the $14.05 basic daily wage to $14.75.

An increase of 10 cents in the 20-cent union levy on all coal mined to finance pensions and other benefits.

Two Lewis people on the board of trustees which handles the spending of the welfare money. He gives up the chairmanship to Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice president. Josephine Roche, director of the fund, takes the post designated as neutral. Harry M. Moses, negotiator for United States Steel, would represent the operators in the third board post.

Only UMW members can share in the fund's benefits.

The union shop is retained. This requires that miners belong to the union.

The operators got a new deal on the clause which states that the miners work only when they are able and willing. But the wording awaited a final ironing out.

Ben Ayers, assistant White House press secretary, writes "Cancelled" through President Truman's engagement list for the day as reporters look on. Truman devoted the day to the coal crisis, hearing a favorable report from his fact-finding board that agreement on a new contract was near, and calling on Congress for authority to seize and operate the strike-idled soft coal mines if necessary.

State Attorney Fails In Effort To Shake Dr. Sander's Defense

MANCHESTER, N. H.—(AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander's claim that a cancer patient died before he injected air into her veins still stood Saturday after a stiff attack.

The mercy murder trial of the 41-year-old physician was in recess until Monday, when Dr. Sander will take the stand in his own defense.

Attorney General William L. Phinney tried hard Friday to make a star witness Mrs. Abbie Borroto was "practically dead" and not entirely dead when he saw her last December 4. He failed.

The witness was Dr. Albert Snay, who said he found Mrs. Borroto dead a few minutes before Dr. Sander put air into her veins in an apparent gesture of impulsive mercy.

Trial May End Soon
The rapid-fire order in which 23 defense witnesses took the stand led to a defense prediction that testimony might be over by Tuesday.

Thus, the case might go to the all-male jury by Thursday.

Dr. Snay said he examined the ashen-pale, wasted body of the 59-year-old Mrs. Borroto, found no pulse or heart beat and concluded "she was gone." As Dr. Sander came into the room that December morning, Snay said he told him "She is gone."

Phinney recalled that Dr. Snay visited him last New Year's Eve and revealed he had made a signed statement to the defense.

"Didn't you tell me that as far as you were concerned, Mrs. Borroto was practically dead?" the attorney general asked, his voice rising and snapping for the first time in the trial.

"I say no," replied the stocky young doctor in calm, carrying tones. "I don't think I'd say she was practically dead to you."

"Did you say that to me?" Phinney insisted.

"No," replied Dr. Snay. "Have you ever had a patient without a pulse who subsequently lived?" demanded the state prosecutor.

FBI Nabs Alleged Rapist, Believed Drowned Last Fall

DALLAS—(AP)—The FBI said Saturday a man under a rape indictment at Erie, Pa., mourned as dead last fall, has been arrested here. Scott S. Alden, FBI agent in charge of the Dallas District, said the man is Clyde Orlando Brown, 41, indicted September 1 at Erie. Alden said after Brown's indictment that a few days later he went fishing on Lake Erie, and on the following morning his boat washed ashore with his hat, jacket and fishing equipment in it. His automobile still was parked at the fishing dock. The FBI agent said Brown's family mourned him as dead, and allowed a finance company to repossess his car. Brown was indicted on a charge of luring an eight-year-old girl into a car, driving her to an isolated spot, and raping her. The child was injured badly, and was hospitalized two weeks following surgery. $10,000 Bond Set Alden said Brown denied his guilt, but admitted his identity and said he was the subject of the rape charge at Erie. The agent said Brown's wife purchased another car, and with the couple's 14-year-old daughter, headed for Texas, saying she was seeking work. The wife and daughter came to Dallas. Meanwhile, the FBI noticed a man at Fargo, N. D., who fitted Brown's description. Alden said the FBI traced Brown from Fargo to a Dallas address. Alden said two FBI agents and two city detectives arrested Brown Friday night as Brown walked up the back stairs into the apartment occupied by his wife. He was arraigned Saturday and $10,000 bond set.

Agreement To Spend Few More Millions On Potatoes Reached

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A tentative agreement to spend a few more million dollars on surplus potatoes "rather than see them rot" was reached late Saturday by a Senate-House conference on farm price supporters. Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) told reporters the agreement still was subject to final approval of the seven senators and seven House members trying to work out a compromise on emergency legislation covering potatoes, cotton, wheat and peanuts. The new proposal by Senate Majority Leader Lucas (D-Till.) would allow the government to pay freight or transportation costs of moving the spuds to tax-supported state and local agencies for human consumption. The potatoes, acquired under the government price support program, would be given away without cost. No Decision On Cotton The newest potato move appeared to be in line with an earlier request of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan for advice from Congress on what to do with some 50,000,000 bushels of surplus potatoes and the government will own as a result of price supports. At that time Agriculture Department officials estimated it would cost between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 extra to handle and transport the surplus spuds for human consumption. This would be in addition to supports costing $80,000,000 or more. He said the conference group will resume its closed-door session at 2 p. m. Monday. Thomas said no tentative decisions have been reached upon varying Senate and House proposals for liberalizing the federal controls programs this year for cotton, peanuts and wheat. Sixty per cent of the general adult population glasses, but only 30 per cent are using them, says the Driving Research Laboratory of Iowa State College.

Hubby Will Think You Lead Dull Life If You Tell All

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

There's one trick more wives ought to borrow from their husbands—the trick of not telling of anything they know immediately to their mates.

Why is it that Mrs. Jones is so sure that Mr. Jones leads a much more exciting life than she does and that while her day is dull his is filled with interesting and amusing highlights?

Isn't it mostly because Mr. Jones is always holding out little bits of news and dropping them at odd moments? "You never told me that," Mrs. Jones accuses him when he mentions in company some piece of news he has known for days or even weeks.

Whereupon Mrs. Jones is once more convinced that her husband knows all sorts of interesting things she doesn't know anything about.

But do you ever hear Mr. Jones complain that his wife neglected to tell him some startling bit of gossip of information she has known for days? You bet you don't.

The minute Mrs. Jones hears anything she passes it right along to Mr. Jones. Every night he gets a complete account of everything she has done all day, and everything she has heard.

No wonder she never surprises him or gives him a hint that she has a life of her own that he knows very little about.

a piece of news you know would interest him, save it awhile and then mention it casually sometime when you're in a group.

Then wait for his amazed: "You mean you've known that all this time and I never mentioned it to me?"

Unless, of course, he says: "Yeah, I heard that a long time ago. I guess I forgot to tell you." If that happens, don't give up the ship. (All rights reserved, NEA Service, Inc.)

Mrs. Chloe Boothe Entertains WMS

CRANE—"Food of the Earth" was the subject of discussion of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Chloe Boothe at Sand Hills.

Mrs. J. E. Willford brought the devotional message. Others taking part on the program were Mrs. John North, Mrs. Phemister and Mrs. Kyle Gray. Mrs. B. W. Erwin was in charge. Others present included Mrs. C. A. Allen, Mrs. Earl, Mrs. Truseley, Mrs. Tiny Earp, Mrs. Lofton Bragg, Mrs. Jack White, Mrs. Luther Goble and Mrs. Arrie Esteppe.

Nylon Lingerie Is Practical

NEW YORK—(NEA)—

Luxurious touches of imported lace and hand-embroidery are calculated to point up the sheer beauty of new nylon tricot lingerie. For all their fragile looks, these hand-sewn garments uphold nylon's practical reputation for long wear and easy upkeep.

Lace and nylon combine their charms in the graceful shell pink gown (left) designed by Saab. Fine-patterned lace veiled by nylon forms the bandeau which is outlined by insets of hand-embroidered imported lace. The graceful, flowing skirt falls from a snugly-fitted midriff.

Elegant frosting for the aqua blue slip (right) is provided by garlands of flowers embroidered on the deep net border of the surplice bodice. The wreath motif is repeated on the wide band of net at the hemline.

Here Comes Cookie

A once-popular song, "Here Comes Cookie," will be the theme song of Midland Girl Scouts next Saturday as they start a citywide sale of Girl Scout cookies to raise funds for furnishing their new Little House. Ready to start ringing doorbells and taking orders are Judy Hawkins, left, a Brownie troop member, and Sandra Shaw, an Intermediate Girl Scout.

Any Girl Scout Will Answer To Name Of 'Cookie' During Sale

By Genie Harms Bliss
When half the girls in Midland from the ages of 7 to 17 change their names they have a reason. Whoever the sage was who said, "women don't think; they just do," didn't reckon with more than 600 Midland Girl Scouts. Perhaps you knew them as Ann, Judy, Betty or Sue, but this week they answer to only one name, "Cookie."
Saturday, March 11, these Midland youngsters open their cookie campaign with a blitzkrieg on Midland doorbells. When Cookie comes to call she wants just one answer, "Yes."
Girl Scouts and Brownies will fan out through Midland Saturday morning equipped with order books for their famous copyrighted cookies. Cookie is selling cookies for one purpose—she wants to help support her Girl Scout Little House and Park. It is her house and her park and Cookie is doing her part. She is not asking for a contribution, she is offering a superior product for sale.
Product Is Unique
The Girl Scout cookie is nationally known. Made from a copyrighted recipe, it is produced only under license by a large baking company. Only two companies in the United States are allowed to bake these cookies for the Girl Scouts. This baking is done under the most careful supervision. The result is a superior product otherwise impossible to obtain.

Six thousand boxes of these cookies will arrive in Midland this week. Profits from this sale will finish building and help furnish the troop meetings rooms.
Orders will be taken Saturday. Deliveries will be made the following Saturday.
Work For Birthday
"There could be no nicer way for Midland Girl Scouts to celebrate the Girl Scout Birthday," Mrs. R. E. Morgan, president of the Midland Girl Scout Association, said. "It is the aim of Girl Scouting to teach community responsibility. Certainly the girls are accepting their responsibility toward completing their Little House and Park with this project." March 12 is the national Girl Scout birthday, the anniversary of the organization's founding.
Girl Scout cookies have not been sold in Midland for several years. Look for Cookie Saturday. She'll be coming down your street. And when your doorbell rings, just say "yes."

Senator Hudson Reports On Legislative Session

The views of Senator Hill D. Hudson concerning the recent special session of the Texas Legislature are related in a letter received Saturday by The Reporter-Telegram from the Pecos senator. His letter follows:
"Believing that it is proper that I should report to my constituents I would like to relate to you my views as to what occurred during the first special session of the 51st Legislature.
"All of us know that we were called into the special session to provide funds for the maintenance and operation of the state hospitals and schools, generally referred to as the elementary institutions. We also knew that it was necessary to make certain improvements on some of the buildings of these institutions and to start some character of building program for them.
"Immediately upon convention of the Legislature the governor delivered a message to a joint session of the House and Senate, in which he outlined a "broad based" program, the burden of which should be carried by all alike, without any undue burden upon any one industry or commodity. I think that the Legislature was almost unanimous in its endorsement of his announced program for the discharging of what we all felt to be the moral obligation of the citizens of this state toward those unfortunates who could not care for themselves.

Initial Bill
"The first bill that was submitted in either house was one making an appropriation of these institutions for the remainder of this biennium. Much to the surprise of many of us who had listened attentively to the governor's message, the next bill, known as House Bill 2, which passed the House, was a direct one cent per package sales tax upon cigarettes. House Bill 2 was a 19 per cent rate of what is known as the omnibus tax bill, which includes tax on oil and gas, chain stores, radios, cosmetics etc., together with the occupation tax for certain businesses. By careful maneuvering those of us who opposed the sales tax, which we, for the first time, learned was endorsed by the governor, were able to bring the House Bill 3, the omnibus tax, to consideration of the Senate ahead of the cigarette tax bill. The reason for doing this was that we wanted to make an effort to amend the omnibus tax bill in such manner as to include company owned filling stations, the chemical industries and certain other industries which are bearing no part of the present burden, save the ad valorem tax which will go off under Constitutional Amendment in January, 1951.
Pledger Senators
"It soon became evident that more than 20 members of the Senate were pledged to follow the plan of putting the total cost of the building program on the cigarette sales tax and that it was impossible to put any amendment broadening the base of House Bill 3. It was repeatedly stated by the governor's leaders in the Senate that the time was so limited that it was impossible to consider any amendment; of course, the special session could only last 30 days but there was no reason why another special session could not have been called the day after the first one expired. Realizing the absolute necessity of taking care of the wards of the state, I voted for both the appropriation bill and for the omnibus tax bill, but I did not believe it fair to raise $60,000,000 during the next seven years by a sales tax placed directly upon the people, even though such sales tax was recommended and urged by the governor.
"I voted against the cigarette tax bill because I thought it was both unfair and the forerunner of a general sales tax to be sponsored by the administration at the next regular session when we have yet to take care of a $28,000,000 deficit, which was not provided for in the governor's message nor his program. I could not see how a governor could endorse a sales tax in February and fail to endorse one the following January if he were elected and I could not go along with that portion of his program."

Sleeves and Gloves Are In Spotlight For Spring Styles

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor
The style spotlight falls on sleeves and gloves this Spring. Short sleeves, wide and full, are the big news of the season, appearing on coats and suits as well as dresses. Capelets in double or triple tiers are all over the place.
All this poses the problem of what to do with your hands. And the answer, of course, has been provided by the glove manufacturers, who have come up with the right glove for each sleeve length, to say nothing of carefully coordinated colors to match the newest Spring outfits.

To make things simple, Kislav has designed a special group of gloves to team with the most important sleeve styles as interpreted by five leading American designers.
These include a doeskin shorty, for wear with Monte-Sano's new elbow-length tulle sleeve; a youthful wrist-length glove with laced thumb to accompany Claire McCordell's casual and almost sleeveless fashions; the slightly longer slip-on, with flaring top, to dramatize Phillip Mangone's bracelet-length sleeve; the eight-button French doeskin, to go with Pauline Trigere's elbow-length bell-shaped sleeve; and the mid-arm cocktail glove, to meet Jo Copeland's mid-arm sleeve, shown on her sleek cocktail suits.

LENTEN LUNCHEON
For a delicious Lenten luncheon dish, flake a pound of cooked or canned fish and mix with two cups of medium cream sauce; season well and heat. Garnish with sliced hard-cooked eggs and serve very hot on split buttered biscuits or toasted English muffins.

Button Down An Old Blouse

An old blouse takes on new life for evening wear with the addition of big rhinestone buttons at the neckline.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

To give new glamor to an old jersey evening blouse, borrow a leaf from the notebook of a famed designer. He uses large rhinestone buttons to outline the off-shoulder neckline of a blouse. It's a change which will make in minutes and which will allow you to dine out looking chic.

The buttons you can find at any notions counter. Their glitter enhances the plain black and gives an old blouse a new dramatic flair. But when you stud your blouse with these jewel-like buttons, watch the other jewelry you wear. The buttons in themselves create a necklace effect, so it's best to leave your other sparklers in their jewel case.

But you can wear earrings without marring the over-all look. To have earrings fit in with your costume, use two matching rhinestone buttons. Pry off the button shanks with pliers, smooth the rough surface with a nail file and fit the buttons with erring backs which you can find at the dime store. Use a household cement or metal glue to join backs and buttons and your earrings will stay put permanently.

small TALK

By SUE COLEMAN

It's a little early, maybe, to think much about Summer vacation plans, but Bertie Boone is talking enthusiastically and positively about a proposed trip into Mexico, come August. She was being briefed the other day by Ada Phillips, who may as well be a member of the Mexico Chamber of Commerce, if there is one, because she fell in love with the country on her second trip there last Fall and says she is going back as soon as possible.

Bertie looked uncommonly smart on one of the chilly mornings last week, wearing a scarlet short coat over a grey knit suit.

A lot of Winter coats which had been unnecessary in February were pressed into service again with the start of March, we noticed. Lois Siefert, driving homeward after an early errand downtown, was huddled so far down in fur that her face barely was visible. And Mrs. M. D. Cox was a little annoyed that the supposed first month of Spring brought weather cold enough to interrupt her Spring gardening which had been progressing well during the balmy Winter days.

Technically unemployed, Iva Noyes says she never has been busier in her life than during the last few weeks. Her new house was being finished and she was getting ready to move in before the work was completely done and let it be completed around her. Moving day sometimes can't be postponed in Midland, just because the new house isn't quite ready, she found. The good-looking house is a duplex with one side reserved as Iva's home.

One of my favorite yards is at the George Phillips' home at the corner of West Missouri and South L. Streets, where Mrs. Phillips has some flowers in bloom at almost any time of the year. Right now it is blue hyacinths and jonquils, and the small reddish tree north of the house is solid with bright blossoms.

Somehow or other Mrs. Maurice Kennedy and I never have happened to meet, but we are old acquaintances by telephone and I'm still hoping for a personal introduction. She was buzzing round all last week getting ready for a visit from her mama, due from California.

Although the Kennedys have a new son, and a sight of him and their cute little daughters probably will be as much as the visitor wants for her trip, Mrs. Kennedy wanted the house to be spic and span, too. Blinds dusted, and everything. The Kennedy side of the family already has visited the new baby, since they are Texans, too, and don't have so far to come.

To all her friends who have been asking about Frances since an acute attack of appendicitis sent her to the hospital, she is recovering fast and expects to be back at the society desk, answering your telephone calls, still very long. She says to tell you all "Thank you!" for your interest and inquiries and cards and calls and flowers.

Valley View Club Names Candidates For THDA Delegates

Mrs. D. M. Bigzell and Mrs. B. L. Mason were elected as candidates from the Valley View Home Demonstration Club for delegates to the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting in April, at a meeting Friday in the Community Center.

Mrs. I. J. Howard demonstrated how to make bedroom lamp shades of dotted swiss, gingham, organdy, wool thread and parchment. Mrs. Mason showed pictures of lamp shades and bases.

Mrs. T. O. Midkiff will be hostess to the club March 24, when members will exchange flower seeds and shrubs. Visits will be made to some of the nurseries. A membership enlargement campaign will be started at the meeting.

Other members present were Mrs. J. C. Stevens, Jr., and Mrs. Earl Fain.

LLL Class Has Business-Social

CRANE—Mrs. C. A. Allen and Mrs. B. W. Ervin were hostesses to the monthly business and social meeting of the LLL Class of the First Baptist Church Thursday.

Mrs. A. C. Shaver, Mrs. Max Omo, Mrs. T. C. Jewel, Mrs. Sylvia Perkins, Mrs. P. E. Lovelace, Mrs. J. V. Neeley, Mrs. E. W. Ervin and Mrs. V. H. Russell were appointed to serve as group captains. Others present included Mrs. L. E. Russell, Mrs. H. L. Woods, Mrs. Jessie Webber, Mrs. J. G. Brannon, Mrs. R. G. Taylor, Mrs. W. B. Smith and Mrs. W. P. Estep.

Leftover potatoes may be mashed and mixed with flaked cooked fish, make into patties and saute in a little hot fat in a skillet.

General Discussion Is Planned For WMS

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?" will be the topic of discussion for the Women's Missionary Society meeting in the First Baptist Church at 3 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Ruth Stumbo will bring the devotional thought. Others on the program will be Mrs. John Alexander, Mrs. E. H. Thacker, Mrs. J. M. White, Mrs. J. E. McCain, Mrs. W. B. Johnston. An informal discussion will follow the program, using the Bible as a basis.

Stale soap lasts longer and therefore is more economical than fresh soap. Buy a good supply in advance and remove the wrappers. The air can get at the stored soap.

Stamp Club Meet Scheduled Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of the Midland Stamp Club will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the commissioners courtroom of the Midland County Courthouse.

A business session will consider the approval and adoption of a proposed constitution.

A program on German stamps will follow the business meeting. Topic for discussion will be: "The History of Central Europe as Reflected in the Stamps of Germany and Her Satellites."

Tuck a small magnet into your sewing basket. It will aid you to pick up pins and needles without getting stuck.

Greatest Housing Boom Ever Underway

NEW YORK—Housing's greatest boom of all time roared through its seventh month in January, according to Business Week magazine.

The magazine reports that with 80,000 houses started, it was the biggest January ever.

The total number of dwelling units started was 654,300 for the seven months. That ran 150,000 units or 30 per cent ahead of the same period of a year earlier. The only seven months that have come close to it were the middle months of 1948 with 837,800 starts. Since the 1948 record was set in the Summer, the current record-breaker is the more remarkable because it is bucking Winter weather.

Aviation Director Assumes Duties Here

Clyde Sharrer, formerly of El Paso, has assumed his duties as director of aviation for the City of Midland. City Manager W. H. Oswald said Saturday.

The new position was created recently by the City Council. Sharrer, who has the status of a department head, has the responsibility of administering all matters pertaining to aviation for the city, Oswald said.

Sharrer, who studied airport management at Texas Christian University and the Spartan School of Aeronautics, resigned as assistant manager of airports for the City of El Paso to accept the position here.

'Picture Of Month' On Display At Bank Here

"French Landscape," a painting by Ferdinand Jean Monchablon, famed French artist, is on display in The First National Bank as its "Picture of the Month."
The beautiful painting has attracted considerable interest and much favorable comment by persons visiting the bank the last several days.
Monchablon, who was born in 1854 and died in 1904, studied under Cabanel and Jean Paul Daubigny in Paris before making his debut in the Ecole des Beaux Arts in 1881. He later went to the Netherlands where he observed the works of the old Flemish Masters, he later became one of France's best-known landscape artists, and his works today are on exhibit in leading art galleries of the world.
The First National Bank each month exhibits a famous painting, which citizens are invited to see, study and enjoy.

George Washington Luncheon Is Given

CRANE—George Washington Day was the motif of decorations for a covered dish luncheon in the First Presbyterian Church recently.
Tables were laid with white cloths with red and blue stripes down the center. Each table was centered with a miniature log with a hatchet in it and flags around it. Approximately 26 attended.
A&M SCHOLARSHIP COMPETITION CITED
COLLEGE STATION — Charles Mathews, principal of the Midland High School, received this week an announcement and application form covering the 1950 Opportunity Awards scholarship competition of Texas A&M College.
Four-year scholarships paying the winners $200 and $400 each year, are available. They are designed to make a college education possible for boys of outstanding ability who require financial assistance.

First Baptist Building Program Chairmen

Chairmen of the four major committees for the building program of the First Baptist Church of Midland, left to right, are: Clint Myrick, finance; Frank Monroe, plans and specifications; Ernest Neill, church and organization; and James Mims, promotion and publicity. The church congregation recently voted in conference to organize a Building Committee and named a Steering Committee, headed by T. Paul Barron, for a building program. It is planned to provide adequate Sunday School and auditorium space for 1,800 persons. Estimated cost of the overall project is $750,000.

KNOW YOUR MIDLANDS—
Midland, Arkansas, Noted For Friendly Residents, Coal And Strawberries
By Mrs. Louise Hightower (Last of a series)
MIDLAND, ARK. — Nestled by the side of Sugar Loaf Mountain and between the mountain and Jim Ford Creek, lies the hamlet of Midland, Arkansas. Located in Sebastian County, Midland is about 28 miles south of Fort Smith.
Founded about the beginning of the century, the economy of the town is based on the coal which lies under it. The coal mines extend under the town proper and they still are worked by most of the male population. Some of the old settlers who enjoy telling of the earlier days of the community are: Dick McEachin, Lute Duval, Frank Taylor and David Cox.
Not a very large place, population 600, Midland boasts of the friendliness and neighborliness of their hometown. The civic center is not large, but the life of two or three small communities and farms surrounding it are centered there. In Midland there are seven large mercantile establishments, including the Warner Grocery and Virgil Peters Grocery. Mallie Douglas, the postmaster, sells the delicious coffee known as "Sugar Loaf Mountain" coffee in his store, the Midland Mercantile Company. These stores have modern equipment and stock all of the modern appliances.
New Town Hall
The little town boasts a new town hall, a drugstore and two garages. The only theater shows one film a week, and Thursday night. The citizens of the town, supported by Mayor Roy Woodson, recently built a recreational hall, where the young people may meet for basketball and other sports.
Midland has a consolidated school with the first eight grades. The high school students attend classes in Hartford, located six miles away. The consolidated school has a night class for veterans working toward completing their high school education.
Midland has four churches and almost every family has some religious affiliation. Crime and poverty are non-existent. There are no very rich and no very poor in Midland. Traces of romantic history can be found in the surrounding countryside. Along Jim Ford Creek have been found many arrowheads and tomahawks, indicating the probable existence of large Indian camps here at one time. Signs still may be seen of the old trail used by pioneers and their wagon trains on their way West. An old Civil War trench runs through one end of the town.
By far the most outstanding feature of Midland is the beautiful Sugar Loaf Mountain. It stands like a sentinel over the town. One the side of the mountain is an aisle of young pine trees. Rangers' tower on the top of Sugar Loaf enables the tourist to look out over the hamlet and the surrounding country.
Strawberry Farms
In and around Midland are dairy and strawberry farms. Gov. Sid McMath, in a visit to Midland, said that South Sebastian County has the best network of farm to market roads of any section in the state. The farms are not large, but they are the kind which every man dreams of—where he can raise a few chickens, a cow and some pigs.
The person who wrote "Dear Hearts and Gentle People" might have known Midland, Arkansas. It has the gentle serenity and peaceful atmosphere of Evangeline's Arcadia.
Midland, though a small town, is so typically American, that it proves the slogan which is on every Arkansas car license tag—"Opportunity Land."

Suit Yourself This Spring

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — What's the suit silhouette for Spring — slim or blousy? Let your personal preference supply the answer. Top-ranking designers offer fetching examples of both.

An outstanding example of the pencil slim line is Hattie Carnegie's satellite blue checked worsted suit (left). The close-fitting jacket minimizes the waistline with cleverly placed pointed appliques on the midriff. Pointed detailing is repeated in appliques on the small rolled collar. A slightly stiffened peplum gently rounds the hipsline.

Typifying the blousy silhouette is the steel blue gabardine suit (right) designed by Nettie Rosenstein. The gold-buttoned jacket is tightly belted to exaggerate the bloused top and the full peplum which flares out around the hipsline. More build-up is given to the jacket by the navy silk taffeta lining which matches a tucked blouse. The skirt hews to a trim, straight line to point up the fullness of the jacket.

Phillips University Band Director Will Conduct Clinic Here

In preparation for the forthcoming regional band contest, scheduled here April 1, Milburn E. Carey, director of the Phillips University Band, will conduct a clinic Wednesday for the Midland High School Band.

The Band Aides Club engaged Carey to conduct the clinic. Carey is well-known in musical circles, as a conductor, arranger Milburn E. Carey and band clinician. He has managed the Phillips State Music Festival at Phillips University, in Enid, Okla., since 1935.

Jerry Hoffman, director of the MHS band, said he expects Carey to be of great benefit to the band, which will be competing with other Class AA high school bands in the Regional Tournament, to be held April 1 in Midland. This is the first time the regional band meet has been held here.

"Carey will give us a fresh viewpoint," Hoffman said. "As an outsider, who never has heard the band, he will be able to point out our weaknesses and suggest corrections that might otherwise be overlooked."

Senior Girl Scouts Will Square Dance At Kermit Festival

KERMIT — Senior Girl Scouts from over the Permian Basin Area, with their guests, will take part in a square dance festival in the American Legion Building at Kermit next Saturday afternoon and until 10 p.m.

The Green and Gold Festival, named for the Girl Scout colors, is planned as the first annual area-wide entertainment for Senior Girl Scouts.

Registration will start at noon. A registration fee of $1 per person will include the cost of the evening meal. Music and callers will be available for the festival, and groups from other cities are invited to bring guest callers if they wish.

Special Dances
Groups are invited also to present special dances and to use their own records and callers for these. Squares may be composed of all girls or four girls and four boys. Troops have been asked to design or select costumes which will identify their members.

Midland's four Senior Scout Troops, 1, 4, 8 and 12, have been invited to the dance.

Square dances to be called will include "Wagon Wheel," "Texas Star," "Chase the Rabbit," "Cage the Bird," "Cowboy Loop," "Arkansas Traveler" and others popular in West Texas, while the couple dances will include "Black Hawk Waltz," "Put Your Little Foot," "Ten Pretty Girls" and "Alamo Schottische."

VEGETABLE FILLING
Make a nutritious vegetable filling for sandwiches for the lunchbox. Mix a quarter cup each of grated carrots, finely diced celery, grated cabbage, with a quarter teaspoon of salt, two teaspoons of chili sauce, and two teaspoons of mayonnaise or salad dressing. This makes about three-quarters cup of filling.

In broiling a ham steak, slit the fat around the edge in lengthwise cuts; this way the meat will lie flat on the broiling rack and not curl in the cooking.

Take Care Of Hair At Home

Caring for her own hair is simple for concert singer Dorothy Sarnoff. She trims split ends evenly (left) by gently rolling lock before she snips. After she gives her hair a hot oil treatment, she binds it up (right) in a plastic scarf for the night.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Acquiring skill in taking care of your hair means that when you are unable to visit a beauty salon, your crowning glory needn't resemble the business end of a mop. It also means that you have learned to handle your hair on a trip and this is essential according to concert singer Dorothy Sarnoff, whose concert engagements take her to all parts of the country.

Miss Sarnoff frequently cares for her own hair. She gives it hot oil treatments, cuts it herself, shampoos and sets it. She also brushes it vigorously twice a day, to carry the oil to the ends of the hair, where it is needed most.

Once a week no matter where she is, Miss Sarnoff gives her hair a hot oil treatment, accompanied by scalp massage. Her hair is fairly dry, and the treatment keeps it lubricated. She begins by parting strands of her hair, dripping cotton balls into warm olive oil, then rubbing the oil into her scalp. When her entire scalp has been covered, she places the fingers of both hands on her scalp and moves it, using brisk motion. Then she binds up her hair in a length of plastic, to protect both hair and pillow case, and goes to bed. In the morning, she shampoos her hair and sets it, using two hair-pins to a curl.

Miss Sarnoff does not find it difficult to cut her own hair. She does it only in an emergency, to remove split ends between her regular trips to her favorite hair-dresser. She sections off her hair, doing the longest locks first. She holds each strand out between thumb and forefinger, rolling it gently to make sure that she snips evenly.

Businesses Started On Shoestring Have Hard Time Surviving

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK—(AP)—The business birth rate is falling. Its death rate is rising.

There are about 60,000 fewer firms operating today than a year ago, according to the Department of Commerce. As a result, it says, "new capital expenditures by new firms have shrunk considerably in the last few years and this has been an important element in the weakening of aggregate business demand for new investment."

Failures have been the greatest among the postwar firms that started up on a shoestring. Retail stores have had the sharpest increase in the number of bankruptcies. Failures account for only a fraction of discontinuances. Many more business firms fold up quietly or sell out to competitors, when they fail to make money, and leave no line of willing creditors.

The rising trend of business shut-downs, most observers say, isn't dangerous yet. Rather, it marks the end of the postwar expansion period and the return to normally intense competition.

Rate Declining

At the same time, the rate of new business starting up has been falling since 1946. That was the year of greatest optimism among the multitude who tire of being bossed and dream of having "a little business of my own." Last year 46 per cent fewer businesses were incorporated than in 1946.

As a result of fewer starts and more stops, business population has dropped from its peak of 3,967,000 in 1948 to around 3,900,000 now. It is still 18 per cent higher than in 1939.

So far this year, Dun & Bradstreet reports, failures average slightly more than 200 a week, compared with around 150 a week at the start of 1949, and only 97 a week in the same period of 1948. But in 1939 they were closer to 300 a week.

Failures have been running at the rate of about one to every 5,000 concerns in operation. In 1948 failures numbered one to every 9,000 going concerns. But in 1939 one firm out of every 2,500 failed.

Allbrights Have Canasta Party

ANDREWS — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allbright were hosts for a canasta party Friday in their home southeast of Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morgan won high score.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Knox Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pinnell, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Seay, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts.

Gives Violin Clinics Along With Recitals

NEW YORK—(AP)—Louis Kaufman is an artist who likes to share professional secrets with others. He will hold violin clinics at colleges in towns where he gives recitals.

The Association of American Colleges and Universities think so highly of his idea that he is appearing at 10 colleges under its auspices. Kaufman started his clinics last year as an experiment. After his regular concerts, he would invite music teachers and students to play for him.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

E. R. Andres, administrator of the Midland Memorial Hospital, will attend a convention of the State Hospital Association this week in Galveston. Andres will leave Monday and plans to return Friday.

LIZARD GOES BY MAIL

CENTERTVILLE, MD. — (AP)—Incoming mail bags at this village postoffice the other week contained one green, three-inch, very dead lizard. There was no tag on it.

IN THE IMPORTS

CHICAGO—(AP)—A new Chicago import directory shows that, among the many things shipped from abroad, are human skeletons, Irish shillelaghs, greave cakes and Swedish hardtack.

Mt. Whitney, California, highest point in the U. S., is 14,495 feet tall.

New Styles Are Patterned For Spring

Style-wise afternoon dress with flattering hip drape is shown in green and white hand-screened silk. (Pattern No. 3240, sizes 34 to 48; 35 cents.)

Ensemble, made up in crease-resistant linen, has a lemon yellow coat (pattern No. A19, sizes 12-20; $1) and a slim, black skirt (pattern No. 512, sizes 12 to 20, 50 cents).

Four-piece playsuit in wrinkle-proof cotton has gray chambray tie shirt, skirt (with matching shorts and bra) of dotted red denim. (Pattern No. 3182, sizes 12-20; 25 cents.)

Sunback dress with its own little jacket for street wear is shown in jade green reversible cotton damask. (Junior pattern No. 3204, sizes 11-18; 25 cents.)

Want to "Sew 'n Save"?—Shown here as put together in the cream of this Spring's fabrics are four versatile creations for the homemaker's needle. They're just an introduction to the many smart patterns to be offered throughout the season in The Midland Reporter-Telegram. To obtain any of the patterns illustrated, send your name and address and number of pattern desired, enclosing price (quoted in the captions) in coin, to Sue Burnett, The Midland Reporter-Telegram, 530 South Wells Street, Chicago 7, Ill. "Fashion," pattern book for Spring and Summer, is 25 cents extra.

fabric is playing a new and important role in fashion, the chances of turning out a chic homemade outfit are better than ever. There's nylon in improved quality and wider variety—in crepe prints, 15-denier jerseys, pleated tulle for airy formals and pleated nylon and Acele in eight colors for more formal wear. There are sheers, with dark solids favored in rayons and silks but with plenty of prints available, too. In any color, they insure softness and femininity, especially in the narrowly pleated skirt and blouse top combination now whirling into popularity. Silks are coming back, lower-priced and more colorful, with the newest combining exotic hues of handscreened Chinese influence patterns. Cottons are lower-priced, too, combining crease-resistance, reversibility and new woven texture interest. Denim now boasts all these of these qualifications, plus an attractive range of Spring colors and offers a rare opportunity for self-trimming. Coordinated stripes and solids, such as in chambrays, will arouse

Prize Is Jug Of Pecos River Water

PECOS—A friendly battle is raging between the Pecos and Carlsbad, N. M., Rotary clubs, and object of the struggle is a gallon jug of Pecos River water.

First blow in the struggle was struck when former Carlsbad Rotarian, the Rev. L. B. Trone, told the Carlsbad Rotary Club that the Pecos club had 100 per cent attendance at its meetings. Trone, a former member of the Carlsbad Rotarians, had been elected president just before he was transferred to Pecos.

One thing led to another, and Trone challenged the Carlsbad club to an attendance contest with the Pecos club. Since the Pecos River flowed near each of the towns, the Pecos River liquid was decided upon as the proper spoils for the winner.

Last week, Rayman Pouncey, president of the Pecos club, received a telegram, answering the ultimatum of Trone: "Carlsbad Rotary Club accepts Pecos Rotary challenge for attendance contest for four weeks, March 2-23 inclusive. Loser gives winner gallon jug Pecos River water at banquet during district conference here. The attendance records are to be exchanged by secretaries the week of April 2."

+ McCamey News +

McCAMEY—Bids are being accepted and a contract will be let March 24 on the $60,000 McCamey Fire Station and Administrative Building, according to a notice issued by city hall officials last week. The building was approved by McCamey voters two years ago, but previous bids exceeded the amount allotted for the project. William G. Wuehrmann, 23 Paso architect, recently submitted a new plan for the building, and bids will be taken on the new plan. The bid letting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. March 24 at McCamey City Hall. Bill Moore, chairman of the McCamey Youth Program, announced the formation of a Junior Square Dance Club. All students in McCamey schools are invited to participate. The annual school census count will begin Monday, to establish the number of potential students for next year. The count will include all children who will be six years of age and over by September 1, according to Howard E. Stoker, school superintendent. Council Candidates James A. Rutherford and Jimmy J. Boyd both have filed for reelection as City Councilmen, according to James Fleming, city secretary. Rutherford is filling the unexpired term of C. W. Brown, who was elected mayor in April, and Boyd is filling his second elective term. Mrs. Lloyd McKinney returned from Dallas. She has been visiting relatives and friends. J. L. Robertson of McCamey and Frank Robinson of the Rio Pecos Camp are in Strawn, where they will visit their father. Mrs. C. C. Conley of Raymondville, who visited her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Mann, here recently, has returned to her home. She was accompanied by her grandson, Cliff Mann, who will be her guest for three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mushalek have received word that their son, Ben E. Mushalek, was one of several students at Tarleton State College to receive honor grades this semester. Mushalek made 40 grade points during the honor. Mrs. T. L. Fuller returned Wednesday from Houston. She had been with her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Golden, who underwent surgery in a Houston hospital. Jim Wilson, engineer for the firm Classen and Associates of El Paso, this week began survey work preliminary to beginning of the 114-block paving program. A work schedule of 150 days has been set. Arrangements for paving may be made with Ed Burnett in the McCamey City Hall.

Women Need Enough Water

By ALICIA HART
The mature woman who fails to drink enough water may find that her skin takes on a dark, leathery look. There is no substitute for plain, clear, cleansing water and the older woman needs two quarts of liquid a day, say many doctors. Without sufficient water, the body balance is disturbed and the gen-

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON— Government Complexity Shades Figures On Tax Paid And Cash Returned

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—A search for figures to show how much money Texans pay into the federal Treasury and how much they get back spotlights the complexity of our government. You can't find a clear cut answer to the question. You can pretty well determine how much is paid in, but not what Texas or any other state gets back for its tax dollars.

No one can figure, for example, how much a state receives as its share of national defense dollars or indirect benefits from the billions spent in Marshall Plan foreign aid. Fifty cents of each tax dollar goes into those two programs alone. Taxes indirectly paid by consumers show up from the state of origin of the commodity; the whiskey and cigarette taxes Texans pay are collected by the government largely in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and the Carolinas. Last year Texans paid a total of $1,417,124,034 in direct taxes into the treasury, including $757,422,373.89 in individual income taxes, $416,392,905.90 in corporation taxes, $81,803,610 in employment taxes and $161,505,144 in miscellaneous taxes. The increase in government costs over prewar years is reflected in tax collections. Texas paid only $132,352,083 in direct taxes into the U. S. Treasury in 1940. Its 1949 payments were almost a third as large as the total national collections of $3,340,452,346 of such. The total federal collection of such taxes in 1949 amounted to $40,463,125,018. The national debt increased from $48,000,000,000 on June 30, 1940, to $256,000,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1950. As for ascertainable direct benefits to Texas in dollars and cents in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949: The total amounted to $372,826,679. This figure does not include hundreds of millions of dollars spent annually to maintain the numerous Army, Air Force and Navy installations in Texas. Each of these means large payrolls and purchases of supplies, which brings business to local merchants and indirectly helps the whole community. Next To Impossible The Department of Defense said it would be virtually impossible to determine exactly how much actually is spent in the overall maintenance of all military installations in Texas. In this connection the Democratic National Committee presently is engaged in a compilation of figures by which it hopes to show, for political purposes, approximately how much money goes to each state, at least to principal congressional

Rotary Speaker

New Roach Control Product On Sale Here

The Midland Hardware and Furniture Company has assumed the dealership for a new product, a odorless coating which the manufacturer states will control roaches. Johnson's No-Roach is the name of the product. A liquid, it is painted on surfaces where roaches and water bugs gather. The coating is invisible, stainless and sanitary. Roaches, ants and waterbugs that walk across it become paralyzed and die within a few hours, according to a statement by the manufacturer. The preparation does not include DDT, phosphorus, sodium fluoride. No-Roach reportedly stays effective for months. In making chiffon, angel, or sponge cakes remove the eggs from the refrigerator at least an hour before using. When the chill is out of them, the whites will give greater volume when whipped.

districts, in upkeep of military centers. The data is being gathered in this year's political campaigns. As an example, the unofficial estimate is that the Sheppard Air Force base at Wichita Falls means an annual payroll of approximately $25,000,000. Other military establishments in Texas: Air Force—(14 bases) Bergstrom, Austin; Biggs, El Paso; Brooks, Keesler, Lackland and Randolph, San Antonio; Carswell, Fort Worth; Ellington, Houston; Goodfellow, San Angelo; Perrin, Sherman; Pyote, Pyote; Sheppard, Wichita Falls; Connally, Waco; Reese, Lubbock. Army—Fort Bliss and William Beaumont General Hospital, El Paso; Fort Sam Houston, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fourth Army Headquarters, San Antonio General Depot, at San Antonio; Fort Crockett, Galveston; San Jacinto Ordnance Depot, Houston; Red River Arsenal, New Boston (Texas); Fort Worth Quartermaster Depot, Fort Worth; Camp Hood, Killeen and Temple; Gactaco Ordnance Works, Biter (Dumas). Navy—Corpus Christi Naval Air Base, Cabanis Field and Naval Hospital, Corpus Christi; Orange Naval Station, Orange; Naval Air Station, Dallas. Calculation Made Budget Bureau officials have calculated that 34 cents of each tax dollar goes for national defense, 16 cents for foreign aid, 13 cents for veterans, 13 cents for interest on the national debt, 6 cents for social welfare, health, social security and 18 cents for general government. The following programs account for $372,826,679 in direct returns to Texas in the year ended June 30, 1949: Agricultural experiment stations, $263,213; Research and Marketing Act of 1929, $160,800; cooperative agricultural extension work, $1,871,133; national school lunch program, $4,470,657; national forests fund, shared revenues, $103,403; sub-national land service payments to counties, "shared revenues," $16,522; forest fire cooperation, etc., $173,892; exportation and domestic consumption of agricultural commodities, $1,606,146; Department of Commerce: Civil Aeronautics Administration federal airports program, $1,424,944; federal aid, wildlife restoration, fish and wildlife service, $254,585; Payments from receipts under Migratory Bird Conservation Act and Alaska Game Law, shared revenues, $3,492; American Printing House for the Blind, $5,800; colleges for agriculture and mechanic arts, $142,212; cooperative vocational education, $1,376,783; Venereal disease control, $991,057; tuberculosis control, $166,530; general health assistance, $541,900; mental health activities, $106,372; hospital survey and planning, $1,020,761; maternal and child health services, $463,757; services for crippled children, $373,778; child welfare services, $199,207. Department of the Army: lease of flood control lands, shared revenues, $11,491; emergency maternity infant care emergency grants, $4,341; flood control, $23,313,000; navigation, $5,993,100; Old age assistance, $55,067,370; aid to dependent children, $6,159,039; aid to the blind, $1,709,502; unemployment compensation and employment service administration, $4,644,637; office of vocational rehabilitation, $830,199; public works advance planning and emergency grants, $74,022; veterans' educational facilities emergency grants, $1,164,000; Community facilities emergency grants, $5,826; maintenance and operation of schools, emergency grants, $836,484; regular grants, highway construction, $29,494,129; emergency grants, highway construction, $22,222; federal annual contributions, $68,217; veterans' reuse housing program, emergency grants, $1,388,277; supervision of on-the-job training, $360,356; administration of unemployment and self-employment allowances, $804,486. Agriculture Department, agricultural conservation program, $14,468,858; National Guard, $5,971,821; reconversion unemployment benefits for seamen, $18,296; Public Health Service cancer control, $92,021; forest highways, $88,844. Automobiles, etc., for disabled veterans, $385,043; readjustment benefits (GI aid program, Public Law 346) and vocational rehabilitation (Public Law 16), $205,245,669. The total number of federal employees in Texas, including military and naval personnel, is not readily available from any one source. Senator Tom Connally recently received a request from a constituent for a list of all federal establishments in Texas. The inquirer wanted to direct a job application to each one. The senator called on the Civil Service Commission to furnish him such a list. It ran for a dozen pages but did not include post offices, for example. The list did show the following number of "federal establishments" in each of these cities: Amarillo, 21; Austin, 24; Brownsville, 17; Corpus Christi, 22; Dallas, 81; El Paso, 46; Fort Worth, 32; Harlingen, 14; Laredo, 12; Lubbock, 10; San Antonio, 41; Texarkana, 16; Waco, 15. There is no breakdown of the federal funds that go into operation of government-owned synthetic rubber plants in Texas, nor contracts to private concerns for defense and foreign aid order. Tax collections in Texas in calendar year 1949 included in the excise field $1,010,500 on fur, $9,414,091 on jewelry, $3,197,639 on luggage and $3,860,412 on toilet preparations. The President's tax program calls for cutting these taxes in half.

Puppet Show Scene

Pinocchio at the breakfast table makes one scene from the Suzari Marionette production of the puppet show, "Pinocchio," which will be presented in the Midland High School Auditorium March 13 under sponsorship of the Elementary Schools of the city.

For a dunk for large potato chips, mash avocado and season it with lemon juice, salt, and grated onion. Serve for a party snack or as a first course, with tomato juice for a family meal.

Armed Forces Medical Symposium Scheduled

Travel expenses and $7 per diem will be paid to the first 300 active reserve officers who apply to attend the Joint Armed Forces Medical Symposium which will be held at the Brooke Army Medical Center and School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field, April 4-8, according to information received from Fourth Army Headquarters at Fort Sam Houston.

The first day will be taken up with problems of nuclear fission and on medical plans for civil defense and disaster. The second day will be spent at the School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base, and the third day will include discussions of organized Reserve Corps Medical units.

Medical Corps officers, nurses, dentists, Women Medical Service Corps officers, Medical Corps service officers and veterinarians are invited to attend. Col. David E. Linton, Fourth Army Surgeon, said.

SINGING CONVENTION SCHEDULED SUNDAY

The monthly singing convention, which meets the first Sunday of each month, will convene in the Free Will Baptist Church at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Persons from eight counties are expected to attend.

Cotton Clothes Resort To Glazed Chintz

Crisp and colorful glazed chintz makes the violet-patterned dinner-skirt (left) and the fruitous-patterned skirt (center) for resort clothes which look ahead to summer fashions. Unglazed plaid cotton pinafore (right) is stiffened at sides to give a crisp look to the shirred skirt.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor
NEW YORK — In the fashion fabric forecast of what will shine brightest in the Spring-time sun-light, decorators' chintz is an odd-on favorite to be one of the winners. Resort clothes designed for outdoor entertaining point up the adaptability of glazed chintz for Spring and Summer casuals. The same qualities that endear chintz to the home decorator—its crisp texture, its gay patterns and its washability—meet with equal favor among fashion designers.

Full, gathered skirts of glazed chintz are a favorite with designer Dorothy Cox for her Bermuda-inspired collection of patio clothes. The brilliant rays of the southern sun don't "wash out" the clear bright colors used for patterns.

Multi-colored butterflies and fruit are patterns on another skirt which promises to keep its non-wilting crispness and lively coloring intact through repeated washings. The strapless cotton top for this skirt is zippered up the back to insure a really smooth fit.

An unglazed cotton pinafore in navy, red and white plaid owes its perkiness to stiffening at the sides and shirring across the front and back. The halter neckline of this pinafore, which is worn over a full white pique skirt, bares back and shoulders to the sun.

Schools Will Bring Marionette Show Of 'Pinocchio' Here

The Midland Elementary Schools have arranged to bring the famous Suzari Marionette Company of New York to Midland Monday, March 13, to present one performance of the play, "Pinocchio," in the new high school auditorium.

"Pinocchio" tells the well known story of the puppet who wants to become a human boy, and what he does about it. Leaving the workshop of his father, Geppetto, he goes out into the world.

In one scene after another Pinocchio meets with a puppet-ballerina, a puppet-master, a deceitful cat and fox, a Booby coachman, and a carnival clown, who teach him all the wrong things. At the height of his troubles, Pinocchio is turned into a donkey, tossed into the ocean and swallowed by a whale.

The large-sized Suzari stage accommodates all this action, including the final happy ending. The show is accompanied by music, dancing and rollicking songs.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at the offices of the elementary school principals.

Texas' Veterans Still On Conquest, But This Time Are Conquering Worn-Out Soil

AUSTIN — (AP) — Battle-wise Texas veterans still are on the conquest.

This time they are conquering lands right at home—making "worn out" soil "magically" give forth bountiful crops that bulge the eyes of oldtime farmers.

That "magic" every vet knows is just plain "know-how." It won battles. It's raising crops. It has been coming to veterans in scores of on-farm training programs, complete with subsistence payments, through the GI Bill of Rights.

Since the program started July 1, 1946, some 32,000 Texas farmer-veterans have parked the tractor, finished the chores a little early, and gathered at some community center to learn the tricks that take many of the tears out of farming.

The results: "The most tangible any government training program can show," says Sam L. Adams, the state vocational education board's overseer of the program in Texas.

Adams has completed a voluminous survey to prove his point. The farmer-vets in training have invested more than $100,000,000 in homes, land, stock and equipment. They employed approved methods of cultivation, fertilizing, crop rotation and soil conservation.

These are some of the results Adams' survey shows: Eugene W. Mitchell of Lamb County rose from a wage earner in 1942 to owner-operator of a 180-acre farm producing as much as 102 bales of cotton on 80 acres.

Curtis Lehde of Burleson County started with $1,500, a wife and a model A pickup. He now owns a 191-acre farm with improvements, despite a setback of his home burning.

C. J. Bridges of Quitman has produced 143 bushels of corn per acre. James E. Youngblood of Hamilton County increased his farm inventory $10,000 in three years despite the war having left him crippled.

Ralph Roebuck of Ellis County made 20 acres of merrid clover yield $200 per acre in beef and seed.

THE BULLDOG

Written By The Journalism Class Of Midland High School

Dusty Files Reveal History Of "Bulldog"

By BET STUDDERT
How much do you know about your high school paper? Everyone knows it is published once a week on Sunday in "The Reporter-Telegram" but about the early editions of the paper that told of school life 10 years ago?

The first copy of the paper appeared in the Fall of 1933 under the masthead of "High School News." There was no variety in the headlines. They were all the same small type. Pictures did not appear until about 1940. A different staff was chosen for each edition of the paper.

One copy of the News said that W. W. Lackey, then superintendent of schools, was offering a prize to the home room who sold the most tickets to a football game. They had their loyalty problems then, too. At that time Wink and Stanton were on our football schedule.

One of the biggest clubs in 1934 was the Literary Society. The initiation of freshmen and new students was looked forward to by the old students. Of course, the poor freshmen shook in their boots.

When the initiation was held, the candidates were met at the door by a group of seniors who brandished their foreheads with a mercurochrome "P" which stood for "Fish"—a very low character at that present time. The lower part of the "fish" face were their foreheads with olive oil. No one can tell what horrible things went on behind the closed doors.

Life in 1933

If you had been in high school in 1933 you might have seen some of the following articles in the paper:

"And then there was the freshman who was so dumb she thought that the numerals XXXIII meant 'love and kisses'."

Students were so uninhibited in those days that the principal had to call a truce in the Junior-Senior fight—at least until exams were over.

Midland High School had grown so that in 1934, 65 students were graduating in June. The paper now covered approximately one-fourth of a page. The News staff was composed of people who were juniors and interested in putting out a high school paper.

Things were a bit different in the Reporter-Telegram itself in 1934. "Boots" of the funny papers, was a beautiful flapper who used the appropriate slang of that day and "Clara," her best friend, was a little rounder than she is now. "Freckles," also of the funnies, was a child-like young boy and not half so good-looking as he is now.

Cars could be bought at the outrageous price of $540. You must remember that the depression was going full blast then. The Dione quintuplets were born in 1934.

In 1940 the school paper had grown to cover one-half page but still had the name "High School News." Journalism was accepted as a regular course at MHS. News of the second World War was brewing on the front pages and the "Court of Stars and Stripes" was the theme of the 1940 Gatoico coronation.

The name of "The Bulldog" was adopted in 1941 for its masthead. The paper was edited, rain or shine, by the Journalism class and the press club. Because the United States was in the war there came into being about this time a regular column called "News of Excess in the Service," which continued until the end of the war.

Athlete Feats

By DAN DICKINSON
Sports Editor, The Bulldog

Several of the track boys have shaped up nicely after completing their second week of working out. Our most promising point maker this year is Ralph Brooks who last season tied for the district championship in the high jump. Harris Smith was fourth in the district last year in the high hurdles. He should do much better this season.

John Klingler is also a returnee from last year's track team. Klingler narrowly missed a fourth place in the mile in last year's district meet. This year he has already been clocked at 5:02 for the mile which is usually good enough to win most of the West Texas meets. Leo Hatfield may give Smith a hot race in the hurdles as his form is developing nicely. Our sprint men may be Dan Black and Jack Burris. Both boys have a natural speed but as yet lack sprinting form.

Baseball workouts last week were more or less confined to the pitchers but a few infield and outfield workouts were held. Probably most of the pitching duties this year will fall on Bill Medart and Jim O'Neal. The best catchers appear to be Duane Bush and Loren Roberts.

The boys PE classes are playing softball this six-weeks when the weather permits. They will play to an intramural championship in softball just as they did in flag football and basketball. The play-offs probably won't be held until the last of this six-weeks.

Next week the girls volleyball team has two games scheduled. Tomorrow, March 6, the girls play Big Spring, here. March 10 the team is slated in the Big Spring Volleyball Tournament.

Students Meet Governor

Texas Legislature Passes Resolution Honoring MHS'ers

When 13 Midland High School students made a trip to the Texas Legislature, they were told that they were the first airborne students ever to come to the Senate.

In honor of this event, State Representative J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, introduced Resolution No. 49 before the House commending these students.

Copies of the resolution along with a congratulatory letter from Hill D. Hudson, Representative of Pecos, arrived Thursday. Shirley Harrison was the first student to bring her resolution to school.

Students who made the flight and received copies were Alan Olson, Richard Hull, Pat Emmons, June Hazlip, Shirley Harrison, Mary Nell, Wanda Burnside, Don Drummond, Gerald Adams, Carolyn Curd, Deplane Tabor, Marion Richardson, Mrs. Elsie Magee, Mrs. Hill Hudson, and Jean Ferguson.

The resolution said:

"WHEREAS, We have visiting in the Capitol today, students accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. Elsie Magee, from the Midland School; and

"WHEREAS, These students have shown considerable interest as can be seen by their having flown to Austin this morning to visit the Capitol City and to learn of the functions of their State Government so that they may grow into worthy citizens of this State; and

"WHEREAS, The Senate of the State of Texas appreciates the interest shown by these students and their sponsor in making this trip to Austin; now, therefore, be it

"RESOLVED, By the Senate of the State of Texas, that the Senate express its appreciation to these students for this visit and that a copy of this Resolution under seal of the Senate be forwarded to each member of this group.

(Signed) Grady Haselwood, President Pro Tempore of the Senate."

Dedication Date Set For March 11

On Saturday, March 11, at 7:10 p.m. one of the greatest events that will ever take place in this high school building will occur. This date has been announced by Charles F. Mathews, principal of Midland High School, as the formal dedication of the new high school plant.

The ceremony will begin promptly at 10 minutes past seven with a band concert lasting until 7:30. This will be followed with songs by the A Cappella Choir, the official welcome, introduction of special guests by Mr. George T. Abell, president of the Board of Education, and an address by Dr. A. J. Stoddard.

Dr. Stoddard is superintendent of the Los Angeles public schools and former superintendent of schools in Philadelphia. He is recognized throughout the country as one of the nation's greatest educators.

Student groups taking active part in the services will be the Pioneer Air Lines, directed by Jerry Hoffman, the A Cappella Choir, directed by R. C. Michener, the Gold Jackets, led by Ella Mae Blair, and the home economics department, under guidance of Mrs. C. E. Palmerly. The Gold Jackets will serve as guides to show visitors through the buildings and the home economics department will be host at open house after the program.

Special invitations have been sent to school superintendents of schools from Abilene to El Paso and from Plainview to the border, to our congressman, district attorney, district judge, mayor, all former school board members, and our present Board of Education.

"A turnout of about 3,000 people is expected," said Mathews, "and we will have the address sent into all the homes by the public address system."

This will be the first program of its kind to be presented in Midland since the formal dedication of the building is now the Junior High School in 1928, and the Midland Public School System sends out a cordial invitation to all who wish to attend.

Midlandites Take Trip; Win Legislative Praise

By JOHN BRENT WOOD

A group of Midland history students conducted by Mrs. Elsie Magee, MHS math instructor, were the fortunate visitors of Texas's capitol city, Austin, February 23.

The trip, the purpose of which was to equip MHS'ers with first-hand knowledge of the workings of the Texas Legislature, was sponsored by Midland and Austin Chambers of Commerce jointly with Pioneer Air Lines.

The following notes were taken by the Bulldog's traveling reporter, Mr. Ho-bo.

8:30 a.m.—Midland students and Mrs. Magee were met by Pioneer Air Lines service and carried to the airport.

7:06 a.m.—As the sun rose, the group of sleepy Midlanders took off.

Sheriff's Posse To Meet Monday Night

A special business meeting of the Midland County Sheriff's Posse will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the county courtroom of the Midland County Courthouse, Adjutant Herb Franklin said Saturday.

swim suits are already appearing on the horizon to prove that Summer is not far away as far as fashion is concerned.

Artful detailing—such as built-in bras, high-rising waistlines and trouser pleats—in the suits pictured promise maximum flattery for figures. Designer Frances Sider eliminates unnecessary frills in favor of sleek, slim styling which adds not a whit of bulk to a figure.

sharkskin belt which stays on for swimming. Straps can be detached for even sun-tanning.

A spectacular dandelion-printed cotton makes the beach outfit (right). The bra top can be worn with or without a halter strap. The slimming, high-waisted shorts have pleats to release needed fullness across the hips. Both bra and shorts are fully lined. Enormous baton push-up sleeves with elasticized cuffs add topside interest to the short, full beach coat.

Keep Curves Under Control

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
If you want to look slim and trim in the Easter parade, don't let those curves get out of control. You can stop that weight climb at the first extra pound and save yourself the rigors of real reducing later this Spring.

Knife And Fork Club Sets Next Meeting March 16

Officials of the Midland Knife and Fork Club said Saturday reservations will be accepted this week for the organization's March meeting, which will be held at 7 p.m. March 16, in the high school cafeteria.

Mrs. David S. Simms, internationally-known lecturer and former official of the National Business and Professional Women's Club, will be the guest speaker. "South of the Equator" will be her subject.

Mrs. Simms has spent much of her time in recent years in South America and Europe and is thoroughly familiar with foreign affairs.

She will be the first woman to address the Knife and Fork Club here.

Cupid's Cake Walk

After James Klerohomos and Toula Kazakes were married in a Greek Orthodox ceremony in Chicago, they held a reception and led the wedding party of 19 in triumphal march through this pastry arch. The giant cake weighed 540 pounds and stood 10 feet high.

Another Sees Flying Saucers

Another Midlander saw "flying saucers" Friday.

This man says he saw three of them in the skies over Midland about 11:30 a.m.

He says they were flying formation 50,000 feet high (that's a little over nine miles high).

He says one disc lighted up with a "blue cast" and the other two immediately came to it.

D. R. Carter previously had reported he saw three "flying saucers."

Bus Schedule Changes Listed

The Midland Bus Terminal announces schedule changes on the Baygent Coaches lines effective Monday.

A bus previously scheduled west to Marfa at 10:40 a.m. will depart at 12:40.

Buses scheduled to San Angelo will depart at 8:35 a.m. and 2:10 p.m. and 6:45 p.m.

PECOS NEWS

PECOS—Interest in city politics skyrocketed here this week as Mayor E. G. Stafford announced that he has filed for reelection. He previously had announced he would not seek reelection. In the contest for city marshal, two members of the police force, J. L. (Jap) McIlvain and Sam Walding, are contenders.

There now are eight candidates for the four vacancies to be filled in the city council. They are: Emmett Beauchamp, A. W. (Bill) Bingham, Earl Crow, Johnny Fonville, Price Francis, Joe Hagar, Ben Matta and L. H. Nutt. Bob Davis and Dub Martin are the only candidates for city secretary.

The Pecos Chamber of Commerce went into action when word was received that the Pecos and El Paso districts of Western Cotton Oil Company were to be combined. The chamber urged Pecos civic leaders to write the company's Abilene office, urging that the Pecos branch be left open, and that George B. Hall, Pecos manager, be retained here. No decision has been announced.

Auxiliary Plans April Game Party

CRANE—April 1 was set as the date for a game party for the American Legion Auxiliary in a meeting in the home of Mrs. M. E. Lear Thursday.

Identification of "secret pals" was part of the program. Those attending were Jewel Hogan, Ila Gooch, Mrs. A. E. Earp, Dorothy Earp, Mary Fraley, Myrtle Shaffer, and Francine Parish, a guest from Houston.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

Assembly line techniques, of which Henry Ford was the outstanding pioneer, gave American mass production tremendous impetus in the first half of the twentieth century. High-speed, assembly-line production was applied not only to autos, but to almost every line of industry. America's general prosperity and high standards of living, most people will tell you, are based on American mechanical "know-how" applied to mass production by means of labor-saving machinery. Much of our food, our kitchenware, our Bibles, our furniture, our vitamins and sometimes even our houses are turned out on the assembly line. Foreigners from all over the world journey to this mecca of industrial civilization to marvel at how it's done and to pick up a little of the "know-how."

Kermit News

KERMIT—Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Simpson and son have moved here from Fort Worth. Simpson is an employe of the Gulf Oil Corporation.

Dr. Montgomery, assistant to the president of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, will speak at morning and night services of the First Christian Church here Sunday. Services are held in the American Legion Hut.

Jack Shade, head of the Winkler County Memorial Hospital, reports that only a few patients with influenza have been admitted to the hospital.

Mrs. Frank Dickerson was hostess in her home Wednesday night with a "get-acquainted" party for the Adult Bible Class of the First Christian Church.

The most delicious of canapes are made with thin rounds of whole wheat bread topped with cucumber slices and dabs of curried mayonnaise.

Afternoon Recital By Piano Pupils Is Scheduled Sunday

Piano solos, from simple tunes by younger pupils to classical compositions by advanced students, will make up the recital program to be presented by pupils of Homer B. Meek, Jr., in the First Methodist Church at 4 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to hear the following selections:

"Bandman's Lullaby" and "The Grasshopper," Thompson, by Hope Russell; "The Juggler" and "Toy Soldiers," Thompson, by George Thomas; "Hide-and-Seek," Roeder, by Estelle Myri Currie; "Patterns" and "Run-Away River," Thompson, by Michael Brady.

County Judging Precedes District Show And Sale

With all indications of a record of number of entries, the annual Midland Livestock Show will open Monday for a two-day stand.

All animals must be weighed, entered in the barn by 4 p.m. Sunday, with a period of grace for entries coming from other shows. The show is to be held at the Midland Fair Grounds, east of the city.

Youths representing seven counties will have animals in the show. The counties are Midland, Ector, Martin, Upton, Glasscock, Andrews and Crane.

Judges are Frank Newsom, county agent, Alpine, fat steers; H. M. Carter, San Angelo, fat lambs, and L. M. Hargrove, Lubbock, fat barrows.

The show is sponsored by the Midland Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with county agents, vocational agriculture instructors, 4-H Clubs and FFA organizations.

There will be an auction sale on the second day of the show.

Weighing and sifting of steers, barrows and lambs will begin at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Judging of the county show will get underway at 9 a.m. Monday, with judging of the district show to follow at 1 p.m.

Auction sale of fat steers, barrows and lambs will be conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Premiums for the county show will be given as follows:

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
 Drew Pearson says: Nation desires and needs peace; "Cynical" stevedores "proud of the privilege" loading Legionnaires' Tide of Toys for European children; More information, guidance, leadership for Americans suggested to President.

Editor's note—Drew Pearson's column today is another in the series of letters he has written to Washington leaders on the American people's desire for leadership toward peace. Today's letter is to President Truman.

Washington, Honorable Harry S. Truman, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

While you and I may not agree on some things, we do, I think, agree heartily on the nation's desire and need for peace. And I personally have a very high regard for your sincerity and devotion to that cause.

I only hope that some people in government have the same trend of thought and have as much farsightedness as the originator of this idea for amity among nations. "I could go on for ages about career men in key government positions who know little about what is going on in the world today. In closing I want you to know that all the effort you are putting on this behalf isn't going to be forgotten. And perhaps the future holds the solution, and let's hope that we can get our nations and the various others to get together and have lasting peace."

Sincerely yours, Francis A. Mook.

In that connection I believe you will be interested in a letter which I received from a stevedore in Philadelphia shortly after I visited that city in connection with the departure of the first ship carrying the American Legion's Tide of Toys to Europe. The letter, signed by Francis A. Mook of 8525 S. Front Street, Philadelphia, follows:

"Today I worked on a ship loading toys for tots, or Tide of Toys as the program is called. After loading 12,000 cases of C. A. R. E., we proceeded to load the toys. I want to take my hat off to the American Legion for sponsoring this program. There is a lot of thought behind it, and you could almost feel it as I did today."

I thought you would be interested in reading this letter, Mr. President, because it so eloquently expresses how thousands of Americans feel regarding our individual efforts for peace. They are willing to do anything in their power to improve good will if it will prevent another war.

The great job of the American Legion in its "Tide of Toys" is an illustration. The Legionnaires got busy one day after Christmas, when most people wanted to rest and enjoy the holiday season. And they put countless hours of effort into the herculean job of collecting toys for the children who can be our best friends—or the enemy soldiers—of tomorrow.

"During my lunch hour, I strolled around the various piles and looked at the names of the towns and cities of the United States that were represented there. Big towns and little towns all alike. You know it made me feel good to look at those various piles of toys. A pile would measure about 40 ft x 30 ft by 10 to 12 ft high. Some were marked England, some Italy, some Germany, others Czechoslovakia, Belgium, France. It was a great feeling to know that the people who sent these toys were Americans, possibly your next door neighbor."

I could cite many other examples. You would be surprised at the number of American towns which have adopted European towns, not only to help feed and rebuild them, but to exchange citizens.

Then there were the "Make Democracy Live" letters—about seven million of them—which went to Italy during the Italian elections; and countless friendship letters exchanged between Americans and Europeans, many of them following in the wake of the Friendship Train and the French Mercat Train.

"Get Together For Peace"

"You know stevedores and longshoremen are a cynical group and it takes a lot to make them proud of anything. Longshoremen are noted for their pilfering ability. But you can rest assured that cargo wasn't even considered for that purpose. Take my word for that. Every case handled was treated as though it was their own personal property, and we were proud of the privilege of handling them."

And there have been the spontaneous movement by scores of American college students to bring European and Asiatic students to this country together with the efforts by various Junior Chambers of Commerce to bring young businessmen over here.

"You know when the American Legion and other veteran organizations were organized the cry went up that the vets were organized so they could ride a perpetual gravy train, paid for by the government and playing upon the sympathy of the public for their part in the first and second world wars; or perhaps they were out for some personal glory, or for sponsoring a bonus, or other reasons."

"However, this effort belies these rumors. It looks like a step forward. There was a time when Americans sat back and said "let the diplomats do it." Now they're not content with that. They want to work at peace themselves.

The reason I am writing all this to you, Mr. President, is that you have a great untapped reservoir of strength among the American people, anxious to help you in any step that will bring about peace. And I am not sure you realize it.

I know how deeply you feel on this subject because you have expressed your views with conviction to various callers, and they have told me how impressed they were with your sincerity. But you may not realize that thousands of others not only share your concern, but are willing to do something about it.

It may be that they can be one means of penetrating the iron curtain, of making friends with the Russian people, and thus insuring permanent peace. I do not know. But I do know that this great reservoir of good will among the American people needs more information, more guidance, more leadership.

They are looking to you. Respectfully and sincerely yours, Drew Pearson.

Mrs. Peterson Fails To Recognize Bargain

LOS ANGELES—(P)—Such cabbage Mrs. John O. Peterson had seldom seen. She didn't realize what a bargain she got at George Munson's Grocery until she arrived home and opened her shopping bag. Out popped a paper sack full of greenbacks—with enough change to bring the total to $86.75. An absent-minded clerk had stuffed it in her bag. Mrs. Peterson turned it over to police, who gave it back to Munson.

Shoes In Bathroom Mystify Resident

BEAUMONT—(P)—Who put the shoes in Mrs. Jim Garvin's bathroom is a mystery that has baffled police. Mrs. Garvin reported that a pair of men's workshoes, belonging to no member of her household, was found in the bathroom with no explanation of how they got there. There was no evidence that the depositor took anything—even a bath.

Top 1949 Steer Entry

Fred Willis, Ector Countian, showed the best of them all in the 1949 Midland Livestock Show. His 1,000-pound milk fed Hereford rated over Midland's Bob Howard, whose entry earned the reserve champ award.

County Agents And VA Teachers Help Sponsor Stock Show

All animals to be shown in the ninth annual Midland livestock show must have been fed by 4-H and FFA youths under the guidance of county agents or vocational agriculture instructors. Vocational agriculture teachers who have helped sponsor the feeding of livestock for the show include: J. R. Cuffman, Midland; E. H. Cavin, Odessa; Jay Booth, Garden City, and James Pitts, Stanton.

HEAVY LOSS

Bruising of animals carried by rail and truck caused a loss amounting to $0,000,000 pounds of meat, worth almost $19,000,000, in 1947.

McKenney On CANASTA

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written For NEA Service

One of the main attractions of Canasta is the fact that any number can play. As the answer to one of my readers shows, as many as six can play any one of three different ways.

Q—In six-handed Canasta, how many cards are dealt? How many canastas are required? How many decks are used? How are the red treys counted?

A—The official rules of Canasta provide for three forms of the six-handed game. One is actually a four-handed game with a player from each side sitting out, and as in the regular four-handed game, two decks with four jokers are used.

The other two games are played with all six players participating, using three decks of cards and six jokers. Thirteen cards are dealt to each player. Two canastas are required before a side may go out. Red treys count 100 each, except that if one side gets five red treys they score 1000 points, while if one side gets all six red treys they score 1200 points.

Q—The top card of the discard pile is an ace. Our side needs an initial meld of 50 points. I have three aces in my hand. I know I can pick up the pack with two of my aces, but do I have to meld the third ace, too? Or can I retain it in my hand and meld it later?

A—Yes, you may hold it in your hand. No matter how many aces you had in your hand, you need use only two of them to pick up the pack. Most of the time, however, it pays to get a base down, that is, four natural cards of a kind, so that your partner will know where to play his wild cards to complete canastas.

Q—Our side needs 90 points for our initial meld. I have two aces in my hand. Can I play these two aces with three deuces? My opponents said I never could put down more wild cards than natural cards.

A—Your opponents were wrong. You can meld up to three wild cards with any meld. It does not sound like good policy to put all those wild cards down with just two natural cards, but you have a perfect right to do it if you want to.

Q—We need 50 points for our initial meld. The top card of the discard pile is a 10. I have a 10 and a deuce in my hand, also three queens. Can I take up the discard pile with my 10 and deuce, meld my three queens and thus complete our initial meld?

A—No. Until your side has made an initial meld, the pack is frozen to you, and you cannot take it unless you have two natural cards in your hand that match the up-card. If you wanted to, you could draw from the stock pile, then meld your three queens and deuce. That would give you 50 points, and now the pack would no longer be frozen to you or your partner until somebody discarded a wild card.

Sand Hills Stock Show Slated This Week In Odessa

ODESSA—With expanded interest and an increased number of entries, the annual Sand Hills Hereford and Quarter Horse Show and the annual Sand Hills Registered Hereford Sale will be held here Wednesday through Saturday. Indications point to the largest and best show in the history of the Sand Hills attraction, County Agent Hubert Martin, show secretary, said. Judging of club steers and lambs will be held Wednesday, with registered Herefords to be judged Thursday. Quarter Horse judging and a cutting horse contest are scheduled Friday. The auction of club steers and lambs and registered Herefords will feature Saturday's program. Eighty head of registered Herefords, 63 bulls and 17 cows, will be shown and sold, sponsors said. Numerous entertainment features will make the show one of the best and most complete scheduled this year in West Texas. Cal Smith is president of the Sand Hills Show and Glen Allen is vice president.

Quite A Mystery Until 'Solved'

LONDON—(AP)—Police cars roared up to suburban northwest London movie theater in the early morning darkness. Officers cautiously surrounded the building. Cleaning workers had reported hearing suspicious noises inside the theater. When the police finally opened the door they found a workman busy on a remodeling job. He explained he wanted to get it over so he could take in a football game in the afternoon.

+Crane News+

CRANE—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mathis, Jr., of Odessa are parents of a son, Darrell Lynn, born February 26 at Ector County Hospital. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mathis, Sr., of the Phillips Camp. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Sullivan and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Glenn and family, all of Texas, were guests Tuesday night of the T. R. Sullivans. Billy Don Ingram substituted as preacher at the Tabernacle Baptist Church Sunday because of the illness of the Rev. Dunn.

Texaco Dealers Set Meeting In Odessa

The 1950 Spring dealer meeting of The Texas Company will be held in Odessa at 7 p.m. Thursday. Leader of the meeting will be P. J. Shaver, superintendent of sales training. Sales plans, programs and objectives for 1950 will be outlined at the session. Dealers will be shown "The Inside Man," a feature-length motion picture produced especially for them. Another feature of the meeting will be an animated color film, "Mighty Cheap Insurance," covering the introduction of the new Custom-Made Havoline motor oil. V. L. Selzer, state manager and H. W. Brooks, zone manager, will participate in the meeting.

History Of The Midland County Livestock Show

The ninth annual Midland County Livestock Show which gets underway with weighing and sifting of animals Sunday, has shown considerable growth since its inauguration in 1941.

Midland businessmen, in cooperation with the county agents, 4-H leaders and FFA instructors, decided in 1941 to begin annual shows for the youth of the area. Gradually the show was built up and enlarged until today young men and women from seven Permian Basin counties show their efforts in the calf, lamb and barrow divisions.

History of the show has been colorful. Unlike many enterprises, the livestock emphasis was retained during the war years and the majority of the 4-H and FFA members continued to show their animals. In many cases the winners of smaller area shows bring their champions to the Midland events in order to place their animals on a larger market.

In that inaugural 1941 show, the Hotel Scharbauer Coffee Shop purchased the grand champion steer for 28 cents a pound. In 1942 the grand champ, shown by Bunky Smith, brought 33 cents. Through the years, the prices have ranged higher, and in 1949 the top calf brought a dollar a pound from a group of Midland merchants and businessmen.

The 1949 show found a total of more than $22,000 handed young feeders of the area for 122 animals placed on the auction sale. C of C Sponsor The Midland Chamber of Commerce has taken over the sponsorship of the annual livestock show although the show has its own officers. The Chamber of Commerce's responsibility, according to Manager Delbert Downing, is to insure the prizes and financial backing of the show. The show's directors take care of the weighing in, sifting, and execution of events.

Believing in the single judge system for each class of animals, the 1950 livestock show committee has obtained the services of three West Texans who are prominent in the judging of steers, lambs and barrows. Frank Newton, county agent from Alpine, will judge all the steers entered. H. M. Carter of the Mid-West Feed Yards, San Angelo, will act as lamb judge. Fat barrows will be judged by L. M. Hargrove of the Animal Husbandry Department, Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

Don Estes, manager of the Midland Livestock Auction, will auction the animals in Tuesday's sales. Estes auctions each Thursday for Midland.

Since the show began in 1941 with prize premiums of $200, more animals have been entered each year. More than 180 are expected for the 1950 show which will offer more than $600 in premiums.

Secret Service Busy With Forged Checks, Counterfeit Cases

A sharp increase in counterfeiting during 1949 gave the U. S. Secret Service its busiest year since the 1935 peak, according to a year-end report made by Chief U. E. Baughman to Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, and released through the Post Office Department.

The Secret Service in 1949 seized an unprecedented $1,418,946 in counterfeit checks, of which $1,037,785 represented losses to victims of counterfeit-note passers. By comparison, seizures in 1948 totaled $1,354,868, of which $981,445 actually was passed on to storekeepers, cashiers and other victims. The balance of $703,423 was captured before it could be negotiated.

In comparison with 1948, seizures in 1949 total $513,961 and losses only $190,133. There were 478 persons arrested for counterfeiting offenses in 1949, and 273 convictions. During the year there were 174 new counterfeit notes issued in production, some of which were eliminated by swift enforcement action.

Bogus Twenties

A seizure of about $150,000 in bogus $20 bills was made in June when agents in Washington, D. C., arrested four men and one woman, and confiscated a counterfeiting plant in downtown Washington. Two of the men, Eugene Creighton and Walter W. Kidwell, were convicted and sentenced to prison terms. The other three were freed following a directed verdict of not guilty.

The Secret Service also warned war veterans and moneyhandlers to safeguard veteran's dividend checks now being issued. Chief Baughman cautioned payees to keep mailboxes locked and urged storekeepers to insist upon good identification before cashing government checks for strangers.

"Check forgers are active everywhere," the Secret Service chief said. "Cashiers should remember that a government check is worthless if it bears a forged endorsement, and the last endorser of a forged government check is the loser. Losses to individuals who cashed forged Treasury checks in 1949 were heavy. The Secret Service received 32,738 forged checks for investigation, and closed 30,081 check cases involving a total of $2,045,155.23. On December 31, however, there were still 13,221 forged checks to be investigated, and new cases are being received at the approximate rate of 2,900 per month."

Plane Which Flew Hump Is Dismantled

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—The "Hobo Queen," a B-29 Superfortress veteran of World War II, has been dismantled here and is being sold for junk.

The "Hobo Queen" was sent to the school of aviation medicine, Randolph Field, after being flown back from the China-Burma-India Theater. Much of her past is a mystery to the personnel here, but 46 small camels painted on her side indicate that she flew that number of missions over the "hump" from India to China. She also bore many scars indicating she encountered enemy opposition.

Replacing Of Ancient Streetcars Planned

EL PASO—(AP)—Twenty late model streetcars will be put in service between El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, within the next month to replace antiquated cars now in use.

The cars, purchased from the San Diego, Calif., transit service, are being completely rebuilt. It was said by William Farrell, superintendent of the El Paso City Lines. Side seats required by customs officials, are replacing cross seats.

Grand Champ Fat Lamb

Jack Berry of Garden City exhibits the lamb which annexed the grand champion award in the district competition of the 1949 Midland County Livestock Show. Berry's entry topped all contestants.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

Ps. 37:8; Eccles. 7:9; Col. 3:8; Prov. 16:32.

ANGER IS POISON

In yesterday's study we saw that the stomach is made for good will and not for ill will. Good will "sets up" the stomach and ill will upsets it! What is true of the stomach is true of every other portion of the body. A counselor tells me that he knows of no single thing that causes more havoc in the human body than resentments. For resentment is poison.

A doctor was baffled over the cause of sickness in a baby. One day in visiting the child he came into the home while the parents were quarreling, and saw the mother suckling the baby meekly. The doctor threw up his hands and said, "Now I know what is the matter with your baby — you are poisoning it by this ill will." The poison was in the mother's milk, put there by anger. In two days the child was dead.

A missionary in China did not want the wife of the doctor to visit her when she had her baby. The knowledge of this upset the doctor's wife — there were strained relations. The flow of the mother's milk stopped two days after the child was born. The upset with the doctor's wife was responsible for the stoppage.

A doctor in the Mayo Clinic told me that he could see a stomach ulcer healing before his very eyes on the X-ray pictures when a patient surrendered her resentments.

A pastor had his heart set on a certain appointment. When he did not get it, his wife became embittered and ill and died shortly afterward, and he himself became spiritually so upset that he left the ministry. Resentment killed the body of one and the soul of the other. It was poison.

It is becoming more and more clear that qualities of character determine frequently the physical health of the person. We do not mean to say that they determine all diseases, for there are contagious diseases and they are real, and there are structural diseases and they, too, are real. But in all probability 60 per cent of diseases root in the mental and spiritual.

O God, I see that I pass on to my body the health and unhealth of my mind and soul. I want, then, to be healthy in soul and in mind. Therefore I would take into my very being the health of Thy mind. Let me be saturated with Thy ways and Thy thought that I may live in radiant health through and through. Amen.

4-H and FFA CLUB MEMBERS

MANY YOUNGSTERS will come with their calves, hogs and sheep to compete in the 4-H and FFA show and sale. They come from many surrounding counties . . . they come with high hopes that their entries will be judged the best.

These boys and girls are engaged in a serious and important business . . . the business of properly feeding and caring for livestock. They deserve all the support we can give them.

Let's Attend The Show And Sale!

Our interest in these young people is natural, for we can proudly name scores of cattlemen who are our customers . . . yes, and their grandfathers were customers before them. The Midland National Bank works with cattlemen . . . knows cattlemen . . . understands their problems.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

It is livestock show week in Midland, and Dirt, Squirt and Quirt takes this means of welcoming all exhibitors and visitors to the annual attraction. DQ also wishes for officials and 4-H Club and FFA exhibitors from Martin, Upton, Glasscock, Crane, Andrews, Ector and Midland Counties, the best and most successful show in history.

Sponsors have worked long and hard in arranging for the annual event and the youthful exhibitors have labored equally as hard in raising their calves, lambs and barrows for Spring exhibition. Their animals are the finest to be found anywhere.

Everyone is invited to attend the judging Monday at the Midland Fair Grounds and the auction sale Tuesday afternoon at the Midland Livestock Auction on East Highway 80. A large attendance is all that is needed to make the show a tremendous success. Visit the show and sale Monday and Tuesday.

Forrest King, chairman of the Finance Committee for the Midland Livestock Show, was working the lobby of Hotel Scharbauer a few days ago. He had a hand full of checks. He had seen a lot of people and had not had a turnover. One just does not turn down Forrest King when he is on such a mission.

Following the show here, many of the exhibitors and visitors will move on West to Odessa where the Annual Sand Hills Hereford Show opens Wednesday for a four-day stand. It is one of West Texas' largest and best club and registered Hereford shows and each year attracts record crowds. This year's event is expected to break all previous records. Hubert Martin, former Midland County agent, is secretary of the Odessa show. He now is agent for Ector, Crane and Andrews Counties.

Fifteen bales of cotton were ginned here last week, to put the season's total at 18,137 bales. One of three Midland gins closed down Friday and another plans to shut down in a few days. The third gin had not decided when to call it quits until next Fall. Much of the cotton land already has been broken up for Spring plantings, it is reported.

The market was steady to weaker and active on more than 700 head of cattle at Midland's Livestock Auction Thursday. Butcher cattle were slower while stockers were active.

Pat calves and yearlings sold for $22 to $25 with no real choice kinds offered. Mediums went at $20 to $22. Jersey rannies moved at $15.50 to $17.50. Fat cows brought $18 to $18.50, and medium cows sold for $14.50 to $16. Canners and cutters went at $11 to $14.50. Other sales: Bulls were bid from $17 to $18.75. Stocker steer calves weighing 300 to 400 pounds were in demand at $26.50 to $27.50, and 400 to 500-pound stockers sold for $22.50 to $26.75. A few odd lightweights went higher. Stocker heifer calves brought $25 to $26.50.

Stocker yearling and two-year-old heifers sold for $110 to $155 a head, the higher price going for a group of eleven. A lot of 33 brought $135 each. White-face cow and calf pairs went at $175 to $225, and mixed breed pairs moved at $125 to $185.

Two groups of black angus heifer calves, 43 in all, and weighing around 400 pounds, sold for $112 a head.

The staging of the annual Midland Livestock Show Monday and Tuesday ties in with the observance of National 4-H Club Week, which opened Saturday. Members of 4-H Clubs in Midland, Martin, Upton, Glasscock, Crane, Andrews and Ector Counties will exhibit stock in the area show here.

More than 1,850,000 club members in the United States are observing the special week. They are joined by 225,000 adult leaders and 14,000,000 former members, their parents and friends.

Texas Clubbers The 113,514 4-H Club members in Texas will strive to increase their membership during National 4-H Club Week. At the same time they will have on display throughout the state, exhibits of their accomplishments of the last year.

It is reported 4-H Club members in Texas last year owned 58,893 head of livestock, and sold more than 23,000 head for some $2,500,000. They exhibited almost 22,000 head of livestock and poultry and eggs from their demonstration flocks, according to state 4-H Club leaders of Texas A&M College.

Several officials of Midland Fair, Inc., including Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., Leonard Proctor, Marion Plynt, Johnnie Dublin and Buster Cole planned to be in San Angelo this weekend to confer with Everett Colborn concerning plans for the staging of the World Championship Midland Rodeo, May 31-June 1, 2, 3 and 4. Colborn, who produced the San Angelo Rodeo, again will furnish the stock and direct the Midland show.

Rep. Ken Regan of Midland is working closely with Texas cattle interests and independent meat packers concerning the Army's recent policy change in purchasing only grade B meat. Progress reportedly is being made in having the situation corrected, and the Army now is conducting tests to determine future purchase orders.

Jimmy Holloway, popular Stanton 4-H Clubber who showed both the reserve champion steers in the Martin County Junior Livestock Show last week, will participate in the Midland show Monday and Tuesday. His champion animal made the San Antonio Fat Stock Show this year, winning fourth place among the middleweights.

Holloway is far from a novice at showing top stock. In fact, he has done all right for himself in Midland shows. He held the milk-fed championships here in 1943 and 1946. In 1944 he showed the grand champ at Odessa and won a second place award at Amarillo. Holloway is an employee of J. C. Sale, Stanton rancher.

Henry Neal of Rankin has sold a string of yearling muttons at $19.50 a head in the wool, according to reports reaching Midland.

Ollie Parker, who ranches in Upton and Pecos Counties, reportedly has sold a string of black-face yearling ewes out of the wool for $21 a head, for Spring delivery.

of the Marfa Chamber of Commerce.

Three Crane ropers did all right by themselves in ropings at Penwell and Odessa last Sunday. Curtis Cook took home the money in the jackpot tie-down at the weekly Penwell rodeo. Bill Teague won first round money and then went on to take final honors in the regular Sunday Jones rodeo in Odessa. George Teague won first money in the second go-round of the show in Odessa.

Stanley Frank's West Texas Livestock Weekly reports the biggest sheep contract to date in 1950. Jim Espy of Fort Davis has contracted to sell 10,000 lambs to Kelly Owen of San Saba at 20 cents per pound.

The livestock paper also reports the sale by A. L. Wasson and Son of Big Spring of the Block Ranch in Lincoln County, N. M., to Tobe Foster of Lubbock. The Wassons bought the ranch last Summer.

An increase of $164 in premiums for the registered Hereford breeding cattle division of the 11th annual Monahans Livestock Show is announced by County Agent Jake Holmes. The show is scheduled Monday and Tuesday in Monahans. Holmes said the total premiums for the registered Hereford division will be $314. The champion bull and the champion female will receive $25 each and trophies. Glass premiums are set at $10 for first prize, $7.50 for second, and $5 for third. Arthur Elkins is chairman of the registered Hereford division.

A highlight of the show will be the 4-H Club and FFA sale Tuesday morning and Tuesday in Monahans. Premiums are set at 2 p.m. There will be no registered sale, however Mac McConal of Midlothian and formerly of Midland, will be auctioneer. Show judging will be H. L. Atkins, Jr., of Odessa, supervisor of McElroy ranches for West Texas.

Here is more information on the importance of the 4-H Club program to Texas: 4-H members grow crops on almost 51,000 acres of land, everything from cotton and corn to soil improving crops; they planted and cared for more than 10,000 acres of home orchards, home gardens and truck crops; they carried out soil and water conservation practices on 29,300 acres and conducted pasture improvement demonstrations on 27,300 acres.

They were just as active in home economics work. In home improvement, they modernized almost 9,000 rooms and made about 36,000 articles that could be used in the home. 31,703 girls planned a lot of meals for their families and friends, 452,492 to be exact and they served a lot more — 519,190; they preserved food too, 15,742 girls canned 504,406 quarts of food; froze 91,322 quarts and froze another 80,936 pounds of other foods; 37,397 chose clothing for their demonstration and during the year they made more than 106,000 garments and remade another 27,566.

Fun And Recreation You might think that 4-H members do nothing except work but that is not true. They believe in doing the job first, but they also have their fun and recreation programs. They camp, attend meetings, state 4-H Round Up at Texas A&M College, the State Fair, visit the major stock shows, send their representatives to all meetings and for the past two years they have been represented in the International Farm Youth Exchange Program. Any good 4-H member will tell you there is a time and place for everything, and they know how to mix things up.

Boyle Picks 92-Year-Old Hero Of Year

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)— If I had to pick a hero-of-the-year this early in 1950, it would be Frederick W. Theilmann.

At 92, this retired Minneapolis undertaker has set a stalwart example for a faint-hearted age. Lugging a movie camera and 1,200 feet of film, the energetic nonagenarian has flown to Europe on a three-month trip by air around the world.

It is the first time he ever has left this country, but Theilmann isn't running away from atom bombs, bad times, the sheriff or anything or anybody else. He is going on an Indian Summer voyage of adventure, and in a very humble spirit. "I am making this trip in the hope that I may learn more than I already know, God willing," he said.

And, God also willing, he'll come back fresher in mind and younger in heart than millions of Americans one-third his age.

It is a gallant thing to be curious and venturesome at 92. It proves anew what all physicians know, that old age isn't a matter of the years of the bone so much as the depth of the moss on the soul.

Still Eager Beaver What led Theilmann to make this epic pilgrimage I can't tell. Perhaps it was because in his work as an undertaker he made too many trips to the cemetery with people who ended up there early because they lost the zest for living.

In any case the fatigue of our times, the neurotic fear of the future that afflicts so many young and middle-aged people today, seems not to have touched him at all. In his long life he has survived three wars, numerous bitter depressions, known death in his family—and still he's an eager beaver. He wants to know more about life.

I don't think he's too unusual an old man for all that. It has been my experience that old people as a group face life with more courage, and retain a deeper, abiding interest in it, than younger people. After all, their courage and strength has carried them through the test of time—they are the ones who won their way through all troubles. The weaker sank.

PECOS — Reconstruction work on the Cactus Theater, damaged by fire February 12, has begun with J. P. Stubblefield Construction Company in charge of construction.

Al Cook, local theater manager, said that he expects the theater to be ready for operation in about six weeks. Complete redesigning and repainting, new light fixtures and new projection equipment are included in the construction plans.

George F. Henson and R. D. Whitson, both of Odessa, have purchased the Pecos Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company from the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company. It was announced this week.

Henson and Whitson operate the Nesbit Bottling Company of Odessa.

Six new patrolmen were to report this week for duty with the Texas Highway Patrol, Captain G. L. Morahan announced. All six of the new men reporting to District 7 are recent graduates of the highway patrol school at Camp Mabry, Texas.

The new men and their stations include: Thomas L. Allen, Jr., and Ralph P. Sherman, El Paso; Charles L. Wilson, Fort Stockton; Mark E. Fairman, Jr., and George L. Hoppe, Pecos, and Jack E. Shrum, Alpine. Addition of the two new men to the Pecos force raises the staff here to four patrolmen, one captain and one sergeant.

Faith IN THEIR DOCTOR

91% OF THE PEOPLE have faith in their family Doctor, and the great majority believe that his personal interest in them makes him a better Doctor. . . according to a recent unbiased survey made by Opinion Research Corporation.

Generations of unstated service and work have earned this FAITH. It's high time all of us were dedicating ourselves to a few "tried and true" faiths, for wholesome and balance.

FAITH that work and responsibility are part of our God-given privileges.

FAITH that benefits of health and medical science can be ours, through cooperation with our Doctor and Nature's laws.

FAITH that advancement of medical science, knowledge and skill can best be served — by keeping ourselves and our Doctors free of Federal red-tape. VOLUNTARY prepaid plans of medical and hospital care are NOW available to 100,000,000 Americans.

Natural Gas Industry's Record-Breaking Gains During 1949 Are Cited

WASHINGTON—The natural gas industry made record-breaking new gains in 1949. It plans to advance even more rapidly this year.

Government experts attribute the industry's continued feverish growth in great part to the extended uncertainty regarding the availability of coal.

Files of the Federal Power Commission show the agency during 1949 authorized construction of natural gas transmission facilities to add more than 3,000,000,000 cubic feet of daily delivery capacity to the nation's pipelines.

This unprecedented one-year expansion—7,537 miles of new pipeline—was to be accomplished for an estimated construction cost of $370,408,600. It is designed to bring new gas—or additional gas—to more than 100 cities of 50,000 population or larger.

In the previous peak year of 1948, by contrast, the commission authorized the building of 5,500 miles of pipeline and other facilities—at an estimated cost of $424,598,000—to add more than 1,400,000,000 cubic feet of daily capacity to the supplies of 85 similarly large cities.

End Not in Sight
"And the end is not yet in sight," says Commission Chairman Nelson Lee Smith.

"Increases in pipeline capacity proposed in applications pending before the commission on February 1 amount to 4,700,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily, or nearly half the total increase in capacity which has been authorized during the nine-year period (since the present certificate system under the Natural Gas Act became effective)."

Smith recently told a House subcommittee that "not only has the natural-gas pipeline business doubled in size during the last decade of rapid growth—there is every indication that its expansion will continue at a huge and rapid rate during the immediate future."

The pending applications call for building almost 14,000 miles of pipeline and almost 627,000 horsepower of compressor capacity. The estimated cost is more than $900,000,000.

Smith singled out for mention the applications now pending from:

1. Piedmont Natural Gas Corporation, to serve in Virginia and the Carolinas. Estimated cost, $72,000,000.

2. Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, (more than $100,000,000), Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corporation ($50,386,000) and Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, ($63,684,100) for extensions into New England.

3. Northwest Natural Gas Company, to bring Canadian gas into the Pacific Northwest ($41,931,000).

4. El Paso Natural Gas Company ($32,000,000) and Pacific Gas and Electric Company ($7,802,000), for supplementary supplies for California and Northern Arizona.

5. Southern Natural Gas Company ($76,145,895) and Atlantic Gas Company ($92,000,000) to go into large unserved areas in the Southeastern states.

6. Northern Natural Gas Company, to expand service in Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota ($51,840,000).

The largest pipeline projects authorized in the calendar year 1949 include:

Trunkline Gas Supply Company, from Texas and Louisiana to Palmyra, Neb., $84,340,300; Texas Gas Transmission Corporation, from Texas and Louisiana to Middletown, Ohio, $73,500,000.

Full Schedule At The Wishing Well

MALACCA, MALAYA—(P)—Every Friday from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m., a Chinese woman keeps vigil over a wishing well in Malacca.

Those who go to the well bring with them such offerings as fruits, candles and incense. The guardian of the well then commences burning the incense and candles and chanting weird prayers. When the chantings stop, devotees are given a bottle of water from the well and are asked to drink it so that their requests may be fulfilled.

Hungry Horse Dam, World's Fourth Biggest, Will Aid Power-Hungry Pacific Northwest

HUNGRY HORSE, MONT. — (NEA)—With little fanfare, Uncle Sam is building the world's fourth largest dam here. Only Grand Coulee, Hoover and Shasta are larger. It will be the world's third highest, too—564 feet.

The economy of the whole Pacific Northwest is expected to be aided materially by this concrete structure going up not far from the northwest entrance to Glacier National Park in Western Montana. The dam will add power for the kilowatt-shy area. It will hold back waters for other dams during dry periods, and will provide both flood control and irrigation water.

The U. S. Bureau of Reclamation has started to stretch the dam across the south fork of the Flathead River. This stream eventually finds its way to the Columbia River, which now has Grand Coulee and Bonneville dams, with McNary power dam to be added in three years.

Hungry Horse itself will generate 285,000 kilowatts of electricity, with the first of four generators scheduled to go into operation in 1952. This will be a tremendous help to the Northwest, which each winter is nearly forced down to the last kilowatt because of growing power demands. Last winter, street lights were browned-out in many cities. In Portland, Ore., streetcar heating was curtailed.

Power Small
In comparison to Grand Coulee or Bonneville, Hungry Horse's power will be small. But it will be a helpful second cousin. Engineers explain that the dam's 3 1/2-mile wide and 34-mile long reservoir will hold back 3,500,000 acre-feet of water that can be released when it's most needed in the summer time. An acre-foot of water is the equivalent of one acre of ground covered by one foot of water.

Within 10 years, irrigation water will be furnished for 50,000 acres, possibly 85,000, in the Flathead Valley which surrounds the city of Kalspell, Mont. It will make Flathead County (an area larger than Connecticut) pretty much self-sustaining regarding foodstuffs.

The whole project will cost $109,000,000, plus interest. But Reclamation officials say the U. S. Treasury will get most of it back from power sales.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

FUNNY BUSINESS

"It's a steam-heated tree for the first robins!"

Daddy Ringtail And Witch Hazel

Sammy Ringtail, the monkey boy, was walking home to the monkey house when he heard a noise behind him. Faster than the wind...

It came. It was Dr. Shoobug, the monkey doctor, running fast. Sammy had often seen the doctor run up and down the Elephant Path...

Shoobug! The doctor stopped in a cloud of dust like a car makes when it screeches up to a stop. Dr. Shoobug was very excited. "Tell Daddy Ringtail!" he said. "Tell Daddy Ringtail I've found Witch Hazel!"

Sammy hurried home. "Witch hazel!" he said to himself. "I wonder whether she's really a witch. He climbed up the very tall tree in a hurry. There was Daddy Ringtail, sitting out on the porch of the monkey house.

"Don't be so excited," Daddy Ringtail said. "Tell me what's the matter."

Sammy said: "It's Witch Hazel! Dr. Shoobug has found her!" Daddy Ringtail laughed because he saw that Sammy didn't know who Witch Hazel was. Well, but how could he know? He had never been told about it. But he did know that a witch is supposed to be an old, old woman with a tall black hat. A witch is supposed to dress in black, and to ride around in the air on a broom. But witches, remember, are only playlike. There aren't any really, certainly not in the Great Forest, although Sammy didn't know for sure. Said he: "Daddy Ringtail, is Witch Hazel really a witch?" Daddy Ringtail laughed and said: "Witch Hazel isn't a 'she'. Witch Hazel is an 'it'. And he was right. Witch Hazel is only a little bush that grows in the ground with leaves on it. Dr. Shoobug had been looking for the bush to take home and plant in his yard. I don't know why people call it Witch Hazel, or why Witch Hazel is its name. Names are funny sometimes, I think, don't you? Happy day!"

HOW TO DO IT

DRILLING GLASS

Glass is being used more extensively than ever before, says American Builder magazine. This method of drilling holes in glass is suggested for home craftsmen: File the tapered end of a saw file to a sharp point. Then start the hole by turning the wheel of a glass cutter on the spot where the hole is to be made. Drill the hole with a brace or hand drill, using the sharpened file as a bit. Keep the point of the file wet with turpentine. Do not press heavily on the drill.

If Doing Dishes Takes Too Much Time It Might Be Your House Is Getting Old

By NEA Service
NEW YORK — If it takes your wife (or your husband) twice as long as you think it should to get the dishes done, maybe you'd better check up on the age of your house. Very likely you belong to one of 23,000,000 American families living in homes more than 30 years old, or even worse, one of 8,600,000 living in homes built before 1900.

In that case, the slow dishwashing probably is the result of a house "disease" the architects call obsolescence. Home-planning specialists go further and call it a kind of creeping paralysis of inefficiency.

Reluctant running water, grumbling plumbing equipment, clanking and inefficient heating apparatus and badly arranged kitchens are some of the symptoms. A national survey just completed by a Minneapolis regulator company reports more than half of America's 42,000,000 homes are exposed to the ailment, which takes a toll of weeks of seeping through the floor, the heating plant may well be the culprit. Streaks of smoke on the walls near radiators or warm air grills may be traced to the same source—furnace cracks or holes. A good general utility man—about 87 per cent of the house—can patch these holes quickly at small expense.

Modern plumbing methods make the solution to this one relatively simple. Flexible copper tubing, instead of rigid piping, obviates the need of ripping out plaster to replace the plumbing.

If there's excessive dust and dirt seeping through the floor, the heating plant may well be the culprit. Streaks of smoke on the walls near radiators or warm air grills may be traced to the same source—furnace cracks or holes. A good general utility man—about 87 per cent of the house—can patch these holes quickly at small expense.

Comfortable Living Assured

This most attractive economy-priced house offers innumerable advantages for comfortable living. The rooms are comfortably large, and adequate closet space is provided throughout the structure. The plans are especially desirable, with every inch of space being utilized to the very best advantage. The specifications call for quality construction throughout, but it still may be built at a sensible cost.

Windows Require Careful Selection For Best Effect

By HENRY J. WINGATE
Nationally-Known Architectural Engineer

Windows are the eyes of a home and for their best effect and usefulness, must be selected carefully. Various types and sizes may be used in different rooms of the house.

Windows should be selected for easy operation, if movable, and to harmonize with the architectural lines of the house. A small, paneled leaded glass window of the type used in English cottages is out of place in a modern American ranch house.

New Developments
The over-sized picture window, either a single sheet of glass or sectionalized, sometimes as much as 20 feet long and extending from floor to ceiling, has become quite popular and brings the outdoors inside. Another postwar development is the combination metal window containing storm sash and screens.

All windows, whether they be of wood or metal and of the casement, awning, louver, horizontal sliding or double-hung vertical type, are delivered today complete on a building job. Windows were among the first components of a house to be prefabricated, and no longer are built up piece by piece.

They should be installed so that the sill and cap slope sufficiently to drain water away from the siding. Failure to do this is one of the most frequent causes of leaking walls. It is imperative that the frames fit tightly into the wall framing.

Weatherstripping
All window sash should be weatherstripped, preferably with metal. On most sliding sash as delivered from the factory there is a metal strip which fits into metal-lined grooves of the window frame. Metal casement windows ordinarily do not require this protection since they are machined to fit the frames tightly.

The old-fashioned sash cord and weights used with double-hung windows rapidly are being replaced with sash balances which operate by springs and friction and these are recommended on double-hung installations.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX
An average of 500 houses and apartment units were started every hour, or more than eight every minute, of the working day in 1949.

As much as 3 1/2 tons of steel may go into a 6-room frame house, including 800 pounds of nails alone?

About 20,000,000 non-farm families own or are buying their homes and 87 per cent of 11,400,000 of these own their homes free and clear of debt?

Of every 10 owner-occupied houses, three have been bought since the war?

At least 2,000,000 of America's 37,000,000 non-farm houses are over 70 years old; 5,000,000 between 50 and 70; and 11,400,000 between 30 and 50?

On-site labor amounts to between 32 per cent and 38 per cent of the cost of a home?

An average of one home fire occurs every 1 1/2 minutes and the average loss is $600?

Attached garages are wanted by 45.3 per cent of American home buyers; 40.2 per cent want semi-attached; and 11.6 per cent want a detached garage?

This year's census is expected to show an increase of 5,000,000 households since 1940, when there were 35,100,000? In 1948, there were an estimated 40,700,000, with 2,500,000 couples sharing living quarters with other families?

Good Risk

Samuel S. Fels, president of a Philadelphia soap company, celebrated his ninetieth birthday by doing a full day's work just as he has for the last 74 years. Sixty years ago an insurance company turned him down for a policy because he was considered a doubtful risk.

GI Education Deadline Is Slated In '51

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) has warned veterans that the gate to education and training under the GI Bill will be locked July 25, 1951. All inside the program by that date can stay there until their entitlement runs out or until their "course" ends or until July 25, 1956, whichever comes first. Most others will stay outside.

One reason for this move undoubtedly was the howl brought on last Fall when the VA put out a pre-dated regulation, known as I-A. Pressure from veterans, Congress and schools forced the VA to withdraw I-A, although its bad timing was not the only reason. (The strongest objection to it was that it compelled all veterans wanting to change a course to prove the new course was "essential" to employment.)

The VA is taking no chances on the possibility of any veteran's misinterpreting the significance of the July 25, 1951, deadline. In a long report sent to Congress January 25 the VA took six closely-typewritten pages to present its interpretation of the cut-off date. It recognizes that the GI Bill could be interpreted several ways with regard to that date.

The language in the law goes this way: "... That such course shall be initiated not later than four years after either the date of (a veteran's) discharge or after the termination of the present war, whichever is later." The "termination of the war" for this purpose is July 25, 1947, so there is no problem there. Four years later is July 25, 1951. (Almost all veterans were discharged before July 25, 1947.)

Initiate A Course
But what the VA wondered, did Congress mean by "initiate a course"? It decided it meant that a veteran would have to be in or working on an education or training course by that date (unless he is in a "normal" vacation period, or is sick, etc.). Getting a certificate of eligibility with the intention of entering a course would not do. The course would have to be underway. Nor would this do:

Suppose a veteran is taking a college course today. He gets his degree next June and goes to work. He works for a little more than a year and then decides he needs a course in accounting. So in August, 1951, he goes to the VA and asks for a supplemental certificate of eligibility to enter an accounting course.

He thinks that since he "initiated" a course of study (his college course) long before the July 25, 1951, deadline he certainly has complied with the law and can re-enter training after that date. But he can't. The new regulation forbids it.

That's not all. Once a "course" of study or other training ends after the July 25, 1951, deadline, a veteran will have a very hard time getting into another, even though he can show he was studying or training as the deadline passed by. The regulation says clearly:

A veteran may change his course (after the deadline) only while in training and only for these "satisfactory reasons":

1. He is not making satisfactory progress and it's not his own fault.
2. The course to which he wants to change fits his aptitudes and previous education.
3. The new course would be a "normal progression" and would allow him to achieve his educational or training objective.
