Battered Body Of Missing Girl Found In Forested Canyon

VANCOUVER, WASH.—(AP)—The abduction slaying of 18-year-old Jo Ann Dewey spurred police search here Monday for two men who carried her off in a black sedan.

The girl's unclad, battered body was found yesterday on a rocky east in the Wind River, 44 miles east of here in a forested canyon.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES Luke 8:50; 18:4; 18:41-42; John 5:8; 4:48-53. THE WILL TO BE WELL. Yesterday we saw that the first step toward deliverance from fears and anxieties was to desire to be free.

So Jesus went straight to the heart of self-centeredness when He confronted the sick with this question: "Wilt thou be made whole?"

That brings us to the third step: (3) Will to be well. Throw your will on the side of deliverance. Just as there is a will to believe, so there is a will to be well.

36,000 Telephone People Will Get Raises This Year

Regular, scheduled raises are important feature of union contracts which the company offers to continue.

Under existing union contracts, which the company has offered to continue, 36,000, or three out of every four telephone people, will get raises this year. Averaged over all employees, these raises will amount to 5¢ per hour or $2 a week per employee.

Unlike most industries where an employee must wait for a vacancy in a higher-paid job before he can advance, telephone people get regular, scheduled raises from the day they start until they reach the top rate for their jobs.

Also, in this up-from-the-ranks business, several thousand telephone people move up the ladder to positions of greater responsibility and higher pay every year.

Basic wage rate increases have more than kept pace with increased costs of living.

COST OF LIVING UP 66% Since Jan., 1941

BASIC TELEPHONE WAGE RATES UP 94% Since Jan., 1941

Provisions for the security of telephone people have improved, too.

The company's Benefit and Pension

Plan, long recognized as one of the best in industry, was improved in November to provide pensions of at least $100 a month, including social security, at age 65 after 20 years' service. Actual-

HOW DO THESE EARNINGS LOOK TO YOU?

The real test of telephone wages is how they compare with those paid in the same communities for jobs requiring similar skill and experience. Here are average weekly and annual earnings of telephone people.

Fully experienced Plant Craftsmen . . . $78 $4,072 (Such as Repairmen) A Week A Year

Plant craftsmen with five years' service: $64 a week, or $3,341 a year. One year's service: $43 a week, or $2,245 a year.

Fully experienced Operators . . . $46 $2,401 A Week A Year

Operators with five years' service: $44 a week, or $2,296 a year. One year's service: $30 a week, or $1,565 a year.

Fully experienced Business Office Women . . . $49 $2,558 (Service Representatives) A Week A Year

Business Office women with five years' service: $45 a week, or $2,349 a year. One year's service: $38 a week, or $1,984 a year.

The above figures include basic wages for a 40-hour week plus extra pay for overtime, night, Sunday, and holiday work.

ly, under terms of the plan, many employees will get substantially more.

The Plan also includes liberal sickness benefits—up to a year's full pay depending on length of service—plus disability, accident, and death benefits of as much as a year's pay. The plan doesn't cost employees a dime.

Working conditions are equally attractive under the contracts the company offers to continue.

Telephone people enjoy one to three weeks' paid vacation, depending on their length of service. Also, they get seven holidays a year with pay.

Judged by any standards you may choose, telephone jobs are good jobs—as they should be to attract the able people it takes to give you good service.

RATE INCREASES WAGE INCREASES

Rate increases in Texas have covered less than a third of the current cost of wage increases already granted — to say nothing of other increased operating costs.

This has been a big factor in pulling the company's rate of earnings down to the lowest level in its history.

Obviously, any further increase in wages, beyond those already provided in existing contracts, will have to come from pockets of telephone customers.

British Political Skirmishing

Britain's Labor government has ridden out the first flurry of storms stirred by the Conservative opposition in Parliament. It won three tests of strength in four days, by margins of 14, 25 and 19 votes.

Had Labor lost any of these, it would have been forced to call a new election. Yet the most reliable observers believe the Conservatives do not really want such a result at this time.

The Conservatives appear to be convinced they would have little to gain by unseating the government now. Were they to win an election today, their margin of control in the House of Commons probably would be little better than Labor's present advantage.

On the other hand, they believe time is on their side. They foresee a worsening economic situation, expecting that benefits from last year's currency devaluation steadily will diminish from here on.

So their current strategy is aimed not at overturning Labor but at simply harassing it, keeping it anxious and unsettled. They will try to forestall a new election until they think the outlook favors a Conservative victory by a wide enough margin to assure good working control in Parliament.

Labor, its nerves surprisingly steady so far, nevertheless recognizes that another election within a year is highly probable. Naturally its leaders are concerned that the moment—and the issue—be right.

Undoubtedly Labor itself is in no hurry for that time to come. It wants time to build up its popular following. For if it is to acquire a commanding position in Parliament, it must make greater inroads among middle-class voters than it did a month ago.

The government's course of action seems carefully designed for this purpose. It has signaled the end to further nationalization for the time being. Though it successfully has rebuffed proposals that the already approved nationalization of iron and steel be repealed, there is every indication Labor won't put the law into effect until after another election.

The party is even moderating its course in the social service field. Sir Stafford Cripps says a cost ceiling will have to be put on some services, and he mentioned the health program as one.

But all this activity on both sides represents just the first skirmishing. The big battle is a long way from being joined.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

WASHINGTON—A deluge of ideas has poured into this office lately outlining ideas on how to win the peace. This mail highlights one of the most important problems faced by government—so far largely neglected—how to mobilize the energy of millions of Americans behind the prosaic goal of peace.

It is easy to mobilize during war. There is an urgency, a drama, a danger behind war. But peace is humdrum. It is easy to sit back, pay taxes, let the diplomats wrangle about peace. Then, when they fail, as they have of late, the rest of us go back to fight all over again.

Of late, however, large numbers of the American people are getting vigorous in their demand that they be allowed to play some part in moulding the peace. They realize that peace is like the soil; a little erodes here and a little erodes there, until the intricate patterns are all gulleys up and war is inevitable.

It's when the first small gullies start eroding that you have to begin patching up both your pastures and the peace. Realizing this, the American public would like to help a little bit more in preventing wars rather than merely fighting to win wars after they have started.

Undoubtedly this has been behind the stream of ideas which have deluged this writer since a brief mention, a week ago, that we set up a Marshall Plan of ideas to win the peace. Some of these ideas may not be practical. Some are downright preposterous of permeating the Iron Curtain with a passion for peace.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY American's Card Authority

Bridge is a game of points, and generally you win more when you carry the ball—that is, when you become the declarer. There are times when a side will get way out of line on a contract, and go for a heavy penalty; but you cannot count on that to win.

McKenney's Dealer. A grid showing card suits and numbers: ♠ Q842, ♥ A7653, ♦ 754, ♣ 8532, etc.

good defensive game than an offensive game, but the defenders must be on their toes. For example, we generally try to avoid giving declarer a stiff and a ruff, but at times, as in today's hand, that may be the only way to defeat a contract.

Against the four-heart contract West cashed the king and ace of clubs. East played the eight-spot and then the deuce, asking his partner to continue. The third club was led. East won with the queen and declarer played the jack, leaving East with the thirteen-club.

Now East stopped to consider. South had opened the bidding with a spade, which means that he has at least four and probably five spades. He had shown up with three clubs. He must have at least a four-card heart suit. Therefore it was fairly certain that he had only a singleton diamond.

The only chance to defeat the contract was to lead the ten of clubs, hoping to establish a trump trick—and it did. South discarded a spade. West trumped with the nine of hearts and dummy trumped with the queen. Now declarer could not avoid the loss of a trump trick to East. Careful defense defeated the contract.

Cortisone, ACTH Help Fight Painful Rheumatoid Arthritis

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service. Rheumatoid arthritis is a disease which may take any one of several different forms and which is today one of the most important causes of chronic illness.

There are many extraordinary features about this disease. The usual form of the disease is more common in women than in men but one kind which involves the spine is much more common in men than in women.

In women who become pregnant in the presence of a severe rheumatoid arthritis, the condition also is relieved but almost invariably comes back in full force after the pregnancy is over.

Such strange things about rheumatoid arthritis as these have been carefully studied but not yet thoroughly explained. It is partly because of pondering these matters that cortisone or Compound E and ACTH came to be tried. It is proper now to look on cortisone and ACTH as discoveries of the greatest importance and as opening a new door to the study of the disease.

Victims of rheumatoid arthritis must realize that these substances are not yet the complete answer to the problem of treatment. The few patients on whom they have been tried almost always have obtained immediate and practically complete relief from their symptoms but these usually come back after stopping the injections. There are often some undesirable side effects but these do not seem to be either serious or lasting.

This is progress. Eventually research workers hope to find out the cause of the disease. TEXAS SERGEANT DIES IN CAROLINA CRASH. PORT BRAO, N. C. — (AP) — A Texan was one of two Port Brao sergeants killed Sunday when their car overturned near Elizabethtown.

Death Of 'Unknown General' Was Hard Blow To Air Force

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—He was an Air Force general whom few people knew. When wires carried the news that Gen. Muir S. Fairchild had died of a heart attack, even many officers and men in the Air Force may have had to knit their brows and ask, "Who?" For here was no strutting, be-medalled, publicity-seeking martinet.

He was a four-star general—the number two man in the Air Force. He was buried the other day in a simple grave at Arlington National Cemetery, with full military honors. All the big brass came out to do him honor, for he was a general's general. But such was his passion for anonymity that he practically was unknown, outside of his own small circle.

Arnold, Spaatz, Doolittle, Kenney, Vandenberg and the others won the battles and the headlines. General Fairchild had been assigned to stay home as a Pentagon general who worked on plans. If, suddenly, tomorrow, the United States should be attacked by an air raid that dropped an A-bomb, there would be an instant retaliation. It would be aimed at immobilizing the enemy until the United States and its allies could mobilize for counter-attack. The plans are all made and this general nature of their content is common knowledge.

If these plans work, one of the men to whom top credit should go would be General Fairchild. For that had been his job. He had been general manager of the Air Force. It had been his responsibility to see that plans came to life and did not lie around as mere pieces of paper in some forgotten file.

Was 'Old Man' An Airman Go. Because he was such an excellent planner, General Fairchild had been picked for this job two years ago. He had been jumped from a two-star general to a four-star general, over the heads of many another who had been his senior. But that was only one of the many surprises in the career of this unknown general.

He was an old man, the way Air Force men go. He was 55. What's more, he was not a West Pointer. He came up the hard way. He enlisted as a private in 1917, and he came up through the Washington State National Guard.

In World War I he was a bomber pilot attached to the French Air Force and he flew on a number of missions over the Rhine. He stayed in the Army after the war and got the usual run of assignments. He was a test pilot for a time, and he flew one of the old bombers on the Pan American Good Will Flight of 1926. He went to a lot of service schools, including the War College, but when World War II broke, he was only a lieutenant colonel.

They grabbed him quick, however, promoted him to brigadier general and put him in the War Plans Division at Air Force headquarters. He was one of three officers on the Joint Strategic Survey Committee. He sweated out most of the war there, with an Army general and a Navy admiral, constantly reviewing, constantly planning.

The staff officers who worked with him used to say that he had the uncanny ability of being able to walk into a meeting, look at a plan on a piece of paper and to know, instinctively, what had to be done to put it into operation.

Father Of AF University. They hung a Legion of Merit and a Distinguished Service Medal on General Fairchild when the war was over, but he still wasn't famous. Then in 1946 he came up with an idea of his own that will make him long remembered in the Air Force. It was a plan for Air University. General Fairchild never had graduated from college himself. World War I had broken off his own formal education, and he never went back to finish. It was not the least sur-reconstruction of the crime. So far it is only theory. He would have to prove his theory. Daybreak found him haggard and fagged.

THE morning papers gave Martin Querpel no comfort in the bad news from abroad and at home, or the bad press Paul Moody was getting.

When the detective reached his office, Harley Kenyon was waiting for him with an eager question. "Did you see the advertisement in both the morning papers?" Querpel shook his head. Kenyon handed him a clipping that read:

WILL the lady who saw Wendell Palmer standing at the door of his house and who vowed to him and called him shortly before he was murdered, kindly communicate with Harley Kenyon? And will her chauffeur get in touch with me? Confidence respected and rewarded.

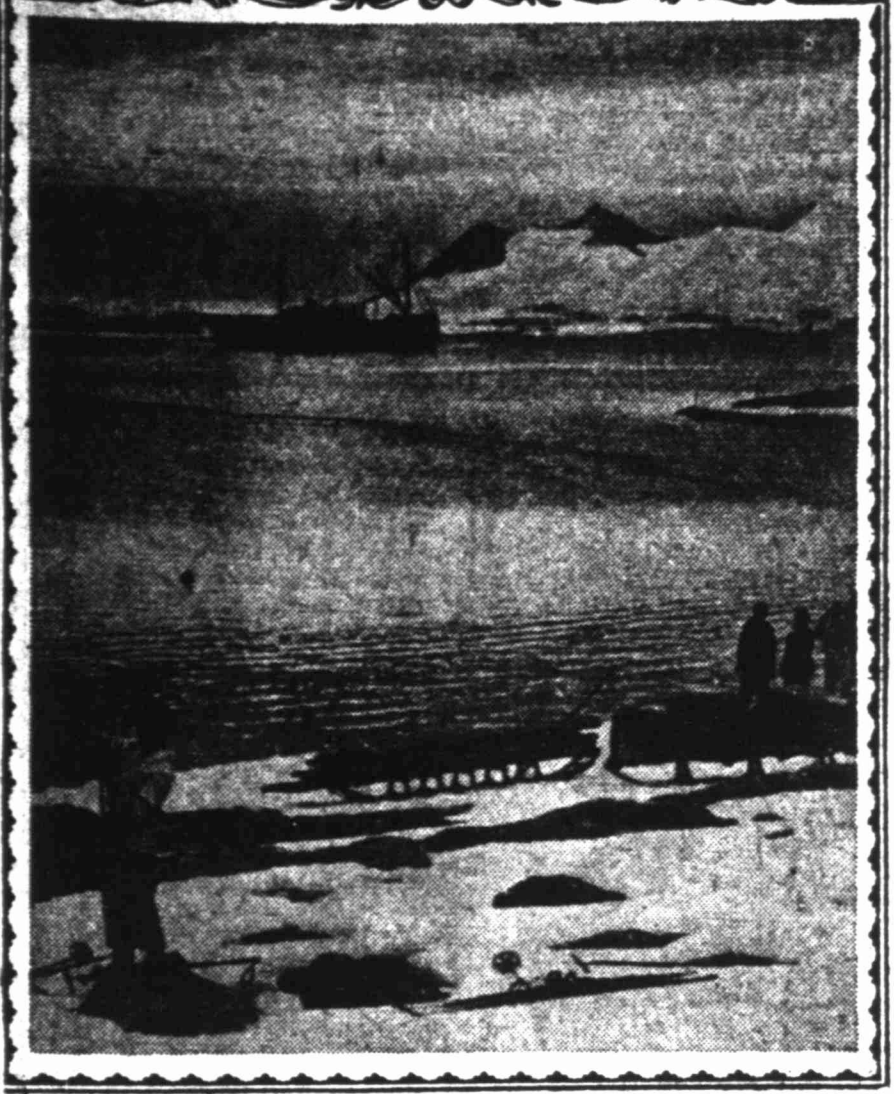

Kenyon's telephone and office address were given, of course. Querpel read it and was forced to quench Kenyon's hopeful smile. "I didn't see it. And she probably never will. Even if she does, being a lady with a limousine, she will prefer to remain in obscurity. And she will see that her chauffeur does the same.

"Furthermore, if the reporters notice this and the never-repiles, her silence and her chauffeur's will make a bad impression. When you go fishing, it looks bad to come back with an empty hook."

KENYON'S jaw dropped with disappointment and hurt pride, so Querpel sought to console him. "Of course, if I'm wrong, and she should turn up and remember Paul Moody's picking up the hat the old man hurled at him, that would be golden evidence. Everything's worth the try. And I may be fishing with poorer bait myself. But to give you a bit of cheer read O'Hea's comment."

They spent hours going over various plans and stratagems, but Querpel dared not even mention what was bedeviling his mind and driving him frantic between black despondency and blinding flashes of hope. (To Be Continued)

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

Polar exploration, begun almost 400 years ago, really boomed during the first half of the twentieth century. This scene shows the SS North Star in the Antarctica during one of the expeditions of Adm. Richard E. Byrd, famed explorer of both poles. Both the North and South Poles first were reached by a man during the early years of this century. Adm. Richard E. Peary is credited with discovering the North Pole, on April 6, 1909. A rival claimant, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, for a while enjoyed worldwide hero worship on the basis of his claims. He later was discredited and branded an impostor. Norwegian Roald Amundsen takes credit for having been the first man to see the South Pole, on Dec. 14, 1911. The poles, earth's last frontiers, still tempt explorers.

AP Survey Shows Midland Citizens Generous Givers

By The Associated Press
Folks in Midland give generously to private charities, the folks in Midland like to say.

And figures bear them out. With an urban population of an estimated 20,000, Midland has given approximately $63,000 to private charity drives and special cases in a year. That's more than $3 for every man, woman and child.

But Midland is the exception rather than the rule among Texas cities this year. In other places, private charities which take millions of dollars annually from Texans are finding tough sledding in campaign drives.

"The general opinion seems to be that we've had too many drives," is the report from Hillsboro. Only $850 of Hillsboro's $6,040 Red Cross quota had been collected, with 10 days left in the campaign. The community fund got only $4,500 of its $7,500 goal.

From Fort Arthur comes this report—"Public apathy in Red Cross campaign is typical of that which caused the Community Chest appeal for 1950 to fall 15 per cent short of its quota."

A survey of Texas cities by The Associated Press disclosed that only six out of 21 reporting from over the state had reached the majority of the campaign quotas for private charities.

Colonel Geppert To Be Speaker At Medical Meeting

One of the speakers at the meeting of the Second District of the Texas State Medical Association here Tuesday will be Lt. Col. Leo J. Geppert, chief of the pediatric clinic at Brooke General Hospital, Fort Sam Houston.

A native of Vermillion, S. D., Colonel Geppert graduated from the University of South Dakota with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1925, and in 1927 received his masters degree from the same university. He received his degree in medicine from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in 1929.

After interning at St. Louis Children's Hospital, he entered residency training at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., where he spent a year. This training was interrupted when he was called to active duty as a reserve officer in July, 1941. He is certified by the American Board of Pediatrics.

During World War II, Colonel Geppert served in the European Theater of Operations with the 94th Infantry Division, and was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for that service. Upon his return from overseas in 1946 he was assigned to Brooke General Hospital in his present position.

HOUSTON —(P)—The body of Frank (Bring 'Em Back Alive) Buck, famous 66-year-old wild game authority, was cremated here Sunday after quiet, simple funeral services.

Buck died Saturday in a Houston hospital of a lung ailment.

A native Texan, he spent the last few months of his life at San Angelo.

Dempsey Waits In Vain For Oil Flow

FREDERICK, OKLA. —(P)—Former World Heavyweight Boxing Champion Jack Dempsey waited all day Sunday while workers tried to coax oil from a well in which he had financial interest—but no oil.

Several hundred other citizens gathered with Dempsey for the expected completion early Sunday. Sunday night some of them still were waiting for the first show of oil.

The well is located on land owned by the city, by assignment from the federal government. Former owners have filed suit in district court to regain the mineral rights. They want leases and assignments voided in connection with present oil developments at the city airport here.

The petition charges that the federal government took the land from owners by condemnation during the war. It also charges that the City of Frederick had no authority to lease the land for oil development since it was assigned the land only for use as an airport.

Ex-Officer Found Guilty Of Murder

GALVESTON —(P)—David H. Benningfield, 34, former Amarillo policeman, was convicted Sunday of murder without malice in the death of his wife on Feb. 11, 1949.

The 10th District Court jury, which received the case Saturday afternoon, assessed a prison sentence of five years.

Mrs. Benningfield was stabbed fatally in a tourist court apartment on the Galveston beachfront. Fourteen knife wounds were found in her body.

Several Injured In Arkansas Tornadoes

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. —(P)—The Spring tornado season opened in Arkansas Sunday night. Little Rock and at least one other section were struck by small but damaging twisters which caused several injuries.

The storm caused heavy damage particularly in downtown Little Rock.

An unused radio tower on the Arkansas Gazette Building was toppled by the brief, but intense blow and at least 50 large plate glass windows were shattered.

Fifteen-year-old Maryanna Murphy suffered a broken collarbone when a car rolled over.

About 70 miles southwest of Little Rock and at about the same time, a small tornado struck the community of Curtis. It destroyed several houses, damaged a lumber mill and injured Mrs. T. W. Donaghey, 74.

High wind during the afternoon also caused some damage at Nashville.

The Little Rock storm apparently hit first about 14 miles southwest near the Saline-Pulaski County line. Several trees were blown across the Little Rock-Hot Springs Highway there.

Traffic, Violence Take Lives Of 10 Texans In Weekend

By The Associated Press
Traffic mishaps caused half of the violent deaths reported in Texas this weekend.

Five persons were traffic fatalities—three during a swirling sand storm.

Five others died in stabbings and shootings.

The dead:
Roscoe Shifflett, 12, of Wright City, was killed late Sunday when the jeep in which he was riding overturned near Arp.

Cecil Fox of Lubbock and Jack E. Stockspill of Andrews were killed last night in a two-car collision east of Lubbock.

Margaret Douglas, age 10, died in Dallas Sunday of injuries received when struck by a car Saturday.

Adolph Rodriguez, 38, was killed in Dallas Sunday in a scuffle with a negro cafe operator over a shotgun.

Walter Rose, 37, died in Houston Sunday two hours after he was stabbed at a barbecue stand. W. J. Hayward, 37, was charged with murder.

Suicide Verdict

Frank Moore, 48, a former Kerr County sheriff, was found shot to death in his home Saturday. Justice of the Peace Virgil Storms returned a suicide verdict.

The body of Fred Jeanes, 57, trucking contractor, was found in a vacant cabin near Baytown Saturday night. Justice of the Peace R. R. Zierlein returned a verdict of suicide. He had been shot.

Jeff Alexander, 38, was stabbed to death Saturday with an ice pick at his Houston home. His wife, Lavonia Alexander, was charged with murder.

Mrs. Nona Shurtz, 44, of Los Angeles, was killed Sunday near Amarillo in an accident involving five automobiles and an ambulance. Six persons were hurt. The collisions occurred during the dense dust clouds.

California Firm Is Enjoined From Making 'Oil Well Cleaner'

NEW ORLEANS —(P)—The U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has enjoined B. and W. Inc., California well equipment manufacturing firm, from further manufacture and sale of a well cleaner patented by J. E. Hall of Weatherford, Texas.

The court held that despite ownership of an interest in an earlier patent application filed by Hall, B. and W. Inc., has no interest in the patent actually issued on a later application. It said that manufacture of a similar device by the California firm is an infringement of that patent.

The device is used to clean the walls of oil wells after they have been drilled and to stabilize cement placed in them to seal off certain stratas of the earth from the perforated portion of the well in the production depth.

The suit originally was brought in the U. S. District Court for the Lake Charles district against J. Frank Keller, who distributed the product manufactured by B. and W. Inc. He was made only a nominal defendant when B. and W. Inc., undertook his defense.

Damages neither were asked nor allowed.

McDaniel's Hen Is Kitten-Sitter

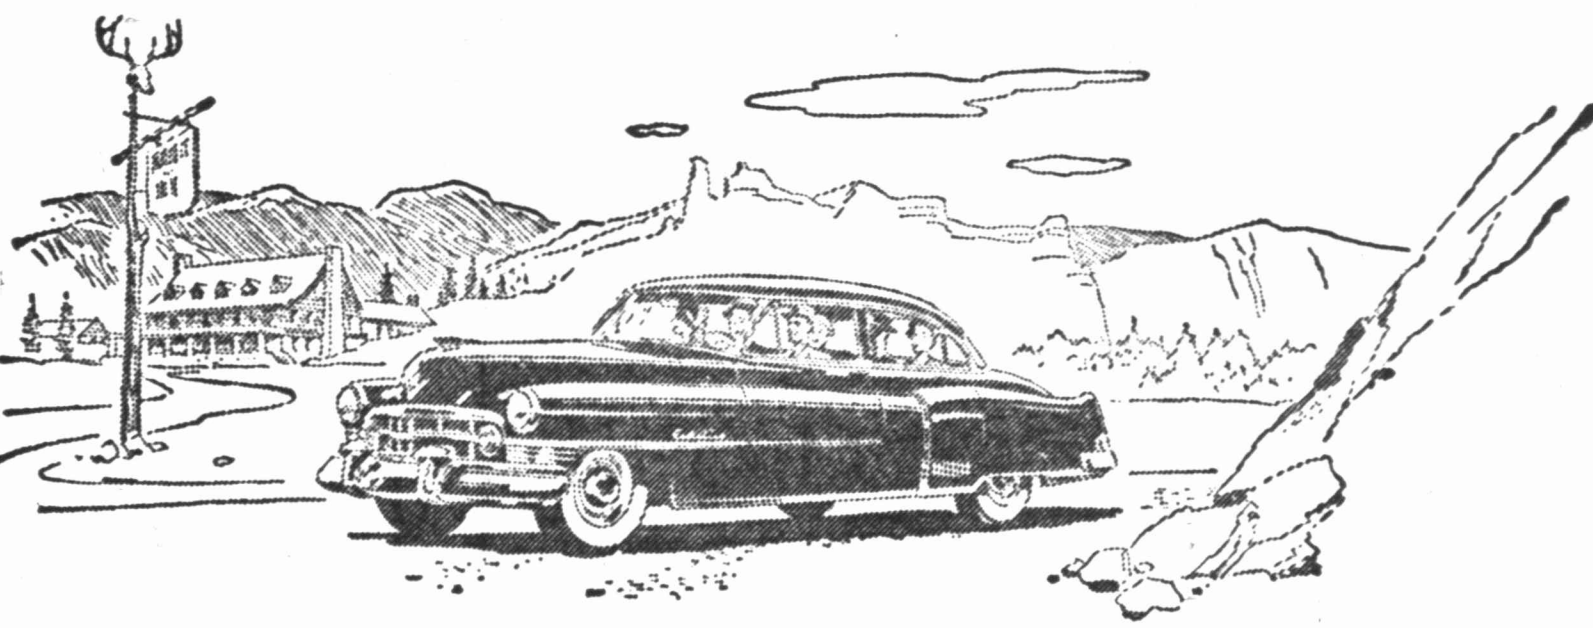

DILLON, S. C. —(P)—W. R. McDaniel's hen is acting as a baby sitter for some kittens.

She has moved in as a foster mother for five kittens born a week ago. She cuddles the kittens in her nesting barrel.

That presents a problem at feeding time. So McDaniel transfers the kittens from the hen to the cat, and back again.

He says so far it is working out all right, the hen and the cat seem to be friends.

More Miles per Hour

—More Hours per Day!

We are not talking here about excessive speed. Sensible people, regardless of the power they have at their command, obey the laws of the highway.

We are talking, rather, about distance—about the miles you can cover at the wheel of a 1950 Cadillac—entirely within the sane and legal limits.

First, let's consider an hour . . .

You settle yourself comfortably into the deep-cushioned seat, touch the soft-throated engine into action—and you're off on that wonderful journey you've so eagerly awaited. Within a matter of minutes, you begin to see what we mean.

When the light turns green, your rightful place in the traffic line is definitely assured. You take easy and confident advantage of every opening that presents itself. On the hills and grades, you merely give the engine a little more throttle and float on up without the slightest loss of speed.

Braking is so certain, steering so easy, power so abundant—that you move instinctively ahead at every opportunity. And at the end of an hour, you can scarcely believe the odometer.

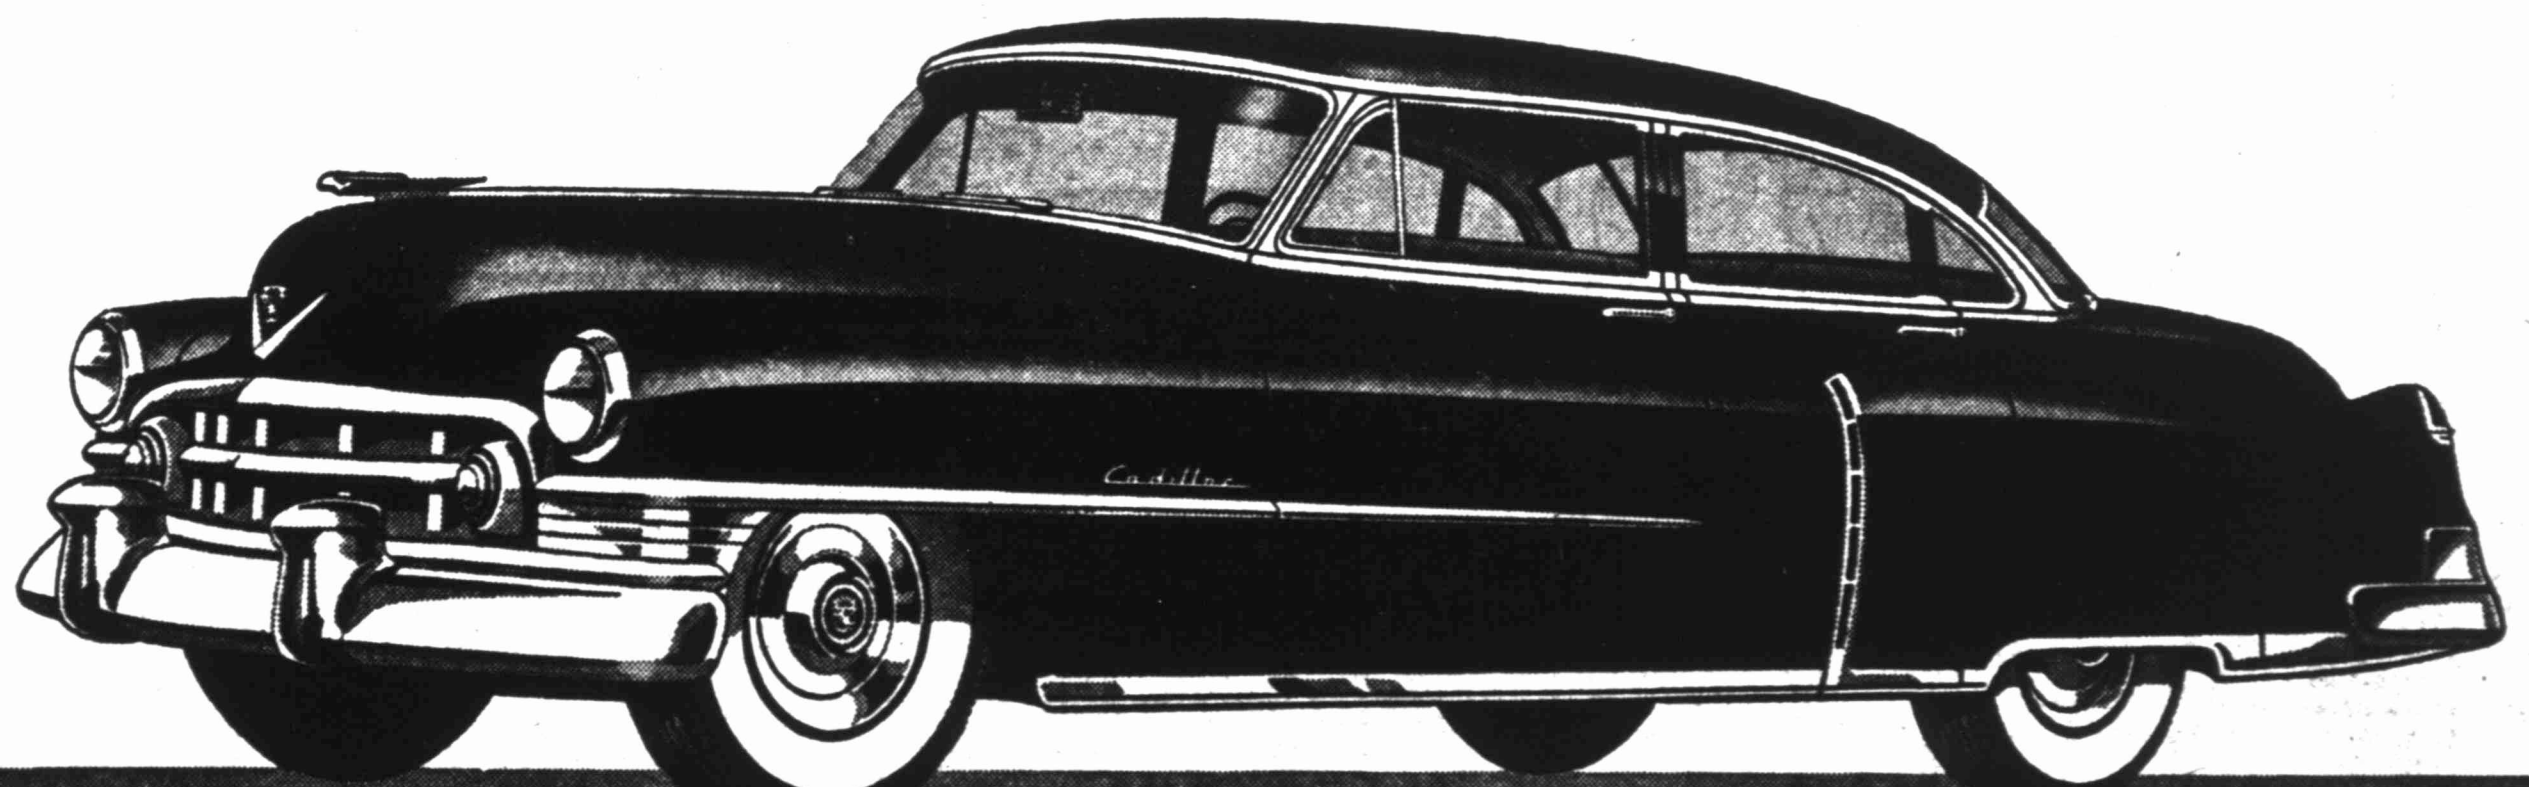

Did we say an hour? It seems little more than half that time! You're so relaxed and at ease that the hours go by—and the hours go by—and not until the sun shows red in the west do you realize that you've been sitting behind the wheel for a much longer time than you'd planned on driving today.

And how wonderful you feel! Both you and your passengers are carefree and happy as you decide to call it a day. Maybe just a little bit hungry—because you probably forgot to stop for lunch!

And where did you get to? Well, most owners assert that it's a good one hundred miles beyond their normal expectation.

Better come in and see about this. You'll need only an hour at the wheel—because an hour will show you what a day would be like.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Smart Girl

Daddy Ringtail was sitting on a rock one day, down beneath the very tall tree where his monkey was in the top. It was almost time for supper. Oh, but the day was bright and warm, and the flowers that grew along the Elephant Path were pretty, and so Daddy Ringtail wasn't going to go up to the monkey house until supper was ready.

While he was sitting there, thinking about the bright warm day and the pretty flowers, he saw someone come walking up the Elephant Path. It was a someone he had never seen before. She was a little monkey girl. Daddy Ringtail thought she was much too little to be out by herself, even though no one in the Great Forest would ever have harmed her.

"My name is Daddy Ringtail," the monkey daddy said, when the little girl came near. "My name is Mizzi. I live down by the sea and I'm going to see my monkey grandmother who lives on the other side of the Great Forest."

Daddy Ringtail said he thought this was nice. Sammy and Bobby, his monkey boys, were visiting their monkey grandmother, too, and it's always a happy time, I suppose, when anyone visits his grandmother, whether she is a monkey grandmother or not. But Daddy Ringtail also thought the little girl was rather small to be going on such a long journey by herself.

"It's getting late," the monkey daddy said. "Why don't you have supper with Mother Ringtail and me, and spend the night at our monkey house, and then tomorrow you can go on to see your grandmother?"

The little girl said she would, and so they climbed. They told Mother Ringtail all about it, and of course she was glad for the little girl to stay for supper and to spend the night, too. She sent her to wash her hands.

"She's so very little!" Mother Ringtail whispered. "Do you suppose she's really a smart little girl who knows enough to go to her grandmother's house by herself? Or do you suppose she has run away from home?"

FUNNY BUSINESS

Women Find Asking Questions At Board Conferences Is Fun

By SAM BAWBY
NEW YORK—(AP)—The women folk have discovered recently what fun they can have at a stockholders' meeting, just by asking questions. Today they're looking for bigger game.

Some of them, it seems, will never be happy until they land on the board of directors. They should have twice as much fun there. They might learn a lot. And they say they could do the boards some good, too.

On or off the directorate, they've already sighted a target for their criticism—the chairman of the board. He's the one who presides over the stockholders' annual meeting. And some girls have got up a report card—giving various chairmen the grades of A, B, C and D for conduct.

It's sad to report, but quite a number of the best known corporations have top-level front men who rate D with the girls for appearance, manners and parliamentary aplomb.

Behind Times

A famous chairman of a noted financial institution is so rated and further described as "behind the times." However, the No. 2 man of his concern is rated the "handsomest president" by this particular league of militant and crusading women stockholders (The Federation of Women Shareholders in American Business, Inc.) They say they organized to give women stockholders "more control over their ownership" and to fight for "stockholders' rights" in general.

Other chairmen drawing low marks include ones who "couldn't stem the tide," who "vied with his general counsel in contempt" for women stockholders, or who let the meeting "get out of hand."

Top scorn, however, is reserved for the chairman who provided no transportation to the meeting and "left stranded his only two women stockholders at six degrees above zero."

In Special Class

In a special class is the chairman of a widely known corporation who "loves the ladies, but not on the board"—a sad lack of understanding, in the view of the girls. They answer his implied criticism by admitting that a woman should be qualified if she is to hold a directorate, but they add: "We are going to examine just how qualified some of the men on the boards are."

But, gentlemen, don't despair. Some of you chairmen get A for effort. Here are what the girls say about you: "He has polish;" or "rates A for diplomacy;" or "provides comfortable chairs;" or, alas, merely "He tried to please."

Walt Disney is credited with having produced the first movie cartoon, "Steamboat Willie," in 1928.

Johnny Sain Big Question Mark Of Souped-Up Braves

BRADENTON, FLA.—(P)—Johnny Sain is the big "if" of the reupholstered Boston Braves. If the Arkansas curver can regain his 1948 form, the Braves could take it all. If not, they'd better plan for 1951.

Sain, a bitter disappointment last season, has been impressive so far. He looks more like the wizard who won 24 for the pennant club two years ago than the 10-17 failure of 1949. His comeback is a must.

Pitching, of course, is the major problem for Manager Billy Southworth in his year of decision. Lefty Warren Spahn is his ace. Vern Bickford, an underrated righthander, and Sain are his other sure starters. They need another badly.

The Braves' board of strategy hopes to land another pitcher before the season starts. Failing in a trade, Southworth must uncover a starting pitcher among Johnny Antonelli, the $65,000 bonus kid, Bob Hall, Norm Roy or Dick Donovan.

Chunky Bob Hogue and Lefty Glenn Elliott will divide the relief work. If Billy has hit pitching problems, he can look to his outfield with pride. The big December deal that brought outfielders Sid Gordon and Willard Marshall and Shortstop

Wind Storm Holds Indians To Short Drill; Go Monday

The Midland Indians were held to a short workout at Indian Park Sunday due to high winds and a sandstorm but Manager Harold Webb said a full scale session was on tap Monday afternoon.

Webb was pleased with the showing of several boys in Saturday's initial drill.

Big Jim Prince and Lou Dawson hit the ball hard in batting practice Saturday.

Charles Stephenson, rookie catcher, handled the catching chores in fine form and got in a few ticks at the plate. He is one of the strongest looking prospects in camp. Prince holds down the first base spot and Webb worked an assortment of infielders at the other positions.

George Firnbach, limited service shortstop, reported in time for Sunday's abbreviated drill. Webb has high hopes he will make the starting lineup.

Tommy Schoolcraft did duty at third base. Quinten Basco, rookie second sacker, worked at the keystone sack Saturday and Sunday.

Workouts are scheduled at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. each day, the weather permitting.

Fourteen players had reported to Webb Monday morning and several others were expected during the day. The exhibition season, with six games scheduled, opens next Sunday in Borger.

Players in camp include those mentioned and George Tibbets, Pat Lorenzo, Lonnie Balch, Ernie Nelson, Ralph Blair, Harold Wearne, John Singleton and LeRoy Jarl.

SPORTS SLANTS

by SHORTHY SHELburnE

Baseball already has started to fly out of Indian Park in workouts. Big Jim Prince, the guy who is credited with hitting the longest homer here, lost three over the fence in Saturday's initial drill. He still has his batting eye and the power to send the ball to parts unknown.

Lou Dawson also has been connecting nicely, showing some of the power he had at the end of last season.

Lou is carrying more weight this year and should be stronger at the plate.

George Tibbets, rookie second baseman from Muleshoe, reported Sunday.

It appears from looking at him that he will give out a stiff fight for an infield position.

George Firnbach, a shortstop, also has reported. He's another good looking boy.

The fact that Webb worked his hopefuls Sunday afternoon when the wind was blowing a stormy 50 mph shows he is anxious to get them ready.

He keeps remembering that his first exhibition game comes next Sunday with the Borger Cassers in Borger.

HALF SLANTS—Ernie Nelson missed Sunday's drill due to a touch of the flu but is expected to be back on the field in a day or two.

The Southwestern AAU boxing tournament opened in Dallas Monday with both open and novice divisions being offered.

Cecil Smith, the noted Texas polo player, led his team to an 11 to 7 victory over California Sunday.

Pancho Gonzalez scored his most pleasing victory in 91 matches over Jack Kramer Sunday. Pancho took King Jack in straight sets.

Conference teams won 12 intersectional games last week and lost only six.

Southern Methodist beat Ohio State twice, 8-7, 7-6, then lost a third game to the Buckeyes 3-2.

Texas A&M beat Ohio State twice, 14-8, 11-9, but dropped one 10-9. The Aggies also lost to Minnesota 10-9, after having won one 13-8. They beat Oklahoma 12-5. Texas Christian lost to Oklahoma 3-1 and split with Oklahoma A&M, winning the first of the series 7-6 but dropping the second 4-3.

Texas nudged Milwaukee of the American Association 6-5 and split with Oklahoma, winning 5-0, losing 7-1. The Longhorns also beat Minnesota twice, 10-2, 15-9.

Braves, Bears Are West's 1-2 Punch In Garden Finale

KANSAS CITY.—(P)—A young man with the winning habit and the old sage of Southwest basketball are taking their teams to New York to represent the West in the NCAA championship finals Tuesday night.

For Forrest (Foxy) Anderson, who reached his thirty-first birthday last St. Patrick's Day, it will mean a second shot at the national title by his Bradley University Braves of Peoria, Ill.

W. E. Henderson, "Mr. Bill" and "Mr. Basketball" in the Southwest Conference, had his Baylor Bears beaten 68-66 by Bradley Saturday night, but they get to New York to play for consolation honors.

Bradley gets a second crack at City College of New York, a team it lost to in the finals of the National Tournament a weekend ago.

Baylor last week brushed off Rice in a two-game series to open conference play and take a firm grip on the top spot.

Baylor and Southern Methodist play at Dallas and Texas Christian Aggies Texas at Austin Wednesday. Thursday, TCU and Texas play again, with Baylor meeting Texas A&M at Waco Saturday.

Conference teams won 12 intersectional games last week and lost only six.

WINS AFTER 27 LOSSES

MIAMI, FLA.—(P)—After 27 unsuccessful Florida starts, Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt recently cashed in with two successive winners at Hialeah Park. His First Glance won an allowance sprint and Disconsolate scored in a $12,000 claiming race. The latter returned $28.10 for $2. Both colts were sired by Discovery, Vanderbilt's great champion of 15 years ago.

Only seven World Series games have been played in Cleveland, the lowest total of any major league city.

Bulldogs Get Set For District Meet

Stiff workouts are scheduled all this week for the Midland Bulldog track team, to prepare all candidates for the District 3-AA meet which will be staged in Odessa's Broncho Stadium Saturday.

Coach Tugboat Jones was highly pleased with the showing his boys made in the West Texas Relays last Saturday.

Harrie Smith, Midland's high hurdler, proved himself more than a threat for the district hurdles record when he topped the timber in 15.5 seconds at Odessa. He is expected to equal or better his mark in the 3-AA meet.

Ralph Brooks bested all high jumpers by four inches to win first in the Odessa meet, also establishing him as a favorite.

John Klingner, Bulldog miler, failed to place in the West Texas event but showed enough stuff to retain his position as a strong district contender.

Burris in 440
Jack Burris has been training hard for the 440-yard dash and his times have been impressive. He did not enter Saturday's competition because no 440 was run.

W. H. Black, pole vaulter and broad jumper, Drane Bush, 880-dash man; Leo Hatfield, low hurdler; Roy Kinsey and Robert Kessler, dash men, and Stan Coker, Dalton Eyerley and Freddie Bilbo, field events men, will be ready to go in the District session.

The Bulldogs placed fifth in the West Texas Relays with 10 3/5 points but the field was much stronger than the 3-AA field will be.

The district golf and tennis meets also will be held in Odessa Saturday.

The undefeated Midland Bulldogs golf team is top seeded for the meet. The Purple golfers whipped other district teams in an exhibition meet Saturday.

Jockey Lester Blaski has a way with two-year-olds—he rode only three winners in 30 days at Hialeah recently and all were juveniles.

Bulldogs' Game Site Is Changed

An exhibition baseball game scheduled here Tuesday between the Midland High School Bulldogs and the Big Spring Steers will be played in Big Spring.

The game was shifted to Big Spring due to a conflict in the use of Indian Park here.

The two teams will play a return game in Indian Park early in April.

Sam Snead Repeats At Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(P)—Sam Snead has completed the cycle begun a year ago. The golfing gent from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., inaugurated a hot run in last year's Greensboro Open tournament and hasn't cooled off yet.

Sammy made it two in a row and four since 1938 here when he breezed around the Sedgefield Country Club course in 66-67 style Sunday to grab off $2,000 top money in the $10,000 event with a record-breaking 269 total.

Snead romped in a 10-stroke winner over Runnerup Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., whose 71-66 finish gave him 279 and $1,000.

For his four rounds Snead had 66-70-66-67, 11 under par.

Back of Demaret came Jimmy Purpus, Brainerd, N. Y., who followed a first day 73 with three straight 69s. That gave him 280 and third money of $1,000.

Other Leaders
In fourth place, with a closing 65, best round of the tournament, was Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C.

Other leaders:
Glean Teal, Memphis, Tenn., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, St. Andrews, Ill., each 284 for $500; Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass., 286 for $440; Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, 287, for $390; Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, Ted Kroll, Philmont, Pa., Leland Gibson, Kansas City, Mo., and Felice Torza, Glen Ellyn, Ill., each 288 for $287.50.

P. J. Boatwright, Spartanburg, S. C., nosed out Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, for amateur honors by a stroke with 293. Harvie Ward, Tarboro, N. C., National Collegiate champ, was third with 298.

From here the field swings down to Wilmington, N. C., for the second annual Azalea Open, another 10-grander, which starts Thursday.

BACK TO DALLAS
Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Lindsey and son, Johnny, returned to their home in Dallas Sunday after visiting in the home of Mrs. Lindsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hudman, here. Mrs. Hudman accompanied the Lindseys back to Dallas for a visit.
